COLUMBUS PRISONERS IN UGLY MOOD

British Soldier Slain in Indian Riots

DISORDER IN MANY PLACES CAUSE WORRY

Accompanied by Cessation of All Work; Troops Called Out

SEVERAL ARRESTS OCCUR, CALCUTTA

Gandhi Passes From Picture as More Serious Outbreaks Come

BOMBAY, India, April 23.—(Canadian Press cable) — A British soldier was slain today in Peshawar of the Pathans, capital of the northwest provinces, slain by a native knife when a number of arrests were being made among the ranks of the civil disobedience campaigners. Advices from Peshawar, which is not far from the Afghan frontier, tell of many disorders which were accompanied by a sudden cessation of work throughout the city.

The reaction throughout the Europeans of India to news of the Peshawar trouble has been a greater cause of gloom than has been felt since the start of the Gandhi movement. The northwest provinces had seemed to be fairly tranquil; the Swaraj strength was believed to center largely in and around Bombay and Calcutta and a few others on the coastal centers. Trouble in the north is always ominous, for the men of the north are of far different temperament than the Bombay people and the Bengalees.

In Calcutta Professor Via Jaykumar, prominent in the Swaraj movement and 29 other persons were arrested while picketing shops. Nationalists attempted to break the police cordons during the arrests and attacked the prison van which carried the prisoners to court. It is said that V. J. Patel, speaker of the Indian legislative assembly, has decided to resign his position in protest against the government's handling of the situation generally.

HUNT RAIDERS

The military authorities are prosecuting the hunt of the raiders of the Chittagong arsenal, where six defenders were slain, with all the resources at their command. Twelve men who are believed to have been implicated were killed in a fight with the troops near Chittagong today and 14 more were arrested. The main body of the arsenal raiders, however, is still at large.

The demonstration in Calcutta followed yesterday's announcement that political prisoners in Alipore jail had gone on a hunger strike in protest against treatment by officials of the jail. Reports spread today that one of the prisoners, Hayor J. M. Sen Gupta of Calcutta, was dead. This the authorities denied and also stated reports of a hunger strike to be false. Thousands gathered outside the jail today, but police ultimately dispersed the crowd and armed pickets were posted in the vicinity as a precaution.

Mahatma Gandhi, the civil disobedience leader, meanwhile was out of the picture temporarily. He is still preaching the doctrine of non-violence in villages.
non-violenie in villages.

A report from Jalalpur said that Gandhi made a speech today at Bardoli in which he stated that he had never heard of any difference of opinion respecting liquor shops, even drunkards admitting that drinking was a vice, pointing to the women volunteers who, led by Mme. Gandhi, had walked from Jalalpur, the Mahatma added:

"There are 100,000 palm trees in this tract. I want to see those trees."

Toronto City Fathers Refuse Increased Pay

TORONTO, Ont., April 23.—Despite the fact that at last night's meeting of the city council, 21 members of the council voted in favor of increasing Aldermen's pay to $1200 and Controllers' to $5000 and that the eight who opposed the measure are nevertheless entitled to the increase, the opposing group headed by Mayor Bert Wemp, has refused to accept the increase.

Mayor Wemp has instructed the city treasurer not to issue his cheques at the increased amount. Controller W. Summerville will present his increase to a children's hospital Alderman Ryding is going to give his surplus money to charity, and Alderman D. MacGregar intimated that he would return the increase to swell the city treasury.

ALBERNI CITY CLERK FOUND SHOT, DEATH

Badly Burned in City Hall Fire in Early Morning Hours

HAD FEARED THAT PROWLERS ACTIVE

Records Burned; Auditor Doing Books; Held Numerous Offices

ALBERNI, B. C, April 23.—The inquest into the death of Martin M. Stephen, municipal clerk and constable, whose body, with a bullet wound through the head, was found early this morning in the ruins of the city hall, which had been destroyed by fire, will be opened tomorrow afternoon. An autopsy late today revealed that death was due to suffocation by smoke, as the bullet wound itself would not prove fatal.

ALBERNI, B. C., April 23—Investigation is proceeding into the fatal shooting early this morning of City Clerk Martin M. Stephens, and the destruction by fire of the city hall.

Firemen who answered an alarm at 4 a.m. found Stephens' body in the vault when they entered the burning building. The clerk had been shot through the head and his body had already been badly burned by the flames.

Stephens' wife told the police that he had been worried since seeing two men prowling about the hall yesterday, and had got

ATLANTIC STATES VISITED BY SNOW

NEW YORK, N. Y., April 23.—Snow storms and record-breaking cold weather gripped the north and eastern Atlantic states today indirectly causing the death of three persons in an airplane crash and disrupting sports schedules over a wide area.

Weather bureau officials blamed a high pressure extending forward to the gulf coast and thence to the Atlantic, for the phenomen, which, they said, will continue to cause unseasonable weather for the next 24 to 48 hours.

SIX-YEAR-OLD LOST FOUR DAYS IS SAFE, WELL

REDDING, Cal., April 23—A mother's dream that her young son, lost in the mountain wilderness, would be found alive came true today.

Hungry and with his clothing in shreds, Asa Lee Lakey, Jr., six years old, was found by a searching party after he had subsisted four days on snowballs, grass and manzanita berries.

The child was weak from exhaustion, but otherwise was in remarkably good condition.

The child had wandered 13 miles, and across a 3,000-foot mountain ridge. He said he did not become frightened when he realized he was lost, but at once trudged to the top of a mountain to get his bearing.

PLANE CRASHES INTO HILL AND THREE KILLED

Prominent Air Engineer of Packard Plant Among Victims

ATTICA, N. Y., April 23—A snow-covered hill side near here proved a death trap and three men, one of them a leader in aviation circles, met death as their plane crashed against the hill in a blinding snow storm this afternoon.

The dead:

Captain Lionel M. Woolson, aeronautical engineer of the Packard Motor Car Company of Detroit and designer of the Packard Diesel airplane motor.

Charles S Knight, a test pilot for the Versille company of Detroit, manufacturers of the plane which crashed and was equipped with one of the new Diesel motors, and Harold B. Scutt, Doublastown, L I., pilot.

The plane, a four place cabin monoplane, was being flown from Detroit to New York where it was to be exhibited in the aviation show.

The plane was first sighted over a farm about four miles south of here by some workmen on a nearby highway. The workmen said it seemed to be flying in a peculiar manner but was heading west. Suddenly they said it swung sharply about and headed directly for the hillside. A moment later there was a crash as the plane struck the hill.

WASHINGTON, D C., April 24—The senate today rejected by a vote of 14 to 44 a proposal by Senator Hayden, Democrat, to place Canada and Newfoundland under the immigration quota law.

SCOTCH ARE ALARMED

Want Self Government; Declare Losing Nationality; People and Industry Fleeing, Says Nationalist Speaker

OTTAWA, Ont, April 23—The use by England of her large majority at Westminster "to over-ride the wants and wishes of the people of Scotland," is held by Baillie William Thompson of Glasgow, as the reason for many Scots seeking in other lands the freedom and opportunity denied them in their own country. Mr. Thomson, on a world wide tour in the interests of the Scottish National Party, addressed the S Andrew's society at Ottawa, as a sovereign nation, Scotland should have the right of self government as a sister nation within the group of nations which make up the British Empire, he said.

After 200-years of parliamentary union with England, Scotland was on the verge of losing her national character. Her industries were failing, Mr. Thomson continued, and her people were emigrating at the rate of half of million a year. The Scottish National Party was attempting to avert a national disaster and if given the opportunity Scottish people would yet build a modern Jerusalem within the boundaries of their homeland.

HIKES ACROSS MOUNTAINS TO SEE WILLINGDON

Veteran Prospector Arrives at Quesnel a Week Ahead of Time

QUESNEL, B. C., April 23.—So that he might take his place in the guard of honor composed of ex-service men, escorting the governor-general and Lady Willingdon to the cenotaph, where a wreath will be placed by his excellency, George Shaw, old-time prospector, native son of Lightning Creek, Cariboo, a veteran of the 67th Western Scots, spent two days and nights "route marching" with his blankets, "Sunday best" clothes and prospecting kit strapped to his back, only to find that he was just one week ahead of time.

Quesnel, "as the crow flies," lay a day's hike distant from where George had wintered in new country.

"You kin make 'er in one day, ef yu run the hills," they told him. But George, on the evening of the second day, after climbing three mountains where hitherto only one had been known to exist, struck an old trapper's cabin.

He reached Quesnel on Thursday last—but it was the previous Thursday to that on which the governor-general's party was due to arrive.

Widows, Mothers and Fathers Sorrowfully Claim Dead in Prison

COLUMBUS, Ohio, April 23.—They came to claim their dead today. The widows, mothers, fathers, brothers and sisters of the 318 convicts who lost their lives in the Ohio penitentiary disaster.

Timidly and tearfully they formed a mass against the bars of the office gate of the big prison where smoke snuffed out the lives of their loved ones. Inside, at a little table, sat a "trusty", pencil in hand, and reference book before him to pass them beyond the outer gate, and into the custody of Miss Amanda Thomas, daughter of the warden, and Dan Donzo, chief record clerk.

Miss Thomas, tight lipped, sorted cards and passed out information while Bonzo aided her. Both were acting for Warden Preston E. Thomas, who had issued the orders for the claiming of the dead.

Faces were pressed against the bars. Tired, weary faces. Faces with lines of tragedy drawn across them by the indelible ink of the catastrophe. Among the scores of kinfolk of Ohio's prison dead stood women, weeping. Around them the more composed members of the crowd had drawn invisible circles, allowing them in a small degree to be alone in their grief. Mothers, old and sorrowful, glanced first at the bars which for varying periods had shut off their sons from the outside world, and then beyond them at the fyling clerk who might have known their errant ones who died in the smoke.

Guards Avert Newest Disturbance, Prison

COLUMBUS, Ohio., April 24.—A threatened disturbance was quickly averted by guards at Ohio penitentiary early this morning after a group of prisoners working on the night shift in the prison coal house deserted their posts. The prisoners, at first reported in a defiant mood, returned quietly to their jobs as soon as the guards approached them.

The prisoners had deserted their posts about 1:10 a.m. today and disappeared into the prison yard, guards reported.

The penitentiary walls were being closely guarded by officials who believed a break for the wall might be imminent.

