BUDGET DEBATE DRAGS WEARILY NEAR COLLAPSE

Conservatives and Liberals State Opposite Views; Progressives Criticize

DISCUSSION THREATENS TO LAPSE BY DEFAULT

Move to Adjourn Saves Situation; Leaders Probably Will Speak Today

OTTAWA, May 30.—(By Canadian Press).—Debate on the budget lasted a long time today in a house for the most part of the time three-quarters empty. During one part of the day, not one of the three leaders was present, Hon. W. S. Fielding leading for the government.

Argument presented alternately the Liberal, Conservative and Progressive point of view. Conservatives supported the Drayton amendment; Liberals defended the budget; Progressives were critical of both budget and amendment.

Hon. R. J. Manion, who held the portfolio of soldiers' civil reestablishment in the reorganized Meighen administration, pressed the point that free trade in Canada would mean competition with Chinese and Japanese labor. Further, abolition of a protective tariff also meant abolition of bargaining power. The only sign of free trade debate in the budget was free trade with Germany. Dr. Manion emphasized also the need of an advisory tariff board.

The Progressive stand for lower tariffs, and found some warm defenders. "We are not asking for special privileges," exclaimed N. D. Drummond, of West Middlesex. "We stand on a platform of equality with other industries of Canada."

It was left to a Quebec Liberal, H. A. Fortier, of Labelle, to press the case of the man with a large family.

Mr. Fortier had a novel suggestion, he would exempt from income tax the man with eight children and receiving less than $10,000 per year.

A few minutes before 11 o'clock the debate was on the verge of collapse. J. W. King, Progressive, North Huron, had concluded his speech and apparently no one was ready to proceed. The speaker rose to put the question and there were cries of "amendment, amendment." At this point, however, A. W. Neill, Independent, Comox-Alberni, rose, observed that he would not like the debate to lapse through default and adjourned it.

Tomorrow one or more of the three leaders are expected to participate.

Mr. Lewis was pleased to see that

GERMANY'S REPLY IS SOOTHING

Tranquilizes Fears of Further French Military Occupation

PARIS, May 30.—The disquieting prospects that France would bring further pressure to bear on Germany with the extension of her military occupation is regarded in reparations and political circles as eliminated by the German reply to the reparations commission made public today. It promises to comply with the conditions imposed by the reparations commission, with the proviso that Germany must have aid in the form of a foreign loan.

The commission had insisted upon unconditional compliance, but the question of the loan is considered a detail that will be arranged without complications.

Deals With Missionary Aspect at Ecumenical Methodist Conference

EDMONTON, May 30.—The missionary aspect of the ecumenical conference was the subject of a very concise and interesting address by Mrs. A. S. Tuttle, B. A., at the evening session of the 13th annual meeting of the Alberta branch of the Methodist Church W. M. S. on Tuesday. A large audience listened attentively while Mrs. Tuttle touched on the outstanding phases of the conference which especially appealed to herself. Rev. Dr. and Mrs. Tuttle attended the ecumenical conference in London, England, last summer.

STEAMER ARRIVALS

Aquitania, at Southampton, from New York.

Esther Dollar, at Boston, from the orient.

SEIZE SAM SUEY.

CALGARY, May 30.—Sixteen cases of sam suey were seized by the police tonight when Kwong Man Yuen's grocery store was searched for drugs. The liquor is believed to have been a shipment received from Vancouver yesterday.

IRISH REPUBLICAN FORCES INVADE SIX-COUNTY AREA

Ulster Troops Compelled to Withdraw in Beleek Salient; Fighting at Various Points; Armored Cars and Machine Guns in Action

BELFAST, May 30.—Strong forces of the Irish Republican army are now well within the six-county territory and consolidating the ground won. It became necessary today for the special constables comprising the Ulster forces to withdraw from a considerable section known as the Belleek salient in Fermanagh county, and this is now in possession of the Republicans.

The military are confining themselves to sending out observation parties, which remain for a brief time and then return to Enniskillen.

Sharp Clashes in Tyrone Border

Fighting has occurred at various points, the most significant in the vicinity of Pettigoe, County Donegal, where the military forces were under fire for the first time in the border troubles. There were sharp clashes also between Ulster and southern Irish forces near Leford and Strabane on the Tyrone-Donegal border, armored cars and machine guns being brought into action.

Refugees are flocking to relatives throughout Fermanagh and the tide of wrath is surging.

Ulster bears a painful resemblance to a war zone and it is considered likely to do so increasingly in the near future. Despite the widespread trouble and unrest, however, Belfast had a day of unusual quiet, there being only a solitary case of wounding and no fires.

W. J. TWEDDELL

DECLARES FARMERS HAVE LOST ALL FAITH IN RAILWAY BOARD

Langley Expresses Distrust; Alleges Evidence Given at Regina and Winnipeg Was Ignored; Would Not Drop Crows Nest Pass Agreement Without Knowing Alternative

OTTAWA, May 30.—"The impression is abroad in the west that the board of railway commissioners has ceased to be a board of railway commissioners and become a board of railway company commissioners," declared George Langley, president of the Saskatchewan Cooperative Elevator company, before the special house committee today.

This came as a climax of a protest made by Mr. Langley against the attempt of the board toward bettering conditions in the west and precipitated a heated discussion.

"If the committee does not recommend a return to the Crows Nest Pass agreement, we are thrown immediately into the hands of the board of railway commissioners, and I want to say this just as emphatically as I can say it: 'The farmers of the west have lost all confidence in that body.'

"When Mr. Motherwell was running an election in Regina, he made the statement—and he won't repudiate it," (laughter) "he said that if he were elected, he would put on the order books of the house of commons a motion asking that Mr. Carvell be removed."

"I say," Mr. Langley continued, "that I do not endorse Mr. Motherwell! In my view, Mr. Carvell is no more to blame than the several other members of the railway board. I would not single him out from the rest of that body." (laughter).

"Could you give us the reasons for this distrust that is abroad?" asked Thomas Vien.

"Yes," replied Mr. Langley, "the impression is abroad that the board has ceased to be a board of railway commissioners and has become a board of railway company commissioners."

"You must prove it," declared Mr. Vien.

"We should know what the facts are. If the charges are proven, it is our duty to remove the board."

Says Evidence Not Weighed.

"I am not without some insgiht into the ordinary brick wall," Mr. Langley then went on. "We appeared before the board and stated certain facts that I have set out here in regard to freight rates. These representations were made before the board at Regina and Winnipeg, and the member for Lisgar, (L. Brown), appeared before them.

"The members of the board listened to us with impatience and we believed with incredulity, and after they had received those statements, came here to Ottawa, weighed matters and delivered judgment and, so far as we could find out, our statements were not considered at all. It is this action which has created distrust, and that is why we have appealed to the committee."

"That is not sufficient," said Mr. Duff, and there were cries for the date of the judgment mentioned by Mr. Langley. Mr. Langley explained that the judgment he referred to was that making a small reduction of 10 per cent in the 1920 increases of 35 and 40 per cent.

"The court did not agree with your views," remarked the chairman, "that is the sum and substance of it, is it not?"

"It meant that they did not take any notice of what we said," said Mr. Langley.

"I think we had better drop that," suggested the chairman. But Mr. Duff was not satisfied. He held that the board had not yet given judgment in the case referred to by Mr. Langley.

Finally H. J. Symington, counsel for Manitoba and Saskatchewan, was appealed to, and stated that the tour mentioned by the witness took place in the spring of 1921, and related to the rehearing ordered by the government of 1920 increases. At Winnipeg it was realized that the hearings were going to take a long time and on an informal motion by himself, a reduction of 10 per cent was made.

Technically, Mr. Duff was correct. The hearing had to do with the equalization case now before the board.

Hon. J. A. Stewart wanted to know if Mr. Langley would be anxious over the Crows Nest Pass agreement, if it were limited, as President Beatty of the C. P. R. held 15 lines in existence in 1897.

The witness claimed that the law against discrimination would have a wider application.

Then Mr. Stewart asked whether Mr. Langley would favor the agreement even if they were to bear the deficits predicted by Mr. Beatty.

"I do not accept the suggestion of Mr. Beatty," was the answer, "that the deficit would be due to the agreement."

At another stage of the proceed-

BEAR RAIDS MAIL STAGE

Yukon Bill Kills Marauder; Bruin Dies Clutching the Sack

DAWSON CITY, Y. T., May 30.—(By Canadian Press.)—Bill Boulet has the distinction of being the only stage driver in the Yukon who ever had to kill a mail robber. Bill drives a four-horse stage on the long overland route between White Horse and Dawson. A few days ago it is said the first mail thief in the history of the Yukon attacked Bill's stage—and died.

It happened at Alberta, a road house on the long, long trail, where Bill wasc paying an official call. Looking out of the window he saw an immense black bear on the top of the coach, throwing the mail sacks to the ground and smashing express parcels. Bill leveled his rifle and a dead bear tumbled to the ground with the last sack of mail clutched in his arms.

CLAIMS TAX FROM THE JOCKEY CLUB

TORONTO, May 30.—The Ontario government, it was learned tonight, has notified the Ontario Jockey club that it is in default the payment of proceeds of the 5 per cent tax on wagers made at the Woodbine spring meeting. The penalty is $1000 a day.

In the meantime the government will take no action to collect the amount in default. It is likely the government would have to enter a court action, but such action is not contemplated at the present time.

