UNANIMOUS VOTE ON INSURANCE PLAN

Trail City Employees Get Wage Cut Back on Vote of the Mayor

TRAIL'S MAYOR SAYS TIME TO RESTORE PART

Ten Per Cent to Go on Checks; Anderson Says Unwise

NO IDEA YET UPON GOV'T. GRANT

Estimate of School Board Okayed by Councillors

TRAIL, B.C., Feb. 18—The casting vote of Mayor E. L. Groutage at a meeting of the city council Monday night gives the employees of the city of Trail the restoration of a 10 per cent cut. Alderman C. Lauriente, chairman of the finance committee moved that the 10 per cent be restored to city employees. Alderman J. R. Anderson added an amendment that the matter be left on the table until the budget for the year was brought in. Aldermen J. L. Kitchen and John Young being absent left only four councillors and the mayor. Aldermen Anderson and J. H. Woodburn favored the amendment and Aldermen Bell and Lauriente opposed it. Mayor Goutage cast his vote to throw out the amendment and when the motion was placed before the meeting there were no altered opinions, the two who had favored the amendment opposing the motion. With two in favor and two against the mayor's casting vote passed the motion.

THOUGHT IT UNWISE

Alderman Anderson opposed the restoring of the cut to city employees as he considered it an unwise act until the budget had been brought in, and thought it best for the council to first find out what the government grant is to be this year. He referred to the reduction of the school board grant and judged that a similar cut would be forthcoming in the municipal grants.

Mayor Groutage contended it was time to give some of the reduction back. The city employees had done excellent work and rendered cooperation in a wonderful manner through the depression, he said, and added that the council should have no fear in making this move.

As the police department and the school staffs had received a portion of their salary cuts, Alderman Bell could not see why the

NO CANCER IN ARCTIC REGION

VANCOUVER, Feb. 18 (CP)—Dr. J. A. Urquhart, federal government administrator for a district in the Arctic three times the size of British Columbia, has never seen a case of cancer in the six years he has been stationed at Aklavik, N.W.T., he told members of a Vancouver service club in an address today.

"All deaths in the area are reported to me and I would have every opportunity to ascertain if there were any cases of cancer," he said. The administrator is a graduate in medicine from McGill university.

Dr. Urquhart did not give his conclusions as to why he believes cancer is non-existent among the Esquimaux; but he stated a large percentage of the food they eat is consumed raw and rotten.

Honeymooners on Motor Trip

KINGSTON, Jamaica, Feb. 18 —(CP).—Motoring alone in a borrowed car, the Duke and Duchess of Kent explored the charms of Jamaica's picturesque countryside today.

Prince George, at the wheel, had no difficulty in finding his way around.

Returning to their honeymoon bungalow here in time for dinner, the royal couple planned to spend a quiet evening and choose out of the way places for more picnics and hiking.

They are expected to remain in Jamaica long enough to meet Prince George's elder brother, the Duke of Gloucester, due to arrive in Kingston early next month.

Hen Lays Complete Egg Within an Egg

Here's something to crow about:

A hen owned by Mrs. J. Day, Granite road, yesterday turned out an oversize egg — one measuring 2¾ inches in length and 2 inches in width, to be exact—but that's not all of the story.

Broken, the shell was found to contain, besides a large-sized yolk, rather larger than normal, and less than the usual amount of white, another egg, about 1¼ inches in diameter, nearly spherical and completely formed, yolk, white, shell and all.

Brought to the Nelson Daily News office and displayed in the editorial department, the freak was viewed by a continual stream of wondering Nelsonites, none of whom could remember having hear of the likes before.

IS BURIED IN BIN OF COAL

Trail Worker Is in the Coal a Long Time; Suffers Shock

TRAIL, B. C., Feb. 18—Clarence Ross, C. M. & S. employee, was extricated from a smelter coal bin at 3 o'clock this afternoon, after being buried for nearly three-quarters of an hour. He is suffering from shock.

According to reports, Ross walked into the bin, stooped to pick up a shovel and slipped in the slack coal and was buried as the coal caved. Considerable difficulty was experienced in getting the man out as men working from above only tended to bring down more coal on top of him and it was impossible to let the coal run out of the bin as that would only have carried Ross further down.

He was finally extricated however, and taken to hospital by ambulance.

Roosevelt's New Deal Monetary Policy Is Upheld by Supreme Court; Federal Holders Do Not Suffer; Certificate at Face Value

Court Rules Congress Has Power to Nullify Promises to Pay in Gold Contained in Corporation Bonds

ROOSEVELT'S AIDS TEAR UP THE PLANS FOR QUICK COUNTER ACTION

By RICHARD L. TURNER
(Associated Press Staff Writer)

WASHINGTON, Feb. 18 (AP).—The Roosevelt administration scored a sweeping practical victory in the all-important gold cases today.

Dropping into another of its famous five-to-four lineups that caused President Roosevelt and his aides gleefully to scrap their elaborate plans for counter action, the supreme court of the United States ruled:

That congress had power to nullify promises to pay in gold contained in the bonds of private corporations;

NO POWER IN CASE OWN BONDS

That it had no such power where the government's own bonds were concerned, but that federal bondholders had suffered no damage, and had no right at present to other than a dollar for dollar redemption;

That a gold certificate is worth only its face value in the present devalued currency.

Abruptly, the announcement broke the taut atmosphere of anxiety and suspense in which it was delivered.

DOMINION HAILS COURT DECISION ON GOLD CLAUSE

Saves Canada Huge Sum; Removes Increased Debt for the U. S. A.

By The Canadian Press

The United States devalued dollar came successfully through the supreme court at Washington on Monday, and the decision was hailed with satisfaction in Canada and abroad no less than generally in the United States itself.

The long-awaited ruling on the validity of the gold clause in existing United States federal, private, state and municipal bonds ended tension that gripped the marts of the world and sent stocks and commodities on the upward trail, Canadian gold shares leading the way.

WORTH ONLY FACE VALUE

In a 5-4 decision the supreme court upheld congress' abrogation of the gold clause in private contracts, which include state and municipal bonds south of the border as well as private corporation issues. It ruled gold certificates are worth only their face value in devalued currency.

It upheld the gold clause in federal government obligations—but ruled the holders of these bonds had suffered no damage, and no court had jurisdiction to entertain their appeals.

NEW DEAL WINS

In short, the new deal government won all along the line, and while the dissenting jurists remarked, "the constitution is gone," Washington government circles echoed the president's "gratification." It was promptly declared no legislative or administration action, contemplated as an emergency in case of adverse decision, would be needed.

SAVES CANADA'S MONEY

A decision adverse to the Washington government would have had its direct repercussions in the Dominion, by calling for payment of obligations in gold dollars it would have immediately added no less than $1,380,000,000 to Canada's obligations in the United States, jumping its Dominion government, provincial and municipal, railway

Roar of Slides Heard in City?

Reverberations heard in Nelson Monday suggested that snowslides were running on the face of Granite mountain, opposite the city.

During the noon hour a roar, apparently from across the lake, was heard in various parts of Nelson, and persons familiar with snowslides suggested a slide as the cause. Residents of the north shore, asked by telephone about it, had not heard the noise, but the configuration of the mountain might account for that.

About 10 o'clock Monday night city residents reported hearing another prolonged roar, the sound of coal in a chute, many times magnified.

GOLD DECISION PUTS PEP IN THE MARKETS

Bombardment of Buying Hits the Commodity and Security Markets; Wall Street Thrown Into High Confusion; Foreign Golds Soar

By CLAUDE A. JAGGER
(Associated Press Financial Writer)

NEW YORK, Feb. 18 (AP).—The long-awaited United States supreme court gold decision was the signal for a bombardment of buying in security and commodity markets today.

The floor of the New York stock exchange was transformed from extreme quiet into a frenzy not witnessed there since July of 1933. Wall street was thrown into high confusion and intense excitement as word of the decision was flashed at mid-day, but calm was restored by mid-afternoon.

The buying reflected the ending of fears that new deal monetary policies might be upset with serious deflationary effect, and the belief

ESTIMATE FAVORABLE GOLD DECISION SAVES CANADIANS SUM $1,380,000,000

Canadian Investments in the U. S. Estimated at Sum of $4,000,000,000

OTTAWA, Feb. 18 (CP).—No one would venture a definite estimate of just how much the United States supreme court decision today meant to Canada. Statisticians have fixed United States investments in Canada at around $4,000,000,000. Much of this is in common stocks, and other securities not containing provisions for payment in gold.

Experts here have expressed the opinion that half of this investment or $2,000,000,000 is in gold bonds. Today's decision held this was payable in present U. S. dollars.

Had the decision been reversed it would have meant payment on the basis of $1.69 for dollar on the face of the bonds or would have increased the total to $3,380,000,000. A jump of $1,380,000,000.

The Dominion has $340,000,000 of its own gold bonds in the United States. At $1.69, these would have been increased to $403,600,000.

U. S. SITUATION

WASHINGTON, Feb. 18 (CP).—The exact amount of private gold clause indebtedness which the supreme court today ruled can be paid in devalued dollars, could not be exactly estimated, but is upwards of $200,000,000,000. Had the gold clause been upheld this debt would have been increased by $160,000,000,000 in devalued dollars.

MUST REVISE VOTERS LIST PRIOR JUNE 30

OTTAWA, Feb. 18 (CP)—Col. John Thompson, franchise commissioner, said today unless the act passed last year is amended the voters' list enumerated last October will be revised between May 15 and June 30. He added the statute was mandatory.

Observers, estimating the new list will add about 250,000 names to the electorate, saw in the statement indications that the next Dominion election might be held in April or early autumn. Col. Thompson has said the revision will not be completed before July 1 and that reprinting will consume the rest of that month.

Should an early election be called the list enumerated last fall could be used without revision.

WARRIOR LORD IS IN HOSPITAL

TOUL, France, Feb. 18 (CP-Havas).—Lord Edward Montagu, son of the Duke of Manchester, and now a full fledged recruit in the French foreign legion, today lay in military hospital nursing a dislocated rib.

The ex-Canadian rancher's first active exploit was falling down the barracks stairway yesterday. Examination showed the injury is not serious, but since the next draft for northern Africa leaves Wednesday he will miss it.

Authorities said he will leave next week and join the legion at Sidi Bel-Abbes, Algeria.

Russia Sends Agitators Into B.C. Lumber Camps to Cripple the Industry—Hanbury

OTTAWA, Feb. 18 (CP)—Agitators were sent into Canadian lumber camps at the instigation of Russia for the purpose of disorganizing the industry, said Wilfrid Hanbury (Lib. Vancouver-Burrard), in the house of commons tonight. He said many people, as well as himself, believed Russia was alarmed at the quantity of Canadian lumber going on the United Kingdom market and set out to create disturbances in the industry.

From information which had come to him, Mr. Hanbury's statement seemed to be "fully warranted" said Prime Minister R. B. Bennett.

The question arose when A. W. Neill (Ind. Comox-Alberni), proposed an amendment to the unemployment insurance bill to prevent employment offices from maintaining "black lists" or recognizing them. He said lumber operators in British Columbia had extensive black lists and were discriminating against men who attempted to organize unions. Mr. Hanbury offered his statement as an explanation of the black lists.

Mr. Bennett said the amendment would serve no useful purpose as no employment office would have a black list and there was no way of forcing an employer to employ a man he did not want. He promised to consider the amendment further, however, and allowed the clause concerned to stand over.

ONE-TON SEA COW CAPTURED

BOSTON, Feb. 18 (AP).—A 20-foot sea cow, weighing approximately a ton, is the latest of strange sea monsters reported.

Captain Stephen Pudlester of the Boston trawler Quincy today reported having netted the monster while fishing off the western banks in 100 fathoms of water. He ordered his crew to toss the monster back into the sea, he said, for fear it would unbalance his vessel. He said it had a neck resembling a cow, was gray in color with the tail of a fish and was equipped with fins on its belly.

Silver Properties of Northwest to Benefit From Gold Clause Decision

SPOKANE, Wash., Feb. 18 (AP)—Guy H. Clarke, president of the Northwest Mining association, said tonight he believed the supreme court's ruling on the gold clause would steady gold mining activities in Montana, central Idaho, northern Washington and British Columbia.

"I believe, however, the effect of the decision will not be so great on gold properties as on silver," he declared.

Both gold and silver issues rose on the standard stock exchange here when the public ruling became known.

BRITISH PROBE ARMS TRAFFIC

Commission of Seven Named to Go Into Manufacturing

LONDON, Feb. 18 (AP)—Great Britain today launched an inquiry into the private manufacture of arms, implementing a promise made by the government in the house of comons last autumn.

A royal commission of seven, including a woman, will conduct the inquiry, with wide powers for summoning the documents of private arms companies.

It is compised of Sir John Eldon Bankes, former lord justice of appeal, as chairman; Sir Thomas Allen leader in the Cooperative Wholesale society; Dame Rachel Crowdy, formerly connected with the League of Nations; Sir Kenneth Lee, who has sat on many government advisory committees; J. A. Spender, leading London journalist and editor; Sir Philip Gibbs, author and war correspondent and Prof. H. C. Gutteridge, member of many law committees.

Prime Minister Ramsay MacDonald, who made the announcement today in the house of commons, told a questioner certain papers which the government thinks should not be produced would not be made available.

WHAT THE GOLD DECISION DOES

WASHINGTON, Feb. 18 (AP).—Points settled by the gold decision today:

That the power which the United States constitution gives to congress to change the value of the unit of currency is not to be restricted by any private contracts whatsoever.

That congress therefore was within its rights in abrogating clauses of bonds and contracts stipulating payment in gold coin.

That congress has no authority under the constitution to alter the terms of government bonds in this particular.

That no damage having been shown by the holder of the bond who brought suit, no recovery or indemnity was allowable.

That congressional power over the currency includes the right to establish circumstances under which gold certificates need not be redeemed in gold.

BACK TO LAND HOUDE'S IDEA

Loan Board, Turnover Tax Among Plans to Solve Troubles

TORONTO, Feb. 18 (CP).—Four avenues of approach toward a solution of Canada's difficulties were suggested by Mayor Camillien Houde of Montreal in an address before the Canadian club here.

They were: A back-to-the-land scheme; replacement of employed women by unemployed men; a national loan board to pool all government debts, and a turnover tax.

Canada has been trying to industrialize and ruralize at the same time, something impossible for a nation of 10,000,000 people when competing against the larger population and greater productive power of the United States. It must do one thing or the other and he suggested a back-to-the-land movement whereby people could live in greater security than under the present system of direct relief.

THREE BOYS ARE DROWNED

WINNIPEG, Feb. 18 (CP)—Three young boys drowned in the Red river here tonight when they persisted in crossing the thin ice after one of them had been pulled from shallow water when the ice broke.

The bodies of Henry Socha, 8, and his brother, Fred Socha, 7, were recovered and search was still being made by police for the body of Tony Yakabowski, 8, who was accompanying the Socha brothers.

Eye-witnesses to the tragedy described how the lads started to cross the river when one of them fell in.