'PAT' BACK HOME

Premier King's Pet Terrier Enjoys Night Out Before Return of Master

OTTAWA, April 23—(CP)—Pat, Irish terrier pet of Premier Mackenzie King, who took "French leave" of his comfy quarters at Laurier house Tuesday, returned home of his own accord this morning. Many Ottawans were keeping a sharp weather eye for the wandering canine, some prompted by the knowledge that the dog was a strong favorite with the prime minister and others by the fact that a generous reward was offered for his return.

TWO VANCOUVER TEACHERS DIE IN LYNN CREEK

Lothian Sacrifices His Life in Effort to Save Hyndman

NORTH VANCOUVER, April 23—J. A. Hyndman, Vahcouver, and F. E. Lohian, Vancouver, teachers in Carleton school, Vancouver, perished in Lynn Creek today before the eyes of 18 girl pupils they had taken for a mountain hike.

Mr. Lothian sacrificed his life in a gallant attempt to save his friend.

The party had reached second canyon and Mr. Lothian safely crossed the large log that serves as a bridge, when Mr. Hyndman lost his balance halfway across and fell into the boiling current.

Without hesitation Mr. Lothian plunged into the swollen creek but failed to reach his friend and both were swept over the falls and perished.

The double tragedy occurred at 11:40 o'clock.

Several of the girl students nearly swooned when they realized what had occurred, but others ran quickly for help.

Police recovered the body of Mr. Lothian and are dragging for Mr. Hyndman's body.

INDIAN REVOLT IS SPREADING FAR

British and Gurkha Troops Guarding City of Latest Revolt

LONDON, April 23—(Thursday)—(AP)—Sudden extension of the anti-British movement in India to far away Peshawar, the great gateway to the northwest near the Afghan border, has roused disturbing thoughts here.

The Lahore correspondent of The Daily Mail sent a version of developments in Peshawar which dwarfed earlier reports. The dispatch said that a serious outbreak was suppressed only when troops poured machine gun and rifle fire into a riotous mob, killing 20

The mob, inflamed by recent propaganda and speeches by leaders of the Indian National Congress, had held up an armored car, poured kerosene on it and ignited it, the two occupants being burned to death.

It was related further that a British sergeant had been pulled off a motorcycle in the bazaar and attacked with an axe. It was reported that he had died of his wounds.

The streets were said to be strewn with stones which the mob hurled at the police and soldiers

H. A F Metcalfe, deputy commissioner of police, and several other police officers were so severely injured as to require hospital attention.

British and Gurkha troops are holding the city The gates of the place are strongly guarded in order to keep out the wild tribesmen of the frontier, who whenever disturbances arise, habitually swarm into the place, looking for loot

The correspondant added that the congress leaders whose speeches inflamed the mob, have been arrested.

OPINIONS DIVERGENT

Question of Native Born Governor-General Causes Discussion in Autstralia; Not Favored Generally

MELBOURNE, Australia, April 23—(Canadian Press Cable via Reuters)—Lord Stonehaven's term as governor general of Australia will expire in October, and it is now generally expected he will be succeeded by the first Australian-born governor-general, Sir Isaac Isaacs, senior justice of the Australian high court, having been recommended.

The Manchester Guardian and British circles generally welcome the report the next governor-general would be an Australian, and Australian paper is strongly attacking the selection. Cables from Britain reveal a feeling that imperial unity more likely be strengthened than weakened where the governor-general is a native of the country he governs, if only for the fact that Britain could not be blamed for his mistakes, if any.

But the Melbourne Argus says: "The idea of a native-born governor-general is obviously borrowed from southern Ireland and Australians are not prepared to accept it is a worthy precedent.

JEERS GREET WARDEN AS HE SEES PRISON

Death Toll in Columbus Fre Reaches 318; Four Others Expected Die

NO PRECAUTIONS AGAINST FIRES

Restless Prisoners Cause More Trouble; Charge Officers Lax

COLUMBUS, Ohio, April 23.—Sensational charges that prison officials could have saved all of the 318 prisoners who died in the Ohio penitentiary fire Monday night and an admission from Warden Preston E. Thomas that no general fire precautions are taken at the institution were read into the record of the board of inquiry today.

Charges that the prison officers were lax in their consideration of the value of human life were made by A. E. Nice, Columbus fire chief

The warden blamed the state for over-crowding the prison to almost twice its capacity.

Chief Nice declared that all the victims could have been saved if they had been released from their cells as soon as the fire was discovered. He told the board that there must have been undue delay because the first alarm came from a box outside the prison walls.

Warden Thomas, recalled to the witness stand after Nice finished his testimony, was questioned in detail as to what precautions were taken against fire and why he went outside the prison walls to prevent any escapes when a serious situation prevailed inside.

NO PROTECTION

He replied that he did not provide general fire protection at the prison because Columbus fire companies can reach there in two minutes and that he did not go to the scene of the fire because he had given orders and expected them to be carried out.

The investigation continued through a day marked by another scare, supplied by restless prisoners who caused the number of guards and troops to be augmented. Several thousand prisoners in the idle house and 600 Negro convicts in the dormitories created a disturbance but were quieted without serious happenings.

Prison routine was returning to normal. One hundred and forty men were transferred to other state institutions to relieve over-crowded conditions and within a day or so the convicts will resume work in the prison factories.

MAXTON PARTY ABOLISHES "RED FLAG" WINDUP

Sing "Auld Lang Syne" Instead; Maxton in Tears

BIRMINGHAM, April 23—(CP)—The "red flag", hymn of revolt, was not heard at the final day's meeting of the Independent Labor party here. Instead, the familiar strains of "Auld Lang Syne" rang through the meeting hall, led by the Scottish delegation who were followed, in lusty and unwavering tones, by the English members.

The alteration in the intended program was typical of the spirit of the concluding session of the I.L.P. when a note of thanks to James Maxton the president, was passed, Maxton sank back in his chair and wept.

VICE-PRESIDENT BLAYLOCK LOOKS WELL BUT TIRED

Executive of Consolidated Convalesces Rapidly From Operation

ARRIVES FROM EAST WITH MRS. BLAYLOCK

They Will Drive to Trail This Morning; No Interview

Looking in good health but travel-tired, S. G. Blaylock, vice-president and general manager of the Consolidated Mining & Smelting Company of Canada, who was operated upon some weeks ago in Montreal arrived last night on the Crow boat with Mrs. Blaylock, coming directly through from the east.

Admitting he was "still a bit wobbly," and not quite equal to football as yet, Mr. Blaylock, when seen at the wharf, predicted he would be ready for football shortly.

INTERSTED IN GARDEN

Advised of the advanced state of the spring, which has brought on the gardens some weeks ahead of the average season, he expressed concern as to whether the plants "heeled in" at his ranch on the North Shore would be too much developed for their good.

He resolutely insisted, however, on being excused for the present from expressing views on business conditions as he observed them, or discussing the program of the company.

Mr. and Mrs. Blaylock spent the night at "George Benwell's ranch," otherwise the Hume, planning to drive home this morning to Trail, where Mr. Blaylock will once more resume the reins as general manager of the Consolidated.

It was while returning from the "smoke hearing" by the international joint commission in Washington, that Mr. Blaylock entered a Montreal hospital to undergo an operation. Mrs. Blaylock joined him in Montreal six weeks ago.

LIBERALS HEAR ABOUT WORKINGS ELECTORAL ACT

D. D. McLean Gives Address at Meeting Nelson Associations

At a joint meeting of the Nelson Liberal association and the Nelson Women's Liberal association held in the Board of Trade rooms on Tuesday night Mr. Grummett of Revelstoke, returning officer for the West Kootenay, explained the various phases of the New Electoral act.

This act requires a subdivision of the whole district into rural polls containing not over 300 voters. Appointment of a registrar for each subdivision is necessary.

The registrar must collect the names of all bona fide voters in his polling division and will hold three sittings to enable any names missed to be registered.

At the meeting a map of the Nelson provincial riding was exhibited showing some 15 divisions where about 10 registrars have been sworn in and where the remainder will be appointed immediately.

D. D. McLean, Liberal nominee for Kootenay West, gave an interesting address stressing the aims of Liberalism which included a note of optimism for the success of the Liberal administration and the Liberal candidate in this constituency.

No information was forthcoming as to the probable date of a Dominion election but since the voters' lists will be entirely new and will have to be compiled for the whole Dominion it was thought that the event would not come until probably late this fall or next year

NEW DOLPHIN FOR RIONDEL WHARF. McLEAN ADVISES

D. D. McLean, Liberal candidate for Kootenay West, has been notified by Hon. J. C. Elliott, federal minister of public works, that the engineering branch has been authorized to replace a nine-pile fending dolphin at the northwest corner of the public wharf at Riondel, at an estimated cost of $270.

The steamer Nasookin, which during the winter schedule was combining the Kaslo run with the Kootenay Landing one, knocked out the dolphin on March 22, but subsequent examination showed that 5 of the nine piles had been broken previously, P. E. Doncaster, district engineer, reported to the department.

up at 4 o'clock and gone to the office.

The theory was advanced that the clerk had found the vault opened, and had been shot down while he was making an investigation.

F. H. Keed, chartered accountant from Victoria, had arrived yesterday to conduct the annual audit of the books, and was to have concluded the audit this morning. He had checked the cash balance last night and it had seemed in order.

All the city records were destroyed in the fire. The safe of the city hall had not been opened today, but it is not believed that it contained much cash, as Stephens had made a deposit in the bank on Tuesday.

The city hall was one story frame structure with a concrete vault.

City Clerk Stephen's held a unique multicity of offices. He was also chief of police, supervisor of public works, fire chief, and secretary of the school board. For many years he had exercised all the official civic duties of this little city, the concentration of this work on one man having been adopted by the council as a means of drawing in the civic purse strings following the collapse of the pre-war boom.

Stephens' was about 50 years of age. His wife and three children survive.

In an effort to offset competition created by the Ambassador Bridge the Windsor and Detroit Ferry Co. reduced rates for passenger automobiles to 25 cents for car and driver, which has half the former charge.

Women in China are now eligible for examinations for all public offices, and a few women have already qualified as magistrates.

