Civil Disobedience Opens Again Today, India

FOLLOWERS OF GANDHI READY TO MAKE SALT

Nationalist Leader Says Campaign to Be Earnest

SAYS IT WRITTEN IN THE HEAVENS

Asks Lord Irwin to Look Into Cases Police Repression

BOMBAY, India, Feb. 4.—(C. P. cable via Reuters)—When the sun has passed its height in the heavens tomorrow, the civil disobedience campaign will again resume in earnest. Then the president and the members of the National congress working committee will gather to make salt in the great Maidan square here.

"The campaign must go on," said Mahatma Gandhi recently on his release from prison and this will be the first mass act of renewed demonstration. Salt-making is against the law, which gives to the government a monopoly in the manufacture and marketing of salt, for purposes of revenue. So it is practically certain that the leaders of the defiance gathering will be arrested.

Mahatma Gandhi today told 10,000 of his followers at Allahabad that the victory of the independence movement was written in the heavens if the non-cooperationists adhered strictly to non-violence and the truth. He declared that no sacrifice was too great to be made for independence and that, while only the men might resist the British guns, all could spin and pray for the success of the struggle.

Returning delegates of the round-table conference representd by Sir Tej Bahadur Sapru and M. K. Jaykaar, will meet Gandhi as soon as possible at Allahabad. In the meantime, a letter written today by Gandhi to Lord Irwin, the viceroy, urging him to enquire into alleged cases of police repression was construed as evidence that Gandhi was willing to regard a favorable answer as a peace overture.

SEEK REDUCTION WAGES, AUSTRALIA

MELBOURNE, Australia, Feb. 4.—(CP Cable via Reuters)—The Australian government is engaged on the details of a plan primarily concerned with the reduction of unemployment and the maintenance of national solvency, Hon. Frank Brennan, attorney-general, stated in an affidavit laid before the commonwealth arbitration court today. The government is seeking to postpone operation of the court's recent decision that the basic wage should be reduced by 10 per cent as a measure of national emergency.

PRINCE EXAMINES TRAIN WRECKAGE

Above is shown the Prince of Wales talking with a passenger on the train which was wrecked near Lugos, France, 40 miles from Bordeaux, blocking the line and preventing the prince's train from getting through, causing a five-hour delay. The Prince of Wales and Prince George were en route to Santander, Spain, to embark upon their South American trip. They continued their journey in a fast motor. Death Toll After Earthquake at Napier, New Zealand, Is Estimated Over a Thousand

Captain of War Sloop Gives Account of the Disaster

By Commander H. L. Morgan, commander of His Majesty's sloop Veronica, as told to Alport Barker A. P. correspondent, copyright 1931, by the Associated Press.

NAPIER, N. Z., Feb. 5—It was a terrible experience just leaving my cabin to pay the usual shore calls when I heard a terrific roar. The ship tossed about for approximately 10 seconds.

I stood still then ran onto the boat deck I could see houses falling and roads cracking. Then everything seemed to disappear in clouds of dust.

Another terrific quake occurred.

The stern wires of the ship gave way, but we managed to pull alongside the wharf. I immediately realized conditions were serious, and started to make arrangements for relief of the people ashore.

LASTED THREE MINUTES

The first shock lasted about three minutes and was so severe as to make for an apparent heavy casualty list. As the result of the quake the bed of the ocean

ROYAL PRINCESS REGAINS HEALTH

LONDON, Feb. 4. (AP)—Physicians today reported that the condition of Princess Beatrice, aunt of the King, who is gravely ill with bronchitis, continues satisfactory "apart from the weakness which is to be expected at this stage of the illness."

REPAIRS TO DO-X BEING RUSHED

LAS PALMAS, Canary Islands, Feb. 4 (AP)—Damaged, the Dornier airliner DO-X will continue its flight to Brazil as soon as repairs can be effected, Fritz Hammer, Dornier engineer and a passenger on the craft, told The Associated Press today.

TELLS GRUESOME TALE OF FIRST EFFECTS QUAKE

WELLINGTON, New Zealand, Feb. 4.—(AP)—E. C. Weeton, manager of the Christchurch company, who was in a department store at Hastingnz, North island, when yesterday's earthquake struck, told of the disaster when he reached here today.

"I had just completed my business in the store," he said, "when I felt the preliminary tremors. A young girl clerk ran into my arms and I tried to pacify her, telling her it would all be over in a second.

"A heavy shock came on the heels of the first movement and a great steel pillar fell across the girl's body, crushing her against the counter. She screamed but the pillar was so heavy that I could not budge here and she was dead in a moment.

"It came to me that I had escaped by inches and I managed to crawl on my hands and knees from under the wreckage.

"In one corner of the store fire broke out, but shouts for buckets made no impression on the terrorized people. Their fight for their lives was an appalling sight.

"The fire engines were buried in the wreckage of their own stations, but the water main had been broken by the quake and the firemen could have accomplished very little anyhow."

ELECTION FOR MANITOBA IS NOT IMMINENT

WINNIPEG, Feb. 4 (CP)—Conservative hopes of a provincial election this summer were summarily jolted in the legislature today when Hon. W. J. Major, attorney-general, intimated the government does not intend to go to the people immediately. Mr. Major's statement was made during the debate on the reply to the speech from the throne.

Fresh Tremors Cause of Buildings Falling to Streets

NAPIER, N. Z., Feb. 4 (AP)—While Red Cross officials tonight counted the dead in Tuesday's earthquakes at considerably more than 1000, new shocks were felt in this region and heightened the alarm of those who survived the earlier quakes.

The fresh tremors crumpled many buildings which had been weakened by the first shocks and increased the likelihood of fresh fires joining those now raging in the streets of this once beautiful seaport.

Officials feared the number of dead would go above even the latest estimate, for tons of debris have not yet been explored and many more bodies may be pulled out before the final results are computed—in Napier, Hastings and other towns of the Hawke's Bay province.

In the meantime more than 1000 persons, many severely injured, have been treated and there is a probability that many more were hurt in the region affected.

Damage in the Napier area alone was unofficially estimated at $10,000,000.

The expression "wiped from the map" may be used advisedly for not only have the man-made structures of Napier been razed but the actual topography has been changed so that existing maps fail to describe with an accuracy whatsoever the coast line, harbor and inland contours.

NINE ARE LOST AS SEAPLANE DIVES, OCEAN

Royal Air Force Machine Dives to Death, Plymouth

PILOT DAZZLED BY THE GLASSY SEA

All Except Four Trapped; One Man Is Uninjured

PLYMOUTH, Eng., Feb. 4.—(AP)—A giant seaplane of the Royal Air Force, carrying 12 men on firing practice, plunged into the waters of Batten bay today with a loss of nine lives and injuries to two. One man escaped unhurt.

The surface of the smooth bay, which was as bright as a mirror, apparently caused the pilot to misjudge his distance above the water in landing. The craft dived full tilt into the water and before it could level out disappeared below the surface.

A loud explosion was heard as the plane struck with terrific force. It brought small craft in the nearby waters to the rescue. The plane overturned, and only the pontoons were visible.

PASSENGERS TRAPPED

All except four of those in the plane were trapped in the submerged body. Divers were sent down to recover the bodies of the missing, among them Wing Commander C. G. Tucker, who had a splendid war record.

After the accident Flying Officer F. K. Wood was rescued alive, but he died shortly afterward of his injuries. Lieut. M. H. Ely was rescued, seriously injured, and Flying Officer C. Ryley was picked up, only slightly hurt.

Of the eight enlisted men in the crash, all but one are missing. Corporal W. M. Barry received no injuries.

The big plane, which had a wing spread of 97 feet and was 67 feet long, was one of two ships which had been cruising in the neighborhood for an hour.

RESTORES LIFE OF MAN ON THE OPERATING TABLE

Andrenalin Injected in Heart Muscles After Life Appeared Extinct

KANSAS CITY, Feb. 4. (AP—Newman Hershfield, 64-year-old Kalamazoo, Mich., merchant, was revived by application of modern science after he apparently had died on the operating table in a hospital here last night.

Adrenalin was injected in the heart muscles. After a few minutes heart action was restored, the physicians said, color returned to the patient's face, and the surgeon proceeded with the operation.

Mr. Hershfield suffers from chronic heart disease, his physicians state.

MacDONALD TOLD BY DOCTORS TO TAKE LONG REST

LONDON, Feb. 4 — (C P cable)—Prime Minister Ramsay MacDonald, it is reported, has been advised by his doctors to take a complete rest for a few days to avoid a breakdown from overwork.

Apart from a holiday at Lossiemouth, his native place, in 1929, and a few days' rest last summer, the prime minister has been continuously at work since the Labor government took office on June 8, 1929.

SUPPRESSION OF MINNESOTA PRESS IS CONCLUDED

ST. PAUL, Minn., Feb. 4.—The Minnesota house of representatives today voted 68 to 58 to repeal the Minnesota newspaper suppression law, enacted in 1925. Efforts to repeal it two years ago failed.

The law provides for suppression by court injunction of newspapers which were found by a court to be publishing regularly "malicious, scandalous or defamatory matter." The repeal proponents held that the law endangered the right of all newspapers.

Mr. Ramsay expects to put a second crew, probably under Foreman

Lion Cub Gives Guest Spokane Hotel, a Scare

SPOKANE, Feb. 4 (AP)—A guest at a local hotel dashed breathlessly to the desk tonight.

"There's a lion sleeping on my bed," he shouted at the clerk.

The clerk, mindful of the business adage, "the customer is always right," hastened to the guest's room.

The customer was right.

There lay a young lion, fast asleep.

The commotion soon brought the animal's owner, Captain George Hutchinson, New York City, who said the three-month-old lion had escaped from the kitchen of the hotel.

Captain and Mrs. Hutchinson and their two daughters arrived here tonight from Kitchener, British Columbia, where an airplane in which they are touring the country was damaged landing.

The lion cub is carried with them as a mascot.

BRITISH NAVAL PROGRAM MIGHT NEED INCREASE

Watching France and Italian Activity With An Eagle Eye

LONDON, Feb. 4—(C P cable)—Britain may have to reconsider her naval construction program in view of the fact that France and Italy are increasing theirs, according to a statement made in the house of commons today by Rt. Hon. A. V. Alexander, first lord of the admiralty.

Mr. Alexander, in replying to a question, said he had never sought to hide the fact that the two continental powers were increasing their building. He said the British Empire is now building 46,000 tons in warships, of which 2656 tons were for Canada, while France had 100,684 tons under way and Italy 100,777 tons.

"We are doing our best," said the first lord, "to get France and Italy to adhere to the principles of limitation. But if we are unable to do that we shall have to reconsider our position."

The first lord, however, would not admit these figures implied Britain was losing ground in European waters, saying it was necessary to take wider figures into consideration.

Britain's building now is considerably below the amount allowed under the London naval treaty and observers today thought Mr. Alexander's statement might presage legitimate acceleration of that program.

DEMANDS LIQUOR BOARD, RESIGN

VANCOUVER, Feb. 4.—Dismissal of the entire liquor control board is demanded by Ward Two Conservative association.

The onslaught on the board was started with submission of a resolution asking resignation of W. J. Baird, K. C., of Vancouver, one of the three commissioners. It was pointed out by some of the members of the organization that one lone member of the board could hardly be responsible for the actions of the whole body. Decision was then reached to widen the scope of the resolution by also including request for dismissal of Henry B. Thomson, chairman, and W. J. Kennedy, third member.

Another resolution passed by the association calls for dismissal of all liquor vendors in Vancouver shops of the liquor control board.

It is declared that members of the association are not satisfied with the manner in which the board has dealt with the beer parlor licence situation in Vancouver.

NEW YORK, Feb. 4 (AP)—The will of the late Nathan Straus, noted philanthropist, probated today, makes no bequest to charity.

Explaining his faith in an old Jewish proverb that "what is given after death is 'lead'", the philanthropist left his entire fortune, except $100,000, to his two sons, Nathan Straus, Jr., Hugh Grant Straus and to Mrs. Sissie S. Lehman, wife of Justice Irving Lehman

HE SAYS BEER INTERESTS ARE NOT AT HELM

Indignation Caused by Editorial in Coast Newspaper

HOUSE AND SELF NOT CONTROLLED

Beer Policy Not Made to Please Particular Interest

VICTORIA, Feb. 4—Vigorous and prompt answer was given by Premier S. F. Tolmie to suggestions contained in an editorial of The Vancouver Daily Province today to the effect that beer interests in British Columbia were in control of the government.

