MAKES THREAT OF ASSASSINATION

Someone Will Act As With Stolypin, Says Doukhobor

THINKS LACK OF COUNSEL INJUSTICE

Witnesses Says Veregin Punished Them--Some Testimony Favorable

"I said the time will come when we will act or someone will act like with Stolypin," the Russian premier who was assassinated, is the interpretation of a threat made by Peter Abrosinoff at the hearing of the Doukhobor commission in the supreme court yesterday afternoon.

Before the close of the afternoon session A. M. Johnson, who is representing the Doukhobors throughout the enquiry stated that it had been brought to his notice that threats had been made in the court room by one of the Doukhobors, who had severed his connection with the community in which the word "Stolypin" had been used and Mr. Johnson asked the commissioner, William Blakebore, for permission to have the threat interpreted.

Mrs. J. E. Kennedy, who as interpreter, did yeoman service throughout the day called upon Abrosinoff to repeat what he had said.

Thinks Should Have Counsel.

According to the translation the threat was that "they were surprised that they had been called by Veregin to appear before the commission. We have no money to employ lawyers and feel hurt at being here in this court. I said the time will come when we will act or someone will act like with "Stolypin."

Mr. Blakemore expressed a strong disapproval of the remarks and told Abrosinoff that he was very foolish to make use of such a threat. If the court saw fit to take it seriously it was in a position to deal with him in a manner which he would not soon forget, but the commissioner said he did not take it seriously because he believed Abrosinoff was annoyed by circumstances for which no one was to blame, but he must understand that he must not make use of such talk. The dramatic incident closed with the withdrawl of the threat.

Witnesses Frequently Interrupt.

Repeated interruptions were caused during the afternoon session by witnesses in waiting, who expressed the belief that they were not being fairly dealt with as Mr. Veregin was represented by counsel while they were in a sense undefended. In this connection Mr Blakemore very emphatically declared that while he was not in a position to engage counsel to represent them he was there holding an entirely impartial inquiry and that he would see that the the counsel for the Doukhobors had no undue advantage. In effect Mr. Blakemore pointed out that he took every care to see that the witnesses' interests were protected in every possible way but he would insist that the interruptions ceased or he would clear the court.

Views of dissatisfied Doukhobors materially disagreed with those of several other witnesses heard yesterday. Many reasons in favor of Veregin's people were offered. They were industrious, easily taught, amenable to reason, excellent ranchers, and would doubtless be willing to conform to British Columbia laws as soon as educated.

Mr. Blakemore made it quite clear on more than one occasion that they will be compelled to conform to the British laws.

As neighbors it was not thought for thetime being anyhow they would assimilate, but their communal system did not affect the people of British Columbia, and so long as it did not inflict any injuries it was not thought likely to be a detriment.

Danger of Monopoly.

It was admitted that there was a danger of them developing a monopoly as fruit producers, under present pioneer conditions, however, they made very desirable settlers. The witnesses throughout the day were examined by the commissioner.

Not Great Detriment.

At the opening session several witnesses were called to express their views of the Doukhobors and the general effect of their presence in British Columbia.

James Johnstone, who had been identified with the fruit growing industry in West Kootenay for the past 12 years, did not think they were a great detriment. If the English-speaking ranchers had used ordinary business prudence they would have been doing the business the Doukhobors were doing today. They were maintaining a successful jam factory which consumed a great quantity of the strawberries raised here and consequently there was little if any left for export. He thought they were doing good work clearing up the land which was a good advertisement and from a citizens viewpoint, he thought they were very much more desirable than many other nationalities who come into the country.

Doing Country Lots of Good.

W. A. Jowett thought their personal habits and character were good in every respect. The land was for settlers and he thought they were doing the country a lot of good. "When they know English and understand our laws they will realize that they can't get such justice anywhere in the world as they can under the British flag," he said.

Retarded Development.

E. K. Beeston, secretary of the board of trade, although not present in his official capacity, spoke as the late secretary-treasurer of the Fruit Growers' association. He had been very favorably impressed with Veregin, the leader. Their system of labor had given them a distinct advantage and the ranchers had consequently not developed so much land as they might otherwise have done. Mr. Beeston thought there was an extreme danger that by controlling their own produce, utilizing it for manufacturing purposes, they would obtain a control of the market and have a monopoly. Being both suppliers and producers of labor, they naturally would have an advantage common to every communal system.

Ald. Percy J. Gleazer, who had visited the colony to assess the property, had found his business relations satisfactory at all times. He thought they were very desirable settlers for the reason that this was a large country, sparsely populated. There was need for them under present pioneer conditions, but he would not perhaps hold the same view if they largely increased.

Found Them Honest.

J. A. Irving, who had engaged Doukhobors to pick potatoes, had had a few transactions with the manager and found him direct, honest and straightforward. Their work was not quite satisfactory because they were new to it. As a tradesman Mr. Irving thought from a business point of view, they were desirable because they certainly knew how to handle a ranch. As neighbors he did not think they would mix very well with the British people, any way for two or three generations.

Disadvantage to Merchants.

J. A. Gilker, who had no personal objection to the community, did not think they were a detriment to the country, but he was inclined to the belief that they were a distinct disadvantage to local store keepers.

C. F. McHardy, a director of the Fruit Growers' association, who had sold the Doukhobors a farm of 1200 acres in the Slocan valley, thought they were a very shrewd people. As *settlers he thought they were most de*sirable. They were industrious, clean and most suitable. It was marvelous

LAST TRIBUTE TO DEAD MIKADO

Japanese in Vancouver Will Hold Solemn Service During Period of Emperor's Funeral.

(By Daily News Leased Wire.)

VANCOUVER, Sept. 12.—To pay the last respects to the memory of their emperor, Mutsuhito, about 3,000 members of the Japanese colony will gather in mass meeting in Hastings park at 8 o'clock tonight and while the funeral of their ruler is being held 4,000 miles away in Tokio, the Vancouver Japanese will conduct the Shinto services for the dead and pay obeisance to the soul of the Mikado. A temporary temple has been erected in Hastings park and according to the belief of the Japanese the soul of the emperor will occupy the temple during the services. The Japanese will silently bow before the shrine. Japanese will read a tribute to the late emperor and the services will be concluded after the Japanese women lay wreaths in the temple and an ode, composed especially for the occasion, is sung by the Japanese school children. Every Japanese business house in Vancouver will close all day tomorrow and over every Japanese dwelling will fly the flag of the kingdom.

WORSHIP SPIRIT OF DEAD MIKADO

Beginning of Funeral Ceremonies in Tokio

CENTURY OLD RITES AND CUSTOMS

Great Crowds Gather on Route of Procession--Offerings of Food

(By Daily News Leased Wire.)

*TOKIO, Sept. 12.—The funeral cere*monies of the late Emperor Mutsuhito of Japan posthumously known as "The Emperor of the Era of Enlightenment," began today mid surroundings in which century-old rites and costumes were mingled with modern military display. From the most extreme points of Japan subjects have been assembling in Tokio. At midnight great crowds gathered along the route of the procession. The weather was fair. A police cordon was established shutting off the streets through which the body of the emperor will be transported and upon which it is estimated 500,000 peo*ple will be accommodated.* Reservation was made for 1000 foreigners, both residents and visitors, at the request of Baron Yoshiro Sakatani, the mayor.

Soon after midnight officials proceeded to the palace to prepare for the early ceremony. The sombre coloring associated with western mourning was almost entirely absent, being replaced by the brilliant hues of the orient. Sorrow for the dead ruler, however, was apparent in the faces of all who took part in the final act of respect to an emperor whose reign had witnessed some of the most marvelous developments in the life of any nation. Official representatives of every country had come to Tokio to participate in the solemnities. Among them were several princes, representing reigning houses and special embassies commissioned to convey the condolences of republican presidents. The list included Philander C. Knox, secretary of state of the United States and Prince Arthur of Connaught from Britain. The members of the regular foreign diplomatic body were present in their uniforms, the brilliance of which was set off by the modest court or evening dress worn by a few of the ministers from various republics.

From an early hour in the morning the palace in its great private park in the heart of the city was the goal toward which virtually everybody in Tokio made his way on foot. The late emperor only occasionally during his life left the moated enclosure where his body has lain in state since Aug. 13. Since that date on each tenth day solemn memorial services and sacrifices to the spirit of the departed ruler were performed. The casket containing the body lay in state in the main hall. It had been decorated according to Shinto rites by a special corps of ritualists appointed for the obsequies. *The casket was of enormous dimen*sions, measuring nearly 10 feet by five and weighing one and a half tons.

Emperor Arrives.

After a short wait during which the functionaries formed a procession, Emperor Yoshihito arrived. He was in full uniform of commander-in-chief with black crepe arm band and sword knot. He was attended by Count Togo, the grand master of ceremonies, and Count Wantanbe, minister of the imperial household, who were followed by court chamberlains carrying the imperial sword and seal. After them came Prince Katsura, the lord chamberlain, with General Nakamura, the chief aide de camp.

A small procession composed of the princes of the imperial blood in order of precedence came next. The empress then entered in native court dress made of hemp cloth, her unbound hair falling on her shoulders. The dowager empress' procession was of a similar character. She was in native costume *and was preceded by the chief stew*ard and followed by her ladies of honor.

As soon as the imperial processions had entered the hall and those composing them had taken their seats, the screen in front of the catafalque was removed by the ritualists and the Ehinto band played a soft dirge on instruments resembling flutes of three kinds and peculiar drums.

Offer Sacred Food.

The chief ritualist and his assistants proffered the offerings of sacred food, to the continued accompaniment of Shinto music, after which other offerings of red and white cloth enclosed in willow boxes were made. Prayers for the dead were recited by the chief ritualist, who had taken his place in the centre before the catafalque. The most solemn act of all followed, when the emperor, the empress, the dowager empress and the princes and princesses advanced toward the casket and worshipped the spirit of the departed em*peror. A short silence ensued,* the processions were re-formed and the members of the imperial family retired.

The other members of the assemblage, however, remained to worship the dead emperor's spirit after which the Shinto ritualists advanced to the altar and removed the offerings to the sound of sacred music. The screen, in front of the imperial catafalque was restored by the chief ritualist and the first ceremony ended.

(By Daily News Leased Wire.)

DUNDEE, Sept. 12.—A suffragette named Clunas went to the postoffice here yesterday with a card affixed to herself addressed to the residence where Winston *Churchill, the first lord of the ad*miralty, is stopping. She requested the postal authorities to deliver her by express messenger. In accordance with the regulations of the postoffice they were obliged to comply and took the "human parcel" to its destination. Mr. Churchill was absent when the parcel arrived and his secretary refused to accept the woman, who withdrew much chagrined.

WAR ON REAL ESTATE FRAUD

(By Daily News Leased Wire.)

TORONTO, Sept. 12.—War has been declared by the Toronto board of trade on the real estate subdivision business in districts adjacent to the city. A resolution was adopted today which places the board on record as being opposed to the adevertising and selling of land in the districts surrounding Toronto to people throughout the province when these lands are represented as being contiguous to the city and within reach of city improvements and conveniences. Besides strongly condemning the practice, the council advises all intending purchasers of real estate to make a personal inspection as to location and actual value of the land and to take steps to assure themselves that the material facts are as represented.

MINISTER SPEAKS TO FEDERATION

"Keep Public Opinion on Your Side," Advice of Minister to Labor Federation.

(By Daily News Leased Wire.)

THREE RIVERS, Que., Sept. 12.—"Try to keep public opinion on your side," was the advice of Hon. T. W. *Crothers, minister of labor, to mem*bers of the Canada Federation of Labor, assembled here in convention. "I am glad," he said, "to find there is so much respect for law and order in this province that you are not proposing any revolutionary methods such as are being proposed in some parts of Canada. Get public opinion on your side and you will get almost anything you want."