GUILTY DEALING IN FORGED STOCK

Clark Alias Middleton Remanded for Sentence in Victoria Court

VANCOUVER, April 23—Charged with dealing in forged stock certificates of the McDougall-Segur (new) Co., A. C. Clark was remanded in police court today to April 30 for sentence.

"I have no hesitation in finding the accused guilty," said Magistrate H. C. Shaw, in reply to defense counsel's argument that Clark's story of receiving the certificates in a business transaction was worthy of belief.

It was charged that Clark, who is also known as Middleton, transferred a certificate for 2000 shares to Christopher Boyd, Nicomen island, in return for $300 in cash and a number of mining stock certificates and that other allegedly forged certificates were found in his possession.

Refused Give Up Dead Body of His Father in Seattle

SEATTLE, Wash., April 23—Seattle police today were forced to use tear gas bombs to gain entrance to a house and overcome Ephraim Deschene's resistance to the removal of the body of his father, Henry, who had been dead for two months.

Tenants of the house owned by the father, alarmed because he had not appeared to collect the rent, went to the home today to inquire if the 70 year old man was ill. The son slammed the door in their face and the called police.

The body was removed to the county morgue from the bed where it was lying, fully clothed. The 45 year old son was taken to police headquarters. He will be given a sanity hearing, police said.

Eczema on Face, Neck and Hands. Cuticura Heals.

"Eczema broke out in pimples all over my face, neck, arms and hands. I had to keep my sleeves rolled up so they would not irritate the breaking out on my arms. "I sent for a free sample of Cuticura Soap and Ointment and it gave relief. I purchased more and in about two weeks I was completely healed." (Signed) Percival S. Pinder, R. R. 6, Lindsay, Ont., Aug. 27, 1928.

RED RAIN FALLS IN AUSTRALIA

SYDNEY, Australia, April 23—When red rain falls, Australians call its source the "cock-eyed bobs." They are newely discovered causes of occasional red rains in this sections, which even coats trees with red mud.

The "cock-eyed bobs" are fierce, desert whirlwinds that suck fine red sand into upper altitudes. Under certain conditions this sand floats for hundreds of miles into rain belts, where the water drops carry it back to earth again.

LORD HEWART HAS PRAISE, PAPERS

Says Same Grumblings Now as Half a Century Back

LONDON, April 23—(By Thomas T. Champion, Canadian Press staff correspondent)—Like many another who has attained eminence in the law, Rt. Hon. Lord Hewart, lord chief justice of England, started life as a newspaperman. He appeared, therefore, rather in the character of an expert witness when, at the Lyceum club, he made some comparisons between past and present methods in journalism.

"I do know something of the press of 40 or 50 years ago," said his lordship, "and upon my word I cannot help thinking that the criticisms one hears today are very much the same as the criticisms one used to hear then.

"What are those criticisms? It is sometimes suggested that newspapers have a way of taking up topics which are popular, and dropping them like hot potatoes when the public interest waned. The same sort of thing was said of the press many years ago.

"What strikes me more and more about readers is their ingratitude. People grumble at the newspapers, but what would those grumblers do if they could not get their newspapers? I cannot help thinking a lot of nonsense is said about the so-called defects of the press. I prefer to think of its wonderful achievements, its immense variety, and the wealth of ability bestowed upon it.

"Compared with the press of today, the press of 40 or 50 years ago exhibited a certain prolixity, a certain pomposity. On the other hand, it might be that today, in the opinion of serious persons, newspapers devote too little space to serious news."

FREDERICTON, B. C., April 23—The first number of Acadie, "a semi-monthly publication reflecting and interpreting the life and character of the maritime provinces and their people within and beyond their provincial boundaries" will make its appearance April 15. Issued under the editorship of Theodore Goodrich Roberts, the new magazine's first number will appear on the sixty-ninth anniversary of Bliss Carman's birth, and will be a tribute to the memory and inspiration of Canada's best loved poet.

The Carman note is sustained throughout the first issue in contributions by Charles G. D. Roberts, B. H. Hathaway, August Leisner, and V. B. Rhodenizer.

Hon. R. B. Bennett and Hon. Peter Veniot are among contributors to the maritime atmosphere of the new publication.

STAR FISH ARE CAUSE OF WORRY

BIVALVE, N. J., April 23—Sea floor mops have been used in an effort to halt an invasion of star fish threatening destruction of the Maurice river oyster beds. Large areas of the 32,000 acres planted with oysters have already been ruined by the fish and the future of the $4,000,000 industry, according to the United States bureau of fisheries, will depend upon immediate arrival of warmer weather and heavy rains to drive the invaders into the ocean.

Since dredging would ruin the beds, the mops, made of cotton waste and similar in shape to those used by housewives, are dragged over areas upon which the star fish have settled. Several thousand bushels of the fish have been brought ashore by the mops. They will be used as fertilizer.

These all mark a suit as new: A contrasting blouse, softened details, pleated fullness in the skirt.

He Would Abolish the Junior Matriculation Exams in Some Schools

Waster of Time and Money Says Dr. Sedgwick at Coast

SUGGESTS "CREDIT SYSTEM" IN B. C.

Would Hold Exams at End of Year, Not Easter; Teachers Convening

VANCOUVER, April 23—Characterizing junior matriculation examinations as a waste of time and money, and part of a vicious system which has detrimental effect on the whole term's work of the student, Dr. G. G. Sedgwick, of the University of British Columbia, speaking on "the problem of examinations" at the British Columbia Teachers' federation convention at Kitsilano high school today, advocated their abolition, or modification at least. He offered a number of suggestions by way of improving the system.

"I would suggest that at least two thirds of the students taking matriculation, that is the two thirds ranking highest, be passed without examination to the university "without further fuss," said Dr. Sedgwick. "I can see no danger in it at all. As for the remaining one third, examinations could be taken if not as from any certain school."

The speaker also suggested a "credit" system whereby schools of a certain standard and equipment could pass students on the showing during the term without examination. There would, he said, be certain safeguards required. He advocated further that schools be approved annually through rigid inspections. For schools not reaching the standard required, examinations were recommended, especially for students seeking scholarships.

"I am of the opinion that examinations should be held at the end of the year and not at Easter time," concluded Dr. Sedgewick. "This would obviate the cramming system and there would not be the two-months' period when pracally nothing is accomplished."

CURRICULUM CHANGES

S. J. Willis, superintendent of education, spoke on "curriculum changes", dealing with a comprehensive reorganization of the high school curriculum. A departmental committee working for the past two years, he said, has formulated courses leading to graduation by credits in junior matriculation, normal entrance or high school graduation. Provision has been made for the acceleration of pupils who are able to cover the junior matriculation course in three years.

Sir John Admas denounced class-teaching, or rather the preponderance of it as prevailing at the present time in speaking on "the death-knell of class-teaching."

He advocated more opportunity for students to specialize and advocated the development of self-reliance and independence of thought in the training of the student.

SEES HUSBAND IN NEWS REEL WITH A LADY FRIEND

BERLIN April,—A Berlin court has granted a decree to a wife aho, while her husband was away on business in England, happened to see a newsreel of a football game played in that country. Among the spectators accidentally shown in closeup during the photographing of the game was the absent husband, obviously more interested in his woman companion than in the game itself.

The injured wife persuaded the manager of the picture theatre to give her a little of the incriminating celluloid. She brought it into court, and the divorce followed.

LONE HEATH HEN SURVIVING RACE

BOSTON, April 23.—The last solitary survivor of the heath hen is still alive, the Division of Fisheries and Game of the State Department of Conservation reports ofter taking its annual census of the species.

The lone bird, probably the loneliest in the world is a resident of the island of Martha's Vineyard, near the farm of James Green, in West Tisbury. The sole survivor is a male, and then it passes its natural span or falls prey to an enemy the species will be found only in a few fortunate museums. Like the extinct passenger pigeon ,countless thousands of heath hen occupied this section of the country. They were slaughtered in great numbers, almost to the vanishing point, before protection was provided. In 1928 there were but three specimens on Martha's Vineyard, and bird lovers hoped reproduction might save the breed.

SAYS SOCIAL ENTERTAINMENT TOO ELABORATE

AUCKLAND, N. Z. April—That social entertainment is to elaborate is the opinion of many Auckland society women. Several well-known women are urging more simple fare at social gatherings. The expense of afternoon teas is a serious matter to the hostess of moderate means. A list has been circulated for signature by those willing to abolish the expensive dainties which are often followed by disastrous results to the digestion Several doctors warmly support the idea from a health viewpoint.

TO DESIGNATE ARTERIAL ROADS IN SHORT TIME

Most of Necessary Data Assembled and Minister Is Working on Proposal

VANCOUVER, April 23.—Declaration of arterial highways to be taken over and completely maintained by the provincial government, as provided for in the new Highways and Traffic Control act passed last session, will be made very shortly, stated Hon. N. S. Lougheed, minister of public works, today.

P. Philip, the deputy minister, and other officials, have already assembled most of the data necessary for making these decisions, he said.

Granting of bus and truck schedule franchises will also take place shortly, the minister announced. Most of the operators of these services have filed their applications and schedules and the work of departmental approvals is now in process.

When all the material is before the government, Mr Lougheed said it would be possible to decide what rate of tax is to be imposed on the bus lines. The act provides for a levy not exceeding one per cent of the gross revenues. It may not be necessary to impose the maximum, he said.

During the past few days Mr. Lougheed, in company with his deputy, has visited most of the districts adjacent to Vancouver where road work is to be undertaken this season.

Shiny accessories are the smart thing this season and this is the way the chic Parisienne ensembles are accessories in patent leather.

LONDON NAVAL TREATY MAKES HISTORY

Tuesday saw history made which will be retold the world over for generations. The London naval treaty of 1930 was signed by accredited envoys of five nations. It is one of the greatest single steps toward peace that the world has ever known. It has resulted in a closer understanding between the Anglo-Saxon races. Let us hope the London naval treaty is but a step toward greater things to make war a thing of the past.

The conference secured a three-power agreemnt on a building program. United States, Japan and Great Britain signed this pact. The European situation involving France and Italy was more difficult to solve and resulted in these two powers signing an optional clause. France and Italy, as far as the conference is concerned, have only adjourned their deliberations. It is their hope to reach an agreement in regard to the Mediterranean, and it is also hoped to sign the remaining clauses of the treaty at a later date.

However, who won the conference is on everybody's mind.

