JURY FINDS FLOYD NOT GUILTY AT FERNIE ON MURDER CHARGE BECAUSE OF INSANITY AT TIME

Alienist From New Westminster Testifies to Insanity

OTHERS STATE HE ACTED QUEER

To Be Kept in Custody Until Word Comes, Victoria

FERNIE, B. C., Oct. 21.—"Not guilty on account of insanity at the time of the act" was the verdict of the jury today in the case of William Edward Floyd, charged with the murder of Dennis Greenwood, game warden at Canal Flats, on July 5. The jury deliberated an hour and a half. Floyd will be kept in custody until word is received from the lieutenant-governor as to his disposal.

The largest crowd ever assembled in a court room in Fernie stood or sat all afternoon to hear the finish of this trial, which was the last of the supreme court assizes. The jury returned its verdict at 6 p. m.

The most important witness as to the sanity of the accused was Dr. James Gordon McKay, general superintendent of Hollywood sanitarium, New Westminster.

He stated that from a careful examination of the accused and listening to the evidence throughout the case that it was his opinion that Floyd was suffering from one form of epilepsy due to numerous concussions of the brain received during his service overseas in the great war. This disability caused him to have total lapses of memory over periods of varying duration. At other times, he would appear to all observers perfectly normal.

ALICIA FLOYD TESTIFIES

Alicia Lois Floyd, who with the accused had lived in different places in the district for the past eight years, testified to several of such lapses. Once he had signified his intention of coming in to dinner, and instead had wandered miles away, and had not returned for three days, at which time he had no memory of what had occurred in the interval. Witness recalled the dish breaking episode and stated that the accused had been exceptionally kind to his family, except on occasions when violent. She had one time complained to Doctor Green of his treatment of her. On the evening previous to the tragedy he had been sick at the stomach and acted queerly.

Mr. Farrel, a one-time boss of the accused, testified that although an excellent workman, he had at one time wandered off from his work, which was lifting a hoist, and gone home. After a few days he allowed himself to be persuaded to go back to work. Later he would not believe that he had been home or seen his wife, although Farrel and he both had had supper with her. G. G. Moffatt, an officer of the 54th battalion, Thomas Joynson and J. Riley testified to Floyd's being in the 54th regiment overseas and occupying the hazardous position of sniper in No Man's land. He had had a good record there, said the witnesses. It was here that he was said to have been shell shocked, buried by shell explosions, and wounded in the side with a bayonet.

CHARGES JURY

In charging the jury Mr. Justice Murphy made it clear that Floyd had undoubtedly shot Greenwood. The issue of their decision rested entirely on the question of whether he was insane at the time of the deed. In the eyes of the law insanity simply meant either that the man did not have actual physical knowledge of what his muscles were doing or of the acts he was performing, or else he was incapable of knowing that those acts were contrary to the law of the land.

His nonchalance after the deed and the fact of his leading the little child by the hand would argue that Floyd was mentally abnormal at the time of the shooting; while the fact that he stated to two private citizens and a policeman a varying intervals afterward that he had done it would seem to argue that he knew the physical significance of his act if not the legal, said the justice. This was substantiated by his twofold attempt to borrow a rifle, before perpetrating the act with a revolver. Proof of motive was not necessary, said Mr. Justice Murphy, nor was service at the front to be construed as licence to come home and shoot innocent people.

The justice stated that the alienist, Dr. McKay, had been sent here by the attorney-general upon representations from himself, and had not been called merely as a defence witness. His opinion was to be taken as of value but not conclusive. Insanity was only grounds for acquittal on a murder charge when it was reasonably certain that the insane condition was in the ascendancy at the moment of the crime, he stated.

41 PHOTOGRAPHS, TOTAL ECLIPSE

NIUAFOU ISLAND, Oct. 22—(Wednesday)—(AP)— Weeks of patient waiting and construction by astronomers of this little island in the south Pacific were rewarded, today when 41 photographs of a total eclipse of the sun were taken successfully.

The eclipse and weather were excellent.

The eclipse began at 7:55 a.m. (2:38 p.m. Tuesday, E.S.T) became total at 9:09 a.m., (3:51 p.m. Tuesday E.S.T.) and ended at 10:31 a.m., (5:14 p.m. Tuesday E.S.T.) Duration of the total eclipse was 93½ seconds.

Both the New Zealand and United States expeditions announced observations of the eclipse were entirely successful.

SAYS B.C. NEEDS NAVY PROTECTION

VICTORIA, Oct. 21—Are the people of Canada justified in leaving the western gateway to the Dominion so ill provided with defenses in case of an emergency, was the question asked by Premier S. F. Tolmie from the foot of the war memorial at the parliament buildings today during his address commemorating Trafalgar Day.

After speaking feelingly on the work of Nelson and the British navy since his day to the present, the premier stated the navy was just as necessary today as it ever had been. While countries were seeking peace, he said, it was just as well to be prepared for emergencies, noting that until different nations ceased assaulting each other, a perfect, warless harmony was not to be attained.

The premier conmended the navy league highly for its work in fostering interest in the navy.

STATEMENT ON PALESTINE IS GIVEN SUPPORT

LONDON, Oct. 21.—(C. P. cable)—While world Jewry protests against conditions in the new statement of British policy in Palestine, British commentators stress the difficult realities of the situation.

The Herald, unofficial government organ, said "The government is bound by the mandate and its own pledges to secure establishment of a Jewish national home and to safeguard the rights of the Arab inhabitants. The fulfilment of one part is not to bring with it violation of the other. Zionist leaders will be wise if they recognize the facts and work out their ideals within the limitations of fact. If they insist on doing otherwise they will be quarrelling, not with Lord Passfield (secretary for the colonies) but with rigid realities which exist and will continue to exist."

SEES MENACE IN RUSSIAN COAL IN U. S

NEW YORK, Oct. 21.—Continued shipment of anthracite coal from Russia, Germany and Great Britain, to be sold in competition with the United States product, was described today as a menace to the United States coal industry by Eliot Farley, president of the Delaware, Lackawanna and Western Coal company.

The recent barring of Russian coal by the Canadian government will tend to increase the large tonnage shipped to eastern ports, he said, "and will have effect of unstabilizing the American anthracite industry and of throwing a large number of American miners out of work at a time when the nation is already facing a business crisis."

ASK LOW RATE ON NEWS COPY FROM EMPIRE

LONDON, Oct. 21. (By Geogre Hambleton, Canadian Press staff correspondent)—The Canadian delegates to the Imperial conference have submitted to the cummunications committee a proposal that the Empire government should agree to give a reduced air mail rate to newspaper copy, photographs for publication and other similar material. This, added to the previous Canadian proposals for the reestablishment of the penny post, the establishment of a uniform rate for air mail, and a reduced rate on parcel post throughout the Empire, would itself do much to bring the Empire units closer together, the Canadian delegation submitted.

ARREST BORDER PATROLMEN

SYRACUSE, N. Y., Oct. 21—The Post-Standard will say tomorrow that operations of a smuggling ring which, during the past year, has moved contraband— chiefly liquor and furs—valued at hundreds of thousands of dollars from Canada into the United States have led to the recent arrest of four border patrolmen and seven civilians.

BALDWIN REPLIES TO BEAVERBROOK

Says Impossible for Political Party to Delegate a Decision

LONDON, Oct. 21. (By Thomas T. Champion, Canadian Press staff correspondent)—It would be impossible for the leader of a political party in Great Britain, "which may soon come into power, to delegate to the dominions a decision with regard to matters which involve domestic taxation, Right Hon. Stanley Baldwin declared today.

The Conservative leader was replying to Lord Beaverbrook, leader of the Empire free trade crusaders, who yesterday asked if Mr. Baldwin was prepared to leave the interpretation of Premier Bennett's reciprocal tariff preference offer to the dominion prime ministers, as Beaverbrook was prepared to do on behalf of his colleague and himself.

"I am prepared to make Mr. Baldwin an offer which will give him an opportunity of restoring unity to the ranks of the Conservative party," Lord Beaverbrook said yesterday in a South Paddington by-election address. "I accept the reciprocal preference offer of the dominion prime ministers in the identical terms of the original acceptance by Mr. Baldwin. I am prepared on behalf of my colleagues and myself to leave the interpretation of that offer to the dominion prime ministers. My question is: 'Will Mr. Baldwin do the same'."

Domestic fiscal matters must be decided by the government of Great Britain, which would necessarily have to consult the dominions in forming the policy, Mr. Baldwin said. On behalf of the Conservative party, Mr. Baldwin said the party, if in office, will gladly accept Premier Bennett's proposal to attend another conference at Ottawa next year, subject to the concurrence of the other dominion governments, in order that definite plans for giving effect to the principle of Empire economic unity may be worked out in cooperation with them.

In his reply to Lord Beaverbrook, Mr. Baldwin reminded the Canadian-born newspaper peer that last February, Beaverbrook categorically declared that if Mr. Baldwin were returned to the premiership with his hands free to carry out an Imperial policy in which the large majority of the Conservative party believed, Beaverbrook would welcome his return.

DISTRICT LIBERAL FOR 50 YEARS NOW TURNS TO TORIES

CHARLOTTETOWN, P. E. I., Oct. 21—(CP)—A Liberal stronghold of 50 years standing went over to the Conservative ranks today when G. Shelton Sharpe, of Bideford, was elected to represent the second district of Prince in the provincial legislature by a majority of 215 over Hon. Thane A. Campbell, attorney-general.

The standing:
Campbell (L) 1080.
Sharpe (C) 1295.

Today's by-election was made necessary by the elevation to the supreme court bench of Hon. A. C. Saunders, who was then premier of the province. Hon. Mr. Saunders, who was then premier of the province, Hon. Mr. Saunders' majority over Mr. Sharpe in the 1927 election was 336, the figures being 1,280 to 944.

Today's vote showed a polling increase of 151.

GLORIA SWANSON WANTS DIVORCE

LOS ANGELES, Oct. 21—Gloria Swanson, film actress filed suit for divorce today against her titled husband, the Marquis Henri De La Falaise De La Coudraye. She charged wilful and malicious desertion.

APPEAL OF NEWSPAPER DISMISSED

TORONTO, Oct. 21—The appeal of the Toronto Evening Telegram against the judgment of Mr. Justice Jeffrey, who awarded $5000 to Former Mayor Sam McBride in a libel action, was dismissed by second divisional court at Osgoode hall today.

AT LEAST 131 KILLED, BLAST GERMAN MINE

Ton of Dynamite Explodes Following a Gas Explosion

35 BODIES NOT YET RECOVERED

140 Men Still in Mine Awaiting Rescue at Late Hour

BERLIN, Oct. 21.—(AP)—The Wolf News agency said late tonight that the known dead totalled 131 so far in the dynamite blast at the Anna mine in Alsdorf. The agency added that 35 of them had not yet been brought to the surface, and said that 140 men still were down in the mine awaiting rescue.

TON OF DYNAMITE

ALSDORF, Germany, Oct. 21.—(AP)—The explosion of a ton of dynamite in the No. 2 shaft of the Anna coal mine here early this morning killed probably 100 men.

The number has not been definitely established, with the Prussian government press bureau estimating 100 and mine officials calculating the loss less, but 60 bodies had been recovered by 9 o'clock tonight and 20 more were taken from a collapsed building on the surface.

In addition 76 miners are in the hospital, with the likelihood of some of them dying, while about 150 others still are awaiting rescue from a gallery beneath the scene of explosion. Relief experts believe that part of these, who will be reached in time from neighboring galleries not damaged, will be found dead.

The explosion, which occurred 1200 feet below the surface, dealt death and destruction for miles around and brought grief to the 10,000 inhabitants of this mining town. All day long weeping wives and children waited outside the pit mouth.

Apparently there were three explosions. The first, a gas blast, caused the dynamite stored in one of the shafts to explode.

The great force of this upheaval blew up gasoline tanks in a building on the surface and the administration building also collapsed, this latter inflicting a score of casualties.

This was the second large German mine disaster within four months, the previous one being at Neurode, Silesia, with a death roll of more than 150.

PRINCE GEORGE SEES NEED FOR LIGHT CRUISERS

LONDON, Oct. 21—(AP)—Prince George said in an address at the Navy league dinner tonight that he thought it would be a long time before light cruisers and other small naval craft could be dispensed with because they shoulder most of the monotonous but important jobs of police and ambulance work in peace time.

Prince George, who was toasting the "glorious and immortal memory of Lord Nelson," on the anniversary of the battle of Trafalgar, added that the navy is like the multiplication table, "indispensable to business, but not lending itself to after-dinner oratory."

PRELIMINARY HEARING OF MURDER CHARGE TOMORROW

HULL, Que., Oct. 21—Preliminary cout hearing for Austin Cassidy and John Cherentzky of Ottawa, held criminally responsible by a coroner's jury for the slaying here a week ago of William (Bert) Marshall, young Ottawa athlete, will be proceeded with next Thursday morning. The case came up before Magistrate Roland Millar today and the 48-hour adjournment was taken on the request of prosecuting counsel, who asked for the additional time to prepare his case.

'BUGS' MORAN, LEADER OF CHICAGO GANG, SOUGHT IN CONNECTION WITH LINGLE SHOOTING AT LAST CAUGHT

Raid on Roadhouse Nets Long Sought Man; Claims to Have Been in Canada Hunting at Time of Killing

CHICAGO, Oct. 21— The law caught up with George (Bugs) Moran today, harassing him with such charges as vagrancy and carrying concealed weapons, and questioning him about numerous slayings and other major crimes.

The search that started June 9, when Jake Lingle, Tribune reporter, fell mortally wounded in a pedestrian tunnel, ended early today in a small roadhouse west of Waukegan, Ill., the Lake county (Waukegan) state's atorney and five private detectives made the raid and Moran, after he saw who it was, made no resistance.

Lingle was a close friend of "Scarface Al" Capone and when the reporter was shot down from behind, the police inclined to the theory that the gang headed by Capone's archenemy, Moran, might have had something to do with it.

Moran had disappeared, however, and when Jack Zuta, Moran's lieutenant, was killed as a supposed sequel to the Lingle slaying, the plot thickened and the search for the gang leader intensified.

There were numerous other things the police wanted to talk to Moran about, including the unsolved St. Valentine's day massacre of seven of his henchmen last year.

Moran was arrested by Waukegan authorities and released on bonds of $10,000 into custody of Chicago officials who brought him here on one of the "public enemy" warrants issued several weeks ago for major gangsters.

What he told the police, if anything, was not revealed, but Moran told reporters in Waukegan that the vagrancy charge was "ridiculous". He further said he has been out of the booze business and all other rackets for four years. "I have been going straight and I intend to go straight."

"When Lingle and Zuta were killed I was up in the middle of Canada on a hunting trip. I'm going on another when I get out of this mess. I make $25,000 a year from my interest in the Central Cleaners and I don't want anything to do with the rackets."

He claims to be actively connected with the business as vice-president of the Central Cleaners and Dyers.

MANITOBA MAN'S BODY IS FOUND

WINNIPEGOSIS, Man., Oct. 21—(CP)—Beside an isolated road in Barren lake country, body of 22-year-old Peter Dengesshyn, was found today. For several days the youth's family and friends had been seeking to ascertain his whereabouts. On Saturday the car which Dengesshyn had been driving when last seen was located. (Later, his body was found nearby covered with rocks and brush in a declivity beside the road. Dengesshyn resided at Fort River, near Winnipegosis.

BREAD AT SIX CENTS A LOAF AT HALIFAX

HALIFAX, N. S., Oct. 21—Reaching its lowest level here since pre-war days the price of bread today dropped to six cents a loaf retail. The reduction is attributed to a steadily falling wheat market. Consumers now are paying half the price asked a month ago for a 24-ounce loaf.

SMART, YOUNG ARE CONVICTED

TORONTO, Oct. 21—William J. Smart and Maurice E. Young, heads of the defunct brokerage firm of Homer L. Gibson company, were convicted on two of three counts against them by the jury in fall assizes here today. After four hours' deliberation, the jury found the two accused guilty of conspiracy to defraud the public and of gaming in stocks and disagreed on another charge of conspiring to affect the price of stocks.

Mr. Justice Jeffrey postponed the passing of sentence until a future date and reserved judgment until tomorrow on the application of counsel for the two accused for bail. The two men were remanded in custody until tomorrow.

ALBUQUERQUE, N. M., Oct. 21—Mrs. Keith Miller, Australian aviatrix, trying to establish a new west-east trans-continental flight record for women, arrived in Albuquerque from Winslow, Ariz, at 3:35 p.m. (E.S.T.) because of heavy fog near Aamarillo. Mrs. Miller said she might remain in Albuquerque until tomorrow.

COMMUNISTS ATTACK POLICE AND FREE PRISONER AT PORT ARTHUR; THREATEN TO LOOT STORES TODAY

PORT ARTHUR, Ont., Oct. 21.—(CP)—Every available member of the Port Arthur police force had been mobilized tonight, 30 special policemen have been sworn in, Royal Canadian Mounted police are in readiness, and emergency preparations have been made to meet further Communist disturbances in this district.

These precautionary measures were announced tonight by the authorities as a reply to disorders today in which a group of Communists assaulted Chief of Police George Taylor and a police sergeant and released a prisoner they were escorting to the cells.

After the attack upon the police officers the rioters dispersed and late tonight the leaders of the disturbance had not been located.

