CRUISER IS DESTROYED

Submarine Sinks British Armed Cruiser—Ten of Crew Are Missing.

(By Daily News Leased Wire.)

LONDON, July 26.—The British armed cruiser Marmara was torpedoed and sunk by a German submarine on Tuesday, according to an announcement made by the British admiralty tonight. Ten members of the crew of the vessel are missing and it is presumed they were killed.

The admiralty also announces that a British torpedo boat destroyer ran ashore Wednesday and later sank. Thirteen of her crew are missing and it is presumed they were drowned.

Naval records contain no cruiser named Marmara and it is possible the vessel sunk was the Peninsular & Orient Steam Navigation steamer Marmora of 10,509 tons gross. She was built at Belfast in 1903, was 530 feet long and had a beam of 60 feet.

MANY MUNITION WORKERS STRIKE

Over 200,000 Are Out—Appeal Has Some Effect.

(By Daily News Leased Wire.)

LONDON, July 26.—Striking workers in the munitions factories now number 200,000, not counting the thousands of persons who have been forced into idleness by the strike. Unless differences are adjusted it is believed here 500,000 workers will be out.

Appeal Has Effect.

LONDON, July 26.—The appeal of the trades unions advisory committee, urging the munition strikers to return to work, pending an inquiry, had a good effect, according to news received from Birmingham and Coventry this afternoon. At Coventry one of the largest works was enabled to resume operations, while in Birmingham the action of several unions, including the employees of the big power companies which supply the big munition factories, in refusing to strike had a good effect and it was reported this afternoon that there were less men on strike than yesterday. Another influence against the strikers was that wielded by discharged soldiers and sailors, whose federation, representing 6000 men, pledged their loyalty to Winston Spencer Churchill, minister of munitions.

A statement issued today by the strikers representing that 100,000 men are out appears to be greatly exaggerated. It was said today by officials of the companies that not more than 12,000 to 15,000 were idle and that the women and unskilled workers were strongly opposed to the strike.

DO NOT LOOK FOR MORE TROUBLE

Members of Railway Board Believe Menace for Present Is About Over.

(By Daily News Leased Wire.)

MONTREAL, July 26.—The Empire's lines of communication may hereafter be practically guaranteed from the menace of railway labor troubles, according to leading representatives of railway labor and members of the Canadian railway board in joint session at the Windsor hotel here today. As a result of the conference commenced then and to be continued tomorrow it is expected that a board of railway labor commissioners consisting of equal numbers of railway labor representatives and representatives of the Canadian railway war board, acting for the employers, will be inaugurated at once, not only to interpret and administer the McAdoo award for Canadian roads but to undertake to deal with all railway labor disputes in Canada after the period of the war thus making the possibility of strikes much more remote and reducing irritation to the lowest possible point by guaranteeing a special board of experienced railway men to deal promptly and expertly with any matters of difference that may arise.

Chiefs Yet to Hear.

"It must be borne in mind," said one of the war board officials, "that the representatives of the men have yet to refer the matter back to their chief executives. But this one great step has been accomplished—that the first joint session between the men and the Canadian railway war board has been more than satisfactory."

The details as to the working out of the McAdoo award are complex and it was suggested by the Canadian railway war board that a board, somewhat similar to the board in the United States, should be appointed with equal representation for the employees and the Canadian railway war board.

Through the department of labor over 100 representatives of railway labor in Canada were called to a meeting here yesterday morning. These representatives finally expressed approval of the board's proposal, subject to the confirmation of their chief executives, but added that the scope of the new commission or board should include all matters of railway labor disputes for the duration of the war. This was accepted by the Canadian railway war board.

The first meeting of the new body will be held tomorrow to draw up an outline of its scope. This will be reported of course to the principals on either side for further consideration.

AIRMEN HAVE ACTIVE DAY

Twenty-five Hun Planes Downed—Winds Continue—Many Targets Hit—British Busy.

(By Daily News Leased Wire.)

LONDON, July 26.—The official communication issued by the aerial ministry tonight says:

"On the night of July 25-26 successful attacks were carried out on the station and factory at Pferzsheim (Baden); the factory at Baaton and the station at Offenburg (Baden). Two fires broke out at Offenburg.

"Four hostile airdromes were bombed and attacked with machine gun fire and hangars were hit. Trains, anti-aircraft guns, searchlights and other targets were fired upon by our machines. All our machines returned."

Among the targets attacked were three large ammunition dumps, the docks at Bruges and numerous villages used as billets by the enemy's troops.

Wind Favors Foe.

"In the air fighting the strong west wind greatly favored the enemy. In spite of this, 25 hostile machines were brought down by us and six other were driven down out of control. A hostile balloon was shot down in flames. Fifteen of our machines are missing.

"After dark our night bombing machines again attacked the railways at Courtrai and Seclin and dropped more than 300 bombs on billets. All our machines returned.

"One of the enemy's night flying airplanes was shot down by anti-aircraft guns behind our lines.

British Statement.

LONDON, July 26.—British airmen brought down 25 German airplanes and forced down six others out of control in air fighting yesterday. Fifteen of the British machines failed to return.

This announcement was made in the official communication on aerial operations issued tonight.

The statement follows:

"On the 25th the high winds still continued, but visibility was better than on previous days. A great amount of work in conjunction with the artillery was done and many reconnaissances and the usual bombing were carried out by our airplanes.

Active During Week.

LONDON, July 26.—Throughout the week the aerial fighting on the western front has been of a violent character. From a trustworthy source it is learned that during the week the British downed 76 enemy machines and drove down 15 out of control. Fifty-one British machines are missing.

One hundred and fifty-four tons of bombs were dropped during the week.

The week's record for long distance bombing attacks was the heaviest of the war. Twenty-five separate raids were made into German territory. Thionville was bombed four times and the famous poison gas factory and munition works at Mannheim twice. The blast furnaces at Burback and the railway and factories at Offenburg also came in for shelling twice.

HUSSARCK TOLD TO "ADHERE TO GERMAN WAY"

(By Daily News Leased Wire.)

LONDON, July 26.—A despatch to the Exchange Telegraph company from Amsterdam says that according to a Vienna despatch, Baron von Hussarck has been promised the support of all the German parties if he adheres to the "German course." In this contingency, it is said, the German parties will agree to vote all military credits unconditionally.

ASKS POSTMEN TO WORK NOW

Will Dismiss Those Who Refuse—Government Committee Ready—Many Obdurate

(By Daily News Leased Wire.)

OTTAWA, July 26.—Following a lengthy session a statement was given out regarding the salaries paid to letter carriers, porters, messengers and mail clerks employed by the government. Hon. C. J. Doherty stated that instructions had been issued to postmasters to dispense with the services of those men who refused to return to work.

The statement issued this evening follows:

"The salient facts regarding the salaries of letter carriers, porters, messengers and mail transfer clerks are as follows:

"When any one of these officials enters the service he receives a salary of $2 a day for the first year; $2.25 for the second year, $2.50 for the third year, $2.75 for the fourth year and $3 a day thereafter.

"There are in the whole of Canada 2152 letter carriers, of whom 102 are in the $2 a day class, 63 in the $2.25 class, 61 in the $2.50 class, 142 in the $2.75 class and 1784 in the $3 class. Of porters, there are 524, divided as follows: 39 in the $2 class, 31 in the $2.25 class, 39 in the $2.50 class, 68 in the $2.75 class and 347 in the maximum class. Of messengers, there is a total of 44, divided as follows: Two in the $2 class, one in the $2.25 class, one in the $2.50 class and 40 in the $3 class. Of mail transfer clerks there are 178, divided as follows; 20 in the $2 class, 19 in the $2.25 class, 15 in the $2.50 class, 17 in the $2.75 class and 107 in the $3 class.

Only 163 in Minimum Class

"It will thus be seen that out of a total of 2857 of these officials, 2277 are in the maximum class and only 163 in the minimum class. In addition to this, there are a number of temporary men who have been receiving the sum of $2.50 a day, regardless of duration of service.

"In all portions of Canada west of Sault Ste. Marie, the official in the minimum class received a salary of $626 and that in the maximum class receives a salary of $878. To these figures must be added the following sums: $100 bonus voted and paid in 1917, which is included in the estimates voted by parliament and is now being paid for 1918; $150 extra bonus for 1918 and $180, which has for many years been paid these officials west of Sault Ste. Marie, thus making the total remuneration in money to the men of the minimum class $1058 and to men in the maximum class $1369.

"To this must be added a sum for uniforms, consisting of suit, great coat, hat, cap, boots, shoes and raincoat, which may be fairly estimated at $100 and which was admitted by the representatives of the men before the government to amount to that sum. In addition to this, they receive free transportation on street car lines from their home to their work and while employed in their ordinary business, for which the government of Canada pays an annual sum of $66,000.

Minimum Salary $1000

"They demand a minimum salary of $1000 and a maximum of $1400 and it will thus be seen, including a reasonable amount for uniforms, they are now receiving more than they are de*manding. The government decided* before the representatives met them on Wednesday of this week, that the temporary men were entitled to and would receive both bonuses amounting to $250, as hereinbefore stated, as well as the $180, which has been paid to all employees for a long period of years.

"On this statement of facts the government is willing and has appointed a committee of council to confer with their employees, hear any representations the latter may desire to make and fully discuss them."

Meet Tomorrow

TORONTO, July 26.—A mass meeting has been called by the executive of the letter carriers here for tomorrow night when reports will be given by the delegates who were sent to Ottawa. It is likely that the meet-

OBJECTIVE MAY BE FERE TOWN

Huns Have Not Checked Offensive and Slight Push Will Be Serious for Foe.

