QUEBEC SHAKES SATURDAY AND SUNDAY ALSO

Building Sway and Dishes Rattle; No Damage Is Reported

QUEBEC, March 22.—Alarm was caused to the overwrought nerves of people in the various parts of the province of Quebec yesterday morning when an earth tremor which swayed buildings and rattled or shook loose dishes and furnishings, raised apprehension that the experiences of the recent extensive quake which caused large damage in this part, were to be repeated.

So far as reports received tell, however, the tremor was quite slight, and no damage was done except to nerves. Interruption of telephone communication in some place was attributed to the quake.

The disturbance started at 10:22 a. m., and lasted upwards of 30 seconds, but it was not generally perceptible for that length of time. The quake is attributed to the still discomposed state of the earth following the extensive disturbance of February 28.

Sunday Shocks Worse

OTTAWA, March 22.—A severe earthquake was registered at the Dominion observatory this morning March 22. The first preliminary tremors were felt at 4:02:14, eastern standard time, and the distance to the epicenter was 8550 kilometers, or 5310 miles. The time at the origin was 3:50:24, eastern standard time. The tremors continued over four hours.

A slight earthquake was also registered at the Dominion observatory yesterday morning, arriving at 10:22:4. The record continued for 2¼ minutes.

After an exhaustive study of seismographic plates this afternoon, officials were still unable to determine the epicenter of the disturbance which was felt in Quebec Saturday morning.

TORONTO, March 22.—The earthquake shock felt in parts of Quebec yesterday morning was recorded on the seismographe at the Dominion observatory here also. The shock, of "moderate intensity," was first recorded at 10:23:50, and lasted fully 10 seconds. It was followed by slight tremors up to 10:25.

Washington Notes It

WASHINGTON, March 22. — A "severe" earthquake recorded today on the instrument of Georgetown university was estimated by Father Tondorf, in charge of the instruments, to have occurred about 5800 miles from Washington, probably in the Pacific. The shocks began at 4:02 a. m., maintained a maximum intensity from 4:39 to 5:01 and subsided at 7 a. m

CONFIRMS UNION IN GRAND FORKS

Congregation by Three to One Sustains Union Now in Effect

GRAND FORKS, March 22.—Voting on the question of church union has just been completed by the members of the United Church of Grand Forks, which resulted in 61 voting in favor of union and 25 against. Only about 70 per cent of the available vote exercised the privilege. The vote is rather one of confirmation of the union status, than with a view to entering union, as the Presbyterians and Methodists here united for worship nearly two years ago, and shortly afterwards extended a call to the Rev. F. E. Runnalls.

RAGING RIVERS BAR RELIEF TO TORNADO TOWN

Griffin With Its Fifty-eight Dead Has Only Single Avenue Open

CONDITIONS MUCH BETTER ELSEWHERE

Last of Over Eight Hundred Buried; Relief in Score of Cities

GRIFFIN, Ind., March 22. — As if sneering at man's attempts to restore this little hamlet, torn down by the tornado which last Wednesday killed 58 persons and injured most of the other inhabitants, Nature has further handicapped relief work by sending the flood waters of the Wabash and Black rivers across the surrounding low lands, making impossible automobile travel to and from the village.

With the exception of the Illinois Central railway, Griffin tonight was cut off from the outside world.

Conditions Rapidly Improved

CHICAGO, March 22. — Conditions rapidly improved today in the region swept last Wednesday by the most destructive tornado in the history of the country, and the evening of the fourth day after the catastrophe saw the burial of nearly the last of the 800 or more persons killed.

Relief work continued at a rapid pace, turning to the establishment of more permanent quarters for the unhurt homeless, and the transferring of many of the nearly 2000 injured to better places for treatment.

Hospitals and Shelters

Even while every church was filled with mourners for massed funerals, relief emissaries proceeded with their work in the hospitals and the temporary shelters provided for the unhoused population of the score of cities that were wholly or partly wrecked by the wind.

The total death list for the five states hit by the storm tonight stood at 811, an increase for Sunday of three, owing to death from wounds, and the finding of a body in the debris.

Last Seen On a Cake of Ice; Hope Abandoned

BROCKVILLE, Ont., March 22.—There is still no trace of Joseph Cirtwell of Laurie island, who was last seen late Thursday floating toward Dark island, in the St. Lawrence river, upon the cake of ice to which he had taken when the small motor skiff in which he and his brother, Thomas, were en route from Rockport to Alexandria Bay, became involved in difficulties.

Hope has been abandoned for his safety.

Thomas Cirtwell reached his home at Ash Island Friday unharmed by his harrowing experience. His plight was noticed by a party of Indians encamped on a small island, who threw ropes to the boat, and brought him ashore.

Jewish Women Brave Death to Save Book; Firemen Restrain 'Em

MONTREAL, March 22 — When fire broke out in a local Jewish synagogue Saturday, firemen and policemen had hard work to prevent several women, who feared that the book of sacred laws, which was in a cupboard in the building, would be burned, from hurling themselves into the mass of flames. After the outbreak had been extinguished the book was found to be intact.

Pyromaniac Ignites Tenement With Eleven Families; Baby Carriage

NEW YORK, March 22. — Five persons, including two women and two children, lost their lives early today in a fire that destroyed a tenement house occupied by 11 families. Fire department officials said the blaze was started by a pyromaniac, who set fire to a baby carriage in the ground hallway.

Four persons were injured in the fire.

The dead: Mrs. Katherine Walsh and her 17-months-old son, Joseph; Mrs. Margaret Otto and her 8-year-old daughter Blanche, and Thomas Carey.

BEER PARLORS AT COAST DO A BOOM TRADE

Foaming Suds Dispensed to Thousands of Men and Women

VANCOUVER, March 22. — More beer was drunk in Vancouver yesterday than in any day for years.

True, only 18 places were dispensing the foaming suds, but the novelty of being able to buy it by glass drew thousands of men and women to the new beer parlors, which experienced such a rush as few business places have ever known in Vancouver, even in boom days.

When it became known Friday that some licences would be available yesterday morning, the 18 licences put rush crews to work without delay in order to complete the final cleaning up operations, and from 10 o'clock in the morning the new beer parlors began to open up, until before midafternoon they were all doing a roaring trade.

No Drunkenness Noted

No drunkenness was reported in the new porlors, in spite of the volume of business done. The white aproned waiters rushed to and fro with trays of foaming glasses, working at a tremendous speed to accomodate the crowds.

Although the service under the new system, whereby the customers must imbibe while seated at tables, is considerable slower than in the days of the old-time bar, the general opinion seemed to be that the great comfort of the new conditions about balanced the slower method of dispensing the beverage.

Beer Barrels Roll Down

VANCOUVER, March 22.—Vancouver took on an old-time aspect all day yesterday when old familiar brewery drays rolled beer barrels on to the sidewalks and 18 beer parlors opened up with a rush. Undoubtedly the novelty of the affair drew many, and business all day was brisk.

Janet Smith Case Chinese Vanishes; Is Wong Kidnaped?

VANCOUVER, March 22.—The provincial police have a puzzle in the sudden disappearance of Wong Sing, the Chinese houseboy who figured in the Janet Smith murder mystery some months back.

R. P. Baker, in whose home he was employed, as was the dead girl, reported to the police yesterday that Wong had disappeared, leaving personal effects behind.

All kinds of sensational rumors are being heard, it being believed in some quarters he has been kidnaped by someone in the case who hopes to force him to give further information regarding the tragedy.

THIRTEEN DIE WHEN TRAINS CRASH IN FOG

Eastbound San Antonio Express Runs Past the Stop Signals

Conductor Sets Air Brakes but Fails to Avert Collision

NEW ORLEANS, La., March 22. — Thirteen persons were killed in a wreck early today when two fast mail trains of the Southern Pacific railroad collided during a fog at Ricohoc, La., between Franklin and Patterson. Four of the dead were white men, the others negroes. Five were seriously injured.

All the white men killed and injured were all members of the train crew. The other casualties were all negro passengers.

The bodies of the dead were taken to Franklin, where an inquest was held late today. The injured were taken to Patterson.

An official report said Frank Matthews, who was seriously injured, engineer of the eastbound San Antonio express, came through the fog and passed the switch signal at Richocec, where he was scheduled to have put in for the westbound mail. About 900 feet past the switch the two trains came together.

Two Cars Telescoped

The baggage car and the front passenger coach of No. 12 telescoped. The negroes occupied this coach. The tender and baggage coach of No. 109 also telescoped.

Engineer Matthews telephoned railroad officials that he was badly hurt and too nervous to talk.

Engineer E. E. Conroy, engineer of No. 109, who was killed, had been 42 years on the Southern Pacific, and was the second oldest engineer in point of service. He had made preparations to retire soon.

Conductor Tries to Save Situation

It was testified at the coroner's inquest that No. 12 had orders to wait at Ricohoc switch for No. 109, but that Engineer Matthews made no attempt to stop at the east end of the switch, and although his conductor, Crane, signalled him three times to stop, and finally pulled on the air, the train was struck by No. 109 before she came to a stop, having run over the switch.

When questioned, the engineer said he had missed the block because of the fog.

CLAIMS STRANGER SHOT THE BRAKIE

Russian Asserts Man in a Buggy Forced Him to Join Him

MEDICINE HAT, March 22.—At the preliminary hearing yesterday of John Koslesavich, in connection with the Calkins murder, in the provincial police court, a statement signed by the prisoner was submitted by the police setting forth that on the day before the murder a stranger had called at his homestead in a buggy and forced him, under threats, to accompany him to Walsh, and to the station, where an entry was affected, and where he witnessed the stranger shoot down Calkins. The unknown man then forced the gun upon him and drove away.

The hearing was adjourned until tomorrow, when witnesses from Saskatchewan will be present.

'Military Officer' Held in Toronto; Fraud Is Alleged

Fletcher had been in the city more than a week, and was registered at the hotel under the name of Major John Fletcher, D.S.O. When arrested he was wearing the uniform of an officer of the London Scottish regiment.

A FOURTH DEATH WILL BE PROBED SHEPHERD CASE

Judge Olson Is Going Back Twenty Years to Graf, a Druggist

CHICAGO, March 22. — William D. Shepherd, charged with the murder of William Nelson McClintock, his millionaire orphan ward, was returned to his cell last night until tomorrow at least, when attorneys will continue to fight out the questions of his admission to bail in the criminal court of Justice Hopkins.

Meanwhile Chief Justice Olson, of the municipal court, announced he would subpoena several witnesses to appear at the next hearing of the inquest into the death of the young millionare, which is set for tomorrow morning.

Succeeded to Graf's Business

A fourth death, that of Otto Graf, in Salina, Kansas, 20 years ago, is being investigated by Judge Olson in connection with the alleged murder of McClintock.

Graf was a brother-in-law of William D. Shepherd, foster-father of McClintock, now charged with murder.

The deaths of not only McClintock, but that of his mother, Mrs. Emma Nelson McClintock, who died 16 years ago, and of Judge Olson's brother, Dr. Oscar Olson, whose death occurred three years ago, have been declared by the judge to have been suspicious.

After Graf's death, Shepherd is said to have succeeded to the management of the drug business in Salina.

Five minutes later the men were marching toward North Edmonton where preparations were made to house them for the night.

Reinforced by the Edmonton army of unemployed, the army from Calgary will march on the parliament buildings tomorrow, and present their demands for a continuance of the relief for single unemployed men.

DRUMHELLER, March 22.—Following the action taken by the Calgary unemployed as regards their march to Edmonton to interview the provincial government, the Drumheller central council of unemployed decided yesterday to join in the march to Edmonton, and the Drumheller unemployed are now busy making preparation for their long hike to the capital. The proposed march will involve approximately 2000 miners.

