QUEEN'S BAY SLIDE KILLS HOYLE COUPLE

HOYLE HOUSE DESTROYED IN EARLY HOURS

Mr. and Mrs. Hoyle Buried in Debris; Son and Maid Escape

UPPER STORY CARRIED AWAY

Twenty-two Men Digging for Bodies; Dammed Creek Is Cause

Mr. and Mrs. John Hamer Hoyle of Queen's Bay are dead, while John Hoyle, a son, and Miss Mary Holt, the household maid, had a miraculous escape, in a snow and mud slide which demolished the Hoyle residence at 4 o'clock yesterday morning. Digging among the debris, some 22 men of that vicinity at a late hour last night had nothing to report.

"There is no hope whatever for the lives of Mr. and Mrs. Hoyle of Queen's Bay," stated Dr. W. O. Rose of Nelson, last night, upon his arrival from the scene of the disaster. So great was the tonnage of earth, trees, logs, snow and rocks, which had covered the house, that Dr. Rose expressed doubts if the bodies would be located today.

A slide of great proportions, caused by water backing up behind a mud slide in Hoyle creek, was the cause of the disaster which overtook the Hoyle house. The house, with the exception of the upper story, is completely wrecked and buried under hundreds of tons of rock, snow and gumbo mud. Mr. and Mrs. Hoyle, who occupied a bedroom in the lower portion of the house are buried amid the debris.

Two Escape Miraculously

John Hoyle, a son, and the housemaid, Miss Mary Holt, had miraculous escapes from death. These two occupied bedrooms in the upper story, which was swept up and on to the slide as it struck the house. Both escaped without any injury.

The Hoyle home was situated on the bank of Hoyle creek, which empties into Kootenay lake below the house. Above the house and on the creek bank was situated a large reinforced cement tank, measuring 10 by 5 by 6 feet, and used for water storage. When the slide which dammed the creek at a point several hundred yards up the creek, was broken through by the weight of water, which is estimated to have gained a height of 25 feet, the tank was taken in the rush of mud and debris. It was hurled onto the house at a terrific rate of speed. It is estimated that the tank racing along on the top of the flood landed on the lower portion of the house, crashing everything before it. Thus the upper story was broken free and was carried along some distance on the slide before it came to a stop at a slight angle.

Tank Landed on Room

Mr. and Mrs. Hoyle occupied a bedroom in the lower portion of the house and to the rear of it. It is thought that the tank was hurled directly into their bedroom. The tank and the lower portion of the house were completely buried in the mud and stone which accompanied the slide.

According to John Hoyle, who escaped, he was asleep in his room upstairs. Suddenly he heard a loud rumbling noise and then a huge crash. He jumped from bed and felt the house moving as though it was going downhill. He rushed to the door leading to the stairway in order to go downstairs. However, there were no stairs, and he found the upper portion of the house detached and some distance down the hill.

Jumping out the window he fell some 12 feet to the ground.

Seeing that disaster had overtaken the rest of the household, he went to the room of Miss Holt. She was unhurt, but could not leave the building owing to boards and timber pinning her in. She was released, and the son went for assistance.

A daughter, Miss Annie Hoyle, was not at home when the slide occurred, being on a visit with friends at Bonnington. A second son, William A., is in Calgary attending college.

Shortly after 4 o'clock a rescue party was organized by the neighbors, and digging among the debris in order to locate Mr. and Mrs. Hoyle was

THREE LARGE SNOWSLIDES AT RAMBLER

Train Service on Kaslo Line Is Suspended Until the Spring

OTHER SLIDES RUN AT SANDON

Hills Are Full of Snow and Others Due if Thaw Continues

KASLO, Feb. 4.—No fewer than three large snowslides have come down since yesterday between Rambler and Zincton on the Kaslo-Nakusp branch of the C.P.R. The largest of these is 900 feet wide, and 50 feet in depth, according to the estimate of M. S. Davys. Another slide is 300 feet wide and 20 feet deep, and a third is 200 feet wide and 20 feet deep.

Davys Tops Phone Line

Mr. Davys, who was at the Whitewater mine, heard these slides, and knowing that there would be no train, he started on foot, and after walking 8½ miles, tapped the telephone line, and sent a message to Kaslo for a sleigh. By means of this he reached this city some time during the night.

The belief in railway circles here is that it will be a long time before the railway line can be opened. Rambler is about 23 miles from Kaslo, and not far from the junction where the line turns off to Sandon.

Owing to the slides the Kaslo-Roseberry train did not get through on Tuesday, and passengers for Kaslo were brought down the Slocan lake and reached Nelson at 4:30 o'clock yesterday afternoon. They took the 5 o'clock train from Nelson to Procter, and came up to Kaslo tonight by steamer.

Noble Five and Falls Creek Run

SANDON, Feb. 4.—Sandon is surrounded by snowslides. In addition to the three in the Rambler section, two others have run nearer home.

A branch of the Noble Five slide, above Sandon came down Monday, with the usual commotion, spilling its contents in Carpenter creek. The building of the wagon road on the further bank of the creek from the mountain, four or five years ago, did away with the choking of the road that used to occur.

Another slide that has come down is the Falls creek one, below Sandon. This buried the wagon road, and went as far as the railroad track, but did not cross it.

Nobody was injured and no damage was done by either of the slides.

Others Hanging Fire

With great quantities of snow on the mountains, and the sustained thaw, the slide season is months or weeks ahead of time here.

Other annual slides that are apparently imminent, but are for the moment hanging fire, are the other two branches of the Noble Five, the Payne, the Madison, the Victory, the Bluebird, the Donnelly, and the Miller creek. Altogether there are 14 or 15 slides in this area that run more or less every year, and unless the weather hardens, more may be expected down at once.

Line Out Until Spring

Divisional Superintendent W. O. Miller, when asked about the effect of the slides on the line between Rambler and Kaslo yesterday, said that no one had been over the area yet, to inspect these slides, on account of the danger, but that no attempt would be made to clear the line, and that that portion of the service would not be resumed until the spring, when the line would be clear.

GROUND GLASS TALE POSSIBLE

Dauphlin Doctor Admits Alsa May Have Hastened Twin's Death

DAUPHIN, Man., Feb. 4.—Confronted with the confession of seven-year-old Alsa Thompson, in which it is alleged she admitted having administered ground glass to her infant sisters, causing their death, Dr. Bottomley, the local physician who attended the children, today admitted the possibility of the story being true.

The babies, according to Dr. Bottomley, died of pneumonia and stomach complications. "Although stomach trouble was apparent, I firmly believe that death was caused by the pulomary ailment," he said. He added, however, that other causes might have sealed their fate.

Don't Expect to Exhume

The investigation is being pursued by the Dauphin authorities, but the police do not believe that orders will be issued for the exhumation of the bodies.

Alsa astounded the Los Angeles police by stating that she had been responsible for the death of her twin sisters.

"I guess I did it because I am so mean," she is reported to have said.

ONTARIO ANTIS HAVE MAJORITY IN AGGREGATE

Non-Concurring Fifty-seven Thousand; Concurring Are Forty-seven

TORONTO, Feb. 4.—The Presbyterian Church association has issued an official statement declaring that the aggregate vote in the province of Ontario of Presbyterians concurring in the church union movement, up to and including February 2, aggregated as follows: For, 47,604; against, 57,413.

The statement takes issue with the declaration of Rev. Dr. Pidgeon, convener of the union committee, to the effect that there "is a majority of several thousands in Ontario for union."

Others May Decide to Vote

The Presbyterian Church association states that any or all of the 62 congregations and mission stations in Ontario reported as resolving to enter the union without taking a vote may yet vote under the terms of the act before June 10 next; that the total number of communicants in these nonvoting congregations and missions is 3721, and that even if all these communicants voted for union, there would still be a majority in Ontario of 6088 against concurrence in union.

OTTAWA ALL ABUZZ OVER THE OPENING

Parliamentary Session to Be Opened Today With Customary Fuss

OTTAWA, Feb. 4.—Awakening from the lethargy of more than half a year's recess, Canada's political capital tonight is buzzing with preparations for the opening of the fourth session of the 14th parliament since Confederation. The stage is set for the stately ceremonies which attend opening day. Official mankind and womankind are preparing for the full dress gathering which greets the governor-general when he comes to occupy the King's chair in the upper house, and to read the speech from the throne which foreshadows the most important legislation to be submitted to the elected representatives of the people.

Before the sun sets tomorrow the policy and program of the Mackenzie King government will be in the public prints. What the government's policy will be is not, of course, announced beforehand. Recent pronouncements of the premier indicate that senate reform and freight rates will replace the tariff reductions which last session overshadowed everything else.

New Grain Act Expected

Then there is an act to amend the Grain act, based on recommendations of the Turgeon royal commission, which concluded last year its exhaustive investigation of the handling of Canada's principal crops. This measure is quite likely to prove contentious and prolong the deliberations of parliament. It is even hinted in some quarters that it might prove the most difficult stumbling block the administration will encounter this session. The Turgeon report will not be made public until next Monday, and the nature of its recommendations which may deal among other things with the vexed question of grain mixing, have not been disclosed.

QUEBEC MONK IS HELD FOR MANSLAUGHTER

Brother Usmar Dipped Boy in Boiling Water, Dying Child Declared

CORONERS JURY OUT FOURTEEN MINUTES

"Brother of Mercy" Can't Furnish Bonds and Goes to Jail

MONTREAL, Feb. 4. — Unable to furnish personal bonds to the amount of $5000, Brother Usmar of the Order of Brothers of Mercy, and teacher at the Huberdeau orphanage, was taken to Bordeaux jail late this afternoon charged with manslaughter in connection with the death by scalding of 8-year-old Hector Galarneau, who died in hospital January 24.

The proceedings today before Judge Monet, following the verdict of the coroner's jury that Usmar was responsible by criminal negligence for the death of young Galarneau, were brief. The verdict was rendered by the coroner's jury after 14 minutes' deliberation.

