GRIFFITH HAS CONFIDENCE OF IRISH OPINION

Feeling Runs High in Dail Eireann; Divisions Strengthen Government.

TEDIOUS DEBATES ARE SOURCE OF ANNOYANCE

Eager to Get on With Free State Machinery; Collins Reproaches Opponents.

DUBLIN, March 1.—Numerous clashes occurred again in the Dail Eireann today, the feeling running high. Eamonn de Valera continued to press for recognition of the Dail's supremacy, but the ministers of the provisional government held firmly that they were responsible only to the Irish people.

Divisions continue to show there is no doubt that Griffith is in control. Observers expressed the opinion tonight that the net result of the two days' debate has been to strengthen the hands of the provisional government and increase public confidence in their ability to handle the situation. In the course of a long debate on the election machinery, Arthur Griffith maintained his determination to hold the elections as arranged three months hence and on the old register.

Tedious Debates Annoy

The members of the provisional government displayed intense impatience at the tedious debates which they call an appalling waste of time. They have much work to do in connection with getting the Free State established and are eager to get on with it.

Reproaches Opponents

Michael Collins, on adjournment, bitterly reproached his opponents for failing to submit a single constructive idea. The finance minister's feats of endurance amazed his associates; he works daily until two or three o'clock in the morning, getting only four or five hours' sleep. The nature of the work of the provisional government ministers, Mi. Collins informed the Associated Press correspondent, was so delicate that it could not be delegated to his subordinates.

SUPPORTERS ANNEX OPPOSITION ROOMS

Liberals Will Retain Quarters to Which They Have Grown Accustomed.

OTTAWA, March 1.—"His Majesty's most loyal opposition," has disappeared from the decorative border which lines the wall of room 497, where, during the last session of parliament the Liberals gathered for caucus. This year, room 497 is to be the caucus room of the government supporters, which means that while the Liberal members will change across the floor to sit on the right hand of the speaker, they will continue their comfortable quarters on the fourth floor of the parliament building which have grown sort of "homey" from their associations of opposition days.

Premier King will continue to use the room which he used as leader of the opposition and whoever is chosen leader of the opposition will probably be given the room below, the ceiling of which is embellished with a design representing the ship of state with allegorical figures to represent the winds.

George W. Kyte, chief government whip, today took over the office occupied last session by Hon. J. A. Robb as chief opposition whip, and spent two hours in conference with the sergeant-at-arms, Colonel Bowie, and with Fred Johnston of Last Mountain, the chief Progressive whip. W. A. Bows of South Simcoe, who has been named chief Conservative whip, will not arrive until Saturday, so the vexed question of seating in the chamber may remain in abeyance, as far as the opposition is concerned, for some days yet. The three whips will confer when Mr. Bows reaches Ottawa.

ATTITUDE ONE OF WATCHFUL WAITING

PROVINCE, R. I., March 1.—Following the collapse yesterday of efforts by the state board of mediation and conciliation to compose the Rhode Island textile strike, the attitude today of both mill owners and striking operatives was one of watchful waiting. It was generally accepted tonight that as the next move in the situation an attempt would be made to reopen some of the many plants which have been shut down for nearly six weeks by the strike of more than 15,000 workers in Pawtucket and Blackstone valley. Leaders declared they were prepared for any action the owners might take.

For the present, soldiers are to be kept on guard in the mills villages where trouble has occurred.

Announce Sailing of Empress of Britain From New York Port

NEW YORK, March 1.—Announcement was made by the local office of the Canadian Pacific railway today that the Empress of Britain will make a special trip from New York to Liverpool on March 23. This will be the first sailing of a Canadian Pacific ship from this port to England.

PROGRESSIVES WILL CONTEST EAST KOOTENAY

Bronsdon Busy Campaigning; Interesting Contest May Result.

CRANBROOK, March 1.—Nomination yesterday for East Kootenay federal byelection finally established the fact that there will be a contest against Dr. J. H. King, newly appointed minister of public works at Ottawa. Thomas H. Bronsdon was nominated to run under the Progressive banner. Both parties now have organizations at work for the duration of the short campaign. Dr. King's nomination was subscribed to by a number of prominent Liberals and a few Conservatives, but the Progressive nomination almost as largely signed, was confined to party followers entirely. An interesting contest may result if Bronsdon holds the former Progressive vote and is able to secure an appreciable portion of the former Conservative vote. Bronsdon is now busy campaigning and holds his first meeting in Cranbrook on Friday evening, when Dr. King is also invited to speak. No Liberal meetings are yet announced.

CUSTOMS DUTIES ENLARGE UNDER INDIAN BUDGET

Tax Cotton Goods to Counterbalance Increased Import Duty.

LONDON, March 1.—The budget statement presented to the Indian legislative assemblage today by Finance Minister Hailey and issued in London by the Indian office, shows large customs increases. The general advalorem duty is raised from 11 to 15 per cent and the cotton excise duty at the same time is correspondingly increased from three and one-half to seven and a half per cent with the object of taxing the consumption of cotton goods in the present emergency and not for the purpose of counterbalancing the increase in import duty.

The budget provides for an increase in the duty of sugar from 15 to 25 per cent, the imposition of a five per cent duty on imported yarn and an increase in the duty on machinery, iron and steel, railway material from two and a half to 10 per cent.

It also provides for a 20 per cent increase in the duty on alcoholic liquors with the exception of wines, and an increase in the duty on matches from 12 annas (about 24 cents) to one and one-half rupees (about 40 cents) on gross boxes.

There are also large increases in the duty on salt as well as increase in railway and postal charges.

Mr. Hailey emphasized the fact that India's troubles were due to world causes. He said the accepted solution everywhere was to make the revenue meet the expenditures at any cost.

South Africa Adopts Smuts' Amendment for Strikers to Return

LONDON, March 1.—(By Canadian Press Cable)—Reuter's Capetown correspondent cables that the strike debate in the South African house of assembly has terminated with the adoption of the government amendment to General Hertzog's resolution. The amendment declares it is in the interests of the country and the best interests of the strikers that the latter should follow the advice of Premier Smuts and return to work immediately on the best terms available, pending an inquiry by an impartial board dealing with the strike issues.

MENNONITES START MANITOBA EXODUS

WINNIPEG, March 1.—Marking the beginning of the Mennonite exodus from Manitoba, a party of the old colony Mennonites from Plum Coulee, Man., passed through here this afternoon on the first stage of their journey to San Antonio, Mexico. They are traveling in a special train of 23 cars bearing household effects and two passenger cars. Abbout 200 persons compose the vanguard of the exodus.

DRAWS LINE AT REDUCING BRITISH NAVY

Chancellor Praises Geddes' Economy Report; Comprehensive Statement.

LONDON, March 1.—Addressing the house of commons today in a speech in which he minutely detailed the economy the government has decided to adopt in connection with the recommendations of the economy committee headed by Sir Eric Geddes, Sir Robert S. Horne, the chancellor of the exchequer, asserted that these would total £64,000,000, compared with £86,000,000 advised by the committee. Of the total amount of economies to be effected, £54,000,000 would be saved in the coming financial year.

Accepts Some Reductions

The principal points in the chancellor's address were his acceptance of reductions in the army estimates by £16,500,000 instead of £20,000,000 as proposed by the Geddes committee; his statement that the naval estimates for 1922-23 would be below £61,000,000 as against nearly £82,500,000 for the current year, and the announcement that it was the purpose to economize by a reduction of £6,500,000 in the educational estimates instead of £18,000,000, as suggested in the Geddes report.

Another interesting point in the address was the chancellor's announcement of the government's decision not to abolish the minister of labor, as advised by the committee.

Sir Robert explained the difference between the advice of the Geddes report for a reduction in the army and the actual reduction of £33,000 actually adopted as having been due largely to the requirements of the Indian government. He said the size of the army, exclusive of India, would now be 20,000 less than before the war.

The chancellor said the air estimates would be reduced next year by £10,500,000 as compared with the suggestion of the Geddes report for a reduction of £18,500,000.

LONDON, March 1.—The government could not insist upon a reduction of the personnel of the British navy below 90,000, it was announced in the house of commons by Sir Robert Horne, chancellor of the exchequer, speaking with regard to the report of the economy commission headed by Sir Eric Geddes, which recently recommended a cut of 5000 officers and men in the navy and of 50,000 officers and men in the army.

The chancellor said the government had recommended the cancellation in the army of 24 battalions of the line, and the equivalent to five cavalry regiments, and a reduction of the artillery by 40 per cent.

The government, added Sir Robert, had proposed a reduction in the education estimates of £6,500,000 out of the £18,000,000 reduction suggested by the Geddes report.

In opening the debate on the Geddes report the chancellor of the exchequer said he joined wholeheartedly in praise of the committee which had earned the gratitude of the whole country for producing a report which presented, in a clearer and more comprehensive way than existed in any department today, the whole system of the national expenditure.

Cannot Adopt as Whole

It was impossible, however, he continued, for the government to adopt the recommendation as a whole.

Regarding education, said Sir Robert, the government could not put into operation the proposals as to the reductions in teachers' salaries, and the exclusion from the school of children under six years of age. Teachers' salaries, he pointed out, were the result of engagements between the local authorities and the teaching staff, and the government would not take action which would have the effect of creating breaches of faith between various parties.

The government, he announced, proposed reductions in education estimates of £6,500,000, and the teachers would hereafter contribute five per cent of their salaries to a superannuation fund which would produce £2,000,000.

Admiralty Offers Saving

Regarding the navy, the chancellor said the committee had recommended a reduction of £21,000,000 without regard to the savings to be effected as the result of the Washington conference or the savings on the provision of oil. The admiralty, however, had offered a saving of £21,000,000, but including the savings to be effected through the Washington resolutions and including certain savings on oil.

Sir Robert said that the comparative figures the admiralty was setting up against the committee showed £10,000,000 in proposed reductions as compared with the committee's £21,000,000 recommendation, with the qualification that out of the £21,000,000 mentioned, specifications were given by the committee regarding only £14,000,000. Therefore, comparing the specific reductions proposed with the admiralty's reductions there was a difference of only £4,000,000, the question thus resolving itself into one of the personnel of the navy.