Plans are being laid by the Drumheller valley central council to send advance guards ahead to arrange for food and sleeping quarters.

It is expected that the advance guards will leave tomorrow, while the big army itself will move Tuesday.

PHONE CENTRAL SAVES THE TOWN

Summons Help for Mapleton; Is Burned Severely in Escaping

MAPLETON, Minn., March 22.—The heorism of Miss Dora Simons, telephone operator, who remained at her post in a burning building to summon assistance from three nearby towns, saved the business section, and probably the entire town, from destruction by fire, which caused a loss estimated at $100,000 here today. Two persons were injured.

The blaze started in the C. J. Grenier department store building, which houses the telephone exchange on the second floor. After sending out calls to Mankato, Wells and Amboy, Miss Simons groped her way out of the smoke filled office. She stumbled down the stairs, receiving ever bruises. She was removed to her home.

C. J. Grenier, proprietor of the store, was severely burned about the face and hands, when an oil stove in the place exploded. He was working in the store at the time.

OCEAN SERVICES REVENUE FALLS BY IMMIGRATION

Beatty's Report Shows a Two Million Drop; Pacific Gains

MONTREAL, March 22.—In the annual statement of the Canadian Pacific railway, now made public, the president, E. W. Beatty, K.C., expresses disappointment over the results of the 1924 operations of the steamship services, and attributes the adverse effect to decrease in immigration which synchronized with the placing on the Atlantic service an enlarged sailing schedule. The drastic immigration laws of the United States, coupled with the failure of Canadian immigration to reach the proportions expected by the government and the transportation companies, were the principal causes of the transportation companies, were the principal causes of unsatisfactory showing, says the report.

The result of the Atlantic operations of the steamship department showed a decrease in revenue from all sources of $1,979,000 under 1923, and an addition of $617,000 in expenses owing to the increased number of voyages.

The Pacific services were more satisfactory, showing an increase over all in 1923 of $200,000 in net revenue.

During the year 227 miles of railway was graded, and 214 miles of track was laid on the branch lines in the western provinces.

Moderate extensions are being built this year, and authority will be asked to issue a sufficient amount of consolidated debenture stock to meet the expenditure, namely: Cutknife—Whitford Lake branch, 55 miles; Amulet—Dunkirk branch, 20 miles; Pashley—northeast branch, 33 miles; Ashley northeast branch, 25 miles; Fife Lake branch 43 miles.

The Crow Rate Question

Dealing with the Crow's Nest rates, the report says of the finding of the supreme court of Canada:

"The result of the court's decision naturally creates violent inequalities and discriminations between communities which have until recently enjoyed a parity of rate schedules—a consequence which was pointed out when the question was the subject of parliament inquiry in 1922. Undoubtedly intervention by parliament will be necessary in order that a scale of rates may be evolved which will be free from such discrimination, even though legal in character. The Canadian producers suffer from a geographical disability due to the great distance their products have to be hauled. This difficulty has always existed, and cannot be entirely eradicated. The remedies which are suggested are for the most part artificial, and of doubtful soundness.

"A general scale of lower rates is not possible without grave unfairness to the transportation companies, unless brought about through increase of traffic in consequence of greater population and development in the country itself.

"Two factors, however, appear to be reasonable certain, namely, that an indepent tribunal free from political influence should determine the reasonableness of Canadian railway rates, and that the companies should receive adequate revenues for the vitally important services they render."

FRENCH CATHOLICS PASS RESOLUTIONS

Two Mass Meetings in the Provinces Demand the Vatican Envoy

PARIS, March 22.—The National Catholic federation appears in no way discouraged by the outcome of Friday's debate in the chamber, and organized two big demonstrations of Catholics today. One numbering 7000 was presided over by General de Castelneau and Mgr. Gininsty at Verdun; the other of 13,000 was held at Le Mans.

Both passed resolutions protesting against the revival of antireligious struggles, demanded retention of the embassy to the Vatican in fulfillment of obligations toward Alsace-Lorraine, and liberty for religious congregations in France.

MINERS PARTLY ACCEPT TERMS FROM CABINET

of the committee's decision, J. B. McLachlan, editor of the Maritime Labor Herald, through whose offices the donation was obtained, said he would hold the money to see "if adequate relief is forthcoming, and if the need of the hungry women and children is not better provided for, I will disburse the money myself irrespective of the citizen's relief committee."

Churches Appeal Jointly

SYDNEY, N.S., March 22.—Further evidences of the necessity of relief work among the destitute of the colliery districts of Cape Breton, where the miners are now entering their third week of their wage struggle with the British Empire Steel corporation, was forthcoming today, when after painstaking and searching investigation on the part of the ministerial association, comprising representatives from all Protestant denominations, an appeal was read in the city churches.

The appeal said that after careful consideration with representatives of the citizen's relief committee of Glace Bay, "we believe that the dire need for food and clothing on the part of hundreds of families in these districts cries aloud to every feeling of humanity and every sense of human kindness."

"Relief or Starvation"

MONSTON, March 22.—"It's a race between relief and starvation and the answer as to who will win depends on you and the other citizens of the country," declared Tom Moore, president of the trades and labor congress of Canada, in speaking of the situation in Cape Breton, here this afternoon.

BUDGET NEXT ON THE PAPER; DUE TOMORROW

Duty May Be Imposed Upon Slack Coal; Proposed Changes Few

OTTAWA, March 22.—The advent of the budget on Tuesday—17 days earlier than last year—overshadows all other business in the Canadian parliament for the coming week. It is generally expected that there will be very few, if any important changes in taxation or the tariff. Premier King has hinted that the revision downward in the tariff, begun last year, will be halted for the time being. There may be some slight increase in customs duties.

Amongst the increases which have been asked, and which have a chance of finding their way into the budget, is one on slack coal entering Canada, for the benefit chiefly of the Nova Scotia mines.

Then there are items, not yet definitely specified, in the Australian-Canadian trade treaty, which would necessitate an increase in the general tariff to give effect to the preference. The treaty was ratified by the Commonwealth parliament last year, but has not yet been introduced into the Canadian house.

May Reduce Leather Tax

It is rumored that the sales tax may be taken off one or two items. The raw material of the Canadian boot and shoe industry is mentioned particularly in some quarters.

With the ship subsidy question relegated to a special committee, the way is clear for an uninterrupted debate on the budget four days in the week. Premier King has stated that he hopes to see the conclusion of the debate before the Easter recess on April 8, which is allowing 10 days of actual debate. Last session the division on the budget did not come until the small hours of May 16.

'ROAD TO LOVE'

By ELENORE MEHERI

CHAPTER XXV

He came toward her out of the music and the dream, laughter in his eyes.

"You're Stephen?"

"Sure enough."

Katy's eyes shone with a frank joy. She extended her hand eagerly. "You've been such a friend to Denny. I think I like you already, Stephen. Denny and I are both happy to know you."

Katy was unaware of the naive formality of her speech. Stephen's eyes twinkled.

"I'd rather you liked me on your own account, Katy."

"I shouldn't be surprised if I do."

Katy was exhilarated. The yellow lights, like a sun, entered her mind in fine, golden streams, pouring a sparkling warmth into her veins. She felt at home in the presence of happiness, and Stephen, sitting next her, was happy.

They waited till the crowd left. Then Denny raised her in his arms. "I'm heavy, but Denny is so strong," she said, proudly. A sadness was in Stephens' eyes.

Katy saw it, and she would like to have reached out her hand, as she often did to Denny, and say; "Oh, don't be sad for me. I don't need any pity. And tonight—why, can't you see that in another minute I'm likely to go up like a skyrocket and burst—I feel so light with happiness."

She talked eagerly of the music, the people, the woman who sat in front of them with a funny black quill perched like a sentinel over her face; the cloud-lined beauty of the night. When they were parting, she said with prime courtesy:

"Denny and I would be quite pleased to have you come for dinner some evening. You'd be surprised what a cook I am!"

"You can surprise me all you like, Katy. I'll come!"

"Isn't he noble?" she said, wistfully to Denny, when they were in the big, scantily furnished living room. Denny rubbed his hands and chuckled.

"I don't know about that, Thelma! Would you say I was noble or heroic?"

But Katy had taken the word from the "Idylls of the Kings," and she had already mountey Stephen on a had already mounted Stephen on a watched him gallop off on some quest of chivalry. Denny's mockery brought out a blushing denial.

"I only mean he's tall and nice-looking."

"Hence, noble!"

From Denny's raillery Katy turned with a luxurious relief to her mind pictures. There was a new figure now to give a dash of color to her fancies, to fill with imaginary adventure and conversation the emptiness of her days.

Sitting in the Carletons' garden, watching the moving specks on the distant bay—boats coming in, boats going out—she planned the dinner when their guest would come. Should they have asparagus salad or tomato? Should they have steak or a little roast? Perhaps Fay would let her gather a bowl of roses?

Katy was given to these idle speculations. A little kindness from Mrs. Carleton or Fay would unloose whole troupes of happy fancies. She imagined herself in the Carleton living room, sitting at the piano, playing, and Fay saying, "Oh, you're a musician as well as a lace maker, are you?"

Often in the midst of some particular extravagance she caught herself up with a laugh, shaking the dreams out of her eyes. Of course, there would be always just she and Denny—once in a while a concert.

One evening, when she was experimenting with French fried potatoes as a great surprise, Denny hurried breathlessly through the living room. She heard him pause, shove the chairs, give a kick to the rug:

"Gee, this place is bare, isn't it?" He had an excited look as though he were bringing home a report card marked No. 1. He dumped half a dozen bags on the sink board, flung off his coat and began to open cans.

"Steve's coming!" He tried to make the tone matter of fact.

"Not tonight? Oh!" Katy was almost in tears. "And we've only got stew and carrots from last night! Why did you, Denny?"

"Get busy, Katy-kid—quick! I tell you he's coming! Look——" He began opening his parcels—a can of olives, green peas, three T-bone steaks. "How's that? Pretty clever?"

"What'll we do with the stew?"

"Tomorrow—fix up the table pretty. Gee—this house is empty, isn't it?"

They stood at the kitchen door looking into the dim oblong room with its three grandmother rag rugs, its black horsehair chairs, the couch with the gaudy crazy quilt. It had an air of austerity about it as though here was a fine old aristocrat come to the end of her days.

But the setting sun flamed through the immense west window, caught the barbaric colors in the Chinese lanterns and recast them fantastically on the dark walls. There was unexpected charm, as of darkness blooming with scarlet and amber flowers.

"I love this place, Denny—love it."

It's not so bad—there, the spuds are burning!"

And Stephen was knocking—both at once.

"Dinner ready," he called. "I'm starved, Katy-kid. Got any surprises today?"

"More than I counted on, indeed!"

She dried her hand on her apron. He caught it without waiting.

"Not more than you welcome, I hope? Humph! Potatoes burned?"

He pulled back the pan, Katy laughed.

"Make yourself to home, Mr. Stephen!"

"I'm a bit timid, Katy-kid, but I'll try."

Katy's spirits rose buoyantly. It was the very first time they ever had company. Denny was so smart to think of olives. How pretty they looked set on top of the salad.

"Do you think that's pretty, Mr. Stephen?" She held up the dish.

"Oh, very, Miss Katy-kid."

"Then you put them in the places and keep the one you think is nicest for yourself:".

He began to rearrange the knives and forks.

"Oh, don't!" Katy warned, laughing.

"Why not? They belong this way."

"No—you don't know. You see the forks are the brides and the knives are the grooms. When you put them on the table they're going into church to be married. See this old pair that is so shabby and sad?"

"I suppose they've been married a long while and that's the reason they're so done up."

"No—they're an old maid and an old bachelor and they've known each other over twenty years and I push them right into church, but they haven't sense enough to go up the aisle!"

