EXPLOSION DESTROYS ELEVATOR

TEN DEAD AND 16 INJURED IN ACCIDENT AT PORT COLBORNE

LOSS IS ESTIMATED AT APPROXIMATELY $1,500,000

Entire Upper Three Flats of Huge Structure Scattered in Huge Blocks in Harbor

ST. CATHERINES, Ont., Aug. 10.—Ten persons are dead and 16 injured, at least two seriously, as the result of an explosion which blew off the upper portion of the mammoth government elevator at Port Colborne at 1:15 o'clock Saturday afternoon, scattering hundreds of tons of steel and concrete in every direction.

The Dead

The dead, all but one of Port Colborne, are:

Joseph Latour, master of the barge Quebec, Cote St. Paul, Que.

Charles Aston, elevator weighmaster.

William Cook, assistant weighmaster.

J. P. Hanahan, chief spouter.

Alonza Dunham, assistant shipper.

E. W. Mcheiner, assistant spouter.

Alfred Leslie, laborer.

Albert Beck, assistant shipper.

Albert Dunlap, marine tower man.

Clarence Hart, stevedore.

The Injured

The injured are: Arthur Montreuil, Cascade, Que., seriously injured, burned on body, injured back and legs; R. Herron, deep cut on head and legs, badly bruised; Wilfrid Belanger, Montreal, cut about head and burned; Hector Latour, captain of barge Quebec, Montreal, deep cut on temple and bruised; two children of Captain Latour slightly injured.

Seven members of the elevator loading gang, more or less burned: S. Armstrong, S. Mouk, Ellery Neff, George Aitkin, R. Blackhall, B. S. Harvie and William Raho.

The bodies of Beck and Dunlap have not yet been recovered, but there is no doubt as to their fate.

Doubt exists as the cause of the explosion, which not only lifted the huge reinforced concrete roof, scattering it in hugh blocks into the barbor, but carried the entire upper three flats with it, including the distributing floor and the working house machinery. Tons of debris were hurled into the storage space around the elevator, in which was between 400,000 and 500,000 bushels of wheat.

Loss Set at $1,500,000

The loss is estimated at $1,500,000.

At the time of the explosion the barge Quebec, owned by the Montreal Transportation company, was being loaded at the side of the elevator and was sunk by hundreds of tons of debris. A hole three feet square was driven into the side at the water line.

Elevator employees, who were loading the barge, and the deckhands were buried beneath the wreckage, many of them being killed instantly. The body of Joseph Latour, the mate, was completely cut in two. Serious injuries were sustained by Arthur Montreuil, and little hope is held out for his recovery. A flying girder attached to a great block of concrete jammed him against a winch on board the barge. All the men available were unable to extricate him and they were obliged to leave him pinned down with his back gainst hot steam pipes, until the arrival of a scow with a derrick, by which the weight was removed. The unfortunate man retained consciousness during the ordeal, wounds to his head being bandaged as he awaited release.

Captain Latour, his wife and five children were a dinner, but managed to extricate themselves when the cabin was crushed in. When the captain reached the deck, Lascar Vareau was the only one of the crew or loading gang upon his feet. Perron dived into the water immediately and although struck by pieces of wreckage, he managed to keep afloat until assistance arrived.

With the exception of Montreuil and Perron, who were taken to hotels in the village, the remainder of the injured were removed to their homes.

Superintendent F. W. Fawcett, when interviewed today, did not think the explosion was due to spontaneous combustion. He believed that belting and other inflammable material took fire. He stated that any men who were in position to give an opinion as to the cause of the explosion were either killed or too seriously injured to be questioned.

Mr. Fawcett is of the opinion that a great portion of the wheat can be salvaged.

The elevator and dock were first built in 1908 and a larger addition was made in 1914: "The actual cost is only known at Ottawa," said Mr. Fawcett, "but it has been mentioned at about $3,000,000."

Good Weather, Full Moon and No Fog Marks Trip as Far as Newfoundland

ST. JOHNS, Nfld., Aug. 10.—The admiralty wireless station announced tonight that the British battleship Renown, on which the Prince of Wales is coming to this country, was met by the cruiser Dauntless 120 miles off St. Johns at 3 o'clock this evening. The cruiser Dragon was accompanying the Renown. The Dauntless preceded the other warships to this point last week to make arrangements for the reception of the Royal visitor.

The flotilla was proceeding slowly in good weather with a full moon and no fog and will enter Conception bay early tomorrow morning. It is stated that the Renown will cruise around the bay and will come to this city tomorrow. It was learned that the Renown had sufficient fuel to take her to Halifax. The Dragon will re-fuel here.

The new board is to be both investigatory and mandatory, and will have power to deal with combines which have for their purpose the undue enhancement of prices.

'BIG UNION' MEN TOLD TO MOVE

Drumheller Miners Start Six Leaders on as Many Different Trails from Town

CALGARY, Aug. 10.—A climax to the tense situation which has existed between the O.B.U. element of the miners at Drumheller and the group of veterans employed at the Moodie mines, came Saturday evening when some of the veterans came quietly into Drumheller, seized five or six of the O.B.U. leaders, took them out of town and faced them outward on separate trails and told them to keep going.

They have not been heard of since, though it is reported that they will attempt to return to the town. A clash is expected if this attempt is carried out.

The men run out included Secretary Sullivan of the O.B.U. local organization, and McDonald, Dufois and Thompson, other prominent leaders in the movement.

There was no violence connected with the incident. It was carried out almost without the knowledge of many of the town's people. One of the prominent citizens of Drumheller said he would not vouch for the peace of the community much longer if the mines did not get going and the tense atmosphere relieved in some way.

Secretary Ed. Browne, of the District 18 miners, left Calgary last night for Drumheller on receipt of the report of the trouble. He has been organizing the district for the O.B.U.

The mines at Drumheller will be opened Monday morning, under protection of pickets comprised of returned men, for any miner who wants to go to work under international affiliation. A committee of the citizens was appointed at a public meeting held Sunday evening to aid in providing protection for the miners who returned. The pickets will not be armed. This is really the first test between the O.B.U. and the miners loyal to the international.

SEVEN KNOWN DEAD IN FIRE AT MONTREAL

"MYSTIC HILL" AND PART OF SCENIC RAILWAY IN PARK BURN

SEVERAL MORE MEMBERS MAY BE RECOVERED TODAY

Carload of People Believed to Have Fallen Into a Roaring Furnace

MONTREAL, Aug. 10.—Charred beyond the possibility of recognition, the bodies of three men, three women and a boy were recovered tonight from the ruins of Mystic Hill and part of the scenic railway which were destroyed by fire at the Dominion park amusement resort near this city. It is thought that several more bodies will be recovered tomorrow when the wreck is searched. The exact cause of the fire is unknown, but it is thought it may have been started by a cigarette or a match. The flames spread quickly and were fanned by a westerly wind which blew toward the river front, and it is to this that is due the salvation of the entire park.

When the firemen arrived the Mystic Hill was enveloped in flames. They heard shouts for help and moans of agony, but it was impossible to aid the victims. They broke down the walls and in this way got a few persons out.

The scenic railway fell with a crash into a roaring furnace. It is said that there was a carload of people on it at the time.

The only way the firemen could tell the sex of one of the bodies they recovered was by a gold watch. Two other bodies were found closely huddled together and later the body of what is believed to have been a boy, was found. One of the bodies had neither, head, arms, legs, nor was there anything by which it could be identified.

Many rumors spread through the city during the evening and immense crowds poured into the park. Thousands visited the scene of the holacaust. The presence of firemen and the liberal sprinkling of water throughout the entire resort did not prevent the people from entering the various sideshows.

ACTORS' STRIKE CLOSES TEN NEW YORK THEATRES

NEW YORK, Aug. 10.—Ten New York theatres were "dark" Saturday night at the end of the third day of the actors' strike. To the nine which were closed Friday night was added this evening the Globe, where "She's a Good Fellow" is billed.

Members of the actors' equity association expressed confidence that they would win the written equity contracts embodying the demands for which they went on strike. They professed not to be disheartened by the fact that, following the resignation of E. H. Sothern, there were received at equity headquarters the resignation of William Collier, Holbrook Blinn and Alan Rinehart, the last two co-stars in the new production at the Selwyn theatre, "The Challenge." In tendering his resignation, Mr. Collier said he was "very much averse to the action of the actors' equity association in closing up theatres by ordering a so-called strike."

A sympathetic strike on Monday of theatre musicians and stage hands in support of striking members of the actors' equity association was forecast in a statement issued at the "equity" headquarters tonight.

The statement quoted an address by James P. Holland, president of the New York State Federation of Labor, with which the actors are affiliated, in which he was said to have declared that unless the strike was settled the musicians and stage hands would be called out Monday.

