ROME HONORS ITS BIRTHDAY AS AN EMPIRE

Celebrates as Capital of 'Modern Empire'; Mussolini Acclaimed

ANCIENT RUINS ARE ELECTRICALLY LIGHTED

Popular Acclamation Recalled; Reviews 60,000 School Children

ROME, April 21.—For the first time since the hordes of northern invaders crushed its world power, well over a thousand years ago, Rome celebrated its birthday today as the capital of a "modern Roman Empire." There was an intense fervor apparent in the ceremonies announcing to the world that the Italian people are imbued with faith in the 20th century resurrection of the power and glory, which were Rome's when she was mistress of a large part of the globe.

Underlying every one of the ceremonies, which occurred not only here, but in every city and town in the nation, was a message of allegiance to Mussolini.

The Fascist insignia—symbol of the new empire—was outlined tonight in electric bulbs upon the Colosseum, the arch of Titue, the forums, and other relics of the Rome of Emperor Augustus, which Mussolini desired to live again within the brief space of five years.

Reviews Scholars

It is doubtful whether any Roman emperor returning from warlike conquests in the colonies ever attained the popular acclamation accorded to Mussolini after his triumphal and peaceful advance through Italian North Africa.

The premier sat this afternoon on an improvised throne-like platform between the arch of Constantine and the imposing ruins of the Colosseum reviewing 60,000 school children. It was an impressive sight, for there were no cheers, and in many eyes there were tears. The premier's seat was surrounded, much after the fashion of the Roman emperors of other days, by trophies, which included gilded crowns amid pieces of the ruins from the temple of Venus.

Grouped around him, symbolic of the strengthening ties with the continent beyond the Mediterranean, which Itlay knows as "our sea," were detachments of black and brown troops from Tripoli, Erythrea and Somaliland—Zephties on foot, Savaris and Spasis wearing the brilliantly clored burnooz and mounted on horseback and Meharis on fleet dromedaries.

So States Nanaimo Member in Budget Debate Now Under Way

MARCIL DEFENDS FOR THE LIBERALS

Dickie Says Progs Governing Government's Course; Little Excitement

OTTAWA, April 21.—Budget debate settled down today with house and galleries sparsely attended and the prospect of many speeches to come. Hon. Charles Marcil, Liberal, Bonaventure, defended the budget, quoting editorial articles in its approval. C. H. Dickie, Conservative of Nanaimo, pressed the view that the tariff reductions on automobiles should have been referred to the tariff advisory board.

Mr. Dickie complained that the government had placed the poultrymen of British Columbia in an unfair position. They had not, he asserted, been given an equal chance with American producers. George Spence, Liberal, of Maple Creek, urged that the proper policy for Canada was a policy of wider markets.

Debate continues tomorrow.

Mr. Marcil stated that the year's financial statement was noted for its announcement of a reduction in taxation and increase in trade and an improvement in the Canadian National railways.

Postage Return Good

Another feature of the budget which would be popular, said Mr. Marcil, was the return to penny postage. Canada was a pioneer in the experiment of penny postage, back in the days when Sir William Mullock was postmaster-general. The experiment had proved very profitable then, and Mr. Marcil thought it very fitting that Canada should go back to the two-cent stamp.

In spite of all the smuggling which was said to be going on, Mr. Marcil drew attention to the fact that there has been a considerable increase in the net sum collected on customs duties. There would be a certain amount of smuggling in any case, he thought, and the return of the customs department showed a very satisfactory increase.

Mr. Marcil supported the reduction in the tariff on motor cars. The nearer Canadian prices were to those in the United States, the greater would be the prosperity of the auto industry in this country. This was due to the fact, he stated, that

AUTO INDUSTRY WILL PROTEST TO GOVERNMENT

Delegates Numbering 200 From 34 Towns in Ontario Meet

OSHAWA GOES TO OTTAWA FRIDAY

Wish Tariff Change Referred to Advisory Board; Favor Sales Tax Cut

OSHAWA, Ont., April 21.—It is estimated tonight that between 2000 and 3000 citizens of Oshawa will travel to Ottawa in the mass delegation which on Friday will present a protest to Premier MacKenzie King and members of his cabinet against the reduction in the tariff on imported automobiles. Every business place and factory in Oshawa today posted a notice reading:

"Closed on Friday; on to Ottawa," and the different registration booths in the city, at which those wishing to go to Ottawa, sign their names, were busy throughout the day.

Many at Meeting

TORONTO, April 21. — Decision to send to Ottawa a deputation representative of the automobile manufacturers, and of all industries contributing to the manufacture of motor cars was made by a meeting held here today of 200 representatives of the manufacturers of parts, materials and supplies used in making automobiles and motor trucks in 34 cities, towns and villages in Ontario and Quebec. The deputation will seek an appointment with the federal cabinet for next Wednesday, April 28, when they will present an appeal to the government to cancel the reductions in the tariff on automobiles, and motor trucks, announced in the federal budget on April 15, and to refer the whole question to the newly created tariff advisory board.

Suggest Sales Tax Cut

The deputation will carry to the cabinet the suggestion that the government should have removed the excise duties and sales tax on automobiles instead of decreasing the tariff rates, and therefore made automobiles much cheaper to the public without disturbing the industry or depriving anyone of employment.

Pointing to the fact that the sales of Canadian-made automobiles in 1925 amounted to $107,000,000 and that at least 100,000 people are dependent on this industry and its allied industries, the appeal states the belief of the manufacturers that the tariff reductions will gradually diminish the automobile industries until many of them are practically extinguished.

TREATY IS STEP TOWARD PEACE

Russo-German Treaty Not an Alliance; Does Not Conflict

BERLIN, April 21. — The treaty which Russia and Germany have been negotiating since December, 1924, represents an important step in safeguarding the peace of Europe and does not represent an alliance between the two countries, it was said here today in authoritative quarters.

The German foreign office, it was said, has rejected all suggestion for binding Germany to the east with a detriment to her relations with the west and has sought to draw a treaty that will parallel and complement the Locarno pacts. The treaty which is now nearing completion does not conflict in any way with Locarno and the League of Nations regulations, according to governmental circles.

"A bridge between Moscow and Berlin is a much better safeguard of European peace than a Polish army," one foreign office spokesman said.

No Conflict

LONDON, April 21. — Sir Austen Chamberlain told the house of commons today the German government had given assurances that the proposed Russo-German treaty would contain nothing conflicting with the League of Nations covenant or the Locarno security agreement.

Low lands were flooded, and the Huntsville waterworks dam burst, adding to the peril.

The International Great Northern railroad tracks were covered, stranding Governor Miriam A. Ferguson's party en route to Houston from a visit to the state penitentiary at Huntsville, which is eight miles west of Phelps.

reduction in the price of cars would increase the number sold.

Mr. Dickie expressed the view that the government's course was being governed by the Progressive group. The speech from the throne had stated that the tariff board would be constituted for the consideration of tariff matters; yet the government had in its budget taken a step in the opposite direction.

Urges Protective Tariff

Canada should oppose United States competition with an adequate protective tariff. "I do not say build a tariff wall brick for brick with that of the United States," said Mr. Dickie, "but I say that we should build a tariff wall adequate to stop their goods from coming into Canada in competition with our own products."

Mr. Spence followed, and was proceeding to read extracts from various publications respecting the Canadian and American tariff on cattle entering the one country from the other, when he was interrupted by H. A. Mullins, Conservative, Marquette.

"May I ask the honorable gentleman if he would permit American cattle to come into Canada free, providing the Americans take the duty off and allow Canadian cattle to go into the United States," he asked.

Keep U. S. Cattle Out

"Yes, I would," replied Mr. Spence. He did not think, however, that many cattle would enter from the United States. Colonel Mullins retorted that the foot and mouth disease among cattle was "rampant" in the United States. They should not be permitted to come into Canada. Mr. Spence favored the appointment of a Canadian representative at Washington.

"Our policy must be a policy for wider markets, for world markets," said Mr. Spence. The home market was of minor importance, he thought. In cattle alone, Canada produced enough to meet the demands of 50,000,000 people.

The duty on farm implements should be lowered, he said. He approved of the government's action toward completion of the Hudson Bay railway. Anything that would assist agriculture would react to the benefit of Canada as a whole.

Hon. Edmund Bristol, Conservative, Toronto East Center, moved the adjournment of the debate.

Bobbed Hair Advocates Defeated in Conflict of North Tyrol Cities

HULL, England, April 21.—Bobbed hair is bad for poise in the opinion of Miss Helen Drummond, physical culture instructress at the Osterberg training college for girls at Dartford. In a lecture on athletics in girls' schools Miss Drummond advised against short hair for young women in training because it was opposed to good posture.

"Bobbed hair results in uncontrolled movements of the head as the bobbed girl is forever throwing back her head, to keep her hair from her face," she said.

Joseph Shaw Named Leader Alberta Liberals

EDMONTON, April 21.—Practically unanimously refusing a resolution made on the floor of convention by E. S. Ryan, K.C., Calgary lawyer, that nomination of a provincial Liberal leader be not made until after the provincial general election, Alberta Liberals in executive meeting today gave enthusiastic indorsation to the only name placed in nomination, that of Joseph T. Shaw of Calgary.

The choice was made by executives representing every provincial constituency, and as explained by Hon. W. A. Buchanan, who took the chair at the opening of the convention, this form of procedure had been adopted, following the system in Saskatchewan when a successor to Hon. C. A. Dunning was named.

