MINISTER OF MINES STIRS CONVENTION

SLOAN DECLARES TURN OF TIDE IN FAVOR OF INTERIOR

DUBLIN'S BUILDINGS BLAZE BUT NATIONALIST TROOPS QUASH REVOLT IN CAPITAL

Seize Virtually Ends With Surrender of Small Groups of Insurgents; Maintain Desperate Resistance With Fire On All Sides

Remnant of Worn Out Garrison Surrenders Under White Flag

One After Another Hotels Occupied by Rebels Burst Into Flames; Victory for Regulars Is Only Secured at Price of Heavy Property Damage

DUBLIN, July 5.—The siege of the strongholds of the insurgent Irish forces was virtually ended tonight with the surrender of small groups of men who had been fighting for the past week behind the barricades, and the capture of one of the principal leaders, Cathal Brugha, former minister of defense. But the success of the national cause has been purchased at the cost of blazing buildings and terrible destruction in O'Connell street, to say nothing of the loss of life and the many seriously wounded. There is still no information as to the whereabouts of Eamonn de Valera.

In the late afternoon, when 10 buildings, including three hotels, were aflame, the remainder of the irregulars, driven into the Granville hotel, with fire on all sides, still maintained a desperate resistance with automatics and rifles, but it was already seen that they could not long delay the inevitable end.

The final attack by the Free State troops started at midday after a lull in the fighting.

Bomb Insurgents.

Shoortly after the regulars adopted the desperate plan of bombing the insurgents out, a bomb was hurled into Hamman's hotel and soon a faint wisp of smoke crept through the shattered windows, then a sudden burst of flame in front, followed by a dense volume of smoke. The flames sread with incredible swiftness and the fire brigade hurried to the scene. But a fusilade from the irregulars in the Granville hotel compelled them to retreat. The fire attacked the shops adjoining the Hamman and in less than two hours the roofs had collapsed. Three buildings were completely destroyed, their ruin being hastened through the flames reaching stores of bombs and ammunition, causing numerous explosions and throwing up great clouds of smoke.

Still the battle raged, the irregulars firing fusilades from the windows of both the Gresham and the Granville, while the National riflemen replied vigorously from their positions opposite and from armored cars.

Bulding Blazing Furnace.

Shortly after 1 o'clock an armored car took up a position opposite the Gresham and poured a hurricane of machine gun fire into the hotel windows. Smoke belched forth quickly followed by a muffled explosion and tongues of flames from the windows, and within half an hour the front of the building was a flaming furnace.

The firemen played water on the premises between the Gresham and the Hamman and saved them in part, but the fate of the Gresham was, from the first, hopeless. Even while the lower floors of this hotel were burning, the irregulars continued to fire from the upper windows, but by 3 o'clock the remnant of the garrsion, five men, weary-eyed and blackenned, emerged from the rear of the building under the white flag and surrendered.

Other irregulars driven from place to place by the flames took up a position in the Granville, and from points of vantage they directed a brisk fire against the Nationals.

Hoists White Flag.

In the meantime fire broke out opposite in the store next door to the Edinburg hotel and presently a white flag was seen protruding from the door of the Edinburgh. A man stepped forth holding a flag in one hand a dress suit case in the other. Behind him walked a pitiful procession of between 20 and 30 persons, mostly women, a white--haired woman of 70 bringing up the rear, all carying s mall quantities of luggage.

They explained that they had been living in the Edinburgh a whole week, chiefly taking refuge in the cellars, but were forced to leave through the flames in the adjacent store.

These unfortunates were escorted to a place of safety by members of the Red Cross.

Viviani Clips Communist Argument Short Claiming Responsibility for World War Jointly With Poincare

PARIS, July 5.—M. Viviani stampeded the chamber of deputies into a wild outburst of approval of Premier Poincare today during the course of a debate on the responsibility for the war.

M. Viviani interrupted a long and dreary reading of newspaper clippings and diplomatic messages by a Communist, designed to show that M Poincare was responsible for the war, and exclaimed: "If any one is responsible for the war it was I. I was head of the government; I took whatever action was taken and I acted in perfect accord with M. Poincare (then president). I was in touch with him and in agreement with him when he was at St. Petersburg."

This was in allusion to M. Poincare's visit as president to Emperor Nicholas.

Deputies Wave Wildly.

The deputies jumped to their feet waving their arms wildly, and M. Poincare rushed to M. Viviani and kissed him on both cheeks. Others embraced the premier and the ex-premier and for several minutes there was an excess of enthusiasm.

When he could mae his voice heard above the uproar, M. Viviani pleaded with the deputy to abandon his interpellation as it was of no use to continue, and asked him to return to the sacred union observed during the war when all parties buried the hatchet. His eloquence so moved the deputies that they stood in silence as a mark of admiration.

The ex-premier told briefly of the big steps in France's foreign policy when he was premier under M. Poincare and recited again the history of the movement that led to the war, claiming for himself full responsibility for everything that was done and praising the wisdom of M. Poincare.

The chamber adjourned until tomorrow afternoon, the premier insisting on a full airing of the matter.

It was the premier's second victory of the day over the Communists, as the chamber earlier in the day voted confidence in the government, 507 to 64, on a minor interpellation relative to the suppression of the Communist activities at Tunis.

Tug Was on Wrong Side of Channel

MONTREAL, July 5.—The tug Spray which sank after collision with the steamer Cairndhu last Saturday near Sorrel, with a loss of seven lives, was on the wrong side of the channel in the St. Lawrence and was being piloted by a man without a pilot's license, it was testified before Wreck Commissioner Demers today by Napoleon Mongeau, captain of the lost vessel. Captain Mongeau said he was asleep at the time of the accident. The pilot in question went down with the tug. The man had had considerable experience at piloting tugs.

SETTLEMENT OUTLOOK IS ENCOURAGING

Striking Rilroad Men Open to Consider any Suggestion From Anybody

CHICAGO, July 5.—Hope for the speedy settlement of the country-wide strike of the railway shopmen was seen tonight in statements issued by Ben. W. Hooper, chairman of the United States labor board, and B. M. Jewell, leader of the shop crafts, who ordered the walkout.

In a reply to a letter from Mr. Hooper which was regarded as conciliatory, Mr. Jewell declared that the strikers were willing to consider any negotiations with any one in authority for settlement of the strike.

"We are willing to confer with anybody authorized by the railroads to bring peace proposals to us," said Mr. Jewell. "I include or exclude nobody, but if the labor board, for instance, came to us with a definite proposal, we would not hesitate to consider it."

Mr. Jewell made public the exact figures on the strike vote taken by the 400,000 members of the six shop crafts.

The tabulation showed only 97.7 per cent of the men had voted to strike on the question of wages, the heaviest vote for a strike being on the question of outside contract labor, which polled 97.1 per cent of the vote cast. The ballot on rules came second with 96.2 for a strike.

In railroad circles, it was declared that the way already had been cleared for a full statement on the gravest issue, that of contract work, by the agreement of 12 roads to abolish outside contracting.

With the working rules as practically the only obstacle to peace, the opinion was expressed on all sides that this issue would be disposed of once conferences were under way.

Railways at many points began employing new men to take the places of the strikers today, while others notified their men that their places would be held open for them until July 10.

Damaged Steamer Makes for Quebec Under Own Steam

QUEBEC, July 5.—(By Canadian Press).—The steamer Orthia, of the Donaldson line, which was reported sinking at 2 o'clock this morning, after a collision 90 miles east of Quebec, was reported tonight to be making her way slowly to Quebec in tow of the tug Gopher and the Steamer Belle Chasse.

The steamer Airdale, which figured in the collision, is coming up the river under her own steam.

Litchfield, this city, has just received word from the records department at Ottawa that the grave of Private Reginald C. Litchfield, 15th Canadian battalion, has been discovered in France. The grave was in an isolated position and was discovered by the graves registration officials while searching the battle areas.

His fate is now definitely known and the report states that he was killed in action between April 24 and 29, 1915.

