QUAKE SHOCKS AND TREMORS SHAKE RUINS

Does Not Hinder Reconstruction Program Santa Barbara Though

SANTA BARBARA, July 3.—Three distinct shocks and a number of tremors did not stop reconstruction in Santa Barbara today. With private enterprise active in the business district, the county supervisors in their first session since the quake of Monday, hired an architect, to plan a $1,000,000 court house and a $200,000 county hospital. In making a general outline for the new building plans the supervisors ordered that provision be made for a doubling of county business in 10 years.

Lines at all Red Cross canteens were reduced to a minimum during all hours of the day. Some of the branch canteens were closed. The Salvation Army closed its canteen tonight.

GERMANY PROTESTS DEATH SENTENCES

Men Sentenced for Plot Against Trotzky May Be Saved

BERLIN, July 3.—A vigorous protest has been dispatched by the foreign office to the Soviet government at Moscow against the verdict of the supreme court in the case of Dr. Karl Kinderman, Max Von Ditmar and Theodore Volscht, who were sentenced to death for plotting to kill Leon Trotzky and a number of communists officials. The foreign office demands that carrying out of the sentences be deferred.

It was made clear at the foreign office that while the "judicial farce" at Moscow is looked upon as an occurrence tending seriously to impair the friendly relations of the two countries, a rupture of diplomatic relations is not contemplated.

There seems to be a general opinion that the Soviet government obviously is seeking to secure the liberation of Alexander Skoblessky, alias Goreff, a Russian who was sentenced to death in the recent Cheka trial at Leipsic, in exchange for the pardoning of the three Germans.

AUTOISTS DROWN WHEN CLOUD BURSTS

NORTON HELD ON SEPARATE WONG CHARGE

Abduction Case Decision on Thursday Next, Says Magistrate

POLICE OFFICERS TAKE THE STAND

Wong Was Not Blindfolded; Robinson Bail Reduced to $1000

VANCOUVER, July 3.—When the Wong abduction case was called this afternoon the crown was permitted to withdraw a charge against A. S. Matthew, stating that there was no evidence against him though his signature had been found on papers seized in Detective Robinson's safe. It was announced that Norton would be tried on separate charge to the others and it was decided to try him after the case against the others ends.

Meanwhile he was committed to trial.

Magistrate McQueen when the crown closed its case and the defence argued for a dismissal, decided he would give his decision next Thursday.

Robinson on Stand

Sergeants Neil McPherson and William Munro of the Point Grey police were the only two witnesses heard. Called by the defence they told only of the release of Wong both declaring that the car had been taken to Wong's prison on orders of Chief Murdoch. After a wait until midnight the chief and Commissioner McDonald entered the house after which Wong was brought out and placed in a car by Munro.

Beside him was Norton, the private detective now facing a separate trial for the abduction. They drove, said McPherson, to the Marpole police station where Sergeant Kirkham relieved McPherson, and the car with Norton in it was driven back to the captivity house.

Munro testified that Wong not blindfolded and that when the car reached police headquarters only the chief and Wong got out.

At the adjournment the $2500 bail for William Robinson, one of three private detectives charged with the abduction was reduced to $1000.

Seven Million Dollars Whisky Goes to States From Canada in Year

OTTAWA, July 3.—Exports of 462,632 gallons of whisky from Canada to the United States during the 12 months ending May are shown in official trade returns issued today by the Dominion bureau of statistics. The whisky is valued at $7,645,890. Ale and beer to the value of $4,638,297 was exported to the United States during the same period. The value of ale and beer exported was practically the same in the year previous.

PERSONAL OPINIONS

Alderman J. T. Berrington, Associated Canadian Travelers—We did a great deal better the first night of the carnival than we thought possible.

S. J. Gridley, baker—Contrary to what one might think, our bakery is refreshingly cool in summer and comfortably warm in winter. Certainly it was one of the coolest spots in Nelson this sweltering day.

T. McDonald, railway mail clerk—There are more transients travelling along the route followed by the Canadian Pacific railway line, between here and Midway, than in my experience. Transients' camps are constantly to be seen. One stream of men is heading toward the coast; another is coming on toward Nelson.

Ernest Gammon, staff-sergeant, provincial police—All is quiet in the Nelson police district; nothing stirring.

C. E. Hunt, assistant horticulturist—A 15 per cent increase over last year's strawberry crop in the Creston-Wynndel area approximately represents the reports I have from that district.

LONE BANDIT MAKES DARING HAUL, LONDON

Bank Manager and Staff Locked in Vault; Seven Thousand Taken

HOLDUP IN MIDDLE OF THE AFTERNOON

Cries Attract Children Who Unlock Vault; No Trace Bandit

THORNDALE, Ont., July 4. — Thorndale's branch of the Bank of Montreal was robbed of more than $6,000 cash just after 3 o'clock this afternoon when a lone bandit held up three clerks and the manager at the point of a gun, and after locking all in the vault, made his escape in a waiting automobile.

The bank officials were confined in the vault, a small dingy enclosure, more than an hour. It was not until a passing schoolboy heard their shouts for assistance, that they gained their freedom and spread an alarm.

The man drove into Thorndale on the St. Mary's road just before 3 oclock, and parked his car directly at the front entrance of the bank on the main street.

Bank Was Closed

Entering at a time when the bank was closed to customers, he proceeded to the office of the manager, Arthur Reid, and ordered him to put his hands up. He forced the manager into the main office of the building, and there gave commands to three clerks, A. Waugh, teller and accountant, M. McMaster, ledger keeper, and Miss M. Baker, to line themselves against the wall, and then made them proceed to the vault.

He closed the heavy metal door upon them, but did not turn the combination, locking them in with a snap fastener. Had he turned the combination, assistance in rescuing them would have had to be secured from the head office of the bank.

Between $6000 and $7000, made up of $50 and $100 bills, was lying in drawers, and on the counter at the teller's cage. These he picked up, and sauntered out in the street. He entered his automobile, and made a getaway without attracting the attention of nearby residents.

Members of the staff were exhausted on their release from their prison. They could give only an incoherent report of what had happened.

CLOUDBURST PUTS DAM IN DANGER

Denver Residents on Cherry Creek Warned to Flee at Instant

DENVER, Col., July 3.—Warnings that a portion of South Denver and communities to the south for a distance of 40 miles along Cherry Creek were in imminent danger of flood because Castlewood dam, a giant reservoir in the mountains is threatening to give way under water from cloudbursts, were broadcast by the police early tonight.

Residents along 40 miles of the creek bank were notified by the police to be prepared to flee at a moment's notice. Police patrols were stationed along the creek banks throughout Denver as the water rose rapidly. The caretaker at the dam reported at 7 o'clock that a cloudburst struck Castlewood at 3:30 o'clock and rain still was falling in torrents.

Labor Objects to Australian Cruiser in China

MELBOURNE, July 3. — (Canadian Press Cable, via Reuter's) — In the house of representatives today Hunter Charlton, leader of the Labor opposition, in moving the adjournment of the house to discuss the position of the Australian cruiser, Brisbane, in Chinese water, said the British admiralty should be informed that Australian warships could not participate in foreign disputes between Britain and foreign countries without the approval of the commonwealth parliament.

Premier Bruce replied that nothing could be done by Australia to interfere in Chinese affairs. The government had informed the admiralty, the premier added, that the cruiser Brisbane could be used to protect the lives and property of British subjects in China.

The case against his abductors closed yesterday, and a decision will be given on Thursday next.

ARABS WHIPPED NEW YORK GIRL ON THE DESERT

Party Attacked While on Way Nablus; Arabs Are Dirty, Slovenly

NEW YORK, July 3.—Her back still bearing the marks left by a horse whip in the hands of an Arab sheik, Miss Gizella Wattenberg returned today on the United States liner George Washington with an entirely different conception of the desert Bedouin from what she had previously found in fiction.

Miss Wattenberg is the daughter of Phillip Wattenberg, a wealthy real estate owner of the Bronx.

Leaving her parents in Jerusalem, Miss Wattenberg joined a party of 12 on April 7 on their way to Nablus to observe the ancient Jewish custom of animal sacrifice, still part of the rites of the Passover feast at that place.

Arabs Dirty, Slovenly

Astride donkeys, the party was slowly proceeding over the mountain trail when a band of horseman swept down, circled them twice and began to throw stones. Miss Wattenberg said the Arabs, far from being the heroes of fiction were dirty, slovenly and vicious. They ignored the plea of the guide of the party, beating him over the shoulders and then the leader of the band brought his whip down several times across Miss Wattenberg's back.

As the Arabs were looting their victims, a party appeared on the scene and frightened them away.

Merchants to Shut Up Shops Before Strike

SCRANTON, Pa., July 3. — Merchants in the anthracite valleys today finally admitted the likelihood of a suspension at the mines, September 1, *as a result both of the new wage de*mands and the talk growing out of the tri-district scale convention which closed here yesterday.

Some storekeepers figured that the demands of the miners, if granted, mean a total pay increase of perhaps 35 per cent.

Turning from whatever attitude the operators might *adopt toward these de*mands, the merchants singled out the remark, yesterday, of Andrew Mattey, president of No. 7, who said in the convention: "A suspension will take place."

Asserting that in a coal strike "it is the merchant who pays," some of them declared they would make money by shutting up the shops the day before the suspension was called.

The miners' demands will be presented to the operators in Atlantic City on July 9.

GRAND FORKS HINDU DRANK MUCH LIQUOR

Twelve Hundred Pints Beer in June; $800 Worth Liquor; Heavily Fined

GRAND FORKS, July 3.—In an effort to justify his having purchased about $800 worth of liquor since January, and 1200 pints of beer in the month of June, Sunder Singh, before Magistrate Neil McCallum, yesterday afternoon claimed that he had frequently drank six and seven dozens of the bottled beer per day, and got away with the entire 1200, together with a few quarts of hard liquor, without having been drunk. The police had been angling for him for some time. On two separate charges of selling and of having liquor for sale he was fined $150 and $650, respectively.

LLOYD GEORGIANS BURY THE HATCHET

Peace Declaration in Liberal Camp; Lord Oxford and Lloyd George

LONDON, July 3.—(Canadian Press Cable)—A final declaration of peace between Lord Oxford and Asquith and Lloyd George was made last night at a dinner in the famous Eighty club, which is comprised of the strictest Asquithians in the Liberal party and was born amidst the troubles that threatened to divorce Lloyd Georgians from the older Liberals some time ago. Lord Oxford referred to Lloyd George as possessing some of the methods both of seer and a gladiator through his happy endowment of temperament, sleepless interest and unfailing sympathy with the needs of the common people.

Lloyd George, on his part, referred to the "characteristic, warm-hearted and generous tributes of Lord Oxford."

