OPPOSITION TO LEAGUE CONTINUES

LIBERAL SPEAKERS IN HOUSE ARGUE AGAINST ITS RATIFICATION

HON. N. W. ROWELL SPEAKS OF RIP VAN WINKLE ATTITUDE

Lucien Cannon Declares that He Would Like to See Ireland Given Rights

OTTAWA, Sept. 9.—"What," asked T. A. Vien in the house of commons, "is the difference between a nation and an autonomous colony?" and it was Canada's status in the Empire which largely formed the battleground today of continued debate on the peace treaty. Opposition members pursued their arguments that approval by the Dominion parliament made no difference to the treaty. The Canadian parliament, according to Ernest Lapointe, Kamouraska, could not dot an "i" nor cross a "t" in the treaty, but was yet bound by all its provisions. Canada's place in the League of Nations, he argued, had been granted, not by reason of any growth in her status, but as part of the British Empire.

Hon. N. W. Rowell followed. He dealt in detail with criticisms of the league covenant. He spoke of the "Rip Van Winkle" atttiude of the acting leader of the opposition. The five nations of the Empire had made war, declared Mr. Rowell, then why should they not be conserved in the making of peace.

Canadian troops had made such a place for Canada that any government would be false in its trust which did not strive to maintain that position. He asserted that, as a result of royal authority given to the Canadian delegates, British ministers could sign on behalf of Canada. During his speech, Mr. Rowell was subject to considerable questioning by members of the opposition.

At the evening sitting, Lucien Cannon, Dorchester, described the treaty as severe in its economic clauses. He would have liked to see Ireland given the same rights as other nations in Europe.

W. F. MacLean, South York, thought the formation of the League of Nations would end rule by intrigue. The debate was adjourned by Dr. Peter McGibbon, Muskoka.

Premier Lloyd George had said in the British parliament that his bill was simply to give effect to some provisions by the appointment of officials, etc. Has the Canadian parliament more power in regard to ratifying this treaty than the motherland? asked Mr. Lapointe. "If so, then we have progressed towards nationhood as fast that the people of the United Kingdom cannot keep step."

The prime minister, said Mr. Lapointe, had said that Canada was consulted by the Imperial war cabinet in regard to the terms to be imposed on Germany.

Declaration of Independence

Premier Hughes of Australia, however, had said in Britain that the Dominions were not consulted, and were not given any share in shaping the terms of peace. Mr. Hughes also complained that the Dominions were not informed of the conference at Versailles when the armistice terms were discussed until after it was over. The refusal of the Canadian parliament to be bound by the provisions of the treaty, said Mr. Lapointe, would be tantamount to a declaration of our independence. He recalled a speech last session when Mr. Rowell had spoken of the complete independence of Canada and caused much laughter by saying that he thought the president of the privy council had been "intoxicated by his own magnifying words." Later he offered to withdraw the word intoxicated and substitute something more in keeping. Canada's place in the league of nations had been granted, not because of any growth in our own status, but as a part of the British Empire, and her right to any representation in the deliberations of the league would depend on whether the council gave her place among the four representatives of the small nations.

"War with United States"

"Supposing," said Mr. Lapointe, trouble should arise between Great Britain and the United States, what would the protection of Canada be? The rules of the League of Nations provided that in the case of a dispute between two members of the league, either of them should have a vote when their differences were under consideration. If Canada was a full member of the league with a national standing, she should have a vote in such a case, even though Great Britain was ruled out. However, President Wilson had taken the ground that Canada would not be entitled to vote under such circumstances. If Canada were entitled to vote with full national standing, and the voice of the league should declare against Great Britain, what would the Dominion do? Would he obey the mandate of the league council if called upon to send troops to a foreign country? If so, she would break her own constitution, which provided that Canadian troops should not be used, save for the defence of Canada. Government by any such body as the Imperial war cabinet would never satisfy the Canadian people."

Mr. Lapointe argued that proposed changes in the Canadian constitution should be submitted to the referendum of the people before being put through. There seemed to be no disposition on the part of the government of the United States to decrease armament, said Mr. Lapointe. The United States proposed increasing her military strength four times. Great Britain had sent Admiral Jellicoe on a tour of inspection, so that he could advise the overseas Dominions how best to increase their naval strength.

Advice for Jellicoe

"When the noble lord arrives in Canada," said Mr. Lapointe, "I would suggest that he be treated with the greatest consideration and told that as far as advising Canada, it would be wiser for him to wait until the people of this country asked his advice."

Whatever interpretation might be placed upon Article 10 of the covenant, of the League of Nations, it must be made certain if Canada was to be a member that the power of the Canadian parliament should be fully made. Mr. Lapointe said he would have an amendment to provide that approval should in no way impair the powers of the Canadian parliament. No soldiers should be sent anywhere, except on the authority of that body.

Approval, Not Ratification

Hon. N. W. Rowell said there was no resolution before this house for the ratification of the treaty. He read the resolution presented by the prime minister, asking for the approval of the peace treaty and the protocol. Ratification was an executive act to be taken by the head of the state. In this case, His Majesty the King, and on which he would take the advice of his constitutional advisers.

The government of Canada had the right to advise His Majesty in this matter, but felt it was its duty to submit the treaty to parliament and ask their approval before advising ratification. The treaty had not been ratified by Great Britain. The British parliament, however, has given its approval. The treaty was not in effect nor was the war legally ended until three of the great powers had ratified and this was one of the reasons for urgency. The King was anxious to have the Dominions approve, in order that ratification for Britain might be given.

BIGAMOUS MARRIAGES WITH SOLDIERS COMMON

PRINCE IS A PATIENT FOR 15 MINUTES

CANADIAN GRIP CONTINUES TO TROUBLE HIS RIGHT HAND.

MEMBER EXAMINED UNDER X-RAY; IS ON THE MEND

His Royal Highness is Enthusiastically Greeted by Patients at Military Hospital.

WINNIPEG, Sept. 9.—While visitin gthe Tuxedo Military Hospital this afternoon, His Royal Highness, the Prince of Wales, actually became a patient for 15 minutes. His right hand, which had been badly numbed as a result of the too hearty grip of Canadians in the east when shaking hands with him, was put under the X-Ray, on the advise of the doctors. The result of the examination was declared satisfactory and the Prince was assured that he would be able to make free use of the member very soon, though they pleasantly warned him against the western Canadian grip, indicating that he might find it even heartier than that which he had experienced in the east.

His Royal Highness arrived at the hospital at 3.15 and was greeted enthusiastically by a big crowd composed of civilians and soldiers so far advanced in the convalescent stage as to be able to walk about the grounds in connection with the big institution. The Prince formally opened the 50,000 Red Cross hut erected by the Canadian Red Cross society, and was presented with an address by Mrs. H. B. Plumptree, the secretary and was made a life member of the society, the Duchess of Devonshire pinning its jewelled badge on his breast. In a short speech that was as sincere as it was happily worded, His Royal Highness acknowledged the honor conferred on him.

From the hut the Prince crossed to the administrative block, the biggest and most imposing building in connection with the hospital, and, after inspecting it, complimented Lieut.-Col. J. J. Fraser, D.S.O., the officer in command of the hospital, and the staff generally on the noble work that was being done in the interests of the wounded boys. Addressing the boys particularly, His Royal Highness said:

"I am Your Comrade"

"I nthe great war you looked upon me as a comrade, and I hope you will always lok upon me as a comrade in the future." This was greted by the wounded soldiers by a loud outburst of applause.

Cheered to the echo, the Prince passed from the administrative building to the Roblin Hall, where the more serious cases are treated. From ward to ward he went until he had made a complete tour of the building. He chatted freely with the patients, lingering for several minutes by the bedside of the gallant fellows who were able to talk, spoke words of cheer and brought happy smiles to the faces of all. The patients were delighted.

"He's a real Prince," said one of the wounded soldiers, and the words it was apparent, expressed the sentiment of all.

Winnipeg's Welcome

Winnipeg ablaze with color by day, splendid in the brilliancy of its electrical illumination by night and pulsating with the enthusiasm of the thousands of its citizens, welcomed His Royal Highness, the Prince of Wales. It was an en masse greeting. Never in the history of the city have such crowds ben seen as those which densely packed Main Street from the Canadian Pacific Railway station to the city hall and overflowed beyond, or those which thronged Broadway and packed itself, a seething mass of humanity, onto the university grounds.

FORMER PRESIDENT OF MINE WORKERS DIES AT GOTHAM

NEW YORK, Sept. 9.—John Mitchell, former president of the United Mine Workers of America, and one of the most widely known labor leaders in the United States, died at 5 o'clock this afternoon at the Post Graduate hospital.

Mr. Mitchell was only 49 years of age. He underwent an operation ten days ago for the removal of gall stones, from which he failed to rally.

Since 1915 Mr. Mitchell has been chairman of the New York state industrial commission.

VETERANS APPROVE TREATY; TO BOYCOTT GERMAN TOYS

KINGSTON, Ont., Sept. 9. — The Kingston unit of the Army and Navy Veterans, at an enthusiastic meeting last night demanded the immediate passage of the peace treaty and approval by parliament of the position taken by Sir Robert Borden and the Canadian delegates at the peace conference. The veterans also decided to protest against any attempt to place German made toys on the Canadian market, and if an attempt was made to do this they would boycott the German products.

On September 11 the party will leave here for Winnipegosis, The Pas, Prince Albert, Saskatoon and Edmonton and will later join the Prince of Wales party on their trip to the coast.

BOSTON POLICE FORCE ON STRIKE

Windows Are Smashed and Goods Stolen from Small Shops—Over 500 Men Recruited

BOSTON, Mass., Sept. 9. — Union members of the Boston police force went on strike this afternoon. Carrying out their threat to walk out if Police Commissioner Curtis disciplined any of their number for joining the union, they reported at the evening roll call, turned in their equipment and proceeded to Fay Hall, headquarters of the Boston Carmen's union.

Preparations were hastily completed by the authorities for carrying out emergency measures for the protection of life and property. Superintendent of Police Crowley said that more than 500 had geen recruited for a volunteer police force. President Lowell, of Harvard University, when notified that the strike was impending, issued an appeal to all students "to prepare themselves for such service as the government may call upon them to render."

The immediate cause of the strike is the refusal of Commissioner Curtis to sanction the policemen's union because of its affiliation with the American Federation of Labor. Officers of the police department did the work of patrolmen tonight assisted by a few patrolmen who had not joined the union.

Window smashing was done at various places, and considerable property was stolen from small stores. Police inspectors and metropolitan park patrolmen succeeded in scattering the crowd after firing a few shots in the air.

TO REDUCE NAVAL AND AIR FORCES

FLEET OF BATTLESHIPS AND DESTROYER FLOTILLAS GO INTO RESERVE.

