West Preparing for Another Cold Wave; Mercury Falling

WINNIPEG, Jan. 13.—After several days of balmy spring weather, the west is to have another "cold wave," and the predictions were being fulfilled in Winnipeg tonight. The mercury was falling rapidly and the streets were blizzard-swept with a raw north wind and a heavy snow falling. Cold winds and snow are forecast for Saskatchewan and Alberta.

CROWDS FLOCK AROUND BODY OF JUDD GRAY

With Difficulty Hearse Containing Body Reaches the Cemetery

EAST ORANGE, N.J., Jan. 13.—Unrestrained by police, an estimated crowd of more than 500 curious persons thronged about the William M. Knapp undertaking parlors, this afternoon, while a prayer was held over the body of Henry Judd Gray, electrocuted last night for murder.

It was almost impossible for the motors, containing Mrs. Margaret Gray and Mr. and Mrs. Harold Logan, mother, brother-in-law and sister of the dead man, and the hearse, to pass so thick was the crowd.

At Rosedale cemetery where Gray was interred another crowd had collected, but the rites conducted under a canopy were in strict private.

Mrs. Isabel Gray, widow, was at present at the cemetery. It was said that she collapsed into the arms of Gray's mother and sister, while the service was read.

Just as the rev. Victor H. Lukens had finished the protestant burial service a rainbow stretched across the sky, signalling the end of a short downpour.

RADIO FANS SEE AS WELL AS HEAR

New Test Is Success; Experiment Occurs at Schnectady Plant

SCHENECTADY, N.Y., Jan. 13.—The magic wand of science, passing over the factory of the General Electric company here today, disclosed to a small group of radio engineers, scientists and newspaper men a vision of the future of radio broadcasting—a future designed to bring to broadcast fans the sight as well as the sound of the radio performers.

Sitting in comfortable chairs in three Schenectady homes, several miles from the company's broadcasting studio, the visitors were enabled to both see and hear the studio program.

"Simple twists of the dials on the home television sets" brought to these men the minute reproduction of the characters who appeared before the microphone, even to the curl of cigarette smoke from their lips and the blinking of their eyes.

Italian Officials Laugh Heartily at the Mussolini Duel Tale

ROME, Jan. 13.—Officials laughed uproariously today when told that the Croat People's Voice, a paper at Zagreb, Crotia, had published an account of a duel between Premier Mussolini and Count Calvi, son-in-law of the King of Italy, in which the premier was supposed to have been wounded.

Far from going into hiding, as the paper reported, the premier appeared at the railway station, Sunday, to greet Amanuellah Khan, emir of Afghanistan, and has been receiving callers daily.

PORT SIMPSON INDIANS BELIEVED DROWNED

PRINCE RUPERT, B.C., Jan. 13.—Edward Wesley and Joshua Ryan, Port Simpson Indians, are believed to have been drowned when a small gas boat in which they were returning from a trip to Prince Rupert was sunk. A gasoline drum believed to be from the lost boat was found by searchers.

BIG SLIDE RUNS AT ZINCTON AND BLOCKS RAILWAY

Will Take Several Days to Clear; Too Dangerous for Shovel Gangs as Yet

LOCAL SERVICES TO START MONDAY

One Will Be Between Kaslo and Zincton; Other Nakusp to Sandon

A huge snowslide of unreported dimensions, which came down Thursday morning, blocks the Kaslo & Nakusp branch at Zincton, and, until it is cleared, the two ends of the branch will have local services.

Smaller slides have added to the main slide, and while conditions in the hills are so treacherous, the Canadian Pacific will not put men on the job of clearing it away. Under the best of circumstances the slide cannot be cleared under several days' work, and in railway circles it is being asked whether this is the slide that will have up that service all winter, as has occurred in some previous years.

MAY BE OUT ALL WINTER

A temporary service will go into effect, Monday, with a local service between Kaslo and Zincton, keeping the present schedule on the westbound trip, but the train then making an immediate return to Kaslo, and a local service between Sandon and Nakusp which will maintain the main line-Nelson service via the Slocan route. For the present the service is suspended between Zincton and Sandon.

Telephone service of the British Columbia Telephone company in the Slocan has been down since Thursday morning, presumably due to the slide.

GIRL SLAYER IS STILL AT LARGE, FLINT

All Children Kept at Home in Fear of Crime Repetition

FLINT, Mich., Jan. 13. — With the slayer of 5-year-old Dorothy Schneider still at large, the search for her assailant tonight spread like a network over Michigan and border states. The unidentified man who kidnaped the child, drove her to a lonely spot, killed her and mutilated the body, was sought by the entire law enforcement body of the state, assisted by citizens' posses.

The reaction of citizens of Mount Morris, near here, scene of the crime, tonight was that of fear that the man still is in the neighborhood. Children were closely guarded on orders of Chief of Police Scavarda, in charge of the investigation.

Lindbergh Greets Two French Flyers When Lands Panama City

PANAMA CITY, Jan. 13.—Three flying stars of the air met here today before a crowd of 20,000 that cheered without restraint as the flyers, Lindbergh, Costes and Lebrix, shook hands on the balcony of the municipal building, following a reception extended by the municipal council.

The adventurous Frenchmen arrived from Guayaquil, Ecuador, a journey of 900 miles, first, and shortly after Colonel Lindbergh arrived from Colon.

Thomas Hardy's Heart Will Be Buried in His Little Churchyard

LONDON, Jan. 13.—Thomas Hardy's heart will be buried in the little churchyard at Stinsford, where the bodies of his parents repose. This is only a mile or two from the Hardy home at Dorchester, where the famous poet and novelist died.

This decision was taken as a compromise to meet the extreme disappointment of members of his family that the body of the great writer was not to rest, as had been hoped, in his native Dorset.

CHAMBERLIN IS HAVING TROUBLE ON LONG FLIGHT

Leaking Tanks, Sickness, Unfavorable Weather All Battled

ROOSEVELT FIELD, N.Y., Jan. 13.—Clarence Chamberlin, transatlantic flyer, and Roger Q. Williams late today were battling against hunger, cold, leaking fuel tanks, sickness and unfavorable weather, in the determination to establish a new world's record for duration flying. Their struggle to wrest the present record of 52 hours 20 minutes and 31 seconds from Germany entailed remaining aloft until after 2:34 o'clock tomorrow afternoon.

But there was no hint of giving up the attempt in messages from the *flyers today. Instead, Chamberlin de*clared the flyers would see A. R. Martine, their backer, "in 30 or 35 hours, unless delayed by detours or we get too hungry."

This afternoon the flyers, seeking diversion from their monotonous grind around the Long Island flying fields, took a turn over New York, Teterboro, N.J., and Boundbrook, N.Y.

Printers on Two London Papers Go Out on Strike

LONDON, Ont., Jan. 13.—Following a meeting this afternoon the printers of the London Free Press and the London Advertiser went out on strike tonight, having refused to accept the renewal offered them of the three-year agreement which has just expired.

Combining forces, the two papers expect to issue a joint morning paper tomorrow.

Cardinal Principles of Canadianism Are Given by Bennett

WINNIPEG, Jan. 13.—Three cardinal principles of Canadianism were outlined by Hon. R. B. Bennett, Conservative leader, speaking before the local executives of the Conservative party tonight. They are:

1. Education in the history of Canada including the study of the lives of her statesmen and builders.

2. Strengthening the bonds which bind the country to the British Empire.

3. A law which protects minorities.

During his address, Mr. Bennett declared adherence to British traditions would ever be part of the Conservative party.

Blaylock Satisfied No Truth in Rumor of Stock Exchange

VANCOUVER, Jan. 13.—"Although I have not heard anything about such an exchange, I am satisfied there is no truth in the rumor," S. G. Blaylock, general manager of the Consolidated Mining & Smelt*ing company of Trail, declared in a* message today referring to a Victoria report Thursday that one share of Consolidated would be exchanged for four shares of Coast Copper.

J. E. Riley, Montreal, secretary of the Consolidated, also stated that the report was news to him. He pointed out that he could see no reason for the exchange, inasmuch as Coast Copper is already practically their own company.

BOLD ROBBERY IN L. C. SMITH BLOCK

Seattle Bandit Uncaptured; Hit Broker on Head With Gun

SEATTLE, Jan. 13.—A lone bespectacled bandit tonight knocked Emil Mayer, diamond broker, unconscious with the butt of a pistol, handcuffed two attorneys in offices adjoining Mayer's in the 42-story L. C. Smith building, and looted the broker's safe of jewels valued at $7000.

Police, detectives, sheriff's deputies and private operatives late tonight had surrounded the L. C. Smith in the belief that the bandit was trapped in the office structure.

Mayer, the diamond broker, was taken to a hospital with probably serious injuries to his head.

Robinson of Cadillac. J. D. McFarlane, Carlea, was elected vice-president. Dean W. J. Rutherford was reelected honorary president. The new president was selected as representative on the advisory council of the university agricultural department, Dr. Angus McKay, who was elected to the position for life some years ago, being the other.

Frank Wright was reelected director for the northwest district; H. S. McLeod, Macoun, for the southwest; and R. D. Kirkham to represent the east central district.

DECLARATION OF INNOCENCE IS LAST MESSAGE BEFORE THE HANGMAN SPRINGS THE TRAP

Pays Penalty at Winnipeg for Murder of Mrs. Patterson; Falters When Half Way Up Steps of Gallows Then He Carries On Unconcerned

SMILES BRIGHTLY AS HE STEPS ONTO TRAP AND MAKES HIS LAST STATEMENT

"I Declare My Innocence Before God and Man. I Forgive Those Who Have Injured Me and Ask Pardon for Those I Have Injured," He Says

WINNIPEG, Man., Jan. 13.—Earle Nelson, known as the "dark strangler" and the "gorilla man," expiated on the scaffold this morning, so far as earthly element is possible, the murder of Mrs. Emily Patterson, young Winnipeg housewife. His last words, uttered in a clear, ringing voice, was a declaration of innocence of all the brutal crimes with which he was charged.

The iron nerve of the condemned man displayed since his capture in the town of Killarney, Man., June 10, last, after one of the most remarkable and most efficient manhunts in police history, remained with him to the last.

CALMLY WALKS TO DEATH

Calmly, steadily, he walked from the death cell to the gallows. Mounting the steps he was supported by two guards, but their aid was not required. Half way up he appeared to falter, but only momentarily. Slowly he climbed the remaining steps, and stepped on the trap. He smiled and made this statement:

"I declare my innocence before God and man. I forgive those who have injured me and I ask pardon from those I have injured. May the Lord have mercy on my soul."