Vice-Admiral Will Visit Montreal and Quebec During July

OTTAWA, May 30.—Vice-Admiral Sir W. C. Pakenham, commander-in-chief of the North America and West Indies station, will visit Montreal and Quebec on July 3 and July 11, respectively. His flagship, H. M. S. Raleigh, will be accompanied by the cruisers Calcutta and Constance. Practically all ports in eastern Canada will be visited during the next two months.

JURY FINDS GALLAGHER NOT GUILTY

Acquits Condemned Man on Second Trial After Jury Disagreement

CALGARY, May 30.—John Francis Gallagher was tonight declared not guilty of the murder of John G. Coward near Carbon, Alta., last September. The jury went out at 5:15 this afternoon and at 8:15 announced its disagreement. Chief Justice Harvey sent them back again. Three-quarters of an hour later it was decided Gallagher was not guilty.

This was Gallagher's second trial. At the first trial he was sentenced to be hanged, and a new trial was granted two days before the sentence was to have been carried out, on the score that the jury had been misdirected by the trial court judge.

Rendered Deaf in Battle.

Gallagher was a war veteran and in the first trial he did not go on the witness stand. Yesterday he testified he was made stone deaf by the explosion of a shell on the battlefield. He said he did not kill Coward.

Coward was found dead in an automobile along the roadside last fall. He and Gallagher had been involved in a mining deal, in which it was said in court that Gallagher had declared he lost all the money he had.

The trial has created widespread interest throughout the country and the Calgary war veterans have taken an active part in Gallagher's defense. Petitions were circulated for the second trial.

IMPERIAL DAUGHTERS FLOURISH

Financially Strong; Oppose Navy Reduction; Report Foreign Efforts

VANCOUVER, May 30.—(By Beatrice Green, special correspondent of the Canadian Press.)—Reports of national officers showing the flourishing condition of the order and a resolution urging that no reduction be made in the Canadian navy were the leading features of today's session of the annual convention of the Imperial Order of the Daughters of the Empire. The strong note of imperialism struck during the opening session on Monday was maintained throughout today.

Nearly $600,000 was raised by the national chapter during the year, as shown by the report of the national treasurer, Mrs. W. Hamilton Burns, Toronto, and a total of more than $350,000 had been collected to date for the war memorial.

The report of the committee on the work in India stated that a training college has been established in Bombay and was being conducted by the Princess Mary chapter of that city, and young native women are being fitted for the teaching profession. The report by the national Echoes secretary, Mrs. W. H. Barker, Toronto, indicated that the publication was rapidly increasing in circulation, but there was some discussion on the desirability of disbanding Echoes because of the increasing debt. The matter was left until a later session.

Following the reading of the report of the South African graves committee, a motion was passed that the income from the remainder of this fund should be given to the Victoria league to be used for upkeep of Canadian graves in South Africa.

The completion of the Arras memorial to the fallen Canadian soldiers and which also perpetuates the work done by the women of Canada on behalf of French refugees in devastated areas was announced by Mrs. A. Henshaw, who recently returned from overseas. The order had raised $100,000 for the war stricken population of the Arras area.

The late afternoon session was occupied entirely with the consideration of reports from provincial chapters. In the evening Dr. R. H. Brown, D. D., of the University of Washington, addressed the delegates. During the day the telegram from Princess Mary, acknowledging the wedding gift sent her by the I. O. D. E., was read by Mrs. W. C. Nichol. In it her royal highness expresses her thanks and adds:

"It is indeed wonderful that all parts of the Empire should be thinking of me in my happiess."

BALFOUR TAKES SEAT IN LORDS

Brilliant Scenes as Popular New Peer Takes Customary Oath

LONDON, May 30.—There was a brilliant scene in the house of lords this afternoon when the Earl of Balfour, recently created a peer by King George, was formally seated amid all the ancient ceremonials incident to such an occasion. The chamber and galleries were crowded and the house of commons adjourned temporarily, while old friends and political associates rushed in for a view of the oath taking.

Flashes By Wire

Ottawa, May 30.—The mounted police post at Brandon is to be closed, it was announced this afternoon. The object is to reduce expenditure.

Gassed Veteran Shoots Himself.

VANCOUVER, May 30.—Shortly after announcing that he would take the train east today, Gordon Charles Davidson, aged 37, shot and killed himself. He was gassed overseas and was in poor health. It is understood he came from Ontario.

Signs On as North Pole Airman.

VANCOUVER, May 30.—Pilot E. G. Fullerton of the Vancouver station of the Canada air board has accepted the position of aviator with the Amundsen expedition to the north pole and will sail with the famous explorer's ship Maud for the arctic seas from Seattle on Saturday.

Propose Statue of General Currie.

VICTORIA, May 30.—A statue of Gen. Sir Arthur Currie, who led Canada's overseas forces in the war, probably will be erected in Victoria in the near future.

Will Protest New Taxes.

VICTORIA, May 30.—The chamber of commerce will file protests with Hon. S. F. Tolmie, M. P., against the proposed tax on cheques and automobiles outlined in Hon. W. S. Fielding's budget speech.

LOGGERS WIN TIMBER SUIT

Over $1,000,000 Involved; Company Will Appeal Against Judgment

VANCOUVER, May 30.—A judgment in which liability is estimated to exceed $1,000,000 was rendered here today by Justice Murphy against the Canada Timber and Lands, Ltd., whose head office is in Toronto. The successful plaintiffs are seven loggers, who entered into a contract with the company to purchase 200,000,000 feet of timber at Toba River, B. C. A portion of this had been logged when the company repudiated the contract.

According to the plaintiffs the damages are the profits which they would have made from the contract and these are calculated at $1,250,000.

The decision is to be appealed, and in any event it is stated the case will be carried to the privy council in London.

The plaintiffs are Julius Carlos Clausen and his associates.

CHURCHILL AGAIN STAVES OFF AWKWARD QUESTIONS ON OUTLOOK IN IRELAND

HASTENS BREAK UP OF ICE ON LEBARGE

DAWSON CITY, Y. T., May 30.—(By Canadian Pres.)—Lake Labarge will be clear of ice in a few days, the etxremely warm weather of the last three days hastening the breakup. The first steamer to make the through trip from White Horse will leave White Horse about June 5. The first steamer from Dawson for White Horse left Dawson Monday. It was the Nasutlin.

It is expected that the ice will be gone by the time she makes Lake Labarge. She carries the first gold of the spring cleanup from last winter's dumps and some outgoing passengers. Rev. Father Plomondon is en route to Quebec for a visit.

Dail President

ARTHUR GRIFFITH

President of the Dail Eireann, who has left Dublin for London to discuss with members of the imperial cabinet the critical state of affairs in Ireland.

Situation on Ulster Border Passes from Crisis to Actual Conflict

PROMISES TO MAKE STATEMENT TODAY

Political Activity Increases With Approach of the Elections

LONDON, May 30.—Another day has passed without announcement of progress toward avoiding what the colonial secretary, Winston Spencer Churchill, speaking in the house of commons, termed "one of the recurrent crises in the Irish situation," while in the Ulster borderland reports indicate that the situation is rapidly passing from one of an approaching crisis to one actual conflict with the northern and southern military engaged across the border.

Feeling More Optimistic.

A more optimistic feeling prevailed in official circles late this afternoon, however.

The morning cabinet meeting was preceded by a long conversation between Lloyd George, Arthur Griffith and Michael Collins, which, it was said, ended satisfactorily. But it was not followed by the government's expected statement in the house in the afternoon. After a shower of questions and vigorous hecklings Mr. Churchill said he would deal with the situation tomorrow morning, when the house sits at 11 o'clock, previous to adjournment for Whitsuntide recess.

Promises Candid Explanation.

In the house of lords Lord Birkenhead quieted discussion on Lord Salisbury's Irish motion by explaining that a full and candid explanation of the government's view of the situation would be presented. Lord Salisbury expressed willingness to postpone his motion on this basis, but declared that the situation was critical. It seemed important the position of many members should be set forth without delay, as it followed

DUKES, DOWAGERS AND COSTERS ALL FLOCK TO WITNESS DERBY

LONDON, May 30.—(By Canadian Press Cable.)—Tomorrow is Derby Day. Dawn will find assembled at Epsom Downs the vanguard of the gypsies, fakirs, peddlers and tipsters who annually go early in order to avoid the rush of dukes, dowagers, business man and costermongers who, in airplanes, automobiles, donkey carts or on foot, arrive later to swell the attendance of hundreds of thousands for this, the greatest of England's turf classics.

The Derby, originally merely a horse race, long ago became an institution, perhaps England's most democratic sporting institution. Not until some time after 3 o'clock tomorrow afternoon, the time when the barrier is due to raise, sending away some 30 of the choicest bits of horseflesh on this side of the water over the mile and a half course, will the people, from the broker in his London office to the dockyard laborer in South Wales, lose the usual intentness, for the race has divided most true Englishmen into two classes, those who have backed the winner and those who have not.

Never Without Sensation.

The Derby is never without an 11th-hour sensation, regarding the condition of the horses which are considered to have the best chances of finishing "in the money."

This year Sol Joel's Pondoland, which is to be ridden by the American jockey, Frank O'Neill, was the favorite to win the even until several days ago he developed a boil on one of his hind legs. Skilful treatment has now restored the horse to good condition and he will go to the post perhaps the most heavily backed of any of the other contenders, with the exception of Lord Queensborough's St. Louis, which is now booked as the favorite with the odds at 9 to 2. Another American jockey, George Archibald, will have the leg up on St. Louis. Prior to his sensational victory in the 2000 guinea stakes St. Louis was regarded as an outsider for the Derby.