TWENTY-ONE SUBMARINES TO JOIN ATLANTIC FLEET

Only Two of Rigid Type of Airships to be Retained; Others to be Sold to Company.

LONDON, Sept. 9.—The admiralty has given orders that the home fleet of battleships stationed at Portland and the fourth and fifth destroyer flotillas be reduced to a reserve basis on October 1.

The twentieth flotilla will likewise be reduced owing to the completion of its service in the Baltic.

The reconstructed fourth destroyer flotilla and the second light cruiser squadron, fully manned, will join the Atlantic fleets.

The submarine flotillas attached to the Atlantic fleet will be reduced to three, namely, seven each of the "K," "L" and "H" classes.

RETAIN TWO AIRSHIPS

LONDON, Sept. 9.—The government has decided to retain only two airships of the rigid type and dispose of the others to a well organized concern that would undertake to establish a commercial airship service.

This announcement was made by Air Commissioner Seeley at a conference of representatives of aeronautical engineering.

He added that the decision was based on the necessity of cutting down expenses and in the belief that the best results in the future were likely to be attained by the encouragement of private enterprise.

"I CAN ONLY SAY THANKS," MERCIER

Belgian Cardinal Arrives at New York —Officially Welcomed by Mayor Hylan

NEW YORK, Sept. 9. — Cardinal Mercier, Belgium's gallant church man, arrived here today, bringing to America the thanks of the little country in whose tragic history he has played so heroic a part. As the venerable prelate stepped for the first time on American soil he was asked for a message to the American people.

"I Can Only Say Thank You"

"I can only say thank you," he replied, his voice quivering with emotion, "what else is there for me t osay"

Cardinal Mercier speaks excellent English with a soft, musical accent. There is little in the outward form of the man who has played so striking a part on the world's stage to tell of the devoted priest who defied the German army in the most insolent moment of his brutal trumpet, and sternly bade him heed the law of God if he cared nothing for the laws of man. Thin almost to the point of emaciation his tall form bent under the tremendous burden he bore for four terrible years, the features of his heavily lined face seem to reveal nothing but gentleness and kindliness. Daylight was fading when the United States army transport Northern Pacific steamed slowly to dock in Hoboken.

Long before it docked the watchers on the wharf had caught sight of the tall black figure standing on the bridge gazing eagerly at America's shores. A great cheer went up and the Cardinal doffed his tri-cornered beaver hat and bowed again and again in answer.

Official Welcome

As the transport was being tied to its moorings, the Cardinal left his post on the bridge and moved down to the lower deck, where hundreds of returning soldiers were roaring their joy over their homecoming. The soldiers fell back quickly and left a speace at the rail, where the Cardinal stood until the ship had docked.

As soon as the gangway had been run up, Mayor Hylan and the official welcoming committee, and Archbishop Hayes and a number of other church dignitaries, who had accompanied the transport up the bay on the police patrol boat, boarded her and officially welcomed the guest of the city and nation.

Cardinal Mercier will go to Baltimore tomorrow to visit Cardinal Gibbons.

ONTARIO PREMIER IN FAVOR OF A GRATUITY

OTTAWA, Sept. 10.—The following message from Sir William Hearst, premier of Ontario, is published in the Ottawa morning papers:

"Toronto, Ont., Sept. 9, 1919:

"The soldiers are making strong representations for a gratuity and urging that immediate action be take nto ascertain what further financial aid can be given them.

"Speaking for Ontario, home of almost half of our army, and the province from which the Dominion derives nearly half of its public revenue, I feel confident that our people are prepared to bear willingly their share of any additional grant the circumstances demand and the finacial position of the country warrants.

CYCLONIC WINDS DRIVE WAVES OVER HAVANA WALL

HAVANA, Sept. 9. — Cyclonic winds are sweeping in the gulf tonight, driving mountainous waves over the sea wall, which are flooding adjoining sections of the city at some places to a distance of blocks. Many families are fleeing from their homes with the assistance of firemen and police. No casualties have been reported.

BELIEVED MEN WERE EVADERS

Evidence at Novitiate Enquiry Shows That Young Men Could Enter Institution at Any Time

OTTAWA, Sept. 9.—When the inquiry into the Guelph Novitiate hazed incident adjourned this afternoon the cross examination of Captain MacAulay, the officer who led the raiding party, had been completed by Mr. Newcombe, appearing for the depearing for the department of justice was ready to proceed.

Mr. Ferguson announced after a brief re-examination of the witness, it would take him more than an hour to complete the case for the authors of the charges. Evidence at the afternoon session turned largely on the failure of Captain MacAulay to produce authority to the fathers at the Novitiate for making the raid, although a section of the act under which the proceeding was taken stated that such written authority should be produced when requested, and Captain MacAulay had already sworn that he had such instructions in his pocket when he visited the institution.

Captain MacAulay was also examined as to the report he sent to Ottawa as to the happenings at the raid, and also referred to six points based on information supplied by Father Bourque and which led him to believe that most of the young men in the institution were evading military service.

Father Bourque had told him that a young man could enter the institution at any time so long as he possessed the necessary matriculation and was of good health. He was not bound to remain for any stated time nor was he bound to enter the priesthood although he could, if he wished, take a course of study which would lead him to the priesthood after a residence of fifteen years.

There were no obligations upon him to enter the priesthood at all, though he might continue as a resident of the institution for his lifetime. Young men paid no fees for the instruction they got there and received no wages for work they did on the farm conducted in connection with the institution. These facts led Captain MacAulay to believe that the young men there were largely evaders of military service and he stated so in his report to headquarters.

TREATY TO END OLD AUTOCRACY

President Wilson Says Regime of Balance of Power Coming to a Close.

MINNEAPOLIS, Sept. 9.—Declaring that the peace treaty would end the regime of the balance of power, President Wilson told the crowd in the Minneapolis armory today, that the new world order set up would be to the advantage of all nations rather than a few of the stronger. Under the old balance of power, said the president, the people nowhere "dare dto speak out" against autocracy or against the burden of armament. But now, he continued, the people were awake and he knew that if the people get together they will destroy autocracy.

"The people of the world," said Mr. Wilson, "are tired of every other kind of experiment except the kind we are going to try. The world has turned a corner that it is not going to turn again."

MINERS' DEMANDS

CLEVELAND, Sept. 9.—Demand for wage increases and shorter hours, strong insistence that these claims, which had been deferred during the war, could no longer be delayed, but must be forced through to a successful issue dominated the deliberations of the opening session of the convention of the United Mine Workers of America here today.

AUSTRALIANS ALONE SURVIVE AT TORONTO

TORONTO, Sept. 9.—The result of today's play in the Ontario lawn tennis championship was the elimination of all but Brookes and Patterson and Lycett and Thomas in the men's open doubles, and these two Australian teams will fight it out for the title tomorrow. Lycett and Thomas defeated Taylor and Richards, 6-2, 6-3, and these two players defeated Beales Wright and Kumagae, 6-2, 6-0. Brookes and Patterson defeated Purkis and Hewitson, 6-1, 6-1, and defeated Westbrooke and James 6-1, 6-1.

G. S. LYON WINS CANADIAN SENIOR GOLF TITLE

LAMBTON, Ont., Sept. 9.—G. S. Lyon, former amateur golf champion, won th championship of the Canadian seniors golf tournament here today. His card yesterday showed at 77 gross. # EXTREMISTS CARRY POINT AT GLASGOW

PARLIAMENTARY COMMITTEE OF CONFERENCE CENSURED

John Robert Clynes Declares British Trades Unionists Are More Divided Than Ever

GLASGOW, Sept. 9. — Cooperation with international laborites in their campaign to procure Germany's admission to the league of nations, and for an immediate revision of "the Paris treaty provisions which are inconsistent with statements made on behalf of the allies at the time of the armisticee," was overwhelmingly pledged today by the trades union congress in session here.

The resolution was moved by Delegate Williams, of the transport workers, who is a direct actionist, and who urged it as the first step for the reconciliation of the people's inauguration of a new era of international cooperation and goodwill.

Victory for Direct Action

The champions of direct action today won a clean cut victory by the congress going to refer back a portion of the parliamentary committee's report owing to the failure to eplain the committee's reason for refusing a few months ago to call a special conference for the purpose of discussing the advisability of employing direct action to secure the abolition of conscription and other questions.

The vote to refer back was 2,586,000 to 1,670,000 against. Before the vote was taken, M. W. Stuart Bunning, presiding officer, warned the delegates that a reference back of a report would be considered as a censure of the parliamentary committee.

The result of the vote is attributed to speeches by Robert Smillie, Robert Williams and Frank Hodges, the "big three" of the direct actionists.

Mr. Smillie accused the parliamentary committee of denying to organized labor the opportunity of expressing its attitude on the question. He declared that the government was holding power under false pretenses, as it was elected on policies it had since repudiated and the committee had lost the confidence of the trade unionists.

Denounces Churchill

"The trade unionists in Russia today," he said, "are fighting battles on behalf of Socialists of the world."

Mr. Smillie denounced Winston Spencer Churchill in connection with the Russian adventure as "a Gallipoli gambler and pinch back Napoleon."

Chairman Bunning characterized this invective as cheap sarcasm.

John Robert Clynes, former food controller, and labor member of parliament, defending the committee, declared that British trade unionists were more divided today than at any time during the war. He counselled the continuance of efforts to achieve reforms through the ballot, not through a strike.

TO SIGN TREATY WITH AUSTRIA

Peace Conference Delegates to Affix Signatures to Document at St. Germain Today

PARIS, Sept. 9.—The peace delegates will sign tomorrow the Austrian treaty protocol and two appended declarations relative to the blockade of Hungary and to the turnishing of information concerning the sinking of ships by the Austrian navy during the war.

They will also sign, if they ocme from the printers in time, the colonial conventions relative to traffic in arms and the sale of liquor and to the revisions of the conventions at Brussels and Berlin.

Positive declaration whether they will sign the treaty tomorrow could not be obtained tonight from either the Greek or Serbian delegations.

ACTION ARISES OUT OF VERBAL CONTRACT

Faulty Construction Alleged on Pilot Bay House—Judge Will Visit and See for Himself

The merits and demerits, mostly demerits, of a verbal contract between friends for the construction of a house and the subsequent construction of the house for the most part from green and wet lumber, were heard in the county court yesterday in an action brought by Eugene Montreuil of Pilot Bay against O. H. Burden of Crawford Bay, and heard by Judge J. A. Forin.

The action is for an unstated sum of appromixately $400, which it would cost, according to the estimates of the plaintiff, to carry out improvements to the house in question and bring it up to the standard he claims for his verbal specifications. The evidence in the case was heard yesterday, but judgment will not be handed down until His Honor Judge Forin is able to pay a visit to the house at Pilot Bay in company with the plaintiff and defendant, to see for himself and judge upon the alleged defects at first hand. James O'Shea is appearing for the plaintiff and E. C. Wragge for the defendant.

