INDORSE PLAN OF LAMBETH CONFERENCE

Resolution Accepted by Bishops and Archbishops on Second Day of Synod.

WELCOME APPEAL TO ALL PEOPLE

Will Countenance Admission of Unconfirmed Communicants.

HAMILTON, Ont., Oct. 6.—Disclosure of the attitude of the bishops on the church union question marked the second day's proceedings of the general synod of the Church of England in Canada. In a series of resolutions adopted by the upper house and sent down to the lower house for its concurrence the archbishops and bishops indorsed the "appeal to all Christian people" issued by the Lambeth conference, accepted the recommendation that conferences be arranged with other Protestant churches, and declared that such conferences should be initiated in Canada by a special joint committee to be appointed by the general synod.

The conditions on which the bishops would recommend such conferences were practically identical with those laid down by the Lambeth conference.

Upper House Outlines Policy.

The upper house, after referring to the fact that Canadian bishops had participated at Lambeth, outlined its policy as follows:

1. The upper house of the general synod of the Church of England in Canada welcomes and adopts the appeal to all Christian people, contained in resolution No. 9 of the Lambeth conference.

2. The upper house accepts resolution No. 10 of the Lambeth conference as follows:

The conference recommends to the authorities of the churches of the Anglican communion that they should in such ways and at such times as they think best formally invite the authorities of other churches within their areas to confer with them concerning the possibility of taking definite steps to cooperate in a common endeavor on the lines set forth in the above appeal

WILL ARBITRATE WAGE DIFFERENCES

New York Union Authorizes Officials to Renew Discussion with Master Printers.

NEW YORK, Oct. 6.—Big Six, the New York local of the International Typographical union, has decided, by a vote which was practically unanimous, to arbitrate its differences with the employing printers concerning a new wage agreement.

Under the expiring agreement the printers get $50 a week. They wanted a new agreement under which they would receive $55 a week. The employers wanted one under which the printers would get $40 a week.

The adoption by the union of a resolution authorizing officials of the union to meet with representatives of the employers and renew the discussion was in effect an endorsation of the policy of arbitration adopted by the international union. Pending arbitration proceedings, the present scale of $50 a week will continue until Dec. 1.

WEST KOOTENAY LIBERALS NOMINATE DR. HAMILTON OF REVELSTOKE HERE

Dr. Michael Clark of Red Deer, Alta., Kenneth Campbell, James McDonald and Noble Binns Are Proposed; Candidate Addresses Convention.

Dr. J. S. Hamilton of Revelstoke was the Liberal candidate nominated to contest West Kootenay in the forthcoming Dominion election, at the Liberal convention held in the Eagle hall last night. The final nomination was not finally made until just before 1 o'clock this morning.

There was a full delegation from each of the six riding present, besides a large number of persons of both sexes in unofficial attendance. Dr. Hamilton accepted his nomination with a reservation which was accepted unanimously by the convention.

Four other men were proposed for nomination, Dr. Michael Clark of Red Deer, Alta.; Kenneth Campbell and J. A. McDonald of Nelson, and Noble Binns of Trail.

The new officers of the National Liberal association elected were: Honorary president, Hon. W. L. Mackenzie King; honorary vice-president, Hon. John Oliver; president, H. Maxwell of Revelstoke, who was reelected; secretary, E. P. Dawson, Nelson; treasurer, James O'Shea, of Nelson.

In accepting the nomination as the Liberal standard bearer for West Kootenay Dr. Hamilton made a reservation that he was to have a free hand in any matters pertaining to the welfare of returned soldiers. As medical officer of the 4th Kootenay battalion, he had reason to know what was coming to the returned men, and would always act as their champion. He stated that he had not always voted straight Liberal in the past, but that he is in strict accord with the platform as enunciated by Mackenzie King. Coming to the late hour, the doctor did not make a long address, but promised that he would work hard to win the seat, and asked for the earnest support of the delegates. He reminded his audience that he was practically a Nelson boy and asked that none of his supporters should in any way use dirt in the coming campaign. Dr. Rose was a personal friend, and he had all respect for him.

He was confident that the people wanted Mackenzie King as next premier and he would be proud to represent West Kootenay.

Mr. Maxwell, who presided, after a brief outline of conditions in the constituency, called on men who were delegates to the Dominion Liberal association two years ago. The speakers first referred in glowing terms of the late chieftain of the party, Sir Wilfrid Laurier, the "white plume." This portrait stood at the head of the hall in which the convention was held and was sufficient to dominate the delegates.

Compare Past and Present.

Comparison was made to conditions in 1896 and today. Speakers referred time and again to the wonderful change that came over business for the better when the Liberal party came into power at that time. They pointed out Canada reaped many years of prosperity under the Liberal regime and predicted that Canada would again have the full dinner pail under Hon. Mackenzie King's leadership.

Dr. Wolverton brought to the minds of the old timers the promises of Sir John A. Macdonald that the working men of Canada would always have work at the highest pay. His party today faces thousands of men unemployed. Moreover the doctor proved to his audience that British Columbia fruit is today being shipped to American markets in spite of the fact that reciprocity was turned down in 1911.

Tariff for Rvenue.

Free trade has never been the policy of the Liberal party in Canada, declared the doctor. A tariff for revenue plus the cost of transportation is what Canada needs, he said.

COTTON WAR NOW TAKES NEW ANGLE

American Shipping Board Announces Cut of Shipping Per Ton.

LONDON, Oct. 6.—The London Times learns in connection with the Egyptian cotton freight controversy that information has been received from Alexandria that the United States shipping board is prepared to carry cotton seed to the United Kingdom at freight rates a shilling per ton below the British rates, and is further prepared to pay the difference between the rates of insurance charged for cargo carried in United States vessels and the lower rates of insurance quoted for British steamers.

The Times supplements these advices with a lengthy review of the controversey, stating that what it says, according to authoritative information, is the British shipping position. For many years past, says the paper, the custom of cotton merchants has been to make a yearly contract with the British lines for the shipment of their cotton to the United Kingdom and the United States. Early last year the United States shipping board showed interests in the contract and its representatives at Alexandria put forward the demand that the whole of the United States direct shipment should be left to shipping board vessels. These representatives further declared that unless the demand was complied with, rates would be cut in all directions.

The review then relates how the British lines secured the contract until August 31, 1920, and later, after the British and United States tenders had been submitted, the contract also for the 1920-21 season.

The latter contract was accepted, lines per ton for United Kingdom although the quotation of the British destinations was five shillings higher than the United States rates. Then it was alleged that improper methods were used in securing the contract after which negotiations were begun between the shipping board and the British lines. The Times declares that these were virtually sufficiently completed when stopped by instructions from Washington.

The review continues:

"It now seems that, under the Jones act, because the British lines

DELEGATION HALF FROM DOMINIONS

MELBOURNE, Oct. 6.—The British delegation to the Washisgton conference will consist of six delegates, including three dominion representatives, Premier Hughes announced in the house of commons today. The premier said he had received the information in a cablegram from London.

The Australian government has appointed George F. Pearce, minister of defense, as its representative.

Unemployment Urgent Problem.

LONDON, Oct. 6.—The Washington conference on armaments and Far Eastern questions took a place in the three important problems which faced the British cabinet at a council held in Downing street this afternoon. Official announcement of the British delegates to the Washington meeting is expected to be delayed until next week, while the cabinet directs its attention to the unemployment situation.

In official circles it is stated that the three subjects which demand the government's attention are unemployment, the Irish situation and disarmament, but of these unemployment is the most urgent.

Officials are careful to point out that the three subjects are equally important, but that the surrounding unemployment is the more urgent.

Irish Conference the Third.

After unemployment, there looms the new Irish conference on October 11, to which the cabinet must appoint representatives to discuss the basis of negotiations. From this subject the cabinet will turn to give full consideration to the Washington conference. At today's cabinet council it was stated the subject of Ireland was fully reviewed, this being the first time Mr. Lloyd George has had an opportunity to lay the developments of the situation while he was at Gairloch before the full cabinet.

According to present plans, next week's conference with the Irish delegates will be held in the cabinet room in Downing street.

ENTRY OF BRITISH QUESTION RAISED

Britain Will Confer With Washington With Regard to Immrigration Restriction

LONDON, Oct. 6.—The British government is taking up with Washington the entire question of the entry of British subjects into the United States, it was said today. British government officials point out that an individual may obtain the necessary vise but find on his arrival at New York that the total monthly number from the geographical category to which he may belong, already has been admitted and he, therefore, would be detained at Ellis Island, with serious discomfort.

DR. ROSE ACCEPTS MANDATE TO CONTEST WEST KOOTENAY UNDER THE MEIGHEN BANNER

At First Refuses, as Does Lorne Campbell; After Other Nominations Made, Convention Comes Back to him; Candidate Receives Ovation; Pledges of Support from Every Local Riding; Central Executive Is Named; Resolution Expresses Confidence in Government and Applauds Senator Green's Appointment.

