OLD CITADEL CAPITULATES TO PRINCE

MAGNIFICENT RECEPTION IS TENDERED BY ANCIENT CAPITAL

CITIZENS OF QUEBEC GREET H. R. H. WITH LOUD CHEERS

All Newspapers in City Pay Sincere Homage to Eldest Son of King

QUEBEC, Aug. 21.—Glorious weather, unrivalled natural beauty, a big and fairly enthusiastic crowd all contributed to the magnificent reception tendered here this afternon by French Canada and the ancient capital to H. R. H. the Prince of Wales. The heir of the British throne landed from a fast steam yacht from the Renown a few minutes before six o'clock, while the marines were playing "God Save the King" to which the guns of the mighty warships and those of the old citadel responded as a formidable chorus. On the King's wharf, His Royal Highness, who was followed by the prime minister of Canada, Sir Robert Borden, was at once greeted by His Excellency, the Governor General, the Duke of Devonshire, the Lieut.-Governor of Quebec, Sir Charles Fitzpatrick, His eminence, Cardinal Begin, head of the Roman Catholic church in this country, the lord bishop of Quebec the provincial premier, Sir Lomer Gouin, the mayor of quebec, H. Lavigneur, and Brig.-Gen. Landry, commanding officer of the military district.

While exchanging congratulations with the official personages and quickly reviewing a guard of honor composed of veterans of the great war, His Royal Highness, by his juvenile and charming manner, captured the hearts of the elite society of Quebec, who greeted him with cheers and applause.

The salute of the guns was succeeded by a display of pyrotechnical bombs. Each explosion was followed by the unfolding in the air of the flag of one of the allies which ascended and descended gracefully in the skies while airplanes played in circles around them

Above the King's wharf, Dufferin Terrace was crowded with thousands of people looking down on the arrival of the fourth royal vistor on the spot which had seen the disembarkation of Samuel de Champlain and his men, 300 years ago.

At 6.15, leaving this inspiring scene, His Royal Highness and the Duke of Devonshire motored up to Upper Town through Mountain Hill and St. Louis street where stood thousands and thousands of cheering Canadians of both creeds, while the bells of all the churches were ringing to tell the distinguished visitor that his family is loved and respected.

The decorations everywhere were splendid. Never has been seen in Quebec such a display of flags, bunting and oriflammes. In three or four different places arches had been built on the road leading to the citadel and on the dark green of fern foliage and spruce huge signs of welcome were to be seen in French and English. The Chateau Frontenac, on the site of the first residence of the French governors of Canada, had a gorgeous display of electrical decorations with the coat of arms of the Prince of Wales in the centre and appropriate inscriptions.

But one of the features of the day and one that must have pleased the Royal guest, was the density the multitude in the streets to see and cheer the prince.

There was a sure sign of the absence of all prejudice in this part of the country as far as loyalty to the crown is concerned, and it proves the sincerity of the homage of the French press, which together with their English fonfreres tended the most cordial welcome to His Royal Highness.

L'Acton Catholique, supposed to be the direct organ of Cardinal Begin, says that it is a pleasure to greet such a sympathetic member of the Royal Family, when all French Canadians have been taught to pray for the King in the singing every Sunday of the Catholic hymn, "Domine, Salvum Fac Regem," which is the Latin translation of "God Save The King."

Another well known Conservative newspaper of Quebec, L'Evenment, recalls the granting of religious and political liberties to Canada by Victoria the Good, and expresses the hope that there will be as much gratitude as loyalty in the cordiality of the reception tendered to the Prince in this part of the country.

The Liberal daily, Le Soleil, writes in the same spirit that French Canada is as ready as ever to fulfill its obligations towards the British sovereigns and pays a high tribute of admiration to the Prince, who as a youth is so devotedly engaged in his training as a king-to-be in the largest empire of the world.

STATES CONTROL PRICE OF SUGAR

Retailers to be Liable Under Food Control Act Which Is Before House Today

WASHINGTON, Aug. 21.—Active control of sugar prices was resumed by the government today, through an agreement reached between the department of justice and the food administration that licenses will be revoked by the later when it is shown dealers have been profiteering. Sugar should reach the consumer at approximately 11 cents a pound, it was announced, based on the ownership of the entire domestic and Cuban crop by the United States sugar equalization board which is selling to refiners at 7.28 cents a pound. Refiners are under contract with the board t sell at nine cents, less two per cent discount for cash. Wholesalers and jobbers are allowed a maximum of 68 cents per hundred pounds for handling, and retailers are permited a profit of one and one half cents per pound, making a fair price 11 cents, except in cases where dealers have purchased at an "unreasonable" price due to the misunderstanding in the trade. When this is a fact, a reasonable advance over the actual cost will be permitted.

With the house agricultural committees amendment for extension of the powers of the food control act before it, the house was prepared to take action tomorrow on the amendment and thereby make its first extensive step towards beating down living costs. The amendment which was reported to the house today by a unanimous vote, includes retailers among those liable under the food control exercised over sugar, officials believe the law will do much to curtail profiteering by retailers.

CONSIDERATION OF IVENS APPEAL IS POSTPONED

TORONTO, Aug. 21.—Owing to the fact that the required number of members of the board of appeal of the Methodist church could not be obtained at yesterday's session, consideration of the appeals 'of William Ivens, Winnipeg, and A. E. Smith, Brandon, prominent in the Manitoba strikes, against the action of the Manitoba conference has been indefinitely postponed. The statement was made today by Rev. Dr. S. D. Chown, general superintendent of the Methodist church. All that took place at the meeting was the reading of the document addressed to the board of appeals, he said.

SIR ARTHUR IS HONORED IN QUEBEC

MONTREAL TENDERS CIVIC RECEPTION TO CANADIAN COMMANDER

ONE OF MOST BRILLIANT FUNCTIONS HELD IN CITY

General Currie Gives Reminiscences of His Exp riences During the War in France

MONTREAL, Aug. 21.—Following the civic reception tendered General Sir Arthur Currie this afternoon, one of the most notable military and civilian demonstrations ever held in Montreal took place at the Ritz Carleton hotel tonight, when General Armstrong and the officer of No. 4 district gave a banquet in honor of Gen. Currie, the Canadian corps commander. All those notable in the civilian and military population of Montreal attended one of the most brilliant functions in the annals of this city.

Under Orders From Foch

In his address, General Currie gave a series of reminiscences of the war and concluded with an explanation of the last few days of the conflict, pointing out why the Canadian corps had persevered in the fight to the last moment, taking and occupying Mons at a time when the announcement came that the armistice had been signed and the enemy beaten. This, General Currie said, had been done under direct order from Marsal Foch.

General Currie paid high tributes to the work of the Montreal battalions at the front and had especial praise for General Sir Frederick Loomis and the Highland brigade from Montreal.

The general's health was proposed by General Armstrong, who spoke of the work done by the Canadian corps commander. Another notable address was made by Hon. C. J. Doherty, minister of justice, who proposed a toast to the soldiers who never returned. This was drunk in silence. The function was ended by the singing of the National Anthem.

Memorable Reception

General Sir Arthur Currie was given a memorable reception when he rose to reply to the toast, the audience rising and cheering him again and again.

Speaking more directly to his many old comrades in arms, General Currie said that he had not been able to prepare any speech but would give a series of reminiscences of his views and that of the many officers he had served with. "This is my first visit to Montreal," he said, "and it is a happy one. With a very full heart I thank you all for the most generous reception you have given me. In fact I have met so many officers with whom I served overseas that it is like a home-coming to dine with you here and it is especially homelike when I hear your pipers, who I heard so often in France with the Highland brigade."

GOOD PRICES FOR BIG APPLE CROP

Best in Past Ten Years States Manager of Union—Grade Requirements Higher This Year

"The crop is the largest and cleanest we have ever had and the prices are the highest we have had for the past 10 years," was the optimistic statement made yesterday by E. Norman, manager of the Kootenay Fruit Growers' union, in discussing the apple prospects for the year. The great drawback so far encountered on the prairie markets this year, he stated, was the sugar situation, which had prevented the marketing of a large quantity of the soft fruits.

He was pleased to be able to say that the growers were always improving their pack, but it was still a long way from what it could and would be. The requirements as to grade are higher this year than ever before and the Fruit Marks act will be strictly enforced.

Mirror Lake and Kaslo, he felt sure, will have bigger crops of apples than last year and, in fact, bigger crops than they ever had, and it will be well grown, good, big fruit. Kaslo, he thought, had suffered slightly from the drought.

In the majority of cases the divorce applications are being made by soldiers who have returned to find their wives have been unfaithful.

The cost of obtaining a divorce is from $200 up, according to lawyers.

WILD WEST SHOW FOR THE PRINCE

Spectacular Entertainment Is Planned by the City Officials at Saskatoon

SASKATOON, Aug. 21. — All arrangements have now been completed between the city and the Knight-Watson Ranching company of Lethbridge for the staging of a stampede in this city September 10-12, when the Prince of Wales is present. The agreement was drawn up at a meeting in the exhibition officer last night.

