WAR OF HATE AND AMBUSH STILL ACTIVE

While Thousand Pay Respects to Dead Leader There is Tragedy

MAIN FIGHTING IN FIELD OVER

Mulcahy Will Have Work Cut Out to Suppress Minor Outrages

DUBLIN, Aug. 27.—With imposing military honors the body of Michael Collins, Ireland's warrior statesman, was borne this evening through the streets of Dublin and placed on a catafalque, before the main altar of the great cathedral, where tomorrow morning a solemn mass of requiem will be celebrated for the repose of his soul.

Sunday's total suspension of civic activities permitted the people to render unrestrictedly the homage they so wished to render to the memory of their beloved leader. Not from the metropolis alone, but from country districts nearby, there streamed to the city hall, where the body lay in state, thousands to gaze upon the features of the man to whom, more than any one else, the people had looked for a peaceful settlement of Ireland's woes.

Pray for Peace.

They came by train, by donkey cart, by jaunting car and on foot; they choked Dublin's streets, yet, without disorder, formed in line, awaiting their turn to enter the cathedral and pass before the coffin of their comrade who had given his life in the cause of the Free State. They knelt before that coffin, beneath the flickering candles, and prayed for the eternal happiness of Michael Collins, and for the advent of peace in their unhappiness.

The war of hate and ambush goes on.

Today's newspapers reproduce a striking portrait of Collins from a painting made by Sir John Lavery, as a memento of the signing of the treaty between Ireland and Great Britain. He is sitting with folded arms, his handsome, intellectual face in repose, his manner debonair.

Underneath are printed details of what the news editors call "Dublin's latest shock" sensation. Here is the incident in brief:

Auto Captives Struggle.

It is the tragedy of the Yellow lane, a peaceful suburb of Dublin, where last evening young people and children were playing. Suddenly from the city appeared a large open automobile, traveling swiftly. Seven or eight men were passengers and some or them seemed to be struggling. The car stopped a few hundred feet down the lane and a man got out and went to a gate leading to a field.

The struggle in the car became violent. Two men weer trying to get away, but were held and were carried to the gate. They were moaning and protesting. One was heard, by witnesses to cry out, "But what is it for?"

They were given a few moments for prayer and then were held against the stone pillars of the gate. Their captors drew revolvers and shot them through the head and heart.

That is what little Irish children saw yesterday while the whole nation mourned for Michael Collins.

Main Fighting Over.

There are ambushes and sniping where innocent civilians, including women, were wounded. The main fighting in the field is over, but the sudden attack on Bantry, southwest of Cork, on Friday by a force of so-called rebels shows that the revolution is still in progress and that Richard Mulcahy, the new leader, has much to do before it can be said that peace and order have been restored.

CALCUTTA, Aug. 27.—The around-the-world flight attempted from Croydon, England, May 24, by Major W. T. Blake, has been abandoned. Major Blake, together with Captain MacMillen and Lieutenant Mallins, who continued the flight when Major Blake was obliged to remain in Calcutta on account of illness, will return to London soon.

Well-Known Inventor Flies With Passenger in Motorless Plane

FUNDA, Germany, Aug. 27.—Anthony Fokker, the Dutch airplane inventor, today established a new record for the world in motorless aviation by remaining in the air 13 minutes with a passenger in a biplane constructed by himself. Fokker made evolutions in the air during his test as daring as those made in a power-driven machine.

Elected Managing Director of Saskatchewan Company

REGINA, Aug. 27.—When asked to confirm the report from Moose Jaw that he was to take James Robinson's place as managing director of the Saskatchewan Cooperative Elevator company, J. B. Musselman, secretary of the Saskatchewan Grain Growers' association, said:

"It is true I have been elected to succeed Mr. Robinson as managing director of the Saskatchewan Cooperative Elevator company and that necessitates my retirement from the secretaryship of the Saskatchewan Grain Growers' association. My resignation has not been sent in and cannot be until there is a meeting of the board."

WESTERNERS WANT RIGHT IMMIGRANTS

Stiplate for Competent Farmers; Bar Settlement in Colonies

OTTAWA, Aug. 27.—(By Canadian Press)—Hon. Charles Stewart, minister of the interior and immigration, returned to Ottawa this afternoon after an extended trip through he wesern provinces regarding matters concerning his two departments. While in the west, Mr. Stewart took up with the provincial governments the matter of cooperation with the federal government in the bringing of immigrants to Canada and distributing them on the land where they are most needed to become producers. The views set forth by the western governments will be placed by Mr. Stewart before his colleagues of the cabinet subcommittee on immigration and also before the cabinet as a whole.

Regardless of Origin

As a result of the conferences between Mr. Stewart and the provincial authorities, it is expected that new immigration regulations designed to meet the wishes of the provinces will be formulated by the government. These regulations may be made under the Immigration act by the governor-in-council. The west is demanding immigrants, regardless of where they are brought from, with two conditions attached to the demand, it was learned on Mr. Stewart's return. One of these conditions is that they must be people who, regardless of the country from which they immigrate, also will go on the land and be competent producers. The other condition is that wherever they come from they must not be brought to Canada and settled in colonies.

HOBO KING LOSES OUT ON WAGER

Marriage License Gives Away Identity; Drops $38,000 in Bets

SEATTLE, Wash., Aug. 27.—Captain J. J. Roche, said to be a veteran of the Canadian expeditionary force, spent $38,000 on a marriage license here yesterday. At least the revelation of his identity through the marriage bureau is said to have lost him a wager of that amount, entered into with wealthy New York clubmen acquantances some time ago.

Roche, who has a studio in Greenwich village and a winter home in Florida, wagered that he could beg his way from New York to Florida and Los Angeles and Alaska and Toronto and such scattered cities. His transportation was to have cost nothing and his food and pocket money was to have been begged or earned at odd jobs.

Marriage Gives Name Away

Most important of all, he was to remain incognito. But when he met his fiancee, Mrs. Alice Jordan, in Seattle, he insisted that they be married and gave his address to the authorities, 88 Roxborough drive, Toronto, which happens to be his birth place. It took newspaper men 24 hours to discover his identity and when congratulations started to reach him from New York he realized that his wager was lost.

He traveled under the name of "Hobo King."

Half Counted Returns Show Sweden Against Prohibition Measures

STOCKHOLM, Aug. 27.—With half the returns having been counted, the total shows a vote of 550,753 against prohibition and 432,663 in favor of it.

FRENCH STRIKE POLITICAL NOT TRADES UNION

Troops Clash With Strikers at Havre; Casualties on Both Sides

AT ALL COSTS WILL SUPPRESS OUTBREAK

Divert All Vessels From Port; Printers Only Ones to Break Tension

HAVRE, Aug. 27.—There was further fighting today between strikers and troops when strikers made an attack on mounted gendarmes and mounted police in the Rue Clovis, near the Franklin club, about 5:30 o'clock this afternoon. Numerous persons on both sides were wounded, but the fighting was not as serious as that of Saturday night, when at least two persons were killed and many others injured.

Prior to today's fighting 20,000 strikers marched to the forests of Mount Jion, two miles from the city hall, where they pledged themselves to continue the strike and demand the release of their leaders who are under arrest. Six persons were taken into custody last night and 16 this morning. They include, Quesnell, secretary of the metal workers' union, and three representatives of the recently formed general labor federation. As the original General Labor union was found to be too conservative, a number of the Communist committee from Metz has come to follow the strike movement.

Government Firm

The strike is now regarded officially as having become a political instead of a trades union question and the government has decided to suppress it at all costs.

The only break in the strike was the return of the printers last night, which enabled the local newspapers to make their appearance this morning.

The ship owners are attempting to get the dock workers to return to their jobs. They have offered to guarantee them their present scale of wages for three months. This scale gives the men an average of more than 30 francs daily, and 38 francs for work on Sundays and holidays.

The dockers rejected the scale, Quesnell, the metal workers' leader, commenting on the wage offered the dockmen, compared it to the 12-franc minimum scale of the metallurgist, which, he said, is too low.

All vessels coming to Havre have been diverted.

Trembles When Sentence Given

HONOLULU, Aug. 26.—Broken and trembling, unable to stand without help of his friends, John Guild covered his face with his hands and wept as sentence of not less than five years nor more than 10 years on each of two charges was passed upon him in a crowded court room today. He pleaded guilty to both charges. One accused him of embezzlement of $37,500 from Alexander & Baldwin, sugar growers and shippers. Directors of the company stated Guild's speculations as secretary may total $1,000,000. A second charge was embezlement of $29,000 of funds entrusted to him as treasurer of the Protestant Episcopal church corporation of Hawaii.

The sentences are to run concurrently. Guild was started prisonward as soon as sentence was passed, less than five days after directors of the company announced the shortages had been discovered.

Citizenship Within the British Empire Should Be Canadians' Highest Aim

VICTORIA, Aug. 26.—The highest aspirations of Canadians would be citizenship within the British Empire, Rt. Hon. Arthur Meighen, former premier of Canada, told members of the Sons of Canada at a dinner here tonight. "I do not stand for the Empire because of any superficial or visionary sentiment, but because of the practical utility and the good to the world which accrues from our association with the commonwealth of British nations," Mr. Meighen said.

EMPRESS OF RUSSIA DUE.

VICTORIA, Aug. 27.—The Empress of Russia, with passengers and cargo from the orient, will dock in Victoria Monday morning.

