LIBERAL SPLIT A REALITY

DYNAMITING IS THOUGHT TO BE FANATICS' JOB

Crescent Valley Store and Post Office Shattered by Explosion

THINKS ROBBERY NOT INTENTION

Depredations Apparently Aimed at the Post Office

Probing deeper into the facts surrounding the dynamiting of R. J. Cunningham's store at Crescent Valley, about 2:30 a.m. Saturday, revealed what was apparently a Doukhobor effort to blow up the post office in the rear part of the store. Forcing entry through a back window into an anteroom used as a kind of warehouse, the depredators gained direct access to the post office by taking the pins out of the hinges of the door leading to it.

The charge, estimated by individuals familiar with the power of dynamite to be in the proximity of half a case, was placed directly below the safe. The impact of the explosion served to precipitate the safe, an average sized one weighing upward of 1000 pounds, through the single flooring into the basement, and completely shattered the partition dividing the post office from the store. Shelves containing the merchandise of Mr. Cunningham were torn from the walls and the commodities strewn over the floor with fragments of the partition. So completely upset was the interior of the store that late Sunday afternoon Mr. Cunningham could give no adequate estimate of his loss.

POST OFFICE TOTALLY DESTROYED

Practically nothing remained in the section of the building where the post office had been, the yawning gap in the floor giving mute evidence of where the safe had made its hurried exit. The desk and filing cabinet were blown into splinters the size of matchwood, and all material pertaining to the post office, as well as considerable mail, was totally destroyed. Even such small things as stampers for imprinting the date and place on postal material were broken in pieces by the concussion. The key to the mail bag was picked up in the basement.

SAFE PRIME OBJECT

The safe, which was undoubtedly the main object of the dynamiters, was partially broken, but was not

FIND GIRL AND SWEETHEART SHOT

Go for Auto Ride; Bodies Found More Than a Mile Apart, Texas

DALLAS, Tex., June 28. (AP)—Abe Schreiber, 18, of Galveston, and Pauline Corman, 17, of Dallas, who left the girl's home here last night at 10 o'clock for an automobile ride, were found shot to death on the Overton road, one mile south of Dallas, early today.

Schreiber, with a bullet through his heart, was found slumped across a barbed wire fence fully a mile distant from the spot where his sweetheart was dumped down beside the road with bullets in her right side and arm.

The car in which the two were riding was found deserted in South Dallas. Joe Overton, living on the Overton road, told of hearing shots and screams near midnight.

RELIEF PROGRAM OF MANITOBA IS EXTENSIVE ONE

REGINA, Sask., June 28.—Following an all-day session with the provincial government yesterday, a large delegation of farm and industrial workers, called by the United Farmers of Canada, Saskatchewan section, was assured by Hon. W. C. Buckle, acting premier, that an extensive program containing 21 separate clauses which had been discussed fully would receive the undivided attention of the cabinet on the return of the premier this week, and that definite answers to all proposals would be forthcoming.

INDIAN RAILWAY WORKERS VOTE FOR A STRIKE

SIMLA, India, June 28. (AP)—The Railwaymen's Federation of India today voted in favor of a general strike which would affect approximately 70,000 men.

The union is protesting against wholesale discharge of railway employees, let out for reasons of economy. The strike is scheduled to begin on August 1.

WHITEHOUSE OF BRIDGE FAME IS DEAD ON OCEAN

NEW YORK, June 28.—Wilbur C. Whitehead, who gave up a career as an automobile manufacturer in the middle west to devote his life to bridge, died yesterday at sea on the French liner Ile de France, two days out of New York, it was announced last night. The man who staunchly pioneered the game of contract bridge, over whose intricacies players are in sharp disagreement, spent 19 years devising rules and systems for the thousands who were taking up the game each year. He was recognized as one of the foremost experts on the game in the United States, and had published books and articles on bridge for many years.

PARLIAMENT MAY PROROGUE ABOUT MIDDLE OF JULY

Order Paper Is Still Fairly Formidable; Good Progress Made

OTTAWA, Ont., June 28. (CP)—Rumors of prorogation about the middle of July are heard on Parliament Hill, but the sessional program still remains fairly formidable, and no disposition to hurry the business of parliament is yet apparent. On the other hand, appreciable progress in clearing up the order paper was made last week, and one important committee, that which deals with estimates of the Canadian National railways, completed its public sittings and will draft its report to the house of commons for presentation this week.

Most important matters remaining to be considered by parliament are contained in the budget resolutions, which will be dealt with in committee of ways and means, and the estimates, which are considered in committee of supply. The latter have been occupying the house on and off for a large part of the session, but a number of items are still unpassed. Estimates, however, have never proven a real barrier to prorogation.

INSURGENTS MASS TROOPS IN CHINA

To Combat the Advance of the 19th. Army; Certain Officers Resign

HONG KONG, June 28. (AP) — Southern insurgent leaders were massing their forces today against a threatened advance upon Canton by General Chen Ming-Shu and his 19th army.

Although both its divisional commanders were reported to have resigned in protest against General Chen's attitude, the 19th army left Sinfeng, Kiangsi province, and advanced southward to the Tayuling mountain pass.

Chen, former governor of Canton, has been variously identified with the southern insurgent movement of the Nationalist government ever since his return from a brief, self-imposed exile in Japan.

Lately he has been generally acknowledged to have cast his lot with the government. However, many of his officers, among whom he took a vote recently to decide which cause they would support, declared themselves to favor the Canton government.

Dispatches today said there was great military activity at Shiuchow, a gateway to Kwangtung province, where martial law was declared and intercity trade halted. Wealthy Chinese residents were leaving the city in great numbers before the threatened display of arms.

CRERAR MAY BE MANAGER OF THE POOL ELEVATORS

WINNIPEG, Man., June 28. (CP)—Hon. T. A. Crerar, former minister of railways and canals, tonight had no comment to offer on the report current Saturday that he would be named to manage the elevator system of the Manitoba Pool Elevators, Limited, on behalf of the provincial government. Reorganization of the elevator system by the government is pending.

Premier John Bracken, with whom Mr. Crerar conferred Saturday, was absent from his home at midnight tonight, and it was impossible to obtain government confirmation of the report. Mr. Crerar has been prominent in grain handling in the west, and was president of United Grain Growers, Ltd., from 1907 until last year, when he resigned.

CASUALTY LIST IN U. S. RAISED BY HEAT WAVE

Death List Nearly 150; Little Hope for Near Relief

Intense heat continued Sunday to hold the nation in its devitalizing grip.

For the sixth consecutive day thermometers registered record June marks, and scant hope was held for immediate relief from the temperatures which brought death to upward of 150, serious damage to crops and considerable loss of livestock.

The 100-degree mark evidenced great suffering in widespread sections of the country, and the weather bureau forecast remained "continued warm" for most of the parched central valley states, which were hardest hit by the torrid wave.

TEMPORARY RELIEF

Temporary relief came to some sections in the northern states—the Dakotas and Minnesota — in drizzles of rain, but no general showers alleviated the blistering heat. Yesterday millions throughout the country sought surcease at the beaches, parks, and on the motor highways. Many deaths from drownings in lakes and rivers, others from automobile accidents, added to the mounting number of the irate sun's victims.

Leading in heat deaths were Illinois, Iowa and neighboring states, in which all former June records for maximum temperatures were exceeded.

In Chicago an average daily mean of 2.7 degrees above normal for June was attained. It was the warmest June in 60 years there. Cook county's deaths from three days of the heat numbered 60.

AIR BANDIT IS SUCCESSFUL IN LATEST ESCAPE

Holds Up Bank in London and then Flies From Scene of His Crime

TORONTO, Ont., June 28.—(CP)—No clues as to the whereabouts of the gunman who flew to Weston after holding up a bank in London, Ont., Saturday and securing $2600 had been secured by police here late tonight. Piloted by Captain H. A. Brown of London, the plane in which the bandit was a passenger landed at Weston, on the outskirts of the city, late Saturday.

By the time information reached the airport as to the London holdup, the man had gone. He walked from the flying field into Weston, it is believed, and took a street car into Toronto.

The pilot along with airport officials and local police, was unaware of the robbery.

MINISTER MAY REFUSE MARRY ANY DIVORCEE

NEW YORK, June 28.—The joint commission on divorce, of the general convention of the Protestant Episcopal church, made public today an amendment to its proposed canon on divorce.

It provides for the marriage of divorced persons in Episcopal churches, by clergy of the church, using the regular prayer book service, but gives to any clergymen the right to decline to officiate.

This amendment goes a step further than the proposal published April 27, which authorized Episcopal clergy to remarry divorced persons under certain conditions, but forbade the use of the prayerbook service and the use of Episcopal churches for the ceremony.

GLADE MAY BECOME NEW HOME OF THE DOUKHOBOR FANATICS SOON

Peter Verigin and Assistant-Commissioner W. R. Dunwoody Confer Today

VICTORIA, B. C., June 28.—Glade, 15½ miles southwest of Nelson across the Kootenay river, and a flag station on the Canadian Pacific railway on the Nelson-Rossland branch, may become the new home of the Sons of Freedom, if efforts now being put forward by the province meet with success.

The government is pressing Peter Verigin, leader of the Doukhobors, for a definite settlement of the differences of the Doukhobors with the Sons of Freedom element, and matters may come to a head at a conference arranged for tomorrow, when Verigin will meet Assistant Commissioner W. R. Dunwoody, of the provincial police.

YOUTHS WHO GO OVER BANK JUST MISS THE LAKE

Throw License Plates Into Water; Stolen Car Suspected

Two youths, whose identity has not yet been discovered, drove over the bank in the vicinity of Nine-Mile on the north shore at 8:15 o'clock Sunday morning, and after a rough ride of about 400 yards down the slope, were just saved from drowning when their closed car was wrecked against a tree, about a yard from the lake edge. They were heading toward Balfour. The young fellows were not injured.

They refused to give their names to an eye-witness of the occurrence. Detaching the licence plates from the car, they threw them into the lake, apparently in the hope of avoiding identification.

The provincial police later recovered one of the plates, and wired the number, 79,750, to Victoria for identification. The car had a "Cariboo Highway" sticker on the windshield.

Circumstances suggest to the police the possibility of the car having been stolen.

FIVE FATALITIES IN MONTREAL ON THE WEEKEND

MONTREAL, Que., June 28.—An alleged street fight, drownings and other fatalities claimed five lives in Montreal and vicinity over the week-end.

The dead: George McLeod, 48, Montreal, following injuries believed to have been received in a fight.

Oscar Latour, 17, Montreal, drowned.

Gabriel Labonte, 14, Montreal, fell from stairway.

Mrs. Henri Gibeau, 27, Montreal, automobile accident.

REPUBLICANS IN SPAIN TO WORK OUT GOVERNMEENT

Unofficial Election Check Finds Republican-Socialist Bloc Strongest

MADRID, June 28.—(By Clarence Dubose)—(AP)—Spain today appeared to have voted for a republican form of government.

An unofficial check of returns after the polls closed at 4 p.m., in the election of a national constitutional assembly which will draw up the country's institution for its future government, indicated the Republican-Socialist bloc had gained a majority of the 467 deputies for the body.

Various disorders occurred, despite the provisional government's efforts for a peaceful election. At least three persons were killed in disturbances.

In the Republican-Socialist bloc, whose victory most political observers had predicted, is relatively conservative like the present provisional government.

Political observers tonight believed Alejandro Lerroux, minister of foreign affairs, stood out as the most probable future president of the republic, in case Alcala Zamora is not left in that position.

WILLINGDON IS HOPEFUL IN THE CAUSE OF INDIA

SIMLA India, June 28. (AP)—Earl Willingdon, viceroy of India, in his first public speech since he assumed office, asked here yesterday for cooperation from all factions in India and from people of Great Britain to hasten the day when India would become equal partners with dominions under the crown.

Weary and haggard with the strain of his official duties, the viceroy pledged himself to carry out with "absolute sincerity" the terms of the agreement reached between the National leader, Mahatma Gandhi, and Lord Irwin, whom he succeeded in office. He declared he was convinced that Gandhi would be equally sincere in fulfilling his side of the pact.