IS OVER QUICKLY

The little group of witnesses were leaning forward to catch every word and almost before they realized what was happening the black cap was pulled over Nelson's head, the noose was looped about his neck, the slip knot drawn.

Arthur Ellis, official hangman, quickly pulled the lever, and the condemned man dropped without a sound. Eleven minutes later he was officially pronounced dead.

Nelson's spiritual adviser, Rev. Father Webb, spent the entire night in the death cell with him, after he had received the sacrament of confirmation at the hands of His Grace Archbishop Sinnott.

DIES A CATHOLIC

Nelson was reared as a Protestant, but his wife, who testified in his behalf at his trial was a Catholic and she asked a priest of her church to visit him. A few weeks ago the prisoner expressed a desire to be baptized and thus formally to enter the Catholic church.

His confirmation is believed to be the first sacrament of its kind which has taken place in the jail and the ceremony was watched with interest by the guards and attendants.

The trail of death which the police lay at the door of the "strangler," starting in San Francisco, led half way across the continent to the Atlantic seaboard and half way back, and was marked by the mutilated corpses of a score of women and children.

The search for Nelson, following the murders of Mrs. Patterson and Lola Cowan, 14-year-old flower girl, awakened interest throughout the continent. The number of persons engaged in the man-hunt, the extent of territory covered, the quickest with which clues were picked up and followed to their natural sequence, and the completeness with which every movement, was traced, establishes the case as outstanding in the history of law enforcement.

It was a chain of clothes that brought Nelson to the scaffold. He was traced

THOUSANDS SEE NELSON'S BODY IN THE CASKET

Curiosity of Public Aroused; Will Ship Body to San Francisco

WINNIPEG, Jan. 13.—Back over the long trail, which he, as the "dark strangler," left strewn with death and misery, the body of Earle Nelson, hanged here today for murder, will be forwarded Saturday to his native state of California for burial in San Francisco, the home of his relatives.

Tonight police stood guard at the local funeral hall, where the body was taken from the provincial jail, as more than 1000 persons filed slowly past the grey casket, at the head of which burned seven candles.

Never before in the history of Winnipeg has such wide-spread curiosity been manifested by the public to view a criminal's body.

Engraved on Nelson's casket was his real name—Earle J. Ferrell.

DECLARATION OF INNOCENCE IS LAST MESSAGE, NELSON

by clothes from Warren, Minn., to Winnipeg; clothes proved his presence in the Patterson home; clothes revealed his visit to the rooming house where Lola Cowan was murdered; clothes again led the police along Portage avenue and Main street, thence to Headingly, Man.; clothes that uncovered him in Regina, and finally clothes found on him when arrested at Killarney were clothes he had bought in Winnipeg.

Throughout it was the clothes that led police to persons who could identify him.

INTERNATIONAL ISSUE

WINNIPEG, Jan. 13.—With the conviction of Earle Nelson, November 5 last a case which aroused international interest was brought to a close.

Arraigned on a dual charge of strangling to death Mrs. Emily Patterson and 14-year-old Lola Cowan of Winnipeg, Nelson was tried on the first indictment. Forty-four witnesses were called by the crown in welding its chain of circumstantial evidence. Only two were called to testify on behalf of the accused, his wife and aunt, who journeyed across half a continent from California to support the defence plea of insanity.

It required exactly six days to complete the case in which the prosecution picked up the trail of the man who later was identified as the "dark strangler," as he pushed his way through the state of Minnesota to Winnipeg. From the time Nelson set foot in Winnipeg, his every movement was accounted for by the police. He was identified by several secondhand clothes dealers and merchants as the man who had purchased or exchanged wearing apparel at their establishments.

WOMEN ATTACKED

The crown proved that on June 10 last he entered the Patterson home in Elmwood, a suburb of Winnipeg. There he throttled to death the defenceless woman, and violated her. Clothing which the investigators found lying over the mutilated body, was later identified as apparel that Nelson had bought at a shop in the city. After committing the heinous crime, he searched the premises, changed into a suit of clothes belonging to Mr. Patterson and left the house unseen with $80, a portion of the family savings.

One witness positively identified Nelson as a "suspicious character" he had noticed hovering about the porch of the Patterson dwelling on the day the murder was committed. Another witness swore that Nelson was the customer who had purchased a new outfit at his store and left his old clothing, which Mr. Patterson identified as those stolen from his home. A number of articles and personal trinkets missing from the Patterson dwelling were found in the pockets of the discarded suit.

COWAN DEATH

On the day after Mrs. Patterson's body was found under the bed in the house by the distracted husband, the city was thrown into panic by the discovery of the strangled remains of Lola Cowan, a high school girl. Both crimes had been perpetrated in almost an identical manner.

Pursuing their investigation, the authorities ascertained that Nelson had occupied the room in which Lola Cowan's body was found, and then had mysteriously vanished. The crime was definitely ascribed to the brutal clutch of the "strangler."

Nelson's trail was followed west and into Regina, Sask., where he again purchased a new outfit. The clothing he disposed of in a secondhand shop there had been bought in Winnipeg. Backtracking into Manitoba, Nelson was apprehended near Killarney, Man., on June 16 and placed in the town jail. During the night the prisoner effected his escape by picking the cell locks with a small nail file.

Nelson's freedom was short-lived. He was captured on the following day by a posse of farmers and provincial policemen a few miles south of Wapoka, Man., near the international boundary.

UNCONCERNED

Throughout his trial and jail confinement, Nelson maintained an air of utter indifference. Not once during the court ordeal did he manifest the slightest concern in the proceedings. He maintained his innocence of the crimes charged against him right to the last, and steadfastly insisted that he had never been in Winnipeg or at any other places in the United States where the "strangler" was active.

It was in San Francisco, Cal., on February 20, 1926, according to the police, that the "strangler" began his homicidal tour, in the course of which he has been linked with bringing horrifying death to 22 women and 1 child.

The trail of death, more than 7000 miles long, extended almost the entire length of the Pacific coast, reached across the United States to the Atlantic seaboard, then doubling back and ended in Manitoba.

ALLAN FOUND TO HAVE SUPPLIED O'NEIL A DRINK

nesday night to E. W. Widdowson, provincial analyst, for analysis.

SMYTHE, WIDDOWSON PROVE POISON

S. H. Smythe, the druggist, described how, by testing with fire and tasting the liquid, he came to the conclusion that it was methyl hydrate or wood alcohol. He stated that he had made a further test yesterday morning and found that it was pure methyl hydrate with nothing added.

E. W. Widdowson stated that an analysis he had made of the contents of this bottle had shown 90.825 per cent methyl hydrate, the balance practically speaking being water. He corroborated Dr. McKay's statement that methyl hydrate was a variable poison.

Mr. Smythe, called again to give evidence as to the nature of methyl hydrate, stated it was a combination of aldehydes made from the acetates found in wood naptha and that it was described in the Pharmacopeia, the only recognized treatise in Canada on pharmacy, as a poison.

O'NEILL ACCOSTED, ACCEPTS DRINK

James O'Neill testified that after having a bowl of soup and a cup of tea at the Kootenay hotel Tuesday afternoon, he met Allan, a stranger to him, and was asked if he wanted a drink. Replying in the affirmative, he followed Allan upstairs, where he drank from a bottle similar to that exhibited in court. He stated that there was no conversation while he was handed the bottle. He drank about half of the contents, he stated, and left immediately.

By the time he got to Baker street he was feeling sick, he said, and called the police. Constable Harlow came and together they went to the Kootenay hotel. His evidence corroborated that of Constable Harlow as to the occurrences there.

He stated he had nothing else to drink while away from the hospital besides that which he received from Allan, except a noon meal and the soup and tea he had had at the hotel.

Under cross-examination by Allan, O'Neil said that he had offered the accused a pipeful of tobacco previous to going upstairs. He absolutely denied that the accused had told him that the contents of the bottle from which he drank was denatured alcohol, or that the accused said that he had no whisky. He also denied that the accused advised him not to drink the alcohol if he were not used to it or that he had said he would be back later with some whisky.

Allan, taking the stand in his own defence, claimed that he brought the "denatured" alcohol from the shipyards where he was employed, for the purpose of cleaning his clothes which had become covered with paint.

ALLAN CLAIMS HE WARNED O'NEIL

Tuesday night, he said, he was in the soft drink room of the hotel when O'Neil offered him some tobacco. He said that he then invited O'Neil up to his room to have a "shot." In the room he claimed he gave O'Neil the bottle, saying that it was "denatured" alcohol. He said he advised him not to drink it if he were not in the habit of drinking alcohol.

O'Neil had then handed the bottle back, Allan said, without drinking any of the contents, saying that he was going to have some whisky later in the evening and that he would bring it around. Upon returning later to his room, about 6:15 p.m., he said he met Constable Harlow and O'Neil. The constable asked him what he had given O'Neil to drink and Allan replied that he hadn't given him anything.

Allan said that at that time O'Neil said that if he had drank the stuff Allan offered him it would have put him to sleep and Allan would have "rolled" him for his money.

DENATURED BY WATERING

Allan stated under cross-examination what he called "denatured" alcohol, explaining that "denatured" meant when water was added to it. He admitted he knew it was poison, having purchased some at one time from a druggist, labelled poison. He said he had warned the porter at the hotel against drinking it, but would have been willing to let O'Neil drink it, if he had been used to it.

He said that he would not care to drink it himself unless it was deluted to three parts water and one alcohol.

CLAIMS DRINK NOT GIVEN

Allan called Constable Harlow, who said that when he met O'Neil, the latter told him there was a man down the street who had tried to give him alcohol to drink. The constable said that O'Neil had neither said he had taken a drink nor that he had not. He believed he had heard O'Neil say something to the effect that if he had taken the alcohol Allan would have "rolled" him for his money.

He said that at noon yesterday the accused asked him who laid the charge against him, and that he had replied that O'Neil had said some one had tried to give him alcohol to drink.

Allan endeavored to show by these admissions that O'Neil had never taken a drink.

Allan then called Henry Fersch, who had overheard the conversation between Harlow and Allan, to testify that Harlow had told him that O'Neil had not said he had drank any of the contents of the bottle.

Fersch stated that he had heard Constable Harlow say first that O'Neil had told him that he did not drink any, and after that O'Neil said that he had taken a drink.

