MASSES STAND THIRTY BELOW, LENINE BURIAL

Orator With Far-Carrying Voice Declaims on Bolshevik Moses

FOG CRYSTALS FILL AIR WITH BLUE HAZE

Sun Bursts Over Kremlin as Casket Is Lowered to Music of Chimes

MOSCOW, Jan. 27. — Vladimir Ilyitch Ulianoff, whom the world knew as Nicolai Lenine was entombed this afternoon. The followers of the rulers of Soviet Russia hailed him an hour before his burial as greater in death than in life, and paid him honors that a king might envy. They withstood for hours the bitterest cold the Bolsheviki capital has known in years. Half a million people marched or waited for eight hours in a temperature of 30 below zero for the privilege of passing the temporary mausoleum, a squat Asiatic structure, like the tomb of a Tartar khanuj, hastily built under the walls of the Kremlin fortress.

Lenine's funeral was like a strange medieval painting, a great Tartar horde on a crusade, its red and black banners obscured by the smoke of camp fires and blurred by the steam from the bodies of men and horses, the fog and cold air had turned into a dull arctic blue with frost particles.

No Signs of Mourning

In contrast to most Moscow ceremonies, there was no oratory; neither was there visible sign of mourning among the assemblage. A "civil mass" was celebrated in the house of unions, but before the tomb in Red square a biblically phrased statement of the Russian Soviets was read, in which Nicolai Lenine was hailed as one of the saviors of mankind.

Leon Trotzky, the war minister, was the only important Bolshevik official who was absent from the funeral ceremony. It is understood he is in the Caucasus, too ill to attend, but no authoritative announcement has been made regarding his condition.

After the "civil mass" at the house of unions, the body was taken to Red square, escorted by a military guard of six-footers. The bitter cold streets were almost deserted except for the guards and the delegations which had been chosen to march. The coffin was placed on a platform 10 feet high in front of the temporary mausoleum.

Evdokimoff, of the central committee, chosen for the mighty carrying power of his voice, read the funeral oration, his words echoing from the walls of the Kremlin. Then followed a seemingly endless procession of workmen's and workwomen's delegations.

The oration was a proclamation from the Federal Congress of Soviets to "the laboring masses of humanity." It was couched in biblical terms, in which Nicolai Lenine was pictured as having led the people through all dangers, and whose work "promises a kingdom of labor for humanity enslaved."

Build Kingdom for Labor

"We are burying Lenine today," spoke the orator. "The Internationale genius of the workmen's revolution has gone from us; he led us through all dangers by his sagacity, and from every corner of the globe waves of grief are coming in. Enemies against whom we are carrying on our struggle are unwillingly dipping their banners, everyone understanding that the bright star of humanity has passed away.

"On the threshold of a new epoch of the ages stands his colossal figure. After his death, who will be the leader of the new humanity, its spokesman, prophet, and creator of a new world? His followers will be able to build, will build, a kingdom for labor of which the brightest brains of humanity are dreaming."

At 3 o'clock in the afternoon the skies were clouded, and then the sun burst over the walls of the Kremlin. To the music of chimes, Nicolai Lenine's body was lowered into the tomb. The guns, which were expected to sound a salute of 100, for some reason unknown fired only three shots.

Despite the cold, thousands waited with bared heads and sang Communist hymns.

MORE RELIANCE IS THE PRIMARY NEED OF CANADA

Vincent Massey Says More of Early Spirit and Less of Law Needed

OTTAWA, Jan. 27.—"We need to recapture the spirit of the fathers of Confederation. With faith like theirs, there is nothing cannot be done by Canadians." This was a peroration to a speech on "Canada's Problems," which Vincent Massey of Toronto delivered before Canadian club members here yesterday.

"Canadian traditions were necessarily for the most part inherited traditions," he said. "If the best of British and French traditions, which were Canada's heritage, could be retained unimpaired, Canada would be on a safe road to building up a character of its own."

Keep British Qualities

The British qualities in Canadian life were firmly established, he thought, but there had been in recent years a tendency to forget that the very groundwork of British morality was the principle of tolerance and fair play. A tendency to emulate the experimental legislation of other countries might undermine this.

Too much dependence was being placed by Canadians on legislation, and even the churches were looking to the coercive machinery of the law to help them in their work of moral reform. "Our laws should be few, and easy of enforcement," said Mr. Massey, adding that Canadians must bear in mind that many of the experimental laws in the United States, dealing with excellent principles, but proving impossible of enforcement, were "pious aspirations" rather than practical legislation.

Resist Infiltration

What Canadians needed most was a robust Canadianism, which would offset the infiltration of ideas which were foreign to the nation's character, through the many media of reading matter and entertainments. Canada needed the firm individuality which had preserved to Scotland its character throughout the years of its union with the rest of the British Isles. Canada, like Scotland, was neighbor to a bigger country.

"We need a protective burr of our own," added Mr. Massey.

He dealt briefly with the necessity of understanding between east and west. He had found there was a tendency to resentment against the east. He thought the slogan "Go west, young man," was for the better understanding of the west, rather than for financial profit, and should be scunded in the east. So far as possible the suggestion should be removed that the west was only a market for eastern products.

National unity was primary to national character, and a national faith which would carry Canada through all its difficulties.

THINKS HE HAS MALAHAT LODE

Arthur Phillips of Victoria Finds Talc-Covered Gold Nuggets Near Famous Placers

VICTORIA, Jan. 27. — Arthur Phillips of Victoria, an old-time prospector, confidently believes he has found the mother lode in the Malahat district at the junction of the Leech and Sooke rivers, the scene of a gold rush 40 years ago, when there was a gold commissioner's office established in the midst of a settlement of 3000 miners.

From 1862, when the first big rush started, to 1870, $4,000,000 was taken out. Placer mining proved highly profitable, but no one was able to find where the gold came from.

Mr. Phillips believes he has discovered the reason for the mystery. He has found a number of small nuggets valued at $3 to $5 embedded in the talc. The talc coating gives it the appearance of white rock, and the magnesia in the talc discolors the gold.

Former Sloop-of-War Sold to Junk Dealer

VICTORIA, Jan. 27.—The steamship Algerine, once famous as a sloop-of-war in the British navy, and latterly used as a salvage ship by the Pacific Salvage company, was sold yesterday for junk to a local junk company.

SIXTY BELOW IN SOME PARTS OF THE EAST

Severe Temperatures Contract Wires in North to the Snapping Point

EASTERN TOWNSHIPS TOUCH FIFTY BELOW

New England and Maritimes Twenty Below; Many Fires Destroy Homes

OTTAWA, Jan. 27. — Below zero weather predominated throughout eastern Canada over the week-end. Northern Ontario experienced its coldest weather in 30 years, according to reports received. The thermometers registered from between 40 to 50 below zero.

Drifts Hamper trains

The cold snap follows a heavy snow storm accompanied by a high wind, and the drifts have hampered train movements severely in spite of the liberal use of snowplows. Telegraph wires have suffered severely, about half the lines in the north country have snapped, due to wire contraction in the low temperature.

Private advices from White River report that the mercury was below 60 degrees, the lowest the thermometer would register. Chapleau, Cartier, Sudbury, Soo and North Bay were all in what the weather man classes as "very cold" zones. The mercury registered 42 below at Sudbury this morning.

Ottawa shivered in 28 below zero weather with a cutting wind. Montreal reports one of the coldest periods experienced in the past few years with 23.3 below. Quebec City registered 26 below. The eastern townships, the Laurentians and the St. Maurice valley dropped down to 51 and 49 degrees below.

In the maritimes, the weather hovered around 20 below, tying up traffic and hampering navigation. St. John, N.B., with 19 below, experienced the second coldest day in that district in 60 years.

Northeaster in Nova Scotia

At Halifax a northeaster, at times attaining a velocity of 35 miles an hour, intensified the cold, with the thermometer registering 10 below. Moncton was shivering in 19 below, and the surrounding vicinity reported 25 below weather.

Scores Homeless in New England

BOSTON, Mass., Jan. 27. — The cold wave that swept down on New England from out of the northwest last night sent the mercury tumbling to 20 or more degrees below zero in Maine, New Hampshire and Vermont early today, and brought to Boston the coldest January 27 on record, and the coldest day in four years. The temperature here was 20 below zero, the weather bureau announced.

Scores of persons were reported homeless tonight as the result of fires throughout New England, caused in large measure by overheated stoves and furnaces. The property loss was expected to be well in excess of $300,000.

ITALY, JUGO-SLAVIA SIGN FIUME TREATY

Mussolini, Pachitch and Nichitch Append Signatures, Mutually Congratulate

ROME, Jan. 27. — Premier Mussolini and M. Pachitch and M. Nichitch, respectively premier and foreign minister of Jugo-Slavia, today signed the treaty by which Fiume becomes Italian territory.

The treaty was signed in the Hall of Victory of the foreign office. After it had been read and signed, Signor Mussolini and M. Pachitch and M. Nichitch congratulated each other, and expressed the hope that the agreement would be fruitful of lasting friendship between the two countries, which the Adriatic "unites rather than divides."

The immediate result of the agreement will be the possibility of Jugo-Slavia decreasing her army, now numbering 110,000 men, which will lessen to a considerable extent the Jugo-Slav budget.

TIME EXTENDED FOR STEEL SHAREHOLDERS

Creditors by March Will Have Sixty-five Per Cent of Claims; Double Assets if Going Concern

BUFFALO N.Y., Jan. 27.—Officers of the L. R. Steel stockholders' committee announced yesterday that the period during which subscriptions would be accepted to the protective trust fund, by which the committee hopes to lift the various Steel enterprises from bankruptcy, has been extended to March 7.

In a statement issued by W. L. Wilkins, chairman of the stockholders' committee, and former head of Steel enterprises, it is estimated that under the general settlement plan proposed before Referee Persons, in the last hearing, creditors of the L. R. Steel companies will have received by March 1, 65 per cent of their claims up to and including December 31, 1922. This settlement, the statement said would be effected with funds now in the hands of receivers, coupled with the protective trust fund.

