BLAMES WILSON FOR MEXICO'S REBELLIOUSNESS

Former United States Ambassador Declares President's Policy at Fault

REASON LANSING QUIT

'Mexicans Laugh at United States"; Says Lansing Resigned in Despair

CHICAGO, March 15.—President Wilson's policy in Mexico is responsible for "anarchy which has existed in Mexico for years," and was the direct caus eof the resignation of Robert Lansing as secretary, Henry Lane Wilson, former ambassador to Mexico, declared in an address before the Agate Club today. "It is an error to every suppose that Mexicans have struggled for liberty," he added. "Mexicans interpret liberty as license, and consequently the struggle always has been not. Mexico has never had what we call a political election. Every government has been shot into and out of power.

"No European government recognized Carranza and for that reason they have been able to maintain their dignity in Mexico and commanded respect from the Mexican government. Mexicans, however, laugh at the United States. They have insulted President Wilson and they continue to insult him because they can do so with impunity."

Secretary Lansing tried repeatedly to change the president's policy, Mr. Wilson added, but failed. A short while ago, while Mr. Fletcher was still ambassador to Mexico there was a conference between Mr. Lansing and Henry P. Fletcher," he said. "They introduced as a result of this conference a motion in the senate to break off relations with Mexico. The attempt failed by reason of interference from President Wilson

"Mr. Lansing's resignation was one of despair at trying to follow a consistent policy in Mexico.

SIMS CHARGES NAVAL TARDINESS

Alleges German Raid Would Have Found America Without Practical Defense

WASHINGTON, March 15.—An unpublished story of war time anxiety in London and Washington, lest German battle cruisers attempt a raid against American ports was disclosed today to the senate naval investigating committee by Rear Admiral Sims. Messages exchanged by Admiral Benson, chief of operations, and Admiral Sims in July, 1918, were presented by the latter to correct "implications," which, he said, Secretary Daniels had made to the committee that "general plans and policies were none of my business."

Included in plans formed by the navy department to meet such raids and rejected by Admiral Sims as impractical," was a proposal to call in Japan for a battle cruiser division to serve with the American Atlantic fleet.

In his first statement to the committee Admiral Sims said the complaints he had to make were confined largely to the first six or eight months of the war. When today he began discussion of events that occurred in the summer of 1918, he said he did so because Mr. Daniels in a statement had implied Admiral Sims's post in London was "purely a local one."

"The statement was inaccurate," Admiral Sims said. In the spring of 1918, he said, when the submarine menace had been overcome, naval officials in London became apprehensive that the Germans might, as a last venture send out battle cruisers in the hope of destroying an American convoy. That this apprehension was felt also at the navy department, he said, was demonstrated by this cablegram from Admiral Benson:

"As a last hope German battle cruisers may be sent out to completely destroy one of our large troop convoys. We depend upon you to get in and give information at this point and grand fleet to take necessary action until United States could act." In reply Admiral Sims said he cabled that everything possible would be done to intercept raiding German cruisers, but that there could not be any guarantee that they would not reach the open Atlantic. He suggested guarding United States troop convoys with United States battleships. Despite this he said the navy department on July 20, outlined a plan of its own to meet such raids, dedicated, he added, on the false promise that advance warning would be given. The plan contemplated placing one division of American battleships at Queenstown, Ireland, to cover the Eastern Atlantic, another to be held at home ready to cover the western Atlantic and a division of Japanese battleship cruisers to be stationed with the Atlantic fleet to pursue and sink raiders.

"The plan was impracticable for a number of reasons," Admiral Sims declared. "It was eventually abandoned."

NITTI ALSO WILL BE MINISTER OF INTERIOR

ROME, March 15.—In addition to holding the portfolio of the minister of the colonies in his cabinet, Mr. Nitti will be minister of the interior.

PRESENT SESSION OF HOUSE WILL BE SHORT ONE

OTTAWA, March 15.—Leading members of parliament are predicting that the session will end by about May 15. In support of this contention they point to the fact that fully two weeks was saved on the debate on the address in reply to the speech from the throne, which last year continued from February 20 to March 18. Then, it is pointed out, there is apparently little legislation of very contentious nature to come before the house, so they are hopeful of reaching prorogation by the above mentioned date

CLAIM ORDERS ARE CONFLICTING

Regulations on Sugar Control Were Issued by Three Separate Bodies

VICTORIA, March 15.—Blythe Rogers, successor to his father, the late B. T. Rogers, as the head of the British Columbia Sugar Refinery at Vancouver, is before the legislative sugar inquiry this afternoon explaining the reason for the sugar famine here. Mr. Rogers also has ben brought over to tell of the trade customs of the refinery in view of the evidence given that firms in Vancouver were cut off the list because they imported Chinese sugar to sell at cut prices.

To find out just who has charge of the sugar situation in Ottawa because of the evidence of conflicting authority given at the legislative sugar inquiry, M. G. Jackson, M.P.P., chairman, today telegraphed Sir George Foster, acting premier, to send word as to how things stand. "At the provincial parliamentary committee on sugar inquiry evidence has been produced by dealers showing regulatory communications from the following three federal government bodies: high cost of living commission, board of commerce and Canadian trade commission," says the telegram. "Could you wire us clearly and definitely the functions and jurisdiction of each of these federal organizations with regard to sugar in Canada?"

The inquiry was suggested by R M. Pooley, M.P.P., a member of the commission.

WILL PERMIT VISIT OF RUSSIAN MISSION

LONDON, March 15.—Replying to a question in the house of commons today Premier Lloyd George announced that the government would permit the visit of a delegation of the Russian cooperative societies subject to the right to exclude individuals. He emphasized that Maxim Litvinoff, Bolshevik assistant commissioner of foreign affairs, could not be admitted, because on a previous occasion, he had taken advantage of his diplomatic privilege to engage in political propaganda.

MISSES TRUNK OF VALUABLE FURS

SEATTLE, March 15.—Theft of a trunk filled with furs, said to have been worth $1600, was reported to the police today by Stuart Bryan, who said the furs had been sent to him from Ontario. The trunk was delivered to Bryan's address, according to express company records. Bryan said he had not yet been able to locate it.

TOURING PARTY TO VISIT NELSON

Vancouver Board of Trade Is Planning Expedition Through Kootenay

VANCOUVER, March 15.—Another excursion through British Columbia is being planned by the board of trade along the lines of the two successful ones held last year. The party will tour the Kootenay country and may also again visit central British Columbia. Tentative plans are for the party to leave Vancouver about the middle of July, visiting among other centres, Grand Forks, Rossland, Trail, Slocan, Nelson, Creston, Cranbrook and Fernie.

Leaving the Kootenay country it is intended to pass through the Windmere valley, one of the most picturesque sections of the province. One plan is to return by Golden, and then visit Revelstoke.

It is probable that the party will return as far as Kamloops and then switch to the Canadian National, going northward to Prince George, with a stop at Lucerne. From Prince George the return trip either will be made down the Fraser River and Cariboo road and the Pacific Great Eastern, or by way of the Grand Trunk Pacific to Prince Rupert and back to Vancouver by boat. The party will be away about two weeks.

WOOD LEADS IN MINNESOTA PRIMARY

ST. PAUL, Minn., March 16.—When returns from last night's state-wide Republican presidential preference primary were halted early today by a blizzard which paralyzed wire communication, Maj.-Gen. Leonard Wood was maintaining a commanding lead over Senator Hiram Johnson of California. The vote from about 450 precincts, including a majority of the St. Paul and Minneapolis precincts, was: Wood, 12,627; Johnson, 8517; Hoover, 4486, and Lowden 3510.

EXPECT STRONG OPPOSITION TO NAVAL MEASURE

Opponents Will Object on Grounds of Expenditure at Present Time

BRITISH COLUMBIA MEMBERS IN FAVOR

Attitude Taken That Canada Should Not Depend on Great Britain

OTTAWA, March 16.—The forthcoming naval bill and the attitude of the members from various sections of the country are causing considerable discussion in and about the parliament buildings at present. It is said that any proposals the government may bring down will meet with heavy opposition from certain quarters on the ground that the present time is not opportune for any heavy expenditure for either naval or military defenses The chief opposition it is said will come from Quebec.

There is little doubt as to the attitude that will be taken by the members from the maritime provinces or from British Columbia. They are said to be strongly in favor of naval protection, and some take the attitude that it is humiliating, particularly in view of Canada's recently acquired national status, to have to depend on Great Britain for protection of its merchant marine.

The attitude of the United States in standing out of the league of nations, it is said, also will have a bearing on the debate, as many members will claim that any decision should be delayed until it is known what our neighbors to the south propose to do before any outlay for ships is planned.

In regard to the Farmer members little is being said, but the feeling is that the farmer more than anyone else, realizes that there must be protection of grain-carrying ships if Canada's wheat is to reach world markets. It is not expected, however, that any controversy which may arise will reach the dimensions of the famous naval debate of 1912.

STORM GODS RAGING AGAIN

Sweep From Montana to Great Lakes; Worst Blizzard of Season

BISMARCK, N.D., March 15. — North Dakota was in the grip of the worst blizzard of the season tonight. O. W. Roberts, director of the federal weather bureau here, reported the lowest barometer the state has known for 45 years. According to Mr. Roberts the wind velocity was 60 miles an hour and the temperature had dropped from 33 degrees to 21 above since noon. There were four inches of snow on the ground. Mr. Roberts said the storm extended from Montana to the Great Lakes, as far south as northern Iowa. Concern was manifested not only among owners of livestock and other property but among politicians preparing for the presidential preference primary tomorrow.

Terrific Wind

GRAND FORKS, N. D., March 15.—The storm which began in the western part of the state early this morning, hit Grand Forks tonight. By midnight the city was in the grip of a real blizzard, a terrific wind whipping an exceedingly light snow about in a manner that recalled the big storm of last November. Night trains from the west were late tonight.

Rail Traffic Stops

MILWAUKEE, March 15.—Railway communication to the north of Fond Du Lac was completed stopped tonight as the result of high water, which washed out bridges on both the Northwestern and Soo lines, as well as interurban tracks.

Blizzard Hits Fargo

FARGOG, N.D., March 15.—Following a day of high temperature and great humidity a blizzard swept down on Fargo early tonight. The storm, starting with sleet and a high wind, turned to snow. Roads are in bad condition due to the snow melting in the last 48 hours, and ice started to move in the Red river.

PARTIES IN CAUCUS THIS MORNING

OTTAWA, March 15.—Canada's naval policy is to be discussed it is understood at a caucus of government supporters, which has been called for tomorrow morning. It is said there will be a full discussion of the report on naval defenses by Admiral Viscount Jelicoe, and that this discussion will have much to do with the drawing up of the naval bill by the government.

Just when that bill will be brought befor the house is problematical at present. Liberal members of the house will also meet in caucus tomorrow morning, when it is said their discussion will be along somewhat similar lines. The franchise bill brought down last week by John Hugh Guthrie also probably will come in for some discussion, and it is sai dthat the government bill will then become crystallized.

STEAMER DEPARTURES

Vancouver—Kaisho Maru sailed for Kobe.

PEACE TREATY BARQUE AGAIN GOES ON ROCKS; ARTICLE TEN RESERVATION ADOPTED IN THE SENATE YESTERDAY

WASHINGTON, March 15.—Reaffirming its disagreement with President Wilson on the dominating issue of the peace treaty controversy, the senate adopted today by a vote of more than 2 to 1 the new Article 10 reservation framed by Republican leaders.

Its action ended, at least for the present, the efforts for a compromise that would insure ratification and the senate's decision was accepted generally as hastening the treaty toward another deadlock, from which it could be released only by a verdict at the polls next November.