FINDS GUILT PROVEN

In rendering his verdict, Magistrate Brown, stated that although the evidence of the defence and the prosecution clashed, it had been proven that O'Neil had been suffering from poison, and that he had been to Allan's room, where there was wood alcohol, and although Allan stated that O'Neil had not drank any of it, the magistrate deemed the evidence sufficient to prove that he had, and therefore found him guilty.

Upon hearing the verdict, the accused intimated that he would argue further today, when he came up for sentence.

FAIRVIEW GIRLS PRESENTED WITH NURSING MEDALS

Canadian Championship Medals Formally Presented by Dr. Borden

I. O. D. E. PROFICIENCY AWARDS ARE ALSO MADE

Swallows Receive Patrol Board; Miss Melneczuk Individual Prize

Presentation of medals for home nursing proficiency, won in competition with girls all over the Dominion, to Juliana Melneczuk, Mai Dinny, Beatrice French and Edith Ogden, members of the first Nelson company, Church of the Redeemer girl guides, was made last night by Dr. L. E. Borden before a large gathering of guides and parents at the Canadian Legion building. Each girl also received a photograph of their group, as did Kathleen Keeler, who acted as "patient" for the class. W. S. King presided.

The medals and shield represented the girls' home nursing team championship of Canada, and were won by the Fairview team in the 1927 contest.

OTHER AWARDS

Another feature was the presentation of the Kokanee chapter I.O.D.E. shield for patrol proficiency to the Swallow patrol of the Church of the Redeemer company, and of the I.O.D.E. cup for individual proficiency to Juliana Melneczuk. The members of the most proficient patrol were: Dorothy Vyse, leader; Beatrice French, second; and Edith Ogden, Kathleen Keeler, Nancy Jarvis, Fern Morris, Louise Milburn and Isobelle Oughtred.

This is the second successive year that the shield has been won by the Swallow patrol, and the cup by Miss Melneczuk.

COMPLIMENTS

TEAM

Dr. L. E. Borden, in making his presentation, stressed his belief that merit should be rewarded, and complimented the team for its excellent work. He also complimented Mrs. J. Shardelow for the splendid training she gave the girls.

To keep in perfect condition was one of man's greatest patriotic duties, he said. One mission of girl guides should be to wage war against diseases of all kinds. They could help immeasurably in the fight against communicable diseases by fighting the popular prejudice against isolation.

"Be observant," he couselled. "Be tactful, be resourceful, be explcit and be discriminating."

Dr. Borden urged all girl guides to note carefully causes and signs of things, or they might not be able to all they might otherwise be able to do.

He cautioned against useless questions when treating patients, urged the use of every possible measure in treatments, clear explanation of instructions and discovery of the right thing to do before doing anything.

C. B. Garland, in an address, urged recognition and application in all things of the guides' laws in regard to honor and loyalty.

Honor was a thing to be cherished all through life and loyalty was essential to happy living.

"You girls are on the threshold of life. As you go forward you will look back and remembrance of this occasion will be a source of great happiness to you," he said.

THANKS I.O.D.E.

Mrs. W. O. Rose, honory regent of Kokanee chapter I.O.D.E., presented the I.O.D.E. shield to the Swallow patrol and the cup to Miss Melneczuk, reminding the gathering that the girl guides movement in Nelson started in Fairview, and complimenting the prize winners.

Mrs. D. F. Cowie, on behalf of the local Girl Guide association, expressed the association's thanks to the I.O.D.E. for the keen interest it took in girl guide work.

Musical numbers throughout the evening consisted of: Piano solos by Mrs. J. Burgess, songs by Miss Mary Morgan, with Miss Margaret Morgan as her accompanist, and songs by Miss Mary Jarvis, who played her own accompaniment.

ROSSLAND AND NELSON BATTLE TRAIL TONIGHT

Game in Trail on Account Poor Ice; Rossland Will Fight for Victory

Rossland, when it meets Nelson on Trail ice tonight in the eighth game of the West Kootenay hockey series, will battle every inch of the way, for with seven of the 18 games in the series past, Rossland must break into the winning column very shortly or it will be out of luck when it comes to the league playoffs.

The game is being played on Trail ice because of poor weather conditions in Rossland. With its artificial ice, Trail is not dependent on the weather man.

NELSON LEADS

Nelson now leads the league by .200 over Trail, by virtue of its victory over Trail here on Thursday. Nelson has .800 points, Trail .600, and Rossland .000.

Should Rossland win tonight Nelson will still be at the head of the league, but its percentage lead will be materially decreased. A win for the green and white will give Nelson an established lead.

Nelson's team in tonight's battle, which in the following lineup has not yet been defeated, will be: Notman, goal; Richardson and L. Desireau, defence; Waiman, Pelletier and Heximer, S. Desireau, Ogenski and Penny, forwards.

RANGERS WIN BY ONE GOAL, TRAIL

Eskimos Go Down to 1-0 Defeat in Opener; Intermediates Practice

TRAIL, B.C., Jan. 13.—The Rangers drew first blood tonight in the junior city hockey league by defeating the Eskimos 1-0. H. Rothery on a wing pass from W. Young shot the only goal late in the second.

These two teams showed up better as a result of the recent reorganization. They were well balanced, and produced a very fair brand of hockey. Rothery and Hanson were the bright lights on the Rangers' forward line. Gavrilik and Campbell were the dangerous men with the Eskimos.

The teams were:

Rangers—F. Verzuh, goal; J. Buckna, and T. Hall, defence; Young, Rothery and Hanson, M. Buckna and Jones, forwards.

Eskimos—Beaver, goal; M. Demidoff and W. Harvey, defence; Shaw, Gavrilik, Johnson and Campbell, forwards.

An interesting practice game was staged by the Tigers and Sheiks, who are getting into their best shape for an expected invasion into the Revelstoke intermediate hockey tourney next month. These teams showed up very well and put out hockey that was well worth watching.

TRAIL ROTARIANS PLAN CONFERENCE

May Hold District Meeting Next Month; District Governor Special Guest

TRAIL, B.C., Jan. 13.—Trail Rotarians are planning to hold a district meeting around February 15, and are inviting Nelson Rotary club, and as many East Kootenay Rotarians as can attend, to it.

Hank Manny of Seattle, district governor, will be the specially invited guest.

It is planned to hold the business and educational session at the lunch hour, to adjourn to the curling rink for afternoon entertainment, and to banquet later.

Claiming to be world's champion garlic eater, Joseph Bellavia of Rochester, N. Y., wants his title challenged.

TRAIL CURLERS CLUB SCHEDULE

TRAIL, B.C., Jan. 12.—Tonight's play in the men's curling club competition gave the following results: Hazlewood 5, W. C. Murray 6; Leckie 11, Williams 9; McDonell 17, Caldicott 3; Blaylock 11, Crowe 5; Williamson 15, Dewdney 5; Robertson 9, Kerr 7; Cruickshank 20, Tyson 5; Stiles 13, Fingland 3.

TRAIL ORGANIZING DEBATING LEAGUE

Organizations Asked Enter Teams; May Lead to District Debates

TRAIL, B.C., Jan. 12.—Wordy battles of a high education as well as entertainment value are to become a feature of public interest here.

Organization of a community debating league is being actively undertaken with the object of conducting an open forum for the discussion of matters of particular interest to Traillites.

In impartial unattached directing committee has already been formed. It consists of D. MacDonald, Dr. J. B. Thom, G. Murray, T. C. Carter and L. C. Eckert. It will govern the debates, appointing the judges, setting rules, the topics and assigning the times and teams.

Various church and fraternal organizations are now being approached by Mr. Eckert, secretary of the Memorial Hall society, to enter their teams in the league.

If the league is a success, an effort will be made to interest district towns to provide debating teams for an interchange of debates.

The league will also, it is hoped, function as a body to sponsor the appearance of visiting men of eminence and lecturing ability.

CANADA SOUNDED ON CATTLE CONGRESS

WASHINGTON, D.C., Jan. 13.—Canada is being sounded out as to its willingness to join the other cattle producing countries of the world in a congress to promote the interest of the cattle industry. Honorio Pueyreddon, Argentine ambassador to Washington, has been in conference with Hon. Vincent Massey, the Canadian minister, regarding participation in such a congress.

The idea originated in the Argentine, and it is understood that wide interest is being shown by all cattle-raising countries.

The United States would participate in the hope that domestic consumption of beef may be increased Other countries would seek enlargement of export markets.

Damage by fire to the Abbey, Sublaco, Ark., is placed at $1,000,000.

Many Get Back Young Appetite

Quick lunches, usually cold, gulped down so the "dinner hour" will not be over before you can do a little playing, is the best way to ruin your stomach, and you suffer from indigestion, heartburn, bloating, nervousness, headaches; and, worst of all, you get thin, pale and weak.

If you must eat that way, always keep a package of Pape's Diapepsin handy so you can chew one of the pleasant-tasting tablets after your meals. It keeps the food sweet so your stomach can digest it.

Follow the experience of thousands who again have a young appetite. All druggists recommend and guarantee Pape's Diapepsin to relieve indigestion and sweeten the stomach in 5 minutes.

Leaking Gas Tank Causes Flyer to Halt His Flight

CHICAGO, Jan. 13.—A final general inspection of his airplane revealed a leaking auxiliary tank and delayed Joseph F. Donnellan's scheduled takeoff tomorrow for an 18,000 mile air trip to Central and South America. The tank will be replaced and Donnellan will hop off Sunday at 7 a.m.

Donnellan's flight is being undertaken to prove that travel can be made as cheaply by air as by automobile. He hopes to make the trip for $7000, about $5 an hour.

Battle Forty-six Hours but Fail Save Tot's Life

CHICAGO, Jan. 13.—Victory believed won after 46 hours of desperate work with oxygen to save the life of 13-day-old baby, George Smith, was lost tonight when the infant, which failed rapidly when left to his own tiny resources, died at 9:30 p.m. The six husky firemen, who for two days kept glowing the tiny life spark, were hurriedly recalled tonight and again began to work their lung motor, but the tiny spark of life grew gradually dimmed.

The baby ceased breathing on Wednesday and was virtually dead when the frantic mother called in the firemen.

The 46-hour fight for the infant's life broke all previous local records by 10 hours. When the tired city firemen were feleased by the doctors, they had used 55 tanks of oxygen, worth $25 a tank.

