Argenta Goes Leary, Leaving Fitzsimmons Lead of Forty-nine

Argenta poll, last in Kaslo-Slocan riding to be heard from, gave its five votes all to C. S. Leary, Liberal candidate, thus reducing the majority of Captain James Fitzsimmons, Conservative, to 49.

No absentee votes wired to Kaslo since Thursday are included in the figures. Returning Officer C. J. Campbell only returning last night to Kaslo after an absence at Riondel since Friday morning. As Mr. Campbell expects to leave early this mroning for his home at New Denver, and to remain there until Wednesday, the earliest opportunity to know how the absentee vote of Kaslo-Slocan has gone, apart from the 55 outside votes counted Thursday, will be Wednesday night.

CAMP LISTER LAD DROWNS; BATHING KUSKANOOK BEACH

Jack Bird, Aged 15, Disappears; Tourists Aid Unsuccessful Hunt Body

Disappearing while he was swimming at Kuskanook yesterday afternoon at about 4 o'clock, Jack Bird, son of Mr. and Mrs. Bird of Camp Lister, was drowned. He was about 15 years of age.

Numbers were sitting on the beach at the time. No one, as far as could be ascertained, saw the lad go down, but when his disappearance was commented on it was remembered he had been riding a log but a short time before. Mr. and Mrs. Bird were among those on the beach.

Tourists waiting for the Nasookin to ferry them to Nelson assisted the bathers in attempting to locate the body, but were unsuccessful up to the time the Nasookin called.

U. S. GEOLOGISTS LOST IN NORTH

No Word for Three Weeks; Food Supply Short When Started Venture

REGINA, Sask., July 22.—No word of the fate of four United States geologists under the leadership of John D. Fuller, Iowa, lost in the north country for more than three weeks, was available here tonight.

On June 6 the party left The Pas, Man. Early in the month they were at the lower end of Reindeer lake area of Saskatchewan's northern hinterland. At that time their food supply was low and they did not have proper equipment, according to a Hudson's Bay employee who reported the party's condition to members of the Royal Canadian mounted police at Prince Albert. A thorough search is being made for the party.

IS OPTIMISTIC

KEOKUK, Iowa, July 22.—Dr. Frank M. Fuller today was seeking information from his son John D. Fuller of Keokuk, and three other Iowa geologists, who are reported lost in the Reindeer Lake region of northern Saskatchewan with inadequate food and clothing.

While attempting to obtain further information, Dr. Fuller today was optimistic.

"We did not expect to hear from the boys for two months," he said, "but we had a letter June 29, mailed from The Pas, Man., where it had been brought by airplane by a trader.

"The letter said the boys were in good condition and happy and were pushing their way northward. They noped to get to Reindeer Lake on their scheduled time.

"Letter from the Canadian government which had approved the expedition, commended the boys to the care of the Royal Northwest Mounted Police and the Hudson's Bay representative," Dr. Fuller added.

Their plans called for a three-months journey in two 17-foot canoes. They expected to do sketching, take moving pictures and map the country. A permit from the Canadian government allows them to shoot enough game to provide fresh meat but they may not bring any trophies out of the north country.

From Brochet where they were last seen they expected to start the last 800 miles of their trip along the unexplored Kazan river.

Conservative Takes Lead in Kamloops; Seventeen Majority

KAMLOOPS, B.C., July 22.—With one poll still unreported, Michell, Conservative, is leading Colley, Liberal, in Kamloops riding by 17 majority.

The vote stood: Colley 1519, Michell 1536.

MEXICO CITY, July 22.—Either President Calles or Aaron Saenz, governor of Nueva Leon, will rule Mexico for the next two years, Colonel Topete, acknowledged leader of the Obregon National party, declared in an interview here today.

WHO'S WHO FOR CABINET POSTS? FIGURE IT OUT

Tolmie Ready But Silent and Refuses Make Any Announcement

VANCOUVER WILL BE WELL REPRESENTED

Dr. Borden of Nelson Likely Choice for One of Portfolios

VANCOUVER, July 22.—Hon. Dr. S. F. Tolmie, Conservatice leader in British Columbia, who will be called upon, probably about the end of the first week in August, to form a government, is maintaining silence concerning his likely choices for cabinet positions. He stated he would not make any announcement of this kind until he had been asked by the administrator of the province to form an administration.

Meantime there are the usual post-election cabinet predictions, but these pretty well cover the range of the more prominent Conservatives elected.

As one of the criticisms of the Liberal government was that it had failed until the eve of dissolution to give Vancouver area cabinet representation, it is taken for granted that ample representation will be given to the city by the new government. The names of W. C. Shelly or T. H. Kirk have been mentioned in connection with the finance portfolio and R. L. Maitland is regarded as a possible attorney-general. They are Vancouver members. Dr. Tolmie himself has been forecast for the portfolio of agriculture. Others mentioned for cabinet ministers include N. S. Lougheed, Dewdney; W. A. MacKenzie, Similkameen; Dr. L. E. Borden, Nelson and Joshua Hinchliffe, Victoria.

MAY RETAIN MacLEAN

Premier J. D. MacLean is quietly going about the business of retiring from his position after 12 years in the legislature and one year as premier, and has indicated that if the Liberal party wishes him to remain as its leader, he must be invited to do so. There is a movement in Liberal circles to retain Dr. MacLean in the legislature as leader of the opposition. It has been suggested that he be given an acclamation in case one of the newly elected Liberals resign in his favor, and Yale, his former constituency, has been suggested in that connection. He has also been mentioned as a possible Liberal federal candidate for Victoria, where Dr. Tolmie's resignation necessitates a byelection.

Four Liberal ministers remain in the legislature, Hon. T. D. Pattullo, minister of lands, Hon. W. H. Sutherland, minister of roads, Hon. A. M. Manson, attorney-general and Hon. Ian MacKenzie, provincial secretary. Upon whom the choice of Liberal leader would fall should Dr. MacLean not take the position, is a matter for conjecture as yet.

BENNETT ADDRESSES CROWDS AT OSHAWA

OSHAWA, Ont., July 22.—Addressing several thousand people at a picnic here Saturday, Hon. R. B. Bennett, Dominion leader of the Conservative party, dealt with tariff problems. He pleaded for an adequate protection for Canadian industries and deplored the exodus of population to the United States.

Speaking of the declaration of equal status of Canada and the establishment of foreign embassies, Mr. Bennett said: "What port is Mr. King bound for? If he wants to make this an independent country let him say so."

In introducing Mr. Bennett, Hon. John M. Martin, Ontario minister of agriculture, lauded the Conservative leader's "splendid personality and unequalled eloquence."

Br. Bennett declared that the work of development which had been accomplished in the Dominion was the work of the Conservative party. They had built the railways, established means of communications and formulated the national policy, which made possible Canada's industrial development. With continental free trade, Canada could never have built up the prosperity which she now enjoys, Mr. Bennett declared.

Prince George Will Visit This Province in August

VANCOUVER, July 22.—Word was received here today that Prince George, third son of King George, will be in British Columbia late in August.

The prince has been gazetted interpreter in French aboard the cruiser Durban which will visit Vancouver in August.

Prince George will sail for Canada on August 11th to join his ship at Victoria or Vancouver.

PIONEER OKANAGAN RESIDENT PASSES

VANCOUVER, B.C., July 21.—James Kay, aged 81, of Peachland, resident of the Okanagan valley for 21 years, died Thursday at Jubilee hospital, Vernon, according to advices received here.

"AL'S" BOSS

Mrs. Al Smith, wife of the Democratic candidate for the United States presidency, who says Governor Smith's kindness is his best and most outstanding trait.

THIRTEEN DIE OVER WEEK-END ABOUT MONTREAL

Eight Die at Three Level Crossing Crashes; Three Likely to Die

MONTREAL, July 22.—Thirteen dead, eight injured, three of whom are not expected to live, comprised the week-end accident toll in Montreal and district.

Of the 13 people killed, eight died in three level crossing accidents, four were drowned and one was killed in an auto accident.

Four persons were killed near Cap St. Martin, about 15 miles from here when their automobile was struck by an inbound C. P. R. Ottawa train. The dead included three members of one family. The dead are Mrs. Adrienne Charbonneau, 24, Francis Charbonneau, 15, Mrs. Francis Charbonneau, 45, mother-in-law and mother respectively of the first two and Patrice Lenielle, 41. Of the four injured in the accident, Jeanne Vallee, 17, is not expected to live. The automobile containing the eight people with Lenielle at the wheel were on their way to visit relatives when the crash occurred and had reached the level crossing over the C. P. R. one mile east of Cap St. Martin. Three of the occupants were dead when picked up by members of the train crew while the fourth died while being transported to a hospital.

STALLS ON TRACK

On entire family was wiped out at Pointe Aux Trembles when an automobile in which they were riding, stalled on the tracks at a C. N. R. crossing. The victims were Herbert Smith, 40, his wife, Harriet, 35, and their son 14. Smith and his son were instantly killed and Mrs. Smith died later in a hospital.

Edmond Houle, 28, was instantly killed when his motor truck, was struck by a C. P. R. train at the level crossing at Iberville. He attempted to beat the train but was struck before accomplishing his intention.

George Murphy, 29, was drowned in the Riviere Des Prairies, while swimming. The victim had reached a point about 20 feet from shore when he took a cramp and sank before help could reach him.

After wandering away from the home of his parents, James Haslet, two-year-old, fell in the Little Riviere St. Pierre and was drowned.

WEATHER BAD FOR FOREST FIRES

Conditions in South Interior Dangerous; More Fires Already

VANCOUVER, B.C., July 22.—Forest fire conditions remain favorable in the interior, but on the southern coast and in the southern and central interior warmer and dried conditions exist and are becoming dangerous, according to the weekly report of the provincial forest branch.

The total of fires to date this year in 513, as compared with 326 at the same date last year, and 1265 in 1926.

With 166 blazes, the southern interior shows the greatest depredation so far this season. Vancouver district is next with 147 fires, Prince Rupert 79, Prince George 59, Cariboo 32, and Kamloops 30.

VIOLENT ERRUPTION

MANILA, July 22.—Violent eruption of Mayon, a large volcano in Albay province, has assumed alarming proportions, terrifying the populace and paralyzing all business in the surrounding district where hot aches are falling.

THREE FRENCH AIRMEN REACH AZORES ISLAND

Complete First Leg of Atlantic Crossing Successfully

FLIGHT PURELY FOR SCIENTIFIC REASONS

Will Fly Straight to Bermuda Island and Thence to New York

NEW YORK, July 22.—The Western Union announced this morning that the French flyers on the seaplane La Fregate arrived at Horta, Island of Fayal, Azores, at 2:22 a.m., eastern standard time. The flyers hopped off from Brest at 5:05 p.m. yesterday on the first leg of a transatlantic flight.

BREST, France, July 22.—At 1 o'clock this morning the French seaplane La Fregate reported by radio that it was about 370 miles from the Azores on the first leg of its flight to America. The flyers gave their position as 41 north, latitude west longitude.

BREST, France, July 22.—Another French airplane was out over the Atlantic tonight in an effort to span the ocean from east to west and to retrieve the failure of Nungesser and Coli.

The French seaplane La Fregate (the Frigate Bird) rose from the waters of Brest harbor at 5:05 today with New York as its goal. Naval Lieutenant Paulin Paris was at the controls with Relief Pilot Marrot and Wireless Operator Cadou keeping him company aboard.

Lieutenant Paris expects to slip down into the harbor of Horta, Island of Fayal, Azores, for breakfast and a fresh supply of gasoline tomorrow. From there he will fly straight to Bermuda. If, upon his arrival at New York he thinks a return flight feasible he has been instructed by the French navy and commerce department to fly back to Brest by way of Newfoundland.

SCIENTIFIC ATTEMPT

The flight of La Fregate is more a scientific than sporting affair. Preparations for it have been going on for more than a year.

La Fregate is built to stand rough weather not only in the sky but on surface of the ocean and is equipped with a wireless outfit capable of sending and receiving on both long and short wave lengths.

The pilot said before taking off that he intended to radio his position hourly, but four hours after he had disappeared in the western sky no word had yet come from him. This, however, caused no anxiety here.

His plan was to cut across the Bay of Biscay, taking a bearing off Cape Finisterre, Spain, then head straight for the Azores. Meterological and other reports from the vicinity of the route chosen were favorable.

PLANE IN TRIM

The aviator, whose plane had been in perfect trim for some time, received instructions this morning to take off at any hour that seemed propitious to him.

The two 480-horsepower Grome-Rhone-Jupiter motors set in tandem fashion, directly atop the big biplane, started shortly before 5 o'clock and after shaking hands with the well-wishers who had come down to say goodbye, Lieutenant Paris took off.

He circled for a few moments over the ships of the French squadron lying in the harbor, and then, getting his direction, headed westward.