COL. J. A. CURRIE DIES IN SOUTH

MIAMI, Fla., June 28.—(CP)—Col. John A. Currie, 69, of Toronto, former member of the Canadian house of commons and Ontario legislature, died in hospital today while on a visit here with his wife and daughter.

Col. Currie had been in ill health for some time. He recently spent two months in Miami and returned here a little more than a week ago because of illness.

POST, GATTY TO HOP OFF FOR NOME, ALASKA

Arrive Safely at Khabarovsk, Siberia; Spend the Night

KHABAROVSK, Siberia, June 29. (AP)—Wiley Post and Harold Gatty set the time of their take-off for Nome, Alaska, at 5 p. m. today (4 p.m eastern standard time), after a thorough examination of their plane and an inspection of weather reports.

The flyers said the plane was in perfect shape for the hazardous 2100-mile flight, much of which will be over open water.

Late weather reports, they said, appeared favorable.

KHABAROVSK, Siberia, June 28. (AP)—With the motor of their speedy monoplane still roaring its defiance of oceans and high mountain ranges, Wiley Post and Harold Gatty landed here at 2:30 p.m. today (12:30 a.m., eastern standard time), after a 350-mile flight from Blagoveschensk.

Their intentions were to continue their round-the-world race against time as soon as their plane, the "Winnie Mae," was refueled, but after the tanks were filled, an operation requiring more than two hours, they decided to remain overnight.

REMAINED AT FIELD

Post and Gatty remained at the field until the "Winnie Mae" had been refueled, and then went to a restaurant, where they ate a substantial meal. Both retired early, leaving word that they be called before daybreak. They slept like tops tonight, on the eve of the most hazardous flight of their journey, and one of the most hazardous ever undertaken by man—a jaunt of 2100 miles over the Bering sea to Nome, Alaska.

It was uncertain here just what time they would start, or whether they would break the flight by stopping at Petropavlovsk at the southern end of the Kamchatka peninsula. Attendants at the airdrome believed, however, they would be in the air at dawn.

Their route lay over high mountains and seas, and they faced the possibility of storms and fog. They must cross the Strait of Tartary, the Sea of Ohkotsk, Kamchatka peninsula and the Bering sea before sighting the North American continent again near Nome. Their hop from Nome will take them to Edmonton, Alta.

TAX MEASURE A SENSATION IN AUSTRALIA

SYDNEY, New South Wales, June 28.—(C. P. cable via Reuters)—A sensation has been created by an emergency taxation measure introduced in the legislative assembly by the government involving a tax of 24 cents per $5 on incomes of $50 or over.

Premier J. T. Lang is credited with the intention of trying to force the bill through all stages of the legislature and there has been much speculation as to whether the legislative council would bring on a crisis by rejecting the measures. It is now authoritatively stated the council is unlikely to pass them.

The Sydney Herald today advocates an early general election.

CHECK PAYMENTS INCREASE IN MAY

OTTAWA, Ont., June 28.—(CP)—Aggregate payments by check in Canada during May were $3,171,000,000, an increase of $385,000,000 from April, after making an adjustment for seasonal tendencies. The Dominion bureau of statistics computes the advance at 2.7 per cent.

Most of the gains were in eastern Canada, the largest being in Montreal, where the total moved up 31.6 per cent. Vancouver declined 4.4 per cent, while Winnipeg was down 8.8 per cent.

Bank debits dropped 7.5 per cent during May, compared with the same month of 1930. Debits in May of the present year were $3,171,600,000 compared with $3,426,900,000 in May, 1930.

WILL BROADCAST THE ARRIVAL OF POST AND GATTY

SASKATOON, Sask., June 28. — With Edmonton as their destination, and the object to broadcast the arrival of the round-the-world flyers, Post and Gatty, Charles Lyon and James H. Cook of the National Broadcasting company, Chicago, arrived here at 6:30 p. m. by airplane from the Illinois city. Pilot A. Mackiewicz was at the controls. The party will leave at 3:30 a. m. for Edmonton, following the mail plane leaving at that time to the Alberta capital. Mr. Lyon is the announcer and Cook the public relations man of the N. B. C.

MANITOBA HIT BY BLISTERING WAVE OF HEAT

Alberta and Saskatchewan Have Mixture of Hot and Cool Weather

WINNIPEG, Man., June 28. (CP)—Manitoba bowed today before the baking beat of a heat wave which swept in from a cooling west. Alberta and western Saskatchewan smiled in balmy breezes while gusts of heat-laden air sizzled crops and sent temperatures far up into the 90's in eastern Saskatchewan and Manitoba. Two persons were drowned seeking respite from the merciless sun.

Winnipeg, melting in the muggy atmosphere of 96 degrees, was the hottest city in Canada. At Yorkton, in northeast Saskatchewan, the thermometer read 94, and it showed 90 or better at Regina and Moose Jaw, to the south. Other Saskatchewan points breathed easier in the 80's and rains came to end the three-day heat wave in the province's north. Cooler weather ruled in Alberta's foothills.

COOLER WEATHER IS FORECAST

Forecasts of cooler weather on the prairies brought hopes that sun-scorched grain lands might expect a respite from the heat spell which has been but rarely punctuated by rainfall. Manitoba and Saskatchewan especially, where conditions have not improved in recent weeks, are eager for the promised turn to cooler weather. Crop conditions on the prairies have been rated the poorest in three decades.

Many districts in northern Saskatchewan enjoyed rainfall, according to reports from Saskatoon, but elsewhere no showers were indicated in the weather chart. Telephone poles were levelled by a Saturday night dust and wind storm for a mile outside of Lucky Lake, 100 miles south of Saskatoon. Hail fell during the storm, but did no extensive damage.

NIAGARA DEATH MAY HAVE BEEN ACT OF REVENGE

Man and Boat Go Over the Falls; Find an Oar Partly Sawed Through

NIAGARA FALLS, Ont., June 28.—(CP)—Fears that an unidentified man who drifted over the Horseshoe falls in a disabled motor boat or rowboat was a victim of spite were expressed here tonight as the result of a strange discovery. William Hill Jr., son of the noted riverman, "Red" Hill, found one whole side of a green boat, and a broken green oar which had been sawn partly through in such a way that when full force was used against the current of the river it would break.

Identity of the man has not yet been discovered. No trace of a missing man or boat could be found on either side of the river. The man is believed to have been a smuggler of liquor or of aliens, and the discovery of the treacherous oar heightens the mystery.

MELLON IS BUSY BRINGING ABOUT FRENCH CHANGE

PARIS, June 28. — There was no week-end holiday for Andrew W. Mellon, United States secretary of the treasury, who resumed his conferences today with French financial leaders in an effort to bring the French viewpoint into line with those of the other nations on President Hoover's plan for a war debt holiday.

He and Professor Walter E. Edge of the United States talked with Pierre Flandin, minister of finance; Clement Moret, governor of the Bank of France, and other financial powers, whose word will be important in determining the final French position.

The conversations thus far and those which will follow tomorrow and thereafter are expected to turn principally upon the financial aspects of Mr. Hoover's proposal.

Tomorrow political considerations may be examined, for it is likely that Aristide Briand, the foreign minister, and other cabinet members will enter the conversations.

SIMON, BROWN AND HUTCHISON LATEST TO GO

Snowden's Contempt for the Liberals Is Bitter Point

HUMILATION OF LIBS LOWEST YET

The Former Chief Liberal Whip Unable to Support Policies

LONDON, June 28. (CP cable)—Letters to Sir Archibald Sinclair, chief Liberal whip, from Sir John Simon and Ernest Brown, confirm a split within Lloyd George's party. Sir John, leader of "the Little Simon group" of Liberals in the house, says in his letter that the party has reached a lower depth of humiliation than any into which it has yet been led. Their resignations are announced in the letters.

Both Sir John and Brown, Liberal member for Leith, refer to the outspoken contempt of Chancellor of the Exchequer Snowden for the Liberals because of their weak policy in the house. Both letters declare that the writers can no longer associate themselves with the Liberal party. Brown's letter refers to the "disgusting scene in the commons when Snowden rubbed the noses of those who are cooperating with him in the mud."

JOINS OTHERS

Sir Robert Hutchison, member for Montrose, and himself for some years chief Liberal whip, joined Sir John and Mr. Brown in withdrawing from the party.

Sir Robert's letter to the chief Liberal whip is confined to an intimation that he no longer desires to receive the party whip. He also sent a letter to Montrose Burghs, chairman of the Liberal association, in which he says: "The policy of cooperating with and keeping in office at all costs the Socialistic government is one which I have been unable to support. The reward for such continuous support and help, at any price, was the most humiliating speech of Mr. Snowden when he covered our leader and party with contempt and scorn."

FOUR DIE WHEN TRAPPED ON A RAILWAY BRIDGE

ALBANY, N. Y., June 28.—Caught on a railroad trestle by a train, a man dropped his son and two other small boys 50 feet to their deaths in the waters of the Normanskill creek just before he was killed by the train. The tragedy happened late this afternoon just south of Albany. The drop was too far for the boys.

The dead were: Thomas Burgess, 45; his son, William, seven; and Russel Solomon, eight, and Andy Solomon, nine.

BUSH FIRE IN ONTARIO NORTH CHECKED SOME

SAULTE STE. MARIE, Ont., June 28.—(CP)—Spread of the bush fire in the Puckshaw lake area was tonight reported to be checked by the efforts of 88 men who are fighting the blaze. Light rain fell in the district Saturday but it was insufficient to halt the fire which has been burning for the past week. Close to 3000 acres of pulpwood are covered by the conflagration, which broke out in accessible country north of here. Transportation difficulties held up efforts to fight the flames, most of last week. Men were rushed to the scene by train, boat, and airplane Saturday. The fire fighters have also been hindered by the rough and hilly country.

STUDENT PILOT DIES IN CRASH

OTTAWA, Ont., June 28. (CP)—J. H. Marshall, 22-year-old student pilot of the Ottawa Flying club, met instant death late Saturday when the airplane he was flying solo crashed from a height of 3000 feet. Marshall had obtained his pilot's licence on Friday.

After successfully passing through the usual flying tests, he had been in the air about 20 minutes Saturday practicing various aero maneuvers when the plane went into a spin from which he could not right it.

PEACE OFFICER IS ACQUITTED

ENTRANCE EXAMS BEING WRITTEN . MANY CENTERS

Thirteen Points This District Have Them; Not Junior High

168 PUPILS ARE WRITING THEM

Junior Matriculation Ends Tomorrow; Started on Monday

Writing of entrance examinations for Grade VII. pupils opened throughout the province Friday, including 13 points in the inspectorate of Inspector P. H. Sheffield, which includes from Kootenay lake westward to Trail.

In this inspectorate 168 pupils are writing "entrance," for admission to high school. This is a smaller number than formerly, as the Grade VIII. pupils of Nelson junior high school, under the regulations of the department of education, do not write these examinations, but are promoted on the basis of their average standing of the year.

Nevertheless there are entrance examinations being written at Nelson, one center being at the high school, where pupils from Blewett, Passmore, Longbeach and Taghum are writing, and the other at St. Joseph's academy, where St. Joseph's pupils are writing. Trail also has two centers, both at Central school. Other centers where entrance is being written are Kaslo, Sandon, New Denver, Silverton, Slocan City, Winlaw, South Slocan, Procter, Fruitvale, Castlegar and Argenta. These examinations will be finished Tuesday.

Junior matriculation or Grade X. examinations, which started last Monday at Nelson, Trail, Kaslo, Procter, Silverton and New Denver, will also wind up Tuesday.

South Slocan and Sandon are having Grade IX. examinations.

ST. PAULS HAS FINE PATRIOTIC SERVICE SUNDAY

Girls Recite Patriotic Poems; Senior and Boys' Choir Sing

PASTOR'S THEME IS "PATRIOTISM"

Norman Beattie Gives Talk on the Church's Opportunity

A most interesting patriotic service was held in the St. Paul's church on Sunday evening, conducted by a group of young people, at which a large congregation attended.