"An editorial in The Province has been called to my attention" said the premier, "It deals with beer. The policy of the liquor control board in respect of the purchasing of beer is being worked out with one object in view, the providing of the best possible commodity to the public under the best possible conditions of manufacture and sale.

"In such a policy, probably there will be interests and individuals who do not agree. The idea, however, is to evolve the very best policy possible for British Columbia as a whole.

MUST INCLUDE ALL

"Among those who try to influence the government to adopt one or another method, must be included The Daily Province which editorially announces a policy and say in effect that if the government does not adopt its particular scheme of dealing with the question, then it signifies that the government is tied hand and foot by the power and money of the beer barons who are today in undisputed control of the situation.

"I must, in most unqualified terms express my personal resentment at the suggestion contained in The Province editorial that the beer, or any other interests control me or the government over which I have the honor to preside.

CANNOT PERMIT SUGGESTION

"I have every respect for The Province as a newspaper and influential journal, but I cannot permit any such a suggestion to be made by any publication or individual without expressing my prompt and emphatic denial.

"The beer policy of the liquor control board, when announced may or may not please The Vancouver Daily Province but the pleasing of any individual, particular interest, or journal is not the function or purpose of its regulations but the best possible administration of the laws for the benefit of the public as a whole."

UNIVERSITIES SPAIN CLOSED FOR A MONTH

Is Only Way to Pacify Striking Students the Government Thinks

MADRID, Feb. 4.—(AP)—Universities in Spain were suspended today for a month under royal decree. The government said that all its means of pacifying the striking students has been exhausted.

A preamble to the decree says the students evidently are under revolutionary influences attempting to bring disorders on the country. It adds that the university sessions must be closed to permit a clear atmosphere for the coming parliamentary elections. Possibility of further revolutionary attempts was seen in the action of leaders of the Spanish Socialist party who have prepared a manifesto saying the party will use "every means possible, including violence, to overthrow the Spanish monarch."

Further disorders took place today. Police arrested several leaders of a group of 500 commercial printers who appeared before the ministry of labor asking the government to support their demand for shorter working hours and more pay. Their strike has paralyzed the printing business.

SKELETON MAY BE 300 YEARS OLD

PERTH, West Australia, Feb. 4—(AP)—A human skeleton and a handful of ancient coins discovered near the mouth of the Moore river were examined today by scholars who believe they are relics of the Dutch treasure ship, Golden Drake, wrecked on the nearby coast nearly 300 years ago.

The Golden Drake was wrecked in 1649 and the fate of 68 castaways who took her treasure ashore and guarded it never has been learned. The coins found with the skeleton were dated from 1618 to 1648.

CHICAGO MAN LIVES OF HORROR WHEN THROUGH NIGHT NAILED IN COFFIN

Perpetrators of Outrage Say Prank, Was "All in Fun," After Arrested

CHICAGO, Feb. 4—(AP)—Tied to a cemetery cross, pelted with dirt clods and nailed alive in a coffin, George Wittbrod, crippled salesman, lived through a night of horrors to identify his tormentors today.

Seven youths, who told police the "prank was all in fun," were under arrest. Wittbrod, suffering from shock, was in a hospital.

Wittbrod visited a neighboring poolroom last evening. On leaving the youths seized him, forced him into an automobile and drove to a city-edge cemetery.

There, Wittbord told police, he was tied by his wrists to a tombstone cross and that his abductors, ignoring his pleas for mercy, pelted him with clods and dirt.

The youths left but soon returned, cut Wittbrod down and nailed him up in a coffin box. Before fastening the lid, the cripple said the youths fired some straw in the box, but that he stopped the blaze by wriggling about.

Failing in their efforts to lower the coffin into a newly dug grave, Wittbrod said, the youths tied the box behind their car, towed it for a while, and then abandoned it in a ditch.

In the early morning, a passing farmer heard Wittbrod's groans and released him.

Police said the youths, habitues of the poolroom Wittbrod frequented probably would be charged with kidnapping and assault.

"We don't like Wittbrod," one of the seven told police. "We didn't mean to hurt him, but just thought we would give him a good scare."

CAN SURVEY ANY PLACE, CANADA

C. A. Magrath Called "Only 100 Per Cent. Surveyor" in Canada

OTTAWA, Ont., Feb. 4. (CP)—Enabling him to conduct surveys in any part of Canada, embossed commissions were presented today to C. A. Magrath, chairman of the international joint commission, at a banquet of the Association of Dominion Land Surveyors. As the holder of the commissions, Mr. Magrath has passed survey examinations in every province of Canada, as well as those of the Dominion government. He was described as "the only 100 per cent surveyor in Canada" when the presentation was made.

"I had the honor of putting half a dozen Rocky Mountain peaks in their places," Mr. Magrath told the association delegates in replying to the presentation. He referred to his early survey work in British Columbia 50 years ago, explaining that he plotted the exact positions of the peaks on the map for the first time.

INDEPENDENT GROWERS AT GRAND FORKS DELEGATE LAWSON ATTEND MEETING INDEPENDENTS, KELOWNA

Peter Verigin Sends Representatives to Gathering in Grand Forks

DECLARES OPPOSED TO CENTRAL SALES

Delegates Doukhobor Representative to Attend Meeting at Kelowna

GRAND FORKS, B. C., Feb. 4.—Independent growers of the Grand Forks valley, together with a few others interested in the movement to form a local organization to market the produce of this district independently in the Okanagan, held a meeting in the city on Monday afternoon, about 50 being present.

The principal busines of the meeting was to discuss the advisability of sending a delegate to the Independent Growers' convention held in Kelowna on February 5 and to pass resolutions.

A. C. Lawson was appointed chairman and J. A. Coleman chosen as secretary of the meeting. The chairman explained that he thought it would be advisable to send a delegate to Kelowna to obtain a full report of the convention, after which Grand Forks growers would be in a better position to decide definitely what future action would be taken to form their own association.

After a short discussion, Mr. Lawson was elected a delegate to attend the Kelowna convention, and a number of growers donated toward his expenses.

Delegates were present from each village of the Doukhobor community, having been sent by Peter Verigin. These claimed they were all born in Canada and eligible to vote.

A conference was held with Mr. Verigin, Robert Lawson, A. C. Lawson and J. A. Coleman in the evening at the residence of Mr. Verigin, when the central selling scheme and Produce Marketing act were fully discussed. Mr. Verigin made it quite clear that he will strongly oppose central selling and is sending Cecil Koochin to Kelowna to represent the Doukhobor community at the convention there.

When the delegates return from Kelowna another meeting of local independent growers will be called to hear their report.

CHARGES AGAINST BUTLER, "SERVICE"

Is Busily Planning His Defense for Ensuing Court-martial

WASHINGTON, Feb. 4 (AP)—A series of charges described as "severe" rested tonight in the hands of Major General Smedley D. Butler, but the responsibility for their publication immediately was passed by him back to the navy department whence they came.

Despite this indication that officials had not softened their attitude toward his now celebrated reference to Premier Mussolini the marine general was said by Major Henry Leonard, his counsel, to have returned to his self-confinement at Quantico, Va., with his "morale still high."

Earlier, Butler and Leonard proved they had lost none of the resourcefulness that characterized their days as brother marine officers by eluding Washington correspondents for hours. They spent virtually the entire day secretly preparing the defense to be presented at the courtmartial in Philadelphia, February 16.

Secretary Adams, who late today approved the charges and specifications against General Butler, said tonight they certainly would not be made public immediately, adding, "I guess we'll have to talk it over tomorrow."

A joint meeting of the Nelson Liberal association and the Nelson Women's Liberal association was held at the Canadian Legion Tuesday night, to work on revision of the voters' list.

PALMER AGAIN CHAIRMAN OF TRAIL BOARD

Discuss Teacher Exchange: Name Committees: Call Special Meeting

TRAIL, B. C., Feb. 4.—At the first meeting of the Trail school board, held here today, H. J. Palmer was reelected chairman. Committees were elected as follows, the first named in each case being chairman:

Finance—C. W. Guillaume, O. P. Westhaver, W. C. Aston.

Property committee—A. J. McDonnell, W. C. Aston, Alex Balfour.

Management committee—W. C. Aston, A. J. McDonnell, C. W. Guillaume.

Health and sports committee — Alex Balfour, A. J. McDonnell, O. P. Westhaver.

Miss Isabel Keir applied for one year's exchange with a teacher in either England or Scotland. The board decided to lay the application on the table for one month in order that they might discuss the matter with the principals and the inspector, so that they might arrive at a definite, general policy on the matter of exchanging teachers.

Dr. Eaton, city health officer, reported eight cases of scarlet fever and two of diphtheria. There was no recent increase in the number of cases. He also reported that the epidemic of whooping cough was somewhat abated.

SALARY INCREASED

The application from Boy Scouts and Girl Guides for the use of the school auditorium was refused. It was reported that the last time the auditorium had been used for a similar purpose, much damage had been done. It was decided to make a charge of $5 a month fee for senior matriculation pupils.

Miss Florence Rutledge, teacher in Grade V., was granted a $50 increase, bringing her salary up to schedule. The increase was retroactive to September 1.

A special meeting of the board will be held Friday evening, February 6, at 7 o'clock to consider estimates for the year, the estimate to be in the hands of the city council by February 14.

RUNAWAY CAR HAS ODD TRIP DOWN JOSEPHINE, BAKER

Auto of H. Larsen Starts From City Warehouse, Ends Downtown

When a sudden clatter arrested their attention early yesterday morning, pedestrians near the corner of Baker and Josephine streets were surprised to see a runaway sedan suddenly round the corner on the sidewalk directly in front of the old Poole Drug stand. Scraping along the wall, the vagrant vehicle stopped in front of the Lauritz meat market, still on the sidewalk.

It appears that the car belonged to Harry Larsen, Observatory street, who is employed by the city and who had just taken a load of workmen out to Bonnington. He had left his car parked on Josephine street just above Victoria and directly in front of the city warehouse. About 7 o'clock, when he came out, the car had disappeared entirely.

Spectators told him that they had seen the car start north on Josephine street, where it kept a fairly straight course until nearing Baker street. Suddenly it cut to the left, crossed the sidewalk, bumped the corner of the old Poole Drug store, and finally came to a stop, after having successfully negotiated a 90-degree corner.

No damage was done.

HAVANA STRIKE IS TERMINATED

HAVANA, Feb. 4 (AP)—Havana's so-called general strike, which began last night, terminated this evening without having made much headway toward its announced goal, the restoration of old scale prices in Cuban fish markets.

It did serve the purpose, however, of a protest against the recent congressional action authorized President Machado to suspend constitutional guarantees indefinitely.

HEAD OF DOLLAR LINE DENIES THE CHINESE RUMOR

Capt. Dollar Says His Company Had No Dealings With Orient

SAN FRANCISCO, Feb. 4 (AP)—R. Stanley Dollar, president of the Dollar steamship lines, today denied reports that Captain Robert Dollar or any officials of the Dollar line had made overtures to the Chinese government for a concession to operate a fleet in Chinese coastal waters.

"We know nothing whatever regarding this matter," President Dollar said. "This company is not conducting negtiations with the Chinese government nor with any group of individuals in China for the construction or operation of any ships under the Chinese flag in the coastal waters of China or elsewhere."

Recent dispatches from Shanghai stated the ministry of communications made public proposals to the Nationalist government from Capt. Robert Dollar, shipping magnate, whereby the government would grant the Dollar Steamship company a concession to operate a fleet within Chinese coastal waters.

The ministry was quoted as saying Dollar suggested the ships fly Chinese flags and agree to pay the government royalty on profits. Dollar wanted his company to retain control and operation of the ships, however, the announcement said.

The ministry said it had replied, stating the proposals were unacceptable in their present form but that if Dollar were agreeable to forming a Chinese company, giving control to Chinese, the government would be willing to consider the matter further.

JANUARY'S MEAN TEMPERATURE IS HIGHEST, YEARS

Higher by Six Degrees Than Average for 27 Year Period: Percipitation Low

The feature of the weather report for January at Nelson was the fact the mean temperature was six degrees above an average of over 27 years, Observer J. S. Goulding stated last night.

Another item of importance was the fact that precipitation was 1.06 inches below the average. During the month 4.23 inches of precipitation, composed of 1.31 rain and 29.2 inches of snow, was recorded. The greatest rainfall occurred on January 20, when .7 inch fell and the greatest snowfall, 8.2 inches, occurred on January 22.

A total of 15.82 hours of sunshine was accounted for during January. Rain fell on four days and snow on 15 days. The wind velocity reached the maximum on January 19 when it blew at the rate of 19 miles per hour from the south.

