AUSTRIANS TOLD TO GET RID OF ARMS

France, Britain Issue Virtual Ultimatum States Italian Paper

TERMS NOTE AS "MOST VIOLENT"

Under-Secretary Declares Arms Were Originally Owned by Austria

ROME, Feb. 17 (AP).—Giornale d'Italia today published the text of what it called a virtual ultimatum that France, with Great Britain's adhesion, sent to Vienna giving the Austrian government a fortnight in which to get rid of arms and supplies allegedly concentrated in that country in violation, the paper says, of the treaty of St. Germain.

The note was kept secret, the Giornale d'Italia said, because responsible French circles realized it was "excessively forceful," and do not wish to lay themselves open to public judgment.

The note evidently referred to the reported shipment of 40,000 rifles, and 200 machine guns from Italy to Austria, recently, although it did not mention the specific origin of the arms, according to the Giornale.

Mining Man Has Suggestion to Open Trade Channels

SALT LAKE CITY, Utah, Feb. 17 (AP)—Make every person over 18 years of age spend half the money he possesses. That is the suggestion of Harry S. Joseph, mining man and unsuccessful candidate for governor last year. In a letter to President-elect Franklin D. Roosevelt he said such a law would "open trade channels." The amount of currency, gold and silver held by corporations and individuals over 18 would be determined by a census.

Mysterious Prisoner Causes Much Interest

Pictures in Which Prisoner Is in, Carefully Blocked Out

LONDON, Feb. 17 (AP)—The case of the mysterious prisoner in the tower of London is exciting such public interest the government is to be asked in the house of commons next week to make a public announcement concerning him.

This evening the war department disclosed the prisoner is Lieut. N. Baillie-Stewart of the Seafourth Highlanders. The statement said he probably will be court-martialed early next month. The charges against him were not specified.

Some newspapers have published pictures of the prisoner with his escort exercising in open spaces within the tower but with the figure of the prisoner carefully blocked out, leaving only a white space outline of his form.

Questioners in the house of commons will ask why the officer is detained in the tower and "is compelled to take exercise exposed to the gaze of the general public," what his alleged offence is and when he will be tried.

The Chinese have decided to ignore the demand, the announcement said.

Meanwhile, Japanese troop movements continued and the crisis in Jehol seemed imminent.

WEIR IS NOT COMMITTED TO BARTER PLAN

Correspondence Brought Down Fails to Show Promise

DECLARES CATTLE COULD BE BOUGHT

Allowed Matter of Credibility Referred to Him

OTTAWA, Feb. 17 (CP).—Correspondence brought down in the commons today between Hon. Robert Weir, minister of agriculture, and G. G. Serkau, head of a Winnipeg cattle syndicate, does not in any place commit the minister to the proposed Russo-Canadian barter proposal. The communications on the plan to exchange 100,000 Canadian cattle for Russian products, chiefly petroleum, started last October.

The letter about which most rumors have been circulated was the reply of Mr. Weir to Mr. Serkau early in November before Mr. Serkau left for Moscow. It turns out to be chiefly a declaration that 100,000 head of cattle could be purchased in Canada, that Canadian cattle would be particularly adaptable to Russian climate and that Canadian cattle are the most healthy found anywhere.

REFER TO AUTHORITIES

Mr. Serkau had asked, "If the question of credibility should arise I assume I may refer the Russian authorities to you via cable." Mr.

Schaaf's Condition Poor Says Doctor

States There Was No Central Hemhorrhage

NEW YORK, Feb. 17 (AP).—Expressing the opinion that Ernie Schaaf was not trained down as far as he should have been, Dr. Charles Norris, chief examiner, today disclosed facts accepted as supporting his statement after the autopsy, that Schaaf's body appeared flabby and fleshy and the muscles were not as hard as I thought they should have been for a person contemplating a boxing bout," said Dr. Norris. "His failure to take off weight was probably due to his not having to meet weight requirement. His body showed an excess of subcutaneous fat."

In announcing the result of microscopic examination of Schaaf's brain, Dr. Norris said there was no central hemorrhage. The examination also showed there was no cyst within the brain, but the medical examiner's findings are not yet complete.

REFUSES THE APPLICATION COL. EDGETT

Claim to Recover Damages May Proceed to Trial

VANCOUVER, Feb. 17 (CP)—Chief Justice Aulay Morrison in supreme court today refused the application of Col. C. E. Edgett, recently dismissed chief of police, for an injunction against the board of police commissioners to prevent the board from appointing a new chief of police.

Colonel Edgett's claim to recover unstated damages from Mayor L. D. Taylor and Police Commissioners E. M. Charman and A. J. Dumaresq for alleged wrongful dismissal can proceed to trial.

WOULD BE FUTILE

His lordship indicated that he based his refusal of the application for an injunction on the ground that a restraining order would be futile. He had previously intimated that the only point in the case was whether Mayor L. D. Taylor, chairman of the police board had to subscribe to the oath of police commissioner in addition to that of mayor. Plaintiff had raised this question in his statement of claim and alleged that the board was not

Defence Argues Commutation Was in Nature of Pardon

HALIFAX, Feb. 17 (CP)—Peter Verigin, Doukhobor chieftain, will know Saturday, February 25, if he is to be deported to his native Russia. At the conclusion of his third appearance in supreme court here, Mr. Justice Humphrey Mellish today announced he expected to give a judgment in the case on that date.