After two hours' delibertaion last night, in the course of which both Dr. W. O. Rose, M. P. P. for Nelson, and Lorne A. Campbell of Rossland, declined nomination for private reasons, and four other names were under consideration, the West Kootenay convention of the National Liberal and Conservative party was suddenly thrown into a tumult of cheering when Mayor James Anderson of Kaslo ended a recess by vigorously throwing his hat into the air and, shaking hands with Dr. Rose, which the assemblage instantly and correctly interpreted as meaning that Dr. Rose had consented to stand. Events for several minutes after that were in the nature of a continuous ovation, and the proposers of Mayor C. F. McHardy, C. R. Hamilton, K. C., and Mrs. W. Garland Foster of Nelson, and Thomas Abriel of Nakusp, withdrew those names so that the nomination could be made unanimous. This event was consummated on motion of Mayor McHardy, seconded by Lorne Campbell, Rossland's choice, and as delegates jumped to their feet Senator R. F. Green, who, with Dr. Saul Bonnell, M. P. for East Kootenay, was on the platform, led the cheers that made the old opera house ring.

Form New Organization.

Following the nomination the gathering, which was presided over by J. E. Annable, president of the Unionist association of the last election, organized a central executive for the National Liberal and Conservative party in the West Kootenay. Of this central executive C. D. Blackwood, Nelson, was elected president; James Anderson, Kaslo, vice president; and E. G. Matthew, Nelson, secretary-treasurer. W. A. Elletson was appointed for Rossland riding, J. E. Annable for Nelson, Robert Gordon for Trail, C. F. Lindmark for Revelstoke, C. B. Garland for Kaslo, and J. Tinling for Slocan. Mrs. S. Forteath of Rossland was elected member at large. It is expected that local associations will be formed immediately in each riding.

In organizing the convention Chairman Annable appointed W. Evans as acting secretary, and appointed convention committees. The credentials committee consisted of Robert Gordon, Trail; Thomas Abriel, Nakusp; James Anderson, Kaslo; C. D. Blackwood, Nelson; W. K. Esling, Rossland, and J. Barton, Revelstoke. The resolutions committee consisted of Graham Cruickshank, Trail; W. R. Will, New Denver; W. A. Elletson, Rossland; C. F. Lindmark, Revelstoke, and C. F. McHardy, Nelson.

Mayor McHardy, in a few words of welcome, added to the city's official welcome his own personal one, and referred to Premier Meighen as "that outstanding statesman" whose clearcut policy on protection had won the people's warm indorsement.

A Great Crisis, Says Dr. Bonnell.

Dr. Bonnell referred to the present election as one of the three great crises that this young country had faced, these being, respectively, the step of confederating, the uniting of all the people to carry on the war, and the settling of the country's commercial policy at the present time when it was challenged. Pointing to the example of the United States, he asked if Canadians were going to keep their own markets and maintain their own industries, employing their own people, or whether they would let down the bars and let in the products of other countries to put the home industries out of business. He paid a great tribute to Premier Meighen's striking rise and career, declaring that the country's destinies could safely be left in his hands. He also paid a great tribute to Senator Green, both in reference to his able representation of the interests of the West Kootenay as its member of parliament, and particularly to his great skill and experience which was placed unreservedly at the service of all the British Columbia members.

Senator Green was the subject of many complimentary allusions during the evening, both Mayor McHardy and Chairman Annable making warmly applauded references to him, and to the gratification of the Kootenay over his apopintment as senator, and he was also referred to in the principal resolution reported by the resolution committee.

Affirm Loyalty to Premier Meighen.

This resolution, which was unanimously adopted amid plaudits, was as follows:

"Resolved, that we, in convention assembled, express our utmost confidence in the leadership of Rt. Hon. Arthur Meighen, premier of Canada, and in the policy outlined by him;

"That we express our appreciation of his having appointed our former member, R. F. Green, to the senate, and take it not only as an act of appreciation of Mr. Green's efforts in the past, but also as an ackowledgment of the importance of the riding of West Kootenay.

"Be it further resolved, that we hereby pledge ourselves to use every honorable effort to elect a supporter of the Meighen administration, believing as we do that every loyal Canadian should bend every energy in support of a policy that has for its object and end the fostering and upbuilding of industrial life of Canada, and the tion of agriculture in all its ches."

is resolution was wired last night premier Meighen.

nother resolution, proposed and ied by the delegates of outside ngs, expressed appreciation of Nelson's hospitality.

Rose and Campbell Nominated.

Alex Leith of Nelson, C. B. Garland of Creston, Robert Gordon of Trail, and Thomas Abriel of Nakusp were named as scrutineers, but their services were never required.

When Chairman Annable threw the convention open for nominations, Dr. L. E. Borden rose, and said it was the duty of the convention to name a man whose caliber was such that he would not only be elected, but would be able to take his share in the administration, a man who could follow Mr. Green, who had set a standard difficult to equal. He did not know a man with the necessary experience and other qualifications better fitted to take up Mr. Green's mantle than Dr. W. O. Rose.

Amid storms of cheers, Dr. Rose secured the floor to say that while he highly appreciated the honor of being proposed for the highest position in the gift of the people of the West Kootenay, and realized that nomination was equivalent to election, nevertheless after having given the matter the most careful consideration, he felt that he must positively decline:

W. K. Esling, M. P. P. for Rossland, then stated his conviction that a candidate was wanted who was thoroughly identified with the business life of the country, a live wire, and in particular a man who was in close touch with the mining industry. Rossland, he said, had a man built on these specifications, and he mentioned Lorne A. Campbell.

This was the signal for renewed cheers, but Mr. Campbell was as prompt as Dr. Rose in his declination. He said he regretted exceedingly that he was compelled to decline a nomination for reasons that were imperative. He fully realized the honor conferred upon him by being thus mentioned, for he felt sure that the man who became a candidate and contested the riding would be returned to parliament by a good majority. He had considered the question very carefully, and conditions were such that he had no alternative but to decline the honor, much as he regretted to do so.

Other Nominees.

J. A. Irving of Nelson said under the circumstances he would present to the convention the name of Mayor C. F. McHardy, who had been 25 years in the district and who, besides his work for the city of Nelson, was on many important and representative executives.

E. G. Matthew proposed C. R. Hamilton, K. C., of Nelson, ex-mayor of Rossland, a rancher in his spare time, and a bench of the law society.

Slocan presented the name of Thomas Abriel, merchant and ranch-

ROSE ACCEPTS MANDATE FOR WEST KOOTENAY

er, whose name was familiar over the Arrow lakes.

Mrs. N. M. Cummings of Nelson proposed Mrs. W. Garland Foster, as widely known through the district for her able work.

The opinion was expressed by James Anderson, C. F. Lindmark and others that the logical candidates ought to accept. Mayor McHardy joined in this view, saying he had come to support Dr. Rose and thought he should yield to the wishes of the convention.

Chairman Annable then declared a recess, which terminated, as already described, in Dr. Rose consenting to stand.

The Candidate Secured.

"It gives me great pleasure, ladies and gentlemen," began Mayor Anderson, "to announce to you that Dr. Rose, member of the provincial house" —— That was as far as he ever got with the announcement, which was drowned in waves of cheering.

Mayor McHardy moved that the nomination be unanimous, and after the various proposers had withdrawn the names of the later candidates Mr. Campbell seconded the motion, which carried by a standing vote, with cheers and "Jolly Good Fellow" chorus.

This was followed by a number of short speeches, in which delegates from various ridings promised Dr Rose a majority from their sections. This phase was participated in by Mr. Lindmark, for Revelstoke; J. H. Schofield, M. P. P. for Trail; C. B. Garland, for Kaslo; W. K. Esling, for Rossland, and Dr. Borden, for Nelson. Mr. Campbell also tendered Dr. Rose his congratulations, said he was the logical candidate, and predicted Rossland would give him a great majority.

Dr. Rose Speaks.

Answering calls for a speech, Dr. Rose mounted the platform, thanked the delegates for the unanimous nomination, and said his reasons for refusing at first were most serious personal reasons, related to the fact that his partner, Dr. Gilbert Hartin, was now undergoing treatment in Germany for a serious disease, which treatment all hoped would be successful. However, it had been put up to him in a way he could not refuse.

He well remembered 1878, and Sir John A. Macdonald's National Policy election, when the country adopted overwhelmingly the policy of protection. That policy, with slight deviations, had been in force ever since.

Now Canada was a crisis, when some sought to break away from that policy, but which breaking away, if accomplished, would bring disaster. The United States, Canada's powerful neighbor, and possibly the richest country in the world, had built up its industries and its trade by protection, which had been the policy of that country from the days of Alexander Hamilton. The United States tariff had been raised from time to time, and now the Fordney bill raised it from 25 to 50 per cent more.

Uncle Sam's Dumping Ground.

Last year Canada bought $800,000,000 worth of goods from the United States, but only sold to that country $400,000,000 worth, and now the United States wanted to buy still less.

Canada was a young country, in its infancy, as compared with the United States, and to tamper with the national policy at this stage would be to let this country be the dumping ground for the products of the highly developed industries of the United States.

Dr. Rose, amid cheers, declared that now that he had accepted he was going out to win, and to keep West Kootenay in the column supporting the government led by Rt. Hon. Arthur Meighen, that young statesman who was destined to play a part that would loom large in Canadian history.

After the convention had effected the central organization already referred to it adjourned at 12:15 o'clock, with the singing of the national anthem.

This was followed by three cheers and a tiger each for Premier Meighen, Dr. Rose and Senator Green.

"My hand caught in a revolving belt, and three fingers were badly mangled. After one week's use of Zam-Buk the wounds were well healed. It was worth three weeks' wages to me."