Meetings of Communists and unemployed were held during the day. Police learned that resolutions had been adopted at these gatherings renewing demands recently made upon the city council, concerning unemployment and relief grants. The most drastic resolution contained an ultimatum that stores would be looted unless the demands were granted.

Speakers gave warning of further demonstrations tomorrow, urging their listeners to make a show of strength against the police by holding meetings without special permits.

Chief of Police Taylor tonight described the situation as "an ugly one from which almost anything might develop."

JOHN RAYMOND, 83, STEPS ON C P R TRACKS NEAR LAKESIDE PARK DESPITE WARNING CRY

Was Walking Beside Rails and Apparently Became Startled When Train Near, Jumping in Front of Car

BODY, BADLY MANGLED, IS COMPLETELY SEVERED AT WAIST; HAND OFF AT WRIST

Bell and Whistle of Backing Train Sounded Continuously; Believe Victim Was Deaf; Was a Pensioner

Stepping onto the Caandian Pacific Railway track heedless of warning cries of two members of the yard crew on an approaching train and of whistle blasts from the engine, John Raymond, 83, of Nelson was run down Tuesday afternoon about 2 o'clock west of Lakeside park and instantly killed by the switch engine and two cars backing toward the C. P. R. shipyards. His body, which was terribly mangled, was completely severed at the waist and one hand amputated at the wrist.

Mr. Raymond was proceeding toward Nelson, presumably to his shack on the water front east of the boat building works owned by C. W. Walton, with hammer in hand, at the time of the fatal accident. He was walking clear of the tracks until the train approached quite near.

STEPPING AWAY FROM TRACKS

Frank Gustafason, section foreman, and Neil Harkness, switchman, riding on top of the end box car, noticed that the old gentleman apparently did not see the train and when it was still some distance from him, shouted to him. Failing to make him hear the first time they both hollered to him again. Raymond stepped farther from the tracks.

As the train drew within only a few car lengths he looked up, as if startled and jumped into the middle of the track.

Locomotive Engineer Gordon Allan, who had been watching the approach of the elderly man, applied the brakes and the train came to a stop almost immediately, but too late for the first car had passed over Raymond's body. During the approach the train whistled and the bell rang continuously, stated the trainmen.

PROBABLY DEAF

That the old gentleman was probably deaf and only sensed the train when it was almost upon him and became so startled that he jumped in front of the moving car, was the only explanation that could be given as to the cause of his actions.

The train included engine No. 3480, a cinder car and a box car. Previous to the accident the crew had been unloading cinders and having completed this had started for the shipyards.

The accident occurred just about mile 1.4, south of Walton's boat house. Charles Sewell, yard foreman, George Murray, fireman, and Percy Jefferys, switchman, were also on the train at the time.

Mr. Raymond, a Frenchman, was an old pioneer of this city. He was retired and living on an old age pension.

Ernest H. Evans as foreman, John Riley, William Smith, Neil Coleman, William B. Poole and Dan McDonald were sworn in yesterday afternoon as a coroner's jury to act at the inquest which opens at 1:30 this afternoon.

C.M.S. ACQUIRES RIGHTS IN LARGE AREA, S. AFRICA

APPROVE WATER SERVICE, TRAIL

WINDHOEK, Southwest Africa, Oct. 21.—Consolidated Mining & Smelting Company of Canada has acquired prospecting rights over an area of 48,000 square kilometers in southwest Africa for five years.

The area borders the concession held by the Southwest Africa company and a German corporation, both of whom produce copper, lead, silver and vanadium.

The district also contains several tin mines, whose rights will not, however, be affected.

CONFIRM FACT, TRAIL

TRAIL, B. C., Oct. 21.—Beyond confirming the report that the Consolidated Mining & Smelting company had acquired prospecting rights over large areas in southwest Africa, officials of the company here refused to give further comment on the deal. J. J. Warren, president of the Consolidated, is now en route from the coast, and is expected here Wednesday.

TWO MINUTES OF SILENCE, 11 A. M. ON NOVEMBER 11

OTTAWA, Oct. 21—(CP)—Canada will observe the customary two-minute silence on the morning of Armistice Day, Tuesday, November 11. The following statement in respect to it was issued today from the office of the prime minister—"In accordance with arrangement for the observance of Armistice Day, sanctioned by his majesty, the king, the people of Canada are invited to mark the occasion by a two-minutes' silence at 11 a.m. on Tuesday, November 11, 1930."

New German Plane Has a Tail Where Engine Should Be

BERLIN, Oct. 21—(AP)—German and foreign press representatives and a crowd of aviation fans flocked to Tempel of airport today and watched a new "backward flying" monoplane apparently chasing its tail through the clouds. Actually, it was not flying backward. It was the latest Focke-Wulf "Ente" which carries its tail where an ordinary monoplane carried its engine while its forward stabilizer protrudes 21 feet in front.

Flying near an ordinary monoplane, the new ship looked almost like its companion except that it seemed to be flying backward. Only when taxing along the field at some distance did the reason for its name "Ente" meaning duck, become apparent.

Turnkey Charged With Negligence

WINDSOR, Ont., Oct. 21—Investigation of a charge of "grave negligence of duty" laid against Ernest Hopgood, chief turnkey at the Essex county jail in Sandwich, has been ordered by the provincial secretary who has asked for reports from Governol Col. John Warden and Sheriff C. N. Anderson. Hopgood has not been suspended during the investigation, according to word received here from the office of the provincial secretary.

MOE CHARGE IS DISMISSED AFTER TWO DAY TRIAL

Crown Witnesses Admit Both Drivers Careful and Moderate

JONES PARTY SAYS MOE TURNED IN

Moe's Witnesses Say Jones Turned Out to Avoid a Rock

Trial of Oscar Moe on a charge of driving to the common danger on October 13 on the Granite road, when his car collided with and damaged that being driven by L. S. Jones of Trail, opened Monday afternoon before Stipendiary Magistrate John Cartmel and was concluded Tuesday, when the charge was dismissed.

In order to permit three defence witnesses who were elaving Tuesday morning to testify, E. G. Matthew, counsel for the defendant, was at one time going to ask for a night session, but this request was not pressed.

BOTH DRIVING CAREFULLY

E. Y. Brake and Alex. H. Cuthbert, the latter C.P.R. general brake inspector at Winnipeg, who were driving with Mr. Jones, testified that both cars were proceeding at about 12 to 15 miles an hour, the Jones car bound for Nelson, when they met near the Norcross ranch on a straight stretch. These witnesses testified that Mr. Moe seemed to turn his car inward slightly just as they met, apparently fearing he was too near the edge, with the result that they struck, the front wheel of the Jones car being taken off and the axle broken. The third prosecution witness was Alfred Farenholtz, of the Peebles Motors, who described the point at which the broken axle struck the pavement as being 6 feet, 9 inches from the inner bank.

Constable J. A. Henry, traffic officer, who prosecuted, was the final witness for the crown, taking the stand Tuesday forenoon. On cross-examination he admitted he did not feel the case was strong enough to justify a trial, and that this was the reason that Mr. Jones personally laid the information.

VISIT THE SITE

At. Mr. Matthew's suggestion, the court and parties to the suit drove out to Granite road shortly before noon to inspect the site of the accident, and particularly a curve on which the defence laid emphasis.

For the defence Mr. Moe himself and those who were in the car with him—T. C. Lennon of Midway and Mrs. Alice Jones of Edmonton—took the stand, all of them testifying that when the Jones car came around the curve, its driver at first got dangerously close to the upper bank, and then turned out to avoid a rock, this resulting in the collision.

Declaring there was some doubt in the case Magistrate Cartmel dismissed it, suggesting that the matter at issue was more one for a civil action.

TABLET UNVEILED AT COAST, MEMORY CAPT. VANCOUVER

VANCOUVER, Oct. 21—The meeting of Captain George Vancouver and the Spaniards on October 21, 1792, was commemorated this afternoon when Prof. Daniel Buchanan unveiled a bronze tablet on a cairn erected on Marine drive near the university of British Columbia. "It was dawn for Britain, but twilight for Spain," the inscription reads.

The tablet was erected by the historic sites and monuments board of Canada, which was represented by his honor Judge Howay, J. P. Hampton Bole, of the Native Sons of British Columbia acted as chairman.

REPIN REMANDED FOR EIGHT DAYS CRIMINAL CHARGE

Muffled in bandages, as a hospital convalescent, Nick Repin, Doukhobor of the Blueberry settlement, appeared Tuesday morning before Stipendiary Magistrate John Cartmel, on a charge of causing grievous bodily harm to Molly Kalesnikoff, for his preliminary hearing.

E. G. Matthew, his counsel, asked for and obtained a remand of eight days.

JUVENILES IN COURT HERE ON THEFT CHARGES

Four juveniles appeared in city police court here yesterday morning before Magistrate William Brown, on charges of theft.

The case was adjourned indefinitely.

Deaf Hear Again Through New Aid

Earpiece No Bigger Than Dime Wins Enthustiastic Following. Ten-Day Free Trail Offer

After twenty-five years devoted exclusively to the manufacture of scientific hearing-aids, the Canadian Acousticon Ltd., Dept. 220-C, 45 Richmond St., West, Toronto Ont., has just perfected a new model Acousticon that represents the greatest advance yet made in the re-creation of hearing for the deaf. This latest Acousticon is featured by a tiny earpiece no bigger than a dime. Through this device, sounds are clearly and distinctly transmitted to subnormal ears with wonderful benefit to hearing and health alike. The makers offer an absolutely free trial for 10 days to any one person who may interested, and a letter will bring one of these remarkable aids to your home for a thorough and convincing test. Send them your name and address today!

KAMLOOPS BOYS WIN

Ernest Haughton (centre) and Hilbert de Loeuw (right) of Kamloops, outmatched other entrants in the British Columbia boys' and girls' swine club annual judging competition at Colony farm, Essondale, winning the Canadian Pacific railway cup and medals as well as a free trip over the compny's lines to the Royal Winter Fair, Toronto, where the Dominion swine judging contests will be held. Haughton, 18, and de Loeuw, 16, scored a total of 520 points, leading the Armstrong team, Arthur Nash and Bill Perry, the second highest scorers, by four points. With the Kamloops boys in the above picture is George H. Baillie, assistant to the general superintendent, Canadian Pacific railway, Vancouver, who presented the cup and medals.

SNOW IS CAUSE OF TWO ACCIDENTS TO MOTORISTS IN VICINITY OF THE CITY OF FERNIE; NO ONE INJURED

E. Stokes' Car Almost Total Wreck; Three Occupants Safe

FERNIE, B. C., Oct. 21.—The first snowfall of the season to make the ground white occurred here Saturday evening. Sunday morning a covering of a half-inch still lay on the ground but during the day the sunshine and thawing weather had made most of it disappear. It was sufficient, however, to render the ground slippery and was probably accountable for two automobile accidents over the week-end.

A five-passenger open model travelling west toward Fernie neglected to take the turn onto the Elk river bridge beyond Fernie annex extension and went over the bank. It fell about 25 feet down the steep embankment and came to rest on its side just at the water's edge. There were three people in the care, none of whom was hurt. The car was driven and owned by E. Stokes of the East Kootenay Power Co., Elko.

The Midway garage was employed to retrieve the remains of the car which was done in a most unusual way with a team of horses for motive power. It was impossible to draw the car up the way it had fallen owing to the steepness and inaccessibility of the bank, so the car was dragged up-stream under the bridge where the water was relatively shallow and then pulled across the Elk, through the water, to the other side and up the opposite bank.

The car was so badly twisted as to be a total wreck except for the engine. It was impossible to see how the occupants had escaped death, let alone injury.

Neil McCallum, district road superintendent, was at Wardner Saturday night when his car got stuck and the lights went out. He sent into Fernie for a car from the garage. This car slipped off the road near Jaffray and turned upside down, reposing on its top. In the meantime Mr. McCallum got his car started and on the way home he picked up his would-be rescuers at Jaffray and brought them in to Fernie.

A NARROW ESCAPE

ELKO, B. C., Oct. 21.—Jeff Stokes, formerly operator at the local power plant of the East Kootenay Power company, and now employed by the same company at Sentinel, had a narrow escape from serious injury Saturday evening while proceeding from Sentinel to take in the board of trade dance here. Jeff had two passengers, one of whom was W. Kelly who was coming down to visit his family over the week-end. The car, an open one, skidded on the Fairy creek bridge east of Fernie and crashing through the railway landed in the water below. The three scrambled out and Jeff shut off the engine and lights still in operation. Jeff was slightly bruised and W. Kelly escaped with a slightly wrenched back while the other passenger had a few cuts.

ICE CARNIVAL PROPOSED BY TRAIL ROTARY

Will Entertain Nelson Club Soon; F. Edmunds Gives Address at Meeting

TRAIL, B. C., Oct. 21.—The Trail Rotary club at its meeting today received a letter from the Nelson Rotary accepting the invitation of the Trail club to dinner on November 10 and thanking them for the recent privilege of entertaining and hearing the C. M. & S. Glee party.

It was decided to hold a Rotary ice carnival early in the season and J. Buchanan and G. Kinnis were appointed to approach the rink management to fix a definite date. Proceeds of the carnival will go to the crippled children's fund, playgrounds and community works.

F. Edmunds addressed the meeting on the history of barbering, treating the trade from the time of the mozaics through its various stages up to modern times.

DISTILLERS FOLLOW TEMPERANCE TREND

LONDON, Eng., Oct. 21.—(By the Canadian Press)—Because of a continued decrease in the consumption of whisky, 80 distilleries affiliated to the North Scotland Malt Distillers' Association have decided to reduce their output 25 per cent. The decision was made at a recent meeting at Elgin. Many workmen already have been dismissed and farmers will suffer from a reduced demand for barley.

It is stated that is unlikely the price of whiskey to consumers will be affected. T. H. Board, a director of the Distillers Company says: "There has been a decrease in the consumption of whiskey. In 1929 it was only a third of what it was 12 years previously."

Exports have fallen by well over 2,000,000 gallons as compared with pre-war days, he states.

Only programs fit for children to hear are permitted on the radio system in Sing Sing prison, Ossining, N. Y.

TRAIL MAN FINED FOR USING PUNCH BOARD FOR PROFIT

TRAIL, B. C., Oct. 21.—Pete Barichello, pleading guilty to having a punchboard on his premises and to profiting from the sale of punches, was ordered to pay a fine of $25 and costs when he appeared before Acting Police Magistrate H. E. R. Bedford in local police court yesterday.

Although the case arose out of a statement that prizes were not awarded as stipulated, Mr. Bedford said the board was tampered with, but added that punch boards were not to be permitted in Trail, being entirely against the law. Further offences would receive stiffer sentences.

The punch board was confiscated.

BUESNEL BROS. LOSE HEAVILY IN BARN FIRE

One Horse Lost in Nakusp Fire; Two Silos Were Destroyed

NAKUSP, B. C., Oct. 21—Buesnel Brothers, whose barns were totally destroyed by fire on Sunday morning last have been very heavy losers, in spite of insurance carried. The local agent made a satisfactory adjustment.

The total equipment in the barn, and the two silos were destroyed. But the cattle and horses with the exception of one horse, which was in a shed next the hay barn, were saved.

Good work was done by the local fire brigade, and neighbors helped to erect shelters for the stock. It is hoped that the ensilage will be at least, partly usable. Buesnel Bros. had some of the best dairy farm buildings in the Arrow Lakes.

CHARLOTTETOWN, P. E. I. Oct. 21.—Mrs. E. Robertson, 65, has completed a fine achievement for a lady of her age. A patch work quilt of 2,640 pieces, log cabin design, made the tenth quilt to be sewn unaided by her this summer.

ASK BRING LANE TO BAKER STREET NEAR SHERBROOKE

Curlew Creamery Sleighs Can't Use Present in Winter

JEWELLERS WISH A CLOSING TIME

Commercial Gas Rate; Plumbing Inspection Is Criticised

D. D. Townsend, manager of the Curlew Creamery company, asked the city council Thursday night to consider giving the lane that serves the lowest block of Baker sereet at the rear, a lower outlet, so that the milk wagons, which now make their deliveries in the day time, may be loaded at the rear of the building. So long as the deliveries were at night, he stated, the wagons could be loaded in front, as at that hour the sidewalk could be blocked without interfering with traffic. He stated it would be impossible for the delivery vehicles to issue from the present lane in winter, hence the necessity for a new outlet. He suggested reopening the former private lane between the Sherbrooke hotel and the J. W. Gallagher store, as a city lane, rather than taking it down to Railway street, where a large part of it would have to be bridged over Cottonwod creek.

City Engineer B. C. Affleck stated the principal work required to realize this plan would be putting in cribbing where the lane would turn.

The proposal was referred to Mr. Affleck to report with an estimate at the fortnightly meeting next Monday.

JEWELLERS HOURS

Alderman J. P. Morgan stated that the jewellers wished to have a bylaw regulating the hours that jewellers shops may remain open, on similar line to that regulating the barber shops.

He gave notice that he would introduce such a bylaw at the next meeting.

City Electrical Engineer W. D. Fleet asked instructions with reference to one or two services that were on a flat rate, though all others of the same classes were metered.

Mr. Fleet was instructed to have meters installed in all such cases.