In his statement of the case, Mr. O'Shea said it was an action for damages arising out of the carrying out of a verbal contract. The defendant undertook to build a house for $900, the lumber to be cut at defendant's mill at Crawford Bay and taken to Pilot Bay by the plaintiff. This was done, the plaintiff assisting the defendant in obtaining logs from which to cut the lumber. The plaintiff claimed that neglect on the part of the defendant had allowed the lumber used in the construction of the house to become wet and as a result the construction was carried out with lumber which afterwards shrunk and since the house was turned over, doors and windows did not fit their casings, cracks had appeared in the floors and walls and cotton and paper on the walls had split and cracked.

It was further contended by the plaintiff that in addition to the agreed $900 he had paid the defendant $50 in cash and given him $100 in logs, bringing the price of the house to $1050.

The case for the defendant was that he carried out the work as agreed. The plaintiff had understood that the house was to be constructed of green lumber as he had told him it was the only kind he could obtain and use under the circumstances. He had carried out the work in good faith and had gone so far as to obtain No. 1 flooring and some seasoned rustic. Green lumber had been used with the consent of the plaintiff and he claimed, in addition, the plaintiff was responsible through a leaky barge for the thorough wet state of some of the lumber which went into the building. The barge had not been fit to carry lumber from Crawford Bay to Pilot Bay and had sunk at the Crawford Bay wharf with lumber on board which was afterwards put in the house. Some of the window and door sashes had been constructed in Nelson and shipped to Pilot Bay, and he claimed they had been drawn out of shape by the settling of the house upon its foundations.

It is to investigate the latter contention that the judge wishes to pay a visit to Pilot Bay to see the house.

E. Montreuil and E. Doucette gave evidence for the plaintiff, while the following were called for the defendant: O. H. Burden, T. H. Waters, S. Fawcett, Mrs. A. Fournier and J. English of Crawford Bay.

Local Conservatives' Association Advised to Report Strength to Secretary Moffatt so Train Reservations Can B Made

In connection with the coming provincial convention of the Conservative party to be held in Vancouver on Sept. 29 and 30, arrangements are under way for a special train over the Kettle Valley railway for the delegates from the associations of the southeastern portion of the province.

In order that arrangements may be made for the train through, J. S. Carter, district passenger agent for the C.P.R. in Nelson, all associations throughout East and West Kootenay are asked to notify Fred C. Moffatt, secretary of the local association, of the number of delegates which are being sent.

Hotel accommodation at the coast is being arranged and it is stated to be desirable that the numbers in the delegations be known as early as possible in order that all arrangements may be completed in good time.

REPRESENTATIONS UPON YMIR ROAD

Board of Trade Committee Again Checking System for Urges Government to Act; Autos Taken Up

Action in reference to the Ymir road and in reference to the Kuskanook road was taken yesterday afternoon by the board of trade committee charged with these matters, President J. R. Hunter, F. A. Starkey and Secretary E. F. Gigot.

In connection with the Ymir road a letter was drafted to Hon. J. H. King, minister of public works, setting forth that it was more imperative than ever that this road be built, especially in view of the promises made by the minister on the subject. It was pointed out that a new lumber concern is erecting a mill with a capacity of 50,000 feet in the territory this road would serve, and that there is important mining development going on on Sheep creek, and that these concerns have only the limited transportation service afforded by the Great Northern.

In the matter of the proposed road from Sirdar to Kuskanook; the committee took up with F. W. Sterling, district freight agent of the C.P.R., the question of having a checking system for the transfer of automobiles from Kuskanook to Nelson by steamer at a nominal rate, on the same plan that is in use between Victoria and Vancouver, where the transfer charge is under $10. Mr. Sterling undertook to take up this matter with the C.P.R. authorities. The object of these negotiations is to have the system ready, when the Sirdar-Kuskanook link comes to be built.

Speaking of this matter, after the meeting of the committee, Mr. Starkey expressed the hope that the provincial government will wake up to the fact that thousands of desirable visitors are kept from visiting this province for want of a paltry piece of road. Considering that the Dominion government stands ready to aid a through road to the extent of 40 per cent of its cost, if the province will put up the balance, the government's delay, Mr. Starkey said, was disgusting.

MUST GIVE BONDS IF STAKE PROPERTY

Jellicoe Claim in Fairview Extends to High Street—Mr. McIntyre Having Sample Assayed

There is much interest expressed in mining circles in Nelson in the location staked in Fairview by John McIntyre. The claim, which is named the Jellicoe, has its discovery post on Pine street, just below Selwyn, and it is defined as extending south for 1000 feet and north for 500 feet.

With these limits the mineral claim would take in at least the south side of High street, and properties on High, Pine and Selwyn streets would be affected.

The taking in of private property is a point giving rise to much interesting discussion, as section 14 of the Mineral act excerpts from the list of lands which may be entered upon, prospected and located upon, "any land occupied by any building, and any land falling within the curtilage of any dwelling house, and any orchard, and any land for the time being actually under cultivation," besides certain other classes.

A locator is sometimes allowed in such cases to record his claim, on giving to the gold commissioner satisfactory bonds for the indemnification of the private parties affected for any damage suffered.

It is stated that a mineral claim, in the same north and south zone as the Jellicoe, but situated further south, was located by another Nelson miner two or three weeks ago. It was not recorded, however, as the locator shied at the affidavit form, which called upon him to declare there were no buildings upon the ground staked.

PRESBYTERIANS PLAN CAMPAIGN

Eight Days of Public Meetings With Educational Object; St. Paul's Has Organization in Hand

Eight days of public meetings, as an educational campaign, are being arranged for by the Kootenay Presbytery, to commence Oct. 12. Three prominent speakers are to be brought from the coast to address the meetings, which will be held simultaneously in Nelson, Trail and Grand Forks. Arrangements were begun for this big campaign at a meeting on Monday night of St. Paul's session and the board of managers.

The speakers will address the meetings along educational lines. Other subjects they will speak upon will be the different phases of the church's work, the deepening of the spiritual life and re-dedication to the work of the church, home and foreign missions, social service and stewardship.

POSSESSION

Life has joy for everyone
Who has a mind to find it.
The soul must see immediately,
Nor stop, nor look behind it;
A bright wing flashing in the sun
Has power to lift up anyone.

Life has a joy for any man
Who lifts his hand to take it—
Prism of the morning and
The great sun that can make it;
Rain upon a dusty leaf
Can comfort even sullen grief.

WANT RETURNED MEN FOR CRESTON JAUNT

To Visit Soldiers' Settlement at Lister—Proposal that Nelson Delegation Include Veterans' Band

As a consequence of the visit of Major "Jimmy" Garland to Nelson yesterday, the plans for the excursion to Creston at the time of the Creston fair have been considerably widened. The original idea was to get together an aggregation of Nelson business men to visit the scene of the proposed reclamation at Kootenay Flats, and afterward to take in the banquet at Creston, at which this proposed development would be discussed.

It is now proposed that returned men who would like to visit Lister, the soldier settlement being founded under the provincial government scheme, take advantage of the excursion. If this is done arrangements can be made at Lister by those in authority, and by the returned men on the ground, for showing the visitors over the tract.

Another proposition discussed in connection with the excursion was a suggestion to take the Veterans' band over to Creston, to furnish music, as a part of the Nelson boost propaganda. This is only a suggestion as yet, as the band management has not been interviewed on the subject.

All phases of the excursion were discussed at a meeting yesterday afternoon of the excursion committee, held at the board of trade offices, at which were present Major Garland, and President J. R. Hunter, F. A. Starkey, G. A. Brown, C. D. Blackwood and Secretary E. F Gigot, of the board of trade; and F. W. Sterling, district freight agent of the C.P.R. Mr. Sterling stated the return rate for the excursion would be fare and a third.

All business men of Nelson or returned men of the city and district proposing to take in the excursion should hand in their names to Secretary Gigot.

NELSON SECURES STAMPEDE AVIATOR

Capt. McCall, Famous Stunt Artist, Will Fly at Fruit Fair—First Sky Joy Rides Already Booked.

Capt. McCall, the aviator of the Calgary Stampede, will fly at the Nelson fruit fair, according to an announcement made yesterday afternoon by Manager George Horstead. The contract was closed yesterday by wire.

As a stunt artist, Capt. McCall fulfilled all the desires for thrills, of the Stampede crowds, and on one of the days provided a thrill not on the program, when he spiked his machine on the merry-go-round rather than take chances on hitting the crowd which had got in his path.

Any one who desires to look down on Nelson from the clouds will be able to do so by parting with 15 bucks. Already the first three passenger flights have been booked, Miss Freda Hume, George Benwell and Fred L. Irwin having elected themselves for the first three sky joy rides.

JAIL POPULATION OF PROVINCE LOW

There are only 175 prisoners in the provincial jails of British Columbia, according to William G. McMynn of Victoria, superintendent of provincial police, who spent yesterday in Nelson. Mr. McMynn states that this is the smallest jail population the province has enjoyed for years. Of the 175 who are in these jails 150 are at the Okalla prison farm near Vancouver. It is pointed out, however, that this number does not include the inmates of the penitentiary at New Westminster, which is under the Dominion government.

Mr. McMynn is making a combined business and pleasure trip through the province and will leave this morning for Fernie. He expects to return to the coast via the main line from Golden.

The superintendent of provincial police has been a member of the force for more than 27 years, having entered the service at Rock Creek in 1892. He was in Rock Creek from 1892 until 1985, when he was moved to Midway, remaining i nthat own until 1900, when he took over an appointment at Greenwood. He remained at Greenwood until 1912, when he was transferred for a short time to Golden. Superintendent McMynn later was warden of Okalla prison farm, near Vancouver, and from this he was appointed, two years ago, superintendent of the provincial force.

Prior to reaching Nelson, Mr. McMynn had spent some days renewing old acquaintances in the Boundary country.

Over fifty members, or one-third the strength of the provincial police force, enlisted for overseas service, according to the superintendent, and these men are now all being reinstated. Six men, he states, enlisted from Okalla prison farm and four of these were killed in action or died of wounds.

G.W.V.A. BAND TO PLAN CONCERT

The band of the G.W.V.A. will give its first public open-air concert on Saturday evening next in the bandstand on Vernon street adjoining the Hume hotel. It is stated a program of 10 numbers is being arranged for the evening.

The instruments for the band reached the city in June, but it stated owing to the illness of the bandmaster, F. Warnersmith, a month of practice was lost, makin git impossible to bring the band to that point where it could appear regularly in public before this time. It is now expected a series of concerts will be given.

