CRISIS IN WINNIPEG IS BELIEVED TO BE OVER; SETTLEMENT IN SIGHT

UNIONS PREPARED TO CONSIDER STRIKE SETTLEMENT ON BASIS OF GENERAL UNION RECOGNITION AND REINSTATEMENT OF UNION MEN WHO JOINED IN WALKOUT—MOUNTED POLICE AND THOUSANDS OF TROOPS RESTRAIN ANY SIGNS OF DISORDER.

WINNIPEG, May 21.—Opinions expressed tonight by both labor leaders and employers indicated that the critical period in the general strike of more than 30,000 Winnipeg employees had passed and that a settlement of the differences was in sight. Mayor Charles F. Gray is making every effort to arrange for a meeting of union representatives and head of the iron industry here.

James Winning, president of the Winnipeg trades and labor council, has notified Mayor Gray that the unions are prepared to consider a strike settlement on the basis of general union recognition and reinstatement of all union men who went on strike. A delegation of 24 men representing the railway trainment today urged the provincial government to act as conciliator and bring about industrial peace as soon as possible. Officers of labor union locals declared tonight they were ready to discuss conciliation. There was no difficulty in maintaining order today when business concerns resumed activities. The strong force of mounted police on duty here and thousands of troops mobilized in barracks, has restrained any semblance of disorder. Hundreds of citizens have signed for vigilance service.

Efforts of city officials, members of the citizens' committee and merchants to obtain facilities for public convenience proved successful.

Situation Clears.

Despite opposition from strike leaders in some cases, and with the co-operation of the union forces in other cases, the city water pressure was increased, professional men were able to reopen their offices in the higher stories of downtown buildings; bread, milk, meat, ice and coal were transported about the city without interference; fire and police protection were begun by some merchants and Mayor Gray and the city council successfully forced their demand that the "union persuasion" placard be abolished.

Late today Mayor Gray issued the following statement regarding the improved facilities:

"The situation is cleared up and it shows who is in authority and who always has been in authority."

Union men at the water works refused to obey the city orders to increase the water pressure and walked out. Provincial engineers took charge of the plant and improved service soon was noticeable throughoue the city. Since Thursday, the light pressure was not sufficient to carry water beyond the second story of buildings which did not have auxiliary pumps.

The union committee in charge of the general strike approved assistance for more satisfactory distribution of foodstuffs. The same committee, after being divided on the question of removing placards which said that union permission had been granted for the operation of the carded activity, held a second meeting and acceded to the demand of Mayor Gray.

Criticize Civic Employees.

Union leaders and representatives of the industrial plants which have declined to deal with the unions, did not confer today. Mayor Gray said he had been informed that the "iron masters," as the employers were termed, had not accepted an invitation from the city solicitor to attend a conference.

It was stated at the city hall that the city solicitor, T. A. Hunt, had ruled that city employees who are members of unions and who had joined the sympathetic strike, committed a breach of contract with the city and that one of the points to be insisted upon in any plan of settlement would be whether Winnipeg should be safeguarded in future against walkouts of city employees in sympathy with the differences of other unions.

Government Maintains Order.

OTTAWA, May 21.—The government is taking strong precautions to maintain law and order in Winnipeg. In the senate this afternoon Sir James Lougheed, in response to an inquiry by Senator Bostock, made the following statement:

"There is no change in the situation in Winnipeg. No overt act has been committed. There has been no disturbances of rioting of any kind. The government, however, is impressed with the gravity of the situation and has taken all necessary steps to maintain law and order. It has within the city a number of troops, sufficient, I venture ot say, to suppress any rioting or disturbances. The 9th regiment, the 79th regiment, the 100th regiment, the 106th regiment, Fort Garry Horse and the 13th battery—all ... units up to strength are in the city and in addition there are ample reserves made up of civil units. In addition there are a number of Northwest Mounted Police in Winnipeg, including a squad just returned from overseas and is at present detained in Winnipeg pending the development of any serious disturbance. Under the circumstances I venture to say that with the force which is mentioned, the government should be able to maintain order in that city."

Senator Domville: "I do not suppose that the military forces will supercede the civil authorities?"

Sir James Lougheed: "Oh, no."

Senator Domville: "Not until the civil authorities cease to maintain order will they. Otherwise it will be a drastic measure."

Sir James: "They are there simply to reinforce the provincial local authorities."

SITUATION EASES UP AT TORONTO

Believe That Threatened General Strike May Be Averted—Committee to Meet Today.

TORONTO, May 21.—Hopes that the threatened general strike in Toronto may be averted are better tonight, as the strained situation between the workers and their employers began to ease up this afternoon. The representatives of the Canadian Manufacturers' association, who have been negotiating with a view of settlement, will meet a committee of the metal trades tomorrow morning, when it is thought a decided step toward the employers meeting the men on the eight-hour question may be reached. If the metal trades strike is settled, there will be an end to the talked-of sympathetic general strike.

Sir Adam Beck, chairman of the Ontario hydro-electric power commission, made no apparent progress this afternoon in his attempt to reach a settlement with the hydro employees on the Chippewa developments scheme.

The men on the Chippewa power canal demand an eight-hour day and 10 hours' pay. They made it clear that no matter what action the hydro authorities might take on the question, the eight-hour day without loss of pay must be granted if a strike were to be avoided.

DEPOT CANTEEN COURT MARTIAL IS CONCLUDED

ST. JOHNS, Nfld., May 21.—The depot canteen court martial was concluded today. Ingleton was found not guilty and a similar finding was recorded in the case of Lieut. Stockwell Simms.

Sergt.-Major J. W. Rawlings was charged with giving false evidence at a former court of inquiry. Counsel pleaded that Rawlings had only shown loyalty to his superior officers. No announcement of the finding in his case was given. His, as in the case of Lieut. J. H. Belyea, ended on Tuesday, and that of Major T. H. Rowe and Capt. G. E. Logan, ended yesterday and others heard earlier, is forwarded to Ottawa.

WAR COST BRITAIN ABOUT £6,700,000,000

LONDON, May 21 (Reuter's).—In the commons at question time Austin Chamberlain, chancellor of the exchquer, stated that the net cost of the war to the United Kingdom to March was about £6,700,000,000. Capt. Guest, parliamentary secretary of the treasury, stated that owing to the circulation of mendacious documents alleging outrages by British troops in Egypt, the police searched a room in the Imperial hotel occupied by the Egyptian delegation, and seized documents which the director of public prosecutions was considering.

No arrests have been made.

STRIKE PENDING AT EDMONTON

Unions Will Vote on Issue of Sympathetic Strike With Winnipeg—May Walk Out Monday.

EDMONTON, May 22.—From all indications, Edmonton may be in the throes of a general strike Monday. May 26, at 11 a. m., in sympathy with the striking labor unions of Winnipeg. At a meeting of the city trades and labor council Wednesday night at which 45 unions in the city were represented, there was undoubted sympathy with the Winnipeg strikers and a special strike committee was named to take a vote of all the local unions on the issue of a sympathetic strike, this vote to be returned by 3 p. m. Sunday, May 25.

YOUNG TURKS DETACHMENT CAPTURED BY GREEK TROOPS

SALONIKI, May 21.—A Turkish detachment, which at the instigation of the Young Turks' agents, attempted to resist the Greek troops at Smyrna, was overwhelmed and captured, according to an official statement issued by Greek general headquarters today.

The captured detachment was handed over to the British naval authorities in the Aegean Sea.

CHINESE USE BLOOD TO SIGN PETITION PROTESTING TREATY

TOKIO, May 21.—A number of the leaders of the Chinese students in Tokio, writing their names with their own blood have signed a resolution calling upon four thousand of the students in Tokio to return to China to protest against the peace conference decision in regard to Shantung and against the alleged ambitions of Japan in China.

SEVERE FIGHTING IN EAST GALICIA

Poles and Ukrainians Clash—Premier of Ukraine Declares the Policy of the Allies Is Insane

VIENNA, May 21 (The Associated Press).—Fighting of the most severe character is in progress by Poles and Ukrainians in eastern Galicia, according to reports received here from the district. Commenting on the situation, M. Holubowicz, premier of the west Ukraine, in a statement telegraphed here, said:

"The insane policy of the allies in supporting the Poles is responsible for the situation. The allies stipulated that General Haller's army should not be used against us, but it is being done. Premier Paderewski is making a threat of resigning because of being unable to keep his promises."

The premier's statement concluded: "May the blood of thousands of Poles in the Ukraine be upon the heads of those who are directing or permitting the attacks and the destruction of the Ukraine's hopes to be free."

Protest Advance

PARIS, May 21 (Associated Press).—The Ukrainian armistice commission here has lodged a vigorous protest with the peace conference against the Polish advance in Galicia subsequent to the Paris agreement, providing that hostilities be suspended. Premier Paderewski's inability to fulfill Poland's pledge to the entente, that the armistice will be respected, is causing much embarrassment to the allies. The supreme economic council discussed today the advisability of continuing assistance to states asking for supplies but fighting regardless of pledges.

Representatives of Ukraine and Poland appeared before the council of four today, but no decision on the situation was reached.

STRIKE VOTE AT CALGARY FRIDAY

CALGARY, May 21.—Wheels of industry will cease to turn here on Monday next, if the strike vote in sympathy with the Winnipeg strikers to be taken Friday evening is in favor of a walkout. Monday has been set for the strike to become effective. The hour of strike will be settled tomorrow.

The railway men are taking two strike votes, one on their own demands and the other on the sympathetic strike.

EXEMPT AUSTRALIAN VETERANS FROM COMPULSORY SERVICE

MELBOURNE, May 21.—Returned Australian soldiers have been exempted from compulsory service in the Australian army under the defense of the realm act.

Many of them, however, are voluntarily joining the special reserve being organized in the commonwealth.

FIRE SWEEPS PROPERTY; 1500 PERSONS HOMELESS

MOBILE, Ala., May 11.—Ten square blocks of Mobile's residential section lying near the river front, were swept today by fire which caused $750,000 property damage, left 1500 people homeless and destroyed probably 200 buildings. The flames were checked before reaching the docks and shipbuilding plants which lay in the path. Organization of relief is now caring for those who are homeless.

DENY GIRLS HELD ON EATON THEFT CHARGE

TORONTO, May 21.—Denial of the story wired from Thief River Falls, Minn., that a large party of girls from Eaton's store, Winnipeg, was held up at Port Arthur, Ont., on their way is made by J. J. Vaughan, a director of the Eaton company.

N. C. 4 FLIGHT WAS POSTPONED

Engine Trouble Caused Delay, But Trip to Lisbon May Be Made Today

PONTA DEL GADA, May 21 (Associated Press).—Lieut.-Commander Reed tonight announced that the engine trouble which caused a postponement of the flight of the N.C. 4 for Lisbon has been remedied. The plane will start at daybreak tomorrow, weather permitting, he said.

The wrecked plane N.C. 3 has been brought into the beach, where it is being dismantled, preparatory for shipment to the U.S. on the tender Melville.

Commander Towers estimated today that it would take 100 mechanics three months to put the machine into proper flying condition.

'HOLD OUT AT ALL COSTS' IS TROTSKY'S CRY

VIENNA, May 21.—(Associated Press.)—"Hold out at all costs," is the wireless sent to Bela Kun, Hungarian Communist leader, by Leon Trotzky, Russian Bolsheviki minister of war, in a new code arrangement by airplane, a week ago, so that the allies might not intercept the message.

"Keep on presenting a fair face to the allies, thus fooling them until we are in possession of Rumania."

Nikolai Lenine, Russian Bolsheviki premier, is also sending words of hope to Bela Kun. The Hungarian Red army has orders, it is affirmed, to burn Budapest and slay all hostages and then scatter to the four winds in case the attacks of the Bolsheviki army in east Rumania fail and also if the Czecho advance succeeds.

Geenral Franchet D'Esprey, who is in command of the allied forces in Macedonia and whose headquarters were transferred to Constantinople, has arrived at Urad from Constantinople for the purpose of directing a new attack on Budapest.

CZECHS RETURN TO BOHEMIAN HOME

Refused to Fight For the Austrians—Went to Russia to Fight Against the Bolshevists

VANCOUVER, B.C., May 21.—The Czecho-Slovaks, formerly of the Austrian army, who deserted to Russia rather than fight for their oppressors, and who later freed Siberia from the Bolsheviki, are returning to their homes in Bohemia. Shipping is now being gathered up with which to transport these great fighters back by way of Vladivostok and the Mediterranean. This was the report brought today by several Czecho-Slovak officers who arrived by the Empress of Japan from Siberia. The party is taking home to Bohemia the archives of the Czech campaign in Russia. With exhibits included their freight amounts to almost 30 tons. They will go by way of Winnipeg, Toronto and New York.

ASK NEWFOUNDLAND MINISTER TO FORM NEW CABINET

ST. JOHNS, Nfld., May 21.—It is understood that the former finance minister Cashin, who resigned yesterday, thereby forcing a crisis, which led to the resignation of the Lloyd cabinet, was invited by the governor today to form a new ministry and that the former is now considering the matter.

