Australia Backs British Stand at Naval Conference

SYDNEY, Australia, July 31. —In a speech at Maryborough, Victoria, Saturday, Premier Stanley Bruce of Australia said it was very important to Australia that the British Empire should not agree to any plan of disarmament which would imperil the supremacy of the British navy on the seven seas.

The chief efforts of the British delegates at Geneva, he stated, were directed toward the effective guarding of the Empire's trade routes. That was very important to Australia, and if it were not assured Australia would be in a very desperate situation, because it was necessary to send her produce over the seas to create credit necessary to carry on Australia's trade life.

CITY OF LIGHT GREETS PRINCES AND BALDWINS

Montreal Mass of White Light, Noise Galore in Night Welcome

MONTREAL, July 1.—To the deafening noise of sirens, sounded by every vessel in the harbor, the shrieking of motor klaxons and the cheers of thousands who thronged all approaches, His Royal Highness the Prince of Wales, accompanied by Prince George and Rt. Hon. Stanley Baldwin, prime minister of Great Britain, arrived in Montreal this evening. The royal party had left Quebec this morning and made the trip from the ancient capital to the eastern metropolis by river steamer. The demonstration on shore began around 9:45 p.m., when the vessel conveying the princes and the premier slowly entered the harbor and made its way in a veritable blaze of light toward the wharf at the foot of McGill street.

The electric lighting effects on all the harbor buildings, sheds and elevators made it as clear as day and the steamship St. Lawrence, which had been placed at the disposal of the royal party, moved like a glistening wraith out of the gloom into the dazzling brilliance of the harbor.

Welcomed by Mayor

On the wharf when the distinguished guests arrived there was little formal ceremony. His royal highness was greeted by Senator MacDougald, chairman of the harbor commission; Brigadier-General W. B. King, commander military district No. 6; and Mayor Mederic Martin of Montreal. After presentations were over, the prince and his suite, accompanied by Mr. and Mrs. Baldwin and their party, stepped ashore into waiting automobiles. They were driven through lines of cheering thousands from the harbor "up the hill" to the Ritz Carlton hotel, which will be their home for the 35 hours they are in the city.

PORT ELGIN, Ont., July 31.—Premier Howard Ferguson, in addressing a Conservative picnic here Saturday, discouraged rumors that he is angling for the federal leadership of the Conservative party by a statement that he preferred to remain in the provincial field.

"I think the best place for me is in the provincial field where I am close to my people," he said.

Major Walkem to Support Tolmie in House, He States

VANCOUVER, July 31.—Major G. A. Walkem, elected to the British Columbia legislature as the provincial representative for Richmond-Point Grey, announced tonight that he had decided to support Hon. Dr. S. F. Tolmie, Conservative leader, in the house henceforth.

In his announcement, addressed to Dr. Tolmie, the member says that "as one of the principal objects of the Provincial party was to turn out the Liberal government, you may be assured that in anything which will facilitate this thing I am with you now."

LONDON BOMBED AND LAID WASTE IN MIMIC RAID

Air Maneuvres Completed; Capital Easy Prey in Sham Battle of Air

LONDON, July 31.—While the tripartite naval disarmament conference at Geneva argues over the size of guns and cruisers London was "bombed, burned and laid waste," during the five-day spectacular mimic aerial warfare which ended last night. The air manouvers came to a conclusion with the last of 105 air raids, which were launched day and night. Actually London still stands serenely by the river Thames, but if real bombs had been dropped by the invading planes of the enemy country "Eastland" the British capital would have fallen an easy prey to the attackers.

This is the opinion of many aeronautical experts who followed the sham battles. One of the most striking lessons learned during the past week is that English weather affords no immunity from air attacks.

Another important conclusion of the week is the necessity for building the speediest type of fighting planes with rapid climbing power. It has been proven that attacking bombers can reach the heart of London within 12 minutes from the time they cross the channel coast line; that these attackers can drop bombs upon the city and be off again almost before the defence planes can get into the air to intercept them.

LADY LAUDER IS DEAD, SCOTLAND

Wife of Sir Harry Ill a Fortnight; Comedian Is Prostrated

DOON, Scotland, July 31.—Lady Lauder, wife of Sir Harry Lauder, the famous Scotch comedian, died today in a Glasgow nursing home. Sir Harry, who is here, is prostrated with grief.

Lady Lauder had been ill for a fortnight. She was operated on last Monday and appeared to be progressing satisfactorily, but died rather suddenly.

Lady Lauder was 58 years of age. Her maiden name was Annie Vallance. She was one of a family of 17, and both her parents are living.

The funeral will be held at Invernodan, Argyll, on Wednesday.

Sir Harry is a broken man as the result of the shock of his wife's sudden death. The strain of the past fortnight, during Lady Lauder's illness, severely affected the comedian, but recent encouraging bulletins regarding her progress had heartened him.

Lady Lauder was the daughter of a miner and began work in a flax mill when a child at wages of four shillings a week. Later she joined the Salvation Army and it was while she was a Salvation Army lass that she met Harry Lauder. Afterward she accompanied on his tours.

Bella Coola Settler Attacked; Blinds Bear by Birdshot, Then Escapes

BELLA COOLA, BC., July 31.—Harry Sinclair, settler on the MacKenzie highway, had a narrow escape when a big grizzly bear attacked him. The bear, attracted by the approach of the man, made for him. Sinclair was carrying a shot gun, but only had one shell. He fired when the grizzly was less than 12 yards away, and when the birdshot blinded the animal, Sinclair managed to escape.

FORTY THOUSAND ARE HOMELESS IN INDIAN FLOODS

Loss of Life in Baroda Not So Great as Reported at First

FIVE HUNDRED DEAD; IN ONE SETTLEMENT

Terrible Conditions Follow the Flood; 5000 Houses Destroyed in Place

LONDON, India, July 31.—Telegraphic communication with Baroda has been restored and dispatches show that while the city and sections nearby had been under water for three days, reports of wholesale casualties are unconfirmed, and it is untrue that the Ajwu dam burst. The death toll in the city is placed at 50, while in other sections it is not expected to exceed 100.

More than 5000 houses were destroyed at Atmedabad.

The Bombay correspondent of the Daily Mail, however, quotes a European, who has arrived in Bombay from Boroda as saying that a large number of people were swept to their deaths in the floods in the latter city. This visitor estimates the deaths at close to 500, although adding that the exact total will never be known. The Daily Mail despatch continues to quote this informant in substance as follows:

"Volunteer parties in the city of Boroda did heroic rescue work in boats, saving among others, the British resident (the British government representative in the state of Boroda), Lieutenant-Colonel Richard Burke and a party of 50, who were marooned on the top floor of the British residency for three days without food. All the Europeans in Boroda city were saved.

Terrible Conditions

"The situation within the city was terrible. Near the railway station a fierce current swept away houses and the inmates climbed into trees from which many dropped from exhaustion after several days and were carried away in the waters.

"An Indian wrestling champion, who is a strong swimmer, alone, rescued 60 people from trees and house tops.

"The bodies of humans and of animals were mixed in inextricable confusion. In some parts of the city the utmost misery exists, many thousands being homeless

"The situation in other affected places is much the same as in Boroda. It is estimated that 40,000 people are homeless in Ahmedadad. The damage was especially great in the Amod, Broach, Janbusar and Dholka districts."

LONDON, Ont., July 31.—The committee in charge of the London-to-London flight announced today that James Vance of Toronto had declined to make the trip because Lieut. T. J. Tulley could not accompany him. Vance was chosen as pilot after Captain Roy Maxwell and Tulley were refused leave of absence.

Tulley wired Vance on Saturday that he would not resign from the Ontario forestry patrol service, of which he and Maxwell are members, in order to make the trip.

Heavy Damage in Fires at Winnipeg and St. Boniface

WINNIPEG, July 31.—Two fires took a property toll of $30,000 in Winnipeg and St. Boniface over the week-end.

St. Boniface firemen fought a spectacular blaze for two hours when a shed of the Barrett Tar company, containing 500 barrels of tar-pitch, was destroyed. The loss was estimated at $15,000.

Tonight 152 horses were safely removed from the Canadian National railway's stables when fire swept the north wing of the structure, causing a loss of $15,000.

Weather Brightens and So Do Hopes of English Flyer

SOUTHAMPTON, England, July 31.—"At last the Atlantic weather shows signs of improving," said Captain F. T. Courtney, the British aviator tonight, after receiving the evening bulletin concerning the storm which has been holding up his flight to New York.

The date of his hopoff has not yet been definitely fixed, but he expects to start within a few days.

MOTH PLANE IS WINNER OF AIR DERBY; ENGLAND

De Haviland Machine Averages 92.8 in 540-Mile Race, Bad Weather

NOTTINGHAM, England, July 31.—The King's cup aerial derby was won Saturday by Lawrence Hope, piloting a two-year-old De Haviland moth plane. He completed three circuits of 180 miles each, all starting and finishing here, at an average speed of 92.8 miles an hour.