Repeal of Moratorium Act, Cut in Cost of Government, Aid for Cities Anscomb's Plea

VICTORIA, Feb. 18 (CP).—Repeal of the British Columbia Moratorium act on mortgages, reduction in costs of government and aid for municipalities was urged in the legislature today by Herbert Anscomb (Ind.-Victoria). He denounced measures which would deprive bondholders and creditors of their contract rights, and made a plea for orthodox financial policies.

The Moratorium act, he said, was holding up building. He regarded unemployment as a federal responsibility "no matter what construction may be placed upon the British North America act."

The province should relieve all municipalities of all social service costs and see that no more are imposed in the future." To meet the extra cost upon itself, the province could do two things; reduce the cost of government and impose new taxation to meet the costs of social legislation.

In connection with his argument for reduced government costs, he said the present royal commission inquiry into fuel, should have been done by the economic council. Of the forthcoming provincial budget which is to be currently balanced, Mr. Anscomb said the failure to provide sinking funds or relief costs

GENEVA, Feb. 18 (CP-Havas).—Drastic control of arms trade and manufacture was adopted today as the official goal of the world disarmament conference's technical committee, meeting here.

The unanimous vote was something of a record. It was the first time in the memory of the oldest parliamentarians that such a thing

FOREIGN BOND FOLK MAY ACT

To Seek Diplomatic Request; London Cheers Result

LONDON, Feb. 18 (AP)—Predictions disappointed foreign holders of United States government bonds might ask their respective governments to take diplomatic action were made today.

This action, as a result of the supreme court decision upholding the United States' abrogation of the gold clause of government bonds, might possibly be made, it was said, in a concerted move.

It was pointed out that British government obligations floated in New York and Paris just before Great Britain left the gold standard were paid off in 1934 in gold despite the fact Great Britain at that time was off the gold standard.

It was also pointed out, however, that the United States government bonds all had been sold inside the United States while the British bonds were floated abroad. Domestic British government bond issues never have contained the gold clause.

The announcement of the supreme court's decision created great excitement on Throgmorton street. Dealers in gold shares cheered and excited crowds swept through the street, which quickly became practically impassable.

Fears Foreign Bondholders May Be Able Sue for $169 for Every $100

PHILADELPHIA, Feb. 18 (AP).—Dr. F. Cyril James, associate professor of finance of the Wharton school, University of Pennsylvania, said tonight the supreme court's gold clause decision does not prevent foreign governments ho United States gold bonds from "suing to recover $169 of present money for every $100 bond containing the gold clause."

Dr. James bases his interpretation on a supreme court decision handed down a year ago in a suit filed by the principality of Monaco against the state of Mississippi, to recover upon bonds of Mississippi which were in default.

The supreme court ruled, Dr. James said, that a foreign government could not sue a state within the union, but could sue the government of the United States upon such a fiscal matter and could initiate such suit in the supreme court.

MUST SHARE IN AN INSURANCE PLAN—BENNETT

Non-contributory Idea Just the Same as Dole He Says

OTTAWA WILL BE AID TO PROVINCES

Works Program Will Go Ahead as the Weather Improves

OTTAWA, Feb. 18 (CP)—There was no intention on the part of the government to introduce non-contributory unemployment insurance, Prime Minister R. B. Bennett today told a delegation from the national congress on social insurance now in session here. But if the provinces so desire, the prime minister said, the federal government would continue to assist them so far as possible to discharge their obligations to the unemployed.

A group of 12 spokesmen were complimented by the prime minister on the "orderly and fair manner" in which they had presented their arguments.

THE DEMANDS

Noncontributory insurance paid for entirely by the federal government, free hospitalization, medical, dental and optical care for the unemployed, larger relief benefits, public works and a national housing scheme, were among requests made by various spokesmen. Representatives of trades unions and unemployed councils from coast to coast were present.

"I realize," Mr. Bennett said, "that you have come here with the earnest desire to do something that will be of benefit to all."

The government had no desire to hide behind the fact that there were constitutional barriers to carrying out many of the proposals raised, he said, but he outlined the procedure laid down in the British North America act to govern relations between the Dominion, provinces and municipalities.

Admitting that full benefits of the public works program launched last year had not yet been felt, Mr. Bennett haid that with improved weather conditions this work would go forward from coast to coast and that it was intended to extend the plan, but not on any elaborate scale.

A noncontributory unemployment plan such as suggested by the delegation would not be insurance at all in the real sense of the word but a dole, Mr. Bennett said. It could cost almost $1,000,000,000.

GOLDS GAIN

TORONTO, Feb. 18 (CP).—With danger of a setback for gold removed by decision on the gold clause appeal the mining section of the Toronto stock exchange moved forward briskly today. The close was strong.

Gold issues were the favorites. Lake Shore led with a gain of 2.75; Hollinger added 1.15. Wright Hargreaves gained 35 and Teck Hughes 10 while Dome and McIntyre added $1 to $1.25 each and Bralorne and Pioneer 25 to 55 each.

SCHOOL PARTY AT AINSWORTH

AINSWORTH, B.C., Feb. 18. — The teacher and scholars of the Ainsworth school were hosts at a Valentine party Wednesday afternoon.

The party was held Wednesday so that Rev. E. Pitt Griffiths of Kaslo, who was in town for his regular visiting day, could address the gathering for his regular visiting day, could address the gathering on the subject of "Education". Mr. Griffiths was asked by Miss Truscott to speak during education week, but as he could not come then, it was arranged for him to visit the school and present his address this week.

He took for his subject "The Progress of Education," first describing the word and pointing out that the meaning of it really is "The bringing up of children." This of course includes the training of mental and physical powers also the moulding and direction of character. Mr. Griffiths likened schools to information shops and said that teachers ranked as information mongers.

He next described the Greek schools of olden times and said that in some form or other schools were present in every community. The office of teacher usually was combined with some other office generally that of priest.

The Jewish and Roman schools were next spoken of and Mr. Griffiths told of how the Jewish schools handed down from generation to generation their national customs, traditions and faith. They also had a strong system of family teaching. In more modern times the grammer schools, where language and literature were the chief subjects, were to the fore, these being at the beginning attached to churches and monastries.

Trade guilds maintained many schools and about 1850 private schools which taught non-classical subjects were general but the education was still confined to the richer classes.

State grants to schools were established in 1869 but it was not until 1902 that elementary schools were placed on a state footing.

Since then, Mr. Griffiths continued, education has advanced rapidly. He explained the present day public school system of first, schools devoted to primary education, second, secondary education, third higher education, the latter including colleges and universities.

He also spoke of supplementary ways of education including, normal schools, night schools correspondence schools, summer and vacation schools, also schools for the blind and deaf.

At the conclusion of the address Miss Truscott thanked Mr. Griffiths and the children and visitors showed their thanks.

There followed the distribution of Valentines. Everyone received several. Misses Eileen Fletcher, Isabel Sane, Jack Baker and Hans Hansen acted as postmen.

Refreshments, provided by the ladies, were served by Miss Truscott assisted by Misses Isabel Lane, Eileen Fletcher and Mavis Fletcher.

Rev. E. Pitt Griffiths of Kaslo spend Wednesday in town. He held services at the home of Mrs. Henry and Mr. and Mrs. George Hobbs.

Jack McPherson and Fred Speirs of Kaslo were in town.

BIG COSTUME DANCE IS HELD AT KIMBERLEY

275 Couples Attend Affair of Boy Scouts

AT LEAST 100 IN COSTUME

Two Hockey Teams Are Beaten at Cranbrook

KIMBERLEY, B.C., Feb. 18.— A masquerade Valentine dance in the I.O.O.F hall Friday night was a great success. The hall was filled, many more in costume than formerly and many of the costumes unique and very attractive. It was sponsored by the Boy Scouts.

Miss Logan, teacher from Ontario, and Drummond Oswald, on the high school staff, won the prizes for the best dressed couple. They were striking in rich black, as Chinese lady and gentleman.

The best comic couple was Miss Ethel Colthorpe as "Pop Eye" and Mrs. J. Colthorpe as "Olive Oil".

The best representative was Miss N. Starcevich as a "Game of Chance" and Mr. Clerf as a fat Dutch peasant.

Louise Cornford as "Madame Pompador" and Ernie Basso as "Spanish Gentleman" took firsts in the best dressed lady and gentleman.

Mabel McKay as the "Goddess of Flame" won a prize for best home made.

A special children's prize open to all school children, a fountain pen and pencil set, was won by Olive Ford, 13, as a "Desert Maid." Blanche Raynor won in the girl's class and Billy Richardson in the boys, Blanche as "Queen of Hearts" and Billy as a sheik.

The prizes were given out by President Harry Stone assisted by F. W. Slade.

The judges found it difficult to pick the winners. Tony Muraco made a most delightful and convincing Satan; Miss Muir a bouncing Honolulu maiden; George Snider a dashing Turk; Mrs. Sutherland a natty White Hussar, Mrs. S. Smith a sweet Mae West; Beatrice Hopkins and Guinevive Dacre charming tiny tots; Chris Foote a pretty lady; two dainty old-fashioned costumes attracted a lot of attention, Jean Townsend as a "belle of the nineties" and Eva Lundberg in a "great grandma's" outfit of 70 years ago. J. Evans' costume as Robin Hood was perfect in every detail, but through some misunderstanding was judged in the homemade class and could not accept the prize.

The judges were all from Cranbrook and included Mr. and Mrs. B. Murgatroyd, Mrs. V. C. Edwards, Mrs. Peckenpaugh, B. Laurie and M. McFarlane.

The Kimberley Boy Scout association and the First Kimberley troop of Boy Scouts extended sincere thanks to all who helped to make this the best dance the organization has ever staged. Two hundred and seventy five people attended and at least 100 were in costume.

Harry Stone says it will be only a matter of weeks before they will start work on the building, which will not be far from the high school. A building is already in possession but has to be taken down, moved and rebuilt.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Fortier have left on a six weeks trip to California, taking young Marguerite with them.

Ted James left Thursday to resume work at the Big Missouri mine. His family expects to join him in the spring.

Mr. and Mrs. Watson's young son is still in the Cranbrook hospital, where he has been for two weeks. Mrs. Watson is in Cranbrook to be near him.

Arnold Gaskell, who was born Jan. 23, 1935 and was ill in the hospital here, died February 13.

Friday a junior and a juvenile hockey team went down to Cranbrook for two games. Both games went into overtime and both final scores were 3-1 in favor of Cranbrook.

This eliminated Kimberley from the junior league and Cranbrook will now meet Fernie juniors in the finals.

Bob Brown hit the boards too hard and will be laid up with an injured hip for awhile.

Mrs. Cliff Thompson and Miss Isabel Frame came up from Cranbrook Thursday to skip in a challenge game of curling with the Townsite ladies for the Willis silver basket. Mrs. D. McKinnon took on Miss Frame's team, winning by a score of 18-6.

Mrs. Charles McKay played Mrs. Thompson and won 16-1.

Mrs. D. McKinnon's team—1, Mrs. Palm; 2, Mrs. Ted James; 3, Mrs. Costain.

VEGETARIANS PROTEST AT ROASTING OX TO CELEBRATE KING'C JUBILEE

LONDON, Feb. 18 (CP cable)—Roasting of an ox, which will form part of the silver jubilee celebrations in several country districts in May, today prompted the Vegetarian society to write to the lord chamberlain asking whether it would be possible to obtain his majesty's ideas on this subject.

"Such a form of celebration," the society wrote, "is out of tune with the present day feeling in regard to animals. It is further calculated to be most distasteful to many loyal subjects in Idia."

The lord chamberlain passed the letter on to the home office, which replied that local celebrations of the anniversary of his majesty's accession are in every case a matter for local arrangement, and the home secretary cannot advise his majesty to intervene.

JAPAN TO SAVE TIMBER SUPPLY

By PERCY WHITEING

TOKYO, Feb. 18 (CP)—Confronted with increasing demands on its forests for woodpulp and construction material the Japanese government has undertaken a program to conserve and develop the empire's timber supply.

Answering representations from private sources that the government's appropriations for replenishment of national forests and subsidies to owners of private timber lands are pitifully small, Count Kodama, minister for colonial affairs, said that steps were being taken to protect the industry.

The government is seeking to conserve the forests in Karafuto by limiting felling and by providing equipment for preventing and fighting fires, Cound Kodama declared. In Korea where the forest condition is the worst in the empire, the government is giving its attention to afforestation and conservation of existing timber stands.

Home Minister Fumio Goto added that everything possible is being done to conserve forest resources of Hokkaido, the large northern island.

Closer cooperation between governmental offices controlling Karafuto, Korea and Hookaido, has been recommended in connection with the care of forests located in the three areas.

How to Guard against the

FLU

Every Daily News reader is urged to heed these precautions

The flu epidemic has reached this community. The health authorities are doing their part, but every individual must be on guard.

Keep your medicine chest supplied with the sensible aids to health; any sickness weakens the system and lowers your resistance to germs.

Every household should have at least one hot water bag, in good condition, or an electric pad; and a fever thermometer. Sleep in airy rooms, with ample covering. Avoid an overheated house during the day; dress warmly when you go out. Beware of overcrowded cars, poorly ventilated public meeting places, stuffy telephone booths. Flu is contagious! Breathe through the nose. Keep the bowels in good order; Phillips' Milk of Magnesia is a good laxative and an excellent antacid for keeping the system alkaline, too. If you have any symptom of a cold or grippe, take "Aspirin" according to directions. A common cold is especially dangerous at a time like this, because it lowers your resistance.

Eat plain foods, get enough rest, and don't over-do. Take these extra precautions to keep in sound physical condition, so your system will have its normal resistance against germs.

At any sign of actual flu, call a doctor at once. Do not try to treat yourself for influenza!

"Aspirin" should be in every home.

Moslems Gain 25 Converts for Each Negro Christian

Natives Seek Charms to Repel Efforts of the Missionaries, van Paassen Tells

By PIERRE VAN PAASSEN
Central Press Canadian Writer

LAKE TSCHAD, Feb. 18 — The dominant religion of the millions upon millions of blacks in this part of the world is fetishism, the most primitive cult known to mankind. Every locality has its own set of gods, demons, djinns, good and bad spirits. These gods are manufactured by the dozen each day. Expert artisans fashion them out of wood and you can see these idol-makers at work in the market-places of the multitudinous villages. The images are small, a foot in height, but each image-maker seeks to surpass his rival in giving his product a more hideous or a more obscene expression.

There are gods who protect against bad harvest, against illness, against rain, against jealous neighbors, against wild beasts, against sterility, against sudden death, against snake-bite, against bad teeth and against "the white man's magic." By white man's magic the natives mean the attempts of missionaries to convert them to Christianity. Still other gods favor, upon being offered dishes of choice manioc, bananas, suckling pigs, coconuts, olive oil, fat 'or grease, the happy birth of boys and the contracting of love-marriages, the acquisition of riches, of physical strength, and of certain mystic qualities such as an ability to look into the future and into the hearts of one's enemies, to know their evil designs, a very advantageous attribute, since it gives one a chance to forestall their knavish tricks.

