THINK MISSING GROOM LIES IN THE ELK RIVER

Bloodhounds Lead Searchers Across Fences and Gardens to Its Edge

FOOTPRINTS WHERE GILBERT SAT ON BANK

Hat Is Found on Other Bank Several Hundred Yards Down the Stream

FERNIE, B.C., June 28.—Bloodhounds were introduced this evening in the search for Frank Gilbert, the well-known Fernie citizen who disappeared from his home about 3 o'clock Wednesday morning, just 10 hours after his marriage to Miss Monks of this city.

Constable McWilliam of the Alberta provincial police, arrived here this morning from Coalhurst, bringing with him two Richardson bloodhounds, and reported to Chief Constable Spiller of the British Columbia force. An attempt was made to pick up the trail this afternoon, but both dogs were upset by the train journey and failed to hold the scent.

About 7:30 this evening your correspondent accompanied the constables with the dogs. The trail led over the fence at the rear of Gilbert's residence, along an alleyway, then under the Great Northern trestlebridge, over several fences and through gardens.

At a point about 300 feet north of the trestle, the dogs led off into the bush bordering the Elk Lumber company's mill-run, along a beaten path to the brink of a slough.

Dogs Give Tongue.

After crossing this, the dogs quickly picked up the scent, and led the way towards the edge of the Elk river. After leading to the bank, where there was a rocky shore, the dogs abruptly wheeled and following a path along the river bank, led into a clump of bushes, and "tongued" at the river.

At this point there was a slight opening in the bush leading to the river — two heelprints were plainly imprinted in the bank. Apparently someone had sat on the bank. A tree branch in the water had been broken. The dogs circled the spot, but led in no direction than to the river.

When Gilbert left his home, he was wearing his coat, and trousers pulled over his pyjamas, his shoes and hat. Early this morning J. Puckey and H. Dawes, two of a search party, found Gilbert's hat on the opposite bank of the river, just below the West Fernie bridge, 600 yards downstream from the end of the trail. Gilbert for some time past has been suffering from serious stomach trouble, and it is believed here that, after having partaken of a heavy dinner following the wedding, he suffered a severe attack of indigestion during the night, and on leaving the house tried to cure himself by taking a long walk. On reaching the spot beside the river, he sat down on the bank.

What occurred then is only a matter of conjecture, but the authorities here are satisfied that Gilbert's body is in the waters of the Elk river.

PROPOSE SIX MONTHS HOIST FOR NATIONAL

Senator Lougheed Moves Ancient Form of Killing an Undesired Bill

OTTAWA, June 28.—The six-months' hoist was moved to the Canadian National branch lines bill in the senate tonight by Sir James Lougheed, and on the suggestion of Senator A. Dandurand, government leader, the debate on the bill was adjourned until he could consult his colleagues on the matter.

In discussing the bill, Senator Dandurand said that he had been under the impression that Canada had enough railways, but there were stern realities that must be faced. The proposed branch lines were mainly in the west and were necessary to serve and retain population in certain regions. He invited the senators to express their opinions on the roads they knew.

Senator Lougheed said the present bill proposed to hand over to the National railway board the right to expend $100,000,000 without the consent of parliament. In section 7 was the joker of the game, said Sir James, as the mileage estimated was not to be taken to restrict the minister in issuing securities.

TORONTO, June 28. — Harold Noice, an associate of Vilhjalmur Stefansson, was in Toronto today on his way to Nome, Alaska, where he expects to charter a boat and go to the relief of Allan Crawford, who is keeping a long vigil on Wrangel island.

It is claimed that the federal government has so far been indifferent to the fate of Crawford, who was left on Wrangel island by the Stefansson expedition.

MELBOURNE VOTES BILLS WITH UPROAR

Australian House Has Sixty-five Divisions; Laborites Are Suspended

MELBOURNE, June 28. — The Australian house of representatives passed the two monthly bills, after an all-night sitting which was marked by extraordinary scenes.

Premier Bruce applied the closure relentlessly, and no speeches were permitted.

At least 65 divisions were taken, amid the uproarious dissent of the Laborites.

Cabb, the Labor representative for Angus, was suspended, and several other Laborites were named by the speaker.

The bill finally passed at 10 o'clock this morning.

VETERANS CAUTION PENSIONS OFFICIALS

Petition in House Asks That They Be Instructed to Cease Opposition to Bills

OTTAWA, June 28. — A petition signed by officials of the various veteran associations in Canada was submitted in the house today by J. T. Shaw, Calgary West, to the effect that the chairman and secretary of the board of pension commissioners and the deputy minister and director of medical services, D. S. C. R., be instructed to refrain from further expression of opposition to the house of commons legislation made upon the recommendation of the Ralston royal commission on pensions and reestablishment.

The petition asks further that those officials be cautioned to exercise greater sympathy toward disabled ex-service men and dependents ow deceased ex-service men.

TORONTO TRAMWAY TO GET PAYMENT

City Is at Last to Pay Instalment on the System Taken Over Two Years Ago

TORONTO, June 28. — At last the Toronto Street Railway company is to receive a payment from the city for its property taken over August 31, 1921, says the Financial News bureau. The city council has passed a bylaw authorizing the finance commissioner to raise the sum of $4,000,000, to be applied on the purchase price of the street railway.

It is expected that the first portion of this money will be paid to the company around July 15. The entire amount is not to be paid in one lump sum.

This is equivalent to $33.35 per share on the company's capitalization of $12,000,000, and it is altogether likely that shareholders will receive a payment on account of capital as soon as possible after the money is turned over to the railway.

Farmers' Pulpwood May Be Exported Specially Exempt

OTTAWA, June 28.—Frank Cahill, Liberal, Pontiac, asked in the house today if it was the intention of the government to exclude from the provisions of the act prohibiting the export of pulpwood to foreign countries, pulpwood from lands of settlers and farmers.

Premier King replied that wood grown by farmers on their own property would be exempted from the regulations in regard to export.

BED QUILTS ARE PUT IN AS EXHIBITS

PROBE HANDWRITING ON MYSTERIOUS PACKAGE

Experts Will Compare It With Chirography of the Accused Priest

MONTREAL, June 28. — That the automatic revolver which figures in the trial of Rev. Father Delorme, came from the priest's father, was charged with the slaying of his half brother Raoul in January, 1922, the statement in evidence of Captain Detective Pigeon, who was on the stand all this afternoon. Detective Pigeon said he was told so by the priest when investigations were being carried on at the latter's house.

In evidence given this week by a local gunsmith, the statement was made that the weapon had been purchased by the priest a few days before the murder of Raoul.

Girl Picture

This afternoon's hearing was featured by the production of large numbers of papers belonging to the slain man. Among these was shown a photograph, cut in half, of a girl seated on a staircase, which had been marked, "indecent, not accepted by the censor."

Bed quilts, automobile cushions and seats were also put in as evidence during the afternoon's hearing. It concluded with the cross-examination of the witness by the defence, and will continue with this tomorrow.

In the mornng strong protest was voiced by counsel for the defence against admission of the evidence of Detective Lajoie, because of a book dealing with the crime which he had written and published at the terminaton of the frst trial of Father Delorme. The court ruled that his evidence would be allowed.

When the court opened in the afternoon High Constable St. Mars produced a small package containing Raoul Delorme's watch. It was placed in a cigaret box, wrapped with paper, and addressed to Chief D. D. Lorraine of the provincial police.

Show Priest's Handwriting

A letter addressed to a local afternoon paper, purporting to be in the handwriting of the priest, was also produced.

The defence objected that the letter had been retouched for reproduction, and considered the writing so distorted as to be of little value. It was filed provisionally.

A Bank of Hochelaga slip, with the words, "A. Delorme, priest," purporting to be in the handwriting of the priest, was also filed.

The detective told how he had visited the Delorme house, and it was brought out by Chief Justice Sir Frances Lemieux that the garage was accessible from the house without the necessity of going out-of-doors. The priest had opened the door for the detective from the inside.

SAYS COMMISSIONS DEGRADING BENCH

Senator Gordon Criticises Payments of Ten Thousand Each to Two Judges for Services

OTTAWA, June 28. — Senator Gordon in the senate again referred to the payment of $10,000 apiece to Mr. Justice Latchford and Mr. Justice Riddel for services on a royal commission, which he claimed was in contravention of the Judges' act and had degraded the bench. He asked for the opinion of the justice department on the legality of the transaction.

Senator A. U. Dandurand said that the senate was entitled to know if its legislation was being obeyed, and he would consult with the justice department.

FORCE VOTES INSUFFICIENT CONSIDERATION

Drayton Criticizes Government for Bringing Down Big Estimates Last

OTTAWA, June 28. — Sharp debating marked consideration of the supplementary estimates in the house today.

Sir Henry Drayton protested against what he termed a last-minute attempt to force a vote on large sums of money without allowing time for a reasonable discussion.

Premier King, in a vigorous defence of the government's action, declared that no effort was being made to prevent the house from discussing the supplementary estimates as fully as the members desired.

The main estimates had been distributed evenly over the session for the purpose of thoroughly considering, and while members hoped the session would end Saturday such haste was by no means necessary. He suggested that if his critics felt they did not have sufficient time to go fully into the business before them he would be glad to meet their view and have the sittings of the house continue next week.

Valuable Deput Minister

In defence of the increases to deputy ministers Premier King said that Major Bell, deputy minister of ralways, had been offered $20,000 a year to go to a private concern.