England's champion jockey, Steve Donoghue, the winner of three Derbys, will ride Lord Wolvington's Captain Cuttle, which is quoted at good odds. Other long shot entries include Viscount Astor's Tamar and Sir Ernest Paget's Reecho.

Airships were first employed last year and with much success to lessen the dense traffic on all the roads to Epsom and will be used again tomorrow.

The railway companies have arranged to bring every available bit of rolling stock into service for transporting the crowds to and from the course.

King George and Queen Mary and Viscount Lascelles and Princess Mary have indicated their intention to attend. This year the King will have no starter in the race. He withdrew all his eligibles some time ago, as none of them were in sufficiently good shape to round out in condition.

Stands on Velvet.

One man is absolutely sure to be better off by £10,000, no matter which horse wins the race. He is one of the numerous persons who purchased a ticket in one of the various sweepstakes. His ticket calls for St. Louis and had he retained the entire ticket he would have won £114,000 if St. Louis proved to be the winner. Instead of waiting for the result, however, he sold a half share in the ticket for £10,000.

BUDGET DEBATE DRAGS WEARILY NEAR COLLAPSE

the government had not accepted the invitation of the United States to enter upon negotiations for the construction of the St. Lawrence canal. The Canadian people must not be overtaxed and the St. Lawrence project would mean a great expenditure of public money.

Hon. R. J. Manion, Conservative, Fort William, said the present budget did not carry out either the Progressive or Liberal tariff policy. The Liberals said they were unable to concur in a policy of protection, yet this budget was a protectionist budget.

Adds to Cost of Living.

It would increase the cost of living by $30,000,000 to $35,000,000 by adding this much to the sales tax, which amount would be taken from the consumers.

The minister must be laughing in both sleeves at his Progressive friends because of the way this budget was "putting it over the western farmer." He was giving a reduction of perhaps $1,000,000 in the duties on agricultural implements, but this was wiped out by an increase of over $35,000,000 in sales tax. This meant approximately $8,000,000 to $10,000,000 of that must be paid by the people of the prairie provinces.

The only sign of free trade in this budget, said Mr. Manion, is that of free trade with Germany. "I am not a flag waver," added Dr. Manion "but when I am extending favors to anyone I prefer doing it to a nation friendly during the war, rather than to an enemy nation."

Gives Germans Advantage.

Under the present exchange situation the Germans were given a great advantage by this budget.

The resolutions canceling the depreciated currency regulations were a mistake. The restrictions should not have been removed without something being done to place the Canadian manufacturer on a parity with the German manufacturer. The Americans had placed restrictions on depreciated foreign currency.

Hon. W. S. Fielding interjected that this was not law in the United States and probably never would be. It was merely proposed legislation. Dr. Manion said that even if the legislation was only proposed, it showed the need for it.

The prime minister, during the campaign, had argued for a tariff for the producer and consumer. The premier had called the tariff by many names, but it was notable that the minister of finance had not used any of them. The wheat board was another sectional cry, as was the demand for the restoration of the Crows Nest Pass agreement.

Tends to Reduce Revenue.

Dr. Manion admitted that he had voted for reciprocity in 1911, but he was of the opinion that the attitude of the United States was not going to give the finance minister an opportunity to open reciprocal negotiations for a long time to come. The reduction in the tariff would tend toward reducing the revenue.

The need of an advisory board was emphasized by Dr. Manion.

He also thought the new tax on checks was unfair to large business organizations. A large firm sometimes issued a check for $30,000 or so at the end of a week for wages. The tax on this check would be very large.

Dr. Manion also suggested that the minister should consider a receipt tax. The man who received the money was usually willing to place a stamp for a small amount on his receipt. This mode of taxation was much used in European countries.

Sees Policies Drifting.

L. J. Ladner, Porgressive, Vancouver South, contended that the partnership of the Liberal-Progressive government was not destined to continue. Their different policies would drive them apart.

Today Progressives were making a great storm on the duty on agricultural implements, but when this was reduced to actualities it did not amount to much. Mr. Ladner objected to the removal of the barrier against German goods. It would bring German made toys, for instance, into competition with those made by ex-service men still in military hospitals. He also objected to the increase in the sales tax, which would be both unpopular and hard on the working man.

that attacks by the Republican organization upon Ulster could not be tolerated and that the treaty ought to be maintained in letter and spirit on both sides.

Lords Will Support Government.

It was not necessary to say that the status of a republic, either actual or virtual, in any part of Ireland must be absolutely resisted. If the government felt that it was its duty to advise his majesty to take measures necessary to vindicate these principles, the house of lords will give the government its fullest support.

It is expected that the Irish conference will continue during the next two days, but Mr. Griffith and Mr. Collins will return to Dublin in time for the adjourned session of the Dail on June 2, while Lloyd George plans to take a holiday, his departure being arranged for Thursday morning.

From Dublin it is reported that the prolongation of the London conference has given rise to the general hope of the success of the negotiations and Mr. Churchill's statement is eagerly awaited. In the meantime, increased political activity for the forthcoming Irish elections is evident. Business and professional men, having formed an election committee, plan to enter candidates in professional and commercial interests, but the organization is nonpartizan.

With labor, farmers, ratepayers and professional and commercial candidates in the field, it is believed that the election will prove more interesting than at first anticipated. Miss Mary MacSwiney and Lord Mayor O'Callaghan were elected as the Republican candidates for the parliamentary borough at the Republican convention at Cork and Count Plunkett was nominated by a similar convention at Carrick-on-Shannon for the joint constituency of northern Roscommon and county Leitrim.

Concentrate on Border.

BELFAST, May 30.—The Ulster association, a new organization connected with the northern government, today reports that about 1000 Sinn Feiners have congregated in the vicinity of the six-county border from Castle Finn, Donegal, to Glady, Tyrone, on Sunday and Monday nights, and farm houses of loyalists in this district were commandeered.

The news association asserts that the objective of the Republicans apparently is Trabane and Londonderry, and that attacks may occur in the Castleberg area in north Tyrone. Thus far no attempts to invade the border have been made, but the loyalists left on their farms are receiving short notices to clear out. It is asserted that the Republicans apparently are from the south, namely, Cork, Longford and Kerry.

About 75 serious fires have taken place during the present outbreak of incendiarism. The damage is estimated at £500,000. This includes mansions burned in the rural districts. The O'Neill family is claiming £61,500 for Shanes castle alone.

Martin Wills, son of a leading Newry merchant, has been captured at Dundalk and is being held by Republicans.

Three Kilkel, county Down, men who went by boat to Greenore, county Louth, also are being held by Republicans.

GETS NOTICE TO QUIT JOB

Labor Candidate's Services No Longer Required by National Railway

WINNIPEG, May 30.—George H. Palmer, member for Dauhpin in the provincial legislature and Labor candidate for the same constituency in the forthcoming election, who is an employee of the Canadian National railway, has received an intimation from railway headquarters "that his services are no longer required," according to a dispatch from Dauphin today to the Winnipeg Free Press.

Hanna Says Resignation Automatic.

TORONTO, May 30.—"He has automatically resigned." This was the reply made tonight by D. B. Hanna, president of the Canadian National railway, when questioned about a Winnipeg dispatch to the effect that George H. Palmer had been dismissed by the railway. Mr. Hanna said that during the day he had received a report on the matter from A. E. Warren, general manager of western lines, who is now in Toronto, and that as the railway's rule about nonparticipation in politics by employees, from leading officials down, was clear, Palmer in accepting the nomination had done so with his eyes open.

Must Keep Out of Politics.

The rule that C. N. R. employees must keep out of active politics was definitely established in the autumn of 1920, when James Higgins, employed in the local shops of the railway, announced that he would run as a Labor candidate in the Northeast Toronto byelection.

He was discharged, but later reinstated on the understanding that he would in future stay out of politics. By a special understanding the order had not been enforced in the case of Palmer and of M. E. Moore, provincial member for Springfield, Man., another employee of the C. N. R., but now that Palmer has accepted a fresh nomination the management considers the agreement terminated.

GIVES GRANT TO HELP SPORTS ON

In order to give the different sport teams in the city some immediate funds to work on the civic sports committee last night passed a resolution authorizing the treasurer to advance $100 to each of the three sports club representatives on the committee from the funds collected in the recent sports canvass. The representatives are: Baseball, E. C. Hunt; lacrosse, George Benwell Sr.; football, R. Smillie. George Ferguson presided. Others present were Ven. Archdeacon F. H. Graham, R. Smillie and J. B. Morris.

This action was taken in view of the fact that the committee had not at hand full data on the results of the drive in which about 10 parties of volunteer canvassers took a hand. Alderman L. H. Choquette, the treasurer, who has just returned from a two weeks' business visit to the coast, could not attend. It was understood that about $360 was the total proceeds of the drive, although in view of Mr. Choquette's enforced absence it was impossible to determine if all the canvassing sheets had been turned in.

It was further decided to hold another meeting of the committee on Monday night at 8 o'clock city time, ta which it is proposed to check up the subscription lists, allot whatever balance is in hand and clean up the whole business of the drive.

