LLOYD GEORGE POKES FUN AT MR. CHURCHILL

Would Sentence Him to Push Baby Carriage for Month Along Roadway

PENMAENMAWR, Wales, May 21.—Back in his own division of Carnovan, Hon. David Lloyd George passed sentence on Winston Churchill, chancellor of the exchequer tonight. In a fighting speech replete with humor and dramatic incidents, he elaborated on the need for a greater road system, in the building of which he hoped to solve the unemployment problem, if he is given power to do so.

The Liberal leader first charged the chancellor with raiding the road fund of $150,000,000, garnered by taxation of motorists and the like, because "he had so mismanaged the finances of the treasury that he could not get the money any other way."

Then, in a vein strongly remindful of his famous "Dartmoor shepherd," episode of many years ago, Mr. Lloyd George sketched a picture of a poor old woman nervously pushing a baby carriage along a road without any footpath, in constant danger.

"I will tell you what I would like to do with Mr. Churchill," he added with a dramatic gesture. "I would condemn him for a whole month to push a baby carriage along a road without any footpaths," the idea of the versatile chancellor of the exchequer pushing a babay carriage along a busy motor road without sidewalks for a month or so, delighted the crowd that it was some minutes before he could continue his address.

Mr. Lloyd George had a challenge for the prime minister as well. He demanded Premier Baldwin to name just one expert in electricity, telephones, or road making, who would be willing to come out and condemn the Liberal scheme for reducing unemployment.

British Steamer With Fire in Hold Makes San Francisco Safely

SAN FRANCISCO, May 21.—The British steamer Trevanion found a haven in this port today after her crew of 36 men battled a fire in her hold for two days. An S. O. S. call broadcast from the ship this morning sent a fire boat and two tugs to her aid as she headed full speed for San Francisco harbor. The vessel was en route to Victoria, B. C., from Antilla, Cuba, with a cargo of sugar. The fire was still blazing when she dropped anchor here.

NEW WESTMINSTER, May 21.—Egnot Pronick, 62, charged with the murder of John A. Bodaly, March 5 at Glen Valley, was acquitted by a jury in assize court here this afternoon. Testifying in his own defence, Pronick admitted that he wounded Bodaly and that he had done so in self defence.

OTTAWA, May 21.—Second reading was given in the senate tonight for a bill for the readjustment of salaries of postal workers in western Canada, dismissed during the Winnipeg strike of 1919.

NELSON MADE HIT UNPARALLELED IN SPOKANE HISTORY

With Over 200 in Party and Its Bands and Other Items, Visit Notable

FLYING FIELD VISITED; HONOR PAID TO FALLEN

Kerr Gets South Idaho Shriners for Three Days Here; Has Four Other Deals

"Nothing ever 'went over' in Spokane quite the way our Nelson visit did, as I was assured over and over again," declared J. A. Kerr, chairman of the board of trade excursion committee, who arrived home ths morning at 1:30 in about the first car that got home.

"There were practically or quite 200 in the Nelson party I do not yet know the exact number. There were some 60 rooms taken by Nelson visitors at the Davenport, 31 at the Coeur d'Alene, and 6 at the Spokane, besides smaller allotments at the Pennington and elsewhere.

"We got credit for our numbers, and for taking two bands, and an orcrestra, the latter being with the Bugle band. The kilties were immensely popular, and played Monday night at four hotels, one club, two theaters, and the Spokesman-Review, and yesterday did repeat engagements by request. While the Bugle band, through a misunderstanding, did not play Monday night, is was much admired as, 24 strong, it led the parade to the Chamber of Commerce building.

600 AT LUNCHEON.

"It is estimated that the chamber of commerce luncheon had 600 diners, and many were present who failed to get accommodation at the tables. The address of Ven. Archdeacon Fred H. Graham was wildly applauded, and in the afternoon a Spokane banker who was unable to be present rang me up to say how much he had enjoyed the address by radio.

"In the forenoon about 50 of us went out to the flying field, 22 of us going up in planes, while Alderman J. F. Coates and C. F. Sedgwick interviewed the officials and obtained date.

"After the luncheon, the American Legion furnished 10 cars to take the Bugle band and members of the Canadian Legion to the cemetery for laying of wreaths at the soldiers' plot.

"Everywhere newspaper photographers were busy 'getting' the bands on parade, the ceremony at the cemetery, and the Kilties before the Coeur d'Alene hotel, all which scenes will later appear in Spokane and elsewhere.

"E. F. Bitler of the Spokesman-Review advertising staff took the Kilties out to Natatorium park in the afternoon, nad the Nelson visitors were everywhere shown attention.

"On every hand we were told Nelson had made an enormous hit. Scores of individuals besought us for information on the roads, and promised to pay visits to our city.

"Before leaving, I closed with the representatives of the Shriners of southern Idaho to visit Nelson July 13, 14 and 15.

"I have negotiations on with four other big groups, all of Spokane, and will go down again Friday to close them."

SCOTTISH CHURCHES ARE ON VERGE UNION

EDINBURGH, Scotland, May 21.—The presence of the Duke of York as lord high commissioner and the general expectation that reunion of the Scottish Presbyterian churches would be the outcome of the deliberations marked the opening sessions of the Church of Scotland and United Free church general assemblies today, with more than usual interest.

After 20 years of negotiations, the two bodies, sitting for the last time as separate gatherings are expected to conclude the formalities of reunion in a short time.

The membership of the Church of Scotland is practically unanimous for union, but a small minority in the United Free church are keen to organize a continuing church.

Body of Snow Slide Victim Is Recovered Amid Snow at Reno Gold Mine Near Salmo

"Three Musketeers" Fail in Attempt at Endurance Record

ROOSEVELT FIELD, New York, May 21.—The "three musketeers" were forced down tonight less than six hours after their take-off in an effort to establish a new refueling endurance record flight.

Damage to the right stabilizer in an attempt to pick up fuel from the ground caused the plane to land.

The plane had dropped down to refuel for the fourth time. A hook on the end of a cable suspended from the plane, which is designed to operate a catapult that hurls containers of gas toward the plane, struck a rope. On the rebound the hook became entangled in the rear o fthe plane, tearing a hole in the stabilizer.

Clarke said repairs could be made tonight and the plane would take off tomorrow morning on a second attempt to beat the record of the "Question Mark."

VERNON MAN WILL REGRADE CIVIL SERVICE IN B. C.

Colonel Ross Napier Chosen to Do Work; Will Take Year to Complete Survey.

VICTORIA, May 21.—British Columbia's entire civil government will be reclassified and regraded, and Colonel Ross Napier, government agent at Vernon, will supervise this work, it was announced at parliament buildings today.

Colonel Napier will consult with deputy ministers as a kind of advisory committee to give him the information he will require. He will go through every department, find out what every employee is doing, what he is being paid and whether his salary is commensurate with his work. It is expected the regrading will require about a year. Meanwhile the government has provided $75,000 to be spend in the present fiscal year on increases in salary to deserving officials. It is expected the money will be allocated on Colonel Napier's recommendation during the year and before his final report is complete, which should be about ready for the legislature at its next session.

Mercury Remains High Nelson and District

Nelson and district experienced another mid-summer day yesterday when the mercury reached a maximum of 82 degrees, only one degree below that of the prevous day, which was the hottest this year to date. The minimum temperature was considerably lower, dropping to 44, eight degrees lower than the preceding day.

The humidity reached the danger point by 5 o'clock yesterday afternoon, when a mark of 30 was recorded. At 8 o'clock in the morning it was 54 and at 2 p. m. it was 35.

Endurance Plane Has Now Done Over 60 Hours in the Sky

FORT WORTH, Texas, May 21.—Two commercial aviators, determined to set a new refueling endurance flight record, continued to soar above Fort Worth tonight.

At 11:40 p.m., Central standard time, they had been in the air 60 hours and 7 minutes.

The army plane, "Question Mark" which set the present world's record of 150 hours, carried a crew of five men.

Charles Woodrow Buried in Deepest Part of Slide End of January

Entombed for nearly four months under approximately 540,000 cubic feet of snow weighing hundreds of tons, the body of Charles O. Woodrow, pioneer prospector and hunter of the Kootenays, was discovered about 9 o'clock yesterday morning in about the center of what remained of the huge slide that claimed his life on the afternoon of January 31 as he was working about a third of a mile from the Reno mine, clearing a snow drift from the road to Salmo. The discovery was made by R. B. Neily, mine superintendent, who had had men conducting a search twice daily for some time past, as the snow daily dwindled with the approach of summer.

CORONER NOTIFIED.

Provincial police, Dr. H. B. Morrison of Nelson, business associate and close friend of Mr. Woodrow, and Dr. H. H. MacKenzie of Nelson, coroner, were immediately notified. Dr. Morrison and Dr. MacKenzie left for the mine immediately, as did Constable R. Henley of the provincial police at Salmo.

A coroner's jury was empanelled yesterday afternoon and after being viewed, the body was sent in to Nelson for burial. The body was apparently well-preserved. Funeral arrangements will probbaly be completed on Thursday.

