Cecil Declares Britain Hasn't Cut Armaments

U. S., on Other Hand, Has Increased Armaments Since War

LONDON, Oct. 27. — Continuing his disarmament campaign, Viscount Cecil, in the course of a lecture tonight, said that compared with 1913, France had cut her armament expenditure by 50 per cent, Italy by 40, Germany by 65 per cent, but Great Britain's expenditure had remained the same, and that of the United States was about 25 per cent more than before the war. "If we oppose international proposals," he continued, "it is bound to fail."

"If we support it, it is almost certain that it can be made successful. It is evident we can save Europe from war if we have the courage and the vision. But, without that courage and vision, Europe's future is black indeed."

AUTO CRASHES TAKE ONE LIFE IN VANCOUVER

One Dying and Four Others Injured in One Day on City Streets

VANCOUVER, Oct. 27.—One woman is dead, a man is believed to be dying, two are suffering from serious injuries and four others were injured as the result of an epidemic of serious traffic accidents today. One man was arrested on a charge of driving to the common danger as the outcome of an accident.

Mrs. Fox was fatally injured when an automobile driven by her daughter, Miss Gladys Fox, was struck by a street car at Broadway and Laurel streets. Mr. Fox, who was riding with his wife in the rear seat, and Miss Fox were seriously injured.

Hugh Campbell is believed to be dying in the general hospital with a fractured skull received when his automobile crashed into a street car on Granvill street bridge late tonight.

According to Sergeant George Olmstead, Campbell's car was traveling southbound on the wrong side of the street when it crashed into a northbound street car near the Third avenue ramp.

Driver Held

Charles Adams, 21, Cordova street west, faces a charge of driving to the common danger as the result of an accident at Clark drive and Hastings street tonight. According to police, Mrs. Verhey was about to board a street car when an automobile, driven by T. Kond stopped to allow her to do so, when Adams' car crashed into the rear of the first automobile. Kond's car was forced forward, striking the woman, and Adams' car continued its career over the sidewalk and into the bush.

Eileen Allen was painfully injured this evening when she was struck by a hit-and-run driver as she was about to step into the safety zone at Seventh avenue and Granville street.

Robert Flack was injured when he was knocked from his bicycle by an auto driven by A. Gourlay, at Cordova and Water streets.

Associated Growers Sends Checks to the Its Fruit Locals

VERNON, B.C., Oct. 27.—The Associated Growers, the cooperative sale agency of the fruit growers, is making this year an enviable record. President E. J. Chambers announced that checks were sent to the various locals for payments on unclosed apple pools amounting to $350,000. Of this sum, nearly $100,000 was paid to the Vernon Fruit union. The money sent the various locals is by them paid to growers after any deductions incurred through supplies furnished growers have been made. The associated shipments are now averaging between 30 and 40 cars of apples daily. The Mnes, except those in storage, have mostly moved out, and the apples now rolling are Jonathans and other winter varieties.

Vancouver Has Two Near Holdups in One Night's Work

VANCOUVER, Oct. 27.—One holdup and one attempted holdup were reported in the city late tonight. A lone bandit walked into the Woman's bakery, Hastings street east, about 9 o'clock, and under the pretext of making a purchase, ordered the attendant behind the counter, at the point of a gun, to hold up his hands. He started to loot the till, but saw an officer approaching. He made his escape through a back door.

Two armed bandits held up a Japanese merchant and robbed him of $10.

OTTAWA, Oct. 27.—Hon. Peter Heenan left for Toronto tonight. Mr. Heenan's trip is connected with the building trades strike in that city. He declined to be interviewed before entraining.

Trial Within Trial on Exemption Claim; First Witness Is Heard

SUMMIT LAKE FIRE CLAIMS AGAINST C. P. R.

Midlakes Timber company	$126,000
Ontario-Slocan Lumber company	29,000
William Hunter	32,077
P. L. Verigin and B. A. Postnikoff	702
T. W. Allshouse	5,701
T. W. Allshouse and Nels Alposen	7,100
Total claim	$199,950

Passed more than two years into history, the great Summit Lake fire of July 15, 1925, and succeeding days, which largely cleaned out the pass between Slocan lake and the Arrow lakes, taking mill plants, houses, poles and standing timber, at a time when large sections of the Kootenay were "burning up" in the worst fire season the territory has known, was reflected yesterday by opening of a big civil action in assize court here, against the Canadian Pacific Railway company, which is asked to pay practically $200,000 damages to timber operators and others, who assert the company's liability for the fire.

Host of Witnesses

It is said that the suit, which is being tried before Mr. Justice D. A. McDonald without a jury, may take a week or 10 days in trial, for the two sides have, between them, marshalled a host of witnesses, whom eminent counsel will examine and cross-examine. The associated plaintiffs are represented by three counsel—James O'Shea, K.C., for the Ontario-Slocan Lumber company, Hunter, Allshouse and Alposen; W. E. Burns, K.C., of Vancouver, for the Midlakes Timber company; and W. W. Ferguson for Verigin and Postnikoff. The railway company is represented by C. R. Hamilton, K.C., of Hamilton, Wragge & Hamilton, its local counsel, and J. E. McMullen of Vancouver, the company's counsel for British Columbia.

Asked Depart from Coast Order

The first big point that arose yesterday was whether the order made at Vancouver, March 14 last, by Mr. Justice McDonald for the consolidation of the separate actions brought by the plain-

VANCOUVER LIABLE LOSE THE OUTLET

McGreer Says C.P.R. May Tap River Country With Outlet at Stewart, B.C.

VANCOUVER, Oct. 27.—That Vancouver is in great danger of losing her opportunity of becoming the outlet for the grain production of the Peace River area was stated by G. G. McGeer, K.C., on his return to the city from Edmonton today.

"The people of Alberta are losing faith in the Pacific Great Eastern railway as a possible outlet for the production of the northern part of their province," said Mr. McGeer. "They are inclined to turn toward the Canadian Pacific railway and the Canadian National for relief. It is common belief at Edmonton that the Canadian Pacific will shortly extend a line from Lloydminster north of the old Grand Trunk line, now a part of the Canadian National, and continue it westward through the Peace River area and across northern British Columbia to Stewart on the Portland canal."

Another opinion generally held on the prairies, said Mr. McGeer, is that the Canadian National will endeavor to forestall both the P. G. E. and the C. P. R. by building northward from its present line to tap the grain growing area.

Hundred Ships to Carry Grain From Port of Vancouver

VANCOUVER, Oct. 27. — More than 100 ships have been chartered to carry 20,000,000 bushels of wheat from Vancouver to the United Kingdom and the continent during November, December and January, according to space fixtures announced today at the Vancouver Merchants' exchange.

Of this great fleet, there will be 40 vessels loading here with grain during December, lifting approximately 10,000,000 bushels.

To date very little space has been taken for oriental shipments which are at present only small parcel lots. During December and January, however, it is expected that Japanese requirements will begin to move in volume.

ANGLICAN CHURCH HEAD

Dr. Randall Thomas Davidson, archbishop of Canterbury, who made a public reply to the letter of Bishop Barnes of Birmingham on the subject of the presence of Christ in Holy Communion, which has shocked Anglicanism. There have been rumors for some time that the archbishop would retire as soon as the new prayer book of the Church of England was finally disposed of in parliament, but it is thought this new situation may cause the octogenarian primate to struggle on. He has filled the highest office in the Church of England for 24 years.

MOVIE CONCERN WILL OPERATE NEAR VICTORIA

Purchase 923 Acres for Establishment of "Cinema City" for Canadian Firm

VICTORIA, Oct. 27.—James J. Wright of San Francisco, and his associate, Major Bruce Carter, United States army, retired, San Francisco, today purchased 923 acres of land comprising the Burdidge estate, near the Colwood golf links here, on which to establish Cinema City, Canada. The price paid was in the neighborhood of $100,000.

Cinema City will be a fully equipped motion picture colony, with modern equipment and will occupy 50 acres.

Cinema City, limited, will be incorporated within a few weeks, and this company will be the holding concern, conducting the sale in California of lands in Cinema City. Construction soon of a studio prior to the incorporation of the Canadian National Pictures, limited, which will be incorporated at $10,000,000, will start soon.

Mr. Wright states that he expects the company will by April next year be well ahead with the building activity at Cinema City.

Decent Americans Ashamed of Mayor Thompson, Chicago

TORONTO, Oct. 27.—"All decent Americans are ashamed of the actions of Mayor Thompson," declared John G. Foster, here today. Mr. Foster, who has served the United States for 30 years as consul-general in Canada, but retired last June, is visiting friends here.

"Thompson's attitude toward the British Empire is not America's attitude. Mayor Thompson is a freak. If he knew more about the Britisher, he would understand the foolishness of his actions," Mr. Foster asserted.

Madrid Greets Miss Elder and Her Pilot, Who Fly From Lisbon

MADRID, Spain, Oct. 27.—The guests of Ogden Hammond, United States ambassador to Spain, Ruth Elder, first surviving transatlantic woman flier, and Captain George Haldeman, co-pilot of the American Girl, were the center of admiration in the Spanish capital today. The aviators landed here from Lisbon in a Junkers plane at 2:16 p.m. Both were delighted to be in the air again, and their next flight will be to Paris.

ELEVEN SEAMEN IN RIGGING OF WRECKED SHIP

Twenty-Seven of Crew Taken From Italian Ship Stuck on Scilly Rocks

LONDON, Oct. 27.—The Italian steamer Isabo, a Lloyd dispatch from Sicilly reports, is ashore on Scilly rocks. Twenty-seven of the crew landed in a life boat and efforts were under way to rescue remaining 11. The vessel, it is added, will undoubtedly be a total loss.

(The Isabo is a steamer of 4186 tons. She sailed from Montreal for Hamburg, October 14.)

Cling to Rigging

ST. MARYS, Scilly Island, Oct. 27.—Eleven members of the crew of the Italian steamer Isabo tonight clung to the rigging while efforts were made to rescue them from the ship, which went ashore here. They kept up their courage by singing songs of the sea. A life boat stood by, but was unable to approach or to throw a line aboard because of the heavy seas running. The ship was pounding dangerously on the rocks and it was feared it would break up.

PATROL CRUISER TO BATTLE DRUGS

Will Watch Incoming Liners From Orient; Cruiser to Carry Gun

VANCOUVER, Oct. 27.—Incoming liners from Asia will shortly be watched oy a special patrol cruiser which will attempt to put a stop to the practice of throwing packets of narcotics into the water for picking up by confederates from shore, by which smugglers on board ships from the orient have been known to evade the customs officers. The Dominion government today ordered the cruiser to be built by a local firm. It will be 49 feet long, with a maximum speed of 30 knots, and carry a machine gun forward.

The cost will be $25,000.

The cruiser will also be used for general customs preventime service.

Nungessor's Brother Nearly Air Victim on His First Flight

WASHINGTON, D.C., Oct. 27.—Aviation narrowly missed claiming another member of the Nungesser family as a victim here today, when Robert E. Nungesser, aged 25, brother of the French ace, plunged to earth on his flight as a student pilot. He was taken from the wrecked plane unconscious.

Over Nine Hundred Survivors Are Landed From the Mafalda Lost in the South Atlantic

At Least 200 Women, Children Believed to Have Been Drowned

ITALIAN CAPTAIN WAS INJURED AND DROWNED

French Ship Has Yet to Land Its Quota of the Rescued Souls

BUENOS AYRES, Oct. 27.—The agents here of the Mafalda estimate that the survivors of the wrecked liner number 932 out of a total of 1256 aboard the ship. There are therefore 324 persons unaccounted for. The agents have hopes that other ships may have picked up additional survivors.

Captain Injured

RIO DE JANEIRO, Oct. 27.—Captain Richard Vernon of the steamship Avelona which arrived here tonight from the Mafalda disaster, told the Associated Press he believed at least 200 persons, for the most part women and children, perished in the wreck. The Avelona arrived at the scene 10 hours after the Mafalda sank.

"I got one message from Captain Guli and it consisted of only one word "Injured." This confirms other reports that Captain Guli was hurt while directing the work of rescue," declared Captain Vernon.

Alhena Lands

RIO DE JANEIRO, Oct. 27.—The rescue ship Alhena, with 531 survivors of the Prinicipessa Mafalda disaster, arrived here at 11:55 o'clock tonight. The rescued included 10 first class, 27 second class, 345 third class passengers and 149 members of the Mafalda's crew.