Mr. C. Oakley, of Saskatoon, Sask., says:—"Down at the stoneyard, I cut my leg badly. A doctor sewed up the wound and attended me for five weeks. It had cost me $40 when I determined to try Zam-Buk. In two weeks 1 dollar's worth healed the limb splendidly."

ically stated that there was absolute freedom of parliament in Canada. "We are all free members and big business has not dominated the government, despite anything Mr. Crerar may say to the contrary. This very government has fought the Canadian Pacific railway over the Grand Trunk railway, but I fancy Mr. Beatty and the Canadian Pacific railwaymen will vote for the return of the government."

As to the assertion made by Mr. Crerar that "protection was condemned on moral grounds alone," the speaker said Mr. Crerar was wrong. England was a strong protectionist for years and she is gradually getting back to protecting her resources. Every other country in the world of any consequence is a protectionist. When Mr. Crerar attempts to insinuate that a country is rotten morally because it believes in protection he was saying that every country in the world was morally rotten.

PICTOU, N. S., Oct. 6.—(Canadian Press Staff Correspondent)—Declaring that the men who had raised the tariff issue were now trying to evade it, Premier Meighen addressed a large crowd of people at the opera house today, at which Senator Tanner presided. The prime minister said he had not raised the issue, nor was he afraid of it.

The Liberals at their Ottawa convention in 1919 had declared for the free entry of foodstuffs, implements of production, cements, oils, dressed and undressed lumber and 15 other articles, Mr. Meighen declares. The definite policy of the Liberal party which it was pledged to follow, was contained in that platform. If Mr. King wished to repudiate that platform it was his affair, but it would be dishonest for him to gain power on such a platform and then repudiate it.

Mr. King's platform means the paralysis of vitrually all the important industries of Canada declared Mr. Meighen.

Andre Fauteaux, solicitor; Hon. J. B. M. Bayter, minister of customs; Hon. F. B. McCurdy, minister of public works, and Thomas J. Cantley, government candidate in Pictou county, also spoke.

SAYS UNITED STATES SLAMMED THE DOOR

Premier Hughes Says Dominions Tried to Get Separate Representation.

LONDON, Oct. 6.—A Melbourne dispatch to the Exchange Telegraph company says that Premier Hughes read a cablegram from Lloyd George, received recently, urging the high desirability of Australia being represented in the British delegation at Washington, and suggested that Mr. Hughes personally attend, or otherwise consult with the New Zealand premier concerning representation. A cablegram from the British prime minister, received later, stated that the British delegation would include three dominions' representatives.

Replying to a member who declared that Australia was entitled to separate representation, Premier Hughes said the dominions had endeavored to secure this until "America s'ammed the door."

ABANDON CONVENTION FOR REFRESHMENTS

TORONTO, Oct. 6.—Delegates to the convention of the Commercial Telegraphers' Union of America tonight abandoned the ordinary activities of the convention chamber and held a banquet. The occasion brought together many prominent workers whose efforts in dreating a union of menand women of this highly important braft date bask to the infancy of the organization. Prominent among those at the head of the table were S. J. Konenkamp, former president of the telegraphers and now an attorney in Chicago, who acted as toastmaster.

Routine matters occupied the attention of the delegates during the day.

to restore the unity of the church of Christ.

Recommend Joint Committee.

The upper house recommends that all formal invitations to the authorities of other churches within the Dominion of Canada and all conferences that may result therefrom shall be in charge of a special joint committee to be appointed for this purpose at this session of the general synod.

The third resolution outlined the condition on which the bishops would agree to such conferences.

The fourth and final resolution declares that during the few years between the initiation and completion of a definite scheme of union the Canadian bishops would countenance the irregularity of admission to communion of baptized, unconfirmed communicants of the nonepiscopal congregations participating in negotiations.

Name Draws Protests.

Discovering that there was anything but unanimity in the minds of the members of the synod as to the most desirable name for the church, the lower house at the afternoon session was forced to defer action on proposals made by that committee in the name of the church and referred that matter back for further recommendation.

The report as submitted by Archdeacon Vroom, D. D., of Windsor, N. S., suggested that the matter be left to a ballot of the diocesan synods. The choice to lie between three alternatives, the Anglican church, the Anglican Church in Canada, and the Anglican Church of Canada. The archdeacon pointed out as there was considerable divergence of opinion in the church membership, such was the only equitable method of settlement that could be adopted.

"We ourselves in synod assembled should take the bull by the horns and settle the matter ourselves," declared D. M. Owen of Halifax. He moved that the name be changed from the Church of England in the Dominion of Canada to the Church of England in Canada. Canon Scott of Quebec seconded.

That started a succession of protests from different camps. Captain K. A. Mellish, Vancouver, was the first to object. Such a name connected the presence of a "foreign church in Canada," the use of the world "English" had long been a source of concern to those who were of Irish and Scotch extraction. The church might, with equal propriety, call itself the Scottish Episcopal church in Canada. The name British Canadian would be imperial in its significance and local in its application. Other names kept springing up like mushrooms, till finally Principal R. Vance of Vancouver, seconded by Dr. Lansing Lewis, Montreal, moved that no action be taken and that the matter be referred back to the committee. His motion was adopted.

A message from the house of bishops asked that special prayers be prepared for peace in Ireland and for blessings on the deliberations of the disarmament conference in Washington.

Adopts New Prayer Book

In spite of determined opposition of a small section of the synod, the lower house confirmed the adoption of the new prayer' book shortly before adjournment. With this action, the prayer book approved by the general synod of 1914 and amended by the 1918 synod, becomes the official manual of the church. The acceptance of the bishops, as announced to the lower house earlier in the day was unanimous.

SOCIETIES MUST EXTEND CREDITS

One Million Dollars of Farmers' Notes in Manitoba Must Go Over for Year.

WINNIPEG, Oct. 6.—Rural credit societies of Manitoba will be forced to extend time for payment of $1,000,000 of farmers' notes until next fall, according to information obtained here today. Total outstanding loans of societies amount to $2,600,0000. It is expected $1,500,000 of the loans will be collectable this fall, and new notes payable in 1922 will be accepted for the balance.

Excessive rains, which held up threshing operations and lowered the prices of grain and live stock, are the reasons the societies are unable to make full collections this fall.

DE VALERA STILL AGAINST DIVISION

Receives Deputation of Nationalists From North Antrim in Domain of Ulster.

DUBLIN, Oct. 6.—The principle of Irish unity was reiterated this afternoon by Eamonn De Valera, the Irish Republican leader, in addressing a north of Antrim deputation, the last of the several delegations from Nationalists within the area of the northern parliament.

Ireland is naturally a unit, Mr. De Valera asserted, and any attempt to depart from the whole natios as a unit would lead necessarily to political absurdities. He asserted that the dividing of Ireland did not get rid of the minority problems, but multiplied them. He said the unity of Ireland was as much a fundamental principle as self-determination, adding that both were based upon right and justice.

WANT PERMANENT DOMINION BODY

Child Welfare Conference Favors Organization of Those Fighting Battles.

WINNIPEG, Oct. 6.—The basis of a permanent organization, to deal in conference with problems of child protection and welfare, was laid at today's session of the Dominion conferesce on child welfare, when a resolution favoring oranization of those engaged in the administration and enforcement of Dominion acts relating to children and child protection for conference purposes, was passed unanimously.

The day's discussion was productive of several important suggestions bearing on amendments to present laws and better care of children by other agencies. This morning the need of placing children in homes rather than in institutions was strongly emphasized by several speakers. More rigid adoption laws and personal acquaintance of state agencies with foster homes and parents was also advocated.

At the afternoon session Judge Emily Murphy of Edmonton made an urgent appeal for increase of mothers' allowance on the ground that the state was guilty itself of neglecting children when it failed to give sufficient maintenance allowance to a mother it pensioned as its servant to care for the child.

INSURANCE AGENTS MEET AT VICTORIA

Provincial Convention Will Prepare Case on Licensing for Presentation.

VICTORIA, Oct. 6.—President George S. Schetky, in his address to the British Columbia Fire Insurance agents, in convention here today, expressed appreciation that the government had selected a practical experienced insurance man for the new superintendent of insurance. He alluded to the proposed legislation by the provincial government in which insurance agents would be licensed

It was unanimously decided to send a telegram to the convention of insurance superintendent now in session in Quebec extending an invitation to that body to hold its next meeting in Victoria.

The main topic for discussion at the conference will be the proposed legislation at the next session of the legislature dealing with the licensing of insurance agents, and the convention will prepare its case for submission to the government.

Mayor R. J. Porter extended a very hearty welcome to the delegates of whom there are over 100 from all parts of the province. His worship extended an invitation to the visitors to inspect the construction of the new $4,300,000 drydock at Esquimalt and the ship repair and other activities proceeding at Esquimalt.

Under the head of "Legislation" D. B. Letuty, president of the Vancouver Fire Agents' association, gave an address this morning on licensing and qualification of fire insurance agents in British Columbia.

Insurance commissioner Dougherty was welcomed at the conference and delegates were present from Vancouver, New Westminister, Nanaimo, Victoria, Coutenay, Duncan, Kamloops, Fernie, Cranbrook, Kelowna, and numerous other places in the province.

BRING DOLLAR BACK TO PAR

Dr. Edwards Says Meighen Policy Will Help to Boost Canadian Exchange.

KINGSON, Ont., Oct. 6.—Hon. J. W. Edwards, minister of health and immigration, was today the unanimouse choice as the candidate of the Conservatives of the federal constituency of Frontenac, in convention here this afternoon. Dr. Edwards referred to the tariff and said that there were three reasons why a protective tariff was necessary. The first was to bring the Canadian dollar back to par, the second to secure revenue to pay the war debt, and third, to encourage Canadian industry. Honorables Mackenzie King and Crerar, he said, were agreed that if they attained power they would have the duty taken off food products, and this the Meighen policy opposed.

