THREE SHIPWRECKS SEND 28 TO DEATH

DEATH OF TWO BOYS BLAMED UPON A NEGRO

Youths Were Stabbed in Back at Halifax 5 Months Ago

NEGRO ADMITS KNIFE WAS HIS

Two Separate Murder Charges Laid by the Police

HALIFAX, Dec. 14 (CP)—Royal Canadian Mounted police today arrested Daniel P. Sampson of Halifax and charged him with the murder of two boys, Bramwell and Edward Heffernan, whose bodies were found lying beside a railway track five months ago.

Police said later the 49-year-old negro laborer had confessed to killing the two brothers. They declined to disclose the motive for the purported double murder.

According to police he identified as his own a knife found 200 yards from the spot where the young brothers were found dead and said it was the weapon with which they were killed.

Sampson will be arraigned before a magistrate tomorrow, and it was indicated tonight the prosecution would seek a week's adjournment to allow time for a medical examination of the prisoner.

Since the discovery of their bodies by their father, Edward Heffernan, mystery had surrounded the deaths of the two boys. Bramwell, 12, and Eddie, 2 years younger, left home on the morning of July 12 to pick blueberries.

The boys had been stabbed cleanly with some sharp instrument which pierced their backs. Their wounds were identical.

Sampson was taken into custody in his home and two separate murder charges were laid against him.

PAID CAR LOADS INCREASE IN PROVINCE

VERNON, B. C. Dec. 14 (CP).—An increase in every department in paid car loadings originating in British Columbia indicates the passing of the depression, C. A. Cotterell, general supt. of the C.P.R. British Columbia division said here. Mr. Cotterell expressed delight at the air of good business in Vernon after inspecting company properties and meeting business men during a three day visit.

FERNIE BOND INTEREST DUE

But City Financially Embarrassed

VICTORIA, Dec. 14 (CP)—The city of Fernie has $1,500 interest due on bonds on December 19 and has no funds to meet it, it was learned today. Another instalment is due on December 31 and a third on January 31.

Fernie's outstanding bonded indebtedness is $495,000 for which she has set aside $278,000 in sinking funds. With the decline of the coal trade, the inland city has suffered probably more than any other large centre in the province, the government being compelled to meet its relief costs 100 per cent.

Should Fernie be place under a commissionership British Columbia will have six so situated, Prince Rupert, North Vancouver city and district, Burnaby and Merritt already being administered by commission.

Poland Will Not Pay Debt Token

Shrill Cries Pierce the Air; China Town Is Closed Up

MONTREAL, Dec. 14 (CP).—Police tonight are combing the city for four Chinese said to have taken part in the melee early today which resulted in the wounding of six men and the arrest of 15 others. If the men are not located shortly, authorities believed, they may be attacked and the signal given for a renewal of the tong war. Warrants for their arrest have been issued.

Meanwhile, three of the six men taken to hospital following the battle, were released, immediately placed under arrest and taken to police headquarters where the 15 other men were being held. Ma Chu, 51, said to be from Nanaimo, B.C., is most seriously injured, and may be suffering from a fractured skull.

He May Consider a France-Germany Rapproachment

LONDON, Dec. 14 (CP cable)—Sir John Simon, the foreign secretary, will join the diplomats touring European capitals for rapid-fire conversations aimed at finding a basis for operations of the league of nations and the disarmament conference when they resume next month.

Official reports that the Briton will talk with Premier Mussolini were given support by the announcement that Sir John and Lady Simon will spend the Christmas holidays at Capri and will travel to that resort by way of Rome.

Sir Eric Phipps, the British ambassador, meanwhile, arrived from Berlin to discuss the latest develop-

Beheading Is the Penalty Asked in Reichstag Cases

LEIPZIG, Germany, Dec. 14 (AP).—Beheading on the block was asked by States Attorney Karl Werner today for two of the five men charged with high treason in connection with a fire last winter in the German parliament building.

The prosecutor demanded that Ernst Torgler, former Communist whip in the Reichstag, and Marinus van der Lubbe, a young Dutch brick mason, who confessed setting the blaze, go to the axe "in expiation of their crimes."

While Werner thundered his charges the stolid Van der Lubbe lolled back in his seat, contentedly asleep. His death was asked on both counts in the indictment, arson and high treason. The extreme penalty was demanded for the mild-mannered Torgler on the high treason charge.

The three Bulgarian defendants, Georgia Dimitroff, Wassil Taneff and Blagoi Popoff, were recommended for acquittal, but Defence Counsel Teichert ignored the recommendation—which also can be ignored by the court.

Surgeons Operate on Bailey to Relieve Skull Pressure—Eddie Shore "Broken Man"

Mrs. Bailey and Tiny Daughter Arrive in Boston

BOSTON, Dec. 14 (CP)—Irvin (Ace) Bailey, dangerously injured Toronto Leaf hockey player, came through a long and delicate trepanning operation on his fractured skull in encouraging condition tonight in the famous neurosurgical ward of the Boston City hospital. At 10:30 p.m. it was announced from the hospital Bailey's condition was "fair."

Dr. Martin Crotty, Boston Bruins' physician who assisted Dr. Donald Munro of the City hospital staff and Dr. John S. Hodgson, during the surgery and acted as their spokesman, said the 31-year-old player's condition showed a slight improvement when he was removed from the table. It would be a matter of many hours, he said, before the crisis arrived.

In similar operations, which eminent surgeons regarded as a 50-50 risk, the improvement or decline has been progressive after the crisis is reached. The surgery of Bailey, which closely followed the second tapping of his spine in 24 hours to relieve inter-cranial pressure, was said to consist of an entrance inside the skull to remove damaged tissue, if found, and tie up blood vessels.

HEAVY GALES LASH EUROPE'S WATER LANES

Traffic Across the Channel Halted by Heavy Weather

THAMES FROZEN ENTIRE WIDTH

Finland, Suffolk and Dunkirk Scenes of Wrecks

LONDON, Dec. 14 (AP).—Three shipwrecks that carried 28 men to their doom in icy, gale-swept seas and numerous deaths from cold formed a climax today to Europe's worst pre-Christmas cold wave in many years. Twelve others died in France because of rigorous weather.

From Finland to the Black Sea shipping disasters took a heavy toll, with the North Sea raging so wildly that some cross-channel services have been abandoned for two days. Others, like that between Dover and Calais, were restored only tonight, after Folkestone harbor had been used as a refuge for powerful steamers unable to approach the exposed Dover breakwater.

The lowest December temperatures ever recorded were reported in 14 country centres, such as Rotterdam, while northeast winds sent shivering populations in nearly every continental country to seek shelter at firesides.

FROSTY IN SOUTH

Southern England was still held in the grip of frosty weather tonight with a prospect, however, of warmer conditions tomorrow.

FLOOD THREAT ON SUMAS PRAIRIE PERSISTS—WATER RISING SLOWLY

Chilliwack Gets Temporary Power; Rush Line Work

VANCOUVER, Dec. 14 (CP)—Relief from flood waters that have covered reclaimed land at Sumas Prairie, B.C., since snow and rain storms of Monday was expected hourly tonight. As dark fell over the ice-bound flood areas, linemen labored to repair the last few lengths of high tension wires that collapsed early in the week to deprive pumping stations of current necessary to their operation.

Ralph Dixon of New Westminster, B.C., provincial dykes inspector, declared tonight that once the power is provided for pumping stations, it will not take long to clear water from the low-lying land in the Fraser valley. He said water has been rising only an inch in eight hours during the day.

Repairs to power lines at Huntingdon would restore electric current to Chilliwack and other Fraser valley towns without power since Monday night. Telephone service was still disrupted in some sections of the valley but a temporary service had been effected at Chilliwack today.

UNDULANT FEVER CAUSES McBRIDE ILLNESS

Illness of R. Leigh McBride, who is in Kootenay Lake General hospital, has been diagnosed as undulant fever.

Nelson doctors came to this opinion and called in Dr. Palmer of Trail, where several cases have occurred in recent years, who has confirmed it.

Undulant fever is similar to what is known as Malta fever, except that whereas Malta fever is transmitted through goats' milk, undulant fever is transmitted through cow's milk.

SUCCESSION DUES TAKE NEW ANGLE

VANCOUVER, Dec. 14 (CP)—New angle to the controversy over British Columbia succession duties act was introduced today in supreme court when Mr. Justice D. A. McDonald ordered J. F. Mather, registrar of the court, must show cause December 18 why a writ of mandamus should not be issued against him.

The mandamus, a suit of William Riteon Wilson, mining engineer of Vancouver, is sought to compel the registrar to issue letters of administration without payment of succession duties to the estate of Mrs. Emma Wilson, who died September 19. Wilson, the widower, is administrator of the estate valued about $170,000.

Wilson has expressed willingness to pay the probate duty of $581 but allegedly refused to pay succession duties of $12,000 to $13,000. The registrar will not grant letter of administration until the succession duties have been paid.

The suit follows a recent judgment of Mr. Justice McDonald holding the province's succession duties act invalid.

Accord Is Reached on Motor Traffic

Insurance, Rates, Charges, Limiting of Hours Discussed

OTTAWA, Dec. 14 (CP)—Unanimity was reached by the delegates to the Dominion provincial conference on road transport today on a number of important principles applicable to the operation of motor vehicles.

Incorporated in the form of resolutions, these had to do with the publication of rates and charges, the acceptance of freight as offered without undue discrimination, the question of insurance, the keeping of accounts, the limiting of mileage and hours of operators of passenger vehicles, a standard of fitness of both operator and vehicle and the licencing of common carriers only when the services proposed to be rendered was in the public interest. Agreements on all these phases of transportation were accepted unanimously.

A further resolution, supported by the Dominion and every province, expressed the view that a similar conference should be held at least once each year.

In order that this annual gathering should be in a better position to discuss motor vehicle matters from the standpoint of common and comparable statistics, provincial delegates agreed to cooperate with the Dominion bureau of statistics for the production annually of statistical information.

DEAD ATHLETE LEFT LETTER

Had Marital Trouble But His Death Is Accidental

CHATHAM, Mass., Dec. 14 (AP)—Victim of a gunshot wound which a medical examiner said was accidental, Richard J. (Rich) Glendon, 37, Columbia university crew coach, was found dead today on Castle Cove road, not far from the beach here.

All night his father, his brother Herbert, assistant crew coach at Columbia, and friends searched for Glendon, who went hunting. The search took on new vigor and a posse was formed after the elder Glendon told police of finding in his son's room a letter, the contents of which were not divulged.

Dr. C. H. Keene, medical examiner, said regardless of the letter his report would be one of accidental death. He said Glendon's gun discharged as he climbed a fence.

Glendon was a native of Boston. His widow was the former Marie Fahey of Brookline. They had three children. Recent marital differences between the couple were reported settled during the past week-end.

VICTORIA, Dec. 14 (CP)—Aldermen P. R. Brown, Alex. Peden and John Worthington, and R. A. C. Dewar and T. W. Hawkins were elected to the Victoria city council for a two-year term in today's civic elections. Mayor David Leeming had already been elected by acclamation.

Trustees J. L. Beckwith, J. M. Campbell and T. D. Monk, and ex-Alderman W. T. Straith were elected to the school board for two-year terms.

Alderman Brown headed the aldermanic poll, followed closely by ex-Alderman Dewar. Mr. Straith headed the school board poll, followed by Trustee Beckwith.

It was one of the lightest polls in 10 years, only 3156 ballots being cast out of a possible 11,500 votes.

PARIS, Dec. 14 (AP)—France's third debt default to the United States tomorrow found friends of payment including former Premier Edouard Herriot, silent today.

A note explaining France's intention to default its first payment on the debt under terms of the moratorium of 1931 and also on the regular war debt will be presented in Washington tomorrow.

A moratorium instalment of $6,093,759.44 and a war debt, one of $22,000,000, are due.

BRIDGE FALLS INTO RIVER

Span Melted When Gasoline Truck Takes Fire

SEATTLE, Dec. 14 (AP)—State highways already damaged severely by flood waters, received another blow today when a gasoline truck caught fire on a bridge above Snoqualmie falls, the resulting heat melting a steel span and part of the bridge fell into the river.

The truck, belonging to the Petroleum Transportation company, also fell into the stream, but E. B. Ellis, the driver, escaped with painful, but not serious burns.

Only the south span of the bridge, which cost $65,000 was left standing. Traffic to eastern Washington will be rerouted by way of Meadowbrook.

Highway officials estimated at least 20 bridges in King and Pierce counties were washed out or wrecked by flood waters. Road conditions were reported greatly improved today, with the Pacific highway between Seattle and Tacoma reopened. Another drop in temperatures last night slowed melting of snow and rivers were returned to their normal flow.

Representatives of the 10 organizations into which the civil service workers are divided met the minister today for a round table discussion of their mutual problems and agreed no definite conclusions would be reached until February when the ground will be again gone over in the light of economic developments at that time.

Choate announced importers had received permits to bring in 5,580,590 gallons of Canadian liquor. Approximately half of that amount is for blending purposes, the remainder being imported for direct sale.

The highest single quota allotted any other country went to Italy with permission to import 1,100,000 gallons.

SEWARD ESCAPES SERIOUS FIRE

SEWARD, Alaska, Dec. 14 (AP)—Fire, which swept through grass as dry as tinder and spread over the entire forested mountainside which borders Seward, threatened to destroy Seward last night. Special fire guards patrolled the city throughout the night.