900 Accounted for

RI DE JANEIR, ct. 27.—With more than 900 survivors of the ill-fated Italian liner Prinicipessa Mafalda accounted for, the steamer Alhena reached Rio Janeiro tonight; the Formosa will dock here early in the morning. The Molessa has arrived at Bahia and other rescuing ships are on their way to various ports. The best estimates from latest wireless advices and information gleaned from passengers or members of the crew who came out of the disaster alive, place the dead and missing at about 300. It is possible that some of these have been picked up and it is even possible that the death list will go somewhere beyond the present estimate.

Captain Guli, commander of the Mafalda, most of the reports agree, went down with his ship. He was injured, but stood on the bridge until the last and the radio operator, who had kept the rescuing vessels informed and had taken in turn encouraging words from the oncoming steamers to cheer those who awaited death, perished also.

Another tragic incident concerns the doctor of the Mafalda, who after being saved, remembering having left a large sum of money aboard. He went back and down with his ship.

DAWN IS FURTHER TESTED FOR TRIP

New Motor Works Well; Pilot Will Start After Another Trial Flight

OLD ORCHARD, Me., Oct. 27.—Pilot Wilmer Stultz today for two hours put Mrs. Frances Grayson's plane, The Dawn, through its paces in tests for another attempted flight to Europe.

The plane, rejuvenated by a new Wright motor to replace the one broken in the flight last Sunday, soared in and around the shore, mostly at low altitudes.

The fliers said tonight that only one more hour in the air was needed to satisfy them that the ship was ready to continue its journey to Copenhagen.

Four Hundred Believed to Have Gone to Death Inside the Ship

TALES OF HORROR ARE TOLD BY THE RESCUED

Loss of Propellor Caused the Water to Flow in Over Boilers

BAHIA, Brazil, Oct. 27.—Belief that the captain and at least 400 of the passengers and crew of the sunken Italian liner Principessa Mafalda went down with the vessel was expressed by survivors who reached here today, despite reports from other sources that only a handful of the more than 1200 aboard were lost.

Tales of a horror-filled night were told by the first of the victims to reach this port today aboard the French steamer Mosella, one of the half dozen ships that answered the Mafalda's distress call. The Mosella saved 52 persons from drowning. The Mosella had no information as to the number rescued by the other vessels understood to include all but 68 of those who were aboard the ill-fated liner.

FOUR DIE AT SEA

Despite warmth of water and calmness of sea, four of those rescued by the Mosella died from exposure and exhaustion before reaching port. They said it would not be surprising to them if the final toll mounted to between 600 and 800 persons. Some of them insisted that a number of victims were devoured by sharks as they struggled in the water.

Members of the Mafalda's crew, of whom 22 were aboard the Mosella, said that Captain Simon Guli of the Italian liner went down with his ship. Captain Privat of the Mosella was not sure of this as the only thing he knew about it was that he heard Captain Guli giving orders on the bridge of the sinking vessel a short time before it foundered.

Horrible Scenes

Captain Privat said: "The scenes could not have been more horrible than they were, especially the screaming in the midst of the wind and darkness from women and children helpless in the ocean waves."

The disaster was due, according to Captain Privat, to the loss of a propeller in such a way as to permit an inflow of water, causing an explosion of the boilers.

"I believe," he declared, "that it is no exaggeration to say that there are 400 dead."

Captain Privat's estimate of the lost is not borne out by wireless reports previously received from other rescue vessels. The other vessels tonight were en route to Rio de Janeiro, 200 miles or more further from the scene of the disaster than Bahia. Wireless reports from these vessels indicated that all but 68 of those aboard the Mafalda had been saved. The survivors brought into port by the Mosella consisted of

DRUGGIST BODY CALLED COMBINE

Investigation Leads to Report That Organization Working Against Public's Interests

OTTAWA, Oct. 27. — A combine against the interest of the public, is the finding of Commissioner L. V. O'Connor from his investigation under the Combines Investigation act into the Proprietory Articles Trades association This association is an organization of manufacturing, wholesale and retail druggists who have been operating for the last year under agreements fixing minimum resale prices on proprietory articles. The report was made public tonight by Hon. Peter Heenan, minister of labor.

For the reasons above mentioned, declares Commissioner O'Connor in concluding his report, "and having in mind that persons engaged in the trade may legally organize for their mutual protection and advancement (so long as the interests of the public are not unduly impaired), I am thoroughly convinced that the P. A. T. A., all-embracing as it is, or as it is designed to be, for the control of the entire trade in nationally advertised proprietary medicines and toilet articles, is an organization which has operated and is likely to operate to the detriment of and against the interests of the public."

The P.A.T.A. was the subject of an interim report by M. McGregor, registrar of the Combines Investigation act, which was published a year ago. Following that report the P.A.T.A. claimed that they had not had adequate opportunity to present their side of the case. A request was then made by the association for a formal inquiry by a specially appointed commissioner.

Commissioner L. V. O'Connor, barrister of Lindsay, Ont., was appointed commissioner and A. R. McMaster, K.C., Montreal, was appointed by the minister of justice as counsel to conduct the investigation. Meetings were held in Montreal, Toronto and Winnipeg and occupied 51 days, the evidence comprising about 500 pages. More than 80 witnesses, including representatives of all branches of the trade and all parts of Canada, were heard.

TORONTO STRIKE GOES TO COURT

Injunction Granted Contracting Firms Forbidding Interference With Work

TORONTO, Oct. 27.—It was intimated here tonight by officials of the building trades council that legal talent would be secured by them to contest the injunction granted Blake Johnson, representative of eight building contracting firms, by Mr. Justice Orde at Osgoode hall today, restraining William Varley, secretary of the building trades council and other officials of trade unions from continuing to call building mechanics on strike in sympathy with the United Brotherhood of Carpenters and Joiners. The carpenters have been on strike since October 4, demanding an increase in wages and nonrecognition by the contractors of their rival organization, the Amalgamated Society of Carpenters.

Scanned after its receipt in the labor temple late today and studied tonight by international trade union officials acquainted with the courts, the injunction was described as seriously threatening the right to strike and the right to organize and as a consequence the existence of the international trade movement in Canada.

The building trades council me tomorrow to formulate its campai It was learned that the injunct would prevent a settlement throu the friendly offices of Hon. A Double Escape

DOCTOR'S DAUGHTER'S STORY

Another Toronto home provides evidence of how a simple cut, scratch or bruise, may pave the way to deadly blood-poison, and how vital is the need for keeping Zam-Buk, always handy?

When called upon at 3, Bushness Avenue, Mrs. J. E. Zealley, daughter of the late Dr. Bevan, of St. David's, S. Wales, said:—"My boy Alfred scratched his leg with the brass tag of a shoe lace. A nasty poisoned sore developed and it defied all the usual ointments. Hearing splendid reports about Zam-Buk I decided to give it a trial. To my great relief, the balm soon caused healing to set in. All inflammation and poisonous matter was quickly removed by Zam-Buk, and it healed the sore without leaving a scar.

"Again when I fell over a steel fender and injured my knee badly, Zam-Buk alone saved me. My daughter, a nurse, was of the opinion that only an operation could remove the mass of inflammation and pus. But I again pinned my fajth to Zam-Buk, and it cleansed and healed the wound." All druggists and stores sell Zam-Buk at fifty cents per box. Equally valuable for eczema, pimples, cuts, burns, etc.

WOMAN COULD HARDLY WALK

Mrs. Horn Tells how Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound Restored Her Health

Hamilton, Ont.—"I have taken Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and would not be without it now. I had a female trouble so badly I could hardly walk and I was all rundown and could hardly get around to do my housework. I would be in bed three or four days at a time. I was told by a friend to try your Vegetable Compound. I did, and by the time I took two bottles I was beginning to get around again. I took ten bottles in all, and now I am all right again and doing my own work. I have six grown-ups to work for, so I have plenty to do. I also used Lydia E. Pinkham's Sanative Wash, and I think it is good. But I owe my health to the Vegetable Compound, and I think if more of it was used women would be better off. I would not be without it if it cost much more."—Mrs. NELLIE JAMESON, 805 East Cannon Street, Hamilton, Ontario.

Do you feel broken down, nervous and weak sometimes? Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound is excellent to take at such a time. It always helps, and if taken regularly and persistently, will relieve this condition. C

PLOT THICKENS CITY COUNCIL IN CONSPIRACY

City Fathers, Teachers and Others Conspire to Give Young Folks Good Time

WONDERFUL PROGRAM IS BEING EVOLVED

All Boys and Girls Read This; Then Get Busy Preparing for Thrills

The plot is on.

There will be dirty work at the crossroads, or rather, at the Recreation grounds, Monday night, when, in the dark of the moon, possibly, and with spooky effects, the children of Nelson will have their first public Halloween celebration under the patronage of the civic corporation.

Things Done on the Jump

Events moved fast yesterday to advance the deep plot.

At 4 o'clock a civic conference examined the proposal.

At 5 o'clock the city council in special session appropriated a sum of money to defray necessary expenses.

At 7:30 o'clock City Engineer Boyd Affleck held a conference at the city hall with all the male teachers on the teaching staff except Principal L. V. Rogers, and laid the ground plan, so that the children can be told today what is ahead of them, and what they need to prepare for if they are going to be in on the glorious and hair-raising fun.

Nine Groups in Parade

The grand parade of all the boys and girls of Nelson in their masks, and any costumes they care to make up, armed with noise-producing implements of any kind except such things as crackers, and carrying combustibles, will begin to form up at three points, of which the Hume and Central schools will be two, about 7:30 o'clock. It is expected each of these three sections will have a band to play it up to the general rendezvous.

All told, there will be 11 groups—two for the high school, one for the business college, one for St. Joseph's, four for Central school and three for Hume school. Each group will carry an effigy it has prepared itself, probably a letter, and combustible material for a bonfire of its own.

In addition to the bands of music, which no doubt will take part, S. J. Donaldson has in hand a kazoo band to lead the high school, while Aulay McInnis has undertaken to assemble a Bingtown band. No doubt there will be others.

To encourage the young folks to make novel costumes, Mayor J. A. McDonald announced he would give a prize of $5 for the best costume. There will also be 11 other costume and clown prizes, one for each of the 11 groups.

When the grand parade has made the circuit of the business section, and busted everyone's eardrums, it will turn toward the Recreation grounds.

Souvenirs for Marchers

At the gate, where the groups will enter in column of fours, members of the Canadian Legion will be on duty, to hand to each marching child a souvenir that the city is providing.

Car owners will have their cars stationed in a wide circle or oval around the fence, with their headlights bearing on the imposing pile of brush and packing cases destined for the great bonfire.

Eleven Group Bonfires First

Before the match is touched to this, however, there will be 11 lesser bonfires, built in a circle, but only two of them lighted at a time. Each group when it lights its bonfire, made of the combustibles brought by its own members—bags of leaves or shavings, faggots, boxes, and the like—will try to outdo all the other groups in noise.

When the big bonfire is finally lighted, there will be a program on the platform before the grandstand, for which Electrical Engineer J. F. Coates, has instructions to string the lights again.

Platform Program

Now, no one knows what that program is going to be, in all its details. A committee composed of Alderman Ross Fleming, Mrs. Harold Lakes, W. Nicol and Miss Elva Hanna has charge of that, and also of the arrangements for the regular bands.

But two of the numbers are definitely known. Each group will elect its best pie-eater for the honor of representing it in the great pie-eating contest. Also, each group will elect its ablest pillow-fighter to battle in its honor on a horizontal pole.

Each champion, when he has absorbed his pie the fastest, or emerged as winner of the pillow-fight elimination, will be appropriately crowned.

Another Souvenir on Home Trip

About 9 o'clock, probably, the program will be over, and then the groups, minus the combustibles and the effigies, which will have gone up in a blaze of glory, will reform, to receive from the Canadian Legion detachment a further souvenir from the city.

Then the various sections will be played back to their points of origin, where they will disperse.

Alderman Samuel Barton and Fire Chief H. M. Maloney are a committee to secure the necessary prizes for the best costume in each group.

The students of high and Central schools, business college and convent will hear all about this from their teaching staffs today.

Fairview Must Get Busy

In the case of Fairview, where the school will not resume until Monday, it will be necessary for the parents to advise the kiddies of what is in the air, and to counsel them to get busy with their preparations.

The services of the Boy Scout, Girl Guide, and C. G. I. T. organizations will be utilized in some way to aid the celebration, the first-named for stretcher-bearers.