COMMERCIAL GAS RATE

Gas Foreman Frank Stringer stated that a restaurant-proprietor was asking for a commercial rate for gas, all such existing services for restaurants being at present on the domestic rate.

Mr. Stringer and City Clerk W. E. Wasson were appointed a committee to work out a commercial rate and report.

On recommendation of Alderman W. M. Walker, chairman of the finance committee, the grant to the Chamber of Mines of Eastern British Columbia, recently decided on, was fixed at $100.

PLUMBING BYLAW

A. Hunden, and his son, Paul, Hunden, made representations to the council that the plumbing bylaw was not being strictly enforced, and alleged that some piping visible from Ward street in the Medical Arts building now under construction did not conform to the bylaw.

City Engineer Affleck, who is the plumbing inspector, stated he had passed the work in question, and that it fully met the requirements of the bylaw. The provision specifying cleanouts at stated intervals applied to horizontal piping but not to vertical, he stated.

Mr. Stringer, who some years ago was acting building inspector, stated it had always been the practice of Nelson plumbing firms to install cleanouts under these circumstances, though he admitted the bylaw did not specify them.

Mayor R. D. Barnes said if the plumbing firms of Nelson had any suggestions to make for the improvement of the bylaw the council would be glad to receive them.

LEN HOPKINS' CASE, TRAIL, IS REMANDED

L. Hopkins Held in Jail on $2000 Bail; "Wilful Neglect Is Charge

TRAIL, B. C., Oct. 21—Leonard Hopkins appeared in city police court here this afternoon before Acting Magistrate H. E. R. Bedford on a charge of having "through wilful neglect caused harm to A. Hockley of Rossland whom he knocked down with his motor car in Tadanac yesterday. The case was remanded for seven days and Hopkins bail was set at $2000 though H. W. McInnis, his counsel, attempted to have bail lowered to $1000.

When the case appears again A. G. Cameron will prosecute.

HIPPOS ARE CAUSING AFRICAN FARMERS LOSS

PRETORIA, South Africa, Oct. 21.—(By the Canadian Press)—A small herd of hippopotami, four in number, with one calf, are doing much damage to crops between the junction of the Alifants and Wilge Rivers and the Hereford irrigation dam weir. Their activities are chiefly confined to a stretch of eight miles along the river above the weir. There are a number of deep pools in this vicinity and the herd spend some of their time in these when not raiding the crops growing in this area. Complaints from the farmers have been made to the Provincial Administration, and it is understood that a permit has been issued to the police to shoot the marauders.

Up to the present all attempts to get near the herd have failed. They are said to be extremely shy and do not often appear during the day, but wait until after dark before visiting the lands to feed.

Recently a hippo was reported to have been wandering in the vicinity of General J. B. Hertzog's farms, near the Wilge River, and it is thought this one is a member of the herd which is now destroying the crops in the surrounding district.

15 FACE CHARGES IN TRAIL COURT TODAY

TRAIL, B. C., Oct. 21.—Fifteen cases will come up in the local police court tomorrow afternoon. Most of the charges are for failing to stop at stop-owls. A few cases include vehicle operators who have been driving cars without having drivers' licences.

J. CARTMEL HEAD OF THE NELSON BADMINTON CLUB

Is Re-Elected; Mrs. E. C. Wragge Again Secretary-Treasurer

The Nelson Badminton club, meeting here last night re-elected J. Cartmel as president and Mrs. E. C. Wragge as secretary-treasurer of the club for the ensuing season. G. S. Godfrey was elected as vice-president of the club.

In addition three members were appointed to the executive committee, as follows: Mrs. H. R. Townsend, Miss M. Blackwood and J. B. Stark.

At the opening of the meeting Mr. Cartmel read the minutes of the last annual meeting and in addition the financial report which showed a balance of $65.

After considerable discussion as to what the club membership should be this year it was decided to place the limit at 60. Last year the membership numbered 49 persons of whom 11 have left the city. So far 21 new applications have been received for membership in the club.

It was decided that the membership fee would again be $10 this year including the same privileges as last year. A circular letter would be mailed members and prospective members concerning payment of club fees.

The matter of nights available for play at the junior high school could not be definitely settled but it was decided that the club should ask for playing privileges on Wednesday and Friday nights and Saturday afternoon. Previously the club had asked for Thursday night instead of Wednesday night which had been asked for by the basketball association. Interviewing the Basketball association it was found that its members were agreeable to switching nights with the club if it could be so arranged.

Mr. Cartmel thought that quite probably the club could start play at the junior high school on Saturday afternoon.

C. B. Garland moved a vote of thanks to the officers of the club last year for their services.

MEN WORKING BUT THREE DAYS PER WEEK OVER LINE

One Shift Works Three Days, Another Remaining Three, Stagg System

WASHINGTON, D. C., Oct. 21.—(By Ken Clark, Canadian Press staff writer).—The man without a job and consequently without a meal ticket, has become the immediate and pressing concern of the United States government. President Hoover today appointed Colonel Arthur Wood of New York, head of his unemployment commission and sat in at a cabinet council where ways and means of providing work for the willing and needy individual were discussed.

The method apparently most favored is the division of jobs under what is known as the stagger system. Secretary of War Patrick Hurley has already inaugurated his plan of Mississippi river projects and Secretary of Commerce Lamont indicates that it may be extended throughout government works.

The stagg system is essentially this:

A factory has 100 employees but jobs only for 50. Instead of laying off 50 men, the 100 remain on the payroll. Half of them work three days a week and the other half the other three. This is a variation of the five-day week plan advocated by Senator James Watson and by leaders of the American Federation of Labor.

The administration's program contemplates cooperation with state and municipal authorities in a further expansion of public works. So far as the federal government is concerned, it must wait until congress provides more money. It is already using nearly all its extra appropriations amounting to about $55,000,000.

$1200 IN BANK ROBBERY

MONTREAL, Oct. 21— Reports reached head office today of the Banque Canadienne Nationale to the effect that a branch at the village of Lac Frontiere, 15 miles from St. Camille, Beauce county, had been held up and robbed. About $1200 was taken.

Practically all the poultry marketed from Prince Edward Island, Manitoba, Saskatchewan, and Alberta, is now sold on government certificate of inspection issued by the Dept. of Agriculture, and the inspection work is gradually extending in Ontario, British Columbia, New Brunswick, and Nova Scotia.

BOARD OF TRADE INVITED TO COAST

Want Nelson Board Represented at Vancouver Mining Meeting

An invitation has been received by the Nelson board of trade from H. Mortimer Lamb, divisional secretary, to attend a joint meeting of the British Columbia Division of the Canadian Institute of Mining and Metallurgy, in the Hotel Vancouver, Vancouver, Thursday, November 19, and Friday, November 20.

The program will consist largely of addresses and discussions on subjects of economic interests and importance affecting the mining industries of British Columbia. It will include review of both the silver and copper situations. It is expected that the meeting will be attended by the Hon. W. A. Gordon, minister of mines for the Dominion, and other notables.

SEVEN YEARS IN JAIL FOR TRYING TO POISON WIFE

QUEBEC, Oct. 21—(CP)—Convicted of having administered poison to his wife with the intentions of cutting her life short, Henri Bussieres was today sentenced to seven years in the penitentiary by Chief Justice Sir Francois Lemieux. Mrs. Bussieres died a natural death of consumption about two months after Bussieres was seen by his mother-in-law in the act of doctoring a glass of water with mercury bichloride.

Inquest on Storm Deaths Tomorrow or Friday, East

REGINA, Sask., Oct. 21.—Although not yet definitely decided, it is likely that the inquest into the death of the five Regina men who perished in a closed car from carbon monoxide poisoning in the storm either Thursday night or early Friday morning east of the city, will be held Friday in the R.C.M.P. court, according to Coroner Denis Sweeney, M. D.

It is thought that by that date George Bell and David Whiting, only two survivors of the tragedy, who are at present regaining their health, will be sufficiently recovered to appear to give testimony.

CITY COUNCIL HERE DRAWS PROGRAM CALLING FOR $16,050 EXPENDITURE UNEMPLOYMENT RELIEF MEASURE

Ask $10,250 for Aid in Constructing Water System to Plant

WOULD BURN SLASH ON THE POWER LINE

Trafalgar School and Cedar Street Grading is Included

Civic construction projects totalling $16,050, were approved by the city council last night, for inclusion in the program to be submitted to the provincial department of public works to share in the Dominion and provincial funds for the relief of unemployment.

The projects put in were:

Bird creek water system for power plant, $10,250 if not including winter construction.

Grading Trafalgar school ground, $1300.

Burning slash from power line right-of-way, $3000.

Sewer extension, $1000.

Cedar street new grade between Vernon and Baker, $500.

This total will be wired to Victoria, with the intimation that all the details asked for, such as profiles, cross-sections, and estimates will be forwarded at an early date.

BIRD CREEK SCHEME COMPLETE

City Engineer B. C. Afflecks' report on the Bird creek water project, inclusive of concrete dam on the creek, over 6000 feet of six-inch pipe-line for both domestic and fire purposes, and hydrants about the power plant and the bunk-house and residences, gave two estimates, $10,250 if completed before winter, and $11,275 if constructed in the winter. He stated that the work could be proceeded with practically at once, including the dam, and in any event certain parts of the system must be done before next spring's rise of the Kootenay river.

The council debated briefly some difference in cost between the two-inch pipe-line which is all that would be required for a purely domestic system, and the six-inch pipe-line required for the dual purpose system, but the view expressed by Alderman J. B. Gray, that if it was built at all, it should be "built right" and embody the larger scheme prevailed.

NOT FOR PERMANENT MATERIALS

A wire from Victoria expressly pointing out that the main idea of the special funds was expenditure upon wages, but that in certain approved cases they might be expended for materials not becoming an integral part of the completed work, was a disagreeable surprise to a majority of the council. This was interpreted to mean, for instance, that the pipe used on the Bird creek project would not be allowed to share in the provincial and Dominion grants, though the work on the ditch and in laying the pipe would, and that while the cement used for the concrete dam would be ruled out, the lumber used for concrete forms or for cofferdam construction would be admitted. Even on these term, the city will be getting the new facility so cheaply that Mayor R. D. Barnes said he could not conceive of any property-owner failing to support the bylaw that will be needed to provide the money for the various works decided on.

MANY OTHERS SUGGESTED

Numerous other projects than those placed in the official list were propounded, Alderman J. B. Morgan, chairman of the public works committee, strongly urging that the opportunity be seized to do street construction, especially as this class of work is nearly all a matter of manual labor, and would thus get the full grants.

Alderman J. B. Gray suggested that the project of improving the corner of Baker and Cedar streets, for which $6200 was put in the 1929 estimates, be proceeded with, as the gas mains had been lowered in anticipation of this, and the improvement would cut out two corners from the present route between the hospital and Baker street. City Engineer Affleck, while admitting that this improvement was his own suggestion, expressed the belief it was impractic[illegible] at this time because it would involve exposing the water mains for a considerable time before lowering them, and this might result in their freezing.

The council decided to make a start on this improvement on the new Cedar street grade that will be necessary when the Baker corner is widened to 24 feet clearance.

OTHER SUGGESTIONS

Alderman Morgan suggested completing Hall street past Trafalgar school through to Robson street. Mr. Affleck said this could be done by the caterpillar.

Another work he proposed as suitable was the cribbing of the Recreation grounds, which it is conceded must be done at an early date.

Improvement of Innes street was another suggestion from the public works chairman.

Work on the sewer near the Forest Mills site was suggested by Alderman W. R. Campion.

In the end it was agreed that Nelson should submit a moderate program, which would probably be accepted in toto, in preference to running it up to large figures.

DEFENDANT MAY PAY FINE AND STILL APPEAL

Judge Nisbet Rules He Has Jurisdiction in Talbot Case

CROWN CONTENDED RIGHT WAS LOST

Conviction of Road Engineer by Trail Magistrate Is Upset

That it is not necessary for a defendant who is convicted and fined, to refuse payment of the fine and to go to jail in order to enjoy his right of appeal, is the intent of a written judgment handed down here by his honor, Judge W. A. Nisbet, Monday, when he held that W. A. Talbot, a provincial highway engineer on the Trail-Rossland highway, did not lose his right of appeal though he paid his fine in a case tried in Trail last summer. His judgment upset the conviction by Acting Police Magistrate H. E. R. Bedford on July 14, on a charge of driving to the common danger.

CROWN OBJECTED

An "arguable" opinion apparently entertained by three judges of the British Columbia court of appeal, and voiced incidentally in a decision rendered in 1928 on an appeal from the Boundary, that payment of a fine under any circumstances whatever constitutes acceptance of judgment and leaves the defendant without right of appeal, was made the basis of an objection by R. J. Clegg, Trail city solicitor and crown counsel in the case, to the appeal being heard, when the case came up before his honor at Rossland sitting in criminal court, September 16, for re-trial. E. G. Matthew of Nelson, who appealed the original judgment as counsel for the defendant, argued against this position.

His honor reserved his decision on the objection, and tried the case, in which the crown called 10 witnesses to support the charge.

In his present judgment Judge Nisbet points out that if the views the members of the court of appeal expressed in the decision on the Boundary appeal become binding, it will reverse what has hitherto been the practice in the courts of the province. Inasmuch as the judgment of their lordships was not reported and no reasons were given for it in the law reports, he does not consider it of help to the courts below, and he therefore finds accordance with a previous finding by himself, and one by Judge Swanson of Kamloops, that the right of appeal was not lost by Talbot, and that he had jurisdiction to hear the appeal.

WRITTEN JUDGMENT

In his reasons for judgment, his honor says:

This is an appeal from a conviction of the appellant by the stipendiary magistrate at Trail for driving to the common danger, contrary to the provisions of the Motor Vehicles act and under which a fine of $10 was imposed.

On the hearing of the appeal in Rossland Mr. Clegg took objection to the jurisdiction of the court to hear the appeal on two grounds, viz:

1. That the convicting magistrate did not fix any amount which "he deemed sufficient to cover the costs of the appeal".

2. That the appellant paid the $10 adjudged to be paid, as the fine imposed, and not as a deposit with the magistrate of an amount "sufficient to cover the sum adjudged to be paid together with such further amount as such justice deemed sufficient to cover the costs of the appeal".

RULES AMOUNT FIXED

I refused to allow the first objection at the hearing after both the appellant and the magistrate had given evidence as to what had taken place with reference to the fixing of the amount. I felt that, under the special circumstances, the appellant had a better recollection of what had taken place than had the magistrate and I accepted his version of the facts.

As to the second objection, at the request of crown counsel I reserved my decision and proceeded with the hearing of evidence. After hearing very contradictory accounts of the cause of the accident in question and after taking a view of the "locus in quo", I came to the conclusion that if I should decide that I had jurisdiction to hear the appeal, I would set aside the conviction.

The sum of $10 which was the amount of the fine imposed by the magistrate, was paid by the appellant to the magistrate at the time of the hearing "under protest and without waiving any of his rights as to an appeal". The next day or the day following, "the amount which he deemed sufficient to cover the costs of the appeal" was fixed by the magistrate at $10 (which appears to me to be excessive), and was paid by the appellant at the request of the magistrate to the registrar of the county court at Rossland.

TWICE DECIDED BEFORE

On these facts I was of the opinion, at the hearing, that the second objection was not tenable as the point had already been decided against the crown's contention by myself in the case of Rex vs. Lee Kamway (1920 52 C. C. C. 188) and by his honor Judge Swanson in the case of Rex. vs. McGill (1929 52 C. C. C. 141).

Mr. Clegg however, contended that the point had been considered by the court of appeal in a case which had been heard and decided prior to these two decisions, in which it had been held (in effect) that a person convicted by a magistrate loses his right of appeal by paying the fine imposed, either with or without protest, and that, by reason of this decision of the court of appeal, the two decisions in the county court could not be considered as good law.

COURT OF APPEAL DECISION

The case in the court of appeal is: Rex. vs. Sutherland, decid[illegible] on the 4th of July, 1928 and is apparently not reported in any of the reports. I have been furnished with a stenographer's transcript of the oarl judgment of the court Macdonald C. J. A., Martin and Galliher J. J. A.) delivered at the hearing. It was an appeal, by the crown, from a judgment of his honor Judge Brown allowing an appeal from a conviction by a police magistrate. The crown objected to the allowance of the appeal by the county court judge on the ground that no deposit had been made by the appellant as required by section 78 (c) of the Summary Convictions act.

The facts as found by the county court judge were: "the accused was arrested and later released on cash bail of $300 paid by her alleged employer, one Wessell. After the accused had been convicted by the magistrate this cash bail of $300, the same amount as the fine, was converted into payment of the fine, the fine being paid under protest to the magistrate. The magistrate, Sergeant Gammon, on behalf of the crown, Mr. McKinnes, on behalf of the accused, and Wessel, who first paid it, consented to the $300 being so treated. Subsequently the magistrate fixed $50 as the amount required to cover the costs of appeal, and this was duly deposited with him and remitted by him to the county court registry. However, instead of remitting the fine to the country court registry he paid it into the treasury of the city of Rossland."

REGARD FINE AS PAID

At another and later place in his judgment, the county court judge said in regard to the payment of the deposit, "She chose the last mentioned (that is, in Section 78 of the act) that is, to deposit with the justice making the conviction or order an amount sufficient to cover the sum so adjudged to be paid together with such further sum as such justice deemed sufficient to cover the cost of appeal. The sum adjudged to be paid surely means the fine. The accused deposited this with the justice as herein before set out. The $50 fixed to cover the costs of appeal was paid and was in court. I think there was sufficient compliance with the statute."

