GORDON FAWCETT AGAIN IN JAIL

Were Two of Party of Five Who Escaped From Oakalla in January

VANCOUVER, March 27 (CP)—Detective David Maxwell of the Burnaby police force is in hospital in a critical condition after being shot four times last night by a man who escaped but who, according to his own statement earlier and according to several persons who saw him, was William Bagley, notorious bank bandit. The shooting occurred when Maxwell attempted to question him.

Three hours earlier Gordon Fawcett, who with Bagley were the only two of five convicts at liberty following their escape in a daring break from Oakalla jail here on January 2, was arrested by provincial police as he was about to step into a stolen game warden's car, which he had filled with ammunition, guns and food. The car was operated by Game Warden Warren Cameron who was held up by Bagley and Fawcett between New Westminster and Vancouver. While Bagley stood guard over Cameron in the bush near Burnaby, Fawcett proceeded to Vancouver where he loaded the car with 400 rounds of ammunition, a revolver, automatic pistol, rifle, nitro-glycerine "soup" such as used in safe breaking, and a brace and bit.

300 UNEMPLOYED PROTEST RATE OF WAGES, ASHCROFT

Declare $7.50 Per Month Will Not Clothe Them; Are Quiet

ASHCROFT, B.C., March 27.—Unemployed men numbering nearly 300 from adjacent government relief camps, are making Ashcroft their headquarters over the week-end, as an active protest against recent instruction issued by provincial government for road work to be paid for at the rate of $7.50 monthly with board. This offer was refused by the men, who claimed they could not clothe themselves on this allowance. Instructions were then issued to produce meals, for non-workers to two a day. This is the real cause of the walk-out, and by concentrating at Ashcroft, which is the most central point where government offices are located, outside of municipal boundaries, the men feel the government will give the a quick hearing.

Since Friday they have been given two meals daily by local hotels, by police instructions, and, it is understood, this arrangement will be continued till Tuesday next, and it is then hoped something of a definite nature will be done to overcome the situation.

It is expected the unemployed ranks will be augmented tomorrow by several hundred from the Big Bend country near Revelstoke.

New Agreemen With New Zealand Expected Announced This Week

TORONTO, Ont., March 28, (Monday) (CP)—A special despatch from its Ottawa correspondent to the Toronto Globe today says: Canada's new trade agreement with New Zealand will be announced this week, probably as part of the budget speech to be delivered by the minister of finance (E. N. Rhodes) on Thursday next. The report that a snag has been struck with regard to New Zealand butter is officially denied. The rate of duty on butter entering Canada will be 5 cents per pound, the same as the duty on Australian butter, which is considered ample protection for Canadian producers, especially as Canada is now on an export basis."

SIX KILLED AS TORNADOES HIT ALABAMA AGAIN

Winds Fiend Heads Into Georgia; Undetermined Number Injured

MONTGOMERY, Ala., March 27.—Leaving six persons dead in Alabama, a series of tornadoes tonight blew into western Georgia and turned northeastward across that state to bring injury to an undetermined number, and heavy property loss.

It was the second series of twisters to strike these two states within a week. Last Monday's tornadoes also entered Tennessee and the deaths numbered more than 350.

Lashing into Georgia at two points, a county apart, the tornadoes left Mrs. Harvey Lewis dying at Buchanan, injured six other persons, and bowled over 20 houses.

At Corinth, Ga., south of Buchanan, nine persons were injured and seven homes destroyed.

A severe storm was reported to be raging in the vicinity of Cartersville, a focal point for relief operations from last week's tornadoes.

LAWLEY HARDEST HIT

Lawley, with four dead, was the hardest hit of the Alabama towns. The dead there were:

Perry Hicks.
Walker Lawrence.
Austin Laurence, aged 2.
Jane Green, aged 88.

The other two deaths were at Pleasant Grove, where the storm killed G. M. Tubbs, 60, a farmer, and a Mr. Pate.

Communications were disrupted throughout the storm area, and efforts to obtain a check of the injured and property damage were difficult.

Reports here showed today's tornadoes followed virtually the same course taken by last week's twisters.

Edmonton Indigent Killed Under Wheels of City Street Car

EDMONTON, March 27. — James Reid, 68, was killed here last night when struck by a street car after he had fallen on the rails. Reid, who was receiving city relief, was dead when extricated from beneath the tram trucks.

Dennis Rankin, the motorman in charge of the street car, informed police Reid was lying on the tracks eight feet away from the car when he saw him. Reverse power in the tram failed to stop it before Reid was struck.

An inquest has been ordered for Tuesday night.

LIGHT FINGERED AGENTS TAKE ALL BUT SHORE FRONT

HAMILTON, Ont., March 27 (CP)—Now and then such unwieldy things as iron safes, pianos, etc., are stolen, but all records were broken Saturday when the city suddenly realized that missing from its possessions were one freight shed and one harbor dock. Sometime ago the city purchased from the Canadian Steamship Lines the passenger and freight terminal located at the foot of James street.

The large buildings were fairly modern and the dock in excellent condition, big enough to accommodate lake passenger steamers. A visit to the spot today shows that not only has the building disappeared, but the dock itself has been removed. Some of the massive piles have been sawed off at the water level. Ambitious builders of chicken houses, persons short of fuel, etc., are suspected.

BRITAIN EXPECTED TO RETIRE BILLS IN U. S. AND FRANCE

Decision Is Reached in Absence of Notification From Britain

NEW YORK, March 27—The New York Herald Tribune today publishes the following:

The British treasury will pay off the $30,000,000 of its bills falling due in this market on Tuesday, rather than renew them, local bankers expect. Up to yesterday no indication had come from London that Britain would seek to have the maturing bills extended, and in the absence of this notification United States bankers naturally assume that the bills will be retired.

After this repayment there will remain unpaid only $20,000,000 of the $200,000,000 private banking credit obtained last August from a syndicate of 110 United States banks. Remaining $20,000,000 portion falls due on April 5 and it is regarded as certain that these bills, too, will be paid off.

"It is assumed here that the British treasury is also retiring the remaining $35,000,000 of the French banking credit. Early this month, at the time of the $100,000,000 repayment in this market, Britain repaid $65,000,000 of its credit with French banking institutions. It will be impossible, however, for Britain to repay all of the French credit, which originally amounted to $200,000,000, because $100,000,000 is in the form of one-year bills sold to the public. These bills do not mature until next August."

JAPANESE MAY RETIRE FROM GENEVA LEAGUE

Decision to Withhold Sino-Japanese Statement Would Effect It

EFFORT FORESTALL MANCHURIAN MOVE

Deemed Unlikely Japanese Delegation Would Attend Next Session

TOKYO, March 28 (Monday (AP) —(By Glenn Babb, Associated Press staff correspondent)—It was learned on good authority today that Japan has decided to refuse to give the League of Nations a statement of her case in the Sino-Japanese dispute—a decision which eventually may lead to Japanese withdrawal from the league.

This decision of the government means that Japan will decline to give Sir Eric Drummond, secretary-general of the league, statements called for under paragraph 2 of article XV of the league covenant.

Well informed quarters believed this was the first step in a series of Japanese refusals to participate in the league's effort to apply article XV to the Manchurian incident.

His decision also confirmed an Associated Press dispatch of February 6 in which it was stated that Japan would resist application of article XV, even to the extent of withdrawing from the league, and that Japan would decline to submit a statement of her case.

SUBMITS TO ARBITRATION

Article XV, paragraph 1, provides that if a dispute between members is not submitted to arbitration or judicial settlement under article XIII, that any member in the dispute may submit it to the council for investigation.

Paragraph 2 says: For this purpose the parties to the dispute will communicate to the secretary-general as promptly as possible, statements of their case with all the relevent facts and papers, and the council may forthwith direct the publication thereof.

It also became known on good authority that it was highly unlikely that the Japanese delegation would attend the next session of the League of Nations assembly.

Nude Appearances at Thrums Again

Further nude appearances of Doukhobors before the train crew and passengers of the westbound Trail local, on Friday and Saturday morning at Thrums, are reported by members of the train crew.

Four women and one man are said to have shown themselves disrobed as the train was passing the property of the Sons of Freedom. Among the women was the amazon known colloquially as "Old Bottle-nose," who also figured in a couple of nude appearances at the same point two or three weeks ago.

It is the habit of these fanatics to disrobe for the passing of the train, and then resume their clothes again.

Treasure Hunters Reach Desination

VANCOUVER, B.C., March 27. (CP) — Col. Jack Leckie's Cocos Island treasure hunt party reached its destination last Saturday, according to word received by J. J. Turgeon, Vancouver representative of the exploration syndicate. The expedition sailed from here recently.

The Costa Rican government has given a lease to Col. Leckie's party to search for treasure and will take a percentage of any found. Terms of the lease called for the party to take to Cocos Island several soldiers and other representatives of the government who will see that the terms of the lease are carried out.

$50,000 FIRE DAMAGE IN BUSINESS BLOCK IN NOVA SCOTIA

YARMOUTH, N.S., March 27.—Fire early today caused damage estimated at $50,000 in the business district of this town, and was the indirect cause of one death. Rain aiding firemen in preventing spread of the blaze.

George Langtry, 55, formerly editor of the Yarmouth Herald-Telegram and correspondent of several eastern papers, died later in the day. He had become exhausted and collapsed as one of a volunteer force aiding the town fire department.

INDEPENDENT LABOR MEMBERS BACK IRISH MOVE

BOY CUTS POWER LINE WITH KITE

SPOKANE, Wash., March 27 (AP) —"Benjamin Franklin, Jr.," cut power lines to Spokane yesterday, caused a runaway, and was nearly killed by a 60,000 volt electric current.

Lawrence Schmidt, 15, was experimenting with his kite. A wire line, he decided, would get results. It did. A gust of wind crashed the kite, dropping the metal wire across the 60,000 volt power line of the Washington Water Power company. Three lines went down with a blast and a flash and as they did the wind jerked his kite line from the boy's hands, saving his life, electricians said. A horse plowing in nearby fields became frightened and tore off, digging a furrow as has not been seen by farmers in these parts for many a year.

PARTIES MUST CONCEDE FOR PEACE IN CHINA

At Present Outlook Peace Negotiations Appear Doomed

SHANGHAI, March 28 (Monday) (AP) (By Morris J. Harris, Associated Press staff correspondent)—As Sino-Japanese armistice negotiators foregathered today, it became more and more apparent that either China or Japan or both would have to make concessions if Shanghai is to have peace soon.

The fly in the ointment still was the withdrawal of Japanese troops from the Shanghai zone and the method of carrying out this retreat.

It was understood that military sub-committee of the peace conference would present suggestions today for Japanese withdrawal. The conditions were not divulged.

Japanese members of the military group indpendently stated, however, that any suggestion that the Japanese give up their positions west of Chapei and north of Woosung would fall on deaf Japanese ears.

JAPAN MUST GIVE UP TERRITORY

The Chinese military delegates said that unless Japan was willing to give up occupied Chinese territory the conference was doomed to failure.

These were all the official facts, and they seemed to dove-tail with military activity of the Japanese along their Chapei-Woosung defence line.

Unofficially, however, there were optimistic reports in circulation. These said the Japanese had decided to curtail their demands for independent occupation of Chinese territory adjacent to Shanghai.

Hospital Convalescent Found Mutiliated Near C. P. Railway Tracks

PORT ARTHUR, Ont., March 27.—A body, horribly mutilated, found Thursday morning on the rails of the Canadian Pacific railway near McKenzie has been identified as Bernard Ballantyne, about 36 years of age, who was a patient in St. Joseph's hospital from September 19, 1931, with a fractured arm and ribs, injuries received when he was struck by a train near Schreiber. Convalescent, he left the hospital Wednesday morning without notifying nurses or officials.

ARMY STATES DROPPING OATH IS NOT ENOUGH

Irish Soldiers Demand Complete Severance From Britain

UPRISING IN 1916 IS COMMEMORATED

Other Illegal Organizations Agree; "Britain Only Enemy"

DUBLIN, March 27 (AP) (By Edward Stanley, Associated Press staff writer)—Irish Republicans carried out celebrations today by meetings and processions in commemoration of the Easter uprising of 1916.

Members of the Irish Republican army and other technically illegal organizations spoke from many platforms and informed Eamon de Valera, new president of the Irish Free State, either directly or by implication, that even abolishing the oath of allegiance to the King would not satisfy their demand for complete severance of ties from Great Britain.

Those who took part in the demonstrations were unarmed and no disorders were reported. The regular uniformed army of the Free State was confined to barracks.

The men of the Irish Republican army marched silently in Dublin.

At the grave of the marchers' comrades who fell 16 years ago, Moss Towney, member of the Irish Republican army council, declared the army's resolve to set up a republic and set aside the Anglo-Irish treaty.

At Cavan, a half-mile of Republicans marched to hear a speech by Madam Maude Gonne McBride, the "Irish Joan of Arc," who applauded de Valera's stand "against England, our only enemy in the world."

OFFICIALS REFUSE COMMENT ON ST. LAWRENCE TREATY

Informed Officials Believe Co-operation in Canada Needed

WASHINGTON, D. C., March 27 (By Ken Clark, Canadian Press staff correspondent).—No official would comment after the conference at the state department on Saturday between Canadian and United States negotiators in the matter of the St. Lawrence treaty.