At headquarters of the international alliance of federated stage employes, it was stated that the state federation could not call a sympathetic strike, but that a request from it probably would result in a vote on the proposal by the executive committee of the musicians and stage hands' unions.

AIR MINISTRY EMPLOYEES DID NOT EARN THEIR PAY

LONDON, Aug. 10.—Sir John Hunter, director of factory construction and iron and steel production under the ministry of munitions, in the course of testimony before an investigating committtee on national expenditure, yesterday said that in the erection of works for the air ministry, no man employed had earned the money he received.

These men numbered 70,000, Sir John declared, and in some cases wages were drawn regularly and charged to the government for men who did not exist.

Sir John added that he had found a conspiracy of government men and contractors, saying some of them had been arrested but the crown declined to prosecute them.

MISU DEFENDS RUMANIAN ARMY

Declares Defeat of the Hungarian Bolsheviki Paves the Way for Stable Government

PARIS, Aug. 10 (By the Associated Press).—"We are at a loss to understand why the allies, and the Americans above all, should criticise Rumania for its action in defeating the bolsheviki in Hungary," said Nicholas Misu of the Rumanian peace delegation.

"We feel that we have done the peace conference and the entire world a service by giving the Hungarians an opportunity to set up a representative government. Furthermore, we were forced to march against Budapest in self-defense. Hungary attacked us, and the bolsheviki threatened to advance beyond the armistice lines fixed between us and the Hungarians.

"Then when other armies refused to move against the Hungarian bolsheviki we moved alone. We shall move our troops from Budapest when the Hungarians have been thoroughly disarmed and no longer threaten our very existence.

Cannot Sign Austrian Treaty

"Meantime, we hope the whole world will take pains to learn the truth about the peril which forced us to fight for our lives. We have never left the peace conference, and shall obey its orders, but we cannot sign the Austrian treaty if it contains no provisions for the protection of minorities. We believe it is wrong for the big powers to force such conditions on the small powers.

"We favor a clause proposed for the League of Nations which would have guaranteed the rights of all persons, regardless of race or religion, and believe that such action should be taken by all the nations acting together and imposed upon all alike rather than upon a few powers by the great powers."

Suppress Clemenceau's Note

BERLIN, Aug. 9.—The Rumanian army officials at Budapest have forbidden the newspapers to print the note of Premier Clemenceau, announcing the creation of a mission of allied generals to go to Budapest in an attempt to adjust the Hungarian situation and take charge of the armistice question, according to reports reaching here.

An English and an Italian aviator, learning of this, left Vienna and flew over Budapest, dropping thousands of placards bearing Premier Clemenceau's message. The Rumanians then prohibited service between Budapest and Vienna for 12 hours.

The Hungarian proletariat and bourgeosie have expressed fears that a monarchy is coming in Hungary, while the adherents of the Szegedin government and royalists are openly championing the monarchistic ideal.

Airplanes last night dropped placards over Budapest, proclaiming "King Joseph."

Protests Rumanian Excesses

LONDON, Aug. 9.—General Gordon, British representative on the interallied military commission, appointed by the allies to arrange a settlement at Budapest, visited the Rumanian commander in that city on Friday to protest against the excesses of the Rumanian troops, according to advices from Vienna. The commander declined to accept General Gordon's letter of protest.

MILLIONS ARE WITHOUT FOOD

American Relief Commission Official Tells of Famine Conditions in Europe

NEW YORK, Aug. 10.—Dr. Alonzo Taylor, professor of chemistry in the University of Pennsylvania, chairman of surveys for the American relief administration, returned yesterday aboard the steamship Patria after eight months' work in Germany, Austria, Hungary, Rumania and Serbia.

"There are millions of people in Europe who have no food," he said, "and who look to the United States to supply it. Growing of crops abroad is curtailed pending territorial adjustments. Governments will not spend millions of dollars for farm implements, even if they can obtain them, to be used on land that may shortly be given in a neighboring nation.

Central Europe in Chaos

"There are nearly one hundred millions of people in central Europe," said Professor Taylor. "The armistice left these in political chaos, divided into new states, struggling with inexperienced governments, their transportation disorganized, with scarcity of coal, great depreciation of currency, acute struggles between labor and capital and all over the pall of war fatigue.

"Food was the immediate problem. If they could be carried into the new harvest this would afford time in part for their governments to become stabilized, their communications to be restored, their railways reorganized, their supplies of fuel established. This would give six months for the study of their problem of currency and for the re-establishment of industry in order that inter-state commerce might be resumed.

"The great defect in central Europe today, indeed, in Europe as a whole, is the failure of production."

Poland Situation Hopeful

Considering the central European countries individually Dr. Taylor said:

"Poland is in a fairly hopeful situation, despite the great scarcity of work animals. Finland and the east Baltic states are in a condition of chaos. Czecho-Slovakia is in fairly good condition. American foodstuffs alone enabling the people to carry on until the present harvest. Rumania also has been carried on by American and British foodstuffs. The Serbs, Croats and Slovenes are harvesting a good crop which will give them an exportable surplus .

"Austria is in very bad shape and in Hungary the peasants sent food to Budapest only under compulsion. The city is being fed by the American relief administration.

"Bulgaria has remained outside of the field of relief, politically, economically and in every other way."

WINNIPEG, Aug. 10.—Hon. Newton W. Rowell was in the city for a short time today on his way east from British Columbia, where he has been spending a few weeks' vacation. Mr. Rowell declined to discuss the proceedings of the National Liberal convention of last week.

GENERAL CURRIE IS ON WAY HOME

Left England Saturday on Caronia—Expresses Thanks for British Hospitality.

LONDON, Aug. 10 (Canadian Associated Press).—General and Lady Currie left England Saturday aboard the Caronia which carried also 3,000 Canadians from both Dominion and Imperial uints.

The Canadian corp commander left London Wednesday without any formal farewells, although a month ago he and Lady Currie lunched with their Majesties at Buckingham Palace. Their last two days in England were spent among Lady Currie's relatives i nNottinghamshire.

As they stepped aboard the Caronia at the Huskisson dock, Liveral, General Currie was recognized and heartily greeted by many soldiers. Local reporters subsequently interviewed the general, who made a pleasant reference to English hospitality to Canadian soldiers. He also expressed the opinion that Canadians would doubtless return with a better understanding of England and her people. General Currie, however, was not to be drawn into less general observations.

He told the Canadian Associated Press that he expected to go to Ottawa direct and will fulfill his Toronto engagements on August 30. He trusts he will be spared much speech making. Majors Willis O'Connor, F. W. Miller and R. C. Bennet, of his staff, travel with General Currie.

Agreeable references to his leaving appear in several of Saturday night's papers.

LLOYD GEORGE DID NOT FEAR DEFEAT IN WAR

GERMAN C[illegible] MAKES PUBLIC ANOTHER CHAPTER ON PEACE-MAKING.

TELLS OF ALLEGED CONFERENCE WITH SMUTS

Czernin Sent Mendorff to "Ask Immediately Whether a General Peace Was Possible."

BELIN, Aug. 9 (Associated Press).—Count Von Wedel, former German ambassador to Austria Hungary, has made public another chapter of the attempts at peace-making while hostilities were in progress. This concerns an alleged conference between General Jan Christian Smuts on behalf of David Lloyd George, the British prime minister and Count Mensdorff, former Austrian ambassador to Great Britain, for Count Czernin, the former Austrian foreign minister.

Czernin, says Count Wedel, had great confidence in Mensdorff, because Mensdorff was popular in London. Czernin regretted that Mensdorff tried to prevent the war, but gave the former ambassador explicit instructions "to ask immediately whether a general peace was possible and whether peace for Germany was possible."

"In case the answer is yes," Count Wedel quotes Czernin as saying, "suggest that German representatives be drawn into the conference. In case the answer is no, further discussion will be useless."

Smuts Answered "No"

General Smuts replied by saying, Von Wedel asserts, that peace could not be discussed with Germany. He admitted that he believed that the German army could not be vanquished, but he insisted that the time had not come to parley with Germany.

Count Von Wedel said he believed the only time when Great Britain and France earnestly considered peace was in the summer of 1917, when the sinking of vessels by German submarines alarmed them. They intended to go to Italy to confer concerning the possibility of a rapproachment but gave up the idea as a result of the news arriving from Austria.

Von Wedel said he did not know what terms Great Britain and France would have offered, but he questioned whether it would have been the status quo.

Supremacy at Stake

Von Wedel quoted a high British officer who was in Vienna last fall, who praised the German army. The officer is said to have declared that Premier Lloyd George had reached the conclusion that no peace understanding was possible because supremacy in Europe was at stake. Though Lloyd George originally was anxious for peace, according to the officer, it was not because he feared defeat but rather the effect on urope of a long conflict.