(By Daily News Leased Wire.)

WITH THE AMERICAN ARMY ON THE AISNE-MARNE FRONT, July 26.—(8 p. m.)—The allied offensive has slowed down, but has not been checked. Franco-American troops today forced back the Germans a bit farther north. The greater part of the fighting is taking place in the big forests north of the Marne and along the western flank of the salient.

The Germans with artillery and machine guns and strong infantry detachments left the northern edge of Fere-en-Tardenois and Reis forests and battled stubbornly to hold the advancing al*lies until more progress could be* made in their transportation of supplies, guns and general stores, but, despite the opposition, some ground was gained.

The woods tonight have almost been freed of Germans. The Fere-en-Tardenois road, extending from the front, already is under such a fire from the artillery as to make it useless as an artery. With a further slight push forward by the allied troops, Fere-en-Tardenois will become untenable. Ville-Montoire has been restored to the allied troops and from it the allied artillery can easily reach the Germans near Fere-en-Tardenois.

CROWN PRINCE IS PREPARING

French Military Writers Say It Will Be Big Defensive Battle on Plateau.

(By Daily News Leased Wire.)

PARIS, July 26.—(Via Reuter's Ottawa Agency)—Most of the French military writers are of the opinion that the crown prince is preparing for a great defensive battle, probably on the Fere-en-Tardenois plateau.

The correspondent of Le Journal on the British front says we have not heard the last of the enemy's offensive. There are grave and unknown possibilities, particularly in Flanders.

The enemy attack in Meteren was expected. Heavy rains made the ground very sticky and filled the shell holes with water and in consequence the enemy advance was beset with difficulties. Sharp fighting developed on the left. The attackers were beaten off, not gaining a foot. Farther south a vigorous enemy assault was launched against the newly won positions of the New Zealanders in the vicinity of Rosingol wood. The enemy losses were very heavy and many prisoners were left in our hands. We continued our raiding activities along various parts of the line, taking prisoners and collecting information.

GERMAN AGENTS CAUSED TROUBLE IN ARGENTINE

(By Daily News Leased Wire.)

BUENOS AYRES, July 26.—An investigation by the government of Argentina develops the fact that German endeavors to acquire colonial lands in southern Chile caused the recent outbreak there near Lake Buenos Ayres on the Argentinian frontier, which was reported as being caused by bandits.

The 300 persons who fought Chilean troops, it has been found, were colonists who were ejected from property long held by them by a German named Von Flack, who obtained possession by means which the colonists described to the Argentinian minister of the interior as illegal. Fighting ensued when Von Flack brought Chilean soldiers to eject the colonists by force.

The majority of the settlers ejected were citizens of Argentina and Argentine cavalry is being rushed to scene to prevent further bloodshed.

(By Associated Press.)

The ninth day of the allied offensive on the Soissons-Reims front saw a lessening in the intensity of the battle along the salient, where only mutual bombardments were in progress.

FIERCE MARNE FIGHT.

Along the Marne, however, and southwest of Reims the Franco-Americans, British and Italian troops were still at deadly grips with the enemy at various sectors.

The Germans tried hard in the forest region north of the Marne to hold back the French and American troops debouching from the woods in strong counterattacks.

The enemy, however, everywhere was forced slightly further back to the north and the forest now has been almost entirely cleared of Germans.

Heavy Reinforcements.

Southwest of Reims heavy reinforcements evidently have been thrown along the front, where the British, Italians and French are fighting. In the immediate region of Reuil, where the battle line turns sharply toward Reims the French have captured several important points of vantage, including the village of Reuil and also advanced their line northward, notwithstanding the violence of the German counter move. To the northeast, where the Germans are facing the British, the Germans have recaptured Mery-Premecy and Hill 204, but the British have regained their hold on Vrigny and most of their territory in that reigon.

Eastward from Reims in Champagne the French have now regained nearly all their old line points and daily are harassing the Germans with counter-attacks.

East of Oulchy.

Before the fighting died down on the western side of the Reims-Soissons salient, the villages of Oulchy-le-Chateau and Ville-Montoire were captured by French and American troops, who advanced their lines eastward of Oulchy. The fall of Oulchy gives the allied forces the key to the heights dominating Fere-en-Tardenois, which lies only a short distance to the east. At Oulchy, 40 guns and hundreds of prisoners were captured by the American and French troops.

Big allied guns have been pulled up in this region and are heavily shelling the sectors before them, over which it is purposed to push forward for the capture of Fere-en-Tardenois when the time is ripe. Meanwhile allied big guns over the entire salient continue to throw shells from all angles into the German forces inside the big bag.

Look for Retreat.

While there has been no attempt by the Germans at a general retreat from the salient, the belief prevails along the battle front that an indication that a retreat is purposed is shown by the fact that the enemy is using comparatively small forces of infantry on various sectors under attack, depending mainly on his machine gunners to retard the progress of the allies.

In France and Flanders the British have been compelled to withstand several violent attacks by the Germans near Hebuterne and in the vicinity of Meteren. The enemy in both sectors was repulsed with heavy losses.

Paris Official.

PARIS, July 26.—Our artillery activity prevailed south of the Ourcq river Friday, the infantry of both sides remaining in their trenches, according to the French official communication issued this evening. Several additional advances have been made southwest of Reims.

The statement reads:

"South of the Ourcq there has been reciprocal activity without infastry actions.

"On the northern bank of the Marne we captured at the close of the day yesterday Reiul and Sarviges farm. We also pushed back the enemy to the southern outskirts of the villages of Lisires, Pinson, Orquigny and Villers-sous-Chatillon.

700 Prisoners.

"The total number of prisoners captured yesterday around Ville-Contoire and the region of Oulchy-le-Chateau was 700.

"In spite of the enemy resistance, we have made to the east of the Suippes an advance of 1500 metres to the general line of St. Hilaire Grande, Soutain and Le Hurteuis. We have reconquered entirely at Main-de-Massiges and reoccupied in this region our former first line. During these operations we have taken 1100 prisoners, 200 machine guns and seven guns.

"On July 25 our aviators brought down or forced to land seven enemy machines. Eighteen machines were brought down by the British aviators working in conjunction with us. On our part we dropped more than 36 tons of bombs during the day and night on stations, railway communications, sheds, munition depots and military parks in the rear of the zone of the battle. Fires and explosions were observed.

"British bombarding aviators also have carried out several expeditions and dropped four tons of bombs on Bazochez, Fere-en-Tardenois and Mont Notre Dame.

Local Attacks in West

WITH THE BRITISH ARMY IN FRANCE, July 26.—The Germans, having their hands full on the Marne, are contenting themselves along the British front in the Flanders sector with attempting to carry out local operations at points where they have suffered small, but nevertheless important, defeats during the past few weeks.

Drive's Gain Nothing Now

LONDON, July 26.—The Germans today retain virtually nothing of the ground they conquered in their great attack of July 15 along the Marne, says Reuter's correspondent at French headquarters.

East of Reims, the correspondent adds, Gen. Gourard's army, by a series of brilliant local operations, has expelled the enemy almost everywhere from the narrow belt he occupied in Gourard's advanced zone.

Capture Statesman's Nephew.

PARIS, July 26.—(Havas Agency)—Among the prisoners captured in the Aisne-Marne battle was a nephew of Prince von Bulow, former German imperial chancellor. The officer, who was a battalion commander, was astonished to hear that there was a large American army in France. He said he had been convinced, as had all Germans, that the American soldiers in France did not exceed 50,000.

Among the heroes decorated by President Poincare in his present visit to the battle front was a nephew of Premier Clemenceau.

Not Stopped Yet.

PARIS, July 26.—(Havas Agency)—News from the Aisne-Marne battlefront is considered to be particularly favorable. The entente allied progress, it is believed, has not yet come to an end. Despite stubborn resistance, the Germans have entirely given up Oulchy-le-Chateau and it is thought that the Teutons cannot long hold Fere-en-Tardenois.

La Liberte says the Germans must be considering a retreat to the banks of the river Vesle, as fires and explosions are multiplying in the German lines and the Teuton provisions and other stores are in flames. The Germans, the newspaper adds, either must retreat or face disaster.

Ville-Monoire Taken.

WITH THE FRENCH ARMY IN FRANCE, July 26.—With the capture last night of the town of Oulchy-le-Chateau, the allies are nearing the summit of the plateau overlooking Fere-en-Tardenois. Farther north the capture of Ville-Monoire was effected after fighting of the most desperate character in the street and in the deep caverns nearby.

NUMEROUS SPEAKERS TAKE PLATFORM ON CLOSING DAY OF BIG CONVENTION; MEDICINE HAT NEXT MEETING PLACE

Following a day featured by a number of interesting addresses, the 12th annual convention of the Western Canada Irrigation association was brought to a close yesterday afternoon after reports of the various committees had been received and the convention had decided that Medicine Hat was to be the next place of meeting. Senator Bostock was again in the chair at the morning and afternoon sessions and addresses were delivered by E. F. Drake, superintendeut of irrigation, Ottawa; James White, assistant to chairman, commission of conservation, Ottawa; R. H. Campbell, director of forestry, Ottawa; Premier John Oliver; J. A. Grant, provincial markets commissioner, Victoria; F. E. R. Wollaston, Vernon, and A. Griffin, superintendent of the operation and maintenance department of the Canadian Pacific railway, Brooks, Alta. Following the afternoon session the delegates were entertained to a launch ride and a dance was given for them in the evening.