While the official reply to Mayor MacMillan from Colonel Henderson with regard to the Prince's wishes, has not yet been received, still in view of the intimations already received that the Prince of Wales is desirous of seeing a real wild west show, the acting committee fully expect this will be in the affirmative and will be received today.

Some slight changes may be necessary in the itinary set out for the royal visit to this city, as the stampede will occupy much of the time which otherwise would be taken up with other entertainment.

The repeal of the law becomes effective after the clocks are turned back to normal in October. It is one of the very few measures which have twice been vetoed by a president and have become laws in spite of the veto.

EXPECT EARLY WITHDRAWAL OF TROOPS FROM MEXICO

SAN ANTONIO, Texas., Aug. 21.—While official information is not available at southern department headquarters, army officers expect early withdrawal of the eighth cavalry troops pursuing Mexican bandits in the mountainous district of Northern Chihauhau.

Removal today of the Alpine base from Presidion north to Marfa is taken as an indication that pursuit has shifted westward instead of continuing up the Rio Conchas. Marfa as a base would be nearer to the troops moving westward.

MORE HARVESTERS ARRIVE

WINNIPEG, Aug. 21.—Three thousand five hundred harvesters from the east arrived in the city today, and four more trains are expected tomorrow, and these will be the last of the excursion specials for the season. The number of men who have come from the east is well below the figure asked for, 18,000, but the authorities declare that it will be ample for requirements, considering that in harvesting is now well advanced.

EXPECT GREATER CROPS NEXT YEAR

Hundreds of Soldiers Returning to Fruit Ranches in the District—Will Give Added Stimulus

Hundreds of ranches owned by soldier owners on the outbreak of war are now being reclaimed and as a result I would not be surprised if the district had double the crop of fruit next year it has this year," stated E. C. Norman, manager of the Kootenay Fruit Growers' union, yesterday.

Mr. Norman states it is surprising the number of returned men who are coming back to take up their property again. They are now busily engaged in preparing the places over again, spraying, pruning and fixing them up and the result, he believes, will give a wonderfully added stimulus to the fruit growing industry of the district.

PEACE CONFERENCE IS DISCUSSING VACATION

PARIS, Aug. 21.—There is much discussion of a possible vacation for the peace conference, but this is bitterly opposed by many members, who insist that it is impossible for the conference to take a recess until the Austrian treaty is disposed of at least. This probably cannot be before September 1.

After the Austrian treaty is signed, the Bulgarian treaty will be handed to the Bulgarian delegation. It is likely that the conference will have two or three weeks respite while the Bulgarians are considering their reply, as the Turkish question is at a standstill until it becomes clear whether the United States will accept the Armenian mandate.

BRITISH PREMIER WRITES OF SPEECH

Ready to Protect Public from the Harmful Effects of Trusts and Combines

LONDON, Aug. 21.—Premier Lloyd George has written to the press to the effect that the discussion of certain highly controversial points in his recent speech in the house of commons has obscured other parts which are of vital concern to the country and deserve full discussion before parliament is asked to legislate thereon.

He accordingly furnishes a summary of the government's program as set forth in his speech, adding several proposals to which he says he did not have time to refer to in his speech.

One proposal is to establish a department of standards to promote and assist standardization in technical trade matters, which he regards as increasingly important to British industries.

Another point is his intention to introduce legislation to secure adequate measures permanently to protect the public from the harmful effects of trusts and combines, should such protection become advisable. His mention of this subject in his speech referred to only a period of six months under the profiteering act.

FIRES DO DAMAGE IN THE STATES

Vast Stretches of Valuable Timber Are Laid Waste in Montana and Idaho

In the Coeur d'Alene forest $80,000 worth of white pine timber in one stretch was laid waste tonight and other sections of the same forest were aflame.

Timber valued at thousands of dollars is being destroyed in the Selway forest, according to reports to federal forest officials.

In Montana several fires are causing heavy damage. In the Bitter forest efforts to check the flames have met with no success, but the situation about Missoula is improved, the flames that swept the Snake valley have been entrenched.

INSUFFICIENT CONSIDERATION GIVEN SAFETY

TIMES FORECASTS REPORT OF THE DARDENELLES COMMISSION

ATTACKS AT ANZAC AND SULVA IS CRITICIZED

Agrees With Decision to Evacuate, but Points Out That It Was Unduly Delayed

LONDON, Aug. 21.—(Reuter's)—The Times forecasts that the Dardanelles commission's final report will find that insufficient consideration was given to ensure proper safety at the time of the original landing in 1914. The difficulties at the same time were greatly under-estimated and the commission strongly criticizes the attacks made at Anzac and Sulva. The failure is largely attributed to faulty leadership, censuring several commanders, particularly at Sulva.

The report unhesitatingly agrees with the decision to evacuate, but states that the decision was unduly delayed and expresses the opinion that Monroe's view, confirmed by Kitchener, ought to have been decisive.

The commission adversely criticizes the breakdown of the water supply and the arrangements for the evacuation of the wounded.

GENERAL HOGARTH REACHES HALIFAX

Declares That He Is Coming Home With Virus of Partisanship Removed From His Mind

HALIFAX, Aug. 21.—Among the officers returning on the Baltic was Major General Don Hogarth, M.L.A., of Port Arthur. Gen. Hogarth said it was his purpose to get back into civilian life as soon as possible. As regards the political situation in Canada, he said he was coming back with an open mind and prepared to follow the party which, in his judgment, delivered the goods, in the matter of leaders and platform. The virus of partisanship had been completely expelled from his system as a result of his experience overseas.

The war had brought about an entirely new situation in Canada and a vigorous policy of reconstruction was necessary if the country was to measure up to the opportunity before it.

As far as he was personally concerned, party names as they existed previous to the war were shibboleths which no longer moved him. He whistled when told that MacKenzie King had been selected to head the Liberal party, and then followed up with the single exclamation "Good."

Gen. Hogarth paid a tribute to the work of Sir A. E. Kemp, stating that he had succeeded in co-ordinating into a single effort, the work of the Canadian army in France and England. This was a most essential thing and no man better fitted for the job could have been selected.

"I bold no brief for Kemp," said the general. "I left him as I went to him, as regards rank and emolument, but I do say that no man could have achieved the task assigned him better than Kemp."

Gen. Hogarth said there was approximately 15,000 Canadians, including dependents, yet to be repatriated.

The process would be increasingly slow as time went on, owing to the present policy of the steamship lines of taking their steamers off the routes for overhauling.

Western Arrivals

The list of western officers on the Baltic follows: Lieut. Hislop, Vancouver; Lieut. H. Flanigan, Vancouver; Lieut. N. C. Cryer, British Columbia; Lieut. C. B. Bains, Duncan, B.C.

Among the civilian passengers arriving on the Baltic this afternoon was Lord Finlay, former lord chancellor of England, who is proceeding to Winnipeg for the purpose of addressing the Dominion Bar association, his lordship stated he would speak on the relationships existing between Great Britain and the Dominion and discuss phases of international law. He stated further that he proposed to make no formal address while in the United States following the Winnipeg convention.

GOOD ROADS WOULD ATTRACT INVESTORS

Much Travelled American Cleric Is Highly Impressed With Kootenay and Boundary

"All you need is a few roads into and throughout the country and I am sure Americans will flock into this district in hundreds both as investors and as tourists," was the manner in which Rev. W. W. Weeks of Springfield, Mass., expressed himself on the occasion of his visit last week-end with E. Norman of the Kootenay Fruit Growers union to Kootenay Lake points including Mirror Lake.

Rev. Mr. Weeks had travelled throughout practically the entire west but this was his first visit to Kootenay and the Boundary and his impression was that this was a district which had a climate hard to equal. Eastern people were not in it as far as apples were concerned as local fruit, in his opinion, was away ahead of anything they had now in the east.

Mr. Norman states Mr. Weeks had never seen in all his travels anything even approaching the Bing and Lambert cherries there are in the district.

WOULD HAVE DEMONSTRATION CAR OF KOOTENAY PRODUCTS

A demonstration car of Kootenay fruit, lumber, minerals, honey and all the various products of Kootenay and Boundary which would tour the prairie provinces under the supervision of a capable man who would be able to furnish accurate and excellent information regarding the district its development and possibility is the suggestion which has been under discussion in Nelson during the past few days.

The idea of the car, it is stated, was that it should be transported from town to town on the prairies and the exhibition of products made in each place so that some little idea might be given of what Kootenay and Boundary really has.

Coupled with the suggestion of the car was one that the fruit on exhibition at the annual fall fair should be obtained for such a car the stipulation being made when it was shown that it could be taken for this purpose.

LEMON JUICE TAKES OFF TAN

Girls! Make bleaching lotion if skin is sunburned, tanned or freckled

Squeeze the juice of two lemons into a bottle containing three ounces of Orchard White, shake well, and you have a quarter pint of the best freckle, sunburn and tan lotion, and complexion beautifier, at very, very small cost.

Your grocer has the lemons and any drug store or toilet counter will supply three ounces of Orchard White for a few cents. Massage this sweetly fragrant lotion into the face, neck, arms and hands each day and see how freckles, sunburn, windburn and tan disappear and how clear, soft and white the skin becomes. Yes! It is harmless.