The flames were fanned by one of the strongest north winds in years and threw a cascade of sparks over the town. During the night the twinkling flares of fire on the mountainside resembled a giant Christmas tree lighted with candles.

Residents feared the fire would destroy the Seward salmon cannery and sweep through 10 miles of virgin timber from Resurrection bay to the shore of the north Pacific ocean.

There has been no rain in weeks and no snow, making everything so dry the fire spread rapidly. It was of unknown origin.

COLD FROSTY WEATHER REPLACES RECENT RAGING STORMS AT THE COAST

VANCOUVER, Dec. 14 (CP)—Falling temperatures throughout British Columbia tonight had shifted the storm scene from the lower mainland to the interior districts of the province.

Heavy rains that earlier in the week crippled communication lines in the Sumas prairie district, some 25 miles east of here and near the international boundary, tonight had given place to cold, frosty weather. The lower temperature, coupled with partial restoration of communication with Chilliwack in the area affected, and hourly expectation of restoration of pumping stations there, had reduced the danger of floods to thousands of acres of reclaimed land.

Big transportation companies and others who pay the greatest proportion of the tax have paid the amounts owing to the government. Householders, using fuel oil furnaces are also contributing.

us Driver Seriously Hurt Expresses Wish to Die

CRESCENT CITY, Fla., Dec. 14 (P).—Ten children were killed d some 30 injured today when freight train roared out of a avy fog just as the driver of a cked school bus swerved into a ssing.

Several of the injured, picked where they fell along the railad right-of-way from the splintered bus, are not expected to survive their terrible injuries.

The tragedy came as D. R. Niles, elderly driver of the bus, reached the end of his five-mile rural route at Silver Pond Grove, south of here and was about to bring his little charges to the Crescent City elementary school.

DRIVER GRIEF STRICKEN

Passersby, together with members of the train crew and persons summoned from the town, gave quick succor to the injured. The most seriously hurt were taken in three ambulances to Palatka, about 30 miles away.

The driver of the bus survived the crash, but was badly injured. Lying on a cot in the Baptist parsonage here he expressed the wish that he, too, might die when he learned the extent of the calamity.

The news spread rapidly through the farming neighborhood where the little victims lived and scenes of sorrow were enacted as anguished parents and friends wildly sought their loved ones.

LEGION HOLDS SOCIAL, DANCE

Program Is a Jolly Affair; Skit Is a "Knockout"

An enjoyable program of songs, readings and a skit, later followed by refreshments and a dance, combined for a successful social evening at the Canadian Legion hall Thursday night when the local branch of the Legion entertained active and associate members and their wives and friends.

The program, considering that the artists had very little time to prepare, proved most entertaining. The most unique number was a skit arranged and adapted by Hector Angus and Fred Webber, and perhaps no other equal in dramatic literature unless it is Shakespeare's graveyard scene in "Hamlet."

The scene is a burial officer's hut in France, and the plot is woven around the Burial Captain's futile attempts to make love to and wed the fairest flower on the west side of the equator.

Captain Sodd (George Paton), tries to get Private Lacking, his batman (Fred Webber), to come dashing in at a certain time, scheduled for the moment when with a burst of intense determination he intends to commit suicide if the lady does not promise to marry him, and how the scheme goes astray. The batman, hardly responsible even in his better moments, is more intent on "hunting small game" than in listening and so fails to understand.

The lady, (Fred Hartwig), whose charm was as irresistible and drawing as a plaster, and twice as dangerous, had appeal to spare. The audience could well understand the captain's heart throb.

NO BATMAN

The skit moves to the climax. The captain has been refused twice. He gives a muffled cry that is half a wail, half a moan and half a sob, with just a touch of despair. He gives the keyword for the batman to appear and save him, and as he does he points his revolver at his own head. No batman, he repeats, louder. Still no batman and the captain is still down on one knee facing the business end of the weapon. Finally the batman enters. "Is this the time?" he questions.

The captain fires the revolver blindly into the air and the scene ends with wild commotion and the "flower" in a dead faint on the floor, without wig, without neck fur, and without poise.

The vocal selections were well applauded and pleased the fairly large audience, as also did the reading. Community singing was enjoyed at the opening of the program.

The program was as follows:

Esling's Condition Not at All Serious

TRAIL, B.C., Dec. 14—W. K. Esling, M.P., was admitted to the Trail-Tadanac hospital with a cold Wednesday. His illness is not at all serious and it is quite likely that he will be out again within a few days.

Canadian legion members had planned a smoker next Tuesday in honor of Mr. Esling and it is doubtful whether the smoker will be held on that day, his illness probably meaning its postponement.

R. R. Burns, M.L.A., will also be a guest at the gathering.

Mr. Esling has consistently and persistently pressed at Ottawa the claims of returned men, and has done notable work in this direction in cooperation with the Trail and other branches of the legion.

Nelsonites see Flares in Sky

A number of Nelson residents were mystified Thursday night by two flares which lit up the sky over the Athabasca mine. A ruddy flare, meteor-like, shot up shortly after 6 p.m. an 15 minutes later another one appeared.

A check up with the West Kootenay Power & Light company proved that it was not a short circuit on high tension lines as was first thought. No noise was accompanied by the flares according to those who saw them, thus eliminating the possibility of an explosion.

SNOW DAMAGE CLEANED UP

Trains on Time and Buses Get Over Roads

Trains are back on schedule, buses are getting through, but a few minutes late and telephone and telegraph services are in order again.

Further snow and softer weather, however, is likely to cause trouble on the roads and through dropping trees across power lines.

At 4:30 p.m. Thursday the city power line was open to Balfour but the stretch to Ainsworth has yet to be cleared. Half an hour later the British Columbia Telephone company opened up their line to Kaslo. With the exception of a little trouble a few miles this side of Slocan City, the system is again in good shape.

Roads were passable but damp, and buses got through on all runs but were slightly late in some cases.

There was no trouble with the Nelson-Trail and Rossland line.

The Slocan was damp but the buses were able to get through. Plows may have been on the job again today but no word was received.

Travel to Kaslo was possible and a plow was kept busy cleaning up between Nelson and Longbeach.

The Salmo road, always a hard road to keep open in the winter, was passable but damp with plenty of snow piled on the banks. The plow from Hall got as far as Cottonwood and turned back last night to go over the road again.

Nelson had a four-inch fall and the weather was much milder. Temperatures varied between 27 and 34 degrees. Sleighs and trucks were again kept busy cleaning off Baker street but plowing was pretty well cleaned up.

A humerous skit was also enacted. L. H. Choquette addressed the gathering with words of appreciation for the efforts put forward which contributed to the success of the series.

COPPER BAN U.S.A. PLAN?

Producers May Ask President for Protection

NEW YORK, Dec. 14 (AP).—It was learned today that there exists a virtually unanimous agreement among important copper producers to petition the president to declare an embargo on the metal in the event foreign copper is brought into the United States for sale.

The only copper that has come into the country since a tariff of 4 cents a pound was clamped on imports in June, 1932, has been copper or copper ore brought in for treatment under bond and reexported.

H. O. King, deputy NRA administrator in charge of the copper code, which is still in the process of being written, said today that further hearings on the code to iron out various disagreements of factions in the industry will be held soon after the first of the year. He expressed optimism that a code would be written before long.

CRESTON TO SEND UNION FEE AT ONCE

CRESTON, B. C., Dec. 14 — Due to the blizzardous weather that prevailed on Monday night, the regular monthly meeting of the village council was postponed until Tuesday evening, when Reeve McFarland and Councillor F. H. Jackson were present.

The clerk of the village of Hope wrote asking what success Creston had with collecting dog licences, and in case canine owners refused to pay what action was taken. The secretary of the newly organized Kootenay Municipal union wrote notifying of the 1934 convention, to be held in Nelson on January 4th, and urging Creston to send along a representative. No one was named but the annual membership fee of $5 will be paid at once.

November accounts passed for payment totalled $1670. Of this total almost $300 was spent on the new standard sidewalk on Park road from the bridge through to the fall fair buildings. About $600 has been spent on gavelling operations in various parts of the village, notably Creston avenue, and the lumber bill for the month was about $290.

Creston will elect a new council next month, and the necessary bylaw was passed fixing the date and place for nominations as well as polling.

What One Girl Wore

Even though scientists and weather experts claim that our winters are getting milder each year, there are occasionally days when the woollen frock is a blessing. It is almost a necessity to include one or two smart warm frocks in the winter wardrobe.

Sheer wool crepes are lovely. Even tweeds are made with so fine a weave that they have entirely lost that bulky appearance so long associated with them.

Softs jersey and rabbit's wool make dresses that are as practical and comfortable as one could wish for, and they are not the least bit scratchy as so many of them used to be.

Consider, for instance, the very up-to-the-minute wool crepe frock sketched today. You could put this on in the morning and keep it on right through the tea date. And it's simple enough for the business girl to wear during business hours, too.

Of navy blue, it is cut one-piece, though it has a simulated two-piece tucked line at the hips. There is a youthful tucked collar of light blue taffeta that ends in an ascot tie. The cuffs repeat the tucked treatment and are of the same fabric.

Snow Plow Is Busy on Kimberley Road

KIMBERLEY, B.C., Dec. 14—It has been snowing three days and is coming down heavier than ever. The snow is over two feet on the level. The snow plow started from Cranbrook on Monday morning at 9 o'clock and crawled into Kimberley at dark. Nothing less than a daily trip will keep the road open. There is no wind and the snow is frosty so it slides easily.

Mrs. Dunkerley has returned home from the hospital in Nelson.

Mrs. Nick McKenzie is ill from flu. Her son Bobby was out of school for 10 days and another of the family seems to be getting it.

E. Hornquist has come here from Trail to work for the C.M. & S. company.

Mrs. F. Cockburn of Ottawa is visiting her sister, Mrs. McLay.

The Young Ladies Bridge club met at the home of Myrtle Garden last week-end. Dorothy Sharnock won first prize, Ruby Andrews consolation, and Mrs. T. Wilson the guessing contest.

At the Moose whist drive in town on Saturday evening Mrs. Findlay won first, Mrs. Swan consolation, Eric Stone men's first and T. Cowling consolation.

Mrs. D. Martin gave a party on Friday for her son John, 8 years old. Among the guests were Jimmy Patterson, Billy Archibald, Billy James, Donald and John Martin, Ian, Tom and Don McLay, Eddie Hedquist, Sandy Gold, Wanny and Fred Swan, Alec Bell and Andy Orr.

A number of young people met at the United church on Monday evening and organized a club. Albert Bennett was elected president, Pauline Crowe vice-president, Ola Bentley secretary and Gelena Owen treasurer. Rev. R. Cribb was made honorary president.

It was decided to follow their own program. A committee was appointed to take care of the program for a limited time, Ola Bentley, A. Bennett and Julia Clemence. Meetings to be held on Monday nights and a name chosen for the club at the next meeting.

And so who's afraid of a big, bad, storm? . . . . . .

Imagine dainty almond-eyed young men and maidens in gay kimonas, tripping about a flower-decked stage and you have the colourful setting for "YANKI SAN". This vividly picturesque and melodious operetta, the beautiful Japanese legend of "The Sleeping Beauty" and "Cinderella" is to be presented by the pupils of the Junior High School in their own auditorium on Wednesday, Dec. 20, at 8:15 in the evening. It is the most outstanding event of the school year, and the cast of over 60 well-trained and ambitious youngsters are devoting half of their net proceeds to the Welfare Association. How's that for the Christmas Spirit? . .

"My hat! Notepaper! Of all the dumb . . . !"But you are wrong this time that exquisitely finished vellum in it's beautiful box came from FLEURY'S and from now on, your letters are going to do your personality credit. And such pens to write with! That new "Wahl" pen has an eversharp point adjustable in nine ways. It's a knock out! Even your best friend will tell you so. . . .

Lounge robes! For him the handsomest gift of all, for his leisure is his luxury. At EMORY'S you'll find something different. Of English make, in finest uncrushable wool, these are robes that the Prince of Wales would be proud to own. As well as novelty in plaids, checks, and paisley designs, these robes have trick mufflers to tie around his throat on chilly mornings. Classy, eh? And—Flash!—House coats are half price for any of them. . .

Shining steel for the brave! Swords and helmets and spurs, paid dearly in the olden days for Romance. The price today is not so high, for our more casual present day knight merely decks his lady in jewels or fancy ornaments. A wrist watch from GRAY'S is the gift of gifts! Men "who know" buy their gifts in this accommodating store, and women "who know" return the compliment. Is your knight or lady wearing your token? . .

"Little Jack Horner sat in a corner is exactly the position of our new and up-to-date grocery store, in the lower corner of the Annable Block on Ward Street. Haven't you seen it's bright windows full of the freshest and best of good things to eat? There's a real Christmas spirit abroad in this store, and there's a chance for you to put your thumb into this good-looking pie, and pull out a nice fat plum for yourself, for HORNER'S is specialling this week in the freshest and biggest nuts I have ever seen. Candy, too, for old and young. Then try his special imported French maraschino cherries. Large luscious balls of deliciousness at 60c a lb. And Ginger Wine and Port at 45c a bottle with a free tumbler. Here's a glass for you! and you! and you!

Gifts of greater usefulness This is such a practical Christmas season that it leads me to some of the most amazing "finds"! Just think of a hope chest—walnut or cedar—carrying an Insurance policy to insure it against moths. Have you ever heard of anything so useful? Ask the STANDARD FURNITURE COMPANY to tell you all about it and show you some of theirs. Somebody you know would be tickled to get one from Santa Claus. . . .