Didn't Scald by Own Choice

Evidence presented before Coroner McMahon today centered on the possibility of the dead child having accidentally caused his own death, but this, in the opinion of Dr. Wilfred Derome, provincial autopsist, was unlikely. The boy had been scalded in a tub at the orphanage on January 21, having been conducted thither by Brother Usmar for a wash, in consequence of the child's unfortunate personal weakness.

Dr. Derome testified that in his opinion, the boy had been either held in the boiling water more than an instant, or stayed there of his own accord, which was not likely. In the boy's case, physical examination showed that his body was burned on the lower part, the legs and back.

Encouraged Boys to Beat Kiddie

Evidence of a number of inmates of the orphanage was to the effect that Brother Usmar had encouraged the boys to beat little Galarneau, telling them to "jump on him."

Mrs. Galarneau, mother of the dead child, testified to the boy's declaration to her at St. Justine's hospital where he died, that he had been dipped in boiling water by Usmar. She said that he was fully conscious, a statement that was afterwards corroborated by Detective Laroche.

Babylon Princess Had Museum at Ur; Scientists Find It

PHILADELPHIA, Feb. 4.—A museum, the property of the daughter of the last king of Babylon, who ruled in the sixth century, B.C., has been found, and many priceless objects obtained, by the joint archelogical expedition of the British museum and the University of Pennsylvania, at Ur of the Chaldees, according to the December report of the scientists, made public today.

The scientists who are digging in the buried city of Abraham reported that they located the museum in the compound of the great temple of the Moon God, and that it contained objects dating as far back as 2500 B.C.

Holdup Man Up on Three Counts

EDMONTON, Feb. 4.—Arthur Lessard, aged 21, was tried in the criminal court here today, before Mr. Justice Boyle, on three counts, being armed with an offensive weapon, that he assaulted Viola Ayres with intent to rob, and did steal the sum of $1, the property of Richard Lucas, on the night of December 31 last.

Four witnesses gave evidence for the crown, and 13 for the defence, the latter mainly testifying to the good character of the accused. Mr. Justice Boyle reserved judgment "in order to examine into the law with regard to the three counts."

Carey Is Given His Preliminary on Hermit Death

HULL, Que., Feb. 4. — James Carey, farmhand of Poltimore, Que., was given his preliminary trial this afternoon before Judge Roland Miller on the charge of having murdered Joseph Bouchard, aged hermit-farmer of Glenlivet, Que., on or about December 24.

Carey was remanded until February 11 for voluntary statement.

If committed to stand trial, he will appear at the Hull criminal assizes, commencing March 6.

Noted Geologist of Ontario Dies

During the meeting of the British Association for the Advancement of Science in Toronto last August, he was elected president of the geological section of the association. He had been with the Ontario department of mines since 1902.

Toronto Barber Fishes for Coins in the Poor Box

TORONTO, Feb. 4. — Joseph Costello, a barber, was caught this morning as he was fishing for coins in a poorbox in front of St. Michael's cathedral, using a long piece of whalebone and a lump of crude gum as tackle. By pushing the gum through the slot in the box, Costello, according to police, was able to lift the coins out. He is alleged to have a bank account of $300.

WOULD MERGE THE PROVINCES MAKING FOUR

Quebec Legislator Has a New Idea; Alberta With British Columbia

QUEBEC, Feb. 4.—Believing that Canada was overgoverned, C. E. Gault, Conservative M. L. A. for St. George, Montreal, advanced a novel scheme in the legislature this afternoon during the debate on the budget speech.

Mr. Gault thought a good way to help matters would be by combining up some of the provinces, namely, putting three maritime provinces together in one province, Ontario and Quebec in one province, Manitoba and Saskatchewan in one, and Alberta and British Columbia into one. These, with Ottawa, would mean five governments in Canada, and that should be sufficient.

He urged that there be an easing off in taxation so as to bring about a downward tendency in prices.

Would Sell National Railways

Mr. Gault said that the country was suffering because of its railway situation, a situation brought on because of overgenerosity on the part of some provinces to railway promoters. The result had been that expensive transcontinental railways had been built when what had been wanted were merely colonization roads. The late federal government, through force majeure, had been obliged to take over these roads, and, while he did not approve of public ownership in principle, he believed that the acquisition of the old Grand Trunk had been wise because of its use as a traffic feeder to the National system.

Mr. Gault believed that the best way out was to get rid of the National railways as soon as circumstances permitted, and that would be when they had a value, which they are acquiring. In this way the country would get back most of what had beeen invested.

W. S. Bullock of Shefford moved the adjournment of the debate.

FIND CHILDREN IN A SHALLOW GRAVE

Little Girls Missing Last August Attacked, Then Slain

LOS ANGELES, Cal., Feb. 4.—Indications that May and Nina Martin, aged 12 and 8, respectively, who disappeared from their home here August 23 last, and whose bodies were found today in a shallow grave, had been attacked and then slain, were revealed by deputy sheriffs working on the case.

The bodies lay in a hollow covered by hastily gathered brush. A post mortem examination will be held.

In the meantime police officials are taking up the thread of the search for the two little girls that started last summer and ended today at the grave. The new hunt is directed to finding clues which may give a hint of the identity of the½ person or persons believed to have done away with the children.

MAY DROP ONE WATSON CHARGE

Former Seattle Detective May Win on Store Holdup

SEATTLE, Feb. 4.—Suggestion was made at the court house today that charges against Ross C. Watson, former city detective, as one of the defendants in the $22,000 Bon Marche department store holdup trial, set for February 9, might be dismissed for lack of evidence.

Watson's exoneration in this case would not have a direct effect on the other charge against him—that of taking part in the $42,000 holdup of the Royal bank in Nanaimo, December 12, for which he is now being held for extradition.

Alleged Rum Ship Saved Caoba Crew; Cutter Seizes It

ASTORIA, Ore., Feb. 4.—With nine survivors of the abandoned steam schooner Caoba aboard, and with the schooner Pescawha at the end of a 10-inch hawser, seized as a rum runner at sea yesterday, the coastguard cutter Algonquin came into port here today. The Caoba survivors had been picked up by the Pescawha, which was later seized by the Algonquin.

Rescuers Are Hopeless Now; New Cave-In Blocks Entry

SAND CAVE, Cave City, Ky., Feb. 4.—Another cave-in, the second of the day, occurred tonight, and is blocking all efforts of rescuers to reach Floyd Collins, imprisoned cave explorer, according to John Geralds.

Geralds, a friend of Collins, emerged from the cave shortly after midnight and announced that the latest cave-in had occurred some 12 or 15 feet from Collins. "I am through," he said, visibly dejected over the latest turn of events.

Geralds had led a party of six into the cave at 10:30 in hopes of having Collins out in an hour. A cave-in which occurred this morning had been cleared out, and the way seemed clear to reach the hopeless victim.

Kinsmen Hopeless

All hope vanished on the part of Collins' kinsmen when they learned what had happened. Homer Collins, a brother of Collins, started to go in immediately, but he was dissuaded by his aged father and members of the rescue party.

Small rock has buried part of Collins' body, Geralds said. He added that rock continually fell on him, and the five men with him, and said Collins shouted to him, telling him to go "home and go to bed."

What will be done has not been decided.

Opened at Ten o'Clock

SAND CAVE, Ky., Feb. 4.—Rescue workers tonight succeeded in penetrating the cave-in which early today blocked passage to where Floyd Collins has been trapped for almost six days, J. Geralds said when he emerged from the cavern at 10 o'clock tonight.

Five men accompanied Geralds. Cold chisels were again to be resorted to if other means fail.

A grease gun, such as used in garages, loaded with vaseline, was to be taken into the cave by Geralds. The device, brought here by Dr. Richardson of Litchfield, Ky., was to be used to squirt the vaseline around Collins' foot, in an effort to lubricate the rocks, and permit Collins to withdraw his foot.

A knife, with which workers will try to cut Collins' shoe, was also taken in.

Geralds said that the victim's foot was still fast under the boulder which fell upon it Friday morning.

Collins says he is free, Geralds asserted, but expressed the belief that the foot is so numb Collins doesn't know whether it is free or not.

GRAND FORKS, Feb. 4.—Abe Trombley, of Phoenix, arrested at Republic, Wash., and deported to Canada, was gathered in by police here Monday on a charge of perjury, in connection with evidence given in police court a year or two ago. He had his 11-year-old son with him, and when the latter was taken away from him, the father went violently insane, sinking his teeth into the arms of the court house janitor, T. Wilkinson, and inflicting severe cuts about the face of Provincial Constable G. F. Killam, before they could get him quieted. Today he repeated continually a religious ritual in French.

He was to have come up for hearing yesterday, but was adjudged insane, and sent to the mental hospital instead.

RUSSILL CASE OVER QUICKLY; VERDICT LATER

Judgment in Casey Wood Case Today; Last Trial of a Director

TORONTO, Feb. 4.—The series of long trials of Home bank directors which have spread over the past five months concluded this afternoon when Judge Coatsworth reserved judgment in the case of F. J. B. Russill, the last director to be tried, until next Tuesday, the date upon which is to be passed on R. P. Gough and J. F. M. Stuart.

His honor will deliver judgment in the case of S. Casey Wood tomorrow morning.

Addresses of counsel in the Russill case this afternoon were very brief in comparison with those of the prior trials, and did not occupy much longer than two hours. Contrary to the custom the argument for the defence was submitted first.

Lost Money By Bank

Frank Hughes, defence counsel, laid emphasis on the evidence that the accused had bought bonds in the Western Canada Pulp & Paper company as an ordinary investor, thus demonstrating his own faith in one of the auxiliary concerns of the bank, and it could be assumed therefrom that he had similar faith in them all.