DOUKHOBORS TO COMMEMORATE PETER'S DEATH

Flock to Brilliant to Join in Big Annual Memorial Ceremony

YOUNG PETER WILL ACT SOLELY AS INDIVIDUAL

No Program; Ceremony to Consist of Praying and Singing by the Masses

Members of the Christian Community of Universal Brotherhood and Independent Doukhobors at midnight will commence commemorating the third anniversary of the death of their former leader, Peter Lordly Veregin, who was one of nine people killed or fatally injured in the disastrous railway coach explosion at Farron on October 29, 1924.

Representatives of Saskatchewan Doukhobors will join with their fellows, who for the past few days have been flocking in ever increasing numbers to Brilliant, where the late leader lies at rest in a marble mausoleum, in a huge memorial ceremony. Doukhobors of Grand Forks, Crescent Valley, Salmon Valley, and hundreds of points will mingle with members of the big Brilliant colony in the big memorial ceremony.

No Program

No program has been laid out, and it is expected the ceremony will consist largely of singing and praying by the masses.

Young Peter Verigin, son of the late leader, who recently arrived from Russia to assume the role of leader, will take part in the ceremony as an individual. Whatever he does will be of his own volition, and not part of any program.

OCTOBER RAINFALL IS MOUNTING UP

Total Is Now 3:38 Inches; to Date Rain Has Fallen on 16 Days

With the sky overcast for the last four days and a total rainfall of .62 for that period it would look as if Nelson was in for another rainy spell.

Although the total rainfall for the month so far has only reached 3.38 inches, considerably lower than at the same time of last month, rain, a little at a time, except for the ninth, when .90 of an inch was recorded, has fallen on 16 days, to date.

The rainfall for yesterday, recorded up till 5 p. m. was .23 of an inch, but rain fell also after that time.

Nelson Odd Fellows Entertain at Card Party and Dancing

Nelson Odd Fellows last night were hosts to a large gathering in the I.O.O.F. hall, entertaining with a whist drive and dance.

Mrs. E. F. Krown and T. DeFero were winners, respectively, of the ladies' and men's first prizes at whist, and Mrs. Yorr and T. Laffin captured the consolation awards.

W. Watkins, W. Jeffs and J. Forbes, were in charge. A. Lane was master of ceremonies for the dancing, which was featured by old-time numbers.

CANADA PLANS AIR SERVICE

VANCOUVER, Oct. 27.—Transcontinental air mail service, which will cross Canada in about two days, is a development of the next few years, declared Major-General J. H. MacBrien, former chief of staff of the Canadian army, now organizer of the Canadian Air league, who arrived in Vancouver today.

Multiple engined planes, which will be able to soar above the Rocky mountains, will be the solution to the present difficulties confronting nation-wide service, the general believes.

"It has been suggested," General MacBrien said, "that the government divide the air mail service, one branch operating from the Atlantic to the Soo, and the other branch speeding the mails across the prairies. This is only a suggestion, however."

DRUGS EXCITE THE KIDNEYS, DRINK WATER

Take Salts at First Sign of Bladder Irritation or Backache

The American men and women must guard constantly against kidney trouble because we often eat too much rich food. Our blood is filled with acids which the kidneys strive to filter out; they weaken from overwork, become sluggish, the eliminative tissues clog and the result is kidney trouble, bladder weakness and a general decline in health.

When your kidneys feel like lumps of lead; your back hurts or the urine is cloudy, full of sediment, or you are obliged to seek relief two or three times during the night; if you suffer with sick headache, or dizzy, nervous spells, acid stomach, or if you have rheumatism when the weather is bad, begin drinking lots of good soft water and get from your pharmacist about four ounces of Jad Salts. Take a tablespoonful in a glass of water before breakfast for a few days and your kidneys may then act fine.

This famous salts is made from the acid of grapes and lemon juice, combined with lithia, and has been used for years to help flush and stimulate clogged kidneys, to neutralize the acids in the system so they no longer are a source of irritation, thus often relieving bladder disorders.

Jad Salts is inexpensive; cannot injure, makes a delightful effervescent lithia-water drink and belongs in every home, because nobody can make a mistake by having a good kidney flushing any time.

Trail Householders, Licencees few Yet, Civic Voter's List

TRAIL, B.C., Oct. 27.—Although Monday will be the last day on which householders and licence-holders can secure to themselves the privilege of voting in the January civic elections, only 45 have so far got their names on the voters' list, out of more than 1200 men who have paid the necessary taxes.

Smelter workers, who constitute the bulk of residents, automatically pay road and poll taxes to the collector, D. Downes, chief of police, through an arrangement with the Consolidated Mining & Smelting company paymaster, who deducts the amounts from their wages. Such men, if they are 21 years old, British subjects, and resident in Trail since January 1 of this year, have but to make application at the city hall for registration during October each year, to gain or retain voting privileges.

Trail has a large foreign population, but it is estimated that at least 600 men otherwise qualified will lose their votes unless they resigter between now and closing time Monday afternoon. Women qualified as to citizenship, residence and age, can secure votes by paying road tax only.

An extraordinarily large number of property owners will also be ineligible to vote unless they move quickly. Many buyers of homes and lots on terms here by neglecting to register their agreement of sale at the Land Registry office in Nelson, leave voting privileges in the hands of the registered owner, though paying the city taxes themselves. Incidentally, they leave themselves unprotected should the registered owner choose to mortgage or otherwise capitalize the title deeds.

Winter Schedule for B.C. Highways Comes Into Effect Now

VICTORIA, Oct. 27.—The winter season on British Columbia highways has been brought into effect, officially.

Between now and April 14 next special limitations, as prescribed by regulations issued some time ago, will be enforced to govern the weight of vehicles on various classes of roads.

CROWN SUGGESTS DOCTOR CARELESS

VANCOUVER, Oct. 27.—Evidence suggesting carelessness on the part of Dr. J. S. Gladwin, charged with manslaughter, in connection with the death of Kathleen Black, 19, July 12, about two hours following a major operation performed by accused, was offered by the crown today.

The trial will continue tomorrow.

Marigold that contained 11 blooms on one stem, was picked in Galt garden.

School nurse says all girls should know this

TALKING to a roomful of high school girls on personal hygiene, an experienced district nurse said: "One of the basic rules of health for girls is to keep the system functioning naturally at all times. Normal exercise and diet habits should be encouraged. But when necessary there's no harm in taking nujol, since it works mechanically and can't disturb the normal functions of any organ of the body. Particularly with girls, there are times when nujol should always be taken. Take a spoonful every night for a few days. It's a thoroughly safe and harmless method. It won't cause distress or gas pains or griping."

Not Like Medicine

Nujol is different from any other substance. It contains no drugs or medicine. It can be taken safely no matter how you are feeling because it is so pure and harmless, and works so easily. Every woman should keep a bottle on hand. Every druggist has this remarkable substance. Get the genuine. Perfected by the famous Chemical Products Division of the Standard Oil Company of New Jersey. Look for the Nujol bottle with the label on the back that you can read right through the bottle.

Mr. Bowser's Surprising Attitude

"I have nothing to say," was the reply of Mr. Bowser, when a resolution from the Oak Bay Conservative association asking him to announce he was out of politics was drawn to his attention.

The reason for the resolution was that friends of Mr. Bowser have created a situation that throws doubt on his intentions.

It would seem to be up to the former leader, who has had the highest honors the party could give him, to clear the situation.

To fail to do so, to shine in the limelight with political addresses that fail to touch his personal future, to return evasive replies to questions as to his intentions or requests for statements, is to encourage the belief that he nourishes and is prepared to further ambitions that are at variance with the wishes of the party as expressed at Kamloops.

If Mr. Bowser for a long time has been considered impossible as a leader, he will become more impossible, or rather, impossible to a larger number of Conservatives, every day that he allows this undermining to go on in his name without disclaimer. He hasn't the ghost of a show of displacing Dr. Tolmie.

Mr. Bowser retired once of his own motion. After two years he again sought the leadership, only to discover that his cause was hopeless. He apparently loyally pledged support to the splendid leader the party drafted at Kamloops. Now he stands on the edge of the shadow apparently willing to court the spotlight and to give encouragement to his small group of diehard followers to believe that he stands ready to snatch at the helm.

An explanation from Mr. Bowser is certainly due the Conservative party.

Hazardous Sport at Vernon

Pheasants in the Vernon district are apparently so thickly distributed that the hunters can't keep out of the path of each other's pellets, and four casualties are reported in one week.

Besides being in danger from brother huntsmen, the Vernon nimrods are also in danger from the old grouches whom we may suppose to be lurking with loaded shotguns behind their notice boards of "No Shooting," which are said to plaster orchard after orchard, supporting the advertisements to the same effect in the local paper.

Apparently the safest way to enjoy pheasant shooting in the locality of Vernon is to develop a ranch—whereupon the birds will place themselves on your visiting list.

There is no danger to pheasant shooters in this district; there "aint no such animile." The opening of a pheasant shooting season here this year probably finished, or nearly so, the chances of the birds so painstakingly planted by the Nelson and District Rod and Gun club.

New Apple Estimates Help British Columbia Returns

A revised estimate of apple production issued by the Empire marketing board, arriving by the last English mail, shows a condition that should influence favorably returns on British Columbia apples.

In its issue of August 3 the board advised that "importing countries" were likely to receive only moderate supplies of apples from the United States. It now notes that the American crop has been further reduced, and is now estimated at 24,200,000 barrels, as against 39,600,000 barrels in 1926.

Whereas it advised in August that "Canada would probably be in a position to supply fair quantities," expressing this opinion on an estimated production of 3,500,000 barrels, or 500,000 more than last year, it reports now a Canadian production of only 2,740,000 barrels, or 240,000 under last year.

Another element in the situation is that British domestic apples, while in good supply, have a larger proportion than usual of inferior fruit.

These several shortages of crop, and of apples of the best market grades, all help the British Columbia grower, who on the whole seems to be putting up a larger pack than he had estimated.

Stratford water has been given clean bill of health, in spite of mild typhoid outbreak.

Port Arthur district farmers held their first annual plowing match in Paipoonge township.

One hunter of ground hogs in the Guelph district, has this fall shot 411 of the little animals.

Tomato-Carrot Pickle—One peck of green tomatoes, three pounds of onnions, six large carrots, two pounds brown sugar, one cup of white sugar, ane teaspoon of ground cinnamn and one cup of mixed pickling spices. Grind all the vegetables, mix together, sprinkle with one-half cup of salt, and let stand overnight. In the morning squeeze dry, draining off the liquid which has accumulated, then add one quart of vinegar and the other ingredients and cook slowly all day. Seal hot in hot, sterilized glass jars.

Cucumber Relish—One quart of cucumbers cut in cubes, four small onions, and two red peppers. Put these three vegetables through the food chopper and mix together, then cover all with hot water and let stand one hour; drain and cover with one quart of scalded vinegar, and add one tablespoon of salt, one cup of brown sugar, one-half teaspoon each of ground cinnamon, and ground cloves, and let cook all together for one hour, before sealing airtight in hot sterilized glass jars.

Sweet Pickled Canned Peaches—Although this pickle is, of course, better made with ripe fresh peaches, it may be made with the canned variety when the season for ripe peaches is over. Boil together for 20 minutes two pounds of brown sugar, one pint of vinegar and one ounce of stick cinnamon. Stick each peach-half (remove skins from ripe ones) with four whole cloves and drop them into the prepared sirup. Let cook several minutes, then place them in hot, sterilized glass jars and turn the vinegar-sirup over them. Seal while hot.

Chopped Pickle—Through your food chopper put six red and six green peppers, three bunches of celery, two pints of onions cut in halves after being peeled, one small head of cabbage, and one-half peck of ripe tomatoes. Mix all together, then sprinkle with one cup of salt and let stand overnight. Next day drain, add one tablespoon each of mustard seed, celery seed, ground cloves, ground cinnamon and black pepper, also two cups of brown sugar, one-half cup of grated horseradish, and three quarts of vinegar. Boil 10 minutes and seal airtight.

Tomorrow—The Care of the Sink.

That Body of Yours

Old Age Specialists

A short time ago I spoke of a new specialist in medicine, the endocrinologist, whose special work was the treatment of, and treatment with, endocrine or ductless glands. And now another specialist has appeared on the horizon. As you know, the baby specialist is called a pediatrician, a specialist in pediatrics. The new specialist is the "geriatrician," a specialist in geriatrics, or old age.

And, after all, why shouldn't there be a specialist whose work is the preservation of the health of our aged folk? How often a man or woman of intellect, or real service to humanity, as he passes middle age, seems to "break up" in a short time and pass away. Other folks seem to get "old" years before they should and become a burden to themselves years before they should be giving up an active part in life.

Now, the causes of "premature old age" are infections of teeth, tonsils, gall bladder and so forth, unwise methods of eating, lack of exercise and worry.