The cause of the cabinet crisis was a difference between elements composing the ministry. One section, known as the "fisherman's union," and led by Lloyd, was regarded by the other as trying to usurp control of the majority seats at the next election and thereby dominate the legislature.

The other, led by Cashin, desires representation on the basis of relative strength of the parties when the present parliament was elected 6 years ago.

CALL TENDERS FOR IRRIGATION WORK

Provincial Government to Start on 22,000 Acre Tract For Soldier Settlement

VICTORIA, B.C., May 21.—Hon. T. D. Pattullo, minister of lands, announced this morning that tenders will be called for by his department in the first week in June for the first portion of the irrigation work which the government will undertake in the 22,000 acre tract recently acquired by the province for the purpose of soldier settlement.

At the end of the present week, Mr. Pattullo and Mr. Cleveland, the department's chief engineer, will go to the dry belt to investigate the general irrigation conditions with a view to reaching a decision as to the best method of dealing with the whole situation.

TORONTO AVIATOR PLANNING TO MAKE TRANS-ATLANTIC FLIGHT

TURK PROBLEM BECOMES ACUTE

Fear Religious War—Believe U. S. Only Power Which Can Become Mandatory for Constantinople.

PARIS, May 21.—(Associated Press.)—The Turkish problem has become acute in the peace conference. Various delegations are striving to find some solution for the dismemberment of the empire which will not provoke a religious war. The United States is being looked to by the other powers as the only nation which can become the mandatory for Constantinople without the danger of precipitating another European war, but the United States deelgates to the peace conference express doubt of the willingness of the United States to accept the mandate, especially under the conditions which the powers have outlined.

With the sultan expelled from Constantinople, the United States delegates express the belief that it might be possible for the United States public to become reconciled to the mandate. However, the Indian delegation, which has appeared before the council of four to plead for consideration for the feelings of the Mohammedan world, as well as other Mohammedans, who have made statements, assert that the sultan must not be forced out of Constantinople, declaring that such action would greatly affect his standing in the church.

Consequently Great Britain is seeking to have the sultan remain in Constantinople as head of the moslem faith, but with purely spiritual powers.

It is now suggested that instead of transferring the sultan to a strip of territory somewhere in Asia Minor, that he remain in Constantinople, but be allowed to exercise a degree of temporal power over some territory in Asia Minor to be selected, thus preserving the form of the Ottoman empire.

RANHAM SENDS FOR NAVIGATOR

Captain Morgan Declared Out of Trans-Atlantic Race as Result of Accident.

ST. JOHNS, Nfld., May 21.—Captain Raynham, the British aviator, whose Martynside plane was wrecked when he tried to get away Sundoay in the wake of Hawker, today cabled builders of his machine in England, asking that another trans-Atlantic navigator be appointed to replace Captain Morgan, declared by physicians to be "out of the trans-Atlantic race" because of injuries received in the accident with Raynham.

The British airman also cabled that repairs on the broken Martynside, already under way, involved the virtual building of another craft from spare parts here without plans or specifications in a country lacking material or facilities for aeroplane production. Men familiar with only the general principles of construction are available to assist him, he said.

Fliers here tonight advanced but one idea to account for the complete disappearance of Hawker and his Sopwith plane. This is that the unfortunate little craft was forced into the ocean within an hour or two of its start and sank almost immediately.

Complaint continued today against the service of the British air force meterological division, which was charged with a five-hour delay in relying to this point storm warnings which might have caused Hawker to postpone his unfortunate flight until conditions were more satisfactory.

STATUE OF QUEEN VICTORIA COMING

Was Ordered by Province 10 Years Ago—Completed Just Before the Outbreak of War

VICTORIA, B.C., May 21.—About 10 years ago the province of British Columbia ordered a statue of her late majesty, Queen Victoria. It was completed just prior to the outbreak of war, when the question of delivery from the sculptors in England was held in abeyance until more propitious times. A cable was received by Premier Oliver this morning from the agent-general in London, in which Mr. Wade states that the Harrison line has consented to carry the statute to Victoria free of freight, free on board at the ship's port of loading. The steamer is to be free from all responsibility for loss or damage or injuries in transit.

VANCOUVER JEW COLONY PROTESTS MASSACRES BY POLES

VANCOUVER, B. C., May 21.—The entire Jewish colony met here tonight to protest against the alleged massacres of Jews by Poles, and adopted resolutions calling for a home in Palestine under British suzerainty.

GERMANS GIVEN ANOTHER WEEK TO DECIDE IF THEY WILL SIGN TREATY

ORIGINAL TIME SET WAS TO HAVE EXPIRED TODAY, BUT ENEMY ASKED MORE IN ORDER TO FORMULATE IMPORTANT ARGUMENTS—DECLARE THAT WILSON'S FOURTEEN POINTS MERE BASIS OF ARMISTICE AND THEY SHOULD BE BASIS OF PEACE.

NEW YORK, May 21.—The Associated Press tonight issues the following:

A period of seven days of grace has been extended to Germany by the representatives of the entente and associated governments, in which the German peace plenipotentiaries may conclude their study of the peace treaty and formulate such replies to the various clauses as they desire.

The extension of time, which originally was to have expired at noon Thursday, was granted at the request of the Germans, who advanced the plea that more time was required in order that they might formulate arguments of such importance and length that, were the original date adhered to, it would be impossible to complete them, thus the time has been set forward to Thursday, May 29.

Efforts made in Germany to ascertain even the gist of the contents of the proposed reply of Germany have been without reward. A report has it, however, that lengthy notes dealing with Alsace-Lorraine, the east German frontier, the territory occupied by the allied forces and the amount of indemnity and the method of its payment are to be dealt with.

Almost simultaneously with the request by the peace plenipotentiaries for more time, comes from Berlin a statement of the German cabinet that Germany is unwilling to sign the peace treaty. The document is a reiteration, although stronger words of the views of the foremost statesmen in Germany, that the signing of the compact would spell the ruin of the former empire. The old ground that signing the document, as it stands, would involve the economic destruction, political dishonor and moral degradation of the country is adhered to.

President Wilson's 14 points for peace are demanded by the statement as the basis of the peace desired, it being asserted that Germany accepted the terms and laid down her arms believing that they would be carried out.

Request For Extension

PARIS, May 21.—The request of the German delegation for an extension of time follows:

"Versailles, May 20, 1919.

"To his excellency, the president of the peace conference, M. Clemenceau:

"Sir,—The German peace delegation intends during the next few days to submit communications to the allied and associated governments on the following points which, in the eyes of the delegation, fall under the definition of suggestions of a practical nature:

"First—A note concerning territorial questions in the east.

"Second—A note concerning Alsace-Lorraine.

"Third—A note concerning the occupied territory.

"Fourth—A note concerning the extent and discharge of the obligation undertaken by Germany in view of reparation.

"Fifth—A note concerning the further practical treatment of the question of labor laws.

"Sixth — A note concerning the treatment of German private property in enemy country.

"Besides this, a syllabus is being prepared of the observations which are called for by the German government by the draft of the treaty of peace in its detailed provisions. The problem hereby involved bringing in part of a very complicated nature, and it having been necessary to discuss them extensively with the experts in Versailles as well as with those in Berlin, it will not be possible to dispose of them within the time limit of 15 days notified by your excellency on the 7th, although the delegation will take pains to transmit as many notes as possible within the time limit.

"Having regard to this, I beg in the name of the German peace delegation to move that the contents of the intended notes be regarded as having already been made the subject of discussion in writing and that the requisite time be granted to us for a more detailed exposition.

"Accept, sir, the assurance of my highest esteem.

(Signed), "Brockdorff-Rantzau."

Premier Clemenceau replies as follows:

"May 20, 1919.

"Sir,—I beg to acknowledge the receipt of your letter of May 20, stating that the subjects on which the German delegation wishes to offer suggestions are so complicated that the memoranda of the German delegation cannot be completed within the 15 days granted on the 7th, and asking in consequence for an extension of the time limit.

"In reply, I beg to inform your excellency that the allied and associated governments are willing to grant an extension until Thursday, May 29."

Bringing Notes.

PARIS, May 21.—Count von Brockdorff-Rantzau has asked permission for a special train to bring to Versailles printing presses and a force of workers in order to hasten the preparation of the German reply for presentation to the allies.

A general summary of observations on the whole treaty is in course of compilation, as well as notes on various specific points.

These notes will deal with the eastern boundary of Germany, Alsace, occupied territories, reparations, labor and German property in foreign countries.

The head of the German delegation fixes no specific extension of time. The apparent disposition of the French is to grant additional time.

PROHIBITION PRECIPITATED UNREST IN THE COUNTRY, DECLARES MEMBER IN HOUSE

OTTAWA, May 21.—The commons spent the day deliberating the methods of the government bill validating, with modifications, the order-in-council passed under the war measures act, relating to prohibition in Canada. The discussion took place in committee and was for the most part based upon an amendment moved by Hume Cronyn, which would have permitted the manufacture in Ontario of beer of a greater alcohone content than 2½ per lent for export to other provinces where its sale is permitted.

Frank criticism of bone-dry prohibition came from Dr. Blake, member for North Winnipeg, who asserted that there has been too much control of the action of the people and that "prohibition was the straw which had broken the camel's back and precipitated unrest in the country."

At the evening sitting Hon. N. W. Rowell spoke at some length in support of the bill, declaring that no one piece of legislation had been received with so many expressions of approval.

He asked the committee to consider what the situation in Winnipeg would be today with the bars open. Dealing with the matter of permanency, Mr. Rowell said that the government was redeeming its pledge to the people by enacting the legislation for another year. During the next year some of the provinces would express their opinions with regard to prohibition and this would have a bearing upon the situation.

After some further discussion Mr. Cronyn's amendment was declared lost and the bill was reported from committee. It stands for third reading.

The patent medicine bill is referred to a special committee of the house.

There was considerable discussion in the house when the bill came up a few days ago. Amendments, in particular, were made to prohibit the sale of children's soothing syrup containing opium. Today, Hon. A. K. MacLean, in moving reference to a special committee, said that a number of people had expressed the desire to be heard upon the bill and he thought a special committee would be the most practicable method of dealing with it.

Dr. Beland remarked that such a course might mean delay.

The motion carried and the house took up second reading of the prohibition bill.

There was not the interest displayed as expected. The chamber was only fairly well filled and the galleries were thin. There was no debate on the second reading and the house went immediately into committee on the bill. Mr. Hume Cronyn, who was the first speaker, said Sir Thomas White's position had been approved by the Dominion alliance, who were prepared to accept the provincial view as the governing view. He read extracts from the Ontario Temperance act to show that because of the law of that province liquor containing more than 2½ per cent alcohol could not be sold within its border, but it was possible to sell liquor of a greater strength to places outside Ontario. His reading of the legislation was therefore that while the province did allow the export of liquor of a greater strength than 2½ per cent alcohol, the federal law sustained the provincial law.

Mr. Cronyn suggested an amendment which if it is carried will allow breweries in Ontario to manufacture of a strengeh permitted in Quebec for sale in that privince. His amendment provides that any province in Canada may manufacture beer for sale in other provinces of Canada or in any other country where its sale is permitted.

Mr. Cronyn stated that although he was strongly in favor of the abolition of the sale of ardent spirits, he believed that the best temperance method was that adopted in the province of Quebec.

Dr. Michael Clark asked Mr. Cronyn if he did not think the manufacture and sale of beer as provided for in his amendment would not be a very im-

GERMANS GIVEN ANOTHER WEEK TO DECIDE

foreign ministers continued the discussion of the treaty of 1894, relating to Belgium and Holland. Johnker van Karnebeek, Dutch minister of foreign affairs, who has appeared before the council on the subject, returned to Holland today to examine the question with his government. At an early as date as possible he will resume negotiations at Paris with the council.

Assert Attachment to Germany

BASEL, May 21 (Havas). — At a meeting at Kaiserstautern, in the French area of occupation, more than 500 school masters and school mistresses of the Palatinate adopted a resolution asserting their attachment to Germany. The resolution also protested against any attemp to separate the Palatinate from Germany.

Still Delay Austrian Treaty

PARIS, May 21 (Havas). — The Temps anticipates that the revision of the peace treaty which is to be offered to the Austrian plenipotentiaries at St. Germain will be delayed for a few days. This will be due, the newspapers say, to the fact that the Italian government appears not disposed to sanction the new Austrian-Jugo Slovak frontiers, so long as the question of the frontier between Italy and Jugo-Slavia remains undetermined.

Austrian Delegate Leaves

ST. GERMAIN, May 21 (Havas).—Herr Landesterferger, financial expert of the Austrian peace delegation, left here last night for Vienna. His trip is said to be connected with private affairs.