LABOR LEADERS QUIT IN MEXICO

Resign So That Reflections Cannot Be Cast; Regret Obregon Death

MEXICO CITY, July 22.—Obeying instructions from the central committee of the regional federation of labor, Luis Moronez, a long political enemy of President-elect Obregon tendered his resignation to President Calles late last night.

Celestino Gasca, chief of ordnance supplies, and Eduodo Moneda, chief of the government printing shops, both prominent labor leaders, also resigned.

In a statement explaining his resignation, Moronez said it was "for the purpose of avoiding every pretext that our prominence in office may obstruct the maintenance of solidarity in the revolutionary family. We hope that commital to authorities of the statement made yesterday by Congressman Gama regarding our personalities may help once more to bring the truth to light on the murder which has justly brought consternation to the public."

BANK ACCOUNTANT DROWNS IN CREEK

REGINA, Sask., July 22.—Douglas Watson, 29, accountant of the Royal Bank at Aneroid, was drowned on Saturday in Old Wives creek, about 30 miles northeast of Aneroid. He dived into the water and was not seen again by his two companions. Heart failure is believed the cause of death.

Yeggs Blow Safe in Grand Forks; Bungle Attempt at Garage

GRAND FORKS, B.C., July 21.—Yeggs blew the safe of the Great Northern depot Friday night, but secured only a couple of dollars in change. They also attempted to blow the safe of the Grand Forks garage, but apparently made a bungle.

MR. BENNETT PAYS TRIBUTE TO DR. TOLMIE

Dominion Leader Says Victory Will Give Scope for Use of Talents

TORONTO, July 22.—The advisability of some alteration in the capital structure of the Canadian National railways is regarded by Hon. R. B. Bennett, Conservative party leader, as a problem to which serious consideration should be given. The matter should be approached, however, as one entirely noncontentious and nonpartisan, and in this guise it should be brought before parliament for study and determination.

BRITISH COLUMBIA ELECTION

The Conservative leader's interest has been engaged recently by the British Columbia election, which he regarded as a "fine victory for the Conservative cause."

While an excellent victory for Conservatives, the British Columbia result was not, Hon. Mr. Bennett pointed out, an unexpected one. It simply brought Britsh Columbia into line provincially with what it was federally. Its importance was the opportunity for splendid service to his native province which it gave to Hon. Dr. Tolmie. Hon. Mr. Bennett was confident that the premier-elect would measure up to his responsibilities.

PASTOR BARRED ONLY TILL ACTION

If Proven Innocent in Courts in Divorce Action He May Continue in Church

VANCOUVER, July 21.—Rev. Norman A. MacEachern of Winnipeg chairman of the Presbyterian church commission which inquired into charges against Rev. S. Robertson Orr, recently suspended from the pastorate of Central Presbyterian church, stated today that the finding did not involve any suggestion that Mr. Orr had been found guilty of immorality.

The finding—"conduct unbecoming a minister of the gospel'—did not imply immoral conduct, sad Mr. MacEachern.

No charge of immorality against Mr. Orr had been made in the church courts, he said. The charges were "conduct unbecoming a minister and clandestine meetings with a woman other than his wife."

It will remain for the civil court to decide whether or not Mr. Orr is guilty in connection with the divorce suit launched by Gordon Fleck against Mrs. Fleck, charging Mr. Orr as the co-respondent. If Mr. Orr is found innocent, the suspension against him will be lifted and he will be permitted to accept any call from a church in Canada.

Returning Officer Is Appointed for Victoria Byelection

VICTORIA, July 22.—It it stated that Sheriff H. W. Goggin, Victoria, has been selected as the returning officer for the federal byelection which will be necessary to fill the vacancy caused by the resignation of Hon. S. F. Tolmie, provincial premier-elect.

It is therefore anticipated that the election may come on very shortly. There is a rumor that Hon. J. D. MacLean, the defeated Liberal provincial premier, may be tendered the nomination for the federal house.

Would Innoculate Condemned Men With Cancer; Study Disease

HAVANA, Cuba, July 22.—A proposal for legal innoculation of convicts condemned to death with cancer germs so that the disease may be clinically studied, has received the unanimous approval of the board of national sanitation.

The proposal will go to congress for legislative action.

The proposal provides that condemned men may voluntarily be innoculated with cancer germs and that thereafter they remain under observation and treatment for a period of 12 years. Should they survive and be cured they would be freed from prison.

PREMIER TO RESIGN

ST. JOHN'S, NEWFOUNDLAND, July 22.—Announcement was made on Saturday through St. John's newspapers that Premier Walter Munroe would resign the premiership.

FLYERS LEAVE VICTORIA EARLY ON SATURDAY

Complete Trip by Arrival at New York After 23 Days 15 Hours

PREVIOUS RECORD TWENTY-EIGHT DAYS

Monoplane Carried Across Pacific on One of Empress Liners

NEW YORK, July 22.—John Henry Mears and B. D. Collyer landed at the Battery on the lower tip of Manhattan Island at 8:21 p. m. today thereby establishing a record of 23 days, 15 hours, 21 minutes and three seconds for a trip around the world.

The previous record, held by Linton Wells and Edward Evans, newspaper men, was 28 days, 14 hours, 36 minutes and 5 seconds.

Mears and Collyer left the Battery June 29, at five a.m. in a seaplane which landed them at sea beside a pilot boat which put them on board the Olympic at 5:45. The Olympic was at that time nearly six hours out from New York. They landed at Cherbourg with a monoplane which they used in their flights to the orient. They crossed the Pacific by steamer landing at Victoria, B. C., where their monoplane was again used in their final lap to New York.

VICTORIA, B.C., July 22.—"I hope to make a record that will stand for some time," said John Henry Mears when interviewed aboard the Empress of Russia nearing Victoria on Saturday.

Mr. Mears, with his pilot Carles G. D. Collyer, left New York in the airplane, City of New York, on June 29, in an attempt to circle the globe by airplane and fast liner in 23 days.

The first sight of the big liner carrying the two fliers was at 8:10 o'clock when a dark cloud of smoke became apparent above the heavy fog bank in the straits. Anxious moments were spent by the photographers and newspaper men at Williams Head quarantine station, as at frequent intervals the deep boom of the vessel's siren told of her slow progress through the fog.

With a moving picture camera set up in the bow the fast pilot craft association made a wide sweep of the waters. In the background the customs preventive cruiser Winamic, in charge of Capt. Bittancourt, kept a vigilant eye on the scene. The quarantine vessel Lady Evelyn was soon underway with its completment of cameras forward.

REPORTERS IN WRONG

There was a mad rush for Mr. Mears' cabin, several of the news hunters finding themselves in the second-class galley after taking the wrong turn. The photographers grouped themselves about the airplane, which was lashed to the after deck of the liner.

Mr. Mears, a man about 43 years of age, stout, clean-shaven, wearing glasses and with a ready smile, was packing his few belongings in the cabin, as was his pilot, Mr. Collyer. Both were dressed in full flying togs with leather boots and helmets. They carried little else than the clothes they wore, to conserve weight in the plane.

Under one of the berths was a tiny white Realyham terrier, mascot of the world tour, answering to the name of Tailwind. The dog was wide-eyed at all the hasty parting and looked on with an expression of bewilderment.

NO SANDWICHES

RUSSIA

Leaving New York on June 22, the two fliers sailed on the Olympic for Cherbourg and from there flew through Russia and Siberia in easy stages. In Russia, said Mr. Mears, it was impossible to obtain sandwiches and we often went hungry, but wherever we had time to stop for a meal the Russians gave us some great banquets. I did not like the Russian cooking, however, and often wished for some good American food.

"Flying through Siberia was a rather cold experience, as we kept the nose of the City of New York pointed to the sky. All the way through the cold areas we experienced ideal flying weather and had no mechanical trouble whatever. As details of the trip were arranged one year in advance we had no trouble in securing an adequate supply of high test gasoline."

"Both Mr. Collyer and myself lost weight," continued Mr. Mears. "Round the world in 23 days certainly is a way to reduce the waist line.

"Arriving at Mukden we lost no time in refuelling and taking off for Yokohama early on the morning of July 12. The tail of the plane was attached to a motor truch at Tokio flying field and twoed about 35 miles to Yokohama. The wings of the plane were folded and the City of New York was soon hoisted to the deck of the liner, where she was securely lashed down. At Yokohama the fliers were besieged by so many photographers and citizens with cameras that they had a difficult time to keep the plane from being damaged.

Once aboard the Empress of Russia

the big vessel churned up the Pacific at even more than her usual fast gate, her average for the whole trip to Victoria being 19.78 knots. On Friday she was making a good 20 knots but had to slow down somewhat for a fog bank. Members of the crew estimated that the liner would have arrived here at 6:30 o'clock Friday if she had been steaming at top speed, which would have constituted a new Pacific record. At is was the Empress arrived 10 hours ahead of her schedule. Smooth weather was encountered all the way from Yokohama.

Numerous flashlight photographs were taken of the fliers on the Russia as the ship was being inspected off Williams Head. Two news reel cameras clicked off their message for thousands of theatre-goers in all parts of the world.

PAJAMAS FLUTTER

As Mears was waiting for the "birdie" with the pilot by his side, a steward came running up from below with a forgotten pair of pajamas. It was a tense moment as they unfurled in the breeze but cameramen held their shutters from recording the event.

Mr. Collyer was plainly showing the strain of fast travel, with no time to gaze restfully at the fleeting scenery. He mentioned that he had been up all Thursday evening getting the plane ready to take off from Victoria. Many fond farewells with exclamations of "good luck," "cheerio" and "look me up on your next trip round," were heard as passengers wished the fliers the very best.

As the Russia drew near the dock collies worked ferverishly getting the plane unloaded by a huge electric crane on the wharf. All baggage was stowed away in the little space available, and the cabin securely locked while the airmen fondly gazed at the nearing shore with thoughts of New York at the end of the week.

Fitted with an all steel propellor, the 425 horsepower plane presented an odd appearance on the deck of the liner. On one side of the plane the coat of arms of New York was emblazoned in gold, with the date 1664 below. The wings were neatly folded against the sides, as some giant bird nestling for the night. The plane had a glass enclosed cabin. Two gasoline tanks in each wing, one in the cabin and one on top, give her a cruising range of 2000 miles under favorable weather.

Messrs. Mears and Collyer took off at daylight this morning for Seattle, after loading 218 gallons of gasoline here. They expect to arrive at Curtis Field, New York, from Minneapolis, at noon on Sunday.

In the event of a breakdown they plan to take the mail plane to New York and still arrive after 23 days, beating the 28 day record set by Wells in 1926.

SCOTTISH NATIONAL LIBRARY GETS GIFT

LONDON, July 22.—Sir Alexander Grant has made a second gift of $500,000 to the National Library of Scotland. His first donation was in June of 1923. Some time before that date the Faculty of Advocates had asked the Government to take over their famous library as a Scottish public institution, but owing to the financial position of the country difficulty stood in the way of acceptance by the government of this offer.

That difficulty was removed by Sir Alexander's first $500,000 donation. It is understood that the sum now given is to provide additional accommodation for the library.

Sir Alexander Grant is the managing director of a large firm of biscuit manufacturers, Edinburgh. A native of Forres, he entered this firm as a working baker over 40 years ago, and gradually secured advancement until he became general manager, and subsequently acquired a controlling interest.

GUESS COMPETITION RUNS FOUL OF LAW

Authorities Question Legality of Soccer Game Competitions Newspapers in Britain

LONDON, July 22.—The higher courts here are to decide upon the legality of newspapers running competitions in connection with football matches, an enterprise which the more popular portions of the English press has adopted extensively.

The proprietors of the Sheffield Telegraph have been convicted for publishing " a coupon and an advertisement of ready-money betting business." The prosecution was instituted by the chief constable as a test case and at the express wish of the defendants the case is to be taken to a higher court.

Readers were invited to fill in upon a coupon the team which they expected would win in each of six matches set out on the coupon. At one time, said counsel, any competitor could send in as many coupons as he liked. Where that was done the man who did it was buying all but one copy of a paper for the sole purpose of obtaining the coupon. He was handing the money over to the proprietors of the paper in consideration solely of his chance of winning a larger sum if he correctly estimated the results of the matches.

That, in counsel's opinion, according to common sense and decided cases, would be betting and nothing else.

A detective in evedince said he had calculated the number of coupons that would have to be sent on to be quite certain of getting one right for 24 matches. They amounted to 282,429,536,481.

Among the witnesses for the defence were Councillor E. Gandy, a member of Sheffield education committee, who said he had entered the competition himself, and saw no harm in it. The matter did not interest him greatly, but he had entered at the behest of his wife.

The Rev. C. G. Lane, M.A., vicar of St. Anne's, thought it was a good, healthy game, and encouraged sport. Although he himself had not entered the competitions he had often helped friends.