At the opening of the morning session the report of a commission on measurement and apportionment of the waters of the St. Mary and Milk rivers was read by the secretary, Robert J. T. Stead. The report stated that article six of the International Waterways treaty had given rise to two distinct contentions. The United States representatives held that it referred only to such waters as crossed the boundary in the drainage basins of the two mentioned rivers, while the Canadian representatives contended that the language employed in that article contained no such limitation and that for the purposes of measurement for division, all waters of the two river systems must be included.

R. J. Burley, representative of the association at the commission, attended a special hearing of the commission in Detroit in May, 1917. The hearing had been granted at the request of the chief counsel of the United States reclamation service in order that he might present some further arguments on the question then under consideration. After he had completed his argument, Senator Walsh of Montana presented a further argument in support of the contention advanced by the United States.

Col. MacInnes' Reply.

These arguments were replied to by Col. C. S. MacInnes, counsel for the Dominion and the commission again lost the question under consideration with a view to deciding as to which, if either, of the two contentions was the correct interpretation of this article of the treaty.

Since the United States reclamation service had completed its St. Mary's canal to half capacity and wished to supply water to the land in the lower Milk river valley during the present irrigation season, the commission had decided that it would be necessary for such diversion to be made under proper supervision and control but in the opinion of the commission, the evidence presented at the earlier hearings showed that, under normal conditions there would be sufficient water available to fully satisfy the present requirements of both countries, thus making it necessary that a decision should be made at the present time as between the two contentions advanced before it. It had therefore been decided to issue instructions to the representatives of the two countries which would apply to present conditions only and last May the order was issued and the waters of the two systems were now being divided in accordance with the term.

E. F. Drake Speaks.

E. F. Drake, superintendent of irrigation, Ottawa, next read a paper dealing with the conservation and use of the water supply. He said that the difficulty of obtaining water in portions of southern Alberta and Saskatchewan had been one of the drawabcks to the settlement of those districts, particularly along the lines of mixed farming. Given two or three years of fairly abundant rainfall the farmers had prospered and ranching generally gave place to farming. But unfortunately, dry years, usually followed quickly and there had come a rude awakening from this dream of prosperity. Crops had withered and failed and the water supply had dried up. This had resulted in the abandonment of many farms acquired under the homestead or preemption regulations.

The speaker remarked that dry farming methods, if properly applied would make possible the growing of profitable crops almost anywhere. Irrigation would also help where it could be brought to the land at a reasonable cost and where water could be obtained in sufficient quantity. Some conclusions reached at a conference at Lethbridge in 1917 were summarized as follows:

Efforts should be made by deep drill-

SAVE STEEL.

(By Daily News Leased Wire.)

WASHINGTON, July 26.—To conserve steel and to release labor for war work, manufacturers of farm wagons and trucks were asked today by the war industries board to standardize parts or substitute wood and other material for steel and iron wherever possible.

District agricultural representatives in conference at the Ontario Agricultural college, Guelph, on the farm labor question, had nothing but praise for the farmerettes.

DANGER LURKS IN EVERY ONE OF US

We Are As Full of Deadly Poisons As A Germ Laboratory.

AUTO-INTOXICATION OR SELF-POISONING

"FRUIT-A-TIVES" Absolutely Prevents This Dangerous Condition.

The chief cause of poor health is our neglect of the bowels. Waste matter, instead of passing from the lower intestine regularly every day, is allowed to remain there, generating poisons which are absorbed by the blood.

In other words, a person who is habitually constipated, is poisoning himself. We know now that Auto-intoxication, due to non-action of the bowels, is directly responsible for serious Kidney and Bladder Troubles; that it upsets the Stomach, causes Indigestion, Loss of Appetite and Sleeplessness; that chronic Rheumatism, Gout, Pain In The Back, are relieved as soon as the bowels become regular; and that Pimples, Rashes, Eczema and other Skin Affections disappear when "Fruit-a-tives" are taken to correct Constipation.

"Fruit-a-tives" will protect you against Auto-intoxication because this wonderful fruit medicine acts directly on all the eliminating organs.

50c. a box, 6 for $2.50, trial size 25c. At all dealers or sent on receipt of price by Fruit-a-tives Limited, Ottawa.

pointed out in a speech today that certain workers had quit their jobs in disregard of their leaders and remained idle against the advice of the union advisory committee.

"They have ceased work," the statement said, "not in pursuance of a trade dispute, but in an endeavor to force the government to change a national policy essential to the prosecution of the war.

"While millions of their fellow countrymen are hourly facing death for their country, the men on strike have been granted exemptions from these perils only because their services are considered of more value to their country in the workshops than in the army."

AIRMEN HAVE ACTIVE DAY

submarine bases on the Belgian coast continued day and night. Upward of 20 tons of explosives were dropped on Zeebrugge and Ostend.

On the Italian front the air fighting resulted in the downing of 19 enemy machines without the loss of a single British aircraft.

HUNS GET HELD AS ALLIES ADVANCE

ficial communication issued this evening by the war office says:

"This morning a hostile attack on posts held by us in the Aveluy wood, north of Albert, was repulsed. A raid attempted by the enemy during the night in the neighborhood of Vieux-Berqin was also driven off with losses.

"A few prisoners were captured by us early this morning in the course of the enemy's unsuccessful attack upon our positions at Meteren."

WITH THE FRENCH ARMIES IN FRANCE, July 26.—The entire German position within the Marne salient is such that it may fall at any instant as the result of some sharp forward movements by the allies. It is for this reason that the German commanders have ordered their men to hold on at all costs while a defensive position is prepared upon which the German armies can fall back.

Day after day the allies are encroaching upon the triangular pocket at some places, making deep dents in the enemy positions and at others progressing more slowly.

Every line of communication within the German salient is under bombardment night and day, either from the allied artillery or the airplanes. It is only with the greatest difficulty and with heavy sacrifices that the enemy is able to hold on within this area. All the whole his men are suffering privations, owing to the uncertainty of obtaining supplies.

German Official.

BERLIN, July 26.—The war office communication issued today says:

"South of Albert we drove back the British and captured some prisoners in a counter attack. There have been successful advances by our reconnoitering detachments on many parts of the front.

"Between the Aisne and the Marne violent partial attacks launched by the enemy were repulsed partly before the allies were in our fighting zone.

"On both sides of the Ourcq the fighting continued until evening. In this region we threw the enemy out of his front line positions north of Oulchy le Chateau and east of the Oerts and south of the Ourcq we beat off the enemy's attacks and counterattacks.

"West of Vincelles-sur-Marne the enemy, after violent fighting also was driven from our lines in the forest of Deris.

"Southwest of Reims we cleared the wooded district west of Vrigny, driving back a violent counterattack, by white and colored French troops.

"In Champagne the enemy attacked early in the morning between the valley of the Suippes and Soutan but was driven back by counterattacks.

In aerial combats the enemy lost 28 airplanes and one captive balloon.

Quiet, Says Report

"The day has been quiet on the battle front," says the official statement issued by general headquarters this evening.

Last night another attack developed between Bucquoy and Hebuterne. New Zealanders completely broke up the German attack, drove off the enemy with heavy losses and in addition captured 30 prisoners. At several places along the front the nature of the artillery fire indicated that the Boche was jumpy and nervous.

ing will be a lively one as there are a number of men who are dissatisfied with the terms that were secured, as they claim that all single men should have been included in the $150 war bonus. The action of the men in a number of western cities in refusing to go back to work has made the men here restless.

Will Not Support Carriers

OTTAWA, July 26.—J. C. Watters, president of the Trades and Labor Congress of Canada, has refused to support the striking letter carriers at Victoria, B.C., who telegraphed asking for his immediate support in the matter of the appointment of a conciliation board to settle their difficulties with the government.

Work for Ten Days

VANCOUVER, July 26.—As the result of a meeting of representatives of leading business organizations and citizens of Vancouver held this afternoon, Mayor Gale has telegraphey the chief magistrates of Winnipeg, Regina, Saskatoon, Moose Jaw, Calgary, Victoria and New Westminster asking cooperation on a plan to end the postal employees strike temporarily, pending the exertion of pressure on the authorities at Ottawa to permit the appointment of an arbitration board. The local strikers have agreed to go back to work for at least 10 days to permit negotiations with the government.

Mayor Gale affirms the unreserved and unanimous support of the meeting to the request of the men for a board of conciliation.

The text of Mayor Gale's telegram is as follows:

"At a meeting held this afternoon, attended by representatives of leading business organizations and citizens nf Vancouver, it was unanimously decided to unreservedly support the postal employees in their request to the Dominion government to accede to them the right to refer to a board of conciliation under the Lemieux act. Have agreed with the men that if they will return to work at once, we will demand from the government the granting of the men's request. In other words, the citizens of Vancouver assume the position of the men and will insist on the postal employees being granted the right extended to all other organizations of labor. Have further agreed to forthwith send strong delegation to interview government and to offer no objection to men again ceasing work in the event of satisfactory arrangements with the government not being completed within 10 days.

"Vancouver postal employees will only agree to this arrangement provided the mayor and citizens of other cities affected, namely, Winnipeg, Regina, Saskatoon, Moose Jaw, Calgary, Victoria and New Westminster agree with their local employees in each case to cooperate along similar lines. Conditions prevailing here are very chaotic and I consequently strongly urge your worship to take immediate action with your citizens and employees to secure cooperation along these lines, as being most essential to the speedy alleviation of the present intolerable conditions. On receipt of a favorable reply from you by 11 o'clock Saturday, I believe all troubles will have been overcome by noon. I desire to emphasize that the postal employees will be returning to work only for the purpose of relieving the hardship imposed on citizens as a result of the recent strike. Their fight is for a principle and our citizens have pledged themselves to stand resolutely by the men in their just demands, which they do not waive one iota by temporarily returning to work under the proposed arrangements.