Referring to Mr. Crerar, Dr. Edwards said:

"I wish he had been brought to Frontanac to oppose me. It would have been worth five years of my life to have him. If the Farmers of this country are foolish enough to put Mr. Crerar in power, and if he is foolish enough to carry out the land taxation plank in the platform, it will mean a tax of from fifty to one hundred dollars in each hundred acre farm in this country."

CRESTON'S FOURTH ANNUAL FAIR BREAKS ALL PREVIOUS RECORDS

Splendid Exhibits, Large Attendance and Fine Sports Characterize Great Fruit Carnival; Lieut.-Col. Lister Opens Annual Event of Fertile Creston Valley.

CRESTON, Oct. 6.—Favored with ideal Indian summer weather on both days, Creston's fourth annual fall fair, which closed last night scored a tremendous success in every department.

With exhibits at least 25 per cent in excess of 1920—and the fruit section, almost treble that of the year previous—all that was required was regulation early-October Kootenay weather, and this old probs, dispensed in a fashion that could hardly have been improved upon had atmospheric conditions been made to order.

An attendance in the neighborhood of 800 was in evidence, and when a survey of the phenomenal main building exhibit had been accomplished, the quite creditable show of horses and cattle, and the record poultry display had been inspected, there was a fine line of outdoor attractions in the way of athletic sports and baseball matches to very enjoyable round out the whole afternoon.

Col Lister Opens Fair

The exhibition was officially opened at 1:30. President Walter V. Jackson, prior to introducing Col. Fred Lister, M. P. P., who gave the formal opening address, seized the occasion to express the appreciation of himself and the directors for the wholehearted way the citizens had worked to make the fair a success. He was particular complimentary to the ladies who had taken charge of the several department, as well as those who had worked on the floral decoration committee. Col. Lister spoke briefly. While he had always had unbounded confidence in the possibilities of Creston Valley the exhibit of fruit, poultry, cooking, needlework, etc., which was on hand for inspection was indeed a revelation; not only as to the fertility of the soil and the magnificient climate, but also as bespeaking an industrious and intelligent body of citizens whose development of the garden of the Kootenays could hardly fail to put the Creston Valley on the horticultural map of the Dominion in tints so brilliant that even the color blind could not mistake them.

In addition to the extent of the fruit display, another satisfactory feature was the increase in the number of individual exhibitors, and still more encouraging is the fact that the prizes were fairly uniformly spread over all the competitors. The coveted Speers cup, which goes for the best five box lot was carried off by the Walter V. Jackson ranch, with a show of Delicious that were simply perfect in every detail, including the packing, which was in charge of Mr. H. B. Downs. Although this season is two weeks earlier almost than usual, and the fair a week later, the Ashley Cooper & Sons ranch at Wynndel had a corking fine show of several varieties of plums as well as prunes, and the ranch well sustained its Nelson fair success by taking twelve prizes on twenty-four entries in the keenest kind of competition.

Lauded Potato Display

The vegetable section was light—as was expected due to the rather dry year—but at that the show of potatoes was a splendid one and the cabbage section was equally well represented, while the show of watermelons from the L. Littlejohn ranch at Erickson was undoubtedly the best ever. The E. Simmons ranch at West Creston won the board of trade cup for the best collection of vegetables, with L. Littlejohn second—the latter adding variety to his by including a show of peanuts, hickory nuts and sweet potatoes, along with almost all the other lines of garden stuff.

In the cooking the big sections were the bread and pies, with a very large display of pumpkin pies of various colors—and, presumably tastes. On these the red ticket went to Mrs. Comfort, while in slightly less strenuous competition Mrs. E. F. Paynes was first on pie of the lemon variety, and Mrs. Geo. Cartwright first in quite a large class of apple pie bakers. Mrs. Eastwood exceded in pie of any other variety, her pork enclosed pastry taking the premier honors.

With 100 pound sacks as first prize there is no need to say the bread competition was large. Mrs. Stocks was on first on Purity, Mrs. Kleist on Five Roses, and Miss Lily Marshall on Our Best. But the surprise of the day was in Robin Hood, where Mrs. Androsov, a local Doukhobor, pulled down the highest honors, with a showing of a couple of jumbo loaves that must have weighed 20 pounds each. In this section Mrs. Maxwell well deserved the prize of a "Conserve" steam home cooking machine for the most dishes made from apples. She had no less than 125 different articles made from mother Eve's favorite fruit—and as tempting-looking as they were numerous.

With considerable outside competition to cope with local fanciers were still prominent in a large poultry section of which, perhaps, the most pleasing feature was the winning of E. Langstrom, a Lister fancier—the first time a poultryman of the soldier settlement ever took home any poultry prize money. The Barred Rocks shown by Mrs. G. O. Rodgers attracted no end of admiration and well deserved the red tickets awarded them. Mr. Harbinson, a Cranbrook poultryman, was a prominent exhibitor, and amongst his triumphs was the winning of President Jackson's cup, for the best male bird in the show.

J. W. Read, a Lister apiarist, was roundly complimented on his win for the best collection of extracted honey in a field of three entries. Beekeeping is going quite strong amongst the soldier settlers, and Mr. Head has had considerable experience in beekeeping prior to coming to the Valley.

Creston Beats Kaslo

In the outdoor sports Creston won a fast and exciting baseball match with the crack Kaslo team, by a score of 9 to 8. In order to allow Kaslo to get back on the afternoon train of the day they arrived, a seven-inning contest was agreed upon, but by timely hitting in the sixth and seventh stanzas Creston managed to tie up the score at 7-7, and an extra frame had to be played in which the locals won out. The teams were exceptionally evenly matched in practically every department, and next season should see an inter-city series with the metropolis of the silver lead belt. After the Kaslo-Creston game the local Boy Scouts and School team hooked up in a seven-inning clash, in which the Scouts triumphed 15 to 8. Bert Sang of Cranbrook umpired the game with Kaslo with satisfaction to all.

There were four entries in the Indian pony three-quarter mile dash, which was won by Harary Edwards, while in the boy's pony race Fred Christie finished in front, with Harry Smith second.

In the outdoor sports there was a long string of races most of which were for the children under 15 years, but some excitement was furnished in the 100 yard run, which was won by A. Spencer, who led E. Taylor about two feet when the tape was reached.

In the afternoon the Grand theatre had a matinee showing of "The Mollycoddle," which was largely attended, and in the evening there was a house of a little over 400 to see the same picture. At 10 p. m. Manager Rodgers had the opening "hop" in the large new dance hall on the second floor of the Grand theatre building. On the new hardwood four-way floor to excellent music by Mrs. Foreman, piano Mrs. Lister violin, Mr. Chorlton, cello, and Alex Lidgate, drums, more than 100 couple of Creston's patrons of the art terischore had an evening's dance that has never been equalled in Creston, Carterer Norris adding the finishing touch with a midnight supper which was quite in keeping with the spacious well-appointed and high class music.

Today financial returns are not available, but from returns that are to hand it is quite safe to say that the financial success of the fair is quite on a par with the phenomenaly excellent showing made in all the other departments.

ALLEGE RETAILERS ARE PROFITEERS

British Public Bodies Campaign; Prices Do Not Correspond with Cuts.

LONDON, Oct. 6. — (Canadian Press cable).—Public bodies are now taking up a campaign against the alleged profiteering by retailers, whose do not correspond with recent cuts announced by wholesalers.

The corporation of the city of Cardiff, Wales has decided to carry on an investigation into the affairs of certain shopkeepers after an announcement by the lord mayor that he was buying frozen meat at four and one half pence a pound for distribution among the distressed. But stores are charging the public from 18 to 20 pence a pound.

The ministry of agriculture, in its weekly market report, shows that the decline in prices for fat cattle during the past week was the heaviest recorded since April. Corresponding fall in prices in the wholesale meat prices have occurred, as has also the prices for sheep, lambs and mutton.

Sugar is first mentioned in history when a small quantity was brought from India to Rome.

It is not advisable to plant any trees in the fall.

PHENOMENAL DROP IN TURKISH POUND

Says Depreciation Due to Greek Propaganda and Stock Speculation.

CONSTANTINOPLE, Oct. 6.—The Turkish pound is quoted at 54 cents. There has been a colossal rise in sterling, and the dollar, due to reports of an issue of Nationalist paper money. These reports are unfounded. The minister of finance attributes the depreciation in the Turkish pound to Greek propaganda and stock exchange speculation.

Under ordinary monetary conditions prior to the war, the Turkish pound was worth about $4.39.

Support League of Nations, Urges Sir Robert Borden

TORONTO, Oct. 6.—A call to all men and women of good will to support the league of nations society in its effort to prevent future war was sounded by Sir Robert Borden in an interview here today.

"The world conflict through which we have passed rocked the very foundations of civilization," said Sir Robert. "If another war was to break out, its methods would be more deadly and its consequences more terrible to a degree which cannot be realized.

"The society desires to bring public opinion in Canada strongly to bear on this question. On this continent we were remote from the actual devastation and horrors of the war from which the world has only recently emerged. But the increasing command which the nations are gaining over the terrible destructive forces of nature, may bring the next war to our very doors."

