LEGISLATIVE ASSEMBLY 1919 VICTORIA, B.C.

CAPT. HOY FLIES OVER THE ROCKIES

IS FIRST FLIGHT OVER THE CANADIAN RANGE—LANDS AT CALGARY.

PASSED OVER NELSON; HALL'S PLANE WRECKED

First Machine to Pass Over Nelson Came to Grief at Canyon City Yesterday.

CALGARY, Aug. 7.—Capt. Hoy successfully completed the first air flight over the Canadian Rockies this evening, when he landed at Bowness Park, west of the city, at 8:55, in the presence of a great crowd of citizens. Hoy was met by Acting Mayor McCoubrey, Brig. General McDonald, officials of the Air Club and others, and tendered a luncheon at the Palliser. Tomorrow he will be entertained at a banquet. Hoy made a pefrect landing and is none the worse for his trip. He says that his trip was most enjoyable and successful in every way. His time from Lethbridge to Calgary, a distance of 130 miles, was one hour and forty minutes. He made the trip in from Vulcan to the city, 80 miles, in 25 minutes.

Pass Over Nelson

The first trans-Rocky flight from Vancouver to Calgary, marking a new epoch in aerial navigation in Canada, was yesterday completed by Capt. E. C. Hoy of the Aerial League of Canada, Vancouver, who made the flight in 14 hours and 45 minutes, with six stops at various points en route. A second machine piloted by Lieut. Hall also of the Aerial League of Canada, Vancouver, essayed the flight, but after successfully combatting the elements as far as Canyon City, near the entrance to the Crows Nest, he damaged his machine by striking an automobile while endeavoring to avoid a crowd which had gathered to greet him and was unable to continue further.

Lieut. Hall was rising to leave Canyon City when the accident happened.

Flew on Schedule

Yesterday being the really first fine flying day since the word was received that Nelson was to be in the line of the first trans-Rocky flight the city was alive with interest almost from sunrise and practically the entire city waited in suspense for the arrival of the two airmen. Nor were they disappointed, for practically sharp to schedule time the graceful outline of the first machine came into sight from the direction of the Cottonwood creek valley flying at an estimated speed of from 60 to 75 miles per hour at a height of about 4000 feet.

This machine was that of Lieut. Hall, which, from Grand Forks, struck a line dead east until in the vicinity of Salmo, then turned north along the line of the Great Northern railway to the city. Lieut. Hall's machine was in sight for fully 15 minutes as it passed, and left behind, the city and its environs.

Following in the wake of Lieut. Hall's machine came that of Capt. Hoy, who, on leaving Grand Forks, followed the line of the Canadian Pacific railway and the Kootenay river, taking a short cut shortly before reaching Nelson and flying over Mt. Nelson, directly opposite the city. Capt. Hoy was traveling at about the same rate of speed as Lieut. Hall, but higher, apparently getting ready for the highest altitude he would have to make on the trip when he took the air line to Cranbrook from Proctor which necessitated a flight directly over the intervening mountains.

Nor was Nelson the only place that awaited the airmen, for practically along the entire route the population gathered to greet, wave a welcome to or extend well wishes for success to the intrepid airmen. At Grand Forks the places of business closed and the entire population turned out to welcome the aviators and after they had replenished their supply of gasoline to give them a hearty sendoff. Capt. Hoy arrived at Grand Forks at 10:34 o'clock and during his stop there Lieut. Hall passed him.

At Grand Forks, Capt. Hoy alighted on Columbia flats, where a large gathering had congregated upon word from Midway that he had passed that point. To enter the Grand Forks valley he had to cross the Fisherman range, the highest mountains west of the city, and on leaving he followed the line of the Kettle Valley railway, ascending the mountain range east of Cascade.

At Cranbrook at 2:04

Capt. Hoy reached Cranbrook at 2:04 o'clock, 13 minutes ahead of schedule time, and after circling

TELEGRAM IS CORRECT, BUT STOLEN

HON. ARTHUR MEIGHEN EXPLAINS STATEMENT READ TO LIBERALS

OPPOSITION HAS SOME PRIVILEGES AS GOVERNMENT

Soldiers of Canadian Army Who Had no Canadian Domicile Known as Voters-at-Large

OTTAWA, Aug. 7.—Hon. Arthur Meighen, after being shown a copy of the telegram read by J. J. Adamson at the Liberal convention today, purporting to have been addressed to the prime minister and signed by Mr. Meighen, said:

"I have no recollection of the message, however, but under the statute all soldiers in the Canadian army who had no Canadian domicile, such for example as British subjects resident in the United States, who themselves numbered many thousands, could choose the constituency in which they voted and were known as voters-at-large. There was indeed no other way at least no fairer way, in which they could be given the franchise. These soldiers were naturally desirous of voting where their votes would be most effective, and all that could be done, and all that was done, was to inform them where such votes could be most effective. The position in this respect had precisely the same privilege as the government, that is, wherever there were soldiers who wanted to vote for them. There is nothing whatever wrong about the telegram—except the theft of it."

The following alleged letters and telegrams were read at the Liberal convention by Mr. Adamson:

Telegram from Senator Sharpe to A. E. Blount, formerly secretary to Sir Robert Borden:—

"Winnipeg, Man., Dec. 5, 1917.

"Mr. A. E. Blount:

"There has been a big row created here by E. F. Hutchings in reference to his son being conscripted. He offered to subscribe five hundred thousand dollars to Victory loan provided his son was not conscripted. His son has been conscripted. He is now appealing to Judge Duff at Ottawa. You must see that no decision is made on this before election.

"We want to keep him in doubt until after election and then his conscription should be upheld or it will cause a small rebellion here. Please see proper people and have this matter arranged. (Signed).

"W. H. Sharpe."

"I charged the prime minister, Sir Robert Borden, and his colleagues and Sir Arthur Meighen," Mr. Adamson declared, "that they conspired to, were personally active in, and have been guilty of the most glaring election corruption and fraud." Pacifist scandal, he added, paled into insignificance in comparison.

He then read a telegram which he said Mr. Meighen sent in code to Sir Robert Borden. The telegram was as follows:

"Winnipeg, Man., Nov. 30, 1917.

"Robert L. Borden, Ottawa, Ont.:

"Would like one thousand soldier votes at large for Manitoba, of which 300 for Selkirk, balance divided between Provenchere, MacDonald and Springfield, or same proportion of division no matter what our allotment may be. (Signed),

"Arthur Meighen."

Sharpe to Tanner

Mr. Adamson then read a third telegram which, he said, Senator Sharpe sent to Senator Tanner from Winnipeg on December 4. The telegram read:

"Winnipeg, Man., Dec. 4, 1917.

"Senator Tanner, Halifax, N.S.:

"W. J. Tupper received a telegram from your assistant secretary and in reply would say please allot all unattached votes equally among the following constituencies: Provenchere, Springfield and Selkirk, for the province of Manitoba; and in Saskatchewan, Saltcoats, North Battleford, Prince Albert, Swift Current and Humboldt. This will assist us greatly. (Signed), W. H. Sharpe.

"Charge Union government committee."

ORGANIZING NEW LABOR COUNCIL AT VANCOUVER

VANCOUVER, Aug. 7.—On instructions from the American Federation of Labor and the Dominion Trades Congress, a meeting called by Alfred Farmilo, general organizer, was held here tonight at which a large number of unions was represented. The meeting was held for the purpose of reorganizing the Vancouver Trades and Labor council, which has been split by the One Big Union. Committees were named to draw up or revise the present constitution and the date for the nomination of officers was set for August 21, with the election one week later.

ADMIRAL'S MAIDEN SPEECH CENSORED BY HIS CHIEF

SAN DIEGO, Cal., Aug. 7.—A speech prepared by Admiral Hugh Rodman, commander-in-chief of the Pacific fleet, to be delivered by him at a banquet tendered by citizens of San Diego tonight, was censored and he was told not to deliver it by Secretary of the Navy Daniels, Admiral Rodman said when he was called upon to respond to a toast which was to have been the reason for the speech.

The speech was to have been the first ever delivered in public by Admiral Rodman, Toastmaster Eugene Daney, of San Diego, said, as he proposed the toast.

Mr. Daney said he had been to considerable trouble trying to obtain the admiral's consent to make a speech and the admiral had told him he never before had spoken in public.

FAMILY FEUDS AIRED AT TRIAL

Crown Attempts to Show Results of Propaganda Spread by Men Accused of Sedition

WINNIPEG, Aug. 7.—How her striking neighbors made a mannikin, covered his face with a bloody handkerchief and led Mrs. F. R. Ross, McAdam avenue, Kildonan, to believe it was her husband who had returned to work at the postoffice, was told by Mrs. Ross at the trial Thursday afternoon of eight labor leaders for seditious conspiracy.

A feud still exists between the Ross family and their neighbors over the occurrence, and a neighbor whose wife refused to send away the nephews of Mr. Ross, who were living at their house, has left his wife in consequence, witnesses declared.

This was one of the many incidents testified to by switnesses in an attempt by the crown to show the results of the propaganda of the eight accused. Introduction of evi*dence of this nature* was the cause of a bitter legal fight, in which E. J. McMurray, counsel for the defense, strongly opposed it as irrelevant.

Magistrate R. M. Noble again ruled that any effect of the strike other than the actual quitting of their work by strikers could be admitted as evidence against the labor leaders, as showing the results of their activities. Captain G. F. Wheeler, president of the Imperial Veterans of Canada, and H. B. Willing, secretary, swore at the afternoon session that they had been told by del*egates of the strike committee* that "the government had been shifted from the city hall to the labor temple and that they intended to keep it there."

These delegates were attempting to win the veterans to join what Mr. Willing termed "a workmen's and soldiers' council."

STRONG WARNING BY CHANCELLOR

LONDON, Aug. 7.—(Associated Press)—"If we continue spending at the rate we are now it will lead straight to bankruptcy," was the strong warning given by J. Austen Chamberlain, chancellor of the exchequer, in the house of commons today.

"If we cannot increase production," he continued, "we shall go straight to national bankruptcy. Neither increased production nor reduced expenses alone would suffice. We have got to do both if we are to pull through and turn the corner. The balance between expenditure and revenue is definitely and seriously less favorable than when I made my budget statement. Both sides of the account are failing to realize expectations.

"The delay in the conclusion of peace involves greater naval and military expenditures and one or two new blocks of expenditure have been sanctioned."

Mr. Chamberlain cites an addi*tional £20,000,000* for pensions and increased naval pay and £4,500,000 for the police. On the receipts side the speaker continued, the decision to continue control of food meant delay in realizing on the vast trading in stocks of the food ministry, and therefore £70,000,000 from that source will not reach the exchequer this year.

The whole government, Mr. Chamberlain said, saw the seriousness of the situation and was endeavoring to find a remedy.

BOLSHEVIK SUBMARINE SUNK IN BALTIC SEA

LONDON, Aug. 7.—A Bolshevik submarine has been sunk in the Baltic Sea by the British torpedo boat destroyers Valorous and Vancouver, according to an official statement issued by the admiralty this evening.

BREAD QUEUES ARE FORMED BY LONDONERS

BAKERS WORK 30 HOURS THEN HANG OUT SIGN, "CLOSED FOR REST."

LIVERPOOL LABOR TROUBLES ARE REPORTED TO BE EASIER

Yorkshire Miners Are Still on Strike—Coal Output 50 Per Cent Under Normal.

LONDON, Aug. 7 (Associated Press)—There is virtually no change in the labor situation tonight. The strikes of bakers and Yorkshire miners are still unsettled, but the railway position in London is resuming its normal condition. The situation at Liverpool is greatly improved but the tramway strike continues and there is a great scarcity of bread.

It was announced in the house of commons today that for the week ending July 26 the coal output was nearly 50 per cent under the previous average. Other interesting announcements in parliament were that the government was preparing a bill for the future regulation of the liquor trade, also that in a few exceptional cases Germans were being admitted to England to trade, under close scrutiny. No indication as to the contents of the bill with regard to the liquor trade was given.

In the east end of London, where the bread shortage is most acute queues formed outside the independent bakeries but were mostly disappointed, for the bakers, after working continuously for thirty hours, displayed signs reading "closed for the day for rest."

A rush was made for a shop where a notice appeared that another batch of bread would be ready in the afternoon.

The strike on the Southwestern railway and in the South London tube was virtually ended.

Easier at Liverpool

LONDON, Aug. 7 (Associated Press)—Labor troubles in Liverpool are easier, but many ships are held up.

General Currie was to have sailed on the Caronia today but the boat is unlikely to leave immediately.

The general strike committee in Liverpool now announces its name as the Negotiation Committee.

The city is still without street cars and a real bread famine exists.

SAYS MEN MUST RETURN TO WORK

President Wilson Declares Men Are Great Obstacle to a Settlement

Washington, Aug. 7.—President Wilson tonight notified Director-General Hines that he was authorized to take up the demands of railroad shop employes for higher wages and decide them on their merits.

The president said the letter sent him by Senator Cummins, chairman of the interstate commerce commission, "had set me free to do as I think best with the different questions of the wages of certain classes of the railroad employees," but added, "the chief obstacle to a decision has been created by the men themselves. They have gone out on a strike and repudiated the authority of their officers at the very moment when they were urging action in regard to their interests."

The president's decision was announced tonight from the White House in the form of a letter sent by him to Mr. Hines. The president said that "until the employees return to work and again recognize the authority of their organization the whole matter must be at a standstill."