Stephen laughed: "So you think the happiest people are the married ones, Katy?"

"Why, yes. Who can be happy alone? If you have no one you have to pretend people are around talking, bringing you beautiful gifts, laughing. It's much better to really have them."

She spoke unconsciously from the deeps of her own aloneness, yet was unaware of the pathos in her words.

Denny came in with the bread. "Do you like our barn?" They sat facing the window with the painted sky like a great masterpiece flung before them.

Stephen liked the barn, the cooking, the quaint chairs, and Katy's quainter talk. He was surprised to find her listening eagerly, as though she understood when Denny and he talked of their work. Especially he found himself waiting for her laugh that came bubbling merrily to her lips, lighting odd fairy fires in the clear blue of her eyes.

"Denny and I are glad that you came, Stephen, though you were quite a surprise on top of warmed over carrots and stew. Do you know we've never had company before—never?"

Then Stephen remembered he had brought a box of candy. Katy was quite overcome. Her gayety touched something deeper than amusement.

"Lonely kid!" he thought.

Katy had bright company in her memories for the next few days. She peopled the garden with glorified Katys saying bright things to laughing Stephen, telling what a fine fellow Denny was.

One afternoon the dream figures were routed as a very real Stephen crossed to the willow tree, slumped lazily at her feet with a familiar: "Hello, Kate! How's the view today? He began to recount all the odd news of the campus, drawing her out about Denny, her housekeeping, her recreations.

After that he came often, bringing magazines, a box of candy, a book. His visits were wine to her.

Toward the end of the second term Denny sat studying, looking up every now and then to scan Katy's face. At last he said abruptly:

"Steve's folks are going east, Katy. He wants to come and live with us. He thinks this place can be fixed up fine. How about it? Would you like it?"

Katy trembled with excitement: "Would you, Denny?"

"Yes; we study fine together."

It was decided in Stephen's favor. In a few days he came. "Have you room in your heart for another brother, Katy?"

"I think I've room there for you, Stephen."

Rain, Thunder, Hail, Sunshine Served Up All Together

Yesterday was a real spring day, with sunshine, rain, hail, and even a clap of thunder, with temperatures ranging, according to J. S. Goulding, local meteorologist, from 36 to 52 degrees.

On Saturday the maximum was 53, and the minimum 29 degrees, while Friday the maximum was 55, the highest for the month so far.

Yesterday's hailstorm seemed to follow the lake, Mr. Goulding said, and only a comparatively small amount of hail fell in Nelson, this between 11 and 12 noon. The one lone thunderclap came at 11:10. The sun shone for about three hours during the day.

The chief assets of the Marlett and Armstrong company, limited, tanners, Oakville, Ont., were bought by General John A. Gunn under an order of the bankruptcy court, and a new tannery company will be formed.

HOSPITAL AID'S CAREER COVERS THIRTY YEARS

Formed Thirty-one Years Ago; Many Originals Are Still in Nelson

The recent disbanding of the Hospital aid comes after 31 years of faithful service, for it was in November, 1894, that a few Nelson women met in "the English church to consider the hospital question."

They decided to hold a ball early in December of that year, to aid the hospital fund, and a committee was appointed to make arrangements for this. It consisted of Mesdames Fletcher, W. J. Goepel, Blake Wilson, William Hodson, A. T. Croasdaile, D. A. McFarland and Misses Irvine and Scott. Others present at the meeting were Mrs. A. H. Akehurst, wife of the English church clergyman at Nelson at that time, a Mrs. Muir, Mrs. Oaks, Mrs. D. C. McMorris, Mrs. Morden, Mrs. J. A. Turner, Mrs. A. Dow and Miss Scanlan.

Mrs. Akehurst First President

At a second meeting held a week later Mrs. Akehurst was elected president, Mrs. Oaks, secretary, and Mrs. Dow, treasurer of the first Hospital aid.

The ball for the hospital funds was held in what was then the Phair, and is now the Strathcona hotel, on December 7, 1894. It was, an old Weekly Tribune says, a great success, and the sum of $106.50 was taken in, while the expenses were only a little over $20.

Other early members of the aid were Mrs. George Johnstone, Mrs. R. S. Day, Mrs. Monte Davis, now of Kaslo, Mrs. J. Fred Hume, the late Dr. Isabel Arthur, Mrs. Hodgson, Mrs. Roderick Robertson, Mrs. William Seamon and Mrs. A. Painter.

The aid used to meet, in the early days, in the old Presbyterian church, which is now the Christian Science church, at the corner of Kootenay and Victoria streets. All its members paid a fee of $1 a month, and a fine of 10 cents for each meeting missed.

In the last year of its long life, 1924, the Hospital aid raised the sum of $1595.01, which memers said was about the average amount for at least 10 years.

KASLO, March 22.—At Thursday's council meeting various tenders from lumber companies for the lumber for the repairs on the bridge were opened but were left over for discussion.

The Terms astounded Henry McDonald—

When the terms of the North American Life 20 Year Endowment Policy were explained to Henry McDonald, he was at first astounded—then enthusiastic.

"Why you are really selling me $5,000 in cash!" he exclaimed. "The annual payment on this policy is only about half the interest any bank would charge me on a $5,000 loan.

"If I should die at any time during the life of the policy, you guarantee to hand my widow a cheque for $5,000.

"No form of saving is more convenient and none so sure or profitable."

Henry McDonald was right. As a safe, profitable investment, you cannot equal an Endowment Policy. Yet you create an estate for your loved ones the instant you pay your first premium.

Stanley Baldwin Has a Level Head

Occasionally in the midst of his quiet and level-headed career Stanley Baldwin, prime minister of Great Britain, has shown flashes of genius. Once was when, as chancellor of the exchequer, he insisted that Great Britain could begin paying her foreign debt, and ought to do so to assure the world of her solvency and America in particular of her good faith. Again last week, in the house of commons, he refused to be stampeded by the extreme Conservatives into an attack on Labor.

The labor unions in Great Britain are contributing members of the Labor party. But these unions contain Conservative and Liberal members, as well as Labor. A bill was introduced by which the Conservative and Liberal trade unionists could have been relieved from paying dues which might be contributed by the unions to the Labor party funds. Premier Baldwin opposed the measure, refusing to put himself into the position of attacking or hindering Labor in its political endeavors. He declined to support a bill which created "an atmosphere of diabolic suspicion between man and man." He would not be a party to anything which would stand in the way of all Britishers working together for the best interests of the country.

The Greatest Robbery in History

Canadian owners of German paper marks, bought as an investment, will be interested in an announcement made by the German national bank. It calls attention to the fact that all currency issued before the appearance of the recent "rentenmark" must be presented within two months for redemption. After that it will be valueless.

And how much will the investors get for it? Exactly one gold mark to one trillion paper marks. A trillion is a million millions. You write it with a figure 1 and 12 ciphers. For practical purposes in this case it might as well be written altogether in ciphers. It takes 40,000,000,000 marks to equal one Canadian cent. Not many people own that many billion German marks. Those who do will not find it worth while to send them to Berlin for redemption.

So ends the greatest financial orgy in history. It is credited with having brought the German government from other countries between $1,000,000,000 and $2,000,000,000 in gold or goods. If so, it may have been worth while for the government—temporarily. In the long run it can do nobody any good.

While the government at Berlin was defrauding foreign acceptors of its paper, it was also cheating its own people. The value of German bonds was virtually wiped out. It is all very fine to have no domestic debt left, but it is also hard on Germans who bought government bonds with real money.

German private debts were canceled by the same process—giving cheap paper marks in payment for obligations originally representing gold marks. German finance, commerce and industry were completely prostrated by this bald attempt to outsmart the rest of the world, and win by trickery and chicane what had been lost through resort to arms.

What the Press Is Saying

An Election Forecast

The contract for the new carillon in the victory tower of the Parliament House at Ottawa has been awarded. Possibly the bells will be hung in time to "Ring out the old, ring in the new," consequent upon the general election forecast for the near future.—Vancouver Province.

Fortunate Grand Forks

Amid brilliant sunshine and real warmth in the zephyrs, trees budding, flower gardens showing growth, song birds on every hand, golfers on yonder hill, baseball on the back lot and tennis games on the lawn, the average Grand Forks resident is today fairly innoculated with the optimism of spring. And well he might be. We take up the newspaper today and read that a tornado devastated wide areas of Illinois, killing a thousand people and wounding another two thousand; fire did five millions of damage at Palm Beach. Yesterday we read that Japan had a minature repetition of the horrors of two years ago when thousands of lives were lost and havoc wrought. The other day serious damage was done at Ottawa and in eastern Canada by an earth tremor. Less than a week ago they were digging main line trains out of snow after being held up for 24 hours; Calgary's broadcasting station was piercing an atmosphere of 30 below; Trail and Rossland were playing hockey Monday; down at Victoria they are still in the thick of the same favorite winter sport. If peace and contentment are to be measured by comparison—and that is the usual formula—then Grand Forks has just reason to feel that she is in a favored valley and her residents the "chosen people."—Grand Forks Gazette.

Samuel Larcombe, of Birtle, Man., captured the grand aggregate award of the soils product exhibition being held in conjunction with the Brandon winter fair. The veteran agronomist scored 100 points out of a possible 117.

THE SPIRIT OF THE TIMES

Said Rufus L. Capers,
"I see by the papers
That Martin MacNicholl has married again.
The old fool, bless Katie!
Must be almost eighty;
He ought to be in the Bughouse or pen."

"Three wives he has buried
Since first he was married;
He's done for his country enough I should say;
Instead of a wedding
He should have been heading
To pick out a place where they'll lay him away."

While all those related
Quite soundly berated
Old Martin for having annexed a new wife,
I paid him a visit
And asked him: "Why is it?
It's rather surprising at your time of life."

Said I: "Man, beshrew it!
Just why did you do it?
It's none of my business, but tell, if you will."
Said he: "Well, Old Matey,
Although I am eighty,
I'm still young enough to be hunting a thrill."

Ham-Spaghetti Dish—Put two tablespoons of ham fat or bacon into a saucepan and, when melted, add one tablespoon of minced, raw onion; let simmer till the onion is yellow, then add one tablespoon of flour, one and one-half cups of canned tomato juice, and a pinch each of salt and pepper. Season with two or three drops of Worcestershire sauce if liked. Stir till smooth, then add two and two-thirds cups of cooked spaghetti. When the spaghetti is warm add one-half cup of finely chopped mild American cheese, reduce heat to moderate (intense heat will toughen cheese) and stir till the cheese is melted. Then serve this mixture on the same platter with broiled sliced ham.

Butterscotch Cookies—(Contributed by Mrs. M. P.)—Cream together two cups of brown sugar and one-half cup of butter; add two beaten eggs, one tablespoon of cold water in which one teaspoon of baking soda has been dissolved, then four cups of ordinary bread flour which has been previously sifted with one teaspoon of baking powder. Stir in one-half cup of desicated coconut and one-half cup of chopped nut meats, and form the dough into a roll. Slice thin slabs off this long roll and place these flat on a greased baking pan. Bake about eight minutes in a hot oven. (It is perhaps better to let the roll stand overnight before slicing and baking).

Hungarian Goulash—(Requested by a constant reader: Slice one large peeled onion and brown it in three tablespoons of bacon fat; then remove the onion slices and put into the same fat one pound of lean veal and one-half pound of lean beef, both cut small. Brown these meat cubes, then remove from the frying pan and place them in a glass or earthen baking dish; pour over them three cups of boiling water and season with one-half teaspoon of paprika. Put on the cover and bake in a hot oven for one and one-half hours. Now add to the casserole six small white onions peeled, six tiny turnip balls, all of these vegetables having been previously fried for a few moments in hot fat before being added to the meat in the casserole. Season all with one teaspoon of salt, a tiny bit of bay leaf, one whole clove, and one Chili pepper minced. Add a thickening paste made by mixing together one cup of cold water and two heaping tablespoons of flour. Also add one cup of boiling water to the dish, again cover, and cook one hour longer before serving.