THIN, FRAIL FOLKS NEED PHOSPHATE

Nothing Like Plain Bitro-Phosphate to Put on Firm, Healthy Flesh and to Increase Strength, Vigor and Nerve Force

Judging from the countless preparations and treatments which are continually being advertised for the purpose of making thin people fleshy, developing arms, neck and bust, and replacing ugly hollows and angles by the soft curved lines of health and beauty, there are evidently thousands of men and women who keenly feel their excessive thinness.

Thinness and weakness are usually due to starved nerves. Our bodies need more phosphate than is contained in modern foods. Physicians claim there is nothing that will supply this deficiency so well as the organic phosphate known among druggists as bitro-phosphate, which is inexpensive and is sold by the Canada Drug & Book Co. in Nelson, and most all druggists under a guarantee of satisfaction or money back. By feeding the nerves directly and by supplying the body cells with the necessary phosphoric food elements, bitro-phosphate quickly produces a welcome transformation in the appearance; the increase in weight frequently being astonishing.

This increase in weight also carries with it a general improvement in the health. Nervousness, sleeplessness and lack of energy, which nearly always accompany excessive thinness, soon disappear, dull eyes become bright, and pale cheeks glow with the bloom of perfect health.

CAUTION:—Although bitro-phosphate is unsurpassed for relieving nervousness, sleeplessness and general weakness, it should not, owing to its remarkable flesh-growing properties, be used by anyone who does not desire to put on flesh.

KASLO RETURNED MEN ORGANIZED

Form Branch of Great War Veterans Association—Officers Elected—Club Rooms Secured

With an initial membership of 25, Kaslo returned soldiers have organized a branch of the Great War Veterans' association, according to information received yesterday by W. M. MacIntosh, secretary of the local organization. It is expected the Kaslo branch will be affiliated with the Kootenay branch, Nelson, in which case that organization is only the forerunner of a number of them in the communities throughout the district.

The officers elected by the Kaslo returned men were: President, D. S. O. Strathearn; secretary-treasurer, Allan W. Anderson; vice-president, W. M. Billings; executive committee, W. L. Cockle, W. H. Dunn and Frank Abbey.

It is the intention that these officers shall remain in office for a period of three months when another election will be held. The main lake veterans report they have now secured nice new club rooms and expect to have every success with their new organization.

VETERANS HAVE TEN THOUSAND MEMBERS

Association Grows Rapidly—Many Voluntary Requests for Branches Says Provincial President

The Great War Veterans' association of British Columbia has a membership of 10,000 and it is growing every day, according to Capt. C. W. Whittaker, provincial president of the organization who is visiting the district and spent yesterday in Nelson. The association is growing wonderfully an dvoluntary requests for the establishment of branches in various parts of the province are being received almost daily. The membership of the association for the entire Dominion he states is 100,000.

"As the returned men get back and are placed in their various civilian occupations they realize the value of the organization and that they must organize and unite for their specific purposes," continued Capt. Whittaker.

He yesterday met the executive of the local branch of the G.W.V.A. and discussed a considerable number of matters of importance to the welfare of the returned men of the district.

In his tour through the interior Capt. Whitaker is visiting the various military hospitals on behalf of the association. Prior to coming here he had visited Tranquille and Royal Inland hospitals at Kamloops. He yesterday visited Kootenay Lake General hospital and today he is visiting the sanitorium at Balfour. He will spend the week end in Nelson leaving on Monday via the Kettle Valley for the coast, visiting Penticton en route.

Capt. Whitaker is well known in Kootenay and Boundary having resided in Phoenix from 1906 to 1908. He enlisted with the 131st batalion, but resigned his commission in that unit to proceed overseas in the ranks of the 196th battalion. He afterwards received his commission overseas and served in the ranks of the 102nd batalion with which unit he was wounded. He has a considerable circle of friends in Nelson of whom he was the guest yesterday.

DOMINION EXPERIMENTAL FARM TO EXHIBIT HERE

Word has been received by George Horstead, secretary of the Nelson Agricultural and Industrial association that the Dominion government will have an exhibit at the annual fall fair which is to be held in Nelson on Sept. 23, 24 and 25 next in the form of a display from the Dominion experimental farm at Invermere. It is anticipated that the display will cover pretty fully the development of that portion of the country.

The prize lists for the fair are expected to be out of the hands of the printers in a few days when it will be possible to obtain copies from Mr. Horstead.

AWAKENING CHINA VOWS DEMOCRACY

A refreshing and entertaining as well as instructive discourse on the Celestial empire was given at the Chautauqua last evening by Dr. Ng Poon Chew, to an audience that crowded the big tent. Speaking in a quaint and breezy way, but with a perfect command of English, the famous Chinese both informed and amused his hearers, as he pictured "The Awakening of China."

Canadian clothes cleaning establishments would press a pair of trousers while you waited, said Dr. Chew, but you could not have a republic made for you while you wait. When his American friends felt impatient over the slow progress of the young republic in China, he reminded them that the United States had not completed its system of government till 40 years after the war of independence. The American statesmen were constructing a new nation, of 3,500,000 people. Chinese statesmen had the task of reconstructing an old nation of 450,000,000 people. Considering the proportion of people in China conservatively inclined, it was fatuous to expect speedy results. As the Chinese proverb had it, "It is impossible to teach an old cow to climb a tree."

The old system of education in China used up-to-date text books that were written by Confucius, 550 before Christ. (Laughter.) To memorize these classics, the boys went to school at 4:30 o'clock in the morning, and left at 8:30 at night. It took five years to memorize them, and then they went to high school to learn the meaning of them. (Laughter.)

Modern Education

Now China was adopting a modern system of education, in which the leading European languages and Japanese were taught, and it had been decreed that all instruction in science should be given in English. No college degree could be obtained without English. When in the future all the leaders of China were men educated according to English standards and ideals, it was bound to be that China and the Anglo-Saxon nations should come close together. German used to be one of the languages taught before the war, but it had now been deleted from the curriculum as the dead language of the future. (Applause.)

Under republican institutions, including a universal system of education, a new race would be raised in China to fight for democracy.

Dr. Chew provided much entertainment in describing how western ideas on industry, social life, and the great adventure of matrimony, had displaced the ancient ideas and forms. In connection with the matrimonial system, he said that in the old days the children were betrothed to be married, sometimes before they were born. In those cases, the betrothal was necessarily conditional. (Laughter.) In these days, he said, young Chinese who had been educated in America or Europe did not even consult their parents, but got engaged on their own. "When love enters the heart, reason skidoos from the head," Dr. Chew remarked amid laughter, adding that the beautiful summer nights of China were now disturbed by the coolings and woolings of sentimental creatures.

To Raise Standing Army

Predicting that China would abandon its traditional policy of peace at any cost, and would go in for a standing army large enough to guarantee the country's territorial integrity and to maintain internal order, he said it had been China's misfortune in the past to have too many Bryans and too few Roosevelts.

Dr. Chew described the quarrel with Germany, which began with Germany seizing 200 square miles of port for 99 years, an indemnity for the killing of two missionaries. After the Boxer movement in 1900 had been suppressed, the German force of 5,000 men stayed after the other allies had dispersed, and carried out the kaiser's orders literally, for making the German name feared in China for 1,000 years. Previous history did not contain such a story as that of the German punitive expedition from Pekin westward, when the German soldiers slew every man, woman and child in their progress through the province, and filled the wells with the bodies of the slaughtered.

The people of China avowed revenge on Germany, and the chance came in the recent war. Though China did not go over the top, it put 500,000 able-bodied laborers behind the allies' lines, doing every manner of humble and necessary task that contributed to victory. Though they had not fought the Germans directly, China was proud of them, for in their unostentatious way they had truly fought for democracy. (Applause.)

MOUNTAINEERING TRIPS ARE LESSON ON RESOURCES

That the annual outings of the Kokanee Mountaineering club are a lesson on what resources the country possesses, and educate those who are privileged to make the trips to some extent in the manner in which these resources, particularly the timber, should be protected was the opinion expressed yesterday by a prominent member of the club.

It was pointed out that all those intending to make the trip should have their names in the hands of H. W. Robertson, secretary, before Wednesday next in order that provision may be made for handling the proper number.

DRAKE'S "SILVER MAP" BEING PUT UP FOR SALE

LONDON—To naval men and students of our maritime history and collection of medals formed by Admiral the Marquis of Milford Haven has long been known as commemorating the valorous deeds of British seamen since the days of Drake. This historic collection will be offered for sale at Sotheby's. One of the most important naval relics is to form the first lot in the dispersal, as it happens to be one of the oldest. This is Drake's "Silver Map", which the great seaman had engraved to represent in miniature the famous map made by Michael Mercator for display in Queen Elizabeth's gallery to show the track of the navigator's voyage around the world in the Golden Hind. The year of departure, "Exitus 1577," and of triumphant retur home, "Reditus 1580," are in this large plate, in all Drake had five made. One is preserved still with the Drake heirlooms at Nutwell Court, and of the four given to friends, two are in the British Museum, one in the Sir John Evans collection, and the one belonging to the Marquis, which weighs 278 grains troy.