SAYS FARMERS HAVE LOST FAITH

ings Mr. Vien was urging on the witness the evidence of Mr. Beatty that if the Crows Nest Pass agreement came into force, there could be no other reductions.

"Mr. Hanna says the same," added Mr. Vien.

"He represents a bankrupt institution," shot back Mr. Langley, "and I do not want to bother with him."

"He is head of the national railways," Mr. Vien pointed out.

"We have not to deal with the national railways,' asserted Mr. Langley. "We were given to understand by the late government that rates were to be adjusted on the basis of the Canadian Pacific railway."

Later Mr. Vien was pressing Mr. Langley as to whether he did not want a general reduction of rates. "If you want a general reduction and are trusting to the presidents of the railways," answered Mr. Langley, "then God help you."

"I am not parochial," he said further on. "I am a Canadian and am anxious for a reduction for the east as well as for the west."

Would Consider Quid Pro Quo.

"If we are promised a reduction on grain as good as under the Crows Nest Pass agreement," he added in reply to E. M. MacDonald of Pictou, "we would be willing to consider anything else in a spirit of concern for the interests of the whole population of this Dominion."

J. F. Reid, ex-M. P. for MacKenzie, said it was an utter impossibility to make farming pay under present conditions. He had advised a friend of his that he would not counsel immigrants to come to Canada under present conditions. "And I don't care how many newspapers in Canada print that," he added. "If old timers could not make farming pay, how could immigrants?"

Replying to Thomas Vien, Mr. Reid said the people of the west had no confidence in the railway commission.

"Do they disbelieve in the institution itself or in the personnel?" asked Mr. Vien.

"I believe the institution itself is a proper thing," was the answer.

"Do they think the personnel should be changed?" asked Mr. Vien.

"That is up to the members of parliament," replied the witness.

The three main things asked by the farmers of the west were the wiping out of the tariff, establishment of a wheat board and reduction of freight rates. These would be the factors which would restore normal conditions.

James Malcolm, Bruce North, asked Mr. Reid if he wolud not agree to take a better bargain from the railways than that to be gained through the Crows Nest Pass agreement.

"Is it fair to ask us to give up what we have until we see what their offer is. We have got to see the definite proposition first," he answered. The committee adjourned until tomorrow, when H. J. Symington, Winnipeg, will present Manitoba's case.

SIXTEEN BANDS WILL CANVASS

Three-day War Memorial Drive Starts Tomorrow; Subscribers Will Vote

A three-day canvass of the city in the new drive for the funds to complete the Nelson war memorial in a worthy manner will open tomorrow morning. Alderman A. S. Horswill, chairman of the general war memorial committee, announced yesterday.

The city is being mapped out into 14 sections, of which 10 will be covered by the I. O. D. E. and the Women's institute, each of those organizations having a committee of 20. These 10 sections will be wholly in the residential districts.

Two sections, comprising from Silica street to a few blocks south, have been taken charge of by the Rotary club, while the general committee itself will tackle the last two sections, which includes the business and wholesale sections.

On the committee having the arrangements for the canvass in hand, Mrs. W. O. Rose and Mrs. F. Hawthorne are the representatives of the I. O. D. E., and Mrs. E. Gammon and Mrs. W. H. D. Shaw are the representatives of the Women's institute.

The idea will be to receive cash subscriptions, and as each subscriber enters his or her name in the canvasser's book he or she will indicate a choice between the Bluff and downtown as the more suitable site for the memorial. It is expected that many subscribers to the original fund will double their original subscriptions. Every house and business place will be visited during these three days.

"The drive will be completed Saturday," stated Alderman Horswill last night, "and at its conclusion the committee will take the funds in hand, whatever they are, and will start the erection of a monument on the site indicated by the subscribers' choice."

WAS TROUBLED WITH HER LIVER FOR OVER 4 MONTHS

When the liver becomes slow, sluggish and torpid it is not working properly and does not supply sufficient bile to thoroughly act on the bowels and carry off the waste products of the system, hence the bowels become clogged up, the bile gets into the blood, constipation sets in and liver troubles follow among which are sick or bilious headaches, heartburn, water brash, jaundice, floating specks before the eyes, pain under the right shoulder, coated tongue, bad breath, yellow eyes, etc.

MILBURN'S LAXA-LIVER PILLS

One day my husband brought me home a vial of Milburn's Laxa-Liver Pills, and before I had used half of it I was much better. I only used two vials and I am a different person today.

"I can safely recommend Laxa-Liver Pills to any one troubled with liver trouble."

TO DARKEN HAIR APPLY SAGE TEA

Look Young! Bring Back Its Natural Color, Gloss and Attractiveness.

Common garden sage brewed into a heavy tea, with sulphur added, will turn gray, streaked and faded hair beautifully dark and luxuriant. Just a few applications will prove a revelation if your hair is fading, streaked or gray. Mixing the Sage Tea and Sulphur recipe at home, though, is troublesome. An easier way is to get a bottle of Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Compound at any drug store, all ready for use. This is the old-time recipe improved by the addition of other ingredients.

While wispy, gray, faded hair is not sinful, we all desire to retain our youthful appearance and attractiveness. By darkening your hair with Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Compound, no one can tell, because it does it so naturally, so evenly. You just dampen a sponge or soft brush with it and draw this through your hair, taking one small strand at a time; by morning all gray hairs have disappeared, and after another application or two your hair becomes beautifully dark, glossy, soft and luxuriant.

GRAND JURY THROWS OUT ATTEMPTED MURDER COUNT IN INDICTMENT OF RALPH

Latter's Trial Is Now in Progress on Charge of Shooting Stenberg With Intent to Do Grievous Bodily Harm; Prosecution Finishes Its Case; Waitress Says Stenburg "Grabbed Ralph and Asked Him Why He Was Packing a Gun;" True Bill on Theft Charge

By throwing out the count of attempted murder in the indictment drawn against Edmund Ralph, the grand jury at the Nelson assizes, which opened yesterday morning, decreed that Ralph should stand trial only on the lesser counts arising out of the shooting of Gus Stenberg, on December 12, of attempting to do Stenberg grevious bodily harm, and of unlawfully wounding him. On these counts Ralph was arraigned and during the afternoon the prosecution completed its case. The defence will be proceeded with at 10 o'clock this morning. The grand jury also found a true bill against Ralph on the charge of stealing Nap Mallette's fur coat, and that case will be proceeded with as soon as the graver one is disposed of.

The case against Ralph arising out of the shooting is being tried before Mr. Justice Gregory, and a jury composed of E. R. Redpath, J. Kirby Douglas, W. H. Brown, W. Calbick, W. J. Brodie, L. Hanna, I. R. Poole, G. G. McLaren, V. Eperson, A. Balcom, Roy Sharp and J. H. Argyle, Mr. Redpath being foreman. James O'Shea, K.C., is prosecuting and F. C. Moffatt is counsel for the defence.

Crown Calls Seven Witnesses.

Altogether the crown called seven witnesses—Mrs. Nellie May Clyne, who was a waitress in Stenberg's restaurant on Vernon street at the time of the shooting; Gus Stenberg himself, who received the revolver wound in the side in his struggle with Ralph while attempting to disarm him; Otto Nelson, who sold Ralph the revolver, who was believed by the waitress to be in danger from Ralph and witnessed the struggle; Dr. W. O. Rose, who attended Stenberg; William McFayden of Wynndel, who encountered Ralph after the shooting; Sergt. Alexander Stewart, who shot Ralph at the station, and Chief of Police Thomas H. Long, who fired two shots at Ralph at the station. Of these witnesses, Mr. McFayden appears in the case for the first time.

During the trial Mr. Justice Gregory kept his finger closely on the pulse of the evidence, frequently intervened between counsel and witness, lectured and commended witnesses, relieved the tension with humorous thrusts and invariably did some examining himself. His interventions had the general result of speeding up the trial.

At the adjournment in the afternoon the judge permitted the members of the jury to go to their homes on the understanding that they were not to discuss the case.

After the jury was selected Mr. Moffatt, on behalf of the prisoner, entered a plea of "not guilty," to both counts of the indictment, after which Mr. O'Shea outlined the case to the jury, and proceeded with putting in the evidence.

Mrs. Clyne described how she served Ralph and Nelson, as patrons of the restaurant on the night of the shooting, just after 7:30 o'clock, both men being drunk, though not enough to stagger and having with them a bottle of whisky. Presently, she said, Ralph went out, but later returned to get his cap and muffler. Showing her the big revolver he told her he was going to "roll the old man," meaning Otto Nelson. He also ascertained from her that she would not be off until midnight and after saying he would meet her in 45 minutes, went out of the door with Nelson. She told Gus, who was cooking, what Ralph had told her as to Nelson, and Gus called Nelson back and repeated it to him.

"Ralph came back to call Nelson," she said, "and then Gus grabbed him and asked him what he was packing a gun for. Ralph said, 'I haven't got a gun, leave me alone. I am going to get out of here.'" They struggled and the glass door was broken. Mrs. Clyne said the next thing she knew she heard a report and ran downstairs. She came right up again, and Gus said he was shot. She then telephoned for the doctor, and called the police, and dressed Gus' wound before the doctor came.

