WRONG IDEA OF MILITARISM

Duke Speaks of Attacks on Boy Scout Movement

(By Daily News Leased Wire.)

LONDON, May 7.—The Duke of Connaught, who has been appointed by the King to be president of the Boy Scout association, today took the character for the first time at the general meeting of the council. Speaking as Chief Scout of Canada, his royal highness said:

"I have been among nearly all the boys of the Dominion. There are 30,000 boy scouts in Canada where, as in England, we have our detractors. There were people there who did not believe in it, who imagined that there was militarism behind it. I have done my utmost to point out that if militarism is the means of making boys respectable, respectful, moral and manly, then there is militarism at the back of it, and a very good thing there is.

"That, however, is not my idea of militarism. I don't think I need give you my definition of it, but all of you know foreign countries where they have large armies and the whole administration is subservient to military instruction and you will see that there is not, nor will be, anything on those lines here."

The duke, referring to the duchess' illness, said there was now a definite improvement in her royal highness' condition.

"I can assure you," he said, "that we have felt most keenly the generous sympathy and affection shown us throughout the whole British empire. I received from Australia, South Africa, New Zealand and every part of the empire words of sympathy, and no one has appreciated these more than the duchess. Nothing will be more encouraging to her to continue the fight against this insidious disease than the sympathy she has received."

No Parades Allowed.

(Canadian Associated Press.)

LONDON, May 7.—Replying to Major McCalmont in the imperial parliament tonight as to whether it was the intention of the war office to prohibit all public school corps from parading on Empire day, Col. Seely, secretary of war, said: "Yes, the army council thinks parades in uniform should be reserved for the King's birthday."

Sir W. Bayley—Will the right honorable gentleman say when is Empire day and what does it celebrate.

Col. Seeley—I think the date is the 24th (cries of what) of May. I am aware that in many self-governing dominions it is regarded as a public holiday and is so reserved. In this country we prefer to have our celebrations on the King's birthday.

LAND TAX SYSTEM WORKING OUT WELL

Premier Sifton Says Alberta Government Is Pleased With System—Prospects in West Are Good.

(By Daily News Leased Wire.)

OTTAWA, May 7.—Taxation of land values is succeeding splendidly in Alberta. Although only in operation but a short time, it is proving very beneficial. Such was the statement today of Premier A. L. Sifton of Alberta, who is in the city in connection with several matters of finance.

Prospects in the west this year are of the best, he said.

"How is the land tax working out?" he was asked.

"Well, we have not had it for very long, but it is proving not only practical, but very successful, and we are quite satisfied with the move taken in introducing the system."

HARCOURT SUCCESSOR TO DUKE OF CONNAUGHT

(By Daily News Leased Wire.)

London, May 7.—Information from an authentic source says that the return of the Duke of Connaught to Canada is a matter of uncertainty. Even if his royal highness does return his sojourn at Ottawa will likely be of the briefest. He will be succeeded by the Right Hon. Lewis Harcourt, secretary of state for the colonies who is a representative of an ancient family tracing descendants from the Plantagenets. His ancestors have filled many high offices of state, one having been lord chancellor under George I. Mr. Harcourt was born in 1863 and married an American lady, Miss Burns, a niece of Pierpont Morgan, in 1899.

WILL HOLD ROSE SHOW IN NELSON

To Be Open to All Exhibits of Flowers

EDUCATION ON NOXIOUS WEEDS

Women's Institute and Improvement Association Join in Move

The Nelson Improvement association, following the report of a committee which was appointed a few weeks ago to go into the matter of a rose show in the city during the coming summer, decided at its regular weekly meeting held in the board of trade rooms last evening that a rose and flower show would be a great stimulus to the people of Nelson along horticultural lines. The association decided that the show should be held in conjunction with the Nelson and District Women's institute at a date to be fixed by a committee which will be appointed on Saturday evening next to organize the show.

The report of the committee, which was composed of Dr. W. O. Rose (chairman), E. K. Beeston, W. R. Jarvis and W. H. Wilkinson, was read and adopted at the meeting as follows:

Report Favors Show.

"Your committee beg to report that from the encouragement they have received, they feel that a rose show can be made a success, and that it will be a stimulus to the cultivation of roses, as well as of other flowers, and thus tend to the improvement of gardens and general appearance of dwellings.

"They recommend that such a show be held on the 9th or 16th July (Wednesday); that its principal feature should be roses, but other flowers in season could also be displayed, but that there should be no attempt to include fruit and vegetables in the exhibits.

"The committee feel that such a show could be made self-supporting, that it should be held in the Nelson Exhibition pavilion, that a charge for admission of 25c per head should be made, as well as a small fee for entrance of exhibits. In this connection they also recommend some entertainment in the evening, possibly a band concert.

"The Women's institute, through their president, Mrs. Hugh Ross, have kindly promised their co-operation.

"Your committee recommend that the prize list should not be heavy, but in addition to small individual prizes for separate varieties, there should be one substantial prize either in money or as a trophy for the best collection of roses.

"They also recommend that some prizes should be given for collections of wild flowers and noxious weeds for the encouragement of the study of them among the school children.

"They further recommend that a committee of about 10 be appointed, including representatives of the Women's institute and other ladies, to commence at once to organize the exhibition and prepare a list of prizes, so that growers may begin to cultivate for exhibition."

Committee to Be Named.

A committee of members of the Women's institute appeared before the association last evening, and intimated the willingness of that body to co-operate in any way possible with the association toward making the show a success. The committee was composed of Mrs. H. Mackenzie, Mrs. G. A. Hunter and Mrs. F. Moore.

Mr. Beeston reported that he had communications from the government on the proposed show, and that it would, if possible, appoint a suitable judge.

J. W. Holmes, John Toye and W. R. Jarvis were appointed a committee to appoint the seven representatives of the improvement association who will be on the show directorate. The directorate will consist of 10 members, three of whom will be the appointees of the Women's institute. The directorate will be appointed at a meeting to be held in the office of Mr. Toye on Saturday evening next at 8:30 o'clock.

Mr. Beeston, in urging that the show should be held, stated that the Portland rose carnival, which was now world-famous, had started from just such a nucleus as this.

W. N. Scott brought up the matter of the distinction between an amateur and a professional horticulturist, and the matter, after some discussion, was left in the hands of the committee to decide.

It was also suggested that the committee should get in touch with the schools regarding the exhibit of wild flowers and noxious weeds, so that the children could soon get to work at preparing their displays. Suggestions will be asked from the school teachers as to the display.

To Eliminate Noxious Weeds.

Mr. Toye thought that the impression might get abroad that the association was fostering the growth of noxious weeds, and wanted it specifically noted that the display of weeds would be to instruct the children along the line of the discouragement of the growth of noxious weeds.

The secretary reported that all the shade trees had been planted at various parts of the city to good advantage.

H. W. Rust thought that as boulevarding was done on city property the city should be asked to supply soil for the purpose of boulevarding upon which it would be possible to grow grass.

Mr. Beeston asked that each of the district representatives of the association be asked to bring in a report of the state of their districts after the Arbor day clean up, and the secretary will notify the representatives to this effect.

The association decided to contribute $5 per month to the publicity bureau for the next six months in order to assist in defraying the extra expense made necessary in the office work of the publicity commissioner through the association's activities.

The president, J. W. Holmes, was in the chair. Others present were: Mrs. H. Mackenzie, Mrs. G. A. Hunter, Mrs. F. Moore, Ald. J. A. Austin, John Toye, E. K. Beeston, W. R. Jarvis, H. W. Rust, J. Wilkinson and J. H. Wilkinson.

KING ALFONSO ARRIVES IN PARIS

Men Arrested Who Cheer for Ferrer—Political Event of First Importance.

(By Daily News Leased Wire.)

PARIS, May 7.—King Alfonso of Spain reached Paris this morning with Premier Count Alvanro de Romanos for a two-days official visit. The visit is popular and regarded as a political event of the first importance, there being a general impression among the people that Spain is to become the ally of France.

President Raymond Poincare and Premier Louis Barthou, with all the rest of the cabinet, received the royal party at the station.

The king and the president talked with animation while driving together through the avenue du Bois de Boulogne and the Champs Elysee to the king's temporary residence at the palais d'Orsay. Twenty thousand troops, including infantry and cavalry, lined the route and artillery salutes were fired in honor of the Spanish monarch. An immense crowd, which had gathered to await the king, greeted him with loud cheers.

According to reports from the provinces, there were few demonstrations during the king's journey from the frontier to Paris. Several arrests, however, were made of men who cheered for the Spanish anarchist Ferrer, who was shot at Montjuich fortress in 1909.

Interest Is Great In Contest For Princess

Great interest was aroused yesterday by the announcement that Nelson would send a princess to the big Pow Wow which is to be held in Spokane next month and that Grand Forks had decided to take similar action.

W. N. Scott, secretary of the publicity bureau, which is conducting the contest in Nelson, was deluged with enquiries during the day as to the terms of the competition which will result in a local girl being sent to represent the city and district at the carnival and in a float representative of Kootenay industries being included in the parades which are planned as features of the show. All expenses of the princesses will be paid.

Nominations will be received by Mr. Scott and announced through The Daily News, up to Saturday next, May 10.

The Nelson and Grand Forks contests will be run separately, one princess and one float going to Spokane from each district.

ANTI-ALIEN BILL COMPLICATIONS

Japan May Demand Redress by Courts or Arbitration—Government in Awkward Position

(By Daily News Leased Wire.)

WASHINGTON, May 7.—Acute as the whole controversy has been over the proposed legislation by California, against the Japanese, much greater complications are expected. Japan will probably ask redress either in the courts or by arbitration. The former course is regarded by international lawyers as the more likely to be chosen, as it would hold the United States directly accountable, and the injury would be measurable in dollars and cents.

Arbitration might lead to much embarrassment to the administration, however, and if Japan desires to justify her pride, she might seek satisfaction in that direction. The administration having asked the California legislature to heed the interest of aliens would be compelled to defend what the California legislature has done as technically right in the face of the treaty. The problematical question whether after an adverse decision on the case the government can compel California to comply with a decree of the court of arbitration also arises. Opinion here is also that our courts will hold that the law is within the terms of the treaty between the United States and Japan and an adverse decree at the Hague could be hardly enforced.

TWO THOUSAND MEN ON STRIKE

Majority of Strikers on Kettle Valley Railway Leave District—Industrial Workers Active.

(By Daily News Leased Wire.)