The new hats and your coiffure! Can you make them get together? Your hair should be waved to fit the jaunty angle of any sort of hat perched so cockily over the right eye. At MILADY'S BEAUTY PARLORS they know just how to make your head dress suit your millinery. Permanent waves are only $5.00 up until the New Year. And did you know that Milady presents you, free of charge, with a shampoo and finger wave a week or so after your permanent? It's worth thinking about. . . .

Oh! Those golden slippers! Golden slippers you're going to wear because they look so neat! Not only golden ones, but silver and suede, satin and velvet, in every sort of style, from sandals to pumps, and color to suit every gown. ANDREW'S is the name! Their evening slippers are the sort to set those dancing feet a'twinkling. . . . . .

Oh! What lovely things in the DUNK & CONWAY ART SHOPPE! Lovely lace-edged handkerchiefs with a quaint, old-fashioned air. Handkerchiefs in pastel shades, or with great monograms in the corner. And linen of such heavy richness in texture and embroidery to take your breath away. Colorful, fragile, china. And such low prices! Gayly bright scarves—just the thing to make any costume just "It." These scarves, by the way are only $1.95. . . . . .

Tired! And showing it in your face? Then slip in to THELMA'S BEAUTY SHOPPE for one of the most refreshing beauty cures you could ever hope to have. Shampoo, wave, facial and manicure! She'll do them all for you in the best possible way, and then how fresh and wonderful you will look! Your face will be truly your fortune. . . . . .

Aren't I a Good Picker?

For your fireside hours what is sweeter than thoughts of old times old scenes, old friends? There is no kinder reminder than a good book, chosen by a discriminating friend who knows your likes and dislikes. A better idea still is a membership card from that friend to the well-stocked library at MANN, RUTHERFORD'S, where you can choose your own reading from among the oldest and latest literature, both fiction and non-fiction. And as you settle down cosily in your big chair with your toes to the grate and the kitten on your lap you are ready for an evening's solid comfort and enjoyment. . . . . .

How can you appear ethereally feminine if you permit yourself to be betrayed by proof of earthly carelessness? Your hair may let you down, but not if you let the experts at ACTON'S care for it by regular hot oil scalp treatments. This new Duart steamer steams the warm oil into the scalp and soon brings back that life and lustre that is the envy of your friends. . . . .

Well! well! well! Things are looking up! Have you heard of the wonderful contest at COLLINSON'S? For every dollar you spend in this store, you are given one chance to win one of the marvellous prizes that are shown in the window. The first prize—Silver Tea Service, second prize—Silver Table Centre, third prize—Silvered Meat Platter, and the lucky ticket is to be drawn Christmas Eve. Here's luck to you! . . . . .

And don't forget to tell me your troubles. I have the private ear of Santa Claus and he helps a lot. My out-of-town friends are welcome to my shopping assistance at any time. And thanks heaps and heaps for telling that you have read this column. You'd be surprised how much it helps. . . .

And so, until next week, Adieu.

12,000 MILES IS BRITAIN'S FLIGHT PLAN

Mixed Squadron Will Go to South and East Africa

WILL SHOW FLAG AT MANY POINTS

Huge Troop Carriers and Single-Engine Bombers on List

LONDON—(CP)—Next year, for the first time, the annual Royal Air Force formation cruise from Cairo to South and East Africa and back will be entrusted to a "mixed" squadron. Five single-engined Fairey day bombers and four Victor troop-carriers are scheduled to leave Heliopolis aerodrome, near Cairo, about Feb. 29 and return there May 1 after a flight of some 12,000 miles.

Their provisional itinerary goes as far south as Pretoria, and takes them back to Cairo by way of Bulawayo, Livingstone, Salisbury, Abercorn, Mombasa, Nairobi, Malakal (Sudan) and Khartum.

On the homeward flight, which will occupy the bulk of the time, the detachment will make halts of three or four days at each of the chief centres. Flights of two or three machine will be detailed during these periods to "show the flag" in outlying regions of Rhodesia and Nyasaland, and to visit isolated military posts on the northern frontier of Kenya. The opportunity will probably be seized to engage in liaison exercises with ground forces, and with the South African air force.

GENERAL PURPOSE SHIPS

Fairey 3F biplanes have been employed for the past five or six years in large numbers with the Royal Air Force. They are "general purpose" planes, maids-of-all-work of the service which in the course of routine duties are called upon to perform any and every kind of task. This type of airplane has been developed in Great Britain to a higher pitch than in any other country, simply because the responsibilities of the Royal Air Force, which is charged nowadays with the policing of approximately 1,000,000 square miles of the world's surface, demands such machines.

Ambulance work, aerial survey, gunnery spotting, day bomber, offensive and defensive fighting—these are but a few of the duties of the British "general purpose" airplane. Adaptability and absolute trustworthiness are essential; in the 3F craft, each of which is powered with a Napier "Lion" 530 h.p. motor, these qualities are combined satisfactorily with speed and general flying efficiency.

The "Victoria" biplane has been the standard troop-carrier of the Royal Air Force for several years. Recently it has been been redisigned The result is notable increase of performance and the revival of a type of aircraft which three years ago was thought to be obsolescent. The new "Victoria", like its predecessor, has accommodation for 22 fully armed infantrymen in the cabin, but is can carry a much larger load than the older machine, has a longer practical cruising range, is faster and climbs more rapidly to a higher "ceiling."

A considerable number of the new model was ordered recently by the air ministry in the normal course of replacement of older machines. Two of the new machines reached Iraq at the beginning of this month. Five more recently arrived at Baghdad.

NOT TO RETAIN WORKS ENGINEER

Members of the board of trade, in monthly session at the Hume hotel Thursday afternoon, discussed action which had been taken in an unsuccessful attempt to have at least one member of the Dominion public works staff retained here No further action will be taken.

W. K. Ealing, M.P. for Kootenay West, after an interview with members of the board recently, communicated with the Dominion minister of public works. A telegram was also sent from the board pointing out that there was no economy in closing the office. President C. H. Hamilton said that there could be nothing done at present but that Mr. Ealing was intending to take up the matter personally at the next session.

Names Wanted for Christmas Cheer

Christmas is only about 10 days away and it is pointed out that it is essential that names of needy who should receive Christmas Cheer should be listed at the earliest possible moment so that no needy family may be omitted from the list.

There will be a meeting of those interested in the fund at the city hall at 8 o'clock tonight and it is hoped that those who know of needy cases will attend the meeting and hand in the names.

The public is also being asked to notify any member of the Nelson clergy of the names of people to whom Christmas Cheer should be sent.

Need for funds is still urgent as the number of hampers to be sent out is unusually large.

PREMIERE

By ROBERT TERRY SHANNON

At the premiere of her latest motion picture, Leni Luneska, beautiful star, is stunned by the appearance of her jailbird husband, whom she married in Vienna when only 14. He insists upon recognition as her husband and waits in a private office of the theatre for her to reconsider her refusal. Lucky Cavanaugh, handsome gambler, who fell in love with Leni on sight that evening, tries to make Kruger leave. Kruger empties his gun at Cavanaugh without effect, then rushes into the next office in a rage. He surprises burglars looting a safe and is shot dead. Cavanaugh slips out unnoticed but meets Detective Tom Mulrooney in the hall. Later as Leni and Cavanaugh are about to leave the theatre to avoid questioning, Mulrooney stops them. They deny knowing Kruger, but the theatre manager identified Kruger as the man Cavanaugh brought to the office to await Leni. Lucky cautions Leni against talking, but she tells all to Mulrooney. Cavanaugh also reveals what he knows, except the name of "Slug," one of the robbers whom he recognized. Believing Cavanaugh knows who committed the robbery and killing, if he didn't himself, Mulrooney gives him four days in which to find the guilty man. On the way home, Leni and Cavanaugh forget all unhappiness in each other's company.

CHAPTER 16

"I'm sorry," she said drowsily.

"Sorry about what?"

Leni did not answer. His fingers touched the silken texture of her cheeks.

"What are you sorry about?"

She stirred a little and spoke with her shadowed lids still closed. "It would take a long time to tell you. I am sorry I didn't meet you before I ever knew anybody else."

Cavanaugh pressed his cheek against her gold hair. It was soft and thick with a clean fragrance. "What does it matter about the past? It's all over and done with—forgotten forever. There's nothing on earth worth worrying about. You have beautiful hair, Leni, like soft pale gold."

"The color is natural," she said. "My kind of blondes are common back in the old country. But tell me—have you ever had trouble, dear?"

"Everybody has troubles. It's not the trouble that gets you down—it's the worrying."

"I know so little about you," she said with a little sigh. "Tell me something about you, please."

Cavanaugh reflected for a little while. It had never occurred to him before to review the jig-saw puzzle of his existence. He could not tell her without seeming egotistical that he had usually felt himself superior to other small boys of his age. As a man the feeling had persisted. The stolid, hard-working career of others where drab and disgusting. Life was something too big to be lived in a narrow groove. Therefore, he was a gambler, a wanderer, with—nothing to his credit.

"I guess it has all just been a sight-seeing tour with me," he said. "I might have been a lawyer if I'd wanted to please my father. He was a judge but I always had a sneaking idea his sympathies weren't on the highly moral side of things. He died when I was 18 and by the time I was 20 I had found all the joints from Nome down to Panama Canal."

"How old are you now?"

"Twenty-eight. In two years I'll be 30 and beginning to get old."

Leni moved with kitten-like contentment against his shoulder. "It's all right," she said, "you're older than I am."

"You're not like other women," he assured her. "You'll never be old."

"You are too kind—but tell me more about you."

"I never earned a respectable dollar in my life," he said without either pride or shame. "Mostly I've been a gambler, and I've also owned race horses and a sloop that I rented to rum runners. I've been broke a half dozen times and once I won a hundred thousand dollars in a crap game in a New York hotel. When I was a boy I had luncheon with my father in the White House but mostly my friends are men and women on the other side of the law. I've lived on the fat of the land. I've had a million laughs."

"Exactly."

"You are just the kind," she went on, "that is deadly to women. You have been successful with women eh?"

Cavanaugh shrugged slightly. "Women occur to all men," he said negligently.

"Poor women!" sighed Leni.

The Taxi cab came to a stop in an expensive street where there were generous spaces between the elaborate houses.

This was Beverley Hills where the architecture was as theatrical as anything ever conceived in the studios of Hollywood. The predominant note of design was super-Spanish but there was a liberal smattering of Colonial Corinthian, and idealized and expanded Norman.

Colorful and lavish, this street of domestic elegance was deep in sleep in the shadows of its luxurious palms. In the seventh heaven of Hollywood the residents are early to bed and early to rise for the good reason that they are hard-working motion picture people who must be at the studios at an hour which their Broadway brethren would call the crack of dawn. Most of the houses were dark, but in Leni's—which was long and low and English-looking—a single dim light burned awaiting her return.

Cavanaugh was out of the cab and helping her to alight. The driver with an eye to his meter touched his cap.

"Shall I wait, sir?"

This question evoked a strange sense of embarrassment in Cavanaugh—an echo of boyish awkwardness dating back to his vanished and innocent adolescence. There was an implication that left the decision entirely in Leni's hands. His failure to answer the man constituted a question which she settled in a matter-of-fact voice.

"Pay him and let him go."

Her words started a little buzzing in Cavanaugh's heart. Everything was racing ahead like an express train beating its own schedule. With it all was a sensation of incredulity that a creature so exotically satisfying as Leni Luneska had become so immediately such a vital part of himself. Only yesterday he had not even known what she looked like. Even as late as dinner tonight she had been but an empty name.

These thoughts filtered down to a sentence. "You are the dearest thing on earth," he whispered.

She did not answer him.

They were walking upon flat stones set as a pathway across the lawn. Leni's eyes and attention had become suddenly fixed upon the thick shrubbery planted beside the entrance.

"What is it?" asked Cavanaugh.

"There's somebody behind those bushes," she returned intently.

Cavanaugh's eyes became alert and concentrated. "Stand right where you are and I'll have a look."

"It may have been my imagination," said Leni. Her voice was a little tense with nervousness. "I guess I'm a little jumpy," she said apologetically.

"We'll find out."

He stepped to the bushes while Leni watched him as her heart began to speed up beneath the shimmering evening cloak. Cavanaugh's feet were soundless on the soft-cropped grass.

For a moment he saw nothing in the bushes. There was a smell of damp earth and the soft tap-tap-tap of a dripping hydrant. He knew for a certainty that someone was hiding, although he hadn't the slightest idea as to who it might be.

"Who's there?" he said in a voice sharpened with impatience. There was no reply for several seconds and then a man spoke.

"It's all right, Lucky."

The voice was vaguely familiar.

"Who are you?"

"It's okay. Take it easy—it's only me—Slug."

The figure—no longer in usher's uniform—stepped into view. It was Slug all right, dressed in dark clothes with a brown hat on his head and an apologetic grimace on his slit-mouthed face.

"I went to your apartment and you wasn't there," said Slug in a hushed voice, "so I figured I'd catch you here when you showed up. I got to talk to you, Lucky. It's awful important."

"Who's with you?" demanded Cavanaugh quietly.

"Not a soul, I gotta tip you to something. Get rid of the dame and I'll tell you about it."

Cavanaugh's interest told him the man was truthful. Slug was a yegg—probably a murderer as well. But there was no reason to suspect him of being a liar.

"Wait where you are, I'll be out as soon as I take her inside," he told the man.