One hundred and twenty-five delegates were present, and a large number of Liberals who, though not delegates, were invited to take an active part in the discussions, to make any resolutions they saw fit, to nominate any person for leader, but not to be allowed to vote, this right being reserved for the accredited delegates only.

At the afternoon session Joseph T. Shaw, newly elected leader, launched an attack upon the Farmer government of Alberta, terming it one of inaction.

OPERATION LEF HER VERY WEAK

Letter Tells of Wonderfu Relief After Taking Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound

Coniston, Ontario.—"After a severe operation and a three weeks' stay in a hospital I returned home so weak that I was unable to move a chair. For four months I was almost frantic with pains and suffering until I thought sure there could not be any help for me. I had very severe pains in my left side and suffered agony every month. One day when I was not able to get up my mother begged me to try your medicine. My husband got me a bottle of Vegetable Compound at once and I took it. I started a second bottle, and to my surprise and joy the pains in my side left me completely and I am able to do all my work without help. I am a farmer's wife, so you see I can't be idle long. In all, I have taken six bottles of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, five boxes of the Compound Tablets, two bottles of Lydia E. Pinkham's Blood Medicine, and have also used the Sanative Wash."—Mrs. L. LAJEUNESSE, Box 103, Coniston, Ontario. c

THE GUMPS—THE SONG OF THE LARK

FORTY FOREST FIRES ALREADY SAYS ST. CLAIR

District Forester Says Sixty Per Cent of Forest Gone

USE AND WASTE EXCEED GROWTH

Cutting Out of Fires Only Way of Keeping Up Forests

R. C. St. Clair, district forester, stated last night that there had already been 40 forest fires in this district, a record for this time of the year.

He spoke last night at the Starland theater as part of the "Save the Forest" week campaign. In his talk he spoke of the forest area and the owne ship of that area, of the timber resources of British Columbia and of the depletion of the timber resources.

He said there were 149,000 square miles of forest in British Columbia, or 42 per cent of the area of the province. Of this 28,000 square miles carried timber ready for cutting, and the rest, 121,000 square miles, carried timber in various stages. Only 13 per cent, he stated, was not owned by the people.

Over Half Destroyed

Originally there was 1000 billion feet of timber in the province. Of that, 60 per cent had been destroyed by fire, and only 5 per cent was cut and utilized. The present stand of timber in British Columbia, asserted Mr. St. Clair, represented 70 per cent of the timber resources of Canada, and when the prairie provinces became populated the timber they would require for building and other purposes would nearly all come from this province.

In the last 10 years, said the speaker, there had been 16,300 forest fires in British Columbia, and of these, 80 per cent were man-caused, burning 4,500,000 acres of forest and doing $9,000,000 worth of property damage.

Adverse Balance

The annual cut was 2,200,000,000 feet, and adding the loss by fire, insects and decay, was equal to the annual growth. If a balance were to be sustained, fire losses must be cut down.

NEWEST SEWER USERS FAVORED, CLAIMS WASSON

City Clerk Suggests Council Work Out an Equitable Plan

When City Engineer J. A. Ferguson reported to the city council Tuesday night that to serve the residence of W. J. Porter, on Kootenay avenue, Fairview, with a sewer, would cost $300, City Clerk W. E. Wasson said he would ask the council, before authorizing the next Fairview sewer extension, to hear him in committee of the whole.

Mr. Wasson explained that in the original bylaw, an equitable scale existed, of varying assessments. The two or three extensions made since then had been made without imposing a fair share of the cost on these new beneficiaries, who in some cases got off at about a third of what the original users paid.

He suggested that a plan be worked out, for specially assessing properties to be hereafter served by the Fairview sewers. Whether this could be covered in one bylaw, or there would have to be a separate bylaw in each case, he was not clear.

The members of the council expressed themselves as in favor, on the ground of equity, of working out a system that would be fair both to the original and the new users.

Charles E. Junium, aged 47, of Cincinnati, leaped to his death from a window in a saloon in an effort to escape raiding detectives.

AMATEURS HOLD ROSSLAND DOWN THREE - NOTHING

Dunlop on Amateurs' Team Give Finished Display; Fox Is Stonewall

TRAIL, April 21.—Although Rossland gave a fair display of soccer, they were badly outclassed by the Amateurs in today's city league match, which ended 3-0 for the Amateurs.

The Rosslanders showed lack of practice. They missed their shots, fluked their kicks and passed wide. They appeared unable to get into the bounce of the ball on Trail's hard ground.

But a considerable share of the Amateurs' victory was earned by their new center half, R. Dunlop. He was always at the ball. His time and distance judging and aggressive play was a delight to watch.

Laurie Scores

W. Laurie opened the scoring and earned the points. Worried by the left back, he lured Fox out and, turning, shot into the open goal. W. Milne added the second on a straight break away at 40 minutes. The score stood thus at half time.

Up to this time Presig had never been called on to handle the ball. But Rossland made more determined efforts in the second. McVie, leading the line on three occasions, got within close shooting range, but always lost the ball. Milne, following a left cross, scored the third with an uninterrupted shot from wing. Fox, the Rossland tender, though new to the game, excited the supporters with his brilliant saves.

The teams were:

Rossland—Fox, goal; Norris and Hay, backs; Tucker, Chesholm and McCulloch, halves; Wright, Marshall, McVie, Shearer and Buton, forwards.

Amateurs—Presig, goal; J. Leckie and Leirk, backs; T. Dunlop, R. Dunlop and J. Stewart, halves; W. Laurie, Milne, Clapham, T. Laurie and Demidoff, forwards.

Referee—Bob Marshall.

Woman Trainer Produces Winning Football Eleven

SELBY, Yorkshire, April 21.—Mrs. Parsons, the wife of the head master of the Selby Abbey soccer team, has proved herself to be an excellent football trainer. Her team has played 15 league games and won them all, scoring a total of 90 goals against eight by their opponents.

"I took up the boys," said Mrs. Parsons, "because they virtually were left to themselves. My husband wanted the lads to win something big so I told him to let me train them. Two of the lads are in the county team in my first season's training and the team is in the semi-final of another competition."

Joseph Emond, aged 19, alleged to have escaped from industrial school in Mimico, was arrested at Ottawa.

German Measles Are Going Strong

While the last case of scarlet fever is now out of quarantine, German measles and whooping cough are holding their own, according to statistics given the council by Dr. E. C. Arthur, city medical health officer, 13 new cases of German measles and two new cases of whooping cough being reported in the last fortnight.

TRAIL SCHOOL CHILDREN GIVE FINE CONCERT

Mingles Laughter and Tears; 265 Children Take Part in Play

TRAIL, April 21. — When a show mingles laughter and tears, that show is a success. Trail school concert, at its three showings yesterday and today, did just that. Few of the grownups among the 1500 peope who saw it could possibly have helped laughing or come away without feeling by turns pleasure at dainty dancing, sympathetic joy in the make believe, and the regret that the innocent singing of youngsters produces. And when many among the audiences saw and heard their own or their neighbors' children, it was small wonder that the mixture of emotions and their heartiness moistened many an eye.

Its splendid success, beside reflecting credit on Trail-Tadanac teachers' association, which organized and directed every step, assures a substantial sum for the school library fund.

Many In Show

The costumes were as varied and tasteful as the performers were numerous. There were 265 children taking part. Lighting and scenic effects, the staging and the musical accompaniments were all admirably executed.

Vanderhoof Has Clay Which Gives Back Youthfulness

VICTORIA, April 21. — Ponce de Leon, looking around for the fountain of youth, might have found what he sought had he come to the Pacific northwest instead of confining his wanderings to the Florida marshes.

A deposit of peculiar clay which is said to produce the vitality of young manhood in the oldest and most feeble has just been discovered near Vanderhoof, in northern British Columbia, by Albert Heyman, pioneer settler of that district.

Heyman has sent a sample of the wonder product to his friend, Hon. E. D. Barrow, minister of agriculture, who has promised to try it out.

"A small amount of the stuff dissolved in a bath makes an old man feel like a youngster," Heyman wrote to Mr. Barrow. "After a clay bath I feel like 24 instead of 64 years—in other words 40 years younger."

Mr. Barrow says he is not afraid to run the risk of feeling 40 years younger, but if it works he will hesitate before taking a second bath.

AIR TRAINING FOR WOMEN STIFF ONE

LONDON, April 21.—Miss Gladys Lane, one of Britain's women athletes, has submitted herself to a series of tests by medical experts of the air ministry, who are considering what standard of fitness should be demanded of women pilots.

Miss Lane volunteered for examination at the request of the Women's Amateur Athletic association.

"I found the test rather a stiff one," she said. "I went through several severe nerve tests, one of which was to stand as long as possible on one leg without wobbling. I had to hold my arm in front of me, with fingers stretched out to see how steady they were, and I was also told to hold my breath as many seconds as possible."

ENGLISH WOMEN TAKE TO FARMS

READING, England, April 21. — Milking, butter making, cattle raising and gardening have become established occupations for women and most farmers and horticulturists prefer them for the work, announces the Women's Farm and Garden association.

Most of the girls who want to become real milk maids or expert gardeners undergo a course of from one to three years at a recognized college, such as Reading University college, and begin as dairy assistant or under-gardener. The girls earn £3 to £4 a week.

FEMALE TONGUES SILENCE OFFICIAL

ATHENS, April 21.—Greek suffragettes are up in arms over a recent utterance by the president of a court martial who addressed a woman barrister in terms scarcely likely to endear him to advanced feminists.

"We are already sufficiently troubled by too much talking. Are we now to be pestered by female tongues!" the soldier remarked.