Martin and Galliher J. J. A. held that the onus was on the crown to show that the $300 was paid as a fine and not as a deposit, and that if it were paid as a fine it made no difference whether it were paid with or without protest. (Martin J. A. said: "Fines cannot be paid that way.")

HIGHER COURT FINDS CROWN FAILED

They preferred, however, to accept the conclusion of the law in the remarks of Brown C. C. J. lastly above quoted rather than the finding of facts in the first quoted extract, and hold that the crown had not shown that the $300 in court was not a deposit and that there had been a material as well as a substantial compliance with the statute. Macdonald C. J. A., who dissented, held that it was clear that the $300 had been paid as a fine, and said: "It seems to me that that settles it beyond all question."

The result was that the decision of Brown C. C. J. was upheld, but it is no doubt arguable that the inference to be drawn from the reasons for judgment of all three appellate judges is that they are of the opinion that payment of the amount of the fine "by a convicted person", with or without protest, deprives him of his right of appeal.

WOULD REVERSE PRACTICE

This, it seems to me, would be rather a surprising reversal of the practice with reference to appeals from summary convictions that has been in vogue in this province (and others where similar statutes are in force) for many years back. If the court of appeal had intended this to be the result of its decision it is rather curious that the case has not yet appeared in any of the reports and had not been brought to the attention of crown counsel in either of the cases decided a year later by myself and Judge Swanson. It seems to me that if the court of appeal intends to effect such a drastic change in procedure which would have the effect in most cases of compelling a convicted person to remain in gaol until his appeal papers could be completed and of practically depriving him of his right to a 10-day time limit within which to appeal, it will give its reasons for so holding in a formal judgment which will be brought to the attention of the lower courts and the profession in the usual way.

However, so far as the present appeal before me is concerned, I will make a finding similar to the one made by Brown C. C. J. in the Sutherland case. The appellant Talbot chose the alternative mentioned in Subsection C of Section 27 of the Summary Convictions act; that is, he deposited with the justice making the conviction an amount sufficient to cover the sum adjudged to be paid together with the further sum which such justice deemed sufficient to cover the costs of the appeal, and I am of the opinion that there was a substantial compliance with the act.

I allow the appeal and set aside the conviction.

GYROS TO SING BUCHAN VERSION O CANADA NOW

Hear About Trip to Spokane; To Attend Dr. Smyth's Funeral

The Nelson Gyro club at its meeting here on Monday night moved a resolution favoring the Buchan version of O Canada to be sung in all Canadian Gyro clubs in Gyro district No. 8.

During the business session it was decided that the Gyros should attend en masse the funeral of Dr. E. G. Smythe, who was a charter member of the club.

Concluding the meeting the club heard J. Cartmel, J. B. Gray and E. L. Buchanan report on the trip of the Gyros to the banquet tendered by the Spokane club last Saturday.

Mr. Cartmel stated that one of the high lights on the days program was the Gonzaga versus W. S. C. football game. The banquet at night was also an interesting event.

President R. E. Crerar made his first official visit to the Spokane club as governor of Gyro District No. 8 last Saturday.

CHAPTER ELEVEN

The Alfred Farnsworths motored south on their wedding trip.

For just a moment Cathie had been disappointed. She had had an idea they might be going to Honolulu. She had always dreamed about going somewhere on a ship. But Mr. Farnsworth said that he wasn't a very good sailor and besides he could not stay away from business so long.

Motoring south was very different from what Cathie had thought it would be. Once she went to Los Angeles with the Whites. It had not been very much fun because she and Addie White and the White's old dog, Toby, had been crowded into the back seat with all the suitcases, and Addie was very car-sick. They had punctures in all the hottest places, and they never arrived at a town at dinner time, or evening.

Mr. Farsworth's chauffeur, however, did things very differently. When they were hungry there was always a wayside inn just ahead. When they were tired, and ready to stop for the night, there was a big hotel, and a palatial suite of rooms already engaged.

Gloriously Happy

Hotel maids unpacked Cathie's things, turned down her bed, carried away soiled garments and brought them back in the morning mysteriously laundered, or sponged and pressed. It was all very exhilerating and charming.

"Happy?" Mr. Farnsworth asked.

"Oh, gloriously!"

"That was on the second or third day of the trip, when they were staying at the big hotel at Santa Barbara. And indeed she did look gloriously happy, with her eager little face alight with pleased anticipation, and her bright hair shimmering, and rumpled, as she pulled off the dark green hat.

"You have made me very happy," he said. He lifted the small hand on which the immense solitaire blazed, and kissed it, gently.

Something . . . a last fear, a last stiff self-consciousness in Cathie melted. He was so humble, so grateful to her, as if he were always trying to thank her for having married him, and not knowing just how to do it. With a sudden warm gesture she drew her hand away, flung both arms about his neck and clung to him. "No! You've made me happy!" she cried.

She was hugging him tightly, her cool, fresh cheek close to his.

Age Realized

"My dear child, I hope so . . . You . . . you ARE happy?"

"Happy? Of course! Why shouldn't I be? Haven't I got everything in the world to make me happy?"

"Have you?"

He was looking at her so strangely, so sadly, that Cathie's blue eyes filled. She looked away in confusion. She realized, for the first time, that Mr. Farnsworth was old.

After she realized that—that he was sensitive about his age, and that he got tired easily, and didn't want to go for walks or swim Cathie stopped suggesting it.

"Now you don't want to tire yourself out, dear. You know I brought you here for a rest. The first real one you've ever had, poor child!" he said every time she wanted to do something strenuous, and now she knew that it was really because he wanted to rest.

But it was hard, because they were always meeting people who wanted to include them on golf foresomes, riding trips, or swimming parties. So they played bridge instead, and in the evenings they danced. Mr. Farnsworth danced very well, in a rather stiff old-fashioned way. Cathie adored dressing in her new, lovely clothes, coming down to the dining room with her husband, and being presented to people as Mrs. Farnsworth.

She got used to her new name very quickly. She could always remember that she was Catherine Farnsworth, but it was hard to call Mr. Farnsworth Alfred.

Awkward Names

Alfred! It was such a hard name to say, and Al was utterly out of the question. The pet names that had always rushed to her lips for her mother, for Jean, for every puppy and kitten that had ever come her way, failed her now. He called her Catherine, and she called him nothing at all except when she had to call him something, and then she gulped and said "Alfred," and felt self-conscious, except when she said "Dear" and then she felt more self-conscious than ever. In her heart of hearts she would always be Mr. Farnsworth to her, no matter how much she grew to care for him, and how much she ached to think of him as anything else.

And it was hardest of all, after the first few days of their honeymoon were over to remember that this had not always been her life. Maids, attentive waiters, motors expensive hotels. A litter of fragrant creams and powders on her dressing table. Her gold-fitted bag. Her cobweb-fine silk stockings that she wasn't even expected to darn. All the lovely things that it had seemed she could never get used to, became part of her so soon. Why, it seemed years ago that she had sniffed at the jar of rose bath salts that she was saving for her wedding day, not letting herself use even a handful. . .

"I'm getting spoiled!" she told herself, a little frightened. But it was impossible to worry about her faults when Mr. Farnsworth so obviously thought she was perfect.

Enchanted Places

Santa Barbara, Hollywood, Santa Monica, Coronado, Agua Caliente, a glimpse of Mexico; Pasadena, Santa Maria, Monterey, Carmel and Del Monte.

Enchanted names. Enchanted places. Cathie would have liked it to last forever. The big blue car was almost a personal possession now, familiar and comfortable, like an old shoe. Even Everett, the chauffeur, was part of Cathie's world. She no longer minded his back, and wondered if he was listening to what they were saying in the luxuriously upholstered back seat.

Dandruff Crust Quickly Dissolved

One after another, a million men and women have made this discovery; that this simple method does dissolve the crust of dandruff; puts the scalp in the pink of condition; makes hair soft, lustrous, thick and vigorous.

Get a bottle of "Danderine" from your drug or toilet counter today. Put a little on your brush each time you dress your hair. Penetrating to the head, its soothing aid soon has an itching, feverish scalp cool, comfortable, healthy. The crust of dandruff simply melts away.

Dandruff is unsightly. It is the cause of grayness, baldness, dry, brittle, dull hair. When the scalp is freed from this irritating scurf, Danderine soon has the hair back in condition; soft, glossy, thick, vigorous and youthful looking.

Start on Danderine today and end hair worries. A thirty-five cent bottle will demonstrate its merit!

A Question of Race Prejudice

DEAR MISS FAIRFAX:

I am nineteen years old and have always looked up to my parents as having brought me up in a truly upright though not too old-fashioned way. I have always considered them broad-minded in most respects until recently. About a year ago I met a young man who seems to be desirable in every way, but my parents will not allow me to go out with him because of his race. Thinking perhaps nothing against the young man personally, for they do not know him, but condemn him because of his race. Thinking perhaps that they might change their ideas and judge him for himself and not by his race, I suggested that he come to our home. But they wouldn't receive him.

I am at my wits' end to know what to do for I care a lot for this young man and know he does for me. I do not want to go against my parents' wishes and do not want to lose him.

B. H.

ANSWER: If the young man is of different nationality, there is no legal bar to your marriage. But your letter which is too long to print, speaks of "race prejudice" and again of "nationality". If you mean that the young man is of Asiatic or negro descent such a marriage is forbidden by law in certain western and southern states. If however, you mean that he is of the Caucasian race, and of European descent, there is no bar to your marrying him. You've just got to talk your parents around, and let the young man prove that he will make you a desirable husband. I shouldn't be in a hurry to rush things, under the circumstances, it will be two years before you are legally of age why not wait till then to make your decision?

Young Housekeeper: "How is an eggplant stuffed and baked?"

Answer—Baked, Stuffed Eggplant: First, peel your eggplant, then cut out a piece at the top and scoup out the center, thus removing seeds. Now fill the cavity with a regular Roast Duck Stuffing, made as follows: To one and three-quarters cups of breadcrumbs add one-fourth cup of uncooked diced celery, one-half teaspoon of salt, one teaspoon of finely minced raw onion, one-fourth to one-half teaspoon of "Poultry Seasoning" (chiefly sage) and enough hot water to form top, put in a pan containing a little hot water and melted butter, and bake in a hot oven, at 400 degrees F., basting several times with one tablespoon of butter melted in one cup of hot water; after each basting dredge with flour. Serve as soon as the shell is tender and the dressing well cooked (about one hour of baking.)

Little Girl: "My kitten has fleas. Shall I try to wash her in soapy water?"

Answer: No, I would not give kitty a bath. She would surely scratch you. A better way of getting rid of the fleas is to go to a drugstore and buy a bottle of powder to rub onto her fur. All drugstores carry such powder. I cannot mention trade names (for that is advertising), but just ask for a flea powder. You see, fleas have no lungs; they breathe through tubes distributed throughout their bodies; and when the flea-powder fills up these body-tubes, the fleas become paralyzed, and drop off the cat. Get an older person to help hold the kitten while you rub this powder well into her ful, all ove rpaws nose and ears, too. You will soon see the fleas leave the fur or fall onto the paper, which you should use under the cat during this process. I would also suggest giving your kitten this treatment out of doors. Repeat it every few days till all fleas are gone.

POPULAR MISS BECOMES BRIDE AT CRANBROOK

Phyllis Small Becomes Mrs. Arvard Thuneas in Pretty Ceremony

CRANBROOK, B. C., Oct. 21.—A wedding of widespread interest in Cranbrook and Kimberley was solemnized on Saturday morning at 8:30 in the Anglican church when Phyllis, second daughter of Mr. and Mrs. E. H. Small of Cranbrook, was united in marriage to Arvard Thuneas of Kimberley, son of Professor Thuneas of one of the Norwegian universities and Mrs. Thuneas, the Rev. F. V. Harrison officiating.

The bride, who had chosen an ensemble of green tweed with matching hat and bag for the ceremony, was attended by Miss Janet MacKay of Kimberley. Paul Elliott of Kimberley supported the groom.

Immediately after the ceremony, at which only immediate relatives were present, the newly united couple and guests repaired to the home of Mr. and Mrs. McGovern of Kimberley where a wedding breakfast was served. Following this Mr. and Mrs. Thuneas left by motor for Calgary, where the honeymoon will be spent.

The bride, who was born in Cranbrook and is well known and popular in the district, has been for some years an employee in the offices of the Consolidated Mining and Smelting company. Several affairs have been given in her honor during the past fortnight, among them being a shower by Mrs. Lindsay and Miss Janet MacKay of Kimberley, a shower by Mrs. Scott and Mrs. Sang of Cranbrook and an evening of bridge by the Misses Baxter of Cranbrook.

Mr. Thuneas has been for several years a resident of Kimberley, having charge of the chemical department at the concentrator of the Consolidated Mining and Smelting company and being well known in every form of sport in the mining city.

On their return from their honeymoon Mr. and Mrs. Thuneas will reside in a house which Mr. Thuneas has recently purchased in Chapman Camp.

Mrs. G. C. Martin Is Honored by W. A. at Nakusp Function

GLENBANK, Nakusp, B. C., Oct. 21—Mrs. G. C. Martin was the recipient of a case of table knives at the meeting of the Woman's Auxiliary of the Anglican Church held at the home of the president, Mrs. Ralph Lalip. After the usual routine of business was dispensed with, the presentation was made, Mrs. Martin responding gracefully. Dainty refreshments were served and a social hour spent.

Marriage—at 20

By BEATRICE FAIRFAX
An Authority on Problems of Love and Marriage

"Marry in haste, repent at leisure," as the maxim has it. And it's apt to sound preachy, stupid and unsympathetic to young things deeply in love and considering marriage.

Within the past ten days it just happens that I've had several letters from girls asking my advice about marrying boys of 20. "Don't", spoken with all the emphasis it's possible to summon, is my answer. And, let me add a postscript, unless these young men have inherited fortunes what's going to keep the pot boiling?

A girl may say she'll keep on with her job, which is a very plucky thing to do, if they're both old enough to know their own minds —but these days, at twenty, minds are apt to be adventurous things.

To marry a youth of 20 today is a good deal like being the boy's latest fancy in the toy shop window —. Just run over in your mind the list of toys that have delighted boy children, beginning with the rubber teething ring with a rattle on the other end—then comes the indestructible doll, the choo-choo cars, the express wagons, "alleys", tops, roller skates, a second-hand automobile, perhaps—and now he thinks he'd like YOU.

Be wise, my dear girl, and give the young man a few more years for his fancies to settle—do not, as you value your happiness and his, fill the place in his imagination right after roller skates and the first second-hand automobile.

I'll agree for the sake of argument that your grandmother, like mine, married a youth of twenty and "lived happily ever after". And daguerrotypes still extant show a happy looking old couple—but those were the days when a dollar was a hundred cents and every penny had its purchasing power.

The bride of those days had never heard of an automobile, a radio, a moving picture, a beauty parlor or a vacation. Housekeeping meant spinning, weaving, cooking, sewing, mending—and maybe washing, ironing. It meant nursing babies when they were sick and minding them when they were well.

Those women did more in a day than we, their descendants, could do in a week; they wore out more quickly and looked old at forty. Sometimes they survived, sometimes they didn't; then grandpa married someone else, who did all his first wife did and often brought up a family of her own into the bargain.

Walk through an old churchyard some day, read the inscriptions on the head stones and you'll see that grandpa often "buried" two or three wives before he drew his own headstone. Old church yards are very illuminating:

Grandma had no other career than marriage open to her—if she failed to secure a husband, she was a failure indeed. So she accepted grandpa and all the terribly hard work that went with having "a home of her own".

Life was no bed of roses to grandpa, either. What with running the farm, looking after the stock, doing a little teaming on the side and always keeping his eyes on that ever "chancy" dollar that had to be wrung from the soil, grandpa had little time to let his eyes rove to grandma's girl friends or other ladies.

In those days, grandpa was a stern realist at 20—but, today, his grandson, at the same age, is apt to be visionary—his mind a collection of floating fancies—better give them time to set.

The Beauty Box

By Helen Follett

Glimpsed in the window of a fashionable hairdresser's shop: a new coiffure with a parting only two inches above the left ear, the topmost portion of the glorious portion of the glorious crest being arranged across the front of and over the right ear. Little old orphan left ear was out in the cold. The rear arrangement was waved, finishing with turned up ends that formed a puff across the nape of the neck. Tres chic. And expensive since the professional must design it anew each time if it is to be perfect.

Pretty lips should not be tensed or relaxed. Held tightly to the teeth in a "prunes and prisms" pose they gather fine up-and-down wrinkles which extend to the white flesh of the upper lip. Relaxation imparts an appearance of stupidity, gradually widens and thickens the lips, due to the fact that muscles get lazy and don't care. The mouth is pretty much what we make it, its beauty being dependent, not only on contour and lip coloring, but upon expression.

When finger nails break, they need a nightly oil bath. Dip them in olive oil that has been heated; cover each nail with a thimble-cap of absorbent cotton. More calcium foods will help. Drink milk and orange juice. Eat green vegetables. Have green salad at least once a day. Meat and eggs are necessary if one is to have a balanced diet.

