WORK TO CROWD DOUKHOBORS INTO POLLS TO VOTE FOR McLEAN CONTINUES

Yesterday The Nelson Daily News exposed the efforts being made to elect D. D. McLean in West Kootenay by filling up the ballot boxes with Doukhobor votes.

It was stated that in addition to the original 24 names of Doukhobors placed on the list at Brilliant by the Doukhobor enumerator, at least 140 had been added during the days of revision. THIS FIGURE OF 140 WAS TOO LOW. THE ACTUAL NUMBER ADDED IS 151, making a total of 175, 11 more than The Daily News stated. The full list of names appears in another column.

Exposure was also made of electioneering efforts on Mr. McLean's behalf among the community Doukhobors at Brilliant. Further investigations yesterday simply corroborated the original information. At the meeting of elders last Sunday at which Doukhobors were told to go to the polls and vote for Mr. McLean the elders were told that all Doukhobors between the ages of 21 and 32 were eligible to vote and all should vote next Monday. Twenty-one is minimum voting age; 32 as the maximum was arrived at in the case of the Doukhobors because none of older years could have been born in Canada.

THERE WERE FURTHER MEETINGS. One was at Thrums, a day or so before. Most of those attending were independents. These independents are doubtful about voting. THEY ARE AFRAID OF MILITARY SERVICE. Community Doukhobors have been assured that they can vote in safety insofar as military service is concerned. They are told that Peter Verigin will protect them.

Yesterday a community Doukhobor was busy haranguing the Sons of Freedom at Glade, telling them to vote for Mr. McLean. They also seemed in doubt as to whether to go to the polls or not.

Doukhobors throughout the district were discussing the matter fairly freely. It wasn't a question as to whom they should vote for but as to whether they should vote. FEAR OF MILITARY SERVICE as a consequence of openly accepting British citizenship was the factor.

Their argument in favor of Mr. McLean was that the Liberals brought them to Canada and the Conservatives wanted to get rid of them. They also had the argument that Mr. Esling represented the old government and Mr. McLean stood for a new government. There was much talk of road and other work to be obtained if the Doukhobors could control an election.

Outside of the Doukhobor settlement the chief question was: How does anyone know that these people are entitled to vote? THEY HAVE NOT REGISTERED BIRTHS; therefore no one can prove their age satisfactorily. No one knows the place of their birth. There is no proof existing in official records of their birth in Canada.

And it was in 1926 that the Mackenzie King government passed an order in council permitting the further entry of Doukhobors. For some time previously they had been banned. No one knows how many of those who may attempt to vote next Monday were actually born in Canada; nor their ages. It is difficult to tell whether a man or a woman is 19 or 20 or 21; it is equally difficult to tell whether he or she is 32, 33 or 35 years of age. It is probable many of the Doukhobors do not know themselves.

Doukhobors have come from the United States during the past year. How can their legal position as voters be established if some of these attempt to vote?

No one may vote except in the polling division in which he lives. Who knows where many of those who may attempt to vote actually reside in the polling divisions in which they appear on election day?

That, however, is the situation as it exists, as a result of the attempt to elect Mr. McLean by means of the Doukhobor vote.

In Grand Forks, too, emissaries have been busy for days. There they are out to beat Grote Stirling, the Conservative candidate.

VERIGIN DROVE HIS FOLLOWERS TO DELAYED MEETING WITH A STAKE

ROUNDED THEM UP FROM THE BEER PARLORS

Discharged Two Officals; Planted Blows Upon Shukin, Baskin

CLAIMED IN COURT HAD RIGHT TO ACT

Doukhobor Leader Went to Cell But Emerges as Fine Paid

GRAND FORKS, B. C., July 24—The inside of a police station cell has no terrors for Peter Verigin, head of the Christian Community of Universal Brotherhood, judged by the way he entered one here last night rather than pay a fine of $50 imposed for his causing a disturbance on the streets last Monday night. He was in the cell but a short time, however, when his secretary from Saskatchewan produced the money and the iron bars swung open. High strung and petulant, the Doukhobor chieftain at first refused to leave his new abode, prancing up and down the cell like a lion. Later he strode out among the officials smoking a cigarette and smiling good-naturedly.

CLAIMED RIGHT TO DISCIPLINE

Summoned to court yesterday, the hearing was hurried to suit his convenience. He pleaded not guilty to the charge, but five reputable citizens swore that he was running wild with a club "like a fence post", making a noisy demonstration on the streets and was seen pummelling a number of his Russian followers. This Verigin claimed he had a perfect right to do, but Magistrate A. F. Crowe took a different view. When fined with the alternative of 30 days he refused absolutely to pay the amount and the officers had no alternative to giving him cell accommodation.

The street scene and commotion was an aftermath of a gathering of Verigin's followers.

OFFICIALS MAULED

It is stated that Verigin started on the rampage early in the evening. One of his blows is said to have wrecked the anatomy of J. P. Shukin, vice-president of the community for many years; another biff appears to have landed on Max Baskin, a semi-legal adviser for many years. Cecil Coochin, warehousekeeper, and George Zebroff, store manager, were forcibly dismissed, and one young lad is said to have lost five teeth as a result of some of Verigin's punishment.

Verigin's version in police court was that when he got ready to have his meeting he found all his officials missing, so he got Nick Plotnikoff to drive him to town and he went round several beer parlors and used the club on those whom he was ble to locate. He demonstrated to the magistrate the vigorous way he had of dealing with them to teach them a lesson. During the street melee he clubbed Frank Devz of Penticton, a Russian but not a Doukhobor, who ran for the police. In the meantime Peter Verigin went to a local garage and is said to have brushed the mechanic aside and taken a car and left for the colony.

ESCAPED BY WINDOWS

When he reached the warehouse at midnight he chased his officials and their families out of the living quarters above and some that could not move fast enough had to escape through windows. They sought shelter from friends.

The fracas is said to be a split that has been expected for some time. There has been growing discontent and it is alleged that a number of the officials have been gouging the community.

134 SEATS CLAIMED BY CONSERVATIVES GIVE THE LIBERALS 56

OTTAWA, Ont., July 24.—(By the Canadian Press)—A forecast of the results of the general election issued today from Conservative national headquarters claims 134 Conservatives will be elected, 56 Liberals, 14 of various other groups and places 41 in doubtful column. The forecast is signed by Gen. A. D. McRae, chief whip and organizer of the Conservative party.

The statement follows:

"This is my first and last forecast of this election. I have purposely refrained from making any predictions until I should have no hesitation in predicting the defeat of the King Government and the return of Hon. R. B. Bennett with a good working majority over all other parties combined.

"A Conservative increase in every province is promised. Confidential reports justify more optimistic expectations than I am quoting.

"Based on well considered returns, I predict that the Conservatives will carry 134 constituencies and they will also undoubtedly carry a considerable number of those I have placed in the 'doubtful' column.

"In this table Farmer, Labor and Independent representatives are grouped together.

"The Conservatives may hope to get their share of the doubtful seats. In any event, I predict that we will have a minimum of 134 seats in the next house and a possibility of 150.

"It will be observed from these figures that if Mackenzie King were to get all the doubtful seats, he would have less than 100 Liberals behind him in the next parliament."

The Forecast

"By provinces, the results, so far as can be definitely forecast, I give as follows:

LIST OF 175 DOUKHOBORS ON REGISTER

Daily News Figures Published on Wednesday 11 Names Short

HERE'S THE LIST LOOK THEM OVER

Is Copy of Official List Turned In To Returning Officer Grimmett

Yesterday The Nelson Daily News stated that 140 Doukhobors had been added to the original list of 24 at Brilliant.

This figure was on the safe side. The actual number added was 151, 11 more than The Nelson Daily News stated.

This brings the total number actually registered to date on the Brilliant list to 175.

Some McLean supporters yesterday questioned the accuracy of the published figures. Below is the actual list of names, as officially sent out by the returning officer, A. M. Grimmett.

This list, of course, does not include the hundreds of other Doukhobors an endeavor is being made to line up to vote for Mr. McLean next Monday, under the provision in the Elections act which enables them to get on the list on polling day.

Here is the list of names:

John W. Argatoff, farmer; Mrs. Mary W. Argatoff, married woman; W. W. Argatoff; farmer; Mrs. Mary W. Argatoff, wife of W. W.; Helen F. Barisenkoff, Spinster; W. W. Bondareff, farmer; Mrs. N. W. Borndareff, married woman; Peter Baturin, farmer; P. S. Chernoff, farmer; Mrs. L. L. Chernoff, married woman; E. A. Chernoff, farmer; William A. Cheveldave, farmer; Peter W. Evdokinoff, farmer; George F. Evin, farmer; Helen M. Evin, married woman; Geo.

ROSSAND NOT TO GET CENTRAL POLL; SEPARATE PLACES

Rossland is not to get a central polling place after all.

A. M. Grimmett, returning officer, yesterday notified E. G. Matthew, agent for W. K. Esling, that there would be separate polling places there.

The places for polling have not yet been announced.

ELECTIONS ACT RULINGS KEEPS OFFICER BUSY

50 Telegrams Per Day to Chief Eelctoral Officer; Phones Busy

Adjustments Made Where Possible Under the Act; Expect Huge Vote

OTTAWA, Ont., July 24.—(By George Hambleton, Canadian Press staff correspondent)—As polling day nears, returning officers are pouring queries into Ottawa. Telegrams come in at the rate of 50 a day. The long distance telephone calls follow one another rapidly for elucidation of ths point or that.

One of the chief difficulties apparently arises from the urban enumeration. Enumerators would leave a slip at a house in notification of their call but errors mde in transferring names from the enumerator's field book to the list would result in the name being left off. And the elector now wants his vote. The error made at Sandwich, Ont., where an entire city block was missed, has been repeated in minor degree at other points.

The errors are causing some confusion and it is feared the confusion will be worse on election day.

The Dominion Elections act, as amended last session, contains no provision for the correction of errors in enumeration. The only provision is for printers' errors. But where the two candidates can agree a certificate to vote will be granted. If the two candidates do not agree, the vote cannot be cast. Such errors of enumeration have been brought to the attention of Jules Castonguay, general elections officer. In Russell county, the question arose over only one vote. The candidates agreed, however, and a certificate will be issued.

No totals are yet available of the number of electors who will be entitled to vote on Monday. But it is roughly estimated that they will be in the neighborhood of five millions. In the last general elections, the number on the lists was 4,665,381. Actual votes cast numbered 3,273,062.

In 200 polling districts, advance polling began tonight for sailors, railway employees and commercial travellers. It will be continued tomorrow night and Saturday.

QUAKE DEATH LIST LIKELY REACH 3000

Injured List Approaches 5000 Mark; 85 Towns Lay Desolate

HOMELESS LIVE IN OPEN FIELDS

Doctors and Nurses Mobilized; Orangize to Combat Possible Plague

ROME, July 24.—(AP)—A relief army of soldiers, doctors and special workers of all kinds, with scouting airplanes to guide them, tonight swarmed into the mountainous recesses of the Neapolitan hinterland to count an even increasing total of dead and care for thousands of injured and hundreds of thousands of homeless from Wednesday's calamitous earthquake.

From King Victor Emanuel and Premier Mussolini down, Italy today began mobilization on a war-time scale for the rescue work. Pope Pius XI, horrified by the extent of the catastrophe, prepared the forces of the church.

From the bay of Naples and the gulf of Salerno on the west and almost to the gulf of Manfreddo on the Adriatic, a zone of devastated and stricken towns, hamlets and houses stretched like an open wound around the "ankle" of the Italian boot.