Since then the "female tongues" in Athens have been wagging with a vengeance and have made the life of the gallant president scarcely worth living.

Twelve Per Cent of Medical Practitioners in London Are Women

LONDON, April 20.—The number of medical practitioners practicing in London is 7588 and of this total 12 per cent are women, according to the public health department of the London county council. This number of women is not due to economical reasons for both men and women receive the same remuneration. The only difference is that if the women marry they have to resign their appointments.

TILDEN FACES HARD BATTLES THIS SEASON

Lacoste Looms Most Menacingly in Tilden's Path Now

NEW YORK, April 21.—The perennial problem over "Big Bill" Tilden's ability to maintain his grasp on the national tennis scepter agan is agitating the racquet ruminants.

"Big Bill," the pessimists point out, had more close calls per tournament in 1925 than in any previous year. To top that off, he suffered straight set defeats during the recent indoor season at the hands of Rene Lacoste and Jean Borotra, France's agile and ambitious contenders for world honors, besides losing to Vincent Richards in Florida.

These reverses were something that even the skeptics regarded as beyond the realm of possibility, even with Tilden obviously not at his best. They have given impetus to the talk of a new tennis king.

Lacoste is the figure who looms most menacingly in Tilden's path just now This sphinx-like young Frenchman, just turned 22, has all the equipment needed to make a world's champion. He came within an ace of trimming Tilden in straight sets in the challenge round for the Davis cup last fall. His improvement since then has boosted his stock considerably.

Little Bill Good

Besides this foreign threat, Tilden wil have his tried and trusty American rivals, "Little Bill" Johnston and Richards, to contend with. The main battle seems likely to be among Tilden, Johnston and Lacoste when the national championships are decided at Forest Hills in September, for neither Richards nor Borotra has shown the ability to maintain the consistent pace of these three.

It will be Tilden's bid for a seventh straight title on grass and his friends are confident that he will make it good, in spite of keen opposition and the possibility that the champion may not be able to maintain his old stride.

If he does he wil break all records for consistent triumph and equal William Larned's total winnings. Larned, however, did not win his laurels without interruption, nor did he face the competition that exists today.

Tilden is 32, but as he point out himself most of the champions nowadays are between 30 and 40, an age when it used to be considered that most athletes were ready to retire and take up golf.

The screen, the stage and the typewriter make their demands upon the tennis champion but invariably he is in proper playing condition when the big season starts and his main laurels are at stake.

Helen Shares Honor

Sharing major interest with Tilden's prospects is the campaign of Helen Wills, the three-time woman's champion, for title honors abroad, where she is spending most of the playing season. Although beaten by a close margin in her first test on the Riviera with Mlle. Suzanne Lenglen, the American champion is considered to have at least an even chance of upsetting the French marvel's supremacy, either in the team matches or the championship tournaments scheduled in France and England.

At home, Miss Wills' chief rival is Miss Elizabeth Ryan, the Californian, who gained the second national ranking position last year, after a long sojourn abroad.

Otherwise the titleholder faces little opposition, with Mary K. Browne and Mrs. Molla Mallory past their playing prime and comparatively few young stars occupying a threatening position.

QUEEN ALEXANDRA'S DOGS STAY AT HOME

LONDON, April 21.—Dogs in the Sandringham house kennels which belonged to the late Dowager Queen Alexandra will not be taken across the Atlantic in spite of good offers which have been received from the United States. It is the explicit wish of King George that none of the dogs should be disposed of, and in this, it is understood, he is only fulfilling his mother's desire.

The 25 dogs which were in the kennels are to remain at Sandringham with the exception of one of the terriers, which at the King's request has been given to a woman who was a personal friend of the Queen.

Potential Taxes Find Themselves Capital

Capital comes from earnings. Earnings gobbled up by the government fail to become capital. One of the satisfactory features of the current Robb budget is that, after years of pressure, the government has at last materially reduced the Dominion income tax, and reduced it in the higher categories as well as the lower. This means that a large slice of the earnings of Canadians during 1925, and which the big earners—companies or individuals—"reserved" for taxes, becomes instantly available as new capital.

The conversion of this amount from potential taxes to capital is important in a high degree.

But important is an even higher degree is the fact that the knowledge that the government is no longer standing by to grab more than half of what a big company makes, will turn a flood of capital that hitherto has preferred to buy government bonds and not make too much money, into the investment field for new enterprises.

The Financial Post not long ago, in advocating the reduction of the sur-taxes, assembled one of the finest collections of cogent reasoning on this subject seen in a long time.

Against undue taxing of the large earners, President Wilson, Democrat, said:

"There is a point at which in peace time high rates of income and profits taxes discourage energy, remove the incentive to new enterprises, encourage extravagant expenditures, and produce industrial stagnation with consequent unemployment and other attendant ills."

Recommending tax reduction, President Coolidge, Republican, said:

"Our progress in national development depends upon two factors—personal ability and surplus income. An expanding prosperity requires that the largest possible amount of surplus income should be invested in productive enterprise under the direction of the best personal ability. This will not be done if the rewards of such action are very largely taken away by taxation.

"If we had a tax whereby, on the first working day, the government took 5 per cent of your wages, on the second day 10 per cent, on the third day 20 per cent, on the fourth day 30 per cent, on the fifth day 50 per cent, and on the sixth day 60 per cent, how many of you would continue to work on the last two days of the week? It is the same with capital. . ."

He then explained:

"I wish to include in the program a reduction in the high sur-taxes, not that small incomes may be required to pay more and small incomes less, but that more revenue may be secured from large incomes and taxes on small incomes may be reduced, not because I wish to relieve the wealthy, but because I wish to relieve the country."

There is not the slightest doubt that what the Dominion exchequer loses in "grab-all" sur-taxes on the big incomes, wil be more than made up in various other ways. With more capital going into new enterprises and into productive channels generally, it is by no means certain that the income tax, after a year or two, will not yield up to the old figures. If it does not quite measure up, the sales tax and excise derived from new business done in consequence of this step will more than make up the deficiency.

The Great Prosperity Denied

Taking the top manacle off the shanks of business is a good step—one that The Daily News fully approves.

A whole lot of other manacles remain—one of them the sales tax, that in general stands at 5 per cent, as against 3 under the Meighen government.

Another is the current expenditure of the federal government, the economy axe still unwielded.

But the great step that would put this country on the path of a great and independent prosperity—the step that would aim at filling in Canada all possible of the wants that Canadians now satisfy by buying from the ends of the earth—the government will not take.

Seventy or 80 other countries—the latest compilation brings the number to 84 or thereabout — take new measures to give their own workmen protection, to encourage new industrial plants to establish within their borders, to develop their own resources.

Every consideration should make Canadians adopt a similar policy of self-protection.

But the theorists at Ottawa, sustained by their fellow theorists of the fanatical Progressive faith, move only in the opposite direction.

As long as the King party is sustained in office, the great and sound prosperity that could come to Canada under a policy of building up industrially, will be denied to this country.

Ideally, we housekeepers should keep our homes so clean that there is little need for the old-fashioned "Spring Housecleaning." In grandmother's day, when carpets were tacked down all year and taken up in April or May for a thorough beating, vigorous spring housecleaning was necessary. But with our modern vacuum cleaners, our bare polished floors, our labor-saving devices and well-rooted habits of sanitation we of today take joy in having our homes "spick and span" always.

Yet often through ill health or a lack of sufficient time, we find ourselves behind in our cleaning. We awake to the fact that we have been doing the heavy weekly cleaning in the rooms "that show"—and saving our strength or time on the rooms which do not show—the upstairs rooms. We realize that an old-fashioned housecleaning is indeed a necessity, in spite of all our strivings to keep our home ideally spotless.

When this is the case, let us go about cleaning a room as follows: Dust, wash if possible, and remove all small articles. Take moveable furniture out of doors (except bedsteads, bureaus, et cetera). Take down pictures. Rattan rockers which you have long intended to repaint or restain should be attended to at this time. Rag rugs should be washed: other kinds of rugs beaten out of doors and then rolled up till the room is clean. Wash curtains.

Remove rollshades, brush them out of doors, and set aside till room is clean. Strip beds, and cover springs with a sheet after cleaning thoroughly. Now wipe ceiling and walls with clean cloths (use a broom covered with a bag for ceilings). Wash woodwork. Wash windows. Clean radiator. Renew or clean floor finish. Wash bureau mirror. Polish all furniture.

Replace rugs, wall pictures, small ornaments. Put up shades and clean curtains.

The above suggestions are for cleaning bedrooms. But the same general process is followed in cleaning any room in the house. In homes where soft or semi-soft coal has been used in the winter, it is wisest to clean the cellar before the first-floor rooms—otherwise the cellar dust may sift up through the floor again. (To remove dust from a cement cellar floor, scatter wet sawdust or damp bits of newspaper around and sweep up.)

That Body of Yours

By JAMES W. BARTON, M.D.

The Work of Your Body

I have spoken before about the new machine now being used to test the amount of work your body is doing, when you are lying with body and mind as completely at rest as possible.

This is called your basal condition.

If you are excited about anything then the amount of work going on within your body will show an increase, and the test is spoiled, or at least is not a true test.

Experiments made upon men who were fasting for a number of days, showed that the amount of work going on within the body was less than normal. After food is eaten, and whilst the digestive processes are going on, the amount of work the body is doing increases greatly.

After an ordinary meal, in an ordinary or average individual, the amount of work being done was 30 per cent above the normal or basal rate. With a heavy meal the rate went up to 40 per cent above, and in one case to 50 per cent above normal.

