HITLER MEETS IL DUCE TODAY

Mussolini Sleeps in Napoleon's Room in Venice

By ANDRUE BERDING
(Associated Press Foreign Staff).

VENICE, June 13 (AP).—Premier Mussolini slept tonight in Napoleon's apartment in the Villa Pisani at Stra where everything was in readiness for the visit of Chancellor Hitler of Germany tomorrow morning.

Venice, meanwhile, made preparations to extend a welcome to the chancellor in a manner which even the ancient doges might not have dared attempt.

Mussolini arrived at the villa, 20 miles from here, this evening, accompanied by Fulvio Suvich, undersecretary of state, who will be one of his advisers in the conference with Hitler.

A battalion of plainclothes men and Fascists were on guard at the villa, which was once owned by Napoleon, Mussolini's acknowledged hero.

After the official welcome and a luncheon together the two national leaders will hold two conferences during the afternoon, the first at the villa and the second at Hitler's hotel.

Solution of Cancer Problem in Sight

Sort of Achilles Heel of Cancer Found; Is Spot About Size of Quarter; Enough Known Facts to Solve Problem of Dread Disease

By HOWARD W. BLAKESLEE
(Associated Press Science Editor)

CLEVELAND, June 13 (AP).—Solution of the cancer problem is in sight; the facts to reduce its death toll already known, the American Medical association was informed today.

A sort of Achilles heel of cancer has been found, a spot about the size of a quarter, appearing in many of the most serious types of this scourge. It has been and still is largely unrecognized. It leads to cancer and almost sure death, yet if treated in time there will be no cancer.

"There are enough known facts," said William Carpenter McCarty, M.D., of Rochester, Minn., "if they were properly and extensively applied, to solve the cancer problem.

"I have recently studied over 2500 cancers the size of a quarter or smaller, found surgically in the breast, stomach and large intestines. None of these gave positive, characteristic signs or symptoms of cancer, but all gave signs and symptoms which are sometimes, although not always, associated with cancer.

"There were only two reasons why these relatively small cancers were discovered. They were suspected in spite of the absence of text book signs and symptoms, and they were found by exploration."

One very recent addition to the cancer "facts" was described by Max Cutler, M.D., director of the tumor clinic, Michael Reese hospital, Chicago. This is the use of radium twice instead of once daily. Night radium treatments are given now and they catch and kill little cancer cells just beginning to grow.

FREIGHTER BURNS TO WATER LINE, SINKS—17 MISSING

Captain and 16 Members of Crew Picked Up After Floating in Lifeboat for Three Days; Ship Is Unable to Get Out SOS

NEW YORK, June 13 (AP).—A tale of swift tragedy in the Caribbean sea—the destruction by fire of the Norwegian freighter Knut Hamsun, with 17 or 18 persons missing—was told today in terse wireless messages from the United fruit liner Zacapa.

The captain and 16 members of the crew, after drifting in a lifeboat for nearly three days, were rescued by the Zacapa.

Search for a second lifeboat, containing the chief officer and 16 others, was abandoned at mid-day by the fruit vessel, which continued on to Havana.

(Advices from the freighter's agent in Panama said the missing lifeboat must contain the mate and 17 members of the crew as the ship's list showed 35 persons aboard.)

In abandoning the search, the fruit liner messaged the belief the lifeboat would drift to the cays of the Nicaraguan coast—the tiny islands known as Mosquito and Morrison cays.

The freighter, with a cargo of nitrate from Chile, bound for Newport News, caught fire, burned to the water's edge and sank Sunday night, about 150 miles off the Nicaraguan coast, near Quita Suena bank.

The conflagration spread so rapidly that the officers and crew were forced to the lifeboats without sending out an S.O.S.

The Knut Hamsun was a vessel of 3234 tons net, owned in Bergen, Norway. Built in 1911, she was 410 feet overall.

"Chuck" Gardiner's Death Stuns the Puck World—"Greatest" Goalie, Says Gorman

Carried on in Latter Stages of Hockey War Although Ill; Declined Rest

NEW YORK, June 13 (CP)—Magnates gathered here for tomorrow's National league meeting, lesser officials and New York hockey fandom in general were stunned tonight on hearing of the death of Charles (Chuck) Gardiner, popular netminder of Chicago Black Hawks, world champions.

"He was the greatest goalkeeper that ever donned the pads," said Thomas P. Gorman, former manager of the Hawks and now general manager of Montreal forum. "He was the greatest single factor in the winning of the Stanley cup.

"Words fail to express my sorrow at his passing. I feel completely broken up about it. 'Chuck' complained to me several times during the latter stages of the last campaign that he had sharp pains in his head but declined my suggestion to take a short rest.

"The winning of the championship for Chicago was his paramount aim at that time. The night we lost to Detroit 5-2 in the playoffs 'Chuck' was a sick boy but no amount of urging could get him to stay out of the game.

"His exhibition of courage then was typical of the boy at all times. The team first, himself last—that was Charlie. We will never have another like him." (See page 7.)

CHARGE AGAINST BAYER ASPIRINS

WASHINGTON, June 13 (AP).—The federal trade commission charged the Bayer Company, Inc., of New York today with "misrepresentation" in the sale of its Aspirin tablets. The commission also said "there are some persons by whom Bayer tablets may not safely be taken even in small or moderate doses."

The company is given until July 13 to show why the commission should not issue an order requiring the company to desist from the alleged misrepresentations.

WILL IT WORK ON BROKEN HEARTS?

CLEVELAND, June 13 (AP).—A new type of heat surgery, promising one avenue of escape from the present heart death rate, was proposed to the American Medical association today by Claude S. Beck, Cleveland surgeon.

He pictured surgeons in the near future operating directly upon hearts. The hearts will be patched literally, he predicted, with grafts of tissue taken from other parts of the body.

His preliminary hearing was set for next Friday at 10 a.m.

Many Changes Are Proposed in Bill Governing Voting

List Would Be Geographical, Not Alphabetical; in Print at Federal Capital

Briefly the new Franchise bill discussed at Ottawa Wednesday proposes to make the following changes in the present regulations:

Appoint a franchise commissioner for all Canada.

Appoint revising officers in every constituency.

Appoint one or more enumerators in every poling district, to prepare for first list.

Immediate preparation by enumerators for a voters' list for all Canada to be kept in print at Ottawa, and stand for 12 months periods as a closed list.

List to be completely revised every 12 months.

Voters in urban districts to accompany registration with signed statement so that signature may be compared to obviate impersonation at the polls.

The list to be geographical rather than alphabetical, or both.

There is no change in the actual machinery of conducting an election and very little in the qualifications for franchise, the main consideration being given to the list of voters.

With the proposed closed list a person who moved during the 12 month period would be entitled to vote only in the district in which he was registered at the time the list was closed.

ALL THE WEST WATCHES C.C.F.

Woodsworth Has High Hopes in the Sask. Vote Tuesday

SASKATOON, June 13 (CP)—The eyes of western Canada today were upon Saskatchewan and success of the Canadian Cooperative Commonwealth Federation in the provincial election next Tuesday might point the way for a new economic system for the Dominion.

This briefly was the message J. S. Woodsworth, C.C.F. leader in Canada, brought to a large audience at an open air meeting here today before he was forced to give way to a terrific rain storm which swept across the city, driving the speaker to cover and his audience to their homes.

The election was highly important, he emphasized. If it went favorably for the C.C.F.—as he thought it would—it might lead to a movement which would sweep Canada.

NO EXCITEMENT IN STRIKE AREA

But Strikers Firm the Lines of Pickets Around Flin Flon Property

FLIN FLON, Man., June 13 (CP).—Picket lines around the Hudson Bay Mining & Smelting company's property were strengthened by strikers today as recognition of the Mine Workers Union of Canada was cited as the chief demand of the 1300 striking employees.

Alex. Hay, chairman of the general strike committee, issued a statement declaring that if the company would recognize the union, he was sure other terms could be more quickly arranged. The employees had the right to be members of any union which they chose, he declared.

Picket lines were more firmly established when union officials believed some men had faked permits to get through picket lines. A rubber stamp for marking passes was ordered by the committee.

Quietness prevailed throughout the strike area.

MEANS A HUGE PURCHASE OF WHITE METAL

To Make Up Quarter of the Metal Stock Backing Money

SENATE CHANGES ARE ACCEPTED

Britain May Be Able to Pay Instalment in Silver

WASHINGTON, June 13 (AP).—Final approval of the United States silver bill was voted by congress tonight with its declaration that the metal should be purchased until it comprised 25 per cent of the metallic stocks backing currency.