All of Ambush Party Killed or Wounded in Desperate Engagement

QUEENSTOWN, Ireland, Aug. 27.—A party of seven British artillerymen under Captain Kennedy from Bere island, in Bantry bay, landed Friday from a launch at Castletown to draw pay for the troops on the island. They had proceeded only a short distance when they fell into an ambush by rebels.

Fierce fighting ensued and all the ambushing party were either killed or wounded. Captain Kennedy and most of the members of his party also were wounded, some of them seriously. The object of the attack is believed to have been robbery.

REBELS ATTACK FREE STATERS' POSTS IN CORK

Easily Beaten Off With Heavy Loss; Twenty Are Killed in Ambush

CORK, Aug. 27.—The citizens of Cork listened throughout the night from midnight until early morning to intensive machine gun and rifle fire, followed by several bomb explosions and counter rifle firing.

The trouble was due to an attack by rebels on Free State posts in the city, including College road, the former police barracks, the customs house and the Bandon station, which is being used temporarily by the Red Cross. The attack was concentrated from the southeast side of the city. The attacking force was driven westward, but with what casualties it is unknown. Four men were made prisoners. The troops in Kerry were also the obect of an attack. The rebels were easily beaten off. The rebels suffered heavy casualties, at least 20 of them having been killed in an ambush near Killarney at a place called Filedown-Glenflesk.

At Nenagh, county Tipperary, a mine was exploded under a lorry containing Free States troops. Three of the Nationals were killed by the explosion and several were wounded in the firing which followed. Reinforcements successfully engaged the attacking party and made several prisoners, some of whom were wounded.

LLOYD GEORGE WRITES BOOK FOR CHARITY

Intends Profits From Memoirs Shall Benefit Sufferers From War

LONDON, Aug. 27.—Premier Lloyd George has made it known that all the proceeds of his forthcoming book will be devoted to charity. There has been much criticism in certain sections of the press over the propriety of a head of a cabinet writing in book form his memoris containing official information, while he is still in an official capacity, and making money thereby. It was in reply to this that Lloyd George authorized a statement which says:

Account of Great Struggle

"There have been a large number of articles and pamphlets, books published from time to time, containing criticisms of his (the premier's) direction of the war, some of them written for obvious partisan reasons and promulgated by partisans hostile to his government. These publications contain distortions of fact calculated to mislead the public. The prime minister feels impelled, therefore, to publish at the earliest moment his account of the great struggle.

"He already has made considerable progress with writing his story and means to devote some part of his holiday to further prosecution of the work. The prime minister feels unable to take any personal advantage for himself out of the story of the struggle and suffering of the nation during the great war and intends that whole profits of his book shall be devoted to charities connected with the relief of suffering caused by the war."

Saxons Take Strong Measures to Prevent Inroads of Foreigners

BERLIN, Aug. 27.—A sharp outlook is being kept along the Saxon frontiers in an effort to prevent the province from being "sold out" to foreigners, the government of Saxony having adopted stringent measures designed to check the wholesale exports which have been prevalent recently. The steps are aimed chiefly at Czech traders who are taking advantage of the latest increase in the value of the crown. In the Zitta district roads leading to the border have been barricaded with wire and all vehicles are being closely searched.

RESOLVE TO CARRY OUT IRISH PACT

Colonial Secretary Wires Sympathy for Loss of Leaders; Faith Firm

HERITAGE IN IDEALS ALSO IN INSPIRATION

New Government Head Asserts Unswerving Constancy to Program

LONDON, Aug. 27.—Winston Spencer Churchill, secretary for the colonies, last Thursday telegraphed William T. Cosgrove, acting head of the provisional government in Ireland, as follows:

"I take the earliest opportunity in this hour of tragedy for Ireland and of intense difficulties for the Irish provisional government, of assuring you of the confidence felt by the British government that the treaty position will be faithfully and resolutely maintained."

"The death of two of the principal signatories, the retirement of another and desertion of the fourth, in no way affects the validity and sanctity of the settlement entered into with the plenipoentiaries of the Irish nation. On the contrary, we are sure that the provisional government and the Irish people will feel it all the more as a sacred duty to carry into full effect that act of renunciation between the two islands.

"For our part, we hold ourselves bound in the treaty basis, and will meet good faith with good faith and goodwill with goodwill to the end."

Mr. Cosgrove replied as follows:

"My colleagues and I acknowledge with deep appreciation your message of sympathy in this second tragic loss from our councils and of your unshaken trust in the final achievement of all that the dead leaders stood for.

"Men of the heroic mould of General Collins or of the creative power and rock-like steadfastness of President Griffith are not given to any nation in profusion and when under providence they have done their part in life, those who survive and follow after them have not merely the heritage of unfinished work, but a fuller heritage in ideals, in inspiration and driving force.

"President Griffith and General Collins had selected and attracted the wholehearted cooperation with them of a number of colleagues, some of whom you have met. The government so formed has stood, as you know, with unswerving constancy to the program of carrying into full effect, in accordance with the declared will of the Irish people, the treaty which was entered into between our plenipotentiaries and recommended by President Griffith and General Collins, as offering the fairest hopes to our much tried people. We, the colleagues, have the same faith and stand by the same policy and, though overwhelmed with sorrow, take up the same task with the same determination and confidence."

DE VALERA IS CONVALESCING FROM WOUNDS

Recuperating Near Scene of Collins Ambush; Fighting at Blarney

CORK, Aug. 27.—Eamonn de valera is convalescing from wounds in a house near Bandon, according to what is considered authentic information. He was recuperating at a house at Bealnablath a few miles from Macroom, the scene of the Collins ambush, but later shifted his quarters.

Intense fighting has taken place in the Blarney district following bomb and rifle attacks against the National positions in hotels in the village and the famed Blarney castle grounds. The Nationals suffered minor casulties.

Since Thursday the rebels are reported to have lost 12 killed and many wounded in repeated attacks in this area.

CRANBROOK IS BIDDING FOR STEEL WORKS

Claims Interior City Is Logical Site; Enormous Iron Resources

VICTORIA, Aug. 26.—Cranbrook is the logical place for any large steel works established in British Columbia, according to statistics which have been laid before Premier Oliver by Cranbrook persons.

Cranbrook, the premier was told, has on its seat the vast coal resources of the Crow's Nest Pass and on the other side enormous iron resources. Lying between the two, it is the one ideal place for a steel mill, Cranbrook people declare.

Information to prove that the idea of an iron and steel industry in British Columbia at present is impracticable, also has been laid before the premier by business men. According to the premier's information it would be impossible to market profitably the output of a big steel industry. They point out that the pig iron manufactured in China undersells in Seattle pig iron manufactured in the United States in spite of a duty of $4 a ton against it.

Shortage of Coal Compels Ford to Close Up Works

DETROIT, Mich., Aug. 27.—One hundred and five thousand employees of the Ford Motor company throughout the country will be without jobs after September 16.

In addition, several hundred thousand other workers employed in industries furnishing materials for the Ford plants will be affected.

Henry Ford gave these figures Saturday in announcing that his three big motor plants located in Detroit suburbs and his assembling plants throughout the country would close on that date because of the coal shortage.

Blow to Detroit

The announcement was the most severe blow that industrial Detroit has sustained since the industrial depression of two years ago. It means, according to Mr. Ford, that 75,000 men employed in the Highland Park, River Rouge and Dearborn plants of the company here will be without work. Thirty thousand others now working in the various assembling plants scattered throughout the entire country also will be thrown out of employment.

How long the machinery in the Ford plant is to be stilled will depend entirely upon the coal supply on the future, the Detroit manufacturer said.

The price of steel and other materials entered into the decision to suspend operations, Mr. Ford said, adding that he had received notice of an advance of steel prices, to be made shortly.

Industry Must Surrender

Industry in the United Staets must "throw up its hands in surrender" within a few weeks if the rail and coal strikes continue, Mr. Ford declared.

Mr. Ford held financial interests responsible for the industrial tieup, declaring the "money barons" were manipulating the labor unions, and that public officials, state and national, were impotent in the crisis. The deadlock in strike negotiations indicated, he declared, the existence of "a plot to unload the demoralized and rundown railroads onto the government at their own price and to mulct the people through excessive coal profits."

NO TRAIN MOVEMENTS.

ROODHOUSE, Ill., Aug. 27.—No trains have been moved out of Roodhouse over the Chicago & Alton road lines since 5:45 last night, when the company officials manned a train that left for Bloomington.

Chicago & Alton employees who have refused to take out trains, declaring conditions have been "unsafe," had a meeting here today and this meeting was still in session at a late hour.

NORTHCLIFFE'S LAST WILL TO BE CONTESTED

Ownership of London Times Involved; Three Caveats Against Probate

MAY BE SCRAMBLE FOR SHARES IN THUNDERER

Testator of Unsound Mind When Second Will Executed Is Argument

LONDON, Aug. 27.—The ownership of the London Times, and the policy of Lord Northcliffe's leading newspapers were questions which dominated today's newspapers. Incidentally it was learned that there is to be a contest over Lord Northcliffe's will and three caveats have been entered against its probate. It now develops that Lord Northcliffe made two wills, one dated March 22, 1919, and another shortly before his death, of which Lady Northcliffe is the sole executrix.

Recalls Walter Interests

The admitting of the will to probate will put an end to speculation concerning its contents. There are those who believe that Lord Northcliffe took steps to perpetually dominate the policy of the Times by some sort of organization similar to the Cecil Rhodes trust or the Rockefeller foundation. It is agreed that if Northcliffe's shares in the London Times are disposed of in open market, there will be a scramble like that of 1908 when Harmsworth, by his strategy, barely nosed out Arthur Pearson as a successor to the Walter interests who controlled the newspaper for a century.