Full Steam Ahead for the Kootenay

Nine Kootenay cities, out of the 11, were given the opportunity of reelecting for 1928 the mayors who served them in 1927.

All nine accepted the opportunity. Seven of them retained their 1927 chief magistrates by acclamation. Trail and Rossland, whose mayors had to go to the polls, Thursday overwhelmingly reelected them.

Probably never before in Kootenay history has this compliment of reelection to the chief magistrates been extended to the degree of 100 per cent.

Probably, also, the Kootenay cities as a whole have never had more satisfactory administration.

Undoubtedly the prospects of the Kootenay cities for good administration in 1928 are bright. For the most part, their city fathers have been selected without contest.

Where there have been contests, it is conceded that it would have been difficult to make bad choices, and that good men have won, a situation fully applicable to Nelson.

From the Kootenay councils of 1928, the best of service can confidently be expected.

Executing Justice on the Killers

This week has seen some very laudable executions.

Few, except the most maudlin sentimentalists, will mourn the demise of Mrs. Ruth Snyder of New York and her male partner at the behest of the law.

Termination of the career of the "Strangler," on a Manitoba scaffold, won't make anyone weep.

The first of these applications of the law took place on the American side of the international boundary line, where they are extremely exceptional.

The second took part on the Canadian side, where such events bear rather a close relation in number to the culpable homicides.

This month has seen and will see others.

It is interesting to recall here an incident of the international anti-crime convention held at Nelson last June, when President Luke S. May, the eminent criminologist, in welcoming Chief of Police A. G. Shute of Edmonton, whose arrival had been delayed by his search in that city for the "Strangler," said:

"As this conference knows, we have received a communication from Acting Chief Constable Stark of Winnipeg announcing that the identity of the 'Strangler' has been established, and we have sent a message of congratulation to him and his force on their good work in apprehending him.

"I expect to get a further communication from Acting Chief Constable Stark, in the minimum time possible for such a communication to be made, stating that the 'Strangler' has been hanged. I am just as certain of it as I am certain that I would never receive such a communication in nine-tenths of cases of a similar nature in my own country."

Mr. May's confidence in Canadian justice has been justified.

While the Snyder-Gray double execution Thursday counts toward the good name of the United States in dealing with murder, Mr. May had ample warrant for his reflection on American criminal justice in the Loebs and Leopolds, Kid McCoys, Remuses, and other people who have "been themselves" and killed as they listed, and at most have been given detention, if not freed outright.

An Apple a Day for the Chinese

China is not generally visualized as a market for British Columbia apples, nor Japan as a competitor of the Kootenay as an apple producer. But here is an item from the Dominion government's Commercial Intelligence Journal of last Saturday's dates:

Mr. L. M. Cosgrave, Canadian trade commissioner in Shanghai, writes that the seasonal purchases of Canadian apples is below normal, due chiefly to the excellent crop in Japan and Korea. Though these apples are much smaller and possess less flavor than the Canadian and American varieties, prices have been such that Pacific exporters have not been in a position to compete.

The Japanese crop, however, is confined to one or two varieties which ripen at the same time. Importers state they would be interested in later winter varieties from British Columbia, for shipment to China during the first quarter of the year. The condition and packing of Canadian apples which have arrived on this market lately have been very satisfactory.

It is not clear from this note whether the apples China purchases are consumed by the white or the yellow race. If the latter, there would seem to be wonderful possibilities in the orient for British Columbia apples.

PULVERIZED COAL NEW SHIP FUEL

BALTIMORE, Md., Jan. 13.—Coal pulverized to the consistency of talcum powder has become a fuel for ocean liners. The steamship Mercer is one of the first vessels which will use the new fuel. It has been equipped with a $36,500 power plant designed for powdering coal and burning it.

Tests of the new fuel were made by the shipping board in trial runs from Baltimore to New York and in New York harbor, according to the Marine Review for December.

No appreciable dust, dirt, noise or congestion was noted in the trials, while an even steam pressure of 210 pounds was kept with only two or three boilers in operation, said the article.

Coal is carried by gravity to three pulverizing machines, each capable of crushing 3600 pounds per hour. The fuel, in its powdered form, is blown through pipes to the furnaces.

The following excellent dishes have been contributed by readers:

Apricot Souffle: Mrs. K. A.—Rub one-half pound of stewed and sweetened dried apricots through a puree sieve. Have ready one cup of thick boiled custard. Add this to the fruit pulp and stand on ice for two or three hours to chill. Just before serving, fold in the stiffly beaten whites of two eggs and pour into a large glass dish which has been lined with halved lady fingers—or you can line sherbet glasses with the lady fingers, to make individual servings. Dust the top with powdered macaroon crumbs and serve. Of course a little stiffly whipped heavy cream will add fluffiness and richness to this dessert, but it is not necessary.

White Mountain Griddlecakes: Contributed by D. F.—In a mixing bowl put one beaten egg, add a pinch of salt, one teaspoon of molasses, one tablespoon of melted butter and one cup and a half of cold, sweet milk. Sift into a mixing bowl two cups of flour mixed with two teaspoons of baking powder, then gradually beat the combined liquids into this dry flour. Cook the cakes on a hot griddle, turning over when browned on the bottom. As fast as they are done, spread them with softened butter and thick maple syrup, placing one cake on top of the other till eight have been piled together, then cutting into wedge-shaped pieces before sending to the table.

Baked Cheese Custards: S. A.—Mix together one cup and a half of grated bread crumbs, half a cup of grated cheese, half a teaspoon of salt, a saltspoon of paprika, a few drops of Worcester sauce, and half a teaspoon of prepared mustard. Divide this mixture between four buttered ramekins or individual baking cups and add to each enough cold, sweet milk mixed with one beaten egg, to cover the bread. Stand the little cups in a pan of hot water and bake in a moderate oven for 20 minutes, or till the custard is firm and a silver knife, inserted in the middle, will come out clean.

That Body of Yours

By JAMES W. BARTON, M.D.

Brain Interfering With Digestion

Perhaps you have felt the movements of your stomach as it churned up the food so as to mix it with the digestive juice of the stomach. When a food gets into the stomach the churning movements begin, but both ends of the stomach, the one opening upward to mouth, and the other opening downward to small intestine, both close so that food cannot go upward or downward out of the stomach.

The churning goes on for a while, and then the end of the stomach opening downward into intestine, gardually opens up and lets some food go into small intestine. After permitting a certain amount to pass, it closes again and this food it has passed into small intestine then gets mixed with the digestive juices from the pancreas and liver, that is the pancreatic juice and the bile, respectively.

However, after this food is nicely mixed with these two juices, the end of stomach opens again, and some of this food actually returns to stomach to "regulate the acidity of the contents of the stomach."

What does this mean?

That nature regulates the output from the stomach into intestine, and keeps a guiding hand on the process, so that food will get a thorough mixing with the three digestive juices of the stomach, liver, and pancreas.

Now how does this concern you, seeing that this process is not under the control of the will?

Because it is possible for you to interfere with this regulating action in two ways at least.

First, by a too active use of the brain immediately after meals. Hard mental work, worry, or other emotional disturbances, will interfere with the churning process and the opening and closing of the lower or intestinal end of the stomach.

Second, constipation also affects the movements of the intestine, so that instead of an impulse carrying food downward, there is a reverse movement which causes the contents of intestine to go upward.

Of course, man has a brain which he thinks, is above the thinking or instinct of animals, and so he will continue to think hard, to worry, and to have emotional disturbances. But his control of these will help digestion.

Of course, there is no excuse for constipation in the majority of cases.

Foster's Weekly Weather Bulletin

WASHINGTON, Jan. 14. — A storm wave of moderately severe intensity is expected to cross continent during week centering on January 16; this storm wave will move well down into middle and southern latitudes and cause moderately heavy precipitation generally over the continent; a sharp and rather severe cold wave will precede this storm center; following this storm center, the most severe and protracted cold wave of the month will cover the continent centering on 18. Storm wave centering on January 25 will be severe in force or intensity, but will not be expected to cause so low temperatures nor so much precipitation as will storm wave centering on 16.

Natural ice men are not expected to have trouble in finding suitable ice this winter; they should prepare for a greater demand during summer of 1928 than has been experienced during summer of 1927, but not for a long, hot summer as a general average over the continent. Best period for cutting ice will be during last half of February, preferably near 16 and 26. In southern part of natural ice belt it would probably be better to take advantage of week commencing February 13. Spring of 1928 in North America will be expected to arrive about on time or just a few days late; summer temperatures, as a general average of continent, will arrive much earlier than usual; northern United States and all of Canada will experience cold wave after first summer temperatures have arrived, but this cold wave will not be expected to be late enough to do material damage unless it would be to very early blooming wheat.

TIMBER WASTE

In the past quarter-century, much has been published from the pens of deep-thinking men warning the public of the dangers we are setting up for future generations by necessary consumption and criminal wasting of forests without ample replacement. Some results have been obtained by this continual preaching, but the danger has not been averted, only postponed. Present estimates are that with a continuance of present ratio of trees cut and destroyed, against new timber growth, North America will be almost treeless in 50 years from now. Great improvements in reforestation have been made by frightened governments and peoples, but not as yet on a sufficient scale. It is my opinion that the Sahara desert could be turned into farmable land within 100 years by systematic reforestation; that nearly every phase of local climate is greatly influenced by forests; that a treeless North America would spell a great North American desert. Forests not only hold back the waters, causing them to percolate through subsoils gradually and furnishing subsoil moisture distributed over the crop-growing period, they furnish a very necessary part of an electro-magnetic system, draw precipitation to and near areas where forests are sufficient and other conditions are right, help to purify the atmosphere, and in many ways make this planet more habitable to all life. The farther an area is from regular storm paths, the less number of years that would be necessary to turn that area into a desert by deforestation; the location of an area relative average path and direction of storm and distance and direction of mountain ranges would also influence the number of years necessary for this action. Conserving our forests is of far greater importance to future generations than conserving the oil supply.

CATS WIN IN WILL CONTEST

BATH, N.Y., Jan. 13.—Contest of the will of Mrs. Emma Bennett of Prespo, in which a part of her estate of $15,000 was set aside for the care of her cats, has ended in victory for the cats.

Under the settlement, relatives of Mrs. Bennett's husband to whom a portion of the estate was bequeathed, agreed upon concessions whereby a sizeable fund is created for care of the pets. The Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Animals probably will be named to assume guardianship of the cats, which now are living in Mrs. Bennett's former home.