As was believed at the time of the tragedy, Mr. Woodrow was caught in the deepest part of the slide, judging from the location of the body when it was discovered. The full force of the slide must have struck him, hurling him ifnto a draw and piling up on top of him.

THREE OTHERS ESCAPED.

About 4:30 on the afternoon of January 31, Mr. Woodrow was working on the road to the Reno mine, about a third of a mile from the camp. Three other men, William Hamilton, a tractor driver, Alex Starey and Mike Stromac were working a short distance from him. With no more warning than a deep rumble a fraction of a second before, hundreds of tons of snow virtually dropped from the mountainside on top of Mr. Woodrow, sweeping him from the road into a draw below.

The other three men, caught on a flank of the main slide, were hurled 150 feet below the road but came to a stop on the surface and returned immediately to Mr. Woodrow's rescue. Every miner at the camp was pressed into service under Superintendent O. C. Thompson and searched till darkness but to no avail. The following day the search was continued and then on the thrid and fourth days Mr. Woodrow's dog from Nelson, in charge of Dr. H. B. Morrison and Constable H. Vickers of the provincial police, searched in vain. On the fifth day a German police dog, owned by Mr. Hanson of Sheep Creek, failed to find a trace and the search was practically given up until spring, except for occasional digging and probing by miners off duty.

SUCCEEDING SLIDES.

The danger of succeeding slides, two of which came down since the tragedy, made it a risky piece of work. The two slides piling up on top of the original slide, made it just that much longer before the body could be recovered.

A pioneer of the Kooteney, both in prospecting and hunting, Mr. Woodrow had had numerous escapes from death in the hills and valleys of the district. He had successfully ridden slides, one time in 1904, being carried 600 feet by an avalanche above the town of

TORY QUOTATIONS RISE IN BETTING

LONDON, May 21.—Renewed demand for Conservative "election majorities" featured today's stock exchange betting on the general election. The Conservative quotation rose two points to 278—282. Labor lost two points at 238—242, and Liberals were unchanged at 90—94. Some buying of "independent results" was reported, the price rising two points to 6—8.

Major G. H. Scott, chosen by the British government to pilot the great R-100 on its maiden voyage to Canada.

CRUICKSHANK IS NAMED SUCCESSOR DUNWOODY, NELSON

Will Become Inspector of Provincial Police Following Dunwoody's Move to Coast.

VICTORIA, May 21.—Important changes in the highest offices of the provincial police were announced at headquarters here today.

Inspector Walter Owen, assistant to Superintendent McMullin, will become warden of Oakalla jail.

William G. McMynn, present warden, will be superannuated, having reached that age.

Inspector W. R. Dunwoody, with headquarters at Nelson, will be moved to Vancouver in charge of the Vancouver provincial police district.

Inspector Forbes Cruickshank will be moved from Vancouver to succeed Inspector Dunwoody at Nelson in charge of the southern interior.

This re-organization of executive posts will become effective June 1 and is considered desirable in the interests of efficiency, it was stated officially. No other changes than those mentioned are contemplated at this time, Superintendent McMullin said.

The plans outlined abolish the present post of assistant to the superintendent, held formerly by Inspector Owen who now goes to Oakalla. With the corps of inspectors under him the superintendent can administer the force without a special assistant, it has been decided. In line with the policy of Attorney-General Pooley in leaving the administration of the provincial police to the superintendent, no comment on the new changes was made. It was understood, however, that the re-organization was instituted by Colonel McMullin following the attorney-general's instruction that he should take full responsibility for all appointments and dismissals and of the conduct of the force generally without interference from the government.

COLD WEATHER IS DELAYING SEEDING

TORONTO, May 21.—Apprehension over the backward spring season is being felt generally among farmers throughout the western and southwestern parts of Ontario. Farmers are becoming much concerned over the delay to seeding by heavy rains and continued cool weather. In most instances throughout this section of the province seeding is from 10 days to two weeks behind and in some districts three weeks.

The Niagara fruit district has not reported any appreciable damage to trees and vines, but particularly all farm crops are delayed.

FORMER NELSON MAN KILLED BY PASSING TRAIN

A. D. Manuel Attempts to Cross Track in Front of Passenger Train

TRAIN SEVERS HIS HEAD FROM HIS BODY

Is Former Resident of Nelson, Frank and Moyie; Jury Sits on Tragedy

CRESTON, B. C., May 21.—A. D. Manuel was the victim of a shocking fatality this afternoon, when he was run over by the westbound passenger train and had his head completely severed from his body. The unfortunate man, who is about 60 years of age, and naturally slow of gait, was coming to the depot at the level crossing, about 100 feet north of the station, just as the train was pulling in and despite warnings that were shouted to him to keep back, he persisted in continuing his journey with such tragic effect.

Although deceased is a little hard of hearing and a few freight cars on the team track on the east side partly obscured his view, the mishap would appear to be entirely due to bad judgment. It would appear as if deceased was convinced he could get across safely, and all but succeeded, as he was caught between the platform, which is about 16 inches above the track, and the rail next the platform, and hurled under the engine.

Mr. Manuel has been a resident here for the past 12 years, coming here from Blairmore, Alta., where he was a well-known figure in business circles, having conducted a hotel in Frank for many years.

WIFE AND SONS.

Coming to Creston, his wife opened up a small store which they conducted for several years, though of late Mrs. Manuel has been running a boarding house, and Mr. Manuel has worked at various jobs. He is survived by a wife and two sons, William, who is at present in training at the military camp at Vernon, and Herbert, who is also absent from home.

The bodys was taken in charge by the provincial police and Coroner Dr. Henderson summoned, the train being detained here until the coroner had arrived to make the preliminary enquiry before releasing the train crew. A jury was summoned.

Mr. Manuel is a former resident of Nelson, having been employed here about 30 years ago as a carpenter. He worked with the Gillette contracting firm before the advent of the firm of John Burns & Son. He at one time was manager of the Frank hotel and was a resident in that settlement before and after the tragic slide. He also resided for a time at Moyie.

Gene Tunney, Retired Heavyweight Champ, Sued for Half Million for Breach of Promise

BRIDGEPORT, Conn., May 21.—Legal papers in a half million dollar suit in which the allegation is breach of pjromise to marry, to be docketed, Mrs. Katherine King Forgarty versus James J. (Gene) Tunney, retired heavyweight champion of the world, tonight weighed down the pocket of a deputy sheriff who had headed for court to file thef and stopped short of his destination.

The suit became a matter of record when Deputy Sheriff Michael T. Ryan of Stamford received the complaint and accompanying papers from Deputy Sheriff Haley of New Haven and attached the old-time house which Tunney intended to transform in to a colonial country home for his bride, who was Polly Lauder, garnisheed any possible bank accounts in Stamford and Greenwich banks and entered records of his work with Town Clerk George R. Close of Stamford.

A copy of complaint which sets forth Mrs. Fogarty's claim against Tunney, says that she met Tunnel early in 1925 when he was training at Hot Springs, Ark., and that on May 29 that year she obtained a divorce from John S. Fogarty at Fort Worth, Texas. Five days later, she avers, and subsequent days, Tunney proposed to her and she agreed to marry him. She is ready to comply with the request now, the complaint runs, but the retired champion "married another person."

Gene Tunney

To set up her claim of damages, Mrs. Fogarty says she suffered such "mental shocks' because of Tunney's recent marriage that she has been under the care of physicians ever since due to nervous condition.

Mrs. Fogarty has a son, Merrill, aged 10.

SAYS NOTHING IN IT

NEW YORK, May 21.—George W. Whiteside, attorney for Gene Tunney, made public today copies of an affidavit over the signature of Mrs. Katherine King Fogarty and dated July 24, 1928, stating that the former heavyweight champion was under no obligation to her.

Whiteside said that prior to her action today in preparing to file papers in a $500,000 breach of promise action, Mrs. Fogarty had made numerous threats of damaging publicity, culminating in insistent demands just before Tunney's last fight. Her claims were investigater at that time he said, and found to be without merit.

ing, local weather observer today. Mr. Dennison believed that this might be felt where irrigation was practiced, as in the Okanagan.

Weather conditions were backward throughout British Columbia and Alberta, Mr. Dennison said. In northern Alberta it was dry while in the south it was wet, but due to cold weather, or at least cold nights, the precipitation did not have the proper effect.

TOUR OF INSPECTION

Mr. Dennison is on a tour of inspection of meteorological instruments stationed throughout the province and is paying especial attention to the instruments used in determining the humidity. His department is cooperating with the forestry department by supplying information as to when the forest fire hazzard is prevalent, which is determined by the humidity.

He left Victoria on May 5 and travelled east as far as Calgary and then northwest to Dominion forestry stations including Rocky Mountain house, Goldpour, Stave lake and Pincher creek. He came back through the Crows Nest visiting Cranbrook on his way to Nelson.

TO VISIT CARIBOO

From here he will go to Arrowhead, Revelstoke and back again to the Dominion forestry railway belt, to Salmon Arm and Kamloops. From Ashcroft he will work northward on the Cariboo road to Barkerville, one of the old original mining towns on that route, and on to Prince George. From there he will go to Jasper Park and then back to Victoria.