Referring to the forthcoming disarmament conference at Washington, Sir Robert said the occasion makes opprtune the meeting of the League of Nations society here on Saturday evening, and the effort of the Canadian society to enlist the strong support of public opinion in Canada.

Greenfield Promises Relief for the Farmers of Southern Alberta

Advisability of the appointment of a special commissioner to assist him in the work of administering the liquor act in the province was being considered by Attorney-General Brownlee, according to a statement he made before the provincial convention of the W. C. T. U. yesterday afternoon.

Mr. Brownlee also stated to the convention that he was considering the whole problem of substituting government vendors for drugstore selling, and was now securing information on the relative advantages of the two systems.

VANCOUVER NOMINATES FAMOUS SOLDIERS

VANCOUVER, Oct. 6.—Two distinguished soldiers were nominated tonight for candidature in the federal elections in the Vancouver district. Brigadier General Victor W. Odlum was the practically unanimous choice of the South Vancouver Liberal delegates.

Brigadier General J. A. Clark was chosen by the convention of the National Liberal and Conservative delegates as their candidate for Burrard riding. John Nelson, publisher, was also put in nomination but withdrew and supported the candidature of General Clark. S. J. Crowe, the sitting member, declined to run again.

West Kootenay supporters of the Meighen government could not have made a more popular choice for candidate than Dr. W. O. Rose, at present member in the provincial legislature for Nelson.

Dr. Rose has firm friends throughout West Kootenay. He is known from one end of the riding to the other. He is a man of unsual capacity, of strong personality and with a broad grasp of public affairs. He has had experience in public life which will assist him materially in the wide field to which he has been called.

He has the National Liberal and Conservative party of the riding solidly and enthusiastically behind him.

Dr. Rose stands as a supporter of the protection policy of Hon. Arthur Meighen, and as he pointed out in the excellent speech which he made last night it is a policy which has never failed to carry the party to victory. It is a policy upon which Canada has been built up, it is the only policy which can save the country from the fierce competition of foreign nations, notably the United States, during the struggle for post-war trade which has commenced. Canada has to choose between maintaining its protection policy and disaster. There is no other alternative.

With Dr. Rose as their candidate West Kootenay supporters of the Meighen government feel assured of victory. But there must be no relaxation of effort on that account. It is up to every section of the riding to organize for victory as it never organized before.

Let West Kootenay send Dr. Rose to Ottawa with such a majority as will show in clear and unmistakable way where this riding stands upon the great issue of protection of industries which is now before the Canadian people.

DEAD KITTENS CARRIED OPIUM..

It was in Shanghai that the writer, a London correspondent, first saw the opium smugglers at work.

A tramp steamer from India had just berthed, and amid the confusion of rattling cranes and shouting coolies the usual mixed crowd of orientals descended the gangway.

The customs official, a tired, white-faced Englishman, quickly got to work. As each passenger came before him his practiced fingers worked carefully all over the bodies from the head downward.

Down the gangway came an old Chinese woman, almost tottering with the smallness of her tightly bound feet. She was dressed in the usual black silk trousers and blouse, and carried an old wicker basket under her arm. Her yellow, wrinkled face gazed at the official in reproach as he began his search.

"What's in the basket, ma?" he asked.

The almond eyes began to weep copiously "Me take cat—some velly fine kitten. No chow (food) on ship and kitten die. Lookes 'ere!"

And the old Chinese woman opened the basket, displaying a black cat whose yellow eyes blinked wickedly in the light, while six black kittens, all dead, lay around her.

"But you don't want to take dead kittens ashore," said the customs official rather roughly. "Throw them away!"

The tears of the old woman streamed afresh. "Me velly kind. Wantee bury kitten in garden my house."

The customs official looked at the old woman and then at the black cat, still blinking, and then at the kittens. He stretched out a lean hand and, despite the spitting fury of the black cat and the cry of alarm from the old woman, picked out a dead kitten from the basket. He held it in his hand, looking at it thoughtfully.

"Humph! All the 'kitten' stuffed with opium he, ma? Not a bad idea. You nearly got me there."

He called to a Chinese assistant, who seized the basket and the dead kittens, and in a few moments a pile of brown opium was displayed before us.

Efficient Housekeeping

BY Laura A. Kirkman

THE HOUSEKEEPER'S PERSPECTIVE

When an artist starts to paint an object he must take into consideration the angle from which he sees it; this angle he terms "perspective." Today I am going to talk about the angle or "perspective" from which the housekeeper looks out upon life.

The average housekeeper's perspective is apt to be too stationary. That is, she never changes her perspective—never gets a new perspective. Her housework holds her pretty close to the home, and she has few diversions to lead her thoughts away from herself—or away from what her neighbors are thinking!

It is a pathetic fact that the majority of housewives, especially in small towns, live in terror of "What the neighbors will say." They brood over small errors they make, and suffer keenly over public disapproval of some foolish thing they have done. I have known women who have actually regretted for years some slight mistake they have made which has "gone round the town.

Yet if those same women had been able to jaunt off somewhere on a short trip and get a new "perspective," they would have come home and laughed at the suggestion that they once brooded of a mere nothing. Indeed, I can cite just such an instance from real life:

A friend of mine who lives in a small town once made the mistake of severely criticizing the way one of her neighbors brought up her children; the woman to whom she made this criticism was false and promptly told the neighbor what my friend had said of her way of training children. This started a little feud between the families and other women "took sides." When my friend walked down street, the neighbor whom she had criticized would no longer bow to her, Naturally my friend was very unhappy. She wrote me (for she does not live near me) and asked my advice. I replied, "Go away for a little while. Things always blow over."

My friend took my advice and went to the shore for a month in the summer. When she returned to her home, she wrote me the following paragraph:

"I think I've discovered the secret of getting on with one's neighbors. And that is—to get away from them for short intervals, now and then. If one stays at home all the time, one get to magnifying everything they say and think. I was keeping too close to my housework and to my limited little life. I came home with a smile, and everybody was willing to smile with me. But if I'd stayed at home I'd never been able to smile at all, and then nobody would have smiled with me. Even the neighbor I critized, likes me now."

All of which boils down to this truth: that if a person wears a jaunty air—an air that says, "My little mistakes aren't very bad, after all"—then the world is going to be convinced; but if a person takes his faults too seriously, then the world is going to take them seriously too. And one of the best ways to get that "jaunty air" is to get a change of scene and change of thought.

I believe that housekeepers should make more visits, should take a two-weeks' vacation each year just as the business woman does, and should frequently manage to spend entire days away from the home for the purpose of shopping, going to the theatre or sight-seeking. She of all women needs to "get a new perspective" frequently.

Tomorrow—More Answered Letters.

All inquiries addressed to Miss Kirkman in care of the "Efficient Housekeeping" department will be answered in these colums in their turn. This requires considerable time, however, owing to the great number received. So if a personal or quicker reply is desired, a stamped and self-addressed enevelope must be enclosed with the question. —The Editor.

At the monthly business meeting of the Baptist church a hearty vote of appreciation was tendered to Dr. N. Wolverton, recently resigned from the superintedency of the Sunday school. Dr. Wolverton's resignation was accepted by the wardens with much regret, as he has proved a most devoted and efficient leader in that department. He will, however, continue in the school as leader of a new young men's Bible class soon to be organized. His son, Harold Wolverton, was unanimously chosen as superintendent, and James Haner as assistant.

COINCIDENCES IN HISTORY

Coincidences in life are stranger than anything in fiction.

There used to be two steamers caller the Romolus and the Remus. A few years back the former was lost in the channel. Within three weeks the Remus was wrecked a thousand miles away from the scene of her sister ship's disaster.

Many reliable autorities regard the following as the most amazing coincidence on record. More than two hundred years ago, December 5, 1664, a boat crossing the Menai s trait with 81 passengers, encountered a terrific gale, and foundered. The only man to escape death was a Hugh Williams.

More than a hundred years later, December 5, 1780, another vessel, with a large number of passengers, sank in the same circumstances, and in the same spot. All the passengers were drowned except one. His name was Hugh Williams.

Again, December 5, 1826, a boat carrying 30 people sank in the same spot. The sole survivor was a Hugh Williams.

The figure 9 has a peeculiar connection with the career of the ex-kaiser. He was born in the fifty-ninth year of the century, entered the army in 1869, and completed his university career in 1879. The dates of his birth and marriages—January 27 and February 27—both make nine, if two and seven are added together. And the same number figures in his defeat and exile. That occurred in 1918 which contains one figure 9 and two fgiures that added together make 9. Also he was 59 years old when his career as ruler ended.

Dogged Napoleon's Footsteps.

It has often been pointed out that the letter M, for better or worse, dogged the footsteps of both Napoleon the Great and Napoleon the Little. In the case of Napoleon I, it was Marboeuf who first recognized his genius at the military college, Marengo was the first great victory, Morlier was his best generel, Moreau betrayed him, Marat died for him, Marie Louise shared his fortunes, Moscow marked the turn in those fortunes, Meternich beat him in diplomacy.

His first battle was Montenotte, his last Mont St. Jean. He stormed Montemarte, took Milan, Marmount deserted him. His right hand man was Montesquin, his last resting place in France Maimaison. He surrendered to Captain Maitland, and his companions at St. Helena were Monthoion and Machard. His marshals were Massena, Mortier, Marmont, MacDonald, Murat and Moucey, and no fewer than twentysix of his generals had names beginning with M.

