R. F. GREEN SECURES APPROPRIATIONS FOR DISTRICT IMPROVEMENTS.

TO SECURE ADDITION TO POSTOFFICE IN FALL

Government to Construct Wharves at Several Landings on Kootenay Lake.

(Special to The Daily News.)

OTTAWA, July 4.—In the final supplementary estimates brought down today West Kootenay gets the following;

Revelstoke Park, $23,900.

Telephone line from Slocan Junction to Slocan City, $6,000.

Wharves at:

Princess Creek, $6,500.

Graham's Landing, $11,500.

Farquhars, $7,000.

Cultus Creek, $6,500.

Carrol's Landing, $7,000.

Boswell, $6,500.

"I made the best possible fight for some protection work on the river bank just below Revelstoke," said R. F. Green, Kootenay West, today, "but I was unable to secure an appropriation at this session, as the minister of public works would not admit that work of this description should be done by the Dominion government.

"However, I hope to secure an appropriation at the fall session, as my contention is that the building of the government breakwater and wharf just above the point in question are the cause of the erosion, and the government has agreed to investigate.

"I was unable to secure appropriations for public buildings at Revelstoke and Trail or an addition to the postoffice at Nelson, although I maintained continuous pressure on the government for same, but they adopted the policy of no new public buildings in any small towns in Canada this year.

"I am quite confident I can get appropriations for these items next session."

PLOTS REVEALED BY RECENT RAIDS

Revolutionary Literature Being Forwarded to Winnipeg for Thorough Investigation.

WINNIPEG, July 4.—Revolutionary literature from labor circles throughout western Canada where raids have been made recently by the R.N.W.M.P. is being forwarded to Winnipeg. Consignments of documents and pamphlets have arrived already and are stored in fireproof vaults along with the literature seized at the labor temple and the homes of strike leaders.

A. J. Andrews, K.C., government prosecutor, asserted today that some of the seizeures revealed propaganda material of a very radical type.

All the literature is being digested carefully and classified and a report will be submitted to the federal government, and it will depend on this report as to whether any further arrests will be made.

An immigration court will sit next week to hear the cases the five aliens now in custody, on a charge of sedition and conspiracy. Fourteen men who appeared before Magistrate Noble this morning on a charge of rioting were remanded until July 8.

G.W.V.A. DELEGATES TO PAY SHORT VISIT TO VICTORIA

VICTORIA, July 4.—Several hundred delegates to the Dominion Great War Veterans convention, which has been in sesion at Vancouver, are expected here tomorrow on a brief sight-seeing trip to this city. They will be met at the boat by Major Gen. R. G. E. Leckie, G.O.C.; Captain Martin, superintendent of the Esquimalt naval yard, and by a large party of local Great War Veterans, and taken to the Empress hotel for lunch. Subsequently, after a motor tour in the vicinity, a reception in their honor in the government house by Sir Frank and Lady Barnard. The reception will be attended by Premier Oliver and Mayor Porter and a lengthy list of prominent citizens. The return journey to Vancouver will be made in the evening unless the visitors express a desire to extend their stay.

LABOR LEADERS DISCUSS ARRESTS AT WINNIPEG

VANCOUVER, July 4.—W. A. Pritchard, local labor leader who was arrested in Calgary in connection with the Winnipeg strike, spoke at a mass meeting of labor tonight in the Arena here. He said that individuals and organizations should conduct an organized protest against the arrests in Winnipeg, not to have the men set free, but to obtain for them "the same rights as before a British court." Joe Knight of Edmonton said that the trial of the Winnipeg strike leaders was going to be fought out on the prejudice of the master class.

A collection was taken at the meeting, at which the attendance was about 2,000, for the defence of the Winnipeg leaders.

WOMEN'S EMANCIPATION BILL DEFATED AT LONDON

LONDON, July 4.—The Women's Emancipation bill, which has been in the house of commons was defeated today. The motion to reject was offered by Major Waldorf Astor, and was carried by a vote of 100 to 85.

PARLIAMENT TO CLOSE MONDAY

HOPE OF ENDING SESSION THIS AFTERNOON IS PRACTICALLY ABANDONED

Compromise May Be Reached Between House and Senate on the Prohibition Legislation

OTTAWA, July 4.—Parliament this afternoon practically abandoned hope of completing business in time to allow prorogation to take place on Saturday afternoon. Nevertheless, scores of members who planned to leave for their homes tonight did so, but there are still a sufficient number in the capital to ensure a quorum in the house until all the business is disposed of.

The plan now is to wind up the work of the session by one o'clock on Monday. If this is done formal prorogation will take place at three o'clock on that day.

"Dry" Compromise

The deadlock between the commons and senate over the government's prohibition measure will reach its final stage at 10.30 Saturday morning, when there will be another free conference between representatives of both houses. There is talk of a compromise by which the government orders-in-council will remain in effect until November 11 or one year from the date of the signing of the armistice.

The most important bit of new legislation before the house today was Hon. Arthur Meighen's bill to create a chamber of commerce on the lines of the railway commission relating to trade.

The bill is based upon the recommendation of the commission which inquired into the cost of living.

Exception was taken by the opposition to the provision which gives the governor-in-council power to overrule findings of the board. It was pointed out, however, that in this respect the new board will be in the same position as the railway board, from whose judgments an appeal lies to the government.

Railway Bill

At the evening sitting, Hon. J. D. Reid's bill covering the clauses of the consolidated railway bill, which the senate declined to allow to remain in that bill, provoked a warm debate. The bill which is designed to protect the rights of municipalities in dealing with power companies, was criticized by Hon. J. H. Bureau, who asserted it would take away the vested rights of the Toronto & Niagara Power company.

Hon. W. S. Fielding said that the measure would treat the rights of this company as a scrap of paper.

Mr. Bureau moved an amendment in line with the action of the senate and the report of the railway committee of the commons, but it was rejected on a division of 61 to 40.

The bill was reported and given third reading. The session resumed consideration in committee of Mr. Meighen's bill respecting investigation and restraint of combines.

The combines and fair price act bill received third reading.

AIRPLANE HITS CROWD; 2 KILLED

People Had Surged Out Over Landing Field—Aviator Saw Them Too Late

MINOT, N.D., July 4.—Mrs. C. J. Fiske, wife of the former chief justice of the North Dakota supreme court, was instantly killed, and Ruth Stahl, of Minot, aged 14, received fatal injuries today when an airplane, driven by Lieutenant Chester Jacobson, crashed into a crowd.

A farmer received a fractured skull and may die.

The Stahl girl died in the hospital tonight.

Jacobson, who was not injured, said he tried to rise again when he saw the crowd had surged out over his landing place, but the people and automobiles were too close. The airplane swept against the tops of several cars.

The exhibition was part of the home coming celebration.

FOUR PERSONS KILLED IN ITALIAN FOOD RIOTS

ROME, July 4.—Four persons were killed today when troops fired on a crowd at Imola, 22 miles from Bologna as a result of demonstrations against the high cost of living. Newsparer despatches here report the agitation to be particularly strong at Bologna, Rovenna, Florence and Forli. Stores have been pillaged.

DEMAND 44-HOUR WEEK

MONTREAL, July 4.—Members of the builders exchange received notices from the building trades council, informing them that the eight-hour day and 44-hour week would be effective in all the building trades on Monday, July 7. There are about 7,000 workers under the jurisdiction of the building trades council. They will go to work as usual on Monday, but will cease work for the day after they have worked eight hours.

DEMPSEY HAS EASY VICTORY OVER WILLARD

FORMER HEAVYWEIGHT CHAMPION KNOCKED DOWN FIVE TIMES IN FIRST.

JACK THOUGHT HE HAD WON AT END OF ROUND

Jess' Right Eye Was Closed; Cheek Swollen and Blue and He Was Covered With Blood at Finish.

TOLEDO, July 4.—By virtue of one of the most one-sided battles which ever decided a big fistic event, Jack Dempsey may now wish to be known by his full name of William Morrisson Dempsey today, because he became the world's champion heavyweight boxer. To all intents he whipped the huge Jess Willard, favorite in the meagre betting, in one round. Dempsey thought the referee had announced him winner and actually left the ring, but he was called back and the butchery continued for two rounds more, when Willard, sitting in his corner with a bewildered look on his swollen countenance, failed to respond to the gong for the fourth round.

"It was no use to continue," said the ex-champion. "My strength went from me in the first round."

Most Surprised Man.

He sat there apparently the most surprised man in the United States at the moment. His right eye was closed and his right cheek swollen and blue with bruises. Blood covered his body and his arms hung so helplessly over the ropes that it seemed as if a child might give him further abuse without arousing his interest.

Dempsey was breathing hard when the fight ended, but it was from exertion and not from punishment. He escaped almost unhurt, but as he had been using his arms like trip hammers on the anatomy of his opponent in a sun that sent the thermometer to 110 degrees, his heart was still pumping at high pressure and he appreciated the breathing spell.

Willard Down Five Times.

In the first few seconds of the contest it looked as if the experts who had been assigned to keep account of the blows struck might come measurably close to doing so, but it was only for a fraction of a moment. After that the experts did well to count Jack's blows, let alone take note of how each was made. The challenger knocked the big fellow down five times in the first round and had him hanging helplessly on the ropes or draped over his own shoulders most of the time. When he was not taking advantage of the count the crowd thought the fight was over in that round.

Willard was down for the fifth time and the contest was apparently about to end when the gong sounded. It was a modest gong which could not make itself heard before so many people, and even Dempsey did not get it. He crawled through the ropes and was headed out on the shoulers of enthu*siastic fans when the truth was broken* to him.

Such fighting as the Kansas ranchman produced was placed on exhibition at the outset.

Never in Doubt

RINGSIDE, TOLEDO ARENA, July 4.—Jack Dempsey, in three bloody rounds in which the issue was never in doubt, attained the world's premier fistic honors by defeating Jesse Willard. In the first round Dempsey sent home a dandy blow from which the big fellow never recovered.

The gong alone saved him from defeat in this round, with swollen eyes.

Dempsey thought he had won when the gong sounded, and had to be brought into the ring.

Willard, towering above his antagonist like a lighthouse over a tug, acted like a sick man.

He was beaten, and knew it.

There were cries of "Stop it, stop it, it's murder."

Jess managed to last out the third round and sank into his corner, where he was given aromatic spirits of ammonia. He tried to smile and then his seconds surrendered the match.

Willard Admits Defeat

After the fight Willard said: "In the first round when Dempsey hit me with a left hook I tried hard to continue, but I was rapidly losing my strength. My eye was closed at the end of the third round, and I realized that it would be useless for me to continue as I could hardly see. It is hard to admit defeat, but Dempsey is the hardest puncher I ever faced."

Jack Kearns, manager for the new champion, said: "Jack is a real cham*pion. He knocked Willard out twice.* They gave us the fight in the first round, then brought us back with the bell, and Jack got him again in the third. Dempsey will be a popular champion."

Hated to Hit Willard

Dempsey said, "I told you I would knock him out in the first round, and to all intents and purposes that is what I did. He took a lot of punishment in the last two rounds, but was soon so feeble that I hated to have to hit him."

STORY OF BIG FIGHT AS WRITTEN AT THE RINGSIDE

RINGSIDE IN TOLEDO, July 4.—The weather is ideal and the championship contest arranged by Tex. Rickard could not be better for the occasion. Temperature is 98 in the shade.