Spanish newspapers conclude that the naval conference was a flat failure so far as the European powers were concerned, but was a "political triumph" for the Anglo-Saxons. Seeing that Great Britain was the only power represented at the conference that has made any actual reduction in armament because of the conference or in hope of giving it success, that the United States pledged itself to take a further five-year holiday in battleship building, while Italy refused to bind itself to anything and France served notice that it will disregard the Washington agreement if Germany increases her navy, the "triumph" of the Anglo-Saxon powers is as hard to discover as the supposed "failure" of the continental powers to get what they wanted.

COLUMBUS PRISON TRAGEDY IS UNCALLED FOR

The disastrous and tragic fire which swept the penitentiary at Columbus, Ohio, early this week, taking over 300 lives of prisoners incarcerated there, will no doubt give the United States prison authorities something to think about.

Needlessly, and apparently through someone's blunder, 300 men, locked n cells, were unmercifully suffocated or burned to death. The key giving them freedom from the flames could not be secured. Someone, or maybe more, will receive a reprimand, and the damage will be repaired and the tragedy forgotten in a short time.

Three hundred lives, be they convicts or everyday honest to goodness men and women, are too great a sacrifice to be made in these days through demon fire, especially if this could be prevented.

Penitentiaries, like other institutions throughout the world, should be up-to-date. In Columbus a building constructed in 1890 for 1500 prisoners, last week in the year 1930, 40 years since, housed 4300 prisoners. Such overcrowding is almost beyond human imagination.

The statement from the superintendent of Canadian prisons yesterday that such a tragedy could not occur in any Canadian prison is a feather in the hat of the Dominion. Canadian prisons are constructed absolutely in a fireproof manner. In this enlightened age for the sake of humanity all buildings housing so large a number of people should be fireproof.

That Body of Yours

By JAMES BARTON, M. D.

DEEP BREATHING HELPS EMPTY THE STOMACH

One of the interesting things about that body of yours that can be seen by the aid of the X ray, is the movement of the stomach.

As you know here are muscle fibres running longways, crossways, and diagonally in the walls of the stomach, and these muscles 'churn' up the food and thus get it mixed thoroughly with the stomach digestive juice.

After a certain time, when the digestive juice is well mixed in with the food, the muscle walls then push the food forward into the small intestine.

Now the stomach may be in line with the small intestine and the food is thus thrown directly into intestine without the least trouble or resistance.

On the other hand the stomach movements by means of the X-ray, noted that deep breathing stimulated the forward driving movement of the stomach so that the contents of the stomach were emptied more rapidly into small intestine.

When you eat a heavy meal there is often a feeling of fullness in the stomach and to overcome or relieve this feeling it seems very natural to take a long deep breath.

And this long deep breath actually helps because it hastens the movement of the food from stomach to intestine. Thus if the stomach were normally sending food into the intestine at the rate of three times a minute, say, increased it to five or six times, you can readily see how it could relieve you of that 'full feeling'.

Now this little discovery is of help in overcoming the spasm that occurs at the opening from stomach to intestine.

This spasm, that closes the entrance, is one of the symptoms of ulcer of the stomach. The spasm can be caused by simple nervousness.

It has been found that deep breathing will relieve the spasm due to nervousness but has no effect upon the spasm due to ulcer of the stomach.

So the next time you get that 'full' feeling just try to take some long breaths slowly. In fact a half dozen long breaths, two or three times a day, will not only aid digestion but will help to 'ventilate' your lungs.

Hot Cross Buns! Hot Cross Buns!

The expression upon the faces of these two pretty youngsters speaks volumes. The glorious moment has arrived and each, armed with the requisite for the proper enjoyment of living during Easter season, is proceeding to do justice in the traditional manner. The little girl on the (left) doesn't need to be told it is a hot cross bun, she could tell at the first bite with her eyes closed. The child on the (right), is just plain thrilled and doesn't care who knows it. The mere fact that today isn't Good Friday doesn't mean a thing—to them.

PROGRESS OF THOUGHT

Prof. Seligman of Columbia University, noted economist, says "the instability and confusions of modern life have destroyed the serenity of mind essentials to scientific contemplation."

In time of old, the pioneers
Who did a lot of drinking,
Had no loud furore in their ears
To interfere with thinking;
In silent hours of mental stress,
Adopting thoughtful poses,
These guys begat devices that
Have filled our lives with noises.
We pick fine music from the air
When'eer a knob is shifted,
And lean back in an easy-chair
With heart and soul uplifted;
With happy smile we sit at ease,
All mental trials shirking,
For noise affects our intellects
And keeps our brains from working.
Our modern life has much to boast
Of wonderful devices
Which brighten homes from coast to coast
At easy-payment prices.
Yet, while observers marvel at
The speed our life attains
When music flows from radios
We cannot use our brains

What Do You Think?

WEBBER WOULD STOP SUNDAY SOCCER GAMES

Following is a letter received by A. Wallach, secretary of the Wolves Sporting club from the secretary of the Lord's Day Alliance.

Mr. A. Wallach, secretary Wolves' Sporting club, Nelson, B.C.

Dear sir:

Recent issues of the Vancouver papers carried the news items announcing proposals for Sunday soccer in Nelson during the coming season.

Permit me to call your attention, and the attention of the members of your club, to the fact that Canadian law places some restrictions upon Sunday games in Canada. According to the Lord's Day of Canada, Section 7:

"It shall not be lawful for any person on the Lord's Day, except as provided in any provincial act or law now or hereafter in force, to engage in any public game or contest for gain, or for any prize or reward, or to be presented thereat or to provide, engage in, or be present at any performance or public meeting, elsewhere than in a church, at which any fee is charged, directly or indirectly, either for admission to such performance or meeting, or to any place within which the same is provided, or for any service or privilege therein."

You will readily see that this forbids Sunday organized and competitive sports where cups or championships, or other prizes are being played for. The fact that sometimes, in some localities this law has been overlooked does not offer sufficient justification for further violations of its provisions. Recently we have been endeavoring to call the attention of sporting clubs to this law, and urge that it be given voluntary recognition in plans for the season, and so avoid the necessity of seeking more drastic methods of enforcing this law.

In that connection I desire to point out that the Lord's Day act has nothing to say against individual and voluntary sport and recreation on Sunday. It is entirely the business of each individual to determine his own personal recreation, provided such recreation is not organized on any commercial basis, either by the charge of a fee for admission, or offering prizes, or following a definite schedule where some reward is provided for the ultimate winner. In other words, it is not lawful to promote the business of sport on Sunday in Canada, and it is other intention to press for the better recognition of this law.

"Already I have been in communication with a considerable number of golf clubs, and sporting organizations in different branches of sport, and in different parts of this province. In each instance we are endeavoring to make it quite clear that we are not attempting to interfere in individual recreation, or unorganized games where the commercial element is eliminated. In the instance of your organization, the announcements make it quite clear that you are hoping for satisfactory gate receipts at your Sunday games, thereby emphasizing a commercial purpose in your plans."

WHEAT CLIMBS AT CHICAGO

Buoyancy Returns After a Fortnight of Declines

CHICAGO, Ill., April 23—(By John P. Boughan, Associated Press market editor).—Something akin to buoyancy returned to the wheat market today after a fortnight of declines which had pulled prices down 14c a bushel. Sudden huge broadening out of export business in wheat from North America was largely responsible for right-about face action of the market, and so too was the fact that federal farm board allies were taking ownership of immense quantities of cash wheat in exchange for May delivery contracts.

Furthermore, drought complaints were again at hand from the southwest, with a short crop predicted for parts of Kansas and Oklahoma unless rains come soon.

Closing quotations on wheat were firm at nearly the day's top level, 1c to 2¾c a bushel higher than yesterday's finish. Corn closed ¾ to 1⅛c up, oats ⅜6 to¾c advanced, and provisions unchanged to a rise of 10c.

SALES HIGHEST IN TWO WEEKS AT NEW YORK

Prices Churning About Confusedly on Wall Street

NEW YORK, April 23.—(By Claude A. Jagger, Associated Press financial writer).—Strenuous efforts to revive the bullish movement in stocks in the face of large-scale nervous selling from traders dissatisfied with current reports, sent prices churning about confusedly in today's market and piled up total sales of more than 5,500,000 shares, the largest in nearly two weeks.

Standard Oil of N. J. surged up five points to 83⅞, exceeding its 1929 record level by nearly a point. It closed at 82⅛. Radio Keith shot up nearly six points to 48¾, within ⅛ of its record for all time reached before the autumn crash. American Water Works, A. M. Byers, J. I. Case, Diamond Match, General Foods, and Ingersoll Rand were rushed up four to 11 points to new 1930 highs, although much of these advances was lost before the close.

Anaconda and Kennecott lost about three and two points, reaching new lows for the year, and National Cash Register and Eureka Vaccuum touched new low levels for 1930. Such pivotal shares as American Can, General Electric, International arvester, and Johns Manville lost about two points Electric Power and Light tumbled three points, and Vanadium Steel fell back eight points.

MONTREAL POWER DROPS 9 POINTS

Sags Following 2-for-1 Split Announcement at Montreal

MONTREAL, April 23.—There were three outstanding features on the Montreal stock exchange today; Brazilian which came in for a renewal of the strong buying which has followed it in recent weeks to touch a new high level at 54½, International Nickel which sagged still lower in further selling pressure, and Montreal Power which broke nine points to close at 150, the sharp decline apparently reflecting the street's reaction to the two-for-one split announcement. The majority of active issues again showed a lower trend.

Montreal Power issue, on a when, if and as issued basis, appeared in the afternoon and after touching 77, closed at 75. The rights closed at $2.10.

Dominion Bridge, Famous Players, Abitibi, Canadian Car, Steel Car and Shawinigan were among issues to close fractionally to more than a point lower while Smelters featured with a 5½ point drop to 230. Canada Power and Paper was firm, closing fractionally higher at 16¾, while International Hydro-Electric advanced 1⅜ to 50⅞.

EARLY LOSSES WIPED OUT ON TORONTO LIST

Fractional Gains Make Appearance n the Afternoon

TORONTO, April 23.—The Toronto stock exchange held up fairly well today. Many early losses were wiped out and substitued by fractional gains when the oils staged a rally in the afternoon which carried the list in general onto firmer ground.