CHRISTIANITY BACKWARD

The Christian mission cannot up till now boast of much success in this region. The only way to come in direct contact with the natives and to exercise a certain amount of influence on them is by establishing hospitals and clinics. What St. Paul said of the Greeks fully applies here: to the black tribes the teachings of Christianity are foolishness. They laugh outright over our religion.

Islam has far more success among them. For this there are several good reasons. In the first place Mohammedanism tolerates slavery and encourages polygamy. Secondly, no matter what his laguage or the color of his skin, is regarded as a full-fledged citizen and not as a stranger in every country where Islam is the dominant religion.

We westerners have accustomed ourselves to thinking of Africa as a huge land divided in colonies belonging to different European powers: Tripoli Lybia, Algiers, Morocco, the Soudan, Nigeria, etc., etc., but the native does not think in these terms. He knows nothing about political frontiers and in the case of nomadic tribes he often flatly ignores the ill-defined borders. He goes by religious frontiers. Wherever Allah is worshipped and the Prophet Mohammed is venerated, there is his fatherland.

ALL MOSLEMS EQUAL

This is a very fine sentiment to my way of thinking, because it establishes not only the high degree of toleration of Islam, but it also tends toward cosmopolitanism and even toward universalism. Whoever confesses Allah is a brother-hedjah, a fellow-believer, worthy of respect for no other reason but his faith, no matter how humble his condition or whatever his racial antecedents.

A white man may still have difficulty in traversing certain parts of the Mohammedan world—a well-known Danish journalist was killed last year in trying to enter Mecca—but not because of the color of his skin, but for the reason that he was an infidel, that is to say, lower than an unclean dog.

The Mohammedan missionaries in the Tschad region work quietly, centering their attention chiefly upon the little black children. I saw a marabout-missionary in the village of Klo'mgo first execute some drole antics, standing on his head and twisting his legs around his neck, to the great delight of the black urchins, and then gather the lot of them around to tell some intriguing tale, during the telling of which their eyes sparkled and they burst out into uncontrollable gales of laughter several times.

He was sitting against a rumpling piece of mud-wall, with about 60 little blacks of both sexes, ranged around him in semicircle. He spoke to the children as if he was an every day friend, kindly and with a fine sweet voice, but a singularly penetrating voice. The marabout's face could have been the subject for some great master's brush, olive-complexioned it was, but wrinkled and with deep smouldering eyes, the contour ending in a graying pointed beard.

When he got through with his story, he stood up and all the children rose also. He carried his right hand first to his forehead and then to the region of his heart and bowed to the crowd, very dignified, I thought. All the children gave him the same salutation and then they all pronounced the words: "Allah Il Allahou." "Only Allah is God and Mohammed is the prophet of God."

That much, at least, he had taught them. The foundations had been laid. He walked away, gathering the folds of his burnous in a broad majestic sweep and smiled contently, until he caught sight of me where I had been watching the scene from under a mangrove tree. Then the smile froze on his face and he spat in my direction with a gesture of incredible contempt as if to say: "There, that is what I think of you, pig-dog of an unbeliever!"

I also witnessed the passage of a bishop on tournee of his diocese. He travelled with a certain eclat, let the assembled tribesmen wait a long time beyond the stipulated hour of his visit and made the general impression of a prince, who confers a favor upon his subjects by letting them have a look at him.

On the admission of a Christian missionary, I record here that in the Tschad region Mohammedanism gains converts and adherents at a rate of 25 for every one gained for the Christian religion.

Of Protestant missions there is not a trace. In one way this is not to be regretted, for I dread think what chaotic confusion would result in the minds of these primitive tribesmen and what mortal damage would result to Christian ethics, if they were called upon to distinguish between the subtle interpretations of our religion by the representatives of a dozen sects or so. No, it is better so. Now, at least, they have no conception, at any rate, of how divided we are ourselves.

The blacks have an ensrainated hatred of our civilization, and whether we come bearing gifts or bringing the consolations of a new religion, they are suspicious. How differently they treat the Islamic marabouts, who simply come to each and tell stories and behind whose back there is no alien government with bombing airplanes and threats of violence.

Converted to Christianity means that the primitive black man simply increases his stock of superstitions. A wall arises between him and his tribe, moreover. It is as if he denationalizes himself, whereas when he embraces Islam, he may wear a colored turban as outward signal of his faith and receives the honored respect of all Muslim wherever he goes. A Christian tribesman remains an anonymity.

Much more effective work could be done in Christian missionary endeavor if the missionaries were themselves natives. But this takes time. Latin is a difficult language.

BROWN TAKES HONORS OF WEST KOOTENAY HOCKEY STANDING

Redding Is Next and Mike Buckna and Moore, Third

Kimberley	16	14	2	71	27	28
Trail	16	8	8	55	45	16
Rossland	16	2	14	35	89	4

Harry Brown took the scoring honors in the West Kootenay Hockey league when he headed the list of sharpshooters with 12 goals and nine assists for a total of 21 points, one more than Ralph Redding, also of Kimberley. Last year Redding was high man with 27 points, two more than Brown. Mike Buckna of Trail, and Ken Moore of Kimberley are tied for third place with 19 points each, but for honors for games scored in one game Buckna has set up something that should last for some time in West Kootenay hockey. In one game he got four goals and four assists, and he made a total of 17 points in four games. Andreashuk, who ranked fourth in the list with 18 points, got six points in one game.

Redding led the scorers in goals, having accumulated 13 and Ken Moore was the leading assist man with 11.

Jock Walmsley of Rossland was the badman of the league and he served a total of 34 minutes on the fence. Gerry Thompson of Trail and Brick Davidson of Rossland were next in line with 23 minutes each.

Kimberley as a team led in the number of goals made, the Dynamiters getting 71 and only 27 scored against them. Trail got 55 goals and had 45 scored against them. With Rossland the reverse holds true, their snipers found the net 35 times and 89 pucks were pulled out from behind Milne. Rossland took one game from Trail and one from Kimberley to account for its two wins.

GIVES SERMON ON LORD'S DAY

Vancouver Minister Heard at St. Paul's and Trinity

"Why Sunday" was the subject of a sermon given by Rev. George G. Webber of Vancouver, secretary of the Lords Day Alliance for Western Canada, at St. Paul's church Sunday. Mr. Webber, who is on a tour of the province, spoke at Trinity United in the morning.

The Sabbath, one of the forces which broadened and deepened life, was made for man and not man for the Sabbath. People were living in a very different day today, however, and with voices calling on every side, "The only way out of the troubles of the world is to forget religion," there was little danger of overemphasizing religion.

In the east the burning question was whether materialism or Christianity would capture the world. Those who were seeking to advance the cause of materialism found the best place of attack in the Lord's day. At the same time the people within the church were not so fully seized with the value of Sunday, and so people everywhere were asking themselves, "Is Sunday worth saving?"

"Only those things which make a real contribution to life can hope to exist, so we must reexamine our estimate of the value of Sunday. First of all, the Sabbath is a weekly rest-day. We need the Sunday to rebuild our nervous systems. But Sunday has a deeper place in life than simply a day of rest. Our biggest problem is to save Sunday for spiritual culture. If we fail to do this we are robbing every day of the week of its true perspective. If we fail to make Sunday the Lord's day we drag the whole of life down to the level of the material.

"When Jesus silenced His critics by saying that the Sabbath was made for man, he did not mean it was given to help man become more of an epicure or more of a materialist. Rather it was for the building into life of those ideals and aspirations which release the personality and quicken the noble aspirations of the soul. It was made to raise the horizon of life so that we can see beyond the hum drum routine of every day."

SUBSTANTIAL BLOCK CLUBINE STOCK JUST UNDERWRITTEN

Deep Level Now Has Ore for 180 Feet States Clubine; Latest Car From Next Higher Level Nets $51 Per Ton After Charges

That G. R. Davidson & Co. of Vancouver and J. R. Pyper of Kamloops have underwritten a substantial block of treasury stock of the Clubine-Comstock Gold Mines, Ltd., and that No. 5 tunnel, the deep level in the Clubine-Comstock gold property at Boulder Creek, near Salmo, has now followed its new ore shoot for 180 feet, were disclosures made here Monday by L. R. Clubine of Salmo, manager of the company.

The object of the financing is to enable the development of the property to be carried out to the best advantage.

SHOOT GOING STRONG

Respecting the favorable response made by the property to the deep level development, Manager Clubine stated that No. 5 tunnel is going ahead with air-drill at the rate of four feet per shift, one shift per day, and that the ore shoot recovered past the fault by crosscutting into the wall still shows good values in the face of the drift after 180 feet, the average width of ore, according to the engineer's report, being 27 inches. With every foot of progress the backs of the ore body increase, for this shoot extends down from the upper workings, and at the present face the height through to the surface is 610 feet.

Returns from Trail on the last car of ore mined from No. 4 tunnel, above, show a net value, after payment of freight and smelter charges, of $51 in gold per ton, at a gold price of $33.50 per ounce, Mr. Clubine stated. The ore was mine run, not sorted, and the carload comprised just under 30 tons.

Flashes From the Wires

VISCOUNT BYNG ILL

PASADENA, Calif.—Viscount Byng of Vimy, former governor general of Canada, is critically ill in his hotel suite here, though somewhat recovered from his condition of a few days ago, it was learned Monday night.

The 72-year-old soldier suffered a heart attack 10 days ago and physicians for a time feared for his life.

ELEVATOR WORKERS STRIKE

NEW YORK.—Warring building service employees and real estate interests ran up a flag of partial truce after New York felt the first shock of a test walkout that threatened to become general in a city of skyscrapers.

The truce came in the shape of an announcement by the mayor.

David Richey, a union official, said nearly 200 buildings, many of them towering structures in the fur and garment districts, were affected by the strike.

FALCONS WIN 3-0

WINNIPEG, — Winnipeg Falcons blanked Selkirk Fishermen 3-0 in the first of a two-out-of-three-game series to decide the championship of the Manitoba Senior Hockey league, "A" division. The winners will meet the "B" division champions to decide the Manitoba representatives in the Allan cup playdowns.

City Council Briefs

Appeals were taken in 10 cases from the decision of the court of revision and will be heard in county court, it was stated by the city clerk at the meeting of the city council Monday night. County court will be held Thursday and City Solicitor James O'Shea, K.C., of O'Shea and Garland, will be instructed to defend the appeals.

John Burns notified the council that the best offer he could make for the lots which the city contemplated buying for a recreation grounds in Fairview, was $19000, and Mrs. Balding stated she would accept $200 for the lots which she owned. The council then decided to purchase the lots at the sums named, and Alderman H. B. Lindsay gave notice of a by-law to permit the purchase of the lots.

The Nelson branch of the Canadian Legion wrote to the council regarding an agreement made in 1929 whereby the Legion was to be free from the usual burial costs. The agreement provided that the Legion, for its part, was to keep the plot given to them in good shape and was to submit plans for changes and improvements to the council whenever such work was contemplated. It was stated that neither the council nor the Canadian Legion had lived up to the agreement. The council decided to refund $6 for each funeral conducted by the Canadian Legion since 1929, but that the Legion must live up to its part of the agreement in future. The $6 involved is made up of $1 charged for the burial permit and $5 charged for the plot.

The matter of purchasing sewer rods for the public works department was referred to the public works department with power to act.

Complaints were received that the snow on Vancouver street had narrowed the road so that two cars could not pass, and when cars met in that section, one was compelled to buck up. Alderman T. H. Waters, chairman of the public works department, was asked to look into the question.

The question of assisting John Ferguson back to Vancouver was referred to the relief committee. Mr. Ferguson was recently acquitted from the Kootenay Lake General hospital and asked for transportation to the coast where he has friends.

A letter was received from McCarter & Nairne thanking the city for the opportunity of drawing up plans for a community hall and stated that the work would be completed as soon as possible. The letter was ordered received and filed.

It was stated that the plans would probably arrive within a week's time.

An outstanding advertising account on the street railway was left over for two weeks at which time the council was informed the account would be paid.

The report of the municipal statement for 1934 was submitted by the city clerk and was adopted. On motion of Alderman R. Sharp the report was accepted and the past council and the city clerk were highly commended for the fine showing. The statement was ordered made in pamphlet form and distributed to all interested.

EASTER WILL BE LATE THIS YEAR

April 21 Is Fifth Latest Date It Can Fall on

Easter, which falls this year on April 21, one of the five latest days it can occur on, last occurred on this date in 1888, and after this year will next occur on it in 1946. So the data in the possession of Ven. Archdeacon Fred H. Graham, and Nelson's Encyclopedia, disclose.

While Easter occurs but sparsely on April 21 for this generation, it has fallen on April 20 three times since the war, according to Archdeacon Graham's books—in 1919, 1924, and 1930. April 23, the third latest possible date for Easter, has occurred thrice in the last 100 years—in 1848, 1905, and 1916. The year 1859 was distinguished by an Easter on April 24. April 25, the latest date possible, registers twice in the 19th and 20th centuries; it was Easter Sunday in 1848, and will be again in 1943.

EARLIEST DATE RARE

The earliest that Easter can be is on March 22, and thus it is confined in a range of 35 days. But neither the 20th century nor the 21st will see one on that date, and the two centures preceding saw only one each—in the years 1761 and 1818. The present generation, however, saw an Easter on March 22, the second earliest date possible, in 1913, and there were two of them in the 19th century—in the years 1845 and 1856 respectively.

As to how the date of the Easter festival is determined—a matter of lunations, epacts, golden numbers, Sunday letters, and so forth—the interested reader can find several columns on it in the article on "The Calendar" in Nelson's Encyclopedia in the civic library.

VOTE AGAINST HIGH SCHOOL

Creston Valley Not Keen, Consolidated Plan

CRESTON, B.C., Feb. 18.—Up to the present the outlying districts have shown no sympathy for the creation of a consolidated high school district with headquarters at Creston where the proposal was to take over the present Central public school building for a four-room high school—Creston school district replacing it with an eight-room public school.

Votes on the proposal have already been taken at Wynndel and Alice Siding, and both were opposed to it. Arrow Creek and West Creston, and possibly Sirdar, are not now expected to consider the proposal, and possibly already has its town high school, the only support that can be looked for is from Camp Lister and Erickson, which districts will take a poll of their ratepayers and advise Creston before the first of March.

With little prospect of the consolidation being accomplished Creston trustees are faced with the necessity of providing additional public school accommodation, and may ask for funds to build a new four room school.

West Kootenay Power & Light company, Ltd., has a crew of 10 men at work on channel improvements at a point about 50 yards below their powerhouse at Goat River canyon. The men are removing a rather prominent rock obstruction that hinders the free getaway of water coming over the dam's crest and in the floods of early last spring there was a backup that on one or two occasions threatened to flood the powerhouse and halt the operations of the big turbines. The work will be proceeded with on a 24-hour scale if necessary to get it completed before the high water period.

With so much snow in the hills even higher water than 1934 may be looked for.