Final congressional action came swiftly when the house accepted without a record vote amendments inserted by the senate in the administration approved Diesl-Pittman bill. The measure now goes to the White House for the president's signature.

GREATER USE FOR MONEY

The legislation, not entirely satisfactory to bi-metallists and inflationists, was a compromise offered by the administration and accepted by the silver blocs in both houses.

BONUS SYSTEM BEAT WAGE ACT

Such is Disclosure In the Factories of Eaton Company

OTTAWA, June 13 (CP)—Bolstering of provincial labor laws may be recommended, Hon. H. H. Stevens hinted today, resulting from disclosures of conditions in factories operated by the T. Easton company, Ltd., in Toronto, Montreal and Saint John.

For the entire day, the parliamentary mass buying committee heard accounts of low wages paid in Eaton factories, the lowest in Saint John and the highest in Montreal with Toronto standards between the two. The tale will be continued tomorrow.

Although there was no contravention of Ontario Minimum wage laws, G. G. Richardson, committee investigator, told of hundreds of women and girls in Eaton factories in Toronto being unable to earn the minimum set by law, $12.50 for experienced operators.

To comply with the law, the company bonused a sufficient number to bring 80 per cent of its employees up to the minimum requirement, selecting those closest in dollars and cents. It would have cost the company $34,586 in 1933 to have had all its workers at the $12.50 level or less than one-half of 1 per cent added to factory costs.

GETS REWARD FOR FINDING OF BODY

MERRITT, B.C., June 13 (CP).—A check for $500, the reward offered by the British Columbia government for the recovery of one or both the bodies of Dominion Constable Frank Gisbourne and Provincial Constable Percy Carr, has been received here by Indian Agent A. H. Barber.

The reward will be turned over to "Big Frank," the Indian who recovered Gisbourne's body from the Nicola river on May 26, two days after the constables were alleged to have been murdered on the Canford Indian reservation. It was understood part of the reward would go to another Indian who helped "Big Frank" get the body ashore.

EXTENT THAT B. C. SHOULD GO IN THE TRAINING OF YOUTH AIM OF INDUSTRY

Teaching Methods and Curricula Come Under Probe of Educational System

VICTORIA, June 13 (CP)—The variety of questions which will be looked into by the survey of educational finances which will be conducted in British Columbia was indicated today, with the following cited as examples.

Should art students n high schools be taught Latin instead of things that may be more practical value in after life?

Should greater attention be paid in schools to the health of pupils instead of the supervisory nature of the present health services?

Should the state, through its schools, take over the task of guiding a boy's vocational future after he leaves instead of leaving this to

Relief Food Not Good Enough—He Goes to a Hotel — Then to Jail

VANCOUVER, June 13 (CP).—Joe Balango was unsatisfied with the food and lodgings he was able to obtain with his Vancouver relief script so he registered at one of the city's largest hotels and lived there two weeks, occupying a good room and eating the best food. Then he disappeared without paying the bill.

Joe appeared before Magistrate W. M. McKay in police court today and pleaded guilty to a charge of obtaining food and lodging by false pretenses. He was sentenced to two months in jail.

Ray Fenwick pleaded guilty to defrauding the same hotel in a similar manner and was remanded to Thursday for sentence.

NEW WAGE SCALE FOR CANNERIES

VICTORIA, June 13 (CP).—An emergency order covering the minimum wage regulations in the fruit and vegetable canning industries was framed today by the British Columbia board of industrial relations.

It provides that the regular scale of 27 cents an hour may be paid up to 10 hours a day where there is a rush in a plant occasioned by the arrival of extra heavy lots of goods. After 10 hours of work, the overtime scale of 40 cents for the next two hours and 54 cents for over that, comes into effect.

The previous order made payment of overtime necessary after eight hours of work.

New Franchise Bill Will Speed Up Election Machinery and Give Better Check on Voters' Lists and Voters

OTTAWA, June 13 (CP).—The new franchise bill will not prevent persons voting because of lack of familiarity with either French or English. A clause in the first draft to demand familiarity with one or two official languages had been eliminated, Hon. Hugh Guthrie told the house today. It was proposed to disenfranchise certain Doukhobors of British Columbia.

The Franchise act would provide for a franchise commissioner in general charge of preparing permanent voters' lists to be used in Dominion elections, Mr. Guthrie said. Under the commissioner there would be a revising officer for each riding.

A basic voters' list for each constituency would be prepared immediately after the present session of parliament. These lists would be forwarded to the franchise commissioner and form the voters' lists for the Dominion. They would be revised every 12 months. It would be possible to hold an election within from 24 to 28 days whereas under the present machinery it required from 55 to 60 days.

To prevent impersonation, the signature of each person registering would be available in the polling booths and persons unknown to the deputy returning officer would be called upon to sign his or her name. This system prevailed in British Columbia and worked satisfactorily, Mr. Guthrie said.

B. C. ATTORNEY-GENERAL MAKES PLEA FOR PEACE AT PORTLAND UNVEILING

Beull New President of B. C. Command Legion; Kamloops Convention City

PORTLAND, Ore., June 13 (AP)—While war veterans of two nations heard an inspiring plea that they "wage a bloodless battle so such memorials will not be needed for future generations" members of the Canadian Legion and of the American Legion joined here today in a solemn tribute to their war dead.

Before a cenotaph, services were read and floral pieces laid for those men and women who died for their nations in the great war.

The service solemn and prayerful, was in striking contrast to the other events in this year's festival of roses which Portland now is celebrating jointly with the convention of the British Columbia command of the Canadian Legion.

W. S. Beull was reelected president of the British Columbia command,

Only One Pullet Has a Chance at Derreen's Mark

AGASSIZ, B.C., June 13 (CP).—Only one pullet in the annual egg-laying contest at the Dominion experimental farm here has a chance to equal or better the world's record of 357 eggs in 365 days, equalled in last year's contest by the White Leghorn Derreen 10-L.

Barred Rock pullet No. 3, owned by the Delta Land company, Vancouver, has laid 220 eggs in 224 days to equal the performance of "Dauntless Derreen" at this time last year. Her closest competitor is Barred Rock pullet No. 2, owned by A. Penington of Agassiz, with 212 eggs.

Pullet No. 3 has laid small eggs, however, and is far behind on points in the current contest with only 201.7. Ranking No. 10, a White Leghorn, leads with 219.6 points, although she has laid only 200 eggs.

CHINESE GAZED AT THE RIVER FROM BRIDGE

When Last Seen Was Excited and Would Not Talk

SUICIDE THE THEORY HELD

Constable Gilker Sums Up Facts in His Report

A detailed report by Provincial Constable R. C. Gilker of the Kaslo detachment, on the disappearance last Saturday of Kwong Yip Ming, Chinese cook of the Canadian Pacific bridge and building gang, now located at Poplar on the Lardeau subdivision received at the headquarters here, bears out the early theory that the oriental had become mentally unbalanced and committed suicide by jumping into the Lardeau river.

The officer obtained statements from G. McLean, foreman of the "B. & B" gang, Nels Anderson, a member of the gang, and Nick Olynyk, a prospector, which between them summed up the last known of Ming.

WAS "ACTING STRANGE"

Mr. McLean, after describing the discovery that the cook was missing, the finding of his two slop pails on the footbridge over the Lardeau river, and the unavailing search for him, mentioned that though his contact with the cook was not close, and was confined to meal-times, he had figured for a couple of weeks that Ming was acting strange, though it had not occurred to him that the man was mentally unbalanced.

Anderson in his statement said he had known the missing man for two years, and for the last three weeks his health and habits had not been normal. Anderson's contact with Ming was evidently close, as his description of the day's events showed he had carried in wood and water for the cook-car about 8:30 a.m., and after this was employed in scrubbing the sleeping car, finding, on his return to the cook-car at 10 o'clock, that the Chinese was missing.

INTENT ON WATER

Olynyk was the last person to see Ming alive, his statement describing how, on crossing the footbridge over the Lardeau toward Poplar about 8:30, he saw a Chinaman leaning against the railing, and looking toward the middle of the river. Returning from Poplar about 15 minutes later he saw the Chinaman in the same position, apparently excited. Spoken to, the Chinaman made no answer. That night he used the bridge again, and noticed the emptied pails still on the bridge.

It is presumed that the Chinese jumped into the river not long after Olynyk saw him, for a general search for him was in progress right after 10 o'clock.