With the copper situation still in the throes of uncertainty. International Nickel and Noranda continued to taper down, the later at one stage making a new low for the year of 32½. Nickel, with 22,886 shares changing hands, the heaviest turnover for that issue for some time, dropped two points to 36¾, while Noranda slipped $1.90 to $32.60 Sherritt-Gordon also found a new low at $1.93. McIntyre was a bright spot in the otherwise flagging metal group. On a comparatively heavy volume of sales it gained ½ point to a new high for the year of 19¾.

The turnover was one of the heaviest in the current year with 66 574 shares traded.

British American Oil accounted for a fractional improvement to 40½ as did Imperial Oil at 28 and International Petroleum at 23. Crown Dominion at 10. Supertest common at 36 and its voting trust at 36 remained unchanged, although the later attained a new high for the year of 37.

Walker's with sales of over 800 shares, was the only stock in the beverage section to lose ground. It eased 18 to 127⅞. Canadian Industrial Alcohol sold up ¼ to 2*, Canadian Brewing ¼ to 11, Canada Bud Brewers ¾ to a new high of 10¾, Canada Wineries ½ to a fresh 1930 peak of 6¾ and National Brewers ¼ to 31¼.

Brazilian Traction showed a reversal of form and stepped up to 45⅜, a new high, with 9895 shares changing hands. It finished at 53 for a net gain of ¼ of a point. Canada Power Utilities "A" and "B" at new highs for the year of 50½ and 19* respectively. On the other hand, Consumers Gas shrank two points to 178, Winnipeg Electric common dipped ¼ to 42¼ and Montreal Power lost 6½ to 152.

PRICES DROP ON VANCOUVER LIST

Consolidated again led the oils in point of activity and dropped 7 cents to $1.61. Home Oil was off another 5 cents to $7.50, while Hargal dropped 13 cents to 7.52. Losses ranging from 2 to 6 cents were suffered by United, Southwest Pete, Calmont, C. & E. Corporation and Mayland.

Mines were dull, with Pend Oreille selling 10 cents lower to $1.50 and George Copper dropping 7 cents to $2.00

TOROUTO, April 23.—With International Nickel and Noranda leading the way, base metal stocks on the Standard mining exchange today broke badly, some issues touching the lowest point of the year. Nickel with trading in 4021 shares, suffered the heaviest loss of the day, dropping 39.30 for a net loss of 2.40. Hudson Bay with a turnover of 7705 shares fell 40 cents to close weak at 9.95.

The Lindsleys were active and weak. Falconbridge dropped 15c to 3.35. Sudbury Basin lost 10c to 2.30, Sherritt-Gordon sagged to a new low for the year at 1.92 for a loss of nine points while Ventures was unchanged at 1.55.

SAYS MARGIN OF PROFIT UPON LUMBER IN DANGER

In Spokane, Hartnell Declares Canada Big Buyer of U. S. Products

SPOKANE, April 23.—Canadian lumbering interests are much disturbed over the proposal to place a tariff of $1.50 a 100 board feet on hemlock entering the United States, when their margin of profit is only from $3 to $4, according to F. J. Hartnell of Vancouver, British Columbia.

"It is difficult to comprehend the economics of the situation," Mr. Hartnell said, "when one realizes that for every dollar's worth of commodities the United States buys of Canada, the latter purchases $5 worth. Practically all of our automobiles are purchased from the United States, and when we get through paying the excise and sales taxes and the freight we are assessed about $400 more for the car than you pay here.

"And, mind you, Canada is furnishing all of the nickel entering into the manufacture of the auto, and the Fisher Body company draws heavily upon the Dominion's cedar for construction of its car bodies."

Mr. Hartnell, who is associated with the Hammond City company, dealers in lumber and timber products at Port Hammond, British Columbia, says Canadian lumbering interests are of the opinion that 1930 will prove quite the reverse of 1929, which came in good and went out in poor shape. The present year is expected to go out with considerably more laurels than it came in with.

VICTORIA PASTOR LOST ALL IN THE CRASH OF WHEAT

Claims Sold Out After Assuring Margin Clerk Would Cover Shortage

VICTORIA, April 23—Evidence as to the degree of notice that the plaintiff, Rev. John S. Patterson was given to supply additional margin to bolster up wheat trading accounts to the extent of 63,000 bushels, was given at the trial today of the plaintiff's action against Branson, Brown and company, local stock brokers, before Mr. Justice D. Murphy in the supreme court. Mr. Patterson, who is pastor of St. Paul's Presbyterian church, Victoria west, claims loss of $10,000 in trading in wheat futures on the Winnipeg grain market and seeks damages and an accounting.

Stanley W. Blygh, margin clerk of the defendant company, testified today that he began a series of telephone calls on the plaintiff for margin early on the morning of May 7, and in the evening told Mr. Patterson that he had instructions from Mr. Branson that unless plaintiff covered before the opening of the wheat market next morning, May 8, he would be sold out.

Witness said he had not thought it necessary to state to Mr. Patterson at what hour the market opened.

The Winnipeg market opened at 6:15 a.m. the next day, Victoria time, and the plaintiff was sold out.

Mr. Patterson ,on the witness stand previously, testified that he had told the margin clerk he would provide collateral.

"I have got all kinds of collateral, don't sell me out—don't do that," witness said he had told the clerk. Next day, Mr. Patterson said, he had called at the brokers office. He had in his hands securities for a further $4,000 and $500 in cash. He was advised that he had been sold out, that he had lost everything and owed the defendant $700 besides.

GEORGE HARLOW TO GO TO NEW YORK TO BOX?

Understood He Will Travel With Levitch of Spokane

George Harlow, Nelson heavyweight now in training camp near Crawford Bay, where he will be for about two weeks, will, on May 8, it is understood, report to Oscar Levitch of Spokane, boxing promoter, and with him go to New York in quest of higher prizes in the squared circle. Dean Pearce, who has been Harlow's trainer for nearly two years, will accompany him, it is expected.

Harlow, from his amateur days when he was champion of the Kootenays, until he lost a decision to Augie Sauer of Calgary here a year ago last December, had never lost a battle. He won most of his professional bouts by early knockouts, only Orville Darr of Spokane ever holding him to the limit.

Oscar Levitch as manager of Fred Lenhart, Spokane battler, had been after Harlow to meet Lenhart for some time.

Lenhart is now suing in Spokane to have his contract with Levitch set aside.

It is understood Harlow is, or will be, under contract to Levitch.

PHILADELPHIA, April 23.—The Phillies and the Brooklyn Robins shattered all of the young baseball season's slugging marks today as Philadelphia gained its second straight victory, 16 to 15, in a weird game that lasted almost three hours.

The two teams, first one leading and then the other, got 28 hits for their 31 runs but it took an error to decide the issue. Long Drives Aim Of Most Golfers

By AL DEMAREE
(Former Pitcher New York Giants)

I do not suppose that there is a single golfer playing today, who has not ,at some time or other, wished for more length from the tee. Altogether, long driving is a thing to be desired, though pros I know would rather improve their putting.

However, there is a lot to be said on both sides, for not even the long driver has it all his own way. Let us admit, for the puropse of argument, that to be able to drive a long ball really is an advantage. A hole of 500 yards can be reached in two by the long hitter, and if the second has been kept straight, abirdie four is possible. Again, we get a hole of 300 yards; here by reason of his long hitting a very short approach is all that is necessary for the second ,and to be able to play a short mashie instead of a stiff iron is always an advantage. Undoubtedly a powerful driver has much to be thankful for, but—there is another side to the question.

So far as a amateur golf is concerned, the long hitter in a club is usually one of the hit-or-miss type. You will generally find that the scratch man is shorter but more consistant from the tee. The slugger is usually about 12 handicap, a man of brawn ,and he plays for the sheer love of slugging.

However, much can be said for and against long driving but personally I am quite content to take the risk of reaching trouble from the tee.

WHITE SULPHUR SPRINGS, W. Va, April 23.—Francis Hunter of New Rochelle, advanced to the semi-finals of the Mason and Dixon Tennis championship by claiming a default from Berkley Bell of Austin, Texas, when the youthful Texan collapsed when he was within one point of the match. The startling finish was not satisfactory to the large gallery of spectators but the committee was unanimous in supporting the decision of the Referee S. Howard Voshell to whom Umpire Beals C. Wright appealed for final ruling on the question.

Wilmer Allison, Jr. of Austin, Texas, eliminated John Doeg of Santa Monica, California, No 3 ranking tennis player, earlier in the afternoon by a pretty display of aggressiveness in four sets. The scores were 7-9, 6-3, 6-3, 6-2.

HAMILTON WON BUT LOST THE CADET TROPHY

Scores Went Astray in the Mails; Official Receives Reprimand

OTTAWA, April 23—(CP)—Failure of the range officer to send score sheets to England by registered mail is blamed by officials of the national defence department here for the imperial cadet trophy not being awarded to central cadets of Hamilton, Ontario.

It was explained that the trophy, donated by Earl Roberts, was competed for throughout the empire in September last The Hamilton cadets representing military district No. 2, attained the highest score, 287. The National Rifle association, however, made the award early this year to the cadets of Harrow, in England, whose score was 283. It was then discovered that the score sheets from Hamilton had never reached the secretary of the National Rifle association in England. An investigation showed that the range officer had failed to register the letter containing the scores and it had been lost in the mails. The range officer was officially reprimanded.

An offer was recently made by the national defence department to present to the Hamilton team a shield bearing an inscription indicating they had made the top score in the shoot, but this has been refused.

LENHART WOULD END CONTRACT WITH LEVITCH

Hearing of Suit at Spokane Is Set for April 28

SPOKANE, April 23—Fred Lenhart, well known Spokane boxer, filed suit in superior court yesterday against his manager, Oscar Levitch, to enjoin Levitch from interfering with him or collecting any of his earnings. Hearing was set for April 28.

Attorney Joseph J. Lavin, for Lenhart, alleges that Levitch has failed to diligently advance the interests of Lenhart and that his only diligence was in collecting one-third of the fighter's earnings, plus an expense account.

Lenhart alleges that in a fight with "one Johnson in the east" Levitch squandered $200 of the boxer's earnings to employ two professional seconds, neither one of whom was necessary. Levitch travelled to New York and ran up an expense bill when his presence was not necessary except to collect his third of the earnings, Lenhart alleges.