Fourteen Democrats voted with the united Republican membership for the reservation but this defection from administration ranks fell far short of the number required to ratify.

MILLERAND MAKES PLEA FOR CLEARER UNDERSTANDING BETWEEN FRANCE AND UNITED STATES ON CREDIT QUESTIONS

PARIS, March 15.—Premier Millerand today put aside the German crisis long enough to discuss relations between France and the United States and conditions of international credit. He said to a representative of the Associated Press: "France and the United States must continue the close friendship which always has been maintained. No fleeting misunderstandings must be allowed to trouble the relations. The sooner misconceptions are dissipated the better .

"It appears to me an opportune time to recall to our friend, the United States, that France is not asking for charity. The greater part of money France borrowed abroad was spent in the common interest of all civilized countries, a fact which might form the basis of a claim for special consideration, but such is not our intention.

"We don't request cancellation of our debts. We only ask time to breathe and to recover our strength after four and a half years of exhausting war. Our propositions are those which any debtor would feel right in making in the interest of both himsef and his creditors."

The premier referred to the ruinous fluctuations in exchange, which he held would be aggravated, rather than palliated through measures proposed to France by those not taking sufficient account of interior conditions.

"If France is obliged to meet her obligations abroad at the present rate of exchange she would be forced to pay two and a half times what she owes," he continued. "Thus, after spending for the common good, thirty billion francs borrowed from her friends, she would have to pay forty-five billion francs as France's premium to those same friends. We have given our blood; we have given our money. To ask us now to give more than double our debt, is an anomay that cannot fail to strike the most impartial judge."

After mentioning the suggestion made by the United States that France could raise the value of the franc by increasing exportations, the premier said that the question appeared to be imperfectly understood by the American people. We ask nothing better than increased exports. We must first, however manufacture and we can't make the things for foreign trade until we have factories in which to manufacture them. Do our American friends lose sight of the extent of the devastation of the richest part of our territory; do they forget that we are still partly paralyzed and that it will require years to recuperate our wasted man power and restore the former flourishing manufacturing centers?

"The war cost us 600,000 industrial workers, 600,000 of our buildings were destroyed, regions were ruined which, in 1913, gave us 94 per cent of our wool, 90 per cent of our linen thread, 90 per cent of our minerals, 83 per cent of our pig iron, 70 per cent of our sugar and 53 per cent of our coal.

"The war wasted our railroads to an unimaginable extent. Thirty per cent of our merchant fleet was sunk and our wheat production was diminished two thirds involving a deficit of 2,000,000,000 francs. These catastrophical changes were a blow to the very base of the financial situation of France.

The premier took up the view of American financiers who have urged France to ship her gold against an unfavorable trade balance. He continued:

"If France were deprived of her gold it would bring on a financial crisis coinciding with the period curing which the effects of war would be unrepaired. It would constitute perils of another order quite as great as those we were under from 1914 to 1918. "The reproaches of American financiers that France has been too slow in imposing taxes sufficient to balance the budget are made without due consideration to the extent to which the paying power of this country has been reduced, as shown by figures I have given.

"Besides sapping our economic power, the German invasion reduced the treasury resources 10 per cent. Also, while the United States mobolized about 17 per cent of her men of an age to serve, we sent 89 per cent of all our mobolizable men for an infinitely longer period. "The paralysis of business as well as the prolonged absence of so many tax payers resulted in a diminution of 23 per cent in the yield of taxes in 1915 as compared with 1913. In 1916 when it appeared no longer possible to wait for liberation of the invaded districts to increase the tax revenue, new taxes were imposed and old ones increased until during the present year the yield of those taxes in forces will amount to twelve billion francs, or four times greater than the pre-war total.

"Could France, impoverished in man power, with her principal industries wiped out, be asked to make greater or speedier effort. "France and the United States cannot afford to misunderstand each other. Both countries must bear in mind that there are no dealings worth while in which each does not find an advantage. France is determined to rise from the ruins accumulated on her soil, by the battle of nations. She will be able to make the necessary financial effort, taking all measures the situation requires.

ALLOCATION OF MANDATES HAS BEEN ANNOUNCED

LONDON, March 15.—Premier Lloyd George today in the house announced that the following mndates had been allocated:

German East Africa to Great Britain and Belgium, German Southwest Africa to the Union of South Africa, German possessions in the Pacific ocean south of the equator, other than Samoa, to Australia, Samoa to New Zealand, and the German ilsands north of the equator to Japan.

A high government official assured the Associated Press today that "the allies and the world may safely rely upon Holland to guard the ex-kaiser, though no more measures will be taken than are necessary to prevent his escape."

ADEQUATE SUGAR FOR PROVINCE

Refinery Is in Position to Guarantee Supply for Current Year

VICTORIA, B.C., March 15.—The British Columbia Sugar refinery is now in a position to practically guarantee the population of this province an adequate supply of sugar for the current year, according to the information given the legislative inquiry by Blythe Rogers at its session this afternoon.

He was not in a position to name the marimum price which it might be erpected to reach, but pointed to a statement that his plant had given the British Columbia people the cheapest sugar in the world during the shortage crisis as an indication that his refinery might not be expected to exact an undue toll. Mr. Rogers also swore that the refinery exercised no control over the retail price of sugar at present.

BRAZILIAN LINE WITHDRAWS SHIPS

RIO JANEIRO, March 15.—The Lloyd Braziliero is withdrawing ships now in the European service and adding them to the present Brazilian New York line, it was announced today.

CONFLICTING REPORTS INDICATE KAPP GOVERNMENT WILLING TO MAKE AGREEMENT WITH EBERT

Announcement of Negotiations Is Not Confirmed; General Strike Ordered as Counter-Revolution Will Probably Be Called Off by Joint Declaration; Strike Conditions Prevail in Some Parts; Allies Refuse to Recognize New Regime

BERLIN, March 15.—(Associated Press)—The counter-revolution in Germany appears tonight to have reached the end of the road. There is a strong probability shortly that one government will be in control and that President Ebert will come back to Berlin with his ministers.

A basis of agreement between the government set up by Dr. Wolfgang Kapp as chancellor and that of President Ebert is enunciated in a declaration issued by the present Berlin government today. Announcement is made that negotiations toward a settlement have been opened between the two governments at the instance of President Ebert and his associates. There is, however, no direct confirmation of this from Ebert, who is understood to be at Stuttgart.

Chancellor Kapp is agreeable to continuance of the "present imperial president" who is Friederich Ebert; he renounces formation of a new ministry and places direction of affairs in the hands of the undersecretaries of state.

The agreement as set forth by Chancellor Kapp provides for a cabinet which shall include professional ministers, or experts; elections within two months for members of the reichstag and the Prussian national assembly and subsequently an election for imperial president by the people—until which time Ebert shall hold office.

One significant clause in the pronouncement says:

"The new and old governments shall issue a joint declaration that under present conditions a general strike is a crime against the German people."

Herein lies the explanation that the proposal for the settlement of the general strike has proved an effective weapon. Germany already has felt its sinister effect, for the strike in Berlin and many other principal cities cut off supplies, transportation, light and heat.

It was President Ebert and his ministers who called on the socialist workmen and all the people to declare a general strike and there was an instant response.

Traffic Stands Still

The underground railway service and rail traffic generally in Berlin was at a standstill today. The water supply had been restored, but gas and electric supplies were still cut off.

No newspapers appeared except special sheets of the Lokal Anzeiger which, it was announced in a government decree, contains only news pleasing to the government. The public is extremely skeptical of the reports thus published. One man remarked: "They are throwing bait at us," as he read the promise of the government to obtain a food supply. Another remarked:

"We are not so stupid as to believe that three-quarters of Germany supports the new government."

Some Disorder

Labor fiercely resisted usurpation of the reactionary government. Vast numbers of men left their wok and serious disorders occurred. Chancellor Kapp and his supporters announced they would deal harshly with stikes or passive resistance to the existing order in Berlin. One leader of the counter revolution said: "We won't knuckle down to the socialists and workmen who think they can run the country.

Notwithstanding the government's threat, it has been evident that neither Dr. Kapp nor Maj. Gen. Von Luettwitz was willing to put their winnings to the test. Bloodshed would have been inevitable, plunging the country possibly into a state of anarchy and giving communists the opportunity they had waited to foist soviet doctrines upon Germany.

This state of affairs was recognized in all its seriousness also by the Ebert government. Therefore, hope is entertained that an agreement will be reached and that Berlin streets soon will be cleared of wire entanglements, machine guns and armed troops.

Although the counter-revolution has been orderly it has not passed without the clashing of arms and bloodshed. In various cities fighting has occurred, participated in by mobs and troops, and today several persons were killed and others were wounded in the suburbs of Berlin, when rifles and machine guns were turned on the crowds.

Hand grenades also were exploded in front of the headquarters of Gen. Von Luettwitz, reactionary minister of defence, but did no great damage.

Much interest is attached to the meeting of the national assembly which has been called for Tuesday at Stuttgart.

Military for Kapp

The Lokal Anzeiger asserts that the reichswar garrisons and other military units are declaring for the new government and adds that resistance is being offered only at a few places. The German national party and the German people's party in Berlin have declared against the Ebert government and have demanded of the new government that all parties willing to cooperate in reconstruction of Germany shall be invited to collaborate. A meeting of the committee of senior members of the Prussian national assembly resolved not to recognize dissolution of the national assembly, but refrains

LATEST REPORT SAYS EBERT WILL NOT NEGOTIATE

PARIS, March 16.—A dispatch to the Petit Parisien from Zurich, Switzerland, says the Ebert government in Germany, together with the president and vice-president of the national assembly, and the Wurtemberg ministers, met at Stuttgart Monday and decided to reject any attempt at negotiations by the followers of Wolfgang Kapp.

Premier Bauer is quoted as having said that the only condition the Ebert government would offer Kapp was that he resign. The Ebert government further declares, says the despatch, it has authorized nobody to negotiate with the Berlin government, being convinced it soon will be able to restore order.

SYRIA PROCLAIMS ITS INDEPENDENCE

Emir Feisal Declared King; Mesopotamia Reported to Have Followed Suit

BEIRUT, March 8, (via Constantinople, Associated Press).—The independence of Syria was proclaimed today by representatives of the Syrian people. Emir Feisal was declared king, with Palestine part of the kingdom. The Syrian banner consists of seven pointed white stars placed in the red field of the Hedjaz flag.

Mesopotamia is reported also to have declared its independence, with Emir Abysmal as king and Emir Zed as regent. Lebanon has adhered to this program and apparently a sort of Arab federation has been arranged. The new monach will take the oath tomorrow as King Feisal the first of Syria.

LONDON, March 15.—Simultaneously with the proclamation of Prince Feisal as King of Syria, Abdulla was proclaimed King of Irak (Vilayet of Bagdad and including the city of Bagdad) and of Mesopotamia, says a Cairo despatch to the Times.

GEDDES URGES MUTUAL RESPECT

Great Britain and America Must Understand One Another, He Declares

LONDON, March 15.—(Associated Press)—Sir Auckland Geddes, new ambassador to the United States, attacked newspapers which stir up Anglo-Saxon britation, at a dinner given in his honor tonight.

"It is an essential condition of the working of the magic of policy so necessary to save civilization," he said, "that the two great English speaking communities should sail forward in mutual respect and understanding to the uncharted seas of the future. To labor to secure that mutual respect and understanding is a man's work, and I am not insensible of the high priviiege, which it is, to have been given a chance of so serving this day and generation."

Expressing the wish that "some word might be spoken which would hasten development of an understanding of the problems and difficulties of Great Britain by America and the difficulties and problems of America by Great Britain," the ambassador said:

"It does not help either respect or understanding to cry 'Peace, peace' where there is no peace, or love and trust, if love be cold and trust be worn thin. I hope and believe that is not the case with any considerable section of either of the great English speaking communities.

"But it would be criminal madness not to recognize that there are pamphlets printed and daily and weekly papers published which dissemble love and conceal trust so thoroughly that one is forced to believe there is neither love to dis-

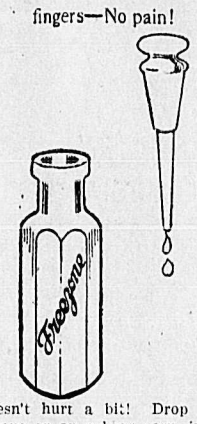
LIFT OFF CORNS!

Apply few drops then lift sore, touchy corns off with fingers—No pain!



Doesn't hurt a bit! Drop a little Freezone on an aching corn, instantly that corn stops hurting, then you lift it right out. Yes, magic!

A tiny bottle of Freezone costs but a few cents at any drug store, but is sufficient to remove every hard corn, soft corn, or corn between the toes, and the calluses, without soreness or irritation.

Freezone is the sensational discovery of a Cincinnati genius. It is wonderful.

What causes

Indigestion

An excess of acid in the stomach sours the food and starts fermentation. Distressing gases form. Your meals don't digest but lay like jumps of lead. Then you have heartburn, flatulence, fullness, belching, headache, and real misery in the stomach and intestines.

A few tablets of "Pape's Diapepsin" bring relief almost as soon as they reach the stomach. "Pape's Diapepsin" costs little at drug stores.

DANDERINE FOR FALLING HAIR

For a Few Cents you can Save Your Hair and Double Its Beauty.

To stop falling hair at once and rid the scalp of every particle of dandruff, get a small bottle of delightful "Danderine" at any drug or toilet counter for a few cents, pour a little in your hand and rub it into the scalp. After several applications the hair usually stops coming out and you can't find any dandruff. Help your hair grow strong, thick and long and become glossy and twice as beautiful and abundant.

SCHOOL CHILDREN CARRIERS OF GERMS

EVERY CHILD SHOULD BE PROTECTED FROM COLDS—THEY MAY LEAD TO 'FLU.

Medical health officers have found that in many cases children who are themselves healthy are carriers of disease. Children mix so freely and so informally with their playmates that the danger of infection is a real and constant one. These facts show conclusively that parents can not be too careful in paying prompt attention to symptoms developed by their children. At the first sign of a cold in the head immediate measures should be employed to allay the symptoms, particularly as it is well known that many dangerous diseases, such as 'flu, first appear in the form of a "simple cold."

To break up a cold, tone up the system and reduce the inflammation that accompanies such symptoms there is nothing so good as Grip-Fix. This remedy which has many successful years behind it, is prepared from the formula of a well-known physician. This formula appears on every box of Grip-Fix. You owe it to your children and to yourself to buy the remedy that honestly displays the names of all its ingredients.

All you have to do is to follow directions carefully—Grip Fix will do the rest. In a single night even a bad cold will be relieved.

Grip-Fix may be obtained at all drug stores for 35 cents a box.

CITY ASKS FOR BROADER LOANS

Wants Government to Amend Housing Scheme; Advises Library to Rent

At a reasonably busy session of the city council last night, the proposal for a library building was relegated to the rear in favor of rented premises, it was decided to ask the provincial government to amend the act respecting housing loans so as to permit the purchases of existing houses, the Nelson branch of the Retail Merchants association asked for protection of the merchants from unlicensed peddlars, and a large number of residents in the locality between the city power plant and Granite applied for connection with the city's power system.

Mayor J. A. McDonald was in the chair, and the others present were Aldermen John Bell, A .A. Perrier, C. F. McHardy, J. O. Patenaude, and C. H. Bean.

Library Board Independent

The finance committee reported through Ald. Bean that J. E. Annable was willing to rent the corner store of his book, and to include heat, and preliminary repairs if any, for $40 per month, giving a two years lease, and it was accordingly recommended this store for the temporary home of the library, instead of the proposed annex to the city hall.

Mayor McDonald, who previously favored building, said it was a very good offer, considering it was a stone building, and heat was included.

The question arose whether the council should secure the lease for the library board ,but it was concluded that the board was now a corporate body, entitled to act for itself, and the council contented itself with recommending to the board the deal in question.

Rock Report Referred Back

Asked what the board of works had done about the quantity of rock on Victoria street for which an offer of $100 had been received, Ald. Bell said nothing had been done as there was no hurry, but his idea was to let the tenderer have it.

Mayor McDonald said it could not be replaced for $400, and $100 would not haul it there. A lot of the rock was squared.

On motion of Ald. McHardy, this report was referred back to the board of works.

The application of the Retail Merchants association for more stringent measures against unlicensed peddlars was briefly discussed, and referred to the police commission, afte rthe opinion had been expressed that there were few offences of this character overlooked by the police.

Want Loans Broadened

In connection with the housing scheme ,the city clerk, W. E. Wasson, when asked what results followed the city's advertisements for applicants, stated he had received one written application, which made the qualification, "if conditions are satisfactory." Fifteen other returned men had talked with him personally, however, all of whom were anxious for loans for the purchase o houses already built.

On the suggestion of Ald. McHardy, the council decided to ask the provincial government to amend the act or the regulations to permit of loans being made for the purpose to which these returned men wished to apply it.

Twelve ranches in the locality of 49-creek petitioned to be permitted to be connected with the city power line for lighting and power purposes, the latter in connection with operating farm machinery. The petitioners suggested that only one transformer would be required to supply their needs. The petition was signed by John Lindblad, A. G. Lindblad, J. A. Robinson, John Kay, John Bingtsberg, N. I. Holland, Thomas Moore, Bob Jerome, Albert Jerome, Louis Karlson, Emil Karlson and J. Johnson.

John Lindblad supported the petition with a letter, in which he stated that if owners of vacant land should build, the number of consumers on that line would be doubled.

E. G. Matthew, solicitor for C. J. Carlson, wrote advising the council that his client claimed the water coming down Cedar street to Victoria overflowed his property at 819 Victoria, damaging his cellar and grounds.

Estimates from the library board totalled $2,500, itemized as follows: Librarian's salary, $1000; rent $600; fuel $150; books $500; magazines $150; incidentals $100.

semble nor trust to conceal in the minds of the workers.

"There is nothing I regret more than to read in some American papers an article accusing this country of quite impossible villainy, unless it be to read in some British paper the article reversed. It is so fatally easy to criticize particularly at a time like this, when human thought is boiling.

"Let us remember that it is quite impossible for two peoples to see every question from the same angle. But let us stick fast to, let us keep a firm hold upon the big things history has to teach us, that somehow both peoples have driven the furrow straight and true and most astonishingly parallel in their efforts to cultivate civilization.

"There is no evidence that I know to suggest that either is now contemplating a departure from its traditional husbandry."

oned and for it was substituted a plan substantially the same as previously recommend by me." Admiral Sims said the department sent many cables insisting that its plan be given a trial and that it was not abandoned until months after it was first suggested. A raid in the meantime, he asserted, would have found the United States without a practical working plant to meet it. Only the fact that "God was with us," saved early troop ship convoys from German torpedoes, Admiral Sims declared.

Several Killed

BERLIN, March 15.—In fighting today at Dortmund, Westphalia, several persons were killed or wounded. The big smelting works these is idle.

It is stated that a soviet government has been proclaimed in Bochum and Essen. Franfort-on-Main is reported to be in the hands of the workers. Workmen have stormed the railway stations at Hanover. The workers at Chemnitz, Saxony, have formed a provisional committee had been formed under the direction of the socialits Herr Phillipps. In the Rhine Valley and Westphalian industrial regions the communists have proclaimed a counter revolution and a general strike.

A number of labor councils have been formed at Essen and Dortmund. Heavy fighting continues at Frankfort Bavaria, Wurttemburg and Baden have joined as one state, and Saxony, it is reported will also enter this block.

Independent Governments

LONDON, March 15.—Telephonic messages to the Berlin correspondent of the Exchange Telegraph company from different parts of Germany report the situation as follows:

Siesia—An independent government of action, consisting of three Socialists, three independents and three communists. The committee disarmed the volunteers' battalion and the home guard and removed the bourgeoisie from the security guard. Three thousand armed workmen occupied the railway station, postoffice and town hall and have assumed power in surrounding towns. The publication of bourgeoisie newspapers has been forbidden. The government of the principality of Reuss has been deposed and the establishment of a soviet republic there is expected.

Germany's new government is faced with extensive strike movements at many points throughout the nation, but as yet serious outbreaks have been averted in Berlin and other large centres. A clash at Leipzic between troops of the guard and a radical mob, in which nine men were killed, was reported through Vienna, but has not been confirmed by direct advices.

The national assembly which the Ebert regime counts upon for support has been called to meet tomorrow at Stuttgart, where the old government's headquarters now are.

High government officials in London refer to the possibilities of "civil war" resulting from the present conflict. The new German government is reported as making overtures to the old government to prevent stoppage of transportation through a general strike. Despatches from Germany declare, however, that a general strike on the railways already had been called after the Kapp government had failed to make concessions satisfactory to the labor leaders regarding the makeup of the new cabinet.

The allies, it was officially announced through London have declined to recognize the new regime in Berlin ,refusing even to reply to its communication asking recognition.

The situation in Bavaria is uncertain. The socialist government there is reported to have resigned. A message to Paris newspaper declares that the restoration of the Bavarian monarchy has been proclaimed in general, however, it is declared in offical advices to London that the new government is not receiving a great amount of support outside of Prussia. Even in Berlin direct advices state the, reappears to be little political support for it.

France Sends Representative

PARIS, March 15.—M. Bruyers has been appointed by France as its unofficial representative at Stuttgart, provisional seat of the Ebert government in Germany and will leave late today for that city to watch events. Maurice Paleologue, general secretary of the foreign office, paid a visit today to Dr. Von Mayer, the German charge de'affaires here, and informed him of M. Bruyer's appointment. Dispatches received by Dr Von Mayer, the German charge confirmed the French official view that the hold of the Kapp government in Berlin is not likely to be of long duration. His support was considered, the charge indicated, to be hardly more than that of military adventurers. The Kapp adherents according to Dr. Von Mayer's information had learned by today they had no chance of succeeding, but were still trying to obtain support of the labor parties.

Tack Reports

WASHINGTON, March 15.—(Associated Press)—Lacking reports tonight from Major General Henry T. Allen at Coblenz as to military aspects of the involved situation in Germany, government advices today threw little light on the political status there and none on allied military measures. Officials had hoped Gen. Allen would report on the conference of allied commanders on the Rhine with Marshal Foch but no message came.

The state department had an official report on a general strike in Hamburg, with the military in control and no disorders. There was much speculative discussion again in war and state department circles as to the status of General Allen's troops on the Rhine in view of the fact that the American forces alone are under armistice conditions. Disagreement was expressed as to whether they would be under orders of Marshal Foch.

Some war department officials thought that technically the marshal's authority might extnd to General Allen's command. Other officials, however, held that the peace treaty had abrogated the French leaders authority at least so far as the Americans were concerned.

Kapp Reiterates Statement

LONDON, March 15.—"Chancellor Kapp stated today that the new government of Germany was neither monarchestic or reactionary," says the Berlin correspondent of the Exchange Telegraph. "The chancellor has repeatedy decared a repubican form of government was preferabe to a monarchy."

"The government does not entertain monarchial or reactionary views or intentions," Herr Kapp said. "It is not the military who rules, but they who are ruled by the civil powers. For instance, it was not Von Luettwitz (General Baron Von Luettwitz, minister of defense) who appointed me chancellor, but it was I who appointed him war minister and commander in chief."

Pomerania Goes Over

LONDON, March 15.—Official despatches reached the government tonight that Pomerania, including Stettin and Silesia has gone over to the new regime and that the socialists in East Prussia also are supporting Chancellor Kapp.

South Germany for Ebert

COPENHAGEN, March 15.—The social Demokraten's correspondent has been in telephonic communication with Dresden, Stuttgart and Munich and says all southern Germany swears it will stand by the Ebert government. The Saxons, Bavarian and Wurttemburg troops have placed themselves at the disposal of the old government and the national assembly the correspondent asserts. He states that the reason the old government went to Stuttgart was to summon a meeting of the national assembly there.

Peace Circles Keep Tonight

BULLS BUSY ON WALL STREET

NEW YORK, March 15.—Taking courage from the comparative ease of call money and the failure of foreign exchange to reflect in more than minor degree the trend of events abroad, pools today resumed their bullish operations in the stock market, notably among speculative shares.

Demand loans opened and renewed at 9 per cent, holding at that rate throughout the session, against last week's final quotation of 15 per cent, despite the strain imposed on bank reserves by heavy tax payments. Additional reversals from recent recoveries, marked the dealings in international exchange, but reactions were largely nominal. Even marks recorded only a slight setback.

Greatest gains among stocks were registered by issues recently under bear pressure and by others in which preparations for declination of stock dividends are reported in progress. Extreme advances of 2 to fifteen points were scheduled to wide fluctuations in the last hour on word from Washington that resolution had been introduced in the house against distribution fstock dividends.

Crucible Steel and General Motors maintained their reputations, as the sensational features of the market. Other steels, United States Steel excepted, and many of the motors and their allied secialties, also petroleums, equipments, shippings and food stocks closed at gains. Sales, 1,050,000 shares.

Weakness among representative rails imparted irregularity to the bond market, foreign issues also yielding. The Liberty group was steady to firm.

Total sales, par value $12,200,000.

Old United States bonds were unchanged on call.

GROWING SWEET PEAS IN THE KOOTENAY

Article No. 22
By R. V. Ramsden

The enthusiastic gardener is the most gullible of mortals. The temptation to try something new is irrestible, and knowing this, the seed houses take full advantage of the fact, and perhaps give undue prominence to new varieties of sweet peas.

It might be of interest to bbbriefly review the merits or otherwise of some of the latter sweet pea introductions. Practically all the new peas are propagated in Great Britain and success in hybridization seems to be confined to a comparative few.

Burpee in the States seems to be confining his efforts to the propagation of the early flowering Spencers, and growers in Australia, where this type of sweet pea originated, are doing the same. Judging from the results achieved here, these peas are not nearly so good as the ordinary Spencer type. Probably in the hot dry climate of Australia, and in some of the states of the union, they do better, and for winter greenhouse bloom they would undoubtedly be superior.

The War of course checked the introduction of new sweet peas, but as the fixing of a variety is a matter of years, each year has seen at least a few new peas, until for 1920 there are quite a number.

New Color Advances

The most striking advance in recent years has been in the orange, scarlet, cersie-scarlet, and cersie shades of color, a large number of erally good sweet peas havin been introduced. Perhaps the outstanding variety of this color class is Alexander Malcolm, named after the grower who is in the very front rank of sweet pea hybridizers. The color is a very rich glowing cersie over scarlet, and a good stand of this pea furnishes a wonderful splash in the garden. As the pea growes strongly here, and holds its color well, it should find a place in every collection of sweet peas. At the rose show last year a splendidly grown bunch of Alexander Malcolm secured first place as the best bunch in the show, and fully deserved it. Other good peas of a somewhat similar shade are Fiery Cross, Mrs. Tanqueray, Thomas Stevenson, Edward Cowdy, and the President. Fiery Cross has a great reputation but it must grow considerably better elsewhere as it has been very disappointing here after several years trial. Mrs. Tranqueray, Thomas Stevenson and the President all grow well here, but the blooms are smaller than Alexander Malcolm, and so nearly alike that variety in color that, except in the large garden, should not be given valuable space. Edward Cowdy is a pea of good size and form, with orange shading, but sun scorches badly here, and consequently is not worth growing. It should make a magnificent greenhouse pea, however.

Hope is a new pea which seems to have established a position as leader of the cersie section, but it has yet to be tried out here. If the variety does well here, it will supercede Illuminator and Edith Taylor, hitherto the best we have had in this color.

It should be remembered that many peas are what might be termed climatic varieties, that is, they do not come true or grow well except in certain localities. Another point to remember it that, either because a variety is not properly fixed, or perhaps of inherent faults in one of the parent plants, it sometimes deteriotes. We have had a few instances of this kind of late years, among st which might be mentioned the varieties Tea Rose and Frilled Pink. The first mentioned was really a most delightful pea, aptly named, possessing a robust constitution, a free bloomer, and throwing plenty of fours, with almost every bloom duplex. A vase of this variety on the table was something to remember, but for some unexplained reason we have not been able to grow it successfully since the first year of its introduction.

For many years the crimsons and scarlets were not satisfactorily, or at any rate had not improved to the same remarkabble extent that most of the other colors had, but a distinct advance has been made in the last two or three years, and the crimson variety maned Charity is quite up to the standard. Halmark Scarlet is reputed to be a very good pea but has not been grown here to date so far as known. Amongst the older named varieties of this section King Edward and Maud Holmes are well worth growing, the former perhaps a little more rank in growth than the latter, but of such good color and form.

With the Blues

The blues also have been very satisfactory, although quite a large number have been introduced recently. Mrs. Tom Jones is a notable exception, and this pea is one of the very best all round sweet peas in commerce. To often vigor in a plant means course, ill placed plooms; long stems, a weak plant; large blooms, a thin stalk, and so on, but in this particular pea, it would be hard to find a single bad habit. The color is not altogether as pleasing as many others, being a medium blue, and the effect of the bloom is spoilt to a certain extent by the light color (almost a white) of the keel. The pea is reminiscent of the varieties Wedgewood and Phantom Blue, but is a much stronger grower than the former, and a little darker in color, and more true than Phantom Blue.

Margaret Fife and Princess Mary are two light blues recently introduced, but both seem to grow weakly here, and should not be grown if Mrs. Tom Jones can be obtained.

We have yet to see a good deep blue here. Blue Jacket and Lord Nelson, practically the only Spencer varieties, are to much like the grandiflora type of sweet pea to be worth growing. However, two new deep blues, Jack Cromwell V.C., and Commander Godsall, which are said to be great improvements, are now on the market, and this season may see the long looked for dark blue in the annual show.

To conclude the list of the more unsatisfactorily colors: Creams and whites are not all they should be, and it looks as if we shall have to wait some time yet for a really good cream and white. There are numbers of different named peas of both colors, but so far each variety given a trial here has had some serious fault. The creams all seem shy boomers, and the flowers have not the neccessary substance. Clara Curtis, although an old pea, is probably the most satisfastory cream.

In the whites we have an numerous collection of names, but the flowers, with two exceptions, are synonymous, or perhaps it would be better to say they are so nearly alike that it would be almost an impossible task for an expert to attempt to pick out and name bunches of so called different peas. The exceptions are Constance Hinton and King White.

Constance Hinton is a very vigorous pea, so much so that it shared honors with Maud Holmes and Hercules as being most frequently used as a parent plant in hybridizing for new varieties. It blooms freely, and gives plenty of well placed fours, but it is not always a pure white, the standard and wings frequently coming flushed with pink. One good point is that it is a black seeded pea and is consequently easy of germination, whereas most creams and white varieties are white seeded and hard to germinate.

King white is a fine white, although a trifle weak in the bloom, and a good bunch of this variety is as beautiful as it is scarce. It has had a good trial here, and whilst it must be admitted that grown properly it is the best white, it is too unstable, and should give way to Constance Hinton here.

Of the best whites, Edna May and Etta Dyke are both good clean whites of fair size, and they also come true to color and type.

There is another white which should not be overlooked, namely, Nora Unwin. This pea belong to the Unwin type of sweet peas, a type giving very well placed blooms of rather smaller size than the Spencers. Nora Unwin is a very clear white, and its habit makes it a valuable variety for floral design work.

The bicolors are not very numerous or pleasing in appearance, although some are of very large size. Dora and Rowena being cream-pink bi-color, and Mrs. Cuthbertson white pink bicolor, all of fairly recent introduction, and of no great merit. Adelaide, Marks, Fey and Brocade, are bicolors containing mixtures of violet, rose and lilac. The first two mentioned are very large peas, but the color combination is unpleasing to the majority of people. The latter is on the market for the first time this year.

In the delicate blush or art shades the best pea here has proved to be Agricola, which possesses very fine size, shape substance and type, and is very vigorous. Single stems of this variety have been grown here with as many as seven and eight blooms on a stalk, and five are fairly common with well grown pants. The color is difficult to describe, being neither lavender, pink nor lilac, but carrying a suggestion of each.

Valentine is a new pea which grew exceptionally well here last year, being similiar to Agricola, but with more pink in the bloom.

Daisybud and Elegance are two new peas in this color section which have yet to be proved here, but both have earned excellent reputatsion in the trials in England.

The maroons are perhaps the strongest growing peas, the blooms on all being of the largest. Lord Fisher, Warrior and Dobbie's maroon are new peas; King Manoel, Othello and Black Knight being older varieties. As grown here, King Manoel appears to be the better pea, but Dobbie's Maroon, which is listed for the first time this year, may prove better if it does as well here as it did in England last year.

The most delightful color in sweet peas and the most difficult to grow is the salmon and orange. There are quite a large number of sweet peas in this color section all more or less distinct, the most recent arrival being Tangerine, which has not yet been tried out here.

Dobie's orange, Robt. Sydenham, Barbara, Melba and Inspector, have all done well here, and there is not a great deal to choose between them if anything Barbara is a little the better pea. All these varieties are somewhat weak in growth, and it is a difficult matter to grow them here with a good color, as the amount of bright sunlight we have bleaches the color out of the bloom. However, the peas are worth a litte extra trouble as they can be used to such good advantage in decorating.

The Famous Pinks

By far the highest number of different named peas are to be found in the pinks, which is after all only natural when it is remembered the Spencer type originated with a pink pea, the Countess of Spencer.

The latest arrivals are Hawlmark Pink, Pink Pearl, and Hebe, introduced this year, and Edith Cavell, Mrs. A. Hitchcock, and La France last year.

Mrs. A. Hitchcock proved exceptionaly good in one or two Nelson gardens last year, and as it possessesa very attractive color, being a pale pink, with a ground coloring of deep cream or ivory, it should be given a place in the forefront among st pinks.

Edith Cavell is a very good all round pea. The haulm is very short jointed, and consequently it is a free bloomer, and, as grown last year, it was quite an exceptional thing to find anything less than four blooms on a stem. It is not such a pleasing shade of pink as some, and the bloom is not so large as some others but it is a pea well worth growing.

La France proved a giant amongst peas as regards size of bloom, but did not give a very high percentage of fours.

Of the older pink peas, Elfreda Pearson, Hercules, Duchess of Poltland, Margaret Atlee, and Countess Spencer are all good, and do well here. Indeed he would be a bold grower who would definately state that any one of the pink peas was unquestionably the best.

THAT'S WHY MRS. KARGUS RECOMMENDS DODD'S KIDNEY PILLS

Lynedoch Lady states that she was so weak she could not get out of bed till she found relief in Dodd's Kidney Pills.

Lynedoch via Wolfe, Ont., March 15th—(Special.)—"I feel like telling everybody about what Dodd's Kidney Pills did for me." This is the joyful exclamation of Mrs. Frank Kargus, a well known and highly respected resident here. Mrs. Kargus gives splendid reasons why she is so enthusiastic over Dodd's Kidney Pills.

"I don't know the cause of my trouble" she says, "but I know it dragged along for over a year. I had a bad pain in my back and I was so weak that I could not get out of bed. My heart troubled me very much and my sleep was broken and unrefreshing.

"I was always tired and nervous and sometimes I was so bad I thought I could not live much longer. I tried two doctors and they did not do me much good so I tried Dodds Kidney Pills.

"They have done me a lot of good. I can do my housework again and I am getting along fine."

Mrs. Kargus troubles are all symptoms of diseased kidneys. That's why she got such prompt relief. Ask your neighbors if Dodd's Kidney Pills do not relieve all kidney ills.

GRANT PROMISED FOR CHEMISTRY

Ald. McHardy Reports to Council on Victoria Trip; School Finance

Reporting to the city council last night on his trip to Victoria, Ald. C. F. McHardy, beside dealing with matters coming before the convention of the Good Roads league, covered various matters he took up direct with the provincial government on behalf of the city.

This section of his report was as follows:—

Chemistry Grant

"As requested, I took up the matter of the government helping to pay part of the cost of installing a chemistry department, which was necessary owing to a change in the curriculum. I took this matter up with Mr. Willis, superintendent of education, and he stated that, although there was no provision in the act at present under which the government could repay the city, he was having an amendment to the act put through at the present session, whereby the government could pay such claims as Nelson was presenting, and that a check would be forthcoming in due time for the major portion of this account.

Mr. Willis made an appointment for me with the minister of education, Dr. MacLean, for 10 o'clock the following morning, when I went into the question of getting an increase in our grant.

"Dr. MacLean pointed out that practically every city in the province had been presenting the same case, and that he had had to refuse them all. He pointed out that British Columbia was doing vastly more for the schools than either Ontario or any of the prairie provinces, and that, when the government put the present schedule of assistance to municipal schools in force, it was with the idea of gradually reducing the amount until it was done away with entirely; but owing to the increase in the cost of operating the schools, no change in the amount of the grant had been made.

School Demands Heavy

"He also pointed out that the education department received about one-third of the total revenue of the province, and that it was practically useless to ask for any larger proportion than this department was getting at the present time. He felt that the cities were entitled to some form of help from the government whereby they could get a larger proportion of the taxes raised in the different municipalities, and stated that he was favorable, and would support any efforts towards that end, but felt that we were not approaching the matter from the right quarter when we were asking the department of education to increase its grants to the schools.

"Upon my return to Vancouver I received some information on two other matters of interest to our citizens, the first being that it had been definitely decided to make Nelson the official headquarter of the 54th battalion, which would mean that the officer commanding will reside in Nelson. I am to be advised of the name of the officer in the course of a few days.

New Insurance Rates Lower

"I am also told that the new insurance rates which are being promulgated throughout the province to conform with the other provinces of the dominion, would come into force in the near future, and that it was anticipated that the change would mean a slight decrease in the Nelson rates, although the new system of rating would mean that some peculiarly situated risks will have to pay somewhat higher rates."

CONSTRUCTION OF PYRAMIDS

How the Egyptians managed to haul the gigantic stones used in building the pyramids has been for centuries a subject for speculation. Of late years some who have examined the pyramids have come to the conclusion that the stones are artificial, a kind of concrete. If so they were probably made where they are, and the sand of the desert was the principal material used.

SICK HEADACHES CONSTIPATION

If you have suffered from constipation for years, tried doctors and all the remedies you ever heard or read of, without getting relief, if you have been subject to all the miseries associated with constipation, such as sick and bilious headaches, biliousness, specks floating before the eyes, water brash, heartburn, jaundice and the painful, troublesome, internal, bleeding or protruding piles, etc., wouldn't you consider it a blessing to be able to keep the bowels in a good healthy condition and prevent disease getting a foothold on your system.

Milburn's Laxa-Liver Pills are indicated just for this purpose; their regular use relieving the worst cases of constipation.

Mrs. Malcolm McDermid, Cranton Station, N.S., writes:—"I have been sick for a number of years with sick headaches and constipation. I tried all kinds of doctor's medicine, but none did me any good. I tried Milburn's Laxa-Liver Pills, and after using four vials I am completely cured and would heartily recommend them to all sufferers."

The Burden of Public Men

Perhaps the noblest passage in the finely eloquent speech which Sir George Foster delivered in the commons last week was that in which he spoke of the toil and cares and burdens of public men. The words are so applicable to an age when it is fashionable to be cynical of parliament and to sneer at public men, that they are worth reproducing in full. Said Sir George:

> But my hon. friend goes on to develop his thesis by saying that the prime minister (Sir Robert Borden) should be in his place, and his argument, if it meant anything, was: No matter what are the conditions; no matter what the state of his health, you are not doing your duty to Parliament unless you have your prime minister in his seat now and constantly during the session. I do not think that the good sense of the house or of the country will march easily with my hon. friend's opinion in that respect. I have alluded once before somewhere to the pathetic side, of the life and work of a prime minister of this Dominion; for it has its pathetic side. My hon. friend is young and strong and the future is before him. If he gets out from the light and free atmosphere of criticism and assumes the burdens of the office of prime minister of this country, he will find that they are nerve-racking and body-racking; that they involve body toil and body pain; that morally, mentally and physically there is a strain upon the man who holds that office, all of which call for sympathy rather than criticism when the strain proves to be too great to bear. And if that is true in normal times, when we have storms and ebullitions only under shelter of the wings of peace, what must be involved in these duties in times such as we have lately gone through, when the war winds blow, when currents and counter-currents come alternately; when immense responsibilities must be assumed and quick decisions made?—What the duties of the prime minister must be under these conditions I know, because I have sat by and have seen. I tell you that in my heart of hearts, as in the heart of hearts of all of us, there will be a spot free from censure, free from criticism, free from stern rebuke—a spot in which is generated human nature's just recognition of merit and of toil. This I say of what must fairly be our attitude with regard to the prime minister. We have not failed to recognize the responsibilities devolving upon the leader of the opposition in time of peace or in time of war. His also is a brain-racking and a body-racking office, and my sympathies went out to the old chief who lead the battalions of hon. gentlemen opposite for so many years, when in his advancing years I noted how the sense of the responsibilities and of the burdens which he had to bear grew upon him. I knew that in his mind and in his heart there were struggles of statesmanship but little known to those who could see only what was apparent from the outside.

It would be a good thing for public life, a good thing for political controversy, if men of all parties, no matter what their creeds, would give heed to these words. The public sees only one side of the life of politicians and ministers. It sees only the moments of triumph, the speechmaking, the rounds of applause, the gold and glare and glitter. It fails to realize that these are merely the exterior glamor and thin veneer of a life that has its dark moments, its cares and worries, its disappointments and responsibilities; a life whose steady drain upon the mind and body has sapped the vitality of men of the greatest physical strength, the Ottawa Journal comments. Sir Robert Borden has had four years of strain and responsibility such as have never before burdened a Canadian leader, and such indeed as have burdened few statesmen in the history of the world.

"Though nature calls aloud for rest, I am buckling on my armor." Such was the spirit which breathed through one of Mr. Gladstone's last speeches when that great man in the twilight of life was waging his greatest battle. It is not too much to say that the same high devotion to duty prompted Sir Robert Borden to remain in the premiership when, at the close of the war, and at the summit of achievement, he could have retired to the enjoyment of private life. Rest, recreation, travel, books, high social and political position—everything that a man could hope for was within Sir Robert's grasp; but largely at the instigation of his friends, and because he knew that his experience would be of service to his country at a time when that service was sorely needed, he elected to stay at his post.

Exchange Rates Will Adjust Trade

New York exchange at a premium of about 18 per cent. substantially increases the cost of American goods here, and it is frequently alleged that the cost of coal, cotton, and other goods which we must import from the United States should not be enhanced by such a large amount. But an examination of the latest trade figures indicates little, if any, falling off in our imports from that country, even in the case of luxuries.

This failure of trade to react to exchange rates has started a movement for an embargo against the importation of luxuries, on the ground that it is only by action of this kind that our large unfavorable balance with the United States can be reduced and exchange rates thereby restored to normal. A broader view of the question, however, remarks the Monetary Times, results in the conclusion that the only effective discrimination between necessities and luxuries rests with the consumer. Rising prices cause a reduction in the purchasing power of an income, and when this takes place luxuries must give way to necessities. That the large increase in prices has not already restricted the purchase of luxuries is due to the fact that incomes have been increased roughly in proportion to the cost of living. So long as this takes place, there is no need to worry as to the high price of the necessities of life.

It is, in fact, useless for any country to try to reduce prices below the levels fixed by world conditions. Attempts in Canada and elsewhere to fix prices and to limit profits have proved abortive. The thrift campaign in this country was a dismal failure, and to try to limit imports to necessities would prove equally futile.

But incomes cannot continue to be raised in proportion to prices, for signs of a business depression are already clear. Just as soon as the consumer realizes that his purchasing power is to be reduced for an indefinite period, will he restrict the purchase of luxuries and the exchange situation will be automatically solved.

COMMUNICATION

A TRANS-PROVINCIAL HIGHWAY

To the Editor of The Daily News:

Sir:—The Daily News of Feb. 25th, containing a letter from Mr. Haddon of Gray Creek re the above, was forwarded to me here, and as a letter of mine on the same subject seems to have inspired Mr. Haddon to write, perhaps I may be permitted a few further words in explanation.

I was sorry to see that Mr. Haddon so far misread my letter as to think that I was in disagreement with the way the Nelson board of trade is pushing the question of completion of the section of the transprovincial highway which is to pass through our district.

On the contrary, the whole district bordering on Kootenay lake would stand a poor chance of getting any material improvement to the road system if it were not for the able and energetic way in which the Nelson board of trade continually keeps our requirements before the provincial government.

One object I had in view in writing to the Daily News was to sound a note of warning that we should not rest content, or let the provincial government think they have satisfied us for the time, by bringing the highway as far as Kuskanook.

Since writing my previous letter, I have had opportunity to discuss the matter with several members of the Nelson board of trade, and I realize that if the whole scheme of joining up Nelson with Creston were put forward, the provincial government would turn it down on the score of expense, and again, nothing would be done for another year. At present our province is divided into several districts, each with its local system of highways, but lacking a trunk road to connect them with their neighbors. We, living in outlying districts, naturally voice our local needs; but it is immaterial in the long run which links in the through route are connected up first, providing the work on the whole scheme is pushed along.

Just now I fail to see much activity in this direction, and we are apparently being trapped into waiting until just before the next elections, when the provincial government, having accumulated funds, may develop a surprising activity for electioneering purposes.

BEAUTY AND THE DICTIONARY

She lived next door—a damsel fair,
With eyes of blue, and—oh, her hair hair
Was glistening like pure, radiant gold
That's spun by fabled nymphs of old, old.

I've watched her at her casement as she whiled long hours through,
I've seen her in the morning as fresh as diamond dew.
I've gazed as from afar upon her pretty lithesome form.
And her her cheery laughter in sunshine and in storm.
But never have I spoken to this neighbor fair of mine,
Though often have I smiled at her,
and answered she in kind.

And then—I heard her at the phone.
And curse the day I pulled that bone!
She said, "I seen him," and "I've went,"
And "Can that stuff," "I bet a cent,"
And "Ain't you right," and then "I've sawn"—
And now, alas, her beauty's gone!

NEW RAILS FOR OLD

One of the big tasks of reconstruction is that of furnishing our railways with new rails.

Relaying has had to be delayed notwithstanding that the traffic has been immense and severe during the war. The wear of railtops varies according to locality and the straightness of the line, since on a curve there is more friction, due to the slip of the wheels is going round the curve.

Rails that are not worked very which cuts down their life. It takes hard nevertheless suffer from rust about twenty-five million tons' weight of traffic to year down a rail one tenth of an inch.

turned upside down in their chairs,

The popular idea that rails are to use the bottom side for a fresh lease of life, is not correct. But the time the top is worn out, the hammering of the traffic has indented the bottom upon he chairs and inallow it to be used for a running jured its structure too much to surface. The rail may, however, have further life in sidings, or put to some other use.

When laying rails the platelayers interpose a piece of metal of a certain thickness between the ends at the joint, before bolting up the fishplates, afterwards removing it and leaving a blank. This is done to allow for expansion and contraction in summer and winter, otherwise the rails would buckle so much that the trains would be derailed.—London Answers.

HINTS ON EGG HATCHING

By J. R. Terry

Artificial Incubation

Do not expect to get good hatches from stale eggs. The sooner eggs are incubated the better. Eggs shipped from a distance should always be set within a few minutes of receiving same, other advice notwithstanding. White and brown eggs should not be put in a machine together. The white eggs, if of equal size, generally hatch first, and the chicks bother the others just hatching.

Do not expect too much of a sitting hen or incubator. Far better to leave space in incubator than fill up with unhatchable eggs.

Try and get eggs of even size. Better distribution of heat then ensues.

If eggs are kept more than five days they should be turned occasionally. Those placed in trays or racks should be covered with cloth or blanket.

Eggs are best set unwashed. Never wash eggs unless you are forced to. In other words, try and set only naturally clean eggs.

Eggs that show blood-rings present at test may have had blood-clots present before incubating. Don't blame the incubator always.

Never operate an incubator near a stove, or in a room where the sun's rays can reach the machine.

Wash out incubator with hot water and soap, to which has been added a little disinfectant.

Don't let children near incubator, and also see that the thermometer is correct.

When incubating duck, turkey, or goose eggs in incubator, see that the eggs at back of tray do not touch thermostat.

When turning eggs with tray full, put some of the eggs in hot or cap; something that is not stone-cold.

Keep top of incubator clear, and never put coal-oil lamp on top of incubator.

Always wash hands before turning eggs, and never start turning until eggs have been in three days.

Remember to omit turning eggs in morning if you find temperature below 100 degrees. It will help to prevent chilling.

Do not cool eggs on morning of the night you are testing, or vice versa.

Grading Eggs

To comply with egg-grading regulations, only eggs of standard weight (24 oz. to dozen or over) should be set. Pullets laying small eggs may mean a difference of 10 cents per dozen less, at market prices.

Don't test eggs too often. Heat of light may kill germs.

Leave in doubtful eggs, but mark them for identification. Learn by experience.

If you get poor results with a good incubator and apparently good eggs, omit about half the cooling period in future hatches.

Remember a hot-water machine can dry out the eggs as quickly as a hot-air machine. A supply of moisture (in pans) is advisable from the start until the eighteenth night. Most incubators evaporate the egg too much. This means a smaller, weaker, and oftentimes deformed chick.

In a cold room in early spring the eggs will stand a higher temperature, 104 degrees on hang-up instead of 103 degrees. Contact thermometer (those that rest on the eggs) should remain at 103 degrees. Contact thermometers should not be moved all over the machine, but kept approximately in one place.

Prevent Rolling

After testing the eggs, those trays that are flat should have laths or sticks placed loosely each side of the eggs to prevent rolling and probable damage when trays are lifted.

Never use top of incubator for turning eggs on trays, unless top is big enough to accommodate tray entirely. Better to use table. The tray should never overhang as eggs thus exposed get cooled much faster.

Remember the colder the room the quicker the evaporation.

Don't expect an incubator to give 100 per cent hatch from eggs from unthrifty stock.

Keep all hatching eggs from frost and mustiness.

Nest-litter needs to be changed frequently.

Eggs can be incubated after males of heavy-weight classes have been mated ten days and light-weight (Leghorns Anconas, Hamburgs, Campines, etc.) after seven days. Bright sunny days are very favorable for breeding purposes.

If incubator tray of eggs is left out by mistake, don't get alarmed. Put back in machine, and do not turn or open door of machine for at least twenty-four hours.

If lamp goes out, follow out advice given in preceding paragraph.

See that lamp-wick is renewed at each hatching. This is very important.

Trim wick and fill lamps late afternoon. Will ensure a steady flame during the night.

It is advisable to replace the burlap or screen in nursery compartment if it gets dirty. It is better than washing it.

If heating incubator by coal-stove, the addition of a little coke to the coal will work wonders, especially if the coal is slaty. Coke should never be put on until the fire is burning brightly.

Don't take chicks out of machine too soon, and when rmoving to brooder, see that basket or box is lined with warm cloth or blanket.

Natural Incubation

When starting to set hen, try warming the nest egg or eggs, especially if you move hen at night to strange nest.

In early spring eleven or twelve hens' eggs are sufficient for a medium-sized hen to cover.

It is poor policy to use old and dirty nest-boxes. Burn up old boxes, and use clean ones each year. The bigger the net-box, less chance of hen crushing eggs or chicks.

When using earth in bottom of nest, be certain to provide good depth of soft litter. Occasionally cold damp soil will chill the eggs.

Don't allow hen to sit too long without a "rest." She shoud be lifted off daily.

Shells from hatched eggs should be crushed up and fed hens.

Fowls fed plenty of greenstuff are more likely to lay eggs that will hatch strong chicks, especially if the breeding stock has plenty of range.

Thrifty breeding stock, properly housed, well fed, especially the male bird, means strong chicks.

Keep track of your hatches. The repartment supplies record forms for incubators, also sitting hens.

PLANTING FIELD BEANS

Of the various kinds of field beans the greatest demand is for the Common White, of which there are several named varieties such as Early Wonder, Scholfield, Elliott, etc. It is important to secure an early strain to test the germination, and to plant early in the month of June

Field beans are grown successfully or a great variety of soils. They do particularly well on fertile land which may be classed as loam, sandy loam gravelly loam, or gravelly clay. All soil for bean production should be well underdrained either naturally or artificially. With proper drainage even clay soils have produced beans satisfactorily in regard to both yield and quality. Beans do particularly well after clover or grass sod and are frequently followed by winter wheat in some localities and by spring grains in other sections. It is of great importance to have the land thoroughly cultivated and a seed bed which is both moist and mellow.

In those sections where field beans are grown extensively, bean planters are sometimes employed. On the beans are planted with an ordinmajority of farms, however, the ary grain drill by using every fourth tube. Three pecks per acre of the pea beans are usually planted on average soil. If the soil is particulary rich, however, the quantity might be reduced slightly. When the tops of the growing crop are dry the beans should be cultivated occasionally throughout the season to destroy the weeds and to form a fine surface mulch. —Dr. C. A. Zavitz, O. A. COUNCIL MEETING ATTRACTS WOMEN

CRANBROOK, March 13.—The regular business meeting of the city fathers attracted quite a good attendance on Friday last when about a score of women were present, being interested int he amending of the Road Tax bylaw which was passed giving the voting privilege to women as well as men who pay $2 to the city, to vote at future civic elections.

J. F. Guimont appealed to the council on behalf of the board of trade, and of which body he is chairman of finance, to continue their grant monthly of $25. He gave in detail the plans of the board along publicity lines, costing in the aggregate, $1000. At a later period of the session Mr. Guimont's request was acceded to.

Some discussion arose regarding the granting of a license for a pool room in the basement of the Hanson building, which was finally rejected on the motion of Aldermen McKinnon and Flowers.

The report of Chief Engineer Eassie showed the hindrance to the completion of general improvements at the reservoir owing to the ice.

Fire Chief Reece's report led to the question of the safety of the auditorium and on motion of Aldermen Flowers and Balmont, the proprietors of that building will be requested to make necessary alterations in keeping with the fire regulation bylaw.

For the health and relief committee Alderman Dunn reported that fifteen families had been given assistance during the recent epidemic. The number of first aid men in the lumber camps had proved of invaluable assistance and conditions had been much more satisfactory in dealing with this year's epidemic. The citizens had exhibited a ready willingness to do their utmost for stricken families and the low death rate testified to the adequate nursing and attendance both in the city and surrounding camps.

Mr. Ashworth, president of the G.W.V.A., and Major Hicks, interviewed the council for financial assistance, having spent $6000 on remodelling and repairing their quarters. Of this amount they were $2500 deficient, and had a further expenditure of $1500 in view. Major Hicks, in endorsing the remarks of the president, requested that money be given the association rather than a great welcome-home banquet, which was a project discussed by the 1919 council. The matter was referred to the finance committee.

There were many requests from city officials and employees for increases of salary and the following monthly advances were made: city clerk $5; city engineer, $15; city stenographer $5; chief of police, $10; constable, $5; fire chief and two permanent men, $15, $20 and $10 respectively; volunteer firemen, $5 flat rate, and $2.50 for all calls. For work at fires, $2.50 the first hour and $2 each additional hour.

All city employees will receive 50c an hour, and will work an eight hour day.

The tax-rate for 1920 is set at 50 mills and provides well for public works department, street grading and sidewalk improvements.

The city clerk was instructed to write the provincial government seeking assistance to make necessary cemetery improvements.

Alderman Jones urged the need of a new one-ton Ford dump truck which will cost $1100, and a motion was carried to purchase same. Regarding the old truck, no action was taken.

On motion of Aldermen Dunn and Jones a vote of thanks was passed to all who assisted in any way during the epidemic.

RED DEMONSTRATIONS OCCUR IN VIENNA

VIENNA, March 14.—(Associated Press)—Demonstrations held today served as a safety valve for Vienna's discontented pan-Germans. Socialists, however, were really disturbed by the events in Berlin. Red flags were plentiful during the demonstrations, but the inscriptions on them were not violent, most of the reading: "Long live the world international."

Production of mines, shipyards and general industries in Germany is approaching a pre-war basis.

BOWSER ATTACKS GAME MEASURE

Objects to Board Being Given Power to Name Own Secretary

VICTORIA, March 15.—With the exception of some cross firing between the attorney-general and W. J. Bowser when the bill to amend the game act was in committee this afternoon, today's session of the legislature was devoted almost wholly with getting ahead with various bills. A grist of amendments to the game act were dealt wnith and some changes in the measure as drafted ordered. There are many more amendments still to be dealt with.

Mr. Bowser objected to the game board being given power to name its own secretary. He referred to the recent amendment to the forest act by which the timber scalers were to be taken from under the jurisdiction of the civil service act, and to the attorney-general's recent intimation that perhaps the provincial police also would be removed from the operation of that act upon which, he stated, the late premier, Mr. Brewster, had pinned his faith as an eradicator of the evils of patronage and the foundation of a competent service, and he argued it might be supposed that the next move was to take the game board's officials and employees out also.

He held that no appointments should be made except by the civil service commissioner, though he was willing to admit that so far, even the operation of the civil service act had been more or less of a farce.

The premier stated that wherever it was found the civil service act operated adversely to the economic administration of affairs, the government would not hesitate to amend it or otherwise deal with it. A number of minor bills were up for second rading. The debate on the new election act was proceeded with Charles F. Nelson, Slocan, approving of the provisions for absentee voting, especially as it would affect the miners and others away from home. M. A. MacDonald adjourned the debate.

OTTAWA, March 15.—Sir Louis Davies, chief justice of the supreme court, was this morning sworn in as administrator of the dominion to act during the absence of the governor general in England.

THIN PERSONS LIVE LONGER

Addressing a meeting of actuaries in Edinburgh Mr. Lewis Orr, General Manager of the Scotish Life Assurance Company, submited a table of standard weights showing how the build of an individual affected his longevity very considerably. The table which was the first of its kind produced in this country showed clearly the truth of the statement that the heavier the weight the shorter the life. From what they knew of German and Austrian insurance statistics they reached the not uninteresting conclusion that the Anglo Saxon, as presented by Great Britain the United States and Canada, was of considerably lighter type, for his height than the German and Austrian, roughly speaking to the extent of about one stone. This might possibly indicate a corresponding athletic superority of the Anglo-Saxon which may have been without effect on the outcome of the war.—London Times.

HULL, HELL AND HALIFAX

The traditional litany which Earl Haig quoted in Hull the other day:—"From Hull ,Hell and Halifax, Good Lord, deliver us"—has been explained by a modern critic as a corruption of "ull, Elland, Halifax." Elland being a neighboring town and the whole referring to a railway of exceeding leisureliness. But that is mere ingenuity, for the prayer is certainly as old as the seventeenth century, and probably had its origin in the unusually drastic treatment meted out by the two towns to vagrants and evil-doers.—London Express.

BOY AND THE BOSS

A boy's employer can be a valuable friend, says Forbes Magazine. The average boy craves good, strong friendships, and praticulary does he appreciate the friendly interests of a man who he admires and respects. Boys like to be noticed. Naturally affable and warm- hearted, they are suick to sense the lack of friendly feeling on the part of anyone with whom they come in contact. Too often a boy and his boss are perfect strangers. The boss is too busy to take notice of the boy. He issues orders in a cold-blooded manner and expects perfect obedience. He does not try to incourage the boy; he does not try to gain his confidence.

There is no excuse for such a relationship. The employer is not only failing to do his duty, but he is showing poor business judgment. Only when he becomes the friend and counsellor of the boy does he really get the boy's best efforts. Not until the boy looks upon his employer as a friend will he work with that abandon and enthusiasm which is always prompted by love and respect.

Two hundred London firms have adopted a scheme promoted by King George to re-employ disabled soldiers and sailors.

CITY SEEKS DOPE UPON AIR HARBOR

Asks Conference With Air Board Official; Nelson to Pass Up No Bets

Passing up no bets whatever in regard to through tourist traffic and communications generally, Nelson last night took the first steps to get on the air map, the city council adopting a resolution instructing the city clerk to write to the dominion air board, requesting a conference with a representative of the board in regard to an air-harbor.

This action was taken on the motion of Ald. C. F. McHardy, who said if there was anything doing in the way of through air routes being mapped out, Nelson must be in on it. This followed the reading of a letter from the air board.

It was agreed that the subject of local facilities for a station for air traffic ought to be looked into, and action was taken accordingly.

The letter from the air board was written at Ottawa on Feb. 13, Col. O. M. Biggar, vice-chairman of the air board, being its author. Col. Biggar wrote as follows:

"I have the honor to enclose for your information a copy of the booklet containing the air regulations, 1920, and other material on the subject of air navigation, together with a reprint of an article published in the special aviation numbers of several papers on Dec. 5, 1919, with the approval of the right honorable chairman of the air board.

"Your attention is particularly directed to paragraph 92 of the regulations dealing with dangerous flying, and to paragraphs 2 (1) and 12 to 32 inclusive, dealing with airdromes and air harbors. The first mentioned paragraph is in substitution for the order-in-council of which I sent you a copy on Aug. 15, 1919, that order-in-council being now repealed.

"If your municipality desires to consider the question of establishing an air-harbor for air traffic to and from it, arrangements will be made to have an officer of the certificates branch discuss the subject with you and furnish any advice which you may find it useful to obtain from him."

MAID SERVANT IS FOUND STRANGLED

OAKLAND, Cal., March 15.—Waylaid on the streets in the centre of the fashionable residential section of Piedmont, Miss Ula Carlson, aged 19, a domestic, was strangled last night and her body thrown in the grass near the sidewalk. A man's handkerchief held tightly in her hand is the only clue as to the murderer. At a coroner's autopsy it was found that death was due to strangulation.

The custom of using a coat of arms is traced to early Biblical times.

NEED FUNDS FOR EXHIBIT OF ORE

Mining Committee Plans for Immediate Start on District Collection

Plans for the assembling of a thoroughly representative Kootenay-Boundary ore exhibit, and its appropriate staging at the international mining convention at Seattle, on April 7-10, were discussed at a meeting of the mining and industries committee of the Nelson board of trade yesterday afternoon, at which S. S. Fowler of Rossland, and F. A. Starkey, F. J. Boles, J. W. Mulholland and I. R. Poole were present.

It was decided to go out after a representative exhibit, and to put the thing through in a workmanlike fashion. Mr. Starkey's office will be the repository for all samples sent in or brought in, and in addition it is probable a man may be put in the field to go out and get ore in the localities where that could be done to advantage. Full particulars with each sample are requested, covering name, owner and location of property, description of ore with assays and position, and any other pertinent matter.

The exhibit will have to be accompanied to Seattle by a competent man, who will see it displayed to advantage, and give it proper publicity.

About $250 will be required to put the exhibit through in a way to be acredit to the district, the committee figured, and it was decided to ask subscriptions from the public up to that amount.

KOOTENAY OLD-TIMER LEAVING FOR COAST

According to word from Castlegar, James T. Lawrie, C. P. R. agent at that point, is about to leave, with his family, for the coast, where another post with the C. P. R. awaits him. Mr. Lawrie and his family have been residents of the Kootenay for 18 years.

FARMERS MAY PROMOTE LIVESTOCK INSURANCE

VICTORIA, March 15.—British Columbia dairy farmers are seriously considering the launching of a mutual livestock insurance company of their own. To prevent the spread of tuberculosis amongst cattle, many valuable animals are slaughtered each year, and the provincial government's compensation for such loss amounts to but one-third of the present value. The proposal calls for payment by farmers into a general insurance fund. No shares will be issued; no dividends paid. The idea is merely to create a compensation fund on the theory that all slaughterings of infected cattle promote the welfare of the entire industry.

BE CAREFUL WHAT YOU WASH YOUR HAIR WITH

Most soaps and prepared shampoos contain too much alkali, which is very injurious, as it dries the scalp and makes the hair brittle.

The best thing to use is Mulsified cocoanut oil shampoo, for this is pure and entirely greaseless. It's very cheap and beats anything else all to pieces. You can get this at any drug store, and a few ounces will last the whole family for months.

Simply moisten the hair with water and rub it in, about a teaspoonful is all that is required. It makes an abundance of rich, creamy lather, cleanses thoroughly, and rinses out easily. The hair dries quickly and evenly, and is soft fresh looking, bright, fluffy, wavy, and easy to handle. Besides, it loosens and takes out every particle of dust, dirt and dandruff.

What the Doctor Says about Twin Beds

IT is no new thought with you, of course—the idea of a separate bed for each member of the family.

This has been the custom with thousands of families for years—a rapidly spreading custom ever since Twin Beds put the separate bed at the service of households where space is limited.

IT is a thing, too, that doctors have long been urging. Not only for the warding off of infections, such as coughs, "sore throat" or grippe, but for the sake of sound sleep.

The restlessness of one sleeper does not disturb the other. And there isn't any loss of vitality—as there is when children sleep with old people, or invalids with the healthy.

But even in a separate bed you will never sleep soundly unless your bed invites perfect relaxation.

There is not a person anywhere but will sleep better for doing away with the creaky wooden bed or loose-jointed noisy metal bed and getting a Simmons Metal Bed instead—with Waldorf Box Spring, and Simmons Mattress and Pillows.

The Simmons Bed is noiseless. It locks firm at the corners. The corner locks are made of pressed steel—fit true and snug—not a creak, rattle or feeling of unsteadiness.

It is perfectly rigid—feels and moves like one solid piece.

The Simmons Pressed Steel Corner Locks are protected by basic patents—exclusive with Simmons Limited, not to be duplicated or imitated.

THE Waldorf Box Spring really does what you have always wanted a spring to do.

It invites complete relaxation.

It supports the body at ease on fine resilient spring coils—each coil conforming freely to the contours, so that the spine is perfectly rested, whether one sleeps on the back or on the side.

Simmons Waldorf Box Spring is covered with ticking of the finest grade and great wearing quality, in new and attractive designs.

It fits firmly on the bed—never sags or humps, never loses its resiliency.

And Simmons Mattresses and Pillows are in every way worthy to go with Simmons Metal Beds and Waldorf Box Springs.

THOUSANDS who for years have been "light sleepers," relax completely and sleep all night on a Simmons Metal Bed.

If you've been thinking of separate beds, you may be glad to know that Simmons Limited, are specialists in Twin Bed.

You'll find Simmons Metal Beds, Waldorf Box Springs, Simmons Mattresses and Pillows at your leading dealers.

Simmons Beds offer you unusual assortments in brass, colored enamel and natural wood effects—to harmonize with the interior decorations of the day.

And when you are selecting your Simmons Beds with an eye to their appearance in the room, you will see that Simmons has for the first time established beautiful and authoritative design in Metal Beds.

If you do not know the Simmons merchants in this section, we shall be glad to send you their names.

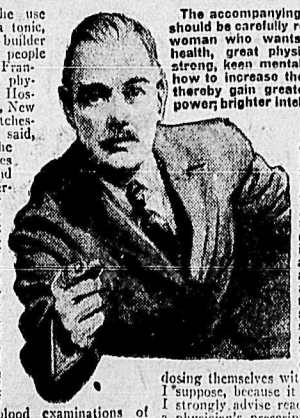
Physician Explains Who Should Take Nuxated Iron

Practical Advice on How To Help Build Up Great Strength, Energy and Endurance.



The accompanying article of Dr. Sullivan should be carefully read by every man and woman who wants to possess perfect health, great physical endurance and a strong, keen mentality. Dr. Sullivan tells how to increase the iron in our blood and thereby gain greater physical and mental power, brighter intellects and better health.

Commenting on the use of Nuxated Iron as a tonic, strength and blood builder by over three million people annually, Dr. James Francis Sullivan, formerly physician of Bellevue Hospital (Outdoor Dept.), New York, and The Westchester County Hospital, said, "Lack of iron in the blood not only makes a man a physical and mental weakling, nervous, irritable, easily fatigued, but it utterly robs him of that virile force, that stamina and strength of will which are so necessary to success and power in every walk of life. It may also transform a beautiful, sweet-tempered woman into one who is cross, nervous and irritable. I have strongly emphasized the great necessity of physicians making blood examinations of their weak, anaemic, run-down patients. Thousands of persons go on year after year suffering from physical weakness and a highly nervous condition due to lack of sufficient iron in their red blood corpuscles without ever realizing the real and true cause of their trouble." Without iron in your blood your food merely passes through the body something like corn through an old mill with rollers so wide apart that the mill can't grind.

For want of iron you may be an old man at thirty, dull of intellect, poor in memory, nervous, irritable and all "run down," while at 50 or 60 with plenty of iron in your blood you may still be young in feeling, full of life, your whole being brimming over with vim and energy.

But in my opinion you can't make strong, vigorous, successful, sturdy iron men, and healthy, rosy-cheeked women by feeding them on metallic iron. The old forms of metallic iron must go through a digestive process to transform them into organic iron—Nuxated Iron—before they are ready to be taken up and assimilated by the human system. Notwithstanding all that has been said and written on this subject by well-known physicians, thousands of people still insist on dosing themselves with metallic iron, simply, I suppose, because it costs a few cents less. I strongly advise readers in all cases to get a physician's prescription for organic iron—Nuxated Iron—or if you don't want to go to this trouble then purchase Nuxated Iron in its original packages and see that this particular name (Nuxated Iron) appears on the package. If you have taken preparations such as Nux and Iron and other similar iron products and failed to get results, remember that such products are an entirely different thing from Nuxated Iron.

MANUFACTURERS' NOTE:- Nuxated Iron which is used by Dr. Sullivan and others with such surprising results, and which is prescribed and recommended above by physicians is not a secret remedy, but one which is well known to druggists everywhere. Unlike the older inorganic iron products it is easily assimilated and does not injure the teeth, make them black nor upset the stomach. The manufacturers guarantee successful and entirely satisfactory results to every purchaser or they will refund your money. It is dispensed by all good druggists.

SEATTLE WINS; NOW GOES EAST

Vancouver Out of Running; Metropolitans Meet Ottawa for Stanley Cup

VANCOUVER, March 15.—Seattle and Vancouver hockey teams were weighed in the balance tonight and the locals were found wanting. Not only did the Metropolitans kick the props from under the Millionaires' championship aspirations but in so doing they amply demonstrated their superiority and unquestioned right to meet Ottawa for the Stanley cup. The final score was 6 to 0.

For five minutes tonight, Lloyd Cook and his crew loomed like the big noise in western hockey circes, but from then until the finish there was nothing to it.

Taking the ice with a two goal handicap, Seattle frisked the near champions for two goals a period by their steady combination and close back checking. Their defense, too, was working overtime.

While Vancouver, individually, worked equally as hard as th evisitors their efforts were wasted energy. Failure to pass the puck, gumming up the play when they did; shooting with little sense of direction, except at Holmes, and generally loading their play with errors of ommission and commission galore, they took the worst lacing that has been hung on them this season. On the other hand, Seattle went like world beaters. Checking every inch of the way, working in unity and never laging for a moment ,they displayed more class than they have shown here at any game this season.

Summary

First Period—(1), Seattle, Rickey from Murray, 16.25; (2), Seattle, Foyston from Rickey, :25.

Second Period—(3), Seattle, Foyston from Walker, 11:09; (4), Seattle, Foyston from Riley, 4:16.

Third Period—(5), Seattle, Walker from Riley, 18:25; (6), Seattle, Murray from Foyston, 1:25.

Those are the kind of coughs that are dangerous—that weaken the lungs so that the germs of consumption find a ready foothold.

We know of no remedy that will cure stubborn coughs—coughs that won't let go—like Dr. Wood's Norway Pine Syrup.

It allays the inflammation, soothes the irritation and heals the diseased mucous lining of the lungs and bronchial tubes.

Mrs. Geo. Allen, Petite de Grat Bridge, N.S., writes:—"Last winter I had an awful cough that kept me in the house for over two months. I tried several cough remedies, but got no relief. I was almost discouraged when a grocer here offered me a bottle of Dr. Wood's Norway Pine Syrup. After taking that one my coughing began to cease. I took two more and they cured me completely."

CITY TAX RATE WILL BE HIGHER

Forty Mills on Lands and Fourteen Mills on Half of Improvements

1920 Estimates	$95,000
1919 Estimates	79,000

1920 Tax Rate

Interest and sinking fund 15½ mills on lands.
General rate, 8½ mills on lands.
Library, 1½ mills on lands.
School requirements, 14½ mills on lands and on 50 p.c. of improvements.
Total tax rate, 40 mills on lands and 14½ mills on 50 per cent of improvements.

A tax rate for 1920, of 40 mills on lands and 14½ mills on 50 per cent of improvements, was struck by the city council last night, and bylaws making effective the several rates given in the table above, were put through all stages.

The total demands of the city for 1920 are estimated at $95,000 above receipts from other sources than taxes, against $79,000 levied last year. As the assessment is that of last year, except for insignificant changes, the tax rate necessarily goes up.

Regrettable Necessity

It was stated that the members of the council regretted the necessity of raising the tax rate, and in that connection asked the attention of the ratepayers to the fact that the increase was occasioned by an increase of some $14,000 in the school estimates, together with the $2500 required for the library.

The interest and sinking fund charges to be met by the city in 1920 amount to $53,403.50, of which sum $33,923.67 must be derived from taxation. From this latter fund may be deducted $6540.85, which is interest and sinking fund on school debentures of $75,000, leaving $27,382.82 to be raised by taxation for the city's general debentures account.

The school board's requirements from the taxes is $50,359.85. The board's estimates for 1920 are $58,379, but these are reduced by the provincial grant of $14,560, to $43,819, which sum, with $6540.85 required for interest and sinking fund makes up the $50,359.85 levied.

Approximately $16,000 will be available for general purposes for running the city.

After the rate bylaws were put through a general discussion on the year's program of improvements took place.

Street and Water Issues

Mayor J. A. McDonald advocated improving the streets with the proceeds of a debenture issue of $20,000, the debentures to be sold locally. He said it was impossible to do any road work out of revenue. Incidentally he suggested that the board of works go into the question of buying a small compressor to replace hand work in drilling at the city quarry on Park street.

Ald. J. O. Patenaude said water came first, and Ald. John Bell seconded this view. Replacing the main pipeline from Cottonwood creek is billed for this year, and an issue of debentures will provide the funds.

Ald. A. A. Perrier held that the condition of the city's streets, particularly up the hill, was a disgrace.

New Power Revenue

Ald. Patenaude said the city should make a special effort to sell its surplus power, and get something for it. A half rate might attract small industries that would be an asset to the city.

The mayor said, in his opinion it would be poor business for the city to pay off its liabilities and the citizens go in mud up to their necks, for the next 50 years. Nelson's liabilities were light, he said, in comparison with those of most cities, and street improvements through debenture issues were fully warranted.

Ald. C. H. Bean pointed out that the funds for street improvement at present in sight were limited in the extreme.

AUXILIARY BUILDS UP MEMBERSHIP

Twelve new members were enrolled in the ladies' auxiliary to the Y. M. C.A yesterday afternoon at the monthly meeting held in the Y.M.C.A. Mrs. H. E. Dill was in the chair. The meeting was called for the purpose of enlightening possible members on the work and aims of the auxiliary. Refreshments were provided and the afternoon spent in social intercourse, Miss Ethel Morrison assisting with several piano seections during the afternoon.

DEFINE DAIRY OR AMEND A BYLAW

City Council's Studies in Milk Result in Definite Line Being Drawn

Following a fortnight's deep study which the members of the city council did not give to the complicated and stringent milk bylaw, it was decided last night to take for granted that the bylaw was a model measure to govern actual dairies, and that individual owners of family cows should be exempted from the expensive equipment requirements through either a definition of a dairy formally adopted by the city council, or an amendment to the bylaw drafted by the city's legal aid, James O'Shea.

The council decided to do this graceful sidestep after a long and earnest discussion, in the course of which Dr. Isabel Arthur, city health officer, asked for definite instructions whether she was to issue certificates strictly in accordance with the bylaw, or make an allowance for the small dealers, and the city clerk, W. E. Wasson, asked to be instructed on whether he was to refusee licenses to cow-keepers if they did not have said certificates.

Two weeks ago the city officials received lots of blame for the fact that the milk bylaw had been on the books for five years without strict enforcement to the letter.

The only member of the council last night we regarded the bylaw as a thing of beauty was Ald. John Bell, who had a hand in framing it years ago. He said the city had a good milk bylaw and should keep it.

All the other members felt that it would legislate the family cow, who produced a little commercial milk on the side, out of business, by putting a prohibitive expense on the owner.

Ald. J. O. Patenaude said all the real dairies were complying with the bylaw largely, and all the trouble came from the parasites. Mayor J. A. McDonald objected to this epithet being applied to the man with a large family who sought to economize by having a cow.

Dr. Arthur's Report

Dr. Isobel Arthur's report was as follows:

"In regard to the dairies, I wish to state that I visited all of them except the City Dairy as reported at the last meeting.

"All the dairies and stables need white-washing, but my visit was made just before the time when that should be done. It will be done, however, as soon as the weather will permit. Most of them were suffering from shortage of water, their water supply being frozen up, and consequently they were working under great difficulties.

"At the Cameron dairy the stables were not adequate, but as they have everything in readiness to build new ones as soon as spring comes, they will soon be in a position to come up to the requirements of the bylaw in that respect.

"At the Shirley dairy there is very little equipment, and a good deal of money will have to be expended in order to put it in the condition required by the bylaw.

"Besides the regular dairymen there are a number of people selling milk who are not regularly in the business, and so have none of the equipment required by the bylaw.

"I wish to state that in my opinion all the dairymen should be given a copy of the bylaw, and instructed to put their premises in a condition to conform to it, and when they have done that they should be protected in every way."

Another report showed that tests made of the milk of the Dominion, Rosemont, Shirley, City, Cameron, and Nelson dairies showed all above standard in butter fat. Sediment tests were not so uniformly satisfactory, some of the milk evidently having contained grains of dust. It was decided that Dr. Arthur should notify the dairies that the standard must be lived up to in this respect.

LAUNCH CLUB ELECTS OFFICERS

Plans for New Club House Are Referred to the Executive Committee

At a meeting of the Kootenay Launch Club, last evening in the board of trade rooms ,officers were elected for the current year, the financial statement was presented, and the executive commitee was instructed to have a new service room built, and to report back to the club its views on the plans for a new club house. Commodore L. B. de Veber was in the chair.

The financial statement showed the club to be in a good position their being about $2100 in hand.

Plans for a proposed new club house to replace the one burned down last year were submitted at the meeting. These called for the erection of a frame building, about 60 feet fong by 30 feet wide, divided into one large room, about 28 feet wide running the whole length of the building ,and two small rooms to be used as dressing rooms. The rooms would be covered by a ceiling at a height of 12 feet, and covered by a galvanized iron roof, which would extend over a 10 foot landing platform also running the length of the building and facing riverwards.

Considerable discussion was aroused over the plans, some of the members contending that the building which would cost in the neighborhood of $3100, would be too large and expensive for their needs. Others were of the opinion that such a building would provide for the growth of the club, and be a distinct asset to the city's attractions. The matter was left for the consideration of the executive conimittee with instructions to report back to the members.

New Service Room

All those present were unanimously in favor of the erection of a new service room, and the installation of a telephone, and the committee were instructed to have the work accomplished as soon as possible.

The executive for the current year, as shown by the election of officers will consist of: Commodore L. B. de Veber, who was re-elected; captain, R. H. Carley; secretary-treasurer, H. C. Irving, who was also re-elected; board of governors, J. P. Forde, Alex Leith, and G. S. Hawthorn.

Members present at the meeting were: L. B. de Veber, H. C. Irving, Geo. Horstead, C. D. Risk, J. F. Hume, J. A. Irving, W. M. Cunliffe, P. G. Morey, Alex Leith, E. Doucette, A. Choquette, W. R. Jarvis, A. L. Wilson, H. A. Masters and J. M. Ludwig.

NELL SHIPMAN
Sixteen varieties of wild animals shown. Dolores, the naked swimming girl of the north woods, is as pure as the crystal waters into which she plunges. An artistic and unusual picture. Better than "Tarzan of the Apes."
Don't forget—For Two Nights Only.