Russill, Mr. Hughes maintained, had not profited at all through his connection with the bank, other than by the monies received for directors fees, and dividends on his shares of the bank stock for which he had paid cash. Through his loss on the Western Canada bonds and on his fees and dividends had been allowed, Russill had sustained a cash loss of approximately $8000.

Honesty Not in Point

D. L. McCarthy, K. C., replied that honesty of purpose had nothing to do with the question at issue.

Mr. McCarthy submitted that the accused had been guilty of wilful negligence in allowing the false statements to appear in the report. He had failed to exercise an ordinary business caution. If a man went on a bank board, and then pleaded stupidity if things went wrong, it must not be overlooked that he did not have to go on that board, and he must accept the consequences.

HEART WAS WEAK NERVES ALL GONE

Mrs. J. H. Hallenbeck, 117½ Welland Avenue, St. Catharines, Ont. writes:—"I was in a gas explosion; it left me with a weak heart, and my nerves were all gone. I suffered everything; couldn't sleep, or endure any excitement, and when left alone I felt as if I could scream. I took dizzy spells, often falling and bruising myself. My mother read about your Milburn's Heart and Nerve Pills, and bought me a box, but having taken so many different kinds of medicine it just seemed that I did not have any confidence in any of them. I took one box of H. & N. Pills, and felt so much better I continued with them until I had used five boxes, and after I had taken them I did not need any more. I cannot praise or recommend Milburn's Heart and Nerve Pills too highly after all they have done for me."

CROW RATES SCHEME OF COLONIZING

British Columbia Entitled to Benefit by Them, Says McGeer

EASTERN, WESTERN CITIES ARE HEARD

They Say That Parliament Did Not Intend to Injure Them

OTTAWA, Feb. 4.—Rapid progress was made in the argument in the Crow's Nest pass appeal rates today. When the supreme court rose this evening, argument on behalf of the prairie provinces, of British Columbia, of the cities of Saskatoon and Edmonton, and of the cities of Brantford and Woodstock were all in.

Tomorrow R. E. Finn, representing Nova Scotia and New Brunswick, will present his argument, to be followed by counsel for the Railway association of Canada and the two railways interested.

H. J. Symington, K.C., for the prairie provinces, occupied the big part of the sitting. This afternoon he directed his attention to proving that the nondiscrimination sections of the General Railway act were applicable to Crow's Nest rates. His conclusion was that the Crow's Nest Pass act fixed maximum rates on certain specific clauses applied.

S. B. Woods, K.C., counsel for Edmonton and Saskatoon, also argued against discrimination which arose, he said, when the C.P.R. filed Crow's Nest tariffs applicable only to those places in existence on the line of the railway in 1897. It could not have been the intention of parliament to legislate a condition of choatic discriminations, but if the Crow's Nest rates were restricted to those points existing when the agreement went through, such a condition would prevail.

G. G. McGeer, K.C., counsel for British Columbia, emphasized the point that parliament had contracted for Crow's Nest rates as a part of a scheme of colonization.

He pointed out that fruit growers of British Columbia were suffering serious discrimination in the prairie markets because their commodity paid the general rates while eastern fruit traveled under the Crow rates.

W. T. Henderson, K.C., representing Brantford and Woodstock, said that Hamilton and Toronto were given the Crow's Nest rates, while the cities he represented had to pay the high rates to the west.

MANITOBA IS OVER-TAXED, SAYS EVANS

Past Year Fifth of a Million Is Taken Beyond Needs From People

WINNIPEG, Feb. 4.—The tax reduction is due, is possible, and should be made this session, was the text upon which W. Sanford Evans, Conservative, Winnipeg, dilated in the legislature today, in resuming the budget debate. Mr. Evans claimed that even under the present scale of expenditure, and under present conditions, the revenue of the province was excessive, and that the present taxes and charges pressed unduly hard upon business enterprises.

Quoting from the public accounts, Mr. Evans sought to show that the government had collected three-quarters of a million dollars more during the past fiscal year than in any previous year, and that the government had extracted from the people of the province $200,000 more than it needed.

A bill to repeal the provincial income tax was introduced by J. K. Downes, independent, Winnipeg, and was given first reading.

Retirement of at least $2,000,000 worth of provincial debentures falling due during the present year is expected to be made as a result of new bills introduced by Premier Bracken, seeking authority for the sale of certain securities held by the government. The proceeds are to be utilized for the purchase of retiring a portion of the maturing debentures. During the present year the government has falling due debentures to the extent of approximately $13,000,000, and of this amount it is understood it will only be necessary to refund $11,000,000.

Forbes and Thompson Two Years and Fine; Issue Long Denials

CHICAGO, Feb. 4.—Charles F. Forbes, former head of the Veterans' bureau, and J. W. Thompson, wealthy St. Louis contractor, who were sentenced today to two years' imprisonment and $10,000 fine for conspiracy to defraud the government, issued lengthy denials of their guilt late today. Forbes declared he was the victim of circumstances and would fight to the last ditch.

started. During the day 22 men worked ceaselessly, but at nightfall had accomplished little, so great was the amount of mud and wreckage. Additional men will be put to work today.

Doctor Goes on Speeder

Dr. W. O. Rose and Provincial Constable Hugh W. King left for the scene of the accident yesterday afternoon at about 1 o'clock, a gasoline speeder being used to convey them to Procter. They were ferried across the river to Balfour and taken to the scene of the slide by sleigh. Dr. Rose returned to the city last night, but Constable King remained to supervise operations for the recovery of the bodies.

The slide, after it had passed over the house, continued on down almost to the water's edge. The government wagon road is blocked by the muck and wreckage.

Just before dark last night, rescuers working with pick and shovel, uncovered the bedroom usually occupied by Miss Annie Hoyle. The bedstead in this room was wrecked almost beyond recognition, and, according to an onlooker, it appeared as though a steam roller had been over it.

What makes the work of rescue difficult is the fact that stumps, roots, trees and in some instances logs more than 18 inches in thickness have to be moved. On top of this, the huge 10-ton tank, which crashed into the house, rests where the lower story stood. Powder has bee nordered and the tank will be blown up in order to assist the workmen.

The Hoyle family are among the old-time ranchers of the Kootenay district. Some 18 years ago Mr. Hoyle came to the Kootenays and built a shack on the shore of Kootenay lake just below where his house lately stood. He then planted his orchard, which is among the best in that territory. He was about 65 years of age, and Mrs. Hoyle was about 55.

The maid, Miss Holt, is in her seventies, and is suffering some from slight shock.

The Hoyles were well known throughout the district and had many friends in and around Bonnington, where Mr. Hoyle operated a ranch at one time. Mr. Hoyle came to British Columbia from Milnrow, near Rockdale, Yorkshire, England.

Germany Calls on Inventors to Add to Honors of War

BERLIN, Feb. 4.—Writing on the war of the future and the weapons it will be fought with, Hans Ritter, at one time a member of the German general staff, draws a picture of the indiscriminate slaying of women and children. Electrical science will make possible the wiping out of entire districts behind the enemy lines without danger to the aggressor, he declares, and noncombatants will suffer as much as uniformed soldiers.

Electric rays offer many destructive possibilities, the author avers. Inventors must devise methods to ignite explosives at long distance, put motors out of commission and destroy the eyesight of opposing combatants. Science today can increase the virulence of bacteria, and the use of certain gases will render the human organism more susceptible to disease.

TORONTO CLOAK STRIKE CALLED

Demand Is for Dollar an Hour and Forty-four Hour Week

TORONTO, Feb. 4. — A general strike of the cloak workers of Toronto was called, to start tomorrow, at a large meeting tonight.

The strike declaration will be issued tomorrow morning, and includes cloak makers, cutters, operators, sample workers, tailors, finishers and button sewers.

No definite wage scale was stipulated at the meeting, but the general demand is for $1 an hour, with a 44-hour week.

Mary McNabb, one of the organizers, referred to the conditions under which some of the garment workers work as "black slavery."

WORLD AT END TOMORROW, SAY REFORM SECT

Los Angeles Believers to "Welcome Savior" Without Hysteria

WON'T DISPOSE OF ANY REAL ESTATE

Only Exception Will Be to Provide Funds to Aid the Kingdom

LOS ANGELES, Feb. 4.—The belief of followers of Mrs. Margaret W. Rowen, prophetess of the Seventh Day Adventist Reform church, that the world will come to an end some time Friday, with the return to earth of Christ at Hollywood, will result in no additional commissions to Los Angeles real estate dealers.

Firm in their trust in the prediction of Mrs. Rowen, they await the millenium which they believe to be but a matter of hours, without hysteria, and without outward signs of preparation. No real estate will be sold, and no hillsides will be mounted, to welcome the arrival of the Savior, members of the Reform Adventist church have made decisively clear.

"There is no need for fear or anguish over the end of the world," asserted Dr. B. E. Fullmer, head of the church here, as he pointed out scriptural passages which he declared confirm Mrs. Rowen's prophesy.

"Everyone expects to die some time, and it does not of necessity bring panic. Then, why be panicky if it comes on a certain day? Every Christian should so have lived that he will be ready to meet his God at any time."

Dr. Fullmer had not sold his home, for, he asked, why should he sell property which he believes that he will not be able to deliver to another. Nor has he counselled others to sell, but he added that it might be right to sell and use the money to further the kingdom in the brief time that remains.

BEING RADIO FAN DISQUALIFIES NOW

Newest Test for Jury Duty; the Plaintiff's Counsel Broadcast Case

CHICAGO, Feb. 4.—The question "Are you a radio fan?" made its appearance today as a test for prospective jurors, in the opening of the trial of W. E. D. Stokes, New York millionaire, Daniel F. Nugent, New York attorney, and others. The defendants are charged with conspiracy to defame Mrs. Helen Stokes, of Denver.

Charles Rathbun, counsel for Stokes, who introduced the radio question, asked the men if they had heard "the delightful dissertation" upon the Stokes case broadcast by Charles Erbstein Mrs. Stokes counsel.