To some topnots the marcel or water wave is not becoming, giving a too settled, middle-aged look. Certain faces demand the fluffier coiffure —which forms a more bouffant frame. There is an inclination toward coiffures that are less like varnished surfaces and more like human fur in its more natural form.

Strong alkaline soaps are injurious to the skin because they set up a state of desquamation, a fluffing off of the outer cuticle which goes on too rapidly, leaving a surface that is tender. It is high time now to have the hand lotion standing on the bathroom shelf.

Tooth decay is caused by germs

Germs must be removed twice daily

Film is found by dental research to play an important part in tooth decay.

WHAT causes decay? Germs. Germs and tartar are a contributory cause of many other dental troubles.

Germs on teeth—and there are millions of them—are difficult to reach. A dingy, glue-like film envelops them and holds them in constant contact with the tooth.

Film gets into crevices and remains. It clings so stubbornly that brushing alone cannot dislodge film completely. So Pepsodent was developed after years of laboratory study and experiment. The moment you use it you will notice the difference by the way it feels. It seems to "take hold" instead of slipping over film ineffectively.

Pepsodent removes film with complete safety to the enamel. No pumice, no harmful grit, no crude abrasives. But a creamy paste so gentle that it is recommended for children's teeth. There is only one Pepsodent. Its protection is unique.

Use Pepsodent twice a day. See your dentist at least twice a year.

NEW CATHOLIC PLACE OF WORSHIP IS CHRISTENED "SACRED HEART CHURCH" IN DEDICATION HELD, SOUTH SLOCAN

Most Rev. W. M. Duke D. D. Coajutor Archbishop Officiates

SOUTH SLOCAN, B. C., Oct. 21—The newly erected Catholic church at South Slocan was this morning dedicated and named "The Sacred Heart Church" by the Most Rev. W. M. Duke, D.D., coadjutor archbishop of Vancouver.

The church is a frame structure 20 feet by 40 feet with vestibule and sacristy.

The interior is beautifully finished in cream and veneer panelling. It is completely furnished in every respect, and was built by the pastor, Rev. S. T. Finnegan, assisted by the parishoners.

Solemn high mass was celebrated by Right Rev. A. K. MacIntyre, V.G. of Rossland, assisted by Rev. J. C. McKenzie of Nelson as deacon and Rev. Leo Hobson of Trail as subdeacon. Rev. S. T. Finnegan acted as master of ceremonies.

The choir under the leadership of L. H. Choquette of Nelson sang the Second Tone mass with H. Bourgeois as soloist.

At the conclusion of the mass His Grace Archbishop Duke, D.D., administered the sacrament of confirmation. He also gave a short congratulatory address to the pastor and the congregation. Father Finnegan in his address, expressed his gratitude to the visiting clergy and to the congregation who filled the church, for their indefatiguable assistance in building the church and making this occasion the dedication and consecration of the church a day of joy and thanksgiving.

Rev. John Collin, C.S.S.R. of Vancouver, who is conducting a mission here during the week end, attended.

Mr. and Mrs D. H. Choque Mrs. Leo McKinnon, Mrs. Mur Miss Theodora Rhodes of Ne were visitors here for the ded tion of The Sacred Heart chu

Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Jack and Miss Kathrine Healy of Tr also attended the dedication se vices.

Keep the Canadian Dollar at Home

Prosperity week has come and has passed on. Because Prosperity week is a thing of the past is no reason why the people of the Kootenay district, of British Columbia or of Canada should not buy at home. Prosperity week promoted the sale of made-in-Canada goods and many of the womenfolk of the Dominion got behind the movement which made the Canadian dollar do its work at home.

When a Kootenay householder buys an article that was made in the Kootenay, the dollar he pays for it travels around in a small circle and passes again through his hands in a relatively short time. When he buys an article made in British Columbia the circle becomes wider, but the money stays in British Columbia. When he buys an article produced elsewhere in Canada the circle widens all the more, the money passes through more hands before it returns.

BUT WHEN A PERSON BUYS AN ARTICLE OUTSIDE CANADA THE DOLLAR IS LOST PROBABLY NEVER TO RETURN.

This buy-at-home spirit should not be an effort for Canadian one week alone. It should prevail week in and week out. Who can do this? The women of the Dominion can really make prosperity in Canada. The women in British Columbia can make prosperity for this province, and the women of the Kootenays can make prosperity for the district.

How can this be done? The answer lies in a glance over the pantry shelves of any home. It is the duty of every woman who belives in her community to buy made-at-home goods first. If none is available, buy the product manufactured nearest home, and then if necessary, buy goods made in Canada. But keep that Canadian dollar at home.

The purchase of Canadian goods means the expansion of Canadian industry. The expansion of industry in the Dominion means the creation of more jobs for Canadians

Upon the womenfolk of today in Canada depends the future of the youngerfolk in their care By their actions can they assure their sons and daughters of jobs in Canada.

To assure prosperity in our community buy at home and help the legitimate growth of your city. Your city gives you your own living, and you owe it to yourself and yours to work for the growth and advancement of the city you call your own by buying at home.

Prosperity week is over but the lesson derived from this movement gives every Canadian an opportunity to make this Canada of ours a better place in which to live.

Nelson's Request for Winter Work

Following is Nelson's program of winter work which is being forwarded to Victoria for recognition under the government unemployment aid scheme.

Bird Creek water system for power plant, $10,250 if not including winter construction.

Grading Trafalgar school grounds, $1300.

Burning slash from power line right-of-way, $3000.

Sewer extension, $1,000.

Cedar street new grade between Vernon and Baker, $500.

The above program will mean the expenditure of $16050.

It is not a large request that Nelson is making when compared with some of the requests going to the government from other localities in the province.

Nelson might have asked for a far larger appropiration. The city might have gone into the Grohman creek water supply construction project. It could have outlined vast program of street work. However, the council believes it is doing its duty in keeping the amount requested down to the minimum and covering only urgently needed work.

It is likely that Nelson will receive its unemployment appropriation in full while many centres asking for larger sums for unemployment relief may have the misfortune of seeing their appropriations pruned down some.

Although small, the sum requested by the city will give employment to a large number of workers who might otherwise be out of employment this winter.

Well the Bluenose went down to defeat. Coming on top of Sir Thomas Lipton's latest defeat one wonders if the United States should not get up a cricket team and go after the title. But few titles remain out of the States today.

Clearing of the right of way for the Nelson city power line from Bonnington is about completed. Citizens can now rest assured of a "bright," cheery Christmas eve.

It will be tough when some of Trail and Nelson's star rugby players start at basketball. Although a forward pass is okay in the hoop sport you cannot buck the line.

Wynndel evidently gave someone the "Razzberry" this summer. This little settlement shipped 2522 crates of raspberries in the season just over.

No one can say that the Nelson huntsmen who returned with two fine deer after a short hunting trip had "buck fever".

AUNT HET

"If women like Emmie take all the jobs, where do they think the men are goin' to earn money enough to get married on?

The Lighter Side

"Some" Lad

The boy entered the office briskly, removed his hat and turned to the manager.

"I understand you require a boy, sir?" he said.

"What sort of a place do you want?" asked the manager.

"One where there is as little work and as much pay as the firm can stand."

"Do you expect to get the kind of a job you want?"

"No, sir; nobody gets exactly what he wants, but it doesn't hurt him to expect a good deal."

"What wages do you think you should have?"

"Thirty shillings a week."

"The other boys have been paid only a pound."

"How many boys did you have last year?"

"Nine or ten."

"I thought so," said the boy. "That's the kind of a boy you get for a pound. I'm not that kind. I came to hang up my hat and stay."

"But suppose we should dismiss you?"

"I'd be glad of it, sir. If a firm isn't satisfied with the right kind of of boy it isn't the right kind of firm for the right kind of boy to be in."

"Well," said the manager, "hang up your hat and consider yourself engaged."

"Those flyers were prepared, Ann, for anything. They even had a device for retrieving moisture from the breath."
"Say, Fred, don't you try it. Distilleries are unlawful."

That Body of Yours

SITTING IN SCHOOL

When I think of my early days in school where I had to sit with my arms folded or placed behind my back while the teacher taught the lesson, I often wonder that there were not more rebellious amongst us than there were.

To sit 15 to 20 imnutes in one position may have taught self-control, but was not really good sense, not good health training.

I'm not advocating that children should sit in a slouchy attitude and prop themselves up by their arms, but to make children sit in one position for minutes at a time was not fair to their mental or physical growth.

For after all children are like other small animals; they like to move about, to be inquisitive about things, to shout, sing stretch themselves and so forth. I believe that youngsters between 7 and 10 years of age should be given a chance to move or stretch every 10 minutes. This could be done by having them get up from their seats. This would give a change of blood "from the brain and permit that moving or stretching of the arms, legs, and body, that every young animal needs.

There may be difficulties about this, the noise might interfere with work in other rooms below or adjoining. In such cases getting the youngster up in the aisle, and giving a few stretching and bending exercises could be done easily and quietly.

This is all the more necessary now as the playground adjoining schools do not give the 100 square feet per pupil that is required. Further at recess and after school the youngsters that really play are the ones who need it least. The children that really need the play, sit or stand around and watch the others.

Many teachers organize group games in which "every" youngster takes part because no high degree of skill is necessary. But again this is not general throughout the country.

My thought then is that if the youngster is normal he'll want to move his arms and legs every ten minutes, and if he isn't he should be made to do it anyway.

The brain will be clearer, the circulation improved, and more real mental work done in the succeeding ten minutes than if no change of position had been given.

King Disliked the Kaiser

The amazing story that King Edward, when Prince of Wales, ate breakfast for six hours at Cowes, during the Kaiser's visit in 1893, is forthcoming from the diary of the late Prince Eulenburg, for years an intimate of the Kaiser and at one time German Ambassador in Vienna.

Eulenburg also comments on King Edward's "deep animosity" against the Kaiser, and reports a remarkable conversation.

The diary is quoted in an English translation of Johannes Haller's "Philip Eulenburg, the Kaiser's Friend", made by Ethel Colburn Mayne.

It was at the time of the sudden crisis between England and France over Siam while Lord Rosebery was Prime Minister.

During a dinner given by the Prince of Wales on July 30," it is said, "there unexpectedly arrived the Queen's secretary with the news, which fell like a thunderbolt among the company, that France was apparently threatening war with England."

The Kaiser was greatly upset. When he returned to his own steam yacht, Hohenzollern, "he took me into his cabin," says Eulenburg, "and completely broke down."

THE EPILOGUE

He apparently thought there was going to be a flare-up in which Germany would have no share.

"All Germany's prestige was gone," Eulenburg reports him as saying, "if we could not take a prominent part, and not be a world power was to cut a deplorable figure . . .

"There was an epilogue next day. The Emperor would not let any one else take charge of the race with the Prince of Wales' yacht. He devoted himself exclusively to the steering and management of the craft, and left conversation with his uncle entirely to his friends.

"The Emperor stayed on deck the whole time, and as Wales went on breakfasting steadily from ten till four, I had to sit tete-a-tete with him for hours on end.

"I learnt to know him thoroughly —a capable, amiable, but very crafty man, with a remarkably sinister look in his eyes—not our friend."

The German navy was mentioned, and King Edward said to Eulenburg: "It is all very well for my nephew to be interested in ships. But when one sees him with his disabled arm, going on as he now is doing on deck, one can't help being a little afraid he may do himself some damage.

"This remark," comments Eulenburg, "was no less subtle than malicious, and his look was more malicious still."

Bitlis, Turkey.—Zargo Aga's playmate, wants to join his old friend in America.

Timo Aga is a Kurd like Zaro and like Zaro, was born in Bitlis, but unlike his sprightly senior, he has never travelled. When he was told that Zaro had gone to America he wept because his old friend had not taken him along.

He too is a teetotaler and in the best of health, able to take a daily stroll of three miles from his cottage to town and back.

"Just-Made" FRESHNESS

This was the way one of the many lovers of Sapp's Finer Chocolates described their freshness—"just made" freshness." We thought it was quite good, as it tells perfectly the story of the freshness of these delightful confections. Shipments reach the Kootenays from Vancouver, fresh, about once a week. What Do You Think?

Suggests Seaplane Connection to Serve Nelson's Air Mail

To the Editor, Nelson Daily News
Sir:

I am writing a little article which I would like you to publish in your paper. It is my point of view which I think would be interesting to the people of Nelson.

NELSON IS LOGICALLY SEAPLANE BASE

I, being more or less interested in aviation, it's possibilities and certain expansion in the near future, have naturally been watching and reading up articles in the Daily News from time to time.

I am glad to know that there are citizens in Nelson who are intensely interested in what is known as the "Fourth Arm of Transportation", and want to do their utmost to place the Queen city of the Kootenays within it's range. In my opinion by all means bring your mail to within one or two minutes of your post office instead of a few hours. The city that does this will be ahead eventually. I am going to point out to you, if I possibly can, reasons for and against the seaplane base at Nelson, but I fully believe the majority of the citizens would prefer to see the mail plane alight right at their door.

The argument about the drone of the engine overhead in large cities is a poor one in it's application to Nelson as it would most likely in all cases add enthusiasm. Before long methods of take off as regards space will be so improved as to render it possible to use a much smaller area, and eventually planes will alight within your limits and not 12 or 14 miles away which distance causes valuable time to be lost which is the airplane's purpose to overcome in this age of speed.

I am pointing this out because scores of cities in the States and Europe have had to contend with the same problems, although perhaps not many of them situated such as Nelson. The safety factor surrounding any air-field is the forced landing places, also air currents, and prevailing winds. Any reasonable calm body of water offers a place for a seaplane to alight, Nelson and vicinity has plenty of water areas all around. When one thinks of the area required for the alighting of planes on the United States aeroplane carries, "Lexington and Saratoga", I can hardly see why an airport should be made outside when a seaplane base at Nelson would add more prestige than an airport miles out.

No doubt a training schooll would eventually materialize and business etc., in Nelson would benefit directly. Arrangements for transferring mail at the nearest place where both types of planes are used, could be done with the government, Kootenay Landing or say Trail where seaplanes are an everyday occasion. This transfer of mail could be in Nelson about as quick as by motor from South Slocan and you will have the satisfaction of it coming by air almost to your post-office.

One must also look for a service of this kind to pay. Well no doubt arrangements could be made to have a service say to Kaslo and other points on the main lake to say nothing of other lakes close to Nelson. Also sight-seeing trips could be arranged for summer tourists which would increase revenue, besides many other undertakings.

One draw back would be perhaps that visiting land plane passengers would have to come from the nearest land port by means of seaplane service. When your lake is frozen over planes that use skis would have no difficulty in making a landing, even the the transcontinental, during the safe period.

Now I have only written this as one point of view, but no doubt almost any aviator will agree with me, even Major Tudhope and other Ottawa officials of aviation. I would like to see the mail delivered to your wharf, just as you hear the exhaust of the mighty locomotive bringing commerce to the heart of your city from every corner of the globe. Don't overlook that beautiful sheet of water which lies right at your door.

AIRMINDED

Trail, B .C., Oct. 21, 1930

P. S. Many cities and points of interest in British Columbia are within reasonable limits for the seaplane or I could include also the amphibian type of aircraft using land or water. The little extra cost of either seaplane or amphibian would be more than offset by the service direct to your city.

Says Should Draw Line in Regard to the Local Musicians

To the Editor
Nelson Daily News:

With regard to the request from the Nelson Musician's local 305 As reported in your Monday's paper to have all dance orchestras playing in Nelson licensed, I think the idea very laudable. But I think the idea could have gone a little deeper into the matter by requesting that discrimination be made between musicians who play at dances as a sideline, and those real musicians who earn their daily bread by following their profession exclusively.

In the District Press

HOW MUCH WILL KASLO GET?

Newspapers the past few days have been carrying items of what some municipalities are asking for out of the $20,000,000 voted by the federal parliament for unemployment relief and citizens are naturally wondering just how much of this big sum Kaslo will get. It is officially announced that the province of British Columbia has been offered $900,000 as its share of the grant. It is reasonable to suppose that this $900,000 wil be more or less split up among the numerous municipalities in the province, with the municipalities making the loudest holler getting the lion's share. What sort of a holler, if any, is the Kaslo city council making? is a question being asked by many citizens. Kaslo could use quite a bit of that money for works that are needed if it is possible to get a good slice of the $900,000. We believe some assistance toward the bettering of our electric system could be got if an energetic move were made toward this end. Within the next year or two a new bridge should be put across Kaslo creek as the present "red" bridge has been condemned for some time. As this bridge is part of the highway system of the province it should not cost Kaslo anything, particularly if built now when the Dominion government would contribute 50 per cent of the cost to the provincial government.

The above are only just a couple of items that would give Kaslo its share of the unemployment funds. There are other items, such as improving the road between Kaslo and Ainsworth, that would be worthy of consideration if Kaslo citizens are going to be able to get work this coming winter.—Kaslo Kootenaian.

CONGRATULATIONS OLIVER

Announcement that the Kettle Valley Railway will build an extension of its line so as to give an all rail service to the people of Oliver has been hailed with delight in that community.

For a considerable time it has been felt that the service which the growers there have asked for, and are now to be given, would be in the interests both of the railway company and of the people. Closing of the gap will make for conditions which will be of benefit to the growers in that they can get their produce to market in better condition, with less delay, and when they desire. For the railway company there will no doubt be increased tonnage and that is what it desires.