"I have noticed since I left Victoria, the apparent remarkable wave of prosperity throughout the country," Mr. Dennison said. "There is a large number of people coming into the province apparently, and the growth of the districts is particularly noticeable."

CHANGES MADE IN PASTORAL CHARGES IN THE DISTRICT

United Church Conference Approves Discouraging of Mining Speculation

VANCOUVER, May 21.—Approval of the efforts of the legislature of British Columbia to discourage the formation of companies for the purpose of speculation in oils or mines, was expressed in part of the report of the committee on evangelism and social service, presented at the annual conference of the United church in session in Wesley church today. The report also recommended that steps be taken to assist prisoners in the jails of the province on their release and also to inquire into the condition of the jails and to make recommendations where conditions require remedy.

About 40 changes in pastoral charges were effected or ratified by the settlement committee.

Changes made at interior points included: Fernie, D. Gray; Kaslo, E. L. Best; Michel, T. C. Caldwell; Slocan, A. E. Stephenson; Wardner, W. Rickaby; Windermere, J. A. Rowland.

Regard in which Warren Worsley is held by friends in Fenelon was shown recently in presentation of gold watch and chain, prior to his recent removal to Fenelon Falls.

Carrying further the idea of matching shoes in color and material with evening dresses, comes that of having leather or suede shoes the same color as the hat worn with summery afternoon dresses, or of the prevalent color note of the ensemble.

A novel race is scheduled on Sunday, May 19, between an automobile and an outboard motorboat from New York City to Peekskill, the idea being to see which arrives first.

THIS SUMMER MAY BE HOTTER, DRIER THAN LAST YEAR

Meteorological Data at Victoria Suggest Probability, Say Dennison

That the erroneous statement that spread throughout Canada and parts of United States that F. N. Dennison of the Dominion meteorological bureau at Victoria had forecast one of the "hottest and driest summers" in years for 1929, was the work of an over-enthusiastic reporter of a Seattle newspaper, was the statement last night of Mr. Dennison who is in Nelson on a tour of meteorological stations in the west.

Mr. Dennison told how he had given a "story" to a reporter after he had delivered a paper at a meeting of the Western Forestry association at Seattle in March on "Can long range weather forecasts be made in relation to forest fire hazards?"

TEMPERATURES HIGHER

Mr. Dennison had prepared a paper which was well received at the meeting. It was prepared from meteorological data obtained from the reports of the various stations throughout British Columbia extending from Victoria, where records date back to 1874, north to Hewitt lake. From this it was seen that the average temperature of the summer months during the past 12 years had shown a marked increase and that the precipitation for the summer months over the same period had shown a decrease.

It was shown by running through the whole meteirological observations, dating back in the case of Victoria to 1874, that there were weather cycles, including a six-year period and a 12½ year period.

From all this it was suggested at the meeting that it was probable that the summer of 1929 might be as hot or hotter and as dry or drier than the preceding one.

That was the information given out but the Seattle newspaper appeared with a story leading off with words to the effect that Mr. Dennison had forecast that the summer of 1929 would be the "hottest and driest for a century". This was spread over the continent by wire, the article bringing forth editorials commenting on the coming summer in many newspapers, including Montreal paper.

BRADFORD SEAT

As far as Bradford is concerned, the most that can be said is that E. Ramsden, Conservative former member, is likely to retain the north division. In the east division, T. D. Fenby, Liberal, has a good chance of once again defeating F. W. Jowett, Labor, in the central division, W. Leach, Labor, may regain the seat he lost in 1924 to Lieutenant Colonel A. D. Gadie, Conservatave. The south division sees an attempt by G. W. Ferrand, Conservative to wrest the seat from W. Hirst, Labor, who had a majority of 2333 in 1924. The result in other divisions of West Yorkshire is likely to be a case of "as you were" as far as can be estimated.

SIMON SAFE

Sir John Simon is apparently safe in Spenvalley, for though many Conservatives think he should have kept out of the party arena in view of his leadership on the Indian statutory commission, they realize no pledge of neutrality was required when they decided not to oppose him in his own riding and they are certain it is in the best interests of the empire that he should be in parliament with the report of his commission is dealt with.

Right Hon. Phillip Snowden, former Labor chancellor of the exchequer, is not likely to lose his hold in Cone and Col. G. R. Lane-Fox, Conservative, in Barkstone-Ash and Major J. W. Hills, Conservative, in Ripon are both also pretty safe.

The mining districts may be regarded as certain to vote Labor as usual.

The Conservatives are also making a strong attempt to win Keighley, but as in so many other constituencies the "glorious uncertainty" of the ballot box makes prophesy more than ordinarily dangerous.

ARE SPENDING $15,000 ON THE CREAMERY HERE

Curlew Enlarging Milk Plant; New Machinery Will Be Installed

Extensions to the value of $15,000 are being made to the plant of the Curlew creamery here, according to D. D. Townsend, manager of the company. The enlargements, which are to be an addition mainly to the milk plant, will, when completed, practically double the present size of the creamery. Mr. Townsend states that the efficiency of the milk handling department will be greatly increased, as the equipment to be installed is absolutely modern and labor saving.

Among the new machines being put in is a new ice machine having a capacity of 10 tons. This addition will, Mr. Townsend states, bring the total ice-making capacity of the creamery up to 17 tons. Other pieces of machinery to be installed are an automatic milk bottler and capper, a 300-gallon ice-cream mixer, a glass enclosed milk cooler, which will about treble the present milk cooling capacity, and a 300-gallon milk pasteurizer.

Mr. Townsend expects that the additional equipment will be in use some time in the next few weeks.

DISCUSS DIVORCE AND RESIDENCE

Members Discuss Case of Woman Deserted by Husband Obtaining Divorce

OTTAWA, May 21.—There is immediate need for legislation to make it possible for married women to establish a domicile and more readily obtain divorce, C. E. Bothwell, Liberal, Swift Current, declared in the house tonight.

The house was in committee on a bill respecting the domicile of married women in proceedings for divorce, when Mr. Bothwell made his comment. As an amendment to the bill under consideration, Mr. Bothwell proposed that provision be made for a married woman who, either before or after the passage of the act had been deserted and had been living apart from her husband two years, to establish her domicile in any province where there were divorce facilities that she might obtain a divorce..

Hon. Earnest Lapointe, minister of justice, once more opposed the bill, declaring he felt the effect of the measure would be to increase facilities for obtaining divorce. Hon. R. B. Bennett, Conservative leader, favored the measure. Surely a woman who had been abandoned by her husband was entitled to a chance to establish her own domicile for divorce purposes, said the Conservative leader.

Debate was adjourned as private members' hour expired.

Neville Chamberlain Able Candidate

LONDON, May 21.—When Austen Chamberlain followed his father to Westminster, ever so many years back, Brother Neville remained at home down in Birmingham. Until comparatively late in life he never evinced any ambition for politics of the parliamentary kind, preferring to take a hand in the welfare of his native city of which he was a popular lord mayor.

During the war Mr. Llody George made a discovery of Neville Chamberlain and appointed him minister of national service. He was later postmaster-general and for a few months chancellor of the secretary, but he has achieved his greatest success as minister of health.

No doubt his thorough training in municipal government has been invaluable to him in this office.

He has been the pilot in parliament of the momentous scheme for he derating of industry. His department has also done much in the way of cancer research and in fighting tuberculosis and diphtheria.

If returned again the Conservatives promise to renew a vigorous combat with maternal morality and this duty, it is certain, will fall largely on the shoulders of Mr. Chamberlain.

International Peace Is Aim of Liberals, Says Sir J. Simon

LONDON, May 21.—A solution of the unemployment problem, urgently though it is needed, is not the end of the Liberal party's program. Sir John Simon, former cabinet minister, said in an election speech in South London today.

"If I choose one thing for which a revived and united Liberal party in he next parliament should stand for, I would put first and foremost the promotion by every practical means of a new and still more urgent movement in support of international peace," the eminent Liberal and chairman of he Indian statutory commission declared.

"I also believe a united Liberalism in the next four or five years might make a special contribution to the promotion of industrial peace."

Who nursed me as a baby small,
When I could scarcely see at all
And held me tight lest I should fall?
My Mother.

Who was it took me on her knee
And sang sweet lullabies to me
Till off to Dreamland I would be?
My Mother.

Who dressed me up in clothes so neat
From curly hair to tiny feet
And kissed the rose upon my cheek?
My Mother.

And when in sickness I did lie,
Who tended me with many a sigh
And said a prayer to God on high?
My Mother.

Then when my schooldays had begun
She watched from morn till set of sun
And waited on my safe return.
My Mother

Who was it when I played around
And cut my knees on stony ground
My wound she'd gently bandage round?
My Mother.

Who taught me how to say my prayers
And bend the knee in reverence there
To thank God for his heavenly care?
My Mother.

Then I grew up and thought I'd roam
seek a fortune o'er the foam,
Who wished that I were still at home?

