CONCENTRATE AT SIBERIAN BORDER

Report Obtained Show Clearly "Specific Provocative Aims"

MOSCOW, March 4 (AP) (By Stanley P. Richardson, Associated Press staff correspondent)—Soviet Russia admitted today she was concentrating an army near the far-eastern Siberian border to defend herself against "a Japanese attack"

The admission was made in the government organ Izvestia and was inspired by a statement of the Tokyo foreign office on February 29. As published here, the foreign office statement quoted the Japanese consul in Vladivostok as saying Soviet Russia was concentrating large bodies of troops and munitions there and predicting a "collision" soon between Japan and Russia.

Asserting that the Japanese information was obtained from "foreigners" in Vladivostok, the newspaper said the Japanese report clearly showed "specific provocative aims'

Japanese Land 10,000 More Reinforcements, Shanghai

Chinese Advices State Japanese Attacked Their Forces; Make Firm Resistance; Peace Demands Are Not Accepted

SHANGHAI, March 5.—(Saturday)—By Morris J. Harris. Associated Press Staff Correspondent—Copyrighted, 1932, by the Associated Press)—The Japanese army of occupation in control of a wide area about Shanghai was increased today by 10,000 reinforcements.

As the men were landed from their transports the battle area was generally quiet—although there were reports of an action at Taitsang, 25 miles northwest of Shanghai—but this city was disturbed by Chinese government announcement that the latest Japanese peace terms had been rejected.

Army units totalling 8000 men were landed during the last 24 hours at Liuho on the southern bank of the Yangtze and 2000 more were put ashore at Woosung. It was understood bluejackets who had been on duty in those areas were returning to their ships.

JAPANESE ATTACK

Officials Chinese advices from Taitsang late in the day said the Japanese eleventh division had attacked the Chinese forces there and that a battle was under way, adding that the Chinese were putting up stiff resistance.

Low Wen Kan, the Nanking foreign minister, was the authority for rejection of the new Japanese series of demands, which have been characterized by the Chinese as meaning a complete surrender.

Japanese military and naval officials denied that fighting was taking place around Taitsang despite reports from travellers they had heard the rumble of artillery. The same authorities said they did not care to discuss the rejection of Japanese demands by the Chinese.

This was the way the Japanese put it:

"The Japanese forces are main-

TIME TO STUDY HEALTH FINDINGS, URGE OF BORDEN

Nelson Member Would Give People Time to Appreciate Issue Involved

VICTORIA, March 4.—Dr. L. E. Borden, Conservative, Nelson, urged the legislature today to give a year's hoist to action on the report of the royal commission on state health insurance and maternity benefits, so that the public would have adequate opportunity to study the findings, when printed.

Debate on the issue was adjourned. Dr. Borden made his proposals when speaking to a motion standing in his name that suggested printing of the state health report and also the findings of the chiropractic commission. In elaborating his remarks on state health matters, the member for Nelson, who was a member of the royal commission which studied the question at the request of the legislature, said he believed a year's delay would serve to give the public a better idea of what was proposed. The report should be printed and distributed with this end in view, he urged. Action on the issue was stood over.

The assembly spoke in the form of a three-point resolution which also provided for assistance in the negotiations from representatives of the great powers.

Naotake Sato, the Japanese representative, joined in supporting the resolution and smilingly abandoned an effort to put the movements of Chinese forces within the terms of the proposed negotiations.

The assembly's action came after the Chinese delegate, W. W. Yen, had delivered an impassioned appeal

Pattullo Withdraws "Public Asylum" for Phrase "Public Forum"

VICTORIA, March 4—Members of the legislature are still wondering what T. D. Pattullo, leader of the opposition meant today when he referred to the legislative assembly as a "public asylum" warned by Mr. Speaker, Mr. Pattullo, withdrew the term, but sent for the Oxford dictionary. The debate that on the tabling of the P. G. E. resources report wound its way to a close after three days of speeches and several divisions in which the government was sustained.

What Mr. Pattullo found in the Oxford dictionary secured from the provincial library was not disclosed to the house. In place of the term however, the leader of the opposition supplemented "public forum" a prase to which Mr. Speaker did not object.

ORANGEMEN CALLED TO PURIFY ORDER

TORONTO, March 4.—Nine county masters of the Orange order have issued a circular letter calling on "all true Orangemen" to "purify the order" by sweeping "the politicians and ward heelers" out of executive office.

The circular concludes with the intimation that if the Orange order is not freed from "party political domination" it "may be necessary to organize an Independent Orange order, as was done in Ireland a few years ago".

RULES UPHILLS MOTION OUT OF ORDER

VICTORIA, March 4—Mr. Speaker Davie ruled out of order today a motion on the order paper standing in the name of Tom Uphill, Labor, Fernie, urging on the provincial and federal parliaments reduction of legal sinking fund requirements by 50 per cent and compulsory conversion of government securities to others at three per cent interest. The resolution stressed that vast savings could be effected by following this plan. Mr. Speaker said repudiation of debt by a third party could not be enjoined by act of the provincial assembly, and for this and other reasons he must declare the motion out of order.

Lapua Rebels Break Out Anew in Finland

HELSINGFORS, Finland, March 4.—(AP)—The fascist revolt broke out anew at Kyvaskyla, the Lapua rebels taking charge of the town and severing communications with the outside world.

At the same time the rebels continued to hold Mantsala, 25 miles from the capital, where the uprising began nearly a week ago and sent emissaries to President Svinhufvud but nothing came of their trip.

The government announced that elsewhere the rebellion appeared to have collapsed.

Heart-Broken Father, Mother Beg for Word of Kidnapped Child

NILES, Ohio, March 4.—A heart-broken father and mother tonight begged for some word from the kidnapper of their 12-year old son. James De Jute, wealthy Niles contractor whose son, James Jr., was abducted while on his way to school Wednesday morning, even while the whole nation was learning of the kidnapping of the Lindbergh baby, appealed for some news.

His wife, hysterical since the kidnapping, broke under the strain today and became ill.

There has been no letter, no telephone call, no communication of any kind, from the two men who grabbed the boy and dashed away with him in an automobile.

MOTHER AND FIVE CHILDREN BURN TO DEATH

Lad of 16 Escapes and Gives Alarm; Father, Eldest Son Away

ST. JOHN'S, Nfld., March 4.—(CP)—Trapped by flames that destroyed their home early today, Mrs. Robert Best and her five small children were burned to death at Northwest River, Labrador.

News of the tragedy reached here by wireless in a message received by S. E. Oakley, manager of the Hudson's Bay company at Saint John's.

The father and the eldest son were away from home trapping at the time of the fire, the message stated.

Another son, aged 16, was awakened by his mother's calls. Rushing through the flames, he made his way out of the house and sought help from neighbors, but when they arrived it was too late to render assistance. The wooden building was enveloped in flames, which blocked Mrs. Best and her children from possible escape and the neighbors from entry.

Indian Princes and Military Men Given Honors by Willingdon

BOMBAY, March 4 (AP)—With pomp and ceremony, Viceroy Lord Willingdon tonight held an elaborate investiture, conferring honors on several Indian princes and government military men.

In the midst of the gorgeous scene Sir Charles Watson, political secretary to the government of India, fell in a fainting spell at the feet of turbaned and bejeweled Maharajahs. He was carried out while Lord Willingdon continued to confer decorations on those who had served Indian and Britain.

Among those decorated was Colonel Sir Hassan Suhrawaddy, vice-chancellor of Calcutta university, for gallantry. He saved the life of Jackson of Bengal recently in an attempted assassination by a girl student.

SNOWSHOE PARTY EFFECTS RESCUE OF SICK TRAPPER

Make Round Trip in 14 Hours Hazardous; Jordan Resting Well

CRESTON, B. C., March 4.—After 14 hours steadily on the trail, the snowshoe rescue party that started up Summit creek Wednesday afternoon to bring in Ed Jordan, safely placed the unfortunate trapper in Creston Valley Public hospital late Thursday evening, where he is resting comfortably, and will be operated on as soon as his enfeebled condition will permit. The last two miles of the trip was made in the auto of provincial police officer R. H. Hassard, who, accompanied by the doctor, met the party at the Kootenay river ferry.

After but a brief rest at the cabin the party of four left the Jordan abode about 7 o'clock Thursday morning, and when about two hours out they were met by another party of five who had set out later Wednesday afternoon to assist with the rescue, and by keeping steadily going, the nine volunteers reached the ferry shortly after 8 o'clock, and the police and hospital were promptly advised.

The descent from an altitude of about 2500 feet over almost 20 miles of circuitous and heavily snowed-up trail, with here and there a hillside to aggravate the going, was made with Jordan on a hastily constructed toboggan, and at times it took all nine of them to haul and carefully direct the carryall so as to provide the maximum of comfort.

According to the attending physician, it is fortunate Jordan had his solitary two-day vigil at his cabin, as it is believed the 48 hours of complete rest aided the growth of a certain amount of protective tissue around the abscess, putting the patient in better condition.

ONTARIO MORTGAGE MORATORIUM BILL IS GIVEN ASSENT

TORONTO, March 4—The Ontario government's mortgage moratorium bill became law today when Sir William Mulock, administrator during vacancy of the lieutenant-governorship, gave it royal assent. The bill provides that, for a period of one year, no holder of a mortgage may foreclose on account of non-payment of mortgage principal without permission of the courts. Interest payments were unaffected by the bill.

Bessborough's Example in Taking Reduction Cut Is Not Followed

OTTAWA, March 4—No provincial lieutenant-governors, or judges, have so far followed the example of the governor-general of Canada in voluntarily sharing in the proposed 10 per cent salary cut in salaries of the public service, Edgar N. Rhodes, minister of finance, stated in the house today when asked by Mackenzie King, leader of the opposition

LINDBERGH OFFERS TO DEAL DIRECTLY WITH KIDNAPPERS OF HIS SON

Friend of Nursemaid Held for Questioning; Believe Have Important Clue From Him; Red Plane Lands Late at Night

WHEREABOUTS OF COLONEL LINDBERGH IS CAUSING MUCH CONTROVERSY

Further Word From Unknown Informs That Baby Is Safe; Asks Lindberghs to Make Things Quiet; Green Coupe Found

A wall of seemingly impenetrable mystery was thrown about progress of the search for the kidnapped Lindbergh baby early today by conflicting information which alternately placed the flying colonel in a Connecticut-bound plane and at his Hopewell, N. J., home.

Werner Newhause, an airport manager, said he saw Col. Lindbergh take off with a pilot from near Hopewell for Hartford, Connecticut, presumably in connection with the detention there of Henry (Red) Johnson, whose answers to the questions of Connecticut officers was described as furishing "a very important clue."

More than an hour after Newhause made this statement John J. Toohey, secretary to Governor A. Harry Moore, said he just had been assured by authorities at the Lindbergh home that the colonel was seen there at 2:30 a.m.

Johnson, friend of Miss Betty Gow, nursemaid of the stolen child, was taken into custody for questioning at the request of New Jersey authorities.

State's Attorney Hugh M. Alcorn at Hartford said Johnson would be held "on the strength of his own story."

Newspaper men were not overlooking the possibility that the entire angle would divert attention from the Hopewell directly in accordance with the joint plea anxious parents made yesterday.

READY TO NEGOTIATE

HOPEWELL, N. J., March 4. (By Francis A. Jamieson, Associated Press staff writer. Copyright, 1932, by the Associated Press)—An offer to deal directly and confidentially with the kidnappers of their blue-eyed young son was made personally today by Col. and Mrs. Charles A. Lindbergh.

Just 62 hours after the child was stolen from his sick-bed, the two anxious parents, who had seen a mountain of clues and leads fade one by one into insignificance, signed their names to a typewritten statement. It pledged them not "to try to injure in any way those connected with the return of the child" and to observe faithfully any promise.

The 145-word message to the kidnappers, emphasizing that the Lindberghs' only interest was in the immediate and safe return of their baby boy, made it clear that their willingness to meet a $50,000 ransom demand had failed to obtain any response.

Almost simultaneously with the issuance of this joint plea, Governor Harry A. Moore sought to coordinate the nation-wide man-hunt by requesting officials from the eastern half of the United States, including representatives of President Hoover, to confer with him tomorrow.

SIX PLANES TAKE PROSPECTORS TO GREAT BEAR LAKE

First of Anticipated Spring Rush to Northern Ore Fields

EDMONTON, Alta., March 4.—(CP)—Six airplanes today roared away from the airport here, headed for the mineral area of Great Bear lake, 1500 miles to the north. They formed the first of the anticipated spring rush to take from the wilderness its wealth of radium-bearing pitchblende and other minerals.

Men, mining equipment and supplies were loaded onto the planes just before the take-off on the long flight was made. Tonight saw further preparations around the airport, and with warmer weather numerous other planes are expected to carry prospectors and mining company officials into the territory.

Five of the airplanes were chartered from the Canadian Airways Limited and one was owned by the Spence McDonough Aviation company.

Numbered among the passengers were advancing crews of miners for Labine Brothers company, and the Great Bear Lake Mining company. R. Porritt, of the Northern Traders company, was also a passenger.

According to the men just before they left they form the advance crews of large parties who will follow into the territory by plane in the near future.

DEBATE ON P. G. E. BROUGHT TO CLOSE

VICTORIA, March 4 (CP)—Debate on the Pacific Great Eastern railway resources report tabled in the legislature by the government several days ago, was brought to a close this afternoon after three days of speeches and a division, in which the government's action in initiating the survey was endorsed by the members 27 to 9.

"Fighting Ship" Bill Is Urged by Covington

WASHINGTON, March 4. (AP)—Assailing Canadian competition with American vessels on Alaska runs during the summer season, Harry Covington, representing the Alaska Steamship company, urged before a senate committee the enactment of the "fighting ship" bill today.

This bill would amend the Shipping act. The term "fighting ship" is defined as a foreign vessel used in particular trade so as to produce unwarranted and excessive competition with American ships.