Should the Oliver township and district benefit from the service to be given in a degres proportionate to that felt at Kelowna by the advent of the railway, the advantage will be indeed marked.

No doubt there will be a considerable increase in the acreage planted to soft and stone fruits. The new duties placed by the Bennett Government on importations of this nature are encouraging, and will have an immediate effect upon the plantings.

The people at Oliver, and on the project, should be happy at having secured within the space of a few years a reduction in land costs, a degree of protection which should stimulate the industry in which they specialize, and now the announcement that a huge sum of money will be spent in connecting the district by rail with the outside world.

Congratulations are tendered the people of Oliver upon the splendid sequence of events which should spell prosperity for them.—Vernon News.

BUILDING FOR THE FUTURE

In connection with educational affairs everyone is ready to admit that a great mistake was made when the first two-room public school was erected. It should have been designed and built so as to carry an extra story. And when the two-story addition was put to it exactly the same thing should have been kept in mind.

At that time, probably, there was not as much optimism prevalent as to Creston's future as now obtains and in view of the prevailing belief as to still further expansion it is to be hoped that when plans are made for the new high school extension the district is almost sure to have to provide in 1931, the blunder in connection with the central public school will not be repeated.

If, as now seems certain, Creston must next year provide two new rooms for high school purposes it should be seen to that their construction will be such that they will carry a top story.

With school population all through the valley on the increase it is just too bad that a consolidated high school cannot be created and the 1931 building campaign be on a scale to provide for the high school attendance that will have to be taken care of in the very near future—with or without consolidation.—Creston Review.

Canada's Census Year

There is to a census taken in Canada next year. The work of preparation has already progressed apace and perhaps it is a little difficult to realize that this involves—even more difficult that the realization of the labor of compiling the results of the census in a complex machine—necessarily so in a country where progress must be checked carefully against retrogression. It is not merely necessary to know how many people there are in Canada, which theoretically is the purpose of the census, but even more valuable is information regarding their ages, sex, marital condition, occupation, literacy, racial origin, religion, ability to speak English or French, their earning, their resources. It is important to know the area of farmers' lands, owned, and leased, their livestock, the extent of their crops. The coming census will throw the most valuable light yet shed on the question of unemployment.

The census in some form or another has been taken since the earliest days of history, the first recorded being that taken by David of the Children of Israel—an act of vanity which earned divine disapproval. The earliest modern census is reputed to be one taken in New France, now included in Canada, when the inhabitants were counted as 3,215. A projected census was strongly denounced when it was proposed in the British House of Commons in 1753. Evidently the wrath visited upon David was in the minds of some members who feared national disaster should anything so presumptous be done—"an epidemical distemper" was the fear of one of the members. Another characterized it as " presumptous" and abandoned."

Today we take another view of the census. Through it we get to know how our population is growing by immigration and by natural increase, how it is diminishing by emigration, how it is increasing by the return of the disappointed migrants. We get to know, through the racial origin columns, what strain is our Canadian blood and whether we are predominantly a Nordic or a Slavic or a Teutonic or a Semitic race—questions which mere everyday observation will not answer. These are not the answers to merely idly curious questions. The informaiton is the framework on which good government is laid.—Calgary Albertan.

"One can hardly say that life progresses; it changes and one change is probably as good as another."—Winston Churchill.

"Something seems to have happened to the new American theory that higher and higher wages make for more and more prosperity."—Lord Melchett.

SAYS B.C. WILL SURELY BE IN RUGBY FINALS

Finlay Says If Prairie Champs Refuse Guarantee, Will Claim Title

VANCOUVER, Oct. 21—British Columbia will be represented in the Canadian Rugby Football union playdowns this season, it was stated tonight by Del Finlay, secretary of the British Columbia union.

In discussing a Winnipeg dispatch which said the prairie champions would meet the British Columbia winners "if satisfactory financial arrangements could be made," Finlay said that the British Columbia union was willing to pay the guarantee the constitution called for if the champions of the prairies came here for the western finals and expected the same guarantee if the British Columbia titleholders went to the prairies for the finals.

The western Canada rugby constitution says that when British Columbia teams play off with prairie winners, the series shall be best two out of three games and that the home team shall guarantee the visiting team one half its actual transportation expenses and hotel bills for two days for each game played. After all expenses have been met, the balance is to be divided equally between the competing clubs.

Finlay claims that the British Columbia union made such an offer to Regina Roughriders last fall, but the prairie winners replied they would come here for $1800, but in turn offered the British Columbia winners only $400 to go to the prairies. As a result British Columbia passed up the series.

"This season, however," said Finlay, "The British Columbia Rugby union is going to see that its clubs get a square deal. Our case will be stated in full to leading officials of the Western Canada union at Winnipeg and Calgary and also to officials of the Canadian union at Toronto.

"British Columbia will most certainly be represented in the playoffs, and if satisfactory financial arrangements as laid down in the constitution cannot be met by or are turned down by the prairie winners, then we will claim the western title by default."

ROSENBLOOM TO MEET UNKNOWN TONIGHT, EAST

"Wheer-Have You Bain" to Tackle Light Heavy Champion

NEW YORK, Oct. 21.—Maxie Rosenbloom, ring clown, Broadway playboy, and light-heavyweight champion, will step around the corner from his favorite thoroughfare into Madison Square Garden tomorrow night to battle 15 rounds with an unknown title challenger, Abie Bain of Newark, N. J.

Searching through the records, the experts are nick-naming Abie "Where-Have-You-Bain," for the Newark youngster never has appeared in a main bout before in the Garden or in other leading fistic centers. He has confined most of his battling to the home town in Jersey. His chief claim to fame is a decision there recently over Rene De Vos, of Belgium.

Rosenbloom, conqueror of Jimmy Slattery in Buffalo last spring, for the 175-pound crown, has had trouble finding suitable opposition in a class that has gone slightly to seed.

Bain, a rough, strong youngster, is given little chance to defeat Rosenbloom, and the wagering on the champion probably would be 5 to 1, if there was any wagering.

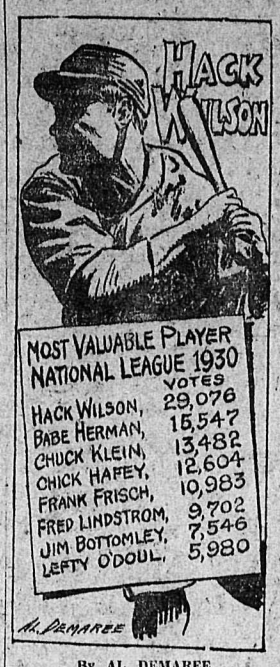
DONATES BAY BEAUTY

Col. E. R. Bradley, owner of Idle Hour Farm at Lexington, Ky., recently donated Bay Beauty, son of Black Tony, to the United States remount service. This makes the twenty-third stallion donated by Col. Bradley to the service. Bay Beauty is a four-year-old and last year was prominently mentioned for the Kentucky Derby, running as an entry with Blue Larkspur. He broke down in the race and subsequent efforts to get him in sound condition for racing had proved futile.

Hack Wilson Voted Most Valuable



By AL DEMAREE

(Former Pitcher New York Giants)

John McGraw used to say, "You can fool me once in a while and fool yourselves and the newspapermen occasionally, but you can't fool the public. The fans in the stand are the final judges."

The fan's choice of Hack Wilson, the Chicago Cubs slugging outfielder, was a very natural one. Hack led the Bruins' attack and established a new major league record for runs driven in as well as establishing a new National league record of 56 home runs.

Babe Herman of Brooklyn was second and Chuck Klein third.

From my readers in hundreds of hamlets, towns and cities in North America I received thousands of votes. Letters came from fans in every state in the U. S. and Canada.

There seemed to be no rabid partisanship among the great mass of fans. Many voters from St. Louis ignored Hafey, Frisch and Bottomley and voted for Hack Wilson. Many letters from Brooklyn, New York and Philadelphia voted for Hafey and Frisch and ignored Babe Herman, Lindstrom and Klein and O'Doul.

I believe the fans have picked 'em right.

BASKETBALL TO BE HEADED HERE BY FARENHOLTZ

Association Holds Organization Meeting; Will Hold Another Soon

The Nelson Basketball association holding a preliminary meeting last night at the city hall elected H. Farenholtz as president.

Other officers elected were: Oscar Olson, vice-president; K. O. Fish, secretary; A. Wallach, treasurer.

On account of the poor representation from teams that are expected to play in the basketball league this year the newly appointed executive decided to hold an executive meeting early next week at which representatives of the various teams would be expected to attend. These teams would be expected to write the secretary submitting particulars concerning the team at the earliest possible time.

SPOKANE WANTS NELSON GOLFERS FOR TOURNAMENT

"Big Shots" in Golf to Play at First Open Tournament

An invitation to Nelson golfers to attend Spokane first open golf tournament in Spokane on November 1 and 2, when the "Big Shots" of golf will compete, was received here by D. A. McFarland, secretary of the Nelson board of trade from J. A. Ford, managing secretary of the Spokane chamber of commerce.

Mr. Ford states that the golfers of that city are anxious to compete with the local men. No entry fee will be charged professional golfers but a fee of $5 will be charged amateur ones and the tournament is open to amateurs with a handicap of six and under. Mr. Ford urges that the matter be taken up here.

"PEEWEE" GOLF INVENTOR GETS SOME $500,000

Earns $300,000 From His Course; Sells Rights for Just $200,000

PEOPLE LAUGHED AND THEN PLAYED

National Tom Thumb Tournament to Be Played on His Course Soon

CHATTANOOGA, Tenn., Oct. 21—His wife told hm to quit playing and go to work. Business men stood by and laughed.

Acquaintances thought him insane and children thought he was building a playground for them. That was when Garnet Carter started constructing his first miniature golf course on top of historic Lookout mountain near here in the fall of 1927.

Local residents were definitely sure that their one-time esteemed citizen had lost his mind when he began drilling holes through mountain boulders and placing in them ordinary pieces of sewer pipe, or hollow logs picked up on the mountain top. Children were more strongly convinced that a beautiful place to play was being designed for their special benefit when the father of miniature golf began to fill the woods in front of Fairyland inn with statuary modeled to represent mountain gnomes and other storybook characters.

The golf course was completed and players turned to it in the spring of 1928. Friends of the inventor who had laughed the loudest were the first to play it.

NOW 25,000 COURSES

Today the federal government estimates there are 25,000 baby golf courses in the country. It also has been calculated that 3,000,000 Americans indulge in this new sport every day. Humorists have characterized it "premature" or half-pint golf; cartoonists have poked fun at it, but the National Golf association has recognized it as golf.

One doesn't make a fortune, literally, over night, but Garnet Carter did almost before he spent the first few hundred he had made from his miniature courses. He sold out for a cool $200,000 to W. H. Robinson of Pittsburgh, first vice-president of a well known relish company, and is now sitting back in his mountain lodge taking life easy.

The deal, which was closed a few weeks ago, included one copyrighted "Tom Thumb" trade mark, a factory in Chattanooga at $10,000, and many patents applied for.

RETAINS ORIGINAL

Carter retained the original dwarf links at Fairyland on Lookout mountain and scrap books telling the story of the hurricane-like success of his dream. It is on the original midget course, which has cost the owner $40,000, that the first national miniature golf tournament will be played October 20, 21 and 22.

Garnet Carter hardly had finished his tiny course three years ago when friends all over the country began to clamor for one like it. They telephoned and wired for immediate shipments regardless of cost.

The first order came from a friend in Atlanta who paid $2000 for a course built by Carter in his backyard with hammer and saw and old pieces of sewer pipe and hollow logs collected by him. By the end of the third week, the Atlantan had his money back.

COULDN'T STOP IT

Nothing Carter could do would stop the wild demand for his baby golf courses. He told prospective customers they would have to pay $10,000 per course, but that didn't keep them away.

"I was too busy with my real estate investments to bother with it," he commented.

The inventor soon found that the mania had spread to his own family when his father, J. L. Carter, persuaded him to install a course for his guests at the Lookout mountain hotel. At the end of the first day, the new amusement was more popular than the dining room.

The sport spread like a contagious disease into Florida. A former real estate man introduced miniature golf courses to Miami, "and we soon found the people of Florida would putt just like the people of Tennessee," said Carter.

JUST COULDN'T WAIT

W. S. Townsend, principal owner of a pump company at Fort Wayne, Ind., was the next customer. He couldn't wait to write Carter, but got him on the long distance telephone and asked for the right to market the minature courses in a national way.

"I told him to come to Chattanooga and I would sell him two," said Carter, who later was surprised when Townsend came. He left with the right to market Tom Thumb courses east of the Rocky mountains and north of the Mason-Dixie line, paying the Chattanoogan $100 for each course sold. This year's shipment totaled more than 1000.

SOLD FOR CASH

Asked how he was progressing with his new golf venture shortly before he sold out to Robinson Carter said that he was making $1000 a day, but had been figuring on consolidating the various plants and taking $1,000,000 worth of stock for his interest. However, he said he would prefer to sell out for cash. He added:

"When Robinson approached me I told him I didn't see what he wanted with miniature golf in the relish business, but he insisted upon bringing me to Chattanooga and giving me a check for $200,000, and I took it, and that's all there was to it." Prior to that, Carter had added $300,000 to his bank account from the baby courses.

It was a sort of new invention when the Athenians began to value "leisure," not as a form of idleness, but a free time in which to do one's best work—an invention which has saved civilization.—Gilbert Murray.

ALMOST ANYTHING GOES, WRESTLING

Writer Recalls Days of Real Wrestling; Compared With Today

Sundry wrestling matches between different protagonists, some of them widely known in the games, have been staged locally of late, and the layman, reading the vivid accounts of the Vancouver sporting writers, finds himself wondering whether he is perusing the record of a battle between two gorillas or what is presumed to be the reports of two humans engaged in a trial of skill and strength, says the Vancouver Star in its editorial columns.

The paper continues:

Wrestling, at its best, is a fine sport. A man who essays to become an expert must have greater staying power than that required, probably, in any other endurance test. In addition he must be quick as lightning and be up to every trick—and some of these tricks are quite complicated—known to the exponent of the art.

In first-class wrestling matches there are considerable periods in which the two opponents appear to be absolutely quiescent, when each is actually tense in the extreme and waiting for the slightest weakening on the part of the other.

But these recent matches in the Auditorium appear to have developed into struggles in which a man may do pretty much as he likes. Despite the efforts of an excellent referee—who upon one occasion found himself thrown about the ring—most of the rules seem to have been tossed to the winds and the wrestlers have behaved as one imagines two cavemen in prehistoric times must have behaved. Once at least they continued the "wrestling" among the spectators, where the exuberance of their efforts had landed them.

Well, all this sort of thing seems to have delighted the spectators—included among whom were quite a number of women. They apparently became a howling mob. But can such struggles, by the greatest stretch of the imagination, be termed wrestling?

One recalls a real match at the Avenue Theatre a few years ago when Jatrinda Gobar, of India, and Demitral, of Greece—who, the other day, was forced by his Russian opponent to adopt the latter's roughhouse tactics—presented a model of fine wrestling which yet was so exciting that it had the whole of the audience on their toes a dozen times. Surely it is not necessary to indulge in this caveman stuff in order to demonstrate a game of skill. Anyway, it is not sport.

WINS THREE AUTO EVENTS

Herman Schurch of Hollywood, Calif., established himself as the outstanding driver in the automobile racing series at the Deer Park (N. Y.) Speedway, by winning three of the seven scheduled events and establishing a new track record for each distance.

Schurch piloted his Frontenac Special to win the second three-mile elimination heat in 3:07, and the ten-mile feature in 10.33 3-5. The former mark for the three-mile event, 3.12, was set by Bill Albertson three years ago. The old mark for the ten-mile distance was 11.01, set by Douglas Wallace several weeks ago.

JAMAICA'S CRICKETERS ON WAY

KINGSTON, Jamaca, Oct. 21—(Canadian Press cable)—Jamaica's representatives of the West Indies team that will play a series of cricket matches against Australia, sailed from here Monday en route to Panama, where they will join the remainder of the West Indian contingent for the trip across the Pacific. Those leaving today were Healey, Martin and Barrow.

There will be a renaissance in this country which will rival the development of the arts in Athens and Florence.—Professor Emerson H. Swift of Columbia University.

FARANO KAYOES JACKNOVICH IN OPENING MINUTE

Regina Battler Lasts 10 Seconds Against Michel Boy

MICHEL, B. C., Oct. 21.—In one of the fastest ending boxing matches ever witnessed by 600 fans of Michel and district Michael "Diablo" Farano from the east end of the city laid to sleep "Kid" Jacknovitch from Regina after 10 seconds of fighting. Farano came out of his corner in a bulldog manner and whipped a right and left to the jaw of his opponent, giving him no chance to land a blow. "Diablo" sent another hard left to Jacknovich's body who reeled to the canvas in pain. Jacknovich laid unconscious for 45 seconds.

The semi-windup also seemed to be a one-sided affair when William "Tiger" Lyne wrought havoc among the array of "Battling" Carl Adam, East Kootenay heavyweight champion, sending him to the canvas six times in four rounds, when Referee Jim Terrion stopped the bout. Adam, who's ears, nose and eyes were bleeding, looked a pitiful sight as he told the crowd that this was his first ring debut and probably his last.