Meet the Mahaneys

The Only Living Quadruplets!

Maclean's Magazine of Toronto, Canada, Dec. 1, 1927, issue, carries this remarkable story:

"On Christmas Day, 1923, the Mahaney quadruplets were born in St. John, New Brunswick.

Experts said it was hopeless to expect them all to live.

The world History of Quadruplets revealed that only one set had lived beyond six months. No records existed of all the members of a quartet attaining one year of life. Today — the Mahaneys are the only living quadruplets—and almost four years old.

It was considered impossible that two of the quadruplets could live beyond three months.

Edith May weighed only 4 lbs. 13 ozs.

Edna Louise weighed only 5 lbs. 9 ozs.

The others had the average chance of life—

Lyda Christine weighed 8 lbs. 8 ozs.

John Douglas weighed 8 lbs. 3 ozs.

Mrs. William Mahaney's problem was to rear the four children to health and strength, despite all known records, and with two at least she was faced with real odds.

To quote her: "The first thing to consider was the feeding. What kind of MILK would I choose for the quadruplets?" Edith May and Edna Louise must be brought up to the standard of the other two with the chances 1000 to 1 against either of them living beyond three months.

"There was the question of using either raw or pasteurized milk." Mrs. Mahaney was advised to use Raw Milk. But—she knew that an indiscriminate raw milk might lessen her chances of success. Edith May and Edna Louise were so very tiny and weak that the mother decided to use Pasteurized Milk—for the protection it would afford to her babies. As she then so wisely decided—she is today still pinning her faith to the sound protection of a safe, clean pasteurized Milk.

We again quote Mrs. Mahaney: "I am thankful for the opportunity to get pasteurized milk. A little while before the birth of the quadruplets a law had been passed in New Brunswick calling for the pasteurization of the milk. So I was able to get all this kind of milk I wanted in sanitary bottles."

After six months the diet of the children was widened to include arrowroot biscuits and cereals, the biscuits soaked in pasteurized milk with plenty also on the cereals. Then later followed soups — meat broth and mixed vegetable—then came rice custards. Since their third birthday, to use Mrs. Mahaney's own words, "The quadruplets like everything on the diet I have outlined—soups, vegetables, fruits, custards, jellies, ice cream, plus—plenty of the pasteurized milk, served with these things, and also alone in cups at every meal —and occasionally between meals.

The apparently impossible accomplished — Edna Louise, the second tiniest at birth is the heaviest of the four, and Edith May, the tiniest of all, is now the tallest of the four and weighs practically the same as Lyda Christine and John Douglas.

This is not an ordinary "ad." It's the Epic Story of a courageous Canadian Mother, who, confronted with a difficult problem, sought help sensibly and wisely—her judgment vindicated in the health of her famous quartet of babies.

The world famous Sir William Osler, when Regius Professor of Oxford, attributed the high rate of infant mortality to impure milk and he was supported in this by the sound thinking constructive Medical Health Officers of numerous large cities.

Proper pasteurization is not a FAD, it is one of the most beneficial contributions of modern science made to the Public health in a generation. The vital statistics of the large centers of population on this Continent Prove it.

Kootenay Growers Get $55,455 Apple Advances Vance Informs Jonathan

To the Editor of The Daily News:

Sir—Please permit me to correct a statement attributed to myself, published in your issue of January 2, and contained in your report covering the production of Kootenay fruit and vegetables; also that I may reply to some criticisms directed to me by your correspondent, "Jonathan."

CORRECTS STATEMENT

Owing to the fact that the statement was made over the phone, I will not attempt to repeat word for word just what was said, but I certainly did not say that growers had received more for their apples in 1927 than they received for the larger crop of 1926. I did say that while the 1927 crop was lighter than the previous year, prices were higher, and would mean more money to the growers than the crop of 1926.

Regarding advances: On November 23, which was the earliest date we were able to obtain complete detail of the season's packout from our various locals and growers, our record showed the following tonnage of the various grades: Extra fancy and fancy, 40,691 boxes; "C," 22,469 boxes; and crates, 37,312, making a grand total of 100,472 boxes, which were distributed as follows: 20,115 boxes of small sizes in the wrapped grades had been shipped to export markets, on which no returns had been received; 58,897 boxes had been sold to Canadian and United States markets; and 21,406 boxes were still in stock, stored at various points in the Kootenay.

SAME TREATMENT AS OKANAGAN

In spite of the fact that our tonnage ran very heavy to crates and export sizes, and that we still had over a fifth of our tonnage on hand, we paid out in advances on unclosed pools on November 30 exactly $41,363.58, which was supplemented by a further advance on December 20 of $14,193.10, making a total of $55,455.68 advanced on acconnt of unclosed apple pools. If "Jonathan" will take the trouble to obtain a statement of Okanagan shipments, as per grades and varieties, he will find that Kootenay growers have been treated fairly, insofar as advances are concerned.

BANKING CREDIT

"Jonathan," you are wrong. Payments were not made direct to members of locals by our head office. It is necessary for practically every local, no matter where it is located, to arrange for a line of credit with its bank, for the purpose of purchasing boxes, paper and other supplies, and to provide for the cost of packing. It is usually necessary to give the bank an order, instructing that all monies be paid to bank, at least until the loan has been satisfied. The matter of advances to growers who are members of locals must be dealt with by the local board of directors, whose action must have the approval of their bank. Further, their action, of necessity, must be guided by the quality and grade of their shipments.

Thanking you for the favor of your valuable space.

One of the prettiest dances of the season was that which took place last night at the Memorial hall with Miss Ena Hunter, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles F. Hunter, Josephine street, as hostess, it being her twenty-first birthday. Miss Hunter, who was assisted in receiving her guests by her mother, who wore a black crepe back satin, was a dainty figure in white finished with pearl sequin. Violet, rose and white were the color scheme, which was carried out throughout the hall and also at the supper table in the lower part of the hall, where a huge birthday cake with the figures 1928 was artistically placed. Possibly the feature of the affair was the flashlight dance, which caused considerable enjoyment. Miss Hunter's invited guest list included Mr. and Mrs. J. Ward, Mr. and Mrs. W. E. LITERARY SOCIETY OPENS ITS SEASON

Musical Program Principal Part of Entertainment; Plan a Social

The first meeting of the 1928 season of the Nelson High School Literary and Debating society was held in the auditorium yesterday afternoon. As no debate had been prepared in the short time after the new term began, a musical program was run off. The major part of the hour was passed in community singing, conducted by Principal L. V. Rogers, and much enjoyed by the whole school, who participated.

The individual talent of the school was represented by two piano solos by Francis Wheeler and Gladys McLeod.

The idea of a social evening held in the auditorium at some future date was raised and found favor with the students.

CHAPTER IX.

MacVeagh, naturally enough, was more nervous about his meeting with Arthur Foster, head of the syndicate he had fought to a standstill, than he had been prepared to admit to Burton. He was opposed to men of great resources and power; he was sure of his ground, but none the less it was a situation not to be considered without a certain degree of anxiety.

Men like these did not enjoy defeat; they were not used to it; smarted under it. They had gone too far to back down now, and too far to alter their plans. That had been their great mistake; they had never allowed for the possibility of being unable to secure control of the MacVeagh properties. As John saw the condition they had to accept his terms. They would have to accept them even if they were far stiffer than they actually were.

But he wanted more than that. He wanted these men to accept not only his terms but himself. And that was just what hung upon this trip to New York. He needn't have come. He might have stayed sulkily at home, sure that in the long run they must yield. But he was prepared, once the main point was conceded, to be very yielding and conciliatory indeed.

John MacVeagh at this time was a handsome, striking figure. He lacked the polish of a metropolitan background. His clothes were good, but they lacked the smart touch only a smart tailor can give. And he lacked something else—something that men have who for a long time have had leisure. John MacVeagh had never had leisure. He had played baseball and football as a boy; since he had settled down to work he had had no time for games. He had never taken up golf; he would have scoffed at the idea of playing polo. He rode well, as a matter of fact, but he rode as a man does who uses a horse to get somewhere, not for exercise.

Foster received him in his office, in one of the new midtown buildings. From his windows the city lay spread out; Foster worked, as he lived, in a luxurious setting. His office was a vast, simply furnished room. But everything in it was good. MacVeagh was surprised by his comparative youth; he had expected to see an older man. Arthur Foster, he guessed, was not yet 40.

"Well—so here you are, at last!" he said, cordially. He rose and crossed the room to meet MacVeagh, walked with him, his hand resting on his shoulder, found him a comfortable chair. "We've come to be very curious about you, MacVeagh. You've run us ragged in your section."

"I had the same idea you had, but I had it first—and I was on the ground. That's the only reason," said John.

"I'm interested in men who have my ideas before I have them myself," said Foster. "That's one reason I wanted to see you. You've devilled poor Burton till he doesn't know what he's about. We'd have had a picture of you with horns and a long tail if we'd believed him."

"You may feel that way yourself before we're done," said John. "I think it may save time if I tell you that my terms aren't going to be modified."

Foster gave him a long, appraising look.

"I'm not sure that I want to modify them," he said, then, surprisingly, "I'll be as frank as you. I've an offer prepared for submission to you. We talked over Burton's report of his last conference with you, and agreed among ourselves that what you wanted was impossible. Now, after seeing you—well, I'm not so sure. I'm not prepared to say that for you to force us to take you in to our syndicate might not be just as good a thing for us as for you!"

John flushed with pleasure. Here was a tribute as great as any man might hope to receive. He had no illusions; he knew exactly what was going on. Foster had sized him up—correctly. He knew he had to yield. And, knowing that, he was trying to get the credit of doing so voluntarily. No man, no big man, especially, likes to let it be known that his hand has been forced.

And yet, though what Foster had said was flattering, was meant for flattery, it had been so cleverly done that MacVeagh was almost persuaded to accept it at full face value. He wanted to do so; any man would have wanted to do so. It was something to think that his manner, his personality were so compelling that in five minutes Arthur Foster, the most sensationally successful figure who had appeared in Wall street for many years, wanted to have him for an associate.

"Of course"—Foster was going on—"the decision is not wholly in my hands. The other members of the syndicate have something to say."

"No," said John. He had hold of himself now. "As a matter of fact, Mr. Foster, they haven't. I know it sounds absurd—but no one has anything to say about this except me, and I've said my last word. You have my proposition. It's take it or leave it."