Maximum temperature was represented by the high figure of 41 degrees and minimum was 19 degrees, the latter being recorded on the first and the former on the 24th.

WORK TO START ON GRAY CREEK ROAD CONNECTION

This work will be paid for out of the $8,000,000 highway loan effected last year.

Presumably authorization of the winter work by the minister of public works, Hon. R. W. Bruhn is in connection with making the Kootenay lake highway available for through motor tourist traffic at as early a date as possible, a point repeatedly pressed on the government by the Nelson board of trade.

STEAMER FERRY?

Probability of a temporary car ferry service across Kootenay lake by C. P. R. steamer, a possible development that has been the subject of quiet rumors in political circles the last couple of weeks, seems to be definitely suggested by the fact that the standard highway is to be brought at once to Gray Creek wharf. The survey for the standard highway has always been understood to follow a route at Gray Creek well back from the water. The fact that the highway is to be brought to the wharf suggests that a steamer service may be put on, to serve motor tourist traffic, and of course at the same time local traffic, without waiting for the complete plan of standardizing some 15 miles between Gray Creek and Pilot Bay, on the main lake, or the building of the projected sea-going ferry and the ferry slips at Pilot Bay and Balfour.

It is known that discussions have taken place between the provincial authorities and the Canadian Pacific district officials on the subject of using for such a service a C. P. R. steamer, of which, since the Kootenay Landing-Procter railway link came into use, two have been tied up in retirement.

Mrs. Elizabeth Boone, former resident of Nelson, died at Procter Wednesday.

Mrs. Boone was about 56 years old, and formerly operated the Green Front cigar store here. She moved to Procter about two years ago, and there operated a small pool hall.

SURVEYS ARE IN FOR THE TAGHUM ROAD DIVERSION

Public Works and Company's Routes Very Largely Identical

WIDE ROADWAY FROM BRIDGE TO HILLTOP

Grade Does Not Exceed 8 Per Cent: Must Be Done This Spring

Survey by the provincial public works department here, of the highway diversion from the southern end of Taghum bridge to Taghum hill, made necessary by the program of the West Kootenay Power & Light company's plans to raise the level of Taghum bridge seven feet, is to a large extent identical with that made by the power company's engineers, it is understood.

The only material change is that at its upper end the diversion will make what the department's district staff consider a better junction with the highway. The junction will be near the "lookout."

A BIG FILL

By both plans, the diversion, after leaving the bridge by a wide sweep, will follow the curve of a height of land, so as to reduce the fill to be made. There will be about 1½ miles of new highway, with a maximum grade of 8 per cent, and a width of 24 feet.

The plans sent to Victoria have not yet come back, approved or otherwise.

Both the raising of the bridge and the building of the diversion, made necessary by the company's No. 4 power plant, now under construction at Corra Linn, must be done this spring.

DEATH TOLL AT NAPIER IS OVER ONE THOUSAND

force of the earthquake into the sea, the floor of which has so risen that even small boats cannot enter the harbor. The seafront itself has receded fully 100 feet from the famous marine parade.

There was a sad stir and bustle early today when authorities prepared for evacuation of the city to save the population from disease which would result from the wrecked water and sanitation systems.

The inhabitants had little to do to prepare ofr leaving, however, as in most cases all they had in the world was destroyed when their homes collapsed and fire spread through the ruins.

But all wanted to make a last visit to their ravaged homes and perhaps a final search in the debris for some trace of their loved ones killed when the calamity burst on the town with all the suddenness of a thunder clap.

MANY SIMILAR SCENES

There were similar scenes in half a dozen other towns of the province, especially Hastings, a populous little plain city which only learned today that its fate was known to the outside world.

Both Hastings and Napier were scenes of terrific wreckage and in Napier fires still burned unchecked today although explosives had been ordered to blast lanes through the tumbled mass of wood and masonry under which lie crushed and unknown, number of bodies of men, women and children.

Relief workers who arrived today were told by the survivors horrible tales of panic as the first shocks rocked the city. Clerks and shoppers were killed in the stores, nurses and patients in the hospital and women in the homes.

DEATH EVERYWHERE

Death was everywhere and for a moment it seemed that all were mad. But today perfect order was maintained in the shattered town, the injured were being cared for in impoverished medical stations and the weakest among the homeless were given such comforts as were possible.

The population, in reaction from the hysteria of the first hours of disaster, seemed dazed and almost motionless amid the ruins of the city.

One tale, which was typical of many harrowing scenes, was the death of Mrs. Tom Barry.

She was attending communion service in St. John's cathedral when the first shock brought the building down and she was pinned to the floor by a beam. Her son and others tried to free her but to no avail for fire came and she was burned to death.

The cathedral grounds presented a strange sight after the quake. The structure itself fell, with all the monuments in it except a war memorial, a great cross, which remained intact on a tall shaft.

rose several feet and in the inner harbor, where the Veronica was berthed, the ship grounded hard and fast.

She floated off however, when the ocean bed subsided.

The waterfront along the marine parade was extensively damaged, the landing having risen ten feet.

For some time the tremors followed one another in quick succession, and it was not long before flames broke out, fanned by a strong breeze from the sea, fires spread rapidly, rendering practically impossible the work of rescuing people trapped inside fallen buildings.

The task of the fire brigade was almost hopeless owing to the destruction of pumping stations and water mains. But the men stuck manfully to their work and splendid deeds of heroism passed unnoticed throughout the day.

CLIPPERTON ROCK GOES TO FRANCE

PARIS, Feb. 4. (AP)—After 22 years, the king of Italy, Victor Emanuel, agreed upon by France and Mexico as an arbiter to determine ownership of tiny, desolate Clipperton Rock, Pacific ocean island, has found against Mexico and awarded the island to France.

His decision, filed yesterday at the Quai d'Orsay, rules that the Mexican government, which has kept a small garrison of men there since 1897, must quit the island and surrender sovereignty to the French government.

BEAVERBROOK HAS NEW MAN RUNNING EAST ISLINGTON

Vacated Position Filled by Brig.-Gen. Critchley Formerly of Calgary

LONDON, Feb. 4. (CP Cable)—Although Lord Beaverbrook and his Empire crusaders have had nothing to say regarding the sudden withdrawal of their candidate, Paul Springmam, from the byelection fight of East Islington, they have soon filled his place.

Brig.-General Alfred C. Critchley, formerly of Calgary, Alta., has been chosen as the candidate of the crusaders and of Lord Rothermere's United Empire party. With the announcement of his candidature Conservative hopes of a united Conservative vote were shattered.

Brig.-General Critchley was born in Calgary 40 years ago. He served with the first Canadian division in France, going over adjutant of the Strathcona Horse. He was later with the general staff. After the war, he was engaged in immigration work in Mexico and Central America. The general is vice-president of the British Portland Cement association and is on the boards of other companies.

WEATHER FAVORS CURLERS, PLAY SCRATCH GAMES

After watching for favorable weather conditions throughout the winter, curlers were rewarded to a slight measure yesterday when the weather tightened up slightly, allowing them to throw the stone on three rinks in scratch games at the curling rink.

If the present conditions hold, ice will be available tonight again.

During the 24 hours ending at 5 p. m. Wednesday the mercury registered a minimum of 20 degrees, or 12 degrees of frost, and a maximum of 33 degrees.

Hoey has a 50-minute advantage over his nearest competitor, Arthur Newton of South Africa, in elapsed time.

SKI JUMPING AT REVELSTOKE HITS OFFICIAL SNAG

REVELSTOKE, B. C., Feb. 4.—A dispute between Canadian Amateur Ski association officials and Revelstoke Ski club officials caused abandonment of jumping in the Dominion championship and Olympic trial events here today. Association officials claimed that the big hill was too fast for safety, whereas local officials were of the opinion that the hill was much safer today than when Nels Nelson made his world's record jump of 240 feet in a snowstorm and fog in 1925.

President Holten is withholding all prizes for the class "A" events on the grounds that competitors in Dominion championship events should be prepared to use the jumping hill designated for that purpose. The matter has been referred to the Canadian Amateur Ski association for a decision.

JEWISH WOMAN IS ALMOST UNABLE TO TAKE OFFICE

LONDON, Ont., Feb. 4. (By the Canadian Press)—For a short time it appeared as if Trustee-elect Mrs. Lewis Siegel, the first Jewish woman elected to the Toronto board of education, would be unable to take her seat because she is not British-born.

The delegation of office for the trustees, as prepared by the secretary's department according to a form which has been used for many years, reads in part: "I further declare that I am a natural born subject of His Majesty." Obviously Mrs. Siegel could not subscribe to this as she was born in the United States of European parents.

However on the advice of the solicitor for the board of education, the form of the declaration is being changed for her to read: I further declare that I am a British subject." Mrs. Siegel is a British subject, for her father took out naturalization papers in 1898 and her husband (who is also European-born) in 1908 and under the statutes, the naturalization of either of these relatives makes her a British subject, too. "I was only a small child when I came to this country in 1894 and I have thought of myself as Canadian for so long that this all came to me as a surprise," Mrs. Siegel declared.

PEOPLE AT CAMP LISTER ENJOY AN EVENING'S FUN

CRESTON, B. C., Feb. 4.—The best night's fun and entertainment that Camp Lister has had in a long time was provided on Saturday night by the bachelor residents of the area, who were hosts at the Community society at-home, which attracted a very large turnout, including quite a number of the German citizens, who made practically their first appearance at a social affair at the soldier settlement since their arrival over a year ago. Proceedings opened with a line of games, followed by a dance to music by a Canyon orchestra made up of Mr. and Mrs. Kolthammer, T. Mawson and Holly Bond, and to add variety to the occasion, paper hats of various designs, balloons, and musical instruments were loaned the guests. For supper Frank Dodgson, John Finlay, Walter Edwards, Alf. Letoille and others demonstrated that they had much cluinary ability as the lunch was of a very high order. At the modest admission of 25 cents, the affair netted several dollars, which will go into the community chest.

NOVA SCOTIA TO ENJOY A SHORT SESSION, HOUSE

Little Contentious Matter to Come Before Government, February

HALIFAX, N. S., Feb. 4. (CP)—The third session of Nova Scotia's seventeenth legislature since Confederation, which opens on February 19, is expected to be brief. Last year's session, which opened on March 5, was drawn out until the end of April by extended discussion of the new Liquor Control bill, and to some extent, by the measure providing for regulation of the pulpwood cut; this year, however, anything in the way of legislation likely to provide unusually lengthy debate is unexpected.

Prominent as an incentive to sessional wordage during the past few years, Old Age Pensions will undoubtedly come in for increased attention at the coming session, with a likelihood that prorogation will find a pensions measure on the provincial statute books. Following the assertion of Premier Bracken of Manitoba that Prime Minister Bennett had assured the prairie premiers that the federal government was prepared to assure 95 per cent of the cost of such disbursements, Premier G. S. Harrington of Nova Scotia stated that if the Manitoba premier was correctly quoted, the Nova Scotia government would prepare legislation, to be introduced at the coming session, providing for the inauguration of an Old Age Pensions scheme in this province.

The Liquor Control act, also, will undoubtedly be drawn to the house's atention on many occasians. Amendments to this measure are expected to be few, as it is believed the government will wish to see the act in force a full year before altering its provisions or machinery of operation. Last year an opposition demand that the municipalities share in the profits of government sale was met by the suggestion of Premier Rhodes that after a year or two of operation, and consequent knowledge of the economic situation resultant therefrom, the question might be brought up again with a view to action. Net profits from the act's going into force on August 18 to September 30, end of the fiscal year, were $23,000 on a $600,000 turnover, and although the opposition will likely renew a demand for municipal participation, it is unlikely the government will propose or accede to any such scheme this year. New return for the six weeks in question were cut, of course, by organization of the Nova Scotia police and of the Liquor Commission machinery of administration.

SALE OF BEERS AND WINE WILL BE UP

The question of hotel and tavern sale of beers and wines is another matter to come under review. The New Brunswick Liquor commission recently refused a request of New Brunswick hotel men for hotel sale, o nthe ground that the matter was properly a question for the government to settle. There is provision in the Nova Scotia act for the taking of local plebiscites to settle this problem, the towns concerned to pay the cost of such a vote. So far Glace Bay is the only town circulating the petition necessary for the taking of a plebiscite. It is understood the government takes the position that for it to pay the cost of these plebiscites would be looked on as encouraging the sale of liquor, and no such course could properly be taken.