During the just-above zero weather that prevailed until the middle of the week, some trouble was encountered with ice jams, but nothing serious enough to interfere with the operation of the plant.

BUILDING COLLAPSES

One of the structural landmarks in the valley has disappeared—collapsed under the heavy load of snow that came along at the end of January. The structure was the rather spacious barn on the Reclamation Farm, and was erected in 1894.

Mrs. J. D. MacDonald, president of the B. C. Command Canadian Legion auxiliaries, is to pay Creston a visit next week. The local auxiliary will tender her a reception at which she will speak of the auxiliary work throughout the province.

Miss Mildred Kingsett is visiting for a few days, her parents in Nelson.

Mr. and Mrs. J. G. Connell were renewing acquaintance in Spokane during the week.

The Women's Institute treasury was enlarged by $15 at a tea in connection with their school fair in the United church hall. The fair was a splendid success and it is expected it will be made an annual event and enlarged to take in all the schools in the valley.

C. W. Allan, business manager of the fruit house of Long, Allan & Long, Ltd., left Thursday to visit Vancouver and other coast points.

Mrs. C. W. Kirk and daughter, Miss Rita Kirk, left Thursday for a few days visit to friends in Nelson.

Miss Marion Cooper was a guest of Miss Leah Abbott at Wynndel.

Mrs. E. Martin of Sirdar spent a week in Creston, a guest of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. W. T. Simister.

About 40 residents of Camp Lister-Huscroft area treated Col. and Mrs. Lister to a genuine surprise party Tuesday when they took possession of the home and spent a thoroughly enjoyable time of it at dancing, music and bridge, the affair concluding about 1 a.m., with a lunch.

Arthur Constable spent a week at West Creston, a guest of Reginald Sinclair Smith.

Miss Opal LaBelle returned Thursday from visiting Miss Elsa Willis at Lakeview.

Mr. and Mrs. Ed Clark, with Mr. Clark's father and brother, Frank, left Thursday for a month's visit to California points including Long Beach at which point Mrs. Clark's parents, Mr. and Mrs. T. Goodwin, are spending the winter.

W. Bouey and daughter, Audrey, who had been visiting the old home at Weed, Calif., since before Christmas, have returned.

Jack Dodds, who is with a West-Kootenay Power & Light Company, Ltd., construction crew at Salmo, was home for a few days.

Jack Smith has left to visit his sister at Sibbald, Alta., and will also visit Calgary.

Miss Elsie Clayton is home after an extended holiday with her sister, Mrs. John Chapman, Nelson.

Mrs. Mermet left at the middle of the week for California points, where she will visit with relatives for some weeks.

Campbell Blair and daughter, Miss Eleanor, have left for Winnipeg, where the latter is intending to spend some months taking a commercial course in a college. Mr. Blair will visit in the Manitoba capital for a couple of weeks before returning.

MEADOW LARKS OUT

The first meadow larks of the 1935 season were reported seen in the vicinity of the schoolhouse at Camp Lister Thursday. They seem to have returned ahead of the robins, none of which have been seen yet.

Rev. A. Walker, United church pastor, had a busy afternoon service at the Canyon appointment Sunday, when he christened three children of Mr. and Mrs. A. L. Barnhardt of Glenlilly, who were visiting Mrs. Barnhardt's parents at Canyon.

Mrs. Rhiel of Nelson was here on her return to that city after visiting her parents Mr. and Mrs. Bollinger, at Camp Lister.

The first of a series of house bridges sponsored by Creston and District Women's Institute was at the home of Mrs. James Cook Thursday. Eight tables were in play and the high score prize went to Mrs. James Cherrington, with consolation taken by Mrs. Best.

BASKETBALL

The Cardinals dropped a league basketball game to Wynndel Maple Leafs in the fixtures at Park pavilion Friday, with the result that Imperial Groceteria now have a one-game edge on the redshirts for the lead. In the ladies' division Creston Review trimmed Creston Motors, and Moore's Garage had the best of the argument with Pharmacy. In the ladies' section Moore's Garage has a lead of one game over the Review.

The Dale dragline and the Christensen bulldozer are working to great advantage on the new dyke along the west side of the old Reclamation Farm, and if the present progress is continued the piece of dyke to enclose the north end of the farm will be completed well ahead of high water, even if spring is as early as in 1934—which does not seem likely.

Work is under way rebuilding the engine house on the Kootenay River ferry at the Reclamation farm, which was burned late last fall.

The fire also necessitated the reconditioning of the gasoline engine that drives the craft, and since which time the scow has been operated by hand power. With the new engine room completed the ferry will again be power driven.

By playing two shifts nightly Creston curling club completed the President vs. Vice-President competition, the men of President E. E. Cartwright downing the supporters of Vice-President M. J. Boyd, by eight points, for ownership of the Dr. Henderson cup. Play in the Fraser and Fernie-Fort Steele Brewing Company silverware has reached the finals, and a start has been made on the playoffs for the Imperial Bank and Cranbrook Brewing Company cups.

Mrs. William Barnes, who came here in 1924 from Uren, Sask., to make her home with her son, Ernest, died and was buried at Creston cemetery Thursday. The funeral was from Trinity United church, with the pastor, Rev. A. Walker officiating. Pallbearers were J. G. Learmouth, James Turner, F. Knott, A. Halstead, J. Simister and A. A. Bond. She was a native of Reading, England, and was in her 84th year.

Mrs. W. H. Crawford is, for a couple of weeks, visiting with her son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Foxall, Nelson.

Arthur Dickinson of Creston Motors has returned from a business visit to Calgary and Lethbridge.

H. Johnson of Fernie was a guest for a few days of his son, Henry, who recently opened a confectionery and bakery here in partnership with A. Waide.

The bishop of Kootenay, Rt. Rev. Walter Adams, of Vernon, was a guest at Christ church rectory of Rev. M. C. T. and Mrs. Percival. He was en route to Nakusp.

Dudley Wilson of Medicine Hat, Alta., who has been here for a few weeks visiting his brother-in-law and sister, Mr. and Mrs. George Mawson, left for home Thursday.

According to the figures of the B. C. Tree Fruit board there were about 3400 boxes of apples unsold in the Kootenay Arrow Lakes districts at the first of the month. Of this total 1500 were stated as being held at Creston.

THE NASOOKIN MAY BE DRIVEN BY TWO SCREWS

Stern Wheeler May Be Altered by the Government

MAY DO AWAY WITH STEAM

Two Propellors May Replace the Huge Stern Wheel

Extensive changes on the provincial government ferry the Nasookin, which plies between Fraser's Landing and Gray Creek on the main lake, are contemplated by the provincial government within the next couple months according to information in public works circles locally.

The Nasookin, acquired by the government from the C.P.R., and which is propelled by steam power and a monster paddle wheel will be altered and converted into a twin-screw vessel powered by two large deisel engines. The work of changing over the boat will take about a couple months.

In connection with the proposed work, Mr. Robinson, a marine architect, and W. A. Akhurst of Vancouver, a machinery man, were in Nelson over the week-end and conferred with J. W. Armstrong of Victoria, provincial government mechanical superintendent.

While not official, work contemplated will include removal of the huge boiler of the Nasookin; removal of the engines and the monster stern wheel; alterations on the forward end to give more room for accommodation of large trucks and busses and installation of the deisel machinery.

The boat, when alterations are completed, would be driven by two screws, one on each side protected by "tunnels." The new engines will set down in the hull.

This work will necessitate the boat being hauled out of the water at the local shipyards.

Menus, Recipes and Hints

Menu Hint

Chicken Pie — Baked Potatoes
Molded Vegetable Salad
Tapioca Date and Nut Pie
Tea or Coffee
The vegetable for the salad may be the kind that comes all ready cooked in cans, for soup. Melt the gelatine, and when it is nearly set, add mixed vegetables and chill until set. If you use a flavored gelatine, lime or lemon are the best.

Today's Recipes

Chicken Pie—Four-pound fowl, two cups water, two slices onion, one bay leaf, four peppercorns, one teaspoon salt, three tablespoons butter, one-half pound sliced mushrooms, four tablespoons flour, one cup chicken stock, one cup mushroom stock, one cup milk, one cup cream, pastry. Disjoint chicken, put in kettle with water and seasonings. Cover tightly and cook until tender. Drain, cool, remove meat from bones and cut into inch pieces. Melt butter, cook two minutes, stir in flour, add chicken and mushroom stock (made by cooking the tough parts of the stems), stir until sauce thickens over the fire. Add the milk and cream and more seasonings to taste. Add chicken. Line casserole with pastry, pour in chicken mixture. Cover with pastry, make several slits in top. Bake 15 minutes in a hot oven, 450 degrees Fahrenheit.

Tapioca Date and Nut Pie—Four tablespoons minute tapioca, two cups milk, one-half cup granulated sugar, one-eighth teaspoon salt, one-half pound chopped dates, one-half pound chopped nut meats, one teaspoon vanilla. Combine tapioca and milk. Cook in double boiler 10 minutes. Add sugar, salt and egg yolks beaten together, then add dates. Cook until thick. Remove from fire, add vanilla and nuts. Place in baked pie crust. Cover with meringue. Brown for 20 minutes in slow oven 325 degrees.

HEALTHFUL DESSERT

Cranberry Tapioca

Three-fourths cup granulated tapioca, on-half teaspoon salt, three and one-half cups boiling water, one pint cranberries, one-half cup water, one-half cup sugar. Cook tapioca, salt and boiling water together until clear. Cook cranberries and water until soft and add to the tapioca with the sugar. Cook five minutes, pour into a wet mold, chill and serve with whipped cream.

Wife Preservers

Remove the cardboard in the metal lids of glass metal top jars, wash cover and dry thoroughly, then put a layer of hot paraffin in place of the cardboard. When firm it will screw on as any other cover.

Wet garbage put on a furnace fire will cause clinkers. Try putting bag or bundle of refuse on ledge inside furnace door to dry, then next time you go to take care of fire it will be dry enough to burn.

ORGANIZATION A NECESSITY

The so-called law of supply and demand governing prices is quoted so often and with such assurance by so many people, that one would almost infer that it is as inexorable as the law of gravity. It probably does work out to a certain degree, under circumstances in which the producer is unorganized to control the distribution of his goods or services.

Does the law of supply and demand govern the price in an organized industry such as transportation? Surely the transportation facilities available in Canada today, are sufficient to take care of a much larger volume of business than is forthcoming, but what reduction do we find in freight rates? Organized trade unions pretty well take care of that situation, and if they are insufficient we have the railway commissioner. Does supply and demand govern the price of automobiles or farm binders, cement or gasoline, electric refrigerators or typewritrs?

Throughout organized industry we find that although there is almost an unlimited ability to supply, or in other words a surplus of goods and services, the price is governed by the cost of production, plus. Since when has the cost of production been the basis of the selling price of agricultural commodities? It is high time that the farmers placed themselves in a position to measure their goods and services by the same yard-stick as other organized producers, and this is evidently what they are aiming at.

"SOVIETISMS"

A day or two ago, a judge in the United States was put to it to interpret correctly the cryptic answer "Okey-Doke" given in court in reply to a question put by him to a prisoner.

That such a simple word as "Yes," should have been given such an extension by the slang-ridden is quite surprising for their method generally is one of clipping and suppression of syllables.

The Great War brought many strange expressions into current use and now it seems that the advent of Soviet rule in Russia is responsible for a long list of new words and turns of expression, so much so, indeed, that the state has ordered a list of the new additions catalogued and published.

Under the title, "Sovietisms," the Manchester Guardian Weekly gives the following news item:

"Since the Revolution in 1917 the Russian language has been enriched by the creation of an abundance of new words and phrases of Soviet origin. Russians who left the country before 1917 and now return often encounter great difficulty in understanding many of the expressions in commonest use.

"It has been decided to issue a series of dictionaries of "Sovietisms," and a group of thirty research workers, headed by Professor Peterson, are now engaged in collecting these words and phrases and establishing correct translations of them into English, French and German."

There is great difficulty, in the translation of slang terms, to catch the spirit of the original, so Professor Peterson and his fellow-workers will do well if they are able to reproduce even to a slight degree, the inner flare of "Sovietisms" they have been authorized to publish.

It is to be hoped they will not encounter anything stranger than "Okey-Doke" that has crept into the vocabulary of slang users in America.

ABYSSINIA

Italy and Abyssinia have agreed to establish a neutral zone in the disputed territory between Halle Selassie's empire and Italian Somaliland. They have agreed to submit their differences to a boundary commission, and war talk therefore subsides. It has in fact been, from the first, largely a by-product of heated imaginations.

An agreement between Italy, France and Great Britain provides that neither of the three shall undertake hostilities in Africa without consulting the other two. This definitely precludes the possibility of war in Africa on any scale greater than that of minor punitive expeditions against slave-traders and marauding tribesmen. The fact that some of their troops about 40 years ago were soundly trounced by Etheopian braves still rankles in the breasts of some Italian super-patriots. This has lent a certain color to the war talk, but Mussolini is far too practical to interest himself in the mere luxury of vengeance.

The chief irritant in the present situation comes from Japan. Japanese mills need long-staple cotton, and Abyssinia is the best available place in which to grow it. The black emperor, under the blandishments of the Rising Sun, has granted concessions. European fears that from this foothold the Japanese may peacefully penetrate Africa have created a certain coolness toward Abyssinia.

STILL ROLL IN

Still they roll in, these letters regarding the hobo and the cop. Here are some more answers:

IT'S BOUND TO CATCH UP

Dear J.B.C.:

In an attempt to alleviate some people being dumb all their lives, might say of your train bullet problem, that inasmuch as the two objects remain stationary on the train, the bullet is bound to catch up to the hobo, irrespective of the speed of train and bullet.

"IRISH SMILES"

Fernie, B.C.

ANOTHER VIEW

Dear J.B.C.:

I read "Mathematics" answer to your problem regarding "hobo and policeman," and I agree with him, it is very easy! The bullet must travel at the same rate of speed as the train. But when "Mathematics" says, "As soon as the bullet leaves the gun" I will not agree with him, because, if the bullet leaves the gun, naturally, it will have to have more than 60 miles an hour speed.

"ONE MORE MATHEMATICS"

HIT HIM ON SHIN

Dear J.B.C.:

The policeman and his gun are in a state of rest in relation to the train, therefore by the law of equal and opposite action and reaction the bullet will travel at 120 miles an hour in relation to the ground.

It must be borne in mind, however, that with such a slow bullet (88 feet a second) gravity and wind resistance would play an important part and the projectile would probably ricochet off the roof of the train and rap the hobo smartly on the shin.

IT'S A REAL HOOPLE STORY

Dear J. B. C.:

Coming from this well-known authority, whose veracity cannot of course be doubted, the following should settle once for all the ever recurring bullet problem:

"—despite the garbled form in which the story appears, I well recall the incident which occurred, as Corpl. Hoople of the Mounties, I was trailing Three Gun Guffy (so named from his habit of firing a pistol with his tongue in addition to the usual two guns). After a long stern chase—I was just behind Guffy who was riding a freight. Jumping from my steed I landed on top of the last box-car firing as I did so at the bandit, but just as I pulled (sic) the trigger the train accelerated speed—the bullet remained three inches behind Guffy's ear.