The Rev. Ralph Holloway, vicar of St. Luke's, said he himself had gone in for the football competitions, and on one occasion won a small prize. He had not the slightest misgivings or conscientious scruples about filling in the coupons.

CANADA HOUSE IS BUSY PLACE

LONDON, July 22. — Innumerable services to the Canadian and British public are performed by Canada House, the office of the High Commissioner for Canada in London. Besides being the medium for official communications between the Canadian government and various departments of the British government, the high commissioner's office carries out various duties for the provinces. The visible work of the office, that of looking after Canadians travelling in London, is a mere sideline to more important duties.

In Canada House, which in its prominent position in Trafalgar square is regarded as one of the sights of London are housed besides the commissioner, the director of European emigration and his staff; the directors of the Canadian medical services who control inspection of emigrants, the chief Canadian trade commissioner in Britain; and the overseas representative of the Department of Soldiers' civil reestablishment. In addition representatives of the Canadian department of agriculture attend to the marketing of Canadian produce in Britain, while officials of the customs department carry out various duties.

A feature of Canada House is the special reference library containing much reference material, from directories to newspapers and periodicals.

Hottest Day of Year Sends Many to Lake Shores

Torrid sun sent the mercury to the high point for the year yesterday and sent crowds of people in the city either to the cool of the lake or by cars into the country.

Crowds of persons were flocking to the Lakeside park even before the heat began to take effect, with a basket on one arm and a swimming suit on the other.

Roads to the south and to Trail were a continuous mass of dust from the numerous cars, and the Nelson ferry probably broke all records to accommodate the traffic.

Over the week-end many parties enjoyed a day's fishing on the main lake and excellent bags are reported although there was a lack of big fish. However, any fisherman who braved the heat returned with a good coat of sunburn.

JOURNALISTS ENTER PROTEST, ENGLAND

LONDON, July 22.—Following the disaster on the London & North Eastern Railway at Darlington, when over a score of people lost their lives, one newspaper here of large circulation has proclaimed widely that it paid out $250,000 in insurance to the families of some of those who were killed. This was under the scheme whereby registered readers of the paper were automatically insured against accidents. Insurance for readers against casualties has become an immense factor recently in circulation-getting among the larger British newspapers.

The Executive Council of the National Union of Journalists has carried a resolution protesting against "the attitude of certain newspapers in endeavoring to make advertising capital from the payments of insurance on readers who were killed in the train smash at Darlington." The resolution followed a protest from the Northern District Council of the Union, representing 1200 working journalists in the North of England, which declared that the treatment of the news of the disaster by a certain section of the Press "subordinates the best traditions." The protestants regarded "the means employed by certain papers on this occasion as being both derogatory to the profession of journalism and repugnant to a sense of common decency." Following these protests by journalists, but independently of them, the Hetton-le-Hole District Council, in whose area the disaster happened, have issued a protest on similar lines.

LORD BYNG'S POST DIFFICULT ONE

Commissioner Metropolitan Police Please Government, Public and Large Force

LONDON, July 20.—Viscount Byng, when he assumed the position of commissioner of metropolitan police, certainly did not betake himself into a bed of roses. The commissionership is one of the most arduous and one of the most responsible offices in the whole administrative system of Britain. It is remarkable, too, how many commissioners have retired virtually under compulsion, although in not a single instance has there been the slightest suggestion against their personal integrity. When he takes up duty a few months hence, Lord Byng will enter Scotland Yard at a time when, for various reasons, the reputation of the metropolitan police force among the public, if not exactly under a cloud, is not regarded with that serene complacency which for many years was the almost general feeling held by the people of London at large.

The commissioner of metropolitan police is the servant of the home secretary. This minister is directly responsible to parliament for anything connected with the policing of the London area. His countersign is necessary to all major orders issued by the commissioner in handling his officers and men and in dealing with the public. The commissioner commands a force of 20,000 and the metropolitan police district covers an area of 700 square miles. The commissioner receives a salary of $15,000. There are three assistant commissioners, who receive $7500 each. There are also three deputy assistant commissioners, each drawing $5000 or more. Among them is Lieutenant-Colonel P. R. Laurie, who is head of the mounted police, and who, incidentally, was staff officer under Lord Byng during part of the war. The metropolitan area is divided into three districts, each under a chief constable, and these again are subdivided into 26 divisions each under a superintendent.

IMMENSE COST

Metropolitan police finances are administered by an official known as the receiver, who has his office in the same building as the commissioner at Scotland Yard, but who is responsible directly to the home secretary. The total annual cost of the force is some $30,000,000. The home secretary himself decides the amount of tax to be levied upon the municipal boroughs and other local authorities within the metropolitan police area. The imperial treasury makes a grant of half the cost of the metropolitan force (a similar grant is made to all other police forces in the country, although these are almost entirely under local or county administration). There is also a special grant from the treasury to the metropolitan force for services of an imperial character, such as the guarding of the houses of parliament, the royal palaces and government buildings.

ARE IMPRESSED

The visitor to London from afar has for 50 years or more been impressed with the courtesy and helpfulness of the London "bobby." But the commissioner—the man at the head of this army in blue—has three masters. He has to please the home secretary, and through him the government. He has to handle his men. And he has to handle the public. Perhaps the "roughest" time which was ever encountered by the higher command of the metropolitan force was away back in the 80s, when there was a popular clamor for what was known as "the right of free speech in Trafalgar square. Those were the days long before John Burns became a privy councillor and a member of the ministry. John Burns fought policemen in Trafalgar square for the right of free speech, and was locked up for it. Nevertheless, it was the head of the then commissioner of police, Sir Edmund Henderson, which really fell into the basket, mainly because he fell foul of the home secretary.

Sir Charles Warren took Sir Edmund's place, but he did not keep it overlong. One commissioner succeeded another in quick order, until there came the 15-year command of Sir Edward Henry. The police strike during the last year of the war was a regrettable incident. The men were admittedly underpaid, but everybody in authority had perhaps been too engrossed with war effort to attend to the legitimate grievances of the police. These were remedied promptly when the strike happened, and Sir Edward Henry was honorably retired with a baronetcy. General Sir Nevil Macready then took command for a couple of years. He had hardly arrived at Scotland Yard when a "red" element in the force organized another strike. It proved a regular fiasco, and since that time there has been no suspicion that the general body of the force is not perfectly loyal, and on the whole contented with their terms of service. Lord Byng's immediate predecessor, Sir William Horwood, has been commissioner for eight years.

INTEREMPIRE FILM PREFERENCES URGE

Australia Would Have "Empi Quota" Motion Pictures Established

LONDON, July 22.—The Times' co respondent at Canberra, Australia, sa Probably no more searching investig tion has ever been made in the co monwealth than that recently condu ed by a royal commission appoint by the federal ministry to inquire i conditions in the moving picture i dustry of Australia. The report this commission, presented to the hou of representatives, recently, shows th no phase of the film industry as concerns Australia has been left u touched, and in the opinion of t ministry the decisions of the comm sion were so commendable that, su ject to constitutional limitations a discussion with the state governmen they have been adopted at least principle in their entirety.

During the inquiry much menti was made of the "stranglehold" whi the United States film industry h acquired on the commonwealth mark These allegations, the commission fin were not substantial, but the late available figures show that the i ports of American film last ye amounted to 24,000,000 ft., while expo from Australia amounted to only 6 795 feet. The quantity of film i ported from Britain was 1,904,190 fe The commission expresses regret th the exhibition of British films in Au tralia has not met with general su cess.

Recently-screened British films, ho ever, have shown a decided improv ment in quality and technique; su improvement, if maintained, will ov come any antagonism on the part Australian audiences.

ARE REFUTED

Statements that British films a boycotted by the trade have been d initely refuted and are without a justification, says the report.

Of the pictures screened in Austra 93 per cent are from foreign countri and at least 90 per cent from Ameri These films are of a high standard, a the Australian public will continue demand the same high standard. F this reason and because of the limit offering of Australian films, an Aust lian quota could not be recommende The commission considers that an E pire quota would most readily meet t demand. There would have to be standard of quality.

The commission recommends that, the first place, the commonwealth a thorities should endeavor to make r ciprocal tariff and quota arrangemen with other parts of the Empire. suggests a quota of five per cent Empire films for the first year, 10 p cent for the second year, and 15 p cent for the third. As a further i centive to create a strong Empire i dustry, the commission recommen that the tariff on foreign films shou be increased from 1½d a foot to 2 the British tariff remaining unchang at "free." TADANAC CLUB IS WINNER KOOTENAY TENNIS TROPHY

Defeats Bonnington in Final Tourney; All Club Players Are Banquetted

TRAIL, B.C., July 22.—Tadanac Tennis club players copped the West Kootenay league trophy in the finals here today by winning five straight games in the series. The Trail City club, winner of the trophy last year, ranked second with four wins and one loss. The City club players were defeated by the Tadanac club in the semi-finals yesterday afternoon.

In tournaments over the week-end, the Tadanac club beat Trail City club, West Kootenay Power & Light Company club defaulted to Trail Memorial, Trail City defeated Nelson Tennis club, and Tadanac defeated Bonnington Falls.

The Trail Memorial club ranked third in league standing, while Bonnington and West Kootenay were tied at fourth and the Nelson club was last.

ARE BANQUETTED

Following the games the members of all clubs, numbering about 45 players, sat down to a banquet in the evening, prepared by the league, at which the trophy was presented to the Tadanac players by Colonel J. Murray of Bonnington, chairman. Individual medals will be given to the Tadanac players in about a week.

During the evening speeches were made by the chairman; Mrs. Murray of Bonnington; L. C. Eckert of Trail, secretary of the league; L. Simpson, secretary of the Nelson club and past league secretary; Kenneth McBean, secretary of the Tadanac club; Bob Duffy, president of the Trail Memorial club; H. E. Wade, secretary of the Trail City club; and C. Dodimead, of the Trail Memorial club.

Rossland Pythians Pay Honor to Robinsons on Eve of Their Departure

ROSSLAND, B.C., July 22.—Their regular lodge work completed in good season Friday evening, the members of Rossland Lodge No. 21, Knights of Pythias prepared to leave for their homes, when an alarm at the door revealed the presence of about 20 members of Maple Leaf Temple No. 4 Pythian Sisters, who immediately took possession of the lodge hall. Tables were spread and a light supper served. Chief Mrs. W. D. Wilson called Mrs. J. B. Robinson to the platform, where Mrs. Howard Ferguson presented her, on behalf of the temple, with a beautiful silver gravy ladle, expressing the regret of the sisters at Mrs. Robinson's approaching removal from the city.

Mrs. Robinson voiced her appreciation of the gift and of the fellowship she enjoyed as a member of the temple, and then the company settled down for a couple of hours with cards. The first prizes were won by Mrs. Robert Tweed and Dalter Sanderson, and the consolation prizes fell to the lot of Mrs. F. G. Bray and Mrs. Percy Palmer.

Before the company broke up, Walter Sanderson, on behalf of Rossland Lodge No. 21, thanked the sisters for the surprise and expressed to Mr. and Mrs. Robinson the best of wishes for their welfare in their new home, hoping that under a new flag, they would not forget the friends they had made in Rossland.

Concrete Tunnel Over Trail Creek Is Near Complete

TRAIL, B.C., July 22.—Work on the concrete tunnelling of Trail creek will be completed by Wednesday, according to D. Bayley, assistant city engineer in charge of the work. All but 100 feet of the ceiling of the tunnel, which extends from Rossland avenue to Columbia river at the end of Farewell street, through the business section, has been completed.

The work has been done over a period of years owing to high water interfering with the work in the creek bed.

City Employees Extinguish But Flames Up Again; Is Not Serious

TRAIL, B.C. July 22.—After city employees had extinguished a small fire in the hills west of the city yesterday, smouldering sparks again broke out today and a crew of six men was stationed at the fire.

The situation was not dangerous, according to D. Bayley, assistant city engineer, who is in charge of the crew. He stated that the fire was "corralled" at 3:30 this afternoon, and that a crew of three men would keep guard during the night.

Judgment Reserved in Appeal Concerning Sale of Shares Act

LONDON, July 22.—The judicial committee of the privy council has reserved judgment in the appeal of the attorney-general of Manitoba from the decision of the Manitoba appellate court in favor of the Dominion involving the validity of the sale of shares act and the municipal and public utility board act. The Manitoba court held that these acts were ultra vires of the Manitoba legislature.

Both Alberta and Ontario are interested in the appeal along with Manitoba, the object being to test out the right of the provinces to control the sale of shares of federally incorporated companies.

The argument in the case took up three days.