WOULD MAKE CANADA LAND OF THEIR DREAMS

VANCOUVER, July 4.—"Overseas we used frequently to hear that song, 'There's a Long, Long Trail Awinding, to the Land of My Dreams.'

"The Great War Veterans are determined that this Dominion of ours shall be the land of our dreams, the land we have hoped for, the land we are prepared to live and strive for. We realize that it is no easy road we have to travel that will bring us to our goal. Through iron sacrifice of body, will and soul alone can we reach it. There is but one road." These were the concluding words of an inspiring address to the Canadian club luncheon today tendered by the president of the Dominion executive of the G. W. V. A. of Canada.

VETERANS' WOULD REMOVE LOUGHEED

RESOLUTION IS PASSED AT CONVENTION AND FORWARDED TO PREMIER

Status For Active Membership in Association to Remain—Action Against Profiteers Urged

VANCOUVER, July 4.—Status for active membership in the Great War Veterans' association will remain as at present, according to a decision reached this morning at the convention which is sitting here, with the additional provision for taking in men who have seen certain service on any front and that portion of mercantile marine under control of the British navy.

The measures brought forward by Manitoba delegates, urging drastic action against profiteers, formed the main subject of debate of the afternoon session of the convention. Other matters of importance were the unanimous selection of Montreal as the meeting place of the convention for 1920, a decision of resolution were the vocational training, the disposition of surplus funds collected in Canada for war purposes and the sale by the government of swamp lands to soldiers.

At the outset authority was given to the Dominion executive to deal with the question of the recognition of ladies' auxiliaries of the G.W.V.A. as societies affiliated with the main body.

Oppose Lougheed

Delegates commented favorably on the report of the committee on vocational training and education. The resolution, which was adopted, opens with a request that the government remove Sir James Lougheed from the ministry of soldiers' civil re-establishment. This was wired to Sir Robert Borden with a request for speedy action. Section 7, passed without discussion, asks the government to make provision that soldiers otherwise disqualified by disability may be able to secure life insurance at cost.

Section 8 asks that the Imperial government send travelling representatives to Canada to deal with matters affecting pensions and allowances of Imperial veterans now in Canada.

The resolution asks that swamp lands within 20 miles of a railroad *be made quickly and easily avail*able for settlement by returned men who apply between July 31, 1919, and July 31, 1920.

The report of the industrial committee was much debated. When the first two sections pledging the veterans to the support of law and order and denouncing the attempted control of organized labor by extremists, had been considered, Comrade Batsford, of Winnipeg, asked that an amendment be made adding to clause 2 the following:

Winnipeg Amendment

"That this association is unalterably opposed to all capitalistic combines which seek to control the governing body of this country.

"That the Dominion government be urged to introduce a steeply graduated income tax to have the effect of restoring to the people all excess profits made during the war and that the British system of inheritance and succession duties be adopted in Canada.

"That the government be asked to introduce as soon as possible legislation which would make all war bonds in excess of $5,000 held by any one individual a part of the taxable income.

"That if the government considers the foregoing provisions inadequate to meet the needs of the G.W.V.A. should pledge itself to support even more drastic measures, even to the confiscation of wealth if necessary."

After protracted discussion of the proposed amendment, most of which was favorable, Comrades Batsford, Calder and McPherson were appointed a committee to draft the amendment in final form, the rough draft having been endorsed in principle.

BOAT HITS SNAG; MANY DROWNED

Excursion Boat on Lake Madison, South Dakota, Reported to Have Turned Over.

SIOUX FALLS, S.D., July 4.—Between 10 and 15 persons are reported to have been drowned when an excursion boat on Lake Madison, about 40 miles northwest of this city, struck a snag and overturned late tonight. Details are lacking.

SAYS DUTCH WILL GIVE UP EX-EMPEROR

SURRENDER WILL NOT BE REFUSED IN THE LAST RESORT.

PAPER SAYS THE ALLIES HAVE RECEIVED ASSURANCE

Demand Will Probably be Made in the Name of the League of Nations—Sovereignty Not Involved.

LONDON, July 4.—The Allies, according to the Daily Mail, have received assurances that the Dutch government in the last resort will not refuse to surrender the former German Emperor for trial.

The newspaper says that the necessary formal objection will doubtless be raised to maintain the rights of Dutch sovereignty, but as the demand for his person can be made in the name of the league of nations, national rights will not be infringed and there is no doubt that the Dutch government will be quite ready to get rid of the unwelcome guest.

It is not considered likely, the Mail continues, that the matter will come before the Dutch courts despite certain statements at The Hague.

The chief count in the former kaiser's indictment, the Mail understands, will be his action in causing violation of Belgium and Luxemburg. The proceedings will be conducted in English, but a translation will be made into several languages.

TRAINED NURSES ELECT OFFICERS

Bureau Where Special Nurses May Register is Proposed at Vancouver Convention.

VANCOUVER, July 4.—Miss Jean Gunn, of Toronto, this afternoon was re-elected president of the National Association of Trained Nurses at the annual convention here. Other officials elected were: First vice-president, Miss Dickson, Toronto; second vice-president, Miss Mabel Gray, Winnipeg; secretary, Miss E. Johns, Winnipeg; treasurer, Miss Davidson, Montreal; councillors, Miss Randal, Miss MacKenzie, British Columbia; Miss Wilson, Miss Manson, Alberta; Miss Jean Brown, Miss G. Campbell, Saskatchewan; Miss Gilroy, Miss MacLeod, Manitoba; Miss Strumm, Miss Hersey, Quebec; Miss Richards, Miss Dunlop, New Brunswick; Miss Pickles, Miss Bligh, Nova Scotia; Miss Potts, Miss Fairley, Ontario. Prince Edward Island is yet to be heard from.

Other business effected during the morning session was the reading of the report of the Canadian Nurse, which the editor, Miss Helen Randal, stated to be quite a flourishing concern which had grown considerably since its beginning two years ago. Miss Randal was congratulated by the association for the capable work she had done in connection with the paper which is now on a solid financial footing.

The Special Nurse

Mrs. Hannington, superintendent of the Victorian Order of Nurses, suggested that a bureau be established at the offices of the Canadian Nurse, Vancouver, where the special nurse, one with advantages such as languages, public health training, etc, could register.

Miss Stewart, New York, said that in the United States the Red Cross had instituted such a bureau during the reconstruction period, and Miss Gunn expressed the hope that the Soldiers' Civil Re-establishment Commission would have a bureau for special nurses but said that so far nothing had been done and in all probability this organization would only take care of military nurses.

FORMER POSTMEN DENY SUGGESTION

Inference Made at Ottawa That They Knew of Soviet Activity Repudiated.

WINNIPEG, July 5.—Former postal workers, at a mass meeting last night called to hear a report on the unsuccessful mission of the delegates who were sent to Ottawa, repudiated suggestions made in the house of commons that they knew the strike was in favor of a soviet system of government and repeated their contention that the strike was called for the purpose of getting people in favor of collective bargaining together. With the exception of A. Venables of Calgary, who has left for home, all the delegates were present.

RIOTS IN PRUSSIA.

AMSTERDAM, July 4.—Serious Spartanist rioting took place at Dortmund, Prussia, yesterday. The food shops were plundered. Government troops have entered the town.

GERMAN PRISONERS TO START FOR HOME SOON

BERLIN, July 4.—It is expected that all German prisoners of war will be on their way within a few days. The Germans held prisoner by France will be turned over to the German authorities at Cologne, Mayence and Coblenz.

Those held in England will be sent by way of Holland or direct by steamer to Germany.

It is stated that 20,000 German prisoners are remaining voluntarily in Siberia.

CANADIANS BACK FROM FAR NORTH

16TH BRIGADE ARRIVES AT RIPON AFTER SERVING IN RUSSIA.

Believe Fighting May Continue Indefinitely Without Tangible Results.

LONDON, July 4 (Canadian Associated Press).—Canada's very latest fighting soldiers have just arrived at Ripon bearing triumphantly the shell case of the very last shot fired by Canadians. This interesting batch of fighters consist of the 16th Brigade Canadian Artillery, which for the last six months has been assisting General Ironsides, commanding the fighting against the Bolsheviki in Northern Russia. The brigade sails homeward at the end of the month. Roughly speaking it was divided up in four sections.

This Canadian artillery has been assisting General Ironsides and his mixed command of British, United States and French, in operations over an area of some 200 miles.

The whole brigade at Ripon today looked very fit and was good humored and contented in spirit. Practically all the members are returned casualties from France, about 10 per cent being members of the original First Canadian Division.

Volunteer Force

It was purely a volunteer force, but most carefully picked. Among the officers are: Col. C. H. Sherman, commandant, Ottawa; Lieut. A. Wetmore, Regina; W. F. Edwards, Fegina; J. S. McCrae, Vancouver; S. C. Evans, Vancouver; T. H. Hungerford, Edmonton.

The brigade arrived at Archangel on October 20 and within three days they were engaged.

Officers and men attempted to give some account of their experiences, both of the country and of their enemy. They admitted the whole business was about as mixed as Russian affairs generally are. Bolshevists, they say, had guns of superior range to our men. Regarding this, it should be said that the British authorities were solely responsible for arming the force, the Canadians only supplying the personnel for the artillery. There was a notable attack by 500 Bolshevik against 50 odd Canadian artillery men who were holding a village. Fighting continued for nine hours and the Canadians were obliged to abandon their hold, but eventually recaptured the place.

January Battle.

In January there started a fierce desultory battle, which continued two months, the enemy numbering about 6000.

Gen. Ironsides' force of about 1500 included the 68th battery of Canadians. He was compelled to retreat sixty miles, bringing with him all his wounded, but leaving everything else. The Canadian force for this campaign numbered 22 officers and 900 men. The casualties during the whole campaign was one officer and six others killed and 20 wounded. The officer killed was Captain Mowat of Campbelltown. Col. Sherman handed to the Canadian Associated Press a pathetic little account of how he heard of Captain Mowat being near his end and managed to reach him and pinned on his breast a military cross which he had earned earlier in the expedition.

Red Morale Declining.

Col. Sherman said the bolsheviks were well officered and the men were good fighters in the earlier stages, but their morale declined very much when they began conscripting peasants demobilized from the Imperial Russian army. Other members of the Canadian brigade speak with wonder of how they found Germans serving with the bolsheviks, of how whole Russian forces ostensibly attacking with the allied forces suddenly mutinied, killed all their officers and joined the bolshevik. The enemy were never short of ammunition.

The Canadians, as already stated, think the whole business a puzzling mixup. They say the other allied forces are still pursuing much the same style of fighting in the same districts and as far as their judgment goes, this fighting may continue indefinitely without tangible results.

ORDER RESTORED IN ITALY; PRICES OF GOODS FIXED

FLORENCE, July 4. — Order has been restored in Italy everywhere due to the measures taken against the mobs which have been engaged in demonstrations, because of the high cost of living. The labor organizations assisted in bringing an end to the riots. The chamber of labor invited the people to desist from sacking. The prices of goods are now fixed according to the desire of the people.

WINNIPEG BRICKLAYERS STAY WITH INTERNATIONAL

WINNIPEG, July 4.—The bricklayers and masons' unions have broken away from the Winnipeg trades and labor council and will stand by the international, it was announced today at the labor temple. The bricklayers will not support in any way the One Big Union, officials of the union declare.