With figures of known dead at the ministry of the interior already mounting past 2000, and those of the known injured approaching with dizzying speed the 5000 mark, forecasts of a death toll of at least 3000

STORM LEAVES STRING FIRES IN DISTRICT

Over 30 Fires Are Reported; Four at South; One at Crescent Bay

Something like 33 fires throughout the district were reported at the forestry branch headquarters here yesterday following the electric storm that passed over the district on Wednesday night. Winds that predominated all day yesterday did much to spread these fires but it was understood that most of the fires were being controlled by gangs of men.

Four of these fires reported were burning in the vicinity of South Slocan and early last evening the smoke from one of these fires was visible from Nelson.

One fire was reported above Crescent bay above C. R. Hamilton's summer residence. Two gangs of men were sent to this fire from pole camps in the vicinity.

South on the main lake a fire was reported high up on Cultus creek. This fire was also reported by the forestry plane yesterday and was thought to be approximately five acres in extent.

Men and equipment will be sent from Nelson to this fire this morning.

Fires reported from Kaslo yesterday afternoon numbered 11. Twenty men were sent from Nelson to Kaslo fires yesterday.

Though full reports were not received from the Lardo district mine fires had been reported in this section last night and the plane yesterday afternoon spotted another blaze on Cooper creek other than the one that had been reported previously.

The plane in its flight yesterday up the main lake to the Lardo spotted numbers of the fires mentioned and had to turn back because of the storm in the vicinity of Trout lake. No report had been received from that district as to what damage the storm had done.

ROLLER COASTER CRASHES AND 24 SERIOUSLY HURT

Two Are Dead; Three Cars Loaded With Joy and Thrill Seekers Wrecked

OMAHA, Neb., July 24—(CP.)—Two persons were killed tonight when a roller coaster train at Krug Park plunged through a cap in the track work and dropped 35 feet to the ground.

OMAHA, Neb., July 24—(AP)—One unidentified girl was fatally injured and 24 were reported injured when a roller coaster train left the track at an amusement park here tonight and plunged 35 feet into a maze of ties and trestle work below.

Several of the injured were reported near death at hospitals.

Ben Meister, eye-witness of the crash, said he watched the train start and saw its preliminary circling before it started up the first incline.

As it neared the top of the incline, Meister said, he heard a snapping noise as if timbers were breaking under strain.

He looked ahead of the train, he said, and saw part of the track directly ahead of the coaster cars giving way. He said he saw the first car crash through and plunge to the ground.

One by one, Meister related, the other three cars were pulled over the edge of the shattered trestle work while men, women and children screamed in horror and made frantic efforts to get out of the cars.

FOUR BANDITS IN VANCOUVER MAKE BUT SLIM HAUL

VNCAOUVER, B. C., July 24.—Four bandits raided the East End pharmacy, Nanaimo street, late tonight, and escaped in an automobile with the contents of the till amounting to $27, police report.

Three men, one of them armed with a revolver, entered the store, police said. They drove up in a green automobile with black markings. It was parked outside the store for a few minutes before the men left it in charge of one of the quartette.

Led by a youth of about 20 brandishing a revolver, they invaded the drug store and ordered S. Snow, manager, T. Wilson and Fred Matte, two boys talking to him, to throw up their hands.

Mr. Snow, police said, did not respond quickly enough and one of the bandits picked up an order book lying on the counter and threw it at him.

Two of the men covered Snow and the two boys while the third scooped up the contents of the till.

Premier Baxter Gives Answer to Charges of Premier King on Roads

STINT JOHN, N. B., July 24—"I can hardly conceive of Premier Mackenzie King being so silly as to have made the statement which he is reported to have made at Chesley, Ontario, in connection with women and children being employed on the roads in New Brunswick" Hon. J. B. M. Baxter, premier of New Brunswick, commented concerning the prime minister's reported charges regarding road work in several provinces.

Premier Baxter declared that he had increased the public debt of the province in carrying on road work in order that the people of New Brunswick might have means of procuring their daily bread. "And I'll do it again if need be," he asserted.

FOUR VOTE THE FIRST EVENING AT ADVANCE POLL

Polling Officials Lonely; Two More Chances To Vote

Only four votes were cast in the first evening's voting at Nelson's advance poll in the Dominion election

The poll was held in the K. P. hall, where O. W. Humphry, deputy returning officer, and Mrs. O. W. Humphry, poll clerk, sat for three hours in lonely grandeur, P. E. Poulin who was present on behalf of W. K. Esling, Conservative candidate, helping them to endure the monotony.

Business is expected to pick up tonight, while tomorrow afternoon and evening there should be a substantial vote, as it is certain many railroaders, steamboatmen and commercial travellers who are on the Nelson lists will have to be out of town Monday. In the 1926 election 54 votes were received at the advance poll.

ANDERSON SHAMES CAMPAIGN RACIAL HATRED IN QUEBEC

REGINA, Sask., July 24.— (By George Finlay, Canadian Press Staff Correspondent) — Premier J. T. M. Anderson who spoke at the Regina Conservative rally folloying the address of Hon. Hugh Guthrie tonight, had bitter condemnation for the campaign of racial hatred fostered by the Liberals of Quebec and the "whiskers" that had been carried to the rural districts of Saskatchewan.

He had said Premier Anderson been portrayed as a "burner of schools" and it had been declared that the Conservatives, if elected, would take away hosesteads of the foreign immigrant.

"They will find though," added the premier, "that there will be a greater measure of British justice under Conservative rule than that obtained under the Liberal regime."

Dr. Anderson produced a cartoon which he said had been circulated by the Young Liberals of Quebec, showing a flaming school, a teacher rescuing her pupils, and "the premier of Saskatchewan the fire fiend"

ACADIA WILL GO AFTER NEW FUND

WOLFVILLE, N. S., July 24 — Two announcements of importance to the Maritime Provinces and supporters of Acadia University were made by President F. W. Patterson following the awarding of degrees and prizes at the 92nd. convocation of the University. The Acadia Forward Movement Fund of $1,500,000, undertaken some years ago, has been completed, he said. The sum had been nominally secured a year ago, but the payment of $200,000 by the aCrnegie Corporation completed the amount in full some months ago. The second announcement of Dr. Patterson was that an Acadia Pre-Centenary Fund, with $3,000,000 as the objective, would be undertaken immediately. In eight years, Acadia will celebrate the 100th anniversary of its founding as a college. The new campaign with the addition of a million dollars, follows an announcement of a year ago, that a drive for $2,000,000 would be made to raise money for university purposes.

WINNIPEG TAKES ONE--GOAL LEAD ON THE ROYALS

WINNIPEG, Man. July 24—(By The Canadian Press)—Winnipeg Hearts captured a one-goal lead tonight in the opener of the two-game series for the western Canada soccer title. They defeated New Westminster Royals by one goal to none, scoring the lone Tally in the first half. The second game of the Dominion semi-final series is on Saturday.

ATTACKS DUNNING BUDGET AT FORKS

Grote Stirling Shows How U. S. Could Use Countervailing Duties

GRAND FORKS, B. C., July 24—Pointing out that the Dunning tariff on fruit was neither in the interests of the fruitgrowers nor the consumers of Canada, but in the interests of United States shippers, because of the fact that the tariff had little effect on the dumping of cheap apples but protected the higher priced apples, which did not need protection, Grote Stirling, Member for Yale for the past five years, addressed the electors of Grand Forks in the Empress theatre last night.

He urged the uselessness of the counervailing duties. Taking the instance of eggs, he said that when the United States have a glut of eggs it would be a simple matter for the U. S. farmers to go to the President, with their elastic tariff arrangements, and have the duty cut from eight cents, as at present, to say, two cents a dozen; the Canadian tariff would be reduced accordingly; the U. S. farmers would dump their surplus eggs in Canada, and then up would go the tariff again. This same principle could be applied to many products.

F. G. T. Lucas, barrister of Vancouver, and Dr. Kingston also addressed the meeting.

AVIATION LEAGUE AT VANCOUVER IS TO BE REVIVED

VANCOUVER, July 24—Through the agency of Maj.-Gen. MacBrien, head of the Aviation League of Canada, the Vancouver branch of the league was revived at a meeting here this afternoon.

Purposes of the league were outlined by Gen. MacBrien who explained that its function was the correlation of the efforts of all organizations working for the advancement of aviation. Provincial flying clubs and glider clubs throughout the Dominion were aided and encouraged in experiments and in extending their organization

On his suggestion a provisional committee of eight was formed which will call the first meeting of the revived branch July 30. Col. W. D. S. Robison was elected chairman and Leonard Miller secretary of the provisional committee.

Says Premier King's Utterances Those of A Defeated Premier

NEWMARKET, Ont., July 24.—(By Thomas Green, Canadian Press Staff Correspondent) — Charging that Premier King was so "peeved" because of six provinces were opposing him that he could not speak of Canada in his utterances at Chesley yesterday, Hon. R. B. Bennett addressed a series of meetings today. The Conservative chieftain further called upon the prime minister to state whether he approved the "base appeal," made over the weekend by Premier Taschereau of Quebec on Empire trade.

TARRY'S REPLACES GLADE IN LIST OF POLLING PLACES

Polling for the Glade-Tarry's registration district, originally proclaimed to take place at Glade, will take place instead at Tarry's, A. M. Grimmett, returning officer for West Kootenay, announced yesterday.

The change, it is stated, will suit the convenience of the majority of the electors concerned.

QUAKE DEATH LIST LIKELY REACH 3000

were confidently made in Rome tonight.

3025 BODIES

Unofficial reports gave 3025 as the number of bodies already found. In remote communities and distant farms it is feared hundreds are buried under deoris. Even in the larger towns, rescuers have not been able to explore all the ruined buildings.

Naples, metropolis of the area, lying under the glowering menace of Mt. Vesuvius, was under a war regime today. Soldiers were on guard, convoys of food and medical supplies rushed through the streets, buildings lay in ruins as though struck by shells and flags everywhere flew at half staff .

From Naples almost as far as the Plain of Apulia, on the other side of the Appenines, at least 85 towns and villages lay desolate.

In the provincial centers and larger towns Fascist militiamen and all Fascist auxiliary organizations moved swift disciplined order on their errand of relief. As the frightened populace grew more reassured, and the work of salvage lightened, bands were sent out to the surrounding country.

FEAR EPIDEMICS

Health authorities, fearful of epidemics such as follow in the wakes of great disasters, mobilized an army of doctors and pharmacists. Medicines and serums were collected at strategic points. Food supplies were massed in depots and distributed by the truckload. Water was rushed in tank trucks to communities whose drinking supplies had been cut off.

After great difficulty the Italian army signal corps re-established communication between the larger towns. Flying sanitary squads from Naples and elsewhere innoculated villagers and farmers with anti-tetanus serum.

The country doctor once more came into his own. At the village of Villanova, which was completely razed, old Doctor Jorizzon, only survivor of hs whole family and himself dragged badly battered from the runs of his home, worked until he nearly dropped giving free aid to his fellow-townsmen. The situation there was acute. The death list mounted from 400 to 500.

LIVE IN FIELDS

Throughout four devastated provnces, Avellina, Potenza, Foggie and Benevento, the homeless bivouacked tonight in the fields.

The countryside seemed to be in the grip of war, an impression heightened by the constant passage of hurrying detachments of soldiers.

The burial of the dead constituted a stupendous problem for relief workers. In some communities the cemeteries were filled before all the victims could be buried. Bodies had to be taken hastily from one community to the church of another.

All through the afternoon funeral processions wended their way to shaken and often ruined churches. Even the tolling of the church bells was absent. The earthquake had so greatly weakened the towers sextons were afraid to ring the bells.

Airplanes were eyes of the relief workers. From three or four air fields they soared over the entire area reporting conditions so aid could be efficiently organized and promptly dispatched.

Such was the extent of the havoc caused by the earthquake officials could compare it only to the disastrous quake of 1908 at Messina, which ravged Calageia and eastern Sicily. From 75,000 to 100,000 persons perished then. A million were made homeless and 100,000 injured.