Although the men answered in the negative, one said he had heard Mr. Erbstein sing over the radio.

At a meeting of the Unionists of Parry Sound, they decided to separate themselves from St. Andrew's church and attend the Methodist until June. Rev. James Binnie, pastor of St. Andrew's church, has tendered his resignation to the presbytery.

DOES EVERY MEAL CAUSE YOU DISTRESS?

If It Does You Should Take Burdock Blood Bitters

Mr. M. P. Eldridge, Beaver Harbor, N.B., writes:—"I was troubled with my stomach for some time, and everything I ate seemed to distress me. I tried many different medicines, but without any results. Finally I was advised to try B.B.B., and after having taken several bottles I was completely relieved of my trouble. I can now eat anything I wish, thanks to B.B.B."

Burdock Blood Bitters puts the stomach into perfect shape by promoting proper digestion; and during the past 46 years it has been on the market has made a reputation, second to none, for relieving all stomach troubles.

MINOR HUBBIES SEEK RELEASES

Two Nineteen-Year-Olds Want to Cut Their Marriage Ties

LOS ANGELES, Feb. 4.—A pair of precocious husbands, each 19 years of age, submitted their romances to the superior court for unscrambling.

Ernest R. Viles, through his mother and guardian, Rena Sherwood, seeks a divorce from Mabel Viles after about four months of matrimonial experience. The charge is that the juvenile wife swore at Mrs. Sherwood.

Then there is William Jewell Standley, who asks for annulment of his marriage to Marie Elva Standley through his father and guardian, William May Stanley. Reasons given are that he was a minor at the time the knot was joined and that he became a husband without the consent or knowledge of his parents.

DRINK WATER TO HELP WASH OUT KIDNEY POISON

If Your Back Hurts or Bladder Bothers You, Begin Taking Salts

When your kidneys hurt and your back feels sore don't get scared and proceed to load your stomach with a lot of drugs that excite the kidneys and irritate the entire urinary tract. Keep your kidneys clean like you keep your bowels clean, by flushing them with a mild, harmless salts which helps to remove the body's urinous waste and stimulates them to their normal activity. The function of the kidneys is to filter the blood. In 24 hours they strain from it 500 grains of acid and waste, so we can readily understand the vital importance of keeping the kidneys active.

Drink lots of good water—you can't drink too much; also get from any pharmacist about four ounces of Jad Salts; take a tablespoon in a glass of water before breakfast each morning for a few days and your kidneys may then act fine. This famous salts is made from the acid of grapes and lemon juice, combined with lithia and has been used for years to help clean and stimulate clogged kidneys; also to neutralize the acids in the system so they are no longer a source of irritation, thus often relieving bladder weakness.

Jad Salts is inexpensive; can not injure; makes a delightful effervescent lithia-water drink, which everyone should take now and then to help keep their kidneys clean and active. Try this; also keep up the water drinking, and no doubt you will wonder what became of your kidney trouble and backache. By all means have your physician examine your kidneys at least twice a year.

NORA LEE

Elenore Meherin's Greatest Story

Revealing the Heart and Soul of the 1924 Flapper

CHAPTER XXXVI

GAME TWO CAN PLAY

A young girl stood on the diving board above the immense pool. Her arms were flung out in the triumphant gladness of a winged victory. Other girls, their faces winning and lovely with youth, as even humble flowers are winning, clambered up the narrow ladder, their high, bubbling chatter mingling with the music that drifted down from the flower-filled lobby.

It was the opening day of Natalie's building. "The Girl's Hotel and Athletic Club." And girls—hundreds of them were already in possession of the cosy, sun-filled rooms. Other hundreds, merry and colorful as a moving field of poppies, went swaying through corridors and halls. Youth, happiness, laughter filled all the great spaces.

Natalie radiant as the youngest, watched the girl on the diving board. Even her hand, touching now and then on Nora Lee's arm, tingled with the vibrance of a swiftly charged current. Half shyly, she said: "One would think the triumph were mine."

"Isn't it?"

Her lips moved, but she gave no answer, a momentary sadness, like a sigh passing from her eyes.

Nora Lee said: "It was a wonderful dream that you've realized. Surroundings like these will alter the lives of scores of those girls."

Natalie laughed and pointed to the far corner beyond the pool, where a made-slope of powder white sands gleamed. "Especially that, Nora Lee! Dane fought it. It's not practical and the people of Carmel began to fear we were stealing all their beach away. But I had to have that feature. What is a swim without a doze on warm sands afterwards?"

Dane, walking just behind them with Mickey Grant, Connie and Max, now caught an arm of each: "Is she gloating over me, Norry? We'll not blame her, will we!"

His face was flushed, exuberant and boyish. An hour ago he said to Nora Lee: "Gee whiz!" then he snickered and added sheepishly, "but it is kind of a satisfaction. We've only been at it seven years or so!" She had gone up blithely and kissed him and ran her hand over his thick brown hair.

And now she felt only a wealth of gratitude for his success—a great, warm affection for Natalie and the part she had played in making his achievement possible.

She heard an old lady passing through the great kitchen, where girls who wished they could do their own cooking, remarked, "Now this is a worthy project. This is just my ideal of a good work. That must be a very smart young man who planned this. I hear he is young." Nora Lee heard this and gave a sharp, gleeful cry of laughter. She felt proud. Her heart sang with pride.

The tank was now filled with a shouting throng. Red and blue caps bobbed on the water. More girls entered, an endless tide of eagerness and joy.

Others were hurrying to the dance hall, where the musicians now played; still further groups filled the dining room and passed sandwiches and tea to the visiting guests. Some of the girls smiled with the welcome of confident hostesses—but others had a dubious look, as though they expected to be pinched and awakened and told that it was all a joke. Of course, this splendid building, with all its facilities, couldn't really be theirs to use and enjoy, almost for the mere asking!

Three of these girls, and they seemed exceedingly pretty with their sparkling eyes and their highly rouged lips, made a little rush toward them with heaps of sandwiches and trays of tea. They didn't know Natalie, but they were almost airily gracious.

Natalie surveyed them with a touch of pity: "If they could only know the wonder of these young years, Nora Lee—the best of all life for a woman."

"How can you say a thing like that? They haven't even lived yet."

"Yes—they are alive. They will never again be so dynamic with life. Now they wonder about the right and the wrong; the beautiful and the ugly. Now they struggle to adjust themselves to their environment. That is the pulsing of our vivid turbulent adolescence. We are unsettled; we think we are unhappy, whereas we are only completely and mightily alive. But in a few years the wondering and doubting and dreaming pass. We get used to life; we come down from our lofty mountain heights and gaze in commonplace meadows with the rest of the herd. We even forget the luminous hour when we stood on the peaks.

"Then what is there for us? Especially for women, relieved as most of us are from the necessity of competing with others. We become mere animated spenders of money; automatons going through the gestures of life, but seldom or never shaken by life's hot red pulse."

"Ah," said Nora Lee, suddenly aquiver, as though some secret and hurting coil in her heart were touched: "Do we die that quickly? Are we only ghosts and corpses now . . . ?"

Natalie's eyes were lowered: "You, Nora Lee, are not yet passed the magic circle of youth . . ."

"Indeed I have—"

"No—not yet. Make the most of it!" She laughed, but sadly. "For they say that once we give up the habit of thinking, we can't form it anew. An old professor of mine used to declare that 99 out of every 100 persons ceases absolutely to think after reaching the age of 25. All their living is done before that fatal hour. For women he used to add 100 out of every 100!"

"We are the inferior sex, indeed! And you believe it, Natalie?"

"No—we are the superior sex, since we are custodians of the future race . . . the superior sex, but the inferior humans. But this, of course, is a different era for women. We have lost the homely pursuits of our grandmothers. Machinery has absorbed the work of the old-fashioned home. . . . As yet, We are inferior only because we've we've found nothing to take its place, ceased to strive; we've been too content to sit and take."

Nora Lee had ceased to listen. The blood ran in little veins of fire to her neck, and she caught her breath with a twinge of pain. Natalie's eyes were lighted gray pools; the pale, eager face gleamed as though its every cell were a living thing. Ninty-nine out of every 100 might die; Natalie Herbert was vibrant with life.

Nora Lee recalled suddenly the careless remark of Dane: "Oh, she's got other interests! She's generations beyond the clothes worship stage!"

Unaccountably, and though she fought against it, a chill settled on her spirit.

That night Max and Natalie dined with them. Afterwards they sat in the living room. As before, Max asked Natalie to play.

She said: "The day has been too filled with excitement, Max."

"Oh, come, Dane, entertain Nora Lee, and me," Max urged.

But Dane sat with his arms folded, his feet outstretched: "Entertain yourself, Max. Didn't I let you look at better than a harem today? And feed you with delectable viands tonight?"

Because she was perversely angry with herself—because she had determined with all her soul that she'd not yield again to any jealousy, Nora Lee said calmly: "Play anyway, Dane, Do!"

He asked slowly, half reluctant: "Do you wish to, Natalie? We might as well—"

She took her place at Margaret's old piano. They played. But finally her hands lingered. The notes became fainter and fainter. "No more, Dane," she murmured.

But he was now a-thrill—selfish with the pleasure music afforded him.

"Play on!" he ordered.

Her hands obeyed.

But presently she raised her hand, her lips always faintly coral, were now colorless—a leaden smudge . . . "No more," she pleaded. "I can't bear it—I cannot—"

The tones were scarcely audible, but the white look of supplication made their meaning plain . . .

Nora Lee saw her utter pallor. "What were you saying, Max? You have a book you want me to criticise? Me! Why, I died two years ago! Didn't you know that . . ."

Dane folded the music, his lips compressed.

"Will you read it, Nora Lee," Max repeated.

She looked at him, an odd, sudden resolution in her eyes: "Yes! Bring the book tomorrow, Max. I will have the whole afternoon."