He returned to Leni and escorted her to the door. The small latch key was in her pink-tipped fingers. "Who is it?" she whispered.

Cavanaugh was careful not to alarm her.

"It's a fellow that wants to do me a favor," he said soothingly. "He saw me with you and beat it out here before we arrived. You go on inside and I'll——"

Leni had begun to cling to him. "Come inside at once," she said eagerly. "It may be a trick. Don't take any chances——"

He released himself gently, took the key from her and unlocked the door.

"I give you my word there is nothing to worry about," he said.

With an unconvinced look in her eyes Leni removed the latch key and put it into his hand. "Please be careful," she begged him. "You've gotten into so much trouble already on my account. Get rid of that man and come on inside as soon as you can."

As the door shut behind her Slug stepped out of the shrubbery and walked beside Cavanaugh back to the curb and out of earshot of any one in the house. His movements were altogether furtive and gave the impression that he was ready at any instant to leap into the nearest shadow.

"Now what's on your mind?" asked Cavanaugh quite casually.

"Plenty," replied Slug. As he spoke his bluish chin seemed to move from side to side. He was the only man Cavanaugh ever knew who looked exactly like a burglar should look. "You know them three guys I was working with tonight?"

"I don't see them," replied Cavanaugh.

"Well, they saw you and they recognized you. They know who you are all right. They're three lamsters from Pittsburgh. As they come out of that office they see you talking to Mulrooney and they get an idea you're going to squawk. When that door opened between the two offices they got a good look at you and they think maybe you saw them."

"I didn't" said Cavanaugh.

IRONER

The dread of ironing has disappeared in every home where the Beatty Ironer has come. Work is saved, because you sit down to run it. All you really have to do is to guide the clothes. The ironer does everything else. It saves hours of time, for it will do a shirt in four minutes, and a sheet or table cloth in three minutes. It irons anything, everything, and is so simple and easy to operate, a child of 12 or 13 years will learn it quickly.

The Electric Ironer should be the next venture in any home where there is a washer. The Ironer will save every bit as much work and time and expense as the washer. Come in and see for yourself.

WASHER

Throughout the British Empire the Beatty Washer is preferred to all others. It gets the clothes cleaner, a better color. You don't have to rub or soak or boil anything. The Beatty washing action is much more vigorous, much easier on the clothes. It gets more dirt out of a batch of clothes in five minutes than other machines get in 15 minutes.

What a handsome Christmas gift this washing-ironing outfit would be! A gift that would bring joy for a lifetime! It must appeal to everyone who would be practical and thoughtful.

M'HARDY SUGGESTS PRIVATE CAPITAL FOR NELSON BRIDGE

Government to Make Yearly Payments, Long Term

MacPHERSON IS GUEST COUNCIL

Annable Suggests a New Route Cascade Highway

Asked by C. F. McHardy to look into the proposed arrangements for the Nelson bridge, F. M. MacPherson of Cranbrook, provincial minister of public works, told members of the road and bridges committee at a council meeting recently, that he would do all in his power to see that the district received its proper portion of public works expenditures. The result of the council meeting was given at a general board meeting in the Hume hotel Thursday afternoon by President C. H. Hamilton.

Mr. McHardy thought that the bridge could be constructed by private capital with a yearly guarantee from the government extending over a number of years. The yearly payments would be less than the operating expenses and the upkeep of the ferry, he said.

Mr. MacPherson, at the time, pointed out that no work would be done on portions of roads which were to be relocated.

J. E. Annable asked, that if the minister's policy was the properly locating of old roads, the board look into the possibilities offered by the Castlegar-Murphy creek-Cascade road, in place of the present Rossland-Cascade highway.

The latter had three bad summits, it was kept up only with the greatest of difficulty and was closed for a considerable period of the year. On the proposed route there would be but one hill and it would not be as great as any three of the summits on the existing road. A. H. Noakes of Balfour, who was present, declared that he was acquainted with the country and that the road could be routed either from Rossland or Murphy creek and still get away with the existing hills.

R. D. Barnes cautioned the members against asking for such an expenditure. It would be years before such a road could be built and in the meantime the present road would have to be kept up.

Mr. Annable pointed out that it was not his intention to ask for the road but merely examine the possibilities of the route for the future. A resolution asking that the possibilities of the relocation of the Castlegar-Cascade highway be investigated was passed.

At the council meeting, reported on at the general meeting, a nominating committee consisting of C. B. Garland, J. A. Irving and A. Mann was named.

FLEET'S ORDER IS ENDORSED

Council Favors the Stopping of Power During Repairs

In making a report to the city council on the interruption in the power supply Monday, City Electrical Engineer W. D. Fleet stated that he had given instructions that the power must be entirely shut off on both lines while repairs are being made, and asked the council to endorse the order. The action was confirmed.

The report read as follows:

"In reference to the interruption of the power supply on Monday, December 11, I wish to report that the trouble was due to a top pin breaking on the transmission line of No. 1 line and another pin floating or pulling out of the cross arm allowing the lines to swing together and causing swinging short circuits.

"The trouble was located the following morning and necessary repairs made. For your information, I might state that the transmission line between the power plant and Nelson is a double three phase line, with a one-pole structure, a common cross arm carrying both lines, one line on either side of the pole. In the event of a pin breaking on one line, this line is made dead, while the other line is still alive and the practise has been that the pin has been replaced while the other line was still alive.

"The line is in such bad condition, that the men are objecting to replacing any pin or insulator while there is still a live line on the pole.

"In view of the fact that this line has been condemned by several engineers in the past and by myself for the last four years, also by the inspector of electrical energy of British Columbia, and that in the event of any of our men meeting with a fatal accident in repairing this line while the power is still on, not only would the individual members of the council and myself be liable but that the city would be liable for heavy dameges.

"Therefore, I have given instructions that the power must be shut entirely off on both lines while such repairs are being made. Every precaution shall be taken to make the interruption as short as possible.

"No doubt there will be strong protests from some of the industrial consumers, when a large number of employees are idle during such interruptions.

"This is the first time in my experience that I have issued an order of this nature due to a line being so old that it was no longer safe to work on. To say the least it is poor operating. The only way out of the difficulty is the building of a new transmission line at the earliest possible moment.

"I would ask that the city council endorse my order in shutting off the power during repairs.

Board and Chamber Mines Men Confer

Asked by the chamber of mines for backing in an attempt to keep open its office here, a board of trade committee headed by L. H. Choquette conferred with chamber's officers recently. No action was taken, however, Mr. Choquette informed the board members who met in the Hume hotel Thursday afternoon. Mr. Choquette informed the officers that the board was willing to back the chamber morally but was unable to do so financially. The possibility of the chamber of mines using the board of trade rooms was also discussed but no decision was reached.

SOUND REASON FOR CENTRAL BANK

There has been endless controversy over the establishment of a Central Bank in Canada, and particularly since the report of the royal commission. We failed to see the arguments of the financial interests, who could see no value in such a bank; on the other hand we never had any idea it would be a panacea for our economic woes, such as was imagined by certain Western interests.

Rt. Hon. R. B. Bennett, in his address at Sherbrooke on Saturday, emphasized one of the chief values and needs of such a bank. Let us quote what he said:

"The credit of Canada is the collective reputation of its people, and there can be no restoration of prosperity in Canada until stability of currency is achieved. One of the major difficulties in this connection is the fact we have no direct communication between the financial centres of Canada and London. We are subject in this matter to the domination of Wall street, of a foreign power. And we have determined to rectify this situation by the establishment of a central bank for the purpose of stabilizing monetary values and and thus enabling business to progress without constant recourse to a foreign power."

yet all our foreign currency business goes through yett all our foreign currency business goes through New York and subject to the fluctuations of New York exchange. Our trade with Britain is growing steadily. Why should we not deal financially direct with London through our own Central Bank? If the proposed Central Bank only meets this requirement it will be worth while.

As Mr. Bennett says, one of the chief needs today is stabilization of currency. Until there is such stabilization it is difficult to carry on world business. With the United States engaged in a monetary experiment, which may or may not be successful, there is all the more reason why Canada should be independent of New York and Wall street.

A DISCRIMINATORY POWER BONUS

Members of the city council are quite right in defending themselves against criticism, no matter how friendly the criticism may be.

In the radio affair, however, Ald. Ross Fleming and Ald. J. B. Gray rather missed the real point of the Daily News criticism of the council for having agreed to give power to a proposed radio station to the extent of $15 a month and accept advertising in payment of the account. The objection of the Daily News to this policy was that it was discriminatory against other users of power in the city. If power is to be supplied to a commercial radio concern and payment is to be accepted in barter why should not other power users be given a similar concession? Why the discrimination?

Actually, the decision to provide power to the radio station, if it gets a license, was really a decision to bonus the station at the expense of the taxpayers. Such a policy is unsound and it establishes a dangerous precedent. We are giving away too much power as it is, and the taxpayers are paying the bill.

With the statement of Ald. Ross Fleming that a good radio station would be conductive to making Nelson a good centre, the Daily News heartily agrees. But a good radio station is not in prospect. The proposals which are being made provide neither for a good radio station, nor for good programs. The plan is for a cheaply constructed station, backed by virtually no capital resources and with no prospect whatever of good programs, excepting perhaps for the first two or three weeks when good local artists would enjoy the novelty of broadcasting.

It takes capital to establish any business and, even more important is the fact that there should be at least some prospect of adequate revenue to maintain it efficiently. There is no prospect whatever of a station in Nelson securing adequate revenue to enable it to maintain good programs. We hear talk that "the Canadian radio commission would likely hook up", with the proposed Nelson station. It might, but only for a consideration, and the consideration is a large one. The monthly expense of securing the Canadian broadcasts is very high. Kelowna and Kamloops are sometimes mentioned, but these stations were part of the system operated partly at the expense of the taxpayers by the Canadian National railway.

It is suggested that the station might start on a small scale and grow like the oak. Ald. Fleming mentions the Kootenay Musical festival, for which he has personally done such splendid work. But the two cases are not parallel. The musical festival operates once a year. It does not have to provide daily programs; it does not have to meet a daily expense account. It is not a commercial undertaking. Its supporters contribute their time without charge.

Ald. Gray favors a radio station partly because he thinks it would "curtail the power" of the Daily News. The idea is a curious one. What he describes as the power of the Daily News does not rest upon the existence or otherwise of a radio station in Nelson. It depends entirely upon public opinion. If the majority of people agree with a newspaper then it appears that a newspaper has a lot of power. If the majority disagrees with a newspaper then it appears that it is powerless. A newspaper's power in the final analysis is merely the power of the expression of public opinion and its apparent influence waxes and wanes in exact proportion to the accuracy or inaccuracy with which it guages ultimate public opinion.

"Between You and Me"

By J.B.C.

At a meeting of the Celtic Society of Columbia university, the other night, it was suggested that there should be a law prohibiting non-Celtic people from assuming Celtic family names. The same legitimate instinct which impels the Cabots not to let themselves be confused with the Kabotchnika would explain a certain resentment against Moraszewskis who become Morans and Bernsteins who become Burnses.

A law on the subject is really needed. An excellent way to keep non-Celts from appropriating Celtic names would be to spell Celtic names in the true Celtic manner. The chief reason why immigrant James Karolvi becomes John O'Kelly is that O'Kelly is easy to spell. But the vice-president of the Irish Free State writes in Sean O'Ceallaigh. It is obvious that Sandor Miclosz from Hungary will think twice before becoming Alexander McGuire if he will have to spell it Alasdair MacUidhir. What non-Celt would persist in becoming Frank Aiken at the cost of spelling it Proinnsias O h-Aodhagain, or become John McEntee and write it Sean Mac an tSaoi?

THAT BODY OF YOURS

By JAMES W. BARTON, M.D.

HEART SYMPTOMS MAY BE DUE TO MILD THYROID DISTURBANCES

When a disturbance of any kind occurs in the region of your heart it is only natural that you should be a little anxious about it and likely wonder if you have heart disease.

Some of the disturbing symptoms may be pain, a feeling of pressure and rapid heavy beats.

You go to your physician and after a careful examination he informs you that there is really no trouble with the heart, that the symptoms may be due to pressure from gas in the stomach, or gas in the large intestine, one loop of which is just below and slightly to the left of the stomach.

If there is no history of any gas, then he is of the opinion that you are just a little nervous of overanxious about yourself which in itself can cause the symptoms you describe.

In order to discover whether some of these cases where the heart itself was all right might be due to some other organic condition, Dr. G. Budelmann, Berlin, tested the effect of certain substances in 25 of these cases.

What did he find?

He found that the blood of some of these patients contained an increased amount of the juice or secretion from the thyroid gland in the neck.

As you know, it is this juice which hurries or increases the rate at which all the processes of the body work, so that those with an increased amount are usually very thin, and those with a lessened amount very fat.

Usually where there is an increased amount of this thyroid juice in the blood the patient has other symptoms than those of the heart—trembling of the limbs, indigestion, and bulging eyes—but Dr. Budelmann reports that these patients had no one of these other symptoms of thyroid disturbance. Nevertheless he considers it probable that a mild form of thyroid disturbance is present.

This doesn't mean any form of heart disease but that the increased amount of thyroid juice acts on the general nervous system which as it affects every process, naturally affects the heart action and causes rapid breathing, pressure, or pain.

It is likely then that a number of these cases causing anxiety about the heart when there is really no organic heart trouble, may be due to a mild form of thyroid disturbance, which is not a serious condition.