Challenges Baldwin

After this handsome hatchet-burying both Liberal leaders passed on to discussing the prospects of a revival of Liberalism.

Lord Oxford consoled those present with the reflection that at least twice previously the Liberal party had been in domestic trouble equal to that of the present time. Perhaps the most interesting passage in Lloyd George's speech was a virtual challenge to Premier Baldwin to reintroduce the protection issue. He asserted that up to the present Premier Baldwin simply had "mouthed sentimentalism at the head of a government of slush."

Byng Urges Great 'Canadian Ideal' in Coast Speech

VANCOUVER, July 3.—An appeal for "a great Canadian ideal" and a United Kingdom of Canada was the keynote sounded by Baron Byng of Vimy in his address here today before the Canadian club.

"We must think of Canada as a whole," said His Excellency. "The boys at Vimy represented Canada as a whole. It was then that all of the nine provinces walked up the hill as one, all with the same ideal before them, and with the same idea in mind."

Kamloops Girl Drowned When Raft Tips Over

MISSION CITY, B.C., July 3.—Nellie Balko, aged 19, of Kamloops, was drowned in Silver creek, two miles west of here, last evening when a raft tipped and precipitated six girls, all berry pickers from a nearby ranch, into 12 feet of water.

VERIGIN ASKS HIS PEOPLE BE REASONABLE

Stop Foolishness and Burning of Schools, States Letter to Cazakoff

"CREATE THINGS USEFUL," HE SAYS

Will Act Against Men in Such Actions; Schools Necessary

SASKATOON, Sask., July 3. —"In Verigin's telegram to you he asked and hoped that you would live in peace and reason until he arrived. Which very plainly meant that you should have been peaceful and acted reasonably, and instead you have allowed the schools to be burned, forcing the government to take drastic action against you. In his letter to you he requested that you should make every effort and increase your energy toward creating things useful and good; burning schools is not creating."

This is part of a letter received by M. M. Cazakoff, from the delegates of the Christian Community of Universal Brotherhood, who went to Russia to visit P. P. Verigin and ask him to come to Canada.

The letter says: "P. P. Verigin earnestly requested us to write to you and ask you to stop these silly doings and act like reasonable, peaceful people. He asked us: 'Is it possible that you have not any clever people in your community who would undertake to stop such foolish doings?'

Ask Police Assistance

"You should have paid strict attention and made every attempt to discover the guilty persons even if you had to ask the assistance of the police to find them and expel them from among the Doukhobors if they happen to be in their villages, as such people are a disgrace to the community and its clean ideals.

"Verigin says that the men who were appointed as directors of the community should do their duty earnestly and not to sleep; they should get together and tell the people not to allow a bunch of foolish men to disgrace the community and it is their sacred duty to see that the property of the community should be kept intact instead of being confiscated to pay fines for a few offenders.

"Is it progress to destroy? True progress is to create and not to destroy.

"Verigin further said: 'I am telling you positively that I shall not join any such men in their actions but instead will act against them. My father did not want to accept schools but now it is necessary to accept the schools and to educate the children. There was a time that armaments have been burned but now it shall not be so: instead we will make plows, harrows and everything necessary for tilling the soil out of them.'"

The water in the West Arm dropped .8 feet in the 24 hours ending yesterday afternoon at 5 o'clock. It then stood at 11.2 feet above low water mark.

AGREEMENT FOR INDIES TRADE EXECUTED SOON

Principles of Treaty Argued to by Delegates at Ottawa

WORK ON BETTER STEAMER SERVICE

Canada and West Indies Arrange Favorable Tariffs and Preference

OTTAWA, July 3.—(Canadian Press) A new trade agreement between Canada and the West Indies is now in the course of preparation and, according to plans, will be executed here on Monday next. The principles of the treaty were fully agreed to late this afternoon by representatives of the two countries, who have been in conference over a week. The details, principally surrounding the question of the respective contributions of the different colonies toward a better steamship service between the Dominion and the islands, are now being worked out by several committees. These details will be embodied in a draft pact, which will be submitted to cabinet tomorrow for approval.

The new agreement, it is believed, will provide for a weekly service between the Maritime provinces and the West Indies during the winter months, and a fortnightly service between Quebec and the islands and the Maritime provinces and the West Indies during the summer. Adequate cold storage facilities will be guaranteed on all vessels.

Favorable Tariffs

While no official statement has been made, favorable tariffs, it is understood, will be expected to this country, by the West Indies, on agricultural products, particularly on flour. On the other hand, Canada, it is believed, will grant reciprocal preference on certain commodities coming from the islands, chiefly on cocoa and sugar and probably bananas.

Eastern and western routes between Canada and the West Indies will be maintained. The whole question of a new treaty between the two countries has been the subject of a conference, which first convened here on June 19, largely as the result of a visit by Hanco J. Logan, M.P., to the West Indies late last year as Canada's emissary. The presentation of the contentions of the West Indies delegates in respect to mutual preferences and for better transportation facilities and adequate cold storage accommodation on vessels plying between the two countries were completed two days ago, and at yesterday's meeting counter proposals by the Dominion were outlined to the conference.

Further counter offers by the representatives of the West Indies were put forward at this morning's session, and these occupied the attention of the cabinet some considerable time early this afternoon. One of the obstacles in the way, it is known, was the question of a more favorable tariff on cocoa from Trinidad.

EVOLUTION TEACHING TRIAL STARTS MONDAY

BOVINE BIRTH AVERAGE IS UP

Manitoba Prize Cow Brings Forth Four Healthy Calves

HAYFIELD, Man., July 3. — The average of bovine births received a boost here today when "Aagie Segis Calamity," owned by W. E. Lawson, gave birth to four healthy calves. Three of them were heifers.

Aagie has been an industrious worker during the past year. She has been on test for official record of performance and in 353 days she has produced 19,215 pounds of milk, with an average test of 3.47 per cent butter fat and, in addition to the family today, has been the mother of one other calf during the year.

The four calves have a distinguished lineage, their sire being "Hector Colanthus Fayne."

Japan Seeks an Improvement in Canada Business

VANCOUVER, July 3.—Serious curtailment of trade which has been brought about by the Chinese industrials strikes and internal war fare are giving rise to anxiety in Japanese financial circles according to an interview obtained here today from S. B. Wright of Deloro, Ont., manager of the Deloro Smelting and Refining company, who arrived here this week from the orient.

Mr. Wright believes there is great opportunity for increases in the export of Canadian wheat and lumber to Japan. "Japanese business," he stated, "are all of the opinion that relations between the two countries should be improved."

Chicago Doctor Testified in the Hyslop Retrial

EDMONTON, July 3.—Expert evidence from a new witness for the crown in the retrial of Dr. John A. Hyslop, charged with manslaughter and performing an illegal operation was introduced Friday afternoon with the calling of Dr. L. E. Compte, professor of pathology at Rush Medical school, Chicago, who will be the last expert employed by the prosecution, and indications point to an early termination of the case for the crown.

Little new evidence was brought out in the examination of Dr. L. E. Compte, the opinions of the latter agreeing in most points with those already established by Dr. O. Klotz and others. Witness was of the opinion that the death of the Burnup girl occurred during the performance of, or immediately following the operation.

'ROAD TO LOVE'

By ELENORE MEHERIN

CHAPTER XXIV

No hail could be more bitter than Dunlap's congratulations. It distilled the dregs of Denny's surrender forcing the corroding drink over again to his lips.

He sat down to the table too shaken to eat. And, opposite, the image of Dunlap confronted him, a living accusation. He could see the yellow eyebrow cocking; could hear Dunlap's smirking voice:

"Well — Well — glad to see you settled, Mr. Brooks."

And Dunlap might just as well have mocked: "Fine fellow, Brooks! Damn fine fellow! Easy to handle theories—good of the many; service and all that. And you wouldn't be the one to crowd the others into the ditch, would you!

"Oh, no, not you! But you've come down off your perch, haven't you? Willing to feather your own nest now—grab off a nice, easy future, aren't you? I see, bully for you! You're with us on that. All come to it sooner or later. Congratulations!"

Denny shoved the plate from him, walked out of the restaurant. Mingled with his furious disgust was a penetrating awareness that he had acted in a ridiculous manner to Dunlap . . . Grab his coat like that and threaten him——

But he answered this self-reproach with an incensed: "Why did he bring Joan into it? What made him think of her? Guilt—the fellow's mad with guilt—that's it!" The suspicion he had dismissed as a wildness dropped again. "He knows where Joan is—he was feeling me out!"

The thought struck him coldly with leaden blow. Dunlap could know where Joan was—could stand there twisting his soft hands together, flinging Joan's name in his teeth. Denny must take it.

"Will I? Not much!" And he felt himself rushing at Dunlap, clutching him by the throat, shaking him crimson.

He turned at the corner, steps headed for the other. Take it? He had taken it.

He seemed to see Joan as he had often felt her, running along at his side like a child in the dark murmuring, "Me, too, Denny. You've thrown me to them along with everything else?"

He tried frantically to thrust the plea from his ears, the face from his thought. All the afternoon it hovered before him. What would Joan say if she knew? He shuddered against the answer. Joan, with that passionate purity in her magnificent eyes; the uncertain, childlike earnestness, never seeming to know whether it said the right thing to not, but always thinking the highest, doing the hardest—what would she say?

He longed, with a fierce half scorn to know, wished achingly that someone would blame him. Then he would justify himself.

For he was goaded beyond endurance with Petra's confident. "Diddle darlin', we don't have to fret our lives away now for the tiresome old farmers, do we? We don't have to wait forever now, do we? Aren't you glad, dearest, dearest?"

When she said this there would be no music to him in the sauntering voice, nor any thrill in the contact of her lips, her hands, like silk creeping to his neck. He wanted to put them from him—to fling, maddened, through shut teeth: "Petra, can't you see this is killing me? Let it be, will you? Let it be!"

He had sometimes the unreasonable feeling that if he were once to thrust her from him—to shout: "Petra, leave us alone!"—that he would be free again; he would be separated from the ignominy of this job. Her love put a seal on his treason and it shamed him to the soul.

He would have bowed down in an agony of worship if she had turned from him, scorned him or if she had once said: "Oh, I don't want you now—you aren't even a man"—

But on this very night, after he had gone through his work in a frightful depression of spirit, seeing alternately the smirk on Dunlap's face, the reproach in Joan's eyes, but more tearing than either, Katy, lying pale and listless for all that she tried so mightily to smile—this night Petra had a surprise for him.

She came in radiant—ripe gold as summer itself—hair tossed high, long jade earrings. She sat beside him on the sofa, woolng him with her eyes, her mouth. "See now what it means to be my own darling, sensible Dendiddle!"

She drew a card from her belt, held it before him. His pulses stopped.

Petra had spoken several times of this. He had laughed and evaded. Now it was done. She had in her hand the little engraved betrothal cards and their two names linked.