The Express asserts that Lord Northcliffe's estate is estimated at £4,000,000, on which heavy death duties must be paid. This will likely compel the trustees to dispose of certain of his interests and, therefore, it is anticipated that control of the Times will eventually pass into other hands.

Holds Up Administration.

An interesting turn was taken in Lord Northcliffe's affairs by the entering of three caveats against the admission of the will or the granting of letters of administration to the Northcliffe estate. This will prevent the administration of the estate until the persons entering the caveats have been heard. Assurances to the caveats were made by Henry Arnholz, Lord Northcliffe's solicitor, and an old friends, and by Sir George Sutton who was chairman of the Amalgamated Press. Arnholz and Sutton are executors and trustees of the will of March 22, 1919. Lord Riddell's News of the World is authority for the statement that just before his death, oNrthcliffe executed a will of which Lady Northcliffe is sole executrix.

Issue Writ of Summons.

A writ of summons has been issued, thus begining a suit to decide which of these will shall be adopted. The first will is being put forward on the grounds that Lord Northcliffe was of unsound mind when the second will was executed and this is the question that must be decided by the court if the case proceeds. The News of the World asserts that the probating of the will have more than a private interest, for upon its decision depends the ownership and policy of the whole Northcliffe press.

Austrian Chancellor Has Scheme to Avert Financial Collapse

VIENNA, Aug. 27.—A brief statement was issued today by Dr. Ignaz Sepel, the Austrian chancellor, on his return from Veerona, Italy, where he conferred with Signor Schanzer, the Italian foreign minister, on Austria's financial and economic straits.

The statement concludes with the announcement that Dr. Sepel is in a position to make concrete proposals to the government which will preclude the immediate collapse of Austria, which has been felt to be inevitable. The nature of the proposals were not disclosed.

Dr. Sepel's new plan will be published when it is presented to the main committee of parliament next week.

NURSE THINKS NOTHING BETTER

Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound Advised for all Women in Poor Health

Toronto, Ontario.—"I took Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound for years and it is the only patent medicine I ever recommend. I am a nurse and if I find a woman is in poor health I always tell her to take it. Although you know that doctors and nurses do not use patent medicines I must say that I think there is nothing better than your Vegetable Compound. When I first took it many years ago, I was so tired when I got up in the morning that I could not eat, and when I went to bed I was too tired to sleep. My mother-in-law told me that Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound was just what I wanted so I tried it and only took two bottles when I felt better. Since then I have found that there is nothing that makes me feel so well, for it seems to build my system right up. I don't know any other medicine that has done so much for women."—Mrs. W. H. PARKER, 19 Wellesley Ave., Toronto, Ontario.

Women testify again and again that they have been helped by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound "after other medicines have failed." It has been tried for nearly fifty years and not found wanting.

If you are suffering from any of the various ailments which accompany female weakness try Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

REPARATIONS COMMISSION SEEKS DELAY

Playing for Time in Hope of Avoiding a Dividing Vote on Moratorium

PARIS, Aug. 27.—In a strong desire to reach an unanimous decision on Germany's request for a moratorium, the reparations commission this morning found a pretext for further delay by resolving to invite Germany again to be heard before the commission on Wednesday. Meanwhile the members of the commission will consult together in the hope of avoiding a vote which will divide it.

Not Yet Unanimous.

The members of the commission met at 11 o'clock today and sat until 1 p. m. The delegates expressed their views on Germany's request of July 12 for a three years moratorium. Semi-official declarations later showed that unanimity has not been reached except on the point that the present uncertainty should not be prolonged and that a decision of the reparations commission should be rendered at the earliest possible moment, Wednesday, if possible.

Thus the commission now has two days before it for unofficial efforts to find the formula upon which it can agree unanimously. The representatives of Germany, if it is decided to accept the commission's invitation, will be heard Wednesday, so that a decision will be forthcoming from the commission Wednesday at the earliest.

Sir John Bradbury, the British member of the commission, does not expect a decision to be handed down before Thursday.

Irish Armored Car Sprays Republican Lair With Bullets

BELFAST, Aug. 27.—Two hundred British soldiers are searching the mountains of South Armagh on the Louth border, for Republican fugitives.

The new policy of guerilla warfare carried out by the rebels is causing Dundalk sleepless nights. Following an attemt to seize a motor last night, armored cars came into action and the Irregulars fled. After midnight an attack was made by the Irregulars on guard at the Great Northern railway station. There was machine gun, rifle and revolver firing which created a din which was heard all over the town. An armored car sprayed a section of territory outside of Dundalk, believed to be a Republican liar, with bullets.

Expect End of Strike in Nova Scotia Shortly

SYDNEY, N. S., Aug. 27.—The general strike of Nova Scotia coal miners is likely to be over by the end of the present week, observers say.

Sentiment in favor of accepting the new wage scale negotiated here Friday night between the British Empire Steel corporation and the executive of district No. 26, U. M. W. A., seems hourly to be gaining strength in the coal fields, according to late reports reaching Sydney from many quarters.

It is not denied that there are many "diehards" among the strikers and that the voting on Thursday is likely to reveal opposition of considerable strength, but competent observers believe that at least 75 per cent of the vote will favor an immediate settlemen.

An insurgent move in opposition to a new pact organized during the weekend by a section of Phelan local, petered out this afternoon and lent additional strength to the advocates of the new wage pact.

Official represenatives on both sides reported all quiet tonight in the strike area, and all hands marking time awaiting the outcome of the referendum on August 31.

DELIVERS FATAL BLOW IN QUARREL

PRINCE GEORGE, B. C., Aug. 26.—John Thibault, city pound keeper, died here this morning of injuries said to have been received at the hands of Joe Ross, an Austrian.

The two men had a row yesterday, in the course of which Ross is said to have beaten Thibault over the head with a club. The trouble is presumed to have had some connection with the management of the city pound. Ross had the job last year. He has been arrested.

LOOK FORWARD TO LABOR DAY

WASHINGTON, Aug. 27.—Organized labor groups have every reason to congratulate their memberships with the coming of Labor day 1922, because of the industrial and political solidarity of working people, because of the failure *of employers to bring about wage re*ductions and because of determination within themselves to push forward, Samuel Gompers, president of the American Federation of Labor, declares in an address to be published in the forthcoming issue of the American Federationist.

"It is safe to say that the full volume of wage reductions since the armistice, if averaged up and spread over the working population, would amount to less than 5 per cent," Mr. Gompers says, adding that "this is a stark defeat for employers. It is a magnificent victory for the workers; there are no terms strong enough to describe the importance of this great victory for labor."

Haitian Grafters Decline to Quit Without a Fight

PORT-AU-PRINCE, Haiti, Aug. 25.—The recent attempt to shoot Eduard Mangones, the mayor of this city of 150,000 people, followed within 24 hours by either the suicide or murder of the city receiver, has created a sensation unusual for Haiti. The resort to firearms, together with tales of a mystery car with three gunmen operating at night, are now symptoms for Haitian politics. In the past crimes of violence were usually accomplished by the secret use of poison or other methods. Since the occupation there have not been more than six murders, and what may prove to be a crime wave is an unusual manifestitation.

Creates Consternation

Absolutely unknown in a century of Haitian local government is the determined campaign of Mayor Mangones, backed by the influence of President Borno and the American-officered gendarmerie, to prosecute local officials charged with a shortage of funds, falsification of tax receipts, and graft. Mangones, a man of means, an aristocrat and a business man, has created consternation among the politicians.

Last May he forced the resignation of the communale receiver for a shortage of $5000 in his accounts, the receiver claiming that his safe had been robbed of that amount three months before, although he had not reported it. Following that three officials were arrested for alleged falsification of tax receipts to the extent of several thousand dollars. Then came an investigation of Ludovic Monplaisir, director of cemeteries who had long been a partisan adherent of Mangones. In the course of it Monplaisir tried to shoot Mangones, seriously wounding one of his personal cabinet, Edmond Millet.

Mayor Is Relentless

The following morning the dead body of the new receiver, Clement Denize, was found. Whether his death was due to murder or suicide has not been established. Reports of a mysterious automobile complicated the situation, and gave rise to the theory of murder as part of a planned campaign of intimidation by the mayor's enemies. On the other hand an investigation of Denzine's office had been ordered for the following day by Mangones.

Mangones has gone relentlessly on, whatever the truth of the Denize mystery may prove to be, and the Americans and other foreigners are delighted at this evidence of a growing civic responsibility. For more than a century local graft and malfeasance have been winked at, but Mangones, a man of personal courage and honesty, promises a continuation of his campaign.

"LO" THE POOR INDIAN EMPLOYS WHITE LABOR

OTTAWA, Aug. 27.—"Lo" the poor Indian, is having a little of his own back on the western reservation this year, due to the splendid crops in Saskatchewan. On one of the reserves, visited by Mr. Stewart, minister of the interior, during the past couple of weeks, the minister found the Indians with such splendid crops that one of them was employing white harvest labor from the east to help him save the crop. This rather unusual state of affairs was creating some amusement in the neighborhood of the reservation, which is in the File hills section of Saskatchewan.

Railway Labor Board to Consider Case of Maintenance Men's Pay

CHICAGO, Aug. 27.—The hearing of the wage increase pleas of approximately 400,000 maintenance of way men tomorrow by the United States railroad labor board was declared tonight by E. F. Grable, head of the trackmen, to be one of the most important matters which has ever come before the board.