Smokes Way Past Century Milestone

SAINT JOHN, N. B., Feb. 4. — Well along in his hunderdth year, Patrick McDonald of Welsford, N. B., concluded that never again would he be able to find tobacco worth smoking. So he quit the weed. But not long ago a friend induced him to try a plug which met with some measure of approval, and when Mr. MacDonald reached the century mark on January 13 he was as heavy a smoker as ever. Furthermore, he embarked on another year in the best of health, with good eyesight, and a keen interest in community affairs.

Mr. McDonald was born in what was known as Portland, North End St. John, on January 13, 1831. In 1868 he took a sea voyage around the horn to California, and returning to visit his old home four years later, decided to stay in New Brunswick. Seven of his eight children are living.

SALT INDUSTRY GROWS CANADA

OTTAWA, Feb. 4.—The salt industry of Canada is one of the oldest, non-metallic industries of the country, dating back to the early years of the last century when the Hudson's Bay Company obtained their local supplies from the brine springs of the Mackenzie basin.

The discovery of salt in Ontario in 1886 was, however, the real beginning of the industry on a substantial basis, and production from the Ontario field has been continuous since that time. The opening of the Malagash deposits in Nova Scotia in 1928 inaugurated the first rock salt mine in the country, and has materially assisted in supplying the demands for salt in the Marittmes.

With the discovery of rock salt at McMurray, Alberta, and the more recent encountering of thick beds of salt in drill holes just south of Moncton, New Brunswick, the known ressurces of Canada in this mineral have been considerably extended.

Sodium chloride or common salt as it is more familiarly called, finds a use in a large number of industries, and the consumption for domestic use forms a steady demand, depending upon the population. The increasing use of salt in Canada for the manufacture of chemicals has in recent years caused a rapid rise in the production of salt, and there is every reason to look forward to a rapid expansion of the industry as the country grows.

The Australian house of representatives will re-assemble on March 4.

Miss Margaret Higgins, Dyment, Ont., writes:—"I was covered with boils on my arms, face and neck. I used plasters and other remedies with no results. My attention was drawn to Burdock Blood Bitters, so I decided to get a bottle. The results were marvellous, as in no time the boils had completely disappeared, and my skin was clearer and fresher than ever."

CHAPTER THIRTY-ONE

Justin Kent returned an hour later, alone and at the wheel of the coupe that had called for him that morning. Instead of turning into the garage he drove up to the house. Connie met him; his face was alight with an almost boyish interest. This new possession, by a process of substitution, had crowded out the hidden despair that had filled his mind earlier in the day.

"Well, it's yours!" he declared, with a ring of satisfaction in his voice.

Connie put her hand on the sleek beauty of the car. Its loveliness—the sense of ownership—brought a tightening in her throat, a tearing pang of conscience.

"Why do you, I cannot understand why you do all these lovely things for me. I am not worth it. You really shouldn't; if you only knew—"

"My dear," he told her gently, "there is something so fine in you that some times I know that no gift of mine can ever be worthy. If this car can make you a little happier, it justifies itself ten times over."

Connie flicked her eyes rapidly and smiled. "You're a dear."

As Justin Kent got out of the car they both, at the same instant, became aware that another automobile—a gorgeous mechanical creation of foreign make, with a uniformed chauffeur—was noiselessly rolling up the driveway before them. Justin Kent's eyes widened with naive surprise.

"My goodness, we have visitors!"

The trim driver descended from his seat and opened the door with practiced deference. The slender, modish figure of a graceful woman emerged from the cushioned luxury of the machine. Without the slightest hesitation, perfectly poised, she advanced to Connie and Justin Kent.

"Ah, Mr. and Mrs. Kent, is it not?" Her dark eyes were for Connie rather than her husband.

"Yes, I am Mrs. Kent. This is my husband." Connie's voice was slightly stiff.

"I am Velma Lescabanne. I am your nearest neighbor. Brides are always so very interesting, and I was tempted to pay my call immediately."

On the part of Connie and Justin Kent there was an awkward second during which Velma Lescabanne regarded them with a quiet self-contained smile. Connie was conscious that the woman, from her patent leather slippers to her small turban, was perfectly groomed; that she was the embodiment of some polished foreign background which, in some obscure way, created a subtle feeling of self-consciousness in Connie.

After an instant's hesitation Connie swiftly put out her hand.

"It's awfully good of you, Mrs. Lescabanne, to come and see us."

Their palms touched briefly; Justin Kent bowed. But neither he nor Mrs. Lescabanne made a movement toward shaking hands.

Later, sitting in the living room with tea and small cakes, Connie was increasingly aware that this woman had everything of breeding and culture that she herself had not.

Under the cover of a casual exchange of small neighborhood talk, Connie, with some instinct on the alert, studied the face of the stanger. Her age was somewhere around thirty, but she looked slightly younger; the olive complexion was heightened with a slight glow on the cheeks; the mouth was rather wide, with a habit of smiling a trifle knowingly at the corners.

Faintly, like a mysterious perfume, something seemed to radiate from eVlma Lescabanne's personality that was vaguely disturbing to Connie's possessive feeling for Justin Kent. Instinctively Connie could not help but admire the woman for her poise, her balanced personality. At the same time she knew that, under no circumstances, could she ever be close friends with Velma Lescabanne.

"I hope I may be able to see both of you quite often this summer," the visitor said. "I have practically no friends out here on Long Island except, of course, those who come down from the city over the week-ends."

"Your husband—" Justin Kent hesitated a trifle. "Your husband is in business in New York?"

The stranger dropped her eyes for a second.

"I am a widow," she said softly. "I have not been in America long." A shadow crept over her face, but in a moment she smiled with a rather bright bravery. "Life is some times not so happy—is it not so? But there, I must be going now."

Justin Kent was on his feet instantly and handing her her gloves from a small table. Just for a moment Connie felt that this woman was smiling enticingly into the eyes of Kent.

"I am not accustomed to seek the society or companionship of people," Velma Lescabanne said with a touch of sadness. "Really, there is the terrible lonesomeness— you know? It is not far across our lawns, and there is a small gate in the fence."

Justin Kent smiled at her with guileness friendliness.

"I am sure my wife and I will be delighted to see you quite often."

He escorted her to the car. When he returned to the house Connie eyed him steadily, curiously.

"A charming woman," Justin Kent remarked plainly. "I feel she has a sincere, frendly soul."

Homes for Husbands

By BEATRICE FAIRFAX

An Authority on Problems of Love and Marriage

A man has just written me a letter and quoted that more than ancient jibe against domesticity: "There's no place like home—and thank God for that!" It seems his wife, who is a most capable housekeeper, has found her true vocation in life, and the general welfare of the human race.

Her huband belongs to a friendly card club where the boys get together at different member's houses about once a week and play poker. My correspondent had always managed to have the club meet at his home when his wife was away, "saving the country."

It seems on the tragic occasion he describes, friend-husband miscalculated. He sent for the glad tidings that the club was to assemble on a certain evening when he supposed his wife would be busy with her noble enterprise in a distant city. But he was wrong. She intended only to wield the gavel in the home town. Promptly, had made over the constitution of at 11:30, after the uplift ladies their club, and had partaken of she let herself in with her latch-chicken salad and vanilla ice cream, key and stood in the doorway of the living room sniffing—the poker game was in full cry.

There was a general scramble for coats—but it was too late to slip under the table certain guilty refreshment. The lady continued to stand in the doorway, like a discouraged angel, sighed, then went her way.

"Never again" writes the husband, "will I submit my friends to that kind of humiliation." And he concludes, "What the mischief are homes for anyhow? Do they belong exclusively to wives? Two or three of the boys are in the same boat as I am—and we have to sneak off and meet on the sly, as if a friendly card game was something evil."

This is an unthinkable state of affairs, and helps to bring about that shocking divorce rate—one in every six mariages! Certainly if a man foots the bills, he's entitled to play poker in his own home, no matter how much of a committee hound his wife happens to be. What pounding the gavel is to the goose, shuffling the pack of cards may be the gander.

Jealously—possessivness—fear — are some of the excuses given to explain this ungenerous attitude on the part of the wives. If they'd only realize it, the friendly card game is one of the greatestprps to domesticity. It is then that a man has a chance to be proud of his home as a background.

like magic without the visible flick

The little supper that apears of a skirt, but the fine feminine hand entirely perceptible in everything—the sandwiches, salad, coffee. The boys must realize that a domestic angel is hovering in the kitchen, but it's part of her tact never to introduce a pin feather on this essentially masculine diversion.

And who is so humble, contrite and wholly amendable to any suggestions for new sports frocks, hats, or even a radio as the husband who has lost a little and is not nagged by his clever wife?

Love doesn't thrive under the curbed bit and the checkrein. And the man who plays cards with other men has less time for vamps and baby dolls.

A ST. VALENTINE'S PARTY

Although formal invitations are not necessary for the informal St. Valentine's day party, on February 14 (a simple spoken invitation over telephone or face to face being enough), nevertheless many hostesses like to mail St. Valentine's cards to their friends from a week to ten days before the event, with some such line as this written upon it as an invitation: "Miss Doris Smith requests the pleasure of your company on the evening of February the Fourtenth at eight o'clock at 147 Smith Street. Please write an original valentine to bring with you".

Upon the arrival of the guests, the hostess collects the original valentines and gives the girls' to the men to read aloud, and the men's to the girls. If ther are no men guests, however, the hostess reads them aloud herself. This amusement "breaks the ice" and starts the party off in a jolly manner.

If some special form of entertainment has ben planned, such as card playing, dancing to the victrola, or a game of anagrams, this follows immediately after the valentines have been read. Otherwise the hostess announces one of the following games or contests:

Initial Compliments: Partners are chosen, and each of the pair of partners must think up a compliment with the words beginning with the initials of the partner's name. For instance, if your partner's name is Anna Clarke Ames, your compliment could be: "Amiable, Charming, Ambitious". If men are present, of course, the two sexes must be paired together, and a good deal of fun lies in the girls trying to find suitable compliments for the men!

Valentine Jigsaws: Provide one good paper valentine for each guest to be present; paste each on stiff card-board, cut in small pieces, and mix up the pieces well in an envelope. Give one envelope to each guest and see who can first put his or her puzzle together properly, on tables provided for this contest. As a prize, give a small "figurine" paperweight of Cupid or any mythical god.

Other games may follow, before the refreshments, which consist of a molded gelatine salad, sandwiches, hot coffee, cake, and ice cream (if desired).

CHOCOLATE HERMITS

¼ cup melted butter, ½ cup sugar, 2 tablespoons, grated chocolate, 1 tablespoon water, 1 egg, ½ cup nuts, ½ cup raisins, 1 cup of flour (possibly a little more), vanilla, 1 level teaspoon baking powder.

Cook water, chocolate and 1 tablespoon of the sugar till smooth. Stir into butter and add rest of sugar, beaten egg, flour, baking powder, sifted together, nuts, raisins and flavoring. Roll, cut and bake in rather hot oven.

LIVERS COOKED IN JEWISH STYLE

Chicken livers can make the most delicious dish. I generally bake the liver for about 10 minutes and then chop them in a wooden chopping bowl with a small onion, some fat drippings and season to taste. Livers fried with onions and cut-up green peppers are also very good.

The fitted frock still leads all others.

There Is a Time for Portieres

How wel do we remember the old-time portieres. . .thick, bulky dust collectors of no particular decorative value, cluttering up the doorways. The very first objects we saw on entering the house were the portieres.

Unlike window draperies, portieres are emphatically a subordinate element in any room scheme. Nowadays, when decorators consider them, they are used wherever the design of the room seems to make them essential. . .and not otherwise wise.

For example, if there are fairly large windows and two rooms open out from each other, the softness of the drapery at the window is apt to accentuate the stiffness of the bare wooden frame of the big double doors. A line of color—not too conspicious—will modify the harshness of the opening and form a pleasant foil for the window curtains.

But we must not forget that portieres have changed in style. Gone forever is the idea that they must bem ade of velvet or velour. Today we find linens and many lovely textured fabrics that slip unobtrusively into the room scheme. . .the while maintaining a character of their own that is much more interesting than the old-time velvet.

ORANGE DATE COOKIES

Two-third cup shortening, 1½ cups brown sugar, 2 eggs, 2 tablespoons sour milk, 1 teaspoon soda, 1 teaspoon cinnamon, ½ teaspoon cloves, ¼ teaspoon salt, 2 cups flour, grated rind 1 orange, 1 cup dates. Cream shortening and sugar, add beaten eggs. Mix and sift dry ingredients alternately with the sour milk. Last of all add orange rind and dates. Drop on cookie sheet.