It was believed, however, that W. D. Herridge, the Canadian minister, had communicated to Assistant Secretary of State James Rogers his view of the state of affairs in Canada, where he recently attended conferences between federal and provincial authorities.

Informed officials here understand the position in this country as between Washington and Albany is such that work upon a treaty can be begun as soon as similar co-operation is established in Canada.

The Canadian minister and Hanford MacNider, the United States minister, returned to Ottawa tonight.

Saturday's conference was attended by the assistant secretary, both ministers, Hume Wrong, counsellor of the Canadian legation, and John Hickerson, in charge of Canadian affairs at the state department.

Curtis Believes Negotiations in Lindbergh Baby Kidnapping Case to Be in Their Semi-Final Stages

NORFOLK, Va., March 27 (By Frank E. Taylor, Associated Press staff writer)—John H. Curtis announced tonight that Norfolk citizens seeking to recover the Lindbergh baby believe their negotiations are in their "semi-final stage" and will see Colonel Lindbergh, personally tomorrow.

Mr. Curtis did not indicate at the conference where the meeting would take place, but the Virginian-pilot quoted him as saying "we are going up there" when asked if the Norfolk citizens would go to see Colonel Lindbergh or if the colonel would come to Norfolk.

The announcement was made upon Mr. Curtis' return from a mysterious airplane trip for the purpose of meeting the child's abductors or "go betweens."

Previously Curtis had said he was much encouraged over the results of his "visit," but declined to say where he had been or what had been done.

The Norfolk shipbuilder said he had slipped away secretly Saturday morning to avoid publicity. He declined to say whether he actually had made contact with representatives of the kidnappers who approached him March 9.

Neither the Rev. H. Dobson-Peacock, former Canadian rector, nor Rear Admiral Guy H. Dobson-Peacock other Norfolk citizens would comment on his trip.

DESOLATE EASTER

HOPEWELL, N. J., March 27—It was a desolate Easter in the Lindbergh home on Sourland mountain, and one of the quietest days the household has seen since the kidnapping March 1 of Charles Augustus Lindbergh Jr.

Charles and Anne Lindbergh spent the day in their continued seclusion, with Mrs. Dwight Morrow, Mrs. Lindbergh's mother, and Col. and Mrs. Henry Breckenridge the only other members now of the immediate household.

None of them left the estate and for the first day since the baby was seized from his crib there were no callers. But messengers made nearly 50 deliveries of flowers and plants from sympathizing friends.

FIVE TRAPPED IN FLAMES OF BURNING HOUSE

Father Saves Child by Dropping Him From Window

PLINTON, Ont., March 27 (CP) —Five persons—two women and three children—were burned to death here today when fire destroyed a small general store tenement house in the early hours of the morning.

The dead are:

Mrs. Almeta Beckwith, 82, owner of the store.
Mrs. Neil Cassabo, 32.
Raymond Cassabo, 8.
Elmer Cassabo, 6.
Rudolph Cassabo, 2.

Neil Cassabo, the husband and father, saved Ralph, his four-year-old son, by throwing him from a window as he rushed upstairs after a futile effort to rescue Mrs. Beckwith, whose screams from the ground floor had aroused him from his sleep.

As Cassabo burst into Mrs. Beckwith's store and attempted to make his way to the apartment of the aged woman, he was met by a wall of flames which barred his progress. He ran outside to find the fire had spread from the store to his own home and that his family was in peril. He heard his wife scream for help and attempted to force his way upstairs through flames and dense smoke but was unable to gain the

Ends Break-Neck Race Through Streets of Toronto After Stolen Car

TORONTO, March 27 (CP)—Pursuit of a stolen automobile at break-neck pace through down-town Toronto streets tonight ended in the death of Albert Heward, 18, and the arrest of Arthur Thurston, 17. Two other youths in the car escaped.

Heward was shot in an interchange of bullets between the quartette and Motorcycle Constable Peter Thornton. Constable Thornton said he recognized the car as a stolen one, and gave chase when the driver ignored his order to stop.

After a wild dash through city streets, the car turned into a narrow lane. Its occupants fired on him, Thornton alleges. After firing in the air, he returned their fire, he said.

Then the car swerved and crashed into a barricade, three youths leaped out. The policeman seized Thurston, while two fled on foot, Heward lay in the car.

Police tonight were combing the city for the other pair.

ISSUE IS FAR-REACHING IN IMPORTANCE

ILDERTON, Ont., March 27 (CP). —Ian MacKenzie, Liberal member of the house of commons for Vancouver Centre, last night told an audience here the action of the Dominion government in asking parliament to yield to "a secret cabal of 17 ministers," the powers which had been secured after centuries of effort in Great Britain presented a constitutional issue of far-reaching importance.

Doukhobors Shut Off at Intake and Repair Line Again

BOMB ON GRADER FAILS TO GO OFF

Fuse Burns Up to a Knot, and Then Stops; Both Early Saturday

A dynamiting of the irrigation pipe-line of the Christian Community of Universal Brotherhood conveying water from Pass creek to Brilliant, and an attempted dynamiting of a $4000 combined tractor-grader belonging to the provincial department of public works, parked in the Thrums area, were recorded early Saturday morning, both outrages being assumed to be of Doukhobor origin.

The blast that cut the wood-stave pipe-line, just where it crosses under the Canadian Pacific tracks at Castlegar, was set off between midnight Friday and 1 a. m. It was reported to the provincial police here from various points, but it was a couple of hours before anyone could give the police a definite location.

CANADIAN TRADE SHOULD BE AIDED BY CONFERENCE

Present Trend Will Be Hastened States H. H. Stevens

OTTAWA, March 27 (CP).—The present successful trend of Canadian trade will be heartened by the approaching Imperial economic conference in Ottawa. This is the anticipation of H. H. Stevens, minister of trade and commerce, in a statement made public over the week-end. The statement concludes:

"The approaching Imperial economic conference is pointing the way to us. We have the thrilling example before us of the vitality of the British people, illustrated by the United Kingdom herself. Great Britain will soon be in a position to resume her old status of international leadership in world finance. We ourselves have regained our last position as the fifth greatest exporting country of the world, and I anticipate that the present successful trend of our trade will be hastened by the great Ottawa conference."

The minister marshals figures to show Canadians as a result of the "produced in Canada" campaign increased consumption of Canadian farm products. Also, efforts to increase consumption of Canadian goods in the British market were satisfactory.

CONSUMING OWN MEATS

"During the 11 months of the fiscal year 1929-30," says the statement, "Canada, as in the past, had done heavy buying of meats in other countries for home consumption. In the 11 months of the present fiscal year, which will end this month, we have bought comparatively little. Canadians have become consumers of their own meats for the most part, and have found them just as good as the best that any other country has to offer.

Turning to the exports of animal products to the United Kingdom:

"To carry out continuity, take animal products exported to the United Kingdom alone in the 11-month periods of the last three fiscal years. It is impossible in all cases to give volume, but the values themselves indicate the trend. In 1929-30 the export of animal products to Great Britain was valued at $38,486,000; in 1930-31 it was $27,015,000, and in 1931-32, ending with February, it rose again to $30,221,000."

THIRD GAME OF N. H. L. SERIES IS RANGERS WIN

Leg-Weary Team Battle to 1-0 Result in Third Playoff

PETE LEPINE BREAKS LEG

Hainsworth Saves Canadiens From Worse Defeat; Heller Scores

MADISON SQUARE GARDEN, New York, N.Y., March 27. (By W. R. Wheatley, Canadian Press staff writer.)—New York Rangers outlasted Canadiens of Montreal in the third game of their play-off series tonight and the weakened Montrealers were shut out by Ott Heller's single handed goal in the second period.

The Rangers went one up on the world champions in the play-off for the National Hockey league and for continuance in the playdowns for the Stanley cup. The New Yorkers now hold two games to Canadiens one, and need win only on Tuesday night to take the series and title. Should a fifth game be necessary it will be played here Thursday night.

Two hockey-weary and train-fagged teams fought it out in this third and all-important game of the series. Canadiens, weakened by injuries, failed to show much of the dashing attack tonight, with George Hainsworth in goal saving them from a worse defeat. The Canadiens goalie was called on for 35 saves as against 24 for John Ross Roach, most of whose trying moments were not fraught with the goal possibilities that concerned Hainsworth.

LEPINE BREAKS LEG

Without the services of Aurel Joliat, brilliant little left winger, who is nursing an injured leg, and losing Pete Lepine in the third period for the rest of the series, Canadiens found themselves hardpressed throughout. It was announced soon after Lepine was carried from the ice that he suffered a broken leg.

There was fast and slow hockey served up in tonight's game with dull moments holding the edge. Cautious play in the first period, with each watching the other and taking few chances, gave way to a dash of Ranger speed in the second. The period was scarcely two minutes old when Ott Heller, latest defence acquisition to the Rangers, soloed easily straight down through centre ice, swung quickly around Sylvia Mantha, and whaled a drive that gave Hainsworth little chance as George Mantha rushed in to check the attempt.

The third period action faded to a walk and the customers with well-timed handclapping, called for speed. There were bursts of it as the tiring and leg weary Canadiens threw five men to the fore and hammered unsuccessfully at the stinging Ranger defence. Occasionally a New Yorker would break lose, chased by the entire Canadien team, and on many of those excursions Hainsworth alone saved the situation.

BUILD FOR LIFE ETERNAL, EASTER MESSAGE, TRINITY

Numbers From Oratorio 'Messiah' Feature Special Evening Music

Urging men and women to do their life's work with a thought that it was to serve for eternity rather than for an earthly sojourn, Rev. W. C. Mawhinney gave an Easter message at the evening service in Trinity church Sunday. Featuring the Easter worship was the music of the members of a choir which delighted a large audience Friday night in the presentation of the oratorio, "Messiah."

Mr. Mawhinney in his sermon, "The Easter Story," stated that as the number of Easter seasons grew, the people were becoming more attuned to worship. The Easter story was to be interpreted as one of seriousness, yet one of gladness, and one that would illumine a darkened world.

"Live carefully, and live with a thought of eternity. Produce efforts of quality, for only quality can subsist indefinitely. Those are the credentials of life," Mr. Mawhinney said.

LIKENS MAN TO BUTTERFLY

In outlining the subject of eternal life, the speaker compared man with the stages of butterfly, stating that man must not be content in his present level, but like the butterfly, which outgrows a grub stage, he must seek the highest and most illumined plane of life.

"I have come that thou might have life and life more abundant," quoted the minister. If man was to have the life abundant, he must sacrifice worldly things, he said.

In closing Mr. Mawhinney enjoined: "Think immortal thoughts, for as we think of immortality, we shall live eternal."

A special program of music in keeping with the Easter observance included a vocal solo "He Was Despised," was rendered by Mrs. Haggarty, and "Oh Galilee," a vocal duet by Miss Grace May and Miss Enid Etter. Choir numbers were "Surely He Hath Born Our Griefs," and "Hallelujah."

The church was decorated with Easter lillies, cut daffodils and other seasonal blooms.

Right of Way: Something you always have over the fellow in the car driving the other car.

Full stop: Slowing down to 28 miles an hour at an arterial sign.

Hospital Zone: A section of street to be traversed very slowly, as there might be a pretty nurse waiting for a street car.

Traffic Jam: A Sunday ceremonial staged by motorists who aren't going anywhere and decide to make U turns as soon as they get there.

New York's First Aerial Commuter

Kidnapping May Shatter Eagle's Dreams for Future of His Country Retreat

HOPEWELL, N. J., March 27.—One of the pathetic things about the Lindbergh kidnapping is the way it has shattered the publicity-shy Lindberghs' dream of a retreat, a haven from the merciless spotlight.

The searching investigation into the kidnapping has revealed what plans they had; plans that now may never come true.

High up on Sourland mountain, away from the world, they set their home. Soon Lindbergh would have been the first aerial commuter. Soon he would have had all the advantages of real country life with New York not much more than half an hour away by air.

LIKE EVERY MAN'S DREAM

He would have lived with his wife and baby and a few servants far from the noise and heat and crowds of cities. Evenings, with his shirt collar open, he would sit on the porch of the clean, white Normandy-type house and look out across the panorama of Jersey landscape that stretches away to the south.

His plan was this: Early this summer the private landing field adjoining his home was to be finished. From it he would take off in his fast plane in the morning for the Newark airport or Floyd Bennett field, and would then reach Manhattan quickly. Business would occupy his day. At night he would fly back.

This is why the rutted, muddy roads from Hopewell to his home were never improved. That is why he endured being bounced over bumpy, stony roadbeds in an automobile during the many trips he has made to and from his home.

WORKED ON AIR FIELD HIMSELF

Just before the baby was kidnapped he had planned enthusiastically to finish his private air field. During the winter little work had been done, but with spring around the corner he expected to hire a large force of men and machines. The day before the kidnapping, dressed in old clothes, he was outside looking over the uncompleted flying field, which is so laid out that a plane could take off against the prevailing westerly winds.

Often he worked on it himself, setting stake markers and making suggestions to surveyors. He enjoyed that because he could wear old clothes. Lindbergh never liked starched shirts.

His interest in the flying field kept him at home. He seldom drove to Hopewell, and if he did it was to buy gasoline or other supplies. Residents of the village saw him occasionally, nodded respectfully and said "Morning, Colonel."

He almost never stopped to chat, for his shy nature make it impossible for him to converse with people he doesn't know well. Besides, since the home was started he has been so interested in making his dream come true, that he has had opportunity for little else.