Had Ralph Around the Neck

Submitted to a searching cross-examination by Mr. Moffatt, Mrs. Clyne said Stenberg had both arms around Ralph's neck when he seized him, and that the struggle began just inside the door, Ralph stating that he did not have a gun and demanding that Stenberg let go of him. She said Ralph talked very nicely to her, and she didn't really think he was going to hold up the old man, but later she corrected herself and said she thought from the fact that she had heard Nelson had just received $300 from the old country, that Ralph meant to hold him up. On the impulse of the moment she told Sterberg, not thinking he would do what he did.

His lordship—Don't excuse yourself; you did just right.

As to the revolver, Mrs. Clyne claimed it was open about an inch when Ralph showed it to her, and she still believed she saw three cartridges in it. He brought it up from his hip, but did not look at it himself. She did not have any drinks from the whisky bottle of Nelson and Ralph, and she knew they did not either in the restaurant, as she smelled the cups. She said if she had not heard of the $300 she would not have taken Ralph's boast seriously, and would not have warned Gus.

His lordship—That is a very improper reason. The man might have had other money. The fact of not knowing he had money would not be any reason for failing to warn him.

Mrs. Clyne, who stated she saw the struggle through the window, saw them scuffling on the sidewalk, but was positive they did not go off the sidewalk. Asked if the struggle was two or three minutes in duration, she said it was "possibly not so long."

Stenberg Takes Stand.

Gus Stenberg, called by the prosecution, then gave his version of the fight with Ralph. He was unacquainted with Ralph, he said, but knew Nelson, and he called Nelson back after he had gone out with Ralph, and told him the latter would hold him up, as he had a big gun. Ralph came back and asked Nelson whether he was going with him.

"I asked him what he packed that gun for," said Stenberg, "and he put his hand in his pocket. I thought he was pulling a gun and I grabbed him right there, and we struggled. I caught him by the coat collar with both hands, and tried to get the gun away from him."

Stenberg claimed he did not see the gun, but felt it between them. He heard the shot and felt the bullet and "thought he was gone." Running across the street, he called Charlie Shannon, "He shot me." Mr. Shannon advising him to go to bed, he ran back to the restaurant and told the girl to phone for the doctor. He did not look to see where he was shot until the doctor came.

Mr. O'Shea exhibited two bloodstained shirts, which Stenberg identified as his outer and under garments worn at the time, the outer one being burned by the flash from the gun.

"Half a Second for the Whole Thing"

The witness repeatedly insisted that the whole episode was over in a few seconds. Once he said it "took half a second for the whole thing."

Under cross-examination, Stenberg stated that they were on the sidewalk when the gun went off, close to the shop. While he had had a few drinks in the afternoon he regarded himself as sober. Nelson told him the day before he had $250. He said Ralph pulled the gun out of a coat pocket, but he did not pull it inside the store.

To his lordship he said he was "outside on the sidewalk" when the gun was pulled, and to Mr. Moffatt he insisted he was "in the middle of the sidewalk." He said he did not turn around, and that "the whole thing only took a few seconds." He said he did not put his arms around Ralph until they were outside. The street, he stated, was very dark.

Old Man an Eyewitness.

Otto Nelson, the only other witness of what went on in the restaurant, also had a version of the fight. While Ralph was outside, he said, Stenberg told him not to go out, as Ralph was going to hold him up.

"Ralph opened the door and asked if I was coming out," Nelson said. "Stenberg said it was none of his business. Stenberg went out through the door and started scrapping on the sidewalk. Stenberg said to Ralph, 'You have a gun.'" The witness said he went out the door and up the idewalk about 25 feet. He did not either see the gun or see the flash, but heard the shot and then went away."

Nelson stated he sold the gun to Ralph about 6 o'clock that evening, after having had it a week. After selling it to Ralph he was with him continuously up to the shooting. Personally he had never tried to open the gun.

Sold Ralph the Gun.

Answering Mr. Moffatt's questions, Nelson said he passed Ralph on the street at 3 o'clock in the afternoon, but did not meet him again until 6, when they went up to a room at the Kootenay hotel and had some drinks. He told Ralph he had a gun for sale, but did not tell him he had some money. Then he went to the New Grand hotel and got the gun, sold it to Ralph, who paid him $10 for it. There was only one cartridge in the gun, and he had been unable to get any more ammunition for it at the hardware stores in Nelson, and so had sold it. Ralph, he said, put the gun in an inside coat pocket.

They next visited the liquor store. "What did you do that for?" asked Mr. Moffatt.

His lordship—That is a foolish question. What do men ever go there for?

Nelson said after that they went to the restaurant, neither of them being very sober.

His lordship—You had not got so far as to try to kiss the bartender. (Laughter.)

Regarding the fight he said to Mr. Moffatt it seemed to him the men were on the road and off the sidewalk. He said he was not afraid of Ralph, and did not think he was going to hold him up. He did not see Ralph take the gun out at any time.

His lordship questioned the witness as to why he bought the gun. "Do you mean to tell the jury," he asked, "that you had this gun for a week and didn't try to open it?" Nelson replied that he had seen it opened in J. P. Morgan's store, where he bought it. He had never packed a revolver before, but was familiar with a rifle. Asked by his lordship what game he had shot, he stated he had shot rabbits and prairie chickens with a .22.

His lordship—The prairie chicken was sitting down, and you were lying down.

Dr. W. O. Rose, who attended Stenberg, stated the bullet glanced from a rib and made a perforation in the left side, about three inches deep. It entered near the median line of the body and passed an inch below the heart. Later the wound started to bleed freely, so he sent Stenberg to the hospital. It was not dangerous to life, he said, but would have been had it touched the lung.

To Mr. Moffatt Dr. Rose admitted he also treated Ralph, but Mr. Justice Gregory would not permit him to be cross-examined regarding Ralph's wound at first, as he claimed it was entirely irrelevant to the charge of shooting Stenberg, and was only a device to work on the sympathy of the jury. Mr. Moffatt replied that he was only offering evidence on a subject that the prosecution had offered evidence on at the preliminary hearing, and that it proposed to offer evidence on now before it closed its case.

Eventually, his lordship permitted Dr. Rose to say that Ralph was under his care for three months in the hospital, and that he had a narrow escape for his life. Dr. Rose also said Ralph's wound of entrance was high up on the right side of the chest, and the exit was much further down on the back, so necessarily it had been fired from above, or while Ralph was stooping or lying down.

William McFayden stated he was proceeding from the Hume to the Queens by way of Vernon street shortly after the shooting, with a man he had met coming in on the boat, named McDonald, and that a one-armed man stopped McDonald and asked him for money, saying he had just shot at a man, and needed it. The man took out a gun from under his overcoat. The witness did not remain with them. He said he had not seen McDonald since, and did not know where he was now. He could not identify Ralph as the man.

Stewart Describes Shooting of Ralph.

Sergeant Alexander Stewart described the shooting at the station before the departure of the Kettle Valley train, which was incidental to the arrest of Ralph. Having been advised that a fur-coated stranger with one arm was around the station, he instituted a search, and saw Ralph coming from the corner by the garden, about 40 yards separating them. He started to meet the man, and the latter presently turned toward the train, whereupon he also altered his course, so that they would about come together at the train. The man, who was walking fast, with his hand under the fur overcoat, pulled out a gun and, pointing it at him, said: "Stick 'em up, I got you." In answer the officer said he pulled his own gun out and fired at the man, whereupon the latter swayed. The man then threw his hand up in the air, with the gun pointing up. As Stewart advanced a couple of paces the man leveled the gun at him again, saying, "Damn you, I'll get you yet." He heard a shot fired, which at the time appeared to be from Ralph, and his own second shot immediately followed. Ralph then staggered and fell backward to the ground.

Answering Mr. Moffatt, he claimed the barrel was uppermost when Ralph held his hand up. He was convinced now that Ralph did not fire at him.

Chief Demonstrates Firearms.

Chief of Police Thomas H. Long also described the search at the station and told of looking in the fruit cage for Ralph, behind a trunk, when he heard somebody say "Stewart's got him." He heard a shot, and saw the two of them were pointing their guns at each other, and he immediately fired two shots as quickly as he could pull, at Ralph's gun hand. He heard one more shot and Ralph sank.

In reply to his lordship the chief said he was behind Stewart, and did not see whether there was a flash from Ralph's gun, but from his familiarity with firearms he judged the report to be from a small caliber automatic, such as the police were armed with. When he saw the man fall he rushed up and examined his wound. There was only one shell in the gun, an empty one. He said there was only one chamber that had been fired at all recently, having the powder marks, while the others had rust.

The revolver formed the theme of Mr. Moffatt's cross-examination of the officer, who showed how the big revolver worked, snapping it above his head a number of times. In the course of the afternoon it was shown that the revolver was of a very peculiar pattern and that it could only be "broken" by one who was in the secret, and once during the earlier evidence Mr. O'Shea had to call in the chief to "break" it. It also had to be cocked by hand.

Chief Long was continuing his demonstration when Mr. Justice Gregory remarked that there were probably members of the jury who were just as familiar with fircarms as the chief and himself were.

Court will reconvene at 10 o'clock this morning.

SIX YEARS AGO TODAY BRITISH NAVY TRIMMED HUN FLEET AT JUTLAND

(By Lieut. H. T. Helmsing, R.N.V.R., Fort Steele, B. C.)

Six years ago today the main naval forces of Great Britain met those of Germany, From the very first day war was declared, it was expected that we would have to wait a long time for a sea fight. Germany had spent 40 years or more building her navy with no other object in view than that of crushing Britain's naval power, but when the first few weeks or months of war had passed without any overtures being made by Germany toward an action at sea, we had to accept the inevitable, that we must wait, and wait we did.