Constable Gilker in his report stated he had learned that on June 1 Ming took his blankets and spare clothing out of the cook-car and burned them, and also endeavored to give away his watch.

While nothing definite has been decided as to the lineups, most of the following players are expected to form the Nelson squad: Frank Kraft, Roy Anderson, George Stewart, Tom Crack, Pat Duffy, Dennis Ball, Steve Scott, Bill Kirby, Austin Brennan, Bud Cooper, Emerson Brubaker, Pete Lutkwich, Sid Ball, Sam Pasacreta, Carl Galliseano, and Ted Anderson.

PIONEER TO BE BURIED IN EAST

Edwin Allen a Miner, Railroader, and Mason

Edwin James Allen, who died in Kootenay Lake General hospital Monday night at the age of 68, was one of the pioneers who made the Kootenay-Boundary territory, it now develops.

In his early days he was a locomotive engineer in Quebec, working on the same railway system with L. H. Choquette and his brother, who were station agents in that province.

A quarter of a century ago he was a miner in Phoenix, and was well known in the Boundary mining camps.

Eleven years ago he came to Nelson, living in retirement, but having many friends. It is stated that he was a man of sturdy independence of character, who made it a point of honor never to accept help from others, though always generous himself. Recently, contrary to the tenor of his life, he was obliged to accept civic relief.

He was a life member of the Masonic lodge of Waterloo, Ont.

Wednesday E. S. Somers, undertaker, received instructions from Vancouver to ship the body to Waterloo, accompany it there, and conduct the funeral.

Mr. Allen was unmarried, but is survived by a brother, George Allen, in San Gabriel, Cal., and a sister, Mrs. A. E. Parmelee, in New York.

WIFE'S DELIGHT AT HUSBAND'S LOSS

30 Pounds of Fat!

Here is something that all wives of fat men will be glad to know. It is the experience of a woman whose husband recently weighed 230 pounds. She writes:

"I really feel I must write and tell you that, after taking Kruschen Salts for nearly three months, my husband has got his weight down from 230 pounds to 200 pounds. This has been achieved by nothing else but Kruschen. I am too heavy also, and I started taking Kruschen only three weeks ago. Already I have got down from 153 pounds to 144 pounds. We are delighted."—(Mrs.) C.

Kruschen combats the cause of fat by assisting the internal organs to perform their functions properly—to throw off each day those waste products and poisons which, if allowed to accumulate, will be converted by the body's chemistry into fatty tissue. ***

SHAKESPEARE ACTS PLEASE

Club Provides a Fine Program at the St. Paul's

Unique in program entertainments, four acts from famous Shakespearian plays, were presented before a large audience in St. Paul's hall Tuesday night by the Shakespearian club. The club's purpose of reviving some of the old literary gems was fully realized and the members of the cast showed a fine sense of amateur dramatics.

The first act was a garden scene taken from Richard II and was based on the breaking of the news of Richard's depostal to the Queen. Mrs. J. A. Gibson carried the role of queen in an able manner and was supported by her two ladies-in-waiting, Miss Helen Ferguson and Miss Maud Dolphin. The two gardeners, Norman Gansner and Donald Bunyan, who bore the news to the queen also received applause for their part in the scene.

Vocal numbers given between the acts, proved a pleasant break in the program, Mrs. John Gansner giving two vocal selections, "Who is Sylvia," and "Hark, Hark the Lark," at the conclusion of the first.

The second scene was that from Hamlet, Prince of Denmark, in which he gives his soliloquy. Hamlet, taken by Leo Gansner, is still mourning the death of his father, whose place has been taken by late King's brother, and the actor brought out in realistic manner the feeling of the part. David Scott took the part of the King and Mrs. J. Dolphin that of the queen. Her attendants were Miss Maud Dolphin, Miss Helen Ferguson, and Norman Gansner and the pages Eleanor, Frank and Catherine Paddon who appear in the court room of the palace. The curtain was lowered at the close of Hamlet's soliloquy following which an instrumental trio, Mrs. T. J. S. Ferguson, pianist, Miss Helen Ferguson, violin and Gordon Ferguson, cornet, gave selections. Their numbers were "Chant Sans Paroles," and "A Song of Old Madrid."

A second scene from Hamlet portrayed by the players depicted the meeting of Hamlet and Ophelia, prearranged by the King. The King is desirous of knowing whether it is the estrangement of Hamlet and Ophelia that is the unhappy cause of Hamlet's apparent madness. He and Polonius are concealed behind the curtains to witness the meeting. This too proved a gem of acting. Miss Ada Brown took the dole of Ophelia, Leo Gansner, Hamlet, David Scott, King, and Bain Oliver, Polonius.

At the close of Hamlet's speech to Ophelia, Norman Beattie sang "O Mistress Mine," and "Passing By."

The concluding act, that from the Merchant of Venice, portrayed the "ring episode" in three scenes.

In the first Portia gives to Bassanio a ring commanding him to neither give, nor sell nor lose it. Bassanio swears he will keep it until death. Mrs. F. Paddon, enacting the role of Portia, and Leo Gansner, that of Bassanio, privided a wealth of entertainment. The famous Venice court-room scene followed. Bain Oliver, took the part of Antonio upon whom the demand for the forfeit of a pound of flesh is made by the Jews, played by David Scott. Both young actors threw themselves into the play with a zest. The Duke of Venice, W. G. C. Lanskail, opened the court scene. The part of Nerissa, lady-in-waiting, was taken by Maud Dolphin, that of Gratiano by Donald Bunyan and that of Salanio by Leo Gansner. The two latter actors provided the repartee with which the scene is interspersed. The scene which features the surrendering of the ring gave the final touch.

The curtain rose on the assembled company and the play ended with "God Save the King." Costumes fititng the characters completed the atmosphere of the program. Mrs. Frances Wheeler and Mrs. T. J. S. Ferguson acted as accompanists.

MOST DARING ACT IN THE WORLD

MABEL STARK, WORLD FAMOUS TRAINER

In the most thrilling and breathtaking wild animal display in history, Mabel Stark, the world's greatest wild animal trainer, is again electrifying, in person, the vast audiences of the Great Al G. Barnes Circus.

Miss Stark is the most fearless woman of the age. The sight of her entering the great circular all-steel arena with a score of wild and ferocious tigers — fourteen tons of jungle fury, with only a whip and chair in hand to make the brutes work at her command, is a thrill never before offered in the land of sawdust and spangles.

She has experienced many narrow escapes from death, yet her greatest delight lies, it seems, in training newly imported beasts direct from the jungle, because they are more ferocious and treacherous. Over two-thirds of the animals used by Miss Stark this season are new arrivals from Africa and India.

Scores of other thrilling acts will be found on the colossal program of this famous circus coming to NELSON, SAT., JUNE 16, AT RECREATION GROUNDS and among them, the great "Poodles" Hanneford, the riding clown, and the Imperial Clarkonian troupe of amazing aerialists. All together, over 200 acts, displays, and novelty numbers go to make the gigantic program.

Trail From Day To Day

BY A. R. J.

Do chuckers make ball teams? Yes and no.

When the Trail Indians played the Rossland senior ball team here on Thursday evening there were indications that chuckers do and don't.

Lefty Fairburn, outfielder of the Trail senior club, pitched four innings, the opposition team collecting only two runs in the first inning, one of them being chalked up due to an error. Lefty didn't pitch such a terribly fast ball, but had good control and a certain amount of "stuff."

Nels, the Rossland chucker, had to strike out four men in the first inning to retire the side.

On two strikeouts the batters reached first safely.

Some old ball players standing alongside the diamond agreed that the Indians would not have won without Fairburn's aid.

On the other hand, had Rossland's battery been a little more in tune, the final score might have been different.

Nels, one of those broad, raw-boned built hurlers, certainly met with approval of fans who watched him pitch. He has a terribly fast ball, which he doesn't always use, and a style which that he "est la!"

And those that know something about him, say they have seen him chuck that ball at comet speed for fourteen innings, without tiring.

ISSUE 92 AUTO PLATES, TRAIL

TRAIL, June 13—Total of 952 car licences has been issued at the provincial police office here this year to date, exceeding the registration last year.

Drivers' licences number 1350, of which 1237 are white licences and the remainder yellow and blue. One hundred chauffeurs' licences have been issued.

That there are at least 345 Isaac Waltons here is indicated by the issuing of that number of fishing licences.

BURDEN OF MINISTERS

A cabinet minister at Ottawa is quoted as protesting against the inordinate demands made upon his time by individuals with private objects in view. The minister's name is not given, but it does not matter. Any one of his cabinet collegues might justly have made the same protest.