No exact valuation can be placed on the assets," Mr. Wilkins said. "Assets values are estimated at from $2,250,000 for 90-day liquidation to $5,000,000 and upward for fair value to going concerns."

This is one of the facts revealed in the statement of Canada's trade with the United Kingdom, issued by the Dominion bureau of statistics. Of Canada's exports in alcoholics last year, worth $14,298,727, Britain took $831,728. More than $17,000,000 worth of intoxicants were imported from Britain last year out of a total of $20,000,000-odd imported into Canada. Canada imported a little more than $1,000,000 worth of settlers' effects last year from the United States, and exported to those countries $645,898.

Britain took 1,494,560 barrels of Canadian apples. The total value of fruit exported to Britain was $7,247,175.

The value of all metals exported to Britain in 1923 was $19,322,972, an increase of $2,000,000 over 1922.

There was considerable falling off in the exports of Canadian sugar to Britain, nI 1923, Canada sent 77,891,200 pounds, compared with 221,506,063 pounds in 1922.

Britain spent $12,405,103 in Canada last year on lumber products, in addition to $5,000,000 on pulp.

THIRTY-EIGHT DRIVEN FROM FLAMING BLOCK

Six Are Injured, Mainly in Leaping From Upper Stories of St. Paul Apartment House; Scanty Raiment

ST. PAUL, Jan. 27.—Six persons were injured, 32 others scantily clad, were assisted to safety by firemen, and property damage estimated at $175,000, resulted when fire destroyed the Glendale apartments in the downtown section here, early today. Most of the injured were hurt when they leaped from second and third story windows. One fireman was severely cut by falling glass.

An explosion which tore off the roof of a building gave the first warning of the fire, which had gained considerable headway. Other explosions followed in rapid succession, making it more difficult for the residents to escape.

The cause of the fire has not been determined. It is blieved the explosions were caused by escaping illuminating gas.

ATTACKER CONFESSES ATTEMPTED MURDER

Toronto Police Believe Godard Also Responsible for Killing of Aged Woman Friday

TORONTO, Jan. 27.—Harold Godard, aged 27, living in the Parkdale district of Toronto, was arrested tonight charged with the attempted murder of Miss Duncan here January 18, is suspected by police of being the murderer of Miss Martha Crooks, Parkdale woman, who was slain with a hammer Friday in her home.

Following his arrest, Godard was taken to the bedside of Miss Duncan, who identified him as the man who attacked her when he called at her home on January 18, ostensibly to look at a room.

It is the similarity of the Duncan attack and the Crooks murder, coupled with the fact that Godard is a convicted housebreaker and burglar, which led police to Godard's house. According to a police statement tonight, Godard has confessed to the Duncan assault.

BAPTIST UNION, EXONERATING, CHEERS SWEET

Principal of Brandon College Stands Grilling, Replies Eloquently

CHARGES EMANATE FROM THE COAST

Baptist Doctrine Said to Be "Competency of Soul Before God"

CALGARY, Jan. 27. — With every delegate on his feet waving his handkerchief and cheering Dr. Franklyn W. Sweet, the new president of Brandon college, the Baptist convention broke up at a quarter to 12 last night. The entire afternoon and evening sessions were devoted to the discussion of charges insinuated against Dr. Sweet, and his refutation of them in an eloquent appeal for the confidence of the convention.

At one period the discussion waxed so hot and personal that it was proposed to exclude the press. The majority of opinion, however, was that the convention had nothing to hide, and was merely putting into practice the principle of Baptist fair play.

The trouble began in the morning when the convention voted "that a separate and consolidated budget for Brandon college be adopted by the union; that the amount needed be apportioned provincially or locally; that the announcement of the needs of Brandon college be made known to the entire constituency early in the year; and the plan of campaign be worked out by representatives of the college, the convention and the union."

Fundamentalist Opens Ball

A delegate from British Columbia, presumably of the fundamentalist way of thinking, expressed a wish for a college where the Baptists of the west might send their children in confidence. He made the statement that he had two daughters, and that while he wanted them to have the best and highest education possible, he would rather they grew up in ignorance than to send them to a college where they would receive teaching other than the fundamental principles of the Baptist faith.

Aspersions were cast on the theology of Dr. McNeil, professor of Brandon college, and Dr. Sweet. Delegate Shears, from Vancouver, made the statement that he had letters in his possession regarding Dr. Sweet which would be read to the convention, casting serious doubts on the orthodoxy of the president of Brandon college.

Virgin Birth Not Vital

Many delegates maintained that the primary principle of the Baptist faith was the absolute competency of the human soul before God, and that overstressing of a man's personal faith regarding the virgin birth, the physical resurrection, verbal inspiration of the Bible, etc., was hair-splitting and unbaptistic."

Others declared that while this was true of the individual, it was not just that their children should be taught by one whose beliefs were at variance with their own.

Will Vote Confidence

The convention expressed confidence in Dr. Sweet by wild cheering, and instructed the resolutions committee to bring in a resolution of confidence Monday morning.

PROSPECTS BRIGHT IN RAIL DISPUTE

Trades and Labor Council Carries New Terms From Men to Railway Managers; Deepest Secrecy

LONDON, Jan. 28.—There seemed tonight to be a good prospect for successful intervention to end the railway strike. The emergency committee of the Trades Union congress, following negotiations carried on during the day with the Associated Society of Locomotive Engineers and Firemen, and the railway managers, tonight submitted fresh proposals to the latter. The proposals had the approval of J. Bromley, secretary of the strikers' association.

It was also reported tonight that Mr. Bromley, as an outcome of the negotiations of today, saw the railway managers late tonight.

An air of secrecy, however, hangs over the proceedings, and it is not thought probable that a settlement, if it is arranged, will be announced until tomorrow.

Doheney Will Reconvey Oil to United States; Coolidge, Senate to Act

WASHINGTON, Jan. 27.—Direct action by both President Coolidge and the senate toward annulment of the Wyoming and California naval oil leases is forecast within 24 hours.

The senate action will be directed only to the Teapot Dome lease in view of the offer of E. L. Doheney through his counsel to reconvey without court proceedings the California naval reserve and other contracts held by his company.

Charge Germans Caused "Black Tom" Explosion

WASHINGTON, Jan. 27. — Charges that the "Black Tom" explosion in New Jersey on July 30, 1916, was caused by agents of the German government, acting under orders from Berlin, were made in a brief filed with the mixed claims commission by the Lehigh Valley Railway company, which is seeking to recover approximately $7,000,000 for losses as a result of the explosion.

ALL INTERESTS MAY CONFER ON WATERFRONTAGE

Conference to Result From Members' Visit; May Include Fraser

VANCOUVER, Jan. 27.—Vancouver may look forward to a conference of all grain trade interests making use of the port of Vancouver, in the not distant future, and possibly to the creation of the central administration to control the waterfrontage of Burrard inlet and the Lower Fraser river, as a result of informal discussions which have followed the visit of western senators and members of parliament to Vancouver.

Alfred Speakman, M.P., Red Deer, Alta., who has been spokesman for the party in advocating a western conference of harbor officials, railway, marine and farmer representatives, is remaining in Vancouver until tomorrow night, and is strongly urging the conference, and central control of Greater Vancouver's waterfrontage. He is optimistic of the trend of public thought in that direction.

Harbor Board to Help

The harbor commissioners, it is believed, will welcome and aid the conference and united action upon the port of Vancouver and Fraser river municipalities with the Dominion government to bring about the fusion of harbor boards.

Woman Represents Britain on Board International Labor

LONDON, Jan. 27. — (By Canadian Press Cable) — Commenting on the appointment of Miss Margaret Bondfield as the first woman representative of Great Britain on the governing body of the international labor office and the League of Nations, the News says this constitutes the first official contact of the British Labor ministry with other countries.

The News adds that Miss Bondfield has a woman predecessor on the governing body in the person of Mrs. Carruthers, the Canadian government delegate. The British Empire can thus claim the credit of being the only members of the international labor organization to have entrusted these duties to women.

RUMORED COMPANY OFFERS COMPROMISE

Story Is That Men Are to Be Offered Ten Per Cent Increase in Wages

SYDNEY, N.S., Jan. 27.—The week-end brought no promise of early settlement of the wage dispute between the British Empire Steel corporation and the striking Nova Scotia miners. The wage conference between the subcommittees of miners and company officials will be resumed tomorrow afternoon.

No official statement has been issued to the public, but there is a strongly favored rumor about the mining districts that the company has offered a compromise between the 1921 rates and those paid just prior to January 15 of this year, when the contract expired. This would give the miners an increase of about 10 per cent over the last contract rate, it is rumored.

There is apparently nothing on the surface of events to indicate hopelessness on the part of the miners, and in many quarters there is a growing belief that this week will see a new working agreement that will bring all the men back to work.

No untoward events have marked the progress of the strike up to date.

CALGARY, Jan. 27. — For rough playing in the game in Calgary, January 23, W. R. (Rusty) Crawford, of the Calgary Tigers, has been suspended for one game by President Richardson of the Western Canada league. Crawford will be unable to participate in Monday's encounter with Seattle.

FORTY DIE IN A MINE HORROR IN SHANKTOWN

Gas Explodes in Lancashire Colliery in Pennsylvania Late Saturday

JOHN RICO PERSONALLY RESCUES NINE MINERS

Four Not Yet Found Cannot Be Alive, the Authorities Believe

SHANKTOWN, Pa., Jan. 27.—Forty men lost their lives in an explosion which late yesterday wrecked the Lancashire mine of the Barnes & Tucker Coal company here, according to the best estimates obtainable late today.

Seventeen bodies have been brought to the surface, and nine others who were saved by the prompt efforts of another miner are in hospitals recovering from the effects of shock and gas.

Thirty-One Bodies Brought Out

SHANKTOWN, Pa., Jan. 27.—The bodies of 31 men who lost their lives in an explosion of gas in the Lancashire mine of the Barnes & Tucker Coal company here have been recovered tonight and are in an emergency morgue at Stratford, a village near here.