FIANNA FAIL PARTY GETS TWO MORE SEATS

DUBLIN, Irish Free State, March 4 (AP)—First elections returns from Sligo-Leitrim, where the voting was postponed because a local candidate was shot before the general election, showed tonight that the Fianna Fail party of Eamonn de Valera had won two seats and the Government party one.

Bill to Stop further Disbursements to the Wheat Fund, Defeated

EDMONTON, Alta., March 4.—(CP)—A Liberal resolution which would have stopped further disbursements from the wheat board trust fund and which would have provided that the interest be used for university scholarships for students in agriculture, was defeated by the legislature this afternoon.

The income tax bill was introduced during the afternoon by Hon. R. G. Reid, provincial treasurer, and given first reading without debate. Printed copies of the bill are not yet available.

Believed to Have Been Outlaw Before Shooting Constable

EDMONTON, March 4.—The Edmonton Bulletin publishes the following story from Aklavik, N.W.T.:

"Thousands of dollars in cash, a poke of gold dust, some valuable jewels and a set of false teeth on a gold plate were found in the bullet riddled pack behind which Albert Johnson, mad trapper of the north, met his end when he made his last stand against a police posse on the Eagle river near the old Yukon trail. The officers sought Johnson for the slaying of one Royal Canadian Mounted policeman and the wounding of another.

"Johnson's own teeth were perfect, and police found no reason why he carried false teeth. Some of the bills found on the dead trapper were of large denomination, it was stated, and the amount was close to $3000. Value of the gold dust found on Johnson was not made known. There were seven jewels, but it was not known whether they were torn from settings or purchased loose.

"The body of the slain outlaw was a mere bag of bones. Not one of the men from the Yukon and Northwest Territories who viewed the body could say they had seen the man before. Police believed that Johnson was an outlaw long before he shot down Constable Alfred King at his cabin door and killed Constable Millen as he fled from his pursuers."

MANITOBA FARM RELIEF BILL IS RUSHED THROUGH

Distressed Farmers to Get Seed and Fodder; Expenditure $675,000

WINNIPEG, March 4 (CP)—Speedy action by the Manitoba legislature in giving third reading tonight to the emergency farm relief will make feed for livestock and seed for spring sowing soon available to distressed farmers of the province.

The bill provides for the largest single relief scheme ever undertaken by the province and will require an estimated expenditure of $675,000. It enables the government to guarantee loans secured from banks by municipalities for the purchase of fodder and seed for farmers within their borders and is for the relief of areas where there were total or partial crop failures last year.

Some opposition developed to a clause which permits a tenant farmer to give a promissory note to the municipality which may in the discretion of the council become a first charge on the land and collectable as taxes. Sanford Evans, Independent Conservative, moved that this clause be stricken out as it meant additional taxes for the owner but failed to secure sufficient support. The bill was backed by the solid support of the Progressive members and general support of the Liberals and Conservatives.

famous flyer's home, where most of the east's law enforcement agencies have been scrutinizing clues and questioning men and women by the hundreds.

The caller wanted to know whether immunity would be granted the kidnappers if they decided to return the abducted 20-months-old child.

Police tried to trace the call, but whether they succeeded no one could say.

President Hoover delegated J. Edgar, chief of the bureau of investigation at the department of justice, to leave at once to attend the Trenton conference.

JOHNSON TAKEN INTO CUSTODY

HARTFORD, Conn., March 4.—(By Fred B. Marbut, Associated Press staff correspondent)—Henry (Red) Johnson, friend of Betty Gow, the nursemaid to the kidnapped Lindbergh baby, was taken into custody here tonight coincident with the discovery of a letter and a postcard in the Hartford post office addressed to Col. and Mrs. Charles A. Lindbergh.

In front of the house of his brother, John Johnson, was found a green coupe which the authorities described as similar to the one seen near the Lindbergh home the night of the kidnapping, March 2.

County Detective Edward J. Hickey, who became nationally known for his investigation in the case of Gerald Chapman, hanged for murder, questioned Johnson while waiting for the New Jersey officers and announced he believed he had obtained "a very important clue".

SIMILAR LETTER POSTED

The special delivery letter, mailed at a corner box, was addressed to Mrs. Lindbergh and forwarded to Hopewell. The postcard, printed similarly to the first one received by the colonel earlier in the week, read:

"Baby still safe. Get things quiet."

The address read: "Chas. Lindbergh, Princetown, N. J." The J. was reversed, as it was on the first card. The word "quiet" was underlined.

Hickey and State's Attorney Hugh M. Alcorn refused to make public any further details of their examination of Johnson, who told newspaper men he had been out of work and had come here to visit his brother.

RED PLANE LANDS

HARTFORD, Conn., March 5.—A red plane landed at Brainard field at 3:15 a.m. today. A crowd of more than 300 and squads of policemen quickly gathered about it.

The plane, which observers at the field at first believed might have been one carrying Col. Charles A. Lindbergh here, was later found to be occupied by New York newspaper photographers.

FOUND CAR AND MILK BOTTLE

TRENTON, N. J., March 4.—John J. Toohey, secretary to Governor A. Harry Moore, said tonight he had been informed by Hugh M. Alcorn, Connecticut state's attorney, that Harry Johnson, friend of the nursemaid of the Kidnapped Lindbergh baby, had been placed under arrest at Hartford, Conn.

"We've got the car," Alcorn told Toohey, "and we've got a milk bottle found in the car."

Alcorn said Johnson had talked with Miss Betty Gow, the Lindbergh nurse, by telephone Tuesday night, when the baby was kidnapped.

SWEARS TO BABY'S WHEREABOUTS

CHICAGO, Ill., March 4.—The police and the Secret Six said today a man who identified himself as Charles Knuds signed a sworn statement in which he said the Lindbergh baby was being held at 2816 South avenue, Niagara Falls, N. Y., by a woman named Mary Konner, who lived at that address.

CLAIMS HE TOOK TO AIR

TRENTON, N. J., March 5 (Saturday). (AP)—Werner Newhause, manager of the Princeton airport, said he saw Col. Charles A. Lindbergh take off with a pilot from a small field near Hopewell, N. J., early today, for Hartford, Conn.

More than an hour after Newhause said he had seen Lindbergh take off, John J. Toohey, secretary of Governor A. Harry Moore, said he had just been assured by police at the Lindbergh home at Hopewell that the colonel had been seen there at 2:30 a.m. A telephone call direct to the Lindbergh home by a report was met with the statement that authorities there would neither confirm nor deny that the colonel was there.

The Nassau inn at Princeton, where Pilot Kall had been staying, said he had left his hotel room early for an airport, but hotel employees were unable to confirm the Lindbergh flight.

At 3 a.m. Major Charles A. Schoeffel of the New Jersey state police reiterated to Toohey that Col. Lindbergh was in his Hopewell home.

PATROL ROADS

SPRINGFIELD, Mass., March 3.—All roads leading into this city from Hartford were patrolled by state and city police this morning after warning had been flashed from Hartford to watch for a roadster with three men and a baby in it.

Police expressed the belief an attempt might be made to move the child from Hartford to this city as search centered in the Connecticut city little more than 20 miles away.

To committeemen pondering how to secure jobs for the idle I'd suggest a conference with Ma on how she manages it on Pa's day off.

Where you start doesn't matter as much as what.

Deafness and Head Noises From Catarrh

If you have catarrh, catarrhal deafness or head noises caused by catarrh, if your nostrils are clogged or if phlegm drops in your throat causing catarrh of the stomach or bowels, secure proper treatment at once. Otherwise you may lose your health, become a wornout catarrhal wreck with your smell, taste, and hearing completely gone.

Sprays, salves and inhalers may bring you temporary relief, but permanent escape from this dangerous, health-sapping, disgusting disease can only come from a constitutional treatment that will expel the catarrhal poison from your system. So go to your druggist today for an ounce of Parmint, take this home and add to it a little sugar and ¼ pint hot water. A tablespoonful taken four times a day will act upon the blood and mucous membrane and bring relief.

Think what it will mean to breathe freely again, to hear plainly, smell, taste, and arise in the morning refreshed and strong, with clear head and throat free from phlegm. Certainly you cannot enjoy or benefit from life so long as you are afflicted with catarrh. So for your own sake give Parmint a trial—start treatment today.

Robins Appear in Vicinity of Thrums

THRUMS, B. C., March 4—Mrs. McLeod and Frank were visitors to Trail last week.

Miss Quast who has been the guest of Mr. and Mrs. R. W. Chalmers left on Monday to reside at Port Crawford.

Mr. Brazell from Bonnington spent Sunday at Thrums.

Frank McLeod, Norman Johnstone and Ralph Challiers, spent last Monday in Nelson visiting Mr. and Mrs. Smith, Fairview.

Several robbins have returned to the district and pussy willows are blooming. Pruning is proceeding and preparations being made for an early spring.

FISH CULTURE MAKES BARREN LAKE FISHERMAN'S PARADISE

OTTAWA, March 4. (CP)—Trout fry placed in the heretofore barren waters of the Medicine-Maligne lake system in Jasper park by the fish culture branch of the department of fisheries grew and multiplied so quickly that during the past summer fish as heavy as six pounds were taken by anglers, and there seemed to be a limitless supply.

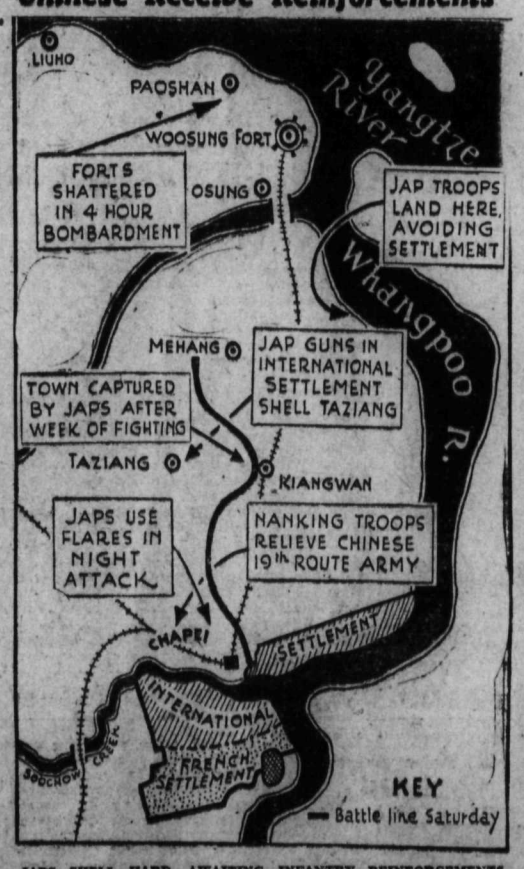
Until three or four years ago, the famous Medicine-Maligne lakes system was barren of fish, although trout were present in some other parts of the park, but in 1928 the fish culture branch of the fisheries department began to stock these waters with eastern speckled trout, and now these fish are abundant.

On the southern part of Maligne lake on one calm evening last September, the surface was so ruffled by the splashes of young trout as to give "an appearance of heavy rain", and that is not the "fish story" of a careless fellow, but the statement of Dr. A. Bajkov and Dr. F. Neave, scientists on the staff of the biological board of Canada, who have recently made a report on the results of the steps taken in stocking Jasper waters. "The stocking of the Maligne-Medicine lakes system with speckled trout," the report says further, "has given results second to none in the history of fish culture."

Using rod and line for test fishing in Maligne, Dr. Bajkov and Dr. Neave found sport "so good that three or four hours with one rod produced over 100 pounds of fish." In Beaver lake, which lies about a mile from the southern portion of Medicine lake, "as soon as the spoon struck the water the trout rushed from all directions." In order to get some further idea as to the abundance of the fish the investigators set a 30-foot gill net in Beaver lake. 'Over 400 fish were caught in about two hours, so that most of the next two hours had to be spent in cutting the meshes of the net and releasing the fish into the lake again."

The trout are growing to be big fellows, too. The first fry put into the Medicine-Maligne system by the fish culture people were distributed in 1928. That is only four years ago, but a trout taken in Maligne lake a few weeks ago tipped the scale at six pounds, an exceptional weight for a 3-year old speckled trout.

Chinese Receive Reinforcements



JAPS SHELL HARD, AWAITING INFANTRY REINFORCEMENTS

Heavy attacks by aeroplane bombs and artillery marked the battlefront at Shanghai February 27, as the Japanese prepared the way for fresh troops expected to arrive from Japan. Particularly fierce was the attack upon the Paoshan forts at the mouth of the Whangpoo, past which the troopships would have to sail. Taziang and Chapei also suffered from the renewed firing, the Japanese aeroplanes dropping flares to light up the Chinese positions. Mopping up of the small Chinese remnant holding Kiangwan, centre of the fiercest fighting so far, was claimed as Japanese infantry drove out snipers and established contacts in the rear of the town. Meanwhile fresh troops from Nanking steamed into Markham station in full view of the Japanese and relieved parts of the 19th Routh army.

FIVE EXCHANGES SHOW EXPANSION DURING JANUARY

Trail Has Largest Gain, 14 Phones; Nelson Largest of 17 Exchanges

Only five telephone exchanges in the Kootenay registered an increase in the number of telephones between January 1 and February 1, five stood pat on their figures of New Year's day, and seven recorded declines, according to the table given in Telephone Talk, the magazine issued by the British Columbia Telephone company, just received here.

Trail exchange added 14 phones, Invermere three, and Rossland, Grand Forks and Balfour one each. The exchanges that neither gained nor lost were those of Creston, New Denver, Rock Creek, Nakusp and Sandon.

Nelson and Cranbrook each dropped five services during the month, Kimberley dropped four, Kaslo and Michel dropped two each, and Fernie and Greenwood one each.