Argument by opposing counsel as to validity of the order for Verigin's deportation continued for three hours today. J. J. Power, K.C., of Halifax, moved for discharge of the bearded cult leader, on the ground deportation was illegal since the governor-general's communtation of sentence had been an unconditional pardon.

GUY EXPLAINS THE BIG SMILE

Faced So Many Dangers Before Murder Charge Looked Harmless

LOS ANGELES, Feb. 17 (AP).—The smiling and affable young soldier of fortune, William James "Curly" Guy, who last night was acquitted of murder, today in the county jail explained the secret of the aplomb with which he went smiling through the case in which he was charged with killing Captain Walter Wanderwell, bizarre adventurer.

He was awaiting federal action on charges of being illegally in the country.

"After facing starvation as a prisoner in Russia, a firing squad commanded by Sandino, fever in the South American jungle and torture at the hands of Chinese brigands, a murder trial at Long Beach didn't look so dangerous," he said.

"I have been in every country in the world, and in plenty of jams of one kind or another. I knew I wasn't guilty, but if that jury had thought so I guess I could have stood the rope around my neck.

"One thing I was afraid of, though, and that was that they would have sent me to prison for life. I would rather be mowed down by a prison guard's machine gun than spend the rest of my days behind the bars."

He said that his one hope is he will be able to return to his young wife in London with a "stake." He said he holds the title of middleweight boxing champion of India and Egypt. He is a native of Cardiff, Wales.

SKATE BEER OVER THE RIVER TO U.S.

Officers Interrupt Sled Journey to Michigan

SARNIA, Ont., Feb. 17 (CP)—Skating beer across the ice of St. Clair river to Michigan from Ontario is the newest wrinkle in the now 14-year-old rum running racket. Port Huron inspectors made that discovery at South Park this afternoon when they seized a large sled containing 11 cases of Canadian beer.

The inspector saw two lads with a sled on the ice. They dropped the sled ropes and skated away as the officers approached on the ice.

With the freezing of St. Clair river from Port Lambton to Sarnia rum running activities have increased to a large extent.

CITIZENS TAKE STEPS AFTER SCHOOL TRUSTEES REFUSE TO HEAR VIEWS OF INDIVIDUALS

OVER 60 PERSONS IN ATTENDANCE AT BOARD MEETING BUT ARE DISAPPOINTED

Citizens Adjourn and Make Plans to Organize So as to Be Able to Voice Their Opinions on School Matters

Following Friday night's meeting of Nelson school board in committee, F. L. Irwin, secretary, announced that when the board has the data it is seeking regarding possible savings in expenditures, it will give public notice of a meeting and will receive a deputation from any responsible ratepayers body.

Intent upon getting into the discussion with the school board about school affairs in Nelson, over 60 persons, men and women attended the meeting of Nelson school board Friday night. They were not allowed, however, to express their views as they did not represent any body or orgaization. And when Chairman Notman declared that the board was not prepared to discuss his proposals for curtailment of school expenditures, the board went into committee to consider estimates. The citizens left the hall and met in the police court where it was decided that a Parent-Teachers' association would be formed. Instructions were given to write to Vancouver for necessary information regarding such bodies and their function.

The city hall chambers were well filled with spectators when the school board took their seats at about 8:20 o'clock. Teachers from the high, junior high, Central and Hume schools were in attendance. Chairman Notman asked if there was anyone among the spectators representing a local body. If so he could address the board. He could not hear from individuals. There was silence in the crowd. Mr. Notman declared that there must be some misunderstanding or misinterpretation as the board as yet had not decided upon any recommendations for efficiency and economy in the operation of the schools. The board members on Tues-

ESTIMATES OF AGRICULTURE PASSED, HOUSE

Vote of $456,200 for the Fruit Branch Proves a Snag

OTTAWA, Feb. 17 (CP)—The house of commons, in committee of supply, took under consideration tonight the estimates for the department of agriculture, the total vote being $7,356,812.

Items passed included $21,000 contribution to Empire Bureaux, $8500 contribution to the international institute of agriculture, $246,300 for dairying, $26,231 for publications and $140,000 for cold storage warehouses.

The warehouse vote is $60,000 less than last year and Hon. Robert Weir, the minister, explained a smaller sum would suffice because there were no new warehouses likely to be constructed next year.

The vote of $456,200 for the fruit branch proved a snag. The greatest argument centered about the annual grant of $5000 to the Canadian horticulture council.

Mr. Motherwell was strongly opposed to local fruit inspection and believed it should be left with the Dominion authorities as at present. The less connection between the inspectors and the locality in which they worked, the better, he said.

Cheese and grain inspection had won such a high reputation and value in the minds of the buyer that he looked only at the inspection certificate and not at the product, Mr. Motherwell said, and nothing should be done to weaken that reputation.

The item then passed.

COULD NOT BE REDUCED

The item of $443,200 for seed, feed and fertilizer control including grants to seed fairs and the Canadian Seed Growers association could not be reduced, Mr. Weir said. Mr. Young had suggested that since there was little money among the farmers today to buy pure bred cattle, fewer inspectors would be needed. The minister replied increased inspection was necessary to see that the farmers got pure seed.

The item was carried.

On the vote of $673,300 for the combatting of agricultural insect pests, western members who suffered severely from the grasshopper invasion last year spoke strongly in favor of increased efforts to stamp out this evil.

The minister said signs were present to indicate the possibility of another grasshopper plague next year.