Sir Henry Drayton claimed that it was going to cost $584,000,000 to meet the expenses of the Dominion this year, and Robert Forke, Progressive leader, agreed that the government, in bringing down the supplementary estimates so late, was not affording proper opportunity for discussion.

GIRLS PLAN FOR SWIM UNDER MIDNIGHT SUN

California Trio Armed to Teeth Set Sail Down Yukon in Search of Fresh Thrills

DAWSON, Y. T., June 28.—(By Canadian Press)—Armed with rifles, knives, kodaks and fur-trimmed bathing suits, three girls from Long Beach, Cal., today set out in small boats to cruise down the mighty Yukon in search of a new thrill. They are Miss Thelma Briggs, Miss Frances Ostberg and Miss Alice Lamy. They are unescorted and intend to bring back big game.

Some of the old-timers gathered to give them a cheer and expressed the conviction that the girls would get a thrill of sorts if they carried out their intention of swimming at Fort Yukon, wthin the Arctic circle, under the midnight sun.

"Not even those fur-trimmed bathing suits will protect them in that icy water," said one.

A notable feature of the heavy tourist traffic this season is the large number of young women in the crowds which pass down the river weekly in this season of the Yukon's spectacular best.

BRITAIN WON'T AGREE TWELVE MILE SEARCH

But States Has Legal Right to Impose Conditions in Its Own Waters

SECRETARY CURZON MAKES STATEMENT

While States Within Rights Britain Is Raising Other Considerations

LONDON, June 28. — Marquis Curzon, secretary for foreign affairs, made a lengthy and important statement in the house of lords today in reply to Lord Birkenhead, who called attention to the seizure by the United States of liquor on British vessels.

The secretary declared that there was no chance of Great Britain agreeing in any circumstances whatever to the proposal that the United States authorities be given the right to search vessels for liquor within the 12-mile limit.

All Channels of Diplomacy Used.

The government, he added, was fully alive to the importance of the case, and all channels of diplomacy were being utilized to find an exit from a situation which was undoubtedly disagreeable, and ought not to be allowed to continue.

Lord Curzon explained that it was a very difficult and delicate matter, raising grave issues in both international law and policy. The British government was not concerned with prohibition in the United States, but it was concerned with the treatment meted out to British ships in United States waters, and the degree in which that treatment conformed to or departed from international practice.

He would not discuss the legal right of the United States to impose conditions on foreign vessels entering its waters, because on this subject international law was decisive.

He next detailed the steps taken by Great Britain, starting with a note to the United States government from the British ambassador at Washington, after Attorney-General Daugherty's ruling that the Volstead act applied to foreign ships.

Practically Dictates to High Seas.

"We pointed out," he continued, "that for any state, even constructively, to project the operation of its strictly domestic municipal law on to foreign vessels on the high seas—which was the practical effect of the American ruling—would be unprecedented, and, if adopted by other states, would subject all shipping, other than coastwise, to the evils of allowing for a conflict of authority.

"The United States government acknowledges the rights of this, but did not enter into a discussion of its arguments."

Great Britain's legal position, according to its legal authorities, Lord Curzon said, is as follows:

"There are two recognized principles of international law which prevent Great Britain from contending that the United States committed a violation of international law in forbidding foreign vessels to bring liquor within its waters. The first is that foreigners trading with a country must comply with its laws; the second is that every sovereign independent state is supreme over all persons and property within its dominions, including ships in its territorial waters.

"That is the strict interpretation of the law, but there are other considerations of scarcely inferior validity and importance.

"The principles to which I have referred cannot be pushed to extremes, but must be applied with moderation and good sense.

A Complete Travelling Unit.

"A ship is a travelling unit passing from one state to another, and therefore cannot escape the necessity of complying with other legal systems which may not be consistent with the law of the particular country it happens to be visiting.

"Furthermore, it is universally recognized that a ship has a particularly close relationship to the state whose flag she flies, and on many matters it is generally convenient that all governments should recognize the law of the state as paramount."

'CHANGE PROPOSES BETTER CONTROL

No Member Will be Allowed to Incorporate Branch Houses to Evade Supervision.

NEW YORK, June 28.—An amendment to the constitution of the New York Stock exchange, designed to prevent members from incorporating branch houses for any part of their business so that such corporate business is placed beyond the control of the exchange, was submitted to the membership today. Unless the amendment is disapproved within one week, it will become a law of the exchange.

The amendment provides that no member or firm registered on the exchange shall act as broker for any corporation or association engaged in the brokerage business, if such business is controlled by stock ownership or otherwise by the member or members or any of his partners.

SOVIET DRAWS SETTLERS FROM THIS PROVINCE

Finlanders Leave for Rich Lands of Don Under Attractive Promises

VANCOUVER, June 28.—Soviet Russia has called some of the inhabitants of British Columbia. Fifteen adult Finlanders, men and women, and three children are leaving tonight for New York, via the United States, to sail for a new home they have been given in the rich wheat lands of the valley of the Don.

The adults of the party have been in British Columbia ranching, lumbering, farming and fishing at points on the coast. Some have been in the province for 21 years, others since 1910. The children were born here. They go to Russia as a result of a colonization scheme of the Soviet government. They are given land and seed grain, but must supply their own machinery. The government markets the crops, keps 10 per cent for handling, and assures the farmers of no further taxes. Live stock are supplied on shares.

Another party of Finlanders has been raised in Oregon and Washington, and when the British Columbia people reach New York, there will be about 100 in the company.

CLAIM CANADIAN RATES CHEAPER

Existing Grain Rates Below Both Present and Prospective Rates In the States.

MONTREAL, June 28. — Canadian grain rates are cheaper than those on American roads, according to Canadian railway officials.

The rates on grain shipped direct, as well as milled in transit from Canadian shipping points to Fort William, are very much lower than from American shipping points for similar distances to Duluth. In fact, present rates in Canada are lower than the proposed reduced rates in the United States will be, as the following illustrated table will show:

Kansas City to Duluth, 680 miles, St. Joseph to Duluth, 618 miles — proposed rate, 19 cents per 100 pounds.

Saltcoats, Sask., to Fort William, 881 miles; Broadview, Sask., to Fort Willitm, 684 miles—18 cents per 100 pounds.

Elkhorn, Man., to Fort William, 617 miles; Naples, Man., to Fort William, 618 miles—18 cents per 100 pounds.

"The farmers of western Canada have a great advantage in respect to freight rates over the farmer in contiguous territory in the United States," commented E. N. Todd, freight traffic manager of the Canadian Pacific railway, today, when the matter was brought to his notice.

REGINA, June 28. — After limping 50 miles in an attempt to leave Regina jail and get back to his family, John Cote, escaped Indian prisoner, was captured near Muscowa, Sask., this afternoon.

The arrest was the culmination of a 20-hour chase, during which policemen had braved a rainstorm, ploughed through roads that resembled quagmire and built a bridge in order that they might proceed.

STONE KNOCKS MAGISTRATE UNCONSCIOUS

Sydney Mob Rushes King's Representative as He Reads the Riot Act

STRIKE SYMPATHIZERS STAGE A "SCAB" HUNT

Men Walk Out During Day and Trouble Starts in the Evening

SYDNEY, N. S., June 28.—Magistrate W. A. Hill was struck on the head by a stone and knocked unconscious about 10:30 tonight, while he was endeavoring to read the Riot act at Whitney pier, where a series of raids and clashes between mobs of striking workmen of the Dominion Iron & Steel company and city police commenced.

Several policemen, who were guarding the magistrate, were hit by the volleys of stones.

At midnight the city police seem to be in control of the situation, and no other disturbances were anticipated tonight.

The trouble followed the walkout of men today in the Sydney steel plant of the British Empire Steel corporation.

No trouble started until 8:30 this evening, when a large crowd of strike sympathizers pushed aside the company's police at No. 4 gate, and entered. They said they were looking for "scabs".

Magistrate Hill was sent for, and arrived, accompanied by Chief of Police McMorris, and the officers available. As soon as the crowd saw the magistrate, volleys of stones were thrown, and the official was struck.

THUG SHOOTS POOL KEEPER UPON PRAIRIE

Proprietor Fails to Stick Up Hands at Order; Alleged Witness Held

DOLLARD, Sask., June 28—Leonard Stevens, a farmer south of Dollard is under arrest, and provincial police are momentarily expecting to make another arrest, in connection with the death of Gib Hollenbeck, Dollard farmer and pool room keeper, who was shot to death shortly after 1 o'clock this morning in his pool room here.

Stevens, the arrested man, and Hollenbeck, according to the story told the police by Stevens, were talking in the pool room near the first table about 1 o'clock this morning. Suddenly a man with his face covered with a dark handkerchief rushed through the door, levelled a revolver, and ordered both men to stick up their hands.

Stevens immediately complied, but Hollenbeck failed, and four shots rang out, the first three missing, but the fourth killing Hollenbeck instantly. Stevens states the bandit did not pay any attention to him, and went to the body, turned it over, rifled the pockets then disappeared.

Stevens was unable to give a good description of the man, but told the police that he was of medium built, with the whole of his features covered with a handkerchief.