This Little Brandon Lassie Is Never "Dosed" for Colds

The Browns Now Use the "External" Treatment for Croup and Cold Troubles.

Mrs. John Brown, of 426 24th St., Brandon, Man., is the mother of this fine little girl and one of the many Canadian mothers who now use the vaporizing salve, Vicks VapoRub, in treating the colds of all the family. After using Vicks for some time Mrs. Brown writes:

"I have eight small children—aged from one to twelve years—and can certainly say that Vicks is the only cold remedy I have in the house all winter. If the cold is in the child's head I just put a little up each nostril and it gives relief in a short time. If it is in the chest I rub Vicks well in at night and by morning the cold has almost disappeared. I also use Vicks for chilblains and for burns—in fact, I use it too for severe headaches and find relief in a very short time. I always recommend Vicks to my friends especially those who have children."

Vicks is the external direct treatment for colds troubles—absorbed like a liniment and inhaled as a vapor. It is the ideal treatment for children's colds. Just as good, too, for adults.

RADIO CONCERT IS HEARD UP LAKE

Willow Point Fans Telephone Club to Express Their Delight

Dozens of telephone messages were received from Willow Point and Nelson radio fans last evening while the Nelson Radio club was broadcasting its weekly program at the station on Nelson avenue, Fairview. All these messages emphasized the clearness with which the selections played by Miss Margaret McCulloch and her Harmony Kings came through, and were enthusiastic about the songs by J. Paul Pitner, Mrs. A. W. Crossley and Charles Good. The program was given under the auspices of the Great War Veterans' association, and members of the club said late last night that they were very grateful for the splendid program provided through their efforts and those of E. H. Corpe, in charge for the club for the evening.

Several of those phoning said they were having parties, with the loud speaker on, to hear the concert.

Mr. Corpe also acted as announcer for the program for Station 10BD, Nelson, for the evening.

Each member of the broadcasting committee will be asked to take charge of the program and announce its items, in turn, in order that skillful announcers may be discovered, it was stated by R. A. Eade, secretary of the club, last night.

The transmitting power was stated to have increased tremendously last night, because of the recent adjustment of the transmitter.

MANKIN'S CASE IS DISMISSED BY JUDGE FORIN

Harrington Wins Judgment for Damages to His Crib-Work

Judge J. A. Forin gave his judgment in two cases which have attracted a great deal of attention locally and in Salmo and Edgewood, yesterday. These were the case of the Mankin Lumber company versus StDenis, when the plaintiff's claim was dismissed with costs, and judgment given in favor of the defendent on the counterclaim and costs; and the case of Harrington versus Calder, with judgment given for the plaintiff, with costs.

Claimed Land Not Included

The Mankin Lumber company action was for possession of premises at Hall, which the plaintiff company claimed they owned, having sold the houses, and not the land on which it was situated. The defendent company claimed to have purchased the land with the house and paid $50, taking possession of the property.

When Robert Mankin, president of the company, visited Hall, he looked over the property, and the judgment held that he confirmed the sale made by Charles Mankin, the resident director.

The judgment given by Judge Forin dismissed the plaintiff's company's claim with costs, and gives judgment in favor of the defendent on the counterclaim and costs.

Harrington Awarded Damages

In the case of Harrington versus Calder, the plaintiff claimed for damages done to his cribwork on the Inanoaklin river at Edgewood by a jam of logs, which caused the water to sweep away the plaintiff's cribwork. The judgment was given for the plaintiff for $270 with costs.

The Value of the Golf Links as a Tourist Attraction

The Nelson Golf & Country club annual statement records that more than $300 was paid to the club during the year for green fees.

As the fee is $1 for a day's play, this means 300 days' play, and as green fees are collected entirely from out-of-town visitors, the figures are significant of the value of the club to the city as an attraction for tourists.

Because Nelson possesses a golf course, it is beyond question that golf causes many visitors to stay here for a greater length of time than they otherwise would.

Nelson has one of the prettiest and most sporting golf courses on the continent, and the links are now in excellent condition. During the coming season the club will possess grass greens at every hole, the sand greens having gradually been replaced by turf greens.

The Growth of Kimberley

A few years ago Kimberley was a little mining town of no great importance from a population standpoint. Even from a mining standpoint it did not rank high, the Dominion government zinc commission report declaring that the ore of the property was unfortunately not susceptible of profitable investment.

A few years have wrought a wonderful change. The ore is being treated with wonderful success, and so much has been blocked out that there is enough ore in sight to keep the mine producing for half a century or so.

Today Kimberley has a population approaching 2000, stores have been built, townsites laid out, homes constructed. The school population has grown in three years from 60 to 270.

Yesterday it was announced that the postal business from and to Kimberley had so increased that the department would shortly let a contract for a twice-daily mail service.

What the Press Is Saying

Illustrations of what law means in this country have been comprehensive of late.

Four murderers have been hanged in Montreal—after fair but not long-delayed trial.

Another murderer in Ontario, an alien, was recently executed despite all sorts of pressure to get him off.

A prominent public man, ex-cabinet minister, ex-provincial treasurer of Ontario, has been sent to penitentiary for graft.

One of the province's chief civil servants who went wrong was followed to California, brought back, and sent to the penitentiary.

A prominent and wealthy Toronto business man has been sent to jail and fined $600,000 for defrauding eth public.

The wealthy directors of a bank which collapsed are undergoing trial. Several officials of the bank have been convicted of failure of trust, and await sentence.

Suspicion arises of deficiencies or worse in a police force, investigation gets under way, and a chief of police es promptly found suspended from office.

In every case the law has been prompt, efficient and resolute. Political influence, wealth, position, have had no greater respect from the law and no more respite than suspects from other classes, minor officials or the very underworld. There has not been even a suggestion in any responsible quarter that money or influence could protect against the courts.

It is well worth while for Canadians to be able to say this, knowing it to be true. It is a good indication of the temper of our people, a good augury for the national future.—Ottawa Journal.

America's Lodestone

British Columbia has become the mining lodestone of North America, and if Vancouver people and Vancouver institutions get in squarely behind the chamber of mines in its efforts to give real publicity to mining opportunities in this province, a prosperous future is assured for this city.

In point of richness, the Portland canal district has never been exceeded by any other area in the world. The Butte district in Montana has yielded some $700,000,000 in the 40 years it has been operated. But the Butte district coud be dumped down in the Bear River section of the Portland Canal district and never found again.

There are six big producers in this section now. And mining engineers from all over the world are investigating it personally almost every day in the year.

Within the last three years, the Premier mine alone has paid $6,000,000 in dividends. Each year it pays $500,000 to the government in taxes.

Neglect to capitalize this great mineral wealth is little short of criminal. By supporting the chamber of mines and losing no opportunity to give the district publicity, Vancouver people can help to give this province real mining prosperity. If Nevada, Utah or Montana had British Columbia's mineral showing, the territory would be crowded with producers.

There are dozens of homes in Spokane built on the earnings of British Columbia interior mines. In fact, Kootenay minerals have really built Spokane. And Portland Canal will build Vancouver if Vancouver people will give it a chance.—Vancouver Sun.

Anglo-American Entente

Once it came to be accepted by the public mind in both countries (Great Britain and the United States) that neither nation need guard against encroachment by the other, the defensive problems of both would be greatly simplified. Neither, for example, would have to maintain a navy with consideration toward the possibility of a war between them. Their respective navies would then be maintained with reference only to powers that might be common enemies. It would be difficult to contrive a situation that would be better calculated to preserve peace in the Pacific and in the world than that which would govern in these circumstances. The American and British navies, both maintained at the "5" ratio of the Washington treaty, both guarding identical national interests—and the interests of Canada, Australia, and New Zealand are those of the United States—would be a barrier to aggressive war in the Pacific that no power or combination of powers likely to be arrayed would dare to assault. —Kansas City Star.

Told in Rime

BEER BY THE GLASS?

Wake! For the sun, who scatter'd into flight
The stars before him from the field of night,
Drives night along with them from heav'n, and strikes
The sultan's turret with a shaft of light.

And, as the cock crew, those who stood before
The tavern shouted—'Open then the door!
You know how little while we have to stay,
And, once departed, may return no more.'

Come, fill the cup, and in the fire of spring
Your winter garment of repentance fling.
The bird of time has but a little way
To fly—and Lo! the bird is on the wing.

A book of verses underneath the bough,
A jug of wine, a loaf of bread—and thou
Beside me singing in the wilderness—
Oh, wilderness were paradise enow!

And lately, by the tavern door agape,
Came shining through the dusk an an angel shape
Bearing a vessel on his shoulder; and
He bid me taste of it; and 'twas—the grape!

Why, be this juice the growth of God, who dare
Blaspheme the twisted tendril as a share?
A blessing, we should use it, should we not?
And if a curse—why, then, who sat it there?

I must abjure the balm of life, I must,
Scared by some after-reckoning ta'en on trust,
Or lured with hope of some diviner drink,
To fill the cup—when crumbled into dust!

And this I know: whether the one true light
Kindle to love, or wrath-consume me quite,
One flash of it within the Tavern caught
Better than in the temple lost outright.

Oh, Thou, who didst with pitfall and with gin
Beset the road I was to wander in,
Thou wilt not with predestined evil round
Enmesh, and then impute my fall to sin!

Ah, make the most of what we yet may spend,
Before we too into the dust descend;
Dust into dust, and under dust to lie
Sans wine, sans song, sans singer, and—sans end!

No doubt many women are planning to give a St. Valentine's party next Saturday evening (a week from this coming Saturday). In describing the following party I shall not include refreshments for they need vary little from those served at the average party—hot coffee or hot chocolate, sandwiches, ice cream, cake and candies. The table or buffet decorations will, of course, be red paper hearts, cupids, and other suitable suggestions of St. Valentine's day.