MORE ABOUT SCHOOL BOARD

day had asked for certain definite information as to costs, etc., and these figures were not available as yet.

Mr. Notman on Tuesday had offered radical measures to curtail expenditures including the closing of the domestic science classes; closing of the commercial classes and the placing of the junior high school under the principalship of the high school principal. The board at that time asked just what the actual saving would be under his plan. With the idea that these figures would be available Friday, the meeting of the board was awaited with interest by the citizens.

MAY MEET RATEPAYERS

Mr. Notman stated that he was sorry so many had turned out when the board was not able to thresh things out, and that the board might yet call a meeting with ratepayers. He declared the board wished to work in harmony with the council along the lines of economy and wished to carry out the demands of the ratepayers. "The ratepayers are paying the bill and what they want we wish to fulfill," he said. Viewpoints of the teachers, the educational department must also be considered.

"I have made certain recommendations to the board and the board has not decided upon anything. It is now up to the board. I realized I would be trampling on someone's toes. I have a representative body of capable men with me and they are trying to get to the bottom of the problem. We have no information for you tonight. We want to save as much as possible and make intelligent decisions. We must please the ratepayers and it is the intention of the board to do so," he concluded.

NOTMAN SPEAKS UP

When the chairman announced that the board would go into committee as a whole the audience apparently did not hear the motion put and they continued to sit in the chamber. Mr. Notman then stood up and announced clearly that the meeting was adjourned.

At this point Dr. G. A. C. Walley asked if he could make an announcement and receiving permission he urged the citizens to adjourn to another room where it was hoped a Parent-Teachers' association might be formed.

A. Browne was named chairman pro tem and Mrs. L. L. Boomer, secretary. Mr. Browne stated that the citizens had gone to the school board meeting for a purpose but had not gotten very far. The board chairman had announced the board would listen to a speaker from any organized body but he would not listen to individuals so "we were shut out." The only way to remedy that condition, stated Mr. Browne, was to organize and he suggested formation of an association.

Alderman Ross Fleming stated that there was no use going into the matter with an axe to grind or with the idea of raising trouble. He believed a great deal of good could result from a Parent-Teachers' association and he believed the school board would welcome such an organization.

Mr. Browne stated he did not wish to convey any idea of antagonism. A need had arisen for some action and nothing could be done.

Mrs. Bert L. Oliver stated she was interested in the idea of such an organization in Nelson. She declared that she knew of several women who had discussed the idea for two years. She stated she was interested for four reasons, two of these were through high school and they "are not dumb-bells." She declared that the teachers could not be blamed because students did not have brains and, "anyone who got dumb-bells from the high school must have put them in there."

Mrs. Alan McLeod gave a brief resume of activities of the Parent-Teachers bodies at the coast.

Following a motion by Dr. G. A. C. Walley that the organization be formed 38 signatures were recorded and appeals made for a large membership. The organization committee is as follows: A. Browne, Mrs. L. L. Boomer, Dr. G. A. C. Walley and Charles Morris.

The organization broke up at about 10 o'clock and the school board was still considering estimates at that time.

ambassadors on January 31 that the shipment consisted of material formerly owned by Austria which was sent to Italy by a private company for repair.

The communications, as printed by the Giornale d'Italia, declared the Austrian government must obtain assurance of the complete reshipment of arms to the point of origin, or if the shipper refused to reaccept the arms, the government must destroy them.

The newspaper termed the note the "most violent." Editorially, it said it was an example of French international manoeuvres which are "extremely dangerous for Europe."

The paper expressed surprise that Great Britain should adhere to such a move.

WARLIKE PREPARATIONS

Charges were made by the journal that the real motive of the note was to cover the warlike preparations of France and her allies who were said, in an editorial in Premier Mussolini's Milan paper, Il Popolo d'Italia, to be planning a military offensive against Italy.

Il Popolo's article, which followed a statement by Premier Mussolini to the cabinet Wednesday that reports that Italy had formed alliance with Germany and Hungary were a "lying invention," asserted that the French-controled armament factories in Czechoslovakia recently shipped 250 cannon to Jugoslavia for use in such a movement.

possess the chief town of Jehol. The only way to get peace is for the Chinese to withdraw their troops from Jehol.

ONE JAPANESE WORTH 10 CHINESE

"We will fight if we have to. I have heard that there are about 150,000 Chinese troops in Jehol, but one Japanese is worth 10 Chinese. All Chinese soldiers are bandits."

Mr. Matsuoka avoided questions concerning Japan's apparently assured plans for withdrawal from the league, saying he had received no instructions to withdraw.

"Nobody in the league wants Japan to leave," he said, "and Japan does not want to leave, but if the league creates certain circumstances, the league may compel Japan to leave."

The conquest of the province of Jehol, which lies between Manchuria and China proper, is the next item on Japan's announced military schedule.

LITTLE FAITH IN PLAN

Chinese spokesmen accepted the league's settlement proposals as vindication of their nation's policy. But difficulty developed with the Soviet Russian representative, who indicated his government had little faith in the new plan for a settlement of the conflict which has disturbed the far east almost a year and a half.

The settlement plan, drawn up by the representatives of the 19 principal league powers, is embodied in a report which will be presented to the league assembly next week with every prospect of the full approval of all members and governments except Tokyo.

Reaffirming China's right to sovereignty over Manchuria, the report repeats the Lytton commission's conclusion that the Japanese military activities in these northeastern provinces have not been legitimate self-defence, and it recommends the early evacuation of Japanese troops.