(Signed) "R. H. GALE, Mayor."

Mail Carriers Obdurate

VANCOUVER, July 26.—At a meeting ready to support the postal clerks it was decide dnot to abide by Mayor Gale"s proposal for a 10 days' resumption of work provided the mayors and citizens of the western cities undertook to bring pressure on Ottawa to provide for a conciliation board. Representatives of the men at the afternoon's meeting on reading a copy of the mayor's' telegram submitted to the union tonight, declared that there was an omission, holding that the mayor had undertaken to officially and personally "call" a strike at the end of 10 days if the conciliation board had not been secured in that time. Mayor Gale, when informed of the action of the union in repudiating the proposed armistice, stated that he had sent the messages to the various city dignitaries and intended to stand by it. He said he was confident there would be results which would relieve the situation.

Telegram Does Not Arrive.

CALGARY, July 26.—Mayor Costello of Calgary had not received Mayor Gale's telegram at a late hour tonight, but expressed himself as being ready to support the postal clerks and to do everything in his power to have their case fairly represented, should they decide to act on Mayor Gale's suggestion.

The postal clerks and letter carriers declined to make any statement as to their attitude toward the position tonight..

Want Demands at Victoria.

VICTORIA, July 26.—The letter carriers and postal clerks of Victoria are still out and state they intend to stay out until their demands for a conciliation board to consider the wage questions are met by the federal government. Failing a conciliation board the employees are willing to submit the matter to a joint commission representing the government and the men.

The suggestion of a 10 days' armistice to end the inconvenience to the public emanating from Mayor Gale of Vancouver was frowned upon by the strikers here and those in Vancouver appear to take the same position, for they wired the local organization late tonight that no compromise was acceptable and they were prepared to stand or fall on the original demand.

Edmonton Will Not Strike

EDMONTON, July 26.—The Edmonton postal employees tonight, by a large majority, voted not to go on strike.

The vote stood: Letter carriers, for, 20; against, 38. Postal clerks, for, 7; against, 66.

Saskatoon Still Out

SASKATOON, July 26.—The postal workers tonight agreed unanimously to stay by their original demand for a conciliation board and will remain out.

Winnipeg Conference.

WINNIPIEG, July 26.—On the arrival here of representatives of the various branches of the postal workers' organization throughout the west, a conference will be held at which it is expected a western strike executive will be sonstituted with Winnipeg as its headquarters. Two delegates from Regina have already arrived in the city, while Calgary's representative is expected to reach here tomorrow. Other branches have been asked to send delegates to this gathering.

Winnipeg's letter carriers, postal clerks and depot railway mail clerks are still on strike and express determination to remain out until the government accedes to their demands for a board of conciliation to deal with their grievances. At a mass meeting of strikers tonight a wire was read from Acting Premier C. J. Doherty stating:

"Your wire this date. There is no evasion on the subject of conciliation board. The government cannot grant any such board."

REGINA, Sask., July 26.—At midnight tonight the postal clerks and letter carriers of Regina were still out on strike. To use the words of the president of the postal clerks, "'we are not going back to work until this matter is settled and we have a board of conciliation." For the fourth day, therefore, Regina will wake tomorrow to receive no mail of any kind.

Mayor Black was not available at midnight tonight to give an expression of opinion in the matter of the telegram from the mayor of Vancouver. At a meeting of citizens held this morning, after the representatives of the strikers had submitted their grievances, a special committee of seven citizens was appointed to act on behalf of the citizens of Regina to confer with the men and taken whatever action they felt should be taken to obtain for the men their just demands. This committee spent the entire afternoon with the men and at the end, passed a resolution very similar in nature to that now received from Vancouver. The committee admitted the just grievances of the men, agreed to back the men in the enforcement of their rightful claims and suggested that the men go back to work, giving the government until Aug. 12 to grant the board of conciliation.

After this resolution had been accepted the citizens' committee waited on the strikers committee at the Trades Hall and discussed the situation again. The men promised consideration of the proposal of the citizens, but at midnight tonight issued an official statement to the effect that they would still remain out until they received instructions from Winnipeg Representatives of the local strikers are now in Winnipeg conferring with the new headquarters of the unions and it is said that whatever agreement is arrived at in the Manitoba capital will be accepted by the men here.

In the meantime labor circles are sitting pat. Not a letter has left the city since Thursday and not a letter has been delivered in the city. Business to the outside world is paralyzed and expressions obtained from prominent businessmen tonight indicate that if this question is not settled with the next 24 hours very drastic action may be looked for from the various business organizations of the city and district.

PRICES HARDEN DURING CLOSE

Market is Hesitant on Opening but Later Followed the Upturn Path.

(By Daily News Leased Wire.)

NEW YORK, July 26.—The stock market was hesitant and irregular in the first half of today's superficial session but prices hardened later, a few leaders making maximum quotations for the current movement.

The improvement of the afternoon was concurrent with the more encouraging views entertained by banking interests regarding the administration's taxation policy and the easier tone of call money, which was more abundant, although time funds were scarce and unchanged as to rates.

United States Steel was easily in the forefront, furnishing about 40 per cent of the offerings and attaining the highest price of the week at 108⅜, closing ⅛ under its best.

Bethlehem, Crucible and Lackawanna Steels, Republic Iron and Colorado Fuel gained 1 to 2 points; Utah Copper and oils 1 to 1½ points.

Rails were extremely listless, Union Pacific, as an instance, remaining altogether unquoted until at the close, while Reading slowly regained its 1-point reversal.

Internationals fared better than domestic issues in the irregular bond market. Paris 6s gained ⅝ and the Anglo-French 5s a small fraction. Total sales, par value, aggregated $4,925,000.

CANADIAN STOCKS LOOM UP AT TRADINGS

(By Daily News Leased Wire.)

MONTREAL, July 26.—Canadian stocks continued strong today with a considerable expansion in the volume of trading. Canada Forgings was again a spectacular specialty, adding at 200, a gain of no less than 26 points to an advance of 20 in the two days immediately preceding. Dealings in Forgings expanded from about 200 shares on Wednesday and about 850 on Thursday, to 1700 shares today, with the demand insistent enough to carry the price forward from 174 to 200, with very little reaction. Between-sales jumps of as much as 7 points were recorded. After touching 200 in a broken lot transaction by noon the price became established at 198 to 200 in the afternoon trading when about 500 shares changed hands between these levels. The close at 198 left a net gain of 24 points for the day. The unrestrained character of the buying plainly suggested some development of importance, as today's advance definitely carried the price far out of line with the rest of the market.

The more moderate sized gains in the balance of the market included 1 for Brazilian at 36; 1¼ for Wabasha Cotton at 46, a new high record, and 2½ for Ontario Steel Products at 28.

Bond business was made up of small lots scattered over a fairly large number of issues. Sales: Shares, 4117; bonds, $6100.

BRAZILIAN CONTINUES A TORONTO FEATURE

(By Daily News Leased Wire.)

TORONTO, July 26.—Buying of Brazilian, which developed suddenly on the local market Thursday, was continued today, this issue advancing another point to 36 and contributed the larger part of the day's transactions. Barcelona was higher here today, selling ⅜ up at 9⅞. Hope of an early peace is apparently responsible for the revival of interest in these stocks.

Canadian General Electric rose a point to 101¼ and Steel of Canada ⅛ to 65¼. Maple Leaf weakened a fraction. The first sale of Pacific Burt this year was at the minimum price of 34.

The war loans were quiet, the first selling unchanged at 95⅞ and the third ½ higher at 93½.

NUMEROUS SPEAKERS TAKE PLATFORM

ling to obtain water from the underground sources. Surface run-off should be conserved in ponds and reservoirs where possible. Settlers should conserve rain water from roofs by storage in cisterns, for domestic use. Land fronting on streams should be reserved for stock sanctuaries in times of drought.

Mr. Drake recommended cooperation between the Dominion and provincial governments in order to remedy conditions wherever possible.

Steps were being taken by the Dominion government to carefully investigate all cancelled stock watering reserves in the southern portions of the provinces of Alberta and Saskatchewan, with a view to continued reservation of any of them that could be used as stock sanctuaries or for domestic purposes.

Municipal Water Sytems.

In speaking of municipal water systems Mr. Drake said that in some of the larger cities and towns the situation was also critical and water had to be brought from distant sources of supply. It was necessary to have a supply not only for the ordinary uses but also for lawn and garden sprinkling. It was even more important that there should be sufficient for fire protection. Considerable sums had in some cases been expended in the construction of municipal water supply works without adequate investigation to determine either the sufficiency of the supply or its quality.

In speaking of the remedial measures, he remarked that it was obvious that the settler should help himself, wherever possible, and, that while he might not always be able to satisfactorily solves his problem, he could usually improve his condition materially. Rainfall could be collected from the roofs by means of eavestroughs and conducted to underground cisterns and stored for future use.

He said that too little attention had been heretofore given to the storage of water in ponds and reservoirs. While the feasibility and cost of such storage depended to a considerable extent upon local conditions, it was usually possible for settlers at small expense to construct ponds that would serve for stock watering and other purposes.

This was true except in times of drought, when the watering was low and possibly stagnant or stale, such ponds would probably prove satisfactory for all purposes, especially if filtered for drinking and cooking. The location of such ponds would depend primarily upon topographical conditions. Such ponds could usually be created by throwing a low dam of earth, brush or rock across a coulee for the storage of spring floods. Similar reservoirs on a large scale could at times be constructed through cooperative effort so as to serve several settlers or on a still larger scale by rural municipalities for the use of neighborhoods. A considerable extension of such work by the provincial governments would be decidedly in the public interest.