Altogether, the 17 exchanges had an aggregate of 5539 services in effect on February, distributed as follows: Nelson 1642; Trail 1518; Cranbrook 565; Fernie 309; Rossland 296; Grand Forks 285; Creston 136; Invermere 113; Kimberley 107; Kaslo 102; New Denver 86; Greenwood 48; Michel 44; Rock Creek 38; Nakusp 33; Balfour 13, Sandon 9.

for measures to halt the Japanese military advance around Shanghai, which he declared was continuing.

INSIST ON MEASUBES

"I insist," he said, "that this assembly takes measures to assure cessation of these hostilities and the arrangement of a formal armistice."

Dr. Yen charged that Japanese troops kept on fighting after an order had been given to cease firing, and the Japanese immediately arose to deny this, asserting that their troops would be withdrawn as soon as conditions warranted.

The assembly leaders proceeded to draft and press through its resolution, which was designed to clarify the situation as to the truth of falsity of an armistice report and to institute proceedings leading to the retirement of the Japanese forces.

The assembly will meet again Saturday to consider the situation further.

taining the same positions as yesterday, calling a halt to their hostilities and concentrating their units within an area east of a line drawn between Nanziang and Kating." (This in effect would be a consolidation of the Japanese positions around the 12½-mile limit imposed by their recent ultimatum.)

MAINTAIN DEFENCE INDEFINITELY

If China has rejected the Japanese demands, the Japanese military officials expressed the opinion that the military would likely maintain its defence lines around Shanghai indefinitely.

A survey began today of devastated Chapel, Paoshan, Woosung, Kiangwan and other nearby points. What to do with hundreds of thousands of homeless refugees encamped within the international settlement and the French concession gave relief societies and authorities a pressing problem.

Among the refugees are 121,250,000 women and 20,000 children millworkers as well as many hundreds of wounded Chinese soldiers.

FIELDS LOSES FIGHT

BOSTON, Mass. March 4—The jinx that pursues ring champions in Boston tonight fell on Jackie Fields, re-crowned welterweight titleholder for the second time in three years, and he was decisively outpointed by Johnny Indrisano, a clever homebred, in the Boston Garden's 10-round feature. Both weighed over the limit, Fields scaling 148½ and his conqueror 151¼.

CASTLEGAR FERRY WILL BE OFF FOR NEARLY A WEEK

Roads Remain Closed Despite Colder Weather, for the Present

Temporary closing of the Trail-Castlegar link of the Nelson-Trail highway, the South Slocan-Nakusp connection by way of Slocan, and the Nakusp-Edgewood connection on the Arrow lakes, to all motor traffic except of the lightest character, went into effect Friday, to save these trunk highways from damage during the spring break-up.

Advantage is being taken of the closing of the Trail-Castlegar section to give the Castlegar ferry its annual spring overhauling, and the department of public works expects the ferry to be out of action from next Monday to Thursday. So for that period there will be no motor traffic of any kind between Nelson and Trail, the Nelson-Nelway highway, which ordinarily is an alternative route, being still closed for the portion between Apex and Salmo.

The recent colder nights, with freezing temperatures, have retarded the break-up somewhat, but the closure of the roads will remain in effect for the present.

WEYBURN WINS SASKATCHEWAN HOCKEY TITLE

WEYBURN, Sask., March 4.—The Weyburn Beavers are Saskatchewan senior hockey champions. This much was decided at Weyburn tonight when the Beavers held the Quakers to a 2-all count and by virtue of their 3-1 win at Saskatoon the Weyburnites take the round 5-3. The Beavers will next meet the winners of the Alberta-British Columbia series for the right to meet the head of the lakes winners.

MERCURY DROPS TO 16 DEGREES

The mercury dropped again Friday with low temperature for the 24-hour period ending at 5 p.m. 16 degrees, the lowest temperature for over a week. High temperature for the same period was 30 degrees.

Dusty city streets were once again covered by a blanket of white early Friday, but traffic and mild temperatures soon turned the one-inch snowfall to slush. The weather turned colder Friday night resulting in a steady snowfall.

ARROW LAKES TO REVERT AT ONCE TO THROUGH CARD

Minto Completes Ice-Breaking and Passage Is Now Open

SUMMER SCHEDULE STARTS NEXT WEEK

Slocan Service Also Goes on Summer Basis; Time Shortened

Capt. Walter Wright's job of ice-breaking on the Arrow lakes, with the steamer Minto using a barge as ice-breaker, was completed Friday, when he broke a passage through from Needles to Edgewood, having cleared the Narrows as far as Needles Tuesday.

In consequence of this, the C. P. R. services on the Arrow lakes and on Slocan lake will revert to the summer schedule at the first of the week, and the steamer Columbia, that has been giving the winter service on the Lower Arrow lake, will be tied up, while the Minto will be the through steamer.

THROUGH SCHEDULE

Under the through schedule, the Minto will leave Robson on Tuesday and Friday mornings at 7 o'clock, going through to Nakusp on the Upper Arrow lake. On Wednesday and Saturday mornings it will leave Nakusp at 7 for Arrowhead, arriving there at 10:15, and after connecting with the Revelstoke train, will leave at 11:30 on the return trip to Nakusp. On Monday and Thursday mornings it will leave Nakusp at 7 o'clock on the down trip to Robson, where it will connect at night with the Kettle Valley trains, and take on passengers for the northbound trip.

The Slocan service will go on a summer basis at the same time, being given on the same days as at present—Mondays and Thursdays—but with the steamer Rosebery making Rosebery instead of Slocan City its base, and with a quicker service from the Slocan to Nelson by several hours, as there will be no connection with Nakusp to or from Nelson.

SLOCAN TIME-CARD

By this schedule, the Slocan branch train will leave Nelson at 8:25 a.m. for Slocan City, where it will connect with the steamer Rosebery for the up-trip, the steamer connecting at Rosebery with the Sandon-Nakusp train, bound for Sandon.

For the trip to Nelson, the Sandon-Nakusp train leaves Sandon at 8:05 a.m., connecting with the steamer Rosebery which leaves at 9:40 for Slocan City, from which point the Slocan branch train leaves for Nelson at 1:05 p.m., arriving here at 4:15, instead of between 7 and 8 o'clock.

"We have no reason to conceal the fact that conditions in the far east, emphasized by such facts, compel the Soviet union to strengthen its defensive capacity and the safety of its border, particularly by increasing the army near the far-eastern borders.

"The most we can do is to adopt all possible measures to defend our frontier against outside attacks."

This first official admission that Russia is engaged in defensive manoeuvres was also inspired by documents attributed to high Japanese military officials. These documents, the newspaper said, proposed not only the invasion of Siberia but a combination with other nations in an attack on the Soviet union.

YOUNG CHINA MOVEMENT LARGE FACTOR IN CAUSE OF TURMOIL ACROSS THE PACIFIC OCEAN

Are Under Influence of Soviet Agents; Manchuria Is Trouble

By W. T. MacDONALD-MILLER

The underlying cuse for the present situation in the Far East, or at least one of the most important of the contributing factors in the critical period of the northern part of the "Flowery Kingdom" can be laid, to a large degree, at the door of the Young China movement, aided and abetted largely by the influence of the Russian Soviet agents. This movement has for years clamored for complete independence as far as foreign powers and their vast interests are concerned, both commercially and diplomatically.

Under the late Dr Sun Yat Sen, China was as near unity as she has ever been in the modern era, and during his regime students were encouraged to come to the Americas to study American ways and business methods.

At the death of the president, the U S. S. R. saw an opportunity to create dissension and friction between China and the great Western powers of the world, who had vast interests in the country. To this end they sent over many agents who inflamed the students to a high pitch, and among those students who came back with just enough knowledge to make them dangerous, this propaganda took effect with immediate and disasterous results.

Propaganda and agitation was poured forth, boycotts and strikes kept the country in a seething mass of disquietude, with the students, pushed hard by the Russian reds, always in the foreground and the peasants following their lead blindly.

Young China's first aim was to take over the railways existant in China on the plea that they were being used by the foreign powers for the transportation of goods from which China derived no commercial benefit.

So strong were the representations that finally the interested powers turned over the management of the railroads to the Chinese, who stepped into positions of responsibility without any previous experience.

These men immediately fell prey to the inducements of the many so-called generals, in commmand of roving armies, who were levying heavy tribute on the countryside.

Very rapidly the railways became less interested in the conveyance of commerce and more and more interested in transportation of men and arms.

The Trans-Siberian railway has been built in links, and although the terminus is now at Shanghai it was originally proposed that the southern, or eastern terminus be Kowloon at Hong-Kong. This, however, has never come about although the 800 mile gap between Hong-Kong and Shanghai has been surveyed and prepared for the laying of steel.

At the present time one travels from Shanghai via Nankin, Peping, Puchow, Tsientain and through to Moscow. The governing of the railway being taken over at the Russian border by the Soviet.

When the Trans-Siberian railway in China was orignally built it was operated by English, French, Japanese and American interests.

It was the interference with the carriage of goods on a Japanese section of the railway during the Chinese boycott on Japanese goods, that brought about the present critical situation in the Far East; one which the great nations of the world are watching with ever increasing anxiety.

It is hard at the present time to visualize just what effect victory for either side will mean to the rest of the world in the future.

Taking a Japanese victory as an assumption, it will have no great effect on the great powers of the world as respects Shanghai or the Far East. It will mean much to China to lose, for it means that Manchuria passes out of her control, as it has apparently at the present time, being set up as an independent state, under, it might be safe to assume, the guidance of Japan.

At the same time a Japanese victory would give rise undoubtedly, to extreme doubts on the part of some nations as to future aspiration in the matter of conquests.

A Chinese victory, on the other hand, would, in all probability, be one of the greatest stimulus that she could have in bringing about a complete unification of the country, with a central government, and allow her to come into the world of commercial enterprise with the knowledge that she will be able to adequately take care of herself.

As for Manchuria, that country has already set up an apparently independent state with the former Emperor of China at the head of the government which is now in the process of formation.

A short study of the Manchurian situation seems to bear out the fact that Japanese interests are watching Manchuria very carefully with the idea of heavy colonization projects, undertaken as a means of relieving the already overpopulation of Japan.

Japan, it is almost universally recognized, must find some outlet for this rapidly approaching crisis, and to this end has turned her eyes with envy on that vast, uncultivated land.

Manchuria would prove an ideal country for just such purposes, as it is rich in fertile soil, oil, to say nothing of the rich deposits of minerals in the northern part.

That part of Manchuria which Japan has apparently taken possession of is admirably suited for her purpose, and for many years Nippon has watched other people going in and making something of the country. Waiting for the time when she can expect some return for her efore, Japan will step in and take it over, flood the land with her own subjects and thus open up the vast far-flung territories.

Meanwhile the situation at Shanghai is still very serious, the Japanese throwing her crack troops against the comparatively raw Chinese and meeting with a stubborn, stonewall defence that foils her every effort, even unto the old Woosung forts which have had no occasion to fire an angry shot in many years.

Thus the western world must, perforce, admire that defence from every angle, and marvel at the hasty, yet apparently effective, organization of the various Chinese armies who have sunk their differences quickly to take up arms against a common and hereditary foe.

EARLY KOOTENAY FIGURE CALLED

VANCOUVER, March 4— James Bates, colorful figure of the early days and inspector for the prevention of cruelty of animals in Vancouver since 1917, died at his home here today, aged 76.

In his youth he was well known as an athlete, especially in running and jumping, and is said to have shattered several records, though never officially credited with them.

Mr. Bates came to Vancouver 43 years ago. He joined the Klondike gold rush in 1898 and obtained probably the highest price ever paid for newspapers. When the Spanish-American war broke out he obtained papers from San Francisco which he sold for $5 a copy. He was the first man to take window shades into Wawson and became known as "Window Shutters."

Leaving the Yukon, he went into the Kootenays and for some time served as a game warden there. He also saw service with the C. P. R. as a timber cruiser. For a time he was engaged in the hotel business in the Kootenays and after disposing of his interests came to Vancouver.

SPREULL SPEAKS ON ADMISSION TO LITTLE TEMPLE

CRANBROOK, B. C., March 4.—The speaker at this week's Rotary luncheon was G. J. Spreull. He spoke, among othe things, of the admission of students to the Honourable society of the Little Temple describing the forms and ceremonies to be observed as necessary preliminaries to a call to the bar. He recalled some of the traditions hovering around the ancient hall and referred to the table made of wood from the ship of Sir Francis Drake, the Golden Hind, also to the Painting of Charles I by Van Dyke which hangs in the hall and to the Temple gardens where York and Lancaster plucked the red and white roses and where Nell Gwyn strolled with the Merry Monach.

Recommendations for improvements to the playground park will be brought in at the next meeting by W. M. Harris, chairman of the committee.

Lamb, Peas, Mint Sauce Popular Edgewood Soon

EDGEWOOD, B. C., Mar. 4.—Roast lamb with mint sauce and green peas should be pretty common this summer if the lamb crop is any criterion, the sheep breeders in the valley reporting almost a 200 per cent increase, which means a high precentage of twins and triplets, and there will be abundant moisture to grow the green peas and mint.

Gifts of Beauharnois Influenced by Success in Securing Approval

Griffiths Admits Fact to Investigating Committee of Senate

OTTAWA, March 4 (CP)—The size of the fees paid the legal agents employed by Beauharnois in order to create an atmosphere of goodwill in Ottawa was in a measure influenced by the success achieved by the big power company in securing Dominion approval for its plans, Hugh B. Griffiths, former secretary of the corporation, told the senate investigating committee here today. Beauharnois employed a number of "parliamentary agents" clothed with the duty of "describing the project" to officials concerned, and also combatting powerful opposition from interests hostile to it.

In its brief session today the senate committee further examined into the matter of campaign funds. In this connection Robert O. Sweezey made a correction to his evidence of yesterday. He had said that a man named Cartier had approached him in Montreal in 1930 and had "mentioned" $200,000 as a contribution to the Conservative party warchest. (This proposition fell through) As a matter of fact, the man who interviewed him in that connection Mr. Sweezey said, was not Cartier but Howard Smith. Cartier had seen him on another matter entirely, and Mr. Sweezey had momentarily mixed the two.