UNMPIRE AND CATCHER HIT; TAKE THE COUNT

Cady Unable Continue; Trail Lacks Good Pitcher; 250 Fans See Game

TRAIL, B.C., July 22.—Bunching hits and forcing runs in almost every inning, Rossland Miners, provincial champions, smothered the Trail Reps with an 18-5 score in the opening game of the West Kootenay Class A Baseball league here this afternoon, before a crowd of 250 fans. The game was featured with heavy hitting by the visitors and perfect weather, which kept beads of perspiration on the foreheads of players and spectators.

Three home runs and six two-base hits brought cheers from the fans. Jolliett Houbriggs, the big leaguer of the Trail nine, poled out the longest drive of the game, the pill clearing the center field fence by yards, with two men on bases. Dohlen was credited with a home run on a drive to deep left field with the bases full. Hank Lauriente had a circuit chalked up when the ball landed among cars in the left field, with one man on base, for the visitors.

PRADOLINI STARS

Al Pradolini, on the mound for the Miners, was the pivot of the team. He held the Trail batters to seven hits and sent 10 pill busters to the bench via the strikeout route. In Pradolini the Rosslanders had that which the local team lacked, a pitcher who could put stuff on the ball.

Two injuries were recorded during the day. Umpire George Cady and Catcher Dohlen were both knocked unconscious when struck in the body by balls thrown by Pitcher Pradolini. Dohlen continued the game, but Cady was unable to go on and was carried off the field.

THE SCORING

Trail opened the scoring with two runs in the first inning and copped another in the second frame and two in the ninth, to collect five runs.

The Rosslanders were held scoreless in the first inning, but laid heavy on the wood to collect five runs in the second from five hits. Two runs were scored in the third inning from two hits, including Lauriente's circuit drive. After being held tight in the fourth and fifth innings, the visitors made three runs in the sixth and seven in the seventh. Dohlen's home run accounted for four of the runs in the seventh. Rossland got its final run in the eighth.

Couple Sentenced to From One to Five Years on Cruelty Case

MOUNT CLEMENS, Mich., July 22.—Percy S. Smith, 36, and Mrs. Jessie Ellison, 48, of Halfway, Mich., were sentenced from one to five years' imprisonment by Judge Neil Reid here Saturday. They were charged with cruelty to Smith's 6-year-old daughter, Kathleen. Smith's wife, whom he deserted in Toronto several months ago, was present when sentence was passed and sobbed violently. The couple burned the hands of the little girl, it was charged, when she ate some cake which had been forbidden her.

Dempsey Says Tom Heeney in Shape to Lift Tunney's Title

FAIR HAVEN, N.J., July 22.—"Heeney, in my opinion has better than an even chance of defeating Gene Tunney in their battle this week. It will take a superman to knock him out."

That was Jack Dempsey speaking this afternoon. "He looks to be in great shape," he added. He is strong and rugged and apparently has lots of stamina. He can take a punch and also punch hard. If you can do that, you've got a chance.

BANNED PASTOR HAS SERVICES ALL HIS OWN

Crowded Services; Congregation Asks His Restoration to Pulpit

VANCOUVER, B.C., July 22.—A petition praying that the judgment of the ecclesiastical court of inquiry in the case of the Rev. S. Robertson Orr, former minister of Central Presbyterian church, who has been named co-respondent in a divorce action, be nullified and that Mr. Orr be restored to his congregation, will go forward to the moderator of the general assembly of the Presbyterian church in Canada. The petition was circulated and largely signed at a service held by Mr. Orr today in the women's building, which was attended by more than 200 members of the Central church congregation. Mr. Orr announced that he would hold services at the women's building each Sunday. He said he would minister without salary, asking only that a treasurer be appointed. William McQueen, city clerk, was appointed to this position.

A commission appointed by the last general assembly of the Presbyterian Church in Canada, on Friday found that Mr. Orr had been "guilty of conduct so unbecoming a minister of the gospel as to necessitate the dissolution of the pastoral tie between him and his congregation." It was subsequently explained that the finding did not involve any suggestion that Mr. Orr had been found guilty of immorality. It would remain for the civil court to decide whether Mr. Orr was guilty in connection with a divorce suit in which he has been named co-respondent and out of which case the inquiry into Mr. Orr's status in the church arose, it was stated

NO GLOOM WAS LAST WISH OF GREAT ACTRESS

Relatives of Ellen Terry Carry Out Her Request as Body Rests in State

SMALL HYTHE, England, July 22.—"No funeral gloom, my dears, when I am gone," Ellen Terry, famous and beloved actress, has had her wish for beauty and peace and loving tenderness surrounded her as she lay in her final sleep within the quaint old farm house which she had known so long as home.

The noted actress received her last and greatest call on Saturday morning and died tranquilly surrounded by her loved ones. With her daughter, Edith Craig, her son, Edward Gordon Craig, her brother, Charles Terry, and her favorite niece, Miss Olive Terry.

At "the farm" which nestles at the edge of this ancient hamlet today there was little to indicate that there had been a great change. There was an air of subdued activity, but no blinds were drawn, and no one in black appeared. The reason for this was in a little notice tacked on the gate. It was the actress' last wish which she had penned on the fly leaf of one of her favorite volumes, the "Imitation of Christ" by Thomas A. Kemis. It read:

"No funeral gloom, my dears, when I am gone.
Corpse—gazings, tears, black raiment, graveyard grimness.
Think of me as withdrawn into the dimness,
Yours still, you mine.
Remember all the best of past moments and forget the rest,
And so to where I wait, come gently on."

Below was written:

"I wish my children, relatives and friends to observe this when I die."

CARRY OUT WISH

Those to whom she addressed this wish were carrying out her desires.

The noted actress, who was 80 years of age, died Saturday morning after a hopeless struggle against a combination of heart attack and cerebral hemorrhage.

Throughout the day messages of sympathy poured into Small Hythe from all parts of the world.

Until Tuesday her body will lie in state in her home. Then members of her family and the villagers will follow her along the winding country road to the little village church where the funeral will be held. The body will be cremated in London and then if suggestions now being made are followed, her ashes find a last resting place near those of Garrick and other famous stage folk in St. Paul's church in Covent Garden.

Dr. Borden for Mines Portfolio

It would be pleasing to the people of Kootenay and Boundary, where the mining industry is of such utmost importance, for Dr. L. E. Borden, the member for Nelson, to be selected as minister of mines in the Conservative cabinet.

From 1916 until his death last year, Hon. William Sloan, member for Nanaimo, was minister of mines, and a very excellent one. He was devoted to the interests of the industry and lost no opportunity to assist in its development. It would now seem to be the turn of the interior with its huge mineral production, to secure the mines portfolio.

Dr. Borden has excellent general qualifications for this department, and, in addition, has considerable direct knowledge of mining. He has been intimately associated with mining ever since he came to British Columbia. He has been interested in the development of claims from the grassroots as well as in investment in British Columbia mining companies, of several of which he is a director.

His experience in the ownership of claims and in their early development has given him an exceptional knowledge of the problems and the difficulties of the prospector, and if Dr. Tolmie chooses the Nelson member as minister he will have in charge of the mines department a man intensely sympathetic toward mining in both the initial and the more advanced stages.

Not Such an Easy Job to Select a Cabinet

In selecting his cabinet, Hon. S. F. Tolmie has a task that in some respects is easy and in others very difficult.

The new premier is fortunate in that he has plenty of good material from which to choose members for the various portfolios. The recent election was notable on both sides for the large number of men of more than average ability who ran as candidates.

On the other hand, with so much excellent material from which to select his colleagues in the new cabinet, Dr. Tolmie has not the easy job which he might have if among his followers were only five or six of cabinet calibre.

There are several considerations in forming a cabinet. First of all, is ability for the job; then, among others is the territorial consideration—it is desirable that cabinet ministers as far as practicable should be representative of the various parts of the province.

The New Absentee Vote Plan

When the final official count is concluded we will have a pretty good idea of the success or otherwise of the new absentee voting provisions.

Some obvious objections have arisen. The new method is inclined to be cumbersome and slow. Electors pile up at the absentee booths in the larger centers awaiting an opportunity to vote. This difficulty can easily be overcome by establishing more adequate booths in the more populous centers.

In many cases it will be found that persons have voted who had no right to do so, though they have done so without wrong intent.

A man comes into the Nelson absentee polling place. He resides in Vancouver. He says he thinks he is on the Vancouver list, or it may be the Richmond-Point Grey list, or perhaps it is North Vancouver. He isn't quite sure, though he knows he is on the list because he voted last time. "Last time" may have been a Dominion election, and he may not be on the provincial list at all. But he is quite sure that he is on the list and he finally concludes that it must be the Vancouver list. He gets a ballot, makes the declaration in all good faith, and votes. When the ballot comes to be checked up at the final count, it is found that he is not on the Vancouver list and his vote is thrown out.

No real damage is done, though the difference between the absentee voting figures given out on election night and those at the final count may be pretty great and give rise to public suspicion. This is an objection of some weight, as although no serious damage is done by the casting of a vote which may not be counted, it is not a good thing to have any atmosphere of suspicion regarding the conditions surrounding the exercise of the franchise. If any instances of apparent deliberate attempt at fraudulent voting should develop this weak feature of absentee voting would be accentuated. So far, however, there is no evidence of any attempted fraud.

Under the old absentee voting system there was so much room for fraud and so much actual fraud occurred that abolition of absentee voting entirely seemed to be the only sound course. The new system has not yet been shown to open the door to corrupt practices and cannot yet be attacked on that ground.

Many favor the Dominion plan of an advanced poll, but it does not quite fill the bill. It is perfectly true that in the average election no important difference in results would occur if no absentee voting were permitted. There might be the odd case of the absentee vote changing a seat, but it would be very rare. That it could change the complexion of a legislature is only an extreme possibility.

It must not be forgotten, nevertheless, that absentee voting if it can be successfully worked out, does get away from one very wrong and corrupt practice—that of paying the expenses of voters from outside points. Nelson has had experience of what this means in byelections and without some form of absentee voting the same thing would occur in general elections. When polling day approaches the parties find that many of their supporters are away. They get in touch with them and bring them in from all over the province and even from other parts of Canada and the United States. They pay the fares of the voters and often pay them wages for the time occupied in traveling to and from the place where the election is held. To do so is illegal and corrupt, but all parties have done it in the past, Liberals, Conservatives, Labor and Independents having been guilty. The only real limit has been the amount of funds at the disposal of the parties desiring to bring in voters.

Such a condition was bad for public morals, but it would exist in any election in which absentee voters could only cast their ballots by being brought a distance to do so.

Advance polls obviously would not solve the problem, as they would not apply to the voter who has permanently left the place in which he is registered, or, in fact, to any but a few classes of people, such as railroad and steamboat men, and commercial travelers.

It will be interesting to see if dangerous weaknesses in the new absentee voting plan develop at the official count.

That Body of Yours

Schools That Teach Us How to Live

Some idea of how far away we as a people have departed from normal standards was shown by the war, perhaps a little larger percentage in the United States, and in Canada just a little higher than either.

These were certainly poor records for enlightened countries.

To correct these conditions these new schools of hygiene or departments of hygiene, take up the simple every day factors that maintain life.

What are these factors?

Proper ventilation of homes, school rooms, offices, and factories. A course showing how good ventilation makes for good health and efficiency in work and the opposite effects by poor ventilation.

When our medical graduates of five years or more ago see that Harvard, John Hopkins, and University of Toronto, have large buildings equipped for the study and teaching of hygiene, and remember that their course in hygiene was a matter of ten to thirty hours in all, they can get some idea of what the new trend in medicine really is. It is in the line of preventive medicine rather than the cure of disease.

Instead of starting off with an enumeration of the causes of death, it, as Dr. C. H. Best tells us, gives instruction in the methods of maintaining health and a study of the factors that interfere with these methods, and thus spread disease.

Proper lighting in homes, factory, school and office, and its good effect upon eyesight and the nervous system generally. The benefit of the sunshine by means of the ultra violet rays. The securing of these rays by quartz mercury lamps.

Then the effects of proper and improper breathing, how food is transformed into flesh by means of the blood, the proper kinds and amount of food necessary to maintain health.

The effect of exercise on every part of the body. Man was meant to exercise, to work. He was given huge digestive organs to transform food into blood to nourish the huge muscles that cover the entire body.

What causes fatigue in the body? It is poisonous waste and is due to waste from muscles and brain cells that are working hard, in poisons from infection or waste matter of intestine.

In other words these departments will try to teach the medical student how to instruct his patients to live normally thus avoiding ailments and preventing early death.

IT'S ALL OVER NOW
By Rose Wright

(With appologies to Robt. Anderson)
Now that the whole thing's over
Now that the contest's o'er,
Now that some are rejoicing,
Now that so many feel sore,
Give us a rest for a little,
After the mental strain;
And let 'er go-Galligher, Tolmie,
Give us a rest MacLean.