To seek a solution of the eastern problem the report proposes negotiations between China and Japan, with the league powers and the United States and Russia participating in the role of assistant and umpire.

CHINESE TO RESIST

The Chinese, hailing the report as vindication of their policy of entrusting the conflict to the league, look forward eagerly to the time when the assembly may approve their taking military measures against Japan. They frankly announce China's purpose to resist with all her resources.

Dr. W. W. Yen, head of the Chinese delegation, said a new spirit of militarism is flaming in Chinese youth.

ROSSLANDERS LOSE BY 34-31

Last Minute Spurt Gives Nelson Maulers Close Basketball Victory

In a game that was anybody's from start to finish and which ultimately went to Nelson for no other reason than that the locals happened, by luck, to be on the high end when the final whistle blew, Nelson Maulers defeated the visiting Rossland hoop team, 34 to 31 at the junior high gym Friday night.

The game got away to a slow start but after the first quarter, there was plenty of pep and thrills for the fair sized crowd. Rossland led by a point or two throughout the first half, losing the lead for only a few seconds near the end of the stanza. At the half-way mark the score stood 16-15 for Rossland.

A point continued to separate the teams as the score mounted, well into the second half. Then came a lull in Nelson's tallying and Rossland went ahead with the score at 26-21. The visitors held the five-point lead, while the score climbed to 29-24. It was then that Nelson put on the spurt that ultimately gave them the game. They held the visitors scoreless while they sent their own total to 32. A few minutes before the end Rossland tallied to put the count at 32-31 for Nelson.

With that one-point lead and only a few seconds to go the Nelson squad almost saw victory snatched from it when it was reduced to four players when B. Clark was banished for personals. But a splendid piece of combination play finished with McDougall notching another basket to make it a three-point lead. The final whistle blew immediately after.

The visitors played a splendid "team-game," with the scoring pretty well shared. J. McDonnell with 10 and W. Purcello with nine, were the leaders, but they owed most of their baskets to the unselfishness of their team-mates, especially to P. Purcello and D. McNaughton, who did not themselves figure on the score sheet. J. Hendrickson with six points and H. Lefevere with four were dangerous every minute. McNaughton twice converted free throws to add two points to his team's score.

C. McDougall had a good night for Nelson, accepting his team-mates passes and capitalizing on them to the extent of 14 points, all field baskets. D. McQuaig with nine points and Bert Clark with eight, grabbed as many as they could under the close watch of their checks. F. Clark grabbed off a lone basket while N. McLeod converted a free throw. These two along with W. Kitto and J. Minton were on their toes every minute they were in the game.

Joe Wallach and Don Lucas refereed.

ROSSLAND GIRLS WIN BY 23 TO 16

Aria Saare Gets All But One of Nelson's Baskets

Keeping a few points in the lead all the way through, Rossland girl hoopers took a 23-16 victory over the Nelson rep team in an intercity basketball game at junior high gym on Friday night.

Nelson apparently had a bad night. For minutes at a time they didn't seem to be able to do anything right. Except for one lone basket by Doreen Dunnett, the opening Nelson tally, all the scoring for the local team was done by Aria Saare star of the junior high squad.

She was going good for a while, but near the end, when baskets were needed badly, her team mates apparently forgot her. For five minutes at a stretch she never got her hands on the ball, although she was always in position to score.

Rossland, on the other hand, recognized D. Edwards as their sharp-shooter and lost no opportunity to feed her under the basket. She notched 12 points of her own and materially assisted others to score.

Rossland shone in intercepting passes and time and again this ability proved of value to the visitors. They out-shot the locals 2 to 1 at the basket and but for bad luck at times must have rolled up a high score. Nelson had a lot of tough luck of its own under the basket, too.

N. Purcello of Rossland was banished for personals a few minutes from the end, Miss S. Edwards, coach, substituting.

Joe Wallach and D. McNaughton handled the game.

Teams were:

Rossland—N. Purcello (4), D. Edwards (12), J. Moorecroft (4), D. Irwin (1), M. Simcock (2), S. Edwards.

Nelson— D. Dunnett (2), Aria Saare (14), S. Wilson, I. Oughtred, E. Smith, B. Kline, G. Jarrett, G Horstead.

of a free pardon then the prisoner might exercise the right to refuse it and go back to jail for the unexpired nine months of his 18-month sentence for perjury.

C. S. Smith, K.C., of Halifax, representing the department of immigration, argued the deportation order had been legal. He asserted the pardon was conditional and Verigin's deportation to Russia constituted a "lawful condition."

Mr. Makaroff was permitted to make a statement to the court. "I doubt," he said, "whether it is a pardon. Suppose the deportation proceedings had failed through refusal of Russia to accept the prisoner; I submit in that case, he would have been taken back to jail."

PREROGATIVE OF MERCY

"I think," his lordship observed, "it is a release. He is to be deported because he was in prison and the pardon annuls of proceedings consequent upon his conviction. This is to be regarded as the exercise of the crown's prerogative of mercy."

After the hearing, Verigin was removed to immigration headquarters to await his fourth court appearance here.

properly constituted for the reason that Mayor Taylor had not been sworn in as a police commissioner, and that, therefore, the dismissal of Colonel Edgett, on the casting vote of the mayor was illegal.