PENTICTON, B. C., May 7.—Two thousand men have quit work along the line of the Kettle Valley railway, according to a report given out by a Mr. Brandt, a contractor, who has a sub-contract for seven miles and employed 300 men. Brandt figures that 1,000 men are out between here and Kelowna, and while he is not familiar with the situation he is of the opinion that the number of men east of Kelowna is about the same.

The majority of the men have left the district. The men demand $3 per day for common laborers.

The contractors claim the Industrial Workers of the World are behind the strike.

SEVEN PER CENT ONLY RECOVERABLE

Bank Committee Adopts Finance Minister's Amendment—Sterilization of Notes Advocated.

(By Daily News Leased Wire.)

OTTAWA, May 7.—When the Bank act was taken up today Hon. W. T. White said he had made inquiries respecting the sterilization of bank notes, and the opinion was expressed that this process might make the bills too brittle. He suggested an amendment giving the treasury board power to make regulations for the sterilization and disinfection of notes. Before giving effect to this the matter, he said, would be looked into.

The committee discussed at some length the original clause and also the suggested amendments respecting the rate of interest which may be charged by the banks.

Mr. Sexsmith wanted to know why the banks could charge what they like, while the usurers were limited. He thought this a burlesque. "You are allowing the banks to take the place of the usurers, that's all," he said. "Surely the banks can take the bone as well as the meat. You are taking the lid off usury."

"If you restrict them to a low rate of interest in western Canada it would be bad for them," said Col. Maclean.

Finally the amendment of Mr. White, as submitted on Tuesday, was adopted. It reads:

"The bank may stipulate for, take, receive or exact such rate of interest or discount per annum as may be agreed upon, and may receive and take in advance any such rate, but no higher rate of interest than 7 per cent shall be recoverable by the banks."

The amendment to compel the rate to be specified on the face of notes was voted down by 17 to 14.

Hon. H. R. Emmerson's proposal for a monthly statement of maximum rates charged was subsequently defeated by 24 to 11.

Mr. Macdonald wanted clause 93, respecting collection charges, reconsidered, and this was discussed at length, till F. B. Carvell moved the previous question.

"The education of Mr. Pipp," suggested the minister. "You are the first to apply closure," added the chairman apropos the Carvell motion.

Two immigrant trains with about 250 immigrants are scheduled to arrive in the city this evening.

TRANSCONTINENTAL COST THIRTEEN MILLIONS LAST YEAR

(By Daily News Leased Wire.)

OTTAWA, May 7.—During the past fiscal year the total amount expended in connection with the construction of the National Transcontinental railway was $12,750,637. This is only half the amount spent annually during the preceding five or six years, which indicates the rapid lessening of the burden.

CLOSURE HASTENS NAVAL BILL

Motion Carried by Substantial Majority

NEXT WEEK TO SEE FINAL DIVISION

Annual Statement of Expenditures Will Be Submitted to House

(By Daily News Leased Wire.)

OTTAWA, May 7.—The first move in connection with the application of closure rules was made in parliament shortly after 8 o'clock by Mr. Borden. After the close of a speech by F. B. Carvell of Carleton, N. B., the prime minister rose and moved that further consideration of clause 2 be postponed.

There are five clauses in the bill. One clause has been postponed and the second, the clause providing for the vote of $35,000,000, was being considered. It is the clause which has been under discussion since the second reading of the bill. The premier's motion not being debatable, was immediately voted on and carried by a standing division of 70 to 28. It is expected similar action in regard to the three remaining clauses will be taken by the Thursday adjournment and that the prime minister will then ask that all the clauses be passed.

If this is done the bill will be out of the committee stage at 2 a.m. on Saturday, the hour fixed for the taking of a division if closure is enforced. As a Friday night division is not popular with the members, many of whom make a practice of going home for the week-end, it is possible that the vote will not be taken until Monday night.

Should the opposition decide to debate the third reading, and it is almost certain that they will, a second notice will be given. This means that the bill cannot be fully disposed of before Wednesday or Thursday next.

When the question of clause 3 was taken up tonight W. M. German, Welland, promptly moved an amendment. The clause provided for expenditure of money under the authority of the governor-in-council. The amendment substituted "parliament" for "governor-in-council."

Mr. German contended that the Naval act is subversive of every principle of responsible government because it was proposed to take away from parliament and place in the hands of the government the control of expenditure.

He was followed by G. W. Kyte and Hon. Rodolphe Lemieux who strongly criticized Commander Roper for declaring in a report dated September 20, 1911, that the ships proposed under the Laurier plan would be obsolete by the time they were constructed. He said that he was minister of marine at the time and that Commander Roper had never been asked to make such a report. The officer within 12 months had reported both for and against a Canadian navy, and did well to get out of the country.

Hon. J. D. Hazen, in reply, said that Commander Roper had been held down and his recommendations pigeonholed to such an extent that he decided to put himself on record before the election so that his memorandum would serve as a guide to the government no matter what party came into power.

Speaking at a late hour to the German amendment Mr. Borden said that an amendment would be made to the bill providing for an annual expenditure of money. Proper safeguards would be observed, he declared.

At 1 o'clock Premier Borden moved for the suspension of the debate on the third clause of the bill.

Hon. Frank Oliver asked under what new rule it had been declared that this motion was not debatable.

Chairman Blondin said that under the new rules it could not be discussed.

Hon. W. Pugsley thereupon rose to a point of order. He said that Arthur Meighen, in interpreting the new rules in the presence of the prime minister, had stated that no motion would be voted on until one member had spoken on either side. The member for Portage la Prairie was either wrong or the rules had been secured by false pretences.

"We have been deceived," shouted a Liberal member, amidst laughter.

Mr. Pugsley then declared that he proposed to move the previous question.

Chairman Blondin said that the previous question could not be moved in committee. A long debate ensued on this point and the chairman finally said if the motion was not debatable the previous question could not be moved. Mr. Pugsley at once appealed from the ruling of the chair and Speaker Sproule was sent for, the members were called in and the question taken up.

Mr. Borden's motion to suspend the discussion of the clause then carried on division and the house rose at 1:40 a.m.

The question of the production of original documents from a government department which has on more than one occasion in the past caused considerable debate in the house, was again brought to the front when Hon. Frank Oliver moved for the production of original papers, letters, memoranda and other documents from which the minister of public works quoted in the debate on Tuesday, April 17, on the Prince Albert homestead case. The minister of public works, Hon. Robert

DISCUSS PLANS FOR MILITIA CORPS

Veterans Receive Communication From Ottawa

TO ERECT FLAG STAFF IN NELSON

Will Take Part in Empire Day Parade--Say Farewell to Member

At the meeting held last evening by the Nelson and District Veterans association communications were received from the militia department concerning the formation of a local regiment, in which it was stated that the department would consider any suggestions received from the Veterans association as to which branch of the service the proposed corps should represent.

Owing to the local conditions preventing the citizens of Nelson from attending a compulsory training camp, it was recommended to the department that some arrangement be made by which members may otherwise become efficient.

Communications were also read from the Canadian Pacific railway general service department, and Hon. W. J. Bowzer, attorney-general of British Columbia, stating that where possible, preference would be given to members of the association for employment.

A resolution was passed tendering the best wishes of the association to its comrade, G. Smith, who is leaving Nelson for Brandon, and a token of comradeship in the form of the association's badge was presented to him by Lieut. E. C. Wragge. Mr. Smith expressed his thanks to the members of the association, and regretted leaving Nelson, where he had made so many warm friends.

An invitation received from the Overseas club to take part in a procession and concert on Empire day was accepted.

It is the intention of the Veterans association to erect a flag staff in a prominent position in the city, on which the national flag will be kept flying.

CHARGE LIBERALS WITH INSINCERITY

Hope to Attain Success at Polls by Attacking Reputation of Government Leaders.

(By Daily News Leased Wire.)

TORONTO, May 7.—Hard hitting marked the speeches of this morning's session of the legislature. The bald statement was made by government supporters that it was owing to the high standing of Sir James Whitney and Hon. W. J. Hanna in the province that the charges were made. It was felt that their reputation must be undermined before the Liberals could hope for success at the polls.

The Liberals contended that the $500 contribution had not been told of by Sir James till some time after the row in regard to it had been published. What the opposition were desirous of, they said, was a full investigation of the charges by judges.

Report Adopted.

(By Daily News Leased Wire.)

TORONTO, May 7.—The legislature tonight adopted the report of the privileges and election committee which exonerated Sir James Whitney and Hon. W. J. Hanna of any improper conduct in connection with the statement of the Taylor-Scott claim against the government. It also proposed an amendment attached to the motion for adoption condemning William Proudfoot, who laid the charges. The resolution was as follows:

"And this house deems it to be its duty to declare and place on record its unqualified condemnation and censure of the conduct of the member for Centre Huron, in putting before this house charges of an untruthful character reflecting upon the honor of two ministers of the crown, and which charges were shown by sworn testimony of witnesses called by the said member for Centre Huron to be untrue and without foundation whatever, and this house further censures and condemns the conduct of the said member for Centre Huron in refusing to be sworn, and to give evidence with relation to his said charges when called upon by the said committee to do so."

This action followed a prolonged and acrimonious debate. Mr. Hanna was given a rousing reception when he arose to address the house.

INTERNATIONAL PEACE MONUMENTS

Perpetuation of Peace Object of Celebration Committee—Endowment of University Chairs

(By Daily News Leased Wire.)

NEW YORK, May 7.—Before taking up today's discussion of the plans for celebrating one hundred years of peace among English-speaking nations the international conference in session here to arrange the program yesterday decided to adopt a statement of purpose that will make for perpetuation of this peace. The celebration, it was stated, was of secondary importance to the consideration of future peace between the two nations as an object lesson to other countries now at war, or preparing to engage in force of arms to settle differences. It was announced later that at a banquet on behalf of the visiting delegates on Friday night, Secretary of State Bryan would be present, and is expected to make an important announcement. A celebration plan considered was the erection of international peace monuments by Great Britain and the United States, of identical design, the cost to be defrayed by either, from public funds or through private subscriptions. With the monument plan as a basis, other suggestions were that the corner stones be laid on a Christmas day by the King of England, the president of the United States and by their representatives beyond the seas. That other nations and all foreign governments be invited to send delegates to attend these ceremonies, that on the day the corner stones are laid there be a cessation of work for five minutes throughout the two countries nd the colonies, and the ocean and that the event be observed by special exercises in the schools. It was further suggested that a fitting way to promote the growth of mutual respect and good will between Great Britain and the United States and their colonies would be through the endowment of chairs in the colleges and universities of British American history with especial reference to the peace of both countries. During the celebrations two years hence the delegates agreed to urge that one day be set aside for the purpose of universal religious services of thanksgiving; that it would be desirable to strike off an international commemorative medal and to adopt a universal tablet to be placed in public buildings and affixed to the international peace monuments.