Count Von Wedel said that he believed that those who thought there was a possibility of a peace understanding during the last two years of the war over-estimated the possibilities of the situation.

U.S. PACIFIC FLEET OFF LOS ANGELES

ON BOARD THE FLAGSHIP NEW MEXICO, OFF THE PORT OF LOS ANGELES, Aug. 10 (By Associated Press).—The Pacific fleet came yesterday to make its bow to Los Angeles. Six dreadnaughts of the heavy fighting line and two of the older class battleships of the United States navy dropped their mudhooks in the afternoon at the San Pedro breakwater, while 23 destroyers, with the mother ship, the cruiser Birmingham, and the tender Prairie, came up into the inner harbor for anchorage.

The flagship New Mexico, with the secretary of the navy's flag — four white stars and an anchor of blue—flying from the main truck, took up her anchorage, with her sister ship, the Mississippi, outside the harbor, where the smaller battleships, the Vermont and the Georgia, also let go their anchors. Nested within the breakwater were the dreadnaughts Wyoming, Arkansas, Texas and New York.

Governors on Flagship

On board the New Mexico, with Secretary of the Navy Daniels and family, making the trip from San Diego to San Pedro, were Governor Stephens of California and daughter; Governor Larrazolo of New Mexico, and also a welcoming committee from Los Angeles that boarded the flagship from a destroyer just before the fleet sailed from San Diego.

Six o'clock Saturday morning found Admiral Rodman, with his flag lieutenant, Lieutenant Commander Jonas Ingram, on the bridge of the New Mexico. Orders had been given to "shove off" at that hour and four bells had scarcely ceased sounding when the flagship, with her anchors scarcely inboard, steamed slowly southward to the whistle buoy, with the other dreadnaughts falling into single column formation.

Puts Fleet Through Paces

Admiral Rodman put the fleet through a series of evolutions, fulfilling a promise made at Hampton Roads that when he reached the Pacific seaboard he would put the fleet through some maneuvres that "would make fox hunting look like a tame sport."

"This is wonderful," said Secretary Daniels, as the dreadnaughts swung to left and then right, while destroyers darted hither and thither in speedy evolutions. "It seems easy to handle a fleet in this way, but I know that it is not."

BROOKLYN TRANSIT STRIKE ENDED ON SATURDAY

NEW YORK, Aug. 9.—The strike which for four days has paralyzed traffic on the surface, subway and elevated lines of the Brooklyn Rapid Transit company, was called off tonight after an agreement had been reached between representatives of the strikers and Lindley M. Garrison, receiver for the road.

Under the terms of this agreement the strikers win their principal dedemand, recognition of the Amalgamated Association of Street and Electrical Railway employees — provided they can show that 50 per cent. of the company's employees were members of the union on August 8.

Other clauses provide that Mr. Garrison will receive a committee presenting grievances of the employees, that any grievances which cannot be adjusted will be submitted to arbitration, and that the receiver and the strikers bind themselves to abide by the results of such arbitration.

If arbitration becomes necessary, a board of three will be constituted, consisting of Mr. Garrison or his designee; P. M. Shea, member of the amalgamated executive committee, or his designee, and a member to be selected by the two.

PARIS, Friday, Aug. 9 (Associated Press).—The disposition of prisoners held by American forces in France was discussed today by the supreme council of the peace conference, and it was decided that it was impossible to release such prisoners until these powers have ratified the treaty with Germany. It will be necessary, therefore, for the United States to cooperate with France in guarding the prisoners, and this probably will make it necessary to retain some American soldiers in France.

PROFESSOR HAECKEL DIED AT JENA ON SATURDAY

JENA, Germany, Aug. 10.—Professor Ernst Heinrich Haeckel, professor of zoology at the University of Jena, and famous throughout the world for his research work supporting the theory of evolution, died here Saturday.

Little has been heard of Professor Haeckel during the war. What news of his actions reached this country was marked by the same independence of spirit that characterized his life work. The publication of his work on God and the immortality of the soul in 1915 brought a recurrence of that vigorous criticism by opponents of his theories that has punctuated his long scientific career.

Professor Haeckel was one of those who signed the circular demanding the retirement of Chancellor von Bethmann-Hollweg of Germany in the fall of 1916.

"The false cosmoplitan idealism of the German people," was criticised by Professor Haeckel in a contribution to war literature in 1918. This false idealism he termed "the greatest danger of its national existence."

HOW MRS. BOYD AVOIDED AN OPERATION

Canton, Ohio.—"I suffered from a female trouble which caused me much suffering, and two doctors decided that I would have to go through an operation before I could get well.

"My mother, who had been helped by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, advised me to try it before submitting to an operation. It relieved me from my troubles so I can do my house work without any difficulty. I advise any woman who is afflicted with female troubles to give Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound a trial and it will do as much for them."—Mrs. MARIE BOYD, 1421 5th St., N. E., Canton, Ohio.

Sometimes there are serious conditions where a hospital operation is the only alternative, but on the other hand so many women have been cured by this famous root and herb remedy, Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, after doctors have said that an operation was necessary—every woman who wants to avoid an operation should give it a fair trial before submitting to such a trying ordeal.

If complications exist, write to Lydia E. Pinkham Medicine Co., Lynn, Mass., for advice. The result of many years experience is at your service.

GAINS ENHANCED BY WILSON TALK

Wall Street Views Message as Very Favorable to Constructive Side.

NEW YORK, Aug. 10.—Trading in stocks on Saturday was influenced almost entirely by President Wilson's address, which Wall street interests, conservative as well as speculative, accepted as extremely favorable to the constructive side. Gains of the preceding session were considerably enhanced, especially in equipments, and the wide range of industrials which are expected to show further prosperity by enormous post-war demands.

Rails and food shares, which suffered severely in recent declines, also rallied vigorously, a large part of the week's extreme losses being recovered. In a few noteworthy instances, such as American Car and several of the higher priced specialties substantial net gains over last week's strong close were made, the market finishing at advances of two to nine points.

Sales amounted to 635,000 shares.

General news of the day also favored the long account, including the July tonnage statement of the United States Steel Corporation, which disclosed an increase in unfilled orders of almost 700,000 tons over the preceding month. This marks the second successive increase of the corporation and brings the total business on hand up to and beyond any period since last March.

Industrials conditions also improved as indicated by the return to work of thousands of railroad shopmen, but mercantile business halted, according to the reviews of trade agencies by reason of the agitation against the high cost of living. Bonds were irregular. Liberty issues as well as internationals. Total sales (par value) aggregated $7,250,000. Old United States bonds were unchanged on call during the week.

BIG ADVANCE IN PRICE OF GRAIN AT CHICAGO

CHICAGO, Aug. 10. — Sensational crop conditions shown in the government report brought about a big advance on Saturday in the price of grain. Corn closed strong, 4 to 6½ cents net higher, with September 194 to 194½ and December 156½ to 157. Oats finished 1⅞ to 2⅞ cents up and provisions rose 40 cents to $1.50.

MONTREAL PRODUCE

MONTREAL, Aug. 10.—The egg market was unchanged during the week. A fairly active trade was shown in potatoes and the tone of the market ruled fairly steady. The butter market was quiet. The cheese market was active, there being a good steady demand for all supplies coming forward.

Cheese, finest easterns, 25; butter, choicest creamery, 54 to 54½; eggs, fresh, 62 to 64; selected, 57 to 58; No. 1 stock 50 to 52; No. 2 stock 43 to 45. Potatoes, per bag, car lots, $2.25 to $2.50.

TORONTO EXCHANGE

TORONTO, Aug. 10.—Business on the stock exchange at the short session yesterday was very dull and the only price movement of note in the stocks was a gain of 1½ in Steamships in which more than half of the local trading was done. The stock opened at 53, and closed at 53½. A movement in Victory Loan prices also featured the session. The 1922 issue advanced ½, 1927, ⅜; while the 1937 issue lost ¼ and regained it at the close.

TO STOP PROFITEERING

BERNE, Aug. 9. — Food Minister Kaepelli, at a conference held at the federal palace today, for the purpose of finding means to reduce the cost of living, declared that stocks held for speculation would be seized for the benefit of the population. The creation of a federal office to fix prices was proposed.

Reduction of profits of the middlemen and the necessity of international negotiations, with a view to reducing prices, were discussed.

MUCH INTEREST IN REVELSTOKE MINES

Albert Canyon and Illecillewaet Districts Active—New Ore Body on Lanark—Mastodon Develops.