On this issue, A. E. Lord, of the city's legal department, filed an affidavitt of City Clerk Charles Jones, who stated that he had administered the police commissioner's oath to Mayor Taylor on February 11, the same day when Colonel Edgett commenced his action. He had been dismissed five days previously.

LARGELY ACADEMIC

After learning this, the chief justice expressed the opinion that the question whether Mayor Taylor was qualified to sit as chairman of the board was largely academic. He added that he was prepared to decide the question, but A. M. Manson, K.C., plaintiff's counsel, with his application for an injunction refused, did not press it.

The application was dismissed with costs payable to the party winning at the trial.

Mr. Manson could not say whether he proposed taking any other proceedings on Colonel Edgett's behalf.

By order of judge the doors of the old chamber room at the court house were looked against a large crowd on hand for the case. Provincial police were summoned to control the crowd that milled about the corridor.

BURY SCHAAF

Five Cars of Flowers Follow Hearse; Marine Riots Observed

WRENTHAM Mass. Feb. 17 (AP)—From the little white house he bought his mother with his first earnings, the body of Ernie Schaaf, fallen ring gladiator, was borne today by sorrowing friends to its last resting place.

For three miles a long automobile cortege passed from the Schaaf home to tiny St. Mary's church. Hundreds of residents lined the streets.

Five cars immediately following the hearse were filled with flowers. Largest of these was one from Primo Carnera, giant Italian under whose gloved fist Schaaf fell in Madison Square Garden last Friday night.

After church services, the cortege moved on to St. Mary's cemetery in neighboring Foxboro. There, over the grave and the flag-draped coffin, other prayers were spoken. The navy firing squad shattered the quiet with a parting volley and a marine bugler sounded taps.

HUNTER HOLDS NEW ORE MILL IS IMPORTANT

Reduces Ore at One Operation at Extremely Low Cost

That a new type of ore mill developed by the Hardinge people, and being tried out in California, where at the Beebe plant it is pulverizing ore at a cost of only 47 cents per ton, should be of great interest to this territory, is asserted by W. Roy Hunter, former president of the Chamber of Mines of Eastern British Columbia.

"If the new mill will do what it is claimed for it, it amounts to the same as increasing the metal content in all our ores where it may be used," Mr. Hunter stated.

The new development was described at a recent luncheon in Spokane, which was reported as follows in the Spokesman-Review:

HOW IT COMPARES

"A mill that dresses ore at a cost of but 47 cents a ton was described by Robert T. Banks, president, at the luncheon of the Northwest Mining association in Spokane yesterday. It reduces mine run to 200 mesh in one operation, at the rate of 175 tons daily. It is called the Hudsel and is manufactured by the Hardinge company.

"This plant, of which but one other has been built, has been performing on the Beebe mine, an F. W. Bradley property at Georgetown, Calif. The 47 cents in comparable with $1.28 a ton on a basis of 300 tons daily with plants of other types but the Treadwell-Yukon; $1.02 on 1200 tons daily at the Morning mine of the Federal Mining & Smelting company; 90 cents at 500 tons daily at the Page mine of the same company, and at the Alaska-Juneau 32 cents on 11,000 tons daily. However only 4500 tons enters the mill, 6500 tons being eliminated.

"The mill of 47-cent achievement is similar in appearance to that of a Ferris wheel, and is 24 feet high. The 200-mesh fineness is attained by continuous dropping from the buckets, or whatever receptacle is used. The ratio of handling to discharge is 35 to one. It appears to be in the lower power consumption that the 47-cent plant excels at the same number of tons.

"For several weeks a Spokane operator has been studying the plant with a view of using it."

TO SAVE LARGE SPAWNING FISH FROM INJURY

Cradle Will Be Tried at Gerrard Hatchery for Big Ones

A cradle or trough, constructed by the Nelson hatchery staff from specifications sent out from Ottawa, for holding large salmon without injury during the "stripping process," is to be tried out at the Gerrard hatchery in connection with handling some of the huge Kamloops trout.

The big fish of great weight are so powerful that it is very difficult for hatchery operatives to hold them in their hands without injuring the fish so that they subsequently die.

In making use of the new invention, the fish will be guided into the cradle, and the narrow sides will prevent it from threshing about or making any material movement, when lifted out of the water. If this is successful, the big fish will come through the ordeal uninjured, to continue their careers.

NELSON SPEAKERS WIN DEBATE

"Unemployment Insurance" Subject at South Slocan

SOUTH SLOCAN, B. C., Feb. 17— "That unemployment insurance in Canada is practicable," was critically questioned when speakers from Nelson successfully upheld the negative of that resolution in a debate with local forensic talent at South Slocan, Monday, Feb. 13.

An initial speaker for the affirmative, Wilfred Lee argued that unemployment was 'here to stay' and that the victims of this economic malady must be provided for. He showed that even in good times the worker's income was insufficient to allow him to bear the risk of unemployment himself. The spreading of that risk by means of insurance was the only logical and practicable solution, the speaker thought.

Elsie Gansner, also supporting the affirmative, gave a detailed description of the unemployment insurance now in force in England and suggested that with certain modifications this system could be satisfactorily applied in Canada. Charlie Bland, final speaker in favour of unemployment insurance, pointed out that industrial firms insured their capital by setting aside part of their profits as a sinking fund. He thought that these profits might also be used to furnish protection for the human element of production—labor. This could be effected in a scheme of unemployment insurance to which both employer and employee contributed.