I spoke once before about two old men I saw at one time. One was driving a team of horses along a city street and his sturdy commands to the horses during a block in the traffic attracted my attention. At the same time I saw another man, not any older, hobbling on a cane to a fire station, where he would spend his day playing dominoes with the firemen.

One was still of use to himself and others, whilst the other hobbled far enough to get a place to spend the day.

And these old age specialists or geriatricians tell us that work of some kind is the biggest factor in keeping these elderly individuals active and useful.

Accordingly, if there is no physical ailment to be corrected, or if same has been corrected, work of some kind is arranged for them. This is usually mental or physical work, or a combination of both. Then habits of life, such as food, exercise, intestinal movements, are investigated and sane advice given.

The dangers of overweight are strongly stressed and the amount of food recommended is only 60 to 70 per cent of what was eaten during the days of youth and middle age. It does seem that the health of the race, of babies, children, young men and young women, middle-aged men and women and now old folks also, is about to take its rightful place as the most important part of life.

Air Flight Planned Between Warsaw and Chicago Next Season

CHICAGO, Ill., Oct. 26.—An air flight between the world's two leading "Polish" cities—Warsaw and Chicago—is being arranged for next year, with Captain Adam Kowalczyk of the Polish army air corps as pilot. A $25,000 fund is being collected among persons of Polish descent in Chicago, which ranks next to Warsaw in number of Polish residents.

A flight contract was signed by Captain Kowalczyk at the suggestion of Alderman Stanley Adamkewitz who recently returned from a trip to Poland.

Meeting regarding a provincial highway from Harrison to Sarnia was held in Wingham October 5.

HALLOWE'EN SUGGESTIONS

MACAROONS ARE DELICIOUS

Made with Eagle Brand Condensed Milk

At the right is given a recipe for Cocoanut Macaroons that has become famous. Once you have tried it you will always make them this easy way because you are sure of dainty, irresistible tidbits. The candy recipes are old favourites, too, and will add to your reputation as a hostess who serves delightful refreshments.

RUSSIAN TAFFY
2 cups brown sugar, ½ lb. butter, 1 tin Borden's Eagle Brand Condensed Milk, 1 cup corn syrup, ¾ cup nuts (broken).
Dissolve syrup, butter and milk over slow fire, add sugar. Boil for twenty minutes, stirring constantly. Add nuts and pour in buttered pan to cool, cut in squares and serve on waxed paper.

LAKEWOOD CREAM
1 can Borden's Eagle Brand Condensed Milk, 1 cup chopped walnut meats, ½ pound sugar, 2 tablespoons butter.
Combine the milk and sugar. Bring to boiling point; add the butter and boil twelve minutes, stirring constantly. Remove from fire, add the nuts and pour into buttered pan. When cool cut in squares.

COCOANUT MACAROONS
Melt 2 squares of chocolate and mix well with 1 can of Borden's Eagle Brand Milk. Add ½ pound shredded cocoanut, mix thoroughly, and add 1 teaspoonful vanilla. Drop on greased pan 1 teaspoonful at a time, about an inch apart. Bake in a moderate oven until nicely browned. This makes 30 macaroons. Omit chocolate for plain macaroons.

RANCHES CHANGE OWNERSHIPS IN CRESTON AREA

Winnipeg Man Buys the Stark Property; Mrs. Demers Sells Tract; Archibald Clears

CRESTON, B.C., Oct. 27.—A notable sale of orchard property is reported closed in which William Playter Stark disposed of the 20-acre Devon ranch, which he has occupied for the last 15 years, to George Murrell of Winnipeg, Man., a brother of Charles Murrell of Creston. The place is situated just outside the village limits and is nicely balanced as to orchard and pasture. Mrs. Murrell and children will join Mr. Murrell and possession will be taken at the first of November. At present Mr. and Mrs. Stark plan to reside at Victoria.

Another sale of improved orchard property was closed on Saturday, when Mrs. P. Demers sold her 10-acre place east of town to Steve Sevenuk of Caron, Sask. The place is set out with a couple of acres of orchard, and the purchaser gets immediate possession. Mrs. Demers, whose husband died a few weeks ago, intends to remove with the children to Arrowhead, where her eldest son is working.

V. Brixa has taken the contract to brush, stump and break the 10 acres of the Simon Trombley ranch, on the east boundary of the village, which was this summer purchased by M. B. Archibald of Rossland, mines manager for the Consolidated Mining & Smelting company, limited. The buy gives Mr. Archibald a 30-acre tract, 20 of which is in orchard and it is stated his intention is too build a commodious residence on the recently acquired tract.

Jonathan Apples for Export Are Sent, Bonnington

BONNINGTON, B.C., Oct. 27. — A car of apples was shipped on Wednesday from the Bonnington orards for the Associated Growers. The apples are Jonathans, and are for export. This is the third carload to leave this month.

Work began on new Memorial hall, Gore Bay.

CRESTON SHIPS MORE IN CRATES

Jonathans and Macs Going to Market in Crates; Wet Season Interferes

CRESTON, B.C., Oct. 27.—R. B. Staples, managing director of Creston Growers, limited, and this season acting as sales manager for Sales Service, limited (Kelowna), was here on a short business call on Monday and Tuesday, on his return to Kelowna after a visit to the fruit distributing centers on the prairies.

The unusually fine crop which is now fairly well all threshed and selling at satisfactory prices, is giving Alberta, particularly, great buying power, and Mr. Staples says the consumption of apples is considerably greater than a year ago. He also says the marketing has been more orderly with little overlapping in varieties.

From Creston valley, at any rate, the 1927 crop is moving in larger volume in crates this year than in past seasons. This is particularly true of the local Jonathans, at least 80 per cent of which have gone out crated, and the McIntosh have not graded as high to fancy as in other years, due to the very wet season the valley has encountered.

Only three cars of apples shipped loose in straw have moved from Creston valley. These went to the Hutterite colony near Magrath, Alberta, and were about 50-50 Wagener and Delicious. Due to the board of direction regulating prices the Hutterite buyers, who were here in person, did not do the usually "shopping" amongst the selling agencies for the finest quotations, this year paying fully 25 per cent more for their requirements than a year ago.

With Mr. Staples was O. E. Jennens, manager of the B. C. Orchards, limited, at Kelowna, who was seeing the Kootenays for the first time, and was greatly impressed with the possibilities of the Creston valley as a fruit producer.

BONNINGTON NOTES

BONNINGTON FALLS, Oct. 27.—E. C. Johnson, who motored through to Oliver two weeks ago to spend his vacation, has returned, accompanied by Mrs. Johnson and children, who have been on an extended visit, the guests of Mr. and Mrs. A. Carlisle.

Mr. and Mrs. Alec McDonald and family have moved to No. 3 plant, South Slocan, where they are occupying the house lately vacated by Mr. and Mrs. J. G. Harris.

The junior W.A. have resumed their meetings for the winter and held the first session at the home of the president, Mrs. R. G. Long, on Tuesday afternoon. The members started making Christmas cards for a competition.

Mrs. G. N. Brown entertained the members of the woman's auxiliary at her home, Cora Linn, for the regular monthly meeting. The winter's program was planned and needlework started.

Mrs. W. A. Elsdon and children have returned after spending some weeks visiting her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Gilchrist of Nelson.

SOCIETY

This column is conducted by Mrs. M. J. Vigneux. All news of a social nature, including receptions, private entertainments, personal items, marriages, etc., will appear in this column. Telephone Mrs. Vigneux at her home on Silica street.

In spite of the inclemency of the weather, particular success attended the annual tea and sale of home-baking held yesterday afternoon in the Memorial hall by the Women's auxiliary of St. Saviour's church. The many guests were received by Mrs. Fred H. Graham, first vice-president of the society, and the president, Mrs. E. R. Redpath. A profusion of beautiful flowers decorated the hall, chrysanthemums in tones of gold—the W.A. color—predominating. These blooms adorned also the tastefully-appointed tea table presided over by Mrs. C. R. Hamilton and Mrs. S. C. Lattornell, the table holding the home-baking and the smaller tea tables effectively placed throughout the hall. Mrs. Hugh W. Robertson and Mrs. C. E. A. Simonds were tea conveners, while Mrs. E. J. Steel, Mrs. F. C. Smith, Miss Beryl Graham, Miss Dorothea Graham, Miss Irene Edmondson, Mrs. George Horstead, Mrs. F. C. Smith and Mrs. D. Fenton served the many guests. Mrs. R. J. Steel acted as cashier. The well-patronized home-baking table was in charge of Mrs. T. E. Maddock and Mrs. W. R. Jarvis.

REFUSE TO LET OFFICIAL QUIT

Beale Must Carry on as Secretary of Cranbrook Rink Company

CRANBROOK, B.C., Oct. 27.—The Cranbrook Curling Rink company, limited, held a special meeting of shareholders, Wednesday evening, in the city hall, to discuss matters of policy and to receive the report of the secretary M. A. Beale. In the absence of both the president and vice-president, A. A. MacKinnon acted as chairman.

Mr. Beale read a statement of the affairs of the company, showing assets; rink building, $5765, land $400, accounts receivable, $135, liabilities to the shareholders, $5825, taxes $220, Nisbet & Graham, $175, Imperial bank, $280 and sundry creditors, $98.50.

Mr. Beale stated that the whole conduct of the affairs of the company had been loaded on his shoulders and as he was a busy man and could get no cooperation from the other officers of the company he had resigned his position as secretary some time ago. He had not yet been relieved of office and again tendered his resignation at this meeting. The meeting decided that Mr. Beale's services are invaluable to the company, refused to accept his resignation, but passed a motion, asking that the directors of the company cooperate with him in order to lessen the labor of his position.

CURLERS MEET AT CRANBROOK

Line Up Committees to Get Things in Line for Opening of Season

CRANBROOK, B.C., Oct. 27.—The Cranbrook Curling club met in the city hall Wednesday evening, at 9 o'clock, to complete the organization for the coming season, with W. R. Grubbe, acting as chairman.

M. A. Beale, secretary explaining that owing to the heavy expenses, incurred in holding the bonspiel, last winter, the club has a deficit of $322. A committee, composed of four members of the executive, was appointed to collect the balance of a special assessment, voted in May, and the outstanding dues. The same committee was instructed to arrange for a dance.

The fees for the coming season were set at the same figures as last year as it was felt that the extra expense incurred last year would not be an item in this year's budget and with the same membership and the same fees, the receipts would be sufficient to cover the expenses. The duties of the competition committee were more fully defined as to the playing of interclub games so that our own schedule would not be interfered with.

CRESTON NOTES

CRESTON, B.C., Oct. 27.—Keith Lidgate of South Slocan, was renewing acquaintances here at the week-end, en route to Lethbridge, Alta., where he will reside in future.

William Ridd, who has been employed at Edmonton, Alta., the past six months, is home for a three weeks' stay, before returning to Brett, Alta., where he will be in charge of a sawmill plant for the winter.

Mrs. Parker of Waldo is a Creston visitor this week, a guest of her daughter, Mrs. W. Morrow.

A. G. Strudiwcke of Kitchener is on a holiday visit here, a guest of Mr. and Mrs. W. S. Watson.

Badminton Club Being Formed Creston Players

CRESTON, B. C., Oct. 27.—At a gathering of last season's Badminton players it was decided to reorganize for the 1927-28 season, and H. G. Greenwood was named secretary with the object of enrolling the membership and then to elect permanent officers.

The Parish hall will be utilized on Thursday evenings and afternoon, as well as Tuesday evenings, and Saturday afternoons when it is not in use for other affairs.

JOY

By BARBARA WEBB

A STORY OF LOVE, TRIAL, TEMPTATIONS AND TRIUMPHS

SYNOPSIS

Joyce Daring is saved from gas hawks by Henry Deacon, old school acquaintance. Her mother arrives from work after the rescue, and invites the hero to accompany them home. Her father, John Daring, a factory hand, derides the rescue and young Deacon's motives in helping Joyce. David Thompkins, a childhood friend, stops the quarrel. Deacon leaves and Tompkins tells Joyce her father has consented to let her go to the alumni dance with him. She is overjoyed in the hope of seeing "Deke" there.

CHAPTER II.

By the Fire Escape

Joy was preening herself before the only good mirror in the house. It stood in the large bedroom used by her father and mother. Mrs. Daring had just left for her work, and Joy made ready to lay aside the lovely dress, her very first party dress that mother dear had made for her. She peered again into the mirror, then reached up to turn on the lights, although sunshine streamed in the window.