Hope is a noted "bad weather pilot," and seemed to glory in the stormy conditions in which the race was held. Only six out of 20 machines entered completed the course.

Women were represented for the first time, but Lady Bailey, the only woman starter, was forced out by engine trouble.

The seaplane stationed in Nelson for the forest branch and flown by Captain Ted Dobbin is a De Haviland moth machine.

Leisure Time on Board Ship for Royal Visitors

MONTREAL, July 31.—Sunday was a leisurely day on the St. Lawrence for the princes and the premier of Great Britain. A small, informal party made the trip from Quebec to Montreal on board the S. S. St. Lawrence.

The Prince of Wales spent nearly two hours in the very bow of the ship with cap and pipe in conversation with Senator Dandurand, watching the Quebec shores slip by. His royal highness never failed to respond with a wave of his cap to the greetings from the lighthouse keepers and barge crews along the river's course. From one small boat came salutes from a shotgun. Presumably it was a royal salute, for the patriot was still firing in the air when the ship left him far behind.

Prince George joined the ship's orchestra for a short time and tried a few brief notes on the clarionet.

Mr. and Mrs. Baldwin spent the day on the decks in the open air, chatting with many of the passengers who made up the party.

BRITISH SEEK PLENARY MEET ON ARMAMENTS

Wish to Appeal to Public Opinion of World; States Files Refusals

PLENARY SESSION IS POSTPONED

U. S. Delegates Threaten With Motion to Adjourn on Thursday

GENEVA, July 31.—A sensational development emerged tonight from another amazing day in Geneva's amazing tripartite naval conference—for by mutual agreement the plenary session arranged for tomorrow, which most delegates believed would sound the dirge of the conference, hall been postponed until either Wednesday or Thursday.

This in itself is said in conference circles to be a somewhat favorable sign, but the belief is expressed that it would be a grave error to assume that it necessarily implies the salvation of the conference.

Excessive optimism would be ill-founded, observers say, because the United States continues to demand that she be given full liberty to construct eight-inch gun secondary cruisers within the tonnage allotted to her.

May Adjourn

If no agreement on this vital question is reached by the middle of the week and the plenary session is actually held then all indications seem to point, in the belief of the observers, to the probability that the conference will collapse on that occasion.

Reliable information is that if no solution of this cruiser difficulty is found by Thursday, Hugh S. Gibson, chief of the American delegation, will take it upon himself to suggest adjournment of the conference sine die after having explained the attitude of the United States.

Today Mr. Gibson informed W. C. Bridgeman, head of the British delegation, that the United States government, including President Coolidge had entirely concurred in the refusal of the delegation to accept the British plan.

British Reject It

Meanwhile the United States delegation made public the text of a so-called political clause, suggested by that delegation in the hope that it would relieve any apprehension with respect to the intentions of the United States in construction of cruisers.

This clause had been rejected by the British when it was presented during a meeting of the plenipotentiaries convoked to consider the British plan. The draft clause in question provides that if any signatory thinks that another is utilizing its total cruiser tonnage in manner to call for an adjustment of the total tonnage, it may convoke a meeting of all the signatory powers in an attempt to reach a satisfactory adjustment. Failure in this, the signatory may denounce the treaty, denunciation to be effective at the end of the year.

United States Refuses

Today Mr. Bridgeman still found the clause useless as a means of saving the conference on the fundamental cruiser problem. Mr. Bridgeman countered by requesting the insertion of a clause in the treaty whereby the United States would register its present intention of not building more than a certain number of eight-inch gun cruisers.

It is reported that the United States delegation refused this British suggestion.

Today's events indicate that the conference has been galvanized into action, for the plenipotentiaries are now meeting again.

The British, it is said, still want a plenary session, and it is understood that Viscount Cecil in particular wishes to make an appeal to the public opinion of the world, not to let the naval conference break up without a harmonious agreement.

The Americans, on the other hand, are understood to see no possible good in a public meeting of this nature.

Little to Substantiate Reports of Heavy Loss of Life in China Quake

PEKING, July 31.—Meagre reports here regarding the great earthquake May 23 in Kansu province, western China, furnish little to substantiate reports circulated abroad that there was great loss of life, with casualties reaching even 100,000.

Accounts received here say the city of Liangchow, in northern Kansu, was virtually razed by the earthquake, with damage running into millions of dollars, but with small loss of life.

Kansu is cut off from communication with the remainder of China and no details are obtainable.

MAGLIO MENS WEAR BLOCK — CHARLES MORRIS LTD. — BOYS WEAR — BAKER STREET — JUST OUTSIDE THE HIGH RENT DISTRICT

ABOUT NINETY PER CENT OF CROPS HEADED

Moisture Abundant, Enabling Them to Fill Out Well, Says Report

WINNIPEG, Man., July 1.—About 90 per cent of all crops are fully headed, reports the Canadian Pacific railway department of agriculture, abundant moisture enabling it to fill out well. Harvesting will not be general until the last of August, even under the most favorable conditions. While rust is evident in a few districts, infestation is not serious or extensive, and weather conditions are not favoring further developments.

Crop pests, apart from a few indications of saw fly, are entirely absent. Sweet clover is now being harvested and is an excellent and abundant crop, while hay is the best in years. Live stock are thriving on splendid pastures in every province. All coarse grains are making good progress, with a promise of yied exceeding last season's, though later sown.

Wheat in Head

Practically all the wheat is in head in Manitoba, also early sown oats and barley. Oats are coming satisfactorily and should produce good yields. Late sown flax, however, runs some chance of damage from early frost. Rye cutting is in progress and should be general over a large section of the province next week. Rust, both red and black, is showing in a few fields in southern Manitoba, but has not made much headway, and there is good chance of crop in the effected districts coming through in good condition. Some of the earlier wheat will be out in about 10 days, but harvesting generally is not expected until about the third week in August.

Crop conditions in Saskatchewan, excepting the hailed area previously reported, are good, practically everywhere and even in case of exceptions considerable recovery is taking place.

No Insects

Sufficient rains have fallen to keep the crops growing nicely and no insect pests or other adverse circumstances of a general nature have interferred. About 90 per cent of the wheat is headed and in good condition. Cutting of hay and sweet clover, of which there are abundant crops, gives assurance of ample winter feed.

Much of the loss from hail in Alberta will be recovered, it is expected, since it is not serious in relation to the yield of the province as a whole. Many fields of oats and barley are also in head, both being excellent crops. Sugar beet crop in the south is excellent. The cutting of winter rye has commenced at many points and the crop is a heavy one. Exceptional yields of hay are reported and cutting is under way. Pastures have not been better for years and live stock situation is good.

Weather conditions over British Columbia are fine and fruit, grain and root crops are doing well. Soft fruits season is about over. Early apples and potatoes now coming in. Tree fruits give promise of a good average yield.

Auto Clubs Not Recognized in the New Regulations

OTTAWA, July 31.—New regulations governing the issuance of permits for tourists' automobiles have been issued by the department of national revenue. The outstanding feature of the new regulations is that certificates from automobile clubs as a basis for obtaining extension of permits will not be accepted in future. On the other hand, the department has notified collectors that permits for a period of 60 days will be granted to bona fide automobile tourists without bond or deposit with the privilege of a 30-day extension on application to the collector. The change is effective immediately.

Immigration to U. S. A. From Canada Consistent, He States

HOQUIAM, Wash., July 31.—Canadian immigration to the United States in the opinion of Albert Johnson, chairman of the house of congress committee on immigration, is annually consistent, the figures standing at about 82,000.

Total immigration to the United States from all countries for the year June 30 last, he estimated at more than half a million.

MOTHERS AND THEIR CHILDREN

MAKE WEEDING INTERESTING

One Mother says:

I taught my son a way of pulling weeds and dandelions from the grass so that it was more of a pleasure than a task. I got a large salt shaker and filled it with a sturdy grass seed. Now, after he has pulled a weed, he shakes some seed into the space and levels it over. Then he watches the spot carefully to see if his seeds are growing. Soon he will help daddy weed the garden, and next spring he will be experienced enough to plant a few vegetables and flower seeds by himself.

"General" Flora Drummond, Veteran Suffragist in Canada; to Speak Nelson

MONTREAL, July 31.—British feminists are confident that Premier Stanley Baldwin will keep the promise he made to give women the vote at 21, according to "General" Flora Drummond, veteran suffragist, who passed through this city today with several members of the organization she founded to uphold Empire traditions and fight against communism—the Women's Guild of the Empire.

"We believe in arbitration," General Flora said. "In the 20th century, after all this time, men and masters ought to be able to sit down and think things over."

"With Mrs. John Craig, Miss Elsie Bowerman, I started in armistice year the movement known as the Women's Guild of the Empire. We started with three members and now have 40,000. The old militia movement is revived. We are fed up with strikes. We maintain that if British women are educated on economic questions, we will get better unity in industry in our own Empire."