Speakers from Nelson were: the Misses Peggy Barclay and Leslie Fraser, and Leo Gansner. Miss Barclay spoke first for the negative and emphasized the demoralising psychological effect which the introduction of unemployment insurance would bring about. She illustrated her points by reference to the English system of 'dole' which she characterized as a complete failure.

Following Miss Barclay, Leslie Fraser stressed the fact that half the population of Canada was composed of farmers. These she said would have to contribute to any system of state insurance and yet, since they were never unemployed, the could not hope to gain any benefits from the system.

Leo Gansner wound up the case for the negative by presenting an array of practical difficulties in the way of unemployment insurance in Canada. These he said, proved beyond dispute that the idea was impracticable.

TWO-DAY WAR RIDS JAIL OF RODENT ARMY

From 30 to 50 Rats Are Killed; Did Much Damage

Between 30 and 50 husky brown rats—of the invading rat army that has overrun the Nelson waterfront recently—bit the dust in the provincial jail in a two-day extermination drive that Deputy Warden A. T. Stephenson completed Thursday. The officer started in with traps, but after half a dozen rodents had passed out by that route there was nothing more doing, and so resort was made to poison.

The first killed was a brown monster that was trapped, but was too large for the trap to kill. The jail cat was called in to finish it, supposedly a job of a couple of seconds, but the big rodent put up a battle that showed it would have been the cat's master in an equal fight.

It was in the jail storeroom, in the former women's wing, beneath the divisional office, where fires are kept, that the rats appeared, and for weeks there has been intermittent warfare, with the invaders being cleaned out a number of times. In their latest sally, the deputy warden saw eight or nine of them in the premises at one time.

For their part, the rats ate the leather backing off a number of old record books, sacrified the asbestos covering on the steam pipes, and even, it is stated, dug up and broke up ancient cracked cement flooring and piled up the pieces. It is estimated they have done $50 damage.

All through the wholesale section of the waterfront the rats are becoming an acute nuisance, and a general warfare is being waged on them.

It is said that in almost any warehouse basement a flashlight introduced at night will show rodents vanishing in all directions.

UNEMPLOYED ASK MORE AID, FERNIE

FERNIE, B. C., Feb. 17 — The Fernie council chamber was crowded by a large delegation of unemployed to meet the council on Wednesday evening. A. H. Beale, Harry Haig, and A. J. Carter, speaking for the delegation, expressed their dissatisfaction with the inadequacy of the present rate of relief given. They stated that their coal was now exhausted on account of the prolonged cold spell and asked the council to make arrangements so they could procure more.

They brought up the difference in relief payments to single men living at home who only get 20 cents a day and those living at hotels who receive 40 cents a day. They argued that the young man at home had to be clothed and had nothing after food was bought for this purpose.

They wished the city to send all totally unemployed able-bodied men to the city's wood camps and reserve the city street work for the miners who only get part time, and for those not fit for the wood camp.

They demanded that cash or checks be issued for relief instead of orders on stores as at present.

Recent reports show that no commercial airports exist in Finland, although there were six military fields.

COULDN'T LIFT HANDS TO HEAD

Deformed with Rheumatism at 32

NOW DOES HER HOUSEWORK AGAIN

For ten months this woman suffered. For ten months she struggled to break the grip of rheumatism. Yet when she did strike the right remedy, she did not need to wait long for proof that it was right. Six weeks of the daily dose of Kruschen, and her trouble was all gone. A "wonder of wonders" she calls it. She writes:—"About 12 months ago I was taken with rheumatism, and was so ill I was getting deformed. And I was only 32 years old. For ten months I tried everything, and was given up as a bad job. For days at a time, I could not get my hands up to my head. Then I thought of Kruschen Salts. Wonder of wonders! In six weeks' time I was able to do my own housework and look after my kiddies, and have never had any signs of the rheumatism returning."—Mrs. M.

Rheumatic conditions are the result of an excess of uric acid in the body. Two of the ingredients of Kruschen Salts have the power of dissolving uric acid crystals. Other ingredients of these salts assist Nature to expel these dissolved crystals through the natural channels. In addition, there are still other salts in Kruschen which prevent food fermentation in the intestines and thereby check the further accumulation not only of uric acid but of other body poisons which undermine the health. Remember, it's "the little daily dose" of Kruschen that rids your body of uric acid and keeps you free from the bondage of rheumatism.

Kruschen Salts is obtainable at all Drug Stores at 45c. and 75c. per bottle.

Scholastic Staff Not an Issue

Questions of the efficiency of the junior high school as a junior high or of the teachers as teachers are not at issue.

It is generally admitted that the junior high school, regarded solely as a junior high school, is one hundred per cent. It has in H. McArthur a man who is regarded by those best qualified to judge as beyond question the leading authority on junior high schools in British Columbia. Nor is the ability of other members of the staff of the junior high school as junior high school teachers in question.

The question at issue arises out of the fact that school expenditures have become greater than can be met, and that the junior high school in Nelson, as a part of our local educational system, has not performed the functions that its proponents believed it would perform when it was established.

It has not reduced costs of education in Nelson. It has increased them. It has increased the total expenditure, it has increased the average cost per pupil per year, and it has increased the per capita burden on the taxpayers.

Looked at purely as a single unit, it has not failed; looked at as part of what should be a homogeneous and smoothly and economically operated educational system, the junior high has failed.

It does not fit in perfectly with the rest of the system, and great as may be its merits in itself, it is too expensive a luxury for the tax-payers of Nelson to continue to experiment with.