Germans Send Another Note

BERLIN, May 21. — Count von Brockdorff-Rantzau, head of the German peace mission at Versailles, sent Premier Clemenceau, president of the peace congress, a note yesterday, saying that within the next few days the Germans would address a communication to the entente on territorial and other points, and were preparing a statement of observations by the German government on the draft of the treaty. As experts had to be consulted, the count's note continues, it will be impossible to get through all this work within the remaining time before the expiration of the 15-day limit of the German consideration of the treaty. He therefore suggested that the contents of the prospective note should be regarded as having been the subject of written direction and he requested a period be granted for setting them forth in detail.

Need Week to Read

PARIS, May 21 (Associated Press). —The notes which the German peace delegation will submit to the peace conference before May 29, to which time they are given to present answers to the peace terms, will apparently be so voluminous that the entente representatives will, without doubt, require a week for reading and consideration before they can begin framing a rejoinder. It is expected that there will be a new adjustment in the time set for the Germans to sign the treaty.

Being dismissed from various employments on account of some mental deficiency, Pat recently consulted a brain specialist, who, having removed and examined the contents of his cranium, said:

"These brains want to be washed and cleaned, and if you leave them with me for a day or two I'll make a job of them."

"All right, sir," agreed our hero. I'll come back for them at the end of the week."

He failed, however, to redeem his promise and, on receiving a reminder from the medico, sent the following note in reply:

"Dear Sir: Ye can keep me brains altogether. I've just got a government job, an' so did not want them any more."

I'll never forget the shock I received when a side show lecturer concluded his vivid description of the wild man of Borneo with "He speaks a kind of gibberish best understood by himself." The lecturer then "passed on to the next attraction," and the wild man leaned over and whispered to me: "Slip us a match, kid!"—Buffalo Express.

A Simple Way to Remove Dandruff

There is one sure way that never fails to remove dandruff at once and that is to dissolve it, this destroys it entirely. To do this, just get about four ounces of plain, common liquid arvon from any drug store (this is all you need), apply it at night when retiring; use enough to moisten the scalp and rub it in gently with the finger tips.

By morning most, if not all, of your dandruff will be gone and three or four more applications will completely dissolve and entirely destroy every single sign and trace of it, no matter how much dandruff you may have.

You will find all itching and digging of the scalp will stop instantly and your hair will be fluffy, lustrous, glossy, silky and soft and look and feel a hundred times better.

STOMACH TROUBLES

PROHIBITION CAUSE OF UNREST IN COUNTRY

moral proceeding, from an Ontario point of view.

Mr. Cronyn remarked that the manufacture and sale of native wine as permitted by the laws of Ontario might be regarded in much the same way.

R. C. Henders believed that very great profit had accrued to Canada through the passing of a prohibitory measure during the war. Now that the war was over the question was what was to be the attitude of Canada toward license. He thought the matter should be left in the hands of the province to deal with, and it might have been as well to have submitted the terms of the order-in-council to the people through the provinces. However, he supported the bill.

W. D. Euler expressed the view that the extremist in any movement was usually a greater hindrance to that movement than a help. He questioned Sir Thomas White, consistency, quoting him as saying on a former occasion that primarily this was a question for the provinces. If the present were war legislation then

Dr. Blake declared that the W.C.T.U. and other temperance organizations were touring the country on prohibition and a great majority of their members had never had a drink. Insofar as the province of Manitoba was concerned, prohibition had resulted in the establishment of numerous stills. At first, after prohibition came into force there had been a decrease in crime, but crime was now on the increase. This was probably due partly to the fact that people were drinking inferior liquor turned out by illicit stills. The people needed liquor and they were going to have it.

The influenza epidemic, said Dr. Blake, was a powerful argument against total prohibition. Whiskey was necessary for its medicinal value. Out in Manitoba, as a result of prohibition people who required liquor were being exploited. Some druggists charged as much as $11 for a bottle of whiskey. As a solution of the problem, Dr. Blake suggested the establishment of liquor stores under government control, where nothing but the best liquor would be sold. The important thing, he said, was to control the traffic. Compulsory prohibition would never be a success.

Dr. H. Twidden thought that the bill before the house met the development sentiment of intelligent people with regard to a passion which had grown out of barbaric instinct. He did not, he said, think it necessary to spend any time in discussing the type of prohibition.

The government had placed before the house an accurate proposition to meet the situation for a year. Dr. Twidden stated that the feeling in Manitoba was that prohibition had been a failure. He supported the bill as one which would tend to the general advancement and growth of intelligent people.

G. B. Nicholson took the ground that the attitude of working men toward prohibition was misrepresented. An organized effort, he declared, had been made to give the impression that working men were opposed to prohibition and in favor of liquor traffic, the logical thing to do was to revert to pre-war conditions and let the provinces decide for themselves.

Samuel Charters, of Peel, thought the enforcement of a prohibitory law had resulted in greater benefit to the Canadian people than any other war measure.

Dr. Clark, Red Deer, favored the bill. He could not, he said, support giving extra facilities for the use of intoxicating liquors during the first period of re-construction. The government was perfectly justified in acting as it had acted as a war measure. But Dr. Clark did not think that the question could remain where it was. He thought the fair thing to do was to have the voice of the entire Canadian people taken at the end of the year to which the bill applied.

Mr. Middleboro said that if the amendment carried there would be the spectacle of breweries being set up in the province of Ontario, manufacturing beer of seven or eight different strengths.

Dr. Blake, Winnipeg North, said that the liquor traffic would not be stamped out by order-in-council on prohibition. The control of the liquor traffic could not be achieved suddenly. A reasonable compromise was needed.

Dr. Blake was convinced that much of the industrial unrest was due to restraints put upon the people by the war. The war itself was a matter of great restraint. There had been food control and other controls, and he believed that prohibition was the straw which had broken the camel's back and precipitated unrest in the country. In his view tea and tobacco were doing more harm in the land today to the mentality and physical condition of the people than liquor was doing because they were more generally used.

R. L. Richardson said the success of the temperance movement in Manitoba had been one of the most profound benefits ever bestowed upon the people of that province. Crime in Manitoba had been cut down 80 per cent and he believed that the people of the province were overwhelmingly in favor of prohibition. He hoped that the bar would never again be allowed to get a footing in Canada.

Hon N. W. Rowell reviewed the temperance act passed in the different provinces. He said that the Ontario Temperance act passed without one dissenting vote. He added that he, himself, was satisfied that when the question was submitted to the people, the answer would be a conclusive negative against discontinuance of the legislation.

Mr. Rowell spoke of the conditions when the order was passed by the Dominion government prohibiting importation, manufacture and interprovincial transporeation. Had the Dominion government undertaken to change the definition of alcoholic contents it would have been overriding provincial legislation in all provinces. Further, had the Dominion government undertaken to deal with the sale, the Dominion legislation would have superseded provincial legislation.

KASLO PIONEER FOUND HIS GUN GOOD COLLECTOR

Sidney Norman Tells of Incident of Early Days in Main Lake Metropolis

(By Sidney Norman in Mining Truth)

Joe Davis was from the "Show-me" state. He was long and gaunt, though well built. He took his "likker" straight, and quite frequently, but in the hills he was a goin' hound and a mighty good judge of prospect and such. He could hit a single-jack with the best of 'em and mine timbering was his second name. Withal, he was gentleness itself, almost docile, except at infrequent times when his dander was up and then his acquaintances knew him well enough to steer clear till the storm had passed.

Joe was among the early Coeur d'Alene emigrants to British Columbia, which then centred around Kaslo, the beautiful boom town on the west shore of Kootenay Lake, conjured up like a mushroom overnight at the signal of Eli Carpenter, who had found fabulously rich galena at the headwaters of Carpenter creek, on Payne mountain. Naturally, Joe fell in with other adventurers from the Idaho camp and became one of a depredatory band of amiable ruffians, led by Jack Lucey, who mistook practical joking for the highest order of humor and horseplay for the gentle attentions of friendship.

Some of the deviltry had been squeezed from the crowd in the never-to-be-forgotten day of early 1893, when the bottom dropped out of silver with a loud bang and hundreds of dreamland millionaires lay sprawling upon their financial backs. Jack Lucey was among them; also poor Joe, who, however, never claimed a million in sight and would have sold any time for a reasonable chunk of real cash.

Old-timers will remember the Burke Bank & Trust company, organized by the late Col. John M. Burke, "from Kentucky, sah!" the most picturesque character that ever footed a brass rail, played a busted flush, or bonded a prospect in the Slocan district. In parenthesis, it might be hinted that he did all three quite regularly, though neither of the first two often enough to spoil the immaculate sartorial elegance of the real southern gentleman. It used to be his boast that he could not be bluffed.

Jack Piggott was cashier of the aforesaid banking institution and it did a rushing business for the few months of its existence. Then it "busted"—high and quite dry—and Jack Pigott tarried not for the irregular passenger boats that plied upon the lake, but hired unto himself a convenient row boat and hied him to the other side of the boundary line. Colonel John was already in Spokane, seeking financial succor among friends who were quite as broke as he.

I shall never forget that bright spring morning when news of the catastrophe flew around the deserted streets of Kaslo. The population hurried not to its morning repast. There was plenty to do at night and mighty little in the day time, so a large part of the citizenship attended the Comique variety theatre until the ladies were too exhausted to entertain them longer and then sought the hay till noon time. I was up early that morning. I don't know why and I don't suppose it matters much for the purpose of this story. I had passed the night in Charlie Bishop's bachelor quarters in George Mimelly's building, a little below the Comique and on the other side of the street. George was standing on the sidewalk outside his little fruit store, so I hailed him heartily and asked the news.

"Nothing much," yelled George in a loud voice, "only Burke's bank's busted."

"My gawd," shrieked someone in a high-pitched voice and as I looked across to the other bay window on the same floor, I beheld the tousled head of one of the most beautiful entertainers of the Comique. It must be admitted that she did not look quite as well in the early morning as she had appeared the night before, but she was considerably more earnest and infinitely more entertaining at that.

"My gawd; and all the money I have in the world—$300—in it."

And then she went into a very realistic spasm of hysterics. Luckily the antedote was handy in those early days of Kaslo and within a reasonable time the agitated lady had discarded hysterics for a very pronounced jag. How she finally got out of town I don't know, but as walking was not an attractive occupation in that particular mining camp, I assume she borrowed money upon her histrionic genius or intimidated the purser into carrying her on the deadhead list.

Anyway, that has nothing to do with my story. I am concerned with Joe Davis, who had deposited $700 in the Burke bank and now contemplated the unpleasantry of walking to the rail connection at Nelson or Bonners Ferry. He was mighty glum when I met him on the street that morning. I knew he had signed some "tabs" at last evening's social session at the Comique, and opined that he was not encumbered to any great extent with ready cash.

"Too bad, Joe," I said; "what you going to do about it?"

"I guess she'll come out all right," answered Joe. "I've known the Colonel for a long time and he's sure white."

Later, Joe evidently harboring some doubts, rustled enough for his fare to Spokane and arriving in the metropolis, then in the dumps, and about one collective jump ahead of the sheriff, took a few shots at the nearst saloon and started out to meet up with his old friend, Colonel Burke. He soon got a line on him, and found him at Natatorium Park, the centre of an admiring crowd that included some good-looking young ladies in one of those arbored retreats for which the resort was noted.

"Evening John," said Joe.

"Hello, Joe," said the Colonel. "Glad to see you. Sit down and have something, sah."

"Don't mind if I do," said Joe, and, introductory amenities having been complied with, he ordered her straight.

After further proper decorum in the matter of sustenance had been observed, Joe turned to the Colonel and drawled:

"Say, John, I'm going south in the morning and could use that little $700."

"Why, sah," answered the Colonel, with an airy wave of the hand and in his best modulated tone. "Don't you know that the bank's busted and I'm down and out, too?"

"Yes," said Joe, "I know she's gone up, but that don't in no manner of way change the layout with me."

There was silence for a few minutes, only broken by the ever-running chitter of the feminine gender.

"Excuse me, Colonel," said Joe, and with that he reached in his hind right hip pocket and laid a murderous-looking .45 on the table. "This yer shootin' iron don't sit well in my pocket."

The Colonel later said that he was sure it was eighteen inches long, but the best authorities seem to agree that it was several inches less, at least. It was long enough, however, to cause a very since diversion among the members of the party and, as a matter of fact, there was an almost unanimous desire to leave those particular parts.

A few minutes later Joe rose to his six feet two inches and, as he returned the gun to its resting place, turned to the Colonel and said:

"John, I've knowed you for twenty years and I'm calculating you're on the level. I'll be at Wilmot's at ten in the morning and I'm leaving town at 12. S'long."

Then he sought the street car and returned to town. Next morning he was on time at Wilmot's and the Colonel was almost as punctual. He looked as if he had put in a hard shift. After the usual courtesies had been extended and the bartender had been invited to keep the change, an adjournment to a private box was suggested by the Colonel; Joe complied and in a few moments both came back into the saloon and repeated the vocal ablutions.

"Good-bye, John," said Joe. "You're white all right. Good luck."

Then he started for the street, and the Colonel, turning to the bartender, said:

"I wonder if that —— was bluffing."