The bodies of five other miners have been located by four rescue crews, and four more men are believed to be entombed. No hope is held out that any will be found alive.

Work of John Rico

John Rico, a miner, was on his way to work in the night shift shortly before 4 o'clock yesterday when he saw a great volume of smoke burst from the pit. He ran into the mine and, tearing along for almost a mile, shouted at the mouth of overy gallery, but got no response until he was near the sixth heading. Here a faint cry answered him and his search was rewarded by finding nine men alive but some of them bordering on unconsciousness.

Rico quickly found an air passage, and, leading the weak and staggering men along its entire length, he helped them, one by one, to climb to the surface and safety.

Three other men, who were not killed by the force of the explosion, managed to make their way out to another air passage and later in the night gained their freedof. A fourth miner dashed along the main entry, but was overcome by gas fumes and perished.

A Ghastly Scene

The rescue parties, as they penetrated the workings, recounted the scene when the explosion occurred at a point between No. 6 and No. 7 headings. A motorman was taking an empty trip into the mine and, with the rope rider, met the explosion full face on. Yendler, the motorman, was blown the entire length of 14 cars and decapiated, while Mitkitko, the rope rider, was mangled and killed. The cars were piled up, a broken mass of splintered wood and twisted iron, along the entry.

BULPITT TRAGEDY IN LONDON PRESS

Revelations Inexplicable to Mistress of Liverpool Home; Inquiry Into Inspection

LONDON, Jan. 27.—(By Canadian Press Cable) — Little or no comment has appeared in the London newspapers regarding the suicide of a Barnado home boy in Ontario. The Evening News gave prominence to the inquest on the Bulpitt boy at Goderich, along with an interview with Miss Birt, at whose Liverpool sheltering home the bay stayed when en route to Canada. Miss Birt says the inquest revelations were inexplicable to her, adding that the farmer to whom Bulpitt was sent was "one of the most up-to-date in Canada."

The News adds a note from the Canadian immigration department which says that the system of inspecting homes in Canada is more rigid in the case of pauper children than in other cases, and that the department could not be blamed for isolated cases, even if it could be proced that Bulpitt had been placed in an unsuitable home.

The Southampton board of guardians will discuss the case, Tuesday.

The Weekly Dispatch says inquiries are being made in London regarding the system of inspecting homes in Canada to which boy emigrants are sent.

And He's the Same Man

Once in 1916 the gamesome Canadians, marching into a quiet sector, found two old top hats and, making rough comedy, carried them to the trenches. That afternoon they put up a sign for the Germans to see: "Asquith and Lloyd George will visit this trench tomorrow." Next morning the two hats, mounted on sticks, bobbed realistically over the parapet. The Germans began a furious bombardment of small arms. The hats disappeared. Ten minutes later another sign: "You ——— fools, you've killed Ramsay MacDonald."

At the time this anecdote convulsed all England with satiric laughter. Ramsay MacDonald—pacifist, defeatist, friend of Germany—Ramsay MacDonald whom only the British tradition of free speech kept out of jail! And seven years later the King himself is considering this same Ramsay MacDonald, whose principles had changed not whit, for premier of England.

CRITICS EXTEND PROBABLE LIFE OF GOVERNMENT

Premier MacDonald Is Making a Good Impression by His Moderation

ASQUITH MAY GIVE HIM LONGER SHRIFT

New Administrator Seeks Safety, and Also to Help Party Prospects

LONDON, Jan. 27. — How long the new government will last is now the predominant question in England. When it is recalled how recently, as during the general elections, both the Conservatives and Liberals voiced intense alarm lest Labor should come into power, it is surprising how calmly the new government has been received.

Still more remarkable has been the unanimity of the press in acknowledging what is characterized as the skill and sagacity Ramsay MacDonald, the new premier, displayed in choosing his first ministry, not only in carefully dovetailing the trade union and intellectual wings of his party into a composed whole, but also in selecting outsiders, whose names are calculated to allay any apprehension in the country that revolutionary legislation will be attempted.

This initial success on the part of the new premier has led to revision of the ideas about the duration of his administration. The general belief is that Mr. MacDonald has been actuated by two principal motives:

First, to take a safe line, calculated to secure much needed administrative experience; and, second, to improve the prospects of his party at the next general election, whenever that may come.

Year Latest Calculation

If MacDonald secures the fair play to which the bulk of the press acknowledges he is entitled, it is the opinion in political circles that his administration may last a year or more. The belief prevails that the touchstones will be finance and foreign affairs. Without going outside the proposals of former Premier Baldwin's administration, it is considered that in the speech from the throne Mr. MacDonald can find an ample program of social reforms concerning unemployment, housing and the like, to which the opposition in the house could take no exception, for two years at least.

Finance will hardly trouble the new premier at the present, because his government is practically under the necessity of adopting the budget already prepared.

Foreign affairs, especially relations with France and the reparation problem, are expected to prove the first pitfall.

The life of the Labor government, to a great extent, is in the hands of Herbert H. Asquith and the Liberals. When Mr. Asquith gave expression to the opinion that the King was not called upon to dissolve parliament at the request of the outgoing premier, he is considered by the political leaders, undoubtedly to have had in mind the belief that the Labor government would be of short duration.

Refusal of Dissolution?

Mr. Asquith's idea is thought to have been that King George should refuse to grant dissolution, and call upon the Liberals to form a government in the event that Mr. MacDonald's government is defeated. Mr. Asquith publicly has claimed that his party holds the balance of power in parliament, and it is supposed he counted on the benevolent support from the Conservatives to give him a fair lease of power if he is to succeed to MacDonald's government.

Mr. Asquith is now believed to be disposed to give the Labor government support during a longer period than was contemplated, provided, as it is generally reported, Mr. MacDonald intends to devote himself to a legislative program within the lines of the speech from the throne.

Mr. MacDonalds' assiduous devotion and study to foreign affairs, over which he has been working for long hours, early and late, at the foreign office, is considered an indication that he realizes where the test of his administration will come.

CAMPBELL BRINGS HOME FIGURES FOR ALL THE POOLS IN APPLES

About One Hundred and Fifty Thousand Boxes Were Placed in Great Britain; Average Prices on All Grades Are Given

Figures showing the standing of the apple pools, from the books of the Associated Growers' central office at Vernon have been brought to Nelson by J. J. Campbell, on his return from a month's work with Col. B. Scott of Salmon Arm, the two directors having been appointed a committee to assist the executive in working out a policy for the coming season. These matters wil be discussed at the meeting in Nelson Thursday, at which the shareholders of the Kootenay locals, one shareholder for each local, will nominate directors.

Apples placed in Great Britain up to December 31 totaled 158,750, while 249,786 were stored with locals, and 287,488 were stored elsewhere.

The schedule shows the standing of the pools as at December 31, with the number of boxes sold, and average price of each variety, and grade.

Locals may figure their returns by deducting about 10 cents a box for brokerage, central's expenses, and reserve fund for working capital, and another five cents, to be retained as a loan for retirement of first mortgage building debentures. In the folowing table the grades are extra fancy, fancy, fancy C, and C, all being denoted by initials:

MARIE THE WOP IS NOW PLAIN MARY O'GRADY

With Abolition of Los Angeles Dance Hall Rule, Flaxen Heads Reappear

LOS ANGELES, Jan. 27.—"Marie the Wop" is once more just plain Mary O'Grady with flaxen hair. It has been more than a year since she could show the Irish that was in her and still keep her job, but finally she has won her point.

Mary didn't change her racial appearance out of pure love. It was simply a case of getting bounced out of the North Main and North Broadway dance halls if she didn't. Sonoratown was a place for Latin dance hall girls, the police commission ruled a year ago. Therefore, if Mary wanted to keep her job, she had to comply with the law.

Possibly it sounds a little bit odd and possibly a little bit sordid to think that Anglo-Saxon girls make their living in the amusement zone of Sonoratown. Mary and her score or more light-haired friends don't think so, however; especially not when the pay check runs all the way from $35 to $125 a week.

Chameleon Locks

For many of the dance hall girls the past year has been sort of a Dr. Jekyll and Mr. Hyde life. Professionally they were blondes. They would meet a nice young fellow at the dance who was intrigued by the dark and glossy locks; when he'd call on them the next day at their home he would hardly believe his eyes when he was confronted with a blonde. The tricks of motion picture makeup are well known to the dance hall girl.

Maybe the police commission realized it had been beaten when on New Year's day it rescinded its order prohibiting all except foreign-born girls to work in dance halls in Sonoratown. But now there is no class or racial distinction, and the brunet wig which served its purpose in defeating the law lies on the shelf.

Mary admits that it was a one-horse regulation making them change the'r natural appearance. Of course, that wasn't what the law specifically stated but that was the result. It was a case, so Mary believes, of someone who wielded a big stick getting up in the air.

Calls Law Silly

"Perfectly silly," she characterizes the now extinct statute. "We girls know how to take care of ourselves down here. Guess the law thought it ought to draw a line somewhere. But the trouble was it drew the line where it hurt most—right on our pocket-book. It's easy pickin's down here, and as long as it is they'll have a hard time keeping us away."

Not many girls would consider the work easy, however. Dance hall girls and dance hall proprietors work on a 50-50 basis. It costs 10 cents a dance. Any young man can go in and pick out a girl for a dance. The house gets a nickel and the girl a nickel. When a girl dances 100 dances she makes $5. On New Year's night one of the girls is said to have made $22. Figure out for yourself the number of times she danced.

Three years ago the dance halls were opened on North Main and North Broadway. They apparently followed in the wake of the 18th amendment. There had to be some place to go and idle away the time. The dance halls are operated on the style of the western dance halls that used to be the kind that are shown in the motion pictures.

The girls station themselves in the center of the room, ready to take on all comers, provided that all comers have the necessary 10-cent tickets. Perhaps they might go so far as to invite a young man to the dance.

A funny thing about Sonoratown dance halls is that the main patronage comes from oriental youths, Japanese and Filipinos. Another peculiar thing is that the orientals are liberal spenders and seem to enjoy a dance better than a dish of rice. They are particularly fond of Anglo-Saxon dancing girls. A blonde will receive twice as much patronage as a brunette.