WHEN WOMEN GO TO THE BANK

Amusing Stories Are Told by Bankers of Their Experiences With the Ladies

NEW YORK. — It is a fact that women, consistent and clear about the thousand details of a household often become confused over bank deposits and cheque book says the New York Herald. A woman may handle the household accounts, run bills and pay bills on a cash basis, with the ability of an expert accountant, yet give her a deposit book, cheque book and slips and the tangle in which she envelops herself, her business affairs, the creditor and the helpless bank is interesting as well as surprising.

The patience and consideration toward women depositors shown by bank officials are worthy of note. Except in extreme and aggravated cases it is seldom that a bank refuses to honor a woman's cheque for a moderate sum. Bank officers know that it is confusion of mind and methods, not deliberate dishonesty, which sometimes makes a woman draw a cheque for $8 when she has but fifty cents to her credit. Some women consider their accounts in working order as long as a blank cheque remains in the cheque book.

Startling Indorsement

Some of the stories told by the bank tellers of their experience with women are amusing On one occasion a young woman received a cheque as a holiday present from her father, with the suggestion that she start an account at some bank. Selecting a bank, she told the cashier of her intention, and the cashier, after filling out the deposit book, instructed the young woman about depositing, indorsing and making out cheques. Then he told her she must indorse the cheque given her by her father. The girl went to a desk to make the indorsement. When she returned with the cheque this is what the cashier read:

"To Janet, from Father. Merry Christmas."

"N.S.F." Started Run

In one town a perfectly solvent bank underwent what proved to be a serious run through a woman's ignorance and banking methods and procedure. She had received a cheque for $15 and promptly presented it at the bank. Payment was refused, the cheque being returned to her pinned to a small slip, which read, "Not sufficient funds."

Without stopping for any sort of inquiry, she left the bank and hurried to the office in which she was employed. In this office worked a number of women who had their savings accounts in the bank. Calling some of these depositors together she said, excitedly:

"That bank is about to go under. It was not able to pay even a paltry cheque for $15 I presented there this morning. Don't take my word for it; here it is in black and white. 'Not sufficient funds.'"

The women regd gaspingly and then ran to tell others, not what they had heard, but what they had seen with their own eyes. The news spread like wildfire, and when the doors of the bank opened next morning the police reserves were handling the mob of men and women who, scrambling and pushing, had gathered to draw their funds from the bank. Street car traffic was blocked in four directions. It was some time before the run was stopped.

Shied at Patrol Box

This bank, one of the strongest in the city, has never quite recovered from the fear of another run. Recently it placed before the city government a request for the removal of a police patrol box near its doors. The bank officials argued that whenever the box was pulled and a prisoner held to await the arrival of a patrol wagon a crowd was sure to collect, and this crowd might spread a rumor of a run on the bank. The box was accordingly removed.

Not long ago a woman wrote her first story and sent it to a magazine. To her surprise and delight it was accepted. The story was duly published and a cheque for payment forwarded. With the cheque was a printed slip, reading:

"No more cheques will be sent until this one has been returned."

Back by return mail went the cheque with a note from the woman to the effect that she was very sorry the magazine had had the trouble of sending it, and please to send the others immediately.

PAPER ISSUES FEATURE OF MONTREAL EXCANGE

MONTREAL, Sept. 9.—The local list broadened out today with a total business of 12,852 shares, against 12,919 the previous day. The papers were again the features, with Spanish River leading in activity. The common rose 1⅞ points to 47⅞ and closed at a net gain of 1⅛ at 47⅝, with closing bid 47½. The preferred sold up to 110½, a net gain of the fraction, with closing bid at 110.

Laurentide showed a net gain at the close of two points at 218. Two hundred shares of Price Brothers sold at 210 or three points above the close Monday, and 212 was bid for more stock without offers. Provincial Papers sold at 90, or two points above the previous last sale. Wayagamack sold up to 63, but closed at 62¼, a net gain of the fraction. Elsewhere the papers held steady around the previous list sales, with Riordan at 141, although the bid was jumped to 142½, with no stock offering under 144. Abitibi preferred at 108 was two points up.

Outside of the paper issues, the continued recovery in Dominion Bridge, the sharp advance in Ames Holden, the continued strength of Breweries, the rally on Tooke, Tuckett's, MacDonald and Asbestos were the chief happenings of interest.

Hog receipts exceptionally light; prices held steady at yesterday's close.

Receipts today totally 1100 cattle, 31 calves, 42 hogs and 88 sheep.

INDEX COMPRESSOR IS NOW OPERATING

Both Machine and Hand Drilling Now Going on in Kaslo Creek Property; Manager Hiring Men

When in Nelson Monday for the purpose of hiring machine men, E. J. Edwards, manager of the Index mine, on the south fork of Kaslo creek, stated that the installation of the air compressor was completed, including power attachments, and that the compressor was now furnishing air to two drills.

In the mine, both machine and hand drilling is going forward, work being continued on the long crosscut which is now heading for No. 2 vein, while a drift is made on No. 1 vein from the intersection of the crosscut.

This property, in addition to the crew of hired hands, is also getting the benefit of the labor of various shareholders in the Index mining company. The ore is a silver-lead ore.

GOVERNMENT CROP REPORT LEADS TO HEAVY SELLING

CHICAGO, Sept. 9.—Surprise over the government estimate that the 1919 yield of corn would be 70,000,000 bushels more than was expected a month ago, led to heavy selling today in the corn market. Prices closed unsettled, one cent to 1¾c net lower, with September $1.61¾ and December $1.29⅝ to $1.29½. Oats finished ¼ cent off to ½ cent advance and provisions down 20 cents to $1.

KOOTENAY METALLIFEROUS MINING DURING YEAR 1918

ANNUAL REPORT OF A. G. LANGLEY, RESIDENT ENGINEER FOR EASTERN DISTRICT

Installment 13

Trail Creek Mining Division

The thirteenth annual report of the Consolidated Mining and Smelting company of Canada, Ltd., for year ending Sept. 30, 1918, deals fully with the operation of the smeltery at Trail, and the various mines throughout the district. The outstanding features of the report are as follows:

The net profit for the year, after deducting taxes to the amount of $81,986, writing off $408,557 for depreciation of plant and equipment, and charging profit and loss account with $219,203 for the development of mining properties, was $867,259. The company will continue to pay dividends at the rate of 10 per cent per annum. The value of the season's metal product exceeded $10,500,000.

The directors have decided to extend the power-development of the West Kootenay Power and Light company, and to increase the capacity of the copper-refinery from 20 tons to at least 50 tons a day. It is estimated that these improvements will cost about $1,500,000. An issue of debenture bonds will be created for $3,000,000 to bear interest at seven per cent.

The solving of the Sullivan ore problem makes available many million tons of ore which formerly could not be considered of commercial value, and thus greatly enhances the value of the mine, which is now considered to rank among the leading mines of the world. Headway has been made on the concentration of the low-grade sulphide ores of the Rossland camp, while the cost of mining has been greatly reduced.

A few extracts from the report are here reproduced:

From the President's Report

"Your directors have pleasure in presenting the thirteenth annual report of the operations of the company, together with the managing director's report, the financial statement, and the auditor's report for the year ending Sept. 30, 1918.

"The net profit is $867,259.48 after providing for taxes to the amount of $81,968 and after writing off $408,557.22 for depreciation of plant and equipment and charging profit and loss account with $219,202.33 in development of your properties. Taking into consideration the recent improvements in metallurgical processes, and the enhanced value of the company's mining properties on that acount, your directors decided to continue payment of dividends at the rate of 10 per cent per annum, charging to profit and loss account the deficit of $180,485.52. The balance at credit of profit and loss account now stands at $2,148,122.99.

"Your directors have decided that the power-development of the West Kootenay Power and Light company, Ltd., should be extended and that the copper-refinery should be increased from its present capacity of 20 tons per day to at least 50 tons per day. It is estimated that capital expenditures for these purposes will amount to net loss than an additional $1,500,000.

"Operations were conducted under very difficult conditions. The first part of the year was unprofitable because of the strike, which not only caused direct loss, but also interrupted production. A strike is always expensive, but weak submission to unreasonable demands is ruinous.

"The latter part of the year produced much better results—largely because of improved metallurgical practice. Materials all tended to appreciate during the year. Labor was more expensive and inefficient. Though at times the metal markets were unstable, all the metals produced were sold.

"Following the armistice, the demand for metals for munitions purposes ceased. It may be worth while to record that from the beginning of the war down to the end of the fiscal year the company supplied the Imperial Ministry with 22,356 tons of zinc, 39,606 tons of lead, and 6,831 tons of copper. The average prices obtained for these metals were:

| | Cents Per Pound |
|---|---|
| Zinc | 12.43 |
| Lead | 7.96 |
| Copper | 29.68 |

"The saving of the Imperial Ministry through the supplying of high-grade electrolytic zinc at the price named amounts to a very large sum. The average Canadian market price for lead during the period was 8.98 cents per pound.

"The appropriation of nearly all construction material to war purposes affected very seriously the noraml commercial demand for lead. The Imperial Munitions Board took the position that they could pay little, if any, for their lead requirements than these could be secured for from foreigners, although Canadian production costs are necessarily higher because of the heavy duties paid on all equipment and supplies and for other reasons.

"In regard to copper, while the Imperial Ministry made a special allowance to cover the cost of re-

NORTH STAR AGAIN ON SHIPPING LIST

Car of Ore from Kimberley Mine Goes Through to Smelter—Replacing of Fire Losses.

According to information received by E. W. Widdowson, of Nelson, the North Star mine, of Kimberley, which was burned out about the end of July by a forest fire, has resumed shipping, a car of silver-lead ore going through to the Trail smelter a few days ago.

After the fire, which wiped out all the buildings that were being used, O. C. Thompson and J. L. McKinney, the owners, at once arranged for replacing the lost plant, including tram line and other surface equipment.

Up to the date of th efire the North Star is credited with 4,063 tons of ore shipped to the smelter this year.

PERSISTENCY IN A GOOD CAUSE WILL ALWAYS WIN

Persistency in a good cause always wins. That is what is going to happen in the case of Nelson and the Ymir road.

For some years the people of Nelson have urged the construction of the Ymir road. Sometimes their representations have been sympathetically, at other times coldly, received.

Facts and figures have been presented which show that the construction of the road would aid in the development of a district which is rich in agricultural, mineral and timber resources, that it would bring about a great increase in tourist travel from the south, and that the revenue now being received by the government from the resources and industries along the proposed route would in one year practically pay for the construction of the highway.

There is no real argument against building the road. There is every reason why it should be built, and built quickly.

DEVELOPMENTS IN MAIL SERVICE

A writer in a London paper, discussing the question of long distance mails, has figured out that two cents an ounce, the rate on letters carried from Bristol to New York in the old sailing ship days, represented nearly $1000 per con. Another expert has figured that at the present air mail rate a letter can be sent from London to Paris at the rate of two cents for 700 words, which is very considerably cheaper than the telegraph and pretty nearly as speedy.