Public Opinion Forced Germans Out

There is no doubt whatever that the German high seas fleet came out on May 31, 1916, in answer to dictates of public opinion. The German public had spent enormous sums of money to build their fleet, and had been pumped full of the extent of their naval power and what it could accomplish, also the manner in which their "U" boats had "brought Britain to her knees," but still the war went on with no apparent end in sight, so that we can safely assume, I think, that the time had come when the "junkers" had to try and make some showing more than their usual tip and run escapades against the east coast towns to uphold their claims for their naval accomplishments, which in reality never existed.

We can accept, then, the theory that the Germans came out on May 31, 1916, having in view the idea of cutting off and chastising that portion of our fleet which was constantly sweeping close to their shores, the battle cruiser fleet under Sir David Beatty. These ships at the time of the battle of Jutland were more numerous and far superior to Germany's fast division, so that Von Hipper alone could not accomplish the proposed chastisement without the assistance of Von Scheer, so that the whole German fleet must come out. German accounts say that 16 modern battleships, supported by six predreadnoughts, actually appeared on May 31, the whole fleet having a speed of 18 knots, being that of the slowest unit, while Sir David's fleet had a speed of 25 knots. How then could the Hun cut off and chastise him unless the admiral himself were willing to engage?

Did Not Expect Jellicoe.

There is no doubt that neither Von Scheer nor Von Hipper ever expected that Sir John Jellicoe could unite with Sir David Beatty in time to engage them, and they consequently hoped that they would be able to inflict sufficient damage to the latter's fleet to cause him to retire and give the German's high seas fleet time to get home before Sir John Jellicoe arrived on the scene, and also to have glowing accounts published to raise the morale of the German public.

The action of Jutland is far too complicated for me to ever attempt to describe it or to comment upon, but to uphold the claim that it was a British victory I maintain that one has only to appreciate the fact that after May 31, 1916, the German fleet never showed its nose outside the Kiel canal until November 21, 1918 when they came out to surrender, without a blow being struck to the very admiral and his men they had hoped to chastice only two years before. This, I think, is evidence enough that they admitted defeat once and for all.

Huns Never Challenged Again

The British had the misfortune to suffer the loss of H. M. ships Indefatigable, Queen Mary, Invincible and Marlborough, besides destroyers, and, needless to say, very many valuable and noble lives, while the Huns lost the Frauenlobe and Wiesbaden and others, the identity of which could not be obtained during the heat of action, but their losses were equally as great as ours if not more, and when the fleet surrendered some of the ships bore signs of the heavy punishment they had received and which had never been repaired, again showing the morale of the German high command had been shattered while our own fleet, according to Sir John Jellicoe's own dispatch, "arrived at its base on June 2, fuelled and reported ready for sea at four hours' notice, at 9:45 on that date."

As the old saying goes, and which so many of our soldiers have used so many times, "Thank God we have a navy."

CORK-PROVINCE IS TO OPEN UP

Mr. Williams, Former General Manager of Granby, Is Here to Take Charge

Arriving on the Great Northern train last night from Spokane, Yolen Williams, a pioneer mining man of the Kootenay, is in the city, and will leave on this afternoon boat for Kaslo, to open up the Cork-Province property.

The Cork-Province is a mining property that has been worked extensively in past years, producing silver-lead ore of milling quality. It is well equipped with machinery, states Mr. Williams, who will start development work immediately, in the capacity of general superintendent.

Quarter of Century Ago.

Mr. Williams arrived in the district about 25 years ago, being one of the first men on the ground of the Granby Consolidated company at Phoenix, which later proved to be the largest copper property in Canada in its day. The Granby company shipped its first train load of ore to the Grand Forks smelter in August, 1900.

Mr. Williams was general manager of the company for approximately 12 years.

In 1899 he helped locate the Mound and Copper Cliff claims, at Hedley, which now adjoin those of the Hedley Gold Mining company, which has since acquired them.

Rossland in the early days saw Mr. Williams associated with the California, Nickle Plate, and the Big Three properties, and later he was general superintendent of them.

A few men are at present on the Cork-Province property at Kaslo, on surface work, but with the arrival of Mr. Williams, development work will be extensively carried on.

The property has been idle for the past two years.

GRADING STARTS FOR YMIR ROAD

Hundred Men Will Be Working Tonight; Bush Fire Under Control

Latest reports from No. 2 camp of the Ymir road, are that the bush fire, burning in the vicinity of the camp, is well in check, and by this morning will be practically out.

Mr. Ham, of the firm of DeWolf & Ham, the contractors, returned from the camp last night, and states that about 20 men have been fighting the fire since the previous night and have it under control.

The buildings of Sam Jerko, on whose property the fire has burned, have not been touched.

Grading will start on the first stations of the road this morning, and in a day or so will be started at different points along the road where right-of-way clearing has been completed.

About 100 men will be occupying the three camps by tonight.

For every 130 pounds of salt used in the United States there are 108 pounds of sugar used.

GIVES IMPETUS TO GOLD MINING

Formation of Private Syndicate Follows Rich Strike in Sulphide Zone Bayonne

Nothing has given so much impetus to gold mining in the Nelson mining division as the recent strike in the sulphide zone, reported on the Bayonne Group, which is being operated by B. N. Sharpe, of Spokane, for the Spokane Mining & Development company, and in which the big owners are White and Gerrard, the latter being the former United States ambassador to Germany during the war.

This strike is the immediate cause of the organization here yesterday of a private syndicate to exploit the district. The syndicate owns 25 claims, approximately 1350 acres adjoining the Bayonne, and in a measure surrounding it. Those interested in it are M. C. Monaghan, Phil Billings, James Grant, Fred A. Starkey, Guy Smith, and H. Ginsberg, (Silver King Mike).

Faith in the Bayonne country is very strong in the minds of these men, some of whom staked their holdings as far back as from 14 to 20 years, on veins running from 2½ to 4½ feet. A number of them are crown granted. The syndicate is convinced that now is the opportune moment, on the eve of a great mining revival, to commence active operations, and it has opened negotiations with a prominent mining engineer of London, England.

The Modern Janus

The cables are agitated because, at the same hour that the Russian Tchitcherin was proclaiming allegiance to the European pact of non-aggression, the Russian Trotzky was inciting his red armies to fanatical demand for war upon the world's democracies. The men who report the news and many of those who comment upon it are distressed with doubt as to which of these Bolshevik spokesmen is telling the truth. There need be no such doubt. Probably both are deceiving. Trotzky deceiving the Russians, Tchitcherin deceiving—or trying to deceive—the foreign peoples. One of the weakest expedients of popular leaders is to make one speech for "home consumption" and another speech for "foreign consumption." The Lenine dictatorship has been following this tortuous course for many months.

When a man or a nation makes conflicting statements as to purposes or promises, it is rank folly to worry much as to which to believe. The only sensible course is to believe neither.

Limiting Speed and Responsibility

Light is thrown on the problem of preventing automobile accidents by the experience of Great Britain. There the existing speed regulations are not enforced and a bill now before parliament is expected soon to abolish the speed limit on motor cars. The argument in favor of its abolition is that permissible speed depends upon conditions and that conditions vary mile by mile and hour by hour. Therefore, speed laws cannot replace individual judgment and individual responsibility. If a motorist knows that he will be punished promptly and adequately for recklessness that causes or threatens injury to another, he has a stronger deterrent than speed laws and speed traps to keep him from dangerous practices.

The British motorist knows that the courts cannot be wheedled into looking leniently upon injury inflicted through recklessness upon person or property. Since he is well aware that he cannot afford to take chances he does not take them. Because he cannot afford to have accidents he does not have them. The question that confronts him when he is brought before a court is not the rate of speed at which he was traveling when the accident occurred, but why he permitted the accident to occur.

Unlimited responsibility is far more effective in preventing injury by motor cars than is limited speed.

Declining Death Rate

The most gratifying feature of the figures issued by the United States bureau of census in which the death rates in various age groups in 1920 and 1910 are compared is the sharp decline disclosed in the death rate of infants less than one year old. When the Canadian figures are compiled it is to be expected they will show equally satisfactory improvement. In the earlier year a baby of less than one year had only a slightly better chance of living throughout the twelvemonth than a person more than 75 years old, the death rate for the infant group being 13,804 per 100,000 and that of the aged 14,360 per 100,000. The infant mortality rate had fallen by 1920 to 9600 per 100,000, a decline of 26 per cent. The death rate of persons more than 75 years old fell in the same period to 13,490, a decline o 6 per cent. A gratifying decline also occurred in the death rate of persons between 45 and 74 years of age, the deaths in that group per 100,000 being 2280 in 1920 as against 2581 in 1910. This is a 10 per cent drop.

We are always shocked by the deaths of young persons just at the threshold of opportunity. But the socialogist and economist is moved not so much by the loss to the individual, of a full chance to live, as by the loss to society through his death. Thus it is that students of social problems are especially gratified by a reduction of infant and child mortality, for the loss to the community is greater through the death of one whose contribution has not begun than through the taking away of one whose service is partly performed or completed.