"The maintenance of way employees," he said, "have remained at work since July 1 under the actual assurance by the original framers of the Transporttaion act that they would be able to secure a living wage under provisions of the existing law.'

The proceedings tomorrow will determine this point.

"What makes this the most important case that has ever come before the board, therefore, is that in the course of these proceedings the board must face and, I think, accept the principle of the living wage if it is to follow out the intent of the law and if its decisions are to be equitable and just and meet the human needs of the railway workers."

Exhibits Relics of Two Great Singers at Swedish Museum

STOCKHOLM, Aug. 25.—(By Associated Press.)—Costumes and other relics of the two Swedish nightingales, Jenny Lind and Christina Nilsson, will be displayed along with a collection of other treasures of theatrical history in Sweden's first dratamic museum, which will be opened during the latter part of August. The collection is being installed in the historic old Royal theater in the castle of Drottningholm, which was patronized nearly 200 years ago by King Gustaf III., a famous protector of drama and the arts.

Among the interesting stage "props" that delighted the gallery gods of the 18th century and have been stored away ever since in the mouldy vaults of the castle are a dust-covered set of ocean waves and a couple of chariots, with clouds attached, for the exclusive use of the gods of Olympus. The picture collection which includes stage settings, costume plates, portraits, etc. covers the theatrical history of various countries, and with respect to certain periods of French history is the most complete in the world. The theater itself and the stage machinery will be restored to its original character.

Jenny Lind, it will be remembered, is the singer who gave music in America its first great impetus, when she appeared at Castle Garden, New York, in 1850, under the management of P. T. Barnum.

Even Graven Images Feel Severe Effect of London Weather

LONDON, Aug. 25.—(Associated Press).—The outer walls of the houses of parliament are crumbling. Hundreds of carven images, mostly of imaginary royal figures, have been unable to withstand the ravages of the weather, combined with the smoke-laden London atmosphere. They suffer also from the lack of respect shown them by hundreds of pigeons which roost on the sceptres and sharpen their beaks on the noses of kings.

Scarcely a day passes but a monarch's hand or toe falls into the Palace yard. Not long ago a king's head *was found in fragments on the ter*race.

During the coming recess scaffolding will be erected and many workmen employed, at a cost of £11,000, picking off the loose bits. Thus may one man in a day uncrown scores of kings.

Sir John Gilmour, who represents the government department that looks after public buildings, is of the opinion that none of the kings or other distinguished folk will be allowed to stck it out much longer on the outer walls of parliament. "I think the day will come before long," he says, "when all the statues will have to be taken away. The situation does not agree with them."

FRANCE LOSES DREADNOUGHT ON THE ROCKS

Warship Founders in Quiberon Bay; Reduces Naval Ratio

NAVY IS NOW ONLY EQUAL TO ITALY'S

Would Cost 200,000,000 Francs to Replace Ship Which Cost 40,000,000

PARIS, Aug. 26.—The loss of the dreadnought France, which foundered on the rocks of Quiberon bay Saturday morning, reduces France's first naval line by one-seventh of its fighting strength and places the French navy on an equality with Italy's. It will be long before former superiority can be reestablished, as the dreadnought, which cost 40,000,000 francs to build, will cost about 200,000,000 francs to replace at today's prices.

Captain Guy, commanding the France, was completing his final voyage. He had been slated for promotion to rear-admiral. Captain Guy commanded a torpedo flotilla in these waters during the war.

British Collieries Expect Demand for Coal From Canada

LONDON, Aug. 27.—(Associated Press)—A question of immediate practical interest, raised in England by the United States demand for British coal, is that of the capacity of the British mining industry to meet the demands with the least injury to the requirements of other customers.

The pressure continues to increase, and it is estimated that the American requirement will soon approximate 100,000 tons a day. The tonnage already taken up, however, does not justify that estimate, for the fixtures reported since the boom began represents a dead-weight capacity of between 600,000 and 700,000 tons only.

Must Reckon With Canada

A circumstance to be reckoned with is the advent of Canadian business. There are many indications of shortage in the supply of bituminous and anthracite coal from the United States on which Canada, under normal conditions, depends exclusively, and in the event of a continuancy of the coal and railway difficulties in the United States, a strong demand for large supplies of English coal from Canada will doubtless soon have to be reckoned with. Coincident with the inquiries from America, there is a growing demand from Germany and the Scandinavian countries for Northumberland, Durham, Yorkshire and Scottish coal.

There are markets in which South Wales competes only to an insignificant extent, but the more the northern coal fields export to the continent of Europe, the less they will have for shipment to America and the more acute will become the demands from the United States for Welsh coal. This gives rise to the question as to what the Welsh coal fields can sell to America under existing conditions.

The margin for the coal exporting districts is about 680,000 tons a week. No arbitrary limit can be placed to the quantity which it is possible for the collieries to produce in a 7-hour day, but the circumstances under which trade has been carried on during the past 12 months go to show that it is not possible to improve to any appreciative extent on that quantity.

IN NATURE'S WONDERLAND

THE SWITZERLAND OF NORTH AMERICA

Gigantic glaciers, beautiful lakes and rugged mountain peaks make the Kokanee Glacier park, recently opened, one of the gems of scenic grandeur of the world.

KOKANEE GLACIER PARK OFFICIALLY OPENED ON MOUNTAINEERING TRIP

Climbers See Marvellous Views on Annual Expedition; Ascend Highest Peaks; Return Full of Admiration; Movie Man Shoots Scenery; Five Wonderful Days

Happy when they left, happier when they returned after an incomparable five days' outing with perfect weather in nature's wonderland, amidst scenes of scintillating lakes, rugged mountain ranges, and massive glaciers of snow and ice, the Kokanee Mountaineering club returned to Nelson last night.

The crowning feature of the trip, which will go down in the history of the Kootenays, was the official opening of the Kokanee Glacier Park by Kenneth Campbell, M. P. P., at the annual meeting of the club, while grouped around the camp fire at the camp located at the Slocan Chief mine buildings at an elevation of 7000 feet.

Moving pictures of the trip, the park opening, and scenes of grandeur in the park were taken by M. Nelson, Fox film representative, and will be screened at a local theater in about one month.

Twenty-one strong the party left Nelson last Wednesday and the first pictures were taken as they disembarked from the boat at Kokanee Landing. From there the party journeyed to Camp No. 1, half way between the Molly Gibson mill and the landing, and from there to the mill, where luncheon was thoroughly enjoyed after a hearty morning's walk of about 11 miles. The balance of the day was spent in making the steep climb up to Kokanee lake, along to Kaslo lake and then to the camp which was made at the mine buildings of the Slocan Chief, six and a half miles above the mill.

Dinner Ready on Arrival.

The cook, who had arrived the day previous, had a great dinner ready for the hikers on their arrival, and everyone did justice to it, showing a surprising capacity, evidenced by the large quantities of food consumed, and it was at this meal that a reputation of note was breathed by a small member of the party with a large appetite, who held it for the duration of the trip.

In the evening, beds were prepared, the ladies occupying a tent, and the men the bunk houses, and as darkness fell, a huge bonfire was lit and a sing-song enjoyed until time for "lights out."

Movie Stars in the Making

Bright and early Thursday morning everyone was up and ready for an interesting day. A scouting party of five was named to arrange the route for the main trip up the glacier, and all the rest started out to climb the Smuggler ridge. During the trip up the steep, rocky incline, movies were taken at different points of the climbers and surrounding scenery, and it was on this trip that Miss Freda Hume and Miss Eulalie Gagnon realized a long desired dream, having close-ups taken for the screen, with a glacier as a background, sitting on a rugged crest of cliff, and from this time on they were regarded as the stars, until some witty personage called them "lob-stars," at which the girls rebeled to no avail.

On this hike up the Smuggler, Miss Freda Hume and Jack Kelderman showed their ability at Alpineers, and climbed to the crest of one of the highest peaks on the ridge, making the summit after an arduous trip up precipitious cliffs, that had the appearance of being practically insurmountable.

Arriving back at camp greetings were in order for Pipe Major William McLeary and his son, Gerald, who had just arrived, and in the evening the skirl of the pipes reverberated through the mountains and were thoroughly enjoyed by all, as was the trombone playing by Ross Fleming.

Member Officially Opens Park

That night the annual meeting of the club took place, with President Ross Fleming in the chair, assisted by Acting Secretary Hugh Robertson, who was later named president for the coming year. During the meeting the park was officially opened by Kenneth Campbell, M. P. P., and all new members were initiated into the club.

Highest Peak Reached

Friday was the day of days, and the main trip of the outing took place. Reveille was sounded at 5:30 and at 7 o'clock the complete party was on the trail, with the highest peak as their goal. Divided into parties of five, the climb was made over rocks to the lower extremes of the main glacier, which comprised the south fork of the Kaslo creek glacier, the Mansfield glacier and the main Coffee creek glacier, all one continuous ice field of about eight square miles in area, being approximately four miles in length and two miles wide.

Here the parties had to take the precaution of being tied together with ropes for safety in traveling over the ice, and movies were taken of the glacier and climbers at this point. In about an hour one of the highest peaks was reached, and it was here that an enjoyable hour was spent. The camera man was busy. Pipe Major McLeary made a striking picture, perched on the highest pinnacle overlooking a sea of mountain peaks, with a deep blue sky as a background, wearing his Scottish hat with plumes and playing the pipes.

From here the party split into two groups, one to return to where the lunches were left near the edge of the glacier, and the other to climb the highest crest, about two miles distant, over snow and ice. On reaching the top the view obtained was one of incomparable beauty.

Wonderful Scenic View.