Now how do they know the normal or basal condition of an individual? Knowing his height and weight, they multiply this by a fixed number, and this gives them the surface area of the body.

Your body then should produce so much heat or do so much work in proportion to the size of the surface or outside measurement of your body.

Of course, allowance is made according to age, because from one to five years more energy is required for growth. It gradually gets less until about the age of 14 when it increases during puberty to adult age, then gradually decreases again.

What practical point is there in knowing this?

That food requirements will naturally follow the above rule also, and the growing boy and girl should be given plenty of wholesome food.

Now the above doesn't take into account the need of food when we work or exercise. Extra food should be taken when hard muscular work or exercise is taken.

Stewart During Winter Was Quiet, All But Deserted

STEWART, B. C., April 21.—The anomaly of quiet, all but deserted streets and slack business in all the stores, as a sequel to the most active and prosperous mining season in the Portland canal district has been experienced in Stewart and other northern mining towns this winter.

The explanation given by the store-keepers is that the miners became so wealthy last fall as a result of the summer's activity in the hills, that instead of lingering in Stewart and the frontier towns as usual they drifted south to the big cities to spend the winter in luxury.

But the miners are hurrying back again and operations will soon be under way again in many of the properties, owing to the unusually mild weather.

Top o' the Morning!

Do you like getting up in the morning?

Usually, of course, you find it "nicer to lie in bed" — unless it's your birthday, perhaps, or something particularly jolly is going to happen. Frankly, this business of getting up is a bit of an effort.

But once you are out of bed — how do you feel then? Are you brimful of healthy, cheerful energy, glad to be alive in the best of all possible worlds? Or is the first conscious thought, "Here's another weary day to be got through somehow?"

Doubtless you, like many others, find it difficult to shake off that first-thing-in-the-morning feeling of depression — of dissatisfaction with your life. If so, it isn't your life that's to blame — it's your liver.

What you want to win you back to a sane, cheery outlook is a little daily dimeful of Kruschen.

As much as will cover a 10 cent piece every morning, taken in your breakfast cup of coffee or tea, will remind your liver and kidneys of their daily duty. All the clogging waste material which has been sapping your energy and poisoning your inside is dispelled. Every little pinch of Kruschen is a blend of those six vital salts on which the efficiency of your eliminating organs and the clearness of your bloodstream depend. That's why you need that "little daily dimeful."

And that's why Kruschen sends refreshed virile blood pounding gloriously through your veins, priming every fibre of you with tingling vitality and the joy of living. The magic powder-salts are never off duty. Take them every day, and they'll keep you every day in perfect trim.

Learn how to live, restore your spirits, Kruschen shows the way. Buy your first six months' bottle now, and make "getting up time" the liveliest hour of the day.

Tasteless in Coffee or Tea

ST. ANDREW'S OF ROSSLAND HAS GOOD REPORTS

Excellent Progress Made by United Church Under Rev. Mr. Armitage

ROSSLAND, April 21.—The annual congregational meeting of St. Andrew's United church, Rossland, was held last Monday evening. A large number of members and friends were present. The program given was full of interest and proved most encouraging. T. S. Gilmour ably presided as chairman. During the evening solos were rendered by Miss Wilkie, Mrs. H. J. Armitage and A. E. Wright, which were appreciated by all. Mrs. A. E. Wright, as accompanist, added to the pleasure of the musical part of the program. Refreshments were served by the United Women's society.

The reports were as follows: Receipts—United Women's society, $801; Sunday school, $527; Y.P.S., $62; church treasurer, $3270. The attendance at the Sunday school sessions and also at the church services have increased during the year; 30 people hae been received into church membership; a fine manse has been purchased and completely paid for; $500 has been paid to the maintenance and extension fund, being $150 more than amount asked for; the minister's stipend has been increased to $2000 for the coming year. The total receipts, including the amount paid for the manse, amount to $7533, the above accomplishments making the period just closed an outstanding one in the history of the church. Rev. H. J. Armitage is the pastor of this progressive congregation.

CRANBROOK IS HOST TEACHERS OF DISTRICT

Demonstrations of Work and Speeches Feature Valuable Convention

CRANBROOK, April 21.—The convention of teachers of the Cranbrook district which was held at the Central school on Friday afternoon, was a great success, and the teachers attending have expressed great satisfaction with it. It was arranged by V. Z. Manning, inspector for this district, and upwards of 50 teachers were in attendance from all parts of the district. Mr. Manning presided during the afternoon, and on behalf of the Cranbrook school board, F. H. Dezall, the chairman, extended a welcome.

Miss Woodland, principal of the Central school, gave a demonstration lesson in nature painting, by means of a class in session, taking the daffodil as the subject of the demonstration. Another interesting demonstration class was given by Miss Baxter, supervising teacher of the muscular movement writing in the school here, who showed the teachers her methods of directing the pupils into that system of writing. F. G. Morris, manual training instructor here, took as his subject freehand lettering, which is now on the public school curriculum. He illustrated his ideas on the instruction of this work by some of the papers from his classes, and his topics were placed before the teachers in the form of portfolios, containing a synopsis and examples, which were closely followed.

Sheffield In Address

P. H. Sheffield, public scool inspector for the Nelson district, was present, and gave an interesting address on silent reading, something upon which much emphasis is now being placed in some centers. In the United States, he said, educationists had carried this subject to a more successful point than in this country. One of the objects being to ascertain what impression the material read made on the minds of the pupils, tests have been made with reading of sentences of instructions which the pupil is required to carry out, and the results have been analyzed very interestingly. The development of reading, and the motive which has actuated the schools in providing their reading matter, from the strongly religious motive of the time of the Pilgrim Fathers down to the present time, when it is for general information and instruction. This was considered one of the most informative items on the program.

E. S. Martin, principal of the Fernie school was another speaker who was listened to with interest. He is a past president of the B. C. Teachers' Federation, and his address was in regard to that body. He had just returned from attending the annual convention of the federation, and traced its growth, showing its present purpose, and how it was considered in the best interests of the teachers to line up with it. There are about 1600 members at present, and it has refused all overtures to affiliate with labor bodies or other organizations, being solely confined to the teaching profession and its welfare.

Mr. Manning, as chairman, also gave a few remarks to the teachers, principally on the relation of the inspectors' work to the teacher. One of his points was that if a teacher, an an applicant for a position in a distant school, failed to get it, the reason was not always to be found in the nature of the inspector's report, but there were sometimes personal reasons that made one teacher's application more highly favored than another.

An inspection of the classrooms was made, and an extremely attractive display from Lumberton, relating to the sawmill and forest work, with examples of the woods, was favorably commented on.

In the evening there was a card party and dance held at the parish hall for the visiting teachers. About 20 tables of bridge were in play, and a large crowd appeared a little later at the hall to take part in the dance. The prize winners on points were Mrs. Hodgson for the ladies, and I. McNaughten for the gentlemen.

Gray Creek Body Must Move Store From Roadway

GRAY CREEK, April 21.—The farmers' institute held a successful meeting in the hall on Friday. A stack of correspondence and routine matters, accumulated since the annual meeting was disposed of. It was agreed to raise the bounty on queen wasps from two cents to five cents apiece, the season to close May 31. An important matter which came up for discussion was a letter from P. Phillip, public works engineer, Victoria, requesting that the institute feed shed, which at present is located on the road allowance, be removed, as being in competition with other business. As the feed shed is not obstructing traffic, and the road in front of it and the feed business are both for the sole benefit of the local residents, there being no other feed store at Gray Creek, the logic of the request did not become apparent. The directors were, however, given authority to take steps to comply with the request.

As unofficial information had it that the government intends to abandon the so-called lower road at Gray Creek, the secretary was instructed to write the proper authorities informing them that this road forms the only means of access to the public hall and school, and to protest against the closing of same.

ROYAL FAMILY JOYFUL OVER PRINCESS BABE

Third in Line of Succession to Throne Sleeping Splendidly

DUCHESS MOTHER IS DOING NICELY

King, When Informed of Happy Event, Unable to Again Sleep

LONDON, April 21.—The little princess, daughter of the house of York, whose early morning arrival disturbed even the slumbers of the King and Queen at Windsor, was sleeping splendidly tonight, as was the Duchess, and at a late hour the attending physicians announced that no further bulletins would be issued until tomorrow. An afternoon bulletin proclaimed the satisfactory progress of mother and daughter.

The tiny princess is said to resemble her mother. She is slightly below the average weight, but the physicians report that she is strong and healthy and has a quantity of hair.

The two queens, Mary and Maud of Norway, and the king had a glimpse of the little one this afternoon.

King Unable to Speak

When a telephone message arrived at Windsor conveying the news of the birth of the princess, the servants on night duty without hesitation called the King and Queen and informed them of the event although no orders to this effect had been issued. The King's manifest interest and joy was so keen that he could not sleep again. He made himself a pot of tea, as he does sometimes when he wants to be alone, and watched the sun coming up over the tops of the Windsor hills. He then went horseback riding.

The Queen kept the telephone lines busy all morning inquiring after the baby, third in line of succession to the throne. Congratulations arrived all day from Ireland and Scotland, Canada, Australia, India, New Zealand and Africa, as well as from British ships at sea with all best wishes for the mother and the third grandchild of the King and Queen.

"It is a bonnie baby," said Sir William Joynson-Hicks, member of the cabinet, who in connection with the ancient tradition, was present in the house at the birth.

"She actually yawned at me," the home minister said.