He sat trembling, speechless, alarm sending a faint moistness to his forehead, his neck.

"Like them, Dendiddle? Aren't they adorable!"

"It's rather sudden, isn't it, Petra?"

She stared at him, mystified, and the radiance dropped from her face. She got up quickly, walked over to a table, stood there motionless, her back to him.

He saw her hand at her throat, her body trembling. He went over and put his hand on hers pressing it down against the table. She didn't resist him, but kept her eyes lowered. The lashes were wet.

"I didn't mean it that way, Petra." He spoke gently, but his voice was rough with a desperate fear and anguish. It couldn't be now—not when Katy needed him so piercingly. Not now—couldn't Petra see that?

After a long while and he had drawn her to him, pleaded, she said quietly: "All right, Diddle, we'll wait a little longer."

He went away feeling that weights hung from his shoulders, and her soft arms were hot thongs squeezing the breath and the life from him. That night the fragrance of her hair loitered in his senses. It stifled him.

He kept hearing her say: "You're sensible now, my own darling Dendiddle—sensible!" It was the same as Dunlap whispering, "Congratulations!"

He wouldn't hear this — wouldn't listen. He wanted someone to say "It's shameful—shameful! What else could you do?" Someone who had watched and loved the white fire of his young ideals and would now weep because they were ashes.

The next afternoon he went to John Merchant's office, stopping with apparent unconcern before Miss Blanche Taylor's desk.

"Oh, say, Mr. Brooks," she began gibly, "I was going to ring you up tonight. What do you think your steno's doing now? Can you imagine it? Charlie Evans told me this morning. Think of it—dancing at Techau's!"

"Miss Lewis?"

"Yes. Just imagine! Charley says she's a bear!"

A gust of fire let loose in his face wouldn't have affronted him more savagely. "Well— is that so?" he answered, and walked off.

Was this why Joan had avoided him? Dancing in a cafe—what had driven her to this? He remembered suddenly the little sister coming that afternoon to the chemistry building—Joan, getting up in a swift panic—leaving. She had danced before.

But why had Dunlap brought up her name in that incriminating way? Chance?

But he would see Joan — more sweeping than any fear, any suspicion was this certainty. He would hear the fine, clear voice—see the eager trust in her eyes . . .

He went to the cafe in a moist violence of excitement. It was late—the tables crowded. He saw little—heard little till presently the orchestra drew out a weird, haunting strain—a tensity tightened the silence. People were sitting forward.

He saw and the heart in him stood still, Joan—was this Joan—this brilliant thing in black with sweeping wings of gold and long arms swaying in maddening grace? Flame licked through him.

He wanted to cry out her name—to rush up and hide in his arms. He could have driven his fists against the men who sat about him, watching greedily, their faces glowing. It was frightful to him.

Then he saw her long, white throat, the intense paller of her face, sharply drawn, beautiful — warmly beautiful as he had never seen it before. He wanted then to say: "God, Joan, don't do that! Come away from here, come away!"

He stood up, unaware that he was standing. And Joan saw. Cheeks and throat stained like blood on a white petal. Her arms, just then extended, stiffened; she closed her eyes but not till he had thought to see a torture, an agony leaping in them.

It was over, people, leaving. She passed from the platform swiftly to the aisle. He stepped before her.

A moment she paused, looking at him, a piercing sadness trembling over her face. She shook her head, a despairing gesture passed.

LINCOLN MINE BUILDINGS GO; CALEDONIA

Pumps Save Two Hundred-Foot Trestle Near Whitewater

CAN'T CONTROL FIRE; REDUCE THE CREWS

Barometer Falling and Rain May Come in Day or So

Advices tonight from Kaslo are that the attempt to fully control the Whitewater fire is being relinquished, the fire guards so far having been wasted. The end toward Kaslo is under control, but elsewhere the decision has about been reached to let the fire burn itself out, and the crews have been reduced.

Mine Crews Stand Ready

Should the fire turn back to Whitewater, Whitewater mines limited have a crew and modern equipment at their newly built camp to protect it, while M. S. Davys has a crew to protect the mills of Metals Recovery, limited. The barometer is falling, with probability of rain in another 24 hours, and back-firing is being considered at the Whitewater end.

A two-room cabin, occupied for the last two summers by Mr. and Mrs. George McCready of the Caledonia mine, has been burned, though the couple saved the contents. It was situated about 100 yards from the C.P.R track.

The empty buildings of the Lincoln mine, half a mile up Spring creek, including cabins, ore sorting shed, blacksmith shop and stables, have also been wiped out. The Lincoln was last worked three years ago by W. H North, Jack Thompson and A. L McPhee on a lease.

Big Trestle on Fire

A huge trestle on the C.P.R.'s Kaslo and Nakusp branch, near Whitewater, caught fire yesterday, and the fire pumps were brought into use on it. It is a couple of hundred feet long and exceptionally high, bridging a deep ravine.

EXTENSIONS AT TRAIL UTILIZE THE NEW JUICE

First Unit of New Zinc Plant, Last Unit of Lead Additions

With power from the newly installed and tested No. 1 unit of the new power plant at Lower Bonnington lately completed by the West Kootenay Power & Light company, part of the big plant additions at Trail have gone into operation, S. G. Blaylock, general manager of the Consolidated Mining & Smelting Company of Canada, stated last night over the long-distance telephone.

Use Five Thousand Horse

The new plants brought in comprise the first unit of the new zinc plant, with a capacity of 20 tons of refined zinc a day, its power consumption being 3500 horse-power, and the final unit of the lead refinery, with a capacity of 50 tons of refined lead a day, using 1500 horse-power.

In its tests, the Bonnington unit was run up to 7000 horse-power.

VANCOUVER DRIVER HITS TRANSFER BUS

Cars Damaged in Vernon Street Collision; Drivers Unmarked

A might-have-been serious accident occurred at the corner of Falls and Vernon streets last night at about 9:45 when the big Chevrolet bus was struck by a Dodge special driven by J. H. Bennett of Vancouver.

Mr. Bennett was on his way to the post office to mail a letter, and he states that a car was in front of him, and from the cloud of dust raised from the car ahead he was unable to see the Transfer bus coming until it was almost upon him. He was not on the right side of the road, and if he had not done some quick thinking someone might have been seriously injured.

Stops to Avoid Going Over

Bennett turned quickly across the path of the Transfer bus, and if it had not have been for the steep bank below him the accident would not have occurred. On seeing the bank, he applied his brakes and the bus and his car collided. The bus was driven by Dave Proudfoot, and had no passengers in it at the time.

Much damage was done to both cars, but the drivers received no injuries. The right front wheel of the Transfer bus was completely smashed, and the front axle badly bent.

The car owned by J. H. Bennett was a 1925 Dodge, special, and took the brunt of the accident. The right front fender was badly smashed, the right running board was torn off the car, both the right side doors were dented and the front axle was badly bent. The curtain window glass on the rear left side was broken from the jar of the accident.

HELD RESPONSIBLE FOR LAD'S DEATH

MONTREAL, July 3.—Because he neglected to cover a manhole through which snow was being dumped into a sewer last January, D. Gervais today was held by a coroner's jury criminally responsible for the death of Douglas Dillon, aged 7, who fell into the sewer and was drowned.

SEVENTY FIRES IN WEEKLY BULLETIN

Thirty-two Still Burning; Whitewater Alone Under Control

During the period of June 23 to July 3, 70 fires in the southern interior district were reported to the forestry branch, according to the weekly report just issued by R. C. St. Clair, district forester. At the present time 32 are still burning, but all these, with the one exception of the Whitewater fire, are under control. To date this year 256 fires have been reported to the department in southeastern British Columbia, which takes in the three old districts of Vernon, Cranbrook and Nelson.

Low humidity conditions have prevailed for the week, and electric storms have set many of the fires.

"Indications are that humidity will remain low and that during the coming week, and possibly for a longer period, we shall experience very hazardous fire weather. All persons using fire in the open should exercise extreme caution." Mr. St. Clair stated in this report.

CHERRY-PICKING BEAR REPORTED

Tyner Family Observe One Strip Tree on Ranch of Dr. Wolverton

A cherry-picking bear is reported from Willow Point, or rather from Four-Mile.

Rev. J. E. Tyner and family, who are occupying the Wolverton residence, in the absence of Dr. N. Wolverton and his family at the coast, have seen a bear make two or three visits to the ranch. On the last occasion it went to a cherry tree for a meal, stripped the tree of cherries, and also pretty much of branches.

Bruin was quite at home in the vicinity of the house, and felt at his ease when engaged in his raid on the cherries.

Ninety Registered; Barometer Falling

A maximum of 90, and a minimum of 47, the highest minimum temperature to date, marked yesterday's weather. While these are the official temperatures, one thermometer in the shade on Baker street registered 99 at 4:30 yesterday afternoon.

The barometer was falling last night, according to J. S. Goulding, local meteorologist, and the probabilities are for rain, but not for today.

Nelson Ball Nine Is R'aring to Go; Rossland Coming

The Nelson ball nine held its final practice Thursday night before meeting the Rossland team here tomorrow afternoon.

Manager R. E. Kirby states that the local team have had an excellent practice this week, what with the game with Ione, Wash., on Dominion day, and will turn out tomorrow to reverse the score piled up on them last Sunday by the Rossland team at Rossland. A record crowd is expected from Trail and Rossland.

'Lost' Cats Play Havoc on Game in Victoria Woods

VICTORIA, July 3.—A horde of abandoned house cats, deliberately taken to the woods to be "lost," is giving considerable trouble to game wardens and others on lower Vancouver Island.

As neither cats nor the game board have regulations to cover the point, the abandonment of stray cats continues to the serious detriment of game bird fledglings on which the hungry felines feed. Special traps to catch them have taken only slight toll of their ranks.

Freighter Burns to Water's Edge; Crew Landed in Safety

CORNWALL, Ont., July 3.—A crew of 20 persons, including two women were forced to take to small boats when the freighter Fred Mercier, caught fire about four miles above Cornwall, at 5:30 this morning and burned to the water's edge. The crew were all landed safely with the assistance of boats from shore.

HAGEN AND HALE DEFEAT PEG PAIR

WINNIPEG, July 3. — Walter Hagen, United States professional, partnered with Frank Hale, defeated Jack Cuthbert and Ernest Penfold, local players, in an 18-hole golf match here this afternoon, 3 up and 2 to play.

Hagen played par golf for the 18 holes, scoring a 72 on the links of the Winnipeg Golf club.

Ford Motor Company Opens New Assembly Wing Australia

DETROIT, July 3.—The Ford Motor Company of Canada, limited, through its subsidiary companies in Australia, has taken over the assembly division of its products in that Dominion. The new wing of the Canadian motor business is capitalized at £3,000,000. Establishment of the Australian company gives the Canadian concern its second subsidiary organization overseas, the other being in Port Elizabeth, South Africa.