FIX DATE FOR DEBATE UPON HONORS ISSUE

Chamberlain Wants to Be Present at Discussion; May Proceed Without

LONDON, July 5.—(By Canadian Press Cable.)—In the house of commons today Rt. Hon. Winston Churchill, secretary for the colonies, replying to questions, said the government had hoped to give a day next week to a discussion regarding the conferring of honors, but owing to the continued indisposition of Austen Chamberlain, government leader, who desired to be present during the debate, it would be impossible to hold it before July 17.

Lockyer Lampson asked was not the premier solely responsible for the final submission of the honor list. Why, therefore, was it necessary for Mr. Chamberlain to be present?

Mr. Churchill replied that Mr. Chamberlain particularly desired to be present to participate in a general statement of the government's case, but he added that if Mr. Chamberlain should be unable to be present on July 17 the debate must proceed without him.

Asked whether Premier Lloyd George would be present at the debate, Mr. Churchill said he was quite certain that if it rested with the premier he would be the first to wish to be present.

WILL REPRESENT CANADA AT NEXT LEAGUE SESSION

Finance Minister Will Take Up Question of Trade Treaty With France

OTTAWA, July 5.—(By Canadian Press).—Hon. W. S. Fielding, minister of finance, Hon. Ernest Lapointe, minister of marine and fisheries, and Hon. H. C. Larkin, Canadian high commissioner in London, will represent Canada at the next assembly of the League of Nations, which opens at Geneva on September 4.

Announcement to this effect was made officially tonight.

While in Great Britain and France, the minister of finance will take up various departmental matters between those governments and the government of Canada, it is understood.

One of the matters which may engage his attention while in Paris will be that of resuming negotiations with the French government for a more comprehensive trade treaty between Canada and France than now exists. The matter of a trade treaty between the two governments has been discussed to the exent of approaches having been made to the government by the French consul general at Montreal some weeks ago. At that time the government intimated its willingness to enter into negotiations "at a convenient time" but since then no action has been taken.

Referring to this matter, which was raised in the commons during the recent session, Hon. Mr. Fielding said he anticipated "that one of these days the French government will take some further action; that they will give us some information as to what they suggest and our desire is to have again with France a comprehensive treaty as we had a few years ago."

There is also the question of a treaty with Greece which may be taken up while the minister is overseas.

Studies British Columbia Method of Liquor Control

VICTORIA, July 5.—The Conservative party in Ontario plans to enter the next provincial election on a new liquor policy which will be more generous than the prohibition law in force there now, it was stated here today in connection with the visit to this city of Hon. G. Edward Ferguson, leader of the Conservative party in Ontario.

Mr. Ferguson is here, it is said, to study British Columbia's method of handling the liquor question, before formulating the liquor policy which the Conservative party is to announce for Ontario. The Conservative leader has been working out his liquor policy for some time, it is stated, but he is noncommittal on it. He is seeking to learn what he can, while in the province, of the British Columbia act before finally making up his mind and making an announcement.

Hon. W. J. Bowser, K. C., Conservative leader in British Columbia, gave a luncheon today for Mr. Ferguson, at which party policies were discussed.

DISPELS FEARS OF GOVERNMENT CONTROL

LONDON, July 5.—(By Canadian Press Cable).—H. B. Thompson, formerly food controller for Canada, today presided over a meeting attended by British business men at the Royal Cecil hotel. The meeting heard J. A. Ruddick, Canadian Dairy and cold storage commissioner who dealt with the prospects of increased trade in dairy products between Canada and England.

Regarding the much-vexed question of grading, Mr. Ruddick explained that the scheme suggested was not a government proposal. His audience expressed anxiety lest the grading scheme prove to be the thin edge of the wedge of government control, but both Mr. Thompson and Mr. Ruddick told them that this would not be the case, the former recalling the fact that Canada had relinquished control of dairy produce within sixty days after the armistice had been signed, while England continued the control for over two years.

BRITISH COLUMBIA'S SHARE OF PACIFIC TREASURE NOT THE LESSER, AFFIRMS SLOAN

Province Will Now Ride Crest of Mining Wave, He Tells Big Convention; Tide Has Now Turned to the Flood; Half of Province's Fortune In Lode Mines in Past Thirty-five years Has Been From Kootenay, Says Fowler; Water Powers and Easy Transportation Attractive Features

Two general addresses dealing with mining and mineral resources featured yesterday morning's session of the fourth International Mining convention, one by Hon. William Sloan, minister of mines, provincial in its scope, and the other by S. S. Fowler, manager of the New Canadian Metal company, Riondel, setting forth conditions in the Kootenay.

Mr. Fowler, who was the opening speaker, had for his topic "Attractive Features of the Kootenay for Mining." The first of these, to a stranger, he pointed out, would be the excellent record of this noted mineral territory. Of the province's total production from lode mines in the last 35 years, the Kootenay contributed one-quarter in tonnage and one-half in value. Against an average value per ton of ore for the province at large, of $8, the Kootenay's figure for this period was $17, so the Kootenay ore was relatively high grade. Altogether the Kootenay's lode mines had produced 12,000,000 tons of ore, valued at $200,000,000.

Great Ore Reserves, Says Fowler.

The next question was how much ore the veins of the Kootenay contained after 12,000,000 tons had been extrtacted. To that he would say they would contain "considerable," omitting entirely the great Sullivan mine, whose ore bodies were two or three times the volume of all the ore that the province had produced in the past. In his 30 years' experience here he had known a number of properties to be partially exhausted, but very few to be completely exhausted. Every year two or three new important producers came in, and between new discoveries and new developments of known properties the ore in sight remained undiminished. Last year's small tonnage of the independent mines, he said, must not be thought to be representative, being in point of fact not over a quarter of the average for the previous 14 years.

Without going in detail into the causes of the depression, he said among other factors was the heavy output of the Kootenay mines during the war, the operators using up their ore and distributing the resultant profits, with the result that they had to get out and make more money to proceed with.

Myriad Water Powers.

One of the attractive features of the Kootenay, he said, was its many small water powers, so distributed that almost any property could have its own source of power. He supposed there were 1000 such creeks, of from 10 to 100 horsepower each, and development would not cost on the average over $100 per horsepower. The government's rental of these was at the rate of 25 cents per horsepower per year.

Transporttaion facilities were another assett, said the speaker. Within the watershed of the Columbia river were 1380 miles of railway, and 380 miles of waterways, covered by regularly operated services. In addition, there was a system of highways, and the government aided the building of roads and trails that were for the development of mining properties.

The topography favored cheap operation through adits, and there were very few shafts, and consequently little expense for power.

Attractive Communities.

An attractive climate that gave a sufficient supply of moisture, under conditions of variety, he listed among the incidental advantages that made life in the hills attractive to the miner seeking employment.

Another of these was the existence of many attractive little communities, regularly distributed, with school advantages, where miners' families could live comfortably and contentedly.

There was also a growing tendency, well marked in this district, to provide better accommodation for employees, because such a policy had been found to pay well. In this particular field he felt a bit of a pioneer.

Mr. Fowler also noted an improvement in management and a growing tendency to recognize the value of technically trained men, while not reflecting in any way on the practical men who had gained their knowledge in the hard and expensive school of experience.

Hon. Mr. Sloan, who performed the duties of chairman of the morning session, the intended chairman, L. K. Armstrong of Spokane, having been called back from Nelson, was then introduced by Mr. Fowler, and addressed the convention for over an hour upon the mining industry of British Columbia. The test of his notable address was as follows:

Sloan Says Tide Has Turned.

"It is always a pleasure to visit Nelson. The charm of this lakeside, mountain girdled city, and the hospitality of her citizens, constitute an irresistible, double attraction. But it is a special pleasure to be here when the mining men of British Columbia and adjacent states are congregated in convention. On such an occasion it is certain that all will have a good time and it is assured that matters of interest respecting the mining industry will be discussed in a manner both profitable and entertaining.

"At no time in Canadian history has the mining business of this province, and, indeed, of the entire Pacific northwest, been more to the forefront. I think that we are at the turning of the tide. During the war there was an abnormal 'flow,' bringing with it feverish activity and swollen prices. Following came the period of 'ebb' tide, and the drop, although it is in accord with Nature's laws, has been unnatu-

NATIONAL CALL TO ARMS SUITS DUBLIN NOTIONS

No Recruits Accepted Since Signing of Treaty; Maintain Good Supplies

DUBLIN, July 5.—During the past week, the Free State government has received hundreds of applications from young men who are anxious to assist in the campaign against the irregulars. In accordance with the principle which has been observed since the signing of the treaty, however, no recruits have been accepted, and the operations have been conducted entirely by regulars and volunteers who were already enrolled in the Irish Republican army. The statement that the provisional government has decided to issue a national call to arms tomorrow has been welcomed by citizens who have been seeking to enroll in the forces.