The court is asked to set aside the contract between Lenhart and Levitch by which Levitch is to manage the boxer's affairs for 10 years. On the ground such a contract is illegal in this state because of the law against prize-fights.

LUMBER BODY MAY ASK TARIFF MOVE

Many Questions Affecting District Prosperity Will Be Up

Princeton has an ambition to entertain the Associated Boards of Trade of Eastern British Columbia in 1931, and at the coming convention at Cranbrook its delegate will extend a formal invitation for next year, Commissioner Fred A. Starkey has been advised, in a letter from Secretary T. N. Hooper. Last year Princeton had an invitation in, for the convention now about to be held, but lost out to Cranbrook.

It is presumed that Princeton will see that the subject of a southern and shorter connection between Princeton and the coast section, for the transprovincial highway, comes before the Cranbrook convention in the form of a resolution.

NELSON HAS THREE

Nelson board is the first one believed to have its resolutions in the hands of the commissioner, to be circulated to the other boards for consideration before the convention, these dealing with the three matters of urging cabinet representation for the Kootenay, protesting against the Canadian Pacific Railway company being permitted to block navigation between Kootenay river and Kootenay lake by its trestle across the flats at Kootenay Landing, and asking the appointment of a resident veterinary inspector for the Kootenay territory.

The Slocan district board of trade is understood to have in hand a resolution askng for a survey of the proposed future highway link between Arrowhead and Nakusp, which route, will become urgent when the Golden-Revelstoke connection around the Big Bend is completed in the next two or three years

ZINC NULLIFYING

Trail board of trade usually looks out for safeguarding of the metalliferous interests of this part of the province. The recent general importation of zinc for galvanizing free of duty because produced in plate form, the customs department ruling on this having the effect of nullifying the duty, in force for the past decade, intended to protect the Canada-produced zinc, was the subject of protest to Ottawa by Commissioner Starkey the past winter, but action has not yet been taken by parliament, which, in the opinion of W. K. Esling, M. P., will have to intervene as the customs department refuses to modify its recent ruling. If no board introduces the subject, the convention will be likely to act anyway, in view of the action already taken by its executive.

I. R. Poole, secretary of the Mountain Lumber Manufacturers' association, and at various times a Nelson delegate to the conventions, write from Calgary, where the association's office now is, that the organization, which is a member of the industrial section of the Associated Boards, may have a resolution dealing with the subject of action to secure new lumber markets and of the situation created by the new United States tariff on lumber.

Both the Associated Growers of British Columbia and Kootenay Central Farmers Institute are affiliated with the Associated Boards and may raise, as was done last year, the subject of the anti-dumping clause in relation to fruit and of freight and express rates for this territory on handling of farm products and farm supplies.

It is presumed that the East Kootenay boards which include those of Cranbrook, Kimberley and Fernie, will have numerous resolutions on matters affecting their prosperity and development.

Resolutions that are not in the hands of the commissioner in time to be circulated to all constituent boards and be acted upon by them in advance of the convention do not count as the voice of the Associated Boards, if passed at the convention, until they have been circulated, and duly ratified by a majority of the constituent boards.

The supreme court of Ontario placed the stamp of its disapproval upon the night-riding vigilantes performance of the K.K.K. in Canada by sentencing W. A. Phillips, chiropractor of Hamilton to three months in jail, following his appeal from a $50 fine for his share in the Oakville affair of some weeks ago. The photograph here shows W. A. HERE IS OLDEST COMMUNITY, U. S.

WASHINGTON, April 23—The oldest continuously inhabited community in the United States in Oraibi, an Indian village north of Winslow, Arizona. The National geographic Society says Oraibi was in existence in 1370, more than a century before the Spaniards reached the mainland of North America, and before Columbus discovered the new world. The statement was based upon explorations made for the Society by Dr. A. E. Douglas, and Neil M. Judd. The oldest city of European origin in the United States is St. Augustine, Florida, founded in 1565, but San Domingo, on an island in the West Indies, was founded in 1497.

FORKS DISTRICT AGRICULTURE TO BE ACTIVE

Landon Lays Plans for Work During 1930 Season in Boundary

GRAND FORKS, B. C., April 23.—A brief outline of the work to be attempted in the Boundary districts during 1930 by the office of the district agriculturist, G. L. Landon, Grand Forks, has been announced as follows:

ORCHARD SURVEY

A survey of orchards will be undertaken to ascertain the age of the fruit trees, varieties and numbers of trees in the district. This is the regular survey undertaken by the horticultural branch every five years.

FERTILIZER EXPERIMENTS

Fertilizer experiments are being conducted with wheat, mangels, potatoes, and onions. Fertilizers used in the experiments are triple superphosphate, ammonium phosphate and potassium phoshate.

VARIETY TESTS OF GRAIN

Variety tests of wheat oats and barley will be made using about 10 varieties of each cereal for each test. These tests are being conducted in cooperation with the department of agronomy of the university of B. C. and the Dominion cerealist, Ottawa experimental farm.

DAIRY SURVEY

A survey of the dairy situation is being undertaken in an attempt to increase the number of dairy cows in the district, to increase the production of milk and cream.

BOYS' AND GIRLS' CLUBS

Poultry, pig and calf clubs are being organized in Grand Forks, Midway and Rock Creek. In conjunction with the club work it is the intention of the district agriculturist to organize judging teams to compete in the stock judging competitions at the Vancouver and New Westminster exhibitions.

It is also the intention, if possible, to enter a team in the boys' and girls' swine clubs conducted by the Canadian Pacific railway for the championship cups.

PLOWING MATCH

A plowing match has been organized by the Midway and Rock Creek Farmers' institutes to take place at Kettle Valley on May 3. Prizes are offered by the department and the institutes.

FALL FAIR

Grand Forks Farmers' institute together with the Women's institute, are making preparations for a record breaking fall fair this year. The Farmers' institute is also making plans for as many of its members as possible to take a trip to Wenatchee district in the state of Washington to study the fruit growing conditions there. This will be of special interest to the fruit growers in the district.

TORONTO TO HAVE CRIME LABRATORY

Medico-Legal Achievements May Be Duplicated, Ontario

MONTREAL, Que., April 23.—By the C. P.—It is not only in the fanciful realm of fiction through which stalk such fanciful characters as Sherlock Holmes and Arsene Lupin to typify the great sleuth and the laughing elusive criminal, that men are captured through clues of tiny flick of cigar ash or a spot of blood upon the ground.

Medical science and legal research have been used, hand in hand, in the Province of Quebec for the last 10 years to aid the police in their search for criminals. The man who established this scientific system for the detection of crime is Dr. Wilfrid Derome, known as provincial anayst and director of the labratory of legal medicine and police science.

Dr. Derome has built up a labratory which experts from the United States declare far surpasses anything else of its kind on the continent. The Québec provincial police say the value of the analyst's efforts cannot be over-estimated and now Toronto is to establish a laboratory for crime detection modelled on the same lines. It is thought the Violet Clark poisoning case and other recent cases in which the elements of chemistry and physics entered in were largely responsible for Toronto's decision. The apparatus to be collected will be almost identical, so far as possible, with that developed by Dr. Derome and his assistants.

The Montreal expert criminologist's laboratory consists of the usual apparatus for examining internal organs. He has invented a special machine for the examination of gun barrels. He has the best there is in micro-photography and has a museum of fire-arms, skull parts and a large chemical research store. His work on bullets and gun barrels is almost famous and was valuable aid in the Delorme and other recent trials.

In one case the exact position of a small blood mark on the wall enabled Dr. Derome to tear to pieces a man's whoe story and to reveal that there had been two murders instead of one. In another case he proved the victim had committed suicide although murder, was at first the hypothesis indicated.

The doctor has had long experience in crime work. He studied it while in Paris for several years and returned to Canada in 1909 later to put into practice the many theories he collected.

DUKE OF YORK PRACTICES GOLF

LONDON, Eng., April 23—That the Duke of York has erected a net around the miniature lawn at the back of his London residence and is assiduously practising golf shots is disclosed by "The London Sunday Express." He hopes that when the Prince of Wales returns from South Africa he will be able to meet the Prince on the links and beat him.

Professionals whom the Duke had consulted have comformed a good opinion of his chances of making a decidedly useful player. He has they, consider, the right "temperament" and a good eye.

Hitherto the Duke's favorite recreation has been tennis, at which he has been a player of real distinction. Last year however, he seldom touched a racket, and he has now practically given up the game in favor of golf.

With another rise of three inches the water level of the West Arm at Nelson yesterday was 52¼ inches above zero. For the past month a steady rise has been recorded.

RODE ON WAGON TO QUEEN'S OPENING

230 Mile Journey in Five Days Undertaken by Thomas Wardrobe, One of First Students at University

KINGSTON, Ont., April 23.—(Written for the C. P., by G. H. Williamson)—Some interesting stories about Queen's university in its infancy in Upper Canada days have come to light through the discovery by Dr. R. Bruce Taylor ,principal, of letters packed away in an old soap box in an obscure corner in a basement.

For instance there is a letter written by Thomas Wardrobe, for many years Presbyterian minister at Guelph, who lived to the age of 94. Dr. Wardrobe tells how he came to attend the first session of Queen's in the year 1842. He had started his college course in Edinburgh, Scotland, but his parents migrated to Canada and settled in the west of Upper Canad (now Ontario.) He heard a Presbyterian college was to be established in Kingston, which had just become the seat of government for Upper and Lower Canada, with Lord Sydenham as governor-general. The young man resolved to be present at the first session, which was to open on the first Sunday in March. His home was 230 miles away from Kingston. Navigation had not opened and there were no railroads then. So in preference to taking the stage, he and two others engaged a friend to drive them to Kingston in his wagon, their trunks forming the seat.

LONG TRIP

"In five days and a half, averaging more than 40 miles a day with the same team, we reached Kingston" Dr. Wardrobe observed.

Reference is made about how he had to preach a Latin sermon in old St. Andrew's church with professors and students as an audience. Queen's was then housed in a small building on Colborne street, which still stands. Sir Richard Bannycastle, British navy commander, then here, remarked it was the "rummiest" university he had ever seen when he made a visit to it. Professor Campbell, one of the Theology teachers, afterwards became principal of Aberdeen university in Scotland, showing the high type of Scottish scholars who started Queen's going nearly 90 years ago.