Tillage Methods.

He recommended the adoption of suitable methods of tillage for the conservation of rainfall in the soil. The conservation of rainwater by storage in cisterns for domestic use. The storage of flood run-off in ponds and reservoirs for domestic and stock purposes and the boring of deep wells in the artesian water district, and the conservation of the water so obtained either by control at the well, by storage in reservoirs, or by conducting it through natural channels to districts where it would be put to beneficial use.

The proper method of effecting satisfactory stream regulations was seemingly a problem deserving of more careful attention than it yet had received at the hands of the government and it was suggested that it was in the public interest that a commission should be appointed to study the whole question.

Get Engineering Advice.

It was essential that the best practical engineering advice should be obtained. The problem should be studied in all its phases and comprehensive plans and cost estimates prepared in order that the economical as well as the engineering aspect of the problem could be given careful consideration.

The government had for years been engaged in taking stock of the water asset by measuring the flow of streams and now had reasonably complete and accurate records of the total volume and seasonable variation of stream flow.

He predicted that a considerable part of the annual waste could be prevented. The annual flood losses could be prevented in a large measure and the water now wasted could be applied to beneficial use by a well devised system of stream regulation.

The problem was a big one and it deserved more consideration than it had yet received at the hands of the government, either in this or in most other countries.

Lawrence Questions.

C. E. Lawrence of Kamloops asked if the Dominion government was doing the work in Alberta and Saskatchewan. Did this offend the province or was the government working in harmony with the practise. The reply was that the reason for the federal government undertaking this work was that it controlled the water supply. The cooperation between the federal and provincial governments had been so far most cordial and he had not heard of any friction.

The question was raised as to why similar work was not extended in British Columbia, especially in the Dominion railway belt. It was suggested that the water supply of this province was controlled by the province government.

James White, assistant chairman of the commission of conservation, Ottawa, was the next speaker. In opening his remarks he paid a tribute to Sir Richard McBride, Hon. W. R. Ross and Hon. T. D. Pattullo for their cooperation with the commission.

The work of the commission in this province had been subsidized by a vote from the provincial government. He also paid a tribute to the water rights branch for its valuable work and cooperation.

The speaker remarked that the value of water power in the province was self apparent. The two great water supply sources in the province were Nelson and Vancouver.

Nelson's Water Power

The Pend d'Oreille river was also a source of water power. Within a radius of 50 miles of Nelson there was 400,000 horsepower awaiting development, or one-sixth of the total of the province. Within the same radius of Vancouver there was 300,000 horsepower. He remarked that there was no need to refer to the West Kootenay Power and Light company to show what this power had done for the district. He predicted great possibilities for the province when this power was developed. The power in the Nelson district would be ample for the needs of a population of 1,225,000 persons.

W. J. E. Biker asked the speaker if these figures included the 200 or 300 streams which were in the district and had a flow of from 5 to 100 cubic feet a second each. The reply was that the figures did not include these streams as some of the smaller streams could not be considered in taking a flow for the 365 days of the year and for 24 hours a day.

A. L. McCulloch stated that it was a regrettable fact that owing to the rain it had been impossible to take the delegates to Bonnington to view the water power supply. He predicted that in 15 or 20 years there would be great development in the water power of the district.

R. H. Campbell, director of forestry, Ottawa, addressed the meeting, dealing with Canada's natural resources as an imperial asset. On taking the platform he said he regretted not being in the city for the first two days of the convention and said that he realized he had missed something worth while when he was not here to enjoy more of the cordial reception given the delegates by the citizens of Nelson.

The speaker said that the war had shown to Canadians that they had to take a wider view of their place in the Empire and in the world. The spirit of individualism was no longer possible for the nation or the citizen.

Political economy had been for Canada the encouragement of trade and the development of the means of transportation. The consideration of national policy had been narrowed to a dispute between different trade theories instead of being broadened into a discussion which would embrace all the factors in a nation's development. Human life and natural resources had been a secondary thought while they were the most important factors in any system of national economy.

It would seem to be clear that one of the factors in Germany's commercial strength was the recognition of the place of the natural resources in the political economy of the country.

More definite knowledge of the water supply and methods of its utilization, more intimate understanding of forests, their life history and their products, better appreciation of Canada's mineral wealth and the methods of economic use, better understanding of the loss and distress of haphazard methods of colonization and a well thought out plan of direction and support for the establishment of prosperous and permanent communities were a basis of sure progress. In this the government had taken a large share.

He continued to say that the United Kingdom was dependent for more than 60 per cent of its timber on the virgin forests of foreign countries, which were being steadily depleted. The proportion derived from sources within the Empire fell from 22 per cent in 1899 to 10 per cent in 1913. Every year the Empire became more dependent on Russia, which in 1913 supplied nearly half the total imports.

"All our natural resources are possible of destruction in some way," Mr. Campbell said. Minerals are not easily destroyed but when they are used cannot be replaced. Water can be used

DUNLOP BICYCLE TIRES

Dunlop Motto: "Please the People!"

THINK OF THIS: The first automobile tire made in Canada was virtually an enlargement of the Dunlop Patented Bicycle Tire. And during all those years that the automobile tire has been striving to reach its present standard, the bicycle tire that served as a model has gone right on pleasing the bicycle owners. Years of doing it well—that and nothing more could make Dunlop Tires as supreme as they are to-day.

NO "FLAGRANT" DISREGARD OF FOOD LAWS HERE.

Rev. Ernest Thomas of Vancouver, who spoke in Nelson yesterday in support of food conservation, will do the cause he has at heart more harm than good by jumping to hasty conclusions with regard to the manner in which the food regulations are being observed.

After a few hours in Nelson Mr. Thomas made the public statement that he had here observed "some very flagrant disregarding" of food laws. The Daily News would suggest of Mr. Thomas that that statement contains an implication that is unjust to Nelson. If he would take the time to investigate he would find that no citizens in Canada are endeavoring more honestly and sincerely to carry out the food regulations. He will find that this applies both to places under regulation and to private households. This is not to say that still greater efforts toward conservation of food might not be made. It is possible for Canada as a whole by substitution to save still more of the foods which are needed for shipment overseas and Mr. Thomas, who is a clever speaker, can be of assistance to the food conservation movement. But he will find that it is not the part of wisdom to magnify some trivial technicality into "some very flagrant disregarding" of regulations. It may give a dramatic effect to a speech, but it irritates persons who are endeavoring, and with success, to carry out honestly the spirit of the food laws.

A VICTORY WHICHEVER WAY IT GOES.

It will probably be some days before the final result of the great battle in the west is known. That the allies have won a great victory is already certain. That that victory may develop into a crushing defeat for the Germans and the capture of many thousands of German soldiers by the allies is a possibility.

Whether the Germans can fight their way out of the pocket or not their losses must be enormous. If the main army gets away it can only do so at the expense of huge casualties. If it leaves a rearguard, that rearguard is practically doomed. If the whole body attempts to fight its way through the shell riven opening between the allied armies the fire from the British, French and American guns will do fearful execution among the massed men.

Foch is the man of the hour.

The poor of Saxony are eating dog meat, but some day the rich of Potsdam will eat crow.

Put in your winter's coal supply now. The grain movement will absorb every available car in the fall.

Rumor yesterday had the crown prince captured. Rumor is a lying jade but in this case she may be merely a little premature.

Kerensky has postponed his trip to the United States. Perhaps he has decided that there is still work for him to do in Russia. Certainly there is work aplenty for someone to do in that unfortunate country.

Nelson says farewell to the convention visitors with the hope that they have enjoyed their stay in the city and that she may soon have the opportunity, under more favorable weather conditions, of entertaining them again.

The Shoe and Leather Journal explains that low grade hides are low in price because the demand is for high grade hides, which are scarce, while the poorer hides are in abundance. This is why the price of good shoes is unaffected by the lower price for hides.

The Austrian cabinet is said to have resigned again, but that does not necessarily mean that the Austrians are so very resigned to the idea of remaining vassals of the Huns and an upheaval in Austria would not be surprising. If they remain as they are, they will continue to be nothing other than the slaves of the Hun kaiserites.

The imperial munitions board advertises that last year Canada produced 55 per cent of all the shrapnel, 42 per cent of all the 4.5's, and 27 per cent of all the 6-inch shells used by the British army. "Made in Canada" should be stamped on all such shells, to give Germany our compliments, suggests the Toronto Mail and Empire. But the disadvantage of that scheme would be that the Germans could only read it on "duds."

Corrigan, Sr. (warmly)—Ye're no son iv mine iv ye're goin' to fight wid yer fate. 'Tis yer jacket sleeves that ought to be wide at th' bottom.

Mendicant—Kind sir, I am penniless, starving, and my wife has left me.

Jones—Then what have you to complain about?

"Why is it, Sam, that one never hears of a darky committing suicide?" inquired the Northerner.

"Well, you see, it's disaway, boss: When a white pusson has any trouble he sets down an' gits to studyin' 'bout it an' a-worryin.' Then firs' thing you know he's done killed hisself. But when a nigger sets down to think 'bout his troubles, why, he jes' nacherly goes to sleep."

TOLD IN RHYME.

THE CROSS.

On the grave of an unknown British soldier:

The Cross is twined with gossamer,
The Cross some hand has shaped with care—
And by his grave the grasses stir
But he is silent sleeping there.

The guns speak loud; he hears them not.
The night goes by; he does not know—
A lone white cross stands on the spot
And tells of one who sleeps below.

The brooding night is hushed and still.
The crooning breeze draws quiet breath,
A star-shell flares upon the hill
And lights the lonely house of death.