It would seem that such a dance hall operated under the plan in effect would be nothing short of a blot on the fair name of an otherwise respectable district. But that is not the case. At least, the juvenile bureau rates the dance halls in the north end very high and police have very little, if any, trouble with them. The management of the halls is largely responsible for this condition, but the girls should be given some of the credit.

Of the many dancing steps in use in the halls none has received censure. They vary from a snail's-pace waltz to a 100-yard sprint in speed. Most of the girls are of the type that can adapt themselves to any speed or step.

Two hundred to 300 dances a night is nothing unusual for a dance hall girl. The dance averages from a minute to 2 minutes in length. More girls than one support a family from their earnings. The young men who dance with them usually receive full value for their money.

But some day, sooner or later, a young and begoggled young realist will walk into Sonoratown and give it a black eye. It is true that the section doesn't offer much attraction to the eye. An exponent of realism probably would describe the section as an "ill-smelling gathering place for wastrels," or something along that line. Realism and pessimism go hand in hand.

However, if you want to find something optimistic and cheerful in Sonoratown, something almost humorous, walk into the dance hall and see the blondes tasting the sweetness of victory over brunets.

Alkali in Shampoos Bad For the Hair

If you want to keep your hair looking its best, be careful what you wash it with. Do not use prepared shampoos or anything else that contains too much free alkali. This dries the scalp, makes the hair brittle, and ruins it.

The best thing for steady use is Mulsified coccanut oil shampoo, which is pure and greaseless, and is better than anything else you can use.

Two or three teaspoonfuls of Mulsified is sufficient to cleanse the hair and scalp thoroughly. Simply moisten the hair with water and rub it in. It makes an abundance of rich, creamy lather, which rinses out easily, removing every particle of dust, dirt, dandruff and excess oil. The hair dries quickly and evenly, and it leaves the scalp soft, and the hair fine and silky, bright, lustrous, fluffy, wavy and easy to manage.

You can get Mulsified cocoanut oil shampoo at any drug store. It is inexpensive, and a few ounces will supply every member of the family for months. Be sure your druggist gives you Mulsified. Beware of imitations. Look for the name Watkins on the package.

PLANS DEVELOPMENT WORK FOR SPRING

Guiditta Claim on Kettle River Will Be Worked by Son of Owner; Encountered Ruby Silver

GREENWOOD, Jan 27.—John Morrell, owner of the Guiditta mineral claim in McKinley camp, on the north fork of the Kettle river, is planning to spend $5000 on development work during the coming spring, according to his announcement.

His son, J. F. Morrell, an engineer with the Anacoma mining company, will come here in the spring to inspect the property and outline the work to be done. It is the intention of the owner to develop along the well-defined ledge in which ruby silver has been encountered. Work already done on th property consists of a 30-foot tunnel. At a distance of 100 feet a shaft has been sunk. The ledge can be traced on the surface for some 500 feet.

PLAY THIRTY MINUTES OF OVERTIME

Trail Defeats Nelson in Endurance Test on Saturday

FREE-FOR-ALL IS NIPPED IN THE BUD

Game Is Clean Until Last Two Minutes of Regular Play; Score Three-Two

One hour and 30 minutes of fast hockey was necessary on Saturday night before Nelson and Trail came to an agreement in a West Kootenay Hockey league game, which Trail carried off by a 3-to-2 score. The game certainly was an endurance test, and at the end of the last overtime period neither team had much of the proverbial "pep" left. Snappy combination rushes, expert goaltending, flashy solo rushes, stiff bodychecking and a free-for-all were included in the night's performance, which was witnessed by a crowd numbering well over the 1000 mark.

Following the senior game the Nelson Wanderers' junior aggregation won a one-sided affair from Trail juniors by a 2-to-0 score.

So long did the senior teams battle that the juniors were unable to get under way until after midnight, the special train bearing the Trail teams and rooters remaining till almost 2 o'clock before leaving the city.

Richardson Off

Nelson took the ice minus Dutch Richardson, the big defence man who was injured in the last game against Rossland. Infection setting in the cut over the eye kept Richardson out of the game. Douglas Hinton, defence man for the Nelson Cubs' intermediate aggregation, was boosted into Richardson's place. Playing with Desireau he felt right at home, as this pair was the original Nelson Cub defence of junior hockey fame in this city. Despite his lightness in weight, Hinton tackled all alike, and turned in a fine exhibition. Both goalies were on the job all through the game, and each had about an equal share of work. Taking the game and the overtime periods into consideration, Garland stopped 37 shots from Nelson sticks while Notman wallopped aside 33 pucks. P. R. McDonald, on the Trail forward line, turned in a good game throughout, and especially in the first two periods did he work well. Trail was minus Frank Kavic, big defence man, but a newcomer, Wetemore, who, if anything, outweighs Kavic, replaced him and turned in an excellent game. He showed lack of practice, but at times outguessed practically the whole Nelson lineup with his corkscrew rushes. He also checked well, using his weight to good advantage. The Lauriente brothers, Freddie and Hank, turned in excellent games, Hank bagging the winning tally and Freddie grabbing a goal and an assist.

Desireau and Marquis Star

Desireau played an excellent game fore the local team, and was a marked man throughout. Numerous times he broke through the Trail team to be stopped by Garland, and on other occasions he and Marquis played an excellent combination game. Wilfred Marquis, as in previous games, was a bright shining light, and kept the Trail defence busy throughout the game. He bagged Nelson's first goal, and had numerous pokes at Garland. On several occasions he shot from the blue line and rushed for the rebound, but McIntyre cornered him continually. Claude Miller turned in a good game on right wing, and his poke check worked effectively all through the game. Time and again he broke up combination plays with his check. McKenzie was an excellent man on the forward line, and his cool-headedness aided greatly the local forwards. He is flashy, speedy, and uses his team mates well, sharing the puck repeatedly.

Nelson Scores

Play in the first period was quite tame, and the fans did not seem to work up any enthusiasm whatever. The teams seemed very evenly matched, and each goalie handled nine shots. Notman had one close shave when P. R. McDonald's shot came in at 60 per, Notman guiding it aside with his hand. The Lauriente brothers also beat the whole Nelson team on one occasion, but Notman again fooled them with his quickness. Marquis scored first for Nelson on a shot which mainly went in through hard luck on behalf of Garland. With only half a minute of the period left Marquis secured the puck at the Nelson blue line, beat out the Trail forwards, and shot a weak one from the Trail defence. The puck rolled at a good speed right at Garland, who had moved to the side of his citadel to receive the shot. When the rubber was about 4 feet from the goal it suddenly curved from its course and, fooling Garland completely, rambled untouched into the nets. P. R. McDonald and Claude Miller showed well in this period.

Score Tied

The second period was a lively affair, and the locals started with a rush, the Nelson forwards drawing Garland only to be outguessed by the Trail goalie. Patton came right back, and he and McDonald outwitted the Nelson defence. Patton's shot was wild, however. McIntyre and Patton later came in with a two-man rush, drew Notman, who, however, blocked the rubber and batted it aside. Trail tied up the score in about 15 minutes when P. R. McDonald and F. Lauriente combined nicely. Desireau and Johnny O'Genski came near scoring for the locals, each pulling Garland, who at one time was out past the blue line battling with the Nelson players. Nelson here had a great chance, but were out of luck. Trail throughout the period played combination work while Nelson, outside of a few instances, relied upon individual work. Desireau turned in an excellent exhibition in this period, his speed being a feature.

With the score one-all the teams came out in the third and did their best to end the game. Hinton, who had been breaking up numerous Trail rushes, secured the puck and went down the ice with McKenzie. Hinton outguessed the Trail defence, passed to McKenzie, who drew Garland and then missed the goal by inches. Garland in this period played all positions on the defence; he was in the nets and out in the corners and at the blue line, anywhere to stop the onrush. Miller scored for Nelson in 15 minutes when he grabbed a rebound from Marquis' shot. The shot was from well out on the side, and fooled Garland completely.

Players Pile Up

Two minutes later the players on both teams were piled up in and behind the Nelson nets, while no small number of spectators flocked onto the sheet to get a crack at someone whom they imagined to be an enemy. The Trail forwards, F. Lauriente and O'Genski, combining nicely, put over a shot which they claimed beat Notman and bounced clear out of the nets. Herbert Pitts, the goal umpire, did not raise his hand. McDonald, the Trail center man, becoming infuriated, rushed in on Pitts with his stick raised. A melee ensued, and for a time all members of both teams were hitting 'er up in grand style, Pitts holding a solid position under a pile of Trail and Nelson players.

After the fistic display had been quelled, the goal umpire, Pitts, declared that the puck had hit the goal post, and he was backed by numerous fans in the band room above. Referee Al Keating, however, overruled the goal umpire's decision and allowed the score. He was booed loudly by the fans, and for a time an argument ensued. P. R. McDonald was banished for the balance of the game by Referee Keating for his unwarranted attack on the goal umpire.

Overtime Periods

Play went on, and the period ended with the game tied up. McDonald's banishment was the only penalty awarded in the regular 60 minutes of play.

At the start of overtime McDonald was started by the Trail management, and Nelson protested, but Referee Keating stated that the regular playing time ended with the 60 minutes of play and that McDonald could again participate in the overtime despite his banishment. The referee was again given a great reception by the crowd.

No scoring resulted in the first two 10-minute periods, but penalties flew thick and fast. McDonald was the worst offended in the first 10 minutes, as he collected no less than 6 minutes' rest for tripping. Marquis was banished for banging at the puck, a la golf it is rumored, for his failure to shout "Fore."

Trail Wins

Nelson had the better of the argument in the second period, and Notman was called upon only once to save a shot while Garland was batting eight shots aside. Desireau and Marquis missed two chances at a goal. Frank O'Genski was given 2 minutes' rest for tripping. The score was still unbroken.