Now that the ballots are counted,
Now that the man is in,
Now that the race is ended,
And only the one could win—
Let us have peace from the turmoil,
Once more be settled and sane;
Let'er go-Galligher, Borden,
Give us a rest MacLean.

Sing us no more of elections,
Trouble our heads no more,
Now that some are rejoicing,
Now that so many feel sore,
Give us a change of subject,
Don't build the bridge again;
Let'er go-Galligher Borden,
Give us a rest MacLean.

"Hungarian Goulash (Contributed by a reader friend). Have the butcher cut two and one-half pounds of beef in small pieces. Lay these in cold water for ten minutes. Put one heaping tablespoon of butter in a saucepan, slice two large peeled onions into this fat and brown them slightly, adding one teaspoon of salt. Also add one-half teaspoon of Hungarian paprika. Then, when a rich brown, add the drained pieces of uncooked meat (without water)and watch closely as it cooks. When dry, add a little boiling water—about one quart. Stir every 15 minutes till the meat is tender. Serve with Egg Dumplings made by folding three tablespoons of flour into one egg white stiffly beaten (if necessary add a very little cold water). Cut this mixtxure in small pieces and drop in hot water."

Sour Cream Salad Dressing: Beat two eggs. To them add one tablespoon of flour, two tablespoons of granulated sugar, one teaspoon of salt, one-fourth teaspoon of paprika, one-fourth teaspoon of celery salt, one teaspoon of mustard, one-third cup of vinegar, and two tablespoons of butter. Mix these ingredients thoroughly, then cook them in the top of a double boiler till thick. Now add the sour cream and cook one minute more. Remove from range and beat for two minutes. Cool and serve over any vegetable leftovers on lettuce. This is a splendid recipe to have on hand during the hot days of summer when cream too often sours!! ! For although you may not need this dressing at once on your table, you will find that it keeps well in the ice chest for several days.

Pineapple Pudding—One tablespoon of granulated gelatine soaked in one-half cup of water for ten minutes. Now fill the cup with boiling water and add this to one and one-half cups of grated or crushed pineapple (fresh or canned) and one-half cup of sugar. Heat the mixture to the boiling point, then cool and when it begins to thicken (that is, when it begins to cling to the edges of the bowl holding it) fold in two stiffly beaten egg whites, turn all into a wet mold, and set aside to become firm. Serve with whipped cream.

Suggests Southern Auto Route by Way Windermere, Lardeau

Editor of The Daily News:

Dear Sir, I think Nelson will get a much better chance now, as Dr. Sutherland will not have charge of the roads. He looked upon Revelstoke as the sun, and on Nelson as one of the minor luminaries revolving around it. With him, Revelstoke was first in all things.

According to the C. P. R. figures, it is 93 miles from Windermere to Colvalli ,and 167 miles from Colvalli, through Yahk, to Nelson, that is, it is 260 miles from Windermere to Nelson by way of Yahk.

It is 70 miles from Windermere to Lardeau, and 73 miles from Lardeau to Nelson by way of Kaslo, that is, it is 143 miles from Windermere to Nelson by way of Lardeau. 260 minus 143 equals 117, so it is 117 miles nearer by way of Lardeau. People could go from Nelson to Banff in a day by Lardeau, the distance being 247 miles. 25 miles an hour for ten hours would take one there. The State of Washington offered to build a highway of the second class from Republic to Wilbur, but they fought for a highway of the first class and got it. They expect to have it completed by the end of this year. The lady I told you about is a native of British Columbia, and had never seen an Ontario car until she saw them this year on the Sunset Highway between Spokane and the Blewett Pass. She saw a good number of Ontario cars, but didn't count them. She counted the Alberta cars, and fifty passed the car she was in.

I do not need Earl Grey's letter or the map out of my Automobile Blue Book at the present time, as I am not going anywhere. I don't want to lose the map, however. There is a receptacle in the Automobile Blue Book for the map, and one can take it out and spread it on a table. One cannot get the full benefit of the book without the map, but I am not going for any automobile trip this summer.

Nelson will get some benefit from the road north of Kuskanook, but it will be small compared with the benefit that would come from a road through Kaslo to Windermere. The people of Ontario and the prairies always go to Calgary because they want to see Banff and Lake Louise. Very few, scarcely any, in fact, come by the Crow's Nest Road. They all go from Lethbridge or Macleod to Calgary. They come by the Banff-Windermere road to Windermere, then south and west to Yahk, then by Kingsgate down to Spokane and west by the Sunset highway to the Blewett Pass. You can secure them only by the construction of the road from Windermere to Argenta and Lardeau.

I read the instructions given to Ontario people this year, who wished to go to Vancouver. They were told to go by Yahk, Kingsgate, Spokane, and the Blewett Pass.

Yours truly, John Simpson.

Boston Undernourished Children to Camp Out

BOSTON, Mass., July 20.—During the school year the city of Boston cares for 300 school children whose families have insufficient funds to furnish them with sufficient nourishing foods. These children are daily given orange juice, cod liver oil and other potions rich in vitamines and calories.

With the approach of the vacation period some apprehension was felt for the welfare of these childen, as no funds had been provided for carrying out the work. The Salvation Army, however, has voluntarily accepted the responsibility for these under-privileged children and will feed and house them at the Army's summer camp on Lake Massapoag, Sharon, Mass.

NEW SPECIES OF CORN BORER ACTIVE IN EAST

SHIPPENSBURG, Pa., July 20.—A new type of corn borer, believed to be as dangerous as the one now being fought by both the state and federal government, has been found in this territory by several farmers, after they discovered that their corn crops were being destroyed.

The worm is similar in many respects to that of the well-known European corn borer, but larger in size. Instead of eating through the heart of the corn stalk, as the corn borer, it cuts the stalks under the ground, causing them to break off and die.

State officials have been notified and specimens have been sent to Washington. Officials claim that they do not know the name of the new worm. The worms have been reported in two sections of Cumberland and Franklin counties.

Canada has three transcontinential railways.

Cranberry Growers Plan to Cultivate Blueberries Also

PLYMOUTH, Mass., July 19.—Cape Cod cranberry growers have adopted a plan, which, if successful, may multiply their profits. They are planting blueberries on the waste land surrounding their cranberry bogs. It is claimed blueberry bushes given special attention reward the husbandman with berries of much larger size and finer quality. As the blueberry and cranberry seasons do not conflict there will be no labor problem.

Two Millionaires to an Acre Is Chicago Rule

CHICAGO, Ills., July 20.—The burning question of how many millionaires should be permitted to an acre of Lake Forest's aristocratic terrain has been settled by the suburb's council. The answer is two and a fraction; but because of a widespread antipathy to the division of millionaires into fractions, an even two is approximate enough.

The council has voted to require persons building homes in 13,000 square acres of restricted territory to have a lot no smaller than 20,000 square feet, or about half an acre. The more plebian purses may provide homes on lots containing 7500 square feet. For those who find even this too much territory, there are flats in store buildings and elsewhere.

The council action was a victory for B. F. Affleck, president of the Chicago Union League club, who had protested against Van Wegenen Alling's plan to build three homes to the acre across the street from the Affleck estate.

Mr. Affleck said he had no objection to people living on lots of 7500 square feet, so long as they did it somewhere else.

LOCAL GIRL GUIDE COMPANIES LEAVE FOR ANNUAL CAMP

Advance Party Already at Kaslo; Balance Leaves This Afternoon

An advance party of 10 girls left Saturday and another party of about 36 is to leave today to attend the annual camp of the three Nelson girl guide companies at Kaslo, to be held until Saturday, August 4. The advance party was in charge of Miss Mary Morgan and Mrs. E. F. Jarvis, and today's party will be in charge of Miss Thompsan, Mrs. W. C. P. Heathcote and Mrs. E. Norman.

The camp is made up of members of the First Nelson Church of Redeemer company, the Second Nelson I. O. D. E. company, and the Third Nelson, Church of Mary Immaculate company.

While at camp the girls will be instructed in girl guide work, and will take examinations. On visitors day, next Saturday, the companies will put on a demonstration of their work.

Leghorns Bred Creston to Be Sent to Japan

CRESTON, B.C., July 22.—Donald Bradley has been advised that his contribution of about 50 White Leghorns has been accepted for inclusion in an order for poultry placed by the Japanese government, to be filled by the R.O.P. Poultry Association of British Columbia, which divided the business among the association members willing to submit birds for the rigid examinations established before fowl was accepted.

Mr. Bradley is one of few interior fanciers who shipped birds to help fill this order. He was an exhibitor of Leghorns at the International Poultry show at Ottawa last year.

CUSTOMS STATION SOUTH CRESTON IS MADE LARGER

With New Scenic Highway Link Is Expected to Increase Business

CRESTON, B.C., July 22.—In anticipation of a greatly increased tourist business, the customs office at Rykerts, on the Idaho boundary south of Creston, has been almost doubled in size and the entrance made more convenient for both officials and traveling public. The new building is about 20 by 30 feet, and is modernly equipped throughout.

Work of completing the new north and south scenic highway link between Rykerts and Creston is being rushed and by the end of the month will be fully opened for traffic.

According to Customs Officer Charles Davis about 5000 cars entered and left Canada by the old roundabout route in 1927. He predicts, when it is fully known that the new highway is open that 10,000 cars may be looked for next year. While the new highway is sure to be well patronized for the balance of the season, it will not be completed until 1928, when the new easy grade entrance into Creston will be constructed via Fifth street.

TRUTH IS SUBJECT OF SCIENCE SERMON

Truth Will Become Still Clearer as Error Is Self-destroyed

Subject of the lesson-sermon in all Christian Science churches on Sunday was "Truth."

Among the Bible texts was the following from Nahum, 1:7, "The Lord is good, a stronghold in the day of trouble; and he knoweth them that trust in him."

The lesson-sermon also included the following passage: "The confidence inspired by science lies in the fact that truth is real and error is unreal. Error is a coward before truth. Divine science insists that time will prove all this. Both truth and error have come nearer than ever before to the apprehension of mortals, and truth will become still clearer as error is self destroyed."

Horne Instrumental in Installations of Wire Loop, Appledale

APPLEDALE, B.C., July 22.—H. H. Horne was instrumental in having the C.P.R. install a telegraphic loop to the Appledale hall to receive returns of the election, dancing being enjoyed between announcements, which were made by G. Honeysett.

Miss Margaret Meyers, a talented young artist of whom Appledale is justly proud, played the piano and was ably assisted by Mrs. Winters and Miss Swanson of Winlaw. S. P. Peters accompanied them on the volin.

About 100 people from valley points partook of the lunch provided by the ladies. At the supper hour Mrs. G. Crawford of Trail sang "My Ain Wee Hoos."

The wire will be retained in the hall until after the big Tunney-Heeny fight on Thursday, when Mr. Horne will again receive the returns.

CLARK IS YMIR TRUSTEE; MRS. CURWEN IS AUDITOR

YMIR, B.C., July 22.—At the Ymir district school meeting on Saturday W. Clark was elected trustee in place of C. Anderson, who retired. Mrs. S. A. Curwen was named auditor.

HOME NURSING CHAMPIONSHIP NELSON AGAIN

Redeemer Guides Again Win Dominion Title; Mrs. Shardelow Instructor

Junior home nursing championship of Canada has been brought to Nelson for the second successive year by a team of No. 1 company, Church of the Redeemer Girl Guides, according to advice received here last night.

The achievement is regarded as extraordinary by headquarters officials because the team winning the Murray-McLaren trophy, emblematic of the championship, was not composed of members of last year's title winning team, but of new girls. Much of the credit for the splendid showing is being given to Mrs. E. J. Shardelow, who instructed both championship teams.

Nelson's champions were Kathleen Keeler, Fern Morris, Sadie Smith and Louise Milburn, with Beth Dinney as patient.

Primary examinations were by Dr. L. E. Borden. Col. Charles Hodgetts of Ottawa conducted the competition under the auspices of St. John's Ambulance association.

CHAPTER XXXII.

ROMANCE IN SOMEONE ELSE

Round about 2 a.m., Mr. Briscoe, who was really very charming, so she thought, insisted that he take her over to a 'breakfast club' not far away—a place beloved of artists, writers and musicians and indeed the very cream of the Bohemian set.

The pair walked through the sweet spring night, toward Greenwich village, up slumberous back streets, till—in a yard that was full of motor cars and looked like a garage—they found a small door set in a wooden wall.

They went up a flight of steps to what appeared to be a hayloft. It smelled strongly of the stables below.

Rosilyn left her cloak and climbed still higher, up narrow, twisty wooden stairs.

A babel of sound greeted her. There was the syncopated music of the very latest thing in 'rags', hammered out on a piano, there was a great hum of talk, the clink of cups and plates and dishes.

And, above it all, there was the enticing smell of kippers, eggs and bacon frying!