VERSE

I haven't seen Sir John of late,
Where are you Johnny Applewhaite?
Come from your lair and be a man,
Stand up and battle if you can.
Grasp your pen and a pint of ink
And dare to say what you really think.
Here is a subject more sweet than pie
One to worry you till you die,
One that will set you all awhirl—
What do you think of the modern girl?

Such a shower of apples falling,
Such a clear melodious calling,
And so gay a referee
Of the apple scrap, twixt John and me.
I thank you kindly, gentle Sir,
Or Madam, for what you infer.
Not for many and many a day
Have sweet flowers come my way,
As your bright gift of poesy
Clad in flowering melody.

While my skies are blue and my heart has wings
I will sing the wonder of common things.
For after all has been said and done
There is nothing common beneath the sun.
A water drop is a miracle
Where beauty in many forms may dwell.
A glance can stab or lift the heart
Till melody swells in every part.
And since you bid me sing anew
This R.B.W. is for you—
This poem of winter, stern and stout
That gayly calls to all, "Come out"

COME OUT!

Come out! Come out in the open!
Leave shelter and warmth behind,
For the keen caress of the weather
And the frozen kiss of the wind.

Come out and see that summer
Not all of beauty knows;
For the crystal blooms of winter
May rival even the rose.

The diamond snow-dust sparkles
Far as the eye can see;
Know the lilting lift of snowshoes
Through the keen white ectasy.

The swoop o'er the ice agleaming—
The ringing strokes of steel,
The flight down the hill at night
While the north lights dance and reel.

Come out! Come out in the open!
For only the north land knows
The charm and zest of the winter,
The stinging joy of the snows.

Auction and Contract Bridge

By the World's Leading Authority.
MILTON C. WORK

SAFETY FIRST

In rubber bridge safety should be the first thought and extra tricks considered only after the contract is assured. There is nothing so annoying as a partner who tries for extra tricks and in so doing jeopardizes his contract.

A couple whom we will call Mr. and Mrs. B playing as partners disagreed radically over the judgment used in the play of the following hand:

North: ♠A-10-4 ♥A-Q-9-3 ♦J-10-8-3-2 ♣Q
West: ♠J-7-5 ♥8-5-2 ♦K-4 ♣J-10-8-7-3
East: ♠9-8-3-2 ♥K-J-6 ♦6 ♣K-6-5-4-2
South: ♠K-Q-6 ♥10-7-4 ♦A-Q-9-7-5 ♣A-9
Dealer South. D-11

Mrs. B. sitting South, bid one diamond, West passed, and Mr. B. who always preferred to play the hand himself (a characteristic on which he cannot claim a monopoly), called one heart. East passed, and Mrs. B. in spite of the fact that she held only three cards of her partner's suit, risked two hearts; she also preferred that Mr. B. play the hand as in that event her play would not be subject to criticism. West passed, and Mr. B. with only four hearts, felt at this point that he must support his partner's diamonds, so he called three. Mrs. B. ventured three no trump, and Mr. B. because his singleton club seemed a no trump menace, made the game-bid in diamonds.

West's opening lead was the jack of clubs, North played the queen, East the king, and South won with the ace. At trick 2, South led the nine of clubs, ruffing in dummy. To trick 3, the jack of diamonds was led, East played the six, South the five, and West won with the king. To trick 4 West led the eight of hearts, North played the trey, and East the jack which held the trick East then led a small spade which South won with the queen, drew the remaining trump, and then led the 10 of hearts, West played the five, North the nine and East won with the king, which defeated the contract. Mrs. B's meek comment was: "I had a rotten break. If the diamond finesse had worked and the double finesse in hearts had succeeded, I would have made a grand slam." But Mr. B. somewhat emphatically volunteered his analysis of the play, "Tricks 1 and 2, you played correctly, but when the jack of diamonds was led and East played the six, you should have played the ace, having almost an even chance of finding king alone. If the king did not drop, you could still be sure of 11 tricks by eliminating the spades from your combined hand, and then leading a diamond. With North and South spadeless and clubless, West's only sound lead would be a heart which you should let East win. Then, any card that East returns would give you the contract. A heart lead would be up to dummy's ace-queen; a spade or a club, you could ruff in dummy and discard your losing heart."

THE RHYMING OPTIMIST

By ALINE MICHAELIS

TOMORROW

Man ever loves to ponder
The future's mystery,
He seeks always to pierce the veil
Through which he cannot see.

He feels the search is futile,
That nothing can reveal
Those far events which he would know,
But fixed decrees conceal.

Yet he could surely master
The answer to his quest
If he would read the secret things
That lie within his breast.

Tomorrow shows the pattern
He works upon today,
And if he spins the threads of joy
Tomorrow will be gay.

He weaves today for rapture,
For triumph or defeat,
And if good dwells within his heart,
Tomorrow will be sweet!

What the Press Is Saying

FAMOUS REPORTER PASSES ON

The death of Colonel Charles F. Hamilton recalls the scoop that he made during the South African war. He went with the Canadian troops as the correspondent of the Toronto Globe and the news of the battle of Paardeburg first appeared in that paper. The achievement gave him a great deal of prestige and on his return to the Dominion he was greeted by large audiences when he lectured on his experiences. He insisted that it was merely a matter of luck that he was able to get his report out of Africa before any other correspondents, drawn as they were from all parts of the world. But the general opinion among those acquainted with the circumstances was that he was much too modest. At any rate there was no reporter who did not envy him the thrill of satisfaction that he must have had when told that he had pulled off what was perhaps the biggest feat in the history of Canadian news gathering.

Of late years Colonel Hamilton has been attached to the headquarters staff of the Royal Canadian Mounted Police. One of his duties was to edit the annual report of that force. It deserves to be read much more widely than it. Those who have done so and who knew his qualifications for such work recognized how much its value and attractiveness were due to the compiler.—Edmonton Bulletin.

HON. R. C. MATTHEWS BECOMES MINISTER OF NATIONAL REVENUE

Whatever criticisms may have been heard from time to time on the calibre of the representatives which Toronto has sent to Ottawa, such reflections cannot apply to the newly appointed member of the Bennett cabinet. R. C. Matthews is prominent in the community by reason of his native ability. his wide information, his business experience and his personal charm. He brings to his new post a sound judgment and a thorough knowledge of affairs.

If Mr. Matthews had been aggressively assertive of his claims to recognition, it is to be supposed that he would have entered the cabinet long ago. His inclinations, however, do not lean towards self-assertion. But, backward as he may have been in that regard, his wide acquaintance will look forward with confidence to his career in the high post for which his outstanding qualities have signally designated him.—Toronto Telegram.

Institute Urges Hospital Districts

CRESTON, B.C., Dec. 14—Creston and District Women's Institute met in December session on Friday afternoon at the home of Mrs. Denzil Maxwell. The president, Mrs. C. F. Hayes, was in charge.

A vote of thanks was tendered Mrs. James Cook for her donation of a quilt for the Women's Institute ward in the hospital. A ward in the new hospital has been chosen on the upper floor.

Mrs. Stevens spoke of the plan proposed by the hospital board to help finance the hospital by the sale of hospital tickets. In order to try to expedite hospital legislation in the next session of the legislature a resolution was passed urging the formation of hospital districts. The resolution will be sent the superintendent of Women's Institutes, with a request that copies be sent to all institutes in the province for endorsation.

The date for the annual meeting was set for early in January. A donation of $10 was voted to the hospital board, and it was decided to buy blankets for the institute ward.

The tea hostesses were Mrs. E. W. Payne, Mrs. Edmondson and Mrs. Maxwell.

Stevens to Attend to Creston Resolution

CRESTON, Dec. 14— Attendance was light at the December meeting of Creston board of trade, which was in charge of President W. L. Bell.

Last meeting a resolution was adopted asking the fruit inspection department of the Dominion department of agriculture to maintain its inspection service on fruits coming in from the United States to prevent the incoming of fruit pests from the infested orchard areas across the line. The resolution was sent to Hon. H. H. Stevens, minister of trade and commerce, and word was received that it would have attention on his return from a health holiday abroad.

For the hospital committee Chas. Murrell reported th the hospital board had adopted the contract feature of the committee report submitted at the last board meeting, and that immediately these contracts would be available at $15 per family, or $10 per individual. This was for hospital room and board only. Medicine and doctor's charges were extra.

There was an informal discussion on the establishment of a creamery at Creston but no action of any sort resulted.

Scottish Company Has Clever Presentation

"Cotter's Saturday Night" to Be Given in Nelson

Probably one of the most important announcements from an entertainment standpoint is the positive assurance of the coming to Nelson opera house Thursday and Friday, December 21-22 of the world toured Scottish Musical Comedy company. A clever presentation of an adaptation of the Robert Burns' poem "The Cotter's Saturday Night" will be the offering. The scene was laid in a peasant's kitchen about the year 1790. The players in this classic will include Mary McMahon, Edyth McGregor, Ann Forsyth, Florence Reed, T. McAllister Wallace, Randolph Salmon, Watt Dixon, William Wilson and others. A recent comment from a Montreal critic sums up the success of this clever group. "The whole atmosphere is delightful, charming and wholesome. No effort is made at the mysterious of the complex, but there is a world of common sense. Of course the singing of Scotch songs is an outstanding and most enjoyable feature." On Friday, December 22, matinee and night the same company will present Ian McLaren's "The Bonnie Brier Bush." The Nelson date is under the auspices of the Gyro club.

HEAVIER IMPORTATION OF LUMBER

The importation of lumber in October was valued at $181,885, an advance of about $42,000 for that of a year ago. The largest item was 1,210,000 feet of oak from the United States invoiced at $51,153. There were 1,028,000 feet of white pine at $30,350, 257,000 of Southern Pine at $9,545, 141,000 of gumwood at $7,708, 84,000 of mahogany at $8,192, 65,000 of chestnut at $2,940 128,000 of cedar at $8,620, 390,000 of walnut at $30,103 all from the United States as well as smaller quantities of satinwood, ebony, lignum vitae, hickory, redwood, white ash and other varieties. In addition to the lumber as such there were veneers and plywood imported from the United States, Australia, United Kingdom, Japan and Poland valued at $33,500, a slight increase over October 1932.

NEWFOUNDLAND'S PLACE ON MAIN TRUNK AIR LINE

Described by Royal Commission; Service From St. John's to New York

ST. JOHN'S, Nfld. (CP).—A feature of the Amulree report on Newfoundland, which recommends the island be placed under the wing of the United Kingdom until it becomes self-supporting again, is a chapter containing observations on developments in the world of aviation.

"There is little doubt that Newfoundland and Labrador are destined to play an important part in the future development of transatlantic air service," the report states.

After noting that Newfoundland was the starting place of the first successful flight across the North Atlantic, by Sir John Alcock and Sir Arthur Whitten Brown in 1919, and referring to many other ocean flights, the report goes on to say "there are three transatlantic routes to which serious consideration is being given:

(1) The Greenland or sub-Arctic route;

(2) The great circle route via Newfoundland and Ireland;

(3) The southern route via Bermuda and the Azores.

"Of these the great circle route is the shortest route to operate and involves a shorter sea crossing than the southern route, the actual distance of the sea crossing being approximately 1980 miles. It also has the advantage that it does not involve operation in or transit over any foreign country.

"In July of this year, a conference attended by representatives of the governments of the United Kingdom, Canada and Newfoundland and of United States interests, was held at St. John's when a provisional agreement was reached; and as a result it is expected that a flying boat service between St. John's and New York via a port of call on Canadian territory will be started in the summer of 1934. St. John's will thus become the most eastern port of the vast air system of the North American continent, and the point in closest proximity to the European network which extends almost throughout the whole of Africa and to distant parts of Asia."

VALUE OF AIRCRAFT

Newfoundland's many suitable alighting facilities for aircraft, both along the coast and inland, are described in the report, which expressed the opinion that "the domestic policy of the governments of the island has never apparently included adequate appreciation of the value of aircraft operated in Newfoundland."

"It is countries like Newfoundland and Labrador that particularly benefit by aviation," it continues. "Great distances, remote settlements, winter and its isolation and hazards of forest fires in summer, all make quick communications from point to point desirable, and offer a field of use for aircraft hitherto ignored.

"A service opened between St. John's and the mainland of the American continent should result in a considerable volume of tourist trade and provide facilities for the carriage of merchandise and in particular of perishable goods.

"Newfoundland can also play a part in a combined service of airships and steamers, the latter being used for the long ocean crossing until regular transatlantic flying is possible. For this combined service, the route would be varied seasonally, and use would be made of a port on the west coast in summer and the southeast in autumn. Connection be at a suitable place in Canada." with the American continent would

Huge British Air Vessels to Lift 39 Passengers

LONDON (CP)—At the recent meeting of the Imperial airways, Sir Eric Geddes revealed the names of the new big landplane airliners which are being built for the cross-channel routes by the Short company will be Scylla and Syrinx.

Each of these new planes will have seating accommodation for 38 or 39 passengers. Sir Eric spoke enthusiastically of the newest of the craft which are already in service—the Armstrong Whiteworth monoplanes—stating that "they are proving themselves eminently satisfactory and are fully upholding the magnificent record of reliability and the all-round excellence of British aircraft and engines."

COURTS HAUNTED BY MYSTIC BUMP

London Judges Disturbed by Sound; Cause Unknown

LONDON (CP)— London's law courts would seem to have a "ghost." At least a strange knocking has been heard therein, disturbing the judges, and Justice Hawke has remarked thereon.