To freedom's cause his life he gave
And dared the battle purpose sure,
A hero. Write upon his grave:
"He died that England might endure.
—Patrick McGill, "The Navvy Poet," now a British soldier in France.

MALVY RETAINS CONFIDENCE IN HIS COLLEAGUE

(By Daily News Leased Wire.)

PARIS, July 26.—Jean Leymarie, formerly the principal lieutenant in the interior department of Louis Malvy, who is on trial before the high court of the senate, was brought from Sante prison today to testify in the case. He is now under sentence of two years in prison, following his conviction of complicity with the directors of the Bonnet Rouge, the Germanophile newspaper.

He denied the testimony given by other witnesses that it was his policy in the interior department to encourage labor agitation.

While Leymarie was at the bar, Malvy arose and declared that all decisions taken by the former while in office were in accordance with his policy and that he still has his entire confidence.

PRISONERS TELL PRESIDENT POINCARE PLANS BETRAYED

(By Daily News Leased Wire.)

PARIS, July 26.—President Poincaire yesterday visited many of the recaptured villages in the war zone, including Longpont, Courcy and Coueuvre and decorated many heroes. The president also saw a batch of prisoners.

Many German prisoners declare that their plans have been betrayed, otherwise, they assert, their defeat is inexplicable, as everything had been so carefully planned for a German advance, which was to wedge itself between the French forces lying before Paris and those holding the eastern frontier, to enable the Germans to turn in whatever way they might decide and smash each front in turn.

"In Albania we are organizing our conquered positions. The number of prisoners captured in this region since July 21 is 680, including 20 officers.

(By Daily News Leased Wire.)

WASHINGTON, July 26.—Professional baseball players were given to Sept. 1 to seek essential employment or be called to the colors, in an order issued by Secretary Baker today, denying the application of the National baseball commission that the effective time of the work-or-fight regulations be extended to Oct. 15.

Provost Marshall Gen. Crowder, Mr. Baker said, had reported that it was not clear to him that the game would have to be discontinued even if the order were made immediately applicable, as only 237 major league players would be affected.

FULTON TO MEET DEMPSEY IN NEW JERSEY TODAY

(By Daily News Leased Wire.)

NEW YORK, July 26.—Fred Fulton and Jack Dempsey, the two foremost challengers for the heavyweight championship, are to meet in an eight-round bout at the old Federal league baseball park in Harrison, N. J., late this afternoon. As no decisions are allowed in New Jersey, it will require a knockout to declare an undisputed winner. It is planned to start the Fulton-Dempsey match about 6:30 or shortly afterward, so that moving pictures may be taken by daylight. These pictures will be donated to the war department for the entertainment of the soldiers. John Eckhardt of Atlantic City, a former pugilist of note, will act as referee.

CINCINNATI, July 26.—Ban Johnson, president of the American league, said the decision of Secretary Baker was satisfactory to him.

AT THE THEATRES

"The Widow's Might."

The popular feminine impersonator, Julian Eltinge, is to be seen in his latest Paramount picture, "The Widow's Might," at the Starland theatre on Monday. This is a fascinating story written especially for Mr. Eltinge by Marion Fairfax and directed by William C. DeMille. Mr. Eltinge is again given the opportunity to display his famous wardrobe of feminine finery and his talents as a female impersonator.

The story is that of a young New Yorker who decides to dabble in ranching and narrowly misses being robbed by a notorious crook. How he succeeds in foiling the designs of this gentleman through the disguise of a woman, how the disguise gets him into lots of trouble with the girl he loves, but how he at length wins out and saves both his girl and the ranch, makes a story of fun and adventure throughout.

IN DESERT LANDS.

Annual rainfalls range from a fraction of an inch in portions of the Andes mountains in South America and the great desert regions of Africa and Asia, to 600 inches, or fifty feet, in parts of eastern India. From the northern part of California to Alaska there is a stretch having an annual precipitation of 100 or more inches and even this amount detracts much from the comfort of living as well as from the agricultural possibilities of the soil.

Mrs. Rice Uses Lots of Rice

Mrs. Rice told one of our girls that she finds rice the greatest wheat saver of any substitute.

They have it plain boiled, in puddings and croquettes. Mrs. Rice says they tired of it at first but she determined that as wheat was needed by her boys at the front (she has two sons serving) they must learn to like it.

Now they like it and do not care for so much bread.

She uses Pacific Milk in all her puddings and as a "binding" for croquettes.

This wheat saving method might be worth consideration.

over again and is replaced by natural processes, but it may be destroyed for present use by interference with the source of supply or means of storage by denuding the watersheds of forests or by alienation of the storage basins. Forests are the most easily destructible of all, by fire, by insects, by fungi, by cutting operations, but it is one of the natural resources that can be reproduced. It is rather discouraging, however, to find that on a certain tract of sand lands there has been planted in one year 40 acres while in the same year and on the same lands 2000 acres of young growth were burned up.

He concluded by saying that the development of the natural resources and the upbuilding of the prosperity of the country on a firm and permanent basis is one which will require study and research by the most competent men who could be obtained to undertake it. It would require the cooperation of the various governments and public services as well as private organizations to carry it out to the fullest possible extent. Such work was not only a necessary part of duty to country but to the whole Empire so that Canada might contribute its material strength and its share of this strength and upbuilding.

Premier Oliver Speaks.

Premier John Oliver was the next speaker. He stated his regret at not being able to arrive for the first part of the convention. He congratulated the delegates on choosing the hospitable city of Nelson as the meeting place for the convention. He said that coming from the coast and having just made two trips through the dry part of the prairie he appreciated the rains.

"Being an old mossback and as moss requires moisture, I feel quite at home here," was the premier's remark.

He said that he had not had practical experience in irrigation but had more experience in getting the water away from the land. Dyking was more in his line than irrigating. He said that irrigation was as important to British Columbia as it was to other provinces.

He referred to several irrigation projects some of which had been a failure. He believed that to deal successfully with irrigation, farmers in the province must profit by their past experiences. One of the main reasons for past failures had been the fact that some irrigation projects had been installed just for the purpose of making the land saleable and not with a view to permanency.

Plan Carefully.

The premier added that any project must be carefully planned and this referred especially to irrigation. Before installing an irrigation system proper preparations must be made. The irrigator must have sufficient land, which from its productive power would warrant the expenditure for the system. The fertility of the land must be evident. The exhaustibility of the soil must be considered and before installation the owner should make certain as to whether or not it would pay for itself in a number of years. Whether or not the fertility could be restored in a profitable way, must be considered. Also labor, transportation and many other factors must be taken into consideration.

"Never take the maximum market price of the maximum crop when preparing to install an irrigation system," was Mr. Oliver's advice. "In the past there has been too much rule of thumb. The desire is to get the project going."

He said that increased production was necessary not only on account of the enormous wastage but also because of the piling up of an indebtedness for the future. This indebtedness would not end with the conclusion of the war. The period of reconstruction would be the worst and everything would have to be pledged. Men would have to give everything they had in the world. What they had saved against old age would have to be given to combat this condition.

"We must do this or we will face anarchy and destruction," was Mr. Oliver's statement. "The climax has to be faced now. We must increase production if we are to face the enormous load which is coming in the future. Strikes and other labor troubles have made it almost impossible for the business men to make a contract. The biggest cause is the scarcity of produce. The production is not meeting the consumption. Money will not buy something which does not exist. It takes three or four times as much money to produce as it did four years ago. We have to live on less.

"Now is the time to make plans for the period of reconstruction. Nature will bring things to a perfect balance. If we are doing our duty by ourselves we will do what we can to bring that pendulum to the balance point with the least hardship."

Rev. Ernest Thomas, minister of Wesley church, Vancouver, traveling in the interests of the Canada food board, said that irrigation had saved the two finest campaigns of the war in Palestine and in Mesopotamia.

"Since I have been in this hospitable city of Nelson I have seen some very flagrant disregarding of the food laws," was Mr. Thomas' remark in speaking of conditions. He went on to describe plans urged by himself in Vancouver whereby the women, instead of playing golf and bridge would shoulder rakes and hoes instead of golf sticks and go out to work on the land.

He said that the increased demand for wheat called for by the British authorities was 213,000,000 bushels. Canada had increased this amount by 128,000,000 bushels. The amount of beef asked for was 440,000,000 pounds and Canada had exceeded this amount by 35,000,000 pounds. The amount of pork asked for was 620,000,000 pounds and Canada had exceeded this amount by 128,000,000 pounds.

The saving accomplished through recent regulations of the Canada food board in shortening had been 19 tons in the city of Vancouver alone. This only applied to eating houses and there was the fact that at least 65 per cent of the baking done in that city was done in the homes. Nine tons of fat had been saved by prohibiting doughnuts.

He said that there was very little if any profiteering. There was a surplus of bacon in Canada at present, owing to the fact that the transports were being used for troops. He predicted that after the troops had been transported across there would be a great demand for this commodity.

Mr. Thomas stated that the live stock shortage at present was 115,000,000 head and that this amount would have to be made up to overtake the shortage.

He praised the irrigation convention and such valuable work as an asset in the development of production.

Mr. Thomas said that Germany had kept her armies in the field not by her regular agricultural activities, but by war gardens which were cultivated by the women. The time had come in Canada when it was necessary to call on the women to work on the land. When it was remembered that girls were going up into the north of Alberta to teach and had given up their holidays it was up to the women to do something.

He spoke of the new laws which enabled vacant lots to be commandeered for cultivation and told of the compensation which could be collected from owners who built with the result that the garden was spoiled.