Medals in honor of the defeat of the Armada are included, and three specially struck to signalize the British "Dominion of the Sea," in 1630, in 1639 and in 1615. Eleven commemorating the victory of La Hogue in 1692 and a fine series relating to Admiral Vernon and Portobello, 1739-41, with the 1756 "Less of Minorca" execrating Admiral Byng, followed by Hawke's triumph at Quiberon, 1759, and Rodney's "Capture of St. Eustatius," are other notable mementoes. Gold badges for Earl Howe's "Victory of the First of June, 1704," and "Nile" and "Trafalgar" emblems of Nelson are further prizes, with the grand finale in our own day, "Jutland, 1916" (three specimens), inscribed "The German High-Sea Fleet held against odds till routed by Invincible Might." And the thought arises, what engraver-medalist can adequately symbolize the sequel?

ELEPHANT HOLIDAY IN SIAM

When a king of Siam finds that the stock of tame elephants in the government stables is getting low he sends out an edict that a royal elephant hunt will take place. This order is received joyfully throughout Siam, for an elephant hunt is to this eastern country what a bull fight in Spain or what the Olympic games were to ancient Greece. A royal elephant hunt is staged only about once a year, and is enough of a spectacle to induce people from all over Siam to come to Ayutha, where the animals are to be brought when captured.

The Siamese jungle shelters great herds of wild elephants both with and without tusks, and occasionally a freak greyish specimen known as a white elephant. A white elephant when captured is kept in an atmosphere of great pomp in the royal stables and does not work. Other kinds become the burden bearers of Siam, from the king's own particular elephant to the animals that lift logs at the lumber camp.

NO KNOWLEDGE OF $1.80 PRICE

Minister of Trade and Commerce Says Ruling Affects Cost of Wheat to Consumer Only

OTTAWA, Aug. 21.—Enquiries concerning the fixing of a price of $1.80 per bushel for Canadian wheat by the British wheat commission are still reaching Ottawa, but the explanation of W. Sanford Evans, given in an interview last night, in Winnipeg, is borne out by Sir George Foster, acting prime minister and minister of trade and commerce. Sir George said tonight:

"Insofar as I have any knowledge of the fixing of a price of $1.80 per bushel for Canadian wheat by the British wheat commission, it is entirely a matter of internal arrangement by the British government.

"For the past two years, the British government has been buying the whole of the wheat imported and reselling the grain to the British millers. Now with the idea of giving the public a nine penny loaf, it has been decided to sell Canadian wheat to the miller for $1.80 per bushel and the British treasury will bear the cost of the additional sum, which must be paid in buying wheat to be imported to Britain."

In regard to the payment of an initial price of $2.15 per bushel, for wheat to the Canadian farmers by the Canadian wheat board, the order in council governing this operation fixes in detail the following prices, according to grades and localities. Manitoba, Saskatchewan and Alberta, No. 1 hard, $2.15; No. 1 Manitoba Northern $2.15; No. 2 Northern $2.12; No. 3 $2.08; No. 1 Alberta Red Winter $2.15; No. 2 $2.12; No. 3 $2.08.

British Columbia No. 1, $2.10 ½; No. 2, $2.07 ½; No. 3, $2.03 ½.

Ontario and Quebec No. 1, $2.18; No 2, $2.07 ½; No. 3, $2.03 ½.

TORONTO LIVESTOCK

TORONTO, Aug. 21.—The livestock market this morning was fairly steady and about on a par with yesterday There was a fair run but buyers complained that they were only getting medium stock. The principal demand still continues, with good prices for choice butcher and butcher cows.

In the sheep market this morning, the general run consisted chiefly of fair animals only. One batch, however, of spring lambs, sold as high as $17.75 per hundred weight, otherwise the prices remained approximately the same as yesterday. The market opened strong but finished weak.

Hogs took another drop of 50 cents today. $21.75 is the price offered for fed and watered animals. Packers, however, appear to be determined to reduce the price even further and although no quotations are offered as yet for Saturday's delivery still it is hinted that the price may fall to $20.00 to the farmer.

Today's receipts at the Union Stock yards were: 49 cars, 435 cattle, 121 calves, 1,120 hogs, 1,075 sheep.

MONTREAL HAS BUSY HALF SESSION; HONORS CURRIE

MONTREAL, Aug. 21.—This afternoon the Montreal stock exchange was closed of t' civic reception to General Currie, but busines during the morning session fell only 2,000 shares short of the full day on Wednesday, some 5,000 shares being dealt in. Bonds totalled $111,400, against $182,000 on Wednesday.

The market followed the characteristics the previous day, with possibly fewer net gains.

A hundred shares of Riordan sold at 132 ⅝, a net gain of ⅛ point. The most important declines were made by Brazilian at 50 ½, down 2 ¼ points; National Breweries, 172 ½, down 2 ½, with closing off a further 2 ¼ points to 170 ¼; Spanish River prefered 105, down 1 ½; Cement preferred 100; down 1 ½; MacDonald 30, down a similar amount; Shawinigan at 102; Merchants at 194, and Car preferred at 95 were down one point each

RALLY FOLLOWS EARLY DECLINE

British Exchange Rate Improves Three Cents to the Pound; Francs and Lires Better

NEW YORK, Aug. 21.—Virtually the same influence which participated in yesterday's depression in the stock market were prevalent for a time today, active shares declining two to seven points in the first half of the session, but rallying later.

The recovery of the last hour not only wiped out most losses, but many net gains of two to five points were made, in one instance, that of United Cigars, the gain being 17 points.

Sales amounted to 1,250,000 shares.

Foreign exchange, one of yesterday's demoralizing factors, was substantially better especially as to the British rate, which rallied over three cents to the pound, with moderate improvement in francs and lires

Call money retained much of yesterday's firmness, the initial rate of 5 ½ per cent being slightly advanced later. Time money was little changed, a six per cent rate ruling for all maturities

The extent of the industrial unrest was emphasized by the shutting down of the Great Northern Railway ore docks in Michigan, because of strike conditions and reduced capacity at several important mill centres.

A steady tone ruled in the bond market, the Liberty group and also internationals shading slightly with the general domestic issues. Sales, par value, $11,305,000.

Old U. S. bonds, Coupon 2's gained one point on sales; registered 2's rising ¼ to ½ per cent on call

THE BOY ON THE FARM

Every movement that primes to hold the boys to farming deserves attention. The big problem of food production is not going to be solved by getting inexperienced and poorly adapted city folk to take up agriculture. The country boy is at home in his environment; if we can find a way to keep him there a good many of our troubles will be over.—Portland Oregonian.

VIEWS OF A PROSPECTOR ON AIDS TO DEVELOPMENT

PAPERS READ BEFORE INTERNATIONAL MINING CONVENTION BY J. W. MULHOLLAND, MANAGER IVA-FERN MINE

In the following paper, which was read before the recent international mining convention, J. W Mulholland discusses the present mining conditions from the point of view of tthe prospector

As a prospector who has spent tthe best part of over 20 years in search of minerals, in that time covering a part of Oregon, Ihado and Washington, and an exceptionally large part of British Columbia, I came before you to give what help I can toward the betterment of the mining industry.

I need not go into the enormous possibilities we have in store in this province. Suffice it to say, there is an unlimited source of metals from the United States boundary on the south to the Alaskan boundary on the north, not one but several distinct mineral belts, carrying nearly all the known metals.

A slight part only of this vast mineral area was prospected by the old-time prospector—the few places which were easily accessible and nearest transportation; the balance has been practically untouched.

The whole northern interior, which was mentioned in the Vancouver convention by Mr. Fowler, has indications of large depositts of ore—silver, lead, copper and gold. Even as far north as the watersheds of tthe Mackenzie river, on the Liard, and on both the north and south Nahang rivers, plenty of gold has been found, and I believe in that same district some day will be found a second Klondike. The gravels of nearly all those streams carry a considerable quantity of the baser metals, with some platinum.

The only way to open up those districts will be for some prospector to make a strike large enough to draw capital.

Present Shippers' Old Locations

The districts which are closer at hand are easier at present, and what prospecting is done will naturally be done there, but even that to only a small extent. One way to prove this statement is to go over the list of shippers. Go over them carefully, and what do you find?

All those mines are old locations. Some of them may appear new, but they are old locations being wenly developed. Every old prospect wsa examined and investigated thoroughly in the past few years, on account of the high price and of the great demand for metals during the war period. The last few years very little prospecting has been done.

Now there must be some reason for the present conditions. A few of those reasons are very plain

Higher Ranges Covered

1. The early prospectors covered the higher ranges, and those places where the bedrock was mostly exposed, leaving the lower altitudes, which were covered with deep wash. Now these levels must be prospected with pick and shovel, which is very much harder as well as more expensive.

2. Conditions are so changed that the prospector must depend on the winter months alone for the following summer's expenses, the local grubstake being largely a thing of the past. Work in winter not having been very abundant during the war, many prospectors quit the game in disgust.

3. In the past 10 years hundreds of prospectors have crossed the great divide. They passed away without a thought being expressed of what the country was losing—they were regarded as only common mountain tramps. Unaided and on their own initiative, they accomplished great things. They were the real producers and made possible your great production of metals today. You cannot fill their place, and you have not even tried to prepare the coming generation to take up the work where they left off. Where is your mining engineer or professor of mineralogy and geology who puts on his pack and tramps the ranges to look for the stuff? Show me one who has produced one ounce of mineral, and I will make him an apology.