Coming into Nelson the train slackened speed, the bullet entered Guffy's head the Hoople honor was vindicated and once again a Mountie Got His man."

(Sd) Major Hoople.

Major Hoople modestly admits that this is merely a minor incident in his wonderful career in the R. C. M. P.

Socially Minded Kingdom of Sweden Also Studies Unemployment Insurance

Stockholm, capital of Sweden.

Sweden's "white coal" for its industries.

Dr. John R. Commons.

Regarded as the most socialized nation in the world after Soviet Russia, Swedish governments, both Conservative and Social-Democrat, have enacted successful unemployment insurance legislation.

Dr. John R. Commons, formerly professor of economics at the University of Wisconsin, is the staunch advocate of unemployment insurance in the United States. Canada now has a scheme before parliament.

This is the second of a series of articles written for Central Press Canadian on social security measures abroad.

By MARIKA HELLSTROM
(Central Press Canadian Writer)

STOCKHOLM, Sweden, Feb. 18.—The Canadian administration, in common with many other nations, may be looking to the "democratic kingdom" of Sweden in trying to solve problems involving the same kind of reform that has gone on here quietly for years. Scarcely a week passed in recent months that the Stockholm newspapers did not note the arrival of yet another distinguished visitor, coming to inspect the Swedish state-and-privatly-owned railroads, electrical plants and telephone system.

These scouts visited Stockholm to analyze the workings of the world's most stable money market. Here the innate conservatism of the Swedish people is seen at its best—speculation on credit, "playing the market," is curtailed by the law causing securities to be delivered and paid for the day following the sale.

The Canadian government has recently suggested reforms to follow along these lines.

HIGHLY SOCIALIZED STATE

It is these observations and the great amount of social legislation which in the past 30 years turned Sweden into the most socialized state in Europe (excepting Russia) all without the aid of revolutions that evidently interests those nations seeking reforms.

In old age pension, sickness insurance and socialized medicine legislation Sweden is far ahead of Canada. Yet the question of unemployment insurance is a contemporary question before both the Canadian parliament and the Swedish "riksdag."

TWO INSURANCE PLANS

It is the first time for Canadian legislators; the Swedish proposal has been up twice before. Back in 1926 a committee was appointed to investigate the possibilities of introducing such insurance in Swedish industry.

As to whether insurance should be voluntary of obligatory, the Swedish committee was divided equally. Since Sweden is primarily agricultural, and therefore somewhat similar to Canada in that regard, the voluntary insurance might seem the most natural. However the proposal by the Social Democrats, the leading party in the "riksdag," or parliament, is for a combination of the two systems. This scheme has never been tried by any other country and may mean more pioneering for Sweden.

The "voluntary" insurance is open to any worker with a salary not exceeding a specific maximum, while the "obligatory" is restricted to reduce the risk for contributions of employers and the government. Those engaged in private enterprise five months a year are disqualified, shutting out many small farmers and craftsmen. The "voluntary" form is often called the "Ghent system," after the Belgian city where it was first introduced in 1901. Today the list of nations with voluntary insurance includes Norway, Denmark, Finland, Spain and Czechoslovakia.

The new Swedish proposal would keep membership completely voluntary, but provides that employers shall finance the cost of administering the funds. This may cause the curious example of an employer paying for workers who are not insured. Yet the typographical union, Sweden's oldest and strongest organization, has declared it has no need of unemployment insurance.

The state will also pay its share as in "obligatory" insurance. Benefit periods will be limited to 120 days or four months, a sort of compromise between the European average of 90 days and England's half-year term. Canada's present plan affords benefit for 78 days.

Next: Old Age Pensions.

"Teacher of Teachers"

HERE IS A RECORD TO BEAT

Players have for years considered holding an entire suit in one hand about the apothesis of rarity, but today we have something rarer. In fact, the event is so rare that I never heard it mentioned. I am confident that the hero of the occasion had no idea how rare his accomplishment was, as he did not write to me on the subject, although one of his opponents did so.

On Aug. 17, 1934, C. H. Holmes, Medicine Hat, Alberta, performed the following feat. In eight consecutive deals he bid and made at least game, always at No Trumps. Four times he won game, twice he made four-odd, once he made five-odd, and once he bid and made a small slam. All this may not sound so wonderful. Suppose we calculate the mathematical chances for such an event (or series of like events) to take place.

To arrive at anything like definite facts we must assume the approximate equality of the four players at the table. Then Mr. Holmes had one in four chances to be the declarer in each case. There are about 500 chances in 1000 deals that at least one player will hold cards worth a game, if bid and played to the best advantage. There are about 32 chances in 100 for a game hand to be in No Trumps, rather than at a suit call.

For Mr. Holmes to be the one to hold a game hand, and that to be at No Trumps, on any single specified occasion, the chances were:

$$\frac{1}{4} \times \frac{1}{2} \times \frac{32}{100} \text{ equals } \frac{7}{200}, \text{ or } 0.035$$ which reads 35 chances in 1000.

If a single event has 35 chances in 1000 to take place on a given occasion, the chances for the event to take place eight times running will be found by multiplying together 35 eight times, then dividing that sum by 1000 multiplied by itself eight times. The eighth power of 35 is 2,251,875,390,625. In American and French numeration a million is 1000 thousands, a billion is 1000 millions, and so on. In English and German numeration a billion is a million millions. The figures here are given in American and French numeration. The eighth power of 1000 is one octillion.

The there are approximately two trillions of chances in one octillion, or one trillion chances in 500 septillions, for Mr. Holmes to have accomplished his feat. This reduces to one chance in 500 trillions.

There is one chance in 156,753,389,-906 to hold an entire suit, or one chance in 635,013,559,600 to hold a specified suit entire.

The chances to hold an entire specified suit are approximately 600 times as great as were Mr. Holmes' chances to accomplish what he did. It is no wonder that at least one player at his table thought what happened was written telling to other players. It may be centuries before the event will be duplicated, with four players of about equal skill.

Now You Can Take Piano to Bed!

A piano for playing in bed will be among the exhibits at the British Industries fair to be held in the latter half of February.

The inventor of this instrument declares that it is not his intention to encourage the alleged laziness of youth, but to attempt to make the lives of the sick and bedridden happier.

With the piano placed at the foot of the bed, the keyboard is pulled out like a drawer and bent over on hinges until it is at the right angle for the player's hands.

The designer is said to have gone to bed one Saturday night and dreamed about the bed piano so vividly that he was able to work it out on paper as soon as he awoke and to patent the whole invention at nine o'clock on the Monday morning.

It is believed that the instrument will be rather expensive.

CHRONIC RHEUMATISM CAUSE OF MOST CASES OF SUFFERING AND DISABILITY

By JAMES W. BARTON, M.D.

A recent survey of chronic disease in Massachusets showed that out of an estimated total of 500,000 or half million persons afflicted with a chronic disease, there were 138,000 ill with rheumatism of whom 5600 were totally disabled.

The figures further show that the suffering and disability caused by chronic arthritis (rheumatism) is greater than that from any other of the chronic diseases of temperate climates. Thus there were 84,000 cases of heart disease with 2600 disabled, hardening of the arteries 64,000 cases, diseases of eye and ear 24,000, apoplexy 16,000, tuberculosis 16,000, diabetes 15,000, and cancer 11,500.

Heart disease leads as a cause of death, but, whereas the patient with heart disease lives from seven to nine years on the average, the rheumatic patient lives 14 years or more."

I am quoting Dr. Ernest E. Irons, Chicago, in the Journal of the American Medical association.

It is pointed out that chronic arthritis can be no longer thought of as a disease of certain joints—knee, ankle, shoulder, spine — but rather as a general or "systemic" disease in which there are disturbances of the blood circulation, the building up and tearing down processes of the body, disturbances of the stomach and intestines, as well as the changes in the joints themselves.

You can thus see that as there are a number of wrong conditions there must be a number of causes which include infection (teeth, tonsils, gall bladded, and intestine), injury (falls, sprains, strains), pressure interfering with normal blood or nerve supply, fatigue, exposure, sensitiveness to foods, nervous strain, and gland disturbance.

Now as there are such a number of causes it means that treatment must be of a general nature—removing infection, improving the circulation, removing (by surgery, if necessary) obstruction to nerves or blood vessels, improving the circulation in the joint itself by various forms of heat, correcting the diet (by lessening the starch foods and avoiding foods to which the patient is sensitive), and in some cases the use of vaccines.

I believe that with the knowledge that chronic rheumatism is due to a "number" of causes and therefore requires general treatment instead of treatment of the joints only, the number of these cases should gradually grow less.

KIMBERLEY WINS FIRST GAME OF PLAYOFFS WITH TRAIL 4-2

Smokeaters Have the Edge; Brennan and Buckna Star

KIMBERLEY, B. C., Feb. 18—Packing the seats and hanging from the rafters, a huge crowd of fans saw the home town hockey team take the Trail Smoke Eaters 4-2 in the first game of the Kootenay playdowns tonight. Trail players, bent on lengthening out the series at least, fairly swarmed around the Kimberley net but Hornquist was unbeatable. The game was slow at stages but livened up as Trail tore in towards the end.

Trail had two stars in Brennan and Buckna while Kimberley's laurels rested with Brown and Kemp.

The first period opened fast but dragged slightly towards the end, and during the 20 minutes players served eight minutes in the penalty box. Reddick and Wheatley who tangled were sent off for three and Kozak two. Shots on goals were fairly even, Dupuis stopping five and Hornquist 7.

Art Mackie was checking hard as the game got underway, Dupuis came out to save from Reddick who went in on a solo, Brennan was coming in fast when headed off by Brown. Both sides were working hard when Moore stole the puck from Brennan to score from the blue line. Dupuis never saw it. Redrick and Wheatley roughed it and spent three minutes on the fence, Hornquist made a beautiful save from Buckna. Kozak bumped Andreakshuk and was chased for two minutes. Andreashuk was right through when taken out. The game slowed up as the period ended with the teams checking hard at centre ice.

Hornquist stopped 14 shots and Dupuis 12 during the second period and five players decorated the fence, Hugo Mackie for one minute, Thompson one minute, Andreashuk one minute, Brown two minutes, Redding two minutes and Thompson two minutes.

KEMP SCORES

Kemp scored the only goal of the period on a pass from Brown at 12.45. Kimberley was pressing hard at the start. Brown caught Brennan's shot and a faceoff was called in front of the net but Buckna missed Brennan's pass. Trail forced the issues, checking Kimberley forwards on their own blue line. Dupuis left his net and beat Brown to the corner for the puck. Play at the Kimberley end again Hornquist fell on the puck when it got away from him. On the faceoff Thompson bumped Botterill and was chased for a minute. Mackie came back as Thompson left. Botterill went through but lost the puck on the blue line, Kemp, getting his stick on it and sinking it from well out. Andreashuk was chased and Trail was two men short but Kimberley failed to take advantage. Brennan was playing a great game, Thompson and Redding were chased for carrying their sticks high.

HORNQUIST BUSY

Hornquist was a busy man in the third as Trail blasted away, stopping 19 shots to Dupuis' nine. Andreashuk was given one minute, Brown, McGowan and Thompson each two. Play opened fast with Trail on the offensive. Brennan and Buckna held off dangerous rushes.

Brown scored on a pass from Hugo Mackie at 1.21 and Forrest from Wheatley at 8 p.m. Botterill caught the Trail team up the ice and sailed down, beat Thompson and then Dupuis to score one of the prettiest goals of the night at 11.09. Morris slid Thompson each missed the net when Trail tried hard to even the score, and Buckna scored on a pass from Andreashuk at 15.18.

CANADA SEEKS GOLF HONORS

Eight Canadians to Enter the British Open Tourney

TORONTO, Feb. 18 (CP)—A team of eight Canadian golfers will travel to England to compete in the British amateur championship this year, the Royal Canadian Golf association decided here today at its annual meeting.

C. Ross "Sandy" Somerville, London, Ont., former Canadian and United States amateur champion, will be captain of the squad. Phil Farley and Fred Hoblitzel, both of Toronto, will make up the Ontario section and Gordon B. Taylor, Jr., and Edward A. Innes, both of Montreal, will represent Quebec. Three western Canada representatives will be announced later.

Funds for expenses of the team to compete at the British championship at the Royal Lytham and St. Anne's golf clubs, St. Annes, England, will be raised by private subscriptions, B. L. Anderson of Toronto, secretary of the R. C. G. A., announced.

Mr. Anderson said it was hoped to induce the British Walker cup team to compete in the Canadian amateur championship on such years as they visit the United States. As the British team is slated to return to the United States for their Walker cup match next year, it was taken for granted if the Royal and Ancient society agrees, dates for the Canadian amateur will be arranged so that the British players may comfort Detroit."

"BIG LEAGUE" BOWLING

By AL DEMAREE

Ability to "find" and "play" alleys, is the real difference between a big league and mediocre bowler. Very few alleys are alike, and it is the man who can adapt himself to conditions as he finds them, who gets the high scores. Some bowlers play various alleys from different points back of the foul line, moving in and out, while others play all alleys from about 10 "boards" in equivalent to about one foot from the corner, and rely on a change of speed. There are some alleys however, which are practically impossible to hit from any angle or change of speed, which is one of the reasons that makes the game so intensely interesting.

Did you know that:

Goose Goslin, at the age of 14, milked 23 cows every morning and night, on his father's farm?

During his big league career, Eddie Collins fielded 969 at second base, 3 points better than Napoleon LaJoie's lifetime mark?

Al Demaree has prepared an illustrated leaflet called "Spares" which he will gladly send to any reader requesting it. Address Al Demaree in care of this paper and be sure to enclose a self-addressed envelope.

ST. LOUIS, Feb. 18 (CP)—Manager Clare Brunton of St. Louis Eagles said today he would ask President Frank Calder of the National hockey league to take disciplinary action against Eddie Shore, Boston Bruins defenceman, who knocked down Bill Cowley of the Eagles in a game here Saturday.

Cowley youthful centre, was severely cut on the mouth and several teeth were loosened when Shore struck him, allegedly with his raised stick. Neither man was in play at the time. The freeze came after Cowley had scored on the Boston net just as the siren sounded the end of the game.

CUDE THE TEAM TO BE BEATEN

So Says Gorman, the Maroon Boss; Says Maroons Strong

MONTREAL, Feb. 18 (CP)—"Wilf Cude is the team to beat for the Stanley cup," says Tommy Gorman, manager of Montreal Maroons. The astute hockey manager who drove Chicago Black Hawks to the world championship last year intimated that in his opinion his Maroons are the best team in the National hockey league with Canadiens and Wilf Cude next.

Gorman thinks the little Welshman from Winnipeg is a great goalie, the best in the league.

"Man for man and on all-round balance I think Maroons are not only a better team than Canadiens but the best team in the league if we can ever get out of the hospital and all on the ice at the same time," he said.

"But what makes Canadiens great is Cude. He nearly won last year for Detroit.