In Vancouver there had been 4500 additional war gardens cultivated and for the same period Winnipeg had cultivated 20,000

"It is time we stopped importing butter into British Columbia," was the speaker's statement. "We import butter from Alberta which should be exported to the troops."

He said that charges to the discredit of the food board had been investigated and had been proved to be without foundation. He urged the use of less sugar and said that with practise porridge could be eaten without this commodity.

J. A. Grant, provincial markets commissioner, Victoria, confined his remarks to marketing problems as relating to the fruit growers of the interior of British Columbia. He reviewed the question of prices and pointed out that there was considerable difference between the price which was realized by the grower and that paid by the consumer in the prairie provinces. In the discussion which followed, C. E. Lawrence of Kamloops said that the fruit growers were in the same box as the wool growers in which line he was interested. At this point Mr. Lawrence pointed out that wool cost three times what it did before the war and thought that sheep raising was as important as the raising of stock.

F. W. Nash of Renata said that he did business in a small way and sold direct to the retailer and in that way overcame the middleman's profit.

Senator Bostock said that he thought there was too much spread in the prices on the prairie and the amount received by the grower. He suggested an organization of purchasers to buy in carload lots. This was already under consideration, one of the delegates replied.

A. Griffin, superintendent of operation and maintenance of the Canadian Pacific railway at Brooks, Alta., in speaking on irrigation problems as they confronted the people of western Canada, referred to plans which had been worked out in California. Private companies, he said, were generally failures, as the private company always had difficulty in marketing the water which invariably resulted in a widely scattered system. In California the old English law had applied which gave no man a right to change the quantity or quality of a stream. This was a mistake, he declared. Ingorance was a detriment to carrying out irrigation schemes. The original law in California provided for a tax in improvements on land to maintain irrigation systems. This had proved a failure and a flat rate was now charged on each acre of land.

The systems were maintained under district control. This was better than government control, as those in the district better knew local conditions. Attorneys were only consulted to find out what was forbidden and not what they could do. He took up the cost in different districts, which ran from $3.50 to $5 an acre. The sizes of the different irrigation projects, in terms of acres, were given as follows: Waterford, 14,000; Modesto, 81,000; Tulock, 176,000; South San Joaquin, 71,000; and Oakdale, 72,000 acres. He explained fur-

WITH SELF FORGOT

Greatness is achieved, not by direct and eager chase, but while we are looking for something else.

It is the little things we get by hot endeavor.

The great things come to us, as it were, around a corner. We never become beautiful, or eloquent, or popular, or happy, or intellectual, or even good, by hard labor.

Whatever we get of such things will come to us when we are most self-forgetful, and most absorbed in the service of our kind.—Edward Judson.

ANTHEM FOR ALL ALLIED NATIONS

Sung at International Services in St. Paul's Cathedral After America Entered War.

The following is the "International Anthem" that was sung in St. Paul's cathedral in London at a great international service in April, 1918, after the entry of the United States into the war. The service was attended by the King, the members of the British government, the United States ambassador and the ambassadors of the allied countries:

Two Empires by the Sea,
Two nations great and free,
One anthem raise.
One race of ancient fame,
One tongue, one faith we claim,
One God, Whose glorious Name
We love and praise.

What deeds our fathers wrought,
What battles we have fought,
Let Fame record.
Now vengeful passion cease,
Come victories or Peace,
Nor Hate nor Pride's caprice,
Unsheath the sword.

Though deep the sea and wide,
'Twixt realm and realm its tide
Binds strand to strand.
So be the gulf between
Gray coasts and islands green
With bonds of peace serene
And friendship spanned.

Now, may the God above
Guard the dear lands we love,
Both East and West.
Let Love more fervent glow,
As peaceful ages go,
And strength yet stronger grow,
Blessing the blest.

FRUIT BUTTER AS SUBSTITUTE

Bruised or Parts of Second Rate Fruits Can Be Utilized in This Way

Fruit butters may be made from good sound fruits or the sound portions of fruits which are wormy or have been bruised. Wash, pare and remove seeds if there are any. Cover with water and cook three or four hours at a low temperature, stirring often, until the mixture is of the consistency of thick apple sauce. Add sugar to taste when the boiling is two-thirds done. Spices may be added to suit the taste when the boiling is completed. If the pulp is coarse it should be put through a wire sieve or colander. Pour the butter into sterilized jar, put on rubber and cover and adjust top bail. Put into a container having a cover and false bottom. Pour in an inch or so of water and sterilize quart jar or smaller jar five minutes after the steam begins to escape. Remove, push snap in place and cool.

Apple Butter With Cider

Four quarts of sweet or sterilized cider should be boiled down to two quarts. To this add four quarts of apples peeled and cut in small pieces. If the texture of the apples is coarse they should be boiled and put through a strainer before being added to the cider. Boil this mixture until the cider does not separate from the pulp. When two-thirds done add one pound of sugar. One-half teaspoonful each of cinnamon, allspice and cloves may be added. Pour into sterilized jars and sterilize five minutes in steam.

Apple and pear butter may be made by following the directions for apple butter with cider but omitting the cider.

Peach Butter

Dip peaches in boiling water long enough to loosen the skins. Dip in cold water, peel and stone them. Mash and cook them without adding any water. Add half as much sugar as pulp and cook until thick. Pour into sterilizing jars and sterilize five minutes in steam.

Plum butter may be made following the directions for peach butter.

Apple Butter With Grape Juice

To every four quarts of strained apple sauce add one pint of grape juice, one cup of brown sugar and one-quarter teaspoonful of salt. Cook slowly, stirring often, until of the desired thickness. When done stir in one teaspoonful of cinnamon, pack in hot jars and sterilize five minutes in steam.

Dried Peach Butter

Soak dried peaches over night. Cook slowly until tender. To each two pounds of canned peaches add 1¾ pounds of sugar. If a fine texture is desired, strain pulp through a colander. Cook slowly, stirring often, until thick. Pack in hot jars and sterilize five minutes in steam.

LONG HAIRED DOGS SUPPLY SOFT WOOL FOR SOCKS

War is responsible for many new and unexpected industries not the least of which is the manufacture of knitting wool from the combings of dogs. A few ladies conceived the idea from utilizing the combings in this way and after long and patient experimenting the process of spinning was perfected. Scientists have become interested in the discovery and a small room in the Victoria and Albert Museum has been set aside for an exhibit of the work. Important propositions have come from the commercial world which was quick to see the possibilities of this new industry but, while the war lasts there is no commercial side to the undertaking.

Long haired dogs furnish the material used, and wool of unusual silkiness and softness is spun from their combings. A pale, gold sock light as silk but whose warmth is instantly realized when the sock is held to the cheek or against the hand was knitted from the combings of a Pekingese. The whitest and softest of socks for the wounded come from the combings of a white poodle. Cardigans or hard wearing socks of soft grey are furnished by the old English sheep dog. Black as jet, stainless and glossy is the wool given by the curly retriever.

Collies, cockers, Chows and Pomeranians, Barzois and Yorkshires, perky or dignified all yield the most delightful wool. Lightness and softness and warmth are truly admirable qualities in wool but this new kind possesses unheard of wearing qualities. Absolute proof of this is given in a grey cardigan which has been worn in the front line continuously since last autumn and washed repeatedly without showing the least sign of wear.

Women
AT HOME AND ABROAD.

More than 25 teaching sisters from the various Roman Catholic convents in western Ontario are among those who are taking the special course in agriculture with the teachers. They come from Hamilton, London, Windsor, Chatham and other places, and are preparing themselves to teach agriculture in the convents. This is the first time the sisters have attended this school.

Dr. George R. Pirie, formerly of Calgary, is superintendent of the children's hospital in London in which Princess Mary, daughter of the King and Queen, is serving as a probationer. News to this effect has been received from the old country where Dr. Pirie has been resident for about five years.

London.—Women doctors are in great demand in England. Municipal authorities in all parts of the country are advertising for women doctors to take over the work of men called for military duty. Manchester wants a woman health officer at $2000 a year, while Denbigh and Derby are seeking women doctors for municipal welfare work at a similar salary. The government is trying to get women doctors for posts in Natal and Egypt at $2500 to $3000 a year.

Hood River, Ore.—When the People's Navigation steamboat Tahoma docked here recently freight was transferred by laughing, jesting women.

"This is the first time any mid-Columbia River steamboat has ever carried women as deckhands," said Jack Bagley, local agent for the river line, "but they seem to be making good."

Mr. Bagley has designated the new women workers as "deckettes."

Ice cream sundaes and chocolates are to be banned by five Toronto girls in order that they may adopt five French orphans. Each young lady has formed a team of ten girls who are willing to forego two ice creams a week, also a box of chocolates a month in order to contribute $11 monthly toward the upkeep of some poor little French child.

CAN SHIP WHEAT FROM WEST TO EUROPE

(By Daily News Leased Wire.)

VANCOUVER, B. C., July 26.—"It has been demonstrated beyond question that wheat, carrying even a very high percentage of moisture, can be transported from Vancouver via the Panama canal to Europe without suffering injury at all."

This is the opinion of the board of Canada grain commissioners as expressed by J. P. Jones, a member of the board, who reached Vancouver on Friday.

SIBERIAN GOVERNMENT HAS RESIGNED, REPORT

LONDON, July 26.—The Siberian government, including the premier, has resigned, says a Vladivostok despatch to the Times.

The government referred to is probably that recently set up by Gen. Horvath.

MANY HUN OFFICERS REPORTED KILLED

(By Daily News Leased Wire.)

GENEVA, July 26.—The German newspapers have begun to publish long lists of officers killed. Among them is that of Gen. Unverzagt, attached to the staff of Gen. von Boehm, on the Marne front.