University of Toronto Calls for Tenders for Large Artificial Rink

TORONTO, July 3. — The directors of the University of Toronto Athletic association have decided to call for tenders for the erection of an artificial ice rink on ground owned by the university, to be built in time for the opening of the 1925-26 hockey season.

Four Dead in Level Crossing Smash at Spokane

SPOKANE, July 3.—Four persons are dead and another was reported dying as the result of a collision between their automobile and a Spokane & Inland Empire train at the crossing 20 miles southeast of here this morning.

Mrs. Henry Olson, 35; her son, Hans, 3; Miss Vera Frye, a neighbor, 16; and Anne Frans, 2-year-old daughter of another neighbor, are dead, and John Olson, 5-year-old son of Mrs. Olson, was reported dying.

Mrs. Olson was driving the car on the way to Freeman from the Olson ranch, three miles south of that town.

Two Lost Fishermen Row Into Port in Exhausted State

ST. JOHN'S, Nfld., July 3.—Two fishermen, Robert Dummry and Austin Antle, who went adrift in a dory from their vessel, the Grace Bouchner, of Louisburg, N. S., on Tuesday last, rowed into port today in an exhausted condition, but otherwise none the worse for their experience. On Wednesday the men ran into a gale which taxed their strength and skill to the utmost. On arrival here there was neither food nor water in their dory.

Steamer Arctic Followed by Jinx; Radio Power Quits

L'ISLET, Que., July 3. — The jinx that has followed the Canadian government steamer Arctic since it began to prepare for its twentieth voyage into the Arctic circle is still hanging around the craft. Twice within 48 hours the machinery that supplies the power for the radio equipment has burned out.

Pleads Guilty to Home Bank Theft; Gets Fifteen Months

TORONTO, July 3.—Ross A. Boyd pleaded guilty to theft of $5000 from the Dominion bank and was sentenced to 15 months in the Ontario reformatory and an indeterminate period of 12 months. Boyd, who was located in Baltimore, was a cashier in the employ of the bank for six years. The thefts covered a period of several years.

TWIN CITIES GO TO LOW MARK

TORONTO, July 3. — The principal feature of today's stock market was the recession in Twin City shares. A 2-point recession to 65¾ occurred today, and the stock closed at the low mark of the day. Smelters was steady at 84½ to 84¾.

Banks were strong. Commerce moved up ½, to 205; Dominion was ¾ stronger, at 200½; Montreal was at 246½, and Royal at 235.

Other changes: Atlantic Sugar common, up ½; Barcelona, off ¼; Bell Telephone, off ¼; F. N. Burt, off ½; Brompton, off ⅝ on an odd lot; Steamships preferred, off ⅜; City Dairy common, up ⅝; Crow's Nest, up 3; Industrial Alcohol, off ⅜; Mackay common, off 1; Steel of Canada common, up ⅞.

Meighen Stands Four-Square

Asked by the member for Brantford whether, if successful at the coming election, he would raise the duty on agricultural implements, Mr. Meighen replied, "Undoubtedly I would, and I say so unhesitatingly."

Knowing that a policy which would prevent the exportation to the United States of pulpwood would be unpopular with very many small producers in Quebec, Ontario and the maritime provinces, he nevertheless declared himself as prepared to put such a policy into operation if returned to power.

No one has ever been in doubt as to where Mr. Meighen stands on the policy of protection. In the session of 1919-20, under Premier Borden, he was selected to enunciate the government's fiscal policy, and when he was through, no one could then misunderstand the position of the Conservative administration.

On every occasion since that the tariff has been under discussion, whether he was premier or leader of the opposition, whether he was in the house facing opponents who would like him to equivocate, or prairie audiences demanding removal of duties, or maritime voters urging reciprocity with the United States, he has been clear-cut and straightforward in declaring for thorough-going, whole-souled protection.

Mr. Meighen's intention of restoring the protection on agricultural implements taken off by the King government is not a bait to win many votes on the prairies, in the farmers' present state of mind, which does not seem to see the great possibilities for Canadian farms in building up an industrial population.

His view that American checks for Canadian pulpwood should be replaced by American checks for Canadian manufactured pulp or paper, of many times the size, will lose him votes of the border farmers in Quebec.

But Mr. Meighen is not out to curry favor with this group or that, his appeal is not to groups, but to the Canadian people. He stands four-square on a policy that means new industries, larger payrolls, the maintenance in Canada of an industrial population that we now support abroad, with a protected home market for the farmers as well as for everybody else.

Those now in the seats of the mighty, balancing themselves precariously on the edge of nothing stable, promising the farmers one session a low tariff, with a first installment in hand, next session standing pat on the enormous damage done and hoping to hold the east still in line; following a policy of expediency solely, the side that can muster most pressure at a given time being the one to be yielded ground—those Liberal statesmen must envy the Conservatives and the Conservative chieftain their simple, easily enunciated, always-known policy.

That policy is the policy of building up Canada by assuring to all industries, always including agriculture, a secure home market, by a sufficient tariff barrier to neutralize the advantage foreign competitors may have of a vast home market and mass production; the stringent application of anti-dumping regulations that will prevent the demoralization of the Canadian market by unwanted surplus foreign stocks thrown at Canada on a sacrifice basis, and the retention of such Canadian raw materials and natural resources as can be utilized on Canadian soil to immense advantage and that must be had by our neighbor to the south in either the natural or the worked-up form.

Fielding's Annuity

The decision of the government to grant Hon. W. S. Fielding, minister of finance, an annuity of $10,000, is pretty conclusive evidence that the veteran cabinet minister is to retire, and with his passing from public life, the capital will lose one of its most noted figures. For nearly two years he has been unable to attend to the duties of office, and the time has come when even his indomitable spirit must bow to the inevitable.—Calgary Albertan.

Why need a sewing room be painful to the sight? Why need it necessarily expose to full view its ugly dressform, its sewing machine, its cutting table and its ironing board? The housekeeper who decorates her sewing room artistically will find that she uses it frequently for other purposes than sewing—for the "specially private" corner in which to chat with her dearest woman friend, for an hour's "read" with a good novel, sometimes as an additional bedroom in which to put an unexpected guest. I am going to describe what I consider The Ideal Sewing Room:

If the room has a northern exposure its color scheme is buff and a warm orange; but if sunny a cool gray-and-old-blue is best. The floor is painted and varnished, and almost entirely covered with a washable rug of the patterned-linoleum type. If the room has no closet in which to hide the dress form, when "she" is not actually in use, then one corner is curtained off for this purpose.

A large bookcase is an indispensable piece of furniture. Its shelves are covered with a cretonne curtain, behind which one finds the porcupine-like pincushion, the patterns, an electric iron and holder, and all those other odds and ends which offend the eyes in the average sewing room. Attached to one end of this bookcase is an ironing board (on hinges) which can be propped with a stick when in use, but which hangs down flat against the bookcase when not in use. Obviously, the bookcase must stand near an electric light plug or fixture, for the iron's use.

The sewing machine may be hidden in two ways; either by a screen stood around it, or as follows: Hang a mirror on the wall. Beneath this mirror stand an open-faced packing case which is entirely covered with cretonne and which has a cretonne front curtain. When not in use, the machine slips into the packing case, the curtain drops over it—and presto! We have simply a dressing table with its wall mirror. Two candlesticks stood on the case will complete the delusion.

The rest of the furniture consists of: a couch heaped with pillows, two easy chairs, one straight chair, a small table which will hold a tea tray when the tired sewer needs refreshment, and a pier-glass. The cutting table, of the folding type, is kept in the closet.

That Body of Yours

By JAMES W. BARTON, M.D.

A Cause of Headache

That miserable one-sided headache, migraine, from which many people, more especially women, suffer, has been found to be due in many cases to a distended gall bladder.

As you know, many of these cases get relief from the old-fashioned treatment of calomel and salts.

French scientists investigating the condition found that the gall bladder had simply quit work. It was distended with bile, which gradually thickened. They attributed the condition to a shock of some kind, which prevented the nerve supplying the gall bladder from acting, and so the gall bladder remained practically inactive for the time being. The bile thus became stagnant and an infection was set up, just as an infection can start elsewhere in the body when there is no activity.

If the lungs or the intestine were not active, it would not be long before trouble would start in them.

By draining the gall bladder by means of a tube down the throat, they have been able to relieve these severe cases of migraine in a day or two. Sometimes it is necessary to repeat the drainage every few weeks to get permanent relief.

One of the best things that could have happened to our women folk was doing away with the high corset.

There is no question but that this heavy steel brace about the liver, which limited respiration, prevented the diaphragm from striking the liver real lively blows, and hence the liver and gall bladder were not given the activity required to keep them in good working order. Was it any wonder, therefore, that gallstones were found more frequently in women than in men, the proportion being four to one?

Now all this brings us back to some of our old conclusions, that where there is inactivity or sluggishness in a part, trouble is likely to start.

When that body of yours was created with its tremendous covering of muscle, it was meant to work. The body doesn't need all that muscle just to cover or move the bones. By working or exercising all these muscles every organ and tissue gets work to do, and thus are kept in good condition. A few minutes daily, in addition to a good walk, will be sufficient.

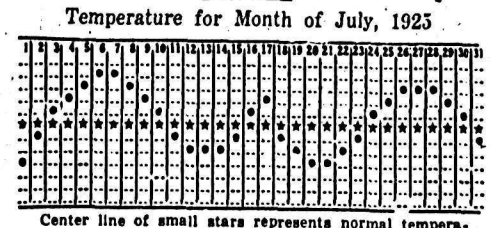
Foster's Weekly Weather Bulletin

Temperature for Month of July, 1925



Center line of small stars represents normal temperature for the month, while round dots show the predicted variation.

WASHINGTON, July 4. — I expect following conditions on July 4: Low barometer of storm wave of July 2 is expected to be over the St. Lawrence valley, but will not have sufficient strength to relieve the high pressure area prevailing over the South Atlantic and East Gulf. Cool wave will cover great central valleys, northwest and west of Rockies; above normal temperatures south and southwest. Showers expected along Canadian border, Great Lakes region, Atlantic coast and northern cotton belt east of Louisiana. General outlook is hot and dry. Few localities will receive the proverbial fourth of July rains. Period of July 4 to 11 will be one of rising temperatures to excessive heat, terminating in severe electrical storms near 11, which storms are expected to be accompanied by high winds. This will be one of the danger periods to spring wheat and corn sections, probably carrying hot winds far north near July 9. July 11 is the central date of what I consider one of the most dangerous storm periods of the season, and were other conditions normal, I would expect this period to bring excessive rains over North America. Under existing conditions, however, I expect storm forces of July to take the form of heat, electrical displays and high winds; heat to precede storm waves, electrical display to accompany storm waves in their transcontinental progression and high winds to prevail between low barometer of storm wave and prevailing high barometer of each period. Storm wave of July 11 is not expected to reach far south, but will probably head for the Great Lakes after reaching mid-latitudes. Cool wave following this storm wave will be of short duration, temperatures returning to above normal preceding storm wave of July 22.

