LATE NELSONITE MAY BE SURVEYOR-GENERAL OF BRITISH COLUMBIA

Colonist Says the Announcement Expected Early This Week

WAS HERE FROM 1897 TO 1911

F. S. Green, Brother of A. H. Green, Named by Victoria Paper

F. C. Green, whom the Victoria Colonist says is to be appointed to the position of surveyor-general of the province, is a brother of A. H. Green, head of the A. H. Green company, Nelson, contractors and surveyors. He was a resident of Nelson from 1897 to 1911, a partner in Green Bros. & Burden, forerunner to the present firm. When he came to Nelson he was an engineer with the C. P. R., but later was engaged in land surveying. He is well known in the interior.

VICTORIA, March 30.—The Colonist today says that F. C. Green is to be appointed to the position of surveyor-general of the province to fill the vacancy caused by the death of J. E. Umbach a few weeks ago.

"It is anticipated that announcement of the appointment will follow early this week," says the paper.

The new appointee stands at the head of his profession in the province of British Columbia, and is not only most favorably known to the members of his own profession, but is also held in high esteem by the general public.

For over 30 years he has been actively engaged in the province in various branches of the land surveying and engineering professions. He knows this province thoroughly and therefore comes to his new office admirably equipped in every way to fill the duties of the position.

For some time Mr. Green has been resident in Victoria, where he carries on the work of a consulting engineer.

Graduating as bachelor of civil engineering from the University of New Brunswick in 1893, Mr. Green was resident engineer for four years following this on railway work in New Brunswick prior to coming to British Columbia in 1897. The following year he qualifed as a British Columbia land surveyor.

UNEMPLOYMENT IS BAD IN AUSTRALIA

VANCOUVER, March 30—Following a day spent in Vancouver during which he inspected the city police court and conferred with Magistrate H. C. Shaw, Guy W. Holcombe, special magistrate and county judge of Port Adelaide, South Australia, left last night for Toronto, Ottawa, and Montreal, en route to London, England, where he will study the English probation system. On his way east he will stop at some cities in Western Canada.

In an interview here Magistrate Holcombe said unemployment and economic conditions in Australia at present, were extremely bad.

On many phases of state enterprise developed in the Southern Dominion, he does not look with particular favor.

"Our states have entered into many forms of business and in competition with private capital in a great may ways. Success has not always followed, however, and deficits have resulted in the running of state butcheries, bakeries, and other business.

Magistrate Holcombe arrived in Vancouver from Australia Friday night.

NEW YORK March 30.—A special cable from London to the New York Times says: The judicial committee of the privy council has rejected appeal petitions by a number of Arabs who were sentenced to death for murdering Jews during the Palestine riots. The teams will be composed of two men, each runner of a team stepping in and running at any time.

Montreal Wins Allan Cup From Port Arthur Champs

NAVIGATION ON TWO LAKES IS FULLY OPENED

Steamer Columbia Makes Needles; Rosebery, Slocan City

MINTO NO LONGER IMPEDED BY ICE

On West Arm Nature Is Rapidly Opening the Route

Week-end assaults on the ice sheets closing portions of the Slocan and Arrow lakes to navigation were completely successful and the steamer services on those lakes will in due course be extended to their normal dimensions.

In several recent attempts to break the thick ice that has closed the Lower Arrow lake from Edgewood to Needles since early in January, the steamer Columbia, with its ice-breaking barge, has been able to make only two or three hundred feet on each occasion, but the hot weather of the last few days got in its work, and Friday the miles melted away behind the steamer and barge, till finally they made Needles.

SLOCAN LAKE OPEN

Yesterday the steamer Rosebery, with ice-breaking barge, finally broke through the ice sheet that formed a barrier across Slocan lake from Silverton south, and forced a passage through the ice to Slocan City.

Resumption of the through lake service, and cessation of the routeing of traffic from Nelson for Slocan lake points by way of Kaslo, may be expected at an early date, possibly Wednesday.

On the Upper Arrow lake the steamer Minto, after being unable to negotiate Tuesday the portion of the Arrowhead-Burton run south of Nakusp owing to the two halves of the ice sheet closing, found the going better on Thursday when, and also on Saturday, she made the full trip without difficulty.

ICE MENACE TO PLANTS

In the case of the West Arm, owing to the difficulty that floating ice causes to the plants of the West Kootenay Power & Light company when water is as low as at present, it is stated the steamer Moyie will not resume her trip in from Procter to reopen navigation, on which she got as far as Nine-Mile early last week but it will be left to Nature to open the lake. At Nelson the lake is entirely clear, and with the present spring weather, the Arm should be open very soon without employment of force.

WINNIPEG, March 30—Back to civilization after six months in the wilderness and a 600 mile trek from Baker lake, far northern trading post and aerial station, Brian Blasdale and J. D. Vance, aviators, returned to Winnipeg, Saturday. In excellent health, and with but a few signs of frost bites, noticeable on their faces, to tell of the treatcherous trek south, the airmen were greeted by a host of well wishers, friends and relatives when they stepped from the train from The Pas.

They were accompanied by Fred Meredity of Montreal. It was purely a personal call, Mr. Beatty and President Hoover having been acquainted for a number of years.

Coal Owners and Miners Get Together in New South Wales

SYDNEY, New South Wales, March 30.—(C P cable via Reuters)—Coal owners and miners in the New South Wales fields, which have been partially closed down for many months through wage disputes, were finally drawn together Saturday by Prime Minister James Scullin. The premier asked them to discuss the position frankly, and emphasized the continuation of the dispute not only emphasized the financial position of Australia as a whole but was seriously affecting her credit in the markets of the world.

The conference after a long private discussion decided to put certain proposals before the respective owners and miners' organizations.

THROWN FROM HER PLANE, 3200 FEET UP; ONLY BRUISED

BUFFALO, March 30 — Mildred Kauffman, Kansas City aviatrix and holder of the woman's world record of 46 inside loops, escaped with a few slight scratches and bruises when she was catapulted from her plane at a height of 3,200 feet while attempting to break her mark at the Buffalo airport this afternoon. Miss Kauffman landed safely with the aid of the parachute, while the plane crashed to earth with its motor wide open. The accident was witnessed by Averal thousand persons.

BUDGET IS NOT EXPECTED TILL AFTER EASTER

Those in Close Touch at Ottawa Think Dunning Will Review It

OTTAWA, March 30.—(CP)—Indications of Parliament Hill over the week-end are that the budget will not be brought down until after the Easter recess. Those in close touch with this important work seemed to be quite unanimous in the opinion that Hon. Charles A. Dunning, minister of finance will give the budget a final review during the recess, in association with other members of the cabinet, and that he would deliver his first budget speech in the commons a few days after parliament re-assembled.

The general impression is that the budget will contain the new steel and iron schedule. During the past year the tariff adivsory board more or less concentrated in rewriting and consolidating this schedule. The wording in some items had not been changed since the days of Sir John A. Mac Donald. As to that of course there will be no intimation until the budget speech is actually delivered.

It would not be surprising if the radio bill were not brought down until shortly before the recess on April 11 or possibly not until the house reassembles It will be referred to a special committee.

GODFREY TENDERED VOTE CONFIDENCE BY CONSTITUENTS

Censured Ontario Minister of Health Says He Will "Fight"

NEW TORONTO, March 30.—"In over seven years' administration of the departments of health and labor, involving the expenditure of millions of dollars, I have never had one item challenged. I am placed in such a position that I am going to fight and fight and fight. As long as I have the confidence of you people I am going to fight," declared Hon. Dr. Forbes Godfrey, Ontario provincial minister of health, at a meeting here attended by many of his constituents of West York.

Dr. Godfrey's first detailed answer to criticism of his conduct in writing a certain letter to a Long Branch man was made at a bridge party under the auspices of the New Toronto Men's and Ladies Conservative association, the members of which applauded the minister's statement and tendered him a standing vote of confidence

A postscript to the letter in question stating that more time would be taken with widow's allowance case and asking that her support be obtained for "the 30th" (election day) was characterized by Premier Ferguson on March 26 on the floor of the legislature as "inexcusable."

At the outset of his seech Dr. Godfrey said "I was tired having just returned from a streuous two weeks of campaigning. I dictated the letter and simply scratched the postscript as I have written hundreds of times to all of you."

PORTS BEATEN TWO TO ONE OVERTIME TILT

"Break" Gives Historic Cup to Winged Wheelers in Great Contest

WINNING GOAL IS FROM SCRIMMAGE

Desse Roche Scores on Pass From Paul Maynes; 8000 Fans See Game

TORONTO, March 30.—(CP)—For the first time in its memorable history the Allan cup, emblematic of the Canadian amateur senior hockey championship, will find a resting place in Montreal during the 1030-31 season. Montreal Amateur Athletic association brought about this precedent at Arena Gardens Saturday night by defeating Port Arthur, two goals to one, after 70 minutes of thrilling hockey in the second game of the Dominion championship final.

The representatives of the Quebec amateur hockey association had won the first contest, six to nothing, and won the coveted trophy in straight games.