Dublin's food supplies have been well maintained during the fighting and ample precautions in this respect have been taken by the government. Postal deliveries have been resumed and the banks are expected to reopen tomorrow.

Among those arrested today was Donald Buckley, member at the last dail.

Lieutenant-Governor Offers Cup for Best Kept Nelson Garden

That Lieutenant-Governor Walter C. Nichol greatly admired the civic spirit of Nelson, and also was greatly in love with the numerous beauty spots and gardens around the homes in this city was the statement made by Mayor C. F. McHardy, at the tea given by the ladies' committee of the mining convention, at the Nelson Golf and Country club yesterday.

The lieutenant-governor was so taken up with the gardens throughout the city, stated the mayor that he will contribute a handsome silver challenge cup to be competed for annually. This cup will become the personal property for a year of the person or persons having the best kept garden in Nelson during that time. In addition to the cup a handsome silver medal suitably engraved will be presented to the winner for a keepsake. These trophys will amount to between $200 and $300 in value.

Mayor McHardy again announced the lieutenant-governor's intentions at the banquet held in the Eagle hall last night, and it met with an enthusiastic reception, the throng arising en masse singing "For He's a Jolly Good Fellow," followed with three times three rowsing cheers and a tiger.

Yesterday afternoon the lieutenant-governor journeyed to North Nelson where he visited the "Peep o' Day," cottage, the well known and beautiful home of Mr. and Mrs. W. M. Rutherford. The garden and orchard, which are at present very alluring, attracted much attention of the governor, who greatly admired this local beauty spot.

Show In Connection With Mining Convention a Success.

Flowers of all kinds and varieties displaying all the vivid and somber hues of the rainbow were seen at the Nelson and District Horticultural society's rose show, staged yesterday at the head end of the armory, which is the headquarters of the Fourth International Mining convention, now in session.

The rose held sway over all, closely followed by sweet peas, pansies, delphinums, campanulas and pinks, which were all arranged in such a manner as to show them to the best advantage, and were greatly admired both by the visiting delegates and by the citizens, who viewed the display yesterday afternoon and last evening.

The rose exhibit was especially fine, and aroused much comment on the color, and the exquisitely shaped blooms.

The sweet peas, considering the earliness of the season, made a splendid showing, and the perennial flowers that adorned the upper tiers of shelving, coming from the gardens of Mrs. William Rutherford, W. J. Sheppard, H. Selous, A. Wood, W. Beatty, T. Keith and R. V. Ramsden, drew expressions of admiration.

A beautiful English iris, and a vase of Siberian iris, were among the features of the show, also an excellent collection of pansies exhibited by E. A. Sharp.

The judging was done by J. Gilroy and C. Pitman before the morning session of the convention opened. The success of the exhibition was mainly due to the efforts of R. V. Ramsden, president; George Brant, secretary, and A. Albert Wigg.

The first prize for the best exhibit ccy of the Strathcona hotel, and the ccy of the Strathcona hotel, and the others by S. S. Fowler Nichol Thompson, Kenneth Campbell, M. P. P., and Dr. H. B. Morrison.

HANDS ACROSS THE BOUNDARY

International Felicity Reigns at Banquet to Convention Delegates

International good will provided the keynote for the big banquet to the delegates of the fourth International Mining convention last night, one of the largest banquet throngs ever accommodated in Eagle hall being present, and expressing in various ways for three hours its enthusiasm. Canadians and Americans vied with each other in graceful compliment, and when the president of the United States was toasted, following the toast to the King, fervor, and fraternity reigned. The gathering was a mixed one, and the evening's addresses were on a high plane. The Nelson and District Women's institute was in charge of the catering, and orchestra music was a pleasing accompaniment to the feast.

Chairman S. S. Fowler of Riondel occupied the chair, seated with him being T. A. Rickard of San Francisco, Nichol Thompson of Vancouver, C. P. Hill of Hillcrest, H. J. S. Muskett secretary of the lieutenant-governor; Mayor C. F. McHardy, Ven. Archdeacon Graham and C. D. Blackwood.

As already stated, the toast list opened with the successive toasts to his majesty, and the president, and the honors paid were fervent and sincere, the orchestra leading.

Forin Toasts States.

Judge J. A. Forin proposed the toast to the United States, confessing that the mutual relations of the two countries had been so felicitously interpreted the last two days that he approached his task with trepidation. Declaring that the romance of the Kootenay was represented in the old-timers present, he went back earlier yett, to his boyhood days, along the unguarded international boundary, and drew lessons of the concord that should associate the two countries. Empire succeeded empire, he said, but the Aryan race had absorbed the best of the past, and a clean civilization had been built up in the west, where the United States and Canada had joint dominion.

Mr. Rickard, chosen to reply, drew a happy inference from the fact that the national anthems of the two countries "march to the same time," an air, he said, composed by a Frenchman, and felicitously returned thanks for the graceful tributes paid to his country. Indulging in the lighter vein he discoursed for a few moments upon English and American humor, and pointed out that Canadians, as mutual interpreters, filled a role of great significance. "You had the privilege of doing more in the war then we did," he said, returning to serious things, adding, "Again I salute British Columbia for her sacrifices. Every time I think of her I wish her prosperity."

R. S. Ord of Spokane toasted "Canada, Our Sister Country, and the Land of Possibility," happily referring to its 55th anniversary, and to its development and expansion from the precarious beginnings of 1867.

Archdeacon on Canada's Mission

Ven. Archdeacon Graham, calling himself a "Canadian by choice," after a stirring reference to the anthem, "O, Canada," which he declared was melodious beyond any other national anthem in the world with the single exception of the Marseillaise, indulged in a little gentle raillery at the weaknesses of various nationalities in the British family. This led him to the contention that nationalities was incipient vulgarity. There were two spirits, he said, one that looked backward, and one that looked forward. Every intelligent man must be concerned with the trend of the world today, and with the ideals that must be embodied in a "parliament of nations, a federation of the world." Such real men and women, he said, would radiate their spirit to compass all humanity. He quoted the code of Tennyson to the Princess Alexandra when she was about to wed the future King Edward VII.—

"Norman and Saxon and Dane are we
But all of us Danes in our welcome of thee,"

—and applied this spirit to the present situation of the English speaking peoples. "We are," he declared, "all one in looking toward a perfection of race that shall compass every nationality, and finally absorb it into one great manhood."

Mrs. J. T. Andrews here intervened with a sweet song, exquisitely rendered, "If You Love Me Only," and an encore, "The Angle-Cake," her toast to "Our Province," and, Lieut.-accompanist being Miss Ina Steed.

Chairman Fowler proposed the Governor Walter C. Nichol, who had expected to reply to it, being absent through indisposition, he coupled it with the name of Nelson's local member Alderman Kenneth Campbell.

Speaking practically impromptu, Alderman Campbell described in a few words the magnitude of British Columbia's resources, and the delights of nature. He predicted that with the passing years, many new and prosperous communities would arise, among whom Nelson would be a leader.

Vancouver Toasts Nelson.

Toasting the "Dear Old City of Nelson," Alderman Frank B. Woodside of Vancouver, conveyed to the assemblage the greetings of the city council and citizens of Vancouver. Himself a pioneer of Nelson, and later of Rossland, his Kootenay career starting a quarter of a century ago, he declared he had a pride in Nelson's growth, advancement and spirit, second only to the pride he felt in Vancouver, his adopted home. He referred to the long struggle to open up ways of communication between the coast and the southern interior, and now that the routes were open, he invited the residents of Nelson to avail themselves of them often, to visit the coast metropolis. He predicted an important future for Nelson, as the "center of distribution of the mining industry of the province."