Mrs. Drummond will travel on to the west and will investigate various industries in this country. She will address an I.O.D.E. meeting in Nelson, a combined meeting in Calgary, will visit mines near Edmonton and shipyards at Vancouver, returning to Montreal about the middle of October.

Delicate Operation Performed Aboard Empress of Asia

VANCOUVER, July 31.—On the last lap of a race with death, Henry Rushton, Vancouver marine engineer, was hurried to hospital in a waiting ambulance on the arrival of the Canadian Pacific liner Empress of Asia here Sunday afternoon. The race began Friday night when it was discovered that Rushton was suffering from appendicitis in an advanced stage. Dr. Ivan Mackinnon, the ship surgeon, called into consultation two medical men among the passengers, Lieut. J. D. Borhan of the British Army Medical Corps, and Dr. F. Hartel, a German practioner, from Kobe. At 10:30 o'clock that night the medical science of three countries was pooled in an effort to save the man's life on the operating table. Dr. Hartel, reputed to be the best surgeon in Japan, conducted the operation.

A calm sea aided the delicate work. Although still in a serious condition when the ship reached port, the patient was standing the strain of the operation well and was expected to pull through safely. He is rated fifth engineer on the Empress of Asia and has his home at Vancouver, B.C.

London will apply to the liquor commission to rule the municipal tourist camp as out-of-bounds for consumption of liquor.

GAME TIED IN EIGHTH; TRAIL HAS TEN ERRORS

Heavy Hitting Feature; Carmody Gets Homer; Score in Every Inning

TRAIL, B.C., July 31.—After an eight-inning battle that tied the game 8-8, Rossland started a merry-go-round in the ninth and walloped Trail Camels 13-8 in a West Kootenay class "A" ball entangelement here today.

Trail took a 2-0 lead in the first. Rossland scored in the second, and Trail brought in another in the third, making it 3-1. Rossland's tally in the next lessened Trail's lead to 3-2. In the fifth each nine gained one, making the score 4-3. Rossland jumped into the lead in the sixth on the strength of a 6-4 score, and added another in the seventh, making it 7-4. In the eighth Trail brought four runners across the plate, and Rossland tallied once, making a tie of 8-8. Rossland got five in the final inning. There was scoring in every inning.

Trail's 10 errors against the single one committed by Rossland were a big factor.

Heavy Hitting

The game was featured by heavy hitting, Cosgriff, Rotchford and J. Ferko garnering two-baggers, Carmody, O'Leary and Cobain getting three-base hits, and Carmody slamming the ball for the full circuit.

Cobain, on the mound for Rossland, collected eight strikeouts. Mackenzie, his partner, made two. O'Leary, Trail chucker, got five. Cobain gave two bases on balls, and O'Leary gave one.

H. Lauriente, Trail catcher, allowed two passed balls, and De Pasquale, on third sack, missed one.

ESLING TELLS CHURCHMEN OF IMMIGRATION

GOVERNMENT PLANS TO ASSIST THREE THOUSAND

Explains Nominating System; Men Dissatisfied With Present Method

TRAIL, B.C., July 31.—Detailing the conditions of the two schemes, under which Canadian government is seeking to encourage immigration, H. K Esling, M.P., of Rossland, addressed 50 members of St. Andrew's Churchmen's club at the parish hall tonight.

The first scheme is the assisted settlement of British families, whereby the Canadian government proposes to bring in 3000 British families and place them on farms.

The other is the British Empire settlement scheme, under which any British subject resident in Canada may nominate a British subject residing in the United Kingdom for work on the land or for household work. In this scheme the nominee is assisted by reduced fares of £2 to Halifax, £5 10s to Calgary, £8 to Vancouver.

A great many points were brought up by the members, the general feeling being one of dissatisfaction for the existing system.

'POISON IVY' IS GOING ROUNDS ABOUT TRAIL

Medical Health Officer Warns People to Avoid the Disease

TRAIL, B.C., July 31.—Dr. F. S. Eaton, Trail public health officer, reports there are many cases of so-called "poison ivy" or skin poisoning from plants, in the city.

"While this disease is a non-communicable one," he stated, "nevertheless it is annoying and frequently painful. Some persons who contract it have a yearly recurrence, while others are apparently immune.

"It being almost impossible to stamp out this weed, which grows thickly in many places on the outskirts of the city, parents should warn their children to beware of it. As many people do not recognize this plant when they see it, some means of education should be used. A glass-fronted notice board, containing samples of this and other harmful plants and insects, to be hung in the post office or some other public place, has been suggested.

Dangers of Typhoid

"Another thing, this is the season of the year when typhoid is most prevalent. Epidemics start up easily at this time, when people are out camping and do not take care where they obtain water. Flies and other insects foster and carry these diseases at an alarming rate. One motto I would impress upon the people of Trail, and that is 'Swat the fly!' Flies are the worst germ carriers we have; destroy them, and keep down disease."

Free of Disease

Speaking of health conditions in the city, Dr. Eaton said that apart from the aforementioned skin troubles, the city is almost free of disease, but few cases of communicable disease being on record.

"Poison ivy" or "poison oak," the latter being the species more common to the district, is a small shrub with bright green three-pronged leaves. In appearance they are much like a maple leaf, only more irregular. Apparently the plant has its mort virulent effect when the skin is wet, as when bathing, although they will also affect a dry skin, causing irritating white blisters to appear within a few days.

Britain Has Earnest Desire to Limit Armament

The British case in the armament discussion is simple enough.

Great Britain, on account of its farflung dominions, requires a large number of cruisers, but it does not for defense purposes need large, heavily armed warships. The United States naval department desires plenty of large cruisers, 10,000-ton warships armed with eight-inch guns.

Originally, the United States proposed that cruiser construction should be limited by limiting the total tonnage of all cruisers which either nation might possess.

Great Britain is perfectly willing to agree to such a limit, as it desires even more urgently than the United States to cut down naval expenditure.

But because Great Britain requires a large number of small cruisers to protect its widely scattered empire, it cannot limit itself to a small tonnage if it has to build many 10,000-ton eight-inch gun cruisers.

Therefore, Britain wants an agreement to drop construction of 10,000-tonners and to use only small vessels for defense. It points out that the 10-000-ton cruiser, armed with eight-inch guns, is an offensive vessel and not required for purely defensive purposes. On the other hand, if the United States insists on continuing to build 10,000-ton cruisers, Great Britain must do likewise, and these in conjunction with the necessary number of small cruisers increase the tonnage to a figure beyond that suggested originally by the United States.

That is the situation. If the United States would agree to limiting to a small number, or to wiping out altogether the large cruiser and to building only small defensive cruisers, the nations at Geneva could get together in five minutes.

It must always be remembered that a dozen small, lightly armed cruisers are practically useless against one big, heavily armed vessel which can outrange them. Coronel—a disaster the British Empire hasn't forgotten—proved that.

Hence, if other nations insist on building big and heavily armed warships, so must Great Britain.

Conditions Good in Nelson Because Surrounding District Prosperous

Visitors to Nelson who have known the city for many years state that they have never seen it look as prosperous.

They point to the large amount of building which is in progress, to the busy stores, to the prosperous looking homes and to the well-dressed, happy people.

That is all true. Naturally the improvement in conditions is more apparent to visitors than to those of us who live here constantly. We don't notice the constant, steady growth of the city as much as the occasional visitor.

Nelson's prosperity is founded upon the prosperity and development of the surrounding territory. The reason that conditions in Nelson are exceptionally good is that conditions throughout Kootenay and Boundary are exceptionally good.

Another Unedifying Chapter in the Career of Aimee

Another chapter is being added to the unedifying story of Aimee Semple Macpherson.

In this installment of the serial, the Angelus Temple leader is enjoying a wrangle with her mother, Mrs. Minnie Kennedy.

Though both, in their published interviews, tell the world of their Christian-like spirit, each is directly or by inference accusing the other of several of the crimes in the calendar.

But Aimee has got away with a lot of stuff in the last year or so and perhaps she'll survive a public washing of dirty linen with an irate mother as tub mate.

Schooner "L. Verrault" broke from her moorings at Quebec during a heavy gale and sank after pounding her hull against a pier.

Foster's Weekly Weather Bulletin

WASHINGTON, July 30. — A storm wave of moderate intensity is expected to cross continent during week centering on July 29; this storm center will be expected to travel the northern transcontinental storm path and to have little effect in southern latitudes; as this storm center crosses continent, a general movement to lower average temperatures will take place; this downward trend of temperatures will extend through the period of July 29 to August 6, causing a wide range of extremes between the period of heat expected to center on July 28 and the period below normal temperatures expected to center on August 6.

What is termed the northern transcontinental storm path of North America, which I have described in these bulletins before, but continue to receive many requests to describe, is the average path traveled by storm tsat originate or are first noticeable in the northwest section of North America, move in an easterly direction at the average rate of 500 miles a day until they leave this continent. Almost without exception, all storms of North America leave the continent through the St. Lawrence valley or through the New England states. Occasionally one of these northern transcontinental storms will be forced or drawn south through the great central valleys, sometimes as far south as the gulf. Seven out of 10 of all North American transcontinental storms are first noticeable near the United States-Canadian line west of meridian 105; meridian 105 almost divides Saskatchewan in halves, and is near the eastern boundary of Montana and Wyoming. Unless given other description, all storms mentionad in these weekly bulletins are transcontinental and it is the intention to specify in each case whether storm will travel the northern or southern path.