SOME FACTS ABOUT CANNING THAT YOU MAY NOT KNOW

Every year brings us new discoveries about the art of canning. For instance, a few years ago we did not know that the acid vegetables are less difficult to preserve than those which contain no acid. This is because the antiseptic action of the acid in the vegetable (or fruit) is so much increased by the temperature of the boiling water in the hot-water bath processing of the Cold Pack Method, that it perfectly sterilizes the fruit or vegetable in the jars. Fruits and vegetables containing a large proportion of sugar are also easily sterilized by the hot-water bath method. Whereas vegetables, such as corn and peas, are much more difficult to preserve because they contain neither acid nor sugar in considerable quantities and are ordinarily infected with a certain of the anaerobic spore-bearing bacteria which, scientists tell us, are able to withstand high temperatures.

Experiments at the University of California have shown us that vegetables can be saved from spoilage as easily as fruit if a little acid is added to the water in which they are canned. It was found that peas, beans, asparagus and beets kept perfectly when heated in the jars to 212 degrees Fahrenheit in a brine made by adding 4 ounces of salt for every 6 quarts of water; this brine was then acidulated by adding to it 5 ounces of lemon juice for every gallon of brine. But when the same vegetables were heated in jars in brine of the same strength but containing no lemon juice, they spoiled.

The popular practice of canning corn with tomatoes, is based on the same principle; the corn keeps perfectly because the tomatoes supply the necessary acidity.

Many housekeepers have written me in the past few months to ask why their corn or peas put up last year, spoiled in the can. So this year I am going to ask these disappointed housekeepers to try the following method, instead of the One Period Cold Pack Method which they used last canning season:

The Intermitten Cold Pack Method: This is exactly like the One Period Cold Pack Method except that the jar is boiled for a given period on three successive days, instead of for a long period on only one day. Many canning clubs and private individuals use this Intermittent Cold Pack method, as an added precaution, when canning asparagus, corn, peas and beans (both string and lima). It destroys spores in the jars and is the safest method that can be used with these four particular vegetables (unless, of course, you use a steam pressure cooker, which admits of a higher temperature than the water bath and which gives the best results of any canning outfit known, for these four vegetables).

From now on, each week, I shall publish Cold Pack canning directions for all the common fruits and vegetables as they appear in the home garden explaining the Intermitten Cold Pack method minutely for the four vegetables mentioned.

Styles

By Lenore

Pale yellow crepe Romain with shimmery silver does its decorative best to add some shining moments to an evening of dancing. Seeing the soft, flowing lines, the graceful sleeve, you know it at once as Renee frock, designed for youth.

Like so many of the adorably simple dresses that are created for dinner and evening wear, this neckline is cut on the familiar bateau line, and the lowered waistline is accomplished not by a separate girdle, but by a snugly fitted yoke-like effect, to which the bodice and skirt are respectively joined. The whole thing is worn over a silver metal slip, which shows faintly glimmering through the material, and is visible through the slashes in bodice and skirt. Petalled silver ornaments with a twisted silver ribbon encircle the waist.

This frock may also be successfully carried out in chiffon or Georgette, in white, salmon or pale rose, all of which combine most attractively with silver.

LOGGER SLIPS AND DROWNS IN CREEK

EDGEWOOD, May 30.—James Adshead of Arrow Park was drowned on Sunday afternoon, whilst engaged on the log drive in the Inonoaklin creek.

The accident occurred at a point about two miles from Edgewood, where the Inonoaklin creek joins the Arrow lake.

Deceased, it is stated, slipped off a log in the stream and, after swimming and reaching another log appeared to be climbing on to it, when he lost his hold and disappeared.

Every effort was made to aid him, but without avail, and Drs. Kelso and Yeld were soon on the spot, prepared to give medical assistance, if possible, but at a late hour no trace had been found of the body.

Much sympathy was expressed for the family of the deceased, who was about 21 years of age.

RANCHERS HAVE BRIGHT OUTLOOK

WILLOW POINT, May 28.—The orchards on the Point have a wonderful showing of blossom. The cherries are falling, but the apples will soon be in full bloom. Judging from present appearances the ranchers should have an enormous crop this fall. The strawberries and small fruits are looking in first class shape in spite of the cold winter and late spring. It looks as if a large quantity of potatoes would be planted before the end of the week.

The chicken fanciers are full of business and the hatching for the season nearly completed. Some of the ranchers are doing well with day-old chickens. So far there have been very few losses from hawks, which have not been so troublesome as usual, so far this spring.

The children are busily collecting gopher tails for the government bounty, but the supply has not been so great as it was last year.

SPEND VICTORIA DAY IN REVELS

PASSMORE, May 28.—A very enjoyable picnic was held on the 24th, at the Curzon's ranch, at Slocan park, under the auspicies of the Women's auxiliary, South Slocan Valley Farmers' Institute.

Grownups and little folks all entered heartily into the games and contests, and tug-of-war, potato races, egg and spoon races, volley ball, etc., which formed part of the afternoon's entertainment.

An interesting feature of the day was a horse race, between Messrs. H. C. Nicholls and E. Jamieson, on their respective mounts, the latter being the winner.

Lunch was served on the grounds by the ladies, and an ice cream and lemonade booth was excellentiy patronized.

CRESTON FACES SCHOOL WORRY

Problem to Accommodate Scholars; Propose New Additions

CRESTON, May 28.—If the ratepayers of the Creston school district, at the annual meeting in July, adopt the recommendations that will be submitted them by the trustees, Creston will this fall have a two-room high school.

The plan of the trustees is that on opening the second high school room to shift the entrance class to the lower high school room from the principal's room of the present public school, and by so doing it is thought, the public school will then afford sufficient accommodation for the receiving class in September. Just at present the five rooms of the public school average just over 40 scholars per room, and at the high school there is no spare deskroom either.

If the proposal goes through the two-room addition to the public school, erected last year, and of which only one room is utilized, will be used for the high school, and the present high school quarters will in turn house the public school primary classes.

The Sane Way Out.

That this is the sane way out of the difficulty seems apparent, when it is recalled that this year there are not likely to be more than three graduates from the high school, and there is excellent possibility of a dozen being promoted as a result of the entrance examinations. Besides, as at present constituted the Creston high school is unable to accommodate any scholars from the surrounding rural schools, and even under the new arrangement it is hardly likely all the outside scholars offering can be accommodated.

Between providing for the salary of the added high school teacher and securing funds for the completion and furnishing of the new room, it is possible the school budget this year will be about $2000 higher than in 1921, which gave the district the highest tax rate on record.

CRESTON NOTES

CRESTON, May 28.—Christ Church Ladies' guild cleared in the neighborhood of $100 on their Quaker Village fair in the Parish hall on Victoria day. The affair was quite attractive, these in charge of the various stalls and other activities, being gowned in regulation Quaker dress.

The Bevan garage has just installed a free air pipe and gasoline pump at the curb with a 50-watt electric light at the top of the pump that lights up things splendidly for autoists who may want to look their cars over before starting out on night trips after the theater and other entertainments.

J. K. Chorlton left on Sunday for Cranbrook ,where he has been chosen to lead the five-piece orchestra in the Rex theater in that town. Mr. Chorlton is a cellist of exceptional talent, and in addition to orchestra work, will also have a music class.

T. Barrigan, the local tinsmith, is confined to the house at present with a broken kneecap, which he sustained on Thursday night while chasing off some boys who were kicking up a racket at the rear of the house. In running down the grade he missed his footing, sustaining an injury that will keep him off work at least a month.

Mrs. J. M. Cragie left on Thursday for the old home at Penetang, Ontario, having just had word that her father is seriously ill.

Mrs. H. A. McKowan of Cranbrook, the well-known Kootenay authoress, is spending a short holiday with her parents Mr. and Mrs. George Cartwright.

Mrs. James Cook got back on Saturday from a short holiday visit with friends in Nelson.

John Stephens of Tacoma, Wash., is here at present looking after land clearing operations at his ranch at West Creston. He will probably put a launch on the river and market his strawberry crop via. Kootenay Landing.

The Grand theater is discontinuing the moving pictures that have been running two nights a week, after Wednesday, and will not likely reopen until September.

Mrs. Barnes has returned from Trail.

The orchards here are just lovely, the trees are loaded with bloom, and though there was a slight frost on Friday night it does not seem to have done much damage, for most of the cherry blooms and plum blooms are set and the first strawberries are making.

TEA SHORTAGE—HIGHER PRICES

In 1920, so much more tea was produced than required throughout the world, that the market dropped to a very low level. The situation was so serious for the growers that they agreed to reduce their production 20 per cent during 1921. Consumption, which has increased tremendously, and the production of tea being curtailed, has resulted in the highest prices for tea in years. The recent reduction of four pence per pound on tea tax in Eingland has further stimulated consumption, which means even higher prices may soon be expected.

WEDDING BELLS MERRILY RING

Popular New Denver Girl Becomes Bride of Fred V. Webber

NEW DENVER, May 29.—The wedding of Miss Ivy Trickett and Fred V. Webber was the occasion for much joyful excitement Wednesday morning, May 24. By 9 o'clock the hour set for the wedding in St. Stephen's church, crowds were gathered inside the church and out. The building was decorated with evergreens and narcissus, a graceful arch stretching across at the altar.

The bride, who was given away by her father, George Trickett, was married in her traveling suit of blue serge, with hat to match. She carried a bouquet of narcissus. Miss Molly Colgrave, the bridesmaid, wore blue and also carried flowers.

The groom, who is a member of the Denver G. W. V. A., was assisted by Hartley Burgess. Rev. Canon Hall performed the ceremony, and the wedding bells rang merrily.