The present case the totals oare far below those at Messina, but the material damage may be nearly as great, for the region affected is rich in resources and history.

MISSIONARIES FLEEING FROM INTERIOR, CHINA

SHANGHAI, July 24—(AP)—Once again foreign missionairies are fleeing from the interior of China as a result of conditions of banditry and communist outlawry which they declare to be no longer tolerable by them.

Accompanied by British and American consular officials 44 missionaries long marooned in the upper Min River Valley near Shaowu and Yenpig, Fukien Province, were brought in safety last night to Foochow, capital and metropolis, near the sea coast.

Others were expected to make their way to Foochow soon and some, had arrived at Shanghai. Whether the four missionairies held at Pochow, Anhwei Province, were released when nationalists forces recaptured that stronghold from the northern rebels this week, had not been determined.

Of the 44 missionairies brought to Foochow last night 21 were Americans and the remainder British.

NORTH SHORE FOLK PASS FIVE POLLS TO REACH THEIRS

Have to Come to West Baker To Vote; Confusion in Polls

That they have to pass five Nelson polls in order to reach the one that the Liberals have ordained that they should vote at, is the complain of North Shore residents who were included in the Nelson registration. The North Shore opposite Nelson was included in registration district 100, the poll for which will be held at the Sunnyside block, at the western end of Baker street.

On crossing over to the city by ferry, the North Shore folks have to pass a poll at the gas station near Lakeside park, a second one at Hume school, a third one at the Maripodi residence at the corner of Chatham and High streets, a fourth one at the Monteleone premises on Hall street, and a fifth one —by a little detour — at the armory, before the polling place allotted to them heaves in sight. Incidentally they, like nearly everyone else, have to pass Eagle hall, where the central poll for the whole of Nelson could have been held if the Liberal candidate, D. D. McLean, had not defeated the project by withholding his consent, the Elections act requiring the unanimous consent of the candidates in such a case.

MUCH SHIFTED POLL

No fewer than four polling places have been announced in turn for registration district 91, or Nelson No. 4, which includes the eastern extremity of Vernon and Baker streets and extends many blocks up the hill along the line of Cedar street. The first place announced was the residence of the registrar, which was in Fairview. When the returning officer published his poster proclamation, the Stirling hotel was named. Notices sent out by the Liberals gave the address of the former lime warehouse of John Burns & Son on Vernon street. Wednesday this was abandoned in favor of premises on Hall street connected with the Monteleon cafe. Just under 500 persons have to vote at this poll, which has been divided into two sections and Eagle hall is the more central to them than the polling place chosen.

Nelson seethes with criticism of the polling arrangements, and a question on almost every lip is, "Where do I vote?"

Endurance Flyers Are Attempting to Mark Recent Work

ST. LOUIS, July 24—(AP)—Dale Jackson and Forest O'Brien, seeking to regain their lost endurance flight record, had their first trouble today since taking off Monday, but it proved nothing serious and at 8:11 p.m. they had been aloft 85 hours.

At 11:30 a.m they dropped a note asking the re-fueling plane to send up nuts and bolts for the stabilizer, the equipment which balances the plane. A note at 4:05 p.m. said the stabilizer had been repaired.

Tonight was the fourth night in the air for the pair. They dropped a message saying "We are just getting used to things again." A year ago they were aloft more than 420 hours, the record standing until the Hunter brothers stayed up 554 hours at Chicago.

Mr. Esling Asks the Liberal Speakers to Reply

The policy of a government is best understood by the record of its votes on those matters in which the people of this district are keenly interested. The votes of the Prime Minister and his cabinet must therefore be the policy on which every Liberal candidate in Canada must stand, or else he must repudiate the King administration.

BENNETT WILL ACT

Speaking at Edmonton on June 14, Hon. R. B. Bennett said: "When elected, I will call Parliment together at the earliest possible moment to provide at once the remedy for unemployment, which is work for all who can and will work. If there be those who think that their idleness, now unsought, may by aid of government be continued at their will, they mistake my meaning and my purpose. I will help them to help themselves, but I will not help them to remain in idleness. I will act for the common good. That is my guide, any other would surely lead me astray."

In emphasis of this policy, Mr. Bennett, speaking at Winnipeg on June 9, pledged himself to aid in the construction of highways, to provide a Pacific coast outlet for the Peace River, to increase harbor and storage facilities on the Pacific and Atlantic; to complete the Hudson Bay route and develop the St. Lawrence waterway.

From the above the Elector may draw his own conclusion.

CHERRIES FROM KOOTENAYS ARE ON REGINA MART

Shipments Are Beginning to Arrive Commissioner Reports

KOOTENAY PRICES ADVANCE, CALGARY

Balance of Calgary's Supply Will Be From the District

Market news letter from the markets branch, under date of July 21, says

VICTORIA

Weather continues warm. Liberal supplies of fruit and vegetables, mostly local, are on the market. Hot house tomatoes are selling at $2.75 to $3.00 wholesale. A car of Washington apricots has been received here for cannery purposes and another car is expected. Only one shipment of Okanagan apricots has been received here this season and no further shipments are expected. A shipment of 150 boxes of Washington Greening apples, jumble pack, was received here today. The quality of these apples is very inferior.

FROM MARKETS COMMISSIONER

Wire received from markets commissioner, who is in Regina

"Heavy showers accompanied by thunder during the week-end has refreshed the crops in Saskatchewan and Manitoba. Crop conditions are generally from fair to good but rather varied, south and north being best. The movement of fruit and vegetables is good considering depressed conditions. A car of cherries from Kelowna heavy to Windsors 500 No. 2 arrived here Saturday. These are moving out satisfactorily. Raspberries are arriving in excellent shape, price $3.50 delivered. A car of Washington raspberries arrived in Winnipeg on Saturday, July 19. Also half a car from British Columbia. Reported rain in British Columbia was the reason given for bringing in the Washington car. Apparently supplies were withheld from Winnipeg to make room for this car. All raspberries were sold at the same price. Loganberries coming in mixed cars are dragging on sale. Few British Columbia apricots are seen in Regina, and no complaints have been heard on quality. Vancouver and imported potatoes are being preferred at present as the potatoes coming from the valley are rather small. Cherries are beginning to arrive from the Kootenays. Raspberries reported past their peak. A car will arrive tomorrow in Regina and market ready for them. Cucumbers and semi-ripe field tomatoes are just beginning to arrive."

SUMMARY OF THE POTATO MARKET

The present price of British Columbia potatoes to all prairie points is $95 f.o.b. carlots, less freight differential between Okanagan points and Vancouver. American potatoes are being landed in Winnipeg at $56.20 per ton, at which price there should be some movement of the local product into that market. The movement to prairie points is sluggish due to deliberate price cutting. Outside of Winnipeg and adjacent markets there is no American competition but local grown supplies will be available soon. Growers should be receiving $26 to $27 per ton f.o.b. for carlots according to which market bought for. The published price for local deliveries to wholesale still stands at $35. At this price Vancouver is the cheapest market on the North American continent, yet some growers are selling at as low as $23 to $24 per ton.

VANCOUVER

The raspberry deal remains firm at $2.75 to $3 per crate wholesale. Receipts are light the prairie demand taking all the growers can offer. One local cannery has already imported three carlots from Washington to meet its requirements. The tomato market is decidedly weak, today's price to wholesalers being $2.75 for No. 1 hothouse. Field tomatoes are coming to the prairie market restricting the demand from that quarter. There are also some direct sales to the retailers here by a few of the small nearby greenhouses which have a disturbing effect on wholesale prices A heavy shipment of oranges has arrived from Australia and is now going out to the trade. There was also a small shipment of Washington Navels from Brazil, the first shipment received from that country The quality is excellent as far as flavor and juiciness is concerned. California Gravenstein apples are now arriving in straight carlots and Bartlett pears in mixed cars. The potato market is slipping badly, prices to growers in many cases being well below $30 per ton. The well known factors of supply and demand are apparently determining influences which cannot be ignored. No change in grain, egg or poultry prices.

CALGARY

Today (Saturday) we are having quite a heavy rain which should help the farmers. A car of raspberries was unloaded here this morning after a partial unloading at Edmonton. It arrived in excellent condition and sold at $3.50 to the jobber. Raspberry L. C. L.'s are getting lighter and shippers advise that the peak movement is about over. If L. C. L.'s get no heavier more stable prices may be expected. Apricots are fairly plentiful, mostly from Wenatchee. Apples have been cleaning up fairly well this week. There are a few British Columbia cookers still on hand and a car of Washington Transparents arrived this morning. The cherry market has cleaned up well for the week-end and it is reported that Kootenay prices have advanced. Next week a few more cherries are expected from the Okanagan, but after that the balance of the crop will be from the Kootenay section. Celery from British Columbia is having a fair movement. Tomatoes have been on the short side most of the week. A car of Arkansas field tomatoes was cleaned up this morning when a car of California field was received and a second California car is expected on Monday. Cucumbers are short with firmer prices. British Columbia field cucumbers are scarce and local and Medicine Hat hot house cucumbers are the chief supplies. Prices on potatoes are still very unsettled. Two cars cleaned up on Thursday and Friday at a wholesale price of $.50 per cwt. and generally prices ranged from $3.50 to $2.75. Local vegetables are becoming increasingly plentiful and are beginning to make an impression on the British Columbia deal. Jobbers are now curtailing their orders of British Columbia green vegetables.

WINNIPEG

The weather for the past week has been very warm with heavy showers of rain towards the end of the week which will help the crops. Raspberries and cherries are arriving in very good condition. Raspberries are selling at $4 per crate and Bing cherries at around $3.50 per four-basket crate. Windsor cherries are selling at $3.25. Ontario Montmorency cherries, six-quart baskets, are selling for $1 per basket. We have also received some very nice cabbage from British Columbia which was in good demand at $3.50 per cwt. Hothouse cucumbers and tomatoes are moving very slowly. Hothouse tomatoes are selling at $4.25 and Tennessee field lugs, repacked at $3.50. New potatoes from British Columbia and Kansas are bringing $3.50 per cwt. The above prices are wholesale.

"Low-production hens usually always have characteristics which infallibly mark them as such, which even the amateur poultryman can recognize . A dry shrivelled comb is always the label of a non-producer. Hens having only a one-finger width between the pelvic bones or a two-finger space between the pelvic bones and the breast are laying very few eggs, if any. Another market bird is the hen with the hard solid flesh over her abdomen and those that acquire deep yellow shanks after several months' production. Hens that are weak, sickly or anemic should always be sold without hesitation. With the elimination of hens with the above outlined characteristics from the flock, an almost immediate increase in the egg production per bird should be noticed."

CANADA AGAIN TOPS THE LIST, U. S. FRIENDS

Has Established Herself as Uncle Sam's Best Customer

WASHINGTON, D. C., July 24.—Canada has again proven herself as a good neighbor.

Figures released by the U. S. Department of Commerce show that Canada, for the second consecutive year, has established herself as the best buyer and seller of United States goods. Exports to Canada last year were $48,501,000, while imports from Canada were $504,277,000, making a total foreign trade nearly $1,500,000,000.

United Kingdom held its position as the second leading market for United States with a neglible gain over 1928. Exports to United Kingdom totalled $847,980,000, or $100,521,000 less than to Canada. More than two thirds of our exports are taken by these two countries of the British Empire. Germany remained the third best customer despite a decline in U. S. exports to that country of $57,000,000, or 12 per cent below 1928. France regained her position of fourth fourth leading market, a place that Japan has held since 1927. United States to France were $24,964,000, or ten per cent larger than 1928.