Trunk Trails Would Help

4. The provincial government should build trunk trails through all large mineral areas, which could be used as a base to prospect from.

5. Efforts should be made to bring back the prospectors who have quit, by making it worth their while. Courses could be given through the winter months. Wit htheir practical experience, these prospectors would repay this investment many times over. A thousand city pupils might be given this training, but how many would go into the hills?

6. In each recording office, maps of the mineral zones and all information regarding the district, should be available to help the beginner.

Prospectors' Cabinets

7. Each mineral survey district should contain a mineral cabinet, with samples from outcrops, the labels describing the conditions under which the minerals in question are found. This should contain samples of all the rarer minerals, as well as well as the commoner ones. Such a cabinet would be available for the prospector with unfamiliar ores he wanted to identify, and would be a great benefit in widening the prospector's range of knowledge.

8. Another great help would be to give the prospector the benefit of a report on his property. In some cases an expert report is absolutely necessary, and the ordinary prospector cannot afford to hire an engineer.

9. The prospector should get rates on all supplies, such as powder, caps, fuses, and so forth, while machinery for the extraction of gold should be allowed in the country free, all this machinery being made in the United States.

PRICES SOMEWHAT HIGHER ON CHICAGO CORN MARKET

CHICAGO, Aug. 21.—Selling pressure on the corn market today met with resistance and average prices were somewhat higher though at times the market fell off, particularly in midsession. Offerings were readily absorbed and each decline was followed by a rally. Corn closed strong, ¼ cent to 1 ¾ cent net higher, with September $1.84 ¾ to $1.85 and December 145 to 145 ⅛.

Oats closed ⅛ to ½ cents higher and provisions finished 25 cent to 55 cents higher.

HOLLAND'S DIAMOND TRADE WAS BRISK DURING WAR

NEW YORK.—Although the exports of diamonds from Amsterdam to the United States were relatively small in 1918, amounting to only $6,157,157 in polished stones and $4,166 in rough stones, business was really good for the Amsterdam sellers, according to the Bureau of Domestic and Foreign Commerce, as England, France, Sweden, Norway, Denmark and other countries bought unusually large quantities. It is also reported that Germany bought heavily.

Prices, the report states, advanced steadily during the year and reached heights never conceived of before. Demand had something to do with the advance, but the most important factor was the reduction in output of the South African mines. During the war the output decreased 40 per cent., and the mortality from Spanish influenza caused another reduction of 10 per cent., thereby causing that country to turn out but half the amount of diamonds formerly mined.

Wages rose about 20 per cent. during 1918, while the general cost of production was considerably augmented by the highly increased prices of coal, electric current, shellac, solder, copper and other materials. Great difficulties were encountered by the lack of phosphor bronze and of silliicium bronze wire, the export of which had been prohibited by the United States.

Of the 199 children enrolled in the two open-air schools in St. Louis, only eleven had influenza during the epidemic last winter, and only five cases of other communicable diseases common to children, were reported, according to the annual report of the institutions, just made public.

THE TARIFF ISSUE

It has been said that the tariff will be the chief issue in the next Dominion general election, whenever it may occur. Whether it is the chief issue or not remains to be seen. It will certainly be an important issue. The farmers of the prairie provinces have issued a challenge to Canada's whole fiscal policy. They have set their eyes toward free trade and the endeavoring to get the majority of Canadians to see with them. At the same time, under Mackenzie King, the Liberal party has adopted a resolution which is designed to please the low tariff party and at the same time not create too much disquietude in the minds of those who believe that Canada's prosperity, in fact its very industrial life, depends upon protection. There have been similar pledges by the Liberal party before, ranging from "free trade as they have it in England" to "tariff for revenue only"—neither of which it was ever attempted to fulfil.

If Canada adopted free trade, or departed from its policy of protection, it would commit industrial, commercial and economic suicide, and no one wants to see that brought about.

THE OLD COUNTRY BUYS COSTLY MEAT WHILE FISH WASTES

There are many angles to the cost of living and its causes. One of them is suggested by the fact that at the present moment there are more than 1,400,000 pounds of frozen Canadian fish of the highest quality in Great Britain that no one will buy.

The fish was sent overseas as military supplies, but the British people have never become accustomed to the use of frozen fish, and attempts to dispose of it for civilian consumption have failed.

Fish, to the ordinary man, will never be as attractive as good roast beef, or mutton or pork. He will eat fish occasionally, but never as a steady diet if he can buy meat. The people of Great Britain, in spite of the high cost of meat, are able to buy it and nearly a million and a half pounds of fish will go to waste. Even frozen fish will not last for ever.

THE DEVELOPMENT OF THE SOCIAL CONSCIENCE

A man of science who has had much to do with its organization for the purposes of war, gave me the other day a striking account of its prowess, if that is the right word to use, says a writer in the New York Nation. He insisted that the advance of science was the most important of the intellectual results of the war. Other wars had produced a great crop of poets. This time it was science which had flowered forth in a living thing, is neither a dream nor a fad. From this working of the social conscience spring the settlement houses, who take the foreign immigrant by the hand, and try to work some leaven of thought and care into that mass of dumped humanity; the school centres, which believe in "vitalizing" the "group" of young people—giving them bands and orchestras and team games and some training in "vics"; the "Unit," which flourishes in Cincinnati, and campaigns against "poverty, disease, and preventable death," the idea of moving from the school centre to the community centre, meeting in the municipal buildings of the parks and controlled by local boards of neighbors; the recreation centres and neighborhood associations of New York; the neighborhood commission of Manhattan, which talks to the city government on sewerage, baths and pavements. The whole movement is individualist.

HE COULDN'T CLINK

Rumor had it that the marine store dealer was something of a miser and two gentlemen of the Sikes persuasion conceived a brilliant notion to relieve him of his superfluous wealth.

One of them was to be smuggled into the show in a bag and placed with other sacks filled with old iron, and at midnight grasp the opportunity to give entrance to his confederate.

Up to the point the plan worked admirably, but unfortunately the dealer, struck by the peculiar shape of the sack, gave it a tremendous kick. A ten-horsepower hollow followed, and a second later the man in the bag was beating all records for his liberty.

"Well, I'm disappointed in yer, Bill," said his friend, when later on the tale of failure was told.

"It was your own idea, too. 'Ere was you posin' as old iron, and when someone come along and just kicked yer you 'adn't got the bloomin' sense to clink!"—Tit-Bits.

SEVERAL NATIONS EXCLUDE GERMANS

LONDON. — The parliaments of Great Britain and the British Dominions are as keenly alive as we are to the necessity of being ready for a strong migratory current from continental Europe. London has gone further than Washington, and seems inclined to follow a path that will lead to tremendous consequences ofr Europe. It is proposed at Westminster to forbid enemy aliens to enter British territory for an indefinite period, and to deport Germans, Austrians and Hungarians who are settled in the British Empire.

If this proposal is carried out, other nations, notably Brazil, may follow the precedent set by the British. Deportations of Germans from British territory would create a forced migratory current as great as that which is already flowing out of Alsace-Lorraine and Prussian Poland. It is unlikely that the ousted Germans will find it possible to settle in their country of origin. Where will they go, and in what direction will the migratory current from Germany flow? Will public sentiment in America bar Germans and influence Central and South American countries to adopt the same policy?

Upon the answer to these questions depends, in a very large measure, the influence of the war of 1914-18 upon twentieth century Europe. Nothing is more certain than that we cannot bottle up, under adverse economic conditions, the 80,000,000 Germans of Central Europe in a German state narrowed down to the ethnographical limits. Even if we gave back to Germany her colonies, they would not support a large white population. Do we not have to choose, then, between sharing with the German race the development of Africa, the two Americas and Australia, and seeing the Germans overflow into eastern Europe and Asia?—Everybody's Magazine.

MESSENGERS ARE GONE AND SO IS BIG SUM

NEW YORK. — Two youthful Wall street bank messengers are sought by the police as a result of the disappearance of $223,500 in negotiable securities with which the two boys had been entrusted by their employers for delivery to nearby brokerage houses. The disappearance of the two boys was reported to the police August 12, but did not become public until yesterday.

Benjamin H. Binkowitz, twenty-five, employed by Richard Whitney & Co., No. 14 Wall street, was sent out with a satchel containing $178,000 of Victory bonds and railroad securities to be delivered to Kidder, Peabody & Co., at No. 13 Wall street, just across the street. He left the office at noon Tuesday and has not been seen since. The empty satchel was found later in Exchange place. Binkowitz was bonded for $100,000 and the bonding company is reported to have made good for the full amount of the missing bonds.

At about the same time that Binkowitz left the office of his employers, Hary Millhand, twenty-one, employed by Simmons & Slade, of No. 5 Nassau street, was sent out with a satchel containing $45,000 in Liberty bonds to be cashed at three brokerage offices nearby. He, too, disappeared and the empty satchel was found later in the day behind a counter in Simmons & Slade's office.