Betting Bill Is Rejected in British House of Commons

LONDON, April 21.—The house of commons tonight rejected the bill intended to legalize betting and licence bookmakers 126 to 94. The rejection of the bill was moved by Edwin Scrymgeour, prohibition member for Dundee.

The question of legalizing betting and putting a tax on it has been under consideration for a long time and recently it was reported that Winston Churchill, chancellor of the exchequer, casting around for some new source of revenue to aid the budget, had lighted upon betting as the most fruitful possibility for a new tax.

The church people have been strongly opposed to such a measure, as well as several members of the cabinet, some of whom Mr. Churchill was said to have won over to his side.

Hire Train in Try to Save Life of Injured Farmer

SASKATOON, April 21.—The fact that the townspeople of Loverna, Sask., raised a fund of over $500 to secure a special train to Saskatoon may save the life of L. P. Monson, a farmer of that district. Monson was seriously injured Tuesday afternoon when trampled by a six-horse team. In the course of the evening, and during the morning his friends, informed that he had scant chances of recovery unless placed in the hands of skilled surgeons, secured the money, and engaged the special, which had to come from Biggar, the nearest divisional point, and return via that station. The distance of over 180 miles from Loverna was covered in four hours and 40 minutes.

Surgeons say he has a chance for recovery.

Abolition of Death Penalty Clause Is Rejected in the House

LONDON, April 21.—The house of commons in committee today rejected by 269 votes to 123 the new official labor clause of the army and air force annual bill, providing for the abolition of the death penalty in cases of cowardice and desertion while on active service. E. Thurtle, Shoreditch, supporting the clause, said the the Labor party favored the death penalty in cases of treachery and desertion to the enemy only.

The house also rejected by a vote of 283 to 103 the Labor clause which would prohibit the use of troops in connection with trade disputes except when a proclamation declaring that a state of emergency existed, was issued.

KAPLAN HANDS KAYO TO ROY OF MONTREAL

World's Titleholder Superior After First Round; Prelims Lively

MONTREAL, April 21.—Louis (Kid) Kaplan, world's featherweight champion, knocked out Leo (Kid) Roy of Montreal, Canadian titleholder, in the seventh round of a scheduled 10-round bout here tonight. Kaplan weighed 130 3-4 and Roy 130 1-2. Kaplan's title was not at stake.

About 11,000 fight fans saw the match.

Billy Leonard of Syracuse, N.Y., was disqualified in the seventh round of the semi-final bout with Del Fontaine of Winnipeg. Leonard weighed 148 1-2 and Fontaine 156.

In the preliminaries "Red" Carr, 127 3-4 of Winnipeg, was awarded a technical knockout over Leo La Fontaine, 148 1-2, of Montreal. The award was given in the first round of a scheduled six round bout when La Fontaine took a heavy jolt to the stomach and went down for a count of nine. La Fontaine went down again when Carr clipped him a right to the head. It was then that Referee McKimmie stopped the fight and gave the decision to the westerner.

Harry Hill, English bantamweight, was given the decision over Gerald Gaudoin of Montreal in a free-hitting bout.

Mickey McGowan, local scrapper, lost the decision to Eddie Lord, a member of Kaplan's training camp, in a six-round affair. McGowan weighed 129 and Lord 128.

Roy Starts Well

In the initial exchanges "Kid" Roy stood up well to the champion, giving as much as he took and had the edge on Kaplan at the end of the first frame. Kaplan showed good judgment, however, and as the fight progressed he steadily overcame Roy's resistance. His trip-hammer blows had the local fighter bleeding in the third and in the next round Kaplan displayed great superiority. The American widened his margin of points by steadily rapping away at the Montrealer and kept the fighting at close range. The end came in the seventh when Kaplan landed on Roy often and quickly. Roy took a count of two and on resuming, Kaplan immediately sent in some smashing blows to the Montrealer's head. Roy went down and was counted out.

A Real Battle

In the second round of the Del Fontaine-Billy Leonard bout, Leonard surprised the fans by going down for a count of nine, following a crashing blow from the westerner, while immediately afterward he again made himself acquainted with the floor.

The Syracuse boxer, however, came back in the third and fought rings around Fontaine. Fontaine in the fifth frame launched a vigorous assault on Leonard who once more took a count of nine. He was saved by the bell.

In round seven there was a wild scene as Leonard's manager protested the rabbit punch of Fontaine, but the battle proceeded. Leonard took one to the head and Fontaine contributed one more while the Syracusan was en route to the floor. Again Leonard's manager protested.

Referee McKimmie continued the count, however, and Leonard had regained his feet when the bell rang.

Arguments developed as to whether Leonard should be disqualified because his second went into the ring and also whether Fontaine should similarly come under the ban because he hit Leonard when the latter was down.

After five minutes the decision was announced that Leonard had been disqualified, a verdict that was variously received by the fans.

RICKARD MUST EXPLAIN HIS RECENT PLANS

New York Commission Will Summon Promoter of Dempsey-Tunney Bout

NEW YORK, April 21.—The New York state athletic commission will summon Tex Rickard upon his return to this city from Fort Worth to explain his action in signing Jack Dempsey for a world's heavyweight championship fight in September, Chairman Farley said today.

"The state athletic commission can take no official cognizance of Rickard's movements until his plans are formally placed before the board," Mr. Farley said.

"If Rickard aims to stage a fight between Dempsey and Tunney either in New York or New Jersey—and from what I know of the situation, I believe such is his plan, he will be disciplined. He will not receive the sanction of the commission for such a fight in New York City, or will the commission withdraw from its original position requiring that Dempsey defend his title against Harry Wills."

Owl's Screech Sets Up Boxer For His K. O.

By AL DEMAREE
(Former Pitcher, New York Giants)

Ed. W. Smith, famous fight referee, told me a good story about a fight staged out in the woods, before the refinement of the game made it possible to see a fight with as much comfort as in a theater.

Big gasoline torches lighted the scene. The principals lost no time in getting started. The first round was even, and just as the second round started an enormous owl roosting in a tree directly over the ring and blinded by the lights, let out a terrible, blood-curdling screech.

Schultz, the German fighter, seemed hypnotized by the horrible sound. With his guard up in front of him he turned his head slowly away from Kelly, his opponent, and up in the direction from which the sound came.

Kelly "tooth picks," and with a running jump, he landed a right hand swing, propelled by 220 pounds of good beef behind it, on the unsuspecting Schultz's jaw nicely tilted in the air. He never knew what hit him, and went down in a heap, completely dead to the world.

The light-heavyweight championship went to Orion Stupeville of Oklahoma, who obtained a fall over Walter James of Vancouver in three minutes and 20 seconds, with a half nelson and body hold. TWENTY-EIGHT AVERAGE AGE BIG LEAGUERS

Average Height Five Feet Eleven; 172 Pounds Weight

LITTLE MAN IS BASEBALL RARETY

Gauteau, Five Feet Two, Is Smallest Player, Is Second Baseman

NEW YORK, April 21. — Rosters of the 16 major league baseball clubs, containing more than 350 prospective starters in the 1926 pennant races, reveal the average player as an athlete of 28 years, 5 feet 11 inches tall, weighing 172 pounds.

Definite physical requirements of the game have not eliminated the performer who takes a marked deviation from these figures, however, for nearly every club has its midget and its giant, its promising youth and its veteran warrior.

The little man of baseball, nevertheless, is a rarity, and the rosters reveal a mere handful of players whose height is less than 5 feet, 6 inches.

The outstanding exception has brought to the Boston Braves its brilliant young second baseman, Walter (Doc) Bautreau, one of the curiosities of the major leagues. Gautreau, who leaped from the keystone sack of a sensational Holy Cross nine to fame with the Boston club, is the smallest man in baseball, a midget of 5 feet 2 1-2 inches, weighing approximately 132 pounds.

At the other end of the line, towering 6 feet 6 inches from his cleated boots, is Connie Mack's pitching lath, Bryan Harris, revealed in the rosters as the tallest man on the major league diamond.

Six Footers

Bryan, however, has only one inch on Eppa Rixey of the Red's hurling staff. There are several players of 6 feet 4 inches, including Leo Dickerman, of the Cards, Bill Jacobson, of the Browns and Earl Sheeley, of the White Sox.

Seven of the teams have at least one player who tips the beam beyond the 200-pound mark, with Buckeye, the Cleveland hurler at the head of the diamond "whales" with a generous lead at 225 pounds.

Babe Ruth, erstwhile home run king of the Yankees, is not far behind at 215, while "Tiny" Osborne, of the Robins, Rixey, of the Reds, and Oscar Melillo, new outfielding find of the Indians, each weighs 210, according to the club rosters.

Although Gautreau holds the midget honors in both weight and height, Rabbit Maranville, who makes his start as a Robin this year, still is one of the smallest players in the game at 147 pounds. The Rabbit's height is given as 5 feet 5 inches, half an inch greater than that of Earl Adams, the Cub infielder. Charley Dressen, of the Reds, Max Flack, of the Cards, Jack Tavenor, of the Tigers and Ramon Herrera, of the Red Sox, each weighs less than 150.

All but two of the clubs have at least one player over 35 years of age and all have at least one starter under 25. Outstanding veterans are Babe Adams, of the Pirates, 43, Ty Cobb, of the Tigers, Walter Johnson, of the Senators and Grover Alexander, of the Cubs, each 39; Zach Wheat, of the Robins, Fred Williams, of the Phillies, Tris Speaker, of the Indians, Eddie Collins, of the White Sox, and Grover Hartley, of the Giants, each 38.