His wife, imaginative, highly-appreciative of beauty, has been as enthusiastic as he about the entire project. They had planned a specially-constructed fence to be placed on the porch so that baby Lindy could play there and learn to love the Jersey countryside as he grew into a boy.

Back of the house is a wide yard, soon to have been a playground for little Lindy. Colonel Lindbergh expected to bring in toys, playground apparatus.

Now it may be only a dream. For the crib on the second floor is empty.

EASTER SERMON ON AFTER LIFE BY ARCHDEACON

Resurrection Marvel Changed Viewpoint; Growth in Paradise

"Of whom the greater part remain unto this present, but some are fallen asleep," language used by St. Paul with reference to the "above 500 brethren" to whom Christ appeared at one time after His resurrection, provided Ven. Archdeacon Fred H. Graham with the theme for an Easter night discourse Sunday on the beautiful life after death.

The word used by St. Paul to describe the state of the 500 still living when he wrote, and translated "remain," was the same word used by Christ and translated "tarry," when He said, "I will that he tarry till I come."

REALIZATION

This showed, the preacher pointed out, the wonderful change in viewpoint wrought on Christ's followers by the marvel of His resurrection. While it had been foretold to them, while all had the belief in His divinity theoretically, their personal knowledge of His resurrection suddenly gave them a vivid and personal realization that they had not had before, and their thought was thereafter toward the future blessed state with Him. They had a new consciousness, a new attitude, they were men to whom this world was no longer all. They had suddenly gained new horizons of life.

In days of perplexity, days when the wise men of the world could not see ways through the problems afflicting civilization, those who had this personal vision of the living Christ bore themselves with a calmness, a serenity, a confidence that others did not know.

Possession of this confidence in the ultimate future did not mean that those with this vision would work less hard; rather would they work harder, using their talents to greater effect, discharging more earnestly the duties laid on them, and accepting the humblest duties with the dignity that should apply to all the Lord's work.

AN IMMENSE RESTFULNESS

Referring to the reference by Paul to some that had fallen asleep, the speaker declared their state was one of great repose, but assuredly not one of idleness. It was an immense restfulness after the fever of the earthly life, perhaps they were commissioned to some special work in the spiritual realm, but whatever their occupation, it did not savor of toil, but contained a great content.

While ordinarily sleep was a parenthesis between moments of waking, those who slept in Christ were not in a state of unconsciousness. If that were so, Christ's words to the thief on the cross, "This day shalt thou be with Me in Paradise," would be meaningless. Those there were in a resting place, but there was progress, a deeper expectancy, a continual growth, maybe definite occupation. There was a flowering, fruiting; there was a beauty and glory.

FUTURE GLORY

From Paul those who had loved ones over there could gather that all that had been estimable in those loved ones—character, mentality, perhaps even physical lineaments—refined and beautified, was persisting.

"Every memorial flower in this sanctuary tonight," said he, pointing to the many lilies and flowers, "tells us of this future glory that will be for the amazement and delight of God's children."

NELSON HAS RAIN AND STIFF BREEZE

Nelson's Easter Sunday paraders came through untouched by rain—but only by a few hours.

A stiff breeze prevailed all day and the sun played peek-a-boo behind darkening clouds but the rain held off until after dark, when a steady drizzle held sway.

POLICEMAN SHOT IN GUN DUEL

About 11 o'clock last night Bagley, who had appropriated Cameron's provincial police badge, walked into a store in North Burnaby and asked to be driven a distance along the highway. His intention apparently was to entice the driver, R. Chesney, into the bush and after binding him, take his car. The ruse failed, however, when Chesney refused to enter the bush. Bagley then asked to be driven back to Vancouver. In the meantime Harry Royal who was at the store when Bagley arrived, became suspicious and telephoned to police headquarters. Detective Maxwell went to the scene. With Royal, Maxwell picked up the trail of Chesney and Bagley and finally forced their car to the curb. Jumping out Bagley ran to the police car, ordering Royal and Maxwell out. Royal made a dash for cover. Bagley fired but missed and turned back to the car in which he had been riding with Chesney. Maxwell followed him but Bagley turned and emptied his gun at the officer, four bullets taking effect, three in his chest and one in the abdomen. Bagley then ordered Chesney to drive him away and when the latter refused the bandit again pulled the trigger but the gun was empty. Bagley then jumped into Royal's car and fled. Maxwell fired after the fleeing car, hitting it four times but was unable to say whether any of the shots had touched Babley.

The car in which Bagley made his escape was picked up about 2:45 o'clock this morning in Vancouver where it had been abandoned. About four hours later a guard at Oakalla while on his way to the prison, reported having seen a man whom he identified as Bagley, driving past him. Police renewed their search of the Burnaby lake district but no more has been heard of the fugitive.

Detective Maxwell underwent an operation for the removal of the bullet lodged in his abdomen today and was given a blood transfusion but little hope is held for his recovery.

When Bagley escaped from Oakalla he was awaiting an appeal of his conviction of 14 years and 15 lashes for participation in the Harrison Hot Springs hotel holdup in April last year. Since his escape he had been sought unsuccessfully in all parts of British Columbia and the state of Washington. Fawcett had been sentenced to serve three years for complicity in an attempted holdup of a branch of the Bank of Montreal here last fall. The other three convicts who escaped in the jail break, Frank Sorge, William Lane and Norman Moore, were all picked up within a week of their escape.

about 2500—gathered on St. Stephen's green and marched through the city to Glasnevin cemetery. They were without uniforms, but were well drilled.

Perhaps half of Dublin's half million population lined the streets to see the marchers. They watched in silence that was interrupted only by a few scattered cheers.

At the graversides, the Last Post was blown, the Republican constitution of 1916 was read and Moss Towney said:

"There is no question of honor since the treaty was signed under the force of a threat of war."

He referred to the Anglo-Irish treaty of 1921, which ended the strife between Ireland and Great Britain and set up the Irish Free State.

"The treaty must go, lock, stock and barrel," he shouted.

"The need for the Irish Republican army will exist while Ireland is an Empire."

After the speech the parade marched back to the tune of "The Double Eagle," and dispersed.

EASTER SUNDAY IS OBSERVED BY TRAIL CHURCHES

Special Music Feature of All Services; Holy Communion Celebrated

TRAIL, B. C., March 27.—Observance of Easter Sunday distinguished services of Trail churches today.

St. Francis Xavier celebrated four masses, and special music was featured by both the junior and the senior choirs.

Special music marked East Trail United services, Rev. Francis H. Stevens speaking on "Easter Thoughts," in the morning, and in the evening, "The Resurrection."

"The Resurrection Power Today," the topic of the morning sermon delivered by Rev. Frederick St. Denis, and "I Am Alive," in the evening, featured services of the First Presbyterian church. The senior choir gave special music in the evening.

CHILDREN TAKE PART

At the First Baptist church, children of the Sunday school presented recitations, dialogues and songs during the morning service. A song service was held in the evening, at which Rev. W. F. Price gave a sermon entitled "Easter Gladness."

"Easter Light" and "Idle Tales" were Rev. Bryce H. Wallace's chosen subjects at morning and evening services at Knox United church. The anthem, "And the Glory of the Lord," by Handel, was given at the evening service, and solos were also sung.

The Lord's Supper was observed after each service.

Holy communion was celebrated early in the morning and after each service at St. Andrew's church, Rev. Leonard A. Morrant officiating. Here also special Easter music and sermons were given.

room where his wife and the three children were trapped.

DROPS CHILD FROM WINDOW

At that moment he noticed his son Ralph who had followed him downstairs when the first alarm took him to the store. He picked the child up and dropped him from a window, then fought his way through the smoke to the open air. The child was unhurt by his fall to the ground.

Neighbors, aroused by the commotion, tried vainly to quell the flames and to assist in the rescue of those caught in the burning building.

The combined store and dwelling was burned to the ground. Damage to property amounted to $4000. Cause of the blaze has not been determined

UNABLE TO GET THROUGH

Cassabo later said when he found himself unable to get through the smoke in his own apartment he attempted to shout instructions to his wife to make her exit through the window and to toss the children out before her. She continued screaming for aid, however, and apparently was unable to hear him above the sound of the flames and her own voice.

Inhabitants of the village took the charred bodies of the victims to their homes where an inquest was held today by Dr. H. R. Stratton, Napanee, district coroner. The jury returned a verdict of accidental death.

The funeral of the victims will be held tomorrow.

Flinton is a small village 50 miles north of Napanee.

An angler inquired from his gillie if there were many fish in a certain river.

"If you were to boil the water you take out of it," said the gillie, "you'd be getting the taste of salmon in your tea."

Bird Species Are Arriving Rapidly

Bird species continue to arrive as spring advances, and Sunday mountain bluebirds, Shufeldt juncos, and black-capped chickadees were noticed on the Silver King road. Robins were extremely numerous, literally hundreds being observed. Red-shafted flickers, which were noticed some time ago, are also widely distributed now.

This irrigation system was constructed about 20 years ago, and serves the fertile flat extending from Castlegar to Brilliant.

In the case of the attempt to destroy the valuable government power-grader, which was parked for the night in one of the gravel pits between Thrums and Brilliant, failure of the fuse to perform its intended function was all that saved the machine.

When A. W. Jeffries, the man in charge of the machine, examined it Saturday morning preparatory to starting to work, he found on the gas tank a contraption that was obviously a home-made bomb.

DYNAMITE IN BOTTLE

This, when examined by Corporal C. G. Barber, of the provincial police, who was already on the ground in connection with the Castlegar bombing, was found to consist of three or four sticks of dynamite in a quart bottle, with cap and fuse. There was originally about 12 feet of fuse, and the fuse burned until it came to a string knotted about it to hold it to the cap and the explosive.

Nothing was wrong with the grader, and it was put to work.

Peter Verigin, president of the Christian Community of Universal Brotherhood, who was concluding a three-day stay at Brilliant when the new outrages occurred, left Nelson Saturday forenoon by the Kootenay Express for the prairie, to appear in court at Saskatoon Tuesday to answer the charge of perjury for which he is indicted.

RESURRECTION IS ATTESTED FACT STATES PRIEST

Father Sharp of Spokane Tells Catholics Is Beyond Doubt

Hardly a fact in human history is so well attested as the death and the resurrection of Christ, declared Rev. Curtis J. Sharp, S.J., of Gonzaga university, Spokane, in the Church of Mary Immaculate, in an Easter sermon Sunday morning, to a congregation that completely filled the edifice. Critics who 1900 years afterward examined sincerely all the evidences came to but one conclusion, he declared, the conclusion that the 12 immediate followers of Christ were not deceived, that Christ's body was literally committed to the tomb, and that the Son of God later appeared in the flesh and revealed Himself on various occasions both to those immediate disciples and to others.

These evidences were briefly reviewed by Father Sharp, who mentioned Christ's words to the women at the mouth of the tomb, His appearance to the disciples who were in hiding and His partaking of food with them, thus showing that He had a human body. His appearance to the two who were journeying to Emmaus, His appearance to 500 at once, as stated by Paul, and finally, after His ascension, His appearance to Paul.

A DAY OF TRIUMPH

On the first Easter morning, Christ by His resurrection placed the seal on His work for the world of men, and from that date this day was a day of triumph and a day of peculiar significance to the Christian world. The preacher urged appreciation of this day, and of what it meant to raise one's eyes to the Comforter, and to have such a God to go to, such a God to love, such a God to be with in eternity.

"I go before you into Galilee," the message that Christ sent by the women at the tomb who were there to complete the anointing of His expected dead body, to His disciples, specially specifying the Peter who had denied Him, was the text chosen by Father Sharp, who applied it to the present time, "that we may also go into Galilee with our friends."

Very Rev. J. C. McKenzie, the pastor, officiated in portions of the service.

Symphony Concert Is Great Success

Miss G. Pearson and Miss P. Taylor Make Big Hit in Piano Numbers

The Nelson Symphony orchestra won great favor when it offered "Schubert's Unfinished Symphony," "Faust" and "Strains from Killarney," at the Capitol theater Sunday afternoon. "Schubert's Unfinished Symphony" was the orchestra's first attempt at music of the symphonies and was loudly applauded.

Miss P. Taylor of Willow Point won hearty applause in her two piano solos. She showed excellent promise with her artistic renditions.

Miss Gladys Pearson also won high praise for the talent she displayed in her intricate piano numbers.

The school choirs, under the direction of Miss E. Mackenzie and Miss W. Borthwick, completely captivated the audience with their cheerful songs. Their wonderful performance was lauded by the enthusiastic audience.

There was a good attendance at Sunday's concert and many spectators were greatly surprised at the ability and talent displayed by the younger participants.

Alderman Ross Fleming acted as director and announcer, while Alderman J. B. Gray, D. Laughton and R. J. Hewitt assisted at the doors.

"Ever been locked up?" demanded counsel.

"I have been," admitted the witness.

"And what had you been doing to get yourself locked up?"

"I was on a prolonged jury case!"

Weak After Flu and Pneumonia

Joseph English is Well and Strong After Taking Dr. Williams' Pink Pills to Rebuild Health.