PROHIBITION IS DEBATE FEATURE IN THE HOUSE

Woodsworth Suggests Refusal of Action Along Line is "Unfriendly"

PROPOSES GOVERNMENT MANUFACTURE LIQUOR

Euler Says Canada Doing Her Share to Erradicate Bootlegging Across Border

OTTAWA, May 21.—Should Canada grant clearance for the liquor shipments which are intended to be taken into the United States contrary to the prohibition law of that country?

This was the question brought to the house today by J. S. Woodsworth, Labor, Winnipeg north center, and it occasioned lengthy debate with Hon. W. D. Euler, minister of national revenue, relating to the government's position in the whole problem of liquor exports.

The United States had intimated that is would like the Dominion to refuse clearance to liquor crafts and Mr. Woodsworth took the ground that refusal of the Dominion government to take action along the lines suggested by the United States, constituted an unfriendly act toward that country. It was not a neighborly act that Canada should have taken no steps to put on end to the trafficking in liquor. As a result of the continued smuggling, there was a prohibition fleet, well armed, patrolling the Great lakes, and both the Atlantic and Pacific coast lines. The assertion that the Canada and United States boundary line was unprotected by defence was erroneous and the presence of these armed craft was a continual threat to peace along the border.

GOVERNMENT MANUFACTURE

During his address the Labor member suggested that as the great majority of the provinces of Canada were committed to the policy of government sale of liquor, there should also be government manufacture. Not only should the government manufacture the liquor, but it should sell it at cost. This would eliminate the bootlegger.

In reply, Mr. Euler reviewed the recent association with the demand of the United States that Canada prohibit clearance to liquor laden vessles bound for United States ports and he expressed the opinion that to grant the prohibition of cleatances would not remedy the situation for the release from breweries would also have to be prohibited.

In the United States, vessels under five tons needed no clearance nor did they require to report their return to port. Canada demanded clearance for all vessles. If the United States were to put the same rule into effect it would assist he said, very materially in eradicating the liquor trafficking problem. Canada had done many things to assist the United States in enforcing the liquor laws of that country and Mr. Euled was sure the Dominion was dealing in a fair way with a friendly nation.

Says Extradition Will Solve Problem Of Smuggling, U. S. A.

WASHINGTON, May 21.—The United States is greatly handicapped in prosecution of violators of liquor and narcotic laws by reason of lack of a provision for extradition for these offences, Seymour Lowman, assistant secretary of the treasury, in charge of customs, prohibition and coast guard, told the Canadian Press today.

"Until we can get an extradition treaty with Canada so that we can bring back fugitives who go to Canada to escape prosecution for violation of the narcotic and liquor laws in the United States, we are greatly handicapped," he said. He added there were probably more narcotics smuggled from the United States into Canada than from the Dominion into this country.

With reference to the rum-running problem on the Canadian border, the secretary said his department now has several hundred men watching the line. Most of the liquor smuggled into the United States comes, he said, either across the Canadian border or down along the Atlantic coast from St. Pierre Miquelon and on this route most of the vessels engaged in the running are Canadian.

NATURAL GOODNESS
—toothsome and tempting

Puffed Rice is Good, too

Quaker Puffed Rice is exploded the same way as Puffed Wheat, and is equally delicious. Full of the ready energy of the finest white rice. For variety, keep both kinds in the house.

AN ENTIRELY DIFFERENT kind of cereal is Quaker Puffed Wheat. Airy deliciousness and toasted crunchiness are combined with all the nutriment of the grain supreme. The wheat bran is retained, but you would not notice it, so delicately is it concealed.

Puffing the wheat grain to eight times its natural size cooks it thoroughly and explodes millions of food cells in each grain. Rich stores of protein, carbohydrates and minerals are released for easy digestion. Each puffed grain has a tempting, nut-like flavout that always intrigues a lagging appetite.

Always have Quaker Puffed Wheat ready to serve at any meal or at any time between meals. It is relished when fickle appetites set other food aside.

WHAT THE NEW TAX MEANS

A table prepared by authorities of the Vancouver Stock exchange dealing with the 1-16ths of a day's transactions shows that whereas the present tax on these sales is $24.26, the new revised scale passed by the house of commons last week will raise the rate to $782.35.

The transactions cover stocks selling at up to $175 a share.

While the new scale has been forced through parliament it does not become effective until July 1 and it may still be possible to have it changed.

The fight should be continued and as far as the coast is concerned with considerably more vigor than in the past. Both Vancouver and Toronto displayed far less energy in fighting the new scale than might have been expected, and it seems that it is only recently that they awoke to the serious nature of the tax.

SAVING RURAL LIVES

The Health authorities are awaiting with interest the outcome of Saskatchewan's latest and greatest step in public health organization in rural and semi-rural districts.

"Full time health district No. 1" was organized just a few weeks ago. It unites eight rural municipalities, 14 villages and one town—Gravelburg—in a fight to prevent disease. It will be run very much like the health department in a big city, and will employ a full-time medical officer of health, a public health nurse and a sanitary inspector.

This development is quite in line with the most advanced thinking in public health circles, where it is commonly accepted that the present system of taking care of public health in rural communities especially is, in the words of one eminent authority, "antiquated and inadequate." This new Saskatchewan unit is expected to achieve the same results as have been achieved in, for example, Quebec, where the death rate has ben lowered in several communities by similar "county health units," while at the same time much sickness has been prevented.

Saskatchewan already has the lowest death rate in the British Empire, and it is felt that this forward step will be but the first of many to be taken in the near future.

Under the Public Health act pased in 1928 the municipalities served by these units are to bear one half of the cost, while the other half, for the time being, is being divided between the provincial government and the Rockfeller Foundation.

It is estimated that the cost to the taxpayer for this first-class health protection will be only 35 cents per person per year.

ANSWERS TO INQUIRIES.

R. A.: "I managed to get ink stains out of a tan skirt by soaking the stained portion for one hour in milk—but now I can't remove the rings which the milk left! I have tried gasoline with no success."

Answer: Soak the milk stains in strong borax water, then wash with white naphtha soap and cold water, followed by a warm watre rinse.

M. C.: "Can you (or another reader) tell me how to prepare wax for waxing flowers?"

Answer: Let us hope somebody will write this information on a postal card and mail it to me, in care of this paper, for publication.

Mrs. J. F.: "Some time ago another reader inquired about cleaning the rubber rolls of a clothes wringer. I moisten a soft cloth with kerosene oil, rub this on the soiled portion of the wringer rolls (in fact on any sort of rubber article) and then wash with soap and water and wipe dry. My method is entirely satisfactory, and I thought other women might like to hear of it."

Answer: I am sure many housewives will use your way in future. Thank for sending it in.

A. B. C.: "Can you tell me how to make a fire blanket to keep in my kitchen to use in case the deep-fat kettle caught fire?"

Answer: I have never heard of a fire blanket, but possibly some reader friend can send me directions for making one? A regular hand-extinguisher is splendid to have near the kitchen. Or a good home-made extinguisher is a pail of sand, which, when thrown onto flame, will put fire out. However, if you prefer to make a blanket for this use, I can at least tell you how to fireproof any kind of fabric: Fireproofing: Soak the material in a solution of one pound of ammonium phosphate to one gallon of cold water.

That Body of Yours

By JAS. W. BARTON, M. D.

TOO MUCH STARCHY FOOD

You are the ordinary healthy individual at work every day, and have nothing to complain of from a health standpoint.

However, you find that you have frequently a pain in the abdomen, which while distressing at times, is hardly worth a visit to your doctor.

Sometimes the pain seems to be "under the hearth," at other times ti is at the same point on the other side of the body under the liver. It may also be down on the lower right side of abdomen in the region of the appendix and you quite naturally have a little suspician that it may be appendicitis.

Again it may be on the lower left side of abdomen, or it may even be just under the middle part of abdomen.

Your abdomen feels greatly distended and there is a considerable amount of "gurgling" which you rightly attribute to gas. Perhaps you will be constipated for a few days and then there will be diarrhoea following this. You are thus unable to figure out whether or not you need a purgative medicine, for just about the time you determine to take a purgative, the diarrhoea commences.

Now what is the matter?

Dr. E. S. Emery, Jr., tells us that it is the failure of the digestive apparatus to properly digest the starches in the food that brings about the above symtoms.

Perhaps a few general rules about eating would be of help here, such as; eat slowly, chew your food throughly. Do not hurry your meals, nor be in a hurry before and after meals. Do not eat when hot or excited. Eat only at regular times and just three times a day. Five to six hours between meals. And the particular treatment is to cut down on your starches such as bread and potatoes and avoid hot rolls, hot biscuits, muffins, waffles, an cakes. If the symptoms are at all severe Dr. Emery suggests that you do without starchy foods entirely for a few days. This results in complete relief of the symptoms.

Remember then that much of the pain in the lower abdomen is due to too much starch in so far as your particular body is concerned.

Told in Rime

THE PERSECUTED HERO

Fleet as a swallow in its autumn flight
O'er stormy sea's La Questra's southward bound.
The screaming gale increase throughout the night
And towering waves break with a thunderous sound.