SENATE URGES DELAYING THE SOLDIER BILLS

Holds That Reexamination Would Eliminate Many Would-be Insured

CUTS OUT DISTRICT REVIEWING BOARDS

Objects to Pension Eligibility Being Extended to Soldiers' Dependents

OTTAWA, June 28. — Extensive modifications of the house of commons bill amending the Pensions act and the Returned Soldiers Insurance act, respectively, are recommended in the report of the senate committee which has been considering them.

In the case of the Insurance act, it is recommended that the 71 cases involved be reviewed by the minister of the D.S.C.R. with a view to carrying out the intention of parllament in 1922.

The senate committee found that under the original act it was assumed that ex-service men were under all conditions entitled to take out insurance up to $5000 without medical examination.

The law provided, however, that the minister might refuse to make an insurance contract if, after investigation, the circumstances warranted. In certain cases it was held that insurance had been taken out in favor of interested people other than dependants. Under the 1922 amendments, the committee decided that of 71 cases outstanding, 50 would be rejected on this score.

Would Exclude Those Without Dependants

The senate committee decided that the interpretation of the law was that insurance should be available to ex-service men in favor of dependants, and that those without dependants were ineligible.

Regarding pensions, the recommendation is that before altering existing legislation, there be a through investigation as to the law as it is at present administered in Great Britain, and the United States, where the insurance principle, and not the "due to service" principle, to some extent governs. The investigation should also thoroughly determine what would be the effect of the house of commons bill.

The committee finds that under the existing law every soldier disabled during service is pensionable, but under the proposed legislation the pension privilege would extend to dependents of all such men upon their death.

New Pensions Costly

Evidence before the committe indicated that the adoption of this new legislation would involve an expenditure of $450,000 for pension arrears Furthermore, that it would cost $100,000 for the first year in which it was in effect, and this would be increased in 10 years to $1,000,000 to $2,000,000 in 20 years, and over a period of 25 years to a total cost of $32,000,000.

The committee decided against the appointment of district review boards. Instead, one federal travel*ling appeal board of five to seven* members is recommended, a majority of the members of th board should be ex-service men; the chairman to be appointed "during pleasure", half of the other members for two years and the remainder for three years. Thus, at the end of three years the chairman alone would remain to handle the residue of the cases.

The report recommends that appeals should lie only the score of entitlement, and not as regards the amount of pension. This, it is claimed, will mean the elimination of a very large nubmer of anticipated appeals.

Suggest Compassionate Grants

The dropping of four sections of the pensions bill is recommended on the score that they were inserted in the house of commons to meet individual cases cited by members; they did not follow recommendations made by the Ralston commission.

In their place it is proposed to include a section providing that cases not covered by the existing laws which appear meritorious to a majority of the pension board and the board of appeal sitting jointly, may be dealt with by way of a compassionate pension or allowance.

BRITAIN WON'T AGREE TWELVE MILE SEARCH

"The net result of this has been that on many matters the practice has grown up that a state should not exact compliance with its own laws, even though a ship is in its own waters, but leave such questions to be regulated by the law of the flag state.

"This, however, is international practice, rather than international law, and, accordingly, departure from it means a breach, not of internaltonal law, but of the comity of nations. Thus, if a nation acts unreasonably toward the ships of other nations, the latter may regulate."

Referring tot he breaking of the British customs seals, Lord Curzon explained that the seals were not sacrosanct outside of British waters, and, in general, repeated the recent statement made by the prime minister, Stanley Baldwin, which was to the effect that there was no ground for protest on this stand and that Great Britain recognized the right of the United States to break the seals in their own territorial waters.

Object Was to Offer Loophole

The object of their ships in bringing liquor under seal into New York, continued Lord Curzon, was not to bring a test case. Their intention was, while fully guaranteeing that liquor would not be landed, to see whether the United States really meant to proceed in violation of international practice, and refrain from availing themselves of what is regarded as a loophole n the decision of the supreme court of the United States, cited by Lord Birkenhead.

Another consideration is that the real motive of the United States government in allowing the matter to come to a head at the present time is most probably their desire to put pressure on us to check the traffic in contraband liquor, notably from the West Indies.

"This appears from the fact that the latest United States government's proposals to Great Britain couple the two questions."

Lord Curzon concluded by detailing the latest United States proposal for the establishment of a 12-mile limit as a temporary arrangement, against a reversal of the supreme court rulings. He described it as a complex proposal, which was being considered by the special committee. It was at this point that he declared that Great Britain could not under any circumstances agree to such a proposal.

Birkenhead for Coolness

Lord Birkenhead, calling attention to the seizure by the United States of liquor on British vessels at New York asked what was the government's policy relative to the difficulties with which British shipping is confronted.

Lord Birkenhead said:

"This eminent authority, (evidently meaning Mr. Lloyd George), has exhorted us to keep cool and let America make the great experiment in her own way without interference. I do not think that any of use has shown any inclination to examine the matter in any spirit bht complete calmness, and it is generally recognized that no friendly and reasonable representation to the United States could fail to receive a friendly and reasonable reception. Nobody in this country has the slightest intention or desire to make any criticism at all of the United States domestic policy."

He expressed doubt as to whether a single competent lawyer in the United States has ever suspected that the Volstead act would lead to consequences such as had been brought about by the decision of the United States supreme court.

Ship Carries Nationality

A consderable school of international lawyers, he contended, held that the British merchant ships carried its nationality with it. That is the case both in the United States and this country.

He stated that it would be both unforutnate and unnecessary for the British government to pass over a policy of this kind in silence. No nation in the world had a hgher conception of common sense and reasonableness than the United States, and it was inconceivable that tactful and courteous representations would be received by it with any*thing but the greatest respect and* friendliness.

What Uncle Sam Said to Spain

He hoped British diplomacy would ask the United States, in the exercise of that discretion which a majority of the judges of the Scotus had pointed out it possessed, to infuse some mitigation into this system, which, while maintaining unimpaired the policy of the United States, would at the same tme relive British shipping of a serious and unnecessary burden.

Birkenhead cited the pronouncement by the United States government at the time of the diplomatic discussion with Spain preceding a very different period:

"We do not question the right of every nation to prescribe conditions under which the vesels of other nations may be admitted to its ports, but nevertheless we point out that these conditions ough not conflict with sea usages which regulate commercial intercourse between civilized nations."

Grey Is Anxious

Viscount Grey expressed anxiety as to the effects the difficulty might have on British relations with the United States. In his opinion liquor smuggling was not a temporary phrase, and would cause friction if continued. There was undoubtedly a cause for iritation on both sides, and he urged that a real attempt be made by both governments to settle the question.

HOUSE PUTS THROUGH FEEDING STUFFS BILL

Western Farmers Discuss Alleged Adulteration of the Various Stock Foods

OTTAWA, June 28. — Third reading was given by the house today to a bill amending the Feeding Stuffs act. Complaint was made by J. L. Brown, Progressive, Lisgar, that mills were not only putting screenings into feed mixtures, but actual scourings. If the mills were permitted to mix screenings with bran and shorts, it would be found, he said, that the pure products would be on the market to so limited an extent as to be unobtainable.

Donald Sutherland, Conservative, Oxford South, urged the putting of a clause in the bill to prevent the adulteration of milk feed, which had, he maintained, poisoned many cattle.

J. Millar, Progressive, Qu'Appelle, commented on an objection that in order to carry out the suggestion to exclude screenings from mill feed it would be necessary for the mills to introduce new machinery.

"If this regulation goes into effect, it will be absolutely impossible for the western farmer to get shorts at all," commented Thomas Sales, Progressive, Saltcoats.

GRAVELBOURG, Sask., June 28. — The body of Rene Gareau, drowned last Saturday in the Wood river, six miles south of here, came to the surface today, following a heavy thunder storm, and was found floating about 400 feet from where the man is supposed to have gone down with his horse.

Don't let diapers irritate your baby's skin

NO matter how carefully you bathe and powder him—if his diapers are washed with harsh soap—his tender skin will suffer.

The diaper rash that is the source of such severe suffering to babies is caused by this very thing—washing diapers with harsh or impure soaps.

Safe for all his little clothes

Keep your baby's diapers soft and comfortable. Wash them in pure, safe Lux suds and thoroughly rinse.

There is no free alkali in Lux to stick to them and make them irritating. No harmful ingredient to inflame the sensitive skin. These pure flakes are safe for all the clothes that touch his tender skin.

Use Lux for your baby's soft woollen shirts and bands, his petticoats and dresses, his diapers and socks.

To keep diapers from irritating

To prepare for washing: Remove all solid matter immediately—put to soak in cold water. If diapers are simply wet place in a covered pail and let soak in cold water.

To wash: Whisk two tablespoonsfuls of Lux into a thick lather in a tub of very hot water. Let diapers soak for a few minutes then dip up and down pressing suds repeatedly through them. Thoroughly rinse in three waters. Boil diapers once a week using one tablespoonful of Lux to a gallon of water.

The Nelson Sunburst Oil Company, Ltd.

NON-PERSONAL LIABILITY

Has Been Formed by Nelson People and They Will Drill for Oil. on Their Land in Northern Montana as soon as possible.