102 million more cups of Salada tea were consumed in Canada in 1930 than in 1929.

RENDITION OF SONG BY KIDDIE CAUSES FUROR

Chief of Police at Vancouver Says Song Not Fitting for Concert

VANCOUVER, Feb. 4—The rendition by a 12-year-old girl at a Sunday concert here of a song dealing with the embarrassment of a bride whose Scottish husband-to-be arrived at the church wearing his kilts, has caused a hub-bub in civic circles.

Chief of Police W. J. Bingham reported to the city council that two numbers at a concert which he attended, including that by the little girl and another by "a lady in the orchestra," were not suitable for Sunday concerts and a sub-committee has decided that if future programs for Sabbath entertainment must be passed by the license inspector.

The concert was given by a local band in a theater and the police choir took part.

HAD SUNG NUMBERS OFTEN

The mother of the little girl told the council sub-committee today that her daughter had sung the "offending number" on numerous occasions—at hospitals and other places—and this was the first criticism made.

"I go over all her numbers," the mother said, "and I never allow her to sing anything suggestive. After that concert on Sunday Chief Bingham came back stage and congratulated her on her singing. But she has felt so bad about all this that she hasn't eaten since Monday."

"You must eat, my dear," said Alderman E. W. Dean, chairman, to the girl, who was present at the meeting. "We must all eat to live." He went on to explain that the only criticism of the song was that the chief thought it not suitable for a concert on Sunday.

Slocan District Board Trade Asks for a Delegate to Tacoma Meet

That the Slocan District Board of Trade will ask the Associated Boards of Trade to have a delegate sent to the Tacoma convention, which will be held shortly, to review the silver question, at its annual meeting held in New Denver yesterday was the information received by Fred A. Starkey, commissioner of the Associated Boards of Trade of Eastern British Columbia, in a long distance telephone conversation with Andy Shilland of New Denver.

The matter of government road and public works expenditures and the stabilization of silver prices were treated at the meeting. Officers elected for the 1931 term were unobtainable last night.

ROBINS WINTER IN NOVA SCOTIA

HALIFAX, N. S., Feb. 4. — Correcting what he termed a general fallacy that red-breasted robins go south for the winter, Chief of Police W. E. Palmer, who is something of a naturalist, said the presence of these birds in Nova Scotia during the winter was no freak of nature. While seen infrequently in town at this season, they could be found along the shore, nesting in thick, low-lying spruce and securing meals in the form of snails, large quantities of which are contained in sea weed washed up on the shore.

BANQUET MARKS ANNIVERSARY OF COLOMBO LODGE

Sisters Entertain 300 Guests at Trail Banquet: Dance Is Postponed

TRAIL, B. C., Feb. 4—Over 300 attended the seventh anniversary banquet of the Sisters of Colombo, held at the Colombo hall Tuesday night.

Short addresses were heard from officers of the lodge and from Mayor Bruno LeRose, an honored guest.

A period of silence was observed in respect for Mrs. A. DiSabato, whose death occurred early yesterday morning, and the dance, which was to have followed the banquet, was postponed.

Opening the program, Mrs. A. Lodovici, president, welcomed the guests. This was followed by the singing of "O Canada".

The first entertainment number was a piano solo, "Italian March" by Miss Gemma Orlando who was accompanied on the violin by C. Catalano.

OUTLINE WORK

Mrs. Lodovici gave an outline of the work which had been accomplished by the lodge since its organization. She urged greater cooperation in social and lodge activities.

Miss Erma Salsiccioli was popular in a pianoforte number.

Mayor LeRose, complimenting the members for their work during past years, predicted great things for the organization. He expressed his pleasure at the number of young women interested in the work and urged them to continue. In closing, the mayor expressed sympathy in the death of Mrs. DiSabato, late member.

"Waiting for the Doctor," a short play, sponsored by Mrs. Hobson with Daughters of Colombo playing, was enthusiastically received.

"BOOST MEMBERSHIP"

"Boosting Membership" was the theme chosen by S. Romano for a short address which was applauded with enthusiasm.

Very dainty were Thelma Leschiuta, Angeline Chapala and Pearl Cullen in a pretty dance number, one of the most popular numbers on the program.

Miss Bessie Georgetti, giving a pianoforte solo, won approval. In her encore number she was accompanied by her brother Mike, violin.

Daughters of Colombo scored a second hit with their one-hour play, "A Bride to Be Won by Lottery". The cast consisted of Miss Elda Ermacora, Miss Gina Vannuchi, Mike Molina and Charles Catalano.

JANUARY BIRTH AND DEATH RATE DOWN FROM 1930

Lady Willingdon Well Fitted for Latest Position

MANCHESTER, England, Feb. 4.—(CP)—A woman correspondent of the Manchester Guardian says:

"Lady Wellington has many qualifications for the position she will occupy. Perhaps since Lady Dufferin left India, Lord Dufferin was also Governor General of Canada some year before he went to India the wife of no Viceroy has had so much experience of high official life in various countries.

"As a child she made the acquaintance of many countries during her cruises of Lord Brassey's famous yacht, Sunbeam. During the war Lord Willingdon was Governor of Bombay, and his wife was active in schemes for the benefit of the soldiers, just as she has been active in promoting social work during her years in Canada. A woman of strong personality, a brilliant hostess, and interested in many aspects of life, she is not only herself active but she has the art of stimulating others.

"When in Bombay Lord and Lady Willingdon were untiring and unsparing themselves in promoting and supporting all manner of projects for welfare work, for alleviating sickness and suffering, and for the spread of enlightment. The same untiring and unsparing energy was devoted to their social duties, and Lady Willingdon's reputation as a hostess has never been rivalled even in India. In short, the incomers are, in knowledge and ability, fully equal to the task they have so courageously undertaken. Their worst handicap is that they are not really newcomers. It is not altogether an advantage for a new Viceroy to know too well or to be too well known. Even the shadow of old alliances and enmities may prove embarrassing."

RESENT RETURN UNDESIRABLES

Editorial in English Paper Hammers Premier Bennett and Canada

LONDON, Feb. 4 (By Thomas T. Champion, Canadian Press staff correspondent)—The return from Canada on board the liner Auscania of 110 men who had been unable to find work in the Dominion, provoke a critical editorial in The Manchester Guardian today. The newspaper which had several tussles with Premier R. B. Bennett while he was in England last autumn, remarked that one might expect the Canadian government to take the responsibility for those settlers who had been accepted.

"After all," The Guardian continued, "Canada is a country which wants and advertises for immigrants. It is not as if settling in Canada was a one-sided favor bestowed on unwanted clients by a benevolent authority at Ottawa. But though Canada needs men she is not going to take any risks. Deportation awaits any settler unlucky enough to be found within five years suffering from tuberculosis, blindness or any other prohibited disease or who has become a public charge through lack of work. Eleven hundred people met this fate in 1929.

"Emigration to Canada in these hard times is plainly a rather more risky business than is sometimes thought."

WILLS OFTEN WORK GREATEST OF HARDSHIPS

LONDON, Feb. 4. (CP) — Striking instances of the hardship caused by wills under which the husband or wife or children have been ignored were revealed yesterday at a News-Chronicle representative. It is to prevent such injustices that Miss Eleanor Rathbone, M. P., is promoting a bill to ensure that a substantial share of the property should pass, on death, to the surviving partner and children.

Hundreds of cases of hardship have been brought to the national union of societies for equal citizenship during the last few years. Among them is one of an elderly man who married a woman much younger than himself. The man had money in Russia, but he lost it. When she made her will, she left her money to her only son, thinking no doubt that her husband would die before she would. She was killed in an accident. The child is mentally deficient, and the money is tied up in the hands of trustees. All that her husband has to live on is the rent from some rooms in a house which has only a short term to run. The official took up another paper. "In this case," he said, "a husband and wife lived together happily for several years. In his will the husband left his money to another woman of whose existence his wife had been ignorant. Such cases only too frequent.

"Here is a man who left his entire fortune to another man. The wife became chargeable to the poor-law. Another man's will gave all his belongings to his sister except for $250 which went to his son on reaching 21. The boy was 14 at his father's death and the will had been made when he was 18 months old. The wife had nothing." In drafting the bill various dominion officials have been consulted. England is one of the few countries where a man or woman can leave the marriage partner penniless.

Watch Your Matches

You can help the Canadian cause by insisting that your grocer give you Canadian made matches. The box will perhaps be a few cents cheaper than the Canadian box, but if you were to take the trouble to count United States matches and the Canadian matches are the individual sticks you would find that the Canadian often in boxes of similar size and the United States box contained 400 while the matches in the United States box when sold at a lower price actually numbered only 300 to the box.

Grocers and other Canadian dealers often purchase these United States matches from the jobbers because they are cheaper but they are not aware that they are cheaper simply because there are fewer matches in a box.

The match business in the United States is a huge one and the production is so great that the United States manufacturer finds it profitable to dump his surplus matches into Canada. That is why the Canadian match manufacturers are asking that duty on matches from the United States to Canada be increased to the same duty as on the matches from Canada to the United States. At the present time the duty is 58 cents per case more on matches entering Canada and as 1,444,000 boxes were brought into Canada last year the Canadian manufacturers are seriously affected.

This is also a matter of particular interest to Nelson where match blocks are being manufactured from white pine. The matter has been brought to the attention of the various members of the house of commons and among them W. K. Esling, member for West Kootenay. Mr. Esling stated that he was thoroughly in sympathy with the Canadian manufacturers and hoped that the necessary protection would be afforded.

Silent Pictures and the Talkies

Now and then we hear arguments for and against the talkies. Many are of the opinion that the silent screen gave the theater public a better brand of pictures in which actors and actresses had to show real ability to get into any play. Others argue that all that is needed to get into the talkies is a voice. A singer or good talker, they declare can make the grade. Thus many singers, who are not actors, they declare, are putting the talkies over at the cost of good acting. However, this is not written favoring any side of the question.

But down in Los Angeles Charles Chaplin, the funny little man with the big shoes, little moustache, and the ever present cane, has defied the modern producers of talkies and has produced a silent picture. And this is three years after the advent of the talkies.

Chaplin stood before a select audience at the end of last month and twirled his while 50,000 milled about the streets trying to gain entrance to the theater.

The comedian presented his new production in a world premiere and true to his promise, not a word was spoken.

Outside the theater, 400 police officers held in check a jostling good-humored crowd.

Several persons fainted, others were knocked down. A police ambulance gave first aid. Glass on poster frames in the lobby of the new $2,000,000 theater was broken. Police ropes were down almost as soon as they went up.

During the long period in producing Chaplin declared he was convinced that the pantomime was the true mode of screen expression, and that dialogue and singing should be left to the spoken drama and the musical comedies.

Most Los Angeles critics received the production with enthusiasm, and many of the film business leaders, with millions tied up in the talkies, expressed opinions that Chaplin had scored.

Complete statistics of the fishing industry of Canada for the 1929 have just been issued by the Dominion bureau of statistics, in co-operation with the department of fisheries. The report gives information regarding the landing and marketing of fish in each fishing district in Canada, with totals for countries and provinces. The number and value of boats and gear is also shown by fishing districts, and details regarding fish canning and curing establishments, by counties.

The total catch of all kinds of fish in 1929 amounted to 1,063,094,900 pounds, and the market value was $53,518,521. The industry had a capital investment of $62,597,444 and gave employment to 80,450 persons. Canada exported in 1929 fish and fish products to the value of $37,546,393, while imports of similar products were valued at $4,233,906.

Most persons, according to Tom Edison, eat too much and think too little. There's a happy medium, though. Long ago, in a financial shortage we tried thinking for breakfast and dinner a week or two, and it wasn't particularly nourishing.

Heart Association Journal declares that blonds are more susceptible to heart disease than brunettes. We were always under the impression that it was the kind "gentlemen prefer" that caused the heart disease.

Seen and Heard in NELSON

(By J. B. C.)

What was the talk of the town yesterday? As far as I could gather it was the remarkable speed made by Captain Malcolm Campbell, the great British speed daredevil. He had done the almost unbelievable speed of 260 miles per hour in a test run at Daytona and climbed from the auto unhurt. That must have been some whizzing.