The visit of the minister of labor was the chief feature of the after*noon session. Mr. Crothers was in*troduced by Victor Dubreuil to Mayor Normand and President Moffatt, and he greeted personally each of the delegates after receiving an address of welcome. In replying to this the minister stated that it was his first visit to Three Rivers and congratulated the mayor on the city's recovery from the fire that swept it three years ago. In showing how legislation of a century had bettered the lot of the worker, especially of women and children, the speaker said trades unions had done a great deal and he asked why should people challenge the right of labor to unite since the legal and medical professions exercised their rights. The workingmen of this country, he said, have not got what they are entitled to. Examining causes of unrest the minister blamed employers for failure to recognize that a man was not a mere adjunct to a machine, and he laid it down that employers must be willing to pay a living wage such as would make decent food, clothing and other necessities possible. An employer who had a profitable business and did not give this living wage should be denounced by press, pulpit and platform. The speaker regarded strikes in the same light as war as only to be used in the very last resort. He stated that of 104 awards under the Lemieux act, *only one showed the workers com*plaint to be groundless.

At the conclusion of the address, the minister and the company of delegates at the invitation of the city, were taken around the city in automobiles and inspected several large industrial establishments. At the morning session the appointment of a permanent chairman of their causes under the Lemieux act was advocated in an amendment proposed by Edouard Peppin, who contended that such an ap*pointment would mean that the dis*putes would be heard by arbitrators more conversant with procedure and less prejudiced. In some discussion which ensued, Secretary Mercure, President Moffatt and others opposed the change, expressing the opinion that the workingman would probably be worse off under it. Victor Dubreuil, representing the federal department of labor, made an explanation of the act and said that this idea had been considered before, but was regarded as impossible owing to the fact that 30 or more cases might be under hearing from coast to coast. He denied the allegation of some speakers that politics could creep into such appointments and said in nearly all cases where the government was called on to make nomination, it was favorable to the workers. He also as*serted that the department was friend*ly toward labor organizations so long as they were properly organized. Ultimately, this resolution was withdrawn, another resolution approved of the action of the department in publishing reports on labor organizations, but asked that greater accuracy be exercised as, according to one speaker, current reports included the names of unions, defunct for some years.

A proposition by Delegate Chambers Toronto, to send greetings to the Dominion trades council in session at Guelph, created considerable opposition. P. H. Simard, Quebec, read an extract from a Labor day souvenir published at Quebec, the tone of which was inimical to Canadian unions and this together with objections from Nova scotia delegates, resulted in the proposition being withdrawn.

RACE TRACK MAN FINED.

ULTIMATUM OF TELEGRAPHERS

Railway Has Until Sunday to Grant Demands

TWO THOUSAND MEN MAY STRIKE

Every Train Dispatcher on Line from Coast to Coast Involved

CALGARY, Sept. 12.—Unless the Canadian Pacific railway concedes a 15 percent increase in wages to all telegraphers employed in the dispatchers department by Sunday next the men will be called out on strike. This mandate has been put up to the company and should a strike be called 2,000 men will be affected, including every operator between St. John, N. B., and Victoria, B. C.

The strike order does not affect the commercial telegraphers, who in July last signed an agreement holding for one year. However, these would become involved should they refuse to work with nonunion men and the com*pany discharge them for that cause.* When asked tonight if there was a possibility of the men going out Sir Thomas Shaughnessy scouted the idea, expressing the belief that the entire matter would be settled without such a contingency.

SIR MONTAGUE ALLAN IS NO LONGER DIRECTOR

Has Resigned from Directorate of Allan Line—To Devote Time to Merchants Bank.

(By Daily News Leased Wire.)

MONTREAL, Sept. 12.—Sir Montague Allan, one of the principal di*rectors of the Allan line of steamers,* today announced his retirement from the directorate. Sir Montague's retirement follows that of Bryce Allan, the representative of the line for a considerable time in Boston. Sir Montague Allan stated to a representative of the Canadian Associated Press last night at the Mount Royal club, that he had been impelled to take the step of leaving the management of the line in the hands of Hugh and Andrew Allan because he wished to have more time to devote to other affairs.

"I mean to devote more time to the affairs of the Merchants bank and other enterprises in which I am interested," said Sir Montague. "That is my sole reason for retiring. I have retired and there is really nothing more to be said. The management of the Allan line will be efficiently carried on by those in whose hands it is left. I have nothing more to say."

MURDEROUS ASSAULT ON CHINAMAN

Lumberjack Stabs Chinaman Without Provocation on Street of Cranbrook—Had Been Drinking.

(Special to The Daily News.)

CRANBROOK, B. C., Sept. 12.—Frank Eggleston, who has been working in a lumber camp near Bull river for some time as a lumberjack, has been bound over to the next term of court for wantonly stabbing an inoffensive Chinaman by the name of Lee Dee, well known about the city. The celestial was quietly walking down from Van Horne street when he met the lumberjack, who had been in town for several days carousing. Without a word of warning the lumberjack whipped out his knife and stabbed the Chinaman, swearing that he would kill all the Chinks in British Columbia. Lee Dee caught the hand that wielded the knife in time to save a fatal blow, and Constable Baxter took the man in tow. Dr. Bell dressed the injured Chinaman who was very weak from loss of blood. The man made no defense in court and his case will likely come up before Judge Thompson next week.

The Cranbrook Lacrosse association have arranged with the Cranbrook Agricultural association for the necessary financial backing for having the Nelson lacrosse team here on the two fair days, Sept. 19 and 20. Balloon ascensions have also been arranged and some of the attractions which were at the Calgary Stampede will be seen at the Cranbrook fair. The race track is now in fine con*dition and good time is being made by* the local horses in practice runs.

BOARD TO MEET SHAUGHNESSY

Will Discuss Pact Company Is Charged With Breaking

TO DISPLAY FRUIT WHEN DUKE COMES

Need for Better Service on Lake and Slocan Route Urged

When Sir Thomas Shughnessy, pres*ident of the Canadian Pacific railway,* and George J. Bury, vice president of the company, who are expected to pass through Nelson during their tour of the west, reach the city they will be met by a delegation from the board of trade who will bring to their attention the agreement made in August, 1909, with regard to the Kootenay lake tour*ist hotel, improved service* and more favorable rates on the Crows Nest line and Kootenay lake, and other matters which it is declared have not been carried out by the railway.

It was decided to take this action at last night's meeting of the board and the committee named consists of C. F. McHardy, R. W. Hinton, W. G. Foster and the secretary.

Want Improved Service.

With a view to improvements to the Slocan service the board instructed the secretary to act in conjunction with the Slocan district board of trade and representations will be made to Capt. J. C. Gore, superintendent of the inland lake and river service, with the idea of securing a more regular schedule for the steamer Kokanee.

In order that the Duke of Connaught may be given an idea of the agricultural and mineral resources of the Kootenay and Boundary districts, he will be shown a display of fruit and flowers at the board of trade and specimens of ore will be presented to the members of the royal party.

Decision to hold a board of trade banquet in October was reached.

Schedule Too Irregular, He Says.

C. W. Busk wrote criticizing the steamer service on the west arm and asked the assistance of the board toward securing "a more reasonable service." He did not care whether the service was fast or slow as long as residents along the west arm could have an approximate idea of when the boat would call. Many of the ranchers had to walk some distance to the lake, he said, and frequently had to wait three or four hours in the cold at the floats. Only the other day a party, including a lady, had to wait three and a half hours for the steamer.

He attributed the varying schedule of the steamer to hauling barges and other freight business..

Slocan Traffic Heavy.

That the need for a double service on the Slocan line should be brought to the attention of the Canadian Pacific railway was suggested by Mr. McHardy. There was more freight over the Slocan line and more passengers carried than over either the Rossland or the Boundary line, he said.

The amount of freight business at Slocan Junction during August was only a few dollars short of $20,000, said W. C. Sandercock.

The need for a better boat service on Slocan lake was urged by Mr. Hinton.

"It takes four hours to go 44 miles on the Slocan line," said Mr. Robertson.

"It takes an hour to get past Crescent valley," declared Mr. McHardy.

Questions Policy of Action.

Mayor Annable questioned the policy of keeping up an agitation against the Canadian Pacific railway. "We are always after them," he said, and suggested that action on these small matters might have an adverse effect when representations on more important questions were made.

The president thought that the Canadian Pacific railway realized the spirit in which the board made suggestions on such matters.

The secretary, E. K. Beeston, was instructed to write to the Slocan district board of trade at Silverton regarding the Slocan freight and passenger service with a view to co-operation between the two boards in making representations for improvements to the service.

Mr. Beeston, regarding the west arm service, said that he thought Capt. J. C. Gore, superintendent of the lake and river service, realized the situa-

Carried Aloft By Blazing Balloon

(By Daily News Leased Wire.)

TOLEDO, Ohio, Sept. 12.—Hundreds of terrorized spectators on the county fair grounds today breathlessly watched the desperate fight against death made by Frank Armstrong, an aeronaut, when he was carried 2000 feet into the air by a blazing balloon. Armstrong, whose home is in Celina, Ohio, was preparing to make an ascent and was straightening out his parchute rigging when the balloon caught fire and his startled helpers let go. Fighting like mad to release his parachute, the aeronaut was carried up in a tangle of ropes. He succeeded in cutting loose a moment before the flames reached the parachute and the blazing balloon collapsed. Armstrong made a successful drop, landing inside the race track.

Caught by Rope.

(By Daily News Leased Wire.)

OTTAWA, Sept. 12.—Police Con*stable McKechnie had a narrow escape* from death from a rope trailing from a balloon which was making an ascension at the exhibition grounds which caught round his neck and pulled him from his feet. Fortunately people nearby were able to disentangle him before he was carried very high in the air. He was engaged in keeping the crowd away from the balloon and did not notice the trailing rope. The skin on his neck was badly torn.

Canada Gets New Harbor In North

VANCOUVETR, Sept. 12.—One of the members of the Canadian government Alaska boundary line survey party who have just arrived from the north says that within five years Canada will have a new seaport north of Skagway. The next inlet to the westward of Lynn canal is Glacier bay. The international boundary line under the Alverstone award, is a few miles from the head of the Glacier bay, which is now filled with a vast ice field that extends away back into Canadian territory. But the surveyor says that observations for the last two years has shown that the glacier is receding at the rate of more than a mile a year. Soon there will not be a glacier but instead, a well protected harbor ex*tending back into Canadian territory* the only harbor within Canadian territory within hundreds of miles.

ROOSEVELT PELTED WITH ROSES

Delivers Five Speeches at Portland—Heads Parade Through City—New Campaign Song.

(By Daily News Leased Wire.)

PORTLAND, Ore., Sept. 12.—On a carpet of roses Colonel Roosevelt entered the "City of Roses" with a rose in his buttonhole and in his hand and at his elbow a girl who carried a market basket filled with more roses. When he left Portland last night after a hard day's campaigning here he found that his private car had been transformed into a bower of roses. As his train pulled out the colonel was pelted with a shower of blossoms as he stood on the platform and waved a good-bye. Colonel Roosevelt made five speeches yesterday. He denounced the five Oregon delegates to the Republican national convention who voted to seat the 90 delegates who, he declared, were fraudulently elected, and attacked as a Judas Thomas McCuswer, who was Senator La Follette's manager in Oregon during the primary campaign last spring and is Republican nominee for congress from Portland. He appealed to the people of Oregon to stand by the Progressive party on the ground that it alone represented them.