"I feel we practically owe my brother's life to the benefit obtained from Dr. Williams' Pink Pills," writes Doris English, of Fort Langley, B.C. "My brother took the 'flu' and, getting a chill, contracted pneumonia, which later developed into an abscess on the lung. After an operation and a long siege of illness, he was so thin and weak he was a sight. He had no appetite for food, and we weren't given much encouragement that he would recover. However, we found Dr. Williams' Pink Pills as good as they were advertised. From the beginning of the treatment there was a marked improvement. He soon had a good appetite, and his face took on a healthy color. He gained weight from the first. Today he is well and strong, and hopes others may benefit from this wonderful remedy as he did."

Gained From The Start.

Whatever the cause of a run-down condition of health, use Dr. Williams' Pink Pills. They create new red blood, which revitalizes the whole system and builds up new energy and vigor. For that reason they are equally good for young, growing girls. Get Dr. Williams' Pink Pills in the new glass containers from your druggist. 50c a package.

BLACK HAWKS TAKE 1-0 WIN OVER TORONTO

Nonchalant Shot by Lowery Catches Chabot Asleep in Net

CHICAGO, March 27 (AP).—A fraction of a second relaxed vigilance by goalie Lorne Chabot on long, apparently hopeless shot by Jerry Lowery, gave the Chicago Blackhawks a 1-0 victory over Toronto Maple Leafs tonight in the first game of their Stanley cup playoff series.

Early in the final period, when the Hawks appeared to be sagging badly under the bruising rushes of the Leafs, Lowery, winger of the Chicago "kid" line, lifted one almost from mid-ice. It flopped lazily down in front of Chabot, and bounced between the Leaf goalie's skates for the only score of the match.

The shot, totally unexpected, set a crowd of about 15,000 nerve-exhausted spectators into an uproar and seemed to dull the edge of the Leaf offensive. All during the first two periods, the Hawks, relying on blazing shots, had played the Leafs even or a little better. In the third, superior poundage was being felt, and a scoreless tie was the crowd's hope.

NONCHALANT SHOT

It was during a lull in the almost ceaseless action that Lowery nonchalantly lifted the disc, and put the Hawks ahead in the two-game series which will be concluded at Toronto Tuesday.

The Hawks had the edge in territorial play almost all the way, but every time the three of the Leafs—Charlie Conacher, Joe Primeau and Harvey Jackson—went to work, it did not seem that the Hawks could halt them.

Goalie Chuck Gardiner, who received the George Vezina cup for the "best goalie in the league" before the contest, lived up to the honor by playing a superlative game in the cage. He was everywhere, and although he took plenty of punishment, managed to withstand everything the Leafs flung at him.

MEASURING OF FREQUENCY IS MEETING TOPIC

Amateur Radio Society Has Talk on Monitors and Dynatrons

Wave meters, monitors, and frequency meters or dynatrons, were the subject of a lecture delivered by Frank Phillips last night at the weekly meeting of the Nelson Amateur Radio society at its club headquarters, at the city gas works. The lecturer described how each had its use, and, taking the divices individually, he traced their history, from the simplest types, to the present day methods of measuring and calibrating frequency at modern transmitting stations, which have one-tenth of one per cent accuracy. Monitors were described in detail, their purposes being to calibrate frequency, and to check up on the note of the transmitting station, they are used universally in all big broadcasting stations, and denote the quality of the modulation.

It was the concensus of opinion that the society's first transmitter should be of comparatively low power in order to gain experience in the radio art.

A new work bench has been secured for use in the laboratory. Eighteen members attended.

SOCIALIZATION OF INDUSTRY TO BE ELECTION ISSUE

SYDNEY, N.S.W., March 28.—(Monday) (CP cable)—The New South Wales labor conference today decided socialization of industry and agriculture would be one of the main issues in the next state election.

Premier J. T. Lang, in a speech before the conference, accused Prime Minister Joseph Lyons of Australia of trying to reduce the standard of living to a level below that of the lowest European state.

"The Labor party must insist to the uttermost or itself be wiped out," he said.

RANGERS BEAT CANADIENS IN OVERTIME GAME

Play One Hour and 59 Minutes Overtime; Ties Series

MONTREAL, March 27 (By Wallace H. Ward, Canadian Press staff writer).—The New York Rangers and Les Canadiens of Montreal struggled in the early hours of Sunday morning before Bun Cook jabbed a goal past George Hainsworth after 59 minutes, 32 seconds overtime, and gave the New Yorkers a 4-3 victory over the world champions. The Rangers' triumph after such a hard fight uphill evened the series for the National Hockey league championship, for the Flying Frenchmen had beaten their sporting rivals 4-3 in the first game, played Thursday night.

So tired by the 119½ minutes of playoff hockey that they could hardly drag themselves to the showers, both squads hurriedly packed their kits and boarded a special train for New York, where the third game was played tonight.

Lester Patrick's Rangers spotted the fast Habitants two goals early in the contest, and Canadiens' penalties and a furious third period drive tied the score at 3-3. Too late the Canadiens tried to recapture the game. Stubbornly the Rangers continued their smooth, relentless attack on the Redshirts' cage.

CANADIENS TIRE

Bruised and slowed by heavy body checks handed out by Ching Johnson and Earl Siebert, the tiring Canadiens were unable to beat Roach and the close-checking New York defence. Frankie Boucher put the puck behind Hainsworth in the second 20-minute overtime period, but the play was called back for an offside infraction. Gaining power as the lighter Canadiens slowed through fatigue, the Rangers gave Hainsworth many bad scares before the two Cook boys went down together. Bill's pass came to Bun's stick four or five feet from the Canadiens' cage, and the goal was too big for the game goalie to cover. Bun slid the rubber into the back of the cage and slumped to the ice.

The Canadiens started at blinding speed and had the edge on the play until late in the third regular period. The scoring started in the first when Larochelle slammed Mondou's rebound into the Rangers' cage. Aurel Joliat, outstanding throughout the long struggle, gave Canadiens a 2-0 lead in the next period when he raced down alone, stickhandled close in, and picked off a corner of the net with a rising shot. Rangers got their first goal from Earl Siebert who went down at a fast clip, dived through the defence, and rapped a hard shot into the twine behind Hainsworth.

Larochelle slipped Mondou a pass from a scramble in the last period and Mondou scored, making it 3-1 for the Canadiens, who seemed about to take the Rangers by that score. Marty Burke was thumbed to the penalty box, and the Canadiens' troubles began. Dillon gave Keeling the puck right in front of Hainsworth and Butch slipped it home. Ching Johnson took the rubber down the ice when the Canadiens were at full strength again, plunged through the defence by sheer weight and whipped a vicious drive past Hainsworth.

Adanacs Continue on Title Quest at Kelowna's Expense

KELOWNA, B. C., March 27 (CP).—New Westminster Adanacs, men's senior "A" champions of British Columbia and two-time holders of the Dominion title, entered the interprovincial playdowns on the way to another Canadian title, when they downed Kelowna senior "B" titlists by 24-15 for their second straight victory in the two-game total-points series for the British Columbia men's basketball championship here last night.

Adanacs won the first game Friday night 41-29, taking the round 65-44.

VICTORY OVER DEATH IS TEXT, LOCAL CHURCH

Rev. T. J. S. Ferguson Tells of the Easter Message at United Church

"Victory Over Death" was the text of Rev. T. J. S. Ferguson at St. Paul's church Sunday morning at the Easter services.

In the children's story, preceeding the sermon, Mr. Ferguson gave them the same thought in form peculiar to their understanding.

A little girl having found a bird's nest in a tree watched over it daily with great care and tenderness. Then there came the day when peeping into the feathered home, she found only broken shells remaining. Heartbroken she ran to her mother to tell the disastrous news. Her mother consoled her, telling her that the best part of the eggs had taken flight, had gone to join its natural and richer life.

So, observed Mr. Ferguson, continuing the thought in the sermon, in the death of Jesus, He merely shuffled off this mortal coil and His soul rose to find its natural affinity. Natural, because of the kind of life He had lived.

He faced the end, said Mr. Ferguson with calmness, knowing it was inevitable. When the disciples questioned Him regarding His conduct before the crucifixion, He told them He knew He must suffer. And faithful and ardent as the disciples had been, they failed to see the reason, they had yet to gain the wider perspection that would enable them to see life as a whole, rather than the individual, fragmentary parts.

People of today must do the same thing, concluded Mr. Ferguson. One by one the characteristics of the individual experience must be shuffled off and the eternal essence of it retained. Until then one would not rise above the omnipresent worldly outlook and would fail to see God as infinite love, infinite tenderness, infinite care.

Miss Margaret Arthur was the soloist. The choir sang the anthem "Hallelujah, Christ Is Risen."

There's a terrible surplus of wheat in this country, but it could be worse. It could be spinach.

SUNDAY SCHOOL CHILDREN GIVE NEAR 500 EGGS

Seven Sunday Schools in It; Already Distributed; I. O. D. E. Directs

Fifty-seven dozen eggs, or nearly enough to provide one apiece for 700 undernourished kiddies, if there were such a number, were collected by the Sunday school pupils of Nelson yesterday and turned in at their respective Sunday schools, as special Easter gifts for welfare distribution.

The Sunday schools taking part in the collection were those of Trinity United, First Church of Christ Scientist, St. Paul's United, St. Saviour's Anglican, First Baptist, First Presbyterian, and Church of the Redeemer Anglican.

Sunday afternoon was spent by Mr. and Mrs. Alan McLeod and Mr. and Mrs. W. [illegible] Kettlewell in their cars collecting the eggs from the Sunday schools, and doing part of the distributing. Capt. A. Cartmell of the Salvation Army and some of his aides took charge of part of the distribution, while in Fairview Miss Margaret Thompson and her company of Girl Guides discharged this duty.

Some of the kiddies gave chocolate Easter eggs, and these were put in the allotments for the neediest families.

The whole operation was under a committee of Kokanee chapter, I.O.D.E., consisting of the regent, Mrs. W. S. King and Mrs. F. G. Morey and Mrs. Alan McLeod.

TRINITY STARTED IDEA

Trinity teachers are stated to have originated the idea, in view of the distress conditions in many homes this year, and to have asked the I.O.D.E. to accept the eggs collected by Trinity Sunday school, for use in the order's special work of providing eggs and milk for a number of families having small children. It seemed such a fine idea that the chapter took steps to bring it before the other Sunday schools.

"This overwhelming response has been utterly beyond all expectation," stated Mrs. King, Sunday evening. "Too much praise cannot be bestowed on the Sunday school children of the city for their work in this matter."

In this year of great advancement...old standards still hold.....

GREAT advancements effecting notable improvements in motor car performance have been announced this season.

Well ahead of the field, as usual, are the new McLaughlin-Buicks with the now famous Wizard Control, Free Wheeling, Silent Syncro-Mesh transmission, Ride Regulator and many new refinements.

But there is something more to performance than power and ease of control. For instance, Reliability—that ability to continue operating at concert pitch for 100,000 miles and more! Such a quality is the direct result of that integrity of engineering and manufacture that have made McLaughlin-Buicks Canada's standard cars for over 24 years. Then, too, a great percentage of McLaughlin-Buick owners buy McLaughlin-Buicks again and again. And an investment that over 80% insist on renewing must, without any doubt, be a good investment.

We invite you to drive the McLaughlin-Buick Eight. No other car can equal its background—and its performance sets the pace for 1932.

The Burden of Wealth

Ivan Krueger and Mrs. Ida E. Wood are dead.

The former, known as the Swedish match king and one of the wealthiest men in the world, perished by his own hand in a Paris hotel, unable to stand the strain of guiding his many business interests through the economic crisis.

Mrs. Wood, one of the world's wealthiest women, at least so far as possession of actual cash goes, was a victim of pneumonia and heart disease at 93.

Several months ago she was discovered by relatives living in a dingy hotel room, with $500,000 in old bills pinned to her clothing and an equal amount hidden in the room.

She had for many years lived on scraps, getting nothing out of life, a slave to her fortune, as the Swedish match king was to his.

Most of us look upon vast wealth as the means to a life of luxury and ease. We think that if we had it in prodigous quantities, we could make money do our bidding, but instead those of us who acquire or inherit large wealth almost invariably find that the money dominates us.

Movie Salaries

The revelation of Conrad Nagel that there are only twenty-three actors and actresses who can really afford, from their own screen earnings, to pay for hyphenated automobiles and other gilt-encrusted gewgaws, will startle nobody in the know about Hollywood, but it may be news to the general public outside the movie metropolis. Motion-picture salaries have been press-agented thoroughly, in some cases with the addition of more than the "one or two ciphers" mentioned by Mr. Nagel, until some of the public-relations counsel have begun to believe their own yarns.

Exaggerated notions of the possible earnings of film stars may add to the public awe of these luminaries, but they do the industry no particular good, and it is a well to have the illusion officially punctured. They do actual harm in two ways: one by drawing fire of self-appointed busybodies in the industry's direction, the other by inspiring a hopeless hegira of youth in the direction of the studios, involving the wrecking of a number of what might be useful, if humdrum, careers.

Mr. Nagel refrains from naming the illustrious twenty-three, which leaves a loophole for the press agents and leaves scope for the imaginations of the public. He might at least have given us figures on the highest salary he found in his examination of studio books, to gauge the exaggerations by.

Silver Dollars For Canada

There would seem to be no sound reason why the suggestion of the Prospectors Protective association that the Dominion government should replace a proportion of the present one dollar and two dollar notes with silver should not be carried out. The United States has in circulation a huge volume of silver cartwheels, and this form of currency seems to be popular with the people south of the international boundary line, even though to carry ten or twenty dollar-pieces requires pockets built to stand the strain.

