ADDIS ABABA, Oct. 6 (CP-Havas)—Ras Seyum, Ethiopian commander, evacuated Aduwa under personal orders from Emperor Haile Selassie, who told the Tigre chieftain to withdraw the main Ethiopian army to prevent its being surrounded by Italian forces, it was learned here tonight.

The ras made an orderly retreat, and kept his army, numbering from 15,000 to 20,000 men, virtually intact, military circles declared.

The government announced that a massed squadron of Italian

Doused Fascists

Just for fun, Jimmy Donahue, above, youthful Woolworth heir, leaned from a hotel window in Rome, shouted "Long Live Ethiopia!" and squirted soda water from a syphon bottle at a group of earnest young Fascists. On the morning after, Jimmy and his cousin, the former Barbara Hutton, who now is Countess Kurt Haugwitz-Reventlow, were kept busy explaining to the Fascist officials, who called at their hotel.

LIBS RETREAT ON ALL FRONTS

So Declares Premier, Who Says the Change Favors Government

CHARLOTTETOWN, Oct. 6 (CP).—Approval or condemnation of the Imperial conference trade agreements were the two courses open to the people of Canada on October 14, Prime Minister Bennett declared here last night. Defeat of the Conservative government would be to serve notice to the people of the United Kingdom that Canada did not want the Empire trade agreements, he declared.

"It is because the people now have come to realize this," Mr. Bennett declared, "that there has been such a change in the trend of the election campaign. The Liberals are now in full retreat on all fronts."

NEUTRALITY IS CRY OF FRENCH CROWD IN PARIS

Laval Is Opposed to Sanctions Imposed Immediately

SLOW, PROGRESSIVE ACTION HIS IDEA

15000 Demonstrate on Boulevards and Cry for Neutrality

By RICHARD G. MASSOCK
Associated Press Staff Writer

PARIS, Oct. 6 (AP)—Dispatches from Geneva today reported Premier Laval was opposed to immediate application of stiff sanctions against Italy. His attitude was understood to coincide with a large section of the French republic.

The anti-sanctions bloc is largely conservative, supported by an important section of the press. They manifested their disapproval of such a course last night when 15,000 of them demonstrated in the boulevards.

Some of the demonstrators shouted "neutrality."

Unlike Laval, whose opposition is based on his hope that Mussolini will come to terms before the league of nations assembly meets Wednesday, the Conservatives' attitude is governed by a fear that exercise of

Italy Is Guilty of a Breach of League Covenant—Geneva

OFFICIAL REPORT IS DOWN TODAY

Difficulties Occur in Effort to Force Sanctions

By GEORGE HAMBLETON
(Canadian Press Staff Writer).

GENEVA, Oct. 6 (CP Cable)—After a three hour sitting, the League of Nations' committee of six powers tonight was understood unanimously to have found Italy guilty of aggression against Ethiopia and of a breach of the league covenant.

The committee, appointed Saturday by the league council, consists of representatives of the United Kingdom, Chile, Denmark, France, Portugal and Rumania.

The committee sat late Saturday night and met again tonight. Its proceedings were

HUGE SEIZURE OF HEROIN MADE

13 Arrested as Ring Is Blasted; Plot in Honduras

WASHINGTON, Oct. 6 (AP)—Seizure of a powerful narcotics ring in New Orleans whose activities were linked with a bizarre revolutionary plot against the Honduran government was announced today by Harry J. Anslinger, the United States commissioner of narcotics.

He said 13 men and $75,000 worth of heroin were taken in a series of raids Saturday night in "the most important" capture of the year. He said the ring was responsible for 80 per cent of the narcotic traffic in the United States and as "sidelines" frequently engaged in liquor smuggling, counterfeiting and occasionally resorted to running aliens into the country illegally. He said three members of the ring still were being hunted.

Anslinger unfolded a story of revolutionary plans in Honduras which embraced the killing of a government official there. Investigations begun by his agents last March, he said, "disclosed that the proceeds from the sale of the heroin was to be used for the purchase of guns for the 'opposition party' in Honduras." He said these arms were to be shipped before the next elections in the South American republic.

Eight-weeks Old Tot Has a Safety Pin in Her Stomach

AUBURN, N.Y., Oct. 6 (CP)—Louise Nutting, youngest patient ever to undergo an operation in Auburn city hospital was believed well on the way to recovery tonight after the removal of an open safety pin from her stomach. Louise is eight weeks old, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Louis Nutting of Moravia.

ROME, Oct. 6 (AP).—The Italian government tonight officially announced the capture of Aduwa from its Ethiopian defenders.

That northern Ethiopian city, scene of Italy's great defeat in 1896, was captured at 10:30 a.m. by troops of the second army corps, the announcement said.

A government spokesman said there was no official information as to the casualties but "of course, there cannot be war without casualties."

The Italian troops began their assault at dawn, an official communique stated, and immediately after entering the city the leading citizens,

ZINC OUTPUT IN CANADA IS HIGH

But Silver and Lead Production Shows a Decline

OTTAWA, Oct. 6 (CP)—Production of silver and lead showed a decline during July as compared with the corresponding month last year, while the output of zinc increased according to a report issued today by the Dominion bureau of statistics.

Silver produced during July amounted to 1,162,907 ounces against 1,299,227 in July last year. At the average price of 68.36 cents per ounce the month's production was worth $795,026. The output during the seven months ended July totalled 8,835,753 ounces compared with 9,091,657 in the corresponding period of 1934.

Lead production amounted to 29,104,210 pounds against 31,298,691 in July, 1934. At the average price of 3.20 cents per pound the month's output was worth $932,685. During the seven months ended July 189,669,207 pounds were produced, a decline of .5 per cent compared with the same period of 1934.

Production of zinc during July totalled 27,568,983 pounds against 22,177,066 pounds in July, 1934. At the average price of 3.11 cents per pound, the month's output was worth $859,888.

TWO VICTIMS OF FIRE DEAD

SASKATOON, Oct. 6 (CP)—Only a few hours after his wife had succumbed to fearful burns received in a gasoline lamp explosion in her Arelee district home Friday, Maron Melynik, 43, died in hospital here today. Two of his six children were still confined to hospital tonight. Melynik was fatally burned when he rescued the children.

Mrs. Melynik died in Saskatoon Saturday. One of the children, Ida, three who has developed pneumonia, may died. Willie eight, is recovering.

B.C. ADVANCED RELIEF CHECK

OTTAWA, Oct. 6 (CP)—In a grand clean-up of odds and ends, the cabinet passed 107 orders in council at its meeting last Thursday, it was revealed over the week-end, after they had been signed by Sir Lyman Duff, administrator. Many of them were relief payments due to provinces. A loan was extended to British Columbia of $400,000 by the Dominion to assist it in financing its share of direct relief payments.

Foreigners Get Under Cover for Time, Addis Ababa

ADDIS ABABA, Oct. 6 (CP-Havas).—The shrill notes of a reed pipe calling the city's Moslem to eventide prayer caused a near panic among foreigners here last night.

Their nerves on edge from recurrent reports that an Italian bombing squadron was headed for Addis Ababa, foreigners mistook the call to prayer for the shriek of the air raid siren alarm.

Everyone scurried for shelter. There were sheepish grins and stammered explanations when the truth was realized.

Record Number of Canadidates Are Expected in the Election Contest

$1700 in Loot

DOMAIN, Man., Oct. 6 (CP)—Police search was under way here tonight for four masked, armed men who broke into a general store and carried off the safe containing $1700 in cash. Checks to the value of $800 were tossed away as the bandits fled.

CANADIAN PILOTS PRAISED BY BYRD

TORONTO, Oct. 6 (CP).—A tribute to Canada's north country fliers was paid by Rear Admiral Byrd, famous United States Antarctic explorer, Saturday. Replying to Mayor Simpson's welcome at a civic reception outside of city hall, Admiral Byrd said Canadians know more of polar flying than any other pilots. Long experience flying over snow and ice and in sub-zero weather made them excellent pilots for Arctic and Antarctic expeditions, he said.

550 Candidates Will File Nomination Papers Today

By the Canadian Press

Final formality before Canadian voters go to the polls to elect members to the next house of commons, nominations will take place today throughout the country, with every prospect that a record number of candidates will enter the field. Voting is a week from today.

At 2 o'clock, local time, the lists will be filed. That is the deadline for nominations. Many of the approximately 550 candidates whose nominations will be made official today already have posted their $200 deposits and formally qualified.

Nominations took place a week ago in 76 of the more remote constituencies, a field of 292 entering the election battle in these ridings. Today the remaining 169 seats are

ROOSEVELT WARNS U. S. CITIZENS NOT TO TRAVEL ON ITALIAN STEAMSHIPS

WASHINGTON, Oct. 6 (AP). — President Roosevelt issued a proclamation today warning citizens of the United States that they travel on vessels of warring Italy and Ethiopia at their own risk.

This step, designed to guarantee United States neutrality, was authorized by the neutrality law. It reinforced Mr. Roosevelt's proclamation last night clamping an embargo on munitions shipments to Italy and Ethiopia and warning Americans that they engaged in "any" transactions with those nations at their "own risk."

Since Ethiopia has no merchant marine, today's proclamation for practical purposes applies only to Italy.

Recognizing that "war now unhappily exists between Ethiopia and the kingdom of Italy," the president declared the embargo on United States shipment of "arms, munitions and implements of war" to either nation.

2000 Killed in the Attack on Aduwa

Thought His Wife Insane; Judge Finds Her Sane, Him Insane

SAN JOSE, Cal., Oct. 6 (CP)—Rancher John Norris tried to send his wife to an institution for the insane—but he wound up today by going himself.

Appearing Saturday to testify against her after having had her taken in custody on an insanity warrant, Norris, 65, was handed a similar paper, signed by his wife. Superior Judge Gosbey heard both sides. He adjudged Mrs. Norris sane, but Norris was committed to Agnew state hospital.

500 PERSONS RIP WOOD BLOCKS ON STREET FOR FUEL

BROOKLYN, N.Y., Oct. 6 (CP).—A crowd of men, women and children, estimated by police at 500 persons, ripped up nearly four blocks of a Brooklyn street paved with wood blocks Saturday. The self-appointed wreckers carted the paving away for fuel.

Police scattered the crowd, established a guard over the neighborhood, and arrested a pair of 14-year-old twins for juvenile delinquency.

The Ethiopian Conflict Shown in Brief

(By The Canadian Press)

The Italian army observed the first Sunday in its confliction with Ethiopia by killing more than 2000 natives in its seizure of Aduwa, and capturing strategic Adigrat.

Thus the military campaign which Italy has described as "police measures"—and which Ethiopia insists is aggression—gained revenge for the Italian defeat suffered at Aduwa 39 years ago.

Meanwhile at Geneva the league's council committee of six powers, including Great Britain and France, completed its report for presentation today. The report is understood to find Italy guilty of aggression against Ethiopia and breach of the league covenant.

What action the league may take upon Ethiopia's demand for the invoking of immediate military, naval and air sanctions remains to be seen. An "urgent" meeting of the league assembly has been called for Wednesday.

Paris reports said Premier Laval was opposed to immediate application of stiff sanctions against Italy. Some 15,000 "conservative" Parisians demonstrated Saturday night shouting "neutrality" up and down the boulevards. But the French premier was said to be in full support of economic and financial sanctions, as sought by Britain.

The United States took a definite stand of neutrality as President Roosevelt announced he regarded Italy and Ethiopia "at war" and placed an embargo on all arms and munitions to either country. He made his position of neutrality even more emphatic by warning all Americans they travel on Italian or Ethiopian vessels at their own risk.

In London, where it was announced Great Britain has 150 warships in the Mediterranean and Red Sea, police broke up disturbances in central London and Soho Square when angry crowds interfered with Fascist demonstration as Sir Oswald Mosley and his followers demanded Great Britain keep out of the conflict.

BELIEVED DROWNED

WINNIPEG, Oct. 6 (CP)—Arthur Butcher, 18-year-old student of the University of Manitoba, was feared drowned tonight in Gull lake, 50 miles northeast of here.

VANCOUVER, Oct. 6 (CP)—The body of Arthur Ellingson, drowned a week ago when he fell from a dredge at the mouth of the Fraser river, was recovered Saturday by a Japanese fisherman not far from the scene of the fatality.

ARGONAUTS LEAD RUGBY UNION

TORONTO, Oct. 6 (CP)—Argonauts of Toronto were sitting on top of the interprovincial rugby union race tonight with an unbeaten record. Following previous victories over Hamilton Tigers and Montreal they invaded Ottawa yesterday and secred a 15-12 win over the Roughriders. Hamilton Meanwhile scored their second win of the season by defeating Montreal 7-1.

Opening of the Ontario union season the Canadian champion Sarnia Imperials took a 1-0 win from Balmy Beach of Toronto. In the college circuit the first game of the season resulted in wins for Varsity and McGill.

University of Western Ontario's Mustangs lost when the dazzling Joe Connelly, establishing himself as one of the best running halfbacks in the country, led University of Toronto to their 21-1 triumph over the Mustangs.

Fleet-footed Arden Hedge was acclaimed around old McGill as the red team celebrated their triumphant opening of the 1935 rugby season with a 9-7 victory over the intercollegiate champion Queen's university team from Kingston.

ABERHART WILL DISCONTINUE THE ALBERTA RELIEF

CALGARY, Oct. 6 (CP).—Relief will be discontinued in Alberta as soon as the government begins to pay "basic dividends," Premier Aberhart said in an address here today at his Prophetic Bible Institute.

A work program as a relief measure in addition to a provincial relief dividend, for which no work would be required, was being considered by the government the premier announced. "This would be paid by an unearned increment levy on beer and other luxuries," he stated.

The Ethiopian Emperor's name, Haile Selassie, means Power of the Trinity.

Roughriders Beat the Bronks 23-0

REGINA, Oct. 6 (CP)—Weakened by the loss of several first string players out of the game with injuries Calgary Bronks were tamed 23-0 by Regina Roughriders in an exhibition rugby game here Saturday.

Roughriders collected a couple of easy touchdowns before the game had been under way more than a few minutes and added another to take a 17-0 lead at half time. Regina got only one point in the third quarter but in the fourth added another touch.

SIDELIGHTS ON THE WORLD SERIES

By PAUL MICKELSON
Associated Press Sports Writer

CHICAGO, Oct. 6 (AP)—Right at world series harvest time, the big Cub "lemon" turned into a juicy "peach." The Cubs paid $125,000 for Chuck Klein and he was a sour "lemon" to them until today when he hit that home run.

Klein's blow kept the Tigers from collecting the biggest players world series melon in baseball history. If the Tigers win the series they will get $6831.88 each; if the Cubs win, they'll receive $6574.08 per man. Should the Tigers lose, their individual share will be $4554.58 as against $4382.72 for the Cubs if they lose. The difference is the Cubs cut their melon into 25½ slices; the Tigers cut theirs into 25⅓.

Mt. Ida, Ark., still has it over Eldorado, Ark. Warneke, pride of Mt. Ida, has beaten Schoolboy Rowe, Eldorado's favorite son, twice in a row, pitching shutout ball for 15 innings, during which he gave the Tigers only six hits.

Warneke said he had but 11 hours of sleep last night as compared with 14 hours the night before he beat the Tigers in that first game. Manager Charlie Grimm wants to give him 20 hours sleep in hopes that his shoulder will heal for another crack at the enemy.

The big show is a great tonic for sick wives. Mrs. Warneke, ill in bed, has been cheered by her husband's two victories; Mrs. Alvin Crowder, ill in a hospital, almost got well yesterday as the "General" beat the Cubs.

Pete Fox made the finest throw of the series in the seventh to nail Jurges at the plate. He caught the ball deep in right field and threw it so perfectly that Cochrane took it on the bounce without moving.

POPULATION HALVED

LONDON (CP)—Finsbury Borough's resident population has been cut nearly 50 per cent in 33 years. Last year the population was estimated at 64,970 compared with 101,453 in 1901.

"UNREALITY" IS LESSON-SERMON THEME, NELSON

"Unreality" was the subject of the lesson-sermon in First Church of Christ, Scientist, on Sunday.

The Golden Text was: "What is the chaff to the wheat? saith the Lord" (Jeremiah 23: 28).

Among the citations which comprised the lesson-sermon was the following from the Bible: "Judge not according to the appearance, but judge righteous judgment" (John 7: 24).

The lesson-sermon also included the following passage from the Christian Science textbook, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy: "To divest thought of false trusts and material evidences in order that the spiritual facts of being may appear, —this is the great attainment by means of which we shall sweep away the false and give place to the true."

ATHLETIC CLUB WINS FOOTBALL

VANCOUVER, Oct. 6 (CP). — Vancouver Athletic club scored their first win of the Vancouver big three football season Saturday with a 2-1 victory over North Shore Lions in a punting duel marred by numerous injuries to V.A.C. players. All the scoring was done in the first half.

Edmonton Grads Win First Game

Trim Chicago 54-36 in Underwood Series

EDMONTON, Oct. 6 (CP).—Edmonton Commercial Grads, rulers of women's international basketball competition since 1922, tonight stood one game up over Chicago Usherettes in their scheduled three-game series for the Underwood trophy.

Never seriously pressed, Grads won the opening game 54-36 here Saturday night and the second game will be played Tuesday night. If necessary, the third game will be played Thursday night.

Babe Belanger, flashy little forward of the Grads, led the scoring with 17 points while Violet Krubaeck, Chicago's center, was second with 11 points.

Chicago: Kline 4, Goldstein 3, Krubaeck 11, McCracken, Riedel 9, Rorhon 9. Total 36.

Edmonton: MacBurney, Belanger 17, MacDonald 9, Neale 7, Fry 3, Munton, Dann 10, Northrup 8. Total 54.

Penalties: Chicago 14, Edmonton 7.

Officials: Dr. Baden Powell, Calgary; George Parney, Edmonton.

NO DECISION ON BALL ROW

Landis Will Take No Action Till the Series Ends

CHICAGO, Oct. 6 (AP)—After a 55-minute conference in which both sides told their stories of Friday's run-in between Umpire George Moriarty and and members of the Cubs' team, Baseball Commissioner K. M. Landis announced Saturday that he would take no action until after the conclusion of the world series.

The hearing was the aftermath of a controversy in the third game of the series which resulted in the banishment of Charlie Grimm, the Cubs' manager, and Captain Woody English and Outfielder George Stainback from the field.

EACH ACCUSES OTHER

Although the conference was held behind closed doors in the commissioner's office, Umpire Moriarty and the players could be heard accusing each other of opening fire.

The Cub players accused the arbiter of using profrane and vile language in response to their objections to his decisions.

"I can lick the whole Cub team," the voice of Umpire Moriarty boomed. "You start anything on that field this afternoon and I'll take care of all of you."

Moriarty was heard to declare that ill feeling started in the second game at Detroit when the Cubs were "riding" Greenberg.

SAYS UMPIRE STARTED ROW

He also charged that the profanity Friday was started by Billy Herman, Cubs' second basemen. Herman denied that, informing Commissioner Landis that Moriarty was the aggressor.

"If it had been my fault you would have put me out," Herman shouted, "you knew you were wrong and you didn't dare put me out."

"I wasn't wrong," Moriarty bellowed. "I didn't put you out because I was trying to be fair and didn't want to deprive the Cubs of their second baseman."

Moriartys challenge to the whole Cub ball club recalled a similar incident in Cleveland on Memorial day, 1932, in which the sharp-tempered arbiter and the Chicago White Sox figured.

After a fracas on the ball field Moriarty, having challenged the Sox, was met by Manager Lew Fonesca and three players in a runway leading to the White Sox clubhouse. In that battle which followed Moriarty was outnumbered and overwhelmed.

President Will Harridge of the American league reprimanded Moriarity and fined the Sox players.

Royals and Rangers Tie at 3-3

VANCOUVER, Oct. 6 (CP). — Honors were divided in the opening game of the Intercity league at Con Jones park here Saturday between Vancouver Rangers and New Westminster Royals, each team scoring three goals.

EDMONTON HI-GRADS BEAT U. OF ALBERTA

EDMONTON, Oct. 6 (CP)—Edmonton Hi-Grads ran through a tissue-paper line and smeared University of Alberta 10-2 in an exhibition rugby game here Saturday. Right from the outset the Hi-Grads had command and they went over for two major scores as the green and gold efforts to stop them failed dismally.

ORILLIA TAKES FIRST IN BOXLA

Terriers Win 10-8 Over Richmond Farmers

VANCOUVER, Oct. 6 (CP)—Orillia Terriers tonight were over the first hurdle in their battle to repeat last year's triumphs in Canadian amateur lacrosse championship final for the Mann cup. Last night the youthful speedsters from Ontario turned back a hard fighting crew of Richmond Farmers, British Columbia representatives, 10-8.

While 8500 frenzied fans alternately cheered or groaned, the easterners, holding an edge in youth and weight, pounded through the first three quarters with never more than a slender one-point lead; then, in the final session, as the desperate westerners pushed to the front for the third time during the game, they cut loose with an attack that swept their opponents back and netted them three all-important goals that spelled victory.

EDINBURGH (CP)—The Scottish capital will again have a royal representative at the Armistice Day celebration Nov. 11. The King has appointed his son, the Duke of Gloucester, to act.

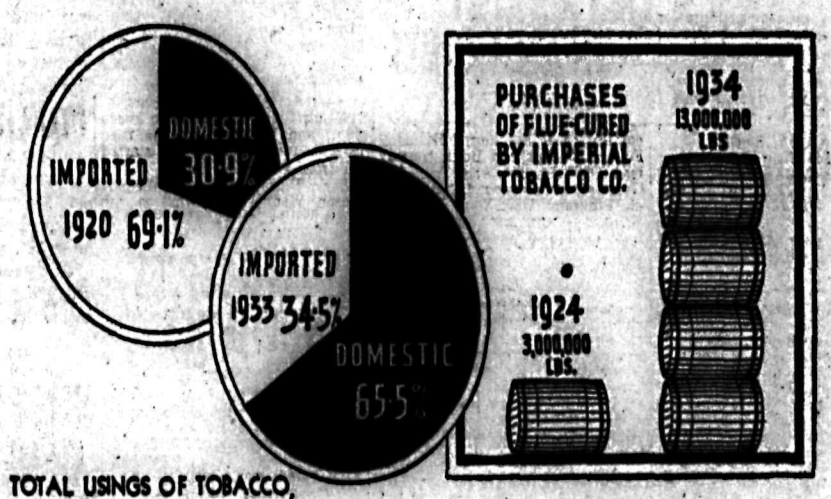
Supporting Home Production



TOTAL USINGS OF TOBACCO, BURLEY & FLUE-CURED, BY ALL CANADIAN MANUFACTURERS

No single policy of the Imperial Tobacco Company is adhered to with more determination, or practised with more sympathetic co-operation, than that which prescribes the use of Canadian materials and supplies, whenever and wherever possible.

Needless to say, the Company's first care must always be to safeguard the reputation of its brands. In everything it buys, therefore, it insists upon its own standards of quality. When Canadian products fail to measure up to those standards, it has no alternative but to import. But where it has reason to believe that, with explanation and assistance, the problem of producing in Canada up to the required standard of quality is definitely solvable, it is prepared to go to almost any length in co-operating with Canadian producers, so that they can qualify for its business.

The tobacco growing industry provides two cases in point. In the Leamington district, the growers of Burley were successful almost from the start in producing leaf comparable with Burley, heretofore imported from Kentucky. As a consequence, year after year the Company has purchased the major part of their crop. In recent years the Company has been able to increase its purchases from them, due to its success in creating a demand for Picobac Pipe Tobacco made entirely from Canadian Burley.

But the Norfolk County growers of Virginia flue-cured tobacco experienced some difficulty in producing leaf of the colour and texture comparable with that imported from Virginia and North Carolina. So the Company sent its experts to guide them in experiments with various kinds of seeds and fertilizers, to instruct them in better methods of planting and harvesting, and to assist them with their curing. And as the growers succeeded in meeting the Company's requirements, it used more and more of their product.

In 1920, only 30.9 per cent. of all the leaf used in the manufacture of tobacco in Canada was domestic leaf. By 1933 the usings of domestic leaf by all manufacturers had increased to 65.5 per cent. of the total.

It is a matter of much gratification to the Imperial Tobacco Company that improvements year after year in the quality of Canadian leaf have enabled it to support home production so effectively.

PIGEON RACE WINNERS RECEIVE SEASON'S AWARDS AT CRANBROOK

Under Bennett Canada Recovered Balance of Trade; Morden Tells of Legacy of Debt and Unemployment and Work Done

CRANBROOK, B. C.—The Cranbrook Racing Pigeon club held a banquet Wednesday night to conclude its season's activities. The members of the Kimberley club were guests, and the chairman was Patrick Walsh of Lumberton, president of the association. The prizes for the year's racing were awarded by L. P. Sullivan, who complimented the winners on their sportsmanship.

This is the first year of the association, and it is expected that the membership will have increased considerably by next year.

The prize winners of the races during the season were:

Sirdar race—H. E. Sainsbury, first; W. R. John second.

Salmo race—J. Gartside, first; H. E. Sainsbury, second.

Rossland race—H. Fyles, first; H. E. Sainsbury, second.

First Grand Forks race—H. E. Sainsbury, first; H. Fyles, second.

Second Grand Forks race — H. Fyles, first; H. E. Sainsbury, second.

First Midway race — H. Fyles, first; H. E. Sainsbury, second; L. Hilton, Lumberton, third.

Pool race, from Penticton—H. E. Sainsbury, first; H. Fyles, second.

The Hon. F. M. MacPherson cup for the best average racing was won by H. E. Sainsbury, and he also won the Earle Leigh silver cup. Harry Fyles won the membership cup for the longest race, which was from Midway.

Other prizes donated were—Birds given by J. Holland, Lethbridge; D. Hoose, Lethbridge; Mr. Litherland, Beelevue; Mr. Bryan, Victoria; and merchandise given by several firms.

Following the prize awarding, President Walsh gave the history of racing pigeons, a sport which dates back for centuries. He also gave thanks to the C.P.R. express men at the points from which flights were conducted, for their assistance in complying with the requests of the club.

Other speakers of the evening were Harry Sainsbury, who talked on the care and feeding of homers. Mr. Little, president of the Kimberley club, congratulated the Cranbrook club on its success during its first year.

Bill John, Secretary J. Gartside, William Steward and Major Agland spoke briefly to the gathering.

The Kimberley Mark Creek store softball team defeated the Cranbrook MacDonald Consolidated team in a game here Wednesday. Colvin and Garneau were the pitchers for the Kimberley team, both pitching nice ball, and were given good support throughout the game. Although they were handicapped by playing under different rules, they scored 26 runs, with Livingstone catching. The Cranbrook team, with B. MacDonald pitching and Farrel catching, played rather wild ball, securing only seven runs. F. Briggs and A. Lilly were umpires.

The Nelson shield for the highest attendance for September in the public school was won by Division I, Miss Woodland's class. The class had a percentage of 99.6, and was followed closely by Miss Glendinning's class, which had a percentage of 99.2. The attendance banner for the junior grades was won by Miss Patmore's class with 98.51 per cent, with Miss Speer's class second with 98.33 per cent.

A bridge and whist drive at St. Mary's hall had 18 tables in play, 10 of bridge and eight of whist. Prize winners were Mr. Gibson and Mrs. Osborne in bridge, and Miss Emslie and Mrs. Strange in whist. Mrs. T. Taker won the door prize.

J. Sims has returned to Cranbrook from Halifax, N. S., where he was representing this district at the annual meeting of the Dominion Trades and Labor congress.

Mrs. A. W. Hodgson of California, formerly of Cranbrook, is spending some time visiting friends here.

Rev. R. W. Hardy has returned from Kaslo, where he was attending the district presbytery meeting.

Mr. and Mrs. J. Nelson and family have arrived from Corbin to reside here.

Miss Mildred Passmore, who was visiting relatives in Nelson, has returned to her home here.

H. Sargent of Nelson, resident mining engineer of District 5, is a business visitor here.

Mr. and Mrs. M. McFarlane have returned from their wedding trip to the coast, and will reside in Cranbrook.

Mrs. Gill, who was visiting her sons, Otto and Arthur, in Trail and Greenwood, has returned to her home here.

Noreen Touris of Greenwood is visiting Mrs. M. Touris here.

Mrs. W. J. Alward has as her guests Mr. and Mrs. R. Oates, Miss Marguerite Oates and Mrs. L. O'Donohue of Vancouver.

Mrs. J. McCallum has returned from Scotland, where she was visiting for four months.

Mr. and Mrs. A. E. Bowley and Miss Hazel Bowley are visiting Dr. and Mrs. J. Moffatt at Drumheller.

Mr. and Mrs. J. Nicoll of North Battleford were guests of Mr. and Mrs. F. Wasson for a few days on their way to Vancouver.

Selassie Tried Twice to Flee; Is Held Prisoner by Council, van Paassen Says

Emperor Would Concede Anything to Prevent War But Council, Fearing Loss of Their Slaves, Are Opposing Him

LOYALTY TALK IS PROPAGANDA

Scribe Says Ethiopians Haven't a Chance in the World

By PIERRE VAN PAASSEN
Central Press Canadian Writer

ADDIS ABABA, Oct. 6.—On two occasions recently the negus of Abyssinia sought to flee abroad but was prevented from leaving by Malou Gueta, the almighty minister of war and chief of the war-party. Today Emperor Haile Selassie is a virtual prisoner of the council of rases. When he speaks to foreign correspondents about a war to the bitter end, he only voices the sentiments of the rases. He is their unwilling mouthpiece.

Personally the emperor wants peace and desires to come to an arrangement with Italy. He stands to gain everything by an understanding with the Duce, but the rases, who, on the other hand, are sure to loose their privileged position as slave-owners and oppressors of the people if Italy annexes the empire, naturally intend to resist every extension of Italian influence in Ethiopia.

The emperor is an enlightened man. Mr. Rickett said to me: "The negus is a gentleman." Haile Selassie has visited Europe and has at least an idea what a modern European army signifies. He knows there is not a chance in the world for his famine-stricken hordes to resist the thunderstorm of steel which Mussolini can unleash. He knows that one airial bombardment of Addis Ababa will turn the capital into a panic-stricken madhouse. But he can do nothing about it. The council of rases mistrusts him and imposes its will on the emperor. Circumstances force him to put on a bold face. Any foreign observer, who does not draw his information on the situation in Ethiopia exclusively from the ever-ready government press bureau, knows that Ethiopia is lost.

WOULD GO TO ERITREA

It is better for all concerned to tell the truth frankly than to submit to the myth-making laboratory conducted by he ministry of foreign affairs. The Ethiopian government's press bureau carefully hides the true situation from the correspondents, which is very natural, very "civilized," very European, I readily admit.

I learn on very good authority that the emperor had secretly planned to fly to Eritrea, make an arrangement with the Italians for the occupation of his country and return to Addis Ababa with the Italian army.

I fully realize that the Ethiopian authorities will deny this information and dismiss it with indignation. Their policy is to present Ethiopia as a land and a people solidly united behind the emperor and all the "dope" handed out at the governmental press bureau has tended in that direction so far.

One does not become pro-Italian by revealing something of the truth. One simply does his duty. My source of information is unimpeachable. It is a source very close to the negus himself. The emperor had ordered two airplanes to carry him and his personal effects to Eritrea. Neither the empress, nor the crown prince who are both bitterly opposed to Haile Selassie's foreign policy, was to join him. The son has threatened on more than one occasion to raise the standard of revolt against his father. But months ago the prince detached the garrison and province of Dessie from their loyalty to the negus.

SURROUNDED BY ENEMIES

Prevented from flying away by the war-party, the negus is in a serious personal predicament. He is surrounded by enemies. That he was not assassinated on the spot when his flight-plan was discovered is due to the same desire of the rases to preserve the false impression of Ethiopian national unity abroad. Yet the danger of assasination of the emperor has not definitely passed. He remains in grave personal danger. He scarcely dares to eat for fear of poisoning and has a corps of "tasters" who must eat the food prepared for him in his presence.

Haile Selassie is moreover haunted by fear of revenge on the part of the Menelik dynasty whom he supplanted and whose members he chased. It is an open secret that the ex-Emperor Ldij Yassou, who was kept chained up in the crater of an extinct volcano, was recently executed. A foreign war had aroused hopes among the partisans of the deposed Menelik dynasty to bring back to the throne the grandson of Menelik the Great, the conqueror of the Italians at Aduwa. Before the conspiracy got far under way Lidja Yassou suddenly died.

ENEMIES DISPOSED OF

Another mighty ras, Hallou, who was involved in a sinister plot to depose Haile Selassie, was captured and sawn in two and the pieces of the body shipped to Addis Ababa, where the emperor insisted on seeing the gruesome remains of his enemy. Another Ras, Qokas, had his head chained between his knees and thus attached to a tree wallows around naked, the object of despise of the inhabitants. These men were once grand chevaliers and enormously rich before the emperor confiscated their property.

Many of the most powerful provincial governors steadfastly refuse to obey the emperor's summons to come to Addis Ababa for a conference. They fear to share the fate of so many who accepted Haile Selassie's invitations. Their case is peculiar in this that they intend to defend their provinces with their own slaves in the event of an Italian invasion, but they have not sent their men to the empire's threatened frontier.

The notion which is largely entertained abroad that Ethiopia is determined to the last man to resist the Roman legions is utterly fallacious. The semblance of unity is maintained by refusing permission to foreign investigators to stray any distance from the capital, now on this, then on that pretext.

ANXIOUS FOR PEACE

"There is nothing to hide," reasserts the Negus every time he speaks to the foreign correspondents. I am convinced that there is rather nothing to show. At the two fronts there are masses of half-naked, bare-footed, starving slaves, waiting to be sacrificed in a gigantic massacre.

This teeming black humanity has not a chance in the world against Italy's formidable war machinery. They will be mown down like ripe corn. One battle on either front and the mass of slaves will be crushed and the Roman legions will begin their march on Addis Ababa.

The city population is mute with terror. The sight of the first Italian airplane will produce a stampede. Even at this moment cries are going through the streets assuring the inhabitants that there will be no war, and if it should come nevertheless that the emperor will send out a warning so that everybody can run for safety in the open spaces and eucalyptus forests outside.

In these circumstances, it is not surprising that the emperor is eager to make peace with Mussolini even at the cost of great concessions. If Italy is realistic enough not to insist on demanding outright annexation she can have her way in Ethiopia without much trouble. If only the appearance of national independence is saved.

It goes without saying that even if Italy occupies Harar and Ababa, after wiping out the Ethiopian irregular armies, it would take years to subdue the various tribes in the interior. It took France 20 years to "pacify" Morocco. Guerrillas are certain for a long time to come.

Sirdar Ranchers Shipping Apples

SIRDAR, B. C.—Now that the hay cutting is finished, all the ranchers are engaged in the shipping of fruit, with a good demand reported.

John Rogers, who is a pupil at Creston high school, was at his home here for the week-end.

Mrs. Fred McInrot of Cranbrook spent a few days as guest of Mrs. Martin.

The cows and beef animals of the local ranchers are now turned out to graze on the flats. The number feeding there this year is larger than usual.

Mrs. B. F. Whiteside of Nelson was here on a visit to relatives Tuesday.

Several caravans with many horses passed through here Thursday. The outfit was on its way to Peace river, and has been on the road several months since it started out from Regina.

J. S. Wilson who was called to Nelson Wednesday, owing to the illness of Mrs. Wilson returned home on Friday morning's stage.

Bruno Morabito of Creston was a business visitor here.

Vito Carnevelli was a business visitor to Creston Wednesday.

Charles Lombardo of Tye was a week-end visitor here at his parent's home.

Mr. and Mrs. Lin Anderson were business visitors to Creston Saturday.

The Sukeroff company has finished the shipping of lumber on order, the last car going out Thursday to Trail.

Roy Roads was a business visitor at Tye Thursday.

A. Webb of Calgary, who spent a vacation with J. S. Wilson has left for the Okanagan.

Frank Hamilton of Kootenay Landing was a business visitor to Creston by train Friday.

A crew of men are engaged at Boulder creek preparing for the regular government bridge crew in the construction of the new steel span over the creek. At the same time widening is going on at the east approach to the bridge.

Mrs. L. Miller of Kuskanook was a shopping visitor to Creston on Friday's stage.

The water as indicated by gauge at Slough bridge reads 2.20 a fall of 0.60 for the week. The water has now reached a very low level.

Sydney Rogers who is teaching school at Glenlily was at his home here for the week-end.

Mrs. J. S. Wilson, who was on a holiday with her daughter, Mrs. J. Harlow in Nelson, took ill and was taken to hospital there. She was able to leave for home on Thursday.

Helen Taylor of Alice Siding is a guest of the Misses Margaret and Daisy Rogers over the week-end.

Miss Irene Karpowich of Sanca spent a few hours in Sirdar Saturday.

V. Borosoto and friend from Trail were here on a hunting trip.

Friday night the young Tchachuk boy suffered bruises and cuts when a cow to which he had attached himself became frightened at a dog and bolted dragging the boy with him. It had gone a considerable distance before being halted. Outside of cuts and scratches and considerable damage to his clothes he was uninjured.

The past week has again seen many hunters over the flats from this point, with good sport and heavy bags.

Dominic Passcuzzo was a visitor by car at Creston Saturday.

Charles Moore with a small crew is surveying in the vicinity of La France creek.

Mrs. J. S. Wilson left Nelson at the end of the week to visit her son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Van Acheren at Okanagon Centre.

Oscar Burden of Crawford Bay, who had been hunting in this district for some time, left for home Sunday. He sailed his boathouse home under its own power.

MOYIE FOLK VISIT TRAIL

MOYIE, B.C.,—Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Fitch motored to Trail and were the house guests of Mr. and Mrs. Rutledge.

Miss Emma Hedstrom of Aldridge has returned to her home at Creston.

G. McIntyre of Kimberley week-ended at Moyie prior to leaving by bus to reside at Trail.

Mr. and Mrs. Ray Currans and family of Chapman Camp were Sunday guests of Moyie relatives.

Low Mass was said in St. Peters church Sunday Sept. 29, by Rev. Father Hartmann, O.M.I., who was recently appointed parish priest relieving Father Choinel.

Charles Sanders and Joe McConnel are home from Ryan to remain.

Mrs. Andrews was a visitor to Creston.

G. Jewell of Chapman Camp was in charge of the Moyie C.M. & S. works during the absence of Mr. Fitch.

A couple of C.M. & S. conveyors projecting over a certain portion of the highway were dismantled this week.

Carl Pelky of Cranbrook was in town by car Monday.

Jack Andrews and Bob Braiden went by car to spend Tuesday at Kimberley.

Jim Parkins and party from Radium hot springs were Sunday motorists to Moyie, visitors at the home of E. J. Sylvestre.

Misses Frances Whitehead and Yvonne Sanders are the new teachers in charge of the Catholic Catechism class.

Mr. and Mrs. Fitch spent Sunday at Kimberley.

Mr. and Mrs. Andrews attended the harvest festival at Cranbrook Sunday.

Mrs. Kershaw, Mrs. T. Wills, Mrs. G. Johnson, Mrs. Whitehead and family were Sunday visitors at Sunny Side ranch.

A government shovel from Kimberley was unloaded at Aldridge in preparation for the road operations, three miles west of Moyie.

The interior of the new hotel is nearly completed. Mr. and Mrs. J. Kershaw are about to take up residence there.

Four miles of new track has been laid by the C.P.R. along the Moyie right-of-way.

In spite of the ball season already being spent, the first game of this year was played on the Moyie diamond Sunday. C.P.R. boys lost to Town boys, 8-4.

Using gas as a manure, California chemists are gassing orchards into lively production.

SINGLE MEN WIN SECOND STRAIGHT GAME IN BALL PLAY-OFF AT NATAL

NATAL, B. C. — The Natal single men won their second straight baseball game for the Natal-Michel baseball championship by trouncing the combined Natal Married Men-Elk Valley Senators by a 14-7 score at the Natal ball park Sunday, Sept. 29.

T. Krall pitched his second win of the current series by limiting the Senators to three scattered hits while striking out eight batters.

For the Senators, Lefty Brandies was pounded for 18 safe hits, including three triples, but managed to strike out 12 of the single players.

Errors were plentiful, especially in the right field, where seeing the ball was nearly impossible due to the sun.

H. Porter and L. Krall umpired. Lineups were:

Natal Single Men—J. Krall, c; T. Krall, p; Chala, 1b; A. Androlick, 2b; Katrichak, ss; T. Androlick, 3b; P. Zeith, lf; Hampton, cf; Pokorny, rf.

Elk Valley Senators—Sadlish, c; Brandies, p; Eberts, 1b; Svec, 2b; Turlick, ss; Qualiterie, 3b; Madevic, lf; Rothel, cf; Nosek, rf.

SOCCER FINAL

Before a large crowd the final for the prized Crahan cup was played at Fernie Sunday, Sept. 29, between Blairmore and Coleman, which made it an all-Alberta final for the first time in the Crow's Nest Pass cup games. The result after 90 minutes of championship football was a well-earned 2-0 win for the revamped Blairmore eleven, who had combined forces with Bellevue and Hillcrest for the cup ties.

Blairmore scored both their goals during the opening minutes of the game, while Coleman was still unorganized.

Anderson missed a gratis penalty kick which hit the uprights for Coleman, which would have evened the score at one-all.

T. Caufield of Coal Creek refereed. Michel was the winner of this cup last year. The Blairmore eleven reached the finals of the Grand Challenge cup only to be beaten by Coal Creek at Michel. In the Mutz cup Michel gets a first round bye and plays the winners of Fernie and Blairmore, the winner playing either Coal Creek or Coleman.

The Natal wooden sidewalks are rapidly being torn apart and being replaced by asphalt, which is being mixed with gravel before being laid down to the foundation. When dried the mixture hardens to that of concrete. It is estimated that five blocks on each side of the business section of Natal will be fixed this year, with the rest being completed next year. The work of mixing and laying the asphalt is being done by the Natal and Michel unemployed. Already one side of the sidewalk is done, and on the other side the foundation is all ready for the laying of the substance. The work will be completed in a few more weeks.

OPEN 36 OVENS AT MICHEL

MICHEL, B. C. — With another coke order in sight, the Michel coke ovens have reopened 36 ovens, which will be giving work to another six of the unemployed, chiefly pullers and loaders. These ovens are being put into shape rapidly, and have already been fired to heat the ovens before the slack is put into them.

The coke production from these ovens will take place as soon as possible, as it has been some time since these ovens were used last.

The B. Seam mine of the Michel Collieries gets the call for the production of slack for the ovens, giving this mine the odd shift a week over the other mines, No. 3 and No. 1. For a month the No. 3 mine and the No. 1 mine have been working four days a week, while the B. Seam mine has been getting the odd shift. But now, with the opening of these ovens, this mine will work a little steadier than the other mines unless something crops up.

BRITISH EMPIRE TOOK OUR METAL

Huge Stacks of Trail Lead and Zinc Were Shipped to British Countries

Employees of the Smelter will recall that toward the end of 1932 the metal sheds along Government road at Tadanac, were piled high with thousands of tons of lead and zinc, stored there for lack of a market. Ordinarily, when a manufacturer turns out more goods than he can sell, he ceases production and shuts up shop. But these huge stocks of unsold metal at Tadanac reflected the spirit of the management of the C. M. and S. Co. to carry on in the face of the most discouraging outlook ever known. The markets of the world were glutted with lead and zinc at the lowest prices known to Canada, and it was only because of the splendid management and excellent financial position of the Company that continued production was possible. Had it not been for efficiency, and low cost, together with the loyalty of employees, pay cheques at Trail would have ceased.

Faithfully yours,
WILLIAM K. ESLING,
The People's Member.

When the Prime Minister invited represenatives from the Empire to meet at Ottawa in 1932, the purpose was to create markets within the Empire for those Empire products which could not be marketed in other countries because of the high tariff barriers set up by those countries. Lead and zinc were among the most important articles of Canadian production and when the conference closed, agreements had been reached by which Canadian lead and zinc were to enter the United Kingdom and Empire countries at the world price, free of duty, while these metals, when produced in countries outside the Empire were subject to a duty of ten per cent.

The result was that the metal sheds along the Government Road were cleared out, production was stimulated and in 1934 Canadian lead and zinc to the extent of 80,000 tons in excess of that sold during the year prior to the Ottawa Conference found a market within the Empire.

The benefits of these Agreements are best emphasized when we picture what would have happened had these Empire markets not been obtained, and the unsold metal at Tadanac had accumulated to the extent that production would have had to cease. It would have meant no jobs, no pay cheques and a hopeless condition of affairs throughout the district. Homes would have had little or no value, stagnation would have marked every avenue of business. Partially completed or partially paid for homes would have been an overhanging liability, unpaid for cars, radios and washing machines would have been a source of worry in every home and families in West Kootenay would have known the real meaning of want. The results would have extended to the farmer, who at least enjoy a safe market in the consuming communities which depend upon the Smelter.

Thus one has a clear view of incontrovertible benefits to the people of West Kootenay resulting from the Ottawa Agreements and a fair statement of what conditions would have been had this market for Canadian lead and zinc not been created. But, in the face of all this, the Liberal party and the C.C.F. members argued against these Agreements, and voted against them, and the Liberal leader announced his intention of cancelling them, if he returned to power.

Eighty thousand tons of lead and zinc mean approximately four months operation for the Smelter and the Sullivan Mine. One cannot say that the plant would have closed had it not been for these Agreements, but it is a fact that the action of the Government created a market for the huge accumulation in the metal sheds and one can draw his own conclusions as to what would have happened had the Empire Agreements not been consummated.

In times of depression a government must always accept blame, whether justified or not, but regardless of one's political leanings, one acknowledges that to the credit of the present Government there is a record of achievement, prompted not by what was best for the Conservative party, but by what was best for Canada. The outstanding fact is that no country in the world, excepting Great Britain, has surpassed Canada in recovery.

In the next issue there will be a further submission by William K. Esling, the people's member, who again asks your confidence.

KING'S TARIFF PLANS DANGER NELSON HEARS

1930 Tariff an End to Empire Pacts Says Morden

ESLING CLUB HAS RALLY SATURDAY

Howe, Mrs. Chalmers Pay Tributes to Mr. Esling

That Mackenzie King told parliament unequivocally at the late session that he reserved the right, if returned to power, to alter, change, modify, or cancel the Empire trade agreements; and that he had also stated in the house that he would return Canada to the 1930 tariff, were points emphasized by G. H. Morden of North Vancouver, speaking here Saturday night at the Esling club rally.

Mr. Morden was one of the three speakers, H.L. Howe of Nelson opening the rally and Mrs.R.W. Chalmers of Thrums closing it. Both of the latter were brief in their remarks. C. D. Blackwood was in the chair at the start, but surrendered the chair to Mr. Howe when called from the meeting.

AGREEMENTS WORK OF BENNETT

The Empire trade agreements, Mr. Morden stated, were brought into being through the foresight, ability, patience and cogent argument of one man, Premier Bennett, who impressed his convictions on the Empire's representatives, and persuaded Great Britain to change its historic policy, so as to give preferential treatment to Empire products.

When the Ottawa agreements were brought before parliament in 1932 for ratification, Mr. Morden stated, Mackenzie King declared them to be a Tory conspiracy, and his ex-minister of agriculture, Hon. W. B. Motherwell, termed them the greatest flimflam ever put over on a people, and asserted the world would be smothered in hogs. But hogs, that rose to 9 cents a pound, put $35,000,000 into the hands of the Canadian farmers, Ian Mackenzie's prediction that the agreements would ruin the British Columbia lumber trade proved about as accurate as the Motherwell prediction on hogs, for Canada's lumber exports to Britain increased five times, and a market for 470,000,000 feet of lumber was given the British Columbia mills, their British sales jumping from 160,000,000 feet to 630,000,000 feet. As a matter of fact, stated Mr. Morden, the agreements had kept the British Columbia lumber industry solvent and reasonably prosperous.

KING'S VIEW A DANGER

Mr. King's reservation of rigtts to alter or repeal the agreements, Mr. Morden said, was warning enough of danger, but still worse was his announcement that if his party was returned to power he would restore the tariff of 1930. What this latter meant. Turnbull member for Regina, showed the house, when he pointed out that in the 16 pages of tariff items changed by the Conservatives, 219 were lower in duty than in the Liberal tariff, and that 176 of these were items in the Empire agreements. Thus, if Mr. King reenacted the old Liberal tariff, he would take these 176 British items off the free list and impose on them a duty of 7½ per cent.

If the Liberal leader was a man of his word, the speaker pointed out, his success at the polls would destroy the Empire agreements, and lose to Canada an increased trade with the United Kingdom alone of $263,000,000 a year. Apart from Canada's trade loss, Mr. Morden intimated, the danger to Empire coherence involved in wrecking this new reciprocal trade fabric was beyond estimation.

PRIMARY PRODUCERS AIDED

Credit was given by Mr. Morden to the fruit growers of the Okanagan and the Kootenay for providing the inspiration that led the Bennett government to enact its great market legislation for the benefit of producers of primary products. When the British Columbia act was found to be ultra vires, the producers turned to the Dominion, and one of the most serviceable acts in history was the answer that Premier Bennett gave them.

Any body of producers having an export surplus had the right to petition the government to invoke the act, and if the petition itself was not conclusive a poll was provided for, which would settle the matter. If 75 per cent of the industry favored control, an order-in-council would be passed by the government, and from that point the industry itself, proceeding under the act, would set up its own organization, and exercise the powers given it. A conspicuous instance of what this could mean to the producers was the case of the coast potato growers, Mr. Morden said, the return to the grower being $25.80 a ton in 1935 under control, compared with $10.82 in 1934, before control. While the consumer might pay slightly more, the gain to the producer was chiefly from the middleman, and it was worth the country's while to have the Canadians who were living on the land, amounting to 52 per cent of the Dominion's population, successful.

CENTRAL BANK A MODEL ONE

Respecting the central bank instituted by the Bennett government, and which Mackenzie King said he would nationalize, Mr. Morden said that of 38 countries having national banks, six retained the principle of private ownership, those being Great Britain, France, Italy, Germany, Holland and Belgium. The objection to a nationally owned bank would be its subservience to politics with probably political regulation of public credit. One of the dangers was illustrated by Premier Hepburn's attitude in Ontario; though the central bank was authorized by its constitution to make only short term loans to provinces for certain limited purposes, Mr. Hepburn was now attacking it because it refused to extend his government unlimited long term credits. On the other hand, the main attack on having the central bank privately owned would be on the matter of private profit being a powerful factor.

Between the two principles, Premier Bennett steered a middle course, Mr. Morden said, setting up an institution that was free from the defects of both extremes. It was a privately owned institution—having no fewer than 2500 shareholders scattered over the whole country—but was operated under strict government control. A proof of its character was furnished by the encomium paid it by William Irvine, veteran Labor member of the house, who declared the act constituting it to be one of the best in the world.

HOWE FINDS ESLING SENTIMENT

Mr. Howe's brief talk was mainly of Mr. Esling, and of sentiment as he had found it in his modest participation in the campaign.

He mentioned an instance of a secretary of a Liberal association presenting his resignation to his executive on the ground that he was going to vote for Mr. Esling, and of the executive refusing the resignation inasmuch as all of them were proposing to do the same thing.

At an early period, Mr. Howe stated, he had frequently heard a non-Conservative say, "I'm going to vote for Billy Esling, but I don't like R. B. Bennett." Nowadays he heard the same kind of man say, "Darn if I don't think Bennett is the right man."

WORK FOR CONSTITUENTS

Mentioning Mr. Esling's considering it a duty and a privilege to serve his constituents, Mr. Howe said he had never heard of a case of his asking one who sought his help what his politics were. Stating he had once had the privilege of examining Mr. Esling's files in Rossland in connection with veterans' pension cases, the speaker said there were files that were five years old and contained perhaps 100 letters. He mentioned an instance where Mr. Esling, after a five-year fight, obtained a veteran a permanent pension. In one case he got a man $2424 arrears and a pension of $75 a month after the man had been turned down at first by the pension authorities, Mr. Howe also referred to compassionate grants, ranging from $175 to $700, that Mr. Esling had obtained for relief camp workers who had suffered injuries while so engaged, and to a similar grant of $5100 he had obtained for the widow of a relief worker killed while in that service.

Mrs. Chalmers said all knew what an earnest worker Mr. Esling was, and how he never considered politics when a constituent sought to enlist his aid.

MRS. CHALMERS LAUDS ESLING

There were people who admitted his effective work for his constituency, but said, "Oh, he has got the government back of him." Well, said Mrs. Chalmers, while that was true now, he had also been in opposition, and was the same kind of a worker then. Hansard showed that while he was in opposition, he made one of his rare speeches in the house to express as the representative of Kootenay West regret that the speech from the throne contained no mention of an act for old age pensions.

Admitting she was one of those people who were very thankful for the marketing legislation, Mrs. Chalmers described as untrue a statement made in Trail that a farmer could not sell eggs unless he were in the pool, and told of a farmer's wife who said how glad she was that times were prosperous and how good it was to get to town and spend a few dollars, where formerly 50 cents was her limit.

"I don't think many farmers would want to see the tariff taken off apples," commented Mrs. Chalmers, who asserted that the farmer's view was now changed materially from the old order, and that he was not only a hard worker, but a fair spender.

PENSION OBTAINED

Among those who had benefitted by Mr. Esling's friendly and effective offices, Mrs. Chalmers stated, were many women. She mentioned a woman who was seeking an old age pension for her mother, and had tried many avenues, including her provincial member, without success. A friend suggested she write Mr. Esling, but she compromised on writing Mrs. Chalmers. "Give me the letter," Mr. Esling said, immediately he heard of the matter, and in six weeks, Mrs. Chalmers said, the woman wrote her a perfectly glowing letter, about how Mr. Esling had got the pension. "And he never even thought about the matter of her party," commented Mrs. Chalmers, who predicted West Kootenay's member would be sent back to Ottawa with a larger majority than ever.

Rube Demore's Giants Oust Harry Rothery's Cubs for Trail Title

Huge Crowd Supports Bantams in Final League Game

TRAIL, B.C., Oct. 6—Contrary to the accomplishment of the Chicago Cubs in the world series game Sunday, Harry Rothery's Cubs in the Trail little world series were taken into submission by Rube Demore's Giants in the final of the Trail bantam baseball league at Butler park. The score was 11 runs to 9.

The game declaring finale to the baseball season of Trail, both teams had subscribed, among themselves, for presents which they had Fred Edmunds, executive member of the senior ball club, present to their coaches between innings. Rothery received a pen and pencil while Demore was the recipient of a combination cigarette case and lighter.

No sooner had the 3000 fans filled the grandstand and encircled the park, many deep, when Cubs started hitting Wolfe hard to collect four runs in the first inning. But Giants went to bat to hit Michealy, Cub hurler for one blow, but to collect three runs on two errors and a base on balls.

CUBS GAINED LEAD

At the end of the second inning Cubs were still in the lead adding two runs as did the Giants, the score being 6 to 5.

Mike Wolfe, who ostensibly suffered severely from the effects of hurling a fast game last Sunday to defeat the Cubs, felt his arm losing its driving power and Demore replaced Wolfe with Pacifico Buna, a southpaw who has only been seen on mound duty for Giants at short intervals during the season. Buna struck out the first two men that faced him and assisted in throwing the third out at first. It was a change in the tide for the Giants and behind this "dark horse" they were stimulated to increased confidence.

But things also changed for the Cubs in the same inning. Although Micheely attained no strikeouts the three successive batters that addressed the plate were thrown out by Baars Dimock at shortstop to Dodimead at first.

BUNA RESTORATIVE

The first batter of the Cubs in the fourth frame went out Turik at second to Tognotti at first but Buna walked the two succeeding batters. To make up for this decline in his work, he threw Twaddle out at third, allowing Billy Dimock to reach first on fielder's choice. With bases full and two away, Brownlee hit a hard grounder which Buna retrieved, throwing the runner out at first.

The fifth inning proved fateful for the Cubs, Giants getting four safe blows for four runs. Cubs added two runs, however, when Michealy reached first on an error and Baars Dimock poled out a three-bagger. A single by Dodimead scored Dimock.

CUBS HELD HITLESS.

Cubs were held hitless in the sixth inning, Dwyer going out to from Allan Tognotti to Lorne Tognotti; Buna beating Billy Dimock to first, and Brownlee flying out to Pagnan in right field. Buna's putout was most spectacular. Lorne Tognotti on first misjudged a high fly from Dimock and the ball fell dead to the ground a few yards from the bag. Buna was in to cover up and grabbed the apple to touch first split seconds before the runner crossed the bag.

Giants squeezed in an additional run in the sixth to accumulate their 11 runs Pagnan's hit scoring Mike Wolfe.

Brownlee replaced Michealy when one was away in the fifth but was hit equally as hard as his predecessor. Two hits were collected from him in the fifth and two in the sixth, from which one run was collected.

Cubs went in in the first half of the seventh in a desperate effort to make up for the three lead margin gain by their opposition but a single run was all that could be scored.

"Slivers" Decembrini and Steve Matovich umpired.

NELSON WINS SOCCER GAME

Beats South Slocan on Dusty Field in Title Play

Playing on a field that was so dusty the players often disappeared from sight, A. Wallach's Nelson team downed the South Slocan seniors at South Slocan Sunday afternoon 3-2 and took a big edge on the soccer series for the Nelson Daily News cup. It was a small score for such a game and brilliant goal-tending and luck combined to keep the tallies down. Two South Slocan goals were disallowed while Nelson players hits the goal bars on three occasions.

Fred Graves helped himself to two of Nelson's goals and Jerry Whitfield got the third. A. Dunsmore figured in both for the losers, making the first on a pass from George Wallach and passing forward to Bob "Buttermilk" Paterson for the other. Paterson scored a goal that wasn't counted and Joe Wallach scored one that was ruled no goal, the officials stating that Paterson touched it with his hand.

There was just enough wind to keep the dust moving that the players kept stirred up and not only were many of the plays hidden but both teams seemed to have about 10 undercover players.

CALL OUT THE ORIGINALS

Short two men, Nelson filed in with Eddie Whitfield and Pope Scanlan. The former was the first captain of the old Wolves team and a crack player, while Scanlan has minded goal before but this was his first occasion out. Both men turned in fine games.

George Kulai was the pick of the field and he proved himself a master play maker. His passes were on their toes and gave an all to his team mates. Carter also showed real ability. Bert Hendrickson and Tommy Bird, backs, were on their and gave an all round performance. Fred, Jerry and Jack Whitfield showed fine flashes.

South Slocan forwards were unlucky on several plays that had every appearance of counters. Dunsmore, Joe Wallach, George Wallach and Ostlin were right in on Freddy Morris two or three times in each half when they came with in an ace of scoring.

Bowkett and Macrone improved as the game went on. They had to stave off numerous Nelson attacks and they worked hard to protect Hunt in goal. The latter had no chance with the three that beat him and turned back the invaders repeatedly. McFadden received a swiftly booted ball in the face but he never left the field.

GRAVES FROM SCANLAN

The first half was about three quarters through when Graves took a pass from Pope Scanlan to tally the first count of the game. Carter and Graves returned after the kick-off but were foiled. Joe Wallach was in for a close shot on Morris who blocked, and Nelson was fortunate to prevent a score. The ball was deflected from the goal mouth when it hit one of the defending men. Paterson and George Wallach went in close but another kick sent the ball bounding off Tommy Bird and the tension eased.

The second half was scarcely under way before Fred Graves gave Nelson a lead of two by kicking home Jack Whitfield's pass.

Jerry Whitfield was given an open chance but he could not gain control of the high bouncing ball and an offside spoiled his hopes. In the return play Paterson kicked right at Morris. Morris was again on when Joe Wallach and Paterson sailed in on him, the former's kick being handled safely.

Carter hit the South Slocan goal cross bar and his second attempt was a trifle too high.

DUNSMORE SCORES

The alert Dunsmore then brought the home team into the limelight as he took George Wallach's long pass and slipped between Bird and Hendrickson to beat Morris.

Graves hit the post and Carter tested Hunt. Then Jerry Whitfield added another for Nelson when Carter's soft shot bounced away from Hunt and Jerry nailed the back of the net.

South Slocan did not ease a bit and twice Morris was forced to come out to save. Paterson completed the count on George Wallach's pass.

T. Roberts was referee and J. Laurie, Bud Cooper and Bill Bates were linesmen.

Following a dip in a nearby horse trough Nelson players returned immediately to the city.

Nelson, Morris, Hendrickson, Bird, Eddy Whitfield, Kulai, Jack Whitfield, Scanlan, Jerry Whitfield, Carter, Graves, Stanley.

South Slocan—Hunt, Bowkett, Macrone, Woods, Ashley, McFadden, Joe Wallach, Ostlin, Dunsmore, Paterson, George Wallach.

W. Truffit Dies, Grohman Creek

In Nelson 25 Years; Operated Green House

William Alfred Truffit, a resident of Nelson for 25 years, died suddenly at his home on Grohman creek Saturday morning, at the age of 54 years. Mr. Truffit, though in poor health, had been able to perform his regular work. Arising Saturday morning he complained of not feeling well and before a doctor could be summoned, he died.

Mr. Truffit was born in Otley, Yorkshire, England, and came to Canada 25 years ago. He worked for a time at the Nelson Iron Works as pattern maker. He was also employed as shipper and warehouse man by the Wood-Vallance Hardware company. Sixteen years ago he established a greenhouse on Grohman creek where he worked until the time of his death.

Besides his wife, Annie Ethel, Mr. Truffit is survived by two brothers and a sister living in England, and a cousin, Mrs. D. H. Ball of Nelson.

20 Turn Out for Rugby Practice

TRAIL, B.C., Oct. 6—That there was a splendid lot of talent from which to build two teams, was the opinion of Coach Don Fraser following the initial practice for English rugby at the Tadanac cricket grounds Saturday afternoon, at which 20 ruggers, half of whom had previously played the game, attended.

It is planned to hold a second practice next Saturday and to have proper goal posts erected.

Brush Burned on Hume Ranch

A fire seen on the north shore opposite Nelson just at dusk turned out to be lighted by the caretaker of the Hume ranch, for disposing of brush. It burned for only a few minutes.

STREET CAR OVERTURNS

BRIGHTON, England (CP) — A cyclist was killed and 22 persons injured when a Brighton tramcar got out of control on a hill, dashed across a busy roadway and overturned.

FIND PALEOLITHIC GRAVES

VIENNE, France (CP)—A burial ground which savants concluded dates from the solutrian period of the paleothilic age, was uncovered by workmen here. Many rough stone coffins were found.

Fishing Good on the Main Lake

Fishing has been unusually fine on the main lake this fall and during the past week several excellent catches have been made.

L. Pickard and J. Draper were out recently and brought back 15 trout, and reported that Charles Barratt and Grant Hall had a salmon and a nice mess of trout.

INSTITUTE TAG GETS GOOD SUM

Welfare Fund Gains by $127 Raised by Taggers

A substantial sum, $127, was added Saturday to the welfare fund of the Nelson Women's Institute, by a tag carried out throughout the day in the business section. The welfare fund is called upon for a variety of purposes, all connected with aid for the sick or needy and this is the third annual tag held by the institute to swell this fund.

Those directing and assisting the holding of the tag were Mesdames H. Mackenzie, G. H. Fraser, Robert Eunson, H. H. Pitts, John Teague, Arthur Terrill, C. F. McHardy, H. B. Penny, John Draper and Walter Davies.

The 35 taggers, nearly all juvenile in age, were Peggy Dunnett, Norma Pakenham, Eileen Beeston, David Wigg, Johnny Morrison, Monica Townsend, Marjory Teague, Elsa Johnson, Josephine Reilly, Susan Crossley, Violet Wagstaffe, Helen Stout, Lois Mansfield, Betty Wigg, Della Whittfield, Cynthia Nicholls, Rhona McLanders, Edna Gormley, Sybil Bradley, Grace Stainton, Frances Brewer, Jessie Richardson, Annie Bird, Jessie Heath, June Kennedy, Edna Massey, Hazel Tallyn, Rosemary Fleming, Norma Staples, Bessie Moen, Hazel Smith, Doris Lemmon, Rita Weatherhead, Louise Milburn and Marjorie Bradley.

38 PROBABLE STARTERS

NEWMARKET, Oct. 6 (CP cable).—Thirty-eight horses were listed today as probable starters in the Cesarewitch Stakes, to be run at Newmarket October 16. The distance is 2¼ miles.

Probable starters, with jockeys in brackets: Autuon (Pat Beasley), Huplite (Harry Wragg), Quashed (Jellies), Armour Bright (Harry Beasley), Dejazcomoa (Varard), Lucky Patch (Perryman), Polly Stephen (Smirke), Tommaok (Gordon Richards), Apple Peel (Wrickaby), Shining Cloud (Dines), Cactus Second (Steven Donoghue), Fracteur (Gethin), Doreen Jane (Weston), Chrysler Second (Beary), Claran (Graves), Near Relation (Sam Wragg), Hands Off (Humphrey Foster), Solar Boy (Reeves), Trapper (Packham), Tonnencourt (Sibbritt), Bonny Bright Eyes (Quick), Democrat (Spares), Penny-a-Liner (Sirett), Picadilly (Richardson), New Era (Ryan), Corneed (Evans), Sir Calidore (Sharpe), Greyman (D. Smith), Little Wyvis (Middleton), Samarkand (Luncy).

Childs will ride either Black Devil or Alcazar. No jockeys have been chosen for Sudbury, Woodstock, Bunkawal, Knight of Monaster, Vimy Ridge or Court Equerry.

Last Rites Are Given C. Romano

Veteran Businessman Dies at the Coast

With a large number of friends and relatives, including Trail residents, in attendance, high mass was celebrated for Constantino Romano at the Church of Mary Immaculate Saturday morning by Very Rev. J. C. McKenzie. Mr. Romano, who has been in the shoe business at Nelson for over 30 years, died at the coast last week. Many floral and spiritual offerings were made.

Pallbearers were A. J. Witchell, T. J. Scanlan, James Eccles, Steven Vingo, Vito Romano and Nicholas Maglio.

Members Hear of War Time Incidents at Banquet

The sixth annual dinner of the "Originals" club or "Red Chevrons" was held in the Golden Gate commemorating the sending of the First Canadian World war contingent formed by Sir Sam Hughes.

Over 20 attended the diner. At the conclusion of the dinner officers were elected as follows: J. Hurst, president; H. L. Howe, first vice-president; A. H. Gerrish, second vice-president; A. E. Dalgas, secretary-treasurer; General Ross, honorary president; General Victor Odlum, Canon Scott and Father French of Renfrew, honorary vice-presidents.

Telegrams were received from General Odlum and Canon Scott. The toast to the King was honored and then the company settled down to hearing service stories that were interspersed with community songs. Norman Bradley presided at the piano.

One of the most interesting stories was from D. B. Merry of Annable who was the first Canadian soldier to escape from a prison camp in Germany.

He gave a most graphic account of dodging German patrols. In doing so he and two companions had to swim three rivers before they reached safety. Commander Smith also gave interesting facts about the British admiralty during the war.

Before dinner the club met at the Canadian Legion and paraded to the cenotaph to deposit a wreath. Mrs. G. K. Ashby, who made the wreath, and who has taken care of flowers on the cenotaph each year, was accorded a vote of thanks. F. Hartwig sounded the last post.

"Unemployment Alone Merits Bennett Defeat"

Liberal Speaker Says Esling Must Share Responsibility

COAST MEN SPEAK, LADIES' MEETING

Victoria Member Tells of the Tariff Situation

Some 30 ladies were present at the Liberal committee rooms Saturday afternoon to hear addresses by "Boss" Johnson of Victoria, Liberal member, and Lawrence Foggo. Mr. Johnson dealt with tariffs while Mr. Foggo reviewed politics generally. Mrs. B. Whiteside presided.

Mr. Foggo reviewed the political situation and the coming federal election from a young man's point of view. He declared that he was glad to see the young people take an interest in politics, and to study the situation with a view of finding out which party or program offered some real hope for the future. It did not matter what party they chose as long as they gave some constructive thought to the campaign, rather than stand on street corners and condemn all parties, hoping for a change just for the sake of a change. In this regard the Young Liberals were leading the way with a membership in the province of approximately 3000.

MOST SUITED

The speaker believed that in reviewing the situation Mr. King was the most suited of the two candidates for premier, especially in view of the unemployment situation.

"In 1930 Mr. Bennett offered employment for all of us. I heard him say that if put back in power, in 90 days he would find employment for everyone. A very foolish statement. Neither Mr. Bennett, Mr. King nor Mr. Woodsworth could put the people to work in 90 days. He could however, have improved conditions considerably. Instead he called a conference, raised tariffs, and boosted commodities, boots, shoes and other necessities, sky high, and did not once raise the question of employment.

WAVE CRIME

The camp relief, established as a temporary measure, had dragged into four years. Many of the men had too much "guts"—to put it in a vulgar way—to stay in relief camps, and drifted into the cities, he said. When the cities could not and would not keep them, one of the most serious waves of crime known in the history of the province, had developed. There followed burglaries, robberies and even murder, he stated in picturing the situation at the coast.

"I can say sincerely that if for no other reason than this Mr. Bennett must be defeated. Money is a mere drop in the bucket compared to what has been done to the young people. The young people of today are the citizens of tomorrow and many of them are so warped in mind that they will never be fit to take their place. Many of them were good boys from good homes."

He declared when Premier Bennett had been asked to speak at the Junior Chamber of Commerce at Vancouver on what the future held, he had finished up with "tighten up your belts and go back to the days of your forefathers." Everyone in the hall had gone home with blood in his eyes, he said.

MUST SHARE BLAME

"Billy Esling is a good scout and has served his constituency well, but he is nothing more than a Bennett candidate, not the people's candidate, as he states. He must bear his share of the blame of the last five years.

The speaker went on to describe the promises of Mackenzie King for a national employment program, temporary and permanent measures.

A huge program of public works was not the answer to the unemployment situation, but public works could be used as a temporary measure.

There were two kinds of public works. One, a public works that only added debt to the country such as, he stated, a new armory and a new wing to the Vancouver post office. These were unnecessary and nothing more than campaign propaganda, the speaker stated.

COMPLETE HIGHWAYS

The other kind of public works was the construction of highways that when finished would bring back something to the country. He declared that the finishing of the transcanada highway, and the construction of feeder roads under the King program, would bring millions of dollars of tourist trade to the province. He stated that the opening up of the northern Vanderhoof district would cause to the developed a rich mining area. They deserved a highway. They were paying taxes and received nothing in return, Mr. Foggo said.

Public works was not the final answer. Mr. King suggested certain policies of trade revision that would start the wheels of industry humming and absorb the young people, he said.

It had been the trade policies of Sir Wilfrid Laurier that had given Canada its first real era of prosperity, he contended, and it had been Mackenzie King who had pulled Canada out of a morass in 1926 through the same policies, and these same policies would again bring prosperity to the country he contended.

He spoke of Prime Minister Bennett offering to blast his way into the trade markets of the world as foolish. He contended that lower tariffs would bring prices down to a lower level.

UNSPORTSMANLIKE

The present administration had been very unsportsman-like in delaying the election to October. It would give the in-going government very little chance to act before winter or to offer a measure of relief to the employment situation. Again he said that Mr. Esling would have to take his share of the blame.

In conclusion he stated that the coming election was an issue primarily between Mr. King and Mr. Bennett. The C.C.F. could not muster more than 118 seats if all candidates were elected. The people were not going to vote for a minority government.

In Mr. Bennett, though having a clever man, the people had a man who could not take advice or delegate government and the load of administration was too great for one man to carry.

On the other hand Mr. King was a man who had given considerable study to social welfare work in Chicago and was sympathetic with the working class. The speaker mentioned wage and hours of work legislation. The revision of the B. N. A. act to bring social legislation under the Federal government was the plan of the Liberal government, he said.

TARIFFS

Mr. Johnson, Victoria member, dealt mainly with tariffs. This, he said, was the most important issue of the day, and he said that he was proud to note that other parties were now fighting on Liberal planks. He claimed that the Bennett attitude had been responsible for the loss of the Japanese market and had been responsible for a big loss to B.C. industry. The reason that Canada was not enjoying the lumber trade in Great Britain she had previously, was that she was not "playing ball" with Britain, he said.

The speaker dealt at length with the protection to numerous commodities including radios and automobiles, which he declared, caused a range in price that was out of all proportion to their original price. The same applied to shoes, he thought. The range in price, in the case of autos, was two billion over the American price for cars purchased last year, or half a million more than was spent on roads. He felt that through the unfair trade tariffs Ontario and Quebec reaped a great harvest at the expense of British Columbia, and he quoted at length to illustrate his point.

Speaking of the C. M. & S. at Tadanac, Mr. Johnson declared that it was a wonderful company. Its employees had stated that if all companies had acted as the C. M. & S. had done the country would be a better place in which to live.

"But don't forget that 90 per cent of its lead and zinc output is for export. This industry has been fortunate," he said.

In closing he repeated his opening remarks that other parties were running on Liberal planks. He stated that he would not be surprised if the Bennett government announced a reciprocal trade treaty with the United States before the election.

Chicago Strife In Wrestling Card

Miller Tough Guy in the Ring Against a Good Grappler

TRAIL, B.C., Oct. 6—When "Two Gun" Bob Miller, the Chicago bad man, performs in the headliner of his wrestling card at the Trail rink Tuesday night, fans will be flabergasted to see not the demure Miller that walks about the streets and orates unctuously to his fellowmen with an educated tongue. They will see a snarling tiger who roughs up its prey considerably before taking it into submission. Miller, who is reputed as the light heavyweight champion of the coast, didn't get that title by using kid gloves but by treating his opponent with dexterity combined with strength and skill and making the other grappler give in rather than have the agony prolonged.

Miller is of the short and stocky type that uses brawn applied in a skillful manner to conquer. But Jimmy Lamb is also from Chicago where they know how to deal with the tough eggs and is by no means of the gentle type but a real black sheep of his family. Lamb is of the same weight class as Miller but did not appear so to the fans when he fought Maracci yet gave him a tough time. Built along slimer lines he is of the sinewy type with long strong arms and legs which give him plenty of leverage in applying holds to the stubby legs and arms of Miller.

THREE ARRESTS IN THE LIQUOR THEFT AT DENVER

Young Nelsonites Are Apprehended; Most Liquor Recovered

That the robbery of the New Denver liquor store in the early hours of Friday morning last had been cleared up was the report of Sergeant C. G. Barber of the Nelson provincial police department at an early hour Monday morning.

Three young men, residents of Nelson were apprehended and will appear in court at New Denver. The police withheld the names of those charged. All but two bottles of the $261 haul were recovered, according to police.

Working on the case were Corp. David Halcrowe and Constables Martin and Sheppard of the provincial police and Sergt. Robert Harshaw of the Nelson city detachment.

PACKING SHED AT BOSWELL OPENS

BOSWELL, B.C.— The Boswell packing shed opened Wednesday with A. Hepher as manager and a crew of experienced packers and sorters.

Packers are—Miss Winnie Bebbington, Miss Pat Johnstone, Stephen Sherman, Frank Cummings, Ray Cummings.

Grades—Mrs. Shell, Miss Pat Wall, and Miss Annie Sawczuk.

Nailer—Jim Johnstone.

Stacker and nailer—F. Kunst.

Tipper—Clifford Bebbington.

Roustabout—B. Smith.

McIntosh Reds of which there are not many in Boswell, were packed on the first day. A start has now been made on the Cox Orange. There are more of these than of any other variety here.

The bulk of the crop comes from the A. Mackie orchard, said to be the largest Cox Orange orchard in B.C. Other growers of this variety are S. R. Sherman, A. Hepher, S. J. Cummings and D. G. Brown.

Wednesday W. J. Clarke of Vancouver, senior fruit inspector, made a farewell visit to Boswell. He was accompanied by W. H. Robertson, chief provincial horticulturist; Inspector F. H. Carne of Creston and W. L. Littlejohn, Creston old-timer.

Mr. Carne and Mr. Littlejohn returned to Creston on the bus. Mr. Robertson and Mr. Clarke proceeded to Gray Creek to catch the ferry.

Inspector Deane was expected to make an official visit to Boswell Saturday in connection with the Cox Orange crop.

Cameron Wins Golf Title on Nelson Course

Defeats Townshend; R. Watson Takes Second Flight

P. I. Ingy Cameron, who came to Nelson this summer from Vancouver, Sunday afternoon carried off the Nelson Golf and Country club title and the Appleyard-Lowe cup. In winning the title he defeated B. Townshend of Willow Point, who has stroked through to the winning end of numerous Nelson tournaments, six up.

Second flight honors went to another coast player, R. (Bob) Watson, who defeated L. A. McPhail four and two in a steady match. With R. L. McBride out of town for the week-end, the first flight final had to be postponed. Mr. McBride meets F. G. Schroeder. C. (Buck) Lambert defeated R. E. Horton a week ago Sunday for the third flight honors.

The day proved ideal for the tournament and a number of visitors were on hand to go over the course in the train of the champions.

Cameron and Townshend both had an off day, shooting below their old par-breaking form. The afternoon saw them in better fettle, however, and they settled down to good golf on the last few holes.

CAMERON TAKES LEAD

It was a 36-hole battle and Cameron took the lead from the start with a par four on No. 1. He clicked off par four times during the round and started the turn three up.

Cards for the round were turned in as follows:

Par	4	3	4	3	3	4	4	3	4—32
Townshend	5	4	5	4	4	6	4	4	5—40
Cameron	4	4	5	3	3	5	5	4	4—37

Play was about even during the last nine of the morning rounds, Cameron holding a two or three-hole lead and finishing three up. They halved seven of the nine holes.

The cards in were:

Townshend	5	4	W	4	4	6	4	4	5
Cameron	5	4	L	4	4	6	3	3	5

L and W—lost and won, conceded.

When play resumed in the afternoon Cameron settled down and stretched the lead to seven at the fifth hole. The sixth shot saw one of the most unusual lies of the game when Cameron's ball came to rest on a rock in the middle of the fairway. They finished the twenty-seventh hole with Cameron leading six up. Cameron turned in a 34 for the round and Townshend a 38. Townshend sunk his second shot on the eighth for a birdie two after a beautiful drive.

The cards were as follows:

Townshend	4	4	6	4	4	5	5	2	4—38
Cameron	4	3	5	3	3	5	4	3	4—34

Cameron dropped the first hole on the round in but went six up again on the second, halved the third in par fours and took the fourth to win the match. Charlie Blunt, club pro, refereed the match.

Among the visitors playing the course during the day were Col. John Murray and J. Tindale of South Slocan, Mr. Holland and Ron Rumley of Toronto and Ron Johnson of Vancouver.

BITE INSTEAD OF KISS

LONDON (CP)—Winifred Larking of Barnet asked her hairdresser's dog for a kiss but got a bite between the eyes instead. In county court the hairdresser was ordered to pay $275 damages.

ESLING HEARD AT BOSWELL

BOSWELL, B. C.—W. K. Esling, M.P., and G. Morden of North Vancouver addressed a crowded meeting here Wednesday evening. The chair was taken by A. Mackie.

Mr. Esling, who was given an enthusiastic welcome, spoke on the Marketing act and other matters pertaining to agriculture.

Mr. Morden dealt principally with trade figures.

A few questions were asked by members of the audience.

B. H. Smith, on behalf of the Farmers' institute, and A. Hepher for the Boswell Fruit Growers, thanked Mr. Esling for the prompt and courteous attention which he had always given to all matters brought to his notice.

Mr. Esling was an overnight guest of Mr. and Mrs. A. Hepher, at Hill ranch, Wednesday.

G. Morden of North Vancouver was a guest of Mrs. H. Johnstone during his visit to Boswell.

Miss Annie Sawczuk has returned from an extended visit to friends in the Lardeau district.

Miss Pat Wall and Miss Annie Sawczuk are "batching" in the Johnstone cottage during the apple-packing season.

R. Bell of Nelson was a visitor to Boswell Thursday, making arrangements for a Liberal meeting.

A C.C.F. meeting is planned, to be addressed by Mr. and Mrs. H. W. Herridge and F. Frisby.

There will be a Liberal meeting, at which D. D. MacLean and D. McDonald of Trail and Mr. Foggo will speak.

K. Wallace has been appointed returning officer for Boswell, the last polling station in West Kootenay, Eric Bainbridge will be clerk.

MOSCOW (CP)—The second section of the Moscow subway system is being excavated by 30,000 workers. New tunnels at depths of 100 to 125 feet will be completed in 1937.

Mildred Flynn of Grand Forks Wed

GRAND FORKS, B.C.—A wedding of interest to many in Grand Forks and Nakusp district took place here Saturday Sept. 28, when Mildred Marie Frances, youngest daughter of James Flynn and the late Mrs. Flynn of this city, became the bride of Constable David R. McWhirter, only son of Mr. and Mrs. McWhirter of Nakusp, Rev. Father Smith officiating.

The ceremony took place in the Parish hall which was profusely decorated with dahlias and mums.

The bride who was given in marriage by her father, made a charming picture in her gown of flowered rose chiffon. The tiny ruffles which trimmed her gown extended from the knees to the floor. A shoulder cape was also made up of the same dainty ruffles. The bride's hat and accessories were white and she carried a sheaf of carnations and roses.

Miss Alice Flynn, sister of the bride was her only attendant and was becomingly attired in a frock of Alice blue silk organdy, with silver tone. A corsage of deep red rose buds completed her costume. Basil Flynn supported the groom.

After the ceremony, a supper was served at the bride's home, which was tastily decorated with autumn flowers. A three-teired wedding cake centered the table. Pink candles in silver holders and tiny pink rose buds in silver vases added a dainty touch. Only immediate friends and relatives were present.

Later in the evening 40 guests attended a reception, Misses Dorothy and Alice Flynn receiving the guests.

The young couple will take up residence in the Davis house on Maine avenue.

Complimenting Miss Mildred Flynn, whose marriage took place Sept. 28, members of the B. C. Telephone staff held a miscellaneous shower at the home of Miss Marjorie Kidd. The Misses Savage and Isobel Huffman were also hostesses at the home of the latter. After a few rounds of bridge, the bride to be was presented with many gifts of chinaware.

About 40 members of Banner Lodge 25 I.O.O.F. attended a banquet in honor of Mrs. Stella Matson, president of the Rebekah assembly of British Columbia, Saturday. After a meeting of the lodge a social evening was spent.

Mrs. Lowe of Penticton won first prize at bridge, Mr. Matson carried off the honors for men. Mrs. Eurley and Will Eureby won consolation prizes.

Later in the evening refreshments were served and the members made a presentation to their president. Short addresses were given by Mr. and Mrs. Matson, Mrs. Meakes D.D.P. and Mrs. Tutt, N.G.

Out of town visitors to the lodge were Mrs. Lowe, Mrs. McKinnon and Mrs. Butler of Penticton.

Mr. and Mrs. T. T. Walker motored to the Okanagan Tuesday.

Mrs. McMillan and Mrs. R. Kerr left by motor Monday for Yakima, Wash.

Mrs. Eureby had as her guest, Mrs. Stella Matson, president of the Rebekah Assembly of British Columbia.

Rev. D. M. Perley left Monday for Kaslo.

Mrs. E. L. Kidd is a visitor to Spokane this week.

"Just Couldn't Lose, Could You, Joe?"

McLEAN HEARD AT AINSWORTH

AINSWORTH, B.C., —A well attended public meeting in the interests of the Liberal candidate, D. D. McLean, was held here Monday night. The chair was taken by Alex Grant and the speakers were Harry Lewis of Vancouver and D. D. McLean.

Mr. Lewis, who is connected with the Young Liberal association, told how he, in company with a number of friends, had been put out of his employment by the depression, how they had studied C.C.F. and other parties as a solution to their problems and how, finally they had become convinced that the Liberal party was the best one to lift British Columbia out of the depression.

Mr. Grant introduced Mr. McLean and the candidate endeavored to show the advantage of electing a Liberal to represent this riding. He spoke of both his opponents saying he liked them both personally, but did not agree at all with their political policies.

Mr. McLean quoted facts and figures in an effort to show how the Liberals could make a great difference in the trade of this country.

Both speakers were warmly applauded.

Miss Hazel Campbell was a recent visitor to Trail. She was accompanied back by her young niece, Patsy Ling.

Balfour Ladies' Church guild met at Mrs. Morgan's home. Fourteen members and one visitor were present.

It was decided to hold a Hallowe'en tea and sale. Work was distributed. The hostess served refreshments after which the young ladies of the Junior Red Cross held a sale of home cooking on the lawn. Brisk business was done, and a nice sum raised to buy wool to knit socks, etc. for the Crippled Children's hospital at Victoria.

The Balfour and Queen's Bay Women's Institute held a dance at Woodland hall September 27, when there was a wonderful attendance, nearly 100 people being present. Visitors came from Kaslo, Gray Creek, Procter, Harrop, Queen's Bay, Longbeach, Willow Point, and Nelson.

Supper was served at midnight by members of the institute.

Mr. and Mrs. A. Ling entertained the young people's club Tuesday. A happy evening was spent, and refreshments were served.

The harvest festival services were held in the Anglican church last Sunday morning and afternoon. Good attendances greeted the vicar, Rev. Clyde Harvey, it being his first services since he returned from a visit to England. The church was attractively decorated with flowers, fruit and vegetables, which were afterward donated to the Salvation Army.

MOVIES SEEN AT CRAWFORD BAY

Rev. A. C. Pound Shows Films; Esling Has Meeting

CRAWFORD BAY, B.C.—Rev. A. C. Pound of Procter showed some interesting moving pictures Saturday in the Public hall here.

Especially interesting were pictures of the Observatory at Ottawa. The story of a can of Salmon, "Romance of Ranching" and a comic for the children.

Sunday morning Rev. Mr. Pound conducted service in the Memorial church. While here Mr. Pound was a guest of Mr. and Mrs. Fisher.

The young daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Roy McGregor received a cut on her forehead, when knocked down by a boy on a bicycle. The child was taken to Creston where it was found necessary to put in three stitches.

F. Trail of Vancouver has been a guest of his brother-in-law and sister, Capt. and Mrs. Hincks.

A Conservative meeting was held in the Public hall Tuesday evening when W. K. Esling, M.P. of Rossland Conservative candidate for Kootenay West, and George H. Morden of North Vancouver, addressed an attentive audience. Mr. Esling's address dealt chiefly with the unemployment Insurance act, the Dominion income tax legislation, the Marketing legislation and the Farmer's creditor arrangement act.

Mr. Morden spoke on a number of national issues including the record of the Bennett government respecting Empire Trade and financial and social legislation showing how the Bennett government has "assisted the provinces during the past five years.

Capt. Hincks presided and introduced the speakers. He spoke of the high esteem in which Mr. Esling held by all who knew him.

MENUS, RECIPES and HINTS

Menu Hints
Upside Down Ham Loaf
Pineapple Slices
Creamed Potatoes
Celery and Green Pepper Salad
Pumpkin Pie Coffee

This menu may be served as a buffet meal when you have guests, or to serve at the table, if you do not want to serve pineapple with the meat loaf, serve apples, baked or stewed. In that case put the loaf directly into the baking pan. I hope you do not mind my giving you the pumpkin pie recipe again. It is one I use all the time and it is so good and economical that I feel I should give it to those who lost it last time I put it in the paper, or who are new readers. I sometimes use two eggs—if I'm feeling rich.

Todaybs Recipes

Upside Down Ham Loaf— Two pounds ground ham, one pound ground pork, one cup bread crumbs, one tablespoon minced onion, one teaspoon Worcestershire sauce, one-fourth teaspoon paprika, two eggs, beaten; one-half cup milk, pineapple slices. Have pork and ham ground together. Combine with bread crumbs and seasonings. Moisten with beaten egg and milk. Arrange pineapple slices in the bottom of a loaf pan and pack ham mixture on top. Bake in a moderate oven (350 degrees Fahrenheit), until done, about one and a half hours. Unmold onto a large platter and decorate with pineapple slices.

Pumpkin Pie—One and one-half cups of cooked, strained pumpkin, pour over it one cup scalded milk. Add one-half cup sugar, one egg, slightly beaten; one teaspoon cinnamon, one teaspoon salt. Beat all together until smooth and pour into an unbaked pie crust. Bake in hot oven—400 degrees—for ten minutes, then lower the oven to 350, and finish baking.

MR. ESLING AND THE HOUSING ACT

One of the characteristic measures of the Bennett government has been the Housing act of 1935, under which a $10,000,000 loan fund has been provided to enable the industrious and thrifty to embark on individual home building enterprises that in the aggregate will have a national significance.

It is stipulated that the beneficiary of the loan must provide 20 per cent of the total outlay required, his 20 per cent including the site; and the government provides 20 per cent at 5 per cent; the balance being obtained from the loan companies at 5 per cent, an interest rate substantially under the commercial rate for such purposes, certain large insurance and trust companies having accepted the government's terms on this matter. All deals are made between the individuals and the loan companies, the government money being available for the propositions that qualify.

This $10,000,000 loan fund means the expenditure of $40,000,000 of private funds along with it in home building, or a total of $50,000,000. This will have a double value for the nation—the social value of the extension of modern housing, and the employment value, which will be distributed first through the building trades, but ultimately all through Canadian industry and business.

As remarked, this measure is characteristic of the Bennett government, and bears its stamp in several ways.

It means a great extension of employment, as does the $40,000,000 appropriation for public works.

The low interest rate recalls the government's bank legislation, providing harsh penalties for bank and bank manager making loans at rates above the legal limit of 7 per cent; as well as the government's refunding of $600,000,000 worth of tax-free Dominion bonds at low rates saving $6,000,000 a year in interest, and making the returns on the new $600,000,000 taxable.

Its social value recalls the government's great social program enacted at the recent session—unemployment insurance, minimum wage, eight-hour day, and one day of rest in seven, all Dominion-wide.

Needless to say, this legislation, so in line with the constructive views of W. K. Esling, West Kootenay's member, had his undeviating support of its passage through parliament, a passage made rough and tortuous by the usual obstructive tactics which the Bennett government's legislation has almost uniformly met from the official opposition.

LO! THE POOR HITCH-HIKERS

The United States papers are telling of an incident that occurred in Wisconsin. A motorist brought his car to a stop at the lordly gesture of a young hitch-hiker, opened the door. The young man hesitated. "Have you a radio in your car?" he asked. The driver said he hadn't. "Thanks very much," said the youth, "I'll wait for another car."

Some of those who write about the incident are highly indignant, have sharp things to say about insolence, bad manners and such. But we think they miss the real point. They overlook the embarrassment that must have been suffered by this hitch-hiker, forced to decline an offer of a free ride made in good faith, because the car lacked the elementary comforts to which th "trekker" was accustomed. Shouldn't it be required, therefore, that motorists should carry placards, prominently displayed, so that the gentry of the pavements will not be put to the trouble of stopping the wrong car?

The word RADIO, in large letters on a card hung over the radiator, would tell the hitch-hiker that he might have music with his ride. HEATED CAR would be useful information at some seasons. FREE LUNCH might be an inducement. And at the very least drivers should proclaim their destination for all to read. It is most annoying to hikers when they settle down comfortably, assuming they have no worries this side of Toronto, and find that the car is not going beyond Kingston.

The gentleman from Wisconsin has called attention to a grievance that must be the subject of much concern to his kind, and we think something ought to be done about it. Hardboiled persons will say, perhaps, "Let them walk," or "A car that is good enough for me is good enough for anybody bumming a ride," but that doesn't meet the situation. Isn't Every Man a King nowadays?

A DEAD GIVE-AWAY

A couple of clubmen met for the first time when they had lunch together. Later they went to meet their wives at the smart hotel. They were not in the lobby and they continued their search to the tea room. Suddenly the first man drew back. "Good Lord!" he exclaimed. There's my wife and my sweetheart sitting at the same table."

"Man!" replied the other. "You took the words right out of my mouth."

The new maid had been showing signs of not caring very much for being in service after all, and this, together with the nightly appearance of a rather tired-looking young man, caused her mistress some anxiety.

"You're not thinking of getting married, are you, Emily?" she asked one day.

"Yes, I am, ma'am," said Emily.

"To that young man who comes around here every evening?"

"Yes, ma'am, that's him."

"But you've only known him for a week or two. Dont you think you ought to know your future husband longer before you take such an important step?"

"Well, ma'am," said Emily, "it isn't as if he was a stranger really. You see, one of my friends was engaged to him for a long time!"

One day he tackled her on the subject: "What I can't understand," he said, "is why I didn't realize you had such a temper before I married you."

"Well," she affably replied, "whenever you said anything to annoy me in those days, I used to go upstairs and bite pieces out of the dressing table."

PLANT CURRANT CUTTINGS NOW

By DEAN HALLIDAY
Central Press Garden Expert

Cuttings of currant bushes can be taken now. They may be either planted at once in the garden or ouried in sand in a cool cellar over the winter. Most people prefer inserting the cuttings in shallow trenches of sandy soil.

For the cuttings take wood of the current season's growth and make the cuttings nine inches in length. The stem should be cut off immediately below a bud at the bottom, but half an inch of stem should be left above the bud at the upper end. Before inserting them, remove all the buds up to the top four, which are to be left on. Plant these cuttings to a depth of five inches, so that the greater part is below ground. Be sure the bases are firmly planted by treading upon them.

When planted out, they should be placed five feet apart each way. The ideal bush is trimmed so as to be open in the center, with about six main branches. They should be pruned in the autumn. Never allow any dead wood on the bushes, for fungus is apt to put in an appearance.

"A PITCHER OF MIGNONETTE"

A pitcher of mignonette
In a tenement's highest casement—
Queer sort of flower-pot—yet
That pitcher of mignonette
Is a garden in heaven set,
To the little sick child in the basement—
The pitcher of mignonette,
In the tenement's highest casement.

—Henry Cuyler Bunner.

NOCTURNE

Up to her chamber window
A slight wire trellis goes,
And up this Romeo's ladder
Clambers a bold white rose.

I lounge in the ilex shadows,
I see the lady lean,
Unclasping her silken girdle
The curtain's folds between.

She smiles on her white-rose lover,
She reaches out her hand
And helps him in at the window—
I see it where I stand!

To her scarlet lip she holds him,
And kisses him many a time—
Ah, me! it was he that won her
Because he dared to climb!

HOW MOTHER AIDED PARALYZED CHILD

By LOGAN CLENDENING, M.D.

There are few things that are entirely hopeless. Doctors are inclined to say that such-and-such a thing cannot be done, and then there comes along the example of a person who has done it. Sometimes medical miracles are accomplished by a single stroke of genius; more often they are accomplished by a patient, long drawn out conquest of difficulties.

The story of a remarkable illustration of this has just been published. It is a book written by a doctor's wife, Mrs. Fischel, of St. Louis. Two of her sons were born with a form of paralysis known as "Little's Disease." You frequently see examples of the condition in the streets, cripples in mechanical chairs, their arms and legs twisted by spastic paralysis. Their heads may be thrown back and their movements awkward. The cause of the disease is probably an injury to the baby's brain before birth or during the process of birth, possibly with hemorrhages into the brain.

FIRST BADLY AFFLICTED

Mrs. Fischel's first child was so badly afflicted that he died at an early age. One can imagine the despair of the parents when the second boy was found to have the same condition, but Mrs. Fischel began to try to make the stiff and spastic muscles perform their normal functions. She devised, herself, many exercises of re-education, and in the course of time the muscles responded and her son is able to live a reasonably normal life.

In this book, "The Spastic Child," she addresses herself to the parents of those who have experienced the same tragedy. It is a message of hope and encouragement. She describes in detail the movements of re-education which should be used for different cases, especially the re-education of the muscles of speech in the palate. It is a most remarkable book, and one which is a contribution to medical science as well as a work of instruction for those who may need it.

QUESTIONS FROM READERS

D.S.: "Is there any danger whatever incurred to the body by wearing a rubber bathing suit?"

Answer: No.

M.J.G.: "I suffer with canker sores in my mouth. Just what foods should I eat and what ones should I avoid? I have been told to drink sauerkraut juice. I am a lover of fresh fruits. Should I avoid eating eggs? I generally have two included in one of my meals during the day."

Answer: Canker sores are probably due to irritation of nerve ganglia and, insofar as is known, have nothing to do with food. Unfortunately we do not know anything that influences their causation. The greatest harm that can come in treating them is to impose a lot of dietary restrictions which do not do any good and may result in an unbalanced diet.

PROBLEMS

Religious and Social Questions Answered

By DR. WYLIE CLARK

Why has there been so much trouble with the Jews? They don't seem to be any worse than any other people.—R.K.

One of the troubles is that we blame them for the crucifixion of Jesus and forget that it was from the Jewish people He came. Whatever we have in our Christian religion we got it from them. Another thing is their success in business has created a feeling of jealousy against them.

Their persistency, although scattered in many lands, to maintain their raised distinctions, have kept them separated and somewhat isolated.

Should we not be sorry for ourselves because we are living just now?"—W.G.L.

That depends on our estimate of ourselves and what we consider to be our usefulness in the world. This is the greatest day in human history; no other period of history was so extended and complicated. Never before were there such wholesale trials facing men nor the possibility of so great catastrophes overtaking civilization. To live today, and know that we live, is to realize the seriousness of our responsibility and to be thankful that, amid such great necessities, we have our day of service.

What is the difference between freedom to do as I like and freedom to do as I ought?—O.T.

Freedom to do as I like permits me to do anything, whether it is right or wrong. My own desires, inclinations, ambitions and plans have the right-of-way. There are no laws and no limits. To do as I ought places me in a world of relationships where other people's rights and privileges have to be considered. My rights must not overthrow or hinder theirs and I must be as concerned about their welfare as about my own.

CONTRACT BRIDGE

By E. V. SHEPARD
"Teacher of Teachers"

CAN EAST MAKE A SMALL SLAM?

Most East and West players bid and made a small slam at clubs in a duplicate game. Several made a grand slam. All should have done so. Nobody bid the club grand slam. Several East players attempted to fulfill a no trump small slam, but each failed to do so. Should they have made this small slam against perfect defense? Let South make any opening lead you wish.

North: ♠ 8 7 6 4 3 2 ♥ Q 9 5 ♦ 8 ♣ J 10 6

West: ♠ A K Q ♥ A K 6 2 ♦ A 5 ♣ A K 9 8

East: ♠ 9 ♥ 8 4 ♦ K 9 8 7 6 4 ♣ Q 7 5 4

South: ♠ J 10 5 ♥ J 10 7 3 ♦ Q J 10 2 ♣ 3 2

One table bid as described. I presume the other no trump players made somewhat similar bids: West, 2-Hearts; East, 2-No Trumps; West, 3-Clubs; East, 3-Diamond; West, 4-No Trumps; East, 5-Clubs; West, 6-No Trumps.

The most popular opening lead was the Q of diamonds. Win with dummy's Ace. Lead one of dummy's low hearts, giving opponents a trick in that suit, preparatory to making a squeeze. It does not matter which defender wins the trick, or the nature of the return lead. Suppose defenders make things as difficult as possible for declarer. Let South win the heart trick and let him take out declarer's K of diamonds, by leading the J of that suit. Take three rounds of clubs, leaving the three in dummy and the 7 in declaring hand, as the only means of entry. Have South discard his lowest diamond. Lead declarer's lone spade. Run off three tricks in spades. Declarer will let go his two lowest diamonds. Put declarer in lead with his top club, forcing South either to discard his top diamonds, thus giving East two good diamonds and dummy the last trick with the top heart, or else forcing South to discard one of his three hearts, thus giving dummy three heart tricks. In either event East will make 6-odd at no trumps.

Try having South make an opening heart lead. Let defenders hold the first trick. Let them lead back anything they please. Another heart is as good as anything. Win with dummy's K. Run off four club tricks. South's best discards are his lowest diamond and lowest spade. Run off dummy's three spades. Dummy is reduced to A-6 in hearts and A-5 in diamonds. Declarer holds only four diamonds to the K. South has to reduce his holdings to two hearts and two diamonds, giving declarer all remaining tricks, or else South may protect his diamonds and reduce an unguarded heart. This also will yield declarer his small slam.

The declaring side can spread cards for 11 tricks: Three spades, two hearts, two diamonds and four clubs. By giving defenders a single heart trick, running off the black winners forces South to let go either a heart or diamond guard, insuring declaring side the single trick in addition needed for contract. South cannot protect his hand against the squeeze, by any possible defense.

WHAT THE PRESS IS SAYING

APPLES ON THE MOVE

From the Okanagan comes the news that the apples are being harvested. The big red apples themselves, the incomparable "Macs" will soon follow. From one end of that magic valley to the other, from Salmon Arm, beside Shuswap Lake, down to Oliver, near the boundary—not forgetting Kamloops—the fruit pickers are out with their ladders, the packing houses, closed these many months, are open and busy again day and night. The cars full of the early apples are moving out to the Coast and the prairies with the fruit that men have loved since the Garden of Eden.

A colorful, picturesque chapter in British Columbia's year, this harvest of the apple crop! It has turned a bare valley between the sagebrush hills into an almost unbroken orchard nearly two hundred miles long—a vast sweep of white blossom in the spring, a treasure trove of red apples in the autumn. It feeds half a dozen little cities and creates a valuable market for our Coast products. It is one of our major exports and in far-away parts of the world the Okanagan apple is known and esteemed by people who do not know where British Columbia lies on the map.

But as you travel through the Okanagan at this season, the harvest seems less of a major industrial operation than a kind of jolly communal effort to get in the crop upon which everyone depend for a living. The excitement of the event is everywhere apparent. The whole country has but one thought—apples. A rise or fall of 25 cents a box in the price of apples is as exciting as a new gold discovery in a mining camp. Every man, woman and child who can be spared is out relieving the trees of their luscious burden. By the orchard fences you will see many a smart sedan parked all day while its owner, some business man from Vernon or Kelowna, helps to bring in the fruit. An apple time nothing matters but the crop.

In the apple itself we on the Coast can taste something of the flavor of the Okanagan, stored up with rain and sunshine since last May. But there is a quality in the air and the sunshine up there these days that even the apple can not transport outside the valley. There is a certain sparkle and vigor that is to be found only in the dry belt, well above sea level, perhaps a hint in the evenings of the early frosts that will add the last gorgeous flush of color to the cheeks of King Mac. There is, above all, a human feeling of common interest in the crops, the immemorial satisfaction and excitement of the harvest, on which all men must live through the long winter. —Victoria Times.

BRIDGE AS GIFT

NORT HILL, Cornwall (CP) — Major E. S. F. Rodd has had a concrete bridge erected over the River Lynher at Batten's hill as a Jubilee gift to the district.

ACTING PREMIER OF ALBERTA AT 26 YEARS OF AGE

The Alberta Social Credit party's coat-of-arms, it has been suggested, might well bear the figure of youth rampant. Members of the newly-elected government hold the distinction of being the youngest in the Dominion. Ernest Charles Manning, 26-year old provincial secretary, acted as premier while his party chief visited Ottawa to negotiate a loan.

Rocketed from obscurity to a cabinet suite in the provincial parliament buildings, Manning's short political career has been compared to that of William Pitt, who, at the age of 24, assumed the mantle of premier of Great Britain. Youthful experiences have fashioned the philosophy of the slim, sandy-haired crusader.

Born on a farm, near Carnduff, Sask., he has always taken a keen interest in economic problems. He believes Christianity should go hand in hand with political life. His interests are the welfare of Alberta's young people and the institution of the aggressive policies his party sponsors.

Eight years ago he took a course at the Calgary Prophetic Bible Institute and was its first graduate. Later he became his principal's secretary and first lieutenant. When Aberhart became interested in the principles of Social Credit, Manning became the fellow student. Three years ago they made an education tour of the province.

An attempt was made the following year to persuade the government headed by Premier J. E. Brownlee to adopt their program. When this failed they decided to make it a political issue. The newly-formed Social Credit party was voted into office at the Aug. 24 general elections and Manning was selected by his leader for one of the chief cabinet posts.

"People who say Social Credit is merely inflation disguised are ignorant of the 'just price' feature in our system," the farm-boy-economist believes. "We are not contemplating any radical changes. We will be making adjustments as we go along. We will go ahead with our aggressive ideas but we won't do anything rash.

"You must remember all of us entered into this in the spirit of a crusade. We're not politicians. When you realize there are tremendous numbers of people who need something done for them you instinctively want to do what is best." Manning has held office only short time but already benches bulge with visitors demanding audiences.

OLDER PERSONS STILL CAN LEARN PSYCHOLOGIST PROVES

The human machine cannot be thrown on the scrapheap like a worn-out cheap automobile, Dr. Llewelyn Wynn-Jones, psychologist of the University of Leeds, warned his colleagues in the Psychology Section of the British Associations for the Advancement of Science in a dramatic plea for increased study of the psychology of older persons.

"Ancient customs and opinions which had little scientific backing have in the past made it difficult for many of the unemployed to embark on any training for a new career," he told the meeting. "But the verdict of psychology is that such training is possible."

New programs of research, notably those by two American psychologists, Drs. E. L. Thorndike and Walter R. Miles, and a study in Vienna by Dr. Charlotte Buhler, were cited by Dr. Wynn-Jones as evidence that the mental deterioration of those past middle age is not nearly so great as many employers have supposed.

The differences in rate of learning between the old and the young are small as compared with the differences between individuals in either group, these researches show. The ability to learn a new language is not greatest in childhood, as has been supposed. This ability increase up to the age of 16 and probably keeps on increasing up to 20. It is then just the same up to 25 or later and then drops very, very slowly for the next ten years. After that it drops a little faster, but still very slowly to 45 or later.

YOUTH HAS ADVANTAGE IN PHYSICAL PROWESS

The gain made in 50 or 500 hours of study of a modern language by a group of adults of any age from 20 to 40 is actually greater than the gain made by a group of children aged from 8 to 12.

Learning of completely new things for which past experience or learning is no aid is more difficult for adults as compared with children. But for the learning of the sort of things that adults ordinarily want to learn, the inferiority of older persons is much less.

In the field of physical prowess, Dr. Buhler found that youth has the advantage in activities which demand a maximum expenditure of energy per second. Thus, the age of those holding the records for sprint run, long jump and javelin throwing is around 23 or 24. Where economy of effort is important, as in the medium run, hurdler, high jump, pole vault, and putting the weight, the age of record holders is somewhat higher, 24 and 25 years. And where technique and experience are more important, the age is still greater. Thus, in rowing, the long run, throwing the discuss and throwing the hammer, the ages range from 25.5 to 31. In golf, the 37 open champions since 1894 have an average age of 31.

As a matter of self-preservation, the adult should turn to adult education, Dr. Wynn-Jones indicated.

ADVANCE WEATHER BULLETIN

For Western Central Canada, embracing British Columbia, Alberta, Saskatchewan, Manitoba and Ontario

Mon. Oct. 7, 1935 — Unsettled, rainy in southeastern sections of central provinces, but about the northwest and Pacific slope clearing and much colder.

Tues. Oct. 8—Cold wave comes into central regions from northwest and temperatures rapidly decline; generally clear, though slightly unsettled in southwest.

Wed. Oct. 9—The spell of cold weather continues, but now somewhat moderating, especially in the west and northwest; about east clear and cold.

Thur. Oct. 10—Clear with moderating temperatures in west; about great lakes and southeast mildly stormy and unsettled, but only light precipitation.

Fri. Oct. 11—Slow moving disturbance, with light precipitation, drifts across from the west and northwest as temperatures moderate in nearly all sections.

Sat. Oct. 12.—Weather now turns colder about the west and northwest, but remains fairly moderate with some unsettled conditions around central and southeast sections.

Sun. Oct. 13—Changes to clearing weather in most sections and becoming considerably colder, thought about far northwest unsettled conditions come on, carrying light precipitation.

Week of Oct. 7 to 13, 1935, in central provinces begins with weather turning colder and becoming unsettled with mild storm condition coming on from the west, carrying light and scattered precipitation. It is the fore-runner of a cold wave which is expected to sweep through the country after mid week turn to much more moderate weather and again unsettled after a short period of clearing. Just at last of week temperatures decline, though about the west somewhat unsettled and moderating.

In October a cold wave in this country usually means freezing weather, or at least a close approach to the frost line, and this week the forecast indicates a cold period of a few days, central near the 8th in west or about the 9th in eastern sections. However, on account of disturbed conditions traversing the central provinces during the week there should be some snowing, or cold rain, and this would tend to moderate the cold winds from north and west. About the basins of the Qu'Appelle and Assiniboine rivers the permanent frosts of the winter do not often set in until after the middle of October, this year probably coming on with the cold spell near the 17th.

RALPH JOHNSON, 13-YEAR-OLD BOY OF BONNINGTON, BRINGS DOWN BIG BLACK BEAR WITH A SINGLE SHOT

BONNINGTON, B. C. — Ralph Johnson, aged 13, son of Mr. and Mrs. Creed Johnson, shot and killed a large black bear in the orchard of G. N. Brown at Corra Linn. The bear had been doing considerable damage in the orchard for some time and latterly broke down several prune-plum trees. The bear fell at the first shot.

Fun, parties, pretty clothes and beaux are things unattractive Carol Kennedy had never desired until she looked into the eyes of Dr. Owen Craig, fiance of her cousin, Kathy Prentice. Kathy is marrying Owen for his social prestige only. When Carol comes into a vast fortune, she suddenly decides to give up her old home in Connecticut, where she had lived as an orphan, and seek freedom and happiness in New York City. Isobel Bronson, an old school chum, takes Carol to her first cocktail party where she meets Gary Crandall, attractive playboy who tells her he will help her find a job and, knowing nothing of her wealth, show her how to become a fascinating woman. He promises to take her to a beauty shop.

(NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY)

(CHAPTEHR 8

Carol was on her way to New York for her first luncheon date with a man. As her train sped through Westchester, she tried to sort her memories and make order out of the chaos. She had tried thinking things out the night before, after the cocktail party, and all that followed. Instead she had slept and dreamed. And, strangely enough her dreams had been filled not with Gary but with Owen Craig.

And seeing him now as she had seen him in her dreams, she saw his dark head again. Saw it contrasted with Gary Crandall. Crandall with his sandy hair, his slanting gray eyes and the faintly bemused expression he wore habitually. Gary so perfectly tailored. Gary with the broad shoulders and tapering hips. The delicacy of his linen. The perfect arrangement of his pocket handkerchief. The faint scent of masculine perfume. He was, Carol supposed, a perfect example of the smart man.

Her thoughts flew back to Owen again. To the antiseptic scent that clung to him. She hadn't seen him often but every line of his dark face, the way his hair grew about his temples, she remembered. In her musing, she saw him as he would look at his wedding to the lovely Kathy. How chic Kathy would be as a bride. Carol wondered if Owen would find her attractive if she were the girl Gary had promised to make her. Not that it would make any difference, of course. Carol knew she had not romantic feelings about Owen. Or did she?

Rather desperately Carol tore her thoughts away from that. She tried to concentrate on her luncheon date. What would Gary say to her today? For the first time in her life she became aware of the unattractiveness of her clothes. She wanted to show Gary, and she would!

It was only 11 when her train drew into Grand Central station. she'd have plenty of time to shop. How should she begin? Isobel. Of course, Isobel would help her. Excitement lent wings to her feet. She turned into Madison avenue where frocks and hat's never looked at before became beautiful in their temptation. She hurried to Isobel's office.

"Have a good time at the party?" Isobel greeted her.

"Wonderful. However, that's not why I'm here so bright and early this morning. I want you to take a little while off, Isobel, and help me to buy some clothes."

Carol was waking up at last! "I'm just the woman you need, darling. But I'm to do the whole Job. For once I'd like to outfit you the way you should be outfitted. I can give you an hour and then I'll have to dash."

A half hour later, a short distance from Isobel's office, Carol was writing a check for $750.

"It seems an awful lot for one dress and one coat." Carol said but she didn't say it remorsefully.

"Darling, don't be stingy with yourself. What's the use of having a couple of million dollars if you don't have fun with it," Isobel answered.

"Isobel," Carol's voice was in earnest. "Not many people know I have that money and I'm going to ask you not to ever mention it. I have . . . I mean . . . I'm going to forget I have it. You see, I have a plan. Are you on.?"

"On!" said Isobel.

Carol's attention was on herself once more. Could this alim creature in the mossy black crepe frock that clung to her be herself? Her fingers touched the twin clasps of glittering brilliants that broke the stark simplicity of its velvety blackness where they held back the high neck.

She slipped into the coat of soft texture and stood motionless while the vendeuse buttoned the cape of silver fox high around her ears. A patch of hat barely covered one side of her head.

Still she was not smart. The heavy weight of her drab hair, the dullness of her complexion stared back at her in her beautiful new clothes. She was no Cinderella.

Now the shopping was over and she was in a taxi riding back to Isobel's office. Isobel could contain her curiosity no longer. "Darling, what does the big splurge mean?"

"Big splurge?" Carol asked without interest.

Isobel tried another line. "What happened at the party after we left?"

"Oh!" Carol tried to say it lightly. Gary Crandall rescued me and took me to the Consular for a cocktail." How quickly one learns what to say.

"Oh!" There was a world of meaning in that syllable.

"Carol," Isobel continued. "Little Isobel seldom breaks the rule about minding her own business but here goes."

Carol waited. She thought Isobel was going to tell her not to see Gary Crandall again.

"If you're close to your cousin, Kathy Prentice, tell her to lay off Gary Crandall."

Carol didn't know what she meant. "Why, Isobel, my cousin is engaged to be married to Dr. Craig."

"I know she is," Isobel answered shortly. "But, my naive child, engagements and sometimes marriages don't mean an awful lot to a lady when Gary is in the offing."

"But I thought you liked him?" Carol said helplessly.

"I do. He's swell. He's smooth, charming and dangerous."

"But how, Isobel?"

"Do you want me to draw pictures? Or will you understand if I explain that he leaves a trail of broken hearts in back of him. Are you interested in him that way Carol?"

Carol didn't answer. She couldn't find words at that moment. Something too startling had occurred to her.

"You see, darling, it isn't what Gary does to the foolish ladies; it's a state of mind they get into and unless the signs are all wrong, Kathy Prentice is seeing a lot of him."

Carol was shocked. After a little pause she said:

"Don't you think Mr. Crandall might have women friends? You know what I mean . . . that he just enjoys their company and . . ." her voice trailed off weakly.

"I do not. Lots of women have tried being friends with him. It just doesn't work, my darling. He's a delightful person with all the charm in the world but . . ." Isobel's shrug finished her speech.

Should Carol tell Isobel what he had said to her yesterday? But what was Isobel saying?

". . . and, of course, everybody knows Kathy is not in love with Craig. He's the only one who doesn't"

Kathy not in love with Owen!

STOKE CITY PROVIDES DAY'S UPSET IN BEATING MANCHESTER

Crowd Swarms on Field After Referee in Game Between Crewe and Stockport; Players Protect Him; Huddersfield at Top

LONDON, Oct. 6 (CP)—Manchester soccer enthusiasts found time to sing the praises of Stoke City today although the midlanders have put a stop, temporarily at least, to Manchester City's drive for leadership of the English league.

Providing the biggest shock of Saturday's football program, Stoke defeated the Mancunians 2-1 at Maine Road, sending them back into sixth place in the standing. Huddersfield Town, although held to a draw at Leeds, retained the position of honor by a one-point margin over Sunderland and Derby County, tied for second place with 13 points.

A remarkable scene occurred at Crewe where the home side were defeated by Stockport County by the only goal of the game. A large section of the crowd invaded the pitch when the referee refused to award Crewe a penalty. The players formed a cordon around the official. At the close of the game the referee was escorted from the ground by police.

Bowden shone on the Gunners' front-line netting three times, Bastin and Melene getting the others. Hammill notched the Rovers' lone tally.

Sunderland defeated Liverpool 2-0 at Roker Park and Derby County ran its string of victories to six by overcoming a weakened Wolverhampton Wanderers eleven 3-1.

With the help of O'Callaghan and Jones who refused an invitation to play for Wales in order to assist their club, Leicester City consolidated its position at the top of the second division by walloping the strong Doncaster Rovers outfit 6-0. Sharman performed the hat trick and O'Callaghan bulged the twine twice. Liddle was the other scorer.

Manchester United put up a fine exhibition to win from Port Vale 3-0. Mutch scored the only counter of the first period. He later put his side further ahead and Bamford notched the third. Tottenham Hotspurs improved their promotion chances by winning 2-1 at Fulham. Duncan gained the Spurs' second goal, Perry reducing the margin for Fulham.

Reading, leader in the third division, southern section, turned in a fine performance on a treacherous ground to defeat Notts County 3-1. Fielding, McGough and Tait were the sharpshooters while Mills converted a penalty for the County.

Evans of Walsall was the top-scorer of the day, notching five of the seven tallies by which his side won from Mansfield Town. Martin, Swansea Town, scored all four goals for his team against Bury who could only net one in reply. Crawford, Clapton Orient and Cheetham, Queen's Park Rangers, each performed the hat trick.

CELTIC AND ABERDEEN SHARE FIRST PLACE IN THE SCOTTISH

Celtic Held to 1-1 Draw by Kilmarnock as Dons Swamp Partick Thistle 4-0

GLASGOW, Oct. 6 (CP cable)—Top position in the Scottish Football league has developed into a touch-and-go affair between three teams with the season only nine weeks old. Rangers, Celtic and Aberdeen each have taken turns as pacemakers but tonight the fast-travelling Celts and Dons share the honors. The champions are firmly entrenched on the third rung.

The Scotland-Wales international game necessitated rearrangement of the Aberdeen, Rangers, Celtic and Hearts lineups by taking eight players from these teams, but no disastrous setbacks resulted. On the contrary the Dons swamped Partick Thistle 4-0, Rangers triumphed 6-2 over Dunfermline, Celtic battled to a 1-1 draw with Kilmarnock and Hearts shut out Third Lanark 2-0.

Hibernians turned in a sparkling 3-2 win over Hamilton Academicals at Douglas Park. It was the Hibs' second win of the season.

Minus Mills and Armstrong, Aberdeen jumped into the lead early and held off the Thistles' weak attacks. Warnock, two, McKenzie and Divers scored the goals.

The champion Rangers without Simpson and Brown received a rude surprise in the opening stages of their game with Dunfermline as the Fifers banged in two quick goals through Dobson and McGowan. The home team rallied strongly, however, and went on to win easily. McPhail and Gilliack collected two goals and Venters and Main one.

Excellent goalkeeping by Muir in the Third Lanark net prevented a scoring spree by Hearts.

In the minor division St. Mirren jumped into a clear lead with a 5-2 win over Forfar Athletic. Morton and St. Bernards are tied for the runner-up position two points behind and Falkirk is in fourth place, one point in the rear.

By BILL BRAUCHER

ELDEN AUKER

Two years after Elden Auker pitched his last college game, he was sent in to pitch his first world series battle for the Tigers . . . and he won it . . . but that isn't the whole story. Looking back —

Auker

Auker was born in Norcatur, Kas., Sept. 21, 1910 . . . he attended Kansas A. & M., where he became a Phi Sigma Kappa and a pitcher . . . in three years at college he lost but three games . . . he also starred at football . . . a pass, kick and run man . . . is six feet two . . . and weighs around 200 pounds.

Auker started his professional baseball career in 1932 at Decatur . . . a break for limerick composers, in view of the fact he was born at Norcatur . . . his sidearm and underhand delivery did not fool the lads of the Three-Eye, however . . . he won only one game while losing six for Decatur.

In fact, Decatur had to give him the gatur before July fourth . . . discouraged plenty, he decided to give the game one more fling . . . he landed at Moline, in the Mississippi Valley league . . . won six and lost six . . . and took a fresh start in 1933 at Beaumont, in the Texas league. . . . Elden got hot at Beaumont (they usually do), winning 16 and losing 10, and the Tigers brought him up toward the end of the season . . . he remained fairly warm in the American league.

JO JO WHITE

One of the sharpest judges of balls and strikes in the majors—besides the umpires, of course—is Joyner (Jo Jo) White, leadoff man of the American league champions.

Jo Jo White

White, a left-handed batter, "makes it be good" . . . if he fails to win a walk from the opposing pitcher, his mates know they are batting against a guy with control.

Jo Jo is not a heavy hitter, though he did bat .313 last year . . . his stride is more like .250 . . . but his speed afoot on the base paths and in the outfield is more than enough to hold his job . . . in the last world series against the Cardinals he got only three hits in 23 times at bat, giving him an average of .130 . . . but he scored six of the Tigers' 23 runs.

White has been with the Tigers only since 1932 . . . he came up after four years in the minors . . . he is 26 years old, and his birthplace, is Union City, La., though he lives now (he's single) at College Park, Ga., where he finished grammar school . . . Jo Jo was graduated by Tech high in Atlanta, and was only 18 years old when he branched out as a pro, signing with Carrolton in the Georgia-Alabama league . . . his itinerary has been Carrolton to Fort Smith to Evansville to Beaumont to Detroit.

At Fort Smith he stole 50 bases in 1929 . . . and in the following year copped 43 more . . . with Beaumont he embezzled 52 of the canvas pillows . . . and last year with the Tigers stole 28 more.

Besides arranging headaches for American league catchers, Jo Jo can throw with the best of them . . . rosming the same field where Ty Cobb once dominated, Jo Jo shows at least that Ty wasn't the only Georgia resident who could play ball.

CROWDER HERO AS TIGERS WIN FOURTH BATTLE

No Wrangling; a Big Crowd; Fans Jeer an Umpire

WRIGLEY FIELD, Chicago, Oct. 6—Alvin (General) Crowder, a baseball veteran who served with the United States army in Siberia, capitalized his experience with wintry weather Saturday to pitch the Detroit Tigers to their third straight victory and within one game of their long-sought goal, the world championship.

The 34-year-old North Carolina right-hander turned back the youthful Chicago Cubs, most of whom were in knee breeches when the "General" was carrying a musket on Asiatic duty, and whipped them, 2 to 1, with a brilliantly executed five-hit performance.

The fourth game was witnessed by another frost-bitten crowd of 49,850 fans that was the biggest of the series and sent the total gate receipts over the $700,000 mark, developed another bitter battle of the "breaks," but was marked by no serious renewal of the hostilities in which the Cubs became embroiled with Umpire Moriarty Friday.

Crowder decisively outpitched Tex Carleton, the Cubs' starting choice and a wild man, as well as the veteran Charley Root, victim of the Tiger thrust in the second game, but it was a weirdly achieved victory nevertheless. The Tigers might have been shut out 1 to 0, on Hartnett's homer, had the Cubs given a perfect defensive performance or risen to the fly-chasing heights of the day before.

In sharp contrast with Friday's free-for-all in which Umpire Moriarty ejected Manager Grimm, Captain English and Tut Stainback, substitute Chicago outfielder, as well as Del Baker, Tiger Coach, Saturday's game was comparatively calm and peaceful. No one was put out of the game.

The closest things came to the boiling point was in the sixth, when the clubs protested the calling of a balk against Pitcher Carleton which sent Crowder from first to second base.

Moriarty and Umpire-in-Chief Stark, working behind the plate, were in agreement on the decision, but it was some time before the clubs subsided or the crowd stopped booing. Moriarty was the target of jeers as soon as he came on the field and the spectators off first base, "rode" the arbiter at every chance.

WARNEKE BLANKS TIGERS IN SIX INNINGS, THEN RETIRES WHEN HE PULLS MUSCLE IN PITCHING ARM

Lee Barely Escapes a Loss When Tigers Rally in 9th

SCHOOLBOY ROWE LOSES SECOND GO

Herman Triples and Klein Slams Homer for the Cubs

By ALAN GOULD
Associated Press Sports Editor

WRIGLEY FIELD, Chicago, Oct. 6 (AP)—Chicago Cubs came fighting back to whip Detroit Tigers 3-1 today in the fifth game of the world series, but it was a costly victory.

The National league champions lost Lonnie Warneke, their ace right-hander, and still have only a long-shot chance to keep the Bengals from capturing the biggest money prize in the history of baseball's classic. The scene shifts to Detroit for the sixth game tomorrow with the Tigers leading three games to two and in need of one more conquest to win the world series for the first time.

PULLS A MUSCLE

Warneke pulled a muscle in his pitching shoulder and was forced to leave the game after blanking the Tigers for six innings with three hits and outpitching his Arkansas rival, Lynwood (Schoolboy) Rowe for the second time. The lanky Cub star, who shut out the Tigers in the opening game, was credited with his second triumph but big Bill Lee, freshman right-hander, barely staved off a ninth-inning thrust to save the game.

With one run in and base-runners on third and second as a result of three Tigers hit in the final frame, Phil Cavarretta, 19-year-old Chicago first baseman, reached into the lower boxes beyond the Detroit dugout to make a sensational catch of "Flea" Clifton's pop foul and end the game.

HERMAN, KLEIN STAR

The Cubs thus saved the winning margin provided by the booming bats of Billy Herman and Chuck Klein, broadshouldered former National league batting champion. Klein signalized his first appearance in the series as a Cub regular by driving a home run into the right-field bleachers in the third inning after Herman had tripled.

Labelled a $125,000 "lemon" by Chicago fans because of his failure to live up to his great batting reputation after being bought from the Phillies for that vast sum two years ago, Klein got an unexpected chance to perform the hitting heroics.

LINDSTROM HURT

An injured finger forced Freddie Lindstrom, regular center fielder, to retire and Klein was assigned to right field, with Frank Demaree moving over to center. Lindstrom hurt his left hand making a stab for Charley Gehringer's double in yesterday's game, which the Tigers won 2-1. He may be out for the remainder of the series but the Cubs aren't worried as much about that as they are about the loss of Warneke.

Warneke pitched a full inning after developing his sore arm. He felt the muscle strain for the first time in pitching the last ball of the fifth inning, to Rowe, who grounded out to Bill Jurges at short. Catcher Gabby Hartnett detected the trouble as Warneke's control showed signs of slipping in the sixth. The Tigers were retired in order but there was a sudden bustle of activity in the Cub bullpen. Charley Root as well as Lee warmed up furiously. But the young right-hander got the call as Warneke left the game.

Only once during his six-inning stretch was Warneke menaced by Tiger bats. The only hitter who gave him any difficulty was Manager Mickey Cochrane who singled on his first two turns at bat. Mickey's second base-hit opened the fourth. Pete Fox also singled, after Gehringer and Goose Goslin flied out, but Billy Rogell was retired on an infield roller.

THREE HECTIC INNINGS

Fighting with their backs to the wall, the Cubs rose to the emergency and held the Tigers at bay in the last three hectic innings while a crowd of 49,237 fans maintained a continual uproar of encouragement. The home team lashed into Rowe's offerings, after being throttled for three frames, and scored again in the seventh. They raged around Umpire George Moriarty, storm-center of the series, as he called out Bill Jurges at the plate on Fox's brilliant throw to Cochrane. They scored, nevertheless, as Augie Galan raced home on Billy Herman's double to right-center.

Saturday's 2-1 victory for the Tigers came behind the pitching of Alvin (General) Crowder. The 34-year-old North Carolina right-hander turned back the youthful Cubs with a brilliant five-hit performance.

CROWDER IS MASTERFUL

The old warhorse, in achieving his first world series triumph in three starting attempts, not only gave a masterful exhibition, marred only by the home run ball he served to Gabby Hartnett in the second inning, but figured in the scoring of both Detroit runs.

Crowder singled in the third and came home with the tying run on Jo-Jo White's hit and Charley Gehringer's double off Lindstrom's glove. The General had the "breaks" with him in the sixth when his roller was missed by Shortstop Jurges, thereby enabling little "Flea" Clifton to scamper home with the winning run. Clifton had taken two bases on Augie Galan's muff of a long fly ball and the collapse of the home team's defence proved fatal.

The Cubs, with their pitching staff pretty well battered and no longer fortified by the great Warneke, plan to pitch Larry French, veteran southpaw tomorrow.

The Tigers, despite the second defeat of their giant ace, Rowe, will rely on slim Tommy Bridges to pitch them into the world championship in the sixth game.

Espinosa Wins the $5000 Open

INDIANAPOLIS, Oct. 6 (AP)—Al Espinosa of Akron, Ohio, won the Indianapolis 72-hole $5000 open tourney here today.

The winner's total for the four rounds was 288 strokes and he collected $1000 prize money. Behind him, tied for second, third and fourth places, were Ky Laffoon of Ravinia, Ill., Ray Mangrum of Pittsburgh and Paul Runyan of White Plains, N.Y., each with 290's.

It was Runyan who provided the greatest thrill for a large gallery this afternoon as he burned up the Highland club course with a 65, five under par, to break a record of 66 which had stood for nine years.

40,000 SEE WALES AND SCOTLAND PLAY TO A 1-1 DRAW IN FOOTBALL

CARDIFF, Wales, Oct. 6 (CP cable)—A plucky Welsh football team held Scotland to a 1-1 tie in the first of the season's international soccer matches here yesterday. In tilts between the two countries, Scotland has won 36, Wales eight, while 12 matches have been drawn.

Forty thousand spectators saw a game that was fairly evenly contested but the brand of football played was not of a very high calibre. Both goals were scored in the first 45 minutes, "Dally" Duncan, skilful Derby County winger, giving Scotland the lead after 34 minutes play. C. Phillips, Wolverhampton Wanderers player, equalized a few minutes before half-time.

Throughout the game the Scottish forwards played well, in the first half adopting the short-passing game but going to the other extreme after the interval. While the Thistle's defence was shaky, that of Wales put up a great argument and W. R. John, Sheffield United goalkeeper, gave a brilliant exhibition. At the other end the home forwards were given many opportunities through Scottish defence weakness but they were low and seemed unable to apply the finishing touch when in front of goal.

DOLLAR WHEAT AT WINNIPEG

WINNIPEG, Oct. 6 (CP)—Dollar wheat was boarded again on the Winnipeg grain exchange Saturday, coincident with the sale for export of 1,000,000 bushels of Canada's chief commodity.

Strong throughout the abbreviated session, futures prices closed with net gains of 1⅜ to 1½ cents, October at 96, November 96½, December 96⅝ and May $1.00½.

Most of Saturday's export sales were for shipment to the United Kingdom.

Outside markets, with the exception of Buenos Aires, were strong, Liverpool closing with net gains of ⅞d to ⅞d. Chicago was up 2 cents a bushel. Buenos Aires, reacting from yesterday's firm close, was off ⅞ cents.

Fractional gains were registered for most grades of wheat in the cash grains market, with trading active. Coarse grains prices advanced in sympathy with wheat.

CHICAGO SOARS

CHICAGO, Oct. 6 (AP)—Increased tension regarding league of nations developments apparently boding ill for European peace did much Saturday to send wheat values kiting upward 3½ cents.

Big speculative buying of futures was witnessed in Chicago. Simultaneously Winnipeg reported "splendid demand" for about all grades of wheat in Canada available to be delivered at once. It was pointed out as significant that the chief supply of wheat likely to be shipped to Europe is now in Canada.

New high price records for the season were reached by Chicago December and May wheat contracts, but heavy selling to realize profits led to late setbacks from the day's top level.

CLOSING STATUS

Wheat closed nervous, ⅝ to 2⅛ cents above Friday's finish; December $1.08⅝ to $1.08½; oats ⅝ to ½ cent advanced, and provisions at 5 to 17 cents gain.

Cheese and Eggs Are Firmer

MONTREAL, Oct. 6 (CP) — Cheese and eggs firmed narrowly on the Montreal produce exchange Saturday.

Cheese, No. 1 Ontarios 13¼, Quebecs 12⅝.

Eggs, grade A large 33, A medium 31.

Butter, No. 1 23.

Potatoes, N.B. Mountains 80.

Currencies Off at Montreal

MONTREAL, Oct. 6 (CP)—Currencies tended lower on Montreal foreign exchange Saturday, the pound sterling and the United States dollar closing with losses and the French franc closing unchanged after early weakness.

The pound eased 1 9-16 cents to $4.96¾ and the dollar was off 7-16 of 1 per cent at 1⅛ per cent premium. The franc held at 6.71 after touching 6.68.

ITALIAN LOANS IMPROVE

NEW YORK, Oct. 6 (AP)—Substantial improvement in Italian loans and modest recovery in domestic corporation issues were features of bond market trading Saturday.

United States governments were quiet and mixed in tone, the majority registering a shade higher. Advances ranged up to 3-16 of a point and losses up to 7-32. The turnover in the federal section was less than $1,000,000.

The Associated Press railroad averages were .1 of a point higher, and gains of a like amount were registered by the industrial and utility issues used in the compilation. Low-yield bonds were unchanged along with foreign issues. Transfers of $4,825,000, par value, compared with $3,650,000 last Saturday.

FINE CROPS IN CARIBOO

QUESNEL, B.C., Oct. 6 (CP)—Excellent crops of grain and second cuttings of clover and alfalfa have been harvested in the Cariboo district this autumn and threshing and potato digging are now well under way. Bright, warm days and cool nights have provided ideal weather during the past few weeks.

Canadian Dollar Is Higher

NEW YORK, Oct. 6 (CP)—Foreign exchange markets were steadier Saturday.