A crowd was congregated in this famous breakfast-club—an interesting cosmopolitan, rather worth-while set of people.

"Look! That's a famous surgeon, and the young man with him is a rising actor." Briscoe pointed out a pair he knew by sight. "Let's go up this next flight of stairs, and see if we can snaffle a little table on the balcony, so's we can see everything that's going on."

They got their table, and Rosilyn looked about her, much intrigued.

The room was toughly panelled in dark oak, with great oak beams that looked of ancient days. Over the tiny balcony's edge she could see that some of the company were dancing in the room below. Sounds of gay chatter and camaraderie rose above the music, almost drowning it.

"Those slim, pale girls with the red lips and white faces are famous mannequins," Briscoe informed her. "And that pasty-looking fellow with them is Garstein, the sculptor. The girls are from Drusille's, on Fifth avenue. You must have seen their pictures in the illustrated papers, scores of times."

There was something homelike in the architecture of the place—or perhaps in its very unpretentiousness—that reminded Rosylin of the marshland inn.

A sofe breeze fanned her cheeks, coming from a lattice window that opened directly on the yard below. It was cooler here than in the other clubs.

One or two men strolled up and spoke to Briscoe. He presented them to Rosilyn.

There was talk of art and music. Someone had staged a new play that was to be a "winner." Rosilyn must come and see it.

She was drawn into the magic thread of conversation. Even though she realized here ignorance of art and letters to be abysmal, she felt more at her ease here than in the more luxurious dance resorts they had visited earlier that night.

"I'm not their sort, but I'm useful to them," Briscoe whispered to her in a lull of talk.

She wondered what he meant, until later she heard that the brilliant new play was being backed by him. He rather fancied himself—at times—as a patron of the arts. And he had money!

A "coming" novelist joined them, discussing the eggs and bacon with extraordinary relish. Genius must be fed, and—following the eggs and bacon—the literary young man ordered kippers, and a second pot of tea.

He asked if he might call on Rosilyn. The girl wondered what the man would think of her if he knew that she was "on her honeymoon," and that her bridegroom was off playing escort to another woman, while she—the bride of but a week or two—was doing an itinerary of New York night life, with another man!

As a matter of fact, the sophisticated youth would not have turned a hair. In the world in which he lived nothing surprised him—never would.

The dancing ceased, and all the world appeared to breakfast. Through the lattice window Rosilyn could see a slender wisp of moon, high in a deep blue firmament.

On the floor below, a little foreign-looking man seated himself at the piano, and—in a melting baritone—sang sentimental airs.

The wine, the music, and the excitement of the past few hours had strung young Mrs. Landis Ridgeway to a pleasurably nervous tension.

"Listen! How beautiful!" she said, below her breath as strains came floating up to them.

It was a song of the plantations—"Old Kentucky Home."

Briscoe, very softly, joined in the refrain, his eyes on Rosylin.

"Then weep no more, my lady, oh! weep no more today . . ."

Her eyes met his.

"I mean it, beautiful girl!" he whispered, the song forming a running accompaniment to his spoken words. "If I had my wish, you'd never shed a tear again—and if you did, I'd wipe them all away—I'd kiss them all away——"

A strange glow came to her young heart. It was wrong of course, and playing with fire was dangerous, and Mr. Briscoe shouldn't say such things—and yet—after Landis' neglect, his humiliating truancy this evening, wasn't it wonderful to find that there was someone to which she wasn't just a dull, uneducated country girl, but a little bit "desirable", a little bit "worth while" . . . ?

It was half-past three when they reached her hotel and Rupert Briscoe, stooping low to press his lips against her hand, was whispering:

"Little lady of my dreams—Good-night!"

Tomorrow—Van Vorst Is Lonely.

MOUNTIFIELD WINS WESTERN CANADA TITLE

21-Year-Old Edmonton Champion Wins in Tourney, Beat Culver

PLAY SHOWS HIM STEADIEST PLAYER

His Sister Won Ladies Title on Friday; Morse Wins Amateur Title

EDMONTON, July 22.—The ambition of all rising golfers was realized by Jimmie Mountifield, 21-year-old holder of the Edmonton city championship, when he added the western Canada amateur golf title to his record by virtue of a clear-cut victory over E. Culvert, another local product, in the 36-hole final of the event here on Saturday. The match score was seven up and six to play.

Mountifield covered himself with glory in the tournament just concluded. Not only did he win the final match in convincing style, but to reach the championship brackets he was compelled to eliminate such experienced stars as Jack Cuthbert, 1927 champion, and Gordon McWilliams, provincial titleholder. His medal score up to the 12th holes of Saturday's match was around even par, which brands him as one of the steadiest players of the brilliant contingent which competed in the various events during the week.

THIRD TITLE

By his achievement, Mountifield brought the third championship title into the family possession. He now holds two crowns himself while his sister, May Mountifield, captured the western Canada ladies' title on Friday. The double victory constitutes history in the field of Canadian golf.

Culver, who has not yet reached his majority, played a courageous game in the face of the exacting pace set by his opponent. In the morning round he got off to a bad start but recovered smartly to finish the first 18 only two down.

It was in the second round of the gruelling test that Culver collapsed. He was constantly in trouble off the tee and while he approached in sparkling fashion, his putting was dismally weak.

Their cards follow:

Morning round—Mountifield, out 444 454 345—37, in 443 464 734—39—76.

Culver, out 545 543 445—39, in 544 434 653—38—77.

Afternoon round—Mountifield, out 544 453 435—37, in 43x.

Culver, out 655 363 445—41, inn 444x.

MORSE WINS AMATEUR

Phil Morse, of Saskatoon, added to the victory of youth by winning the Alberta amateur championship in the final against A. Brisco, Calgary, one up. The 19-year-old Saskatoon boy made the first hole in a steady par four while Brisco found the rough and had to be content with a six. For the next seven holes the two finalists played shot for shot, all being halved, but Morse falted momentarily at the ninth where Brisco squared the match. The former again forged into the lead at the 10th, where the Calgarian took an extra put for a five. The next three were halved, but Brisco once again evened matters by capitalizing his opponent's wildness off the tee to make the 14th. The 15th also went to Brisco who became one up for the first time in the match. A loosely played seven cost Brisco the advantage and Morse by taking the 18th became dormie. He halved the last hole to win the match and the championship.

The 1928 tournament proved disastrous for last year's holders of the various championships. In every division a new monarch was crowned, Jack Cuthbert of Winnipeg making the most determined stand in defense of his laurels, but he fell by the wayside under the persistent brilliance of Mountifield.

Following are the new titleholders:

Western Canada open—Tom McGrath, Moose Jaw, Sask.

Western Canada professional—Jimmy Rimmer, Jasper Park, Alta.

Western Canada amateur— Jimmy Mountifield, Edmonton.

Western Ladies' amateur—M. Mountifield, Edmonton.

Ladies' provincial—Mrs. W. E. Milner, Edmonton.

Alberta amateur—Phil. Morse, Saskatoon.

Western Canada junior—E. McFayden, Edmonton.

GRIEF FOR CULVER

The start of the afternoon round of the western Canada amateur produced a sequence of grief for Culver. He followed Mountifield off the first tee with a bad slice to the rough. His second was short and to add to his troubles he dropped his pitch into a trap. Mountifield was down in par five, stretching his lead to three holes. Culver appeared by the gallery on the next hole. He sliced his drive and it was several minutes before his ball was retrieved. He also lost this one by Mountifield slipping a long putt into the cup for a par four. The latter playing in championship galt took the 21st with another par against his opponent's five to become five up. At the next hole Culver raised the flickering hopes of his supporters by dropping a 20-footer into the cup for a birdie three, Mountifield again became five up as Culver crashed his drive from the 23rd tee into the wooods. He required a bad six while the imperturable Mountifield placed safely for a five. The following two holes were halved in par figures. At the 26th Mountifield went further into the lead. Both were well off the tee and were on with their seconds, Culver at the edge and Mountifield 10 feet from the pin. Culver was close with his approach putt, but Mountifield sank his for a birdie three and became six up. The 27th was a half in fives, this five making Mountifield one over par for a 37.

The 28th and 29th were halved in par fours and the match came to an end at the 30th when Mountifield, following a beautiful drive, put his long iron second within eight feet of the cup and rammed it home for a birdie three while Cluver needed four.

CANADIAN WINS IN AUTO RACES

GRAND FORKS, N.D., July 22.—For the second time in two years, Emory Collins, of Regina, Sask. Canadian dirt track champion, carried off the big end of the money in the automobile races which closed the state fair here.

WINNIPEG ROWERS RETAIN THE CUP

St. Paul Second and Minneapolis Third in Annual Regatta

WINNIPEG, July 22.—For the third year in succession Winnipeg Rowing club crews have proved themselves worthy holders of the Sir Thomas Lipton trophy, emblematic of the championship of the Northwestern Rowing association.

Winnipeg won the trophy in 1927, the Winnipeg rowers repeated their triumph on Saturday, sweeping to victory in several of the major events, to amass a total of 190.75 points, which gave them a lead of 93 points over St. Paul, their nearest rivals.

They were first to cross the line in the senior eights and doubles, the bantam fours and were second in the junior doubles.

As on Friday, the first day of the regatta, St. Paul oarsmen, members of the Minnesota Rowing club, provided the competition for the locals, the Minnesotans capturing the junior doubles and placing second in the senior eights.

In the aggregate standing, which counted for possession of the Lipton trophy, Minneapolis was third, Kenora fourth and Regina fifth.

The total point score, which includes Friday's and Saturday's events, follow:

Winnipeg 190.75, St. Paul 97.5, Minneapolis 22, Kenora 21, Regina 13.

With few exceptions, decisive victories were the rule Saturday afternoon, many lengths separating the winning crews and second place men at the finish line but the last event, the senior eights, with only St. Paul and Winnipeg entered, proved the most thrilling of the program. Winnipeg won, but only after hard rowing.

In the junior fours, Billy Hornby and his crew of locals set a first pace from the line and were never in danger, but enora and Regina staged a spectacular row for second honors, the westerners getting the position after a brilliant see-saw race, Syd. Stevens, the Regina stroke, was faultless. Regina did not fare so well in the bantam fours, but made a creditable attempt to gain victory after adverse weather conditions had delayed the start. Winnipeg gained an easy win over Kenora, while the second local crew, stroked by Roland Dant was third.

Revised Schedule for Second Half League Approved by Four Teams

Schedule for the second half of the second series Trafalgar Independent Baseball league, revised at the request of the Married Men and the Cardinals and with the permission of Boyd C. Affleck, president of the league, has been approved by all four teams in the league. The new schedule does not card any games for the Married Men on Mondays, nor for the Cardinals on Fridays, as these teams found it inconvenient to field teams on these days.

Otherwise the schedule is the same, listing three games a week—Mondays, Wednesdays and Fridays, and including a total of 12 games in all, or six games for each team.

The second half of the schedule, with the home team mentioned last, is:

July 23.—Senators vs. Live Wires.
July 25.—Cardinals vs. Married Men.
July 27.—Married Men vs. Live Wires.
July 30.—Senators vs. Cardinals.
Aug. 1.—Live Wires vs. Cardinals.
Aug. 3.—Married Men vs. Senators.
Aug. 6.—Live Wires vs. Senators.
Aug. 8.—Married Men vs. Cardinals.
Aug. 10.—Live Wires vs. Married Men.
Aug. 13.—Cardinals vs. Senators.
Aug. 15.—Cardinals vs. Live Wires.
Aug. 17.—Senators vs. Married Men.

TORONTO, July 22.—Montreal Canadian Nationals, champions of Quebec, by defeating Ulster United, Ontario champions, Saturday, 2 goals to 0 and winning the Connaught playoff by two goals to one, well earned the right to carry the eastern banner into the playoff with New Ontario at Fort William next week, the next stepping stone to the Dominion final at Winnipeg. Nationals showed up as the better team in every way.

'Deal Off' but Jack Enjoyed the Reception

By AL DEMAREE

(Former Pitcher New York Giants)

Baseball has its own peculiar styles of humor. McGraw once fined me five dollars for not backing up third base, after pitching a winning game.

Fred Clark fined Hans Wagner for hitting a home run and not bunting as he had ordered.

"Jack Hendricks, the Cincinnati manager" says Sam Murbarger, "is not only an able leader, but a cruel humorst." I know! Some years ago, when he had the Fort Wayne club, I was his secretary and trainer, and when Jack came to Indianapolis, with $180,000 in his jeans, with the intention of buying the Indianapolis club, I naturally gave him a glad welcome. The fans were overjoyed to know it and headed by yours truly, turned out to meet him.