Mayor McHardy employed his usual happy phrases in framing his response on behalf of the corporation and citizens of Nelson. How could people live in Nelson, he asked, without wanting to boost? He referred to its situation upon the water, cradled in the hills, decked with beautiful gardens, the joint work of man and Nature. No thinking man could live here without being better, he contended, and he alluded to the pean of the singer, "I raise mine eyes unto the hills whence cometh my strength."

Among the factors assuring Nelson's growth he enumerated its position as a center geographically, its climatic attractions, its growing industries, the fact that mining was now again upon its feet, and its road outlets now being completed. A get-together spirit was needed to make the best use of these advantages.

Gordon Keatley, in his rich baritone, rendered "Marching Along," "If I Might Only Come to You," and finally "Little Town in the Old County Down."

Nichol Thompson toasted "Mining and the Allied Industries, in a felicitious but hard-headed speech, referring especially to the necessity of developing the iron industry.

M. E. Purcell of Rossland replied, making special reference to mining and the prospector.

Toasts were also accorded the ladies, Chairman Fowler and Secretary Fred A. Starkey.

The floor was then cleared and an hour of dancing ensued before the delegates adjourend to the Gem theater to view a film, "The Story of Rock Drilling.

rally severe, viewed from the world standpoint. In British Columbia we have felt it. Production, it cannot be denied, has been affected. But when the facts, as compared with the big mineral states, are considered, we appear to be particularly favored.

"And, now, all the signs point to improvement. The urge everywhere is toward intensified industrial effort. People are recognizing in all parts of war-torn Europe, as in other parts of the world, that if civilization is to stand there must be work. To get the right atmosphere for steady and productive work there must be good will and peace among the nations. This is what those who attended the recent Genoa conference have been striving for. This is what those who have been assembled at The Hague have in mind. When Europe settles down economic conditions will adjust themselves, and once again there will be that steady demand which for British Columbia, for instance, is so essential to the prosperity of the industry in which we are interested.

Province Compares Favorably.

"While we look forward to the future with confidence and an anticipation of greater accomplishments, we have nothing to reproach ourselves with as to the past in this province. In 1921 the value of the mineral production of British Columbia was $23,366,641, a decrease of $7,476,443, or of about 21.06 per cent as compared with the previous year. If this seems serious it is only necesary to hold these figures up against those of some of the mineral producing sections of the United States in order to obtain the proper perspective as to our position: In Arizona, a drop of 77 per cent in 1921; in Montana, 75 per cent; Utah, 55 per cent; Washington, 70 per cent; Nevada, 50 per cent; New Mexico, 77 per cent; and Oregon, 43 per cent.

"These statistics speak for themselves. They show that British Columbia, notwithstanding adverse influences, has been able to more than hold her own. They indicate that her mineral resources are so varied that a setback in respect of one class of metal, because of world conditions, is likely to be offset by a stimulus in the production of another that, for the moment, is in great demand. Her production as yet is insignificant in comparison with the possibilities of the future. No matter what may be said to the contrary by agriculturists, by timbermen, and by fishery officials as to the resources of our country in these three directions—immense as they are—the fact is that, if this province has an important place awaiting her in the development of the American continent, it lies in the exploitation of her mineral wealth, for the winning of the metals stored away in Mother Earth, and the turning of them to the various uses of people living under the conditions of the civilization of the 20th century, is what has made nations in the past, and will continue to assure their greatness in the future.

"Within the tremendous territory stretching from the Rockies to the Pacific, from the boundary of the United States to the Arctic, there are roughly 550,000 square miles. This country's chief characteristic is its mountain ranges. Any intelligent person must see that the outstanding permanent industry of this area will be mining. Lumbering will last for a time, and agriculture will be carried on in the valleys, but mining will be the basic industry. Already there have been discoveries of such importance, and productive mining enterprises of such volume in output and in return, as to fairly lay the foundation for what is to come. There are the gold placers of the Klondike, of the Cariboo and the Omineca, copper mines, or groups of mines, in which precious metals are a byproduct, such as those of Anyox, Britannia, Sunloch and Rossland; a number of lead-silver mines or groups with silver as a byproduct, such as the Sullivan, those found in the Slocan, the Lardeau, etc., and gold quartz mines, of which the best known are those at Hedley and Princess Royal Island and many others.

One-Third the Pacific Highland.

"In this great area, known as the Pacific highland of North America, which is the backbone of the American continent, extending from Mexico to Alaska, there is reason to suppose that there is only one conclusion to reach, and that is that our share in this great belt will not prove to be less than that of Mexico or the United States. Mexico has been mining for centuries, and the United States since the discovery of gold in California in 1849. While our entry to the field has been more recent, enough has been disclosed to point to the general conclusion that this great area in British Columbia should be as productive as the other portions have already demonstrated, and it is to be expected that British Columbia will have its fair portion of the mineral wealth of this territory. Some parts of British Columbia have had a rough combing, and have disclosed the richest minerals and outcroppings, although vast areas still are practically virgin.

"British Columbia offers a great field for prospectors, and the government has been doing all it can to encourage prospectors and prospecting in British Columbia. It is realized that hardihood and technical knowledge are required for a successful prospector. As a step toward the development of this technical knowledge we have initiated winter lectures by the government mining engineers in all parts of the province. Last winter there was a total attendance of some 3000 men at these lectures, which I consider is a good start as an encouraging indorsation of the government's policy. British Columbia's development depends not alone on those of the present, but also on the generations to come, and I am in hopes that the practice of lectures in rudimentary mineralogy by government engineers will become a recognized part of the education in this province.

"Another feature of this work of education is the display at different mining centers of samples of minerals. The collections now being assembled, one of which has been placed in Nelson, are not restricted to the minerals known to exist in the province, but consist for the most part of those minerals of economic value which have not been found here up to the present. This, it is believed, should be of assistance to prospectors and mining men generally, in that it will permit them to become familiar with minerals perhaps more or less new to them; thus equipped with this further knowledge, in their next trips to the hills to make discoveries that will add to the variety of British Columbia's mineral wealth.

"In mixing with mining men these days one is struck with the tendency to concentrate on gold or silver properties. Prospects or mines with either one or the other of the precious metals dominant are wanted. Copper and other of the base metals are not in great demand. The market conditions point to the explanation. It should not be imagined, however, that this state of affairs will persist indefintely.

Will Placering Come Back?

"Just now there is some excitement in the Cedar creek section of the Cariboo. This region was worked over, as was the greater part of the great central plateau, by the prospectors and miners of the middle and later periods of the past century. Gold exists in the placers of that area, and beyond question there are places where the concentration is sufficiently marked to assure profits. Some of the bench lands of Cedar creek have yielded so well as to encourage the belief that the day of the individual miner with his pan, rocker or sluice box has not passed in the Cariboo. Here, and elsewhere in this region, a revival of interest is manifest, and the least that may be expected is a considerable increase in the gold output of the province through greater activity of the placer miner and hydraulic and dredging operations. This stimulation applies as well to sections of the Omineca and of the Peace river areas as it does to the Cariboo.

"If we turn to lode mining, our minds immediately picture the wonder mine of the north, the Premier, which in the past few months has paid over $900,000 in dividends, and is the center of a district the riches of which the future will unfold. I might continue to instance the Princess Royal Island mines, the famous Hedley producer, the Rossland mines, and others.

"In talking of silver we come nearer home and it is very gratifying to find that, after the slump of which you all have knowledge, the outlook is brightening for the Slocan and the other camps that have for so long been the backbone of the mining of the province, that have contributed millions to the wealth of the country, and that have done much for the building up of at least one of the flourishing cities immediately to the south of the line.

Base Metals' Turn Is Due.

"But, as I have said, it is a mistake to build only on the precious metals, lucrative as such properties are when the ore content runs sufficiently high. After all, the real permanent foundation of the industry lies in the developmenut of the copper, lead, zinc, etc. These are the industrial metals, and, while for the present the world is badly crippled industrially, they are going to come into their own. In fact, signs already begin to point in that direction. The holder of a copper porperty, for the exploitation of which there may not seem much immediate hope, should take heart. His turn is coming. And then there are the owners of mines in the ore of which is combined silver, lead and zinc. For years they have been handicapped; rich ore, but, in many cases, the penalties exacted because of zinc contents brought the profit to the vanishing point, if it did not wipe it out entirely.