MILLIONS OF DOLLARS COMING TO DOMINION

TORONTO, Aug. 7.—Millions of dollars of the estate of the late Lord Rhonda are now on the way from the old land to Canada and will be invested in the Cobalt, Porcupine and Peace river portions of Canada. This information was given today by Floyd Evans of Vancouver, who was secretary for the late Lord Rhonda and has been looking after various interests of the estate in Canada for several months.

MEGANTIC SAILS TODAY; CARONIA AND MELITA LATER

LONDON, Aug. 7 (Canadian Associated Press). — The Megantic, sailing tomorrow, carries Paymaster-General Ross, Brig.-General A. E. Ross, of the Medical corps; Colonels, C. M. Nells, Cavalry; Perry Goldsmith and George Badgerow, of the Medical corps.

The Caronia on Saturday takes Gen. Currie and his staff.

The Melita, sailing on August 15, takes General Turner and his family.

MOTORSHIP MOUNT BAKER SENT OUT CALLS FOR AID

HALIFAX, N. S., Aug. 7.—American motorship Mount Baker, bound from New York to Liverpool, is disabled at sea and flashing radio calls for assistance, according to the marine intelligence officers here. The message was relayed by the steamer Orduna, which is due tomorrow.

"8:20 a. m., Greenwich time. Mount Baker calling for help. Engine broke down. Lake steamer Great Northern gone to assistance, also the Point Angel. Latter vessel not required. Great Northern standing by."

The position of the boat was indicated about 1000 miles southeast of Halifax.

The Mount Baker has on board a general cargo. The Great Northern is bound from Brest for New York with returning troops.

COMMENT ON NEW LIBERAL LEADER

Dr. Michael Clark Says He Lacks Magnetism—Sun Cautious About Free Trade.

CALGARY, Aug. 7.—"He is a young man with all the advantages that youth brings, a man of culture that will lend him dignity in the new position, but a man who has scarcely the magnetism essential in a great leader. I do not know what his views on the tariff have been as I have never heard him definitely express them. He has advanced labor ideas that will be available," was the comment Dr. Michael Clark, of Red Deer riding, had to make this evening on the new Liberal leader.

Sun is Cautious

VANCOUVER, Aug. 7.—The "Sun" Liberal, will say tomorrow:

"The lower tariff feeling of the Liberal convention at Ottawa does not find any considerable echo in Vancouver Liberal circles. Local Grits are disposed to approach a discussion on the tariff with caution as it is realized that the free trade sentiment in British Columbia would pass through the eye of an needle with room to spare.

"J. H. Falconer, president of the Vancouver Centre Liberal association, in discussing the matter, declared that although the party would be bound by the Ottawa convention in matters of general policy, it was realized among Vancouver Liberals that aside from the economics of the case, there had been a war which had to be paid for and serious thought would have to be taken before British Columbia Liberalism would support a policy that would mean a drop in the federal revenues during reconstruction times."

Morning Albertan

CALGARY, Aug. 7.—The Morning Albertan comments on the new leader as follows:

"The Liberal party in selecting W. L. M. King for permanent successor to Sir Wilfrid Laurier, chose one of its ablest men, who will make a very strong leader and keep the party keyed up to the noble traditions of the past. He will be a worthy successor to MacKenzie, Blake and Laurier. He is a young man, younger than any of his predecessors when they were called upon to lead the party. He is a man of culture and wide information, of unusual experience in public affairs, who should bring not only to the party but to parliament, much needed information, particularly upon social affairs.

"The convention probably made the wisest selection, though Mr. King has not been very definite in his expression of his views on the tariff, he is sufficient of a student of economics to have little sympathy with the tory viewpoint.

"He is a young man, younger than any of the cabinet ministers, of very great industry and enthusiasm, who should bring new life to the Liberal party.

"Mr. King is up to date, is a broad student of affairs, has a speaking acquaintance with all of the problems of modern times. He is a competent young man, who undertakes his great responsibility with the best wishes of practically all the Liberals in Canada."

HON. W. L. M'KENZIE KING ELECTED LEADER OF LIBERAL PARTY BY BIG CONVENTION

FOUR NAMES APPEAR ON FIRST BALLOT, KING, FIELDING, GRAHAM AND McKENZIE; TWO LATTER RETIRE AFTER SECOND BALLOT; THIRD BALLOT SPOILED; VICTOR RECEIVES 476 TO FIELDING'S 434 ON NEXT COUNT; VOTE IS MADE UNANIMOUS ON MOTION OF MR. FIELDING

OTTAWA, Aug. 7.—Hon. W. L. MacKenzie King, minister of labor in the Laurier administration, is leader of the Liberal party. He was so acclaimed at the close of the national convention tonight when his most formidable rival, Hon. W. S. Fielding, moved that his election be made an ovation, as was also Mr. Fielding when he congratulated his successful opponent on his victory.

King 476, Fielding 438

Mr. King was elected on what is officially the fourth ballot, but as a matter of fact, only three votes were taken. This, because some of the delegates cast their votes in the third ballot before Hon. George P. Graham had announced his decision to retire, and the ballot was thrown out. There was a similar mixup when a number of delegates voted before D. D. McKenzie retired. As a result it was decided to take the fourth ballot on number five ballot papers. With the contestants reduced to two in number, the interest in final vote was intense. The vote as announced by Hon. George B. Murray, chairman of the convention, was 476 for Mr. King, and 438 for Mr. Fielding, a majority for the former of 38. Mr. King led in the race from the first ballot, when, with the four candidates in the field, the vote stood: King 344, Fielding 297, Graham 153, McKenzie 153.

Second Ballot

The Fielding adherents were quietly confident that the former finance minister would overhaul his rival in the second ballot, but Mr. King, instead of falling behind slightly, increased his lead, the vote standing: King 411, Fielding 344, Graham 124, McKenzie 60. Although the vote giv*en to the two leaders had consider*ablely increased on the second ballot both fell short of attaining a majority of the votes cast, thereby necessitating a new vote.

Mr. Graham and Mr. McKenzie did not retire immediately on the announcement of the result of the second ballot, but did so just as soon as the scrutineers were about to resume the collection of ballots. This resulted in the slight confusion and delay already described.

While the ballots were being counted, consideration of several resolutions occupied the attention of the delegates. In connection with the moving of a resolution dealing with the matter of electoral reform, John Adamson, of Winnipeg, read a telegram which he said had been sent by Hon. Arthur Meighen to Sir Robert Borden during the last general election and which constituted what he described as a conspiracy to switch soldiers' ballots.

Prohibition Enforcement

The resolution setting forth the Liberal platform in reference to returned soldiers was agreed as was also a resolution dealing with prohibition. This resolution declared that the federal parliament should, if requested by a provincial government, enact legislation for effective enforcement of restrictive or prohibitive legislation by the province.

It was almost eight o'clock when the final vote was announced. Balloting had been in progress over *four hours. When the returns an*nouncing Mr. King's success were read by the chairman, Mr. Fielding, amidst great applause, moved that the report of the returning officer be made unanimous. This was seconded by Mr. Graham and supported by D. D. McKenzie.

Expresses Thanks

The enthusiasm was renewed as Mr. King rose to express his thanks to the convention. The delegates rose in a body, cheering wildly for several minutes. Finally advancing to the front of the platform, Mr. King said he was sure all would appreciate his feelings when he said that words could not express the gratitude he felt for the greatest honor which could be given to any man.

He was conscious of the vast responsibility which had been placed so quickly upon his shoulders that were young and inexperienced. But if there were words necessary or sufficient to express his thanks they would be inadequate to convey what he felt in the additional confidence expressed by his friends and later colleagues in the cabinet of Sir Wilfrid Laurier.

He could not express too deeply to Mr. Fielding his thanks for the noble spirited way in which Mr. Fielding had been the first to come and say he was ready to give his great experience in helping to press forward those common things in which Liberals were so splendidly united.

He found it difficult also to express his thanks to Mr. Graham for his offer to help in the fight for larger freedom and progress and in causing to prevail the many splendid principles and policies which had been laid down in the platform of the party.

To Mr. McKenzie, Mr. King also expressed his deep gratitude and the hope that he would be able to sit in the house of commons with him in the near future.

Honor to Laurier

"I would fail to convey to my friends what I recognize most in the honor you have conferred," he said, "if I did not say that first and foremost and *above all else I recognize in your de*cision a tribute to the memory of our great leader, Sir Wilfrid Laurier.

"He showed his confidence by inviting me into his government when I was a very young man. I was proud of the training, the opportunity of training, which I had through associ*ation with him*.

"If I have anything to be grateful for above all things, it is that it fell to me early in life to gain a knowledge of political precepts, political methods and political ideals from that noble and elevated character of which was his. I shall, I am sure, be carrying out your wishes if I seek to the utmost of my ability in those great responsibilities to carry on the principles which he sought to make prevail throughout this vast Dominion, and which I think can all be expressed in the maxim of an illustrious English statesman, Pym, who said that the form of gov*ernment is best which doth actuate* and dispose every part and member of the state to the common good.'

"I would be unworthy in any measure of the confidence which you have so abundantly bestowed upon me," said Mr. King, "were I not fully conscious of my own lack of experience and my own limitations for the great duty and great honor which you have conferred upon me, and, I should despair of ever being able to discharge the obligations attached to the position were it not that I realize that the one called upon to accept the position of leader of a great national party like this must first be the servant of all the members of that party and of all the people who he represents. And, it being so, I know I can count for guidance on the great force of able parliamentarians, these great leaders with me on the platform and on all the people I see before me in this great audience.

"I feel also that while I must ask that you make allowances for any shortcomings, you will feel that in seeking to carry out the work of the Liberal party in the way the members of the party would wish it to be done, I will rely on the counsels of these men, leaders of the Liberal party, whose wisdom everywhere will be a compass to point my direction.

"If more guidance is needed, it can be found in the platform adopted by this gathering, which will be a chart by which one can be able to see the course desired by the people of this great country.

"So, putting behind us all those things which are of the past and looking forward only to those things which are before us, we must start this moment, a great and mighty force, making for greater freedom for all and greater righteousness in public affairs, and press on till we reach the goal which had been laid down.

down in the platform adopted by you on this occasion." (Prolonged cheers.)

At the close of Mr. King's address the delegates, as one man, rose, cheering and dispersed after the singing of the National Anthem and "O, Canada."

MEN RETURN TO WORK

QUEBEC, Aug. 7.—The ship yards at the Davis Ship Building plants at Quebec and Lauzon were re-opened this morning without trouble. The national union workers, over 500 strong marched out in a body from their hall to the yards at 7 a. m., and although they met 200 striking international men there was no clash. Threats had been made that the militia would be called out to protest the national union workers, but the soldiers were not required.

DAWSON, Aug. 7.—A White Horse special says that an Indian named Long Peter, mistook Sam Isaacs, another Indian, for a moose and shot him through the breast while hunting at Lake Kluane. Death was instant. Peter surrendered himself to the Mounted Police. An investigation was held and the man was exonerated.

the city made a beautiful landing on the open prairie north of the city, where smudges had been built in order to guide him as to wind direction. He raised from the ground on the fourth leg of his journey at 3:25 o'clock.

During the day the general topic of conversation in Nelson was aeroplanes, aerial navigation and its attendant possibilities. Many for the first time were able to see for themselves the progress aerial flight had made during the past few years and speculation was rife as to the possibilities of Nelson as an aeroplane base on the transcontinental aerial highway of the future.

Lieut. Hall's Plane Wrecked

CRESTON, Aug. 7.—Aviator Hall's coast-to-Calgary flight came to a sudden and disastrous stop here about two o'clock this afternaan. Finding his engine running short of gasoline he was compelled to make t landing in a hay field near the mill of the Canyon City Lumber Company, his first stop since leaving Midway. Over an hour was taken getting on the cargo of gasoline and oils, quite a gathering of spectators lending a helping hand at the work.

When the power was turned on to resume the trip engine trouble developed. The plane did not rise more than half a dozen feet. Travelling at a speed of about 50 miles an hour the machine started to descend, plunging nose-on into a motor car which was standing at least 100 yards from the starting point.

The plane went nose on into the motor car and described a complete somersault, wrecking it almost completely. Fortunately, the aviator escaped with only a few bruises, but was drenched with gasoline, which would have been disastrous had the wreck taken fire while he was crawling from under it. The auto was also smashed almost completely. A lady occupant of the auto in scurrying to escape was grazed by one of the wings of the machine but was not hurt.

Had the plane not crashed into the motor there would have been casualties to report as there were at least a dozen people in its path, and travelling at such a speed and low altitude it would have been a miracle had not some of them been hit. The plane's owner is salvaging the machine for shipment back to the coast.

No Terrors for Hoy

LETHBRIDGE, Aug. 7.—Capt. Hoy of Vancouver, arrived in Lethbridge at 6:22 this evening, having established air mastery of the Rockies. He left for Calgary at 7:18, giving him three hours to complete the set time limit of eighteen hours.

Capt. Hoy declares the Rockies hold no terrors for the aviator in a high powered plane in which he could travel at an altitude of 15,000 feet, as there are plenty of landing places. He urges greater public interest in commercial flying by Canadians.

BRITTON AND GRIFFITHS IN NO-DECISION 12-ROUND MILL

DENVER, Aug. 7.—Jack Britton, world's welterweight champion, and Johnny Griffiths, of Akron, O., fought 12 fast rounds here tonight. The bout was a no-decision affair. A majority of sporting writers at the ringside considered the bout a draw. Both men finished strong. As the gong rang for the final round Griffiths was bleeding from the mouth and face.