Today's evidence brought from Mr. Griffiths the statement that, despite the recommendation of the house of commons committee of last session to the effect that moneys "improperly" taken from the "companies' funds" for the federal political parties should be returned, no return had been made of such amounts.

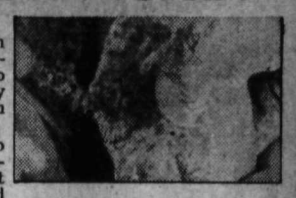
"SICK HEADACHE?"



IT is not necessary to give-in to headaches. It is just a bit old-fashioned! The modern woman who feels a headache coming on at any time, takes some tablets of Aspirin and heads it off.

Keep Aspirin handy, and keep your engagements. Headaches, systemic pains, come at inconvenient times. So do colds. You can end them before they're fairly started if you'll only remember this handy, harmless form of relief. Carry it in your purse and insure your comfort while shopping; your evening's pleasure at the theatre. Those little nagging aches that bring a case of "nerves" by day are ended in a jiffy. Pains that once kept people home are forgotten half an hour after taking Aspirin! You'll find these tablets always help. In every package of Aspirin tablets are proven directions which cover colds, headaches, sore throat, toothache, neuralgia, neuritis, sciatica, and even rheumatism.

The tablets stamped Bayer won't fail you, and can't harm you. They don't depress the heart. They don't upset the stomach. So take them whenever you need them, and take enough to end the pain. Aspirin is made in Canada.

New Chevrolet Six Owners Know What a Difference Six Cylinders Make!

SO many motorists have discovered the difference six cylinders make that today the Chevrolet Six leads all other automobiles in sales.

Six cylinders are better in every way. For example, Chevrolet's six-cylinder motor "picks-up" in high gear quickly and without vibration. You get away ahead of the traffic and you do not have to shift gears so often.

Secondly, you can drive as fast and as far as you like without any sense of strain or fatigue. For six-cylinder travel is smooth, quiet and restful at every speed.

Then, too, Chevrolet smoothness is built-in smoothness—inherent in six-cylinder design and Chevrolet's method of insulating engine from chassis by thick rubber cushions. It protects against the wear-and-tear of constant vibration as long as you drive your Chevrolet.

In addition to these great advantages, Chevrolet offers you Free Wheeling with safe, silent Syncro-Mesh gear shifting. It gives you 60-horsepower performance with lowest operating costs of any full-size car, regardless of the number of cylinders. And Chevrolet provides Bodies by Fisher — smarter, roomier and more lastingly quiet.

Drive a Chevrolet Six. You will find one pleasure and advantage after another to emphasize the fact: It's Wise to Choose a Chevrolet Six!

GOOD COFFEE

Keep coffee in tightly sealed containers.

Don't buy ground coffee in large quantities. It will lose its strength.

Measure water and coffee carefully when making coffee. Then it will always be the same.

A good grade of coffee is always an economical buy. It is stronger and goes further, is more digestible, and very much more palatable.

Above all the coffee pot must be kept scrupulously clean. No matter how much is paid for the coffee, it can be ruined by an unclean coffee pot.

It is easy to love justice when it's meted out to the other fellow.

THIRD INSTALMENT

Synopsis

Six people, Horace Johnson (who tells the story), his wife, old Mrs. Dane, Herbert Robinson and his sister, Alice, and Dr. Sperry, friends and neighbors, are in the habit of holding weekly meetings. At one of them, Mrs. Dane who is hostess, varies the program by unexpectedly arranging a spiratualistic seance with Miss Jeremy, a friend of Dr. Sperry and not a professional, as the medium.

The sitting opens with the customary table rapping and other inconsequential and humorous happenings. Then the medium goes into a trance and gives disjointed details of a murder. After the sitting breaks up and the members go home, Sperry telephones Johnson and tells him Arthur Wells had killed himself.

NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY

I told him he was right.

"Then that fixes the time at which Miss Jeremy told us of the murder," he came back over the phone.

There was silence at Sperry's end of the wire. Then:

"Wells was shot about 9:30," he said, and rang off.

I am not ashamed to confess that my hands shook as I hung up the receiver. As I stood there, I wondered for the first time whether there might not be, after all, a spirit world surrounding us, cognizant of all that we did, touching but intangible, sentient but tuned above our common senses?

I was shocked by the news, but not greatly grieved. The Wellses had been among us but not of us, as I have said. Of the two, I myself had preferred Arthur. His faults were on the surface. He drank hard, gambled, and could not always pay his gambling debts. But underneath it all there had always been something boyishly honest about him. He had played it is true, through most of the 30 years that now marked his whole life, but he could have been made a man by the right woman. And he had married the wrong one.

Of Elinor Wells I have only my wife's verdict, and I have found that, as is the way with many good women her judgment of her own sex is rather merciless. A tall handsome girl, very dark, my wife has characterized her as cold, calculating and ambitious. She has said frequently, too that Elinor Wells was a disappointed woman, that her marriage, while giving her social identity, had disappointed her in a mometary way.

There was no doubt, by the time they had lived in our neighborhood for a year, that a complication had risen in the shape of another man.

Our street has never had a scandal on it, except the once when the Berringtons' music teacher ran away with their coachman, in the days of carriages. And I am glad to say that is almost forgotten.

Nevertheless, we had realized for some time that the dreaded triangle was threatening the repute of our quiet neighborhood, and as I stood by the telephone that night I saw it had come. More than that, it seemed very probable that into this very triangle our peaceful Neighborhood Club had been suddenly thrust.

The street with its open spaces, was a relief after the dark hall. I started for Sperry's house, my head bent against the wind, my mind on the news I had just heard.

Sperry was waiting on his doorstep, and we went on the Wells house.

Although the Wells house was brilliantly lighted when we reached it, we had difficulty in gaining admission.

"We might try the servants' entrance," Sperry said. Then he laughed mirthlessly.

"We might see," he said, "if there's a key on the nail among the vines."

I confess to a nervous tightening of my muscles as we made our way around the house. If the key was there, we were on the track of a revelation that might revolutionize much that we had held fundamental in science and in our knowledge of life itself. If sitting in Mrs. Dane's quiet room, a woman could tell us what was happening in a house a mile or so away it opened up a new earth. Almost a new heaven.

I stopped and touched Sperry's arm "This Miss Jeremy— did she know Arthur Wells or Elinor? If she knew the house, and the situation between them, isn't it barely possible that she anticipated this thing?"

"We knew them," he said gruffly, "whatever we anticipated, it wasn't this."

Sperry had a pocket flash, and when we found the door locked we proceeded with our search for the key.

"Here's the key," Sperry said, and held it out. The flash wavered in his hand, and his voice was strained.

We admitted ourselves.

"Look here, Sperry," I said, as we stood inside the door, "they don't want me here. They've sent for you, but I'm the most casual sort of an acquaintance. I haven't any business here."

That struck him, too. We had both been so obsessed with the scene at Mrs. Dane's that we had not thought of anything else.

"Suppose you sit down in the library," he said. "The chances are against her coming down, and the servants don't matter."

As a matter of fact, we learned later that all the servants were out except the nursery governess. There were two small children. There was a servants' ball somewhere and with the exception of the butler, it was after two before they commenced to straggle in. Except two plain-clothes men from the central office, a physician who was with Elinor in her room, and the governess, there was no one else in the house but the children, asleep in the nursery.

As I sat alone in the library, the house was perfectly silent. But in some strange fashion it had apparently taken on the attributes of the deed that had preceded the silence. It was sinister, mysterious dark.

Overwrought as I was, I was forced to bring my common sense to bear on the stituation. Here was a tragedy a real and terrible one. Suppose we had in some queer fashion touched its outer edges that night? Then how was it that there had come, mixed up with so much that might be pertinent, such extraneous and grotesque things as a hurt knee, and throwing watches and pens about.

I remember moving impatiently, and trying to argue myself into my ordinary logical state of mind, but I know now that even then I was wondering whether Sperry had found a hole in the ceiling upstairs.

OYSTER COCKTAILS

The months with an "R" in them are rapidly passing, so start some of your dinners with oysters instead of the usual soup or fruit cup. One tablespoon grated horseradish, 1 tablespoon tomato catsup, 1 teaspoon salt, ¼ teaspoon cayenne, ½ teaspoon paprika, two tablespoons lemon juice. Mix thoroughly. Serve in cocktail glasses over thoroughly chilled oysters. This quantity will be sufficient for six cocktails.

MUSHROOMS WITH STEAK

Delicious with fillet or sirloin steak: Dice ¼ pound mushrooms and cook in butter until tender. Remove mushrooms and brown two small slices onion in the butter. Scoop out onion and pour in the teaspoon lemon juice. Cook flour in butter until blended. Then add hot beef stock gradually and cook until smooth. Return cooked mushrooms to pan along with ¼ pound uncooked ones. Simmer for about eight minutes, then serve with steak.

HALF A LEMON

If only half a lemon is required in a recipe, don't just discard the other half—they are too expensive. Place it on a dish, cut side down, and put in the ice box. It will keep until you find a use for it.

FOR BEAUTY

Dancing is a real route to beauty, if you do it right.

You do not need a ballroom nor fine dresses nor a fascinating partner to get pleasure out of dancing.

A radio or record can supply your music and you can learn all kinds of modern steps in your own boudoir that give you the exhileration of exercise plus the pleasure of executing something pretty.

Dancing alone and with the freedom you have when no one is watching is an excellent thing for every woman.

Get into something scant and not the least binding. Be barefooted. Start with just an ordinary dance, waltz step or a quicker one. Start slowly and after you are in the swing of things, improvise steps, turns, sweeping your arms this way and that. Let your imagination loose and see just what pretty figures you can make for your own amusement and edification.

If every working woman would make it a practise to do 10 minutes of dancing after she had taken a few limbering up exercises before retiring, there would be fewer nervous wrecks along the line and fewer tense women to whom no one enjoys talking for a long time.

Dancing does more than just exercise your muscles. It has an exhileration about it that is a distinct pick-me-up, and certainly at the fag end of winter the more of them any woman can get the better.

No woman is too old to dance, if she feels in the mood. A woman past 60 may not enjoy the whirling quick steps that a girl of 20 would pick. But she certainly not only would enjoy but be benefitted by a graceful waltz each night.

If you're feeling the depression, dance it off! The same holds for a few extra pounds of weight you may have acquired.

DOMESTIC LORE

Colored dresses allowed to freeze on the line are sure to fade.

Use up old spools of silk for basting.

A cloth dipped in vinegar will remove all deposits from the goldfish bowl.

If the gas burners of the stove make a roaring noise it indicates there is too much air.

Old putty may be softened by placing in boiling water and allowing to stand until the water cools.

Place a box of quicklime in the damp cupboard for a few days to absorb the moisture, otherwise you wil breed silverfish.

Tailor's thread will hold on sonny's trousers and coat buttons for some time. It is well to invest in a spool of it.

Rolls of cardboard act as good supporters for the rubber boots when not in use. They hold the boots erect, prevent free circulation of air and prevent cracking.

CHEESE CANAPES

Spread circular pieces of toast with prepared mustard and sprinkle grated cheese thickly over the mustard. Season with salt and paprika and place under the oven flame until cheese is melted and lightly browned. Serve piping hot.

Give Time to Something Better Than Apologies

By BEATRICE FAIRFAX

An Authority on Problems of Love and Marriage

Don't you think he ought to apologize? asked Alyce, a girl who has had a "fight" with her boy friend. Going on, she explains that whenever they seem to be reaching an agreement, "he spills the beans by saying I should beg his pardon, because he is right and I am wrong."

There are several pages devoted to her wrongs, without saying what the argument was all about. If she does not know, I am afraid she is "keeping it up just to be a-doing," as my old colored mammy used to say.

Now if Alyce enjoys a fight, I won't try to take away her toys; for when one scrap is settled, she or he will pick another. But I take this occasion to say that either he or she has poor taste in diversions.

Why not use such energies in a way that will mean something. For example, I recall a young couple that got married in haste. Instead of repenting at leisure or otherwise, they made the best of a good thing.

These youngsters kept their jobs, rented the top floor of an old house in a decent neighborhood, proceeded to prove that two can live together more cheaply and comfortably than two can live separately.

They chose friends with kindred tastes. Occasionally they tried out scenes from plays. These went so well that one-act plays were undertaken. From this beginning they started a dramatic club, although this particular couple became too busy to attend it regularly.

The husband was a bookkeeper in a successful business corporation, and all he had to look forward to was to be head bookkeeper, some time. He thought, and rightly, that it would be fine to have the job of secretary. That idea he got over to his wife—"helpmeet" is what old-fashioned people called wives.

Young wife persuaded husband to take up stenography. She was a good one, and gave him lessons. They worked together at dictating and transcription whenever they had time. Almost before he was ready for it, he had a chance to take the place temporarily, of the secretary of the president of the corporation.

The rest is easy. He knew the business—why should he not fill the job of assistant secretary? O. K. He is now secretary and treasurer of the organization—dictates his letters to a corps of assistants.

And what has this got to do with Alyce, the girl who asked about apologies?

It means: It really doesn't make any difference as to who is right or who's wrong in a teapot tempest—nor who apologizes. Get busy about something real, with real people.

THE ST. PATRICK PARTY

Yesterday, in answer to an inquiry, I published suggestions for party refreshments, so today, in writing about the St. Patrick's party, I shall deal only with decorations and entertainment.

A Shamrock bridge party is great fun. Paint all the club cards green with oil paint, and call them "Shamrocks." It is fun, too, to announce that shamrocks are trumps, for any particular hand. The prize could be awarded to the partners who win at the shamrock games, rather than the usual rubber. Something green should be chosen for the prize—such as a green eversharp pencil or pen.