"It was a great satisfaction to me to see the announcement that the Trail smelter, through metallurgical advances, have been able to make more attractive offers to owners of such ores. It is sincerely to be hoped, not only in the interests of the Kootenays but in that of the province, that the problem of relating to the practical economic treatment of these ores has been solved. If this is so a real service of first importance has been rendered to the mining industry of the country. I heartily congreatulate the technical staff of Trail smelter on its achievements.

Iron Resources Survey.

"I am happy to be able to state that the Canadian geological survey and the British Columbia department of mines are cooperating in the matter of the thorough exploration of the iron ore deposits of the province. As a result of representations made by myself through Hon. Charles Stewart, minister of mines, Ottawa, the work of making a geological survey of the iron ores of the province has been assigned to Dr. G. A. Young, who has been the survey's specialist on iron ore formations for some years. He already has started, and will be in the field all summer.

"In the interior of the province special attention will be given the deposits on Goat creek near Kitchener, which cross the Crow's Nest Pass railway at a point near the town of Kitchener, and extend in a northerly direction for a distance of about eight miles. The ore is a hematite, and has important commercial possibilities. The deposits at Sand Creek and Bull River, too, which also are hematite, are to be carefully investigated. It should be understood that this is not ordinary geological work that is proposed. The result will be information, not only purely geological, but of a practical nature, with a view to the guidance of those having in view the establishment of an iron and steel industry. Dr. Young's work, for this reason, must be supplemented by the department of mines, which, on those properties indicated as meriting the attention, will be subjected to development, possibly by diamond drilling, in order that reliable information may be secured as to the tonnage of ore available.

"There is another branch of the mining industry that must not be overlooked, although perhaps it does not interest the people of this section of the Kootenay to the extent that it does in some of the other sections of the province. I refer to coal mining. Coal, with its byproduct, coke, is essential to a country ambitious to become a producer of iron, steel and the various manufactured articles of which these are the base. Its importance as a part of industrial life cannot be exaggerated. It is a prime requisite. We are fortunate in having large reserves of coal lands. Just how many billions of tons await the hand of the miner in British Columbia it is impossible to say, although estimates have been made by D. B. Dowling that are interesting and have often been quoted. When we consider the Crow's Nest field, the Nicola-Princeton field, the seams of Vancouver island, those found along the line of the Grand Trunk Pacific, and as yet the untouched areas of the Groundhog north of Hazelton, it becomes clear that there is enough to keep the fires of industries burning for generations. So much for the possibilities.

Coal Production Should Grow.

"But contemplation of our present situation does not tend to inspire enthusiasm. For the past 10 years we have been at a standstill in coal production. In 1911 the production was 2,297,718 tons; in 1921 it was 2,569,639 tons, while in the years between it has fluctuated between these totals, only once going beyond the 3,000,000 mark, and that in 1912. Of course this is not altogether our fault. Alberta coal fields are considerable, and they have been developing on a substantial scale in recent years, with the result that the markets of the prairies, to which they have readier access, have been taken care of to a large extent without help. To the south, although our coal has been in limited demand, there has been competition to meet, while the near-coast and island mines have found themselves compelled more and more to depend on the domestic and bunker trade. As circumstances have driven the collieries to depend so largely on home consumption to keep this important industry going, it is hard to understand the shortsighted policy of some of our own people in buying imported fuel oil to keep plants going, business blocks heated, etc. Millions of dollars go out of the country in this way. And these millions are needed to keep collieries active, to develop new coal areas, and generally to foster an industry upon which is dependent the development of those natural resources, the product of which will assure prosperity to those who follow in our footsteps.

Mining Industry Interested in Freights.

"You have been interested, no doubt, in the effort being made by the provincial government, through the minister of railways, Premier Oliver, in securing a more equitable adjustment of freight rates in Canada. I am mentioning this here because I do not know whether it is appreciated how important it is from a mining standpoint, that as much consideration as possible be obtained in this respect. It is not my intention to enter into this question in any detail, but only to direct your attention to it for the reason that I feel we should have behind us not only the quiescent support of the people, but the unanimous and active indorsation of the business men, and particularly the mining men. I have referred to the importance of the mining industtry to us, and have ventured the assertion that as it develops it will be found to far exceed in its returns the agricultural, the lumbering, or fishing of this province. These are great in their potentialities, but mining is the greater in its possibilities. There is much transportation involved in the mining, the smelting, the refining, and finally the marketing of the products of the mines. Every handling creates cost. The higher the rail charges, the higher the ultimate cost, and the greater the load the product carries in the open competition of the world's markets. So it is of the utmost importance to us to help in the presentation of British Columbia's strong case for more consideration in such freight rate adjustments as may be impending.

"I recently saw some interesting statistics which showed that in Canada in 1919 over 35 per cent of all the tonnage handled by our railroads consisted of the products of mines; in the United States, mines' products went over 54 per cent of the total; and they were shown to hold the palm in New South Wales, Tasmania and India. In the United Kingdom, that great industrial empire center, products of mines in 1919 totaled 76.8 per cent of the freight shipped. These figures give us a glimpse of what we may do, and emphasizes the importance to our mining industry of doing our utmost to bring about the adoption of the principle of no discrimination between the east and the west when it comes to fixing the schedules under which the producers of the several parts of this country shall be taxed for the use of the transportation arteries of the continent, all of which either have or are being liberally supported by the credit of the nation. In discussing the freight rates between the east and west I want to congratulate the Associated Boards of Trade of Eastern British Columbia for the energetic measures which they took in this matter by wiring with reference to discriminatory freight rates on basic commodities, to Premier Oliver, when he was presenting the case of British Columbia before the committee in Ottawa recently.

"I want to add this, that it is a pleasure to see so many of our friends from the other side of the boundary line. They are always welcome, both for the sake of the great republic they represent, and because we enjoy their company. We have joined with them in the celebration of the Fourth of July, the anniversary of the founding of a great nation. The two Anglo-Saxon peoples are growing closer together, the United States on the one side and the British Empire on the other. Common ideals, a social system alike in all essentials, and above all the common use of one the English language, are influences that will continue to work toward unity. For myself, I believe that the welfare of a present, very sick world, depends on the preservation of that unity, and the establishment of a good understanding that will withstand the onslaughts of those forces which threaten to wreck the entire fabric of our civilization."

"This convention is a credit to the management. It has a healthy and an inspiring tone. Those responsible have my hearty congratulations. I am sure that its success must be a source of gratification to the committee and to the citizens of Nelson. The spirit that has marked the proceedings from the opening session is the spirit that will lift the mining industry to its proper place, that is, in the front rank, not only of the industries of British Columbia, but of the great Pacific northwest."

Emory's Speedboat Carries Off Honors in Yesterday's Free-for-All Boat Race

After an exciting race the speed boat Evelyn, with A. D. Emory, its owner, at the helm, romped home victor of the Kootenay Launch club's annual free-for-all race, which was resumed yesterday after an elapse of eight years since the last contest.

The race, which extended over a course of 20 miles, was run in two laps to the five-mile buoy and back. In all five launches lined up for the start. They included:

Ladybird—Owned by Lewis N. Gilbert.

Norleen II.—Owned by H. Clifford Irving.

Evelyn—Owned by A. D. Emory.

Reno—Owned by A. A. Perrier, and L. G. Drake's speeder, which has no cognomen.

Gilbert's Ladybird ran in hard luck, for she took the lead early in the race and at the ten-mile post was leading the flotilla with Norleen II. about 200 yards in the rear, closely followed by the Evelyn, Drake's and Perrier's craft being about half a mile behind the leaders. On the third lap going toward the five-mile buoy Laydbird, which had increased her lead by nearly three-quarters of a mile, ran into trouble, her feed pipe becoming clogged, necessitating her withdrawal from the race.

Norleen II., which was the nearest rival to the Ladybird, now assumed the lead, having about a half mile advantage over the Evelyn. While nearing five mile the Norleen began to backfire and it was necessary for her pilot to throttle her down in order to finish the race.

The retirement of the leader from the race and the crippling of the Norleen now gave the Evelyn a chance to win, a feat which she accomplished, but only by a few seconds, as she crossed the line but a 100 yards in front of H. C. Irving's boat.