The government had considered

FIELDING RECONNOITERS GROUND FOR RECIPROCITY ARRANGEMENT

OTTAWA, March 1.—Detailed information on the result of Hon. W. S. Fielding's interview with President Harding at Washington is awaited here with keenest interest. But it is probable that even then, following his return to Ottawa, the minister of finance will not make any immediate announcement. Always averse to interviews, as his amusing replies to Washington newspaper men indicates, Mr. Fielding is likely to wait till the new government meets parliament before making any formal statement. No doubt questions will then be asked in the house and requests made for the nature and scope of the Washington conference.

Information so far to hand bears out previous dispatches that Mr. Fielding went to Washington, not in the nature of an envoy bearing formal proposals, but rather to reconnoitre the ground, to get the opinion of the Harding administration on tariff matters generally, with a view, probably, to subsequent proposals of reciprocity. But it is admitted here that many difficulties stand in the way of a reciprocal agreement which would remove provisions of the Fordney tariff bearing most heavily on exports of natural products from Canada.

The free cattle of the 1911 reciprocity arrangement was opposed by cattle growers' associations in the United States all the way from Texas to Illinois. Gloomy predictions were made of the effect of the provision on American stock raisers. Nor is there any indication that the agricultural bloc in the present congress would look in reductions in the Fordney tariff on farm products with any more favorable an eye.

On the other hand, the consuming public of the United States would probably favor a mutual lowering of the tariff barriers between the United States and Canada. Furthermore, there has been some considerable criticism of the Fordney tariff in the United States itself on the ground that, by reducing Canada's ability to buy, the tariff, instead of protecting United States trade, has reduced it.

Within the last 12 months Canadian total imports from the United States have dropped even more heavily in value than have Canadian exports to the United States. For the year ending January, 1921, Canadian imports from the United States totalled $898,573,311; for the 12 months ended January of this year, $537,084,070, a drop of $361,489,241. Canadian exports to the United States in the 12 months ended January, 1921, were $561,543,278; in the 12 months ended January, 1922, $315,629,641, or a reduction of $236,913,637.

UNEMPLOYMENT SHOWS INCREASE

Prospects for Improvement Depend on Wage Agreements.

VICTORIA, March 1.—Unemployment in Canada at present is five or six per cent greater than at the corresponding time last year, Bryce M. Stewart, director of employment service, Ottawa, told officials of the four western provinces of the employment service of Canada today when the annual conference opened at the parliament buildings here.

Prospects for improvement, said Mr. Stewart, depend partly on employers and employees reaching agreements on wage scales to enable the making of contracts with some certainty as to future costs. Improvement in employment conditions in agricultural Canada, he continued, will be brought about by restoration of the farmers' purchasing power, either through better prices for farm produce or lower cost of commodities which the farmer must buy.

J. D. McNiven, deputy minister of labor for British Columbia, opened the session with an address of welcome. He said the employment system is thriving remarkably well. During three years' operation the 77 offices in Canada have placed about half a million men a year in jobs, without cost to employee of employer.

J. A. Mitchell, superintendent for Alberta employment service, told of what an interviewer in a labor employment office must know to be successful.

A wide experience of human nature was necessary.

AGREE BASIS OF SETTLEMENT

Shevlin-Clarke Will Agree Basis, But Contest the Awards.

TORONTO, March 1.—The Shevlin-Clarke Lumber company is reported to have proposed a basis of settlement of the litigation between the company and the province, which, if accepted, will permit the company to continue in business and at the same time give the government a measure of victory. In the suit launched by the province against the company recently and tried by Justice Logie, the province was awarded the equivalent of a million dollars more for timber already cut and to be cut from crown lands than was provided for under the company's permit from the former provincial government. The company has announced an appeal against this award, but the settlement now offered provides for the abandonment of the appeal.

Hon. W. E. Raney tonight confirmed the report that a settlement between the government and the company was in progress.

Mr. Raney said the parties were "substantially agreed" but no terms would be announced for some days.

THREATENED RESIGNATION OF LLOYD GEORGE IS POLITICAL UPHEAVAL IN GREAT BRITAIN

Sir George Younger Engineers "Die Hards"; Country Out of Sympathy With Coalition; Opponents Gather Strength; Conservatives Rally Forces to C[illegible] [illegible]t Situation; Younger Not Chamberlain, the Leader.

LONDON, March 1.—The report that the prime minister had threatened to resign has been the political sensation of the day. Hints of Lloyd George's resignation have been current ever since Sir George Younger, head of the Conservative party organization, engineered a revolt of some 50 "diehards" to rise against the premier during the latter's absence at the Cannes meeting.

The outcome of that revolt was a practical split in the Coalition and public abandonment of the so-called coupon system under which heretofore candidates, whether Conservative or Liberal, entered the electoral contests under a united banner.

The attitude of the "diehards" is that they decline to recognize Lloyd George's leadership unless they are allowed to dictate the policy of the Coalition, which would include restoration of the legislative veto to the house of lords and a protective tariff.

The prime minister is said to have threatened to resign when he returned from Cannes, but was disuaded by Austen Chamberlain. Since then, disintegration in the Coalition has proceeded rapidly, alarge body of the Conservatives showing a dis[illegible] to support the revolting [illegible] ele[illegible] [illegible]e same time, recent byelecti[illegible] [illegible] which the government can[illegible] were defeated, tended to s[illegible] that the country was com[illegible] out of sympathy with the [illegible]ion, while the Labor party [illegible] the Asquithian Liberals, who opposed the Coalition, are constantly gaining strength.

Meetings of the government whips and the organizing leaders of the Conservative party were held today to consider the new situation and although nothing definite was decided it is expected that a meeting of the whole Conservative party will be called at an early date. The contents of the letter which the Daily Telegraph says the prime minister has written to Austen Chamberlain as leader of the Unionists, are not known, but it is said that the premier pointed out that there was only one leader of the Coalition, and that Mr. Chamberlain and not Mr. Younger, was the leader of the Conservative party. The general impression is that an election cannot be far distant, but there is still an alternative, namely, the resignation of the premier, in which case the King might call upon Mr. Chamberlain to form a cabinet to carry on the government. This government, in the general opinion, however, would have a short life.

DETECTIVES WIN SLANDER ACTION

VICTORIA, March 1.—A general verdict for the plaintiffs was the result of the second of the slander suits brought by the Victoria detectives dismissed from the service last year against Dr. Ernest Hall and Police Commissioner Joseph North, and as a result of that verdict today Dr. Hall is ordered to pay Ezra Carlow $1250, to Harry H. Macdonald $1000, and to Sam Siciliano $1000. An appeal is expected.

ARITHMETIC HELPS ALONG

Work Out Soldier Bonus on Service Basis and Compound Interest.

WASHINGTON, March 1.—The cash feature of the soldier bonus bill was practically eliminated today by the house ways and means committee while a plan was adopted for issuing "adjusted service certificates," which would bear interest and have value for security at banks. The value of this certificate, if held for maturity (20 years) would have a value of some three and a half times the cash bonus formerly proposed. The face value of the certificate would be the adjusted service pay of $1.00 a day for service in the United States and $1.25 for service abroad, minus $60 paid on discharge, increased by 10 per cent plus 4 1-2 per cent interest compounded for 20 years. The average face value of the certificate would be $330. The certificate would have an immediate loan value of 50 per cent of its face value.

BARBERS ASK RECOGNITION

TORONTO, March 1.—Requesting the drafting and passing of a bill to be known as the "Barbers' act," a deputation of barbers waited on Hon. Walter Rollo, minister of labor, today.

The proposed act will, if passed, provide for the examination of applicant barbers before a board to be appointed by the government. Applicants must also prove themselves free from all contagious and infectious diseases. Transfers from other provinces will be recognized.

FRANKLY WISH TO BE ALONE

Princess Mary and Viscount Lascelles Seek Seclusion for Honeymoon.

SHIFNAL, England, March 1.—The honeymoon of Princess Mary and Viscount Lascelles, who were married in London yesterday, will be spent in seclusion at Weston park, if their wishes are observed. They expressed great gratitude today for the tremendous display of good will at their wedding, but now they frankly wish to be left alone in their manor with its 11,000 acres of playground.

There is no formality in the mansion and there are no court attendants or relatives. There are only a few servants whose purpose is to make the seclusion of the royal pair absolute.

The interest of the villagers is most decorus and respectful. Last night there was a bonfire celebration in the village, but today the people of the countryside had fallen in with the wishes of the newly weds to be left alone.

CALGARY AND REGINA EVEN

Play Two-Game Series, Home and Home, to Break the Draw.

CALGARY, March 1.—Standing of Western Canada Hockey league as at March 1:

Team	Won	Lost	Pts.
Edmonton	15	9	30
Regina	14	10	28
Calgary	14	10	28
Moose Jaw	5	19	10

Regina's defeat tonight by Edmonton in the replay of a tie played previously in the season places Regina and the Calgary teams even for second place. To break this tie, Calgary and Regina play a two-game series, one game here on Thursday and one in Regina on Friday. The winners of this series qualify for a playoff with the Eskimos, winner of the league. These games in this series will be played on Saturday and Monday to allow the Western Canada Hockey league champions to play the coast teams next Wednesday.

Senators Suffer Defeat in Free Hitting Game in National Series.

OTTAWA, March 1.—St. Patricks of Toronto humbled the pride of the world champion Ottawas here tonight, winning a free hitting, hard checking game in the National Hockey league series 3 to 2. The victory was well earned and on the play the visitors deserved to win by a much larger score. At many stages of the play they had the Senators bottled up, but poor marksmanship spoiled numerous promising attacks.

SOLVE EGYPT'S CRISIS

CAIRO, March 1.—Since the return here of Field Marshal Allenby, the British high commissioner, the ministerial crisis has been solved. A new cabinet has been formed by Abdel Khalek Sarvat Pasha, who will take over the premiership and the portfolios of minister of interior and minister of foreign affairs. It is expected that negotiations now will begin looking to an agreement abolishing the British protectorate.

Though he lost a fortune through speculation, Francis Marion (Borax) Smith is retrieving it by mining borax.

ESKIMOS PUT CAPITALS OUT OF EXISTENCE

Capitals Hopelessly Beaten; Save Dates and Take Gruel.