Miss Mae McFarlane read a patriotic poem.

Miss Mildred Martin, as Miss Canada described Canada's progress prior to the Confederation. Miss Martin then called nine girls representing the nine provinces to relate the process of Confederation. A beautiful poem was recited by the girls, entitled "Where Are You Going, Great Heart," by John Oxenham.

Norman Beattie sketched an outline of the part of the United church had to play in the making of Canada.

Rev. T. J. S. Ferguson spoke a few fitting words on True Patriotism" showing that to be free did not mean that one could do as one liked, but to be of the greatest service, So Canada, the latest born of the great Commonwealth of nations, has a great mission to perform in uniting all those who loved in the service of all those who sufferer, he said.

The musical portion of the service consisted of a number by the boys' choir entitled "Canada," also a joint number by the senior choir and the boys' choir " Land of Hope and Glory," by Sir Edward Elgar.

The service concluded with unrolling of the Christian flag, and the singing of the noble hymn, "Fling Out the Banners," sung triumphantly by both choirs and the congregation.

COLVILLE, Wash., June 28.—Nelson's league leading baseball team suffered its first defeat in six starts here today when the local entry came from behind in the eighth inning to win by a score of 6-5

Nelson took a healthy lead in the second inning and scored three runs. The Colville team evened up in the third frame. Colville went one run ahead in the sixth but Nelson put over two runs in the seventh to take a 5-4 lead. Colville put over two runs in the eighth to win the game 6-5. Nelson lost a lot of opportunities through errors at several stages of the game.

Mitchell, Colville shortstop, had a good day at the bat. He slammed a home run in the third with one man on. Later he cracked out a three-bagger. Kraft, Nelson hurler, hit one for two bags and scored two runners in the second inning.

Each team pulled off a double play.

wrecked enough to enable them to obtain anything from it. Mr. Cunningham found the contents of it to be unharmed when he pried open the door. The weight of the safe had been of greater resistance than the strength of the floor, and the charge had spent itself downward, stated Mr. Cunningham, thereby preventing damage to the safe which otherwise would have resulted from the potency of the explosive.

The first inkling that Mr. Cunningham and family, who live about 50 yards from the store, had of the impending disaster, was the noise of the terrific explosion. Looking out he saw the building almost enveloped in a dense cloud of black smoke as though it were on fire. His first thought was that the safe had been blown up, though he did not immediately approach the store for fear of armed force being still in the vicinity. The charge did not ignite, however, the smoke being entirely from the explosion.

The rear part of the building suffered most from the shock, causing it to "belly out," but the foundation remained intact. Save for a little sagging of the second floor, used for a dance hall, and shattering of the window panes, the destruction was confined to the interior of the store. Repairs may be made without great difficulty, Mr. Cunningham believed, when questioned.

ROBBERY NOT INTENTION

As far as Mr. Cunningham could ascertain, nothing had been taken, the till containing a small amount of money being quite undisturbed, and all merchandise apparently untouched. The depredators evidently were aiming their bolt at the safe in the post office. The dry goods suffered least.

Mr. Cunningham attempted to get in touch with the provincial police at Nelson, but found that the telephone wires had been disrupted by the explosion. Word was taken to South Slocan and the information wired from there.

For the time being, Mr. Cunningham intends to carry on business in the section used formerly as the store room.

When having outside painting done, beg a little extra paint from the painter so you can repair the damage should any one brush against it.

MASONS ATTEND TRINITY CHURCH EVENING SERVICE

"They City That Lieth Four Square." Subject of Mr. Mawhinney

"The city that lieth four square," formed the foundation of a sermon delivered by Rev. W. C. Mawhinney in Trinity United church Sunday evening, when Nelson Masons attended the service in a body. A quartette composed of Mrs. C. W. Tyler, Mrs. W. C. Mawhinney, Wilfred Lowery and A. A. Pagdin rendered a vocal number entitled "I Heard the Voice of Jesus Say." An anthem entitled "Lead Kindly Light" was rendered by the choir.

"If we are to achieve the vision which He had in mind for His and our day, we must build with perfect angles 'the city that lieth four square'," Mr. Mawhinney declared.

Every Free Mason lodge was a body of men in the making which could only achieve its purpose by following out the vision of a perfect life, the speaker said.

GREATEST EXPORT

The greatest export of fraternity was character. The strength of Free Masonry did not lie in number or in financial strength but in its ministry in aid of fellow men and its ability to make the community a better place in which to live, stated the minister.

"As one thinks of the past he is reminded of the history of those who were speculative builders. The great cathedrals and beautiful paintings, erected to the worship of God, were contributions of speculative builders, he said.

Speaking of the walls of the "perfect city" which mankind was to build, he stated that they were represented by mind enlightenment, brotherhood, fellowship and faith.

TRUE EDUCATION

Mind enlightenment reminded one that education was more than mere acquiring of facts, Mr. Mawhinney said. The acquiring of facts was knowledge and not education. Education was primarily character building, towards Christian culture.

The second wall of life was that of brotherhood. Brotherhood was not confined to any nation or organization, but was to be found wherever one required aid from his fellow man.

Faith, the last wall, was something for the everyday world. Every business contract was founded on faith, he said. The lack of faith bred misunderstanding and discontent. It was faith that enabled Newton and other inventors to realize their dreams.

DOUKHOBOR AUTO GOES OVER BANK SPLINTERS POST

Mike Markin Smashes Telephone Post in Two as Car Slides Helplessly

Turning out too far in passing an approaching motor when he was halfway down Taghum hill, Sunday afternoon, Mike Markin, a Doukhobor, ran his outer wheels over the bank, and, unable to check his careening course, crashed into a telephone pole and smashed it in two near the base. There were five occupants in the car, no one being hurt.

The force of the impact swung the broken pole in pendulum-like manner from the wires above and it struck the car damaging the top above the wind shield. The heavy sedan did not turn over but came to rest on a dangerous slant just off the road.

Unaware that he was running with the outer wheels slightly over the bank, he had gone some 40 feet before he realized what was happening. He attempted to right the car without success and struck the pole about 80 feet farther on.

He was traveling in intermediate at the time. The road was of sufficient width to allow two cars to pass easily.

"NEW CANADIANS" TO BE WELCOMED ON DOMINION DAY

Rotary Club Sends Them Invitation and Felicitation

BUGLE BAND WILL MAKE THEM GUESTS

Dr. Rose Speaker of Occasion; I.O.D.E. Presents Prizes

One of the features of the patriotic exercises in Nelson on Dominion Day, which will be staged at the civic bandstand on Vernon street and the adjacent boulevard, will be the inauguration of special recognition of newly naturalized citizens.

A list of those approved for naturalization by Judge W. A. Nisbet in the last couple of years and subsequently receiving certificates of naturalization from Ottawa has been compiled from the records of the court registry here by the joint committee, and to each of the "New Canadians" the Nelson Rotary club has mailed a letter of felicitation and of welcome, and has invited the recipients to attend the patriotic exercises here on Dominion Day. This move grew out of a recent discussion by the Rotary club on the subject of naturalization, and on the desirability of making the admission to citizenship more impressive.

GUESTS OF BUGLE BAND

The Canadian Legion Bugle band, which as usual is the sponsor of the day's big sport celebration, is associating itself with this welcome, and is arranging to give the guests of the day the freedom of the Recreation grounds for the public sports program in the afternoon. It is understood that the band will also invite some of the guests to act in various official capacities in handling the celebration.

Dr. W. O. Rose, ex-M. P. P., will be the speaker for the patriotic exercises, and he will speak on some phase connected with citizenship. His address will occupy the bulk of the time available.

Presentation of prizes offered by Kokanee chapter, I. O. D. E., for competition by pupils of the Nelson schools, in connection with the order's educational work, will be the final feature of the program.

MAYOR TO PRESIDE

Mayor J. P. Morgan will preside at the exercises, which are timed to start at exactly 1:15 p.m., following the arrival of the parade of school children led by the Canadian Legion Bugle band. The City band will play "O Canada" and "God Save the King".

That block of Vernon street will be closed to motor cars for the period of the program.

Should there be rain, the program will be transferred to the armory.

At the conclusion of the program, the Bugle band will lead the parade, direct to the Recreation grounds, where the afternoon sports program will start at 2 o'clock.

WOMAN'S PAGE

Marriage a la Mode

By VIDA HURST

CHAPTER THIRTY-NINE

Beatrice was shocked and said so. The scene, coming as it did in the midst of her own happiness, seemed unnecessarily dramatic.

"You're just an old-fashioned girl," jeered Corliss, "in spite of your modern wrappings. But I'm not, and from now on I'm being myself."

"Meaning what?" inquired the old-fashioned one, quietly.

"I used to be an adventurous soul, propagator of the most advanced thought on the campus. Marriage took something out of me, but I can feel it coming back. I'm not acting like a woman of thirty any longer. I want to be gay. I want to dance and play and be giddy."

"Plenty of chances to be that way in Hollywood," Beatrice agreed, still puzzled.

"I know there are. I understand there is also plenty of sheer reckless deviltry. Since you've deserted me I pledged myself to start in search of it alone and unaided."

"You won't be alone and unaided long."

"I hope not."

"Corliss, I'm worried."

"You needn't be. I shall use discretion and discrimination. By the way when is your romance to be culminated?"

"Are you laughing at me?" demanded Beatrice, scarlet creeping through the bronze powder on her cheeks.

"Darling, I am not! I adore Charles. If you'll leave him alone and not expect too much . . ."

* * *

The irony of such advice from her made Corliss smile. Beatrice smiled too, but uncertainly.

"Honestly, I don't get you. I've never seen you like this before."

"I'm in one of the devil's own moods," admitted Corliss frankly, "but don't let it take the edge off your happiness."

"I wish you could be happy, too," Beatrice said, simply.

Beatrice was sweet. But nothing could penetrate the blackness that had swept over Corliss. When Charles arrived it was an effort for her to present congratulations.

"I'm wildly jealous. You're the last two friends I possess."

"Still your friends," he insisted.

But she knew better.

"You'll be married and ask me over a few times, but neither of you will ever be the same to me again."

Charles looked embarrassed. Remembering the day in his office again. Why couldn't he forget it?

"I'll drop in to see you just the same," he promised, uneasily.

* * *

Corliss cried when they had gone. Although she knew she was not in love with Charles Dutton. Still less with Leslie. Only it was hard to lose the only two men friends one had. Charles had helped her through such terrible hours. And Leslie, now that June and Sybil were approaching, seemed to find less need for "talking things over." She would be absolutely alone. . . .

Well, one thing she wouldn't do was sit at home and weep about it. Long ago when she had first been married she had found amusement and consolation on the boulevard. She decided to turn to it again.

Dressed in a new tweed suit, the latest addition to her wardrobe, she sauntered down the street, deciding to have tea at one of those places filled with memories of Jerry. Now was the time to try out the new idea. Choke the life out of the last sentimental remembrance by burying it under a stack of new ones. can not be planned before hand, but gay, sophisticated adventures, which which are sure to happen if one is in Hollywood and in the proper mood.

As she sipped the tea her gaze wandered about the half-empty room. Two weary looking women shoppers, an elderly couple, probably tourists, and a group of chattering, giggling girls, whose eyes and laughter were directed towards a corner where the famous Junipera Gomez was being supremely unconscious of the fact the he was alone and the center of attraction!

Corliss did not expect to be remembered. Her eyes met his with no hint of recognition. She was really surprised when his dark face was lighted with a smile as charming as it was unexpected.

A momonet later he was crossing to her table, the cynosure of all eyes. Corliss was thrilled to see the effect his atetntions were having but kept her poise sufficiently to say, "I was hoping you had forgotten me."

"I couldn't forget those eyes. Staring at me so impertinently in the midst of my most important scene."

"It wasn't intention."

"I'm sure it wasn't," he said, graciously. "May I sit down? I'm quite fatigued."

Corliss, intensely conscious of the round-eyed glances from the other table,, gave her permission.