Much interest in the leading camp of the Revelstoke mining division during 1918, was reported by Arthur Johnston, gold commissioner, in the annual report of the minister of mines. Mr. Johnstone wrote as follows:

The Mastodon Mining Company, which is operating on LaForme creek, 20 miles north of Revelstoke, continued the work of developing its property throughout the season with a crew of twelve men. The properties extend over the summit from LaForme creek to the slope of Carnes creek. The season's work under the direction of the manager of the company, J. W. Evans, proved most encouraging. On the Carnes creek slope a great deal of open-cut work has been done on the veins, all exposing ore. The company has also drifted 70 feet on one of these. When the snow came this fall the crew moved to the shaft at the lower vein, which has been sunk 110 feet to the 143-foot level. The high-grade zinc is giving way and is now showing galena. On the 110-foot level a drift 80 feet long was made and crosscut at three points, disclosing high-grade zinc ore. Some 20 tons of ore has been moved to the end of the wagon road, sixteen miles from Revelstoke, which could have been shipped to the smelter had it not been for slides which occurred on the road this fall. This was the only property working in the Big Bend, although the individual miner and the prospector completed the annual assessments on their claims.

Placer mining was at a practical standstill. Remillard and associates, who have under lease some placer-ground on French creek, devoted the entire summer in constructing a flume for the purpose of bringing sufficient water from French creek on to the ground. The flume is about completed and the forthcoming season should see active mining. French creek was a big producer in the early sixties.

Albert Canyon and Illecillewaet districts were the most active during the season just past. A number of men prominent in the mining business made visits to the camps.

The Silver Creek mines, known locally as the Woolsey group, are located up Silver creek, about six miles from the Canadian Pacific railway at Albert Canyon. This property is owned by Calgary capitalists and is managed by David Woolsey. The operations this season were devoted chiefly to the erection of cabins and mine buildings, and the construction of a trail from the railroad to the mines. This year plans are out for extensive development of the strong leads that are known to traverse the property.

Adjoining this group, Sandberg & Hedstrom have located two claims that have excellent showings of high-grade ore exposed on the surface. No work has been done on the ground and the permanency of the ore bodies is not as yet determined.

Lanark—W. B. Dornberg, manager of the Lanark mines, continued extensive improvements to the mine equipment this year. A 20-horse power hydro-electric plant was constructed to run the concentrator and compressor; the former was installed two years ago, whilst the latter was added to the equipment this season. Development work consisted chiefly in opening up the new ore bodies, which, by systematic prospecting under the direction of Mr. Dornberg, were recently located and defined. The new lead discovered on the Lanark and which was prospected thoroughly has given considerable value to the company's holdings. It has proven to be an entirely new ore bearing zone and has no connection with the old Lanark leads, from which hundreds of tons of high-grade silver-lead ores have been extracted and smelted, and which still hold extensive deposits now being prospected and blocked out for future tonnage. Twelve miners were employed at actual mining, and a big crew of men was engaged in erecting the new equipment during the summer months.

In the Cariboo-Mountain creek district a number of claims were located and recorded during the summer and fall. This district is just east of the Lanark properties above Illecillewaet, about twenty-five miles east of Revelstoke. The leads located are all well defined and the ore samples brought into the city are high-grade silver-lead and copper-gold.

DEVELOPMENT FINDS IN LARDEAU MINING

Many Examinations for Outside Capital—Multiplex in Good Position—Customs Concentrator.

Writing of conditions in the Lardeau Mining Division for 1918, Arthur Johnson, gold commissioner at Revelstoke, reported much development finding. His report, found in the annual repor tof the minister of mines, is as follows:

Mining operations in this division show a further decrease over that of last year. Like all the mining districts in oNrth Kootenay, it felt the effects of war conditions, which of necessity curtailed expenditure in the exploitation of the less developed mines; there being practically no capital for the development of prospects.

The Multiplex Mining Company, which has been the largest operator in the Camborne camp during the past few years, ceased active work early in the year owing to conditions which made it impossible to get sufficient help for the economic working of the property. Up to date this company has expended upwards of $25,000 in actual mine development, and the property is now in a good position for future operations. It is understood that the finances of the company are in good shape for this year and a vigorous development policy is planned. It is understood it is the company's intention to construct a concentrator this year to handle the output. It is likely to be a customs concentrator, and will be of great benefit to the small mine-owner who desires to concentrate his oire and thus save transportation and procure the maximum of smelter returns.

The Beatrice was bonded last fall to a company represented at Vancouver. It is expected that the bond holders will be on the ground as soon as the season opens up, with a view to opening up again this famous old shipper of silver-lead-zinc ores.

The Berniere, Nelson and Goldfinch, all free-milling properties, were inspected late last fall by Mr. Wilde, a mining engineer representing Los Angeles capitalists, accompanied by J. A. Darragh, one of the oldest operators in the Camborne camp. Mr. Wilde will return this spring to the camp for a further examination of these properties, as well as others in the neighborhood.

A deal is now pending for the purchase of the Scout and Big Showing groups, which are owned by George Goldsmith and associates, of Cranbrook.

The Eva and Oyster-Criterion gold properties, which are the most highly developed in the district, have remained idle for some time. These properties were inspected last summer by mining men from Vancouver, but there is no evidence of their intentions in respect of these mines.

There are a number of excellent prospects located in this division that are well worthy of the inspection and consideration of those seeking a field for future mining enterprise.

UNCOVERS GOLD WITH IDLE BLOW

How the Gold Plate on Roaring Creek Became Identified — Boulder Known Fifteen Years.

By an idle swing of his hammer five years ago, Robert Qua, the well known Nelson prospector, chipped a fragment from a big boulder known to have traces of silver-lead, and with which he had personally been acquainted for 15 years, and proved that it also contained free gold.

This experience compares with that of Benjamin Lawson who, a few days ago, obtained an astonishing assay from a sample of ore from the Tenderfoot mine that had reposed on his back veranda for two years. While Mr. Lawson's returns, however, merely told him his property had some galena ore running $1,700 per ton, it did not reveal to him a new ore. Mr. Qua's absent-minded chipping, on the other hand, proved that the parent ledge from which the boulder came was mixed in character. It also identified the location—the head of Roaring Creek and Five-Mile Creek—as belonging in the belt of mixed ore that extends from the Athabasca to Ymir.

The Gold Plate group of five claims is one of the oldest known to local prospectors, and the earlier claims of the group were staked by Godfrey Birch. Mr. Birch sold out to Mr. Qua, who bonded the property to G. Taylor. The bond was not fulfilled and the group came back to Mr. Qua. Early development consisted of some ground sluicing, which revealed a small ledge carrying lead and silver. There was also revealed this boulder which was found to assay lead and silver to the value of $20. For 15 years the boulder lay on the dump till chance brought to light its golden secret. The paystreak of gold revealed assayed $450 and $434, the silver values being but a small item.

The ledge from which the boulder came has never been found, though ground sluicing has been done in the last five years in the hope of locating it. Another two-ton boulder, however, was brought to light this last spring, along with smaller pieces of the same kind of quartz which the original buoldder contained. Considerable silver-lead float has been found.

Robert Qua, Charles Robertson and Mrs. R. G. Joy are the owners of the Gold Plate.

NO CANADIAN EXCHANGE

To accommodate our appreciated and rapidly-increasing clientele in Canada, we have just opened an account with the Imperial Bank of Canada, at Nelson, B.C., and are now prepared to fill orders for local stocks without exacting the usual exchange charges—a very serious item at this time.

All stocks ordered by clients north of the line will be forwarded to the Imperial Bank and checks on that and other Canadian banks will be accepted in full payment. Canadian purchases will go through the same channel. We believe this innovation will be appreciated.

We are always in the market, both ways, for all active stocks. Just now we have demand for Rambler-Cariboo, Silversmith common, Cork-Province, Electric Point and Richmond.

SOVIET RULE IN HUNGARY COMES TO AN END

Soviet rule in Hungary did not last lon. Under the Bolshevists, Hungarian industries ceased to operate, the land to produce. The people went out on an extended debauch of idleness. Complete demoralization followed, with the result that a few days ago the Rumanian armies were surging against the gates of Budapest, while Bela Kun, the Bolshevist dictator, had disappeared.

Archduke Joseph is now in charge of the government. He is of royal blood but appears to have the support of the truly democratic sections of the Hungarian people. Whether he can hold that support or not depends upon his qualifications for carrying on a democratic government suitable to the needs and standards of Hungary and the Hungarians.

His choice at the present moment is not necessarily a tribute to his suitability for the office. Undoubtedly the Hungarian people, outside of the Bolshevist leaders, were willing after a choking mouthful of Bolshevism to regard any sort of a change as for the better.

In any event, the rule of Bolshevism in Hungary has ended. Archduke Joseph may not last, but if he does not some other leader who believes in sound stable government will arise to take his place.

THE TARIFF ISSUE

It was rather interesting to watch the attitude of the national Liberal convention on the tariff. The resolution which was finally passed was evidently intended not to go far enough to estrange the protectionist sentiment of protectionist Liberals but at the same time to go far enough to please the free traders in the prairie provinces.

As a result it does not appear to have pleased anyone. It is pretty difficult to face both ways on any question and to get away with it.