BIG DIRIGIBLE HAS CROSSED THE ATLANTIC

BIG AIRSHIP PASSED OVER NOVA SCOTIA LAST NIGHT

SHOULD MAKE LANDING ON LONG ISLAND TODAY.

Blimp Was Delayed Several Hours Over Newfoundland by Fog—Handly-Page Rises

MINEOLA, July 4. — The great British airship, the giant dirigible R-34, which started on a trans-Atlantic flight from East Fortune, Scotland, last Wednesday morning, and the Handley-Page biplane, which started from Harbor Grace at 4.15 o'clock this afternoon, were speeding through the darkness over Nova Scotia at midnight tonight, bound for Roosevelt Field here.

At 8.30 o'clock, New York time, the huge biplane, travelling at a clip of about 80 miles an hour, was reported abreast of the slower moving dirigible about 50 miles off Nova Scotia. At that hour they were about 850 miles from Mineola.

Two hours and five minutes later the speeding plane was reported over Antigonish, N.S., more than 150 miles from Sydney, far ahead of the dirigible, but apparently travelling somewhat slower than before.

At this rate the Handly-Page should land here at 10 o'clock tomorrow morning.

Barring further trouble with fog, which delayed the big dirigible over Newfoundland for several hours this morning, the blimp it was believed might land tomorrow afternoon.

On Way to New York

HARBOR GRACE, Nfld., July 4.—The Handley-Pagebombing plane, originally entered by Vice Admiral Mark Kerr for the London Daily Mail trans-Atlantic contest, started at 4:15 o'clock New York time this afternoon on the attempted non-stop flight to New York. Vice Admiral Kerr and his crew of three hope to land tomorrow morning at Mineola in ample time to join in the greeting to the British dirigible R-34. The dstance from Harbor Grace to Mineola is approximately 1075 miles, and the flyers counting on strong winds against them estimated the flight probably would take between 12 and 15 hours.

With favorable winds it could have been made in about 10 hours, as the big plane is capable of developing an engine speed of 95 to 103 miles an hour.

Besides Admiral Kerr who is acting as manager and assistant pilot, the crew comprises Major Herbert G. Branchley, pilot; Colonel Trigrove Gran, navigator, and Frederick Wyatt, radio operator. Despite the fact that the start was made up an incline the Handley-Page took off beautifully, being loaded with a little more than half its fuel capacity. The petrol tanks having a capacity of 2,000 gallons, contained but 1100 gallons, which was declared to be more than ample for the comparatively short flight to New York.

The machine rose into the air after taxying about 400 feet, and ascending rapidly, made a circle seaward. She then straightened out and headed directly into the southwest course selected for the trip, and in a few minutes disappeared beyond the horizon.

Direct Flight

Admiral Kerr said before starting that the course would be in a direct line over Nova Scotia and New England, only about 75 to 300 miles of the course being over water. The plane will fly at a height of about 3,000 feet.

Plans were made before leaving for the Admiralty station at St. Johns to receive messages from the plane during the first 250 miles of the trip. After this communication can be held through ships which are expected to picy up and relay any messages sent out by the plane.

Admiral Kerr said he hopes to be able to report hourly through ships in the Atlantic.

It was understood that if the flight to New York was successful the Handley-Page would fly to Toronto in the latter part of August to take part in an air meet arranged there in connection with the proposed visit of the Prince of Wales.

CALGARY'S NATURAL GAS SUPPLY ON THE WANE

CALGARY, July 4.—That the Bow Island gas field is playing out is the statement made by City Engineer Craig, following exhaustive investigation of the source of the gas supply of this city and other towns in southern Alberta. The gas company is now making desperate efforts to establish a new and stronger source of supply in the Barnwell field, near Lethbridge, but thus far have brought only one well in this district. They hope to bring in three others in the fall. If this is not done, President Coste said last night, it might be necessary to cut off a quarter of the gas consumers in Calgary.

FIRE AT REVELSTOKE.

REVELSTOKE, July 4.6—In the absence of the family, fire badly gutted the residence of A. Coueffin this evening. The house and contents are practically a total loss, only partially covered by insurance. The cause of the fire is unknown, but t is thought to have started in the kitchen.

ASK REVOCATION BY INTERNATIONAL

VANCOUVER THEATRICAL FEDERATION ATTACKS LABOR COUNCIL CHARTER.

Newspaper Declares Action is the First Move Against the One Big Union.

VANCOUVER, July 4.—The Vancouver Theatrical Federeation is petitioning the American Federation of Labor and the Dominion Trades and Labor Congress to revoke the charter of the Vancouver Trades and Labor Council. This step, it is declared in a local newspaper, "is the first direct move" against the One Big Union, and it adds that the petition is being circulated and signed freely by members of "local unions retaining their international affiliations."

The theatrical federation asks also that new central labor councils be formed in centres in Western Canada where the trades councils have shown partiality to the One Big Union.

It is stated in the same news story that participants in the recent sympathetic strike have applied for their old jobs at the Coughlan Shipyards today, and were required to show their union cards, and that all bearing membership receipts from the One Big Union were refused employment.

Those who proved their membership in unions with international affiliations were taken on.

RAIN FALLS IN ONTARIO CHECKING FOREST FIRES

COBALT, Ont., July 4.—Immediate danger from fires appears to have been eliminated throughout the district of Temiskaming by the rain which fell today and which was spread over a wide territory. The situation this evening, according to reports from the north, are greatly improved, but more rain is urgently needed.

Tonight the wind has swung around to the northwest and a sharp drop in the temperature has taken place. The wind remains high, but the overcast sky suggests further rain before morning.

The homes of some of the settlers near Timmins were burned and several sawmills in that district were threatened.

Iroquois Falls was seriously menaced and the flames had crept close to the town before rain removed the danger for the present.

A Chicago clothing manufacturer has inaugurated an airplane delivery, to serve dealers within a radius of 500 miles.

LEMON JUICE FOR FRECKLES

Girls! Make beauty lotion for a few cents—Try it!

Squeeze the juice of two lemons into a bottle containing three ounces of orchard white, shake well, and you have a quarter pint of the best freckle and tan lotion, and complexion beautifier, at very, very small cost.

Your grocer has the lemons and any drug store or toilet counter will supply three ounces of orchard white for a few cents. Massage this sweetly fragrant lotion into the face, neck, arms and hands each day and see how freckles and blemishes disappear and how clear, soft and rosy-white the skin becomes. Yes! It is harmless and never irritates.

MUST SAVE WATER, MAYOR POINTS OUT

Restrictions Will Have to be Put Into Effect in City If Waste Is Not Eliminated

Pointing out that wasteful use of water for spraying and irrigating was making it difficult for the foreman of the city waterworks to keep the reservoir full, Mayor McDonald stated yesterday that unless a marked improvement occurred it would be necessary to bring the water conservation regulations into effect.

These regulations prohibit the spraying of lawns except for three hours in the evening.

The mayor stated that he was anxious, if possible, to avoid restricting the use of water, but issued the warning that it would be unavoidable if waste were not stopped.

FRECKLE-FACE

Sun and Wind Bring Out Ugly Spots. How to Remove Easily.

Here's a chance, Miss Freckle-face, to try a remedy for freckles with the guarantee of a reliable concern that it will not cost you a penny unless it removes the freckles; while if it does give you a clear complexion the expense is trifling.

Simply get an ounce of Othine—double strength—from any druggist and a few applications should show you how easy it is to rid yourself of the homely freckles and get a beautiful complexion. Rarely is more than one ounce needed for the worst case.

Be sure to ask the druggist for the double strength Othine as this strength is sold under guarantee of money back if it fails to remove freckles.

PEOPLE LEARN IN MANY WAYS

Mrs. Hotall says that to make any kind of salad dressing, she prefers Pacific Milk to even fresh cream, because it makes it more smooth and gives a pleasant richness of flavor.

Mrs. Hotall learned this from a launch trip last summer when fresh cream could not be had. Now she uses Pacific Milk in all her cooking.

UPWARD MOVE ON MONTREAL BOARD

Busiest Day of the Current Year on Big Exchange—Substantial Gains.

MONTREAL, July 4. — Montreal stocks had their busiest day of the curent year today. The trend of the market was distinctly upward, some of the gains registered being of substantial proportions.

The demand for Steel of Canada was sufficiently urgent in the morning to send the price up to 76, a new high for 1919, but subsequent dealings were shaded down fractionally, the final dealings being at 76 1-2, a gain of 1 1-4 points on the day. Spanish River common advanced in the early trading to a new record at 43, closing at 44, a net advance of 3-4. The preferred selling ex-voucher 7, rose to 108 1-8, the highest in the history of the security.

Breweries common advanced sharply to 194 1-2, slumped off to 186 1-2, and recovered two points of the loss in the final trading, leaving the price 4 1-2 points higher than the previous day.

Canadian Cottons sold up to 85, a net advance of four points over the last sale.

Converters rose to 60, up 3 3-4; Dominion Textile gained two points at 116. Atlantic Sugar common rose to a new high record at 53 1-2, a gain of 2 points.

MacDonald advanced 2 points to 38. Canadian Car common and preferred gained 1 and 1 1-2 respectively.

Sales—Shares 31,920; bonds, $124,400.

BIG DEMAND FOR WESTERN WOOL

TORONTO, July 4.—Canadian Co-operative Woolen Growers, Limited, report as follows today on the wool market:

Western range—Fine staple, $1.70; fine medium staples, $1.60; medium staple, $1.20 to $1,25; low medium, $1 to $1.15; low staple, 75c; coarse, 70c.

Western domestic — Fine staples, $1.60 to $2.25; fine medium, $1.40 to $1.50; medium staples, $1.15 to $1.20; low medium, 95c to $1; low, 75c to 80c; coarse, 50c to 70c.

Market feverish, especially with fine grades. Demand for western wool becoming more insistent with the offers at variable prices.

Some houses appear to be purchasing heavily for speculative purposes, while others and many manufacturers believe present upward tendencies of fine wools are liquidating to speculating houses.

WINNIPEG LIVESTOCK.

WINNIPEG, July 4.—The receipts at the Union stock yards today were 300 cattle, 61 calves, 2149 hogs and 70 sheep. Cattle trading today was about steady, with Tuesday's market prices holding about the same. A few heavy finished steers brought $13.50, while the bulk sold from $9.50 to $12; heifers sold at $6 to $11.25; cows took easier, especially for the stuff that came off the grass, and prices ranged from $4 to $10; bulls also showed a decline, the best they could do being $5 to $7; oven, $4 to $8; stockers and feeders sold a shade better, but the prices were down, and stockers ranged from $6 to $8.25, with feeders selling around $7 to $9.50.

Veal calves and sheep were steady. Hog receipts were liberal and prices held steady to firm at Thursday's advance. Eleven cars of cattle went south and 23 cars of hogs went east.

THRIFTY, WHAT!

The schoolmaster was giving the boys a lecture on thrift and pointed out how squirrels stored up nuts for the winter. Then he asked for another illustration on thrift in animals, and one boy cried out: "A dog!"

"A dog? In what way does a dog practice economy?"

"Please, sir, when he runs after his tail, he makes both ends meet."