The native shores are many leagues astern
And outlawed from the foreign sheltered bays
La Questras plows ahead, the tempest spurned
That whistles weirdly through her dripping stays.

Like some wild fowl the sturdy ship is seen
To rise and fall among the mountainous swell.
Straight on her course she cuts the churning green
While all around is naught but raging hell.

The tempest rose, waves break and madly race
Across the deck with swirling frothyness.
Then came the call from out of the cloudy space—
The call of helpless sailors in distress.

La Questra's crew are British sailors bold
And bear a proud and noble lineage
Firm in the blood the grand tradition old
Through centuries, no break or sacrilege.

Upon the deck, like Viking chief of old,
Captain Pamphlet stood and read the earnest plea.
Courageous mariner, he will uphold
The ancient code of the turbulent sea.

To the call, the cry from sinking souls,
And Pamphlet steered the vessel's bow around
Out for the wreck on Columbia's shoals,
Where dangerous breakers rolled aground.

The shipwrecked Yankees clung in sorry plight
In trepidation to the broken spars
I thanked the Lord for the glorious sight
The rescue ship with her British tars.

Before the breeze the Union Jack was flowing,
As anchors grip the hard-packed glistening sand
The life boats launched by loyal hearts a-glowing
Unmindful of their load of contraband.

The direful threat of wind and wave defying.
O'er head the clouds hang menacingly dull.
Amidst the cruel, wind-lashed spume a-flying
The perishing are grasped from battered hull.

La Questra's crew the dangers gladly brave
To save their kin no lurking menace fear.
Could they those seamen leave to wat'ry grave
And ever face the world with conscience clear?

The shipwrecked crew is nursed with loving care.
In comfort lay on warm berths down below.
The drenched garments changed for woollen wear
With kindness as a brother would bestow.

The anchors weighed, then veering anxiously,
Captain Pamphlet points her nose through flying spray.
Full steam ahead, she dives for open sea,
The longing spot wherein her safety lay.

So late, across her bow a screaming shell
Fired from racing, armoured vessel near.
In protest, a thunderous echo fell,
Through inky clouds the sizzling lightning sear.
desperate plight ,the agonizing whine
Their native sailors flashed so eagerly
That brought La Questra o'er the danger line
Cannot inspire a kindly memory.

O'er rolling sea another message read
Another crew is saved from dire distress.
Despondency's replaced for joy instead
And heavenward soars the song of thankfulness.

Hark, hear the trumpets sound their gory blast
When rescue ship is moored to English shore.
There valiant crew is spread a king's repast
With princely gifts from Country's richest store.

The rescue ship is crowned like Queen of May,
The Stars and Stripes bedecked with olden wreath.
While on shore the glad survivors pray
God's blessing on the gallant ship bequeath.

Alas, the throngs this noble tribute gave
Could they but see across the raging main
And view La Questras dauntless sailors brave
For valor bound by felon's steely chain.

The dread zone where double dangers wrought
A chivalrous deed much greater than their own
Holds fast interned the gallant crew that fought
And clutched their sons from gave of briny foam.

The days pass by, this hero unacclaimed
In gloomy prison wears a striper garb,
While on the sea his kindred feels ashamed
That Pamphlet's deck is but a felon's yard.

Oh, seamen, cast thy dreary thoughts aside
Through travail sore the splendid code sustain.
Lift up your heads in thankfulness and pride—
'Twere better jail than bear remorse and pain.

Though Warden's files contain a Captain's name,
In Prisoner's breast the pulsing blood's athrill.
With joyful heaft he knows he played the game—
The punishment is mortal tyrant's will.

He grieves not in his dungeon drear confined,
His crime was but an act of chivalry.
For his heroic deed we are inclined
To name him with the heroes of the sea.

The world at large his penalty deplore
And mourns the wish of eath's most proud land.
Face to the wall is turned forever more
That picture frame with love of fellowman.

Love of fellowman, beauteous gift from God
To those who spurn comes endless pain and sorrow.
Full many a race is dead beneath the sod
For broken faith brings grief the morrow.

Guard
the Skin Health of Your Children

To the child, the cut finger, the scratched hand or face, or the bruised knee, maybe just a cut, a scratch, or a bruise—something to be endured or even boast about. But to Mothers these little cuts and bruises mean possible infection—real trouble-makers.

In the bath Lifebuoy soothes the little nicks and knocks of the day's play. Its creamy, antiseptic lather goes deep into the countless tiny pores, cleanses them, opens them up and lets them breathe . . . and stands guard like an invisible shield.

Many mothers have found that Lifebuoy is a real two-purpose soap—that it both cleanses and protects from germs.

These are some of the reasons why in so many Canadian homes the orange-red cake of Lifebuoy is as familiar a sight as the bath tub itself.

Doctors, nurses and school teachers endorse Lifebuoy. Let your family, too, enjoy its benefits.

C. C. U. B. Appeal Is Dismissed From The County Court

Judge W. A. Nisbet Confirms Convictions of Magistrate Cartmel in Marketing Case

Appeal of Christian Community of Universal Brotherhood against a penalty of $500 and costs for an offence against the Produce Marketing act was disallowed in a judgment just handed down by Judge W. A. Nisbet in county court. The Community appealed against the judgment handed down by Stipendiary Magistrate John Cartmel some months ago. The case brought by E. F. Laws of the committee of direction was for failure of the community to make returns on fruits and vegetables shipped during the year 1928.

The main arguments against the conviction by the appellant was that there was no proof that the appellant was a "shipper" within the definition of the act, and that the offence, if any, took place at Kelowna in the county of Yale, and not at Brilliant, in the county of Kootenay, and therefore a magistrate in the county of Kootenay had no jurisdiction to try the case.

In giving reasons for judgment, Judge W. A. Nisbet stated that in the first case it was conclusively proven that the appellant was a shipper of fruits and vegetables, and in the last case of the last argument, returns should have been made at Brilliant therefore according to law the case was rightly tried in the county of Kootenay.

WHEAT VALUES ON DOWN GRADE IN PIT

CHICAGO, May 21.—Widening of the congressional breach over the export debenture plan, together with flattening out of demand from buyers, put wheat values on the down grade today. The drop in prices carried July wheat to below any quotation which it had heretofore touched this season. At the finish wheat was unsettled, ¾ to 1⅜ to 1½ cents net lower, corn 1¼ to 1⅝ cents down, oats ½ to ¾ cent off and provisions exactly unchanged.

CREDIT SITUATION SHROUDS MARKET

Nervous Liquidation on Wall Street; Motors Nervous; Rails Stronger.

NEW YORK, May 21.—The stock market labored under the pressure of a stream of nervous liquidation during most fo today's sesion, although rails and utilities made substantial progress toward higher levels and a rush of short covering in the coppers in the last half hour caused a moderate rally throughout the list.

The credit situation still hovered like a dark cloud over the market. Call money held at 7 per cent.

The action of some of the motor stocks was particularly unsettling in the early trading. Chrysler dropped more than three points to $74, a new low for the year, and General Motors sagged more than a point to $76¾, also a 1929 low, but it made up its loss later. Rumors of a decline in output were current.

In the rails, Chespeake and Ohio, and New York Central sold up six points or more. Anaconda became a a leader, the new stock mounting seven points to ten points. Green Copper and Kennecott also made fair gains.

General Electric regained nine points of yesterday's 20 point drop and Allied Chemical, Auburn Auto, Montgomery Ward, Packard, St. Joseph, lead and Curtiss Aero closed two to six points higher. Radio jumped to $94 in the closing deals.

Case Threshing dropped 17 points and also closed off 11 points.

International Telephone, Electric Auto-Lite, Detroit Edison, Sparks-Withington and Phelps-Dodge three to nine points lower. Federan Mining tumbled 15 points to $220 in a small turnover.

BEAR TRADERS BOSS AT COAST

Prices Hammered to New Lows, Home Oil Spectacular; Mine Prices Off.

VANCOUVER, May 21.—Bear traders were in full control on the stock exchange during the greater part of the morning session, hammering prices down to new low levels, but a greatly increased buying power came into the market during the afternoon and prices moved up with as much force as they fell earlier.

Home Oil was the most spectacular issue on the board, closing with a net gain of 75 cents at $23, after selling down to $20.25 and touching a peak of $23.50. A. P. Consolidated was a heavy trader and was driven down to $3.50, coming back to $4.20 and closing seven cents higher at $4.15. Calmont touched $3.40 and finished with a net loss of ten cents at $4.10. Royalite lost $6 to $153. Dalhousie finished 10 cents firmer at $4.80. Several other issues were five to forty cents stronger. The McDougall issues, McLeod, Southwest Petroleum, Dallas and United were off 20 cents to 40 cents, although strengthening in the late trading.

In the mines the price trend was lower, Beaver Silver, an active trader, being the only issue to move into new high ground. Pend Oreille lost 15 cents to $5.40 while the rights sold down to 11 cents and finished 20 cents lower at 35c. George Copper lost one dollar at $5.25; Big Missouri 15 cents at $1.55 and Golconda 8 cents at $1.40. Reeves McDonald was off 10 cents to $1.60.