It was a leg weary team the Winged Wheelers faced in the first contest, but Saturday night they faced a sextette completely transformed. Right from the outset the western Canada champions served notice they would uphold the prestige of the west by sweeping in on the Montreal cage for deadly shots at Dave Kerr, the Winged Wheelers' hawk-eyed goalkeeper, who was forced to save in his best style to hold the Ports out. The opening period ended scoreless, but the teams showed a brand of hockey which indicated the game would develop into a titanic struggle.

Montreal gained the lead in the middle frame when the Roche brothers staged a brother act with Desse scoring on Earle's pass. Phat Wilson, 35-year-old defence star of the westerns, was in the penalty box at the time.

Port Arthur fought back with rare courage and knotted the count in the third frame. Hall hammered home the puck by accepting Strachan's neat pass from a face-off and scoring in the same motion.

The equalizer resulted from the face-off near the Montreal net which followed stalling tactics on the part of the easterners, who were playing for time as Gallagher rested in the penalty box. He had been sent off for tripping.

The tieing counter was the signal for a packed house of more than 8000 fans to break loose in the wildest outburst of applause any team, professional or amateur, has been tendered here this season, for the fighting spirit of the losers was truly deserving of this generous gesture from hockey fans who are ever with the under-dog.

The teams battled out to the end of the regulation paying time without any further scoring and the ice was cleaned in preparation for apossible 30 minutes of overtime.

Like a bolt from the blue came the "break" which decided the issue. The Ports had started the overtime session with a burst off offensive strength

PETER VERIGIN HOTLY DENOUNCES PARTY OF NAKED INTERRUPTERS

Asks if They Have Any Shame and Note That Children Present; Asks Why Use Roads if Against Taxes for Them

GREAT GATHERING MAKES PROGRESS IN TRANSACTING ANNUAL BUSINESS

Committee That Went to Mexico Is Divergent in Its Views; Some Think Verigin May Send Another

Eight naked Doukhobors—four men and four women—were uninvited guests at the proceedings at Brilliant in connection with the annual assemblage of members and delegates of the Christian Community of Universal Brotherhood yesterday, the second day of the sessions.

The fanatics, revolters from the Community, "butted in" on the program in the forenoon, when Peter Verigin, president of the Christian Community of Universal Brotherhood and spiritual head of the Doukhobor sect in Canada and Russia, was preaching to a multitude of Community and non-Community Doukhobors, and in spite of the verbal vitriol he poured on them they persisted for some hours in their demonstration.

This is the first nude demonstration by Doukhobor fanatics since the wholesale disrobing at South Slocan last September as a defiance to the provincial police, when 132 men, women and children were arrested and 108 of the adults subsequently at the coast served jail terms, which recently concluded.

VERIGIN TELLS THEM OFF

Reports of eye-witnesses state that Peter turned his powers of invective on the disrobers and demanded that they behave themselves or else make themselves scarce.

"Have you no shame? Don't you see these little children around? Why do you do it?" are said to have been some of the questions the Doukhobor head thundered at the naked group who confronted him.

"We do it because we don't want to pay taxes," a spokesman for the demonstrators replied, taking up Peter's challenge.

"How did you come to Brilliant?" the exponent of nudity was asked. "Did you come by the roads, or did you come over the mountains?"

"Some of us came by train and some of us by the roads," was the reply.

"But the roads were built with our taxes," the Doukhobor chieftain pointed out. "We paid the taxes to the government, and the government hired men and built the roads. If you don't believe in taxes, you shouldn't use the roads, you should have come over the mountains."

The nude devotees and their sympathizers "stuck around" for some time, but found themselves out of the picture in more senses than one. After Peter was through with them, no one paid any more attention to them, and when an official photographer took pictures of Peter and the assemblage, he took care that the interlopers were behind and not in front of the camera.

A report from Brilliant states that Mr. Verigin was trying to get in touch with the provincial police at Nelson later but could not make connections.

Acting-Sergt. W. Greenwood, however, when called up last night, stated neither Inspector Forbes Cruickshank nor himself had received any call, nor in fact heard of the matter, though both were avalable in their offices. Sergt. Greenwood stated that the provincial police designedly had no officers present at the gatherings at Brilliant, it being their policy to let trouble arise before going out there.

It is reported the gathering, which includes some 75 accredited delegates from prairie points, is making good progress with the annual business, which, however, will take another day or so to conclude.

QUEEN PAYS VISIT, LONDON DOCKLAND

Attends Dedication of Church; Flags and Crowds Greet Her

LONDON, March 30—(By Thomas C. Hampion, Canadian Press correspondent)—The queen went yesterday into the heart of London's dockland when she attended the dedication of a new church by the bishop. It was a surprise visit to all but a few, yet within an hour of the tidings of her coming, the whole of a usual rather drab area was given a festive air by the hasty erection of flags and decorations.

The queen passed through a guard of Wolf Cubs and "Brownies" who were drawn up before the church. Behind the youngsters were hundreds of street traders who had left their Saturday afternoon stall to greet her majesty. Inside the church were 500 residents of the district.

The church and its buildings are maintained largely by Malvern college.

SPEECHLESS AS HE IS INFORMED NOT TO DIE, SCAFFOLD

OSSINING, March 30—His death sentence commuted to life imprisonment yesterday by Governor Roosevelt, Fred W. Edel, alleged slayer, is in Sing Sing hospital recovering from a case of nerves brought on by his ordeal of 14 months in the prison's death house.

Only the supporting arm of a keeper prevented Edel from swooning to the floor when he was informed of the governor's action. He was able to stammer out only a few words of appreciation.

Four times had Edel ben prepared to march down the corridor to the death chamber and once his doom was only 65 minutes away when word of a reprieve reached him. Another time, he was dressed in the black suit that condemned men wear when they die but again the preparations were halted less than an hour before the electric switch was to have been thrown. Edel is alleged to have killed Mrs. Emma Harsington, an actress and intimate friend, who was found beaten to death in her New York apartment in December, 1927. Steadfastly he has maintained his innocence.

His conviction was solely upon circumstantial evidence.

RED FISH IN THE NELSON HATCHERY ARE DOING WELL

Hatch of 200,000 or More Will Go Into Slocan Lake Shortly

WILL PROVIDE FOOD FOR KAMLOOPS TROUT

Second Year of Culture; Hatchlings Are Fast Growers

Largest and liveliest of the hatchling fish in the Dominion fish hatchery at Nelson are 200,000 to 225,000 redfish, the hatch of which, from a collection of about 450,000 egzs, is about completed.

Unlike the whitefish, which are tiny, transparent, and very difficult to distinguish in the deep tanks, the redfish, with their comparatively large elongated red yolk-sacs or "lunch-buckets", are from the first easily seen in the shallow black trays, and grow rapidly in size. When able to swim and exercise choice they "school up" in the troughs, and, several tiers deep of wiggling red, head up-stream, that is to say, against the current from the city faucets.

The hatchling eastern brook trout in the neighboring troughs do the same thing, but are feebler and slower growing, and do not attain the same size in the yolk-sac stage as do the redfish.

OF SALMON TRIBE

Their vigor ,rapid growth and size Weldon Reid, superintendent of Kootenay hatcheries, attributes to the redfish being salmon in descent. As a matter of fact, their red color is existent only in the spawning season, which is a trait of the salmon, and another salmon trait they exhibit is that the male fish at that season develops a hump and a hooked jaw. At other times of the year they are the silver trout, inhabiting deep water. The redfish run, which formerly used to turn Kootenay creek mouths red, begins late in August and extends through September. Like the arious species of Pacific salmon, the spawning fish die.

Even since the war there were Kootenay creeks where these spawning fish were netted and barelled, for shipping across the line, but the authorities stopped the netting, and then gave the fish protection in one water after another, till finally they were given a closed season.

TO PROVIDE FOOD

Last year was the first culture of the redfish or Kokanee was made here, 400,000 egzs being collected from spawning fish taken in Kokanee creek, and in Redfish creek, the latter being at Harrop, the idea being that the silver trout is a valuable food for the Kamloops trout or salmon.

In two or three weeks, when the first of the hatch have absorbed their yolk-sacs and become full-fledged, free swimming fry, the distribution will start. This year's hatch will go wholly into Slocan lake, to replenish the food supply there. The liberation will be at the mouth of Bonanza creek, provided the ice on Slocan lake permits of access to it.

PORTS BEATEN TWO TO ONE OVERTIME TILT

decidedly surprising considering the hot pace maintained by the teams previously. They outshot their opponents and outskated them for the first time and Coach Campbell, the Montreal mentor, shifted his front line three times in the first five minutes to offset the Port Arthur advantage. Then Bobby McCranor snaked out an innocent-looking poke-check and Al Tuggins, Montreal centre, sprawled out on the ice. The Port Arthur player was penalized and the newly-crowned champions leaped to the attack with the man advantage. From a scrimmage in front of the Port cage Desse Roche accepted Paul Haynes' pass to rap the rubber into the cage for the winning counter.

Montreal proved themselves worthy holders of the cup. They blazed their way to the final, eliminating such fine teams as St. Francis Xavier, Truro Bearcats and Hamilton Tigers. They possessed a shade more speed than Port Arthur and were more finished performers. Their second line of forwards showed almost on a par with the regulars, and backed by a brilliant rearguard, the Winged Wheelers left the impression that they are about the finest team to represent eastern Canada in the final in a number of years.