Deputy Police Commissioner Laney gave out a statement concerning the disappearance of the messengers and bonds, in which he refers to the Simmons & Slade messenger as Harry Willham, and says the boy was only recently brought back from Los Angeles after stealing $32,000 of Liberty bonds from another firm and was arraigned before Judge Malone in general session and let off with a suspended sentence.

REDS THINK WILSON 'DANGEROUS MAN'

NEW YORK. — Though President Wilson's name carries great weight with the masses of Russia, it is not a synonym of popularity with the Bolshevist leaders, who have finally come to the conclusion that the president is a "dangerous man."

The Bolshevist leaders do not say much regarding Wilson, and they are very diplomatic in their attitude toward him. They frankly admit this is because they hope for recognition and help from America. Their hopes are growing fainter and fainter, but have not been given up. From other nations the Bolshevik expect nothing unless a world revolution comes.

The atitude of the ordinary Russian, if he can read, is quite different. An incident which occurred to the United Press correspondent as he came through the German-Russian front in Lithuania illustrates the general impression concerning Wilson

The correspondent was exchanged in the middle of No-Man's-Land by the Germans for 20 prisoners which the Bolsheviks were returning to Germany. To the dismay of the German officers 50 of the prisoners were entirely new citizens for the fatherland —they were pretty Russian wives the German soldiers had acquired in Russia.

While this bevy of prisoners was being escorted to the Russian front by the Bolsheviks, the correspondent sat in the drosky of an old Lithuanian whose wagon had been taken from the procession in exchange for the one from the White side of the line which the correspondent had brought out.

The old Lithuanian was a shrewd old character who had learned German during the invasion in the days of Brest-Litovsk. When asked if he were a Bolshevik himself, he studied the correspondent carefully, and finally said: "You're the representative of President Wilson, aren't you?'

'Who told you that?"

"I heard the Germans tell the Bolshevik leaders that."

"Well, the Germans told them wrong. I am an American, that's all."

"It's all the same," insisted the old Lithuanian driver. "I can trust you, and tell you what I think. No, I'm not a Bolshevik at heart. I have to be at present, because they'd take my horse and wagon if I were not. It's business, just like everyone else is doing."

Later the old Lithuanian passed the word to my guard that here was some one from President Wilson's land. The word went along from guard to guard until Moscow was reached.

In Moscow, however, foreigners are not welcome. In spite of the invitation he had received in Berlin to go to Moscow and see for himself the Utopia of the Bolsheviks, the United Press correspondent, once arrived there, was assured he was extremely unwelcome.

The Bolshevik police chief, to whom the correspondent was first taken, was puzzled to know what to do with a foreigner who had slipped into Moscow through the back door—the Lithuanian front. He finally "passed the buck" to the foreign office, and the correspondent was allowed to stay a week before he was put out.

Before he left, however, a manifest was passed by the foreign office and the military authorities jointly that no more foreigners are to be allowed to enter Russia until peace is made with the rest of the world. Correspondents are to be stopped at the border, said the proclamation. If any slip in they are to be arrested, and either jailed or thrown out.

MERE MAN'S REFUGE

With all due respect and admiration for the ladies, it is, nevertheless, perfectly true that one reason for the popularity of the saloon was that women were kept out. That is the truth whether the women like it or not. Witness the great men's clubs.—Minneapolis News.

GRANDFATHER CLOCK WAS MADE IN 1679

ATLANTA, Ga.—The grandfather's clock which Longfellow taught us to revere because of its solemn "Never—forever" loses prestige when one finds that right here in Atlanta there is what appears to be the oldest clock in America, which markings indicate was made in 1679.

The distinguished old clock stands in the home of Mrs. P. H. Mell, and was bought by her husband, the late Dr. P. H. Mell, 20 years ago in the valley of Virginia, for a sum that would make the present-day dealer in antiques whistle.

At the time that Dr. Mell purchased the heirlooom which by its very plainnness of design shows that it was built early in the history of clockmaking, he had no idea of its value. He communicated with the "Geystone" a clockmaker's trade journal, published in Philadelphia, sending a full description of the manufacturer's notations. After investigation into horological history the editor sent the information that not only was this the first clock made by the maker, but there was not another clock in this country as old.

Is a "John Renn"

The inscription inside reads "John Wainwright, No. 1, Series 1." John Wainwright has a name in clockdom which compares with that of Adam in furniture making or of Minton in china production. He lived in London and was admitted to the Clockmakers' company in 1679.

Since the clock is marked No. 1, Series 1, it must have been one of the first creations of the Wainwright shop. Engraved on its face for his first big furniture clock, "John Renn."

Like the clocks of the time which had to compete in the market with sun dials, this pedigreed timekeeper serves to tell the date, the status of the moon and the relation of the hemispheres as well as the hour, the minute and the second. A clue to the geography of the time is shown by the position of the various continents. North and South America are separated, and Europe and Asia bear striking resemblance to a pear.

Solid Gold Hands

The hands are of solid gold, and show skilful workmanship. The grandfather part of the clock is cheery wood—a wood so hard and durable that it used to be employed for framing ships. The material also gives some indication as to the clock's age, for the statement is made by students of furniture that nothing was made out of mahogany before 1729.

According to Mrs. Mell, Dr. Mell, during his lifetime, looked upon the stalwart old clock as almost a personality in the household, and he delighted in nothing more than to take apart the mechanism and then replace it, when there was anything wrong. He understood the works perfectly, and the hands never failed to respond to his treatment.

During the illness which Dr. Mell, one of the best-loved and most honored citizens of the state, suffered for many months before his death, the golden hands stopped, and, since he did not have the opportunity to find the loosened spring, as he constantly planned to do, they have never started again. But the works show no sign of rust or erosion.

TRACING THE ORIGIN OF THE WORD "GROCER"

BOSTON—In a recent lecture on Dutch commercial law, says the Christian Science Monitor, special correspondent in Holland, Prof. Oppenmeim, referred to the useless distinction of "koopman" and to the difficulty of defining what a 'koopman" really is. In English law, he said, he is known as a "mercantile person," and the same difficulty of definition is likewise felt in England, just as it is, indeed, wherever any attempt is made to draw a distinction between mercantile persons and other members of the community. The expression "mercantile person" is, of course, not used in common parlance, and it is a curious fact that the English have no colloquial terms for the French "marchand," the Dutch "koopman," of the German "kaufmann." The word "merchant," which came to them from the Norman-French and which ousted the older English "chapman," has long since acquired the meaning of a wholesale dealer.

Oddly enough, the Dutch word "koopman" and the German word "kaufmann" once upon a time had a similar meaning to the word "merchant" in modern English. They have gone much the same way as the English word "grocer," which, originally, the same as the Dutch "grossier," nowadays stands for the man who sells sugar, dried fruits and other colonial produce, whether he does so at wholesale or retail. He is the man whom the Berliner still calls typically the kaufmann in the characteristic expression, "Ik jeh zum koofmann." (Ich geh zum kaufmann).

All this, said the professor, came about in the fallowing way. Down to the middle of the fifteenth and sixteenth centuries the villages had only a very limited number of tradesmen, or more correctly master workmen. These were the miller, the barber, the butcher, the smith, the tailor, the shoemaker, and perhaps, a builder and carpenter, to whom the goldsmith from Lombardy and the milliner from Milan (hence his name) had quite recently been added, while, in one or two large towns, was found the Italian warehouseman who dealt in the few imports permitted once every six months from Genoa or Venice, with the products of the Mediterranean and the Orient.

Then came the doubling of the Cape to India and the discovery of America, which brought with them the opening up of the great tropical and colonial trades. Shipload after shipload of spices, sugar, etc., began pouring into the country. Naturally the man who dealt in them was a big merchant and therefore received the name of "grocer" or "great dealer." In Holland he was called the koopman, and in Germany the kaufmann, which, in Berlin, he has remained colloquially to this day.

Later on of course big merchants arose in all other branches of trade, and grocers were split up in the same way into wholesale and retail dealers, while the original meaning of the word "grocer" became completely obscured and acquired the sense of the Dutch kruidenier, the German kolonial warenhaendler and the French epicier.

Very curiously a fresh trade arose in vegetables, which formerly people obtained solely from their own gardens, and which in most continental countries are even now largely bought directly from the peasant growers, though this is very rare in England. Since the one new tradesman who had been added to the towns was named "grocer," this new interloper was called by the strange name of "green grocer."

FOR INDIGESTION TAKE SERATHOL

A PHYSICIAN'S ADVICE

Although there are scores of formulas and antacids for stomach acidity, gastritis, indigestion and dyspepsia, there is nothing more effective in the treatment of these ailments than ordinary serathol, which can be obtained in Canada Drug & Book Store in Nelson, and any good drug store at a fair cost.

Many a sufferer from these complaints has been agreeably surprised at the almost instantaneous relief and subsequent permanent benefit from its use.

Serathol is a harmless and tasteless white powder, which neutralizes acids and stops food fermentation. In many cases of hyperacidity a single dose produces almost magic effects.