Charles A. MacCrath, secretary of the Canadian delegation, said that in the executive session, the delegates decided to postpone definite action on the proposals to erect permament peace monuments on the frontiers and the borders until later.

Mr. MacCrath said that while all of the suggestions made today were of a tentative nature, all of them would be considered very seriously and he felt assured that the program for the celebration would be arranged with them as a basis.

Gossip From a Mountain Garden

(By Its Mistress.)

Last night, "quitting time" found me at the foot of the garden, and as I looked up at the house behind its veil of translucent birch leaves and let my eyes wander along the edges of the path where bloomed rock cress, purple aubretia and blue forget-me-nots, as a sort of foundation for the various sorts of narcissi, whose star-like faces looked back at me in wide-eyed beauty; then, on farther, where early tulips and hyacinths formed patches of lovely color, I truly felt a thrill such as an artist might who looked at his finished picture and found it good. Not that a garden picture can ever be called finished—that is the beauty and unending interest of a garden. One can always find find room for one more lovely flower, or plan a combination that will show off to better advantage some favorite; but as I looked and remembered the hot, tiresome days last spring when I toiled over those borders, which seemed to stretch such endless distances, and to require such hundreds of plants to fill them, I certainly felt amply repaid for all my labor.

I believe this path is at the height of its beauty just now, for all the spring rock plants are in full bloom, as well as tulips, hyacinths and all sorts of narcissi, including the lovely fragrant "Poet's Narcissus," which is just opening. The tulips I spoke of that were left over and not planted till last May have done so well and are in bloom now, some of them being beautiful sorts I have never seen before. A great many are very similar to the Cottage Maid, or Shandon Bells of old English cottage gardens, white flushed and striped with softest pink, while some are an indescribable shade of red flushed near the centre with bright gold. These last are a double sort, but are not stiff and prim like most double tulips, instead are more like loosely petalled peonies on a small scale. The late tulips are throwing up fine long stems and fat buds which will furnish color when these early ones are all gone.

Should you have thought that the soft purple or mauve of Aubretia would look well grown alongside blue forget-me-nots? I carefully tried to avoid this combination only to find where it happened to grow that the result was simply lovely. The opening buds of forget-me-nots have an elusive pink tinge that brings the two into a perfect harmony.

In one little rocky corner I had planned a whole season's bloom of flowers in white, blue, yellow and lavender, and planted a lot of primroses here. Some of these are opening bright red, so will have to be moved, but otherwise it is one of the most satisfying spots in the whole garden. It is here I have two large plants of the white double Rock Cress, which I brought from a friend's garden in Victoria last year. The original plant passed through many vicissitudes on its long-drawn-out journey from that garden to this, because I spent several weeks getting home, and when it finally arrived here it was ready to give up the ghost. However, I managed to get two cuttings to grow and they have made fine plants, and I am more than glad I tried so hard to get them, for I had never seen them in bloom, and did not realize how fine they were. The flowers are exactly like miniature stocks, and last much longer than the single sort. However beautiful they are though they can never take the place of the single sort, which blooms earlier and forms perfect sheets of fragrant white bloom. These masses of white are not only odorous, but musical these days, being haunted by myriads of winged lovers, whose humming makes a gentle undertone to the voice of robins and song sparrows. I have never seen so many different sorts of bees, and one kind in particular which is more numerous than any of the others is simply fascinating to watch. On Sunday morning I sat for a long time on one of the stone steps watching these furry little fellows storing away the nectar from the white cress flowers. He is just like a tiny, tiny humming bird, his little wings whirring so incessantly as to be quite invisible. He is completely covered with a sort of fur standing directly at right angles to his body, which gives him a most peculiar look, as when one gets a side view this fur or fuzz is partly transparent. He has very long legs almost like a spider, and his probiscis looked to be nearly three-quarters of an inch long. While I was writing the above a new winged creature, attracted by the lamp, came in through the open window. I have never seen a moth of this sort before. The underside of his body is covered with long white down, light, almost white wings, with a black bar and one blotch across them, and two fern-shaped extensions across his nose exactly like those in the immense moths that haunt the flowers of the nicotiana later in the summer. I have just been loaned a most delightful book, "Nature's Garden," by Neltje Blanchan, described as "an aid to knowledge of our wild flowers and their insect visitors," and though I have only glanced through it yet, I am looking forward to many pleasant half hours in identifying some of the bees and butterflies, as well as the flowers. I have never seen a book of the sort written in such a charming style. Take this haphazard as the beginning of a description of the Common Elder: "Flowers far less beautiful than these flat-spread, misty clusters that are borne in such profusion along the country lane and meadow hedgerows in June are brought from the ends of the earth to adorn our over-conventional gardens." Is not "musty clusters" most descriptive of the elder blossom? I have always loved the elder bushes, both in bloom and when covered with their exquisitely tinted masses of berries, and am glad to have my reference confirmed by such an authority. It is a pity that we do not take advantage of the wealth of beautiful shrubs and flowers that can be ours for the trouble of digging. A fine clump of elder holds an honored place in my garden, as well as a big clump of syringa or mock orange, and there is a fine variety of spirea very plentiful about here that is worthy a place in any garden. Just take a walk through the bush at intervals and mark shapely specimens of these while in bloom, to be transplanted to your garden either in the fall or early next spring, and see what an added pleasure there is in domesticating a denizen of the wild.

Speaking of a "denizen of the wild" reminds me of what a neighbor told me he saw last Sunday morning. How I envied him when he said he had watched for quite a while four lovely does playing about at the back of his orchard. I have never seen a deer close to in the woods but once, when I was simply fascinated by the grace and shy wildness of the pretty creature.

In the garden this week we have been having a strenuous time. Ten years ago, when we first came here, I was in such a hurry to have a garden that I could not wait to remove stumps and stones, so one huge stump right in the centre of the flower garden was used as the nucleus of a rock pile, and Achillea Alba and Shasta Daisies planted on top and around it. This was all very well for a while, but any of you who have wrestled with these two plants will guess the outcome. They grew and spread and formed hard mats of roots until it was simply impossible to do anything with them. So the first of this week I decided we must try and get them out, and would use the stone to build a sort if wall to hold a big border in position. The wall is a huge success; it is only about 2 ft. high, sloping back a bit, and I spent a day tucking in small plants of Aubreta Rock Cress, Iceland Poppy, Forget-Me-Not and Saponarie in all the little clinks. But alas! we had made the old stump look simply awful, and there was nothing for it but to dig it out. Little we knew what we were letting ourselves in for. We began at it yesterday forenoon, and at this present minute there is a hole like a good-sized cellar in the middle of my garden, two men have been working steadily for a day and a half, while I stood about and alternately yes cussed—and prodded at it with a trowel, and there is still a huge top root going down into the earth directly underneath, which can only be got at by digging still deeper. Never could I have imagined such a monster and such a grip as it seems to have on the earth. I am sure there must have been more than a dozen huge roots going out in all directions, each of which had to be cut through. It is a tamarack, and the roots are simply full of gum. Indeed, there are pockets where the gum pours forth like water when tapped.

It made me feel like a tiny fly to sit there beside the mighty root of that forest tree and muse on the years and years it had grown and lifted its proud head to the sunlight, and see how strong and vital were its roots after so many years of being deprived of its life. How short our lives and how feeble our strength compared to those Clutched in the mighty arms of those roots great pieces of granite were crushed and broken, while the wood resisted the axe almost like granite itself. I know I shall dream of that stump tonight, and fear it will appear in the guise of a monster standing between me and my garden, for while it resists the forces arrayed against it, all other work is at a standstill. If it were not so near the house we might have got some one to blow it up with powder, but that was impossible under the circumstances. All day I have been remembering with chagrin all the old saws about never put off till tomorrow, etc., etc., and I shall only be reconciled to the experience when I shall sit next winter in front of the open fire and burn those fine gummy roots. I am reminded of a little poem by John Kendrick Bangs, which I shall transcribe here, but truly I am not quite in the mood to enjoy it tonight, though it woke a responsive chord when I read it, and I liked it so much I copied it into my book of treasures.

THE PINE.

Steadfast and true a friend for aye art thou!
Thou ward'st me from the summer sun with shade,
And in the shelter of thy fronded bough
Dost hold me safe and unafraid.

And when the winter comes with chilling frost
Upon the hearth at close of bitter day,
E'en though thy life it takes to pay the cost,
Thou keep'st the killing Arctic cold at bay.

Ald. Guy Barber was floor manager. The hall was beautifully decorated for the occasion, a beautiful feature of which was a May day canopy which stretched overhead radiating in rainbow hues from center to sides with colored papers imitating a gigantic May pole.

Rev. J. W. Stevenson and Mrs. Stevenson left here for Vancouver to attend the synod meeting.

A. McRae left here on Saturday for the coast. He is the Revelstoke delegate to the convention of the Imperial council of Mystic Shriners which meets this month at Dallas, Texas.

CRAWFORD BAY RANCH SOLD

(Special to the Daily News.)

CRAWFORD BAY, May 7.—H. S. Goodwin has sold his ranch here for a satisfactory figure to E. Hales. There are 20 acres in all with good house and stable. Considerable land is under cultivation and about 500 fruit trees planted out. O. Watland and J. Swanson are engaged by the purchaser in clearing up another five acres. Mr. Hales was out here staying with friends all last summer and it was expected he would eventually settle here permanently. He and his sister will arrive here before the end of the present month from England.

The tragic end of Robert Abbot came as a great shock to the settlement. A subscription list has been circulated in the Bay and has met with a very hearty response, well over $100 having been collected, besides which a number had already given direct to other subscription lists.

The west arm fire warden came in on Saturday and issued a number of temporary permits to ranchers who still had burning to do.

The consignment of stumping powder ordered by the Farmers institute is doing good work and teams are at a premium.

The committee of the local rifle association decided at their meeting, held some time ago to donate two spoons monthly, one for tyros to encourage young and inexperienced shots to take an interest in shooting and the other for men who have passed the tyro mark. In the latter class all the members who represented Crawford Bay last year are included. Spoons are also offered to any member aggregating 100 in any one shoot during the season and the committee also decided to erect a shack close to the 500 yard firing point, which will be a great convenience to members when on the range and the work has already been put in hand. The secretary was instructed to enter the club for the Dominion Rifle association salver competition. Practice will start immediately the new supply of ammunition is received from the militia department.