Port Arthur proved the surprise of the year. Practically wrecked by departure of their players to professional ranks after winning the Allan cup last year, they came back to win the Thunder Bay league title and eliminate the best teams in western Canada before travelling east to cross sticks with Montreal.

NUDE FRANTICS JAR COMMUNITY ANNUAL MEETING

trative decisions to be taken, an affair of considerable interest is the matter of the mission sent to Mexico to report on the suitability of that country as a field for colonizing by Doukhobors.

The committee of six is now at Brilliant, and its members, who are Harry Verishagen and Pete Femenoff of the Kootenay-Boundary settlements, three Saskatchewan men—John Popoff of Langley, Nick Kootnikoff of Verigin, and a man named Nevikshonoff of Buchanan—and one other, are said to be divided in their report. Verishagen is reported to be an advocate of Mexico as suitable for the purpose being considered, while Femenoff and Kootnikoff are said to be as strongly opposed, while others are neutral in their views.

While the Mexican idea arose through the presentation of a petition to Peter on behalf of the migration of 5000 Doukhobors now in Russia and about 10,000 non-Doukhobors who are their companions in misery there, to Mexico, many members of the Community take it that there is a proposition to the Community to pull up its stakes and move. So far as the Russian proposition is concerned, it is stated a charitable organization might be formed within the ranks of the Canadian Doukhobors to finance the migration from Russia to Mexico, if that move were decided on.

Some observers of events think that, seeing that the report of the first committee has been inconclusive, Mr. Veregin may decide to send another committee to get information that will be decisive.

TWO KILLED WHEN PLEASURE BOAT IS RAMMED, COLUMBIA

12 Injured Seriously and Four Missing; Returning From Longview

ST. HELENS. Ore., March 30—Two person were killed and 12 were injured seriously when the excursion boat Swan, returning to Vancouver, Wash., with 286 passengers from Longview was rammed head on off St. Helens on the Columbia river early today by the coastwise steamer Davenport. Four persons were missing and possibly were drowned.

The dead: Mrs. J. E. Hagedorn, Vancouver. J. E. Laron, florist, Vancouver.

The missing:

Richard Mitchell, deck hand on the tug Dux.

Sergeant R. G. Anderson, bandman, Seventh infantry, Vancouver Barracks, home in Ohio.

G. E. Lundy, Vancouver.

The Swan, a big double decked floating dance hall, was returning from the dedication Saturday of the Longview bridge which spans the Columbia river. The crash came without warning at the height of the merrymaking aboard. The Swan, being towed by a tug, was nosing her way up the dark waters of the river when the prow of the lumber schooner loomed ahead.

The schooner's prow splintered the Swan's deck planking and threw several persons who were leaning on the rails, into the water. The Swan rested on a sand bar but the tug sank.

A Mrs. Hagerdonn of Vancouver, Wash., was killed. The missing included Richard Belland, Jr., of Portland; J. E. Larsen of Vancouver; Sergeant R. J. Anderson of Vancouver Barraks, and Jack Mitchell, of Portland.

THREE WAITRESSES WIN $12,000 ON NATIONAL TICKET

NE WORK, March 30.—The Jobe sisters—Bubbles, 21, and Sophie, 19—came down from their native Chicopee, Mass., not so long ago and got themselves jobs in a Second avenue coffee shop, where customers never leave tips.

But after a while they gave themselves a tip and with another waitress, who is known only as Margaret, chipped in 50 cents apiece and bought ticket No. 11942 in the Grand National lotteries of England.

Today a cablegram came from England—announcing that the ticket had won $12,000.

What will the girls do with all that money? Well, Bubbles and Sophie are thinking of using their share to buy their mother a home up in Chicopee. But until they get the money, they say, they'll continue mopping up coffee-stained counters.

SOCIAL REFORMS FOR NOVA SCOTIA

Mothers' Allowances and Other Legislations Are Proposed

HALIFAX, N. S., March 30.—Measures authorized at a provincial plebiscite and endorsed as government policy in the course of a by-election campaign will be announced in the speech from the throne when the second session of the second Rhodes administration opens in the Province House on March 5.

Whatever additional governmental legislation may be brought down, two proposed measures are certain to come before the assembly in the form of bills —Government Control of the sale of liquor, and provision for Mothers' Allowances. Government control won an overwhelming victory over the Nova Scotia Temperance Act at a province wide vote. Mothers' Allowances were announced by Premier E. N. Rhodes during Dr. G. H. Murphy's successful campaign for the seat in Halifax county made vacant by the death of Hon. John F. Mahoney. The announcement was coupled with the promise of a Minimum Wage Board, and of Old Age Pensions as soon as the provnice's finances were sufficiently strong to carry out the scheme.

FIRST PROVISIONS

Provision for a Minimum Wage Board was first made under Premier G. H. Murray in 1920, to become effective by proclamation and the appointment of a Board by governor-in-council. The act was proclaimed by the Armstrong Government in 1925, but no board was appointed. Amendments to the existing legislation, prior to the naming of a board, will likely come before the house in March.

The financial report of the Commissioner on Old Age Pensions, appointed to determine the cost of such legislation, will be brought down at the forthcoming session, but it is unlikely that pension provision will be made this year. Incidental to the Premier's prediction that the province's finances would be equal to the burden in the near future, however, is the fact that a budgeted deficit of $863,000 for the fiscal year had been reduced to $138,000 when the auditor's report was issued. On the basis of an incomplete report, the government has estimated the province's share of a pension scheme at $1,250,000 in addition to the cost of administration.

RESTRICT EXPORTS

The possibility of legislation to restrict the exportation of pulpwood is seen in a statement drawn from Hon. W. L. Hall, attorney general, by reports of newsprint mills planned for construction in Maine, to operate mainly on wood cut in Nova Scotia. "The government intends to conserve and retain the raw materials necessary for the success and permanence of our industries," said Mr. Hall, "and will resist with all its power any attempt to exploit our natural resources for the benefit of a foreign country, even though stringent measures have to be taken to enforce this policy."

The matter was discussed in the Nova Scotia legislature in 1926, when the government undertook to stop the shipping of raw wood "as soon as this could be done without inflicting too serious hardship upon those engaged in the production of pulpwood."

A major development since that time was the coming into production in December of last year of the Mersey newsprint mill with a yearly fulltime capacity of 75,000 tons of newspint, representing the refining of 135,000 cords of wood. Oher pulp mills handled 59,000 cords last year. Thus the capacity of Nova Scotia's mills for partial or complete manufacture at the present time is approximately 184,000 cords.

FIGURES

This figure compares with a total of 291,000 cords cut in the province last year, of which approximately 187,000 were for export in raw state, 104,000 cords being cut for manufacture into pulp, or in advance for the Mersey newsprint plant.

The proposed doubling of the Mersey newsprint mills would increase the manufacturing capacity of Nova Scotia's pulp and paper facilities to 311,000 cords, or about 20,000 cords in excess of last year's total cut. On the other hand, the cut of pulpwood in Nova Scota is increasing yearly.

The restriction of pulpwood export undoubtedly will again come before the Nova Scotia assembly; but whether or not it will be an issue in the forthcoming session is still purely conjectural. The government is keeping its own counsel. Liquor Control and Mother's Allowances are the immediate measures publicly announced as sponsored by the administration.

LEAVES NIGHTGOWN LINED WITH PAPER MONEY, ILLINOIS

PITTSFIELD, Ill., March 30.— Mrs. Mary A. Boot, a resident of Pearl, who died recently, litt to her nephew, Frank Hoskins of Hill View, a strange heirloom.

Itis a nightgown lined with genuine United States currency cut up in small strips and pieced together as patch work.

It is estimated more than $1000 in paper money was used in the lining of this garment. A $100 bill and a $50 banknote were cut only once lengthwise.

Mr. Hoskins has sent the nightgown to the Treasury Department at Washington in the hope that he will be reimbursed with real money in lieu of the mutilated banknotes.

HE ISN'T GOING TO BE THE GOAT

CHICAGO, March 30.—No longer will Mate Fisher be a fish for bandits. He has served notice that hereafter all the collateral on his person will be nothing in excess of carfare.

Fisher has been a favorite among robbers. It were as though the robbers, meeting in their clubhouse, would say: "Oh ,hum, business is bum, let's go out and rob iFsher again." The motion would be passed unanimously.

Three times in two weeks they worked it. The first two vsits were at his office and netted $70 and $60, respectively. Fisher was not what would be called a rich haul, but he was dependable.

The third time the robbers were waiting for him at his home .They hadn't had itme to get down to the offfce in the daytime, doubtless. Fisher resignedly handed over $12 and his watch.

"But let me tell you something," he said to the robbers. "This is absolutely the last time. Henceforth I'm carrying no cash to speak of, and I'm going to tell time by the sun; and if it's night, I'll guess what time it is."

Regina Pats Win Junior Puck Title for the Third Time

PATS DEFEAT WEST TORONTO IN CLOSE GAME

Pats Come From Behind to Tie Score and Win Game in Third

WINNING GOAL COMES IN DYING SECONDS

Game Ends in Free-for-All Between the Two Junior Squads

WINNIPEG, March 30—(By Elmer Dulmage, Canadian Press staff writer)—Just as the clicking perfection of a deadly eastern offensive seemed to toll out their downfall, Regina Pats, unbeaten monarchs of junior hockey in the west, rose in their flaring might here Saturday night to snatch victory from defeat and the Canadian supremacy for a third time in six years. The methodical, fast-breaking eastern defenders, West Toronto,, crumbled in a sensational third period when Pats tied and won the game, three to two, their second straight in the Memorial cup final three-game series.

