INDUSTRIAL CONFERENCE COMES TO END

SECURED VIEWPOINT OF CAPITAL AND LABOR ON THEIR PROBLEMS

FAILED TO REACH AN AGREEMENT ON FEW ISSUES

Senator Robertson, on Behalf of Premier Borden, Thanks the Delegates for Attending

OTTAWA, Sept. 21.—The national industrial conference insofar as securing the viewpoints of the two classes generally referred to as capital and labor was concerned, has been a success. A week of fruitful debate resulted in agreement of the two sides on many points, and while on others is was impossible to reach unanimous decisions, the two parties to such agreements came closer together than they had ever previously done, and as Senator Robertson, minister of labor, paraphrased it toward the close of the conference, "The government now has the views of each to work on."

The eight-hour day, right of workers to organize, and the application of the royal commission's report to government work, recommendations of unions and collective bargaining were the subjects before the conference on which it was impossible to reach unanimously. However, it was stated by the commission chairman that in each case there had been advices made by either, which it was confidently hoped would lead to settlement without strife.

Eight-Hour Day Debate

In regard to the eight-hour day, the manufacturers supported the clauses in the peace treaty referring to the subject, but wanted a board appointed to make a report before any legislation was adopted.

Labor had had enough of boards and commissions The member of the labor committee said that the right of the workers to the eight-hour day had been conceded, and they wanted legislation first. Recognition of the unions had already been conceded, but the employers held out for the right of workingmen not to join unions. Labor agreed that the closed shop principle was not involved unless that was agreed to. Collective bargaining could not be agreed to by the committees.

The necessity of a minimum wage for women and children in all provinces was agreed upon, and in regard to unskilled workers it was requested that a board or commission be formed to investigate the need for legislation providing for a living wage.

The committee appointed to deal with the subject of applying the recommendations of the royal commission to government work wherever possible also did not agree. The manufacturers felt that this was a matter between the governments and their employees.

The third group believed the recommendations of the commissions should be carried out. Labor thought government servants should have the same rights as private employees.

Splendid Spirit

A splendid spirit prevailed throughout the entire debate, and it was frequently expressed by delegates on both sides of the conference hall that they had come together much better than was anticipated during the first couple of days.

When the reports had all been presented and adopted there was a brief period during which addresses were delivered by Premier Sir William Hearst, of Ontario; Premier T. C. Norris, of Manitoba; Hon. C. A. Dunning, of Saskatoon; Hon. W. L. McKenzie King, and the final address by Senator Robertson, on behalf of the prime minister and the government.

Much Closer Together

Premier Hearst referred to the first couple of days, when the occupants of "No Man's Land" did not know what to expect from either side, and the steady growth of good feeling, which, he felt, would result in great things for Canada in an industrial sense. The delegates on both sides had lost their attitude of mystery, and had come to understand the other's viewpoint. Premier Hearst assured the gathering that there would be the utmost cooperation by his government with the federal and other provincial governments in carrying out as far as possible the resolution which had been placed before the conference.

Steps Toward Understanding

Premier Norris, of Manitoba, thought that in getting together, with cards on the table, capital and labor had made the first great step towards a complete understanding and settlement of their differences. He felt that the Canadian delegates to Washington to attend the international labor conference would have something from this conference to guide them in their actions there, for Canada had been a pioneer in this regard.

Hon. C. A. Dunning expressed the appreciation of himself and the other provincial officials who had had the benefit of the discussions and could now advise their respective governments on future problems. He hoped for the time when the political life of Canada would be on a higher plane, and the people would understand that the men forming the respective governments were striving always for better conditions, instead of seeking their own good.

Hon. W. L. MacKenzie King spoke briefly, referring to the gathering as Canada's first step towards industrial peace and harmony. He felt that everyone who had attended would feel a benefit and said that the birth of a new spirit between labor and the employers had been visible as the conference progressed.

On behalf of the prime minister and the government, Senator Robertson expressed thanks to the delegation for their attendance and expressed thanks to the delegates for their attendance and expressed appreciation of the results which had been accomplished. The conference had opened with a feeling of thankfulness for victory attained on the fields of battle, and Senator Robertson felt that in closing there would be feeling of all that a great step had been taken towards solving the many problems that faced labor and the employers. There was a brighter outlook for Canada's industrial future and he hoped that further conferences would not be left to the initiative of the government nor the department of labor, but that the parties directly interested themselves feeling the benefit of this six days of free and open discussion, would get together and then invite the government representatives to sit in "No Man's Land" and hear their discussion for the purpose of guiding future legislation. The conference closed at 5:15 p. m. Saturday, with the singing of the national anthem.

Labor Resolution

W. L. Best, Ottawa, spoke of the resolution for labor, stating that the committee had endeavored to reach a harmonious resolution. The subjects referred to it were of great magnitude and it would not be surprising that there were separate reports.

Labor recognized the right to organize, recognition of unions and the right to collective bargaining. Recognition of the union, it was pointed out by labor, did not mean a closed shop, unless that principle was agreed upon. The report presented by Mr. Best follows:

"Your joint committee, to whom was referred item No. 4, viz: Consideration of (a) employee's right to organize; (b) recognition of labor unions and (c) the right to collective bargaining, submits the following, with recommendations:

"(a The right of employees to organize;

"(b) Recognition of labor unions.

"(c) The right of employees to collective bargaining.

Recommendations

"In the recommendations, without changing the general attitudes of their terms:

(a) The right of employees to organize means the right of employees to organize and form themselves into associations for lawful purposes.

"(b) The recognition of labor unions means the right of employees or their duly accredited representative or representatives to recognition to their president or presidents for the purpose of mutually arranging rules and regulations governing wages and working conditions.

"(c) The right of employees to collective bargaining means the negotiation of agreements between employers or groups of employers through the representative or representatives chosen by the respective parties themselves."

Closed Shop

Entering into agreements and bargaining collectively with an association or union of employees does not mean recognition of the closed shop. "unless the agreement so provides."

E. P. Ewart, Toronto, for the third group, said he did not intend bringing in a report on this matter.

Adam C. Hay, Winnipeg, asked employers to get rid of the idea that un-

He was a son of the late Robt. Cochrane, a Scotchman, and was born on Nov. 18, 1852, at Clarenceville, Que. His mother was Irish. He was educated at the separate school in the parish of St. Thomas, Que.

Mr. Cochrane was married to Miss Alice Lavina Dunlop on August 16, 1882. They had three children, Wilbur Carlyle, Edith May and Lieut. Ogden Dunlop (deceased), none of whom, according to the 1919 issue of the Parliamentary Guide, have been married.

MYSTERY ABOUT AUSTRIAN'S DEATH

FERNIE, B. C., Sept. 21.—Mike Chernovsky, an Austrian sectionhand employed on the C.P.R. at Jaffray, died here this morning from a knife wound in the throat believed to have been self-inflicted last Thursday.

Chernovsky was found by some parties near the right-of-way who believed him to be dead, and so reported. When authorities arrived it was found that life was not extinct and he was rushed to hospital, where he remained unconscious until death.

Preliminary investigation showed attempted suicide, but subsequent reports were that deceased was believed to have had a large sum of money on his person and as but a very small amount was in his possession when he was found unconscious the police are making further inquiries.

SEE POSSIBLE OLIVE BRANCH FOR IRELAND

TIMES GIVES FORECAST OF RECONSTRUCTION OF THE BRITISH CABINET

CHIEF SECRETARY OF IRELAND MAY RESIGN

Paper Declares Lloyd George Has Been Unable to Get Labor Men to Join Government

LONDON, Sept. 21—In a forecast of the coming reconstruction of the ministry the Sunday Times says that Premier Lloyd George has decided to offer another olive branch to Ireland "recognizing as does Bonar Law that resolute government has been carried to the furthermose extent possible and that Ireland cannot indefinitely be kept under military occupation."

The correspondent commenting on the fact that James Ian MacPherson, chief secretary of Ireland, did not accompany Viscount French, lord-lieutenant and governor-general of Ireland in his visit to London for the week-end to discuss the situation, says there is a suspicion that indisposition, which is given as the reason for his absence, may be the prelude to MacPherson's resignation.

"He (MacPherson) has so identified himself with the policy of repression," the correspondent says in this connection, "that any reversion to conciliation must involve his retirement."

The Times says the premier has sounded certain labor leaders on the subject of cooperation, but they have definitely declined, hence it adds, "the ministerial changes will be few."