Children Pray for Relief From Scorpion Plague

DURANGO, Mex., July 3.—Five thousand children attended a special mass in the cathedral here recently, when prayers were offered for a cessation of the plague of scorpions which has invaded this district.

From the thousands of dead insects which have been brought in to the municipal authorities attempts are being made to produce a serum against the poisonous sting of the hairy creature. Ten thousand live scorpions have been shipped to the federal department of health.

The fact that a majority of the poorer class houses in Durango and nearby villages are constructed of adobe bricks and unplastered, is believed to account for the plague, as the cracks between the bricks offer ideal breeding places. Another theory is that myriads of scorpions have been driven from the nearby hills by the recent earthquakes.

WHEN you draw up your family budget, do you set a stated percentage of your income aside for life insurance protection? If so, how much? Is it anywhere near adequate?

Life Insurance should provide protection not only for children while they are dependent but for the assured's old age.

It is not an easy matter to determine how much insurance a man should carry in proportion to his income, his expenses and his family responsibilities. That's a matter upon which you may need professional advice. Mutual agents are equipped to give well considered counsel in such matters.

VANCOUVER HAS TENNIS CRAZE

Players Gather From All Parts of Canada for Lawn Play

VANCOUVER, July 3.—(By Canadian Press)—Every province in Canada with the exception of New Brunswick and Prince Edward Island, will be represented here Monday, when the first round of the Canadian lawn tennis championships gets under way at the Vancouver Lawn Tennis club.

The official list, which closed last night, shows more than 65 outside entries, including many crack players from eastern Canada, the Pacific coast states, and as far away as the Hawaiian islands and Australia, bringing together the greatest gathering of tennis enthusiasts in the history of the game in British Columbia. The entry list is featured by a large number of women players.

Nova Scotia will be represented by one lone player, Miss Symonds of Halifax, while the Hawaiian islands will depend upon Miss T. Moriwake. H. Malcolm is a lone entrant from Australia.

Quebec, Ontario and the prairie provinces are sending strong contingents, while California, whose official list has not yet arrived, is expected to loom large during the week's play. Seattle is well represented with 10 players. Victoria, B.C., furnishes the largest outside individual list, 14 players coming over from the capital. The province of British Columbia as a whole will have nearly 50 entrants, at least 25 playing under the colors of various Vancouver clubs.

SPORTSMAN ASKS PRINCE FOR TIP

"The Prince Wishes He Knew," Is Reply to Question on Durban Races

LONDON, July 3.—Evidently the Prince of Wales, who sometimes backs a winner at the race courses, has received no inside information as to which horse is likely to win the Durban July handicap which is to be run tomorrow in South Africa.

An Exchange Telegraph dispatch from Capetown says a Kimberley sportsman named Nieuwoudt, thinking that His Royal Highness probably had obtained a tip, sent him the following telegram:

"Be sporty and wire me the winner of the July handicap."

Today Nieuwoudt received this message from Vice-Admiral Sir Lionel Halsey, a member of the entourage of the prince, who is now visiting Rhodesia:

"The prince wishes he knew."

FEWER CANADIANS CROSS BOUNDARY

Settlers' Effects Exported, Show Heavy Decline; Imports Increase

OTTAWA, July 3.—Drift of Canadian settlers south—so far as is indicated by the value of settlers' effects exported—is declining. The Canadian government does not keep statistics of out-going Canadians, but the value of settlers' effect both outgoing and in-coming is recorded.

These, as given by the Dominion bureau of statistics for the year ending May, show a heavy decline in settlers' effects exported to the United States as compared with the previous 12 months. At the same time, settlers' effects imported from the United States show an increase.

Settlers' effects exported to the United States in the 12 months ending May were $6,406,711; in the corresponding year previous, $9,624,114. Settlers' effects imported from the United States were in the year ending May $5,208,945; in the corresponding year previous, $4,880,118.

NOLIN AND CLARK ARE NOMINATED

SASKATOON, July 3. — J. O. Nolin, Meota, sitting member, and Fred M. Clark, Meadow Lake, were nominated today to contest the Ile La Crosse constituency for the provincial legislature. Cumberland riding nominations will be held at a later date. These two constituencies are the most northerly in the province. Nominations are late owing to heavy rains, which practically put a stop to communications in the north.

Elections Talk Is 'All Nonsense,' States Veniot

FREDERICTON, N.B., July 3.—"All nonsense," was the comment of Hon. P. J. Veniot, premier of New Brunswick, referring to a Montreal Gazette news item in which it was forecast that federal elections would take place the latter part of September and that the New Brunswick provincial elections would be delayed until the Dominion results were known.

INDIANS STAGE WEIRD DANCE MACLEOD CITY

Five Thousand Whites Watch Massed Tribes Spectacular Display

MACLEOD, July 3.—Five thousand white people stood back in awe here yesterday afternoon when the massed tribes of plains Indians who are encamped around MacLeod, rode into town and staged their spectacular mounted war dance. For half an hour the air fairly rocked with their thundering yells. The plaintive wails of their women folk, the patter of horses' hoofs and the deep, dull thundering of their tom-toms. This spectacular dance, which is one of the most thrilling ceremonies in Indian lore, was never known to the white man except through the paintings of Frederick Remington.

Chant War Strain

Squint-eyed, hooked-nosed warriors, their faces painted yellow and red, their naked bodies blistering like new copper under a bright Alberta sun, came tearing into the center of their ceremony ground with their scalp sticks flying high above their feathered heads. They galloped madly toward a group of 12 braves who stood in a circle pounding their tom-toms and chanting a dolorous war strain. With their horses swaying dangerously to one side, they sped around and around this group of singers forming a flying, thundering circle of dust and horse flesh. As they raced they whooped and yelled themselves into a warlike frenzy. Then when they had worked themselves up to the bursting point of savage wrath, they sprang from the backs of their flying mounts and leaped through one of the most formidable dances ever witnessed outside of the realm of actual Indian warfare.

As the Blood and Blackfoot Indians danced, their former enemies, the Stoney-Sioux, Crees and Assiniboines stood looking quietly on with unreadable countenances. A few hundred yards away a Canadian Pacific railway train snaked its way down across the plains toward Lethbridge, serving as the one silent reminder that the drama of the plains is passing.

National Body Takes Up Matter Home Bank Claims

TORONTO, July 3.—A plan to make easier the way of approach to the exchequer court of Canada by depositors in the Home bank of Canada of more than $500, and who, by reason of straitened circumstances will have a claim under the Dominion government's bill for reimbursement, has been arranged by the national committee.

I. E. Waldon, one of the bank liquidators and secretary of the national committee of depositors, said the counsel representing the depositors and accompanied by himself, will go to Ottawa early next week and take up with the judge and registrar of the exchequer court of Canada and counsel representing the Dominion government ways and means whereby depositors of $500 and over entitled to payment under the government's bill may receive payment for their amounts without going to the expense of employing special counsel to present the case in court.

Presbyterians Make Appeal International Peace; Cardiff Meeting

CARDIFF, Wales, July 3.—The quadriennial meeting of the council of the Alliance of Presbyterian churches, closed here today with an appeal for international peace.

A resolution was unanimously adopted, asking all Presbyterian churches to support the League of Nations as a fitting peace agency. Presbyterian participation in a world alliance for the promotion of friendship was requested. Confidence was expressed in the League of Nations permanent court of international justice.

The Rt. Rev. James Nicoll Ogilvie of Edinburgh, Scotland, was installed as the new president of the alliance.

TORONTO, July 3.—J. Franklin Browne, of West Virginia, who in a few days will celebrate his 75th birthday, is taking a summer course in astronomy at the University of Toronto. He took his B.A., at Salem college, West Virginia, just last spring. He is a native of New Brunswick.

McCLINTOCK'S WILL PROBATE ADJOURNED

CHICAGO, July 3. — Application for admission to probate of the will in which Billy McClintock made William Darling Shepherd the chief beneficiary of a $1,000,000 estate, was postponed late today until July 9. The hearing was set for tomorrow morning when it came before Henry Horner, judge of the probate court, yesterday.

JOURNALISTS LEAVE ENGLAND FOR CANADA

LONDON, July 3.—(Canadian Press Cable) — Major J. J. Astor, M.P., chairman of the Times Publishing company, honorary treasurer of the Empire Press union, and Lady Violet Astor, Sir Percival Phillips, special correspondent of the London Daily Mail, Sir Edward Iliffe, M.P., chairman of Iliffe & Sons limited, publishers of trade and technical journals, and other members of the Imperial Press conference, which is to meet in Melbourne, Australia, on September 1, are now on their way to Canada.

The main body of delegates to the press conference will sail on the Empress of France on July 11.

MINERS NAME THEIR TERMS

Ask Wage Increase; Two-Year Contract; Union Recognition

SCRANTON, July 3.—The 158,000 anthracite miners decided upon terms they will serve upon the mine owners for the renewal of the contract expiring August 31. They announced negotiations would open at Atlantic City, on July 9 at 2 p.m.

A 10 per cent wage increase for tonnage men, with an additional $1 a day for day workers, a two-year contract and "complete union recognition" described as another way of saying "check off" featured the demands which were drawn up by the scale convention as a whole.

Each and all this arrowhead trio of stipulations to be served to the operators on July 9 are understood on good authority to be wholly unacceptable to them.

Andrew Mattey, veteran president of district seven, had this in mind when just before adjournment, sine die he said: "A suspension will take place."

He added that in his belief a walkout would be forced by the operators as a means of bettering marketing of coal now in storage.

Poured Acid on His Wife; Committed to Trial for Murder

WINNIPEG, July 3.—Maurice Desmidt, alleged wife murderer, was committed to trial at the fall assize court following a preliminary hearing in the provincial police court.

Desmidt is alleged to have killed his wife by pouring acid over her as she lay in bed. Three of his children, Jean, Alberta and Remi, gave evidence that they were awakened by their mother's screams and that she told them their father had tried to poison her with some kind of acid. She died the next day in a hospital.

Earl of Oxford Is Defeated in Race for Chancellorship

LONDON, July 2. — The Earl of Oxford and Asquith has been defeated in his candidacy for the chancellorship of Oxford university, a post made vacant through the death of Lord Curzon of Keddleston.