Forty seconds from the game's end, Kenny Moore, smiling Regina right winger, lifted the puck past prostrate Robby Geddes and into the West Toornto net for the winning counter.

Fifteen seconds later Moore and Bob Gracie, starry Toronto wingman came together in a frantic struggle for possession of the puck near the Regina goal. Together they fell and as they hit the ice Gracie aimed a right swing to Moore's head. Bired youtig gladiators of both teams dropped their sticks and headed for the miniature melee that quickly developed into a milling mob of white and crimson sweatered youths, flying arms and fists and desperate, burly police officials.

The half a dozen custodians of law and order were victors in the anticlimax combat. Reserves who had rushed from the benches were rushed back again and Gracie and Moore were penalized for the balance of the game—25 seconds. There was no more scoring as the teams finished the series, already won and lost.

When West Toronto, after being outplayed by a wide margin so far as territorial play and shots on goal were concerned in the first period, scored two minutes before the interval and added a second 30 seconds after the start of the second session, the Reginans trailed for the first time since they started their Memorial cup campaigns. Shots on the Toronto goal came from the blue line area, so staunch was the six-man defensie wall that the redmen setup and Geddes handled these long range drives with ease.

But Pats pounded away at the barricade ceaselessly, with one, two and three man assaults. Twice Geddes had to go to his knees early in the second stanza and finally Acaster started the proteges of fighting Al Ritchie on their comeback trail.

Acaster's goal, coming six minutes after West Toronto's second tally, left the score at two to one when the teams came out for the last period. Still outskating the redmen, Pats still were unable to definitely solve the accurate poke check of Bill Thoms and his sturdy rear guard. Big, blonde Gordie Pettinger, Acaster and Moore dashed in for thrilling raids on Geddes at the start of the period and finally Pettinger smashed through alone to tie up the game.

The state of seige continued around the Toronto nets and the fans were ready to settle back for the inevitable overtime when Moore scored the winning goal with only seconds remaining.

CANADIENS WIN TO GO INTO FINAL OF STANLEY CUP PLAY

Montreal Team Beats New York Rangers 2-0 to Take Second Game

TO MEET BOSTON IN FIRST FINAL TUESDAY

Hainsworth and Nick Wasnie Are Co-Heroes for Les Canadiens

NEW YORK, March 30.—(AP)—Les Canadiens of Montreal defeated the New York Rangers, two to nothing, tonight to go into the final round of the Stanley cup play-offs with their second successive victory over the New Yorkers. The victory entitled them to meet the Boston Bruins, present holders of the world's championship.

The Canadiens had taken the first game in a long overtime struggle in Montreal Friday, by a two to one score.

From start to finish the "flying Frenchmen" had all the better of tonight's struggle Playing a smart,, as well as fast, game, they scored two goals only a minute apart in the opening period, then held off every Ranger attack throughout the rest of the game. The Canadien defence, with George Hainsworth performing cleverly and steadily in the net, proved the deciding factor.

Hainsworth found himself a hero at the end with Nick Wasnie, young right winger. While the goalie headed the fine defence Wasnie led the part of the attack that did all the scoring. After about 15 minutes of playing while the Rangers were lacking one man on a penalty, Wasnie took a perfect pass from Bert McAffery to score the opening goal. Just one minute later he slipped the puck to Pete Lepine in a scrimmage near the Ranger goal for a second counter.

Throughout the remainder of the game, the Rangers were on the offence but each period their goalie, Roach had double aHinsworth's number of saves

Hurried and harried every time they got the puck in scoring range, the New York Rangers were forced to take long chances in their efforts to tally. The Canadiens, opportunists at all times, frequently broke away from thes four and five man Ranger attacks to miss goals by the narrowest of margins .

The veteran players of both teams held the lead role in the game, Morenz, Joliat, Burke and Sylvio Mantha doing the heavy work for the Canadiens and the Cook brothers, Boucher, Johnson and Reise, featured in the Rangers' play. The first game of the three games final play-off series between the Canadiens and Boston is scheduled to take place in Boston Tuesday The second is to be in Montreal Saturday.

LONDON, March 30.—Canadian Press cable)—Arsenal showed real championship form when they defeated Blackburn Rovers at Highbury in an English soccer, first division match on Saturday

They won by four goals to nil in the presence of 45,000 people. The Londoners took the lead in the 15th minute. Binns stopped a terrific shot from Bastin but Williams dashed in and scored on the rebound. Hulme sent the Arsenal further ahead just before the interval after a typical solo run. Arsenal were helped by a strong wind in the second half and attacked strongly. Lambers scored on a splendid shot following a free kick and added another from Hulme's centre.

Derby County did most of the attacking against the cup finalist, Huddersfield Town, but coud not get better than a draw out of the game.

Swansea, the lowliest team in the second division, surprised the leaders Oldham Athletic, and won a keen fast game . Williams scored twice and Thomas once for Swansea.

Hull City, tired after their cup tie exertions, were no match for Blackpool, who won by three goals to nil and took the leadership of the second division

Aberdeen had a chance to keep the issue in doubt for a while longer by winning from Dundee United. The Dons could only draw and as Rangers beat Clyde the championship went to the Glasgow club for the fourth year in succession. The Rangers have won nine championships since the war.

Yorston and Smith scored for Aberdeen and Haddon and Kay for Dundee United. The match was played at Aberdeen

Celtic, who had out John Thompson for the first time since his accident on February 5, swamped St. Johnstone at Parkheard. McGrory did the hat trick .

Dundee blanked Cowdenbeath at Dundee. Ritchie, Troup and O'Hare had Dundee's tally.

Falkirk scraped home against Kilmarnock, Hamill having the only goal scored during the match.

Morton picked up a useful point at home against Airdrionians. Lyall scored for the former and Skinner for the latter.

Partick Thistle received a rare slamming at the hands of Motherwell, who playing at home, won by four goals to nil.

Hibernians through the two goals at McColl fairly surprised St. Mirren at Paisley.

Queen's Park treated Hearts roughly at Tynecastle. Fitzgerald Crawford and Gillespie scored for the amateurs.

MORE ATTENTION TO FIRE PROTECTION

The cutting down of waste is the beginning of efficiency. Yet business men who are strong on efficiency are said to have been indifferent to cooperative fire prevention campaigns in spite of the fact that fire costs the Dominion approximately $100,000,000 a year, of which $40,000,000 represents property loss alone.

In deaths, too, fire exacts a heavy toll. In Canada last year, 1414 persons lost their lives in conflagrations. On an average, four lives were cut short every day in the year.

In an endeavor to reduce the tremendous cost of fire in lives and money, the Canadian Chamber of Commerce is inaugurating a fire prevention campaign through its member Boards of Trade and Chambers of Commerce throughout the Dominion. For the success of such a campaign it is necessary that business men generally shall interest themselves in the efforts which are made in their own localities. Directly or indirectly, fire loss lays its yoke upon everyone.

THE QUAKER POKE BONNET

What a sweet frame for a pretty face was furnished by the Quaker poke bonnets? Our grandmothers wore them, and they all married when they were still in their teens. Is it any wonder that Canada had no use for divorce courts in those good old days? Those young souls, how they knit together! Nothing but death could separate them. The new styles for Easter are to have in them the promise of that frame that made our grandmothers look so sweet. If Dame Fashion has the courage to stick to her resolution in spite of the protests, we shall have a few years of beauty and grace, and the milliner will be queen once more.

STAR STORIES

For Girls and Boys

By Gretchen Gibson

JUPITER

'Man roves! the world widens!" mused Jupiter, king of gods, from his golden throne on Mount Olympus. "How much longer can my power encompass all?"

Before him stretched grey peaks, green valleys, blue waters, in endless variety of beauty and arrangement, upon which mingled all manner of living things. Raising a thunderbolt Jupiter hurled it from peak to peak and the clamor of the earth beneath him became quiet while the whole world seemed to listen to its roar.

The huge eagle that reposed at Jupiter's feet stretched his wings and screeching darted into the heavens, soared, then swooping dropped to his master's feet once more. Jupiter touched it lightly with his sceptre of cypress. 'Ever to me do you return, Eagle, to my throne on the mountaintop; but with the rest of my children will it be thus? those children who wander and wander, whose feet are quick to find new paths but slow to return upon them to the gods of their people?" as the wand of cypress stroked the eagle's head the bird closed his eyes contentedly, but on an istant opened them, stretched his neck and ruffled his feathers as if in annoyance.

'What, is it that disturbs you?" demanded Jupiter. "Ah! Mercury your rival approaches! and you proud bird, in flight at least, would brook no rival!"

A wonderful oak (sacred to Jupiter because he was the first god to teach man to eat acorns) swayed in the strength of a sudden breeze. Out of the breeze sprang Mercury, messenger of the gods, iwnged cap winged heels, graceful and debonair. He bowed before Jupiter, first giving the eagle an artful kick with his pointed toe. The eagle retaliated with a well-directed peck at the winged hell, and then relapsed into the concern of a dignified nap.