Viscount Rothermere, who is a zealous economist, according to the Times, will probably be appointed secretary of war while Col. Winston Spencer Churchill, the present secretary of war, will go to the colonial office, as Viscount Milner, who holds that office is anxious to retire.

It is pointed out by the imes that the ly difficulty attached to the return of Viscount RothermerTe to the ministry is his antagonism to Andrew Bonar Law, but the newspaper says, the premier will find a formula enabling them to work together, as Bonar Low is regarded as an indispensable member of the government. No decision has been reached regarding a successor to Walter Hume Long, who is expected to retire as first lord of the admiralty.

The hospital was due to close in October. Great preparations had been made for the expected visit to the institution of the Prince of Wales on his visit to Vancouver.

PREMIER BORDEN IS IMPROVING

But Will Not Be Able to Take His Place in Parliament for Several Days

OTTAWA, Sept. 21.—Sir Robert Borden is steadily improving, but it is improbable that he will be in his place in parliament for several days. It is possible that he will be able to be out before the end of the present week. Pending the return of the prime minister to the house the house will devote its time to resolutions of private members and the government bills still on the order paper. The Special committee named to deal with the bill relating to soldiers civil re-establishment will hold its first business sitting on Monday evening. It has secured the permission of the house to sit when parliament is in session and in view of the anticipated brevity will rush its work.

CHINESE ON WAY BACK TO ORIENT

First Contingent of 80,000 Arrive at Halifax; Traveling in Bond

HALIFAX, Sept. 21.—The first contingent of the 80,000 Chinese who were taken by Britain to the western front for service behind the lines, returned today, when two steamships landed 4000 of the Celestials en route for Vancouver. The steamers that arrived today were the Winnifredian, which docked first, followed by the Havreford in the afternoon. The Caronia will dock, at 8 o'clock with over 2000 more. There was no trouble in handling the Chinamen though care was taken that none should get astray, for there is a head tax of $500 and all are in bond.

Seven trains were required to forward those who came today and three or four more will be needed for the Caronia's crowd. Each train at least takes 700 Chinamen, who travel in far closer company than did the returned Canadian soldier. Each section of the ordinary troop train had three soldiers, but with the Chinamen four go in each section.

CLASHES WITH POLICE USHER IN STRIKE IN THE IRON INDUSTRIES

SERIOUS DISTURBANCE OCCURS AT NORTH CLARITON, 20 MILES FROM PITTSBURG, LATE SUNDAY AFTERNOON, WHEN PENNSYLVANIA STATE CONSTABLES CHARGED A CROWD OF UNION MEN HOLDING A MASS MEETING AND BROKE IT UP; SEVERAL SHOTS ARE ALLEGED TO HAVE BEEN FIRED; SQUAD OF McKEESPORT POLICE BREAKS UP MEETING OF 2500 STEEL WORKERS AND SYMPATHIZERS; STRIKE IS DUE TO GO INTO EFFECT THIS MORNING, BUT MANY WORKERS WENT OUT YESTERDAY.

PITTSBURG, Sept. 21.—Clashes between Pennsylvania police and crowds bent on holding mass meetings in the Pittsburg district today ushered in the strike of the iron and steel industries.

The most serious disturbance occurred at North Clariton, 20 miles from Pittsburg, late in the afternoon, where the state troops charged a crowd of union men holding a mass meeting and broke it up.

Resistance was offered and it was charged by union leaders that the mounted policemen used their clubs vigorously and injured a number of the crowd. About a dozen men were arrested. The meeting was broken up at the request of the local authorities.

According to eye-witnesses the meeting was proceeding quietly when the state police broke it up. The crowd scattered and some ran up a railroad embankment and threw stones and other missiles.

It is alleged that several shots were fired by some one in the crowd.

There was a slight disturbance at McKeesport where union organizers attempted to hold a meeting. More than 2500 steel workers and sympathizers gathered near the limits of the city when a squad of McKeesport police charged ther

About 3000 employees at McKeesport have been made deputy sheriffs to protect company property it was stated.

The steel plants i and about McKeesport employ approximately 18,000 workers. All plants are under heavy guard.

Although the call of the unions made the strike effective tomorrow morning, reports showed that steel companies in the Pittsburg district at least have already felt the effect of the summons. The skeleton Sunday shifts in many plants were not as complete as under normal conditions and union leaders said that a large number of men had decided not to report tonight.

PRINCE ON WAY TO VANCOUVER

Opens Revelstoke Park, 5000 Feet High in Mountains; Kamloops Indians Welcome Him.

REVELSTOKE, Sept. 21.—Enroute on Saturday from Field to Revelstoke, the Prince of Wales inspected 500 Imperial soldiers, members of the Middlesex regiment under Col. F. B. Browne, who were on their way home from Siberia. The men alighted from their troop train at the little mountain station of Twin Butte, and they cheered the Prince with great vigor after he had passed down the lines. The Middlesex men arrived at Vancouver this week and are sailing for home from Montreal.

At Golden this morning the Prince received a hearty welcome from the citizens, conspicuous in the crowd being returned soldiers and a company of school children who sang patriotic songs.

Ascends Mountain

Here the Prince made the acquaintance of some white-turbaned Sikhs, the first he had met in Canada. In the afternoon the royal train reached Revelstoke where the Prince received a warm welcome and where the Dominion park on Mount Revelstoke was officially opened by him. A bronze tablet had been erected on a large rock, and with appropriate ceremonies the Prince lifted the Union Jack which covered it.

The royal party ascended to the park in motor cars and from the elevation of 5000 feet His Royal Highness was charmed with the view of the Illecillewaet and Columbia valleys. In the early evening the Prince and a few others tramped six miles down the trail and before rejoining his train he attended a moving picture performance at the local theatre. Thousands of people gave him a royal send-off at the station.

Earlier in the day Mayor McKinnon presented the Prince with an address on behalf of the citizens and the Prince unveiled a memorial tablet at the court house for those from this city who fell in the war.

Welcomed by Indians

KAMLOOPS, B.C., Sept. 21.—Every citizens of Kamloops and district was on hand this afternoon to hail the Prince of Wales and their welcome was lusty and unsparing. The visit began with a drive to the town fair grounds and the presentation of an address by Mayor Hedley Miller, and a verbal welcome from the chief of the Kamloops Indians, the latter resplendent in paint and feathers. The Prince's reply was brief but cordial and the visit closed with redoubled cheers for the Prince and for the king. The royal train left for Vancouver after a brief stay.

Death Causes Change in Plans

VANCOUVER, Sept. 21.—The United States dreadnaught New Mexico, occampanied by the destroyers Anthony and Ludlow, and under command of Admiral Hugh Rodman, who commanded the sixth battle squadron of the American navy with the Grand Fleet during the war, anchored in Vancouver waters at 4 o'clock this afternoon. The death at noon of a seaman on the New Mexico, the admiral's flagship, from spinal meningitis, caused last-minute changes of plans in connection with the visit of the Prince of Wales. It had been arranged that an official reception party headed by Mayor R. H. Gale, should board the New Mexico at 4.30 o'clock. Instead a conference was held in which the doctor of the flagship, the port physician and the city medical health officer participated, and it was decided that as a precautionary measure the New Meico will receive no visitors during her presence in port, and the crew will not be given shore leave. Admiral Rodman and his staff will come ashore tomorrow morning at 10 o'clock, and on the dock they will receive Vancouver's official welcome.

Take Precautions

The conference of the doctors did not consider the situation on the New Mexico at all serious, but it was felt that there was wisdom in taking all precautionary measures to prevent any possibility of the spread of the disease. There are no other cases of spinal meningitis in the squadron.

In consequence of the semi-quarantine, however, the Prince of Wales will not lunch on the New Mexico Tuesday noon, as had been arranged, and he will not be the guest of Admiral Rodman for the run to Victoria. Otherwise the arrangements for the visit of the Prince will not be affected. Admiral Rodman will participate in the various functions in honor of the royal guest, the program opening upon the arrival of the Prince's train at 10.35 o'clock in the morning, and including a civic reception at Stanley Park, a civic luncheon at noon tomorrow, and a ball in the evening at which 10,000 persons will be spectators or spectators.

At Vancouver Today

VANCOUVER, B.C., Sept. 21. The Prince of Wales will reach this city Monday morning and will spend seven days along the shores of the Pacific before starting the second half of his Canadian tour. Altogether British Columbia will have thirteen days in which to entertain the Prince, and although the northern half of the province will not be touched, every day will provide unique entertainment for the royal party in this picturesque land.