Reno and L. G. Drake's boats ran the race neck an neck throughhout, Perrier's boat being forced behind in the last lap. Drake finishing third by about a 100 yards' margin.

To A. D. Emory goes the possession of the Patenaude shield for this year, as it is emblematic of the Kootenay Launch club championship. H. C. Irving was the reecipient of a nickel fire extinguisher, the prize offered for second place.

The "bang-and-go-back" race, which was scheduled to follow the main event, did not materialize, and was accordingly uncontested.

George Hunter acted in the capacity of starter, W. R. Jarvis and J. W. Meagher acting as judges. A large gathering of launch owners and others were on hand to see the event.

CONVENTION TO VISIT SMELTER

Nelson Residents Accompanying Delegates Will Also Be Guests

"All aboard for Trail smelter," will be the slogan of the International Mining convention today, when the delegates, after this morning hearing papers on the work being done at Trail, will proceed to that city by the early afternoon train, to be the guests of the Consolidated Mining & Smelting Company of Canada, on a tour of inspection of the great group of reduction, refining, and manufacturing plants, and at dinner, prior to reembarking. It is expected that the citizens of Nelson, as hosts to the convention visitors, will accompany their guests to Trail and enjoy with them the hospitality of the Consolidated. In fact, the hope is expressed that many citizens will embrace this opportunity to see the greatest industrial establishment in the interior and one of the greatest in the world, for the company's invitation is inclusive.

Nelson residents will purchase tickets, but the visitors will travel as the guests of the convention management. The train pulls out at 1:45 o'clock, city time. Arrived at Tadanac, the trippers will step out of the train at the doors of the smelter, where expert guides will be awaiting them.

Discuss Kootenay Ore Treatment.

Yesterday's sessions, apart from the general addresses of Hon. William Sloan and Chairman S. S. Fowler, were featured by three technical addresses of great interest.

At the morning session J. P. McFadden of New Denver, superintendent of the Rosebery-Surprise Mining company, described the treatment processes employed by the company in its concentrators at Rosebery and Sandon, in concentrating the ore from four different operating mines, of which flotation was the basis.

L. H. Biggar, manager of the Ottawa mine, Slocan City, in the afternoon gave a paper on the dry silver ores of the Ottawa, and the flotation system employed at the newly erected Ottawa mill, with such great success.

Another technical address that the delegates followed with the keenest interest was by J. Douglas Lay, manager of the Le Roi No. 2 company, Rossland, on the concentration of Rossland ores.

The session adjourned early to permit the delegates to follow their ladies to the Nelson Golf and Country club.

HAMILTON, Ont., July 5.—Magistrate Jelfs today ruled that a married woman could not be held for an alleged breach of the Revenue act in her home, because her husband could not be located. Men Who Shun Pants

While women in many lands are adopting trousers and other articles of men's apparel on the ground that they are more conducive to health and comfort than women's wear, and the woman who would attempt mountain climbing in anything but trousers should be considered hopelessly behind the times, the men of the mountains of Transylvania are sturdily resisting all attempts to get them to discard their hand-embroidered shirt waists and their lace-trimmed petticoats.

Rumania, wishing to take her place among the nations of today, is a little ashamed that the citizens of her new territory of Transylvania, a war conquest from the Austrians, should appear in skirts, and is trying to persuade them to adopt modern masculine attire. But the men of Transylvania reply that trousers and coats are not only unbecoming, but unsanitary and they will have none of them.

The women of Transylvania do not seem so different from other women, for they wear much of their riches on their persons. Only in the method of wearing them do they need enlightenment, for while they put their wealth into gold coins and wear these over their lace and embroideries, the women of more civilized lands have learned how to wear the least and have it cost the most.

The Lure of the Uncertain

Five men sailed from New York the other day on a vessel bound for a little unnamed island off the coast of Nova Scotia, where they purpose to dig for hidden treasure. The story is that $50,000,000 was taken there from a South American country during a revolution many years ago and buried. The business man who heads the expedition says that even if he fails to find the gold he expects to get a lot of fun and thrills and romance out of the trip. And therein may be found the explanation for many visionary enterprises and much speculation.

There is being spent on this expedition $20,000. The chances are that the investment will return not one cent of profit. Yet if it gives the treasure hunters the pleasure which they undoubtedly will have anticipating the finding of the trove it will not be a total loss. There is almost as much delight in anticipation as in realization, provided one has a vivid imagination and strong faith.

Frequently the expenditures which are made in the search for hidden wealth fall little short of the amount actually found.

But it would take a lot of joy out of life if no one ever took a chance. Moreover the world would not have made much progress if people had been unwilling to risk money, or had even been unwilling to risk their lives, in the search for treasure. Gold was the lure which prompted the early Spanish expeditions to the new world. Indeed, many a voyage of discovery might never have been financed if the promoters had not had as an incentive the hope of finding treasure.

What the Press Is Saying

Women Teachers

If mothers can teach very young boys manly virtues, why is it assumed that only men can do that when the boys get a little older? As for discipline, it is not restricted to either men or women. There are plenty of both who can "do nothing with" children, and plenty of both who have no trouble at all in that respect. Americans are not much interested in statistics, but they will ask for a good many of them before they believe the general proposition that women teachers for boys should give way to the men.—Worcester Telegram.

Man More Cruel Than Nature

After all, the number of deaths recorded in the newspapers during the summer season because of the action of the elements is small in comparison with the lists of fatalities caused by the failure of man-made contrivances and the breakdowns of the human machinery by which they are operated. Nor do the summer storms take toll in such reckelessness in evidence on the highways and elsewhere. While man cannot control the elements, he has, unfortunately, demonstrated that he can rival them in destructiveness. The recent storms direct attention to one of the unavoidable perils to be encountered at this time of year, but it is a peril small in comparison to the needless dangers which beset the public.—Boston Transcript.

Efficient Housekeeping

BY Laura A. Kirkman

THE COUNTRY HOUSEWORK SCHEDULE

A column reader who spends her summers on a relative's farm has written to ask me to write upon the subject of the Country Housework Schedule. This reader friend goes to the country to allow her cousin, who owns the farm, to take a two-months' vacation. While doing this splendid substituting work, my reader cooks for four men who work on the farm, cares for the house single-handed, does the washing and ironing, takes care of the oil lamps, feeds the chickens, does some canning, and gathers the vegetables daily from the kitchen garden.

The first consideration, in systematizing these labors, is to divide the whole week's work so that only a fair share of it is done each day.

The meal problem is the heaviest, so this is the point at which to begin the schedule. Make out a week's menus in advance, planning so that on some days cold cooked foods may be served, with the exception of one or two hot dishes such as potatoes and a green vegetable. Cooking ahead saves much time. Cold meats, salads of cooked vegetables, nourishing cold deserts, or dishes of cooked foods which reguire only warming up in the oven before serving, are great time-savers.

The fireless cooker, or a steam cooker, is another time-saver. For, with either of these cookers the dinner may be prepared and started cooking long before the time of its serving—and then forgotten until the dinner hour; this gives the housekeeper time to rest or do other things, instead of standing over the fire to keep things cooking or to see that they do not burn.

If I were daily feeding the chickens and gathering the vegetables from the garden, I would make the two tasks coincide so that I could gather the vegetables when I went out to feed the chickens.

Careful planning of trips up stirs would be another labor-saving and time-saving help. The lamps and scrap-baskets should be brought down when the housekeeper comes down early in the morning to get breakfast, and when she comes down after making the beds.

Washing vegetables out of doors would prevent a great deal of unnecessary cleaning in the kitchen, as well as give the housewife a few minutes in the open to enjoy the trees and sky and beautiful sunshine.

In general, the farm housework schedule should read somewhat like this: Rise and dress at 5:30; have breakfast ready at 6:30. Have dishes cleared away by 7:30. Make beds. Consult the sheet of menus to see what the dinner and supper are to be—and prepare foods for dinner, ready to put into the fireless cooker at 9 or 10 o'clock. Now do that day's special cleaning (this "special cleaning," of course, varies every day—Monday it is washing; Tuesday, ironing; Wednesday, baking; Thursday, cleaning; Friday, either going to town or canning or sewing; Saturday, baking again; Sunday, going to church). Dinner is served at noon, dishes cleared away by one o'clock, the housewife fills her lamps, rests a while, puts on a fresh dress, and prepares supper.