At noon it was announced that the deal was all assured, and Jack appointed me secretary for 1914 at a royal salary. In the evening I gave Jack and many friends a wine supper; there were speeches, songs, rose-colored prophecies for next season. Then we al lescorted Hendricks to the train, with a brass band and banners, hurriedly improvised, bearing the legend, 'Oour Leader—Jack Hendricks—Champions, 1914.' At the depot there were more speeches and all Indianapolis, especially the new secretary, wrung the hand of the Moses who was to lead ous out of the desert of defeat. Some evening!

And just as the train pulled out, Hendricks leaned out from the rear rail of the last car, and remarked: "I forgot to tell you, Sam, but the deal is off!"

HARLOW WILL NOT TAKE PART IN THE TRAIL TOURNAMENT

R. E. Kirby Says Boxing Tournament Can Not Be For Championship

"Larry Gaines of Toronto, colored, is recognized by the national boxing commission as heavyweight champion boxer of Canada, and we will not be a party to any elimination tournament in Trail pretending to be to decide a heavyweight champion of Canada," stated R. E. Kirby, Nelson boxing promoter and manager of George Harlow, Nelson heavyweight, yesterday. "George will take on anybody after Labor day, in Trail or Nelson, providing there is enough money in it," Mr. Kirby said. "But we will not help to try to fool the public into believing the winner would be champion of the Dominion."

Mr. Kirby's statement was made in answer to negotiations of W. Burnip, boxing and wrestling promoter of Trail, and Barney Doran, once light-heavyweight champion of Canada, to stage an elimination tournament in Trail, the winner to be the heavyweight champion of Canada and to receive a championship belt put up by Mr. Doran. Mr. Burnip hoped to have Harlow take part.

SENATORS AND THE LIVE WIRES CLASH

Play First Game of Second Half Trafalgar Baseball Series Today

Live Wires, first series champs, are due to clash this afternoon with the Senators, second series leaders, in the first game of the second half, second series, Trafalgar baseball league, at the Trafalgar grounds. The game is called for 6:15 with Boyd C. Affleck as umpire. Live Wires will be the home team.

The two teams met twice in the first half of the second series, the Senators taking the first by an 8-7 score and the second by a 14-5 score.

Three Players Turn Out to Work On Trafalgar Grounds Over Week-End

"I was much disappointed with the turnout, but I know that more would have been out if they could possibly have made it," said City Engineer Boyd C. Affleck, president of the Trafalgar Baseball league Saturday, when only three players turned out to get the Trafalgar grounds in shape for the opening of the second half of the schedule today. The three players, two Senators and a Cardinal, under Mr. Affleck, moved the backstop several feet back and straightened it out.

There is a drop now behind the catcher's box, but those working decided to leave it. Work will begin this week on the removal of the hill on the Robson street end of the grounds. It is planned to have the men dump the first few loads of dirt behind the catcher's plate.

ASKS FOR BATTLE WITH HARLOW IN NELSON, OCTOBER

Manager of Frank Sawyer of Vancouver Writes to R. E. Kirby

"I have a good little heavyweight in Frank Sawyer, 180 pounds, and I would like to arrange for a battle with George Harlow in Nelson in October or November," said a letter to R. E. Kirby, manager of George Harlow, Nelson heavyweight, from Dan A. McMillan of Vancouver, former wrestling champion of the world.

Mr. Kirby stated that if Sawyer looked like a drawing card, that was, a good boxer who could stand up against George, and satisfactory arrangements could be made, the battle would take place.

Mr. McMillan is comparatively well known in Nelson as a clean promoter and follower of boxing and wrestling. He said that Sawyer was a good boxer with a little less experience than George. Sawyer earned a draw in Vancouver about four months ago.

Grand Manitoulin, in Lake Huron, was regarded as the home of departed spirits by the North American Indians.

HARLOW MAY BOX LETHBRIDGE BOY HERE LABOR DAY

Lew Kesler, Claimant of Light Heavy Title of Canada, Wants Bout

If satisfactory terms can be arranged, George Harlow, Nelson heavyweight boxer, will battle Lew Kesler, claimed to be the light-heavyweight champion of Canada, in a Nelson ring on Labor day, September 3, R. E. Kirby, manager of the local boxer, announced last night.

A request for the match has been received by Mr. Kirby from Jimmie Bennie, physical instructor of the Lethbridge Miners' club and once manager of Jimmie Burrel, now manager of Kesler.

Kesler is reported to be a "crackerjack" and a heavy hitter. He has a good record of wins and is a clean, aggressive boxer.

Harlow, although boxing in the heavyweight class, has been very little over the light-heavyweight limit and could easily come down if necessary, it is thought.

VANCOUVER STARS IN ACTION, TORONTO

Canadian Lawn Tennis Championships Get Off at Good Start

TORONTO, July 22.—The 35th annual Canadian Lawn Tennis championship got off to a good start on Saturday afternoon with the largest and most impressive entry that has ever featured a tennis event in the Dominion. Every province is represented.

Although out of town players were not called upon to appear until Monday, three prominent Vancouver players were seen in action— Gordon Shields, ranked number one in B. C., T. O. Ryall of Vancouver and Miss Marjorie Leeming, B. C.'s leading lady player. All won their first rounds in easy fashion.

At the end of the afternoon an exhibition doubles match drew the crowd and produced a fine brand of tennis. Ryall and Shields of Vancouver paired together against Dr. Ham, Toronto Davis cup player, and Walter Martin, Saskatoon champion, now resident in Toronto. The match went to three closely contested sets, the Toronto boys winning by 6-4, 4-6, 6-3.

Players from outside points arrived in the city over the week-end and seven matches are scheduled to take place tomorrow in the men's and women's singles and doubles.

The first games are called for noon and four out of town players are on the draw, J. McCaughan and L. Carter of Edmonton, Gordon Pirt, of Winnipeg and Marcel Rainville, of Montreal.

Results of Saturday's matches which out of town players took part in were as follows:

Men's singles—T. O. Ryall, Vancouver, defeated R. Wix, Toronto, 6-3, 6-3. Gordon Shields, Vancouver, defeated G. D. Brown, Toronto, 6-2, 6-2.

Ladies' singles—Miss M. Leeming defeated Mrs. D. M. Garrett, Toronto, 6-1, 6-4.

HARLOW TO START ACTUAL TRAINING DARR BOUT TODAY

Local Heavyweight Will Work Out at Legion Daily; Bout August 18

With less than a month till his return bout with Orville Darr of Spokane, George Harlow, Nelson heavyweight, will go into regular training today at the Canadian Legion. He will work out daily at about 3 o'clock until a few days before the battle on August 18. He has been working out lightly for a week.

Harlow and Darr went through 10 rounds to a draw here on May 30, although many thought George should have been awarded the decision. Darr's clean style is thought by many to have had much to do with the decision. His aggressive style and his ability to take punishment without going under won many supporters for the Spokane boxer, and as a result speculation is rife as to who will be the victor this time.

Many believe that Harlow will finish Darr in six rounds, but they are finding many fans who are willing to dispute their judgment. Others are backing George to win in the first round, as has been his style in two of his battles. In another he finished his opponent at the beginning of the second. Darr is the only boxer of four that stayed with George more than the two rounds.

NELSON BALL CLUB ASKS 'SQUARE DEAL' IN WEST KOOTENAY

Asks for Series of Eight Home and Home Games for Each Team in Loop

Claiming that lack of consideration by the Rossland and Trail clubs for the Nelson club when preparing the schedule of the West Kootenay Class A Baseball league killed, or at least, lessened the enthusiasm of the Nelson boys, members of the team said last night that things did not look very bright for a Nelson entry in the league this year.

The boys claimed they were willing to go ahead with a league schedule properly drawn up, giving each team the same number of home games. They suggested the schedule should include eight games for each team, four of them away from home and four of them home.

Although the president, Dr. L. E. Borden, lives in Nelson, and the annual meeting of the league was to have been held here this year, Rossland and Trail clubs met some time ago in Rossland, reelected last year's officers and drew up a schedule of games. Nelson was not represented at the meeting, not having been notified, but the schedule and minutes were forwarded for approval.

NELSON CREWS TO PARTICIPATE IN KELOWNA REGATTA

Nelson Rowing Club to Send a Crew of Four, Possibly Double

A crew of four and possibly a double from the Nelson Rowing club will travel to Kelowna to take part in the annual regatta there on August 10, it has been announced. Crews from Victoria and Vancouver are also expected to take part in the races, which will be the main feature of a big program of water sports.

The Kelowna authorities are to pay the expenses of the four, but the Nelson club also wishes to send a double, the expenses of which it must pay itself. The club hopes to be able to raise the money before the date of the regatta.

Sussex vs Northamptonshire; Sussex 313 for seven wickets.

Gloucester 284; Glamorgan 51 for one wicket.

Worcester 77; Leicester 399 for five wickets.

MANCHESTER, Eng., July 22.—Devastating bowling by A. P. Freeman, the midget Kent Trundler, player havoc with the batting of the West Indies team in their second cricket test match against England which began here Saturday. The tourists first innings total reached only 206. England had an hour of batting before the close of play and with Hobbs and Sutcliffe, the old reliable firm of test match openers, again together after the absence of the former form the first test through injury, 83 for the loss of no wickets, showed on the score board when stumps were drawn.

Freeman accounted for five West Indies wickets, and his average for four of them read: Overs 11.4, maidens six, runs two; wickets four.

The match began in bright sunny weather on a hard fast pitch. During the afternoon ,however, the sky became overcast and visibility poorer. Twelve thousand saw the day's play. The English fielding was sloppy before lunch but after the adjournment a complete change came over the character of the game and three valuable West Indies wickets fell in 40 minutes.

TROUBLES FORGOTTEN WHEN BISHOPS DINED

LONDON, July 22.—Bishops forgot, for a while at least, their perplexities over the Prayer Book when they dined with the Lord Mayor at the Mansion House the other night. For many years it has been the custom of the Lord Mayor of London once a year to entertain the Episcopal Bench. Laughter played around the features of the Reverend fathers, more especially when His Grace of Canterbury delivered a very happy and witty speech. Even the music served with the meats was of a light and happy character. There were Gilbert and Sullivan excerpts—and even selections from old-time music hall songs. Somebody suggested that the music ought to have been Gregorian.

The Archbishop of York said the first letter he had opened that morning contained this very searching question: "Are you and your brother Davidson servants of the Devil?" The writer, added the Archbishop, left no sort of doubt as to his own opinion.

"One of the great difficulties of bishops of today," said the Archbishop of Canterbury, "is the ceaseless demand for utterances of some kind absolutely unlike what our predecessors in office were accustomed to when three or four times a year a dignified utterance was put forward in solemn tones and was duly reported in a quite respectable way.

"I sometimes wonder whether the modern form of the newspaper sheet is accountable for it. Nowadays the greater part of our newspapers, is full of stirring pictures, brilliant motor-cars, wonderful dresses from Paris, illustrating to the full all the furs and furbelows of the day—and sometimes even more intimate details than that. Between the interstices of those pictures the reporter has to find room somehow to put in what this man or that has said. No wonder that we are made on occasian to say things which in print we fail to recognize as our own."

Continuing, the Archbishop said a man of his age received much advice of a contradictory nature. Some would have a man retire at 70 or before. Others would have him carry on until he had to be wheeled in a bath-chair along the Brighton front, to be pointed out by triumphant nurses as an old man in full possession of all his faculties.

DIES A HERO

Dr. Finn Malmgren, noted meteorologist with the Italia, with death facing, waved on his two companions who were walking on a relief expedition. "Go! Go! At the price of my life you'll save all," he cried as strength left. Captains Mariano and Zappi dug a grave in the ice for him. Their statements that he was left alive caused a storm of criticism in Russia.

Hen-Pecked Hubbies Lead Happy, Joyous, Much Longer, Lives

LONDON, July 22.—His investigations among a group of hen-pecked husbands were the theme of an address by Dr. C. W. Kimmins, formerly chief inspector of education for the London county council, to a women's conference at Leeds.

"I never knew such a group of happy, joyous creatures in my life," declared Dr. Kimmins. "I was glad to learn afterward that hen-pecked husbands live much longer than those who are not hen-pecked, because they live much more sheltered lives. The great majority of them are not hen-pecked, but hen-protected."

Palmerston Island is believed to be the San Pablo of Magellan—his first "landfall" in the pacific.

CORK-PROVINCE TO PRODUCE IN ANOTHER MONTH

Modernizing of Mill and Erection New Power Plant Done End of August

COMPANY SAWING ITS OWN LUMBER

Before End of Year Will Be One of Biggest Shippers of the Slocan

KASLO, B.C., July 22.—Work of converting the present mill on the Cork Province property at Zwicky into the most modern oil flotation process plant is proceeding satisfactorily, and the new $60,000 hydro-electric plant will be supplying power for operations by the end of August, according to a report submitted by W. H. Burgess, managing director, at the annual meeting of Cork Province Mines Limited here.