Two crowded days at Vancouver will be followed by an official visit to the provincial capital. When the formal functions in Victoria are over, the royal party will spend several days of quiet and recreation on Vancouver Island, and on Friday next the Prince will visit Qualicum, Duncan, Ladysmith, Nanaimo and the soldiers' community settlement at Courtenay. The dockyard at Esquimalt also will be visited the previous day, Thursday. There is no official program for Saturday and Sunday of this week, and the royal party will sail for the mainland Sunday at midnight. On Monday, September 29, a visit to New Westminster will occupy the morning and in the afternoon the royal train will leave for Penticton, where it will remain overnight. The reception at

Under the heading, "Diverse Wealth of the Kootenays," the Northwest Min-in Tuth, of Spokane, has the following appreciative article on the editorial page of its current issue:

In the production of divers things, we generally find a section of any given state or province specializing along one particular line. Some areas produce lumber ,others minerals, while others are strictly agricultural. But it is not often that one finds such a variety of natural products as are obtained from the great Kootenay district of British Columbia.

We are apt, perhaps, to regard the kootenays as a strictly mining country. Its mines and mineral prospects are numerous and some of them rank among the large mining enterprises of the North American continent. As a matter of fact, however, the sum total of its output of natural resources is also partly swelled by lumbering and agriculture. While the latter is not at the present time a factor of very great importance, it is, nevertheless, steadily increasing and the time is not far distant when both mining and lumbering will have some hustling to do in order to maintain hitherto accepted precedence in the procession.

In variety of minerals produced, and capable of potential production, the Kootenays occupy a unique position. There is a range not often found elsewhere. Lead, silver, gold, copper, manganese, marble, are all found in prolific abundance under proper methods of development and exploitation; not to mention the fact that some of the more rare minerals are being found occasionally, and as the district is developed these will doubtless become important factors in the total mineral output.

In the deep valleys of the mountains, and along the gem-like inland lakes, millions of feet of lumber have been maturing since before Columbus took a long chance and sailed westward from old Spain in an effort to prove that man existed on a globe instead of a platter. Some of the finest timber in interior British Columbia exists in the Lardeau and in the Lardeau-Duncan district. The timber fringe has only been touched. The possibilities of the industry, like mining, are enormous.

As the giants of the forest fall before the axe of the woodsman a new vista is opened up—that of agriculture. Much of the valley soil is rich in those elements dequired for successful fruit production. Expanding meadows make fat cows, and fat cows build up the dairying industry. Orchards are coming into bearing in the valleys and along the lake shores. It is estimated that Kootenay's apple production this year will total 200 cars. Five years from now it will five times that amount.

But the Kootenay country has still another asset. That is the quality of lake and mountain scenery. In mining the removal of the ore leaves a mine or mining district just so much poorer; in lumbering, trees are cut down and cannot be replaced in centuries; every pound of agricultural produce takes so much from the soil. But scenic attraction is an asset that can never be depleted. And the Kootenay country is becoming increasingly attractive each year to a greater number of people from all sections of the continent.

It can thus be seen that Kootenay is really in possession of four great assets—mining, lumbering, agriculture and tourist attractions. It is not often that any one section can show such a combination. Under proper conditions, the future of the district should provide ample opportunity for optimism on the part of its residents.

P. McNaughton, who enlisted in Nelson with the 54th. Kootenay battalion, has returned to the city after having spent several months since demobilization in the east. Mr. Mc Naughton preceeded overseas from Vernon with the C company draft later proceeding to the Third Divisional train in France. He later transferred back to the 54th remaining with that unit until its demobilization. He expects to make his home here.

The khaki tents of the Boucher Shows, the merry-go-round and the Ferris wheel are in place on the grounds. The finishing touches are being put to the grandstand, and the platform will be erected today.

J. E. Griffith, deputy minister of public works, has authorized George Clerihew, ferryman, to operate the ferry late on the three nights of the fair.

CRESTON PREPARES A HEARTY WELCOME

Sightseeing and Banquet for Saturday for Nelson Visitors—Trip Over Flats on Sunday.

According to the Creston Review, the plans for entertaining the Nelson business men and returned soldier delegation are reaching an advanced stage. In its report of the last meeting of the Creston board of trade, the excursion:

The following paragraph deals with the excursion.

"An interim report on the entertainment of the Nelson board members and business men who are coming here on the 27th to see the fair and to get a close-up introduction to Kootenay Flats reclamation and the Valley generally, showed that almost 75 visitors may be expected, which will include the members of the Veterans' brass band, which is about 22 strong. The band is accompanying the Nelson delegation and it is expected that it will be available to supply music afternoon and evening, supplementing the efforts of the Creston band if it is sufficiently reorganized to be able to play that day. Present plans would seem to be to devote the afternoon to seeing the fair, with the banquet at night, while Sunday morning will be taken up with a trip over the flats and such parts of the valley as time will permit of. Committees have been named to look after accommodation of the visitors and it is hoped, in this connection, that the C.P.R. sleeping car will be run up from Sirdar and placed on the sidetrack here for Saturday next which will sleep quite a few of those expected."

ACCEPT RESIGNATION OF REV. H. S. BAGNALL

Committee is Regretful But Feels Cannot Do Otherwise in Face of Pastor's Decision

With regret of those present, but in face of the fact that Rev. H. S. Bagnall had stated that he would not reconsider his decision to leave his Nelson pastorate, the committee, composed of members of the church officers and congregation, decided to accept the pastor's resignation. The resolution was moved by E. H. Evans and seconded by Mrs. Lammadee. N. S. Houston proposed that the pastor should be asked to reconsider his decision, and he was seconded by Miss Agnes Lawson, but after further discussion the conclusion was reached that the church could not do otherwise than accede to the wishes of Mr. Bagnall.

A committee composed of Dr. N. Wolverton, N. S. Houston and E. H. Evans, was appointed to draft a letter to the pastor, expressing, on behalf of the congregation, their appreciation of the good work of Mr. Bagnall, during the two and a half years he has filled the Baptist church pulpit.

The deacons of the church were instructed to look after the matter of obtaining a successor to Mr. Bagnall.

NELSON FLOWERS WOULD HAVE WON

If Exhibit Had Been Sent to Coast—Floral Section at Vancouver Was Not High Class

If Nelson florists could have been gifted with second sight, and could have forseen that their flowers would come on and be at top notch the week before the Vancouver exhibition while the coast flowers would be in a bad way, they would have gone forward with the district sweet pea exhibit that was at one time talked of, and have won in a walk.

Some time before the exhibition, Alf Woods made a trial shipment to Vancouver, to see how sweet peas would stand travel. His flowers were very carefully packed in a candy bucket, and the recipient, T. D. Stark, reported that they arrived in fine condition, except a few of the outside blooms, that came in contact with the bucket.

Mr. Woods attended the exhibition, and found the flower section very disappointing. There were comparatively few entries, and the exhibits in general were inferior. The dahlia exhibit was a good one, but in other respects the flower section did not attain the Nelson standard.

MRS. McQUARRIE TO BE DECORATED BY PRINCE

Mrs. M. R. McQuarrie will be decorated by the Prince of Wales with the Military Cross won during the battle of Lens by her son, Capt. Donald McQuarrie. Mrs. McQuarrie has received word to this effect from Victoria.

Capt. McQuarrie was decorated with the ribbon by Gen. Sir Arthur Currie, in France. He was killed in action a week later and thus did not get to England, where it is probable he would have been decorated with the medal at an investiture by King George at Buckingham Palace.

NELSON MOTORISTS PICNIC AT SLOCAN

A motoring party, four machines strong, drove out from Nelson to Slocan City yesterday morning, returning in the afternoon. About 20 persons were on the outing, there being J. A. Irving and family and Mrs. Heron, Dr. F. E. Morrison and family, Dr. E. G. Smyth and family, and Mr. and Mrs. Tom Roberts and friends.

"The route to Slocan City furnishes the best long run in this section of the country," declared one of the motorists, after the return trip. The round trip is about 90 miles.

Cpl. J. R. Humphries, accompanied by Mrs. Humphries, reached the city on the Crow boat last night after a lengthy period of overseas service. Cpl. Humphries who was a C. P. R. engineer out of Nelson prior to proceeding overseas enlisted with the 54th Kootenay battalion, proceeded overseas with the C company draft and later transferred for service in France with the Canadian Railway Construction corps. He was demobilized in the east and has been visiting friends and relatives there for some months prior to coming west.