Edwin Whatley and Joe Tombosias boxed to a draw in a preliminary contest. These two little fellows pleased the crowd

Michael "Diablo" Farana has smilingly taken on another assignment. Mike has signed to meet Andy Davey, newest sensation from Edmonton. The pair will meet on November 15 in the Michel Community hall and the match promises to provide another of those smashing ring classics.

B.C. RUGBY MAY BE IN WESTERN PLAY OFFS, 1930

Will Depend Upon Satisfactory Financial Arrangements

WINNIPEG, Man., Oct. 21.—(CP)—Rugby playdowns for senior and junior titles in western Canada will start Saturday, November 1, a schedule given out tonight by Arnold Dowd, of Winnipeg, secretary of the Western Canada Rugby Football union, stated. Winnipeg St. Johns, Manitoba champions, will meet Regina Roughriders, champions of Saskatchewan, in the first senior conflict. The game will be played at Regina.

Winnipeg of the St. Johns-Roughrider game are scheduled to play Alberta's champions in the far-prairie province on November 10, Thanksgiving day. Calgary Tigers, at present leading the Alberta contenders, may clinch honors Saturday.

Possibility of a series, including the British Columbia champions, is held out as the schedule calls for games between the prairie winners and the coast titlists in Vancouver on November 15 and 17. A third game, if necessary, would be played on November 19. It will be a best-upon satisfactory financial arrange-two-out-of-three series, and depends ments being made with the B. C. union.

FOULS IN TITULAR EVENT

Championship bouts in which fouls have occurred are as follows:

Jan. 15, 1900, Rube Ferns, welterweight, won from Bill Smith, twenty first round, Buffalo, N. Y.

Sept. 3, 1906, Joe Gans, lightweight, won from Battling Nellson, forty-second round, Goldfield, Nev.

Nov 28, 1912, Willie Ritchie, lightweight, won from Ad Wolgast, sixteenth round, Daly City, Calif.

July 4, 1916, Freddie Welish, lightweight, won from Ad Wolgast, eleventh round, Denver, Colo.

July 27, 1921, Johnny Wilson, middleweight, won from Bryan Downey, seventh round, Cleveland, Ohio.

HOCKEYIST TAKES TO MANAGING A GOLF CLUB, EAST

DETROIT, Mich., Oct. 21.—Odie Cleghorn, of Montreal, today definitely turned down an offer to succeed Frank Foyston as manager of the Olympics, Detroit entry in the international Hockey league.

Here Monday for a final conference with officials of the Detroit Hockey club, he explained that he had decided to accept an offer to manage a Montreal golf club, terms of which were such that he could not pilot the Olympics during the winter season.

Cleghorn formerly was manager of the Pittsburgh Pirates of the National Hockey league.

B. C. A. A. A. MEET AT COAST, 1930

Held There to Be Close to Canadian Meet; Urge Here Next Year

TRAIL, B. C., Oct. 21.—The annual meeting of the British Columbia Amateur Hockey association will be held in Vancouver early in November, the prior to the annual meeting of the Canadian Amateur Hockey association, which will be held in that city November 8 and 9 next.

It has been anticipated that the annual meeting of the B. C. body would this year be held in the interior, in view of the fact that the president, J. C. Urquhart, of Rossland, was an interior man.

Mr. Urquhart explained this morning it had been deemed advisable to hold the meeting at the coast in order that the B. C. body might be in more intimate contact with the Canadian association, with which it intends to bring up many items of business vital to hockey in British Columbia.

It is expected that delegates from the interior will make a bid at the annual meeting to bring next year's gathering to the interior. It has been suggested that Nelson be selected for the gathering, as being central for most of the interior clubs.

In this respect it is pointed out that the clubs comprising the B. C. A. H. A are interior clubs and the interior should be entitled to the annual gathering on occasions.

TOLMIE REFUSES PROMISE, P.G.E.

VICTORIA, Oct. 21—Replying to advices from the North Vancouver Liberal association that they would not run a candidate in the coming by-election in that constituency, if the provincial government would promise to extend the Pacific Great Eastern railway to North Vancouver and Prince George immediately, Premier S. F. Tolmie said that his government could not consider an immediate extension. It might, he said, jeopardize negotiations for the sale of the railway.

The Pacific Great Eastern problem, the premier said, was nearer solution now than at any time in the history of the line, and as efforts to sell the line were under way, it was impossible to promise an immediate extension as requested. But, should it prove impossible to sell the railway, then the government would extend it, in accordance with its original policy, Dr. Tolmie stated.

JOSE SANTA WINS

NEW YORK, Oct. 21.—Jose Santa, Portuguese rival of Primo Carnera for the crown of the biggest heavyweight in the ring, knocked out Tiny Heffner of Philadelphia in the first round of their scheduled 10-round bout at the Broadway arena tonight. Santa carried a weight of 258 pounds into the ring, while Heffner weighed 223½.

Under the Migratory Birds act, no person is allowed to engage in the business of taxidermist without first having secured a licence to do so from the Minister of the Interior. The taxidermist must not handle any bird that has been illegally killed, and every year he must make such returns as the Minister may require.

THREE CANADIAN TEAMS ARE OUT, EASTERN HOCKEY

Toronto, Hamilton, Niagara Falls Absent From International League

TORONTO, Oct. 21—(CP)— The International Hockey league will be predominantly American in complexion when the teams line up for the opening of the 1930-31 season. At the meeting of the league held here today, authority was granted for moving the Niagara Falls, Ont., team to Pittsburgh, Pa., the Hamilton, Ont., team to Syracuse, N. Y., while the Toronto Millionaires will be disbanded for this season, leaving seven teams in the league as follows: Windsor, Ont., London, Ont., Cleveland, Ohio, Buffalo, N. Y., Detroit, Mich., Pittsburgh, Pa., and Syracuse, N. Y.

F. G. (Teddy) Oke, owner of the Niagara Falls and Toronto franchises, decided not to operate the Millionaires this winter when he was unable to obtain permission of the arena gardens to play his home games at the downtown ice surface of the Toronto Maple Leafs, the local major league aggregation.

LITTLE "PREMATURE"

PITTSBURGH, Pa., Oct. 21—Announcement from Toronto today that Pittsburgh interests would take over the Niagara Falls franchise in the International Hockey league the coming season, was declared "premature" by Roy D. Schoolely, of the prospective purchasers, tonight. He added, however, that negotiations were planned in Pittsburgh with league officials expected to come here later in the week to further discuss the project.

LINDRUM RUNS UP 1393 POINTS IN BILLIARD BREAK

LIVERPOOL, England, Oct. 21. (Canadian Press cable)—Joe Davis, the English champion, was still in the lead with 21,048 points at the close of today's play in the International professional billiards tournament. Tom Newman of England was second with 19,022, and Clark McConachy of New Zealand was third with 17,487. Walter Lindrum of Australia, who spotted his three opponents 7000 points, was still trailing with 14,609, having made no appreciable gain on the leader.

Lindrum scored the highest break today, running up 1393 points at one session at the table, while Davis exceeded the thousand mark with a break of 1004.

NIGHBOR MANAGER OF DETROIT TEAM

TORONTO, Ont., Oct. 21.—(CP)—Frank Nighbor, of Toronto Maple Leafs hockey team in the National league, has been appointed manager of the Detroit Olympics, international squad, it became known here tonight.

NEW REGULATIONS ARE CURTAILING IMMIGRATION TO CANADA, APPEALS TO THE DEPARTMENT NOW INDICATE

(By the Canadian Press)

OTTAWA, Ont., Oct. 21—It is not easy to get into Canada now. Since the new and stricter immigration regulations went into effect some six weeks ago the number of people entering Canada from foreign countries has been steadily reducing. No figures are yet available to show the effect of the regulations but from indications noted at the department of immigration there is no doubt about their efficacy.

The number of people who have been refused admission at the ocean ports and border points runs into the thousands. The appeals from decisions of officers at ports which have come forward to the department have shown a phenomenal increase since the promulgation of the changes in the regulations.

As the nature of Canada's new immigration policy becomes more widely understood abroad it is expected the applications for admission to this country will decline. A decline is already in evidence, but this is largely due to the seasonal falling off in immigration, which takes place every year at this time. People are more inclined to migrate in the spring and summer months than in the fall and early winter. Similarly, as time goes on, it is expected the appeals from people who have been refused admission will revert to normal proportions.

BELIEVE WINTER HAS ARRIVED IN EASTERN PARTS

TORONTO, Ont., Oct. 21—Continued snow flurries in various sections of the province following the blizzards over the week-end has just about convinced Ontario citizens that the "sage of Chatsworth" notwithstanding, winter has arrived. The sage, now known as the "oracle of Owen Sound," predicted Ontario would experience its first real cold weather about the middle of November, but he erred apparently by a few weeks.

ADMINISTRATION ESTATE GRANTED BY COURT HERE

In the matter of the estate of E. J. Emerson of Silverton, C. R. Hamilton of Hamilton, Wragge & Hamilton appeared in chamber sessions before Judge W. A. Nisbet Monday morning and made application for letters of administration to issue to the widow, Mary E. Emerson. The order was made.

The estate amounted to $3648, and is to be divided between the widow and children.

OVER 14,000 HOURS OF FLYING, ONTARIO

SAULT STE MARIE, Ont., Oct. 21—When the present flying season is completed the air operations department of the Ontario forestry branch will have established a new record of over 14,000 hours flown during the year, Captain W. R. Maxwell said Monday.

The higher previous total was in 1929, when the airmen rolled up a total of 11,600 flying hours. Reports filed at the department covering air operations up until October 17 show a total of 13,945 hours flown. The flying operations are not yet complete, and there are some reports yet to come in, so that Captain Maxwell is confident that the total will reach 14,000.

Trail to Charge the C. P. R. $50 and Tax Arrears for Lands

TRAIL, B. C., Oct. 21—Price of $50 plus tax arrears was set by the city council Monday night when the C.P.R. asked the city to sell it a piece of right of way at Pine avenue and Eldorado street on which title was not obtained when the Columbia and Western, C.P.R. owner line, took over the right of way from the Trail Creek Tramway company.

Trail City Denies Responsibility for Damage by Washouts

TRAIL, B. C., Oct. 21—Examination by the city council of the lane at the rear of F. H. Clarey's property convinced aldermen who made the examination that the city was not responsible, Alderman J. R. Anderson reported to the city council Monday.

City Engineer S. S. McDiarmid said R. J. Clegg, city solicitor, had asked him to report that he felt the city was not responsible. Aldermen felt that something must be done to protect the property against wash-outs, but felt the city could not take legal steps. It was decided to ask R. Sherk and Dr. F. S. Eaton to wait on N. Wilmes with the city engineer and to urge him to take some action.

COURT ACTION IS TERMINATED

NEW YORK MARKET SUFFERS RELAPSE AS SLOW SLUMP ERASES ALL GAINS OF PREVIOUS DAY; LEADERS IN DROP

Momentary Hesitation at Opening Followed by Steady Fall

(By John L. Cooley, Associated Press Financial Writer)

NEW YORK, Oct. 21—Fatigued by the exertion of Monday's ambitious rally, the stock market suffered a relapse today and crawled back to bed.

After only momentary hesitation at the opening, prices went into a slow slump that erased all but a shade of yesterday's recovery. Net losses ran from 2 to 6 points in a turnover of 2,421,900 shares.

General Electric, Westinghouse, Standard Oil of New Jersey, Texas Corporation, Anaconda, Kennecott, American Water Works, Public Service of New Jersey, International Harvester, Nash Motors, Hudson, Studebaker and several investment rails went to new lows for the year or longer.

General Electric dropped 4 to 50, but recovered a point, closing 2⅞ lower. Standard Oil of New Jersey lost 3 to 53⅛ before coming back fractionally. American Can failed to receive much support until it had tumbled 5 points. Its net loss was 4. Westinghouse, down 8¾ at the bottom, recovered 2 points and American Telephone regained a point of a 4 point loss. Allied Chemical, which had been 9½ lower, finished 6½ below the Monday close.

U. S. Steel sagged to 144¾, within ¼ of the year's low, and then rallied ¾ to close at 145½, off 3¾. There were 2 to 3 point net declines in American and Foreign Power, American Water Works, Public Service of New Jersey, Penney, Case, Du Pont, Paramount, Union Pacific and Sears Roebuck. Eastman Kodak and Houston Oil lost nearly 6 and Safeway Stores 7.

DOMESTIC LOAN TO BE FLOATED?

OTTAWA, Ont., Oct. 21. — The citizen in its new columns today carries the following

"The possibility of a domestic Canadian loan being floated this winter or early in the spring appears to be attracting much attention among bond dealers, judging by the number of inquiries in official circles here. Whether such an issue will be made, however, is for the government to decide and the matter has not yet been given much, if any, consideration.

"The maturing obligation in connection with the war loans will total $77,000,000 next year. Under the terms of a statue passed in 1928 the government is possessed of every authority to refinance up to a total of $500,000,000.

PAY $101.63 FOR DEBENTURE ISSUE OF COAST CITY

VANCOUVER, Oct. 21—Two syndicates which offered $101.63 for the City of Vancouver, five per cent debenture issue of $2,544,588 with terms of maturity ranging from ten to forty years, will be asked to split the amount, the city council decided this afternoon when bids were opened.

Four syndicates entered for the issue.

One syndicate comprises Wood, Gundy & Co., Ltd., Royal Bank of Canada, Chase Securities Corporation and Pemberton & Son, Vancouver, Ltd., while the other includes Fry, Mills Spencer & Co., Ltd., Bell-Gouinlock & Co., Ltd., McLeod, Young, Weir & Co. Ltd., Victoria, Odlum, Brown & Co., and Gillespie, Hart & Co.

LEADERS' GAINS ARE WIPED OUT

TORONTO, Oct. 21—Gains made by leading issues were for the most part wiped out in today's trading on the Toronto stock exchange. Prices were soft all day but did not go as far down as in New York. The local market had not followed Wall street all the way up to its peak and as a result today's losses were more moderate. Leading issues, however, were well below their former closing prices.

Volume of sales fell to just over 28,500 shares and of the 89 issues traded—were off at the close, 19 were up and 26 had no change. The heaviest loss of the day was in Canada Paving preferred which at its new low of 58 was off 7.

The preferred was unchanged at 105. Utilities in the list of new lows included Twin City at 8, off 2; Canada Power at 55⅝, off ⅞; the others were Cockshutt Plow at 13, off ¼, the preferred at 38 off 2, after having touched 36¼. Massey Harris closed at its former low of 13.

WHEAT LOSES ITS GAIN AT CHICAGO

(By John P. Boughan, Associated Press Market Editor)

CHICAGO, Ill., Oct. 21. — Unsettled by a new drop in prices of securities, all grain values today underwent a late setback that more than erased an early advance. Increased selling of wheat, corn and other cereals, however, appeared to be largely in the nature of profit taking, the top point touched today showing about 5½ cents a bushel gain from recent low figures. Statements credited to Chairman Legge of the federal farm board that agricultural commodities had recahed their bottom levels attracted much notice, but for at least the present, were without lasting effect as a market influence.

Closing quotations on wheat were unsettled at the same as yesterday's finish to 3-4 cents a bushel decline Corn closed 3-4 to 1-2 cents down; oats 1-8 to 3-8 cents off and provisions unchanged to a rise of five cents.

HOME DROPS FIVE CENTS AT COAST

VANCOUVER, Oct. 21— Prices dropped to lower levels in a slightly increased volume of trading on the Vancouver stock exchange today. Changes in value, however, were generally confined to one or two cents per share, the day's heaviest loser being Home Oil which dropped 5 cents to 2.50. Mayland and Calmont each dropped 3 cents, while United was off 2 cents to 28.

Mines were extremely dull with little of note taking place in that section of the list.

AUTOMATIC TRAIN COUPLINGS ARE URGED IN EAST

OTTAWA, Oct. 21—(CP)—Automatic trainline couplings have been used successfully on Canadian and United States railways for several years, witnesses told the board of railway commissioners today when the enquiry into an application by the Brotherhood of Trainmen for their general adoption was being heard. The Grand Trunk Western line installed the Roberts company equipment on three trains between 1920 and 1922; other similar devices have been used on the Butte and Lackawanna, and on the Southern Pacific and Santa Fe roads. With the exception of the Butte and Lackawanna, the installations on these lines were experimental, the manufacturing companies defraying costs. Reports as to their utility were received from the railroads.

The hearing today brought a large number of railway counsel, mechanicians, association executives and officers of the employees organizations before the board.

GRADING DID IT

Ontario fruit, apples, peaches, and grapes are selling in carload lots as far West as Edmonton and is arriving on the western market in "good" condition reports the inspector of the prairie division of the Dominion Fruit branch. And the explanation of the increase in range and volumt of market this year lies in one thing, efficient grading under the shipping point inspection service of the Dominion fruit branch.

BUTTER, CANNED FRUIT AND FISH BY QUOTA TALK

Purchase by Britain by That System Is Being Considered

LONDON, Oct. 21.—(By George Hambleton, Canadian Press staff correspondent)—The purchase by Great Britain by quota of butter, canned fruits and canned fish is under consideration by the Graham economic committee of the Imperial conference, it was disclosed today.