Napoleon III married the Countess of Montijo and his most intimate friend was Morny, and his tutor Mortieth of Montelimar. His greatest military successes were the capture of Malakoff and the Mauselon Tower. His biggest battle was Montebello, and MacMahon won Magenta for him.

He drove the Austrians out of Mariguano, and made his tirumphal entry into Milan. He was repulsed before Mantua, in his last war, driven back to the Moselle, and his fate settled by Moltke at Metz.

Japan's wheat crop this season is nearly a million bushels less than that harvested in 1920, and nearly a million and a quarter les sthan in an average season.

PARIS.

A Parisian conception of a trig tailored frock is shown in this model of dark blue serge, which is trimmed with very narrow black cire braid, surmounted by a rectangle of shiny steel buttons each enclosed in a circle of the braid. Such are the ingenious trimming devices that give those foreign frocks their chic, however simple the design of the dress itself may be. Note, too, the cut of the sleeve, which flares somewhat at the wrist, and the bateau neckline, which still is considered the smartest finish. The foundation skirt is of silk with a deep hem of the serge, and may be adjusted on an elastic belt or joined to a bodice lining, to which the sleeves may be attached, thus leaving a freer armhole.

CRABAPPLE JELLY AND MARMALADE.

Wash ten quarts of dark red crabapples, core, cover with water, and cook until well done. Strain through muslin, leaving two cupfuls of the juice still in the kettle. To each cup of juice add three-quarters of a cup of sugar and let boil hard until it jellies, which should be in about a quarter of an hour or less. But, as sometimes happens, if it refuses to jelly there is nothing for it but to return to the fire for another boiling.

Then take the two cups of juice remaining and the fruit and put thorugh a sieve or fine colander. Add to it three-quarters of a cup of sugar to each cup of fruit and cook slowly one hour. There will be at least half a dozen small jars of marmalade.

COMPRESSED AIR IN QUARRIES.

Compressed air is being used, near Atlanta, Ga., in quarrying granite, and it has been found to have advantages over the more usual methods when the granite rock is devoid of "joints," says Popular Mechanics Magazise. Two three-inch holes are drilled, a short distance apart, and perpendicularly to the rock, to a depth of eight feet. After removing the drills, a spoonful of black blasting powder is dropped to the bottom of each hole, tamped with clay, and the holes wired so that they can be electrically fired. The effect of the explosion is to start cracks in the rocks at right angles to the holes.

This operation is repeated a number of times, until it is certain that the cracks radiate from the bottom of the holes to a distance of about 75 feet. Into each hole, to slightly over half its depth, there is then inserted a one-inch pipe, and the space surrounding the pipes in the holes is filled with sand, tamped so as to seal it against air pressure. Connections are then made between the upper ends of the pipes and the quarry air compressor, which continues to pump air, at 100-pound pressure, into the holes until the block of rocks above the cleavage already formed is torn from the surrounding rock.—Brooklyn Eagle.

CAVE CANEM.

A Chinese diplomat, recently at the head of a mission in France, desired to show his gratitude toward the Quai d'Orsay officials who had helped him. He invited several of them to dine, and as a special mark of sympathy welcomed them at a Chinese restaurant not far from the Sorbonne. They were greatly interested by the strange dishes, none of which they had ever tasted before. After a while there was placed on the table a stew which one of the guests thought he recognized as duck. Anxious to show some appreciation he signed to the waiter, who spoke no French, gave him to understand that he thought it excellent, and in order to indicate that he knew what it was he smilingly said: "Quack! quack!" But to his horror the waiter shook his head, replying "Bow-wow!" —The Morning Post.

"DEADHEAD" WHO SOUGHT FREEDOM.

When the question of "booing" in a theatre is discussed, one recalls the story of an incident at the Comedy theatre in the late '80s.

During the performance a man left his seat in the pit and walked out to the money box, where he handed in the counterfoil of a pit pass marked "Complimentary."

"I don't want to pay any compliments to this show," he said. "Here's my half-crown. Give me a pit ticket; then I can hiss."—Daily Chronicle.

STEAMER WITH A PIG PROBLEM

The steamship Magyarorszag, which took a cargo of lemons to New York, sailed from that port a few days ago for Palermo, with a pig problem on board.

The pig problem, Captain Louis Balais informed the bureau of animal industry at New York, when he made a vain call for aid there just before sailing, threatens his sanity. The animal industry people failed to take him seriously and the skipper sent to the freighter in Brooklyn for Third Officer Parrossin, who is also steward, surgeon and interpreter and ship's swineherd.

"Four years ago," explained Signor Parrossin, "one of the crew brought two pigs at Newport News to take to his old father in Palermo. At Palermo he learns his father is dead and as the pigs have been pets, we keep them on board that we may eat them when they are big.

"Before that time came there were five little pigs. Now who would eat a mother who had sailed the seas with us for six months and had played tag with us about the decks and was so proud of her little ones? Not an Italian sailor. So we decided to wait until we could eat the children.

The Pets of the Crew.

"It was not written that the children should be eaten. The little pigs were the pets of the crew. They learned tricks. They could not speak—but they could understand. Do not laugh. There were two which learned to read—it is true! The captain said the time was come to be stern. He ordered me, the steward, to kill a little pig for the mess. It hurt, but I am an obedient officer. I ordered the cook to kill the pig. The cook went to each man in the crew and offered him a month's salary to act as executioner. A month went by in discussion of the matter.

"In Boston, Signor the Captain, hired a butcher to come aboard to kill the pig, and the little one's body swung by its hind legs above the deck as we sailed out to sea. Then came the worst storm through which the ship has ever lived. Three times we commended our souls to the saints.

"The sailors, they said it was the pig. They could eat none of him. The captain had the pig served at the table of the officers. They did eat but little of him. But they became very sick. What remained of the pig was buried at sea. There was no more talk of eating the pigs.

"But as the months and years go by there are many more pigs. There will be yet more before we pass under Gibraltar. There are now five generations of pigs on the ship, 21 in all. Some in the wisdom of Providence have died from disease and from accident, as did one last voyage who was smothered to death out of curiosity to look into the rubber boot of a fireman and could not get out again.

Can Not Put Them Ashore.

"Why do we not put them ashore? It is not allowed unless we show a permit for good health from the town where they were embarked. At Newport News there is no record of the first two—and all the others were born on board. They will continue to increase until they sink the ship, but there is no law by which we may set them ashore.

"It is indeed enough to wreck the mind.

"Why not kill them and throw them overboard? Oh, Signor, do not joke. It is nothing to make a laugh about. The crew, it would strike and no other crew from the Mediterranean would ever come aboard.

"No, there is no help for us. If ever another sailor comes aboard a ship with little pigs for his father at home, I shall jump overboard before I sail on her. Signor the Captain says the same. Goodby, gentlemen."

Sadly the captain and the third officer went back to the Magyarorszag and the seafaring swine.

SIGNS OF "FIDGETS"

Folding and unfolding the arms, tapping one foot on the other, screwing up the eyes—these and other forms of fidgeting can be seen anywhere and any day.

Some persons are always frowning, not because they are angry, nor because their eyes are weak, but merely from habit.

Have you ever noticed a man opening his mouth wide as he rubs one of his eyes? Why does he do it? It is just as easy to rub your eye with your mouth shut, isn't it?

Some people have a trick of pulling their eyebrows or eyelashes sideways.

There are people going about this queer old world who seem quite incapable of serious thinking on any subject unless they put their tongues out. And some cannot argue without tapping.

EAT LESS MEAT IF BACK HURTS

Take a Glass of Salts to Flush Kidneys if Bladder Bothers You—Drink Lots of Water.

Eating meat regularly eventually produces kidney trouble in some form or other, says a well-known authority, because the uric acid in meat excites the kidneys. they become overworked; get sluggish; clog up and cause all sorts of distress, particularly backache and misery in the kidney region; rheumatic twinges, severe headaches, acid stomach, constipation, torpid liver, sleeplessness, bladder and urinary irritation.

The moment your back hurts or kidneys aren't acting right or if bladder bothers you, get about four ounces of Jad Salts from any good pharmacy; take a tablespoonful in a glass of water before breakfast for a few days and your kidneys will then act fine. This famous salts is made from the acid of grapes and lemon juice, combined with lithia, and has been used for generations to flush clogged kidneys and stimulate them to normal activity; also to neutralize the acids in the urine so it no longer irritates, thus ending bladder disorders.

Jad Salts cannot injure any one; makes a delightful effervescent lithia-water drink which millions of men and women take now and then to keep the kidneys and urinary organs clean, thus avoiding serious kidney disease.

NAKUSP SUFFERS FROM WIND STORM

Barn Is Razed to Ground and Falling Tree Damages Residence.

NAKUSP, Oct. 6.—A terrific storm struck Arrow Lakes on both Monday and Wednesday afternoon causing great inconvenience and some loss. Both the C. P. R. and government telegraph and telephone lines were put out of business, but service was resumed within 15 hours in both cases. Cottonwood trees were blown down in various parts of the town, one falling over the roof of E. R. Lamerton's residence, owned by L. J. Edwards, damaging chimney and part of the roof. The greatest damage, however, was incurred by Gus Hanke of Brouse, his new barn, 30 by 60 feet, being razed to the ground.

Mr. and Mrs. W. Wilks and family left Hamilton, Via London, Spokane and Nelson in their motor car for Nakusp about 10 days ago, the trip being expected to take some three weeks. Mrs. Wilks is a sister of Mrs. R. H. Baird of Nakusp, whom they will be visiting. Considerable interest is being taken by the Nakuspians in this the first transcontinental motor trip with Nakusp as its objective point.