As they emerged from the church the members of the bridal party were photographed, and were then motored to the bride's home, where a wedding breakfast was served, and the profusion of wedding gifts admired.

The happy young couple took the down boat for connections to Spokane. A huge crowd wished them God speed at the wharf, the Denver band played, the boat whistled, and rice and confetti flew through the air.

The bride's bouquet was caught by Miss Edith Burgess amid much merriment.

Groups of girl guides and Brownies, carrying flowers, girls from Silverton, Boy Scouts, Cubs, and pepole in all walks of life were represented among the well-wishers.

CANADIANS VICTORIOUS

Make Clean Sweep of Rowing Events at the Duluth Regatta

DULUTH, Minn., May 30.—The University of Manitoba oarsmen made a clean sweep in the regatta with the Duluth Boat club here today, winning in the eight-oared junior doubles and junior four races.

Rowing over a strange course and in a shell entirely new to them, the Canadians won the eight-oared race, the premier event of the day, by half a length. The time was 7:31. While facing a disadvantage as to rowing conditions, the Canadian senior eight had the advantage in weight and experience over the intermediates.

The D. B. C. senior eight was scratched when two members of the crew became ill.

The Mantoba eight held the lead over the mile and a quarter course from the start. The time for the junior four event was 8:58 and the junior doubles 8:44. As in the eight-oared race, the Canadians led all the way in these events.

Walter Hoover, United States amateur singles sculling champion, given a 15-second handicap, participated in the junior doubles event.

He held his handicap throughout and to critics appeared to have a better advantage at the finish than was announced by the judges. Hoover's time was 8:20 for the mile and a quarter.

Weather conditions were unfavorable, a strong northeastern wind sweeping across the course and chilling the oarsmen as they jockeyed their shells about over the choppy course for the start.

Zidconium, a metal with strange properties, is highly resistant to acids.

TACOMA SHUTS OUT EDMONTON

Both Scoreless Until Eighth; Regular Pitchers' Battle Ensues

EDMONTON, May 30.—Hagerman and Shepherd locked horns in a pitchers' battle here tonight, the Tacoma team emerging victorious, 4 to 0. Each pitcher allowed only three hits, but Hagerman allowed two of his three in the eighth and in the same frame issued disastrous passes. The break of the game came in the eighth. Cadman drew a walk and Shepard sacrificed. Genin singled and went to second on the throw to the plate, which held Cadman on third. With two out and men on second and third, Burke was passed inentionally to fill the bags, but Hagerman failed to recover control and walked Blenkiron, forcing over the run. Grover then hit far into left field for two bases and three men crossed the plate.

Calls Play for Darkness.

CALGARY, May 30.—An interesting hurling duel between Huser of Calgary and Marquis of Vancouver was terminated here tonight by Umpire Held, when he called play at the end of the 10th inning owing to darkness. Both hurlers were a trifle wild, but sensational fielding pulled them out of many difficult holes. Adolph Schinkle, cleanup hitter for the Bronks, again featured with a double, two singles and a sacrifice in four trips to the plate. His double drove in the Calgary runs.

BLAIRMORE WAKES UP BUT TOO LATE

FERNIE, May 29.—The scheduled baseball game between Waldo and White Spruce, which should have been played at Fernie this afternoon, was postponed by mutual consent of the two managements to give Waldo time to strengthen up their team.

The White Spruce, however, secured an engagement with the Blairmore team to fill the program. This game resulted in a win for the White Spruce by a score of 13 runs to 6.

Olsen started on the mound for Blairmore and in the first innings was batted freely, the Spruce collecting six runs. Three hits off Peter's deliveries, coupled with a bad error in the outfield, allowed Blairmore to score twice in the first.

Prudden relieved Olsen for Blairmore after two more runs had been scored off the latter in the second inning. Prudden's opening was rather wild, and four more runs were added by the Spruce before being retired in the second. Prudden tightened up and struck out twelve batters in the remaining six innings, only one more run being scored off him in that time. In the fourth, fifth, sixth and seventh Blairmre scored one run in each frame.

| Score by innings | | R. | H. | E. |

JUDGE EXTOLLS GRAND JURIES

Mr. Justice Gregory Instructs on Functions; Tribute to Registrar Bowman

A tribute to the worth of grand juries in the Canadian system of justice, paid by Mr. Justice Gregory, featured the opening of the Nelson spring assizes, at the court house yesterday morning. The grand jury, he said, was a safeguard against the escape of the criminal, and against the unjust punishment of the innocent. Its function was to examine without fear or favor the witnesses summoned by the crown, judge whether they were fair, and ascertain whether the indictments the attorney-general had permitted to be framed were justified. It had full authority to discharge the functions with which is was endowed, and could proceed in any way that it pleased.

"It is an institution of which I think very highly," he said. "I am fully aware that my views on this institution are not shared by everyone, even on the bench, but I would be exceedingly sorry to see it deleted from our system of justice."

A Worthy Court Officer

Before arriving at the subject of grand juries, Mr. Justice Gregory paid another popular tribute.

"It is customary on these occasions for the presiding judge to comment on public matters," he said, "and so I will draw to the public's attention that you will see for the last time tomorrow the present registrar of this court. He has served faithfully for 17 years, and is now going on the superannuated list. He does not look exactly as if he needed superannuation, but laws are made for the general average of men, and must be obeyed even in cases that it would seem might be excepted. Personally, I am very sorry that he is to leave."

All eyes were on Registrar T. M. Bowman while his lordship was delivering this encomium, much to the court officer's embarrassment.

The grand jury, as summoned, consisted of H. Selous, J. Fred Hume, A. S. Horswill, G. F. Motion, Dr. N. Welverton, George Benwell, J. O. Patenaude, W. M. Walker, W. R. Allen, S. Fawcett, R. Andrew, J. A. McDonald and John Hyslop. Mr. Selous was elected chairman.

Those summoned for petit jury duty were A. F. Atkinson, J. H. Argyle, J. M. Armstrong, Andrew Balcomb, Benjamin Bowles, W. H. Brown, W. J. Brodie, E. J. Campbell, Alexander Clarke, Wesley Calbick, J. Kirby Douglas, Vincent Eperson, J. H. Hartley, L. Hanna, David Kerr, H. Perry Leake, W. J. Miles, J. S. McGregor, G. G. McLaren, Paul Nipou, A. A. Perrier, I. R. Poole, E. R. Redpath, John Smallwood, R. J. Steel, Roy Sharp, W. A. Whitmore, A. Williamson, H. J. Wilton and William Wilson.

In attendance in the court room were C. R. Hamilton, K. C., James O'Shea, K.C., E. C. Wragge, F. C. Moffatt, W. Brown, E. P. Dawson and H. Clifford Irving, members of the bar.

Registrar T. M. Bowman and Sheriff James H. Doyle were the court officers.

The Ralph Indictments.

In instructing the grand jury as to its duties in connection with the two indictments presented by the attorney-general against Edmund Ralph for the shooting of Gus Stenberg, and for the taking of Nap Mallette's coat, his lordship read the legal definitions of attempted murder, attempt to do grevious bodily harm, and unlawful wounding.

A wound, he said, was any injury made with or without a weapon, in which the skin was broken. "Unlawful" meant without excuse or justification. A man could inflict this wound in defense of his life, or again a wound might be inflicted accidentally. In either of these latter cases, it would not be unlawful wounding.

To make the wounding attempted murder, the individual must have in his mind the intention to kill, and unless this could be inferred in the present case a true bill could not be brought on this count.

In the case of grevious bodily harm the injury inflicted or intended must be such that it would seriously interfere with the victim's health or comfort.

With the unlawful wounding count, intent did not have to be found.

After the retirement of the grand jury on its mission of examining the indictments, the civil docket was taken up.

Great Northern Case Set Over

In the case of the Great Northern Railway company vs. F. L. Churchill C. R. Hamilton, K. C., for the defendant, asked for the case to be set over for the next term on account of the absence of a material witness.

James O'Shea, K.C., acting for A. H. Macneill, K.C., of Vancouver, general counsel for the railway company, agreed to the postponement, and his lordship ordered it, it being understood that witness fees that had been incurred through it being impossible to stop witnesses were to be met by the defendant.

The case of C. S. Leary vs. the Nakusp Lumber company, in which Brown & Dawson appear for the plaintiff, and F. C. Moffatt for the defendant, will be called tomorrow, by mutual agreement between the counsel and his lordship.

After submitting its presentment on the Ralph indictments yesterday afternoon, the grand jury was thanked, advised that it had the right to inspect the public institutions if it wished and, on it being indicated that it had decided not to exercise this right, was discharged. The members of it will receive their checks at 9 o'clock this morning at the sheriff's office.

RENEW MINERS' LICENCES TODAY

Mining Recorder Expects a Rush of Owners Anxious to Retain Titles

Yesterday saw considerable activity at the office of E. Ferguson, the mining recorder, when a number of applicants secured a renewal of their free miners' certificates. Today, which is the day on which last year's certificates expire, will see a rush of applicants, it is expected, for unless the certificates are renewed, the holders lose their mineral rights.

Provision is made, however, to the Mining act, whereby persons who have omitted to renew their certificates, without which the title to a mining property lapses, may obtain a special certificate at the rate of $15, just three times the ordinary figure, at any time within six months, and may make good their titles. New licenses, may of course, be taken out at any time during the year.