Her first marcel. She was not sure she liked the even sleek waves as well as her own naturally rebellious curls. But all the girls wore their hair that way, all the girls she admired, at least. Her shining head looked older and wiser than the topsy-turvy one she was accustomed to seeing in the glass.

And her bare white arms, her slender neck, the little hollow at the base of her throat, the slight swell of her breasts under the soft silk—all of this new beauty made her seem like another Joyce. All but her eyes. They were still the same grey, eager, and yet with something wise and deep in them.

"I really think I'm pretty today," she half whispered to herself. "I wish my lips weren't so red already. I simply can't use any lipstick on them, though, of course, I would have to wait until I left the house for Dads would never let me go if he thought I was even talcum powdered."

Here Joy laughed a little. Poor Dads, he was so old-fashioned. No wonder mother lost patience with him. But Joyce loved his for all his old-fashioned ways. She was the passion of his heart. Joyce knew this, and the knowledge took away much of the sting of his unreasonableness.

She took off the dress, hung it with its pale green silk slip over a padded hanger, and with a last lingering look closed the closet door on its loveliness. Dads would soon be home, and she must have an especially nice supper for him tonight. Then Davey would come and while he talked to Dads she would get ready for the party.

She speculated a little about Henry Deacon as she peeled the potatoes for supper. Would he come to the dance? And if he came, would he think her pretty? He knew so many beautiful rich girls who could have lovely clothes all the time. She had seen him just once since the night he had rescued her from Butch Seltzer. He had been passing slowly in his bright Stutz. Catching a glimpse of her in the grocery store he had stopped. But when he asked her to ride home with him she had faltered and looked so fearful that he had driven on. If Dads saw him or suspected she had spoken to him there would be no dance for Joy, and she did want to go to this last dance terribly. If only Deke came!

A heavy step in the hallway sent Joyce flying to the door.

"Dads, dear!". She flung her arms about him and pulled his head down. "There, right on your bald spot, Dads dear. Hurry now. Supper's nearly ready, and as soon as it is over you'll see your Joyce all dressed up as she never was before."

"All right, lass," said the big man, lumbering wearily into the living room and slumping into a chair. "Davey coming for supper?"

"Mercy me," said Joyce, "haven't I enough to do with getting dressed for the party and getting supper for you without bothering with company!"

"Davey's not company," said her father, patting her shoulder as he went in to wash up. Presently he returned and the two sat down at the kitchen table spread with a red checked cloth, and decked with a rosebud of Joyce's buying.

As they finished their meal, there was a knock at the door.

"Davey!" cried Joyce, flushed with excitement that the great moment of going to the dance was so near. She ran to the door and almost fell into the arms of the carefully dressed young man waiting in the hall.

"Oh, Davey, how grand you look!"

Joyce looked proudly at her young man, dressed in white flannels and a blue coat with a white carnation in his buttonhole. "For me?" excitedly, as Davey held a box toward her. She tore off the paper. "Roses!"—lovely pale pink blossoms in a nest of green. "Oh Davey!" For a moment she felt tempted to kiss him, then a sort of shyness paralyzed her. She held the flowers out to her father. "Dads, Dads, dear, aren't they glorious? Oh just wait, you two, until you see me all ready for the party!"

Her father watched her with indulgent eyes as she ran to the bedroom to dress. Davey's eyes were frankly adoring.

"She's a wee bit of a lass," said John Daring trying to speak gruffly, "but she's full of devilment. She needs a firm hand, Davey boy."

"I think she's perfect, just as she is," said Davey stoutly.

"Aye, when you think how little she's known of a mother these last years," said the father sighing heavily.

"I think Joyce thinks more of her mother and minds her better than lots of girls whose mothers stay home all the time," said Davey.

John Daring looked at the young man. It was unusual for Davey to contradict him.

"Ye'll be asking her to marry you soon?" he asked.

Davey flushed. "I'd like to ask her now," he said. "But I think she's pretty young. And then I'm hardly making enough to take care of her the way I want to now."

"Let that go," said John Daring firmly. "The lass needs a better home than she is getting here. What you'll give her is plenty. And Davey, boy, don't wait to have the bairns so late in life, the way young folks do nowadays. Three or four bairns and a house to look after will keep any girl's mind off devilment."

"I want her to have some fun in life," said Davey. "It takes money to do that, and if I keep on I'll have by sixty a week in another year. Then, if you're willing and Joyce is, we'll be married. But I want her to have a year of her own. I'm sorry if this displeases you."

"You ken your own mind, lad," said John Daring kindly. For he was one to admire firmness in a man.

Davey lowered his voice. "There's something I want to speak to you about," he said. "Butch Seltzer's gang is getting pretty strong. Butch has been crazy about Joy ever since she was a little kid. He's asked her to ride with him a lot lately, and then one night, you remember, he made her get into his car. Joy's not a bit afraid of him. I wish she were. I heard her sassing him in the grocery store the other night, but Butch is watching for a chance to get her. I don't think he'd hurt her, he's too crazy about her. But he probably figures that if he can show here some of this cave man stuff she'll fall for him. I know you won't let her out at night any more, but I just thought I'd tell you."

The father's face darkened. "I'll kill him if he every lays a finger on her again," he said heavily. His face lightened as a voice sang from the bedroom.

"Shut your eyes, both of you, and don't open them until I tell you."

The two men obeyed. There was a patter of footsteps. And then—"Now look!"

Davey gasped. A cream net slip worn over one of the palest green silk, silver slippers, bare shoulders, bare white arms, and a queenly little head smiling at him over the corsage of roses held to her face.

"Joyce — Joyce darling! You're — you're beautiful!" and he made a step toward her.

"Joyce!" Both young people turned at the menace in the tone.

John Darling's face was working. "No daughter of mine goes out of my house looking like that unless she goes to stay. Back into your room, girl! Half naked! This is your mother's idea of decency. I'll have no naked actress in my house."

Joyce shrank from his anger. Davey's face flushed.

"I think you're mistaken, Mr. Daring," he said quietly. "Joyce is dressed like every other girl who will be there tonight. Only she is a thousand times more beautiful."

"Then go and dance with your Jezebels," said John Daring. "Ye'll take no painted woman from my house, David Tompkins. Get back to your room, Joyce. Ye'll not go out one step this night."

Joyce turned slowly, too crushed for tears or resistance. Davey looked at her pleadingly. He made a sign to her that he would argue with her father. Joyce did not care. All the fun of the evening was gone for her. Back in the bedroom she looked into the mirror. Strange that her grief did not show in her face. Her image was as beautiful as when she had turned from it a minute before. Resentment filled her mind. She felt bitterly abused.

A fire escape ran past the window. Suppose she slipped out, climbed down that and went to the dance, anyway. Davey would leave presently, and they could go to the dance together. She would wait for him in the street. From the living room she heard a murmur of voices. Of course Davey might talk the evening away hoping to soften her father's displeasure with her. She couldn't go to the dance alone. Well, anything was better than this.

From the closet she took a coat with a fur collar. Her pretty dress peeped from its fold. Her silver slippers twinkled. One last glimpse of herself in the mirror. She raised the window, stepped on the fire escape and in a moment was groping her way to the ground. The steps ended in an alleyway that led to the street. There, under the light, she saw a group of idle young men and boys—Butch Seltzer's gang. She would have to pass them.

For a moment she hesitated. Should she turn back? But the adventure was begun now. Her head high she walked toward the light.

As her slippers caught its gleam one of the boys saw her. "Gee, lookit the dame! Some gal!" he said.

Joyce came on. "Shut up, that's Butch's jane," said another voice.

The boys made way for her, and Joyce passed through their midst hardly knowing that her feet were carrying her forward.

"Hey, Butch," she heard a cautious voice hail the gang leader, who was coming out of a nearby confectionery store. "Hey, Butch, there goes your jane all dressed up for a date with another feller!"

A fleeting glance showed Joyce that Butch had turned to stare after her. She went hastily into the corner drug store, shamed by his bold look. What was she to do now? Could she wait here until Davey appeared and then ask him to take her to the dance or back home? If only they had a telephone she could call him and he would come at once. Lacking an excuse for entering the drug store she went into the little booth that housed the pay station.

She looked at the telephone book, open where someone had been calling a number. "Davis Deland," she glanced rapidly up and down the page. A name fairly leaped out at her. Deacon.

But could she call him? Was he engaged for this evening? Would he think her bold?

Suddenly Joy lifted her head recklessly. Butch outside. Her father at home. Her mother at work. Deke offered a chance of escape from all the unpleasantness that surrounded her.

She called his number, a Fairmount exchange. He lived in one of those grand houses up on the heights, she knew. A woman's voice answered the telephone. Yes, Mr. Henry was in. He was dressing. Would she wait a moment?

Deke voice—Yes?

Joy—This is Joy, Joyce Daring. Are you busy this evening?

Deke—I'm dressing to go to the East high alumni dance, where I expect to see Joy Daring in person. Will I?

Joy—Maybe. Oh, Deke, I'm in an awful mess. I'm here at the corner drug store, and I can't get out.

Deke—Never mind telling me why; I can guess. Can you stay there 15 minutes? I'll start in three, and we'll break some speed laws in this old boat.

Joy—Oh, Deke—are you sure you want to come for me?

Deke—Don't waste any more time talking. Good-bye. I'll be down in 15 minutes.

Joy turned from the little phone booth with her heart singing. She was going to the dance, going with Deke. She looked in the big mirror over the soda fountain. She was pretty. Deke needn't be ashamed of her. Then she started.

Lurking in the light of the doorway stood Butch. He smiled sheepishly at her and entered the store.

"'Lo, Joy. All dated up, huh? Say, when you going to give me a date?" He came close to her and put his hand on her arm.

"I'm not going to give you any dates, any time," said Joyce. "I want you to quit asking me to."

"If you won't go because you want to, you'll go some time soon because I make you," he said evenly, with a kind of cold anger. Then her beauty softened him. "Look here, girl," he said, "I'm crazy about you. I got a big car. I make a lotta jack these days. More'n you got any idea of. I'm savin' it to blow in on you some day. Come on now. Be a good sport and you'll never be sorry. I'll give you diamonds and a big house, anything you want, if you'll say the word."

Joyce looked at him. Was she dreaming? Butch Seltzer, the corner bum, talking about diamonds and big houses and fast automobiles. Some of her unbelief showed in her face.

"Looka here," said Butch suddenly. He put his hand in his pocket and took out a bill fold. "Count that!" He opened the fold and showed Joy's astonished eyes a sheaf of $100 bills. "More where that come from, too, girlie."

Joy's amazement changed to fear at the eager look in Butch's eyes. "I said no," she said, "and I mean it. No for now, no for tomorrow, and for all next year and the year after that, too."

"All right," said Butch. "I'll take your no now. But the time will come when you'll be glad to say yes. And you'll wish you had tonight, for me and my gang is going to push in the face of the feller you're waiting for. He ain't taking you anywhere tonight. Not if we see him first, he ain't."

Butch left the store. Joy stood motionless for a moment. Then she darted to the phone booth feeling frantically in her pocket for change.

Again the woman's voice answered the phone. "Mr. Henry Deacon? One moment. Sorry, he has just left. About three or four minutes ago. Can I take a message?"

Joyce hung up and leaned against the side of the phone booth.

Outside she saw Butch gathering his gang closer.

Why, oh why, hadn't she obeyed her father?

Perhaps she had better go with Butch. She could explain to Deke later.

TOMORROW: Three suitors are enough to bewilder any girl. But when circumstances compel her to flee from one and throw herself on the protection of the second, what is she to do when the third resorts to caveman tactics? By All Means Send Women to Upper Chamber, Says Editor

LONDON, Ont., Oct. 26.—"By all means women for the upper chamber," says the editor of the Free Press. He sees no necessity for the amending of the British North America act, in order that women may enter the senate.

"Describing the qualifications of a senator, the act uses the pronoun 'he,' but women had not the franchise when the act was framed, and in any event this may be regarded as a generic term. It is an anomaly that women should be free to be elected to the house of commons and yet are not eligible for a seat in the upper chamber. They would wake up that ancient, dignified and rather slumberous body. We cannot imagine any woman having the record of Senator Desaulles, who celebrated recently his 100th birthday, and is reported to have sat in the upper house for 20 years without ever having made a speech. And, if they grow old at all, they grow old gracefully, which cannot be said of some of the senators. Lastly, women with their gowns would add grace and beauty to the setting of the lovely senate chamber."

Total number of motor cars transferred thus far this season at the Brockville ferry is 19,780.