TWENTY GRAND RACE WINNER

Disqualify Equipoise for Cutting in on Last Stretch

LOS ANGELES, Feb. 18 (AP)—Twenty Grand, veteran campaigner of the turf, won the Oakmont stake of $1200 at Santa Anita park today when Equipoise was disqualified after finishing a length in front. The time was 1:43 2-5 for the mile and one-sixteenth.

The seven-year-old son of St. Germans, winner of the Kentucky derby in 1931, set the pace all the way into the stretch.

Equipoise moved out in front at that point and after gaining a slight lead, pulled over sharply to cut off Twenty Grand, breaking the veteran's stride as they came into the tape.

A foul was claimed immediately and stewards, after a brief conference, awarded the race to Twenty Grand. Sarada was awarded second and Gusto third.

Equipoise went to the post an odds-on favorite at three to five. Twenty Grand paid $10, $6.60 and $3.80, on $2 tickets.

UNCLE SAM CUTS DOWN PUMP GUNS

Kearns Notified That Three-Shell Limit Now Enacted

Sub-inspector C. F. Kearns, game head for "B" division, has been advised from Victoria that President Roosevelt has approved a new regulation which limits the capacity of pump guns, when used in hunting migratory game birds, to three shells.

The new regulation, which is effective immediately, applies only to repeating shotguns, either automatic loading or hand operated, when used for the class of birds described. It is required that either plugs be used to limit the number of shells to three, or that magazine capacity be cut down to that limit.

British Columbia limits these guns to a capacity of two shells. The duck slaughter from the use of pump guns in most of the states, and in the Canadian provinces other than British Columbia, is believed to be one of the many elements contributing to the duck scarcity, and the new federal regulation is, the United States is inspired by the precarious position of the duck supply.

Generally speaking, the red and gun clubs of the Kootenay have led in the movement for conservation of game birds. One reform long advocated by the Nelson Rod and Gun club, but annually turned down by the coast sportsmen, who have the principal weight with the provincial government, is abolition of the use of live decoys. While British Columbia still sanctions their use, most Kootenay duck hunters voluntarily refuse to use them, as tending to too great destruction of the wild fowl.

GRAND FORKS TAKES FIRST OF THE FINALS OVER GREENWOOD BY 3 TO 0

Comets Take Lead In Boundary Hockey League Play-offs

GRAND FORKS, B.C., Feb. 18.—The first game of the finals in the Boundary Hockey league was played here Wednesday when the Grand Forks Comets won a shut out over the Greenwood team, 3-0.

Although Greenwood failed to score they played a fine game, both on their defence and forward line. They had numerous shots at the Comets' net but were prevented from scoring by the excellent work of A. Deporter, the Comet goalie.

Just before the game started, Miss Dorothy Donaldson, on behalf of the Grand Forks fans, presented Deporter with a good luck symbol, the Grand Forks colors with crossed hockey sticks in the form of a horse shoe.

The first period started with a rush by the Greenwood forwards and the play was carried into the Comet zone. The Comets finally got the puck and the Bailey brothers broke away. After getting through the defence "Red" Bailey took a shot from one side but Cowan cleared. Marvin Bailey took the rebound and was able to put one past the Greenwood goalie scoring the first goal of the game.

The second goal was scored when "Mickey" McKinnon took a pass from Bickerton in the center zone. As he reached the Greenwood blue line he took a shot and the puck found an opening into the net for the Comet's second goal. In the second period, the Greenwood team kept Deporter working hard for a few minutes. Then "Bo" Allen soloed, scoring the third goal.

Following this goal Skurstoff, of the Comets' broke through and passed to Bickerton. Just as Bickerton flipped the disc into the net, the referee rang the bell and the goal was disallowed because Skurstoff was in the Greenwood crease.

No goals were scored in the third period, though both teams had many shots stopped by the good work of both goalies. At one time there were only three Comet men on the ice, not including the goalie owing to penalties.

Mickey McKay, star hockey player, refereed the game.

Penalties of one minute were handed out to Emerson and McIntyre of Greenwood and Boyko, Bailey, Savage and Skurstoff of Grand Forks.

Lineups were:

Greenwood—C. Cowan; D. Taylor and McIntyre; L. Madden, O. Winters, E. McGillivray, W. Walmsley, J. Forshaw and J. Morrison; spare, Emerson.

Grand Forks— A. Deporter; G. Savage and A. Skurstoff; E. Bickerton, Bo Allen, G. Boyko, M. Bailey, Red Bailey and K. McKinnon; spare, J. Graham.

HOCKEY CHATTER

The West Kootenay Hockey league survivors are now starting up the last hill and the results will be eagerly watched throughout not only British Columbia but also the west. Kimberley's surprise entry into the western playoff last year, and its even greater success in running over other western teams, has raised it to a position of prominence that generally takes a team years to gain. Even had the Dynamiters gone forward with their league lineup they would have been a sensation, but having been cut down to a team of seven, and with the crack men off, they, we believe, were the greatest sensation of any team in Canada last year.

Trail ruled the roost for so long it was impossible for any team beating them not to rise into prominence. The situation is about the same this year as last. The two teams playing at Kimberley Monday night are practically the same that met in the spring of 1934. And early reports, at time of writing, stated that although Kimberley was leading 1-0 in the first period, Trail had the better of the play.

* * *

There is more fight in the "Old Contemptibles" of Trail than there was in the regular team that played throughout the season, and if they go down to Kimberley they will go down pressing to the last. It should be a fine series.

Kimberley has had plenty of chance to rest and get its team play perfected and when they step out it will be with the intention of doing business.

Leroy Goldsworthy the baseball hockey player has developed into the emergency man of the Montreal Canadiens of the National Hockey league since he was bought from the Chicago Black Hawks. "Goldie" has been a much travelled player since breaking into pro ranks. He was first with the Rangers. Then he was farmed to Springfield Indians and he has been chased from one minor team to another. Last year he was with the Detroit Red Wings and he was bought by the Black Hawks, finishing the season with Chicago. He was sold this year to the Canadiens and he is rapidly coming to the front.

On January 17 at Montreal he scored a goal which broke a 3-all tie with Toronto Maple Leafs and enabled Canadiens to go on and score their first win of the season over the Leafs, Canadiens won 4-3.

The biggest one-night feat of the tall, fleet right-winger was to score two goals against Boston Bruins on Boston ice on Saturday, January 26, when Canadiens hung up a 4-1 victory, their first win in Boston in a league match in several years. Starting out on a recent road trip the Canadiens got ties on two consecutive nights and both times "Goldie" bobbed up with goals that averted defeats. On Thursday, January 31, Canadiens played a 4-4 tie with Detroit Red Wings and he got the tying goal with less than eight minutes from the end of the final period. The following night in St. Louis Goldsworthy got Canadiens' lone goal which enabled them to gain a one-all tie with the Eagles.

CALL A BANK

When Conny Smythe placed a price tag of $100,000 on Harvey (Busher) Jackson, his high-scoring Toronto Maple Leaf wingman, he rated Jackson as valuable as Connie Mack's famous infield of some years ago. Smythe added that Jackson was not for sale at any price.

GRAND FORKS IS BOUNDARY CUP WINNER

Greenwood Gets Tie in Second but Loses Series

GRAND FORKS, B.C., Feb. 18.—The Boundary Hockey league games came to a close Friday when Grand Forks Comets tied Greenwood on Greenwood ice, 3-3.

Grand Forks, having won most games of the season, it was agreed that the two teams holding first and second place should play off two games, the team scoring most goals to take the Boundary cup.

The first game of the finals was won by a score of 3-0 by Grand Forks. The second game tied 3-3 leaving the score 6-3 in favor of the Comets.

A large number of fans motored to Greenwood and the rink was packed.

The game was fast and thrilling throughout, both teams playing excellent hockey. No goals were scored in the first period and the penalties were many.

In the second period Greenwood would appear to have had the edge on the Comets. The play was kept most of the time in the Comet defence zone. In the early part of this period, "Bo" Allen passed the puck from a scramble in front of the Greenwood net to "Red" Bailey who shot it in, scoring the first goal of the evening. The second goal was scored by Greenwood when Leo Madden batted a high pass from E. McGillivray into the Comet net.

In the third period, Greenwood kept Deporter busy and he showed real skill in stopping the numerous shots. From a scramble in front of his net McIntyre at last scored. A few minutes later, Winters scored from another scramble in front of the Comet net and for awhile it would seem Greenwood would carry off the game. Then "Red" Bailey, the Comets' peppy little forward, broke away alone. He got through and scored again for the Comets. About two minutes later Steve Boyko and Earl Bickerton went down the boards and as they closed in on the Greenwood net Boyko passed to Bickerton who shot it into the net to tie the score.

Mickey Mackay refereed.

The game was followed by a dance which was well attended.

Teams were:

Greenwood—C. Cowan; D. Taylor and E. McIntyre; Madden, Forshaw, Walmsley, Morrison, E. McGillivray, R. McGillivray.

Grand Forks—A. Deporter; G. Savage and A. Skurstoff; Bickerton, Boyko, Allen; R. Bailey, M. Bailey, R. McKinnon.

FRANK BOUCHER HAS A CLEAN SLATE—CONACHER TOP SCORER

MONTREAL, Feb. 18 (CP)—A blot on Frank Boucher's clean playing record was removed here tonight with announcement by president Frank Calder of the National hockey league that the clever centre of New York Rangers has not served a penalty this year.

In the lists of the past week or two Boucher was credited with two minutes in the penalty box in 27 games but Calder stated it was a scorers' error and the leading assist maker in the league and perennial winner of the Lady Byng trophy again has a clean slate.

Charlie Conacher, of Toronto, still tops the whole league with 23 goals, 19 assists, 42 points. Boucher is the top of the United States section, has 10 goals, 26 assists for 36 points.

M'LARNIN HAS GOLFING LEAD

Leads Qualifiers in E. W. Beatty Trophy Event, Victoria

VICTORIA, Feb. 18 (CP)—Welterweight champion Jimmy McLarnin's ring belting ability stood him in good stead today and the Vancouver Irishman showed the way to a record entry field of 209 to lead 23 qualifiers home in the E. W. Beatty trophy event, feature of the seventh annual Empress mid-winter golf tournament.

The welter king carded a gross 83 which gave him a net of 71 for the 18-hole qualifying round in the handicap.

Jimmy also kept in the running in the Victoria Chamber of Commerce open event, just getting under the wire with his 83, a stroke under the qualifying limit.

Four prairie shotmakers were spread through the remainder of the 18 visitors who won through to first round play in the handicap event. W. C. Fisher, Calgary, netted 74; H. U. Johnstone, Camrose, Alta., 74; A. J. Taylor, Wetaskiwin, Alta., 76, and H. J. Bird, Moose Jaw, 77.

Lee Stell of Seattle scored low gross honors of the day with a 74.

CRICKET TEST ENDS IN DRAW

West Indies Unable to Obtain 203 Runs to Win

GEORGETOWN, British Guiana, Feb. 18 (CP cable) — West Indies were unable to obtain 203 runs required for a victory in the hour and 20 minutes allotted for their second innings today and the third test match against the touring Marylebone Cricket club of England ended in a draw. Scores: M.C.C., 228 and 184 for six declared (Wyatt 71, Hendren 38 not out, Constantine three for 32); West Indies 184 and 104 for five (Sealy 28, Christiani 32 not out).

A crowd of 10,000 was in the oval. The teams are deadlocked with one victory each and a draw. West Indies gallantly tried to get an almost impossible victory and cheered Barbados' J. E. D. Sealy as his hit up 33 runs in 20 minutes before being run out.

Captain R. E. S. Wyatt, after batting since M.C.C. began their second innings late yesterday, was finally stumped by R. S. Grant on a slow leg break at 71 and his fall was signal for the English declaration. Saturday the visitors were "barracked," for slowing up the play to create a draw.

British Guianan cricket camps, however, were divided, some praising the tactics as strategy and others taking the visitors to task for their "tendency to regard avoiding defeat as the first principle of cricket."

KINGS PARK AND AYR DRAW AGAIN

GLASGOW, Feb. 18 (CP Cable)—King's Park and Ayr United will battle for a fourth time to decide which of the two teams plays in the third round of the Scottish club competition. In a second replay of their second round game the teams drew again today, each side scoring four goals. Extra time was played.

The first game between the two clubs ended 1-1 and the second 2-2.

COOPERATIVE PURCHASING A BIG BUSINESS

Distribution of the Patronage Dividend Is Explained

UNITED FARMERS GUIDING HAND

Older Member Units Make Phenomenal Progress

CALGARY (CP).—Alberta's cooperative purchasing organizations, guided by the United Farmers of Alberta, are strengthening their financial position and increasing their activities, according to the annual report submitted to the U.F.A. annual convention here.

During the year, the financial statement of the cooperative purchasing units showed $9,515.71 was distributed in grants and dividends as a result of bulk buying and distribution among members. The undivided surplus as at December 31, 1934, was $1096.82.

"Your committee is of the firm conviction that the time has arrived for a strong and sustained drive to increase the membership and power of our cooperatives," said the report of Norman F. Priestley, vice-president of the farm body and guiding hand in the cooperative purchasing enterprises.

"The essential purpose, the immediate aims and the ultimate purpose of our marketing pools should be stressed in and out of season. Cooperative pooling of farm products and the cooperative buying of farm supplies are complementary parts of the solution to the problem of equating purchasing power to the limited extent to which that problem can find any solution within the capitalistic system.

ECONOMIC MACHINERY

"To carry on successful organization along these two lines will assist in maintaining standards of living for the farm people under our present competitive economy; develop our people in the principle and technique of cooperation and establish economic machinery ready to function in the transition to a cooperative economy."

Cooperative purchasing, largely in fuel oils, twine, wire and gopher poison was instituted several years ago by the Coronation Constituency association of the U.F.A. Four years ago the annual convention extended help and appointed a committee to unify the cooperatives throughout the province.

All work is now directed from the central office of the U.F.A. although the various units are autonomous. Twenty areas have been organized, covering a large proportion of the settled areas of the province.

"The older member-units among the constituency and district cooperatives have made phenomenal progress in the past three or four years, especially considering that several of them have been involved in drought and crop failure. Should crop conditions improve, we look for a marked increase in cooperative buying in those areas.

"One of the units handled $67,000 worth of business during the last fiscal year. Two or three of the smaller units have achieved gratifying success this year. In one case, the association, though consisting of only a few locals, handled 11 cars of coal, four of fruit, two of salt, one of twine and three of potatoes as well as shipments of fuel and lubricating oils and other commodities."

COMMERCIAL SALT

Canada produced 20,279 tons of commercial salt in November as compared with 21,899 tons in October and 18,477 in November 1933. The eleven months production totalled 183,529 tons or 10.1 per cent above the tonnage produced during the period January to November, 1933.

CEMENT SHIPMENTS

Portland cement shipments by Canadian producers in November were recorded at 223,547 barrels as compared with 480,938 in October and 182,144 in November 1933. Little Sister

DU MARGARET WIDDEMER

CHAPTER 40

The wedding breakfast, champagne and all, passed in a haze.