At every corner, almost, someone asked me how the captain had made out in his official test Wednesday. But he did not try out as there was too high a wind prevailing. So I told those all I knew about the affair. But the boys have been fighting things out. At the rate of 260 miles an hour made in Tuesday's trial, they figured he was going so fast he could hardly be seen. In fact, Harry Hughes got right down to mathematics after reading yesterday's issue of this paper. He estimates that Malcolm Campbell, were he racing down Baker street, would cover the distance between the Queens hotel and the Kootenay Music House in exactly one second. Now that is moving. I am too busy to verify this distance, but it sounds reasonable. It is lucky Campbell was not racing down Baker street though, because he would have to slow up to get down the hill at the end in safety. An appropriate remark at this time would be "More power to you, Campbell."

Another Wednesday afternoon and I started out by watching a monoplane glide gracefully down the west arm. It was flying low under the clouds but was going at a good rate of speed. . . . So fast that Fred Dalrymple said it took about a minute and a half to disappear. . . . And Jack Lemmon believed it was a Consolidated plane. . . And S. Fawcett was wondering how long it would take to make the flight from Nelson to Creston. . . . And having successfully managed to catch a street car from Fairview. . . . Almost one of the first things I saw up town was Alderman Ross Fleming and Dr. H H. MacKenzie in conversation at Baker and Ward streets. . . . And Dr. MacKenzie had something on his mind. . . . For he was earnest in what he was saying, and was pounding the finger of one hand onto the palm of the other. . . Just as if he were driving a point home. . . . Maybe they were talking over municipal affairs. . . . And I noticed Charles F. McHardy in the background. . . He was leaning on a railing and seemingly taking an interest in what was going on. . . . But he was far enough away to be safe, I thought. . . . And when Dr. MacKenzie was through. . . Mr. McHardy breezed over, and as I passed from view he and the alderman were talking. . . . And on Kootenay street I saw James Brodie going somewhere. . . . And he was in an awfully big hurry. . . His arms were swinging at a remarkable rate. . . . And his feet were moving in so fast a walk. . . . That I almost thought he was running. . . And I wondered if in his younger days he had ever been in a walking race. . . . And further down the street Sergeant Alex Stewart and George Harlow were talking. . . . As they parted the police officer said, "Maybe I'll take him on myself" . . . Now they may have been talking about a coming boxing battle. . . . Or just a friendly bet.

. Down at the hospital I found S. C. Latornell visiting the sick. . . And R. R. Brown was leaving the institution after a visit. . . And he had his family with him. . . . On Vernon street I saw some of our unemployed . . . . And about six of theme were pretty tight. . . . In fact one chap remarked to the others he was a champion. . . . He wanted to know how much money there was in the crowd. . . . As I passed they had dug up 30 cents. . . So this fellow demanded it. . . . He said he would bank it. . . . Furthermore,in a voice that could be heard for a block, he declared he was the champion banker. . . And the last I saw of them they were still arguing. . . . And I guess the money went to the Swedish bank. . . . If they mustered enough . . And I wonder who bought them their dinner last night. . . . Or gave them a quarter to buy a place to flop for the night.

Here's a bedtime story. Read it to the kids:

Once upon a time—about a couple of days ago—there were two turtles and an alligator. Now there is just an alligator. This was in Newark, N. J.

The alligator was in one cage at the Newark zoo and the turtles were in a cage adjoined. The turtles, recent additions to the place, were stealing the attention of the public from old Johnny Alligator

Yesterday it developed there had been dirty work at the cross-roads. There was a hole in the wire between the cages, and the pretty green turtles were missing.

It is quite unlikely that the turtles will ever be found.

Johnny Alligator seems particularly happy, and a bit fatter, perhaps.

Oscar Pelton, a barber and home-loving man, was en route home in Los Angeles, arms laden with groceries, when a young woman —but let him tell it.

"She stepped from behind a tree threw both arms around me and—such kisses .Of course I did the best I could, but there were the groceries and things, you see. And she was so good looking. I said, 'look here, young woman, you really mustn't you know.' I finally disengaged myself and hurried right home.

"Yes, officers, I had $57 in bills in a trouser pocket. And when I got home I found only $7."

"Believe it or not, officers,' put it Mrs. Pelton cryptically.

Captain Jenkin's Ear Caused War in 1738 Says This Reader

To the Editor,
The Nelson Daily News.

Sir: In an editorial in your issue of January 31, it is said "witness the war of 1812, which was precipitated because a certain Capt. Jenkins had his ears cut off." I have never seen. of such an occurrence in connection with the war of 1812, but in 1738 there was the case of Capt. Jenkin's ear (singular number), which helped to bring about war between Spain and Britain in the following year. At this time, the King of Spain was strongly bent on keeping the trade of Spanish America for his own subjects but by treaty some privileges were accorded the British. One was the Asciento, or contract for supplying the negro slaves for the Spanish plantations. This contract was held by the British South Sea company, who, as traders could easily inveigle the unsophisticaed Africans to their vessels and then ship them across the sea. Another privilege was that of sending annually over large trading ships to the Spanish possessions. The worthy Capt. Jenkins, like some modern traders despised treaty regulations with foreigners which hampered or forbade lucrative trade and decided to engage in it anyway. Poor Jenkins was captured by the Spanish and they, in the rough-and-ready way of the times, cut off his ear and gave it to him and told him to take it to his king.

When Jenkins arrived in England and at the bar of the house of commons told his story, producing the ear, history tells us that "the ill humor of the trading classes rose to madness, and there was a fierce clamor for war." Walpole strove to avert war but was finally overborne. He prophetically said "They may ring their bells now, but they will soon be wringing their hands." His fears were justified and the war which followed was rather inglorious to Britain.

SAYS PRAISE DUE POLICE FORCE IN CITY OF NELSON

To the Editor of
The Nelson Daily News.

Sir: The Nelson fire brigade has received quite a few compliments which were quite in place. But we have another force in the city worthy of a lot of praise Considering the two enemies, fire and crime, the latter is a very much harder one to fight. When there is a fire everyone is willing to lend a hand. But who cares to get mixed up in police work? The police are often between two fires. Congratulations to Chief Long and his staff.

Investor — Know Yourself

Successful investing is not a simple process. Yet many people must think it is because of the hap-hazard way in which they proceed with it; accepting suggestions from friends and strangers; acting hastily on tips; venturing their capital on the merest hunch. This is an unusual streak of nature, a carelessness not exercised by any other human impulse. Hard-headed and discriminating people will think twice and fortify their judgment by a thorough personal examination before they will make a personal loan, or engage in a business, or buy anything of value; but with securities they will abandon themselves to a certain degree of recklessness.

Successful investing must have for its basis of operation a definite program, and once it is fixed upon it must be rigidly adhered to. Lay a sound foundation, then a strong structure will rear itself upon it.

The first and most essential consideration which should be observed in order to become a successful custodian of surplus capital is to study and know yourself. By so doing a safeguard is erected, at the very beginning of your investing career, against occupying a duel position; that of thinking you are an investor when you are a speculator and vice versa.

If through an understanding of your own temperament, financial status, and reserve power (to fall back upon in the event of any financial mishaps, and they do arise when least expected and when least prepared for them), it is apparent you cannot stand any material degree of risk, then it is incumbent upon you to seek the greatest factor of safety, no matter how attractive some speculative appeal might be.

A business or professional man, for example, could reasonably assume some measure of risk in a desire to enhance his estate, for he can fall back upon the profits and earnings from his business calling to absorb his losses. That cannot be done by individuals not having recourse to incomes other than obtainable from investments. They are in on position to engage in any known risk, for the penalty of error tends to jeopardize their financial security.

The difference in ages, in a study of knowing yourself, also has a pertinent bearing on intelligent investing. Young men with the greater part of their life still ahead of them could employ a considerable share of their earning power in buying securities on the basis of future expansion rather than upon immediate income return, by this process building their fortunes for their declining years. But the individual well along in years could not take the same risk, for he has not the recuperative powers of youth to rely upon as a reserve if difficulties overtake his commitments.

Temperament deserves consideration in a study of one's self. One who cannot stand a loss should not engage in a speculation. One be a successful speculator, for he must be a good loser in order to must know that in order to earn a profit in excess of a yield afforded by a safeguarded investment, a proportionate risk must be assumed.—Financial World, New York.

NO KNOWN CAUSE OF APPENDICITTIS

It is certainly discouraging to study the statistics or figures on appendicitis. During the past 30 or 40 years, and that is about the length of time appendicitis has really been familiar to the medical profession, not only has the number of cases increased but the number of deaths also. In the past 20 years the number of deaths has increased three-fold.

Now, when you remember that appendicitis is a familiar word to everybody, and the region of the appendix and the typical pain is likewise familiar, why is it that so many more people dis th when so little was known about

I sometimes think it is becau no one has been able to show t exact cause of appendicitis; that no one definite cause. Years ago young physician ventured the opi ion that it was the formation gas in the intestine that caused a pendicitis. The gas blew up t little tube or appendix, just as youngster blows up a toy ballo This opened the mouth or e trance of the appendix so wide t various things—seeds, rough fo and so forth, got into the append and so irritated its wall that wall became inflamed thus caus appendicitis.

Lately another physician gives as his opinion that "during dig tion an increased amount of fl finds its way into the append which fluid becomes alkaline w some digestive power, and if remains there long enough actu breaks down or digests a part the wall of intestine, thus sett up appendicitis.

Anything that will prevent appendix from emptying this fl into intestine is really caus the trouble, that is small sto made up of waste matter, pressure from constipation, misplacement of the intestine so forth.

Now either the air or this fl is as yet recognized by the fession as the cause of appen citis, but two suggestions to av appendicitis are admitted, that "avoiding overfeeding and overe ing, and securing regular intesti movements.

Remember that if appendicitis recognized and appendix remo within the first 48 hours, there not likely to be much danger to pus formation.

ST. GODARD WINS DOG DERBY AFTER THRILLING RACE WITH RUSSICK

Flin Flon Musher Wins Last Lap But Is Unable to Wipe Out Winner's Lead

OTTAWA, Ont., Feb. 4.—(CP)—Holding his lead under the gruelling challenge of "Shorty" Russick, Emil St. Godard, young monarch of all mushers, today won Ottawa's second international dog derby. Completing the 100-mile course after three gaily stages, only three minutes and 50 seconds separated the Flin Flon musher and the champion in elapsed time as they dashed across the finish line in Confederation park, acclaimed by 35,000 spectators.

St. Godard's total elapsed time was nine hours, 18 minutes and 40 seconds compared to Russick's nine hours, 22 minutes and 30 seconds. The pair staged the most thrilling battle of the derby in the last two miles of today's lap. Starting today with almost seven minutes advantage, St. Godard increased it by a full minute in the first 17 miles and between the 28-mile and 28-mile posts picked up another eight minutes.

Fifteen minutes behind, Russick threw everything into the last five miles and drew up with the leader as the finish line came in sight. They ran neck and neck in the last half mile but the Flin Flon driver edged over the finish line three seconds ahead of St. Godard. As he started three minutes later than Emile this gave him the lap in three hours nine minutes and 44 seconds to St. Godard's three hours 12 minutes and 47 seconds, but it was not enough to wipe out The Pas' man's lead.

WOMAN FINISHES THIRD

Only one woman driver in the race, Mrs. E. P. Ricker of Poland Springs, Me., finished third, only one minute and nine seconds better than Earl Brydges of Cranberry Portage, Man., in elapsed time for the 100 miles. Fifth was Georges Girrard of Quebec City, almost nine minutes behind Brydges. All the positions were the same as when the second stage finished yesterday, Georges Chevrette, Quebec, coming sixth; Charles Borrel, St. Jovite, Que., seventh; Arthur Lapointe, Quebec, eighth; Dave Falardeau, Quebec, ninth; Leo. St. Godard, The Pas, 10th; Roland Lombard, South Windham, Me., 11th and Jack Devalco, Ottawa, 12th.

St. Godard wins $1000 and the Chateau Laurier gold challenge cup for his victory. This is the second year he has taken the cup. A third win will give him permanent possession of it. Russick gets $700, Mrs. Ricker $500, Brydges $200 and several others lesser amounts. Premier R. B. Bennett presented St. Godard with the cup and cheque after the race.

CAPT. CAMPBELL UNABLE TO MAKE TEST; WEATHER

Gale Estimated at 40 Miles Per Hour Blows Sand Across Course

DAYTONA BEACH, Fla., Feb. 4—(AP)—Capt. Malcolm Campbell, ace of the world's fastest racing car drivers, again was prevented today from making an attempt to raise the land speed record because of a high wind that swept the beach speedway here.

Whistling out of the north at a velocity estimated by the driver at between 35 and 40 miles an hour, the wind blew a steady stream of white sand across the nine-mile course from the nearby dunes, which would have made steering difficult at high speed.

Sand also would probably have damaged his motor, he said.