The present Queen's principal's residence in the university grounds was originally the home of Archdeacon Stuart, son of Dr. John Stuart, founder of the Church of England in Upper Canada. Archdeacon Stuart came here from Toronto (then York) to succeed his father as rector of St. George's the first Anglican congregation in English Canada.

INTENDED IRECT UNIVERSITY

The trustee board of Queen's in 1841 intended to erect the university on King street west and bought a large tract of land for the purpose. It was found too large a scheme, however, and eventually the land was sold. It passed through several hands, until Colonel R. W. Leonard, of St. Catherines secured it. Some years ago Colonel Leonard who is a trustee of Queen's, presented it to the University, so that Queen's once again owns what it bought for building purposes nearly 90 years ago.

While the present principal of Queen's is an expert yachtsman, one of his predecessors Dr. George Munro Grant, was something of a horseman, being brought up on a Nova Scotia farm. It is recorded Dr. Grant used to go on riding jaunts with the artillery commandant here more than half a century ago, a military steed being provided for him. One of his friends was no less a personage than the Princess Louise, daughter of Queen Victoria, and wife of the Marquis of Lorne who was governor-general of Canada in the late 70's. The Princess Louise, who has recently recovered from an illness in the old country, laid the corner stone of the Arts building, dedicated just 50 years ago. A tree the princess planted in front of the building is still standing. Two who were Queen's students in those days are George F. Henderson, K. C., eminent Ottawa counsel, and Dr. William Spankie, member of Parliament for Frontenac-Addington.

MANY WOMEN ARE ARRESTED FOR 'TELEGRAPHING'

MONTREAL, Que., April 23—In the mayoral elections just over the fact that some women were arrested for telegraphing or attempting to do so, indicates the interest which the sex are now taking in the municipal elections. The total number of "telegraphers" arrested, including men and women, amounted to 59.

PIONEER CAPTAIN DEAD IN THE EAST

WINTHROP, Mass., April 23—Capt. Jethro W. Nickerson well known sea captain who retired three months ago after long years of service with the Bay State Fishing Co., died at his home here April 2. He was a well known figure along the Atlantic Coast and 20 years ago was master of his own schooner the Flora S. Nickerson.

At the start of the World War he was on the Bay State Fishing Company's schooner Comber, which went abroad, and he enlisted with the other seamen and served as an ensign in the United States Navy.

Captain Nickerson was made master of his own vessel five years after he had been in the fishing fleet. He first had command of the Bertha May sailing out of Gloucester and about 20 years ago purchased his own schooner.

URGE RESTORATION OF FORT, TORONTO

TORONTO, Ont., April 23—Restoration and preservation of the old fort at the foot of Bathurst street will be urged at the annual meeting of the Women's Historical Society next week and action taken towards this end by the society during its next fiscal year. "It seems a pity that nothing has ever been done about preserving the Old Fort," the vice-president remarked. The subject has cropped up every few years in our society but the city seems to have been slow in fulfilling its agreement. I remember distinctly the trust being stipulated but with the changes of civic government it has probably been allowed to slip into the background."

The fort was sacked in 1813 by the Americans. Several buildings were destroyed at that time and a power magazine blown up by the Americans, killing about 200 of their own men. It was rebuilt, however, in 1816, on the same plan as that drawn up by Simcoe.

It was revealed in evidence that he was a hatter by occupation.

ENO'S "FRUIT SALT"

Devil-May-Care

By Arthur Somers Roche

ILLUSTRATED BY DONALD RILEY

INSTALMENT XI

It was the sort of banal remark that a character in a motion picture might have uttered.

But Lucy was in no mood to be captious, to pck flaws in praise or the persons who uttered it.

"Tim has done well, hasn't he?" she said.

Elsie Darragh laughed.

"Well? If he's saved a third of men and women he's supposed to have dragged out of the Breakers, he's done more than well."

She heard men crying hoarsely, ordering others to make way for their passage. Several of them were bearing, on an improvised stretcher, the body of a man.

She heard some one ask if he were dead. One of the bearers shrugged.

"Looks like it," he answered.

"Who is it?" another queried.

"Tim Stevens," said the bearer.

She was not surprised, either then or late, that she was able to take instant charge of Tim.

Not merely had Stevens been badly burned, but he had been struck by a falling timber, and while the skull was not fractured, serious injury had been done. Not until the twenty-fourth day was he pronounced completely out of danger.

And on that day Lucy went to bed to stay there a week. When she got up again, the cloud had disappeared from her faculties and she was herself again. She had not been ill during this week, simply completely worn out, nervously exhausted. Her vigil by Tim's bedside had been almost continuous for over three weeks.

On the bridge at Seminole Creek he had shown himself possessed of physical courage equal to any she had ever witnessed. On the roof of the cottage he had shown ability to withstand punishment when the event called for it. And the manner of his injury had been fine. A negro pinned beneath debris—Tim Stevens pulling the man out—Tim Stevens warned that the roof above was falling, Tim Stevens refusing to flee to safety but staying until he had released the colored man—This was sacrifice, of the finest sort. Forget all the passion-inspired brutalities that he had used, or tried to use, against herself, and one found a pretty decent sort.

But there was something else. He had stolen. No argument could overwhelm this fact; he had been saved from jail only by the acceptance of a quarter of a million of her money.

On the morning that she arose from bed she found Stevens lying on a couch in the patio. His great frame looked pitifully thin beneath the light coverlets. But he had been freshly shaved, and the gauntness of his face lent a certain attraction to his almost too obvious good looks. He would, she reflected, be as handsome in age, when withered, is in the flush of early manhood. He held out a trembling hand to her.

"You're all right?" he asked eagerly.

"Fine!" she smiled.

"I feel like a great big dub," he said bitterly, letting you wear yourself out taking care of a hulk like me! I can't say thank you; it's so little to say."

"I married you," she retorted.

"Should a person back out of a bargain because it seems not quite so advantageous as it looked when one entered into it?"

"I looked better at the ceremony than later, then?" he grinned.

She blushed.

"You didn't appeal to me at any time," she said brutally. "But—did enter into a bargain. I'm making good."

He sighed, and his sigh was pitiful, coming from Tim Stevens, who might curse or even sob, but who had never been plaintive in his life before.

"Well, much obliged, anyway. I sort of thought —I hoped—Well, I was been a damn fool, Lucy, and I suppose I'll die one. Too bad I wasn't completely knocked off while I was at it. End a rotten situation if I had been." She made no reply and silence ensued for a minute ,to be broken by his bitter speech:

"I suppose you'd have been glad if I had been killed."

"That is babyish," she told him. "I'm glad you're alive, Tim, Mighty glad of it. And I'm proud of your behavior at the fire. You're a brave man—a hero, I guess. But you're something else, too, Tim."

"Your husband, eh?" he sneered.

"A thief!" she said. "And—I can't ever forget that."

His eyes narrowed.

"A thief, eh? If it weren't for that you might—even—you might even be—my wife, eh?"

She put her hands before her face.

"How do I know? You're different; you're finer in a hundred ways than I'd dreamed. But you can't blot out the past, Tim."

"Who the hell wants to?" he asked harshly. "Do you remember what I told you that night at Barracuda Island?"

She removed her hands from her eyes and bravely smiled at him.

"I remember that you weren't very polite."

"I told you that you could go to hell and be damned, that's what I said. I said it then, and say it again now."

She shrank away from the blazing fury of his eyes.

"What do you mean?" she asked.

"Mean? I mean I'm sick of you with your blasted holier-than-thou ways. You nursed me through illness. All right that makes us square."

"How—how does it make us square?" she asked.

"Because you owe me a lot—a damn sight more than you'll ever know, my chaste and dainty Devil-May-Care!" he jeered. 'But you've paid it by nursing me. Anyway, we'll call the account cancelled." He rose on his elbow. 'I wouldn't let you divorce me; I wouldn't get a divorce myself. Well, I thought I was married to a woman, not a cold-blooded saint just descended from Heaven. Damn saints! I want no part of them.

"Now you can have your divorce. And for fear you may have trouble in getting it I'll give you grounds, plenty of grounds. There's a girl down here now—a good egg, too, a darn sight better egg than you'll ever be, for all she's been kept by half New York. Or if she's gone back north, I'll get her down here again. Understand?"

"I'm not sure that I do," she said faintly.

BOOK-KEEPERS DO NOT HAVE TO GO TO MOSCOW NOW

BERLIN, April 23—A German court has ruled that bookkeepers who refuse to go to Moscow for their employers are within their rights.

The case in point involved a bookkeeper working for the Soviet Trade Commission here. He was told to go to Moscow for the transaction of certain trade commission business there. Although he held the mission was not within his sphere of duty as a bookkeeper, he allowed himself to be escorted to the Moscow-bound train. But, the fear of what might happen in Soviet Russia caused him to get off at the next station. He was thereupon dismissed without notice.

Representatives of the commission argued that the dismissal was necessary in the interest of office discipline, but the court ruled that if the commission wanted to part company with a German bookkeeper who had served efficiently for several years it would have to give him the statutory three months' notice .

83-YEAR-OLD LADY PLAYS SIDE DRUMS

LONDON, April 23—Lady Emily Dyke, who is 83 years of age, played the sidedums during a special performance of "Marigold" at the St. Jame's Theatre recently. Regarded for many years as one of the most expert amateur drummers in England, Lady Emily Dyke is the wife of Sir William Hart Dyke., of Lullingstone Castle, Ken, who will be 93 this year.

"I have been playing side-drums for more than 30 years, he said Lady Emily to an interviewer." I started to encourage my daughter, whom she was learning the piano, and I have played occasionally at local concerts and dances. Five or six years ago, I also played at a charity concert at one of the London hotels." Lady Emily said that jazz had never awakened any enthusiasm in her, and that her best drumming was done in accompanying marches and tunes played at the piano.

APPEALS FOR THE SIGHTLESS

LONDON, April 23—Dr. Walford Davies, makes an appeal to those who have an appointment of organist and choirs on behalf of candidates who have the misfortune to be blind.

"These candidates," says Dr. Davies, "have usually been trained in important schools for the blind. Most of them are fellows of the Royal College of Organists; many also hold diplomas as pianists, vocalists, etc., granted by the greater academies of Music.