The last period was one mainly of endurance, members of both teams slackening down to a pretty slow pace due to the heavy condition of the ice and the long overtime sessions. With only 3 minutes to go Hank Lauriente scored a rebound from Patton's shot and beat Notman, thus winning the game. Desireau used his weight to good advantage in this period, and bounced Patton and O'Genski pretty hard. P. R. McDonald was also down for a minute.

Close on to 200 fans came in from Trail on the special train. A large crowd witnessed the junior game which followed the senior exhibition. Nelson won out in this fixture by a 2-to-0 score.

Following are the lineups of the senior teams:

LEWIS CHARGES MISUSED FUNDS IN NOVA SCOTIA

Money Sent for Relief Financed Propaganda of Red Internationale

HE STEPPED IN TO PRESERVE HONOR

Renewal of Wage Scale for Four Years Is Generally Looked For

INDIANAPOLIS, Jan. 27.—Adjournment of the United Mine Workers of America convention before the end of this week was in sight today following announcement that the scale committee has virtually completed its deliberations and is ready to report.

Although President Frank Farrington of the Illinois district, who heads this important committee, said all members were sworn to secrecy, it was the general impression that they would follow the recommendation of International President John L. Lewis and advise a renewal of the present wage scale for a term of four years.

"Repudiation of the ruinous practice of striking on the job," and a pledge of their high regard for the "sanctity of contracts," was voiced by the convention yesterday in casting an overwhelming vote of confidence in their leader and commending him the second time for deposing the officials of the Nova Scotia district.

Strike "On the Job"

Former International President John P. White yesterday made the charge that the Nova Scotians had adopted the practice of striking on the job in answering McIntyre's attempt to vindicate James McLachlan, deposed secretary.

Mr. White said he told the Nova Scotia miners, as a representative of President Lewis, that it would be far more honorable for them to avail themselves of the right to strike openly and avail themselves of the offer by the United Mine Workers of moral and financial support.

"Striking on the job," it was explained, is a European practice. Workmen under this system hold jobs and idle their time away, or work one day and strike one, work one and strike two or three, and so on.

Charges Not Answered

Proof was offered by President Lewis that McLachlan and the deposed officials took thousands of dollars sent them by the United Mine Workers of America for relief work and used it to circulate propaganda sent from the Red Internationale at Moscow.

The Nova Scotians who defended their deposed officials did not answer this and other more serious charges, but gave their time to declaring that "the law of humanity" justified the strike in 1923.

President Lewis said one of the reasons he had stepped in was that the company with property on Cape Breton island, in Nova Scotia, had wired him that miners had deserted the pumps and boilers and that the sea water was flooding the mines.

"The honor," he said, "of every member of the United Mine Workers of America was pledged to the fulfillment of our contract."

CONTROL FAILS, DRY LAW WORKS, SAY MINISTERS

Committee of Churchmen Find British Columbia System Unsatisfactory

QUEBEC AIM GOOD BUT RESULTS BAD

Prohibition Both in United States and Canada Given Good Character

TORONTO, Jan. 27.—That prohibition has proved a success in Canada and the United States, but that government control in Canadian provinces was not a success, was the verdict of a committee of churchmen who recently have been investigating prohibition conditions on the American continent, according to the Toronto Star Weekly.

The committee further advocates prohibition for Scotland which should be brought on gradually, preferably by means of local option.

After visiting British Columbia and studying the system there, the committee reports:

Condemn This Province

"After a careful study of the situation, the commissioners came to the unanimous conclusion that government control in British Columbia is unsatisfactory as a solution of the liquor problem, and is socially injurious. It allows unrestricted purchase of liquor, encourages secret drinking, and leads to evasions of the law through the activities of clubs. Drunkenness has not diminished. The bootlegger is as active as ever.

"Large quantities of liquor are also being smuggled from British Columbia into the United States, and into the neighboring provinces of Canada which are under prohibition."

Regarding the situation in Quebec, the commission has this to say:

Give Quebec Compliment

"The commissioners bear witness to the thoroughly efficient manner in which the liquor commission have organized the system and are working for it, but they were deeply impressed with the results as reflected in the unsatisfactory social conditions of Montreal. They saw little difference between these and the conditions prevailing in cities where the open bar is in existence."

PANAMA LOCKS ARE IN DANGER SAYS VARILA

Friend of De Lesseps and Man Who Sold Canal Would Widen It

NEW YORK, Jan. 24.—Colonel Varila, who was a friend of De Lesseps, famous French engineer, and, while director-general of the Panama Canal company, sold it to the United States government, arrived on the French liner Paris to advocate the transformation of the present local canal into a strait 1000 feet wide, which work he declares can be done without stopping traffic.

The project will cost $1,000,000,000, Colonel Varila said, but it will be well worth that sum. The money will be earned from tolls paid by ships going through the lock canal, and not come out of the taxpayers' pockets, he asserted.

Colonel Varilla said De Lessups planned to construct a lock canal first and then convert it into a sea level waterway.

"The transformation could be carried out," Colonel Varila continued, without hurting navigation for 10 minutes.

"I advocated the construction of a strait across the isthmus 37 years ago, but favored making a lock canal first. I readvocated, indeed, the plan of the lock system and sea level canal before the international board of engineers who developed the plan for the canal at the request of President Roosevelt. Twenty-two years ago, on the third Saturday in January, I addressed the Commercial club of Cincinatti, advocating this bigger plan. It was this address that led to the suggestion for the adoption of the Panama canal in preference to the Nicaraguan.

Helped Start Panama Republic

"Subsequently I became identified with the movement that led to creation of the republic of Panama, and was the first minister to the United States; in fact, my appointment was the first act of the newly created republic. As a result of that appointment there was drawn the Hay-Bunau Varilla treaty, which gave to the United States in perpetuity the right of completing and operating the Panama canal.

"The consulting board, in its report of 1906, certified that the idea of transforming the lock canal was practicable and feasible, but no one dreamed, except myself, the gigantic traffic of the Panama canal; and the transformation was thought to be so far distant in the future that the board postponed its consummation for a later age. The day has come.

"In 1922 the Panama canal traffic reached the gigantic figure of 24,000,000 tons, beating, before it completed it 10th year, the Suez canal in its 55th year by 1,000,000 tons.

"The prospects are so vast that the most perfect canal, without any possible limitation, without any possible destruction by earthquake or explosion, or of bombardment in war, is an absolute immediate necessity from the viewpoint of world shipping and the security of this most precious of all highways, under any circumstances, in time of peace or in time of war. This can only be accomplished by wiping out all artificial structures and establishing a deeper road connection between the two oceans, to be called the Straits of Panama."

Colonel Varila was satisfied with the manner in which the United States was guarding the great international waterway.

SASKATOON, Jan. 27.—The Sklar brothers' store and the upstairs suites of the Birney block were completely gutted by fire Sunday morning. Loss is estimated at $50,000.

Why Ford Predominates

Low First Cost

The low price of Ford cars and trucks has been one of the great dynamic forces in the development of motor transportation.

Since January 1920 the average price of Ford products has dropped 38% and Ford prices are now the lowest in the history of the industry.

And because Ford prices are so low, the worker and his family enjoy the innumerable benefits and delights of owning an automobile; the merchant and manufacturer extend their business into new and profitable fields by means of motor delivery; the farmer carries his fresh produce to the best markets with none of the old-time hardship and delay—and all for a very small initial investment.

Fifty out of every hundred cars and trucks in Canada are Fords—due to the public appreciation of Ford value.

Numbering of Fairview Houses and Marking of Streets

Numbering of Fairview lots and the marking of the streets with their names in both old Nelson and the Farview section is a matter which might be taken up by the city council.

At present Nelson lots are numbered so that householders can place their street number on their houses. No Fairview numbers have yet been established. A few Nelson streets are marked, but as this is on the sidewalks the names cannot be read when there is snow on the ground.

It would be good business to have the names of streets in the whole city put up on telephone or light posts at the corners and to have Fairview numbers established by the city, though householders would have to do the actual numbering.

The expense to the city would not be great, and it would be a great advantage to residents as well as to visitors.

At present, in directing a visitor to a home in Fairview it is necessary to explain first of all where such and such a street is and then to establish the location of the house by saying, "Four—no, I think it's five—or perhaps six doors past the house with the yellow window curtains," or something of that sort, which is a pretty primitive condition for a city of this size to be in.

Solomon in All His Glory

Sartorial splendor of a peculiarly startling kind is to adorn the sterner sex this year, according to the latest advices from New York. And it is Chicago that is showing the way. A native of that city had the habitues of a fashionable hotel there by the ears the other evening when he appeared in the lobby with box-pleated trousers. The plaits were around the waist, then the trousers fitted in tightly to the knees, from there down flaring out into a superb ball shape. Startled inquirers ascertained the next morning from clothiers that the model is quite de rigeur for spring wear, if they can only induce men to wear it.

Other changes contemplated in the somber raiment of the male are brown evening clothes. This of course would be merely the opening wedge. If men can be induced to desert their conventional party dress for something on new lines, each year will see them regaining some of the old-time splendor.

Like so many faults of the present age, the riotous new clothes of the male sex are blamed on the influence of the movies. Presumably, when the pater familias spends an evening at the cinema gazing at Rudolph Valentino in the latest extreme cut clothing and pearl-white spats, he comes home and believes that he could give the sheik a run for his money if he only were allowed to dress similarly. The festive garments of the feminine stars have sown grief and anguish in countless feminine hearts and started their owners on a career of careless extravagance. Now it appears that the men are being affected in the same way. The costume pictures have brought home to the men the knowledge of how cute and pretty their sex is when all done up in laces and plumes.

The Lighter Side

Raised Egg Bread—Combine one-half of a cup of scalded milk with one-half of a cup of boiling water, and cool till tepid; then add to it one-half of a cake of compressed yeast (previously dissolved in one-fourth of a cup of tepid water) and one and one-half of a cup of bread flour. Mix vigorously, cover, and place this "sponge" in a warm place to become light. Melt one-fourth of a cup of butter with one-fourth of a cup of lard, and add these fats to the light sponge, also adding two tablespoons of sugar, one-half of a teaspoon of salt, two well-beaten eggs and the additional cups of bread flour. Beat the mixture well, turn it into shallow, greased baking pans, cover and let rise almost one-half its bulk, then bake 35 minutes in a moderate oven which is a little hotter than moderate at the beginning of the baking period.