The master laughed and another boy said: "A bear."

"Well, what does the bear do?"

"He makes one coat last him for a lifetime."

FALSE FACES

De Smythe had been waltzing with his host's ugly elder daughter, and was in a corner repairing damages.

Here his would-be papa-in-law espied him and—

"D'you know," he remarked, referring to De Smythe's late partner, "That girl is the flower of my family, sir?"

"So it seems," answered the young man. "But it's a pity she comes off so, isn't it?" he added, as he made another vigorous rub at the white spots on his coat sleeve.

DIDN'T TAKE LODGERS

Hard luck had struck Smith a rearful blow. In desperation he took on a job to sell books from door to door. All down one street he went, without making a single sale. Then, turning the corner, he determined to try a new method. At the first house he came to a frowsy female answered his knock.

"Have you a Charles Dickens in your home?"

"No!" snapped the female.

"Or a Robert Louis Stevenson?"

"No!"

"Or a Walter Scott?" asked Smith, hope dancing momentarily in his eyes.

"No, we ain't!" said the woman sharply. "And what's more, this ain't a boarding house. If you're looking for them fellers you might try next door; they take lodgers!"

SNOW BLOCKS TRAILS IN BAYONNE DISTRICT

M. Ginsberg sent a party of miners to his claims in the Bayonne district last week to open up development work for the season, but they found it impossible to make the mountain trail, as it was covered with snow at the summit. They were compelled to return to Nelson and expect to start out in about a week's time. The mines, which are situated between Sheep Creek and Kootenay Lake, are considered to contain valuable ores.

TORONTO EXCHANGE.

TORONTO, July 4.—For the session preceding a holiday week-end, trading on the stock exchange today was fairly active. Prices were firm. Among the stocks to make net gains were Atlantic Sugar, ¾; Brazilian, ¼; Canada Bread preferred, ¼; Canada Car, ¾; Canada Steamships, 1½; Consolidated Smelters, ⅛; Maple Leaf, 1 point; Spanish River, ½, and Steel of Canada, ¾.

MINING REVIVAL ON SHEEP CREEK

Several Mines Which Were Closed During War Have Been Reopened This Season.

There has been a revival of interest in the Sheep Creek mining district this season, according to a mining man who has just returned from visiting the district. Mining men are speaking optimistically of the prospects ahead.

Already "Halfway House," the hotel at Sheep Creek, has been opened for business after being closed for more than two years. Several mines which were closed down during the war have been reopened and extensive development work is being done on them.

It is stated that the increased activity is due partly to the fact that miners are available now, who during the war were working in the mines which produced metals needed in the war. Now that the demand for those particular metals has slackened a great many are turning to mines producing other metals.

Among the mines which are going ahead rapidly are the Queen mine, Nugget gold mine, Bonanza and the Ore Hill.

ABOVE BOARD

Alfred was a kind-hearted little boy, though poor and rather ragged, and his teacher was much touched by his bringing her every morning a bunch of flowers.

Sometimes they were beautiful hot house blooms, sometimes they were only garden blossoms; but always they were a little faded.

Still, what did it matter, the kind thought that prompted the deed was the thing that counted.

One day the bouquet consisted of orchids, and the teacher was more puzzled than ever to guess how the boy had got them.

"Alfred," said she, "where do you get all these flowers from? You don't steal them, I hope?"

"Steal 'em? Lor', no, mum!" replied Alfred. "My father's a dustman."

The Hampshire boar, "Cotter's Choice," which won the championship at the Chicago International snow, was sold for $3000.

Two arrests for intoxication were made in Cleveland the first "dry" Saturday night, compared with 214 the previous Saturday.

STATE CONTROL OF PUBLIC UTILITIES

Lord Haldane Testifies That He Has Great Faith in Capacity of Selected Servants of People

LONDON—Before the British coal commission recently Lord Haldane went into the witness chair and in answer to questions by the chairman, Mr. Justice Sankey, said that, when he was minister of war from 1905 to 1912, he had very considerable experience of, and was responsible for, the organization of a great state department. He organized the Territorial Forces and provided for a very speedy mobilization in the event of war. Within a very few hours after mobilization troops were in France. The whole of the expeditionary force was ready in a matter of forty-eight hours.

Mr. Sidney Webb: Assuming that any such proposal as nationalization of mines were carried out, could you help us with regard to the proper relations to parliament. How could we keep clear of what is called political influence?

Need of Good Management

Lord Haldane: To my mind the future of nationalization—its success or failure—depends on the possibility of good management. Take the coal industry. You want as much coal as you have had, and more if possible, at reasonable prices, and it depends on good business men and a first-rate administration. Suppose you get a staff out of the business world, the minister must be a man who feels that he has only one thing to consider, and that is to make a success of the department entrusted to him.

Mr. Webb: It is suggested sometimes that we might not have the ringh kind of minister, and that he ought to be assisted by a council of experts. Can you say anything upon the relation of such a body as that with the minister?

Lord Haldane: The great thing is to get a really competent minister and leave him a full sense of responsibility, but, on the other hand, these ministers, as you say, are extraordinarilly difficult to get. If you could get a minister and such a staff, you might nationalize almost anything. I won't say everything, with impnuity.

The first thing essential is a really competent minister. Nowadays people are chosen for their powers of talking in parliamen' I know first rate men who have never got into office because they could not talk.

Importance of Selection

Mr. Tawney: Are you satisfied that in the public services, either in the army or navy or in the civil service, the area is wide enough?

Lord Haldane: No, I think it is not, subject to this, Mr. Tawney, the essential conditions must be knowledge and capacity. There must be no advantage given to the poor over the rich.

Mr. Tawney: But suppose we were organizing a national mining service, would it be important to draw capacity from the poor as readily as from the rich?

Lord Haldane: Oh, yes. I represented a constituency which contained a great many working miners for 25 years, and I have come across men who were fitted to fill almost any administrative post. All they wanted was the training and the knowledge. Some of the most eminent men in the army had risen from the ranks. Sir William Robertson was a most distinguished example.

Doing Well in Law

Answering Sir Leo Money, Lord Haldane said some men did very well out of law. He thought men would be prepared to serve the state at moderate salaries if there were a prospect of their becoming useful citizens.

Lord Haldane also told Sir Leo that, when he was at the war office, he published a ukase saying that when an officer made an application on behalf of a lady that officer should be required to clear himself of the presumption that i some way she had inspired it.

In answer to a question by Sir Adam Nimmo, Lord Haldane said that, if he were left alone, he could undertake to find a dozen men any one of whom would, if put at the head of a great department like the nationalized coal industry, and left alone, be able to carry it out.

Mr. Cooper asked whether the state standard of salaries would not have to be raised.

Lord Haldane: I favor good salaries. You get what you pay for, and it is equally true that you don't get what you don't pay for. That, unfortunately, is human nature.

Lord Haldane pointed out that a colonel in the army was not paid the salary of a rich man, but he had other compensation in the way of social status and glory.

"Glory of Popular Preacher"

"The glory of the popular preacher is very great," he added. "The glory of the successful politician is very great. He is sometime as poor as a rat, but he does not mind. He has got much more, and can dine with a millionaire every night if he pleases."

Sir William Slingo, chief engineer to the postoffice, said the acquisition of the telegraph system led to a very great development of the service.

Sir Leo Money: Do you find any difficulty in getting good brains for the state in connection with the telegraphs and telephones?—Not at all. He did not agree with Mr. Balfour that the American telephone service was superior to the British. The Americans would be content with a telephone service which the British would not have.

SIR DOUGLAS HAIG, THE SOLDIER'S FRIEND

In his estimate of the character and capacity of leading British generals, Philip Gibbs found fault with Field Marshal Haig for not possessing more personal magnetism. He was too shy and aloof to fire the imagination of his men, Mr. Gibbs thought. Only General Plumer, among the British field commanders, had a touch of that spirit that made Lord Roberts a born leader, although he admits that in the first great engagement of the British expeditionary force at Mons, Sir John French displayed it to a notable degree. The London Chronicle observer may have been correct, but to seem to criticize Sir Douglas Haig today in the old country would be rather a risky business. He is said to be the most popular man over there, and to be the leader of the British army in a closer sense now than ever he was before. He has revealed himself as the friend and champion of the soldier, as well as a man of statesmanlike vision. Should he decide to enter politics he would have a tremendous following, and it is not unlikely that he will place himself at the head of a soldiers' party unless the government bestirs itself with carrying out its repatriation plans.

Declined a Peerage.

Before the war Sir Douglas Haig was perhaps, of all British soldiers, highest in court favor. He had been called "Lucky" Haig for years, partly because of his rapid promotions, and partly because Lady Haig was the daughter of Lady Vivian, lady-in-waiting to Queen Alexandra, which was an intimation that royal favor or influence would be extended in behalf of Sir Douglas at any time it was needed. Yet it is this royal favorite who has almost publicly refused to accept any mark of his sovereign's honor until the government provides for his army. If he has not openly refused to accept the peerage to which he is entitled, it is at least no secret that he has done so. Sir John French, of course, is now Viscount French of Ypres, and Sir John Jellicoe is Lord Jellicoe, but Sir Douglas Haig remains Sir Douglas. The delay in elevating him to the peerage and giving him the usual London "triumph" was responsible for rumors that the commander-in-chief of the British army was at odds with the government, and the government had to make a contrary statement to allay public wrath.

V. C. Hunting Work.

Sir Douglas Haig startled not only England, but the English-speaking world when, in his first important utterance after returning home, he asserted that a demobilized officer who had won the M. C., the D.S.O. and the V.C., had tramped the streets of London looking in vain for employment. He declared that his men must have adequate provision made for them. This stirred up the various boards in carrying out their tremendously difficult and complex tasks, but Sir Douglas appears not to have been appeased, for he has been used to seeing more treemndous and dangerous tasks accomplished within a few days. It is known that he looks with no favor upon the policy of the government in paying out millions of pounds in unemployment wages to munition workers and others who were thrown out of work when the armistice was signed. He believes that soldiers should have first call upon this sort of help, for they ere risking their lives for practically nothing while those at home had high wages and an opportunity to save. The field marshal does not wish to deprive the munition workers of anything, but he believes that they ought not to be better off than the soldiers.

The Officers' Problem

The question of adequately caring for the soldiers and officers and men is more difficult than appears at first glance. To give every man his old job back would by no means solve the problem. Hundreds of thousands of men no doubt would be satisfied with their old jobs again; many thousands would find themselves unable or unwilling to put up with their old jobs. Sir Douglas is most keenly concerned with those men who were office boys or clerks when the war broke out, but who showed commanding ability and quickly advanced in rank. English papers are full of jokes about the private reverting to civil life and giving orders to his former colonel and major, who occupy subordinate positions. It is not al a joke though. We have heard of the brigadier-general who, shortly before the war broke out, had been discharged as foreman of a Welsh mine, because of his "inability to handle men." Is this distinguished soldier to be asked to revert to his former position as miner? Yet, the demand for brigadier-generals as such must be very limited. But surely it is the duty and it ought to be the privilege of the nation to take into its employ or find suitable employment for such fine soldiers. That is Haig's view.