The Liberal party as represented by the oldline convention at Ottawa contains free trades, moderate protectionists, "tariff-for-revenue-only" advocates and strong protectionists.

Free trade sentiment in Canada is not general. It is confined very largely to the prairie provinces. The majority even of the oldline Liberal party are protectionist. Canada could not live industrially without protection, and most Canadians know it.

But the party which is now led by Hon. W. L. McKenzie King needs the support of the free traders as well as of the protectionists and it has to devise resolutions which will appear to please both. Which is a rather difficult task.

KOOTENAY-BOUNDARY'S BIG CROPS THIS YEAR

Kootenay-Boundary is this year going to have the biggest apple crop in its history. And it will sell it at the highest average prices it has ever realized for the crop.

Two factors enter into the big production. One is the fact that young orchards are every year becoming more productive. The other is that the crop conditions generally are good, while the experience of recent years has resulted in the ranchers taking of their trees the care which they know to be profitable.

If fruit were Kootenay-Boundary's only big crop, agricultural conditions would be good. But the output of mixed farming products has become tremendous. This district is growing as an agricultural territory to an extent which the most optimistic of persons would have regarded as impossible 10 years ago.

The way to increase the purchasing power of money is to increase production.

The trouble about the average supporter of Bolshevism is that he cannot distinguish between democracy and mob rule.

Canada has put more veterans on the land than all the rest of the Empire, with the United States thrown in for good measure. That represents a pretty solid achievement.

The Canadian people have about a billion and three-quarters on deposit in the chartered banks of the country. They should not have much difficulty in absorbing the Dominion loan of a quarter of a billion which is to be offered soon.

The question of Mr. De Valera's nationality has been raised twice—when he was sentenced to death and when he was subsequently elected a member of parliament—and, not having been settled in those occasions, it may have been a confusing influence a third time. Born in New York, the son of a Spaniard, and domiciled in Ireland, the country of his mother, Mr. De Valera has found it convenient at different times to be regarded as an American citizen and as a British subject, says the London Chronicle. He is by no means the first leader whom the Irish people have sought from races other than their own.

PRACTICAL IN EDUCATION

An educationist of Massachusetts is campaigning for compulsory public school attendance by all children, and for other changes in the state educational system. He publishes an advertisement in which appear a number of queries. Among them are the following:

"Why is it that as soon as a family begins to prosper, the public schools are not good enough, and their children are sent to private schools?

"Why is it that boys and girls who are obliged to leave our elementary schools to earn their own living, and who continue practical studies by taking up business courses and attending trade schools are not accepted socially on a par with the children who continue the study of the so-called classics?

"Why is it that our large manufacturing concerns have twice the number of applicants (at one-half the pay) for positions requiring good clothes, white collars and polished finger nails, than where overalls are necessary?

"Why is it that our large cities are today filled with young men having devoted their lives to so-called studies, with diplomas from high schools, preparatory schools and colleges, trying to live by their wits, walking the streets looking for work, or means of obtaining an easy livelihood at small wages, when our farms, factories and shops are begging for willing workers?

No one will deny that these allegations are generally applicable. The base of much of the evil seems to be that school training and home training magnify the cultural at the expense of the practical. Behind the disinclination for "overall occupation" seems to be a belief by those who have it, yet cannot afford it, that in our present economic and social system climbing is easier by the path of genteel poverty than by manual labor. The reasoning seems to resemble that laid down to some students by the president of the C.P.R., Mr. Beatty, when he said that a man below his neck was worth $2.50 a day, but above it no one could measure his potential value.

At the same time, the great rise during the war of the rewards and dignity of "overall occupations" must make a difference. A plumber at $50 a week, with easy hours, can, in these days of high costs, look with amusement at an office clerk struggling along in white collar and cuffs at $25 a week. Hon. Dr. Cody's great project of an extended system of technical education for Ontario boys and girls leaving school is timely. In this era, money is to be made mainly by productive work, and the productive occupations will give the better opportunities to the youth of ordinary edu*cation and ambition.—Mail and Empire.*

GETTING AFTER THE PROFITEER.

What is wanted is not so much punishment, whether by fine or imprisonment ,as the setting up of machinery which will make profiteering impossible. It ought to be made impossible for any one to destroy food in order to keep up prices, to put an impediment to the circulation of marketable goods, or to charge more than a fixed percentage of profit. Fines and imprisonments by all means for first and minor offences, but the hardened profiteer who cheerfully takes his risk of these, should be compulsorily retired from business. But why rely on official action alone? Why should not the consumers everywhere form vigilance committees, composed of men and women who know the ropes, who cannot be bluffed, and who would fearlessly bring to bear, where necessary, the weapons of exposure and boycott?—Liverpool Post.

BACKS TIMBER WORKERS

BELLINGHAM, Wash., Aug. 10.—Timber worker strikers were told on Friday night by President Short, of the state federation of labor, that the organization will back them to the end. Statements today from the offices of the Bloedel-Donovan company, against which the strike is directed, reported the two mills working under a daily increased force. Two other mills affected report no changes, one, the Whatcom Falls mill, being closed down entirely. All logging camps are working.

A KOOTENAY TENDERFOOT IN THE CENT-BELTED EAST

(By W. B. Wilcox)

VII.

Albany, N. Y., the capital of the greatest commonwealth of the American union—greatest in point of population and wealthiest, like other capitals, a substantial but rather nonprogressive community, all things considered. Some 20 or 30 years ago, when we had our habitat in Albany, it was a municipality of around 100,000 souls—more or less—and today it has about the same number of people. Evidently it did not benefit to any extent directly from war activities as so many places did in both Canada and the United Sates. But, just the same, it kept moving on the even tenor of its way, as its Dutch progenitors did, two or three centuries ago.

Situated on the far-famed Hudson river, 143 miles due north of New York City, Albany secures the commercial benefit of extensive water navigation, as the state-owned Erie canal—connecting the Great Lakes with the Hud*son—touches the river near Albany.* That same canal, by the way, has recently had $10,000,000 spent thereon, for deepining and widening, to make it a practicable steam barge waterway. Yet as the railway runs along it from Buffalo, one could not note any great amount of industrial traffic in evi*dence. So far it has not fulfilled the* hopes of its backers and attracted the freight from the Canadian St. Lawrence route to the great shipping point of New York. Sometimes, evidently, trade follows the flag.

Albany has a magnificent monu*ment to its legislators*—a marble pile for a capitol building that is doubtless the finest and most expensive of any capitol in the United States. It is said to have cost over $20,000,000—and it certainly looks like it to a novice. It is more than whispered that several million of the cost of construction was double distilled, concentrated, pure essence of graft. If such was not the case, it will be something like the eighth wonder of the world. During the sessions of the legislature there is always great activity, politically and socially, at Albany. Indeed, it is the centre of things generally in this state of 47,000 square miles and eight to ten millions of people. Incidentally, this compares with British Columbia's 380,000 people and about 380,000 square miles of territory. When the Pacific province is as densely populated as New York, it will have around 75,000,000 people—which is quite a goal.

Americans are most assuredly rattling good advertisers—as witness the publicity given to the beautiful Hudson river. We enjoyed the daylight trip from Albany to New York on one of the several floating palaces, with over a thousand fellow travelers. And they are about the finest things of the kind known to river steamboating, costing upwards of a million each. The Robert Fulton, named after the inventor of the first steamboat, was typical of the line, being simply mammoth and magnificent in size and appointments. To give an idea of the traffic at times, we were told that on July 4th the Robert Fulton carried no less than 7000 passengers from point to point on the Hudson—evidently not a bad record for one day.

The river that was discovered by, and named after Hendrik Hudson, the Dutch navigator, is a source of great pleasure and pride to all New Yor1ers. Throughout its entire length it is continuously dotted with craft of all descriptions, plying with freight and passengers to and from the many im*portant cities and towns that line both* sides of the stream. This is notwithstanding a double track railway on each bank operating trains every few minutes to keep up with the increasing traffic demand. So much for the practical.

In the realm of the magnificant and the beautiful, however, the Hudson river cannot compare for a minute with the Columbia in British Columbia and the state of Washington. The Catskill and Adirondack mountains in New York, seen from the Hudson and used by thousands of city dwellers as heaven-sent breathing spaces in the heart of nature, are splendid and are utilized to the fullest extent in the summer months by those who find life a real burden in the super humid urban communities of the Atlantic seaboard. Thus the rivers, mountains and lakes serve a real humanitarian purpose.

However, the far eastern rivers and mountains lack the majestic grandeur of those of the far west that one who has made his home on the Pacific slope cannot fail to note. The so-called Highlands of the Hudson, for instance, seem to the westerner to be merely good sized hills. As all tnings go by comparison, however, and the average eastern dwellers has not seen the Rockies of the west, he at least appreciates what he has on the Atlantic seaboard and patronizes what Dame Nature has placed within easy reach and does it with a liberal hand.