TEN DOLLAR BILLS USED AS BOOK MARKS

Checks, ten and five dollar bills seem strange book marks, but tucked away in the volumes upon the book shelves of the late Ven. Archdeacon Boddy, for 40 years rector of St. Peter's church, Carlton street, his heirs and eexcutors have found ums amounting to $2100. The recent sale of his library brought the stock to light, though it is 13 years since he died.

It was in the library of the rectory on Winchester street, among the 3000 volumes that the extroardinary discovery was made. The archdeacon was notoriously absent-minded and it was suggested that when he received a special fee, for weddings or some extra service, he slipped it into a book he was reading and forgot all about it. Whatever the secret may have been, the reason for the presence of the money in the volumes will never now be known.

The first find occurred a long time after the archdeacon's death, when a member of the family in looking through a volume of drawings of John Leech, the celebrated cartoonist, discovered a $10 bill between the pages and in another of the three volumes a $5 bill was encountered. This led to a systematic search of the whole library with the result that $950 was found in cash and $1150 in checks. As many of the checks had been made out by people long since dead, they were, of course, of no value, but the story brings the archdeacon, with all his endearing idiosyncracies, vividly to the memory of all who knew him.

Only 35 Toronto residents applied for permission to raise hogs in their back yards, and of these half failed to take advantage of the privilege, according to the department of health.

BISHOP FALLON VISITS SOLDIERS

Tells of Impressions of His Trip and Conditions in England and France.

Bishop Fallon, who has just returned from visiting the Canadian corps in France, gave some impressions of his trip and conditions which he found among Canadians there and also in England.

"Either the Canadian army took total abstinence pledges for the period of my visit," said the bishop, "or the wholesale charges of drunkenness sometimes made against them are groundless. During my tour of France I met tens of thousands of Canadians under all conditions. I did not see one man under the influence of liquor. I do not say there was no drinking. The fact that there were inns and canteens showed the contrary and is the best testimony to the strength and character of our men in this regard. Not prohibition but temperance was the condition which I found existing.

"You ask me about conditions in London. I declare at once I have seen only one soldier under the influence of liquor. But I do feel there are moral dangers that the civil authorities might deal with more completely. I had several conversations with Canadian generals, medical officers and chaplains on this matter and I was pleased above all to find the whole hearted agreement among them as to means for dealing with this particular problem.

"I think there may have been exaggerations in certain quarters, but the evil, as the most superficial student of social matters well knows, is so serious that I was glad to find the military authorities fully prepared to deal with it and recognized it can only be done completely by stimulation of the moral character of every individual man."

Bishop Fallon said while in France he was invited to go into every aspect of the life of the Canadian army and was amazed at the perfection of the transportation system, and when visiting the forestry units could almost believe he was in a lumbering district of Canada.

While visiting men in billet he found them reasonably well housed, very well fed, and was particularly struck with methods adopted for the prevention of sickness and accommodation for the wounded. Canadian hospitals are model institutions and the same may be said of casualty clearing stations many being within range of shell fire.

Another striking feature was the care taken of the effects of those fallen, even of the tiniest souvenirs from the body of a dead soldier, in itself of no intrinsic value, was most carefully preserved for the comfort of the bereaved widow or mother.

Rev. Frank Bushfield, late of the Alberta Methodist conference, has been appointed district chaplain of military district No. 10, Winnipeg, with headquarters at Winnipeg.

Home comfort in all weathers

A poor furnace well installed might give satisfaction for a time.
But a good furnace poorly installed can never be successsful,
—while a good furnace properly installed will give best results from the day it is fired up.

The Sunshine Furnace, installed the McClary way, is guaranteed by McClarys to warm every room in your house—to warm it with the right quality, as well as quantity, of heat, —to make your home healthy, pleasant and enjoyable in all weathers.

And it is to do these things a furnace is for—those are the results which mark the successful furnace. The furnace that fails to do them all the time is only a nuisance.

The Sunshine Furnace is a never failing source of pleasure, satisfaction and home comfort.

Engineering Service Free. McClary's own heating engineers are at your service when you buy a Sunshine Furnace, to give you free expert advice on your home-heating requirements. Write to the nearest McClary Branch and ask for particulars about this service. A booklet, "Comfort in the Home," makes clear all the things you want to know about furnaces, and it is sent free on request.

ROWLAND BOURKE AWARDED D.S.O.

Nelson Man Has the Distinction of Gaining Promotion and Order for the Same Act

Lieut.-Commander Rowland Bourke has been awarded the D.S.O. for the part he played in the Ostend raid, where he was in command of a motor launch which rescued several of the crew of the ship sunk in the harbor. Word to this effect was received by his mother, Mrs. I. Bourke, Carbonate street.

Lieut.-Commander Bourke is now on his return overseas after spending a few weeks leave in the city. He was granted leave while his launch was being repaired following injuries done during the raid.

A feature of the award is that Commander Bourke was given both promotion and the award for the same display of bravery. It is stated that this is an honor rarely given and that usually only the order or the promotion is allowed for the one display of courage.

FRENCH GENERAL ARRIVES AT BERNE

(By Daily News Leased Wire.)

BERNE, July 26.—Among the last convoy of French prisoners arriving from Germany for internment at Inlaken was Lieut. De Castelnau, son of Gen. De Castelnau, former chief of the French general staff. Three of the general's sons have been killed in the war.

Says corns stop hurting, then lift right off without one bit of pain

Hospital records show that every time you cut a corn you invite lockjaw or blood poison, which is needless, says a Cincinnati authority, who tells you that a quarter ounce of a drug called freezone can be obtained at little cost from the drug store but it is sufficient to rid one's feet of every hard or soft corn or callus.

You simply apply a few drops of this freezone on a tender, aching corn and the soreness is instantly relieved. Shortly the entire corn can be lifted out, root and all, without pain.

This drug is sticky but dries at once and is claimed to just shrivel up any corn without inflaming or even irritating the surrounding tissue or skin.

If your wife wears high heels she will be glad to know this.

FINE CITY OF ANTWERP ONE MILLION FRANCS

(By Daily News Leased Wire.)

AMSTERDAM, July 26.—Antwerp has been fined a million francs and Jan Devos, the burgomaster, has been deposed by the Germans because of recent happenings in the city, says the Belgique Dagblad. Activists celebrating July 11 were beaten and a number of activist prisoners of war from Goetingen were half killed by inhabitants for carrying on anti-Belgian propaganda in the city. Doctors refused o attend the men, whom they called traitors and were consequently deported to Germany.

SUMMER COMPLAINT
CAUSES MANY DEATHS AMONG INFANTS.

If every mother would keep on hand, during the hot season, a bottle of Dr. Fowler's Extract of Wild Strawberry, she would be saved a great deal of anxiety and her baby a great deal of pain.

Hundreds of infants are carried off annually through neglect of this simple precaution. There is no remedy so safe and effectual for the cramps and pains in the stomach, cholera infantum, the diarrhoea of teething children, and none which has saved so many babies' lives during the past seventy-two years it has been on the market.

Mrs. C. W. Cooper, Collingwood, Ont., writes: "When my little boy was four months old he had a very bad attack of summer complaint. Nothing seemed to do him any good that was prescribed by the doctor. He got steadily worse until we thought we would lose him. One day, a friend with children of his own, asked me if I had ever used Dr. Fowler's Extract of Wild Strawberry. I at once got a bottle but with no hopes of it doing any good, as so much else had failed, but to my surprise and wonder I soon saw a change in baby, much to my relief, and we soon had him well again.

"I now keep it in the house all the time and when the children show any signs of diarrhoea it never fails to check the attack."

There are many substitutes for Dr. Fowler's on the market. Don't accept any of them. Get the genuine put up by The T. Milburn Co., Limited, Toronto, Ont. Price 35c.

PRINCE ARTHUR VISITS COWICHAN TO FISH

VICTORIA, B. C., July 26.—Prince Arthur of Connaught, accompanied by his suite and Major-Gen. R. G. Leckie and Hon. J. D. McLean, provincial secretary, made the trip to Qualicum today to inspect the military convalescent home there.

Tonight the royal visitor and his suite are staying at Cowichan where a trout fishing trip has been arranged for tomorrow.

HON. MARSHALL LIKES NELSON CHERRIES

In the corridors at the Central school and in the lobbies of the hotels, one of the subjects of discussion has been one not directly pertaining to irrigation. It's cherries and flowers. All of the out-of-province delegates vouch their admiration and incidentally one of the most oft-repeated comments of the week seems to be expressions of thanks for the thoughtfulness of the members of the women's committee, who gave a box of cherries and bouquet of flowers to each one of the delegates registered at the different hotels.

"It was one of those little things that make a fellow feel at home, somehow," was the way Hon. Duncan Marshall referred to it, when speaking to another delegate at the Hotel Strathcona yesterday.

FIGHTING GOES ON IN ALBANIA

(By Daily News Leased Wire.)

ROME, July 26.—The official communication issued today says:

"Enemy patrols have been repulsed in the Presba valley. As a result of a raid east of Zocchi the French took 15 prisoners.

"In Albania Wednesday the enemy columns twice stormed with great violence our positions from Ardenac to the north of the Lower Semeni. Both times they were repulsed. The same day another column crossing the Semeni to the east of Kuci made our advanced post retire. A counter-attack Thursday morning drove the enemy to the river."

Vienna's Statement

VIENNA, July 26.—The Austrian official communication issued today dealing with the situation in Albania says:

"Between Kuci and the sea we have reached the Semeni at many points. Enemy counterattacks were dispersed."