NEW VENTURE

TORONTO, Ont., Oct. 26.—A new venture on the part of the Sisters of the Church, an organization in the Church of England community, is the Convalescent home at 504 Euclid avenue, which is to be officially opened by the bishop of Toronto. Its purpose is to serve women and girls of limited means, who require congenial and wholesome surroundings during periods of convalescence.

WOMEN DENTISTS

TORONTO, Ont., Oct. 26.—A resolution re looking toward securing the appointment of a woman dentist to attend the women and girls at the Mercer reformatory was passed by the local council of women. Another resolution was that the council strongly urge the city council to establish an advisory town planning commission for Toronto, in order to supervise the arrangement of the city's streets.

SCOTLAND AND WALES MEET IN INTERNATIONAL

Game Scheduled for Saturday; Newcastle and Aston Leading League Match

LONDON, Oct. 27.—The second international soccer match of this season will be staged at Wrexham on Saturday when Wales and Scotland lock horns. The first match took place last Saturday when Ireland defeated England.

The teams for Saturday's melee will be:

Scotland—Robb, Hibernians; Hutton, Blackburn Rovers; McStey, Celtic; Muirhead, Rangers; Gibson, Aston Villa; McMullan, Manchester; Jackson, Huddersfield; McKay, Newcastle United; Stevenson, Motherwell; Morton, Rangers; Gallagher, Newcastle United.

Wales—Gray, Manchester City; Russell, Plymouth; Evans, Clapton Orient; Bennion, Manchester United; Keenor, Cardiff City; John, Arsenal; Hole, Swansea; Fowler, Swansea; Curtis, Cardiff City; Cook, Portsmouth; Len Davies, Cardiff.

New faces on the Scottish team are McKay and Stevenson while Curtis get his cap by playing for Wales.

Close Game

In the first division of the British league, the tussle between the leaders, Newcastle and Aston Villa looks like an even affair on account of the contributions the former is making to the Scottish team meeting Wales. The balance of the games do not look very exciting attractions though Everton has a chance to scramble to the top of the standing if Newcastle United are beaten as the Liverpool club is meeting the lowly Portsmouth team.

The finest fixture in league football in England should be the affair between Chelsea, and Preston North End, third in the second division standing. The pair meet at Preston.

In Scotland, Rangers meet Queen's Park and look to have an easy time ahead of them. Motherwell behind Rangers who are at the top of the league standing are hosts to Aidrie and should win, if form counts.

Celtic, now in third place, tackle St. Mirren, and will doubtless make a reoolc effort to win as they are in danger of slipping quite a way down the standing if they lose. St. Mirren have a great incentive to win as the third berth may be the prize for their victory. Hearts are also in the running for third place and their chances look better than the Paisley crowd as the Edinbugh team is meeting Partick Thistle, who have lost as many games as they have played this season and are not an impressive lot.

Winnipeg Ruggers Leave for Contest in Alberta Capital

WINNIPEG, Oct. 27.—Varsity rugby squad, 18 strong, left for Edmonton tonight, where they will meet the University of Alberta team on Saturday, in a game which will have an important bearing on the championship issue of the Western Canada Intercollegiate Rugby union.

A victory for the Manitoba students will practically clinch the title for them, as they already have two wins to their credit over the Saskatchewan representatives, while the Alberta squad has yet to visit Saskatoon and Winnipeg.

LARRY GAINS SIGNS TO BATTLE McTIGUE

TORONTO, Oct. 27.—Larry Gaines, colored, of Toronto, Canadian heavyweight boxing champion, has signed to meet Mike McTigue of New York, it was announced today. The bout will take place in the Coliseum here on November 11.

The State of Illinois received $241,650 from the Tunney-Dempsey fight at Soldiers' Field, Chicago. The amount represents 10 per cent of the gate receipts.

EDMONTON GRADS RETAIN TITLE

Beat Chicago Team 39-8 and Win Series by 39 Point Margin

EDMONTON, Oct. 27.—In the second game of the basketball championship here tonight, the Edmonton Commercial Grads swamped the Chicago Taylor-Trunks under a score of 39 to 8. The Grads also took the first game, 27 to 19, and thus win the series by a margin of 39 points. The champions rolled up a lead of 18-0 at the end of the first period, increased it to 29-5 when the second interval arrived and with a raft of substitutes on the floor, the final held their opponents to three points.

The Grads took the floor without a single member of the original championship team and gave a most impressive display. Their snappy combination efforts carried them through time after time for baskets, while the stonewall Mc-Rae-Bennie defence held the Chicagoans helpless.

'Pardon Me,' Says Britton, 'Any Scores?'

By AL DEMAREE

(Former Pitcher New York Giants)

Captain Bob Reitsch, captain of the University of Illinois eleven, told me this one:

"In "1925," said Bob, "we went east to Philadelphia to play Penn in the first appearance of the Illini in the east in years. Penn had a great team that season and had conquered Yale and Chicago. Red Grange hit the Quakers like a thunderbolt and Britton and Daugherity ably seconded their captain so that the half ended with the underrated Illini leading, 16 to 2.

"I was a sophomore and was playing at the pivot early in the second half. The harassed Quakers were taking time out to frame some sort of plan to stop the Galloping Ghost and his associates who won the game ultimately by the score of 24 to 2.

"Big Earl Britton, Illinois fullback, had been having a big time. He was totally unimpressed by the magnitude of this intersectional upset. While the Quakers conferred and some of the Illini took advantage of the time-out to stretch themselves on the wet field and get their breath, Big Britton strolled casually over to the referee, yawned and asked: "Is it too early to get scores of the western games yet?"

DUNDEE-HUDKINS BOUT POSTPONED

LOS ANGELES, Oct. 27. — The title bout between Johnny Dundee, welterweight champion, and Ace Hudkins of Nebraska, the challenger, tonight was set for Thursday night, November 3. The bout was originally planned for next Saturday, but postponed because a heavy rain soaked Wrigley field and slackened the demand for seats.

The largest and one of the finest thoroughbred horse racing plants in the United States was opened recently at Arlington Heights, near Chicago, Ill. A grandstand seating 20,000 persons, and a club house five stories high and 300 feet long are the principal structures of the $2,000,000 course. Two tracks, the outer one a mile and a furlong, and the inner one just a mile, are so arranged that races starting on the inner strip can finish on the homestretch of the outer course in front of the stands.

Polo is considered a very dangerous game. It is a contest between two teams of four men galloping at all times on thoroughbred horses, striking at a wooden (willow) ball with long sticks which have hardwood mallet heads.

SPORTS OF ALL SORTS

It takes about two years to "make" a horse for polo playing.

Society women are making archery a favorite sport in England.

The maximum length of hockey sticks in professional league has been reduced to 53 inches.

Pie has been officially recognized as part of the training diet of the University of Pennsylvania football squad.

Bobby Jones was only 14 years of age when he competed for the national amateur golf championship for the first time.

Each regular member of the world's champion New York Yankees received $5702 as his share of the world series profits.

Margaret Hodgins of Spokane, Wash., now holds the world's record for women for throwing a baseball—254 feet 4 inches.

The largest game farm in the world is located at St. Charles, Ill., where 200 deer, 1000 pheasants and other wild animals range.

William Ironson, aged 60, is the oldest baseball cameraman in the field. He has "shot" 16 world series, starting in 1908 with the struggle between the New York Giants and the Philadelphia Athletics.

Lieutenant-Colonel Edward D. Miller, who served for many years with the British army in India, is known as "the father of polo." Since leaving the army he has devoted his time to the training of polo ponies.

The payroll of the New York Yankees is the highest in baseball. Members of the team received between $250,000 and $300,000 for the past season. Babe Ruth is paid an annual salary of $70,000.

Because of the surplus deer in Pennsylvania, where the animals have become numerous enough to damage crops and orchards, sharpshooters are to be employed as deputy game wardens to thin out the does.

Of the 25 players named in this year's competition of the most valuable player in the American league, Lou Gehrig, first baseman of the world champion New York Yankees, won with 56 points. In 154 games, Gehrig was at bat 584 times. He made 218 hits for a total of 427 bases. These included 52 doubles, 18 triples and his 47 homers. He drove in 175 runs, averaging better than a run a game.

Mrs. John D. Hertz of Chicago, Ill., has the distinction of winning the richest prize in all turf history. When Anita Peabody, her little filly, won the Belmont Futurity recently, she was presented with a purse of $91,700. There was an additional prize of $30,000 for the breeder of the Futurity winner, and Mrs. Hertz, having bred the filly, received the extra $30,000, making her income from that triumph $121,790, which shattered all existing records.

The State fish and game department of Nebraska is offering $2 a pair for live pheasants taken in Sherman, Howard, and Valley counties. Many of the birds are caught in nets by means of brilliant flashlights. A few Mongolian pheasants were brought into Nebraska several years ago and have multiplied remarkably in these three counties, while the eastern part of the State has few pheasants. The birds bought by the department are sent to the eastern part of the State.

FREEMAN SETS A NEW BOWLING MARK AT TRAIL

Scores 571; Native Sons Beat Royal Purple; Merchants Beat Transportation

TRAIL, Oct. 27.—Native Sons handled the Royal Purple boys roughly tonight, beating them with 476 pins to spare in the city bowling handicap play tonight. Vanatter led them all with 542 for the aggregate. Williamson piled up the high individual of 214.

The Transport workers handled the Merchants No. 1 comfortably, having 262 pins to spare. Freeman rolled the high aggregate of the season so far with 571. He made 197 in two games for the high game scores.

Tomorrow the Elks and Churchmen clash at 7 o'clock, Nip and Tuck play Royal Purple at 9.

VANCOUVER TO PUT BONDS ON MARKET

VANCOUVER, Oct. 27.—Tenders will be received until November 10 on a city bond issue totaling $1,135,000, it was announced today. The debentures will carry interest at 4½ per cent. Five hundred thousand dollars will be for a 15-year term, and the balance for a 40-year term.

SIX PLAINTIFFS SUE RAILROAD FOR HUGE SUM

tiffs enumerated above, should be followed in the matter of procedure, which laid down that the issue as to the railway company's alleged responsibility for the fire, and the issues as to the damage suffered, should be tried as the main case, but that the issue as to the railway company's right to limitation of responsibility by having modern and efficient appliances for guarding against fire from locomotives should be tried separately, with the plaintiffs and defendants reversing positions.

It was contended by Mr. Hamilton, for the railway company, that the whole case was one, even if involving several issues, and that there was no reason why it should not be tried as a straight case, developing in the usual way.

Exemption Separate Issue

Opposing this view, Mr. Burns, of plaintiffs' counsel, pointed out that the statute provided that if a railway locomotive was shown to have set a fire, the liability of the railway company for all damage done by the fire, was then and there established. The statute, however, he pointed out, added the proviso that if the company could show that its locomotive was equipped with modern and efficient appliances for preventing igniting of fires, its liability for damages would not exceed $5000 for any one fire.

Mr. Burns said if the plaintiffs succeeded in proving the responsibility of the railway for the fire, then their case was in. It should not be incumbent on them to meet the contention that the railway company came under the exception by reason of its modern equipment until the defendant had made its effort to establish that point. Logic, he said, dictated Mr. Justice McDonald's ruling at Vancouver that the issue as to equipment that would secure exemption should be tried separately, a case within a case, with the onus on the defendant on the issue of exemption.

Onus on Railway Company

His lordship stated he would have to rule that the onus of proving right to come under the exception rested upon the railway company, both under the order he had given at Vancouver, which must have been by consent, and under the legislation. He recognized, he said, that in such a trial within a trial, there was danger that the interests of one side or the other might be prejudiced, but he would try to do his best to be fair.

If all the suggestions of Mr. Burns had been adopted, there would be three trials, with the main trial deciding the liability, the trial within a trial deciding on the claim for exemption, and the amount of damages left to be assessed later. This proposal for leaving the amount of damages alleged to be suffered until later was opposed by Mr. Hamilton, however, and was not pressed by Mr. Burns.

Allshouse All-Day Witness

After the procedure was settled, practically all the rest of the day was taken with the examination and cross-examination of one witness, Mr. Allshouse, who was on the stand in three capacities, as a plaintiff by himself, as a plaintiff in partnership with Mr. Alposen, and as an employee of the Summit Lake Lumber company, which went into liquidation, and whose assets passed to the Midlakes Timber company. In addition Mr. Allshouse had a star role as the first man to see the fire.