It was said that 17,500 roses were in the flowery carpet which stretched from the colonel's car to his automobile and it was said they would have cost $10,000 in Oyster Bay. Colonel Roosevelt spoke at a luncheon, talked with the Oregon Progressive leaders, headed a parade through the city, on which he had three speeches, and toward night addressed the largest crowd of the day in a tabernacle erected for revival meetings. The crowds cheered, sang and waved bandanas. Some of the men wore their bandanas wrapped about their heads like cocked hats. A good deal of noise was made with a campaign song which was half cheering and half singing. It ran:

"E-yip.
"Our Teddy is here today.
"E-yip.
"Our Teddy, hooray."

Colonel Roosevelt's conference with Oregon Progressive leaders was interrupted by crowds which flocked to his rooms and he finally had to hold a reception.

From Portland Colonel Roosevelt started last night for the eastern part of the state.

FLABBY IN CONVICTIONS INDECISIVE IN ACTION

(By Daily News Leased Wire.)

LONDON, Sept. 12.—The London Daily Mail prints the following by "Anglo-American" on its editorial page under the head "The Failure of Taft": Taft, we know pretty well by now to be a rather dull, unimpressive president, singularly maladroit in his political tactics, well meaning and not without some streak of executive efficiency, but flabby in his convictions, indecisive in his actions, with no instinct for leadership, gauging public opinion or for comprehending the unrest which is agitating the society of which he is the chief magistrate. It is a pitiable ending of what four years ago had every promise of being a fruitful presidency. He proved an example failure and America will never again commit its fortunes in his keeping."

Concerning Wilson, "Anglo-American" says:

"He is a sort of Chamberlainized Balfour, whose convictions are founded on reflections, are stubbornly held and translated into acts with the directness of a real leader of men. He is the strongest candidate now making an appeal for the suffrage of the American people."

RAILWAY BONDHOLDERS WANT THEIR INTEREST

(By Daily News Leased Wire.)

LONDON, Sept. 12.—A committee of the first mortgage bondholders of the Wisconsin, Minnesota & Pacific railroad is being formed to protect their interests in consequence of the announced nonpayment of the October coupons. The bonds were issued in London in 1905 on the security of a traffic contract with the Chicago & Great Western railroad. The latter road was subsequently reorganized, but it is still bound by the contract. A railway expert who examined the position of the bondholders on behalf of the London issuing house reports that the present management of the Chicago & Great Western has not fully complied with the terms of the lease, otherwise the earnings would have been ample to cover the interest on the bonds.

CONVENTION FEARS CLASH WITH SENATOR LA FOLLETTE

(By Daily News Leased Wire.)

MILWAUKEE, Wis., Sept. 12.—Fear of a clash with United States Senator La Follette blocked the naming of a full state Progressive ticket by the state convention here yesterday. Progressive leaders felt that the nomination of a state ticket in opposition to the Republican state ticket would not alone precipitate a fight with Senator La Follette, but also would prevent support of the Progressive cause by Governor McGovern. However, there was considerable sentiment, particularly among delegates from northern Wisconsin, for a complete ticket. Some of the delegates had been so instructed. After deliberating until night the committee on nominations decided to delay action.

CURE FOR DISEASE NOW DECIMATING HORSES

LINCOLN, Neb., Sept. 12.—Nearly 100 Nebraska veterinarians, with a few from neighboring states, met here yesterday and discussed the epidemic which is killing hundreds of horses in this state and Kansas.

Scores of suggestions have come to Governor Aldrich, among them this cable from a London, England, veterinarian: "The same epidemic was in South Africa a year ago just as it is now ravaging Nebraska. It can be cured [illegible] by not using grain and by feeding only alfalfa or wild hay grown in an altitude of more thn 3,000 feet. The germ lives only in a damp climate and enters the horse's system through the nose."

DISCREDIT STORY OF BLONDE ESQUIMOS

Existence of Tribe Possessing Scandinavian Characteristics Declared to Be Improbable.

(By Daily News Leased Wire.)

LONDON, Sept. 12.—The Christiana correspondent of the Morning Post says: "Telegrams announcing that Professor Stefannson found tribes of white Eskimos have aroused much interest and also some criticism here. Dr. Skattum, the ethnologist, has been interviewed. He is of the opinion that the reports require further elucidation. Professor Stefannson has not been regarded here as an authority.

"Norwegian explorers and ethnologists, Dr. Nansen among others, long ago recognized there were Eskimos possessing some characteristics of the north German type in Greenland and Arctic America. It appears to be evident that the Norwegian colonists who emigrated mixed with Eskimo tribes and amalgamated completed with them. The existence of a whole tribe of the northern European type and even using several words of Norwegian origin, is held to be quite improbable."

Captain Sverdrup's brother, Dr. Sverdrup, who himself has been engaged in Arctic exploration and is now a practicing physician among Norwegian seamen in the east end of London, discredits the story of the discovery of a colony of 2,000 white Eskimos. In an interview yesterday he declared that nowhere in Greenland was there a colony of natives numbering 2,000. Other explorers had visited that very region and never mentioned such a colony.

Furthermore, the doctor pointed out that the Hudson Bay company's trading stations were actually in touch with authentic Eskimos and Copper Mine Indians, a little to the south, who would surely have heard of such a strange folk.

SCHOOL TEACHERS' UNIONS MUST BE DISSOLVED

(By Daily News Leased Wire.)

PARIS, Sept. 12.—The time limit for the school teachers to dissolve their unions, as ordered by the cabinet because they had expressed sympathy with the anti-military propaganist, has expired. Thirteen unions have notified the minister of education that they had obeyed the ministerial decree and five declared they would resist it. Of the 20 unions remaining some demanded delay before deciding, on the ground that the holidays prevented the unions from meeting. Some members of the committees resigned without dissolving the unions and some have taken steps to form new unions. These unions were formed in 1905 and they were modeled along the lines of regular trade unions. The French government's view, however, always has been that school teachers are civil servants and as such have no legal right to form any unions other than associations limited strictly to professional affairs.

WARNING AGAINST ORCHARD SCHEMES

Washington Department of Agriculture Says Promises of Profits Are Excessive—Ranching by Deputy.

(By Daily News Leased Wire.)

WASHINGTON, Sept. 12.—The department of agriculture, in a report soon to be issued, will sound a note of warning to all interested against orchard investment schemes that hold out promises of profits far in excess of what the department experts regard as warranted. Many inquiries have reached the department regarding orange, apple and other enterprises where the orchard work is to be done by proxy and in some cases the claims of profits are alluring in the extreme. It is possible that some of these claims will be called to the attention of the postoffice department because of the circulation of the alluring literature through the mails. Not all the schemes are frowned upon by the department, as will be pointed out in the report. This document, based upon inquiry into a number of the plans, in at least one of which prominent government officials personally are interested, will give clear suggestions and hints to city folks who are considering making investments in the so-called "orchardizing by proxy."

It will indicate the conditions under which successful fruit culture may be expected and the reasons given by the government experts why certain systems of orchardizing must fail. These investment plans have flooded the country and hve aroused wide interest.

UNIONISTS JUBILANT

(By Daily News Leased Wire.)

LONDON, Sept. 12.—The Unionist press is jubilant over the capture of Gladstone's old seat of Midlothian as a knock down blow to the government. The Liberal morning papers demand that Premier Asquith insert in the next electoral reform bill a clause which either by provision for an alternative vote or for a second ballot will prevent a constituency from becoming represented by a minority vote.

KAISER AS CENSOR

(By Daily News Leased Wire.)

BERLIN, Sept. 12.—The Kaiser's personal censorship of plays in which the Hohenzollerns are represented has just been exercised on a new drama in which Frederick the Great and Queen Louise appeared. His majesty sanctioned the production of the play on condition that the scene depicting Queen Louise's meeting with Napoleon at Tilsit after the defeat of the Russians in 1807 be eliminated.

POLITICAL ACTION BETTER THAN STRIKE

British Member Says Recent Strikes Were Successful Owing to Parliamentary Action.

(By Daily News Leased Wire.)

KESWICK, England, Sept. 12.—At a lecture delivered at the Fabian summer school, Keswick, Philip Snowden, M. P., dealt with the strike as a feature in modern industrial tendencies. He said that the strike could never be successful as a weapon of frequent or constant use. There was no record except in one or two instances, where circumstances were exceptional, of labor having struck successfully against federated capital. He considered that in the immediate future there was likely to be a great revival of political action because recent strikes, including the railway strike and the coal miners' strike, although they appeared to be successful, were in reality failures. It was solely due to the intervention of parliament that the cause of labor had not been involved in disaster. The effectiveness of political action as contrasted with strikes was shown in the workmen's compensation act, under which $15,000,000 had been paid to workers, or three times more than the total increase last year in the wages of all the workers in the country. The idea of a general strike was of French origin and was not likely, added Mr. Snowden, to find favor in England.

TURKEY THINKS BULGARIA WILL NOT FIGHT

(By Daily News Leased Wire.)

LONDON, Sept. 12.—Belief in the imminence of war is stronger in Sofia than in Constantinople, according to a dispatch from the Turkish capital to the Daily Mail. The porte does not believe that the Bulgarian cabinet will be carried away by popular clamor. The basis of this belief is the program of reform which the porte proposes to grant to Macedonia and all other Christian provinces. While these reforms do not amount to autonomy, the correspondent adds that assurances have been given that a constitution granting equal treatment to all nationalities will be put into operation in the fullest sense. A Saloniki dispatch reports further firing by Bulgarian troops on Christian block houses in the Velygarakol district.

MINISTERS ON LINKS ATTACKED BY SUFFRAGETTES

(By Daily News Leased Wire.)

DORNOCH, Scotland, Sept. 12.—Prime Minister Asquith and Home Secretary McKenna were attacked by two suffragettes while golfing on the Dornoch links yesterday. The women started by harranguing Mr. Asquith and when Mr. McKenna tried to push them away a scuffle followed, Mr. McKenna, with a detective who came to his aid, with difficulty preventing the women from getting at Mr. Asquith. The caddies refused to interfere, but the police inspector arriving, the suffragettes were marched to the police station.

GERMANY MAY BOYCOTT PANAMA EXPOSITION

(Special to The Daily News.)

BERLIN, Sept. 12.—Germany's decision in regard to participation in the Panama-Pacific exposition at San Francisco in 1915 will be withheld until after the presidential elections. If Wilson wins Germany will certainly participate. If Taft or Roosevelt should be elected the fatherland participation will remain in doubt until the Republican or the Progressive administration has given a reliable indication of its tariff policy. If the "standpatters" regime is perpetuated, the German government as it is at present minded will boycott the exposition.

TO FLOAT SPANISH LOAN IN PARIS

(Special to The Daily News.)

LONDON, Sept. 12.—The Daily Mail understands that arrangements for the flotation of a large Spanish loan in Paris, which have been under discussion for some time, are now in an advanced stage. The amount will be about £60,000,000 ($300,000,000). The loan probably will be issued in two installments, with an interval of about six months. It is understood that the settlement of the difficulties between France and Spain over Morocco is largely dependent upon the advance of a large sum of money by France to Spain and this settlement would now appear to be in sight.

EX-KING CONSPIRING AGAINST PORTUGUESE REPUBLIC

(By Daily News Leased Wire.)

MUNICH, Sept. 12.—The Socialist Post says ex-King Manuel of Portugal is here concocting measures against the Portuguese republic. The chief instigator of the conspiracy is the Duchess Karl Theodor of Bavaria, who is reported to have spent a large fortune in the royalist cause.

WILL TREAT ALL ALIKE

(By Daily News Leased Wire.)