As the great steamer approaches the metropolis of the United States, the water traffic grows more and more dense, with scores and hundreds of steamers, large and small, moving hither and yon continually on the placid bosom of the mighty stream. Mingled among this one notes numbers of American dreadnaughts, cruisers, torpedo boats and destroyers, lately returned from overseas, where they cooperated with the British grand grand fleet in bottling up the German navy. Then the sky-scraping line of New York itself gradually comes to closer view—a sight not to be forgotten when see for the first time.

EDUCATION AND EMPIRE.

No more striking instance, as every sound patriot must hope to prove, of great good coming out of great evil, has ever been known than the educational effort which has sprung out of the war. The speeches delivered at the conference called by the Chief of the Imperial General Staff, afford hope that, for the British Empire at least, Armageddon has not thrown us back a hundred years, but carried us forward at a bound by a whole generation. Men from Great Britain and the Dominions have been given opportunities for education, in subjects and in places which, but for the war, might have ben forever beyond their reach. Englishmen, Australians, Canadians, South Africans mingle in the class-room as they mingled on the battlefield, and thousands will in the years to come look back on their soldiering days as those which opened to them the portals of knowledge.

TEN YEARS AGO TODAY.

(From The Daily News.)

C. F. McHardy has returned to Nelson after a trip to the Winnipeg fair, which he states was a splendid success from all points of view and at which the Kootenay exhibit was the subject of a great deal of favorable comment. He also visited Toronto, London, Hamilton and other points in eastern Canada.

R. W. Hulbert leaves tomorrow morning on an extended visit to the prairie provinces and Ontario. Mr. Hulbert will attend to his interests in Ontario and while there will make his headquarters in Toronto. He will investigate the latest devices in moving pictures while in the east.

• • •

W. P. Tierney, contractor, is paying a business visit to Sandon.

Charles Pearcy, son of W. Pearcy, Mill street, returned last evening from a ten days' fishing trip spent at Ald. G. B. Matthews' summer home at Rondel. Charlie brought back with him a trout that tipped the scales at eight pounds two and a quarter ounces.

A. E. Rand of New Westminster is among the guests at the Strathcona.

TWENTY YEARS AGO TODAY

(From The Daily Miner.)

Lieut.-Col. Macdonald of Guelph, Ont., a cousin of W. A. Macdonald, K. C., is staying in Nelson. Mr. Archie Johnston intends introducing the colonel to the Kootenay trout at Slocan Junction this week.

The miners employed in the Snowshoe, in the Greenwood camp, have gone on strike for $4 a day. The claim for wages is based on the fact that the workings in the Showshoe are wet. The demand was refused. The property is under bond to A. J. McMillan and others of Rossland.

Mines road from Stanley street by moonlight, looks like a Philipino trench in one of the illustrated papers. The corpes, however, are only the wooden sleepers for the street railway.

W. F. Anderson, the traveling passenger agent for the C.P.R., leaves today for Trail, where he hopes to make definite arrangements for passenger traffic on the Columbia and Western to Cascade, and also arrangements for stages from Cascade to other towns in the boundary.

The following officers were elected at the first general meeting of the Nelson Electric Tramway company, yesterday: President, F. W. Peters; vice-president, Capt. T. J. Duncan; secretary, T. C. Duncan.

TOLD IN RHYME

A MARCHING SONG FOR ENGLAND IN THE EAST

(Rhys Carpenter in Scribner's Magazine)

From Egypt into China they have builded them a wall;
They have held the front of Eden
from the Teuton and his thrall.
On the snowy stairs of Elburz you may hear their bugles call,
"Ye are safe! Be at ease! Ye are safe!"

There are gardens in the southland
where the Tartar may not go;
There is dewy corn in Babel where the desert used to blow;
In the vineyards over Gaza you may hear the bugles call,
"Ye are safe! Be at ease! Ye are
safe.

You shall watch the ships adrifting
with the Tigris underkeel;
In the crooked streets of Bagdad you shall see the camels kneel
With the good things out of Persia that the robber could not steal;
see the grapes aglow;
Ye are safe! Be at ease! Ye are
safe.

In the brain of wounded England lay the silence for a span;
Then she rose and wrought a marvel
by the steppes of Turkestan;
Oh ye women-folk of Irak! O ye children of Iran!
Ye are safe! Be at ease! Ye are safe.

THE POOR FISH

"I hear you are going to marry Blueblood?" said one society woman to another. "Is it true?"

"Marry him?" exclaimed the other "Not likely. What on earth could do with him? He's rejected from the army, he can't ride, he can't play tennis, golf, nor, for that matter, can he even drive a motor car!"

"Oh!" said the friend, "but he can swim beautifully, you know."

"Swim, indeed! Now, I ask you would you like a husband you had to keep in an aquarium?"—London Blighty.

When oversize tires are to be used the car owner should be certain that there is enough clearance between all the tires and the nearest parts of the car. When the tires are under heavy load there is danger that there will not be clearance between wheels and fenders and the casing. Be certain that when the springs are compressed to the limit by some extra bump, the tires will not come in contact with some part of the chassis.

All japanned bodies get dull in a painfully short time after they go into actual service, and this is true of some rather high priced cars. It is a good plan when the car is new and before it has lost its first bloom to take it to a good carriage builder and have him give it a coat of high grade coach varnish. Give him plenty of time to let it dry. This will preserve the lustre for much longer than it would ordinarily last.

WOULD IRRIGATE ENTIRE VALLEY

Grand Forks Farmers and Business Men Take Steps to Further Large Irrigation Project

GRAND FORKS, B. C., Aug. 10.—An irrigation scheme for the entire Grand Forks valley that would involve an estimated expenditure of $350,000, the money for which would be raised subject it was decided to take immebonds, was the proposal which received its impetus here on Monday evening, when a mass meeting of the farmers and business men of the valley was held, and after hearing a detailed report of W. J. E. Biker, resident provincial water rights engineer, on the subject it wa sdecided to take immediate steps to further the scheme.

The proposal as outlined is to tap the main Kettle river about five and a half miles above Danville, Wash., where a concrete dam would be erected. From here it is proposed to carry the water either by flume or by a concrete pipe of an inside diameter of five feet nine inches. The flume or pipe would follow the Great Northern right-of-way to Danville and thence the distribution would take place throughout the valley.

The estimated annual cost of the project to the farmers of the valley would be from $6.75 to $7.00 per acre, and with this outlay it is proposed to set aside a sinking fund for a 40-year bond issue so that at the end of that time the system would be the property of the ranchers of the district.

W. B. Bishop, general manager of the Granby Mining and Smelting company, has just returned to the city from Victoria after having had an interview with Hon. T. D. Patulla, minister of lands, and Mr. Cleveland, chief provincial engineer, concerning the project and states that they as well as J. E. W. Thompson, M.P.P. for the riding, are favorably impressed.

Mr. Pattulo and Mr. Cleveland propose to visit Grand Forks around Aug. 15 to discuss the matter with the farmers and in the meantime steps have been taken to secure the right-of-way from the Great Northern railway and the United States government.

The steps so far taken toward the irrigation of the valley are the direct result of the rather droughty seasons which have been experienced during 1918 and 1919, when it was clearly demonstrated by several residents of the district that a great many of the drawbacks of such seasons could be overcome by irrigation.

TWENTY-DAY HIKE OVER ROCKIES UNDER WAY

INVERMERE, Aug. 10.—H. B. Clow of Chicago, who is president of the Rand McNally Publishing company of that city, together with his niece, Miss Adelene Sharp of the same place, left here Friday with a packer and a string of pack and saddle horses to spend a holiday in the mountain fastnesses of the Rocky mountains. They will be gone for twenty days outside of all recall save by special messenger. They are going north to the Sinclair hot springs, across the Brisco range into the valley of the Kootenay river; along that river by pack trail almost to its source; across a divide into the Ice river country; then east to the Vermillion river; along it in its southeasterly course—the route of the proposed Banff - Windermere automobile road—to its junction with the Simpson river; across it and on in the same direction till they get under the shadows of Mount Assiniboine, 11,800 feet in height; thence over the main divide of the Rockies, until they reach the pack trail which leads to Spray river in the province of Alberta. They will then follow this river until the main road is reached traversing the National park and on into Banff.

Mr. Clow said that he had spent five seasons in the Canadian Rockies, this being the second about here, and is much pleased with what he has seen.

TRADITION OF GERMAN NAVY UPHELD BY SINKING OF FLEET

EDINBURGH.—"I rejoice over the sinking of the German fleet in Scapa Flow." This is the statement made by Admiral von Scheer, the former commander-in-chief of the German High Seas fleet, in an interview at Weimar with Mr. Cyril Brown, the correspondent of the World. Admiral von Scheer said his satisfaction arose from two causes.