In all directions, reaching skyward innumerable high peaks presented an awe-spiring sight. Over 100 glaciers could be distinguished.

The rugged and precipitous sawtooth range seemed to cut the sky on one side, and, following the rocky sides downward, the beautiful twin lakes, nesting on the rides of the range, surrounded with stately spruce trees, and with the white edges of the glacier almost running into the lake, a scene of beauty was presented, bringing out both the massive and gentler aspects of nature in fascinating contrast.

On other sides, looking down into the valleys, many lakes, shining like gems, surrounded by green meadows, were seen. Countless mountain streams and torrents rushed down the steep sides of the mountains, and the whole scene was one that will remain in the memories of those who view dit ,as one of the outstanding features of a lifetime.

Miss Charlotte Notman gained the reputation of the star climber of the party, never seeming to tire after the most arduous climbs.

After the return from the glacier regions, a social evening was spent around the camp fire, everyone contributing to the merriment that prevailed.

"Gem of North America."

Saturday was spent in short trips in the vicinity of the camp, one small party making the trip to the Joker mine and Mansfield creek. Leaving the camp they journey down the trail to the Mansfield sawmill and up the Joker trail. This trip proved the big surprise of the expedition. Mansfield creek is undoubtedly one of the scenic gems of North America, with its deep canyon on the west fork, its twin lakes, at the floot of the glacier on the east fork, its wonderful water falls that drop from 1000 feet from where the east fork joins the main creek, and the glacier rising vertically to a height of 2500 feet above the Twin lakes to the highest peak.

The trip home was made in four different ways, by Kokanee creek, Lemon creek 10-Mile creek and by way of the south fork of Kaslo creek.

Those making the trip were Kenneth Campbell, M. P. P., A. L. McCulloch, provincial land surveyor; William Meyers, civil engineer; Ross Fleming, official photographer; Hugh Robertson, Robert Conway, forestry department; Pipe Major William McLeary, Gerald McLeary, Leslie Wightwight, G. A. Gladworth, H. E. Dill, H. Tipping, J. E. Kelderman, John Hume, M. Nelson, camera man; Harry Epperson, J. E. Pierce, E. C. Wragge, E. A. C. Horswill, Mr. and Mrs. J. Scott-Wordle, Miss Freda Brunswick Hume, Wardle, Miss Freda Brunswick Hume, Gagnon, and Mrs. Captain Wright.

CLUB ELECTS NEW PRESIDENT

Robertson Heads Mountaineers for Year; Minister of Lands Congratulates Club

In the light of the campfire, surrounded by the vast stillness of the forest and towering glacier peaks, broken only with the roar of rushing mountain torrents and the burning of the fire, the Kokanee Glacier park was officially opened by Kenneth Campbell, M. P. P., at the annual meeting of the Kokanee Mountaineering club, held on Thursday night, August 24, at their camp in the vicinity of Kaslo lake.

The park, which has over 20 lakes, innumerable streams, eight large glaciers and several smaller ones, has an area of 100 square miles

Mr. Campbell expressed his surprise at the magnificent grandeur that the park presented, and very highly commended the efforts of the club in securing it as a park reserve, and in conclusion read a letter to all present from J. D. McLean, acting minister of lands, as follows:

Conveys Congratulations

"As acting minister of lands I wish to convey my congratulations to the Kokanee Mountaineering club of Nelson upon the occasion of the official opening of the Kokanee Glacier park.

"The club is to be congratulated on its enterprising activities and I trust that the park will come to be a recognized place of beauty and interest to tourists and an asset to the people of the district.

"I hope that the five days' camping will prove an enjoyable outing."

Club Formed in 1916

The Kokanee Mountaineering club was formed in 1916 with C. W. Bush as its first president, chiefly through the efforts of the forestry department, which has taken a great interest in it since its inception, and a vote of thanks was made at the meeting to the department, represented at the camp by Robert Conway.

Hugh W. Robertson was unanimously elected president for the coming year. Howard Bush was reelected secretary, and A. L. McCulloch, vice-president.

Pipe Major McLeary was elected president of the social committee, Ross Fleming, official photographer; J. Hume, to represent the route committee, and A. M. Black, on the publicity committee.

It was decided at the meeting that one of the social meetings be held during the season by the club, to keep interest alive and make plans for the next expedition.

All new members on their initiation into the club made appropriate speeches, and greatly lauded the beauties of the park.

H. Tipping of Slocan City, in charge of the pack train that brought in the supplies for the club, expounded his views to the club as to the most feasible route for a road to be built to the park, there being at present only a pack trail, and at one point along Kokanee lake, where the main route to the park is, one has to travel over a rock slide, over which it is impossible to take a horse.

Ross Fleming, past president, presided over the meeting.

Bernard Shaw Tells Secrets Concerning Art

LONDON, Aug. 25.—The finest exponents of an art are rarely its best teachers. They are either too busy, or too lazy—to give any clear account of their methods and how they get their effects. It is the second-rate man, who cannot get the effects himself, who can occasionally tell his pupils really clearly and helpfully how they should be got.

There are exceptions, however, and Bernard Shaw is one of them. Some years ago a friend of his, Edward McNally, had a play accepted by the Abbey theater, Dublin, and wrote to Mr. Shaw asking for some hints as to how to put it into rehearsal—as to what exactly his functions as author-producer would be. Mr. Shaw wrote him back a short sketch of how he himself produced plays, a few pages of what to aim for and what to avoid; and these pages (now published for the first time in the Arts League of Service Annual) form a brilliant example of what an explanation from a master to a pupil should be.

Mr. Shaw says nothing about writing plays; he talks exclusively about how to produce them. And, as there are very few men in England who know quite as much about the art of production as Mr. Shaw, there are no men at all who could have put the wealth of their experince into so few words.

The advice was intended for a man going to work in an established professional theater, but the general trend of his arguments will be of equal value to all who have a share in producing the most transitory village theatricals.

Down on Star.

Mr. Shaw begins with a short diatribe against the "star" actor. "The beginning and end of the business from the author's point of view is the art of making the audience believe that real things are happening to real people." "To your star actor a part is a mere 'cheval de bataille'; the play does not exist except as a mounting block. That is why comparatively humble actors, who do not dare think they can succeed apart from the play, often give much better representations than star casts." This is extraordinarily true; no less in amateur circles than on the professional stage does the star and his pranks have to be guarded against.

"The success of the Abbey theater was due to the fact that when it began none of the company was worth twopence a week for ordinary fashionable purposes, though some of them can now hold a London audience in the hollow of their hands. They were held down ruthlessly to the real formula of making the audience believe that real things were happening to real people. They were taught no tricks."

As to the laborious business of the producer, if he is to be a "real" producer and the play is to make the effect that he (and he alone) wants; "if before rehearsing you sit down to the manuscript of your play and work out all the stage business; so that you know where every speech is to be spoken and what it is to convey, and where the chairs are to be and where they are to be taken to, and where the actors are to put their hats . . . and if you arrange all this so as to get the maximum of effect out of every word, and thus make the actors feel that they are speaking to the utmost possible advantage—or at the worst, that they cannot improve on your business, however little they may like it . . . you will at the first rehearsal get a command of the production that nothing will shake afterwards." It is a great deal to demand of the amateur producer, but not too much to demand if he be intelligent.

Must Learn Position.

There follow wise words on the futility of making actors learn their lines by heart before they have learned their positions on the stage by heart, the futility of "interrupting" scenes during later rehearsals, and the necessity of making notes of mistakes and speaking about them afterward; and, again, the wiest tip of all: "If a thing is wrong and you don't know exactly how to set it right, say nothing. Wait until you find out the right thing to do, or until the actor does. "It discourages and maddens an actor to be told merely that you are dissatisfied. If you cannot help him, let him alone."

There is, in short, to be found in Mr. Shaw's five-page letter the very essence of the common sense art of producing. To quote from it further is hopeless. I refer all who are interested to the Arts League of Service Annual, price 1s. net.

ARMENIAN BOYS ARE GOOD FIRE FIGHTERS

CONSTANTINOPLE, Aug. 25.—(Associated Press)—A bucket brigade of 200 Armenian orphan boys from the industrial school recently saved thousands of Turkish homes at Beylerbey, on thickly populated Asiatic shores of the Bosphorus, from destruction by fire.

The fire started in a locality made up of tenements and at one time was most threatening. There was no fire fighting aparatus available, so Mrs. A. A. Burt of Los Angeles, the headmistress of the school, sent 200 of the oldest boys to the scene of the fire with buckets. They organized a quadruple line from the waterfront to the fire and succeeded in confining the flames to a group of 12 tenements. About 100 Turkish families were rendered homeless.

Dr. Esther Lovejoy of Portland, Ore., head of the American Women's hospitals, who happened to be visiting the school at the time, assisted in directing the boy firefighters.

The Heart of Ireland Is Vulnerable

Arthur Griffith is dead, and at his death sorrow swayed Ireland. A great man lost to a great cause; but not lost until his work was accomplished.

Michael Collins is dead. Gay, dashing, debonnaire Collins: killed in battle while still a young man. And at his death Ireland rocked with grief. Resentment ran high in the ranks of a gallant soldier's army. Consternation ran even through the rebel ranks. Contrition found its maximum expression, for the leader of the ambush that lured Collins to his death was no less grief-stricken than the followers of the man slain.

To fight and die for a cause, even a wrong-headed cause that is fine. But in that cause to kill a man of high courage and noble purpose—that is another thing.

Not even Collins' most bitter opponents could remain unmoved.