LONDON, Sept. 12.—The Daily Mail's Constantinople correspondent asserts that he has complete authority for saying that the Turkish cabinet intends to confer the same benefits on all nationalities in Macedonia as were recently granted to the Albanians. He quotes his authority as saying: "A constitution according equal treatment to all nationalities will be put into operation in the fullest sense."

CHURCH HALL LENT FOR JEWISH CELEBRATION

Catholic Priest Gives Use of Hall for Jewish Festival—Takes No Pay.

(By Daily News Leased Wire.)

NEW YORK, Sept. 12.—The Jewish feast of Rosh-Ha-Shonha, ushering in the Jewish year 5673 and inaugurating the period of 10 days of repentance and prayer, which shall end with Yom Kippur (the day of atonement) on September 21, began last evening. A remarkable development of the festival followed the week-long search of the Jewish residents of Flatbush for a place in which to solemnize their new year. They had sought everywhere for a hall in which to gather and no place could be obtained, until one of the prominent members of the Hebrew church asked the Rev. Timothy Hickey of St. Brendan's Roman Catholic church if he could aid the Jews to find a meeting place. Father Hickey consented to do all in his power within the rules of the church. He could not grant the Jews the use of the Catholic edifice, but he gave them the use of the parish hall. The members of the Jewish committee thanked him warmly and asked what would be the charge.

"My church asks no pay for its use in good works," responded the priest.

Perhaps never in the history of religion in America has so broad-minded an attitude between the Jew and Gentile been declared by a representative of the faith of Rome.

"From time immemorial," said Father Hickey last night, "the Jews have been willing to aid the believers in the Catholic faith. Surely, in the broad morality of the modern age, I may give, so far as I can, to the aid of those who worship God."

Malthoid Roofing

Most roofing guarantees are a joke.

Experience teaches the longer a roofing is guaranteed to last, the poorer it is.

Manufacturers inexperienced in making roofings—without knowledge as to their dependability—without responsibility as to their own financial standing, will very often guarantee their roofing for any number of years simply to get the order.

The roofing generally fails and so does the firm that makes it and they never live to make good their guarantee.

Malthoid Roofing is made to make good and while its manufacturers guarantee it, their guarantee is unnecessary because the roofing in itself is sufficient to do all that is claimed for it.

For twenty-six years, the makers of Malthoid Roofing have made and guaranteed their roofing and not one single purchaser can ever say that this Company has failed to make good a guarantee.

You can depend upon the responsibility of the makers of Malthoid Roofing, and you will never have to bother about guarantees if you use Malthoid Roofing.

the stuff they could produce. In char*acter and habits they were extremely* exemplary and would readily respond to any kindness. In school matters they were willing to work in harmony. *They would build schools if the govern*ment would supply the teachers. Mr. McHardy's conclusion was that they had taken up land which would have been bush land still. They could grow the finest fruit, they had demonstrated that they were the best packers, and they were willing to learn and easily taught. The result of their work formed a good advertisement for Kootenay. There were still hundreds of thousands of acres yet to be developed and their invasion had not in any way been detrimental.

Was Punished.

Fred Rebalkin, who had left the community, was the first Doukhobor witness examined by Mr. Blakemore.

Why did he leave the community? Because Mr. Veregin was very severe and threatened to get a hundred people to punish him and his family.

What punishment? He was told to go across the river and walk three miles to eat his bread like a dog.

When they complained about not having enough food were they having as much as the other members of the community? The food was given out to last them two weeks and they were away from the community and it ran out in camp and they complained.

Did he complain to any one else except to Peterlo Rogatoff? No.

Did he leave the community without complaining to any other of the so-called leaders of the community? Four days after, Mr. Veregin said: "If you are not satisfied you had better go across the river and stay there.

What did he do during those four days? They hadn't finished the work and they returned to it.

When Veregin told him that what did he do? Next day they went.

Did he say anything to Mr. Veregin? When we came into the community we had clothes; when you came here you had none, yet you are commanding us.

How many men were working on the job at Castlegar? Thirteen men belonging to the community and three who had left.

I didn't think that when men had left the community they would work with the others? They were working for the mill company, not for the community.

Were there any others dissatisfied with the amount of food? Yes, they asked witness to go and represent them at the community. He was the only one that went.

But Mr. Veregin sent for all of them What was the name of the messenger? John Markin, of the community, at the time.

He was not one of these men working at Castlegar? He was working there at the time, but owing to sickness, he went home to the community.

Where did he meet the men? Brilliant.

Did any other men leave the community at the same time? Four men and himself belonging to the thirteen.

Was there any other reason why witness left? No other reason. He didn't want to obey the law.

Was that the first time they had ever been short of food? Yes.

When they were working in the community, did they have plenty? Yes, we have enough, some times we haven't, but we did not have to work so hard.

Cannot a Doukhobor get all the food he wants in the community? Yes, like bread and potatoes, such as it is.

The reason that the food they took to camp was not sufficient was because they were working harder and wanted more food? Yes.

Would the food be sufficient if they were working in the community? Yes.

Was he a member of the community in Russia? In our country we lived in *our own community and Peter Vere*gin was among them.

Was that a Doukhobor community? Yes.

Had Property in Russia.

How many years did he live in that community in Russia? Thirteen years with Mr. Veregin as leader.

Is there any difference in Mr. Veregin's ruling as it was in Russia and here? Yes. He says when we live in the old country they had property of their own, but when they arrived in Saskatchewan everything went into the community.

Who took it over? Mr. Veregin.

But he didn't come to Canada for two years after witness arrived. Was all the property put into community before Mr. Veregin came? One month.

Then why does he say that Mr. Veregin formed the new community here? He remained individual Doukhobor until Mr. Veregin arrived.

Then did they all join? Yes, perhaps very few did not.

So the answer is that he gave every*thing to the community?* Yes.

When he left the community did he get any property? No.

Did he ask for anything? Yes.

How much? Ninety dollars in cash horses and wagon, cows and calf and farmer's tools belonging to about five members.

The $90 was his own? Who did he ask to return it? He did not ask Mr. Veregin himself, but he asked a committee of men.

*How many men were at that meet*ing? Perhaps 30 or 40.

What did the meeting say? You take a sack of flour and that's enough for the first.

Did he ask for any money? He said, just give me $1 just to feed my children.

Veregin Gave Ten Dollars.

That's not what I want to know. Eleven years ago he put in $90 and his share in the property. So that's all he got out of the community? Mr. Veregin gave him $10 when he was sick.

And that's all he ever had out of the community except his food? Did he remind the meeting of the money? Yes, but the meeting said what we had has all gone. Did any of the other men who left at the same time get anything? Witness said he did not know, but he had heard they got a little flour. Two or three weeks after that he met Mr. Veregin at Castlegar and asked him about it but he refused to answer.

No word at all? He never spoke.

Was there any agreement made with the community or Mr. Veregin or any one else that he should have anything when he left? No agreement.

*When he put his property and mon*ey into the community, did he consider that he gave it up; lost all individual claim to it? He had the im*pression that if he pulled out he would* get it back.

Fifty Lived in One House.

After lunch examination of the same witness continued. The commissioner asked if he ever had occasion to complain before the incident at Castlegar? Yes.

When? About three years ago.

What was the trouble then? Because they were asked to live 50 in a house at a time.

Was the reason because they were in the building or were they crowded after the buildings were up? There were 50 people in one house at the time he left the community.

How many bedrooms? There was none; they were not partitioned off.

Where about is the house? Beside the river. (Counsel later stated the building was near Waterloo.)

How many beds in the building for the 50 people? I can't remember.

Women and men together? Yes; each man had a family.

Were all grown up men and women? Some single men, some single women, as well as married people.

Any hangings or curtains between the beds? No.

Was it like that when he left the building? Yes.

Did he make any complaint about that crowded state? Yes, to Mr. Veregin.

What did he say? Those who were not satisfied with that must make houses of their own.

Could Not Get Milk.

Was that to do with him leaving the community? (Before, witness had said it was only on account of the food.) Yes.

Suppose they had not had any difficulty over the food, would he have left on account of the crowding? Yes

Now has he any other reason for leaving? Yes, because if the children are sick we haven't any means of get*ting necessary food.*

Did he have any sick child? No. It was his father. He asked for milk and didn't get it.

Why didn't they get it? He was told that there were a lot of old people and they hadn't sufficient to give.

Does that finish his complaint? Yes.

When married, Thirteen years.

How many children. Four.

Only had one wife? Yes.

Had he ever known a Doukhobor having two wives at the same time? No.

Did he know of any acts of cruelty or violence by Mr. Veregin? Yes, he said he licked the people.

What with? His fist.

Had he seen it himself? Yes, just once.

Who was it and why did Mr. Vere*gin do it?* They didn't want to go away to work because they had a sick child, and when they refused to go to work Mr. Veregin struck them in the face.

Kept Without Food.

Any other punishment? Yes, whenever they wouldn't obey his law he would keep them without food for two days at a time He, himself, had gone without for one day.

What was that for? Because a cow was accidentally killed; about 100 other members of the community were kept without food.

Did any of these punishments happen in Saskatchewan? No.

Did he think Mr. Veregin had got *any more severe since coming to Brit*ish Columbia? Mr. Veregin was very much better in Saskatchewan.

Was he one of the men who left the community at Saskatchewan and went into the forest looking for Christ? No.

What is he doing now for a living? He works on a farm of his own.

How long since he bought it? Two years.

How many acres? Thirteen acres.

Now he is out of the community. has he any objection to conform to the registration laws of this community? We have no objections but we don't want to pay the fees.

No Personal Objection to Laws.

Had he any objection to those laws when he was in the community? He had not any personal objections and would rather live out of the community because it was more free.

The witness was then cross-exam*ined by counsel.*

Did he have the same Christian belief now as when he first joined the community? Yes.

Does he hold the song service on Sunday? Yes.

Does he believe that he will be punished if he does not tell the truth? Yes.

By whom? The government.

According to the rules of the community, did he have the right to charge himself up with things at the store? No.

Therefore he was breaking the rule of the community? He didn't think so.

How many Doukhobors did he know who left the community in Saskatchewan? He didn't know it was always work, work and he had no time to keep account. It might have been 20 or more.

Took Property by Force.

Did he know the rules in Saskatchewan allowed that when any one left they got back what they put in originally? No. They took what they had by force.

Doesn't he know that when people left the community in Saskatchewan it was the rule or custom to take their property with them? No; they got it by force.

Did he have a letter from his friends in Saskatchewan that he could get his property if he sent for it? He never had that letter.

Did he know of such a letter? No.

One of his complaints was that he had no voice in the community? Yes; whatever Veregin said he had to do.

Witnesses Protected.

Counsel having concluded *cross-ex*amination, the commissioner thanked the witness for the time he had patiently devoted to the hearing and in consequence of many remarks having been passed, throughout the morning and afternoon sessions, to the effect that the witness was without counsel while Mr. Veregin and the Doukhobors were so ably represented by A. M. Johnson, Mr. Blakemore pointed out that while he had no authority to provide legal assistance, he wanted to make it quite clear that this being a court of enquiry, he did not intend to allow any unfairness. He would protect the interests of those who had been invited by the government to appear before the commission and Mr. Johnson was aware that he would have no privileges or undue advantages over the witnesses who were without legal representation. He therefore asked the witness to say if he considered he had had an impartial hearing. The answer was in the affirmative.

Married Woman Tells Story.

The next witness was Natalia Nevakshonova, a married woman, who was living apart from her husband. She had been married twice, the first husband was dead. Three children represented the issue of that union. They were all born in the Doukhobor community. A year before witness left the community she married a second time. There were no children by this marriage, but her son had refused to stay with the community and as her own flesh and blood was more to her than anything else in the world she decided to leave the community. Her husband, however, decided to stay. Hence the separation.