Gomez lighted a cigaret.

"I haven't seen you lately. What have you been doing?"

"I've been having a little more luck since then," she confessed. "That was my first day."

His coal black eyes flashed at her.

"Really? You're a type that's popular just now. High-bred, spirited . . ."

"Where do you come from? You have succeeded in rousing my interest . . . .

* * *

Corliss smiled.

"Do you talk like that all the time? I thought it was a pose—stud'o stuff for the uninitiated."

"I don't understand . . .

"Then I'll be more explicit. If you really do wish to know more about me you'll have to drop the movie hero complex."

He looked a little hurt and more than a little puzzled.

She continued. "You seem to think you have conferred a favor on me by coming to my table."

"Haven't I?" he asked gravely. Then she saw that his eyes were turning. "The truth of the matter is I'd run a mile to avoid a conversation with the ordinary ambitious extra. You're different and, of course you know it. You probably work at it, but the effect is very pleasing."

This time Corliss was forced to admit it was he who had scored. She was flattered and suddenly intensely interested. When he said, "My car's outside. Let's go out of this, shall we?" she rose and accompanied him without a word.

MR. STIFFE AND MISS CALDWELL WED, KIMBERLEY

Bride and Groom to Honeymoon in Spokane and Western Points

KIMBERLEY, B. C., June 28.—Kimberley United church was the scene of a very pretty June wedding on Wednesday afternoon when Miss Marguerite, only daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Caldwell, became the bride of Harold Thomas Stiffe, youngest son of Mr. S. E. Stiffe of Trail, B. C. Rev. R. A. Matheson officiated. The bride entered the church on the arm of her father tothe strains of the wedding march played by Mrs. J. K. Walker and was handsomely gowned in white chiffon over flat crepe, wearing a silk net veil arranged in cap style and held in place by a wreath of orange blossoms. She carried a bouquet of pink roses and maidenhair fern. The attendants of the bride were Miss Florence Morrison as bridesmaid and Miss Iris Carlson as maid of honor, both of whom were attractively attired in figured French crepe de chene with picture hats to match. Each carried a bouquet of carnations. Little Margaret Raynor acted as flower girl, wearing a yellow crepe de chene dress and carrying a bouquet of sweet peas. The groom was supported by E. Taylor. Ogilvie Robertson and Alex Caldwell acted as ushers. During the signing of the register Mrs. J. J. Dickson sang "I Love You," Mrs. J. K. Walker accompanying.

After the ceremony the invited guests motored to the home of the bride's parents where the reception was held. About 30 guests sat down to a delightful supper. The bride's table was centered by a four-tier wedding cake over which hung a large wedding bell. The rooms were also prettily decorated in bridal colors.

The groom's gift to the bride was a white kid handbag and to the bridesmaid and maid of honor he gave strings of crystals, to the flower-girl a dainty silk dress and to the best man a pair of gold cuff-links and to the ushers each a pen and pencil set. The bride's gift to the groom was a signet ring.

After the reception Mr. and Mrs. Stiffe left by motor for Spokane and other points west, the bride travelling in a suit of red and white canton crepe and wearing a close-fitting hat of red mohair. A fox stoll completed the costume.

Those assisting at the reception were Mrs. H. C. Pearson, Mrs. G. Sholund and Miss Helen Worth.

Among the guests present were Mr. and Mrs. J. Morrison, Rev. and Mrs. R.N. Matheson, Mr. and Mrs. Duncan Morrison, Mr. and Mrs. Raynor, Miss Raynor, Mr. and Mrs. J. J. Dickson, Mr. and Mrs. J. K. Walker, Mr. and Mrs. Sholund, Mr. and Mrs. Pearson, Mr. and Mrs. E. Hall, Mr. and Mrs. A. A. Hall.

ELKO WEATHER IS MUCH COOLER

ELKO, B. C., June 28.—The weather here during the past few days has been pleasantly cool, with overcast skies most of the time and occasional showers and light occurrences of thunder and lightning. Radio reception is better than during real hot weather. Fishing has been poor with light catches, from Silver Spring lake and a fair catch or two from the Elk river. Gardens are looking fine and several good crops of vegetables, particularly potatoes, now seem assured around town. The danger of forest fires is very light just at present.

Winston Churchill has planned an extended lecture tour in America.

The Beauty Box

BY Helen Follett

Something more than muscular flexibility is necessary to produce grace of body movement. There must be coordination between the body and mind. The self-conscious girl is seldom graceful. She doesn't know what to do with her feet, so she kicks up the rugs. She feels that her hands are as big as her head, in the way. Her beauty stunt is to try and forget herself, to keep her chest up, hips back and tummy flat. Then feet and hands and movement will take care of themselves. They can't be awkward.

* * *

Scars are caused by the destruction of tissue. If only the skin and upper tissues are injured, Missus Nature comes along and does a good mending job. Deep wounds that have dug into the fibers and muscles may produce scars that can be cured only by cosmetic surgery. A new incision is made, the edges of the wound are carefully spliced together. Fresh injuries should be treated with ointment of zinc oxide.

* * *

A healthy girl should fall asleep quickly. If she is restless, stays awake, there is a reason. Constipation is a common cause of wakefulness. Too hearty a dinner will interfere with sleep. There should be a moving current of air in the room. The pillow should be low, bed clothing light, and the mind free of worries.

Knife pleated throats are tragic afflications. They call for massage with a heavy cream and the palms of the hands, stroking from shoulder blades upward. Follow with a heavy tapping to rouse the fibers of the skin. Witch hazel should be used, it is a skin tightener. Hold up the chin. Place the clasped hands behind the head and turn the head slowly.

* * *

Short hair is as popular as ever. The long bob is as popular as ever. It is a nip and tuck between them. The long bob with the little walnut bob at the back makes a girl look older, and that's why some of the longies are chopping off their locks again.

When using lemon juice as a bleach for freckles, add to it an equal amount of rosewater.

ELKO BOARD OF TRADE HONORS PERKINS FAMILY

ELKO, B. C., June 28.—The Elko board of trade was host at a social evening held Wednesday evening in the local school, honoring Mr. and Mrs. H. H. Perkins who are leaving Elko shortly. Mr. Perkins is the local school-teacher and the secretary of the board of trade.

Progressive whist was the order of the first part of the evening, five tables being in play. The first prizes for whist went to Mrs. H. H. Perkins and J. H. Angell and the consolations were awarded Mrs. J. H. Angell and J. Christiano. Following cards a fine lunch was served by board of trade members. W. L. Foisy, president of the board, then presented to Mr. and Mrs. Perkins on behalf of the board and the citizens of Elko, a fine leather club bag in recognition of community services rendered by the two. Mr. Perkins made a suitable reply and expressed regret at having to give up his position, hoping, however, that their efforts had not been in vain. The floor was then cleared and dancing to music supplied by Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Angell, violin and piano, was continued till nearly 1 a.m.

Cantaloupe pie: Choose a large, ripe cantaloupe and, after removing seeds, scoop out the pulp with a large spoon and put this into the top of a double boiler with one cup of granulated sugar and two tablespoons of corn-starch powder previously mixed to a paste with one-half cup of cold water; cook over boiling water till thickened, then stir in two beaten egg yolks and cook a little longer, till well blended, before turning into a previously baked under crust; cover filling with a meringue made by beating two egg whites stiff with four tablespoons of granulated sugar and a pinch of cream of tartar and return to a low oven, for 20 minutes, to rise slowly and brown (at about 325 degrees F.). Serve cold.

Scalloped corn: In the top of a double boiler heat one and one-half cups of sweet milk, then thicken the hot milk with one-fourth cup of flour rubbed to a paste with one-fourth cup of melted butter. Stir till smooth, then add one-half teaspoon of salt, one tablespoon of sugar, and one pint of fresh corn from the cob (or drained canned corn may be used, if preferred). Let cook for a few minutes before turning the mixture into a baking dish; cover top with one cup of bread crumbs slightly moistened with two tablespoons of thin sweet cream, and make 20 minutes in a moderate oven. Serve hot.

"Casserole chicken: In the bottom of a casserole or baking dish put two slices of uncooked bacon, then a layer of the following vegetables—chopped carrots, chopped celery, chopped green sweet pepper, and diced white potatoes (pared but not cooked). Add a layer of boneless chicken (using either three cans or one pound), add lumps of butter, sprinkle with salt and pepper, then add more bacon strips, more diced vegetables, more chicken, and cover top with butter crumbs, after adding two cups of cold water mixed with one teaspoon of Worcester sauce. Bake two hours in a slow oven, and serve hot. Contributed by H. M."

Can't Forgive Him

DEAR MISS FAIRFAX:

There is a young man who has been very attentive to me for about two years. In fact everyone took it for granted that we were engaged. About a week ago, one of the girls in our crowd invited us to a dance she was giving at the country club. I called him and told him about it and that we were both invited and he said that he had made another engagement to take out a girl cousin who was visiting his aunt and wouldn't be able to go. The worst part of it was that he didn't even try to arrange to go. I didn't know anyone else to ask and consequently had to stay away from the dance. I have been angry with him ever since, and do not think I care to ever see him again.

RITA

My dear Rita, I think that you will be sorry to take this attitude. If you weren't really engaged to the young man, you had no reason to feel that it was his duty to accompany you. A nice way to show that you had overlooked the incident would be to entertain the boy's cousin someway yourself. He would appreciate it and admire you all the more for your gracious return to good humor.

Would Make Impression

DEAR MISS FAIRFAX:

I have met a most wonderful young man who is the son of the senior partner of the firm I work for. He has had me out to dinner several times and now I have an invitation to visit his mother at their summer cottage about the middle of next month. I do want to make a good impression on her and have the right clothes, and I do know what is right—but I am terribly poor. Do you think it would be too awful for me to make the clothes I would wear there? I have been learning to sew.

WINIFRED

Indeed I think that if you did make your own pretty summer dresses you would make a much greater impression than you can imagine. Mothers approve of thrifty girls, especially in these days. But you must be sure that your clothes are well cut and of the right materials. This is to be a "cotton year. I should suggest those lovely embroidered organdies for evening—a white and one or two in pastel shades. For informal wear, linen and cotton print tennis dresses and, if you can afford it, one lovely flowered chiffon. Of course, you will have to have a bathing suit, and that too may be made at home. My best wishes to you for a happy vacation.

Thoughtlessness

DEAR MISS FAIRFAX:

I am 26 years of age and have a younger sister whom I am helping to put through school and who is training to be a school teacher. We have a relative who contributes a small amount weekly in payment of a loan made by my father some years ago. I have a good position and most of the expenses of housekeeping and etc. must be paid by me. We manage to save $3.00 or $4.00 a week as a possible emergency fund.

I go with a man 9 years older than I. We have an understanding and, as soon as my sister has a position, we are planning to be married. He was called away on a business trip to be gone about six weeks. Don't you think that during that time he might send me a box of candy, a new magazine or something. He knows we can't afford amusements. It is not that he cannot afford it; I think that it is plainly a case of not being thoughtful. While he is here, we go to dances, dinners, theatres and etc. Possibly he would not like it if I told him that I had been out occasionally with other boys but when he has not made any provisions whatsoever for my entertainment while he is gone, and I am unable to do so for myself, I feel as if a dance now and then would not do any harm.

LEE.

I believe it is lack of thought, rather than lack of heart which prevents your fiance from paying you little attentions when he is in another city. And let me tell you, my dear, that it's the exceptional man who is thoughtful under such circumstances. I shouldn't go to dances with other young men without first telling him. And you might tactfully explain it, when you do write and speak of your invitations, that you're very lonesome and miss his consideration of you—that you're out of reading matter—and now, that you come to think of it, candy as well. If you take the right tone—don't complain or scold—I believe your letter will bring results.

Her Card Issue

DEAR MIS FAIRFAX:

I have known my boy friend's folks a long time before I knew him. A few months ago, on my way walking home from the theater, I met him unexpectedly. He asked me if he might see me home. I consented and in the meantime, I invited him to supper. A few weeks elapsed, he asked me for a date. I accepted it. Later I sent him an Easter greeting but I haven't heard from him since. What do you think of him? I am wondering would it be proper if I invited him some Sunday for dinner, or what would be best? Thanking you for the advice you'll give me.