Two patriots, each in his separate sphere have paid the great sacrifice that Ireland may live, and such sacrifices can never be made in vain. That the soldier's brave death moved Ireland more than the statesman's peaceful end is but to say that Ireland is above all human.

Tom Hales, who led the fatal ambush party, in remorse threw down his arms and offered to join the National ranks. It took the blood of a fine man of unquestioned courage and high ideals to bring his slayer to a true perspective. Others will not be slow to discern the significance.

Yes! Erin is on the mend. Humanity is stirred and because of that the reign of terror and enmity in the Emerald Isle is curely closing.

What the Press Is Saying

To Advertise Their Wares

We have often thought that perhaps the biggest stimulus that could be devised, both toward beter building and better appreciation of it, would be a model bylaw compelling the display on the front of every new building, or every structual addition to an old one, of a tablet (not necessarily large but legible) recording the names of the architect and the builder and the date of erection. People would then for the first time really know where they were in building matters; good and bad work alike would be placed to its author's account; and we believe that the resulting improvement in all our building standards might soon exceed the most sanguine hopes of today.

The Policy of the Progressives

The egoistic policy of the Progressives is made manifest in such an obvious manner that very often those who cry loudest against the so-called monopolies and the big interests are themselves ambitious speculators who seek to exploit other classes than their own by the most outrageous methods. During the war the hoarding of foodstuffs was a crime which was punishable by death in many of the belligerent countries. Nowadays the farmers of the west, directed by leaders who do not know what patriotism is, do the most audacious hoarding without regard of the fact that this usurious action of theirs is laying the ground most surely for class hatred and social troubles. The dearness of bread which will be the result of the policy followed by the new party is an unjust surtax and its abolition will have to be demanded of the federal authorities whose task it is to see that equal justice is done to all ratepayers.—L'Evenement.

Efficient Housekeeping

BY Laura A. Kirkman

THE WELL PLANNED KITCHEN.

Many people today are building little houses. I receive letter after letter from my column readers asking my advice in regard to planning them. In reply to such letters I can do no better than suggest that they send me a stamped and self-addressed envelope, in which I will send them the name of a publisher who sells by mail an inexpensive little book on the building of small homes, which contains suggestions and drawn plans for almost all types of house.

It seems good, doesn't it, that so many folk are planning and dreaming of owning their own homes? But there is just one thing that I want to say to these home builders before the masons and carpenters actually began work: Have you planned your kitchen so that the person who cooks the meals may do her work with the least energy and fewest steps? The following suggestions are worth considering from this point of view:

Have all working surfaces high enough so that the kitchen worker will not have to bend her back constantly. For instance, if you have a built-in set of drawers with a flat, finished top (upon which the housewife will mix her cake, roll her pie crust, etc.), have this working surface almost up to the housekeeper's elbows so that she will not have to stoop when at work.

The sink should be the same height. Be sure, also, that your sink has a drain-board on both sides. I have seen sinks which a drain board only on the right side, with this arrangement, the dish washer held the plate in the dish-pan with her left hand while she mopped it with her right hand—then she had to drop the mop, take the plate in her right hand, place it on the right-hand drain board and pick up the mop again. This constant dropping of the mop would have been unnecessary if she had had a left-hand drain board on which her left hand could have placed the plate.

It pays to finish the kitchen walls in materials that can be washed, such as oil paint or tile. The kitchen should be the cleanest room in the house and receive frequent wall washings. The walls should be light colored, not only for the sake of cheerfulness, but to enable the housewife to see the dirt.

A built-in ice chest which can be iced from the outside of the house is another great convenience.

A dumb-waiter to the cellar will save many steps; it can not only be used to bring stored vegetables up from the cellar, but also as a coal carrier.

An ash chute, leading from kitchen to cellar and terminating in a closed barrel, saves much trouble.

And, last but not least, plan your kitchen so that stove, china and tin closet, and food supplies are not so far separated that dozens of steps must be taken between them.

All inquiries addressed to Miss Kirkman in care of the "Efficient Housekeeping" department will be answered in these columns in their turn. This requires considerable time, however, owing to the great number received. So if a personal or quicker reply is desired, a stamped and self-addressed envelope must be enclosed with the question. Be sure to use YOUR full name, street number, and the name of your city and province.—The Editor.

What Do You Think?

Champions English Women Against Unjust Attacks of Incompetent Critics

To the Editor of The Daily News:

Sir—I read with amazement Mrs. Hallam's sweeping condemnation of English women in your issue of the 19th inst.

I also have just returned from a visit to the old country. I revisited old friends and made many new acquaintances, but I had not the privilege of attending any so-called congresses of educated women.

Mrs. Hallam, on the strength of her position as a Canadian professor's wife, proceeds to lay down the law. Arguing from the particular to the general (which is always unwise, as her professor would tell her), she considers it proved that, as she found the type of unsexed female, with which she consorted, an inveterate smoker, equality-with-man-monger, etc., therefore the same description applies to all English women.

I do not think that Mrs. Hallam can have been in England before, and I am certain that she did not pause to consider. If she had, she might have realized that her unsexed, so-called educated women form an absolutely negligible fraction of the total in our class; and if she had known a little more about English life, she would have discovered for herself the plain fact that this type of woman is not even "supposed to be an educational and social leader." Let me assure Mrs. Hallam that they simply do not count in the scheme of things at home.

As Mrs. Hallam lays so much stress on the smoking of these persons, let me relate my own experience: that smoking among refined women has practically died out in England. It has been necessary to practice economy; and one of the first of the extravagances to go has been smoking.

But what struck me far more than the absence of smoking was the amount of work in the house that the good wife and mother has to do—and does remarkably well—nowadays. This, of course, is the direct result of the impossibility of getting enough domestic labor at a reasonable wage. In prewar days the housework of the average wife consisted spending an hour or so with the cook, to discuss and arrange about meals for the ensuing 24 hours, after which she was free to run away and play. But "those days are gone forever." The same housewife now has to do the work of two domestics, and she does it remarkably well. In fact, her life has approximated a little more closely to that of her Canadian cousin. Does Mrs. Hallam think this is a pity? I would advise her to visit England once again, to avoid educational conferences, and to dig down into the heart of English home life. If she is honest she will cry "Peccavi!" Yours, etc.,

For the tall, generously proportioned woman this dress of navy blue crepe with green crepe trimming is just the requirements of the last days of summer and early autumn wear. If she is living in the country it is the kind of thing she can wear into town for shopping in the morning, and feel town-dressed for the rest of the day, which may include luncheon, matinee or tea engagements.

This model would also look extremely attractive in black, with white, green or red trimming, softened, as in the original, with cire braid. The chic arrangement of the skirt is accomplished by a deep self-fold.

LIFEBOATS ON RAILS MAKE LAUNCHING EASY

LONDON, Aug. 27.—(Associated Press.)—Lifeboats arranged on decks on rails, so that they can be run to that part of the ship from which launching is possible, are features of the new steamship Mecklenburg, claimed to be the last word in safety ships, which has just made her maiden trip between Folekstone and Flushing.

In many cases of disaster at sea it has been found impossible to launch all the boats on a ship because of the list. By this new device this difficulty is said to be overcome.

PETTY CASH IN MOSCOW.

What are living conditions in Moscow today? Whatever they are, it is reasonably safe to assume that they are different from those that prevailed last week or last month. Here, however, are set down, from a reliable source, figures indicating something of the conditoins that existed there on or about June 1.

One small business man's personal and office expenses for the month of May were 2,171,370,000 rubles, equivalent to about $645. His office—one room—cots him 10,000,000 rubles a day. He paid 290,000,000 rubles for carriage hire and 59,000,000 rubles in tips.

All costs were rising rapidly at the beginning of last month except those of the simplest foodstuffs, notably rye bread. Railroad fares rose fourfold the last week in May. Living quarters that cost 20,000,000 rubles a day in May cost only 6,000,000 rubles in April.

Up to May the rise in costs had been accompanied by a corresponding rise in the exchange value of the English pound and the American dollar, but their value declined throughout that month, the pound falling from 17,800,000 rubles to 17,000,000 rubles. In April the pound had the value of 20,000,000 rubles.

POLISH PATRIOT QUITS POLITICS FOR PIANOFORTE

Paderewski Returns to His First Love; Relieves Radicals, Alarms Nationals

WARSAW, Aug. 27.—(Associated Press.)—Announcement given out in Paris by Ignace Paderekski, the world-known pianist and former premier of Poland, that he had retired definitely from the political life of Poland, has caused varied comment here. The Radicals are relieved, as politically they feared his return; the Nationalists hope it is not true.

They argue that Paderewski is too great a patriot to stand aloof from Poland during the very important elections of November on the 5th of members of the diet, and on the 12th of members of the senate. Even should he return to music at the present time, they say, sooner or later he will have to resume his career as a Polish statesman. Paderewski has been away from Poland for two years; but in spite of this absence he still has great prestige here, and many faithful and loyal followers. The Nationalists are still trying to persuade him to return to Poland for the election campaign.

The Radicals, it is believed, will advance General Pilsudski, the present chief of state, as their candidate for the presidency of the republic. The Nationalists have not yet any candidate in sight; if Paderewski returned he undoubtedly would have their support.

Music Is Best.

In the meantime reports from Switzerland, where Paderewski has been staying recently at Morjes, describe the former premier as devoting himself to his music, and convinced in his own mind that, for the present, he has decided upon a course of action which is the best for his country and himself.