Wm. Murray, manager of the Canadian Bank of Commerce here, returned from sick leave, with his family, on Wednesday. Mr. Murray is feeling well. Mr. Pangman, who has been relieving him, returned to Vancouver on Thursday.

The sad and sudden death of little Gilbert Hugh, son of Mr. and Mrs. A. D. Middlemiss, of Rock Island, took place on Monday night. The little fellow had only been ill a few hours. The interment took place at Nakusp cemetery on Wednesday, after a formal inquest held by Dr. McLean, the coroner. Rev. A. R. Wiseman officiated, he very kindly using the Anglican service at the grave.

The first annual general meeting of the Public Hall Society, Inc., was held *on Thursday evening with J. D. Yeat*man in the chair. The secretary treasurer, O. W. Humphrey, read the financial statement, which was very satisfactory in spite of the fact that the new addition costing $300 had recently being completely. The total indebtedness is only $95, which is expected to be wiped off during the coming winter. J. D. Yeatman was unanimously elected president; Mrs. F. Martin, vice-president; and as directors, T. A. Wheildon, O. W. Humphrey, W. D. Ridge, Mrs. E Watts and Miss Brown R. Greyson was chosen secretary-treasurer, and H. Kingwell was elected auditor for the year. HOW TO RID THE ARMS OF OBJECTIONABLE HAIRS

(Aids to Beauty.)

A simplified method is here given for the quick removal of hairy or fuzzy growths and rarely is more than one treatment required: Mix a stiff paste with some powdered delatone and water, apply to hairy surface and after 2 or 3 minutes rub off, wash the skin and every hair has vanished. This simple treatment cannot cause injury, but care should be exercised to get real delatone.

CRESTON EXPORTS TO BIG CENTERS

Cars of Wagners Now Rolling Toward Chicago, Detroit and New York City Itself

CRESTON, Oct. 6.—Creston Valley this week breaks into the company of the apple exporting that are out to capture a share of the trade on the American market, the initial shipment being three cars of select Wagners, one each of which is destined for New York, Chicago and Detroit, the Staples Fruit company, being the shippers. At the Fruit Growers Union warehouse the pack is under way of a car of Cox Orange, which are booked for the London, England, market, and Manager Loveday is arranging for the shipment of a car of Christmas presentation apples which will arrive in the Old Country in time for Yuletide distribution, and in which it is assured not only Creston people but also residents at other East Kootenay points will have a few boxes each to remember themselves to old time friends in the old land.

To Creston Valley belongs the credit of shipping out the biggest carload of apples ever loaded at a British Columbia shipping point. The car moved from Erickson on Tuesday, and contained approximately 1200 boxes of Jonathans and Wagners. The Staples Fruit company, handled the business, and the apples were an on-the-spot purchase by Messrs. Whip and Kleinsausser of the Milford Mennonite community, near Magrath, Alta., who paid in the neighborhood of $2000 spot cash. The apples were loaded loose in the car, hence the exceptional carrying capacity of the car. The visitors made quite a thorough inspection of many of the Valley orchards, but were so taken with the exceptional quality of the Jonathans on the Frank Putnam ranch, and the Wagners on the R. B. Stapples place, that they paid these two growers ten cents a box in excess *of several other offers in order to se*cure their choice of the fruit—insisting that the apples be picked from trees which they personally selected. The sale of this quantity of fruit under these circumstances is, quite naturally, received with satisfaction in the Erickson section as indicating the superiority of the apples grown in that district. Too, the sale is equally comforting to the backers of the projected Arrow Creek irrigation scheme—both the Staples and Putnam ranches are irrigated from the Erickson Water Users' community irrigation system.

BEGIN BIG FILL AT KOOTENAY LANDING

Quarter of Mile of Trestle Will Be Buried in Six Weeks' Time With Gravel

CRESTON, Oct. 6.—Work started on the big fill the Canadian Pacific railway is to make on the high trestle from the station at Kootenay landing to the slip at the lake side—a distance of about a quarter of a mile. Three work trains are employed; two of them hauling material for the fill in steel ore cars, and the third handling the work at the fill. Material is secured at the cut near the Canyon bridge, about 18 miles from the trestle, and it is expected that the job will take at least six weeks to complete. While this work is under way the yard engine and crew operate at night handling the freight traffic to and from the barges that ply between Proctor and the Landing.

Up till the first of the month provincial revenues had been swelled a matter of over $500 by this year's issue of game licenses at Creston by Provincial Police Officer McLaren. Almost 200 of these permits were issued, three of which were trappers permits, nine big game hunters, and the balance the ordinary game shooting licenses. Police court trade, however, was quiet, the intake from fines being less than $20 dollars—a couple of common assaults being the only cases Magistrate Crompton was called upon to adjudicate in. There is some local demand for liquor permits, the province netting $15 from that source last month.

Just how excellent was the haying weather throughout September is indicated in the official weather report which shows that the rainfall for the month was just exactly 70 inches. A touch of 24 above freezing weather encountered Sept. 13 and three days later the balmiest touch of atmosphere was in evidence, the mercury getting up to 74 in the shade on Sept. 17. The vital statics show new arrivals of two each of boys and girls, with no marriages and no deaths.

C. P. R. Agent Swanson got away on Monday on his usual fall vacation trip which will take him as far as Victoria, and during his stay in Vancouver will attend a meeting of the executive of the United Farmers of British Columbia. Yardmaster Loasby of Sirdar is another railway official who is on vacation. With Mrs. Loasy he is also a coast visitor at present.

AUSTRIAN CROWN IS STILL FALLING

Panic Ensues, Food Stores Take on War Time Aspect; Workers Agitate.

VIENNA, Oct. 6.—The value of the Austrian crown continues daily to fall. This brought about a panic and all classes of people are seeking to buy merchandise of any kind of foreign securities or money. Offers of 3,400, crowns for a dollar have been made but no sellers of the dollar are to be found.

The food stuffs have taken on a war time aspect. Long lines of women are to be seen herded by the police outside grocery stores. Stores have been compelled to close as their stocks have been sold. There is a certain amount of agitation among the working classes on account of the events in West Hungary, the news received here leading them to the belief that a monorchist corporation is being prepared there.

JAP INTERESTS BUY STERLING

Shorts Have Their Day in the Market, Forcing Declines in Many Stocks.

NEW YORK, Oct. 6.—Directing their attacks against some of the more favorable issues, professional interests were enabled to effect further irregular impairment of prices in the stock market today.

Tobaccos, oils and junior steels, equipments and motors were the especial targets of the shorts. Sumatra Tobacco led the reaction declining 3¾ points on the suspension of dividend payments.

Mexican and European oils bore the brunt of the reactionary movement in their division, falling from 1 to almost 4 points. Coppers retained much of their recent improvement and shippings rallied in the latter part of the session.

Sales were 530,000 shares.

On the exchange call loans opened and held at 4½ per cent.

Although the weekly statements of the British, French and German banks reflected strained conditions abroad, foreign exchanges held yesterday's rally for the most part.

Extensive buying of sterling bills was attributed to Japanese interests. With one exception, Liberty issues rose to the best price of the year on very large dealings, Victory notes being slightly easier.

Total sales, $18,250,000.

WHEAT MARKET REACTS UPWARD

Belief That Prices Should Rise After a Long Decline Helps Bring About Turn.

CHICAGO, Oct. 6.—Belief expressed in various quarters that a reaction was due after the recent long decline did a good deal to lift prices in the wheat market today.

The close was strong at ¼c to 2c net higher, with December $1.13 to $1.13¼ and May $1.17¾ to $1.18.

Corn gained ⅝c to ⅞c and oats ¼c to ½c.

In provisions the outcome varied from 5c decline to 5c advance.

The chief advantage of a keen sense of logic is that one can depend on it to supply a quotable reason for doing what one wants to do.

The widespread organization and ample facilities of the Bank of Montreal enable it to quote close rates on American, English, and all foreign exchanges.

HIS FINGERS WERE DRAWN LIKE CLAWS

Burden's Whole Body Ached With Rheumatism; Is Like a Different Person Now.

"Tanlac deserves the palm, for it does everything that is claimed for it," said Ernest Burden, Victoria Court, corner Victoria and Robinson streets, Regina, Sask.

"When I began taking Tanlac my whole body ached from rheumatism, but it was worse in my right arm and fingers than anywhere else. My fingers would draw up in the morning and stiffen until they looked like claws. I had very little appetite and was simply a bundle of nerves.

"I'm glad to say I'm like a different man now, eat better, sleep better, and work better than I have in years. I'm willing to do down in black and white as recommending Tanlac because I have confidence in it."

Tanlac is sold in Nelson by The Canada Drug & Book Co., and by leading druggists everywhere.

ORIOLES WIN AND EVEN THE SERIES

Ogden Pitches Masterly Game, Defeating Tincup, Unbeaten During Season.

LOUISVILLE, Ky., Oct. 6.—With Jack Ogden, premier hurler of the International league, pitching a masterly game, Baltimore evened up the series with Louisville, champions of the American association, in the second game of the junior world series today, 2 to 1.