It is doubtful whether individuals in other countries would dare to intrude private requests on cabinet ministers to any such extent as is done in Canada. It is more than 20 years since Sir George Murray in his report to the Borden government on governmental machinery commented upon the unreasonable burden placed on cabinet ministers by being thus distracted by politics from the serious duties of administration. Instead of lessening this burden has increased, more particularly in recent years, with more people than ever looking for aid in some form from members of the government.

Ministers of the present government at Ottawa have been kept at work under tremendous pressure ever since they took office in 1930. On any occasion when they have tried to get away for a few days from the strain, one of them now states, it has been with difficulty that the patronage army has been eluded. One minister's experience of being telephoned at midnight with the request from an influential citizen to obtain a position for a relative is doubtless no worse than the experience of others similarly besieged.

British cabinet ministers have long ago learned how to set up a system of outer defences against such intrusion. The British people have been weaned away from political patronage very largely by the stern attitude of public authorities against it. Any attempt to bring such influence to bear will generally be held against the applicant. Public opinion in Great Britain has gradually come to regard the patronage hunter as being little better than a grafter. When patronage in Canada is similarly held in contempt cabinet ministers and other elected representatives as well, may be relieved of part of the intolerate burden they at present have to bear.

Girl in the Family

By BEATRICE BURTON

CHAPTER XVIII

Thursday was Anna Oberg's afternoon off duty each week, but she had asked Aunt Edna for the Friday following New Year's day because the Scandinavian Social Center was holding its New Year's ball on Friday night.

"We would like to have it on New Year's night, like it should be, but we cannot," Anna explained to Aunt Edna. "So many of our people have to work that night—they be cooks and chauffeurs—because it is a holiday. They cannot get off so good on holidays.

The ball was the high point of Anna's entire year. For weeks she had been getting ready for it. She had made a dress for it, a satin dress of great gloss and pinkness. She had dyed a pair of stockings to match it, and she had bought lace mitts and a pair of gray satin slippers.

Dressed in these things she tapped on the panels of Susan's bedroom door on Friday afternoon and asked her if she would let her have just a drop or two of wood-violet toilet water for the center of her handkerchief.

"How you think I look?" she asked Susan, but her whole face showed that she knew, without asking, that she was magnificent. The dress was a little too tight but her figure—the ample deep-bosomed figure of a blonde Norse goddess—was so good that no one would notice that, Susan decided.

Susan told her that she was beautiful. "Herbst will never bring you back here tonight after he sees you, Anna,' she assured her solemnly. "He'll take you straight to Mr. Bjorne's house to be married." Mr. Bjorne was the pastor of Anna's church, and for years Anna had been planning to have her wedding at his house.

"Never would I get married by the justice of the peace," she had often said to Susan. "Christine Altringer, mine friend, and her man got married in the justice office, and before they are one year married they are in the divorce court downtown. There is no luck when you do not get married by the pastor, I think."

She shook her smooth blond head now. "No, I be not marry Herbst for a long time. I stay here until you get married and John get married. It will not be very long, I think, and I save up a little more money for my wedding. Herbst is poor and he has his old mother to take care of."

She smoothed down the front of her dress placidly while Susan looked at her and wondered how she would take her dismissal from the house when Aunt Edna paid her off on Saturday. She would understand, of course, that they could no longer afford to keep her on, and she would not even resent their failure to give her two weeks' notice after her long years of service She was like that. But she would be heart-broken about going; Susan knew that there was no pretense about her affection for herself and John. Only love, the genuine article, could have made her work for the two of them as she always had.

At 6 o'clock that night the telephone rang, and Susan who was setting the table with the old Harland china, hurried to answer it.

"Susan?—Miss Susan?" It was Anna's voice, full of distress. "What you think I do? I leave my pocketbook on the Pearl street car when I come by Scandinavian hall! My key was in it. How am I going to get in when I come home tonight?"

There was only one key to the back door of the house and Anna had locked the door that afternoon when she went out. Susan had tried to open it a few moments before to set the milk bottles out upon the brick porch for Herbst to collect when he came in the morning.

Well, let's see, Anna. The back door is locked," she said. "But I'll tell you what I can do—I can see that the side door is left unlocked for you. I'll ask Mr. Sholes not to lock it when he comes in tonight."

Anna thanked her profusely, and Susan went back to the kitchen, leaving the door of it open so that she could hear Allen if he came in and speak to him about the door.

Through the opening she could see the side door with its uncurtained pane of glass, and she kept glancing at it as she moved around the kitchen, slicing the cold goose that was left from New Year's dinner, opening a jar of spiced currant jelly (without which nobody ever ate roast goose according to Aunt Edna), cutting the bread, getting the butter from the ice box and making it into little balls. The mashed potatoes were ready on the back of the stove, the coffee was bubbling in the pot, and on the pantry shelf stood the bowl of quivering blanc mange that Anna had made that afternoon before she left.

"The Brodericks' table hasn't shown any signs of the family poverty yet," Susan observed dryly to herself, filling the battered silver water pitcher at the sink. She wished that Aunt Edna would let her do the ordering of meals for a while. It wasn't necessary for people to have these heavy meals three times a day, with jams and jellies and conserves on the side.

She went into the dining room and filled the heavy cut glass water goblets on the long table. As she opened the swinging door to the kitchen she heard a light tapping on the side door and, looking down through the rear hall, she could see that someone was standing just outside.

Thinking it was Allen Sholes, she ran down the stairs at the end of the hall and threw open the door. Against the darkness stood Mr. Melton who came to the house every month or six weeks to sell Uncle Worthy the beverage that he called his "bitters" when he took it after meals, and "Christmas cheer" when he poured it into the egg nog for the Christmas day reception.

"Boss home?" asked Mr. Melton of Susan, his voice a hoarse whisper in the wind that came tearing around the corner of the house. His lips barely moved when he spoke, his soft gray hat was pulled down over his eyes and in his arms he held a small square burlap bags that smelled moldy when Uncle Worthy opened them in his office and took out the bottles.

"Yes, he's at home. I'll get him," said Susan, and with a glance over his shoulder at his dark automobile standing in the driveway behind him, Mr. Melton stepped into the house.

Well, well, well—who says it's hot? Why it is so warm that they will have an awful time keeping the polar bear supplied with ice at the circus on Saturday. That is one I heard down town yesterday afternoon from Joe Fairburn. Thanks, Joe, old boy. Hope you enjoyed your dinner.

Here and there between the heat waves—Nick Cassios bawling me out on behalf of Sarkis Terzian—and Sarkin smiling and keeping on his path—J. E. Annable remarking that the cigar store did not stock his particular brand of cigars—"Lick" Fleming driving an auto down a back alley—Harold Curran splashing paint on his "gas shovel" after an overhaul—And getting ready to move the 22-ton machine to Nelway for roadwork—Dr. John Gansner running down the street—Practising for the Bugle band marathon on July 1, Doc?—Rev. A. C. Pound of Nakusp in town on his way home to Nakusp from the Oxford group meeting at Banff—And it reminds me of a time his good wife was helping the editorial department out on some W.M.S. report or some other reports to do with the United church organization—She had entered the editorial room unheralded and unannounced, and proceeded up to a reporter who had his back turned and did not see her—Said reporter had for the moment lost some valuable notes and was rummaging through a waste paper basket—He was cussing mildly—and then louder and louder—unaware of the lady's presence—Getting the low-down from a fellow reporter he turned about—Was his face red—Well before he could sputter an apology—or even say a word—the good wife of the clergyman in a tactful way said—"I always heard they had printers' devils in the newspaper offices—Are you one?"—And then everyone laughed—That is what I call a good comeback—an easy way out of a somewhat awkward situation.

The other morning when my good wife got up she went to the door to get the paper—She reads the Daily News at times—and sometimes even glances at this column. After opening the door she discovered a fine bouquet of red roses carefully placed on the door step and between the door and screen door—She naturally put them in water and accused me of leaving them there—Well those days of leaving flowers for one's wife—Have gone a long time ago—except on special occasions—and I pleaded not guilty—So the roses remain a deep mystery. However, if they were delivered with a good motive, I should worry, but I am guessing a little myself. Said roses are doing nicely yet.