But as the swinging doors opened to let Joe out, an unmistakable bulge was plainly detected in the vicinity of his right hip.

"No, I guess not," the Colonel answered himself; I pass."

"Have one?"

"Don't mind if I do."

"Here's how!"

DEVELOPMENT OF FROZEN REGIONS

OTTAWA.—A plan for converting the arctic and sub-arctic regions of Canada into a great wool, milk and meat producing area was presented to the Canadian senate and house of commons by Vilhjalmur Stefansson, Norwegian explorer of the Canadian arctic.

Mr. Stefansson's ideas were recently placed before Arthur Meighen, minister of the interior, and it was thought advisable to have the explorer address parliament. His project involves introducing large herds of reindeer and domesticating and developing great herds of musk ox. Both animals would furnish milk and meat supplies, and the musk ox would afford also a wool supply.

The Canadian north, Mr. Stefansson said, could be utilized to help solve present and future food shortages and development of his project would expedite opening of mineral and other resources of the north.

"About 20 years ago," Mr. Stefansson continued, "the American government introduced 1280 domestic reindeer into arctic Alaska. The sole aim was to give a possibility of economic independence to the Eskimo. Few of those who expected the enterprise to succeed even dreamed of its present magnitude or the meaning it would have for Alaska today or for the world tomorrow. Under Eskimo care these herds have increased at the rate of doubling in three years. But the few animals that are in the hands of white men are found to double in numbers every two years."

"In due time," Mr. Stefansson said, "arctic Alaska will support more than seven million reindeer, producing as much meat yearly as fourteen million sheep or seven times the present mutton production of all the settled portion of Canada." The Americans now realize, he declared, that they had made a mistake in starting the industry on such a small scale, and he warned that Canada should not make the same mistake.

SLOCAN HOSPITAL DISPUTE NO NEARER TO A DECISION

The Silverton-New Denver hospitals dispute, which is being heard by Mr. Justice McDonald in the supreme court, appeared to be little nearer to a close at the end of the third day than it did on the previous day.

The last witnesses for the plaintiffs were heard early in the day and three witnesses took the stand for the defendants.

A surprise was sprung by the defendants when Mr. Hamilton introduced a number of lists containing the names of miners in the Silverton area who had assigned their interests in the monies to Dr. Gomm, and thereby became defendants in the action.

Doctors Feare and Gomm and Assistant Manager North were the principal witnesses of the day.

Dr. Feare told of his first arrival at Silverton and the negotiations with the miners and with Dr. Gomm. When Dr. Gomm took the stand he gave a different version of the meetings, saying that Doctors Rose, Hartin and Feare had made promises to him which they did not live up to. He said that he was led to purchase the New Denver hospital from Dr. Brouse by a promise made to him by Dr. Hartin that the latter and his partners would withdraw from Silverton if the purchase was made and a satisfactory agreement was reached with Dr. Feare and the union.

Mr. North stated that his company had no interest in the dispute between the doctors. They desired to see the whole matter amicably disposed of. Mr. North told of the famous meeting with the miners on December 20, 1917, when the men were asked to sign a book showing which doctor they preferred. He said that the men were not coerced in any way. He said that he had told the men that he, personally, as a fellow employee of the company, felt that the possible future of the mine did not justify starting the proposed hospital at Silverton.

No Payments Made.

A. Donadugh was the first witness He said that he was employed by the workmen's compensation board during September and October. He told of searching the records to see if any money had been paid into the court, and of the court proceedings which followed. He said he looked through the company's books and spoke to the registrar as well. The latter said that no payments had been made.

Mr. O'Shea, counsel for Rose and Hartin, recalled Secretary Roberts to the stand. With permission of defendont counsel he gave a list of 22 names to the court stenographer, which he had identified on a petition which he circulated as the Standard mine. He then told of circulating similar petitions at four other camps. The witness quoted figures from memory which was checked by counsel, showing that 359 of a possible 380 men in the district favored the Rose and Hartin hospital.

The witness said that all of the mines refused to pay the money to the doctors at first. Then a strike vote was taken to force the mines to pay the money. The total vote was 221 in favor of a strike and 69 against, with nine spoiled ballots. All of the men in the district were permitted to vote.

Men Receive Treatment.

The witness stated that the men were receiving all treatment required at the Rose and Hartin hospital at Silverton and at the New Denver hospital. The men were anxious to reach a settlement so that the doctors might receive their pay.

The strike was later cancelled at the request of the board.

Mr. Bird, counsel for the miners, then questioned the witness. Witness stated that he had never in any way done anything to encourage Dr. Gomm to buy the New Denver hospital.

Mr. Hamilton, counsel for the mining companies, questioned the witness regarding the membership of the union. The witness stated that the men at the mines of the Silverton area and the saw mill were all entitled to a vote and that they were planning to call a general strike.

Dr. Feare Testifies.

Dr. Walker G. Feare, who is one of the plaintiffs in the issue between the doctors, said that he went to Silverton in the first week in October, 1917. He went there under agreement with Doctors Rose and Hartin to operate a hospital. He found a small hospital there with two beds. He had instructions to get other accommodation if necessary. The witness told of the early attempts to draft agreements satisfactory to the workmen's compensation board, and of the final acceptance on December 10, 1917, of the agreement prepared by the board.

The witness told of sending a letter to the Standard silver-lead mine at the end of October, 1917, notifying the company that a contract had been entered into by Doctors Rose and Hartin and the miners and that the doctors would hold the company responsible for all monies collected for hospital fees. A similar notice was sent to the Van Roi mine. No reply was received from either company.

New Denver Meeting.

Dr. Feare said that he had never met Dr. Brouse, but that he had spoken to Dr. Gomm. The latter had approached the witness, saying that he was buying out Dr. Brouse and proposing that they unite their forces. The witness desired to investigate the matter and it never came to a head. The witness conferred with the men, but the latter never felt satisfied with any proposal put forward by Dr. Gomm.

The witness said that Dr. Gomm proposed to hold a general meeting of the doctors, miners and employers at New Denver. The witness and hospital committee attended, but the employers did not. The question of a consolidation was discussed pro and con. The men desired to have representation on any consolidated hospital board so as to ensure that bad conditions should not reoccur. No decision was reached at the meeting, but Dr. Gomm proposed to submit a written proposal. The meeting was held on December 8, the day on which the miners' committee was in Nelson conferring with Doctors Rose and Hartin. The fact that the two meetings were held on the same day was a mere coincidence, the witness said.

Dr. Feare said that Dr. Gomm submitted a lengthy agreement at a later date. The witness said that he neither accepted nor rejected the document at the time, but asked permission to take it up with the miners. Both the witness and the men considered the proposed agreement unsatisfactory and it was returned to Dr. Gomm.

Patient Apologizes.

The witness told of a statement made to him by one of his patients on the day following the signing of the petition at the mine on December 20, 1917. The patient said that he had signed for Dr. Gomm and apologized for doing so, because he would have lost his position if he had not done so. The witness said that men alleged to him that they had been discharged because they had taken a stand in favor of the Silverton hospital. The witness said that he did not desire to give names of men who had made statements to him because he was afraid they might be discharged.

His lordship took the stand that it would be proper for the witness to give the names of all men who had told him that they had been discharged. The witness gave the name of Carl Weston, which he said was the only one he could give at the time.

Dr. Rose said that he questioned each patient as to the mine they were employed at. When men were unknown to him they brought "hospital tickets" with them, showing that hospital fees had been paid by them. The witness produced four tickets issued by the Standard mine, per A. L. McPhee. The tickets were given to the witness by patients whose names appeared on them.

Received No Payments.

Dr. Feare stated that he had not received any payment for treatment to the four men who presented the tickets. No payments, with one exception, were received from any of the three companies up to August 1, 1918. The Rosebery mine paid for the month of November, 1917, following the threatened strike. The doctors have sold hospital tickets to the men for a dollar a month.

The witness told Mr. Hamilton that he arrived at Silverton between the 5th and 10th of October. He said the hospital, which was then established, contained three beds. He tended patients from the Standard mine. The witness said he knew nothing of the hospital at New Denver. The Silverton hospital's accommodation was increased in January, 1918, to a minimum of five beds and a maximum of twenty.

...ness said the hospital tickets submitted were printed and supplied to the men by him. He admitted that to his knowledge the four men who gave the tickets to him were not discharged because they were treated by him.

Dr. Feare said that he did not remember having asked Dr. Gomm for the key to the building at Silverton while he was in conference with Dr. Gomm at New Denver. The witness told his lordship that the key was never discussed.

Dr. Feare said that he was led to believe that a very small proportion of the men were in favor of Dr. Gomm. At the present time, he said, he thought there were a few who went to New Denver of their own accord.

Afternoon Session.

At the opening of the afternoon session Mr. O'Shea requested leave to recall Dr. Feare at a convenient time to check up the list of men whom he had treated from his arrival at Silverton until August 1, 1917. Permission was granted.

Mr. Roberts was recalled to the stand by Mr. Bird. He stated that at a public meeting of the citizens of Silverton the union officials were requested to take up a list of the names of those who favored having a hospital established at Silverton. A resolution was passed to the effect that the citizens and miners would cooperate and that the union officials should represent both the men and citizens. Roberts was the last witness called by the plaintiff.

Mr. Hamilton contended that no case had been made out by the plaintiff. The men's sole object in coming to the court was to secure the money for division between the doctors. The men received services and permitted the money to be deducted from their checks. The counsel contended that no grounds had been established which would justify permitting the men to say which doctor should receive the money.

Dr. Gomm Takes Stand.

Dr. William E. Gomm, who purchased the Slocan hospital at New Denver from Dr. Brouse, was the next witness. He said that he had been practicing for 30 years and had been in the Kootenay area since 1895. He said that he was led to purchase the hospital from Dr. Brouse as a result of dissatisfaction with the latter, and an agreement with Doctors Rose and Hartin and the union officials.

Early in October, 1917, he was given to understand at Silverton that he would be acceptable to the men as resident physician at New Denver if Dr. Brouse was eliminated. He informed Dr. Brouse of this. He was also told by the men to see Doctors Rose and Hartin. On coming to Nelson he saw the latter doctors and they told him they were willing to withdraw if he should reach an agreement with Dr. Feare and the miners.

Offered Contract to Feare.

At a conference at New Denver, the witness said, he proposed a contract to Dr. Feare. He favored uniting their efforts on contract work, but keeping their private practices separate.

Later the witness conferred with Dr. Hartin at Sandon. The latter said he would withdraw from Silverton if the witness purchased the Slocan hospital at New Denver. Dr. Hartin repeated his proposal in the presence of Mr. Cunningham and of the witness' wife. Dr. Gomm said he also asked the union officials if either the union or Dr. Feare would purchase a share of the Slocan hospital and he received a negative answer.

Definite Agreement.

Speaking of the New Denver conference the witness said a definite agreement was brought up under which the men would have a place on the hospital board. At the end of the meeting, the witness said, Dr. Feare arose, saying that since they had reached an amicable decision, would he, Dr. Gomm, not give him the key to the Silverton hospital.

Following the meeting an agreement

BRITISH LABOR RADICALS ARE AGAINST SOVIET SYSTEM

Wires still warm with the news that the military situation in Russia had turned against the Bolshevists carry the news that the Independent Labor party in Great Britain, the most radical labor organization in the motherland, had definitely repudiated the soviet system of government. Prominent speakers at the Independent Labor party meeting included Ramsay Macdonald, Mr. Jowett and Mr. Thatcher, and they had no hesitation in clearly expressing their views against Bolshevism.

"I have nothing to say against the experiment that is being made in Hungary and Russia," declared Mr. Jowett. "It is all to the advantage of the world at large that experiments should be carried on without let or hindrance and that the experience gained should be at the disposal of the whole world. It may well be that owing to the peculiar circumstances in Russia the soviet system would suit the other better than any other. But in this country there are deep-rooted parliamentary institutions and to scrap whatever advantage our parliamentary system gives us or to refuse to reform it just for the sake of trying to get common consent for the beginning of a new and untried system would be a great mistake."

That even the most revolutionary of British labor organizations should express such views is not at all surprising. No decent citizen who understands what has occurred in Russia would want to inflict the same anarchy and misery on his own country.

THE FOOLISHNESS OF IT

Winnipeg strikers have adopted a policy of endeavoring to prevent any news of conditions in that city from reaching the outside world. They are trying to erect a Chinese wall of mystery around the strike and the developments which are arising out of it.

That is rather queer policy for strike leaders who a few months ago vigorously opposed the war censorship.

The course they have adopted invariably leads the public to ask if the strike leaders are afraid to face public opinion. Perhaps they have nothing to conceal, it may be that their case is a good one and that their actions are beyond reproach, but their course is none the less foolish.

The effect of endeavoring to suppress complete news of the strike has already been seen in the number of wild stories which have got abroad. One yarn declared that a soviet government had been established; others have been equally alarming. None of these, apparently, was founded on fact.

If the strikers are right they don't need to fear public opinion. If they are wrong they will gain nothing in the long run by trying to conceal it.

FAIRIES OR IMPS OF THE DEVIL?

Kootenay-Boundary lovers of gardens will read with mixed feelings the following from the Chicago Evening Post:

"The fairies come in the night, and they spread beneath your windows a carpet of cloth-of-gold. It is the richest gold in the world, a veritable oriflamme which pales not when compared with the sun's most gorgeous splashings on western evening clouds and against which the oriole hesitates to match his splendid breast. 'You mean dandelions?' we hear a suburbanite shout. Yes, we mean dandelions, Mr. Suburbanite, which you may hitherto have thought of only as things to eat in the early spring and grub at the rest of the summer. For sheer beauty a lawn strewn with 10,000 of these yellow heads makes a conservatory of rare orchids or a clustered plant of the famed night-blooming cereus look wan and sickly. If this humble dandelion flowered but once in twenty years, and then only in Cook County, as it has been flowering the last week, the world would make a path to our door, halting only a brief moment in California's poppy fields. So why not enjoy it while you may, even if you do intend to grub at it for the rest of the summer? It will accept your worship gladly and without resentment at your purpose—for grubbing at it, you know, does not hurt it in the least."

SUPPORT YOUR LOCAL AND DISTRICT FAIRS.

The agricultural and industrial fairs which have been held in various centres in Kootenay and Boundary during the past 10 or 20 years have been one of the important factors in the upbuilding of the agricultural industry in the interior of the province.

They have aroused healthy competition between farmers, they have proved what can be accomplished on the fertile lands of Kootenay and Boundary and they have won for the district publicity which it could not have secured as effectively in any other way.

Agriculture has taken long strides in Kootenay and Boundary during the past decade. It now ranks as a great industry, which is rapidly becoming greater and more productive of wealth and more sustaining to commerce.

It takes an aviator to describe the course which the price of silver is following these days.

Money saved works for you 24 hours a day, seven days a week and 365 days a year.

It is becoming more and more evident that Kootenay and Boundary is going to have a record number of new settlers on the land this year.

Costs of production in the future are likely to be brought down chiefly by greater efficiency in production. Any general lowering of the wage scale is neither likely nor desirable.

TOLD IN RHYME.

WAR MEMORIALS.

Trust not the sculptured stone;
The thought survives alone.
The loftiest Tower shall know
That Time can overthrow.
By life let life be fed,
Mute stone, cold bronze are dead!

O blow the trumpet blast,
That shakes the throned past!
Nor all the old again—build
What the years have willed—
Imperishable art,
The laws that bind
Sphere to sphere and mind to mind,
Alone new life impart.

Thus be the debt of honor paid,
These be the laurels proudly laid.

COLD STORAGE.

They were having a company sing in a "Y" building. The song leader, a lieutenant, asked if there was any particular song the men wished to sing.

The company funny boy, thinking to produce a laugh, yells out, "Let's sing Molly, get the hammer, there's a fly on baby's head."

"Very well," said the lieutenant; "suppose you come up and sing it a few times so that we may learn it." And, amid the jeers of his companions, he was forced to get up before the company and sing that single line over and over again, making up the tune as he went.—E. S.

Bill was a raw mountaineer who had been in detention camp only a few days when one of the boys chanced to ask him if he had been vaccinated. He replied: "Naw, I've had the mumps and measles, but I ain't never had no disease like that."—L. B.

After Edgar Selwyn, the playwright, had parted from his wife, Marguerite Mayo, who went overseas to entertain the soldiers in the trenches, Douglas Fairbanks sympathetically asked the bereaved husband:

"How does it feel being separated from your wife after your long, happy eighteen married years?"

"Like Nathan Hale," Mr. Selwyn answered, "sorry I had only one wife to give to my country."

WOMAN SUFFRAGE IN SOUTH AFRICA

Democracy and "one man one vote" have given the individual today a power he never had in past ages. But though you can change systems in a generation or in a day you cannot so rapidly change the mind of man, and man is not yet a trained political animal; still less is woman. The consequence is that the mass feeling, whether it is represented in merely male suffrage or in male and female suffrage combined, is a plastic matter which the politician works on at his own sweet will. This condition will remain so for a very long time; as long, perhaps, as democracy itself lasts. In the meantime the suffrage is an outward and visible sign of the relationships which subsist between the citizen and the state, and so far as women have to obey the laws they are, equally with men, entitled to share in the illusion that the voter governs the country.—Natal Advertiser.

WAR AND NERVES

The war seemed to brace the people and to prove a tonic for many, and the neurologists reported fewer nerve troubles than before. When the returns came in from the insane asylums, this theory was clearly and practically demonstrated. Instead of an increase in the number of lunatics, there was a marked falling off in mental maladies, as well as in the number of suicides, and these favorable reports still continue. Under the strain of war, mankind seems to have grown stronger, possessed of greater control over his emotions and his nerves. This point is psychology presented by the London doctor notes the difference in war and peace nerves; that the average man or woman is better able to sustain the intense nervous strain of war than the apparently light worries that face him during long periods of peace and quiet.

WHO STANDS FOR CANADA?

By midsummer Canada may be plunged into the throes of a revolution. Powerful forces are at work with the avowed intention of overthrowing constitutional authority and replacing it with Soviet rule. Plans are beng elaborated which seek to sweep aside established law and order, and carry the "Red" flag triumphantly from Vancouver to Halifax by "any means which justify the end." Tirelessly the propagandists of Bolshevism are working, in season and out, here, there and everywhere. Despite the surface calm and outward signs of peace and quietude which prevail, disturbed in the larger cities, Canada is at this moment in imminent danger of the flames of anarchy which have so rapidly spread in Europe during the past six months. Embers from the intermittent fires of rampant socialism are being zealously fanned to white-hot heat by revolutionary "labor leaders" in Vancouver and elsewhere, in the hope that sparks may ultimately set ablaze a Dominion-wide prairie fire which will blot out existing landmarks of social, economic and industrial order. The propaganda committee appointed at the recent labor convention in Calgary is, and has been, assiduously carrying out its purpose by every means humanly possible. The cabinet is fully alive to the situation. Were the public to be made acquainted with the full significance and gravity of the situation, the Veteran is convinced that a wave of alarm, and even panic, would seize this country which might well precipitate calamity. These statements are made with a full sense of responsibility, and with knowledge of actual facts. It is our intention to combat to the uttermost limit this element of anarchy, which seeks to destroy the national life of Canada, and set up in place thereof the unspeakable iniquity and chaos of blind revolution, led and controlled by fanatics who seek an autocratic power more devilish and inhuman than the lust of the Huns.

Thinking men and women will realize that it is impossible for us to print in these columns the complete information upon which this appeal is based—for it is an appeal of the most earnest and serious nature, an appeal to the loyalty and cooperation of all classes of the community to prevent the cataclysm which threatens. Being at the fountain-head of opportunity for the collection of reliable information from all parts of Canada, the Veteran deems it a duty and obligation to give warning of the impending crash and strain every effort to stay the evil that is threatening so closely. In doing so we wish it to be clearly understood that we serve no party, no "interests," and no combination, but we do wish to serve Canada. We offer no apology for the government, which, it must be admitted, has been largely responsible for the present dangerous condition of affairs by its continued policy of blind optimism and "laissez-faire," neither do we condone or mitigate in any way the damnable corruption and jobbery which has so long been practised by the "robbing" in high finance and political circles. These things have been allowed to develop and continue until the pendulum has reached its furthest extremity and now commences to swing back with gathering momentum. Recriminations and excuses for the past will not, however, avail in the present crisis. Promises and pleadings for the future are not acceptable. The time has come for action—direct and prompt.

There is but one recourse for the government, and that is to "steal the thunder" of the rising forces of opposition. There is no middle way. There is no time for temporizing; no place for timid pacifists or stubborn reactionaries. We are facing a crisis in the history of the nation. On the one hand we have a government which, from lack of leadership and courage, has lost the confidence of the people, who are sick to death of the "steals," the deceptions, the hypocrisies, the insincerities, and the camouflage which is summed up in the one word "politics." On the other side there is the rising tide of determined desire for a living democracy, loosened and awakened by the tragedy of war and suffering. The masses won the war and the classes profited thereby. The fight is now on for ultimate control. Grave danger lies in the exploitation which fanatical exponents of bloody Bolshevism can accomplish in the minds of a sorely tried people, suffering grievously from an ever increasing economic pressure against their rights and privileges and opportunity to live peaceful and contented lives. This strain is rapidly reaching a breaking point. Delay, and yet more delay, has been almost the sole cause of unrest and discontent among the returned men of this country. Every legislative proposal made on their behalf has been spoiled by the "masterly inactivity" of the government in carrying out its own proposals. Irritation has resulted which is easily fomented by propagandists into serious discontent. Delay in dealing with the "new order" now demanded may easily bring about revolution by force.

We spoke of a remedy. We believe that remedy or preventative to be a speedy declaration of active policy by the government. We say emphatically that there is but one method by which the propaganda of the "Reds" can be back-fired, and that method is for the government to determine on an antidote of progressive legislation, dealing with such vital questions as proper control of prices on foodstuffs and the necessities of life; unemployment insurance; state development of our natural resources, which include fishing, agriculture, lumbering, oil and coal production and the development of mineral areas; state banking and state life insurance; a national program of education and scientific research; equal rights for women; taxation of land values; the prevention of financial, industrial and land monopolies; the establishment of public welfare bureaux; industrial cooperation and the recognition of labor's rights; these and other measures which are in demand by the so-called "proletariat," but which are of fundamental benefit to all. Sympathy born of suffering is leading many good men into the insurrectionist camp. Insidious propaganda proves to them that, after all, there is no tendency towards true democracy on the part of our "leaders and teachers," and that there cannot be so long as they remain bound by the pre-war ideals of capitalism, and that the only way to bring about the desired change is by fire and annihilation. Make no mistake about it, the disciples of anarchism are working overtime in Canada, and the harvest they seek to gather looks temptingly easy and alluring. If they fail in the attempt, the aliens will be blamed. If they succeed—but they will not. The one link in the infamous chain they are forging which presents the greatest uncertainty is the attitude of returned men. Every effort is being centred on winning them over to the "cause." Unemployment presents the opening. Invidious comparisons are drawn between the fighter and the profiteer; the reasons of unemployment are subtly suggested, and vengeance and equalization are shown to be only possible through the path of rebellion and revolution. Vital issues hinge upon the problem of unemployment.

We have spoken of the danger and the remedy; now we turn to the appeal which constitutes the season for this article, and which is made to all who claim citizenship and the ideals of Canadianism. Particularly do we address ourselves to the men who served Canada on the battlefields of Europe. It was they who nailed the flag of true Canadianism to the mast, and in the coming struggle for all that is most near and noble, it is to them that Canada will look for leadership and protection. Should not the war veterans be in the forefront of those who demand constitutional rearrangement of the social order Can we, who have written our record of loyalty in letters of blood, stand idly by while the sedition-mongers, the aliens, the anarchists and the renegades among our own countrymen dictate how the principles of the democracy for which we fought shall be brought into being in our country? Shall we allow our family quarrels to be butted into by the traitors who tried to shoot us in the back while we stayed the Hun over yonder? Is this our country, or is it theirs? Did they fight for it, or did they help us one iota while we were over there? Are we going to be dictated to by men who claimed allegiance to no country while we were at war, but who now presume to determine how this Dominion shall be governed?

As veterans we have our grievances, many of them due ot lack of understanding on the part of those in authority. We have borne with very creditable patience many irritating delays and a long list of exasperating scandals. We have our share of private and public feuds and a full measure of repatriation difficulties, but—our first duty, as veterans with a proud record of service behind us, is to Canada and her interests. In face of the greater danger now threatening we ask our comrades from Vancouver to Halifax to stand shoulder to shoulder, forming a buttress against the invasion and devastation now planned by the followers of Lenine and Trotsky, sinking petty feuds, laying aside for the time being all personal grievances, and thereby proving to the people of Canada that the Great War Veterans' association is a solid unit in support of British ideals and constitutional aims. According to the manner in which we acquit ourselves at this juncture shall we be judged in the future. We appeal also for a full measure of support from every loyal citizen to aid in stamping out the menace now creeping stealthily into the sanctity of our homeland. When Canada is rid of the foul brood who preach and teach anarchy, we shall have something to say to the profiteers who encourage revolution.

Meanwhile, without undue pessimism and without scare-mongering, the Veteran commends to the immediate attention of parliament the situation as it exists; the recommendations herewith offered in sincerity and faith, and calls upon all who deem themselves true citizens to plainly prove "Who stands for Canada?"—The Veteran.

WHO WON THE WAR.

In answer to a correspondent a few days ago asking who really did win the war we quoted the statement of Marshal Foch that "the hammer blows of the British were decisive factors," and also from an article in the New York Sun that "but for the British sailors and the French army Germany today would rule the world."

Since then another correspondent has sent us a letter, dated August 1, 1918, which he wrote to an influential paper in the United States, protesting against the assumption that that country had won the war, and especially against the constant use of the four words "we won the war," which were becoming a popular slogan there. This American paper was a strong supporter of the allies from the beginning of the war, and did as much as any other to bring the United States into it. The letter was returned by one or the editors, who wrote on August 6, 1918, that out of his experience of the American mind he ventured to suggest that it should not be published, because if published it "would do more to damage American confidence in Britain than any pro-German propaganda that could be devised." He added the following:

I agree willingly with your statement that insistence on this position on the part of America would be extremely bad taste, and would probably sour European minds against us. However, I cannot accept your statement that these four words are not true.

"If the war is won, and it will be won, it will be won by America. America furnished the food, the ammunition, the money for the years of the war before the United States entered U-boat fleet would have been hardly the conflict. Supposing we had shut off European munitions, Germany's U-boat fleet would have been hardly necessary. Great Britain would have been starved long ago.

"In the three years of war the allies, even with America's backing and what help she as a neutral could furnish, could not keep the Germans out of France. America had Europe on her knees before it entered the war. Theer was need of man power more than anything else. America has gone to war to save France, to save Britain, despite the blow to their pride, must grant the U. S. the credit due us. And the U. S. in turn have the decency not to rub it in."

This is the opinion of a well-informed men, and it probably represents a large body of well informed opinion in the United States. There is no disposition on the part of anyone in this country to deprive the United States of the credit which is properly due to it. It must be added that our men who have returned from the front show no disposition to boast of their achievements. But after four years of sacrifice, in which Canada alone lost more men than the whole of the United States, there is a disposition to "talk back" when those words "we won the war" are so frequently heard. It is too early to pass any accurate judgment on all the phases of the war. It is true that the Americans drove back the Germans at Chateau Thierry in July, and that sems to have been the turning point on the western front, but we do not know what other reserves Marshal Foch could command—the Germans declared that he had no reserves; we do not know how much longer the Germans could have stood the blockade by the British fleet there are many other vital factors which have not yet been disclosed. Perhaps both countries might adopt the customary attitude when a matter is, so to speak, "sub judice," and wait with patience for the impartial verdict of history.—Toronto Globe.

YOUR CONDITION

This Spring, After the War, Imperatively Demands Treatment.

Health has been greatly impaired, reserve strength much overdrawn, by worry and anxiety caused by the war.

Blood has been poisoned by the influenza, grip, pneumonia and other prostrating diseases.

And there is besides the usual ill effect from the close confinement indoors during the winter.

You have that tired feeling, poor appetite, backache, rheumatic pains, delicate digestive power or almost none at all. The ideal treatment is

Hood's Sasraparilla—to be taken before meals—thoroughly to purify the blood and expel poisons, and restore tone and do it quickly; and

Hood's Pills, to be taken as necessary, to rouse the liver in cases where there is billiousness, constipation, bad taste in the mouth, or "the blues."

Your druggist knows how good these medicines are. Ask him.

Printed Butter Wrappers

Either With Your Name or With the Words

Dairy Butter

According to the Dominion government regulations all farmers who sell butter either to stores or privately are required to have it properply covered in a wrapper on which MUST appear in prominent letters the words

"DAIRY BUTTER"

The fact is also emphasized that all butter in such packages must be of the full net weight of sixteen ounces and in default of same a fine of from $10 to $30 for each offense is imposed. Whey butter must be so labelled even when mixed with dairy butter and dairy butter retains its label even though it be mixed with the creamery product.

If you have your own name or brand on your wrappers you gain valuable advertising for your butter. It causes people to ask for the same brand again.

LOCAN HOSPITAL DISPUTE NO NEARER TO A DECISION

s drawn up and presented to Dr. re and the union officials. They clared the agreement was unfair and t the men had entered into an eement with Rose and Hartin and re quite satisfied.

Speaking of the meeting at the Standard mine on December 20, the witness d that he addressed the men there d that the men voted for the doctor their choice by signing a book. The ness said he was present when the k was signed, but was not in a position to identify it. A majority of the n have him their vote. He was also en a majority vote at the Van Roi.

said that he was informed in January, 1918, that Roberts was passing und a list at the Bosun mine, and t he, the witness, wene there on the lowing day and later was given a e of 14 to 9.

Men Assign Rights.

At this point a series of lists of the mes of men working at the mines, whom Mr. Hamilton said he was pearing, was presented. The names re appended to a statement to the ect that they had assigned their hts to any portion of the hospital held by the court to Dr. Gomm.

The presentation of the lists led to heated debate between counsel as the right of Mr. Hamilton to prent the list at the time. Mr. Bird ok the stand that he was appearing all of the men, and that it seemed range that such a list of part of the n ,whom he represented, should be esented at the eleventh hour of the al for the defence.

A Little Laughter.

A break in the monotony of the avy legal atmosphere of the trial curred while Mr. Hamilton was atmpting ot decipher the signatures the lists.

"Surely my learned friend knows his n clients' names," said Mr. Bird.

ll guarantee,' said his lordship, at you do not know all of yours."

As Mr. Bird represented all of the en, or thought he did, at the three mes in question, he had to admit. Justice McDonald's sally amid a rst of laughter in the court room.

There was a total of 52 names on e list.

"I still have over 300 clients left," id Mr. Bird.

A. L. McPhee, a witness who was lled to identify part of the signares, said the men had been employed the Standard mine, but that most them were employed elsewhere w, and that he went to the different camps, on company time, to secure e lists.

Vote at Bosun Mine.

Continuing his evidence, Dr. Gomm d of address to the men at the osun mine. He told the men of the sition he was placed in and said t he was later informed that 24 en signed in favor of him and nine favor of the other doctor.

The witness said that he took over e New Denver hospital about December 15, 1917, and that he had accommodation ready for 21 patients and nder pressure could accommodate out 10 more.

He said that previous to August 1, 18, he did not believe he had reived any compensation from the mpensation board. He had received onies in the nature of a loan.

Dr. Gomm said an effort was made April, 1918, on the part of the compensation board to reach a settlement, t they wanted a one-sided agreeent. He said that he did not know any attempt at a settlement on the rt of Dr. Feare and the union. He d that he had always been ready reach an agreement and that during the second visit of the compensaon board in July, 1918, he offered to ach a compromise. Mr. Bird objected to the testimony.

Knew of Change.

Under cross-examination by Mr. Shu-, Dr. Gomm said that at the rt he understood that a new doctor as coming. Later he was assured at Rose and Hartin were coming, d he told Dr. Brouse that it was eless for Brouse to attempt to conue there longer.

The witness said that he understood at in order to succeed with the hostal that he would have to satisfy the en and enter into an agreement with e doctors.

The witness declared that at the eeting with Dr. Hartin at Sandon, the tter gave the witness to understand at if he purchased the Slocan hospital Doctors Rose and Hartin would op out entirely. Previous to this time he and the doctors had agreed verbally that Dr. Feare and the men should be satisfied before the hospital was purchased.

Verbal Agreement.

In reply to his Lordship the witness said that he purchased the hospital without having entered into a written agreement with Doctors Rose and Hartin regarding their withdrawal. He said that he has been upbraided since then for putting too much trust in people.

The witness said that he had paid $2000 on the hospital about the end of November, which was previous to the meeting with Dr. Feare and the miners at New Denver. He said that at the meeting on December 8, 1917, a definite verbal agreement was entered into. It was proposed that the doctors should unite their efforts and that the hospitals were to be managed by a board of seven, made up of the two doctors, two miners, two government representatives and a seventh party. The witness said he was not sure when the purchase price of the hospital was decided upon, but that it was proposed that Dr. Feare should pay a half of the $14,500 still due on the hospital and that he should have a seven-sixteenths interest.

Couldn't Find Key.

When questioned regarding the key of the Silverton building, the witness declared that Dr. Feare wanted it, but that he, the witness, could not find it.

The witness said he entered the Silverton building about December 15, 1917, and that he remained there until about January 21 1918. He said that he was advised that his lease would not hold and that he might be evicted. He was not sure whether he had received notice to appear in court to defend eviction proceedings. He said that he opened the Silverton hospital because he desired to live in Silverton.

The witness recognized the agreement which he offered to Dr. Feare and which was refused as unfair. The witness said Dr. Feare remarked that he, Dr. Feare, had 350 men.

Mr. Bird—"And then the fight was on."

Mr. O'Shea—"Did you go to the union to talk it over?"

Took Friend's Advice.

"No," replied the witness. He said that at the advice of his friends he went directly to the men at the mine. The witness said that at an earlier date he had proposed to the union officials that he and Dr. Feare should see the men at the mine. The officials replied that it would be useless. He said that he did not ask Dr. Feare to accompany him on December 24 because the latter had turned him down as a "white check."

Mr. Bird asked the witness whom he meant by "his friends" when he said that he had been advised by his friends to go to the mines to talk to the men. Mr. Bird attempted to bring forth a statement to the effect that the mine owners were the ones who had urged him to go. The witness named a number of "friends," among whom were both mine owners and employees.

The witness said that he believed that the men and not the union officials or the employers had a right to select whatever doctor they chose.

Mr. Bird had the witness identify a letter of October 15, 1917, which was written to the compensation board and which showed that the witness had interviewed the union officals and others at Silverton and was aware that a contract was in force between the men and Doctors Rose and Hartin.

Reading from the testimony taken before the compensation board, Mr. Bird read a statement made by the witness that he went to the mines at the request of the company officials.

Continuing, Mr. Bird attempted to get the witness to say that he was directed by the company officials to go to the men over the heads of the union officials, but the witness persisted in saying that he was advised by "his friends."

An official of the Canadian Bank of Commerce, Nelson, was called to compare and identify signatures. He said that for purposes of the banking business he would pay on all but four of the signatures on one of the lists presented by Mr. Hamilton.

Frank Crosbie, steward of the Slocan hospital since September 27, 1917, was the next witness. He was a member of the 54th battalion from May, 1915, to the time he entered the hospital. Previous to that he was employed at the hospital from 1910.

He said that when he first went there the hospital furnished drugs, and outside and inside medical attendance for all the mines in the district. When he returned some of the properties were not receiving aid from the hospital. The witness had the books of the hospital with him, containing a list of the work done after October 1, 1917. The witness was instructed to make up a list from his books for the court.

North on Stand.

William H. North, assistant manager of the Standard mine, was the next witness called. He said that he had never received a statement from the compensation board cancelling its approval of Dr. Brouse.

He said that he received a letter from the board in December, 1914, giving temporary approval to the Silverton hospital for the months of October and November.

Later he received a letter from Dr. Brouse requesting payment for the previous two months and requesting that he be notified in writing should the company contemplate a change in hospital arrangements.

Following the letter from the board, written on December 4, giving retroactive approval to the Silverton hospital, he received a second letter a few months later giving definite approval of the Silverton hospital. These were the only letters which he had received from the board with respect to approval.

The witness said that Dr. Gomm called him on the phone, saying that he wanted to see the men, and he, the witness, told the doctor to attend the meeting of December 20. The witness said that the men were told in the morning that a meeting would be held after lunch hour. Dr. Gomm was allowed to speak to the men and then the witness spoke to them. He said that he had notified the board of their petition and that he was of the opinion that the men might select for the doctor whom they desired. The witness told the men that the selection of a doctor was no affair of the company, but that as a fellow employee his own personal opinion was that it would be better to support the existing hospital, as he did not believe the future of the mines justified a new venture.

The witness said that Mr. Moir got up and said there had been crooked work. Moir said he did not refer to the witness or other officials of the company, but to the presence of Dr. Gomm in the building at Silverton. The witness said that the company had taken the patients to the hospital, and he asked Mr. Moir if he thought it fair to ask the company to take patients to the ne whospital.

Mr. North said that absolutely nothing was done to in any way coerce the men to accept any particular doctor. The witness said that all but one man, Carl Weston, signed the book. An effort was made to have him sign, as was required by the statute. The witness said the man was not discharged but walked off the job. After Weston left the company's employ, the witness offered to give him back his job. After the book was signed, the money was divided in accordance with the men's decision. Checks were made out but were not sent to Doctors Rose and Hartin and the Slocan hospital because of the unsettled situation between the board and the hospitals.

WORKMEN INCOME TAXES.

A side light is thrown upon the prosperity attained by workmen of foreign origin in the United States during the war by information recently given out at the office of Collector of Internal Revenue Edwards at New York. It appears that a large number of alien workers, mainly engaged in munition plants and subject to the income tax, have left without paying the imposts due in the period since the signing of the armistice. To stop this money leak amendments have been made in the regulations so that now persons applying for passports to sail abroad are obliged to present receipts for income taxes paid, or to show that they are not liable to such taxes. Under the rules, aliens who are not mere transients are residents for the purposes of the income tax. Where they live in the United States with no definite intentions as to the duration of their stay, they are regarded as residents, mere floating intentions, indefinite as to time, to return to other countries not being sufficient to constitute them transients. In the case of non-resident aliens working in the United States, their employers are required to withhold the tax out of wages paid to the employes. Under the stricter scrutiny now in force, it is said that thousands of dollars are daily collected from returning aliens, many of whom carry large sums.

USE CASTLEGAR-ROBSON FERRY

First Auto Crosses on Way to Nelson Since Its Completion—Roads Being Fixed.

CASTLEGAR, May 21.—The government ferry operating between Castlegar and a point near Pass creek, on the Columbia river, is at last in working condition and the first motor car to cross was driven by Sam Thorpe, and as passengers Mesdames Thorpe, Laurie and Crawford, who drove to Nelson and returned Sunday morning. About 15 cars from Rossland and Trail used the ferry yesterday on the way to Nelson and return. A few days' work on the road from a point about two miles east of the ferry landing will put everything in good shape, and Foreman Pittaway has a gang of men now working on it.

Mrs. George Hart entertained at her residence, "Riverview," a few evenings ago, and a delightful evening was spent by those present. Bridge and music occupied the evening, the winners being: Ladies, first, Mrs. P. G. Farmer; second, Mrs. R. J. Campbell. Men, first, J. T. Laurie; second, John Waldie.

Mrs. W. J. Farmer and Miss Farmer, who have been visiting in Vancouver and Victoria the last three weeks, have returned home.

Miss Muriel Wallinger of Cranbrook is visiting Miss Farmer and leaves for the coast in a few days.

Taking advantage of the first fine day for some weeks, four or five motor parties from Rossland and Trail motored to Castlegar yesterday and returned at night. They report the road in fair condition, with the exception of a few bad spots near Kinnaird.

Messrs. Farmer, Mara and Gagnon motored to Nelson yesterday to attend the K. C. installation.

Capt. McGanley has moved with his family into the Simonson ranch, which he purchased a few days ago.

Mrs. J. Davidson and children have moved from Nelson to Castlegar and are now living in Larson's bungalow, near ferry landing, Mr. Davidson, a returned soldier, having secured the appointment of captain of the ferry.

Mrs. V. T. Lanphear left for Nelson Saturday and will visit friends there for a few weeks.

Messrs. Watson and Lanphear went to Deer Park by motor boat yesterday on a fishing trip, returning last night with a nice catch of rainbow.

Contractor C. F. McDougall of Grand Forks and his carpenter crew are now working on the long bridge approaching the Edgewood Lumber company's mill here.

SHIP TELEGRAPH POLES TO HUMBOLT, SASK.

NAKUSP, May 21.—A barge load of 2000 telegraph poles arrived by the tug Yule on Friday from Makinson Landing, William Graham, shipper. The shipment which covers 15 carloads, is being transshipped here for the Western Lumber and Pole company, and are bound for Humbolt, Sask.

Capt. Sid Leary leaves today for Nelson to arrange for a timber contract on the Arrow Lakes.

Mr. and Mrs. LaFortune, accompanied by their daughter, Mrs. Hewley, all of Akron, Ohio, are here on a visit to Mr. and Mrs. R. A. Quance. Mrs. Quance is daughter and sister respectively to the visitors. Mr. LaFortune is a substantial contractor and builder in Akron.

George Quance of Delhi, Ont., is also a visitor to Mr. and Mrs. Quance. He is on his annual trip as a shareholder in the Quance Lumber company.

E. W. Somers left on Friday on a business trip to Calgary and other points and will be away a week.

The Nakusp shingle mill was steamed up ready for immediate operations after a dormant period of nearly two years.

Mrs. Christison and daughter of Tacoma arrived on Friday on a visit to her parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. Parent.

MIRROR LAKE NOTES.

MIRROR LAKE, B. C., May 21.—Mrs. Barter and her son, Lieut. John ifornia, by the Rokance Friday night. They will spend the summer here at their summer residence on the Point.

Fishingis now getting good here. Nearly all the residents have succeeded in getting one or more good sized salmon to their credit.

Crop prospects for fruit are showing up almost as good as last year. The bloom on cherries and pears is very heavy, plums above the average, fall apples, especially Gravensteins, Wealthy, Kings, Snows and Duchess, are extra heavy. Winter apples have medium bloom, except Northern Spies, which are light.

TELLS OF WAR PRODUCTS OF DYE PLANTS

Dye plants were characterized as a means of national defense by Lord Moulton, director of explosives supply for Great Britain, at the annual dinner of the Society of Dyers and Colorists at Bradford, as reported in the Chemical Trade Journal, the last number of which was received yesterday in this country. Lord Moulton based his remarks on a report of the commission he sent to see the German chemical factories situated in the occupied zones along the Rhine.

He was told that those plants had been working during the war solely for the purpose of the war. They had made explosives in enormous quantities, but what, to him, was much more serious, he found they had been making those devilish poison gases in quantities as large as the Germans ever would want, and they had made them in the plant ordinarily used for chemical products, often without changing one single item of plant. The operations which made the dyes, wonderful as the results were, could be classed under very few heads. The plant could be made on standard lines, and when they found that those plants, intended to be used for peaceful purposes, were capable of turning out the vilest of all offensive means without any change whatever, they realized what a terrible danger it was for England that those factories should exist on such an enormous scale.

TO BUILD FIVE BRANCH LINES IN SASKATCHEWAN

REGINA, May 21.—Building operations on five branch lines in Saskatchewan will start as soon as possible this summer, said E. W. Beatty, president of the C.P.R., in an interview with the Post this afternoon, just as he stepped from his private car the Thorold. Two other lines are under consideration at the present time, but the necessary authorization for the construction has not been granted yet.

It is impossible right now to announce a definite date when actual work of construction will start, material and labor having to be considered. Operations, however, will be under way during the present season. The new lines are as follows:

Vidora east, Lanigan north, through Melfort; Rosetown east, Milden west and Wymark east.

Asked if he had any statement to give out regarding the labor situation, Mr. Beatty said he did not care to make any other comment other than that he looked for an early settlement in Winnipeg and generally throughout Canada. He expected that with the arrival of cabinet ministers in Winnipeg, conventions will be opened that would probably lead to a settlement.

MRS. BRADLEY LEADS B. R. T. AUXILIARY

COLUMBUS, Ohio, May 21.—Without opposition Mrs. Clara Bradley of Chicago was re-elected national president of the auxiliary of the Brotherhood of Railroad Trainmen at its convention here today. She has held office since 1912.

W. C. Lee, president of the brotherhood, was unanimously re-elected grand councillor of the auxiliary.

Four vice-presidents were returned to office at today's election. They were: Mrs. Ada Marshall of Philadelphia, first vice-president; Mrs. Mary Cusack, Toronto, second vice-president; Mrs. Mary Milton, Dennison, Texas, third vice-president; Mrs. Mary Connell, Denver, fourth vice-president.

Mrs. Cusack and Mrs. Connell were unopposed. Election of officers will continue tomorrow.

Delegates to the brotherhood convention did little today but discuss their constitution. Warm debates occurred when a move was started to change the name of the brotherhood to that of Railroad Trainmen and Yardmen. It was downed by the convention almost unanimously. The wage problem will be discussed tomorrow.

MILITARY NECESSITIES KEEP PERSHING IN PARIS

LONDON, May 21.—General John Pershing has directed Colonel Griscom, American liason officer at the British war office, to express to the British government General Pershing's keen regret that the military necessities of the moment have made impossible the probability of his visit to London for the present.

"Huh! England is a small country."

"Yes."

"I could walk over it in a few weeks."

"Maybe you could, but 70 million Germans tried for four years to walk over England and failed."

"Why don't you go into politics?" "Can't afford it," replied the cautious citizen, as quoted in the Washington Star. "It has become almost a custom for a statesman to leave office a poorer man than when he entered it. And I'm in debt now."

EMPRESS BRINGS MEN FROM RUSSIA

About 700 Soldiers of All Ranks Arrive at Vancouver After Service in Siberia

VANCOUVER, B.C., May 21.—With approximately 700 men of all ranks of the Canadian Expeditionary Force in Siberia, the liner Empress of Japan arrived here this afternoon from Vladivostok after an uneventful voyage. There was but little sickness among the men on the way across the Pacific.

Names of Officers and Men

One hundred and seventy-six other ranks are listed for demobilization in the Halifax military district, and the officers for this district are Major D. S. Bauld, Captain F. B. Schurman and Lieutenants T. W. Martin and R. Roberts.

Fifty-four N.C.O.'s and men for the St. John district and the following officers were on board:

Captain F. V. Warner, Lieuts. W. H. Brooks, S. MacDonald, G. L. Short and H. D. Warren.

For the Ottawa military district only three men were on the ship, namely: Lieut. M. A. Rivard and Ptes. J. W. Kates, Ottawa, and J. D. Devine, Kipling, Sask.

For the Toronto district there are 28 "other ranks" and the following officers:

Major G. P. Morton, Captains H. Parks, H. B. Peppler, C. R. Snelgrove, J. G. Gould, W. J. Archer, and Lieutenants A. H. Bankart, W. A. C. Finsel, S. R. Hatch, I. McM. Lloyd and H. G. Wright.

For the London district Lieuts. W. J. Fletcher, C. W. Pennecott and F. C. Wilson docked, as well as 11 other ranks.

Lieuts. J. W. P. Skidmore, J. E. Stumpp and six other ranks docked for the Kingston district.

For the Montreal district there are Captains G. R. Amiot, A. G. Bernier, S. Dougall and Wilfrid Playfair and 11 other ranks. Captain Playfair is the official correspondent with the Siberian forces, representing the Canadian Press, Limited.

For the Winnipeg district four other ranks and Hon. Captain G. Farquhar, Lieuts. M. C. Adamson and C. W. Moore were on board.

For the Regina district there are 76 other ranks and Lieuts. A. J. Elliott, G. E. Murray and G. F. Rowand.

For the Calgary district there are 100 other ranks and Major W. J. Shortreed, Lieut.-Col. F. C. Jamieson, Capt. H. Sawley and Lieuts. S. R. Tompkins, H. E. Hardisty and H. C. P. Crosswell.

NO CONSTIPATION NO PILES

We think, without a doubt, that constipation is the most prevalent and at the same time one of the greatest troubles human nature is afflicted with, and causes more sickness than anything else.

Unless a free action of the bowels occurs at least once a day, constipation is sure to ensue, then comes the sore and uncomfortable piles, sick and bilious headaches, coated tongue, obnoxious breath, sour stomach, heartburn, water brash, and many other ailments.

Milburns Laxa-Liver Pills will regulate the flow of bile to act properly on the bowels, thus removing the constipation and its allied troubles.

Mr. Dan Doucette, Eel River Crossing, N.B., writes: "Having been troubled for years with constipation and trying everything I knew of, a friend advised me to use Milburn's Laxa-Liver Pills. I used four vials and am completely cured. I can gladly recommend them to anyone who suffers from constipation."

Milburn's Laxa-Liver Pills have been on the market for the past 25 years and have been used with the best results by thousands of people in that time and we have yet to hear of a complaint as to their curative powers.

Price 25c a vial at all dealers, or mailed direct on receipt of price by The T. Milburn Co., Limited, Toronto, Ont.

ACIDS IN STOMACH CAUSE INDIGESTION

Create Gas, Sourness and Pain—How to Treat.

Medical authorities state that nearly nine-tenths of the cases of stomach trouble, indigestion, sourness, burning, gas, bloating, nausea, etc., are due to an excess of hydrochloric acid in the stomach and not as some believe to a lack of digestive juices. The delicate stomach lining is irritated, digestion is delayed and food sours, causing the disagreeable symptoms which every stomach sufferer knows so well.

Artificial digestents are not needed in such cases and may do real harm. Try laying aside all digestive aids and instead get from any druggist a few ounces Bisurated Magnesia and take a teaspoonful in a quarter glass of water right after eating. This sweetens the stomach, prevents the formation of excess acid and there is no sourness, gas or pain. Bisurated Magnesia (in powder or tablet form—never liquid or milk) is harmless to the stomach, inexpensive to take and is the most efficient form of magnesia for stomach purposes. It is used by thousands of people who enjoy their meals with no more fear of indigestion.

U.S. HOUSE FAVORS WOMAN SUFFRAGE

Susan Anthony Amendment Resolution Adopted For Second Time By Vote of 304-89

WASHINGTON, May 21.—National suffrage for women was endorsed by the house of representatives for the second time today, when the Susan Anthony amendment resolution was adopted by a vote of 304 to 89. Supporters of the measure immediately arranged to carry their fight to the senate here, although twice defeated in the last session. They are confident of obtaining the necessary two-thirds vote.

The victory for the suffrage forces today was 42 votes more than the required two-thirds. House leaders of both parties in the brief debate preceding today's vote urged favorable action, but many southern Democrats opposed the measure, as did several New England representatives.

Several organ leaders expressed gratification at the large favorable vote and predicted victory in the senate rue to changes in the membership. It is expected the resolution will come up for a vote early next month in that body.