Gunner Williams, who enlisted in Nelson with the first contingent, returned to the city from overseas Saturday night accompanied by Mrs. Williams. He expects to make his home in Nelson.

Pte. R. Whitehead and Pte. H. M. Cobbett, who arrived in Canada from overseas a few days ago, have gone right through to Vancouver for their discharge and will arrive in Nelson either Tuesday or Wednesday night, according to a letter received by Mrs. Cobbett.

D'ANNUNZIO'S FLIGHT TO JAPAN TO COST $1,000,000

VENICE—It is estimated that the cost of the proposed flight of Gabriele d'Annunzio, the poet-aviator, from Rome to Tokio, will be five million francs.

D'Annunzio is working hard daily to complete to the smallest detail his plans for the long journey. He is studying the direction of winds, even delving into ancient manuscripts in St. Mark's library for data.

Italian officers and soldiers belonging to the Air Force already have left for their posts, where d'Annunzio expects to replenish his supplies during the trip.

FAVORITE ISSUES RECORD DECLINE

Reach Lowest Quotations of Week but Recover Slightly at Close

NEW YORK, Sept. 20.—The approaching steel strike was again the sole factor of importance in the stock market today, many prominent issues recording lowest quotations of the week, with irregular recoveries at the close.

United States Steel yielded slightly more than a point at its worst, but regained over half its loss, and allied shares moved in much the same manner, but motors and their subsidiaries were inclined to weaken.

There were a few features of comparative strength, notably tobaccos and such specialties as American Linseed and National Lead, in which the operations of professional interests were more or less obvious.

Elsewhere in aiding transportations, declines of 1 to 3 points were partly retrieved, the rally being attributed more to short covering than actual buying. Total sales amounted to 500,000 shares.

The weekly mercantile reviews emphasized the further expansion of general trade, although noting that business activity is tempered by labor disturbances.

A deficit of slightly more than $53,000,000 in actual reserves of the clearing house, the largest ever reported by that institution, lacked definite explanation, but was attributed to heavy payments for federal taxes made in the course of the week.

Bonds were steady, but featureless, Liberty issues again supplying most of the activity. Total sales, par value, aggregated $8,500,000.

Old United States fours were lower by ¼ per cent on call during the week and the others unchanged.

MONTREAL, Sept. 21.—The market for securities on Saturday showed to some degree the effect of the uncertainty and generally downward trend of the market at New York. Abitibi on small buying rose to a net gain of 12¼ points, making a new high record at 110¼, with 110 bid at the close.

Steamships common advanced to 64½, a new high for the year, and closed at 64, a net gain of 1½ points. Spanish River common added a small fraction at 47¼, the high for the day. The low for the stock was 46½. The preferred sold down 1¼ below Friday's close, and Penman's made a new high record at a fractional gain to par. Atlantic Sugar sold up to 60⅞, a new high, with the close at 60¼, showing a net gain of ⅝ points. Spanish River common made a small gain to 47¼, the high for the day. The preferred sold down to 110½, but good support sent the price back to 112, the previous day's close. Ames Holden stocks were active, but both the common and preferred were weaker, the common losing 1⅞ near the close, selling at 93, and the preferred losing one point at 104½.

VANCOUVER LIKES TO TALK MINING

Mr. Pool Finds It Hard to Steer Conversation to Fruit Ranching; Predicts Money Influx

"Vancouver can talk nothing but mining," remarked W. B. Pool, manager of the Reno, at the Hume last night. Mr. Pool returned a few days ago from the coast, and during his stay there kept a benevolent eye roving and a busy tongue wagging in connection with the Kootenay ore exhibit at the Vancouver exhibition.

"The coast people are willing to talk about lumbering for a few minutes, and then they switch to mining," said Mr. Pool.

"It is the same if you talk real estate. In no time at all the subject will be mining.

"Try to talk ranching to them, and they will politely listen for a minute, and then introduce the subject of mining.

"Any man who cares to talk Kootenay mining at the coast will find a ready audience. Everybody is on fire on the subject. Everybody wants to know.

"If a great deal of coast money does not come into this district in the next year, to be applied in mining development, I miss my guess."

Old friends of this veteran prospector and mining man will be interested in picturing his trying to steer the talk away from mining to fruit ranching or real estate.

Retention of armament on ships of Canadian register is to be discontinued.

AVIATOR FOR THE FAIR WITHDRAWS FROM CONTRACT

EVERY EFFORT BEING MADE TO SECURE GOOD SUBSTITUTE; CORRESPONDENCE SHOWS FAIR BOARD IN NO WAY TO BLAME; TEN DAYS AFTER SIGNING, CALGARY AIRMAN DICTATES NEW TERMS, THEN SAYS HE HAS ENGINE TROUBLE; FORMER NELSON RESIDENT FIGURES IN THE DEAL

Through circumstances in no sense under its control, the fair board may be forced to disappoint the public in the matter of the airplane, which has been advertised as the star attraction at the fair. As matters stand at the moment the aviator engaged, acting on alleged information from a former citizen of Nelson, has withdrawn from the original contract, and, after suggesting, and receiving, new terms, has professed to be unable to come because his engine is being overhauled.

The moment his refusal was received, Secretary George Horstead got busy with the wire, and every endeavor is being made and will be made to produce an aviator to fill the bill.

The documents in the correspondence between the fair board and Capt. McCall are given below, and members of the public will be able to judge if the fair board has received as square a deal as it has given.

Dictated Terms

After negotiations were first opened by the fair board Capt. McCall wired from Calgary, Sept. 6:

"Will attend your fair Sept. 23-4-5 for $750 guarantee. Fifty passengers at $15 each will cover above amount, and be no cost to your association. Will give in addition free stunt flying every day. Answer by wire at once."

To this Secretary Horstead wired on Sept. 7: "Will guarantee you $750 provided each passenger carried at $15 lessens the guarantee that much, you on your part to guarantee to carry passengers provided at that figure. Send contract at once and wire acceptance."

On Sept. 8 Capt. McCall wired: "Your offer by wire re flying contract accepted. Each passenger carried at $15 per head lessens amount of contract accordingly. Contract following by mail."

The actual contract was signed on Sept. 8 in Calgary by the McCall Aero Corporation, per Edward S. Brett, and on Sept. 11 in Nelson by J. W. Holmes, president, for the Nelson Agricultural and Industrial association. The contract reads:

Provisions of Contract

"That in consideration of the Nelson Agricultural and Industrial association guaranteeing to the McCall Aero Corporation at least 50 passengers for a flight in their airplane piloted by Capt. Fred McCall, at the price of $15 per passenger, on the 23rd, 24th and 25th days of September, 1919, and all receipts over the said 50 passengers to the McCall Aero Corporation, the McCall Aero Corporation doth hereby agree to have Capt. Fred McCall in Nelson, B.C., on the days set forth above, for the purpose of conducting flights, at the rate of $15 per passenger.

"And further agrees that Capt. Fred McCall shall perform free flying stunts on the 23rd, 24th and 25th days of September, 1919, at Nelson, B.C.

"This agreement is subject to weather conditions being favorable for flying, and in the event of accidenuts or unforseen circumstances over which the McCall Aero Corporation have no control, becomes null and void."

Thus, on Sept. 11, and so far as the aero corporation was concerned, on Sept. 8, the Nelson fair board appeared to have an aviator lassoed and hog-tied.

Enter Former Resident

Ten days after the McCall Aero Corporation had signed the contract, or on Sept. 18, it wired as follows: "Old time resident, R. A. Brown, says Nelson unsafe for passenger flying, and Air Force regulations are very strict in this connection. Will stunt only on same guarantee, if agreeable. Reply today."

On the same day Secretary Horstead wired back: "If found unsafe for passengers on your arrival here will guarantee $500 for stunts. Answer quick."

Still, on the 18th, the McCall Aero Corporation, Ltd., wired: "Wire received. Regret cannot accept your offer."

On Sept. 19 Mr. Horstead, having seen the directors and got authority to raise the figure to the amount asked, accepted the last terms in the following wire: "Guarantee you $750 for stunts only. Wire acceptance immediately."

In No Hurry

Next day, no reply having been received, Mr. Horstead sent off this statement: "Please rush reply my wire yesterday."