ROSE MARIE.

Greeting cards often get lost in the mail; all things considered, I believe I'd give him another chance and invite him to dinner.

PERHAPS it's just an off day for the Crystal. Or maybe your future is rather obscure. But don't let that worry you. There is a far more dependable way to learn what lies ahead of you. It is simply to consider the foods you eat.

Healthy bodies make happy futures. Balanced, nourishing food plays a big part in building healthy bodies. And that's where Grape-Nuts comes in. For a single four-teaspoonful serving of Grape-Nuts contains more varied nourishment than many a hearty meal.

What's more . . . you never tasted a more delicious breakfast dish! A secret process brings out an utterly different "nut-like" flavour in the natural grains from which Grape-Nuts is made. Then, too, Grape-Nuts is crisp. Just ask any dentist how beneficial eating crisp foods is to the health and beauty of your teeth and gums!

Caring for the Transient

"The provincial government has approved and accepted the suggestion of the federal authorities that t he two governments shall each pay the cost of providing transients with food, whether such transients are in organized or unorganized districts. This arrangement to take effect as from and including June 19."

The statement above was made by Premier Tolmie on Friday last. This will be welcomed by numerous municipalities throughout British Columbia. In many centers such as Nelson the question has not been so much that of keeping local unemployed cared for as it has been to look after the transient.

Transients ride freight trains. Every train brings from two to 25 transients into the city. These men must eat. They generally are broke and if not receiving civic relief, a bowl of soup and bread, they are begging on the streets.

Under Premier Tolmie's announced scheme the province and Dominion will assume all liability for the feeding of these transients. The city of course will be the boss in this matter, but any outlays will be repaid.

Another announcement of interest deals with local unemployed. In the case of a Nelson resident being unemployed he will be cared for on a three-way basis. The city will pay a third, the Dominion a third and the province a third.

This scheme is wholly a relief scheme. It is a great help in this time of stress, but another method is needed. At present money can be borrowed cheaply, a three-handed borrowing plan between the municipalities, province and Dominion could raise money which would be used in development of highways, etc., and which would put thousands of unemployed to work. Thus would relief measures be unnecessary.

However, Premier Tolmie's announcement will be received with pleasure especially by those municipalities which are situated along railways lines. It is in these centers that the transient has become the greatest burden.

Better Unemployed in States Than Employed in Russia

Conflicting reports as to the success or failure of the five-year plan still leave conditions in Russia more or less of a mystery. Wheat, timber and manufactures pour across her borders and offer tangible evidence of Russian activity. Engineers, mechanics and machinery from the outside world are swallowed up by her ports. Yet as to the social and political conditions of the country, and the progress which is being made, there is so much surmise and so little authoritative knowledge, that Russia might almost as well be on another planet.

For this reason, particular interest attaches to the report of an American newspaper correspondent who has tramped over a goodly part of Russia and has made an exhaustive study of conditions there. He manifestly attempts to give an unprejudiced view. He intimates that the real situation is neither so good nor so bad as it is painted. He rejects the idea that the whole nation has been put in a straitjacket. You can't, he points out, put 160,000,000 people in a straitjacket. Yet he does mention that three million kulaks who did not take kindly to the Soviet's plans with regard to agriculture were removed from their farms and transported to work in the bush.

The nation has pinned its faith to the five-pear plan and is making sacrifices for its success. But the foundation of the plan is machinery. And the Russians, he points out, are not, never have been, and never will be mechanical. The Soviet's difficulty is that an unmechanical people is attempting to make mechanization a success.

As to the standards of living in Russia, the correspondent's view is epigrammatically succinct. He would rather, he says, be among the unemployed in the United States than among the employed in Russia.

And says a note received in The Nelson Daily News editorial room from a Canadian Press operator following the sending of a dispatch relating to Gatty and Post flying over Russia: "I hope those guys soon get out of Russia—I lose a lot of time being careful with those double and triple-barrelled places." However, the opator should not grumble, he does not have to pronounce the names.

A new phone, that can be carried around and plugged into a socket in any room where you happen to be, has been invented. Now if some one will devote his brains to inventing a hello girl that never gives the wrong number, all will be quieter along the Kootenay tonight.

Crescent Valley store was wrecked by six sticks of dynamite. It is credited to amateur safe crackers. If it was a case of safe crackers and they were that dumb, it is a wonder they did not stay in an outer room to wait until the dynamite went off.

Castlegar people voted for beer by the glass. The wets won by one vote. They will be patting themselves on the back because so-an-so got to the poll. The drys will likely be saying: "If only so-an-so and so-and-so had only voted."

San Fernando valley in California must be a place of wonderment. Numerous freak stories come from that locality. They have a puzzler down that way just now. When is a cat a jack-rabbit? That is the question worrying the folks down there.

* * *

Is a cat a jack-rabbit if it looks like and hops like a jack-rabbit? The problem is puzzling Miss Florence Mayte of Sepulveda, who took her freak specimen to W. H. Lawrence of the biology department of the high school for observation.

* * *

As soon as the cat was placed before Lawrence it hopped away like a rabbit, and then hunched up on its hind legs and wiggled its whiskers much on the order of the sage-bush rodent.

* * *

Lawrence maintains the cat must have been injured when it was young. He scorns the theory of prenatal influence, and is emphatic that the cat is not a "cross," because biologically the cat and rodent families don't mix. The mother cat is dead. During her life she was famed for occasionally wandering out of her home backward. Thus Lawrence may be wrong about his biology.

Meanwhile the progeny is very much alive and active. Being a cat and also rodent, she can go and chase herself if in need of something to eat.

BRITISH COLUMBIA AND DOUKHOBORS

Something in the nature of a modus vivendi appears to have been reached in the relationship of the Sons of Freedom with their compatriots, the Doukhobors. Incidentally, it is the provincial government, through the firm measures it is adopting, that deserves full credit for its handling of a very delicate problem. The delicacy lies in the fact that it is with fanatics the government has been dealing, and with those of a race who have been admitted as settlers to the country through an arrangement which the Dominion made with the late Peter Verigin.

The Doukhobors have been a thorn in the flesh of authority ever since they settled in Canada. The organization of the Sons of Freedom from their midst has precipitated complications during recent years. The government again and again has sought to devise measures to bring about peace in the Russian community, to assuage the differences that exist and to make those settlers as a whole amenable to the laws of the country. It has remained for the administration of law and order under R. H. Pooley, the attorney-general, to take a long step forward by showing in the clearest possible fashion that legislation exists to be observed by people of all races and classes. The measures he has adopted have obviously made a deep impression on the Doukhobors. It is conceivable that a good deal less will be heard in the future of their violations of the law of the land.

In the steps taken to bring home to the Russian sect the inevitability of its subjection to authority, Mr. Pooley has an able ambassador in Assistant Commissioner W. R. Dunwoody, acting under Colonel J. H. McMullin of the provincial police. Mr. Dunwoody is reporting today to the attorney-general on the measures adopted, and these are on the basis of a firm stand in the interests of law and order. That is a duty which is owed to the rest of the community and to the Doukhobors themselves. They must either become good citizens in every respect or be segregated under surveillance. That is the only alternative, short of their deportation to their homeland, a step which appears to be precluded because of the character of arrangements made for their entry into Canada. Everyone will hope that the firm stand taken up the attorney-general will have the desired result.—Victoria Colonist.

WHAT DO YOU THINK?

Would Call Off Hounds Pursuing Man Who Employes

To the Editor of the Nelson Daily News:

Sir: If one were to say that the root of the unemployment problem lies in the fact that there are too many would-be-employees and not enough employers he would, perhaps be regarded as a cheap, heartless humorist giving utterances to a transparent and shallow truism. But I am convinced that until the problem is faced resolutely from this angle and that until something is done to lessen the number of those seeking employment and at the same time increase the number of those able and willing to give employment. I am firmly convinced that until this is done the problem will not only remain unsolved but grow steadily worse and eventually become a menace to our civilization.

As a means of increasing the number of employers I would suggest that they be given the same consideration as fish and game animals and that a closed season be declared in which employers are free from legislative persecution and abusive propaganda that has been growing in violence and intensity for half a century. Let it become an honorable business again to employ others and, perhaps, we may again meet persons enquiring where they can find reliable helpers instead of being constantly asked by the hungry for the price of a meal. Today the man who is either seeking employment or, who does not employ others is free from persecution and abuse. But the moment he employs someone to dig his garden or saw his woodpile he becomes a target for all kinds of missiles and brickbats. The popular trend of feeling is shown in the comic strips. At the present moment an artist is keeping up our interest in Little Orphan Annie by a gruesome tale of a soulless corporation that eluded its responsibility to an injured employee. If the unemployment problem is to be solved this attitude toward employers must undergo a radical change. I know a neighborhood where the unemployment problem has been acute for some time and yet the best abused and most hated man in the whole community is one who went among them some months ago as an employer. I happen to know this man personally and I believe that much of the propaganda that has been launched against him is pure libel. But this is beside the question. If the unemployed problem is ever to be solved the employer must be regarded as a public benefactor and public opinion must protect him from unmerited abuse.

Among those who are still holding good jobs and drawing ample salary cheques are many thousands who could if they only would go into business for themselves and even employ others. Why not call off the hounds from pursuing the employers and set them chasing these wealthy employees who still cling to their jobs with a death-like grip while younger men are starving because of unemployment. In the present crisis every man who can should leave the labor market and go into business for himself.

Merchants Do Their Share; Urge Help of Large Corporations

To the Editor of the Nelson Daily News:

Sir: In your isue of June 28 O. Thomas says says as a solution for the unemployed and nedy he would have the storekeeper, butcher, etc., donate a fixed amount of meats, groceries etc. If Mr. Thomas knew the amount of credits extended by the merchants, he would know they are doing their bit. Mr. Thomas must look elsewhere for a remedy. What about the employers of the Kootenay, the C. P. R. and other industries, who bring men into this country and leave them to their fate? Why not suggest some of these big companies giving some aid, taking itno consideration the big profits of the past year and the low wages paid the laborers which prevented them from laying any aside for such a time. Give up the dole as we have it in England rather than begging on the streets, or using a gun as some of the hard-boiled are doing at present. Its up to the employers of labor. Let them do their stuff, rather than throw the responsibility on our merchants.

PANAMA CHANGES

If the shades of the old-time sea rovers and adventurers ever see the American newspapers, they must have been extremely interested by a brief little item from Panama city that appeared the other day. The item said that the government of Panama has signed a contract with a Mexican promoter to convert the ancient city of Old Panama into a tourist resort.

Old Panama, in its heyday, was a famous city, and a great many men traveled long distances to get to it. But they were all there on business, from the government official who came out from Spain in a top-heavy galleon to the roving free-booter who sailed in to sack the place. One and all, they would have roared with mirth at the mere suggestion that the town could ever be a haven for the tourist.

However, there it is, in black and white. Panama City is to be a tourist resort. The city that was once considered the world's pest hole is to offer gay hotels, casinos, gambling halls and all the rest of the establishments by which carefree travelers are induced to get off their ships and stay a while.

Obviously, the world has been changing. Man's knowledge of his environment and of the forces that operate in it has progressed so far that the killing of mosquitoes has turned the yellow fever capital into a place where tourists can stroll about at ease and say, "How quaint!"

But what a lot of things had to happen before that change could be made! The number and scope of them are a fair measure of the progress of the race in the last three centuries.

Before Panama could become a health resort there had, first of all, to be huge political changes. The intermittent warfare of two and three centuries ago had to end, piracy had to be abolished and governments had to be stabilized.

Indeed, as far as that goes, the general prosperity of the average citizen had to be raised materially. There were no tourists when Panama was in its hey day; hardly anybody could afford to travel except on business.

Last, and most important of all, yellow fever had to be wiped out; and before that could be done, the science of medicine had to advance immeasurably from what it was in the days of Drake and Morgan. The whole science of public health had to come into existence.