General tightening up of the conditions governing loans under the rural credits act, is provided for in a long string of amendments which will be introduced by Premier John Bracken in the Manitoba legislature. The serious condition of the rural credits societies pointed out in the speech from the throne and further stressed in the annual report of the provincial supervisor, is emphasized by recent orders-in-council, which added six societies to the 38 already administered by department officials. There are 74 rural credit societies in Manitoba.

That Body of Yours

By JAMES W. BARTON, M.D.

Making Terms With Your Body

One of our newspaper writers said a good thing the other day when he suggested that to get along with your fellow men and with life itself you should make terms with life.

In other words, you're here on earth and it is up to you to make the best of it.

He commented favorably on the fact that, notwithstanding all the hardships and injustices, very few people give up life in despair.

Now, just as you have to make terms with life, so also must you make terms with that body of yours.

You didn't choose your body, but had to accept just what you got in the way of brain, muscle and the various organs of the body.

Now, the whole point of the matter is that if you are going to get the best service from your body, you'll have to make terms with it.

You were given a brain, and fortunately it registers for you everything that your body does throughout the day. If you eat more than you should, or of some form of food that disagrees with you, then you suffer for it, and your brain makes note of said pain.

Thereafter you are in a position to know just how much food you can eat, and that there is one particular kind of food that gives you distress.

You work hard, day and night, and try to get along with insufficient sleep. Again your brain tells you that you need more rest.

You find that you have headaches, a nasty taste in the mouth, and that the intestine needs purging by medicines.

And so again your brain, which is really your common sense, tells you that you are not moving your body sufficiently by work or exercise.

In brief, then, it just means that in order to make terms, the best possible terms, with that body of yours, you have to just think of the three things—food, sleep and exercise.

Your body will keep going despite all the wrong things you do, but to get all that it can give you in the way of health, buoyant health, you must be willing to make terms with it.

It doesn't demand too much, but it does demand the use of your brain, your common sense.

GALENA FARM VEIN FOLDED, NOT FAULTED

Rediscovery of Main Lead Announced by Clark Estate

SPOKANE, March 22.—Finding of the vein in the Galena Farm mine at Silverton, after it was thought to have been pinched out by a fault, means greater development of the property than ever, according to J. M. Porter, mining engineer. Mr. Porter has returned from an extensive survey of the Galena Farm property for the Patrick Clark estate which, with J. J. Stewart and associates of New York, owns the property.

"The Galena Farm property has already produced nearly $1,000,000 in silver, lead and zinc," said Mr. Porter yesterday. "It has been under lease to R. F. Ainsley, who has carried on extensive development work. His lease has expired, and the owners wished a survey made before taking further action.

Shipping Ore Found

"The original vein had apparently pinched out by a fault, but development work shows it was a fold instead of a fault, and after turning upward the vein continues on a downward dip as before. The fold threw the vein further north than had been anticipated. Other work driving into the foot wall of stopes has disclosed a considerable body of ore underlying the stopes. A good quality of shipping ore has also been found in the hanging wall. Driving east on the vein has also developed another ore body 120 feet long.

"Shipments already taken out in drifting run 34 to 56 ounces in silver, 12½ to 30 per cent in lead, and 15 to 18 per cent in zinc per ton.

"This is probably the same vein as the Hewitt mine, owned by R. Insinger of Spokane and others, and the Van Roi mine, which is under lease to Clarence Cunningham."

SLOCAN BOARD DRAFTS ROAD RESOLUTIONS

Votes Down Asking a Liquor Store for the Slocan; MacFadden Head

NEW DENVER, March 22. — The annual meeting of the Slocan district board of trade was held here Wednesday, when several resolutions on roads were drafted for presentation to the annual meeting of the associated boards.

District Engineer William Ramsay stated it had been the policy, when funds were appropriated, to commence work on the road or portion of the road first located by the engineers. Unless otherwise instructed by the department, he would this year first complete the link of the Nelson-Kaslo road between Ainsworth and Queen's Bay. Next in order would be the Silverton-Slocan road. He replied to a question by C. F. Nelson in reference to small contractors, stating that as a rule they preferred to subcontract from the men who took large contracts, as they did not have means or the inclination to deposit 10 per cent with the government as a guarantee to complete the work undertaken.

C. S. Leary, M.P.P., said he had received 200 applications for road improvements. The policy of the government was to complete the trunk road from Vernon to Nelson as soon as funds were available, constructing a portion each year until the whole was completed.

No Financial Aid

A resolution from Sandon, advocating that the government assist prospectors to develop their claims, on the recommendation of the district mining engineer, to the extent of $100 a month, caused some discussion, but was not indorsed.

It was resolved to ask the government to hold the tax sale at some point in the Slocan as well as in Kaslo; also that the court of revision be held in the Slocan mining district, and that a local man be appointed as judge.

The question of a liquor vendor for the district was brougat up, and a heated discussion resulted. It was contended that the government should either establish a vendor's store in the district, or deliver the goods here at the price charged by the vendor — so as to equalize the cost to the consumer. The latter view was accepted, and the secretary was instructed to memorialize the government to that effect.

Officers Elected

The following officers were elected: President, J. P. McFadden; vice-president, J. W. M. Tinling; secretary-treasurer, A. Shilland; delegates to the associated boards — C. F. Nelson, George Trickett and Colin Campbell.

Mr. Leary and Mr. Ramsay were given a vote of thanks for their explanations of road problems, and A. Jocabson for the use of the Newmarket hotel reading room.

STRIKE PAY ORE ON THE MIDNIGHT

Rossland Property Adjoining I. X. L. Has a Nice Showing

ROSSLAND, March 22.—The lessess of the Midnight claim, the property of T. S. Gilmour, adjoining the I. X. L., have struck a nice vein of ore, which is widening out and looking better with every shot. Assays made from samples taken on the vein show values of $34, considered excellent by those in charge.

The Midnight lies just east of the I. X. L., and the lesses, Rossland and Trail men, have been developing the claim for the past year.

It is believed that ere long high grade, similar to that which the I. X. L. has been recovering, will be the reward of those who have remained loyal to the undertaking.

The I. X. L. is still working, and the recoveries are said to keep up as well as formerly.

Mrs. William Doherty, Port Arthur, left her one and a half year old son in his carriage for a few minutes, and when she returned to the room found the baby hanging from the side of the carriage. It had tried to climb out, its clothes catching and strangling it.

RECIPE TO CLEAR A PIMPLY SKIN

Pimples Are Impurities Seeking an Outlet Through Skin Pores

Pimples, sores and boils usually result from toxins, poisons and impurities which are generated in the bowels and then absorbed into the blood through the very ducts which should absorb only nourishment to sustain the body.

It is the function of the kidneys to filter impurities from the blood and cast them out in the form of urine, but in many instances the bowels create more toxins and impurities than the kidneys can eliminate; then the blood uses the skin pores as the next best means of getting rid of these impurities, which often break out all over the skin in the form of pimples.

The surest way to clear the skin of these eruptions, says a noted authority, is to get from any pharmacy about four ounces of Jad Salts and take a tablespoon in a glass of water each morning before breakfast for one week. This will help prevent the formation of toxins in the bowels. It also stimulates the kidneys, thus coaxing them to filter the blood of impurities and clearing the skin of pimples.

Jad Salts is inexpensive, and is made from the acid of grapes and lemon juice combined with lithia. Here you have a pleasant effervescent drink which usually helps make pimples disappear.

WEST HAM IS WINNER OVER THE ALBIONS

West Bromwich Are Again Off Top Rung; Bolton Ties Huddersfield

LONDON, March 22.—West Bromwich lost their opportunity to regain leadership of the first division of the English league yesterday when they permitted West Ham to run up a 2 to 1 victory over them. Having tied with Huddersfield Town once more in a mid-week game, they were fancied to either forge ahead, or at least maintain the tie. They tied neither, however, for the town acquired one point in drawing with Bolton Wanderers, and thus again opened out the small margin. The Albion now find themselves locked with Newcastle United.

The big feature of the first division was the game between the leaders and Bolton Wanderers, a game in which the points were divided. The game was strenuous.

Tottenham Draw Lucky

Tottenham Hotspurs are somewhat flattered by their one-goal draw with Blackburn Rovers, for the cup aspirants had at least two-thirds of the game.

Two goals by Brace, and one by Shone, enabled Liverpool to take the measure of Burnley on the former's field in a fast game.

West Ham's victory over West Bromwich was very creditable because at the beginning of the game West Ham lost the services of Carter, their left half back, who had to retire.

The game at Villa Park, between Aston Villa and Notts County, ended in a scoreless draw.

Sunderland Trim Manchester

Sunderland demonstrated their superiority over Manchester City in every department of the game, and their 3 to 1 victory represents faithfully the form of the two teams.

In the second division Derby County again assumed command of the league by virtue of their win over Chelsea, and also due to the fact that Leicester City could no more than draw with Portsmouth.

Blackpool, despite the honors they won in the cup competition, going as far as the fourth round, continue badly in the league, and they succumbed yesterday to Stockport County.

CELTICS WHALE THE RANGERS BY FIVE TO ZERO

Glasgow's Cup Tie Pride Is Broken; Hamilton, Dundee Tie

GLASGOW, March 22.—(Canadian Press Cable)—Out of the welter of yesterday's two semifinal games in the Scottish Football association cup competition, only one team was assured an entry into the final round, and that in one of the most sensational ever witnessed here. The Celtic completely vanquished the champion Rangers by taking them into camp 5 to 0.

Over 100,000 saw the Celtic put it over the "Invincibles," and their international backs were helpless before the sparkle and dash of McGrory, Connelly and Gallagher, Celtic's victory was well merited. They played the Rangers off their feet.

In the capital city the game between Hamilton Acads and Dundee resulted in a draw, and will have to be replayed.

Celtic Amazes Huge Crowd

GLASGOW, March 22.—(Canadian Press Cable)—Interest in the semi-finals of the Scottish cup centered in the Rangers-Celtic game at Hampden, Glasgow. The rivalry was intense. The result was a sensation as from the form displayed during the season, Rangers were expected to win an easy victory.

In the first half they played well, and Celtic were lucky to score after 30 minutes, through McGrory. Rangers started the second half in good style, but after 16 minutes McLean scored Celtic's second goal.

From that moment Rangers collapsed completely, their backs weakened, and their wing halves made many mistakes.

Celtic, to the amazement of the crowd, scored three more goals through McGrory, Thomson and McLean. Celtic won a well and deserved victory.

In the other cuptie game at Tynecastle, Edinburgh, before 30,000 fans, were lucky to draw with Dundee. Hamilton scored first, through McNab, the Dunee half putting the ball through his own net. Duncan equalized for Dundee before the interval. In the second half Dundee did most of the pressing, but there was no further score.

RAILBIRDS IN TORONTO LIKE THE PATRICIAS

Regina Juniors Are Called "the Wonder Team of the West"

TORONTO, March 22.—The Mail and Empire in its sports page tomorrow will say:

"Al Ritchie, managing coach of the Regina Patricias, claims that the new Abbott cup holders are the strongest team that has ever come out of the west in quest of the O.H.A. Memorial trophy, emblematic of the junior hockey championship of Canada, and Aura Lee's opponents in tonights game at the arena.

"In their first practice they convinced the critics who were on hand that Ritchie knows what he is talking about. The Pats showed all kinds of speed and stick handling ability, handling themselves like seniors, and they are fairly heavy. If appearances are worth anything, they will give the O.H.A. champs their hardest game of the season.