30 NEW BUILDINGS AT CRESTON, YEAR

CRESTON, B. C., July 24.—Starting with the opening of the building season at March, 1929, and up till July 15th of this year, the records show that a total of 30 new residences and places of business have been erected in Creston village and the territory not more than half a mile to the east of the town. And the end is not yet. On Monday Anderson & Son commenced work on a two story building on Wilson avenue, next the former S. A. Speers store. It will be 48x76 feet and the top floor will be for rooms with the ground floor for the store and restaurant. The builders are Barney and Woo, the latter an oldtime Chinese resident who located in Moyie in its later boom days, and is now returning to Creston to re-enter business. At the north end construction is now under way for a new bungalow for Canute Anderson and in the same locality basement excavation has commenced for a cottage home for Fred W. Ash.

NEW PHONOGRAPH RECORDS RESULT BLAST IN TEST

NEW YORK, June 24.—An explosion has shown how to make phonograph records that bend like paper. This blow-up, in a Columbia university chemical laboratory, came queerly enough not from expansion but sudden contraction. It led to the discovery of a new substance, durium, that produces a phonograph record as flexible as paper, but so hard it does not scratch or break under a hammer blow.

The "accident" was no lucky break, but the climax of years of work that began with the idea of a New York manufacturer, Joseph Reilly. Reilly's business included electroplating, the process that hardens a thin film of copper into forms that print words and pictures. By some singular process he dreamed of making phonograph records. After spending $200,000 without success he consulted Dr. Hal T. Beans, professor of chemistry at Columbia. Beans said the scheme was all but "impossible", but he was willing to experiment with it.

He believed the secret of the process to be in certain synthetic resins that harden when heated. He cooked nearly 800 tubes, but none hardened fast enough. Then, as heat penetrated another tube one day there was a sharp hiss, and some of the liquor shot to the ceiling. The resin had hardened at explosion speed. The riddle was solved.

Heavy paper is coated with this resin from three to five thousandths of an inch thick. The touch of a hot form instantly transforms it into an indelible record.

NOT IMPROVING

ROCK CREEK, B. C., July 24.—Capt. Brew of Kettle Valley is in receipt of a communication from the medical authorities at Shaughnessy Military hospital, in reference to William Jones, now in Shaughnessy hospital, Vancouver. It read as follows:

"We regret to state that he is in very bad shape, physically. He is receiving treatment and every possible care but we are informed his condition is such, that his ultimate recovery is extremely doubtful. The authorities do not look with favor on the suggestion that he should be sent to his relatives at some later date.

Lace frocks with printed floral motifs simulating printed silk are being seen at the French races.

CHINESE GIRLS REPLACE WHITE IN DANCE HALLS

SHANGHAI, July 24. — Chinese girls are learning to dance, and driving their white sisters out of treatry port dance halls. The white Russian taxi-dance girls, exiles from Soviet rule, are losing out before bright-eyed, sleek-haired Chinese girls who charge less.

Girls, mothers and even grandmothers, among the Russian refugees, got jobs dancing with the white soldiers and sailors in Chinese port cities. Many had fatherless children or jobless husbands to support. But the Chinese can imitate anything, it is said, and now the oriental maidens have learned to dance European fashion.

Clad in ankle-length vari-colored brocade, her neck encased in a high stiff collar, the Chinese girl is an attractive and striking figure. She is popular with whites and orientals alike.

In one of the largest cabarets of the city where formerly 40 to 50 Russian girls danced nightly, only half a dozen sad, thin-cheeked women remain, dressed in pathetic versions of evening dress. The rest of the girls are now all Chinese. Curious specimens of the westernized Chinese student frequent these places. Many are employees of the national and city governments, share-brokers, etc.

An Offer to Stay Proceedings Against
D. D. McLEAN
AND THE
VANCOUVER SUN
BY A. E. Watts

If the Liberal Candidate will publish a retraction and an apology and get the same BEFORE THE ELECTORS in the same effective manner as the damaging propaganda was secretly spread long before Watts knew it. WATTS will stay proceedings against McLean under the Electoral Act in the Police Court,

AND will withdraw writs in the Supreme Court for $20,000. against McLean and $30,000. against the Vancouver Sun.

The above covers all the untrue charges made by McLean re. WATTS and the TORIES financing him for the purpose of splitting the vote against McLean, under which charge if true WATTS considers that he would be a base TRAITOR to the Electors and would deserve Jail instead of a place in the House of Commons, but is ready to forgive the guilty one if he will retract and call back the awful lies and apologize. But it must be done promptly.

GRAND FORKS OBJECTS TO DOUKHOBOR ROWS

A Doukhobor demonstration on the streets of Grand Forks in which the community leader, Peter Verigin, played a leading part was short lived. The people of Grand Forks, having had years of trouble with the Doukhobors, would not stand for any fooling, and it was not hard to get witnesses to tell of the happenings on Monday night last.

As a consequence Peter Verigin was hailed into court and fined $50 after pleading not guilty to creating a disturbance. This is action, and action that the people of the Kootenays like to see. Demonstrations that would not be tolerated, should they be carried out by Canadian residents, should not be tolerated from the Doukhobors who will eventually learn that the Canadian law must be respected. Maybe this lesson to his officials and to the members of his community and to the fanatics of the district.

SOUTHERN INTERIOR'S FIRE LOSS LARGE

While this time last summer the southern interior of the province was in the grips of the forest fire menace this year conditions have been better, due largely to preventative measures, and to weather conditions. But right at the present, with the warm weather of the past few weeks and the absence of real drenching rains the hazard is particularily dangerous.

In 1929 the southern interior had 1203 forest fires which was 54.99 per cent of the total for the whole of British Columbia. In other words more than half of the outbreaks occurred in this territory.

It is an interesting fact to know that the majority of these flames were not caused by negligence on the part of human beings. Of the 1205 fires reported 512 were due to lightening. Campers and travellers were held responsible for 119 outbreaks. Railway operations and construction camps accounted for 200 of the fires.

While a campaign of carefulness with the use of fire and smokes in the woods has been carried out for some years it is interesting to know that 193 outbreaks were in 1929 traced to carelessness of smokers. The cigarette butt and the careless match are both deadly in the woods of this province or any other place where timber exists.

That these fires cost the people of British Columbia money is shown by the fact that the cost of fighting all fires in the province for 1929 was $492,581.68. The southern interior with its 1203 fires had expended in combatting these outbreaks the monster sum of $455,766.58, or over 92 per cent of the total sum expended in the province. The average cost of fighting a single fire in this district in 1929 was $378.86. The lowest average in the whole province was $24.76 and the next highest $57.

From the above figures can be deducted the loss of wealth in the Southern interior through the fire demon. Let us all work to keep this cost down. Be careful with fire in the woods, along the highways or in the drier regions of the district.

That Body of Yours

ONE CAUSE OF BAD BREATH

A young lady consulted her physician about her "bad breath" which was embarrassing, to say the least.

She had tried mouth washes without avail.

Her doctor suggested that she chew her food a little more and spread her meals farther apart. There was some improvement but as she was of the nervous type she found it hard to remember to chew slowly.

She then began to have some pain in the stomach which remained practically all the time. Had it been an ulcer food would have eased the pain for a couple of hours after eating. It was not a cancer as there were no cancer symptoms.

The physician decided to have her take an X-ray or barium meal, in an effort to locate the cause of the pain.

At the end of 3½ hours, about one third of the meal was still in the stomach, whereas it should have been practically all clear.

Again at 10 hours a plate was taken and there was still 10 per cent of the meal in the stomach.

This then was the cause of the bad breath and the constant pain. She was eating a meal regularly before the previous meal was out of the stomach, and there was pressure from gas formation.

The cause of the trouble was that she was of a narrow build anyway and the stomach was squeezed inwards so that it hung a couple of inches lower than it should.

Then when it did empty into small intestine it had to go upwards, and suddenly turn downwards making a short or sharp curve that held back the food from passing freely from the stomach into small intestine.

Whether the stomach had dropped the extra two or three inches because of loss of weight is just a question.

The physician suggested that she rest a little more; eat a little more food and get some weight, even fat, between organs in abdomen; adjusted an abdominal belt that held organs up in proper position; prescribed an exercise of lying on back, and raising legs with knees straight—to tighten abdominal wall. Meals to be not less than 6 hours apart.

Finally she was to lie on right side for fifteen minutes before meals, so that any food lying in stomach from previous meal could drain out into small intestine before next meal was eaten.

There are many individuals bothered with pain in stomach, who are fearful of ulcer or cancer, when the trouble is really due to a dropped stomach, a "slow emptying" stomach.

Canada's livestock exhibit at the world's poultry congress in the Crystal palace, London, England, now in session, includes some splendid specimens of Canadian poultry, geese, ducks, pigeons and rabbits. Avian aristocrates in every sense of the term, the poultry for this exhibit came from every province in the Dominion. It includes all the usual, and some unusual types, among the latter being the Rose Comb Black Langshan (from Alberta), Silkies, and Black African Game stock. In keeping with their status as aristocrats these avian visitors to the fourth triennial congress of international poultry experts travelled to London via the C.P.S.S. Dutchess of York, in the care of skilled attendants. They are fully qualified ambassadors of good will, whose presence at the poultry congress will redound to the credit on the poultry breeding policies of the federal department of agriculture which have done much to make the present high quality of the poultry stock possible here.

GOOD MARMALADES

Reader friends have asked for the following recipes:

Peach Marmalade: Put two quarts of ripe peaches through the food chopper after removing skins and stones. To this chopped fruit add one large can of crushed or grated pineapple; stir in the grated rind and juice of one large orange, add two quarts of granulated sugar, and let the mixture boil till fairly thick (about 40 minutes) stirring often to prevent burning on the bottom. Turn hot into hot sterilized jars, put on new rubbers and seal airtight. Some women add one cup of almonds to this recipe.

Orange Marmalade: Slice three large Florida oranges and one large lemon (skin and all, excepting seeds) and over this sliced fruit pour 11 jelly tumblers of water; set away for 24 hours then boil one hour, or until the fruit is tender. Now add four pounds of granulated sugar and set away for 24 hours again. Then boil till thick (about one hour) before turning, hot, into 10 hot sterilized jelly glasses. When cold, cover with melt-wax.

Orange-Grapefruit Marmalade: Slice one large Florida orange, one lemon and one large grapefruit (skin and all, except seeds) and over the fruit mixture pour four quarts of cold water; let stand 24 hours before boiling hard for ten minutes. Again let stand, off the range, for 24 hours, then measure the fruit and set aside an equal measure of granulated sugar. Boil fruit slowly for two hours, then add to it the previously-measured sugar and cook 30 minutes or till it jellies. This recipe fills 15 jelly tumblers.

Searchlights

(By GERALD S. REES)

Doubtless residents of Nelson and district, also incoming voyagers by boat and train, are fascinated, even as the writer, by the long white finger that at nightfall now flashes in a wide sweeping circle across our encircling hills; people even stand still for several minutes following its rays round and around, and it seems, to me that at one period of its journey, it takes a bit of a hop, skip and a jump, but this may be an optical illusion. One feels that Mine Host George of the big hotel is to be congratulated on his "bright" idea in adding a welcome feature to the night life of our metropolis. While it may be some time before the planes get the habit of dropping in on our back yard, yet the day will come, and welcoming light will chart their course for a soft landing spot.

BOOM-BOOM

Many who in the war years, happily now a dimming memory, were accustomed to the many alarums —within the danger zone of the Homeland—of aerial attack will doubtless have some memories stirred. Nights when flashing beams smote the skies in search of our quondam enemy who devoted so much fruitless effort to compass our destruction by land and sea—and in the air. Moonless nights, when sirens screamed a warning through London streets, and everyone who could sought cover, while the aerial defence crops stood to their high-angled guns, and massed batteries of powerful searchlights swept the sky hour by hour, seeking to pick up the destructive Zeppelins and Gothas.