August Weather Features

August, 1927, will add another month of great extremes to the year's already extreme record. One very severe storm wave near 27, moderate storms near 2, 8 and 17. First half of month will average below and last half above normal temperatures. Northern cold waves near 5 and 31 will be the danger periods of the month relative to northern killing frosts. Principal periods of heat will be expected near 18 and 27. Month will average about normal temperatures in northern and below normal in southern sections east of Rockies. Precipitation will increase in east gulf, south Atlantic and eastern great central valleys sections; below normal precipitation on eastern slopes and south Pacific slope; about normal precipitation on north Pacific slope; most precipitation near 6 and 30. A fair crop weather month in general; most dangerous crop weather features will be the temperature extremes in northern sections, decreasing precipitation on eastern slopes and probably more moisture than will be wanted in east gulf and south Atlantic states near 5 and 30.

AMERICAN TALK

MOSCOW, July 31.—Professor V. L. Anutchin of the Kazan university claims to have established the fact that the dialect of the "enisseisk" tribe, living in the Turuckanak region, northwest Siberia, belongs to the group of American aboriginal languages. Hitherto the language never has been identified with any of the known groups.

Condensed Milk Ice Cream—Put two cans of sweetened co[illegible]ensed milk into a bowl and add one-half pint of cream, two quarts of cold, sweet milk and one pint of strong made coffee. (You may wish additional sugar, but the condensed milk makes it sweet enough to suit my taste). Freeze like any ice cream. If you prefer some other flavoring to coffee, omit the pint of coffee and substitute a pint of extra cold, sweet milk for it, then add one tablespoon of vanilla extract or one-half cup of caramel flavoring, or any desired flavor.

Lyonnaise Carrots—Cut pared carrots into strips one and one-half inches long and fairly thin, and cook in salted water till nearly tender. Now put the vegetable into a frying pan in plenty of butter or bacon fat, add one small minced onion and cook for five to seven minutes, or till the onion is light brown and the carrots tender. Season to taste with salt, pepper and a pinch of sugar and serve.

Hominy Breakfast Cakes—In the top of a double-boiler stir one cup of hominy into four cups of water. Add a teaspoon of salt and stir till the mixture begins to thicken, then cook over boiling water for three hours, slowly. Turn the cooked cereal into pound-size baking powder cans and let harden overnight. Next morning, slip it from the can and slice rather thinly, then fry a delicate brown in drippings or butter. Serve with syrup.

Ham Puffs—Stir one pint of flour into one pint of boiling water and beat well. Remove from the fire and beat in four eggs, one at a time. Now add one cupful of cooked minced ham and a pinch of pepper. (Curry powder—about one teaspoonful—is good in these cakes if you like that seasoning). Drop a dessertspoonful at a time of this mixture into a pan containing deep, hot fat and fry a golden brown. Drain a moment on crumpled brown paper (or sanitary paper toweling) before serving. This makes a delicious lunch or supper dish. It will be called for in Sunday night's supper menu, and I assume that the housekeeper will provide enough sliced broiled ham for Saturday morning's breakfast to have one cupful of the meat (minced) left over to use in this recipe the following day.

That Body of Yours

By JAMES W. BARTON, M.D.

Types of Insects and Men

Scientists are now classifying insects according to the same types as those used to classify men. For instance, grasshoppers, mosquitoes, and dragon flies are the asthenic or "lean" type; the chunky pycnic type are beetles, bugs, and moths, while insects that are neither lean nor chunky are the athletic type.

And humans, as you will remember, come into these three classes.

There is the slender type with the long legs and the short body, the stout individual with the long body and short legs, and then the intermediate type with the medium length of body and the medium length of legs.

In Boston, and latterly in Montreal, research men have ben studying these types and their relations to certain ailments.

They find that the individual with the wide long body has a wide chest, wide abdomen, good circulation, good digestion, good assimilation, and swings merrily along into middle life before anything serious strikes him.

And then his good health often becomes his undoing because of his excesses at the table. He usually puts on extra weight, and this extra flesh puts too much work upon heart, blood vessels and kidneys. Thus your healthy man with wide, long body is frequently a victim of ailments of the heart, bloodvessels, and kidneys.

And the thin type?

The narrowness of chest, the smallness of the lungs puts some extra work on the heart in trying to pump enough blood into them. This causes extra pressure in the vessel that takes blood to the lungs. The distension of this vessel presses on the little lymph glands in the neighborhood, and interferes with the lymphatic circulation. This poor circulation means that this type is prone to tuberculosis or consumption.

Also the narrowness of abdomen gives less room for stomach, and it hangs a little lower, making the emptying into intestine harder. Thus indigestion or stomach troubles are more frequent in this type also.

Does this mean that individuals with long bodies are likely to die of heart, kidney and blood vessel ailments, and the narrow ones from lung and digestive disturbances?

No. It simply means that these are the types that are more likely to suffer with these ailments.

With the above facts in mind you can govern your life habits in accordance with them.

French Women Are to Get Better Pay

PARIS, July 31.—French women who work at home, under sweat shop conditions, are being enrolled in a society that is trying to help them improve their work and also get better pay for it.

An exposition of this home-made product—knitting, underwear, baby clothes and various art objects—has brought the movement into public notice. A thousand women already have joined the society and have found that their earnings have been increased and their labor made more pleasant. Aside from intelligent advice and trained instruction, the women have been able to reduce the toll taken by intermediaries and to find better markets.

PRINCESS WILL STUDY IN HOLLAND

LEYDEN, Holland, July 31.—Queen Wilhelmina's 18-year-old daughter, Princess Juliana, will begin her studies at the famous university here with the coming September term.

The queen has decided that the young princess-graduate must mix freely with other girl students, and while she is at the university she will drop her rank and be known as plain Miss Louise van Buren, to which name she is entitled by the fact that one of the queen's titles is Countess van Buren.

Louise is the princess' second Christian name, which she took from Louise de Coligny, the second wife of William the Silent.

"Miss van Buren" will major in law and Dutch literature.

Addition to the Kamloops San to Be Started Soon

VICTORIA, Juy 31.—Moving to cope with growing demands upon the institution, the provincial government is about to start construction of a 100-bed addition to Tranquile sanatorium outside Kamloops. The addition will be in the form of a separate building constructed on the same plan as the hospital buildings. It will be devoted entirely to patients, as the existing mechanical plant is adequate.

LONG HAIR IS COMING BACK

PARIS, July 31. — Paris is having some success in its determined campaign to foist long hair upon its short-haired customers.

Some ladies who said they would never wear hobble skirts, and wore them, or trouser skirts, and are wearing them, declared they would not give up their short hair. Yet the least trained observer in the smart restaurants and dancing places of Paris notes the growing number of fashionably dressed women with long hair.

Hairdressers are so confident long hair is due for a revival that they are laying in large supplies of detachable transformations to tide their clients over the transition period. Even hairpins are in readiness for the renaissance of woman's crowning beauty.

GUNS FOR AIRMEN

CROYDON, England, July 31.—Imperial airways polits are being armed with revolvers as a precaution against aerial robbery. So much bullion is now being carried by Imperial airways aeroplanes that the officials are taking no chances.

It has been pointed out that it would be possible for any of these bullion-carrying aeroplanes to be shot down in an out-of-the-way spot and a robbery carried out with small likelihood of detection.

A Smart Frock Can Make Simplicity Interesting

STORIES that deal with the beautiful but still struggling young business girl usually relate how she arose each morning with the dawn to sew clean white collars and cuffs into her "well-brushed, though worn," serge frock, and how by this unfailing freshness won the heart of the handsome junior executive. But the ambitious young business woman need not sacrifice sleep on the altar of success if she has a smart silk crêpe or light-weight wool frock like this. For when she wishes to change the trim little silk vestee of harmonizing shade a moment's time suffices, while the smart linked cuffs require no attention at all. The upper part of the frock is especially interesting, being cut so that both right and left sides continue in band-like pieces which cross over one another in front and meet in back to form a plain belt. Lonely Bear Brings Train Crew From Slumber in Caboose

REVELSTOKE, B.C., July 31.—A lonely black bear, evidently seeking company as well as food, crawled into the caboose of a freight train at Field the other night and terrified the train crew.

A long "drag" from Revelstoke had just been put away and the train crew had retired for the night in their bunks. Suddenly, Trainmen Westaway and Macdonnell were awakened by a yell from Conductor McPherson. Sitting up in their bunks, they saw a fair-sized black bear inside the door of the caboose, leisurely taking stock of the car's interior.

The movements of the awakened men disturbed the bear. He turned toward the open door swung down the steps and sauntered off in the dark. In future, the doors of the caboose will be locked.