Only eight cities in British Columbia have attached the junior high plan to their basic educational system. Nelson should return to the general education system of elementary and high schools which is operating successfully and in nearly all cases more economically in other municipalities in British Columbia.

Let it be repeated with emphasis that the issue is not the abilities of principal or teachers. That question does not enter into the matter.

The issue is whether we should drop the junior high, which is a luxury, and not an educational necessity, and revert to the plan which is working in 50 or so municipalities in British Columbia. If we got into line educationally with the majority of British Columbia cities, we could close the high school, use the Trafalgar building for high school purposes, use vacant rooms in Central and Hume schools for grades 7 and 8, move Mr. Rogers to Trafalgar school, Mr. McArthur to Central school, Mr. Sparks to Hume school, and appoint Mr. Stallwood to his former position of vice-principal of the Hume school. We would save some thousands in salaries, in addition to the 5% cut, and we would save virtually all cost of maintaining the present high school building.

The Lighthouse at St. Dunstan's

At the inner circle. Regent's Park, London, N.W.I., is the headquarters of St. Dunstan's, which seventeen years ago came into being to meet one of the most poignant needs occasioned by the War, that of blinded soldiers. It owes its initiation and its tradition of courageous service to the late Sir Arthur Pearson, himself a blinded man. Every year its reports have been such as to hearten mankind, not only the sightless, but those who have felt other wounds of the struggle of life. The last report, sent out under the chairmanship of Captain Ian Fraser, is no exception.

Since the Armistice, nine hundred men, overtaken by blindness as the result of war injuries, have entered the hostel, thirty-three of these as recently as last year. Thirty-one have died. Altogether, counting the families of these men, there are seven thousand whose lives centre about St. Dunstan's.

The report is given over to the success these blinded men are making of their lives. "St. Dunstan's," the report reminds us "took these men in the first shock of their blindness; gave them hope, ambition and self-respect; building always on the great courage which they brought with them even in their helplessness."

Stories are told of the way which these men are adjusting themselves and the efforts they are making in trades, handicrafts and the like. Always St. Dunstan's stands as a friend ready to help. Enlightening also are the paragraphs which tell of the interest taken in sport and especially of the world which broadcasting of games has opened up. St. Dunstan's has not only to its credit the wonderful story of its own graduates, but also that it has helped the blinded all over the world by showing what can be done. It has become a veritable lighthouse.

We admire the courage of these men and women who fly solo into the forgotten corners of the earth, but we fail to see just what they hope to accomplish.

When its zero in the Kootenays
And the water pipes are froze
And the weatherman says colder
And the bitter north wind blows
We'll be thinking of the summer
When it's 90 in the shade—
But just now it keeps us guessing
How the coal bills will be paid.

ADULATION

Stratford dentist, according to the Beacon-Herald, says the man who invented the electric drill made dentistry a science.

The thoughtless mob, joy unconcealed,
Creating thunder with their cheers,
Choose heroes from the sporting field
Or gaze with awe at financiers;
These be their gods, quite good enough
To please the clod with puzzled will,
But people made of sterner stuff
Acclaim the man who made the drill.

The crowd, in seeking out a star,
Raise huzzahs in the market place
For him who drives the wonder car
Or wins the aviation race;
In skies above, on earth beneath,
Strong men will earn their glory still,
But let us save a laurel wreath
For him who made the dentist's drill.

J.B.C.:

Your recent "Ten Nights in a Bar-Room" yarns fail to do justice to the rip-snorting days of the saloon. In them days, every respectable bar had a snake-room adjacent, in which a "paralysed" gent could have a free flop. It was customary for the local wits to place a sleeper's feet against the wainscot and drive shingle nails through the soles of his boots into the wood, then switch out the lights, wave a burning newspaper and holler fire.

In one boozarium known as the Bucket of Blood, the totally incapable were slid into the coal cellar and put in rough boxes with a candle burning at their head and feet. These tactics were discontinued because a number "swore off" and it was very bad form to be an abstainer unless one had previously taken a post-graduate course in boozology and was one of that select and honored few who had taken the Gold Cure, and were the snooty aristocrats of the drys.

DOUKHOBOR YOUTHS SEND TELEGRAMS TO MELLISH, GORDON

To the editor of The Nelson Daily News:

Sir—Enclosed are copies of telegrams which we are kindly requesting you to publish in your paper.

PETER SEMENOFF
WM. HOODICOFF

Mr. Justice Mellish,
Halifax, Nova Scotia:

We, Canadian Youths, depend on your right judgment for our defence, as it is known that it will be under your consideration in appeal of deportation from Canada, our leader, P. P. Verigin.

We wish to draw your attention to this matter and to inform you that the fate of Mr. Verigin is our fate. We kindly request you to give a chance to our leader of every consideration of the righteous laws of this free country as we always understood that the laws of this country are based on righteousness and are always in accordance with the laws of Christ.

We believe and depend that all our prayers will not be left without results and the case of P. P. Verigin will be considered with serious attention.

We are thanking you in anticipation.

Union of Individual Doukhobor Youths of Canada.
PETER W. SEMENOFF, Secretary
WM. HOODICOFF, Chairman

Hon. W. A. Gordon,
Minister of Immigration
Ottawa, Canada.