Four new men appear on the Trail rep team this year. Anderson and Lee, both of Rossland, have been chosen. Evans and Halliwell, two of the heaviest scorers of the current season in league play, have also won places on the team.

Chandler and Milburn, the guards of last year, will again fill these posts. Askey, Westwood and Curtis complete the team.

Babe Worked Better Without Instruction

By AL DEMAREE
(Former Pitcher New York Giants)

"These pros tell me not to 'press' on my tee shots and get distance, but when I'm swinging at a baseball I give it all I got," said Babe Ruth disconsolately as he dubbed a drive. That is one of the eternal mysteries to the Babe.

Which reminds me of the first and probably the only golf lesson Babe ever took.

The pro had worked hard with Babe and painfully stood for all his wisecracks for an hour. Finally when he said the lesson was over and had shaken hands with the distinguished pupil, Ruth said, "Now put a ball down and I'll hit it my way." And he did and by some lucky chance, hit one a mile right down the fairway. "If you ever hit one like that you'd give it back," he remarked to the pro as he walked away.

The Babe doesn't like the new ball. He says it takes off distance and if there is anything the Bambino loves it is distance and still more distance.

VOTE TO ACCEPT DRAFT PLAN

NEW YORK, Feb. 4.—National Association of Professional Baseball Leagues today voted 18 to 1 to accept the proposition of the major leagues in regard to the draft and to players sent out on optional agreement. The Southern association was the only dissenter.

PARIS, Feb. 4 (AP)—Annual forecast of another series of spectacular tennis duels of historic Davis cup play was made again on all sides today as President Doumergue of France and the diplomats of more than a score of nations gathered around the famous silver tennis trophy for the 1931 draw.

President Doumergue presided over the colorful function, staged in the Elysee Palace with all the ceremony of great affairs of state, in the presence of the representatives of most of the 30 nations entered for the international play. The luck of the draw pitted the United States against Mexico to start the North American zone series with the winner meeting Canada in the zone finals.

UKRANIANS TAKE SEVEN DAYS FOR THEIR HOLIDAYS

Mingle Festivity and Solemn Ceremony at Christmas Time

EDMONTON, Alta., Feb. 4.—(By The Canadian Press)—Ukranians take about seven days' holiday in celebrating Christmas and New Year's solemn ceremony and gay festivity mingling in the celebration in due and becoming manner. Christmas for the Ukranians falls on January 7, according to the Julian calender, and their New Year day is January 14.

Although some of the old world practices among the Ukranians in in Canada are falling into disuse that of Christmas eve, "Kutya," the Christmas eve feast., is usually observed in all its quaintness. The day before Christmas is occupied by the preparation of food for the feast but none is eaten until 6 o'clock in the evening, the day being really a day of feasting. The "Kutya" begins by the head of the house entering the room where the bearing a sheaf of wheat which is good things are ready for the feast placed in a corner of the room and an armful of hay which is placed under the table, the hay being for the children to play in with the idea that it typifies the birth of Jesus in the manager.

In candlelight, which is the only illumination during the evening, there is a 12-course dinner in which no meat is eaten. The chief dish is "Kutya," which is made of boiled wheat, maw seed and honey, and the Ukranians not only eat this but propose toasts with it instead of drinking their toasts.

The Ukranians make it a point to have all the members of the family at this meal, if possible. After it the young people engage in fun somewhat after the Hallowe'en style of superstitious practices. Girls who may be thinking of matrimony will go outside and clap spoons together, after which they listen intently for the barking of some dog. From the direction in which the dog's bark comes is the direction from which their future husbands will come. Then carols are sung in the house.

Later in the evening, according to Helen Zedko, a Ukranian writer in the western press, the young folk congregate, carrying a large star of Bethlehem; several candles and a tiny imitation barn "vertep." It is lit up with candles and contains a manger and the model of the virgin and child. Around it are placed such toy animals as sheep and horses. This model is carried form house to house while the young folks sing carols for which they are often rewarded by some pennies.

Dishes of food are left on the table all night long for those departed members of the family whose spirits might return during the night. The first day of Christmas is usually spent by members of the family in their own homes; but on the second and third days old and young go about visiting neighbors and friends singing carols and feasting.

Rev. Richard Sloggett, a native of Charlottetown, P. E. I., who had been rector of Anglican churches in Ontario and the Maritime provinces, died at Portland, Maine.

DIAMOND AREAS TO BE FENCED

Hertzog Government Takes Steps to Prevent Illegal Digging

JOHANNESBURG, South Africa, Feb. 4.—(CP)—Remarkable precautions are being taken by the South African Government to prevent illegal prospecting for diamonds in Namaqualand along the coast between Alexander Bay and Port Nolloth. An area of about 12 square miles at Alexander Bay has been fenced in with barbed wire entanglements more than six feet in height, and police patrols and brilliant searchlights keep guard over the state diggings there.

Further action is being taken by the government in its fight against prospecting gangs trying to dig for demands illegally, and it is stated that the authorities are about to erect similar barbed wire entanglements over 50 miles of that part of Namaqualand between Alexander Bay and Port Nolloth. It is understood that the new fence is to be erected three miles from the coast and the whole area of 50 miles by the three miles is to be patrolled by armed foot policemen. The erection of the fence has been rendered necessary, it is stated, because the police patrols at present watching this vast area of diamondiferous ground have been unable to prevent illegal prospecting on a large scale.

A Johannesburg business man who recently returned from a visit to Namaqualand is quoted by a newspaper interviewer as follows:

"Diggers have formed themselves into gangs, all of which co-operate with one another in evading the police. These gangs are equipped with lories and fast motor-cars. Scouts are sent out to locate the position of the police patrols, and, acting on the reports of these scouts, the gangs of diggers move off from their encampments by lorry and make for the diamondiferous coast line. The scouts maintain their watch upon the police patrols and warn their comrades as soon as there is any danger of the patrols discovering the illegal prospectors.

"By these methods an enormous number of diamonds are being taken out from very rich portions of the coastline between Alexander Bay and Port Nolloth. The diggers work below the sea level on the sands and in caves which have been found to be particularly rich in stones. The police patrols have been concentrating their attention on the caves, with the result that illegal prospectors have found it very dangerous to try digging there, but the whole coastline is diamondiferous and all that is needed is a small sieve and a shovel.

"It sometimes happens that the police patrols appear before the gangs have a chance of getting away unobserved. The diggers, however, avoid arrest for illegal prospecting by burying their shovels and selves as soon as their scouts give warning. The diggers are then arrested for trespassing, but the fine for trespassing is negligible compared with the fine for illegal prospecting and compared also with the big profits to be obtained by illegal prospecting.

"The attitude of the diggers toward the police is surly, and if it once should happen that a shot is fired in Namaqualand, there will be a conflagation."

THOUSANDS OF LIVES SAVED

LONDON, Feb. 4. (CP) — Every year 40,000 lives are saved that would have been lost a generation ago, declares Sir George Newman, Chief Medical officer of the board of education, in his new report on the health of school children. Nevertheless the rate of disease and disability among boys and girls of school age remains static. The population is being maintained by the enormous advance of preventive medicine and enlightened motherhood. These two factors offset the decline in birthrate. Sir George akss for a complete school dental service.

At the close of a meeting under the auspices of the Sault Ste. Marie branch of the National Unemloyed Association, Rev. W. J. Cowherd, pastor the Free Methodist church, who acted as chairman, Frank Bruce, of Toronto, the principal speaker, and John Ferris, who also spoke, were placed under arrest. Nominal charges of vagrancy were preferred against them.

MOOSE INCREASE IN NEWFOUNDLAND

New Brunswick Family Is Transferred to Island Many Descendants

ST. JOHN'S, Nfld., Feb. 4. (CP) —Reports from sections of Newfoundland as widely separated as Gander Lake, in the northwest of the island, and St. George's at the southwest extremity, indicate that descendants of the moose transported to the Oldest Colony from New Brunswick a few years ago are steadily increasing.

The Daily News, however, takes issue with Bonnycastle Dale, who in a recent magazine article describing the capture of these animals' progenitors in the valley of Bartibog, indicated that these were the first moose to be set free in Newfoundland.

In the early seventies, the News says, Smith McKay, discoverer of the Tilt Cove copper deposits, induced the government to authorize him to introduce moose on the island. A bull and two cows were liberated near Notre Dame Bay. Later on Mr. McKay visited the neighborhood, and his host volunteered to kill a caribou so that some venison would be available for food. Enough steak was obtained to supply the guest until the coastal boat came to take him back to St. John's. It was then that Mr. McKay got inside information that the venison he had enjoyed was from imported moose. The bull had been slaughtered to supply him, and the cows later came to the same end.

The second attempt, however, was more successful. A guide named Connell undertook to capture the moose alive, and with his associates succeeded in enclosing a "yard" of the animals by felling trees around their winter herd when the snow was at its deepest. A couple of cows were lassoed with difficulty, and a big bull was also roped. The story goes that the bull was not pacified sufficiently to warrant transportation out of the woods until Connell had applied a chloroform—soaked sponge on the end of a pole to the animal's nostrils. Later on they were shipped over the five hundred miles of land and the hundred mile water stretch to Newfoundland.

Mrs. Annie Sinton Taft, widow of Charles P. Taft, late publisher of the Cincinnat Times Star and sister in law of former President William Howard Taft, died unexpectedly.

FAMOUS SHIP ENDS CAREER

PORTLAND, Me., Feb. 4. — One the pride of the North Atlantic sailing fleet and one of the fastest vessels on the coast, the five-masted schooner Bright, built in 1918 at Seattle, Wash., will end her days as a coal barger.

With the exception of one trip on the Pacific Coast, the Bright worked between North Atlantic ports. Like many of the old sailships, she had a hectic career. When owned by Walter E. Reid, Portland millionaire, in 1927, the schooner had her bow smashed in a collision with a steamer and was towed to this port. Two years later she was towed t oFalmouth Foreside, and plans ere underway to convert her into a floating dance hall when she broke loose from her moorings and crashed into The Brothers, two islands in the harbor. She was refloated and again towed to an anchorage in the harbor. A few weeks later the vessel was dismantled, her rigging sold and her long masts shipped away to be used as holsters in a granite quarry.

The Bright measured 258 feet in length and registered 2100 tons gross. She had been anchored in the lower harbor for months when it was decided to moor her by a local coal firm for use as a storehouse for coal.

Most of Golds Cross Board at Even Quotations: Oils Are Light

NEW YORK LIST EXTENDS SALES

Rallying Bond Market Is Responsible for Increased Activity

NEW YORK, Feb. 4.—(AP)—The stimulating example of a rallying bond market prompted stocks to extend their week's gains today. Advances, except in a few pool favorites of the moment, were rather nominal but the tone was distinctly firm.

Share trading was largely a repetition of yesterday's session. Again, the top quotations and the most activity appeared in the final hour. The total turnover of roughly 1,500,000 shares was 30,000 larger than that of either Monday or Tuesday.

Amusement and merchandising groups improved and some of the utilities came forward with fair gains. Rails cast a light shadow over the list with their irregularly lower prices, but there was considerable pool support for a handful of specialties. Pivotal industrials, with a few exceptions, confined their net gains to fractions. American Can, however, as well as Westinghouse, Johns-Manville, J. I Case, Allied Chemical and American Tobacco "B" closed one to two higher. Eastman Kodak profited from professional accumulations to the extent of more than four. Vulcan Detinning, Radio preferred "B", Kelvinator, Super-Heater and U. S. Pipe were other favorites. Woolworth's January sales increase of 4.5 per cent in January was favorably received and led to a cautious demonstration in store shares, notably Macy, Best and Sears Roebuck.

Cattle: The cattle market for the week closed with a good clean up of all receipts. Values for the week closed steady with last week's close and indications point to good active trading for the coming week.

Hogs: The hog market closed this week at ¼c below the close of the week previous. Hogs are arriving in goodly number and the trade kicking against the big proportion of heavy kinds.

Sheep: Lambs are arriving in steady quantity and have held steady at 9c. However, reports of Alberta sales at 6½c indicate a lower market here at the end of next week unless Alberta shippers steady down somewhat and hold tight.

Drop Below Those of 1929 and 1928: Higher Than in Year 1927

OTTAWA, Ont., Feb. 4. (CP)—Canadian bank debits in 1930 were lower than the total for either of the two preceding years, but slightly higher than the figure for 1927, it was shown in a report issued today by the Dominion bureau of statistics. The amount of checks charged against bank accounts in 1930 aggregated $37,491,000,000, representing a decline of 19.7 per cent from 1929 and of 13.8 per cent from 1928. The year's total was 3.9 per cent, higher than in 1927.