If silver were used to a greater extent in Canadian currency it would necessarily have the effect of absorbing a substantial amount of silver. This silver would be purchased at market prices, and by thus increasing the consumption of this metal would, in the long run, have at least some tendency to increase the market value of silver.

Hon. H. H. Stevens, minister of trade and commerce at Ottawa, has taken a considerable interest in the silver question, and while many will not agree fully with his views, the possibility of assisting the situation in Canada by the coining of silver dollar pieces would be very likely to have his support, the more particularly as he represents a province which is very vitally interested in the silver mining industry.

Dismissing a New York Sheriff

Governor Roosevelt of the state of New York is being given great praise for having ousted Sheriff Farley. Farley is the man whose bank account was revealed on investigation to have grown from nothing to some $350,000 during his occupation of public office. He was unable to give any explanation.

Just why the governor should be handed any particular credit for kicking Farley out will be hard for people in Canada to understand. Such a situation as that in the Farley case could not happen here. And if it did, dismissal from office would not be regarded as severe and exemplary punishment for the offender.

But in New York things seem to be different, There it appears to be the usual practice for politicians to pile up fortunes and the public are so accustomed to the situation that they pay very little attention to it. Indeed it is not regarded as being anything more than what must be expected. The dismissal of an official therefore is looked upon as quite a drastic step. The Toronto Telegram thinks that if the governor had also severely reprimanded the sheriff he might even have aroused public sympathy for the poor fellow.

Silver in Filter to Purify Water

A new type of filter, with interstices covered with silver, has been tested at the Pasteur institute of Paris by Dr. Nicolas Metalnikov and found to confer upon the filtered water the power to destroy living bacteria, states Science Service. The filter is made by adding chloride of silver to the moulding clay and baking at a high temperature of 2300 degrees Fahrenheit.

According to its inventor, Georges Lakhovsky, the water which passes through the silvered filter is claimed to be entirely due to the ionization of the water, and it disappears if the water is boiled for a few minutes.

Exercise and a healthier life may be the cause of the change in size. If women's feet really were so much smaller 100 years ago Dr. J. T. Irving, of the physiology department of the University of Bristol, suggested in a note to the Lancet, a British medical journal.

Montreal's most colorful book of 1932 is undoubtedly the telephone directory! All manner of colors from black to white are listed in the new edition just out. There are, for instance, 355 Browns, heading the list. There are even more Browns than Smiths. Smyths, Smythes and Smiths, The Whites, which number 143, lead the Blacks with a meagre 80 names. The Greens or Greenes follow with 76 entries, and there are also 76 Greys or Grays. There are only five Blues, which may or may not be considered a good sign.

The telephone book is also a regular handbook of anatomy, research reveals, for there are four Chins, two Heads and two Hairs. The book also has three Hands, but no Feet, although it has a Foot.

There are 17 Mays listed and in this calendar March and April follow with seven each. Janvier occurs three times and there is one August. Two Mondays, but only one Friday can be found.

A couple of Apples and an Orange occur, and there are two Lemons!

Even the British Isles are represented with 11 Irelands, five Englands, three Wales and one Scotland. There is no France, but there are 33 French and 17 English. There is only one Canadian.

FRAGRANT GARDEN

In the shadow of the mountain
My fragrant garden grows,
Where roses and delphiniums
Bloom in stately rows
With glistening hedge for background
And vines of softest green,
And in the garden's circle
A cypress tree is seen.
The flowers' myriad colors
Enchant us with delight,
And spendthrift swooning fragrance
Perfumes the starlit night.
Oh, you who live in cities,
Do dreams sometimes incline
To sunny hours in quiet nooks
In gardens such as mine?

Ah-h, SPRING

That Body of Yours

By JAMES W. BARTON

THE DUODENAL TUBE

You have often head of and may have seen a 'stomach tube' which is used in testing the rate at which the stomach is digesting food, the amount of acid in the stomach digestive juice, and is also used to remove poisons from the stomach.

However what is known as the duodenal tube because it goes down into the stomach and then from the stomach into the duodenum (first part of the small intestine) is now receiving much more attention than the stomach tube.

It is about as thick around as a slate pencil, and is about 45 inches long and can be used for a great many purposes:—the contents of the stomach duodenum before eating or a test meal, can be obtained; the gall bladder can be drained by pouring epsom salts down the tube and then having the patient lie down with head lower than the rest of the body, and the bile will come up the tube and out of the body.

After abdominal operations, the patients should never be allowed to vomit. When this tube is inserted immediately after the operation it removes poisonous secretions, no vomiting occurs, which adds greatly to the comfort and saftey of the patient.

Another condition after operations which is distressing to patient and doctor is terrible pain from gas pressure. Dr. F. LaRochelle, Springfield, Mass., says that if, after every stomach operation the tube is introduced and the stomach kept clean and empty and the loss of fluid replaced by inserting water into the body by hypodermic means, severe and sometimes fatal gas condition can usually be prevented. In fact, Dr Rochelle speaks of the use of this tube in jaundice, nausea, and vomiting, removing tapeworms, obtaining pure stomach digestive juice, washing out entire stomach and intestinal system thus lessening putrefaction.

When urine gets into the blood, a serious poisonous condition, hiccup becomes a distressing sympton. The use of this tube to wash out the stomach and upper part of the intestine usually cures the hiccup.

I believe you will agree that this thin little piece of rubber tubing is worth much to mankind in locating and curing various silmente.

Some years ago I wrote of a man living 60 miles from a railroad station who used the tube twice a week to prevent 'colic.' So if the duodenal tube is to be used on you or yours don't worry about it. It is harmless, painless and gives great results.

Tobacco Growing in the Boundary Districts

(By G. L. LANDON, District Agriculturist, Grand Forks, B. C.)

Of the numerous experimental projects conducted in Grand Forks district during 1931 by the British Columbia department of agriculture, the tobacco test was undoubtedly the most interesting. Tobacco had been grown prevously but not commercially and the test was undertaken to ascertain if it could be grown successfully as a commercial crop for the district.

The test was a cooperative one in which several agencies were interested. The experiment was organized by the writer and supervised by Mr. A. J. Mann, tobacco specialist, experimental station, Summerland, who gave a great deal of time and effort to the project. The crop was grown on the Sunnyside farm of the Canadian Bank of Commerce under the management of Mr. B. J. Ralph, farm superintendent. Fertilizer for the test was supplied by the Consolidated Mining & Smelting Company of Canada, through Mr. S. H. Hopkins of their fertilizer department, and a drying shed for curing the crop was provided on the farm of Mr. James Rooke through the cooperation of the Grand Forks board of trade and the Grand Forks Farmers' institute.

The cultural operations in connection with the experiment were carefully and systematically carried out by Mr. B. J. Ralph and great credit is due him in producing an excellent crop of White Burley tobacco. Several tobacco growers and experts expressed the opinion that it was the best experimental plot of tobacco in the interior of the province during 1931.

SEED BED

The seed was sown on April 11th in a glass frame prepared for the purpose, the seed bed soil being composed of two parts of well decomposed grass sod, two parts peaty loam, two parts field loam, one part sand, and one and one-half parts well rotted horse manure, all well mixed together. The soil in the frame was kept moist at all times and the young seedlings protected by cheesecloth from the heat during the daytime. At night glass windows were used to protect them from low temperatures. The essential factors in successful production of seedling plants were proper moisture and temperature conditions, shade, and a seed bed free from weeds so that the young plants would not suffer from weed competition.

FIELD CULTURE

The plot user for growing the crop was an acre of gravelly loam soil which had a crop of fall vetch plowed under on September 15th, 1930, and allowed to stand until spring in this condition. Approximately 2½ tons of green matter being plowed under in this way. Starting April, 1931, the plot was double disced and harrowed every 10 days until May 24 when irrigation furrows were opened and a 12-hour application of water given. On May 29th the fertilizer was broadcast and disced and harrowed immediately afterwards.

The young plants were transplanted from June 5th to June 8th under ideal weather conditions of dull weather with occasional heavy showers. After the young plants had been successfully transplanted cultivation was carried out every seven days until topping time. The first four cultivations were fairly deep but as the plants advanced shallow cultivation became necessary to avoid root injury.

Irrigation water was applied on June 20 for eight hours, on July 16 for six hours, two furrows in each row being used, and on August 12 the final cultivation was given. The plot was irrigated for five hours on August 20, the last application. The plants were topped on August 16 and suckers removed on August 24 and September 8. Harvesting commenced on September 12 and was completed September 16 under very unfavorable conditions of showery weather and very little sunlight.

The experiment was successful in demonstrating that tobacco could be grown commercially in the Grand Forks district in an average growing season. Its possibilities as a cash crop for the district have been demonstrated and if an increased acreage is planted, in future years it may add considerably to the agricultural wealth of the district.

EXPERIMENTAL PLOT

The acre plot was divided into three sections, the plants being planted two feet six inches apart in the rows and the rows three feet six in ches apart. A total of 5384 plants were planted on the acre plot. Section one contained 3365 plants and received an application of 400 pounds of mixed fertilizer containing 125 pounds ammonium phosphate, 175 pounds sulphate of ammonia and 100 pounds sulphate of potash. This gives an analysis of 12:16:12 or 12 per cent nitrogen, 16 per cent phosphoric acid and 12 per cent potash.

Section two contained 673 plants and received no fertilizer, it being the check plot.

Section three contained 1346 plants and received an application of 100 pounds of ammonium phosphate with an analysis of 10:50:0. A few plants developed Mosaic in each section and were removed.

The plot with the mixed fertilizer yielded at the rate of 1787 pounds per acre. The check plot yielded at the rate of 1761 pounds per acre and the ammonium phosphate plot at the rate of 1735 pounds per acre. All three plots produced a bright thin leaf in the sand leaf, lug and leaf grades. No red leaf existed in these grades, and in the tip grade the leaf was medium thick and reddish brown in color. The results of the project indicate that satisfactory yield and quality may be expected of the Grand Forks district, providing judicious cultural and curing practice is exercised.

A small plot was also grown by Mr. C. A. Crawford, the crop in this case being cured by priming, that is by picking the leaves from the stalks in the field as they ripen. Some very high grade tobacco was cured from this plot.

"Well doctor, how am I?"

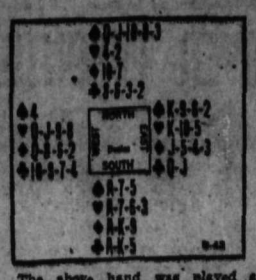
"Very well, your legs are still a bit swollen, but that doesn't disturb me."

"Sure doctor, if your legs were swollen, it won't disturb me, either."

Auction and Contract Bridge

By the World's Leading Authority, MILTON C. WORK

A SIMPLE HAND CRITICIZED



The above hand was played at four tables in th Cleveland Inter-Club Team-of-Four Duplicate Contract tournament this season. It does not involve any intricate bidding or play, but illustrates one playing point of considerable interest.

At most tables South bid 6 No Trumps. He had a No Trump count of 22, an ideal No Trump distribution, and that almost irresistable No Trump lure—"150 Aces." All the Norths permitted South's bid to stand instead of taking out with four Spades which would seem safer and sounder. Whether playing at four Spades the Declarer would succeed or fail would depend upon the way the play developed; but our present purpose is to follow the Cleveland game and see what happened when the hand was played at three No Trumps.

At all the tables West selected the Heart Queen from a four card suit headed by Queen-Jack-Nine for his opening lead. All the Easts unblocked by playing the King and returning the Ten and all the Souths held up the Ace until the third round. After that the play varied, most of the Souths led the Ace and another Spade; one East took th second Spade and North was then enabled to make his long Spades and Declarer took in all: Four Spades, one Heart, two Diamonds and two Clubs—game.

But at most of the tables East was observant and wise enough to size up the perfectly apparent Spade situation so he held up his King until the third round of the suit, thereby shutting out North's long Spades and defeating the contract.

At one table the Declarer, appreciating what would be apt to happen if either of the adversaries had the King and two other Spades (and the chances were that the King of Spades was doubly guarded), did not start Spades with the Ace; he masked his batteries by leading a small Spade. This deceived East an induced him to take the first Spade trick, so that Declarer won his game without difficulty.

COUNTY SYSTEM FOR ALBERTA

There is no doubt that much of the work now done provincially could be done quite as satisfactorily by the county councils, and this should result in a great reduction of expense to the provincial legislature. But it has been found in the sparsely settled areas of the United States that the county system merely multiplies offices and officials. The idea of the centralized government at Edmonton attending to council duties from afar appeals to many as being fairer to all, less personal and local. However those with a background of eastern Canadian experience, are somewhat inclined to the county system. It would unite many municipalities in programs which concern all. Certain public works would be instituted within the area without burdening legislature. Eastern experience has demonstrated that county councillors are elected as a rule, carefully, that they recognised considerable responsibility toward their county, and serve capably in developing the activities and industries of their unit of the province. Each county carries an individuality, and is noteworthy perhaps for roads or for industries supplementary to agriculture or for rural school advancement, recreation grounds, scenic programs and so on. Most individuals take a great pride in promoting the standing and development of their particular county.

The municipalities of Alberta are much more restricted in authority with any great individuality. If a justifiable saving at Edmonton could be affected by establishing counties in Alberta, it would seem worth while. A great part of the country falls naturally into areas where the same interests and type of industry prevail. These areas containing municipal districts and operating as counties could remove a great responsibility from Edmonton, and could promote a progressive individuality, devoted to the dominant interests of the county to be served.—High River Times.