Leading players in the early 20s are Charley Ruffing, Red Sox pitcher, Gautreau, of the Braves, Gordon Cochrane, Athletics' catcher; Wayland Dean, Phillies pitcher; Flint Rhem, Cardinal hurler, and Lou Gehrig, Yankee first sacker.

Pilchard Refuse to Run Off Coast of Vancouver Island

VICTORIA, B. C., April 21.—Science has never been able to tell with exactitude the movements of fish, and the practical fisherman has only guessed at it, and that is why a whole industry involving many hundreds of thousands of dollars is just a little worried at present.

Despite the thorough preparations that have been made for handling a record run of pilchard off the coast of Vancouver Island this year, the pilchards have so far failed to appear.

Pilchards are used mainly for the production of fertilizer and fish meal. Their use for this purpose was authorized by legislation passed at Ottawa last year, taking precedence over a previous law making it illegal to make use of edible fish for other than human consumption.

To give some idea of the packers' expectations, it is reported that one company alone has equipped itself with a plant capable of handling 300 tons of pilchards a day. Nine tanks with a capacity of 300,000 gallons of oil have been constructed.

The development of the fertilizer and meal industry arises out of the difficulty that has been found in the past of utilizing these fish in a commercial way by any process of curing or packing.

Polish Girls Take Time at Bobbing; Boyish Bobs Coming

WARSAW, April 21.—Polish women have been very slow in succumbing to bobbed hair just as they always refrained from an extensive use of rouge. Young women with their hair dressed as Joan of Arc wore hers only became sufficiently numerous last fall to be noticed, and the shingled or boylike cut has not yet been ventured upon. Polish girls have naturally long and beautiful hair which is worn traditionally in two long braids, a style that suits their native beauty and makes the Polish girl slow to have her hair cut short.

RESTOCKING OF FRASER IS TASK

Thirteen Years Ago Slide Blocked River; Many Fish Killed

VANCOUVER, April 21. — Science is entering into an alliance with nature to restock the Fraser and other British Columbia rivers with the most valuable food fish of the Pacific coast—the salmon.

Thirteen years ago slides on the Fraser river during construction of the Canadian Northern (now Canadian National) railway, resulted in blocking the canyon and thousands of salmon on their way upstream to spawn were killed or forced back to the ocean again.

In the old days Stuart lake and other bodies of water tributary to the Fraser had their tens of thousands of salmon every year. Gradually the runs diminished, until after the disastrous slide they became almost obliterated and no salmon have been observed in some of the inland waters for four or five years.

In Shuswap lake, where 30 years ago hundreds of thousands of salmon came to spawn, last season only 100 were seen. The river, according to pioneers, formerly showed a red streak up the center during the spawning season as the fish made their way to this lake.

Over a period of years, if unmolested, nature might restock the Fraser, but that is too long for commerce to wait, so the efforts of science are being directed toward assisting nature. Restocking the Fraser is one of the main tasks before the Dominion government biological station at Departure bay, near Nanaimo, and millions of eggs from the hatcheries are being transplanted. Whether results justify the efforts has yet to be determined.

RAIL SHARES LEAD ADVANCE AT NEW YORK

Most Issues in Recovery; Trading Increases; Motors Revive; Call Money Low

NEW YORK, April 21. — Railroad shares led a sharp upward movement of prices in today's market. It was the most impressive recovery since the drastic break last month. Final quotations which were generally around the day's high disclosed a long list of net gains ranging from 1 to 8 points. Trading showed a substantial increase in volume over previous sessions this week, the day's sales falling just short of 1,500,000 shares. Easier money rates, facilitating the operations of pools, proved the chief groundwork for the advance.

Call money was officially quoted as low as 3½ per cent for the first time since last September, and that rate was shaded in the "outside market." Rumors of an early decrease in the rediscount rate of the New York Federal Reserve bank were again in widespread circulation. Curiously, the rise in prices also was associated with the rise in temperature on the theory that the warmer weather would stimulate the demand for motor cars, spring wearing apparel and other merchandise which has suffered because of recent unseasonable weather. The increase in the Vanadium Steel dividend, the decision of the Commercial Solvents Company to retire its 6½ per cent notes and the preferred and class "A" stocks, and the publication of several favorable earning reports, including that of the Crucible Steel Company, whose income for the six months ended March 31 was the best in its history, also had a bullish effect on sentiment.

Rails Up Eight Points

The demand for the railroad shares was stimulated by the continuance of heavy freight car loadings, the publication of a series of unusually favorable March earning statements, and reports that Van Sweringen Brothers were preparing the formation of a new Nickel Plate merger plan. Atlantic Coast Line soared to 197 and then yielded to 195, where it was up 8 points on the day, while net gains of 2 to nearly 5 points were recorded by Atchison, Baltimore & Ohio, Chesapeake & Ohio, Delaware & Hudson, Lackawanna, Rock Island, Reading, Southern Railway, Wabash, and a few others.

United States Steel common led the advance in the standard industrials by moving up over 2 points, to 121¼, and rising within a fraction of the top.

The advance in many specialties were accelerated by the operations of bear leaders several of whom discovered a scanty floating supply of stocks when they sought to cover their commitments.

Only a few issues failed to participate in the upward movement, the most conspicuous of which was Atlantic, Gulf and West Indies common, which fell back 1½ points, to 33½, or within a small fraction of the year's low.

Call money renewed at 4 per cent and then dropped to 3½, the lowest rate since September 20, 1925.

Time money rates also softened, 60 to 90-day maturities being quoted at 4¼, with the longer dates commanding 4⅝ to 4¾.

Prime commercial rates were unchanged.

Total sales—1,482,600 shares.

Business Facts

Directors of a corporation have threefold duties.

The directors of a corporation have a duty to fulfill not only to the corporation, but to the stockholders and to the general public as well.

To the corporation, their relation is fiduciary. They are required to act for the company unselfishly and in good faith. To the stockholders they are acting as trustees, and must serve for them honestly and with good judgment. To the public, they owe the duty of strictly obeying the laws which define their rules of conduct.

The directors are elected by the stockholders of a corporation from their own number for the purpose of governing the affairs of the corporation. Sometimes such a position carries with it personal liability for corporation debts over and above the capital stock of the company, and always these men are liable to the company for mismanagement or misconduct.

GARMENTS FROM PARIS PASSED THE CUSTOMS

Police Sergeant Tells of Seizure Made in Hotel at Quebec

INSPECTORS WERE ORDERED PASS THEM

Lady Eventually Fined $50; Goods Released; Probe Hears Drug Cases

OTTAWA, April 21.—The story of how Miss Denise Larde of Paris brought approximately 200 silk garments through the customs at Quebec only to have them seized at a Quebec city hotel, was told to the customs investigating committee this afternoon by a number of witnesses. The commitee sometime ago summoned Miss Larde to appear as a witness, but today a communication was read from the Royal Canadian Mounted Police stating that she was now in France.

Sergeant Zaneth, of the R. C. M. P., told of having received information that Miss Larde was coming to Quebec on the Empress of France with silks which she would attempt to smuggle in as personal baggage. He told of having gone to Miss Larde's hotel in Quebec, where he examined the trunks which had been passed by the customs and found them to contain silken garments of various kinds.

He had seen her try to give money to an officer who reached her room just before him. He had seized the goods and arrested the woman. The case was tried and Miss Larde was fined $50. Before the trial, said the witness, she and her counsel had come to check over the goods. Miss Larde had asked him to release two of the gowns which she said she had sold. She had told him that if he did not do so he might lose his job. The value of the goods was estimated at 72,000 francs.

Ordered Verification

Witnesses were examined to ascertain how the trunks had succeeded in passing the customs examination. The testimony of customs Officer Bolger of Quebec, who was in charge of the examination held on the Empress of France when Miss Larde brought through her trunks, was to the effect that she had informed him that they contained nothing but her own personal effects. He had instructed one of his assistants, R. Moisan, also of Quebec, to verify this and report to him, he asserted.

Customs Officer Moisan differed sharply with this witness in regard to the instructions. He claimed that Bolger had instructed him to pass the trunks. Affidavits from two other customs officers, Joseph G. Shanahan and J. A. Livingstone, that they had heard Bolger state that he had instructions to pass the trunks were read to the committee. Mr. Bolger, however, adhered to his statement that he had said no such a thing and that he had given no instructions to pass the trunks without examination.

Goods Returned

Andre Taschereau, advocate of Quebec city, informed the committee that, acting as Miss Larde's counsel, he had visited Ottawa and seen Mr. Bureau and Mr. Farrow, the minister and deputy minister of customs. He had told Mr. Bureau that his client claimed she had evaded the duty by mistake, thinking that it should be paid at her hotel instead of when the trunks were passed. He told the minister that Miss Larde had been provided with 25,000 francs to pay the duty by the firm who employed her. Eventually the goods were released.

R. L. Calder, K.C., counsel for the committee, stated that he proposed to call Officers Livingstone and Shanahan in connection with this case. In the meantime, Officer Bolger was requested to remain where he could be called when required.

Drug Purchases

Sergeant Zaneth was questioned by R. L. Calder, K.C., counsel for the committee, in regard to an investigation which he had made at Blue River, Que. The man Sergeant Zaneth was investigating was Alfred J. Levesque, said to be a bootlegger. He had visited the store of Levesque, where he found a large number of silk cushion covers, a number of pyrex dishes marked "Made in America." He had placed these articles under seizure, but on his return to Blue River at a later date, was informed by Levesque that the goods had been removed to another store owned by Levesque across the line. He had thereupon recommended that Levesque be prosecuted on a charge of stealing seized goods, but the case was not proceeded with.