As in the case of wheat, the suggestion is to establish a preferential quota in favor of Empire products without imposing tariffs. The amount of British needs will be first determined, then the dominions will be alloted a percentage of the quota of imports required. Within that percentage the dominions' market would be assured as the foreign purchases by Great Britain would not be made until the Empire quota was exhausted. The scheme, however, is only in a tentative state, with no government acting as its formal sponsor.

The Graham committee meets again tomorrow, and by the end of the week hopes to begin drafting its report. This is expected to cover not only the quota scheme but import boards, bulk purchases and other suggestions for improving intra-Empire trade without necessarily imposing tariffs. The committee is headed by Right Hon. William Graham, president of the British board of trade.

The proposals of Premier R. B. Bennett of Canada for reciprocal tariffs within the Empire are still being studied by British departmental experts. The British government has not yet given any formal answer to the Bennett offer, although in confidential conference discussions, the British officials have stated their attitude frankly and fully with regard to tariffs.

SLOCAN BOARD OF TRADE MEETING TO BE HELD THURSDAY

To Be Held in New Denver; Commissioner Fred A. Starkey to Attend

An announcement that the Slocan district board of trade meeting will be held in New Denver on Thursday, October. 23, was received by Fred A. Starkey, commissioner of the Associated Boards of Trade of Eastern British Columbia, Tuesday. Mr. Starkey has received an invitation, and will leave today to be present.

Committees appointed at the meeting this year to consider the questions of industry, roads, membership and publicity are expected to present the result of their work. The stabilization of silver and the unemployment situation will be the main topics to be considered by the meeting, according to a letter received by Mr. Starkey from A. Shilland, secretary.

In his letter Mr. Shilland advocated that the allotment of money for unemployment by the Dominion government, for the riding, be discussed at the meeting.

CLARK, MARTIN IN ASSIGNMENT

WINNIPEG, Oct. 21—(CP)—Voluntary assignment by Clark, Martin & Co., Ltd., stock, bond and grain brokers, with branch offices throughout western Canada, was announced tonight by William Martin, Jr., president and general manager. The firm is confident that creditors will be paid 100 cents on the dollar, Mr. Martin stated.

NICKEL BREAKS 90 AT TORONTO

TORONTO, Oct. 21—The movement of stocks on the Standard Mining exchange today lacked interest. Total sales fell to 193,708 shares, and of these, Acme and Sherritt Gordon, accounted for more than one third. The price trend in the more prominent issues was decidedly weak, while a number of the lower priced issues made the record fairly even as to losses and gains.

International Nickel broke 90c to $17.15 and Noranda fell 45c to $13.80. In the oils, British American dropped 40c, to $14.00; Imperial 5c to $16.10; and International Petroleum recovered 30c to close at $14.40.

ACTION OF LEADERS ON MONTREAL MARKET SUGGESTS GOOD UNDERTONE

MONTREAL, Que. Oct. 21. — Though the close showed net losses in a wide majority of the Montreal stock exchange today, the ration of gains to losses hardly reflected the course of trading in its entirety, though the list turned irregularly lower. The action of the leaders in recording only slight losses was suggestive of a good undertone.

Closing prices included Canada Power and Paper, which sold at the new low of 5½, off 1-2; Abitibi, off 1-2 at nine, also a new low level Power Corporation, down a point at 53, a new low level; Quebec Power, off a point at 45; National Breweries off 1-2 at 25; McColl-Frontenac, unchanged at 15½; Massey Harris up 1-4 at 13½; Dominion Bridge, down 7-8 at 53, General Steel Wares, off 1-4 at seven, Canadian Pacific, off 1-2 at 43; Canadian Car down 1-2 at 16¾, Canadian Northern Power, two higher at 19, ex-dividend; Cockshutt Plow, unchanged at 13; Dominion Steel and Coal "B" unchanged at five; Dominion Textile off 3-4 at 73. Monteral Power eased a point to 53¾.

International Nickel closed at 17 1-2 off 1-2, having rallied from 17. Brazilian closed 11¼ lower at 24. National Breweries was off 1-2 at 25.

Total sales 33,711 shares. Total sales of bonds $86,650.

WHEAT VALUES LITTLE CHANGED

WINNIPEG, Oct. 21—Advancing wheat values today were halted by heavy offerings on the Winnipeg grain market. Firmness at Liverpool and fairly heavy export trade in Canada wheat carried prices two cents higher in the first hour. The rise was suddenly checked when offerings flooded the pit and closing quotations were ¼ cent higher to ¼ cent lower.

A gain of two cents in May wheat was wiped out and final figures showed this month unchanged at 79⅝ cents. One quarter cent gains were marked up by October and November at 72⅝ cents and 78 cents but December lost ⅛ cent at 73¾. Trading was not active and was mostly of local character.

DIVORCE SPLITS COUPLE AT FERNIE, GRANDMOTHER WHO RAISED CHILD IS DEPRIVED OF ITS CARE BY COURT

FERNIE, B. C., Oct. 2.—As an aftermath of the divorce case which was heard in supreme court here on Saturday an incident occurred in the court room which seemed to bear out the old saying that divorce lays a curse on someone, if not everyone, connected with it.

Immediately after Mr. Justice Murphy had granted a divorce to Oswoldo Cassin against his wife, Phyllis, Mrs. Barbara Anselmo, the mother of Mrs. Cassin, took the witness stand and pleaded with pitiful persistence to be allowed to retain custody of the child of the marriage whom she had raised from an infant.

The judge explained to her as kindly as might be that the matter lay entirely between the child's parents, and as the respondent had not even put in an appearance in court he had no choice in view of the evidence but to award the child to its father, who was asking for it. Several years ago the couple had been granted a separation, at which time the maternal grandmother became custodian of the child whose father had the privilege of visiting it at stated intervals. The father charged lack of cordiality on the part of the grandmother during these visits. The judge ruled that the grandmother was out of order in her plea.

BISHOP FAILS TO ARRIVE ON TIME

Head of Kootenay Diocese Marooned? Sessions Open Today

While members of the executive committee of the diocese of Kootenay arrived from Kootenay, Boundary and Okanagan points yesterday for the three-day session, which open this morning, Rt. Rev. A. J. Doull, D.D., bishop of Kootenay, was not among them.

Members from the Okanagan believe that he mistook the day of the boat service on the Arrow lakes and is marooned at Edgewood, where he would motor from his home at Vernon. If this conjecture is correct, he may be expected tonight.

In the meantime the sessions will proceed, the board of trade rooms being the place of meeting.

NINA GANSNER MUCH IMPROVED FROM ILLNESS

Nina Gansner, young daughter of Dr. and Mrs. J. Gansner, who has been suffering from an attack of double pneumonia, was yesterday reported to be much improved.

FREE INSPECTION

The Hon. Robert Weir, federal minister of agriculture has made provision, by ministerial order, for the free inspection of herds and premises of producers of milk for export to the United States the order to remain in effect so long as producers show a willingness to co-operate in carrying out the instructions of the veterinary inspectors of the department, and in keeping inspections down to an absolute minimum. This means an appreciable saving to dairy farmers throughout Eastern Canada as the average inspection costs around $5.00. The new order will directly benefit the new shipping station district in the vicinity of Finch, Ontario, where over 150 farmers are awaiting inspection and the annual re-inspection date for export producers is just a few weeks ahead.

Peter Krots, who was arrested by C. P. R. police Monday at Castlegar, where he was found beating his way on a passenger train bound for Nelson, was sentenced Tuesday by Stipendiary Magistrate John Cartmel to pay a fine of $5 or to serve five days in jail. He went to jail.

HOSPITAL BOARD ACCEPTS OFFER POWER COMPANY

Will Receive 52 Cents Per Month Per Employee on Payroll

At a special meeting held Monday night, for the purpose of hearing C. B. Smith, assistant secretary of the West Kootenay Power & Light company, explain the terms of the contract offered Kootenay Lake General hospital, the hospital board accepted the offer made by the company, of 52 cents per month per employee.

This will cover about 600 employees, for whose efficient hospital treatment the hospital will accept responsibility. As the bulk of the excavation in connection with the Corra Linn development now being initiated will be done by construction firms, which have been awarded contracts, and which are making their own arrangements respecting the health of their working forces, the board came to the conclusion that the terms offered by the company were reasonable.

They are the same as have already been embodied in contracts with the Mater Misericordiae hospital in Rossland and the Trail-Tadanac hospital in Trail.

TABLET RECALLS HISTORIC EVENT

NORTH SYDNEY, N. S., Oct. 21.—The laying of the first subarmine cable in North America has been commemorated by a tablet unveiled at the office of a cable sation here, Judge Walter Crowe, of Sydney, a member of the Historic Sites and Monuments Board of Canada, presided at the ceremony.

The bronze tablet bears the following inscription:

"First Atlantic Cable. This tablet graph cable in North America, laid commemorates the first submarine tele in 1856 between Cape Breton and Newfoundland the first stage in the development of cable communication between this continent and Europe."

The first cable laid in Aspy Bay in 1856 came from Port Aux Basques and thence overland through Ingonish and Baddeck to the Nova Scotia Telegraph Office at Port Hood. The cable was broken at which the land line was changed from Port Hood to this town, Sydney. St. Peters, Hastings and thence across the mainland. The first cable was capable of a maximum of 20 letters per minutes. Still another cable was attached in 1873 while others were made in the years from 1874 to 1904. The growth was rapid, reaching a over 300 men were employed here. maximum during the war when Today new types of cable and equipment have increased the speed. The latest type called Permalloy, or loaded cable, are capable of recorder working to 1800 letters per minute and at the present time are worked as four channel circuits, each channel about 350 letters per minute automatically printed and ready for delivery.

NELSON TO HAVE A HUGE PROGRAM ON HALLOWE'EN

Only Monster Parade Will Be the Same as Usual

PROGRAM AT GROUNDS OF NOVEL CHARACTER

Schools Will Put on Own Acts; Several Platforms

About the only feature of the coming community Hallowe'en that will be identical with those of the last three years will be the monster parade, according to the program laid out Tuesday night by the Hallowe'en meeting. The parade will be as usual, with the different school groups convening in the business section, played by their respective bands, and proceeding by a circuitous route to the Recreation grounds, where the different groups will light their bonfires. The celebration will start at the usual hour.

After the bonfires are lighted amid the usual competitive pandemonium, the fun will be fast and furious, but on entirely new lines.

The biggest single item will be a number staged in the middle of the grounds, its identity, however, being so far kept secret.

SCHOOLS TO FEATURE

One of the features will be the stunts or pantomine numbers staged by the various schools. Every school in the city, including St. Joseph's convent and Nelson Business college, will be invited to put on one platform numbers. If they all accept, that means six such items.

To accommodate them, and the numerous other platform items in view, including the usual pie-eating and pillow-fighting contests, there will be at least two platforms, and possibly three, on the circus principle, so that there will always be something doing.

Judging of costumes and of clowning will be extremely simplified, and it is the present proposal to have all candidates for honors in these matters simply report personally to the judges, who would be at a specified point. While judging is going on, the program will be in full blast.

There will be a prominent prize for floats or effigies. Several independent units apart from those from the schools have announced intention to participate in the evening's public frolic.

COMMITTEE'S NAMED

Committees are as follows to date:

Parade—B. C. Affleck, W. B. Brown, D. N. McLean, W. M. Cameron, O. H. Carlson, D. Chamberlain, P. C. Richards, A. J.: Cornish, J. N. Morley, F. B. Pearce, B B Stallwood, C W. Tyler.

City gift to young folks—W. E. Wasson, B. C. Affleck, H. E. Thain.

School acts or stunts—Misses M. Swanson, G. Hudson, E. H. S. Townsend, D. McGauley, M. N. Graham, M. Irvine, M. McLeod, C. Smith, A. Jerome.

STORAGE SCALD

The current Cold Storage News letter of the Dominion department of agriculture carries an item of special interest to apple growers. It deals with cold storage difficulties more particularly storage scald and soft scald. Both are somewhat similar in external appearance, much as though the apple had been touched or rolled on a hot stove, but the soft scald affects the tissue of the apple to a considerable depth whereas storage scald is largely a matter of skin affection. Most storage troubles arise out of faulty methods in handling prior to storage quite as much as from improper storage practices. Some general rules for overcoming scalding in apples are; only properly matured fruit should be selected for storing; the use of oiled paper in the container; and placing fruit to be stored into cold or common storage promptly, that is within 24 hours of picking.

If the workers put as much interest into their politics as they do into their football matches we could alter the face of England in the next ten years.—Ellen Wilkinson, M. P.

CINDERELLA CLUB HAS FIRST DANCE OF SEASON, FERNIE

FERNIE, B. C., Oct. 21.—The Cinderella club got away to a peppy and enthusiastic start on Saturday night when they held their bi-monthly dance in the Odd Fellows' hall. The hall was made gay and festive with special decorations and the hours from 9 to 12 were spent in dancing to excellent music. The intermissions were almost negligible, and the merry whirl was only interrupted long enough for a buffet supper at 11. About 35 couples attended.

An organization meeting was held at the close of the merry-making, and Dr. George Kalman was elected president; Murray Sissons, vice-president; Jack McPhee, secretary-treasurer; and Mrs. Lawes, hostess. Three committees were named to divide up the work of the year. Chairman of the membership committee will be Ernie Mason. The finance committee will be headed by Frank Fuhr, while George Meade will have responsibility for the decorations in future.

It was decided further that no refreshments will be served at these dances in future.

The next of these bi-monthly dances will be held on the night of Hallowe'en.

STEAMER SAFE AFTER ORDEAL

Ship of Newfoundland Survives Stranding on Southern Coast

ST. JOHNS, Nfld., Oct. 21.—(By The Canadian Press)—After 20 days on the rocks of Mouse Island, Port Aux Basques, and a month of refloating, repairing and hazardous towing and harboring along the south coast, the patched hull of the Caribou, crack ship of the Newfoundland government service, is safe in drydock at St. John's. The five year old ship, valued at upwards of a half million dollars, arrived in tow of the wrecking tugs Crusier and Reindeer late in September, for survey of the damage done when she ran ashore in the fogbound dawn of Sunday morning, August 10, when attempting to enter Port Aux Basques harbor on her regular run from North Sydney, N. S.

Sixty-five passengers and a crew of 40 who were aboard the 2,000 ton steamer at the time, were unable to reach shore in lifeboats over three miles of turbulent water until eight hours after the stranding. But not a life was lost.

The Caribou, it was believed at the time, would be a total loss. But finally, on August 26, she was refloated under the direction of Halifax Shipyards and London Salvage Association officials. Divers were sent down to see how the ship was lying on the rocks. The first attempt at refloating, lasting two days, ended in failure, but the second, a fifty-two hour hitch, was successful. The ship was docked at Port Aux Basques, where temporary repairs were made.

In number one hold it was necessary to apply a cement patch 24 feet by ten, reinforced with steel bars, to the enormous puncture in the Caribou. In the engine room and Number three hold other patches only slightly smaller were reinforced and bolted on, and the ship was ready for her journey down the coast.

The Caribou left Port Aux Basques on September 16, in tow of the Reindeer and Cruiser, in fine weather and light wind. It was necessary however, to keep the pumps working continuously. On the following day the convoy were forced by squalls to lie to west of St. Pierre, and later to anchor in St. Pieree Harbor.

After two days there the steamers set forth again, but a freshening wind and heavy sea that night forced them into Trepassey Harbor whence they sailed the following day. Another day, and Cape Race lay beam.

Tow lines had to be shortened in order to manoeuver the Caribou through the Narrows into St. John's Harbor.

Germany leads all other countries in Europe in the total number of radio receivers in use, but Denmark has the largest number per capita. There are more than 2,926,000 sets in Germany.

Broadcasting in Japan is given more to educational matter and less to comedy and dance music.

Favors Conference to Bring Solution

BOSTON, Oct. 21. — The Boston Traveler, in an editorial, has gone on record as favoring a conference with the Canadian government to solve the problem surrounding such seizures as that involving the ship Fire Light, reputedly taken outside the 12-mile limit.

"Stephen Decatur, offering a toast many years ago said:" the Traveler sets forth, "Our country; in her intercourse with foreign nations may she always be right; but our country, right or wrong!"

"All of which sounded very well and gets a cheer to this day. But what a country it would be if all sat back and thought that everything was always all right!

"We have a good neighbor to the north of us, Canada, and because of our might and because of the fact that Canadia is truly friendly and patiently suffers much from our practices, we are exasperating many of her good citizens. We state that condition in no apologetic mood. We are dealing with facts. We must realize that we are running this country and Canada is not running it.

"But we are not running Canada. We take water by drainage from the Great Lakes and Lower the St. Lawrence in Canada. Some of our federal officers invade Canada to enforce our laws. We sink her ships at sea. Now we have seized another the Fire Light, outside the 12-mile limit.

"It is true that the ship was a suspected rum-runner, although none was found on her. It is true that she is charged with running without lights. It is even possible that she is owned by Americans who put her under Canadian registry.

"Granting all this, had we any right to seize her outside our waters? Should we not have entered protest with the Canadian government which has constantly shown its friendship, even under stress and reach some agreement honorably to meet the problem."

The tendency is modern dancing will be more and more away from the jazz and increasingly toward the classic and conservative style—Thomas M. Sheehy, president of the Dancing Masters of America.