EDMONTON, March 1.—Edmonton Eskimos entered the playoff for the Western Canada Hockey league honors tonight by defeating the Regina Capitols 11 to 2. The Eskimo machine was working at its best and after the first 10 minutes of play it had reduced the opposition to a state of disorganization, which left no doubt about the outcome of the game in the minds of the 6000 fans present. After the second period the Capitals realized they were helplessly beaten and apparently saved themselves for the games with Calgary Thursday and Friday nights. At any rate their play thereafter was purely defensive.

One of the outstanding features of the game was the play of the Eskimo substitutes who were in the game more than half the time. The four substitutes were prominent in the scoring of five goals. Winkler was almost unbeatable while Keats and Arbour played excellent hockey.

For the visitors, George Hay and Moran were outstanding players.

FIRE THREATENS MONTREAL CENTER

MONTREAL, March 1.—All fire fighting apparatus in the city was called tonight to combat flames in a block of buildings at Peel and St. Catharine streets, the heart of Montreal's shopping district. The blaze spread rapidly, threatening extensive damage. After three hours the firemen brought the flames under control, having succeeded in confining them to a large shoe establishment. The loss was not officially estimated.

AMAZING RECORD OF GENTLEMAN BURGLAR

PARIS, March 1.—Full details of the past of Serge de Lenz, the "gentleman burglar," are now available, and they make an amazing story worthy of the creators of "Arsene Lupin" and "Raffles." He belongs to a highly honorable family, who live in the Boulevard Bineau at Neuilly and figure in the annual reference book "Tout Paris," from which he took the names and addresses of his prospective victims. This elegantly-dressed and monocled burglar actually lived with his parents who, though he had given them trouble in the past, and had, in fact, been denied the house, were unaware of the double life he was leading. He had been taken back as a prodigal son, a position was found for him in the motor industry, and, to make things run smoothly, his father made his an allowance. But it was not sufficient to enable him to hire a motor car at 4000 francs a month, to frequent the most expensive restaurants, and to keep mistresses. So Serge de Lenz, in order to satisfy his expensive tastes became, to quote his own description of himself, "an aristocratic burglar."

His extraordinary career may well attract the attention of psychologists and criminologists, for he is a criminal of a new genre. Not only his appearance, but his speech and gestures convey the impression that he is a young man of ultra-refinement. And there is this peculiarity about him—he glories in the role he has played. With gusto he has told the police of his exploits, speaking of them as though they were achievements to be proud of. He has kept nothing back, even racking his memory to complete the list of burglaries he has committed. But he was silent on his past. The police have turned up his record. It is a bad one, dating from his youth. (In 1914 he was sentenced to 10 months' imprisonment for theft. In 1916 he was fined for theft and assault, and sentenced by a court-martial to five years' imprisonment for theft, desertion, forgery and falsifying passports. Again in the following year a court-martial sentenced him to two years' imprisonment for desertion. In this same year sentences of six months and three years were imposed upon him for theft. In 1920 he reappeared and was sentenced to three years and forbidden to reside in Paris for a period of five years, but was released on an amnesty bill being passed.

He made the most of his name in pursuing his career of crime. At Nice, Pau and Ostend he was to be found in the best circles, and when he disappeared jewels, objects of art and furs were missing. At one address in Paris two years ago two trunks filled with these articles were discovered. They had been stolen by Serge de Lenz, and it was for this theft that he received his seventh and last sentence, which he did not serve, thanks to the government measure of clemency.

Thenceforward the "gentleman burglar" led a gay life with his women, who included a negress. He even confesses to having robbed one of the women of the class with which he associated of her jewels, and confirms the statement that the total value of the articles he has stolen during his career is 2,000,000 francs. But he did not enjoy all the profits; the receivers of stolen goods got the lion's share. He has a grudge against them, and has given the addresses of several to the police. At the house of one woman who styled herself a comtesse, a large number of articles which the police suspect to have been stolen were discovered. She denies having received stolen property, and declares that she is a victim of the burglar. A jeweler indicated by De Lenz has confessed that he bought jewels, silver articles, statuettes, and bronzes from him. He has been arrested.

BOOSTS MINING POSSIBILITIES

Canada Veritable Storehouse of Minerals, Says Mining Institute President.

OTTAWA, March 1.—In the course of his address before the Canadian Institute of Mining and Metallurgy this afternoon, C. V. Corless, president of the institute, referred to Canada's enormous pre-cambrian areas surrounding Hudson's bay, as a veritable treasure house of minerals, where real prospecting had scarcely begun. This area included the nickel mines at Sudbury, silver mines at Cobalt and gold mines at Porcupine. Referring to the great precambrian area, which comprises 90 per cent of the province of Quebec, Mr. Corless predicted that enormous mineral treasures awaited discovery by "the thrifty people of this province."

Mr. Corless referred to the tremendous reserve in Canada estimated at 1,234,000,000 tons, or 35,000 times the present annual circulation. He pointed out that though Canada was spoken of as an agricultural country, only 15 per cent of the area of the Dominion was suitable for cultivation, while 90 per cent would undoubtedly produce great mineral wealth. He suggested that the mining industry should receive a larger share of government assistance.

the whole matter and had concluded it would not insist on a reduction of the navy personnel below 90,000.

Lord Birkenhead, who is perhaps the most powerful member of the Conservative party, and Austen Chamberlain, remained loyal to the premier. Lord Birkenhead, in public speeches denounced the tactics of Sir George Younger. A few days ago the premier had a frank talk with A. J. Balfour and Mr. Chamberlain, placing the situation plainly before them, and its result has been communicated by Lloyd George formally to Mr. Chamberlain, who is the nominal leader of the Conservative party.

According to the report, the prime minister's ultimatum is that either he or Younger must go, and the ultimatum is final.

ASKS EXTRADITION MEMBERS OF CREW

KEY WEST, March 1.—British Vice-Consul W. J. H. Taylor today received instructions to ask for the extradition to Nasseau, of members of the crew of the British schooner Lewis Brothers, in jail here in connection with the death of H. Chute, master of the vessel. The Lewis Brothers, although under British registry, is owned in Mobile, Ala., and the defendants are said to be all United States citizens.

The death of the master, which members of the crew said was due to suicide, occurred on the high seas. When physicians examined the body on the arrival of the vessel here, they announced the discovery of three bullet wounds, and the crew was placed under arrest. Legal opinion as to whether the United States or Great Britain had jurisdiction in the case has been conflicting here and United States Commissioner Knowles announced today he would make no move until he had received instructions from Washington.

DO YOU SMOKE TOO MUCH?

There are many men on whose heart and nervous system tobacco produces the most serious results. It causes palpitation, pain in the heart, irregularity of its beat, makes the hands tremble, sets the nerves on edge, causes shortness of breath, and loss of sleep.

To counteract this demoralizing influence on the heart and nerves there is no remedy to equal

MILBURN'S HEART AND NERVE PILLS

They make the heart beat strong and steady, restore tone and vigor to the nerves, and remove all the evil results caused by the tobacco.

Mr. Frank Lutes, 71 Terrace Hill street, Brantford, Ont., writes: "I had been troubled with palpitation of the heart for a number of years, and by spells it would bother me a lot. The doctor told me it would stop on me sometime if I did not cut out tobacco. When I would get a spell my heart would pound, and I would break out in a perspiration and get so weak I would have to sit right down and quit my work; also in the night I would wake up and my heart would be going, I should say, about 120 beats a minute. About three years ago I got a box of Milburn's Heart and Nerve Pills, took them, and found that they did the job. I am feeling fine and have gained over 20 pounds in weight."

WORN BY BEAUTIES

There seems no end to the possibilities of garters. I hear, for instance, that many Parisian beauties are wearing minatures of their lovers as center-pieces of the pretty buckle which adorn the hidden circlets.

Another secret, far less innocent is the custom among other women who utilize a little jewelled receptacle on the garter for carrying "snow," which, of course, spells cocaine.

ITCHING ECZEMA DRIED RIGHT UP WITH SULPHUR

Any breaking out of the skin, even fiery, itching eczema, can be quickly overcome by applying a little Mentho-Sulphur, says a noted skin specialist. Because of its germ destroying properties, this sulphur preparation instantly brings ease from skin irritation, soothes and heals the eczema right up and leaves the skin clear and smooth.

It seldom fails to relieve the torment and disfigurement. Sufferers from skin trouble should get a little jar of Mentho-Sulphur from any good druggist and use it like cold cream.

CEPTS CALL .. TO CRANBROOK

v. Mr. McKay to Be Inducted; Presbytery Would Enlarge Synod's Powers.

cceptance by Rev. E. W. Mc- of a well signed call to the orate of Knox church, Cranok, and preparation for his inction was an outstanding feature the resumed meeting of the sbytery of Kootenay in St. Paul's rch here yesterday. Rev. Mr. McKay has been in the field for the last nine months as stated supply.

Induction will take place on March 14, when Rev. M. C. Campbell of Kaslo, interim moderator, will address the minister. Rev. W. F. Burns, of Calgary, will address the congregation. The moderator of Presbytery, Rev. J. A. James of Creston, will preside and induct.

Committee Conveners

Many new committees were appointed, the conveners being:

Home mission and social service—Rev. Hillis Wright of Grand Forks.

Foreign missions—Rev. J. A. James of Creston.

General interests committee—Rev. A. M. O'Donnell of Trail.

Properties committee—Rev. M. C. Campbell of Kaslo.

Sunday schools and young people's work—Rev. J. Barr Stirling of Nelson.

Aged and infirm ministers and widows and orphans committee—Rev. W. F. Burns of Fernie.

College and students committee—Rev. Dr. J. T. Ferguson, D.D., of Calgary.

Life service committee—Rev. J. Barr Stirling of Nelson.

In connection with life service work it was pointed out that such work has not been organized in Kootenay, and that it was very desirable that some one should seek to influence young men and women about to begin the business of life to adopt some vocation in which they can give Christian service; or to influence young people to take practical Christianity into their every-day labors, and make their lives of service. Rev. Mr. Stirling as convener of the committee will endeavor to see that young people are brought into contact with some influence that will inspire them with a desire and direct them toward a life of service.

Rev. Mr. Stirling was also appointed to convey the greetings of the Presbytery to the Anglican Synod and the Methodist district meeting.