Tomorrow—How to Dry Peas and Corn.

All inquiries addressed to Miss Kirkman in care of the "Efficient Housekeeping" department will be answered in these columns in their turn. This requires considerable time, however, owing to the great number received. So if a personal or quicker reply is desired, a stamped and self-addressed envelope must be enclosed with the question. Be sure to use YOUR full name, street number, and the name of your city and province.—The Editor.

Styles

BY LENORE

For dinner at a roof or in the garden of a fashionable hotel, one may wear a gown of crepe and lace, combined in the clever manner illustrated below. This is one of the most modish combinations this summer. The gown may be black or white, or white with silver traced lace if a more elaborate effect is desired.

Of course, when dining in the open air, one's wrap is of the utmost importance. The woman who is fortunate enough to possess a Spanish or Venetian shawl, and who has mastered the art of being graceful, may wrap herself in one of these. For more conventional effects, however, a wrap of satin in some brilliant color is smart, or a black crepe cape is altogether correct.

Prairie Premiers Will Confer Upon New Wheat Board

EDMONTON, July 5.—Premiers Dunning of Saskatchewan and Greenfield of Alberta, within the next few days will hold a conference over the question of the two provinces cooperating in the formation of a wheat board under the Dominion legislation framed at the recent session at Ottawa.

Premier Greenfield had not yet heard from Mr. Dunning today as to wether or not he could come to Edmonton ,but in the event of this being impossible, Premier Greenfield will go to Regina for the conference. In addition to discussing the wheat board question, it is likely that Premier Greenfield will seek the cooperation of the Saskatchewan government in the placing of Alberta coal in the prairie markets during the coming fall and winter.

SNIPING INCREASES DUBLIN NORTH SIDE

DUBLIN, July 5.—Two well dressed girls carrying valises in Dane street last evening suddenly dropped them and ran off. Two sentries who were searhcing pedestrians on the street picked up the valises and found them filled with revolvers and ammunition.

While W. J. Ryan, editor of the Evening Telegraph, was proceeding homeward, he halted to assist a young man, who had been wounded by snipers. A bullet struck Ryan in the back while he was stooping over the wounded man. He was taken to a hospital where the bullet was extracted. Sniping is increasing in this quarter of the north side of the city.

COW ON TRACK WRECKS TRAIN

Five Coaches Leave Rails; One Man Dead and Several Injured

CAMPBELLTON, N. B., July 6.—The Ocean Limited express train, which left Halifax at 7:40 o'clock yesterday morning for Montreal, was wrecked by a cow at a late hour last night near the village of St. Moise, Que., 83 miles west of Campbellton.

Mail Clerk Matte of Levis was killed, another mail clerk, name unknown, was severely injured, and the engineer, Ollie Matthews of Campbellton, was seriously scalded. Although the passengers were badly shaken up, none were killed. The track was torn up for a long distance and the wreckage had not been cleared away up to 1 o'clock this morning.

While traveling at a high speed the train hit a cow lying on the track hurling the animal a distance of 40 feet from the roadbed. The mail car, express and baggage car, second class and first-class cars were thrown from the rails, four of them turning over or partly turning over, some baggage and mail being hurled in all directions. The lighter service cars badly broken up. The steel cars held together, preventing loss of life to the passengers. The sleeping cars, chair cars and diner remained on the rails.

Contempt of Court Attachment Order Against Publisher

LONDON, July 5.—(By Canadian Press Cable.)—An order for attachment for alleged contempt of court was granted in the King's bench court here today against the Boswell Printing & Publishing company and Brig.-Gen. Cyril Prescott-Decie, on account of an article in the weekly newspaper, The Patriot, describing the men accused of the murder of Field Marshal Sir Henry Wilson as "brutal, degenerate assassins."

The article in questions, said one of the accused, was of "the burly ruffian type and the other a physical degenerate."

Counsel for the accused men said that both prisoners, James Connolly and James O'Brien, had excellent army records when demobilized. He complained the article in question was likely to be prepudicial to a fair trial of the pair.

Mexican Oil Is Under Constant Market Pressure

NEW YORK, July 5.—Trading in the stock market today was dull and almost devoid of feature, aside from the pressure directed against several of the speculative favorites, notably foreign oils.

Mexican Petroleum and the "A" and "B" issues of Pan American Petroleum were under constant fire at extreme losses of six to 12 points. Selling of these issues was accompanied by out of town reports and later from local sources, which revived similar statements of salt water damage. The heaviness of Mexicans was in contrast to the more striking form of strength displayed by a majority of the domestic oils. Chief among these were Associated, Pacific, Cosden and California Petroleums, in which final quotations showed gains of 1 to almost 5 points.

The most hopeful development of the session was the firmness of rails.

Confusing conditions marked the day's active dealings in foreign exchange. Of all the more important rates, British bills alone were strong, rising 2½c over Monday's closing figure. Allied bills were lower by about 10 to 20 points, the Dutch rate rising 15 points, while the Danish rate and Swedish and Norwegian remittances forfeited 15 points.

Weather Outlook Cheapens Wheat

CHICAGO, July 5.—Auspicious weather conditions on both sides of the Canadian boundary in the spring crop belt had a bearish influence today on the wheat maret here and so likewise did late reports from Minneapolis that flour business had been cut in two. Prices closed nervous at the same as Monday's finish to 1c lower, with September $1.16¼ to $1.16⅜ and December $1.19 to $1.19¼. Corn gained ½c to ⅞c and oats a shade to ¼c. Provisions declined 12c to 42c.

DISARMAMENT CONSUMMATION DRAWS NEARER

Mixed Commission of League of Nations Approves Cecil's Plans

PARIS, July 5.—World dismarmament was declared by Lord Robert Cecil to have been brought definitely nearer today by the action of a sub-committee of the temporary mixed commission on disarmament of the League of Nations in approving the plan for air and land forces under the supervision of the League of Nations, as well as for continental alliances against aggression.

The sub-committee formally approved Lord Robert's plan and sent it back to the full commission. It is taken for granted that the commission will ratify the recommendation in its final session tomorrow.

The full commission yesterday approved the British plan for extending the Washington naval accord to all nations. Thus the league assembly, at its September meeting, will have before it a definite program for world reduction in armies and navies.

French Want Details.

During today's discussion of land disarmament, a French delegate said *his government would want very def*inite provisions in the agreement so that it would be known exactly what the country could depend upon in case of need. The Japanese member of the subcommittee approved the general terms of the plan, but declared he did not believe alliances should be limited to continents, which point he illustrated by giving instances where forces from many countries have been used together, as in the great war.

Lord Robert explained that no one would be barred from aiding a country which had been attacked, but the continental agreement simply limited the obligations of each country. All countries would be free to enter a defensive war if they wished.

Hjalmar Branting, Sweden, on behalf of the smaller nations, expressed the view that they did not favor any further military obligations and suggested that any reform must be slow and cautious.

Egg Market

OTTAWA, July 5.—British Columbia local fresh eggs firmer, paying country points 26c, specials offered at 28c. Western markets unchanged.

AWARD SCHOLARSHIPS.

LONDON, July 5.—(By Canadian Press Cable.)—The appointment of three Canadians to post-graduate science and research scholarships of the exhibition of 1851 was announced by the commissioners today. Those appointed are: James Murray Luck of the University of Toronto, for biology; William Harold McCurdy, B. A., Dalhousie university, for physics, and Donald Frank Stedman of British Co*lumbia university, for chemistry.*

LONDON, July 5.—The French, Italian and United States govern*ments have accepted in principle the* proposals of the British government in regard to the inquiry into the alleged atrocities in Asia Minor, but certain modifications suggested are under consideration, said Cecil Harmsworth, under secretary for foreign affairs, answering a question in the house of commons today in regard to the position of the proposal to send representatives of the great powers for such an inquiry.

BRINGING UP FATHER By George McManus

JOHN W. THOMAS, well-known insurance man of Wilmington, Del., who declares Tanlac promtly overcame his stubborn stomach trouble and run-down condition following two attacks of influenza. Gains weight and now feels fine.