Gentleman and Democrat

The soldier's opinion of Haig is voiced by an ex-staff officer writing in the Sunday Herald. He says:—

"A gentleman to the backbone, and no less a democrat—this was the opinion his men formed of him, and as the armies grew and the civilian element became more pronounced, his well-known simplicity and hatred of any approach to fuss or ceremony endeared him more and more to men who by habit and temperament were less inclined than the regular soldier to be impressed by a certain degree of parade and ritual. The story soon reached the trenches of his rebuke to a corps commander whom he found surrounded by a semi-royal bodyguard at a time when man power was particularly low, and his curt 'send away that circus,' reverbrated throughout the expeditionary forces. The test of the national emergency placed him once and for all in that special shrine of the people's heart that no more than one man in a generation is destined to occupy. The news soon spread from France of his coolness, his judgment, his indomitable will, and most of all, his consideration for his men, a consideration unalloyed by the general weakness of a Buller. The first battle of Ypres, in which his continual presence among his troops heartened them to their impossible task as nothing else could have done and was worth half a dozen of the artillery brigades of which they were then so lamentably deficient, set the seal of his popularity."—Mail and Empire.

LITTLE BOW RIVER DRY.

LETHBRIDGE.—The dry spell has completely dried up the Little Bow river, and the farmers are up against it for water for their stock. As a result, 300 head were moved out of the district. The farmers content that, according to a license held by the provincial government from the federal government, water could be turned into the Little Bow from the High river. In spite of the attention of the government being called of the state of the Little Bow the farmers complain that no action has been taken.

THE GRANTS FOR THE WEST KOOTENAY DISTRICT.

There is good news for West Kootenay in the supplementary estimates.

R .F. Green, M.P., who is always to be found hard at work in the interest of his constituency, has been successful in securing, before the close of the session, grants for the construction of a telephone line between South Slocan and Slocan City, which will give the Slocan district direct telephonic connection with Nelson and the rest of the district; and also for a number of wharves.

The wharves are to be constructed at points where they will be of great aid in the development of the mining and agricultural resources of the district.

Money spent in this way always brings rich returns to the district and the country as a whole, by encouraging and assisting in the growth of industry.

LITTLE DAVID AGAIN PUTS MR. GOLIATH TO SLEEP.

David, in the person of one Dempsey, has again knocked out Goliath, in the person of one Willard.

It's the old, old story. Goliath is big and brawny, with a reputation for possessing a "punch"—or should it be a "wallop"?—against which no mere mortal can stand up. Little David. isn't as big, but less summers have passed over his head. he also has concealed about his person a "punch" and knows how and when to use it. And that part of David which is not composed of backbone is filled in with ginger, pep, and an unquenchable determination to go in and win.

Dempsey went in and won to the confusion of the mocking Philistines whose good money was on Willard.

Thus does history repeat itself.

THE RUSSIAN BOLSHEVISTS WON'T WORK AS LONG AS THEY CAN LOOT.

The Bolshevists say that they are going to seize "the means of production."

They have done that in Russia. They have seized everything that is seizable—and proceeded to squander it in one grand old drunken sailors' carnival.

They have grabed everything that has already been produced, including the savings of all who have been thrifty enough to lay by a few thousand rubles against a rainy day—and have entirely quit producing themselves.

Why should a good Bolshevist produce as long as he can live on reserves of supplies and in the homes of the hated "bourgeoise"? Work? Of course not. It's much easier to confiscate something, as long as there is anything to confiscate.

"Hello, Slocan City."

"Pretty Yvonne" of Paris, who is said to have married eight American doughboys, probably liked the Yanks so well she wanted to marry them all.

Someone has arisen to suggest that De Valera, the "President of Ireland," is compelled to float a bond issue since observing the size of his New York hotel bill.

Germany continues to wail that it is a "Peace of Violence." What did Heinie expect after that decidedly violent war he forced on the world—that Premier Clemenceau, on behalf of the allies, would kiss him on both cheeks?

COLD STORAGE.

A Methodist centenary speaker at Ohio State university began an address to the students the other morning in this way: "Now, I'm not going to talk very long, but if you get what I'm going to say in your heads you'll have the whole thing in a nutshell." And he looked surprised when a roar of laughter followed his unintentional slam.

Lord Fisher tells of this blunt but amusing compliment paid to his country by an American admiral. It was at a dinner. Fisher had made a speech in which he said some nice things about America, and at the conclusion of it the admiral arose and reciprocated by saying: "It was a fine old hen that hatched the American eagle."

Husband—How do you like your new radium watch, my dear? Wife—It would be wonderful if I did not have to light the lamp every time to find my glasses.

AN EMPIRE TRADE FAIR

The proposal in London that an Empire fair be held in 1921 is one which will receive warm support from the Dominions and colonies. The Lyons fair attracted important exhibits from Canadian manufacturers this spring, but a great exhibition to represent the manufactures and resources of the British Empire would evoke patriotic support from the whole family of Britannic nations. Lord Sydenham, chairman of the British Empire league, in moving a resolution that such a fair be held, declared that in the reconstruction era the support of the outer parts of the Empire was an absolute necessity to the Motherland if she intended to meet foreign competition. While governments can do much to assist trade, the great bulk of business must be done through private firms, and one way to promote the business is to provide means of spreading information regarding opportunities throughout the Empire, and to exhibit samples of products. Lord Sydenham's attitude is representative of that of a very large part of the British commercial world. Before the war—as in the days when Joseph Chamberlain was denouncing the "Little Englanders" who could see no virtue or profit in promoting intra-Empire trade — many British manufacturers and exporters considered the markets of the Dominions and colonies of relatively small account. They had no bias in favor of trade within the Empire. Times and conditions have changed. As Disraeli prophesied about sixty years ago, the outer parts of the Empire have become a mainstay of Britain's power when other European nations are broken with heavy loads. But even now a large part of the British public needs education on the conditions existing in the overseas parts of the Empire. Many people in England still believe that wild Indians and wilder animals roam our city streets. The general British public have never had their eyes opened to the mighty resources of the Dominions. There is no doubt that a great imperial trade fair, with cheap rates and special attractions, would promote the objects which all forwarders of Empire unity and prosperity seek.—Mail and Empire.

"BY ORDER OF THE EMPEROR"

The "one responsible man" who sank the German warships in Scapa Flow is quickly self-revealed. Admiral von Reuter, whose rank should have justified the assumption that he was a man of honor, makes a confession that is a boast. He ordered the dirty trick; and the Berlin Gazette probably voices a considerable section of the German public in calling it "a handsome deed." In seeking and signing the armistice the German nation dened Admiral von Reuter's force as "caretakers." It pledged its faith that "no destruction of ships should be permitted before evacuation, surrender or restoration." Because a braggart emperor once ordered that no German battle ship be surrendered in fight at sea, this admiral foresworn flings off his stained sword, slinks like a burglar with jimmy and wrench and lantern to scuttle the ships that good faith, if he had it, would have held him to preserve—and glories in his shame. The destruction reported from Kiel may or may not indicate Berlin engineering of a wider plot. Except for the fixing of responsibility and punishment the point is unimportant. The nation that can chuckle with glee when "an officer and gentleman" in its service proves it a liar and holds its word worthless is a nation that must mend its sense of humor before it can regain the confidence of the Seattle Post-Intelligencer.

DAYLIGHT SAVING

Early milking under the daylight law is induced by the early running of the milk trains. A change of one hour at the present time of these should smooth out the difficulty of disturbing the cows, and bring Bossy back to her old schedule without repealing the law. The contention that a farmer cannot sleep in daylight is untenable, because thousands of his fellow citizens have accustomed themselves to the practice, and as a rule the farmer needs no extraordinary encouragement in the business of getting his sleep. The law, notwithstanding early prejudice before its merits were appreciated, has been of great benefit to the great majority of the people of this country, who now favor it and would be loath to lose its advantages. It would be regrettable if the farmers of the country succeeded in repealing it for the reasons suggested by some of their spokesmen—reasons easily obviated by a litle common sense.—Seatle Post-Intelligencer.

WOMAN SUFFRAGE IN AFRICA

Women in politics will have to be taken at their political value, and nothing more. There will probably be women politicians and legislators, just as there are women farmers; but it cannot be expected that the country will be swamped with either. Our women voters will have an important part to play, but they will play it as unobtrusively, and at least as successfully, as their husbands, sons and brothers. It is a fallacy to think that the married woman should not have a vote. If anything she is more entitled to it than the single, at least if she has children. If her politics coincide with those of her husband, this proves no more than a "compatibility of temperament' 'in the political as in the domestic sphere. The probability is that the opininions of the woman voter will influence those of the man elector as much as vice versa. Women who are such good managers in business and in the home may well be trusted with their share in the direction of national policy.—Bulawayo Chronicle.

PERFECTLY CONSISTENT

One thing to bear in mind is that it would be utterly un-German to adopt a straightforward, manly and consistent course in regard to the Peace Treaty and adhere to it without shifts and evasions and contradictions. In his present conduct as in his conduct just preceding the signing of the armistice, the Hun is running true to form. —Springfield Union.

FROM PRINTER'S DEVIL TO MANAGER OF A BANK, YOUNG WOMAN'S RECORD

From printer's devil to manager of a leading banking institution is the meteoric career of Miss Amy Roettig, of Buffalo, N.Y., according to an interview with her which appears in The Buffalo Commercial. Regarding her the paper says the following:

From printer's devil to advertising manager of a leading banking institution.

Sounds good for even a mere man, doesn't it?

It this case it is a young lady, which makes it more interesting.

Amy Roettig, in charge of the advertising and new business department of the Marine Trust Company, disclaims being a genius. She is, as a matter of fact, an exceptionally keen business woman, with good creative ability and equally good busines sense.

"Genius does not make for permanent success in advertising," said Miss Roettig, "nor is advertising the art that many people choose to regard it as.

"As soon as advertising is looked upon less as an art with a field for display, and recognized as a business that requires all application of practical methods of business that go into other lines of trade, its measure of success will be greater."

Miss Roettig is only 24 years old. She has been in the advertising game but five years. Yet she holds a position of greater importance than many men who have been at it for a score of years.

It was not luck. She has gotten where she is now by hard work, application and patience.

"I started as a printer's devil in a two-by-four print shop in Chicago," said Miss Roettig.

"Soon I was a woman of all owrk, setting type, running a typewriter, revising copy and even selling printing.

"Later I went to work as advertising manager for a man who was the terror of all ad. men. He had a strong propensity for swearing.

"The longest any man had worked for him was three months. I stayed with him nearly a year. It was difficult. But there I learned to do the impossible, if it can be done. I quit before he had a chance to fire me."

Miss Roettig's next venture was with a company where she gained experience not only in handling an advertising department but in conducting a financial department. Consequently, when she was offered the position with the Buffalo institution she was especially fitted for it.

Miss Roettig has a staff of about a dozen young women. Upon her devolve not only the responsibility of creating new ideas for advertising but all circularizing and, in addition what would be the dutes of a sales manager in any other business.

COOK'S CORNER

Salad Dressing Without Oil.

Ingredients—One dessert spoonful of minced onion, one dessert spoonful of chopped green tarragon or a few drops of tarragon vinegar, one teaspoonful of salt, half saltspoonful of cayenne, half pint of unsweetened condensed milk, a few drops of vinegar. Method—Pound the salt, pepper, onion and tarragon to a paste, add the condensed milk and mix well. Add about ten drops of vinegar. Stir gently but thoroughly.