It appeared that the Liberal leader in the house of lords, notwithstanding his political leanings, would have a walkover. Quite recently, however, to the surprise of the general public, a new candidate appeared in Viscount Cave, lord high chancellor, and in the polling today Lord Cave won the victory with 937 votes against 441 for the Earl of Oxford.

W. C. McCann, Brantford, was killed by a fall off a Canadian National railways roundhouse there.

Charles E. Hughes is mentioned for the presidency of the University of Chicago.

By AL DEMAREE
(Former Pitcher, N.Y. Giants)

The late Harry Pullman, when he was president of the National league, had a card on his desk which said: "Never Take Anything for Granted in Baseball."

The Boston Braves proved the truth of that statement in the 1914 campaign. On the fourth of July, they were in absolutely last place. It didn't look as though they had a chance in the world of getting out of the cellar.

I remember Dick Rudolph saying to Larry Doyle of the Giants that they had a better ball team than their position showed, and expected to win a few more games. "Don't kid yourself," said Larry. "You'll be right down where you belong at the end of the season."

Well, everybody knows how the Braves made baseball history that season. They won the pennant, finishing 11 full games ahead of the Giants, and walloped the Athletics for four straight games.

That was in 1914—on July fourth. Is there any chance of history repeating itself this year? Figure it out for yourself.

SUZANNE WINS CHAMPIONSHIP AT WIMBLEDON

Sixth Victory; Americans Win Doubles From the French Players

WIMBLEDON, July 3.—The all-English tennis tournament brought forth the expected and the unexpected. Suzanne Langlen did what had been expected, when she captured the women's singles for the sixth time since 1919 by defeating the young English girl, Joan Frey, 6-2, 6-0. The United States doubles pair, Ray Casey, California, and J. Hennessey of Indiana, accomplished the unexpected when they overthrew the favorites in the men's doubles semi-final, Jacques Brugnon and Henri Cochet of France, 7-5, 5-7, 9-7 and 6-4 and entered the final against Borotra and Lacoste, also of France.

Suzanne Waits

The stroke analysis shows that Suzanne won 52 points to Miss Fry's 23 in the two sets played.

Miss Fry's service, together with a deep forehand drive were her best strokes. She did not serve any double faults.

Tomorrow's program includes the final in the men's singles between Borotra and Lacoste and the final in the women's doubles between Suzanne Lenglen and Miss Elizabeth Ryan, and Mrs. Bridge and Mrs. McIlquham, as well as the semi-final in the mixed doubles between Baron De Morphurg of Italy and Miss Ryan and J. D. B. Wheatley and Mrs. Chambers.

Sir Tom Wins Pacific Coast Yacht Laurels

VICTORIA, July 3.—Sir Tom, Ted Geary's Seattle yacht, many times north Pacific champion, carried off the championship for the whole Pacific coast Thursday at the international regatta by winning the second race of the series of three over the local 12-mile course. As the Sir Tom also won yesterday, she is now again winner of the Lipton cup, north Pacific trophy, and in addition, for the first time, of the Pacific Coast Yachting association cup, emblematic of the coast laurels.

SOMERVILLE CARRICK GO INTO FINALS

Somerville Easy Win Over Cameron; Carrick Had Great Battle With Scott

ROYAL OTTAWA GOLF CLUB, Ottawa, July 3.—The final round of the Canadian amateur golf tournament was reached here today with C. Ross Somerville of London Hunt club, and D. D. Carrick of Scarboro Golf club, Toronto, the contestants for the 1925 title. Both are university of Toronto athletes. The final round will be played tomorrow morning.

Somerville had an easy victor over J. A. Cameron, of the Rivermead club, Ottawa, in the penuitimate round today, the match ending on the 30th green with last year's runner-up seven to the good.

The triumph of Carrick, who is the Canadian junior champion over Norman M. Scott of Royal Montreal, was less decisive, however, and the 36th green was reached before Carrick got the decision. Carrick, apparently beaten in the morning round when he was three down, rallied in the afternoon and squared the match at the 29th. The next six were halved and then came the memorable 36th which ended one of the most sensational uphill fights of championship. The 36th is the longest hole, measuring 565 yards and pars at five. Carrick had raised his ball to within 10 feet of the cup on the elevated green, Scott's third carrying over the back stop, 20 feet from the pin. Scott made a gallant effort to chip into the hole from his poor position, but the ball bounded over, leaving Carrick a 10-foot putt to win the hole with a birdie four. It was a tense moment around the club when Carrick set himself to the task of breaking a deadlock which had stayed with them for six holes. The junior champion's ball went straight into the hole, and the thousand or more spectators cheered Carrick to the echo.

Golf of both Carrick and Scott was brilliant throughout.

In the afternoon round Carrick made the course in one under par, and was two under par for the last nine holes. Five times in the afternoon Scott rimmed the cup with long putts of 15 feet or so. He was very steady in his short game.

Somerville was much too good for Cameron and was much steadier. Cameron never seemed to properly recover from his weak start when he topped his ball on the initial shot of the day. The ball landed in a ditch below the tee and it cost him three to get out. Cameron finally conceded the hole when he encountered further trouble on the right of the green, where some repair work is being done.

It was a close match, however, until the 14th was reached in the morning, Cameron having the lead twice in a ding-dong battle. After the 14th, where they were all square, a succession of bad putts and a drive into the bunker on the 16th spelled Cameron's downfall and he lost the four holes of the morning round. His afternoon game showed no improvement, his putting being lamentably weak.

HOOVER LOSES TO BERESFORD HENLEY RACE

American Beaten by Three Lengths by English Oarsman

HENLEY, July 3.—The sensation of today in the elimination heats of the diamond sculls competition was the defeat of Walter Hoover, of Philadelphia, by Jack Beresford Jr., holder of the trophy. The Englishman won by three lengths in the semi-final heat. His time was 8 minutes 27 seconds.

The United States oarsman was a strong favorite to wind, and his downfall created a sensation.

Beresford will now defend the trophy against D. H. Gollan, of the Leander club, who today won from H. P. Detton, France, in the other semi-final.

Hoover Disappointed

After the race, Hoover said he was disappointed over his failure. At the same time, however, he paid a sporting tribute to Beresford.

"I rowed better than I really knew how, and, in a nutshell, Beresford rowed better than that," said Hoover.

It is understood that Beresford will not defend his title to the Philadelphia gold cup which both Hoover and Gollan will compete for the trophy. A definite statement will be made tomorrow after the final in the diamond sculls.

Pre-Holiday Profit Taking; Forced Liquidation Engulfs Stock Market

NEW YORK, July 3. — A wave of pre-holiday profit-taking and forced liquidation in connection with the failure of a large stock exchange house engulfed today's stock market, turning prices downward.

The most severe losses of the day were recorded by stocks which were subjected to selling "under the rule," following announcement of the failure on the stock exchange.

Stewart-Warner broke about 6 points to 60, but subsequently rallied to 64¼ at the close. Other shares which were depressed by the failure included Sears-Roebuck, Pullman, Willys-Overland, Chicago Yellow Cab, Nash Motors and Reynolds Spring.

In the rails, New York Central was pushed up 1⅜, to 117¼, and Southern Railway sold as high as 99.

Call loans after renewing at 4½ per cent, dropped to 4 per cent at the close. Time money and commercial paper unchanged.

Total sales—1,368,600 shares.

WHEAT PRICES WEAK AT PIT

Brokerage Failure, Forecasts Favorable Weather, Causes Weakening

CHICAGO, July 3.—Unsettling effects of a big brokerage failure, together with forecasts of favorable weather for spring wheat and of enlarged receipts of winter wheat, led to some weakening of the wheat market today. Closing quotations on wheat were easy at the same as yesterday's finish to 1½c lower, September $1.39½ to $1.40, and December $1.40¾ to $1.41⅛. Corn finished at ⅜c to ¾c off; oats unchanged to ¼c down, and provisions showing 5c to 35c gain.

BROKERAGE FIRM PROVES FAILURE

Slow Moving Assets Causes Fall of Wall Street Firm; Liabilities Large

NEW YORK, July 3.—Encumbered by slow-moving assets, the New York stock exchange brokerage firm of Dean, Onativia and company was thrown into bankruptcy today with liabilities estimated at approximately $25,000,000 and assets at $20,000,000 or more. While the amount of money involved is the largest of any stock exchange failure in recent years, counsel for the firm declared that the actual loss would be small, and that customers and creditors were well protected.

Large holdings of grain company stock, which were not readily marketable and which tied up the brokerage firm's working capital, were among the main factors in its inability to meet its obligations.

The bulk of these investments was said to be in the Rosenbaum Grain corporation, controlled by two of the firm's partners, E. F. and E. S. Rosenbaum.

WHY GROW CHERRIES OF A POOR VARIETY?

We received a call to look at a consignment of cherries from Pentiction and Salmon Arm this week, and found that they were mostly of a semi-sour variety named Early Richmond. They resembled fair-sized red currants. We could not suggest to the agent anything he could use them for in Calgary; but if we saw them in B.C. would unhesitatingly say, make wine out of them. We doubt if this lot will pay express charges. Just why fruit growers allow such stuff to exist in their orchards is a puzzle. They never were, and never will be, wanted on any market.—British Columbia Markets Commissioner J. A. Grant, in his bulletin.

CANADA'S WHEAT AVERAGE HIGHER

Estimated Yield 350,000,000 Bushels; Rains Make Yield Much Larger

OTTAWA, July 3. — A wheat yield of 350,000,000 bushels for Canada in 1925 is estimated by the Dominion bureau of statistics in a crop report issued today. The figure is based upon the acreage of last year, and, according to reports received by the bureau to date, the area sown this year is approximately the same as last year. A yield of 350,000,000 bushels would be 10,000,000 bushels above the average of the past five years.

"Splendid rains have fallen this year during the critical period of growth and should favorable continue the yield may well be considerably larger than that indicated," says the report.

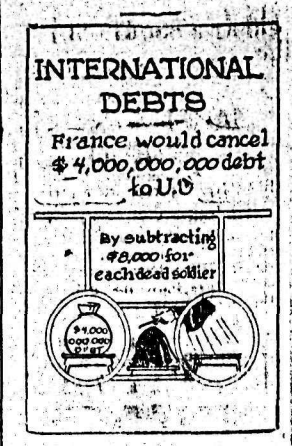
Shall U. S. Pay for France's Debt?



French statisticians have figured out a new method of valuing international debts which holds water as well as a sieve. Each man killed or disabled should be a credit of $8000 against international debts.

As a result of the war, France owes the United States 4,000,000,000. It is a stupendous sum, and it is only natural that the French people should be rather reluctant about starting in to refund it. Many plans are being figured on, but the most unique one, which it is assumed is not really being considered seriously, actually wipes out the debt and makes the Allies owe France money.