The informal invitations read:

300 Main street, Anytown,
February 5, 1925.

Dear Miss (or Mr.) Blank:

Can you come to a St. Valentine's party at my home a week from tonight, February 14, at 8 o'clock? Please bring two handmade valentines which bear original sentiments, one suitable for a lady and the other for a gentleman.

Cordially yours,
Amy Smith.

When the guests arrive the hostess collects their valentines, mixes them up (keeping the ladies' and gentlemen's separate), and then distributes them when all are gathered in the living room. These chiefly humorous valentines are then read aloud and exhibited. A prize is given for the originator of the cleverest one.

A Great Lovers' Contest is then started. Give everybody a slip of paper bearing the name of some famous or notorious man or woman whose name is connected with a lover or sweetheart. In five minutes each player must write the name of the missing "affinity" opposite the name written on the slip. For instance, if "Romeo" is on the slip, everybody must write "Juliet" opposite. If "Antony" is on the slip, everybody must write "Cleopatra," to have the correct answer. This game is more difficult if a few historic personalities are introduced. A prize should be given the person whose list is most correct.

Pinning Arrows on the Heart—This is the time-worn game which was originally the childish "Pinning Tails on the Donkey"; yet nobody ever tires of it. The hostess can make her own heart from red paper and the arrows from white paper.

The card game of "Hearts" should be included in this party. Though old, it is nevertheless excellent fun.

Sentimental music should also form a part of the entertainment.

Tomorrow—Requested Recipes.

All inquiries addressed to Miss Kirkman in charge of "Efficient Housekeeping" department will be answered in these columns in their turn. This requires considerable time, however, owing to the great number received. So, if a personal or quicker reply is desired, a stamped and self-addressed envelope must be enclosed with the question. Be sure to use you full name, street number, and the name of your city and province.

Thin Blood

(Registered in accordance with the Copyright act.)

You have perhaps noticed a friend looking a bit pale and weak, and you learn on inquiry that his blood has become thin, that he has what his doctor calls anaemia.

He explains that he ate something that was "wrong," and that he has had a severe attack of diarrhoea, followed by dysentery.

The loss of blood was considerable.

You see him a few weeks later, and he is in pretty good shape again.

What has happened?

Well, the little red corpuscles in his blood had lost a lot of substance—haemoglobin—during his attack of dysentery, and it took some weeks for them to get back their normal quantity of haemoglobin.

This is the simple form of anaemia that quite commonly follows any actual loss of blood, or any wasting ailment, such as tuberculosis, chronic bronchitis, over work, or undernourishment.

Nature soon brings back the haemoglobin by good food, fresh air, and not too much exercise.

Later you see another friend likely about or past middle age, and he likewise has that white bleached appearance that tells of thin blood. He becomes so weak that finally you learn that he has had to have a transfusion of blood.

He picks up after this, gets back to work, and appears to be in normal health for months, sometimes for years, when he again goes down and another transfusion is made, he picks up again and resumes work.

This may go on a number of times and finally you learn that the last transfussion did not effect the desired result.

This is a different kind of anaemia entirely, because instead of there being just a smaller quantity of haemoglobin in the corpuscles, the number of corpuscles themselves has been greatly reduced.

This is what is called pernicious anaemia, and the name certainly fits it.

And the cause?

No one has ever been able to discover it.

However, shock, emotional disturbances, and overwork, seem to have something to do with it.

Premonition of Death Realized; Gale Fate's Agent

LONDON, Feb. 4.—Fate's hand reached out and grabbed Frank Fitt as he was walking along the sidewalk at Harwich. He had a premonition of death, as he told his friends when he left home that he would keep on the sidewalk, far out of reach of the autos.

He was true to his word, but a gale sprang up and it blew him into the street. A passing auto bus ran over and killed him.

Keep Fit This Winter

What does Winter usually mean to you? The joy of the broad outdoors? Or a succession of colds and chills and doctors' bills?

If you dread the Winter — if you painfully EXIST during the Winter months instead of being full of life and vigor, glorying in the crisp invigorating air, with never a sign of a chill — you are not getting all you should out of life. There is something wrong.

Owing to too little exercise and fresh air, your liver and kidneys have lost much of their activity, permitting your blood to become impure. You are actually being robbed of energy.

"This is all very well," you say, "but what is to be done?" The answer is simple — just enough Kruschen to cover a ten cent piece, dropped in your tea or coffee every morning. It's quite tasteless but in a very short time you will begin to feel like a new man.

The Kruschen, by supplying the six salts which your body requires, tones up your whole system. By restoring to normal activity your liver and kidneys, it drives out all impurities from your body and sends pure rich blood coursing through your veins.

No longer will your daily work seem a burden — rather will it be a game into which every morning you will jump with fresh eagerness. No longer will you need to fear the Winter's ills. Your blood will be in a condition to resist the attacks of disease germs.

Can you afford to be without "that Kruschen feeling?" It costs less than half a cent a day. Get a bottle of Kruschen today, and start your daily dimeful tomorrow morning.

Tasteless in Coffee or Tea

Put as much in your breakfast cup as will lie on a 10 cent piece. It's the little daily dimeful that does it.

Kruschen Salts

Good Health for Half a Cent a Day

A 75c bottle of Kruschen Salts contains 160 doses—nearly enough for six months—which means bounding health for less than half a cent a day. The dose prescribed for daily use for adults is "as much as will lie on a 10 cent piece," taken in your breakfast cup of coffee or tea. Every druggist sells Kruschen. Get a 75c bottle to-day.

From School Teacher To Great Eminence

A young man who was brought up on a farm in Western Pennsylvania studied diligently and qualified for district school teacher. Further pursuing his studies and teaching, he managed to save up enough money to put him through medical college. After the Civil War, he began the practice of medicine in the new oil section of Pennsylvania, and often rode horseback through the woods to reach and relieve those who were seriously ill. He was a student of nature, knew and could easily recognize most of the medicinal plants growing in the woods.

Later, he moved to Buffalo, N.Y., where he launched his favorite remedies, and, in a short time, they were sold by every druggist in the land. Today the name of this man Dr. R. V. Pierce, is known throughout the world. His Golden Medical Discovery is the best-known blood medicine and tonic. More than fifty million bottles have been sold. If your druggist does not sell the "Discovery," in liquid or tablets, you can obtain a trial package of the tablets by sending 10c to Dr. Pierce's Branch Laboratory in Bridgeburg, Ont.

TYPOS ACQUIRE THE PALATIAL MURDOCK HOME

Indianapolis Mansion Will Soon Resound With Office Clatter

EXPANSION FORCED NEW DEPARTURE

Organization's Total Investments Run Close to Nine Millions

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind., Feb. 2.—Stately halls and spacious drawing rooms, wont to witness the swank and magnificence of Hoosierdom's most exclusive society affairs, soon will resound to the clatter of typewriters and adding machines grinding out the business of a leading trade union.

It is announced that the palatial Murdock home in the fashionable North Meridian street district of Indianapolis will become headquarters of the International Typographical union, April 1. Purchase of the home made famous locally by its occupation at different times by two of Indiana's richest families was effected recently by the union. It was sold by heirs of the late Samuel T. Murdock, multi-millionaire interurban magnate and manufacturer.

The purchase price was not made public, but it was said the building could not be duplicated on land of such value at a total cost of less than $500,000.

Built by Canning Magnate

Built by Frank Van Camp, of the wealthy canning industry family, in 1906, the home has since been included in all sightseeing tours of Indianapolis as one of the city's most beautiful estates. It is surrounded by landscaped grounds, comprising 4½ acres and including a sunken garden. The district in which it is located recently was designated for business purposes by the city planning commission.

The building is of limestone, with massive walls and a wide uncovered stone verandah in the Italian style reaches along two sides. The solid mahogany woodwork of the interior was carved by artists from Switzerland, imported by Mr. Van Camp to do the work to his liking. The great center hall of the home will be used by the union as its reception room. More than 35 rooms will be included in the plans for altering the residence for business use.

A Measure of Economy

Officials of the union said they were compelled to seek new quarters by the expansion of the organization's business and the high rental rates prevailing in the business district. The new headquarters will afford greater room at less cost, and also offers a sound investment, they said. Members of the union's executive *council, who consummated the pur*chase, were James M. Lynch, president; J. W. Hays, secretary-treasurer; Seth R. Brown, first vice-president; Austin Hewson, second vice-president; Charles N. Smith and Hugo Miller.

The typographical union is one of the wealthiest trade unions, and has about $5,000,000 of its funds invested in bonds. It also has a $3,500,000 investment in the Union Printers' home at Colorado Springs, Col., to which an extensive addition was made last year.

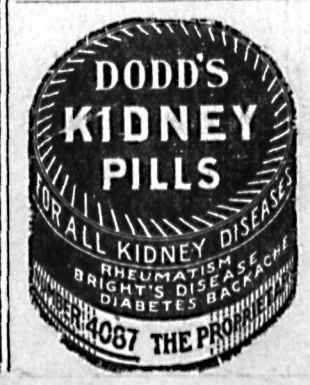
"It has ever been a policy of the *typographical union to be very con*servative in the investment of union funds," said Mr. Lynch. "For that reason the organization has confined itself to purchase of government and municipal bonds in the past. In this case, however, it became necessary to acquire our own headquarters property or suffer a loss through exorbitant rent. We bought at a bargain, and I am reliably advised that our new investment will prove one of the most profitable we have ever had. The investment can be reduced to a comparatively small sum at any time by sale of surplus land."

Printers' Home and Pension System

Beside its trade regulation activities, and the Union Printers' home, the union maintains an old-age pension system, mortuary benefits, and a department of apprentice education, all of which are administered at headquarters.

A library of books on printing and related subjects will be accumulated after the new headquarters are opened.