Acaster Draws Their Eyes

"Sil Acaster, the center boys of the Pats, drew the greatest attention during the first workout. The Pats will work out between 12 and 12:30 today, and the fans will get a great chance to look over this wonder team from the west before it swings into action against one of the finest teams that ever won the O.H.A. title.

"Acaster, who is in his last year of junior hockey, has a wonderful poke check, back checks like a fiend, and is the team's leading goal getter. What a grand battle he and Shrimp McPherson, Aura Lee's young center star, will have during the series!

Morrison Speedy Kid

"Johnny McPherson, the Toronto team's right wing sharpshooter, will be up against the youngest boy on the western team in Ike Morrison, who is only 16 years of age. Morrison will perhaps outskate McPherson, but he will have difficulty outplaying the sturdy Scotsman.

"Another boy who caught the eye of the railbirds is Ken Doraty. He was born just outside of Toronto. He is the speed merchant of the Pats, and a star of the offencive, being a great shot."

The teams will be as follows:

Aura Lee	Regina
Goal
Stark	Cunning
Defence
Armstrong	Doraty
McKay	Cranstoun
Center
A. McPherson	Acaster
Wing
J. McPherson	Ingram
McIlwain	Morrison
Substitutes
Park	Fuller
Gossett	Dowie

Referees—Harold Farlow, Toronto, and Alex. Irvine, Winnipeg.

William T. Tilden, world's champion tennis star, is six feet one inch in height.

EDMONTON MAGNATE THROUGH IN WEST

Franchise Is for Sale; No More Criticism Is for Him

EDMONTON, March 22. — "I am through with hockey, in this city at least," said Kenny MacKenzie upon his arrival from the north country today.

"The franchise, and any player on the team, or the whole team, is for sale. I am quitting right now, and I want the wide, wide world to know all about it. Many fans have criticized the way I have run the club. They have howled for two years now, asking that somebody else, somebody that knows how to run a team, be put in. All right, here is their chance.

"It is quiet possible that I will be associated with hockey again, but it will not be in the Western Canada league. As a matter of fact, I have two very good propositions."

Willie Plant has been walking about 13 years in competition.

FRANCE!

France's Potential Resources

Refunding External Debt. Latest reports indicate that France is about to proceed with the funding of her debt to Great Britain and the United States. This step, in the opinion of international bankers, will prove a powerful impetus in the rise of the franc. The aftermath of such refundment can best be gauged by the behaviour of the British Pound Sterling, which has recently scored a new high since the war of $4.80 per pound, or, within 6 cents of its par value. The Franc, during the early part of January showed strength and the movement, we believe, is but precursory, in view of the recent better tone of news, to a rise of greater proportions. As the current rate of exchange determines the future value of French Government 6% bonds present purchasers of these securities will have some splendid profits to show within the next few months.

Reparations. France is to receive large sums on her reparation account from Germany which will greatly enhance her treasury. The Ministry of Finance has issued a statement outlining the economic and financial situation. As it contains much information of interes to Canadian investors in French Government 6% Bonds we have summarised the statement as follows:—

The Government will shortly be in a position to increase its reimbursements to the Bank of France which will do away with the menace of inflation, while it will also help to stabilize the value of the franc in relation with foreign exchanges. The franc as a result, will then start to gain in value and so cause the cost of living to decrease.

The budgetary situation shows a steady improvement. In 1919 national expenditure exceeded revenue by nearly 24 billion francs; in 1923, the general budget, which included all expenditure of government departments balanced; in 1924, the general budget will show an excess of revenue which will go a good way towards covering expenditures under the Special Budget for reconstruction of the devastated regions; in 1925, for the first time in eleven years, according to the present official estimates, all expenditures will be met by normal revenue.

The general economic situation shows a similar improvement. The uninterrupted development of France's foreign trade, the constant increase in revenue from all sources of taxation, the reconstruction of the devastated regions and the new wealth brought to the country by the return of Alsace Lorraine are all factors of prime importance to the nation's economic balance sheet.

In 1920 France's imports exceeded exports by 24 billion francs; today the situation is reversed and France is selling abroad more than she is buying. On the basis of the figures for the first six months of last year, the trade balance, for 1924, will be in France's favor to the extent of 3 billion francs.

Seventy-five per cent. of the total damage done by the German armies in the devastated regions of Northern France has now been made good and this remarkable result has been achieved by France alone. The provinces of the north have recovered their entire pre-war population of 4,278,000 inhabitants and the terrible ravages of war will soon be wiped out.

Most important of all, in concluding this statement of France's economic and financial condition, the French Minister of Finance points out that Germany has now declared herself willing to make reparations payments and that under the provisions of the Dawes plan 52 per cent. of these payments will be credited to France. These moneys will be of substantial help in enabling the French Government to speed up the execution of its financial program which includes provision for the amortization of the public debt.

Area and Population. The total area of France, including Alsace-Lorraine, amounts to 212,659 square miles. The population of France in 1911 was 39,601,509, and that of Alsace-Lorraine in 1910 was 1,874,014. In 1921, France within its new boundaries, had 39,209,766 people. The total population of the republic, according to the latest available figures is 184 per square mile. In 1921 there were 1,550,449 foreigners in France. Paris, the capital, has 2,906,472 inhabitants, and Marseilles, Lyons, Bordeaux, and Lille are cities of over 200,000 population.

National wealth and resources. The national wealth of France was estimated in March 1922 as being about Fcs. 770,000,000,000 as compared with Fcs. 300,000,000,000 in 1913 and 100,000,000,000 prior to the Franco-Prussian war. The national income is estimated at Fcs. 82,000,000,000 as compared with 37,000,000,000 in 1914, while the value of foreign investments (largely reduced since the war) is placed at from Fcs. 17,500,000,000 to 21,000,000,000 (gold). In 1914 it was estimated at 42,000,000,000. French capital before the war had gone considerably into her colonies but in much larger amounts into older and larger foreign countries. The French investments in the United States, in Canada, South America, the Near East and the Far East were important factors, and the revenue from these foreign holdings probably aggregated about $400,000,000 per annum. The total debt of the Russian Government to the French Government was given as of January 1, 1923 at Fcs. 6,040,000,000 (gold) inclusive of Fcs. 905,000,000 (gold) charge by the Bank of France for discounting Russian Government obligations. Advances to other countries amounted on January 1, 1923 to Fcs. 9,278,500,000, viz., Roumania, Fcs. 1,181,000,000; Jugo-Slavia Fcs. 1,795,000,000; Greece Fcs. 861,000,000; Poland Fcs. 1,056,000,000, Czecho-Slovakia, Fcs. 574,000,000; Belgium Fcs. 3,684,000,000; Italy Fcs. 49,000,000, exclusive of Fcs. 800,000,000 (gold) in supplies of materials to be covered to indefinite extent by value of Italian supplies of materials, Esthonia, Fcs. 10,500,000; Montenegro Fcs. 13,000,000. Lithuania Fcs. 6,000,000; Hungary Fcs. 1,000,000; Austria Fcs. 500,000, and Latvia Fcs. 11,000,000.

Transportation. France has 25,766 miles of railway. The principal lines include the Northern Railway, the Eastern, the Paris Lyons-Mediterranean, the Paris-Orleans, the Southern (Midi) and the State Railway. The aggregate surplus of all lines amounted to Fcs. 403,300,000 for 1922 as compared with a deficit of Fcs. 2,084,000,000 in 1921, and 3,012,000,000 in 1920. During 1923 the railways did decidedly better than during the preceding year. Gross receipts for the period January 1-November 11, 1923 aggregated Fcs. 6,166,801,000 as compared with Fcs. 5,838,784,800 for the corresponding period in 1922.

Navigable rivers total 4,512 miles and canals 3,031 miles. In 1914 there were 23,918 miles of national roads.

French shipping comprises 1,490 steamers and motor vessels of 2,963,229 aggregate gross tonnage; 358 sailing vessels of 281,965 aggregate gross tonnage; total 1,758 ships of 3,245,194 tonnage. The present shipbuilding schedule calls for a construction of 1,255,000 additional tons.

Foreign Trade. France commands a great export market. Her exports are destined chiefly for Great Britain, Belgium-Luxemburg, the United States, Switzerland, Italy, Germany, Argentina. They consist largely of silken goods, cottons, clothing, chemicals, wine, lace, automobiles, and hewn timber. French imports are coal and coke, cereals, raw cotton, cast iron and steel, wool and machinery, and come in great quantity from the United States, Great Britain, Belgium, Argentina, Italy and Germany. Exports aggregated 19,187,000 tons in the first ten months of the past year as compared with 18,212,000 tons in 1922 and 17,846,000 tons in 1913.

And Yield increases as Franc Rises

WE BELIEVE that an investment made today in French Government 6% Bonds (Loan authorized Dec. 16th, 1920 — Redeemable at par on or after January 1st, 1931), presents an exceptional opportunity for profition any material advance in the value of French money (franc).

Due to the depreciation of French francs, a French Government 6% Bond can now be bought for approximately $40.00; with French Exchange at normal (19.3c per franc) these same bonds would have a value of $193.00 each.

International bankers believe that French francs will sell above 10c per franc before very long. Just think what it means to French Government securities, when the franc touches 10c, each bond of 1,000 francs would have a value of $100.00—a rise of over 125%, or a profit of $60.00 for every $40.00 invested. With the franc selling at 15c per franc or $150.00 per 1,000 francs your profit will be $110.00 for every bond of 1,000 francs or for every $40.00 invested.

We made a thorough investigation to determine the best way to buy French francs for maximum profits. We believe that the French Government 6% Bonds, maturing after 1931, afford the best medium, for they represent to French Investors precisely what the high grade British Government Consols and our own Canadian Government Victory Bonds represent to us, being legal investments for every institution, Trust Fund and Savings Bank in France and constitute a strictly high-grade gilt-edged government investment. They may be sold again instantly, being listed on the Paris Stock Exchange (Bourse). The interest coupons have always been paid promptly on the dot and can be cashed in Montreal, New York, London and the principal financial centres of the world at the current rate for francs.

French Government Bonds will unquestionably come back to normal ($193.00 per 1,000 francs). The United States were financially bankrupt after the Civil War. Their securities could be bought for a song, yet in a few years the Americans were on their feet financially again, and today are considered the richest nation in the world.

England, too, once faced what seemed to be financial disaster. With Napoleon virtually pounding at her gates, British Bonds went next to nothing, but the victory at Waterloo saw them skyrocketing. The Rothschild family accumulated the major portion of its wealth by investing in British Bonds and selling them when Wellington's victory became known.

The experience of France, bankrupt at the hands of Bismark, is within the memory of living man. Her bonds sold down to 7% of their normal value after the Franco-Prussian war. They appeared hopeless, yet in two years they had recovered 95% of their normal value, making fortunes for those who had the courage to invest in them. When millions of men and populations of nations lend their collective efforts to the task—nothing is impossible. The French Franc will undoubtedly come back to normal.

A study of history convinces one forcibly that the most difficult thing to do would be to destroy is national existence. History will repeat itself. We believe that the opportunity of a lifetime, to make remarkable profits, exists today for our clients, through the purchase of these high-grade government securities. They rank as the highest-grade French Government bonds, and are virtually a first mortgage on the entire assets and resources of the Republic of France. The bonds are valid for thirty years after maturity and the interest coupons for five years after redemption date, thus enabling you to cash them at any time the exchange rates are favorable.

France ranks as a first-class military, naval and commercial power of the world. French industries are thriving and working overtime. France is exporting goods to every country of the globe; her shipping is crowding the seas and the nation shows every evidence of industrial and economic progress. Reparation payments from Germany are further enhancing her treasury. These conditions should be quickly reflected in a rapid rise in the French franc, which would in turn increase the value of her Government bonds. That is why we urge you to buy French Government bonds now while they are on the bargain counter.