The statistician figures that France lost in killed and wounded 2,100,000 men. As human capital those men are estimated to be worth $8000 each, so France has already paid from $17,000,000,000 to $18,000,000,000. The loss of the United States, figured in man power is less than $1,000,000,000, so the United States owes France from $16,000,000,000 to $17,000,000,000.

Applying the same fantastic reasoning to all of the Allied debts shows that the United States underpaid some $30,000,000,000 and France overpaid some $25,000,000,000 for the war.

WATER NOTICE

Diversion and Use

Take notice that Frank P. George Soucey, whose address is Vallican, B. C., will apply for a licence to take and use 2000 gallons per day of water out of Mountain Creek, which flows southeast and loses itself into the ground about ¼ of a mile, from the Big Slocan. The water will be diverted from the stream at a point about 15 chains north of corner post 12301, and will be used for steam and industrial purposes upon the sawmill situated on lot No. 12301. This notice was posted on the ground on the 3rd day of June, 1925. A copy of this notice and an application pursuant thereto and to the "Water Act" will be filed in the office of the Water Recorder at Nelson. Objections to the application may be filed with the said Water Recorder or with the Comptroller of Water Rights, Parliament Buildings, Victoria, B.C., within thirty days after the first appearance of this notice in a local newspaper. The date of the first publication of this notice is July 3, 1925.

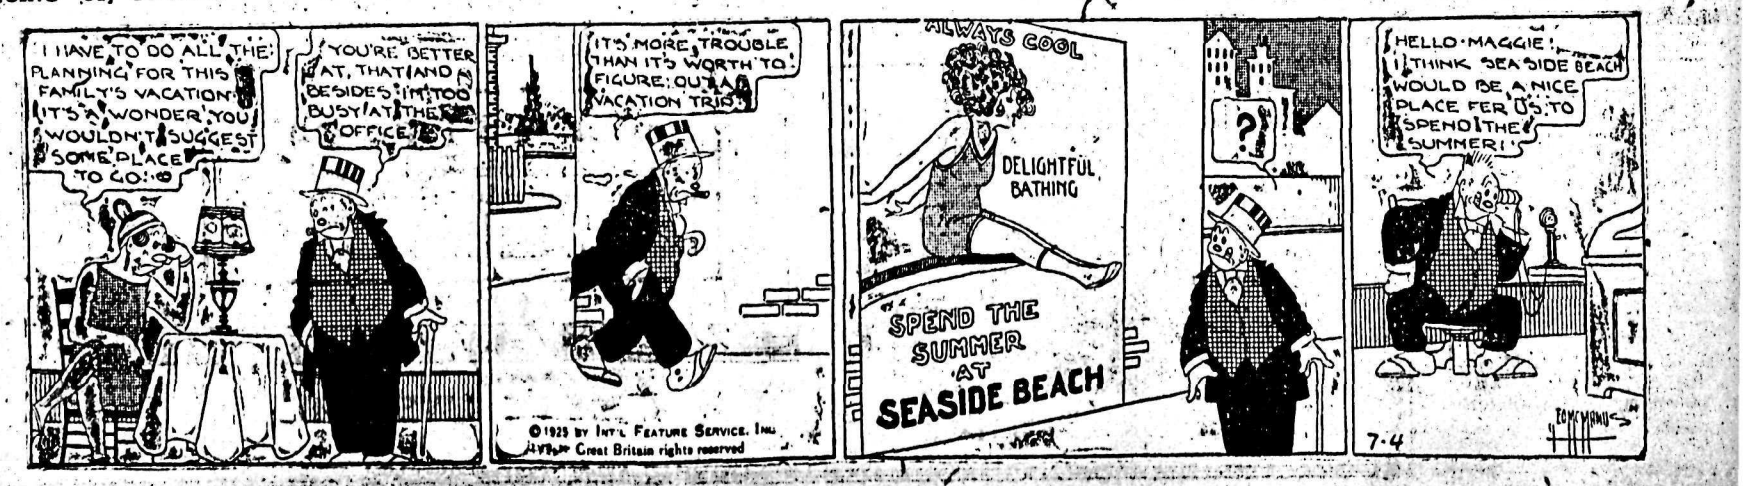
BRINGING UP FATHER By George McManus



ISOLATION HOSPITAL ASKED FOR

Dr. Arthur in Report Emphasizes Danger of Outbreaks

WANTS OWN OFFICE FOR TREATMENTS

Says Not Enough Antitoxin for One Case of Diphtheria

Particulars of the contagious diseases reported to him during the year, the crying need for an isolation hospital in Nelson, the danger of being without adequate supplies of diphtheria and other antitoxins, and a plea for a pathological laboratory to serve the southeastern part of the province, were the emphasized points of the annual report of the city health officer, Dr. E. C. Arthur. This has just been submitted to the city authorities, and is as follows:

"The following is my report as medical officer of health of the city for the year ending June 30, 1925.

"The cases of notifiable diseases reported were: Measles, 3; diphtheria, 1, (died); chicken pox, 45; pneumonia, 11; scarlet fever, 54 in 36 families; typhoir fever, 7, (2 deaths); V.D.S., 2; V.D.G., 2.

No Nelson Diphtheria

"The single case of diphtheria reported did not originate in the city but was brought to the Kootenay Lake General hospital from a point on the Nelson & Fort Shepbard railway.

"From February to December, 1924, the city was not entirely free of chickenpox. In April, 1925, the two cases occurred in one family, and I was unable to determine the source of infection. In June two cases occurred in a family who had just returned from the coast, and the probability is that one of these cases was contracted at the coast or on the return journey.

"The deaths from pneumonia were not reported to me, and I have personal knowledge of only one.

No Knowledge Cause of Typhoid

"From September 15 to 25, 1924, five cases of typhoid developed in the city and its suburbs. Notwithstanding very careful investigation I was unable to locate the source of infection of any of these cases. There was one death.

"In January, 1925, a young man suffering from this disease was brought from Bonnington to the Kootenay Lake General hospital, where he died about a month later. He is thought to have been infected at some point in the United States before he came to Bonnington. This case was remarkable in that the typhoid rash was as profuse and as widely distributed as any scarlet fever rash could be.

"In April, 1925, a boy of six years was reported as having paratyphoid. He recovered.

"That only six cases of venereal disease were reported is due to the fact that only one firm of physicians reported its cases to me.

Three Cases Measles

"Only three scattered cases of measles were reported to me during the year.

"While no action was taken to carry out the compulsory order of the provincial board of health for vaccination, since January 1, 1925, the physicians of the city have done 189 vaccinations. Some of these were for patients residing outside the city, while a considerable number were revaccinations. But the majority were first vaccinations of children attending our schools. Of these I did, free of charge, more than 70, in all cases upon the written request of a parent or guardian.

Fifty-four Have Scarlet Fever

"Although scarlet fever was prevalent in Trail and Nakusp no cases were reported in the city until March, 1925. From that date to the present (June, 1925), 54 cases have been reported in 36 families. Most cases were in children of school age or younger. Four mothers and two young adult males have been reported as having the disease.

"In addition to these cases, five or six cases have occurred in children of the Nelson school district outside the city limits. Among school children four suspected cases were reported. Of these two proved to be negative and two positive. While most cases have been very mild with few complications, a few have occurred of sufficient severity to emphasize the dangers of this disease.

"One boy who had not missed a day at school was found with evidence of having had the disease. He and a brother and sister were excluded from school. I am satisfied that similar cases occurred which were not discovered.

Need of Isolation Hospital

"Again, after more than 20 years' effort to secure an isolation hospital, I must call the attention of the city to the urgent need of a modern hospital. Since the outbreak of scarlet fever in March some 40 of our citizens' families have been put to much needless inconvenience and expense because of the lack of such an institution, and this, for the protection of the public rather than that of the patients. Should cases of twod or more contagious diseases occur at one time in hotels or rooming houses, a condition that may arise at any time, we have absolutely no means of caring for them in a way that will give the public the protection to which it is entitled. A medical officer of health is expected to control outbreaks of contagious diseases, yet the city has for 28 years failed to provide the necessary hospital facilities without which he, like the Israelites in bondage, is required to "make bricks without straw."

Inadequate Facilities to Protect Health

"We advertise our city as a most attractive and desirable place of residence, and at the same time is in this province no other urban community of the same size that has such utterly inadequate facilities to protect the public health, while many places with two or three thousands have facilities that put us to shame.

"The city has already in hand 20 or 25 per cent of the money necessary to provide decent accommodation for contagious cases, and I hope that the present council will remedy this defect before lives are lost because of lack of necessary hospital facilities.

Need Diphtheria Antitoxin

"Another matter that needs consideration and action is the making of arrangements which will ensure that a limited quantity of active diphtheria antitoxin shall at all times be available in the city. In diphtheria a delay of a very few hours in administering antitoxin frequently makes the difference between saving and losing a life. In small communities like Nelson the limited stocks that local dealers can afford to carry are likely, except when the disease is prevalent, to be greatly weakened if not rendered entirely inert, by rapid aging due to having been kept at too high temperatures. The probability is that there are not in Nelson today 30,000 units of diphtheria is that there are not in Nelson today 30,000 units of diphtheria antitoxin of standard activity, and that amount might be required for one case any day in any year. Before it could be obtained from Spokane or Vancouver the period of its usefulness would have passed.

"The same is more or less true of antitetanic serum and some other similar therapeutic preparations.

"For use in unorganized territory the government supplies a small stock of such remedies to its various agencies where they frequently become useless before they are used.

Could Be Stored Here

"There are in the city several cold storage plants in which I think it would be possible to arrange the storage of a small quantity of such therapeutic reagents under temperature conditions that would assure approximately maximum duration of activity.

"In my opinion the city and the provincial health department should cooperate in this as the latter could, I think, save its annual share of the cost in smallpox vaccine alone. But, if such agreement cannot be made promptly, the city should act alone.

"The medical officer, or officers of health would be responsible for seeing that reagents are replaced when used or when their period of activity has expired.

Wants Pathological Laboratory

"The civic authorities should bring influence to bear upon the government to have established here as soon as possible a pathological laboratory to serve the southeastern portion of the province. Owing to distance any existing laboratory is of very limited use to the people of this district and such institutions are recognized as necessary parts of public health service the world over.

Should Be Sent to Meetings

"Your medical health officer should be sent annually to the meetings of the Canadian Public Health association. So far as I know that was never done excepting in the year 1913.

"At these meetings are assembled many men whose lives are devoted to public health work and all the latest and best information on public health matters is available in a way not to be had excepting at such meetings. While the reports of these meetings are printed in public health journals many of the most helpful points are brought out in discussions which are not printed.

No Office for Health Officer

"This city has had a medical officer of health for 28 years, yet has never provided an office for such officer. The city has considerable health equipment, some of it valuable, which is useless to the medical officer and everybody else for lack of a place in which to use it. This should be remedied without delay, for no medical officer can render efficient service without a place in which to work.