WOMAN CASHIER ROBBED BY AUTOMOBILE BANDITS

LAKE ELMO, Minn., Aug. 7.—Three men held up the State Bank of Elmo before noon today and escaped with $2000. The robbers drove a high power automobile to the bank and entered when only a woman was on duty. At the point of a pistol they forced her to turn over the money in the bank.

BUDAPEST FOOD RELIEF CUT OFF

Hoover Takes Stand That Sending of Supplies Unwarranted With Rumanians There

PARIS, Aug. 7.—Herbert Hoover, head of the inter-allied relief commission, has stopped all relief supplies on their way to Budapest, taking the position that he would be unwarranted in letting supplies reach Hungary while the Rumanians are now depriving the people of foodstuffs.

Members of the United States delegation said this evening that there are no United States troops in Budapest and that none will be sent there. It was added that the only United States citizens in the Hungarian capital are officers, and possibly a few soldiers engaged in relief work.

BIGAMY INCREASES FAST IN ENGLAND

LONDON—Bigamy cases have become so common at the Old Bailey and Kent Assizes that Justice Darling, at the close of a day in which he had sentenced twelve men for that offence, said:

"People are taking a very lax view of the marriage relation. It has become the easiest thing in the world to get a divorce. There is a movement to enable people to get divorces on cheap and easy terms in the county courts, and I daresay it will be successful.

"At present people do not even take the trouble to apply to the courts. I have had eighteen bigamy cases before me at the assizes. The marriage contract is the most sacred engagement into which any one can enter, yet many treat it as though it were no more binding than a dinner engagement."

One of the cases before the justice was of John Smithers, a gamekeeper, charged with having gone through a form of marriage with Beatrice Waters, in Tunbridge Wells, in 1917, his wife, Mabel Dorothy, whom he had married in Canterbury in 1914, being still alive. When asked what he had to say, Smithers replied:

"I plead guilty, but on the other hand, I am innocent." He explained that he had suffered from shell shock, and had completely forgotten the woman who had faced him as ed at her and declared he had never his first wife. Even in court he took seen her before. Both the first wife and Miss Waters had a child by him. When the evidence showed positively that he had married both women, and the justice asked him with which one he expected to live, he answered:

"I suppose I will have to live with my legal wife, but I will leave it all to you, sir."

A detective testified that when the real wife went to Tunbridge Wells Smithers visited her several times and knew her well enough. He was sentenced to imprisonment for six months, and to such hard labor as he might be able to do.

BRITISH WOMEN IN NELSON HOMES

Would Alleviate Domestic Servant Problem—Community Home Suggested —Committee Working on Question

Nelson and district along with the other cities and communities of Canada was yesterday asked to take steps to assimilate into the life of the district a certain number of young women from the British Isles, whom it is the intention of the emigration department of the mother country to send to this country under a properly organized system in order to alleviate to some degree the domestic servant and agricultural help problems which it is felt are so acute in the country. At a meeting of citizens which was held in the city hall yesterday afternoon, a committee was appointed to look into the matter and report at the meeting to be held on Aug. 15, in order that Miss Pott and Miss T. M. Girdler, who are in the district representing the British government, may carry back with them data regarding the situation and prospects in this district. The committee is composed of Rev. J. P. Westman, A. D. Emory, John Notman, Mrs. William Rutherford, Mrs. J. W. Holmes, Mrs. H. H. Pitts, Mrs. Hector McKenzie, Mrs. N. M. Cummins and Mrs. William Waldie.

The meeting was addressed by Miss Potts, who during the period of the war has been an officer of the Women's Land army and Miss Girdler, who is a captain in the Women's Royal Air force. Mayor J. A. McDonald was in the chair and the speakers were introduced by Rev. J. P. Westman.

Miss Potts stated that the object of their mission was to make a survey of the country and endeavor to obtain data so that a first-hand knowledge would be obtainable as to women's employment in the Dominion. She pointed out that the demobilization of the women's services in Great Britain would begin as soon as the men had been demobilized, and it was part of the scheme of demobilization to offer free transportation and positions in this country to suitable women who desired to come and for whom positions could be obtained. They were here to get information as to the demand and the conditions, and felt that domestic service and agricultural pursuits were those in which the services of women were most needed. A great many of these women would be ideal for this country she believed, owing to the discipline and rough life they had undergone during the war. There was a great deal of difference between employment in this country and the old country, and to have the knowledge of this difference and to arrive at some method of receiving and distributing the women on their arrival was part of the work during the tour. The cooperation of the people at large and sympathetic dealing were required. What she and her colleague wanted to know was what type of woman was required and how the city of Nelson and the adjacent district could and would like to handle the situation.

The general opinion of the meeting was that the domestic problem was acute and that the opportunity was ripe for doing something.

Rev. J. P. Westman, who thought that the opportunity was a good one of solving a difficult problem, stated that a great deal of caution should be used and outlined a scheme whereby in his estimation not only the welfare of the community, but the welfare of the women coming to the country would be protected. His idea was that a community home should be established where the women could have a home of their own and at the same time would be available for work in the homes of residents of the city and district.

At this home the girls could be trained in the methods of the country and there would always be available women who were fully qualified in Canadian methods. There would be a matron of the hostel, who would be responsible for the moral welfare of the women. His organization, he thought, would tend to raise the plane of the domestic servant in a manner which in itself would help in a great measure to alleviate the present situation.

Dr. W. O. Rose, M.P.P., in a few words lent his sympathy to the movement and stated that from 50 to 100 women could be absorbed in this district.

John Notman spoke in favor of a community home and felt that before any women were emigrated to this district steps should be taken to have them protected from the moment they landed.

LIKES THE KOOTENAYS—WILL PROBABLY SETTLE

William Boyd, of Calgary, who was formerly interested in the farming business in that locality, is paying the city and district a visit with a view to locating here. It is Mr. Boyd's intention of making a study of farming conditions in this locality before definitely settling, but he states that his first impression of the Kootenays is entirely favorable. He likes the climate, he states, which is far and away ahead of the dryness of the prairies where he has lived for the past four years.

Mr. Boyd was a caller at the board of trade yesterday seeking literature and general information with regard to mixed farming.

AN UNFAILING WAY TO BANISH HAIRS

(Beauty Notes)

Ugly hairy growths can be removed in the privacy of your own home if you get a small original package of delatone and mix into a paste enough of the powder and water to cover the hairy surface. This should be left on the skin about two minutes, then removed and the skin washed and every trace of hair will have vanished. No harm or inconvenience can result from this treatment, but be sure you get real delatone.

BRITAIN IS FREE OF COUNTERFEITS

LONDON.—Counterfeiting is almost a lost art in Britain. So far as the coinage of silver money is concerned, little has been the work of the police since about ten years ago they unearthed a plant that was busily engaged in coining a better grade of silver than the standard, and the gang went down for a few years. Since then silver has risen considerably in price, and it no longer pays to coin the metal.

There were quite a number of cases of counterfeiting the 10-shilling note printed on thin paper during the first few months of the war, and quite a few of these were drawn with pen and ink, but the Bradbury issue stopped this practice.

Only the other day a man was charged with having in his possession copies of these early 10-shilling notes, and his defence was that he had made them for a joke, which he explained as having on his pals by peeling them from a roll and solemnly lighting his pipe, with one. The judge believed his story and fined him simply a nominal amount.

Lately there have been several complaints from the banks of counterfeit money being in circulation, the notes in question being an imitation of the new design 10-shilling note. Except for a slight difference in the tint and a rather poor production of the back design, they were difficult to detect and quite a number were passed.

The sequel was the seizure of 500 notes and the apparatus for printing them the other morning at Paddington by the police, and the appearance before the justices of a dock laborer named Henry Chamberlain, charged with uttering notes and having materials for counterfeiting in his possession. He was remanded for enquiries.

FOR INDIGESTION TAKE SERATHOL

A PHYSICIAN'S ADVICE

Although there are scores of formulas and antacids for stomach acidity, gastritis, indigestion and dyspepsia, there is nothing more effective in the treatment of these ailments than ordinary serathol, which can be obtained from Canada Drug & Book Store in Nelson, and any good drug store at trifling cost.

Many a sufferer from these complaints has been agreeably surprised at the almost instantaneous relief and subsequent permanent benefit from its use. Serathol is a harmless and tasteless white powder, which neutralizes acid and stops food fermentation. In many cases of hyperacidity a single dose produces almost magic effects.

BURGUNDY AT ITS BEST

WASHINGTON — Burgundy wines of 1915 are reported by the most eminent connoisseurs of Paris to be the best since 1865. In fact their verdict is "perfect."

The summer of 1915 was hot, so was the autumn, with light rains now and again at exactly the right intervals. M. Mathieu, celebrated savant on the subject of wines, writes: "Since 1865 there has been no Burgundy like that of 1915 in delicacy and strength. The 1915 vintage is a remarkable synthesis of bouquet, aroma, body and flavor."

Bpt, of course, all this is of merely academic interest to us.

Mining and Markets

PRICES TUMBLE ON WALL STREET

Declines During Final Hour Were the Most Severe in Many Months—Market Demoralized.

NEW YORK, Aug. 7.—Prices in the stock market crumbled in the furiously active final hour of trading today. The declines, which were the most severe in many months, came unexpectedly.

When the market opened speculative interests resumed their operations in a cheerful frame of mind. Decidedly less optimism was shown, however, by conservative financial interests, which expressed the opinion that the railroad situation and the general trend of affairs at Washington were calculated to unsettle commerce and industry.

The market rose and fell between these divergent views during the early and intermediate stages of the session but selling of the most aggressive character in the final period wiped out all gains and left many severe losses.

The set-back began with steels, equipments and oils, and miscellaneous shares which have made up a large part of the markets of the last few months, rails displayed comparative steadiness.

Liquidation was hastened by the circulation of rumors dealing with the proposed federal prosecution of numerous important industrial concerns, particularly the packing companies. It was a mater of board room gossip that President Wilson's address before congress tomorrow would recommendn drastic action against so-called profiteers, and that many industrial interests not hitherto mentioned were likely to come under the government's displeasure.

The market was demoralized at the close, when trading assumed such enormous proportions as to delay final prices by almost half an hour. Net losses of 5 to 10 points extended throughout the list.

Sales amounted to 1,850,000 shares.

Bonds were irregular at the outset, but weakened with stocks on limited offerings.

Sales, par value, $10,450,000.

WINNIPEG LIVESTOCK

WINNIPEG, Aug. 7.—Cattle trading at the Union stockyards today was steady and firm on all lines. Prices also held firm. Butcher steers, cows and heifers sold stronger for the top quality stuff. Steers brought $7.75 to $13.25; heifers $5.50 to $11.00; cows $4.50 to $11.00; bulk of sales $7.00 to $9.00. Bulls firm, prices ranging from $6 to $8.50; oxen $6.50 to $9; stockers $6.50 to $8.00; feeders were in good demand, prices ranging from $7.00 to $10.50, with a few at $11.00. Veal calves sold stronger at $5.50 to $10.50.

Sheep and lambs firm, a few sheep extra choice, sold at $11.00, while top lambs went at $14.00.

Hog trading was dead. Buyers were out to break the market but were not successful, as the sellers held on and carried their offerings over for tomorrow's market. Buyers bid $22, a drop of $1.50 per 100 under yesterday's market.

Receipts today totalled 1,200 cattle, 115 calves, 800 hogs and 103 sheep.

TORONTO LIVESTOCK

TORONTO, Aug. 7.—On the livestock market today there is a good demand for good to choice butcher steers and heifers at steady to firm prices and with too few offering. With light runs this week there was not a very heavy accumulation of common thin cattle as in recent weeks' market, and was a fair clean up today. Prices held generally steady with last week's prices. There is very little or no demand for stockers and feeders.

All small meats are steady at this week's advances, choice veal calves selling around $20.00 and lambs at the same figure.

Hogs were apparently holding steady at this week's prevailing price on a basis of $23.75 f.o.b., though the packers are understood to be sending out their quotations to their buyers throughout the country for next week's market.

CHICAGO LIVESTOCK

CHICAGO, Aug. 7.—Hog receipts 14,000, mostly 25 to 50 cents higher than yesterday; medium weight 20.50 to 22.05; heavy weight 20.35 to 22.50; medium weight 20.50 to 22.65; light weight 20.50 to 22.50; packing sows, smooth, 19.25 to 20.25; packing sows, rough, 18.00 to 19.00.

Cattle receipts 10,000, market strong, beef steers, medium and heavy weight, choice and prime, 17.40 to 19.25; medium and good, 13.00 to 17.00; light weight, good and choice, 14.75 to 18.25; butcher cattle, heifers, 7.40 to 15.00; cows 7.25 to 14.50; veal calves fight and handy weight, 18.50 to 19.50; stockers and feeders, 7.00 to 13.50.

Sheep receipts 4,000, market strong; lambs, 84 pounds down, 13.75 to 17.25; yearling wethers, 9.75 to 12.50; ewes, medium, good and choice, 7.35 to 9.00; common, 2.75 to 6.75.

SEEK TO HAVE LONG IDLE CLAIMS DECLARED VOID

DAWSON, Y. T., Aug. 7.—The Dawson branch of the Great War Veterans' association is seeking to get a number of longstanding idle placer mining concessions in the Territory declared void, and thrown open, so that returned soldiers can get claims on them. They have interviewed Dr. Thompson, M.P., who recently arrived here. He finds a number of old compensation claims have a priority in case concessions are opened and there is not much likelihood that any will be declared forfeitable as yet. The G. W. V. A. also is requesting the discharge of civil servants to make room for the disabled returned Yukon soldiers.