As the franc rises, the value of these bonds will increase as follows

FRANCS	Present Price	With Franc At 10 cents	With Franc At 15 cents	With Franc As Par (19.3c)
1,000 French Government 6% Bonds	$40	$100	$150	$193
2,000 French Government 6% Bonds	80	200	300	386
5,000 French Government 6% Bonds	200	500	750	965
10,000 French Government 6% Bonds	400	1000	1500	1930
25,000 French Government 6% Bonds	1000	2500	3750	4825
50,000 French Government 6% Bonds	2000	5000	7500	9650
100,000 French Government 6% Bonds	4000	10000	15000	19300

We are selling a good many of these bonds at the above price which covers every expense. Upon receipt of money-order or accepted cheque, we will at once confirm sale by return registered mail, but order must be received by return mail to insure these prices, as quotations are changing daily.

We handle all kinds of foreign government and municipal bonds and it is vitally important to us to have our clients select those which will make the most money for them and make it most quickly. Our interest does not cease after a sale, for it is our constant aim to keep in touch with our clients, to render them service, posting them when the bonds rise in market value, and advising them whether or not we deem it advisable to sell. This service is expensive to ourselves but its value to our clients is incalculable. Use the order form below.

J. Pierpont Morgan, probably the greatest financier the world has ever known, is recently quoted as saying:

"We have absolute confidence not only in the resources of France, but even more in the intelligent and industrious population...

"France, soon will be invincible, in the economic domain. In any case, we shall always be at her side and sustain her when necessary...

"Before two years have elapsed, France will have reconquered, from the economic viewpoint, the prepondering situation she enjoyed before the war."

After having exhaustively studied the sound financial condition of France, we believe that purchasing her high grade government bonds at present prices is an opportunity one cannot afford to miss, as the profits will be large and very rapid.

French Government 6% Bonds, which are described in these columns are purchased by French citizens, not only for the safety of the principal, but also because of their never failing, tax-exempt, interest income. In purchasing these bonds at the actual market price, the client makes his investment at rock-bottom prices.

It is our opinion that the present rate of exchange of the French franc is inconsistent with the financial and potential natural resources of the Republic of France.

We momentarily anticipate a sharp upward movement in the franc. In fact we believe that it will sell at 10c per franc, or $100.00 per 1,000 francs before very long. We are convinced our clients will double, if not treble their money within a remarkably short time.

Not only does the principal increase in value as the franc advances but the interest income becomes automatically augmented. For instance each bond of 10,000 francs yields an income of 600 francs per annum.

At the present rate of the franc holders of French Government 6% bonds receive interest at the rate of over 7¾%. As the franc rises the interest or return on the principal, automatically increases.

With the franc quoted only at 8 cents, the holder of these bonds would receive $48.00 in Canadian money for each 600 francs yearly interest income. This is a good return on an original outlay of $400.00, representing as it does, an interest rate of about 12 per cent instead of 6%. With the franc at 10 cents, or $100.00 per 1,000 francs, the interest income converted into Canadian currency would amount to $60.00, equivalent to an income return of 15% on the principal invested.

When the franc is quoted at 15c or $150.00 per 1,000 francs, every 600 francs will be worth $90.00 in Canadian money; this return represents an interest rate of over 22% on an investment of $400.00. When the franc reaches par, the annual interest in Canadian currency will be $115.00 for every 600 francs, this return is equivalent to an interest rate of over 28 per cent on $400.00.

As remarked elsewhere, you do not have to cash your interest coupons as soon as they become due. You can hold each interest coupon for five years after redemption date. This will permit you to dispose of them at materially higher rates than at the present time.

The important fact to remember, however, is that your principal increases in value as the franc rises.

Rarely has the investing public been offered an investment that returns such an attractive yield with absolute guaranty of both principal and interest.

Thousands of our clients in Canada and the United States have purchased these sound, high-grade, French Government Bonds. They have placed their money where it will return them a handsome income together with a unique opportunity of reaping a liberal profit.

Many investors, heretofore compelled to be satisfied with 3 and 4% interest on their principal have liquidated their former holdings and purchased French Government 6% Bonds.

They are, as a result, in great demand and it is not at all unlikely that the decreased floating supply alone will cause them to rise in value. We believe present purchasers will receive handsome profits during 1925. French Government 6% Bonds will rapidly increase in value.

As the security is unequalled—and the investment thoroughly safe, we advise clients to buy as many of these bonds as they may possibly find it convenient to invest in. Immediate action must be taken if real profits are to be made.

As the largest dealers in Canada specializing exclusively in foreign government and municipal bonds, it is only after we have sounded exhaustively the merits of an investment that we recommend it to our clients. Being in constant touch with the foreign markets of the world, we offer our clients the benefits of a reliable service and efficient organization.

Our past record stands out as testimony to our ability to make money for all who deal with us. In November of 1923 we urged investors to make immediate substantial investments in German Government 5% bonds. We sold those bonds at $39.00 per one million marks. Nine months later those same bonds rose to $2,800.00 returning a profit of about five thousand per cent. for every $39.00 invested. One of our customers who made an investment of $1,140.00 in November, 1923, was offered $230,000.00 for the same bonds on September 18th, 1924.

On August 2nd of last year we sold to some of our clients City of Hamburg 4½% Bonds, 1919 issue, at the price of $245.00 per bond of one million marks' denomination. On September 10th—in less than one month's time—we bought back the same bonds at a price of $1,150.00 returning a profit of $905.00 for every $245.00 invested.

Thousands of C. M. Cordasco & Company's clients, scattered throughout the length and breadth of Canada have become comparatively wealthy by investments made in selected securities upon our recommendation.

Fortunes are earned every day by far-sighted investors in selected foreign government and municipal bonds which we recommend.

ORDERS FILLED IN ROTATION

Owing to the great demand for these bonds and their present scarcity our staff is taxed to the utmost. While we give each investor the same attention and service, and care is always given to individual requirements, in justice to all we are compelled to fill orders in the rotation in which they are received.

REGINA PATRICIAS ARRIVE IN TORONTO

Western Junior Champions Are Ready for Series With Aura Lee

TORONTO, March 22.—The Regina junior hockey team, junior champions of western Canada arrived here direct from Fort William yesterday, to play Aura Lee a three-game series this week for the junior championship of Canada, and the Memorial cup.

"We have the strongest junior team the west ever sent down for the championship cup," said Al Ritchie, of Regina, manager and coach of the Regina club, "and we are tickled to death to come down here and play the games for out in Regina, we consider Toronto the fairest sporting town on the continent. I should know—I have been here twice before, and I am speaking from experience."

VARSITY SQUAD REACHES WEST

Eastern Champions Are "Raring to Go" Against the Port Arthurs

WINNIPEG, March 22.—The Toronto Varsity hockey squad arrived in Winnipeg this morning, and before the noon hour the entire team were taking the kinks out of their train-weary legs at the amphitheater. The men did not have a fast workout, but to the few rail birds who were on hand to get a line on the play of the westerners, the team made a good impression.

The team as a whole looks heavier than the Port Arthur men. Manager Smythe claims his men are in the pink of condition, and are "rarin' to go." Not one of the players has any semblance of injury, and all expect to make a good showing against their western rivals.

The Port Arthur team will line up the same men that carried the colors to the western championship.

NO ONE WANTS HAMILTON MEN

Montreal Not Signing Any of 'Em; Several Are Out for Good

MONTREAL, March 22.—"Babe" Siebert, sub wing player of the Niagara Falls senior amateur hockey team, is practically certain to be seen in the Montreal Maroon uniform in the National Hockey league next season, according to reports.

There has been considerable talk of Montreal signing some of the striking Hamilton players, but this is denied by the Montreal leaders.

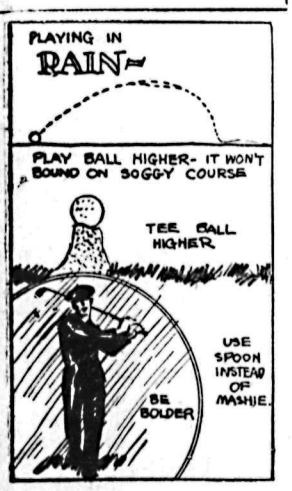
Commenting on the Hamilton players, the Gazette says:

"For the present it looks as if the striking players will be at loose ends. They still stand suspended, though that means little. While the off-season is here, it appears certain at any rate that the team will not go over en bloc to any club, and some, it is said, on good authority, will be out of the game for good. Ken Randall is one who will probably end his hockey career with this last wangle."

One of the latest women race horse owners is Lady Curzon, the wife of the former British foreign secretary, who registered her colors—pink and brown halved jacket and cap.

LITTLE LESSONS IN

Golf



Is it necessary to change the style of play when golfing in the rain? If so, what changes should be made?

Answered By
CYRIL WALKER
National open champion.

* * *

Golfing style must be changed when playing in the rain. Here are some of the necessary modifications in form. Try and play the ball up in the air more, as the carry is very necessary in a rain on account of the slowing up of the course. Tee the ball higher and in playing through the fairway with wood, give a spoon preference over a brassie, so as to get the ball up. Hit all your shots to the hole as if you were trying to hole out. In other words be bold and then bolder.

VICTORIA WINS OPENING GAME IN CUP SERIES

Defeats Canadiens Five to Two Under Western Rules

BAFFLE FRENCHMEN TILL LAST PERIOD

Canadiens Expect to Reverse Showing Tonight in Vancouver

VICTORIA, March 22.—Victoria won the opening game of the world's hockey series here last night by defeating Canadiens 5 to 2. The Frenchmen, who seemed a little tired after their long journey, could not get going properly until well on into the third period. Previous to that their forwards were halted on most of their rushes by the Cougar defence, which spared nothing in checking. The Canadiens also seemed to solve the strange playing rules, and made good use of the forward pass when closing in on goal.

Victoria Defence Impenetrable

The first period did not produce any play of championship caliber, although Victoria featured with several heavy thrusts into the Canadiens' defence. The Frenchmen were all at sea on the offside pass inside their blue line, and Cleghorn and Coutu were taken frequently. Twice Victoria broke through for goals on a similar play, the center man feeding the puck to left wing. Walker shot the first tally for Victoria on a hard shot, while Halderson had Vezina tongue tied with a whistling shot for the second goal which came within 10 minutes of the opener.

The Canadiens found the Victoria defence very sound, and did most of their shooting from a distance. Morenz and Boucher had the only telling shots, but Holmes got to them with his quick feet.

Vezina went to sleep on a slow backhander that Walker lifted in three minutes after the start of the second period. The Canadiens tried hard to get going, but the Victoria defence was tougher than a back alley.

Joliet and Anderson Spar

After Joliet was carried into the boards by Anderson, the pair squared off, and their blows were the signal for the rest of the players to rush in, and after Referee Ion had pulled the players apart he handed out major penalties to those who started the fight.

The Canadiens broke into the scoring in the third period, scoring two goals. Victoria, however, opened the tallying in this session on Fraser's lightning shot. Then came the Frenchmen's opening counter, Coutu beating Holmes from a few feet out. The advantage was short-lived, as Fraser tore to the other end from the faceoff, and again had Vezina at his mercy. Morenz completed the scoring by netting the puck after a beautiful one.

Morenz, Frederickson Stars

Morenz showed the best of the visitors, while the Canadiens found Frederickson as slippery as an eel.

The Victoria defence was a mystery to the Canadiens most of the night.

The second game will be played in Vancouver tomorrow night. The Canadiens hope to make a far better showing, as they will be playing under the eastern code, at which they will feel more at home.

The arena was crowded, the total attendance being estimated at 4500.