Consider the diplodocus

THE diplodocus was the most gigantic animal that ever lived. It was eighty-five feet long and weighed scores of tons. Yet despite its tremendous bulk it had a brain the size of an English walnut.

Millions of years ago the diplodocus flourished. But when conditions changed, it was unable to adapt itself to a new existence. Other animals, less strong, but more intelligent, invaded its domain. And so, with the unceasing march of progress, its race died out and vanished.

It is just as necessary today as it was in the Upper Jurassic period to keep abreast of the times. Conditions are changing under our very eyes. New inventions, new products are constantly being brought forward to make life easier and happier. If we do not take advantage of them, we fall behind the procession.

LISTER SHIPS CHERRIES FOR FIRST TIME

Expect Surplus of Apples in Creston Valley This Year

POULTRY GOES AHEAD IN LESTER AREA

Haying Over; Boys' and Girls' Sheep and Calf Clubs Planned

CRESTON, B.C., July 31.—For the first time in its history, the soldier settlement at Camp Lister can rightly claim to be contributing to the fruit export of Creston valley. Berries and currants in limited quantities, it is true, have already gone forward, and the end of the week saw George Jack's ranch on the shipping list with some fine Lambert cherries. Several of the places will have a surplus of apples this season, with some of the local orchardists assuring Mr. Jacks his total crop is likely to run to 200 boxes, with such excellent moisture conditions prevailing.

This has also been a year of advancement at Camp Lister in poultry, the estimate being that delivery has been taken of almost 1500 baby hicks at about half a dozen farms that are branching out in that line, and it was only Thursday that Mrs. Ross received shipment of half a hundred 10-week-old birds in her desire to have a flock of not less than 100 laying pullets this winter.

Hay Is Over

Haying operations were completed at the end of the week, and the cut of timothy, as well as alfalfa, has already attracted attention from some of the valley lumber firms who have had buyers in making offers for crops in the stack.

The Lister and Huscroft sections are cooperating in the matter of having a boys' and girls' sheep and calf club organized, and at a meeting of those interested at the Huscroft school on Thursday night it was decided to make a canvass of the situation, and then have H. S. French of Cranbrook, the East Kootenay agriculturist, visit both areas and complete organization. The Huscroft district, particularly, has a few very fine herds of sheep, and with the abundance of grazing land in the Lister section there would appear to be opportunity for developing, particularly in that line.

DAVIS' LAUNCH GIVES KASLO PEOPLE THRILL

Outboard Motor Capable of 28 Miles an Hour, Is Tried Out

KASLO, B.C., July 31. — William G. Davis III., who recently arrived here from New York with his bride, the former Miss Grace Vanderbilt, thrilled Kasloites on Sunday when he tried out his new gasoline launch.

It is an 8 h.p. outboard motor engine, and is capable of doing 28 miles per hour. To Kasloites the launch seemed to be much faster than Captain Ted Dobbin's seaplane, which stopped here today for over an hour.

Creston Campers Off on Holiday Because Mosquitos Over

CRESTON, B.C., July 31.—Now that the mosquito pest is on the wane, the week-end rush to Kuskanook has commenced in earnest, and the families of C. H. Hare, H. McLaren and S. A. Speers are occupying the summer tent quarters they have had constructed this summer. Due to the unusually high water, much of the good work they did in clearing the beach at that point of driftwood will have to be done all over again before bathing will be at its best, as tremendous quantities of logs, stumps and debris are accumulating with the receding of the waters. Right now the fishing off the wharf, as well as in mid-lake, is exceptionally good, and some fine catches of steelhead are reported by Village Clerk W. O. Taylor, who spent part of his summer vacation there, returning on Saturday.

After July 1, Viscount Willingdon may change his title to Viceroy or King's representative in Canada.

CRESTON NOTES

CRESTON, B.C., July 31.—Miss Evelyn Bevan, who has completed two years of her nursing course at Kelowna hospital, is home for a three weeks' vacation with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. R. S. Bevan, before going to Vancouver, where she takes her final year in the General hospital in that city.

ANOTHER LITTLE MESSAGE
About That Cup of Sugar

RECENTLY we suggested that the essentials of the true spirit of neighborliness were exemplified in the borrowing of a cup of sugar.

Over the back-yard fence is a short cut indeed, to neighborliness. Miles so often are the fences that divide the common ground of mutual understanding and good will. The less the distance the lower the fence.

The road that brings you nearer to us is the same broad highway that brings us nearer to you. Literally and figuratively it increases efficiency in the delivery of the goods. Another essential to the spirit of neighborliness.

You'll find the same spirit at our end of the road—in our stores and places of business. Courtesy, desire to please, eagerness to rectify error, sincerity in quality, fairness in price—these are the elements of neighborly dealing which we are constantly striving to improve.

Just call across the fence. We're neighbors, you know.

A home run in the eighth, with the bases full, by Jack Taylor, Giant catcher, overcame a tie in the seventh and enabled New York to defeat the Cardinals 7 to 4 at St. Louis.

Cricketers Start Games at the Coast Today

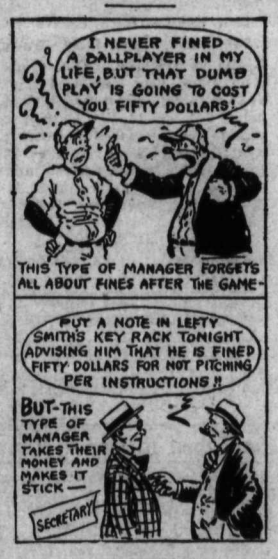
VANCOUVER, July 31.—The 11th annual tournament of the western Canada cricket association will be officially opened tomorrow morning when Mayor L. D. Taylor will deliver the first ball and welcome representatives of the three prairie provinces. All teams are on hand ready for a long week's grind, playing every day until Saturday from 10 a.m. to 6 p.m., with intervals for lunch.

Probably the most interesting game tomorrow will be that between British Columbia and the strong Manitoba eleven. Alberta will meet Saskatchewan also.

Eleborate preparations have been made by the grounds committee and everything is in readiness for the opening of the west's greatest cricket festival.

American tennis teams captured all but the men's singles title, which was won by Henri Cochet in the Wimbledon tournament in England.

Chance Had Fine Idea About Fines



By AL DEMAREE
(Former Pitcher New York Giants)

Frank Chance had about the best idea of fines on ball players that I know of. Frank used to say that you had to fine a man $100 before he became a ball player. His theory was that a ball player would forget his blunders unless a fine was pasted on him to make him remember.

Big league managers fall, roughly, into two classes on the matter of fines. The fellows who are always yelling out fines on their players, seldom remember to collect the money, while the fellows who never say anything about fines are the ones who send out notices which cost real cash.

George Stallings was always hollering about fining everybody a million dollars, but he never collected a dime. Some managers fine a player who is going bad, and then turn the money over as a bonus to one who is going good. Thus, the club isn't out anything, and the manager gets double results out of the cash, spurring both the lax and the starring player.

John McGraw is the type that sends out his fines through notices, and he claims he never revoked a fine in his life. That may be true literally, but I am not so sure about it.

One day, when Cozy Dolan was with St. Louis, I pitched high to him when I had orders to pitch low. For that I got a notice of a fine of $50 from McGraw for "not following instructions."

I complained at the time that it was an outrage. That fall, after the city series of 1914 in New York, I received a check for $50 from Fred Merkle, who didn't owe me a dime. Was that McGraw's way of revoking a fine?

JACK WRIGHT WINS SINGLES TENNIS TITLE

Turenne Puts Up Game Battle in Final Plays; Crowds See Matches

MISS SWARTZ WINNER IN LADIES' EVENTS

Wright's Victory Is Thrilling; Ladies' Doubles Thrills the Gallery

VANCOUVER, July 31.—Jack Wright of Montreal proved the hero of the week from a Canadian standpoint when in the finals of the Canadian lawn tennis singles championships at the Vancouver club Saturday before a gallery which established new attendance records for this city, he carried the Maple Leaf to a glorious victory over the titleholder, Leon de Turenne, of Seattle. The match went three sets, 7-5, 8-6 and 6-3. Wright came from behind more than once to out-guess and outgame the fleet De Turenne.

With the conclusion of the last point, the gallery rose en masse and accorded Wright a wonderful ovation as he ran off the court. De Turenne followed a moment later and he, too, was voiciferously applauded for his sparkling exhibition.

Miss Carolyn Swartz of San Francisco, who ranks two below her townswoman, Miss Edith Cross, in California triumphed over her higher rated rival in the finals of the ladies' singles. The score was 6-3, 3-6, 7-5.

Bradford Harrison and Sherman Lockwood, both of San Francisco, triumphed over S. Almquist, San Francisco, and John Risso, University of California, in the men's doubles event, after losing the first set, the tally being 4-6, 6-1, 6-4. 6-2.