Ham-Macaroni Baked Dish—Boil enough macaroni to serve your family. Put it into a baking dish and mix with it one cup of finely diced cooked ham (Wednesday's lunch calls for this dish; therefore using ham left-overs from Tuesday's dinner). Add seasonings (salt and pepper) and enough sweet milk to moisten slightly. Stir in one well-beaten egg, then cover top with buttered crumbs. Bake 30 minutes in a moderate oven. Serve hot.

Rice-Meat Ramekins (Any left-over cooked meat may be used in this dish, but I assume the housekeeper will use, in this instance, the minced left-overs from Saturday night's lamb stew)—After chopping the cold cooked meat, proceed as follows: Put a generous layer of boiled and seasoned rice in the bottom of the individual baking dishes, or ramekins, then a layer of the chopped meat, after which fill the dish to the top with more rice. Bake 15 minutes in a very hot oven, and serve with the following:

Tomato Sauce for Rice-Meat Ramekins—Melt one tablespoon of butter in a saucepan, stir into it one tablespoon of flour, then add a pinch of salt and pepper and one cup of canned tomatoes (pressing the more solid parts of the tomatoes through a sieve). Let simmer for two minutes, then pour a little of this sauce on the top of each ramekin and serve at once.

Chocolate Sauce for Plain Blanc-Mange—Boil together for five minutes one and one-half of a cup of hot water and one-half of a cup of sugar. In the meantime mix six tablespoons of shaved unsweetened chocolate (or one-third of a cup of cocoa-powder) with one and one-half of a tablespoon of cornstarch powder, then wet to a paste by adding one-half of a cup of cold water. Combine the two mixtures, add a pinch of salt, let boil for three minutes, remove from fire, flavor with one-half of a teaspoon of vanilla and serve hot on the cold blanc-mange.

Tomorrow—Answered Letters.

All inquiries addressed to Miss Kirkman in care of the "Efficient Housekeeping" department will be answered in these columns in their turn. This requires considerable time, however, owing to the great number received. So if a personal or quicker reply is desired, a stamped and self-addressed envelope must be enclosed with the question. Be sure to use your full name, street number, and the name of your city and province.—The Editor.

Little capes are a characteristic accessory in new fashions. These are cape coats and cape back dresses, and dresses with separate capes, of which an attractive example will be found in the macaroon brown crepe-de-chene dress in the illustration today.

Certainly the short pleated cape with its amusingly plump collar gives a most gallant air to the gown—a design, by the way, which is exceedingly becoming to figures above the medium in height. Pleated panels set into the sides repeat the effect of the cape. There is also a pleated panel set into the back of the bodice, as may be noted in the thumbnail sketch. Also note how nicely the design is balanced by the arrangement of the bead embroidered bands.

That Body of Yours

Does the Carriage Tell the Story?

(Registered in accordance with the Copyright Act.)

A magazine story two or three years ago narrated the experiences of a young married couple who were attempting to get into the social swim. The young husband had in mind also the advantages that might come to him in his profession, as he was a recent graduate in engineering.

The story told of the moving out to the suburbs, the bridge and theater parties that were given, the expenditure on pretty furniture and so forth.

Good clothes were also indulged in both by wife and husband.

Among the visitors to the home was an old college chum of the husband, who had done unusually well in the general contracting business. Nothing came of his visit, however, as far as engineering jobs were concerned.

The husband finally got interested in an engineering scheme, and worked very hard until he had mastered it.

During this time he forgot all about entertainments, and went back and forth to his office in one of his old suits.

Finally by this engineering problem he had solved, which saved his firm hundreds of thousands of dollars on a contract, he was taken into the firm and his entire future assured.

The former college friend came back to town, and, coming up behind him, gave him a slap on the back and said: 'Congratulations, old man."

"On what?"

"Oh, I don't know, but I do know youve made good."

"Why, how do you know that? No one knows about it yet."

"I knew right away by the change in the way you were walking. Your head was up, your chest out, and you looked like the old college athlete of a few years back. Why, success was stamped all over your body. I did'nt really notice your clothes.

I know that good clothes count all right, but it was your carriage that told me the story."

Now what about this?

There is no question about it but that speaking generally the carriage reflects the body and mind.

I know there are exceptions. Men with actual defects such as blindness, lameness and deafness, have done big things for the world.

But generally speaking of the normal person, his carriage gives you an indication of his actual outlook on life, whether it is hopeful and courageous, or the reverse.

You will remember that the simple exercises that develop the waist muscles will give you an erect carriage.

Football Rulers Arrange Details Corinthian Tour

HAMILTON, Jan. 27.—The Ontario Football association met here yesterday and made arrangements for the visit of the Corinthian team, which will arrive in Montreal August 2, and will play here August 6.

The Dominion Football association has demanded a guarantee of $1750 a game, and this was thought by some to be excessive. Complaint was also made that too many games were awarded to western Canada. However, the matter was patched up. Seaforth, Ont., offered a guarantee of $3000 for a game.

In order to establish a fund to meet the expenses of the tour, all clubs will be asked to contribute 15 per cent of their profits. These districts which fail to secure a game will be alloted 75 per cent of the profits of the tour.

"It is such lovely material"

THE beautiful shimmering materials that are fashioned into Milady's clothes today require the most delicate care in washing.

Old methods of rubbing would never do for such exquisite fabrics.

Lux, with its gentle cleansing suds, comes to the aid of those who love refinement in material and in design. The rich Lux lather, gently squeezed through fine fabrics, just floats the dirt away without a possibility of harm coming to a single delicate silken thread.

Directions for Washing Silks

Whisk one tablespoonful of Lux into a thick lather in half a bowlful of very hot water. Add cold water until lukewarm. Dip the garment up and down pressing suds repeatedly through soiled spots. Rinse in three lukewarm waters. Squeeze water out—do not wring. Roll in a towel; when nearly dry, press with a warm iron—never a hot one.

EXPERT TALKS ON COMPLEXION

Through Radio, Health Commissioner Discusses Beauty Hints

NEW YORK, Jan 27.—Taking as his subject "Complexions and Health," Dr. Matthias Nicoll Jr., state commissioner of health, broadcast recently a health talk from Station WGY of the General Electric company at Schenectady. He called attention to the fact that the condition of the skin is largely dependent upon general health ,and that attention to details of personal hygiene will improve both.

"Job had his boils," continued Dr. Nicoll, "and, we are told, suffered greatly therefrom, but the physical pain borne by the patriarch was as naught compared to the mental anguish of the boy or girl with pimples. Plain everyday pimples is one of the stubbornest yet one of the commonest skin diseases to which the flesh is heir. The proper name for this disfiguring condition is 'acne'—a short name for a long-drawn-out affliction.

"Acne is essentially a disease of youth. Its natural tendency is to last for a few years and to disappear when the boy or girl grows up. Sometimes scars remain which never disappear, and in some people these are so numerous as to make them look as if they had had smallpox. Acne never causes ill-health; rather it is often the effect of some general bodily disorder. It tends to lower the personal pride of the one who suffers with it.

"Acne is caused by the growth of a germ in the skin, and is more likely to develop when the skin is greasy or oily. To do away with this oiliness as much as possible, care of the scalp and face is very important. The scalp and hair should be shampooed once a week, using hot water and liquid green soap, which can be purchased in any drug store. A generous supply of lather should be rubbed in vigorously. Afterward all of the soap must be rinsed out, for it is distinctly harmful to let soapy water dry in the hair.

"If you suffer with acne, beside washing the scalp as I have just described, wash the face every night with ordinary white bath soap and good hot water, rubbing hard with a coarse washcloth. Follow this with plain hot water to remove the soap, and finally sop the face for five minutes with cold water. This treatment will loosen many of the blackheads, which are a part of the disease, and thus allow them to be removed more easily, which should be done once a week. In removing blackheads, never use the finger nails—use only a blackhead abstractor with a rounded surface and shaped somewhat like a long letter 'S'; this can be purchased in the drug store. Any other method may do more harm than good.

"Although acne is caused by a germ infection of the skin, nevertheless there are other underlying factors necessary to bring about the disease, and it is to these that I particularly want to call your attention, because they are matters largely of personal hygiene, and are within your control.

"One of the most frequent underlying causes is incorrect diet. Any one of you who eats excessively of sweets cannot hope to get rid of acne;, it just thrives on sugar. Therefore, you must go without candy, soda water, sundaes, sweet desserts, cake, and so forth. Coffee, tea and cocoa are also harmful and should be omitted from your diet. You ask, 'What may I eat?' Drink plenty of milk and eat lots of raw fruit and vegetables, and meat not oftener than once a day.

"Disorder of the stomach and intestines is often one of the causes of acne, but if you pay attention to your diet and eat your meals regularly, chewing your food thoroughly, and take only those foods I have indicated, you will find that your digestive tract will regulate itself.

Markets and Finance

LIST BUOYANT BUT BY JUMPS

Stock Prices Move Upward, but Bear Selling Checks From Time to Time

NEW YORK, Jan. 27. — Stock prices moved up vigorously at the opening of yesterday's market, but the advance was interrupted at intervals by heavy profit-taking and a renewal of bear selling in several sections of the list. At the close the average of 20 leading industrials was at the highest point since last April and less than 5 points below the peak of the preceding month.

High-priced specialties were again the center of speculative interest. Corn Products, which established a record high nearly every day this week, touched another new top at 187, closing ½ lower for a net gain of 3½ points. United Fruit crossed 201 to the highest quotation since 1921, and then broke to 193 for a net loss of 2 points on the day. General Baking closed 6 points higher, and American Tobacco 4¼.

United States Steel was heavily bought in anticipation of a good earnings statement and favorable dividend action next Tuesday. Bethlehem Steel closed 1¾ higher.