But there it is. All of these things have been done. Old Panama is to angle for the tourists—which means that the world, in three centuries, has changed almost beyond recognition.—Victoria Times.

ONLY THE BEST WIN

The latest report of Canadian National egg laying contests (bulletin 139-N.S.) provides further conclusive proof that only the best pullets in the best flocks of the Dominion make the grade for registration, and only about one in four of carefully bred and selected pullets qualify. In the 1928-29 contest out of a total of 4370 birds entered only 1202 fully qualified for registration. Other 420 birds laid a sufficient number of eggs but failed to qualify on account of egg size.

THE PLACE FOR A COUP

NORTH: ♠Q-2 ♥J-6-4 ♦K-Q-J-9-5 ♣9-6-5
WEST (Dealer): ♠J-9-3 ♥9-7-2 ♦8-2 ♣A-Q-7-3-2
EAST: ♠A-7-6-4 ♥Q-10-5-3 ♦10-4-3 ♣10-4
SOUTH: ♠K-10-8-5 ♥A-K-8 ♦A-7-6 ♣K-J-8

When the above hand was played at Auction, south bid one no trump and that declaration was followed by three passes.

If it had been played at Contract, south with a count of 18 and every suit stopped, would have bid no trumps. North, with a count of 9, would have had much more than the strength required to jump to three.

In the play west led the trey of clubs, east played the ten, and south won with the jack; if he had played low, east would have returned the lead and declarer would not have made a club trick. The declarer then ran his five diamonds; west discarding two hearts and a spade, and east discarding a spade and a heart. Dummy then led a heart which closed hand won and declarer had his odd trick in hand. South next led a small spade, dummy played the queen; east won with the ace and led a club. So the adversaries took five tricks and saved game. Could declarer have won it?

THE CORRECT PLAY

No one can tell what would have happened had declarer made the play which might have produced game.

After winning with the jack of clubs, declarer should have led the ace of diamonds from closed hand, playing small from dummy; then, just as if closed hand had held the lone diamond ace, he should have led the king of spades, apparently trying to make dummy's queen of spades an entry to cash the long diamonds. In that case, east might have been tempted to hold up the ace of spades, and if he did declarer would be able to run game.

It would be tempting for east to hold up because he would not know that the clubs were in position to run. East could not be sure that west had led from five clubs or that south did not hold the winning club.

With all hands exposed, the reader is apt to say that east should not have been fooled by the play; but at the table he would have been very apt to yield to the lure of trying to shut out dummy's diamonds.

THAT BODY OF YOURS

By JAMES W. BARTON

EATING LIVER TO PREVENT BLEEDING

Perhaps you have wondered what was wrong with some friend or acquaintance because he is what is called a "bleeder," one who bleeds easily, and in whom it is difficult to stop bleeding once it starts.

This condition is known as haemophilia and occurs only in males but transmitted by the female; that is the daughter of a man afflicted with haemophilia will hand it down to her son but not to her daughter, and then the daughter of this son will hand it down to her son and so forth.

The bleeding may occur of its own accord but usually follows some injury which in a normal individual would not cause bleeding. And because it is slow in clotting, the bleeding often continues so long that blood from other individuals must be injected into the patient to save his life. It would appear that one of the substances in the blood that causes it to clot is defective, thus delaying clotting time so that it takes hours instead of minutes.

Now just what it is that is defective or deficient in this substance that clots the blood is not known, but it would appear that our research men are on their way to finding out. Dr. J. W. Pickering of Great Britain has found that liver or liver extract will shorten the clotting time of the blood in these cases by 50 per cent. This reduction does not occur till 12 hours after the liver or the liver extract has been taken.

The fact that the clotting does not take place immediately or shortly after the liver is taken, but only after 12 hours, would show that it is not the affect of the liver acting on the blood directly to make it clot, but that the liver acts on tissues which improve the substance that helps clot the blood, or that these tissues make more of the substance from the liver or liver extract.

Further, when the liver or liver extract is discontinued in these cases, the blood again becomes very slow in clotting.

The big point then is that in these bleeders or haemophiliacs as they are called, there is likely something deficient about the liver, when simply eating liver will help to correct the condition.

As the condition is hereditary, and at present not curable, it is gratifying to know that it can be helped to such a great extent by eating liver daily. This may make blood transfusions now unnecessary in many cases.

BETTY NUTHALL REPEATS VICTORY OVER LEADING TENNIS PLAYER OF U. S.

Mrs. L. A. Harper Falls Before Stroking of the British Ace, 6-4, 6-3

LONDON, June 28. (AP)—Before the King and Queen and with 10,000 fellow countrymen applauding Betty Nuthall, chubby darling of the British courts, yesterday repeated in decisive fashion the victory she scored over Mrs. L. A. Harper in the finals of the United States tennis championship last year.

Playing with a fire that was not to be denied, Great Britain's ranking woman player defeated the ranking player of the United States 6-4, 6-3 and moved into quarter finals of singles play with two other British women, two Germans, one Frenchwoman, one Swiss and one star from the United States.

The Nuthall-Harper match was the feature of the sixth day of Wimbledon play.

The final eight women's singles in addition to Miss Nuthall included Miss Helen Jacobs, United States; Cilli Aussen and H. Krahwinkel, Germany; Mme. Mathieu, France; Miss Payot, Switzerland; and Dorothy Round and M. C. Scriven, Great Britain.

The final eight of men's singles also was completed yesterday, Jiro Satoh, Jean Borotra and H. W. (Bunny) Austin winning straight-set victories to join Frank Shields, Sidney B. Wood, and John Van Ryan, of the United States; G. P. Hughes and Fred Perry, Great Britain, in the final eight. This line-up gives Great Britain and the United States three representatives each, Japan one and France one.

BOROTRA FLIES OVER

Borotra flew over from Paris on an early morning plane to defeat the Austrian, Artens, 6-4, 6-2, 6-3. With all his theatrical effects, including his blue beret and his acrobatics, Borotra remains the idol of Wimbledon.

Austin the main reliance of the British forces, won an easy victory over Ian G. Collins, a fellow countryman, 6-3, 6-4, 6-3, while Satoh eliminated H. L. N. Lee, also of Great Britain, 8-6, 6-4, 6-3.

Monday's centre court program pits Austin against Shields and Borotra against Satoh. Wood will meet Hughes and Van Ryan will play Perry to decide the four semi-finalist. The first four are in the low half of the draw and the last four in the upper.

Play also will continue in the men's doubles and the mixed doubles Monday, but the women's singles quarter-finals will not go on until Tuesday.

In the women's play yesterday Miss Jacobs disposed of Mrs. Kitty McKane Godfree, twice a Wimbledon champion, 6-2, 6-1.

SHIELDS AND WOOD WIN

Shields and Wood won two doubles matches, George Lott, Jr., and Mrs. Harper won a first round match at mixed doubles and Gregory Mangin, of Newark, N. J., paired with Pierre Landry, France, to win a third round encounter in men's doubles.

Shields and Wood first played the British team of G. R. O. Crolerees and C. G. Eames, winning easily, 6-0, 6-1, 6-2, but they almost met a tartar in the South African pair of P. D. B. Spence and L. Raymond, finally breaking through after five dramatic sets, to win 5-7, 6-2, 6-0.

Lott and Mrs. Harper had a real fight on their hands with H. W. Artens, of Austria and Mme. Nicolopoulos, of Greece, but won in two sets 8-6, 6-3. Mangin and Landry ran over O. G. N. Turnbull and J. B. Gilbert, of Great Britain, 6-1, 7-5, 6-3.

Mrs. John Van Ryn, United States star, lost her fourth round match at singles to Mme. Rene Mathieu, France's ranking player.

DOLP WINS THE NORTHWEST GOLF TITLE, TACOMA

Won Same Title in 1929; Defeats Dr. O. F. Willing Eight and Seven

TACOMA, June 28.—She must be a half-sister or a cousin of "calamity Jane" for she worked with all the cunning of Bobby Jones' old faithful putter to give Frank Dolp of Portland the Pacific northwest amateur Golf Championship here Saturady and upset any plans for opponent and fellow-townsman, Dr. O. F. Willing, had a squaring a certain embarassing defeat handed him three weeks ago.

Dolp jumped ahead at the second hole in the morning and he steadily increased his lead throughout the scheduled 36-hole trek to win the northwest title for the second time, 8 and 7.

He was previously victorious in 1929.

The women's title was carried off to California when Mrs. Brent Potter, Palo Alto, upset the dope to nose out Mrs. Vera Hutchings, Vancouver, B. C., 1929 and 1930 titlist, two up, in a sensational golf battle.

SPILLS, THRILLS FEATURE RACING AT WINNIPEG OVAL

WINNIPEG, Man., June 28. (CP)—Spills with resultant injuries and close finishes featured Saturday's race card at Whittles park. Tarnish, four year old gelding, was forced to the limit to capture the Fort Garry purse of $1000 in the fifth race, a mile run. Doctor Wilson was close behind in second place and St. Tuscan captured show position.

In the first race, Silent Canadian paid $51.55 for a $2 ticket when he won the event which was marred by the upset of four horses. Jockey Brown received a fractured leg in the tumble. Jockeys Mulrooney, Longdon and Rennie were badly shaken but the latter two returned to the saddle later.

UNITED STATES GOLFERS ANNEX THE RYDER CUP FROM BRITAIN

Captures the Series 9-3; Hagen Brings Home the Deciding Victory

SCIOTO COUNTRY CLUB, Columbus, O., June 28. (AP)—Walter Hagen's squad of pro golf sharpshooters defeated the gallant British forces yesterday and restored the Ryder cup to United States custody for the next two years.

Under a scorching sun whose rays only partially were offset by a fresh breeze, the United States team blazed its way to victory in six of the eight singles matches and captured the series by the final scores of 9 to 3. The United States players had taken three of the four Scotch foursomes Friday.

Hagen had the honor of bringing home the seventh and deciding victory when he vanquished the rival British captain, Charles Whitcombe, 4 and 3, in the feature match that attracted the interest of most of the gallery of 12,000, including Bobby Jones.

SET A FAST PACE

It was the climax of a series of victories by Billy Burke, Gene Sarazen and Densmore Shute. Burke set the pace for the United States team by defeating big Archie Compston, 7 to 6. Sarazen followed this with a similarly wide margin over Robson, 7 and 6, and Densmore Shute disposed of young Bert Hodson, 3 and 6, for the biggest margin of the day.

Wiffy Cox and Al Espinosa accounted for the remaining United States victories. Cox pulled out a ding-dong battle with Abe Mitchell, 3 and 1, by holing a 30-foot putt on the 35th green. Espinosa, after having his advantage wiped away entirely by Ernest Whitcombe, with three holes to go, rallied to win by 2 and 1.

The only losers on the United States side were Johnny Farrell, who bowed unexpectedly to W. H. Davis, one of the younger members of the British team, and Craig Wood, who lost to Arthur Havers, former British open champion. Both victories were won by identical margins, 4 and 3.

Yesterday's victory gave the United States two out of three in the competition for the Ryder cup, begun in 1927 with a United States win. The British won in 1929, and took the informal series in England in 1926. In each case victory has gone to the home forces.

BILLY BURKE BRILLIANT

The most consistently brilliant golf yesterday was exhibited by Billie Burke, who shot sub-par golf all day to dispose of the giant Compston. Burke toured the rugged Scioto layout in 71 strokes, one under par, to lead Compston by two holes in the morning round, which the Briton covered in a fine 73. Burke was three under par for 12 holes played in the afternoon, going up five at the 27th and then bagging two straight birdies to win.

Hagen had the best round of the day, a 70 in the morning that put him four up on Charles Whitcombe, Whitcombe, although apparently affected by the heat in the afternoon, staged a game rally to win three straight holes, the 29th, 30th and 31st, and cut Hagen's lead from 6 to 3. There was not time enough left for the Briton to extend his rally, however, and he lost the match on the 33rd hole.