At Morjes Paderewski practiced many hours a day in prepartion for his concert tour in the United States, which is set to begin in November. He has played very little during the past five years. Once was on the occasion of his wife's birthday, in 1919, at his hotel in Warsaw, and another when he was in California last spring. On the latter occasion he played without notes. His memory has not failed him, and in Switzerland also he played much without notes, waiting until his music could be collected. His favorite hours for practice were in the early morning, and again late at night. His idle time he spent in reading or in feeding his prize chickens, of which he has a large number.

The girls of the Cheerio camp held a reunion picnic at Lakeside park on Saturday afternoon. During the afternoon the swimming beach was the center of attraction. At 5 o'clock the girls sat down to a dainty lunch. After their hearty appetites were satisfied the funny incidents of the camp were recalled, with much laughter. Everybody voted for a renewal of the camp next year. After supper games were played, the favorites being baseball, football and basketball. In the latter *some of the girls showed marked boy*ing tendencies. About 8:30 o'clock the merry picnickers started on their *homeward way, startling the neighbor*hood and passersby with their camp yells and songs. Those present were Rev. J. P. Westman, Mrs. Lundie, Mrs. G. GOLF TOURNEY IS ATTRACTION

East Kootenay Fixture Draws Entries From Many Centers; Division of Flights

FERNIE, Aug. 27.—The East Kootenay-Crow's Nest Pass district golf tournament will open at Cranbrook on Saturday, September 2, and already the secretary has received entries from Medicine Hat, Lethbridge, MacLeod, Blairmore, Fernie, Waldo and Cranbrook clubs. This will be the first truly representative gathering of the lovers of the royal and ancient game throughout this section and the interest that is being taken indicates its ultimate success and likewise that it will be a permanent fixture.

The method to be followed for handling the play will be that the players will be paired and a qualifying round of 18 holes played. These cards when turned into the committee will be the guides for dividing the players into the respective flights. The first eight lowest scores will be placed in the championship flight; the next 16 in the second flight and so on for six flights.

The flights will play knockout match competition.

There will also be a consolation competition in which only those defeated in the first game of each flight will be qualified to play. The tournament will continue for three days, in addition to which the Cranbrook club has arranged a program of other social events which will insure a most enoyable outing

MAKE PROGRESS WITH STREET IMPROVEMENTS

FERNIE, Aug. 27.—The city's street improvement program is well under way, as evidenced by the condition of Baker avenue. Four blocks of this thoroughfare have been graded and surfaced and when one more block is completed in this manner Victoria avenue will have sections temporarily closed to traffic and the work of putting down the all-time permanent roadway of solid cement and concrete commenced.

Fernie Citizens Will Attend Celebration Thompson Memorial

FERNIE, Aug. 27.—Quite a number of Fernie citizens will leave next week for the Thompson memorial celebration to be held at Lake Windermere. This celebration is in commemoration of the discovery and naming of the Columbia river by David Thompson, astronomer and explorer, who first established a fort at Windermere in 1803. The program, which commences on August 30, will include an historic pageant of that early event down to 1847, when Father De Smet came to the colony, and many other events of sport and amusement will continue until September 4, Labor day.

DR. KING SHORTLY DUE AT FERNIE

FERNIE, Aug. 27.—Hon. Dr. King, federal minister of public works, is expected ot pay a brief visit to his home constituency within a day or two. He left Ottawa on August 14, en route westward, and should arrive in Cranbrook by the end of this week, from where he will make short trips to different parts of this riding.

SUMMER CAMPING IS POPULAR AT ROBSON

Bathing, fishing, camp fires, etc., help to fill up the time.

Four other parties have camped in the vicinity this season.

Burglars Blow Up Unlocked Safe; Get Nickles and Dimes

KITCHENER, Aug. 27.—The post office and store owned by N. Devlin was entered early Saturday morning and the safe treated to a dose of nitro-glycerine, badly wrecking it and doing considerable damage to the stock in the store.

A heavy spike puller, stolen from the C. P. R. tool house, was used in an attempt to force open the safe door after the explosion, but the noise made awakened Captain Forrester, who lives nearby, and on his appearing on the scene the robbers decamped, getting only a few nickels and dimes from the post office drawer for their trouble.

Police on the Trail.

The long distance telephone wires were cut between Kitchener and Yahk after the offense was committed, but not before word had been sent through to the provincial police at Yahk and Cranbrook.

Constable Laird of Yahk was on the scene within two hours and was later reinforced by mounted and provincial police from Creston. The burglars left some plain clues and it is only a matter of time until they are apprehended. The yeggmen went to a lot of unnecessary trouble, as the safe was not locked.

Senator Green Gives Larger Donation Than Originally Reported

To the Editof of The Daily News:

Sir—In your issue of Thursday last in an otherwise splendid story boosting this year's fall fair at Creston appears a typographical error that credits Senator R. F. Green with making a contribution of $2 to this year's exhibition prize list. The correct amount is $25. Ever since the fair started, some six years ago, Mr. Green never failed to favor with less than the latter amount, and since his elevation to the upper chamber it is gratifying to the directors of Creston Valley Agricultural association to have him still show the same tangible interest in the local fair as was his habit when he was the direct federal representative of this section of the Kootenay.

Markets and Finance

Several Utilities Reach Sensational Prices on Market

NEW YORK, Aug. 26.—Conspicuous strength of public utility and industrial shares, several of which registered sensational gains, featured today's relatively dull half holiday session of the stock market.

Consolidated Gas was pushed up in remarkable fashion in the last hour, showing a net gain of 9 points at one time, but reacting slightly at the close. Liggett & Myers advanced 10c on a very small turnover and American Tobacco broke through for a new high on a net gain of nearly 3 points. North American and Eastman Kodak also established prices on advances exceeding 2 points each.

Rails were subjected to fairly heavy selling pressure in the early dealings, but they recovered somewhat later, generally closing with small fractional declines. Possible seizure by the government of railroads unable to provide adequate facilities probably was responsible for some of the selling in the rail list, but no extensive liquidation took place.

Recent strength of gas shares was attributed in some quarters to the prospect of increased use of gas for fuel this winter because of the threatened coal shortage. A sales campaign of heating appliances, based on that contingency, already has been undertaken by some of the large local companies. The recent advance in North American undoubtedly was in response to the annual report, which indicated that $22 per share had been earned on the company's stock in the last 12 months.

Total sales were 327,000 shares.

Foreign exchanges were irregular.

Demand sterling reacted rather sharply to $4.46, as against $4.47¼ yesterday, while the French and Belgian rates showed slight recovery from yesterdal's extreme heaviness. German marks also rallied feebly.

The clearing house statement showed a decrease of $37,670,000 in loans, discounts and investments, as compared with an increase of $3,-5,000 the week before. The reserve of members banks in the Federal Reserve bank was decreased $45,519,000, as against a decrease of $5,208,000 the week before. Cash holdings weer increased by $1,575,000, leaving the excess reserve at $7,036,360, or $41,584,200 below the week before.

The continued reactionary movement in foreign bonds, presumably in response to the recent downward trend of exchange and disturbed political and economic conditions abroad, was the outstanding market in a relatively dull bond market.

Wheat Unmoved but Oats Break on Chicago Pit

CHICAGO, Aug. 27.—Trading in all grains was inconsequential Saturday and prices ranged within narrow limits. A late feature of the short session was the sharp break in oats, this cereal being affected more by an absence of buying power than any important selling. At the finish wheat was ⅛c lower to ⅛c higher, with September $1.01⅞ and December $1.03⅛ to $1.03¼. Corn advanced a shade to ⅛c and oats were down ¼c to ⅝c. Provisions were irregular.

Swedish Exports Exceed Those of Before the War

STOCKHOLM, Aug. 27—(Associated Press)—That Sweden has definitely survived the post-war crisis, and is one of the first nations in Europe to show a natural and consistent recovery, appear from the monthly report on the foreign trade of this country during June, which has just been issued.

The export of timber and sawn wood, a staple commodity, has grown so rapidly that the volume is now 97 per cent of the peacetime figures. At the end of June the timber sales were close to 600,000 standards, which is considerably more than half of the normal yearly output. The export of matches is 95 per cent of the prewar normal, and it is encouraging that the export of iron ore has even surpassed prewar figures by 3 per cent. As regards wood pulp and paper, which America buys from Sweden in large quantities, the figures for the month exceed the 1913 figures for the corresponding month by 18 to 72 per cent. Incidentally, it is reported that one reason why the quotations on sulphite pulp are high is the increased demand from the United States for the manufacture of artificial silk. News print, which is shipped in great volume to America, shows an export figure 72 per cent above that of 1913.

In the line of manufactured industrial products the quantity of electrical machines and apparatus, ballbearings and telephones is nearly three times that of June, 1913. Cream separators and motors have risen to 59 per cent of the prewar figure.

A similar indication of prosperity is been in the increased imports of raw material needed for Swedish industries. American dealers in copper will be interested to know that Sweden's imports of that metal have reached 84 per cent of the prewar figure.

Three Hundred Dollars Is Cost of Aerial Fare From England to India

LONDON, Aug. 27.—(Associated Press.)—Trips to India by air in three days, at a cost of $300 first-class and $175 second-class, may soon be offered British travelers. A number of large technical corporations have made a proposal to the government to run a mail and passenger service from London to Bombay. The airships would have a capacity of 5,000,000 cubic feet, and would be capable of flying at 80 miles an hour with 200 passengers.

The proposal has been put forward in order to develop the communications of the British Empire in speed and cheapness, and thereby assist the development of trade. No promotion profits would be taken by any party and all the promoters ask is a subsidy from the government sufficient to pay the public investor a dividend of 4½ per cent.