Mining Chatter From the East

Wright-Hargreaves' northern advices that on the 700-foot level a five-foot vein running up close to $80 values has been cut, is news.

Dome Mines is picked by many to lead the Porcupine gold camp back from its waning appeal. Dome is obviously on entirely different zones from the other producers, Hollinger, McIntyre and Vipond, which are grouped together.

Dome shareholders were given an ear-full of good news at the annual meeting that may not be forgotten for a while. General Manager DePencier said the ore bodies were practically vertical. President Bache said the mine was no nearer the end of its rope than any time previously, and that $6,000,000 cash "nest egg" whch is being added to at the rate of over $500,000 yearly, shines attractively for shareholders in the million-share company.

Hollinger is reported as being offered a more attractive proposition by the T. &. N. O. railway with regard to building the spur line from Timmins into Kamiskotia. President Timmins practically laid down the ultimatum that Hollinger wasn't ready to carry the whole load of the line into the camp, even though they proposed to erect their own concentrator.

Kamiskotia has been meeting added attention, and there are numerous mining groups with properties staked out, some with considerable development accomplished, waiting for Hollinger's return. One rumor had it that the C. P. R. might even be interested in building a line, although as far back as two years, T. &. N. O. are known to have purchased grvael pits, etc.

Waite-Montgomery shipments of high-grade to the Noranda smelter continue to climb. Three months ago they ran around 4200 tons; in March they topped 5000 tons, and April showed 5383 tons shipped.

Barbara-Marshay, with several hundred Canadian shareholders formerly in Marshay Zinc, has an Ontario government assays report of 25.34 per cent copper from a sample taken off the recent discovery at the Copper Mountain property, Arizona.

While a New York assay sheet gave 25.21 per cent, and 10.07 per cent copper on samples, together with over $1 gold and .70 average oz. silver.

Malartic, the Lindsley enterprise in the Quebec gold camp, 35 miles from Amos, has two diamond drills at work on the 375-foot level and another on surface, with results reported slightly better than shown in underground development. J. C. Rogers and J. P. Norris are supervising.

Malartic a year ago became a market performer, in running close to $2, and was finally followed by published reports of ore narrowing and being cut off, and these in turn officially refuted. Ottawa people hold a big stock interest. The annual meeting in Toronto a few months back told of $5 to $6 grade, but directors optimistic of coming through in the well-known Lindsley aggressiveness.

Interprovincial Exploration is to resume operations as soon as the roads permit bringing in supplies. As the name implies, Interprovincial, with head office in Montreal, has properties in Ontario and large holdings in Ben Nevis Township, Quebec. Slightly over half of the 5,000,000 capital chares are issued.

Amulet has one diamond drill at extreme north of property and one south of the shaft, the first being near North Waite, which rumor again tries to link up as interesting Area in the deal.

Red Lake Centre, holding a majority of lake claims east and northwest of Howey, is reported having had a proposition offered them by an unnamed party, but a Howey official says they are not the ones.

THE OILS

Associated Pacific drilling program calls for 10 wells on Turner Valley and two more on Coutts' district. The outfits will work steadily until the wells are completed. They have a contract with a big Oklahoma drilling company calling spudding in the first well before June 15th and the second by July 15th.

Wainwright Field is very active, eight to 10 wells now under way, with drilling actually started in four. Some of the active companies include Saskoe Wainwright, British Wainwright, Anwood Dome, Fabyan Petroleum and Wainwright Oil & Gas.

Admiral Oils at $1.50 per share will shortly announce a public offering.

Four new western oil companies are reported having been granted Dominion charters. They are Alliance Oils, limited, with one million-share capital; Bullshead Oils, limited, with 400,000 shares no par value; Turner Valley Exploration Co., limited, with capital stock no par value, which may be sold for not more than one million dollars in aggregate, and Warner Oils, limited, which is increasing its capital from 300,000 to one million shares, no par value.

Illinois Alberta No. 2 drilling after being in very hard formation, is now making better progress. Spooner No. 2 well is also showing more daily progress.

Okalta will embark on a campaign calling for another four or five wells this year, according to W. S. Herron, managing director. Cellars for five wells will shortly all be under way at once. Drilling on No. 2 well from the bottom of the Kootenay formation to the limestone was started yesterday.

Sound Mining Stocks Moving to Higher Levels

Resulting from steady accumulation during the last two months, prices of sound mining stocks strengthened suddenly in Eastern markets recently.

The demand for mining issues now tightly held has been reflected in the mining markets of the Pacific Northwest, resulting in a sudden advance in prices.

Follow the Mines Market Through Our Stock and Bond Report.

Sound mining stocks were dumped overboard by traders switching into the oil markets and the persistent dumping of stock drove prices to very low levels.

At this point the shrewd investors accumulated sound issues in anticipation of the appreciation in prices that is now being experienced. We are in a position to recommend a list of sound mining stocks which we believe will move to higher levels.

TOP MINE WINS AT KIMBERLEY

Take Football League Game With Concentrator by a 2-0 Score

KIMBERLEY, B.C., May 22.—Association football in Kimberley this year seems to be more popular than ever, and the class of soccer already being displayed by the three teams is better than ever before. In the Sanderson cup game played at Lindsay Park on Sunday evening, between the Concentrator and Top Mine teams, another large crowd was on hand and was treated to a first class display. Top Mine won, 2-0.

The Top Mine team were the more finished aggregation, but the Concentrator never gave up trying and were in the game all the time. In the first half the teams were on even terms until within a minute of time when Jackson took advantage of a miskick by one of the Concentrator backs and dashing through the defence, easily beat Armstrong. The second half was equally well contested and the Chapman Camp boys had hard luck in not equalizing. They had several chances but their forwards lacked cohesion and their shooting was miserable in front of goal. The Top Miners added another after some 15 minutes of play, when Davidson, inside right, scored after a clever individual effort. This proved to be all the scoring and although both goal tenders were kept busy, they managed to keep their net intact. It was an interesting game to watch and the Concentrator team is improving all the time and some closely contested games should result before the season ends.

W. Smith handled the whistle and kept the play moving all the time. His decisions were quick and impartial.

KIMBERLEY BEATS FERNIE BY 21-12

Take Hard Fought Basketball Tilt; Large Crowd of Fans Witness

KIMBERLEY, B.C., May 22.—Basketball season in Kimberley was brought to a close here Saturday night when the Fernie senior men's team came here for a return match with the Kimberley seniors. The game attracted a number of fans and while the game was fast, there was too much close checking for good basketball. Kimberley won 21-12.

Kimberley was the aggressor from the start but the Fernie boys seldom let them get near the basket and scoring was at premium on both sides, and the first half saw seven points to Fernie's two. The second 20 was featured by more open plays and better combination with the home boys having slightly the best of the argument and put on 14 more points while the visitors netted 10.

E. Wykes, one of the McGill university students, refereed the game.

Question of Reparations Nearing End

PARIS, May 21.—The barometer of the reparations conference went up today with the announcement that the allied delegates had finally agreed on their reply to certain conditions which the German delegation had proposed on acceptance of Owen D. Young's reparations settlement plan.

The reply was in the form of a letter to Dr. H. Schacht. It will be transmitted to him tomorrow with the tentative draft of the second Dawes committee's report.

This report, embodying the German conditions and reservations made by the creditor countries respecting them, was practically finished this evening.

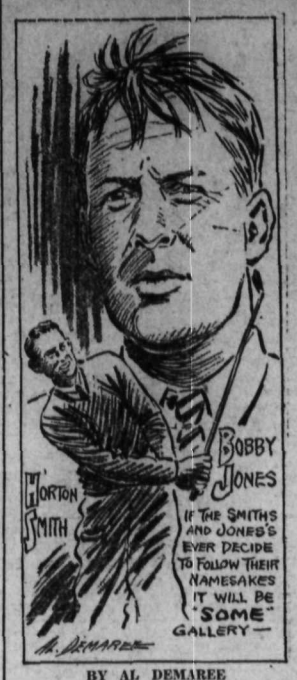
When the Germans have received it, both sides will finally be at close grip with one another and in reparation circles, it is thought, the final issue can be delayed no more than a week.

According to the best information, the allied experts accepted half a dozen of Dr. Schacht conditions.

GOVERNMENTS IN ACCORD

REGINA, May 21.—Before an audience of 3000 people Hon. G. G. Gardiner, premier of Saskatchewan, speaking here tonight in support of the candidacy of D. A. MacNiven, M. L. A., and F. N. Darke, the two Liberal candidates in the present election, stated that his government and that of the dominion were in accord on the question of the return of the natural resources of the province.

Public All Set for Jones vs. Smith Battle



BY AL DEMAREE
(Former Pitcher New York Giants)

In England they say that it takes 200 years to grow a good turf; it seems that ten thousand families of Smiths and Joneses finally have prouced a couple of famous golfers, perhaps the most famous on the links just now.

Golf started out to be a high society game and wound up with the Smiths and Joneses on the throne.