"I do not know whether the law courts are becoming haunted," he said when counsel in a case said he could not hear the judge's words because of a bumping noise, "but I am told that up to now every effort to find where the knocking is coming from has been unsuccessful."

When a reporter made inquiries about the "ghost" he was directed to the nether regions, where one of the office of works' 32 depots is located. "Someone is always knocking," said a works official. "They are continually phoning through and complaining about noises, and we are always trying to discover where they come from, without success.

"There are hundreds of men working here all the time, and it's impossible to get absolute quiet. Today's noise was probably from the engine-room—we make our own electricity, and there are ventilation shafts from the dynamo room which would carry sounds. Also, these old stone corridors are like whispering galleries."

"We get blamed for everything," he added. "A little while ago there was a smell of cooking in one of the courts. It came from a restaurant nearby, but we got the complaint."

COAL NEEDS CUT IN NEW VESSEL

SUNDERLAND, Eng. (CP)—A new type of ship which it is claimed will burn only half the amount of coal used by a vessel of the same size and speed built only 10 years ago, has been launched at Sunderland.

The ship, 300 feet long and 7,000 tons dead-weight, bulges heavily in the lower half of the hull and the stern is cut away sharply in streamline fashion to provide greater play for the propellers. Sir Joseph Isherwood, the inventor, placed orders last January for the construction of three of these arcform ships, confident that, despite the depression in the shipping world, the vessels would be sold before completion.

Daughter Follows Aimee's Trail to the Pulpit

The third generation of her family to embark on the sawdust trail, young Mrs. Robert McPherson Smythe, daughter of Aimee Semple McPherson Hutton, recently made her preaching debut in Angelus temple, Los Angeles. That she is following mother's footsteps in more ways than evangelically was hinted when Mrs. Smythe told her flock that if her husband, W. B. Smythe, objected to her work it'll be "just too bad." The romances of Roberta's mother and grandmother have been frequently in the spotlight during recent years. Grandmother, Mrs. Minnie "Ma" Kennedy, created a sensation by eloping with and marrying in 1931, and divorcing him a few [illegible] erta's second husband. Aimee's third husband, Dave and Aimee have been estranged for some time and are reported contemplating divorce.

Creston Growers to Form Market Plans

CRESTON, Dec. 14—There was a representative turnout of orchardists at the growers meeting on Wednesday afternoon, called by the local Stabilization board to hear an address from W. E. Haskins of Kelowna, organizer and chairman of the organization that brought the "cent a pound or on the ground" into action late this fall.

Mr. Haskins spoke at some length on the formation of the new marketing system in the Okanagan this season and pointed out that from a price on Duchess of about three cents a box net, and a return on Wealthys that left no profit at all, the "cent a pound" movement had brought Okanagan growers returns on their other varieties that were proving satisfactory.

He also discussed the happenings at the Dominion agricultural conference at Toronto late in November at which an effort was made to have Ottawa enact legislation along the lines of the British Marketing act.

Mr. Haskins also outlined what had taken place at different points in the Okanagan in connection with naming committees to discuss a 1934 marketing plan that would embrace all British Columbia.

W. G. Littlejohn, who opened the meeting and introduced the speaker presided, and on a call for a show of hands as to whether a local committee should be named and getting a favorable response, a motion was submitted by J. B. Holder, seconded by E. Ostrensky, that a growers meeting be called for Saturday at Creston, for the purpose of electing a growers' committee to formulate marketing plans agreeable to Creston district and also to appoint a delegate to sit on the Okanagan committee to formulate the final plans for 1934, to govern the entire B. C., industry."

This was adopted and the same evening the Stabilization board mailed out a circular letter to all growers in the valley who had signed the "cent a pound" agreement, exciting them to turn out on Saturday, and bring the neighbors wth them.

Plans are being considered in South America for the construction of a bridge across the Parana river joining Uruguayana, Argentina, and are gathering momentum on both sides. The structure would cost $2,500,000 and be a mile and a half long.

MORE LIVELY UNIFORM BALL FOR BIG LOOP

Majors Will Request Minors to Adopt the New Pill

DOUBLE-HEADERS OFF FOR SUNDAY

Sewell, Perkins and Pennock Released by the Yanks

By PAUL MICKELSON
Associated Press Sports Writer

CHICAGO, Dec. 14 (AP)—The major leagues today voted to adopt a uniform ball as a climax to one of the most important series of meetings in baseball history.

The new ball, livelier than the one used during the past few years in the National league and patterned almost exactly along the specifications of the American league sphere, will make its debut in next spring's training camps. It will be the only ball recognized or used in the majors.

A campaign also will be started at once to get all minor leagues to use the same ball. The Pacific Coast league already has voted to adopt it while the International and Texas leagues were almost certain to follow suit as they employed the National league ball last season.

TO CHOOSE BALL

The presidents of the two circuits, Will Harridge of the American and John Heydler of the National, were empowered to meet with the baseball manufacturers and pick out the ball they like. Their decision will be absolute.

As a compromise the two leagues also voted to ban all Sunday double-headers until after June 15 each season. Permission also was granted to John D. Shibe, vice-president of Philadelphia Athletics, to take an all-star team recruited from the American league ranks on a world exhibition tour after the close of the 1934 season.

YANKS RELEASE MEN

An amendment also was added to the constitution requiring any major league club to guarantee the salary of a player sent to a minor league team. Thus, if a major league team sends a player to the minors and the minor league team disbands, the major league club must pay the salary stipulated in the contract.

The player mart, which set a record for wholesale trades and sales of stars during the past two days, was unusually quiet, but a trio of yesterday's famous stars were released by New York Yankees.

Herb Pennock, 21 years in the American league; Joe Sewell, an American league veteran of 14 seasons, and Cy Perkins, one of the game's greatest backstops, were released by the Yanks. Perkins, a coach last season, immediately signed up in a similar capacity with Detroit Tigers. Pennock, wealthy in his own right, planned to retire from baseball, while it was understood the Yankees would find a managerial or coaching job in the minors for Sewell.

Prayers Are Said for "Ace" Bailey

MONTREAL, Dec. 14 (CP). — Prayers for the recovery of Irvin (Ace) Bailey, dangerously injured in Tuesday's National Hockey league game at Boston, were offered today by Brother Andre, founder of St. Joseph's oratory on Mount Royal, the Canadian Lourdes.

Brother Andre is well known to hockey players all over the N.H.L. circuit who frequently visit the ageing little "miracle man of Montreal," when injured in their professional duties.

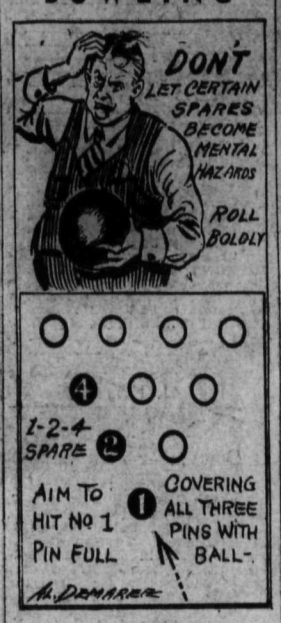
"Big League" BOWLING



By AL DEMAREE

Don't develop a mental hazard when confronted by certain spares. The 1-2-4 spare or the 1-2-4-7 spare is just as easy to make as the single pin 7 spare or the 10 pin spare. Many bowlers develop a fear of the 7 or 10 pin spare. Make yourself believe that one spare is comparatively as easy to knock over as any other spare and put the idea of failure out of your mind. Your mind guides your arm and hand and if you have any serious doubts about making certain spares they will become doubly difficult. The tough bowler to beat is the fellow who seldom blows his spares. The strikes will take care of themselves.

MORE ABOUT "ACE" BAILEY

Tests of the fluid removed from Bailey's spine this afternoon indicated injured tissue and continued internal bleeding.

Although his own surgeons refused to hazard an opinion whether or not Bailey, in the event he makes a complete recovery, would be able to continue his hockey career, the consensus of nonparticipating experts was that he would not.

MRS. BAILEY AT BOSTON

Permission of Mrs. Bailey, who arrived here this morning from Toronto with her 3-year-old daughter Joanne, was secured, and Bailey was on the operating table at 3:30. It was hours later before the surgeons concluded.

Mrs. Bailey, formerly Gladys Rowan of Blind River, Ont., comforted by the wives of several Boston Bruins players, maintained a watchful vigil at the institution.

Bailey suffered a five-inch skull fracture when knocked to the ice by Eddie Shore, Bruin defence star in the Leaf-Bruin game. The latter suffered a gash that required seven stitches to close when he was knocked down by Red Horner, Toronto's fiery defenceman.

SHORE IS BROKEN MAN

Shore was a broken man tonight. Always likeable off the ice, red-cheeked Eddie pleaded today that he had not hurt Bailey deliberately.

"I went into the dressing room to see Bailey," Shore said. "He was conscious. I said, 'Ace, I'm sorry this happened. I hope you're not badly injured. I assure you it was not intentional.' He replied, 'That's all right, Eddie, it's all in the game.' I did not strike him with a stick. I had no malice."

Shore made the statement when interviewed at his home by Inspector John F. McCarthy of the police homicide squad.

DIDN'T SEE BAILEY

Shore said he estimated he was travelling about 22 miles an hour, with his head down, when Bailey was struck. He was returning from an abortive raid on the Toronto goal when he noticed his teammate, Marty Barry, skating into Leaf territory with the puck and "I skated fast to get out of the Leaf zone before an offside penalty was called.

"I didn't see Bailey until it was too late and struck him with my left side against his.

"There was no feeling between us. It was purely accidental. We had been friends for some time."

KNOWS FAMILY

Prior to the operation Bailey, who was moved from Audubon hospital earlier in the day, was able to receive his wife and child. He recognized them and spoke to them more intelligibly than at any time since taken to the hospital. He also recognized and spoke to his team manager, Conny Smythe.

SMYTHE REMAINS

The Maple Leaf mentor, who is remaining in Boston indefinitely pending the outcome of his star right wing's injury, expressed indignation today because Bruin officials had not come to his assistance yesterday when he was arrested on a charge of assault and battery, lodged by a spectator who accused Smythe of striking him when Bailey was being carried off the ice.

Smythe was released on bond of $100 for hearing December 27. He said he would not have cared about being detained by the police except for the fact he wanted to be at the bedside of his injured star.

Leather Footwear Production Grows

The factory output of leather footwear in October totalled 1,838,771 pairs, an increase over October 1932 of 234,581 pairs, or 15 per cent. Compared with the output of September the October production shows the usual seasonal decline, the decrease amounting to 201,754 pairs, or 10 per cent. Footwear for women contributed 47 per cent of the October total output; for men 26 per cent; for misses and children, 13 per cent; for boys and youths, 8 per cent; and for babies and infants, 6 per cent. The total production of leather footwear for the ten months ended October 31 was 16,905,234 pairs, an average per month of 1,690,523 pairs, compared with a total of 15,539,820 pairs and a monthly average of 1,553,982 pairs in the corresponding period of 1932.

BRUINS BEAT AMERKS IN OVERTIME STRUGGLE PLAYING WITH NEW RULES

NEW YORK, Dec. 14 (AP).—Playing under rules that varied from those in force generally in the National Hockey league, Boston Bruins defeated New York Americans 5-4 in a lively overtime game tonight. The victory enabled the Bruins to hold third place in the league's American division while the Amerks remained at the bottom of the Canadian section.

It was an exciting game, although slow in a good many spots.

The rules which the teams agreed to try tonight permitted members of the attacking team to skate into the opposing team's defence zone ahead of the puck, but did not allow loafing near the net or passes across the blue line. The result eliminated a great deal of whistle blowing for offsides and apparently made scoring easier for both teams.

Absence of Eddie Shore weakened the Boston defence considerably, but Lionel Hitchman and Alex Smith handled the job capably with the occasional assistance of Myles Lane and Perk Galbraith.

First period: 1—Boston, Hitchman (Stewart) 13:02; 2—Americans, Gross, 16:15. Penalties: Lane.

Second period: 3 — Americans, Brydge (Klein) 1:19; 4—Americans, Jackson (Dutton-Himes) 4:59 5—Boston, Chapman (Oliver) 15:29; 6—Boston, Barry (Smith) 17:05. Penalties: Stewart, Martin, Lane, Brydge, Doran.

Third period: 7—Americans, Himes (Martin) 2:55; 8—Boston, Barry (Oliver) 13:15. Penalties: None.

Overtime period: 9—Boston, Chapman (Oliver) 4:45. Penalties: Smith.

CANADIENS WHITEWASH TORONTO LEAFS IN PENALTYLESS PUCK GAME

MONTREAL, Dec. 14 (CP).—Toronto Maple Leafs were shut out by Montreal Canadiens for the second time this season tonight when the Flying Frenchmen beat them 2-0 before a crowd of 7000.

The Canadiens scored a goal in each of the first two periods, then fell back to an airtight defence. Lorne Chabot, lanky Canadien goaler, earned his fifth shutout of the season at the expense of his team mates of other years.

Tonight's battle was fought without the imposition of a penalty.

The Canadian section leaders were without Red Horner and Ace Bailey. Horner was under definite suspension for his part in the disturbance in the game with Boston Tuesday night. Bailey was in a critical condition in a hospital from injuries received in that hectic game.

First period: 1—Canadiens, Morenz (Joliat-Gagnon) 11:44.

Second period: 2 — Canadiens, Joliat (Gagnon) 12:04.

Third period: No score.