"Oh, Jupiter, supreme pater, disturbing news have I for you!' cried the young god breathlessly. Straightening up he pointed to the west. 'Beyond yonder most distant sea even ow is man sailing. Many hours it has taken me," with a glance at the apparently sleeping eagle, 'you swiftest messenger, to bring you news of the expedition."

Stern-eyed, Jupiter gazed far to the west, frowning he raised a thunderbolt and hurled it straight into the air where it roared upward to the sky's limit. The eagle opened his eyes, Mercury shading his face with his hand watched the bolt as with a blinding flash disappeared. Angrily Juipiter cried "Upon the tip of a thunderbolt could I but place by power, or my throne and hold is suspended in the sky I might from above watch and guard my children even to beyond that western sea!"

" Oh, supreme pater, upon the wings of my cap could not your throne rest at the sky's very limit?" asked Mercury.

The eagle ruffled his feathers and pierced the assumptous god with a scornful eye. 'Upon the feathers' of your cap!" he screamed, 'the August throne of Jupiter to rest upon the puny feathers of your cap? Yaw! Yaw! Yaw! Even my dignity do pou provoke to laughter. Yaw! Yaw! Proudly he stretched his magnificent wings. Upon my wings shall the throne of the great Jupiter rest at the edge of the sky!"

"Silence!" roared Jupiter, "not upon shifting feathers nor on tiring wings shall rest my power, but upon a steadfast star. To that star which in the sky shines first this evening shall I give my celestial power and my name. Ever can my children look upon it and know that even from the heavens the great god Jupiter watches them unceasingly."

And at present you can see the great planet Jupiter shining overhead the very first thing in the evening. Sirius the big white dog-star can be seen as early, but it is more to the south. It is interesting to compare these two immense orbs outshining all other stars now in the heavens. They appear much alike in size and color and both are very bright, but there is a marked difference between them. Sirius twinkles while Jupiter glows with a steady light. Watch them for a few moments, Sirius, rather low in the southern sky, sparking and scintillating, and Jupiter almost overhead, glowing steadily. Sirius is a star, Jupiter a planet, which means Sirius is a sun, like our sun, probably with planets circling it, a colossal ball of burning vapor sending out light through endless space, while Jupiter, like the earth, has no light of its own to send out but merely glows with light from our sun.

Nevertheless Jupiter of all our planets is most like the sun in character. Many astronomers are inclined to believe that it does throw out a light of its own. Through a telescope it shows peculiar belts running around it which appear to change in color and brightness, due, some think, to interior influence not to sunlight. It certainly attracts to itself a good supply of satillites, having eight or more moons.

A romantic place to stroll about in! or rather float about in, for Jupiter has no firm ground to walk upon like our good old earth. If you went there you would probably have a whale of a time floating around in thinnish air and resting upon most beautiful clouds in the mystic light of eight or nine moons. However there you would be a bit young to enjoy it as one year in Jupiter is equal to twelve of our years. If you were twelve years old here you would be only one year old on Jupiter. But you would weigh twice as much as you do on earth, which would make you "some baby" after your 390 million mile trip from home. You would need to be a trifle huskier than when you left, however, as you would be five times further away from the sun and would naturally find it chilly. But you would have the satisfaction of knowing that you were on the biggest planet of our solar system, over 1200 times as great (but not as dense) as the earth. Also from Jupiter you might be able to see that new ninth planet and could come back and tell us something about it.

That Body of Yours

By JAS. W. BARTON, M.D.

PAIN IN THE BACK

When you look at the large bones that form the spinal column, one piled on top of the other, from the hips to the neck, you must admit that Nature was wise in providing such strong support for that body of yours. The fact that there are heavy bones at the hips, gradually getting less heavy up the back, and lightest at the neck where only the head is supported, shows how your needs are carefully watched.

If then your body has such great support why should you have pains in the back of the neck, in upper back, in small of back, and also about the hips themselves?

Simply because you do not let these bones support your body, but allow the weight to rest on the muscles and the ligaments instead.

If you had to lift a heavy weight and place it on a large block, once you got it on the block, it would require little effort to hold it there because the block would support it.

If however you placed it partly on the block you would have to continue to hold it from falling. This would mean continous effort on your part.

Now it is very much the same thing that causes your pain in the back. If you stand erect the bones in the spinal column and the ligaments that hold them together support the weight of the body without the help from the muscles. The muscles are for moving the bones. The front muscles to draw you forward—the back muscles to draw you backward—the front and back muscles thus keeping you nicely balanced without much effort on their part as your weight is on, or should be on, the bones.

If you are careless or slouchy in the carriage of your body, and allow yourself to sag anywhere, you put a strain on the group of muscles with their accompanying nerves, and so get a pain in that region.

Holding your chin up instead of drawn in, gives pain in the back of the neck; letting your shoulders droop gives pain in the upper back; letting abdomen sag forward gives pain in the small of the back and in the hips.

I talk about the erect carriage very often because it means room for heart and lungs to do their work properly, your abdominal organs are held up in their proper position, digestion is helped, constipation avoided, and you have freedom from pains.

You can thus see how the erect carriage benefits that whole body of yours

LIES HELPLESS ON STEP DURING NIGHT

LOS ANGELES, March 330.—Stunned and helpiss, Mrs. Mary Bell, 74 years of age, was found by neighbors as she lay on the doorsteps of her home. Equally helpless to aid her, the husband, J. Edward Bell, an invalid, lay in bed in the house. He had heard the wife cry out as she fell off the steps during the night, but was unable to go to her aid. Neighbors discovered Mrs. Bell's plight at 4 a. m. and sent her to the Georgia-street Receiving hospital, suffering shock, exposure and exhaustion.

What Do You Think?

SEES FUTURE FOR THE ARROW LAKES AND ITS FARMERS

To the Editor The Daily News

Sir—A morning in the month of May, 1908, I awoke on board the old steamer "Kootenay" as we were passing through the narrows on the Arrow lakes at Burton.

Such a morning for sunshine and scenery. The rapids at Deer rock, the towering peak of the Valhalla range, the Scalping Knife and Saddle Mt. closer yet—the delight of travel on the well appointed river steamers. Here and there we made calls in most primitive fashion running the bow of the boat right up on the sandy beaches and here and there on rocky ones too. There were no wharfs in those days at Burton, Grahams, Carrolls, Arrow Parks.

How I wanted to be one of the fortunate settlers to live the simple life.

It was springtime too in the matter of development. Land was high priced and eagerly bought. New wharfs were being built and roads opened up.

Then followed a period of lessening interest and prosperity and surely for some years it seemed as though the whole of these lakes were in the discard.

The opening of the new railway route from Nelson to Vancouver gave quicker service than the steamers could do and so the customary two boats each day between Robson and Arrowhead, one northbound and the other south bound, were reduced to a single boat service. So we entered the winter of our discontent.

Spring is here again, 1930. Robins have arrived and so have the running plovers. Soon we hope to see again the forestry hydroplane flying overhead as we did last year. How interesting the photographs of this riverway must be which are taken from the air and which we believe are now in the Dominion engineer's office at Nelson.

I have read the report of the speech of Capt. Fitzsimmons at Victoria recently and also your report in The Nelson Daily News of the "This Year's Program of Road Building outlined by Hon. N. S. Lougheed, and both make one feel that spring is coming once more to the Arrow lakes.

The completion of the Nakusp Rosebery road giving us all year communication with Nelson by road and the improvement of the Edgewood Vernon road will mean so very much for us who have waited so many years for this outlet. We trust this will become one of the Arterial Roads which the minister of public works purposes establishing. If all these are signs that spring is here what will it be when summer comes? I fancy I see a high level swing bridge crossing the Narrows at Burton with a concrete dam and hydro electric plant lighting up all the settlements from Edgewood to Nakusp. I think I see the water level above the Narrows kept at six feet or so higher than the present zero figure, with locks for the use of steamers. I think I see the tourist traffic on the river so increased by wise advertising that two boats will again be necessary during the summer months to take care of the many who want to leave the hot and sandy districts or crowded cities where they have to reside and come as often as they can to the quiet and comfort of river travel.

The day may not be far distant when an alternative to the speed of a Kaye Don may be one of the best assets of a railway steamship company.

Yours truly,
OLD TIMER

Lucky is the housewife who lives near a city where stores have "cold storage" for furs and fur-trimmed cloth coats and facilities for cleansing the garments. But the woman who lives in the country must brush and sun her furs at home ,and store them in newspaper packages, sealing the folded edges of the paper, and then must hang these bundles by string in a light place during the hot months. Do not hang them in dark closets, where moths hide and breed. The old fashioned attic is an excellent spot; merely suspend the sealed bundle from a beam near neough to a window to insure fresh air and plenty of light. There seems to be something in the printers' ink on newspapers which repels moths, but to be doubly sure of warding off the pest, you may put moth balls, gum camphor or cedar chips inside the bundle. Or you may buy tar bags and use these instead of newspaper bundles. All of the things such as moth proof bags, chips, fluids, balls and other repellents along this line are good—or stores would not long carry them!