"Well, we won't go into that," said Foster. "I might be able to convince you that we are not without certain resources, even now. I'm not disposed to try. I like you, MacVeagh. I shall tell my associates that I am in favor of accepting your terms."

John got up; so did Foster. He held out his hand.

"We're going to get along, you and I," he said. "I've suspected that for some time, without even having seen you. Now I know it. Let's not waste time discussing details. Leave it to me to persuade the others."

He looked at his watch.

"We're both busy men," he said. "I want you to dine with me tonight. We'll make a party of it. Is Mrs. MacVeagh with you?"

John shook his head. He wished now that he had brought her.

"I'm sorry," said Foster. "But I want you, at any rate, to meet Mrs. Foster. And no doubt she'll be able to find someone to console you. And there'll be others of your future associates along. Let's say half-past 7 for dinner—"

"It's good of you"—John was embarrassed. "But, the fact is I brought no evening clothes along—"

"We're about of a size," said Foster. "Drop around half an hour early. I'm quite sure my man can turn you out so that the rest of us will have no chance with the ladies!"

CANADA'S NAVAL CREWS WILL BE KEPT IN TRIM

While Ships Reconditioned Canadians Will Go on British Ships

OTTAWA, Jan. 12.—The authority of the Canadian parliament will be sought early this year for money to be spent on constructing the first warships to be built at the order of this country. Canada for several years has had a modest navy, but not one of the ships comprising that navy was constructed specifically at Canada's behest. The larger ships were presented to the Dominion by the mother country, while some of the smaller vessels were converted into "warships" after passing some years of their life in other and more peaceful pursuits. Following the war,, the British government outfitted Canada with the nucleus of a navy when it presented the Dominion with a light cruiser, Aurora, which had seen fighting at Heligoland, and two destroyers, Patriot and Patrician. These replaced a couple of obsolete vessels which Canada possessed during the war years in Niobe and Rainbow. A pair of submarines, some mine sweepers and drifters comprised the remainder of Canada's naval force.

OUT OF ORDER

In 1922 Aurora was put out of commission and laid up in Halifax dockyard, but Patriot and Patrician were continued in the service, the former at Halifax and the latter at Esquimault, B.C. Gradually the naval staff replaced their English crews with Canadians and Canadian officers, trained in the British navy, took the place of English-born officers as the latter retired or were transferred. The result has been that for the most part the personnel of the Canadian ships are now almost exclusively native-born.

With the passing of the years, the destroyers are going the way of the light cruiser, and although Aurora was never replaced, steps are to be taken to build a couple of vessels to do duty for Patriot and Patrician. Both of these ships have now been withdrawn from service, and vacated by their crews.

LOANS SHIPS

Meanwhile, Canada will not be without a navy during that period in which the new destroyers are under construction, for arrangements have been made with the British government for this country to obtain the loan of two other destroyers until the new ones are delivered.

At present two destroyers of the S-class are being reconditioned in England, Torbay and Toreador. They were built in 1919, and are three years younger than Patriot and Patrician. Naval authorities here point out that while 11 years for the older destroyers seems a short lease of life, Patriot and Patrician were built in a hurry and did not embody the workmanship which went into those ships completed after the war. They estimate that the new destroyers ordered for construction will last from 16 to 20 years, with the span of life closer to the second figure. While they are building Canada will have the loan of Torbay and Toreador, and on January 2 the crew of Patriot sailed from Halifax for Portsmouth, England, to take over one of these ships.

It will be some time before they can both be reconditioned, so instead of holding the Patriot's crew to the naval barracks in England, the program called for their temporary distribution throughout the ships of the British Atlantic fleet until the reconditioning is complete, when the crew will be transferred to the first replacement ship ready and will bring it back to Halifax.

The new ships will incorporate all that naval science has evolved in the building of destroyers. They will have a speed of 37 knots, will carry four 4.7's and six torpedo tubes.

POLICE WOMEN MAKE ARRESTS

Big Men Wilt When Accosted by Members Women's Auxiliary Corps

LONDON, Jan. 12.—Big strong men wilt when arrested by a police woman, says Commandant Mary S. Allen, head of the women's auxiliary corps who has been doing police work since 1914. Women, taken into custody, cause considerable more trouble, she avers.

Commandant Allen, a striking feature in her uniform and who wore a trim Elton crop long before that mode of hair dress became fashionable, told a meeting here that the public had acquired a false confidence that conditions of the streets were improving. It is her belief that things are getting worse.

In opposing suggestions that the women police of London should discard their uniforms and that their duties should be restricted, the commandant said, she had never had anything to fear when arresting men as the uniform helped to give the police woman every appearance of authority.

"There is a tendency to make the womens' auxiliary corps into a body of official rescue workers attached to the police force and we resent this," said Commandant Allen.

"We want the same status as the policeman, and we want the right to wear a uniform when this is necessary."

Commandant Allen said it had often been said that a woman was not equal to dealing with men in the streets, and, if necessary, arresting them.

"I have never, since I took up this work, had any violence used to me at all," she said. "I once had my cap knocked off, but that is a temptation for any member of the community.

"I could tell hundreds of stories of how, during the war, and since, I have been called upon to settle a street fight. From the physical ppint of view we have no need to fear any man or woman.

"During the war period I arrested so many men that I really never thought anything about it. They were always as meek as could be."

Canadians Measure Well as Citizens of Law-Abiding Order

PHILADELPHIA, Jan. 13.—In an address here tonight before the Philadelphia Forum on the criminal law of Canada, Mr. Justice W. K. Riddell of the supreme court of Ontario, said that native Canadians measure up pretty well as law-abiding citizens among the people of the North American continent.

Speaking of the result of the administration of the law in the Dominion, Mr. Justice Riddell said: "I do not claim that we have in Canada a population that is naturally more law-abiding than any other, but I can fairly say that we measure up pretty well among the peoples of the continent.

"Our native folk are very law-abiding, but we have the misfortune to have somewhat large and increasing foreign population, and this foreign element raises our crime record beyond what it should be."

Care of Babies

Why do so many, many babies of today escape all the little fretful spells and infantile ailments that used to worry mothers through the day, and keep them up half the night?

If you don't know the answer, you haven't discovered pure, harmless Castoria. It is sweet to the taste, and sweet in the little stomach. And its gentle influence seems felt all through the tiny system. Not even a distasteful dose of castor oil does so much good. And it is so pleasant to take. Taste it yourself, and you'll know why "Children Cry for It."

Fletcher's Castoria is purely vegetable, so you may give it freely, at first sign of colic; or when you even suspect the approach of constipation; or diarrhea. Or those many times when you just don't know what is the matter. For real sickness, call the doctor, always. At other times, a few drops of Fletcher's Castoria. See how quickly all fretfulness or wakefulness will cease!

Only one word of warning: the above advice is true of genuine Castoria.* The kind called Fletcher's, bearing Fletcher's signature is genuine—and does not contain opiates or any other drug that can harm your baby. Other preparations may be just as free from harm; the writer does not know as to that, but does know one family whose children will never make the experiment!

*SPECIAL NOTE: With every bottle of genuine Fletcher's Castoria is wrapped a book on "Care and Feeding of Babies" worth its weight in gold to every mother or prospective mother.

tocks Help George Make Stock Names

By AL DEMAREE

(Former Pitcher New York Giants)

George Stallings, former Miracle Man anager of the Boston Braves, was a iracle man in the art of epithet. After he victorious world series of 1914, all he Braves bought automobiles. The ext summer George used the name of he automobile each player had bought s a prefix to the epithets he was eternally hurling at his men during the ame.

"You Pierce-Arrow blank blank," he would call Dick Rudolph. "You Buick blankety-blank," he would address another. One player has bought a cheap car, the name of which Stallings couldn't remember, so he called him "You Motorcycle blankety-blank."

Another year the players were playing the stock market considerably, and George used the stocks as prefixes. "You Central Leather blank-blank," he would shout, or "You American T. and T. blankety-blank," or "You Anaconda blank-blank."

CUP TIES PLAY GETS START IN BRITAIN TODAY

Luck of Draw Favors Big Clubs; Blackburn Versus Newcastle

LONDON, England, Jan. 12.—The first act of that great national sporting drama—the round in which the major clubs enter the English Football Association cup competition—is scheduled to take place next Saturday, January 14. Previous rounds have sifted out the little fellows and the weaklings in the minor divisions of the English league. The same keenness which has marked the public interest in the competition in past years is reported to exist this season. The luck of the draw has favored the big clubs and has swung directly against the southern clubs and the amateurs.

In all probability the first division teams will be found to have a bigger proportion of clubs in the next round than usual. There are only three instances where first division teams are opposing one another. Seven senior teams will have second division clubs as opponents. Eight third division clubs are drawn against first division teams and in six of them the latter have ground advantage. London teams have not been generously treated. A dozen of the city's clubs, including the greater amateur club of the Corinthians, are interested. The Arsenals are the only seniors to be drawn at home. Millwall, playing the game of their lives this year and heading the standing in the southern section of the third division, are lucky. They meet Derby county at home and should be confident of the outcome, as they beat this team in the fourth round at Derby last year. The London Caledonians, an amateur club, are also at home and must meet Crewe Alexandra. Another London tie will be Charlton Athletic versus Bury.

BEST CONTEST

Among the games in which the first division teams play each other, the best will likely be the meeting of Blackburn Rovers and Newcastle United.

Newspaper prophets have picked the following to win: Corinthians, Bury, Clapton Orient, Aston Villa, Blackburn Rovers, Middlesbrough, Leicester City, Cardiff City, Everton, Sheffield United, the Wednesday, Huddersfield Town, Bolton Wanderers, Sunderland, Oldham Athletic, Port Vale, Reading, Manchester City, Notts Forest, Stoke City, Swansea Town and Rotherham United. The cupholders, Cardiff City, are at home to Southampton.

The draw follows:

Middlesbrough vs. South Shields.
Rotherham United vs. Exeter City.
London Caledonians vs. Crewe Alexandra.
Hull City vs. Leicester City.
Liverpool vs. Darlington.
Huddersfield Town vs. Lincoln City.
Southport vs. Fulham.
Nottingham Forest vs. Tranmere Rovers.
Blackpool vs. Oldham Athletic.
Manchester United vs. Brentford.
Stoke City vs. Gillingham.
Cardiff City vs. West Bromwich Albion.