The International Typographical union, officials say, is the development of an organization idea nearly as old as the printing art itself. Guilds were formed by the early printers of the 15th century, and similar societies have existed practically continuously since, each having for its smallest unit the "chapel" of each printing shop. The National Typographical union was organized at a convention in Cincinnati Ohio, in 1852, and the name was changed to International Typographical union of North America in 1869. Headquarters have been maintained in Indianapolis since 1888.



GOLF COSTLY SAYS FIGURES

Four Millions Estimated Cost for United States Amateurs

ASHVILLE, N.C., Feb. 4.—Four hundred million dollars will be spent by American golfers during 1925, according to a compilation of figures made by Henry Westall, golf enthusiast of this city. This immense sum includes the equipment used in play, the construction of golf links and club houses and the expenses incidental to the game. The expenditure for golf balls alone he estimates at $30,000,000, while the matter of dues will cost players $100,000,000. The next highest item on the list is golf apparel with $50,000,000, and leading the expense for balls come caddies with the sum of $40,000,000.

"The average golfer will probably spend in the neighborhood of $1000 a year for his games and incidental expenses," Mr. Westall said, "so that the figures prepared would give a total of 400,000 golfers in the United States. With the development *of civic links, on which the ex*pense is a very small item, it can hardly be doubted that golfers in America will numer half a million during the year 1925."

Figures Sound

These figures, which have been put together by experts in all lines concerned with golf, are not extravagant, according to Mr. Westall, who quotes the tremendous extension of golf interest in the south to prove a sound basis for the calculation.

Other items in the list are: Golf property, construction, club salaries and golf resort hotels, $25,000,000 each; club houses, $20,000,000. Travel expense also is rated at $20,000,000. Golf clubs follow with a considerable drop to $13,000,000. The next drop is to $5,000,000, which is claimed equally by seeds, tobacco, club furnishings and course equipment. Lockers will cost golfers $3,000,000 during the year, according to the list, and golf bags and beverages bring up the list with $2,000,000 each.

"This stamps golf as the American game," said Mr. Westall. "In no other form of sport can be found a half million men and women actively engaged, or such large sums individually invested. Plenty of games draw larger attendances, but the number of participants is limited. Certainly Scotland can claim golf as her own no longer, and 'the Royal and Ancient' is now the modern game of all the people."

WOMEN COMMENCE TEMPERANCE DRIVE

Campaign in United States for Total Abstinence and Pledge Signing

CHICAGO, Feb. 4. — Total abstinence, law observance and pledge signing are features of the Youths' Year program of the National W.C.T.U. Four young women have started on a speaking tour of the country which will cover 42 states in the first six months. They will devote their efforts to the enlistment of young men and women in total abstinence work. A goal of 1,000,000 children signers is the figure set.

Education in social morality on the basis of the single standard of morals; education in loyal citizenship, including the enlistment of first voters and foreign-born citizens; creation of a sound public sentiment for world peace, and border conferences as an aid to stamp out rum running from Canada and Mexico are other features of the program.

Great Increase in Tea Consumption

The consumption of tea, it is estimated, increased in 1924 thirty-nine million pounds. The price, as a result, may go to $1.00 per pound, but even then tea is the cheapest beverage in the world—aside from water.

LOS ANGELES FEES SAFE AFTER ALL

Divorce Applications Balance Any Deficit in Cupid's Department

LOS ANGELES, Cal., Feb. 4.—Honest pride shone from the face of Miss Emily Shumway as she completed totting up some figures she had scribbled on a piece of paper.

"I knew we were going well," she exclaimed, with satisfaction.

Miss Shumway enters in the records all of the thousands of divorce actions that are filed in Los Angeles county each year, and so accurately that never a one is lost track of. When she read last week that marriage licences issued so far this year were less than during the same period last year, ambition spurred her. She had a feeling that she could retrieve a bad situation to some extent, at least. So she dragged out various fat volumes from their nooks and took off a few figures.

"Well, this department's business shows growth," she announced. "During the first 23 days of 1924 we filed 545 divorce complaints. During the first 23 days of this year we have taken in 555, an increase of 10."

The county clerk's office receives $7 for each divorce suit filed, whereas the marriage licence fee is only $2. Wherefrom Miss Shumway rejoiced that the finances of the office were not endangered at any rate.

Financial and

Business Facts

EVERYONE SHOULD KNOW

Government and municipal bonds are, in effect, prime first mortgages.

Every time the people vote an issue of bonds they place a mortgage on their homes, their property and their incomes. The bonds are a pledge of general credit and good faith and will be met through taxes, ultimately. These taxes may mount up to be very severe indeed when a government or a community puts out bond issue after bond issue.

The taxes are, of course, met by the people—which means you and I, and we are the ones who voted to borrow the money. So often, too, when bonds are issued for a comparatively long time, there is nothing left of the improvements for which they were issued when they are paid off. This is particularly true of road bonds.

Just because a bond issue seems far removed from the individual and impersonal in its character is no reason for voting for such an issue without serious consideration. Every such bond places an ironclad first mortgage on the homes, property and general earning power of the people.

CALGARY GAME IS LIKE GOLF; PUCK ON EDGE

One Solitary Goal Is Batted in by Tiger Player for Victory

CALGARY, Feb. 4.—One of those old-fashioned flips off the stick of the veteran Rusty Crawford, a play that was common in hockey before the Rat Portage Thistles brought shooting into the national winter pastime, gave Calgary Tigers its victory over the Victoria Cougars here tonight, 1 to 0.

About 11 minutes and 35 seconds of the first period had elapsed when Crawford scooped the puck on his stick, and unexpectedly let it go toward the Cougar's goal. Holmes saw the puck too late, and when he ducked, thinking it was going over his head, the disc fell over his arm and into the net.

Heaviest Ice Ever Used

That was the only goal of one of the hardest fought games ever staged in this city. The teams battled on heavy, sticky ice, probably the poorest the professionals had ever had to perform on here. The puck rolled on edge half the time, and frequently the players swung at it as though they were golfing.

The victory places the Tigers a tie with the Cougars for the leadership of the league, each having a total of 24 points.

A capacity crowd saw the Tigers turn in a victory that will go down in the history as a thriller, considering the deplorable condition of the ice.

Hal Winkler shared honors with Crawford for the triumph, as it was his brilliant goal-keeping that stood out throughout the three periods. It is doubtful if the former Edmonton custodian ever turned in such an efficient game. He was invincible.

Summary

First period—1, Calgary, Crawford, 11:25.

Second period—No score.

Third period—No score.

HOCKEY GAME MAY BE PLAYED

Decision on Scheduled Game Again Rests With League Executive

The hockey situation is again the question of an hour. Whether or not the Nelson seniors will play in Rossland tonight depends upon the judgment of the West Kootenay league executive. Up to last night it was thought by the management of the local team that the game would be played as no word of its cancellation had been received up to late hour.

Rossland, according to word from here, has been enjoying colder weather than other Kootenay centres and the ice is reported good. However, the matter again rests with the league executive.

Basketball Games Start at High School Tonight

The first games in the city basketball league are scheduled for tonight at the High school. The first game will be between the Notman and the High school aggregations. Hunt's and Ferguson's teams will tangle in the second fixture.

ST. PATS HAVE STRONG FINISH; BACK IN THIRD

Dye Beats Benedict for the Winning Goal Over Montreals

TORONTO, Feb. 4.—St. Patricks gave their local supporters a demonstration of their strong finishes here tonight when, after 17 minutes of scoreless but exciting and strenuous hockey, Dye beat Benedict for St. Pats' third goal, which broke up a two-all deadlock and sent the locals back into third place.

The class of hockey improved as the game went on, an epidemic of penalties in the first period being stamped out by Dr. O'Leary.

On the play the locals deserved the victory, although their play was ragged at times.

In the third period both goalies were called upon to make sparkling saves, with Benedict having the greater share of the limelight. Both teams were doing their utmost to break the tie, and it was not until three minutes of the end that Dye slipped a fast one past Benedict from a pass off Day.

Montreal tried hard to even up, but the locals played a strong defence and kept their lead.

Summary

First period—1, St. Pats, Dye, 2:00; 2, Montreal, Broadbent, 4:00; 3, Montreal, Noble, 3:30.

WILL CONTROL BOXING IN THE COEUR D'ALENE

All Bouts to Be Supervised; Stanton Seeks Kellogg Office

A Coeur d'Alene Mines Athletic association boxing commission is being formed in that territory according to word received from Herb Stanton of Kellogg, Idaho, and well-known in Nelson and district to boxing fans.

The new body will have jurisdiction over all smokers staged in the the Coeur d'Alenes for a period of one year and will control all bouts. Ballots have been issued to all fans in the territory and 10 men who will form the board will be elected from Wallace, Mullen, Burke and Kellogg. Mr. Stanton is a candidate for a seat on the commission and his name is among the Kellogg aspirants.

Stanton has been appointed matching club. He reports an important maker for the Kellogg Eagle's Boxmatch on February 18, when Bill Nearing of Kellogg will meet Bill Cusick of Mullen, who is under the charge of Chet McIntyre. The bout will be over the 12-round route. Smillie Wade, well-known in this city will in all probability meet Roy Kelly of Mullen on the same card, for the welterweight championship of the Coeur d'Alenes.

Steeplechase jockeys riding under the jurisdiction of the National Steeplechase and Hunt association the coming season will be compelled to wear the safety fiber helmets which were introduced in this country a little over a year ago from Australia.

ST. GODDARD PILOTS BACON DOGS TO WIN

Youthful French-Canadian of The Pas Holds Lead to the End

MAHONEY LIKELY TO BE SECOND

Others Far Behind; Folks Cheer Driver and Dogs as Cross Line

THE PAS, Man., Feb. 4.—(By Canadian Press.)—Youth triumphed when Emile St. Goddard, 18-year-old French-Canadian "musher," won the eighth annual Pas Derby association 204-mile non-stop dog race tonight. He arrived here at 9:35 p. m., having covered the new course over the Hudson Bay railway to Herb Lake village, and return, in 35 hours and 28 minutes. St. Goddard was driving the Jack Bacon entry, of The Pas. Seven huskies comprised the winning team, but the French boy was only driving six when he reached here, as he carried a crippled dog on his sleigh.