The English pheasants which were reared here last year by Mrs. T. E. Houghton all come safely through the winter and started laying some time ago.

Miss Harrison has left for the old country on a lengthy visit.

Rev. J. C. Mahood held the usual fortnightly service here last Sunday.

Mrs. Fournier has reopened the local hotel.

Recent visitors to Nelson included B. S. Westbury, A. C. Houghton, R. O. Davis and H. S. Goodwin.

CONTRACTORS WILLING TO ARBITRATE DISPUTE

(By Daily News Leased Wire.)

SYRACUSE, N. Y., May 7.—Determined efforts are being made here to settle the strike of the building laborers which yesterday developed a series of riots in which several were injured. The strikers met yesterday with Cesare Sconfetti, Italian consular agent at Rochester, who came to Syracuse and appointed a committee of eight persons to wait upon the employers with a view of adjusting the wage dispute by arbitration. The contractors have signified their willingness to have the matter arbitrated.

Order was restored with the first negotiations and the three local companies of state militia which had been called out when the riot situation assumed a serious aspect, had nothing to do.

One Application and the Hairs Are Gone

(Aids to Beauty).

Women troubled with fuzzy growths will be delighted to learn that a single application of a paste made with powdered delatone and water will remove every trace of hair or fuzz without pain or injury. If the growth is very thick or stubborn, a second application may be required. The delatone paste is spread thickly on the hairy surface, and after two or three minutes rubbed off, then the skin washed and dried. This is a reliable and quick way by which to permanently rid the skin of objectionable hair.

A little pyroxin rubbed on evebrows causes them to come in thick and lustrous, and thin, stubby eyelashes will grow long and curly by applying pyroxin at lash-roots with thumb and forefinger. Be careful and don't get any pyroxin where no hair is wanted.

DEVITT LEADS IN RIFLE SHOOT

Gets Possible at Five Hundred Yards—Tyros Find Peep Sights of Considerable Benefit.

Considerable improvement was made by several of the newer shots of the rifle association at yesterday afternoon's shoot, which is attributed to the peep sights which the executive of the association recommended that every new shot should acquire. The peep sights are easily attached to the rifles, it is claimed, and most of the rifles have the government bridge already attached. A peep sight, it is said, frequently adds 15 to 20 per cent to a beginner's score. The executive also wishes beginners to obtain score books.

W. J. Devitt yesterday made a splendid improvement over his previous score this season, using a peep sight, as did H. D. Birkbeck and R. A. James. Mr. Devitt bagged a possible at 500 yards.

The shooting conditions were ideal at yesterday's shoot.

There will be a practice shoot at the 200, 500 and 600-yard ranges on May 11, the first batch commencing fire at 6:30 o'clock and the second at 9 o'clock. It is hoped by the executive of the association that many of the newer shots will be present, when those desiring it will receive instructions from the older and more experienced members of the association.

Yesterday's scores were:

W. J. Devitt	32	35	29—96
A. Carrie	31	34	30—95
D. O. Thomas	32	32	27—91
J. Teague	28	32	30—90
R. W. Hinton	29	33	28—90
H. D. Birkbeck	27	30	26—83

ROSSLAND TAKES BASKETBALL GAME

Nelson Girls Royally Entertained by Rossland Team—Lose Game to Rossland in Evening.

(Special to The Daily News.)

ROSSLAND, B. C., May 7.—One of the most attractive affairs of this week was the luncheon given yesterday afternoon by Mrs. T. H. Long, at her home, in compliment to the young ladies of the Nelson basketball team. All the decorations as well as the jellies were carried out in the color scheme of red, white and green, the colors of the Nelson and Rossland teams. A large, beautifully decorated cake, with Nelson vs Rossland written on it and a red pennant in one corner and a green one in another, centred the table. Crepe streamers of the same color hung from the ceiling. Each guest was presented with a corsage bouquet of green and white and red and white carnations. Mrs. Long was assisted in entertaining the guests by Mrs. Hoag and Mrs. Gamble. Those present were the Nelson basketball girls and their chaperon, Mrs. G. Ferguson, and the Rossland basketball girls. After the luncheon the girls were taken about the city in automobiles.

In the evening the Rossland girls defeated the Nelson girls by the score of 18 points to 10.

PULL OFF THREE DOUBLE PLAYS

High School and Hungry Nine Dish Up Some Classy Ball in League Match.

The High School senior baseball aggregation yesterday afternoon again demonstrated their prowess in local intermediate baseball circles, when they again defeated the Hungry Nine to the tune of 8 to 2.

The game was a considerable improvement over the previous fixture of this season, and the players showed more confidence in themselves, time and again pulling off plays which well merited the appreciation shown by the large gathering of fans that turned up for the game.

Pitts, in the box for the High School, starred during the afternoon, and only in one inning could the starving ones manage to get men across the pan. Time and again he would, with the able assistance of his team-mates, pull himself out of the tight places.

For the Hungry Nine Darrough pitched a steady game, but the High School boys seemed to touch him up when a bingle counted and won the game by their timely hitting.

Three double plays were pulled off during the matinee, which shows that the boys were on their toes all the time.)

The summary for yesterday's game is:

	R.	H.	E.
High School	8	8	6
Hungry Nine	2	4	5

The batteries were : For the High School: Pitts and W. Ferguson; for the Hungry Nine, Darrough and Brennan.

A. McGill handled the indicator, while J. W. Kearns acted as scorer.

ROSSLAND DEFEATS NELSON HANDILY

Nelson Footballers No Match for Golden City Eleven—Score Five Goals to One.

(Special to The Daily News.)

ROSSLAND, B. C., May 7.—A very good game of football was played here this afternoon between Nelson and Rossland. The weather was perfect, not a breath of wind to alter the course of the ball, and some good, long kicks were registered. The grounds were in fine condition for the game, only a little softness showing at one end, which will be in good shape by the time the next game is played. Rossland had it all its own way right from the start and the game ended with the score five to one in Rosslands favor.

The only one Nelson did get was put in by a Rossland man, who fell and accidentally knocked it in while in a scrimmage in front of the goal.

Those making the scores were: Tyson, Churchill, Mathews, Cox and Errington.

Lineup:

Rossland — Routledge, Errington, Churchill, Morris, Guilt, Mathews, Tyson, Harrison, Cox, Turner and Parton.

Nelson—Denham, Brown, Zelanzey, Ross, Middleton, Bealby, Francis, Brett, Phillips, Dunn and Ramsden.

CRICKET CLUB TO HOLD ANNUAL MEETING TONIGHT

Tonight at 8 o'clock the annual meeting of the Nelson cricket club will be held in R. Cramer's sporting goods store. Officers will be elected and arrangements made for the games and tournaments which will be held with outside teams this season. Communications have been received from several other clubs desiring games, and a splendid season for the popular old country pastime is expected in Nelson this summer. All the members of last year's club and any newcomers to the city are asked to attend tonight's meeting.

A Shabbily Attired Salesman reflects the character of the firm he represents

Is not the same true of the firm's printing? Think it over

YOU would not want your salesman to be shabbily attired. Do you apply the same to your printing? Does your letter-head and envelope reflect quality? Does your booklet, circular or catalogue inspire your customers' confidence the same as a good salesman would? First impressions mean everything. Turn to quality printing. The price is the same for both kinds. We guarantee satisfaction. Our plant is modern and our workmen efficient. A trial order will convince.

NEWSPAPER BOYS BALL TEAM OUT WITH CHALLENGE

The Daily News has a ball team, and the newspaper boys are out with a challenge to any team in the city.

C. Grizzelle is manager of the "Newsies" and states that his aggregation can conquer anything hereabouts. Manager Grizzelle claims to have several dark horses up his sleeve to spring on any other local aggregation which may accept his defy.

The newspaper boys are particularly keen on meeting the representatives of the city wholesale houses or any other commercial teams, but would not, he states, be daunted at meeting any team in the city.

Here is the way the newspaper boys will take the field to contest any team which may accept their defy:

Catcher, Curran; pitcher, Whitehead; first base, Grizzelle; second base, O'Gerski; third base, Dill; short stop, Billings; left field, Blanchard; right field, Grant; centre field, Stanley.

FISHING SHACK AT MIDGE CREEK NOW IN USE

(Special to the Daily News.)

PROCTOR, B.C., May 7.—The fishing shack at Midge creek belonging to the Outlook Sports club has been taken by E. Merrifield and W. Grace, who are making it their headquarters for fishing and hunting till Friday week. They returned to Proctor on Tuesday night with a fine salmon of 14¼ lbs. and a char of 4 lbs.

Sporting Comment

Who will accept The Daily News ball team's sweeping defy?

Says the Cranbrook Herald: "Nelson has asked for a lacrosse game on May 24, but on account of the local players not beginning practice early because suitable grounds are not available, it is doubtful if the challenge of the Nelson team can be accepted."

And the girls basketball team lost at Rossland. Never mind girls, wait till next season and then ——.

Big improvement was noticeable in the scores at the rifle shoot yesterday.

Some say that yesterday's intermediate ball game was better than anything shown by either team last season.

The rowing club boys are getting in some splendid workouts these warm days.

The lacrosse team will commence practicing evenings next week.

There will be another senior ball practice tomorrow evening.

Kaslo is importing ball players this season and expect to have "some" team.

It was a sad home-coming for the soccer boys last evening.

The Cricket club expects a big season this coming summer.

The junior city league will open tomorrow afternoon when the high school juniors and the public school teams clash.

MEDICAL DISCOVERIES.

Interest in progress toward the discovery of a serum that will act as a specific for the cure of tuberculosis, always keen, has been stimulated by the problematical remedy claimed to have been discovered by Dr. Friedmann. The wide discussion of Dr. Friedmann's methods has been followed by a deluge of so-called remedies, of which a very small proportion only is likely to have results in any degree useful. According to despatches from London, physicians who have employed the remedy, place considerable faith in the efficacy of a serum discovered by Dr. Frederick Mehnarto, a distinguished German bacteriologist, which is reputed to have shown good results in the treatment of tuberculosis, malaria and leprosy. Dr. Mehnarto is doing his best to avoid untimely publicity, such as has been secured by Dr. Friedmann, and which in his case raised high hopes that may be doomed to bitter disappointment. Dr. Mehnarto also declares that so soon as he is assured of the beneficial action of his serum he will joyfully give it to humanity without expectation of financial reward.