That brought the following answer, under date of Saturday, Sept. 20: "Cannot accept offer as machine cannot make trips until engine is overhauled, taking one week. Would advise communicating with Vancouver Aero club re obtaining machine."

Though the time since the receipt of that last wire, and the opening of the fair tomorrow, is short, the wires are being burned up, and if it is possible to get a substitute the people of the city and district may yet be entertained with the air stunts they have set their hearts on.

THE TALK OF PROHIBITION OF EXPORTS

"Economic insanity" is the forceful phrase in which Dr. Michael Clark describes W. F O'Connor's threat to prohibit exports of Canadian products in order to bring down the cost of living.

The member for Red Deer is right, as far as the proposition to prohibit exports is concerned, but that such a policy would be put into effect is not seriously to be feared. The Canadian board of commerce is not governed by crazy economics. It is governed by a very real desire to bring down the cost of living, tempered with a pretty sound judgment as to what is practicable and what is not practicable. Its course since it began operations has shown that.

While any general policy of prohibition or even limitation of exports would be bad business, even if not insane, to threaten to prohibit exports in isolated cases is quite a different thing.

Export demand is a powerful factor in present day prices. If buyers in Great Britain offer a price higher than the prevailing Canadian price for, say, cheese, that will immediately bring about a higher price in this country. There is no sound way of preventing it. Prohibition of exports with the object of keeping the Canadian price below that for which Canadian products could be sold in the world market would cause more harm than good. It would reduce production of the particular commodity affected and in the long run force this country to buy outside its borders goods which should be raised or manufactured here. Such a policy would be suicidal.

But it has been alleged that baseless claims of export demand have on some occasions been improperly used as an excuse for raising prices. It was at those guilty that the commissioner was hitting. made the threat with the object of drawing public attention to the matter and more particularly of warning those responsible that it was necessary for them to mend their ways. In such a case licensing of exports could be employed to force a remedy without bringing with it any counterbalancing evils.

But, as Dr. Michael Clark says, any general policy prohibiting exports would be economic insanity.

THE TRIP TO KOOTENAY FLATS

Some of Creston's energetic residents have arranged for a visit during the Creston fair this week of a delegation of business men from the surrounding country with the object of showing them the Kootenay flats and the large area of land which will be made available for agriculture if the proposed reclamation scheme can be put through.

That is a good idea. This is the low water period, when the agricultural possibilities of the flats can readily be seen and the visit of the party will result in a lot of publicity for the scheme.

And any great public development plan needs publicity. No matter how great its merits it usually has to be well advertised before action can be obtained.

It is to be hoped that the number from Nelson who will take part in the trip will be large and representative

D'ANNUNZIO'S COUP AT FIUME

D'Annunzio, the Italian poet, by leading his army into Fiume, has placed himself in a rather peculiar position, but has created a most embarassing situation for the Italian government.

Because he is dissatisfied with the arrangements which the government at Rome has made with the allied powers concerning the disposition of the Adriatic port, he has headed an insurgent movement, which has been simmering for a long time and which has now taken the practical form of a military coup.

Naturally the Italian government does not want to send an army to drive him out. It does not want civil war, especially as the blaze which burns at Fiume might easily spread further.

The allies appear to have the most sensible way out, although its consummation may prove slow. They have instituted a blockade which in the course of time will bring the D'Annunzio forces into a position which will make them amenable to reason.

The paradox of the hour is the scrap over peace.

The last big Canadian war loan will be on the market in a few weeks. How much of it are you going to take?

The effect of the demand for lumber is seen in the number of new concerns which are operating or starting to operate in Kootenay and Boundary.

The hiring by the Bolsheviki of Chinese soldiers to fight the anti-Bolshevist forces is a significant indication of the trend or events in that unfortunate country. Incidentally isn't it a sort of red and yellow peril which is now cropping up?

TOLD IN RHYME

A FIDDLER

A fiddler, a fiddler,
With scars upon his arms
And golden wound-stripes on his sleeve,
Who wanders by the farms.

His fiddle bow was newer when
He had it out in France,
And played to please the fighting men
And make the children dance—
A soldier, a soldier,
I knew it by his glance.

A friend I had here yesterday
Was blinded in the war;
He came to hear the fiddler play,
Who leaned against the door,
The fiddler, the fiddler,
Who gave him one tune more.

The fiddler had a soldier's smile
(And trod a soldier's pace)
With just a touch of gipsy guile
And wheedling gipsy grace,
O soldier, O gipsy,
I saw tears upon your face.

A fiddler, a fiddler
Who wandered here by chance,
With golden stripes upon his sleeve,
Who fought for us in France.

REMARKABLE CONTRASTS BETWEEN TWO WARSHIPS

TORONTO.—A few days ago in the Brooklyn navy yard was completed a super-dreadnought battleship the New Mexico. The completion of a battleship is in itself no great event because great warships of the super-dreadnought class have been turned out by the dozen during the war. But the New Mexico has two features. One is that it is the first electrically operated and driven battleship in the world, and the other is its comparatively modest dimensions beside the late types of great warships—its comparative insignificance in speed and size. Without in any way disparaging the latest warship of the United States navy, it can be frankly said that Lord "Jacky" Fisher would probably be snorting at it if it were in the British navy, just as he is doing to a good many big British ships of about the same type. Fisher wants to have about half of the British navy scrapped as obsolete, and evidently new vessels of the type of the Renown and Repulse, built wholesale, making the British fleet by far the fastest and most powerful in gunweight in the world. Evidently even the great three years' construction campaign of the United States leaves him cold in this respect.

The Renown is Older

It is interesting, if not very profitable, to compare the New Mexico, which was launched in 1917, with the Renown, at present the largest and fastest ship in the British navy, and which was launched in March, 1916. The New Mexico is 624 feet, has a displacement of 32,000 tons, draws 30 feet of water, can make 21 knots an hour, has 28,000 horse power, and burns oil for fuel. The Renown is 794 feet long, has a displacement of 25,500 tons, 120,000 horse power and speed at load draught of 32 knots. The one is a battleship, the other a battle cruiser. What the armament of the New Mexico is does not seem to be clearly stated, but it has 12-inch and 14-inch guns; while the Renown and her sister, the Repulse, have 15-inch guns. Lord Fisher hints loudly that 18 and 20-inch guns have been tested, and must be used for the main armament of new British super-dreadnaughts. Thus, while the New Mexico is a battleship, the heavier though fewer guns of the battle-cruiser Renown, coupled with a speed of 50 per cent greater, would perhaps give the latter a big advantage in type. The British Admiralty has had other big warships under construction, notably the Hood and Rodney. These are about 900 feet long, can make 35 knots, and have main batteries of 15-inch guns. They are far greater than any other fighting ships in the world.

Electrical Features

The electrical features of the New Mexico do not appear to have been carried so extensively into any of the ships of the British navy. Indeed, since the use of fuel oil is now common on the best warships, the using of steam to generate current to turn them directly, seems to be introducing more machinery than is absolutely necessary. The advantages of electrical drive are stated to be increased flexibility of control and ability to cut off defective or damaged apparatus. The system is: Nine steam boilers to deliver steam into two turbines. The two turbines operate two generators. The two generators produce current. The current is led to a control station, passed on to motors, which turn the propellers.

Electricity supplies ventilation, operates electric fans, telephones, heaters, pumps, refrigerating machinery, wireless apparatus, kitchen appliances, laundry, lighting, etc. There are, in all, about 350 motors, and it seems almost as if trouble were invited by the complications.

The "Mystery" Ship's Utility

We have had no extended descriptions of the interior working of the "mystery" ships, but what the people are mainly concerned is their usefulness for the main purpose. Even if the kitchen is not an electrical shop, if the speed of the ship and the power of its guns, can perform their mission what more can be asked? The New Mexico does not, of course, represent the biggest ships the United States Navy expects to have. The billion dollar program the United States decided on when war's alarms became acute, includes many larger ships, based more on British experience. The way in which the two navies co-operated closely during the war familiarized United States naval officers with the workings of the Grand Fleet, and the lessons afforded there were closely studied at Washington. The Repulse carried Mr. Balfour to New York on his mission to the President, making the trip in about four and one-half days, and this alone caused a great stir among the ship architects in the Navy Department.