Good games for all ages are the following:

Paddy's Ball: Buy one of the green painted baby's rubber balls, and see who can bounce it longest, touching it only with the right palm.

Erin Articles: Give everybody a pencil and paper. At a signal all begin to jot down all of the green things they can think of—such as trees, grass, someone's dress, a special pencil or pen in their mind, etcetera. As a prize for the longest list (in a limited space of time, such as three minutes) give a small green plant.

As people are always amused by sentences pertaining to themselves, it is a good plan to use this idea in the table centerpiece: In a large bowl (green or covered with green crepe paper) put what appear to be ordinary white potatoes, unpeeled. However, when these Irish potatoes are distributed to the guests, they will all prove to have a small plug removed from the under side, and in this hole will be found strips of white paper on which have been written in green ink the following "Messages from the Blarney Stone":

"Your eyes are your fortune—when shut." "Your agreeable nature may keep you out of fist fights." "Your pearly teeth will win the one you love." "Your rosy cheeks rival the beet." "You are charming—asleep." Any hostess can make up such lines for herself—apparently flattering, but some of them with a sly or bold little dig.

LEMON PIE FOR DESSERT

Lemon pie is always a popular dessert, and can be varied in so many ways that it can be served often without becoming monotonous. It's a particularly happy choice at this season of the year when pie "timber" begins to be scarce and the spicy steamed puddings seem a bit too winterish.

Lemon meringue pie is a universal favorite and very easy to make. If a very thick meringue is liked use two eggs in place of one, as suggested in the recipe.

LEMON MERINGUE PIE

One cup sugar, 1 lemon, 1¾ cups boiling water, 4 tablespoons cornstarch, ½ teaspoon salt, 1 egg baked pie shell.

Mix and sift sugar, salt and corn starch. Be sure the cornstarch is completely blended with the sugar Add grated rind of lemon. Add boiling water, stirring vigorously. Cook and stir until mixture is clear. Add lemon juice and yolk of egg, beat well and remove from fire. Let cool and turn into a baked pie shell. Beat white of egg with 2 teaspoons cold water and a few grains of salt until stiff but not dry. Fold in 3 tablespoons sifted granulated sugar and spread roughly over lemon filling. Put in a cool oven for 15 minutes to color and puff the meringue.

The meringue will not "weep" if the filling is cool before covering.

Lemon sponge pie is made rich with eggs and provides a quite nourishing dessert. It is suitable to serve with a fish dinner or for luncheon, but should not follow a heavy meat course.

LEMON SPONGE PIE

One and one-fourth cups sugar, 2 tablespoons flour, 1 tablespoon butter, ¼ teaspoon salt, 3 eggs, 1 cup water, 1 lemon, plain pastry.

Line a deep pie dish with plain pastry. Mix and sift sugar, flour, and salt. Rub in butter and add grated rind and juice of lemon. Mix thoroughly and add yolks of eggs on a platter with a wire whisk until stiff and dry. Fold into first mixture and turn into pastry-lined pie dish. Bake in a hot oven for 10 minutes. Reduce heat and bake 40 minutes in a slow oven.

Lemon Bavarian pie is really a Bavarian cream served in a baked pie shell. It's a delectable dessert to serve to your bridge club. The banana can be omitted if preferred.

LEMON BAVARIAN PIE

One cup sugar, ½ cup orange juice, ½ cup lemon juice, ½ cup boiling water, 1½ tablespoons gelatine, ½ cup cold water, 1 banana, 1 cup whipping cream, baked pie shell.

Combine lemon and orange juices, and add banana cut in thin slices. Add sugar and let stand while making pie shell. Soak gelatine in cold water for five minutes. Add boiling water and stir until gelatine is dissolved. Let stand until mixture begins to thicken. Beat until frothy with a rotary beater. Fold in cream whipped until firm. Chill until mixture begins to set. Turn into baked pie shell and chill until firm before serving.

FRESH AND SWEET

After washing milk bottles, never turn them upside down to drain. Keep them upright so the air can enter them and keep them sweet and fresh.

The Beauty Box

By HELEN FOLLETT

There is this to be said in favor of complexion powder of dark tone: it meets in kindly manner the dark tone of the neck. How often one sees the peaches and cream complexion and the olive neck which appears to be in the throes of a color divorce suit. The neck seldom gets all the cosmetic necking it deserves It should be well creamed every night, along with the face. An occasional bleaching treatment perks it up. Holding the head erect keeps fiddle strings from forming.

Hollow cheeks fill out by means of massage and facial exercises. Spread thickly with a heavy cream, place fingers and thumbs outspread, pick up the large muscles of the cheeks with a clawing movement. To tone these fibers inhale a deep breath through the lips with cheeks drawn in and exhale with cheeks expanded. A silly-sounding performance, and one that leads to laughter, but effective nevertheless.

A well-formed bosom is a requirement if the new frock is to be carried out splendidly. Development is brought about by all those exercises that pull hard on the muscles of chest and upper arms. Alcohol rubs are stimulating to the tissues, though pressure must be gentle so glands will not be injured. Bathing with salt water helps along the campaign for statuesque improvement.

Few women know about the perfect comfort of sports shoes. Wearing them now and then is one way of developing a bitter hatred of spiked heels, which are a bit ridiculous in this age of hygiene and beauty sense. Women have progressed a step or two because they are wearing shoes of larger sizes, but as long as the spiked heels prevail there will be backaches and horrid-forward-thrown figures.

Sagging facial tissues can be corrected by massage and cold water—if: And the "if" is something to think about! It is "if" there is carried upon the portrait an expression of cheerfulness which hoists up muscles instead of letting them drag and droop.

The reason of all economy, social or industrial, should be independence.

"THESE HARD TIMES"

"The hard times and scarcity of money makes it more important than ever to economize. One way I save on clothes is by renewing the color of faded or out-of-style dresses, coats, stockings, and underwear. For dyeing, or tinting, I always use even a ten year old child. Another economical ones by far because they never fail to produce results that make you proud. Why, things look better than new when redyed with Diamond Dyes. They never spot, streak or run. They go on smoothly, and evenly, when in the hands of even a ten year old child. Another thing, Diamond Dyes never take the life out of cloth or leave it limp as some dyes do. They deserve to be called 'the world's finest dyes!'"

PROPOSALS OF MUNICIPALITIES BEING HEARD

Committee of Legislature Stands Off Request for Tax Exemption

CATHOLIC SCHOOLS ASK EXEMPTION

No Action Is Taken on Matter of Destitute in Municipalities

VICTORIA, March 4. (CP)—The municipal committee of the legislature today stood over the proposal of the Union of B. C. Municipalities which would exempt from taxes buildings set apart from hospitals but used in connection with hospitals, such as nurses' homes.

Members expressed doubts as to just how extensive such powers would be.

Approval was given to a proposal giving inspectors powers to order destruction of insect pests without the necessity of a council meeting.

Town planning recommendations were passed on to the government for consideration.

No action was taken on a proposal freeing municipalities from responsibility for the destitute if they had not resided in the city a year.

Power to assess two lots together when a building stood on both, and also to consider the two lots as one in regard to tax arrears, was approved. The committee failed to endorse a proposal for separate registration of tax exempt land.

INSTITUTIONS ASK EXEMPTION

Following the applications on behalf of Roman Catholic educational institutions yesterday, a delegation representing the Private Schools Association of British Columbia waited upon the municipal committee to advance a claim for freedom from the educational portion of taxation.

H. P. Hope, headmaster of Brentwood College, and C. Milton of Cranleigh House school, Victoria, acting as spokesmen for 57 schools in the province, claimed the exemption was justified because of the load they took off the province by the education of 5228 students, representing 4½ per cent of the total school enrolment of the province. The private school enrolment in British Columbia was higher than in any other province. They were having a heavy load of tax for educational purposes when they were actually relieving the province under this head. Private schools were never established with the object of profit-making. Mr. Milton pointed out the Oak Bay municipality sought to relieve his school of taxation but found they had not the power. A Wells Gray pointed out they had the power to make rebates on account of taxes.

REQUESTS BEING CONSIDERED

R. Hayward, chairman, informed the delegation their requests would be considered, with the similar request before the committee yesterday.

Tuesday will be the last day the municipal committee of the legislature will receive delegations and resolutions, R. Hayward, chairman, announced. After that date the committee will give consideration to many matters presented to it which it has not yet disposed of.

Recommendations of the Union of B. C. Municipalities aimed to prevent competition in the bonusing of industries through the elimination of taxes were approved by the municipal committee. The committee endorsed a resolution which permits granting a fixed assessment for an industry wishing to budget over a term of years, but specifies it shall not be below existing assessments.

Existing agreements will not be interfered with. There have been cases, it was stated by the municipal inspector, Robert Baird, where municipalities had secured powers to grant freedom of taxation of $1 a year over a term of years. The resolution was inspired by North Vancouver, where valuable waterfront property is tied up, with little chance of the municipality receiving revenue for years to come. The recommendations were aimed to put all cities on the same basis in bidding for industries.

POWERS OVER CABARETS APPROVED

Sweeping powers over cabarets for municipalities were approved by the municipal committee on the recommendation of the Union of B. C. Municipalities during a discussion in which it was claimed that many of the cabarets in the border municipalities were blind pigs, and the class of entertainment provided was extremely questionable. The municipalities' powers should go beyond those asked, it was suggested. They should be given the power to put on the padlock when they desired.

The proposal endorsed called for powers to prohibit, regulate, control, licence, tax or restrict amusements and entertainments in cabarets.

Miss Christie and Alfred Speaker Are Married at Creston

CRESTON, Mar. 4.—A marriage of great interest to a wide circle of friends was solemnised at Trinity United Church on Sunday afternoon by the Pastor, Rev. A. Walker, when Lyda, youngest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Herb Christie, was united in wedlock with Alfred Speaker. The bride, who was given in marriage by her father, wore a travelling suit of navy blue coat and hat to match, and was supported by her sister, Miss Ena Christie, who was similarly attired. W. H. Fortin was best man. Immediately after the ceremony Mr. and Mrs. Speaker left by auto for Spokane, where the honey moon will be spent, and on their return they will take up housekeeping in apartments in the Lamont building.

Maybe the fellow who said originally that people are just like sheep meant that somebody shears both regularly.

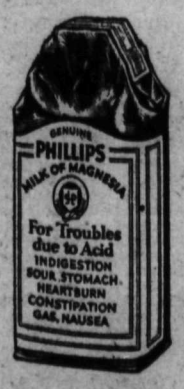
SOUR stomach



If fear of what will follow overshadows the enjoyment of your meals, your system may be too acid.

Those pangs of indigestion right after eating and that lump you feel in your stomach for hours after, the flatulence and sourness, are the symptoms of over-acidity. Take an anti-acid and neutralize the excess acid. You won't be comfortable until you do.

It supplies needed alkali to neutralize excess acids of the stomach and bowels. Headaches, flatulence, and nausea are promptly relieved. Your digestion will speedily improve. Your appetite will be sharpened. Constipation quickly yields to the gentle laxative effect of Phillips' Milk of Magnesia.

Many make a practice of taking a spoonful or two before meals one or two days weekly. It is a delightful way to keep the system always sweet; and to keep the bowels from growing sluggish; also to guard against auto-intoxication.

Phillips' Milk of Magnesia will check a cold in a hurry. Just take a spoonful at three-hour intervals until that weak, achy, feverish condition is gone and your head is all clear.

Duff Matthew Passes

When death comes to men of mature years, men of three score and ten or approaching that age, the news is received with regret but with little sense of shock.

It is when death takes a man of comparative youth, active, virile, strong in the exercise of his abilities, ambitious in his vocaton, with a successful future of service apparently before him, that regret for his passing is accentuated by the sense of shock. The world loses so much more in the death of a man near the height of his capacity than in those of us who have run most of the race, have fulfilled most of our functions in life, to whom ambition has ceased very vigorously to call, to whom the inclination is to look backward rather than forward.

The late E. G. Matthew, who died on Thursday at the age of 39, had succeeded in his profession as a barrister and solicitor. He had built up a substantial practise in law; he had proved his metal; he had shown the world of what sterling stuff he was made; he had made many friends and, even in his most vigorous battles in the courts of British Columbia, had never made a bitter enemy. He had fought worthily and with all his powers in the interests of his clients, but he had fought openly. His blows were clean blows. It was not in Duff Matthew to hit below the belt.

He was a Nelson boy. He went to school in this city; he was a member of Nelson hockey teams and other sports organizations. He left Nelson to enlist in a Canadian regiment to serve in the war. As a soldier in the Princess Pats he won promotion and honorable wounds. It was in Nelson that he studied as a law student and it was in Nelson that he built up his law practise.

It was here, too, that Duff Matthew established his home and became still more intimately a part of the community which admired his strength of character, his clean fighting spirit, his capacities as an advocate and which loved his kindliness of spirit and good comradeship.

The death of Duff Matthew leaves a void in many hearts in Nelson.

How State Health Insurance Works Out

Pointing out that the test of experience in other countries which have adopted state health insurance is the only possible way of proving the benefits and disadvantages of that policy, the Victoria Colonist quotes from Dr. Erwin Liek. The doctor is a surgeon of Dantzig.

He began his career as a panel doctor holding the conviction that social insurance was of the greatest utility. His panel practice was a large one. In addition to the legitimate claims for benefit, he found he was being consulted by sturdy young men who sought his help for "absolutely microscopic injuries to the skin." Dr. Liek considered it "unmanly" that such individuals should ask him for certificates declaring their incapacity to work. He declined the certificates and his "patients" were disgusted. After two years he gave up his panel practice, but he continued to be interested in social insurance, believing that it was important for the medical profession and the people as a whole. He studied everything written on the subject. He conferred with panel doctors and saw many patients privately who came under the social insurance schemes. Now he has reached a definite conclusion. He says: "I shall never again become a panel doctor. If, unfortunately, the whole medical profession of Germany should become socialized, which God forbid, I should give up practicing and work on a farm. I think it is better to break stones on the roadside than to eat the bread of slavery as an insurance doctor."