Where is the son, enquired the commissioner He has been in Prince Albert three months.

What benefit is it to her to leave the community and her husband if her son has now left her? She has also two daughters whom she was now living with.

Who supports them? Her son sends money from Prince Albert.

Has she any complaint to make against the community? No.

The only reason she left was on account of her son? Yes. She has a desire to go back if her son would go back.

Objected to Food.

Peter Abronsinoff, aged 26 years, the man who withdrew the threat, was the first witness called at the evening sessions. He was born in the Doukhobor community in Russia and came to Saskatchewan, joining the community there and then left for the British Columbia settlement, where he remained until 2 1-2 years ago.

Why did he leave? He couldn't live any longer that life.

What did he object to? The food. He couldn't get eggs, milk, butter, tea, etc.

Did he get those in Saskatchewan? Some of the things. He didn't complain about these things himself, but his companions did and they were told if not satisfied they were to get out.

Abronsinoff, consequently, decided to leave and refused to hand over certain money he had earned which should have been put in the community funds.

After leaving he applied to Saskatchewan for the value of his property in the village which, he said, was due to him. About three months afterwards he received $248 for the whole family's share—father, mother, brothers and wife. He was not satisfied with what he received but he did not complain. None of the family ever got anything out of the community he had put in $860 in three years. His father had also put some money in but not so much.

He gave as another reason for leaving that he did not like the condition of the house they were told to live in. There were from 30 to 40 people living there. In the house he was living in at Brilliant there were four men and their wives and children, all living in one room without any partitions. It was only a temporary arrangement while the community was building. The conditions were entirely different in Saskatchewan.

Wanted Education.

Another reason for leaving the community was because they were without any education. The school was opened after he had left. He was tired of community life, although all the members were always fairly kind to him. He thought the opportunities were better outside the community. Crossexamination was reserved until this morning.

Nicholas Sherstobitoff gave evidence that when he left the community he did not get one cent, although considerable property of his had been put in. He left because he had no voice or freedom. There were too many people living in one building, where the conditions and wants of the occupants were so varied. When his wife was sick he asked for a physician but could not get one. Up to the time of leaving he recognized Mr. Veregin as head of the community.

The commission adjourned until 10 o'clock this morning.

He referred to the courtesy with which Canadian Pa*cific railway local officials always* treated representations which were made to them. The secretary was instructed to place the situation before Capt. Gore.

Board to Hold Banquet.

With a view to stimulating interest in board of trade affairs a banquet will be held on an evening sometime within the next eight weeks, to which all interested in the organization will be invited. The function will be concluded with a discussion of matters affecting the welfare of the board and the community at large. It was suggested that this affair might be the first of a series of annual board of trade banquets and was decided upon on the recommendation of the membership committee of which Mr. McHardy is chairman.

R. W. Hinton urged that a special endeavor be made to secure members from among the wholesalers and retailers.

J. H. Hutchinson, Popoff & Crofts; George Maurer, the Western Provinces Realty company, and Waters & Pascoe were elected members of the board.

The application of W. E. Wasson, city clerk, for membership will come before the council of the board for formal consideration as the constitution provides that such course of action must be followed in the case of all except those engaged in certain business.

To Link up Roads and Bridges.

A letter from Premier McBride acknowledging the receipt of the resolutions passed at the recent special meeting of the board stated that he would take the first opportunity of bringing before Hon. Thomas Taylor, minster of public works, the need for "the linking up of the roads and bridges leading into Nelson."

In this connection Mr. McHardy spoke of the excellent work which was being done by the government toward improving the road between Nelson and the power plant. Good progress, he said, was being made on the build*ing of the links between Slocan junc*tion and Taghum, and he believed it would be completed this fall.

The council of the board recommend*ed that nothing further* be done with regard to the matter of dredging the waterfront and expressed satisfaction with the action which had been taken in submitting the matter to R. F. Green, M.P.

Should be Dominion Affair.

With regard to the suggestion of A. E. Watts that a party of Western Canadians should be organized to go to England next December as a return visit to that of the British manufact*urers, it was decided that the sec*retary should inform Mr. Watts that the board thought such a party should represent the whole of Canada rather than any one part of it, and that the party should be confined to selected members of the board of trade

It was decided that a display of fruit and choice flowers should be made at the board of trade rooms during the visit of the Duke of Connaught on Oct. 7 in order that his royal highness could be invited to make an inspection of a representative exhibit.

E. W. Widdowson offered to provide *specimens of Kootenay ore as sou*venirs to be donated to the members of the royal party. The specimens could be placed in cases, he said. He had all the samples that would be needed except some gold specimens which would have to be purchased. The board left this matter to Mr. Widdowson and the secretary.

Those present were, the president, T. D. Stark; the secretary, E. K. Beeston; E. W. Widdowson, C. F. McHardy, W. C. Sandercock, W. H. Jones, J. A. Irving, Edward Kerr, Ald. Cunliffe, R. W. AUSTRALIA FEARS OPERATION OF COMBINE

(By Daily News Leased Wire.)

SYDNEY, N. S. W., Sept. 12.—That the United States beef trust is about to start operations in Australia is the general belief here. The federal attorney general, Mr. Hughes, says that as far as he knows the commonwealth has no power to grapple effectively with such a trust. The men connected with the combine have been under observation for some time, and if the trust starts operations, and it is practically assured that it will, it is considered that the increased charges for meat that will follow will amount to £875,000 a year.

OPIUM GROWING REVIVED IN CHINA

(By Daily News Leased Wire.)

PEKING, Sept. 12.—From the province of Hunan comes numerous instances of the renewed cultivation of the poppy. The efforts proposed by the government to destroy the crop are vehemently opposed by the people. Before the revolution the Chinese were successfully compelled to conform to the law regarding the growing of the poppy, but conditions lately have not been favorable to the strict enforcement of law, and in consequence poppy culture has been widespread this season and smuggling is again practiced.

MUNICIPAL GOVERNMENT.

One of the problems of the day in many parts of Canada is that of the best form of municipal government. Many weaknesses in the systems in force have become apparent and the question is how these can be remedied and the best results secured. The government of British Columbia has shown its realization of the situation in this province by the appointment of a commission to examine into the existing laws and the manner in which they work out, and also to investigate the systems of municipal government in vogue in other parts of Canada and in the United States. This commission is now engaged in its work, having sat in Nelson on Wednesday last. The members of that body can be trusted to look into all phases of the question which they have been appointed to investigate and to present a report that will result in many improvements to the existing municipal laws in this province, but in the meantime it is interesting to note what the Ottawa Journal, which has been giving some attention to the matter, has to say, as a result of its cogitations. The Journal, after referring to the general dissatisfaction with the administration of municipal affairs, proceeds:

The Toronto News charges that the city council of that city is adding steadily to the debt without adequate results because it is working without plans. It is claimed that, in this way, millions of dollars are being wasted.

The scandal in Montreal which ended in the banishment of twenty-three aldermen from public life, is notorious. Now there is a board of control, with many reforms, and yet complaints are heard on all sides.

Hamilton is also angry with its city council, charging that public works are bungled.

In Kingston the city council is severely criticized in connection with paving botchery, which is said to have meant the waste of a large amount of public money.

The career of Ottawa's city council hardly requires comment. The most important labor body of the city has considered a resolution calling upon it to resign.

The decisions as to public works are made by expert heads of departments, but action in each case must be taken by the aldermen, who hold the keys of the treasury. So the Ottawa city engineer was kept waiting three years before he was allowed to start waterworks improvements which were recommended as immediate necessities, and then the work was allowed to drag along over three years more, and botched at that. Two typhoid epidemics, and a vast expense to the public to get safe water otherwise, have been parts of the result. Some of this has evidently been the fault of the city engineer, but a greater part has been the fault of successive city councils which should have supplied a different sort of motive power.

The Journal unfortunately has no remedy to suggest. It sees the result of the present form of government by aldermanic boards, supplemented in some cases by boards of control, and points to the necessity for some change. In this its dissertation is ineffectual, but its views are interesting as showing the importance of the work upon which the commission appointed by the British Columbia government is engaged and the necessity for the government action in the matter.

It is announced that Miss Christobel Pankhurst is now living in Paris, where she intends to remain. This should be a source of regret to Premier Asquith, Winston Churchill and other members of the British cabinet.

What the Press Is Saying

No Room for the "Quitter."

The man who has in him the qualities of the quitter cannot remain long in this part of the world without being found out, and he is no sooner disclosed than it soaks into his brain that this is not the place for him. In the east and elsewhere he may hide himself for years, and eke out a precarious existence without any particular effort, but here he has to stand up and take it—good or bad as the case may be—or get out.—Lethbridge News.

This Date in History.

The first experimental train passed through Mont Cenis tunnel 41 years ago today, and the great engineering project was formally inaugurated four days later. The tunnel, the first great work of its kind, is seven and a half miles long, connecting Savoy and Piedmont. Plans were drawn in 1849, but it was not until 1857 that the work of excavation was actually commenced by King Victor Emanuel of Italy. The boring was at first effected by ordinary piercing machinery, but in 1860 steam power was employed, and before the tunnel was completed compressed air was being used. The tunnel was completed on Christmas, 1870, but was not ready for use until the fall of the following year. The cost was $18,000,000, France bearing the larger share of the expense. There are now six important tunnels in the Alps, the largest being the Simplon, 12½ miles.

Funnel Shapped Pit of Unknown Depth Discovered on Mount Fernie—Will be Investigated.

(Special to The Daily News.)

FERNIE, B.C., Sept. 12.—New interest has been awakened in mountain climbing here by the discovery of what may prove to be a great attraction near the Summit of Mount Fernie.

Rev. J. R. Dimmock, Thomas Robinson, Len Hunnebel and J. H. Thornburn were taking in the sights to be seen from the top of the mountain a day or two ago, when one of the party, exploring the basin which lies just over the Fernie face of the mountain, discovered that at the bottom of a funnel-shaped pit, a which rocks and logs had gathered, there was a cavity almost entirely hidden from view. Removing a large stone from the place, a hole of unknown depth was exposed to view.

Stones of all sizes, from a goose egg to the size of a peck measure were dropped into the cavity and it was found that these rocks descended to great depth, sending back reverberations from their contact with the sides of the cavern until the sounds became almost inaudable, finally dying entirely away into silence.

The lose rocks and timbers had covered the opening in this cavity in the mountain and the party of discoverers were fearful of loosening up these rocks in such a way as to cause a sudden descent of the whole collection into what seemed to them might be a large opening, and they refrained from further research until better means could be secured to remove the stopper from the neck of so large a bottle.

Further exploration of this interesting find will be made within a few days by a large party armed with ropes, torches and cameras.

Thornburn, of this party of discoverers, is a resident of Bakersfield, California, and has been spending a few days visiting with Rev. Mr. Dimmock. The Californian is greatly pleased with the country and the fine scenery in this district, and is full of curiosity to know just how big the hole in Mount Fernie discovered by his party will prove to be.

Visions of stalegmites, stalectites icecles, blind bats and sightless fishes are floating through the mists of imagination now befogging the minds of the party.

QUEENS BAY EXHIBIT AT NELSON FRUIT FAIR

(Special to The Daily News.)

QUEENS BAY, B.C., Sept. 12.—At a meeting of the Fruit Growers' association held on Sept. 7 it was decided that space should be applied for at the forthcoming Nelson fruit fair, in order to make a display of locally grown fruits and vegetables. The application has been made, and if space is allotted a good assortment of produce will be exhibited by the settlers.