A STRAIGHT BUSINESS PROPOSITION

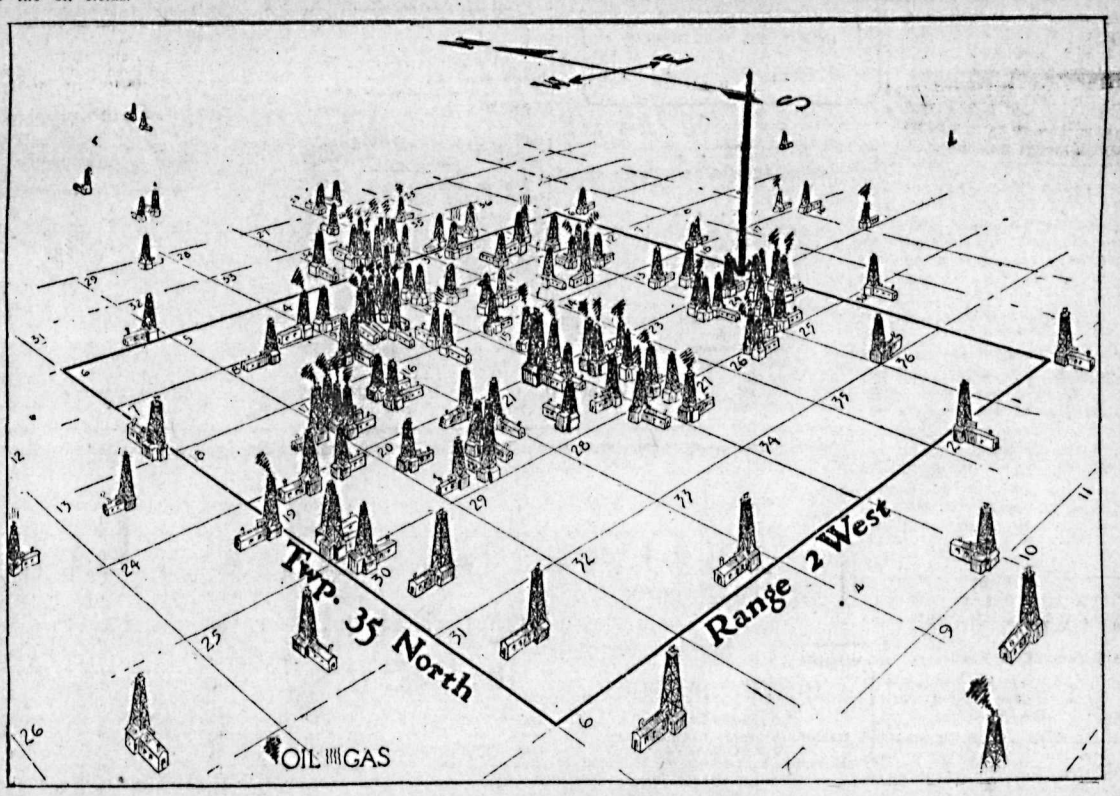
This Company will be run on straight business lines and all subscribers for shares will get a good run for their money, with the chances of making a big thing.

The Gold, Silver, Iron, Copper, Coal and other fields have been very largely bought up; so have the timber, land and water resources.

Thousands of poor men have become wealthy through the resources of Nature—but today, there is little left to the small investor in that direction where a fortune may be won outside of the oil fields.

A man with $5,000 drawing 6 per cent, gets $150 semi-annually. If he invests his interest only in Oil for two or three years, making half a dozen small investments judiciously, he can in all human probability be on his way to a fortune, even if half of his investments are unproductive. One Winning in OIL Is Uusually Enough for a Man of Reasonable Ambition.

Look at the Company's location on the map, in Township 35. We do not know of a better location in the whole field.



This map of the Sunburst field gives an idea of the true situation in the new field. Several wells have come into production since this map was made. The arrow standing on the S.E. ¼ of Section 13 is resting on the Company's 40-acre tract, which has producing wells on all sides of it, and 10 new derricks have been erected since this picture was made.

PRODUCTION IN TOWNSHIP 35

There are now 50 wells drilled in this Township—45 producing wells and 5 dry holes. The total reported production from these wells is 7,425 barrels per day, or an average of 148½ barrels for every well drilled.

DO A LITTLE FIGURING

Supposing the Company drills 8 wells the average would allow for one dry hole. We have 7 wells left, which, if they are up to the present average in Township 35, would give at least 100 barrels each after expenses and royalties had been allowed for. Working 300 days per year—700 times 300 equals 210,000 barrels, at $1.00 per barrel amounts to $210,000 per year. Hardly seems enough—Well, cut it in two, and if that looks too big, cut it in two again, and you still have $52,500 to pay dividends with. We do not know of anything better and want you to do some figuring for yourself, and if you feel you can take a chance on a few dollars send your application to either of the Brokers authorized to accept subscriptions for shares.

Eyes of the Thermometer

Some say, when the mercury soars, forget it and keep cool. Rubbish. Keep your eyes on the thermometer.

When the bulb reads 80 o'mornings, think to arise promptly at the alarm's first tinkle. Have plenty of time for a refreshing bath and a sensible breakfast. Keep your eye on the thermometer, and don't run for the street car.

When the bulb reads 90 at noon, think to eat lightly—no meat or rich dishes if you are an office worker. Walk on the shady side of the street. When you return to the office, if you are overheated, keep your eyes on the thermometer and keep away from an electric fan.

When the mercury reads 92 at 5 o'clock, keep your eyes on the thermometer, and walk home leisurely. It's better to walk home than to be carried to the hospital in an ambulance.

When the earth sizzles at 8 o'clock, keep your eyes on the thermometer, and find the shade of a tree. God gave us trees for the summer evening, and man hasn't been able to improve upon his handiwork.

When the sun goes down red, keep your eyes on the thermometer. It's nature's warning that it will be hot tomorrow, and you shouldn't dance away your energies half the night. There will be plenty of cool hours for that later.

Keep eyes on the thermometer! And keep well!

New Wonders in Medical Science

How the tip of the eighth rib and a flap of skin from the forehead are used in the manufacture of new noses or in correcting the deformities of old ones, was explained and illustrated with "before-and-after" lantern slides the other day, when Dr. E. F. Risdon of Toronto spoke before the eye, ear, nose and throat section of the Canadian Medical association in its 54th annual meeting at Montreal.

Pug noses, which were almost upside down; flat, one-sided noses, the kind usually associated with movie prizefighters; long, straight noses, with sharp points, as well as cases of no nose at all, were mentioned by Dr. Risdon, and the results of the cartilage treatment shown with pictures. The photographs of a South American negro, whose nose had been completely blown off, were particularly striking, and one of Dr. Risdon's patients, whose nose had been greatly changed by autogeneous grafts, was present. Dr. Risdon first attracted attention in this line of surgery because of his plastic work during the war, when he accomplished several outstanding corrections of injuries caused from explosions.

One of the outstanding stunts of the clinic at Royal Victoria hospital was the demonstration of the new skin test for asthma—a theory which originated only a short while ago. Most cases of both asthma and hay fever are caused by the inability of the patient to withstand the effect of some material substance, like fur, feathers or hair. The protein of chicken feathers, horse's fur, cat's fur, dog's hair, is made into liquid form and placed upon some portion of the arm where the skin has been removed slightly. The skin will immediately respond to the substance which is responsible for the patient's inability to keep from contracting either asthma or hay fever, and in this way the physician may use the preventive methods rather than a remedy—that is, keep the patient away from either chicken feathers, dogs or cats, as the case may be.

What the Press Is Saying

Capital Punishment

But the thought that caused a million English people to sign a petition against hanging has nothing to do with the woman's crime, but rather with the action of the civilized race strangling a woman to death. A cat will torture a mouse every day, but that wouldn't excuse your torture of a cat. Civilized government is supposed to be above a miserable murderess. The hanging of that woman however, shows progress. They hanged her inside the prison. A little while ago they hanged men and women outside for the edification of crowds, to "diminish crime by frightening criminals". Civilization hasn't learned to stop capital punishment, but it has learned that the sight of it doesn't diminish crime. — Chicago Herald Examiner.

Almost every kitchen garden has its row of peas. And lucky is the housewife who has enough peas to can as well as to serve on the table. Peas are a little more difficult to can than the other vegetables, but success can be gained by following these directions carefully.

To Can Peas — Use only fresh, young peas. Gather them in the early morning if possible and can them at once. At least do not let them stand long after shelling. Sort them over, putting peas of the same size together. Be sure not to use hard, ripe peas among very tender ones. This is important, because the very young, tender peas need scarcely more than two minutes of blanching, whereas the very old ones may need 20 minutes of blanching.

For ordinary, tender peas, however, blanch from three to eight minutes for the small ones and eight minutes for the larger. This blanching water should contain one teaspoon of baking soda to every gallon. "Cold dip" the peas in water containing one tablespoon of salt to every gallon; let them remain in this salty water from 20 to 30 seconds. Drain, and pack in sterilized glass jars.

Do not pack your jars too full of the peas, as that may cause them to burst during the processing, thus making a cloudy liquor. Put one and one-half level teaspoons of salt and sugar (mixed) into each quart size jar. Cover the peas in the jar with boiling water to within one-fourth of an inch of top, place a new rubber on the jar rim, and adjust glass cover.

Processing—The intermittent method of processing has been found safer for peas, (as well as for asparagus, beans and corn), than the one-period method. By the intermittent method the jar of peas is boiled in the canner for one hour on each of three successive days. During each of these three periods of boiling the top wire is up over the glass cap, but the side wire is not pressed down; at the end of the boiling period the jar is completely sealed—that is, the wire is pressed down and the jar is taken from the wash boiler canner and allowed to stand over night in ordinary room temperature. In the morning the side wire is raised so that the jar can be boiled, or "processed," exactly as it was before. After the third processing the side wire is pressed down permanently, the jar inverted to cool and test for leaks, then labelled and scored. It will pay the housekeeper to go to this trouble of processing the jar on three successive days, for by so doing she will not lose a jar through spoilage.