Favor Bi-annual Assembly

A lengthy discussion was held on the subject of the very heavy cost of holding the annual assembly, and on ways of reducing it. Two proposals were before the meeting, (1) that the basis of representation of one in six should be reduced to one in twelve; (2) that the basis of representation remain the same, but that the assembly be held bi-annually. The Presbytery ultimately decided in favor of the bi-annual meeting of the assembly with the basis of representation to remain as at present. At the same time it recommended an enlargement of the powers of synod to enable it to handle many matters that now have to go forward to the assembly.

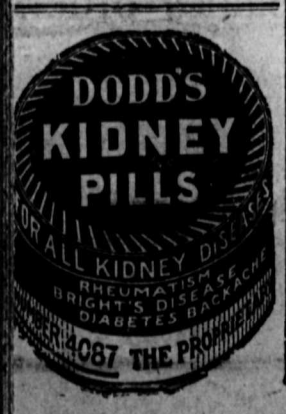
Rev. Hillis Wright of Grand Forks and Rev. D. W. Scott of New Denver were the commissioners appointed to attend the general assembly at Winnipeg in June. An elder from Grand Forks and one from Creston will be appointed by the congregations to attend also.

As convener of the home missions committee Rev. Hillis Wright presented the amounts necessary for the ensuing year. They were approved by the Presbytery.

Rev. A. M. O'Donnell of Trail reported on general interests work. Dealing with the spiritual side of the church's work, he made a strong plea for greater interest.

Rev. J. A. James of Creston reported on Sunday school and young people's work, showing there was a large increase in point of members and of interest.

The meeting adjourned in the afternoon, with the business completed. The remainer plan to leave this morning.



WOULD ENLARGE NELSON PLAYERS

Public Meeting Urges Inclusion of Operatic and Musical Departments.

As the result of an exceptionally well attended public meeting held in the Y. M. C. A. last night to discuss the formation of an operatic society in Nelson, a committee of five was appointed to meet the executive of the Nelson Players, a dramatic society, with proposals to extend the scope of that organization to include operatic and musical departments. Those appointed were Ross Fleming, R. V. Ramsden, F. Warner Smith, G. A. Brown and N. S. Houston. They will meet the officers of the Nelson Players, Messrs. A. W. Graham, Leslie Craufurd, R. W. Blanchard and Nelson Ball next week and if the proposal is agreeable will join forces to revise the constitution and bylaws of the Players to the needs of the vastly more ambitious aims of the proposed large organization. It, however, will carry on under the name of the Nelson Players.

Leslie Craufurd was delegated to the chair. Arthur Graham was appointed provisional secretary.

Mr. Craufurd sketched the preliminary formation of a proposed Philharmonic society, and reviewed the proposal sponsored by Ross Fleming to form an allied organization, an operatic society, the formation of which was open for discussion. He invited suggestions regarding the formation of a musical society.

As no tangible suggestions were given, Mr. Craufurd announced that the Nelson Players, an organization operating successfully and power to add to its numbers, and might, as the father of a new and larger organization, avoid clashing of possibly antagonistic societies, and duplication of effort.

Mr. Fleming voiced the opinion that the Players were not by their constitution able to cope with any supplemental program. It would be wise, therefore to appoint a committe to nominate officers of a more comprehensive organization.

Mayor C. F. McHardy spoke for a few minutes, urging unity of aim, and favoring Mr. Fleming's suggestion.

Mr. J. C. Bennett hit the needed keynote by suggesting an amalgamation of the proposed operatic and musical societies and the dramatic Players, a suggestion that Warner Smith carried further by urging that the two proposed societies join forces and amalgamate with the active Players.

Arthur Graham urged that an enlarged Nelson Players could have various branches, as dramatic, operatic and musical, with the power to operate more or less individually, but having the support of each other.

R. V. Ramsden, as sponsor of the Philharmonic society, and Ross Fleming as the proposer of an operatic society, decided in favor of amalgamation with the Nelson Players.

At this point Ven. Archdeacon Graham urged that the meeting get down to solid business, and moved the appointment of a committee to go into the matter of adjusting the constitution of the Nelson Players to the needs of a more comprehensive body of entertainers.

Those attending were: Ross Fleming, Mrs. B. J. Chevalier, Mrs. A. W. Nagle, W. S. King, R. Ramsden, N. B Bradley, Miss A. Sindel, Miss E. Thomson, Miss F. M. Graves, Mrs. N. B. Bradley, Mrs. W. J. VETERANS TALK UPON BUILDING

Ways and Means Committee Considers a Possibility; Sunday Concerts.

A meeting of the G. W. V. A. that packed the Dugout devoted itself almost exclusively last night to the building question, the point at issue being whether a certain building that might come into the market could be made the basis of a successful business undertaking, and, if that were assumed, whether the G. W. V. A. should consider making an offer to those interested. After a lengthy discussion, a committee was appointed consisting of A. Bush, E. P. Dawson, A. W. Davis, H. H. Currie, W. Swannell and H. E. Thain, to go into the question exhaustively. The session at which the question was considered was one of the ways and means' committee, and First Vice-President W. J. Sturgeon presided.

At the general session which followed, Secretary J. J. Currie reported that a series of Sunday afternoon concerts had been arranged, the Symphony orchestra and well known singers to give their services at the first one, and the City band to officiate at the second.

The hospital committee was reappointed for another two months, and the memorial day's committee was instructed to commence its work in reference to the observance of Ypres Day.

UNANIMOUSLY REJECT MUNICIPAL PRINCIPLE

WINNIPEG, March 1.—(By Canadian Press)—The principle of municipal school boards was rejected by an almost unanimous vote at the second day's convention of the Manitoba School Teachers' association. Sponsors of the resolution for the municipal boards claimed municipalities would benefit financially and in efficiency of administration, while school attendance would increase and the status of the teacher raised.

The provincial government, in accordance with the terms of a resolution passed, will be asked to enforce the school attendance act by the use of the provincial police.

Dr. H. M. Tory, of the University of Alberta addressed the convention on "Opportunities of Education." He deplored the growing tendency to seek money instead of more spiritual things. Canadians, he said, were too prone to judge the value of education by its financial return and not by the true standards.

T. Allison Glen was reelected president, and H. W. Coxsmith, secretary, and J. W. Seator, vice-president. All were returned to office by acclamation.

WAS TROUBLED WITH HER STOMACH FOR FIVE YEARS

Mrs. Samuel Ward, Millerdale, Sask., writes: "I feel that I must write to you before another day passes I am so happy and so grateful to your splendid medicine, Burdock Blood Bitters, for after an illness of five years I am better.

"I had stomach trouble so bad I could not bear the smell or taste of food of any kind, and got so thin and weak I could not work. I had four doctors attend me, but they did me no good. I was in no pain, but felt so ill at times I thought I would die in fact, all my friends were sure I could not live many weeks.

"This time last year I saw where a man was relieved of stomach trouble by Burdock Blood Bitters, so my husband got me two bottles, but I had no faith in it after all the different medicines I had taken. However, he insisted, and after the first two days I must say I began to feel better, and after the first bottle I felt so much better I went out a little every day, but could not go alone I was so weak, but I soon got so I could walk and eat, and have got quite stout.

I am nearly seventy years of age and I feel better than I have for years, and can now do all my housework.

"You may make use of this letter if you wish, as it may be the means of making others as well and as happy as I am."

PHEASANT PENS ARE ALLOTTED

Statistician King Estimates Possibilities at Twenty-seven Broods.

Thirteen English Ringnecked pheasants, imported from the coast, four of them being cocks and nine being hens, that have wintered pleasantly in Nelson in Howard Bush's care, are about to be distributed by the Nelson and District Rod and Gun club to permanent homes in the district. One pen of the birds has been allotted to Commander Smith at Crescent Bay, A. H. Green has agreed to take care of another at his place at Balfour, Major Budd and Mr. Mahood will jointly have the custody of a third pen, while the fourth has not yet been allotted.

It is figured by W. S. King, the club's statistician, that each hen pheasant, if the eggs are taken from the nest as soon as laid, will lay three clutches during the season. From these 27 clutches 27 broods may develop.

It is a certainty that there will be more settings of eggs than those having the custody of the mature birds will care to set, so the club wishes to hear at once from poultry lovers in different parts of the district who may be in a position to take settings and hatch them under hens.

A month or so after hatching the pheasant chicks will desert the foster parents and will take to the woods, where it is expected they will grow to maturity and the following spring raise broods of their own.

SMALL ARMS BLOW UP

QUEBEC, March 1.—A fire outbreak in the cartridge factory in the Cove fields in the rear of the Drill hall shortly after 10 o'clock tonight badly gutted the inspection building and caused the destruction of one million rounds of small arms ammunition.

The fire raged in the inspection building which contained three million rounds of ammunition. It was punctuated by a continuous series of small explosions as the cartridges burst by the heat of the fire.

Rebuilding Churches in France

While the Soviet government is reported to have taken steps toward seizing the property of all the religious bodies and sects in Russia, the French government is authorizing the issue of bonds to provide for the rebuilding of churches in the devastated area. Communism in Russia has sought to undermine the morale of the religious teachers, and yet it has hesitated, in face of the popular religious devotion, to raise a destructive hand against church or mosque or synagogue. It now knocks at their doors and asks for the alleged treasure which it has not hitherto dared to seize. The probability is that slight "treasure" remains; that there is little left to "lend to the Lord," as the archbishop of Novgorod has put it. The need gives the opportunity for forcing the hand of the sole organized body "that still stands out against the Bolshevist leaders" and that has held out hope of a better and a less brutal order.

In this connection the New York Times points out that in France religion came during the war, with its direct and comforting ministrations, not only to sorrowing and suffering millions in their homes, but even to those in the trenches and battles—priests and preachers and rabbis taking their place beside their parishioners. As a result, the institutions of religion have become dearer to the people who have been so often described as irreligious. It is a good augury that the French people are repairing their churches along with their homes and their schools. Three thousand churches rebuilt across France from Amiens to the Vosges will be the brightest sign of France's rehabilitation, for it will be a sign of spiritual as well as of physical restoration.

Dirigible Fatalities

The terrible catastrophe to the United States dirigible airship Roma with its attendant loss of life, brings home the fact that this is the third airship to be destroyed with a large death list in the last thirteen months. Air machines, despite the claims of overly enthusiastic scientists and others connected with the aviation industry are yet in the process of development.