Never lay furs away for the hot weather unless they are clean. For, when you lay away furs which are badly soiled, the tiny hairs become brittle from the soil which encrusts them, and often snap off short. To clean any kind of fur (white furs included), heat a quantity of cornmeal in a clean dishpan, taking care not to burn it. Set the pan on a table and put in the furs, rubbing the meal into them well. Let stand overnight, and next day shake, beat and air thoroughly. A large fur coat is more easily cleaned by rubbing slightly moistened bran into it, then shake, and beat well. In the case of white furs, rub powdered magnesia or Fernch chalk into them after using this bran method, then wrap in a white cloth and set aside for 24 hours, and shake again.

To clean a cloth coat trimmed with fur, follow above directions for the fur part, and cleanse the cloth part as follows: Take it out of doors and go over every inch of it with a cloth kept wet with high-test gasoline or benzine (never near heat or flame in the house because of the fire risk). Brush under side of collars, seams, and in pockets, for in such creases moth eggs are deposited. Sun a long time before putting away, as described in the first part of this article.

What the Press Is Saying

CHINA—AND INDIA

The associate director of the international fund for the relief of famine victims in China states that two million people in that country died fromr starvation last year, and that two million more will starve this year.

At a time when India has been engaging wide attention because of the demands of Gandhi and his followers that the British withdraw from that country, it is interesing to compare the situation in China with that in India. The countries are not dissimilar in density of population, and in liability to crop failures. The time was when famine periodically swept off the people of India as it now is sweeping off the people in the afflicted districts in China. But that was before British administration, backed by science and money, undertook the job of directing India's affairs.

Whatever is to be said against British rule in India, one thing it has accomplished. It has abolished famine, and the population has increased 50 per cent. No foreign country has undertaken, or is proposing to undertake, the task of saving China from itself. If facts count for anything, that is one of China's misfortunes.—Edmonton Bulletin.

"QUACK'S" CURE-ALL FAILS

The "quack" finds a new field of operation in connection with the control of stem rust in wheat. Many preparations are now advertised for the disinfection of the soil and for the treatment of seed to prevent rust. The Rust Research experts of the Dominion Department of Agriculture find that the organism which produces rust does not develop in the soil therefore disinfection of soil cannot destroy the organism. They also point out that rusted wheat kernels when sown do not develop into rusted wheat plants; and for this reason seed treatments are useless as a means of control of rust.

"How CAN you afford so many new stockings?"

"Since I learned this secret of the big Broadway Shows...

my stocking money goes twice as far!"

"MY stockings cost me $1.45 a pair and they never seemed to last any time at all!

"One day I looked over the ruins of half a dozen pairs. I was so tired of having only one good pair to my name! How I longed to have six pairs in my stocking box all in good condition.

"But my stockings wore out so fast it left me poor just replacing worn-out ones.

"Then I happened to read how the big New York musical shows keep their stockings just like new twice as long with Lux.

"I determined to try it myself.

"I've actually done just what these shows do—I make my stockings wear twice as long by always washing them in Lux. Now my stocking money buys extra pairs instead of just replacing worn-outs. I've got several good pairs of the latest shades all the time and I don't spend a cent more!"

Give your stockings this marvelous Lux care that doubles wear . . . make your stocking money go twice as far!

Ziegfeld Chorus (right.) All New York musical shows use Lux to double the life of stockings, whether they cost $25 or $1.50 a pair.

CAUSE FOR REJOICING!

EXCUSE our enthusiasm, but we see good cause for rejoicing as the Music Defense League nears the 2,000,000 membership mark after a few short weeks of effort.

And, if that doesn't prove that the American public wants Living Orchestras and Organists in the Theatre, what would?

There is nothing EXclusive about this swiftly-growing society. It's INclusive—inclusive of the intelligent citizenry of the New World. And that covers a lot of people, cynics to the contrary notwithstanding. It should, by the way, include YOU.

To become a member in good standing of the Music Defense League one needs only the discriminating taste to know that the art of music is worthy of preservation, and the good sense to want one's money's worth. There are no dues, no obligations.

Throughout the world friends of music are alive to the cultural menace of Canned Music in Theatres. Even the governments of England, France, Spain and Italy are considering measures to prevent this artistic debasement.

American music lovers have chosen the popular and democratic course—that of registering public demand through the Music Defense League.

What if theatrical interests are momentarily deaf to all considerations save profits gained through false economy? They will heed the voice of the public when that voice attains a sufficiently compelling volume. For the public must be served.

If you value the cultural influence of music . . . if you feel that the price you pay for theatrical entertainment entitles you to real music rendered by living musicians in the theatre, sign the coupon below and mail it.

SUNSHINE TEMPTS PUBLIC TO ENJOY GIFTS OF NATURE

Many Motorists Fare Forth on Highways; Pedestrians Busy

Following a heavy rainfall Saturday, bright sunny day experienced here yesterday which saw the exodus of many Nelsonites from their homes. People with cars available went motoring, while pedestrians were out in force. Throughout the afternoon a steady stream of people was in motion to and from Fairview. A large number also visited the Gyro park. Many of the younger and more energetic hiked to the surrounding hills, taking their lunches with them.

The city wharf was also the scene of much activity for a considerable number spent the afternoon fishing there. The ice on the water front has now almost entirely gone and a row boat was seen crossing the lake. During the afternoon many spent time painting and repairing their launches.

Yesterday's maximum temperature for the 24 hours ending 5 p.m. was 55 degrees and the minimum was 31 degrees. Saturday's maximum was 48 and minimum 35 with .29 inch of rain.

CLASS CONFIRMED AT ST. SAVIOUR'S, BISHOP KOOTENAY

Rt. Rev. A. J. Doull, D. D., Addresses Class at Evening Service Here

The Rt. Rev. A. J. Doull, D.D., bishop of Kootenay, in addressing the confirmation class at the St. Saviour confirmation service last evening, invested the class in the knowledge that they were actually crossing the threshold into a new sphere where they would enjoy the full privileges of life.

A new phase was being entered which was, in reality, a step higher in the Christian life of each. This step did not only present new privileges but also added new responsibilities.

The speaker emphasized the fact that the individual, in his dependency on some exterior force, was akin to dependency of the branches of a plant on the stem and the roots. Branches were nothing without the life-giving sap from the parent portions of the plant.

The individual, realizing his full dependence, must cleave to Christ, in order to pursue a full Christian life.

Sin was the one thing preventing the strength of Christ from flowing into the human body.

The bishop exhorted the class to carefully attend the threefold means of keeping their religious life intact, namely, through prayer, scripture reading and the partaking of holy communion.

Everyone must learn how to really pray but not in ordinary sense of the word, which is narrow. Too often self enters into the prayers to the Almighty. The individual, he emphasized, was never more like Christ than when praying for the welfare of some other person.

Through prayer the individual speaks to God and through the Bible God speaks to the individual, therefore the reading of the scripture should never be forgotten.

The drinking of frequent, devout communion should be an ironclad rule with the Christian for this was one of the few positive commands laid down by the Lord who preferred to teach great outstanding principles.

In the class which was confirmed last night were, 13 girls and 12 boys.

MELBOURNE, Victoria, March 30—(AP)—With almost ninety per cent of votes counted, opponents of the prohibition of alcoholic liquors in the state of Victoria have rolled up a lead of more than 100,000 votes over those in favor in a compulsory referendum whether the liquor license in that state should be abolished.

DE-POPULATION OF IRELAND IS GRAVE PROBLEM

Some 6,000,000 Irish Have Scattered; Whole Areas Untilled

DUBLIN, March 30.—(AP)— After eight years of life as a separate Dominion in the British Commonwealth of Nations, the Irish Free State finds itself facing many problems.

First is the political situation. The cabinet which has been headed for eight years by President William T. Cosgrave has been forced to resign after being defeated on its opposition to old age pensions, and the Republican extremists are still not pacified. The secret and illegal Irish Republican army is still in existence. Cosgrave may be chosen again by the dail eireann, but has a strong opponent in Eamonn De Valera, Republican leader.

The next most serious problem is that of the alarming depopulation. The third problem is that of the Free State's growing adverse trade balance.

Trade and political problems can be worked out by patriots of whatever political persuasion but the drain of Ireland's sons and daughters to other lands is proving more difficut to stop.

In the last 80 years some 6,000,000 Irish have scattered over various parts of the world—most of them in large cities in the United States. Excluding the southern part of Spain and Scandinavia, Ireland has become the most sparsely poulated country in Europe.

The tendency of those who have not emigrated has been to flock to the Irish cities, which, having practically no industries, have been unable to give them empoyment. The result has been that whole areas of the Irish countryside are today untilled.

NEW YORK, March 30. — Hans Jahn, 35-year-old German performer, was killed last night in number one ring of the Ringling Brothers circus, in the Bronx, when he lost his balance and fell from the top of a 40-foot pole held on the shoulder of his brother Karl.

He was suddenly penitent.

"Yes, I know. You're right I've got to get a job, do I?—and satisfy all the old biddies in town that I'm capable of supporting a wife. All right."

Folding his long arms, setting his jaw determindedly, he stared into space, his nostrils moving stormily in the violence of emotion this concession cost him.

'Link and I have been talking of dividing this place into lots, Barry. Perhaps you could get into that—that would be a dignified way to work your way into real estate, anyway."