The Thames was frozen from bank to bank, and the River Avon was frozen over at Bath for the first time in 30 years.

Record low December temperatures in Rotterdam—10.8 degrees Fahrenheit below zero—caused the River Maas to freeze. Inland navigation was stopped.

Twelve men drowned in Finnish waters.

Nine went down off the Suffolk coast of England, and seven were lost when the light ship Vyck sank off the coast of Dunkirk, France.

TANKER SINKS

The sinking of a tanker in the Black sea was reported, but no estimate was given of the number of probable victims. The Finnish ship was the Pius. The steamer Culmore, of 469 tons, was the stricken vessel.

In London the temperature went to 27 degrees Fahrenheit, the coldest of the winter. Southern England was 10 degrees colder than north Scotland.

The storm raged over all Rumania and carried with it a heavy snowfall. Trains were hours behind schedule.

It was announced that Vicomte Charles de Manneville, who started from England Tuesday on a flight to France, was still missing.

Snow covered eastern and central France. Paris had a few flurries, and Bar-le-Duc, France, recorded the lowest reading, six degrees above. Violent snowstorms swept northern Italy, causing three deaths. In Milan a heavy fall gave work to 12,000 unemployed.

ments there in the arms deadlock.

IMPORTANT GESTURE

Importance was attached to the possible Simon-Mussolini interview because the latter has demanded the league be reformed so as to make it more representative of world opinion. This, it has been indicated, may involve a divorce of the league from the Versailles post-war treaty.

Sir John's plans have not been announced in detail, but some circles believed he may consider a possible Franco-German rapprochement and that Mussolini may also visit Paris and other European capitals.

Lord Cecil made a plea today that the British government issue a public declaration on its disarmament policy, recommending complete abolition within five years from all countries of arms now forbidden Germany.

IS A CRISIS

M. Avenol declared "the league certainly is passing through a crisis but the situation is not hopeless."

Lord Cecil and Capt. Anthony Eden, British under-secretary for foreign affairs, asked continued support for the league as the best medium for peace and disarmament.

The former urged advocacy by the government of international arms supervision and suggested all signatories of an arms treaty should agree to sever diplomatic and financial relations with any signator failing to fulfill its promises.

The union in a resolution recorded its unaltered conviction that only through the league and a collective system could war be averted and civilization saved.

It also urged that the British government make a forthwith declaration of British policy along the lines suggested by Lord Cecil.

NORTHCOTT IS FINED $25

Pays Dearly for His Attack on Goal Umpire

MONTREAL, Dec. 14 (CP).—For his part in the fracas in Detroit Sunday night between members of the Montreal Maroons and the Detroit Red Wings, Baldy Northcott, Maroon left-winger, has been fined $25, Frank Patrick, managing director of the National Hockey league, announced here today. Northcott attempted to attack a goal umpire.

In imposing the fine, Patrick declared riotous hockey must be stopped.

GLASGOW PICKED TO WIN CONTEST

GLASGOW, Dec. 14 (CP cable).—Motherwell should have no trouble Saturday in keeping its record of no defeats unbroken through the 22 matches of its Scottish league first division schedule, for the Firth Parkers travel to Cowdenbeath in a meeting between first and last elevens of the section. Cowdenbeath has won only three matches this season.

Glasgo Rangers are confident of picking up points at Hamilton Academicals' grounds to keep Motherwell's lead limited to five points.

Aberdeen and Ayr United, deadlocked for third place four games behind Rangers, also look to have easy fixtures with Queen's Park and Airdrieonians respectively.

Dunfermline, now firmly entrenched at the top of the second division, take on St. Bernard's.

ARSENAL WILL MEET CHELSEA ON SATURDAY

Spurs Will Play at Sheffield Wed. Grounds

DERBY COUNTY TO HUDDERSFIELD

Grimsby Town Goes to Blackpool in 2nd Division

LONDON, Dec. 14 (CP cable).—Saturday's English Football league fixtures may be decisive in the present thrilling struggle for top place honors in the championship race. Three clubs are within a game of the Arsenal, league champions and leader, and any one of them could draw level with the Gunners.

Tottenham Hotspurs, only a point back of the leader, visit Sheffield Wednesday and Derby County, travelling faster than any outfit in the league just now, is at home to Sheffield United. Derby is deadlocked with Huddersfield Town for third place, one point back of Tottenham, but Huddersfield appears to have a tough assignment at Blackburn Rovers.

Although the teams are at the opposite ends of the championship table Arsenal and Chelsea might put on a rousing battle, when they meet at Highbury. Gunners have not yet decided their eleven. Chelsea is making four changes in its attack. The winners, Chitty and Oakton, are changing places, Argue is replaced at inside-right by Priestly and the latter's place at insnide-left is being taken by Gregg.

The schedule brings a "natural" in the second division when Grimsby Town, the leader, travels to Blackpool to meet the eleven relegated from the first division and now right on Grimsby Town's heels. Bolton Wanderers, holding down third place, clash with Millwall for the first time this season at New Cross. Bolton's team is unchanged but the Londoners, who will be on their own grounds, are moving Bond from centre-forward to outside-right, and putting Fishlock back at outside-left.

BANNISTER AND FORSEY RETURN

Jack Forsey and Allan Bannister, members of the Red Wing Hockey club, have returned from Calgary where they went to join the Altomah rugby team to go east. The Dominion finals were unable to be arranged, however.

Dog Licenses Are Costly to Collect

MONTREAL, (CP)—It cost the city $330 to collect $66 from 33 citizens who did not have licenses on their pet dogs, a recent estimate revealed. In such cases, an official explained, first comes the cost of inspectors who journey about the city finding canines without licenses. Then the administration must send the offender one or two notices of warning. There are paid employees to send out these notices, the mailing of which adds to the expenses.

When John Citizen heeds not this warning the city hall advises the recorder's court that a certain person has failed to pay his dog fees and a summons should be sent. The printing, compiling and delivery of this document amounts to a tidy sum.

Down comes Mr. Citizen in a hurry to pay his $3 fine and costs of about $2. He pays the cost of a licence and immediately his fine is returned to him.

RANGERS BEAT SENATORS 4-3

OTTAWA, Dec. 14 (CP)—Flashing the form that won the Stanley cup last season, New York Rangers won from Ottawa Senators 4-3 here tonight in a fast, rugged National Hockey league game.

A crowd of 5500 saw Rangers take a lead in the first period with goals by Murray Murdock and Butch Keeling. Desse Roche listed the first Ottawa goal early in the second period and Bun Cook replied with one for Rangers.

Going into the third two goals down, Senators put on a drive that fell short of giving them a tie. Early in the frame Bun Cook posted his second goal of the evening and then Earl Roche and Bill Touhey closed the scoring for Ottawa.

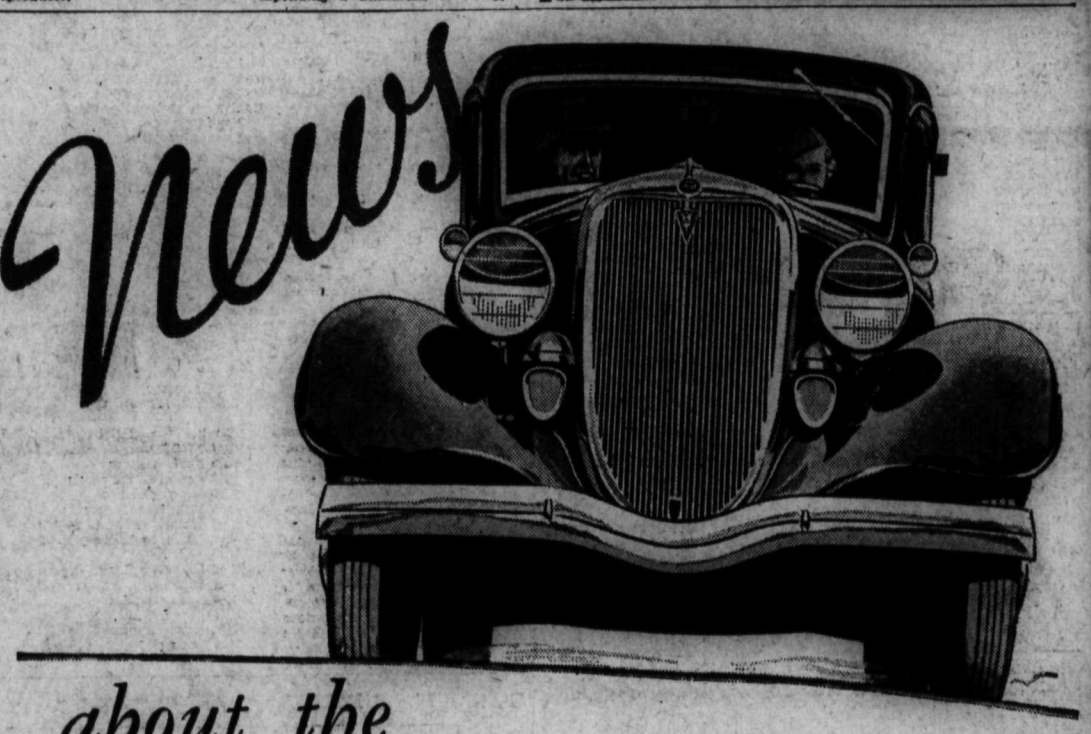
News about the New Ford V-8 for 1934



Greater power at still lower cost through new Dual Carburetion—Increased motoring comfort because of simplified Clear-vision Ventilation—Easier riding through flexible springs, deeper seat cushions and softer cushion springs—Distinctive new appearance—Many other features

1 More Miles Per Gallon—More Power, Speed and Efficiency with Dual Carburetion—Greater Oil Economy

The performance and economy of the 1933 Ford V-8 have been the talk of thousands of motorists. Owners said: "Leave it alone, don't change it." Dealers said: "Impossible to improve it!" But we have improved it—in every direction. We started with the engine. The Ford V-8 for 1934 is more powerful, more efficient, easier to start in cold weather, yet it is the most economical Ford to operate ever built—largely because of the new Dual Carburetor and Dual Intake Manifold. Furthermore, even in the coldest weather the V-8 engine warms up quickly and maintains an efficient operating temperature because of new thermostats in the waterline and the thermostatic intake manifold heat control.

Added engine refinements—get the details about all of them from the nearest Ford dealer—reduce oil consumption and further reduce operating and maintenance costs.

2 Clear-vision Ventilation—and the Windshield Opens

There's nothing to obstruct the view in the new Ford system of Clear-vision Ventilation. It's built-in—simplicity itself. The same handle that raises the window glass also slides it back horizontally to the ventilating position, and then the forward motion of the car draws the air out of the body. Drafts are eliminated, passenger comfort is assured, and windshield will not fog in cold weather. Another interesting feature of the Ford system—the windshield can be opened! This, and the cowl ventilator, provide the additional air needed for hot-weather comfort.

3 Transverse Springs—Comfort with Stability and Safety

Ford transverse springs provide the utmost stability and safety. Placed crosswise, they tend to prevent the body from tilting on uneven roads, and turns can be taken safely at relatively high speeds. Free and easy action of all four wheels is permitted because the outer flexible tips of the springs are attached to the axles.

Thus the most sensitive parts of the springs receive road shocks first and absorb them before they reach the body. The advantages of the solid axle are retained.

Revelations in Atholl's Battle Against the Irish Sweepstakes

Duke of Atholl Says Money Used to Fight Britain

Blamed

Insures Himself for $250,000 After Life Theatened

A dramatic campaign has been started in England against the Irish hospital sweepstakes.

It is declared that England has sent £35,000,000 to the Irish Free state in subscriptions to the sweep.

Irish hospitals are appealing for financial help from the proceeds of the last three sweepstakes.

The Duke of Atholl charges that the fund helps de Valera to carry on his disloyal campaign against Britain.

The export of Irish cattle to Britain has shown a surprising increase despite the prohibitive tariff imposed by Britain. De Valera has bonused the export of cattle.

The Free State imposes a 25 per cent tax on the hospitals' share of the proceeds. The auditors' report for October, 1932, showed that two Free State government departments received more than a million dollars each from the fund; expenses totalled £361,371 and 66 per cent of the proceeds went to prize money.

Over a period of a few years Edmonton has subscribed a huge sum to this fund.

LONDON—England has been agog over the battle which the Duke of Atholl is staging against the Irish hospital sweepstakes and his plea for subscriptions to aid British hospitals. For many weeks his appeal was wrapped in mystery; he could not divulge what he intended to do with the money, but he wanted a million sportsmen each to send him 10 shillings. There were dramatic incidents in his plea. He launched a bitter attack on what he called the scandal of the Irish sweepstakes and later revealed that his life and that of his lieutenants had been threatened if the campaign was not halted in 10 days. As a result of this threat, the Duke of Atholl had his life and those of his associates insured for £250,000.

This charge brought a challenge from Capt. Spencer Freeman, one of the chiefs of the Irish hospital trust, to produce evidence of the threats. An offer of £1000 to a British charity accompanied the dare.

HOSPITALS ASK FOR FINANCIAL AID

These lively incidents came at a time when the eyes of the public were directed at sweepstake affairs from various other angles. The Irish hospitals have appealed for financial aid from the funds accumulating from the last three sweepstakes. But the great surprise, however, was occasioned when the board of trade returns showed that the number of Free State cattle imported by Britain in August was more than double the figure for the same month last year. When Britain imposed a prohibitive tariff de Valera replied by bonusing the export of cattle. August butter exports to Britain nearly trebled the pre-tariff-war figure.

RECEIPTS OF SWEEPSTAKES

In view of the discussion the available sweepstake figures are interesting. In the Manchester November handicap in 1930 the subscriptions totalled £658,618, from which the hospitals received £131,724. The first, second and third prizes totalled £327,562. For the Grand National in March, 1931, the subscriptions amounted to £1,755,963, the hospitals receiving £438,990. The three prizes were valued at £649,997. Receipts climbed to £2,789,696 for the derby in 1931. The hospitals received £697,424 and there were 19 first prizes of £30,000 each, 19 seconds of £15,000 each, and 19 thirds of £10,000 each. Sixty per cent of these prizes were won in England.

DE VALERA

SLICES TAKEN BY GOVERNMENT

In November, 1931, the fund amounted to £2,941,852 and the Grand National in March, 1932, brought in £3,365,812. The fund still mounted and in October, 1932, for the Cesarewitch the total was £3,624,448, the prizes being £2,378,939.

The Free State now imposes a tax of 25 per cent on the hospitals' share of the proceeds.

The auditor's report for October, 1932, showed that the expenses were £333,853, or 9 per cent. This included:

Promoters	£ 79,486
Salaries, wages, state insurance	126,453
Advertising and publicity	29,548
Postage	29,548
Sundries	22,884

A further 25 per cent of the proceeds was divided as follows:

Free State minister of finance as stamp duty under 1st budget	£226,518
Minister for local government and public health	226,518
Free State hospitals	453,037

The total left available for prize funds was £2,384,374 or 66 per cent of the proceeds.

£12,000,000 RETURNED TO ENGLAND IN PRIZES

Captain Freeman in answering the Duke of Atholl, disagreed with the estimated £25,000,000 subscribed from the British Isles. He placed the total at £17,000,000, of which £12,000,000 had been returned in prizes and at least another £5,000,000 had found its way back in other expenditures.

The Duke in speaking of the campaign at a luncheon said:

"It has been said that I am responsible for Britain's greatest mystery story, which involves a pig in a certain poke. From all sides have come requests to be let into the secret.

"Behind the plea of helping charity something like $25,000,000 has gone to Ireland, a very conto help de Valera to carry on his disloyal policy against this considerable proportion of which goes try.

"I am fighting, tooth and nail, this scandal of money being poured into de Valera's state pockets.

"I have merely told you this as a background so that you may appreciate one of the reasons why I am now engaged in offering a pig in a poke for 10s.

DUKE'S LIFE THREATENED

"Now for the mystery part of the story. There is in London a very distinguished publicist of wide commercial experience, who for many years past, has devoted a great deal of time to helping British hospitals and ex-Service men's charities. This man has voluntarily rendered me great assistance.

"A few weeks ago he was approached by someone who stated that he had been instructed to seek his aid in support of a plan to prevent sweepstakes from being made legal in this country. I will leave you to guess the reason why my friend was offered a fee for his assistance that was five times greater than would have been adequate.

"I have another very able lieutenant who recently has received mysterious threats of physical violence if he persists in helping me with my scheme.

"I myself was told to drop the scheme in ten days, or something awful would happen to me.

"It was sent over to this side from Ireland, warning us that we must drop this scheme within ten days. Orders were given to the effect that it must be stopped at any price. I have ignored it."

GREAT BOOM IN FRENCH LOTTERY

Meanwhile there is a rush to buy tickets in the great new French lottery which is to provide funds to reduce the 1932 budget deficit.

The tickets cost 100 francs each, roughly 25 shillings at present rates.

There will be three prizes of £40,000, fifteen of £8,000, sixty of £4,000, six hundred of £1200 and six hundred of £400.

In addition there will be six thousand consolation prizes of £80 and sixty thousand of £2 15 shillings. Six million tickets will be issued.

The government will be the biggest prize winner, taking in £1,920,000.

This lottery is divided into three equal sections, and the draw for the first takes place between November 5 and 30 in Paris.

The boom has been so great that it is stated that only 20 per cent of the demand for tickets for the first prize drawing could be allotted, and it is expected that three further issues, each of £2,500,000, and with a separate drawing, will be made without delay and that the total of £12,500,000 sanctioned by parliament will be issued before the end of the year.

The last £2,500,000 will probably be available to the public about November 20, and the prizes drawn near Christmas Day.

It is estimated that the Italian government's profits from the weekly state lottery is more than 500,000,000 lire (£8,333,000 at present rates) a year.

The promoters of a sweepstake in the Isle of Man have been heavily fined.

HOSPITAL GAINS STEPHEN JEWELS

Gifts of Late Canadian Financier to British Fund $6,500,000

LONDON, (CP)—A supurb diamond and pearl tiara which belonged to the late Lady Mount Stephen, widow of the 1st Baron Mount Stephan (George Stephen) Canadian financier, who died in England in 1921, has been given to King Edward's hospital fund and is being disposed of by sale at Christie's.

This, the final Mount Stephen gift to the fund, is composed of seven trefoil scroll ornaments, enclosing pear-shaped pendant diamonds and set with pearls. The scrolls are separated by diamond uprights of trefoil and leaf design, and every point is garnished with diamonds.

During his life Lord Mount Stephen gave to the fund more than $2,500,000, and by his will left to it the residue of his estate, amounting to $3,343,815 with reversion on the death of Lady Mount Stephen of a further $699,620. His total gifts to the fund amount to $6,500,000.

Lady Mount Stephen was formerly lady-in-waiting to the Duchess of Teck, mother of Queen Mary, a member of the general council of the fund, a Lady of Grace of the Order of St. John of Jerusalem, and a Dame Commander of the Order of the British Empire.

NEWSPAPER ADS PAID WELSH TOWNS

CARNAVON, Wales, (CP)—A tribute to newspaper advertising is paid by T. Sudell, secretary of the Abergele and Pensarn Town Advertising association, in his annual report.

Mr. Sudell states the association carried out a program of press advertising on a much larger scale than in previous years, and this resulted in a large demand for guide books. "From reports I have received from hotel, apartment, and boarding house proprietors and tradespeople," he says, "it would appear that this season has been the best for many years. From the results of our press advertising this season, I have no hesitation in recommending that we again adopt this mode of advertising during the 1934 season."

Lincoln Receives Belated Visit From Namesake Regiment

The 2nd battalion Lincolnshire regiment on its journey from Dover to Caterick, created quite a sensation when it passed through the ancient city of Lincoln. It was the first time in 36 years that a regular battalion of the Lincolnshire regiment had paid a visit to the city of Lincoln. The photograph shows the battalion marching through the ancient Stonebow arch in the city.

NEW METHOD FOR BLOOD TRANSFUSION

LEEDS, England, (CP)—A demonstration was given at Leeds General infirmary of a new appliance for the transfusion of blood. The demonstration was given by two Parisian surgeons—M. Becart and M. Pauchet—who first showed their appliance in Paris a fortnight earlier.

The great advantages of the new method are at it prevents the exposure of the blood to the air and maintains its temperature. The apparatus consists of a small electrical appliance with two tubes one taking the blood from the donor and the other transmitting it to the patient.

BONDS REACT AT NEW YORK

Utilities Tend to Bog Down; Metals Come to the Front

By JOHN L. COOLEY
Associated Press Financial Writer

NEW YORK, Dec. 14 (AP)—Rising exchange rates appeared to give a fillip to stocks and some commodities today, but net advances were mostly meagre. Wheat reacted and U.S. government bonds, which had been profiting by a rising United States dollar, fell back a bit.

Further official denials that the United States was moving to negotiate with Great Britain and France anent stabilization and senatorial warnings that an adjustment around present levels would precipitate a congressional fight for inflation helped focus attention on monetary matters.

The movement of stocks was not uniformly toward higher levels, for utilities tended to bog down. American Telephone, ex-dividend, was especially heavy, losing 2½ net. Western Union and Postal preferred eased. International Telephone was steady.

Industrials returned general improvement, with metals again to the fore. U.S. Smelting rose 3½ and American Smelting about a point.

Allied Chemical's extreme rise of around 5 was reduced. Du Pont, Chrysler, Baldwin, Sears Roebuck, U. S. Steel, Bethlehem, Eastman, Union, and Standard Oil of New Jersey were fractions to around 2 points better, although the smaller gains were most numerous. Stock sales totalled 1,556,690 shares.

The foreign exchange market looked thin and dealers reported light buying of the more prominent currencies.

There was virtually no change in the money market today.

British mounted police swinging clubs, back up their foot police as they disperse Moslems demonstrating in Jaffa, Palestine, against the increasing immigration of Jews into Palestine. The mob of fighting Moslems is being shunted into a narrow street off the square. More than 20 were killed and 130 injured on both sides before order was restored. DOORS LOCKED

Doors were locked and barred in Chinatown tonight. During the day storekeepers kept indoors and declined to answer questions. One wholesale importer ventured the opinion "this is not the end." And police are actively searching for the four men who, it is feared, may provoke another pitched battle.

Rivalry between members of the Dat Koon club and supporters of the Kuomintang or Chinese Nationalist party was said to be the cause of the trouble. According to information gathered by police the battle started in the restaurant of Man Hong when members of one faction challenged the other to fight.

LOTS OF WEAPONS

Swords, knives, and clubs were wielded. Shrill cries pierced the air. Lithe Chinese]oked in battle and then flew in all directions when police arrived. The wounded were removed to hospital and 15 were placed under arrest and taken to headquarters. Three fine Chinese swords, a butcher knife and steel bars were taken to headquarters by police as evidence of the battle.

Asked at police headquarters what might be the cause of the outbreak, George Hum, leader of the Dat Koon club, said the club had recently moved to better quarters and had celebrated the event by staging a parade. He believed the other faction had become jealous.

Police said the men would probably not be arraigned in court until the four men now being sought were taken into custody.

PARROT'S PECK PROVED DEADLY

LONDON (CP)—One of the most extraordinary cases in his experience, was the statement of the coroner at an inquest at West Middlesex hospital on the death of a woman who had been killed by a parrot.

The woman, Eliza Jane Griffiths, was 72 years of age. She was covering her parrot at night, as she had done for many years, when the bird pecked her on the left elbow. Toxaemia and gangrene developed, and she died in hospital the following day. A verdict in accordance with the evidence was recorded.

ASKS AID IN WAR AGAINST LOWER PRICES

Noakes Condemns the Purchase Alberta Potatoes

BROWNE BLAMES THE DEPARTMENT

Condemning retail and wholesale price slashing of farm produce and, on behalf of the West Kootenay Central Farmers' institute, petitioning the aid of the Nelson board of trade in an effort to obtain higher prices, A. H. Noakes addressed the board members at the monthly luncheon in the Hume hotel Thursday afternoon. He spoke in advance of the joint board and farmers meeting next month.

He declared that the effort to stop stores in their underselling practices were having the desirable effect at the coast and an effort was being made to do the same here.

Ranchers were often surprised to see eggs, which they had sold for 40 cents, being sold in stores for 39 cents. The purchaser had to sell below cost to sell at the same price as his opposition. This tended to lower prices all around. Underselling in turkeys and other lines were also mentioned.

Nelson store keepers could not blame the farmer getting his catalogue and buying out of the district if the store keepers imported farm produce in order to cut prices. He declared that in an interview with the mayor, the mayor had said the farmers were lucky. They were sure of food. Mr. Noakes said that 90 per cent of the farmers were on relief and were raising very little now. It did not pay them to do so. He thought better sales for the farmer would be of mutual benefit; they would purchase more merchandise here.

He declared that the National Fruit had imported five cars of Alberta netted gems and they were retailing here for the same price as B.C. potatoes. At Calgary, B.C. netted gems brought $1.85 a sack while the Alberta product was worth only 90 cents.

In defence of the wholesalers regarding the potato question, A. Browne, manager of the local branch of the National Fruit, laid the blame on the provincial department of agriculture. Their predictions, which he declared absolutely false, led the farmers to believe that there would be a shortage in potatoes and a consequent jump in price. B.C. growers immediately began to hold out for higher prices. Grand Forks, where a good part of the netted gem variety was obtained, raised their price from $20 received last year to $38 a ton. Mr. Browne said he could not buy at the advanced price and do business. The National Fruit was not trying to bear down on the farmers. The National Fruit company had been instrumental in interesting Grand Forks growers to centralize on one variety and make a name for itself, which had been the result. The wholesale company, as soon as the Alberta shipment was cleaned up would again buy local potatoes. All other vegetables obtainable in the district were bought in the district, he declared.

Ven. Archdeacon Fred H. Graham, who pleaded ignorance of the intricacies of trade and commerce, thought that to a certain point low prices were a blessing for the city. Many were on relief and could not pay more. They would have to go without. "There's a very natural desire and it is our desire also that as far as possible; to farmers also, goods be as cheap as possible," he said.

J. A. McDonald, manager of the McDonald Jam company, said the Doukhobors set the price of vegetables. He had a car of Arrow Lakes and Grand Forks potatoes in storage and saw no necessity for bringing in Alberta potatoes. He had ways patronized local concern the past, although he might profited by doing otherwise, an ways would.

Mr. Noakes said that a big centage of ranchers were on r and if the others could not get prices they would be sitting bac relief 100 per cent.

Both Mr. Browne and Mr. H ton offered to back the institu it brought in recommendation W. M. Cunliffe pointed out, board could not lead in the e for higher prices. Mr. Noakes o to see the institute committee with the view of bringing in ommendations at the joint me