Sergeant Zaneth told of other instances in which he had discovered smuggling and reported it with no result in the way of prosecution.

He was then questioned with regard to the drug traffic in Quebec city. He told of how a man, called Martineau, had gone into a store run by L. E. Martel, Quebec, with marked money and obtained from him a package marked cocaine by using a permit signed by a man called Maurois. Martel was arrested, Sergeant Zaneth said, but escaped with a fine of $200.

Efforts made by C. J. Robichaud, M.P., for Gloucester, N.B., to have a three-month jail sentence passed against one Moses Aziz of Caraquet, N.B., suspended at least during the last election campaign, were revealed in correspondence read before the customs probe today.

"Aziz is a precious help during this campaign and I can not do without his services," wrote Mr. Robichaud in a "personal and confidential" letter to Hon. G. H. Boivin, minister of customs. "Will you please consult Hon. Ernest Lapointe, minister of justice, in regard to the proceedings against Aziz. I attach the greatest importance to this since, under the circumstances, I need all my friends."

A reply was sent to Mr. Robichaud, the copy only, which bore no signature, being produced before the committee. It stated that "instructions have been given not to proceed with the prosecution at present."

Mr. Robichaud, however, on October 1, last, sent an urgent telegram to Mr. Boivin saying:

"It is most important that the matter be settled according to my wishes," and later another communication saying:

"Do your best to suspend proceedings until I can see you in Ottawa."

THE BEACON AND ITS ATTENDANT

All England recently rang with the story of how Ethel Langton, the 14-year-old daughter of the keeper of St. Helen's lighthouse, off Bembridge, Isle of Wight, kept the beacon burning for three nights during a violent storm. Her parents, who had gone to the mainland for supplies, were unable to return because of the heavy seas. On the left is Ethel, with her dog, her only companion during her long vigil. On the right she is seen climbing to the tower, where she had to attend to the lantern.

OKANAGAN CROP PROSPECTS ARE NOW EXCELLENT

Soil Conditions Favorable, Moisture Good, Report Horticulturists

VERNON, B.C., April 21. — Fruit crop prospects never appeared brighter in the Okanagan valley at this time of year, according to Morrice Middleton, government horticulturist. Soil conditions also are very favorable.

The supply of moisture is good, flowing to the ground not having been frozen, the snow water soaked into the ground with practically no run off anywhere.

The irrigation reservoirs on this account would not, it is believed, fill up so rapidly, but the precipitation has been greater than usual in the hills, so that a good deal of water will reach the storage basin eventually.

Apples, pears, plums, prunes, cherries, peaches and apricots never looked better. Apples and pears in the northern end of the valley will be heavy, while promise in the southern end would indicate a good crop here again this year.

Stone fruits in general will be heavy this year, provided spring or settling conditions are favorable.

Strawberries, raspberries, currants and gooseberries have all wintered in excellent shape this year and prospects are very good for a bumper crop. The acreage is somewhat reduced owing to the poor marketing conditions for these fruits during the last two years.

SENATE APPROVES THE WAR DEBT SETTLEMENT

WASHINGTON, April 21.—The war debt settlement with Italy was approved today by the United States senate. Italy already has ratified, and the house has also acted, so only President Coolidge's signature is necessary to bring the agreement into force. The vote was 54 to 33.

BLUE FOX PELTS ARE AUCTIONED, SEATTLE

SEATTLE, April 12. — Forty-five blue fox pelts were auctioned off on the Seattle Fur exchange today in lots of from one to six, bringing from $7.50 to $52 a pelt. Offerings include mink, red fox and ermine. The pelts were part of the winter catch from Alaska and Canada.

Indian Seeks Silver Mine on Cowichan River

VICTORIA, April 21.—Indians of the Cowichan valley and many old-time prospectors of Vancouver island are awaiting with eagerness the journey of an old Indian medicine man into the country north of Skutz, on the Cowichan river.

The old man, John Elliott, an Indian of exceptional intelligence, and a descendant of a long line of famous medicine men, has prophesied that the result of his journey will be the discovery of a silver mine so rich that it will dwarf all others in British Columbia into insignificance.

Little credence would be given to Elliott's story were it not for the fact that it is the one remaining incident in a long series of events foretold by him that has yet to materialize. Elliott himself is confident that he will make the discovery. Here is the story that indicates the reason for his faith.

Many years ago, when Elliott was a young man, his uncle, a famous medicine man gifted with a remarkable degree of second sight, foretold to his nephew the whole story of his life which lay before him, even to the number and sex of his children yet to come. Elliott has seven sons and two daughters, just as was foretold by his uncle, and every other event predicted by him has proved correct.

One prophecy alone remains to be fulfilled, and that concerns the discovery of silver worth fabulous amounts in the Cowichan river sands.

The story awakens special interest among veterans of the trail because years ago a rich silver mine in the Cowichan wilderness was known to the Indians and in their ignorance they used the silver as bullets for the old muzzle-loading muskets they obtained from the Hudson's Bay company forts. Several expeditions headed by white men have attempted to relocate the silver deposits, but in vain.

Few places in western Canada are less known than the wilds of the Cowichan river's upper reaches. They are practically unexplored. The region is full of wild life and one of the few remaining herds of wild elk roam in the meadowlands there.

B. C. FORESTS SWEPT BY HUGE FIRES

Two-thirds of Forest Wealth Fired in Past 25 Years

VICTORIA, April 21.—More drastic measures for the punishment of those found guilty of carelessness with fire in British Columbia forests are being urged by forest officials here as a means of checking the enormous losses sustained each year in standing timber as a result of burning.

During the last 25 years, according to these officials, nearly two-thirds of the entire forest area of British Columbia has been swept by fire. Three hundred and fifty billion feet of timber remain of a forest estimated at 1,000,000,000,000 feet a quarter of a century ago, and last year the losses through fire were heavier than ever. Much of the timber burned over has been replaced by natural reforestration and in many areas young growth is rapidly developing. The loss of mature timber, however, can never be replaced.

During the past 10 years alone 15,298 forest fires have been reported in this province, sweeping an area of 4,500,000 acres of forest lands and causing property damage in excess of $9,000,000. During 1925 there were 2522 fires, of which 76 per cent were caused by human agency and it is estimated that it would cost $2,500,000 to replant the area. This loss was sustained despite the fact that the provincial forest service was more efficiently organized than ever before.

Trapper Beats Off Pack Hungry Wolves in Prince Rupert Area

PRINCE RUPERT, B.C., April 21.—N. Dayton, Prince George trapper, operating in the McGregor River country, beat off a pack of 20 wolves with but one cartridge left in his rifle. Trappers say the prevalence of large bands of wolves are a serious menace to big game, especially moose.

ITALIAN MUSIC MASTERS SPURN JAZZ IN OPERA

Jazz Treated With Horror and Contempt in Home of Grand Opera

ROME, April 21.—Italy, the home of grand opera, spurns with horror and contempt the idea that jazz may some day cross the thresholds of the Scala of Milan, the San Carlo of Naples and the Costanzi of Rome as it has already entered the Metropolitan in New York.

Nor is jazz-inspired symphonic music sure of a warmer reception in a country which accords jazz dance music and dancing a reluctant tourist's welcome, entertaining them in hotels and public places but barring them unequivocally from homes.

"I speak for most Italian musicians and music lovers of the younger generation in declaring that I adore American jazz," said Mario Corti, most celebrated violinist of Italy, professor at the Royal Academy of Santa Cecilia and perhaps the most representative figure in the musical life of present-day Italy.

"We love its vigor, its novelty, its gayety and freshness, but it is too much from the path of our traditions to be fused with or into our music. Indeed, it presents a danger which we must avoid."

Makes Him Ill

Signor Corti's polite mildness is in distinct contrast with the violence of Pietro Mascagni, author of "Cavalleria Rusticana" and authentic torch-bearer of the Verdian tradition of lyrical grand opera, who abhors jazz music so wholeheartedly that he is soon to go to the United States as an arch-crusader in a holy war against it.

"When I listen to the howling, groaning, brutal noise-making of a jazz band," Signor Mascagni said, "it makes me unutterably ill. Especially the saxophone players, who try to imitate the voice of the most ignoble animals.

"Those dancers who, instead of making the strange steps which would be compatible with the pseudo-negro musical cacophony, slide about slowly and lugubriously. They become more funereal as the music becomes more frenzied.

"Let's get rid of it and go back to Johan Strauss, who knew how to write dance music full of charm and abandon."

Has on Musicians

While the work of contemporaneous Italian composers does not appear to have been written with Signor Mascagni's advice in mind, it still less shows the influence of the new American music.

"Italy," said Signor Corti, "does not have to look to America for fuel for her musical genius. Far from being poor in creative talent, the present generation in our country is furnishing a real renaissance. Of the nine leaders of this movement, not a single one has reached the ripe age of 50, several are in their early 30s, and yet their work has already gained international fame."

The men of whom Signor Corti spoke are Ildebrabdo Pizzetti, Ottorino Respighi, G. Franscesco Malipiero, Alfredo Casella, Mario Castelnuovo-Tedesco, Franco Alfano, Victor de Sabata, Vincenzo Tommasini and Ricardo Pick-Mangiaelli.

Pizzetti, who is director of the Milan conservatory, has had enormous influence both in Italy and abroad as the continuer of the true Italian musical tradition.