The establishment of a branch of the travelling library department of the province of British Columbia was considered, and the secretary was instructed to obtain information of the working of established branches in this part of the province. He will therefore be glad to hear from librarians of such libraries, giving their experiences.

Hugh Synards, the latest settler here, has gone up to Kaslo for several weeks where he will act as cook at one of the road construction camps.

Despite the apparently unfavorable weather the young fruit trees have made remarkably good growth, and produce generally has grown very well and is plentiful.

HARVEST NEARLY OVER IN SASKATOON DISTRICT

(By Daily News Leased Wire.)

SASKATOON, Sept. 12.—Practically all the wheat in the Saskatoon district has been cut and the majority of the oats as well. There is still a little flax to be cut but this should be all done by the end of the week. Damage by frost throughout the district has been as yet unreported, while only isolated cases of hail damage and wheat shelling by the high winds exists. At Alaska this year's crop is already being loaded while at Laura threshing is in full swing. Rosetown has 1912 wheat in the elevators there. Along the Goose lake line, threshing has already started and will be general next week. The same can be said of the entire Saskatoon district.

EYES

Cataracts

True cataracts are opacities in the crystaline lens, which is just back of the pupil. Anything that is in front of the colored part of the eye is not a cataract, but is on or in the cornea, which forms the clear projection on the front of the eyeball. The last resort in either case is operation, but that should never be allowed till other methods have failed.

The McComrick method has been highly successful in many cases, not only avoiding operations and danger, but, by leaving the eye whole and in its natural state, also avoiding the necessity of extra strong and expensive glasses to take the place of the lens which operation removes.

If you want to be shown I can refer you to a cataract case that has shown very rapid progress during two weeks treatment. When we get a cataract started we are practically sure the game is ours.

WIFE OF CHAMPION COMMITS SUICIDE

Jack Johnson's White Wife Shoots Herself in Head—Had Been In Ill Health.

(By Daily News Leased Wire.)

CHICAGO, Sept. 12.—Mrs. Jack Johnson, wife of the champion pugilist, who shot herself last night, died early today.

CHICAGO, Sept. 12.—Mrs. Jack Johnson, white wife of the world's champion pugilist, attempted to commit suicide last night by shooting herself in the head in their apartments. At a hospital to which she was taken it was said she might die. The bullet passed through her head. She has been in ill-health for a year and was despondent. Her condition was such for several months that Johnson, acting on the advice of her physician, employed two maids to watch her continually. Johnson, in the hope that a change of climate would benefit her, had planned to leave tonight with his wife for Las Vegas, N. M. He went down town to purchase the tickets and when he returned he found her on the floor with a bullet wound in her head. Mrs. Johnson was removed to a hospital, where an examination revealed that the bullet had passed through her head.

Johnson in Tears.

(By Daily News Leased Wire.)

CHICAGO, Sept. 12.—Mrs. Etta Duryea Johnson, the white wife of Jack Johnson, champion heavyweight pugilist, died, a suicide, after wrecking her health in caring for her husband, who was a victim of nervous prostration and had been afflicted with suicidal mania for a year on account of injuries and exertion during his fight with Jeffries. This was the testimony of Johnson at the inquest here today over the body of Mrs. Johnson, who shot herself.

Johnson said that the nature and extent of his sufferings after the championship fight had been kept secret by his wife and himself.

"I am still suffering from the effects of that fight to some extent," he said.

Had Brain Fever.

Johnson gave his testimony in tears. He declared that his wife's efforts to keep him from committing suicide were what broke down her own health. He said: "I believe that I incurred brain fever or some similar derangement from the exertions of the Jeffries fight and the heat that prevailed at the time. I was not myself for a year, but the secret was closely kept between me and Mrs. Johnson. She saved me twice when I tried to choke myself to death. She seized me and struggled with me and prevented the act. She had an awful time taking care of me for over a year. I am telling this now only in justice to my wife. It has never been told before."

MEET TO ARRANGE IMMEDIATE UNION

(By Daily News Leased Wire.)

TORONTO, Sept. 12.—An appeal of the Methodist, Presbyterian and Congregational churches in eastern and western Canada for some official way to bring about union immediately brought together today in Toronto a special commission of all three denominations. The Presbyterian general assembly, the Congregational union and the Methodist general conference special committee sent many of their leading clergymen to meet and discuss fully and take action toward definite steps along the lines of organic union of the churches. This meeting heard of the report of the existence in western Canada of seven or eight churches made up of Presbyterians, Methodists and Congregationalists who have united as one body, taking the proposed basis of organic union as their foundation. This was done chiefly in places where it was necessary to start new churches. The plan worked out successfully.

After earnest discussion and consideration of the matters involved the committee in order to secure further consideration agreed to meet in Toronto again in December.

ROOM HAS SEVENTEEN WINDOWS

A certain woman who lives in Riverside, Ill., has a heavy cross to bear. Not so very long ago her husband built her a new house. A renowned architect was engaged to draw up the plans and on paper they looked satisfactory. When the home was constructed, however, a flaw was discovered that has robbed the woman of her peace of mind ever since. The architect did not, like the one in the story, fail to include an entrance in the plans, but he did something just as bad. Let the sufferer tell her story:

"I always thought it would be so nice to have a large, light and airy bedroom. In fact, I insisted upon it. When my husband talked to me about the plans I told him to go ahead just as he wished, but that he must give me a bedroom with plenty of light and air.

"Well, when he told me that my room was to have 17 windows in it I was just about tickled to death. There would be as much air as on a sleeping porch. During the day it would be simply flooded with sunlight. But upon the heels of my joy came bitter sorrow and regret.

"It was the first night after we moved into our new home. I went to my room and turned on the light. Then I started to pull the shades down—17 of them. Think of it! Eight there I sat down on the edge of my bed and had a good cry. It was too horrible. Then I got mixed up in maddening multiplications. All night long I wrestled with higher mathematics. Seventeen times at night and 17 times in the morning. Three hundred and sixty-five days in the year—and then on into the years to come. It absolutely flattened me out. It spoiled the home for me. Now we have a flat in the city we use in the winter. In the summer we go away to the shore or the mountains—but ever my thoughts fly back to that home of ours, and that fine, large, airy bedroom, haunted everlastingly by those 17 impossible shades."

MARKETS

MARKET IS ACTIVE AND PRICES STEADY

(By Daily News Leased Wire.)

WINNIPEG, Sept. 12.—During the earlier hours of the session trading in options was decidedly active and a heavy volume of business was transacted, prices were steady, October and December opened unchanged while May was ¼ higher. The fluctuations of the day were narrow and the close unchanged to ⅛c higher. Liverpool cables were ⅝c higher at the close. American markets were stronger. Minneapolis ⅜c @⅝c higher and Chicago ⅛@½ higher, but weakened later. Minneapolis closed ⅝c down on all options. Chicago closed ⅜@⅝c lower. The cash inquiry at Winnipeg was active for all grades lower than Nos. 1 and 2, for which there was little demand and offerings were scarce. It was rumored that the ex*port trade had fixed up some good con*tracts but the rumor was not fully confirmed.

Oat options were steady and fairly active while the cash trade was good for extra No. 1 feed. Flax was firm for October. Receipts were 65 cars.

BANKS ADVANCE RATES; SPECULATION IS CHECKED

(By Daily News Leased Wire.)

TORONTO, Sept. 12.—The Telegram says: "Toronto and Montreal banks have advanced their rate on call loans from 5½ to 6 per cent and hold out the likelihood of a further advance occurring, the reason being the west's requirements for money to move the wheat crop. The stock markets are suffering from a depression following the withdrawal of these loans and a temporary end has been put to speculation.

The shortage of money will probably last until the crop is under shelter. The strain here has been exaggerated to a certain extent by the withdrawal of money from the New York market. The active speculations of last May and June resulted in the public being pretty well loaded up with stocks, and should any attempt at realizing occur the structure might topple over. The market will be watched carefully during the next few days for an indication of what may be expected when the crop moving actually commences."

MONTREAL MARKET DULL.

(By Daily News Leased Wire.)

MONTREAL, Sept. 12.—If the morning market was dull the afternoon session was extremely so. The range of the issues traded in was of the narrowest and a general apathy prevailed throughout. Laurentide eased off half a point from the morning closing, selling at 206½ on very limited activity. Dominion Steel was the next in order of importance during the session and was steady at 65 until the close when it gained ¼. London is reported to be still buying the stock although there have been very few transactions during the past week or so. Richelieu did not appear in the buying and selling at the afternoon. Quebec Railway bonds slumped off another point, dropping to 58 to close a transaction for $10,000 worth of the issue. Montreal Power was easy at 229, a point under yesterday's close, while Ottawa Power firmed up a half point during the ses*sion. The others were inactive but firm.*

STOCKS DECLINE.

(By Daily News Leased Wire.)

NEW YORK, Sept. 12.—The course of today's stock market, like that of the preceding session, was governed almost entirely by monetary conditions. Call loans opened at 5½ per cent after considerable advancing to yesterday's and the year's high rate of 5½ per cent, while stocks declined. In the last hour, when rates relaxed, a large part of the early loss was recovered. Indeed, some slight gains were established but the undertone of the list continued somewhat halting. The drain of money to the subtreasury and interior points continued and local banks called loans steady generally. To date home institutions have lost over $5,000,000, which threatens a large deficit in Saturday's reserves.

Dealings in stocks were less than yes*terday's but there was further movement* in some of the high priced specialities, also a belated demand for Colorado Fuel, which rose smartly in the final dealings on fairly large transactions. One of the day's developments was the institution of receivership proceedings against the United States Motors company whose securities have suffered steady declines on the curb. The news occasioned little surprise.

London's average for our stocks was decidedly higher than that recorded at the opening here. Support of our issues abroad, however, was attributed to professional interests with intimate New York connections.

The statement of the Bank of England was again a negligible document, while the Bank of France once more dealt with large figures, including a decrease of $17,000,000 in circulation and an increase of over $7,000,000 in discounts.

The bond market was heavy, with a weakness in some of the convertible issues. Total sales, par value, $1,620,000. United States government bonds were unchanged on call.

LONDON CLOSES DULL.

(By Daily News Leased Wire.)

LONDON, Sept. 12.—Money was plentiful today. Discount rates were firmer. The stock market closed steady after an unsettled tone during the forenoon. Fresh buying appeared in home rails, Kaffirs and rubber shares, while the weekly statement of the Bank of England helped gilt-edged stocks; and Mexican railway shares, however, finished easy. The market for American securities opened steady and advanced on light covering but prices sagged in the late trading in the absence of support. The final tone was dull.

COAST ORE DISPLAY NON-COMPETITIVE

So Writes "Bulldog" Brown—Thinks Two Centres for Ore Display Should Be Established.

The display of ores from the coast district which will be exhibited at the Nelson fair by H. B. ("Bulldog") Brown, a member of the Vancouver board of trade, will not be for competitive purposes, but will be shown merely for the purpose of giving an idea of the resources of the territory in which the specimens are being secured, according to a letter which E. W. Widdowson has received from Mr. Brown.

Two centres should be established in British Columbia for exhibiting the ores of the province, Mr. Brown declares, these two cities working together and exchanging samples and it is partly with this object in view that he proposes to visit Nelson at the end of this month.

He hopes that in time government aid will be secured toward the erection of permanent buildings for mining exhibits and for the maintenance of custodians in charge of the displays. The appointment of an official assayer to pass on all new strikes, for the benefit of the public, is another plan in which Mr. Brown is interested.

HEINZE WILL MAKE USE OF LAND GRANT

(Special to The Daily News.)