A bullish demonstration was conducted in some of the oil shares just before the close, Atlantic Refining, Pacific and Standard Oil of California each closing 2½ points higher. Fresh selling broke out in the Pan-American issues on publication of Washington dispatches forecasting the cancellation of the company's leases on the naval oil reserves in California as a result of disclosures before the senate committee, the net decline in both stocks being about 2 points.

Speculators for the decline again attacked the motor and chemical shares which have proved vulnerable to selling pressure.

Strength and activity of Pennsylvania Railroad, which ordinarily moves within narrow limits, was the feature of the railroad group.

Trading in the foreign exchanges was quiet, with rates exhibiting a firm tone. Demand sterling advanced slightly to $4.22¾ and French francs were quoted just under 4.50c. Other rates showed only nominal fluctuations.

The weekly clearing house statement showed decreases in most of the principal items. Loans, discounts and investments dropped $22,699,000, reserve of member banks in the federal reserve banks fell $37,592,000, and net demand deposits slumped $17,972,000. Cash in own vaults increased $1,592,000, and time deposits $2,681,000. Aggregate reserve totaled $492,096,000, leaving a deficit in reserve of $16,524,600, a decrease of $34,821,900 below the week before, which showed an excess reserve of more than $18,000,000.

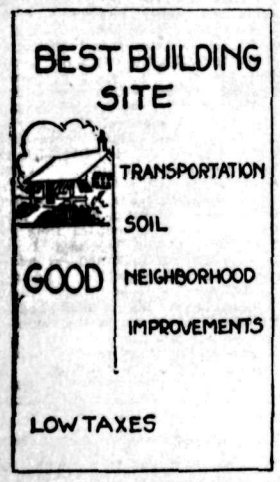
Money AT WORK

Brief but Important Lessons in Finance, Markets, Stocks, Bonds and Investments



Before buying a lot to build on, make a careful study from an investment point of view, because it is the lot and not the house which may become more valuable in later years.

As to the neighborhood, notice the transportation, the kind of neighbors, the accessibility of churches, schools and places of amusement. A district that sets too elaborate a social standard may encourage you (unconsciously) to raise your cost of living, as people tend to follow the lead of their neighbors. On the other hand, it is not good to live in a neighborhood that sets too low a standard.

As to soil, notice whether there will need to be much excavating and, if so, whether it will be expensive and difficult. Is there good drainage? Are there trees? Is the soil such that trees and a garden can flourish? An ideal lot for a homesite is one that can be made partly productive, if desired.

As to improvements, notice whether there are connections for water, sewer, gas, electricity and telephone. If not, can such connections be made, and at what cost?

Such points, considered with the purchase price and taxes, determine the value of property as an investment.

LEAGUE CLEARS THE CANADIENS; RAPS CAPITAL

Neutral Clubs Feel Ottawa Charges Are in Nature of Propaganda

TORONTO, Jan., 27.—The National Hockey league was in session here yesterday, and after five hours of discussion, in which curt personal remarks were bandied with frequency, the Ottawa club went to the mat with President Calder. The meeting was the "hottest" the league has held in some time, and the Ottawa club found Canadiens, St. Patricks and Hamilton representatives lined up against them.

It was all over the protest of Ottawa against the alleged rough play of the Canadiens in Montreal. The other clubs did not agree with these charges, and the result was the passing of a resolution which declared there was entirely too much propaganda being sent out by certain clubs—(no names were mentioned)—in which rough play talk was being fed to the public in order to attract crowds. The meeting felt this was wrong, and the resolution went on to say that President Calder was empowered to impose a fine of $500 or more on any club sending out propaganda of this kind in the future.

Ottawa Won't Change Policy

OTTAWA, Jan. 27.—"The decision of the National Hockey league not to entertain our charges against Canadiens will not in any way effect the policy of our club," said T. P. Gorman, of the Ottawa Hockey association tonight, in discussing the National Hockey league meetng. "We shall continue our fight for clean hockey, and our players will continue on the ice the conduct that has made them admired from coast to coast. We have made it quite clear to the public how the Ottawa Hockey association stands on the question of dirty hockey tactics."

It's easier to make enemies than friends, but it is easier to get rid of friends than it is to get rid of enemies.

Sarazen Adds to Lead and Beats Britisher, Havers

LOS ANGELES, Jan. 27.—Gene Saragen, American professional golf champion, defeated Arthur Havers, British open title holder, five up and four to go, in a 72-hole match for the unofficial world's professional championship, begun in San Francisco Friday, and completed at the Hillcrest Country club course here this afternoon. Sarazen came out of the first 36-hole round in San Francisco with a lead of three, and this he increased to five during the last 18 holes today, checkmating Havers at the end of the 68th hole.

At the 19th hole of today's round rain began to fall, but a gallery of 2000 remained, following the play with interest. Sarazen made the final 14 holes in 56, Havers in 59.

Cards for the day's 32 holes were: Sarazen, 129; Havers, 133. Cards for the entire 68 holes: Sarazen, 280; Havers, 286.

HAMILTON PUTS OTTAWAS DOWN

Five to One Measures the Thud the League Leaders Make Before Tigers

HAMILTON, Ont., Jan. 27.—Ottawa, minus Broadbent and Benenny, were outplayed and outclassed from the goal mouth out by the fast climbing Hamilton team in a National Hockey league fixture here last night, finishing on the short end of a 5 to 1 count. At no time during the game were the champions in the picture, and they have Benedict to thank for not being beaten by a much larger margin The Tigers, with Burch and the Green brothers on the forward line, made Nighbor, Campbell and Claney look foolish.

"Red" Green ran wild on Campbell, and made life for Benedict miserable. The short, snappy passing of the Hamilton forward line had the Ottawa team at sea.

The Hamilton defence was effective. They stepped into everyone that came near them, and handed out many stiff jolts. King, Clancy and George Boucher were the only members of the Ottawa team to show anything.

Summary

First period—1, Hamilton, R. Green, 10:45; 2, Hamilton, Burch, 6:25.

Second period—3, Ottawa, Campbell, 2:50; 4. Hamilton, Prodgers, :45; 5, Hamilton, S. Green, :55.

Third period—6, Hamilton, Prodgers, 2.15.

EX-WINNIPEGER IS STRONG AT CANNES

Colonel Mayes, With Mlle. Lenglen, Wins Mixed Doubles; Fights Gamely in Men's Doubles

CANNES, France, Jan. 27.—(By Canadian Press, via Reuter's)—In the finals of the men's doubles in the Gallia club lawn tennis tournament yesterday, L. Crawford and A. S. Langulul beat Col. H. G. Mayes, former Winnipeg resident, and E. T. Lamb, 3-7, 3-6, 6-3, 6-3.

In the mixed doubles, Mlle. Lenglen and Colonel Mayes defeated Miss Ryan, the former California girl, now living in England, and C. F. Aescheliman, 6-4, 15-13, 1-6.

CANADIENS GIVE ST. PATS SCARE

Though Short Three Regulars, Frenchmen Only One Goal Behind

TORONTO, Jan. 27.—Canadiens, with three regulars missing, gave St. Patricks more than a scare here Saturday night, but lost an exciting struggle by 2 to 1. The Frenchmen scored the only goal in the first period, and it was not until one minute and half remained to play that Corbeau batted in the winning counter.

St. Patricks retained their two-game lead in second place over Hamilton, while Canadiens fell back into last place.

The feature of the game was the outstanding play of Mantha and Bobby Boucher, the fourth members of the family to break into professional hockey.

On the night's game the Canadiens might just as easily have finished on the long end of the scoring. They more than matched the locals in speed, and they certainly tried hard to get out of last place, but the Irishmen never lost their confidence, and stuck closely to the business of playing hockey.

Summary

First period—1, Canadiens, Mantha, 10:00.

Second period—2, St. Patricks, Dye, 2:00.

Third period—3, St. Patricks, Corbeau, 18:30.

ERECT SPECIAL ARENA FOR FIRPO AND WILLS

Millionaire Syndicate Guarantees a Quarter of Million to Each Fighter

NEW YORK, Jan. 27. — Louis Raymond, representative of a newly organized New York syndicate, announced tonight receipt of word from Buenos Ayres that Luis Angel Firpo had accepted the syndicate's offer of $250,000 for a 15-round bout with Harry Wills, negro heavyweight, next July. Wills, he added, already has accepted an offer for a similar amount.

According to Raymond, who declared the syndicate had several millionaire backers, it is proposed to stage the fight in Brooklyn, where options are held on several pieces of property.

It is planned to erect an arena seating 100,000 on one of these.

Observation indicates that most men would freeze their ears rather than wear ear muffs. However, this is a free country.

Automobilists who have abstained from running down pedestrians say that the custom is quite conducive of peace of mind.

STAY-AT-HOME SPIEL DRAWN FOR THIS WEEK

Those Unable to Go to Trail Will Start New Competition

ALL NOW DEPENDS ON WEATHER MAN

Primary and Secondary Events; Rinks Are Strong

Trail's big bonspiel will not hamper local curlers any during the week, providing the weather man holds up, as a big "stay-at-home" spiel has been drawn up with 24 rinks competing.

The games were originally planned to get away this evening, but the sudden change in temperature has made this impossible, and the games will be started as soon as ice permits. It is hoped to get under way when the Trail spiel starts. Substitution will be allowed strength for strength, otherwise rules of the British Columbia Curling association will apply.

Following is the personnel of the different rinks, the first-named being skip, then the thirds, seconds and leads:

J. H. Bennett, Dr. A. B. C. Dando, H. Bolton, G. Talbot.
G. A. Bladworth, C. Will, T. H. Caudwell, A. Kirby.

FINLAND TAKES THREE OF FOUR IN ICE RACES

Gorman Contender in Sprint With Jewtraw but Is Nowhere Placed

YANKEE CHAMPION FOR ONLY SPRINT

Though Winning No Race, Norwegians Get Many Places; Second, Points

CHAMONIX, Jan. 27.—Finland, with only three men entered, won first honors in the speed skating events of the 1924 winter Olympic games, which were concluded today, with a total of 48 1-2 points.

Norway was second with 39½, and the United States third with 11.

Sweden got one point.