Many improvements have doubtless been made in the last number of years and the war undoubtedly helped a lot in the perfecting of the various classes of heavier than air machines. The dirigible class, of which the Roma was one, has not been improved as much as the others and, consequently there seems to be more risk attached to the flying of these machines than to any other.

A dirigible airship is one suspended from a huge gas bag and in case of accident there is always the added danger of gas explosion. All of the air accidents which have occurred in the last few years have been machines of the dirigible class as the following list shows:

On August 24, 1921, the ZR-2, built by the British for purchase by the United States, at a cost of $2,000,000 exploded over Hull, England, killing 42, including 16 Americans.

On January 1, 1921, the R-34, which flew from England to Long Island and back in the summer of 1919, the first airship to cross the Atlantic, was wrecked in a gale while tethered outside her aerodrome in Howden, England.

Before the ZR-2 disaster, the greatest number killed in an airship accident in peace times was 28, the toll of the explosion of the German Zeppelin L-2 over the Johnnisthal aerodrome on October 17, 1913.

July 21, 1919—Ten lost when dirigible exploded at Chicago and fell in flames into the Illinois Trust & Savings Bank.

July 2, 1912—Five killed at Atlantic City when balloon Akron, in which Melvin Vaniman hoped to cross the Atlantic, exploded shortly after leaving the ground.

September 9, 1913—Fifteen lost in destruction of Zeppelin L-1 off Heligoland.

July 15, 1919—Twelve lost when the British airship N.S.-11 fell into the North sea after being struck by lightning.

June 20, 1914—Nine lost in collision of airship and airplane at Vienna.

SOME KNITTING AND CROCHET DIRECTIONS

A reader friend who signs herself "Engaged Girl" has written to ask me to publish directions for crocheting a man's silk neck-scarf for day or evening wear. And another of my readers wishes directions for knitting one of the old-fashioned "Rainbow" or "Roman" shoulder shawls. Although I cannot always promise to grant such requests, I am nevertheless very glad to print the following directions, which I just happened to have on hand.

Man's Silk Scarf—Buy 3 one-half-ounce spools of blacket crochet silk and 2 spools of white, same size. The scarf is worked lengthwise in shell stitch. Begin it by making a chain 44 inches long with the black silk (without stretching).

First Row—In 4th st. of chain make 5 d. c. * skip 2, 1 s. c. in next st., ch. 2, sk. 2, 5 d. c. in next st., repeat from * across chain until the work measures 43 in. without stretching; turn.

Second Row—ch. 2, 5 d. c. in last s. c. of previous row, * sk. 4 sts. of shell of previous row, 1 s. c. in last d. c. of shell, ch 2, 5 d. c. in next s. c. of previous row, repeat from *, always chaining 2 at ends of every row to keep edges straight. Repeat second row for the entire scarf. Make 13 rows of black, join white, make 2 rows of white. Join black and repeat these 15 rows in same manner until there are four wide stripes of black (lengthwise down the scarf) and 3 narrow stripes of white between the wide black ones.

Fringe—Wind white and black silk on a three-inch card for fringe and cut through at one end. Tie 12 strands of the two shades into chains of 2 across both ends of scarf.

"Rinbow Shawl"—In making this use the yarn double—1 thread of Shetland wool and one thread of Shetland floss always together. Buy 4 hanks of the white floss. Get the Shetland wool in the following colors: 1 hank light blue, 1 hank light pink, 1 hank light yellow and 1 hank white. Use 2 wooden knitting needles, No. 17. When open the shawl should measure about 40 by 72 inches.

Begin by casting on 100 stitches of white wool and white floss knitted together. Then knit the following colors always with a thread of the white floss no matter what color wool you are using:

Tomorrow—A Pot Roast Dinner.

All inquiries addressed to Miss Kirkman in care of the "Efficient Housekeeping" department will be answered in these columns in their turn. This requires considerable time, however, owing to the great number received. So if a personal or quicker reply is desired, a stamped and self-addressed envelope must be enclosed with the question.—The Editor.

No woman who visits Paris can resist the ornamental glove. Many of the stlyes are extremely elaborate, ostrich feather edgings, beads, and beautifully embroidered floral designs, to match the color of the gown, being a few of the fanciful ideas that are featured.

The more conservative styles, but extremely novel nevertheless, are trimmed with appliques of leather in contrasting color, or with perforated designs. That is a gray glove may have perforated cuffs through which a white kid underlay is visible.

Another novelty of the season is the miniature vanity case illustrated, which is clasped to the wrist, and contains compartment for powder, lip stick and change.

GRANITES GIVE AURA LEE SOX

Only Clever Goal Keeping Saves Worse Defeat for Auras.

TORONTO, Feb. 28.—In defeating Aura Lee in the first game of the two games series for the senior O. H. A. championship tonight by 6 to 2, the Granites clearly outplayed the losers in all but one department of the game—goalkeeping—and they justly earned the four goal lead that they take into Friday night's encounter. Had it not been for the display of Thompson in the Aura Lee goal, it is more than likely that the margin would have been greater as the red shirts' goalie turned away numberless shots that looked to be ticketed through.

Granites had more speed, checked better, broke quicker and were more deadly in their shooting than their opponents and they displayed more combination.

MINERS MEET TO SETTLE DISPUTE

SEATTLE, March 1.—Miners and officials of the Pacific Coast Coal company, which concern is operating mines at Black Diamond, Issaquah, Newcastle and Burnett, in the state of Washington, have organized a system of mine councils to take care of wage disputes and all questions arising between operators and miners, company officials here announced today.

Each mine, officials said, was represented by a council, made up of miners and the company's representatives, with a central council on which both sides were represented, meeting regularly in Seattle, for the final disposition of matters coming up in the mine councils.

LANDMARK BURNS

REGINA, March 1.—One of the historical landmarks of the Canadian northwest, the old territorial legislative assembly building, was early destroyed late last night by a fire which was first noticed shortly after 9 o'clock.

The buildings were erected in the early eighties. The destroyed part of the old buildings is Dr. M. M. Seymour's residence, the school of the feebleminded children's home, the kitchen, janitor's quarters and the supply room. Besides the buildings, which are badly damaged but not beyond repair, practically all the furniture was burned. The loss is estimated at $10,000.

EX-EMPRESS ZITA

The continued presence of the ex-Empress Zita in Switzerland is causing renewed anxiety throughout Danubian Europe, not excluding anti-legitimist circles in Hungary. What is feared is an attempt to place on St. Stephen's throne the infant son of Karl, Otta, a design long cherished by M. Friedrich and, it is believed, the ex-Archduke Joseph, who in that event would aspire to the regency. The Swiss authorities declare that all the movements of the ex-empress and her friends are closely watched and that any fresh escapade is out of the question. But the ambassadors' conference, none the less, is devoting a good deal of attention to the subject, and has felt constrained to issue another warning to both the Budapest and Vienna governments. The recent Austro-Czech rapprochement, supplementing the "Little Entente," should provide an additional safeguard against an Austrian restoration.

FUNERAL OF A SOCIALIST

The death of Sabastiano dal Bono, the noted Socialist leader, a member and president of deputies for Tuscany, Italy, has been lamented by Florentines, irrespective of parties. At one time a Communist, he later joined the Socialists and earned the respect of everyone. As the Syndic of Florence said in his speech at the funeral: "If many adherents of the diverse parties were as serene and prudent as this old man has shown himself to be, peace, which we are all striving hard to attain, would not be far off." "An organizer of the classes and a public administrator, Sebastiano del Bono lived and died a poor man. I give no higher praise," said the prefect.

On the afternoon of the funeral, January 5, shops were closed, and some four thousand people followed the hearse through the crowded streets in perfect order and silence to the muffled music of the railwaymen. As a counsellor of the commune, it was fitting that "the just man" should be honored by the Syndic in the name of Florence; but many old citizens rubbed their eyes to see both prefect and syndic as pallbearers, and the banners of cany and Florence, this last esc by the ushers of the commun mediaeval costume, worn only o ficial occasions, closely followe the red flag.

SLOCAN FARMERS EXCHANGE STRONG

Successful Year Is Reviewed; Widening of Scope Is Earnestly Advocated

SLOCAN CITY, March 1.—The annual general meeting of the Slocan-Kootenay Farmers' exchange was held in the Odd Fellows hall, Slocan City, on Friday, with the president, C. S. Brockington of Kochs, in the chair. The meeting was numerously attended.

President Reviews Year

In review of the year's operations, President Brockington said:

"The past year has been one of marked progress. There has been a large influx of new members, 33, and our total membership at the end of 1921 being 145, the business transacted has been correspondingly greater.

"Last year's annual statement was made up to Jan. 31, 1921, and included 13 months, whereas this year's is made up to December 31 last, covering a period of 11 months only. During this period the exchange handled 11 cars of flour and feed, and two of hay, the turnover being $13,988.00. The great reduction in the cost of feed is another point to bear in mind in considering these figures.

"Our balance in hand, $710.22, though not very large, is satisfactory, as it must be remembered the exchange exists chiefly for service to its members, rather than for profits, and considering the tremendous amount of work involved, I think you will concede that the members are getting a splendid return on their investment.

"The exchange, however, is on a sound and healthy basis and under capable management its success is assured. Having now 'turned the corner' it is destined to fulfil the purpose for which it was established. So far, its main efforts have been centered on the purchasing of supplies at 'wholesale rates,' which has been of considerable benefit to the members.

Large Operations

"In addition to Perrys, carloads of feed and hay have been distributed at Passmore, Winlaw and Slocan City, with an appreciable saving to the members at those points. But even in that direction, the buying of supplies, much remains to be done, and although the service is getting gradually better, there is ample room for improvements yet, and we should not be satisfied with less than the best obtainable.

"The collective buying, however, does not compare in importance to the 'selling end' of our project, the marking of our produce.

"That there is a market for practically everything we can raise in this valley, is unquestionable, and with an efficient organization, there is no reason why we cannot successfully compete with other districts. But in order to do so, collective selling in wholesale quantities is absolutely essential.

"We are getting over the pioneering stage a bit now, and before very long we certainly ought to be in a position to handle in sufficient quantities for this purpose. This is an agricultural valley, which will compare favorably with any other valley in this province, and its future depends entirely on what the settlers make it.