In this he will be following the high traditions of the healing profession. Dr. Friedmann, on the other hand, is receiving severe blame in a good many *quarters for selling his claimed tuber*culosis cure for the sum reported to be $125,000 cash and $1,800,000 stock in a company which will control it. The blame, we think, says the Ottawa Journal, has good reason from one point of view at least, namely, that Dr. Friedmann should not have sold his secret until public proof had been given that his alleged discovery is really a cure. Inventors easily deceive themselves. Dr. Friedmann ought to be willing to admit that he may be deceiving himself, unless his public tests succeed, which they have not yet done; and if he does happen to be deceiving himself, he is selling a fake nostrum to a commercial client who will use it relentlessly to hoodwink and bleed the poor and the dying.

Beyond this possibility there is, of course, the broader consideration whether a doctor, a healer, should take a step which will limit the usefulness and increase the cost of a remedy against a great disease. Would Jenner have done it, who discovered the efficiency of vaccine? Would Lister have done it, who discovered the value of sterilization? Would Morton have done it, who discovered the possibility of anaesthetics? And if any of them had, how greatly would the boon to mankind have been lessened!

Yet, why should a medical man derive less profit from his own brains than any inventor, or a business man, or an artist, or a writer? If a man paints a great picture, which would be a pleasure and benefit to a far greater number of people if he presented it to a public picture gallery than if he sold it to a private citizen, why should he be expected to present it to a picture gallery any more than a doctor like Friedmann should be expected to present the medical profession free with a cure which he may have discovered for consumption, and which the medical profession will proceed to use and to charge people for for their own benefit? Or why should a writer expect payment for a valuable book? Or why should an inventor of, say a reaper or a threshing machine, which makes the food of all the world cheaper, expect anything for his invention? If the reply is that a medical discovery is a matter affecting human life, and that therefore humanity is entitled to it free, why should doctors charge anything for any of their services?

THE WAR LORD.

On June 15 of the present year the German Kaiser will have completed the twenty-fifth year of his reign. A recent despatch describes William II as straining every nerve to prevent the outbreak of a general European war before the arrival of that auspicious anniversary, thus attributing to the Kaiser a passionate zeal for establishing records, which is hardly German in spirit.

The world has somewhat fallen out of the habit of regarding the Kaiser as the hot-headed young man, with a fondness for keeping the diplomats of Europe on tenterhooks. The fact that William II's son and successor is now adopting something of the same fiery bearing has tended to put the Emperor in a more sober light. But it is doubtful whether it is generally recognized that by the length of his reign, the Kaiser now stands very near to the deanship among the crowned heads of the world. He is now in his fifty-fifth year, and in that *respects stands seventh among Euro*pean rulers. But among the rulers of first class Powers, only the venerable Francis Joseph has been longer on the throne. The Kaiser is older than the rulers of Great Britain, of Italy, and of Russia; and only three European monarchs, aside from Francis Joseph, have reigned longer than he. These are Ferdinand of Bulgaria, who beats his record by less than a year; Charles of Roumania, who leads him by seven years, and, oddly enough, Alfonso of Spain, who is only twenty-seven years old, but who has been King from his birth, being a posthumous child.

This Day in Canadian History

In 1641 the Sieur de Maisonneuve, leader of a little band of 40 men and four women sent out by a religious association to found "Ville Marie de Montreal," landed in New France. It was too late to commence the new settlement that year, so they wintered near Quebec. The governor, Montmagny, urged that they should settle where their presence would strengthen Quebec, but Maisonneuve declared, "It is my duty and my honor to found a colony at Montreal; and I would go, if every tree were an Iroquois!" Accordingly, on this date—May 8—271 years ago, he and his followers embarked on their perilous enterprise. Their little flotilla consisted of a pinnace, a flat bottomed sailing craft and two row oats. They were nine days on the voyage, and when they approached the site of Canada's greatest city "all on board raised in unison a hymn of praise." Montmagny, on behalf of the "Hundred Associates," from whom the adventurers were obtaining a grant of St. Helen's Island, had come with them to give possession in due form; and they landed on the "Place Royale," chosen by Champlain, 31 years earlier as a good spot for a settlement.

Rogers, had no objection to bringing down the file, but wished it understood it would remain in the custody of the official of the house. The motion will be allowed to stand on the understanding that the papers, except such as might be of a private or confidential nature, would be brought down. Hon. Frank Oliver was inclined to doubt whether this would achieve the end, but Sir Wilfrid Laurier remarked: "All roads lead to Rome, and we don't care how they come as long as we get the papers."

"My honorable friend from Edmonton doesn't seem to have the same faith in the government as has his leader," remarked Premier Borden with a smile.

"I am afraid he is right," retorted Sir Wilfrid. (Laughter).

"This is one of the cases where I think the right honorable gentleman is right," added the premier.

Morning Sessions.

In moving a resolution fixing morning sessions on and after Monday next Premier Borden remarked that as the committees had about concluded their work there was no reason why the house should not meet in the morning. He noted that in 1911, when the session commenced a little later, morning sessions were started on May 12, the date now proposed.

Sir Wilfrid Laurier agreed that when the committees complete their work it is usually proper to bring on morning sessions. The house, however, was entitled to know if additional legislation was to be brought down. The house, he said, had reason to expect the delivery of the budget speech before the morning sessions are commenced.

Budget Next Week.

Mr. Borden said he could not see any connection between the budget and morning sittings. The budget could be *delivered this week, but it would prob*ably come on Wednesday or Thursday next. He added that in 1911 reciprocity had been discussed for a long time after morning sittings were commenced.

Sir Wilfrid—Yes, reciprocity was discussed morning and afternoon, but not at night. He insisted that the government should state whether more legislation is to be introduced.

Mr. Borden said that there would be no legislation than what was already taken up of great importance.

Sir Wilfrid said he would like the premier to take the country into his confidence as well as the house.

Mr. Borden retorted that he thought he did a good deal to take the opposition leader into his confidence.

"My honorable friend flatters me too much; he always takes me into his confidence," replied the opposition leader with a smile.

"Not always," said Mr. Borden, amidst general laughter.

E. B. Devlin of Wright drew the attention of the government to the fact that Hon. Robert Rogers, when leading the house one night, had promised to set apart a day for the further discussion of the resolution calling for the immediate construction of the Georgian bay canal.

Mr. Borden said that he would consult Mr. Rogers and give a reply to the member for Wright later.

Mr. Devlin then asked if it was true, as stated in the Ottawa Evening Journal, that the government proposed to include a large sum in the supplementary estimates for the continuation of the canal, but that owing to the long discussion on the naval bill it had been found necessary to drop the item.

Mr. Borden said that it was not customary to make announcements in regard to the estimates until brought down.

Hon. Rodolphe Lemieux asked the postmaster-general if he had noticed the cable report relating to an interview with S. F. Baxendale, managing director of the British syndicate which controls the Poulsen system of wireless telegraphy, with which the government has entered into an agreement for a wireless service. He wanted to know what connection Mr. Baxendale had with the system.

Postmaster-General Pelletier said Mr. Baxendale was the managing director of the company. At the present time Mr. Gangil, a representative of the company, is in Montreal selecting a site for the Canadian land station.

Naval Debate.

F. B. Carvell, Carleton, replying to the minister of marine as to the plant of a modern shipbuilding company, said that there was not a shipbuilding company in the world that produces one-half the articles going to make up a modern warship. It was the same dishonest argument that had been put forward by Hon. Winston Churchill to the effect that all these collateral establishments were necessary. There was not a shipbuilding establishment in the United States that manufactured guns, and there were only two in Britain that built their own guns. He did not know of a shipbuilding firm in the world that built its own machinery or its electrical apparatus or its compasses and in most cases they did not manufacture their own armor plate. He next dealt with the memorandum said to have been prepared by Commander Roper of the Canadian naval forces, and dated September 20, 1911, and declaring that the vessels of the Laurier navy would be obsolete when they were completed. Mr. Carvell said that he could not conceive of Commander Roper making any such statement, particularly on the eve of an election, in which the naval policy was an issue in the province of Quebec. Still more remarkable was the fact that this memorandum had not been asked for and that although the then minister of marine, Hon. R. Lemieux, held office for over two weeks after the election, he had never said a word about his memorandum. Hon. Mr. Lemieux remarked that a year previous Commander Roper had expressed radically different views on the Canadian navy and for having had such views the member for Jacques Cartier had threatened to bring him before the bar of the house. Mr. Carvell said that no man who knew as much about the navy as Commander Roper would dare to do such a thing as it was stated he had done. Mr. Carvell expressed the opinion that the minister of marine might as well admit that the reason the naval policy was abandoned was because the Nationalists would not let him carry it out. Mr. Carvell asserted that the Churchill memorandum was an insult to the people of Canada and had created a great storm in Great Britain. But for the present critical political situation, which made necessary the preservation of the Liberal party, Mr. Churchill would have received the censure of parliament and been driven out of public life. He said the Conservative party had criticized the Liberals in regard to their attitude as to the control of the Canadian navy.

Dramatic Scene.

The first step towards the application of closure on the naval bill came early in the evening, when Premier Borden, after Mr. Carvell concluded, formally moved "that further consideration of the second section be now postponed." The scene in the house that lead up to this was somewhat dramatic. When Mr. Carvell had finished speaking the premier arose and remarked that he could be pardoned if he did not reply to the argument since they had been advanced rather frequently during the last few months. This clause of the bill has been debated for 18 or 19 days. What he would like to know from the honorable gentleman who was leading the opposition was if there was any intention of making progress with the bill.

Taken By Surprise.

Hon. R. Lemieux was the only prominent Liberal in the front of the opposition benches, and he was taken by surprise. His reply was that he himself intended to speak this evening upon the clause, and there were other *honorable gentlemen also desir*ous of expressing their views.

"We understand perfectly well what that means," said the premier.

I do not know the meaning of the hon. gentleman's remarks, said Mr. Lemieux.

Mr. Borden replied that it was quite evident that the opposition did not intend in any measurable or reasonable time to allow a vote to be taken on the clause which had already been under discussion for so long, and he thought it had been debated sufficiently. He thereupon moved that further consideration of the clause be postponed.

Mr. Carvell rose to discuss the clause, but was also met by the premier's statement: "This motion is not debatable."

A standing vote confirmed the motion 70 to 28.

W. M. German, Welland, who followed, said he could see that the government intended to put the new rules into operation promptly and emphatically. "Those of you who are below will have to stand from under," he said. "I don't know that I object because they have a majority large enough to carry this bill through the house. We have all known this from the beginning. But this, however, is not the final court of appeal. The people of Canada will yet have to be consulted, and I think the time will speedily come when they will be asked their opinion on this naval problem. I would like to see it this summer. If the government is so confident of its policy let parliament be dissolved, and if they are sustained then they will have five years of power ahead of them. Mr. German moved that clause three of the bill be amended to read as follows:

"The said sum shall be used and applied under the direction of parliament in the construction and equipment of battleships or armored cruisers of a class approved by parliament." This clause now reads: "The said sum shall be used and applied under the direction of the governor-in-council in the construction and equipment of battleships or armored cruisers of the most modern and powerful type."