"It is most disheartening to those capable men to be passed over so frequently without even being interviewed by the church authorities, or allowed to compete. An explanation, if offered, of this non-recognition usually takes the form of an expression of doubt as to the ability of the candidate. Such complaints, however, are seldom made by those who have actually engaged the services of a blind organist choir master."

COOLIDGE 500-WORD HISTORY NOW OUT

WASHINGTON, April 23.—A part of Calvin Coolidge's 500-word history of the United States—beginning "In the year of Our Lord 176 the people declared the eternal right to seek happiness—self government and the divine duty to defend that right at any sacrifice—' 'aws made public recently by Gutzon Borglum, sculptor and members of the South Dakota congressional delegation.

The history, to be inscribed in letters that may be seen for miles on the rocks off the Black Hills in South Dakota, continued: "In 1887 assembled in convention thy made a charter of perpetual union of free people of sovereign states establishing a government of limited powers—under an independent president—congress and court charged to provide security for all citizens in their enjoyment of liberty—equalit and justice."

Onl the first two portions of the Coolidge history were made public by Borglum and the delegation after a visit to President Hoover at the White House. The history is a part of a gigantic memorial to be carved under the direction of Borglum upon the solid rock of Mount Rushmore in the Dakota hills.

INDIAN REFUSES DEVIL MEDICINE

SHAWANO, Wis., April 23—Refusing "devil medicines" of the white man and depending upon incantations of his tribesman to cure him, Che-qua-kif-ka-tuppi (Shooting Star,) aged chief medicine man of the Mononinee, is dead. All the rites of a half dozen brother medicine men failed to save the life of their chief. He would have nothing to do with reservation doctors or hospitals.

Che-qua-kif-ka-tuppi was one of the few remaining Monominee Indians to know and practice the dances of his forefathers at festive gatherings. Famous in his youth as on athlete, the medicine man reputed most fleet footed of his tribe. He could run faster than a deer, tribesmen said.

HUSBAND RANG BELL AND WIFE ASKS ALIMONY

PALM BEACH, Fla., April 23.—Her husband's practice of setting off alarm clocks and ringing a cow bell in their home while she was ill caused her to be placed in a hospital for treatment, Mrs. Mary Elizabeth Brooks of Palm eBach and New York, declared in a suit filed against her husband, Reginald Brooks for alimany without divorce. Mrs. Brooks claimed that last January while she was suffering from a nervous breakdown, her husband obtained several alarm clocks, wound them, set them so they would ring at one hour intervals and hid them in dresser drawers, closets and unde furniture.

Brooks ,he bill continued, also went about the house ringing a cow bell at night. Finally her physician ordered her taken to a hospital so she might have quiet, the papers in the case state. Brroks, it is declared, has an annual income in excess of $150,000 and owns property in excess of $1,000,000.

DECLARES HOCKEY PLAYED 50 YEARS AGO IN SCOTLAND

James Muir of Almonte Recalls Game Played by Canadians

TORONTO, April 23—(CP)—Before the memories of the past hockey season have faded, fans will read with interest this account of the early days. James Muir, editor and proprietor of the Almonte Gazette, tells the story about hockey as played in Scotland in the eighties.

I have seen it stated by writers or sport that the game of hockey did not exist prior to the nineties nor had the name been invented. Their minds have seemed to me confused over the origin of the game and the origin of "organized hockey". Hockey is an older name than the ninties. It was used by Canadian students attending Edinburgh university in the late eighties. I saw them play. I myself in the late eighties, while a school boy, played hockey on ice and on skates, and we called it "hockey. We used no other term. It is true we did not have such beautiful creations as the modern stick, for our sticks were home-made or improvised.

Canadians attended Edinburgh university in those days in large numbers, as did Australians. They were strong enough to have a real Canadian club and an Australian club with quarters. Most of the Canadians were from the maritime provinces and they called the game "hockey", and they knew the rules, which so far as can be carried out on ice, were the same then, and are today, closely allied to the rules of British rugby. I remember when I was a very little chap my father cutting me a stick from a tree to play "shinty". He did not call it "shinny".

He played himself. I have also seen "shinty" played at Inverness, where the winters are long and cold. These Highlanders were very expert, but they did not play on skates. However, I have seen several games of "hockey" going on at the same time on Duddingston Loch near Edinburgh and on the ponds on the Braid hills. That was in the late eighties and early nineties.

We used the old fashioned acme skates. Some of the Canadians and Norwegians had regular skating boots with the skates permanent-attached. All the Swedes and Norwegians some of whom were our schoolfellows had a beautiful—it seemed to us then—curve on the front of their skates. This distinguished them at once. Yet the curious thing was that they were not as good figure skaters as the Edinburgh youths, although they were much faster. In these days the Edinburgh skating club had the reputation of being the best figure skaters in Europe. It was not until Louis Rubenstein of Montreal went across to Europe and displayed his ability at Moscow that Canada took its place as a country that produced figure skaters. Happily he is still with us.

The origin of the game must be a long way back, just like football, but organized hockey is not very old. But vast changes have taken place even in a couple of decades. It is hardly the same game. The rules have altered the style of it completely. The hockey of 40 years ago is pretty nearly as different from shinny as the hockey of today is different from even 20 years ago. It may interest some of the "pampered" youngsters of today to know that my first skates were home-made affairs, the blades being of bone inserted in a shoe of wood.

BRITISH FARMERS TO TOUR CANADA

LONDON, April 23—(Canadian Press Cable)—The British National Union, it is announced is arranging to send a party of farmers to tour Canada during August and September. There had been a great deal of talk lately of British agriculture being "behind the times" and it is hoped the interchange of ideas which will result from the visit may be of value to the party while it is possible they may also be able to give some counsel on certain problems of the soil with which those of the homeland have had more experience than the farmers of the new world building, where long rows of casket were stretched out on wooden benches, relatives of the fire victims called to receive their bodies.

JEERS GREET WARDEN AS HE SEES PRISON

15 BODIES RELEASED

Fifteen were released for burial, conveyed in army trucks to railroad stations or in hearses if the relatives were able to employ them.

For the first time since the holocaust Warden Thomas ventured into the prison yard. He walked over to the deputies' office and then started across to the chapel, were hundreds of cell-mates of the dead men were installed in temporary quarters.

WARDEN JEERED

Jeers and cries of derision brought the warden's bowed head erect. Thomas watched the prisoners for a moment and with a word of encouragement from one of the chaplains continued his walk across the yard. Guards were sent to quiet the jeering men but later in the day the murmuring against him continued among the inmates.

Father O'Brien, Catholic chaplain at the penitentiary, revealed today that Thomas probably could have been torn to pieces if he had gone into the prison yard Monday night when the convicts were carrying the dead from the flame-swept cells.

The death list was increased to 318 this morning when one of the scores of injured succumbed in the penitentiary hospital. Four others, their lungs weakened by the inhalation of smoke, are not expected to live.

Before the investigation resumed their inquiry today all survivors of the fire were taken once more into cells from which they cried to be released Monday night.

The purpose of this was to identify the 50 or so charred and disfigured bodies which could not otherwise be identified. Each cell in the damaged blocks contains the prison numbers of the men who occupied them. The numbers were checked to see which were missing and when the task was finished the convicts were promptly be removed.

AVIATION NOTABLES PAY RESPECTS TO A CRASH VICTIM

NEW YORK, April 23—Representatives of the French governor and notable figures in the field of aviation, including Col. Charles A. Lindbergh, paid their last respects today to Count Henri de la Caulx, president of the federation aeronautique internationale, who was killed last Friday in an aeroplane accident at Jersey City, N. J.

While aeroplanes circled in formation overhead the Rev. Theophill Wucher conducted a requiem mass in the French church of St. Vinent de Paul. Then the body was removed to the Frenh line pier to sail on the De Grasse for the dead aviator's native land.

RECONSTRUCT THE C. N. R. FINANCES

OTTAWA, April 23—(CP)—The reconstructio nof the financial structure of the Canadian National Railways will be started this session of parliament with the passage of a bill to amalgamate into one corporate body all the various companies which now make up the C.N.R. Intimation to this effect came from the department of railways and canals today. It is not expected, however, that the further steps of consolidating the various bond issues and otherwise reorganizing the whole financial structure will be proceeded with this year.

Predict That the Hawley-Snoot Bill Will Become Law

WASHINGTON, D C., April 23—(By Ken Clark, Canadian Press Staff Correspondent)—There is every prospect today that the Hawley-Smoot tariff bill will become law in the immediate future The joint committee of the senate and house having compromised the wishes of both bodies on a large part of the proposed legislation, it remains for the chambers to express themselves on the flexible and debenture provisions , and for the house to vote upon lumber, shingles, cement and sugar rates. House leaders feel they have sufficient strength to make the flexible and debenture provision satisfactory to President Hoover.

Soviet Appeals to McGill for Aid in Breaking Ice Jam

MONTREAL, April 23—Soviet Russia has appealed for assistance from McGill university to break up a great ice jam of the Silver river near Leningrad, which is threatening the destruction of a hydro-electric power plant. The chief engineer of Leningrad, Gfaftio Svirstroi, cabled Dr. Howard To. Barnes, internationally-known ice expert to send over a capable engineer with a supply of thermit. Dr. Barnes cabled an offer of assistance, adding he would possibly go himself around May 1. He is now awaiting a reply to this message. The ice-engineer said it would take some time not only to reach the scene of the ice jam but also to transport a quantity of the materials he would use in this event.

C. N. R. May Build Railway Line to South of Penticton

OLIVER, April 23—At the conclusion of a complete survey of conditions in this district, A. E. Warren, vice-president of the Canadian National railways, announced that on his return to Winnipeg he would send out an engineer to make a survey of the country between Penticton and Osoyoos to ascertain the cost and obstacles to be overcome in connection with construction of branch lines to serve the southern end of the Okanagan Valley

TWO-EDGED ROW ON NAVAL PACT PLANNED IN U.S.

WASHINGTON, April 23—(AP)—A two-edged attack on the London naval treaty was forecast today in congress.

With the new international agreement scarcely 24 hours old, the chairman of both senate and house naval committees made plans to investigate.

Falling in with proposal of Chairman Hale of the senate committee, that the naval experts who were in London with the delegation be questioned, Chairman Britten of the house committee announced that his committee also would ask navy officers why some features of united policy were "abandoned" in London.