Necessity ever being the Mother of Invention, exigencies of modern welfare compelled the speedy development of searchlights far more powerful than those hitherto used in the Royal Navy; so powerful some of the later war-time machines that they would throw a vast bright circle of light on the highest cloud-like a gargantuan magic-lantern, and yet the light rays themselves were practically invisible, rendering their discovery no easy task.

London was completely encircled with these batteries of lights, and the anti-aircraft guns, close by, were closely connected; Many casualties were incurred through their exposed positions, but they carried on, and many times defeated the enemy. One battery of lights and guns was erected on an open space a stone's throw from our family residence, and reaped a high powered Zeppelin bomb; the authorities hastily removed what was left of it to a more distant spot, though the householders made no clamor, and considered themselves as sharing in some measure, in the common peril.

"HALT, WHO COMES THERE!"

The writer, during a period of convalesence, was temporarily attached to a home defence unit at a south coast watering place; varied duties included the spotting of drifting mines on the beaches, arresting doubtful folk incautiously using matches on the sea front, or exposing the slightest blimmer of light from shrouded windows facing the sea, but the important task was "listening in" through special microphonic apparatus, for the throbbing engines of approaching bombing Gothas on their way to the big city.

The warning signal being given, from position after position, stabbing beams of light were flung skyward till finally, with any fortune at all, they were focussed on death-dealers, and then the fun began. Other ex-warriors will recall the heroic days of the Dover Patrol, and with the Grand Fleet hidden in the northern mists. Any time searchlights were used at sea in the war zone was a time of dire need and danger, for most of the time all ships of war were running around without even the normal running lights—An ex-navy officer informed me he will never forget the nights when a navigating officer of one of Jellicoe's battleships, he was compelled to follow his leader with only a small light showing at the stern, and the distance between the ships so small that the slightest error of judgment of speed would have meant disaster.

Some may also recall the field searchlights used by the opposing armies in the trenches, and how unpleasantly bright they were if one happened to be tying up some barbed wire in No Man's Land.

Today, on many of the hills of France and Flanders and Gallipoli, so like each to each, people to the wide horizon with the white crosses of those who lie along the crimson trail of battle, there flash shafts of light, now a soft pale white, now a misty rose. Ceaselessly after dusk, they cleave the sky; lighthouses over no ocean estuary, but over vast seas of our beloved dead. . .

This affair is said to be as effective with trucks as with passenger cars, and to be an aid in reducing fatal accidents. A similar device, invented by a Winnipeg man, was exhibited in Western Canada a year ago.

EMIL'S STUFFED EGGS

Six hard cooked eggs, two tablespoons chopped green pepper, boiled salad dressing, two thirds of a cup crisp chopped celery, one half teaspoon chives.

Cut eggs lengthwise, remove yolks, mash yolks and add the celery, peppers, chives and enough dressing to moisten. Add salt, paprika to season further and a little vinegar if dressing is not sharp enough. Refill whites of eggs and serve on shredded lettuce, which has been dressed with a French dressing.

Flowers are an important trimming this year, usually used singly, without foliage, and posed on the under brim or against the crown, and carnations and gardenias are the favorites.

MERCURY REACHES 85 DEGREES HERE

Rain Falls in Evening; Humidity Nears Danger Point in Afternoon

Another comparatively hot day was experienced here Thursday despite the fact that Wednesday night was stormy and that during part of the day was cloudy. The maximum temperature was 85 dgrees and the minimum 50 degrees.

Early Thursday evening the sky clouded over and a little rain fell.

Humidity during the early part of the day was fairly high but in the latter part of the afternoon dropped within two points of the danger mark. Readings taken at 8 a.m. showed the humidity to be 80 degrees, at 2 p.m. 35, and 32 at 5 p.m.

Cook a large haddock with one minced onion, two stalks of celery, cut up two sprigs of parsley, a tablespoon of butter and salt and pepper. When tender, remove the fish to a platter and add two chopped pickles, the juice and rind of one lemon and one half cup of vinegar. Mash the yolks of two boiled eggs with one uncooked egg, a tablespoon of mustard and a tablespoon of butter. Add to the sauce and boil. Lay the fish in the boiling sauce ten minutes before serving.

LINER STOPS TO SAVE FOX-HOUND

Dog Wins Long Battle For Life in Cold Waters of Bay

BOMBAY, July 24—(CP)—When the British liner Clan Macnab docked here, passengers told how the captain had turned his ship round in mid-ocean to save the life of a fox-hound which had fallen overboard.

The liner was carrying a number of valuable fox-hounds from Liverpool to Bombay. When the vessel was crossing the Bay of Biscay, one hound was exercised as usual round the deck and then tied up on the after-deck. About 8 a.m. she was missed. A search was made, but the hound could not be found, and it was concluded that she must have slipped her collar and fallen overboard.

The loss was immediately reported to Captain Turton, who was on the bridge at the time. He turned his ship round and steamed back the estimated distance travelled since the mishap, plus an extra mile.

The hound was not sighted and the vessel resumed her course. In a few minutes some one caught sight of the hound a short distance away right ahead. She had been swimming in rough water nearly an hour. A boat was lowered from the ship, and the hound was hauled aboard in an exhausted condition After a few hours' attention she recovered and was able to rejoin her running mates.

TOURIST TRAFFIC IS FALLING OFF AT CRESTON NOW

CRESTON, July 24—Messrs. Paulson and Johnson, who recently modernized Creston View tourist park by installing shower baths and sanitary toilets, report that up till the present the auto tourist traffic at the camp is somewhat lighter than at the same time a year ago. There is a notable falling off in patronage from prairie points as well as British Columbia, but the number of United States cars, particularly from Washington and Idaho, shows a great gain. Very few times this month have there been even 10 cars making the over night stop.

Family Keeps Saddlery Shop From 1557 to 1930, Unbroken Line

LONDON, July 24—Before the Spanish Armada, the Gunpowder plot, or the fire of London, and in the days of Queen Elizabeth, Mary and Queen of Scots, and Shakespeare, the Denyers plied their trade in a little saddlery shop of High street, Staine, England.

Since the year 1557 the family tradition has remained unbroken. From father to son they have carried on in the same little shop, despite the passing of horse-loving kings and nobles and advent of swifter forms of travel.

Carriages and pairs no longer sweep up to the door of the old building. Trade is not what it used to be and, saddest of all, the grey haired man at work in the old harness-room is the last of the Denyers. Edmund John Denyer, named after his ancesters, has no son to follow in his footsteps. When he is gone the historic record will be broken.

While he lives however, this quiet, grave little saddler is determined to carry on, in spite of all the motor cars, aeroplanes, trains, and motor-cycles in the world.

CHEMICAL USED TO KILL WEEDS IN THE BOUNDARY

Midway and Grand Forks Live Stock Judging Teams to Choose Teams

During the past week demonstrations on weed killing have been made at Bridesville, Rock Creek, Midway, Greenwood and Grand Forks by the District Agriculturist, G. L. Landon, by spraying with Atlacide weed chemical. Applications were put on wild morning glory, perennial sow thistle, couch grass, nettles, tarweed, dandelions, stink weed and spear grass. Farmers in the districts are much interested in watching the results of these demonstrations.

Coaching is under way with the boys and girls entered in the judging teams which are going to Vancouver next month. Judging of beef cattle, dairy cattle, sheep, hogs, heavy horses, poultry and eggs is being carried on in the Boundary district at various farms. The six competitors scoring the highest will be members of the teams, one team from Grand Forks and one from Midway district.

FRIENDS REBUILD HOME DESTROYED, FIRE, ROCK CREEK

ROCK CREEK, B. C., July 24.—A most disastrous fire totally destroyed the house on the old Smyrl homestead, Rock Mountain. The farm is rented by R. Muelgar, a German who only came to the district this sprnig.

The fire started about 6.30 a. m. The weather being very hot Mr. and Mrs. Muelger were sleeping in a tent close by. Before going to the barn to attend to his chores, Mr. Muelger started a fire in the cook stove in the house. The barn is some distance from the house.

Later, when Mrs. Muelger came in the kitchen, she thought there was a smell of something burning. Placing her purse with her money and her jewels in it on the kitchen table, she rushed to the barn to get her husband, but before they could return the house was all in flames. It was impossible to have anything, not even the purse. Mrs. Muelger brought many valuable heirlooms with her from Germany and they were all destroyed in the fire.

Mr. Pitman at once took up a subscription for the unfortunate occupants. Parties have also donated 1500 feet of lumber to build a new house. A working bee was called for on Monday, July 21, among the neighbors to erect the house. The members of the Rock Creek Women's Institute are also having a miscellaneous shower for them.

WATCH BEEF GRADING

The beef grading policy of the Dominion livestock branch is not only providing a real service to the Canadian consumer and producer in clearly identifying the true qualities of beef, but is also attracting attention in the British market. The Imperial Food Journal, a recognized authority on market conditions in the Old Country says: "The introduction of beef grading in Canada, whereby the two top grades are marked for the information and protection of the public, is doing much to strengthen the demand for the better qualities of beef. This should tend to promote the raising of better grades of cattle and the finishing of animals before they are sent to market." The same authority forecasts an early return to volume exports of Canadian live cattle to Britain.

50-Year-Old Leads, First Day of Canadian Golf Play

N. THOMPSON IS AT TOP; DIEGEL FINISHES THIRD

Watrous, Michigan, Is Second; Hagen Is Near The Top

MACDONALD SMITH EVEN WITH HAGEN

Top Score Is 66; Next 68; Tommy Armour Has a 74

ANCASTER, Ont., July 24—(By Wm. D. White, Canadian Press staff writer)—Nicol Thompson, Sr., a pro with the advantage of playing his own course led the way today in the first 18 hole round of the Canadian open golf championship which is being played here on the course of the Hamilton Country club. Despite his years—he is not far from 50— and his weight, Thompson played a type of golf which would have placed him among the leaders almost anywhere. His score of 66 has not been beaten on the course.

Second place was taken by Al Watrous, former title holder, of Birmingham, Mich., with 68. Watrous was in fine form, getting the maximum results from the expenditure of a minimum of exertion.

After Watrous came Leo Diegel, defending champioin and four times winner of the Canadian open, who, with a number of others recorded a 69. Ed Dudley, Concordville, Penn., Tony Maero, Elmsport, N. Y., Charles Lacey, Pine Valley, Penn.

"GREAT SHOWMAN' HAS 70

Walter Hagen still "the great showman" went around with Charlie Murray, veteran of the Royal Montreal club, and the largest gallery of the day followed the pair. Both men came back with 70's after a see-saw game, although they were not playing against each other. MacDonald Smith, favored by the majority to take one of the first two places in the final, brought home a 70 as did J. R. Heaney, Rochester, N. Y.

"Long Jim" Barnes played the course in 71, tying in the first round with George Von Elm and Fred M. Lyon, of Toronto.

Fred Lyon, the Lambton amateur, and son of the famous George S. Lyon, Canada's veteran golfer, played a beautiful round which he climaxed with a two on the 18th hole of 425 yards

George S. Lyon, who has won the Canadian amateur eight times and has been runner-up for the open, shot a 78 today though he is 72 years of age.

Johnny Farrell, Mamaroneck, N. Y., had a 72 and Tommy Armour a 74.

C. Ross Somerville, former Canadian amateur champion, went out in 38, the record nine of the day, but his putting almost collapsed in the second round which cost him 41 strokes, giving him a total of 74. Willie Lamb, Uplands, Toronto champion of the Canadian professionals, carded a 73. Lex Robson and Don Carrick of Toronto, both made 72's and are still in the running.