Bobby Jones, the great and only Jones, is finding a new rival in young Horton Smith, the 21-year-old pro, who won four or five of the big winter open tournaments and put away about $15,000 in prize money.

Smith probably is the most talked about golfer in the world just now, as a result of his fine winter spree.

HANDICAP GOLF EVENTS ON TAP NEXT FRIDAY

Wilson and Noxon Cups at Stake in First Major Golfing Event of Year

First major golfing event of the year will be played on May 24 at the Nelson Golf and Country club for the Wilson and Noxon cups. The Wilson cup is emblamatic of the men's handicap championship and is in the possession of S. Hill, who won it last year. At present held by Mrs. J. O'Shea, the Noxon cup represents the ladies' handicap championship of Nelson.

A record entry is expected, as this is the only handicap event of the season, according to C. W. Appleyard, chairman of the match committee, and some 32 entrants have already registered in the men's section of the contest, while the ladies' entry is also rapidly increasing in size.

Mr. Appleyard states that the entry for both events will be closed at 8:30 p. m. tonight. An announcement of the final adjustment of handicaps and a list of the draws will appear tomorrow.

BODY OF SLIDE VICTIM AT RENO MINE LOCATED

Silverton. This adventure had taught him to always feel his way in the rills during the winter and men at the mine told how careful he was of slides.

NO WARNING.

The slide which claimed his life, however, gave no warning before it struck. The position of the slide, together with the nature of the hillside at that point made it impossible for anyone to tell that there was any danger of a slide. It virtually dropped out of the sky on top of the man.

Mr. Woodrow had resided in the Kootenay for 37 years, the last 25 of which had been spent in prospecting and hunting. He was interested, with Dr. H. B. Morrison of Nelson, in several mining properties. He left his wife and two children, residing in Nelson, and a brother at Rosebery.

He had been employed at the Reno mine for four months and was valued because of his knowledge of geology and of rock. He was regarded as one of the best prospectors in the interior. He was about 49 years of age.

"Charlie," as he was known at the camp, was exceedingly popular and it was with a catch in their voices that his fellow workers spoke of his tragic death.

SACRAMENTO, Cal., May 21.—A thousand sheep raisers from five states and the Dominion of Canada, today bartered 258 pure bred rams on the auction block at the ninth annual Great Western ram sale, held at the state fair grounds here and $11,512.50 changed hands with the sale of the animals.

Phil Granville Is Now on the Mend; He Ties for Seventh

MOHANANS, Tex., May 21.—Phil Granville, Hamilton, Ont., continues to improve in form in the Pyle bunion derby, despite a broken toe and a dislocated hip. Today, in the 52d lap of the long grind to the Pacific coast, he tied for seventh place with Joe Spangler of New York, running the 38 miles from Odessa, Texas, to Monahans in 5:24:10.

The lap was run in a cold rain and was won by Sam Richman, of New York.

Granville remains in sixth place in elapsed time.

CONACHER MAY SEEK THE CROWN LEFT BY TUNNEY

Is in Conference With Former Trainer; Likely to Decide Today

WINDSOR, Ont., May 21.—Lionel Conacher, Canada's premier all-round athlete, is a visitor here, and before his departure he may decide whether or not he will bid for the major sport throne—the seat vacated by Gene Tunney.

Conacher, who is the captain and defence man of the New York Americans in the National Hockey league, was a crack boxer and holder of the Canadian light-heavyweight boxing championship.

Conacher is conferring here with one of his earlier coaches, Harry Ardiel, and when their conference has ended, a definite decision as to Conacher's professional boxing aspirations is expected.

Belanger Punches Way to Victory in Bout at Portland

PORTLAND, Ore., May 21.—Charley Belanger, Winnipeg, punched his way to a 10-round decision tonight over K. C. White, Negro, Chicago. Belanger weighed 175 to White's 166.

The tenth round was the fastest of the fight. In this round Belanger staggered White with stiff rights to the face, but in the fourth round the negro crashed over a stinging right to the jaw which rocked Belanger, in the tenth, White rallied quickly and Belanger could not land the telling blow.

HORTON SMITH IS IN THE GOLF LEAD

Twelve Strokes Ahead of Field in Play in France; Hagen at His Worst

ST. CLOUD, France, May 21.—Horton Smith, of Joplin, Mo., who will be 21 years of age tomorrow, was the whole show in the international golf match here today. With two record breaking rounds of 66 he ended the day 12 strokes ahead of his nearest competitors, an unheard of accomplishment here.

Smith must play another 36 holes tomorrow but unless he suffers serious injury or fails to break 80, it is difficult to see how he can fail to win the 72-hole medal competition with such a start.

No French championship ever has seen such golf as Smith uncovered today.

The par for the course is 71. He was five under par this morning and again five under this afternoon and no one else in the best field ever assembled in France succeeded in breaking 70 today. The Joplin boy had four fives, 20 fours, eight three and four twos.

The young professional's golf was not without flaw, but every error was offset by recovery shots worthy of a Walter Hagen at his best. Hagen, incidentally, was his worst today, taking 44 to reach the turn this morning. He played better from then on, but ended the day with a total of 151.

Henry Cotton with 144, Johnny Farrell and George Duncan with 145, Gene Sarzen, Aubrey Boomer and Andre Boyer, with 146, were the only players who appeared to have the slightest chance of giving Smith a run for the money, which amounts to 60,000 francs.

WATERFRONT HAS USUAL ACTIVITY

Boat Owners Report Sales; Others Daubing Paint; Others Fix Engines.

Many Nelson launch owners are contemplating selling their launches this year due to the demand for all kinds of boats for use in the connection with the C. P. R.'s activities at Proctor. R. E. Horton, of the Nelson matched block factory, represents the sale of his launch for the use at Procter and J. A. Irving sold his some time ago for the same purpose. Several other boat owners are in the process of completing sales.

There is little slackening of interest displayed by boating enthusiasts in spite of opportunities for selling launches, and most of the old standbys are out on the water-front as usual in the old familiar pair of overalls and the coating of engine-grease tinkering with unconcealed gusto at that "blank-ety-blank" engine.

A. Perrier is painting his launch and says that he believes the engine should stand up for one more year. D. Acton and L. F. Gilbert are also working at their boats and expect to have them out in the near future. Few launches are yet actually on the lake.

Work on the floats has not as yet progressed far and a good deal of mains to be done. The electric lighting system has been considerably improved around the boat houses, however.

Michael Culhan, 70, was scalded to death when he fell into cauldron of boiling coffee at Chicago infirmary.

Labor Troubles In Australia Are Annoying Farmers

SYDNEY, Australia, May 20.—The farmers of Australia are becoming a bit angry at the repeated wrangling among unions and employers which have had the effect of causing strikes and paralyzing several important industries. Addressing the annual convention of the chamber of agriculture here, W. H. Kendall, the president, said that the farmer was beginning to ask himself why he should have to work long hours under all sorts of conditions, to make a bare living, while those engaged in the trades worked shorter hours and received big pay.

"Those engaged in the secondary industries", declared Mr. Kendall, "must not forget that, while their industries are indissolubly bound up with the primary industries they cannot continue to receive a pound for ten shillings worth of work.

"On the other hand, the man on the land must consider himself fortunate if he receives ten shillings for a pound worth of labor. This may sound fantastic, but it is true, considering the the law of averages and world values of our primary and secondary products.

"Times are parulous. Radical changes must be made if we are to keep Australia where she should be—in the forefront of the nations. Apart from wool which at present is Australia's sheet anchor the primary industries of the Commonwealth have to bear the greatest burden of taxation and are languishing.

"In the primary industries there is peace and the will to make the best of everything while in the highly protected trades there is strife and bitterness with cosequent dislocation of industries.

"We will have to get back to work and cut out the 'something for nothing' idea. Subsidization is not worth a snap of the finger. Every industry should be 'payment by results'. If this were done the price of living would speedily come down".

Pythians Honor Rev. Mr. Hayman At Grand Forks

GRAND FORKS, B.C., May 21.—Rev. Philip C. Hayman, who recently resigned as rector of Holy Trinity church after 15 years in charge of the parish, accompanied by Mrs. Hayman, have gone to Queen's Bay, Kootenay lake, where they will reside for a time with the latter's sister. The Hayman's had a host of friends who were sorry to see them leaving.

On the eve of their departure, the Knights of Pythias gave a social evening in honor of Mr. Hayman and took the occasion of presenting him with a gold fountain pen and pencil set. Mr. Hayman was a former chancellor commander of the lodge and the presentation was made on behalf of the lodge by E. C. Henniger.

The Man Hater

CHAPTER XXXXIV.

Jean knew it was up to her to dash to Louis before Babette could get to him, make any excuse that would convince him she had gone down to Montauk Point, and make him believe that her word was more valid that Babette's. Jean knew that Bartels had attributed to insane jealousy the Gordon woman's stories about her informing Spike before. This time Jean would have to pit her word directly against Babette's. She knew that Bartels was susceptible—she would throw herself at him and take a chance that he would discredit Babette's information. It was a thin chance but it was the only way to beat Bartels.

Jean started off furiously, heading her car down West End avenue toward Louis Bartels home on Washington Square!