VICTORIA, B. C., Sept. 12.—F. Augustus Heinze now here, has come for the purpose of obtaining some 200,000 acres of land which are due him as part of the land grant originally made to the Columbia & Western railway. Mr. Heinze, by virtue of an agreement with the Canadian Pacific railway, is entitled to an undivided half interest in certain of these lands. He has hitherto refused to select his half and was successful in a suit brought by the Canadian Pacific railway to compel him to do so, but the taxing power of the provincial government has since been invoked, hence Mr. Heinze's change of mind.

Under the original agreement, this land was to be free from taxation for 10 years from Oct. 30, 1901. This period has expired and land has become taxable this year. Meantime the C. P. R. interest has been repurchased by the province of British Columbia, *but Mr. Heinze's undivided half is li*able to taxes to the amount of about $20,000 a year. For this reason it is believed that he now intends to take over the land and to attempt to make some use of it.

Mr. Heinze declines to discuss the rumor that he intends going into the mining business in the neighborhood of Rossland, but it is believed that the experts whom he brought with him from New York are for the purpose of going over the Columbia & Western lands before he makes his selection.

TENDERS OPENED FOR HUDSON BAY LINE

(Western Associated Press.)

OTTAWA, Sept. 12.—Tenders for the final section of the Hudson Bay railway were opened today and a contract will be awarded at once. It is likely it will go to J. D. McArthur who has the contract for other sections. Work on this section will not likely be started until spring, but in having the contract let now there will be no delays. Provisions and supplies will be sent in by water and it is likely that it will be built from the bay end. No indication is given of which of the two ports will be selected.

WOMEN TO JOIN IN ULSTER COVENANT

(By Daily News Leased Wire.)

BELFAST, Sept. 12.—The women of Ulster are to associate themselves with the covenant which is to be sworn to by the men on Sept. 28. A special pledge has been framed whereby the women undertake to "stand by our men folk in carrying out the solemn league and covenant pledging uncompromising opposition to the present conspiracy whereby it is proposed to drive Ulster out of its choice and place in the constitution of the United Kingdom." The pledge concludes by declaring that "we have sure confi*dence that God will save Ireland from* this calamity."

SIR PERCY GIROUARD VISITOR IN MONTREAL

(Western Associated Press.)

MONTREAL, Sept. 12.—Sir Percy Girouard, the famous French Canadian administrator and railway builder, arrived here on the Royal George after 13 years' absence from his native land. It was reported that his coming was in connection with the establishment of a Canadian navy and on the invitation of the Borden government. He states, however, that he has heard nothing of this, but admits he has come to look into "certain business propositions in the interests of his firm," Messrs. Armstrong, Whitworth & Co., the famous battleship and gun builders. He stated that he will go away shortly. It is said that he will visit Halifax, also. These circumstances are taken as indicating that his mission is definitely connected with the naval situation.

This farm comprises a block of land of the very choicest quality and we submit it as being first class in every respect.

The location is the very best, being situated on the south side of Kootenay lake, close to the lake shore, facing on government wagon road, and being in the centre of a very prosperous settlement.

Partly improved and with a quantity of fruit trees planted, there is a water right with water laid on the farm.

We consider it good value at $200 per acre, but for quick sale it may be purchased for a total price of $3,000.00. Terms arranged.

PLAN CLILDREN'S DAY AT FRUIT FAIR

Dancing on Platform Between Vaudeville Acts—Horse Racing Program Arranged.

A special day is to be set aside during the forthcoming fruit fair and will be known as Children's day. This conclusion was arrived at on Wednesday afternoon, when the directors met in the fair building to further discuss details in connection with the exhibition. Considerable time was spent over the question of children's admission. In former years it had been the custom to allow all children free admission at any time throughout the whole of the fair, but the directors were unanimously of opinion that one free day would have many advantages. With free access to the grounds at all times the children, in the first place, did not fully appreciate the privilege and were inclined to stay away from school, naturally preferring the play ground to their studies. Therefore, a resolution was passed making Thursday, the third day of the fair, Children's day. On that day every school child under the age of 16 years will be admitted free. On other days of the fair a charge of 25 cents for each admission will be made for all children over 6 years, season tickets being issued for 50 cents.

It was pointed out that Mrs. R. L. Douglass, who has been making a systematic canvass of the city securing exhibits, will this week make a second canvass. This time Mrs. Douglass will have with her membership tickets and entry forms, so that intending exhibitors will be enabled to make entries and secure their membership tickets at the same time. The tickets are $2 each and entitle the holder to membership of the association, admittance to the grounds each day any time during the fair and free entrance for holder or any member of the same family to any or all of the competitions. Exhibitors not holding membership tickets will have to pay an entrance fee of 10 per cent of the total prize money offered in each class.

Two new staircases will be erected from the sidewalks in the end of the main building, making four entrances into the balcony, where the fancy work will be on exhibition. Space on the ground floor is nearly all let and carpenters are busy arranging the booths to suit the requirements of the various exhibitors. A new ceiling is to be put in the annex and a new platform for the vaudeville performances will be erected in front of the grand stand.

New Dining Hall.

The ladies' hospital aid contemplates building a fine dining hall on a site between the main building and the back of the grand stand. The Nelson Pavilion association has given permission and it was left with the directors to decide, and it was resolved that: "The Ladies' Hospital Aid be allowed to build the proposed dining hall, provided that the fair board has the right to purchase the building at valuation should the space upon which it is erected be required at any time."

Dancing on the platform between the vaudeville acts will be a feature of this year's show. A special concession has been made and provides for an orchestra to play dance music at certain hours during the afternoon and evening.

Entries for the fruit competitions are well up to the average and the indications are that this year's collection will surpass any previous exhibits seen here and considerable interest is being taken in the noncompetitive district exhibits. Queen's bay is the latest entry, and samples will come in from Crawford bay, Slocan, Robson, Fruitvale, and in all probability Proctor. The hope was expressed yesterday that the fruit growers at Proctor would make a special effort to be represented this year, as it is the first time the noncompetitive district exhibits have been included in the program.

Racing Card.

The racing card for the four days was agreed to as follows:

On the opening day, Tuesday, there will be a local pony race in quarter mile heats, two in three; first prize, $15; second, $10, and third, $5, and an open quarter mile heats, two in three; first prize, $75; second, $50, and third, $25.

The following afternoon $30 will be given for a ladies' quarter mile horse race, the first prize being $15, the second $10 and the third $5. Two hundred dollars has also been alloted for an open half mile, in heats, two in three, the first prize being $100, the second $75 and the third $25.

On Thursday (children's day) there will also be two races, a local pony race in quarter mile heats, two in three, the first prize being $15, the second $10 and the third $5, while $150 is offered for a quarter mile open, two in three, first prize $75, second $50 and third $25.

On the closing day the program includes another ladies' horse race in quarter mile heats, two in three, first prize $15, second $10 and third $5, and a three-quarters mile open dash, first prize $100, second $75 and third $25.

At least four entries must be received for each event and 10 per cent of the purse will be required for entrance fee, except in the pony and ladies' races. All entries close on the morning of the race, and should there only be three starters the prize money will be apportioned between first and second.

A motion was passed yesterday to the effect that anyone having rooms to rent during fair week should send names to the office of McQuarrie & Robertson, who will exhibit a list of the rooms in their window, so that visitors may find it convenient to secure accommodation.

Those present yesterday were: A. D. Emory, J. A. McDonald, Alex Carrie, Alderman P. J. Gleazer, R. T. Hickes, J. F. Thompson, J. A. Irving, H. W. Robertson, William Irvine and George Horstead.

WILL HOLD JOINT MEETING AT TRAIL

West Kootenay Poultry Association to Offer Special Prizes for Dressed Poultry at Fair.

C. G. Johnson, president, at a meeting of the West Kootenay Poultry association in the city hall, and the secretary, George Horstead, pointed out that applications for grants had been received by the British Columbia Poultry association from Grand Forks, Langley Prairie, Trail, northern Okanagan, southern Okanagan, Vancouver, Victoria, Revelstoke, West Kootenay, Ashcroft, Sooke, Mission City, Vernon, Sidney Nanaimo, Maple Ridge, Abbotsford, Chilliwack Greenwood and Kelowna. In this connection T. W. Edwards of Victoria moved that a committee of four be appointed to group the province into districts for the holding of fall and winter poultry shows. It was pointed out that in some sparsely populated districts shows would be held by associations within 12 or 15 miles of each other. It was considered to be advisable to endeavor to group shows where small local associations are in close proximity to each other. Grants were allotted, the total being $3,100, among them being $100 each to West Kootenay, Grand Forks, Trail and other centres.

The suggestion that small local associations should run joint shows was taken up last night. A communication was received from W. A. Scott, president of the Trail association, asking if the West Kootenay association was willing to hand over the $100 grant this year and run a joint exhibition at Trail, if they guaranteed to give their grant to West Kootenay for next year's joint show. After a short discussion it was agreed to abandon the idea of holding a West Kootenay association show in Nelson this winter. It was thought that the association here was not in such a good position financially as Trail was and that a joint show there would meet with more satisfactory results. A resolution was therefore passed to that effect, with the proviso that Trail agreed to come here next winter.

The secretary laid on the table several quotations for feed from city and outside firms. After a close study of the price it was agreed to order a carload of mixed feed from one of the city houses, 16 members of the association guaranteeing the amount, which will be about $1,000.

It was announced that J. Pargeter of Nanaimo would act as judge of the poultry exhibits at the fruit fair this month, and the association agreed to put up additional prizes for dressed poultry. The competition will be divided into two classes and $12 in prizes will be given for the best pairs of cockerels and the best pairs of pullets, three prizes in each class, being: First, $3; second, $3, and third, $1.

All exhibitors of poultry will be notified that the rule concerning bands on legs of all birds will be strictly endorsed. Any birds sent to the show without bands will be banded by the association and the cost charged to the exhibitor.

With a view of encouraging out-of-town breeders to enter the competitions it was agreed that "all birds coming in to the wharf or depot will be picked up by the association and carried to the grounds and returned to the wharf or depot at the association's expense, providing the birds arrive at Nelson on the Monday of fair week.

The date of the next meeting of the association was fixed for the third Friday in October.

FORCED FARMERS TO MIXED FARMING

This Was One Result of Failure to Market Low-Grade Grain Last Years, Says Lethbridge Man.

So much grain suitable only for feed purposes was unmarketable in the Lethbridge district last year that the result has been that there is a growing tendency to engage in mixed farming, said W. C. Ives, a lawyer from the southern Alberta city, who was at the Hume yesterday. The chief difficulty which mixed farmers have to contend with at present, he said, was shortage of cattle, it being almost impossible to secure them.

Schools and other public buildings will be fitted up with cots to provide sleeping accommodation for the large numbers of delegates and visitors to the International Dry Farming congress at Lethbridge this fall, said Mr. Ives. He declares the congress will be the largest in the history of the organization and attributes the probable record attendance to the generous financial grants which have been made by western provincial governments and the railways. The C. P. R. has donated $5,000, he said.

They were found guilty of murder in the first degree several weeks ago. The trial of young Victor Allen, charged with complicity in the same murders, was continued today. Evidence will be concluded tomorrow.

You Never Call the Doctor
unless you need him. You listen with grave attention to every word he says.

But Then---

What do you do with the vitally important thing—the prescription he leaves? Do you use the same care in choosing the druggest to fill it that you do in choosing the doctor who writes it?

And shouldn't you? Don't the success of the doctor's treatment depend largely on the exactness and care with which his prescription is filled, and the freshness, strength and purity of its ingredients?

We have no monopoly on honesty; we don't claim to have. But we do claim to have one of the best and most complete equipped prescription departments in this or any other community. We have expert dispensers and the best drugs that can be bought.