FIVE TEAMS IN TRAIL FOOTBALL

TRAIL, B. C., July 24.—Five entries were made in the Schoffield cup soccer competition at a meeting last night, and the opening games of the league arranged.

The Schoffield cup competition sees the passing of Uniteds, second place team in the Dodimead shield series, and of St. Andrews, third place team. These two have been welded into the Trail East and Maple Leaf entries.

Withdrawal of Uniteds was practically forced by the organization of the Trail East team, almost the whole team going over.

Thistles and Wood Butchers enter the competition practically intact.

Colombos, an entirely new organization, make the fifth entry.

First game of the cup competition is to be played August 4, Wood Butchers and Trail East meeting.

Maple Leafs and Colombos tangle August 6.

The Thistles have a bye.

BIG SIX BASEBALL

Frank O'Doul was the exception to the rule of light hitting among the Big Six yesterday while Al Simmons was a lesser follower of his fellow Philadelphian. O'Doul regained the lead in the National league by slamming out three hits in five times at bat to add three points to his average, breaking the tie at .405 with Chuck Klein. Klein scored three times but he hit only once in four trips to the plate and dropped two points into second place in the Big Six. Simmons tightened his grip on the American league lead, adding a point to his average with two hits in five times up.

Babe Ruth hit his 36th home run but he had nothing else to show for four trips to the plate and dropped a point. Lou Gehrig also went down one with a single hit in three times up. Riggs Stephenson was out of action and remained in the fourth place at .388.

Nelson baseball fans will be attracted to the Recreaton grounds on Sunday, August 3, by the sound of creaking arms when the Old Timers baseball team goes into action against the Nelson senior team which has just completed its schedule in the Canadian-Washington International league.

For perhaps the last time in the 20th century the old time stars will go into action.

Among the notables will be "Buck" Buchanan, big-voiced catcher from across the "line," Scotty Notman, star keystone sacker of the old invincibles, and Earl Hunt, fleet-footed fielder of yesteryear. Among the old-timers in the lineup will appear Bob Crerar, Jim Curran, Frank Bamford, "Slim" Kraft, Oscar Olsen and "Spurg" Langill.

R. E. Kirby will direct the destinies of the old-timers when they take the field.

KING'S THEORIES NO GOOD IN THIS PRACTICAL WORLD

Bennett's Urge Is To Get Down To Business Upon Trading

BRANTFORD, Ont., July 24.—(By Thomas Green, Canadian Press staff correspondent).—In the industrial center of Brantford Hon. R. B. Bennett here tonight addressed a rally which packed the auditorium. Every available seat was occupied and men and women stood at the back and sides of the building. It was here that Premier Mackenzie King opened his campaign.

"Ths government for some purpose, for some reason that is so difficult to understand," Mr. Bennett exclaimed, has "preferred the industries of other countries, the farm produce of other countries livestock and all that goes with it. What would you do if you had a manager of your business who would do that? Would you tell him to walk out?"

"He would run, not walk," a voice called out.

"Let us get down to business about this situation," the Conservative leader declared. "Mr. King cannot get away from theories. Mr. King is a free trader. In a world where there are no longer free trade countries he will soon become a specimen. How can you get along on theories in a practical world?"

Mr. Bennett proceeded. "The trouble with the prime minister is that in a world or actualities he follows theories as though they were actualities." The prime minister, he said, was "obsessed" with the ideas of theorists.

MARJORIE LEEMING STILL IN RUNNING; SISTER IS BEATEN

Victoria Girl Meets Champion in Semi-Final, Tennis, Today

TORONTO, July 24—(CP)—Walter Martin, who carried the tennis challenge of the west into the east for the Canadian men's singles title at lawn tennis, late today was eliminated from the quest for honors. After brilliant victories in preliminary play, the Regina net star was eliminated in the quarter-final by Gilbert Hall, of East Orange, N. J.

It took Hall four sets before he was able to down the brilliant westerner, rated as a real Canadian Davis cup prospect. The Jerseyman copped the opening set at 6-1, but Martin rallied to even matters with a 3-6 win. Hall went ahead again with a love-set, but was forced to fall to 6-3 before he ousted the Saskatchewan player finally.

In the women's singles, but one westerner remains, she is Marjorie Leeming, of Victoria, British Columbia, who tomorrow battles champion Mrs. E. F. Coke, Toronto, in the semi-finals Marjorie took a straight-set win over M. Brock of Toronto, 6-2, 6-3, while her sister, Hope Leeming, was being eliminated by Jean Burrit, Ontario champion, 6-4, 6-3. In the other semi-final bracket, Miss Burritt plays Olive Wade, Toronto.

The men's semi-finals tomorrow will see G. Lyttleton Rogers of Dublin, Irish cup player, pitted against J. Gilbret Hall, East Orange, and Gilbert Nunns, Toronto, against Fritz Mercur of Bethlehem.

The feature matches of the day turned out to be those in which Marcel Rainville, Montreal star, and J. De Lara of California were eliminated. Nunns took the measure of the Montrealer in a four-set battle which produced some of the keenest tennis seen on these courts, 6-3, 6-4, 2-6, 6-3.

The Mercur-De Lara battle went into five brilliant sets of strenuous tennis, 6-4, 6-4, 2-6, 4-6, 6-3.

RAJAH GENEROUS TO MOTHER-LAND

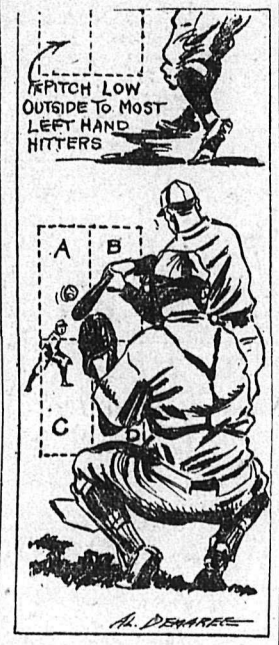
SINGAPORE, July 24—(By The Canadian Press)—The Rajah of Sarawak, the English ruler of state in Borneo, has offered the British government the sum of $450,000 in recognition of the friendly relations between Sarawak and the government.

Most of the money will probably be used for a fund to assist in the education of colonial civil servants' children. The funds will be administered by trustees who will be nominated by the Rajah and by the English Secretary of State. According to an announcement from the Colonial office in London, the income will be used in the education of children whose parents serve the Empire abroad, and special consideration will be given those who are called to remote outposts. The full details of the scheme, have still to be worked out.

When Lord Passfield announced the gift at a dinner to Colonial Office representatives in London he said: "On behalf of the Government, I propose to accept the gift, and to express to his highness their appreciation and gratitude. "The Rajah, it was explained, wished the gift to be applied to some worthy object in the colonial empire, and it was after considering various suggestions that the Rajah had decided that $325,000 should go to benefit the children of civil servants in the colonies.

The Rajah is an Englishman, Sir Charles Vyner Brooke, who rules over a country of 30,000 square miles with a population of over half natives—Dyaks and Malays and other former head-hunting tribes The first Rajah was Sir James Brook, who in 1839 was made ruler of Sarawak by the Sultan of Borneo in gratitude for his suppression of a rebellion among the natives. The present ruler succeeded his father, Sir Charles sr., 1917. He is married to the Hon. Sylvia Brett, the daughter of Viscount Esher.

Big League BASEBALL Spots to Pitch



By AL DEMAREE
(Former Pitcher New York Giants)

The majority of left-hand hitters like a ball inside so they can pull it to right field.

Most of their long hits are to right field and naturally they prefer to hit in that direction.

I always found it successful and so do most right-handed pitchers, to pitch outside, both high and low to a left hander. Keep your fast ball outside and make them hit to left field. If you are pitching a curve ball, keep it outside also, but be sure it is low. A high curve ball is worse than useless, it really is not a curve at all.

I have marked the four pitching areas in the above cartoon.

A. If the batter is a low ball hitter ,pitch fast balls to him in this area.

B. This is a dangerous spot. Only throw fast balls here and then only to "dust him off" or drive him away from the plate.

C. This is the best spot to pitch to majority of hitters. Keep your fast and curve ball well on the outside corner.

D. Keep both your fast ball and curve ball out of here at all times.

Save this Big League Baseball series. Another will appear Tuesday

FOURTH CRICKET TEST MATCH IS TO START TODAY

Will Last Four Days; Each Have Win While One Match Was Draw

MANCHESTER, Eng., July 24—(C P cable) England and Australia clash again in a cricket test match at Old Trafford grounds beginning tomorrow. The match will last for four days and is the fourth of the series of tests this season for the "ashes" representing the international cricket championship now held by England. Each country has won a game, while one has been drawn.

England started off with an impressive win at Nottingham, but were crushed under a mountain of runs at Lord's and were lucky to get a draw at Leeds The English selection committee has been doing a certain amount of experimenting with new players with an eye on the future. Prince Duleepsinhji earned for himself a place on England elevens by a great 173 at Lord's R. W. V. Robins, after a comparatively good showing at Notts and a failure at Lord's was dropped at Leeds, but has been reinstated for Old Trafford.

The committee has invited three new men to hold themselves in readiness to play Friday. They are I. A. R. Peebles, Middlesex and Oxford university bowler, M. S. Nichols, Essex professional all-rounder, and T W. Goodard, Gloucestershire professional bowler. The balance of the men chosen consist of A. P. A. Champman, captain; Jack Vobbs and Herbert Sutcliffe, England's opening pair, Wally Hammond, Maurice Tate, Maurice Leyland, George Duckworth and Pat Hendren.

SPEED BOAT RUNS WILD WITHOUT A DRIVER, SPOKANE

KASLO, B. C., July 24.—The Kaslo contingent who participated in the Spokane regatta held at Loon Lake over the week-end, returned Monday afternoon and report a splendid trip with plenty of thrills.

G. H. Greenwood won third place in the Class B, division three and second place in Class B, division four, in the last race nearly nosing out the winner, Don Pounds of Spokane. Both boats have the name of "I. N. T."

Gordon Bowker, who was entered in Class C, was caught in the wash of the other boats and upset the first day, putting his boat out of commission. On the second day he was driving the "Mystery" but had engine trouble. Miss Winona Rouleau also had engine trouble the first day and was upset the second day. The two entries on the second day were in the marathon race.

A thrilling episode took place in this race when one of the boats in class "D" was caught in the wash. The driver was thrown out, the boat ran wild for about two miles then ran into a tree-lined bank and finished about 80 feet in shore.

The Kaslo folks were treated royally and stated that a large number from Spokane and other points have expressed their intention of coming to Kaslo for the regatta to be held August 9, 10 and 11.

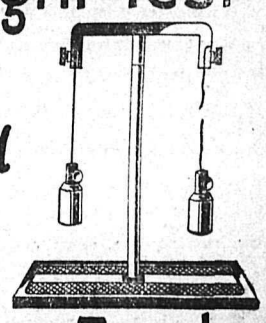
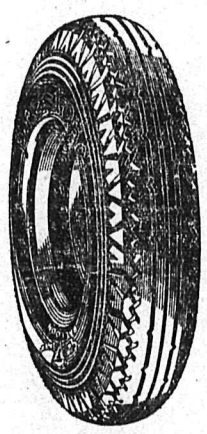
The Weight Test Shows Gum-Dipped Cords are Stronger-Tougher





HERE is a test which easily proves the value of Gum-Dipping---the extra patented Firestone process of saturating and insulating every fibre of every cord in a Firestone tire with rubber to eliminate internal heat and friction---the greatest enemy to tire!

A two-ounce weight is suspended on the end of one strand of a cord (a) taken from an ordinary tire. The strand breaks in 15 seconds. A similar weight is suspended on a Gum-Dipped strand (b) taken from a Firestone tire---it remains unbroken for 45 seconds---three times as long!