G. W. Kyte, speaking of the new amendment, said that all the arguments originally advanced by the government in support of its naval policy had fallen short of realization.

TO RETAIN TURKISH ARMY.

VIENNA, May 7.—Semi-official newspapers declare on the authority of the foreign consul at Toriano, that Essad Pasha has not proclaimed himself King of Albania. On the contrary, they say, he is ready to obey the powers' instructions to withdraw his army to Turkey. It is therefore suggested that Austria and Italy should promote an alliance between *Essad Pasha and the provisional Al*bania government whereby Essad Pasha's army might be utilized to restore order in Albania. This it is contended, would render an Austria-Italy expedition for that purpose needless.

Granby Continues To Operate At Good Profit

Nearly Two Hundred Thousand Dollars in Three Months—Continuation of Dividends Indicated by Presidents Report—Values in Ore Show Increase—March Profit Eigthy-eight Thousand Dollars—Smelter Broke Records for Monthly Run

The Granby Consolidated company produced 5,539,419 lbs. of copper during the first quarter of the current year and made a net profit of about $194,000. The production by months compares as follows:

	Copper lbs.	Silver ozs.	Gold ozs.
Jan	1,792,245	23,952	3,430
Feb.	1,779,212	24,645	3,266
March	1,967,962	28,352	4,211
3 mos.	5,539,419	76,949	10,907

It is understood that the grade of ore at the Phoenix property improved somewhat during the past month or two. This has offset to some extent the lower price received for copper and the slightly increased mining costs resulting from interrupted operations in February, chiefly due to inclement weather.

The March run of the smelter was a record breaker with the total battery of eight furnaces operating for 31 days as compared with a 20 day run in the preceding month.

Construction work at the Hidden Creek property is well under way, with foundations being laid for the various buildings.

William H. Nichols, president of the Granby company, issues the following report to the stockholders:

"Since the last quarterly report Jan. 22, 1913, the forward policy of the company recommended by the directors has been adopted by the shareholders and the company is in a position to avail themselves of any opportunities which conservative judgment may dictate and at the same time to push to completion the work already undertaken and resume payment of a moderate dividend out of the profits from current operations.

"At Anyox the work laid out has steadily progressed without any disappointments, although construction work was somewhat hampered by the winter snows which have been quite unusual for that region. Our engineers, however, still expect to operate in November or December of this year.

"The operations of the Phoenix and Grand Forks for the month of March showed a profit of $87,770 and for the nine months of the fiscal year $990,255. The yield of metals has been fully maintained, and the cost of copper for March slightly reduced but current profits for a portion of this period were interfered with by the decline in the price of metal. Al' figures are now based on 14½ cents copper and on March 31 we had on hand 1935 tons taken in at that figure.

Reports from the development work of the old properties indicate that ore reserves have been fully maintained."

SPOKANE MAN TELLS OF MINING ACTIVITY

J. W. Beckett Speaks of Number of Properties Which Are Being Quietly Developed.

Properties are being explored and opened at hundreds of places throughout British Columbia, said J. W. Beckett, an operator of the Slocan, who has returned to Spokane after spending several weeks at Rossland, Silverton and other places.

Several men will be found at each of these places and nothing will be heard of their efforts until they strike ore, so the extent of the activity and the money and labor invested does not become generally known.

The War Eagle, Centre Star and other mines of the Consolidated Mining & Smelting company, the smelter at Trail and the Standard mine at Silverton, the latter owned by the Finch investment company and others of Spokane, were among properties which Beckett viewed at close range. The volume of ore blocked out in the Consolidated and Standard properties was staggering to the visitor.

Interest in British Columbia has increased importantly in the last year as the result of additions to the resources of the large properties, made after nearly a generation of heavy production, and by strikes in various parts of the field, said Mr. Beckett.

TO INSTALL COMPRESSOR AT SILVER HOARD PROPERTY

Will Commence Construction of Baby Tram Next Month—New Ore Bodies Discovered.

The Silver Hoard Mining company at Ainsworth on May 1 began sinking a 4 by 6-foot winze from the 100 to the 200-foot level, and as soon as the snow is off, presumably about June 1, work of clearing the right of way for a Riblett baby tram from the cave workings of the Silver Hoard to connect with the upper terminal of the Canadian Consolidated company's No. 1 tram, 2,600 feet distant, will be begun. The tram will have a minimum capacity of 20 tons every 24 hours and will be so constructed that additional buckets can be added later. The aerial carrier will be installed and ready for operation by August 1, according to the general manager, W. S. Hawley, who has returned to Spokane from the mine.

"We will also begin installing a five to 10-drill water-driven air compressor plant about June 1," said Mr. Hawley. "Additional ore bodies recently encountered in the Silver Hoard have demonstrated beyond question that we have a very valuable mine.

"We forwarded five cars to the Trail smelter in April, although operations were suspended part of the time because of the roads being utterly impassable. The snow is nearly gone, however, and in a week or so the wagon road to the No. 1 tram will be in shape for heavy hauling, when we will put on two four-horse teams and send out from 20 to 24 tons daily. This method of transportation will be continued until our tram is in service, when we anticipate increasing the output."

ZINC MAGNATE PAYS VISIT TO PRINCETON

J. M. Short of Joplin, Mo., the largest owner of zinc mines in the world, was in Princeton recently on his way to Tulameen and Leadville. He could not reach Camp Leadville, owing to the snow, but will come out again when it is gone.—Similkameen Star.

STRIKE RICH ORE AT YANKEE GIRL

Fifty Dollar Rock Opened Up at End of Seventeen Hundred Foot Tunnel, Says Report.

Ore encountered in the Yankee Girl property of the Hobson Silver-Lead Mining company during the last few days carries the highest gold-silver values in its history, according to Thomas Buchanan, the assayer and bookkeeper, who is visiting Spokane. Averaging $40 in gold and $10 in silver to the ton, the ore lies in a body six feet wide, opened by a drift started in from a raise up 75 feet from the extremity of a 1,700-foot tunnel. The property is near Ymir, B. C. The stockholders are chiefly residents of Spokane and the Palouse country.

USE OF COPPER IN STEEL SHEETS IS EXPERIMENT

The American Sheet & Tin Plate company has been conducting a series of tests to learn what benefits could be derived from the use of copper in steel sheets, and the results of the tests indicate that a small copper content in steel, approximately 2 per cent, materially increases the life of steel sheets subjected to atmospheric corrosion.

In the event that the use of copper in steel should eventually become general it would mean the use of some 125,000,000 pounds of copper per annum on the basis of 2 per cent of last year's total steel production.

SASKATCHEWAN HAS BEST WATER

Dominion Conservation Commission Considers Pollution of Streams—International Control Difficulty.

(By Daily News Leased Wire.)

OTTAWA, May 7.—That the province of Saskatchewan has the best water in streams to be found in Canada was the opinion expressed today by James White, secretary of the Dominion Conservation commission, the chief witness before the meeting of the parliament committee appointed to inquire into the pollution of streams and rivers by sewage. Mr. White thought, however, that while Saskatchewan was dealing with the question of preventing the pollution very effectively there should be a central board with drastic power to effect laws in regard to the matter. Such a board was appointed for England by the royal commission which investigated the question during a period extending over 10 years.

Upon the suggestion of George E. McCraney of Saskatoon it is likely that the committee will call to give evidence before it, Dr. Seymour, medical health officer for Saskatchewan. The evidence to be secured this year will be used as a basis upon which to construct legislation, which the government will use next session.

In view of the fact that so many streams in Canada are international necessitating the co-operation of the United States government to deal with the problem of pollution, Hon. J. D. Hazen suggested that James White, secretary of the conservation committee, the first witness, deal mainly with this phase of the problem.

Mr. White said that one of the supreme points to be considered is to ascertain what proportion of the water of the great lakes is polluted from the other. England was cited as the best country to go to for information regarding the pollution of streams. Over there, Mr. White stated, practically no polluted water is allowed to run into navigable waters. Some time ago a royal commission advocated the appointment of a central authority and river boards after investigation of the problem. The commission emphasized that laws should be elastic.

G. H. Bradbury wanted to know whether or not it was correct that London draws some of its water supply from the Thames, and was told by the witness that such is the case, but the water is run into reservoirs capable of holding 30 days supply, where sedimentation takes place. The commission had three methods for the treatment of sewage, which were: Rapid filteration with sedimentation basins for large cities, rapid filteration and simple settlement for places not so large.

W. B. Northrup asked if the prevention of the pollution of streams were stopped by Canadian municipalities even if not done by the United States would endure the risk of endangering the public health in Canada. Mr. White answered that it would be reduced but not, of course, prevented. It would, however, be advantageous to Canada to carry out the reform mentioned by Mr. Northrup and that municipalities in the United States might emulate the example set by Canada.

DATES ARRANGED FOR MATCHES WITH AUSTRALIANS

NEW YORK, May 7.—With the announcement that the Australian cricket team, which is to make a tour of the United States this summer, had sailed from Sydney on Monday on the Niagara, due in Victoria on May 27, dates as arranged for their matches in this country and Canada were given out today. The team will play its first matches in Victoria on May 29, 30 and 31, stopping en route through Canada at Edmonton, Prince Albert, Montreal and other points. Where matches have been arranged. The Australians will first be seen in the United States at Philadelphia, where they will play on June 20, 21 and 23. Among the more prominent contests that have been scheduled in the east is one against an all American team at Philadelphia on July 4, 5 and 7. The team will visit Bermuda, sailing on July 16, and will be gone about 10 weeks. Returning here, another all American contest will be played at New York on Aug. 1 and 2. The players who will comprise the team are: Warren Beardsley, whose name is a household word in cricket; Arnott Campbell, Cody, Crawford, Collins, Diamond, Down, Amery, McCartney, Malley and Mayne.

NATIONAL LACROSSE UNION HAS ITS EYES ON MANN CUP

Promises of a trip to the Pacific coast to play the Vancouver Athletic club for the Mann cup are being held out as inducements to sign by the clubs in the National Lacrosse union, according to a story appearing in the Toronto News of a recent date. Charlie Querrie, manager of the Tecumsehs, who should be in a position to speak for the players is authority for the statement.