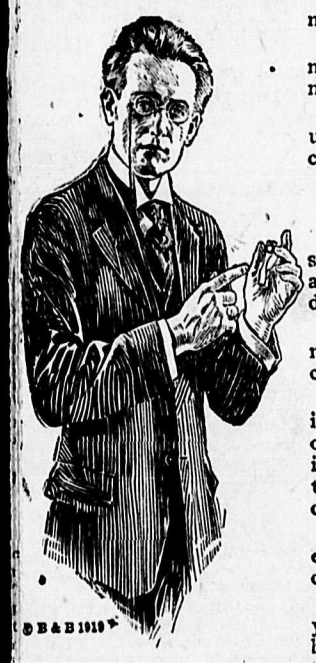
The Intelligent Way To End Corns



Not by paring. That's a risky makeshift, and results are brief.

Not by harsh, haphazard methods made by non-scientific men.

Not by padding. Pads are unsightly, and they simply coddle corns.

Expert Methods

Blue-jay was invented by a scientific expert. It is made by a house famed for its surgical dressings.

It embodies the up-to-date method, the right method of corn treatment.

Apply it and the pain stops instantly. Forget it for two days. Remove it, and the corn is gone for good. One corn in ten may need a second application, but that's all.

Millions of corns have been ended in this way. Aching corns are unknown to its users.

These are facts known to your own friends and neighbors. It is time that you knew them. Try Blue-jay tonight.

KASLO ITEMS

KASLO, Aug. 21. — Miss Letty Power of Vancouver arrived in the city on Friday evening, and is the guest of Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Burgess.

The Armory presented a fairy like scene on Friday evening, when the 54th Battalion Chapter, I.O.D.E., held a "moonlight" dance. The hall was prettily decorated with greens and Bunting. The lights, shaded with blue, gave a very realistic imitation of moonlight and when the dancers were on the floor the effect was extremely pleasing. There was an exceptionally large attendance, many being present from Ainsworth, Nelson, Proctor, Sandon and the Florence mine. The music was excellent. Mrs. O. Strathearn, piano, and J. Noble, violin, played the opening numbers and were followed by the Giegerich orchestra, consisting of Miss Elizabeth Giegerich, piano; Miss Margaret Giegerich, violin, and Joseph Giegerich, 'cello. Mrs. J. Fingland, of Trail, and Miss Kathleen Strathearn also gave several piano numbers. An unexpected treat was given the dancers when W. E. LeBrash, piano, and Master Culbert, violin, of Proctor, very graciously played the major part of the program. Dainty refreshments were served midway of the program.

Peter McGregor's lucky day is Sunday. In a short time Sunday afternoon he caught a dozen of the trout that have made Kaslo and the Kootenay lake famous.

The fires around Little Fry and Murphy creeks do not seem to have been entirely put out, as a great deal of smoke is still rising from that vicinity. There is no valuable timber just where the fires are at present and there seems no danger of it spreading to any great extent.

Services were held in each of Kaslo's four churches today. This only happens about four times a year, as the Anglican and Catholic priests cover several other parishes.

TRAIL CHURCH PAINTED

TRAIL, Aug. 21.—The exterior of the Baptist church has been painted this week and looks very attractive and clean to the appreciative observer. Other improvements are under consideration.

After a dainty wedding supper the happy couple were brought to Grand Forks in time to catch the east bound C.P.R. passenger for West Robson. From there they went over Arrow Lakes on their way to Vancouver for a 10 days' honeymoon trip. On their return Mr. and Mrs. Woolley will make their home in Columbia.

THREE ACCIDENTS OCCUR IN WEEK

NAKUSP, Aug. 21.—With the revival of logging operations on the Arrow lakes, an epidemic of accidents is taking place at the various camps and the hospital at Nakusp is being filled to capacity. On Monday, Santa Singh, an old Hindu resident, had concussion of the brain through the falling of a tree on his head at the Nakusp Lumber company's camp south of the town.

The Misses Pattison and Sleater arrived here on Monday from Kaslo, and have hired a hall for the purpose of holding Evangelical meetings for the next month or two.

To cope with the logging operations another steam tug has been added to the fleet of the Arrow lakes, the new arrival having been transferred from the Slocan lake and will tow for the Nakusp Lumber Co.

A large party of Nakuspians took a trip to the hot springs on Sunday, and on Monday the Nakusp boy scouts marched to the same place, where they will have their annual camp for a couple of weeks.

I likes to take an active part, an' I used to pass the collection basket, but dey's give de job to Brothah Green, who jest returned from Ovah Thai-ah." "I recognition of his heroic service, I suppose?" "No sah, I reckon he got dat job in recognition o' his having lost one of his hands."

FIRE SITUATION PRECARIOUS; BE CAREFUL SAYS FORESTER

Further new fires are reported, older fires are becoming harder to handle and owing to the continued hot, dry weather, and winds which have developed during the past 24 hours, the general fire situation throughout Kootenay and Boundary is becoming a great deal more precarious, according to E. B. Prowd, district forester. Extreme care, he states, on the part of ranchers, campers, and in fact the entire population of the district is required to prevent the fire situation from becoming dangerous.

A few new fires which as yet have not had time to develop into real serious proportions had been reported up to last night. Two or three of them are in the Duncan valley, one on the Arrow Lakes, near Nakusp, another near Salmo, which is giving considerable trouble, and another is reported from the mountains in the Big Sheep country.

The Salmo fire originated through escaping from a rancher's burning, while the others are mostly situated in almost inaccessible spots in the hills.

No reports had been received from the Slocan last night, though it is known there are several fires burning in the district.

COAST AUTHOR ON VISIT TO NELSON

Rev. Mr. MacBeth, a Westerner From Birth—Will Write Booklet on Land Settlement in Province

Rev. R. G. MacBeth, M.A., pastor of St. Paul's Presbyterian church, Vancouver, and a well known British Columbia author, was in Nelson yesterday, a guest at the Hume, in the course of a vacation trip over the province.

Born in the old Red River colony near Fort Garry, the site of Winnipeg, Mr. MacBeth has been all his life familiar with western development, and has written and lectured for years in that connection. His recent book, "The Romance of Western Canada," a real life history of the west, has been placed on the education list in most of the provinces, and has had a wide sale.

The pastor-author has consented to write a booklet on British Columbia as a field for the settler on the land, as this has never been definitely done for the province as a whole. Though he has traveled the country many times, he is renewing his information on this trip. It is understood that many thousands of these booklets will be distributed in eastern Canada, the Middle West and abroad.

Mr. MacBeth was brought up on a farm, studied law before entering the ministry, and saw active military service in the northwest in his student days. His book, "Our Task in Canada," written as a study of the home mission problem, ran through the Peace river country, a series of letters then written was widely circulated.

E. F. Gigot, J. S. Carter, F. A. Starkey and other well known residents of Nelson, have been friends of Mr. MacBeth since the early days, Mr. Gigot claiming an acquantance of 40 years' standing.

Mr. MacBeth, who has been spending part of his holiday in the Windermere, will visit the Crow tomorrow, probably reaching Nelson again tonight.

LIEUT. WALDO FERGUSON RETURNS FROM OVERSEAS

Lieut. Waldo Ferguson, son of E. Ferguson, provincial government assessor, has returned to the city from overseas. He enlisted over two years ago in the Royal Air force, serving as a cadet in the training camps of that corps in Toroton and Texas. He proceeded overseas in February, 1918, where he attained his commission and wings.

Lieut. Ferguson has been in Canada for some time, having spent some time visiting friends and relatives in the east and at the coast.

DIRECTORY OF SHEEP AND GOAT BREEDERS

The sheep and goat industry in Canada continues to grow, not only on account of the money to be made from the mutton and wool, but because goats are considered to be immune from tuberculosis, this being the great factor in the encouragement of milch goat raising a number of provinces. Pamphlet No. 17, a directory of breeders of pure bred sheep and goats in the Dominion of Canada, issued by the sheep and goat division of the live stock branch, and procurable free upon application, from the publications branch, Ottawa, gives the names and addresses of breeders of recognized breeds of sheep and goats in all parts of Canada. Ontario leads in the number of breeders of pure bred sheep, while goat breeders are most numerous in British Columbia, where the milch goat indusary is assuming farily large proportions.

Don't Spoil Your Hair By Washing It

When you wash your hair, be careful what you use. Don't use prepared shampoos or anything else that contains too much alkali, for this is very injurious as it dries the scalp and makes the hair brittle.

The best thing to use is just plain mulsified cocoanut oil, for this is pure and entirely greaseless. It's very cheap and beats anything else all to pieces. You can get this at any drug store and a few ounces will last the whole family for months.

Simply moisten the hair with water and rub it in, about a teaspoonful is all that is required. It makes an abundance of rich, creamy lather, cleanses thoroughly and rinses out easily. The hair dries quickly and evenly and is soft, fresh looking, bright, fluffy, wavy and easy to handle. Besides it loosens and takes out every particle of dust, dirt and dandruff.

QUICK, PAINLESS WAY TO REMOVE HAIRY GROWTHS

(Pelps to Beauty)

Here is a simple, unfailing way to rid the skin of objectionable hairs: With som powdered delatone and water make enough paste to cover the hairy surface, apply and in about 2 minutes rub off, wash the skin and every trace of hair has vanished. This is quite harmless, but to avoid disappointment be sure to get the delatone in an original package.