VETERAN APPRAISER DIES AT THE COAST

VANCOUVER, March 22.—J. O. Le Cappellain, for many years employed in the customs department here as an appraiser, died Friday night, aged 72. Mr. Le Cappellain was well-known in Winnipeg in the early days, and came to Vancouver in 1888 from the Manitoba city.

SCOTS WREST CALCUTTA CUP AND TITLE, TOO

Beat England First Time Since Before War in International

EDINBURGH, March 22.—The Scottish Rugby union christened their new ground at Murrayfield here yesterday by breaking the spell which had held their international fifteens since 1913, and defeating England 14 to 11.

The victory carried with it also the international championship and the coveted Calcutta cup. Sixty thousand fans saw the downfall of England. The weather was ideal for rugby.

It early became evident that the game would be fought between the opposing scrums, and both packs went into it with characteristic dash. A few penalties in the first few minutes slowed matters up while the teams were testing each other out. Then Scotland sent their Oxford university three-quarters away in a fine run that ended with MacPherson being grassed. The home fifteen again attacked, but the offence was quashed by Locke, the English center three-quarters, who carried the play right up to the Scottish line. Within their own 25 yards the Scots were penalized, and Luddington, taking the kick, registered the first three points for the southerners.

England Scores First

The initial success gave the visitors great encouragement, and England's forwards settled down. They packed well, and broke quickly.

However, they were not markedly superior to the home pack, who dribbled strongly, and tackled with deadly accuracy.

The game see-sawed in great style until the Scottish rear line asserted their combination. MacPherson was put in possession, and, eluding the Englishmen, he made a feint at passing. Scrambling clear he passed to Nelson, and the Academical half romped home and scored. From an easy position Drysdale brought out the major points.

Stung with a two-point reverse, the Englishmen settled down, and some dazzling play ensued. It was crowned when Hamilton-Wickes picked up a flying ball. The Harlequins three-quarters passed to Voyce, who tore through the home defence with Wickes at his side. Voyce returned the pass, and Wickes dashed over the line for a beautiful try. Luddington brought out the points; half time: England, 1 goal, 1 penalty goal, 8 points; Scotland, 1 goal, 5 points.

The second half opened with the situation looking black for the Scotsmen, and things went from bad to worse when the veteran Wakefield of the Harlequins, ran over for England's second try. The goal kick was abandoned. The ball placed for the kick, the Scottish forwards rushed out to intercept, and succeeded, and the game resumed with a wild and confused scramble up field.

Scots Close Behind

The invasion ended with Wallace right wing three-quarter, getting over at the corner flag. From a difficult place, Gilles converted.

The game now assumed a strenuous pace, with both packs battling it out in the traditional Scottish-English style.

In the last few minutes the English were in sore straits. They were hard pressed when, five minutes from the finish, Waddell, the Glasgow half, dropped a beauty over the bar. With three points in hand, the Scotsmen continued to put up a gruelling fight.

The game ended: Scotland, 2 goals, 1 dropped goal, 14 points; England, 1 goal, 1 penalty goal, 1 try, 11 points.

There is nothing difficult about the "B" Word Puzzle Game. There are no tricks or catches in the picture, and everyone is on the same basis. It is a test of skill and observation. The rules are plain and clear. Look them over; take a slant at the BIG PRIZE LIST OF FIFTEEN CASH AWARDS. Sharpen up the old pencil and START IN.

HOW TO PLAY!

After you read the simple rules, sit down and find all the objects in the picture beginning with the letter "B". A little patience and a few hours' work, with qualifying subscription, may bring you $500 in cash. A very nice little nest egg for someone. If you are not fortunate enough to win the $500, there are fifteen other cash rewards. The one who submits the nearest correct solution gets the first prize; second best, second prize, etc.

Observe These Simple Rules

1. Any man, woman or child resident of British Columbia, except employees of The Vancouver Sun or members of employees' families, may submit a list of names. It costs nothing to try.

2. All answers must be mailed on or before Saturday, April 4, 1925.

3. Only said items commencing with "B" as appears in the English Dictionary will be counted. The items must be names of some objects seen in the picture. Do not use double words. Do not use hyphenated words. Where the plural is used the singular cannot be counted and vice versa. Do not use compound words or words formed by the combination of two or more complete English words, each of which in itself is one name of an object.

4. Words of the same spelling can be used more than once even though used to designate different objects. An object can be named only once however, any visible part of an object may be also named.

5. You may write your list with ink or typewriter—not pencil. You must, however, only write on one side of the paper and number the words consecutively. Write your full name and address on each page in the upper right-hand corner and on the first sheet. Place the total of words contained in your complete list. Do not write subscriber's name or anything else, except as noted above, on the same paper with list of words in a separate sheet. After your answer has been filed no corrections or additions can be made. Type or write the words in columns, not across the page. Leave ample space between.

6. The list having the largest number of correct names of visible objects shown in the picture beginning with letter "B", according to the Junior Section Dic. with the least or fewer number of errors, will be awarded First Prize. The second largest list, and the least or lowest number of errors, will be awarded Second Prize, and so on through the list until all prizes have been awarded. Misspelled words will be counted as errors. The prizes will be decided and awarded on percentage basis, and in case of a tie, neatness and accuracy will determine the winner.

7. Workers may co-operate in answering the Puzzle, but only one prize will be awarded to one household or to any other group where two or more people have been working together.

8. Do not send renewal subscriptions as new. Half of your subscriptions must be new to qualify for highest award.

REACTION ERASES GAINS OF RALLY

Last Hour Brings a Break in Stock Market; Bears Given Credit

NEW YORK, March 22.—A secondary reaction swept over yesterday's stock market in the final hour, halting a rally which had carried over from the previous day and bringing about net losses of 1 to 5 points in final quotations. The suddenness of the decline led to a rather general belief that it originated with professional traders, who apparently took advantage of the impaired technical position resulting from the recent sharp rebound.

The Pan-American Petroleum issues which have been in active demand in expectation of an early announcement of reorganization plans involving the formation of two separate companies, one to take over the Mexican properties and the other California oil lands, bore the brunt of the selling pressure. The A and B stocks had touched new high levels on the movement at 81½ and 82⅝, respectively, but they broke later to 77 and 77⅝, closing at the bottom for net losses of 3 and 3⅞ points, respectively. Traders who had bought these stocks "for a turn" around their low levels last week were quick to take profits when the first signs of weakness appeared.

A sudden break in the Interborough Rapid Transit issues was somewhat of a mystery. The common stock fell 8 points to a new low at 16¼, and then rallied to 18, while Manhattan company guaranteed and the modified guaranteed dropped 14 and 14⅞ respectively. The selling was believed to reflect the company's urgent need of new capital in order to purchase new equipment and pay for the cost of lengthening its subway platforms.

All the pivotal industrials lost ground. United States Steel common showed a net loss of 1¼, at 120⅞; Baldwin fell back 3¾, to 123½; American Can yielded 2½, to 174, and Studebaker closed nearly a point lower, at 42¾.

United States Cast Iron Pipe, which touched 199 in the early trading, later fell back to 190¼ for a net loss of 4⅝. Some of the other outstanding weak spots in the industrial list included American Locomotive, General Electric, Commercial Solvents, Nash Motors, Savage Arms, all off 5 to 5 points. Independent strength was shown, however, by American Waterworks, which touched a new record top at 48¾, and by American Beet Sugar, American Express, Federal Light and Traction, Loose Wiles Biscuit, Union Tank Car and United States Smelting, all of which closed 2 to 4 points higher.

Rails were mixed. Pere Marquette preferred advanced nearly 2 points and Frisco preferred 1, while Rock Island, Lackawanna, Norfolk & Western, Western Pacific and a few others fell back a point or two. Jersey Central broke 4 points on a few sales.

Foreign exchanges held relatively steady in quiet trading, the only feature being the establishment of a new high record for the year by Norwegian kroner at 15.50c.

M. M. M. writes: "I wish to buy a home. I make pretty good salary, but I save little. How should I go about buying?"

* * *

We will advise you, M. M. M., to go to a local building and loan association of good standing, talk the matter over with them, and start depositing with them regularly. When you have accumulated some respectable sum of money you will be entitled to more consideration as a home buyer.

The greater the sum, or, rather, the greater proportion of cash you have, the more favorably you will be able to buy, usually.

It is best not to try to finance the building or a home on a "shoe string," because in doing this the financing costs are so heavy that you will not get real value for the money put in your home. In home building or in home buying, as in anything else, people are not putting out something for nothing. You must have something of value, usually money, to exchange for your prospective home.

Bonds For Small Sums

Until the war brought out large bond issues in small denominations and made them available to the general public, bonds were, broadly speaking, in the hands of the large investors.

This form of investment is now understood and utilized by those with small savings. They find that their funds earn from 5% to 5½%, and are readily converted into cash.

BRINGING UP FATHER

EARLY PIONEER OF METHODISM IS SUMMONED

Dr. Stewart Is Professor at Wesley College Thirty-five Years

WINNIPEG, March 22.—Rev. Andrew Stewart, D.D., LL.D., professor of theology at Wesley college, and former president of the college, died at 7 o'clock this morning from heart trouble. Dr. Stewart, a pioneer Methodist minister in western Canada, had been suffering from heart trouble since last December.

Funeral services will be held in Fort Rouge Methodist church Tuesday morning, and representatives of the college and of all religious denominations will attend.

Principal Riddell of Wesley college, said today that Dr. Stewart had rendered invaluable services to the Methodist church. "His sanity of judgment and the clearness of his thought made him always in demand as an advisor and instructor," he said.

Came West in Seventy-eight

Dr. Stewart was born in the township of Albion, Peel county, Ont., June 18, 1851. His parents emigrated from the north of Ireland. Andrew Stewart taught school for four years in the counties of Peel, Simcoe and York. He graduated into the ministry from Victoria college, and came west in 1878. For 10 years thereafter he was engaged in organizing work for the Methodist church in Manitoba.

In 1890 he accepted a chair in Wesley college, and had been associated with that institution up to the time of his death. Dr. Stewart had twice been chairman of the Methodist general conference, and had attended every conference of the church since his ordination.

He is survived by his wife and seven children. A daughter, Goldie Stewart, resides in Vancouver, and a son, William, lives at Goose Lake, Sask. His wife, three daughters and a son, live in this city.

By a majority of 324 the student body of McGill university showed their desire that McGill should have a lord rector.

TORONTO ICE JAM DID GREAT DAMAGE

Thousands of dollars' worth of damage was done and many lives were endangered when the ice jam broke on the Don river, near Toronto, February 24. The tug Earl Gibson is shown with her upper works shorn off as the ice swept her under Cherry street bridge, and the bridge itself bears mute evidence of the impact. An even bter illustration of its violnce is that afforded by one of the Earl Gibson's boats, hurled on to the floor of the bridge and resting there, high and dry, with her bows stove in.

YANKEE LINES ARE SKEPTICAL

Can't Believe Figures of Grain Movement on Canadian Railroads

VANCOUVER, March 22.—American railriad officials find it difficult to grasp magnitude of the grain movement in western Canada and the manner in which Canadian railroads are called upon to handle the rush of traffic during the fall months, according to E. D. Cotterell of Winnipeg, superintendent of transportation for the Canadian Pacific railway who has reached Vancouver after an extended trip through the middle and western states. He is accompanied by J. J. Horn, superintendent of the Kenora division.

"When we told them that the Canadian Pacific alone had handled 135 trains a day on one division, that during the grain rush a car every half minute for 24 hours a day passed through Winnipeg en route east, and that the port of Vancouver for the year 1924 had handled over 55,000,000 bushels, they simply claimed to be "from Missouri." Handling the crop in the United States with their large number of railways is a different proposition from handling it in Canada," Mr. Cotterell said.