And continuing to dodge heat waves I ran into E. W. T. Andrews in confab—and am willing to bet they were leaving shortly for the Rotary meeting in Trail—

And everyone interested in cricket was amazed to see the walloping Australia gave England in the test match. The other morning about 4 a.m. I was guest of William Brown in Fairview and heard part of the matches by short-wave radio. It was fine and one could hear the ball hit plainly—And W. S. King, so I heard— phoned Mr. Brown around 6 o'clock the other morning for the test match results—And I wonder if he was out for a walk around about that time distributing roses at doorsteps of his friends.

WHAT THE PRESS IS SAYING

COURIER'S BIRTHDAY

With this issue The Courier commences its sixteenth year, happy in the thought that it has been of some value to the community. The main purpose of a newspaper is to get to the people the facts, and get them straight and true; and to make comment on or analyze these facts as they affect principal problems, and have that analysis, however istaken from others' viewpoint, honest, accurate and fearless. A policy of this nature, however, is bound to bring down the wrath of certain individuals, and as a result The Courier has been at times called other than a gentleman.

There could hardly be anything more terrible in a community than a newspaper that toadied or groveled, fawned or scraped, to any section or part of its reader family. Although a newspaper is an intensely human affair it cannot legitimately pursue a policy for the mere purpose of public commendation any more than it may avoid following a course it believes to be righteous because of criticism or abuse. It must depend for its support upon the public conviction that its purpose is just. The ultimate aim is not to think for people but arouse them to think for themselves.—Cranbrook Courier.

FIFTY YEARS OLD

Hearty congratulations are due to The Victoria Times on the attainment of its jubilee. Since it became well established, and that was shortly after its inception, it has been indelibly associated with the progress of Victoria and with the political life of the province. It set out in its first editorial that it would be guided in the public interest by the courage of its convictions. It has never departed from this conception of where its duty lies. The consequences is that it has won a wide circle of supporters and cor-

Our contemporary has always been fearless in its expression of opinion. A mainstay of its editorial strength, as in the case of all newspapers that survive, has been continuity of policy. Staunchly Liberal in its politics it has given substantial guidance to that party, but has not hesitated to criticize its course when there was any tendency to deviate from constitutional fundamentals.

Its outrightness, its championship of what it believes are principles that make for popular welfare, its sound and sane presentment of facts and its enterprise in the news field have meant its continued success as a publication that has won an established place in the life of the community.

The Colonist in extending to The Times all good wishes on the attainment of its jubilee joins with them the hope that it will go from strength to strength in the maintenance of the sound principles of newspaper work which it has exemplified through the years.—Victoria Colonist.

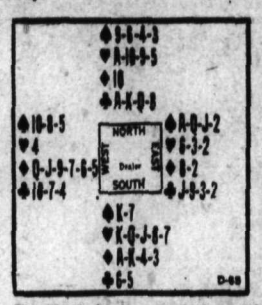
MILTON C. WORK

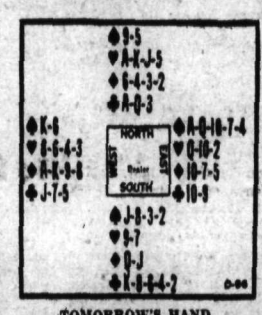
MAKING TRUMPS SEPARATELY

One point of skill which the expert Declarer develops is the ability to use the trumps in dummy and closed hand on separate tricks (sometimes called a cross ruff), and thus to get the full advantage of them. This is illustrated by the following duplicate hand which was played recently:



The North-South pairs had no difficulty in reaching a contract of six Hearts, and at every table West's opening lead was the Queen of Diamonds (never was the advantage of the Queen lead from Queen-Jack-9 better exemplified). At most of the tables, South won, led three rounds of trumps to exhaust the adverse trumps and then the Ace, King and Queen of Clubs, discarding a Diamond from the closed hand. After that, a Spade was led and, the Ace of Spades being fortunately located, the small slam was succesafully made.

At one table, however, the Declarer showed the advantage of playing the hand with the idea of utilizing all the trumps. Trick 1 was taken by closed hand's King of Diamonds and on trick 2 a small Diamond was led from closed hand and ruffed with dummy's Nine of Hearts. To trick 3, a small trump was led from dummy, won in closed hand, and to trick 4 a second small Diamond ruffed with dummy's Ace. Trick 5, dummy's last trump was led, closed hand overtook and drew the last adverse trump. The Declarer now appreciated that if one adverse hand had four Clubs and the Ace of Spades, it could be effectively squeezed and an extra trick produced. If not, South's small Spade could be discarded with safety and no risk taken of losing two Spade tricks, as happened at the other tables. Consequently, the Declarer exhausted his trumps and then led the Ace of Diamonds discarding the four Spades from dummy. This reduced all hands to a holding of four cards and made it impossible for East to retain the Ace of Spades and four Clubs, which were essential in order to keep North from running four Club tricks. Consequently, no matter which horn of the dilemma East grasped, the Declarer took every trick.



TOMORROW'S HAND

How many tricks should Declarer (South) take with Clubs the trump?

THAT BODY OF YOURS

By JAMES W. BARTON, M.D.

TANNIC ACID FOR BED SORES—DECUBITUS

A few years ago physicians were unable to save the life of a patient with severe burns, owing to extreme shock. Today thousands of lives are saved yearly because of the use of tannic acid, which prevents severe infection and shock.

One of the distressing conditions which sometimes occurs in invalids is bed sores or decubitus as it is called.

These sores are caused by pressure, which in turn interferes with the circulation and nutrition in the part. The soft tissues over bony parts like the hip, shoulder, ankle, ribs, or other bones are often affected. As the blood cannot circulate properly "death" of the tissue may occur and an ulcer form.

The usual method of trying to prevent bedsores has been to rub the parts with alcohol; once the sores are present various ointments—zinc, scarlet red, and silver nitrate solution—have been used.

Dr. Earl O. Latimer, Chicago, observing the great similarity of bed sores to burns, got the idea that tannic acid might be as helpful in bedsores as it is in burns.

The treatment was successful and is so simple that Dr. Latimer in an article in the Journal of the American Medical association advocates its more general use. A fresh 5 per cent solution in water—a little less than a level teaspoonful to the ounce of water—is the usual strength.

Treatment is begun at the first sign of any redness or disturbance preferably before the skin is broken. The wound and surrounding skin are cleansed and any crusts or broken down skin are removed.

If a blister is present it is carefully removed under antiseptic precautions.

Any sores that may be kept exposed to the air are sprayed every hour with tannic acid solution, and between treatments the region is kept exposed to dry heat from electric lights or an electric hair dryer.

Sores or wounds that must be dressed to be kept clean or to prevent direct pressure, are covered with fresh gauze, which is kept saturated with the tannic acid solution.

Treatment is continued until a heavy "coat" is formed, usually within 24 to 48 hours.

Healing occurs as in burns, and as the "coat" separates at the edge it is clipped away.

It is only in very severe types of infection and where bone itself is involved that the tannic acid met' d is not considered advisable.

NEW MEADOWBROOK ROAD IS TALK EAST KOOTENAY; GRADES ARE EASY

Fine, Broad Highway Winds Through Beautiful Country in Rockies

By MAY HOWE DAKIN

KIMBERLEY, June 13. —Hearing considerable talk about the new Meadowbrook road, I drove out there.

Last time I was on that road it was a rather rough and rutty trail. I found this time a fine broad road, with easy grades and banked curves winding through beautiful country.

It is the pleasantest and prettiest drive near Kimberley. Across the wide valley the Rockies lift their snow-streaked summits and, far on the other side, the lower range of the Selkirks. Woods fresh with June and wild roses blooming in masses line the road.

Several miles out we met the grader with Fred Bains aboard. He built this road and credit is due him for his good work. Kimberley is particularly interested in the road because it connects up with the National highway, with Windermere, Banff and Golden. The road has been completed except for a connecting link, between two and three miles ending at Wasa Junction. When this is finished the People of Kimberley will have the privilege of a first class road to Windermere, Banff and Golden. And not only this but it will give Kimberley her share of the tourist travelling this way.

The business men and residents think we are entitled to that.

Oxford Group Party an Inspiring One

Rev. A. C. Pound Returns From Banff; Teams to Visit Kootenay

Describing the Oxford Group house party at Banff as one of the most thrilling adventures he had yet experienced, Rev. A. C. Pound was in Nelson Wednesday on his way back to Nakusp. With him were Mrs. Pound and E. W. Bill.