Before the coming of universal, or nearly universal, penny postage, and international and inter-Empire postage rates were generally five cents for one ounce, it was the common practise for letters to be written on the thinnest of papers. Many of us remember the time when it was the practise to write letters for overseas in the old "crisscross" way, the first part of the letter being written up and down the sheet and the second part at right angles to it. A little difficult to read, perhaps, but it served its purpose.

Something of the sort is likely to result from airplane mail service. Weight must be kept down and thin papers for air mail correspondence will almost certainly become the vogue.

PROBABLY IT WON'T TURN MANY VOTES IN ELECTION NEXT YEAR

While the United States senate is discussing the League of Nations, President Wilson is appealing to the highest court of all. He is putting his case in support of the league straight up to the people and he is asking them to endorse it. He seems to be winning at least an even break in the controversy.

Just what effect on the United States political situation the discussion of the League of Nations is having is not very apparent. It is not beyond the bounds of possibility that the average man on the street is not very vitally interested in the political discussion in congress. He probably takes the view that the League of Nations is about as good a proposition as could be expected, and that in any event the solons at Washington are creating a whole lot of fuss without much reason.

When all the dust has blown away it will probably be found that the League of Nations is not an issue which is going to elect or defeat any political party in the United States at the presidential elections next year. Issues which come closer home will have more weight, tremendously important as is the covenant.

STRAIGHT TO THE MARK.

The president gives expression to his belief that the more extreme leaders of organized labor will presently yield to a sober second thought and sees that strikes undertaken at this critical time are certain to make matters worse, no better—worse for them and worse for everybody else. He tells, if not the whole truth, nothing but the truth, when he says: "The worst thing, the most fatal thing that can be done now is to stop or interrupt production or to interfere with the distribution of goods by the railways and the shipping of the country. We are all involved in the distressing results of the high cost of living, and we must unite, not divide, to correct it." He goes straight to the mark when he adds that threats and undue insistence in the interest of a single class makes settlement impossible.—Brooklyn Eagle.

CHICAGO'S VIEW OF IMPERIALISM

The imperial motive remains, although two great empires have been temporarily and one permanently reove dfrom the world contest. Imperial Russia and Imperial Germany are hopeless at this moment, but imperal Britain, imperial France, imperial Italy, imperial Japan have not changed their policies or principles, their ambitions or "aspirations." On the contrary, we see British enormously aggrandized by the virtual acquisition of Germany's African dominion and by the absorption of Persia; we see France and Italy taking spheres carved from Turkey; we see Japan in possession of Shantung and the German island possessions north of the equator. We do not see any disposition to treat "self-determination" in anything but a Pickwickian sense.—Chicago Tribune.

STRONG FOR LEAGUE

After making an investigating tour of 9,000 miles covering all the leading cities of the country except those in the extreme south, a correspondent of the Pittsburg Despatch (Republican) expresses the opinion that if a count of noses were possible, the people of the United States would favor ratification of the treaty of peace, including the league covenant, without amendment. He found that there is widespread and growing impatience over the delay of action by the senate. Buffalo Courier.

FILM BACHELORS

The cinema has certainly come into its own in the United States. The range of studies and degrees has always been much wider in American than in English universities and now the University of California (the home state of the film-making industry) has inaugurated a chair of scenario writing. The first occupant is Professor Carl Snell, and the students who obtain the scenario writing degree will be entitled to add to their names the letters "S.W.D. Cal."—London Daily Express.

THE EARLIEST STRIKERS

It is nothing new for the coal miners to be in the forefront of industrial troubles. The earliest recorded use of the term "strike" occurred in connection with a colliery dispute. This was in September, 1765, when the London Chronicle reported a great suspension of labor in the Northumberland coal mines due to the colliers having "struck out" for higher wages.—London Morning Post.

DETACHABLE COLLARS REACH CENTENARY

NEW YORK.—In the present year falls the centenary of the false collar. What is a false collar? It is just a collar, but for a long time after it was introduced it was called false by people who still wore their collars attached to their shirts, to show their low opinion of it. Most of us can remember when cuffs were called "false," also, and maybe they are still, though since the coming of colored, soft-bossomed shirts, the vogue of cuffs has declined, and they are not often referred to by zippy dressers. But until one hundred years ago any one who wore a collar wore it as part of his shirt. Therefore, when the collar became soiled the whole outfit had to go to the tub, and people who had any pride at all in their persona appearance was obliged to wear a clean shirt every day and a week's washing in these families was a much more serious problem than it is at present. Naturally enough, it was a woman who had to do the family washing for a blacksmith who first caught the idea of a detachable collar, though what a blacksmith wanted with a collar of any sort is not explained. It is understood that it is de riguer for a blacksmith to were only a leather apron and a bushy beard.

Mrs. Montague Invented It

But this particular blacksmith, Mr. Montague, of Troy, N.Y., must have been a bear on collars, and one may judge from his name that he was probably trying to maintain a tradition of noble lineage which compelled him to do his blacksmithing in a white shirt. Whatever pride his wife took in his family connections must have been considerably marred by the task of wrestling with seven white shirts and attached collars each week. One night the idea occurred to her that it was not absolutely essential that the collar should be a part of the shirt. She had observed, as had millions of others, that the only part of the shirt that was soiled when it was discarded was the collar. More than ninety per cent of the shirt was immaculate despite the blacksmith's labors. We can imagine that her first implse was to cut off the collars altogether, but we can equally imagine the stern rebuke which she would draw from Mr. Montague for this unworthiness. So she evolved the idea of a detachable collar. The scheme presented itself to her one night, and the next day she had made a collar, which, fastened to the shirt, gave no inkling of its inherent falsehood. Her husband also was pleased with the device and was so proud of his wife's ingenuity that he even boasted of it.

The Pioneers

There grew up in the neighborhood of Troy a slight demand for other collars such as those which Mrs. Montague had fashioned, and she had several orders. The difficulty was that she could only turn out about one a day, for it is to be borne in mind that the little band that goes by the name of collar is now very different from the elaborate stock that was called a collar a hundred years ago. So, despite the fact that she had made one of the greatest discoveries or inventions in history, Mrs. Montague was not able to reap any fortune thereby. She could not register a patent, for it was left to any woman who was at all handy with her needle to make a collar for her husband. Then, too, she had to cope with popular prejudice against what was considered a mere ruse to conceal shabbiness. Men and women to whom shirts and collars and Monday washings were no object looked down upon those who wore false collars, just as later on their descendants were to despise those who wore false shirt fronts.

The Industry at Troy

Nevertheless, the common sense and economy of the idea attracted considerable atention in the neighborhood, and particularly on the part of Rev. Ebeneezer Brown. Besides being a preacher, Rev. Brown as a merchant and conducted a store in Troy "at the corner of River street and the shipyard," as it was described. He believed that the detachable collar was a boon to mankind and employed people to make it for him. One hundred years ago these collars were first displayed for sale in his window. A statistician has figured that whereas Hannah Montague used considerably less than a yard of cotton or linen or whatever was the material from which she constructed her collars, in a single day, and a spool of thread in a fortnight, today two hundred thousand yards of material is used in a single Troy factory, and a ton of thread every week. Today in Troy there are seven blocks of collar and shirt factories within a mile radius and capital amounting to $35,000,000 has been invested. It was due to Hannah Montague and Rev. Ebeneezer Brown that Troy has become the centre of shirt making in the United States, just as Rochester is the centre of camera making.

Other Collars

The collar, as it fell from the hands of Hannah Montague, has suffered a hundred changes and improvements. It has not yet become whol'y stabilized, as has the cut of men's trousers for only a few years ago the soft collar made its appearance. At first it was a mere outing fancy. Now it is worn summer and winter by hundreds of thousands. The celluloid collar, the rubber collar and the paper collar had each its day of fame. The advantage of all these is that they require no laundry attention. The paper collar was so cheap that it was thrown away after it had been worn a few days; the rubber and celluloid collars could be washed and made to look exactly like rubber and celluloid collars that had been washed. As far as the linen collar is concerned it has gradually ceased to be linen, in a great majority of cases, and has become chiefly cotton, thus saving the immense quantities of linen that used to be squandered upon the manufacture of what at best is a mere adornment.

QUEEN ANNE RIFLE FOUND IN LONDON

LONDON.—There is likely to be a revival of the one-time hotly tought question as to whether the British only learned the art of rifle shooting after their experience of the deadly shooting of the backwoodsmen in the War of Independence.

A rifle, said to have been made during the reign of Queen Anne has been on exhibition at the National Rifle association meeting at Bisley. It is the earliest rifle known to have been made in England, and it is also the earliest known English breech-loading flintlock rifle.

The weapon is a long, slightly bell-mouthed rifle, made in London by a maker called Willmore. It is equipped with a solid silver butt-plate, carved silver escutcheons and sideplates, and is loaded from the breech by unscrewing the trigger guard. The rifle must have been made between 1700 and 1720.

A certain amount of interest attaches to the discovery of the piece. The owner, a well-known collector of firearms, bought it for a few shillings in a curiosity shop because he saw it was a breech-loader of early pattern. Not until he had carried it home and cleaned it thoroughly did he discover that all the mounts were of solid silver and that the piece was actually a Queen Anne rifle.

As the only rifles known in England till 1775 were imported continental arms the discovery of an indubitable Queen Anne piece made in London and bearing proof marks of the London Gunmaker's Company was a matter of considerable surprise.

The following day he went to a well known armorer and firearms dealer in Holborn and told him of his find. The dealer suggested that a breech-loading Queen Anne rifle was an impossibility. "I thought so, too," said the collector, "but it is pure Queen Anne just as march as this pistol is."

He leaned forward and picked up an old silver-mounted, cannon barreled pistol that lay on the dealer's desk. "What do you want for this?" said the collector, examining the pistol.

The dealer said so many pounds and the collector wrote out a cheque at once. By this extreme edge of coincidence the pistol was the companion piece to the rifle and was signed by the same maker and decorated in the same style.

The rifle is of extreme interest to experts, as it has a folding aperture back-sight, identical in principal with modern aperture sights. Its interest to historians will be more so owing to the date placed upon it.

Nuxated Iron Helps Make Red Blood

The Kind That Puts Roses Into the Cheeks of Women and Force, Strength and Courage Into the Veins of Men

Watch the People You Meet On the Street—You Can Tell Those Who Have Plenty of Iron In Their Blood—Strong, Healthy, Vigorous Folks

Cut this Out

Sworn Statement of the Composition of the FORMULA of Nuxated Iron

It is conservatively estimated that this remarkable formula is now being used by over three million people annualy. Among those who have used and strongly endorse it are many physicians who have been connected with the best hospitals and medical societies, former United States Senator and Vice-Presidential nominee, Chas. A. Towne of Minnesota; U. S. Commissioner of Immigration, Hon. Anthony Caminettii; Judge Atkinson of the United States Court of Claims at Washington; Wm. L. Chambers, Commissioner of the United States Board of Mediation and Conciliation at Washington, and former Health Commissioner Wm. R. Kerr of Chicago.