Hard Play

The ladies' doubles was one of the most brilliant exhibitions of the week's play, with the winners, Misses Cross and Swartz, playing a stiff driving game against the lobbing style as adopted by the losers, Miss L. McFarland and Miss M. Williams, Pasadena. The scores were 6-2, 1-6 and 6-4.

The final event of the main event brought two more California pairs, Miss Swartz and Sherman Lockwood against Miss McFarland and J. K. Ruscher, Pasadena, Miss Swartz and Lockwood winning, 7-9, 7-5 and 6-4. The match was featured by the sensational net play of Ruscher and Miss McFarland and the terrific driving of Lockwood. The advantage in each set was gained when the opposition broke through the services of Lockwood in the first, Miss McFarland in the second and Ruscher's in the final set.

Wright matched speed with De Turenne in the major event of the afternoon and the one in which the gallery was the most interested. Wright forced Turenne to remain in the back court as against his habitual style of racing in with every service and drive of any depth. Wright placed with uncanny judgment and though Turenne played him shot for shot, the Montreal man literally called his drives with the result that the titleholder was continually placed on the defensive and forced repeatedly into errors. De Turenne, too, did not stand the pace as did Wright, who finished almost as fresh as when he took the court.

Taking service. Turenne won the first game at love. but Wright came right back to win from deuce. Each was feeling the other out and playing cautiously. Turenne again won service from 40-30, and took Wright's to give him a 3-1 lead. Wright burned over several corner shots that enabled him to tie the score in the next two games at 3-3. Turenne won two in a row, but here Wright showed that fighting spirit that on many notable occasions has carried him to championships and victories. Wright ran out the set, winning four straight games, Turenne double-faulting twice, once in each remaining service. Wright made no service errors throughout the match.

Wright Peps Up

In the first four games of the set each took the other's delivery. Then until the end of the tenth game, game followed service, the score at this point standing at 5-5. Wright then took Turenne's delivery from 30-40 to lead 6-5, but Turenne followed suit by the same point score. Wright crashed through Turenne in the thirteenth game and ran out the set at love at 8-6.

Wright set an even better pace in the third set, taking the first two games in decisive manner, his forearm and backhand placements catching Turenne for brilliant aces. Turenne then took service from deuce, but Wright lost only two points in the next two games to lead at 4-1. Turenne uncorked four beautiful placements to take Wright's delivery at love and won his own service with the loss of two points. Wright again starred under pressure, for he whipped ball after ball across for points to take the next two games and the set, losing only a point.

Point score, Wright vs. Turenne:

First set—Turenne, 434 421 441 021—30-5.

Wright, 025 144 222 444—36-7.

Second set—Turenne, 043 441 624 424 20—40-6.

Wright, 425 014 441 642 44-45-8.

Third set—Turenne, 315 114 410-30-3.

Wright, 543 440 244-30-6.

Miss Carolyn Swartz was distinctly too good for Miss Edith Cross in ladies' singles. After losing the first game in the deciding set, Miss Swartz, rushing into the net following service and as opportunity offered, soon had a lead of 5-1. Here Miss Cross started to fight and drew applause by the brilliance of her placements. Miss Swartz was match point at 5-4, but Miss Cross evened the set at 5-5. Miss Swartz ran out at 7-5, each of the last two games from 40-30.

Lob Vs. Drive

The ladies' doubles in which Miss Cross and Miss Swartz faced Misses McFarland and Williams was lobbying against driving, the former pair having an edge all the way, though the Pasadena girls played an uphill game throughout. Miss Cross and Miss McFarland were the pick of the two sides in cross court overhead placings from the service court. In the final set the ultimate winners were leading at 5-2, but the losers pulled up to 5-4 before dropping the final game and the match.

Risso and Almquist battled Harrison and Lockwood, the new champions, the full route, the match being featured by smashing hard drives and sharp volleys with all four players standing in the service court at times. Harrison and Lockwood lost the opening set at 6-4, but from then on, there was never any serious doubt as to the outcome. Almquist's terrific services were the feature of this match, while Lockwood again starred by the force and accuracy of his forearm volleying.

At the conclusion of the afternoon's program, prizes were presented by Mrs. A. P. Horne, following remarks by President Horne of the Vancouver club and by J. G. Melrum, president of the Canadian Lawn Tennis association.

CUTHBERT WINS AMATEUR GOLF CROWN AGAIN

Captured the Trophy in 1924; Parker Is His Rival

PARKER ERRATIC IN LAST HOLES OF MATCH

Cuthbert Plays Consistent Game All Through 36 Holes

MOOSE JAW, July 31.—Jack Cuthbert of Winnipeg, who in 1924 won the Woods trophy, symbolic of supremacy among amateur golfers of western Canada, is again the possessor of the cup. Saturday he gained possession of the trophy and the western Canada championship title by defeating Harld R. Parker, a 22-year-old star, and club mate of the Winnipeg Norwood club, 4 and 3, in the 36-hole final round.

Cuthbert played a consistent game throughout Saturday's match, while Parker was inclined to be erratic during the final 18.

It was just an average game, however, that decided the final, and on a majority of holes, putting proved the deciding factor.

Cuthbert's victory in the amateur brought to a close the fourth annual western Canada golf tournament. Early in the week Fred Fletcher of the Moose Jaw club won the open and professional championships with Cuthbert runner-up in the former, and Eric Bannister of Winnipeg in the latter.

The cards for the final event of the amateur championship:

Morning round—Cuthbert, 544, 454, 464; in 643, 344, 534; Parker, 555, 454, 464; in, 652, 444, 452.

Afternoon round—Cuthbert 543, 544, 463; in, 543, 434; Parker 644, 444, 464; in, 455, 434.

How They Played

At the end of the morning round Cuthbert had a lead of one hole. Starting the afternoon's play, he increased his lead to two, getting an easy five to Parker's six on the first hole. The second was even, but Cuthbert went ahead at the third, Parker topping his drive into a trap. Parker took the fourth with a par four. The next three holes were halved with fours. Parker made the seventh, the pair halved the eight and Cuthbert increased his advantage to three on the ninth with a par count, while Parker went one over.

Starting home, Parker had four to Cuthbert's five, long drives featuring the hole. Both tee shots were good on the 11th and Parker's chip shot was a beauty, but he was short with his putt, losing five to four.

Cuthbert gave the gallery a thrill on the 12th when he drove into the wind to lie dead for the line. He missed his putt, however, and had only a par three for the hole. Parker was in the trap and took two to get out, taking a bad total of five for the hole.

The 13th was halved in four. On the 14th they holed out nicely for birdie threes.

The 15th was the deciding one and the title went to Cuthbert when Haroald managed only a halved hole.

Cuthbert chipped easily to the green and Parker was off to the left. Jack was heavy with his putt and Parker rolled well up to the pin. They managed fours for the hole, putting an end to the match.

CHAPTER IV
The Encounter

Cynthia drove rapidly along the wide boulevard. She had no definite objective. Her sole thought was to translate into speed the wrath which possessed her on learning that her fiance had jilted her on the eve of their wedding.

She had meant every word of that startling statement she had made to her mother—that she would marry that night any man she could find to save herself the humiliation of being a deserted bride. She rejected, with a single gesture, the men of her own set—half a dozen of whom would have given their right hand to marry her on any terms. But, she told herself, it would never do to marry a man who might suspect the truth.

She was going to find a stranger—anybody—any reckless adventurer. Then let the gossips wag their busy tongues when, tomorrow, at noon, there would be no wedding, because the bride-elect had eloped with another man the previous night!

It was all very logical, thought Cynthia, as she dashed through a warm, scented May night. Who would ever dream of asking about Basil Harcourt? What more natural than that he, learning of his fiance's desertion, should himself slink way? At least, that is what the world would think.

The only difficulty in her reckless plan was finding a bridegroom. One didn't just go out for a ride at midnight and pick up a man who was willing to marry one before morning.

Cynthia, however, had never been denied anything she sought or needed—or thought she needed. Moreover, she came of pioneer stock, and she had a heritage of grit and courage and perseverance. If she set out at midnight to find a husband before morning, those who knew her best would have said that, ten to one, she'd find a husband before morning.

She headed the car in the direction of a summer resort colony. What she would do when she got there, she didn't know.

"But," she thought, "maybe I'll find some one coming back from a party, some one who is reckless, like myself, or drunk, or with a taste for adventure. Fate's got to give me somebody. Fate can't let me down like this!"

The moon rode high in a star-studded sky. The warm scents that belong only to a May night filled the air. Cynthia rounded a curve recklessly. Her car churned sand for a minute, slithered, and went on. But not before her lights had picked out a dark figure that had barely had time to leap from the pathway of destruction.

She heard an oath and a yell of rage behind her, as she brought her car to a stop, and she grinned behind her veil.

Turning in her seat, she called over her shoulder:

"I'm frightfully sorry. But I didn't hurt you, did I?"

The man had picked himself up. He reached the side of the car in two strides, but, when he caught sight of the figure behind the wheel, he stared.

"A girl!" And he whistled.