Cream Puffs.

First part—One cup boiling water, one cup butter, one cup flour. Second part—Four eggs. Add butter to water and cook until dissolved; when boiling add flour, all at once, and stir rapidly until mixture does not adhere to sides of saucepan. Turn into bowl; allow to cool slightly, then add eggs, one at a time, unbeaten; beat well after adding each egg. Shape on greased pans and bake in moderate oven about thirty minutes. This amount will make eighteen cream puffs.

Pie Crust.

Three cups flour, three tablespoonfuls shortening, quarter teaspoon salt, four tablespoons sour milk, pinch of soda. Sift flour and salt together, add shortenng and work it into the flour real well. Put pinch of baking soda into sour milk and then work the sour milk into the above ingredients. If worked properly no other moistening is necessary and the pie crust will always turn out light and fluffy.

Tomato Sauce.

One can tomatoes, one slice onion, one teaspoon salt, three tablespoons bitter, three tablespoons flour, two dashes of pepper. Cook onions with tomatoes fifteen minutes; rub through strainer. Melt butter, add flour, cook together; add to tomatoes; cook until thickened; add seasoning.

Bran Gems.

Two cups white flour, one cup bran, two teaspoons baking powder, one large tablespoon melted shortening, one teaspoon salt, one tablespoon sugar, one or two eggs, enough sweet milk to make quite thick. Add eggs last. Whole wheat or Graham can be used also. And sour milk and soda make them equally good. Bake in gem pans in moderately hot oven.

CRAZE FOR CARVED IVORY IN LONDON

The latest vogue is a craze for collecting carved ivory.

"The demand for rare works in ivory carving has grown enormously of late, said a leading art curio dealer in London recently.

"Part of the fascination of this new craze lies in the fact that practically the history of the world has been carved in ivory in different periods, stretching down from the most ancient times.

"A large number of examples of carved ivory are in existence dating as far back as the fourth century. These have grown yellow with age, but are nevertheless perfect specimens of art and are highly valued.

"The price paid for specimens of this period varies according to the size, subject, quality of workmanship and the history belonging to a particular piece. In any case £500 would not be a large figure for one such specimen weighing about 2 oz.

"Later on, and dating from the eleventh and twelfth centuries, there was a renaissance of art in ivory carving, and exquisite specimens illustrative of the romantic period and such articles as caskets for jewellery, sword decorations, toilet caskets, mirror cases, combs and human fgures were worked upon by the ivory artits of that time.

"Coming down to the nineteenth century the Japanese entered the field of ivory carving, and their okimonos, or small carved figures, are now in demand.

"The prices now paid for Japanese ivory Netsukes vary from £3 each to £70.

"A small Japanese pieces representing, say, the 'God of Luck'—a tinker carrying a kettle on his back—is a good example of the thing that is sought after. A modern specimen can be bought for about £4, and an example fifty years old might fetch £17.

TALK OF THE TATTLER.

Fresh air is the best cure for colds.

Candy should not be stirred while boiling.

Unusual new vests are made of silk gingham.

Colored organdies are very popular for blouses.

A delicate graham bread is very nice for invalids.

Navy blue and cherry is a favorite combination.

The frilled lingerie blouse is gaining in popularity.

Water should be freshly boiled in making beverages.

A revival of the real lace collar is strongly suggested.

Oysters and left-over meats make delicious croquettes.

Organdie is used in trimming on gowns of soft silk.

The new frocks are still straight and not very tight.

High collars are not in favor. The open throat is preferable.

A good deal of crewel yarn appears in the fashionable embroideries.

Whiten your clothes by boiling a tablespoon of turpentine with them.

Bloomers are becoming more and more popular for the narrow skirts.

Princess Mary is devoted to music, and has been studying singing as well as the piano.

Lemon juice will remove stains from the hands and finger nails. Rub it on after finishing the kitchen work.

There is a fad of carrying a framed handbag made of the suit or dress material. The fabric is sometimes embroidered.

A kitchen sewing case makes a "different" gift for the engaged girl's kitchen shower. It is made of bright cretonne and fitted up with coarse thread for basting poultry, etc.

Just how anyone would want black lingerie is hard to tell, but that it appeals to some women is obvious from the fact that the shops continue to have such garments on hand.

In making cake, if the quantity of sugar is more than twice the quantity of butter, beat the excess of sugar into the egg yolks, then beat the two into the butter and sugar.

A shampoo can be made at home by shaving a cake of castile soap into a powder and boiling it in a pint of soft water. Put this jelly into a bottle and sprinkle a few drops of your favorite perfume in it.

To properly grate a lemon turn it around and around as you go, as this takes the yellow surface off evenly. You do not make inroads into the heavy white part. This is important because the yellow part contains the flavor. Begin at one end in grating the lemon.

IN AUSTRALIA.

In Australia there is a political situation which has points of similarity to the situation in Canada. The labor party came into power in Australia at the beginning of the war. At that time there were two parties in Australia, the labor party under the leadership of Mr. Andrew Fisher, who shortly afterwards made way for Mr. Hughes, and the Liberal party, led by Sir Joseph Cook. The Liberal party itself was a fusion of the former Liberal and Conservative parties, the rise to national strength of the labor party having forced the old parties to coalesce. After two years of war, the issue of conscription arose in Australia and it split the labor party in two; one section following Mr. Hughes and the other seceding under the leadership of Mr. Tudor.

As a result of this there was a fusion for the period of the war between the Hughes following in the labor party and the Liberal party. This coalition under the title of the National party won a general election in 1917 and has since been in charge of the affairs of the commonwealth. For the past year Mr. Hughes and his principal colleague, Sir Joseph Cook, the leader of the Liberal group, have been continuously in Europe; first in attendance at the imperial war conference last summer and afterwards as representative of Australia in the peace conference at Paris. In the meantime the party has been led successfully in Australia by Acting Premier Watt.

With the advent of peace it becomes necessary in Australia, as in other British countries, for public men who have cooperated under the necessities of war to decide what their future is going to be. Apparently in Australia there is no question but that the temporary national party will become a permanent organization. The division in the labor party has been so deep that a reunion of the two factions after the war is not practicable and Mr. Hughes and his following have no alternative but to make a permanent alliance with the more numerous Liberal party, either under that party name or under the title which has done service during the war.

Mr. Hughes' position in Australia has been thought to be precarious but it seems to be agreed that his very aggressive course at Paris has stood him in good stead and may ensure his continuance at the head of the government for some time to come. On two questions before the peace conference that of the adoption of the mandatory principle in the League of Nations and the proposition to include a recognition of racial equality in the preamble of the League of Nations. Mr. Hughes championed the viewpoint of Australia with an aggressiveness which was disconcerting to his British colleagues, but with results politically very advantageous to himself.—Manitoba Free Press.

BOTH POCKETS USEFUL

A bumptious young American farmer came to England to learn his business, but wherever he went he pretended that it was far easier to teach English farmers than to learn anything from them.

"I've got an idea he said one day to a grizzled old Northumbrian agriculturist, "for a new kind of fertilizer, which will be ten thousand times as efefctive as any that has ever been tried. Condensed fertilizer—that's what it is. Enough for an acre of ground would go in one of my waistcoat pockets."

"I don't doubt it, young gentleman," said the veteran of the soil. "What's more, you'll be able to put the crop into the other waistcoat pocket!"

CAUTIOUS

A man from the north of Scotland was on holiday in Glasgow. On Sunday evening he was walking along Argyll street when he came upon a contingent of the Salvation Army, and a collection bag was thrust in front of his nose. He dropped a penny into it.

Turning up Queen street he encountered another contingent of the Salvation Army, and again a smiling lass held a collection bag in front of him.

"Na, na!" he said. "I gied a penny tae a squad o' your folk roon' the corner jist the noo."

"Really? said the lass. "That was very good of you. But, then, you can't do a good thing too often. And, besides, you know, the Lord will repay you a hundredfold."

"Aweel," said the cautious Scot, "we'll jist wait till the first transaction's feenished before we start the second."

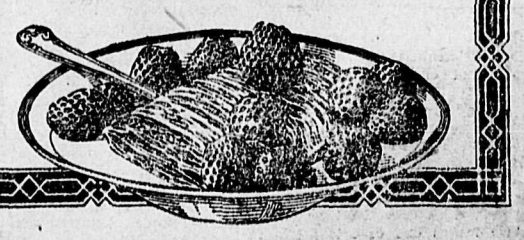
THE MENDING OF MEN

is an after-the-war job for surgical skill. The mending of a broken stomach is a job that calls for the intelligent selection of food. Shredded Wheat Biscuit with berries or other fresh fruits is a combination that agrees with the most delicate stomach. The tasty crispness and goodness of the baked whole wheat blends deliciously with all kinds of fruits. A nourishing, satisfying meal for a few cents.



The Grades of Diamonds

2

Upon seeing these slow-moving ribbons of earth (the huge belts with the diamond bearing clay), the mind instantly begins to speculate as to the contents. Will there be many diamonds, or any at all? Will all this trouble have been in vain? One thing is certain: Whatever diamonds are hidden there are of a great number of grades — from the very faulty to the pure and beautiful.

ELKO NOTES
(By Fred Roo.)

Jim Thistlebeak says: The Bolsheki don't want anything you haven't got, but everything you have got. When brickbats take the place of reason and a great big lazy goodfornothing delegate says, "Carry a union card take out an accident policy," things have gone so far that in self-protection the union must be temporarily laid low with an old-time coupling pin.

Among the salesmen, travelers and rain jumpers last week we noticed Jay Sharpe of Nelson, with pocket grindstones, left-handed monkey-wrenches and brass door knobs, said to be a successful salesman you must buy from a Scotchman and sell to a Jew at a profit. A shoehorn traveler from Winnipeg, wearing a hard boiled hat and a necktie we wouldn't be caught wearing in one of the Coal Creek mines during a total eclipse of the moon; got as much business as you could put in your eye, and see none the worse. Harkness of Toronto, a real Chesterfield, with drugs, chemicals, soaps and medicines, liquid mulligans, Jamaica ginger. John Bull bitters, iron water, a new nerve discovery that would fire a jackrabbit to going right up an slapping a bulldog square in the face; soaps, clothing, healing, comforting and pain killing; salves and plasters, good for aches and pains, bruises, sprains, sore necks and tender feet; 12 horsepower Magic Flakes, good for the hands, face, teeth, hair, dandruff and all skin troubles for man or beast, horse, dog and cat, struck the town during the great heat wave as cool as the proverbial cucumber with a jovial personality at all times. Jack McLaggan of Calgary, making his first appearance, and looks like a winner. Stanley Pratt, also of Calgary, a prince of good fellows. Stanley was for several years roundup boss on a kangaroo ranch in Australia, but quit it to sell Squirrel brand of peanut butter in Alberta. One man from Edmonton didn't know no more about the goods he was selling than a smoked sardine does. He seemed to be tickled with the scenery round here, but Jim Thistlebeak said it might be the horse-hair undershirt he was wearing. Help yourself to the pickles, for you are a dill if ever there was one. Bonnie Bert Sang of Cranbrook, with a load of good things, and told the ranchers at Baynes Lake its useless trying to raise calves on soapsuds, whitewash and sawdust, but that he had a stock food that would grow hair on a Mexican dog. Bert's smile is as contagious as a sneeze. Tourists arriving this week were Mr. and Mrs. Jack Gordon, Calgary; Mr. and Mrs. Kipp and family, Lethbridge; Miss L. Kennedy, Calgary; Miss Westby, Fernie; Mr. and Mrs. D. Beddard, Vancouver, going through to Clear Spring farm, Roosville, for their honeymoon; Mr. and Mrs. Sander and two daughters, of Travers, Alta., for the summer; G. C. Harrison and wife, druggist; Mrs. George Gates, Mrs. T. W. Harrison, Calgary. Said Elko had the best hotel between Calgary and Nelson. So say all the travelers and tourists. Mrs. George H. Scott and family, Nelson, going to Roosville; Charlie Chaplin, no address, walking delegate for the O. B. U.; no relation to the Chaplin that works for his living and makes everybody smile while he does it. Jones, the rubber man from Lethbridge.