THIRTY EMPLOYED

About 30 men are now employed preparing the plant for operations and Mr. Burgess declared that Cork Province should enter production by September 1. When completed the mill will have a capacity of 150 tons daily and it is expected that before the end of the year Cork Province will be one of the largest shippers in the Slocan, the report states.

Immediately power is available from the new plant, extensive underground development work will be proceeded with. Mr. Burgess outlined the development work which is under way at the present time and spoke enthusiastically of the showings made. Arthur Lakes, M.E., of Nelson, consulting engineer for Cork Province has laid out an extensive program of development, which the management is strictly following.

Mr. Burgess stated that excellent progress was being made on the new $60,000 hydro-electric plant being installed by Bartholomew, Montgomery & Co. The big dam was finished before high water and the resevoir will impound sufficient water to ensure ample power for year-round operations.

The plant will provide 400 horsepower. The right-of-way is practically ready for laying of the pipe-line from the dam to the power-house, a mile and a half downstream. The new power will be available before the mill will require it.

OLD MILL DISMANTLED

Meanwhile, all machinery in the present mill has been dismantled and part of the new machinery has been delivered. Mill conversion is under the supervision of W. L. Ziegler technical mill expert for the Hecla Mining company, and designer of the new mills at the Whitewater and Lucky Jim.

A feature which is affecting an economy in construction and operations is the company's saw mill, which furnishes plain and dressed lumber and timbers at $14 a thousand.

The new directors appointed at the meeting were: H. Giegerich, president; W. O. Miller, vice-president; W. H. Burgess, managing director; and J. R. Court, F. C. Burton, Dr. L. E. Borden and George H. Aylard, directors.

STOCK MARKET IS REACTIONARY

Many Early Gains Are Wiped Out in Late Selling

NEW YORK, July 22.—The stock market turned reactionary Saturday after an early period of irregularity. Many early gains of 1 to 3 points were cut down or wiped out in the last selling movement, final quotations disclosing a long list of net declines ranging from 1 to 3½ points, and a few even larger. Trading was relatively dull in volume.

Fears of higher money rates later in the month were generally blamed for the lack of speculative interest in the market. Except in western centers, there has been little public participation in the market during the last week, the bulk of the trading being of the professional variety. Buying has been of an extremely selective character, and generally limited to stocks of companies reporting large current earnings or in which special developments are believed to be pending.

Trading in Saturday's market was unsettled by a break of more than 6 points in Freeport Texas, which dropped to a new low level for the year at 60¼.

Selling pressure also was quite effective against such recent leaders as Montgomery Ward, Union Carbide, American Linseed, General Motors, Hudson Motors and Radio, all off 1 to 3½ points.

Rubber shares, particularly Goodrich, received fresh buying support on expectations of a substantial improvement in earnings in the last half of the year. There were no changes of importance in the railroad group. Most of the leading rails declined fractionally.

SPYGLASS HAVING DEVELOPMENT DONE

Appearance of Old Property Good; Mining Milling Done Cheaply

SPOKANE, Wash., July 22.—The Spyglass group of 10 claims at the head of Poplar creek in the Lardeau district of British Columbia, is undergoing development again, according to R. G. McLeod, manager, at the Coeur d'Alene hotel.

Bought by Mr. McLeod 25 years ago for $35,000 from John Windquist, the locator, who retired to Sweden and lives in luxury, the group, regarded as one of the richest in silver of the district, became tied up through the death of several associates, including the late Bruce White, the purchaser related. Recently the Spyglass-McLeod Mining company was formed at Victoria, B.C., with a capitalization of $500,000 in $1 shares.

"For a month since the resumption, employees have lived in tents, pending completion of the cook and bunk houses," said Mr. McLeod a few days ago. "Work done recently on a large body of beautiful quartz in the bank of Poplar creek, 1000 feet below the tunnel, disclosed a vein width of 20 feet, which is greater than that above, and values in spots contain 34 ounces of silver to the ton, besides some gold and zinc, according to a test made by the government assayer.

"The ore can be mined and milled at a cost less than $5 a ton, which suggests large profits in a vein of this width. Low cost operation is insured by the power possible of development on Poplar creek.

"A few shots put in the upper tunnel recently revealed wonderfully rich ore that included slabs of pure ore and silver nuggets. Of the two tunnels, one is in 250 feet and the other 50 feet. The stoping of high-grade ore and its shipment to the Trail smelter will be started soon. For the present, ore will be packed down the mountain. The appearance of the property is extremely good."

TUNNEL BENEATH RIVER CONNECT CANADA, STATES

Vehicular Traffic Tunnel Being Built Between Detroit and Windsor

DETROIT, Mich., July 22.—A new link piercing the water boundary between Canada and the United States will soon be forged.

The first under water vehicular tunnel ever built to connect two nations is being laid beneath the Detroit river between Detroit and Windsor, Ont., and what is called the world's largest steel bridge—the Ambassador international bridge—is to join the border cities in their first shore-to-shore roadway.

Those two projects represent a $49,000,000 expression of faith in the good will between the countries.

Two other international bridges, one across the Detroit river and the other to span the St. Clair river between Port Huron, Mich., and Sarnia, Ont., await only final governmental approval. The cost of the two projects will approximate $9,000,000.

Giant dredges with seven-ton buckets have begun eating into the opposite shores of the Detroit river to prepare for the $23,000,000 vehicular tunnel, which will be financed with Canadian and United States capital.

The big tube is to be made of steel and reinforced concrete and is to rest thirty feet below the river at the harbor line. Contracts call for its completion in 30 months.

The subway will be brilliantly illuminated and equipped with signals, telephones and a sidewalk for officers controlling and supervising traffic. It will have all modern safety devices similar to those used in the Holland tunnel in New York.

THIRTY MILE LIMIT

Vehicles will be permitted to travel 30 miles an hour, both ways. It is planned to provide continuous bus service between the terminals in Detroit and Windsor.

First sections of the Ambassador international bridge, which, with the tunnel will largely supplant ferry's service between Detroit and Windsor, have been put in place. Mammoth towers to stand at the base of the bridge on either side of the border have begun to soar upward on opposite sides of the river.

The bridge will be 55 feet wide, with a roadway sufficient to accommodate five separate line of traffic. It is to be a 1850-foot span and will stand 150 feet above the water to permit shipping crafts to pass underneath it. The estimated cost is $26,000,000.

Legislative approval is being sought for a second international bridge across the Detroit river between Ambertsburg, Ont., and Grosse, Ill. It would be ten spans of 250 feet each and would stand 150 feet above the water and cost between $4,000,000 and $5,000,000. Plans have been drawn for the structure.

WILL BE PLACED ON COMMERCE BOARD

These men will be placed on the directorate of the Canadian Bank of Commerce should the merger with the Standard Bank be ratified by the shareholders. Six of the eleven directors of the Standard Bank of Canada will be on the new board. These include (1) Thomas A. Wood, (2) F. W. Cowan (3) W. K. George, (4) A. R. Auld. The other two Standard Bank men who will become members of the Commerce board are A. F. White, the president, and A. M. M. Kirkpatrick.

NELSON LOST IN WEST FIRST AND BY LONE POINT

Winnipeg Has 167, Nelson 166, Western Lines Championship C. P. R.

An oversight on the part of some member of the team cost the Nelson C.P.R. first aid team, champions of British Columbia, the championship of the western lines and the right to represent the west in a Dominion title competition at Ottawa, in a contest at Regina Friday.

The Nelson team earned 166 points out of a possible 200. Winnipeg, the winners, had 167; Calgary, 162; and Moose Jaw, 160. The competition was staged in the ball room of the new C.P.R. Hotel Saskatchewan, at Regina, under the direction of E. G. Noble, secretary of the St. John's Ambulance association, C.P.R. center. Dr. W. A. Thompson and Dr. B. C. Leech of Regina were judges.

Members of the Nelson team, which returned to the city last night, were Walter Crowther, John Shardelow, Joseph Fairburn, William Wood and Fred Blakeman, the latter captain.

Among questions asked the teams were: "Define the cerebral spinal system; anatomy and physiology; respiration; repiratory system; pulmonary circulation; apoplexy; and asphyxia. How many bones enter into the formation of the knee joint? What is the diaphragm and how does it assist in respiration? How many ways may triangular bandages be applied, and where? In what cases are condition of the eyes especially taken note of and mentioned? State the bones of the tarsus and carpus."

MOST PRACTICAL

In addition to this examination, the team was called upon to give practical demonstrations. Captain Fred Blakeman reported one of the examiners stated the Nelson team was the most practical in the west and if it held together it should win not only the western championship, but the Lord Shaughnessy cup, eblematic of the Dominion title.

Superitendent Ansley of the Regina division, in presenting the shield to the Winnipeg team, stated President E. W. Beatty, the vice-president and the general manager of western lines, indorsed the competitions, not only for the knowledge gained by the men participating, but also because compensations claims against the company were lessened by prompt first aid attention in accidents.

Captain Blakeman, though regretting that the team lost by so narrow a margin, declared last night his team was going to stick together and win next year. "They're a fine bunch," he declared.

BRITAIN FACES EARLY ELECTION

Campaign Speeches Trend to General Election; Leaders Busy

LONDON, July 22.—An early election campaign is indicated by the flood of recent political speeches, Lloyd George, leader of the Liberal forces, is frequently on the house platform, his latest appearance being at Stockfield, where, before an audience of 25,000 he spoke on the text, "Liberalism's Glorious Resurrection." The Liberal leader attacked the Baldwin government's handling of the Kellogg anti-war plan, declaring they had dealt with the proposals gingerly as if a rattlesnake was tied up with them. The many reservations had been put in in order to extract what the government regarded as poison.

Ramsay Macdonald, former Labor premier, had another round with the Communists last night at a Labor meeting at Crystal Palace. Vigorous Communist interruptions drew from Mr. Macdonald the heated retort regarding the "Reds." "We fought them in the county council election. I would rather have their opposition than their support."

Rt. Hon. Sir Thomas Inskip, attorney-general, speaking at Taplow, said the government had been criticized for not signing the Kellogg anti-war treaty at once, but by securing the assent of the dominions they had not only increased the moral efefct of the treaty but had also enhanced confidence in imperial union.

Creston District Selects School Boards for Year

CRESTON, B.C., July 22.—The turnout of ratepayers for the annual school meeting on Saturday night was rather light, and proceedings uneventful. James Cook was selected to preside, and the board secretary, George Nickel, took the minutes.

Mrs. Henderson was reelected trustee for a three-year term, and with Mr. Nickel and Fred Lewis will constitute the local board of education. Total of $8200 was voted to carry on financially for the ensuing year, this sum allowing for a raise to Miss Wade, teacher of Division 3, and for the redecorating of the seven rooms in the public and high school. For the fifteenth year in succession Dr. Henderson was given an acclamation in the election of an auditor.

At Camp Lister $325 was voted to finance educational affairs. This will permit of the decorating of the interior of the one room in use for school purposes. Mrs. D. J. McKee was chosen trustee for the three year term, succeeding E. J. Malthouse, and she, with John Bird and Mrs. Fred Powers will constitute the board. Mrs. W. Mitchell retired in favor of her husband as auditor.

Erickson ratepayers voted $1500 for the operation of the two-room school the coming year, and reelected Mrs. Frank Putnam as trustee for another three years. The other members of the board are Roy Telford and E. R. Cartwright. E. J. C. Richardson is auditor.

At Sirdar an entirely new board of trustees was elected. It consists of John Cameron, Richard Bluemenauer and Robert Heap. They replaced George Cam, Richard Dennes and Mrs. B. F. Whiteside.

At Canyon City there is also a new board, with John Nygaard, F. Knott and W. Searle replacing Hilton Young, Thomas Mawson, and John G. Wearmouth. Mr. Boyd remains as trustee.

'THE GARDEN OF ALLAH'
By ROBERT HITCHENS
THE MASTERPIECE OF REX INGRAM, THE MAN WHO DIRECTED "THE FOUR HORSEMEN"

The Enchanted East of the Arabian Nights is brought to the screen in this vivid modern love story redolent of the passions, the scorching days and the shimmering moonlight of the great Sahara desert.

Epoch-making as a novel and stage play it is colorful, powerful, overmastering in its glowing appeal.

ON THE STAGE
THREE CALVERT DANCERS

The Greatest of Desert Romances
The desert!
The Garden of Allah!
The spell of sleeping sand dunes and strengthening sunsets beyond all describing!
The poignant love of a giant, untutored traveler, a former monk who had left a Trappist monastery under a cloud, for an English lady of surpassing beauty and poise.
Hostility, pity, love, happiness, disillusion, despair, grief—and finally a new peace with God that three people find in three separate ways after the desert sandstorm has passed.
This is the story of "The Garden of Allah".

Catherine L. Bodwin, premiere danseuse with the Calvert Dancers