RUST DOES DAMAGE TO MANITOBA WHEAT CROP

WINNPEG, Aug. 7.—Crop damage by black rust will amount to from five to 40 per cent of the crop in southern Manitoba and about 5 per cent of the crop in northern Manitoba, according to a report sent in by the Manitoba government inspectors. A thorough inspection of the crop has been made and they assert that the rust has only appeared during the past 10 days. It works rapidly and disastrously. A fortunate feature, however, was the fact that the wheat was past the milk stage; otherwise the damage would have been much greater. In northern Manitoba the wheat stem maggot is at work and damage estimated at 5 per cent has been done. This insect cuts the wheat at the lowest joint, which causes it to fall and rot.

CORN RISES AND FALLS ON THE CHICAGO BOARD

CHICAGO, Aug. 7.—Railroad strike troubles which hampered the arrival of corn here, lifted the market for corn, but the effect was later partly counter-balanced by the federal trade commission report that food supplies were larger than was the case a year ago. Corn closed unsettled, ½ cent lower to 1⅞ cents advance. Oats finished unchanged to 1⅜ cents lower and provisions down one to 5 cents.

PUBLISH LABOR PAPER

WINNIPEG, Aug. 6. — Ernest Robinson, secretary of the Trades and Labor council, announced today that the Western Labor News would be issued as usual this week, and that Wm. Ivens would edit it. Mr. Robinson stated that there was no question as regards the ownership of the paper as a result of the repudiation of all resolutions passed at the meeting of the Trades and Labor council Tuesday night.

PROSPEROUS YEAR FOR SLOCAN MINES

Ore Bodies Proved to Continue with Depth—Cunningham Properties Are Active.

Describing the mining activities in the Slocan mining divison for 1918, Angus McInns, mning recorder, states that year was the most prosperous for some tme. Mr. McInnis' report, found in the annual report of the minister of mines, is as follows:

I am pleased to report that the year 1918 was the most prosperous year the Slocan has had for some time; not so much on account of the ores shipped or extracted, but mainly because the big mines have been developed and improved to such an extent as to prove beyond a doubt that the or ebodies of the district continue with depth; also for the reason that the big mines operating in the district have for the last year been spending large sums of money in erecting concentrating plants and other outside equipments. I am quite safe in saying that the fifteen or sixteen mines operating in this district are being operated on a sound and busnesslike basis; most of the mbacked up by capital mostly earned from the property's in which they are concerned.

Clarence Cunningham has about completed his large mill at Alamo, about two miles from New Denver. It is said by expert millmen that it is the most complete plant that ever was built in this province; it cost about $250,000 and will be operated in connection with the Queen Bess, Idaho-Alamo, Wonderful and Sovereign mines, all owned and operated by Mr. Cunningham, who is also operating the Van-Roi and Hewitt mills i nconnection with th V- Roi and Hewitt mines.

The Rosebery Surprise Mining Company, under the management of J. P. McFadden, has taken over the Bosun, Monitor-Ajax, the Ivanhoe group of mines, and also the Canadian group, all situated in the divide between Sandon and Four-mile creek, and worked somewhat extensively some years ago by the late Yaukey & Son, of Duluth. Mr. McFadden's company is making very extensive improvements both to the mill and at the mine.

On Slocan Lake, where the Bosun mine is situated, about one mile from New Denver, they have about sixty-five men employed, and are now running a long tunnel from the lake to get under the old workings of the Bosun; this tunnel will be about half a mile long. In connection with the Bosun they have a large mill situated at Rosebery, where they take all the feed and produce pure lead and zinc concentrates. F. J. Purphy and J. Moore are th eengineers in charge.

The Standard Silver Lead Mining Company has reduced the force at the mine and is only doing development work for a time. The Echo Mining Company has the Standard mill under lease and is treating ores there.

All the other large concerns, such as the Noble Five, Slocan Star, Rambler-Cariboo, Van-Roi, Hewitt, Galena Farm, Wakefield, Carnation, Ruth & Hope, as well as a number of smaller concerns, are doing the usual amount of work and improvements. For the last three months miners were rather scarce and hard to get; the epidemic of Spanish influenza has reduced the number at the mines.

GENERAL WEAKNESS ON THE MONTREAL EXCHANGE

MONTREAL, Aug. 7.—The severe setback in the New York market was not without its effect on the local stock market today and in the afternoon particularly, a general weakness set in here and several stocks that gave promise of some strength in the earlier trading finished the day with a net loss. Business increased by about 2,000 shares to 10,312.

Bond business fell off about $100,000 to $219,350. Breweries opened strong at 193 against a previous close at 189⅞ then imediately eased to 189¾, recovered to 191, then back again to 188, with final sale 187, a net loss of 1⅞ for the day. Spanish River preferred was 2¼ points down to 104. The common declining from 40¼ at the opening to 38½ at the close, a net loss of 1½ cents.

Howard Smith and Wayagamack finished the day unchanged at 83 for the former and 51½ for the latter. The outstanding feature of the cotton group was the jump on the final bid on Wabasoo Cotton without bringing out stock, following the announcement of an increase in the dividend to 8 per cent. The opening sale was unchanged at 100 with a broken lot later at 102. Bids went to 105½ without sales.

PROMINENT ADAM'S APPLE AS A BADGE OF BEAUTY

LONDON.—Man's badge of beauty and brains is his Adam's apple, that projection in the forepart of the neck which has been so called, from the notion that it was caused by a bit of the forbidden fruit which stuck in Adam's throat.

Scientists have many theories on the subject, and have told a long story of the evolution of the apple—how man came by long descent from ill-formed spineless things that came into life by chemical action. Then came fish, which, as soon as they got backbones, began to develop something like Adam's apples. From the primitive forms of the ancient seas are believed to have come the mammals from which sprang the human race.

It is a long story, but the fact remains that as the human race developed, and became more civilized the Adam's apple in men became more prominent. The ancient Greeks depicted their strong, heroes and highest types of beauty with prominent "apples," although modern artists and sculptors rather ignore it in their works. As a matter of fact, the wearing of high stocks and collars would seem to point to the fact that man is not altogether proud of displaying his badge of beauty.—Tit-Bits.

TENDERFOOT RUNS WAY UP IN SILVER

Old Sample Just Assayed Has Total Values of Seventeen Hundred Dollars—Ask Grant for Trail.

A sample of ore from a 12-inch width of clean galena in one of the three veins on the Tenderfoot group, on Tenderfoot creek, in the Lardeau, assayed two weeks ago, runs better than $1,700 in silver, lead and copper values, the silver alone going over $1,500. Benjamin Lawson and Eric Strand are the owners of the property and Mr. Lawson brought down this and other samples from his last trip up to the mine, which was two years ago. The nice looking piece of galena has been decorating Mr. Lawson's back porch until a few days ago, when he decided on an assay.

For 13 or 14 years Messrs. Lawson and Strand have been working quietly on this group of seven claims, which is located about seven miles from Poplar, which is the nearest rail point. The three parallel veins have been developed by about 200 feet of tunnels, and the greatest depth gained i saout 50 feet. The sample assayed was at considerable depth.

Application was made by Mr. Strand this last spring for a provincial grant toward opening up a rawhide trail, or a wagonroad if the cost should not be to ogreat, between the mines and Poplar. There is a rough pack trail at present. Given facilities for getting ore out, it is believed there would soon be a producing mine on this creek. The Tenderfoot is in the same mining zone as the Spy-Glass, located 12 miles up Poplar creek.

SINN FEIN SEES ONLY IRELAND'S ANCIENT WOES

Leaders Look Backward Over the Centuries and Argue from Them, States Writer

DUBLIN.—A cable dated August 1, from J. Steele, of the Chicago Tribune and New York World, says:—For two hours I have been listening to Arthur Griffith, vice-president of the Irish republic, and in the absence of Eamonn de Valera, acting president, expound the wrongs of Ireland at the hands of England for the last 700 years. I have not heard one word of constructive policy, but merely denunciation, not even a sign of a desire to arrive at a practical settlement, but an evident desire to make clever talking points against Great Britain without regard for immediate improvement of the relations between the two countries or in the condition of Ireland.

I hope this does not seem a prejudiced view, but it is the impression left on my mind, and I entered the Irish White House prepossessed in favor of Mr. Griffith, who had been described to me as a man of brains, honesty and ability.

In reply to my first question about the attitude of the Sinn Fein party towards the proposal for dominion rule, he said:

"No form of dominion home rule is satisfactory to us, because the country has declared for absolute independence, and we think we can make it possible."

In reply to further questions, he said:

"I admit the military obstacle is there, but we propose to overcome it as other countries, such as Poland, Bohemia, etc., have overcome it, as scon as President Wilson carries out the principle he announced to mankind. The military obstacle cannot overcome us. The power which rules by military force alone can never succeed against the people in the end."

Discussing economic relations, Mr. Griffith denied that Ireland economically is depending on England.

"England is Ireland's best customer, but Ireland also is England's best customer next to America."

Not a Poor Country

Mr. Griffith produced figures showing that for 1914—the last normal trade year—Great Britain's exports to the United States were $865,000,000, and those to Ireland $675,000,000, and to France and Germany combined only $675,000,000.

"This country is not a poor country, but actually and potentially one of the richest countries of Europe. Therefore, the English commercial policy is to keep it from development. At first this was pursued by direct legislation for centuries and indirectly since."

I pressed for specific instances. Mr. Griffith quoted British legislation of 1820, 1830, 1840 to 1850, etc. The most modern instances of the alleged opposition of English traders was the establishment of the Ford factory at Cork, which, however, was established, and through the efforts of Arthur Chamberlain there was founded a great explosive business at Arklow.

"I put the direct question: 'Would you accept the dominion scheme as an instalment of justice and work for it, if convinced the offer was in good faith? His reply was as follows: lows:

Cannot be Conquered

"'If England set up tomorrow a convention in Ireland, freely elected by the whole people of Ireland, and agreed to accept any decision as to the government of Ireland that the majority of that convention came to, that would be a genuine action on her part, but she will never do it, and has not the slightest intention of doing it.'

"What, then, will be the result?" I asked.

"They have tried to conquer us for 700 years and have not succeeded. They never can conquer us."

"But they have held you down?" I queried.

"They cannot keep on holding us down forever. All we ask of America is that the principle applied to Poland and Bohemia be applied to us, and as we have suffered vastly more than these countries, we should be the first country in Europe to which the principles should be applied.

Prison Myth Exploded

This afternoon I visited the famous or notorious Mount Joy prison, where political offenders against British rule in Ireland are confined, in an effort to find out whether the stories of brutal treatment of prisoners so widely circulated have any foundation in fact. I am not here concerned with a discussion just yet of the sentences of from six months to two years for seditious speeches, circulation of seditious literature and similar offences. That is a matter of government policy, but I am concerned with describing the treatment of prisoners after succeeding in breaking into the jail.

"I think it will be contended that no one expects a jail to be a bed of roses, but if I had my choice of all the jails I am familiar with I would choose Mount Joy. It is an entirely modern building. The cells are large and airy, every one with a window opening to the outer air.

"It is scrupulously clean, except in the quarters of the political prisoners—and I will explain that later. The workshops for indoor work are large, airy and well equipped. There are extensive gardens for those who prefer to work outdoors, plenty of room for exercise, and as prisons go, a model to the world.

"The politicals are not subject to punishment for failure in discipline, as are the ordinaries, and this explains the comparative lack of cleanliness in the political cells. The cells of the ordinary prisoners are scrupulously clean, while those of the politicals, who are not punished for their lack of thoroughness in cleaning, while not offensive, are far from the spic and span condition of the ordinary inmates.

Discipline Relaxed

There are now seventeen receiving political treatment at Mount Joy, and thirteen others who claim the right to political treatment, but who are not getting it. Governor Munroe explained that political privileges are conceded only to those guilty of offenses not criminal in themselves, such as seditious speech and writing, but it is not conceded to those guilty of deeds, ordinarily criminal, even if inspired by a political motive. In such categories fall assault, murder, etc., but even in cases of what I may call semi-political nature, the discipline is notably relaxed. I saw a number of semi-politicals talking together in the exercise yard, and they slattered in a perfunctory way when the governor appeared. He told me he never punished unless for a most flagrant violation of discipline.

WOMAN SAVED MUCH SUFFERING

By taking Friend's Advice and Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

West Plains, Mo.—"I was all run down in health, had indigestion and terrible cramps every month so I was unable to do anything. I had tried every doctor in West Plains, also every remedy I could think of, without relief. One day when I was suffering greatly a friend was at my house and said, 'Why don't you try Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound?' So I did, and through it, I found relief from my suffering and I really believe it saved my life. It does not seem as though I can say enough in praise of this wonderful medicine for the health it has brought me."—Miss CORA LEE HALL, West Plains, Mo.

Perhaps it may seem an extravagant statement to say that this great remedy saved a life; but women like Mrs. Hall, to whom it has brought health, appreciate the danger and suffering they have escaped too well to doubt it! All who suffer should try it. Why risk life and health without it?

THE VALUE OF AMUSEMENTS IN CITY BUILDING

The normal human being craves amusement, and usually a varied form of amusement. One form of amusement soon satiates. Change in amusement diet is necessary.

Picture shows, fairs, celebrations such as that on Dominion Day, plays at the opera ouse, educational amusements such as Chautauqua, all help to build up a city. They do so by providing amusements both for residents of the city and for visitors from the outside.

The value to big cities of the amusements they can offer to visitors is not always realized. They attract crowds who not only attend the amusements but who also do business with the stores, wholesalers and manufacturers.