Dr. Liek gives his reasons for reaching such a decision. Social insurance, he says, destroys the natural relations betwen the doctor and the patient. Between them stands the bureaucratic administration. "A person," he says, "who is sick must first appeal to the employer, then he has to apply to some official, and at last he goes to the doctor. This procedure is troublesome in the innumerable disorders which affect both body and mind." Social insurance destroys medical secrecy. On every official document the name of the disease is written. Then, Dr. Liek says, that social insurance undermines the manliness of the people "and causes their physical and moral degeneration." The case-books of panel doctors are overwhelmed with ridiculous trivialities. Panel doctoring produces and carefully nourishes general neurasthenia and hypochondriasis. "Colleagues of mine," he says, "highly experienced in panel practice, tell me that two-thirds of the activities of panel doctors are superfluous. In Poland, where social insurance is flourishing, the disease statistics have a special column of cases superscribed, 'nihilitis'." In concluding some pregnant remarks on this aspect of state health insurance, Dr. Liek says.

"We doctors have noticed over and over again that diseases and injuries of officials and of people with fixed salaries are cured far more slowly than the identical injuries and diseases suffered by those whose earnings come to an end when they are incapacitated. The desire and the necessity to get well and to return to work as rapidly as possible favor rapidity of cure to an extraordinary degree. This can be proved quite clearly. We notice immediately and without exception that the process of healing and the time of cure are greatly extended as soon as an individual who previously was uninsured has become insured under the social insurance scheme. On the other hand, it is found that the health and healing capacity of individuals marvelously increase when they can no longer rely on social insurance."

Published pictures indicate that Chinese and Japanese at home agree at least on the advisability of holding continual parades.

An interesting occurrence. Max Baskin talking to A. D. McLeod and Ald. J. B. Gray. Mr. Baskin was looking for a donation for the Zionist movement. Mr. McLeod begged off saying he had just paid "J. Here's a cat that has mine, dear old Perkins, beat a mile. He hasn't as nice a name.

Puzzums is a cat, five years old, pedigree doubtful. He started life under most drab disconcerting circumstances. The day he was born, his mother deserted him, and were it not for the kindly intervention of his present owner, who raised him by hand, poor Puzzums might have been lost to the film world.

This remarable cat is the "nine lives" of any party in Hollywood. He can do more tricks than an educated dog. Among the more outstanding parlor tricks in his repertoire are such feats as crossing his eyes, laying back his ears, and laughing at the command of his owner.

His greatest act, however, is feeding himself from a baby's bottle. He takes it from his owner's hands, rolls over on his back and balances the bottle on his hind legs while he holds the nipple to his mouth with the front paws.

In the mystery drama, "Charlie Chan's Chance," Puzzums plays a part upon which the whole action of the thrilling murder mystery climaxes.

In the scene in question, Warner Oland, the clever Chinese detective, visits the apartment of a merciless killer he is pursuing. An internal contraption, designed to kill the visitor, is delayed in its cruel work by the last minute breath-taking entrance of Puzzums, who gums up the works, as it were.

Puzzums, who supports his owner in grand style through the many motion picture engagements he is continually called upon to fulfil, cannot be had at any price.

A story is told of an aged negro who saw an extraordinary-looking instrument in the shop of an optician. He gazed in open-mouthed wonder, and, turning to the optician, inquired:

"What is it, boss?"

"That," replied the optician, "is an opthalometer."

Starland

STARLAND

By Gretchen Gibson

Two boys near the skating rink were having an argument. Both were gesticulating toward the west.

"It ain't!" cried one emphatically, "way over there, you dumbbell!"

"Well I'll bet ya a bullfrog it is!" shouted the other.

It was surprising to learn they were arguing about the North star, the conspicuous planet Venus (seen in the west in the early evening) being mistaken by the smaller boy for the Polar star. Although he was a bit astray in his astronomy he showed a very enthusiastic interest in the starland above him.

And truly some of our winter nights have been made glorious with the stars. At present there is a most noted group in the sky. In the west shines the great planet Venus, a planet of mystery, shrouded with clouds, even thought by some to be inhabited. Higher up in the west plunges Taurus, the bull, Aldebaran, his red eye, flashing maliciously upon the enemies of the little bewitching Pleiades.

Across the south west stretches the belted Orion, cornered by the radiant first magnitude stars, Betelguese and Regal, and followed toward the southeast by the greatest star in all the heavens, the peerless Sirius, the big dog, bluewhite, sparkling and splendid. Eastward, high above Sirius is Procyon, the lesser dog, but also a star of first magnitude.

Almost overhead glow Castor and Pollux, the immortal twins, behind whom crouches Leo, the lion, marked by the fine star Regulus. In its vicinity Jupiter, our largest planet, shines with its steady yellow light.

In the north the Great Dipper appears to empty its contents into Kootenay Lake; and Cassiopeia, the chained woman in the chair, sits in bright resignation not far from her steadfast admirer, the North star.

North, east, south, west, all starland in fact, is at present remarkably interesting.

Whist to Contract Spanned By Bridge

The game of whist has gone from short sleeves to shirt sleeves in the two hundred years or so of its history and in so doing has become, to the great surprise of its most intimate followers, a spectacle, a public sport and, loosely speaking, a racket instead of a pastime. In little more than a year its current scion, contract bridge, has taken by storm a public previously indifferent to such a supposedly complicated game, writes C. C. Nicolet in the New York World-Telegram. Whist first appeared in the mid-sixteenth century in a form similar to that which is played today by elderly gentlemen who learned it in the '80's and '90's. It was a game at first for servants and for roistering country squires spurned by society, which looked with suspicion upon cards as instruments of the devil. It was payed below stairs in London, in rural taverns. It was, on the whole, an amusement of the lower classes. It crept up from the servants' halls in the early eighteenth century, won recognition from the gentry, made its appearance in the fashionable coffee houses of London where for the first time codes of rules and conventions of play began to develop.

GREATEST CHANGES IN RECENT YEARS

Thenceforth it followed a wavering but never obliterated trail down the years, but undergoing almost no profound changes in structure until 50 years ago. In the early 1890's bridge began making serious inroads in even the more exclusive clubs. It had been played for some years before, but had been considered a low gambling variant. But it had the feature of a trump named by a player instead of by the turn of a card, and it offered a face-up dummy to add spice to the play. Its progress was irresistible. Having overthrown supposedly impregnable whist, it found itself helpless against the encroachments of its offspring, auction, which enlivened the bidding by giving everybody a chance instead of restricting the naming of trump to dealer or his partner. It underwent many variations in the early years—lilly spade, mullo, pirate bridge, reverse — wrinkles which caught on for a season or two and then were forgotten. A few experimental players trier the stunt of providing that only tricks actually bid could be scored "below the line" toward game—a variant which probably derived from the Russian game of vint. But that soon died out.

The war ended, and the world went looking for more exciting games. In France auction players began experimenting with a game which was like modern contract in scoring only the number of tricks bid but which used old auction scoring values and gave no slam premiums.

VANDERBILT EXPERIMENTED

The game spread to England and Egypt. Harold S. Vanderbilt ran into it, liked it, tried to stir up interest at home. Slam premiums and new scoring values grew from experiments of Mr. Vanderbilt and his group at Newport. Daring souls in the new Cavandish club in New York began trying the game. They liked it. The Knickerbocker and Whist clubs held off, but by 1926 occasional games of contract were to be found in all the major clubs. Mr. Vanderbilt worked tirelessly to stir up interest in the game. A fine player, he drew other fine players with his enthusiasm. Critics said contract was a game for experts only, requiring too fine a sense of values for ordinary players, but casual players took it up. No one who had tried it more than twice went back willingly to snail-paced auction.

In 1927 the game was so well established that the Whist club drew up a set of rules, in which the Knicker-bocker club concurred. Then began the scramble of the experts for silver cups, for credit for inventing each special convention of each major system that developed, and for the money that was to be made writing about contract and teaching it.

Ely Culbertson took contract away from the experts and gave it to the public at large. It is still a game of society, to be sure—more so than ever. But it is also a shirt-sleeved game once more.

Prisoner: "No, yer honor, my lawyer took my last dollar."

Auction and Contract Bridge

By the World's Leading Authority, MILTON C. WORK

What should be done by Declarer when holding 10 cards of a suit with the King missing often is a troublesome question. Should he finesse, or attempt to drop the King by playing the Ace on the first round? To illustrate:

NORTH: ♠A-8-J-7-5-2 ♥A-8-J ♦8-7-2 ♣10

WEST: ♠K-3 ♥10-9-6-4-3 ♦10-9-4 ♣A-8-6-3

EAST: ♠10 ♥K-9-8-5-2 ♦A-8 ♣9-7-5-4-2

SOUTH (Dealer): ♠Q-9-6-4 ♥7 ♦A-K-J-5-3 ♣K-Q-J

At Contract Bridge, North would be the Declarer, playing a contract of six Spades; at Auction he would be playing a contract of one or two Spades. South would open the Contract by bidding two Diamonds, West would pass; North, to emphasize his strength, would be apt to bid three Spades, although a call of two Spades over an original two bid would have forced South to bid again; East would pass; and South doubtless would feel strong enough to bid five Spades in response to North's unnecessary jump-shift. Then North, having more strength than he had announced, would bid six Spades.

West would win trick 1 with the Ace of Clubs and then would lead a Heart on which North would play the Ace. (A finesse would be foolish as the Queen and Jack of Hearts can be ruffed or discarded on winning cards in the dummy). Now the question confronting Declarer is whether he should lead the Ace of Trumps at once or put South in and lead for a finesse. Supposing he does the latter (South can ruff a Heart or win a Diamond), and that South lead the Nine of Spades and West plays the Trey. Then Declarer is forced to decide whether to finesse, and his small slam would depend upon his deciding correctly.

In such a case, having no information furnished by adverse bids, it is better to follow the doctrine of chances. With West playing the Trey of Spades, there are four possible distributions of the two remaining Spades. Either adversary may have both; or they may be divided in either of two ways between the two adverse hands. If East has the King and West the Ten, taking the finesse will spell defeat; but if West has the King and East the Ten, the finesse will spell defeat; but if West has the King and East the Ten, the finesse is essential. If East has both the King and the Ten, it is immaterial what North plays as the King is bound to win. But West may have both the King and Ten, in which case the finesse will succeed; so in the three cases in which it makes any difference whether the finesse is taken or not it will win in two and lose in only one. Consequently Declarer should finesse by playing North's Spade Queen.

That Body of Yours

By JAMES W. BARTON

ECZEMA

I spoke recently of the skin specialist who had no worry about his patients because they never died and they never were completely cured.

Then when it comes to diagnosing a skin ailment, he has another great help in that two out of every five cases are really eczema.

This gives some idea of the great amount of eczema that exists in various forms.

There are various descriptions but a description of 40 years ago still well describes it as an acute or chronic non-contagious inflammation of the skin, with reddened or scaly paches, pimples or raised portions of the skin, some of which are broken down, fissures, and in cases there is an oozing of a colorless or yellowish sticky fluid many which dries into yellowish or brownish crusts, and is scompanied by intense itching.

Your doctor will tell you that he can cure your eczema, because most cases respond to treatment, but the big point in the treatment is to know just what is causing the eczema.

It is generally agreed now that there are both internal and external causes. Fully one-quarter of all cases of eczema are due to the work or occupation of the patient. As many as 74 varieties of eczema have been found to be due to 74 different kinds of employment. There is a 'cement itch', a 'bakers itch,' a 'washerwoman's itch,' a wool and cotton spinners itch,' and others.

In addition to these 'outside' causes, eszema may be produced by many kinds of food, in fact research men have been able to cause eczema in certain individuals with some of our commonest and most nutritious foods such as pork, salted meats, strong acid fruits, gravies and sauces.

There is the tendency of some individuals to develop eczema.

The treatment, therefore, is to use both internal and external methods. Thus, the intestine must be kept active by food with some roughage, the use of mild laxatives such as paraffin oil, and also by enemas two or three times a week. Starving the patient is poor treatment as it is only certain foods that are really objectionable.

External or outside treatment consists in not using too much water or soap, although soap and water must be used to keep part clean, and the use of one of the various ointments or dressings as prescribed by the physician.

The home side, batting 15 men in the exhibition encounter, were all out for 141 runs. The English first innings started badly, four wickets falling for the small score of 44 runs. The match, being played at Montego Bay, will conclude tomorrow.

MORE ABOUT SALARY CUT

Elgin, and Thomas Cayley, Liberal, South Oxford, cast their votes with the Conservatives. Robert Gardiner, leader of the United Farmers of Alberta, and all his followers who were in the house, also supported the government. One of the two Independents in the house, A. W. Neil, Comox-Alberni, likewise cast his vote with the Conservatives.

James Woodsworth and Angus MacInnis, two Laborites, voted with 2½ Liberals to oppose the salary cut.

EARNS HIS $4000

William Duff, Liberal, Antigonish-Guysboro, who has built up a reputation for plain talking, said he opposed the resolution for several reasons, and "one is that I consider that as a member of parliament, I shall, before the end of this session, have earned $4000, which I am supposed to get from the people of this country."

Judges, lieutenant-governors, officers of the army and navy and Royal Canadian Mounted police will be exempt from the salary cut. This brought concerted opposition from many members.

An appeal to the government not to dismiss the officers and men of the Royal Canadian air force, now being let out on account of economies, but to retain them, and, if necessary, reduce the salaries of other officers in order to make good the costs was voiced by G. G. Coote (U.F.A., Mcleod).

SPEND BEST YEARS OF LIFE IN SERVICE

Mr. Coote protested against reducing the salaries of war veteran civil servants while those of permanent force officers were not being touched. He did not blame the air force officers for seeking service with a foreign government. In most cases they had wives and children to care for. The vast majority were men with war experience. The best period of their lives had been given to their country. Their jobs did not exist outside of the government's service. Yet, after all those years, the government was turning them out. Canada was thus losing the cream of her flying men.