Tomorrow — Contributed Reripes.

Styles

BY LENORE

Chiffons and lace and Georgette for the clinging evening frock, organdie and taffeta for the bouffant frock—but fine batiste, voiles, ginghams, linens, these are the materials from which the hot weather morning frock is made. Or it may be ratine in a slip-on style, a slip-on calico frock, or striped English silk broadcloth, made with odd pockets to contrast the stripes.

One of the prettiest and coolest looking frocks featured in specialty shops this season is the one illustrated. It has been made in dark blue, pink and mauve Swiss muslin dotted in white the collar and armholes, which serve instead of sleeves, made of narrow Irish lace bound with the material. The same also holds the fullness of the sash, and two wide tucks give character to the skirt.

That Body of Yours

By James W. Barton, M.D.

Hot Weather

(Registered in accordance with the Copright Act)

Were you asked if you were ready for the hot weather, your thoughts would turn to summer underwear and summer clothing.

This is quite all right, of course, because the lighter summer clothing does not hold the heat inside the body, as does the heavier winter material.

You see, it isn't a matter of "cold," either summer or winter. It is always a matter of heat.

In the winter we want heat. In the summer we don't want it.

So, the regulation of your heat supply is your only care.

And from whence comes your heat? From only one source—from your food.

The food and drink you take into you is burned up inside your body, in the air that your lungs take in with every breath. This burning causes the heat, and, as you know, heat keeps everything working inside your body.

So, you see, it is a matter of the quantity and quality of food you take into your system.

Well, what about that?

In the winter you want plenty of the heat-producing foods, that is, fats, butter, milk, vegetables, pork and oatmeal.

In the summer you would be wise to cut down on the above substituting fruits and the lighter vegetables.

Now, what about meat?

Well, the general idea that it is wise to eat less meat in the summer is correct. You see, meat repairs tissue worn out by work. You work less in the summer, ordinarily, than in the winter.

But, if you are an athletic individual; playing games, walking a great deal, and really doing plenty of work, or taking lots of exercise, you can readily see that your tissues will need the meat for repair work.

Now, you eat meat because of the proteids in it.

If you would really like to do without the meat entirely you absolutely must eat eggs, peas or beans, if you are going to keep your body in good repair.

When you are weary to the point of exhaustion in the summer, remember abstaining from eating is not wise. You need strength and energy, and food is the only way you can get it. A little extra fluid means more prespiration, but perspiration is nature's way of throwing off heat and waste.

HOW THE PRESS VIEWS ONTARIO

Victoria Colonist:

"A Sweeping Victory"

The Conservative victory in the Ontario elections was more decisive than the most optimistic followers of that party dared to prophesy. It was an overwhelming victory in every respect. It has meant a sad downfall for the Farmer's party in that Province, and this is particularly significant from the fact that it is the first time in this country a Farmer's party has sought a renewal of power after holding the reins of government. Thus it would seem that its administrative power was tested and found wanting in the scales of public opinion. The Liberals, too, have lost seats in the country for they held 29 in the last Ontario Legislature, while Labor, which shared authority with the Farmer's government, has received a serious setback to its political hopes.

For the Farmers government of Ontario the elections have proved a debacle. For the Conservatives the result holds the highest promise of the return of the people generally in the Dominion to Conservative principles of government. There can be no question that, viewed from any angle, neither the Farmers nor Liberals can derive any grains of hope from the outcome. The Liberal leader has been defeated in his own constituency. Many of the cabinet ministers have fallen by the wayside, and their colleagues in the ranks of Labor have fared very badly. Ontario has reverted to its old faith and done so in a way which shows conclusively what is likely to be the fate of any coalition party which seeks a renewal of its mandate of power.

Ontario's verdict will, in every probability, stay the intention of the federal government to hold an election in the near future. It will give other Farmer governments in the country pause, and force them to reconsider policies which they are endeavoring to impose on the people. In Ontario the Farmers promised economy but indulged in expenditures which aroused the ire of the people. Premier Drury was pitchforked into power in circumstances in which, only by strong, fearless and economic administration, he could hope to retain the public confidence. The outcome was he lost that confidence and lost it to a degree that was never anticipated. It is quite obvious now that those Conservatives in Ontario who, for the time being, had lined up with the Farmers party have returned to their former faith and that it is they who are responsible for giving G. Howard Ferguson and his followers such a sweeping victory.

We do not imagine for a moment that the prohibition issue played a part in the result. That is an issue to be decided by plebiscite and one which must come before the people again before long in Ontario. In the meantime what has happened in the elections of that province will warm the heart of grace into the Conservatives throughout the Dominion. They have passed through a period of years when their fortunes seemed to have been on the decline, but that decline was more apparent than real. Ontario has proved that the party can come as strong as ever again. The influence of Ontario's verdict will undoubtedly make itself felt in every quarter of the Dominion.

ONTARIO ANTI-BETTING ACT NOW QUESTIONED

Constitutionality of Law About to Come Into Force May Be Contested.

TORONTO, June 28. — The Ontario government has passed an order-in-council in connection with the prohibition of race track betting, to take effect on July 16. The legislation was passed during the last session of the legislature.

It has been a debatable point as to whether it is in the jurisdiction of the province to enact such legislation, and it is possible that the act may be contested in the courts.

FRECKLE-FACE

Sun and Wind Bring Out Ugly Spots; How to Remove Easily

Here's a chance, Miss Freckle-Face, to try a remedy for freckles with the guarantee of a reliable concern that it will not cost you a penny unless it removes the freckles; while if it does give you a clear complexion the expense is trifling.

Simply get an ounce of Othine—double strength—from any druggist and a few applications should show you how easy it is to rid yourself of the homely freckles and get a beautiful complexion. Rarely is more than one ounce needed for the worst case.

Be sure to ask the druggist for the double strength Othine as this strength is sold under guarantee of money back if it fails to remove freckles.

Blackheads Go Quick by This Simple Method

Blackheads—big ones or little ones—soft ones or hard ones—on any part of the body go quick by a simple method that just dissolves them. To do this, get about two ounces of peroxine powder from your druggist—sprinkle a little on a hot, wet cloth—rub over the blackheads briskly for a few seconds—and wash off. You'll wonder where the blackheads have gone. Pinching and squeezing blackheads only open the pores of the skin and leave them large and unsightly—while the simple application of peroxine powder and the water dissolve them right out, leaving the skin soft and the pores in their natural condition.

CRESTON EXPECTS A BRAND NEW RIDING

Great Interest Taken In Revision of Voters' List Because of the New Possibility.

CRESTON, B.C., June 28. — At least 100 names were added to the provincial voters' list of the Kaslo riding from the seven polling places in Creston Valley, in the revision which closed last week, when Ronald Hewat, registrar of voters, sat as court of revision. Added interest was shown in the event, due to the approaching redistribution of provincial ridings at which it is predicted here that the Kaslo end will be merged in with Slocan, and the Creston end, with a few of the lake polls, and the territory as far east as Yahk, included in a brand new riding, of which Creston will be the electoral headquarters.

The 1923 list for Kaslo riding will show at least 1700 names, and of these it is estimated that more than half are located in Creston Valley. On the new list the only poll that shows a decrease at this end is Camp Lister, where removals of the past year have clipped off possibly 25 per cent of the old-time vote.

Creston Juveniles Look Forward to Cultus Creek Camp

CRESTON, B.C., June 28. — At the weekly sessions of the boys and girls' atheletic clubs of Christ church last week, the parents and youngsters completed arrangements for the big summer camp at Cultus Creek after the berry season, which will likely be attended by at least a half hundred of the juveniles of Christ church parish. Including their transportation to Cultus Creek, it has been figured out that the total expense of the week's outing will be less than $8 a head. A number of the parents are going along to assist Director Fred Benham of the club, in handling the party.

The membership of the boys' organization has more than doubled since its second meeting about six weeks ago.

Corn Creek People Build Schoolhouse by Volunteer Labor

CRESTON, B.C., June 28. — John Williams, C. C. French and Jimmy Lochead were Creston visitors in town on Saturday, making the trip by canoes from the ferry.

The high water period has been used to community benefit across the river, the first few days of the week seeing most of the men in attendance at work bees for the erection of West Creston's first public school, which will be in operation this fall. A very superior lot of cedar logs has been used in its erection, which was supervised by Jack Stephens and R. Sinclair Smith. The schoolroom proper will be 18 by 28 feet inside, with a 10-foot wall. With the exception of the usual small grant from the education department, the new school is being done entirely by voluntary labor.

There is a prospective opening attendance of at least a dozen scholars, and as the country across the Kootenay is attracting the attention of many of the prospective newcomers, it will not be long before the attendance will be doubled, the absence of a school militating against settlement in the past.