At Louis' Jean found no indication of any other visitor. This was a good sign, she told herself, excitedly. It meant that Babette had not yet had time to arrive. Maybe it meant that the other woman didn't intercept the call. If not, so much the better. But it also meant that now she was there Jean would have to be brisk and convincing to explain herself. If she could put her story across she stood to gain more than she might lose.

Louis tried to conceal his amazement at seeing her. A slight pallor of discomfiture spread over his face and it was evident he had been drinking again. He simply gazed at her uneasily and beckoned her to sit down. Jean knew she couldn't waste any time.

"Oh, Louis!" she began while he nervously twirled the silk tassel of a purple dressing gown and watched her through narrowed, shifting eyes. "Louis I've honestly had the worst time since I left here yesterday. After I got down to that house at Montauk Point there wasn't anybody around. I waited about an hour and then went in through a side window and left the envelope on the table in the one room that was furnished and which somebody seemed to be living in. It was getting dark then and I was scared in that deserted boarded-up house so I left. There wasn't any danger of the envelope getting in the wrong hands because I was sure of the house—there was a "W" on the gateway and everything was just as you said.

"Well, I was driving back to New York and a cop caught me for speeding in Bay Shore, and took me to the court house where the judge fined me $10. I didn't have the money and he wouldn't let me go so I swore at him and called him a boob—and, Louis, he sent me to jail for the night. They let me out at seven o'clock today and I came right over here!"

Louis was looking at her steadily, almost trustfully. She knew he was inclined to believe her. "That's a shame," he answered, after a while, but somehow his voice didn't sound convincing. Jean rushed over to him, put her arms around his neck and smiled at her. "Louis, please forgive me if I did the wrong thing. I'm sure that whoever was to get that message found it. He did, didn't he?" Without waiting for an answer she rushed on, dropping herself on the arm of his chair. But I was awfully scared and I really love you, Louis, and I wanted to see you and tell you just what happened! You do love me don't you?"

Just then the front door bell buzzed three times—one long, steady ring followed by two short ones. Louis jumped to his feet. "Here!" he whispered nervously, seizing her arm with one hand and with the other indicating a lacquered Japanese screen that shielded a desk. "Get behind that and stay there!" As he went to open the door Jean scurried behind the screen—just having room to squeeze in and sit on the tink chair, where she was completely hidden from view. She could hear Louis open the door, followed by a raucous torrent of abuse that could only have come from one person—Babette Gordon.

"A fine mess we're in now," began Babette, pushing past Louis. She strode into the living room, then turned and, quivering with rage, confronted him. "That prize little squab of yours got away from Hemingway somehow and just called up Andrus, giving him every detail of the job tonight! From the way they talked he's got some kind of nets in the Narrows that will trap the fleet. You wouldn't believe what I told you about that kid, would you? Well now she's gone and ruined the whole works on you!"

Louis had never seen Babette so excited. She began to pace up and down the room, pausing every few moments to blance savagely out of the window, at the walls, or at Louis. Louis was visibly baffled. "Where'd you find out?" he asked.

"Where do you think I found out?" she shot back. "By tapping his telephone wire, the same as I did last time. What's the matter, don't you believe me?"

"All right, I believe you," he answered quickly, convincingly, "only I wanted to make sure, that was all."

Jean's heart sank when she heard his reply. If Louis knew she had double-crossed him her position was dangerous—even more dangerous than it had been down at Montauk Point with Jack Hemingway. Suddenly she became frightened, wondering what she would do if he should rip the screen away and expose her cowering behind it.

"Well, don't stand there gaping at me," went on Babette, shaking Bartels' arm, "do something! You've still got time to flag the fleet down at Fisher's Cove if you make it snappy."

"Yes," shot back Louis angrily, as he opened a drawer of the library table, took out a revolver and slid it in his dressing gown pocket, "and I've got time to do something else, too. While you go down to the Cove and tip off Swede Riley—and remember he's on the first ship, "The Sweet Marie,"—I'm going around to this guy Andurs and personally bump him off. That guy's caused me enough trouble and now he gets his!"

Babette smiled slowly, a sinister crul of her lip expressed her pleasure. Louis went on working himself up into a rage.

"I don't trust any rod man for this job either," he told her. Andrus is going to be my own personal meat. Now don't forget what your going to do. Get Riley to take the boats out of Fisher's Cove—anywhere, I don't care—maybe they'll have to go back to Bermuda." Bartels reached in his pocket and fished out a tiny gold cigar cutter, looked at it a second and tossed it on the table. "When you leave, take that," he explained, "It's got my initials on it and Riley gave it to me anyway, so he'll know you came from me. Beat it quick now—we haven't got any time to lose!"

Girls, don't worry about middle age

Lots to recommend it, if you keep fit

TELL a sensible woman of 50 that she looks like the older sister rather than the mother of her children, and she just laughs at you.

"I'm middle-aged," she'll declare, "and not trying to hide the fact. Why should I? Middle age has a lot in its favor—that is, if you're well and healthy.

"Sick? Never had a doctor in my life except when my babies came. Never had the habit of dosing myself with pills and medicines, either. I just took Nujol—all the time my babies were coming, and in between times, too. I'll always depend on Nujol.

"Even the healthiest woman is better off by taking Nujol—especially at times when her system is apt to be thrown off balance and her regular functions upset. This pure substance keeps your system functioning normally and naturally even under abnormal conditions. It not only prevents an excess of body poisons (we all have them) from forming, but aids in their removal. It's these poisons that age people prematurely. Make them feel old and tired and useless."

Nujol isn't a medicine or drug. For this reason it can't possibly disagree with you or upset you. It is simply a pure natural product. It works effectively without being drastic.

Start Nujol now. You'll find Nujol at all drugstores. In sealed packages only. Get a bottle today.

ABOLISH U-TURNS AND ALL DIAGONAL PARKING, NELSON

Effective Today no U-Turns Baker Street at Stanley, Ward or Josephine.

Diagonal parking on any streets of the city of Nelson is abolished effective today. The making of U turns by motor and other vehicles on the principal corners of baker street is also prohibited from today on. These changes in traffic rules were made in amendments to city bylaws at a recent meeting of the city council. Chief of Police Thomas H. Long is advertising the above regulations in today's issue of The Daily News and states that his force will see that the law is inforced.

The bylaw prohibiting U turns on Baker street means in effect that a vehicle proceeding along Baker street must continue to Kootenay or to Hall street before making a U turn for the purpose of proceeding in the opposite direction. It also means that a vehicle proceeding in either direction on Josephine, Ward or Stanley streets must continue for one block or more beyond Baker street before turning to proceed in the opposite direction on the same street.

NO DIAGONAL PARKING

Diagonal parking, lawful throughout the city except on the route of the street railway or on such streets as were too narrow to allow it, is abolished by the ammendment to the parking bylaw. "Stalls" marked off on the pavement on Baker street by the city are to be ignored on and after today and vehicles must be parked parallel to and not more than one foot from the curb. This applies to all streets in Nelson.

The amendment also directs that the vehicle must be parked facing in the same direction in which traffic on the same side of the street is proceeding.

LUMBER INDUSTRY IS PICKING UP OVER LAST YEAR

Prairie Market Not So Good Says Horton; Large Cut for Local Mill.

R. E. Horton, local manager of the W. W. Powell company, stated yesterday that in this district general market conditions in the lumber business show some improvement over 1928.

Although the white pine market is better, it will still stand considerable improvement. Mr. Horton says. The prairie market for fir, larch, and hemlock is not as good as in the fall of 1928 and the past spring. This falling off, he suggests, is probably due to the present lower price of wheat and the flood of coast lumber being placed in that territory.

According to Mr. Horton, the retail lumber trade in Nelson is proving very satisfactory and while there are no large jobs going on, there are many homes building and enough improvements on present buildings to keep lumber concerns busy in this branch of their business.

Mr. Horton states that his company is purchasing between five and six million feet of lumber from other operators and are having sawn in Nelson by the Nelson Lumber & Manufacturing company about two and one-half to three million feet. This amount is only limited by the stage of water at the mill, as the company has arranged for all the white pine logs to be delivered at the mill that can be handled during the season.

LARGE OUTPUT

The match block factory will turn out between four and five million board feet of blocks and the balance of the white pine lumber will be marketed in eastern Canada and the United States, Mr. Horton states. The retail market consumes some white pine and all of the mixed woods produced.

The W. W. Powell Company, limited, he says, are in the market for white pine lumber and logs and contract to purchase from operators in the district tributary to their Nelson match block factory and yards.

Argyle Is Awarded Damages in Action Against Thurman

Thurman Pays Damages of $88; Must Remedy Evil Within a Week

Damages amounting to $88 were awarded J. H. Argyle, of the City drug, in an action against W. R. Thurman in county court. The action was due to the fact that water running from the roof of Mr. Thurman's building on Baker street, which adjoins that of Mr. Argyle, had ruined stock to that amount.

The court in addition to awarding Mr. Argyle damages gave Mr. Thurman one week in which to remedy the evil.