Both American and Canadian railroads are reflecting good business conditions generally throughout the country, all lines making preparations for an exceptionally heavy passenger traffic during the coming summer.

FUMIGATOR HELD FOR NEGLIGENCE

Crew Safe but Outsider Boarded Ship and Expired

PORT COLBORNE, Ont., March 22.—Clark Spaulding of Buffalo was arrested last night on a charge of criminal negligence in connection with the death of Allan Scott, a Hamilton salesman, in a cabin aboard the steamer Berrington, a few days ago. Spaulding was in charge of fumigation operations on the Matthews fleet of lake steamers, and was using hydrocyanic acid gas. Scott is said to have met death when he entered the cabin of the chief engineer and was overcome by the deadly fumes.

Spaulding, who was arrested following the inquest on Scott, declared he had taken every precaution to protect the crew, but apparently did not anticipate that any outsiders would board the ship. He is out on $2000 bail.

An additional tax of $10,861,131.50 has been assessed by the United States treasury against Senator Couzens, Republican, Michigan, on the sale of his Ford motor stock in 1919.

KOOTENAY IS ADAPTED FOR FISHER FARMS

Beautiful Black Fur-Bearer Reared by Rancher; Pelts Costly

Is the fisher or pekan adapted to being bred for fur, in the Kootenay? Somewhere in British Columbia an enterprising farmer has laid the basis of successful fisher breeding. An article in "Agricultural and Industrial Progress in Canada," published by the Canadian Pacific railroad, says that while the desirability of bringing the fisher under domestic fur-farming conditions has long been recognized, the only difficulty has been to secure the animals, the more of successful rearing having now been worked out to a demonstration.

For all Canada only 4158 fisher of pekan pelts were taken in 1924, the fur report by the Dominion bureau of statistics, just received in Nelson, shows. Their value was $29,355. British Columbia furnished 633 of the skins, or nearly a sixth.

The animal with which possibly greatest difficulty has been encountered in bringing under successful domestication in Canada and adding to the branches of the Dominion's fur-farming industry has been, not illogically, one of the most desirable, says the article in the Canadian Pacific railroad publication. Considerable experimental work over a wide period of time has been done with the fisher, but thus far only one ranch in the Dominion is accredited with a status of definite establishment in the records of the federal government. The success of this one British Columbia pioneer, however, is so clearly established that there is no longer any doubt but that the fisher can be successfully domesticated and reared in Canada along lines which have been definitely established, a fact which is borne out in the activities of other breeders in Canada and the United States which have made promising starts upon fisher ranches from foundation stock secured from the British Columbia ranch.

Desirability of bringing the fisher under domestic fur-farming conditions has long been recognized. The fisher is indigenous to all parts of Canada, being especially prolific in western Canada. The fur is consistently one of the most valuable, skins selling last year for $125 each, whilst animals sold across the border for stocking purposes have brought $350 a pair. Furthermore the natural food of this animal is such as would suggest economic rearing, granted that other difficulties are overcome. Altogether fisher farming held promise of becoming one of the most profitable branches of the industry, and with the foundation laid the passing of time will undoubtedly make it one of some proportions.

Fiercest Member of Weasel Family

The fisher is a handsome, intelligent animal, resembling an immense black cat. It is the swiftest and fiercest of the weasel family, attaining a weight of about 20 pounds, capable of catching a squirrel and unhesitatingly tackling any dog. The British Columbia experiments have proven that this animal will breed readily in captivity—three to five in a litter—and that under the advantage of a never-failing food supply will grow possibly a little larger than in the natural state.

The principal drawback encountered in getting the industry under way has been the securing of such active and intrepid animals unharmed with which to make a beginning. The pioneer ranch of British Columbia has been built up from a single pair, and no new blood has been introduced. Several generations have been reared there without any difficulty, and stock widely distributed. Only after three generations has it been found that these animals lose any trace of their ferocity, and even then are not anything like as tame as others of the denizens of the wild raised under domestic conditions.

Basis of Successful Breeding Laid

Once a good beginning is made there are few difficulties to be apprehended. Shelter provisions for the fisher are of the simplest, being not unlike an ordinary poultry house with runways. He needs little care. The bill of fare is meager, one meal a day sufficing. Meat in the raw is fed every day and a large bowl of porridge and milk every third day. The principal source of animal food in British Columbia is the prairie dog, the scourge of the grain fields of that province. Gophers would serve the same purpose on the prairies. When these animals hibernate, carcases of cattle and horses are the mainstay.

This British Columbia rancher believes that this leisure sideline, which has solved the problem of profitable employment for him, may do the same for other farmers in western Canada to which the fisher is native. His own establishment has been depleted seriously by the exportation of foundation stock to other parts of Canada and to the United States. There is no question but that the basis of successful fisher breeding in Canada has been laid. The cult is receiving considerable attention, and should develop into a popular as well as a profitable phase of the Dominion's fur-farming industry.

PERSONAL ENVOYS EMPIRE SOLUTION

Walton of South Africa Sees That Coming in Future

LONDON, March 22.—(Canadian Press Cable.)—That the problem of maintaining touch between the dominions and the mother country would eventually be solved on lines of personal representation, either through the dominions' high commissioners, or persons in the confidence of the prime ministers, was the opinion expressed by Sir Edward Walton, high commissioner in London for South Africa, who left Saturday for the Union.

Australia's recent appointment of a representative in the British foreign office, while good, was only a temporary expedient, he thought.

"The dominions are unlikely to be satisfied with the suggestion that a portion of the million pounds sterling granted by the British government to foster inter-imperial trade should be allocated to advertising," Sir Edward said. He thought he voiced the feelings of the other dominions in asserting that they should be left to do their own advertising. He thought the money could best be utilized in assisting in the reduction of ocean freight rates, and to give the consumers in the dominions advantages in connection with the customs.

DANE FARMER BELIEVES IN COOPERATION

Every Article He Produces for Sale Goes to a Society

MARKETING NOT FARM PROBLEM

He Banks Through Cooperative and Buys Supplies in Same Way

(E. T. Garratt in the New Leader)

The typical Danish farmer of today either owns or rents direct from the state an area of some 12 to 20 acres. All except an acre or two of this will be under the plow, usually with a sven or eight years' rotation, such as the following: (1) clover; (2) oats; (3) kohlrabi and potatoes; (4) barley; (5) rye; (6) sugar beets; (7) oats and clover.

Most of the work is done by the farmer himself, occasional help being obtained from the other type of small holder, the man with about four or five acres. The landless farm labor is rare. On such a farm as this the owner would keep four or five cows, one horse, several pigs, and a far stock of poultry.

Cows Stall Fed or Tethered

The cows are stallefed, and more domesticated than those in England. When out of grass or on clover they are invariably tethered. This system saves the cost of fencing, and prevents the wasteful tramping down of clover. If out in cold weather the cows are given canvas coats, and the treatment seems to turn them into completely passive machines of producing immense quantities of milk.

* * *

The farmer sells practically nothing from his holding except liquid milk, live pigs, and eggs, and for none of these need he go to a market. He sells his milk to one of the 1360 cooperative creameries, his pigs to the cooperative bacon factory, and his eggs to the National Egg Export society. From the creamery he gets back his skim milk for the pigs. The only other products are sugar beets, which he grows for a guaranteed price from the factory, and an occasional cow, which has to be fattened off for the butcher. Everything else is consumed on the farm, and a good deal of feeding cake has to be purchased. Only in this way can the hungry Falster island soil be kept properly manured.

Wastes No Time Marketing

The farmer has undoubtedly a full time job to keep his homestead running, but he wastes none of that time doing his own marketing. One never sees him setting out, as in England, with a mixed carload of products, which he will spend the whole of a day hawking round the nearest town. He does not kill his own pigs, nor does his wife have to make butter or cheese, or cure bacon. His purchases are made through cooperative societies of which he is a member.

A few figures will show how pervasive is the cooperative movement. There are in Denmark some 190,000 farms, of which only 5000 are over 150 acres. The 1360 cooperative creameries have about 200,000 members, the 46 bacon factories have 140,000 members, and the societies for purchasing fertilizers and feeding stuff have each some 70,000 members. Through these cooperative societies the farmer also does his own credit, keeps pedigree bulls, and buys household supplies wholesale to sell to himself retail.

Small Man Unwilling at First

As regards cooperation, I had always doubted whether this was really a spontaneous movement from the small farmers themselves, and Mr. Dalgard, secretary of the Workers' Cooperative society, maintained that the Danish small-holder was not a willing cooperator, and that the farmers' cooperative movement began with the big farmers. These men saw the necessity for wholesale methods in the export trade, and, not having sufficient land, were obliged to come to the small-holders for supplies of milk. The small-holders being strong numerically and politically, were able to insist on a very democratic form of cooperative society, usually "one man one vote."

At first the impossibility of individuals attempting the export trade and finally the obvious success of the system kept them together. The lesson of early Danish cooperation seems to be this: Some form of compulsion, natural or artificial, is necessary to keep farmers together at first. Once the movement has become a financial success, it will spread in to every branch of agricultural activity.

'NEVER AGAIN' SAYS CLYNES

A British Cabinet Minister Needs to Be Rich to Pay His Bills

LONDON, March 22.—(Canadian Press Cable) "It is a big event, going to 11 Downing Street," says J. R. Clynes, who was lord privy seal and deputy leader of the house of commons in MacDonald's cabinet, "but I do not want to live there again."

While Clynes paid no rent at No. 11, he paid practically everything else, he states. He had to pay the house staff, numbering nine, and an extra staff whenever special hospitality was dispensed. He was constantly asked when he made telephone calls, if they were personal or official, and he eventually received a bill for several pounds for unofficial calls.

Five thousand pounds is not enough for a cabinet minister who is compelled to live in Downing Street unless he has ample means, Mr. Clynes states.

Russia does not covet any annexation."

So stated B. Bakmeteff, Russian ambassador to the United States during the Kerensky regime, to the Canadian club here yesterday.

REGINA, March 22. — Mistaking gasoline for coal oil and using it to start the kitchen fire, yesterday afternoon, resulted in Mrs. W. Windsor, aged 33, of Dysart, Sask., sustaining such severe burns that she had to be rushed to the hospital here.

The accident occurred yesterday afternoon, and resulted in an explosion which set fire to Mrs. Windsor's clothing. Attracted by her screams, her husband ran to her assistance, and succeeded in quenching the flames, but not before she had sustained bad burns about the face, chest and arms.

Ball Players Learn Nothing at Spring Training, Says Sisler

ST. LOUIS, March 23. — Baseball players are born and not made, and they learn "virtually nothing" at the spring training camps, in the opinion of George Sisler, playing manager of the St. Louis Browns.

"A training camp is merely a place where the men can acquire physical condition to prepare them for the permanent race," Sisler said. "A player can't learn anything from a coach. Of course, a pitcher may learn grips, but even there the knowledge he acquires is negligible.

"After you're born a ball player you have to play steadily to develop your skill. The greatest school is the daily game."

Sisler said he preferred the college to the sandlot player, other things being equal, "not because he knows any more baseball, but his education will enable him to learn the little things about baseball that mark the difference between the big leaguer and the busa leaguer."

Jailer on Pleasure Trip Recognizes Man Who Escaped From Jail

LOS ANGELES, March 22.—Jailer Bailey combined business with pleasure on an automobile trip to Santa Barbara Sunday. While seeing the sights in the channel city, Mr. Bailey saw a face he thought he recognized. He was so sure of it that he extracted handcuffs from his pocket and slipped them on the wrists of the man, whom he identified as Henry Castner, 48 years of age, who is said to have been the first prisoner to escape from the new Newton street station.

Before Castner left the pail, police say, without obtaining consent, he was a cook and a trusty. He is now back in jail but is neither a cook nor a trusty. Castner was serving a term on a petty larceny charge.