Casella and Respighi are well known in the United States, each having played and conducted his own compositions there. Respighi's playing his "Pines of Rome" in New York this year caused a sensation because he introduced into the orchestration the voice of a nightingale played by a phonograph record.

EVERY FOURTH PERSON LIVES BY THE FOREST

Trees Touch the Lives of All Daily, Writes Poole

EIGHTY MILLION YEARLY RETURNS

Four Out of Five Forest Fires Start From Carelessness

(By I. R. POOLE.)

One of the most important problems confronting the people of Canada and of this continent as a whole is that of protecting and perpetuating our forest resources. We receive either directly or indirectly from the forests food, clothing, shelter, health, happiness, recreation and inspiration.

Essential to Existence

Trees furnish the pulp without which we would not enjoy the vast amount of written and printed matter which has had a large part in the development and progress of this country. Trees furnish wood fiber for the manufacture of clothing, and furnish protection for the fur-bearing animals from which we obtain furs. They furnish shelter and protection for birds and game of all kinds.

In addition, trees prevent errosion of the land from which we obtain our food supply; they conserve moisture which feeds the streams and guarantees our water supply. In fact, there is not a moment of the day when we are not enjoying some useful product of the forest.

Province's Premier Industry

Lumbering is the most important industry in British Columbia. It is estimated that over $200,000,000 has been invested in the lumber industry, and one in every four persons in this province is dependent upon the forest for a livelihood.

Forest products furnish the railways with the bulk of their traffic and pay in rail and water freights approximately $25,000,000 per year.

The value of British Columbia forest products at point of production in the year 1925 was estimated at $82,000,000, practically all of which goes direct to the public in the form of wages, supplies and taxes.

Direct revenue of British Columbia from the forests has averaged about $3,500,000 which has been of no mean assistance in lightening the burden of taxation on the public in general.

Future Generations Lose

The direct loss from forest fires in the Dominion last year, although less than the average for the previous five years period, amounted to the very large sum of $6,646,000. The total loss in the Dominion thraough the destruction of timber in the six years 1920 to 1925 inclusive was over $76,000,000. In the last six years some 3,910,000 acres of mature timber were burned over, and the same thing happened to some 4,750,000 acres of young growth which would have helped to supply the needs of future generations.

During the past year the loss from forest fires in British Columbia was very heavy. A summary prepared by the forest branch shows that a total of 893,961 acres was burned over, entailing a loss of nearly one billion feet of merchantable timber, in addition to the loss of young growth on some 224,219 acres included in the total acres mentioned. In addition to the loss of merchantable timber and young growth, forest products, camps and logging equipment to the value of over $500,000 were burned. On top of this loss, there was an expenditure of some $574,000 by the forest protection fund, in addition to large sums expended by private individuals protecting personal property.

But the monetary loss is not all, as the scourge of forest fires has laid waste thousands of acres of tree-clad and verdant hills and valleys, and destroyed all plant life. Many years will pass before plant life will regenerate and develop to any considerable size on these devastated lands. In the meantime these blackened areas will be shunned by both man and beast, as lands devoid of trees and plant life will provide no shelter for birds or game, and will certainly not prove attractive to the tourist.

The financial loss, and the condition of the fire swept areas referred to, are largely the result of neglect and carelessness on the part of the public, as records over a period of years indicate that at least 80 per cent of all forest fires are due to human agencies. Carelessness and neglect has robbed the people of untold wealth by the destruction of our forest resources through fire.

Perpetuation and protection of our forests is of vital importance to every individual living in this country, and to the future generations to come. It therefore behooves everyone to take a personal interest in safeguarding the forests, and to exercise the same thought and care with reference thereto as they would in connection with their private homes.

Just think what a God-forsaken and barren looking country this would be without trees.

TULIP BEDS ON BOULEVARDS IS MAYOR'S IDEAL

Suggestion Is Variously Received at City Council Session

Scarlet and saffron may dot the emerald green of Vernon street's three boulevards, if an idea put before the council Tuesday night by Mayor J. A. McDonald is acted upon some time in the future. The mayor said it was the general impression among the citizens that the boulevards should be planted with flowers. He suggested some tulips might be set out in them.

Peebles Makes Gesture

Alderman R. A. Peebles, the silent man of the council—even as compared with Alderman J. E. McKenzie—shook his head violently at this thought, while City Clerk W. E. Wasson was moved to ejaculate:

"We will need another policeman!"

A hint that this was under the parks committee proved to be gratifying information to Alderman J. T. Berrington, who said he had not known it before, but would go into the matter. He intimated the park gardener was a fairly busy man as it was.

All matters concerning the streets, it was pointed out, belonged to the public works committee, this letting Alderman Berrington out.

Mayor McDonald admitted it might be too late to do much this year, but more might be done next. Bulbs could be planted in the boulevards next spring.

Shrubs for Barton

Alderman Samuel Barton, himself a flower lover, held that a reasonable course would be to put out some hardy shrubs in the fall. Bulbs were an expensive way of bedding out a city, he commented.

The debate ended with no action taken.

Major Waite Brings Camera Man to Shoot Pictures of Mines

Major R. K. Waite has employed "Sandy," a motion picture film in the from Portland, Ore., to shoot 2000 feet of motion picture film in the Kootenays. His primary object is to boost the Kootenay and the Kootenay mines, but views of Nelson will be taken.

Major Waite will bring American financiers into the country to inspect mines, and he predicts the greatest surprise of years within the next 90 days.

ASK MANSON CHARGE FOR POLICING CITY

Berrington Thinks Cost Is Lower Under the Province

MAYOR DEFENDS PRESENT FORCE

Council Takes Action in a Spirit of Inquiry

That Nelson is over-policed, and that perhaps the transferring of this city to the control of the attorney-general through the provincial police would be a good move, seemed to be suggested by Alderman J. T. Berrington Tuesday night, when he made a proposal that the attorney-general be asked to state what the cost to the city would be of having the provincial police perform the police duties.

Alderman J. P. Morgan seconded the suggestion, and it was adopted by the council, more or less in a spirit of inquiry, after a spirited debate between Mayor J. A. McDonald and Alderman Berrington.

Sees Advantages

Drawing attention to the fact that the government a year or so ago offered to police those municipalities that wished such a step, Alderman Berrington paid a tribute to the system as offering young men a good profession, and suggested it had certain obvious advantages. Nelson's police force cost too much, he suggested, pointing out that Trail got along with a smaller force, and he moved that the attorney-general be asked to state what the cost of having the province police the city would be.

The mayor declared that Nelson was well taken care of by its police force, and that the result was obtained as cheaply as in any city in Canada.

To Alderman Berrington's derisive query about Trail, he said Trail and Nelson could not be compared, for Trail was compact, it was a one-company community, and practically everybody worked at the same place. He said Nelson's police costs were proportionately lower than those of Calgary, Edmonton and Vancouver, though elsewhere throughout Canada the rule held that one officer was required for every 1000 of population.

Alderman Samuel Barton thought the motion a reasonable one, as it only proposed asking for information. If the information obtained was that the cost would be lower under the provincial police, then he would be prepared to consider such a proposal.

Massov Pleads Guilty and Pays Three Hundred

Pleading guilty to a charge of selling liquor, George Massov, proprietor of the Kootenay hotel, was sentenced by Police Magistrate William Brown yesterday to pay a fine of $300 or to serve three months in jail. He paid the fine.

Massov was arrested Tuesday in the act of selling liquor to a man, Peter Stralaeff, sent to the Kootenay hotel with the object of getting evidence against him.

E. G. Matthew, of Donaghy & Matthew, appeared for the accused.

Hendryx Street to Get Two Blocks of Macadam Pavement

Permission was given to City Engineer J. A. Ferguson at Tuesday night's council session, to proceed with the macadamizing of Hendryx street between Carbonate and Latimer, on one side. This two-block link will fill a gap in the paving system of the hill.

He also received permission to grade Kootenay avenue to Fourth street.

Chief Long Will Prosecute Owners of Chickens, Cattle

Chief of Police Thomas H. Long stated yesterday that the city police would rigidly enforce all traffic by-laws, as well as those regarding cattle and chickens. One of the by-laws which he will particularly enforce is the one regarding bicycle riding on the sidewalks. The chief stated that he is out to stop this dangerous practice.

In regard to live stock, he said he would prosecute in the case of any cattle, horses or chickens being allowed to run at large in the city limits.

SALVATION ARMY GIVEN A GRANT AFTER DEBATE

Alderman Berrington Moves That the Churches Get Them

A request from the Salvation Army for a grant toward its charitable work was answered by the city council Tuesday night, with a grant of $100, as in former years.

There were two dissentients—Aldermen J. T. Berrington and J. P. Morgan.

When Alderman J. E. McKenzie proposed a grant of $100, after Mayor J. A. McDonald had paid a tribute to the charitable work of the Army, Alderman Berrington moved in amendment that the grant to the Army be accompanied by grants of the same dimension to all the other religious organizations in the city.

Alderman Morgan said the precedent of the past was not necessarily to be followed. He was under the impression the money would be sent to the coast; ata all events, no account would be rendered of it.

Does Charitable Work

The other members of the council asserted the charitable work of the Army in Nelson, was large, and covered a field not taken care of in the ordinary way.

On the proposition that all the churches be given grants, Alderman Samuel Barton, associated with St. Paul's United church, said he would object to his church receiving a grant, and he asserted the grants would be demeaning.

Alderman Berrington's amendment was lost, and the Salvation Army was given the customary grant.