Ogden, who equaled the International league record by winning 32 games this season, was opposed by Ben Tincup, the Indian pitcher, who went through the American association season without a defeat. The third and fourth games will be played Saturday and Sunday. Score:

NEW YORK STATE GETS RAKE OFF ON THE SERIES

ALBANY, N. Y., Oct. 6.—New York state's share of this world's series will be far greater than it was a year ago, the state tax commission announced here today. The commission pointed that the entire earnings of the members of Yanks and Giants will be subject to the personal income tax. Last year the state collected income taxes from the players only on games played in Brooklyn, except in the cases of players who were residents of this state.

AUSTRALIANS DEFEAT WIDNES.

LONDON, Oct. 6.—(By Canadian Press cable.)—In a northern Union Rugby game today the Australians defeated Widnes, 28 to 4.

YANKEES MAKE WORLD HISTORY

Hold Giants Scoreless for First Eighteen Innings of World Series.

NEW YORK, Oct. 6.—The New York Americans made world's series history here today, shutting out the Giants, 3 to 0, in the second game of the struggle, leaving the Giants runless after 18 innings of play in the first two days of the city clubs' conflict. They did it by lively work on the bases and the best possible use of their few hits, supported throughout by the brilliant twirling of Waite Hoyt, their young right-hand star.

The score was the same as in yesterday's game, Hoyt allowing the Giants but two singles.

Unlike the opening game, today's encounter was played before a crowd that taxed the capacity of the Polo grounds and let itself loose at frequent intervals in zipping outbursts of enthusiasm. It had plenty to enthuse over, for the contest, while a pitchers' battle between Hoyt and Nehf, who twirled stellar ball for the Giants, was replete with rattling plays and tense moments.

Giants Get One Man to Second.

Possibly the thing that encouraged the followers of the Yanks was the splendid game pitched by Hoyt, who held the Giants to one hit up to the eighth, and only allowed two altogether, this following the sterling game turned in by Carl Mays in the opener. Never before has a world's series opened with two straight shutouts of the same contestant. So airtight was Hoyt's pitching that the Giants never had more than four men at the plate in any one inning. The nearest they came to the home base was in the ninth, when Frisch, with one down, singled to right and went to second when Young was given a base on balls. He was on his way home from second as a fast double play on Young and Kelly ended the inning and the game.

Aside from Hoyt's marvellous twirling the game revealed Babe Ruth in a new role, that of the demon base stealer—a role that seemed just as popular with the crowd as his familiar one of home run king.

Ruth Demon Base Stealer.

The great biater stole second and third in rapid succession in the fifth inning, and his clean pilfering of the far sack was greeted with the wildest demonstration of the series to date. Ruth's record was colorless. He did not once connect safely. Nehf appeared to pitch to him every time, but in trying to cut the corners succeeded in issuing three passes to the big boy, much to the disgust of apparently the greater portion of the crowd. Ruth scored a run, however.

Ruth's base stealing, performed late in the inning, did not result in a run. Not so, however, the surprise sprung by the next most justly celebrated slugger of "murderers' row"—the lanky Bob Muesel. This little Californian did nothing less than execute a clean steal of home in the eighth, duplicating McNally's feat of Wednesday. He did not have to slide for it, either, for the pitch he tore in on was wide, and Earl Smith, the startled catcher, let it get away from him for a passed ball.

Score by innings:

N. Y. Giants	0	0	0	0	0	0	0	0	0	0	2 2
N. Y. Amer.	0	0	0	1	0	0	0	2	*	3	3 0

Batteries—Nehf and Smith; Hoyt and Schang.

Besides the cup there will be 40 medals and four prizes for the girls' relay race. Entry forms are being prepared and will be received in Nelson shortly.

CROW TEAMS OUT OF GRAHAM CUP

Coal Creek and Fernie Teams Lose to Their Blairmore and Coleman Rivals.

FERNIE, Oct. 6.—The Fernie Football club, was eliminated from the Crahan cup contest here Sunday afternoon last, when the Fernie team went down before Blairmore in the semi-finals by a score of one goal to nil.

The game was somewhat listless throughout. Fernie seemed to lose heart when Blairmore notched their goal, and played an extremely poor game. Blairmore adopted regular cuptie tactics, and having secured their one goal lead, resorted to defensive measures for the balance of the game.

The possession of Crahan cup, which has been held by Fernie for the past year, now rests between Blairmore and Coleman, who by virtue of their three to nothing win over Coal Creek at Coleman on Saturday last, entered the finals.

Many inquiries have been received by the department of trade and commerce, Ottawa, for Canadian apples from South Africa, one importer alone desiring to secure from 500 to 600 barrels.

The United States corn crop is now reported to be past danger from frost, with over 50 per cent of the yield cut.

SAYS PHYSICAL TRAINING LURES

Stanley Brent Talks on Red Triangle Association Work on Periodical Visit.

Stanley Brent, national council secretary for the Y. M. C. A. in British Columbia and Alberta, was in the city yesterday on a periodical visit to confer with the secretary and board of directors of the local association. He stated that the general work of the Y. M. C. A. is showing a marked improvement everywhere and Nelson is no exception to the rule. Men who were fed up on physical training during the war are getting back into the physical departments, and more and more of them showing interest again in specific character building work. The present officers in the Nelson Y. M. C. A. have made a great change in the last year, not only in the appearance of the place, but in the general atmosphere, and it seems more like a Y. M. C. A. and a place where you would want your boy to go.

The national council of the Y. M. C. A. are spending $99,000 this year, or about $8000 per month, on the returned soldiers in the hosptials. The program consists of organizing entertainments, lectures, musical programs and providing free moving pictures during the week and a musical service on Sundays. In Vancouver, as an example, where there are upward of 250 men, a special Y. M. C. A. secretary visits the three hospitals every week, including the shell shock cases at Essondale, carrying with him a portable moving picture outfit. Pianos and gramaphones have been provided and a visiting committee organized. Much good work is done in personal service to the men, such as straightening out domestic and legal tangles.

C. W. Bishop, the national general secretary, is leaving the national council to take up post-graduate work at Columbia university. Harry Ballantyne, formerly secretary in British Columbia, is acting general secretary. Lou Buckley of Halifax has been appointed national boys' work secretary, to succeed Taylor Statten, who has gone to the church cooperative movement; J. Howard Crocker of Winnipeg has been appointed national physical director to succeed Fred J. Smith, who is well known in Nelson and who has become general secretary of the central branch in Toronto.

PROPHESY WORLD SERIES BATTERIES

Manager McGraw Says Giants Not Hitting; Not Discouraged Over Losses.

NEW YORK, Oct. 6.—The consensus of opinion among local sport writers is that the batteries tomorrow will be Shawkey and Schang for the Yanks and Toney and Snyder for the Giants.

"Good pitching, great fielding and daring base running gave us the victory," says Manager Huggins tonight.

"My men played the same kind of a dashing game that they did on Wednesday and the Giants were unable to reach the plate. As for tomorrow's game, I will pitch either Bob Shawkey or Harry Harper. Both are fresh and anxious for a crack at the Giants."

"They are not hitting," said Manager McGraw, of the Giants, "and they are not playing the kind of ball that wins games. There also have been close decisions given against the Giants. I thought Burns was safe on his steal in the eigth inning."

"We are not discouraged over our two defeats. It will make us fight all the harder for tomorrow's game. I am going to pitch Toney tomorrow.

REBEKAHS ARE HOSTESSES.

Rebekahs were hostesses at a social evening on Wednesday night when they enctrtained about 125 Odd Fellows and their wives at a whist drive and dance.

NEW FREIGHT RATE RULING IS HELD UP

Following the announcement in Wednesday's issue of The Daily News that the board of railway commissioners had issued a tentative ruling on freight rates, a copy of which has been received by Fred A. Starkey, commissioner of the Associated Boards of Trade of Eastern British Columbia, shippers in this district have been led to believe that the ruling is now in effect and, in consequence, W. B. Bamford, C. P. R. district freight agent, has been deluged with inquiries on the matter.

Mr. Starkey points out that the ruling is a tentative one only and is held up pending the decision of the special tribunal appointed to arbitrate the wage question raised by employees of the transportation companies under the jurisdiction of the railway board.

Mr. Bamford, interviewed yesterday, stated the freight department has had no official notification whatever in connection with the matter.

SAMUEL GOLDWYN PRESENTS

Will Rogers IN Guile of Women

By Peter Clark Macfarlane

"AY BAN T' ROUGH WIT' WIMMIN!"

So said Yal, alias Will Rogers, when the girl he had entrusted with his love and his savings proved crooked and untrue.

Years before, another girl back in Sweden, had almost broken his heart. If there ever was a man embittered against women,, it was this rugged sailor from the north.

What made him change his mind? What makes all men change their minds? A woman, of course.

DUTCH GET AMERICAN INVITATION TO CONFERENCE

THE HAGUE, Oct. 6.—The United States invitation to Holland to participate in the forthcoming conference on Far Eastern questions in Washington, today was handed to the Dutch foreign minister by William Phillips, the United States minister to the Netherlands.

The fact that Holland has been invited to take part only in the discussion of Far Eastern and Pacific problems and is excluded from the conference on the limitation of armaments, has created disappointment in government circles. A high official said today:

"The disarmament question is of vital importance with respect to Holland's position in the colonies, especially as, with a view to the defense of the East Indies, the Dutch government is considering an important increase in the fleet.

"Although nothing would be decided until Foreign Minister Van Karnabeek returned from Geneva," the official added, "it is uncertain whether the Dutch government will accept the invitation to the Washington conference where Holland would assume only a secondary position."