The Oxford Group gatherings at Banff brought the largest number of people together, at one time in the history of Banff, stated Mr. Pound and at the night meetings well over 100 persons were in attendance. While the Okanagan and coast points were well represented the Kootenay country did not have a very large gathering at the Banff meetings, however, among those from this district and East Kootenay to attend were Rev. R. E. Cribb, Kimberley, Rev. J. Clark Stewart, Windermere, Rev. and Mrs. A. C. Pound, Nakusp, E. W. Bill, Mr. and Mrs. E. Oxenham, Miss Margaret Allen, Nakusp and Mrs. G. Mauchline of Arrow Park.

Mr. Pound explained that the aim of the Oxford House party was to raise up leadership adequate to meet an urgent world situation; to apply the principles of the New Testament to modern life and to plan for spiritual reconstruction in every land. A feature was the introduction of an universal interdenominational world-wide program taking in all churches, sexes and creeds as a maximum for Christ.

GROUP GROWS

The Oxford group is growing continually said the Nakusp pastor and the fact that 17 coaches carried delegates from B. C. to Banff attested to this. There were 200 delegates from the United States with 100 experts from all parts of the world.

"I think the meetings were a great success and I hope the people of the Kootenays will become interested in the movement," said Mr. Pound. "It is only by personal contact that one becomes aware of the goodness of the movement. However, Kootenay people will be able to get first hand information in September and October when some teams will visit the district."

What interested Mr. Pound in particular was the daily newspaper published at the group house party. He has copies of all these in his possession. It was edited by a well known Montreal daily newspaper editor.

N.Y. MARKET IN RETREAT

By FREDERICK GARDNER
Associated Press Financial Writer

NEW YORK, June 13 (AP)—After pushing ahead quietly in the forenoon, the stock market retreated with wheat today.

A decline of more than 4 cents a bushel in wheat touched off selling in J. I. Case, and other stocks which usually move with the grain market and discouraged buying in other sections of the list. Final prices were mixed but some sizeable gains were retained to the close.

Steel shares held steady, finishing about unchanged. Sugar stocks perked up on strength of the raw product. American sugar touched a new 1934 peak above 61, ending a point higher. American Beet Sugar, South Puerto Rico and Cuban American picked up gains of fractions to more than a point.

Metal shares ran into profit-taking after making further gains on the stock exchange.

Sales totalled 882,015 shares.

SHARP CLIMB IN ORANGES

Big Demand Sends Up Prices; Lemons Advance

Orange prices advanced sharply on the wholesale market Wednesday following an unusual demand and warmer weather. A number of commodities were also affected by the tie-up in the shipping business across the line. Lemons were up slightly.

New potatoes are on the market from the coast and some from the Okanagan. Bunched beets, bunched carrots and onions are being supplied locally. Wholesalers during the past week received four cars of mixed groceries, two cars of canned goods, one of sugar and one of watermelons. The grocery market is steady with an increasing demand for fruit jars and accessories.

Meat sales are holding steadily with the demand shifting from fresh to preserved and smoked meats as the season advances. Egg prices are unchanged although there is still a supply shortage locally.

WHEAT CLOSES AT DAY'S LOW

CHICAGO, June 13 (AP)—Collapsing of prices in the wheat market today went hand in hand with expansion of harvest operations southwest and with lively profit-taking in corn.

A wave of selling in the last half hour pulled values down 5 cents a bushel.

Wheat closed heavy at the day's extreme low point, 2⅞ to 3⅜ cents under yesterday's finish, corn ¼ to ⅜ down, oats ⅜ to ⅝ off, and provisions varying from 2 cents decline to a rise of 10 cents.

THREE CARS JAM LEAVE THE CITY

Three cars of jam left the McDonald Jam company's plant during the past week for the prairies and the employees are busy putting up strawberries and gooseberries.

TORONTO MINING LOSSES NARROW

TORONTO, June 13 (CP)—Narrow losses predominated on the mining section of the Toronto exchange today as the list kept in step with the unsteady industrial markets.

San Antonio took a quick descent to 5.10 where it steadied and recovered to 5.20, off 25 net. Sylvanite lost 6 cents and other recessions of 1 to 3 cents appeared for Ventures, St. Anthony, Macassa, Maple Leaf, McVittie, McWatters, Kirkland Lake, God's Lake, Bobjo, and Ashley. Howey was heavily purchased on a rise of 5 to 1.33. Gunnar Gold also advanced 5.

Advances of 5 to 25 were recorded for Pioneer, Dome and McIntyre while Lake Shore lost 50 cents. Bear Exploration lost 2 and Eldorado 8. Noranda dropped 10.

BONDS IRREGULAR

NEW YORK, June 13 (AP)—U. S. treasury securities forged ahead today while corporation bonds turned moderately irregular. Transfers amounted to $15,253,00, par value.

Gains in treasury loans ranged from 3-32nds to 13-32nds of a point with a turnover of $4,900,000. Reports the reich's current financial crisis might result in a default of interest on the young plans 5½s and Dawes 7s brought losses of 2¾ and 3½ points, respectively, in these loans. Remaining foreign obligations were mixed.

WHEAT LOWER AT WINNIPEG

WINNIPEG, June 13 (CP)—Grain traders put stress on the forecast of further rains over western Canada where weather was generally cloudy and cool today and wheat prices reflected the continued improvement in crop conditions with net declines of 1⅛ to 1½ cents.

July wheat closed at 76⅞, October at 78⅞ and December at 79⅞ cents.

A little buying by export interests constituted the bulk of the purchasing power and on the whole the volume of trade in the pit was small. Liverpool ended ⅝ to ¾d higher, while Chicago had a similar trend to Winnipeg and closed at the bottom, off nearly two cents.

Cash grains trading was uninteresting while coarse grains followed wheat downhill.

Strain of Big Season Aggravated His Condition

WINNIPEG, June 13 (CP) — Rushed to hospital in a state of coma, Charlie Gardiner, peerless net minder for the Chicago Black Hawks, in the National hockey league, died here today following a brain hemorrhage. He was 30 years of age.

Physicians attending the net wizard said he was suffering from nephritis of the stomach and kidneys and had been ill at his home for several days. At a loss to diagnose his condition, they ordered him to hospital.

It was believed his conditions was aggravated by the strenuous season in the National hockey league in which he played no small part in winning for his team mates the Stanley cup. His sterling performance in the nets won for him the treasured Vezina, trophy, awarded the most valuable goalie in the league.

A product of Winnipeg's "corner rinks," Gardiner graduated into senior amateur hockey and made his first bid for major recognition with the Winnipeg Maroons in the American Hockey association, in 1927. The following year he was drafted to the Chicago Black Hawks where his superb game in the nets made hockey history.

He carried on his duties in the Hawks' nets last season while suffering from inflammation of the kidneys.

When he returned home he was ordered to take a complete rest. The strain of inactivity, however, began to weary the curly-haired goalie and, disregarding orders, he plunged into his usual round of activities.

The strain proved too great and a few days ago he became ill. At home he collapsed into a state of coma. Physicians were consulted and at first were puzzled and after a thorough examination ordered him to hospital. He entered St. Boniface hospital early today. Late this afternoon he lapsed into a state of coma from which he never rallied.

IS SHOCK AT EDMONTON

EDMONTON, June 13 (CP) — Death of Charlie Gardiner, Chicago Black Hawks goalkeeper, came as a terrific shock to members of the Hawks residing here and to other players who had been with Gardiner in the early days of Chicago's entry into the National hockey league.

Russell "Barney" Stanley, former manager of the Chicago Black Hawks, was instrumental in having Gardiner enter professional hockey. Stanley, in 1926, signed Gardiner to play with the Winnipeg Maroons. Then in the summer of 1927, he signed Gardiner to a Chicago contract.

"Ever since that time," Stanley said tonight, "Chuck has played a marvelous game in goal for the Black Hawks. I always found him to be one of the finest boys in hockey and a clean-living sportsman, a man you could always depend upon."

"That's a terrific shock to me," said Gordon B. "Duke" Keats, manager of the Edmonton Eskimos in the northwest professional league. "I was very close to Chuck when we were both playing on the Chicago team. He was one of the greatest goalies that ever lived. His death will be a terrific blow to the Hawks.

"I have only been three years with the Hawks," said Roger Jenkins, partner of Lionel Conacher on the Chicago defence, "but during those years I got to know and appreciate to the full Chuck Gardiner. He was a real man and a man who was always good to the newcomers. Last season was my first to play regularly in front of him. He was the greatest goalkeeper in the world. I am awfully sorry to hear of his death."

Louis Trudel and Johnny Sheppard, other members of the Hawks were also shocked by news of Gardiner's sudden passing.