What Do You Think?

Permanent Forest Patrol in Heavy Timber Writer's Idea

To the editor of The Nelson Daily News:

Sir: I read with much interest a letter in your paper of March 24 re Forest Protection in which the writer suggests many means.

The government has spent many millions on Forest protections in the past few years. And the time is here when they have to curtail expenses in all their departments, to prevent any further tax burden on people of Canada.

Forest fires ravaged long before man set foot on this soil.

I believe in the prevention of forest fires, whereby loggers and settlers be compelled to burn up all their slashings in the late fall.

The forest lookout man as he is called, is stationed in a hut on a mountain top, some 7000 feet to 8000 feet elevation and on a clear day he has an unobstructed view of a sea of mountain peaks. Away in some distant valley he sees a column of smoke rising in the sky. He immediately reports a fire to the forest ranger at headquarters by telephone. But he is not always sure as to the exact location. However, as many men and tools, etc. as are necessary are sent to the fire, but very often several hours have passed before they arrive at the scene of the conflagration, as it takes time for men to get to a fire, when they have to climb steep and thickly wooded mountain slipes, carrying tools and food. And when they do arrive they are face to face with a raging forest fire, which may take days to put under control.

I do suggest that a permanent forest patrol be established, whereby two or three men patrol only certain well timbered areas and that they build trail during the off season. This may solve our forest protection problem and cut the forest budget.

Will Fishing Fee Proceeds Be Used for Sake of Fish?

To the editor of The Nelson Daily News:

Sir: Writing as one who has been in the Kootenays for over 32 years and during that time having been an ardent and, if I may so, quite successful fisherman, I should like to take up a little space to inquire if, when we are required to pay for a fishing license, there is going to be any benefit received in the way of trout protection and propogation by the provincial government.

Spawning and distribution of fry as in the past been done by the dominion government, and they have some facilities in the way of hatcheries for carrying on this work, but the provincial government has nothing prepared so as to be able to spawn and hatch this year, as the spawning season for Kamloops or Rainbow trout is at hand now.

Personally, I am in favor of a license fee, but I want to get something in return, and as far as this year is concerned, I cannot see that coming. Also I am to a certain extent in doubt as to the depletion of the fish by fishing, but believe that in response to the deforestation that has taken place with consequent lack of water and also of feed in so many creeks the fish are getting stunted and small.

Years ago I knew many creeks that had a heavy flow of water until October, and now I notice that a person could almost drink all the flow at the end of August.

I also believe that the fish have got very shy from spoon, Jack Lloyd and other hardware fishing.

After all, what will the resident of the Salmon valley get for his license when all the creeks are prohibited water?

The Beauty Box

By HELEN FOLLETT

Watch out for pillow wrinkles. Never heard of 'em, eh? The dear gals get them by sleeping with the rosy cheek cupped in the hand of sleeping so that the flesh on the celestial countenance is pushed up into rolls. In the morning there is a ditch extending from the far end of the eye down to the corner of the mouth. The best sleeping position for keeping the figure straight and the back firm is to lie on the back with head tilted over a small pillow, chin lifted. This position offers complete relaxation. Much better than when the sleeper curls up with the shoulders thrown forward, lungs contracted, chin downcast.

When tinting those ruby lips, spread them wide, so the surface is smooth, otherwise the counterfeit health lights may take on a crepy appearance. Remove the lipstick smear at night and apply lanoline or a white pomade that is compounded for the purpose of smoothing shredded lips. Cold cream will do, but perfumes weren't intended to be food and they don't taste good.

Foundation creams aren't as popular as they should be. They are improvements on the old time vanishing smears. They spread on smoothly, without making the complexion oily. They impart that nice velvety, finished look. Make-up and powder get a foothold and the addict of the foundation cream doesn't have to make herself a new face every few hours.

"How did they treat you in Scotland?"

"Reluctantly."

NEW DISHES THIS WEEK

Butterscotch Pudding: Melt two tablespoons of butter in a saucepan with one cup of brown sugar, and let cook till it becomes dark brown but not burned. Now add to it two cups of hot sweet milk and simmer the mixture 10 minutes. Meantime soak a one-inch-thick slice of stale white bread in a little cold water, then press out all water and crumble the bread into tiny bits. Pour the cooked mixture over this bread, in a bowl, and beat in two egg yolks, one-third teaspoon of salt and one-half teaspoon of vanilla extract. Pour all into a buttered pudding dish and bake (with this dish set in a shallow pan containing hot water) 45 minutes in a moderate oven. Then spread on the top a meringue made by beating the two egg whites stiff with two tablespoons of confectioner's sugar. Return to oven to brown this meringue slowly. Eat hot or cold.

Asparagus Loaf: Line a buttered mold or pan with cooked asparagus. Now make a cream sauce as follows: Melt two tablespoons of butter and into this rub two tablespoons of flour, one teaspoon of salt, one cup of thin sweet cream, a pinch of pepper, and cook this sauce five minutes, stirring steadily, before adding four well-beaten but unseparated eggs. Pour this mixture into the asparagus-lined mold and slip into a moderate oven to bake 30 minutes, or till set. Then turn out of mold and serve hot. Drawn Butter Sauce may be served with it, if desired.

FORMER KASLO RESIDENT DIES AT VANCOUVER

VANCOUVER, B. C., March 27.—(CP)—Death removed one of Vancouver's most prominent social workers yesterday when Effie W. Bagnall, wife of Dr. W. A. Bagnall, succumbed to illness at her home here.

A native of Pictou, Nova Scotia, Mrs. Bagnall was educated in Pictou Academy and the provincial normal school. Upon graduation she moved to Boston where she married Dr. Bagnall, who was then a medical student.

Shortly afterwards they came to British Columbia residing at Kaslo. In 1911 they moved to Vancouver.

FINAL INSTALMENT

It was while they were trying to formulate some concerted plan that they heard footsteps below, and, thinking it was Mademoiselle Gautier, she drove Ellingham into the rear of the house, from which later he managed to escape. But it was Clara who was coming up the stairs.

"She had been our first governess for the children," Elinor said, "and she often came in. She had made a birthday smock for Buddy, and she had it in her hand. She almost fainted. I couldn't tell her about Charlie Ellingham. I couldn't. I told her we had been struggling, and that I was afraid I had shot him. She is quick. She knew just what to do. We worked fast. She said a suicide would not have fired one shot into the ceiling and she fixed that. It was terrible. And all the time he lay there, with his eyes half open——"

The letters, it seems, were all over the place. Elinor thought of curtain cut a receptacle for them, but she was afraid of the police. Finally she gave them to Clara, who was to take them away and burn them.

They did everything they could think of, all the time listening for Suzanne Gautier's return; filled the second empty chamber of the revolver, dragged the body out of the hall and washed the carpet, and called Docter Sperry, not knowing that he was at Mrs. Dane's and could not come.

Clara had only a little time, and with the letters in her handbag she started down the stairs. There she heard some one, possibly Ellingham, on the back stairs, and in her haste she fell, hurting her knee, and she must have dropped the handbag at that time. They knew now that Hawkins had found it later on. But for a few days they didn't know, and hence the advertisement.

"I think we would better explain Hawkins," Sperry said. "Hawkins was married to Miss Clara here, some years ago, while she was with Mrs. Wells. They had kept it a secret, and recently she has broken with him."

"He was infatuated with another woman," Clara said briefly. "That's a personal matter. It has nothing to do with this case."

"It explains Hawkins' letter."

"It doesn't explain how that medium knew everything that happened," Clara put in, excitedly.

She knew it all, even the library paste! I can tell you Mr. Johnson, I was close to fainting a dozen times before I finally did it."

"Did you know of our seances?" I asked Mrs. Wells.

"Yes, I may as well tell you that I haven't been in Florida. How could I? The children are there, but I——"

"Did you tell Charlie Ellingham about them?"

"After the second one I warned him and I think he went to the house. One bullet was somewhere in the ceiling, or in the floor of the nursery. I thought it ought to be found. I don't know whether he found it or not. I've been afraid to see him."

She sat, clasping and unclasping her hands in her lap. She was a proud woman, and surrender had come hard. The struggle was marked in her face. She looked as though she had not slept for days.

"You think I am frightened," she said slowly. "And I am, terribly frightened. But not about discovery. That has come, and cannot be helped."

"Then why?"

"How does this woman, this medium know these thing?" Her voice rose, with an unexpected hysterical catch. "It is superhuman. I am almost mad."

"We're going to get to the bottom of this," Sperry said soothingly. "Be sure that it is not what you think it is, Elinor. There's a simple explanation, and I think I've got it. What about the stick that was taken from my library?"

"Will you tell me how you came to have it, doctor?"

"Yes. I took it from the lower hall the night—the night it happened."

"It was Charlie Ellingham's. He had left it there. We had to have it, doctor. Alone it might not mean much, but with the other things you knew—tell them, Clara."

"I stole it from your office," Clara said, looking straight ahead. "We had to have it. I knew at the second sitting that it was his."

"When did you take it?"

"On Monday morning, I went for Mrs. Dane's medicine, and you had promised her a book. Do you remember? I told your man, and he allowed me to go up to the library. It was there, on the table. I had expected to have to search for it, but it was lying out. I fastened it to my long coat."

"And placed it in the rack at Mrs. Dane's?" Sperry was watching her intently, with the same sort of grim intentness he wears when examining a chest.

"I put it in the closet in my room I meant to get rid of it, when I had a little time. I don't know how it got downstairs, but I think——"

"Yes?"

"We are house-cleaning. A housemaid was washing closet. I suppose she found it and, thinking it was one of Mrs. Dane's, took it downstairs. That is, unless——" It was clear that like Elinor, she had a supernatural explanation in her mind. She looked gaunt and haggard.

"Mrs. Ellingham was anxious to get it," she finished. "He had taken Mr. Johnson's overcoat by mistake one night when you were both in the house, and the notes were in it He saw that the stick was important."

"Clara," Sperry asked, "did you see, the day you advertised for your bag, another similiar advertisement?"

"I saw it. It frightened me."

"You have no idea who inserted it?"

"Reality" Subject of Lesson-Sermon in Science Church

"Reality" was the subject of the Lesson-Sermon in First Church of Christ, Scientist, Nelson, on Sunday.

One of the Scriptural texts was the following: "In the end of the sabbath, as it began to dawn toward the first day of the week, came Mary Magdalene and the other Mary to see the sepulchre. And the angel answered and said unto the women, Fear not ye: for I know that ye seek Jesus, which was crucified. He is not here: for he is risen, as he said. Come, see the place where the Lord lay" (Matthew 17: 1, 5, 6).

Following the Bible texts, selections were read from the Christian Science textbook, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy, one passage being the following from page 593: "Resurrection, Spiritualization of thought; a new and higher idea of immortality, or spiritual existence: material belief yielding to spiritual understanding."

Why Not Nature's Aid to Beauty

In this artificial age women spend a large part of their allowances on beauty aids when the most effective and economical of all is such a simple and inexpensive process. Drink plenty of milk. It induces fine teeth, clear skin, glowing complexion and supple strength. No milk is not fattening, its strengthening. All women should drink plenty of milk daily . . . a quart is not too much.

MISS E. DESJARDINS AND A. RITCHIE ARE "B" SINGLES CHAMPS IN LOCAL TOURNEY

R. N. Taylor and R. Quin of Harrop to Play Off Finals in Men's "A" Singles at Junior High Tonight

ALL "A" AND "B" CLASS DOUBLES TO BE PLAYED AT JUNIOR HIGH THIS MORNING

A. Stringer and C. W. Tyler Beat R. N. Taylor and C. N. Taylor to Enter Men's "A" Finals This Morning

Play in the Nelson Badminton association's open tourney has advanced to the semi-finals in most divisions, after three days' play, the finals in others and the "B" class men's singles and ladies' singles finals being completed Sunday afternoon at the Legion.

MISS DESJARDINS TAKES LADIES' SINGLES "B"

Miss E. Desjardins easily defeated Mrs. A. Foster in the final round of the ladies' "B" singles, 11-0, 11-4. The first game was Miss Desjardins' from the start, but Mrs. Foster made a rally in the first part of the second game, and the latter match was not as one-sided as the first, although Miss Desjardins finally took the lead.

RITCHIE IS MEN'S "B" SINGLES WINNER

A. Ritchie won over B. Monteleone in a hard fought three-game set in the men's "B" singles finals, 7-15, 15-11, 15-6. Monteleone had the best of the play in the first match, but the second game was anybody's until the last few minutes, when Ritchie showed his superior knowledge of the game. The third game was stubbornly contested and remained anybody's until the players changed courts at eight points, when Ritchie again rallied, to win the match.

LADIES' AND MEN'S "A" SINGLES IN FINALS

The semi-finals of the ladies' singles "A" were completed at the Legion Sunday afternoon. Mrs. A. W. Idiens beat Miss M. Blackwood and Mrs. H S MacTier beat Mrs W G. Elsdon, Bonnington, to enter into the final round. The finals will be played at the junior high school on Monday night at 7 o'clock.

R. N. Taylor beat A. M. Major of Harrop in a cyclone exhibition and R. Quin downed C Miller to enter the finals of the men's "A" singles which will be played at the junior high at 7 o'clock tonight.