Querrie says the officers of the National Lacrosse union have a merry little plot hatched to make the Mann cub the big thing in the National Lacrosse union proposed amateur series. Cornwall, Shamrocks and Montreal with the possibility of a team in Sherbrooke or Ottawa are going to have a so-called "amateur" league composed of most of the players of last year's teams. These players are to be given reinstatement as amateurs and the propostiion is to have the winners come to the coast to play for the Mann cub and the amateur championship of the world.

Continuing, Querrie writes:

"A few of us will remember when St. Catherines won the championship of the Canadian Lacrosse union they were not allowed to compete for the Mann cup because they had a couple of players on their team whom the trustees thought were professional, although they were admitted as amateurs in the Canadian Lacrosse union and the Young Torontos, who played for the cup, had played against these players all season without questioning their standing. Again last year, after Vancouver won the cup, St. Catherines, who challenged for the amateur mug, were compelled by the trustees to drop Ed. Harris, one of their best players because the trustees figured that he was a professional, although he had played all summer with the Canadian Lacrosse association champions.

"This apparently will make no difference, as Mr. Lally, as trustee for the Mann cup and chief mogul of the National Lacrosse union will likely be able to overcome all difficulties and allow the reinstated professionals of the National Lacrosse union to play with good amateurs for the championship of the world and the famous Mann cup.

"It will be interesting to find out what the other trustees of the Mann cup will do when the National Lacrosse union, with Joe Lally as their sponsor, apply for permission to play for the cup. There was a strong feeling last year and the year before that the personal animosity of one of the trustees toward the Canadian Lacrosse association had more to do with the refusal to allow St. Catherines to compete for the cup than the fact that they suspected the St. Kitt's team of having professional players on their team. Anyway the bait thrown out to the players in the National Lacrosse union is a trip to the coast and a chance to play for the Mann cup, and it is a cinch that Joe Lally will make a big effort to convince himself and the other trustees that the players who remain with the National Lacrosse union teams should be allowed to do anything as long as they represent the National Lacrosse union."

BATTING AVERAGES AS EXAMPL IN ARITHMETIC OF SCHOOLS

Baseball is being injected into the curriculum of the schools of the national capital as an aid in the teaching of arithmetic. This developed today when groups of school children were discovered reading the baseball news and eagerly interrogating each other as to the best means of figuring averages. It transpired that teachers in arithmetic have been using problems in their classes such as the following:

"If Chick Gandil is at bat 40 times and makes 12 hits, what is his average?"

"If the Nationals win 11 games out of 15, what per cent do they lose?"

The new system is said by the instructors to be highly successful. Thoroughly interested in the national sport the children are said to take real joy in solving the problems and the same process is utilized in problems in linear or square measurements and, in the case of less advanced pupils, in addition and subtraction. The baseball diamond is now one of the commonest diagrams to be found on the black boards of the schools of the capital.

BRAZILIAN IS FEATURE OF MONTREAL MARKET

(By Daily News Leased Wire.)

MONTREAL, May 7.—Heavy trading in Brazilian overshadowed all incidents of the business on the Montreal stock exchange today, upwards of 6,000 shares changing hands against a total turnover in the rest of the market of about 2,500 shares. Support from the Brazilian interests in London was forthcoming and the abrupt decline of the day on news of the preferred stock issue was effectively checked. Heavy selling of the stock both for local and Toronto account met ready absorption, and following an opening at 93½, or an overnight gain of 1 point, the price advanced steadily to 95⅛ during the morning. Of the 3½-point decline of Tuesday today's market showed a recovery of 2½ points. C.P.R. was the only stock of prominence apart from Brazilian. Other issues were listless, but influenced by the better tone in Brazilian and a good rally in C.P.R., prices showed a hardening tendency in the late trading. The list accordingly closed practically at best, with a fair sprinkling of net gains. C.P.R. opened quiet and steady at 340 to a point better than at the close on Monday. The late rally in New York was productive of a good deal of activity in the afternoon and on the upturn the price rose from 241¼ in the morning to 242, and at the close was only ⅛ lower with a net gain of 1¾. This, with the 2½-point recovery in Brazilian, was the chief price change of the day. Tucketts rose 1 to 1¾. Other changes were fractional. Power was dealt in to the extent of only 50 shares at 227 and closed at that price, or ¼ higher than on the previous day. Scotia rose ½ to 82; Toronto Rails ¼ to 144¼; Hillcrest, common, ¼ to a new high record of 42¼.

Total business, 8,001 shares; 50 mining shares, $2,200 bonds.

NEW YORK MARKET STRONG GOOD GAINS RECORDED

(By Daily News Leased Wire.)

NEW YORK, May 7.—After a day in which no well defined trend was discernable, the stock market became distinctly strong in the final trading and closed with good gains for stocks. At the opening of the session bears attempted to carry through the deal of yesterday. They were successful in forcing down prices temporarily, but later met with determined opposition which brought about a smart advance. The decline fell off on the rally and movements thereafter were uncertain until the final outburst of buying, which lifted prices to the highest of the day. Speculative interest again centered in the Harriman stocks, whose heaviness in the early trading was a disturbing feature. Southern Pacific broke to 93½, a new low price since 1908. That stock and Union Pacific were leading in the late upturn, being helped by Union Pacific on unconfirmed reports that the Union Pacific management had arranged for compliance with the supreme court's decision.

Weakness of stocks other than the Harriman issues acted as a drag on the market. New York Central sold below par for the first time since 1908. Several other issues made new low records. London bought stocks here moderately, its purchase on balance being estimated at about 10,000 shares. Traders who expected that the clearing up of the Balkan situation would be the signal for heavy re-purchasing by Europe of American securities have been disappointed at the comparative smallness of the foreign demand in the last few days. It was pointed out, however, that Europe's urgent financial requirements at home as well as the indifferent attitude of American investors toward their own showed a distinct upward tendency.

Total sales, par value, $2,000,000. United States bonds were unchanged on call.

MONEY PLENTIFUL IN LONDON

(By Daily News Leased Wire.)

LONDON, May 7.—Money was plentiful and discount rates were weaker today. The stock market had a holiday feelings. Dealings were small in the forenoon with an irregular tendency under profit taking. Brazilian shares were weak. Montenegrin and Bulgarian bonds advanced a point. American stocks opened quiet and steady. Trading was light during the forenoon but the market was supported and prices advanced from ¼ to 1 point over parity. In the early afternoon the tone was uncertain owing to the Pacific merger plan and the lower Wall street opening, but prices recovered in the last hour and closed steady.

BEEF TRUST TO CAPTURE SMITHFIELD MARKET

(By Daily News Leased Wire.)

LONDON, May 7.—There is a curious unwillingness at the Smithfield meat market to discuss the unprecedented imports of beef from the Argentine during the last few weeks. If a salesman talks it is on the consideration that no mention be made of his name. This, it is argued, lends color to the suggestion that the beef trust has got a certain hold on the Smithfield market.

The belief is general among the salesmen that American companies are seeking to get control.

STATION ORDERED FOR FORT FRASER TOWNSITE

(By Daily News Leased Wire.)

OTTAWA, May 7.—The application of the Dominion Stock & Bond Corporation, limited, of Vancouver, for an order declaring that a station be placed on grounds reserved by them for station purposes on their townsite of Fort Fraser, on the east side of the Nechaco river, was heard today. This is the third time that this matter has been before the board of railway commissioners, and the point as to the location of this station has been a much disputed one.

The board, after hearing engineering experts and other testimony, gave judgment today directing that the station be placed at the Fort Fraser townsite on ground reserved by the Dominion Stock & Bond corporation.

GORED BY BULL FARMER IS KILLED

(By Daily News Leased Wire.)

AGASSIZ, B. C., May 7.—James R. Bean was fatally gored by a Holstein bull on Monday and died last night. Mr. Bean, who was a prominent farmer, had gone into a field, where he kept his bull tied. The animal had gotten loose and charged Bean when the latter approached.

The farmer jumped aside as the bull attacked, but the bull was after him in a moment, overtaking him before he could reach the fence. Catching the unfortunate man on his loins, the bull tossed him aloft and again rushed at him and gored him. A moment later Bean escaped through a gate, but he was injured internally, from which he died.

TORONTO ADVOCATES MOTHERS PENSIONS

Compulsory Education Favored By Council of Women—Toy Pistols Cause Taste for Firearms.

(By Daily News Leased Wire.)

MONTREAL, May 7.—A message of greeting from Regina was read at the opening session of the Council of Women this morning. The day was given over to the proposed change in standing committees. The discussion on the playgrounds committee brought out the fact that it is impossible to get trained supervisors for playgrounds in Canada. Social centres will be added to this committee's work. A committee on professions for women, with sub-committees for nursing, law, medicine, etc., was formed.

Miss McKenzie, superintendent of the Victorian Order of Nurses, took part in the discussion. A new committee named conservation of natural resources was added to the list.

The announcement of the death of Miss Fitzgibbon's mother in Toronto brought forth a resolution of condolence. Victoria and Hamilton local councils stand highest in the record of the greatest number of advertisements for the year book.

Toronto local council brought in a resolution regarding granting of a certificate stating age and educational standing, such certificate to be issued by school authorities. This was carried unanimously.

Mothers pensions were advocated by the Toronto council. Mrs. Huestis quoted laws of several countries in reference to this question. The National Council decided to refer the question to a committee to consult with the government. Dr. Margaret Gordon suggested that space hereafter be found on the agenda for the work of the national organized societies, but on account of the time involved the resolution was lost. The compulsory education question brought forth interesting discussions. The National council placed itself on record as being in favor of a Compulsory Education act for the Dominion. Toronto women view with apprehension the increasing number of undesirable children coming to Canada. One immigration organization has for 45 years been sending out children. For the past 12 or 14 years they have been sending out 1,000 children a year.

Miss Burt of Liverpool asked permission to speak on the question of child immigration, which was granted by the council. Some English societies have medical inspection of child immigrants. She said Ontario is drained of its young blood. The viewpoint of the city is not that of the rural districts of Canada. The local council of Edmonton reported that of the children imported into Alberta less than a fourth are Canadian born. The children are received in Ottawa, and on the average 60 boys are received monthly during the Quebec season and distributed throughout Alberta, was the statement made by Mrs. Short of Ottawa.

Miss Derrick thought the old country should meet its own problems. There are 2,000 feeble minded alone in Montreal. If children are allowed to come in they should have carefully filled in certificates.

Mrs. Peters warned the mothers of their children carrying toy pistols, thus cultivating the taste for firearms.