"You know, you naughty children," she wakened enough to hear Mrs. Johnston-Hedges saying, across the Venetian lace tablecloth, "the least you can do is to secure to your generous Aunt Minnie her share of the Church estate. I understand you forgot to buy her half in her name."

"Aunt Minnie did it willingly and without any strings on it," said Bet coldly.

"That estate, when it is drained, is to be given over to the use of the penniless," Addison explained. "It was very fine of Miss Minnie."

"That," said Mrs. Johnston-Hedges even more coldly, "is just what you, Bet, have made the aunt who has supported you all your life."

"Oh, Florrie, Bessie," hurried Aunt Minnie, lifting two little flashing worn hands in deprecation, "don't call me things like that. I—I just gave them the money because I was fond of them. . . I'm sure they'll give it all back and more, give them time."

Addison gulped his champagne. His face flushed up and his Adam's apple worked, as he took Aunt Minnie's hand.

"I have never been the recipient of such beautiful devotion," he said, obviously trying not to cry. "Elizabeth, my dear, we must show Aunt Minnie that we appreciate what she has done for us. Have you a piece of paper anywhere, Mrs. Johnston-Hedges?"

She had. Orton had been through law school for the benefit of his estates. They drew up the assignment and had it typed by Mrs. Johnston-Hedges' secretary before the heart-shaped ice cream molds were brought in. Leila and Orton witnessed it. The secretary, who ate no lunch because of her figure (she had no figure), went down in the Ford to the notary public, who was devoted enough to people who ran up such large stationer's bills as the Hedges (he was a stationer) to stamp things without seeing them signed in person. The paper, in duplicate, was back before the lunch coffee. Addison and Aunt Minnie embraced and kissed each other before the butler and sympathetic second man. Even Bet, now that it was done, said, waving an exhilarated hand, "Naturally, we do the generous thing by you, Aunt Minnie."

Mrs. Johnston-Hedges patted Addison and told him he was a splendid young fellow and they talked for quite a long time about the beauty of being friendly enemies.

"I want our lovely old beach kept from overcrowding; and you want it overrun with people who had nothing to do with buying or building on it," she said mournfully. "And we are going, like good Americans, to put it to the test of the popular vote this fall. We shall both work to our respective ends, that is understood. Meanwhile, you and Bet are inexperienced; I want to help you to the best of my ability with advice about the most important things in your new venture. The first thing to see about, to my mind, is—"

"Oh, come along," Orton said in Leila's willing ear. "We can trust the mater to handle things. Let's go over to the club."

The last thing they saw was Mrs. Johnston-Hedges showing Addison on a piece of paper what was the important thing to do first. Leila didn't catch what it was, but Addison seemed to think it was a wonderful idea.

"Will I?" said Leila fervently. "In a straight line—without ever returning."

"Oh, well—better drop in at your house and pick up a change. . . Good girl, Leila. More like yourself. Been sort of low in you mind lately, haven't you, darling? What I always liked you for was the pep and comeback. Too much talk here about this and that. Mother's rightmindedness is all right, but hang it all, we're young and alive; got to think about ourselves."

"And how!" said Leila. "My first thought is that I don't want to play golf one bit. I walk enough, and I'm dead today anyway. Call up the stables and let's ride."

He laughed admiringly.

A fact dawned on Leila. You could do what Orton told you; or you could make him—to a certain point—do what you told him. If the latter arrangement was carried out, life might not be so bad.

"Ride it is," said he grinning.

"Better hire me a horse," she said—she, who till now had always had it taking things. "What's a man for if he can't do things for you?"

Orton howled with glee.

"Humor! That's what I like about you, Leila. When a man has a sense of humor himself he likes it in a girl. 'What's a man good for if you can't do him, hey?'"

"Exactly!" Leila said brightly.

The afternoon progressed excellently. They loafed about the veranda of the Country club, which was a comfort to Leila, who was tired; secure in the solitude that the newly engaged are known to prefer, they talked to each other. Leila was turning over a new leaf. She did not talk to Orton with the cheerful casualness that one uses with a man one has known for a lifetime. She—as Aunt Minnie would have said—put herself out. She told Orton what a grand person he was along all lines, even lines she wasn't specially sure of. She was admiring and devoted, intimate and provocative, and—on broad lines—amusing. It is true that toward the end of the afternoon she got to the point of telling him jokes that she had heard on the radio; but he liked them, it seemed. He liked everything she did. It was a wonderful feeling, after the battering she had been through with everybody else.

Presently they parted to dress; presently, again, they met, foregathered with a group Orton knew well and Leila well enough, the very special top-of-the-basket group, dined, laughed, stayed to dance again. It was a grand feeling, being out on a party. She threw everything behind her but the laughter and the dancing and the good dinner. It was an easy, excellent life she was stepping into, if one danced fast enough and laughed often enough. She had done too much planning and thinking and family-worrying, that was what had been the matter with her. Orton Johnston-Hedges' fiance was turning over a new leaf that would stay turned. And Orton didn't talk about queer things you couldn't give and do.

Market and Mining News

ADVANCES UP TO 9 AT N.Y.

Turnover Largest in 7 Months; Golds Take a Move

NEW YORK, Feb. 18 (AP).—In a brief but vigorous rally, financial markets swirled upward today on the announcement of the supreme court's decisions substantially upholding the United States government in the gold cases.

In an excited hour of trading between noon and 1 o'clock nearly 900,000 shares changed hands in the stock exchange at advances from 1 to around 9 points among the leaders. Profit-taking cut these gains about in half.

Turnover for the session aggregated 1,909,590 shares, the largest volume since July 27, 1934.

Canadian gold mining issues responded strongly to the Washington judgments. Advances of a point or more were held to the close.

Santa Fe, one of the leaders, closed up 3¾ points at 47. Homestake Mining got up 15 points to 375 and Delaware & Hudson was 4 points higher at 37.

Rises of 2 to 3 points were held to the close by U.S. Steel at 38, Allied Chemical at 139¾, Bethlehem at 31¼, Chrysler at 41⅛, N.Y. Central at 19, Southern Railway at 19¾, Atlantic Coast Line at 31, Continental Can at 72¼, Union Pacific at 102¼, Du Pont at 97½ and Western Union at 31¼.

WHEAT GOES UP 3 AND CORN 4

Grains at the Top as Markets Closed

CHICAGO, Feb. 18 (AP).—Victory for the Roosevelt administration today as the gold clause cases went hand in hand with an upward rush of grain values.

Quick selling to realize profits was then witnessed after wheat had been a maximum of 3 cents a bushel from the day's low, with corn up almost 4 cents. Despite transient reactions, however, all grains were virtually at the topmost point of the day when because of pre-arranged plans the officials of the board of trade brought business to an end until tomorrow.

Much of the flurried buying that in a few minutes hoisted grain prices was ascribed to hastily drawn conclusions on the part of many traders that inflationary financial measures would result. This was before word came from Washington later, when the markets were closed, that it had been decided no new congressional measures were needed.

What closed firm 1¼ to 2⅛ cents higher, May 98⅝ to 99; corn 2⅛ to 3 up, May 89, and oats 1 cent to ¼ advanced.

WHEAT RUSH IS SHORT-LIVED

WINNIPEG, Feb. 18 (CP).—Bullish enthusiasm following the United States supreme court judgment on gold-clause cases subsided as quickly as it had appeared on the Winnipeg grain exchange today. Wheat prices rose and fell abruptly, closing with net advances of ½ cent.

For a few minutes interest was at the fever point when the decision was announced. In the wake of an advancing Chicago market, local values scored extreme gains of 1¼ cents and the pit was flooded with orders. Operations quickly dwindled, however, May future receding to close at 83½ and July 82⅝.

When the Chicago board of trade closed "until further notice" with gains of 1½ cents registered on the quotation board, local operations came almost to a standstill. Profit-taking swept values from their high levels.

Liverpool closed ¼ to ½d higher, due to the sale of Australian wheat to the orient.

Export sales of Canadian wheat were not large. Cash grains idled. Coarse grains followed the lead of wheat.

ALL PRICES SURGE AHEAD, MONTREAL

MONTREAL, Feb. 18 (CP)—Washington's abrogation of the gold clause gave the Montreal stock exchange a buoyant tone today. Traders heaped orders to buy and the result was a general advance.

SUGAR TAX IS PROTESTED

Confectioners at the Montreal Meeting Complain

MONTREAL, Feb. 18.—The excise taxes on sugar and glucose unfairly discriminate against the biscuit and confectionery industries, and should be wiped out when the next budget is brought down at Ottawa, according to a resolution passed by a meeting of Canada's leading confectionery manufacturers, held in Montreal.

It was pointed out that these taxes, which are a heavy burden, borne only by the sugar-using manufacturers and the public, are costing confectionery and biscuit manufacturers in excess of three-quarters of a million dollars a year; a tremendous burden to one group of industries that other industries do not share. Manufacturers reported that these taxes, coupled with the sales tax, cost to them from nine to twelve per cent of their total cost of production, the sugar and glucose taxes alone costing leading manufacturers from $15,000 to $40,000 a year. It was stated that these taxes represented approximately a twenty-five per cent tax on the industries' chief raw material.

The confectioners present took vigorous exception to the fact that the government had singled out their industry — manufacturing a necessity of modern life—and had imposed on it a much greater percentage of taxation than that borne by other industries. It was demonstrated that the confectionery industry is by no means an industry earning large profits. On the contrary, many leading firms have suffered severe losses for several years past, or had their profits, if any, materially reduced. On the other hand, the industry represents an important part of Canada's industrial life, with more than forty million dollars of invested capital, paying in excess of eight million dollars a year to 10,000 employees, and with an annual production of around thirty-five million dollars.

The manufacturers agreed that it has been impossible to raise prices when the taxes were introduced, to take care of this burden, partly due to the penny and nickle units in which so much confectionery is sold, but principally due to the fact that any attempt to raise prices in these depressed times would seriously curtail already depleted volume.

RENO GAINS 10 AT THE COAST

Is Feature; Bralorne Up 50; Dentonia Gains Five

VANCOUVER, Feb. 18 (CP).—Announcement of the gold clause cases decision in Washington this morning brought a strong rally on the Vancouver stock exchange and, although prices weakened somewhat in late trading substantial gains were recorded at the close.

Reno Gold was the trading feature and finished with a net gain of 10 at 1.55 after selling up to 1.60. Bralorne gained 50, Pioneer Gold advanced 25 and Dentonia and Sheep Creek were each up 5 at 61 and 77 respectively. Bradian at 2.16 and Hedley Amalgamated at 22 each gained 4 and Premier Gold was up 3. United Empire was offered at 7½ with no sales.

B.C. Nickel was active in the afternoon session and gained 3 at 46, Pend Oreille was up 5 and Big Missouri firmed ½. Noble Five gained ¾ while National Silver was off ¼.

Royalite closed at 22.00, up 1.00 and Calgary & Edmonton gained 4 at 81. The rest of the oils were practically unchanged.

GOLD, STERLING RALLY SHARPLY

NEW YORK, Feb. 18 (CP).—A wild flurry in the foreign exchange markets followed announcement of the gold clause decisions today.

All leading currencies, including both the gold and sterling groups, rallied strongly in terms of the United States. The day's highest rates were shaded somewhat before the closing.

The Canadian dollar, at a premium for the first time in weeks, closed at 1-16 premium against a discount of ¼ per cent Saturday. The Dominion dollar's high for the day was ⅛ premium.

Sterling soared nearly 3 cents to just under $4.90, before receding a little to close at $4.89⅜ for a net gain of 2¾ cents. The French franc closed near its peak at 6.64 cents, up .04 of a cent.

PROFITS TAKEN

TORONTO, Feb. 18 (CP).—Strength that followed the U.S. supreme court's ruling on the gold clause appeal was the dominant note in an active market on the Toronto stock exchange today. Profit-taking pared gains at the close.

Nickel chalked up a gain of 1¼ at 34¾; Consolidated Smelters added 2 at 137 and Brazilian, C.P.R. and Ford each added ¼. Distillers Seagram advanced ¾ in the common and ⅛ in the preferred.

Volume was heavy in Imperial Oil and just ordinary in the other issues.

CANADIAN GOLDS RESPOND TO GOLD CLAUSE RULING IN U.S.

Market Prices Go on Tear Shortly After Noon

Canadian stocks and commodity markets swung in behind the United States marts today and advanced to higher price levels on the announcement that the U. S. supreme court had decided the gold clause appeals in terms satisfactory to the government.

Gold stocks particularly responded to the ruling that congress had full power to regulate gold content of the U. S. dollar and to cancel clauses in private contracts calling for payment in gold or in dollars at the old gold equivalent.

The decision, coming sharp at 12 noon, found markets in a sagging trend. In a few minutes prices were racing upward, spurred on by the battle of distressed shorts to cover their positions.

With the pressure of short covering out of the day trading quieted down and about half the advance was lost before the drop was checked by a pick-up of investment buying.

During the last hour the movement on both industrial and mining markets was forward and at the close prices were very little under the day's best level.

Toronto mining section traded nearly 1,000,000 shares, the heaviest in four months and the board at the close showed 77 advances and 18 losses. Gains of $1 to $2.75 were chalked up in the big issues.

Toronto and Montreal industrial share markets were more orderly in their advance and gains were mainly in fractions. Nickel rose along with the golds and the commodities, adding $1.25 while 50 cent gains were registered for Brazilian, Ford A, C. P. R. and the leading oil, steel, utility and food issues. Banks were a bit soft.

On the Winnipeg grain exchange wheat moved ahead sharply, supported by the general strength of commodities, the strength of the Canadian dollar and the grain spurt at Chicago just before that market closed down as an emergency measure, profit-taking, however, cut the advance to about half a cent.

Livestock prices recorded gains on the Toronto market, hogs added 25 cents per hundredweight.

The silver market made practically no response to the gold ruling, bar metal closing unchanged. Silver mining shares, however, moved ahead with the general trend.

British Columbia Has Produced Over $1,373,000,000.00 Worth of Minerals

Improved base metal prices, the increased value in Gold, and the general trend towards recovery, are bringing about steadily an increasing activity in mining throughout British Columbia.

The estimated gold production for the year 1934 showed an increase of 64,543 ounces over 1933, establishing an all-time high record. The estimated value in Canadian funds of gold production for 1934 is $10,610,822.00.

THAT FIRST BRANCH BANK AND 500 MORE

The founders of the Bank of Montreal firmly believed in branch banking. Two weeks after opening the Bank in Montreal on November 3rd, 1817, the directors appointed an agent at Quebec. By the following June the agency was made an "Office of Deposit and Discount," and thus the first branch came into being. Two others soon were created—at Kingston and York (afterward Toronto).

These early bankers sought to extend and perpetuate for the farmers and merchants, the benefits and stimulus of a branch banking system the worth of which had been abundantly proved in the British Isles.

Thus they introduced one of the elements of elasticity for which the Canadian banking system has received so much praise.