Let your nearest Firestone dealer equip your car with a set of these stronger, tougher, more dependable tires that hold the world's records for mileage and endurance. See him to-day.

THE WORLD'S DELIGHT

CHAPTER SIX

Why didn't she have paper and pencil? All through her aching body a warmth came stealing; a glow of positive pleasure and a sense of certain power. Surely, if she could but imprison these cascades of phrases that flowed and roared in her head, the world would see that there was one American woman who could write poetry. And what would Buddy think of that- How horrible not to have the tools of her art now when she had the inspiration; it was in her mind like a golden shower, and she had nothing to catch it in.

She sat up and glared around her, like a sleeper shaken suddenly from an absorbing dream. Billy, the horse, had neighed and trampled back in angry agitation .A fly had stung him; he looked reproachfully at Dolores as if his mistress were to blame.

Dolores turned and looked around her wonderingly. Apparently, all was serene; sky and earth stretched away endleessly and carelessly. The afternoon was passing; she should be on her way in the hope of reaching a town before sunset. Yet she lingered, while her imagination flirted with the solitude. Suppose, she reckoned with herself, as she sat there, lonely and frightened, that she were to see two figures rising from the earth, in silent and savage grace. Indians! A slight smile of fear hovered ghostlike around the corners of her mouth at such a ghastly supposition. Yet she contemplated it with a certain satisfaction; it was like a game and made one forget one's troubles. What would really happen if Indians found her? Dolores shivered: they would surely be tall and muscular Indians, naked and painted; their long hair would be knotted into lumps on the crowns of their narrow heads, and they would carry bows and arrows. They would hold their heads high, and she would remind herself not to show them the white feater. She would smile at them ,but they would not smile back at her, remaining stationary and impassive like pictures of wild men in an old story book.

There were Indians in this part of the country. They had even attended the circus in one town as the guests of a drunken and uproarious sheriff. Suppose a tribe of Indians should overtake her—she half wished that they would; it might be a relief to be captured by the Indians.

Across the plains would come stamping an entire company of savages, marching in single file. At their head would stalk a huge man, wrapped in a scarlet blanket, and wearing a headdress of eagle's feathers. The Indians would chatter at him in their tribal gutturals, and he would reply, but Dolores, listening, would not understand their speech. But only for a moment would that be a handicap. Suddenly they all would speak clear Spanish,—she knew that the tribes of the Southwestern states often knew Spanish. Then she could understand everything.

And soon they would find themselves looking down on a large Indian encampment. Smoke rising from the cook-fires, and fat and garrulous women busy toiling over stewpots ,while swarms of flatfaced, stiff-haired children fought and played, and Dolores would think how much prettier Patsy was—

—buo d(n.sl n-rkhapie.s hed9todr9

Patsy! Patsy!

For moment, the dream with which she was playing faded, and she wanted to cry out for Buddy's little boy, Patsy! Patsy!—

Resolutely she turned back to the story her busy mind was weaving—helping her to forget. Her captors were marching her down the hill and into the village. She saw at once that they were wandering Dakota, Crow, or Blackfoot Indians, for they did not practice agriculture but followed the heards of buffalo,—a race of stupid vagabonds. Perhaps she had better be captured by a more superior tribe of Indians. The choice engaged for a moment, and then she decided not to change the tribe, because the danger was greater from the Blackfeet and she was in the mood for being in danger now.

The chief led his girl prisoner to his teepee which had paintings of otters on the sides representing something which he had dreamed one night. Now she would be in peril indeed. Slowly and deliberately the giant warrior chieftain would light his pipe, before he spoke to her. Finally the chief would speak to her in his low but wholly cavalier Spanish. With grim certitude he would inform her that she was a pretty woman. If she wished, he would be good to her. He would very much like to be good to her ,and she could have all she wanted to eat. He was the big chief; and this was his teepee and would she be his pretty woman?

Dolores felt that the most discreet retort would to to inquire if the handsome young chief were married. He would nod solemnly and explain that his wife had died, many moons before; and then he would confess that there was an Arapho girl captive in the tribe whom he was wooing, but with no success. This would startle Dolores, and instill her with furtive hope. The chief grew explicit about the stubborn Indian maid who denied him. Her name was Laulerack. He wanted her for part of the time and Dolores for the rest; white beauty in summer and the red beauty in winter. Dolores now knew how she would danle the chief. She would volunteer to plead his case for him with Laulerack, and he would go out and send the Indian maiden into the teepee.

Laulerack would be a lovely Indian girl with long black braids and candent eyes, she would be dressed in fringed buffalo hide and would glide into tent.

Laulerack would have a story to tell quite as pitiful as Dolores' own. A proud girl, this Laulerack, not descended from wanderers, but stolen from village people, who grew corn and wove blankets and worshipped the Great Spirit—not like these Blackfoot tribes, who had wicked festivals, refrained from eating and drinking for days, tortured themseuves with fire and stones and danced to the scn.

And then, Dolores decided that Laulerack would tell her about her about her lover. He had been unfaithful to her with five other women, because he was a foolish man. The Indian men were foolish ,and the Indian women were wise, but when had strong fools ever hearkened to the wisdom of the weak?

Now Dolores was altogether engrossed in the opiate of a phantom tale. Laulerack would speak very much as Annie Draconi had spoken, Annie, who had said that her husband would have been better off if he had only listened to his wife. The Indian girl became clear as reality to the dreaming eyes of Dolores, she saw her leaning back; her elbow was on the ground and her dusky cheek, with its undercoloring of rich blood, lay in her firm palm, while Dolores squatted beside her, with the feeling that she was one of a great and universal sorority, one who had met a fellow-member in an alien lodge and give the proper password, sign grip and token so that now the two could talk in the universal masonry of their sex.

Laulerack would tell her that men were the enemies of the woman, desiring them because they were pleasure-givers and for that alone. Old Indian women whispered that secret to the young squaws while the braves rode off to the hunt. But the men were always too strong for the women, and the woman must never appear to be wiser than they.

Then, just when they were planning escape, Laulerack would leave Dolores, for the chief would order her away, and Dolores would drop her head—down—on the ground—and cover her face with her arms; her thoughts would be swimming.

Dolores sat up and rubbed her eyes. Billy whinnied and pawed the ground in friendly greeting. The sun was going down; if she was to reach a town before nightfall, she must ride on now. She had daydreamed herself asleep, and now her mind was hazy with plains and imagined Indians, but gradually the reality dissipated the fancies, and the old ache came back again, as she mounted Billy and rode off.

HOUSE FAMINE AT CRESTON

CRESTON, B. C., July 24.—Notwithstanding the several new homes that have been erected this year, Creston is still experiencing a house famine, and new comers are forced to take up residence in more than a few cases in quarters that had not hitherto been considered as residential property. J. D. Perdue, who recently arrived from Montana to take over the Kootenay Garage, has brought his family here but they are compelled to take over the vacant house on the Alderson ranch, two miles west of Creston. With the opening of the new grocery firm by W. Bailey of Cranbrook in the former Mawson Brothers stand, it can now be said there is not a vacant store in the village.

A new evening vogue is the bodice in white or pink with a black tulle skirt.

Mineral Production in B. C. Increased, First Half 1930

VALUE IS DOWN, HOWEVER, DUE TO LOW PRICE; RENOCONTRIBUTES TO THE INCREASED PRODUCTION, GOLD

tlook for Material Improvement Is Uncertain; Dollar Value Drops From $34,122,722 in First Half, 1929, to $29,909,847

VICTORIA, B. C., July 24—Despite the world-wide de-ession in the mining industry, following the drop in tal prices, mining in British Columbia during the first lf of the year, has shown encouraging progress, accord-to the semi-annual summary of mineral production ued today by Hon. W. A. McKenzie, minister of mines. There was increased quantity production in the aggre-te of minerals and metals. However, owing to low metal ces, the dollar gross value dropped from $34,122,722 in first half of 1929, to the estimated $29,909,487 for the f years of 1930, a decline of more than 12 per cent.

nfavorable features noted include rather uncertain outlook for material improvement in silver zinc prices for some time to e, which may cause certain erto productive mines in British mbia to remain closed indef-ely. Coal Production also fell y 18 per cent.

he report refers to mooted plans interest capital in an iron and l plant somewhere on the coast, is stated that the report of the n Engineering company of Chi-that such a plant could be itably operated from British mbia raw materials, is distinctly ouraging. It is not believed, ever, that the financial proposals e progressed beyond the investi-onal stage uring the period four new mines e brought into steady production, Union and Reno—gold mines—Proseprity, a silver mine, and Monarch, an important lead-producer.

he tremendous activity by the solidated Mining & Smelting pany in connection with the struction of the chemical-ferti-r plants at Trail has provided h employment when badly need-and will within a year be an ortant addition to the industrial ity of the province.

he following table shows the mated mineral production of ish Columbia for the six months ed June 30, 1930. During the t half of 1929, mineral produc-was at a somewhat faster rate in the second half, a con-on that may be reversed in 1930.

	Quantity	Value
	Ounces
d (placer nd lobe)	79,000	$1,633,072
er	5,600,000	2,310,952
	Pounds
per	47,000,000	7,343,750
d	163,000,000	6,822,528
c	120,000,000	4,694,760
(long tons)	959,885	4,799,425
Structural materials		1,860,000
Miscellaneous minerals and metals		445,000
Total		29,909,487

WOULD BE GREATER

If valued at 1929 prices the production would be worth over $35,000,000 or greater than half the 1929 value.

As compared wtih the 1929 rate, increased quantity, production is estimated for gold, silver, lead and zinc, with copper the only one of the major metals to show a decline, due to curtailment by the Granby company at the Hidden Creek and Copper Mountain mines.

The slight increase in gold output is accounted for by steady production from the Reno and Union mines, both new shippers.

The increased production of silver is due to an output of pproximately 700,000 ounces from the Prosperity mine, near Stewart, which commenced production late in 1929.

Lead and zinc outputs showed an increase due to increased production from the Sullivan, and to steady shipments of concentrates from the Monarch, which began regular production from the new mill about the end of the year.

No bismuth and only 38 per cent of the normal cadmium output was produced at Trail during the six months' period. The world market for these metals is limited and apparently the Consolidated company had nearly sufficient stock on hand to meet buying demands. However, the short fall in these two metals accounts for $35,000 of the decrease in the half-yearly output of this class of mineral production.

FLUARSPAR MINE CLOSED

The Fluarspar mine of the Consolidated company is only operated intermittently to supply the company's needs for acid-making. In 1929 sufficient Fluorspar was mined to supply the company for two or three years, so the mine is now closed It seems probable, however, that the output of miscellaneous minerals and metals will be larger in the second half of the year, with the value of the output for the full year probably over $1,000,000.

The bulk of metallic mineral production of the province for the past six months shows that many small mines closing down affects but little the total production: During the last three years, development has indicated that a number of properties were likely to become producers in the near future. These were mainly deposits carrying zinc, lead and silver with usually unimportant gold values. Abnormally low metal prices and the uncertain future outlook for improvement have stopped many of these enterprises and have caused capital to look more for high-grade properties than before.

It can not be expected, therefore, that the industry will do much more than hold its own so far as metal production is concerned until prices improve materially.

PREMIER KING SAYS FERGUSON DELAYING WORK

Makes Attack in Tillbury on the St. Lawrence Waterways Construction

TILBURY, Ont., July 24—(By Ray Brown, Canadian Pres staf fcorrespondent)—A charge that Premier G. Howard Ferguson, of Ontario, had been deliberately delaying negotiations for construction of the St. Lawrence waterways, coupled with a definite declaration that federal government proposed to go ahead with the project immediately If returned to power, featured the speech of Premier Mackenzie King here this afternoon.