"Why not?" demanded Cynthia coolly.

He grinned. It was a pleasant grin.

"That's true, too. Why not, indeed? Except—well, I'm afraid I wasn't as gallant as I might have been, when you bowled me over."

"Your language was reprehensible—quite," agrdeed Cynthia gravely, but he knew that she was smiling, even though he could not see her face.

"I'm afraid so," he answered plaintively. "But how could you expect me to guess that a young Juggernaut sweeping around a deserted road in the early hours of the morning, apparently bent upon destroying me, would be driven by a girl?"

"You can expect almost anything these days," Cynthia told him.

"It seems so," he agreed with a shrug. "I guess I've been too long out of civilization—if you can call it that," he added, with another grin. "It's like being born all over again and having to learn your way about in a strange world."

Cynthia looked at him sharply. The moonlight shone brightly on his face. He was very personable—oh, very! She had a pleasing impression of brown hair, roughly and boyishly curly; of laughing, daring gray eyes; of a nose and mouth just irregular enough to be impudent. He was tall and his shoulders were broad, but he was slim of waist and hip, and he bore himself with a jaunty, reckless grace.

She found it difficult to place him. He wore stained khaki riding-breeches, old shoes, and a shabby coat, and his hat was broad-brimmed. Yet he wore this costume with an ease and grace of one who, long accustomed to such garb, either does not realize, or does not care, that it is not correct.

"What do you mean by civilization?" asked Cynthia curiously.

"This." He waved his hand in the direction of the summer colony, where hotels and bungalows dreamed in the moonlight. I'd forgotten what it's like. I've been too log in Mexico—oil, you know. When I left the states, young girls weren't driving cars over lonely roads in the middle of the night. In Mexico they're not doing it now!"

Cynthia made an instantaneous decision. Reaching out a hand, she opened the door of her car.

"Get in. I'll drive you where you're going."

He looked at her for a minute—hard. Then he grinned his engaging grin, and swung himself up beside her.

"Drive me where you will, mysterious lady! I'll say it's my lucky night."

Advocates Development of Electric Power From Coal, Not by Water

WINNIPEG, July 31.—Development of electrical power from coal, rather than from water power, is advocated for Alberta by Hon. Charles Stewart, minister of the interior, who passed through here tonight en route to Ottawa.

Discussing the Alberta Spray lakes power site, Mr. Stewart thought that Albertans would be much farther ahead to develop power from coal, since there are such quantities in the province.

Mr. Stewart expressed optimism concerning the present crop outlook in the west.

Reports from the Chilcotin district, however, indicate that the pest will be extremely grave there next year, threatening grains and grass.

JOE WRIGHT IS VICTOR OVER FRANK ADAMS

Crosses Line Six Lengths Ahead of Vancouver Oarsman in Ontario

CANADIANS WIN MAJORITY OF EVENTS

Of 23 Championships, Canucks Take 20; Argo Oarsmen Lead

ST. CATHARINES, Ont., July 31.—Out of 23 championships decided at the 45th annual Canadian association of amateur oarsmen's regatta, which ended Saturday afternoon, 20 were captured by Canadian oarsmen, the remaining three going to the United States, and in this total the navy gig race won by St. Catharines and the high school four which went to Malvern Collegiate, Toronto, are not included.

The oarsmen from over the border received the fewest honors in many years, though they succeeded in retaining one of the most coveted gems of the meet, the Hanlan Memorial trophy for senior eights, which again went to Wyandotte, Mich., after a terrific contest in which the Winnipeg Rowing club shell was a close second.

The complete standing of the clubs: Argonauts, Toronto, 33; Detroit, 13; McGill University, Montreal, 12; Winnipeg Rowing club, 10; St. Catharines, 9; West Sides, Buffalo, 6; Bachelor Barge, Philadelphia, 6; Lachine, 6; Dons, Toronto, 5; Wyandotte, Michigan, 5; Leanders, Hamilton, 4; Ottawa, 3; Vancouver, 2; Saint John, 1; Toronto University, 1.

Wins Easily

Joe Wright Jr. of Toronto Argos, as was generally expected, took the senior singles final from Frank Adams of Vancouver, the Pacific champion, by six lengths. After breaking the course record in his heat of Gilmore of Philadelpia on the previous day, Wright's time yesterday was only 8:13, one-third of a minute slower than the elimination, although both he and the Vancouver man rowed harder than on the first day. In the final, Wright had a lead of a length in the first 20 yards and steadily pulled away from his western competitor. Both were rowing 30 strokes to the minute. At the mile, Wright increased his pace to 32 strokes and still maintained his power. Adams was obliged to slacken his pace and Wright finished without again being challenged.

Both Adams and Wright will compete in the National Association of Amateur Oarsmen's regatta which opens at Wyandotte, Mich., on Thursday.

Win by a Foot

The senior eights, premier event of the card, provided the greatest contest of the day. Wyandotte's trailed Winnipeg for more than three-quarters of the mile and 550 yards. It was a hair-raising duel for the last quarter of a mile, Wyandottes putting on a surprising burst of speed, which Winnipeg met with one of the most remarkable spurts ever seen on the course, the heavier crew from Michigan getting the nose of their boat to the line just a bare foot ahead of Winnipeg. The time was 7:00 4-5.

In the quarter-mile dash, Joe Wright was the victor by a length and a half over Garret Gilmore, Philadelphia. Ronald Ingraham of Saint John was third. Time, 1:26 1-5.

Winnipeg won the senior fours with a lead of two lengths, with Argonauts second and West Side Rowing club, Buffalo, third. Time, 7:40. Argonauts won second position by a length. Winnipeg and McGil staged a remarkable race in the senior 140-pound eights, with the latter winning by three-quarters of a length in 7:20. Detroit was third and Lachine fourth.

Detroit won the senior 150-pound eights, Lachine the 150-pound senior fours and Argonauts the 150-fours.

Burns of Argos won the senior 140-pound special single sculls by 10 lengths from W. Reid, a clubmate.

FREDDIE WELSH WAS WELL-TO-DO

Refused $83,000 for California Estate; Poverty Story Discredited

NEW YORK, July 31.—The funeral of Freddie Welsh, former lightweight champion of the world, Saturday, was made the occasion of an announcement by his brother, Arthur Stanley Thomas, of Summit, N.J., that the pugilist was well-to-do and did not die in poverty, as had been believed.

Thomas said his brother, whose real name was Frederick Hall Thomas, owned property in Vernon, California, for which he had refused an offer of $83,000 three weeks ago.

"Freddy's one great ambition," said the brother, "was to make his family independent, and he did that well."

He added that Freddie was the beneficiary of a trust fund, under his mother's will, income of which was ample to support him in modest circumstances. Welsh, who was 31 years old, was found dead in his hotel room on Thursday. His widow, from whom he had been separated, said he had died "without a cent."

RAILS FEATURE OF STOCK MART

Upward Movement Resumes; Hudson Motors Soar; General Motors Unchanged

NEW YORK, July 31.—Switching of speculative interest from the industrials to the rails featured the resumption of the upward price movement in Saturday's stock market. Although profit-taking sales ran rather heavy in the industrial group, forcing some of the recent strong spots back 1 to 3 points, a number of new high records were established, then, at gains ranging from 1 to 11 points. Trading was fairly heavy for a midsummer half-holiday session.

Rails shook off the sluggishness created by the publication of some relatively poor June earnings statements, and responded to the increasing investment demand for the high-grade issues. Pennsylvania was Saturday's leader, moving up more than a point to 66¼, the highest level since 1910. New peak prices also were attained by Atchison, Erie common, Great Northern preferred, Southern Pacific, Union Pacific and Northern Pacific. A better inquiry developed for some of the non-dividend paying issues such as Missouri Pacific, Chicago & Eastern Illinois preferred, and Chicago Great Western.

Wall street did not appear to be greatly disturbed over the federal trade commissions' decision to inquire into the relationship between United States Steel, Dupont and General Motors. Steel common closed ⅛ higher, at 136, after fluctuating within a range of 2 points.

General Motors closed unchanged at 226¼, after selling between 225½ and 227¾. Dupont closed 3 points lower, at 287, which was regarded as natural after Friday's sensational advance of 15 points.

A sudden outburst of activity in Hudson Motors carried that stock up more than 3 points to a new 1927 top at 89¼. Among the many other issues to reach new high ground were Allied Chemical, American Steel & Foundry, Consolidated Gas, Cuyamel Fruit, International Harvester, Manhattan Electrical Supply, F. G. Shattuck, Timken Roller Bearing and Warren Brothers.

Oil shares displayed a much stronger undertone, Atlantic Refining standing out with a gain of more than 3 points. Selling pressure was most effective against Radio Corporation, Freeport, Texas and Bayuk Cigars.

Threshing Returns in States Better; World Crop Unchanged

WASHINGTON, July 31.—In its August review of the agricultural situation, the department of agriculture published today an optimistic note on wheat.