There are some dealers who will substitute for "SALADA" some other tea on which they make a larger profit. Don't be deceived—there is no other tea that will satisfy you as well. Ask for "SALADA" and refuse the substitute.

AMBASSADOR VISITS PRESIDENT

Both Express Desire to Cultivate Good Understanding Between Great Britain and States

(By Daily News Leased Wire.)

NEW YORK, May 7.—Sir Cecil Arthur Spring Rice, the new British ambassador, was formally presented yesterday to President Wilson at the White House. He was escorted by the entire staff of the embassy. The presentation was made by John Bassett Moore, councellor and acting secretary of state. Sir Cecil, upon being presented, said: "His majesty has directed me to express to you, Mr. President, his earnest wishes, that the cordial relations which happily exist, as they so long have existed, between Great Britain and the United States, should be maintained and strengthened. This relation rests not only upon official representations but also upon the sympathies, ideas and traditions which animate the minds of both peoples. It will be my constant effort to carry out the high mission confided to me in the spirit indicated by my sovereign. In doing so I have the advantage of having been trained under Lord Pauncefoote and I shall endeavor to follow in the footsteps of my illustrious predecessor, Mr. James Bryce.

"I am also sure that in discharging my duties here I shall find myself in hearty accordance with an administration which is inspired by an ardent and sincere desire to promote peace and good will among all the nations of the world."

President Wilson said: "It is especially gratifying to me that his majesty should have made choice for his mission of a gentleman whose former residence in this country and whose repeated visits to it, have made him so thoroughly familiar with our government and institutions and so well acquainted with our people.

"I share in the wish of his majesty that warm cordiality, a ready sympathy and quick understanding alike of policy and purpose, should characterize the relations between the two countries and I assure you that in your efforts to maintain and strengthen the friendly relations which have so long and happily existed between the United States and Great Britain you will have my earnest co-operation to the end not only that good will may prevail, but also that the cause of peace and justice throughout the world may be advanced."

HUNGARIANS CONDEMNED FOR BRUTAL MURDER

(By Daily News Leased Wire.)

PRINCE ALBERT, Sask., May 7.—The court proceedings closed about 8 o'clock last night in one of the most sensational murder trials that the crown and the northwest police ever had to deal with when Lewis Ratz, a Hungarian was found guilty, and sentenced to be hanged for the murder of Charles Bruggencote, a Dutchman, on the night of February 11. On Friday of last week, the jury returned a verdict against Emerie Kovolach another Hungarian, of being accessory to the murder and sentence of death on him was passed.

Lewis Ratz today was found guilty of the leading part in the murder. The men killed Bruggencote at the lonely ruined shack where they lived by beating in his brains with a cudgel and afterwards cutting his throat and driving him along a trail into the open prairie, where they left his body. On account of the popular feeling over the case, C. E. Gregory, K. C., counsel retained for Ratz challenged over 50 jurors peremptorily and no less than 83 jurors had to be summoned before the necessary 12 were obtained. Kovolach is sentenced to be hanged on July 18, and Ratz on July 2.

DANISH GREENLAND EXPEDITION SUCCESSFUL

Faroe Island Reached After Three Years Absence—Seal and Musk-Oxen Are Plentiful

COPENHAGEN, May 7.—A message from Thorshaven, Faroe islands, announces the success of Knud Rasmussen's Greenland expedition which returned there yesterday after a three years absence. At Peary Land, the Danish explorer found large numbers of seal and muskoxen which provided ample supplies. Where the Peary channel was held to be he found a large tract of land, free of ice. Game was abundant in that section and the party halted for a month before starting on the return journey over 600 miles, which was covered at an average rate of 31 miles a day. Rasmussen depended entirely on his Eskimo outfit and took with him no tinned provisions.

FIRE DAMAGES JAM FACTORY

Blaze Confined to Small Part of Building, but Stock Suffers Considerably.

Fire which originated last night in the furnace room of the Nelson jam and candy factory on Vernon street, owned by J. A. McDonald, spread up the west side of the building and caused considerable damage before it was got under control by the brigade.

Although the damage to the building will be comparatively small, the brigade succeeding in confining it to the portion of the west side of the structure above the furnace room, there will be considerable loss to stock from water. Mr. McDonald was unable last night to make an estimate of the damage on account of the lack of light. The loss is covered by insurance.

The fire raged on one side and above the jam-making room, where are situated the large copper vats in which the product is manufactured, but these utensils, which are expensive, are believed to be unharmed, the fire fighters getting a grip on the blaze before any great heat was evolved.

The repairs would be made in readiness for the jam-making season next month was the statement made by Mr. McDonald, who will at once proceed with the necessary arrangements for placing the factory in shape.

Reggie Gallagher, a son of J. W. Gallagher, first saw the blaze. The fire was then spurting from the side of the furnace room, and while he watched it burst from the roof and side of the main building. He yelled "Fire," and George Ferguson of the Nelson Transfer company telephoned an alarm.

Up to 7 o'clock last evening, less than two hours before the outbreak, Mr. McDonald was in the factory. At that time there was not sufficient steam up, he declared after the fire, for jam making, and he expressed the opinion that there could not have been sufficient heat in the furnace to have ignited the boxes and inflammable wrapping of some bananas which were above the boiler and to which Chief Guthrie attributes the outbreak.

BURGLAR LOOTS SCOTT RESIDENCE

While Owners Away He Steals Cut Glass and Money—Enjoyed Feast of Prunes.

Five valuable pieces of cut glass and a small amount of silver pilfered from children's purses and savings banks was apparently the haul made by a burglar who on Monday or Tuesday night broke into the residence of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Scott, corner of Houston and Ward streets, and literally turned everything upside down in his efforts to discover valuables. Mr. and Mrs. Scott are on a visit to Minneapolis.

Entering by the basement door, which he forced open, the burglar proceeded upstairs, leaving cupboards, chests of drawers and torn open trunks with their contents in a state of disarray behind him.

In the bedrooms upstairs he continued his search for valuables, battering open a tin despatch box and leaving the papers which it contained in a muddle and making a fruitless attempt to burst open a small desk, the lock of which baffled his efforts.

In addition to the money and cut glass, the burglar may have secured other booty, as it is impossible to tell until the return of Mr. and Mrs. Scott whether there is anything else missing.

The burglary was discovered by a friend of the family, who had a key to the residence, yesterday afternoon. Chief of Police Devitt was notified and made an investigation.

It seems that the burglar took matters coolly while in the bedroom, because on the floor were four or five dried prunes, apparently the remains of a package of the fruit on which he had been feasting during his search for loot.

SUPPLY OF DAHLIA BULBS INSUFFICIENT

Demand Greater Than Supply—Those Who Ordered Should Take Them Away Today.

The dahlia bulbs which were ordered by the improvement association are now in the hands of the secretary, W. N. Scott, at the publicity bureau, and Mr. Scott wishes those who have ordered bulbs to come into his office today and make their selections, as the number booked is far in excess of the supply. The dahlia bulbs are of the choicest varieties, imported direct from Holland, and include both the cactus and peony flowered specimens.

Rossland News

(Special to the Daily News.)

ROSSLAND, B.C., May 7.—The Ladies aid of the Methodist church will hold a sale of home cooking in the Traders block on Saturday, May 17.

J. G. Clark, who has been Canadian Pacific railway agent here for the past eight years, left today for Grand Forks to take the agency there. He has been in the employ of the Canadian Pacific railway since 1895. George T. Moir of Grand Forks will succeed Mr. Clark.

On Saturday evening, May 17, the city band will give an open air concert in the bandstand on Columbia avenue.

Mrs. W. H. Goodeve will not receive again this season.

The Busy Bees will meet on Friday night in the parlors of St. Andrews church.

The regular meeting of the board of trade was held on Tuesday afternoon in the secretary's office with vice-President W. Turner in the chair. Business included the consideration of taking up space in the Progress in Vancouver for advertising purposes and it was decided to have L. A. Campbell, M.P.P., who is going to the coast in a few days, look up the merits of the proposal. There was also a vote of regret that Mr. Agnew, who has been a member of the Rossland board of trade some 15 years, was leaving to make his home in Victoria.

E. Levy and Mr. Falding left this morning on the Great Northern and will be away a few days on a business trip.

The entertainment given by the choir of the Sacred Heart church in the K. C. hall last evening was greatly enjoyed by the large audience gathered there. It took the form of a play entitled: "The South Before the War." The stage was fixed to represent a southern plantation, and in the garden amongst the flowers were seated: Col. Remington (William Reed), Mrs. Remington (Mrs. Bonner), the colonel's daughters (Mrs. Hardy, Mrs. Apperson, Miss S. Serphine, Miss F. Nicholson, Miss L. Supple). On the bench in front of a little log cabin were seated: Mammy (Mrs. Bostock), Uncle Mose (George Waltho), Uncle Gabe (P. L. Fossey), Uncle Ben (Teddy Lee), Julius (Mr. Edwards), Sambo (Mr. Lawson), Rastus (Harry Landry), George Washington Brown, Mammy's son, (A. Newitt). The curtain was drawn up on the colonel, his family and slaves singing "Old Black Joe." "The Mocking Bird" was sung, several taking the different parts. The colonel then asks them to give some more music, which they do, Sambo playing the banjo and Julius the banjo. Mammy sings "Underneath the Old Umbrella." The colonel then asks Uncle Mose to sing and he responds with "Going Back to Dixie," all joining in the chorus. Mrs. Remington sings "My Old Kentucky Home" in a very pleasing manner. Mammy sang "Ring the Banjo." Sambo and Julius played "Cotton Blossoms," all singing the chorus. The play ended by the singing of "Dixie Land" by all. The play was very enjoyable and amusing. In appreciation of their services Mrs. Hardy and Mrs. Bonner were each presented with beautiful boquets of carnations. The city band gave several delightful selections before the concert commenced. After the entertainment refreshments were served and then the floor was cleared for dancing.

CLEAN-UP DAY AT FERNIE

(Special to The Daily News.)

FERNIE, B. C., May 7.—Thursday, May 8, has been proclaimed a public holiday by Mayor Gates to give the citizens an opportunity to turn out and clean up the town. A committee of the board of trade will dispense shade trees to any who will come to the block opposite the King Edward hotel and get them.

In the police court yesterday Magistrate Whimster imposed a fine of $35 and costs on A. C. Wilson for being a frequenter of houses of ill fame, and in the event of the fine not being paid Wilson will spend two months behind the bars. His chum, Henry Dalton, was also brought before the judge the same offence and sentenced to a or two months imprisonment.