He placed the breaking out of the fire during the noon hour of Monday, July 15, stating that the Nakusp-bound passenger train from Kaslo passed Summit Lake station about 12 o'clock, being a little late, and that, from his vantage point on his roof, which he was repairing with rubberoid and a composition paint, about 1:05, he saw the fire near mileage 1, when he straightened up to rest his back. Whirling around, he cut his finger on a tin can, and lost perhaps 10 minutes bandaging it. Then, taking an axe, he walked as fast as he could to the fire site, expecting to find men there. He got there about 1:20 to 1:30.

The fire, Mr. Allshouse said, was on the north side of the track, wholly on the right-of-way, its outer boundary about 25 feet from the track, and pursuing an easterly course fanned by a light wind. He estimated its length at about 150 feet, and its width at about 25 feet. Its start, as shown by the burn, was about 25 feet west.

Walked Till Met Train, Then Gang

Finding the fire beyond his powers, Mr. Allshouse said, he started walking as fast as he could, which was about four miles an hour, aiming first for a small logging camp about 2½ miles from Summit, where the nearest people were. He failed to find anyone. Near milepost 53 he met the train coming back from Nakusp. He continued on west, and near milepost 54 met the section gang coming by speeder, and joined them.

When they got to Summit Lake, about 3:15, the fire had increased to 300 to 400 feet in length, and he believed it was still confined to the right-of-way. He thought there were men already there; at all events, shortly afterward the Red House gang was there, and soon Roadmaster Beck of Kaslo and C. D. MacKintosh, resident engineer at Nelson.

MacKintosh Can't Make Admissions

Mr. Allshouse stated Mr. Beck introduced him to Mr. MacKintosh, and the latter said to him "This is our fire."

This remark his lordship ruled out, on Mr. Hamilton's protest, ruling that Mr. MacKintosh must be considered "the railway" at that time for every purpose but making an admission as to responsibility.

Another conversation reported by Mr Allshouse was in his presence between Mr. MacKintosh and Fire Ranger Frost. When the latter asked if the company needed any help, Mr. MacKintosh tild him they could take care of it themselves.

In his direct testimony of two hours, Mr. Allshouse described the fire in minute detail, till it finally burned out of the valley on July 17, two days after its start, and gave details of his claims.

Long Cross-Examination

He was examined for over two hours in the afternoon by Mr. Hamilton, who intimated that his statements would be combatted at various points.

Mr. Hamilton obtained from the witness the admission that he figured his losses on household goods as about half the original cost.

Dawson Proves Map

H. D. Dawson, Kaslo lawyer, was placed on the stand to prove a map he had prepared, of the areas that were logged off prior to the fire.

G. P. Melrose, district forester, produced under subpoena all the rangers' reports dealing with the fire.

MOTORLESS AUTO PAIR STRANDED

VANCOUVER, Oct. 27.—Having crossed Canada from Halifax to Vancouver in a motorless automobile through the courtesy of passing motorists who gave them a tow, Frank J. Elliott and George A. Scott of Amherst, N.S., report they are stranded here without means of returning home.

Contrary to the general belief that they were well paid for carrying signs advertising the good roads of Nova Scotia and New Brunswick, they said today that they received nothing. Their method of raising funds by sale of souvenir cards while crossing the continent was not the success contemplated and, consequently, they found themselves short of funds on their arrival here.

A telegram to Premier Rhodes of Nova Scotia for financing them home drew a reply that the government had no funds for any such purpose.

Asks Damages for "Negligence" of an Hospital Attendant

VANCOUVER, Oct. 27.—Alleging that while recovering from a broken leg in Vancouver general hospital, the limb was again broken through negligence of an attendant, John Jess of Chilliwack, today entered suit against that institution for unstated damages.

VANCOUVER, Oct. 27.—Two new cases of infantile paralysis were discovered here today and two suspected cases placed under quarantine.

Varicose Veins Reduced or Money Back, Say All Druggists

Simple Home Treatment That Is Giving Amazing Results

The world progresses. Today ailments that took weeks to treat can now be ended in a few days. If you have varicose veins or bunches you can start today to bring them back to normal size, and if you are wise you will do so.

Just get an original bottle of Moone's Emerald Oil at any dispensing pharmacist and apply it night and morning to the enlarged veins. It is very powerful and penetrating, and only a little is required.

After a few days' treatment the veins will begin to grow smaller and by regular use will soon reduce to normal.

Moone's Emerald Oil is also a marvelous healing agent. One application for instance stops the itching of eczema, and a few applications cause the eruptions to dry up, scale off and completely disappear. It is equally as effective in barber's itch, salt rheum, redness and inflammatory skin trouble.

People who want to reduce varicose veins, or get rid of eczema, ulcers, or piles in a few days should not hesitate to get a bottle at once. It is so powerful that a small bottle lasts a long time. Any pharmacy can supply you, and all druggists sell lots of it.

NINE HUNDRED ARE SAVED BY RESCUED SHIPS

30 passengers, two ship's officers and 20 members of the crew.

Captain Dies

Most of the victims were first and second class passengers, according to the Mafalda's captain was when the survivors aboard the Mosella. They declared that the last they saw of vessel turned over for the last time and he shouted "Viva Italia." The survivors said that the wireless operator also remained at his post and went down with the ship.

Just before the crash, according to the survivors, the Mafalda was making good speed and every one was enjoying the tropical sunset and cool breezes prior to dinner. Suddenly came a roar and a crash followed by the sound of rushing water in the bowels of the ship, and then the terrible explosion which blew asunder the beautiful saloons and staterooms of the first and second classes and turned the laughter and fun into screams of agony.

Scene Appalling

The scene was appalling, according to the survivors. The groans of the injured and dying unnerved those who were unhurt, and weeping, praying women called upon the Madonna for help, while mothers caught their babies to their breasts and panic-stricken men jumped overboard.

Captain Gull was given credit for bringing the situation quickly under control. The ship's orchestra aided in calming the unfortunate voyagers. The vessel sank two hours and a half after the accident, according to those on the Mosella. Previous reports were that the Mafalda sank in half an hour.

Crown Completes Its Case Against Three Indians for Murder

NANAIMO, B.C., Oct. 27.—Late this afternoon the crown completed their case in which three west coast Indians are charged with the murder of Edward Leach on or about the 29th of August last at Tofino. The case has been before the local assize court since Tuesday last, and Friday morning, the defence will be started.

It is alleged by the crown that Leach, who was a fisheries guardian, was murdered in his launch on the night of August 29 by the three accused.

BANDITS LAND IN HANDS OF PEG POLICE

Three Men Held and Charged With Attempted Robbery of Woman

DISGUISED SELVES WITH FALSE BEARDS

Woman to Escape Them Jumps Through Window; One Bandit Former Banker

WINNIPEG, Man., Oct. 27.—Augustine F. Schimnowski, a few years ago a branch bank manager in Winnipeg, his brother John Schimnowski and a man giving the name of Gregarevitch were taken into custody by Winnipeg police officers tonight following an attempted robbery of Mrs. J. Hrabowski, of Transcona, Man., a small town four miles from the city.

The men will be arraigned in Transcona court tomorrow and charged with the crime.

The attack on Mrs. Hrabowski was made in the kitchen of her home by three men disguised by false beards and moustaches. The woman escaped from them by plunging headlong through a window, sustaining a number of cuts and bruises. The cries of the woman put the would-be robbers to flight, the trio racing away in an automobile bearing a United States licence plate.

Evidence Seized

Augustine Schimnowski and Gregarevitch were arrested by a Winnipeg constable, driving a car along Main street, one of the principal thoroughfares of the city. The car carrying a New York state licence plate answered the discription supplied by the Transcona police. In the car were found false beards, moustaches, masks and false faces, corresponding to those described by Mrs. Hrabowski. A few hours later John Schimnowski was apprehended.

Police believe that the bearded bandits attempted to rob Mrs. Hrabowski in mistake for another woman.

She Is Attacked

The attack on Mrs. Hrabowski occurred early this morning. She was at work in her kitchen when she heard a rap on the door. She opened it to be confronted by three men wearing flowing beards and moustaches. One of them carried a basket of duck eggs which he offered to sell her. When she refused to buy the eggs, one of the intruders seized her and demanded money. In her efforts to free herself from the grasp of the man, Mrs. Hrabowski brushed off part of the man's false whiskers.

The woman eventually tore herself away and then dived head first through a window, screaming at the same time for help. Neighbors rushed from their houses in time to see the three bearded men running out of the house into their car. Transcona and Winnipeg police squads were immediately dispatched on the chase.

Are Identified

Patrolling his beat on Main street, Constable Kelso noticed a tourist car come to a half in front of a police "stop" sign. He observed that three men were riding in the car and approached the driver. After a cursory examination of the interior of the car, he ordered the men to drive to the police station. There more detailed examination revealed the false beards and masks and the three were placed in the cells.

Mrs. Hramowsky, who was summoned to the police station, identified one of the prisoners as the one who grappled with her earlier in the day.

Augustine Schimnowski was at one time president and general manager of the Dominion ticket and financial corporation, an organization which carried on a banking business here. The corporation failed early in 1923.

CHAMBERLIN PAYS LEVINE HONORS

Says Passengers' Courage Was Reason for Success; Hated Face Paper Men

NEW YORK, Oct. 27.—Charles A. Levine's courage was lauded by Clarence Chamberlin, his pilot in their flight to Germany at a dinner in honor of the transatlantic passenger at the Unity club here.

The example Chamberlin chose to mention was a moment in the flight when the plane was over Cape Cod. A $1000 compass went out of order, and the airmen faced the crossing with a $50 one.

"Let's go on," Chamberlin quoted Levine as saying. "I'd rather go to the bottom than face these newspaper men."

RECESSIONS ON WALL STREET

Speculative Selling in Steel Group; General Motors Is Hard Hit Issue

NEW YORK, Oct. 27.—Speculative selling, particularly in the steel group, brought further recessions in the stock market today, some of the leading issues declining to new low levels for the movement. The unsettling of the market was largely due to unsatisfactory conditions in the steel industry. There was, however, quite a sprinkling of strong spots. Continental, Fidelity, Phoenix and Rossia Insurance all chalked up new peak prices, with extreme gains of 11½, 7¼ and 19⅛ points, respectively. Cudahy led the packing shares.

The hardest hit issues were the speculative leaders, such as General Motors, U. S. Steel, General Electric, Radio and others. Steel common touched a new low for the movement and closed around 134⅜, with a net loss of more than two points. General Motors declined 1⅜ on the day, after selling as low as 128.

Some of the oils moved against the current trend, Houston selling up to 150¾ and holding part of its gain, while Atlantic Refining also advanced.

Among the new lows for the year were several of the independent steels, Crucible, Ludlum, Republic and Superior, as well as a few such specialties as Remington, Rand and American Piano.

Call money ruled at the renewal rate of 3½ per cent. Time money rates remained unchanged.

Total sales, 1,885,600 shares.

CANNERS MOVE TO NEW HIGH

Nickel Heavily Dealt in; Abitibi Regains Point; Spanish Preferred Soars

TORONTO, Oct. 27.—Though there was a nervous undertone evident in transactions on the local stock exchange today, the list showed 42 gains, 41 losses, while 19 issues remained unchanged.

The chief feature was the further advance of Canadian Canners preferred to a high of 118½, 10¾ points up. The lowest sales of the day was at 108½, and the close was at 114.

There were heavy transactions in International Nickel, which finished ¾ down at 64½. Renewed strength was shown in Seagram, which advanced 1⅛ points to 20⅝. Abitibi regained 1 point, closing at 132, while Spanish River common advanced to 130, half point higher; Spanish River preferred up to 146, or 14 points up since the last sale on October 2.

Massey Harris closed at 35¼, 1½ points down. Other gains included Winnipeg Electric, 2¾; Alberta Pacific Grain, ¼; Canadian Oil, ½; British America Oil ⅛.

The principal losses included: Brazilian, 3⅜; Canadian Oil pfd., 4; C. P. R. ¾.

Peak of Marketings for Canadian Grain Over, Says Railway

WINNIPEG, Oct. 27.—The peak of marketings of grain in the west has been passed, and the result is an increase in storage at the elevators. Country elevators along the Canadian Pacific yesterday reported 19,853,544 bushels. A rise is noted at the head of the lakes with 20,198,000 bushels and at the port of Vancouver with 3,007,049 bushels. Marketings on C.P.R. yesterday were 4,086,616 bushels with 2140, cars loaded. Deliveries to Fort William were 1010 cars and 1175 unloaded. Shipments by boat were 1,710,000 bushels.

Vancouver shipped 166,967 bushels yesterday by boat and 247 cars were routed to that port from Calgary.