Newspapers everywhere are invited to copy this statement for the benefit of their readers. It is suggested that physicians make a record of it and keep it in their offices so that they may intelligently answer questions of patients concerning it. Everybody is advised to cut it out and keep it. A copy of the actual sworn statement will be sent to anyone who desires such. It is as follows: Iron Peptonate (Special specific Standard) Quantity given below. Sodium Glycerophosphates U. S. P. (Monsanto). Calcium Glycerophosphates U. S. P. (Monsanto). P. E. Nux Vomica U. S. P. Cascarine Bitter. Magnesium Carbonate Po. Ginger U. S. P. Oil Cassia Cinnamon Precip. U. S. P. Calcium Carbonate Precip. U. S. P.

Each dose of two tablets of Nuxated Iron contains one and one-half grains of organic iron in the form of iron peptonate, of a special specific standard, which in our opinion posseses superior qualities to any other known form of iron. By using other makes of Iron Peptonate we could have put the same quantity of actual iron in the tablets at less than one-fourth the cost to us, and by using metallic iron we could have accomplished the same thing at less than one-twelfth the cost; but by so doing we must have most certainly impaired their therapeutic efficacy. Glycerophosphates used in Nuxated Iron is one of the most expensive tonic ingredients known. It is especially recommended to build up the nerve force and thereby increase brain power, as glycerophospates are said to contain phosphorous in that particular state so similar to that in which it is found in the nerve and brain cells of men.

As will be seen from the above, two important ingredients of Nuxated Iron (Iron Peptonate and Glycerophosphates) are very expensive products as compared with most other tonics.

Under such circumstances the temptation to adulteration and substitution by unscrupulous persons, is very great and the public is hereby warned to be careful and see every bottle is plainly labeled "Nuxated Iron" by the Dae Health Laboratories, Paris, London and Detroit, U. S. A., as this is the only genuine article. If you have taken other forms of iron without success, this does not prove Nuxated Iron will not help you.

MANUFACTURERS' NOTE: Nuxated Iron is not a secret remedy, but one which is well known to druggists everywhere. Unlike the older inorganic iron products, it is easily assimilated, does not injure the teeth, make them black, nor upset the stomach. Nuxated Iron is not recommended for use in cases of acute illness, but only as a tonic, strength and blood builder. (In cases of illness always consult your family physician and be guided by his advice.) If in doubt as to whether or not you need a tonic, ask your docker, as we do not wish to sell you Nuxated Iron if you do not require it. If you should use it and it does not help you, notify us and we will return your money. It is sold by all druggists.

KOOTENAY METALLIFEROUS MINING DURING 1918

fining copper on a small scale, the price obtained was still below the Canadian market price.

"Shareholders may rest assured, therefore, that the company has made at least a moderate 'money' contribution towards the prosecution of the war, but the greatest and finest gift was that made by the employees. In spite of the fact that a large percentage of the men were married, and many were foreigners, nearly 15 per cent of the employees enlisted for overseas service. Practically 80 per cent of the unmarried men of military age in the staff enlisted without waiting for conscription. Many of the finest of these made the supreme sacrifice. Most of them were decorated for deeds of valor, and not one of them has failed to make good in the face of the Hun.

"The company's direct contribution for Red Cross and patriotic purposes was over $30,000.

"At the same time, it must be realized that war activities have resulted in the establishment on a firm footing in Canada of industries engaged in the production of high-grade zinc and refined copper. The fabrication of these metals is bound to follow in due course.

"Since the cessation of hostilities the normal commercial demand for metals has not asserted itself. There may be a temporary lull in actual consumption, but no apprehension is felt as to markets and prices when usual conditions prevail.

"The Canadian consumption of copper, lead and zinc prior to the war was in excess of the capacity of the company's plant.

"After all, the mines of the company and their ore reserves constitute the real assets. The control of the West Kootenay Power and Light Company is next in importance, as through it an adequate supply of electrical energy is assured, and at a reasonable cost.

The Sullivan mine has been referred to as the great property of the company, but there are other mineral locations in course of development which promise as well as the Sullivan did at the same stage.

"Temporarily, the Rossland mines are unprofitable through high operating epenses—the fixed price of gold and its reduced purchasing power. When normal conditions return, as they are bound to do, Rossland will resume its place as one of the foremost metal producers of the country.

"The $700,000 advance from the Imperial Munitions Board towards the extension of the zinc plant was repaid in full during the year.

SAYS BOLSHEVISM IS RANK POISON

TOKIO.—Col. John Ward, the Bristol navvies' M.P., whose unerring flair for the right kind of propaganda has been illustrated in Siberia on many occasions, gave a straight-from-the-shoulder talk to a large number of "Reds" who had been captured at Perm by Kolchak's troop. The plastic minds of the Russians received the speech well, for at the close of Col. Ward's address the Bolsheviks responded with a loud and unanimou "Hurrah!"

"I am a working man," said Col. Ward. "You, seeing me in the uniform of a colonel, may doubt my words. Well, it happened very simply. When the Germans first fell on Belgium, France and Russia, we Englishmen had a very small regular army. We, the workingmen of England, quickly understood the danger threatening our motherland and went to defend her. Three million volunteers entered the army. We gave $1,000,000 to the government from our Labor fund. It would be strange if, after all these sacrifices, our Labor party should not be given a single officer to the army.

"We English workers followed our government at the moment of danger. You Russians were not in accord and you followed your leaders—internationalist. We have conquered the enemy; you have brought ruin and devastation on your country. How could it happen that a nation of 180,000,000 got into such dreadful conditions? I must tell you that you have been led to such misery by your leaders. They armed you against one another and sent you to murder and plunder your own brothers. Your leaders taught you to love everybody — Germans, Turks, Americans, Frenchmen, Englishmen—but not your brother Russians. You killed the people of your own country because they belonged to the other class. There lies your shame and your ruin.

"I myself have seen the terrible results of that internationalism—thousands of ruined families wandering about without shelter or food; hundreds of cities and villages burnt to the ground. I have seen hundreds of corpses of mutilated and tortured people—killed because they were honest Russian patriots. Remember my words, Russians. If there ever appeared such a leader as yours in England, preaching plunder and slaughter, we workmen of England would have no name for him but 'murderer.' Our reply to him would be a rope.

"When I try to explain to myself the cause of this nightmare, I cannot find any other excuses for your conduct than that you unknowingly and ignorantly mistook sham gains for real gains, and your enemies for your friends."

TRAIL PLANS TO HAVE BIGGER FAIR

TRAIL, Sept. 9.—The ninth annual Trail Fruit Fair promises to be larger and better than ever, and is to be held on the 16th and 17th of the month. aVrious organizations have listed to be here, among which are a merry-go-round, ferris wheel, a colorded troupe of ten people, a jazz band, etc.

Workmen are busy laying the new cement sidewalks on Bay avenue and Spokane street.

The church helpers of St. Andrews' church intend holding a social evening in the parish hall next Thursday evening.

Ed. Green has accepted a position in the Trail garage in place of F. H. Clements, who leaves for Vancouver.

The city post office is receiving a fresh coat of paint, also the building formerly owned by J. R. Randall.

Dr. McNaughton shot a bear on Sunday near Castlegar.

Mr. Clyde, from East Robson, occupied the pulpit of the Baptist church last Sunday.

Mr. W. Rutherford, of Nelson spent Sunday and Monday here visiting his daughter, Mrs. F. Willis.

Mr. and Mrs. A. B. Clark, who have been visiting Mr. and Mrs. N. Binns, returned to their home at Ymir.

Miss Violet Irving left last week for Blueberry, where she will teach school.

Mr. J. R. Craig and Chas. Hoeffer have returned from a hunting trip near Salmo, where they were trying out their new English setters.

Miss A. Munro left last week for Greenwood, where she will teach in the public school.

Mrs. J. E. Darnold and son returned last week from an extended visit to Idaho and Washington.

UPPER ARROW LAKES APPLE CROP WAS BADLY DAMAGED

NAKUSP, Sept. 9. — The Nakusp Presbyterian Church Ladies' aid gathered at the residence of Mrs. L. F. McDougald on Friday evening and formed a surprise party to call on Miss O. Stone, with a miscellaneous shower on the occasion of her forthcoming marriage to James Dempsey, of Alix, Alberta.

W. M. Blackstock, manager of the Canadian Bank of Commerce, is enjoying his annual vacation, being relieved by Mr. Simpson of Vancouver.

It is calculated roughly that fully 50 per cent. of the apple crop of the upper Arrow lakes was damaged by Thursday's hail storm. The damaged fruit is only classified as culls and suitable for the jam factory.

Mrs. Murphy, of West Demars, was in Nakusp on Monday, returning on the steamer.

T. Allhouse, manager of the Summit Lake Lumber company, was a visitor to Nakusp on Monday.

TWO SUDDEN DEATHS OCCUR IN ROSSLAND

Mrs. R. Coe, who was seized with a paralytic stroke Saturday morning, was taken immediately to the hospital, where she died Saturday evening.

A. M. Betts, while on his way back from lunch on Monday afternoon, accompanied by E. Hall and G. Davey, dropped dead. Mr. Betts was a Rossland old-timer and had only recently lost his wife, who died of the "flu." No arrangements have been made as yet in regard to the funeral.

G. A. Lafferty left on Friday on a short business trip to Halcyon.

Mr. and Mrs. L. A. Campbell, who have been at the coast for the past week, have returned.

Major Ormsby Alheuson, who spent a few days as the guest of G. A. Lafferty, left Friday evening for Calgary.

Mrs. Dave Murphy and two children are in the city, the guests of Mrs. S. J. McDonald.

Miss Goldie Lynn, who has been spending the past few weeks as the guest of Hazel Trembath, left Thursday morning for her home in Seattle.

Dr. Lafferty, who has been visiting his son for the past few months, left Saturday evening for his home in Calgary.

Mrs. J. T. McLean spent Saturday afternoon in Marcus.

SLOCAN CITY ITEMS

SLOCAN CITY, Sept. 9.—Captain and Mrs. M. P. Reid gave a musical evening Saturday to a number of their friends, about 30 guests being present. The music was furnished by Miss Willetta Hicks, Miss Bernice Reid, Mrs. Reid, W. G. Elsdon and H. W. Hall. Dancing was indulged in until 11 o'clock, afterwards supper was served.

Miss Roberta Covington, of New Denver, spent the week-end at her home here.