Miles behind, W. A. Mahoney, driving for W. W. Turple, of Big River, Sask., was holding down second place, and it is anticipated he will finish about 3 o'clock tomorrow morning. Many miles separated the third and fourth positions. R. E. Moxley, at the last report, was third and H. W. Johnson fourth. Johnson reported at Mile 55 at 8:50 p. m., and it is believed he will stay there until morning before finishing. Johnson held second position during most of the first hundred miles.

The fifth team to enter, the Campbell-Dupas entry, driven by Theo Dupas, had not reported its progress.

Takes Lead and Holds It

St. Goddard's victory was a clean sweep. Taking the lead shortly after the race started on the Saskatchewan river here at 10:07 a.m., yesterday, he went rapidly ahead, traveling a great deal of the distance at a speed of over eight miles an hour. Today, however, after assuming his long lead, he slowed up somewhat. It was a race of endurance, and the marvellous staying power of the animals, combined with great physical endurance of the youthful driver brought victory.

St. Goddard is a native of The Pas, and while this was his first big dog race, he has bred and owned fast teams. He had expected to drive his own dogs this year, but distemper took a heavy toll of his kennels, and he was forced to drive the Bacon entry.

The 1924 race was won by Shorty Russick, who covered the old trail of 200 miles to the lumber camps to the north in 23 hours and 52 minutes.

A large crowd of excited people, including hundreds of visitors to The Pas' annual carnival, cheered the boy master and his dogs as he crossed the finishing line.

"I am tired, but I guess my dogs are more tired than I am," was the only comment the youthful musher had to make.

Crossed Trestles in Dark

"Out of the total time St. Goddard traveled, about half the time was in the dark, and it required careful handling to guide his team safely over the many trestles along the railway track. Approximately two hours throughout the entire journey was all the time taken in feeding and resting his dogs.

The Walter Goyne-Grant Rice memorial trophy, and a cash prize of $1200, will be awarded the winner.

HAMILTON ADDS TO LEAD OVER THE CANADIENS

Shuts Out World Champs by Three Goals; Forbes Strong in Nets

MONTREAL, Feb. 4.—Hamilton Tigers increased their lead at the head of the National Hockey league race tonight when they defeated the champion Canadiens 3 to 0 and thus widened the gap in the race between these two clubs for first place to seven points. It was not a brilliant hockey game.

The teams started out cautiously, awaiting the breaks. They opened up in the second period after the Tigers had counted on an easy shot by Spring, and when just at the end of the middle session Burch made it two for the Tigers on another long shot a goal which was questioned by Canadiens.

In the final period Hamilton notched another when Burch caught the Canadiens' defence asleep and circled the net to beat Vezina.

Hamilton's first two goals were scored while Coutu in one case and Sprague Cleghorn in another were serving penalties. Canadiens deserved a better showing in the scoring columns, but they found Forbes a brilliant figure in the Tiger net.

Summary

First period—No score.

Second period—1, Hamilton, Spring, 8:10; 2, Hamilton, Burch, 11:20.

Third period—3, Hamilton, Burch, 5:20.

COMPETITION KEEN IN EGG CONTEST

Dominion Experimental Farm Increases Lead Over Unity

The Dominion Experimental from at Agassiz still heads the list for totals with 12 more eggs than the pen of the highest competing pen, in the Agassiz egg contest, at the end of the 13th week. However, there are eight pens in the 500 class for totals, so that competition is still close. The experimental farm pen has a total of 587 eggs, while that of the Unity Poultry farm, Vernon, has 575, the Agassiz hens having gained five on Unity for the week. Next comes that of Mufford & Sons, Milner, which last week passed Bolivar, with 559; then the Golivar White Leghorn farm with 550; while Farrington Bros. of Central Park, A. W. Schofield, of McKay, the Dominion experimental farm at Sidney, and H. A. Snyder, Langley Prairie, all hace a total of over 500 for their pens.

Kootenay Pens Second for Week

M. H. Ruttledge leads for weekly total with his pen, which laid 53 eggs, which is seven eggs more than the second pens for the week, belonging to Farrington Bros., W. S. McAlpine of Creston; and A. Cant, Appledale, all with 46 eggs.

Kennedy Bros., of Westminster, and Mufford & Sons come next, with 44 eggs to the credit of their pens, and then in fourth place for the week are R. A. White, of Lochdale, and the Barred Rocks of the Dominion Experimental farm at Agassiz, with 43 eggs for the pens.

Peterson was injured by one of the machines at the mine, and is in the Sisters' hospital, where he is reported to be doing well.

REBEKAHS CONDUCT ROSSLAND FUNERAL

Services for Mrs. Annie Lee in Odd Fellows' Hall; Many Flowers

ROSSLAND, B.C., Feb. 4.—The funeral of Mrs. Annie Lee took place at 2 o'clock this afternoon from the Odd Fellows' hall, and was conducted by the Deborah Rebekah lodge, while Rev. William Arnett of the United church preached the funeral sermon.

The hall was crowded, and so many beautiful flowers were received that many had to be taken to the grave in a motor, while the casket was completely covered. Among them was a wreath from the Rebekah Assembly of British Columbia, and numbers were from friends in both Trail and Rossland.

The pallbearers were R. D. Mitchell, Thomas Embleton, D. F. McIntyre, S. Langill, John A. McLeod and Kenneth Martin. Interment took place in the Sunnyside cemetery.

'LOVE ME,' IS PLEA FROM DEAD WOMAN

Letter From Mrs. Morley to Manheart Ended Ardently

MAN UNDERGOES SEVERE GRILLING

Asserts His Innocence and Says at Proper Time Can Prove It

SEATTLE, Feb. 4. — "Love me! Love me! Love me!"

Was this the lovelorn appeal of Mrs. Lillian Helen Morley to Elmer Manheart written in a letter shortly before she was murdered by a male companion in a taxicab early Sunday morning, and for which crime Manheart is now held in the city jail?

Detective Captain Charles Tennant said today a letter taken from Manheart's effects, and which appeared to have been written by the dead woman, ended with that glowing line, but just that one quotation from a number of letters obtained from the effects of Manheart and Mrs. Morley is all that Tennant would permit the public just now.

He says he has a number of letters addressed to his prisoner, and to the slain woman which may have a bearing on the case.

When Manheart surrendered Tuesday night, he is said to have told Tennant that he "used to look upon Mrs. Morley as his sweetheart."

Friends' Version Different

Such an appeal for love from Mrs. Morley to Manheart would be at variance with reports given the police by friends of Mrs. Morley after her death, to the effect that she had broken with Manheart and had served notice on him that she would not see him again.

Stoically withstanding several hours of grilling, during which he was repeatedly accused by Tennant of murdering Mrs. Morley, the reticent Manheart tonight maintained his innocence.

He expressed confidence that circumstances will warrant his release when police shall have completed their investigation.

Won't Give Names

Declining to be definite in his statements, and refusing to furnish the detectives with names of those persons who he insisted would, at the proper time, substantiate his assertions, Manheart insisted he had been on a "spree" during the three days detectives and police of the northwest were combing their respective cities for him.

WATER ON ICE AT WINNIPEG

Several of Bonspiel Games Have to Put Off for the Present

WINNIPEG, Feb. 4.—Spring-like weather made the going heavy in the opening draws of the Manitoba Curling association's 37th annual bonspiel here today, and in many of the rinks the ice was covered with water. So great was the "bonspiel thaw" that a number of games had to be postponed owing to the bad ice condition.

A feature of the afternoon draw in the Dingwall trophy, the premier event of the spiel, was the defeat of Stocking, of Duluth, and Rutledge, of Fort William, both veterans in the game. George McDonald, of Fort William, chalked up his first victory today.

The Saskatchewan rinks got away to a good start, Aitken, of Eyebrow, and Moffatt, of Unity, taking their initial games, but Simpson, of Kamsack, had his usual hard luck, and lost out to a Manitoba aggregation.

MEIGHEN PUTS A PROTECTION MOTION DOWN

Conservatives Will Demand Tariff Aid to Canadian Farmer

OTTAWA, Feb. 4.—In a notice of motion submitted today for inclusion in the order paper of parliament, the leader of the official opposition, Rt. Hon. Arthur Meighen, makes it evident that the Conservative party will maintain its traditional attitude to the tariff.

Immediate revision of the Canadian tariff on a proteetive basis to apply to natural products, such as farm products, fish and coal, as well as manufactured goods, is recommended in the motion, which will stand as a subject to be debated in parliament.

This motion indicates that the Conservative attitude to Imperial preference is that, while it favors a system of preference within the Empire, no preference should be given at the expense of the Canadian worker, and all preferences should be conditional on the use of Canadian ports.

Equalization of transportation costs over the whole Dominion is recommended in the motion.

Establishment of a tariff commission is also asked by the Conservatives.

Progressives After Rates

The third party's policy is foreshadowed by its leader, Robert Forke, as being focused for this session on freight rate reduction. "We want lower freight rates, and we want them provided by statute," he said in an interview. "We don't mind at all other sections of the Dominion doing the same—equalization is a good thing—but if the west is to be built up, proper facilities and reasonable rates of transportation are vital."

Speaking of the action now before the supreme court to test the right of the railway commission to set aside the Crow's Nest Pass agreement, Mr. Forke added that "the west will forego the Crow's Nest Pass schedule of rates only if it gets something just as good," made permanent by legislation.

Can't you guess, folks? Well we'll just tell you. Young Nelson has started at marbles, and thats' a sure sign of spring. Look around any mudhole in the city, or on any sidewalks slightly cleared of snow, and you'll hear:

"You're fat."
"Knuckles down, boney tight."
"Play you aggies up, first no pinky."