The Hood's Feat

An assertion has been made that the Hood, in one of its trials, actually made 47 miles an hour. For a vessel within a couple of feet as long as the largest liners on the ocean this is hardly believable. But even if 36 or 37 knots were obtained, or 40 miles an hour, the achievement so far outdistances anything else in naval construction that Lord Fisher is well within probability in declaring that the older ships of the British navy are obsolete. The Hood class is to have eight 15-inch guns, and all battleships of from 20 to 25 knots, no matter what their armament, seem to be more or less obsolete in view of these extraordinary 18-inch guns, the League of Nations would have a powerful argument when it argues disarmament, because all but a dozen or so of the big fighting ships would be made to look like has-beens for "running fight" purposes.—Mail and Empire.

DOMINION OBSERVER DISCUSSES AURORA

Dr. Otto Klotz Describes the Phenomenon of the "Northern Lights."

OTTAWA.—Dr. Otto Klotz, Dominion observer, states in a paper on "Aurora, Earth Currents and Magnetic Disturbances," that no country is so favored by the ethereal visitant as in Canada. The author is Canada's foremost astronomer and what he has written particularly about the aurora is of interest to all. Every one has witnessed the "northern lights" but few have heard what a scientist has to say about them. Extracts from Dr. Klotz' paper follow:

"The first and natural question to occur to an observer beholding the aurora; a brilliant aurora with its dancing shooting streamers, building, forming and dissolving; rushing from its northern arch to meet the zenith; clothed, perhaps, in greenish gauzy drapery or yet in portentous red; ceaseless activity, a mysterious phenomenon, bewildering to the mind and brain—what is an aurora? Beholding it gives no answer, but when we compare the phenomenon with associated ones we learn a little of its nature. We find that it is electric in its nature, an electric discharge. But here our positive knowledge about its nature stops. Birkeland attributes the phenomenon as due to cathode rays emanating from the sun; Nordmann replaces the cathode rays by Hertzian waves; and Arrhenius supposes negatively charged particles to be sent out by the sun and reaching the earth ionizing the upper regions of the atmosphere, and thereby making it a good conductor for electrical discharges.

"Many measurements and photographs have been made of the aurora to determine its position heighth in our atmosphere, and it has been found that the height, although varying considerably, is of the order of 50 miles. The aurora does not distribute its favors equally over the earth. The tropics and semi-tropics are practically devoid of them.

"The practical man wants the aurora, earth currents and magnetic disturbances stopped, for they interfere with his work; the scientist doesn't want them stopped for they are a stepping-stone leading upwards unravelling the grand mechanism of nature. All life, all activity, all energy of the earth, we may trace back to the sun, and until his secrets are revealed, we shall remain in ignorance of much that is going on on our globe. At present our hopes are specially centred on Mt. Wilson, where Prof. Hale and his assistants are bending all their energies upon our central orb. They intercept every messenger coming from the sun and put him through a rigorous examination, what his business is, and what despatches were entrusted to him before he left home. All these despatches are written in hieroglyphs, and only for a few as yet Rosetta stone has been found for their interpretation. No gained ground is ever lost by the scientist, he is ever on the offensive. Of the messengers sent out by the sun, the earth intercepts but a very small portion; less than one two-thousand-millionth.

"Until some of these messengers have been made to reveal their secrets, until then, we can only conjecture as to the why of the aurora, earth currents and magnetic disturbances."

FIRST NEWSPAPER IN FRANCE IN 1631

PARIS.—The first number of the Gazette de France, the oldest newspaper in France, was published May 30, 1631, under the editorial direction of Dr. Renaudot. This most powerful of the early journalists of France was born in 1584, and, after graduating in medicine, established himself in Paris about 1612.

Richelieu and Pierre d'Hozier ,the geneaologist, are said to have inspired Renaudot in establishing the Gazette, which was published weekly and consisted of two small sheets, the first bearing the title of the Gazette and the second Nouvelle Ordinaires de Divers Endroits.

Dr. Renaudot established the precedent, long followed in European journalism, and by no means extinct, of presenting foreign news first and relegating domestic and local news to the last page. Soon after the establishment of the Gazette, Dr. Renaudot was granted an exclusive monopoly of printing and selling newspapers in France.

The title of Gazette de France was first used in the middle of the eighteenth century. It has been published under that title ever since, with the exception of a brief period during the revolution of 1848, when the name was temporarily changed to Le Peuple Francais.

HOW MR. SMILLIE MISSED A PEERAGE

When Mr. Smillie told the Scottish miners that their gifts in acknowledgement of his services had given him far more pleasure than a peerage would have done he was not indulging in a wild flight of fancy. It is well known that he was offered the post of food controller before the late Lord Rhonnda accepted it. That office is of cabinet rank, and it is an unwritten law of party government that any ex-cabinet minister may claim a viscounty if he wishes to seek the seclusion of the upper chamber. Had he cared to follow tradition the miners' leader might now be Lord Smillie and be able to debate on equal terms with the Marquis of Londonderry and other noble colliery owners.—London Daily Chronicle.

RUMANIA HER OWN ENEMY

It would be unfortunate if Rumania should sacrifice the good will of her friends by adhering to a course that is sure to be costly in the end. It is quite as important for the Allies to show their good faith at this time as for the enemy countries to do so, and if the prestige of the Peace Conference is to be retained its decisions must be enforced on all alike. This would justify drastic action if Rumania should persist in her attitude, but it is to be hoped that a wiser course will be followed.—Brooklyn Eagle.

TRAIL BUILDING DAMAGED BY FIRE

TRAIL, B.C., Sept. 20.—A fire was discovered on Friday evening about 9 o'clock in the McKinnon building on Bay avenue, and by the time the fire brigade, which made good time, had arrived, it had developed into a considerable blaze. For a few minutes it threatened the business section of the city, but was soon confined to a minimum by the streams of water. The upper floor of the building used as a dwelling by Mr. McKinnon and family, was entirely destroyed, with its contents. The lower floor, used as an ice cream parlor and store by Mr. McKinnon, as well as most of the contents, were badly damaged by. The adjoining jewelry store of Mr. A. D. Papazian was pretty badly scorched and damaged by water.

The funeral of the late N. Despauqua, who died at the Trail Hospital, on Wednesday, as the result of a fall at the smelter, was held on Friday from the Catholic church. Deceased was 35 years old and leaves a wife in Italy.

An interesting event took place on Thursday morning when Mr. Charles Dodimead, the well known jeweller of Trail, and Miss Ruth McKinnon, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. A. McKinnon, were quietly married by the Rev. H. R. Ragg at St. Andrews Anglican church. The bride was attended by Miss Frances Dodge and Miss Helen DeGagne, while R. McKinnon, brother of the bride, officiated as "best man." The bride looked charming in a suit of navy blue tricotine and a small black hat. Following the ceremony the happy couple and their friends sat down to a wedding breakfast at the home of the bride's parents, after which Mr. and Mrs. Dodimead commenced their honeymoon trip by auto to Spokane, Seattle and Vancouver. On their return they intend to take up their future residence on Bay avenue.

The members of Adinah Rebekah Lodge, I.O.O.F., will attend divine service at St. Andrews church on Sunday evening.

The dance held by the G.W.V.A. in the Swartz hall on Wednesday evening was a great success, over three hundred guests being present.

There was a slight frost on Smelter Hill and in the higher parts of the city on Wednesday night.

Among the Trail young people who are leaving to attend the B.C. university are Miss Dorothy Fingland and Messrs. George McKay, Chas. Marlatt, Otto Neiderman and W. G. Black.

The school board have decided to add another teacher to the high school staff.

The Amateur Athletic club are arranging to send four competitors to Nelson next week to enter the inter-school sports competition.

There was a well attended public meeting in the school on Saturday evening last when it was decided to revive the Boswell Social club, which has been in abeyance during the past four years. It was decided to hold meetings every two weeks in the school on Friday evenings, and the following committee was elected: Miss Kennedy, Mrs. Bartley, Mrs. Bourne, S. S. Frank, Jas. Coupland, W. L. Hepher and B. Holiday Smith.

At the conclusion of the meeting dancing was enjoyed for a couple of hours.

Miss Oatts has just received a telegram from her brother, Captain F. J. Oatts, M.C., saying he expects to reach Boswell about the 22nd Inst. Capt. Oatts left here in August, 1914, with the first contingent, and later gained a commission in the 18th Cheshire regiment.

ELKO NOTES.
(By Fred Roo.)

Jim Thistlebeak says it's all right to say what you think, but some people should be ashamed to think what they say.

Mr. and Mrs. John Harvey and family motored from Elko to Roosville this week; and visited the Sunkist Orchard and the Roosville Falls (Mr. Harvey is interested with his father, Mr. R. C. Harvey of Lethbridge, who originated the "Romnellet" sheep, originated the "Romnellet" sheep, which is said to be the best for both range and farm, and produces the best crossbred wool in America, and who has twenty thousand of the very best grazing west of Elko, said the Roosville valley was the best he had seen in British Columbia, and was greatly impressed with the fruit and surprised at the gross carelessness in the orchards. Mrs. Despatcher Jones, of the C.P.R., was their guest and spoke very highly of the big red apples the valley is famous for. Mr. Harvey is making another trip down the valley with Jim Thistlebeak, who intends to run a band of "Romnelletts" in the near future.

Jim Thistlebeak says that in the Big Elko fire Fred Roo had a narrow escape from being burned up. Fire is an ugly thing but being burnt up is uglier, had the thing happened Fred would now bein heaven among strangers. He wouldn't know anyone there and says that he had no idea he had so many friends around Elko, and prefers to stay right here with them than taking chances with strangers.

Mr. and Mrs. McArthur, with Miss Proud and Mr. Anderson of Calgary, are visiting Elko this week, stopping at the Columbia hotel. Mr. Anderson is the son of the Mr. Anderson who was in the early days gold commissioner and Hyas Tyee at Wild Horse creek, Fort Steele, B.C., and who later opened up the Silver King at Nelson.

Since the big fire travellers have been coming in on every train and great many via auto, and the more we see of some of them the more we like our dog. A fish traveller from Calgary who said that he could take the ribs out of a red herring without cutting the skin. A Vancouver traveller who was very anxious to have the jitney driver point out Fred Roo before he went into the store, as he said the other travellers had put him wise, selling soothing syrup, stove polish and other kinds of floor oil. Alfred H. W. Crossley, mechanical engineer, Nelson, was down in Elko trying to buy up several saw mills, but as the demand for lumber for rebuilding rival stores was so great there was none to be had, so he bought several stem winding mouse traps and broke two of his fingers testing the fly wheels. He received the freedom of the city from Mayor Klingensmith at the Mining Exchange, and might move his family down here for the winter; and Jim Thistlebeak said, "Welcome to our little city, Alf, any old time you like to come." Mr. Bisset also of Nelson when he's home, which is very seldom, with crockery, parlor lamps, dolls and dark lanterns. Kelly, selling musical fruit in tins and giving five per cent off for case lots. He was travelling with the great and only Sheirlock, the well known overland trout salesman, whose long suit is grease in tins, rib roasts and smoked shark. They were slipping along very smooth, and Kelly seemed to be enjoying the pickled whale stories Jim was handing him like the Chesterfield he is. Several rubber travellers from Lethbridge, must be a great place for rubbers. The well known Jimmy Black, from the Orkney-Corkney Islands, with fancy table cloths with art centres in the middles and the edges on the outside, said you could use them for a bed spread, cosy corner, auto robe. He carried a line of bathing suits and lingerie that has been responsible for half the sins in B.C. Jack Colvin, the king of shoe travellers, going north to the Grande Prairie Country . What Jack don't know about shoes is not worth bothering about, and the more you know him the better you like him. Barrowman, of Lethbridge, the well known artist, whose picture coloring gives the colors in the rainbow a complexion like an underdone piecrust; while staying at the Columbia he painted a trout on a side dish and one of the guests tried to cut it with a knife. Welington, no relation to the old duke of that name, but an artist with flower garden wall paper and a ten inch fitch. Herk Reid of Saskatoon, who used to sell shark's liver and other kinds of garden truck through this section went through the town so fast he left a hole in the air behind him.

W. G. McMynn, superintendent of police, and Inspector Fernie, were in Elko this week, and Gorman (The Human Ferret) and wife left for California for some sad water fishing.

AN OLD INFERNAL MACHINE

A powder plot which sent the limited constabulary of the country searching far and wide for the perpetrator, but without success, was disclosed in the late summer of 1833 by Governor Wilcox of Rhode Island, says the Newark News. He had incurred the enmity of someone who sent him an infernal machine that would have blown the executive mansion into fragments if it had not been discovered.

This was a trunk containing twenty-five pounds of powder, into which a pair of pistols were so fashioned that when the lid was raised they would be discharged and the contents of the trunk exploded. Suspicion was excited, however, and the strings were cut and the plot was revealed.

This item of news was copied into the newspapers generally with this addendum: "The infamous wretch who contrived this hellish plot is unknown." and there the matter rested.

EXPLAIN THE GHOST

St. Thomas, the "first agnostic," whose festival was placed on the shortest day to punish his unbelief, shares this anniversary with a very militant namesake. Thomas a' Becket, pilgrimages to whose shrine inspired Chaucer's "Canterbury Tales."

His spector, known among the vergers as "Thomas a' Becket's ghost," can be seen occasionally in the crypt of Canterbury Cathedral, says the London Chronicle. It is a real ghost, and has been photographed.

One photograph showed a dim figure of a prelate against a pillar, while another snapshot taken from the same position, but on a different day revealed no such appearance.

Rationalists explain that an ancient fresco on the pillar, painted out at the Reformation, becomes visible through the overlaid material during damp weather.

Mrs. Lucinda Cook, aged 98, Ingersoll's oldest resident, died as the result of a fall.

STRENGTH FOR YOUNG MOTHERS
How Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound Restores Health and Strength.
Lansing, Mich.—"After the birth of my child I was not able to stand on my feet. I was so weak I could not get up. I suffered such pains in my back I could not work or hardly take care of my baby. One of my neighbors recommended Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. I took it and used Lydia E. Pinkham's Sanative Wash, and I got better right away and was soon a new woman and could work hard, and I can recommend these remedies to other young mothers who are weak and ailing as I was."—Mrs. Ora O. Bowers, 621 S. Hosmer Street, Lansing, Mich.

Women who are in Mrs. Bowers' condition should not continue to suffer from weakness and pain—but profit from her experience and give this famous root and herb remedy, Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, a trial.
For suggestions in regard to your condition write Lydia E. Pinkham Medicine Co., Lynn, Mass. The result of their 40 years' experience is at your service.

Printed Butter Wrappers
Either With Your Name or With the Words
Dairy Butter

According to the Dominion government regulations all farmers who sell butter either to stores or privately are required to have it properly covered in a wrapper on which MUST appear in prominent letters the words
"DAIRY BUTTER"
The fact is also emphasized that all butter in such packages must be of the full net weight of sixteen ounces and in default of same a fine of from $10 to $30 for each offense is imposed. Whey butter must be so labelled even when mixed with dairy butter and dairy butter retains its label even though it be mixed with the creamery product.

If you have your own name or brand on your wrappers you gain valuable advertising for your butter. It causes people to ask for the same brand again.

PRINCE WILL SPEND AN HOUR IN NELSON

Will Arrive at 11 o'Clock and Leave at Noon, States Wire from Chief of Staff—Meeting Tomorrow.

That the stay of His Royal Highness, the Prince of Wales, would be of an hour's duration was confirmed by a telegram received Saturday by Mayor J. A. McDonald from Admiral Halsey, chief of staff to the Prince.

The royal train will reach Nelson an hour later than had at first been anticipated. Admiral Halsey states that the train bearing the party will not reach the city until 11 o'clock.

Tomorrow night at 8 o'clock in the city hall there will be a meeting of all the committees working on details for the entertainment of the Prince. It is expected final plans will be settled at this eeting.

Admiral Halsey's wire to Mayor McDonald stated: "We will not arrive at Nelson until 11 o'clock morning October first. Remain until noon."

BLACK IS WINNER OF GARDEN CONTEST

Mr. Armstrong Leader in Vacant Lot Competition—Edith Wood Tops Children's List.

A. M. Black Dr. Gilbert Hartin and A. Jeffs were the winners in order of merit, of the garden competition held by the Nelson Improvement association. The following additional entries were commended by the judges: T. Keith, B. Frost, D. Maglio, A. Pickford and J. Goulding. Though the gardens were judged several days ago the results have only just been given out. The judges were E. C. Hunt, J. W. Holmes, S. Barton and J. W. Wilkinson.

In the opinion of the judges the gardens contained a wonderful variety of produce.

The results of the vacant lot competition were: J. Armstrong, C. V. Gagnon and D. MacFarland and these prize winners were closely followed in merit by A. Pickford, T. DesBrisay, R. Reid, W. Ebbs, G. K. Salter and J. V. Ramsden.

In the children's competition the results were as follows Vegetables, children 12-15 years, Edith Wood, Gordon Mackenzie and Owen Berry; children 8-11 years, Roy Johnson, Eric Ramsden; flowers, children 8-11, Ronald Ramsden, Beryl Johnson, Irene Fox.

Speaking of the results of the vacant lot competition, one of the judges said last night that they were a striking commentary on the possibilities in the cultivation of vacant lots and that if more land of the same description were placed under cultivation it would go a long way toward reducing that bugbear, "H.C.L."

POULTRY ENTRIES STILL BEING TAKEN

Birds Must Be Cooped by Ten O'clock Tonight; Judging to Take Place Tomorrow

A fine list of entries was received ceived for the poultry show Saturday, and the committee decided, in view of many intending exhibitors not having got their birds entered, to extend the time to noon today.

The judging will be done tomorrow morning, before the hour of the official opening of the fair.

Present indications are that there will be large classes in Leghorns, Minorcas and Rhode Island Reds.

'Y' HAS PREPARED BIG ATTRACTION

All Ready for Display of Association Activities; Dress Rehearsal Proves Big Success

One of the stellar attractions at the fall fair which opens tomorrow will be that provided by the local Y. M. C. A. Acrobats, pyramids, tumbling, club swinging, torch swinging and dancing are included in the program for which the members of the Y have been training for the past number of weeks under the watchful eyes of Griffith Morris, physical director, and E. Bray, dancing master.

A full dress rehearsal was held on Saturday night and the showing made augurs well for the success of the display as an attraction at the fair.

The dancing numbers are expected to furnish a real treat. E. Bray, who has charge of this part of the display, is a returned soldier who is recuperating in Nelson from disabilities contracted in France. He is an experienced classic dancer and has devoted his entire time, during the period of training, toward ensuring the success of this attraction. He personally designed the costumes which will be worn by the young people in the display.

In the sailor's hornpipe the oldest participant is but 14 years of age and the children have entered into the training with real enthusiasm.

The program has eight numbers including pyramids, minuette, balancing exhibitions by Carl Johnson and G. Morris, sailor's hornpipe, apparatus work, a second pyramid display, torch swinging and a gypsy dance entitled "La Zingara."

The display will be given on each day of the fair.

DEVELOP CHIMNEY IN ELECTRIC POINT

Company to Move Ore Entirely by Trams—Shipments Being Made From Bunkers.

According to the Kootenai Valley Times of Bonners' Ferry, the new chimney of ore in the Electric Point mine near Laurier, Wash., is being developed satisfactorily. This property, which is opposite Waneta, is partly owned in Nelson. The Times reports:

The Electric Point Mining company, near Northport, Wash., proposes to remove its ore to the railroad entirely by tramways, according to preparations in progress.

A year ago the company built an aerial tramway from the mine to Leadpoint, a distance of more than two miles and a survey for another is being made from Leadpoint and Wood spur, on the railroad. The distance between Leadpoint and Wood Spur is seven miles and the distance from Wood Spur to Northport is about three miles.

The first tramway eliminated a sharp descent of the mountain by trucks and teams and an expensive hauling charge. A further reduction in costs is expected from use of the second section if its installation is decided upon.

The development of a chimney of ore, found on the surface recently, is progressing with satisfactory results. The mine has been developed to a depth of 800 feet in operations conducted through a shaft and a tunnel. A large quantity of ore is available and will be shipped, it is understood, as soon as the price of lead improves. Shipments are being made of ore that accumulated in the bunkers before the suspension several months ago.

One of Kootenay's Best Ranches

I have ben instructed to sell at once an improved ranch on the West Arm, about 9 miles from Nelson. The property consists of 30 acres of good land. About 11 acres is in bearing orchard, commercial varieties now commencing to give big returns. There is also some very good hay land and vegetable soil, making this an excellent mixed farming property. The buildings are good, one house has 5 rooms with bathroom, fireplace, large verandah, etc., hot and cold water, heated by furnace and furnished, with the exception of linen and kitchen utensils; there is another house with 5 rooms, fireplace, stable, root houses, chicken houses and other out buildings. Plenty of water piped over the ranch and to the houses and out buildings There is a launch house and piling and long waterfront with sandy beach. With this property is included one work horse and all necessary farm implements for working the property. The price is $15,000.00 on easy terms.

I would be pleased to show this property at any time, and consider it an excellent property for two men working as partners.

INDUSTRIAL CONFERENCE COMES TO END

ions were machines built for the purpose of fighting the employers.

Civil Service

The finding in the recommendations of the royal commission should be put into effect in all works controlled by all government bodies where the principle of a democratic management can be applied. "We further recommend that employees of all government bodies should be entitled to the right of appeal under the Industrial Disputes act, so long as that act remains on the statute book of Canada.

"We further recommend that the wages and working conditions of employees of governments should not be less favorable than that which now exists for similar workers in the employment of private individuals or corporations."

Housing Problems

Major M. A. McInnis, of Saskatoon, moved the adoption of the supplementary report of Committee Number 9 on housing. It was as follows:

"That this conference commends the action of the Dominion and provincial governments in their united efforts to improve housing conditions and to provide facilities for the proper and satisfactory housing of her people, and recommends increased cooperation and investigation by the Dominion and provincial governments to find a satisfactory solution of the problem." The report was seconded by J. R. Shaw and adopted.

T. R. Deacon, of Winnipeg, expressed the hope that those who attended the conference would not go away and forget it all. A great deal of good had been done by getting together and it would be a good thing if some of the resolutions carried were crystallized into legislation or practice.

Employment Agencies

T. A. Stevenson, Toronto, believed the private employment agency system had been one of the curses of labor in Canada, and he urged that employers assist in making these government bureaus the success they should be.

F. H. Walsh, Vancouver, said that it was realized that unless a serious situation was to exist in British Columbia there must be government action to prevent unemployment over the coming winter. The three resolutions of the committee which was "on consideration of any other proposals which may be introduced bearing on the relations of employers and employees," follows:

First—Your committee has considered and unanimously adopted the following resolutions:

That this conference endorses the recommendation of the royal commission on industrial relations as to the necessity of the extension of equal opportunities in education, and in view of bringing about this reform.

Compulsory Education

That the government of each province in Canada be asked to establish compulsory education at least up to and including the fourteenth year, and for part time in the towns and cities for the ensuing years, and

That in all provinces education in all grades should be made free so that the child of the poorest paid worker be given the opportunity of reaching the highest educational institution.

Liberty vs. License

Second—That we unanimously endorse paragraph 70 of the report of the royal commission, as follows:

The restrictions placed upon the freedom of speech and liberty of the press and the denial of the right to read such literature as any portion of the public demanded, was given as one of the principle causes of the present industrial unrest.

We have no comment to make upon the policy of the government in this respect. During the war it was in the interests of the whole country and of the empire that individual liberty in many directions, be restrained, but we believe that restrictions should not be imposed upon either freedom of speech of the freedom of the press unless such restrictions are urgently demanded in the interest of the peace of the whole community. We recognize that no person has a right to do anything that is liable to incite the people to commit unlawful acts. A line must be drawn between liberty and license, but care must be taken to avoid creating the impression that the restraints imposed upon the freedom of speech or the liberty of the press are intended to prevent criticism of legislative of governmental action.

Would Avert Strikes

Third— (a) That in the opinion of this conference adequate provision by public works or otherwise, should be made by the federal, provincial and municipal governments in connection with all interests represented at this conference to avert any serious unemployment which might occur during the ensuing eight months.

(b) That the various interests represented at the conference adhere strictly to the unemployment policy agreed upon by the provincial and federal government, which aims at the centralization of labor supply and demand in one agency.

(c) That provision be made for immediate and continuous survey of available and prospective employment and for adequate employment machinery to relate unemployed workers to employment available.

AT THE THEATRES.

"A Lady's Name," in which Constance Vere takes the part of Mabel Vere, a young and popular writer, engaged to be married to Gerald Wantage, a priggish young man, with whom she is dissatisfied, will be shown on Monday and Tuesday at the Starland theatre. Mabel advertises in one of the daily papers for a husband, and Adams, a butler who is anxious to find a wife with money, answers. Oh, it's funny, and is a picture with the true American flavor—good, clean, rollicking fun, chuck full of "pep." Constance is as delightful as ever in this play, which offers her a splendid chance to portray her versatility. The cleverest bit of scintillating comedy every shown, see it yourself.