"The first," he declared, "is that the fleet has been prevented from falling permanently into the hands of the British. It would have been painful for our ships after sailing the seas for years to come under enemy flags. This humiliation and painful sight is now spared us by the brave deeds at Scapa Flow. The second reason why I rejoice is that the stain of surrender has been wiped from the escutcheon of the German fleet. The sinking of ships has proved that the spirit of the fleet is not dead. This last act is true to the best traditions of the German navy. The deed was spontaneous, and I am convinced was not ordered or inspired from Berlin. Our seamen are unwilling to bear the final disgrace or suffer that the ships should be turned over to the British."

Admiral von Scheer then proceeded to disclose the plans for the naval attack on England which had been frustrated by the mutiny of the sailors of the fleet.

A Cunning Plan

"It was never our intention," he said, "to send the German High Seas fleet out to certain death. At the beginning of the November revolt we were on the eve of undertaking a naval operation from which we promised ourselves the utmost success. The operation after nearly two years had at last been made possible by the discontinuance of our submarine warfare during the negotiations leading to the armistice. Our plan offered every chance of success. It was not one to send the High Seas fleet out to death, but to attack the coast of England in the direction of the mouth of the Thames, employing submarines as flank protection. By this plan we hoped to draw the British Grand fleet out of its Scottish lair down towards the mouth of the Thames to give us battle, in which case the Grand fleet would have run into our flanking submarines. Our plan was carefully worked out and offered the certainty of success if the Grand fleet came out. The one chance of failure we foresaw was that the British fleet might not be coaxed out by our Channel attack."

What Might Have Been

The admiral made the remarkable statement to me (adds Mr. Brown) that Great Britain could have ended the war quickly in its early stages by a bold offensive in the spirit of Nelson. "Right up to the last moment we did not expect England to enter the war," said Von Scheer. "Accordingly we were not prepared against a naval attack by Great Britain. We were prepared for a two-front war. Accordingly, the third front, our sea front, was denuded of military forces. If the British fleet had attacked in the first week of the war we should have been beaten. Under cover of the British navy the Russian armies, then available in great numbers, could have been landed on the coast of Pomerania and could easily have marched to Berlin. I believe the British fleet did not attack in the first weeks of the war because Great Britain did not want to pay the price of victory. She hoped to keep her fleet intact for pressure on the peace conference, and thought it wiser to let the French and Russians win the war on land."

HOW LITHUANIAN GIRL LEARNS HER FORTUNE

PARIS.—The time is near to Semy, when the Lithuanian girl goes into the wood, burdened with a wreath, to learn her future. Centuries of foreign oppression have not yet killed romance in Lithuania, the Baltic Republic, now aski gnallied recognition of its independence.

The Lithuanian maiden still has the desire, in common with her sister the world over, to look into the future, particularly to discover whe nher knight of love will come, and under what auspices. At this time of the year she sees her chance, for it is close to Semik, the time when horoscopes may be cast and fortunes told. The name comes from Semy, meaning the seventh, and is used because the feast of prophecy falls on the seventh Thursday after Easter.

The girls repair to the woods, pick branches of birch, embelish them with wreaths and ribbons and drag them singing through the streets of the village. It is in the wreath that the prophetic power resides. Some cast the wreath into the brook, where if it swims peacefully on the water it follows that the maiden will be married within a year, but woe betide her if it sinks, for though she marry the fairest Galahad in all Lithuania, she will be widowed within the year.

Others do not throw the wreath into the water but hang it on a tree, returning often to see whether it is still hanging. If the wreath has fallen, so will the happiness of the maid fall, too, for she will not marry that year, or may even die.—Lith. National Council.

Many motorists carry a flashlight in their cars, and this little piece of equipment is extremely valuable for emergency use. It is an excellent idea to attach two clamps of appropriate size to the dash under the hood to hold this flashlight. In this way the operator always knows where to look for the lamp when he needs it and saves himself the trouble of pawing through the tool box for it.

MOAR IS GUILTY; SENTENCE TODAY

Will Appear Before Stipendiary Magistrate Crease This Morning—Further Evidence Heard Saturday

Rudolf Moar was on Saturday morning found guilty of being connected with the operation of the "still" which was located on the Svoboda ranch by the local police authorities on July 28. He will come up for sentence before Stipendiary Magistrate Crease this morning at 10.30 o'clock.

The case was resumed on Saturday morning, when a little further evidence was heard. John Svoboda testified to the ownership of the tent, an axe and several water barrels which had been used by the accused in the illicit operations. T. Tonelli, an Italian, told of having shipped several cases of dried fruits to Nelson from Trail, but could not recognize the accused as the man to whom he had shipped the fruit in question. Evidence was also introduced identifying the handwriting of the accused in connection with the receipt of certain articles which it was alleged had been used in the operations.

CAPTAIN WILLSON RETURNS TO CITY

Presided Over Medical Boards of Northern Command—Visited Relatives and Friends in East

Capt. W. H. Willson of Nelson, who left for overseas over a year ago for service with the Canadian Army Medical corps, returned to the city on the Crow boat Saturday evening. He was met by Mrs. Willson and family.

On proceeding overseas Capt. Willson was attached to the 12th Canadian General hospital at Bramshott, with which he remained until January last when he proceeded to Ripon, where he sat as president of the medical boards of the northern command.

Capt. Willson states that he attended the Peace Derby at Epsom this year, at which there was an attendance of over half a million people. He also states that there were but few Canadians left in the British Isles when he left.

Since his arrival in Canada Capt. Willson has been visiting friends and relatives in Winnipeg and other eastern points.

Its General Excellence Not Realized in British Columbia, Says George Whiteacre

"It does not seem to be realized in British Columbia what a really good crop Manitoba is about to harvest," said F. George Whiteacre of Vancouver, superintendent of agencies for the Mason & Risch Piano company, who returned from a visit to the prairie at the end of the week.

"Instead of the Manitoba crop being a disappointment, it is distinctly above the average. The talk of crop failure has no application to that province," continued Mr. Whiteacre.

The piano man, to prove his point, produced a copy of the crop report for the week of July 22, from the Manitoba Free Press, which he brought with him.

Out of 67 points reporting on the condition of the crop at that stage, "best ever" was reported by one point; "exceptionally fine" by one, "splendid" by three, "excellent" by three, "extra good" by one, "fine" by one, "good" by 34, "fairly good" by one, "fair" by 17. Only four points reported the prospects below par. Of these, "light" was reported by one, "half of the district good" by one, and "prospects poor by two.

CAMERON MAY COMMAND THE STRATHCONA HORSE

CALGARY, Aug. 10.—Lieut.-Col. A. D. Cameron, D.S.O., M.C., who was an original officer of the Strathcona Horse in the war, and who later commanded the Canadian Corps school in England and France, has arrived in the city and it is unofficially stated he will become commander of the Strathcona Horse here. He was one of the youngest and recognized as one of the most capable commanding officers in the Canadian Corps.

The cable trminals of old storage batteries frequently slip into the battery connection so far that the cap screw does not draw the connection to a tight fit. This results in high resistance and eventually prevents enough current getting across from the battery to start the engine. If lead foil is wrapped around the cable terminal when it fits the battery connector a really tight fit will be the result.

MACHINERY HERE FOR NEW INDUSTRY

Fruit Growing Necessities Will be Manufactured—Plan Expansion to Include Number of Household Articles

A carload of machinery arrived and was being unloaded on Saturday for the new industry which is being established on the waterfront in the neighborhood of the city hall by A. S. Horswill, with whom are identified a number of other residents of the city.

Mr. Horswill states that immediately the new machinery is installed activities will start with the manufacture of fruit boxes and other necessities for the fruit growing industry. As time goes on plans are laid to enlarge the scope of the institution so that the manufacture of a large number of household and other articles for which there is a great demand will be carried out right in the city.

TRACES DEVELOPMENT OF THE RELIGIOUS IDEA

That the business of the church is not to make people religious, but to develop the relious spirit they already have, was the theme of a sermon preached by Rev. J. P. Westman, at the Methodist church last evening.

It was just as much a crime, said Mr. Westman, to deprive the youth of religious training as it was to keep from them proper food.

Mr. Westman went on to trace the development of the religious idea, from the old days of doctrines and catechisms to the new day, when every type of culture material from the Bible to the playground were included in religious teachings.

He said that the difficulty today was to keep a balanced life between reception and expression. If the first was emphasized unduly, he pointed out, the thinking becomes feeble. If the second is emphasized unduly, the action becomes false.

What was to be taught this generation, he said, must be in harmony with scientific discovery. Nature should be regarded from a religious standpoint.

He pointed out that religion was more than keeping church rules; that it must enter every phase of life.