BOWSER GIVEN BIG RECEPTION AT CRANBROOK

Is Guest of Honor at a Public Banquet and Smoker in Pythian Hall

TELLS HOW OLIVER WAS AGAINST BETTER TERMS

With His Party Makes City Headquarters for East Kootenay Itinerary

CRANBROOK, B.C., June 28. — Enthusiastic meetings have marked the appearance of Hon. W. J. Bowser, leader of the Conservative party in British Columbia, and his party of members of the legislature, in their tour of East Kootenay. They arrived in Cranbrook yesterday, and are making this their headquarters for a stay in the district of some days, during which they will visit many of the nearby points. Accompanying Mr. Bowser are J. W. Jones, M.P.P., South Okanagan; J. H. Schofield, M.P.P., Trail; W. K. Esling, M.P.P., Rossland; and Lieut.-Col. Fred Lister, M.P.P., Kaslo. They were joined here by N. W. Wallinger, M.P.P. for Cranbrook.

Last evening a banquet and smoker was tendered to the party by Cranbrook Conservatives, which was presided over by Alderman A. J. Balment, president, and was attended by many ladies. Every available seat in the K. P. hall was taken, and a spirit of enthusiasm was strongly marked in the splendid reception given to the speakers of the evening.

Several Local Speakers.

Local speakers included Mayor W. F. Cameron, who extended a cordial welcome to the city to the visitors, Dr. J. W. Rutledge, T. D. Caven, former member, and N. A. Wallinger.

J. H. Schofield made brief mention of the results in Ontario, which he thought was an omen of what was going to happen in British Columbia, and referred also to the claims of generosity which the premier is making as he visits the different ridings.

Colonel Lister referred to the time when, before the war, he resided here, and characterized the propaganda which has been carried on against the leadership of Mr. Bowser as malicious in the extreme, and invariably emanating from his political opposition.

W. K. Esling spoke briefly on the premier's campaign in regard to the western freights, and alleged that while charging the C.P.R. with a blunder in changing its route through the mountains, he had himself, as minister of railways, changed the route of a section on the Pacific Great Eastern at a cost to the province of over $400,000. Mr. Esling also showed how his attempts, as a member of the opposition, to get an investigation into the affairs of the P.G.E. and the Northern Construction company, had been blocked in committee.

J. W. Jones urged that the utmost consideration be given the matter of the maintenance of the roads in this section for the benefit of the huge tourist traffic that is going to flow in this direction. He characterized some of the roads encountered in their motor tour as anything but good. Good tourist camps should also be maintained.

The hour was late when Mr. Bowser rose to speak, but he was given a splendid hearing, and it was some little time before he was able to commence his address, this being his first visit to the city since the time of the Cranbrook byelection 10 months ago.

The Conservative chieftain shed some illumination on the early history of the movement for better terms for British Columbia from the federal government. He stated that Premier Oliver, when in the legislature as an opposition member, had opposed the move then instituted by the government, and had stood with the late Sir Wilfrid Laurier for a settlement of the question which would have been final and unalterable, and would have precluded the question being reopened had not the matter been carried to the privy council and the objectionable words struck out.

Mr. Bowser indicated how he would institute a policy of strict retrenchment to curb the outlays of the public money, to get away from the policy of such heavy borrowing.

He claimed that the Conservative policy of road building had been strictly in the interest of the settlers, and urged for the present needs of the province the slogan coined by Bonar Law, "Tranquillity and Stability."

Music was rendered during the evening by local musicians.

Social Happenings In Nelson

This column is conducted by Mrs. M. J. Vigneux. All news of a social nature, including receptions, private entertainments, personal items, marriages, etc., will appear in this column. Telephone Mrs. Vigneux.

An unusually pretty wedding was one that took place at the beautiful home of Mr. and Mrs. George Lester, High street, Fairview, Wednesday evening at 7 o'clock, when Miss Olive Gairns of Trail, youngest sister of Mrs. Lester, was united in marriage to James W. McKay, also of Trail. Rev. F. R. G. Dredge performed the ceremony.

The house was beautifully decorated throughout with roses, June pinks and peonies in pink and white, the pretty archway being covered with roses and forget-me-nots.

The bride, who was given away by her brother, Alistair, looked charming in her wedding gown of white radium lace and satin, her veil being caught in her hair by a wreath of orange blossoms and Tasmanian shells. She carried a bouquet of white roses and carnations. She was attended by her sister, Miss Don Gairns, as maid of honor, who wore a pretty gown of blue and white flowered georgette, and carried a bouquet of roses and carnations. Two little flower girls also attended her, Margaret and Lilith McLeod of Trail, nieces of the groom, wearing pale pink organdie dresses, and carrying baskets of carnations and sweet peas.

The groom was supported by F. G. Lee of Trail.

Immediately after the signing of the register, a buffet luncheon was served from a table prettily decorated with pink and white flowers, the wedding cake occupying a conspicuous place.

Mrs. M. Gibbs and Mrs. James Will presided at the table, pouring the tea and coffee, while Mrs. Fuller of Trail cut the ices. Assisting in serving the dainty lunch were Mrs. S. J. McDonald, Miss M. Simons, Miss M. Byrne and Miss N. McClure.

The bride later donned her travelling costume of navy blue, with Gainsborough hat of gray embroidered in white.

The happy couple left amid a shower of confetti and good wishes, on the 9 o'clock train for the coast, where the honeymoon will be spent.

The list of invited guests included Rev. Mr. and Mrs. F. R. G. Dredge, Rev. Alfred and Mrs. Wilson, S. F. and George McKay of Kimberley; Fraser McKay, Toronto; Mr. and Mrs. H. B. Fuller, Mr. and Mrs. J. A. McLeod, Margaret and Lilith McLeod, Mr. and Mrs. H. L. Breen, Misses Dorothy and Isabel McKay, Miss M. Byrne, J. P. Schofield, F. G. Lee, all of Trail; Mr. and Mrs. McPherson, Brandon, Man.; Mr. and Mrs. M. Gibbs, Mr. and Mrs. James Will, Mr. and Mrs. S. J. McDonald, Mr. and Mrs. DeLisle of Midway, Misses M. Simons and N. McClure.

Miss Don Gairns, sister of the bride, leaves this morning on a three-months' trip to her former family home in Scotland. Her brother, Alistair, accompanied her as far as Creston.

CANADIAN SHIP WILL USE SEALS

Makura Will Carry Liquor For Voyage From Honolulu to Australia Under Government Seal.

VANCOUVER, June 28. — The Canadian Australasian liner Makura sails for the Antipodes, via Honolulu, tomorrow night. She will carry under official liquor supplies for her passengers' use on the last leg of the journey. Unsealed liquor will be only sufficient to carry the ship as far as Honolulu, where she will be compelled to test the United States regulations by entering port with sealed liquor aboard.

BUILD LONG WHARF AROUND NOVA SCOTIA

Western Members Claim Many of the Grants Are Just For Purpose of Securing Votes.

OTTAWA, June 28. — When the supplementary estimates were under consideration in the commons, W. A. Boys, chief Conservative whip, protested against 68 items totalling over half a million being voted for the one province of Nova Scotia, while it was impossible to get $50,000 to provide a decent road to Camp Borden.

T. L. Church, Conservative, Toronto, wanted to know what the Progressives thought about all these estimates.

O. R. Gould, Progressive, Assiniboia, suggested that as votes of this kind were a hardy animal, it might be well to create a small crew to make a wharf all round the province.

David Spence, Conservative, Parkdale, intimated that his knowledge of geography would never lead him to believe there could be space for so many wharves along the Nova Scotia coast.

"It is just buying a vote here and a vote there," he declared.

Another check to the committee's progress occurred when, on an item of $40,000 for dredging at Lunenburg, Hon. Hugh Guthrie, Conservative, Wellington South, moved that the amount be reduced by $15,000, more particularly as a protest against the government's action in bringing down these estimates so late in the session.

Robert Forke, Progressive leader, declared he would support the motion, but he considered $40,000 a large amount for dredging.

GEORGE W. PATTERSON

Of Toronto is shown with a 32-inch lunge which he caught on a silk trout line at Lake Couchiching the first day of bass season. This is considered an unusual piscatorial achievement.

At best the German government has a tremendous task before it to balance its budget. France has every right to resent, as conqueror, the bearing of her heavy burden, but the facts are inevitably such, for the time being, that she must bear her own internal troubles herself. It is a case of cutting the losses all round.—Natal Advertiser.

Markets and Finance

STOCK SLUMP IS ARRESTED

After Seventy-five Stocks Fall to New Lows For Year, Market Ends With Gains.

NEW YORK, June 28. — The reactionary trend of stock prices which has been in progress for five consecutive days, came to an abrupt end today, closing prices of active issues showing net gains of 1 to 5 points. The turn for the better did not come, however, until after speculators for the decline had staged another attack on the list which sent 75 stocks to new low prices for the year.

Short covering operations unquestionably furnished the impetus for today's advance although commission houses reported increased buying by so-called bargain hunters.

The so-called pivotal stocks, namely, Studebaker, Baldwin, American Can, American Smelting and United States Steel, all closed 1 to 2 points above yesterday's final quotations. Gains of 2½ to 5 points were registered by American Locomotive, Bosch Magneto, Associated Dry Goods, Davison Chemical, Dupont, International Harvester, Virginia Carolina, Chemical preferred and Remington Typewriter.

Among the railroad shares, Atchison, New York Central, Northern Pacific, Chicago & Northwestern and several others showed net gains of a point or more.

Call money held at 6 per cent throughout the day.

Total sales were 1,300,000 shares.

Closing Quotations.