Amusements are essential to contentment and to health and they are a builder of business and communities.

NELSON MUST HAVE LANDING GROUND FOR AIRPLANES

Aviators engaged in the first trans-Rockies flight passed over Nelson yesterday.

They did not land because there was no suitable landing place.

This is a condition which must be remedied, and the sooner the better. It is not good to have Nelson passed by on a historic trip such as that which was made yesterday.

The day is not distant when all fast mail will be carried through the air. It is not much more distant when all mail will be transported by airplanes. Nelson as well as other cities must have this service.

A landing place must be prepared, whether by the private enterprise of commercial aviation companies or by public enterprise has to be seen.

THE CHAUTAUQUA

Chautauqua will open in Nelson on Aug. 17 and continue until Aug. 22. It is an event which last year proved of great value to those who attended it and to the city as a whole.

Chautauqua provides two classes of entertainment—the entertainment pure and simple and the entertainment which is predominately educational.

Both are of first importance. The music, for example, is provided by talent of a high type which would hardly be seen in this district if it were not for Chautauqua. The same applies to other similar items on the program.

The educational lectures which were given last year were an inspiration to better citizenship, and to community building along sound economic and ethical lines. They were a fine antidote to sectionalism and parochialism and a spur to broad-gauge achievement.

THE POOR RICH

The financial position of Lady Beatty, wife of Sir David Beatty, is exciting comment in the American press.

Lady Beatty is the daughter of the late Marshall Field, the Chicago merchant, and has an income estimated at about $200,000 a year. She is a British subject, since she is married to the admiral, and under the British law, her income tax is calculated on a 50 per cent basis.

But her property is in America, presumably consisting of shares in the big Chicago store, the Toronto Times points out. Under American law the income tax on annual revenue "made" in the United States but enjoyed by a person living abroad is 60 per cent.

Lady Beatty has to pay the British government $100,000 and the American government $120,000—all out of $200,000—which is absurd, as Euclid would say. Mr. Arthur Huertley, of Chicago, who is Lady Beatty's financial agent, says that there is no way of escape. He adds:

"The United States has treaties with most countries whereby if one pays part of the tax in one country it cannot be duplicated in the other, but with England, Japan, Australia, and New Zealand there is no such treaty, and the full tax is collected in both countries."

A majority of the people do not understand the weight of the income tax on persons of large revenue, and, presumably, large establishments. Lady Beatty's privilege of paying 110 per cent to help her husband's navy to win the war is unique.

Good roads are a good investment. They stimulate production and reduce transportation costs.

Destructive criticism has its place, but the great need of the time is for constructive, productive work.

The board of trade did well to get after the party of editors from the United States who are visiting Canada and it is gratifying to note that the promise has been given to visit this section of British Columbia next year.

The chief criticism of the peace treaty has come from the United States senate, but it appears to be chiefly sound and fury. It has rather strengthened the conviction that the peace treaty, while perhaps not theoretically perfect, is about as sound and practical a solution of a tremendous series of problems that could have been hoped for.

TOLD IN RHYME

THE CUP

O, ever-brimming Cup,
Borne by swift, passing years,
Where mingle close together,
The laughter and the tears.

O Cup of life and life and love
Which countless lips have drained,
Thy sparkle faileth not
Thy vintage hath not waned.

Still carries to the brim
The sweet and bitter wine
The bitter of the rue;
The sweetness of the vine;

Eager or shrinking things,
Beneath the circling sun,
Who drain thy magic draught,
Must drink it one by one.

The rapture and the woe;
The laughter and the moan;
O sweet and bitter cup,
Each one must drink alone!

Each one must taste alone
Thy sweet and bitter wine;
The bitter of the rue,
The sweetness of the vine.

RE-STOCKING ST. LAWRENCE

TRENTON—One hundred thousand small black bass, ranging in size from one-half to three inches, were turned loose at various feeding places on the St. Lawrence recently, adjacent to Alexandria Bay. They were taken there by a representative from the state hatcheries at Ogdensburg accompanied by F. L. Raymond, a prominent member of the Anglers' association of the St. Lawrence river.

AMERICAN FASHIONS

However much one may cavil at the reign of Paris in the realms of women's fashions, one cannot but experience a sense of relief that the seat of authority lies on the Seine rather than on the Hudson. American fashions fly at times to the utmost extremes in a manner almost hysterical. The latest creation is of such a freakish character that the best we can hope for it is an early decease and a ban upon its export. It is an extraordinarily tight skirt which evolves a toein-in stride, a kind of "hippety-duck hop" as an American contemporary describes it. Some of the garments are so narrow that they appear to be no more than two feet in circumference. "Lack of space for side action locomotion forces the wearers to place one foot directly in front of the other, resulting in a walk "with a singular swing which throws the toe beyond the centre of gravity and makes the preservation of equilibrium a matter of no little difficulty."—Manchester Guardian.

HOW WAR-TIME EXPERIENCE AFFECTS SAILORS' NERVES

LONDON.—Some interesting stories of the way in which life at sea during wartime affected the nervous systems of a number of our sailors are told by Surgeon-Lieutenant Alan F Grimbly.

Dr. Grimbly has witnessed in two or three of his patients "a very remarkable state, which I can best describe as the 'fear of going ashore.'

"This may seem paradoxical," he adds, "but this condition of mind has a real existence. It lies in the dread of traversing a space of sea in a small boat.

"I have known a man to stay on board for six months rather than face a journey of a few minutes' duration in a picket boat."

One A.B., who was near a high explosive shell when it burst, could recollect nothing previous to a date four months before the action.

When, under war conditions, men are situated for a prolonged period far away from civilization, confined to a ship for months at a time without seeing a human face apart from the too familiar ones on board, can it be wondered that nervous systems may be affected?

"I have known of one ship on a foreign station on which seven occupants of the wardroom never spoke to one another for six months except for purposes of convenience or rebuke."—Tit-Bits.

FEAR OF STAMMERING IS CAUSE OF THE TROUBLE

CHICAGO.—Stammerers and their friends alike should be interested in the conclusions recently announced by a psychologist, at the close of a long series of experiments on both normal and affected individuals. He has come to believe that the fear of stammering, just like mental shock or fright, causes a rush of blood and consequent congestion of the brain areas, particularly of those governing the function of speech. He calls attention to persons struck dumb by intense fright, and to inexperienced public speakers who have completely forgotten their text in a moment of panic. Similarly, he says, when the stammerer attempts to speak, his very fear that he will stammer causes cerebral congestion, and a consequent blurring of verbal imagery. For example, knowing that a word contains a consonant or vowel which he pronounces with difficulty, the stammerer begins to fear that consonant or vowel, the speech areas of his brain become clogged and he pronounces imperfectly or even forgets the sound he wishes to articulate.—Popular Mechanics.

PETROGRAD IS DYING AS A CITY--GERKY

LONDON.—It is the habit of the admirers and supporters of bolshevism to regard every report coming from Russia about conditions there which suggests that that country is not a paradise under the benign administration of Lenine and Trotsky, as a "lie" concocted by the "capitalist press." The following description of Petrograd under the administration of the bolshevist dictators is, however, from the pen of Maxim Gorky, the greatest living Russian writer; it has been "translated from the papers which he publishes in Petrograd.

"In the men's ward of the Obuchov hospital, the famous physician, Nicholas Alexandrowich Hesechus, was brought in the other day and classified as suffering from 'symptoms of acute exhaustion due to undernourishment.' Professor Hesechus was formerly so popular as a scientist that many an able student in physics was frequently given the title of 'Hesechus' in honor of the old man. Today he is 72 years old, and lies in the Obuchov hospital swollen from hunger, his limbs distorted by dropsy.

"This fact does not call for special comment or lamentations. I merely wish to recall that the great French revolution, while it indeed beheaded the great chemist of Lavoisier, still did not permit the other scholars to die from hunger. However, almost anything can be expected from our moral inertia. I should not even be surprised to find a cynic remark here or there:

"'Well, the professor is 72 years old.'

"But even the coarsest of cynics should find himself disarmed in the face of the tragic fact that in the men's ward of the Obuchov hospital there are 134 patients whose sickness is the 'result of insufficient and subnormal nourishment.' Of these patients 59 are under 30 years of age and 30 are under 20 years of age. They are all men accustomed to doing physical labor, who in normal life needed 3,000 calories, but who under the existing rationing of food get only 500 calores, which is less than one-quarter of what they require. Consideration must also be given to the fact that not all of these 500 calories of nourishment that they take is being absorbed by the system. The bread baked out of straw flour, the heads of herring and similar articles of food hurt more than they help.

"Hunger in Petrograd is increasing at frightful speed. Daily people are found in the streets who have fallen in a faint from weakness. Here a driver fall to the pavement, there a major-general, here an officer who is selling newspapers, there a seamstress.

"More horrible, however, than the physical hunger is the ever growing mental exhaustion. Physicians are lately drawing attention to the alarming decline in weight of people who do intellectual labor. This class of men need a thousand calories of food a day less than the man doing hard physical labor, but it is just among them that the loss in weight is becoming alarming. Physicians are warning that these men are rapidly reaching a stage when all their mental energies will be exhausted.

"Petrograd is dying as a city; it is also dying as the centre of intellectual life. In this process of dying there shows itesIf an almost gruesome submissiveness to fate, the typically Russian passive relation to life."

DOCTOR'S DIAGNOSIS MADE WHILE IN TRANCE

NEW YORK.—Dr. Thomas Pomeroy, a New York physician, is quite an unusual type of doctor with methods peculiar to himself. When a patient presents himself to Dr. Pomeroy, instead of subjecting him to the conventional examination, takes the patient by the hand and goes into a kind of trance.

During this trance he analyses all the patient's symptoms before "coming back to earth," and dictates a prescription which is taken down on the spot by his niece, who has been his assistant for many years. He uses nothing but herbs in treating his patients, and generally is averse to surgery.

When the trance is over Dr. Pomeroy is seldom able to remember what he said while it lasted, but the method is said to be so unerring that some of the most successful medical men call him as second opinion in cases where they are in doubt of the correctness of their own diagnoses.—Tit-Bits.

WROTE WAR SONG FOR AUSTRALIANS

Crippled Welshman Went to Camp and Sang His Own Words and Music—Soldiers Took It Up

LONDON.—Although it has been said that the "Last of the Troubadours" has long since vanished from the earth, each decade sees a reincarnation of the spirit of minstrelsy in some representative of that once interesting tribe. A great love, a great cause in the affairs of men, seems to bring forth some individual who must put that great emotion into song.

The war has demonstrated this. Many spontaneous singers from their hearts gave something to quicken the hearts of others. But an unusual troubadour, even for those five heavy years, was Skipper Walter William Francis, a crippled Welshman, who traveled 3,000 miles from under the southern sun to sing to the Australian and New Zealand soldiers in hospitals and camps and on the firing line in France. Skipper Francis's song is simple, without a touch of the poetic frenzy that is expected in an inspiring song. But it was taken up by the hard-fighting Anzacs, and during moments of great joy or danger it seemed to satisfy their souls. When a transport was sinking, when the Germans were coming on like a storm, when the King came to review, when victory was at hand, Skipper Francis's song was shouted and piped, whistled and sung, like an anthem from thousands of throats.

The song goes thus:

"Rally round the Banner, the Banner
of your country,
And take the field with brothers o'er
the foam;
On land or sea, wherever you be,
Keep your eye on Germany.
But Britain, Home and Beauty
Had no cause to fear.
Should Auld Acquaintance be forgot?
No! No! No! No! No!
Australia will be there!
Australia will be there!

Skipper Francis's life history is interesting. He was born in Wales in 1886, and, through an accident to his right leg and foot, was permanently crippled. This severe handicap did not prevent him, however, from becoming an athlete. By vigorous training he came to excel in many fields of sport. In August, 1912, he swam the Bristol Channel, from Penarth to Newport, a distance of 15 miles. He was in Melbourne, Australia, when the war opened, and he immediately volunteered for the service. He was rejected by every fighting branch because of his physical incapacity. Intensely patriotic, he brooded over his inability to go to the front. In October of 1914 he composed his song, writing both words and music. He visited Broadmeadows camp, near Melbourne, and told the soldiers that he had a song for them. He sang his lay, "Australia Will Be There," and before he left the cantonment every soldier knew the song and was singing it. From that moment the song grew in popularity, like "Over There" in this country. It was accepted as the official march song of the Australian Expeditionary forces in the same month, and was sung by the troops on their farewell march through Melbourne, Dec. 17, 1914. Never a troopship left Australian shore but "Australia Will Be There" was sung by both populace and soldiers.

When the transport Southland was torpedoed and sunk on September 2, 1915, the Australians sang as they rowed away from the doomed vessel; and they were singing the skipper's song. When the Anzacs captured the advanced trenches in Gallipoli in one of the most stirring of campaigns, his song filled the air at the charge. It was sung when the Ballarat was torpedoed in the English Channel on April 25, 1917; at billets on the western front, in France, in Flanders, Palestine and Africa.

An official report of an action on the western front gives this episode dealing with the lay:

"At the height of an action on the western front an Australian subaltern mounted a parapet with a tin whistle in his hand. He played 'Australia Will Be There.' The men cheered as they fed the machine guns, declaring that he would attract the Huns with his music, and they would offer better targets. The subaltern then proceeded to play, "The Watch on the Rhine,' upon which the enemy machine gunners, greatly incensed, seemed to concentrate their fire upon him."