ESPINOSA MAY OUTWIT JINX

(By AL DEMAREE)

Al Espinosa has probably finished second in more major tournaments than any modern golfer.

But many of the "pros" are figuring him to shatter traditions and win the national open that opens Thursday at Toledo, Ohio.

Al's bad luck reminds me of the story Alex Pirie, tells of a "hole-in-one" being lost.

"Willie Anderson, four time winner of the national open, and myself were playing George Low and Ben Nichols," said Alex. "Playing the 7th hole of about 240 yards, downhill and blind, three balls were on the green. They proved to be Anderson's, Low's and mine. After looking for Nichols' ball for about 10 minutes, Anderson advised him to give up the hole and we proceeded to putt out.

"Anderson was away and holed his for a deuce, the caddie at the hole said nothing when he pulled out the flag for Anderson to putt and you can imagine what happened when Anderson went to pick out his ball and found Nichols' ball in the hole.

"Willie insisted that Ben take the penalty for a lost ball as we had looked for it up to the legal time and then some.

"Nichols' gift of profanity was at its best when he lost his hole-in-one and had a caddie that said nothing about a bell being in the hole before his opponent putted."

NEW ZEALAND AND ENGLAND SHOW UP POORLY IN TEST

New Zealand Dismissed in First Innings With 224 Runs; England 190

LONDON, June 28. — (Canadian Press cable)—Under ideal conditions before 20,000 spectators, the test cricket match between England and New Zealand at Lord's began on Saturday with both teams making mediocre showings. New Zealand were dismissed in their first innings for 224 runs and when stumps were drawn England had scored 190 runs for seven wickets.

With the wicket hard and fast, the bowlers took the honors of the day. Peebles took five of the New Zealander's wickets for 77 runs and Robins took three for 38 runs. The visiting bowlers had their revenge when England batted, Merritt taking four wickets and Cromb the other three.

NEW ZEALAND WINS TOSS

New Zealand won the toss and went in. Mills and Dempster, the opening pair, put on 58 runs before being parted. Then Dempster with Weir made a stand to bring the score upto 130. Dempster was out leg before wicket on one of Peebles' tricky balls having made 53 runs, highest total of the innings at lunch time was 132 runs. After the interval the wickets fell quickly. New Zealand were all out for 224 runs.

England started off disastrously, four wickets falling for 62 runs. Arnold, Blakewell and Ammond were quickly out and then Prince Duleepsinhji put on 25 runs, Jardine the new captain, went in and with Frank Woolley made a stand that turned the tide. Jardine made 38 and Frank Woolley knocked up 80 to bring the score up to 188 for six wickets. Just before the close of play, Peebles went in and was stumped by James. Stumps were drawn with the scoreboard showing 190 runs for seven wickets.

MILK RECORDS HELP

The value of milk records in improving herd production is the subject of an interesting reference in the annual report of the work of illustration stations for 1930, which has just been issued. In 1928 the average production from 18 test herds was 6442 pounds of milk; for 1930 the individual average was 7073, an increase of 631 pounds of milk per cow over a period of two years. Only by actual knowledge of what each cow in his dairy herd is producing can a farmer today eliminate the "boarders" and increase total production and earning power of this phase of his farming operations. —Dept. of agriculture, Ottawa.

CHICAGO WHEAT AVERAGES LOWER

Buyers Flock to Corn and Oats But Stear Away From Wheat

CHICAGO, Ill., June 28—(By John P. Boughan, Associated Press market editor)—Buyers flocked to corn and oats yesterday, and backed away from wheat. Hot, dry weather threatening to damage corn and doing actual injury to oats furnished incentive to purchase feed grains. Wheat prices averaged lower largely owing to federal farm board refusal to change its policy in regard to disposal of old crop holdings.

Corn closed firm, ⅝ to 1¼ cents higher, wheat ⅜ off to ¼ up; oats ¾ to 1 cent advanced, and provisions unchanged to a rise of 12 cents.

CHERRY PRICES ON PRAIRIES WILL BE DOWN

Expected to Be Low First of This Week; B. C. Vegetables Sell Well

VICTORIA, B. C., June 28. —Owing to the wet weather at the coast the mortality amongst young chicks has been higher than usual approximating the rearing season of 1917 which was a disasterous one, says the market news letter, department of agriculture, Victoria. The present spring-like temperatures have had the effect of prolonging the peak laying period.

Edmonton: Business is fair. June rains have been abundant and crops are in excellent condition which has created a brighter business outlook. The trade is disappointed with the berry deal, the market depending on B. C. arrivals which are inadequate for demand. Arrivals for the week amounted to 1135 crates which sold from $3 to $3.50 per crate. Condition of arrival being fair to good. Raspberry volume is increasing and arriving in fair condition and selling at $3.25 to $3.50. The cherry volume is increasing rapidly. This market will take only the best varieties and of good quality. Varieties such as Governor Wood etc., are not wanted. Pentiction Bings, are of excellen quality, are selling at $3 to $3.25; Royal Annes and Tartarians $2.25 and Decons $3.25. Car of B. C. new potatoes received of small size but quality good and selling slowly at 3 to 3½ cents a pound. B. C. cabage, bunch beets and carrots improving in quality and size.

Regina: Weather warm with local showers. B. C. strawberries arriving soft except Wynndels which are arriving in better condition than the Magoons. B. C. headlettuce, cauliflower, green peas, cucumbers, new potatoes, cabage, carrots and spinach in good supply and demand. Express receipts of B. C. Tartarian and Royal Anne cherries are on on the market. B. C. hothouse tomatoes are retailing at the same price as imported field product. Considerable local rhubarb now offering.

MILL OPERATIONS DOWN LAST WEEK

SEATTLE, June 27.—(AP)—The West Coast Lumbermen's association reported today that 343 mills operated at 42.49 per cent of capacity for the week ending June 20 as compared with 43.40 per cent the previous week and 55.19 per cent for the same week a year ago. For the first 24 weeks of 1931 these mills operated at 42.46 per cent of capacity compared with 64.20 per cent for the same period in 1930.

Current new business reported by 220 mills was .63 per cent under production and shipments were 5.25 per cent under. New rail trade business received during the week was about 1,000,000 feet more than the volume reported for the previous week; decreases of about 1,000,000 feet in the export trade and 1,300,000 feet in the local trade were reported, while the domestic cargo trade decreased about 6,500,000 feet.

During the past 24 weeks of 1931 orders for the 220 mills have averaged 1.50 per cent over production.

WINNIPEG WHEAT CLOSES STEADY

Dry Weather and Bullish Reports Counteracts Bear Activity

WINNIPEG, Man., June 28—Higher cables, dry weather and bullish crop reports counteracted the bearish action by the United States farm board and reappearance of Russia in the export field here Saturday. Wheat values at the close held steady, ¼ cent lower to ⅛ cent higher.

July closed at 62; October at 64½ and December at 66⅝ to ⅝.

There was a distinct absence of export demand. This nipped in the bud any buying in the speculative market.

Cash wheat and coarse grains gave an uninteresting display. Prices held in sympathy with wheat.

GERMAN SETTLERS HOLD AS LEASES; NOT ASSESSABLE

Land Board Properties Are Still Vested in the King

ASSESSOR STEWART SHOWS THE RECORDS

Langston Appeal Dismissed at February Court of Revision

Asked regarding the Creston dispatch appearing in Thursday's Nelson Daily News regarding non-assessment of the German settlers at Camp Lister for school purposes, J. A. Stewart, provincial assessor for this territory, stated that so far as his office was aware, all these lands were held under lease from the province under the land settlement board.

NOT YET SOLD

Whenever the board disposes of lands, under agreements of sale, it notifies the assessor, he stated, and then they are assessed for tax purposes. No advices have been received of this kind in respect to these lands.

As a matter of fact, he stated, these lands are recorded at the Nelson land registry office at the present time as "held by His Majesty the King in right of his province of British Columbia."

Under section 24 of the Taxation act, therefore, they are exempt from taxation. This section states: "The following lands shall be exempt from taxation," and the very first classification given under this is subsection (1), which reads: "Lands vested in or held by His Majesty."

APPEALS DISMISSED

At the court of revision on the assessment roll of the Nelson assessment district, held on February 11 last, Ed. Langston, president of the Camp Lister Farmers' institute, who presided at the recent meeting of protest, at which a resolution was drafted to be sent in to the government, appealed from his school assessment on the ground "That the school tax has not been equitably apportioned, as German settlers on the land settlement board properties have not been assessed."

As reported in The Nelson Daily News at the time, E. G. Matthew, judge of the court of revision and appeal, dismissed this appeal, rendering the fiolowing judgment:

"I find that the assessor complied in all respects with the provisions of the Public Schools act with reference to this assessment; I therefore dismiss the appeal."

Appeal by another Camp Lister taxpayer on the same ground was dismissed in a similar judgment.

MAT TRAINING SAVES LOGGER FROM COUGAR

Rustle in Bush Behind Him Gives Warning of Big Cat About to Pounce

LONGVIEW, Wash., June 27.—(A.P.)—A battle to the death was waged in the primeval fastness of the upper Toutle river section last night between an agile cougar or mountain lion and an equally agile man. The man, Charles Mattern, assistant woods superintendent for the Weyerhauser Timber company and a logger wrestler who is entered by his camp in the Longview rodeo sports July 3 and 4, is exhibiting the pelt of the big cat today as evidence of the outcome of the battle.

Mattern, who was traveling from the woods to headquarters camp on a company speeder had stopped at a small creek to get water for the engine. As he stooped to fill a bucket he heard a distrubance in the brush. He looked up to gaze into the shining eyes of a crouched cougar. As the animal sprang, Mattern agile because of his mat training, sidestepped the plunge and kicked the cat a glancing blow with one foot. With the next move the man grasped a big rock with which he hit the now enfuriated beast in the mouth. One more rock, and still a third, was thrown. One of these hit the cat in the eye and the other in forehead temporarily stunning and cowing it.

Mattern leaped out of ahrm's way at this juncture and the animal retreated into the brush. Mattern journeyed to camp and returned with a rifle. After a short hunt the cat was treed and shot.

KOOTENAY GAINS IN MAY HEAVY IN TELEPHONES

Five Months Gains 102 Net; Trail Ousts Nelson in Expansion

Activity in telephone installation during May in all parts of the Kootenay is reflected in the statistical table in the current issue of Telephone Talk, just to hand. No fewer than eight exchanges owned by the B. C. Telephone company or operated by it show, for June 1, an increase in number of services over January 1, while the number of those showing declines has dropped to five. The net gains of the eight total 135 services, against net declines of 33 from the five that are still down, leaving a net gain for the territory of 102 services. Three exchanges show neither gain nor loss on the five months period.

TRAIL SPEEDS UP

Nelson, which has led in net gains all this year with the exception of January, this month loses the lead to Trail, which on the five months has a gain of 62 services, to 43 boasted by Nelson. Rossland gains 12, Grand Forks, Kimberley and Invermere five each, Balfour two, and Kaslo one, making up the total of 135. Greenwood, Creston and Michel stand pat on their January figures. Of the five that have lost, Rock Creek is one down, Nakusp is two, Cranbrook has reduced its loss to six, New Denver is 10 down, and Fernie has cut its loss to six. New Denver is 10 down, and Fernie has cut its los to 14, the aggregate loss of this group being 33.

In volume, Nelson continues to be the ranking exchange, with 1648 services, Trail coming second with 1462. The others line up as follows: Cranbrook, 585; Fernie, 313; Rossland, 291; Grand Forks, 281; Creston, 134; Kimberley, 115; Kaslo, 112; Invermere, 111; New Denver, 105; Greenwood, 49; Michel, 42; Rock Creek, 41; Nakusp, 36; Balfour, 15.

GOLDS AND BASES JOIN UPSURGE ON VANCOUVER BOARD

Big Missouri and Beaver Silver Again Monopolize the Trading

VANCOUVER, B. C., June 28.—Golds joined the base metal shares in the continued upsurge on the Vancouver stock market during the brief Saturday session. Prices in the mines division advanced throughout the session, and leaders generally closed at their highest levels. Interest in the oils dwindled to a minimum, but stocks in this group ended the day steady.