His startled eyes met hers, amazement kept him silent for an incredulous half minute.

"What place?"

"This place. The ranch."

"Divide it!"

"Divide it into a hundred and seventeen lots, and sell them off gradually Link doesn't want to make anything sensational or rapid about it. Joe Miller thinks it's a sound proposition—they're talking of calling it Southsea Garden."

He stared at her wildly, laughed aloud.

"This place! My place!"

"It isn't your place You gave it to me."

A moment of consideration. Then he said slowly:

"I did give it to you But you were my wife!"

Whether I was your wife or not, you gave it to me. It was just at the time we were married, you remember you and I used to discuss it, and the mortgage, and so on, and you said you wanted me to have it. The deed was signed too before we were married, as a matter of fact."

'My God—my place! And you've sold it to Links, have you?"

'No, I haven't sold it to him at all. I tell you we are merely discussing, this, in Kate's interest."

"Ah, well!" he breathed naturally again. 'I thought you'd committed yourself!" he said, in relief And then, in an undertone: "Isn't that like those tight-fisted Mackenzies dragging my kind pretending it's all being done for the baby's benefit, Well, I guess we can double cross him this time. Nothing," he ended firmly, "nothing would ever persuade me to divide this place or part with it—I'll tell Link Mackenzie that, or you can! By the Lord Harry, it was about time I came back!"

Barbara offered no combative suggestion to this, perfectly familiar with the evanescent quality of his moods. The more violently he railed, the less difficult would be the business word he had said had steeled her own spirit anew, and it was in a tone that he had never heard from her in his life before that she could say:

"There's no needs to quarrel about it as a ranch for the price of the mortgage—Link put a second mortgage on it, for me, only a few months ago, for almost a thousand dollars worth of overdue taxes. The bank has carried us for two years.'

"It's my home—my grandfather's home! I love every inch of it," Barry persisted.

"You would have to live in town, —Barry—"Barbara was beginning, when he interupted her.

" I? You, too. You'd be with me!"

"That's too far ahead—any possibility of that—for us to discuss now," she said soberly, bravely.

"Any possibility! Then what, in God's name, brought you down here?" he demanded, instantly furious.

"Because," she answered steadily," "I wanted you to know that one person would stand by you. I didn't want you to feel that all the world was against you—or that I thought all the fault had been on your side!"

"Ha! he ejaculated scornfully, leaning against the doorway now, with his arms crossed on his breast "thank you! '

She could ignore his irony in her desperate eagenrness not to fail him, or rather, not to fail the finer instincts in herself that his need had called into life.

'Barry,' 'she pleaded, can't you be natural, simple about all this?" We shall never get out of the bog unless you are. Can't you get a job and work your way up as other men do?" Every one in town will stand back of you, if you'll just stop—acting, stop dramatizing yourself—" Barbara groped for words. "If you'll just show that you are in earnest and mean to make good!"

"Oh, that's what you came down to tell me, is it?" Take a job in some life insurance office and board at the Watsons?"

"That's a silly tone to take," she commented coldly and disapprovingly in the pause.

"It's so like you, Barbara," he presently said stingingly, "to come galloping down here ,regular Paul Revere stuff, with a lot of guff about not wanting to fail me and then putting a lot of strings on it—and qualifying and conditioning it like an old maid! If I'll lift my hat every time Link Mackenzie goes by——"

"Good-by I'm sorry it turned out like this!' the girl presently interrupted the stream. She had failed, it was no use. She walked away from the kitchen door and across the patio toward her horse. Barry followed her restlessly, uncomfortably, as she knew he would.

She untied the halter, put a left foot on the old chopping block, mounted to the saddle. It was still broad daylight outside, toward the west the sun was sinking regally in enveloping veils of opal fog. The sea was shining in wrinkeled levels of gently seething and swelling silk. Gulls wheeled and piped over the long, feather-edged curves of the surf. Toward the south a score of headlands cut the shore into scallops, the wandering brown white line of the coast road disappeared over the low rise of the hills. Abalone rock stood bold and dark against the light.

STAFF EN ROUTE TO GERRARD TO OPEN HATCHERY

Will Make Repairs Which Will Make Capacity 1,250,000 Eggs

KAMLOOPS TROUT RUN LIKELY TO BE LATE

Half of Eggs Go Back in the Lardeau River; Rest Below Nelson

W. Geodite, assistant to Weldon Reid, superintendant of Kootenay fish hatcheries, and W. Sykes left last night for Kaslo, en route to Gerrard, where they will open the hatchery there for the season.

The traps will be put in the water, and troughs repaired, and preparations made generally for handling of the spawning Kamloops trout or salmon when they ascend the Lardeau river to Trout lake.

ICE THICK STILL

Usually the big fish begin to run about April 1, but the latest advices Superintendant Reid has from Gerrard are that there is four feet of snow there and that the ice on Trout lake is 330 inches thick, the inhabitants of the locality predicting that it will be May before the ice is out. Under those circumstances, while a few spawners may go up early, it is likely that the run will be extremely late, perhaps in May.

With more troughs available than last year, if there are enough spawners the egg collection might run to 1,250,000, or 25 per cent more than ever handled hitherto, Superintendant Reid states. The collection lasts about a months, or as long as fish are trying to get up to the spawning beds.

The Gerrard hatchery is used exclusively for propagating the Kamloops trout, king of the game fish of these at the only spawning grounds of the big fish so far located in the district it is necessary to "eye" all the eggs, before transfer elsewhere. The practice has been to return half of the eyed eggs tothe Lardeau river at Gerrad, to build up the stock for the main lake, and to send the rest to the Nelson hatchery, to be hatched into fry for liberation in the Kootenay river below Nelson, a few lots being also shipped out to other localities.

EGGS IMPORTED ALSO

In addition to the distribution from the Gerrard and Nelson hatcheries, this waterway also benefits by imported eggs. In 1927 the Lloyd lake hatchery sent 250,000 eyed eggs here, which were liberated between Nelson and Bonnington, and this was repeated in 1928, when the Kootenay collection was small, owing to the pens at Gerrard 'going out' in the high water stage of the Lardeau river. In 1929 Lloyd lake had a poor collection, but the Gerrard collection was 1,000,000 eggs, which amply took care of the West Arm. Accordingly the Lloyd lake contribution of 75,000 eggs went to the Arrow lakes.

As a result of the institution more of the big fellows are caught in Kootenay lake than since the early days.

Fined for Failing to Report at Line on Return From Nelson

METALINE FALLS, Wash., March 30—Thomas N. Williams, a Spokane man, paid a fine of $100 to customs inspector Cummings for having entered the United States without reporting. The offense was committed as the man and his party were en route home from a visit to Nelson, B. C. He went to the Cummings home but Mr. Cummings was at the office and he was directed there, but did not report.

The immigration border patrol had knowledge of the car coming from Canada and when it was learned no report had been made to either the customs or immigration officials as required, Sheriff Fox was called at Newport and enlisted in the chase. The sheriff and his deputy stopped the car about 38 miles from here and Patrolmen Miller and Young of the Immigration Border Patrol brought the party in.

WHEAT FUTURES IN CHICAGO ADVANCE BY TWENTY CENTS

CHICAGO, March 30.—(By John P. Boughan, Associated Press market editor)—Prospects that next week might rival the Sahara as far as rain relief for drought in the southwest was concerned ruled the wheat market yesterday. Liverpool reported buying there because of fear of scares for the safety of United States winter wheat, and word was at hand that quotations on Canadian wheat offerings abroad had been lifted to a material extent.

After scoring in some cases more than 20c a bushel advance, Chicagot wheat future deliveries were unsettled by late selling to realize profits, with the market closing nervous at ⅝ to 1⅝c gain over Friday's finish. Corn closed ¾ to ⅞c down, oats varying from ¼c off to ¾c up, and provisions unchanged to 25c decline.

LADY SOCKS BANDIT ON EYE AND FLEE WHEN HE FALLS

LOS ANGELES, March 30. — Sock went the fist of Mrs. C. C. Reynolds, right on the right eye of a bandit who pointed a gun at her and roughly commanded her to get out of her automobile as she was driving on Colima Road near Whittier Boulevard.

"Bang" wen the gun in the air as the bandit fell to the ground.

her experience to Constable Way of

Away sped Mrs. Reynolds to report Whittier, who sent deputy sheriffs looking for a man with a bruised blinker.

RIVETER KILLED FIVE STORIES

LOS ANGELES, March 30. — Henry Gomez, 28 years of age, was injured fatally when he fell five stories while working on a building in the course of construction at Ninth street and Broadway.

Employed as an iron worker by the McClintic-Marshall Construction company, he was riveting girders, when he lost his balance and plunged to the basement. He died an hour later in the Georgia street receiving hospital.

Would Not Bar Men Over 40 Years From Taking Positions

LOS ANGELES, March 30.— Asking that the Board of County Supervisors disregard any age limit in hiring county employees, Charles E. Wetherell, 574 West Sixty-third street, has sent the board a copy of a resolutin mailed to other Boards of Supervisors all over the State.

The resolution refers to Governor Young's recently published request that large employers of labor in California stop discriminating against men more than 40 years of age.