The song was played as an overture at every London theatre when Prime Minister Hughes arrived; the King and Queen heard it on March 22, 1916; it was played and sung during the "Silver Bullet" loan campaign in Great Britain and during one of the Liberty loan campaigns in New York.

CONTROL OF AIRCRAFT

PARIS. — For some time experiments have been carried out in various countries with the object of controlling aircraft from the ground, and a French machine succeeded recently —on a prescribed course with certain special detours—in covering a distance of 180 kilometres (about 110 miles), and in landing when required in a certain airdrome. A similar machine has been developed in the United States, which, according to a recent statement of Secretary of War Baker, can travel without a pilot some 100 miles and land close to a designated post.

Printed Butter Wrappers

Either With Your Name or With the Words

Dairy Butter

According to the Dominion government regulations all farmers who sell butter either to stores or privately are required to have it properly covered in a wrapper on which MUST appear in prominent letters the words

"DAIRY BUTTER"

The fact is also emphasized that all butter in such packages must be of the full net weight of sixteen ounces and in default of same a fine of from $10 to $30 for each offense is imposed. Whey butter must be so labelled even when mixed with dairy butter and dairy butter retains its label even though it be mixed with the creamery product.

If you have your own name or brand on your wrappers you gain valuable advertising for your butter. It causes people to ask for the same brand again.

MESSAGES FROM THE DEAD NOT VERY INTERESTING

LONDON.—A wave of spiritualism, so a London despatch says, is sweeping over England. Crowds push their way into the London hall where meetings are held under the guidance of Sir Arthur Conan Doyle. Apparently not every seeker gets into communication with the spirit world. But Sir Arthur, who is cautious, announces that no fewer than thirty women have been in direct communication with their lost ones. He himself, has been in communication with his son and son-in-law, who were killed early in the war. Finally, a venerable tradition of the British navy has been revived and the men on the Royal Oak testify to hearing the triumphant beating of Drake's Drum when the surrendered German fleet sailed into Scapa Flow, evidently of the joy of the joy of the great Elizabethan sea king.

The curious thing about these manifestations is that none of them brings any messages worth while. The recorded communications are commonplace. They tell the inquirer that the lost one is well and happy, and that he had his picture taken with a group of friends a few days before his death. that is all.

For ages man has turned his ear to catch a message from beyond the grave and his answer is the rolling of a drum! Or at best a statement of reassurance as to the happiness of those who have departed.

It is natural at a time like this, when hundreds of thousands have been left desolate, that there should be a widespread yearning for communication with the dead. It is easy to understand that of the great company of the anxious there should be men and women who make themselves believe they are receiving the messages for which their spirits long. But the world will continue to wait for spirit communications that will convince by the extraordinary character of what they say.

There is no proof and no satisfaction in a spirit world that sends back a great national leader like Drake to beat a drum as an expression of his feeling.—Kansas City Star.

THIN, FRAIL FOLKS NEED PHOSPHATE

Nothing Like Plain Bitro-Phosphate to Put on Firm, Healthy Flesh and to Increase Strength, Vigor and Nerve Force

Judging from the countless preparations and treatments which are continually being advertised for the purpose of making thin people fleshy, developing arms, neck and bust, and replacing ugly hollows and angles by the soft curved lines of health and beauty, there are evidently thousands of men and women who keenly feel their excessive thinness.

Thinness and weakness are usually due to starved nerves. Our bodies need more phosphate than is contained in modern foods. Physicians claim there is nothing that will supply this deficiency so well as the organic phosphate known among druggists as bitro-phosphate, which is inexpensive and is sold by the Canada Drug & Book Co. in Nelson, and most all druggists under a guarantee of satisfaction or money back. By feeding the nerves directly and by supplying the body cells with the necessary phosphoric food elements, bitro-phosphate quickly produces a welcome transformation in the appearance; the increase in weight frequently being astonishing.

This increase in weight also carries with it a general improvement in the health. Nervousness, sleeplessness and lack of energy, which nearly always accompany excessive thinness, soon disappear, dull eyes become bright, and pale cheeks glow with the bloom of perfect health.

CAUTION:—Although bitro-phosphate is unsurpassed for relieving nervousness, sleeplessness and general weakness, it should not, owing to its remarkable flesh-growing properties, be used by anyone who does not desire to put on flesh.

LEMON JUICE FOR FRECKLES

Girls! Make beauty lotion for a few cents—Try It!

Squeeze the juice of two lemons into a bottle containing three ounces of orchard white, shake well, and you have a quarter pint of the best freckle and tan lotion, and complexion beautifier, at very, very small cost.

Your grocer has the lemons and any drug store or toilet counter will supply three ounces of orchard white for a few cents. Massage this sweetly fragrant lotion into the face, neck, arms and hands each day and see how freckles and blemishes disappear and how clear, soft and rosy-white the skin becomes. Yes! It is harmless and never irritates.

STRAWBERRY CROP WORTH $55,000

CRESTON, Aug. 7.—Official returns from the organized selling agencies, to which have been added the customary percentage to take care of a very limited independent selling, indicate that this year Creston Valley has exported in the usual way not less than 13,000 crates of strawberries, and has shipped well over another 2,000 crates to the Nelson jam factory. As yet collections are not complete on the crop, but it is estimated that from its strawberry crop alone the Valley will this year have a revenue of not less than $55,000, or an amount within two thousand dollars of the value of the total crop of field and orchard in the same district for the year 1914, according to the annual trade statement compiled by the local board of trade.

The Creston Valley was favored with a total rainfall of almost an inch in two downpours at the week-end, and in consequence the late raspberries are coming, along strong. However, the moisture was too late to materially enlarge this crop of raspberries, which will just be nicely over the 5,000 crates.

D. W. Hodgson, assistant water rights branch engineer, of Nelson, got to work this week with the necessary staff of helpers on the finish up of the Arrow Creek-Creston Valley irrigation system.

Detective Pass, who is attached to the R.N.W.M.P. detchment at Fernie, was here this week investigating Creston as the location for the two-man squad of red coats that is to be stationed in the Creston Valley. The other point suggested as headquarters is Rykerts, which is right at the Idaho boundary, but it is anticipated that due to its central location and other advantages that Creston will be chosen as the location. The red coats will likely be here within the next two months.

E. C. Smith, who has been teaching at Silverton the past year, has accepted the principalship of Creston school for this year. He will draw $100 a month, the same stipend as Vice-Principal Smith will get.

Chas. Moore is in charge of a camping party of about twenty Crestonites—mostly young people — who are spending two weeks on a camping trip at Cultus Creek and Boswell.

Tom Campbell and Bert Arrowsmith, two more of the Valley's overseas veterans, got home early this week. With their return there now remains not more than half a dozen of over 100 men who were recruited here to return home.

Creston Methodist church has been dark for almost four months now, and still the quarterly board officials can get no word as to when the pastor assigned to this station by the 1919 B.C. conference is to be along to take up the work. Last Sunday the whole Valley had but one religious service, which attracted an attendance of less than twenty.

A. H. Green, the Nelson mining engineer, was here the forepart of the week, going into the Summit Creek country to survey some claims in the North Star group.

A. Lindley, of the B. C. Fruit Market, Lethbridge, is here on his usual midsummer investigation of crop conditions. He anticipates good apple prices this year, largely due to the fact that the British market will again be open to Canadian fruit.

The Creston Farmers' Institute, which had a cash surplus of about $1,000 when 't sold out its trading business to Creston Fruit Growers Union, Ltd., early this year, is meeting on Saturday night to consider giving a part of this revenue to the Creston Valley Agricultural Association to help finance the construction of a main building on the fair grounds.

Indian Inspector Ditchburn and Inspector Smith of the lands department, were here this week in conference with the Kootenay Indian agent, R. L. T .Galbraith, and the local stockbreeders' association, making an agreement that will keep the Indians from trespassing on the whites' pasture areas on the flats.

Mrs. Sanderson, of Moose Jaw, Sask., arrived this week on a visit to her sister, Mrs. F. H. Jackson. Major and Mrs. Mallandaine got back yesterday from a short stay with friends at Fernie. Mrs. C. M. Loasby of Sirdar was a week-end guest of Mrs. James Cook. Mrs. Nuggs of MacLeod, Alta., is here on a visit to Mrs. J. H. Fulner.

The cages and other fittings for the new Imperial Bank arrived a few days ago and have been installed, giving Manager Allan commodious and comfortable quarters throughout.

P. G. Ebbutt left on Wednesday on a business visit to Winnipeg and points east. R. B. Staples, manager of the Fruit Growers' Union, was a business visitor to Winnipeg last week.

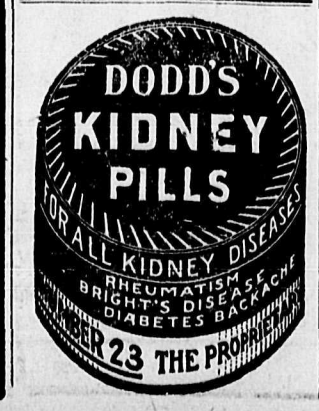
Mrs. R. R. Piper, who has been a patient at St. Eugene hospital, Cranbrook, for the past ten weeks, got home again on Tuesday well on the way to recovery from a very serious operation.

Contractor Hendren has the new high school building nicely started. The building is to be ready for occupation by September 10.

Vital statistics for the valley for July show three births, one death and one marriage.

The rainfall for the month was hardly half an inch but the month was the hottest in spots the valley has encountered of late years. Three days within the same week the mercury went well over the nineties, making it 96 on one occasion.

Miss Ella Leamy, who has been assistant to Postmaster Kane at Kaslo the past three months, returned home on Friday.



HALCYON NOTES

HALCYON, Aug. 7.—Mr. and Mrs. Williamson, Cumberland, B.C., who have been here for three weeks, left this morning to visit two of their sons, who are settled at Indian Head, Sask. They expect to spend another three weeks here on their return as Mr. Williamson has derived great benefit from the Halcyon water.

Mrs. J. H. Webster and Miss Eva Webster, Creston, returned home on Monday much benefited by their fortnight's stay.

Mr. and Mrs. D. Grant, Mrs. McLaughlin, and Mrs. Burbridge and daughter, Edmonton, Alta., arrived today for a stay of two weeks.

Mrs. Selby Soules, Arrowhead, with Miss E. V. Deslaurier, Vancouver; L. Make and son, Lethbridge; Wm. Mack and N. T. Swanson, Nelson, and E. Paron, Trail, arrived on Tuesday.

BURTON MAN SEVERS LEG BONE WHEN AXE SLIPS

BURTON, Aug. 7.—Robert Faulds met with a serious accident on Tuesday while hewing a piece of timber. The axe slipped, striking him on the shin and completely severing the bone of the leg. Dr. Yeld came up from Edgewood by launch, arriving here in less than three hours. At the time of writing Mr. Faulds is resting as well as can be expected.

A. Pearman, of Nakusp, was a visitor here for two days this week.

Mrs. Lane and her daughter Norma spent the week-end with Mrs. Masters in Nakusp.

Mr. and Mrs. John Miller, of Graham's Landing, were the guests of their son, T. Miller, one day this week.

Theo Rappi was fined $10.00 for neglecting to register.

Mr. and Mrs. G. Stone went to Nakusp on Thursday, returning Friday.

HAS PERFECTED SYSTEM OF SUBMARINE WIRELESS

NEW YORK—Speaking recently of his work for the navy, Professor Jas. R. Rogers, the inventor of a wireless system for underground and submarine transmission, stated: "Six or seven years ago I began experiments with the transmission of electric currents by the ground. They were renewed during the war with the audion bulb ,which renders the receiving apparatus more sensitive. I first established contact with nearby points and before long received with perfect distinctness impulses sent from Europe. I placed my atennae in trenches radiating from a centre and pointing by the compass toward the distant station from which I wished to receive. I demonstrated to the navy department that eight operators might receive at once from eight separate wires. My system was installed at New Orleans, the Great Lakes station, and Belmar, N. Y., and is now used at the principal wireless stations in the United States. I have found the best results with my wires buried six feet below the surface in damp ground. Some of my experiments were conducted in water 25 to 60 feet deep."—Scientific American.

SCIENTIST'S NEW THEORY REGARDING ELECTRONS

CHICAGO—Theories about the electrons, which are the components of the chemical atom, are always difficult to verify by experiment. The atom itself is about one hundred millionth of an inch in diameter; yet it dwarfs the electron as the dome of the national capitol dwarfs a pinhead. Despite the difficulties of work with such infinitesimal units, one scientist has completed a series of experiments, which are expected to change the whole viewpoint of chemistry. In place of the old assumption that the chemical atom is a group of electrons in rapid orbital motion, he declares that the electrons are stationary, and are arranged in three dimensions, and in patterns directly from this assumption, he has tried to account for the nature of various substances by studying the arrangement of the electrons in the various atoms. He has even gone so far as to state that the atoms of inert gases, like helium and argon, are stable and exist in the form of a four-sided prism with one axis elongated.—Popular Mechanics.

HOW ANOTHER PRINCE VISITED AMERICA

NEW YORK.—When the Prince of Wales visits the United States this fall he will be the guest of President Wilson in Washington. In New York he will remain aboard the British warship, leaving it for whatever social functions he attends. It has been reported that he would be the guest of the Vanderbilts or the Goelets, and the decision to only stay at the White House will put an end to a fierce social rivalry that has been going on since his visit was first announced. Probably Edward Albert will spend only a few days in the United States, whereas his father, Albert Edward, was there for a month, and in that time was able to see much of the country and meet many of the celebrities. The former Prince of Wales stood on American soil for the first time on September 17, 1860, at Niagara Falls, wishing to get his last view of them from the American side, but his official visit began three days later when he landed in Detroit. So densely were the streets packed that the Prince, or Baron Renfrew, as he called himself for the visit, had to enter his hotel by a side door; and one spectator remarked that there could have been no greater curiosity manifested if the distinguished visitor had been George Washington come to life again.

Refused Newcastle Admittance.

From Detroit, the royal party went to Chicago, where some 50,000 citizens turned out to do the prince honor, and where about the same number sought to entertain him. So exhausted was the young man by the hospitality of the Chicago folks that on the train for St. Louis he had a temporary breakdown. A stop was made accordingly at Dwight's station, where there was good shooting, and in the course of a short stay the prince bagged a number of quail and rabbits. His host, a Mr. Spencer, said of the guests, "The party dress roughly and walk about the village smoking pipes in the most democratic style." An unpleasant incident occurred at Dwight's station, for one day the party were about to enter a farm house, when the owner appeared and said, "Not you, Newcastle! I have been a tenant of yours and have sworn that you shall not set foot on my land." So the journey was resumed in such a way as to avoid touching the property of this former Englishman.

The Simply Dressed Belle.

From St. Louis the prince went to Cincinnati and attended a great ball, but it is recorded that the thrifty or forgetful Cincinnatians having neglected to provide a supper, the royal visitor left at 12:30. On this occasion, the prince having announced his desire to have the second dance with Miss Groesbeck, a beautiful young lady who had gone to the ball devoid of any jewels, her mother removed her own jewels and asked her daughter to wear them. The young lady declined, however, and danced with the prince arrayed only in her own beauty and her severely simple attire. From Cincinnati the prince went by way of Pittsburg and Harrisburg to Washington, taking up his residence at the White House where he remained for five days. He visited the tomb of Washington at Mount Vernon, and many an editorial article was written on the text of the young heir to the British crown standing bareheaded at the foot of the coffin of the man who had wrested the thirteen colonies from the Empire he was one day to reign over.

Charmed the President.

After he left Washington, President Buchanan wrote to Queen Victoria: "In our domestic circle he has won all hearts. His free and ingenuous intercourse with myself evinces both a kind heart and a good understanding." From Washington the prince went to Baltimore, then to Philadelphia, where he heard Adelina Patti sing, and was so delighted that he asked that she be presented to him, and then on to New York. He was met by Mayor Wood, and drove to his quarters in the Fifth Avenue hotel, through a throng of half a million people. Here again there were magnificent balls and receptions arranged for him, and probably he never had a busier week in his life, what with listening to addresses, planting trees, visiting various institutions and seeing points of historic interest. The great ball held at the Academy of Music was the greatest social function in the history of New York society, and there were 3000 invitations. So great was the crush that the flooring gave way, and two people were slightly hurt.

Untoward Incidents.

A rather untoward incident occurred when the prince was driving through Madison Square a day or so later. An Englishman, named Edward Moncane, rushed to the side of the royal carriage and shouted: "Who are you? I can whip you anyway. You will never be king of England if you live a hundred years." He later explained to a magistrate that he had come over from a steamboat on which he worked "to see what sort of boy the Americans were making fools of themselves over." Again, when the prince was leaving New York for Albany, an Irishman yelled, "An' sure an' he's gone, an' may he never come back!" an insult that so enraged a gentleman named Morrow, who was standing nearby, that he "knocked him for a gool." Passing through Albany the Prince of Wales reached Boston, where he met Longfellow, Holmes, Emerson and other famous Americans. At Bunker Hill he exchanged autographs with Ralph Farnham, sole survivor of the famous battle, and who remarked that "He wished to show the boy that he bore no anger for old times." The party left Portland on the homeward voyage, but encountered such rough weather that the Hero was several days overdue before she made port, causing great anxiety in England and intensifying the enthusiasm with which the beloved prince was welcomed back.—Mail and Empire.

NEEDLESS CHARACTERS IN CHINESE CALIGRAPHY

CANTON.—The Chinese, according to a Canton paper, recognize the extreme complexity of their written language. About twenty years ago, in the days of the Empress Dowager, a scholar and reformer named Wang Chao, who held the highest obtainable literary degree, conceived the idea of a simplified form of Chinese writing. He invented a phonetic system of symbols, which was promptly branded revolutionary and suppressed, while its "radical" author was banished. Lately, however, the idea has been reintroduced, and the government has tried a system of the same kind, but more complicated, without much success. Two missionaries of Tsangchow have fared better in an effort to revive Wang Chao's phonetic script, which is based on the fact that, although the number of characters is vast, there are only three hundred and eighteen "word-sounds" in the Chinese language.—Family Herald.

TEST OF HOSPITALITY OF DIFFERENT COUNTRIES

LONDON.—At a recent auction there changed hands some mementoes of a very eccentric man known in the early part of the last century as the "Wandering Piper."

This man in private life was the son of Sir Joshua Stewart, and the souvenirs included a portrait and some remarkable documents.

After serving at Waterloo, this curious character entered into a wager of $25,000 with a certain Count Bender, a former schoolfellow, that in order to test the hospitality of various countries, they should proceed in disguise, the "Piper" through Great Britain and the Count fiddling his way through France and Belgium.

The campaign was to have lasted three years, but the Count gave up the contest, having only collected $1,700 as against the Scotsman's $25,000 in England alone.—Tit-Bits.

AFTER EXTENDED FERRY SERVICE

Board of Trade Again Takes Matter Up; Slow Freight Delivery Cause of Complaint

The extension of the Nelson ferry service so that connection with the Balfour road may be had until 10 o'clock in the evening again occupied the attention of the Nelson board of trade yesterday, when a meeting of the council of the board was held. The matter was thoroughly discussed by the members present and the general feeling was that the extended service should be inaugurated as soon as possible. It was stated that the understanding of the board was that the resident engineer for the provincial government had been instructed to arrange for the extension of the service and the secretary was instructed to communicate with him and ascertain why it had not been carried into effect.

The local service of the British Columbia Telephone company also came in for discussion. Complaints, it is stated, had been received of the dilatoriness of the system, not only with long distance but with local calls, and the general sentiments of the meeting were that the local office was understaffed. No blame was attached to the management of the office, it was stated, and the secretary was instructed to communicate with the local management and with the management in Vancouver in an effort to have them take steps to rectify the causes for complaint.

The matter of tardy and unsatisfactory freight delivery between eastern points and Nelson also came up for consideration, and after some discussion the matter was referred to the freight and transportation committee for action.

The action of the secretary in compiling a special pamphlet to be placed in the hands of the members of the National Educational association was authorized. Those present at the meeting were F. J. Boles, vice-president, in the chair; G. A. Brown, L. Nelson, William Rutherford, C. F. McHardy, F. A. Starkey, J. A. Irving, W. H. Jones and E. F. Gigot, secretary.

MOAR CASE ADJOURNED UNTIL TOMORROW MORNING

The case against Rudolph Moar, accused of being connected with the operations of the illicit still located by the police on July 28, was again adjourned yesterday morning until Saturday next at 10.30 o'clock, after considerable evidence had been heard by Stipendiary Magistrate Crease.

Chief Constable T. H. Long of the city police force, and Chief Constable Gammon were called to identify certain documents taken from the accused, while F. R. Jelfs of the Dominion Express company, testified as to the receipt of certain shipments of dried fruits by the accused under the name of J. L. Francis.

John Linebaugh gave evidence as to the delivery of certain six or seven packages to the house at which it is alleged the accused resided, which is to the east of the Jerome residence, near the Mountain station of the Great Northern railway.

A letter written in one of the languages of central Europe, stated to have passed between Moar and "Big Frank" Minozzi, for whom the police are now looking, and, it is alleged, warning the later to hide all the paraphernalia, as he was afraid a certain person who had recently visited the Svoboda ranch was a spotter, was identified by Provincial Constable Pearman of Nakusp as one which he had received from John Svoboda.

John Svoboda was called and stated that Minozzi and Moar had worked for him on his property getting out ties. He had taken food up to the men. Minozzi had been sick for a time and had not worked, but simply stayed around the house. The men were providing their own food and were paying nothing for the use of the Svoboda house.

Sergt. Alex. Stewart of the local police force was also called to identify certain documents pertaining to the case.

TIERNEY SWEARS BY RETURNED MEN

Many on His Payroll on Million Dollar Grading Contract in Smilkameen; Visiting Nelson

"People who suggest that returned men are not good workers have not seen the returned men who are working for me," affirmed W. P. Tierney, the well known railroad contractor, yesterday. "I have 107 of them on my payroll, and there is not one of them who is not a good worker. I admit they are more or less picked men, for a returned man who knows the requirements got them together, and they are there with the goods."

Mr. Tierney, who arrived from Princeton Thursday night, expects to visit Nelson for some little time.

The contract on which Mr. Tierney is employing returned men and others is that for 14 miles of railroad grade, from Princeton to the workings on Copper Mountain, for the Canada Copper company, the contract involving over $1,000,000. The grading work, he reports, is proceeding full blast, and will be completed next year.

THE PURIST AT WORK

Professor Brander Matthews detests the purist and the pedant. "And," he mourns, "you find them in the most unexpected places. Only recently, at Columbia, I introduced a very brave young airman to a very pretty girl. He said to her: 'Do you go in for aviation'? 'Dear me, no,' she replied, 'one goes in for bathing, but one goes up for aviation.'"—The Argonaut.

Mixed Farming and Dairying Ranch

A Going Concern

We consider this an opportunity to get started right. This property consists of 150 acres—23 acres in hay, 2 acres in orchard and garden, balance splendid grazing land in best cattle raising valley in the district. The orchard consists of about 120 fruit trees, mostly apple and in full bearing, and an abundance of small fruits, raspberries, currants, grapes, etc. Plenty of water from well and creek for irrigation and domestic use. Buildings consist of 5-room house, modern barn 40x40, log barn 20x30, chicken houses, implement shed, root house, etc.

We can offer the Ranch as a going concern, including all necessary farm machinery, wagon, sleighs, mower, horse rake, cream separator, cream cans, sprayer, etc., etc. Also house furniture, stoves, chairs, tables, beds, cooking utensils, etc. The live stock at present on the property is also included—18 head cattle, 5 horses and colt, pigs, chickens, etc.; also 20 tons of hay in barn and 2nd crop coming fine. In fact, just as it stands today with the exception of the owner's personal effects, including his piano and sewing machine. We have had nothing more complete to offer in our business experience. The price is $9000, which we consider very low. Figure it out for yourself—Total acreage, cleared land, buildings, implements, stock, furniture, hay in barn, etc., and remember it is a going concern and a money maker.

If interested call and get full particulars.

Week-Old Corns

Should Be Unthinkable

These positive facts are now known to millions.

The pain of a corn can be instantly stopped, and forever.

The corn itself can be ended completely, and usually in two days.

The method is scientific. It consists of attaching a Blue-jay plaster, forgetting the corn, and letting things take their course.

The results have been proved by experience.

They have been proved to so many people that corns are now comparatively uncommon.

Corn aches are needless.

Paring corns is folly.

Old-time harsh and mussy treatments have no place today.

You will know these facts, and quickly, if you'll try a Blue-jay on one corn. Do it tonight, and the whole corn question will settle itself forever.

Cocoanut Oil Makes A Splendid Shampoo

If you want to keep your hair in good condition, be careful what you wash it with.

Don't use prepared shampoos or anything else that contains too much alkali. This dries the scalp, makes the hair brittle and is very harmful. Just plain mulsified cocoanut oil (which is pure and entirely greaseless) is much better than anything else you can use for shampooing, as this can't possibly injure the hair.

Simply moisten your hair with water and rub it in. One or two teaspoonfuls will make an abundance of rich, creamy lather, and cleanses the hair and scalp thoroughly. The lather rinses out easily and removes every particle of dust, dirt, dandruff and excessive oil. The hair dries quickly and evenly and it leaves it fine and silky, bright, fluffy and easy to manage.

You can get mulsified cocoanut oil at most any drug store. It is very cheap and a few ounces is enough to last everyone in the family for months.

AT THE THEATRES.

D. W. GRIFFITH'S GREAT STORY OF VICTORY "THE GREATEST THING IN LIFE"

What is the greatest thing in life? Is it love, faith, hope, sympathy? Is it, perhaps, life itself?

D. W. Griffith's newest Artcraft picture, "The Greatest Thing in Life," takes you from America to the French battle-front, through the trenches, through shot, shell and bullets. Up in the air in an airplane doing terrifying "stunts," the quest still goes on. What is the greatest thing in life? Depend on D. W. Griffith to tell you! At the Starland tonight and tomorrow at usual prices.

TENNIS AT SASKATOON

SASKATOON, Aug. 7. — Cuthbert and Weir pulled through today's semi-finals victorious and right into the finals tomorrow for the provincial championships. Both games, the Bruce-Weir and Cuthbert-Anderson games, were watche throughout with the most intense interest by a large following who attended every drive and putt with bated breath. Out of the four who contended for the semi-finals three are Scotchmen and one is a Canadian. Cuthbert is from Goosie, and Weir and Anderson represent the southern portion of the old country.

STRANGE LEGENDS OF WHITE RACES

Tales Told by Early Adventurers in Central and South America—Clothed in Romance

NEW YORK.—There has for some centuries existed in the minds of many civilized peoples a curious fascination with reference to the idea that in remote parts of the tropics amid the dark skinned races there flourish mysteriously isolated white tribes bearing a strong resemblance to the civilized branches of the Caucasian race.

The early adventurers in Central and South America brought home many tales of extraordinary cities beyond the mountains and vague stories afloat in South Africa some 45 years ago furnished Rider Haggard with a theme for one of his novels. Legends like these are met in almost all the less explored regions of the world, and they have always certain features in common. The isolated white people almost invariably inhabit a mountainous region in a vague interior, always "just beyond," they hold aloof from the surrounding races; they are seldom seen, and yet are definitely stated to be more civilized and better educated than the darker masses whom they avoid.

Who they are and whence they came no one knows; native fables afford no explanation. Once it was thought that forgotten white explorers might have built up unknown kingdoms in the wild places of the earth, but upon examination these theories vanish as rapidly as do the white tribes themselves, and the ultimate explanation is almost prosaic. Yet so strong a hold has the idea gained that even in the beginning of the twentieth century the possibility of the existence of genuine white races is not altogether scoffed at. Less than 14 years ago an American officer engaged in the operations against the Moros in the Philippines collected apparently substantial evidence relating to a mysterious white tribe in the Island of Mindanao. The mountainous district in the centre of this island has never been explored and even the coast is not well known.

But along the seaboard many stories are told of the fierce white people who have their home in the forest clad mountains of the interior. Eye witnesses depose to having seen a strange fair-complexioned girl, who fled toward the hills as soon as she was addressed. Other men and women of a light complexioned race are said to have been seen by more venturesome natives who were bold enough to approach the wild mountain district. The American officer was so impressed that he determined to conduct an exploring expedition across the centre of the island. But apparently the mysterious white folk had vanished, for the world has as yet heard nothing of his search being crowned with success.

White Tribe in Arabia

Arabia, however, can with more reason boast of a white tribe. For years stories of such a race have been told in the Persian Gulf, and an American missionary stationed at Muscat alluded some years ago to "coffee house babble in Eastern Oman concerning a mysterious race of light complexioned people who live somewhere in the mountains, shun strangers and speak a language all their own." Various theories have been propounded to explain the fable, but probably the explanation is to be found in the narrative of a journey made to Oman in 1876 by Col. S. B. Miles, a British officer. Col. Miles in the course of his travels came across a town named Sheraizi, in the heart of the Green Mountains. This strange place was perched like an eagle's nest on the top of a great cliff,and was inhabited by people of lighter skin than the rest of the tribes in the interior. They rarely descended to the plains and refused to mix with or inter-marry with the Arabs. Col. Miles found they were descendants of a portion of the Persian army that invaded Oman in the fifth century. The isolation of the town and the curious behaviour of the people gave rise to exaggerated stories in the bazaars on the distant coast, and in this case the origin of the fable may be regarded as fairly certain.

Unfortunately for the romance of the world, it seems practically impossible for stories of this character to have the origin novelists would wish. The world is comparatively small today. The trail of the explorer is over every land from Paraguay to Tibet. Forbidden lands are entered, hidden cities exist only in the imagination of the fictional writer. In a period when trains run to Bokhara and the great African lakes; when the tourist appears at Khartoum; and Lhassa itself is entered, there is no room for a mysterious white race. Even the dark continent is no longer allowed to have its mysteries. The photographer sits on the battered walls of Kano; the Fulani emperors have passed away.

One may no longer believe in the existence of a strange white people in Africa. Rider Haggard's splendid race is probably only the Brima, originally discovered by Speke in southwestern Uganda. At least Sir Harry Johnston claims to have discovered in them the clue to many of the mysterious white race legends found in the dark continent. He was engaged in nothing more thrilling than a tour of inspection of Ankole when he came across them. They are of a very light complexion and are the aristocrats of this region. Sir Harry holds that they are obviously descendants from a Gala, Somali or other Hamitic stock, and adds that some of them are more like Egyptians than is the case with the Galas and Somalis. Romance disappears before the tread of the explorer. The dark continent is dark no more.

EX-PRESIDENT OF ROYAL ACADEMY

Sir Edward John Poynter, Bart., Who Died Recently, Exhibited Pictures for Half a Century.

LONDON.—The death was recently announced of Sir Edward John Poynter, Bart., former president of the Royal Academy.

He resigned early in the present year, when he was succeeded by Sir Ashton Webb, the first architect to become president of the Royal Academy.

Sir Edward Poynter, who was elected an associate member of the Royal Academy in 1869, and Royal Academician seven years later, has been president since 1896, when he was knighted, a baronetcy being conferred in 1902. He was the son of the famous architect, Ambrose Poynter, and the grandson of the still more famous sculptor, Thomas Banks, who won the praises of Sir Edward's predecessor, Sir Joshua Reynolds. He possesses a further claim to distinction as being the uncle of Rudyard Kipling.

He was born in Paris March 30, 1906, and received his education at Westminster school and Ipswich grammar schools. As a youth he worked in Leighton's studio, and after studying in English art schools, went to Paris, where he studied under Glegre from 1856 to 1859, and joinel George du Maurier. They lived the life that Du Maurier has described in Trilby. "An accurate picture," said Sir Edward, "only there was no Trilby."

After his return to England he took part in the revival of wood engraving; he was engaged on the designs for the restoration of Waltham Abbey and assisted Leighton in the decorations of South Kensington Museum. He was Slade Professor of Art at University College, London, from 1871-1875, principal of the National Art Training school, South Kensington, till 1881, and Director of the National Gallery from 1894 to 1-905.

An All-Round Artist

For over 50 years he has exhibited at the Royal Academy, and his works adorn the walls of galleries in every quarter of the globe. An etcher, a sculptor, a designer, a water color painter, a mural decorator, a worker in stained glass and mosaics, as well as an artist in black and white, Sir Edward may be aptly described as an all-round artist."

The picture that first marked Sir Edward out as a painter to be reckoned with was his famous "Israel in Egypt," exhibited at the Academy in 1867. It represents a number of Israelites drawing along a gigantic Sphinx, and, as first painted, did not meet with the entire approval of the artist's friend, Sir John Hawkshaw. Sir John calculated with skilled eye the approximate weight of the Sphinx then the approximate horse power of the Israelites engaged in moving it. This done, he turned to the artist and exclaimed: "My dear fellow, they couldn't move it; you must double your number of Israelites." Sir Edward increased his horse-power.

Some Famous Pictures

Among Sir Edward's other notable pictures are the following: "The Catapult," 1868; "Perseus and Andromeda," 1872; "Atlanta's Race," 1872; "The Fortune Teller," 1877; "Nausica and Her Maidens," 1879; "Visit to Aesculapius," 1880 (now in the Chantryel collection in Tate Gallery); "The Ides of March," 1883; "Diadumene," 1885 (now destroyed); "On the Terrace," 1889; "The Meeting of Solomon and the Queen of Sheba," 1891; "Horae Serenae," and "Idle Fears," 1894; "The Ionian Dance," 1899; "The Cave of the Storm Nymphs," 1903; "The Nymphs' Bathing Place," 1904; "The Cup of Tantalus," 1905; "Lesbia and Her Sparrow," 1907; "Brewing a Storm," 1909; "A Naval Disaster," 1913; "At Low Tide," 1913; "The Sea Bath, or The Champion Swimmer," 1904; and many portraits and water color drawings.

Sir Edward designed the architectural and tile decorations for the grill room at South Kensington, and also produced the cartoons for the famous mosaics of St. George and St. David in Westminster Pala He also furnished two sets of designs for the new coinage of 1894. He became K.C.V.O. in 1913 and G.C.V.O. in 1918.

Sir Edward in 1866 married Miss Agnes Macdonald, daughter of the Rev. George B. Macdonald. Lady Poynter died in 1906. He is succeeded in the baronetcy by his oldest son, Ambrose MacDonald Poynter, who was born in 1867.

AT THE GEM TONIGHT

ONE-EYED MEN AND THEIR HANDICAPS

LONDON.—What actual disability is involved in the loss of one eye? Accident insurance companies usually estimate it at 50 per cent, but Sir Arthur Pearson told the British Committee on the Administration of Soldiers' and Sailors' Pensions that this is absolutely absurd, and suggested 25 per cent as a more reasonable estimate.

It depends largely upon the time of life at which the eye is lost. By binocular vision, says the Lancet, we fuse two slightly dissimilar images to an object, which are focussed upon the two retinas, and this enables us to estimate correctly the positions or distances of objects. This power, however, is not confined to those of us who possess two good eyes. The man who has been blind in one eye from infancy possesses it in almost equal perfection with the possessor of two eyes. For many other factors unite to compensate for the absence of stereoscopic vision. These are atmospheric and shadow effects, parallax and, above all, memory of what the shape of objects really is, according to knowledge which has been acquired in early years, largely by the sense of touch.

On the other hand, if one who possesses this faculty is suddenly deprived of it he will be considerably handicapped ,especially at first. A woman may find she cannot pour from a teapot into a cup without spilling the tea. A hammerman may take some time before he can hit the nail on the head with his former accuracy; indeed, whether or not he can ever attain it again is doubtful.

TO ARRANGE VISIT FOR NEXT SEASON

Newspapermen Made Own Arrangements for Tour; Ask for Literature Dealing With District

Kootenay and Boundary will not this year enjoy a visit from the National Editorial association, the body of American newspapermen who are making a tour of Canada, but a definite promise has been received through the efforts of the Nelson board of trade that this district will be included in the itinerary next year. Word to this effect and a request for pamphlets and literature dealing with the district were received by E. F. Gigot, secretary of the board, yesterday from J. Bruce Walker, commissioner of immigration, who is managing the tour, and, as a result, a special pamphlet dealing with the surrounding country, its possibilities and opportunities, is being prepared by Mr. Gigot for immediate dispatch.

That the arrangements for the tour were in the hands of the members of the association and that they were unable to alter them for this year was the gist of telegrams received yesterday by the secretary of the board from J. B. Walker and the secretary to the minister of immigration. The telegram from Mr. Walker stated:

"Your telegram of invitation to National Editorial association submitted to executive who had arranged itinerary themselves and they desire me to express their cordial appreciation of your generous invitation, but regret as their stay in Canada is limited without possibility of extension they cannot accept on this occasion, but agree that upon their visit next year Nelson and the Kootenay country will be included. Send literature dealing with Nelson and district to my address, Revelstoke station and I shall see it placed in proper hands for careful reading."

The wire from Charles H. Ireland, secretary to the minister of immigration, stated: "Your representation re visit to Kootenay country of National Editorial association has been communicated to official in charge of party on train. Itinerary is more a matter for members of the association themselves to determine."

A copy of the pamphlet which is being prepared will be placed in the hands of each of the members of the party, stated Mr. Gigot yesterday.

In what week in August does the kokanee or red fish make its appearance in the creek mouths on its way to the spawning bed. Some old-timers assert the fourth week, and some claim the third. No one has yet reported a red fish this season, and there is a good chance to gather data covering all the creeks emptying into Kootenay lake or the West Arm, for this season at least, if all early observers will report the beginning of the run for their particular locality. It will not be long before the boys will be tossing them out on the beaches.

CUT OUT BAD GRADE ON CRESTON ROAD

Contract Awarded for Diversion of Main Highway Near Goatfell—Completion in September.

A contract for the construction of 1½ miles of new road, diversion of part of the main road between Goatfell and Creston, was awarded Monday to George Hunt of Kitchener, according to an announcement by William Ramsay, district engineer of the public works department. The terms of the contract call for completion of the new stretch by September 30.

The object of diverting the road is to avoid a very steep grade, running as high as 24 per cent, coming west The soil at that point being a gumbo, is another point of difficulty.

"The Greatest Thing in Life"
A SPLENDID PRODUCTION - AN ARTISTIC TRIUMPH

A story dealing with love and war in this country and in France. Proves delightful, while the situations are dramatic, thrilling and appealing. Photographic effects, absolutely new to pictures, involved by a soldier in France. Not the every-day battle stunts, but big spectacular and dramatic stuff from new angles. Builds steadily up to a smashing climax—one of the biggest in motion pictures. There is no sagging of interest at any point. The lighter element is furnished by a unique character and a brown-eyed baby that will win everyone's heart. Lillian Gish is the girl and Robert Harron the boy. You saw them in "Birth of a Nation," "Intolerance" and "Hearts of the World." Now come early and see them in this wonderful picture full of suspense, romance and surprise.

HOTEL BOARD WILL GO UP NEXT WEEK

Six Local Hostelries Find It Necessary to Advance Rates—No Increases Were Made During the War

On August 15 an increased scale of charges for board and lodging, amounting to about 25 cents per day, will go into effect in six local hotels, the Lakeview, Kootenay, Klondyke, Occidental, Grand Central and Sherbrooke.

It is pointed out by the proprietors of the hotels concerned that no increase in their charges was made during the war, notwithstanding the general increase in the cost of living, and also that Nelson was one of the few communities throughout the country in which one or more increases were not made. It is also pointed out that the making of an increase has been postponed as long as possible, the point having been reached where it can no longer be avoided. The increase which has finally been decided upon, it is pointed out, is in proportion less than the increase in the cost of living, with which the hotelmen have to contend.

The new scale to come into effect will provide for room and board at $40 per month, $10 per week or $1.50 per day, and meal tickets will be $8.00.

PUBLIC NOTICE

Hotel Rates

On account of the high cost of supplies the undersigned hotel proprietors of the City of Nelson are compelled to make effective August 15 an increase in the charge for board and room and also for meal tickets.

The increase is the first which has been made since before the war. It amounts to only approximately 25 cents a day.

The charges in future will be as follows:

Room and board, per month $40
Room and board, per week.. $10
Room and board, per day.. $1.50
Meal Tickets $8.00