The statement said:

"Wheat harvest is now moving up into the north, with threshing returns becoming more satisfactory. Winter wheat yields were disappointing in the southern belt, but Nebraska is threshing out the greatest crop in its history.

"Spring wheat in the north shows the best prospect in five years, except in some locations. The world wheat crop appears about the same as last year, more wheat in Europe being offset by probable shorter supply in Canada."

ALBERTA LOOKS FOR GREATEST HARVEST EVER

Wheat 100 Per Cent in Head; Harvest of Rye Is On; Hail Damages

EDMONTON, July 31. — Crops all over the province have made steady progress during the past two weeks and continue to give promise of the greatest harvest Alberta has ever reaped, according to information reaching the department of agriculture. Wheat is practically 100 per cent in head, the same as s the case with barley and oats, which are reported to be from 60 to 75 per cent headed out.

Hot weather during this period has assisted materially in the growth of the crops, and with occasional showers and moisture stored in the ground, is considered in most districts to be sufficient to carry the crop to maturity, and all groin in head is filling rapidly.

Harvesting of rye has commenced in a number of districts in the south of the province, and a splendid yield is reported.

Severe Hail

A number of rather severe hail storms have done some damage in scattered districts, but these generally have been purely local in character, and their effect on the total yield from the province will not, it is expected, be a serious one.

While more warm weather would be benefical, crops in the Peace River and Grande Prairie dstricts are giving promise of a better than average yield, particular improvement this season, as compared with last year, being noted in the case of the oat crop, and all grains show a uniformly good tendency and color.

A start has been made with haying in many sections of the province, and a good crop of both wild and cultivated hay is beng put up.

CONTROL WATER IF TO CONTROL CORKY CORES

Too Much Water or Too Little Believed Apple Disease Cause

This is the season of the year when attention is being drawn to corky core or brown core apples. Its severity varies from year to year, but its prevalence during the last few years has caused a good deal of anxiety to many growers. This disease is characterized by the occurrence of yellowish-brown areas in the core and sometimes in the outer flesh of the apple, but shows no external evidence on the apple, and it is only on cutting that one can be certain of its presence.

Investigations on the cause of the disease have been under way at the field laboratory of plant pathology, Summerland, British Columbia, for four years, and while these are not yet by any means complete, many facts concerning the conditions under which the disease appears have been ascertained.

A thorough investigation has, so far, failed to show the presence of any fungus or bacteria in connection with this disease. It is believed that the trouble is altogether caused by unfavorable growth conditions, to which the trees suffering from the disease have been subjected.

Where It Occurs

The disease occurs on trees which have suffered from extremes in soil moisture conditions during the latter part of the growing season, that is, it is found on trees which have too much moisture and also trees which have too little moisture during this period. These extremes appear to kill off the feeding system of the tree and there results therefrom an unbalanced condition in the buds that are to bear the next year's crop.

Control recommendations for the grower are: First, to see that there is no excess moisture remaining around the trees during the late summer and early fall. In irrigated sections the danger of seepage is always present and the grower must make certain that it is not this condition that is affecting the trees. Second, where trees are growing on shallow, open soils, to see that the irrigation water is applied late enough in the year to prevent too much drying out of the soil between the time when the irrigation water is shut off and when the fall rains come.

GROWTH NELSON THREE DECADES IS SURPRISING

Alex Calder, Pioneer Railroader, Thought He Stepped Into Another Place

CAME INTO NELSON WITH CONSTRUCTION GANGS

Halcyon Mule Still Doing Duty; Calder 50 Years With the C. P. R.

Alex Calder of Winnipeg, pioneer railroader of the west, and who is acclaimed as the oldest man in the employ of the Canadian Pacific railway, was in Nelson Saturday, making his first visit here since 27 years ago. The aged man has spent 50 of his 85 years as a railroader, and he is still active in Winnipeg.

Commenting on Nelson's advance in 27 years, he said: "I thought I had stepped ito a different town. It has changed in 27 years from a few frame buildings to a small metropolis."

Mr. Calder first came to Nelson when the Canadian Pacific railway was being constructed through the mountains, and he remembers the city as a few huddled frame buildings. He came in with gangs of men who went to work on railroad construction.

What he noticed particularly while here, he said, was the number of permanent type buildings. "Nelson's growth has been unbelievably fast."

Halcyon Mule Active

On his present trip he came here from Halcyon Hot Springs. He reported the famous old mule there is still active. "He's still doing his duty like a man. I think he knows almost as much about his work as the man who drives him. He must be well over 40 years and he's as playful as a youngster."

Mr. Calder speaks reminiscently of the dangers and hardships encountered in putting the Canadian Pacific railway through British Columbia. He tells of tote roads bracketted on the side of mountains, of bogs that were filled 20 times before a firm bed was made, and of rope bridges swung across almost bottomless chasms.

Early Vancouver

He went through to the Pacific coast before the railroad was completed, and he remembers the present thriving Vancouver as a vast area of mud flats, when Port Moody was the railroad terminal, and the small city clustered about the railroad shops was called Gastown.

"I don't understand how the builders of the railroad had courage to build where they did. Like many others I thought the idea of a coast to coast system was crazy, but it has certainly justified itself."

Built First Brandon House

Mr. Calder lays claim to the distinction of being the first one to build a house in Brandon. He shipped the lumber for the house up the Assiniboine river in 1883. His uncle, Alex Calder, constructed the first house in New Westminster.

Mr. Calder left yesterday morning on his return to Winnipeg, going by way of Calgary. On Saturday he was driven around the city and out to Bonnington and South Slocan, where he looked over the West Kootenay Power & Light company's hydro-electric developments, and the plant now in the course of construction.

MR. SIMPSON DIES AFTER A LONG ILLNESS

Resident Nelson Five Years; Leaves Wife, Adult Son

William Simpson, resident of Nelson for almost five years, died yesterday at his home in the Strathcona hotel after a long illness, the last eight weeks of which he spent in bed.

Mr. Simpson, a native of Scotland, emigrated to Canada six or eight years ago, making his home at Winnipeg, until he came here.

He leave a wife and an adult son.

KASLO PEOPLE GET CLOSE-UP OF SEAPLANE

Stops Kaslo Over Hour; Ranger Palethorpe Looks for Forest Fires

KASLO, B.C., July 31.—After seeing Captain Ted Dobbin's seaplane operated for the forest branch, pass over Kaslo several times, citizens on Sunday were granted a close-up view of the plane.

Dropping from a great height, Captain Dobbin, with the forest branch observer Percy Young, landed on the beach confronting the city. A huge crowd soon gathered and the aviators were plied with questions.

While here the seaplane was refueled and the flyers had dinner. Forest Ranger George Palethorpe, who is stationed here, then took the observer's seat in place of Mr. Young and a trip was made nearly to Trout lake, careful watch being kept in the many creek beds and valleys for any signs of forest fires.

On the return to Kaslo the official observer was taken up, and the plane speeded back to Nelson.

KOOTENAY OLD-TIMER PASSES

Edward Jones, old-timer of the Kootenays, died yesterday morning in the Kootenay Lake General hospital after a short illness, aged 68.

A Welshman by birth, Mr. Jones emigrated to this country while a young man, and for the past 30 years operated a ranch near Nelway, on the Pend d'Oreille river.

He was unmarried, and has no relatives in this country.

Daily cost of operating the Delaware river bridge is $894.

FORECASTS HUGE PRODUCTION BY DISTRICT MINES

Lennie and Pattullo, Vancouver, Say Slocan Activity to Increase

PREDICT OPENING UP OF MANY MINE MILLS

Lennie, Old-Timer Here, amazed at Building Activity in Nelson

"The Kootenays have reached the stage where development, though it must still go ahead, will be overshadowed by production," said R. S. Lennie, K.C., of Vancouver, when interviewed at the Hume Saturday. J. B. Pattullo, K.C., also of Vancouver, who is traveling with Mr. Lennie, was also of the same mind as his companion.

Mr. Lennie, an old-timer of Nelson, came here in 1885 and lived here for 15 years. He has been a frequent visitor since, and he stated he had not, in many years, seen Nelson so active in building as it now is.

The two men, and Mrs. Pattullo, have been looking over mining properties in the Slocan.

Slocan Has Great Future

"I think that before very long you will see great activity in Slocan mining," Mr. Lennie said. "In the past the idea seemed to be mostly to spend money. Of late, though, serious development work has been carried out, and the time has arrived when the big mines must produce. This year and next year you will see mills that have been unused for years fitted up and remodelled and producing a continuous stream of concentrates.

"This is a wonderful country and it has untold wealth in its resources. What it needs is cold headed business judgment in spending money on development, and I think the proper men are in charge of the big things now."

People's Faith to Be Justified

Mr. Pattullo, making his first visit to Nelson, said: "This is the most charming city I ever saw. But what strikes me most about the Kootenays is not so much the grandeur of its scenery, but the unlimited optimism of its citizens. No matter where we go or whom we meet, we find unshaken faith in the future, and I believe that faith will be justified in a not very distant future."