ARTIST PAINTS NELSON PICTURES

Large Portion of Artistic Work on Canada is Devoted to West Kootenay.

British Columbia generally and West Kootenay in particular have received generous attention from Harold Copping, an English artist who has just published through the Religious Tract society of London, a handsome art portfolio of pictures of Canada with letter-press by Miss Emily P. Weaver of Toronto. Of the total of 36 pictures no less than 14 are of scenes in British Columbia and seven are of Nelson, the west arm, Kootenay lake and Revelstoke.

Titles of the West Kootenay pictures are: "Mount Nelson," "The Old Smelter, Nelson," "A Fruit Ranch at Nelson, B. C.," "On a Mountain Side at Nelson, B. C.," "On Kootenay Lake," "View from the Shore of Kootenay Lake," and "Mount Mackenzie, from the Quarry Near Revelstoke." There is also a picture of Lake Louise.

A copy of the portfolio, which is beautifully printed, and 15½x11½ inches in size, has been received by H. H. Currie, publicity commissioner, who aided Miss Weaver in the preparation of some of the reading matter.

Another publication in which Kootenay takes a prominent place is a work of fiction entitled "Boy Scouts on the Columbia River," which describes a trip from Nelson over the rapids down the Kootenay river and thence via the Columbia to the sea. It is by S. Harvey Ralphson of Chicago, who was supplied with some of the data regarding the Kootenay river by Mr. Currie. The book is published by Donohue & Co., of Chicago.

DEVELOPMENT LEAGUE PLANNED

Publicity Committee Announces Dr. Rowe's Services Will be Available to Promote Co-operation.

"Early in the month Dr. Elliott S. Rowe, commissioner of the Vancouver Progress club, met your committee in conjunction with the council, and discussed a plan for co-operation of all the development organizations of the province," said the report of the publicity committee adopted at last night's meeting of the board of trade. "Dr. Rowe, at a later date, will again visit Nelson with a definite plan, and, if the plan finds favor, his services will be available, if desired, in promoting among the communities of the Kootenay a Kootenay Development league.

"The bureau is co-operating with the fair board in the matter of a mineral exhibit, this being in line with the permanent travelling exhibit of ores which the bureau is collecting.

"An announcement regarding literature, now under preparation, may be expected in the next report."

AWARD PRIZES FOR ROSSLAND GARDENS

Mayor Citicises Telephone Service—Charge of Selling Without License Dismissed.

(Special to The Daily News.)

ROSSLAND, B.C., Sept. 12.—Last night at a meeting of the city council Mayor Tanner in the chair and a full attendance of aldermen, a resolution was passed severely criticising the service of the telephone company also the condition of their poles and wiring. A copy of this is being sent to their head office, requesting immediate improvement. It was decided that the Father Pat memorial monument was to be put in good repair and to be repainted. The bridge signs and weigh scales building are to be painted also. Ald. Prest was delegated to present a petition to the property owners on Columbia avenue putting in cement sidewalks. There was quite a discussion over appointing a caretaker to the cemetery, the council finally deciding to leave the matter over for the new council. Notice was received of the crowding of the aisles at the Palace theatre and of improper exits. The chief of police was instructed to look after this matter.

Col. Egan put in a very good report about the judging of the flower gardens, assisted by Mrs. H. H. Johnstone and Mrs. Frank Raymer. He said it was a very difficult matter to judge the gardens as there was so many gardens deserving prizes, and in his report beside the prize winners he mentioned 20 gardens that deserved recognition. The scheme had proved a most successful one and most of the gardens in the city had presented a very pleasing appearance. The winner of the first prize, $20, was Mrs. George Keating. The second prize was won by Mrs. R. J. Clegg and was $15. The third prize, won by W. Wilson, was $10, and the fourth prize by Mrs. A. A. Paull, $5. All the prize winners gardens presented a very fine appearance.

The third reading of the street bylaw took place last night. It was decided to pay Mrs. Kane's bill at the hospital.

The case against Alex. Linna for taking orders without a license for cordwood, to be supplied by a person doing business outside Rossland, was dismissed by Police Magistrate Plewman. A car of wood was sold to a leading citizen on the understanding that if he did not like the wood he might refuse it. The wood was shipped by Linna's father-in-law from his ranch near Northport and was consigned to Linna. The purchaser refused the wood, whereupon Linna and his father-in-law sold the wood from the car around town. Linna swore that he acted as interpreter for his father-in-law and made no profit whatever. The magistrate said that the first solicitation came clearly within the section under which the charge was brought, but that it was necessary to show two such solicitations; that the selling of wood from the car which was already supplied came under another section relating to offering goods for sale by one occupying temporary premises, the placing of goods on a wharf or in the custody of another being included by statute. Mr. Winn, for the city, argued that the orders were taken for wood to be supplied by Linna's father-in-law the latter being the owner of the wood until the sale. The magistrate said he would agree if the section read "Supplied or to be supplied by a person doing business outside the city," but that as far as Linna was concerned, the supplying by the person outside the city was when Linna received the car consigned to him. The city does not prosecute any rancher around Rossland selling his own produce. In this case the wood was imported. For the defence C. P. Pincott appeared and for the prosecution E. S. H. Winn.

Mrs. Cannell, accompanied by her son George, leaves for the east on Monday morning via the Great Northern railway, her destination being Winnipeg where she will make her home in future. Mrs. Cannell has been a resident of Rossland for many years and is first reader and practitioner to the Christian Science association and has been a source of great strength to that body. She will be greatly missed by her friends.

James Petrie has accepted a contract on the Blue Bird mine to sink 100 feet, and commenced work at once.

The postponed police commissioners' investigation comes up tomorrow afternoon at 4:30 o'clock.

Capt. Jack Foran, of the Rossland Baseball club, is trying to get one more game on before the close of the season.

The surveyors of the Canadian Highway left this morning on the Canadian Pacific railway for the Okanagan.

The Rossland Progressive association have decided not to send an exhibit to the Lethbridge dry farming exhibition this year.

The Scout master is asking for names of scouts who are desirous of going to Nelson on Oct. 7 to take part of a guard of honor for the Duke of Connaught.

George Casey is back in town from Prince Rupert, where he had been working his claims.

G. M. Benney, government road superintendent, is in town and is registered at the Allan hotel.

LYNCH WILL REFEREE MANN CUP GAMES

(By Daily News Leased Wire.)

VANCOUVER, B.C., Sept. 12.—More interest is being taken by lacrosse enthusiasts in Vancouver in the game for the amateur championship on Saturday between the Vancouver Athletics for the Mann cup and the crack Canadian Northern Railway Winnipeg team that has been shown for some time by local fans. The eastern challengers look a formidable aggregation of players, but they will certainly have to show the real goods if they are to take the championship home with them, as the local players are going better now than they have been at any time during the season. They are prepared to go in Saturday and play the game of their lives to hold the cup. The challengers will surely put up a great fight against the champions. The easterners know they are up against the toughest proposition they have yet tackled and are working out the harder. Both sides are confident of victory.

The pasteboards were put on sale this morning, and judging from the early rush to secure tickets the grand stand will be sold out before the game starts. Nearly 1,000 seats have been sold already, and as there are still two days to go, it is reasonable to expect that a record crowd will be in attendance provided that the weather is anything like it should be at this time of year. Joe Lally, chairman of the trustees of the cup here, today appointed Fred Lynch of New Westminster as referee of the Mann cup series. Lynch will appoint his own judge of play. The appointment came as a surprise, as it had been understood Lalonde and George Tuck would act in both games.

DUKE OF CONNAUGHT SPENDS DAY FISHING

(By Daily News Leased Wire.)

BANFF, B. C., Sept. 12.—Today the Duke of Connaught has been away from Banff on a fishing expedition, accompanied by W. R. Baker, secretary of the Canadian Pacific railway and assistant to the president, who is a member of the royal party. His royal highness went to Laggan by train last night so as to be ready for an early start this morning. Two of the aides-de-camp, Capt. Rivers Bulkeley and Captain Long, also accompanied the duke. The duchess and princess have devoted the day to driving about Tunnel mountain and playing golf and visiting the reserve for buffalo, Rocky mountain sheep or bighorns, elk, mountain goats and other animals, and driving to Lake Minnewanka, eight miles up the valley of the Bow river. Princess Patricia made several water color sketches again today. The weather continues perfect.

The duke's fishing party returned this evening and reported a fine day's sport. They rode from Laggan 12 miles to Moraine lake in the valley of the Peaks and afterwards four miles farther on to Lake Consolation, where they had the best fishing. They are to remain here one day more, and their regret in leaving Banff will be lessened only by the pleasant anticipation with which they are looking forward to their three days' sojourn at Laggan and Lake Louise.

GREAT WHITE WAY DESERTED AT MIDNIGHT

(By Daily News Leased Wire.)

NEW YORK, Sept. 12.—Curfew rang here after this at midnight for loiterers on the Great White Way, according to a ruling today by Magistrate Cornell, whose court has jurisdiction over the district. The court announced that it hereafter would fine anyone arrested after 12 o'clock on Broadway who could not show that he had business there.

There were 15 arrests last night in a roundup of loiterers on complaints that out-of-town guests of the hotels were being annoyed by well dressed young men, who were making a business of standing about the hotel entrances. Habitues of the district who heard the magistrate's ruling today declared that it meant an epochal change in the night aspect of the famous district if he held to his announced purpose.

POLICE COURT CLERK ABSCONDS WITH FEES

(By Daily News Leased Wire.)

SASKATOON, Sask., Sept. 12.—Fred W. Robinson, the absconding police court clerk of Saskatoon who skipped with $900 of the police court funds, has been arrested at Grafton, North Dakota. The local police department were informed of the arrest tonight and a Royal Northwest Mounted police officer will be sent to bring Robinson back as soon as extradition papers have been made out. The money Robinson abstracted from the city treasury was that which should have been turned over to the attorney-general at Regina. Robinson is 21 and an Englishman.

BISHOP BOYD CARPENTER COMING TO CANADA

(By Daily News Leased Wire.)

LONDON, Sept. 12.—Bishop Boyd Carpenter with Mrs. and Miss Boyd Carpenter, are sailing for Canada today. The main purpose of the bishop's visit is in connection with the amalgamation of the several theological colleges affiliated with McGill university. It will no doubt be a great advantage over the present system of several denominations in respect to their theological colleges, declares the bishop. If circumstances permit he will take the opportunity of extending his tour to the Pacific coast.

CONSERVATIVE LEADER TO BECOME CHIEF JUSTICE

(By Daily News Leased Wire.)

OTTAWA, Sept. 12.—That Hon. F. W. G. Haultain, Conservative leader in Saskatchewan, will soon retire from politics to become chief justice of Saskatchewan is regarded as practically certain here. Chief Justice Wetmore, who was appointed in 1905, has sent in his resignation which will shortly be accepted by the government. The name of James McKay, Conservative member for Prince Albert, is mentioned in connection with the vacancy, but it is generally believed that it will go to Mr. Haultain.

TORONTO BULGARIANS WANT TO FIGHT TURKS

(By Daily News Leased Wire.)

TORONTO, Sept. 12.—Some 1,500 Bulgarians of Toronto are eager to return to their native land to fight the Turks. Jerom Theophilact, editor of the Bulgarian Star, the organ of the Bulgarian national movement, with headquarters at King Edward street east and Gilead avenue, has had difficulty in restraining many of his fellow countrymen from leaving at once for Bulgaria. He points out that Bulgaria would be unwise to enter upon a war until it was assured of the co-operation of a majority of the Balkan states and the support of one of the great European powers.