A big crowd attended the garden party given by the Roosville school children for the benefit of the school funds, and a record crowd attended the dance in the evening, last Saturday, June 28, engineered by Miss Jennie Nichols of Creston, who is in charge of the school for initial education. It was a big social and financial success. Miss Nichols left Monday for Elko, where she was the guest of Miss E. May Roo, and left for Creston Tuesday, where she will spend her holidays.

Dempsey's 195. The estimated cost of staging the bout is $500,000.

Willard will receive $100,000, Dempsey will receive $27,500. The referee will be Ollie Pecord of Toledo, alternate Jack Skelly. Judges wil be Tex Rickard and Major A. J. Biddell; timer Warren Barbour.

At the end of the contest the judges shall give their decision. If they disagree the refereee shall decide. If the referee decides a foul has been committed or rules violated, he shall consult the two judges and receive their confirmation of disqualifying the offender or offenders.

New Mat in Ring

The eighty thousand seats of the arena are little more than half filled. The first actual sign of the event of the ray came when workmen tossed a new mat into the ring to replace the one that had been somewhat damaged by preliminaries and by an exhibition of bayonet, pistol and knife practice by soldier experts, with Major Anthony J. D. Biddle, who was also one of the judges of the championship bout.

The thermometer stands at 115 degrees, but a puffy breeze gives occasional slight relief.

James L. McLaughlin of San Francisco, who constructed the arena, and the superintendent and workmen have gone about tightening the ropes, smoothing the mat and sprinkling resin over its surface.

The crowd practically to a mar has moved into the nearer seats where vacant, leaving practically two rings of bleachers around the amphitheatre.

Dempsey First In.

Dempsey was the first to enter the ring. It was just three minutes to 4. He chose the corner with the sun at his back. Big Bill Tate, the sparring partner, kept the sun off the challenger with an umbrella.

Willard came into the ring a minute later. The champion was also protected from the blazing sun by a big umbrella. Willard was seconded by Walter Monahan, Ike O'Neill, Jack Hempel and Ray O. Ricer, his business manager.

Manager Jack Kearns was in charge in Dempsey's corner. He was assisted by Jock Malone, Jamaica Kid Dover, Jack Dyer, Bill Tate and Trainer Jimmy Deforest.

Archer examined the bandages on Dempsey's hands and watched Manager Kearns tie on the gloves. Then Deforest went to Willard's corner to inspect the bandages and tape and watched the gloves being tied on his hands. The officials were announced.

Bell Saved Willard.

Round 1—Willard landed the first blow, a light left to the head. The champion landed a right and left to the head. Dempsey hooked a left to Willard's stomach. Dempsey missed a left and right to head. Willard slapped left to jaw. Dempsey knocked Willard down with a slam to the jaw twice. Champion took a count of six each time and went he got up Dempsey knocked him down with lefts and rights to jaw. The challenger tore in and knocked him down a third time, flooring him with rights and lefts to the chin. It was the end of the round that saved Willard.

Willard Staggers to Corner.

Round 2—Dempsey rushed Willard in his corner, hitting his jaw with rights and lefts. The champion's right eye was closing from blows Dempsey landed. Dempsey walked around Willard carefully measuring him with rights and lefts to the jaw. Willard seemed dazed. Dempsey put three lefts to the bad eye. Willard landed a feeble uppercut. Willard's eye was rapidly closing. Dempsey had to be called back into the ring for the second round; thought he had won fight. Willard staggered to his corner at end of the second round.

Dempsey Hammers Willard.

Round 3—Dempsey hit Willard twice with left to jaw. Dempsey sent right to jaw and left to body. Dempsey peppered lefts to Willard's jaw without a return. Dempsey backed the champion to the ropes and hammered him with left hand and rights to the jaw and body. Dempsey put a right and left to the head and had the blood streaming from the champion's mouth. Willard landed a stinging uppercut to Dempsey's jaw and Dempsey retaliated with a left to the jaw. The challenger was covered with blood which poured from Willard's mouth. Dempsey hit the champion right and left to the jaw as the bell sounded.

Preliminary Mills

The following preliminaries have been fought with results as follows:

First preliminary—Tom O. Boyle vs. Solly Epstein six rounds at 116 pounds. Referee, Tom Bodkins. Philadelphia, called the bout a draw which met with the approval of the fans.

Second preliminary — Whirlwind Wendt of East Toldeo vs. Wop English of Toledo Athletic club, six rounds, referee Tommy Noginly of Cleveland. Wop English knocked out Whirlwind Wendt in the first round.

Third preliminary—Tommy Long of Detroit vs. Johnny Lewis, Toledo Athletic club, six rounds; referee, Johnny Dunn, Cleveland, who returned from overseas yesterday. Lewis knocked Long out in the third round.

Fourth preliminary—Johnny Rose, St. Paul, vs. Battling Bellaire, Brooklyn, N.Y., six rounds; referee, Tom Bodkins of Pittsburg. Rose was given the referee's decision at the end of the sixth round. It was justly earned.

Fifth preliminary—Jack Malone, St. Paul Army Camp, was given the decision over Navy Ralston of Joliet, Ills., by Referee Lou Bauman of Cincinnati, 8 rounds at 145 pounds.

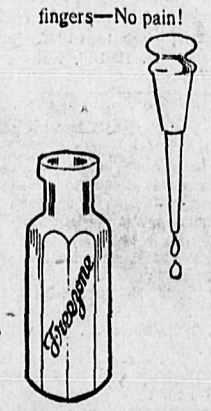
65,000 Spectators

3.05 p. m. — Approximately 65,000 spectators are anxiously waiting the arrival of Willard and Dempsey, who arrived in their dressing rooms at 2.50 p.m.

In the meantime aeroplanes marked "Toledo News Bee" and "Toledo Blade" are encircling the huge bay view park arena, expecting to take pictures of the principals, enabling them to fly direct to New York papers.

LIFT OFF CORNS!

Apply few drops then lift sore, touchy corns off with fingers—No pain!



Doesn't hurt a bit! Drop a little Freezone on an aching corn, instantly that corn stops hurting, then you lift it right out. Yes, magic!

A tiny bottle of Freezone costs but a few cents at any drug store, but is sufficient to remove every hard corn, soft corn, or corn between the toes, and the calluses, without soreness or irritation.

Freezone is the sensational discovery of a Cincinnati genius. It is wonderful.

NEW RECORD AT CALGARY

CALGARY, July 4.—Jules Ellingboe broke the Calgary track record of 1:07 4-5 for the mile today in the automobile races at the exhibition when he drove the distance in 1:07 1-5. The race was the big card today, but no other records were broken.

GIBBONS OUTPOINTED

KANSAS CITY, July 4. — John Smith, of New York, outpointed Mike Gibbons, of St. Paul, in a 10-round boxing match here today, according to newspaper writers.

15-ROUND DRAW

TULSA, July 4.—Earl Puryear, of Tulsa, and Bobby Hughes, of New York, fought 15 fast rounds to a draw today, according to the unanimous decision of sport writers.

STETCHER DEFEATS LEWIS

OMAHA, Nebr., July 4. — Joe Stetcher, of Dodge City, Nebr., today defeated Ed. "Strangler" Lewis, of San Jose, Calif., in two striaght falls in a wrestling match. Stetcher won the first fall in one hour and 14 minutes. He took each fall with 14 minutes. He tok each fall with a body scissors and wrist lock.

HIS SCENT WAS GOOD, BUT SENSE OF DIRECTION POOR

FAIRMONT, W. Va.—While on her way home from Lumberport, where she had been visiting relatives, Virginia Ash, 12-year-old daughter of the Rev. H. R. Ash of Montana Mines, near here, was stopped by a prohibition officer, who insisted on searching her suitcase.

Finding nothing but articles of clothing, the officer apologized to the little girl, saying: "I was looking for whiskey."

"Judging from the smell of your breath," said the little girl, "you must have found it somewhere."

TRICKED!

A traveller in the lubricating oil trade tells how he called upon a manufacturer, who had the reputation of being a large buyer, but a hard man to deal with. "I was very much surprised in consequence," he said, "at the kindly way in which he received men."

"'You interest me very much,' he said. 'Come with me to the workshop, and then you can better explain it.'

"He walked away hurriedly and I followed him, until at last he flung open a door. I was in the boiler shop and the din was terrific—a thousand hammers beating rivets at the same time. I saw his lips move, and by placing my hands to my ears, managed, with difficulty to catch his words above the deafening noise. 'Now tell me all about it,' he said. His sardonic smile as he said this made me feel, as I walked away that I could have knocked him down."

A GIVE-AWAY

A stylishly dressed woman entered the restaurant. The waiter handed her a bill-of-fare written in French and said: "Please mark off the dishes you wish to order." Could a woman dressed in the height of fashion confess that she was unable to read French? Taking the pencil, she made a few dashes, and the order read: "Dinner 2s.," "March 20," "Vegetables," "Please pay at the desk," "No tips." The waiter brought her a beefsteak and chip potatoes, but she did not dare to raise a word of protest.

Puddles in the holes in the pavement of a Kansas City street got so large that someone put up signs, "No fishing allowed."

WOMEN'S INSTITUTE TO EXHIBIT ROSES

Members Have Decided to Enter Competition Which Will be Held This Month.

Nelson and District Women's Institute will put an exhibit of flowers in the Rose Show which is to be held in Nelson this month, the members decided at a special meeting last night. They will also, in accordance with their yearly custom, have charge of a refreshment booth in the Rose Show building.

Those putting flowers in the show will compete for prizes given by the government. The prizes are usually in the form of valuable books. There is also a junior competition for junior members of the institute.

At the refreshment booth ice cream, cake and light refreshments will be served during the afternoon and evening, and at 6 o'clock a supper will be served.

Social and Personal

Mrs. C. H. L. Smith of Melita, Man., is the guest of Mrs. D. B. Lazier.

Born, to Mr. and Mrs. Neil B. Houston of Fairview, a son, on July 4.

Mrs. Hallett of Trail has returned to her home after visiting Mrs. D. H. Lazier.

Capt. Sidney Leary of Nakusp came into the city last night and stayed at the Hume.

Among the guests at the Strathcona last night was J. W. Sherbinin of Porto Rico.

Miss Halley Johnston, of Moose Jaw, a cousin of Rev. J. P. Westman, is visiting at the Methodist parsonage.

Born, to Mr. and Mrs. J. S. Galloway of Otulook ranch, a daughter, on July 4.