"In order to secure contracts for the supply of farm produce, we must be in a position to guarantee their fulfilment. Up to now this has been our chief difficulty, and unless the members by their own cooperative efforts determine to remedy this state of affairs, then I am afraid the exchange is powerless to solve it. Just as soon as the members are in a position to offer produce in wholesale quntities we are confident the exchange will be able to find markets for it.

"We have now members scattered almost throughout the valley, and I suggest that it would be worth while trying at the different points to see if anything can be done this year in the matter of collective marketing. In the Slocan Park district by way of a start, we intend to make an effort to sell potatoes in car lots. For this purpose we hope to purchase 'Certified Seed' through the exchange, for distribution, keeping to one variety only. So that next year we shall have sufficient seed of our own to grow in larger quantities. Perhaps with a little initiative on the part of one or two members other points could be induced to take this up in a similar manner, we can grow just as good potatoes in this valley as anywhere else, and market in car lots just as readily.

Egg Circles and Creamery

"Egg circles, too, should be organized, and in various other ways it might be practicable to link up for marketing on cooperative lines, thereby ensuing, not only better prices, but cash returns for our produce. It might be advisable to have a small committee of say three members, headed by the director representing this district, to work in close touch with the central executive.

"We may not be quite ripe for a creamery yet, although doubtless the whole valley is producing milk in sufficient quantities. But here again is an abject worth keeping in view. An up-to-date creamery owned and operated by the farmers themselves, would prove a valuable asset to the exchange and a distinct attraction to this valley.

"Notice of motion to reopen the question of a further call on shares, has also been given and you will probably have an opportunity of fuly discussing same. As the building of a warehouse depends upon your decision in regard to this matter, its importance will readily be understood. Before making another call, your directors considered it good policy to take the members into their confidence, and obtain an expression of opinion from them for their guidance.

"The exchange was conceived on broad and equitable lines, that is, equal rights and benefits to all its members, consistent with safety and practicability and permit me to emphasise the desirability of keeping it as near that basis as we can."

In concluding, Mr. Brockington acknowledged the support of the other directors during his year of office more particularly, perhaps Messrs. Downey and Hamilton, the finance committee, for their close attention to this end of our business, and the work of E. J. Powell, the secretary.

Directors Elected

The annual report and accounts were adopted.

The election of directors was then proceeded with, resulting as follows: Slocan City, R. G. Warner; Perrys Siding, G. Hamilton; Appledale, A. Lelen; Winlaw and Lebadho, J. Stenson; Vallican and Passmore, E. Jamieson; Kochs and Slocan Park, C. S. Brockington; director at large E. W. Dawney.

R. G. Warner inquired whether it would be possible for the exchange to obtain a stud horse from the department of agriculture for use of the members, but he was informed that to do so would necessitate the formation of a live stock association for the purpose.

On motion of A. Cant and E. W. Dawney, the shareholders adopted tots the bylaws incorporated in the Cooperative Association act of 1920.

J. Stenson of Lebadho, then brought forward his motion, of which notice has been given, "That the resolution passed at a special general meeting held on Dec. 9, 1921, postponing the consideration of the building a warehouse and making a call of $5.00 per share be rescinded." This was seconded by E. W. Downey of Perrys and carried unanimously.

A. Cant of Appledale moved "that the directors be instructed to make a call on the shares to improve the financial standing of the exchange," and after considerable discussion the following resolution was moved by A. T. Nicholls of Slocan Park

"That the directors be instructed to make a call on the shares of $10.00 payable as to $1.00 per month commencing on March 1, 1922, for the building of a warehouse at a point to be decided not exceeding $500.00 and the balance to be used for working capital." This was seconded by H. L. Fife of Slocan City and was carried.

Warehouse at Perrys

Considerable discussion took place upon a motion by A. T. Nicholls of Slocan Park to the effect that a warehouse be erected at Perry Siding, subject to the freight rates being pooled. This was seconded by H. L. Fife of Slocan City and was carried, subject to certain conditions, a scheme for this to be evolved by the directors and the secretary, such scheme to be given a trial for six months.

It was also moved by A. Cant of Appledale "that a special general meeting be held in six months time at a point down the valley to be decided by the directors." Seconded by P. Schonberg. Carried.

A vote of thanks to Mr. J. Stenson of Lebadho the auditor, for his services, closed the proceedings and the adjournment was moved by E. W. Dawney of Perrys.

Among those present were: J. Graham, C. S. Brockington, E. W. Dawney, A. Smith, A. T. Nicholls, G. Soncey, H. Terry, J. Hatfield, H. L. Fife, P. Schonberg, W. H. Saunders, M. Patterson, J. FROM JELLY FISH TO MODERN MAN

Interesting Resume of Humanity's Rise From Prehistoric Nebulous Nothing.

(By Nazariene Daan Kannibedle)

When my nurse first explained to me that the Milky Way was really a multitude of worlds, every one of which was much bigger than our own, I remember that I felt a wretched little worm. As a matter of fact, she was not a nurse at all—we did not rise to such luxuries—but a slatternly "general," whose knowledge of astronomy was rather limited. The point, however, is that somebody told me about the Milky Way; that I felt small; and that my only consolation was that I was a worm, the young man with whom our "girl" walked out, and whom I cordially detested, was not such a very big beer after all.

It is strange how one recalls these little incidents. This one was brought back to my mind by the perusal of a little book entitled "Everyday Life in the Old Stone Age," by Marjorie and C. H. B. Quennel. If astronomy makes you feel a worm, anthropology induces that jellyfish feeling of humility which makes you wonder how you ever had the cheek to be born.

Of course, there is another side to the picture. If man, as Mr. Wells once put it, is merely a fuss in the mud, if he is simply a parasite on one of the tiniest planets of a limitless universe, yet he can count the stars, tell you at what moment three thousand years hence Mercury will butt into the orbit of Saturn, or indulge in some such preposterous escapade, and even tell you the particular brand of cabbages that are growing on the moon. Undoubtedly man is a fine fellow. He can do much more than this, but I did not realize it at the time, and even now, when I look up at the stars, I always want to creep into a corner and kick myself.

The Rise of Man.

The study of our own world, however, contains little compensation for personal vanity. Even on our own dunghill we have no particular reason to crow, and the few years which we spend in this earth are only a grain of sand on the foreshore of time. With lots of luck I may live to be a hundred, although I doubt it very much, and, indeed, have no particular ambition to exceed the allotted span. But let us assume, for the sake of argument, that I will have elapsed since the dawn of the Christian era—twenty times my poor quota—and score the century. Two thousand years or so no less than 28,000 years since man began to roam the earth. It is a sobering thought. Twenty-eight thousand years ago the Stone Age started, and before that science can take us back through the Mesozoic and Palaeozoic ages to the time when the lightest form of animal life was a jellyfish, countless years before the beginning of what we know as time.

After the jellyfish came the ordinary fish, then the amphibians, and after them the reptiles. During the reptile period England was an archpelago, the islands of which were their present mountains. Dublin probably was at the bottom of the sea. Then the mammals began to sit up and take notice. They developed through the Eocene, Oligocene, Miocene and Pliocene periods, and after the first glacial period had passed man made his debut.

Pithecanthropus.

The earliest man of whom we have evidence is Pithecanthropus, or the subman of Java. He was a very fearsome person, indeed. Just thirty years ago a French professor found the roof of a skull, two molar teeth, and a thigh bone at Trinil, in Java. The remains were discovered in river deposit of the Pliocene, or early Pleistocene period. Pithec appears to have been a cross between a human being and a gibbon. The brainpan was bigger than that of any ape, and about two-thirds of that of the average modern man. The shape of the thigh bone indicates that he was able to walk upright, but his teeth are those of a monkey. He probably was able to talk after a fashion, and may have lived in a tree. Whether he was, or was not, able to make use of implements is not known, because the gentleman who was found in Java unfortunately neglected to leave us the lightest evidence of his habits. However, Pithecanthropus lived on the earth for quate a long time, and probably had his joys and sorrows like the rest of us. For how many thousands of years he flourished I cannot say, but his face suggests that he was a hardy type.

The next of our ancestors was the Piltdown man. He was an Englishman, although he hardly looks it. His other name is Eonthropus, but we need not worry about that. We probably should never have heard of this distinguished forebear but for an accident. In 1912 some men were digging in a pit for gravel when they came across a skull. They apparently were callous individuals, for they promptly smashed the skull and threw it way. A Mr. Charles Dawson came into possession of a piece of it, and, being an anthropologist, became tremendously excited. He rushed away to Piltdown—which is somewhere in Sussex—and instituted a thorough search for the rest of the skull. Parts of it were found, and also a lower jaw and a canine tooth. From these scanty fragments the Piltdown man was reconstructed. Experts assert that he lived in the early Pleistocene period, and a few thousand years before 25,000 B. C. So you see he lived quite a long time ago!

The Piltdown Man.

Mr. and Mrs. (or is it Miss?) Quennell tell us all sorts of interesting things about the Piltdown man. He was not such a bad-looking fellow, if looked at quickly, and is certainly much more handsome than Pithecanthropus. He has quite a good forehead, and his brain capacity is about equal to the smaller human brain of today. The sticking out of his jaws give the face what is known as a "prognathous" character, but you can figure that out for yourselves. The skull is pretty tough—about 12 millimetres thick, compared with the average "modern's" six millimetres, and the inference is that Eo used it for quarrying fints to make his implements. He also was right-handed, although how they discovered that from a couple of skull fragments, a jawbone, and a canine tooth is a mystery to me.

The Piltdown man's best-known contemporary was the sabre-toothed tiger, who was a ferocious-looking beast. Our ancestor was an expert in the use of flint, so he probably was able to defend himself all right. He also was proficient in the wielding of the thigh bone of an elephant, which must have come in quite useful at times. Of his other habits we know nothing. He may have discovered how to make fire, as many of his flint instruments have been found, and sparks may have been produced by accident.

After the Piltdown man came the Strepyan man, whose tracks were discovered at Strepy, in Belgium. He also used flints for scraping fat off the skins of the animals he killed, and the bark off pieces of wood, which he fashioned for his use. He used a flint-topped spear on the banks of the Somme, where his descendants amused themselves a few years ago with tanks, and his chief companions were two enormous elephants, a hippopotamus, a "rhino," Piltdown's old friend, the tiger, and a horse. He was a meat eater, and probably trapped his prey by guile, much in the same way as the natives of British East Africa trap theirs today.