Big Missouri and Beaver Silver again monopolized trading interest. Beaver Silver, which accounted for 15,000 shares of the day's volume of 33,920 shares, opened moderately higher at six cents and closed strong at 6¼ cents, a net gain of one cent. Big Missouri sold firmly at 35 cents, and closed one cent net higher at 33 cents. Porter Idaho stiffened two cents to five cents bid, while small advances appeared in Reeves McDonald and Noble Five.

In the precious metal group both Pioneer and Premier were strong features, with the former closing three cents higher at 2.50 and the latter up two cents at 70 cents. Reno crossed the board steadily at 2 2 cents and closed unchanged at 2 cents bid.

With the exception of fractional changes in Amalgamated and Merland the oils shares were unchanged.

IN LEAGUE WITH THE BABIES

WHEN LITTLE girls wore copper-toed boots and tight-waisted dresses and little boys wore kilts—what of the babies? Swathed in yards of clothes. Scrubbed with unknown soaps. Few of them expected to live during the dreaded second summer. Many of them suffering countless ailments because nobody knew what to do.

A glance back only a generation or so is enough to reveal how fortunate babies are today. Now there are soft, cool soaps . . . every aid in food that care and knowledge can prepare . . . sensible, light little clothes . . . and such knowledge of sanitation and control of disease that every little baby should live and grow.

Mothers are indebted to advertisements for their news of these nursery aids . . . just as they are indebted for news of fascinating menus, fadeless curtains, sprightly dinnerware. Constantly, ways are being devised to make life happier, more comfortable for baby the whole family. Laboratories clean and bright are scenes of goods being tested—being made safe and pure. When the testing is over, the perfecting done—advertisements hasten the goods to you.

No longer marvel (the next time you buy something widely known) at how fresh, immaculate, fine it is. These are qualities you can be sure of in buying advertised merchandise . . . qualities you must be sure of in buying for the health, of babies, children, any one.

IT IS SURPRISING HOW TIMELY AND VITAL THE NEWS IN ADVERTISEMENTS CAN BE! READ THEM REGULARLY.

TO SEARCH FOR SEMI-TROPICAL VALLEY IN B. C.

Party on Its Way North to Explore Country Little Known as Yet

WINNIPEG, Man., June 28. (CP)—Seeking rich semi-tropical valleys in the rugged northern wilds of British Columbia, an exporation party headed by Dr. J. Orman Henry of Philadelphia, Pa., passed through Winnipeg Saturday night en route to Edmonton.

Tales of these beautiful valleys have been brought out by Indians and prospectors from time to time, and they are reported to abound in vegetation, game and minerals. Their location has never been definitely fixed; but it is believed that the approach, a hidden pass through the mountains said to be only 10 feet wide, is somewhere near where the Toad and Liard rivers join.

The party, consisting of Dr. and Mrs. Henry, H. G. McCusker, Canadian government topographer, who will chart the region; and Dr. B. H. Chamblee, will travel from Edmonton through the Peace river country to Fort St. John, the jumping-off place. Then will begin the long northward journey with 11 guides and 80 pack horses. It is expected that the expedition will reutrn to civilization before the end of August, and that no reports of their investigations will be available until then.

STUDY FLORA AND FAUNA

D. Henry, if successful in his quest, will conduct a careful study of the flora and fauna of the region and any new specimens discovered will be sent to the academy of natural sciences at Philadelphia for further study.

For some years Dr. Henry has taken a keen interest in the large strip of northern British Columbia about which little is known and decision to make a thorough search was reached a year ago. He expressed grateful appreciation of the cooperation he had received on all sides which had enabled him to prepare for every contingency. Thousands of pounds of provisions have already been cached on Prophet river, half way between Fort St. John and the Liard river, which lies slightly more than 800 miles north of Edmonton.

HONOR ROLLS ARE GIVEN AT SCHOOL

Numerous Pupils Have Irregularity and Punctuality Honors

CASTLEGAR, B. C., June 28.—Castlegar public school sports and picnic held at he meadows was a complete success, if noise and happy faces constitute success. In all 35 events were staged, and as each child competing received a prize, it kept the judges, T. Fisher and T. L. Boomer, busy handing out 5c and 10c pieces. Principal L. G. Cook acted as starter and Miss M. Fisher looked after the ice cream for the kiddies. Miss Fisher's father, brother and sister were interested visitors at the games and gave a lot of valuable help to the fathers and mothers who, with the teaching staff, were looking after the welfare of the little ones. After the sports a move was made to the new Community hall for supper, the weather having turned slightly damp. At the hall various games were indulged in and a jolly, noisy time ensued. The teachers and mothers tendered their thanks to those who helped make the day a success, either by donating money, food, or help.

VERIGIN ARRIVES FROM PLAINS FOR COMMEMORATION

Doukhobors Foregathering at Brilliant for Today's Event

SHOW BURNING OF ARMS BY PAGEANT

Sons of Freedom May Take Part; Police Will Be on the Scene

Peter Verigin, president of the Christian Community of Universal Brotherhood, arrived from the prairie Sunday evening, with a party of about 50 Doukhobors, motoring here in trucks for the purpose of attending the annual commemoration at Brilliant Monday, of the great event in Doukhobor annals, the burning of arms in Russia on June 29, 1896.

For three or four days past, Doukhobors have been arriving from this purpose, while others have come from the prairie in motor convoys for this purpose, while others have come by train.

The usual movement from Grand Forks toward Brilliant for the event was reported Sunday.

Early today Doukhobors from the Kootenay river and Slocan valley settlements will be trekking en masses to Brilliant.

It is understood the program, in addition to the usual preaching by Peter Verigin, and the customary service at the tomb of the elder Peter, will include a dramatic representation of the historic incident of the burning of arms and the ensuing exile of those implicated.

SONS' ROLE NOT KNOWN

What part the Sons of Freedom group will play is not yet known. A year ago there were a few minor clashes, but the day ended with all factions uniting harmoniously in the service at the tomb, and the provincial police, who were on the scene, were not called upon to intervene on behalf of law and order.

A large force of provincial police will drive down from Nelson in the forenoon and be spectators at the proceedings.

STEERAGE AND SECOND CLASSES ARE ELIMINATED

VANCOUVER, B. C., June 28.—Elimination of second class and steerage classifications on the four white empresses of the Canadian Pacific's orient fleet and considerable reduction in fares for the new tourist cabin class which replaces second class was announced today by J. J. Forster, steamship general passenger agent.

Effective for sailings on and after August 1 from terminal ports, the Empress of Russia from Vancouver August 1 and the Empress of Canada from Manila August 10 and all sailings thereafter, Canadian Pacific ships will carry only three classes of passengers instead of four, designated first class, tourist cabin and third class. Accommodation formerly occupied by second class passengers will now be designated tourist cabin and carry adjusted fares.

Wash chiffon in a pure soap solution. No rubbing is required, just a rinsing up and down in water not too hot.

WESTERN BANKS AND PROVINCES MAKE ADJUSTMENT

OTTAWA, Ont., June 28. (CP)—Western provinces' representatives and bankers meeting Saturday arrived at a plan of adjustment of losses sustained on guaranteed advances made by banks to the wheat pool, in connection with the handling of the 1929 wheat crop.

The adjustment is understood to be by way of bonds, and though the plan is to be carried back to the governments of the three prairie provinces for official approval, no difficulty whatever, it is stated, will be expected by these provincial administrations in clearing up the matter.

SONS FREEDOM WIRE PREMIER ABOUT CENSUS

Protest at Arrests; Declare Cannot Give Census Figures

Following is the copy of a wire signed by six members of the Sons of Freedom which was dispatched on Friday last to Premier R. B. Bennett in Ottawa.

"Prime Minister of Canada,

R. B. Bennet, Ottawa, Ont.

"Dear Brother:

"We declare unto you in the head as a government of Canada the following:

"We cannot stand any more from you the injustice and vollence which your laws admit.

"First at the end of April at Brilliant it happened thus; six families were been thrown out from their homes on the C. P. R., which are still homeless.

"Second at the end of May at Thrums, four of our brethern were been sentenced to serve 10 days in prison.

"Third at Grand Forks at June the 20th, twelve of our brethern were been arrested of which two are women with infants.

"Your first two deeds are calling us on a struggle—we considered to bear and wait for your reasonable consideration, by the will of Christ.

"The third is the last which we cannot pass with the inactivity. The reason for the last arrest is the non-acceptance of your statistical registration.

"We have had declared unto you and are declaring now we cannot go in contact with you, the makers of Human laws.

"Its time for you to know that there is not only twelve of us but there is about close to seven hundred. We are invariable to the Ideal of Christ.

"We settlers of Grand Forks, Thrums, Glade, Slocan Valley, and Porto Rico, the same refused to take or come up under your census registration. If any one is registered than what is done in ones absence by the Provocators.

"Judah have had sold Christ for 30 silvers, but now some christians as they call themselves are selling their brethern for a nickel each.

BRIGHT WEATHER LOOKS WELL FOR HOLIDAY SPORTS

In 48 Hours the Big Program Will Be Under Way at Ball Park

THREE BANDS WILL PARTICIATE IN IT

Patriotic Exercises Open the Afternoon; Dance at Night

Sunday's bright weather pleased everybody in Nelson, but particularly the members of the Canadian Legion Bugle band, who with a great Dominion Day celebration just ripe for realization, were beginning to worry just a little over the prospects.

In another 48 hours the big show will be starting, and Tuesday night athletes from various parts of the Kootenay will be arriving in Nelson, to be ready to take part in the open events that will be part of the afternoon program. The great bulk of the visitors from other Kootenay points will probably motor in Wednesday morning.

BIG SPORTS DAY

The kiddies sports will be held at the Recreation grounds in the morning, but the afternoon program will be for all ages, with a full line-up of all the time-honored, laugh-provoking contests, including the greasy pig and the greasy pole.

There are rumors of challenge tugs-of-war, but no definite announcement has yet been made on this matter.

Three bands will take part in the celebration—the Canadian Legion Bugle band of Nelson, the Canadian Legion Bugle band of Cranbrook, and the Nelson City band.

The final phase of the celebration will be the Bugle band dance at night.

PUBLIC EXERCISES

As usual, there will be a community program of patriotic exercises between 1:15 and 2 o'clock at the civic bandstand on Vernon street, Dr. W. O. Rose being the speaker, with the I. O. D. E. also presenting the educational prizes won by Nelson school pupils in the essay contests.

TRAIL COMMITTEE PROSPECTS FOR SITE FOR PICNIC

City Fathers Show Visitors Nelson Fatalities; to Be 3000

A committee of employees of the Consolidated Mining & Smelting Company of Canada, introduced by P. H. Partridge, of the committee, came over from Trail Saturday and looked over the possibilities of Nelson as a site for a monster Consolidated picnic, that is planned for August 7.

Mayor J. P. Morgan, Alderman R. W. Dawson and J. B. Gray, and City Clerk W. E. Wasson met the Trail men, showed them over the Recreation grounds and Lakeside park, explained about parking facilities and assisted them in locating caterers. The members of the committee, which will report to a meeting Thursday, seemed satisfied with the facilities.

J. S. Carter, district passenger agent of the Canadian Pacific, was with the party.

It is now estimated that 3000 persons, men, women and children, will compose the picnic party, which would be transported both by rail and motor.

Ordinary grades of oak and stained wood furniture that have become shabby can be renovated cheaply and attractively at home. Sandpaper the old finish and paint carefully white, gray, ivory or any shade you desire. If you are of an enterprising nature you might even aspire to floral designs in places. Furniture of entirely different styles may be used together successfully by this method.

OFTEN a home is so constructed that a new room can be added with little cost and yet with tremendous advantages to the home-lover.
Or perhaps a basement is needed, in readiness for the installation of a furnace next winter. Or it may be a matter of new foundations.
Then there is the interior. A built-in feature here, a change in a staircase, or the remodeling of a kitchen will provide that modern effect and that modern comfort and convenience that is so much desired.