W. A. Anstie of the Forest Mills company came into the city last night from Revelstoke. He registered at the Hume.

The condition of William Mack is improving daily, according to reports last night from the Kootenay Lake General hospital.

In the police court yesterday Nick Imas was fined $50 and costs for a breach of the prohibition act. He was tried by Magistrate E. A. Crease.

The name of the Wood Vallance company was omitted from the list of those donating prizes for the trapshooting competitions on Dominion Day.

Rev. and Mrs. Bagnall and daughter Marjory arrived on the Kettle Valley train from Vancouver last night. They attended the Baptist convention at the coast.

Mis Florence Jordan, of the Kootenay Lake General Hospital staff, left last night for a vacation at her home in Edgewood. She expects to be away about two weeks.

TACOMA RACTS

SPEEDWAY, TACOMA, Wash., July 4.—Louis Chevrolet won both the 60-mile and 80-mile events at the Tocamo Speedway today. Ralph Mulford won the opening 40 mile in 25 minutes, 22 seconds. Durant finished second in the 40-mile race, with Chevrolet third. In the 60-mile race, Chevrolet led the field from the start and won in 36 mins., 47.1-5 seconds, or at the rate of 98 miles an hour.

Mulford, Hearn, Durant and Resta finished in the order named. Mulford was forced out of the lead and the race in the final 80-mile run with tire trouble. Chevrolet's time was 49 minutes, 19 2-5 seconds. Hearn was second and Durant third.

TO HOLD ROSE SHOW JULY 23

The Rose Show this year will be held on July 23 instead of on July 24 as previously arranged, it was decided at a meeting last night of the Nelson Improvement association. It was thought that the change would be to advantage as July 23 falls on Wednesday, the weekly half holiday, and a great many persons would be able to attend.

One of the attractions to be offered at the show will be a concert which will start at 8 o'clock. It was decided at the meeting to ask Mrs. G. F. Stevenson to undertake the organization of the program.

Volunteers to help with the decoration of the hall were appealed for at the meeting.

William Irvine will be in charge of the exhibits.

WEDDINGS

WESTON—WALTON.

The marriage was solemnized yesterday at 12 o'clock noon at St. Saviour's church of Miss Daisy Ethel Walton, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. R. W. Walton, of Proctor, to Thomas Weston of Golden. The ceremony was performed by Rev. F. H. Graham. Mr. Weston is a returned soldier. He was recently a patient at the Balfour sanatorium.

The bride was given away by her father. She wore a gown of cream satin and a hat of a transparent golden color. She carried white roses. The bridesmaid was Miss L. McVickar of Nelson and the groom was assisted by Douglas Male of Balfour.

After the ceremony the newly married couple, with a number of their friends, repaired to the Strathcona hotel, where a dainty luncheon had been prepared. The luncheon was served about 2 o'clock. The table was decorated with white roses.

Mr. and Mrs. Weston left on the train last night for their future home in Golden. Later they will proceed on their honeymoon to Vancouver.

Among their friends who were present were: Mr. and Mrs. Bennett, Proctor; Mr. and Mrs. E. A. Walton, Silverton; Mr. and Mrs. Heighton, Proctor; Mrs. Blakely, Golden; Miss McVickar, city; Mrs. D. W. McVickar, city; Mrs. W. S. McAlpine, Silverton; D. E. Male, Balfour, and R. W. Walton, Proctor.

$35.00 REALIZED AT TEA

About $35.00 was realized by a tea given by Mrs. W. R. Allan's circle of the Ladies' Aid of St. Paul's church yesterday afternoon. Mrs. Allan received the guests. Tea was served by Mrs. McLean and Mrs. H. W. Robertson. Roses and honeysuckle decorated the tables. Mrs. A. T. Park and Mrs. J. Richardson served ice cream. The bake table was in charge of Mrs. John Bell and the sewing was sold by Mrs. Allan.

While the minister was visiting one of his poorer parishioners, a very deaf old lady, she expressed her regret at not being able to hear his sermons. Desiring to be sympathetic and to say something consoling, he replied with unnecessary self-depreciation, "You don't miss much."

"So they tell me," was the woman's disconcerting reply.

THREE NELSON SOLDIERS ARRIVE FROM OVERSEAS

Three Nelson soldiers arrived from overseas on the Crow boat last night. They were Corp. Ross Dyke, Pte. F. Deacon and Pte. W. G. Mills.

Corp. Dyke was well known in Nelson musical circles before he enlisted. He was a member of both the city band and one of the city orchestras. While he was overseas he played in a Canadian band.

Pte. F. Deacon, before enlisting, was an employee of the West Transfer company.

OWES HER LIFE TO "FRUIT-A-TIVES"

The Wonderful Medicine, Made From Fruit Juices and Valuable Tonics.

MADAME ROSINA FOISIZ

29 St. Rose St., Montreal.

"I am writing you to tell you that I owe my life to 'Fruit-a-tives'. This medicine relieved me when I had given up hope of ever being well.

I was a terrible sufferer from Dyspepsia—had suffered for years; and nothing I took did me any good.

I read about 'Fruit-a-tives'; and tried them. After taking a few boxes, I am now entirely well. You have my permission to publish this letter, as I hope it will persuade other sufferers from Dyspepsia to take 'Fruit-a-tives' and get well".

MADAME ROSINA FOISIZ.

"Fruit-a-tives" is the only medicine in the world made from fruit.

50c. a box, 6 for $2.50. trial size 25c. At all dealers or sent postpaid on receipt of price by Fruit-a-tives Limited, Ottawa.

HEPATOLA

Owing to the confusion in mail orders of this medicine, we are advancing the price from $5.20 to $5.50, and paying all charges. This will give our many customers quicker service.

CANADIANS WIN IN BIG REGATTA

R. W. Dibble of Toronto Dislocates Thigh When in Lead in Big Event.

PHILADELPHIA, July 4.—Honors were well distributed in the annual Independence day regatta rowed over the mile and a quarter straightaway course on the Schuylkill river today. Philadelphia clubs won 10 races, the New York clubs three and Union Boat club of New York two.

R. W. Dibble of Toronto beat Jack Kelly of Philadelphia in the quarter mile dash, while in the championship single race Kelly defeated Dibble. The Toronto oarsman dislocated his right thigh bone after rowing a half mile, being slightly ahead of Kelly when the accident forced him to stop rowing. Kelly finished the course first and was awarded the race.

Dibble was injured in the thigh with the Canadian army during the war and the dislocation was the direct result of that injury.

The senior four-oared shell race was won by the Argonaut Rowing club of Toronto from the Vespers club, the time being 7:10. In the senior eight-oared race Undine Barge of this city defeated Argonauts of Toronto by four lengths in 6 minutes and 49 seconds.

AT THE THEATRES

FANCY, ENID AS EVA(

Enid Bennet as Little Eva! But only for a very short time—that's in "When Do We Eat?" her new Thomas H. Ince Paramount picture which is on view at the Starland theatre tonight And the rest of the story hasn't anything to do with Ice, or Eliza, or Uncle Tom, or bloodhounds. It's a real comedy drama of the Middle West—and it is filled with human interest, comedy, thrill and a little pathos.

JERSEY CITY, July 4.—Joe Lynch, the New York bantam weight, easily outpointed Charley Behrer, in an eight round bout here today.

THE UNIVERSAL PIPE

You never had such a smoke as you get in a W D C Wellington. There's no wheezing about it—no bubbling. The well catches all moisture and stray tobacco. It's just cool, dry smoke which comes up—away from the tongue—through the top opening bit. Look for the W D C triangle trade-mark. It's a sure sign of a French briar bowl, guaranteed against cracking or burning through. All good dealers sell Wellingtons, in all shapes, at $1.00 and up.

PROPER CARE OF BABIES FROM DOCTOR'S VIEWPOINT

(Contributed to The Daily News by a Nelson Doctor).

Have you ever watched babies in their perambulators?

Here is one; its little body is all covered up. Its mother says "It might catch cold," although the weather is scorching.

Poor little thing, it can hardly exist, it is so hot.

If it protests and cries it is gagged with a comfort. This thing is eternally put into its mouth. If the exasperated infant throws it on the street, it is picked up and stuck into the baby's mouth again and again.

A nice clean thing this comfort is by the time it has been picked off the street or floor several times.

To the careless mother the only point is to keep the baby quiet. Perhaps she is going to the picture show to "give the baby a good time," and baby must be quiet there.

Then what of the perambulator itself?

Very often it is far from comfortable. The child is made to sit straight up in a little uncomfortable seat, and, worst of all, many of them have no covers. If they have, they are not always used.

As a result the child is placed with the sun right in its face.

Do you like to sit facing the sun?

Try it and see how comfortable it is.

Keep the baby cool and keep it at home.

Do away with the comfort, and make the baby comfortable in its carriage and protect its eyes.

TWO PRISONERS PLEAD GUILTY, TO BE SENTENCED

Two of the men who attempted to break away from the provincial jail last Sunday pleaded guilty to charges in the city police court yesterday morning. The third man, who faced trial for being a party to the attempt to break jail, pleaded not guilty and will come up for trial again this morning. Sentence on the other two men will be pronounced today.

Earl Burnell, alias Charles Chester Duncan, pleaded guilty to the charge of assaulting a police officer. Russell Tierney pleaded guilty to attempting to break jail.

FLOWER PLANTING "BEE" TO BE HELD HERE SOON

An old time "bee" will be organized by the Nelson Improvement association to carry out the work of planting flowers at the city park at the street car terminus. The improvement of the park was thoroughly discussed at the meeting of the organization last night. The Women's Institute has asked the association members to contribute perennials for planting this fall.

BRITTON DEFEATS GRIFFITHS

CANTON, O., July 4.—Jack Britton, welterweight champion, easily defeated Johnny Griffiths, of Akron, in a 12-round no-decision bout here today.

ST. LOUIS, July 4.—Harry Willis won the newspaper decision over Sam Langford in an 8-round open air bout this afternoon.

"Know How"

It is of vital importance that the man who supplies your glasses knows how. It is a highly technical business—takes years of training and experience. An error of only two degrees may cause very severe trouble. You don't understand this. We do. It is our business to know how. That is why you should come to us to have your eyes examined and glasses fitted.

WE GOT 'EM
Fleming's Store
FAIRVIEW
Groceries and Dry Goods.

I've labored hard for twenty years,
To dry your discontented tears;
For "buzzards" you had bought real cheap,
Of goods that never saw a sheep.

My Anniversary Sale is on,
We're making Suits for every form
Of eager, searching, anxious men,
Who wished to be well dressed again.

When prices soared from earth to tower,
I raised your dollar's purchasing power;
So come on, men, its up to you;
And ladies? Sure, I mean you, too.

Now John would like to see the face
Of those old boys who went the pace.
Spring bottom pants were then the stuff,
But now we turn them up with cuffs.

And Coats, you think your coming fine,
With once stitched edge and high waist line;
But Coats of 20 years, I found
You full Box Coats, half-inch flat bound.

D.B. vests were quite enough,
Of checkered, speckled, spotted stuff;
Now single ones with great long points,
Which may in time reach your knee joints.

From first to last of August day,
John plans to rest in new mown hay;
So pick your suit; come, hurry, men!
You may not get the chance again.

To save $10.00 to $15.00 on the increasing high prices.