"The flu left me in such a run-down condition life was miserable and work a burden," declared John W. Thomas, well-known insurance man, 600 Hatnall street, Wilmington, Del., in a recent statement regarding Tanlac.

"Twice I was a victim of the flu," he continued, "the last time about two years ago, and since then I suffered from stomach trouble, nervousness and dizzy spells. After eating, gas on my stomach worked up through my chest and made by heart beat so fast it alarmed me and I nearly smothered. I could never get a good night's sleep and got up mornings with a mean taste in my mouth and all tired out.

"Other medicines seemed to do me harm instead of good, but three bottles of Tanlac rid me of indigestion, the nervousness and dizziness My sleep is restful and I am feeling like a different man. Tanlac is certainly great."

Tanlac is sold by all good druggists.

Pathfinders Run Neck and Neck to Win Gold Medal

VICTORIA, July 5.—C. W. Neimyer and Frank Silverthorne of Edmonton, and George F. Gordon and J. E. Sims, also of Edmonton, are after the honor of being the first to pilot an automobile from the Alberta capital to this city through Canadian territory.

As to which pair will win the gold offered by the Victoria Automobile & Good Roads' association for the first car making the trip, has not yet been decided, so close has been the race. Both teams reached the city yesterday, Gordon and his companion crossing the Gulf of Georgia on the Anacortes ferry and Niemeyer and Silverthorne coming by way of the C. P. R. ferry from Vancouver. From Kamloops the two cars ran an almost neck and neck race.

Today at a luncheon to the pathfinding motorists a movement to press for the construction of a highway from Edmonton, through the Yellowhead pass and down the Fraser river to Vancouver, was launched. Tangible plans for the proposed highway were explained and later in the day good roads advocates had a conference with the provincial minister of public works, Hon. W. H. Sutherland.

The Niemeyer car left Edmonton June 17 and from Jasper it was closely followed by the Gordon car.

Both May Get Award

VICTORIA, July 5.—The Victoria Automobile club probably will award gold medals to both C. W. Neimeyer and George F. Gordon, as pilots of the first pathfinding cars to make the journey from Edmonton to Victoria.

Due to a misunderstanding the Neimeyer party was informed by wire from Victoria that they would have to make the trip by way of Canadian territory and they therefore pioneered through the wild country of British Columbia's interior, direct to the coast, while the Gordon-Sims party, which was notified before leaving Edmonton that a detour through the Okanagan and Washington state would be permissable, took that route and reached here a day in advance of the others.

The reason for stipulating that the Washington detour could be taken was the conviction of local highway men that the other route was absolutely impassable.

NELSON CLOUTS TRAIL HURLERS

Hand Trimming to Visiting Ball Nine in Good Exhibition; Score 14 to 6

Nelson seniors won their first ball game of this season yesterday when they walloped the pill all over the lot for a 14-6 score.

Langill on the mound for the locals, pitched a good game, pulling himself out of several bad holes throughout the contest. In all he allowed but six hits to the Trail sluggers.

Harry Gibbs at second for Nelson was also a stonewall. Harry has not lost a bit of his old-time pep, either, and he handled all chances that came his way perfectly, also contributing two timely hits and three runs to the local score card.

Nelson got its lead in the first two innings, when they clouted the offerings of G. Patton to all corners of the lot, collecting no less than nine easily earned runs. Wilmes, who replaced him in the third, held the Nelson boys in check until the sixth when he let three runners slip through. The sixth inning was a dangerous one for Langill, when his offerings took with the Trail boys, and four runs were forced over the pan Trail tried a ninth inning rally and were successful in putting over two counters, but Langill tightened up and the game ended, 14-6.

Here is the play by innings:

First Inning.

Trail—Depasquale, the first man up for Trail, struck out. Howard hit to Notman, reaching first on Notman's error. Butorac hit to left field, scoring Howard, who had gained second on an overthrow to first. Drew fanned and Butorac went out on an attempted steal to third, Bruce to Notman. One run.

Nelson—Gibbs first up, hit to Drew at short, but was safe on Drew's overthrow to first. Gibbs stole second and went to third on Maze's overthrow to second base. Moddrell hit to right field, scoring Gibbs. O'Neil layed down a nifty bunt for one base. Notman slammed the pill for three bags, scoring Moddrell and O'Neil. Bruce sacrificed to D. Patton, scoring Notman. Scanlan and Anderson fanned. Four runs.

Second Inning.

Trail—G. Patton flied out to Langill. Morgan walked, Wilmes hit out to Moddrell on a foul fly, and D. Patton fanned.

Nelson—Hoskins out on a pop fly to Maze. Langill hit to second, being safe on Howard's error. Gibbs to first on G. Patton's error, both runners advancing on an overthrow to the catcher. Moddrell hit to left field for two bases, scoring Langill and Gibbs. O'Neil got a bingle for three bases through second base and drove Moddrell home. Notman waited and got a walk, stealing second. He reached home on Bruce's swat to left for two bases. O'Neil also scored on this hit. Bruce went out on an attempted steal to third. Maze to Depasquale. Scanlan fanned. Five runs.

Third Inning.

Trail—Maze fanned. Depasquale fanned and Howard hit to Scanlan, who retired him at first.

Nelson—Wilmes replaced Patton on the mound. First three Nelson men to bat all gained bases. Gibbs to bat hit to second, scoring Anderson. Langill went out on a steal to second, while Hoskins was retired trying to get home. Gibbs went to third. Moddrell got a base, being hit by the pitcher. O'Neil flied out to Howard. One run.

Fourth Inning

Trail—Butorac out at first, Bruce to Moddrell. Drew fanned, and G. Patton went out on a foul fly to Notman.

Nelson—Notman slammed a two-bagger. Bruce fanned. Scanlan went out on an attempted bunt, Wilmes to Patton. Anderson flied out to Drew, who made a good catch.

Fifth Inning.

Trail—Morgan fanned, Wilmes hit over first for one bag, going out on Patton's tap to Gibbs at second. Patton was out on an attempted steal to second, Bruce to Gibbs.

Nelson—Hoskins flied out to Drew at short. Langill fanned and Gibbs went out, Wilmes to Patton.

Sixth Inning.

Trail—Maze hit to left field for one bag, stole second. Depasquare gained first when Notman muffed his grounder. Howard h it to center, scoring Maze. Depasquale scored when Langill pulled a bone on a throw to second, Howard also making a run on the overthrow. Butorac fanned. Drew was out at first, Notman to Moddrell. G. Patton gained a base on Scanlan's error. Morgan hit to Notman, who threw wild to first, Moddrell's quick return, however, caught Patton at third. Three runs.

Nelson—Moddrell out, Drew to Patton. O'Neil hit safe to center, went to second on G. Patton's error. Notman fanned. Bruce hit to center for two bags, putting O'Neil over the pan. Scanlan hit to short, Bruce going to third. Anderson hit to G. Patton at first, getting a bag on his error, and also scoring Bruce and Scanlan. Hoskins fanned. Three runs.

Seventh Inning

Trail—Wilmes walked. Patton out on a foul fly to Notman. Maze out on a foul fly to Notman. Depasquale fanned.

Nelson—Langill fanned. Gibbs hit to second. Safe on Howard's error; steals second. Moddrell slammed the ball over the fence for two bags, scoring Gibbs. O'Neil hit to Morgan in right field, who doubled Moddrell at second base.

Eighth Inning.

RANGERS PLAY CADETS AT FOOTBALL TONIGHT

Tonight at 5 o'clock will see a junior league football clash, when the Rangers will meet the Cadets. On Saturday night the Wolves and Cadets will meet and this battle should be interesting, as the Wolves are at present playing an excellent game.

Two junior league games recently played, but which were protested last week, will stand as played, according to reports from a junior league committee meeting held last night.

THE PROFESSION OF OPTOMETRY

Has in its ranks men who profess to be able to examine eyes and prescribe proper lenses in ten or fifteen minutes for a small fee.

If you value your eyes and appreciate health and comfort, you will not trust your eyes to such persons for the reason that a systematic and scientific examination of the eyes cannot be made in such time.

Expert advice is usually worth all it costs and in no case is this more true than in examining eyes and prescribing lenses.