Mr. Coote urged that the salaries of lieutenant governors, judges, and high ranking officers of the permanent force be reduced.

SHOULD BE EXEMPT

Salaries under $1200 a year should be exempted, declared J. P. Howden (Liberal, St. Boniface). He suggested that some plan be devised whereby money could be obtained from the rich people of the country to bear the brunt of the work in restoring prosperity.

Exemption from the government's proposals for a 10 per cent salary cut in the civil service of officers of the military, naval and air forces was due to the contractual relationship between these officers and the government, Hugh Guthrie, minister of justice, stated. The men of the army and navy were recruited for a definite period of service. They could not leave of their own free will. To do so was an offence. Civil servants were in a different category. They were permitted to resign from the service at any time.

ASKS IF CIVIL SERVICE CONSULTED

Mackenzie King, Liberal leader, asked if the civil service commission had been consulted in the matter before the government formulated the terms of the measure. This body, created by parliament, for the purpose of administering the civil service, ought to have been given an opportunity to air its views.

Mr. Rhodes, minister of finance, who was piloting the salary reduction resolution through the committee, said it was "obvious that the government could not have consulted with every member of the civil service on the question," the course taken was that which was always followed by every government in dealing with matters.

No Bad Yesterdays for Ball Players

By AL DEMAREE

Baseball is the most uncertain game in the world.

Every fan has seen line drives go straight into the hands of some outfielder or infielder. The fan has said "tough luck, old boy" and that is all it meant to him. But perhaps, that batter has been doing that same thing for weeks and weeks. He may have changed his style at bat, altered his position, swung a little sooner or a little later, 'crowded" the plate or stood farther away from it, but all to no purpose and he finally loses his nerve.

The existence of luck in baseball cannot be denied and the successful player must learn to reconcile himself to it.

No matter how bad a day he may have, he must report the next day just as good a player in his own estimation as he was the day before. Every day begins a new era with him and even though things have been going bad, he must believe in himself.

Hack Wilson's comeback depends entirely on his ability to blot out and forget last year's tough breaks and not let his past failures weigh too heavily upon him.

Fort William Enters Allan Cup Playdowns

PORT ARTHUR, Ont., March 4.—Fort William seniors won the right to enter the Allan cup hockey playdowns as the representatives of the Thunder Bay league tonight when they defeated Port Arthur here, 2-1. Good hockey was impossible, as the game was played on soft ice almost covered with water.

MONARCHS ADVANCE ANOTHER STEP

WINNIPEG, March 4—Monarchs, newly crowned champions of the Winnipeg Junior Hockey league, tonight advanced another step in their march to the Manitoba junior title when they defeated Native Sons, Manitoba Junior league titleholders, 4 to 1, in the first of a two-game playoff series.

BIRD PLAYERS OF VANCOUVER ENTER FINALS

Favored to Capture Two Titles in Dominion Badminton

UNDERHILL FINALIST IN MEN'S SINGLES

Goodwin Beats Yorath; Vancouver Women Playing Brilliantly

WINNIPEG, Man., March 4 (CP)—Vancouver's badminton brigade tonight swept to a series of brilliant victories in semi-final rounds of the Canadian championships at the Winter club here and shuttle aces from the far west were made overwhelming favorites to capture at least two Dominion titles tomorrow.

Miss Eileen George, veteran coast star and terrific-hitting Miss Anna Kier, present British Columbia champion, will fight it out for the women's singles crown. Miss George reached the last round tonight by defeating the defending champion, Miss Ruth Robertson of Ottawa, in three games 11-8, 7-11, 11-2.

Easily the hardest hitter among lady players in the tournament, Miss Kier disposed of Mrs. Gordon Pirt of Winnipeg, Manitoba champion, in their semi-final, 11-3, 11-5.

UNDERHILL IN FINAL

Jack Underhill, machine-like king of coast players, moved into the final for the men's singles title with a spectacular three-game win over Charlie Jones, Winnipeg's southpaw stylist. Scores were 18-14, 11-15, 15-8. Underhill, Canadian champion in 1928, meets 17-year-old George Goodwin Jr. of Ottawa for the championship tomorrow afternoon.

Young Goodwin scored a neat 15-10, 15-11 victory over Eric Yorath, Calgary sensation who yesterday eliminated champion Jack Taylor of Toronto in the third round.

Vancouver's challenge for the women's doubles title was carried by Miss George and Miss Kier who paired to down Misses Ruth and Margaret Robertson of Ottawa in their semi-final by scores of 17-16, 15-10. Tomorrow they battle the defending title-holders, Miss Marjorie Barrow and Miss Marguerite Delage of Quebec, Que. The Quebec pair won their way into the final by beating Mrs. John Redmond of Montreal and Miss Marjorie Swift of Quebec, 17-16, 17-14.

DAZZLING TRIUMPH

Underhill's dazzling triumph over Jones, a distinct surprise to more than 500 spectators who obviously believed the dark-haired Manitoban knocker at the title door for years without success, was due to succeed the deposed Taylor, made the Vancouver shot-maker a heavy favorite to whip Goodwin in the final.

Trailing 14-5 in the first game, Underhill staged a remarkable comeback to win it. A series of mid-court drop-shots, so accurately placed Jones was unable to get near them, piled up points thereafter. Jones rallied courageously to win the second game, staving off another threatening comeback by Underhill, but the coast star was superior in the deciding set. He led almost from the start, covering court in astonishing style, and steamed unplayable drives over the net.

LOCAL BOWLERS DRAW UP MIXED DOUBLE SCHEDULE

Mrs. T. E. Levasseur and N. Cassios Both Bowl over 200-Point Mark

A party of men and women bowlers had drawn up a five-week mixed double bowling schedule. The first series was played Friday night on the Gelinas alleys.

In the first game, Mrs. T. E. Levasseur and Alderman J. B. Gray lost to Mrs. R. Pollard and R. R. Brown by a margin of 44 points. Mrs. Levasseur bowled 204 and 508 points for high single, and high aggregate honors.

Mrs. C. A. Larson and J. Bell won a 899-847 victory over Mrs. J. Bell and G. Dill in the second match. The males basked in the limelight in this game, G. Dill bowled 168 for high single and J. Bell copped high aggregate honors with 487 points.

Mrs. G. Stevenson and N. Cassios defeated Mrs. N. Cassios and J. H. Allen 963-830 in the last match. Mr. Cassios took both high single and high aggregate honors, bowling 234 and 552, respectively.

LEADING EVERTON SOCCER TEAM TO PLAY ASTON VILLA

LONDON, March 4. (CP cable)—Everton, striving to hold their slim lead at the top of the English first division soccer championship table, will meet a strong opponent tomorrow. They play at home against Aston Villa. Everton were lucky in that mid-week matches did not more seriously affect their advantage. Arsenal, runner-up, lost a golden opportunity when they were beaten by Bolton Wanderers, while Sheffield United and Huddersfield Town, in the running for the championship, had to split the points in their game. Everton will need a win tomorrow, as Arsenal will likely get the major points by defeating Leicester City.

The leadership of the second division, just now held by Leeds United, will likely be undisturbed. Leeds should win at home against Charlton Athletic, while Wolverhampton Wanderers, second club, must travel to Swansea Town, and will have a hard job to do better than draw.

In Scotland, cup ties will occupy the center of the stage, with Motherwell and Rangers drawing probably a record crowd for a game at this stage of the competition at Ibrox Park.

GIRLS' BASKETBALL GAMES

Two games of the senior girls basketball league were played at the junior high school Thursday night, the high school defeating the Nightingales, 20-14, and the Nelsonians downing the Midgets, 24-11.

Both games were interesting, but the first quite rought, and the second fairly clean.

Cub Burns refereed the first game and Monty Morley the second.

The teams:

High School: Oliver, Boomer, Coffey (2), Fleet (6), Oughtred (10), Speirs (2), Wigg.

Nightingales: Gillespie 8), Brankin, Merral, Hyslop (2), Lawson (4), Russel.

Nelsonians: Dunnett (12), Gibbon (6), Peters (4), Wilson (2), Bebbington, Fleet, Hall, Gelines.

Midgets: Riddock, Cull (2), Jarrett (5), Massey, Burnett (4), Harlow, Morriss, Limacher.

Civilization is built on profits, and business, as a matter of right, is entitled to a profit if it serves. The greater the public service, the greater should be the profits.

ROWERS TO BEGIN SERIOUS TRAINING

PUTNEY-ON-THAMES, March 4.—(CP cable)—Crews of Oxford and Cambridge universities tomorrow will begin serious training here for the 84th renewal of the historic boat race which will be rowed March 19.

Cambridge will row a full-course trial from Putney to Mortlake, and Oxford is expected to start more strenuous exercise than it has practiced so far at Henley.

The Cambridge crew today was content to paddle over the full course, spurting for two minutes at a 34-stroke rate. Oxford, remaining at Henley for the day, failed to create a favorable impression. Observers thought the crew unsteady and lacking in uniformity, although it showed some improvement during the second outing.

Deer Plentiful Around Edgewood

EDGEWOOD, B. C., Mar. 3.—Deer are very plentiful at present on the lower levels of the mountains, no doubt being driven down by the deep snow. Alex Coates reports having counted 51 head between Snowshoe lake and the Vernon-Edgewood road, a distance of approximately a mile and a half and he estimates that there are literally hundreds in close proximity to the lake.

SUDBURY WINS BY GOAL COUNT

SUDBURY, Ont., March 4—Monteith academy defeated Sudbury Cub Wolves 3-2 tonight in the final game of the junior N. O. H. A. series but the championship goes to Sudbury by reason of their four goal lead gained in the Monteith home game. Count on the round was 6-3 in Sudbury's favor.

The Cub Wolves will now proceed against the O. H. A. junior champions in the Memorial cup playdown at Toronto next week.

Peden and Partner Regain Undisputed Lead in Bike Race

NEW YORK, March 4—Reggie McNamara, Newark veteran, and his Canadian partner, Torchy Peden, had regained undisputed possession of first place in Madison Square Garden's 52 international six-day bike race at 10 p.m. tonight.

At that hour, after 121 hours of pedalling, the McNamara-Peden combination had covered 2147 miles, nine laps. Five of the other seven teams were tied for second place a lap behind the leaders. The German team of Krochel and Schenk were another two laps behind while Franco Georgetti and his new partner, Cor Wals, had covered 2147 miles, four laps, a matter of five laps behind the pace-setters.

BENTON WINNER IN SKI TOURNEY HELD AT NAKUSP

NAKUSP, B. C, Mar. 4.—The Nakusp Ski Jump was in splendid shape for the recent Ski Exhibition, when Style jumping was the most outstanding feature.

Those taking part in the senior class were F. Benton, Richard Blythe Roland Jordan, Jack Benton, Roger Lidberg, Charles Campe, David Fulko and Roy Jones. Those voted first, second, and third place were Frank Benton, Richard Blythe and Roland Jordan.

There was much interest shown in the children's Jump and also the children's Run when the partakers were Roderick Kerr, Ralph Dunn, Billy Rushton, Stanley Cowan, Jack Kerr, Bobbie Steinhoff and Alfred Dunn.

The day was an excellent one and a great crowd of spectators were present.

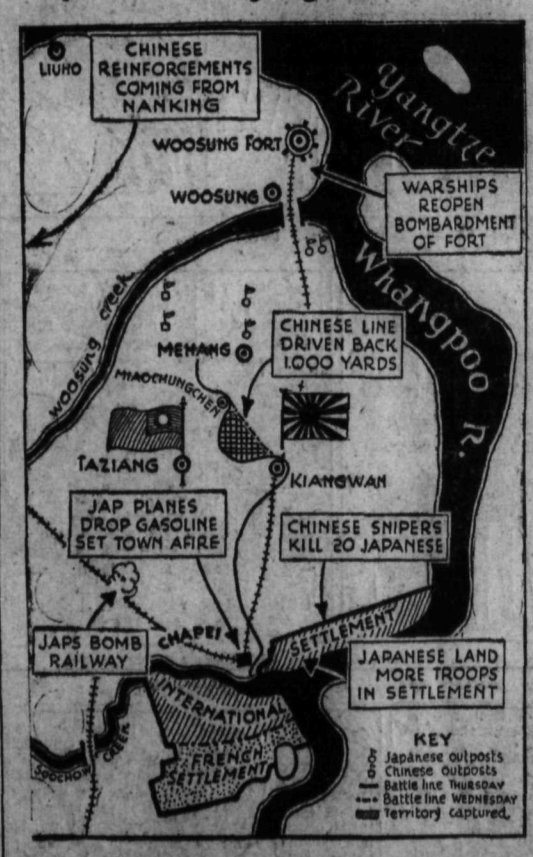
POOLERS DEFEAT JIMMIES TO TAKE LEAD IN PLAYOFF

CALGARY, Alta., March 4—Edmonton Poolers tonight defeated Calgary Jimmies to take the lead in a best two-out-of-three game series for the provincial hockey championship. The score was 2-1 and the next game will be played in Edmonton tomorrow night, with the third in Edmonton Monday night if necessary.

ANTIGONISH JUNIORS WIN TITLE

MONCTON, N. B., March 4.—The junior hockey championship of Nova Scotia and Prince Edward Island and the semi-final event in the maritime playdowns went to Antigonish tonight when the Nova Scotia juniors defeated the Silver Foxes of Charlottetown 5-2 in a sudden-death match here. The final playdown, scheduled for here tomorrow night between Antigonish and Bathurst, will decide the Maritime junior championship and the right to participate in the Memorial cup playdowns.

Japs Hurl Army Against Chinese



JAPANESE DRIVE SALIENT INTO CHINESE LINE

Kiangwan, which has held out against the might of Japan's army was placed in further jeopardy February 28, when Japanese troops, backed by tanks, aeroplanes and heavy guns, blasted Chinese defenders from their entrenchments north and west of the town. Depth of the advance is said to be 1000 yards and the attack is continuing toward Taziang, centre of a Chinese second line of defence. An offensive was launched in answer to a Chinese movement threatening the Japanese right flank. At Chapei, Japanese aeroplanes sprayed the city ruins with gasoline and then ignited them with bombs, driving out the stubborn defenders and, it is feared, burning many alive. Despite official protests of western embassies, Japanese troops were landed again in the international settlement. Map shows the battle-line as it was at the beginning of the Japanese attack, and at its close. North of the battle-line the country is scoured by Japanese and Chinese vendettes and held by outposts. Flags of China and Japan mark headquarters of their armies.

NEW YORK LIST SLIGHTLY OFF HIGH FOR 1932

Sprightly Bond Market Outpaces Stocks; Gains and Losses Even

NEW YORK, March 4 (By John L. Cooley, Associated Press financial writer)—Although again outpaced by the sprightly bond market, stocks kept within striking distance of their 1932 highs today, closing with an even distribution of small gains and losses.

Reduction of General Electric's quarterly dividend to 25 cents from 40 cents brought on a mid-afternoon reaction from the morning highs, but the market rallied again toward the finish. Volume diminished to 1,524,422 shares.

U. S. Steel spent the day in close quarters and finished half a point off. Westinghouse, American Tobacco "B" Gillett, American Can, Dupont and General Motors shaded lower, but Consolidated Gas, American Telephone, North American, Allied Chemical, Canadian Pacific, General Foods and New York Central finished steady to firm. American Ice issues strengthened.

Repaying of $150,000,000 on account of the British private banking credit was accomplished without visible effects on the money market.

MONTREAL STOCK EXCHANGE STAGES FURTHER INCREASE

C. P. R. Leads the Way; Gains Outnumber Losses 10 to Four

Broad Investigation of U. S. Stock Market Operations Orded

WASHINGTON, March 4 (AP)—The United States senate today ordered a broad investigation of stock market operations.

The resolution of inquiry approved yesterday by the banking committee was voted by the senate without opposition and without a record vote. The committee will begin its investigation early next week.

The investigation was ordered into buying and selling operations on the stock exchanges.

FURTHER EVIDENCE OF STRENGTH SEEN IN TORONTO LIST

Late New York Reaction Has Little Effect; C. P. Strong and Active

TORONTO, March 4 (CP)—Closing prices today on the Toronto stock exchange showed further evidence of strength which has developed in recent trading. A late reaction in stock prices in New York believed due to the unexpectedly large cut made in the General Electric dividend has little effect here. A total of 14,940 shares was traded and of 87 issues called, 24 were up against 13 which were off and 20 unchanged.

Canadian Pacific continued to be strong and active, closing at 21⅞ with a net gain of ¼. Brazilian Traction was off ⅛ but other utilities were strong.

The new common shares of Walker, anticipating shareholders' approval of the capital reorganization plan at this afternoon's meeting, gained ¼ to 4⅝, against the close of 3¾ for the current shares. The new preferred at 10½ was off ⅛.

Metals reflected strength of the Canadian list. Smelters was up 1¼ to 71 and International Nickel gained ⅛ to 9⅞. Oils were irregular and dull.

The steel list was firm to higher. Massey-Harris common moved up for the second day in succession, by ⅛ to close at 4⅛.

WINNIPEG GRAIN HELD STEADY BY COOLER WEATHER

Values Unchanged to a Fraction Lower at Close But Trading Is Dull

WINNIPEG, March 4 (CP)—Low temperatures over the winter wheat field kept grain values on an even keel throughout trading in the grain pit here today. Values at the close were unchanged to ⅛ lower for the day. Exports were negligible.

Apart from early buying traced to southern interests, pit trade was dull and featureless. Broomhall stated inquiry for actual wheat in the United Kingdom and on the continent was slow. United States markets displayed firmness.

Cash wheat and coarse grains in indifferent trading showed little change.

STERLING AND DOLLAR REACH HIGHER LEVELS

NEW YORK, March 4 (CP)—The Canadian dollar and pound sterling reached new highs on local foreign exchanges today. The dollar closed ⅜ cent higher at 89¼ cents, and sterling ended the day 1¼ cents higher at $3.50⅝ for cable transfers.

Sterling's rise was coincident with the British treasury's credit repayment here and the continued movement of French funds to London. The announcement of the New York Federal Reserve bank that $1,014,000 in gold from Canada was on the import account, might have influenced the Dominion's currency here.

The dollar opened ¼ cent higher this morning at 89⅛ cents, rose to 89¼ cents at noon, sold for 89¼ cents in mid-afternoon, and ended the day higher at 89¼ cents.

Sterling started the day 1¼ cents higher at $3.50⅝, was quoted at $3.50½ at noon, sold for $3.50⅝ in mid-afternoon, and ended the day at that price.

Among the mines, Siscoe was a feature, selling up to 64 cents and closing at 63 cents, a net gain of a cent. Noranda sagged 15 cents at $16.50 while Lake Shore held unchanged at $28.50.

NELSON AND TRAIL BOYS' HOOP TEAMS BATTLE TONIGHT

Nelson High School Boys Out to Avenge Defeat at Trail; Girls' Game Opener

With the sting of a one point defeat at the hands of Trail high school boys team in Trail last week in their hearts the Nelson high school boys rep basketball team are out to turn the tables with their play when they meet the Trail boys at the high school tonight.

The "blue and whites" have been practicing conscientiously in the past week and are in fine condition. The five-man defence system has been given a severe grilling at each practice and the boys have things down to a fine point. It is rumored that Trail is stronger than ever and are ready to fight every inch of the way for a win, but students are in high spirits and feel the lust for revenge over sister school.

Preceding the boys' game the high school girls and the Nelsonians will tangle for honors in the ladies class and as basketball enthusiasts in Nelson know neither of these teams need any introduction.

Both teams have been playing an excellent brand of basketball all through the season and things look as if it will be a stiff battle when the coeds face the city representatives.

Judging from the basketball exhibitions given by both the boys and girls teams, including Trail, it is expected that large crowd of fans will be on hand for the first whistle.

Canadian Railroad Bonds Work Higher

NEW YORK, March 4 (AP)—Canadian railroad bonds, which rallied sharply Thursday, worked higher again today. Aside from the recent strength of most railroad bonds in this market, reflecting cessation of bank selling, interest in Dominion carriers has been increased by reports the railroad commission would recommend consolidation of Canadian National and Canadian Pacific, with the provision that the government guarantee some of the latter's bonds.

Canadian Pacific perpetual 4's reached a new high for the year, up about $20 per $1000 obligation. The same road's 5's of 1954 also were strong. Advances in Canadian National issues put several of those loans to new 1932 tops.

REDUCE DIVIDEND

EVIDENCE ON R. B. BENNETT, HERRIDGE PROBE, COMPLETED

Gordon Expresses Regret That His Statements Were Misconstrued

OTTAWA, March 4 (CP)—After only two brief sessions the house of commons committee appointed to investigate charges against Premier R. B. Bennett and his brother-in-law, Major W. D. Herridge, alleged to have been made in Hamilton last Jan. 6, by G. N. Gordon, K. C., of Peterboro, completed the taking of evidence today. After meeting in private the committee will convene again next week to present a report.

Mr. Gordon, who is a former cabinet minister, expressed regret today that statements he had made at Hamilton had been such as to enable newspapers to misconstrue them into grave imputations of misconduct on the part of the prime minister. He also told the committee that his charges to the effect that Major Herridge had enjoyed his honeymoon last year at the expense of the Canadian government, had been based upon information which he subsequently learned to be false.

Mining Corporation Notes Increase in Operating Profit

MONTREAL, March 4.—An increase in operating profit to its highest point since 1927 was recorded in the annual report issued today of Mining Corporation of Canada, Limited.

"Au bon marche"

.... through Advertising

One of the largest department stores in Paris is named "Au Bon Marche." Translated, it means, "at a bargain—cheap." Actually, "au bon marche" indicates to the French what a true bargain does to Canadians—dependable merchandise at fair prices.

When so many shops everywhere are full of merchandise on which the "price appeal" is prominent, it is necessary that the wise shopper insists upon products of known value and proven merit. The clock that will not keep time is hardly a bargain at any price. Foodstuffs and drug-store supplies must contain pure ingredients and be prepared under hygienic conditions, lest they become not only cheap, but dangerous. Wearing apparel at a mark-down is only a snare and a delusion if it lacks the quality that will result in wear.

Wise shoppers, these days, are refusing substitutes, are weighing true worth against price appeal.

They are using the advertisements in this newspaper as a shopping guide. Whe na merchant advertises his ware consistently, you may be sure that he is telling the truth about them. He could not afford to do otherwise, even if he so desired. When a manufacturer of national scope appeals to you through these pages, you can believe and act upon his words.

"Au bon marche." Today advertising points the way to the only real bargains!

Magistrates to Be Relieved, Summonses Under Police Plan

LONDON, March 4 (CP)—Lord Trenchard, who recently succeeded Viscount Byng of Vimy, former governor-general of Canada, as metropolitan police commissioner, today made public a scheme under which he proposes to relieve London police magistrates of a proportion of the 80,000 summonses for motoring offences with which they deal yearly.

Under the scheme wider powers would be given police to issue cautionary notices insteady of summonses. An annalysis of motoring offences throughout the country show 63 per cent of the breaches of traffic laws are merely technical.

RELIEF PROBE BRINGS FLARE UP, B. C. HOUSE

Results From Demand by Opposition Members for All Correspondence

RELEVANT MATTER TO BE PRODUCED

Pattullo Motion for All Letters Is Defeated; Split on Party Lines

VICTORIA, March 4. (CP)—Today's session of the house committee investigating the administration of unemployment and relief affairs in B. C. ended in a flare-up between Chairman H. D. Twigg on the one side, and T. D. Pattullo, A. M. Manson and Dr. W. S. Sutherland and George Pearson, opposition members, on the other, over what documents and what letters should be brought before the committee and made public.

Mr. Pattullo moved that all letters and documents passing between the provincial government and the Dominion government having to do with relief funds and unemployment be produced.

"This would take two months, and only some of these documents are relevant to this inquiry," said Mr. Twigg. "I will have to refuse your request for all documents, but all that are relevant will be produced."

Mr. Manson said the inquiry committee had been constituted by the government, with power to look into all papers and books having to do with relief matters, and that it was up to the committee to decide what was relevant to the inquiry.

ASK FOR ALL CORRESPONDENCE

"We ask for all the correspondence that has taken place in this matter," said Mr. Pattullo.

"We want to see the letter from Hon. J. W. Jones, minister of finance of B. C., to the department at Ottawa, asking them to cut down the grant to B. C.," said Dr. Sutherland. "We want to see if the statement of Tom Reid, M.P. for New Westminster, was right as to why Ottawa cut down on B. C. These files are public files, and not private files."

Chairman Twigg ruled that the request for all documents would have to be refused, but relevant ones would be produced.

"The government of B. C., under whose aegis this inquiry is being held, has set the scope of this inquiry," the chairman said. J. H. Beatty supported the chairman, declaring he was against fishing expeditions in the committee.

SPLIT ON PARTY LINES

The chairman called for a vote. The result was the Pattullo proposal for all letters was beaten. Mr. Manson asked the stenographer to record the names, pointing out that the committee had split on straight party lines. The chairman ruled against this, declaring names were not recorded by committees.

D. Johnson, deputy minister of finance, was examined by Brigadier-general J. A. Clark, counsel for the committee. Copies of order-in-council covering the sums of money advanced to the provincial government from Ottawa and letters dealing with them passing between the deputy minister of finance were presented in tracing out the series of loans.

Mr. Pattullo pointed to a paragraph in the letter of August 19, 1931, from Watson Sellers, assistant deputy minister of finance at Ottawa, to Mr. Johnson as deputy minister here, in which Mr. Sellers said: "It is noticed that you have apparently allocated $500,000 for municipal works, but have not expended all of it. You do not, however, give any statement as to what has been done with the balance of the money. I think this information should be given. A casual perusal of the file would leave the impression that you have used the money for ordinary governmental purposes. I think you should remedy this."

MONTREAL, March 4—Dividends of $1.25 per share on the common stock and 1¾ per cent on the preferred stock were announced here today by Dominion Textile, Ltd. Both are for the quarter ending March 31.

ADVANCE IN RYE ON CHICAGO PIT SENDS WHEAT UP

High Average Held Most of Day; Drops Near End to Close Unchanged

CHICAGO, March 4 (By John P. Boughan, Associated Press market editor)—Drawn upward at times by a good advance in the rye market, wheat averaged higher today, but closed about unchanged.

Wheat values were also responsive to improvement of the New York stock market and to Kansas reports of a sudden 60 degree fall of temperatures to around zero. Broader export demand for rye was apparent, with German said to be in the market for the breadstuff, and Russia's available stocks of rye about exhausted.

Wheat closed irregular, ¼ off to ¼ up compared with yesterday's finish, corn at ⅛ decline to ¼ advance, oats unchanged to ⅛ to ¼ off, and provisions unchanged to 7 cents down. The maximum upturn of almost 2 cents in rye was not maintained.

Possible Agreement of Producers Brings Firming of Copper

NEW YORK, March 4.—Prospects that international copper producers, meeting in New York, may reach an agreement of further drastic curtailment of output brought a firmer tone to both domestic and foreign prices for the metal today.

Copper for domestic shipment, which had been selling at a low record price for all time at 5¾ cents a pound, advanced to 5⅞ cents, and custom smelters were reported reluctant to sell even at this figure.

Prices for export also moved up to 6⅛ cents a pound, after standing for several days at 5⅞ cents, the lowest in history. When little metal was available at the 6⅛-cent price, quotations for the foreign trade were advanced to 6⅝ cents, the former official price of Copper Exporters, Incorporated.