"Mr. Ferguson has been playing politics all the way through," asserted the prime minister in respect to the St. Lawrence negotiations. He charged that Mr. Ferguson and Hon. R. B. Bennett, Conservative leader, had planned to delay negotiations between the province and the Dominion until they could make the St. Lawrence a campaign issue

He had wondered, at times, declared the prime minister, why it was so difficult to reach common ground with Mr. Ferguson on the questions at issue with respect to the St. Lawrence. He asked his audience if it did not think that a government which had settled vexed questions throughout Canada, such as the return of the natural resources to the western provinces and maritime claims, would not have been able to also adjust the St. Lawrence question if Mr. Ferguson had honestly desired to have a settlement. But Mr. Ferguson, he said, had been playing another game.

Now, asserted the prime minister, the government had made up its mind that there should be some action. "We don't intend to have the St. Lawrence waterways held up any longer for Mr. Ferguson," he declared, while the crowd cheered and applauded. One of the first things which the government would do if returned to power would be to go ahead with the project "And we will do it in spite of Mr. Ferguson," added Mr. King. The rights of the provinces would be safeguarded, but the work would go on.

Inventors, of whom there are many more than are visible to the naked eye at one time, have racked their brains to discover a method of saving the pedestrian who is about to be run over by a motor car. They have been joined in the search by thousands of the pedestrians themselves, not merely in self defense, but because a large proportion of ordinary people receive "inspirations" that they are sure are of great value.

One of the safety devices recently reported is the brain-child of John R. Valls, of New York, and is a bumper that is described almost as infallible in accident prevention. Bumpers with every conceivable form of scoop or fender effect have been tried, with much success; but with this one, a canvas apron, released when coming in contact with a pedestrian, carries the jay-walker along until the car stops. The device embodies a bumper mounted moveably so as to be retracted when struck, and a frame carrying an apron, or other receptacle, normally held in a locked position, which is released by the retraction of the bumper. The apron snaps forward on impact.

IT TAKES BRAINS

"It takes more brains to be a farmer than to be a High Court Judge" asserted J. Lotkie Wilson, speaking at a gathering of Provincial Fairs Judges at the Dominion Experimental Farm, Ottawa, recently. There never was a greater need for co-operation between the scientist and the farmer than today," he also stated; adding, "the most scientific business today is farming."

Bride (to butcher)—"What sort of roast do you think would go well with a perfect darling of a blue-and-white dinner set?"

MNIES AT LARDO ARE DEVELOPED

Cutler Porter of Spokane is in Nelson after returning from Ferguson, Lardo. Mr. Porter has spent some time at the Wagner and Jewell mines on which property considerable work has been done to get them in shape for examination. The examination will be made by a southern engineer for a syndicate of financiers. The Wagner and Jewell fissure veins carry valuable contents of lead, silver, gold and copper and development has given evidence of large ore bodies.

Mr. Porter reports that mining in the Lardo is exceedingly active. According to Mr. Porter, George McLaren has a crew of miners working on the Silver-Cup and Nettie L. properties, which are likely to be taken over by Winnipeg mining people.

The Towser and Yuill claims, which adjoin the Silver Cup, should, according to Mr. Porter, be under control of any company undertaking the development at a depth of the Silver Cup as the position of these claims would allow for work to be done under more economic auspices.

J. Livingstone, as a result of development on the "Gold Bug", has encountered a good showing of high grade ore.

G. Yuill has a fine vein of rich ore on the Lucky Boy which he has developed considerably during the year. Free coinage is also giving splendid results from recent development, stated Mr. Porter. In general the ore bodies throughout the Lardo carry a certain value in gold, even mines like the Silxer Cup which has a record for high values in silver and also a percentage of lead, and most of the mines give a sign of grey copper, he stated.

M. Porter spoke in an optimistic mood when referring to Lardo's future possibilities. All that was needed to produce great wealth from Lardo mines was capital and that would come in time, he said.

STOCKS DECLINE ONCE AGAIN ON NEW YORK LIST

One of Year's Dullest Days; Bears and Bulls Both Cautious

NEW YORK, July 24—Stocks declined today in one of the year's dullest markets. The bull faction, cautious after the advances of yesterday and Tuesday, was active in only a few stocks, but supported leading shares on a scale down.

The bears likewise seemed reluctant to take chances in view of the market's recent strength, and profit-taking rather than short selling was probably the dominant factor in the dip

Losses averaged about two points.

Atlantic refining was actively bought, particularly in the late dealings. Coca Cola, American Power and Light, American Chain and Auto Strop also moved against the trend, the last named making another new high.

U. S. Steel lost 1¾ on the day. U. S. Industrial Alcohol was conspicuously weak, tumbling nearly 6 points net.

Stocks off two to three points included American Telephone, Columbian Carbon, Vanadium, Worthington Pump, Foster Wheeler, Chesapeake and Ohio and American Tobacco "B". J. I. Case, R H. Macy and Allied Chemical suffered larger losses. International Harvester, Radio Keith Orpheum, General Electric and Radio yielded about a point.

Under the leadership of obligations of railroads operating in the southwest carrier bonds developed real strength.

The market as a whole showed no reversal of the firm trend which has carried the price level upward at a consistent but slow pace.

CANADA HOLDS KEY TO GREAT AIRWAYS PLAN

Is Center of Proposed Link Empire Via the Air Route

WILL BLAZE NORTH ROUTE DURING 1931

Gasoline Being Placed Now for Flight to Europe; MacBrien Speaks

VANCOUVER, July 24—Imperial Airways spanning the northern Atlantic ocean and Hudson Bay may some day link Canada with the other aerial routes of the British Empire, declared Major-General J. H MacBrien, addressing the Canadian club here today.

President of the Aviation League of Canada, he told how plans are now being laid for a trial flight across the northern route via Hudson Bay to Europe in 1931. Gasoline for this trip is now, through the courtesy of the Hudson's Bay Co., being placed along the route.

At the same time, General MacBrien predicted that valuable as this connection will be in the Imperial scheme of things, a great portion of the air traffic between the United States and Europe may have to traverse the same route.

FEEDER LINES

Plans for the linking of the British Empire were first laid at the Imperial conferences of 1920 and 1926, he explained.

As a result of these, the British India route had been established and with it a feeder line running from Cairo across Africa.

On this feeder line, as he called it, the gold of South Africa is already being taken to Europe and put into circulation weeks before it would otherwise reach great centers of population. This meant the saving of much in interest.

The speaker also pictured the trial flight of the R100, which will soon take off for this country, as forging another link in the aerial chain around the British Empire.

"Canada's geographical position," the general said, "is a most fortunate one—we can control these routes that pass over our country, and we must control them. We must have Canadian-operated services.

"We would not think of handing over our railways for another country to operate," he said, "and why should we hand over our airways?"

Aircraft, the speaker declared, would develop Canada's great northlands more than a hundred years earlier than would otherwise have been the case.

BEATS CHAMP—BUT NOT TITLE

CINCINNATI, July 24.—(AP)—Cecil Payne, Louisville featherweight won a 10-round decision over Bat Battalino, world champion, in a non-title bout here tonight. Payne knocked Battalino down for a nine count in the second round.

Canadian farmers, almost entirely as a result of research work done by th Dominion Department of Agriculture, are now producing practically all the fine tobacco required by Canadian manufacturers, and it is of better quality than the more expensive of the tobaccos hithert imprted frm the United States, observes Dr. E. S. Archibald, director of Dominion Experimental Farms. In an ever widening field tobacco production is fast attaining a position of first importance in agriculture.

UNEMPLOYED TO BE REVIEWED AT A COAST MEETING

Want Representative of Local Associated Boards of Trade to Attend

Contained in a letter recently received by Fred A. Starkey, commissioner of the associated boards of trade of eastern British Columbia, were plans for a meeting to be held at Victoria, in an effort to solve the unemployment situation and to broaden Canadian markets. Pulverized coal will be the main topic to be discussed. Mr. Starkey was asked to have a representative attend the meeting which is to be held August 7 and 8.

The letter, received from Robert Dunn, deputy minister of mines, stated:

"I have to advise that the Hon. the minister of mines, having regard to the present situation in respect to unemployment, has decided to call a conference to take place at the parliament buildings, Victoria, on Thursday and Friday, August 7 and 8, for the purpose of discussing the markets available to the product of collieries operating in British Columbia.

Railway companies, industrial and labor organizations and collieries have been asked to arrange to be present on this occasion. There will be in attendance, as well, Mr. Clyde Leavitt, chief inspector of the board of railway commissioners for Canada and representatives of the provincial department of mines.

It is the minister's hope that your organization will nominate a representative to attend this conference wiht a view of giving expression to its view and to submit any information or suggestions which may appear to be of value in the premises.

A summary of the business to be considered is as follows.

To discuss the possibility of extending the use of pulverized coal on locomotives and in connection with provincial industry.

To consider what are the most effective steps to increase the markets for coal products in British Columbia, having regard particularly to the relatively limited employment now available in and around provincial coal mines.

To take into consideration the possibilities of modification of forest fire regulations insofar as they affect the burning of coal on standard and logging railways.

To discuss any other matters which may have a bearing on the important question of the establishment of a more balanced relationship between potential productivity of the coal mines and the markets open to them, thus putting the industry on a more stable basis.

Early advice as to the decision reached will be appreciated.

FARMERS WORRIED BY HUNGRY HIPPOS

PRETORIA, South Africa, July 24—(By The Candian Press)—Two formidable hippos have appeared on Renel Herizog's farm, near Whitbank, during the last few days, and have been causing damage to crops.

Other farmers in the district have also complained of the damage being done. The presence of hippos in the Olifants River has been reported before, but it is rare thing for hippos to be roaming within about 100 miles of Pretoria. It is suspected that there may be an adult hippo together with a young one, and arrangements are being made for their capture.

The director of the Pretoria Zooligical Gardens, Dr. R. Bigalke, stated that the museum intends to send a man to the spot, as permission has been given by the Administer for the capture and removal of the invaders.

Dr. Bigalke said that it was impossible to capture adult hippos alive and that they would have to be shot There might be a young one, and in that case the museum would try to capture it for the Pretoria Zoo. There it could spend a peaceful life, and make itseelf useful as a centre of curiosity for scientists and children.

NO SALE FOUND FOR SEALSKINS

South African Government Suffers Heavy Loss on Consignment

CAPE TOWN, South Africa, July 24—(Bp The Candian Press)—Disregard of advice given by seal skin experts in New York has cost the Union government no less than $200,000 to date This sum represents the value of and cost of obtaining 2,000 seal pelts—the major part of two seasons' harvests in South African waters—phich are lying, unsaleable, on the New York market.

From a reliable source it is learned the government first tested the New York market with a few small consignments. Sealskin coats had returned fashion and the demand of American women exhausted this small stock. The government then decided to send to New York practically all the seal pelts it had on hand—a matter of 19,000. They did so in spite of warnings from their expert advisers in New York that there was trouble coming. Now the bottom has dropped out of the market—and Africa can not dispose of its valuable pelts.

The position now is so serious that it is extremely unlikely that any sealing expeditions will be undertaken this year, and it is possible that next year will also be a blank one.

The seal hunters themselves will lose practically the whole of their income. They are drawn from the guardians of the guano islands on the south-west coast of Africa. As head men and guano collectors their pay is generally between $15 and $45 a month. The sealing season is their mainstay. Each man gets six cents for every pelt taken. Their hunting brings them from $500 to $900 for the three or four months seasons.

The seal-hunter's work is difficult and dangerous Landing on the seal islands requires both courage and strength. One sealer, with a rope around his waist has to make a leap for a rock as his dinghy comes rolling in the crest of a wave, and then he has to complete the hazardous task of drawing up his companions, one by one. Often he falls into the water.

This year however there will be no sealing expeditions. And unless New York women begin to buy seal skin coats again, there will be no hunting next year.