Strepyan was a distinct advance on the Piltdown variety; but more advanced still was the Chellean man, so-called because his remains were found at Chelles, on the Siene. In England a skeleton was found in 1888 at Galley Hill, in Kent, which experts declare to have belonged to a member of the Chellean species. The skull is very thick and the chin is quite modern. "It may well be," says our authority, "that here in England in Chellean times the men were developed who in the end became homo sapiens. Chellean men had quite a useful implement called a boucher, or hand axe of flint. This implement is found in every continent except in Australia, a fact which suggests that the Chellean civilization was widely distributed. The Chelleans had more or less the same contemporary animals to deal with as the Strepyans, and probably used the pitfall as a trap."

More Modern Types.

Now we take a long step forward. Hitherto we have been dealing with people who lived 25,000 B. C.; our next friends flourished between this date and 16,000 B. C. The Acheulean man is known principally by his instruments, many of which we found in the subaeiral deposits on the terraces of the Somme. The mammoth also begins to appear at this stage.

The mammoth was not so large as E. antiquous (the elephant to whom reference has been made), and closely resembled the existing Indian elephant, except only the tusks, which are very long and curved. Its teeth were more adapted for eating coarse grasses than the foliage of trees. The country was becoming barer and bleaker, and trees were scarce. Its curved tusks, perhaps, acted as hay rakes, and helped to gather up food. Its warm coat and thick skin, with a layer of fat under, protects it from the cold weather. We know all about it, because whole carcasses have been dug up in the frozen Arctic regions with the flesh, skin and furry coats, protected through the age in the ice and snow in which they were embedded."

Prehistoric man up to this point was a nomad and a hunter of sorts. He had flint tools of the most primitive kind. And the Chellean variety had an active brain. This is about all we know; the rest is conjecture.

The Cave Dwellers.

The Mousterians, however, were much more like ourselves and we know—or rather the people who wrote this book know—quite a lot about them. They drifted into cognizance about 20,000 B. C., at the end of the fourth glacial period, just about the time when the Sahara was changing from a fertile grass land into a sandy desert.

They lived in caves, and are the original cave dwellers of whom we have heard so much.

"We will start," write our authors, "by considering the Mousterian man. In 1907 a skeleton was discovered in a cave on the banks of the Sourdoire, a tributory of the Dordogne, in the district of La Chappelle Aux Saints. Let us at once point any evidence of people burying their dead in a place of sepulchre. The Piltdown man and his cousin of Java just dropped in their tracks, were brought down by the river currents, settled into the mud, and were covered up by gravel. In the case of the man of La Chapelle Aux Saints it is evident that he had been buried with care and, perhaps, love. Flint implements were laid ready to his hand for use in the hunting grounds of the spirit world, and food for his sustenance. Think of the difference and regard is at a notable step up the ladder of civilization."

In 1857 a specimen of the Mousterian was found in a limestone cave at Neanderthal, in Germany. Huxley recognized him as human, and when the man was found at La Chapelle his identity was definitely established. He had a good spear as his chief instrument, had very long arms, and, probably, loped along with his head to the ground like a hunting animal. He almost certainly was a cannibal, and his civilization was about as a par with that of the aborigines of Australia. He probably believed in a future existence, and the sun, moon and stars gave him cause for wonder.

"We never can know much about the poor Mousterian, because at the end of the fourth glacial period he became extinct in Europe. He had done as much as was possible for him. His large head, with the thick frontal bones, must have been very good for butting a brother Neanderthaler, but it was no use against the stone wall of advancing civilization, and, like the Tasmanian and bushman, the Red Indian and Australian of nowadays, he fades out of the picture, and his place is taken by a cleverer people."

16,000 B. C.

There are the Aurignacians, who appeared in the upper Palaeolithic period in the vicinity of 16,000 B. C. They were of three types—the Cio-Magnum, the Combe Capelle and the Grunaldi men. The first were over six feet high, the last about five feet five inches, and of a negroid appearance. They were clever folk, and made great improvement in the Mousterians' tools. They were the first people to make use of bone. They ate horses and reindeer, of which the great Irish deer was the finest specimen. They also knew how to draw, and probably used some kind of artificial light. Their drawings, which have been discovered in caves in Spain, are excellent, and depict mammoths, bison and other animals of the day. Their women folk also learned to adorn themselves with wolves 'teeth and ivory bracelets, while the men hunted with the bow and arrow.

MORE MEN THAN WOMEN HAVE APPENDICITIS

Medical reports show men are more subject to appendicitis although many sudden cases occur among women. It can be guarded against by preventing intestinal infection. The intestinal antiseptic, Adler-i-ka, acts on BOTH upper and lower bowel, removing all foul, decaying matter which might cause infection. It brings out matter you never thought was in your system and which may have been poisoning you for months. Adler-i-ka is EXCELLENT for gas on the stomach. Rutherford Drug Co., Ltd.

FAVORED STOCKS MAKE ADVANCES

React Sharply in Final Hour of Sessions; Confirm Hopeful Conditions.

NEW YORK, March 1.—Stocks favored by professional traders made further appreciable advances in the early stages of today's active session, but reacted sharply on the heavy selling in the final hour, little or nothing remaining of their 1 to 3 point gains. Dealings expanded, especially in steels, equipments, oils and shippings.

Motor and food specialties were the strongest of the miscellaneous group.

Sales amounted to 935,000 shares.

Weekly trade reviews confirmed current reports of more hopeful conditions in the basic industries. Advices from Pittsburg and other iron and steel centers indicated a pronounced increase of product in the last half of February.

Settlement of March 1 interest and dividend payments was effected without disturbance to the money market. Call loans opened and held at 4¾ per cent until almost at the finish, when the rate advanced to 5 per cent. Time loans maturing today were renewed for the shorter period at 4¾ per cent but offerings of longer dates were scarce.

Foreign exchanges were irregular, sterling demand bills rising to the new high of $4.44, but reacted 1½c later.

MONTREAL LIST

MONTREAL, March 1.—The trading on the local stock market continued broad and active today. The greatest gain of the day was in Sherwin Williams preferred which advanced 5 points to 95, while Ogilvie Flour also added 5 points to recent substantial gains, closing at 200.

The papers furnished the day's heaviest loser in Howard Smith, which was off 3 points to 68 on a single sale.

A feature was the movement of Dominion Bridge which closed at 68, up 3 points net.

Trading in bonds developed on the largest scale since January 21 last. The price trend was irregular and within narrow limits.

TORONTO BOARD

TORONTO, March 1.—The majority of active stocks in today's market list registered declines, the result of the inevitable profit taking during the process of a broad upward movement. Losses were of fractional proportions for the most part, but Brazilian experienced a period of weakness and in a heavy turnover lost 1⅝ points. Barcelona also closed 1½ down from the previous sale. Larose provided the feature and responded to the stimulus of the 10 per cent. dividend declared at Montreal and moved up 9 points to 63 in a turnover of 6300 shares. There was an exceptionally heavy demand for Victory bonds, but prices remained fairly steady.

ARREST PRINCIPALS MONTREAL BROKERS

MONTREAL, March 1.—Excitement was at fever heat today at the local offices of the Friedman Marketson & Co. (later A. J. Deschamps), whose principals were yesterday arrested in New York on a charge of alleged larceny of $250,000 from Mr. Deschamps. Clients and employees here were told the business had been suspended temporarily.

J. Maguire, local manager, said today he could not estimate within a million dollars the volume of business which the firm is carrying on account of clients in Montreal.

LLOYD GEORGE AND OLD AGE PENSION

Some years ago Mr. Lloyd George was discussing with a Trade Union deputation the suggestion of old-age pensions at sixty, on the assumption seek retirement. Speaking for himself, that at that age a man ought to he said to the deputation: "I am approaching that age-limit myself. I shrink from the idea that I shall be an old doddeded only fit for a pension of $2.50 a week when I am sixty years old. The idea in this resolution certainly seems to be that I ought to be put upon the shelf on reaching that period of my life, and for that reason alone I am not in the least inclined to be a sixty-year-age man for the purpose of the old-age pension."

"No one will be inclined to dispute the undiminished vitality of Mr. Lloyd George, but there may certainly be some who will maintain that his compulsory retirement at sixty would be no bad thing," observed the London Morning Post.

DEATH FROM FEAR OF DEATH

A curious case has occurred of a Berlin criminal, who narrowly escaped the block, being condemned to death by his own fear of it. He was Karl Koppe, a clerk, 30 years of age, who with an accomplice, enticing women into the woods, strangled and robbed her. Under American law he would in any case have been condemned to death, but the German code is more merciful in this respect, and the verdict was manslaughter. Koppe, however, somehow contrived to eavesdropping at the door of the jury's retiring-room, and misunderstood the foreman's reading to his colleagues of the decision arrived at. Thinking that he was to be condemned to death, he collapsed, and within twenty-four hours died from heart failure.

BRINGING UP FATHER

By George McManus

MRS. ELVA CAULKINS

"I have gained thirty pounds since taking Tanlac and never felt better in my life than I do now. Mother says she hasn't seen me looking so well since I was a girl," said Mrs. Elva Caulkins, 303 Blandina St., Utica, N. Y.

"For eighteen long years I suffered from stomach trouble and sluggish liver, and during all that time I hardly knew what a well day was. As I almost starved myself trying to avoid indigestion, I fell off until I was hardly more than a shadow and was so weak was barely able to drag myself around the house. As a result of my long suffering I became almost a nervous wreck.

"This was the condition I was in when I started taking Tanlac, but today I am strong and well, feeling and looking like a different person from what I did a short time ago. It is no wonder to me that so many people praise Tanlac to the skies."