RAILWAY CLERKS HAVE EXCITING SESSION

CINCINNATI, Ohio, May 21.—Protests against what are claimed to be extravagant salaries were drowned with the cries of "cheap" and "piker" at the national convention of the Brotherhood of Railway Clerks today, spurred on and voted these salaries to national officers:

Grand president, $10,000 a year; grand secretary-treasurer, $7500; grand vice president, $4000; organizers, each $3600; editor "The Clerk," $3600, and members of the board of directors expenses.

The salary of the grand president has been $3500.

Although official returns will not be made until tomorrow, it was learned tonight that Charles M. Owens of Cincinnati has been elected grand secretary-treasurer over W. P. Neville of St. Louis. On two ballots Owens had a plurality better than a majority of the vote cast, obtaining this third ballot.

The permanent headquarters of the brotherhood will remain in Cincinnati.

Original sin—Apple stealing.

Buy Good Building Lots In Rosemont

Now is the time to buy some good building lots in Nelson's best addition. Good soil, city water and electric light; telephones and good roads. A portion of this subdivision has building restriction on the lots, assuring a good class of residence. A splendid view, both up and down the west arm of Kootenay Lake. The lots have good frontage, and prices range from $50.00 each to $500.00, depending on size of lot and location. The terms are very easy, 5 per cent cash and 5 per cent per month, and for cash a discount of 10 per cent will be allowed. Some of the best locations already sold. If you contemplate building, do not overlook Rosemont. You will be surprised and pleased when you see the building sites.

Mrs. Mark Palmer Liked Cream

Mrs. Palmer "was raised" on a farm in a valley of Pennsylvania. She says that when she married and came to Canada with her husband (a Canadian) cream seemed such a price they could not afford it like when she lived in the country.

The only substitute that gives satisfaction in cooking is Pacific Milk. They buy a case each month and it is the only milk or cream they use.

Do You Sell Service, Mr. Salesman?

The old style drummer used to tell some funny stories, get an order and let it go at that.

The modern salesman sells service as well as goods.

He brings the dealers new suggestions instead of antiquated jokes.

The best service he can give a dealer is the assurance that his firm is advertising or planning to advertise in the newspapers of the dealer's city.

That means action at the dealer's counter, more sales all around and a storekeeper that calls the salesman "Santa Claus."

BUCHANANS TAKE THE THIRD GAME

The two local baseball teams clashed again yesterday in the third game of the season, Buchanan's team winning from Notman's line-up by the score of 8 to 5. Both teams played fast ball and the score was clase all the way. Bradshaw and O'Genski, pitching for the winners, had an assortment of curves that kept Scotty's men guessing. Hall, pitching for the losing team, had everything a pitcher needs, but his support was a little ragged in the pinch. He deserved better luck. Hunt and Notman both caught a good game. The line-up:

All Stars — C. Madden, 2nd; H. Nagle, cf.; E. C. Hunt c.; E. L. Buchanan, 1st b.; F. O'Genski, ss. and p.; "Mac" MacEeachern, lf.; F. Shuttleworth, 3rd; C. Bradshaw, p. and ss.; T. Defarro, rf.

Hopefuls—A. Dill, 3rd; C. Middleton, 2nd; Ira Hall, p.; W. Blanchard, rf.; A. Bowness, lf.; H. Svoboda, ss.; W. Hosking, 1st b.; J. Curran, cf.; Jas. Notman, c.

There will be another game between these two teams next Wednesday evening at 6.30 sharp.

BENNY LEONARD KNOCKS OUT EARNE IN SIXTH

TRENTON, N. J., May 21.—Benny Leonard, champion lightweight of the world, knocked out Young Earne, of Buffalo, in the sixth round here tonight.

Earne put up a game fight for three rounds and staggered the champion in the fourth. The title-holder became mad and gave Earne an unmerciful lacing. The bell saved him in the fifth. He sent him to the canvas in the sixth badly bleeding about the fact and body.

BOSTON NATIONALS PURCHASE OUTFIELDER JIM THORPE

NEW YORK, May 21.—The Boston Nationals today purchased Jim Thorpe, famous Indian outfielder, from the New York National league.

REINSTATE VINCENT RICHARDS, NATIONAL TENNIS CHAMPION

NEW YORK, May 21.—Vincent Richards, holder of six national titles, has been officially reinstated to good standing by the amateur rules committee of the U. S. National Lawn Tennis association, following his resignation from the employ of a local sporting goods firm.

GOOD ROADS TO BE SHOWN BY MOVIES

Holding that sound highway development is a question of basic importance to the people of the United States, officials of the visual instruction section of the department of interior are perfecting plans for an international distribution of slides and motion pictures depicting road construction and the benefits to be derived therefrom.

The work is under the charge of F. W. Reynolds, associate director of the educational extension division, who is assembling as his aides some of the best known authorities in the United States in all branches of visual instruction from the first preparation of the film to its introduction to the smallest school, church or club in the smallest community in the country.

Few phases of government work are more interesting than this as presented by Mr. Reynolds.

Topics of National Interest

"The visual instruction section will seek to present topics of national interest through the medium of an elaborate booking system," he said. "Arrangements have already been perfected for distribution of these films and slides in 25 states and we are rapidly adding to the number. A set of 40,000 questionnaires sent out recently to universities, schools, community centres and others has developed a surprising interest and everywhere there is a keen demand for educational subjects presented by the government.

"In the war department archives there are now some 1,000,000 feet of film negative presenting every phase of America's participation in the war, little of which has yet been released. We are now making a topical digest of this material with the idea of making war subjects our leader in various topical reviews.

Roadmaking Under Fire

"Thus in the case of highway development we can first show roadmaking in France under fire, the difficulties of transportation, etc., and then branch from that into road construction as carried on in the United States with 'cut ins,' showing the results of road improvement as interpreted by the eye, the surest educational sense we have.

"Unfortunately our funds do not permit us to enter into an extensive film making campaign, hence we are calling upon the National Automobile chamber of commerce and other associations which may have films on this subject to loan them to us. No advertising matter of any kind could be used by the government, beyond a courteous acknowledgment of the source of the picture, but by editing scenes from a number of reels we can build up a series of say ten one-reel features, which we will then link up with war pictures and send out broadcast.

To Prepare Feature Films

"Later as the value of this work becomes apparent we expect to have feature films prepared and offered for use after government inspection. These will always be available to any community desiring them, free of charge.

"In the meantime we are making arrangements to make use of slides which government agencies have on hand and will extend this as rapidly as we can procure new films.

"It is also our plan to interchange highway reels with Great Britain, France and other countries in order that our people may see what they are doing and to give them the benefit of our work."

NEWSPAPER ADVERTISEMENTS THAT MAKE YOU SMILE

"I have watched you very closely for many weeks. I have now come to the conclusion that it is my fortune only that keeps you silent. May I tell you, in all maidenly modesty, that if this is so, my fortune will have proved my worst enemy?"

What delightful romance lies behind this delicate appeal to the young Romeo, who apparently fears to woo because of the obstacle of wealth!! Let us hope that it has met with all the success it deserves, and that today two fond hearts beat as one in blissful contemplation of Hymen's realms.

A well-known novelist once informed the writer that he had found a hint for many a plot and story in the personal columns of the daily press, which abound in romance, tragedy, pathos, and comedy. What must, however, have impressed many people who read day by day the personal column of The Times, from which the aforementioned advertisement is taken, is the self-assurance and sublime audacity of some of the advertisers, who are evidently convinced that one gets nothing in this world without asking for it.

"Breezy Bill," for instance, thus advertises his wants—not to mention his wonderful qualifications:

"Refined Englishman, 28, who has super-satiated a cursed wander-lust by adventure, toil, and peril in many lands, seeks position at salary sufficient to enable him to marry the dear little English girl who has been unwaveringly true. Our wants are small. Our happiness will be infinite. Eight years continent, South America, Far East, South Africa, etc. Experience—accounts, correspondence, tresorial, literary, salesmanship, publicity, three languages; genuine battler, never gets tired; gourmand for work, demon for organization; seeks no sinecure, but will do anything honorable and do it well for £150 p.a."

And surely the world was not quite so hard-hearted as to resist the appeal of the advertiser who thus voiced his troubles and requirements some time ago in The Thunderer:

"To the Rich—A gentleman, 27, good-looking, six feet, very musical and artistic, good voice, sportsman, whose life since the age of 17 has been a lonely struggle for bare necessaries against insistent ill-luck and disappointments, asks someone who may take an interest, and who would not even miss the means, to give him one year of full, real life, to see the beautiful places and things in the world, and to have funds and carte blanche to gratify his own tastes, and taste what the happiness that money gives really is. Address——"

An Australian digger consulted a doctor, and then went to get the prescription. "How much?" he asked the chemist. "Well, let me see. There's seven-and-six for the medicine and a shilling for the bottle." He hesitated, as if uncertain. "Oh, hurry up, boss," said the impatient miner; "put a price on the cork and let us know the worst."

BENNETT-HILTON ENQUIRY ENDED

Street Railway Committee Takes Dismissal Under Advisement

An investigation in to the dismissal and resignation of A. Bennett and A. Hilton, respectively former motorman and conductor on the local street railway, was held in the council chamber by the street railway committee last night. After hearing the evidence the committee took the matter under advisement.

H. P. Thomas and Frank Ingram stated that Bennett had refused to obey instructions when told to carry a few ties on the front of his car on Monday, and that he was notified that he would be discharged. Hilton resigned as soon as he heard of Bennett's dismissal.

Bennett stated that he did not receive orders to carry the ties and that therefore he could not have refused. He said that he was asked if he had carried the ties and he replied that he would carry them if the trackmen loaded them on the cars as he was not physically fit to do such work. He further stated that he believed that it was dangerous to carry ties on passenger cars as he had come near having an accident recently.

Hilton said that he was the one who had refused to carry the ties and that he felt that, since he was in charge of the car, it was his duty to resign when Bennett was dismissed. He said that he was told by J. Lang, one of the trackmen, to bring the ties. He did not consider that he should take orders from the man. When they came to the tie pile Bennett asked him if they would load the ties and he said no.

The statements made by Mr. Ingram and by Bennett differed considerable. The former said that Bennett had stated that the trackmen were receiving the most pay and therefore should do the work. Bennett said he had never mentioned wages while employed on the cars.

Major Anderson, who was present at the request of the G.W.V.A., said he believed a little tact on the part of the railway officials would have prevented all of the trouble.

"Has that young man who is calling on you given you any encouragement, Emily?" asked the father.

"Oh, yes, father. Last night he asked me if you and mother were pleasant to live with," replied the daughter.

"I understand you are Inspector Ferret, the great sleuth-hound detective."

"I am."

"Well, I'll pay very handsomely for the slightest clue to anyone in this neighborhood who is about to move."

"The new cook is dropping kitchenware all over the stove," exclaimed Mrs. Crosslots.

"No, she isn't," answered her husband, after listening carefully; "she is merely playing jazz records on the pnonograph."—Washington Star.

Kind words never die; if they did probably they would be more appreciated.

MEMORY.

We said to Uncle Archibald,
Who verged on eighty-two,
You must remember Inkerman
And Balaclava, too?
"Oh, yes," he answered cheerily,
"I mind the throngs of folks
Which crowded me so closely that
A trouser-button broke."

To you, we said, The Mutiny
No doubt is fresh and clear?
"Oh, yes," he answered with a smile,
"I bought a pup that year,
A terrier as smart and quick
As any you could see.
I called him Rags, and many times
He poached along with me."

'Tis sixty years since you were wed,
You don't forget that day?
"Oh, no," said Uncle Archibald,
"We was amazin' gay.
I don't recall the parson's name
His robes were black and white,
But I remember how I felt,
My boots were new, and tight."

We don't remember great events,
Our minds are ever set
On commonplace and little things,
——The day our feet were wet,
The quarrel with a school-boy friend,
Grease on a canvas shoe—
These are the things we shall recall
When we are eighty-two.

SCIENTIST EXPLAINS THE PRAYING TREE

The mystery of the famous praying tree, has been explained by Sir J. C. Rose, a noted English scientist.

Hindu worshippers claim that this tree prostrates itself in the evening while the temple bells ring, calling the people to prayer, and it erects its head in the morning. This process is repeated every day, to the bewilderment of thousands of Hindus, who naturally com to look upon it as the abode of some "devata" (god). Hundreds offered pujahs to the unknown "devata," which all went to fill the pockets of the owner of the tree. Miraculous cures were reported as a result of pujah offerings.

The curious phenomenon attracted the attention of Sir J. C. Rose, who, after much difficulty, obtained permission of the owner of the tree to investigate the matter. He devised special instruments—all of swadeslu manufacture— and began to take records. He found that the palm tree fell with the rise of temperature and rose with its fall. Records obtained with other trees brought out the hitherto unsuspected fact that all trees were moving, such movement being in response to changes in their environment.

Sir J. C. Rose holds the opinion that "the whole of the vegetable world, including the rigid trees, perceive the changes in their environment and re-