"E. C. ARTHUR,
"Medical Officer of Health."

NOTICE TO CONTRACTORS

Sealed tenders, endorsed "Tender for Sandon School," will be received by the Sandon School Board up to 12 o'clock noon of Wednesday, the 15th day of July, 1925, for altering and completion of the Town Hall to form a two-room school.

Plans, specifications, contract, and forms of tender may be seen any time after this date, 24th day of June, 1925, and further information obtained from the Secretary to School Board, Sandon, B.C. Copies of plans, specifications, etc., can be obtained from the Secretary to School Board on payment of a deposit of ten dollars ($10), which will be refunded on return of the plans, etc., in good condition.

Each tender must be accompanied by an accepted bank cheque on a chartered bank of Canada, made payable to the Trustees of the Sandon School Board, for the sum of $770, which shall be forfeited if the party tendering decline to enter into contract when called upon to do so. The cheque of the successful tenderer will be retained as security for the due and faithful performance of the work till the satisfactory completion of the contract.

Tenders will not be considered unless made out on the forms supplied, signed with the actual signature of the tenderer.

The lowest or any tender not necessarily accepted.

Havers Out in Golf at Glen Eagles Semi-Finals

GLEN EAGLES, July 3.—With all foreign players eliminated from the Glasgow Herald's 1000 guineas golf tournament, the finals will be fought out tomorrow by Abe Mitchell of the North Foreland club at Broadstairs and A. E. W. Compston of the North Mancheater club.

Mitchell eliminated Arthur Havers at the 20th hole in the semi-finals today, while Compston put C. A. Whitcombe out of the running 2 up and 1 to play. Mitchell had much the harder struggle, and it was only after a ding-dong fight on the homeward journey that he won from Havers, who took the big money prize in 1923.

PLAN HUGE WELCOME FOR ROALD AMUNDSEN

OSLO, July 3. — Norway's capital is in gala dress for the reception on Sunday of Capt. Roald Amundsen and his party, returning from their polar flight. The admiralty expects that the explorers will land at the port of Oslo at 1 o'clock in the afternoon. Unless unforeseen circumstances develop they will fly from Horten to Oslo on the N-25, on which they returned to Spitzbergen after having been wedged in the ice many days.

Venetian masts line the route from Tordensk square near the waterside, where a pavilion has been erected for the municipal reception, and to the royal palace where the Amundsen party is to be welcomed by the king.

The government steamer W. Selmer, which is bringing the explorers to Norway, will be saluted by warships gaily decorated for the occasion on its arrival at Horten.

VIKING WELL COMES IN AT EDMONTON

EDMONTON, July 3.—Pouring forth clouds of gas and dust, shooting sandstones heavenward and roaring at intervals with the extreme pressure from the bowels of the earth, No. 11 well of the Northwestern Utilities Gas company "came in" as a big producer at Viking, Alberta, on Friday afternoon. Acting Mayor Douglas, city officials and executive officers of the gas company were present.

It is estimated that the well is producing at the rate of 2,000,000 cubic feet of gas per day. The Viking field supplies Edmonton, and today's big strike assures an adequate supply for many years.

French to Send Mission to States for Debt Discussion

PARIS, July 3.—The French government has decided to send a mission to the United States with the object of reaching an agreement with the debt funding commission relative to the payment of France's debts. The plan was approved by the council of ministers today, and it is taken for granted that the cabinet, at a full session tomorrow, will give its formal assent.

ALUMNI OFFICERS

TORONTO, July 3.—J. W. Shaw, M.D., of Clinton, Ont., was today elected the new president of the medical alumni association of the University of Toronto. Other officers elected include Dr. W. A. Thomson, Regina, vice-president.

Two Girls Ordered to Support Parents Under New Act

REGINA, July 3.—Invoked for the first time in the province of Saskatchewan in police court today, the Parents Maintenance act was characterized as drastic legislation by the magistrate. The case arose out of the action of Henry Bunstrom in charging that his two daughters failed to contribute to his support. He claimed to be a physical wreck and unable to earn his maintenance.

An order for payment of $3 weekly against the two girls was made, the magistrate declaring that although he was averse to this step he was bound by the act, under which, he declared, considerable hardship might be caused.

SULTAN SACRIFICES BLEATING SHEEP

FEZ, July 3.—The sultan yesterday performed the "sheep sacrifice" at the entrance to the city, beginning the observance of the Mussulman feast of Ain el Kebir, which Abd-el-krim, leader of the warring Moors, had boasted he would celebrate in the sacred city.

The cadi of Fez then performed his sacrifice of a bleating sheep, which was carried by men on horseback at breakneck speed to the palace.

CANADA'S IMPORTS FROM STATES DROP

OTTAWA, July 3. — Canada's declining purchases in the United States—purchases which have dropped $72,000,000 in the last 12 months — are shown by more detailed official figures available today to be largely among the minerals. Iron and steel products imported from the United States were $31,000,000 less than in the year previous; non-metallic minerals were $21,000,000 less. There was a drop of $6,000,00 in imported fibers and textiles and of $6,000,000 in wood and paper. Dutiable goods imported from the United States were $39,000,000 less; free goods, $13,000,000 less.

During the same 12 months, Canadian exports to the United States decreased $5,000,000.

Twenty-four Men Face Disturbance Charges Drumheller

DRUMHELLER, July 3. — Twenty-four men appeared in the provincial police court on Friday morning on summons and on the charge of watching and besetting the A. B. C. mine. They were all remanded on bail until Thursday of next week, when Magistrate Davidson of Calgary will hear a large number of cases arising out of the present disturbances at the mines here.

Hewitt Mines Incorporated; News to Davys

VICTORIA, July 3.—Among the incorporations granted here during the past week is Hewitt Mines, limited (nonpersonal liability), public, $50,000, Nelson.

Asked last night concerning this dispatch, M. S. Davys, owner of the Hewitt, in association with Robert Insinger of Spokane, speaking from Kaslo, said he was not aware of such a step being taken, and that he had not executed any agreement as yet.

Returned from America to visit his old home after an absence of 56 years, J. Moran was killed by an automobile at Blackburn, England.

Sharks killed two of party of 15 upset from a boat at Lahana, Hawaii.

COOLIDGE CALLS NATIONS COVENANT

Mutual Covenants Needed for Mutual Security, He Says in Speech

CAMBRIDGE, Mass., July 3.—President Coolidge tonight called on the nations of Europe today to enter into mutual covenants for their mutual security, pledging the moral support of the U. S. government if they do so.

"While our own country should refrain from making political commitments where it does not have political interests," he declared, "such covenants would always have the moral support of our government and could not fail to have the commendation of the public opinion of the world.

"Such a course would be sure to endow the participating nations with an abundant material and spiritual reward. On what other basis can there be any encouragement for a disposition to attempt to finance a revival of Europe?"

The president made brief but general reference to the European situation in an address delivered on historic Cambridge common. His speech was the feature of the celebration of the 105th anniversary of the day Washington assumed command of the revolutionary army.

SEVENTY THOUSAND FOR THREE RACE MEETINGS

WINNIPEG, July 3.—Manitoba government coffers were enriched by $70,000 as a result of the three spring race meets held in Winnipeg, it was announced today by Hon. D. L. McLeod, municipal commissioner. This sum represents a tax of 10 per cent on the gate receipts and an additional 3 per cent of the money passing through the pari mutuels.

VETERANS IN STATES WIRE CONGRATULATIONS

OTTAWA, July 3. — Expressing the hope that the movement now under way for an Empire-wide organization of war veterans would be sufficiently comprehensive to include British vets in the United States, representatives of the G.W.V.A. of America, New York, yesterday wired congratulations to Lieut.-Gen. Sir Richard Turner, V.C., on his election to the presidency of the G.W.V.A. of Canada.

Wheat Pool Will Organize Plan to Increase Wheat Acreage

SWIFT CURRENT, July 3.—At a meeting of the Saskatchewan wheat pool here today, it was decided to organize a campaign to get contracts signed for the proposed coarse grain pool, and also to make a strenuous campaign to increase the acreage for the present wheat pool. Men have been appointed to take charge of the campaign in every district.

Banking committee of the house of commons at Ottawa failed to reach a decision of the bill to amend the Loan Companies act.

HUNDREDS HAVE PRIME FUN WITH THE TRAVELERS

Bill Freno Tumbled Into Tank by Scores of Ball Tossers

CABARET PROVES A FINE FEATURE

Target Competition and Jitney Dance Are Well Patronized

Hundreds of people attended the first night of the Associated Canadian Travelers' carnival in the fair building last night, the building being a scene of splendor, which beautifully decorated in the A. C. T. colors of purple and gold, and the booths decorated in red, white and blue.

The City band held a parade along Baker street, and after playing a few selections at the corner of Ward and Baker, it proceeded to the building, where it again played a few selections.

Many people from the district at large and motor parties from across the line were in attendance.

Big Bill's Duckings

Fat Bill's plunge bath was the hit of the midway, and everybody was trying to give him a dip in the tub. Bill Freno sat on a trap seat about six feet above a tank of water, and each time the trap lock was struck by a ball, Bill took a dip into the tub. Bill officiates as league umpire at Nelson, and prominent among those who tried to duck him were members of the Nelson league ball nine.

The housy-housy game drew a large crowd, as did the other features of the midway. Prizes such as oriental umbrellas, baby dolls, chocolates, hams and bacon, ferns, flowers, cigars and cigarets were given to the lucky numbers.

The target shooting competition is in full swing, scores taking a try at the $20 silver cup given by the A. C. T. club for the highest mark made during the carnival.

The jitney dance seemed to be greatly welcomed. The floor is in good shape, and first class music was provided.

Both the cabaret and the refreshment booth did rushing business.

The cabaret lasted until about 2 o'clock this morning, and will commence again this afternoon, and end late this evening.

HIGH LIGHTS OF THE CARNIVAL

"Housie, housie! I'll take that baby doll!" "This way and win a ham!" "Gosh, he made a bullseye!" "Take a chance on a Japanese parasol!" "Come on, let's dance."

Flower bedecked latticed walls, gay lamp shades, a bright paper cap on a city father.

One of the most popular acts of the evening—Bill, a tub of water, and an uncertain plank.

A happy crowd forgetting that the day had been hot.

"She won a ham, a baby doll and a box of chocolates for 30 cents!"

Capt. Clifford Craufurd, with his red-cheeked wooden soldiers. (They were Warren Cartmel, Brian Horstead, Lyal England, Archie Bishop, Ralph Maddock and Norman Maloney, and had been trained by Mrs. Harold Lakes and Leslie Craufurd.)

Miss Mary Barkley giving a Scotch flavor to the program with her graceful dance.

"I'm glad it's on again tomorrow night!"