The bureau's report showed that that maritime provinces made a better showing during the year than any of the other economic areas of Canada, the decline from 1929 being only 11.2 per cent. Quebec province recorded a decline of 20.3 per cent, with Montreal registering a falling-off in debits of 21.1 per cent. The city's 1930 total was $12,271,000,000.

Ontario showed a decline of 18.9 per cent from the 1929 figure with Toronto's total falling to $10,655,000, a contraction of 22.4 per cent. The total for the prairie provinces was $6,279,000,000, a decline of 20.8 per cent, and British Columbia's total fell 20.5 per cent.

BUTTER PRICES DROP, CHICAGO

OTTAWA, Ont., Feb. 4.—(CP)—The drop in butter prices in the Chicago market with the consequent possibility of larger shipments being made into Canada may occasion the fixing by Hon. E. B. Ryckman, minister of national revenue, of a value for duty purposes. The present duty on butter under the general tariff, which applies to the United States, is 14 cents. The minister is empowered under the customs act to take action equivalent to raising the duty by setting a value for duty purposes. In addition a dumping duty applies automatically if shipments are made into Canada at a price below the market value in the country of origin.

WHOLESALE MILK PRICES DECLINE 10 CENTS, CASE

Laundry Soap Prices Down: Egg Prices Drop Two Cents This Week

A decline of 10 cents per case was noted in the wholesale price of canned milk here during the beginning of the week. Laundry soap prices are also down slightly due to the free deals in force. Raisins are reported firmer in price.

A mixed car of groceries was received Wednesday and a car of salt, two cars of flour and a car of cereals are on the rail for Nelson. Cereals are now moving quite briskly.

On the meat market a drop of two cents in the price of eggs marked the only change. Wholesalers are now paying the producers 23 cents for pullet eggs, 28 cents for firsts and 30 cents for extras. Two cars of packing house products, fresh and smoked meats and so forth, arrived here at the first of the week. Shipments from Nelson to outlying points are unchanged.

A car of timothy and one of alfalfa from the Okanagan were the only shipments received here in the feed line. A local shipment of drinking founts was received from Chicago.

CITY COUNCIL OF TRAIL HAS ROTARY DINNER

Mayor and Aldermen Guests of Trail Rotary Club: Speeches Heard

TRAIL, B. C., Feb. 4—Trail Rotary club entertained civic officials of Trail and Tadanac at dinner tonight in the K. P. hall.

Dr. C. S. Williams, presiding, welcomed the guests.

Mayor Bruno LeRose expressed appreciation for support given to previous councils by the Rotary club and outlined work that should be undertaken. The important work he enumerated included an adequate city warehouse costing approximately $18,000, additional covering of Trail creek, estimated to cost $28,000 and an additional water main serving East Trail, which would probably cost $6,000. Cribbing of roads in residential sections, might be undertaken. He announced that the council had decided to make assessments of city property the same as in 1930, with the understanding that a qualified man should be brought here to make a complete assessment of the city.

S. G. Blaylock felt that Mayor LeRose would find the Dotary club satisfied that he was doing his best as mayor. Reeve E. M. Stiles said that Trail was fortunate in having a live Rotary club. H. J. Palmer, chairman of the school board, declared the Rotary club had given great assistance in scholarships and for high and public school students and said that the books given to the high school made a valuable reference library. Mr. Palmer suggested that instead of a $25 scholarship for one student of public school, several prizes should be given. He also complimented The Trail Times on its editorial urging a uniform school text books as far as possible throughout Canada School Inspector P. H. Sheffield of Nelson, also expressed gratification with the editorial indicating that such a movement was already on foot. George Murray, chairman of the parks commission, spoke on parks and the assistance the Rotary club had given.

THANKS ROTARIANS

J. R. Anderson felt that thanks of the citizens were due the Rotary club for the work being done in Trail.

A. J. Cameron spoke on Canada and its future declaring that Canada could not benefit from separation from the British Empire. To assure its future Canada required sterling honesty, reverence for law and selective immigration.

R. C. Crowe, chairman of the Canadian advisory committee of the Rotary club expressed thanks for the address and suggested the Rotary club might assist in guiding public opinion on the lines suggested. Alderman A. Saunders felt that Trail and Tadanac councils should get together in an effort to provide a better approach to Smelter hill. A. P. Levesque "saluted" the visitors.

L. F. Tyson, president of the board of trade, felt that there was neither the time nor the occasion for him to speak.

Howard Allen accompanied by B. E. Smith, gave vocal solos and George Tucker gave banjo solos.

CLERGYMAN WILL ANSWER CHARGES AT WASHINGTON

Utmost Secrecy Kept in Connection With Mount Vernon Case

WASHINGTON, Feb. 4.—(AP)—A cloud of witnesses descended on the Mount Vernon Place Methodist church here today to testify before an ecclesiastical investigating board regarding charges against Bishop James Cannon Jr., of the Methodist Episcopal church, south.

The church again was locked and guarded. A uniformed policeman paraded around the edifice at regular intervals and a sergeant of police rode around the block every 45 minutes. A plain clothes man guarded the door through which the witnesses entered.

The same veil of secrecy which surrounded the hearing covered also the nature of the charges.

PROCEEDINGS HEARD IN SENATE

Echoes of the proceedings were heard in the senate chamber during the day. Senator Heflin, Democrat, Alabama, said Cannon was being "persecuted" and that "the Raskob and Al. Smith machine is back of the effort to destroy him."

"I had a letter the other day," Heflin said, "reporting that John Roach Stratton had gone, that Bishop Cannon was on his way and that I was due for a sudden illness.

"I wonder what kind of pill they will slip me?" he asked amid laughter.

Bishop Cannon again came to the hearing on crutches after spending the night in Sibley hospital. Members of his family said that he was "extremely weak." They expressed belief that he might collapse at any time.

WOULD EXTEND NEW ZEALAND'S LUMBER CREDIT

TORONTO, Ont., Feb. 4.—(CP)—In order that New Zealand might be enabled to purchase Canadian lumber and building materials for the reconstruction of areas devastated by the recent earthquake, extension of credits will be urged on the Dominion government by the Canadian Lumbermen's association.

A resolution naming a committee to lay this request before the government was passed today by the association in convention here. It carried unanimously without discussion.

In another resolution, the convention appealed to the federal administration to ban importations from north-eastern Europe. Lumber was specifically named as one of the products which, it was said, were being made by conscripted labor and were being dumped on the markets of the world.

Ministers of provincial governments were urged, in a third resolution, to advocate the use of Canadian lumber in bridges, trestles, culverts and similar structures.

WOULD PREVENT DUMPING OF COAL

VICTORIA, B. C., Feb. 4.—Prevention of the dumping of bituminous coal from the United States into Canada will be urged upon the government, which will be asked to continue the subvention on eastern British Columbia and Alberta coal through central Canadian markets.

Publicity will be broadened with a view to securing increased markets for coal mined in British Columbia.

These were the chief points on which action was taken today by the research committee of the British Columbia coal industry, which met under the chairmanship of Hon W. A. McKenzie, minister of mines.

Million Pounds of Honey Per Year, B.C.

VICTORIA, Geb. 4—There has been a remarkable increase in honey production in the province of recent years. Nineteen years ago it was less than 5000 pounds per annum. For 1930 it will be approximately a million pounds. In spite of this rapid increase, consumption in the provnce is still far ahead of production.

BLAMES SELF FOR RISE OF RASPUTIN IN RUSSIAN COURT

Archbishop Theophan, Found in Insane Mutterings in Bulgaria

SOFIA, Bulgaria, Feb. 4.—(AP)—Mumbling self-accusations of having brought about the downfall of the Russian dynasty by introducing Rasputin, "the black monk," at the court of the czar, Archbishop Theophan, former rector of the Orthodox Russian academy in old St. Petersburg, tonight was interned in an insane asylum here.

The archbishop was discovered, demented and bemoaning his past, in a suburb of this city. Physicians declared his mind had been affected

In the days of the old regime in St. Petersburg, now Leningrad, Theophan, because of his high place in the church, had standing at the court. He heard of the ambitious monk, Rasputin, who had left an humble peasant home to reach the capital after many pilgrimages.

SYMPATHIZED WITH RASPUTIN

Sympathizing with the ardor of Rasputin, the archbishop presented him to the royal court. There he soon gained a foothold, becoming a favorite with the emperor and empress, and exerted tremendous power at the court.

During his sojourn under the royal roof Rasputin became notorious for his debaucheries. His doctrine of "sin in order that you may obtain forgiveness," was followed by many. His sway continued until 1916 when he was dispatched by a bullet after dining at the palace of Prince Yussupoff with a group of prominent men.

Archbishop Theophan fled from Russia when the Soviet regime was proclaimed.

MEXICAN DOLLAR DROPS TO A NEW LOW, 21.5 CENTS

SHANGHAI, Feb. 4.—(AP)—The Mexican dollar declined to a new low of 21.5 cents gold today, the slump further broadening its threat to the economic existence of China.

While commercial interests and numerous departments of the government long have felt the pinch of cheap silver, another arm of the Nationalist regime became involved today when Nanking advices said the ministry of railways was facing financial ruin because of the continued slump.

The reports said a great portion of the ministry's obligations were payable in gold, which it was unable to supply with silver constantly decreasing in value.

Manchuria, heretofore the only consistently prosperous area in China, also was reported dangerously near a crisis because of the paralyzing effects of the silver slump. Mukden advices said the economic depression in Manchuria had reached proportions and were becoming steadily worse.

Soy beans and wheat exports, the backbone of Manchurian foreign trade, were virtually at a standstill and numerous lines of business were bankrupt. Reports said Manchurian railway revenues had dropped alarmingly. Harbin advices stated the silver decline had resulted in severe losses throughout Manchuria.

The 100 garment workers went on strike today in protest against a wage-cut which in some cases they said amounted to nearly one-third.

GRAIN TRADE WITH ORIENT INCREASE

VICTORIA, Feb. 4—In spite of business depression Canadian grain trade with the orient from British Columbia ports showed a satisfactory increase of approximately 1,600,000 bushels of wheat shipped to Asiatic countries in 1930 as compared with 1929. Japan also took 110,481 barrels of flour more than in the previous year.

WANTS STEVENS TO VIEW SILVER DOLLAR MATTER

EXCHANGE MAKES ORIENT A POOR WHEAT MARKET

Bag 50 Pounds Flour Can Be Laid Down in Shanghai for 88 Cents

WASHINGTON, D. C., Feb. 4. (By Ken Clark, Canadian Press staff writer)—The rate of exchange operating against China is chiefly responsible for the fact that that country at present is not a good market for wheat and flour from Canada and the United States, it was said at the federal farm board offices today.

A report to the board shows that a 50-pound bag of flour may be laid down at Shanghai for 88 cents. But this is purchased under the rate of exchange by Chinese for $3.32. The cost of transport from Shanghai throughout the country, it was pointed out, is high and disturbed conditions make commercial transactions uncertain.

No surprise was expected at the board offices when attention was directed to a report from Tokyo that Hon. Herbert H. Marler, Canadian minister to Japan, had said that China offered no market at present.

Sam R. McKelvie, chairman of the coarse grains committee of the board, said, "China has been a good market. We shipped some flour from the north Pacific coast in the early part of last year."

PENNY ISSUES USURP TORONTO MARKET SALES

TORONTO, Feb. 4 (CP)—Renewed speculative buying created more interest in the higher priced gold stocks on the Standard Mining exchange today and at the same time resulted in a firmer price tone in all groups. McIntyre Gold was the most prominent in the gain column, moving up 75 to close at $23. Lake Shore advanced 30c to $26.50, making a net gain of 70c in the last two days.

VETERANS COME TO HEAD OF THE WINNIPEG SPIEL

WINNIPEG, Man., Feb. 4.—(CP)—Lesser lights of curling's cosmopolitan fraternity struggled to keep apace with the chosen few in Manitoba's 53rd annual bonspiel today—but fell gradually to the background. Titled rinks, seeking major tournament trophies and entry to the Dominion finals, advanced in almost solid formation through the carnival's second-day schedule.

Three campaign-tested Winnipeg rinks and a veteran entry from Minnesota alight headed a shortening list of unbeaten squads. Gordon Hudson and Ness Wise piloted their favored Strathcona fours to wins in the Birks' trophy event, Howard Wood skipped his Granite club rink to a victory in the same event and Ker Dunlop's St. Paul, Minn., team also recorded a win.