Charles Gorman of St. John, N.B., sole Canadian representative, had been considered a dangerous contender, but he was unable to get a place in any of the events.

Gorman Makes Place for Jewtraw

The sixth heat of the 500-meter speed skating event, between Gorman and Jewtraw of Lake Placid, N.Y., was a magnificent race. Jewtraw won the heat, and eventually the olymtic championship for that distance.

The Canadian got away to a flying start and led until 50 yards from the finish, when he faltered, and was caught. The fast pace set by the Canadian for almost the whole distance was a material factor in Jewtraw's victory.

Gorman was very nervous, but after three false starts got away better than Jewtraw. The United States skater, on the outside track, lost ground for the first 200 meters, but began catching up to the Canadian on the back stretch. The men raced around the last turn elbow to elbow, and Jewtraw won with a terrific burst of speed down the stretch.

There were four races contested yesterday and today. Jewtraw captured the 500-meter sprint in 44 seconds, Thunberg of Finland won the 1500-meter (1640.4 yards) and the 5000-meter (5468 yards) events, while Skatnabb, also of Finland, took the 10,000-meter (6.2137 miles) event.

Finnish and Norwegians shut out other skaters in the 1500 and 10,000-meter races today with ease. United States skaters failed to add to their score of 11 points which accrued from Jewtraw's victory and the capture of sixth place by Valentine Bialis, Saranac Lake, in the 5000 meters.

Thunberg Star of the Meet

Thunberg, the Finnish world champion, was easily the star of the meet. He showed ease of motion and smooth action, rolling off lap after lap, apparently without exertion, in 42 seconds in the distance races, the laps being 400 meters around.

In the 1500-meter race Norway and Finland divided the honors, Norway getting for men in the first six. In winning this event, Thunberg covered the distance in 2 minutes 20 4-5 seconds, coming within 4 seconds of Mathieson's world record.

Harry Kasky, Chicago, was seventh and Jewtraw and Joe Moore, New York, tied for eighth. Gorman of Canada was eleventh, and William Steinmetz, Chicago, 12th. Moore defeated Gorman in their heat, while Mooens of Norway defeated Steinmetz. Olsen defeated Jewtraw in 2 minutes 29 1-5 seconds.

Distance Result

The results of the 10,000 meters follow:

Skatnabb, Finland, first. Time 18 minutes 4 4-5 seconds.

Thunberg, Finland, second. Time 18 minutes 7 4-5 seconds.

Larsen, Norway, third. Time, 18 minutes 12 1-5 seconds.

Paulson, Norway, fourth. Time 18 minutes 13 seconds.

Gorman Good in Longer Race

CHAMONIX, Jan. 27.—(By Canadian Press Cable, via Reuters.)—Charles Gorman of St. John, N.B., made a creditable showing in the 1500-meter race today. He raced his heat with Joe Moore of New York, and took only three or four seconds more than Moore to make the distance, Moore's time being 2 minutes 31 3-5 seconds, the same time that Jewtraw made in his heat with Olsen of Norway. The Gorman-Moore race was a neck-and-neck affair until near the finish, with both men exhausted.

It is the general opinion that Gorman lost because he hit an impossible pace at the beginning.

The Canadian hockeyists have enjoyed two tryouts. Munro is experiencing some difficulty in his breathing owing to change of temperature.

MERTHYR LOSES BY LAST KICK

Fulham Goal Saved by the Whistle; Duke of York Sees Aston Villa

LONDON, Jan. 27. — (By Canadian Press Cable) — H.R.H. the duke of York was given an enthusiastic reception by 30,000 spectators when he attended Aston Villa's grounds at Birmingham yesterday to witness the match with Bolton Wanderers, which the former won 1 to 0. The duke shook hands with all the players, who were introduced individually to him.

Simms, former center forward from Luton, scored three of the five goals for Stockport, against Hull, Stockport winning 5 to 1.

Chelsea's defeat on their own ground was due to the magnificent goalkeeping of Huddersfield's goalie, Taylor, who stopped everything.

Ball Beaten by Whistle

Just after the whistle blew, Fulham's goalie was beaten by a shot from Manchester United forward, Lockhead. The ball had 30 yards to travel, so that Fulham was saved from defeat by seconds.

Portsmouth defeated Merthyr in the last kick of the match.

On the other hand, both Tottenham and Newcastle scored in the first five minutes of play, which was much too vigorously contested in the first half, with the result that Tottenham suffered severely.

Lock, the former Southampton and Glasgow Ranger, was the hero of Swansea's game against Bournemouth. Some of his saves were really wonderful.

Lees scored three times for Wolverhampton against Wrexham, making his total of goals in the northern section of the third division, 19 for the season.

IRELAND BEATS FRANCE ON GRID

In Match at Dublin, Erin Scores Two Tries to None for Continentals

DUBLIN, Jan. 27. — The international rugby match played here Saturday between France and Ireland resulted in a win by the latter, 6 to 0. The French team met with sound defence. The Frenchmen were inclined to overdo their kicking, and Crawford fielded a punt by Crabos making a kick which carried the Irishmen into the French 25-yard area. Several free kicks brought Ireland within reasonable distance of a score, but Crawford's kicking failed to put the finishing touches on the work. Soon afterward Stephenson scored for Ireland, but Atkins failed to convert.

A lot of rather aimless running on the part of French forwards followed, but they could not get on even terms at half time, which came with Ireland leading by 3 to 0.

French Drop Kicks Dangerous

On the resumption of play, France immediately attacked, their forwards controlling the ball well in several short rushes. Collopy, Halloran and Hall put in a fine bout of passing, but their effort was frustrated by Dupont's great tackle. Fine individual efforts by Crabos and Galau just failed, and later Crabos missed a drop kick at goal by a yard.

After Stephenson had made a great effort to cut through, Atkins secured, and made a dash over the line where he was up. Robust play followed, the French storming attacks causing considerable excitement. Later Crawford saved the situation when it looked long odds France scoring. After some even play, the Irish forwards dribbled the ball to the French 25-yard line. Ireland continued to press, and, with seven minutes to go, Atkins scored a try, but failed to convert.

France made a despairing rally, but nothing resulted, and the game finished with Ireland ahead by 6 to 0.

THERMOMETER RISES RAPIDLY

Registers Two Degrees Above Freezing in Evening

A week ago yesterday young Nelson was enjoying one of the best skating days of the winter on the smooth ice fronting the city; the ice was smooth and hard, and an excellent day's skating was held in the old boat channel.

Yesterday the thermometer registered two degrees above freezing, the boat channel which held the ice last week is again open, and there is no out-of-doors skating. Things can happen in a week.

Temperatures recorded by the local weather man, J. S. Goulding, for Saturday gave a minimum temperature of 28 and a maximum of 32. The temperature went up somewhat yesterday, and the official reading for the day was: Minimum, 28 degrees; maximum, 37 degrees, which is five degrees above freezing. At 9 o'clock the thermometer stood at two degrees above freezing, and a drizzle was greeting Nelsonites. By indications, the January thaw is about to set in.

EIGHT SHEETS FOR BONSPIEL

Fifteen Outside Rinks Entered in Provincial Spiel at Trail

All that is necessary is a cold snap, and the British Columbia Curling association's bonspiel at Trail will be under way. The spiel has been called off until Tuesday, when it will start, weather permitting.

According to Trail curlers, a great treat is in store for the visitors, and everything is being done to make the bonspiel a success. According to word received in Trail, in the neighborhood of 15 outside rinks will enter for the silverware: Nelson is sending seven rinks, Rossland five, and Grand Forks two. Trail will have between 15 and 20 rinks in the competitions.

Eight sheets of ice will give the curlers ample room, as aside from the four regular curling sheets in the Trail rink, there has been four other sheets marked out from the skating rink sheet.

The famous old Grand Challenge Prize has arrived back from the coast, all cleaned up and engraved, in excellent shape for the winners.

Rogers Willing to Fight on a Winner-Take-All Basis Against Champ

Negotiations are still under way between local promoters and the manager of Jimmie Cottrell, welterweight champion of the northwest, in trying to draw up a bout in this city between Cottrell and Tommy Rogers, local welterweight.

After an exchange of several telegrams, the local promoters have wired Cottrell's manager offering the bout under any terms—that is, a gate split of 50-50, 60-40, or winner-take-all. This is a real good offer, and it is expected that Cottrell will be seen in action here shortly.

C. H. Edgar, manager of Johnny Russell, who went 10 rounds with Rogers here some months ago, has written to Rogers' manager asking for a bout here on February 2. Russell put up an excellent bout, and was not in the best of shape when he last appeared here.

Lots of people do not care to trouble to get better day by day, but expect to do he whole job at once.

Justice may be blind, but there are any number of men willing and anxious to give her the proper steer—as they see it.

POSTPONE THE SPIEL OPENING FOR ONE DAY

State of Weather Dictates Action; Indications Good for Tomorrow

Decision to postpone the opening of the annual bonspiel of the British Columbia Curling association from today until tomorrow was reached yesterday on account of unfavorable weather conditions.

If today conditions should still appear to be unfavorable, a further postponement will be necessary, but indications yesterday were considered promising for commencing the 'spiel tomorrow morning.

C. D. Blackwood of Nelson, H. W. Atkinson of Rossland and H. C. Caldicott of Trail will be able to inform curlers today as to the decision of with regard to whether the bonspiel will commence tomorrow.

At noon on Saturday the thermometer in the Trail rink stood at 29, according to a telephone message from The Daily News Trail correspondent.

If there were a department of cynicism in the British cabinet the portfolio doubtless would be given to that grand old Socialist, George Bernard Shaw.

INTERMEDIATES PLAY TUESDAY

Game Scheduled for Tonight Postponed; Prospects for Ice Slim

The intermediate hockey game scheduled for this evening between Rossland and the Nelson Cubs has been postponed until Tuesday night, according to arrangements made by the Rossland management over the week-end. The game was called off on account of a senior fixture in Rossland between Trail and Rossland this evening.

According to the present weather conditions, there is a possibility of an ice famine. In that case, the game will most likely be postponed until some later date.