After defeating the Bonnington team, R. McFadden and Mrs. R. P. Brown, A. M. Major and his mother, Mrs A C Major, went down to an 11-15, 15-7, 15-12 defeat when they met R N. Taylor and Mrs. D. Male in the mixed "A" doubles at the junior high Saturday night. The play was by no means one-sided and the spectators cheered time and time again. Both Major and Taylor gave a wonderful display of badminton all through the game.

In the men's "A" doubles played at the junior high Saturday night, C. W. Tyler and A. Stringer beat R. Taylor and C. N. Taylor. Stringer, who won many points with his hard drives from the back of the court, was cheered by the crowd, time and time again

The "B" class doubles were all played at the Central school Saturday, all singles competitions, both "A" and "B" class were played in the legion and all "A" class doubles were played at the junior high school.

All the semi-finals and finals will be played at the junior high school Monday. The committee in charge have made arrangements to have seating accommodation for 300 spectators at Monday's games. There will only be one court used, the remaining space will be used for seating.

Both "A" and "B" men's doubles, ladies' doubles, and the mixed doubles contestants will be required to be at the junior high school prepared to play when called upon at 9 o'clock this morning.

The committee will appreciate the assistance of voluntary competent umpires at today's contests.

Scores in all divisions follow, with the name of the town from which outside entrants come listed after their name, all other entries being from Nelson:

NEW YORK LIST SAGS HEAVILY IN ACTIVE DAY

Unsettled Kreuger Securities Believed to Have Contributed

NEW YORK, March 27 (By John L. Cooley, Associated Press financial writer)—Stocks emerged from their recent rut on the downside yesterday, sagging heavily in a large turnover.

Kreuger securities were unsettled by the recommendation for a Kreuger and Toll moratorium. This may have contributed to the general uneasiness, although New York bankers for the Swedish company said they had been informed that sufficient cash was at hand, at least prior to Kreuger's death, to meet all obligations.

Stocks were heavy from the opening. A little recovery came in the final hour as shorts took profits, but late transactions witnessed another relapse and closing prices were near or at the bottom. The standard statistics—Associated Press average for 90 issues finished at 60.5, just a point above the bear market low. Chart followers were disturbed by the rail's penetration into new low ground which was taken as an unfavorable symptom.

U. S. STEEL DROPS

United States Steel, which had been meeting strong support above 40, dropped to 39¾. It closed at 40¼ off 1¼. American Telephone was plentifully supplied reacting to 111⅛ and showing a net loss of 4½.

American Can, Allied Chemical, North American, Procter and Gamble and Western Union lost a couple of points. In the rail division, Santa Fe, Pennsylvania and Southern Pacific established new minimums, while New Haven preferred dropped 10 points to 40. Reading, trading for the first time since the dividend reduction, was down 4½. Sales totalled 1,007,700 shares.

CHICAGO WHEAT PRICES SPRAWL

Stock Market Breaks, and Washington Planting Information, Influence

CHICAGO, March 27 (By John P. Boughan, Associated Press market editor)—Embarrassed by stock market breaks, and by disconcerting effects of Washington official reports of intended big planting of spring wheat, grain values went sprawling yesterday.

Government figures on 1932 intentions to plant spring wheat revealed likelihood of much larger acreage than was seeded last year, and a huge expansion as compared with the harvested area. There were estimates also that acreage of corn, oats and barley would be augmented to a material extent.

Wheat closed nervous, 1⅛ to 1⅝ under Thursday's finish, corn ⅜ to 1 down, oats ½ to ⅝ off, and provisions unchanged to 5 cents decline.

In the face of persistent stop loss selling, wheat mustered only feeble power to rally, despite announcement of a moderate overseas demand for North American breadstuffs. Export takings included some United States hard winter wheat and also included 1,000,000 bushels of rye, presumably Canadian.

GLUT ON MARKET PUTS EGG PRICE DOWN SHARPLY

Restricted Buying Power Noted; Production Is at Season's Peak

The egg market in the interior of British Columbia has again dropped sharply. This seems to be due not so much to the influence of outside markets as to a glut in local receipts, reports S. R. Bowell, Dominion egg inspector. Current consumptive demand continues good, but is necessarily affected by restricted buying power. This is quite possibly the greatest factor operative at present. There would undoubtedly be more eggs consumed if men were working, not only on account of their having more money to spend, but also having keener appetites to satisfy. The average logger, or miner thinks nothing of three or four eggs in the morning with his ham or bacon. But if he is not working one or two is the limit of his needs, even if he has the money to buy more.

Production is now possibly at the season's peak, and if present prices can clear receipts as they come, there should be no need of further reductions. The hatcheries report a somewhat slow market so far for chicks, and consequently are not needing as many eggs as usual. It is not to be wondered at that orders for chicks are lighter than usual, for it takes courage to carry on in the face of conditions as they exist, says Mr. Bowell. It would seem, however, to an unbiased observer, that the man who stays in the game to the limit of his capacity to finance, is sure to win, since so many will be forced out through inability to finance, and so many more will become disgusted, and quit.

"Let the poultrymen of the interior remember," says Mr. Bowell, "that whatever happens we must have eggs, and that there is no substitute for our own local stock when it comes to quality. The man who buys right, feeds right, culls closely, and gives proper care will win out, and be glad he refused to be stampeded when the going was bad."

Present Nelson prices are, wholesaler to producer, extras 16 cents, firsts 14 cents, pullet extras 12 cents. Retailer to producer, extras 20 cents, firsts 18 cents, pullet extras 15 cents. Wholesalers are selling to the trade at extras 20 to 22 cents, firsts 18 cents, pullet extras 15 cents. Retail, specials in cartons, 30 cents, extras 25 cents, firsts two for 45 cents, pullet extras 20 cents.

Since the market is so unsettled, these quotations must be taken as applying to Nelson. Other points may be higher or lower, depending on the state of local stocks.

FIRST AID ASSOCIATION INCREASES IN FERNIE

FERNIE, B. C., March 27.—The St. John of Jerusalem first aid association in Fernie has been growing year by year. Last year these classes had reached a point where the mine rescue station, in which they met was too small, and they had to find larger quarters. Since then they have been meeting in the Veterans club. Lectures are held on Sunday and practices on week night. This year 105 new members are taking these classes. This is a record class.

BANKS DEMAND CESSATION OF SAVINGS OFFICE

Refuse Request of Manitoba Until Definite Pledge Is Made

WINNIPEG, March 27 (CP)—After refusing a loan to the Manitoba provincial savings office for the purpose of meeting unusual demands of depositors the chartered banks of Canada demanded a pledge from Premier John Bracken that the province would definitely go out of the savings business before agreeing to take over the accounts of the office. This was disclosed Saturday in correspondence filed before the special committee of the Manitoba legislature investigating the wind-up of the savings office.

Letters and telegrams passing between Premier Bracken and Premier R. B. Bennett and the banks were laid before the committee. When the run on the savings office started Mr. Bracken sought a loan from the banks to avoid the necessity of selling securities in an unfavorable market. This was refused unless the province could obtain the added security of the Dominion government.

When advised of the situation R. B. Bennett asked for details and at first declined to act. He was asked by Mr. Bracken to reconsider the matter and sent a telegram saying Mr. Bracken would be advised of the terms the following day.

The next day, February 11, Mr. Bracken received a letter from R. E. English of the Bank of Montreal suggesting the government present a formal request to the banks for the taking over of the savings office. The form of the request and the terms were indicated in the letter.

SUMMON LEGISLATURE WITHIN 14 DAYS

Chief of the conditions was that the government would summon the provincial legislature within 14 days and repeal the Provincial Savings Office act.

Further correspondence followed in which Mr. Bracken said he was willing to introduce legislation providing for repeal of the act but could not promise the legislature would pass it. He also stated he would have to inform the house it was introduced at the request of the banks.

A letter from Mr. English stated the banks were willing to accept Mr. Bracken's assurance his government would not re-enter the savings deposit business but wished the act repealed as some future government would not be bound by Mr. Bracken's undertaking.

The terms of the agreement as finally accepted, howver, do not require the repeal of the act. The government undertakes to discontinue the taking of deposits in the present or any other office.

The province agreed to issue treasury bills payable in one year at five and a half per cent interest to the amount of the deposit liabilities of the savings office. All securities held by the saving office were to be delivered to the banks, to be held as collateral until the treasury bills were paid off, the banks assuming liabilities to depositors.

Esling Is Submitted Amendments to the Fishing Regulations

If Not Objected to By Local Fishermen Will Go to Cabinet

OTTAWA, March 27—Proposed amendments to the fishing regulations have been submitted to West Kootenay's member, W. K. Esling, and if not objected to by local fishermen, will be submitted to the cabinet for approval on Tuesday.

Fishing in the Ymir district for trout of any kind will be prohibited until May 1, 1934, in the following waters: Clear Water creek and lake, Hall creek, Barrett creek, Wildhorse creek, Porcupine creek, Boulder creek, Sheep creek, Wolf creek and lake, North and South fork, Salmon river and tributaries thereto.

Fishing in St. Mary's river between Meecham's lake jam and its confluence with the Kootenay river will be limited to May 1 instead of June 1, as formerly.

Until June 1, 1935, fishing in Sander, Texas, McRae Sutherland and Stewart creeks, tributary to Christina lake will be prohibited.

In order to more adequately cover the spawning time, the closed season in Big and Little Sheep creeks, which is now September 15 to November 15 will be changed to cover the period from August 15 to April 30, inclusive.

In angling, no one will be permitted to use gear designed to take more than one fish at one time but regulations do not limit the number of flashers.

In order to prevent the destruction of trout, the transfer of bass from one lake to another will not be permitted.

YMIR BRIEFS

YMIR, B. C., March 27.—The pupils of the Ymir public school gave a concert on Thursday afternoon. Miss Rendall, the teacher, presented each pupil with a small Easter gift and candy Easter eggs.

Miss Rendall will spend the holidays in Nelson, the guest of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Rendall.

E. F. Crawford of the Yankee Girl mine left for Nelson on Thursday evening.

Mrs. W. Coles visited with friends in Nelson for a few days recently.

Mr. and Mrs. Clarence McIsaac had as their guests recently, Mrs. H. Stevens and family.

SECURITY MARKET CLOSED, MONTREAL

MONTREAL, March 27—The security markets of Montreal were closed yesterday, the Easter holiday extending from the close of trading on Thursday until Tuesday morning. The banks were open.

During the day sterling exchange scored another rapid advance to close at $4.2005 as compared with $4.1857 on Thursday. United States money, on the other hand, was weak, slipping to 11⅛ per cent compared with 11⅝ on Thursday.

EGG PRICES LOW IN MONTREAL

MONTREAL, March 27—Prices of eggs in Montreal are very low. The best eggs, coming fresh from nearby points and Ottawa, are currently quoted in carlots or less at 18 to 19 for extras, 16 to 17 cents for firsts and 14 to 15 cents for seconds, delivered in Montreal.

Large Number Walk Out of Mining Meet as Ruling Is Opposed

VANCOUVER, March 27—Shareholders of Woodbine Gold Mining Co. at an extraordinary meeting Thursday had a somewhat hectic evening and a large number walked out when Alexander Henderson, K.C., president of the company, ruled against an amendment to a resolution which accepted a proposal from Missouri Ridge Gold Mines, and Ontario corporation, to take over Woodbine holdings.

The amendment asked that the meeting be postponed to April 29, when another proposal would be made. Meanwhile a committee would be appointed to investigate the proposed deal with the eastern interests.

NO APPLICATION MADE TO CLOSE WANETA STATION

W. K. Esling Takes Matter Up With Ottawa Authorities

OTTAWA, March 27—Residents of Waneta and Pend d'Oreille district recently petitioned West Kootenay member at Ottawa, protesting against the proposed closing of the Great Northern station at Waneta. Mr. Esling took the matter up with the board of railway commissioners and learned that up to the present time they have received no intimation from the Great Northern Railway company of any such proposal. The secretary of the board further states, that should such application be made, full opportunity for protests will be afforded.

Some time ago an effort was made to have the customs office removed from Waneta to Columbia Gardens, but the department of national revenue considered the point of so much importance that the removal was not sanctioned.

WINNIPEG WHEAT PRICES EASE OFF MORE THAN CENT

Finishes Week of Almost Continual Declines; Trading Uninteresting

WINNIPEG, March 27 (CP)—Finishing a week on almost continual declines wheat prices, under selling pressure from Chicago, eased more than one cent on Saturday's short session on the Winnipeg grain market. Trading was uninteresting throughout.

Subjected to spreading operations by Chicago interests, May option closed 1⅛ cent lower at 59¼. July was 1⅛ to 1 off at 61¼ to 61¼ and October ⅞ to 1 down at 63 cents.

The only support in evidence was of a local character and was insufficient to raise prices from bottom levels. No sales of wheat for export were reported. Outside news was of little interest as all European exchanges were closed.

Cash and coarse grains trading was featureless.

MINNEAPOLIS GRAIN

MINNEAPOLIS, Minn., March 27—Flour unchanged. In carload lots family patents 4.15 to 4.25 a barrel in 98-lb. cotton sacks. Shipments 36,500. Bran 14.50 to 15.00

NEW YORK, March 27—Sterling exchange strong at $3.74¼ for 60 day bills, and at $3.77¼ for demand.

Foreign bar silver 20½ cents.

Canadian dollar 10 per cent disc.

Franca 3.93⅛ cents.

Lire 5.18¼ cents.

Uruguay 47.50 cents.

Marks 23.79 cents

Kronen 20.39 cents.

Currencies Display Unusual Strength

NEW YORK, March 27—British currencies wound up the week Saturday by displaying unusual strength. The pound sterling was the outstanding feature of trading on local foreign exchanges. Cables soared to $3.77½, a new high mark for 1932 and eight cents above Friday's close. Demand finished the day at $3.76½, a gain of 6⅝ cents over the previous close and 13 cents higher than a week ago.

In sympathy with the pound the Canadian dollar firmed to 99 cents in United States funds. The best level the Dominion's currency has attained in some time. This figure represented a gain of 7-16 of one per cent over Friday's close and 9-16 over a week ago.

DUTY VALUE OF POUND IS FIXED AT $4.09

OTTAWA, March 27 (CP)—From April 1 to April 15, inclusive, the average value of the pound sterling for purposes of duty will be $4.09. This means that on importations from the United Kingdom a special duty of 31 cents to the pound sterling will be collected on dutiable goods entering Canada in that period.

It was also announced that the fixed value of $4.40 for the pound sterling, for purposes of duty, as set by the government some months ago, shall prevail up to and including June 30, 1932.

BRONK THREAT IS ELIMINATED BY LAKEHEADS

Thundering Herd Show Mighty Defence to Enter Allan Finals

OSSIE HACQUOIL COUNTS TWICE

Calgary Fails to Score Against Forts in Two-Seried Playoffs

WINNIPEG, March 27 (CP)—A mightier defensive hockey force than any other in the west, Fort William Thundering Herd last night carded their fourth straight shutout triumph and qualified to defend the Allan cup against the challenge of the east.

The fleet Herdsmen from Thunder Bay, masters of back-checking, eliminated Calgary Bronks, far-western bidders for the Canadian senior title, by taking the second of their two-game series 2 to 0. Forts won the first contest 3 to 0, capturing the round by a 5 to 0 count.

Little Ossie Hacquoil, leader of the lakehead machine's first string forward line, rattled in two goals that spelled defeat for Calgary last night. He got one early in the second period and the other in the third session.

FAIL TO FATHOM DEFENCE

The big Bronk team, conquerors of the hockey elite of Alberta, British Columbia and Saskatchewan, fought vainly to break through the stubborn defensive barricade patterned in front of them. They met with no more success than Winnipegs, Olympic champions who stumbled earlier in the week on the rugged Fort defence and went out of the playdown scene without once scoring.

Faster and far more dangerous on attack than in the first series game, Calgary fashioned numerous scoring chances in every period.

Dave Schriner, all front-liner whose rushes constituted the chief Bronk threat, weaved in close on Goalie Gordon Hacquoil a half dozen times during the contest but the foothills flash was unable to put over the finishing touch.

HACQUOIL FREQUENTLY IN DANGER

Hacquoil, high-strung, nervous puck stopper, went to his knees to handle nearly every shot directed at him and gain his fourth shutout in a row. The little fellow who turned back Winnipegs with sensational performances, holding them scoreless in three games—one exhibition and two playdown—was in danger frequently as the Bronks battled desperately to beat him.

His sturdy rear-guard, Ross Knowles and Bert Anderson, gave Hacquoil great protection. Knowles paved the way for the first Fort William tally early in the second period. He broke down center and at the Calgary defence slipped a pass to Ossie Hacquoil who skated in close and scored with a high shot that Goalie McDonald was helpless to handle.

OSSIE GETS SECOND ALSO

The midget center star got the other counter alone. In the third period he sped half way around the Calgary defence before firing a shot that caught a corner of the net.

With Johnny Salonen and Jazzy Manahan, Hacquoil worked perfectly. Manahan's terrific shots from the region of the blue line caused McDonald many anxious moments and Salonen peppered the Bronk netminder from all angles. Peter Paul and Harry Walshaw, Bronk defencemen, stood up manfully to the full-time job of keeping the Forts out of range and Paul was dangerous offensively.

Though they failed to score in the first period, Fort William had an edge on the play. Content for the most part to protect their three-goal lead, the Herdsmen occasionally broke away on brilliant sallies into Calgary territory. Don McLeod, veteran left winger, missed several chances to score and Bert Milligan lifted several drives at McDonald that made the goal-tender hop.

Ossie Hacquoil's first goal was the signal for the Forts to adopt strict defensive measures. A four-goal margin was sufficient and the lakeheaders seldom troubled themselves to add to it. The forward lines checked back to pull nearly every Calgary rush into the corners and Knowles and Anderson stepped into the hustling Bronks with an abandon that had the Albertans driving from long range before the session ended.

Hergert and Schriner combined prettily a couple of times, working in close for shots but Gordie Hacquoil took care of these. When the Forts went five goals up on the round in the third period and Calgary's last hope vanished, the Bronks kept up the pressure, striving to break down the bulwark that had been unbeaten in four games.

The Forts left tonight for home and planned to leave Fort William Thursday for Montreal where they meet either Toronto Nationals or Montreal A. A. A. in the Allan cup finals.

Rangers Eliminate Hamilton From the Scottish Cup Play

Kilmarnock Beat Airdale 3-2 in Dashing Football Game

GLASGOW, Scotland, March 27—(C P cable)—Before 80,000 spectators Rangers eliminated Hamilton Academicals from the Scottish Football association cup competition Saturday to enter the final while Kilmarnock won the other finalist's berth by trouncing Airdrieonians. Both matches were played in this city, Rangers and Hamilton performing at Celtic Park and Kilmarnock and Airdrie at Firhill. Fifty thousand saw the first game and 30,000 the other semi-final.

Hamilton got going first but the Glasgow club soon took command of the situation and Wright in the Academicals' goal was fortunate to save from McPhail. After D. Wilson and King had missed the Ranger goal when in good position for Hamilton to score Marshall netted, the ball bouncing eccentrically past the goalkeeper. English hit the target twice just before the interval. Rangers passed for a long time in the second half, Archibald goaling in the fourth minute on a pass from English and Marshal contributing another marker two minutes later. A minute from the end Herb dribbled through to score while King and Hamilton's second goal after running straight through the Ranger team from the kick-off.

The game at Firhill was fast and open, Airdrie playing in dashing style. Kilmarnock won by three goals to two.

The second half had an exciting start, a melee taking place in the Kilmarnock goalmouth. McDonald scored after a struggle with the Killie goalkeeper. However, 10 minutes later Maxwell sent Kilmarnock two up again when he netted on a shot from close range. After Paterson had scrambled out a shot from Duncan Airdrie put on a last minute rally which produced a goal through J. Paterson, their center forward, four minutes from time.

MAROONS AND FALCONS TIE FIRST PLAYOFF

Battle 60 Minutes to 1-1 Decision in Rough Joust

DETROIT, Mich., March 27. (CP)—Sixty minutes of bruising hockey left Montreal Maroons and Detroit Falcons tied at one goal apiece as they battled here tonight in the first game of their series to decide which of the third place cams shall continue in the National Hockey league playoffs.

The second game, at Montreal Tuesday, will decide the issue for total goals count on the round.

After a stirring first period offensive in which the homesters barged through the Maroon defensive bulwark with astounding ease and scored their lone goal off the sick of Johnny Sorrell, Falcons seemed to lose their stride under the hefty Montreal back checking system. Maroons then took took charge of the situation and were in command for practically the remainder of the game.

The second period was but a minute old when smooth-working Jimmy Ward sent a perfect pass to "Baldy" Northcott and the equalizer was scored. Northcott fired a bullet shot to Alex Connell and the hard working goalie dn't have time to make a move toward stopping the tally.

"HOOLEY" SMITH HURT

It was a bruising joust and minor injuries were frequent. The most serious fell to Hooley Smith when the Maroon forward was clipped on the jaw by a flying puck. Two stitches were taken to close the wound.

Nine penalties were called by the eagle-eyed referees, six for th Montreamers and three for the Falcons.

When Sorrell brought cheer to the hearts of the Detroit fans with his first period goal, Maroons were short-handed through a penalty to Babe Siebert. With the exception of that lone occasion the rock ribbed plan of backchecking warded off most of the threatening Detroit drives, and Goalie Flat Walsh absorbed the others with a finese.

A packed arena of 12,316 fans saw the throbbing play and Olympia officials announced gate receipts were $12,982. Immediately after the game both teams hustled off to the railway station to entrain for Montreal.

Squamish Indians to Have War Canoe Crew at Olympics

Red Nation Draw Attention to a Little Stanley Park History

VANCOUVER, B. C., March 27.—Squamish Indians expect to send a war canoe racing crew to the Olympic games, and have asked the Vancouver parks board for permission to use a cedar tree in Stanley park from which they will build their craft. They will race the boat under the name of "Stanley Park."

The commissioners frowned on the proposal to destroy any tree in the park, but are agreeable to the Indians using a windfall, if one suitable for their purpose is located.

In making application for the tree, the Squamish nation of Indians drew attention of commissioners to a little history.

"When we swore allegiance to the crown," they wrote, "Chief Capilano, who was acting with the admiralty as a guide, said, 'You take the land (Stanley park) on that side of the Narrows, and I will have this side (north shore), and we will both fight any invader.' Today we regret to report that keeping pace with the progress of civilization has denuded the section held by Chief Capilano of timber available for our purpose."

Esquimalt Indians on Vancouver Island will be represented at Los Angeles with a racing canoe.

C. Sands Signs Up With Maple Leafs

TORONTO, March 27— Toronto Maple Leafs of the National Hockey league added another youngster to their roster Saturday when it was announced Charlie Sands, husky right winger had been signed to a three year contract. Sands, a member of Port Arthur seniors of the Thunder Bay league, eliminated from Allan cup contention by Fort William, is just over the junior age limit. Terms of the contract were not made public.

Ed (passionately): "Je t'adore."
Mary (coldly): "Shut it yourself."

Pete Defeats Hagen, Loses Own Wager

By AL DEMAREE

(Former Pitcher, New York Giant)

hTe competitive spirit in all branches of athletics is far greater than the average follower of sports imagines. I have known pitchers who have placed very sizeable bets on certain teams to win the pennant in their league. I have also seen the same pitcher facing the team he has bet on earlier in the season, and knowing that if he wins the game he also loses his wager. Without exception the pitcher forgot all about his wager and his onl ythought was a personal triumph and to put another game to his credit in the win column.

Pete O'Hara illustrated this competitive spirit last year in the P.G.A. golf tournament. He was entirey sold on the idea of Walter Hagen being the ultimate winner and backed his opinion with money in a bet with Tom Creavey.

Pete forgot all about his wager on Walter when he met aHgen in the second round and eliminated him from the tournament.

I played 17 years of professional ball and I never saw a game that I did not believe was decided strictly on its merits, and I believe this is true in almost every branch of athletics.

MONTREAL A. A. A. TURNED BACK BY TORONTO SENIORS

National Sea Fleas Take 3-1 Decision Over Quebec's Best

TORONTO, March 27 (CP).—Toronto's highly rated National Sea Fleas marched a step further along the trail leading to the Allan cup at Maple Leaf Gardens Saturday night when they handed Montreal Winged Wheelers, senior monarchs of Quebec, a 3-1 reverse in the first of a two-game total-goal series. Nationals will carry their two-goal lead into the second game of the eastern Canadian senior final billed for Montreal Forum Wednesday. The ultimate winner will meet Fort William's western winners for the Dominion championship.

Three fast goals in a dashing third period rally gave Nationals their triumph over Wheelers and established them favorites to capture the round.

Although handicapped by the absence of Charlie Delahey, crafty front-line former ill here with influenza, Wheelers appeared to have an edge in the play during the first two periods, but penalties in the final chukker proved costly and Nationals ran in their three tallies.

NEW HAVEN WINS FIRST CAN.-AM. PLAYOFF GAME

NEW HAVEN, Conn., March 27.—New Haven Eagles opened the Canadian-American Hockey league playoff series tonight by overcoming an early two-goal lead to defeat Boston 4-3.

The visitors scored two quick tallies in the first period, followed by one for New Haven before the bell. The Eagles scored three times in the second while successfully defending their own goal. A goal by Boston in the final period ended the scoring.

SEVERAL INJURED IN SOCCER GAMES

English Week-End Matches Have Large Crowds; Arsenal Ties

LONDON, March 27 (C P cable)—Hard grounds brought a crop of injuries in English soccer matches on Saturday, when several were severely hurt.

It was estimated that 1,250,000 people saw soccer games in England on Good Friday and Saturday and greater crowds are expected at the Monday matches when the reverse side of the Friday fixtures will be presented.

Forty thousand packed Upton park and saw the Arsenal struggle along without James to earn a draw, each side scoring one goal.

Arsenal's cup final rivals, Newcastle United, also drew, their opponents being Derby County. Only McInroy's goal-keeping saved Newcastle from being scored against more often while they obtained the tieing goal only three minutes from time on Boyd's penalty. Each side scored three times.

Liverpool, though beaten by Sunderland, suffered defeat for only the second time at home this season. They have lifted themselves to a leading position in the league championship race and are enjoying one of the best seasons in the history of the club.

Grimsby town, hovering on the brink of relegation, managed to gather a couple of valuable points by beating the weakened Manchester City club.

Sixty-five thousand fans saw Aston Villa beat West Bromwich Albion by two points to nil.