John Wafer returned to Grand Forks to resume his work at the Rock Candy group.

FRUITVALE FAIR PROVES SUCCESS

FRUITVALE, Sept. 9.—The Fruitvale Fruit and Vegetable Fair was held in the Fruitvale hall on Saturday, Sept, 6th. The past season has been one of the driest experienced in the district, but in spite of the dry weather there was a very good display of farm produce.

A very interesting talk on cooperation was given by Mr. A. B. Smith of Cranbrook, one of the judges.

Mr. Roughledge, from Alberta, is a new Fruitvale settler; arriving here with a car of effects a few days ago, having bought the Dr. Brun ranch.

Mr. J. Halifa and wife have returned to the Vale after an absence of almost four years.

After trying ranching on Vancouver island for some time, Mr. and Mrs. Palmer returned to Fruitvale, singing the old song, "There's No Place Like Home."

Mr. A. McLaren, provincial police from Salmo, was a visitor to the fair on Saturday and was kept pretty busy selling gun licenses.

R. Sinclair Smith, representing the Soldier Settlement Board, was in the valley Saturday on business connected with headquarters.

Mr. Burhtos is shipping several carloads of wood to different points.

TWO TRACTORS ARRIVE IN THE EDGEWOOD DISTRICT

EDGEWOOD, Sept. 9.—E. C. Traves of New Westminster came in on Monday last, bringing with him a caterpillar tractor and plows, discs and other farming machinery, to be used on work at the dairy farm in Five valley. The cost of the whole was about $7000.

Miss Mary Mills is the new teacher at the Fire valley school. The Edgewood school reopened with Miss Phillip again in charge.

Misses P. Church, D. Bobbitt and G. Rollins left for Nelson on Wednesday to resume their studies at St. Joseph's school.

Red fish are running in the Inonoaklin and Long creeks. Good catches are reported.

Dr. Yeld returned from Nelson and Balfour on Saturday.

W. E. Lewtas, a returned soldier, has purchased the farm of J. A. O'Reilly near Sherwood, and is living there with his uncle, W. Lewtas, an experienced horticulturist. They are busy developing the property.

F. Blakeman left for Trail on Wednesday together with Mrs. and Miss Blakeman.

The tennis tournament held on Saturday was well contested. Frank Ellis and Miss Church were the winning couple.

The Hopp boys have bought a caterpillar tractor, to be used on their ranches. It can also be used for stumping. The cost is in the neighborhood of $2500 laid down at Edgewood. It is hoped that their venture will be very successful.

Mr. John McLarty and his daughter, Miss Florence, from Ontario, who have been visiting relatives in Whitla and Medicine Hat, spent a few days last week visiting Mrs. Thos. Passmore at Apple Grove, opposite Edgewood. They were accompanied as far as Edgewood by Mrs. Fisher of Whitla, Alta., a niece of Mrs. Thomas Passmore, and sister of Miss Florence McLarty. On their way they spent a day in Nelson. They left on Saturday morning's boat on their way to visit some friends at Vancouver, and from there they will go to Seattle and Portland and then return to Ontario, after spending between three and four months on their trip.

KASLO ITEMS

KASLO, Sept. 9.—George Reuter, of Edmonton, is visiting his brother Jack of the King George hotel.

J. C. Murray of Vancouver, formerly of Trout Lake, was a week-end visitor to the city.

Lieut. Malcolm McLeod, accompanied by Mrs. McLeod, are visitors to town. Lieut. McLeod was formerly first mate on the Kokanee and expects to resume his old position in a few days. He will make his home in Kaslo.

Mr. and Mrs. H. Strong, of Gerrard, were in town over Sunday.

W. R. Allen, of Nelson, was a business visitor to town the end of the week.

Dr. Young and L. Ott, of Lardo, are in the city making arrangements to go to South America for the winter.

The Lamont brothers, Alex, Jack and William, of Riondel, were visitors over Sunday. All three brothers have seen overseas service.

Excellent progress is being made in the arrangements for the Kaslo fair to be held here Sept. 11 and 12.

The Ladies Hospital Aid held its regular monthly meeting on Monday afternoon.

Miss M. McKenzie, with her sister, Mrs. Davis, and their piece, Miss Stewart, have taken up their residence in the Henderson cottage on Front street.

J. A. Bradley, of the P. Burns shop, is in Spokane this week to see Mrs. Bradley, who is undergoing special treatment there. Mr. Bradley is being relieved by H. A. Brean of Nelson. Mrs. Brean is here also.

H. W. Power was a business visitor during the past week and left for his home in Spokane this morning.

Mr. and Mrs. H. McDonald have moved into the McNeil house on the hill.

The Miss Misses Mamie and Eleanor Bradley are the guests of Mrs. Scott of Crescent Road.

Noel Bacchus, of Shutty Bench, is a guest at the King George.

MAKE MUSIC STUDY ATTRACTIVE TO CHILD

NEW YORK. — Melody, improvisation and rhythm can be made immensely interesting if taught intelligently and simply. History is a great inspiration to a child if the story book side is brought out. It brightens the dullness of technique, introduces human interest and makes music an altogether different thing. Why do not the parents of musical children bring together those who play violin and those who play piano or 'cello, and organize little ensemble education parties.

A very great time is wasted in giving more than ordinary musical advantages to children who have no gift for music — children absolutely and entirely without talent. This is a ridiculous waste. No amount of cultivation will ever made a turnip bear roses.

The time you employ with an inferior nstructor is wasted. The happy choice of a teacher is half guarantee of success.

LOCAL VETERANS WIRE PREMIER

Want Appointment of Commissioner—Edmonton Association Forwards Resolution from Special Meeting.

Following the lead of the various commands throughout the country, Kootenay branch of the Great War Veterans' association yesterday wired Hon. Sir Robert Borden, prime minister, and R. F. Green, M.P. for the Kootenay, impressing upon them their demands for the appointment of a commission to investigate the matter of payment of further gratuity or cash bonus. The wire to Ottawa followed intimation received yesterday from the Vancouver branch. The text of the telegram was as follows:

"This branch demands government appoint commission to consider consultation with G.W.V.A. comittee to consider country's ability to pay further gratuity or cash bonus."

A meeting of the executive of the local association was held yesterday to consider the matter.

Edmonton Resolution

EDMONTON, Sept. 9.—"Whereas the prime minister of Canada has refused the proposal of the Great War Veterans' of Canada to appoint commissers to consult with representatives of the G.W.V.A. in the matter of soldiers' bonuses.

"And whereas, the attitude of the government, as revealed in the statements and actions of the prime minister seems to be one of indifference to the claims of the returned soldiers and definitely hostile to the fair proposals.

"Be it therefore resolved that the Edmonton G.W.V.A., in special general meeting assembled, September 9th, 1919, do hereby vigorously protest against the attitude of the government and the discourteous reply of the prime minister, and further, we urge the government to reconsider their stand in the matter in order to give us the opportunity of establishing the validity and urgency of our claims."

The above resolution was adopted at tonight's special general meeting of the Edmonton branch of the G.W.V.A. Copies of the resolution are being wired the prime minister and various members of parliament.

POULTRY SHOW TO OPEN AN OFFICE

Will Receive Entries for Fair on Baker Street; Prospects for Excellent Prize Meeting

At a meeting of the West Kootenay Poultry & Pet Stock association held in Labor hall last night, it was decided to have Secretary A. Wallach open an office on Baker street, for two or three days before the opening of the fair, for the acception of entries for the poultry section, which this year is under the sole management of the association. Entries will close on the night of Saturday, Sept. 20.

Advertising of the poultry prize list will be beung at once.

It was announced that E. Cale, of Vancouver, will be the poultry judge this year, the judging being by comparison.

It is stated that many local and district fanciers who have not before exhibited birds are making inquiries this year, and there are prospects for an excellent show.

Persons wshing copies of the prize list may address Secretary Wallach at P.0. Box 257.

President HU. Harbinson was in the chair and among the others present were A. F. Atkinson, Leslie Steel, Thomas Lawson, Joseph Armstrong, Thomas Wright and A. Wallach.

PULMOTOR MAY BE PLACED IN HOSPITAL

Board Instructs Secretary to Obtain Quotations; Ninety Patients Treated in August

Installation of a pulmotor at the Kootenay Lake General hospital may be a development of the early future, the matter being raised at the meeting of the hospital board last evening, when the secretary was instructed to obtain price quotations.

This decision was reached by the members in view of the fact that the city did not intend to pay half the cost of a pulmotor, as agreed to with the late Mayor M. R. McQuarrie. The board thought that the hospital might as well have one for its own use.

The fact that there was not a pulmotor in Nelson was widely commented on at the time of the tragic death by drowning of Dr. M. J. Vigneux.

During the month of August 90 *patients were admitted to the Koote*nay Lake General hospital for treatment, according to the report of the matron, read at the meeting of the hospital board last evening. The number of days of treatment totalled 1181. During the period 48 operations were performed in the hospital. There were six births and one death in the month.

A. S. Horswill and William Irvine were appointed visiting directors to the hospital for the month.

The members present at the meeting were President J. A. Irving, Secretary George Johnstone, William Irvine, A. S. Horswill, L. K. Larson, G. N. Gilchrist, George Motion and A. T. Walley.

WEDDINGS

SPIERS-CAMERON

Andrew Chalmers Spiers, son of Mrs. Spiers, Observatory street, was on Monday evening marired to Miss Maria Fraser Cameron, daughter of Dougald Cameron, Granite Road. The ceremony was performed at the residence of the bride's parents, Granite Road, by Rev. D. T. McClintock. Miss Margaret Cameron, sister of the bride, acted as bridesmaid, while the groom was supported by James W. McCandlish.

At the conclusion of the ceremony a dainty wedding breakfast was served, which was attended by about twenty close friends of the contracting parties. A number of congratulatory speeches were made, after which, to the acompaniment of the bagpipes played by Ernest Welsh, the happy couple left for a honeymoon trip which will be spent at the coast cities.

Mr. Spiers recently returned from overseas, where he spent about three years and a half. He enlisted in Nelson with the 54th batalion but upon reaching England transferred and proceeded to France with a field company of the Canadian Engineers. He is an employee of the Hudson's Bay Company.

The fire department yesterday put on a number of tests which were attended by F. C. Broadfoot and F. F. Bowling, representatives of the Mainland Board of Fire Underwriters. Water pressure and the city's electrical apparatus in connection with the fire department came under the eyes of the inspectors, who expressed complete satisfaction with both.

All Presbyterian young people are cordially invited to a banquet in St. Paul's church at 6:30 Friday evening. Presbyterian young people who are strangers in the city are specially invited. Good program. Admission free.

The Tortures of Dyspepsia Corrected by "Fruit-a-tives"

ST. MARTIN'S, N.B.

