The "Big Girl" of the Quintup

Here is a close-up picture of the most robust of the five girls recently born to Mrs. Oliva Dionne of Corbeil, Ont. This tiny mite is easily held in the palm of the nurse's hand, as she is prepared for a bath. Despite the smallness of the children, physicians believe the quintuplets will survive.

NO WHEAT WAR FOR DOMINION

Price Cutting Would Only Lead to High Tariffs Elsewhere

WINNIPEG, June 11 (CP)—Facts which made Canadian participation in any word wheat war impossible were cited in grain circles here today as cable dispatches from London and other international grain trade centers talked of wide open selling consequent to Argentine's exceeding its wheat export quota.

Grain trade circles and wheat pool heads were virtually unanimous that Canada would not participate in a wheat war. Nothing could be gained by price cutting. Hope was still high that some arrangement would be made to curb Argentine selling and keep the London wheat agreements intact in principle.

Traders contended that the desire of European countries to maintain domestic price levels would be defeated by further increases in tariffs and quotas. What then, they asked, was the use of cutting prices? Producers would be the only losers and no benefits would be derived.

Whole Villages Are Wiped Out in Cent. America

(By the Associated Press)

The hurricane which swept through Central America last week, accompanied by floods and landslides, killed at least 2500 persons and probably many more, belated reports from El Salvador and Honduras revealed Monday.

Whole villages were wiped out by the landslides from the volcanic mountains of El Salvador, said reliable sources after a partial survey of the stricken territory from the air.

The death toll in the vicinity of San Salvador, capital of El Salvador, was placed at at least 2000, and a report from the village of Ocotepreque, Honduras, said the storm killed 500 inhabitants.

The hurricane reached its highest intensity last Thursday, completely wiping out all the ordinary means of communication in El

Seven Burned to Death in Plane

By BEN ROBERTSON
Associated Press Staff Writer

DEBRUCE, N.Y., June 11 (AP)—The charged bodies of six men and one women were found today on an isolated mountainside in Mongaup park, trapped in the wreckage of the giant air liner which vanished late Saturday over the treacherous Catskills.

An observation plane piloted by W. H. (Ted) Hallock sighted the wrecked ship in a forest near the Ulster county line, about 90 miles northwest of New York city.

The liner had been piloted by Clyde Holbrook of La Grange, Ill., a great war ace and one of the few aviators with more than 10,000 hours flying experience.

With him were John Barron, Jr., co-pilot and Miss Ada Huckeby, stewardess. Both were from Chicago.

Their four passengers were William Bader, Harold C. Coppins and William A. Cass, all of Buffalo, and Harry Pinsley of New York.

California Crowd Is Angry as Man Held Without Charge

FIVE SLAIN IN BRUTAL MANNER

Planing Tool in Hand of Mill Employee Is the Theory

SUSANVILLE, Calif., June 11 (AP).—Angry crowds gathered in Susanville tonight as officers, investigating the brutal knife slaying of five persons, questioned Peter Alosi, 45, a lumber mill worker.

Victims of the apparently crazed knife wielder, whose weapon was fashioned from a razor edge planing tool, were a grocer and his wife, Mr. and Mrs. Joe Fazio, both 45, their daughter and son, Sadie, 22, and John, 26, and a neighbor, Mrs. Lena Amistani, 42.

Though Alosi insisted he had not knowledge of the slayings, which occurred during the night in and near the grocer's home, District Attorney Grover C. Julian said he expects to place a murder charge against the man tomorrow.

THERE WAS A QUARREL

The district attorney said he was informed that Alosi had quarreled

OTTAWA WOMAN WINS APPEAL

Privy Council Finds Against the Royal Bank of Canada

LONDON, June 11 (CP cable)—In a lone battle carried without resources to the Empire's highest tribunal, Mrs. Jean MacKenzie of Ottawa today won her fight against the Royal Bank of Canada in an action to recover securities pledged with the bank 14 years ago.

Their lordships of the judicial committee of the privy council allowed her appeal, taken in forma pauperis—without expense—against a decision of the supreme court of Ontario, whose appellate division had upset a verdict of the trial judge in Mrs. MacKenzie's favor.

The privy council said the evidence showed there was misrepresentation by the bank that the plaintiff's shares were still bound to the bank, when she sought to regain the securities—100 common and 87 preferred shares of Ottawa Dairy—when they were released by the bank's accepting certain assets from the trust in bankruptcy to satisfy the loan.

QUIET PREVAILS IN THE FLIN FLON STRIKE DISTRICT

FLIN FLON, Man., June 11 (CP)—Calm prevailed tonight in the Flin Flon mining district as strike negotiations between the Hudson Bay Mining & Smelting company and 1300 of its employees remained deadlocked.

Strike leaders declared the strike and picketing would continue until their seven demands are granted.

CALGARY, June 11 (CP)—Safe crackers who cracked the iron box in a wholesale warehouse office here during the week-end can play golf, providing they have the clubs and green fees.

Rats Are Invading East; Coming West

TORONTO, June 11 (CP)— Fred Markham, president of the Regina Kiwanis club, attending the 18th annual Kiwanis international convention, in an interview here today said rats, carriers of bubonic plague, are becoming a menace to Canada.

"In the bigger cities in the east they must do incalculable damage," he declared, "and in the west, immune up to the time civilization started its spread, they are building up their armies."

Fall Session in B. C. Is Unlikely

VICTORIA, June 11 (CP)—Premier T. D. Pattullo stated today there was no likelihood of a session of the British Columbia legislature being held in the fall. Earlier in the year, there was considerable talk that sessions on the house might be held in the fall instead of at the beginning of the year.

Silver Purchasing Plan Bill Passes U. S. Senate

BILL DESIGNED INCREASE THE USE OF METAL

Measure Now Goes to House for Action on Amendments

CLEARS WAY FOR AN ADJOURNMENT

Measure Will Likely Call for Monster Silver Purchase

WASHINGTON, June 11 (AP).—The United States senate late today passed the silver purchasing plan bill.

The measure, which now goes back to the house for action on amendments, goes far toward clearing the legislative slate for adjournment. But two or three additional measures will be insisted upon by the administration.

Designed to increase the use of silver, the bill would direct the purchase of silver with the ultimate objective of acquiring enough to establish a ratio of 25 to 75 with gold in the monetary stocks of United States.

Friends of the legislation estimated this would require the purchase of 1,400,000,000 ounces of the white metal.

The silver bill was passed by the comfortable margin of 55 to 25, without acceptance of a single amendment opposed by the administration forces.

Only a few minutes earlier, the senate had rejected the cash bonus amendment offered by Senator Shipstead, Farmer-Labor from Minnesota, by 51 to 31, without a word of debate.

The entire silver bloc voted for the bill, even those senators who had sought to amend it on the ground it would not change the status of silver as money. Among the six Democratic senators who voted against the bill was Carter Glass, Virginia's determined "sound money" advocate.

Vancouver Ex-Constable Goes to Jail on Extortion Charge

VANCOUVER, June 11 (CP). — John Clifford Brunt, former Vancouver police constable, was sentenced by Magistrate W. M. McKay in police court today to 2½ years in the penitentiary after he had pleaded guilty to a charge of extortion.

Ruth Vesper, stenographer charged jointly with Brunt, elected for preliminary hearing, which is proceeding in closed court.

Police alleged that Brunt, while still an officer, and the young woman extorted $700 from a Vancouver citizen on threats of charging him with an indecent assault. When the alleged victim complained to authorities, a sum of marked money was given to him and a police trap laid. Brunt and the woman were arrested and the marked money was found on Brunt.

Brunt was dismissed from the force soon after his arrest.

Magistrate McKay declared he was taking into consideration Brunt's expressed wish to "take his medicine" and that he had already been punished with dismissal from the force, leaving his wife and two small children without support.

NORANDA MINE MEN ON STRIKE

Smelter Workers Also Out; Try to Force Demands Made

NORANDA, Que., June 11 (CP).—Three hundred mine and smelter workers, employees of Noranda Mining company, tonight decided unanimously to strike in an effort to force mine authorities to grant demands refused by the company here today.

Members of the miners' committee which waited upon Manager H. L. Roscoe and other officials made their report to a meeting tonight.

During the meeting an announcement was read that 1300 workers of Flin Flon mining properties in Manitoba had struck, the crowded hall greeting the word with cheers. Recognition of the union is at stake in both strikes.

It was expected the strike would commence tomorrow morning but what proportion of the total of 1500 men employed by the company would go out could not be determined tonight. Mine authorities claimed not more than 300 are identified with the "United Mine Workers," which called the meeting, while leaders claim three times that number.

COAST PILOT FOUND DEAD

Capt. Morehouse Was 15 Years in B. C. Service

VANCOUVER, June 11 (CP).—Captain Walter S. Morehouse, 61, well-known west coast pilot, was found dead aboard the British freighter Winkleigh at Fraser Mills early Sunday. He had gone aboard the ship the previous night and was to have taken her out at daybreak. Death was believed due to natural causes.

An old-timer here, Captain Morehouse came to British Columbia from Nova Scotia on the sailing ship Canada, on which he was chief officer. He was for nearly 15 years with the B.C. Pilotage authority and had had many years service with the old Grand Trunk Steamship company. He formerly skippered the Prince Albert, Prince John, Prince Rupert and Prince George.

For a time before joining the Grand Trunk, Captain Morehouse was master of the Union steamship "Venture."

He is survived by his widow.

A few days later, Livingstone's logs were burned.

Over 200 Vessels Are Tied Up on Coast; Thousands Idle

SAN FANCISCO, June 11 (AP)—A call to all trade unions here to join the strike of Maritime workers was issued today by the Longshoremen's strike committee, while officials of the Internatinoal Longshoremen's association expressed their belief the walkout would spread to Atlantic coast ports.

Police sticks and tear gas were used in San Pedro late today to disperse a crowd estimated at more than 600 persons which marched on the police station demanding, "police brutality must cease."

The group, terming itself the United Front strike committee, presented demands that police stop using their clubs in quieting disturbances between striking longshoremen and non-union workers.

Joseph P. Ryan, president of the I. L. A. who offered a new proposal at Seattle to end the strike, which began May 9, declared that any attempt to open the harbor there by force "undoubtedly will cause a nation-wide strike of all longshoremen."

LINCOLN FLIES MOTHER'S BIER

Nelson Mining Man Has Lost 4 of Circle in Two Years

Receiving a wired message of the death of his mother, Mrs. Charles Lincoln, Monday morning in Boston, her home, Paul Lincoln motored to Spokane from Nelson Monday afternoon, and Monday evening left by plane for Salt Lake City, there to connect with the transcontinental plane for New York, where he arrives Tuesday.

Mrs. Lincoln was within four days of being 88 years old, and would have celebrated her birthday the coming Friday if she had lived. Her husband, Charles Lincoln, died two years ago.

Both parents visited their son here on two occasions some years ago.

The death of Mrs. Lincoln leaves Paul Lincoln the only surviving member of the family, both the parents, and his two brothers, Charles Jr., and Robert, having died within a space of two years.

OFFERS TO DO MAGIC ROPE TRICK IF PAID THE MODEST SUM OF $275,000

A Blonde Admired His Teeth—She Even Stole Them

CHICAGO, June 77 (CP)—Art Jacobson could only mumble but, aided a bit by sign language, managed to convey his tale to the police. It seems a blonde admired his teeth. The better for her to admire, Art removed them and laid them on the bar she was tending. They contained $100 in gold, he pointed out.

The blonde is missing. So are the teeth.

COAST OFFICER DID NOT DROWN

NEW WESTMINSTER, B. C., June 11 (CP)—Herbert William Mapson, New Westminster policeman who met death Thursday in Pitt Lake, was not drowned but died from suffocation, Dr. G. S. Purvis testified at the inquest. A verdict of accidental death was returned by the coroner's jury.

Dr. Purvis said an autopsy showed Mapson had suffered a blow on the forehead and nose when he was apparently thrown from his speedboat and was rendered unconscious. He had died of suffocation and there was no water in the lungs.

Indian Psychiatrist Would Hang Rope in Mid-Air and Have Lad Climb

LONDON, June 11 (CP cable)—For $275,000 a psychiatrist here from India will do the magic rope trick in Albert hall, but so far he has no takers.

The Magic Circle, a society that investigates phoney mysticism, recently offered a $25,000 reward to anyone who will do a genuine magic rope trick. At that time Lord Amptill, an expert on magic, said the reward might just as well be $250,000 because no one could do the trick.

His pronouncement brought from Dr. Alexander Cannon, the psychiatrist, an offer. The doctor will do the trick from the original reward with the $250,000 added to cover expenses. He needs that much money, he said in a letter to the Magic Circle, because he would have to import Yogis and their assistants from India, bring over special sand and heat Albert hall to the temperature of the tropics. He would also need special lighting effects.

Interested, the Magic Circle wrote Dr. Cannon and asked him if he would return the $250,000 if the trick failed. He replied "no." The circle appeared ready to let the matter drop then, but the doctor wrote again and repeated his offer.

In the magic rope trick a fakir throws the end of a rope into the air where it appears to become anchored to nothing. Then a boy climbs up.

Transcanada Air Mail Service Will Be Inaugurated Next Year Says Ross

VANCOUVER, June 11 (CP).—A transcanada air service will be inaugurated "sometime next year," George M. Ross, Montreal secretary of the Canadian Flying Clubs association, declared today in an address to a Vancouver service club.

Mr. Ross, with Captain Jack Sanderson, president of the Fleet Aircraft of Canada, arrived here Saturday after a leisurely flight from Montreal. They made the flight here from Winnipeg in 11 hours.

"The main object in Canadian aviation today is the establishment of a transcanada air line linking Vancouver with Halifax and Sydney," Mr. Ross said. "A map of the necessary route across the Dominion has been completed and it is practically assured that the service will get under way sometime next year."

He declared parliament realizes the necessity of such transportation and is lending every support to the movement.

"Two great continent hook-ups, through aviation, are underway in which Canada is an important factor," Mr. Ross said. "One route is from Chicago, Edmonton, Nome and from there to the orient. The other is planned to connect eastern Canada with Europe."

Rained Out Grasshoppers Brought to City Come to Life When Contact Electric Heat

WINNIPEG, June 11 (CP)—Scores of traders in the Winnipeg grain exchange pit tonight knew something about the vitality of grasshoppers.

A "bear" trader gathered a quart bottle of "dead" grasshoppers in the Bird's Hill district of Manitoba during the week-end just to show how the rain had killed the pests.

But there was a skeptic when he displayed them at the grain exchange today. A handful of 'hoppers—just about the size of full grown mosquitoes—was placed on a sheet of paper and held over an electric heater which stenographers used for boiling water for tea.

A couple of 'hoppers moved. Then a few more jumped a bit. Within a minute the whole handful perked up, hopped off the paper and onto desks. The typists raced for cover and something new in grasshopper campaigns had to be executed in a hurry.

LINK ENDOCRINE GLANDS WITH CRIME AMONG WOMEN; MARKS SHOW ON BODY

Impossible to Tie Marks to a Definite Crime, Says American Institution

By HOWARD W. BLAKESLEE
Associated Press Science Editor

CLEVELAND, June 11 (AP)—Overwhelming evidence that the endocrine glands, led by one of these organs in the head, is associated with crime among women was presented to the American Medical association here today.

The permanent marks which these glands make in the bones, in body contours and in the eyes were described. It was explained that these tell-tale marks appeared overwhelmingly among women who commit crime.

But it is impossible at present to relate one of these marks to a specific crime, or even to predict when their presence means crime. The glands' structural traces on the body now form only the "dominant note" among women who violate the law.

How to read and interpret these signs so as to keep a person from going astray is the objective. The hope of success, it was pointed out, lies largely in the fact that the same endocrine tell-tales found in adult women in prison appear often in children, early in life at a time when their effects may be headed off.

The report was made by Dr. Allan Winter Rowe of Boston. Studies of 100 women in the Sherburne reformatory at Framingham, Mass., showed that 77 per cent of them had improperly working endocrine glands.

NEW WESTMINSTER, B.C., June 11 (CP)—Sadie Dorothy Caroline Graser, 3-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James Fraser, was drowned in the north arm of the Fraser river Sunday after falling from the river bank near her home. The body was recovered soon afterward.

CITY TO SHOW ALL COURTESY TRAIL PICNIC

Street Car Rides for Women and Kiddies Once More

EARLY CLOSING IS IN FINAL STAGES

Council Debates the Licence Bylaw Revision

When the annual picnic of the employees of the Consolidated Mining & Smelting Company of Canada is held here July 21, every courtesy will be extended to the Trail and Rossland visitors by the corporation of Nelson, the city council formally decided Monday night.

Alderman T. W. Slader, chairman of the parks committee, had a long list of requirements for the Lakeside park arrangements he wanted approved. The matter was reached at a late hour, and the council passed on as many items as there was time to discuss. He was given the general assurance that everything that was wanted would be granted, but it was suggested that, as it was a long time yet to the picnic, he should make a survey of the entire subject, and concentrate on getting action the first thing in July.

As the street car rides have always been pouular with the picnickers, it was decided to issue a large number of tickets to the Trail committee, to be distributed for the women and children to use, as was done last year.

Tents, life-guards, police service, and all other facilities will be handled on lines suggested by the Trail committee.

The matter of guest cars has been taken up by the board of trade, as in past years.

A good share of the evening was taken up in bylaw discussions, first, the early closing bylaw, and then the prospective license bylaw revision.

EARLY CLOSING

The early closing bylaw as redrafted, and introduced under city initiative procedure, to replace the incomplete one based on the merchants' petition, was put through all stages but the final one. When it comes up for the final stage two weeks hence, it will still be possible to vary its terms to include classes of establishments not yet mentioned. There are still some merchandising groups that have not indicated whether they desire to be included.

While the material for the new licence bylaw has not yet been assembled, and passed along to City Solicitor James O'Shea for drafting, the council held an extended general discussion on some points, chiefly revolving about motor traffic.

SMALL CARRIER

There are said to be 14 or so individuals or concerns carrying freight or express on Nelson's streets, and the problem is to find some way to get a reasonable revenue from the big concerns—the Canadian Pacific Express company and the Central Canadian Greyhound lines — while not putting a burden on the little fellow that they could not possibly carry.

Suggestions that licenses should be graded on the volume of business were all met by the assertion that the act made no provision for such a basis, and that all must be treated alike.

About the most promising solution was one suggested by Alderman Ross Fleming at the end of the discussion, that the big fellows should be licensed to do express business, and the little fellows licensed to operate trucks, with a fee for each truck.

Lady Softballers Have Close Game

Racketeers Nose Out the Greyhound Nine

With both teams displaying their best form of the season, the Racketeers and Greyhounds, ladies' softball teams, dished up the fastest and closest game of the season Monday evening, Racketeers nosing out the Greyhounds 10-8. The loss ended the Greyhounds' chances of making a playoff berth between the first three teams in the league. The Bluebirds with one game to play have a record of five wins and four losses, while the Greyhounds and Racketeers have lost six out of 10 games.

The game was close all the way with neither team having more than a one-run lead during the first six innings. At the end of the sixth the score stood 8-7 in favor of the Greyhounds, but in the last of the seventh inning the Racketeers sent three runners across the plate after two batters were out. This ended the scoring for the evening, the Greyhounds only getting one runner to first base in the last three innings.

Elaine Beeston of the Racketeers and Dorothy Titsworth of the Greyhounds scored three runs each. Dorothy Titsworth and Elvina Arit poled out home runs. Madge Postlewhaite and Elaine Beeston hit for three bases.

Elaine Beeston was the star of the game from a fielding standpoint with six putouts and five assists to her credit. All the winners played bangup ball as did the Greyhounds with Madge Postlewhaite, Sadie McCreight and Hilda Talberg of the Racketeers, and Dorothy Titsworth, Lena Limacher, and Marion Burnett of the losers being the outstanding players.

Jean Ramsay and Madge Postlewhaite formed the Racketeers battery, with Lena Limacher and Lena young doing the heavy duty for the Greyhounds, Jean Ramsey struck out six and walked one, Lena Limacher fanned three and walked one. Bob St. Denis called the balls and strikes to the satisfaction of both teams and R. Reisterer officiated on the bases. The teams were as folows:

Racketeers — Carmello Delpuppo, Hilda Talberg, Sadie McCreight, Elaine Beeston, Enid Latornell, Elvina Arit, Pearl Coffey, Jean Ramsey, Madge Postlewhaite and Janie Wigg.

Greyhounds—Lena Young, Florence Maundrell, Gladys Jarrett, Lena Limacher, Dorothy Titsworth, Nellie Leslie, Marion Burnett, Iris Johanson, Beatrice Mathews and Eileen Fletcher.

WEATHER IS DIVERSIFIED

Sunshine and Rain Greater Than Usual

Nelson had a real diversity of weather during May when both the total number of hours of sunshine and the rainfall proved greater than usual.

During the month the sun shone for a total of 211 hours and 54 minutes. May, 1933, the sun shone for 136 hours. The average for a 32-year period is 226 hours.

During 11 days of rain 1.83 inches fell as compared with .14 for the same period last year and the 32-year average of .65 inch. Hail fell one day and there were three days of thunder storms.

Due to the earliness of the season the temperatures varied considerable. On the 21st the city had frost when the mercury slipped to 32 degrees. The high for the month was 87 degrees recorded on the 27th.

Wind blew 32 miles per hour on the 30th. for the maximum velocity.

A Monday night's council session notification was received from S. S. McDiarmid, city engineer of Trail, that the pressure sprayer for treating roads, owned by Trail, would be available for loan to Nelson from July 3 to 7. A vote of thanks to Mr. McDiarmid was recorded.

Shifting of the street light on Mines road opposite Robson street to the next pole south, in order to light the north end of the alley in block 21, was authorized.

R. J. German was granted a water service for sprinkling purposes on lots 1-7, block 37, subdivision 150.

Installation was authorized of a 5 K.W. transformer, if available, on the Gansner light service at Taghum, to replace a transformer recently burned out.

Notification was received from W. E. B. Monypenny, secretary of the Union of Kootenay Municipalities, that the union would meet at Rossland July 11 at 2 p.m., and that names of delegates and draft resolutions were in order.

City Clerk W. E. Wasson submitted a statement of receipts and expenditures for the first five months of 1934, showing that, apart from cash on hand or in bank on January 1, the city had received in that period $136,377.79, and disbursed, apart from cash now on hand or in bank $140,036.19.

HALVE SOFTBALL GAMES, CASTLEGAR

Nelson Ladies Win But the Boys Lose

CASTLEGAR, June 11.—Two Nelson softball teams visited here on Saturday evening to play local teams. The Nelson girls took home the honors by defeating the Castlegar ladies' club 22-11, but the local men's team earned an even split by taking the Nelson Rockets into camp 13-6.

In the first game the Castlegar ladies took a 6-0 lead in the first innings when Dorothy Wheeler was wild, but the Nelson team tightened up and had quite an edge on the homesters in the balance of the game. The Castlegar girls, who have just organized, made a creditable showing in their first game of the season, and with a little more practice will give the Nelson players a harder game.

Elaine Beeston, Peggy Gibbon, Edna McKenzie and Clara Talberg starred for the Nelson club both at bat and in the field.

The local men's club took to "Doc" Steed's pitching in the opening inning to run up a 5-0 lead, but when Lloyd Frame went on the mound he held the Castlegar batters well in check. The visitors were never able to overcome the lead obtained by the local team in the first inning, however.

The teams were as follows:

Nelson girls—Elaine Beeston, Clara Talberg, Hilda Talberg, Peggy Gibbon, Dorothy Wheeler, Mary Long, Mary Vance, Edna McKenzie and Phyllis Motley.

Nelson Rockets—Peter Dewdney, Blake Allan, Pat McGauley, "Doc" Steed, Jim Allan, Harold Long, Les Sparks, John Morey and Lloyd Frame.

Castlegar girls—Betty Defoe, Beatrice Dams, Irene Defoe, Bernice Pratt, Hope McGauley, Phyllis Watson, Winnie Johnson, Mrs. Coleman, and Dora Davidson.

Castlegar men—Ted Pratt, Louis Watson, Ged McGauley, "Snuce" Hanson, Paul Samsonoff, Elmer Walner, Noah Defoe and Billy Davidson.

Next game, Wednesday, Maulers vs. Fairview A.C.

Going to bat in the last of the seventh and final inning on the short end of a 10-7 score, the Savoy Hotel nine filled the bases with none down, pushed one runner across the plate and still had the bases loaded with none down, but the Maulers tightened up to win their third game of the season by a 10-8 score and went into a tie with the Fairview team for first place in the league.

The Maulers scored three runs in each of the first, second and third innings, while the best the Savoy team could do was score two in the second and one in the third to bring the score to 9-3 at the start of the fourth. Neither team got a batter to first base in the fourth inning. In the fifth the Maulers scored another run but the Savoy nine came back with four runs in their half of the inning. After blanking the Maulers in the last two innings the Savoy club scored one more run in the seventh inning to bring the final score up to 10-8 in the Maulers' favor.

FREIGHT RIDER LOSES HIS CASE

Worth Convicted Through Admissions He Made to Officers

Denying he was on the incoming freight beside which he was arrested in the Canadian Pacific yards here Thursday night, William R. Worth found himself confronted in provincial police court here Monday morning with admissions he had made to C. A. Brown, C.P.R. constable, and Sergt. C. G. Barber, and was found guilty by Stipendiary Magistrate John Cartmel, under the railway act, and sentenced to pay a fine of $15, with the alternative of 30 days in jail.

It is understood that the police had more evidence, if needed, in the shape of members of the train crew who saw Worth travelling on the freight.

Michael Morris, who was arrested with Worth, and in company with him pleaded not guilty on being arraigned Firday morning, changed his plea Mondty to one of guilty, and was fined $5, with the alternative of four days in jail.

PLAN TO TAX ALL SOLDIER LANDS

All Arrears in Taxes Will Be Paid Under Plans of New Bill

OTTAWA, June 11 (CP)—The position of the soldier settlers, particularly in the prairie provinces, was canvassed during the debate today in the house of commons on a bill to amend the soldier settlement act.

There had been no evictions of any soldier settler for some years, certainly not during the last 12 months, for failure to keep up his payments, said Hon. W. A. Gordon, minister of immigration, in whose department the soldier settlement branch operates.

The bill under consideration was designed to meet requests of the municipalities of western Canada. It would make all lands held under the administration of the director of soldier settlement subject to municipal and provincial taxes. As the act now reads, the directors held these lands as agent of the crown and for that reason they are not legally assessable.

The bill also provides, it was explained, that commencement of tax sale proceedings instituted against a settler by the taxing authority should have the effect of rescinding the settler's contract of sale with the director of soldier settlement but extended to him the same privilege of redemption as the provincial laws extend to other delinquent taxpayers together with the right of reinstatement of his contract.

Premier R. B. Bennett explained it had been decided to pay all the arrears of taxes up to January 1, 1933. This would mean a supplementary estimate of $604,000. The settler would therefore not be loaded with long arrears of taxes. The bill received third reading.

Wins Case Against Missing Loan Man

Judgment for $2566 and $550 Damages Awarded Steno in Bond Loan Case

VANCOUVER, June 11 (CP). — Judgment for $2566 was awarded to Mrs. Eulalie Blygh, court stenographer, against D. A. Kramer of the Phoenix Loan company, Vancouver, by Mr. Justice D. A. McDonald in supreme court today for the sale by Kramer of stocks which Mrs. Blygh had hypothecated with him last December.

Kramer, said to have left for Portland, Ore., did not defend the action.

Mrs. Blygh said she had answered a newspaper advertisement, the tenor of which was, "Why sell your stocks when Kramer is ready to loan money on them?"

She turned the stocks over to Kramer, but two days later, she requested the return of her stocks and offered to repay the moneys which had been advanced. She had thought the stocks would not be sold without her consent, but she learned she had signed authority for Kramer to sell the securities.

After notifying him of her intention to redeem the stocks, she made a demand for them but Kramer, the court was told, said he had converted the stocks and used the money in his business.

Kramer was alleged to have sold the stocks for $2010. In addition, Mrs. Blygh was awarded $550 damages.

The plane made the 1100 miles from Winnipeg in three hops, and although delayed an hour on the prairie by bad weather the single jump from Medicine at to Grand Forks, about 400 miles, was made in two and three quarters hours.

Both Mr. Ross and Mr. Sanderson had been here with Canada air pageant three years ago and were met at the airport by the mayor, by President James Grisdale of the board of trade and others. Following lunch they left for Vancouver at 4:50 o'clock.

Mr. Ross and Mr. Sanderson are expected to return to Grand Forks Tuesday, probably accompanied by Squadron Leader A. T. Cowley, and all will be entertained at dinner by the Gyro club.

Squadron Leader Cowley of Ottawa, who is superintendent of civil aviation in Canada, flew in from Calgary Friday morning and after inspecting the airport and the proposed seaplane base on Smelter lake, left for Vancouver at 4:30.

Girl in the Family

By BEATRICE BURTON

CHAPTER XVII

"It was anounced yesterday really," said Lutie. "We told a few people, and later on your father came home from Mrs. Hopper's, and he and your Uncle Worthy let everybody know about it."

"They were drinking your health and Wallace's all over the house," chimed in Aunt Edna. "I think they had quite a bit too much Christmas cheer in the egg nog. Quite a bit."

"You just imagine it," said Uncle Worthy.

Aunt Edna sniffed. "Well, you put enough into it to make you dance around all afternoon after Jessie Bunts, like a clown!" she said. "I noticed her goggling at you, too." In Aunt Edna's eyes Uncle Worthy was a great lover, irristible to all women.

That afternoon a delivery truck from Hart's store stopped in the snowy street outside the house and the boy came running up to the door with a package for Susan.

Inside the cover of the pasteboard box that the green paper wrappings revealed lay Connie Sayre's visiting card with 'Love from Connie" written across it, and under the layers of white tissue paper was a wadded silk breakfast coat of a dim and subtle pink.

"It's an engagement present," Lutie cried in rapture. "Oh, but won't it be just the thing to wear when you and Wallace have breakfast in your own hotel room on your honeymoon . . . it's perfect! I've been wishing I could get you one, but I just don't seem to have the money right now."

Susan lifted the coat from the box. "If I'd gone to business school and got a position somewhere as I ought to have done two or three years ago, I could buy my own things now, Lutie."

"Oh, we'll get a trousseau together for you, somehow or other," said Aunt Edna. "We have alm[illegible]t six months before June, and we're going to start cutting down our household expenses right away. Your Uncle and I had a long talk about it yesterday. We've decided to let Anna go after all."

Susan's eyes flew open. "Let Anna go?"

Two weeks before Aunt Edna had said that under no circumstances would she discharge Anna. Susan remembered clearly how determined she had been in her declaration that there was no need for it. What could have happened since that time to make her change her mind?

"You see, your father has always contributed something toward the upkeep of this house, Susan," she began to explain, and holding the breakfast coat against her breast. Susan listened. "There has always been money from the rents and one thing and another, and according to your Grandfather Broderick's will, Lutie and Worthy and your father divided the income three ways—Well, yesterday your father asked Worthy to send him next month's check to Havana and he borrowed a hundred dollars from him besides. That makes things a little embarrassing all around. You see that, don't you?"

"What do you mean?" asked Susan "That he didn't leave any money behind to pay my board?"

Her aunt nodded.

"Then I'll be living here at your expense from now on?"

Her aunt jerked her massive head up and down. "Yes—but after this week John's going to pay us twenty dollars a week for your board and his —that is, until your father starts looking after you again. Your Uncle Worthy spoke to John about it this morning."

"I can't let John spend his money on me," Susan said slowly, her eye brows almost meeting in a worried frown above her eye. . . John was making very little. Twenty dollars was more than half of the amount of his salary check every week, and Susan felt certain that there was some sort of understanding between him and Conie Sayre. In al probability they intended to be married as soon as John was earning enough to keep up a home of his own. No, she simply could not be a mill stone around John's neck.

"What I've got to do is to get some work to do and make some money of my own, Aunt Edna."

But while she said it the thought ran through her head that she was not trained to do any kind of work that paid a decent salary. She had had two years of music lessons, and she could play a few simple things like the Waldteufel waltzes, but she certainly did not begin to know enough about music to teach it. One summer Aund Edna had let her take riding lessons at a North Carolina mountain resort, one winter she had had dancing lessons, and when she was thirteen she had gone to a certain Madamoiselle De Hamel every Saturday morning to talk French. She had learned to say grace in French and that was about the extent of her learning in that graceful language. Those vague accomplishments were all the education she had in addition to what she had received in her 12 years in the public schools.

She could not typewrite, and she knew nothing about even the simplest kind of office work. The only thing, in fact, that she did know and understand was housework—the kind of work that Anna did in the Broderick's kitchen for eight dollars a week! A small biter smile just barely twisted Susan's lip as she realized that she would probably be able to get a position as dish washer in a restaurant, or chambermaid in a hotel, without any difficulty.

"This is certainly no time for you to start talking 'job' again, Susan," said Aunt Edna, her corsets creaking as she leaned forward in her chair to poke the grate fire. "When Anna goes next week there's going to be more than enough work to keep us three women busy in this house. Why, just think of the washings, alone!" Her stout body sagged in the chair as if all the strength went out of it at the very thought of the washings. "Besides, what kind of work could you do? You weren't brought up to earn your own living." She said it with a flaring up of the Broderick family pride.

"Don't I know it!" cried Susan. "But if I only had been!—If I'd just had the business course that I've begged for and begged for, I'd probably have a good position by this time." Other things trembled on her lips. The things that she had said to them many times before when she had pleaded with them and her father to let her have the three hundred dollars that would have paid for a secretarial course at the Spencerian Business college downtown.

It was no use to say them all again. It was too late to point out to them that office work was a much higher type of labor than peeling potatoes and scouring bath tubs and helping Anna with the ironing in the basement.

WHY NOT HAVE THOSE REPAIRS DONE NOW?

Can you give a man a job, for a week, for a couple of days, for a day, for even half a day?

Look around your place and see if some repairs are not needed. Perhaps the roof requires a few shingles, or recoating; perhaps a coat of paint is required; perhaps a fence has become rickety; perhaps there is work which should be done in the garden.

Every little bit of employment you can give will help someone; it will take someone, if only temporarily, off relief. And at the same time you will be increasing the value of your property and improving its appearance.

MONETIZED SILVER

The position of silver has not been greatly altered by the decision that silver shall form 25 per cent of the monetary reserve of the United States. There seems but little chance of the value of silver being raised to any considerable extent, excepting only in the United States, where there are two prices for silver, both arbitrary, if not three prices, the Edmonton Journal points out. There is the price which will be paid for silver, which is 50 cents, under the new legislation. There is the price of 64½ cents, which is authorized to be paid for silver under the amendment to the farm relief act, and there seems also to be a factitious price of $1.29 per ounce, which will be used for the purpose of valuing the silver after the metal has been bought at 50 cents. Meanwhile, in addition to all these set prices, there is the quoted price of silver in New York, which runs about 45 to 46 cents.

But, with gold set at $35 an ounce and silver to be bought at 50 cents, there is still a long way to travel before the Bryan ideal of 16 to 1 is realized. The present ratio is to be about 70 to 1, and even at the government's valuation, for treasury purposes only, the ratio would be only 27 to 1. The arbitrary valuation of $1.20 per ounce brings silver to a 16 to 1 basis on the old valuation of gold at $20.65 per ounce. But, when the government only pays half a dollar for an ounce of silver, the valuation of 50 cents' worth of silver at $1.29, after it has been bought, does not affect the seller, who is the silver miner.

It is, however, possible that all this manipulation of the price of silver, setting it at this for one purpose and that for another, may eventually raise the price where it is wanted to be raised, in the market quotations of the world. If and when that occurs, Canadian silver mines will be able to operate again at a profit. The greater quantity of the silver that is now produced in Canada is taken out as a by-product and would be taken out any way. Mines like the Sullivan can afford to sell at the market since it is not to silver that they look for their main returns. It is the mines, like those of Thunder Bay district, which have to make their money out of straight silver production, that would benefit chiefly from an upward movement in the price of the metal.

But so far the silver policy of the United States is so hedged about with artificial restrictions and factitious prices that is is difficult to determine what the ultimate effect will be upon the only silver price that matters, the price in the open market.

MAGNOLIA BLOSSOMS

You wear the color of purity,
But O wide blossoms, so brimmed with scent,
With that strange breath of exotic lure
Is your perfume blent?

In a bower of glossy green you are set
To shine from the shadows with starry gleams,
While your odor, so heavy with sweets of earth,
Brings earth-sweet dreams.

In tropic forests whose gorgeous birds
Flit down dim arches where orchids riot,
Your petals are cool, amid pointed leaves
You lie in quiet.

But the fragrance floating around you there
Where the sepents creep and the orchids nod
Is like incense offered with mystic rite
To a pagan god.

TAXATION IN IRISH FREE STATE

In 1914 the cost of administration for the whole of Ireland was some £14,000,000. Today the Irish Free State alone costs £25,000,000. One of the strongest arguments of Irish Nationalists 20 years ago was alleged over-taxation by the British Government. In the sum of £14,000,000 was too great for 32 counties in 1914, how can the Free State government justify the bill of £35,000,000 for 26 counties in 1934?—(From the Irish Times, Dublin.)

What a debt editors, newswriters, linotypers and proof-readers owe to the unknown statistician who furnishes them with a brass-bound alibi for almost any mistake that may occur on the printed page, says a coast paper. The statistical expert reports that the number of chances for mistakes in a single column of type is staggering. In the average newspaper column there are 10,000 type letters; there are seven wrong positions in which a letter can be placed; there are 70,000 chances to make errors and millions of chances for transpositions. In the short sentence, "to be or not to be," by transposition alone it is possible to make 2,758,009 errors. Possibly production of a newspaper without a single error is some little accomplishment.

THAT BODY OF YOURS

By JAMES W. BARTON, M.D.

SUNSHINE AND PROPER FOOD PREVENTS RICKETS

That "sunshine" lamps are helpful to youngsters in preventing rickets has been well demonstrated. Also that cod liver oil is realy "bottled sunshine" is now admitted. Rickets is a disease in which the mineral building of the body is disturbed, so that there is not enough lime to stiffen the bones properly, thus causing bow legs, knock knees, pigeon chest and spinal curvature.

However, if youngsters could get more actual sunshine because lamps are not always available there would not only be freedom from rickets but better growth and development.

A most convincing demonstration of what sunshine can actually accomplish is given in an article by Mrs. Martha M. Eliot and Edith B. Jackson in the American Journal Disease of Children. It is called "Bone Development of Infants and Young Children in Puerto Rico". Rickets is undoubtedly a rare disease in that land of intense sunlight.

The study included 600 Puerto Rico children from 1 month to about 3 years of age. The observations were made in a thorough going manner and included X-ray appearances of the bones and a study of the composition of the blood.

Only five cases of rickets were found. One was a case of a 7 months old infant that had lived all his life in a stone cellar lighted only with electric light, and another, a case of healed rickets that had occurred when the child lived in New York City.

The Puerto Rico climate has not only intense sunlight but it is available during the whole year.

In the northern part of the United States and in Canada there is not only fewer hours of sunlight but the long cold season reduces the opportunity of getting the benefit of the sunlight for four or five months of the year; and the intensity is also less during cold weather.

Drs. Eliot and Jackson state that if one takes into consideration the uniform warm climate, the intensity of the sunlight, the fact that the sun shines for many hours daily through out the year and the outdoor habits of the people it is easily understood why the children of Puerto Rico are free from rickets.

However as parents can't take their children to Puerto Rico or to other "sunshine cities", the next best is the use of "sunshine foods", cod liver oil, and when possible, sunshine lamps.

The sunshine foods, which help to make up for lack of sunshine, are butter, egg yolk, whole milk, green vegetables and liver.

SENTENCED TO BED

A Hamilton man, charged with slapping a policeman's face, has been sentenced to retire to bed not later than 10 o'clock each night. The sentence is for three months. The chances are that the court has really done this chap a favor. Any man who is forced to go to bed at 10 each night for three months should find himself, at the end of that period, so much improved in health and physique that he will feel like writing a letter of thanks to the magistrate.— (From the Border Cities Star.)

PRACTICAL PENALTY

A New York State man went on a drinking party, engaged in a fist fight with another celebrant who fell, struck his head and was killed. Charged with manslaughter, the survivor was ordered by the court to "go on the wagon" for five years, to pay his victim's funeral expenses, to pay $15 per week for five years for maintenance of the widow and her children. The alternative is a term in Sing Sing. This comes under the head of unusual punishment, but the penalty is distictly practical.—From the Ottawa Journal.)

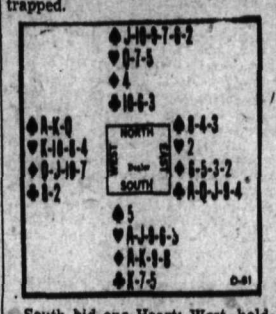
AUCTION AND CONTRACT BRIDGE

By the World's Leading Authority
MILTON C. WORK

A TRAPPER TRAPPED

The strategy of expert defensive bidding is a little difficult for the average player to understand. After an original bid, it is wise for second hand, with an evenly distributed hand, to pass even with as strong a holding as three and a half high-card tricks. If third hand should fail to bid, fourth hand is evpected to keep the bidding open with comparatively little strength, thus protecting a strong pass by second hand. It rarely pays (especially in duplicate) to allow the opponents to play at a one contract. Evenly distributed hands, as a rule, produce better results if played defensively and are sometimes called trap hands.

The following hand, played in a recent rubber game, is interesting because it shows how a trapper was trapped.

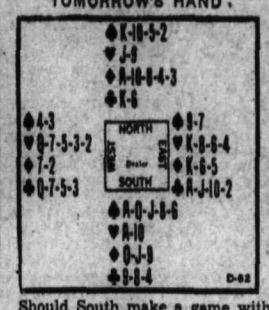


South bid one Heart; West, holding a perfect example of a trap hand, passed; North bid one Spade (a little weak, but with a six-card major suit, he felt the bid was justified), East two Clubs, South two Diamonds, West passed, North bid two Hearts, East passed and South jumped the bid to four Hearts. West, who had been waiting anxiously for just this bid, doubled with avidity.

West led the King of Spades and shifted to the Eight of Clubs, East won with the Ace and then led the Queen of Clubs which South won and cashed the Ace and King of Diamonds, discarding dummy's remaining Club. Then a third Diamond was led which dummy duffed and led a Spade, South ruffing with the Trey. After a repetition of the Diamond and Spade ruffs, Declarer led his last Club, and West, who had nothing but trumps, found his King to be his only winner, so the Declarer fulfilled his contract.

The most interesting feature of the play was Declarer's timing of the hand. Had he tried to ruff a Club early in the hand, his contract would have been defeated. West would have had the opportunity to discard a good Spade and eventually overruff Declarer.

TOMORROW'S HAND.



Should South make a game with Spades the trump?

ELSON ROTARY LUB FOR PLAN F SENIOR ROLL

structs Delegate to Vote for a Wider Member Basis

STRUCTS ALSO ON SOME OTHERS

r. Laishley Reports on the Kelowna Gathering vote for a radical change in the s of Rotary membership will be by the Nelson Rotary club's gate to the approaching Rotary rnational. Discussion of some of resolutions that are coming up vided the program at Monday's ry luncheon, under the vocal committee, headed by W. J. person.

he outstanding resolution dised was one proposed by the Inational board, as a means of dening the membership. Rotary bership, from the formation of first club in Chicago many s ago, has been on a classifica basis, each business classifica in a community being limited to one member. Thus the membership of any Rotary club is limited to the number of classifications it can muster, with the exception that members of long service who have lost their classification may be transferred to the roll of past service Rotarians.

A DUAL MEMBERSHIP

Under the international board's proposal, there would be three classes of members, active, senior, and honorary. A Rotarian of 10 years service could at his own option be transferred to the senior roll, which would have no classifications. He would have the same duties and privileges as before, and would pay the same dues, but his classification would be open for filling by a new and usually younger member. While transfer would be optional in the case of the existing membership, in the case of those becoming active members after July 1, 1934, transfer would be automatic after they had attained the 10 years service standing.

A wide debate took place, for and against, based in part on articles in the Rotarian presenting the two sides of the case. While some considered that the opponents of the change had the stronger case, members of the club rallied strongly to the view that this plan offered a sound way of building up membership, which was essential to successful prosecution of Rotary aims—a code of service and of business ethics, and promotion of international understanding.

The club's delegate was instructed to vote for this resolution, the eventual action being unanimous.

FAVOR PROXIES

Two resolutions that had to do with representation of clubs at the International were also favored, one in full detail, and the other in principle. One of these proposed that clubs distant more than 1000 miles from the convention city should have the privilege of proxy representation, with the limitation, however, that in any country with fewer than 10 clubs, the proxies must be held within those clubs if possible. This resolution the delegate was instructed to support.

In the other case, the resolution provided for sharing of a delegate by three or two small clubs. This resolution, which emanated from a small club in Texas, had certain verbal weaknesses, and was endorsed in principle, the expectation being that it would be redrafted at the convention to eliminate the weaknesses.

One resolution was emphatically opposed. It proposed to grant attendance credits to Rotary club members who were absent from two or more successive club meetings on account of physical disability. The prospective delegate was instructed to vote against this one.

INTERPRETATION TOO NARROW

A short general discussion was precipitated by W. B. Bamford on the subject of classifications, Mr. Bamford contending that the Nelson club was putting too narrow a construction on them, and was not utilizing the variations permitted under the rules. In this connection A. T. Horswill asked how it was that certain houses in Vancouver were known as Rotary houses, and had several members. An explanation of this was given by Robert Johnston, Vancouver Rotarian, who was present. Mr. Johnston stating that the firms referred to had an active member, and "an additional active member."

Before the resolutions were taken up, Dr. W. Laishley reported on the trip made by himself and Mrs. Laishley and Stanley Campbell to the district gathering at Kelowna, and R. W. Dawson reported on the coming fraternal visit to Trail Wednesday.

Dr. John Gansner, chairman of the crippled children's committee, reported on one of the district cases in hand, and the club passed a vote of thanks to Drs. L. E. Borden and R. B. Shaw for their painstaking and arduous service with this case.

President A. B. Gilker was in the chair.

Owing to a change in the half-holiday, Mrs. Barclay presented a resolution to the effect that the regular meeting day of this society be changed from the first Wednesday to the first Tuesday of the month. This will be brought up for consideration at the next meeting, as it means an alteration in the present constitution.

Floating Walk Is Now Full Length

Under instructions of Alderman T. W. Slader, chairman of the parks committee, Gilbert Goucher, life guard, and T. Bishop, caretaker of Lakeside park, Monday afternoon heaved up the 250-pound "anchor" of the auxiliary float, and towed it back to form the shorewalk section of the floating walk that leads out to the swimming float.

It was in use by bathers immediately, enabling them to board the walk at knee depth instead of swimming out to the next section and climbing up by main strength.

When the water goes down sufficiently, it will be taken out again to deep water to serve as an auxiliary float.

BAER IS ALL SET FOR THE BIG BATTLE

Finishes Heavy Chores by Handing Insult to Carnera

PRIMO IS KEPT IN BED TO GET REST

Champion Appears to Be Overtrained Say Experts

By EDWARD J. NEIL
Associated Press Sports Writer

NEW YORK, June 11 (AP)—To the relief of all deeply concerned, Max Baer today flung off the last of his heavy training chores for his heavyweight title chance against Primo Carnera next Thursday night and wound up still in full possession of all his much maligned health.

With wisecracks for all and malice for none, the big Californian mauled two sparring partners for five rounds at Asbury Park, N.J., dashed off an insulting letter to Carnera, advised the boxing commission of his needs and desires in the matter of regulating the battle, and then settled down boisterously to await the conflict itself.

CARNERA OVERTRAINED

As undertrained as Baer appears to the eyes of the experts, just so much does Carnera appear to be overtrained, with his complex and almost unheard of physical contradiction providing the final touch to a comic opera situation that is slowly driving the Madison Square Garden promoters insane.

Carnera spent the day in idleness at his training camp at Pompton Lakes, N.J. He was in bed most of the day, ordered there by his trainer, Bill Defoe, who said it was the only way to make the champion rest.

Baer advised the commission today that he'd like the referee's instructions in the calm of the commission offices at weighing in time Thursday instead of in the confusion of the ring. He asked for a big man as referee and objected to Arthur Donovan, one of New York's forem st officials.

BALFOUR BRONX TRIM RED SOX

Queenie McQueen Has Ankle Broken in Collision

The Balfour "Bronx" ladies' softball team, coached by Helen Ling sprung a surprise in local softball circles by taking the Red Sox, leading softball nine in the city, into camp to the tune of 16-7 at the Junior high school grounds on Saturday evening. Against Helen Ling's masterful pitching, the Red Sox who have won eig' out of nin. starts this season, appeared to have just as much trouble connecting with Mrs. Ling's pitches as have other teams that have faced her this season.

Queenie McQueen, second baseman of the Balfour club, suffered a broken ankle in a collision with a Red Sox base runner. The incident was entirely accidental.

The Balfour chucker fanned 12 batters and walked only one to first, starred in the field and as well as the leading scorer. Margaret Ling, the visiting backstop, gave splendid assistance to her pitcher. Ethel Ling, playing at short, also put up a great game in the field and was largely responsible in keeping the Red Sox score down.

Rosa Stewart pitched a good game for the Red Sox, but her support was erratic in the critical moments of the game. She struck out six batters. At the end of the first inning the score stood 4-2 in favor of the Red Sox nine, and in the second inning they increased their lead to 5-2. In the third the visitors crossed the plate for four runs against one for the Red Sox to tie up the score at 6-6. In the fourth and fifth innings the Red Sox were blanked while the Balfour team scored a run in each inning. Running wild on the bases in the sixth inning, the Balfour club scored seven runs and held the Red Sox to one. The Red Sox were blanked in the last three innings while the Balfour team scored one more run to bring the final score to 16-7 in their favor.

Helen Ling and Stella Crosby of the visitors, and Jeanette LePage, Arla Saare and Mary McDougall poled out home runs. The latter playing her first game of the season was the star of the game outside of the Balfour chucker.

The teams were:

Balfour "Bronx"—Queenie McQueen, Margaret Ling, Helen Ling, Kitty McKay, Ethel Ling, Grace Noakes, Helen Rapin, Betty Shrieves, Stella Crosby, Mary Sherman, Alice Crosby and Isabel McKay.

Nelson Red Sox—Jeannette LePage, Agnes Stewart, Arla Saare, Pauline Stangherlin, Rosa Stewart, Dolly Sutherland, Rosie Kapak, Lillian Wardell, Mary, McDougall, Lena LePage and Junie King.

SPORT PUFFS

IT'S "CRICKET"

Inter-city competition is the life-blood of any sport. Inter-city sport is one of the best means of fostering good-will between cities, provided, of course, it is sport and is participated in by men or women worthy of the name. But the sort of sport competition that does the city the most good is an international affair, and when you add to that asset, the fact that the sport in question happens to be cricket, you can't begin to measure the benefit that his city will derive from the visit next Sunday of the Spokane cricketers.

Those responsible for bringing it about, while probably acting in their own interests originally, are nevertheless advertising Nelson in Spokane at the psychological moment. How many Spokane people will visit Nelson during this summer as the result of reading in their papers of the cricket match here or hearing personally from the players about Nelson? There is no telling.

Cricket is not just an ordinary sport. It is "cricket," a word accepted in the sport world as a synonym for "good sportsmanship." Thus Sunday is not just an occasion of "another international sport event," but is rightly an outstanding occasion. Nothing should be left undone that will contribute to the success of the day and arrangements should not be left entirely to local cricketers. Everybody should lend a hand wherever those in charge feel they need help.

Certainly more of a welcome should be extended to the visitors than it is possible for the cricketers to finance.

"WE'VE A HOCKEY PLAYER!"

"We have with us today," in case you haven't heard, your old friend, Walter Duckworth. That should be good news for hockey fans. As a matter of fact it is, for without doubt it will mean that, if we do miss senior hockey this coming season, we'll have it next. You can't have two players like Duckworth and Ty Culley together in the same town and not have the union result in a hockey team sooner or later.

Duckworth, who was a consistent star on the right wing of the Nelson team for three seasons up to and including the 1931-32 squad, has secured employment here and is said to be eligible for this season's play.

While Trail announced for us weeks ago that we would have no team this year, nothing so definite has been given out by local officials. It is generally taken for granted that Nelson will be out of it, yet many feel that winning the league isn't the most important thing and that a team could be turned out that would put up a fair game. There are, besides Cully and Duckworth, such others as: Frank O'Genski, Jack Annable, Walt Gillett and Whitfield, to just mention a few offhand. Couldn't Scotty Notman be re-enlisted for goal and a couple of defencemen be located somewhere around town? It might not be a championship team but it could play hockey and give us something to go to a couple of nights a week.

NO BASEBALL

There were no major league games scheduled for Monday.

RED SOX SWAMP TRAIL NINE 34-4

Mrs. Ling Hurls Fine Game for the Locals

The Trail "Cardinals" could do nothing against Mrs. Helen Ling's chucking on Sunday morning, while the Red Sox batters, taking advantage of wildness on the part of the two Trail pitchers and hitting at opportune moments, ran up a 34-4 score in a game called at the end of the seventh inning at the request of the Trail club.

Although Mrs. Ling had pitched a full nine inning game on Saturday evening, she had enough speed on the ball to hold the visiting batters in check all the way. Only 10 Trail batters reached first base. Trail scored two runs in the fourth inning and added two more in the sixth. The brilliant Red Sox chucker walked three batters and fanned 12, retiring the side in succession on strikeouts in the fifth and seventh innings. She was also the leading scorer with six runs to her credit including two home runs and a three-bagger. Both circuit clouts came with the bases loaded.

Both Helen Mawdsley and Peggy McGovern were hit hard y the local batters but 20 walks were largely responsible for the one sided score. The Red Sox ran up an 18-0 score. The first three innings, scoring one run in the opening inning, seven in the second and 10 in the third. They scored six more in the fourth, three in the sixth and seven in the seventh and final inning.

Aria Saare and Rose Stewart poled out home runs in addition to Mrs. Helen Ling. Pauline Stangerlin hit two three-baggers. Eight of the nine local players scored at least three runs each with Pauline Stangerlin, Rosa Stewart and Aria Saar. scoring five runs each.

Mable Ford, who scored two of the Trail runs, hit a home run and a three-bagger. Tina Manderville also hit a homer and Peggy McGovern hit a triple.

Mary McDougall, who took part in her first game on Saturday evening, played good ball in the field as did Agnes Stewart and the battery of Arla Saare and Helen Ling. Hazel Mawdsley and Mary Yunker played well for the Trail Cardinals.

Johnny Buckna called the balls and strikes and Bill Freno officiated on the bases.

The teams were:

Trail Cardinals—Elise Cody, Louise, Cusick, Tina Manderville, Helen Mawdsley, Mary Yunker, Mable Ford, Hazel Mawdsley, Isabel Ferguson, Francis Mawdsley, Peggy McGovern, Molly Leckie and Athlyn Lowes.

Nelson Red Sox—Helen Ling, Jeanette LePage, Arla Saare, Pauline Stangerlin, Rosa Stewart, Peggy Gibbon, Mary McDougall, Agnes Stewart, and Lena LePage.

"Big League" BASEBALL

(By AL DEMAREE)

Lefty Grove's so-called "Fire Ball" is held the same as any other fast ball. The ball can be delivered either overhand or side arm, depending on the natural delivery of whoever throws it. The ball leaves the first two fingers, which impart a snap to it, that starts it revolving back toward the fingers. This imparts a slight jump to the ball, if delivered overhand, and a bend to the right if delivered side arm by a right-hand pitcher, left by a southpaw.

The young pitcher should be sure to follow through on this ball and not hold back. Resin will help to put stuff on the ball as it will give the ball added impetus as it leaves the first two finges. The zip or contact at the last instant that it leaves the fingers is what puts "stuff" on a fast ball. A good fast ball or "Fire Ball" does not necessarily mean that one ball is faster than another. One pitcher may be only moderately fast but there is more real "stuff" and hop on his fast one than another pitcher whose ball travels faster. One is a real "fast ball' and the other is "straight as a string"!

ROCKETS GIVE CUBS BATTLE

Showing improvement in every game they play, the Trafalgar Rockets seemed headed for a victory over the heretofore undefeated New Grand Cubs on Saturday morning as they led all the way up to the start of the seventh and final inning when the score stood 6-3 in their favor. In the last inning the Cubs sent four runners across the plate to take the decision by a 7-6 score.

John Morey poled out a home run for the Rockets and Austin Brennan hit a triple.

In a free hitting game the Athletics took their initial win of the season in defeating the Fairview Athletic Club juniors 15-9. Ted Anderson pitched a good game for the Fairview nine, but Cooper's services were missed behind the plate. Cooper is now with the N.G.H. Cubs.

Speedy Bell and Tom Crack umpired the games.

AUSSIES SHOW THE WAY HOME IN TEST PLAY

Come Back to Grab Good Lead Over England

MATCH PROBABLY TO END IN DRAW

Visitors Have Little Trouble; Youths Shine

NOTTINGHAM, June 11 — (CP Cable). — Unless the bowlers gain complete mastery on a crumbling wicket, the first of the season's five classic test cricket matches between England and Australia likely will end in a draw tomorrow.

At the close of the third day's play tonight, Australia had added 159 for loss of only three wickets to their first innings total of 374 runs. England were dismissed for 268 runs, leaving it a deficit of 106 on the first innings.

Patsy Hendren and George Geary for a time stemmed the Australian attack, amassing 79 runs and 53 respectively. The fifth wicket fell at 145, but the sixth and seventh were held until the board showed 165 and 266 runs respectively.

After that pair had been disposed of, the Australians had no further trouble. The remaining English wickets, three of them, cost the Aussies just two runs.

Going in to bat in mid-afternoon to start the second innings the Australians seemed likely to meet the same fate at the hands of the English trundlers.

FIRST FOR TWO

The first wicket fell for two runs, all that the veteran Captain W. M. Woodfull could get. W. H. Ponsford was good for only five runs more and two wickets went down for 32. Don Bradman was dismissed after scoring 25, four runs less than in his first innings.

Then as in the first innings, the Australian youths came to the rescue. W. A. Brown and Stanley McCabe became associated, and the pair ran the tally to 159 runs for three, putting on 90 runs in their fourth-wicket partnership and both being undefeated at the close of play, when the aggressive McCabe had garnered 74 runs and Brown 37.

PLAY BECOMES DULL

As the wicket more and more favored the bowling, play became very dull, only Hendren for the English and McCabe of the visitors treating the crowd of 30,000 to anything like a slashing innings. Brown scored only three runs in the last 50 minutes of play, but McCabe got his 74 in 85 minutes, including a six and 13 fours.

Until Hendren and Geary made their valiant stand against the fast bowling of Wall and the trick googlies of the veteran Grimmett, the spectators were resigned to seeing England forced to follow on with their second innings. As it is, the outlook for the holders of the ashes is extremely gloomy. The Aussies have seven wickets left and an advantage of 165 runs for the English to overcome with their second innings.

Grimmett proved deadliest of the Aussie bowlers, taking five wickets for almost exactly 16 runs apiece. O'Reilly was right with him, with four for 75.

TORONTO FLOP CHECKED SOME

TORONTO, June 11 (CP)—The advance in the Toronto industrial share market became a bit water-logged today as Wall street was inclined to cautiousness mainly because of the still threatening labor situation in the steel industry.

Rogers-Majestic, in demand, gained ½ at 9¼. Nickel closed 5 cents down at 26.40, and Ford of Canada and C.P.R. each dropped ⅛.

In the distillery group, Walkers common lost ⅞ and Distillers Seagrams ½. Brewers & Distillers added 5 cents.

Food and utility shares were irregular. Hamilton Bridge dropped ¼ to ½.

LITTLE CHANGE IN CHICAGO PIT

CHICAGO, June 11 (CP). — A flurry in response to reports of rains was short lived on the wheat exchange here today and little price change was shown at the close.

The close was irregular, ⅜ off to ¼ up; corn ⅝ to ⅞ advanced; oats ¼ down to ⅛ up and provisions up 5 to 10 cents.

1-2 CENT JUMP IN U.S. COPPER

NEW YORK, June 11 (AP).—An advance of ½ cent a pound in "blue eagle" domestic copper, bringing the price to 9 cents, was indicated today when it was learned virtually all of the producers had given notice to the code authority of such an increase. The increase was expected to be effective Tuesday.

The domestic market continued active today at the old basis of 8½ cents a pound for the red metal, delivered into August.

SEEKS TO BUY FORKS MINES

GRAND FORKS, June 11—Mickey MacKay, of hockey fame and a resident of this city, has completed negotiations with the owners of the Yankee Girl group of claims near Grand Forks for the purchase of the group, says the Gazette.

Mr. MacKay has also obtained a number of surrounding claims and with the entire group under his control left last week for Vancouver to interest associates in the development of the property.

The Yankee group has been a shipper off and on for the past 30 years. The vein system is up to two feed wide with a vein showing in a shaft, sunk a few years ago in the upper workings to a depth of 60 feet or so, some 22 inches in width. A sample from the ore in the bottom of the shaft recently is stated to have gone $96 in gold at $30.

The ore is a gold one and returns from shipments of the past 15 years gave gold returns from $38 up at the old price of $20.

CHEESE IS UP

MONTREAL, June 11—(CP). — Cheese advanced on the Montreal produce exchange today.

Cheese, Ontario colored, 11; receipts 624 boxes.

Butter firm; fresh, 22; receipts 530 boxes.

LOSSES AHEAD AT MONTREAL

Irregular Trend; Int. Nickel Drops 15 Cents

MONTREAL, June 11 (CP).—An irregular trend prevailed among listings on the Montreal stock exchange during today's session.

Losses held a slight majority over gains. Bank of Toronto in one of its rare appearances declined 3½ points to 201. Dominion Coal pfd dropped 2¼ points at 87¾. Consolidated Smelters moved down a point at 152.

International Nickel sold off to 26.35 for a loss of 15 cents. C.P.R. eased ¼ at 15¼.

In the list of issues that moved into higher territory, building Products led the way with a full point advance to 22. Dominion Steel and Coal "B" gained ¼ at 4¼ and Foundation Company, Massey-Harris, Steel of Canada and B.C. Power "B" were also up small amounts.

Sales 8792 shares; bonds $6050.

WHEAT PRICES SHOW A GAIN

WINNIPEG, June 1 (CP).—After a slight display of easiness at the start, wheat prices turned upward on the Winnipeg grain exchange today and finished with gains of ¼ to ⅜ cents.

July wheat checked out at 78⅛, October at 80¾ and December at 81½ cents. Little export business in Canadian wheat was reported over the week-end. Grain traders feared that with any return to warm or hot weather, grasshoppers would quite offset the advantage of rains in many districts.

Chicago wheat closed about unchanged, while Liverpool, feeling the effect of increased world wheat shipments dropped ⅝ to ¾d.

Cash grains trading was slow. Coarse grains advanced.

Mines Are Steady on Toronto List

TORONTO, June 11 (CP).—The mining board of the Toronto stock exchange held better than the industrial shares today, price recessions showing in small figures at the close.

San Antonio rose 30 cents to 5.45. Cariboo Gold Quartz sagged 40 cents to 1.15. B.R.X., another B.C. issue, was off 5 to 1.05. Losses of 1 to 3 cents came out for Ventures, Sylvanite, McKenzie, God's Lake and Canadian Malartic.

Noranda gained 40 at 44.90.

Losses of 5 to 20 cents appeared for Dome, Hollinger, Bralorne, and teck Hughes and Pioneer added 10 cents. Hudson Bay was off 10.

Most of the silver shares closed unchanged, a gain of 12 cents to 2.37 for Eldorado being the only change of importance.

'PEG PAPER IN A RECORD TRIP

Free Press Reaches Grand Forks Same Day Printed

Mayor T. A. Love is no back bencher in aviation. He came from Grand Forks for a short visit, determined to demonstrate that Mayor Taylor, Reeve Grauer, Alderman Twiss and DeGraves, and a few other officials have nothing on him when it comes to flying. He further set out to prove last Sunday afternoon that Col. Rorison and John Noble couldn't slip anything over in learning to fly a light aircraft straight and level in 15 minutes of instruction. Oh, no! just to give them something to think about, he chose for his first lesson an aircraft usually reserved for advanced training. Let the other fellows who make so much noise about their prowess take the usual aircraft that students get started in—he'd take the Fairchild trainer. And so Wells School of Aeronautics launched the Mayor of Grand Forks in flying instruction. He wasn't up more than 10 or 12 minutes when he found himself with the stick in hand, with full responsibility for keeping the nose on the horizon and the wings level. Instructor Jack Wright thinks Mayor Love will make a good pilot. —B. C. Aviation Bulletin.

BRITISH TEXTILE BUSINESS BETTER

British Manufacturer Cannot Understand Colossal Tariff in Canada

VICTORIA, June 11 (CP)—"There is comparatively little difference in the wages paid in the textile trades of Canada and Great Britain and yet this country needs a colossal tariff in order to protect its industry. That is beyond my comprehension," Wallace N. Ormrod, director of Quilt Manufacturers, Ltd., Manchester, England, declared here today in an interview.

Mr. Ormrod is visiting Canada to discover if the textile trade here can be extended.

"The heavy tariffs have been a setback to us," he said, "but we are hopeful of obtaining more business in Canada."

Great Britain's textile industry, hard hit by Japanese competition and the Indian textile situation, is better now than it was in 1932, he said.

MORE ABOUT FIVE SLAIN

recently with Fazio, reported to be cousins, over the attentions the former allegedly paid to the grocer's wife or daughter. Fazio's dismembered body was found in the bathroom of his home. The lashed bodies of Mrs. Fazio and her son lay just outside the bathroom. The daughter and Mrs. Amistani were slain outside the home where they apparently encountered the killer after he had completed his bloody work inside.

Broad shouldered lumberjacks from the Sierra Nevada camps and ranches from the surrounding Honey Lake valley were among the crowds which passed by a Susanville photo studio where pictures of two of the mutilated corpses were displayed. Sullen muttering was heard but Sheriff J. B. Leavitt discounted reports concerning a possible lynching attempt.

TRAPPED IN HOME

Sheriff Leavitt said evidence indicated the slayer had first trapped Fazio in his home, plunged the weapon into him repeatedly and then dismembered his body in the bathtub. The wife and son were struck down as they attempted to investigate, Sheriff Leavitt said he believed.

Miss Fazio was visiting at Mrs. Amistani's nearby home when neighbors informed her they had heard screams from her parents' residence. The two women hurried to the Fazio home in Mrs. Amistani's automobile where the slayer met them as he rushed from the building, Sheriff Leavitt said. Mrs. Amistani's body was slumped in the car and Miss Fazio was slain a short distance away, apparently as she attempted to flee.

Orin Hawes, driving past the scene in his automobile, reported he heard screams and said the headlights of his machine revealed the killer in the act of slashing one of the women. Hawes drove to the sheriff's office to make a report instead of stopping.

Sheriff Leavitt said Alosi was arrested at the lumber mill where he is employed while attempting to wash bloodstains from his clothes.

Coroner David E. Edenholm announced an inquest will be held in the five deaths tomorrow at 10 a.m.

west corner of Yonge and Queen, Toronto, and now extends over the Dominion from the Atlantic to the Rocky mountains.

Chairman H. H. Stevens announced that the committee would investigate salaries and bonuses paid Eaton executives, the figures to remain private.

$4,730,000 IN DIVIDENDS

During the last nine years, the Eaton organization has paid dividends aggregating $4,730,000, an average of $525,555 a year. The estate of Sir John Eaton, son of the founder, received 88.90 per cent of the dividends, controlling that percentage of the stock.

The estate figured in the evidence today when it was shown it had profited to the extent of $12,000,000 in 1929 when one of the Eaton subsidiaries was formed, the T. Eaton Realty Company Limited. It holds the bulk of the Eaton retail properties in Toronto.

Winnipeg, Moncton, Hamilton, Saskatoon, Regina and Calgary. When it was formed, the assets first were sold to the estate, then to the new company. In the process, the assets were appreciated $16,000,000 and the estate came out with $12,000,000 in stock of the realty company upon which no dividends have been paid since.

BULK JUBILEE GIFT

In addition to dividends, the Eaton family received a bulk payment of $940,000 in 1929, the jubilee year of the organization. It went to direct descendents of Timothy Eaton and has not been repeated.

Some idea of the vast growth of the Eaton edifice may be judged from the following figures: sales, $22,428,000 in 1906; $225,053,000 in 1929 and $132,500,000 in 1933; payroll, $24,945,000 in 1933 with 25,736 employees; surplus account, $1,792,000 in 1926 and $7,108,000 in 1934; assets, $885,000 in 1891, $107,745,000 in 1931 and $100,035,000 in 1933.

At present it operates 13 large department stores, five mail order distributing depots; 32 small department stores; 72 groceterias; three creameries; 112 mail order offices; seven factories; four warehouses; nine buying offices throughout the world and 10 non-merchandising companies such as an insurance company, realty companies and a finance corporation. The Eaton organization had plain sailing financially from 1926 to 1931 when it encountered two years in the red but 1934 saw it making money again.

Between 1926 and 1931, net profits rose from $5,196,000 to a peak of $8,081,000 and slumped to $959,000. The net loss in 1932 was $2,454,000 and in 1933, $2,075,000. The net profit for the year ending last January was $878,000. The net profit for the year ending last January $878,000.

The figures for each year were before provision was made for depreciation or inventories.

PAID ITS OWN WAY

The greatest development came between 1927 and 1931 when lands, buildings and equipment rose in value from $24,861,000 to $66,679,000. In all its growth, there has been less than $13,000,000 in outside capital taken in, the company paying its own way as it grew. The share capital has remained $1,000,000 since before 1911.

Commenting on the general results of the organization, the committee auditor said: "It will be seen that the Toronto mail order, the Winnipeg store, Winnipeg mail order division, Winnipeg factory and Manchester Grey department (a small subsidiary), are the only units which have shown a profit in every year (from 1925 to 1934).

"The Toronto stores have shown losses for the last three years; the Toronto factory, losses for the last four years; operations of the Ontario groceterias have always resulted in a loss." His statement showed operating profits only in one year since 1929.

The head office of Eaton charge each merchandising department an annual rental and depreciation which increased sharply when the period of expansion was at its greatest between 1927 and 1931. Merchandising departments were assessed $700,000 in 1927 and $2,637,000 in 1931.

The College street store in Toronto, erected at a cost of nearly $12,600,000 on land that cost $4,225,800, has not paid the same rental rate as the other units. Paying only $47,000 last year. During the same years, sales have dropped with the net result that the lowered volume of sales must shoulder an increasing amount of rental.

MORE ABOUT PORT STRIKE

had passed a motion advocating a general strike and William J. Lewis, district president of the I.L.A., said he had received word from the east that Atlantic coast dock workers were ready to join in a sympathetic movement to support the walkout.

Mayor Angelo J. Rossi said that unless an agreement is reached within 48 hours he will call aconference of shippers and strike leaders. "It is rather mysterious to me," Mayor Rossi said, "that they can not come together and settle this.

SECRET COMMITTEE BUSY

Meanwhile a "secret committee of 60" was busy in San Francisco in efforts to reopen the port. Businessmen and civic leaders were said to be behind the plan to start goods piled high on the decks into commercial channels.

Lewis said he had heard of the proposed plan to reopen the port.

"They always say they are going to open the port on Monday—But they never say what Monday," he commented.

RYAN'S PROPOSAL

Ryan proposed to Seattle ship operators that to reopen all Pacific northwest ports to general shipping they grant union recognition, hire the workers at the old pre-strike scale, with wages finally to be agreed upon at the San Francisco mediation conference, and retroactive to the interim working period.

The question of whether the longshoremen or the employers will operate the hiring halls or employment agencies has proved a stumbling block to negotiations, Dr. Henry Grady, a member of President Roosevelt's mediation board, declared.

HOPES FOR SUCCESS

Dr. Grady, who said "peace negotiations hold to immediate prospects of success," was enroute to Washington, D. C., to report the deadlock.

The strikers' committee pointed to the Toledo strike, saying, "it was only by a threat of a general strike, when 90 out of 125 labor unions voted for a general strike, that the workers in the great Toledo strike won their demand for a closed ship."

"Over 200 vessels are tied up on the coast and Conservative figures show there are over 8000 men out on strike in San Francisco port alone, pulling together in a mighty effort the results of which will undoubtedly decide the future of labor in this country," continued the statement, which was sent to all labor organizations here.

Mr. Motherwell Says There'll Be Trouble If Query Not Answered

OTTAWA, June 11 (CP).—With the statement that a return tabled in answer to his request for information about the export wheat and flour situation to China, was "as hollow as a drum and as informative as the dodo," Hon. W. R. Motherwell (Lib.-Melville) demanded further details from the government in the house of commons today.

He was elaborating on the point when Mr. Speaker George Black objected that he was not in order in discussing the matter.

"All right, but I want that return right away or there'll be trouble," warned Mr. Motherwell.