Steel Business Is Not So Good but Is Expected Pick Up

NEW YORK, Oct. 27.—Better business is expected by the Steel industry during the fourth quarter, but real improvement of the present situation will result only with an increase in prices, now at pre-war levels, Eugene G. Grace, president of the Bethlehem Steel company, said today. Mr. Grace made public the earnings reports for the third quarter showing a net income of $2,768,053, as compared with $4,550,978 for the corresponding period of 1926.

AMULET MOVES UP AT LAST

Closes for Eight-Point Gain; Mining Corporation Suffers Greatest Loss

TORONTO, Oct. 27.—Following the burst of strength which characterized the mining exchange presented a different front with a divided movement prevailing at the close.

The major features of the day were provided during the last hour. Amulet was offered at $5.05 during the last hour, but moved forward abruptly to close at $5.30 for a net gain of 8 points.

Howey reached a new high and closed at $1.17, scoring a further gain of 9 points in the movement. Jackson-Manion also moved forward into new high ground, touching 70c and falling off fractionally to close at 69½, up 4½ points on the day.

The advances which resulted in a few of the preceding day's leaders recurring, included Bigwood, up 5 points, at $8; Coniagas, up 15, at $4.55; Dome, up 10 points, at $10.80. Kirkland Lake was tilted upward 10 points, at $2.55. Other stocks which gained ground included Malartic, at 42, up 5 points; McIntyre, which scored a gain of 15 points, at $28.25 in a small turnover.

Newbec was weak and took a loss of 7 points, at 73, from an opening and high for the day at 81.

Mining Corporation finished at $3.65 for a net decline of 35 points, the sharpest loss of the day.

Hollinger lost the previous day's gain of 20 points when it receded to $17.25 at the close.

Total sales, 1,449,903 shares.

Wheat Exports Advance Prices in Chicago Pit

CHICAGO, Oct. 27.—Wheat prices had an upward slant most of the time today, chiefly as a result of big export taking from North America. Closing quotations on wheat were firm to ⅜c higher, corn unchanged to ⅜c off, oats unchanged to ⅛c, and provisions unchanged.

TEA POT DOME BONDS MYSTERY

Banker and Son-in-Law to Fall Refuses to Divulge From Whence Came

WASHINGTON, D.C., Oct. 27. — Flat refusal to reveal the source of the $230,500 in Liberty bonds, which loomed so large in the Teapot Dome conspiracy trial, was made today in the District of Columbia supreme court, by the man the government contends can supply that information.

He is M. T. Everhart, Pueblo, Colo., banker, and son-in-law of Albert B. Fall, who, after a visit to New York, Washington and other eastern points, returned to his home town with that amount of bonds, which went into the locked box held in the First National bank of Pueblo in Fall's name.

Before Everhart was called to the trial of the Teapot Dome civil suit at Cheyenne, Everhart based his refusal to answer on his constitutional rights, contending that such testimony might lead to incriminate him and lead to his indictment on the very same charge that Sinclair and Fall are now facing before a jury of two women and 10 men.

Justice Siddons will determine whether Everhart would be required to tell from whom he received the bonds.

Trades Body Says United Carpenters Should get Support

OTTAWA, Oct. 27. — The executive council of the Trades and Labor Congress of Canada in a statement issued tonight, makes the following statement. In tendering their cooperation to the Amalgamated Carpenters with their revolutionary allies, the building construction employers of Toronto are constantly encouraging and abetting industrial trouble. The Trades and Labor Congress supports the international trade movement with its splendid background. The United Brotherhood of Carpenters is in line with these progressive ideas, and in their fight against the Amalgamated Carpenters, they should receive not only the support of all workers, but should command the support of public opinion in all parts of Canada.

Nine Liners Under Construction Will Use B. C. Timbers

VICTORIA, Oct. 27. — Replying to congratulations from Premier MacLean in the launching yesterday at Glasgow of the steamer Princess Elaine for British Columbia coast services, Sir George MacLaren Brown, company representative in London, said nine other liners under construction in Great Britain for Canadian Pacific services would use British Columbia timber in a big way.

LADIES VOICE CONFIDENCE IN DOCTOR TOLMIE

Women Conservatives Assert Full Confidence; Support Young Conservatives

MRS. ARCHIBALD IS ELECTED PRESIDENT

Gratified at Selection Federal Leader; Pass Many Votes of Thanks

Passing resolutions expressing confidence in their federal and provincial leaders, pledging to support a Young Conservatives club should one be formed and electing a new roster of officers, the Women's Conservative association, meeting in the Canadian Legion building yesterday afternoon, enjoyed a really active session.

A prevailing note of the meeting was the urging, by various members, for the association to be prepared for an election at any time, and to this end it was decided to hold monthly meetings starting with the New Year, instead of quarterly meetings as at present.

Reindorsed Dr. Borden

Resolutions proposed by Mrs. W. O. Rose, and which met with the full approval of the meeting, were:

"That the Nelson Women's Conservative association at this annual meeting assert their full confidence in the leadership of Hon. S. F. Tolmie, M.D., appreciating to the full the sacrifices made by him in taking the provincial work, and also voicing their appreciation of his personality, addresses and help in the late campaign and the great help and the encouragement given us by the members of our provincial party at this particular time."

"That we would reindorse the candidate selected by the recent Conservative convention, Dr. L. E. Borden, and would deem it wise that a general convention should be called for his renomination."

Sympathy for President Curran

Mrs. N. Gibbs received a great ovation when she proposed the resolution: "That we should express our great gratification in the choice of Hon. R. B. Bennett for federal leader."

Mrs. W. O. Rose and Mrs. A. W. Nagle were appointed to draft a note of sympathy to W. A. Curran, president of Nelson Conservative association, in regard to the illness of his daughter.

Considering the suggestion that a Young Conservatives club should be formed was an excellent one, Mrs. James Johnstone, retiring president, proposed the association should pledge itself to support the proposition. Her motion received enthusiastic indorsement.

Dr. Tolmie "Wonderful"

Mrs. Johnstone, in retiring, asserted that though her year as present started in a lamb-like manner, it went out like a roaring lion. She considered it a cause of great congratulation to Conservatives in having so greatly reduced the government majority, and characterized Hon. S. F. Tolmie, M.D., as "a wonderful man."

Votes of thanks were passed to the retiring officers, the executive of the Nelson Conservative association, visitors who assisted in Conservative work during the recent campaign and the men who drove the ladies about the city in the canvassing of that campaign.

New Officers

Officers elected were: Mrs. James Johnstone, honorary president; Mrs. C. I. Archibald, president; Mrs. H. H. Pitts, first vice-president; Mrs. G. B. Matthew, second vice-president; Mrs. J. Brodie, third vice-president; Mrs. Douglass, secretary; Mrs. A. W. Nagle, treasurer.

Committees were named as follows:

Executive—Mrs. Fleury, Mrs. N. Gibbs, Mrs. J. W. Holmes, Mrs. William Douche, Mrs. W. H. Walker, Mrs. L. Hanna, Mrs. G. A. Hunter, Mrs. G. F. Motion, Mrs. W. C. Leno and Mrs. G. Martin.

Literature—Mrs. William Douche.

Program—Mrs. H. H. Pitts, Mrs. A. H. W. Crossley and Mrs. A. W. Nagle.

Decorations—Mrs. G. A. Hunter and Mrs. J. A. Gilker.

Social—Mrs. J. Brodie, Mrs. J. W. Holmes, Mrs. W. H. Walker, Mrs. A. Wallach, Mrs. George Horstead and Mrs. W. A. Leno.

List and membership—Mrs. W. O. Rose, convenor.

MRS. M'GEE PAYS HUNDRED FINE, POLICE COURT

House Under Surveillance by a Hidden Officer for a Month

Mrs. Florence McGee, charged in city police court Monday morning with keeping a disorderly house, and remanded till yesterday on $400 bail, was found guilty, and fined $100 by Magistrate William Brown after an all-day session.

The feature of the prosecution was the evidence of Constable E Jarvis, who had been keeping the house under surveillance since September 29. During this time he kept notes as to the time and number of persons entering and leaving the house each night. He watched the house from a chicken-house about 70 feet distant. It was the numbers of these visitors apparently that established the charge.

The court visited his hiding place.

Raid Described

Details of the raid on the house made by the police Saturday night, which resulted in the arrest of Mrs. McGee, were given.

Mrs. McGee told the court she received money from her brother in Minneapolis, to live on. She rented a couple of the rooms in her house, and also did sewing, was a professional fancy worker and kept chickens.

I. G. Nelson testified to having cashed drafts from the United States, one being from Minneapolis, for Mrs. McGee.

Sergeant Stewart, Chief Long and Constable Jarvis gave evidence as to the condition of the house when they entered it. They stated that it was well furnished and neat, and that it was full of tobacco smoke, evidently caused by a number of people smoking.

The trial lasted from 10 a.m. till nearly 5 p.m. Archie Donaghy defended, and C. B. Garland prosecuted.

Ladies' Auxiliary to Trainmen Entertains at Card Party, Dance

Ladies' auxiliary to the Brotherhood of Railway Trainmen entertained at a most successful card party and dance in the K.P. hall Wednesday night.

Prize winners at whist were: Mrs. H. Maundrell, ladies' first; Mrs. R. Dodd, consolation; H. J. McLean, men's first; J. C. Hooker, consolation. Five hundred prize winners were: Mrs. J. Ryan, ladies' first; Mrs. E. W. Green, consolation; O. Anderson, men's first; E. Sharpe, consolation. Refreshments followed the cards.

The committee in charge consisted of Mrs. D. Maloney, Mrs. W. Simpson and Mrs. F. Waters.

Tariff Board has Concluded Sitting Until Next Month

OTTAWA, Oct. 27.—With the adjournment of the hearing today before the tariff advisory board of the application for a reduction of the duties on manufactured rubber goods, the commission suspended public hearing until November 15 when three applications will be presented. These stand in the name of Lloyd Campbell, limited, Vancouver, who seeks an increase of duties on sal soda. W. J. Michand & Company, Montreal, for free-listing borax glass, and Lauder & Company, Toronto, who request that brass handles for curling stones be made subject to duty under item 352 of the custom tariff. In the interim the commissioners will study the applications that have already been heard with a view to making what recommendations may be deemed advisable to the minister of finance.

GUIDING PROVES POPULAR WITH NELSON GIRLS

One Company Two Years Ago, Now Have Three; Rangers Are Organizing

I. O. D. E. COMPANY HAS RAPID GROWTH

Four Members Year Ago, Now 25; Roman Catholic Girls Ready to Go

That Nelson girls are finding more and more favor with the girl guide movement is indicated by the rapid growth of companies of girl guides here.

Two years ago there was but one girl guide organization — the No. 1 company, Church of the Redeemer Girl Guides. Now, in addition to this, there are two more companies, No. 2 being sponsored by Kokanee chapter, I.O.D.E., and No. 3 being connected with the Church of Mary Immaculate.

Organization of a ranger company, with Mrs. J. Burgess as captain, is being effected. This latter group will consist of ex-guides and girls of 16 years and over, who pledge themselves to carry girl guide work into a larger field.

Frett Under Ban

The Church of the Redeemer guides are very enthusiastic over their work, and are making real progress. The I.O.D.E. company will celebrate its first birthday next month. This company has grown from a membership of 4 a year ago, to 25. The Church of Mary Immaculate company has been held up in its organization by the ban on public gatherings of young people, but it expects to get down to business at the first of next month.

Brownies, the junior girl guide organization in connection with the Church of the Redeemer company, are fretting under the restrictions of the long ban, and are anxious to get back to work again.

TWO MAYORS FOR ONE MAN'S WORK

One Seizes and Locks City Hall; Indianapolis Has a Strange Case

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind., Oct. 27.—A detail of policemen stood guard over the mayor's office here tonight as two men claimed the place—John L. Duvall, who was elected in January, 1926, and Claude E. Negley, appointed by the common council late today.

Declaring the office had been vacant since Duvall's conviction on September 22 for violating the corrupt practices act, the council named Negley, its presiding officer, as mayor pro tem. Following the council's action, Duvall set up a detail of policemen to guard the executive offices. They were said to be heavily armed. Even the doors to the city hall were locked, an unusual event.

Negley said he would make formal demand for the office tomorrow.

Copenhagen Doctor Is Awarded the Nobel Prize for Medicine

STOCKHOLM, Oct. 27.—The Nobel prize for medicine for 1926 has been awarded to Professor Johannes Fibiger of Copenhagen and that for 1927 to Professor Julius Wagner Von Juaregg of Vienna.

These prizes are valued at about $32,000 each.

AIR PASSENGERS ARE INJURED IN CRASH