The pound sterling held unchanged at $4.89. The Canadian dollar reduced its discount from 1⅞ to 1 9-16 per cent. The French franc, closing at 6.58¾ cents, showed a gain of .00⅝ of a cent.

WAR STOCKS UP AT NEW YORK

NEW YORK, Oct. 6 (AP)—Investors and traders trundled the so-called "war babies" uphill Saturday in the most active Saturday stock market session in about a month.

While demand was most pronounced for the copper shares and others Wall street thinks will profit from hostilities, brokers noted that a tidy amount of buying came into equities not generally associated with war.

The buying of stocks other than the "war babies" was attributed in financial circles of three factors: The continued favorable tone of domestic business, idle domestic funds in search of jobs at a profit, and the influx of frightened capital from abroad, some of which is said to be trickling into the market.

AVERAGES ADVANCE

Measured by the Associated Press average of 60 stocks, the market rose .3 of a point to 48.8. Transactions totalled 697,190 shares for the two-hour session.

FRUIT CROPS TO BE HIGHER

VICTORIA, Oct. 6 (CP)—The main fruit crops of British Columbia will be slightly higher than last year according to final estimates completed by the department of agriculture.

The appe, pear, plum and prune production is given as higher than last year but peaches and apricots have slumped.

Following are the comparative figures:

	1934	1935
Apples, boxes	4,875,100	4,975,200
Pears, boxes	205,100	226,500
Plums and prunes, crates	345,300	354,490
Peaches, crates	207,500	120,400
Apricots, crates	224,200	122,300

Bar Gold Up One

MONTREAL, Oct. 6 (CP)—Bar gold in London up a cent at $35.43 an ounce in Canadian funds; 142s 2d in British funds. The fixed $35 Washington price amounted to $35.65 in Canadian.

C. M. & S. AND NICKEL HIGHER

TORONTO, Oct. 6 (CP)—Led by the stocks likely to benefit from war, industrial issues of the Toronto exchange pulled along to a higher level in the short Saturday session. Nickel closed at 31¾, up ¾ while Consolidated Smelters finished the day ⅞ up at 17⅝.

In the liquor group strength was displayed by the Walkers issues. Seagrams added 1¼. Walkers was up ⅝ to ½ each. Ford A was up ¾.

Bank stocks closed higher. Utilities were quiet and generally firm and steels and constructions displayed more strength than weakness.

MINES HIGHER

TORONTO, Oct. 6 (CP)—Registering another advance in the closing session of the week, the mining list of the Toronto exchange was swayed by war influences and the prospect of firm prices continuing for the base metals.

Bralorne gained 20 cents and Teck-Hughes 5. San Antonio climbed 35 cents, God's Lake 7. Prospectors Airways 15, South American Gold 20 and Coniarum 5. Little Long Lac weakened 5 cents.

Destruction of the Granada mill by fire brought heavy selling and the stock dropped 6 cents to 18.

Hudson Bay closed at 19⅞ for a net gain of ½. Noranda advanced ⅝ to 40⅝.

BRITISH QUOTA WINS HANDICAP

KEMPTON PARK, England, Oct 6 (CP Cable)—A. Savile's British Quota at 5 to 1, won the Duke of York handicap here Saturday. Lady Nuthall's Guinea Gap was second and L. C. McKena's Solarjum third. Both were quoted at 100 to 7.

2000 Ethiopians Dead in Defence of Aduwa Town

ASMARA, Eritrea, Oct. 6 (AP)—An exchange telegraph dispatch from the Italian army in northern Ethiopia gave tonight a "conservative estimate" of 2000 Ethiopian dead in the defence of Aduwa.

On many occasions, the dispatch said, as many as two dozen Italian plans attacked Aduwa before the town fell and this method of fighting created havoc among the Ethiopian forces.

WARNEKE HURTS HURLING ARM

But Attempts to Keep It Dark; French to Hurl for Cubs

By CHARLES DUNKLEY
(Associated Press Sports Writer).

CHICAGO, Oct. 6 (AP).—"Lon Warneke's arm is worth more to me than all the world series that ever will be played."

That was Charlie Grimm's tribute to his big right hand pitching star who strained a muscle in the fifth inning of today's game and gamely tried to continue without telling the Cubs' pilot of his injury. Warneke threw a fast curve ball to Schoolboy Rowe and as the ball left his hand and sped on its way to the plate, he felt a sudden snap in his shoulder, followed by a twinge of pain.

"I didn't want to tell Charlie that I was through because I wanted to win," Warneke said as he lay stretched out on the rubbing table in the dressing room.

OUT FOR SEASON

Andy Lotshaw, the Cub trainer, shook his head knowingly, indicating Warneke would not pitch in another world series games this year

The Cubs, although trailing three games to two, are confident to a man they will be the ultimate series winners.

"We are going back to Detroit, ain't we," yelled Grimm as he stuck his head in the dressing room door.

"Nice going everybody, nice hitting Klein. We've got to win the next two in Detroit and we're going to do it."

Grimm plans to start Larry French, the big lefthander, against the Tigers tomorrow. French pleaded for the assignment.

The Tigers feel they will finish the series in Detroit tomorrow. Manager Mickey Cochrane, in a hurry to get his players to a special train leaving at five o'clock, had little to say.

"Rowe didn't have much in there today," he said. "It's hard to beat those fellows three straight games in their own park. I think that we'll still win and may do it tomorrow. Tommy Bridges will work."

Big Hank Greenberg, slugging first baseman with the Tigers, who injured his left wrist in the second game on the series in Detroit last Thursday, may return to the line-up tomorrow, Cochrane said. The injury responded ...icely to heat and other applications.

MORE ABOUT ITALIAN REPORT

surrounded by deepest secrecy, each member pledging himself not to reveal the contents of the report.

The committee had before it two questions:

(1) Has an act of aggression been committed? And

(2) Has a breach of the covenant been committed, and if so by whom?

PUBLISHED MONDAY

The committee's answer to these questions will not be published until tomorrow, but it is understood they will proclaim Italy guilty on both counts.

The league council tomorrow afternoon will have before it reports of both the committee of 13 (prepared under article 15 of the covenant) and of the committee of six, concluded tonight on whether aggression has been committed. Both reports will be submitted to a council vote and this procedure is regarded as of vital importance. The league assembly resolution of 1921 lays down that it is for each state which is a member of the league to determine for itself whether an act of aggression has been committed.

VOTE UNNECESSARY

Legally the actual vote is unnecessary. But on the other hand it is regarded in league circles as advantageous to have members of the council definitely express their opinion. They are then pledged one way or another on the application of sanctions.

It is proposed to follow a similar course when the league assembly meets Wednesday. There, after the delegates have had their say, the question will be submitted to a vote. The debate on the vote will indicate what states are ready to impose sanctions and how far they are prepared to go.

HESITANT OVER SANCTIONS

Recent press comments indicate states are very hesitant over sanctions. Switzerland has a treaty with Germany under which she is pledged to give transmit to German goods. If Germany continues trade with Italy Switzerland is asking: Would transport of German goods over Swiss railways exclude them from the league covenant? Hungary, Austria, Czechoslovakia, Jugoslavia and Poland are also stressing peculiar difficulties.

British statesmen continue to press for support of the covenant. They see little hope of early cessation of war except through the covenant. They especially welcome President Roosevelt's proclamation as an indication of American sympathy with the league's efforts to restore peace.

WOULD RAISE ARMS EMBARGO

If sanctions are applied, the first steps to be taken by Britain, it is believed, would be to raise the embargo on shipments of arms and ammunition to Ethiopia.

In a note to the league, the Italian government charges that since the beginning of September the Ethiopian government, in violation of a Geneva convention of 1929, has taken steps to place red crosses on a number of buildings with the object of making them appear hospitals or field ambulance stations. In Aduwa, the report states, red crosses had been painted on 30 houses, including that of the local ras. In Harar the red cross pointed on the governor's residence was removed only at the instance of representations to the governor by a foreign consular agent.

MORE ABOUT THE RETREAT

Meanwhile, an Ethiopian attack at Dobra Sinna, near Aduwa, was reported repulsed.

The announcement said that with the capture of Aduwa a new line had formed with complete liaison between the various army corps.

For many hours the news of the capture was withheld by the government, even until after Premier Mussolini had told of the victory in a newspaper interview.

The communique announcing the capture stated:

"At dawn this morning the troops of the second army corps resumed their march forward and at 10:30 entered Aduwa.

"Notables, clergy, and part of the population presented themselves to the high comand to make their acts of submission.

"An enemy attack around Dobra Sinna was repulsed.

"Oon a new line, liaison already has been established between the various army corps."

WORD SENT KING

Tonight Premier Mussolini communicated the news of the capture to the King and sent the following telegram to Gen. Emilio de Bono, commander of colonial troops in East Africa:

"The announcement of the capture of Aduwa fills the souls of Italians with pride. I send to you and all my troops my high praise and the gratitude of the nation."

For three days, while Ethiopian warriors held the city, Italy had waited to celebrate the occupation of Aduwa—symbol of the crushing Italian defeat in 1896 and now its symbol of victory.

The newspapers had predicted Aduwa would fall either yesterday or today, but for hours the defenders, shelled from the front and bombed from above, held fast.

NATION-WIDE CELEBRATION

There were no newspapers today to inform the nation and to organize a celebration. There will be none until tomorrow, when Fascist leaders expect nation-wide exultations.

A field technique to minimize casualties was apparent in the Italian news from the front.

Fast tanks lead the way, with air squadrons overhead. Field artillery "clears out" the difficult spots where the Ethiopians resist. In some cases the planes, after circling widely, come up behind the enemy and rake the opposing ground forces with machine guns from the rear.

Finally the infantry moves up to occupy and consolidate the positions.

At home, Il Duce was reported in well-informed quarters to be meeting with almost as much success as his forces in Africa.

FRANCE WILL OPPOSE SANCTIONS?

Persons close to the government said he was satisfied France will oppose military sanctions and they are convinced Great Britain will refrain from separate use of force.

These persons also pointed to the modified tone of the battlefield communiques to emphasize the humane aspects of the "expedition" as efforts to avoid exciting Geneva unduly while the league of nations decision hangs fire.

A communique from the African front, issued prior to today's fighting, said the assault on Aduwa had been resumed at dawn by the second army corps.

Fresh victories were officially reported for Saturday—the third day of the war.

On the northern Ethiopian front Gen. Santini Ruggero ran up the Italian flag on the ruins of the Adigrat fortress, which collapsed in the crushing defeat of May 18, 1896.

PLANES DROP BOMBS

In the southeast, the Italians after brief fighting occupied Geriogubi yesterday morning, the government announced.

(The Addis Ababa correspondent of Reuters news agency reported Italian plahes had bombed Geriogubi, 30 miles from Walwal, killing 40 soldiers.)

An official communique announced the steady advance of the various columns in the north had put within Italian control much of the population.

The town of Ambahaugher was taken by a column of native troops which brushed aside defenders, it was announced.

In all the northern operations, the communique said, the air corps cooperated effectively. The engineering corps, with 1000 workmen labored day and night transforming the ground behind the lines into a network of roads.

HOLLOW VICTORY

By JAMES A. MILLS
Associated Press Foreign Staff

ADDIS ABABA, Oct. 6 (AP)—Mass Italian bombing on northern and southern fronts was announced by the Ethiopian government today as Emperor Haile Selassie's military strategists declared the fall of Aduwa was a "hollow victory."

A communique from the government said 16 Italian airplanes had bombarded the towns of Amba, Serkauta and Tabetcha, in Walkait province Friday, with a number of casualties among the panick-stricken populations. Italians were reported massing troops at several points on the Walkait Eritrea frontier.

(Serkauta probably is the same as Sakota, south of Aduwa. Gorahai, not shown on most maps, is on the Fafan river in Ogaden province).

Three hundred bombs, it was announced officially, were dropped on Gorahai in Ogaden province yesterday, 100 of them exploding. Five persons were killed and 15 wounded.

(A Reuter's Addis Ababa dispatch said 40 soldiers were killed when Italian planes bombed Geriogubi, 30 miles from Walwal).

MINIMIZE VICTORY

Military strategists minimized the Italian victory at Aduwa where the forces of the former Emperor Menelik slaughtered an Italian army in 1896. They said such a victory possessed sentimental but not strategic importance and that the real test would come later.

Both Ethiopian and foreign military observers here said they considered the results of Italian fighting most meagre to date. To support their contention, Ethiopians pointed out the situation on three fronts:

Northern—Aduwa, they said, holds no strategic importance. Italians using black and white troops have met stiff resistance on the Adigrat region although the Ethiopians in this area constitute only the outermost Ethiopian barrier, 20 miles in advance of the main northern line of defence.

RESIST SUCCESSFULLY

Ras Seyum, commanding the northern troops, reported to the emperor that the manpower of the two armies is equal and said the Ethiopians had been resisting successfully despite their enemies' superior weapons — airplanes and tanks.

Eastern—Italy's claim to the capture of Wayeta, Ethiopians said, possess little military importance because the place faces an almost impassable desert.

Extreme south — Mussolini's reported capture of Dolo was deemed unimportant strategically since here again the Italian troops face a wide and forbidding desert.

The emperor's line of defence on eastern and southwestern fronts, it was emphasized, is along mountains and behind deserts.

The Adigrat region, situated in a high group of mountains commanding the roads to historic Aduwa, constitutes a principal pass into central Ethiopia.

MORE ABOUT Haile Selassie

planes had bombed Sakota, important city of 1500 inhabitants about 100 miles south of Aduwa.

A dispatch from Jijiga said 40 Ethiopian soldiers had been killed in Geriogubi, Ogaden province, during an Italian air raid.

PLANES DROP BOMBS

Another report said 16 planes flying in formation had dropped bombs on Guramba and Tabecha, villages in the Kambata lake district about 200 miles south of Addis Ababa. The planes flew low after loosing their explosive cargoes and raked the native huts with machine-gun fire, the report said.

A number of women and children were believed to have been killed but immediate figures were not available.

A French infantry detachment was expected at Dire Dawa, important station on the Djibouti-Addis Ababa railway. The French soldiers will protect employees of the railway, service of which Italian armies moving toward each other from the southeast and northeast plan to interrupt. The Ethiopian government granted the French force permission to enter the country.

SERIOUS FIGHT LOOMS

Ethiopia will put up its first serious fight to prevent a break in the only link between this capital and the outer world, it was indicated tonight.

Emperor Haile Selassie is understood to have decided to take personal command of his forces between Harar and Dire Dawa.

New military information gleaned here indicated army strategists were planning vast triangular operations to protect the railway.

At the apex of the triangle will be huge forces under command of the crown prince, Asfavu Wassan Tafari. The crown prince's base already has been established at Dessie.

An army there will form a barrier between the Italian forces moving down toward the railway from the northeast, across the tropical plain of Aklarum.

The Harar forces will lie across the path of the Italian advance from the southeast which originated in Italian Somaliland and which will try to move over Ogaden province to meet the northeast army at the railway.

The third corner of the Ethiopian defence triangle is being established by Ras Mulugueta, Ethiopian war minister, who is at Ankober, organizing and recruiting a force of at least 50,000 men. Ankober lies north of the railway, but it is so placed that the war minister will be able to rush to the aid of either the Harar or the Dessie defences.

BRIEFS FROM ETHIOPIAN FRONT

STOCKHOLM, Oct. 6 (AP)—Some sections of the Swedish press advance the suggestion that the emperor of Ethiopia be awarded the Nobel peace prize.

"The Norwegian parliament (which awards the prize) ought to make a stand in this way for right and justice," one newspaper declared yesterday.

COPENHAGEN, Oct. 6 (AP). — Denmark will participate in economic sanctions against Italy if they are agreed upon by the League of Nations, Dr. Peter Munch, foreign minister, announced yesterday.

ADDIS ABABA, Oct. 6 (AP)—Wilfred Courtney Barber, 31, correspondent for the London Daily Herald and the Chicago Tribune died today of fever. Barber contrated malaria during a fortnight in the Ogaden region, where he photographed the great Maskal ceremonies, marking the end of the rainy season.

MASSAUA, Oct. 6 (AP).—The first proxy marriage between an Italian soldier in East Africa and the girl he left behind took place Saturday as the troop ship Saturnia neared this Eritrean port. Corporal Giacomo Perruca of the signal corps was married in a ceremony performed aboard ship to Grezielia Dellorto of Parma, who participated in a similar ceremony at home.

ROME, Oct. 6 (AP).—The capture of Aduwa was described by a government spokesman tonight as "a high moment in Italian history."

Speaking with visible feeling, the spokesman said:

"Ever since I was a child I heard of the indignity of Aduwa. I cannot announce the capture without emotion.

"Italians returned from Aduwa in 1896. It was recaptured today. Aduwa henceforth will never be anything but Italian territory."

LONDON, Oct. 6. — "Italians claim over 2000 were mowed down at Aduwa before the way to Aduwa was opened up," said a dispatch. "The Italians were able to take several hundred prisoners. The tribesmen remained thunderstruck under the hail of lead."

For the Danakil warriors to be taken prisoner was remarkable, the account continued, inasmuch as they regard it as a tenet of their faith to die in battle rather than bow their neck before the enemy.

MORE ABOUT NOMINATIONS

the stake and political observers expect the complete 245-seat struggle on voting day will involve close to 900 candidates.

Four parties will make a Dominion-wide appeal to the electorate and at least three of these will attempt to gain control of the next government, entering candidates in more than half the constituencies. The Social Credit party, which triumphed in the Alberta provincial election in late August, will make its federal appeal in the four western provinces.

The Conservative government party, led by Prime Minister Bennett, will have about 225 candidates while the Liberals will have a few more. Liberal Leader Mackenzie King was nominated last week in Prince Albert, northern Saskatchewan constituency which returned him to the west.

Hon. H. H. Stevens, leader of the Reconstruction party, will run in Kootenay East, where he was nominated last week. J. S. Woodsworth, Cooperative Commonwealth Federation leader, will be a candidate in Winnipeg North Center.

Saskatchewan is the only province where nominations were completed on the first day, but only scattered seats remain to be filled in the other prairie provinces. Heavy end of today's nominations will be in the east, particularly Ontario and Quebec.

The contending fields for 61 of Quebec's 65 seats remain to be named and only 17 out of 82 seats in Ontario have been lined up officially.

MORE ABOUT NEUTRALITY

sanctions will throw Il Duce into the arms of Adolf Hitler.

The newspaper Paris-Midi, said Laval planned a week-end telephone conversation with the Italian dictator. French officials were not available for comment on the paper's assertion that Laval proposed to establish a basis for negotiations acceptable to Britain.

NEW PROPOSALS

Laval's agreement with Anthony Eden, Britain's league spokesman, calls for refusal of loans to Italy, a ban on arms exportations and metals for war purposes to Mussolini's government, and lifting of the Ethiopian arms embargo as soon as sanctions are voted, according to Geneva correspondents close to the premier.

"Pertinax," in Echo de Paris, asserted that Laval when he talked with Eden Thursday, was prepared to go even further and reduce, if not entirely prohibit, the importation of goods from Italy.

The usually well-informed newspaper L'Oeuvre said, however, that the French premier favors sticking to a policy of slow, progressive application of sanctions while the British want a full program immediately enforced.