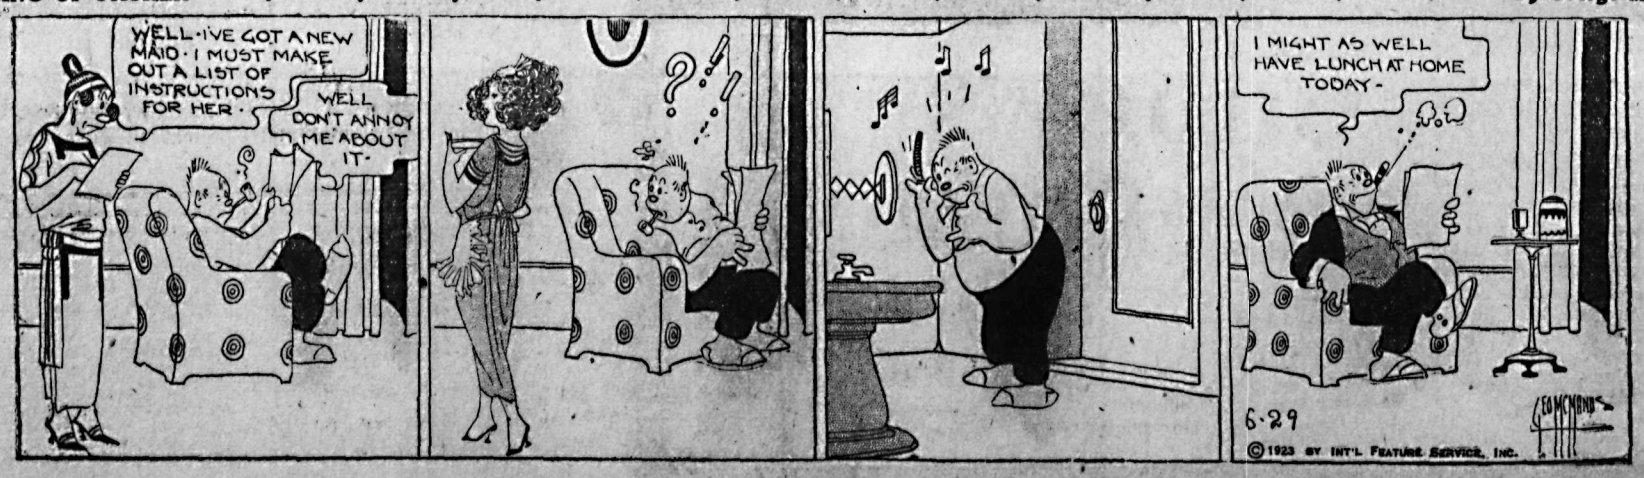
"BRINGING UP FATHER" By George McManus



Roy Edwards, London, Says Tanlac Gave Him the Health of a Schoolboy.

"It surely was a lucky day when I first got Tanlac, for I have gained 16 pounds and feel like a schoolboy again," recently declared Roy Edwards, 295 Richmond St., London, Ont.

"Eating always caused me awful pains in my stomach, I was thin, pale and nervous and got so weak and discouraged I lost all interest in life. Well, sir, every dose of Tanlac made me feel better and better until now I'm always hungry as a bear two hours before meal time, eat three big meals a day and my stomach never hurts me any more. My nerves are so steady. I get eight or nine hours' good, restful sleep every night and I'm so strong and alert I enjoy life more than ever.

"My wife has taken Tanlac for stomach trouble and she, too, has had splendid results. We both think so much of Tanlac we never fail to praise it."

Tanlac is for sale by all good druggists. Accept no substitute. Over 37 million bottles sold.

Tanlac Vegetable Pills are Nature's own remedy for constipation. For sale everywhere.

KING AND QUEEN ARE TENNIS FANS

Are Among Twenty Thousand Who Watch Brilliant International Play

WIMBLEDON June 28. — Twenty thousand tennis devotees crowded the stadium at Wimbledon today. The King and Queen furnished the only surprise of the afternoon, when they appeared in the royal box. Everything else today came off just as expected, the favorites winning in each case.

In the feature event, Vincent Richards, United States, with great dash, terrific speed and artful strokes, disposed of the Frenchman, J. Brugnon, 6-4, 6-1, 6-2.

Mrs. Molla B. Mallory, the United States champion, defeated Mrs. Edgington of England, 6-4, 6-0.

In the Richards-Brugnon contest, Brugnon in the first set, with brilliant placements, seemed likely to give Richards much trouble. He took the first game on his own service, and he handled Richards' returns faultlessly.

Vincent Richards and F. T. Hunter, United States, defeated Maj. R. Barnard and Maj. D. M. Evans, Great Britain, in the men's doubles, 6-2, 6-3, 7-5.

In the women's singles, Mrs. MacReady, Great Britain, defeated Miss Isabella E. Mumford of Boston, 6-2, 6-3.

Picked Teams to Mingle at Six This Evening

Tonight at 6 o'clock the Greens and the Colors, two city football squads, will meet at the Recreation grounds in an exhibition game. The Greens are the players who are picked to play against Trail on July 1, but there are to be some changes made in the lineup, which will be decided at a meeting of the football association tonight. The Colors is a team picked by A. Wallach, who states that he has picked a team which can put it all over the picked team. The picked team is laying low, and declares that the game tonight will show which is the better team.

The game will be refereed by F. Whitfield.

These two teams are the strongest obtainable in Nelson, and therefore the game will be well worth watching. The last game was very exciting, and a number of fans will no doubt be down to the field to watch this one.

TEN STRAIGHT GIANTS' TALLY

World Champions Defeat the Braves by Four to Two, With Scott on the Mound

DOUGHERTY ARBITER FOR THE BIG FIGHT

Red Headed Irishman is the Goods; If Bout Goes Limit Good Man Needed

SHELBY, Mont., June 29.—Referees for championship fights have almost as important jobs as the fighters themselves. Results depend on their efficiency. Some championship fights could be refereed by a school boy. Others require expert knowledge.

In selecting Jim Dougherty — the Baron of Leiperville—the promoters of the Dempsey - Gibbons battle here July Fourth have a man in whom both principals have confidence. Dougherty has worked in two Dempsey's battles. He was the third man in the ring when Dempsey beat Battling Levinsky at Philadelphia and again at Benton Harbor when Billy Miske was handed the curling iron. His work has never been questioned. Dougherty is the kind of a man who would give a decision against his own brother if the other fellow was leading.

While most of Dempsey's fights have been decided by knockouts the one looming just around the Shelby corner may go the limit. If it should extend over the entire route of 15 rounds it may call for expert judgment to name the winner. The consensus of opinion among the critics is that if Gibbons is on his feet at the end of the battle he will be ahead of the champion.

Some of the betting now being done is that Gibbons will win every round he is on his feet. The Gibbons speed is as much of an argument for the challenger as the Gibbons sock. If Gibbons hits Dempsey twice to the champion's one and the fight goes the full distance, it will be the St. Paul man's fight.

However there is always one element which decides heavyweight matches. It is this: The first hard blow whether delivered by Gibbons or Dempsey will decide the outcome. Blows which big men rattle off do unreparable damage.

When priming the engine care should be taken not to use an overamount of gasoline.

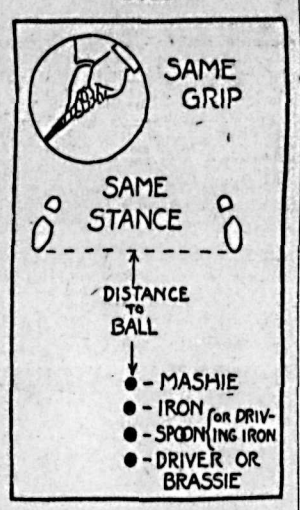
Little Lessons in Big Sports

GOLF



Is it the same stance and grip used in addressing the ball with a wooden club as with an iron?

Answered by

JIM BARNES

American open champion, 1921; recognized everywhere as one of the greatest golfers in the world. In British open championship, 1922, he finished second, one stroke behind Walter Hagen, the winner.

I advise the same grip for both woodens and irons—it becomes a matter of habit and makes for better golf. When using irons, the player should stand a bit nearer the ball than when woodens are employed and the feet should be slightly closer together. Of course, the distance a player stands away from the ball is regulated by the length of club he is using.

WILKINSON MOTORS REGINA TO NELSON

Uses Up Two Rear Wheel Tires and a Pair of Chains; Crops Splendid

Plowing through mud and ruts, which ate up two new rear wheel cord tires and a pair of heavy chains, Thomas Wilkinson made the trip by auto from Regina to Nelson in eight days, reaching Nelson Wednesday night. He was accompanied by Mr. Hall, brother of R. D. Hall of Nelson, and a nephew, Quintin Fallis, of Rocanville, Sask.

The roads were in bad shape on account of the recent storms, and from Blairmore to Crows Nest it was necessary to have the car taken by rail, said Mr. Wilkinson. He stated that crops were in splendid shape.

"There is not an acre of poor crop between Lethbridge and Regina" he declared.

TO STAGE FOUR BALL MATCHES

Nelson Golf and Country Club Will Have Handicap Events Week-End

During the coming week end the members of the Nelson Golf and Country club will have a busy time when the Ladies and Men's four ball matches on handicap, will be staged.

Owing to the fact that the course is at present in the best condition of this season, a record entry is expected and competition no doubt will be keen.

The match committee who have charge of the entries have requested that all entries be in by this evening, either at the club house or to members of the committe so that play may start on Saturday. The committee wishes to point out that these competitions are four ball matches and not two ball foursomes.