Chuck Is Dead

Above is a reproduction of a recent photograph of Charlie Gardiner, known wherever hockey is played, as the lad who contributed so much, in his capacity of net-minder, to the success of the Chicago Black Hawks last season. He died in Winnipeg late yesterday.

Patrick Shocked at Death of the Famous "Chuck"

VANCOUVER, June 13 (CP)—"I bet if there ever has been a more popular player in hockey than Charlie Gardiner, and his passing comes as a tremendous shock to me," Frank Patrick, managing-director of the National Hockey league, said tonight when informed of the death at Winnipeg of the star Chicago Black Hawk goalie.

"Charlie was one of the finest fellows I have ever known," Patrick added, "and his loss will be felt not only by his teammates and other hockey players but by his many friends from coast to coast."

SPORT PUFFS

WHAT IS NEWS?

A splendid illustration of that old wise-crack about a dog biting a man not being news is to be seen in the way sports editors now treat stories of victories of the Edmonton Grads girls' basketball team.

When the men's teams go into the finals for only the Canadian title, they rate columns of ballyhoo in advance and big headlines announcing the winners.

When Edmonton Grads, after winning the Canadian title, defend the North American championship twice in one season, there is hardly a line in advance in any papers outside of Edmonton, and when they win, as they invariably do, it is barely mentioned.

It is simply that it is no longer news when they win. They have been doing it so consistently for the past 13 years that we can now change our example to young cub reporters to: "When Edmonton Grads win, that's not news; but if Edmonton Grads lose, that IS news."

THE MAN BEHIND

J. Percy Page, it is recalled, was the driving force behind the Commercial high school team of 1914-15 which became known as the original Grads the following spring. In 1922 they travelled east to pick up their first Dominion championship and the following year annexed the international crown.

For the past 13 years they have been hanging up national and international titles with monotonous regularity. This season Grads routed Windsor Alumnae in three straight games to win their 13th Canadian title and followed this up by defeating Chicago Spencer Coals to retain their international title.

The Windsor girls were outscored 188 to 80 in the Dominion final. Gladys Fry, Margaret MacBurney and "Babe" Belanger, veteran front-line sharpshooter, accounted for the majority of points.

SKILL IS THE THING

Grads are now defending the international title for the second time this season against Tulsa Stenographers and while only two in a five-game series have been played as these comments are made, there doesn't seem to be any doubt that it'll be the Grads' series. Apparently the Edmonton team is having a little more difficulty than usual against the United States champions, but in both games it was the skill that comes with careful practice and training that gave the Grads those margins.

Girls' basketball teams as a rule are extremely disappointing. Some excuse them by saying that girls can not move so lightly nor so quickly on the floor as men can and are much more easily rattled. The answer is to be found in the Grads. They CAN but they won't

"HOW DO WE LOOK?"

They won't forget themselves. They think of all the people watching them and try to keep from being seen in some un-lady-like posture. Or if they maqe a blunder, they get all upset and take a quarter of a game to recover from their embarrassment. They won't learn how to stand at ease waiting for a pass, so to make it look as though they had a hand in the game they all pile in at once on the ball. When they move down the floor, they worry more about how they look than about moving, with the result they run along stiff-legged, which not only makes them look worse but along with their heavy landing after a jump, tires them out twice as quickly.

The whole trouble hinges on their refusing to forget themselves and think only of the game and the ball. Grads do it, and so can any girls' team.

Modern "Umps" Have Pet Motions

(By AL DEMAREE)

"Cowboy" Weston, the billiard player, claims that he originated the practice of umpires raising their right hand to indicate strikes and left hands to designate balls called in baseball games. He says he starter it in Hot Springs, Ark., in 1906, when the crowd drowned him out and he hit on the idea of using his arms to make known his decisions.

Whether the "Cowboy" is right or wrong, the modern umpires have developed their arm technique to a science. Bill Klem is probably the most dramatic and the majestic motion of his arm when he calls a third strike is a poem of motion. Every umpire in the National and American league has developed some little motion of the arms, body or hands that is different from the others. An umpire that officiates at various deaf and dumb schools and institutions claims also that he originated the arm and hand system of strikes and balls. It was the only way the players and spectators could tell what his decisions were.

I would like to hear more on this subject and will be glad to hear from any reader what his views or experiences were along this line.

Answer to yesterday's question: The runner going in from third base was not out. It was necessary for the catcher to touch him with the ball because all the runners on bases ceased to be forced to advance the instant the man who hit the ball was retired at first base.

Today's question: What is a "Texas Leaguer"? Answer tomorrow.

"Winooka is a much better horse than he has shown himself in this country," Trainer Michael Polson said, "and I am deeply affected by his failure to run at least one race on a par with some of his best performances at home.

Uraemic Convulsions Took Goalie's Life

WINNIPEG, June 13 (CP)—A series of uraemic convulsions brought about the brain hemorrhage which resulted in the death of Charlie Gardiner, attending physicians disclosed here tonight.

W. W. G. MacIntosh who attended the great goalie at St. Boniface hospital, said there was no connection between the contributing cause and any possible injury suffered during a hockey contest.

"This condition," Dr. MacIntosh said, "originated in tonsular infection. Uraemic convulsions developed today and from this condition the hemorrhage resulted. There was also a trace of Bright's disease."

Carnera Suspected of Having Case of 'Jitters'

NEW YORK, June 13 (AP)—Peace and quiet was like the sudden descent of calm on a storm-tossed sea settled today about the hilarious duel of the daffydils, Max Baer and Primo Carnera, in Madison Square Garden's bowl on Long Island tomorrow night, for the world's heavyweight championship.

There was scarcely a disturbing note to break the unusual tranquility, aside from the bleat of the promoters that this return to normalcy had come too late to save the gate receipts for a show that should have drawn upward to $500,000 in customers, but now seems destined to notch a bare $300,000.

The training tricks of the huge champion, who has been suffering from chills and fever not entirely attributed to germs, and the playboy challenger Baer, were over. Max remembered for the first time that he wasn't playing the clown in a seven-reel comedy, very seriously packed his clothes and headed for New York in the evening from his training camp in Asbury Park, N.J.

Carnera, still suffering from a sore throat and suspected of having the jitters as the hour for the 15-round struggle neared, exercised lightly at his camp at Pompton Lakes, N.J., and stayed right there, planning to drive in tomorrow morning for the weighing in ceremonies at the New York state athletic commission offices at 12 noon, E.S.T.

The fact the champion came down with a cold and a slight sinus infection in the closing days of training gave no great stimulus to the hopes of his supporters, who have made him 7 to 5 favorite.

GRADS RETAIN THEIR CROWN

Beat Tulsa 48-41 for Third Straight Hoop Win

EDMONTON, June 13 (CP)—Edmonton Commercial Grads, international women's basketball champions since 1923, tonight retained their title by defeating the Tulsa, Oklahoma, Stenographers 48 to 41 in the final game of a three-out-of-five series.

Grads took the first two games 41 to 31, and 35 to 28.

Throughout the battle the score fluctuated continually and for practically all the game, no more than a few points separated the two great club, until the last few minutes of the sensational four quarters of play. Then, with about four minutes to go, the Grads shot into the lead and they won the ball game in decisive manner.

In those final, pulsating moments, the capacity crowd arose as one man cheering Grads to the echo. The arena was in a bedlam at the conclusion.

MAY GO OVERSEAS

Tonight's victory was all the sweeter as the Grads, who suffered defeat at the hands of Durant Cardinals last year, defeated, in winning over Tulsa, the team tha had, just recently, knocked over the Cardinals. Incidentayll, Grads lost in their series with Durant the chance to go overseas and defend their championship at the British Empire games in London.

Since that series, however, it has been reported the United States basketball association has been informed Durant cannot make the trip. Now there is a chance Grads, having decisively whipped the conquerors of Durant Cardinals, may be in line to make the trip.

his parents or himself?

Should educational facilities be extended free of charge to every youth until he reaches maturity?

In other words how far should the state go in the training of its youth mentally, morally, physically and economically? And how much should be left to the natural trend of a child's development?

These, and a hundred and one other questions, will be propounded for solution in connection with the survey of educational finances conducted by a special research committee acting under Hon. G. M. Weir, minister of education, and Hon. John Hart, minister of finance, during the next seven or eight months.

The investigation, Dr. Weir indicated, will stop with a formal presentation of the facts as they relate to costs of education and the division of the tax burden as on land in the municipalities and on general revenue of the province. While a settlement of this problem is the vital point of the survey, it will have a secondary object in the study of curricula, teaching methods, vocational guidance, and the other things associated with development of education.