"For two years, I suffered tortures from Severe Dyspepsia. I had constant pains after eating; pains down the sides and back; and horrible bitter stuff often came up in my mouth.

I tried doctors, but they did not help me. But as soon as I started taking 'Fruit-a-tives', I began to improve and this medicine, made of fruit juices, relieved me when everything else failed."

Be Careful What You Wash Your Hair With

Don't use prepared shampoos or anything else, that contains too much alkali, for this is very injurious, as it dries the scalp and makes the hair brittle.

The best thing to use is just plain mulsified cocoanut oil, for this is pure and entirely greaseless. It's very cheap and beats anything else all to pieces. You can get this at any drug store, and a few ounces will last the whole family for months.

Simply moisten the hair with water and rub it in, about a teaspoonful is all that is required. It makes an abundance of rich creamy lather, cleanses thoroughly and rinses out easily. The hair dries quickly and evenly and is soft, fresh looking, bright, fluffy, wavy and easy to handle. Besides, it loosens and takes out every particle of dust, dirt and dandruff.

COULDN'T TAKE OFF HER RINGS

Hands Were Swollen From Rheumatism—Tanlac Relieves Trouble

"I had almost lost the use of my limbs from rheumatism and my hands were so swollen I couldn't take off my rings, but since I took Tanlac I have nearly forgotten I ever had rheumatism at all," said Mrs. Mary O'Neill, who resides at 18 Starr Street, Halifax, Canada.

"I could talk all day and not even get started telling how I suffered with rheumatism and indigestion for the past four years," she continued. "I would want to eat and would try to, but it didn't do me any good, for gas would form in my stomach and press up against my heart and put me in misery for hours at a time. Many a time I have had to stop work about the house on account of dizziness and shortness of breath I would just have to lie down and get quiet until my breathing would get easier. Then heartburn and a blinding headache would set in and when I would get up and start across the room I would have to catch myself to keep from falling in the floor. I was weak and felt too wornout and tired all the time to be anything my natural self and all the medicine I took didn't make me feel any better. The rheumatism set in and the pains would seem to start in my shoulders and joints and go through my whole body. My joints would swell so that I could hardly move for the stiffness and pain At night I would lay awake in misery and often wouldn't get any rest at all. Most of the pain would be in my left side, and I couldn't have slept on my left side, nor wouldn't have tried for a thousand dollars.

"I took the advice of a young man who is boarding at my house and tried Tanlac, and I am mighty glad I did. Tanlac is wonderful medicine, for it has not only relieved my stomach trouble entirely, but the rheumatism is also a thing of the past. I can get around the house and go just anywhere I want to, like I had never had rheumatism at all. My appetite has come back like old times and I can eat and enjoy the biggest kind of a meal and never have a minute's trouble. The heartburn disappeared when I got relief from the indigestion and I can sleep all night long and wake in the morning feeling fine My fingers have gone down to their natural size and neither myself nor anybody else could tell I ever had rheumatism. I'll certainly tell anybody that I see what Tanlac has done for me, and will be glad to recommend it in every way possible for I am thankful for the relief it has brought me."

Tanlac is sold in Nelson by Canada Drug & Book Store and by the leading druggist in every town.

Lay green walnut leaves in cupboard or places infested with ants and they will soon leave.

AMATEUR LACROSSE TITLE AT STAKE

Saskatchewan and Edmonton Teams to Take Field in Opening Game Today

WINNIPEG, Sept. 9.—The greatest event in the history of Winnipeg lacrosse is billed to get under way at 2.45 p.m. tomorrow, when the Lawson team of Saskatchewan and the Edmonton team, champions of Alberta, face off in the opening game for the Canadian lacrosse championship. All the teams with the exception of the Lawson crew are here and prepared to battle their very best for the highest honors in the amateur world. The Lawson team will be along early in the morning and the tourney promises to provide some of the greatest lacrosse ever offered in the west. Fred Laghorne of Toronto, and George Kendall of Winnipeg, will handle the opening game, while in the second contest, which will be between the Winnipeg and St. Simons of Toronto, will be in charge of Lester Patrick of Victoria, and Harry Scott of Calgary. All the teams worked out today and were entertained in the evening at a theatre party. They retired early so as to be in the best of shape to start off the hard grind tomorrow.

AMERICANS DELIGHTED WITH EARL GRAY

NEW YORK. — Not even James Bryce's appointment as British ambassador to the United States was received with such expressions of pleasure as have followed the announcement that Viscount Grey is to go to Washington, for the time being at least. Practically every American newspaper of prominence gives him a cordial welcome, and expresses gratification at the compliment to the United States involved in Great Britain sending such a man. It is, as one of them remarks, as though Elihu Root were to be sent to England. It is also appreciated that only a strong sense of public duty leads the almost blinded statesman to accept the post. There are no more honors for him to reap. His name is imperishably inscribed among his country's immortals. He would greatly have desired to spend his remaining years at his ancestral home of Falloden, a beautiful spot, and peculiarly dear to Lord Grey because of its associations. But he has put aside his natural inclinations because he believes he may do his country a service by going to Washington, and the American people appreciate it.

A Unique Position

We are inclined to believe that Lord Grey will occupy a position there such as no other diplomat ever filled. The position of Great Britain's representative is slightly different from that of any other ambassador—because of the peculiar relations between the two countries. In addition to being upon a slightly different footing, the new ambassador is a personal friend of both President Wilson and ex-President Taft, besides being intimately acquainted with other noted Americans. He was also a great friend of Theodore Roosevelt, and the latter once said that the most delightful days he spent in England were those with Grey when they walked through the New Forest discussing the bird life of the place and seeing which of them could identify the most varieties. Further, and most important, Lord Grey will be admitted to know more about European politics and European peoples than anyone in the American state department. Knowing him to be the soul of honor and candor, can it be doubted that the American government will frequently avail itself

BERT LYTELL

The Soul of Honor

His profound interest in the League of Nations will make his appointment particularly gratifying to the present administration. It is known that no foreign subject interested him so much in the thirty years he spent in the house of commons as the development of friendship between Great Britain and the United States. It is also known that he is not coming to Washington to obtain some advantage for the country he represents at the expense of the United States, that he has no axe to grind, and that he is always just exactly what he appears to be. That he did more than any other man to avert the great war is also everywhere admitted. Perhaps no state documents have been read with such profound interest and by so many Americans as those contained in the British White paper which record the communications between the British government and the other interested European governments in the weeks immediately preceding the war. These have made the name of Grey a household word for simple honesty and good faith.

Many Private Troubles

The many misfortunes of the new ambassador have not been without their appeal to the American people. It is recalled that he lost his wife, a beautiful and accomplished woman to whom he was devoted, in a carriage accident. The tragic accident cast a cloud over his life which has never been entirely dispelled. His favorite brother was killed by a lion when big game hunting in British East Africa. Still later a fire destroyed part of Falloden Hall, and many of his greatest treasures were lost. Finally there came the blow of failing eyesight. This was the result of his great conscientiousness in perusing confidential dispatches, many of them in almost illegible handwriting. The result was that he had to resign to the capable hands of Arthur Balfour his post of foreign secretary in 1916. The rest has done him good, and though he cannot see to read, his eyesight is improving and may yet become normal for a man of his years and habits.

The fact that this is the first occasion when Great Britain ever sent to any nation an ambassador who is a former foreign secretary is commented upon by several American newspapers. It is the next thing, they observe, to sending a member of the Royal family, and is in itself an unprecedented compliment. The all-round character of the new ambassador is also well known. He is the author of a work on fly fishing that is a standard. His gifts as a speaker are well known. Formerly he was one of the best tennis players in England. He was also a cricketer and oarsman of renown. It is pretty generally understood that when he was raised to the peerage and offered an earldom he declined and took instead the slightly lower dignity of a Viscountcy, in order not to embarrass the other Earl Grey, his kinsman, and son of the former Governor-General of Canada. However, he is a Knight of the Garter, the highest order of chivalry in the realm.

EGYPTIANS FOUGHT UNDER OWN BANNER

WASHINGTON. — Ronald Lindsay, charge d'affaires of the British embassy, today made public a letter in reply to an inquiry as to "how many Egyptian soldiers fought under the British flag during the war and what was the number of casualties suffered by them."

The inquiry, it was said, was prompted by the brief recently published by Joseph W. Folk, former governor of Missouri, to the foreign relations committee of the United States senate, in which Mr. Folk called attention to the fact that 1,000,000 Egyptian troops fought on the side of the Allies."

"The British government," wrote Mr. Lindsay, who was in Egypt all through the war, "has carefully avoided destroying Egyptian sovereignty. Egyptian soldiers always serve under the Egyptian, and not under the Brtish flag. The Union Jack does not fly in Egypt except over the British military establishments in the country, elsewhere the distinctive Egyptian flag is displayed. To answer your question literally, no Egyptian soldier joined the British colors.

"Of course, this is only a partial statement. In February, 1915, when the Turkish army attacked Egypt, a battery of Egyptian artillery joined the British force defending the line of the Suez canal. I believe they lost two killed and half a dozen wounded.

"No other Egyptian armed forces were in action during the recent war; but later on three or four Egyptian battalions guarded lines of communication in Sinai while General Allenby was conducting his campaign in Syria, and an Egyptian detachment was at one time in the Hadjaz. Neither of these forces was ever under fire.

"In addition to this, large numbers of Egyptians were enrolled in labor and transport corps, auxiliary to the British forces. These men were enlisted for short terms of three to six months and did the manual and unskilled labor for General Allenby's forces.

"How many of these men passed through the labor corps cannot be stated, but the total enlistments at one foment amounted to between 80,000 and 90,000. Of the labor corps men some came under fire while digging trenches and transporting stores and ammunition to the front, and casualties were suffered. I believe there were altogether about 1,500 killed and wounded during the four years of the war."

"THE HOME OF GOOD PRINTING" NELSON, B.C.

Dangerous Antiseptics and Germicides Are Unnecessary

A dependable antiseptic has come to be considered a necessity in most homes. Especially is this true since Absorbine, Jr., has had such a wide introduction, because this liniment is not only a powerful antiseptic and germicide, but it is absolutely safe to use and to have around the house. It is not poisonous and it cannot do harm even if the children do get hold of it. That is a big point to consider.

Absorbine, Jr., is concentrated and is therefore economical. It retains its germicidal properties even diluted one part Absorbine, Jr., to 100 parts water—and its antiseptic properties, one part Absorbine, Jr. to 200 parts of water

The antiseptic and germicidal properties have been repeatedly tested and proven in many prominent chemical laboratories. Detailed laboratory reports mailed upon request.

Absorbine, Jr. combines safety with efficiency; $1.25 a bottle at most druggists or postpaid. Send 10c for liberal trial bottle.