BOUTS AGAIN PROVE GOOD

Great War Veterans' Smoker Proves of a High Order; Excellent Music

What has proved to be the best and most exciting smoker held, to date, took place in the Armory last night under the auspices of the Great War Veterans' association. First-class boxing bouts, full of pep and action, excellent musical turns by singers and orchestra, and pleasing refreshments and smokes made the evening a most enjoyable one.

All the boxing bouts were of a high order, and the numerous fans were kept at a high pitch of excitement throughout. The bout between Parker and Link proved the most interesting of the night. The pair were evenly matched and showed some clever ring generalship. At times both swung wildly, and only succeeded in displacing so much air. However, both meant business, which was all that was wished by the fans. A draw decision proved popular.

Roebuck and Passecretta put up a good bout, which also ended in a draw. These two mixed freely and gave each other some wicked punishment. So hard did they work that at the end they were about all in.

Anexhibition bout between Falliasconi and Joe Holland proved full of, action and Ben Boles, who refereed the affair, had his hands full controlling the crowd and the boxers as well. Thain and Simpson put on a free mixing affair for the championship of a local bank, and produced much fun for the crowd. A draw was the referee's decision.

Young McLeod and Lauder also put up a classy three-round exhibition.

Allibone and Hodge put on a blind-folded bout, which was a scream, Joe Holland, the referee, coming in for a lot of abuse when he came in the way of the groping boxers. Hodge had a great tendency to hammer the ring posts. Bill Ferono, to wind up the boxing, gave two rounds of shadow boxing.

Several selections were rendered by the orchestra, while George Brown, T. Crannage, W. Coleman and S. Carter rendered several musical selections which were heartily encored.

THIN FOR BIG FANCY APPLES SAYS PETERS

Wenatchee Expert Tells the Growers Where the Money Lies This Season

In the Okanagan last week, John Peters of Wenatchee, Wash., created a sensation by his addresses on thinning made to meetings of fruit growers. He also demonstrated his methods.

This expert's "16 points" on thinning, worked out from his 12 years' sensationally profitable experience, are given in abbreviated form below:

Conserves Soil Fertility

It is the formation and production of seeds that tax the vitality of a fruit tree. The pulp of the fruit is produced from the surplus vitality. Ten boxes of little apples tax the vitality of a tree more than 10 boxes of large ones, for in the former there are many more seeds produced. By the removal of from 80 to 90 per cent of the small apples, anly 10 to 20 per cent of the vitality of the tree is used up. Since a very small percentage of the surplus is used in production of fruit pulp, practically the entire amount is retained for future years.

Keeps Tree Shape and Structure

Proper thinning prevents the breaking or pulling out of position of limbs because of unequal distribution of load. Thinning distributes the load according to limb capacity and develops it uniformly over the total area of the tree. Limbs are not broken down or pulled out of position so much by heavy loads alone as by heavy loads borne in one section only.

Does Not Reduce Yield

It has been frequently demonstrated that from 50 to 90 per cent of the crop set may be removed during the month of June without any reduction in the number of boxes or pounds of mature fruit developed. The fruit left attains sufficient additional size to make up for all removed. Ten per cent to be removed must be determined by the number of fruits setting, and the health and vigor of the tree.

Increase Size of Fruit

As stated above, the early removal of the excess apples throws the growth to the apples remaining, with the result that each one left grows larger than it would otherwise have done.

Reduces Percentage of Blemishes

Proper thinning includes the removal of all fruit blemished at time of the operation and of all fruit so located as to become blemished during later development

Increases Color of Fruit

Proper thinning includes the removal of such apples as are so located as to receive an insufficient amount of sunshine. The inside of the tree should be thinned the heaviest, for it is there that the largest percentage of uncolored "C" grades are produced. In thinning any part of a tree it is necessary to visualize each part as it will appear at picking time, and an effort must be made to leave only such apples as will receive a maximum amount of sunshine after the limb has become dropped with its load. Apples which hang from the underside of a limb where they will receive little or no sunshine should be removed, to produce additional size on the more exposed fruits.

In proper thinning no more than one apple is left on a spur and apples are removed which are so close as to rub on others, even when they have attained their maximum size. With apples one in a place it is possible to spray each one more thoroughly from all sides. In addition there is no other apple rubbing against it to remove the poison at the point of contact. Then, too, the codling moth seems to like to get his back up against something where he starts to work. The frequency with which codling moth injury in found where two apples touch is ample proof of the fact that the worms like the location for one reason or another. Do not leave such points of contact.

Reduces Loss From Windfalls

This is particularly true in short-stemmed varieties, such as Jonathan, Spitz, Yellow Newtown and others. While the apples are little, there is ample room for more than one apple on each spur. As the apples grow the pulp almost covers the stem and two or more apples try to grow in the same small space, the length of the stem from the spur. The result is that they push against each other until something must give. Generally one or more of them is crowded off the stem and falls. If it is in the top of the tree it generally hits one or more apples on its way down. The result may be a dozen good apples on the ground because that one cluster was not thinned.

If they succeed in hanging till harvest time, the picker takes the place of the wind. When one apple of such a cluster is removed the connection of all remaining apples is weakened, and they will fall on the slightest opportunity.

If, on the other hand, the picker tries to remove the entire cluster at once, it generally requires two hands for the job. The pressure necessarily applied to remove such a two-hand cluster is sufficient that each apple is bruised in the operation.

Reduces Cost of Picking, Sorting and Packing

Anyone who has ever picked apples knows that he can pick a great many more large apples than he can small ones. It takes just as much time to pull off a little apple and place it in the picking bag or bucket as it does a great big one that occupies two or three times as much space. The same thing is true in sorting.

In packing, it takes 80 repetitions of the same set of motions to pick up an apple, wrap the paper about it and place it in the box. Eighty such motions may pack a box of 80s, or it may pack approximately one-half of a 163 or one-third of a 252. Economy of time is an essential of harvest. Handling 163s and 252s is not economy of time. Packers frequently demand more wages per box to pack apples smaller than 163s.

Reduces Cost of Wrapping Paper

Ten-by-ten wrapper is generally used on 100s to 150s, and frequently on apples as small as 175s. Under this practice it takes 50 per cent more paper to pack a crop of 150s, and 75 per cent more paper to pack a crop of 175s than it would to pack the same number of boxes of a 100-size crop.

Encourages Annual Bearing

It seems to be only the most vigorous fruit spur, that produces fruit two years in succession. In thinning, a part of the clusters are entirely removed, allowing the spur to rest and build up a reserve of strength for production the following year. In addition to conserving the vitality of the individual spur, in this way the general vitality of the tree is conserved.

Thinning alone will not produce and maintain the habit of annual bearing. Proper soil fertility and physical condition, together with proper pruning, are necessary adjuncts to thinning, if one is to avoid alternate bearing. Alternate bearing is much easier to prevent than to overcome. The orchard in good vigor and regular bearing habits should be fertilized, pruned and thinned to keep it there.

Advances Date of Harvest

The date of harvesting pears is dependent upon the size and maturity of the fruit. The harvesting of apples is determined by size, maturity and color.

Thinning helps to develop both size and color. From experience we also know that the large apple or pear ripens more readily—all things being equal—than the small one. This is true on the tree, as well as in the box.

On either pears or apples, proper thinning will advance the size, color and maturity by at least a week ahead of the unthinned fruit.

Gets the Money

Most of us farmers still try to kid ourselves that we can raise apples for a dollar a box. For the sake of argument we will assume that we can raise, pick, pack and deliver to the warehouse our crop of apples at a cost of $1 per box.

Then the profit which the grower gets on his investment is the difference between $1 and the price he receives for the product. At the above prices his profit on one box of extra fancy Delicious 125 and larger would be 82 cents. His profit on eight boxes extra fancy, 175, and smaller, would be 80 cents. The grower had better raise one box of extra fancy than eight boxes of 175s and smaller. In the Fancy and "C" grade, the small sizes were raised, picked, packed and delivered at an actual loss to the grower of from 20 to 30 cents per box.

The 175s and smaller are the exterminators. The grower who continues to raise them will soon be exterminated from the industry.

It is not how much we raise; but how good.

Secures and Holds Best Labor

Everyone likes to handle nice fruit. If the apples are big and red and clean, the helpers are much better satisfied than when working with little, poorly-colored, wormy apples. The good quality crop has a good effect upon the moral of the crew and the grower as well. The crew is satisfied and happy, and uncomplainingly put up with other handicaps, if necessary, because of the quality of the fruit. The grower of the big extra fancies is the employer of an efficient and satisfied crew.

Holds Reliable Dealer

The organization and the dealer are alike in wanting to have only the producers of good fruit among their clients. No dealer or organization will accept the tonnage of a "C" grade king if in a position to select growers. Lucky is the organization or dealer who can select and hold growers of high grade fruit; equally lucky is the grower of high grade fruit who can select and hald the best and most reliable dealer.

Produces an Apple One Cannot Keep

No doubt the little apples keep better than the big ones. In fact, there are few people in Washington who are still keeping their little apples produced in 1922, and a big percentage of the others who did not keep theirs wish they had, for they received for them less than it cost to pack them up.

If the orchard soil is kept in the pgoper condition, the pruning is properly done and the fruit is properly thinned, big extra fancies will be produced that one canne keep. The other fellow will ne let you.