Mr. Wetherell intimates that in the climate of California men live longer and are able to work efficiently at a greater age than men in other States.

BRAZILIAN AT NEW HIGH AT MONTREAL

MONTREAL, March 30—There was a marked absence of week-end profit-taking on the local market during Saturday morning's short session, and a further advance in Brazilian to a new high level was the outstanding feature of a strong and active market, which brought to a close a week of almost uninterrupted recovery in local stock prices.

In addition to Brazilian, there were several strong spots, notably the two equipment stocks, Canada Car and National Steel Car, both being particularly well bought in the closing dealings. National Breweries, too, continued in demand, but though touching a new high level, eased before the close to lose a small fraction. The papers were mixed, Canada Power and Paper advancing and Abitibi closing a fraction lower.

Brazilian was active leader, with sales in 14,343 shares and at the close was 1¾ higher at 46¼ after touching a new high at 46½.

CLEVELAND TAKES SECOND GAME FROM BUFFALO BISONS

Score Is 3-1; Internatonal League Playoffs Now Tied

CLEVELAND, March 30.—(CP)—With Alfie Moore, brilliant goalkeeper, returning to his position between the posts, Cleveland Indians swept through the Buffalo Bisons, to chalk up a clean six-three to one victory in the second game of the International Hockey League championship series here Saturday night.

MacFarlane, rangy Indian defence player, opened the scoring half way through the middle frame by outguessing Bill Taugher. Less than a minute later, Ken Dorath, elusive right wing star, gave his team a two goal lead by scoring after a triple passing bout with Mike Brophy and Alex Gray.

Starting the last canto the Bisons launched a series of concerted attack which resulted in Rolly Huard cutting the locals' lead in half when he accepted Lloyd Gross"s pass to beat Moore. Gray clinched the game when he stole the rubber from Huard and skated fast to outdistance his check. He swerved sharply around the Buffalo defence to drive a wicked shot past Taugher.

The series now stands one-all Buffalo having won the first game, three to two. The third game will be for the series Tuesday.

PERHAPS THEY WERE NOT TOLD OF ALL OTHERS IN THE WORLD

The ten most important living men as selected by Pickering pupils are President Hoover, Rear-Admiral Byrd, Thomas A. Edison, Col. Lindbergh, Henry Ford, Calvin Coolidge, King George, Rockefeller, Stimson and MacDonaldson. Mussolini was not named.

SUPERVISORS SHY AT TRIP PROSPECT

SAN FRANCISCO, March 30—A heavy slump in the quotations on Supervisorial jaunts to Los Angeles and vicintiy is evident. Mayor Rolph was authorized to name three Supervisors to attend the State meeting of directors ofjoint highway districts at Los Angeles with a definite expense allotment of $300 for the trio.

The Mayor called for volunteers and the proverbial pin dropping on the floor would have sounded like a machine-gun serenade. The Supervisors still recall the scandal which broke after eight of them drew $3150 to attend the Pasadena Rose parade January 1, last.

Company of Girl Guides was organized at Brownlee, Sask.

LEADERS IMPROVED, TORONTO EXCHANGE

TORONTO, March 30—In sympathy with the bullishness reflected by the New York market, leaders on the local exchange improved their positions in the closing hour Saturday.

The volume of trading for the short session was unusually heavy with 23,675 shares traded.

Brazilian Traction featured the entire list when, on a turnover of 5,292 shares, it registered a two-point gain to a new high level for the year of 46½. Other utilities were all firmer.

Noranda was subject to a mild reaction under restricted buying. Closing at $40.10, it eased 40 cents. International Nickel moved forward a fraction to 42 and Consolidated Smelters recorded a rise of two points to 247.

Walkers was carried to 11 for a gain of ½ a point when over 6000 shares changed hands.

ONE SHIRT BETWEEN TWO PRISONERS IN A LOS ANGELES COURT

LOS ANGELES, March 30. — "Without a shirt" would have been an appropriate title to a two-act playlet enacted before Municipal Judge Stutsman in "sunrise court" at central police station.

Cast: James Delton, 24 years of age, an interior decorator; Sam Bryan, 26, mechanic, asserted friend of Delton; Judge Stutsman and Officers Price and Rogers.

Prologue: Officers Price and Rogers report finding Delton and Bryan engaged in a fist fight at Dillon street and Benton Way, following their attendance at a party.

Act 1: (Scene, courtroom) Judge Stutsman: "James Delton, you are charged with disturbing the peace. How do you plead, guilty or not guilty?"

Delton (appearing without coat or vest) "Guilty, Your Honor."

The judge: "Twenty dollars or 10 days." (The judge turns over a new complaint) "Sam Bryan, you are also charged with disturbing the peace," (he looks up pauses, then turns to the bailiff.) "Where is the defendant?"

Delton (interposing) "Your honor, Bryan is outside without a shirt. Mine was torn off an this is his I have on."

The judge (gulping his astonishment) "Bailiff, take the prisoner out, and see that his co-defendant gets his shirt back."

Act 11: Bryan and the bailiff enter the courtroom. Delton does not reappear. Bryan receives a similar sentence as that imposed upon his asserted friend.

Epilogue; At a late hour Bryan and Delton were attempting to procure money to pay their fines and buy a shirt.

Mrs. E. M. Cran of Kent, England, author and lecturer, has arrived in the United States to begin a tour of the continent lecturing on the topic, "Gardening."

INTERIOR MARKET FOR EGGS REMAINS ON INFIRM LEVEL

Dominion Egg Inspector S. R. Bowell Finds Cause Due Outside Conditions

S. R. Bowell, Dominion egg inspector, in his report written late last week, states that conditions on the interior egg market during the past week continued along the same weak plane due mainly to outside conditions.

The report:

"The interior egg market continues weak, and unsettled. Further recessions in price have occurred at practically every point. This is still due mainly to outside conditions, though at some points local production is beginning to make itself felt. One or two of the stores in Nelson are finding themselves slightly long and in one store today extras were selling at three dozen for $1. The market is slightly firmer at Trail, and at East Kootenay points though it is extremely wobbly at last week's prices. Retailers, and wholesalers alike endeavor to hold prices at the level at which eggs can be landed from Vancouver, or the Alberta markets, and this gives local producers 5 to 10 cents advantage.

"When local production overtakes consumptive demands, this margin is always considerably narrowed.

"Nelson wholesalers are now paying producers: Extras 27-28, firsts 25-26, F.O.B. Nelson, cases returned.

"There is quite a divergence in prices paid by retailers to producers in the Kootenays, but they rule at about, extras 30-33, firsts 25-28. Okanagan prices are to producers, about, extras 25, firsts 23, with lower prices evident at some points.

"Retail prices show still more divergence. Extras in some stores are selling below the price of firsts in others. The market is dictated almost entirely by each store's position in regard to stock at the moment. Extras largely predominate in Kootenay receipts, while pullet extras have disappeared for the season.

There's something unmatchable in Chrysler performance

Chrysler today is getting more out of engine horsepower and doing more with engine horsepower than any other make of motor car.

There are engineering reasons for this. Mainly it is because of the unique design and construction of the new Chrysler Multi-Range four-speed transmission and gear shift, together with high-compression engines using Down-Draft carburetion—a principle that has demonstrated marvelous results in aviation.

In every car bearing the Chrysler name, you have the safety of internal-expanding four-wheel hydraulic brakes. And in addition, today's Chryslers offer the better riding qualities of new, luxurious bodies—with more elbow-room, leg-room and head-room—cradled from road shocks by a new type of equalizing spring suspension and rubber spring shackles, as well as by hydraulic shock absorbers on all models.

In outward design, a new smartness and grace; in interior trim, a consummate elegance that is heightened by jewelry-like fitments by Cartier et Cie. of New York and Paris. All in all, besides having a car endowed with the utmost in performance, the owner of a new Multi-Range Chrysler has a car that inspires a confidence and a pride of ownership that are all its own.

There is a Canadian-Built Chrysler for every purse and every need

McLARNIN'S HAND DISLOCATED IN BOUT ON FRIDAY

NEW YORK, March 30—Winning a close decision over Young Jack Thompson at Madison Square Garden Friday night cost Jimmy McLarnin the use of his good right fist for a couple of months, it was discovered. A right hand was smashed that collided with the San Francisco negro's forehead instead of his jaw put the better half of the McLarnin punching apparatus out of commission. A doctor's examination disclosed no fracture but a severe dislocation.

LINER SPEEDS SO PASSENGERS CAN SEE STEEPLECHASE

LIVERPOOL, Eng., March 30—(CP)—The story of a liner's race from Canada to Liverpool in order that her passengers might be in time to see the Grand National Friday, and an unexpected signal of distress from a British three-masted schooner to which the liner gave assistance, was revealed when the steamer Duchess of Richmond reached this port. The lined was in time for the great steeplechase, having eliminated Belfast and Glasgow, usual ports of call, coming instead directly from Saint John. Captain E. Griffith said that last Sunday, March 23, the liner had sighted the British schooner Faustina when about 235 miles south of Cape Race. The schooner, said the liner's captain, "had been at sea for 31 days and was flying her ensign upside down. We learned by means of megaphones that she was short of food and still three full days off her home port. Two men rowed alongside us and we gave them a stock of stores," he added.