SHARKEY DRAWS WITH HEENEY IN BITTER BATTLE

Critics Say Heeney Has Edge and Decision Is Booed; Sharkey Comes Back

(By ALAN J. GOULD)

MADISON SQUARE GARDEN, New York, Jan. 13.—Jack Sharkey and Tom Heeney, rival heavyweight title aspirants, fought to a slashing draw tonight in a 12-round match that upset the "dope" and left experts as well as spectators sharply divided in opinion.

Apparently believing that Heeney's bulldog aggressiveness had given him the edge, the crowd of 17,000 onlookers set up a chorus of boos and jeers after the decision.

It was a close fight from start to finish, but a shock to the critics who had installed Sharkey a heavy favorite, as well as a disappointment to those expecting the bout to develop an outstanding contender for Gene Tunney's crown.

SHARKEY COMEBACK

Sharkey gained the draw by a fighting comeback in the last few rounds, after Heeney had piled up a substantial early margin on points, but the now "silent sailor" was far from the cool, confident and ruthlessly efficient fighting machine of a year ago.

Heeney, battling with bulldog grit and ferocity, forced the going from start to finish.

HEENEY CONNECTS

From the third round through to the seventh, Heeney kept plugging away with telling effect. In the fifth round he landed a vicious right hander that sent Sharkey flying to the ropes. This was the hardest blow of the entire fight and the only one that came close to accounting for a knockdown. Sharkey went to his knees in the tenth round, but it was from the force of a missed right hook.

The official vote of the two judges and referee, Jack Denning, will not be disclosed until tomorrow, but expert opinion was at wide variance tonight. Most of the critics appeared to give Sharkey a slight edge, but few registered more than seven rounds in his favor, while others scored an edge for Heeney.

If anything, it was a moral victory for the New Zealander, who, from a crude and little-known fighter a year ago, has developed into one of the most formidable heavyweights on the list.

PRELIMS

Lou Bogash, veteran light-heavyweight from Bridgeport, Conn., fought to a draw with "Sunny Jim" Williams, California negro, in a 10-round preliminary to the Sharkey-Heeney heavyweight match tonight. Both weighed 170.

Half an hour before the main bout got going, the big arena was nearly filled with indications of a crowd of around 18,000, and a record "gat" approaching $200,000.

In a four-round preliminary, Larry Creighton, 184, of Danbury, Conn., won the decision from Mike Sankowitz, 189½, of Paterson, N.J.

LARRY GAINS GETS DECISION

Beats Humbeck of Belgium in Ten Rounds of Close Fighting

TORONTO, Jan. 13.—Larry Gains, colored Toronto heavyweight, gained the decision in his 10-round bout here tonight with John Humbeck, Belgian fighter. The fighter was close and the decision met with some disapproval from the crowd.

The affair was strenuously contested, and was featured by heavy punching on both sides. Some 5000 fans attended.

Until the ninth round, the two men kept fairly well even. Gains scored with his left jabs to Humbeck's face, but apparently was not hitting hard enough to bother the sturdy Antwerp boy. The latter's hard left hooks to the body kept Gains at a distance throughout.

In the ninth things brightened up. Humbeck started it off with a terrific right to the head that staggered Gains, but Larry retaliated with lefts and rights to the head. Gains was backing up all through the tenth round, with his opponent trying desperately to land a finishing punch.

In the eighth round semi-final, George Fifield, welterweight champion of Canada, knocked out Joe Mullaney of Boston, in the second round.

MONTE MUNN LOSES TO ITALIAN CHAMP

BOSTON, Jan. 13.—Roberto Roberti, heavyweight champion of Italy, scored a technical knockout over Monte Munn in the sixth round of a 10-round bout here last night. He knocked Munn out of the ring and the big Nebraskan was unable to continue.

DULUTH WINS

DULUTH, Minn., Jan. 13.—Taking the lead in the opening period, the league-leading Duluth Hornets defeated St. Paul 2-0 in an American Hockey association match. There were few penalties.

NICK CONTINI IS DEFEATED IN KIMBERLEY

Trail Battler Dropped Twice in Second and Once in Third Round by Fraser

KIMBERLEY, B.C., Jan. 13.—Before a crowd of over 400 at the big bonspiel boxing tournament here tonight, Hughie Fraser of Kimberley was awarded the decision over Nick Contini of Trail in the third round of what was to have been a six round go. Contini had taken the count twice in the second round and in the third. Fraser again dropped him to the ropes and the floor. The match was called. Interesting preliminaries was staged in wrestling and boxing.

Says Novelist Would Have Done Better as an Architect, England

LONDON, Jan. 13.—The Daily Express today quoted the late Thomas Hardy's cousin in Tersa as saying that the novelist should have taken to architecture rather than literature.

"Tom was a bright lad, but he would have done better to stick to architecture; he would have done well for himself there," she told the Express correspondent in her little cottage in Upper Rockhampton village near Dorchester where she and Hardy were born. "Mind you, Tom did not do fair. He put bits of us into his books. How he did it I don't know. He put bits of me into a book and called it "Tess." He knew how I loved my parents and he made 'Tess' do the same," the old lady said.

"Then he thought of the village choir and church and put us into 'Under the Green Wood Tree', but he made me a school mistress playing the organ. He put them all in. He was full of tricks, was Tom."

MIGRATION IS HUMAN BUSINESS

Amery Says Main Business of Great Britain Is to Cooperate With Canada

EDMONTON, Jan. 13.—"Migration is a purely human business. We study statistics but at the bottom of it all is the individual case," said the Hon. L. C. Amery, addressing the Women's Canadian club here this afternoon. There are many aspects to consider, he said. It is a big thing for a family to pull up stakes and leave familiar surroundings to start anew in a strange country. Some of the spirit which characterized the old-timers is needed in every family leaving known comforts and setting out to carve life anew for themselves. Often the heads of families realize that they are not going to be much better off, themselves, but they feel that they are going to give their children a chance.

The main object of Great Britain, said Colonel Amery, is to cooperate with Canada and help build up Canada. The mother country aims to send out men and women who are able to make a success in the country.

"I am convinced that the settler's wife is the most important part of the combination. If she is to show the right spirit, it will pull the man through. If she is unsuitable, no prepared to make the sacrifice, in many cases, a promising settler will throw up the enterprise and drift back to the cities, thereby adding to the unemployment situation. The settler's wife plays a big part in making the undertaking a success."

Lieutenant-Colonel Amery and his party left tonight for Calgary.

HUSBAND AWARDED DAMAGES BY JURY

TORONTO, Jan. 13.—"Any man who violates a husband's right to his wife must pay damages. It is up to you to say how much," Mr. Justice Wright today told the jury in the action of L. W. Malpass for $15,000 damages against Ernest Emmett. The jury awarded Malpass $2000. The plaintiff asserted that Emmett took advantage of his wife after giving her wine, while he himself was in hospital, and that he continued to do so thereafter by playing upon her fear of discovery. Emmett denied the statements. Mr. Malpass is at present in England.

Dyspepsia Troubled Him for Many Years

Mr. J. Savoy, Loggieville, N.B., writes:—"I have suffered for many years from dyspepsia and could not seem to get any relief.

"One day I told my wife I thought I would try a bottle of and when I had half of it taken I felt a lot better, so I continued until I had taken two bottles, and now have no pains and no coated tongue, and feel that I am completely rid of my trouble."

SAYS EAST MUST PULL WITH WEST

National Development at Stage Where Unity Needed, Says Calgary Man

CALGARY, Jan. 13.—Commenting on the interrelationship that now exists between all sections of Canada, C. O. Smith, president of the Calgary board of trade, in his annual report, presented at noon today said:

"We have reached a stage of national development in Canada when no city or section can ignore conditions affecting the immediate prosperity of any city or section. Increased confidence and well being in the maritime provinces reacts upon trade in western Canada. The growth of the pulp and paper industry of Ontario and Quebec provides new markets for the wheat and wheat products of the prairie provinces. The development of the Flin Flon mining area will bring benefit to Toronto Montreal and Calgary, as well as to Winnipeg and Saskatoon. When Alberta gets a larger return for its grain by utilizing the Vancouver grain route this means additional demands for the manufactured products of the east. Increased employment in the industries of Ontario is quickly felt by the cattle industry of Alberta which almost immediately feels the increased demand of meat. There are many other reasons besides the wheat crop why eastern Canada should follow with interest and sympathy the efforts of western people to build successfully in these provinces. In turn we of the west should abandon the parochial outlook respecting our immediate situation and look with broader vision upon the needs of the industrial east. The interests of all parts of Canada are correlated and the interests of all parts will be advanced by pulling together in this country, not by pulling separately or apart."

C. P. R. BRINGS IN MANY COLONISTS

Figures for Year Show 53,000 Added to Canada's Population

MONTREAL, Jan. 13.—Approximately 53,000 new colonists were directly added to Canada's population in 1927 through the instrumentality of the department of colonization and development, Canadian Pacific railway, according to a report today of J. N. K. McAlister, the assistant commissioner of that department.

While the majority were secured by the department's organization in the British Isles and the European continent which covers all of the preferred countries, a large number came through the United States organization which works in the argicultural states.

In the past year the Canada Colonization association with headquarters at Winnipeg, maintained a subsidiary of the department of colonization and development, settled 626 families of 3443 persons in 162,982 acres of land, these transactions involving a sum of more than $6,000,000.

STOCKS TAKE ON HIGHER PRICES

Industrials and Rails Vie for Leadership on Wall Street

NEW YORK, Jan. 13.—The stock market resumed its march to higher ground today, with speculative interest shifting from the industrials to the rails and back to the industrials again. Friday, the 13th, kept many superstitious traders out of the market, but it had no jinx for at least of polls which marked up their favorites 2 to 9 points.

Rails assumed leadership of the market in the early afternoon, but the buying flurry in several of the high grade issues failed to follow through. Nickel Plate jumped 5½ points and lost 1, and New York Central, Pittsburgh & West Virginia and a few others advanced 2 points or more.

United States Steel common and General Motors each closed fractionally higher than a day of backing and filling. Packard moved up 1½ points, but the other motors moved within narrow limits. Collins & Aikman, manufacturers of automobile upholstering, was run up more than 5 points, to 109⅞, closing near the top.

Radio Corporation touched 104½ and then, backing up to 102¾, closed there, up 3¼ net. International Nickel touched another new peak at 95⅜, and Greene Cananea Copper ran up 4 points but lost half the gain.

The day's maximum net advances were registered by Adams Express and United States Cast Iron Pipe, each up 9 points.

Total sales, 2,159,300 shares.

Toronto—Wholesale business is fairly active. Retail trade quiet. Collections satisfactory.

Winnipeg—A fair volume of business is being transacted by wholesale groceries; dry goods, gents' furnishings, ladies' wear and kindred lines. The very unseasonable weather prevailing during the past 10 days has brought the retail business pretty well to a standstill with the exception of rubbers, which have been in good demand. Country retail trade quiet. Collections fair.

Regina—Wholesale grocery houses report sales as fair. Hardware, dry goods, and boots and shoes rather quiet, but it is normal for this time of the year. Collections fair.

Saskatoon—A good volume of business was enjoyed by wholesale grocery and boot and shoe dealers during the past week. Dry goods and hardware only fair. Retail trade in the city has been good. Country retail fair. Collections fair to good.

Calgary — Business generally suffering from the usual after-Christmas lull. Conditions, however, are of the very best except in districts where large proportions of crop has not been threshed.

Edmonton—Extremely mild weather has had the effect of slackening up business considerably from country points. City business fairly good. Collections just fair.

Vancouver—All lines of trade, both wholesale and retail, report business as rather quiet. The lumber industry is very quiet.

FARMERS AGREE ON PROPOSALS FOR A UNION

United Farmers, Manitoba, to Join Provincial Section of Canadian Body

PORTAGE LA PRAIRIE, Man., Jan. 13.—Concrete proposals for the amalgamation of the United Farmers of Manitoba and the provincial section of the United Farmers of Canada were approved unanimously at today's session of the U.F.M. annual convention.

The plan of union was introduced by W. R. Wood, Winnipeg, shortly after the convention had gone on record as opposed to further acceptance of financial grants from any commercial organizations. This had formed the stumbling block to consummation of union in previous years.

The basis of amalgamation stipulates that an invitation should be extended to the members and lodges of the U.F.C. to join the U.F.M. on the payment of the fee which may be agreed upon for 1928; it invites the U. F. C. to appoint two members to sit with the elected members of the U.F.M. board of directors until the next election of officers, with full executive privileges in the combined organization; agrees that any further modification of the constitution may be passed upon at the next annual convention; directs its board to arrange for an amalgamation picnic of which the purpose should be to demonstrate the unity attained by the farmers of the province; deputes the president of the U.F.M. and representatives of the U.F.C. chosen on acceptance of the amalgamation plan to visit the various affiliating lodges and welcoming them into membership, and urges a province-wide drive for membership during the ensuing year.

This gesture for unity will be placed before the annual convention of the United Farmers of Canada, to be held in Dauphin, Man., next week. Indorsation of the plan was greeted by a prolonged demonstration of cheering and applause.

TO MEET AT BRANDON

The delegates agreed upon Brandon as the 1928 meeting place. The women in separate session reelected Mrs. E. Gee of Verden to the United Farmer Women of Manitoba presidency, and Mrs. T. W. McClelland, Letellier, as vice-president, created Peter Wright of Myrtle, Man., as honorary president, and disposed of a number of deferred reports and resolutions, interspersing these items was an address on the liquor problem in the province by W. R. Wood, secretary of the Manitoba Prohibition alliance.

SAYS IS DETRIMENT

Among the resolutions indorsed was one disapproving the premature publication of estimates of crop conditions by newspapers and other agencies. This practice was assailed as detrimental to agriculture.

A number of resolutions were indorsed at the meeting of the women. These gave approval of the services provided by the provincial department of health, urged the government to extend its health nursing services to all parts of Manitoba and more adequate service provided for maternal and infant welfare work.

To the Editor Daily News:

Dear Sir—Will you kindly publish the following letter:

I wish to thank the people that supported me in the civic election as commissioner. And also that Mayor Barnes and Mr. Choate will give every assistance to Mr. Maber which he is perfectly entitled to in the stand he has taken, and if so this will be British fairplay which the majority of the people are asking for.

I am, Sir, Yours Truly,

P. J. SHERAN.

Nelson Progresses From Fog to Sunshine, Then to Ice and Then Snow

Wednesday Nelson was bathed in fog, Thursday it enjoyed its sunniest day of the winter, that night the weather turned cold and coated the snow with ice, which softened a bit yesterday. Last evening the landscape was white again under a new coat of snow, which fell heavily all night.

All Wednesday and Thursday the thaw continued, the extremes the first day being 34 and 39 degrees, and the second day 35 and 42 degrees, the latter the warmest of the winter. Yesterday's temperatures were 32 and 35 degrees.

MRS. PITTS IS AGAIN AT HELM OF INSTITUTE

Officers of 1927 Reelected to Office en Masse; Fifty-Seven Members

MRS. PITTS REPORTS GREAT WORK OF YEAR

Realize Isolation Hospital Ambition; Finances Are in Good Shape

Starting 1928 with a membership of 57, Nelson and District Women's institute, held its annual meeting in the institute rooms on Victoria street yesterday afternoon. Mrs. H. H. Pitts, president, was in the chair.

The 1928 officers of the institute were returned for another year by acclamation. They are: Mrs. H. H. Pitts, president; Mrs. A. Terrill, first vice-president; Mrs. William Rutherford, second vice-president; and Mrs. H. Mackenzie, secretary-treasurer. Two directors elected to assist the officers were Mrs. A. H. W. Crossley and Mrs. H. Thorpe.

FINANCES GOOD

Receipts and expenditures of the institute during the year balanced at $692.80. Its cash balance at the end of 1927 was $63.87, and among its assets was numbered a bond purchased in 1925 for $92.48.

Outstanding among expenditures during 1927 was the furnishing of a four-bed ward at the isolation hospital. The fund was instituted some time ago by the institute, and $301.13 was entirely swallowed up by furnishing the ward.

A dontation of $10 was voted toward expenses of the recent district conference.

MRS. PITTS REPORTS

Official opening of the institute rooms will be at a ceremony to take place shortly. Invitations to attend the opening will be forwarded to every women's organization in the city.

In her annual report Mrs. H. H. Pitts, president, urged continued recognizance of the institute's motto—"Harmony and Cooperation."

This institute has a splendid reputation throughout the province," she said. "We are called the premier institute of the province."

During the past year the institute boasted over 100 members.

BIG BABY CLINICS

The biggest work done, she reported, was the equipping of a four-bed ward in the isolation hospital, complete in every detail, with the best furnishings it was possible to buy. The money was raised by means of cut lace classes. Since the hospital was opened, 17 patients have been treated in it, six having been in it at one time.

With the exception of Vancouver, the Nelson institute had the largest attendance in the province at its baby clinics, records showed. Young mothers were deriving great benefit from the clinic.

REST ROOM BIG THING

Another splendid work was that done in the institute's rest room. Mrs. Pitts visioned it as a great future benefit. She could not find words, she said, to express her gratification to the city council for providing it.

Child welfare and crippled work was "very dear to us." The institute was furthering this work as best it could.

Mrs. Pitts referred to the girls' home economics judging competition as "an excellent thing for our girls." Conducted last year at the Vancouver exhibition under the auspices of the province women's institutes, it was to become an annual affair.

Concluding, she thanked the executive and members for their wonderful cooperation throughout 1927, and expressed a hope that the same cordial relations would continue.

Begins Familiarizing Himself With His Job; Meets Deputations

BAMFORD, PEEBLES ALSO TAKE OATHS

Other Elected Men Not Yet in Harness; Organization Next Thursday

Nelson's new mayor, R. D. Barnes, lost no time in stepping into harness yesterday morning, taking the oath of office administered to him by City Clerk W. E. Wasson, and beginning an intensive study of the city's affairs.

Various minor decisions fell to his lot and he had to sign a few documents, look into various matters submitted to him, and receive deputations.

WORKS OVERTIME

He put in so much time at the city hall off and on during the day that he had to work several hours last night at his own office to clean up the day's business.

Alderman W. B. Bamford and Alderman R. A. Peebles also subscribed their oaths of office, and spent some time discussing civic affairs.

The other aldermen-elect, Dr. H. H. MacKenzie and J. P. Morgan, have not yet been sworn in. W. T. Choate, police commissioner, also has yet to assume his dignities.

So far as the city council is concerned organization will be effected at a meeting next Thursday night, the date fixed in the statute.

WOMEN CONDEMN HICKMAN FILMS AND HEADLINES

Institute Indorses Resolution of Island Board to Shut Out Former

WILL PROTEST TO THE DAILY NEWS

Crime Headlines and Dispatches in News Declared Hurtful to School Children

Criticizing The Daily News for its Hickman, Mrs. Snyder and "Strangler" headlines, Nelson and District Women's institute raised a protest at its meeting in the institute rooms on Victoria street yesterday afternoon, at the alleged practice of the paper of "playing up" crime news, claiming the stories were unfit to be read by school children, who were urged, as part of their curriculum, to read The Daily News.

The members also indorsed a resolution of the district board of Islands Women's institutes condemning films regarding the Hickman case. The institute will send its indorsation to Joseph Walters, film censor, at Vancouver.

THE RESOLUTION

"Whereas, There has appeared, among numerous other photographs of Hickman, self-confessed murderer, a set of three pictures on page 2 of the Seattle Post-Intelligencer of December 24, 1927, with the name of the International Newsreal Photo in the lower left-hand corner, the whole page topped by the following screaming headlines: 'Loeb and Leopold His Inspiration, Hickman Tells Guards'; and,

"Whereas, Pictures depicting news of the day by the International Newsreel are supplied to theaters throughout the length and breadth of our land; and,

"Whereas, Pictures dealing with such crimes as the Los Angeles murder do nothing to steady the judgment, stimulate the reason, or enlighten the mind; and,

"Whereas, Such headlines, pictures and details, on the contrary, directly incite the passions, brutalize the heart, encourage morbid imagination and have resulted in duplicating the crime; and,

"Whereas, The screen is one of the major factors in shaping the future destiny of our country in the matter of mind, character and standards of the multitude; therefore be it

"Resolved, That we, the District Board of Island Women's institutes, in special meeting assembled, do pray that no pictures, headlines or details dealing with the crime be allowed upon our screen, and that a copy of this resolution be sent to the censor and to the Federated Women's Clubs of U. S. A."

TO WRITE TO NEWS

The Nelson Women's institute will send a letter of strong protest to The Daily News concerning its headlines.