Consistently, throughout the decades, the Bank of Montreal has added branches wherever business warranted, giving to new and growing communities the advantages of banking strength, ample facilities and sound management. Today over 500 branches are serving Canada. Each branch is the Bank of Montreal, with all the facilities and public service for which the institution is known.

From the first branch in Quebec to the most recent one opened, the spirit of the Bank of Montreal is expressed—and will continue to be expressed—in terms of useful banking.

was a mistake. "Why not leave out the cost of education or some other difficult thing and hope that dear old posterity will provide for them," he said. He complimented Premier Pattullo on refusing to validate the Vancouver proposal to cut interest rates by 50 per cent.

"There is one thing and one thing only to do. The course is plain. This province and its municipalities must eliminate with an iron hand all waste and arrange to see that every inhabitant of this province should pay taxes proportionately to the return he gets from the privileges of citizenship."

R. B. Swailes (C.C.F., Delta) said the inadequate scale of relief in rural districts must come in for some consideration and revision, and the Liberal plank dealing with taxation on ability to pay should be applied to those engaged in basic industries without delay.

Forest conservation, reforestation, a substantial highway program, urgent need of the Alaska-Yukon highway as a means of defence in cooperation with the United States, a system of "hope" camps for youths, were urged by Hugh Savage (Ind., Cowichan-Newcastle) another speaker on the address in reply to the speech from the throne.

Mr. Savage said the McGeer national credit plan could not successfully operate unless all Canada adopted it. Municipal, provincial and national debts should be consolidated and refunded and measures for control of future borrowing should be created.

"HOPE" STATIONS

Unemployed young men in groups of five or 10 should be organized as fire guards, patrols and crews to burn slashings in the forests. The government should provide "hope" stations where young men would be furnished food, shelter and education with a pay of $3 a day as a basic wage, one-half of which would be deferred wages, payable in five years without interest. Fifty cents should be charged for board and shelter and the youth allowed a similar amount a day for incidentals.

"Cut-out-and-get-out" methods allegedly employed in British Columbia's forests were criticized by Ernest Bakewell (C.C.F., Mackenzie). He reiterated his advocacy of selective logging.

removal of the uncertainty would prove a tonic to business and finance.

GAINS $2 TO $9

When the flurry in the stock exchange was over, extreme gains of $2 to $9 a share in many leading stocks were cut in half.

Low-priced bonds shot up along with stocks, several registering advances of $1 to $5 for $100 par value, and retained a good part of their gains.

Only the high-priced gold clause bonds, both United States government and corporation issues, were adversely affected. Some holders of these, who had hoped to collect $1.69 in current dollars per dollar of face value of their bonds, were disappointed, and sold. Prices were down moderately at the finish.

At no time was there any question of suspending trading in the New York markets.

The New York cotton market pushed up about $1.25 a bale, and closed with net gains of 65 to 95 cents a bale.

Foreign gold currencies shot upward in New York when the decision was made known. The French franc got a trifle above parity for the first time in months. The Canadian dollar was quoted at a small premium.

The reaction in high financial circles was one of considerable confusion but of great relief.

W. M. MYERS IS GYRO SPEAKER

Entertains Members With Mining Talk

Thrown upon his own resources at the last minute, W. M. Myers proved himself a real entertainer Monday night when he acted as program chairman at a Gyro luncheon in the Hume silver ball room. His talk on the early history of mining featured the program which included a vocal quartet by Chief of Police Alex Stewart, H. S. Watson, Jack Lennie and J. Cartmel, and a recitation by Jack Bell, "The Swede at the Ball Game."

Jack Annable, Harry Horton, George Dill and J. D. Notman were also among the entertainers, opening proceedings with a vocal quartet. Among the guests were Jack Bell, T. W. Ledingham, Duke Harris, A. T. Stephenson and R. E. Allan.

During the program Jack Greenwood and Harry N. McLean, who are recent new daddies, received silver cups.

In tracing the early stages of mining Mr. Myers dabbled in some real ancient history. From the advancement of mankind to the stage where flint came into use, he followed on to discovery of gold, nuggets, native silver, copper and finally iron.

He told of the conquest of Mexico and of the pillage of Cortez in his drive for Montezuma's gold. In closing he said that the gold presented to Solomon by the Queen of Sheba on a visit, had been estimated by historians at $14,000,000, and said that he did not blame Solomon "falling" for her.

and private corporation bonds. It would have called for an extra $138,000,000 from Ontario alone.

For the United States, it removed the threat of an increase in total indebtedness amounting to $185,000,000,000—the difference between the present load of private bonds, state, county and municipal bonds, and federal government bonds on a devalued dollar basis and on the gold basis.

MARKETS RISE

The majority opinion of the court upheld the constitutional power of congress over the monetary system of the country, and affirmed it was an "untenable assumption" that private parties may enforce contracts limiting that authority.

With mining shares in Toronto leading, stocks advanced in Toronto and Montreal and closed strong despite late reaction. The same was true on Wall street where a wild burst of buying came with the first announcement of the decision. Winnipeg wheat advanced more than a cent at first, closing orderly half a cent higher; in Chicago, a swift climb of around two cents occurred before trading was stopped for the day. Foreign currencies firmed against the United States dollar, now definitely on a devalued basis.

The Canadian dollar in New York went as high as a premium of ¼ of a cent, closing 1-16 over par, a gain of 7-16 on the day.

A hurried study of the Washington judgment convinced officials in Ontario that it relieved all Canadian gold bonds held in the United States of any liability to pay in the equivalent of gold. The situation would remain as it is at present, that the debts would be satisfied by payment in New York funds on the face value of the claims.

This would apply not only to the $240,000,000 Dominion gold bonds held in the United States but also to the great mass of railway, provincial and municipal bonds and the bonds of private corporations which hold the gold clause.

So far no holder of gold bonds in Canada has sought to be paid in the equivalent of gold or in gold.

The position in the Dominion was thought to be more secure in this regard than that of the Roosevelt administration but the judgment, it was believed, would further discourage any effort to force payment in this country of bonds in other than Dominion currency.

the Democratic leader, at once gathered in the president's office. There was rejoicing as plans for meeting an adverse decision were torn up.

"The president is gratified," said one of his secretaries.

"I am very much pleased," declared Morgenthau.

So thorough-going did they consider their victory, in fact, that they quickly announced the decision necessitated no new legislation, and no administrative action.

The markets, paralyzed by uncertainty for weeks, leaped into activity. Prices soared on the surge of a volume of buying orders. Later profit-taking reduced them but a little and left the predominant sentiment still bullish.

The words of the supreme court dissenters were stern.

"The constitution is gone," declared Associate Justice James Clark McReynolds for the dissent, and added later, "This is Nero at his worst."

For the majority, Chief Justice Charles Evans Hughes, once a Republican candidate for the presidency, read the verdict sustaining the new deal. Associate Justice Harlan Fiske Stone, Louis Brandeis, Owen Roberts and Benjam Cardoze concurred.

Some immediately remarked it was McReynolds, attorney general under Woodrow Wilson in the last previous Democratic administration, who delivered a barbed and emphatic dissent. He was joined by Associate Justices Willis van Devanter, George Sutherland and Pierce Butler.

The cases turned on the point of whether congress was justified in abrogating the gold payment clauses of all bonds and contracts.

"We think it is clearly shown these clauses interfere with the exertion of the power of the congress," said Chief Justice Hughes.

The practical effect of the ruling was to make private gold clause bonds redeemable at their face value in the present devalued currency, instead of 169 per cent of that value.

The opinion on the government bond case was generally interpreted as meaning so long as the new deal dollar is worth as much in purchasing power as any one of the dollar's originally invested, there is no damage and consequently no action for recovery can be brought.

Speculation immediately turned to how that would apply if at some future time the purchasing power of the present dollar should sink to a point below that of the dollar which was invested. There was no conclusive answer, but the inference was plain.

RACKETEERS IN OXFORD GROUP?

So Charges Rev. S. H. Smith of Vancouver Church

VANCOUVER, Feb. 18 (CP)—Racketeering in the Oxford Group and suspected use of the movement to further the ends of politicians is charged by Rev. S. H. Smith of Vancouver.

"A great religious movement has been perverted and used for ignoble purposes," Mr. Smith declared last night from the pulpit of St. John's United church. He stated, however, he is still a firm believer in the Group and it is still a source of inspiration to him.

Mr. Smith contended there has been developed by so-called Groupers an attitude to the church singularly out of harmony with the ideals of Dr. Frank Buchman, leader of the Group.

It would be tragedy, he declared, should the necessity arise for the church to dissociate itself from the Group because of immature individuals with a limited knowledge of religious movements.

The man who seeks publicity through his affiliation with the Group was severely criticized. He cited the instance of a man who boasted that his business had increased tremendously since he became known as a Grouper.

"Even politicians are suspected of using the Group to further their own ends," he said.

had happened on an important government measure. On some occasions the house has been unanimous in minor questions when recorded votes have been taken. Usually in such cases the vote is not recorded.

RAISES PROTEST

Only one dissentient voice was raised against the measure, that of J. F. Pouliot, Liberal member for Temiscouata, who declared himself opposed but was prevented from voting because he was paired with an absent Conservative member.

In debate last week Henri Bourassa, Independent member for Labelle, had declared himself opposed but was not on hand today for the vote which was 101 in favor and none against.

4000 OFFICIALS

Possibly 4000 officials will be required to administer the act, Mr. Bennett agreed on a suggestion from an opposition member, although no close estimate could be made. Liberal leader Mackenzie King suggested 5000 to 10,000 would be required but Mr. Bennett doubted this.

The cost of administration had been estimated at $7,000,000 of which $6,000,000 might be expected to go in salaries, said Wilfrid Handbury (Lib.-Vancouver-Burrard). At an average salary of $1500 this would mean 4000 employees.

NOT NEW EMPLOYEES

It would not necessarily mean 4000 additional employees, said Mr. Bennett, as staff on the employment service offices now maintained jointly by the provinces and the Dominion in many cases would be taken over and embodied in the new organization.

Answering arguments advanced against constitutionality of the measure, Mr. Bennett said it could not be enacted by the legislature of any province and, as the power must reside somewhere, the federal parliament was competent to enact it.

LAW PROGRESSIVE SCIENCE

It was a national matter on which the people of Canada as a whole had to speak and, he said, "the voice of Canada is the voice of its parliament and not the collective voices of its provincial legislatures."

"Law is a progressive science," said the prime minister at another point as he referred to citations of earlier opinions he had himself given.

"Legal decisions are constantly expanding," he added, "in view of the varying implications and various sets of facts. One set of facts involves one decision, another set another decision. The principles that govern are eternal but the application of those principles is as variable as time itself."

The bill was a taxation measure, said Mr. Bennett. It proposed to take from employers and from employees certain sums of money to be used with sums from federal treasury for the benefit of certain persons.

The provinces were confined by the constitution to direct taxation. The Dominion could use either direct or indirect taxation. So whether this tax was direct or indirect it was within the competence of the Dominion parliament.

Mr. Bennett said he could not understand why the Liberals should support the bill and still seek to make out it was invalid.

A plea for a non-contributory unemployment insurance scheme was entered by J. S. Woodsworth (Lab.-Winnipeg North Center). He said the time for a contributory scheme was long past and although he would support the bill he thought it was a very short step in the direction of social justice which Canada was bound by treaty to bring about.

city employees should not likewise be returned cuts. Alderman Lauriente was of a like opinion while Alderman Woodburn stated that although he was in favor of the restoration, he believed the taxpayers should be considered first.

APPROVE ESTIMATES

The council approved the school board estimates of $83,372.80 which was approximately $1300 less than the previous year's estimates of $84,335.96. City Clerk W. E. B. Monypenny told the council the board had a balance of $4700 from last year which would be carried through to their credit. Included in last year's figures was the cost of the Annable school which was slightly over $3300.

Alderman Lauriente, chairman of the finance committee, reported the purchase for the sinking fund account of four province of British Columbia 6 per cent bonds due 1941, par value $4000, purchase price $102.50, cost $4100 plus accrued interest.

ROTARY CLUB 13 YEARS OLD

Garland Is Speaker at the Nelson Club Anniversary

C. B. Garland gave a resume of the club's activities and achievements when the Rotary club observed its thirteenth anniversary at the Hume hotel silver room Monday afternoon.

On the anniversary of the formation of the club, declared Mr. Garland, it was appropriate that one remember the history of the club. It was a proxy matter to tell one things that one was familiar with, but in this case the facts would also bring pleasant associations and remembrances.

In the resume, Mr. Garland outlined some of the outstanding works of the club since its inception in February, 1922, until the present day. The club during that period had raised between $6000 and $7000 and that sum had been spent unselfishly for the benefit of others. Besides the benefits they had brought to others, the individual Rotarians had also benefitted in their own way, and in various degrees, by helping others.

SOMETHING ENDURING

Rotary was only 30 years old and he believed there must be something enduring about it, something that appealed to different types and different minds. It possessed something that overcame natural barriers and yet enabled men to adhere to without becoming involved in any particular arguments.

Rotary, he concluded, could be classified as a condition of mind, bearing in mind certain ethical standards.

A letter was received from the Budapest Rotary club thanking the Nelson club for the way it had entertained one of its members some time ago. A letter was also received from the Nanaimo club stating that all Rotary clubs approached regarding the banning of the sale and manufacture of heroin, had aligned, and the Nanaimo club urged the local club ask W. K. Esling, M.P. for Kootenay West, to urge for legislation to effect such control. The Nelson club passed a motion approving this.

Practise for the Kootenay Musical Festival started Monday night, and President Whimster read out the names of the Rotarians who were expected to attend the practises.

A challenge issued by the Penticton Rotary club was accepted too by the Nelson club. This will be an attendance contest, and the losers must stage a concert in the other's city. The attendance will be over a period of three months.

R. W. Dawson was in charge of the entertainment.

E. Taylor of Victoria was a visitor.

Baron George von Sosnowski of Poland, was spared from death through the intervention of the Polish ambassador. He was sentenced to life imprisonment.

To the somewhat less implicated typist in the reichswehr ministry, Irene von Jena, was meted out a similar punishment.

"Their crime was the meanest in the history of the third reich," said the newspaper Nachtausgabe in summing up German editorial opinion on the executions. "What aggravated the present case was the fact the condemned persons betrayed their fatherland for large sums of money and purposely secured material advantages for themselves through their mean acts.

"Justice had to be fully meted out because members of German families which have names famous in Prussian history stooped to betraying their country. Precisely, the great services which earlier bearers of these names rendered to the fatherland made it compulsory to apply the severest punishments."

Placards announcing the grim some executions were plastered on billboards throughout the capital in order to give the widest possible publicity to the execution of spies.

A government source expressed the opinion the bodies would not be turned over to their families but would be buried in a little prison cemetery opposite the grim and forbidding Ploetzensee prison.

Exact nature of the charge against the women still has not been revealed, but it is generally understood the military "secrets" they are supposed to have spied applied to aeroplanes, especially a new type of plane invented at a Berlin factory.