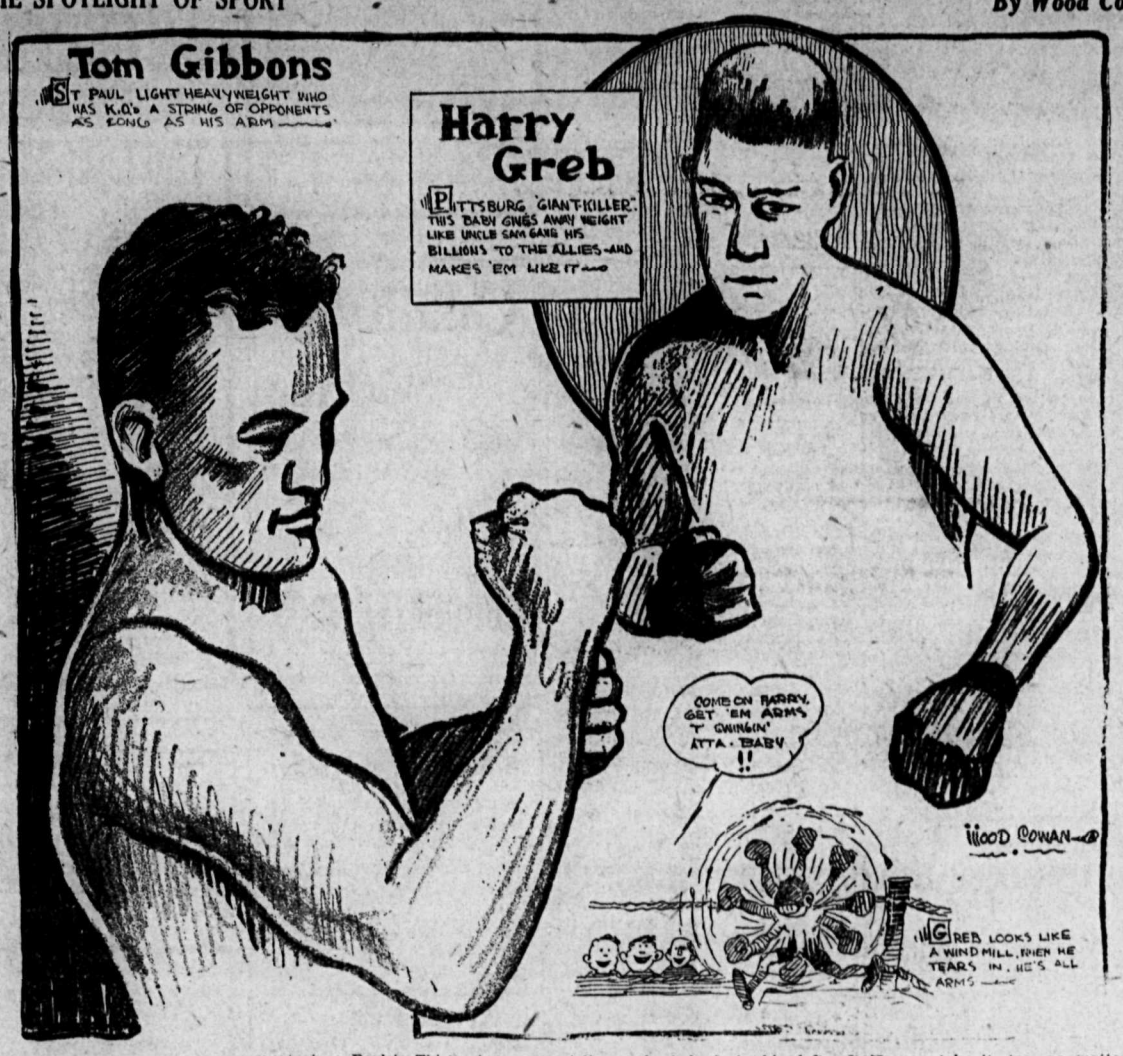
Tanlac is sold in Nelson by the Canada Drug & Book Co., and by leading druggists everywhere.

Rotterdam is largely a transit port.

News of Sport

IN THE SPOTLIGHT OF SPORT

By Wood Cowan



When Tom Gibbons, the St. Paul light-heavyweight, and Harry Greb, the Pittsburgh "Giant Killer," step into the ring March 13 in New York City, it will be the greatest fistic event since Boyle's Thirty Acres saw the downfall of the best that Europe could send against us.

Tom Gibbons, as every fight fan knows, it a younger brother of Mike. Tom weighs 175 and is 30 years old.

Gibbons has been coming along fast—scoring 21 knockouts in 24 battles, in 1921. Among his victims are Tony Melchoir, Al Reich, Willie Meehan, Hugh Walker, Paul Sampson and Clay Turner. In all his ring career he has had close to 70 fights and claims that he never lost a decision.

He is a fast, excellent boxer, possessing a punch in either hand—especially a short hook in his left. It doesn't travel far—just a few inches, and is delivered from the waist. He has Mike's old way of just making the other fellow miss—and never being out of position to hit back.

But no matter how good Gibbons is, he'll have a tough time winning from this Harry Greb person.

Greb is the clown of the ring. That applies only to his style of fighting, however. Harry's arms go around, sideways, in and out, in every conceivable way, at top speed from gong to bell. How he is physically able to keep it up for 15 rounds is a mystery. He can take it, too—no matter how fast they come, he doesn't seem to hesitate for a second.

Weighing around 163, Greb has beaten such giants as Weinert, Gunboat Smith, Brennan and Bob Roper. He was K. O.'d once, in more than 300 fights. Joe Chip did that, nine years ago. Though only 27 years old, Greb has been fighting since he was 18. The winner of this match will earn the right to meet Gene Tunney, the light-heavyweight champion. And the victor of that event will fight Carpentier for the world's light-heavyweight crown.

GRAYSON WINS DOG DERBY IN RECORD TIME

Cuts Out Distance With Morgan's Famous Team in Just Over 24 Hours.

THE PAS, Man., March 1.—(By Canadian Press)—Bill Grayson, driving C. B. Morgan's famous dog team, today set a new mark for mushers to shoot at, when he romped home an easy winner of the fifth annual dog derby in the new world's time of 24 hours 51 minutes for the 200-mile course. The dogs all arrived in excellent shape.

Grayson established another record in the fact that he won the northern dog classic for the second consecutive year, his time in 1921 being a little over 32 hours.

T. Dupas, driving the Dupas-Bancroft outfit, put up a creditable performance after his recent illness, and crossed the line 36 minutes behind Grayso. Dupas was full of praise for the victorious team when he arrived and commended the driving of Grayson.

One hour and a half elapsed before Solomon Cook with one of his animals being carried in the sleigh, crossed the finishing line.

Favorite Runs Fourth

His time was given as 27 hours 2 minutes. Nine minutes later Sam Pranteau, the famous Indian racer who set a gruelling pact early in the race, came in fourth with two dogs exhausted. Pranteau, who was a strong favorite, drove hard for the first 44 miles, according to Grayson, but slowed up and allowed the winner and Dupas to pass him. It was expected that Pranteau would set a hot pace, and experts were skeptical about his ability to maintain it. The Indian was undaunted, however, and clung doggedly to the two leaders when they pulled into the turning point, and was apparently fresh and willing to force the pace on the return, Grayson said.

Crowds See Finish

The finish of the derby was witnessed by a great crowd and when Grayson pulled up at the winning post they crowded around his dogs. The dogs rolled around in the snow but jumped to their feet at a word from their driver and started off briskly for their stables and a good meal. Mr. Morgan was present to see his team come in victorious and wrung the hand of the driver. Grayson stated that he did not force his dogs until the last 45 miles, when he passed Dupas. He did not use his whip. Had he forced them he would probably have made an hour or even two better time. He fed the animals three times on minced meat and tallow half cooked into balls weighing half a pound each. Grayson was the first driver to reach Camp 11, the turning point, and rested there for an hour. Lumbermen lined the course at the various camps, and cheered on the drivers and dogs. Dupas and Grayson passed and repassed each other several times during the trip and watched one another the whole way.

The prize money was awarded the successful racers at the community building by President Burt this evening.

APPROVE BOXING COMMISSION

MONTREAL, March 1.—The executive committee of the city council has decided to recommend the establishment of a boxing commission for Montreal. It is proposed to forbid any exhibitions where professionals are engaged unless sanctioned and governed by the rules of the committee. Fights up to 15 rounds will be permitted.

BENNY LEONARD INJURES HAND

NEW YORK, March 1.—Benny Leonard, world's lightweight boxing champion, may not be able to enter the ring for at least six weeks because of an injury on the back of his right hand.

This information was given late today by Billy Gibson, the champion's manager, to Frank Flournoy, matchmaker for the Madison Square Garden sporting club, who had tentatively arranged to match Leonard and Charley White of Chicago in a bout here on March 17.

Leonard first injured his hand, Gibson said, while training for his recent bout with Rocky Kansas. The injury was aggravated, he explained, when the champion struck Pat Moran a hard blow on the head in the first round of their bout at New Orleans last Saturday night.

JOHANNESBURG MINERS STRIKE

Leaders Choose Moderate Language; Little Damage Done on Railway.

LONDON, March 1.—(By Canadian Press Cable)—The northern suburbs of Johannesburg were lighted tonight for the first time since the power house staff renewed their strike a few days ago. The supply of current was gradually increasing under the direction of a volunteer staff. An additional force of 2000 police have been drafted to maintain order among the striking gold miners. At a strike demonstration today strike leaders delivered speeches couched in moderate terms.

Dynamiting is increasing in some districts of South Africa, Reuter's Johannesburg correspondent states. Eight heavy explosions occurred today, five on the power line. Little damage was done, however. An attempt was made on the railway line, near Apex station, while other attempts at doing damage were reported on the water line at Benoin. There was a serious affray at Bokosberg, where some strikers were killed and a police officer and two men were wounded.

The police are urging the proclamation of martial law in the affected areas.

RESCUE ENTOMBED MINERS

GRASS VALLEY, Cal., March 1.—Three miners entombed at the 1000-foot level of the Idaho-Maryland gold mine here were rescued uninjured tonight after having been buried for 14 hours. The men were not affected and proceeded to the surface without aid.

Fire insurance losses fell greatly during the war.

THINKS SIX METHODISTS CAN HANDLE RAILROAD

Interpreting a recent sermon by Rev. J. P. Westman as a direct hint that the only hockey players in the city are Methodists, the C. P. R. hockey six became peeved, and yesterday railroaded Pastor Westman into a store on Baker street to listen to a real hot challeng to prove his veiled hints. Nothing daunted, the reverend hockey fan was there with the goods, and trotted out a lineup that he confidently believes will whip the raolroaders tonight at 6:30.

The lineup will be:
