LIM GIM

Well-known wealthy Chinese merchant of Vancouver, who, because he appealed his conviction and four-year sentence on a charge of having sold narcotics, has been sentenced to seven years and has surrendered to begin to serve his term.

In addition two fines of $500 each, which had been imposed upon him, have been raised to $1000 in each case.

URGE CONTROL OF MARKET IN SPUD INDUSTRY

B. C. Fruit and Produce Men Claim Law Necessary to Save White Growers

VANCOUVER, Jan. 25. — Vancouver fruit and produce dealers are of the opinion that without some form of market control, particularly in regard to potatoes, white men will have to abandon both the producing and distribution of the crop in British Columbia.

This view was expressed by several speakers at a meeting of the British Columbia Fruit and Produce association held today at the request of F. M. Black, chairman of the interior committee of direction of the British Columbia marketing board.

Suggestions were made that the attempt to control the marketing of potatoes this season be abandoned and properly instituted over the whole province for the next crop, but Chairman Black stated it would be impossible to get an amendment to the Marketing act in time to handle the present crop.

Father McDonnell Goes to Old Country for More Settlers for Donald Land

MONTREAL, Jan. 25.—"I hope to establish a yet larger colony of British settlers in Alberta when I can secure the land," said Rev. Father R. A. McDonnell, managing-director of the Scottish Immigrant Aid society, here today just prior to leaving for St. John, at which port he is sailing on the Minnedosa to England.

Father McDonnell, who is the sponsor and founder of the Clan Donald and Saddle lake colonies in northern Alberta, is to continue his recruiting in Scotland and Ireland and expects to return in the spring with the 30 families required to complete the colonization of the Clan Donald colony.

Saskatoon Editor Found Guilty of Criminal Libel

SASKATOON, Sask., Jan. 25.—Gerald Dealtry, editor of the Saskatoon Reporter, a newspaper published here twice a month, was found guilty here tonight of criminal libel. The charge was made by John James Mahoney, lecturer, student for the Presbyterian ministry and former student for Holy Orders in the Roman Catholic church. There were three separate counts based on statements regarding Mahoney published in the paper. Mahoney has been giving a series of lectures in Saskatoon and other parts of the province in which he criticized the doctrines of the Roman Catholic church.

Dealtry was fined $200, or, in default of payment, three months' imprisonment.

Presbyterians Will Go to Legislature on Property Discussion

REGINA, Jan. 25. — Failing almost completely to reach an agreement on the vexed church property question with the United church, representatives of the provincial Presbyterian synod will renew their appeal to the legislature, seeking the appointment of a commission of three with mandatory powers to make property adjustments where it may be found that Presbyterian minorities have suffered any hardship as a result of the legislation.

NELSON MEMBER PAYS TRIBUTE TO LATE PREMIER

Seconds Reply to the Throne Speech; Says People Have Confidence in Government

BYELECTION RESULTS EVIDENCE OF TRUST

Urges Opening Up of Kootenay District; Lauds Way Bridge Question Being Handled

VICTORIA, Jan. 25.—British Columbia is in sound financial condition with its government firm in the confidence of the financial world and its premier enjoying the personal esteem of the public in the fullest degree, J. A. McDonald, newly elected member for Nelson, declared when seconding the reply to the speech from the throne. Dr. MacLean was a worthy successor to the late Premier Oliver, he declared, paying tribute to his predecessor as one whose achievements would find an illustrious place in British Columbia history.

"The people of the province," concluded Mr. McDonald, "not alone of Liberal mind, but of independent thought, have shown their confidence in our present premier in the last few months in marked fashion. The trebling of the majority by his candidate in New Westminster over any majority of a previous Liberal candidate in the constituency and my own election by the reversal of a Conservative vote on two recent occasions, was surely evidence that the public is prepared to trust our premier."

"Mr. Speaker:

"I beg to second the motion just made by the honorable member for New Westminster.

"Mr. Speaker: I come to this house not for the purpose of taking its time by lengthy remarks on my part, but rather to give of the very best assistance I can to the government of the day in carrying on the important matter of the administration of the affairs of this province; and, secondly, that I may give the honorable the premier and his ministers the best advice I can with regard to measures of assistance, legislative and administrative, which will bring about sound and reasonably rapid development not alone of my own city of Nelson, but of the Kootenay and boundary portion of the province generally.

"I desire at the very outset to join with all the members of this house and with the people of the province as a whole in their expression of regret at the passing of a really great man, the late prime minister of this province, Mr. Oliver. No man ever devoted more whole-heartedly and in a more self-sacrificing way all his energies in the service of a people than our late premier. He was gifted with unusual mental qualities. He was a man of intellect, of vision and of tremendous industry. We, of the city of Nelson, felt that we were highly honored in having the prime minister of the province as our representative in this house. One ventures the opinion that when the pages of the recent history of our province are written, the name of John Oliver and his accomplishments will occupy a conspicuous place. He took charge of our affairs at a trying time—during the war—and he piloted us through the difficulties of the war period and of the period of reconstruction with judgment, and, above all, with safety. His leadership set the province again upon the path of progress, and for my part, I have the utmost confidence that his minister, our present premier who succeeded him, will carry on earnestly, energetically and progressively.

"The people of this province, not alone of Liberal mind but of independent thought, have shown their confidence in our present premier and his government in the last few months in very marked fashion. The trebling of the majority by his candidate in the constituency of New Westminster over any majority of a Liberal candidate in that constituency on previous occasions and my own election by the reversal of a Conservative vote on two very recent occasions was early evidence that the people are prepared to trust our premier.

"Speaking as a business man, I realize I think the greatness of the problems of government in a vast province such as ours, with a population scattered sparsely throughout its length and breadth. The variety of our natural resources throughout British Columbia necessitates diversified legislation and administration. The business of government in British Columbia is easily the most important business in the province, and I doubt greatly if government in any province presents such a variety of problem as it does in this. One may look in disinterested quarters for an expression of opinion as to whether government is being satisfactorily carried on. Captious critics, speaking from the ranks of a political opposition, are prejudiced and unreliable. The bankers and the bond houses have put their seal of approval on the conduct of affairs in this province in no uncertain fashion. It is idle to tell me that my affairs are not in good shape if my banker says to me that he is prepared to lend me money at a rate more favorable than to any of his other customers. I prefer to listen to my banker

Move and Second Reply to Speech From the Throne, Victoria

MAYOR WELLS GRAY

At yesterday's session of the B. C. legislature Mayor Wells Gray and J. A. McDonald moved and seconded the reply to the speech from the throne.

Walkem Joins the Conservative Force in the Legislature

VICTORIA, Jan. 25.—George A. Walkem, one of the three members returned to the legislature at the last election under the banner of the Provincial party, this afternoon announced in the house that he would henceforth ally himself with the Conservative party. Mr. Walkem, who represents Richmond-Point Grey, stated that the executive of the Provincial party earlier in the week, had passed a resolution which "released the three Provincial party members in the house from any allegiance which they feel they owed to the Provincial party, and instructed them to do what they thought best in the interests of good government."

Northern Ireland Is in Danger From the Republicans in South

BELFAST, Jan. 25.—The annual report of the Ulster Unionist council says that there is danger to northern Ireland from the Republican party in the south.

"At the last general election, Eamon De Valera (the Republican leader) received an unexpectedly large measure of support, and as his attitude toward Ulster is one of bitter hostility, his return to power would place the north in a position of the utmost gravity," the report says.

ZIONISTS MEET AMERY ON TAXATION ISSUES

OTTAWA, Jan. 25.—A delegation of Zionist leaders of both Canada and the United States today waited upon Rt. Hon. L. C. Amery, British secretary of state for dominion affairs, urging the alleviation of what they termed "handicaps placed on the Zionist endeavor by the seeming indifference of the Palestine government to economic and taxation reforms essential for the development of the Jewish national home."

Colonel Amery told the delegation a method of taxation on a fixed assessment instead of as at present on annual produce, was being introduced in Palestine and would eventually complete displace the latter.

The delegation was headed by Louis Lipsky, president of the Zionist organization of America, and Archibald J. Frieman, president of the Zionist Federation of Canada.

SAYS INNOCENCE EVIDENTLY THE LIB PASSWORD

Province Says Throne Speech "Masterpiece of Art of Saying Nothing"

VANCOUVER, Jan. 25.—Commenting on the speech from the throne the Vancouver Province says, "it was a masterpiece of art of saying nothing. If things were always just what they seemed in politics we could take it from the proceedings in the legislature yesterday, that the present session was going to be a remarkably peaceful and uneventful affair. We prefer to think that this is the sort of thing the satirist meant when he said—speech was art of concealing thought.

Innocence is evidently to be the password and principle of the MacLean government during the fourth session. There is that matter of the acknowledged deficit for instance. It seems, on making up the books of British Columbia for the last fiscal year, although actual revenue exceeded anticipated revenue by half a million, the province has spent $260,000 more than it took in.

Premier MacLean does not try to conceal this shortage by any of the usual tricks of the bookkeeping trade. He comes forward candidly and says it was the failure of the Fuel Oil tax—declared to be invalid by the courts—to supply revenue, and also it was the using of $3,000,000 from the revenue capital account. The thing to remember is that word has been passed for a general election some time this year. That prospect imposes a severe handicap upon the candor of most unsophisticated statesman.

Manitoba Roads Are in Bad Shape Following Real Heavy Blizzard

WINNIPEG, Jan. 25.—In some sections of Manitoba, particularly in southern districts, roads were practically impassable tonight following a blizzard which raged with intense fury during the morning and early afternoon hours. A biting northwest wind piled snow into huge drifts on roadways.

Fund to Replace Battalion Colors Swells; District Is Contributing

Though regretting beyond measure the loss of their colors in the disastrous fire at St. Saviour's church yesterday, men of the 54th Kootenay battalion will not suffer defeat in this any more than they would countenance it from 1914 to 1918.

They have started a subscription list which, they hope, will provide the money needed to replace the battalion and king's colors. It is thought about $500 will be needed. At midnight last night $30.50 had been contributed.

As the news of the destruction of St. Saviour's spread over the district, men who had served overseas thought immediately of the 54th colors. A number called The Daily News for information.

KASLO CONTRIBUTES

Capt. W. A. Richardson, an overseas, though not a 54th man, started things rolling yesterday after talking over the situation with citizens. He found everyone, even those who never joined the colors, ready and anxious to help.

J. R. Anderson phoned from Kaslo to promise a substantial subscription from himself and Mrs. Kimball and family. Mrs. Kimball is the widow of Lieut.-Col. H. G. Kimball, who commanded the 54th overseas until his death on March 1, 1917.

Subscriptions to date follow:

W. A. Richardson	$5.00	Major Gilbert Anderson	2.50
Col. A. W. N. Taylor, W. Pt.	5.00	Tom Hurst	2.00
A. Levy, New Denver	4.00	R. J. Hewitt	2.00

54th Battalion and King's Colors Charred Beyond Recognition

Congregation Looking Forward to Enthronement of Bishop in Chancel

Hinting at blood-soaked fields in Europe, telling of unfaltering Canadian boys who left their homes and work to fight for God and their country, the colors of the 54th Kootenay Battalion hung in silken folds in St. Saviour's church on Sunday. Beautiful, they were.

Today the battalion and King's colors are charred bits of bunting, and the battle flag is fire-scarred, unrecognizable as the flag which for two years marked the headquarters of the 54th battalion overseas. Fire, sweeping through St. Saviour's church yesterday destroyed the battalion and King's colors, and irreparably damaged the battle flag.

TO REPLACE

Already a movement to replace the colors is under way. Men who followed the colors on parade, who can recall seeing the battle flag at the entrance of some dugout in the lines or flapping in the breeze outside a tent behind the lines, who can see in memory's eye a field in Belgium and His Majesty King Albert presenting the battalion and King's colors, quickly responded to the call, and a subscription list was growing rapidly last night.

HAS TRADITIONS

The battalion and King's colors, though treasured by those of the 54th who returned, had not the tradition associated with the battle flag.

This flag was used to designate the 54th battalion headquarters from the days of the battle of the Somme in 1916 until the armistice was signed. It consisted of the battalion's insignia of a green oblong patch surmounted by a red circle on a white background, the whole mounted on a German lance which was picked up on the battlefield of the Somme in 1916. It was blood stained and bullet riddled.

The red circle signified the 54th was the senior battalion of the 11th brigade. The green oblong indicated the battalion was in the Fourth division.

CHERISHED FLAG

One day, the story goes, an orderly started to wash the battle flag. Lieut-Col. A. B. Carey, officer commanding the battalion from the summer of 1917 until demobilization, who cherished the flag above all else, considered this a desecration, and almost court-martialled the orderly.

Another story is that the flag was carried at a parade of Canadian troops in London on May 24, 1919, against the orders of Lieutenant-General Sir Arthur Currie, who commanded the Canadian forces.

KING PRESENTS

When the 54th returned to Canada, a Nova Scotian, R. S. Coulter, who is believed to be a resident of Trail at present, carried the bunting across the Dominion to Revelstoke, where the battalion was demobolized. Colonel Carey would trust no other man with it.

The battalion and King's colors were presented to the 54th battalion by King Albert of Belgium at Groenendahl, near Brussels, Belgium.

SEEN HERE TWICE

They were carried in the triumphal march of Canadian troops through London, on May 24, 1919, by Lieut. T. Middleton of Nelson, and Lieut. H. M. Major of Procter.

At Hamilton, Ont., where the eastern members of the battalion were demobolized, and at Revelstoke, where the final demobolization took place, they were again carried.

Subsequently they were displayed on two occasions in Nelson—at patriotic exercises held on the Recreation grounds in memory of fallen comrades, and when they were deposited in St. Saviour's church on May 21, 1922, by Lieut.-Col. C. Hunterford Pollen of Cranbrook.

Devouring flames sweeping from basement to rafters yesterday morning razed St. Saviour's church, landmark of Nelson for the past 30 years, and destroyed the treasured colors of the 54th Kootenay battalion.

The flames, starting in the furnace room in the north end of the church, swept up a short flight of stairs into the body of the church, leapt from rafter to rafter above, from bench to bench below, and darted to the south end, where the colors hung.

Shortly after 6 o'clock city employees who had worked all night repairing a broken water main at the corner of Ward and Silica streets, saw the flames and turned in an alarm.

LONG STRETCH OF HOSE

The fire department was at the fire within a few seconds. Hose were attached to hydrants at the intersection of Carbonate and Stanley streets, and at Carbonate and Ward streets, each of which were a block away from the blazing church. The water in the nearest hydrant had been turned off while repairs were being made to the broken main.

WAS WARMING CHURCH

Last services held in the church were on Monday, and following them the furnace fire was allowed to go out. Late Tuesday night Joseph Weston, caretaker, relit the fire to warm the church up for service which was to have been held yesterday, St. Paul's day. People living in the neighborhood of the church reported that late Tuesday night, as they were passing the church, there was a smell as of burning rags and wood. The fire is thought to have started in a defective flue.

Mr. Weston carried hymn and prayer books and the church register out of the building. The communion vessels were also saved.

Altar hangings and sanctuary furnishings, though brought out, were ruined. W. A. Richardson risked his life for the 54th flag, but it was badly scorched. Major Gilbert Anderson dug the battalion colors from a pile of

HATED TO EAT BECAUSE OF STOMACH DISTRESS

If you can't eat, you can't keep up your strength, can't work, can't think, can't get any enjoyment out of life. In other words, you are in a dangerous condition; just ready to be attacked by some serious illness which you are not strong enough to resist. You are probably in the same distressing state that Mr. Frank Sprague, 110 Cathedral avenue, Winnipeg, was in when Tanlac came to his rescue.

"I had an attack of grippe," he writes, "which left me weak and thin. I lost my appetite and what little food I ate caused such indigestion pains that I just hated to eat. I went to work, but seemed to have no strength and energy, and felt miserable and despondent. I took only three bottles of Tanlac; and now I am enjoying the best of health. Tanlac came to my rescue just in time and it did so much for me that I want to praise it all the time."

Tanlac relieves pain, gas, nausea, dizziness caused by indigestion—corrects constipation brings back sleep and appetite—puts you on your feet again. The cost is less than 2c a dose—less than 6c a day to be well.

Tanlac brings back appetite; helps you digest your food, gain in strength, increase in weight. Made of roots, barks and herbs—nature's own medicine for the sick. Get a bottle from your druggist today; your money back if it doesn't help you.

HONOR ROLL BURNS

The church honor roll, on which was the names of 203 members of the congregation who served overseas, was destroyed. Ven. Archdeacon Fred H. Graham lost most of his vestments.

Of the building itself only the gray stone walls are unscarred. The roof is gaping open, the basement is flooded with water, rafters are but charred remnants, pews are blackened, and soaked ashes are spread over the floor. An insurance adjuster, who will estimate the damage, is expected to arrive here from Vancouver tonight.

The church committee will meet with Archdeacon Graham tonight to discuss rebuilding, and to make arrangements for services until a new building can be opened.

ITS HISTORY

St. Saviour's church was built in 1898 under the rectorship of Rev. H. S. Akehurst, who left here in 1901. He was succeeded by Rev. Fred H. Graham, now archdeacon, in 1902. Archdeacon Graham completed his twenty-sixth year as rector on January 10.

Nelson was chosen as the see city of the diocese of Kootenay by the first administrator, Bishop Dart of New Westminster, and again by the second administrator, the present Most Rev. A. U. de Pencier, D.D., archbishop of New Westminster.

PROCATHEDRAL

Rt. Rev. A. J. Doull, D.D., bishop of Kootenay, selected Nelson as the see city in perpetuity. St. Saviour's was therefore in the nature of a procathedral. The congregation was looking forward to completing the building, when the bishop would be enthroned in the chancel, and St. Saviour's would become the cathedral of the diocese of Kootenay.

"A little bit of England" was how old country people viewed the little church. Gray stone walls topped off by dark woodwork and a steep "v" roof, the whole in a picturesque landscape setting, made St. Saviour's one of Nelson's show places. A long sweep of greensward, hedged on its outer edges, with flower and shrub patches here and there, gave a distinctly English atmosphere.

A MEMORY

Thirty years had softened the architectural lines of the building, giving it the appearance of age old solidity, and hinting at generations of worshippers who had made their peace with God within it.

Many of the present congregation were practically born within the shadow of St. Saviour's walls, and have never known another parish. Whatever edifice may replace it, these people will always find tender reminiscenes in thoughts of pretty little St. Saviour's. Many will always look back upon it as their Christian home.

Speedy Relief From Bunions—Soft Corns

No sensible person will continue to suffer from those intense, agonizing, throbbing bunion pains when the new powerful penetrating yet harmless antiseptic Emerald Oil can readily be obtained at any well stocked drug store.

Apply a few drops over the inflamed part and see how speedily the pain disappears and the inflammation is reduced.

So marvelously powerful is Emerald Oil that soft corns seem to shrivel right up and drop off.

STOP THE FAT AND GET THIN

The way to reduction is to stop the formation of fat. Modern science has found that way—by turning your food into fuel and energy—by supplying a natural element that helps do that. It is much better than starvation. That modern, scientific method is embodied in Marmola prescription tablets. People have used them for 20 years—millions of boxes of them. Now the results in slender figures, new beauty and vitality, are seen everywhere.

Each box of Marmola contains the formula, also the scientific reasons for results. So you know the effects are beneficial, and why they all occur. Learn what so many have learned in 20 years about it. Do it now. Ask your druggist for a $1 box of Marmola and learn what it means to you.

ANCIENT SEAL IS DISCOVERED

It Was Originally Attached to the Charter of William the Conqueror

LONDON, Jan. 25.—A most interesting discovery has been made by the records clerk of the corporation of London at Guildhall, Mr. Thomas. It is the seal which was originally attached to the charter of William the Conqueror, and which, it has always been assumed, had been lost beyond hope of recovery. The loose strips of parchment at the foot of the charter are present, but the seal has long been absent.

Mr. Thomas always considered, however, that the seal might be in existence somewhere among the records, and he was the more inspired to search because the documents and possessions of the records office still remain only partially indexed and arranged. Among an old miscellaneous collection of articles he discovered a red bag containing pieces of wax labelled "fragments of an old seal," and this he fully investigated. He attempted to piece the fragments together and with the assistance of experts of the British Museum he ultimately managed to arrange the fragments and place them in a bed of wax. The result is beyond doubt the center of the seal of William the Conqueror, so long missing.

A report on the discovery is to be made in due course. The corporation is rich in seals. The mayoralty seal, which was only taken out of use a few years ago because of its great value, dates from 1381, while the obverse of the common seal (still doing duty) was made in 1225 and the "new" reverse in 1539.

ELIMINATE JOLTS ON RAIL JOINTS

STOCKHOLM, Sweden, Jan. 25. — A new kind of rails for railroads, said to embody the solution of several problems now confronting the railway builders and more economical and safer in use, has been invented by a Swedish engineer. The new rail consists of two different parts, the foot and the head, joined together in zigzag fashion and in such a way as to eliminate the jolts when the wheels pass over the rail joints, thus insuring long wear and durability while greatly reducing the risk of rail breaks. When changing the rail, only the top part is removed, while the foot remains, the latter not having been exposed to wear and joined to the sill more securely than the usual kind of rail. Experts claim that the new rail will be considerably cheaper in use, easier to change, and that it will eleminate the "wandering" or displacement of the rails while reducing the wear on the rolling stock.

Saskatchewan honey production has grown from 24,000 pounds in 1922 to 500,974 pounds in 1927, according to a report issued by the field crops branch of the Saskatchewan department of agriculture. The 1927 production was made up of 64,042 pounds of comb honey and 436,932 pounds of extracted honey.

rather than to the time-wasting arguments of prejudiced advocates.

"The basic industries of British Columbia have shown another splendid increase during the year that has just closed. Capital for development of our natural resources is coming into the province more rapidly than it has ever come in before. We have, thanks to the wise legislation of recent years, industrial peace within our province. Our legislation has been an insurance policy to capital.

"As I see things, the watchword should be 'Steady.' Let a firm hand be kept on the tiller, let capital and industry be encouraged, let our finances be kept on a sound basis, let our taxation be gradually but steadily reduced. I have confidence that that is the policy of the government which I have come here to support.

"The portion of the province from which I come is progressing steadily. We feel that its rate of progress is such as to justify further public expenditures. It is our desire that the highways in the boundary country be extended and improved. We, of the city of Nelson, want better access to the country east of us, and south. The much-talked-of bridge is not with us a matter of spending money at our door, but an actual requirement to enable our citizens and those who would come to us to get convenient access from the north and east. It is satisfactory to me that the honorable the minister of public works is implementing the promises which he has made in that connection. I realize the bridge will entail substantial expenditure, that the matter of its location is not easy of decision from an engineering standpoint. The minister is doing very rightly when he is making the most careful engineering survey, as he is, of the location. That being done, I know the construction will soon follow. The building of the Kuskanook road is well justified by the existing developments of the southern interior. It is a logical step in the opening up of the Kootenay country. So, too, is the improvement by widening and surfacing of the Ymir road. It is desirable that we have a good highway connection, not alone with the country to the south of us, but with that very important industrial center, the city of Trail. A continuation of the work being carried on in that direction will have the approval, I am sure, of all the honorable members of this house, as well as of the people of the boundary country. Mr. Speaker, we have potential wealth in abundance, but potential wealth alone is not satisfactory. There is a duty upon members of the government, a duty which I feel sure they will carry out, to open up by adequate highways the various portions of our province so that this potential wealth may be brought into use.

"Mr. Speaker, I have confined myself, I hope, to what may be considered a brief space of time. I have avoided detail, and simply stated my general position. From time to time I shall add my word to the deliberations of this house, or its committees, on particular matters which may arise.

FROM WICKET KEEPER TO POST OF SCORER

LONDON, England, Jan. 25.—Herbert Strudwick, the famous Surrey wicket keeper—popularly known as "Struddy"—has definitely retired from first-class cricket, and has accepted the post of scorer to the Surrey County club. He will take up these duties next season.

One of the greatest wicket keepers the game has known, Strudwick, who was born at Mitcham, on January 28, 1880, and is thus in his forty-eight year, has kept wicket regularly for Surrey since taking the place of Stedman in 1903.

In that season, by securing 91 wickets (71 caught and 20 stumped), he set up a record for wicket keeping, which was not beaten until 1911, when Fred Huish, the Kent player, helped in the dismissal of 100 batsmen.

Altogether Strudwick, in first-class cricket, has caught 1235 and stumped 258 opponents.

His chances of distinction outside county cricket were delayed owing to the claims of "Dick" Lilley, the famous Warwickshire wicket keeper, to whom he acted as understudy when accompanying the M.C.C. team which toured Australia in 1903-04.

Strudwick did not play in a test match until visiting that country again in 1911-1912, but afterward won an unquestioned place in the English side, going to Australia in 1920-21 and 1924-25, appearing in two "tests" over here in 1921 and in all five games in which the Australians were met in 1926.

He has also participated in two tours in South Africa—in 1909-10 and 1913-14

The British boy immigration scheme has been adopted by the Manitoba provincial government and about 50 lads will be brought this year for placement on farms in that province. Temporarily the boys will be placed at Manitoba Agricultural college, where they will receive training to accustom them to farm work.

PANTOMIMES STIL POPULAR, ENGLAN

More Than 100 of These Pl Presented During Christ mas Season

LONDON, Jan. 24.—There were than 100 pantomimes performed Great Britain during the recent ho season. That shows how strongly form of entertainment is entren in the popular mind. Its roots go very far, and probably few people ing part in the rollicking shows at Christmas season realize that they distinctive survivals of an old Ro feast.

This was the feast of Saturn, annually on December 13. It was great day in the year when the s of those times were allowed their erty, a privilege which permitted to buffet their masters and rulers almost as much abandon as the f men on the pantomime stage b each other today.

There are scores of different pa mimes, but none, probably, is so p lar or so well known as "Cinder It is stated that there are somet like 400 versions of this favorite and the children are familiar wit in some form or other, in almost part of the world. BURNS NIGHT IS OBSERVED WITH STORY AND SONG

Nelson Scots and Burns Admirers Celebrate With Clan McLeary

HAGGIS IS HONORED IN USUAL FASHION

Rev. James Youngson Speaks on the "Immortal Bard"; Dance Ends Evening

Robert Burns, the peculiar poet of Scotland, was fittingly honored by Nelson Scots last night, and by Nelsonites at large who revere him as the "poet of humanity," when the memory of the Ayrshire plowman who died a century and a third ago, was kept green, at a brilliant "Burns Nicht" celebration under the softly shaded lights of Eagle hall, held by Clan McLeary No 1, Canadian Order of Scottish Clans.

Haggis and oatcake, among other viands reminiscent of the "land o' cakes," graced the long tables, while broad Scotch accents fell from the lips of speakers, and famous lilting melodies of Highland and Lowland were sung by sweet singers, who were raised among the heather. Kilted Clansmen served the tables and acted as attendants.

Chief of Clan A. Wallach presided at the head table, by his side being Mrs. McFarlane, chief of the Daughters of Scotia, and the orator of the evening, Rev. James Youngson, the clan chaplain. Among other notables at the head table was Past Chief William McLeary, who came over from Trail to attend the function.

HAGGIS IS HONORED

After Chief Wallach welcomed the Clansmen, Daughters and guests, Chaplain Youngson pronounced the Selkirk grace in broadest Scotch, and then the noble haggis, played into the banquet chamber by Piper Bert Wallach, was apostrophized by Past Chief Leslie Craufurd, who gave the "Address to the Haggis" with unction.

Discussion of the haggis and its accompaniments occupied the gathering for a suitable time, and then the program opened with the singing by the company, "There Was a Lad Was Born in Kyle" ved by John Kerr.

THE IMMORTAL BARD"

Then Chaplain Youngson gave the address of the evening on "The Immortal Bard," tenderly and sympathetically. He approached his task with great trepidation, he said, but felt encouraged by the fact that a "sweetie" thrown at him by someone unknown, conveyed the sentiments, "You Have Won My Heart Dear." (Laughter.)

Robbie Burns, he said, was a plowman boy, who began life's journey near Ayr, a journey that was for him rough and hard, that had many a pang and tear, that involved poverty, want, sickness and pain. While he snapped his fingers at these, they broke him in the end, and laid him low at the early age of 37.

Outwardly strong and robust, a farmer, bearing a quiet dignity, Robbie Burns had big dark eyes, in which glowed an unearthly brilliance, "a fire lit by the hand of God," the speaker verily believed, for this young plowman was aflame with a divine inspiration. Because of the gift he revealed, Scotland might well be proud of that man.

POET OF NATURE AND OF MAN

The surgings of patriotism within him found expression in that incomparable battle song, "Scots Wha Hae Wi' Wallace Bled." On another side, he chronicled in rich and delicate verse the beauties of Scotland. He painted Nature with a firm, tender hand. "Wee crimson-tippet flower," spoken of the daisy, "Wee timorous cowerin' beastie," spoken of the field mouse turned up by the share, the heart pangs that he sobbed out over the wounded and dying hare, were faithful pictures that would live forever.

He was a man, said the speaker, to whom all the weak in Nature, and all the weakness in human nature, appealed, and aroused in him the instinct to protect. Because he discovered and lovingly painted the weaknesses in his brother men and in his sister women, he was beloved by almost all mankind.

ENEMIES TOOK AWAY CHARACTER

Loved by the common people, Burns had bitter enemies, the democratic principles he avowed and taught in his poems not being acceptable to the aristocracy. "The rank is but the guinea stamp," though a beautiful and true doctrine, was a dangerous political doctrine to avow in those times. Seconding the aristocracy in hounding him were the clergy as a class, who detested him because he mercilessly exposed their hypocracies and cant. Whenever he saw their false pretensions, he let drive his shafts, and they went home.

Thus, with these enemies, he needed only to make a slip, and it was seized upon. Imperfections in his character—and he was no saint—were marked, and collected into a heap, it was no matter if the heap was largely lies, until his character was besmirched. He stepped aside at times, it was human to step aside.

THE TRUE BURNS

But the man who stepped aside was not the true Bobbie Burns, declared Mr. Youngson. The true Bobbie Burns was the man who wrote "The Cottar's Saturday Night," picturing the old man coming home, gathering the family around him, taking the Bible on his knee, reading it, and then having the family kneel in prayer in the flickering firelight. "I defy anyone to read that poem without a swelling in his throat," stated the speaker.

"From scenes like these Old Scotia grandeur sprung, an honest man's the noblest work of God," were quoted with feeling by the speaker, who summed up the greatness of Burns with the statement that he took a clod of earth, a lump of clay, and transformed it into gleaming gold.

FRATERNAL WIRES

Mr. Craufurd read a wire from D. Halcrow, president of the Cranbrook Caledonians, reading: "Please accept our warmest greetings on this auspicious occasion, Burns nicht." To this, he said, the reply had been sent: "Though far apart our thoughts unite with yours in memory of Rabbie."

He stated that Judge J. A. Forin, absent at the coast, had also wired his greetings.

OTHER MEMBERS

Other numbers on the program were "The Star of Rabbie Burns" and "The Standard on the Braes of Mar," sung by John Kerr; "The Scottish Bluebells" and "Robin Adair" sung by Mrs. J. C. Hooker; "He Does as His Feyther Did Before Him" and "She's the Girl for Me," sung by Leslie Craufurd; "Blue Bonnets Over the Border" and "A Wee Hoose Amang the Heather," sung by Miss Ruth Craufurd; and "Ye Banks and Braes" and "My Love Is Like a Red, Red Rose," sung as duets by Mrs. J. C. Hooker and Mrs. A. H. W. Crossley." Mrs. F. Plowman and Mrs. Leslie Craufurd acted as accompanists.

After the floor was cleared, Miss Marion McInnis, to the playing of the pipes by her brother, Allan McInnis, danced the Sword dance and then the Highland Fling.

SCOTS IN TRAIL MAKE MERRY AT COMMEMORATION

Remember Bobbie Burns With Songs, Musical Selections and a Dance

TRAIL, B.C., Jan. 25. — Over 250 Trail Caledonians and their friends tonight commemorated Burns night with a program of particularly appropriate songs and musical selections and a dance.

W. W. Woods, president, opened with a welcoming address calling attention to the significance of the day for Scots.

Mayor H. Clark proposed the big toast of the evening: "To the immortal memory of Bobby Burns." In a brief address he touched on the humanity of the poet, and his wonderful powers of observation, his kindness and sympathy with all mankind and nature.

PROGRAM

Songs were: Bangor Jones, "Be Kind Ta Auld Grannie;" Mrs. G. Bergeron, "Where Hath Scotland Found Its Fame?"; B. Marr, "The Star of Robbie Burns;" Ted Davis, "Corn Rigs and Barley Rigs;" and Mrs. Cook.

Delightful ensemble singing was given by a quintet of male voices, Bangor Jones, J. R. Anderson, Ted Davis, A. Phillips and W. Ramsay. Their opening number was "Wha Didna Fecht For Charlie."

Humorous solos were given by J. Grant, including "It's the Wiggle-Waggle o' the Kilt."

Numerous entertaining instrumental selections were given by T. Wilson's orchestra, which also played for the dancing.

Dave Stewart gave piano solos.

The entertainment committee consisted of J. Thompson, J. Ferguson, H. Hutchison and J. R. Anderson and W. Ramsay.

MY KITCHEN NOTEBOOK
by Mary Blake
Domestic Science Counselor

Hot Cocoa Is a Mother's Great Ally

I don't know what we'd do without hot cocoa, for say what you will, children do tire of the steady round of that all-important food, milk. And some children have a positive distaste for it unless presented in a more or less disguised form.

Careful as most mothers are to see that the children's glasses of milk have their full share of cream, I have noticed that very often when they make cocoa they use ordinary bottled milk, from which they even sometimes carefully dip the top layer of cream.

Cocoa Should Be Made With WHOLE Milk

You won't make such a mistake, if you prepare the children's cocoa with Carnation Milk. There's no way to rob the rich, whole milk of Carnation of one tiny particle of cream. Do you know why? Carnation Milk is "homogenized"—that is, every little globule of cream is broken up into particles so minute that they can't rise to the surface but are held captive all through the milk, giving every drop of milk an equally generous share of enriching cream. Every drop has, in fact, a double portion of cream, for Carnation Milk is evaporated to double richness.

There's another great advantage in using Carnation in the preparation of foods for children. It's safe. Not only has it been sterilized, but the milk itself is produced under ideal conditions from selected herds, and is the purest of rich whole milk.

Carnation Milk is completely replacing ordinary bottled milk for cooking in many thousands of homes, not only because of its greater uniformity, its dependability, and the economy which its rich creaminess effects, but because of the better results it gives. Because of "homogenization," it gives a smooth, fine texture, a rich creaminess that even the best of bottled milk cannot equal. Soups and sauces have increased food value with the use of less butter. Cakes have a finer texture with better keeping qualities. Puddings, waffles and griddle cakes are more delicate; candies smoother and creamier; ice cream richer, more velvety.

Send for the Carnation Cook Book—"My Hundred Favorite Recipes." It will show you fascinating new qualities to be obtained in old dishes simply through the use of this better milk. It's free. Address Carnation Milk Products Co., Limited, Aylmer, Ont.

Carnation Cocoa

3 tbsp. cocoa (for children 2 tbsp.), 2 tbsp. sugar, ½ cup hot water, few grains salt, 1½ cups Carnation Milk diluted with 1½ cups water; ¼ tsp. vanilla. Scald diluted milk in double boiler; mix cocoa, sugar, salt; add hot water; cook over low flame 10 to 15 minutes, stirring occasionally. Add scalded milk to cocoa; cook in double boiler 10 minutes. Whisk with Dover beater before serving; place marshmallow in cup; pour cocoa over it. Makes four cups.

For Finer Cocoa

CARNATION MILK gives to cocoa a rich smoothness and extra food value obtainable in no other way—just as it does to all cooking. Improves coffee wonderfully. Just pure whole milk evaporated to double richness and sterilized. It keeps. It is economical.

Out of Ashes of St. Saviour's Let a Cathedral Arise

Nelson awoke yesterday to find St Saviour's church, dear to Anglicans throughout the district because of its associations, and of historic interest to all Nelson, in smoking ruins.

St. Saviour's was a little more than just a church, noble as any church is—it was an institution. From its outposts were planted at various parts of the Nelson district. It was of personal interest to many people in different parts of the Kootenay district and of the province. To Nelson, it was a little bit of England.

A tradition had grown up around it. Its rector, Ven. Archdeacon Fred H. Graham, had served it continuously for 26 years. Its rector's warden, Fred Irvine, was in his twenty-third year of service. Its people's warden, Leslie Craufurd, had also served it long. The colors of the 54th Kootenay Battalion, hanging from its beams, linked it with the ex-servicemen of the whole Kootenay.

Almost any Nelsonite, Anglican or not, can recall personal associations connected with it.

Further, Nelson being the permanent see city of the diocese of Kootenay, St. Saviour's church was to become in the course of time, by the building of a chancel, the cathedral of the diocese, with Nelson becoming the home of the bishop, and the administrative center of the diocese.

While because of the associations terminated, the destruction of this historic little church is to be deplored, yet its wiping out affords an opportunity for proceeding to an earlier realization of the cathedral that Nelson, as the see city, must have.

A building fund of approximately $10,000 is now on hand, toward the chancel. If the objective of a cathedral is now accepted, that fund can go toward the cathedral building fund.

The logic of the situation calls for replacing the historic church that has gone, with a cathedral fully fledged. When this is realized, Nelson will become the administrative seat of the diocese.

Fund to Replace Storied Colors 54th

A loss that every ex-serviceman in the Kootenay, every family that had a representative overseas, and everyone who took a pride in the men overseas will feel is that of the colors of the 54th Kootenay Battalion, destroyed in the fire that yesterday razed St. Saviour's church.

A movement to replace these colors was quickly launched yesterday. A fund roughly estimated at $500 will be needed.

The Daily News has been asked to open its columns to this object and to receive subscriptions to such a fund. It gladly complies with this request.

President Coolidge Squelches the Fire-Eaters

President Coolidge's prompt caution from the White House that "no one need take seriously the sanguinary predictions of United States army and navy officials that the United States is about to go to war with its commercial rivals" sufficiently squelches fire-eaters of the type of Admiral Plunket, and others who, for the sake of getting the billion-dollar navy-building program through, were willing to set the world by the ears.

Admiral Plunket's actual remarks as now available do not look any better than those at first attributed to him by the Associated Press, and which he took pains to repudiate.

"There never has been (he said) and there never will be a great nation in this world that is not great on the sea. Just so long as you make that your policy and you follow it through, you are going to have war. I don't care whether it is with Great Britain or some other nation, you are going to have war."

As far as recollection goes, President Coolidge has been about the first president to step on the gentle pastime of war prediction indulged in by official soldiers and sailors of the United States when boosting for a large army or navy.

The matter has now been satisfactorily adjusted.

Declare That Amended Prayer Book Measure Is Essentially the Same

LONDON, Jan. 25.—The Protestant Alliance and League of Loyal Churchmen at a meeting in London today passed a resolution declaring that the amended deposited prayer book of the Church of England, as set forth in the prayer book measure of 1928, is essentially the same as the one which the house of commons recently rejected after it had been adopted by the house of lords.

Old-fashioned spacious kitchens are a delight. Yet the woman who lives in a tiny home or in an apartment where the kitchen is a small one has the advantage of not having to take so many steps between range and kitchen cabinet, china shelves and sink.

In my kitchen the refrigerator is on a line with the china closet and range, all huddled close together. At a short distance is the sink and nearby the kitchen cabinet. My cleaning utensils—vacuum cleaner, long-handled dustpan, broom, dry mop, carpet sweeper and the pail in which stands the wet mop handle—all these implements are grouped in one corner, in the walls of which are screwed white enamel hooks to hold dustless duster, floor wash cloths and furniture polishing cloths. I believe in buying one of the metal cleaning closets, which come in the shape of a long, narrow box with a door, and which will accommodate all of the cleaning implements just mentioned—but few of us can have all of these modern conveniences all at once! We must leave something to strive towards!

As my gas cooking range stands in a corner, I have screwed strong hooks (not the kind with a curved end, but the variety which has a straight hook at the end) into the wooden strip which runs around the room at the top of the wainscoting; on these handy hooks I hang all my pots and kettles, my long handled basting spoon, my long handled fork, and my pancake turner. The lids of the pots are stood upright in a wire rack (a ten-cent broiling rack placed on top of the oven portion of the stove) and thus the utensils used only at the range are conveniently grouped around the range.

After much arranging and rearranging, I have at last obtained what it seems to me is the apex of efficiency in regards to the placing of my china on the china closet shelves. The upper set, used only for company Sunday nights or for a guest luncheon, stands on the topmost shelf covered with a clean piece of unbleached muslin—for, why let it get dusty when I do not use it daily? Although my closet has doors, nevertheless dust will creep in and I believe in covering china and glassware not in constant use. On the next highest shelf stands china or glass which belong to the dinner set which I use daily but which are the least used parts of that set—two handled soup cups, the small after dinner coffee cups, etcetera, which I use chiefly when I have dinner guests. And on the lowest shelves are only pieces in constant use. It pays to work things out in this way, to minimize labor and to avoid confusion.

Tomorrow—Moving Time Meals.

That Body of Yours

By JAMES W. BARTON, M.D.

Neurasthenia Is Tiredness

Are you tired all the time — tired mentally and physically, with difficulty in concentrating on your work, a sense of pressure on the head, gas pressure in intestine, and constipation?

If so, then you are what is known as a neurasthenic, and you would be wise to get busy about it.

Because this neurasthenia, as mentioned before, is a tiredness due to a poisoning of the system.

Just where the poisoning comes from is not definitely known in each individual case, but the great number of folks who developed this tiredness after they had the flu, has been one of the greatest proofs that infection, poisoning, is the underlying cause of neurasthenia.

That practically all these cases give a history of constipation, is admitted, but what is it that has brought about the dyspepsia and constipation?

Very often it is due to severe mental effort. This effort is not only along the lines of business and of study, but sometimes because there is too much mental conflict.

This conflict may be due to the different feelings that arise within the mind of the individual regarding some mental, moral or physical subject.

But, as you know, this constant stress of mind means that poisons will accumulate with nerve action, just as they do with muscular action, and with the same result, tiredness and inability to concentrate.

Now, if you have been through an illness, some deep sorrow, or other emotional disturbance, you should gradually get back to normal again.

If you find that you do not get back to normal, that your ordinary work looks too much for you, that you are tired all the time, then take hold of yourself with the assistance of your family doctor.

If you don't, you'll be a nuisance to yourself and to others. To others because they will fail to understand why you are not yourself.

It is just here that a physician often recommends a holiday, a change of scene.

"Rest from work and strain, removal of causes of worry and excitement," change of occupation, if at all possible, are frequently of great help.

Very often the psycho-analyst is of help in these cases where a "moral conflict" is the underlying cause.

If this conflict can be settled in the patient's mind, calmness enters, and the tiredness disappears.

WORKMAN DIES AFTER A FALL AT BONNINGTON

Kenneth McKenzie Admitted to Hospital Sunday Dies on Tuesday; Inquest

Kenneth McKenzie, injured at Bonnington in a fall from a scaffold and brought in to Kootenay Lake General Hospital Sunday, died at that institution Tuesday afternoon.

Coroner Dr. E. C. Arthur, after investigating, ordered an inquest to inquire into the nature of death.

The coroner's jury was formed and the inquest called for 4:30 yesterday afternoon. After viewing the body, the inquest was adjourned to 3 o'clock this afternoon.

MRS. DOWNIE IS PRESIDENT OF THE INSTITUTE

South Slocan and Bonnington Body Has Active Year; Other Officers

SOUTH SLOCAN, B.C., Jan. 25.—The reports of the Bonnington and South Slocan Women's institute for the year as given at the annual meeting held in the hall on Wednesday showed that splendid work had been done especially on the committee of Public Health and Child Welfare. Mrs. J. Murray, the convener was thanked for the valuable help she had given in visiting and nursing the sick and responding to night calls in emergency cases and to Mrs. W. W. Bell for visiting and seeing that flowers were sent to sick patients. The home industries—Mrs. G. K. Ashby and Mrs. F. Stevenson had given a demonstration of rug making and the latter had received the first prize for a rug sent to the Vancouver exhibition. Demonstrations on crystalline work and the making of lamp shades and of gollywog dolls also came under this heading.

In Immigration—Mrs. A. Willey, the convener, had kept the meetings up to date with statistics.

Under Home Economics—Mrs. W. T. Jones, the convener, had given helpful hints and a demonstration in mending.

A competition was held and prizes given for the best articles made out of flour sacks, this proved very popular and brought out many new ideas for their usefulness.

The Community Betterment committee—Mrs. F. Frisby and Mrs. R. Greyson had helped to improve the community hall and at this meeting Mrs. Greyson turned in $50, receipts from a dance which she had arranged for the hall benefit.

SOCIAL AFFAIRS

In Institute work, the directors entertained at an afternoon at home for old and new residents in the district other social affairs were a bridge party and the St. Patricks and Halloween dances which were the outstanding social events of the year.

A presentation to a member and help with first aid supper, the pledge of $100 for the Othea Scott endowment fund and an address from Dr. Bennett of Nelson on the care of mothers and children. In the Publicity and National events an armistice celebration was held for all the children in the district.

The secretary, Mrs. O. W. Humphry, had attended the provincial conference at Chilliwack in May and with Mrs R. Greyson, the district convention at Kaslo in November. Miss Laura Willey has been chosen to go to the Vancouver exhibition to take part in the girl's judging competition.

FINANCIAL STATEMENTS

The financial statement for the year showed receipts to be $362.94 including the $50 for hall improvements, disbursements: $355.89. Balance, $7.05.

A motion was passed to join the National Parks association.

The letter from the department of agriculture regarding the prevention of film action in the Hickman case was indorsed.

WRITE DAILY NEWS

The secretary was also instructed to write The Nelson Daily News indorsing the motion of the Nelson Women's institution against the publicity of glaring headlines and hideous details of such crimes.

A hearty vote of thanks was passed to the retiring board, the election of officers then took place which resulted as follows: Mrs. James Macaulay of Vancouver and South Slocan, Honorary President; Mrs. A. E. Watts, honorary vice-president; Mrs. M. Downie, president; Mrs. W. W. Bell, vice-president; Mrs. A. K. Cairns, secretary-treasurer and director; Mrs. W. T. Jones and Mrs. J. Murray directors. After the business of the meeting tea was served by Mrs. M. Downie and Mrs. A. Willey.

BONNINGTON NOTES

BONNINGTON FALLS, B.C., Jan. 25.—Miss Laura Willey was a charming hostess on Friday evening to a number of the younger set and in honor of her guest, Miss Marian Ritchie of Cascade. Cards and dancing were the pastime and dainty refreshments served. The invited guests were Miss Hilda Lees, Miss Kathleen Edwards, Miss Marjorie Russel, Miss Estelle Stewart, Miss Marian Ritchie, Alec. Bell, Gordon Irving, M. K. Bennett, Wesley Gemonel, Cecil Lambert, Elmer Spiers, Earl Fitzpatrick.

There was a large attendance at the Badminton club on Monday in the afternoon tea hostesses were Miss Minnie Houston and Miss Mary Edwards. When the following members played Mrs. G. K. Ashby, Mrs. F. Frisby, Mrs. F. B. Hardin, Mrs. E. Watts, Mrs. J. D. Yeatman, Mrs. R. C. Passmore, Mrs. E. J. McGregor, Mrs. R. Greyson, Mrs. W. W. Tindale, Miss E. Page, Miss M. Houston, Mrs. J. Murray, Miss G. Fotheringham, Miss K. Edwards and Miss M. Russel. In the evening members and guests attended to the number of 40. Miss Marion Ritchie left on the noon train Saturday for Trail for a short visit.

Long Vertical Lines Set Off by a Dainty Bow

THE trick here is to combine true femininity with the simple, serviceable kind of apparel which a girl in business demands and the mode of the minute so lavishly supplies. Miss Executive forfeits nothing of allurement and grace in this charming frock, but she can slip into it and know that it will work during a long day and be as fresh at tea-time as it was at nine o'clock. The tailored treatment of the front skirt which is cut to form a belt fastening over box pleats is off-set by the deep V opening of the collarless blouse, disclosing a soft vestee finished with a bow of the fabric. The three button fastening of the belt is repeated as trimming on the pointed cuffs. Light weight or sheer wool with a vestee of a harmonizing color; or crepe de chine, satin or silk crepe with georgette or crepe de chine for the vestee make this practical and becoming dress. (Copyright, 1927, by Butterick)

Urges Cattle Raisers to Resist Any Attempt to Lower the Tariff

EL PASO, Texas, Jan. 25.—Repeated warnings to cattle raisers to resist any attempt to lower the tariff on beef from South American countries marked the opening session of the annual convention of the American National Live Stock association here today. Both L. C. Brit of Marfa, Texas, and W. W. Turney, El Paso, warned the stockmen to be on their guard to prevent such an occurrence.

Robert A. Wright of Drinkwater, Sask., president of the Western Canada Live Stock union, told the association he believed a mistake had been made in drafting the tariff on cattle in failing to differentiate between the character of foreign supplies and their sources and Canadian surplus, which was made up largely of thin cattle and not beef. He said he did not believe American domestic prices would have suffered if Canada had been given preferential treatment with respect to thin cattle.

"Insofar as Canadian supplies of cattle and beef are concerned," he said, "your tariff has been a revenue rather than a protective tariff, and during the period of liquidation, and up until 1925, your domestic supply was such as to make the tariff more effective on Dominion prices rather than on United States prices. That is, you depressed Canadian prices rather than raised United States prices."

Lloyd George Can Recall "Foolish" Remarks in Britain

PLYMOUTH, Eng., Jan. 25.—David Lloyd George, Great Britain's war-time premier, landing here tonight after his visit to Brazil, took occasion to refer to a recent speech attributed to Rear Admiral Charles P. Plunkett, U.S.N., on the possibility of war between the United States and Great Britain. Lloyd George tersely remarked that the United States had no monopoly on that sort of thing. He could recall "equally foolish" speeches on this side of the Atlantic.

"President Coolidge has done everything possible to check the pernicious implication of the admiral's speech," he continued.

FAIL TO TRACE OIL PROFITS

Half Dozen Witnesses Testify in inquiry Into Canadian Oil Affair

WASHINGTON, D.C., Jan. 25.—Half a dozen witnesses passed in rapid succession today before the senate lands committee, but none of them shed any material light on the main subject of inquiry—what became of the three million dollars of profits made by the Continental Trading company limited, of Canada, in the purchase and sale of oil in this country.

Of these profits $233,000 have been traced from Harry F. Sinclair to Albert B. Fall, after the lease of the Teapot Dome naval reserve in 1922, but it appears now that the committee is going to encounter difficulties in getting track of the remainder.

Before the hearing was adjourned until next Tuesday, the committee finally obtained possession of the books of the Hyva corporation, Sinclair's personal company, which it sought in vain when the Teapot Dome inquiry was under way four years ago. They were produced by Harold W. Kenwell, secretary of the company.

Kenwell's testimony was that the company was formed on August 3, 1922, with $20,000 of cash paid in capital, and that on October 6 of the same year it took over $17,025,500 of the stock of the Mammoth Oil company, the concern Sinclair organized to lease the Teapot Dome reserve.

Washington Does Not Take Seriously the Pan-Handle Proposition

WASHINGTON, D.C., Jan. 25.—Government officials are disinclined to take seriously the suggestion made in the British Columbia legislature that negotiations be opened with the United States looking to the acquisition by Canada of the so-called Alaska pan-handle. They expressed surprise at the suggestion, saying that it represented no previous conversations or exchanges between the two governments on this subject as so far as known, no movement in Canada of any importance.

The Canadian dispatches did not indicate by what method the territory was proposed to be be acquired. Presumably it could be obtained only by purchase from the United States and this method does not appear to be in favor at official headquarters.

Ontario Ghost May Be "Gold Mine," Says Professor in Toronto

TORONTO, Jan. 25.—The possibility that Frank Keating, Campbellford farmer "may have something as good as a gold mine in the cellar instead of a ghost" was broached today by Professor Lash Miller, head of the biochemistry department of the University of Toronto. Keating wrote a letter to a local newspaper today saying a crack had been found in his cellar and through this gases might escape to assume the form which taken for a ghost, aroused province-wide interest lately. Professor Miller suggested that if a sample of the gas could be obtained he would be glad to analyze it.

Joe Parente Is Now In Montreal; Out on Bail From Vancouver

VANCOUVER, Jan. 25.—It was reported here today that Joe Parente, alleged San Francisco rum runner, arrested here on December 20, charged with being illegally in Canada, left Vancouver some days ago and is now in Montreal.

When the immigration board met, Tuesday, to consider Parente's case, counsel for the accused challenged the jurisdiction of the board because the minister of immigration had not authorized the arrest of Parente at the time it was made. The immigration officials contend that instructions from the minister are not necessary to effect an arrest.

Parente was out on $5000 bail pending the result of the immigration board hearing.

CHAPTER 19

It seemed to Eileen MacVeagh in the weeks fast growing, as they did, into months that followed that first real quarrel of hers with John, that she was marking time. Life slowly, gradually, but with a deadly sureness ceased to have it old meaning to her.

That quarrel, to be sure, was patched up. John, ashamed of his outbreak, of the way he had lost his temper, came back full of contrition; that night they seemed to be closer together than they had been at any time since they had come to New York.

"I'm sorry, honey," he said, coming into her room as she sat disconsolate before her dressing table. She hadn't finished dressing. In order to be free at the last minute for the many little tasks she wished to perform herself, she had made herself ready late in the afternoon, up to the very point of putting on the new gown she had had made for this dinner. Now as John came in he saw her, a forlorn, wistful little figure, incredibly young in her scanty underwear, her slim, lovely legs shining in their lustrous silken coverings, her feet thrust into mules.

She turned to him, tried to smile.

"Darling, I'm sorry, too," she said. "I—oh, I don't know why they don't like me! I've done my best—I've tried to be nice to them——"

"You're worth the whole kit and boiling of them," he said. He came over, drew her up, caught her in his arms and kissed her. "I'm tired—I suppose that's why I let out the way I did."

"No," she said. "You're disappointed in me, John. I'd rather have you say it than just think it. I've failed you here."

"No," he said. "It—that's not the way to put it, honey. Only— well— I don't know—other people get along. They establish themselves here in less time than we've been here. And ther're no more important, they have no more money."

"I know," Eileen nodded. "There's something—it's me. I can see that. I don't seem to be able to talk to these women you like——"

"Oh, Lord—I don't like them, particularly!" he said. "It's just—well, we can't alter the structure of things here, and if you're going to be anybody and amount to anything here you've got to get in right with certain people who can make you or break you. That's always true in any town in a business way and I'm getting to see that it's just as true socially."

"It sounds pretty horrid, you know," said Eileen. She gave a bitter little laugh. "If anyone had ever told me that you'd ever be a climber——!"

"What?" He turned on her furiously. "I'm nothin of the kind! I don't give a hoot about society and social standing except as they're — except as amounting to something socially in a place like New York is a business asset. Can't you get that through your head?"

"Oh, yes," she said. "I suppose everyone who wants to get ahead socially has some reason like that, though, John. And, anyway, it doesn't matter —I want to do what you want and do what I can to make our life the sort of life you want to live. But I feel discouraged—I don't know where I've gone wrong, you see. If I did I could do something about it."

"You're too much of a shrinking violet," he said. "That sort of thing doesn't go here. You've got to push yourself if you want to get anywhere in New York. We've got to cut loose —make a splash. I can see that I'll have to take a hand myself."

"Of course, I think these people are simply ill-bred, if you ask me," said Eileen. "They show it in ever so many ways John. And there's no excuse in the world for accepting an invitation and then backing out at the last minute, the way they've all done today."

"Oh, of course, they're ill-bred—if you look at it in an old-fashioned way," said John, impatiently. "Times have changed. We've got to change with them."

"Some things don't change," said Eileen obstinately.

"Well, anyway, we've got to take these people as we find them," he said. "It's a cinch they're not going to change their ways because we don't approve of them. And if I'm going to live in New York I'm going to be on top of the heap—I'm going to know the right people, and I'm going to know them well. I don't care how big the puddle is —I'm not going to be a little frog in it!"

He got up and walked restlessly up and down the room.

"Come on," he said. "Put on your dress and we'll go out and have a party all by ourselves."

She hesitated.

"I wonder if that's really a good idea—tonight?" she said.

"Why not?"

She laughed, faintly.

"Well—I was just thinking—suppose we ran into some of our dinner guests? Don't you think it might embarrass them?"

"A lot I'd care!" he said. His mouth fell into the grim line she had come to know so well in the last strenuous weeks at home. "I haven't got the upper hand here yet—but I'll have it some day! And when I do some of these people that were too high and mighty to come here tonight are going to be standing around first on one foot and then on the other worrying about whether they'll be asked to be among those present when Mr. and Mrs. John MacVeagh are entertaining!"

Eileen laughed again. She couldn't stay angry or hurt with John very long. He was just a little boy, after all. She loved him. She loved that vain-glorious, boasting streak in him; it was a part of his magnificent strength, his superb audacity. She went up to him and raised herself, her hands on his shoulders, till she could kiss him.

"You run along and get dressed," she said. "I'll be ready before you are. And — I just hope we do meet the Fosters somewhere, so that she'll know she hasn't put anything over on us."

So they went out, and they had their party. And they did, at various times, see the Fosters and some of the others. But this time Eileen had John to herself all through their wanderings, from dinner to theater, from theater to night clubs. Not since her first night in New York had she had so good a time.

"I wish we went out oftener like this," she said, as they reached home. "Just you and I. It's been marvelous, John."

"You bet," he said. "We'll do it again soon—mighty soon."

She thought of that promise many times in the next weeks. The time came when she had to think of it to help herself to get through the lonely hours. But not for worlds would she have reminded John of it. And, as for him, he seemed never to think of it again.

TELEGRAM WAS HOAX, SHARKEY FINALLY FINDS

Instead of Signing for Tunney He Signs for Battle With Risko

NEW YORK, Jan. 25.—The elements of a comic farce entered the so-called heavyweight elimination business today with the customary details of suspense, a faked telegram and the grand climax, all involved in the signing of Jack Sharkey and Johnny Risko for a 15-round match in Madison Square Garden on March 12.

The stage picture yesterday revealed Jess McMahon, Tex. Rickard's matchmaker, hurrying to Boston for consultation with Sharkey's manager, haggling for 24 hours over terms, finally conceding Sharkey "a shot" at Gene Tunney as the reward of victory over Risko, and with this flourishing climax clinching the match.

It turns out, instead, that there was no haggling, except to give the appearance of prolonged controversy, that the match was ready to be signed at any time, that the reputed telegram from Tex. Rickard promising Sharkey the first bout with Tunney was only a hoax to influence Johnny Buckley, Sharkey's manager, and that no assurances were given to Sharkey about a title engagement.

JOKER IN PLOT

The joker in the plot, whether calculated or not, was that Buckley, zealous to help the Sharkey ballyhoo, gave out to newspaper men in Boston as authentic the text of Rickard's alleged telegram, which, in fact, had been framed by McMahon as a decoy.

Today Buckley in Boston had this to say:

"It may have been real or they may have sent one to themselves and put one over on me. I don't know. Of course all the contract calls for is a fight with Risko, but one thing is certain—I was promised a bout with Tunney if Jack shows well against Risko, and I'll take that bout or nothing."

Here is McMahon's version:

Sharkey signed only for Risko. No conditions or strings are attached to it about a future title bout with Tunney or a match with any one else. The Sharkey-Risko bout has the same status in the elimination series as the Heeney-Delaney bout on March 1. If Buckley took that telegram seriously, it's his own funeral. We fixed it up as a decoy, but had no intention of it getting into print. I had no communication at all with Rickard."

KASLO DEFEATS FAIRVIEWITES HOCKEY MATCH

Nelson Boys on Short End of a 4 to 3 Score After Fast Game

Fairview Hockey club, invading Kaslo Tuesday night, went down to defeat at the hands of the crack home team, 4-3, after a hard-fought match.

The game opened with Kaslo taking the edge, but by the end of the first period the Nelson boys were holding their own and the score stood 1-1. In the second period the game was about even, although Kaslo netted another goal, while Nelson was held to its one goal.

Kaslo netted two more in the first part of the third and then the Nelson boys came to life, but were unable to get more than one goal, although they kept Tims, the Kaslo goalie, in hot water for the balance of the game.

Jack Sharkey Has No Strings on a Bout With Champ

NEW YORK, Jan. 25.—Jack Sharkey, Boston heavyweight, received no assurances or promise of a title match with Gene Tunney as a result of signing for a 15-round elimination contest with Johnny Risko of Cleveland at Madison Square Garden, March 12, Jess McMahon, Garden manager, declared today on his return from Boston.

"No strings or conditions were attached to the Sharkey-Risko match," said McMahon today. "It is a part of the final elimination series, just as is the Delaney-Heeney bout on March 1."

TRAIL TALLIES ALMOST AT WILL ROSSLAND GAME

Swamps Rossland Under Barrage of Shots; 14-1 Is the Score

ROSSLANDERS BALKED BY TRAIL CHECK AT CENTER

Unable Break Through; D. Dewar Gets His Team's Lone Counter

ROSSLAND, B.C., Jan. 25.—Proving themselves entirely too fast and too clever for Rossland, Trail hockey boys walked away with a victory of 14-1 in tonight's West Kootenay league battle here.

The visitors played brilliantly and soon showed that they were apparently able to go out and score at will and effectually prevent the Rossland lads from getting within shooting range to retaliate.

Trail's checking at center ice was at all times excellent, and its speedy attacks in combination and in solo efforts repeatedly went right through the most severe defensive work.

BOND FLASHY

Bond, playing defence for the visitors, turned in a brilliant game. He played all over the ice and was a constant worry to the home forwards and defence with his close checking and furious solo returns.

The extraordinary score did not reflect at all to the discredit of Palfrey. He got very poor support from his team which, having been patched up, was not able to play good combination. The play, except for the first forward line, was up to the initiative of individual players, and the result, 14-1, showed the visitors did pretty much as they wanted.

SPEEDY SCORE

Play opened with Molisky, D. Dewar and Norris making brisk attacks on the Trail nets. Reddick, checking, got away on a solo rush to score in 27 seconds for Trail.

Two minutes later Kendall flashed up center ice and passed out to Brennan, who scored with a hot one. For about five minutes there was determined opposition by the Rossland men, who, with Dewar, Molisky and Lauriente coming dangerously close to scoring. But the Trail boys showed their ability on the defensive, and got away with many rushes to harass Palfrey. Mackie, on the wing on one three-man attack, slipped the puck from behind to Wheatley, who scored the third. These two boys worked a similar trick at 14 minutes, when Mackie scored on Wheatley's pass.

NORRIS HURT

Norris, coming down hard, had to leave the ice with an injured arm. Gustason, toward the close of the period made a brilliant stick handling display through the whole Rossland lineup to shoot, but Palfrey was on the job. It appeared that in this period the Rossland boys were a bit demoralized by the early scoring. They had not settled to combination work when it closed.

GOALS GALORE

The second period was a tale of more Trail scores. Kendall at the puck flashed up the ice, passed to Gustason at the blue, and scored on the return at 6:30. A minute later Wheatley scored on the rebound of Hanson's wing shot. Going up again from the faceoff Hanson scored on a centering pass from Wheatley.

Molisky, D. Dewar and Norris made things interesting for a space with determined attempts to break through, but the Trail men robbed mercilessly. Bond was a star at it, and frequently delighted the Trail fans all through this and the next period with his checking and solo rushes.

Hanson and Wheatley worked their combination trick again in slow movie style. Easily outmaneuvering the Rossland forwards Hanson drew the defence men off to wing and shoved the puck across a foot in front of Palfrey to Wheatley. Wheatley placed it inside. Palfrey, shortly after, rushing out to save a skidding puck, received a bad face kick in a collision with Wheatley that was purely accidental.

DEWAR SCORES

Rossland scored its only goal early in the third. D. Dewar whose stick handling was always good, unable to penetrate the whole Trail team facing him at the blue, found an opening and shot a hot one past Jackson. It was low and to the corner of the net. It was a good and successful effort and stirred his teammates up to more action.

But within a minute and a half, Bond, breaking up an attack, went out, passed to Mackie in front of the goal, Mackie scoring. Reddick did the same two minutes later, but made the score himself on Gustason's pass. Wheatley poked in another when Palfrey, beseiged, came to ice, with the puck just out of his reach. Bond made it a dozen for Trail on an unassisted shot from the blue line on one of his furious rushes. Brennan, up with Kendall and Gustason, on a combination attack, scored the next on a rebound from Palfrey's pads. Kendall put the final goal through on Gustason's pass from behind.

THE TEAMS

The teams were:

Rossland—Palfrey, goal; Nelson and Ferko, defence; Molisky, D. Dewar and Norris; P. Dewar, K. Dewar and H. Lauriente, forwards.

Trail—Jackson, goal; Reddick and Bond, defence; Brennan, Kendall and Gustason; Hanson, Mackie and Wheatley, forwards.

Referee—E. Jewell, Judge of play—W. M. Brown. Timekeepers—H. Rayner, Rossland; J. P. Schofield, Trail. Penalty timekeepers—A. McDougall, Rossland; C. Dodimead, Trail. Goal Umpires—J. Kerr, Rossland; S. Meredith, Trail.

PENALTIES

First period—Nelson, Mackie and Molisky.

Second period—Mackie, Bond and Molisky.

Third period—Reddick.

SPORTS

Stumpf Was Stumped to Know Time

By AL DEMAREE

(Former Pitcher New York Giants)

Bill Stumpf, as the above story indicates, was one of the slyest wits in baseball. His best trick was asking entirely irrelevant questions. One of those shrewd fellows you can't figure.

One day soon after he joined the Cubs, Frank Chance's boys were staging a big ninth-inning rally which meant the ball game. Suddenly in the midst of all the tumult, Stumpf asked, "What time is it?"

Chance looked at him as though he thought he had a mad man to deal with. "I don't know what time it is," he snarled. "What difference does it make what time it is?"

"I've read a lot about this club being a smart ball club," said Stumpf. "It sure is a smart ball club. There isn't a guy on the club knows what time it is!"

While playing shortstop at Salt Lake City, Stumpf would stand up and yell over to the second baseman, "Hey, what town are we in?"

"This is Salt Lake," the second-sacker would reply. "That's right," Stumpf would remember. "How many out?"

"Why, you crazy sap. There's two out."

"That's right, if there were three out we'd be in on the bench, wouldn't we?"

United States Players Win on Covered Courts

MONTREAL, Jan. 25.—George M. Lott Jr. of Chicago present covered court tennis champion who is here to defend his title at the Montreal indoor tennis club, today hurdled his first opposition in easy fashion when he defeated a local player A. G. Morgauer, 6-0, 6-0.

Other United States victories were scored when Allen Behr, New York, captured two straight sets from Charlie Leslie of Montreal, 6-4, 6-0; Frank Shields, New York, defeated E. Durrant, Montreal, 6-1, 6-1, and P. L. Kynston, New York, won from Paul Fontaine, Montreal, 6-1, 6-4.

Dr. Arthur Ham of Toronto defeated John Nichol, Boston 6-2, 6-2. A. C. Butter, Boston, won by default from J. H. Van Allen, New York.

Reiselt, Three-Cushion Billiard Champion, Wins

PHILADELPHIA, Pa., Jan. 25.—Otto Reiselt, Philadelphia world's series cushion billiard champion won the second block of the challenge match with Tiff Denton, Kansas City, this afternoon 60 to 40 increasing his lead for the two blocks to 35. The match is for 300 points in five blocks of 60 points each. The total score now stands Reiselt 120; Denton 85.

U. S. Skaters at St. Moritz Make New World Marks

OSLO, Norway, Jan. 25.—Skaters from the United States, in training for the olympic races at St. Moritz, Switzerland, today bettered the world's records for the mile and quarter mile in exhibition practice races at the municipal rink.

O'Neil Farrell of Chicago made the quarter mile in 36 1-10 seconds, when Valetine Bialis of Lake Placid, N.Y., was close behind with 36 1-5. Irving Jaffee of New York and Eddie Murphy of Chicago made the quarter mile in 36 3-10 seconds.

(Charley Gorman of Canada holds the world's record for the quarter mile in 36 3-5 seconds).

Jaffee made the mile today in two minutes 30 3-5 seconds. Bialis made it in 3:20 7-10, Murphy and Farrell tying again in 2:32 1-10.

(The world's record for the mile, 2:38 1-5, is held by Clas Thunberg of Finland).

TIGERS DEFEAT YOUNG LIBERALS

Last Minute Spurt Wins Midget Basketball Game by Score of 14-11

Making a final spurt in the last few minutes of the game when they were only one point in the lead, the High School Tigers last night defeated the Central Young Liberals, 14 to 11, at the High school in a fast midget league basketball fixture. The game was fast and clean with only two personal fouls called.

J. Donaldson and Sandy Martin refereed.

The teams were:

Tigers—Green (8), McEachern (2), Hamson (4), Smith, Affleck.

Young Liberals—A. McLeod (6), N. McLeod (2), Jack Teague (2), Buchanan (1), J. Weaver.

HIGH JUVENILES DEFEAT CENTRAL

Take Basketball Game by Score of 21-10; Show Very Good Combination

Playing wonderful combination and shooting with a remarkable degree of accuracy, the High School last night defeated the Central School, 21-10, in a juvenile league boys' basketball match at the high school. The Central boys were good, but were fairly weak in their combination, and although they had the ball as often as the High team, they could not use it to advantage.

J. S. Donaldson refereed.

The teams were:

High School—Bishop (2), A. McLean (4), J. Burns (3), R. Conway (6), R. Olson (6), Harry Pritchard.

Billy Coutu Gets Suspension for an Attack on Redding

BOSTON, Jan. 25.—Billy Coutu, defence player of the New Haven club, was suspended from the Canadian-American Hockey league for the rest of the season by President Charles Clapp today. The suspension was imposed as a result of Coutu's attack on George Redding of the Boston Tigers, during a Boston-New Haven game at New Haven. Coutu knocked the Boston player unconscious with his stick.

Ninety-six of Hundred and Eleven Entries Are in the Grand National LIVERPOOL, Jan. 25.—None of the first rank contenders in the nominations for the Grand National forfeited today on posting of the acceptances of the weights. Of the original entry of 111, no less than 96 have accepted the imposts allotted. The great steeplechase will be run on March 30.

The forfeits announced today, numbering 15, were Lee Bridge, Don Sancho, Dash o' White, Spinney Hill, Castle Town, Patagonia, Snapper, Jolly, Gay Dog II., Clashmorgan, Little Clifter, Priming Pan, Roman Hackle, Miss Balscadden and Athronan Boy.

Philadelphia Offers Gene Tunney a Cool Half Million for Go

PHILADELPHIA, Jan. 25.—Ben Feinberg, New York and Philadelphia fight promoter, tonight wired Gene Tunney an offer of $500,000 to defend his world's heavyweight crown in this city against Tommy Loughran, light-heavyweight champion. The bout would be held next summer at the municipal stadium, where Tunney won his title from Jack Dempsey.

Cosgrave Repays Visit of Benjamin Franklin He Tells U. S. Senators

WASHINGTON, Jan. 25.—President William T. Cosgrave of the Irish Free State executive council, today repaid a debt of 150 years' standing. Addressing the senate after he had shaken hands with each of its members in an impromptu reception, the Free State executive said: "Benjamin Franklin came to my country a nundred and fifty years ago, and the Irish parliament and the Irish people were fighting for freedom. I have now come to repay the visit of that great man."

The visit to the senate was the climax of the third busy day the Irish president has spent in Washington.

LIMA, Peru, Jan. 25.—Latest advices from the Peruvian crusier Almirante Grau and the Peruvian submarine R-1, which collined off Balboa, Canal zone, today, alleviated fears that a major disaster had occurred.

FOUR CHILDREN DIE AS SCHOOL IS BLOWN DOWN

Mile-a-Minute Gale Sweeps Eastern United States and Canada

POWER SYSTEMS ARE PUT OUT OR ORDER

New England Suffers; Maritimes Heavily Hit; Bad at Ottawa

NEW YORK, Jan. 25.—Southern and eastern states and parts of Canada bowed today under the force of a more than a mile a minute gale that left minor devastation in its wake.

During the day there was a drop in temperature and heavy snow fell in Quebec and parts of New York.

The most serious accident of the two-day storm occurred in Tennessee when a school house was blown over and four children were killed.

Possibly the greatest money loss due to the storm was caused by the breaking of plate glass windows. In Manhattan alone glass valued between $20,000 and $30,000 was broken.

The gale was so strong that ships were torn from their moorings, trees were uprooted or snapped like twigs, roofs were ripped away and whole houses were wrenched from their foundations.

In many towns power and light systems were put out of commission and communication disrupted.

Reports of the storm havoc came in from Delaware and Maryland, Tennessee, New Jersey, Pennsylvania, all the New England states, New York and the provinces of Quebec and Nova Scotia.

BAD IN BOSTON

BOSTON, Mass., Jan. 25.—The heaviest gale of the winter caused widespread damage in New England today. Several vessels were driven ashore or endangered, buildings were unroofed, chimneys, trees and wires blown down, walls demolished and windows smashed.

The greatest force of the storm, was along the southern New England coast. At Newport, R.I., Captain Sterling Fullerton of the barge Harry E. Keeler, and his wife, were brought ashore in the breeches buoy after the vessel had broken her moorings in the bay and had been driven on the rocks. Bathhouses at Newport were moved from their foundations, small buildings were demolished, stones picked up by the gale broke windows and several cottages near the Beaver Tail lighthouse were wrecked. The fall river liner Commonwealth, slipped her moorings and went into the mud but was hauled back to her dock undamaged.

At Point Judith, R.I., the two-masted schooner, Alice S. Wentworth, after safely passing through the breakwater into the harbor of refuge, dragged her anchors and was in such imminent danger of going on the rocks that Captain Z. N. Tilton and his two nephews, comprising the crew, deliberately beached the vessel. They made their way ashore in a dory.

STORM ABATES

OTTAWA, Jan. 25.—A vicious blizzard which brought disorganization to every form of traffic abated early tonight, after raging in this region of the Ottawa valley for more than 24 hours. Old-timers dubbed it the worst storm of its kind in 10 years. Over a foot of snow was added to the capital's seasonal fall by the storm.

Every highway leading into Ottawa from the surrounding countryside was practically blocked by huge snowdrifts which in many districts reached a height of eight feet.

GALES IN MARITIMES

HALIFAX, N.S., Jan. 25.—The maritime provinces were swept by a southwest gale today, accompanied in many places by heavy rain and abnormally high tides, those in many places breaking all known records and causing heavy damage to water front establishments and small boats. The storm started last night and increased in velocity until this morning, gradually receding toward evening.

Beatty Forecasts Extension of C. P. R. Into Saskatchewan

WINNIPEG, Jan. 25.—Extension of the Canadian Pacific railway into the northland of Saskatchewan was forecast today by the president, E. W. Beatty, K.C., on his arrival here.

The work will be a contiuation of the branch line which runs north from Wadena and ends at Nipawin, almost due east of Prince Albert. Connection with Prince Albert will be made by a line joining that city and Nipawin. Asked if this would mean eventually extension to the Hudson bay, Mr. Beatty said that was a future possibility.

Large Real Estate Deal Made for Big Property in Spokane

SPOKANE, Jan. 25.—Purchase of the real estate holdings of the Western Union Life Insurance company in this state, valued at approximately $450,000, by R. Lewis Rutter, was announced today. They include the Western Union Life building here, valued at $300,000.

The Sun Life Assurance company of Montreal, Que., which has purchased the stock of the Western Union Life at a price of $2,750,000, has leased the Western Union Life building for its Pacific northwest headquarters, being prohibited under the Washington law as a foreign corporation from owning real estate in this state.

Mr. Rutter, who received for his stock in the Western Union Life $1,338,922, has formed the Rutter Investment company to hold his real estate purchases.

COLONEL BLAYLOCK DIES

MONTREAL, Jan. 25.—Colonel Harry Woodburn Blaylock, C.B.E., D.C.L., former head of the Canadian Red Cross, died today in a Montreal hospital after an illness of about three weeks. He was 49 years of age.

REDEEMER HAS A GREAT YEAR REPORTS SHOW

Closes Books With Balance After Expenditure During the Year of $4130

ADDED PARISH HALL; PAINTED THE CHURCH

Auxiliary Temporarily Disbanded; Burgess and Jarvis Are Wardens

Reviewing a year of continued successes, the congregation of the Church of the Redeemer held its annual vestry meeting in its parish hall Tuesday night. Ven. Archdeacon Fred H. Graham of St. Saviour's presided.

Rev. D. F. Cowie, in his annual report, paid great tribute to the women's guild, for its cooperation with the church committee in meeting the increased liabilities of the church as the year drew to a close. He expressed his appreciation of the loyal support of the committee and the vicar's warden, A. V. Rowley. Their cordial cooperation was a great help.

ACTIVITIES

During the year a parish hall was purchased and improved, the church was painted outside, the Sunday school membership increased. With the single exception of the women's auxiliary, every organization was in a flourishing condition. The auxiliary, Mr. Cowie reported, was temporarily disbanded, but it was hoped it would be active again shortly. During the year it paid over $800 to the church committee toward purchasing the parish hall, organized a "Little Helpers" band, and altogether did excellent work.

GUILD DOES WELL

The Women's Guild earned well over $1000 during the year. It gave in the neighborhood of $1400 toward church improvements and the purchase of the parish hall.

Mr. Cowie reported an increase of 192 pupils in the Sunday school, although for 10 Sundays the school was closed owing to the ban on gatherings of children during the infantile paralysis epidemic. The school had a credit balance of $99.18 on December 31.

Archdeacon Graham spoke highly of this branch of the work, appreciating the sacrifice of those who gave their time.

The tennis club, reported Mr. Cowie, had a credit balance of $80.33 when its books were closed.

The Altar guild had a successful year, and had enough money to carry on.

ELECT OFFICERS

Expenditure of $4130.82 during the year was shown in the financial report submitted by E. Jarvis, people's warden. There was a balance in hand of $11.59.

John Burgess was appointed vicar's warden for 1928. E. Jarvis was re-elected people's warden. The church committee elected consisted of A. V. Rowley, J. Shardelow, A. T. Horswill, A. Evans, George Brant, W. Eccles, Mrs. F. A. Baker, Mrs. W. R. Gibbon and Mrs. Robert Andrew.

THANKS

Votes of thanks were tendered to Archdeacon Graham for taking the chair, to the various church organizations, and to the following for services during the past year: A. V. Rowley, E. Jarvis, J. Shardelow, W. R. Allen, J. T. Andrews, Mrs. Thompson, Mrs. R. Vyse, Mrs. W. Douche and Mrs. J. T. Andrews.

Archdeacon Graham expressed his delight at being present and in finding the condition of the church so flourishing. He urged realization of the necessity of meeting the parochial liabilities by the envelope system.

KING ASKS FOR COURTESY TOWARD TRAIL ARTISTS

Tells Board of Trade Nelson Given the Best When Going to Smelter City

"When a Nelson organization goes to Trail to give an entertainment, it is treated royally by the substantial citizens, from the management of the Consolidated Mining & Smelting Company of Canada down," stated W. S. King, at the annual meeting of the Nelson board of trade yesterday.

"I would like to see Nelson's citizens generally show an equal courtesy to a Trail organization coming here to give a show," he said, alluding to the production of "Zip," a new revue, by the Trail Veterans orchestra here tonight.

He said a commercial traveler just back from Trail told him the show, as he saw it in Trail Tuesday night, did not suffer by comparison with anything he had seen across the breadth of Canada.

Mr. King asked auto owners to volunteer to meet the cast at the station, to convey them to the opera house.

He immediately received assurances of ample assistance.

Al Smith and Jesse Jones Talked of as Democratic Ticket

NEW YORK, Jan. 25.—The New York Herald Tribune will say tomorrow that a Democratic ticket consisting of Alfred E. Smith for president, and Jess Jones, Houston capitalist, for vice-president, was discussed tonight at a private dinner in the National Democratic club.

Over Hundred Motorists Fined at Vancouver

VANCOUVER, Jan. 25.—For failing to carry 1928 licence plates on their automobiles, 126 motorists on Tuesday paid fines of $2.50 each and were warned by Police Magistrate J. A. Findlay that they must comply with the law at once or suffer heavier penalties.

More than 3000 summonses returnable on January 31 charging other motorists with similar offences have been issued by the police.

Wanted! 25,000 Sufferers from DEAFNESS

Head Noises from Ear Tubal Catarrh—or Nasal Catarrh Only

Startling Free Offer!

This announcement is being published in order to secure the names of 25,000 people who are suffering from catarrhal deafness, dullness of hearing, head noises or ordinary nasal catarrh. To everyone so afflicted, a wonderful trial treatment, originated by Dr. W. O. Coffee, for many years a nationally known specialist, will be sent to try without obligation or expense.

Dr. Coffee, himself, suffered for many years from ear tubal catarrh, deafness and head noises. He tried many different treatments which failed to give permanent relief. Then he began experimenting on himself and finally developed a method which completely healed his ear tubal catarrh, restored his hearing and stopped the distressing head noises.

You can test this remarkable treatment, originated by the doctor and since then used with such astounding success by thousands of people afflicted with these troubles. Coupon brings free trial without the slightest cost. Mail it today. You incur no obligation whatever.

W. O. COFFEE, M. D.
Originator of This Home Treatment

Don't Neglect These Troubles!

Deafness, Ear Tubal Catarrh, Head Noises, and Nasal Catarrh generally grow worse when neglected. Authorities claim that ninety per cent of all deafness is primarily caused by catarrh of the head and air passages. Others state that nasal catarrh often causes indigestion, rheumatism, catarrh of the stomach, and many other diseased conditions. If you suffer from dullness of hearing or nasal catarrh, do not neglect this condition.

There are thousands, who are now practically stone deaf, whose hearing could no doubt have been saved had the right measures been taken in time. Dr. Coffee restored hearing in hundreds of cases, where the patients were so deaf they could hear nothing. Of course, those were cases which, in spite of their severity, fortunately had not advanced to the stage that the actual tissues or nerves had become affected. Just remember this—you can prove the value of this treatment entirely without risk or expense. It will come to you absolutely free. Just fill out and mail the coupon.

FREE

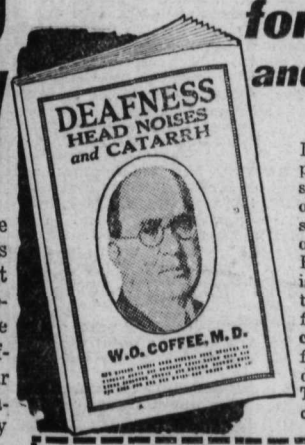
25,000 Trial Treatments Given This Month

Naturally, the doctor was proud of the results reported by so many thousands of sufferers who have used his simple home treatment. It is because of this success that these 25,000 demonstration treatments are being prepared and sent absolutely free to all who answer this offer within the next 30 days. This liberal plan should convince you that Dr. Coffee's Original Home Treatment will give you relief from catarrhal deafness, dullness of hearing, head noises and also nasal catarrh. The results are quick and convincing. You feel the difference the first day. Try it. This treatment costs you nothing whatever. Simply send coupon or write and say you are suffering from deafness or head noises or catarrh. You will receive a free treatment which Dr. Coffee always claimed was the best treatment he ever found in his 45 years' practice as a specialist. Every sufferer should take advantage of this offer. The demonstration treatment is FREE.

DONT SEND ONE PENNY

You are not asked to send one penny for this treatment. It is sent free to you prepaid without cost. This is done to quickly introduce Dr. Coffee's original home treatment to sufferers from deafness, or head noises caused by ear tubal catarrh, or from nasal catarrh itself. Dr. Coffee probably treated more cases of deafness, head noises and catarrh than any physician in the United States. He considered this treatment the best he ever found in over 45 years active practice. The fact that it cleared his own case and restored his hearing to normal, after the condition had grown really acute, gave him absolute confidence in it. Then, too, he witnessed what it has done for hundreds of sufferers. Send your name and address today. State whether you have catarrhal deafness or head noises or just have catarrh. This notice may not appear again so mail the coupon at once.

Mail Coupon Today for This Book and Treatment



You will be keenly interested in Dr. Coffee's Book on Deafness. In plain, simple language it describes the symptoms of the many various types of deafness. From reading it, you should be able to determine something of the nature of your own trouble. Bear in mind, Dr. Coffee's treatment is not recommended for those who are totally deaf from disease of any kind, from shock, or, in fact, from any cause whatever. In fact, this book frankly states so. Mail coupon today and get the Free Book and Treatment without obligation or cost. Offer is limited—Act!

Hundreds Praise this Original Method

Deaf Since Childhood; Her Hearing Greatly Benefited This Way

Mona McBride

Here is a recent picture of Mrs. Mona McBride, an Illinois woman whose remarkable case and glowing testimonial letter show what this treatment can accomplish. From childhood, Mrs. McBride's hearing was affected, the result of serious illness. Her story is the most convincing proof of the merits of Dr. Coffee's Home Treatment. Mrs. McBride says, "This is to certify that since having scarlet fever when a little girl, I have been hard of hearing, and for the past four or five years I have been almost entirely deaf. A few months ago my left ear began to discharge. I found it to be abscessed and discharging a foul fluid. Nothing seemed to stop it and finally I tried Dr. Coffee's Treatment. To my surprise and delight the hearing in the ear which was partially deaf for nearly 20 years has returned and the abscess has healed. Now I can hear a conversation six feet away. I didn't believe it possible and I certainly advise anyone suffering with deafness to try this treatment. I obtained relief in a short time."

An Octogenarian's Praise

At eighty years of age, D. B. Simmons, of Maine, ascribed partial deafness with which he was afflicted to his advanced years. Developing severe head noises, however, he determined to seek relief from the Dr. Coffee Treatment, the success of which he had heard in similar cases to his own. "I am glad to be able to tell you," he writes, "that after using your treatment as prescribed, the head noises left me entirely and I am rid of the deafness besides. Can hear well again."

Greatly Benefited at 86

"I had suffered with nasal catarrh for seven or eight years; I had terrible head noises, my hearing was bad. It was necessary for people to talk loud, otherwise I could not hear them. I used Dr. Coffee's Home Treatment for four months, and it restored my hearing to such an extent that I can now take part in an ordinary conversation. The head noises are a thing of the past. I am 86 years old."

J. C. Patterson, Indiana.

Head Noises Disappear

With Mrs. Reed Page, of N. Y., Dr. Coffee's Home Treatment quickly relieved a serious and rapidly developing case of deafness and head noises. From normal hearing, in scarcely four years, Mrs. Page became quite deaf. People had to shout close to her ears for her to understand them. Now she writes, "I am happy to tell you how good I feel and how much improved I am. Can hear everything, and the head noises are gone entirely."

After 10 Years' Suffering

"My hearing is now even better than when I was a boy," writes Peter Storm of Iowa. Gradually but surely growing deaf over a period of nearly ten years, Mr. Storm became afflicted with severe head noises which alarmed him greatly. Much to his amazement and when he had practically given up hope of regaining his hearing, Dr. Coffee's Home Treatment relieved him within two months.

Relieved After 48 Years

"I had been gradually growing deaf for 48 years. I had not been able to hear over a telephone for 17 years. Naturally I was discouraged for I had tried everything and found no relief. Dr. Coffee's treatment restored my hearing so I could hear over a telephone in either ear, quite plainly. I no longer suffer with intense head-noises."

Mrs. M. Sherier, Missouri.

Restored Hearing in Month

George Bishop, a native of Saskatchewan, tells how he suffered for 12 years and spent hundreds of dollars seeking relief to no avail. Read what he says of Dr. Coffee's Home Treatment—how his hearing has improved and the head noises disappeared as a result of this simple method: "My hearing grew so bad that people had to shout into my ear for me to understand. Dr. Coffee's Treatment helped me greatly in one month. It is wonderful."

HICKMAN WINS RIGHT TO HAVE ANOTHER JUDGE

Defence Surprises by Claiming Judge Hardy Is Biased and Prejudiced

JUDGE CONSENTS TO STEP ASIDE

Hickman Quiet; Court Room Is Crowded With Women; Trial Off for Time

HALL OF JUSTICE, Los Angeles, Cal., Jan. 25.—Swift and unexpected moves that ended in the defence scoring a prime victory, that of obtaining a new judge by charging bias and prejudice to the jurist assigned to the case, marked the opening day of the sanity trial of William E. Hickman, kidnaper and slayer of 12-year-old Marian Parker.

Superior Judge Carlos Hardy filed an affidavit consenting "in the interest of justice and the speedy hearing of this trial" to remove himself from the case. The trial judge is expected to be named by a judical council, headed by William Waste, chief justice of the California supreme court.

Striking swiftly after the trial was called to order this morning, Jerome Walsh, Kansas City attorney, defending Hickman, entered an exception to Judge Hardy. The defence charged bias and prejudice on three separate grounds.

COURT ADJOURNS

The court was adjourned until afternoon. After a conference with Superior Judge Victor McLucas, Judge Hardy decided to file a counter affidavit. In this, although denying the harboring of any bias or prejudice, Judge Hardy in effect disqualified himself from the trial.

In contrast to the morning session when few women were among the spectators and a dozen seats were vacant in the court room, the afternoon session found the court room filled to capacity. A large percentage of the crowd included colorfully dressed women.

Hickman remained quiet and apparently little moved by the court actions.

NEW JUDGE

LOS ANGELES, Jan. 25.—Superior Judge J. J. Trabucco of Mariposa county, one of California's veteran and prominent jurists, tonight was appointed to preside over the sanity trial of William Edward Hickman, kidnaper-killer of little Marian Parker. The assignment of Judge Trabucco was made by Presiding Judge Victor McLucas, after Chief Justice William Waste, of the supreme court, had directed the selection be made by him. The chief justice, as head of the judicial council, had been called upon to make an assignment after Superior Judge Carlos Hardy, who was sitting in the case, disqualified himself at the opening of the trial today.

Sloan Issues Warning Respect to Excited State on Mine Market

VICTORIA, Jan. 25.—In a statement issued today, Hon. William Sloan, minister of mines, issued a word of warning in respect to the present excited trading in mining shares. He said that this excitement might go too far and react to the disadvantage of the mineral industry if care was not taken.

REACTION IN B. C. MINING ISSUES

Big Missouri, Sunloch and Kootenay Florence All Drop Some

VANCOUVER, Jan. 25.—Mining shares continued reactionary under pressure of profit-taking on the Vancouver Stock exchange, Wednesday, losses in several active issues ranging from fractions to 5 and more than 10 points. Big Missouri opened at 91, losing ground steadily to 75, off 16. Sunloch dropped from $3.50 to $3.10, for a loss of 40c. Kootenay Florence lost 2½, to 44, at the close.

Pend D'Oreille went from $9.60 to $9.20, off 50 from Tuesday. Premier sold at $3, but finally lost 9 net, to $2.80. British Columbia Silver showed strength, gaining 5, to $1.55. Bowena Copper jumped from 5 to 9¾. International Coal gained 2, to 29. Marmot made 2, to 22. Silversmith, Leadsmith and Independence were fractionally better.

BUYERS INTERESTED AT FUR AUCTION

SEATTLE, Wash., Jan. 25.—Buyers displayed keen interest in the opening offerings of the January sale of the Seattle fur exchange here today, taking practically the entire collection of 5000 mink and 3500 red fox.

Mink averaged $16.70, the best lot bringing $33.25. Under lively bidding the best lot of interior Alaskan red fox, strictly ones and twos, brought $55, while the entire collection averaged $40.95.

A collection of 150 small and mediocre white fox averaged $49.70, the best lot bringing $62.50. Muskrats aroused little interest and oly a very small portion of the 35,000 offered was sold. The best lot brought $1.75 and sales averaged $1.55.

FAIR ASSOCIATION ELECTS OFFICERS

WINNIPEG, Jan. 25.—The election of officers and the selection of midway and platform attractions for the 1928 season concluded the anual meeting here today of the Western Canada Association of Exhibitons and the Western Canada Fairs association. P. W. Abbott of Edmonton was elected president of the former association, with H. G. Smith, Regina, vice-president, and H. W. Johns, Saskatoon, secretary-treasurer. Will T. Moore of Yorkton, Sask., was named president of the Western Canada Fairs association, and Ralph Patterson, Red Deer, vice-president, and H. Huxley, Lloydminister, Sask., secretary-treasurer.

Conkin & Garret of Vancouver will provide the midway attractions for class "B" fairs.

The class "B" fairs will be held as follows:

Carman, Man., June 29, 30 and July 2.
Estevan, Sask., July 2, 3, 4.
Weyburn, Sask., July 5, 6, 7.
Portage La Prairie, Man., July 9, 10 and 11.

Assiniboina, Sask., Aug. 18, 20, 21.
Lethbridge, Alta., Aug. 22, 23, 24, 25.

The 1929 meeting of the associations will be held in Winnipeg.

Toronto Woman Gets Ten Thousand Damages for Death of Her Son

TORONTO, Jan. 25.—Damages of $10,400 were awarded to Mrs. Alice Griffin by a jury in the assizes today for the death of her 19-year-old son, George E. Griffin. The youth was struck by a motor car driven by Charles Fremes, the defendant, against whom the costs are also assessed.

INVESTIGATE INJURIES

TORONTO, Jan. 25.—Relatives and police are making inquiries as to how Daniel Sullivan, aged 45 years, came by the injuries which resulted in his death in hospital early today. An autopsy will be held. He was found Tuesday in a lane with a fractured skull.

PROGRESS MADE

WINNIPEG, Jan. 25.—During a brief session today, rapid progress was made in disposing of various clauses of Manitoba's new liquor bill in the legislature and it is possible that the third reading stage will be reached Friday.

POMP WILL RULE HOUSE OPENING OTTAWA TODAY

This Afternoon Governor-General Will Open Canada's Parliament

TROOPS, GUN SALUTE PRECEDE CEREMONY

Speech From Throne and Then Down to Business; Waterways Scheme to Front

OTTAWA, Jan. 25.—The culmination of what has been for the capital city an unusually busy week will be reached tomorrow afternoon when, with the opening of parliament, all the administrative activities of the country will receive their stimulus, and national affairs will again be brought forth for the examination and the opinion of the people's representatives.

At 3 o'clock tomorrow afternoon, his excellency, the governor-general, will drive from Rideau Hall, escorted by a troop of cavalry, to the parliament buildings. There a guard of honor will be drawn up to receive him, and a salute of 19 guns will be fired as he arrives. This detachment will be detailed from the Governor-General's Footguards of Ottawa, a circumstance which may recall to him the occasion of his first opening of the Canadian parliament.

ONE ON WILLINGDON

The story is told of how his excellency, pleased with the alertness and parade discipline of the men on that occasion, and desiring to compliment them, inquired of the officer commanding what regiment it was.

"It is your own, sir," was the reply.

What the government's legislative program will be is not yet known, but the reading of the speech from the throne in the senate chamber tomorrow will give the lines along which the government proposes to proceed this session. It is believed that considerable emphasis will be laid upon the present prosperous condition of the country, its increasing trade, the bountiful harvest which, in 1927, was second only to the banner year of 1923, and the return of the pioneering spirit as manifested in the gradual reaching out of Canadians toward the north country.

GREAT QUESTION

The prime minister, Rt. Hon. W. L. Mackenzie King, has already declared the question of the St. Lawrence waterway to be "the greatest that has faced this country in many years," and the inference is taken from that, that the government will not be precipitate in dealing with the matter.

An interested spectator at tomorrow's ceremony will be Rt. Hon. L. C. Amery, British secretary of state for dominion affairs. Tomorrow a new Conservative leader will face the prime minister when Hon. R. B. Bennett takes the place to which he was elected last October at the Winnipeg Conservative convention.

Captain Does Not Know How His Ship Got on the Reef

TORONTO, Jan. 25.—Captain E. W. Jordan, veteran lake skipper, who commanded the freighter Agawa, wrecked on Manitoulin island a month ago, testified at the inquiry before Dominion Wreck Commissioner A. L. Demers today that he did not know how his ship got on the reef. "It is the strangest occurrence of my 27 years on the lakes," he said. His only possible suggestion was that the water changed flow and drove the Agawa off her course.

Captain Demers agreed that a steady wind might change the flow of water, as suggested by Captain Jordon.

The Agawa ran aground on Manitoulin island in the December gales and the crew and captain were confined to the ship for several days until rescued. The ship was going at full speed when it struck. There was no change in the sea to warn them.

CARDIFF PEOPLE ASK REPRIEVE

Strong Public Opinion Follows Condemning of Two Men to the Scaffold

CARDIFF, Wales, Jan. 25.—It is long since public opinion in the big industrial areas has been so excited over the fate of two men condemned to die on the scaffold on Friday for the murder of Davis Lewis, football player and boxer of Cardiff. The condemned men are Edward Rowlands and Daniel Driscoll. Lewis was murdered at midnight on a street in Cardiff.

Public opinion holds that the medical evidence at the trial failed to prove that the death of Lewis was solely due to his injuries, and considerable sympathy is being expressed for both prisoners.

John Rowlands was also convicted of having a part in the murder, but since the trial, he has been declared insane. A petition for the reprieve of the condemned men signed by 300,000 has been presented to the department of justice.

MAY STOP WORK

LONDON, Jan. 25.—Rt. Hon. T. P. O'Connor, who is prominently identified with the efforts to secure a reprieve for Edward Rowlands and Daniel Driscoll, the two men condemned to die on Friday for the murder of David Lewis, has received a request from the Liverpool and Bootle trade unionists to use his influence to stop all work on Thursday if the government remains adamant in the refusal to grant a reprieve.

Prince Will Do His Utmost to Visit the Peace River District

LONDON, Jan. 25. — At a reception tendered today in the state room of St. James Palace, the Canadian farmers who are touring the British Isles were especially struck by the readiness with which the Prince of Wales remembered acquaintances made during his ranching experiences at the "E. P." ranch at High River, Alta.

"Have you brought your bagpipes with you?" the prince asked W. Sharpe, who had reminded the prince of having played them on the "E. P." ranch.

To a former ranch neighbor the prince made inquiries about affairs in western Canada.

Those members of the party who come from the Peace River district of Alberta asked the prince to visit them on his next trip to Canada.

"I will do my utmost to make it," he replied. "I am sorry that I have not been there before."

The visitors remained at the palace for about half an hour, and, prior to being received by the prince, were given a reception by Hon. P. C. Larkin, Canadian high commissioner in London, at Canada House.

Saskatchewan House Is Down to Business; Seven Bills Proposed

REGINA, Sask., Jan. 25.—Premier Gardiner, as minister of education, Hon. T. C. Davis, attorney-general, Hon. S. J. Latta, provincial secretary and Hon. Dr. J. M. MASSEY HARRIS SELLS AT LOSS

Nickel Gains at Toronto; Smelters and Atlantic Sugar Make Gains

TORONTO, Jan. 25.—Although the market on the Toronto stock exchange had a good deal of a snap today, many important issues did not make any progress and the general tone was weaker.

International Nickel closed at 95¼, a gain of 1¾. Massey Harris, another stock that has attracted interest, closed at 45, down 1¾. Seagrams developed unexpected activity during the day and made a small gain to 26⅝, at which it closed. There was some pause in Alberta Pacific activity which brought the price down a fraction to 62.

Small gains were also made by Atlantic Sugar, Consolidated Smelters, Famous Players, Goodyear Tire, Laura Secord, McKinnon Industries Voting Trust, Canada Brewing and Canada Cement common.

Wall Street Weakness Sends Grain Values to a Lower Place

CHICAGO, Jan. 25.—Grain values here went lower today, responsive to Wall Street weakness and to unlooked for downturns in wheat quotations at Liverpool. Chicago closing prices for wheat were unsettled at ½ to ¼ to 1c net decline, with corn 1c to 1½c down; oats, ¾c to 1c off; and provisions varying from 10c drop to a rise of 7c.

ISSUES CARRIED TO LOW LEVELS

Practically All Groups Share in Downward Trend on Toronto Mines List

TORONTO, Jan. 25.—Practically every group of stocks on the Standard Mining exchange shared in a downward movement today which carried many issues to new low levels for the year or longer. The total volume of sales at 1,213,779 shares was somewhat lower than on the previous date.

Hudson Bay Mining & Smelting was exceedingly active, but after early sales at $22.25, the highest point attained by the issue so far, profit-taking crept in, which caused a setback to $20.50, a net loss for the day of $1.40.

Mining Corporation reacted in sympathy and closed at $4.90, a decline of 25c.

Sheritt-Gordon held steady at $6.25, but Central Manitoba dropped 3c to $1.75, and San Antonio was off 2½c to 45c.

B. C. ISSUES WEAK

The British Columbia issues were all weaker. Coast Copper with dealings amounting to only 10 shares led the decline with a slump to $50.50, down $3.50. Pend Oreille was 75c lower at $9.75, while Premier was off 10c to $2.90, and Kootenay Florence off a cent to 41c. A number of additional B. C. issues are to be added to the unlisted section tomorrow.

Treadwell Yukon moved back $1.75 to $27, and International Nickel was down 25c to $95.25. Teck Hughes lost 15c to $9.45. Sylvanite made a gain of 25c to $3.55, and Beaver was 2c higher at $1.95. Bidgood was again under pressure and moved down 5c to 95c.

Noranda was firm at $21.75, an advance of 5c and Amulet held its own at $4. Barry Hollinger was unchanged at 91½. Howey Gold sold off to $1.52, but later recovered to $1.53, a decline of 5c.

Values of Canuck Field Crops for the Year on an Increase

OTTAWA, Jan. 25.—The aggregate value of all Canadian field crops in 1927 is $1,134,000,000. In 1926 the value of field crops amounted to $1,104,983,100.

The average prices received by growers at the point of production are estimated by the bureau of statistics with the 1926 price in brackets:

Fall wheat, $1.24 ($1.24); spring wheat, .99 (.99); fall wheat, $1 (1.09); oats, .51 (.48); barley, .58 (.52); potatoes, $1.17 per cwt. ($1.47); hay and clover, $10.41 per ton, $12.13.

DECLINE HITS WALL STREET; LOSSES MANY

Pool Specialties Suffer; Gold Dust Exceptional With Gain of Eight Points

NEW YORK, Jan. 25.—A sweeping reaction in stock prices was Wall street's response to the raising of the Chicago Federal Reserve bank rediscount rate. Extreme declines, which ran from 2 to nearly 8 points in scores of issues, were partially recovered in a series of brief rallies.

The sarpest declines came in the high-priced pool specialties. Midland Steel Products preferred, Abhaham & Straus, Air Reduction, American Express, American Railway Express, Borden, Case Threshing, Dupont, Greene Cananea Copper, International Harvester, Internationaly Silver, Montgomer Ward and United States Cast Iron Pipe all sold down 4 to 8 points, and most of them closed near the bottom.

United States Steel common sold down to 144⅛, but rallied to 146¼, off 2⅝ net, and General Motors showed a net loss of 2½, at 133¾, after selling down to 133.

On the other hand, Gold Dust, after dipping to 88, rallied to a new high record at 96, closing about a point below that level. LacLedge gas soared nearly 20 points, to 238, and was followed into new high ground by Federal Light & Traction, Youngstown Sheet & Tube and several others.

Hupp closed fractionally higher at 39⅝. Rails yielded with the industrials, although the losses were not as large. Canadian Pacific Railway fell 3½ points, and Atchison, New York Central, Frisco, and most of the others lost a point or two.

Time money and commercial paper rates were unchanged.

Total sales—2,826,300 shares.

Claim Australian Trade Treaty Hurts Canada's Dairy Folk

WINNIPEG, Jan. 25.—The Australian trade treaty is injuring the Canadian dairy industry by marketing large quantities of butter at a winter price, which makes Canadian competition difficult, it was charged at today's session of the Manitoba Dairy association.

G. W. Tovell, president, in his annual address, pointed out that the Australian government bounty of 6c a pound to exporters had been raised, beginning this month, to 8c. He stated that Australian butter could be landed at Vancouver for a total cost of 36c per pound.

W. F. Stephens, secretary, said that the association had made representations to the Canadian government to relieve the situation.

IRREGULARITY ON MONTREAL MART

Nickel Leads, but Sells Down; Canada Iron Foundries Strong Feature of Day

MONTREAL, Jan. 25.—Stocks turned irregular and in the main reactionary in today's trading on the Montreal market. International Nickel led in activity, and closed at 95¼ for a net loss of 1¾. Canada Brewing closed at 36½ for a net advance of 2½ points, after having sold up to the new high of 39¾. Consolidated Smelting closed at 272½ for a net gain of 2¼ points.

Canada Iron Foundries preferred was the strong feature, closing at the new high of 79 for a gain of 4 points. Fraser preferred suffered the greatest loss, closing at $1.75 for a loss of 5 points.

Spanish River preferred was down 3 points, Steel of Canada down to 180 for a net decline of 3½; Winnipeg Electric down to 110 for a net decline of 2½ points.

Total sales—76,775 shares.

HEART GIVES OUT AFTER A CLOSE CALL

Frank Martin, Bonnington, Is Slightly Hurt by Train; Dies Next Day

HAD HEART TROUBLE FOR THREE YEARS

Resided at Bonnington for Over Fifteen Years; Was Very Well Known

Frank Martin, admitted to the emergency hospital of the West Kootenay Power & Light company at Bonnington for treatment of injuries received when he just escaped being run over by a C.P.R. train as he was walking the tracks from South Slocan to Bonnington, died of heart failure about 12:30 Tuesday night, aged 55 years. It has not been decided last night whether an inquest will be held.

Mr. Martin, who was employed at the upper Bonnington plant, had been visiting friends in South Slocan and was returning home, walking the railroad tracks. He heard the train overtaking him and hurried to get to a switch ahead of it to avoid having to get off in the deep snow that banked both sides of the tracks.

Nearly at the switch, he slipped and fell, partly clear of the tracks. From the train he received a severe gash on his left hand and injuries to his left side. The train was stopped and he was taken to Bonnington. When he left the train he was able to walk all right and didn't think he was hurt very badly.

Next day, he was admitted to the hospital, and Dr. D. W. McKay of Nelson was called. He died that night from heart failure. He had been suffering for about three years with heart trouble.

HAD LOST LEG BEFORE

Some years ago, Mr. Martin, lost a leg when he slipped as he was boarding a C.P.R. train at Nelson, his leg going under the wheel of a coach.

He was a native of Switzerland. He had lived for over 15 years at Bonnington and was very well known in the surrounding district.

He is survived by an only son, Arthur Frank Martin, a fireman in the employ of the C.P.R., his wife having died about three years ago. His son was staying with him at the time of his death.

U. S. WILL MAKE HASTE SLOWLY

Will Study Pan-American Resolutions Before Commit Selves

HAVANA, Cuba., Jan. 25.—The United States will proceed very slowly with their approval or disapproval of any treaties or resolutions brought before the Pan-American conference now in session here. This was made clear today when three delegates from the United States in two different committees asked that proposals and principles be submitted and left in draft form until the delegations could ascertain their feasibility in the light of the law of their respective countries. Incidentally all indications at present point to a long drawn out conference in Havana before the sixth congress of American nations is concluded.

Argentina's protest against high tariff barriers and the system of arriving at tariffs based on cost of production was supported today by Mexico. The proposal is to empower the Pan-American union to deal with tariff matters and to recommend a basis of reciprocal tariffs.

BOARD OF TRADE REVIEWS FINEST YEAR IN HISTORY

Committee Chairmen Give Reports of Work Done in Various Departments

LEITH NEW PRESIDENT, GARLAND NEW "VICE"

Council as Chosen Contains Much New Blood; Condole With St. Saviour's

Holding its first "annual luncheon" at the Canadian Legion yesterday, the Nelson board of trade, with 67 members present, reviewed one of the best years in its history, closed accounts for the old year, suitably took note of the splendid work of retiring officers, council and committees, and elected a strong executive for 1928.

THE ELECTIONS

President C. F. McHardy having intimated some time ago that his plans did not permit of his being a candidate for reelection, and Vice-President A. D. McLeod having similarly made it known that he could not accept promotion and felt under obligation to retire after eight years as an officer of the board, Alex. Leith was the enthusiastic and unanimous choice of the membership to head the board for 1928, being proposed by F. C. Whitehouse, and C. B. Garland was unanimously elected vice-president, his proposer being A. D. McLeod.

Secretary-treasurer E. F. Gigot was reelected unanimously as well.

To ensure a due proportion of new blood on theh council, as L. H. Choquette explained on behalf of himself and others, several of the members of the 1927 council declined renomination, the 12 finally selected being C. F. McHardy, A. D. McLeod, G. A. Brown, Adolph Browne, C. F. Sedgwick, J. A. Irving, R. E. Horton, W. M. Cunliffe, W. B. Bamford, J. E. Annable, E. C. Wragge and H. W. Robertson.

H. W. Robertson was reelected auditor.

It will be the duty of the council to immediately draft a slate of standing committees. It is understood that the innovation of a standing courtesy committee will be tried, the members of which will be available to drive visitors in their cars to points of interest and give them authentic information.

McHARDY'S VALEDICTORY

Before bringing on the elections, President McHardy thanked the membership for the fine attendance at the luncheons of the year, and for support given to the executive and the committees. "It has been a pleasure to work with you," he asserted.

In proposing Mr. Leith for president, Mr. Whitehouse declared the board needed efficient officers, and expressed the opinion that Mr. Leith, by his community service in other fields, and by his long experience on the board, was eminently qualified to give exceptional service.

LEITH LOOKS FORWARD

When Mr. Leith, after his election, took the chair, he was hailed with the singing of "For He's a Jolly Good Fellow." He briefly expressed the hope that he would be able to follow in the footsteps of "many good men who have preceded me." His only regret was that Mr. McLeod had not felt he could step up at this time. The board, he said, was a cosmopolitan body, not at all confined to those who bought and sold, and it was representative of the entire community, and had the ability within it to give great service.

Mr. Garland, on his election, met requests for a speech with the statement that he had taken a great pleasure in board work, particularly in six years of it in Creston, where he held various offices, finally that of president. It was the duty of any board of trade to serve the community in which it existed, and having no creed or political affiliations, he was well equipped to do this.

Mr. Leith added that the Nelson board was allied with all the others in the Dominion through the Canadian chamber of commerce, of which it was a member.

Mr. Gigot, in acknowledging his twelfth election as secretary, promised to "try to carry on and do his best."

BLAYLOCK DATE NOT YET SET

After making the chair, President Leith stated that the reply of S. G. Blaylock, general manager of the Consolidated Mining & Smelting Company of Canada, on a suggested date for the banquet the board was giving in his honor, had not yet been received, but that once a date mutually agreeable was set, the council would quickly take action, and arrangements would go forward.

At President Leith's suggestion, the board passed a resolution, on motion of L. H. Choquette and C. D. Blackwood, conveying to Ven. Archdeacon Fred H. Graham and St. Saviour's parish, its regret at the loss of the church by fire yesterday morning.

Annual reports were all presented before the elections, by the various committee chairman.

MUCH PUBLICITY WORK

F. C. Whitehouse, for the publicity committee, reported operations costing $774.45, financed from the city grant of $800. 10 advertisements in the Spokane Spokesman-Review costing the board $200, 7500 folders and 250 wrappers from The Daily News costing $126.09, 5000 "Glorious Kootenay" booklets from H. M. Whimster costing $96.72, and strip maps $60. The total cost of the 10 advertisements, he said, was $705.60, the balance above $200 being provided by 18 Nelson business firms.

The freight and transportation committee's report, written by D. Kerr, and read by Secretary Gigot, reported meetings to deal with various railway tariff changes, none of which were found to affect the Kootenay.

L. H. Choquette for the membership committee reported the year ending with 114 on the roll, as compared with 100 a year ago. He said the aim would be to have 1928 end with 150 enrolled.

ROADS AND BRIDGES COMING UP

R. W. Hinton's report on roads and bridges, referring to the Kuskanook road, Kootenay lake ferry, and Nelson bridge as assured was cheered. He described the progress on the Slocan-Silverton road, and on the Kaslo-Bear Lake link, and expressed hope for good work on the Trail-Nelson road and on the Nelson-Spokane highway. The Castlegar ferry, he said, was inadequate to the greatly increased needs. He paid a tribute to William Ramsay, public works engineer.

Commissioner Fred A. Starkey, reporting for the mining and natural resources committee, dealt in detail with the comprehensive arrangements made jointly with the West Kootenay mining men and other organizations for the entertainment of the Second Triennial Empire Mining congress. Other matters he reported on were the protest made against retention of the increment tax, recently placed on the statutebooks, the campaign to secure better railway service for the Lardeau, the campaign to secure the opening up of the Duncan country, and representations made to the government in favor of federal assistance for the development of the coal industry by fixing lower rates for the carriage of Canadian coal to Central Canada. This report, as were nearly all the others, was applauded.

INDUSTRIAL EFFORTS

J. E. Annable, for the industrial committee, dealt with the successful promotion of the veneer industry in Nelson; the furnishing of information to various pulp and paper interests looking for mill locations, steps taken toward attracting an overall industry to Nelson, and the action taken, not yet with success, toward securing the restoration of a resident Kootenay boiler inspector.

Secretary Gigot presented the financial report, showing receipts of $1569.18, and the various disbursements. Assets were appraised at $1953.62.

He also presented his usual report on attendance of officers and members at board, council and committee meetings.

McHARDY REVIEWS OTHER MATTERS

President McHardy made the final report, mentioning matters not covered by the committee chairmen. Among other matters, he referred to the change from night meetings to noon luncheons, the adoption of the luncheon also by the council and its record of holding two a month, the banquet last winter to C. A. Cotterell, general superintendent of the C.P.R., support of the citizens research bureau in various matters, the application for a telegraph reporting weather station, the meeting with Hon. J. H. King on facilities for the Upper Duncan, the promise obtained from the Dominion minister of public works for a survey of the Lower Duncan from a navigation standpoint the better telephone connection between the Kootenay and the coast sought and obtained, combining of the offices of secretary and treasurer in Secretary Gigot, unsuccessful efforts to get one of the world poultry congress parties routed through the Kootenay, representations for early restoration of boat service on the West Arm last winter, opposition to the increment tax, entertainment of the anti-crime conference, assistance in entertaining the British Columbia Press association, and successful representations to secure restoration of the old train schedule between Nelson and Rossland.