No pains will be spared, the minister said, to make a thorough, scientific investigation of the entire educational field. The report, to be printed at the conclusion, will form the basis of future policies for a good many years and the best opinion available will go into it.

found missing under mysterious circumstances, the crown had made out a case today for the higher court and Magistrate A. G. Freeze made the committal.

NOTHING TO SAY

After hearing seven witnesses, this morning the crown closed its case and asked for a committal. The accused brothers were asked through the interpreter if they had anything to say and H. W. Galbraith, of Vernon, for accused, said they had nothing to say at this time.

Magistrate Freeze said sufficient evidence had been produced to warrant committal.

On request of the crown Henry Brown and Tommy Andrew, held as material witnesses, will be continued in custody unless they can find $5000 bail, each, until the assizes.

LAUGHS AT BOND

Joseph Edwards, the cripple, was bound over on his own recognizances in $500 to appear and give evidence at the trial. He said he would be there but laughed at signing a bond for $500.

Following Inspector Vance's scientific testimony last night when he pronounced as blood, stains found on 29 articles of clothing and other property submitted by the police, this morning's closing session was confined to linking up, in the police case, blood exhibits with accused persons.

At the outset, Mr. Nicholson, for the crown, stated that Joseph George, the fourth accused brother, was at present in St. Paul's hospital, Vancouver. He is being examined by Dr. Robert Crosbie and Dr. N. McDougall, eye and ear specialists, respectively on order of the department of Indian affairs and the attorney-general of British Columbia.

IS DEAF

Mr. Nicholson said that, in an interim report, both specialists had expressed the opinion that Joseph George was at present unable to hear and that further assistance in the form of medical history was required by them.

A remand in Joseph's case until June 21 at 8 p.m., was asked and granted by the court.

Taking up the lead of Inspector J. F. C. B. Vance's "blood" evidence, the crown this morning recalled Joseph Edwards, Henry Brown, Tommy Andrew, Charlie Jules and others.

They testified that shirts and other articles handled by Inspector Vance last night as he pointed out blood-stains and missing pieces of fabric were similar shirts to those worn by the different brothers on and about May 23 and 24.

FLASHLIGHT IDENTIFIED

The flashlight used by Gisbourne in the struggle between the two officers and Indians in Canford reserve was identified by the Indian witnesses.

Edwards recognized Richardson George's shirt by the soldier button on it. Shown an orange and a maroon colored shirt, he stated "That's Eneas dress," meaning shirt and "that's Alex's shirt."

Similar evidence was given by Henry Brown, who said the orange shirt produced in court with stains on was the same shirt worn by Eneas George in the alleged "death ride" in Gisbourne's police car on the night of the disappearance of the two constables.

"THAT'S THE ROCK"

Shown a rock, also stained with blood, according to Inspector Vance, Brown declared "That's the rock Richardson George hit Mr. Carr on the head with."

To Mr. Galbraith, witness said he identified Richardson George's shirt by a blood mark on the left sleeve. The logging chain found by Mrs. James McCreight he described as "the one" used to pull the car out of the ditch when the rope broke.

Tommy Andrews swore that the flashlight handed to him for inspection was similar to the one he saw on the Indian reserve at the time of the fight. He said Richardson and Eneas George said to him, "This is Gisbourne's light, throw it in the river." Then he threw it away.

RECOGNIZES SHIRTS

Andrew recognized shirts exhibited as taken from Richardson and Eneas George as the same as they were wearing on the night of the tragedy when Joseph's "body" was brought into Chief Billy's house.

Charlie Jules, recalled, testified along similar lines.

Mrs. Percy Carr, wife of the constable whose body has not yet been recovered, identified a key-ring as belonging to her husband. William McCreight, court house janitor, gave formal evidence while Dr. J. J. Gillis, M.L.A., recalled, agreed under examination by Mr. Galbraith, that from his ,the doctor's, knowledge of Indians after many years experience, Indians generally were slow and appreciated and responded to gentle, kindly treatment.

MORE ABOUT U.S. SILVER

They urged greater use of silver as money as a means of increasing commodity prices and property values.

The bill declares it to be the policy of the government that the proportion of silver to gold should be increased to and maintained at one-fourth of the total monetary stocks.

This would mean the government would have to purchase approximately 1,300,000,000 ounces of the metal to carry out the declaration.

CAN BE PAID ON DEBT

When the measure was brought up in the house today by Chairman Doughton, North Carolina Democrat, of the ways and means committee, he was asked by Representative McFadden, Pennsylvania Republican, whether Secretary of State Cordell Hull's note of last night to Great Britain, indicating a willingness to accept payment "in kind," referred to silver.

"In kind means British goods, it means silver," McFadden said. "Does the administration contemplate accepting silver for payment of the war debts?"

Doughton said he did not know the course contemplated by the administration in that regard.

and Kamloops, B.C., was selected as the 1935 convention city. The convention was scheduled for the week including August 4, the 20th anniversary of England's entrance into the world war.

It was Gordon Sloan, attorney-general of the province of British Columbia who made the stirring plea for peace as the memorial service was held before the cenotaph.

"We see," he said, "failure of the armament conference, we see nations arming again and we see the old madness springing up in Europe. We were told we were fighting a war to end war, a war for democracy but today we see the whole world crumbling. The war is not ended," he declared. "Insofar as things we were fighting for are concerned."

The auxiliary adopted the proposal to assess members in proportion to the membership of each group.

STERLING BASIS BRINGS PRAISE

Far More Steady Than Gold Declaration of Runciman Talking of Trade.

LONDON, June 13 (CP cable)—In the sterling basis adopted following abandonment of the gold standard in 1931, Britain has achieved a solid foundation on which Empire trade may be increased, declared Walter Runciman, president of the board of trade, today in a luncheon speech to the federation of chambers of commerce of the Empire.

The sterling basis had proved steadier than anyone could have anticipated, the minister declared— far steadier than gold. Canada, South Africa and India of course had their complications but in the long run they depended for their stability on the level of sterling, he added.

With that solid foundation great steps forward in the recovery of international trade might be made, Mr. Runciman said.

Overtaking and passing the car of U. F. Innes of Robson on a lefthand curve on the through highway half a mile this side of Corra Linn last Thursday, got Lionel Sells of New Denver into trouble with the authorities.

Innes and Sells were westbound, at 10:10 at night, as Corp. David Halcrow in an eastbound provincial police car met them on the curve, and had to stop his car to avert an accident. The officer caught the number of Sells' car, and subsequently established its identity.

Charged in provincial police court here Tuesday with driving to the common danger, Sells pleaded not guilty, but the evidence of the officer, corroborated by that of Innes, convinced Stipendiary Magistrate John Cartmel that Sells had infringed the law, and he convicted him, imposing a fine of $10 and costs.

MINING ROADS ARE INSPECTED

District Engineer Is Here to Meet the Minister

Motoring here from Cranbrook Tuesday night to spend a couple of days in this district preparatory to going over it with Hon. F. M. MacPherson, minister of public works, Arthur Dixon, district engineer for the combined Kootenays, paid visits to the Reno mine of Sheep creek and the Goodenough mine of the Ymir camp Wednesday, with G. C. Mackay, assistant district engineer, and inspected road work to serve those mines.

cated efforts which he said had been made by some newspapers to give the impression that those unfamiliar with either French or English would be disfranchised. That had never been the intention of the government, he declared.

Prime Minister R. B. Bennett also regretted the use made by some portions of the press of advance information on the draft bill for the purpose mentioned by Mr. Guthrie and also to lead the public to believe the Doukhobors in Canada would be deprived of the vote. It was suggested that the Doukhobors in British Columbia, who had defied the laws, would be so treated, but that was a matter yet to be decided.

Members of the third group in parliament were incensed when it was revealed that the draft bill had been the subject of an informal conference between two members of the government, the leader of the opposition and one of his colleagues.

"One of the most disgraceful things ever known," said E. J. Garland, (U.F.A. Bow River) in expressing his resentment that the third group had not been included in preliminary discussions. Robert Gardiner, (U.F.A., Acadia) also expressed his belief that the government should have included his party in the conferences. The reply of both Mr. Bennett and Rt. Hon. W. L. Mackenzie King, opposition leader, was that the steps leading up to the preliminary discussions were taken in the house, and if the third group had wished to participate they could have expressed themselves at that time.

The resolution was passed after considerable debate.