News of Sport

IN THE SPOTLIGHT OF SPORT

By Wood Cowan

"You're through," came the voice from the dugout as "Reb" walked toward the players' bench. "You couldn't beat a high school nine." It was the manager's voice speaking. "Is that so! Put me in the outfield and I'll show you whether I'm through with this old game 'er not," Russell replied.

Thus "Reb" Russell, erstwhile star pitcher of big league fame, began his baseball career all over again at an age when most players are dropping out. But instead of climbing back into the limelight up the pitcher's mound, he came back on his bat. This incident happened in 1919. "Reb" pitched one more game for Minneapolis, but, although he won it, he also proved conclusively that he was through.

"Reb" could hit and field fairly well, so his request that he be put into the outfield was granted, and he came back to the tune of 33 home runs in 1921 and ranked second in the percentage column, hitting .368 in the American association. This season proved him no morning glory, for he has continued his slugging fest at a merry clip.

Next thing we knew, the Pirates offered 20,000 berries for the rebel. And so it came to pass that the former White Sox south paw—who helped win a pennant in 1917 but refused to admit that he was through as a baseball player—is roaming the Pirate outfield gathering in flies and slugging his team to victory in more than one game back in the big show.

"Reb" refused to be called out on three strikes, proving that he has something else up his sleeve besides a glass arm.

Davis Cup Teams for Final Depend on Today's Results

BOSTON, Aug. 27.—The composition of the doubles team of both Australia and the United States in the Davis cup challenge round at Forest Hills, Saturday, depends on the outcome of the final matches of the United States lawn tennis championship doubles at the Longwood Cricket club tomorrow. The singles representatives of the two teams, by virtual admission on each side, will be William Tilden 2nd and W. M. Johnstone for the United States and Captain Gerald Patterson and James O. Anderson for Australia.

Captain Patterson today declared that Australia's chances for the doubles point in the Davis cup competition would be weighed in the balance by tomorrow's match. Should he and O'Hara Wood win, probability of the playing would be increased, but added that serious consideration would be necessary to any decision that did not include Anderson, the other member of the Australian team.

Fairview Adds Another Victory to Its String

*Another win was added to Fair*view's long list of victories in the junior baseball division on Saturday, when they nosed out the Gas Works boys in a close game of a 11-10 score.

In the last inning Bradshaw re*tired the Fairview side in four* pitched balls. Fawcett had his club working again, and clouted out a three-bagger, as did Passecreta. Kenney Campbell umpired the game. The lineups were:

NO RUM, NO SHIPS FOR DRY ISLANDS

CHARLOTTE AMELIA, St. Thomas, Virgin Islands, Aug. 27.—(Associated Press.)—The Virgin islands are not officially "dry" and the Volstead act is in force, but Rear Admiral Kittelle, *the naval governor, by official publi*cation, has announced that there are no founds provided by the law for the enforcement of the act that that the police officers in the island will have to watch out for violations which will be punishable in the local courts.

The period of time granted for the disposal of liquor stocks on hand expired July 20. A commission is now in Washington urging modification of the law to permit the sale of liquors as *ships' stores in order to pre*vent foreign ships giving up St. Thomas as a port of call.

MEMBER VISITS CONSTITUENCY

Humphrey, M. P., Back After Visit to Northern Portion of Territory

L. W. Humphrey, member of the federal house at Ottawa for the West Kootenay constituency, returned over the week-end from a two weeks' trip throughout the portion of British Columbia which he represents in the house.

Mr. Humphrey was on August 17 at the opening ceremonies of the West road, which lies between Revelstoke and Enderby, and which is a connecting link between Revelstoke and the Okanagan country. The opening ceremonies were conducted at Malakwa, a smal station some 35 miles west of Revelstoke. Members from both the Dominion and provincial houses of parliament were present at the ceremony as well as many prominent men of the province. Among them were Premier John Oliver, J. T. Black, M. P. for Cariboo, Fred Anderson, M. P. P. for Kamloops, Dr. W. H Sutherland, minister of public works; J. J Jones, M. P. P., South Okanagan; Dr. McDonald, and many others.

Following the ceremony the large party motored to Revelstoke where Mr. Humhprey declared they were right royally entertained by the citizens of that community.

This new link will give Revelstoke access to the Okanagan and coast points by motor.

While at Revelstoke Mr. Humphrey spent two days at the Dominion park at Mount Revelstoke, where the Dominion government is working on a new pleasure ground which can be reached from the main line of the C. P. R. "Work," said the member, "is going ahead rapidly on development and extending of the highway to the park, which in a few years will rank with other Canadian scenic spots."

During the past week and a half the member for West Kootenay has been touring and speaking throughout the northern portion of his territory, and also points east of Revelstoke. Arrowhead, Beaton, Trout Lake and Camborne districts, among many others, were visited. At all these points packed houses greeted the Nelson man, and the wants of the district from a federal point of view were thoroughly ventilated.

"Prospects throughout the points visited appear good, said Mr. Humphrey, "and the people are optimistic in all parts.

"Mining throughout the Beaton and Camborne districts in particular is looking up and a real live future is expected."

Throughout the next two months the West Kootenay representative expects to cover every bit of territory in his constituency, and hopes to meet the people and discuss all features which need looking into. It is his intention, said Mr. Humphrey, to visit Kaslo and district this week and Trail and Rossland next week. Creston and points in that district will be visited around the dates set for the Creston fall fair, while Arrow lakes points will also be visited in the near future.

Rev. Korbitz Talks on the Unforgivable Sin

Taking for his text Matthew 12, verses 31 and 32, Rev. F. Karbitz discussed fully the "unforgivable sin," in the Lutheran church services held Sunday night at 7:45, at the Y. M. C. A. hall.

The pastor spoke, in part, as follows:

"Bible passages like Ps. 14:3 and Ecclesiastes 7:20, and many more, tell us that there is not one just man upon the earth that doeth good and sinneth not, for sin is every deparure from the rule of the divine law. And in regard to sin the Lord says: 'The soul that sinneth, it shall die.' This however, need not discourage us, for we know how we can become free from the sin, namely: 'By grace, through faith in Christ Jesus, the sinner is saved.'

"However, our Lord Jesus says in our text, Matthew 12, 31, and 32, that there is a sin which shall not be forgiven unto men, neither in this world, neither in the world to come. This sin is blasphemy against the holy ghost. My dear friend, are you committing this unforgiveable sin? Let us consider some of its marks and symptoms.

Begins Small

"Like all sins, this sin against the holy ghost begins small. It is not necessarily in appearance a sin of horrible colors, but it may look comparatively innocent as a babe in the cradle. And so this sin against the holy ghost begins in this way, that a Christian grows careless in his attendance at divine worship. When the weather seems at times rather warm and the sun is "broadcasting" its bright rays, then we are especially so often ready to say, 'Oh, I will not attend divine worship today. I want to take a trip with my automobile.' Now, my dear friends, the refusal to attend worship and the refusal to use the means of grace is one way of showing contempt for the holy spirit, and this is, therefore, a symptom of the sin against him.

"When we often do what we ought not to do, then we often begin to defend ourselves against accusation. Such a person begins to "talk back' to the holy spirit, who bids him to attend services. Soon after the same person begins to rail against churchgoing and against the doctrines of the true church. And this finally develops into wilful blasphemy and is a sin against better knowledge.

"In regard to the sin against the holy ghost the Lord says thus: 'Whosoever speaketh blasphemy against the holy ghost, it shall not be forgiven him, neither in this world, neither in the world to come.' A terrible punishment, indeed, to be eternally lost.'

"In conclusion I plead with all of you to accept the help that the holy spirit offers you. If you have been on the verge of committing this sin, then do not let this small beginning of indifference toward the holy spirit, but, moreover, return. Now is the accepted time, now is the time of grace."

Rotarians Start Community Songs for Nelsonites

Community singing, which is being carried on in all cities where the Rotary club is active, was started in Nelson yesterday afternoon. Owing to the extreme heat of the day only a few turned out, but, nevertheless, a start was made, and a large turnout is expected by the club at the next meet.

A special committee has been appointed by the Rotary club to carry out this idea, composed of the following Rotarians: Rev. J. P. Westman, A. B. Gilker, P. G. Morey and Will Harper. At yesterday afternoon's meeting the aims and objects of the singing club were explained by Rev. J. P. Westman, following which the meeting was postponed.

Millionaires Rent Bosphorous Palaces

CONSTANTINOPLE, Aug. 27.—(Associated Press)—The sublime porte is considering seriously the note from the allied high commissioner regarding the reduction of government employees, and it is expected that action will be taken which will make good the monthly deficit of 500,000 Turkish pourds in the wages of government servants.

In addition the sublime porte has decided to abolish the legations and consultes in various neutral countries. Orders have already gone out for the closing down of legations and consulates in Madrid, Berne, The Hague and Stockholm. Several government buildings of secondary importance will be evacuated and rented to private concerns. Some palaces on the Bosphorus will be rented to millionaires.

Drastic Economies.

The economy measures provide also for the reductions in the salaries of schoolmasters, hospital nurses and office boys; the abolition of superfluous government offices and the retirement of a large number of army and navy officers.

The finance ministry has decided to withdraw worn paper money notes from circulation. The government, together with two delegates of the Ottoman public debt, is devising a plan to this end. Worn paper money of one, two and a half, five, 20 and 25 piastres notes will be withdrawn from circulation and replaced by metal pieces of equivalent value. No more metal money than the amount of paper money withdrawn will be struck.