Clean to handle. Sold by all Druggists, Grocers and General Stores

OUIMET GOES DOWN BEFORE J. W. PLATT

PITTSBURG, Aug. 21.—After a 24-hour reign as favorite for championship honors in the national amateur tournament being played at the Oakmont club, Francis Ouimet was late this afternoon eliminated by J. Wood Platt, of the North Hills club, one up on the thirty-eighth. The defeat of the Woodland club star by Platt yas as sensational a golfing feat as the contest that marked the passing of "Chick" Evans yesterday at the hands of Ouimet.

As a setting to the match a heavy thunderstorm burst over players and spectators just after the New England expert had squared the contest on the home green and the two extra holes were fought out in a pouring rain, that drenched contestants and galleries to the skin.

TENNIS AT SOUTHAMPTON

SOUTHAMPTON, N. Y., Aug. 21.—The singles and doubles in the tennis tournament on the turf of the Meadow club here drew down to the semi-finals today.

In the singles C. S. Garland, Jr., the Pittsburg star, and L. E. Mahan are coupled in the top hall. In the lower section are Norman E. Brooks the Australian, and Willis E. Davis, the Californian.

Brookes in his match today outgeneralled Dean Mathey, the former Princeton champion, and won, 6-4, 6-1.

Garland had a hard three-set engagement with Leonard Beekman, winning at 6-3, 2-6, 9-7.

G. L. Patterson and Norman E. Brookes retired from the doubles when within a stroke of beating F. F. Deerman and Major B. Harrinan. The official score was 3-5, 6-7, defoulted. Patterson said that his arm is strained and that it is impossible for him to continue the tournament. He defaulted in the singles. His arm is stiff and he is anxious to get in trim as soon as possible for the match for the national tournament next week, at Forest Hills. W. T. Tilden, second, and Garland, Randolph Lycett and R. V. Thomas, the Australian, and C. B. Doyle and Dudley Morgan were pairs that came through to the double semi-finals.

GOOD SCORES AT ONTARIO SHOOT

TORONTO, Aug. 21.—The weather conditions on the third day of the Ontario rifle association's matches left much to be desired, a high wind and driving rain developing in the morning and continuing until the middle of the afternoon. This made straight shooting difficult, and under the circumstances some remarkable scores were made, the men from Ottawa particularly distinguishing themselves. Later in the afternoon the weather cleared and some good scores were registered at 600 yards in the Tait-Brassey match.

During the day the Tait-Brassey match, seven shots at 200, 500 and 600 yards, was completed and the lieutenant-governor's match commenced at 500 yards. Tomorrow will see the completion of the latter match, and the MacKenzie and Olser hatches will also be shot off, finishing the program.

The Tait-Brassey match was won by Lieut. Marks, of the 43rd D.C.O.R., Ottawa with the splendid score of 104 points out of a possible 105.

He was closely followed by Sergeant G. W. Russell, G.G.F.G., of Ottawa, with a score of 104. Russell has been to Bisley six times and took sixth place one year in the King's prize. The tie was broken, according to O.R.A. rules. Lieut. Marks dropped his point at an earlier stage in the match, giving him a slight advantage.

Tait-Brassey match—Seven shots at 200, 500 and 600 yards, for militia and C.E.F. only Lieut. E. Marks, G.G.F.G., 104; Sergt. G. W. Russell, G.G.F.G., 104; Pte. W. A. Brodie, 120th, 102; Sergt. H. HOW TO BE HAPPY IF FLAT-CHESTED

Chautauqua Lecturer Gives Directions for Good Health—Deep Breathing and Systematic Exercise Prescribed

Simple daily physical exercises, a daily period of relaxation, and plenty of fresh air breathed in the right way into the lungs, were among the pointed bits of advice given by Miss Edna Eugenia Lowe, in her lecture yesterday afternoon, on "Danger Signals on the Road to Health."

"We are more awake than ever before to the great need for health conservation," said Miss Lowe in opening her address at the Chautauqua tent. "The war has taught us many valuable lessons on that subject."

There was never a time when health conservation was more important, she said. While the world is facing the great problem of reconstruction, the need of physical and mental efficiency is greater than ever before in history. "The man who wants to do great deeds must be mentally physically fit for his job," declared Miss Lowe.

One of the firts things to be avoided, if one needed good health, Miss Lowe said, was disobeying the laws of nature. It was almost impossible, she said, to make people listen to the laws of nature until sickness crossed their path.

"I believe that if the laws of nature were perfectly understood and implicitly obeyed, a great deal of sickness would be averted," averred the speaker. "Serious illness rarely comes without first throwing out a signal that something is out of harmony. Were those signals heeded serious illness would never come."

One of the signals of disobedience to the laws of nature was the flat, narrow, depressed chest and round shoulders. This condition indicated a body which was half nourished and half suffocated.

One of the first steps to correct this condition was plenty of good, fresh air and good lungs to appropriate it. "Few of us are good breathers; we are just gaspers," declared Miss Lowe. She stated that the average women used only one-fourth of her lung capacity, while the average man, who was a better breather, chiefly due to more healthful ways of dress, used one-half. "He lives most who breathes most air," was Miss Lowe's motto.

Miss Lowe, who is a splendid physical example of the advice given in her lecture, gave several exhibitions of simple physical exercises for chest expansion, using deep breathing as a basis.

Miss Lowe arraigned the habit, or fashion, of wearing high heels. She said that at one of her lectures a nurse had come forward and told her to keep up her crusade against high heels, for if the young womanhood would not be awakened to the folly and danger of wearing high heels, the did not know what was going to happen to the young motherhood of the nation. The nurse said that the reason the doctors and nurses had to fight for the lives of so many babies coming into the world and for their mothers was the wearing of high heeled shoes.

Another danger signal was insomnia, Miss Lowe pointed out. The immediate cause of it was congestion of blood at the base of the brain.

Persons of high strung temperament, persons working under mental pressure, or those who were doing sedentary work were among those who suffered most from insomnia. One of the immediate causes of sleeplessness were lack of muscular relaxation. For the cure of this Miss Lowe recommended several methods. As the nervous system must relax before restful sleep could be obtained she advised sufferers from insomnia to take plenty of time in preparing for sleep. The nerve system should be given a chance to relax. A warm or tepid bath, with a vigorous massage was advised by Miss Lowe, as one method to draw the blood from the base of the brain, thus easing the tension and equalizing the circulation. Another method was the sponge bath. Miss Lowe also gave several relaxation exercises.

Visitor (in Detroit News)—What makes you think that William will grow up to be a great doctor? Fond Mother—White playing doctor with his little playmates, he said: "Gentlemen, before we begin to operate, you hold the patient's hands and feet. I'll get the three cents out of this right-hand pocket."

HIS MELANCHOLY MOODS

"Do tuberoses remind you of funerals?" "Some," replied Uncle Bill Bettletop, "though I must admit my wife's flower garden never brings around such subdued and melancholy moods as my own little old mint patch."—Washington Star.

HIS TROUBLE

"Ever had any trouble with your automobile?"

"Yes. Ever since I got it all my wife's relatives expect me to be their chauffeur."—Detroit Free Press.

METROPOLITAN TRIO PLEASES

One of the best musical programs of the Chautauqua week in Nelson was given yesterday by the Metropolitan Artists trio. In the afternoon a short program was given preceding the lecture of Miss Edna Eugenia Lowe, and before Dr. Ng Poon Chew's address in the evening the artists gave a concert recital.

The personnel of the trio consisted of three distinguished artists, who are all stars in the firmament of the musical world. Joe Pollak, the cellist of the group, is a player of rare ability and handles his instrument with skill. Miss Olive McCormack, soprano, is the possessor of a voice of much sweetness, and with her sympathetic rendering of her songs endeared herself in a short time to the hearts of the audience. Each of her numbers was encored. Her singing of "Spring's Awakening" and a song in French from the opera "Mignon," displayed the flexibility and range of her voice.

Oscar Wagner, accompanist, showed himself to be an accomplished pianist, and judging by the applause which greeted each of his numbers his playing was thoroughly appreciated.

"MICKEY IS COMING!"

"My wife is mourning the loss of a ten-thousand-dollar diamond necklace," said the Louisville man, quoted in the Courier-Journal. "Why don't you advertise a thousand reward and no questions asked?" "Well, I could make good on the thousand, but I doubt my wife's ability to fulfil the rest of that contract."

WEDDINGS

PURVIS—MOORE

A pretty wedding was solemnized on Aug. 14 at the home of Mr. and Mrs. C. Purvis, 1009 Nanaimo street, Vancouver, when their son T. L. Purvis was married to Miss Beatrice Moore, of the staff of Clarke & Stuart, Vancouver. The ceremony was performed by Rev. K. W. Hibbert of the Methodist church.

The bride was becomingly dressed in a gown of white satin and carried a bouquet of carnations. She was attended by Miss Gladys Redmond, a cousin of the groom, while the groom was supported by his brother, Hector Purvis.

The groom was a former member of the 131st battalion, and is now in the employ of the Dominion Express company on the run between Nelson and Medicine Hat.

The happy couple are spending their honeymoon in the Puget Sound cities, after which they will take up their residence in Nelson.