WHITE HUSSARS COMING

The White Hussars bring to the Chautauqua, which will be held in Nelson August 17-22, two of the big musical programs of the week on the fourth day. For several years they have been heavily featured in the east and are recognized as one of the genuine musical successes of the platform. This splendid organization is a singing band with a program of unusual variety. They have an ensemble seldom found in organizations of twice their size. They all possess fine voices and are masters on their many band instruments. The best in the musical library is to be found in their programs, balanced with lighter music and popular airs.

TRAIL WINNERS OF BASEBALL GAME

One Bad Inning Puts Cubs Away to Bad—Smelter City Twirlers Effective

Extremely mediocre ball on the part of the Nelson Cubs in the fifth inning of the game at the Recreation park yesterday morning proved that team's undoing and allowed the Trail Vimys to romp home easy winners, holding the long end of a 20-8 score.

Outside of the fifth inning, when the Trail boys counted no less than 11 runs, the brand of ball dished up was good. Howard and Scanlan, who were on the mound for the smelter city boys, handled themselves well and were particularly effective just at the opportune moments, preventing anything like a batting rally on the part of the Cubs.

Lack of practice attributed largely to the defeat of the local lads, but better results are looked for in the near future as an effort is to be made to get them out more regularly. E. Kirby umpired the game to the satisfaction of both teams.

After the game the Trail team was entertained by the members of the Cub aggregation to trips to various points along the lake, the visitors returning home on the Kettle Valley train last night.

MRS. HARRIS COULD HARDLY BREATHE

Everything She Ate Gave Her Trouble —Relieved by Tanlac—Gains Nine Pounds.

"I never felt better in my whole life than I do now, and I can't refrain from letting others know how thankful I am for what Tanlac has done for me," said Mrs. William Harris, of 728 Fifteenth ave., Seattle, Wash., while in Bartell's Drug Store, recently.

"Several years ago I was in a boat wreck and this had such a bad effect on my nerves that I didn't seem to be able to get over it," contiued Mrs. Harris. "Then an operation on my eyes seemed to affect my nerves still more and three years ago last January I had another breakdown and from that time until soon after I started taking Tanlac I was almost a nervous wreck. The slightest sound out of the ordinary would upset me, and I could hardly sleep at night but would just roll and toss in misery and, besides this, my stomach also was in an awful condition. I hardly had a bit of appetite and suffered so from the little I did eat that I almost hated to go to the table at meal time, because it just looked like everything I ate soured on my stomach and I filled me up so badly with gas that I could hardly breathe. I fell off in weight from 125 pounds down to 100 and was actually so weak I couldn't have swept out a room if my life had depended upon it.

"Nothing I took for my troubles seemed to do me a particle of good, but I kept hearing so much about Tanlac that I thought I would take another chance, and it certainly proved to be the lucky one for me, because after I had taken a bottle or two of it I was feeling lots better, so I kept on with it and now I have a splendid appetite and eat almost anything I want without suffering the least bit with my stomach afterwards. My nerves are as strong as they ever were in my life and I sleep just like a child every night and have gained so in strength that I do every bit of the work in an eight-room house and don't mind it a particle, and I actually outwalk my husband any time. I have not only gotten back nine pounds of the weight I lost, but am gaining more right along and am so happy over the wonderful improvement that Tanlac has made in my condition that I want everybody to know about it."

Tanlac is sold in Nelson by Canada Drug & Book Store, in Rossland by W. H. Wainman, in Creston by Creston Drug & Book Co., in Bull River by B. E. Markle, in Field by Field Drug Co., in Fernie by A. PREDICT RUSH FOR SEASON TICKETS

Keen Interest Being Shown in Coming Week of Entertainment; Sale Opens Today

The sale of season tickets for the Chautauqua week, which opens in Nelson Aug. 17, will commence today. The tickets are on sale at a great many of the business houses about the city and outsiders may obtain them by writing F. J. Boles of the Canada Drug & Book company, who is chairman of the committee.

Keen interest is being taken in the great week of entertainment and capacity houses are already being predicted by the committee in view of the excellent program which is being provided. There will be 23 big events for the week and it is pointed out by the committee that from present indications there will be a rush of purchasers for season tickets.

Peter Clark McFarland, in an article in Collier's, ranks Dr. William Rader, opening night lecturer at Chautauqua, as one of the twelve great speakers of the country. For twenty years he was one of the foremost preachers of San Francisco, during which time he distinguished himself in the field of reform. He was closely identified with Detective Burns, Francis J. Heney, Hiram Johnson, Rudolph Spreckles and Fremont Older in the prosecution of the "graft ring." Of late Dr. Rader has been on the editorial staff of the Philadelphia Ledger. He is stated to be both a writer and a lecturer of national reputation.

AT THE THEATRES.

Hazel Daly, of "Skinner" Plays, Advises Wives

The role of Honey in Bryant Washburn's current Essanay comedy drama, "Skinner's Bubble," which will be shown at the Gem theatre tonight, has an especial appal to women, both old and young. It has been the author's aim, apparently, to portray, in Honey, the ideal wife. That he has succeeded is the verdict of Miss Hazel Daly, who enacts the part so delightfully.

"If I ever marry," declares Miss Daly, who is not yet out of her teens, "I shall endeavor to regard my husband and treat him just like Honey does William Manning Skinner.

"Honey thinks there is not another man in the yorld who is half so great as William Manning. In her eyes, the world could not get along without him. Anything and everything he does seems exactly right to her.

"To prove that this is the right attitude for a wife to regard her husband, the author of 'Skinner's Bubble' has made Honey's unfailing confidence in her timid spouse the means whereby he succeeds. Without it, he would have failed. Now, if that isn't reason enough for a woman to pay unquestioning loyalty to her husband, I would like to know a better one."

FIGHT TO FINISH IN COAL FIELDS

LONDON, Aug. 10 (Reuter).—There is apparently going to be a fight to a finish in the strike of the two hundred thousand Yorkshire miners. The coal controller yesterday told the men's leaders it was impossible to concede their demands. To do so, he said, would mean a strike in every coal field in the country for similar concessions. No further conferences with a view of arriving at a settlement have been arranged. It is believed the strikers' funds will only last another fortnight. Already a quarter of a million pounds sterling have been spent in strike pay.

RABBIT'S UNUSUAL DIET CAUSED UPSET OF THEORY

SAN FRANCISCO.—One by one the old theories are revised or upset. There is a widespread tradition, backed by generations of observation, that a rabbit can neither swim nor fight. But along comes Sergeant McGee of the San Francisco park police with a bomb shell, and when the noise and smoke has cleared away the germ of a new theory is left, even though a hitherto unknown fact has not been established.

According to McGee, quoted by the San Francisco Chronicle, a plain, every-day cottontail has suddenly appeared on the island in Stow lake and driven everything else away. Never before has a rabbit been seen on the island, which is separated from the mainland at its nearest point by fifty yards of water.

"Albert Chacquette, guardian of the lake and its waterfowl, was the first person to discover the presence of the rabbit on the island," said Sergeant McGee in his report. "From the mainland shore he saw it in furious combat with a big setting brant. The battle ended in the bird being driven into the water and swimming with loud squawks of dismay and protest to the mainland. Every breeding mudhen, goose and duck was similarly assailed and expelled, Chacquette says, leaving the rabbit in undisputed possession of the island.

"Chacquette," McGee's report continues, "has a theory that the rabbit's new found pugnacity may be due to its browsing too freely on the leaves of the juniper bushes that grow thickly on the island. His idea is that the leaves fermented in the animal's stomach, creating gin, which, as anyone knows who has tried it, might make a rabbit feel brave enough to tickle a tiger's nose and give him courage to attempt the swimming of the Golden Gate."

Anyway, the rabbit's on the island and nobody has admitted helping him to get there. Also, the waterfowl that usually breed there at this time of year are gone. There may be no connection, but there's a mystery in it that nobody seems to be able to explain.

PROFESSOR OF ZOOLOGY CALLS LOCUST A DELICACY

NEW YORK.—"Just like shrimp," said Dr. Ethan Allen Andrews, professor of zoology of the Johns Hopkins university, after eating a handful of locusts. The professor and others wroking with him in the study of the flavor and habits of the pests are convinced that in eating the locusts as fast as they appear this generation would be doing the right thing by posterity. So he did his bit and gave his verdict that the locust was a delicacy.

"If there were a scarcity of other foods," the professor declares, "persons who had tasted them would probably think nothing of eating them in large quantities. Those of us who have eaten them find the flavor pleasant. It is important, of course, to pick them just after they have come out of their shell, while they are still white and tender. After a few days they become hard and would be unsatisfactory for food."

What has interfered with their consumption has been the discovery that the locusts are not in the best of health. Many of them have been found suffering from a fungus affection.—St. Paul Pioneer Press.