We are in receipt of the very sad news that upon your instructions, the authorities of the Prince Albert jail had secretly released from their custody our beloved leader, Peter P. Verigin, for deportation, without having been given an opportunity of an interview with his aged mother, his dear wife and his only grandson, for the purpose of bidding them farewell.

We as Canadians feel it our duty to inform you that we are grieved in your use of such swift and secret tactics and feel that such actions were unwarranted, in this day and age. They resemble the actions of the dark ages when the authorities were a law unto themselves, bought and sold slaves without any feeling of a sense of justice and love of God forthwith forced people into jails or sent them into forlorn exiles.

Such methods are not employed in our enlightened 20th century. They are looked upon as abhorrent, for like many other countries, Canada considers itself as being highly civilized.

Your actions in this matter tend to show us that you do not intend to leave us to live up to our motto: "Toil and peaceful life" and we inform you that we shall consider you as being responsible for any misfortunes that may befall us in the future.

Union of Individual Doukhobor Youths of Canada.
WM. HOODICOFF, Chairman
PETER P. SEMENOFF, Secretary.

INSURANCE FOR THE UNEMPLOYED IS NOT CURE OR A REMEDY

To the editor of The Nelson Daily News:

Sir—I am very sorry to note that your correspondent, Vernon Chapman appears to have gathered the wholly erroneous impression, that I am not profoundly and sincerely sympathetic toward all who are feeling this depression so acutely. On the contrary, I have a very personal interest in any move that will remedy present conditions and alleviate the intolerable suffering that now exists, for, I am like Bruin—denned up and living on last summer's fat.

During my enforced idleness, I have had the opportunity of applying the acid test to many of the pleasant and painless palliatives that have been prescribed, and have reluctantly been forced to the inevitable conclusion that unemployment insurance, whether contributory or otherwise, is not a cure nor even a good quack remedy. If such a scheme were inaugurated now, the benefits thereof would accrue to those who are now gainfully employed but might be laid off later. With employment at its lowest ebb it seems reasonable to suppose that those now employed are the key men, who by reason of superior skill and experience, seniority, dependability or other considerations are reasonably secure in their positions. To ask them to contribute to a fund to take care of the marginal workers in their trade, who are always last on and first off, is most unjust, for it merely encourages a bunch of hangers-on, who might "muscle in" on the job and furnish cheap strike insurance for the employer.

The scheme is objectionable on the ground that it cannot be worked out on an actuarial basis and is inherently wrong, inasmuch as it creates and artificial sense of security that delays a proper readjustment of the supply of labor to meet the demand. It would inevitably be inapplicable to the very classes of labor that are the most subject to violent fluctuations of demand. It certainly would never take in the building trades, construction workers, seasonal workers or unskilled labor, if it were not to become a general dole.

Our great trouble in the west, is that for the past 40 years, we have been living indirectly and directly off the construction of vast undertakings that were financed on borrowed money. We have reached the saturation point in public and private improvements, and we cannot borrow any more and must henceforth live within our income. The bitter truth is that those who have hitherto flitted from one big construction job to another, must readjust themselves voluntarily or become public charges and await the day when we will all be on relief together. As I see it, the only cure for unemployment is to quit creating a surplus of labor by excessive competition for the job, just as the cure for the coffee surplus in Brazil is not dumping it in the sea (which Mr. Chapman unjustly hints I would like to do with surplus labor) but in planting the surplus acreage to more saleable crops.

Mr. Chapman asks if I would accept health insurance, compensation for injury or a superannuation. Most emphatically, sir, I would and willingly, for it would be my right if I complied with the usual conditions. I might even accept unemployment insurance, not as a right, but as a dole, for I would as soon be on the bread line, for I would then have no illusions about rights. As to health insurance, it is practically on an actuarial basis, and one pays reasonably near the cost of the risk. Even health insurance pays no benefits for certain avoidable disabilities and it is not impossible that an unemployed insurance board might rule that an unemployed tradesman was not eligible for benefits, if a pick and shovel job were available. As to compensation and superannuation, they are not in the same category at all.

Mr. Chapman sounds a cheery note when he says people have got over being foolish and that the employer is now a swell guy. It was fashionable a few years ago for the boys to grind their teeth to the gums in lashing themselves into a fine frenzy about wage-slavery, and with tears in their eyes as big as pumpkins, sing out of the red song book:

Ye prisoners of starvation
Arise and break your chains.

Now that the constant nightmare of unemployment has become a day-mare too, here is the team of plugs for Miss Frustrated's covered wagon. In my opinion, that is the only way out. Freight trains get to nowhere in particular, too soon.

PRUDENS FUTURI

Nelson, B.C., Feb. 14, 1933.

WEEKLY WEATHER BULLETIN

For Western and Central Canada, embracing British Coumbia, Alberta, Saskatchewan, Manitoba and Ontario.

Monday, Feb. 20, 1933—About central provinces slightly higher temperatures and much clearer weather. On Pacific slope and in the southwest light, scattering precipitation.

Tuesday, Feb. 21—Weather generally quite clear and a mild cold wave slowly drifts in from the northwest. Maybe light precipitation about the southwest sections.

Wednesday, Feb. 22—The cold wave drifts to the east and is followed in west by unsettled weather, scattering snows and strong, cold winds.

Thursday, Feb. 23—Middle of a cold spell, but on Pacific slope and along southern borders of central regions probably light precipitation.

Friday, Feb. 24—Weather is clearing in most parts and cold spell considerably moderating. Little or no precipitation except on Pacific slope and southwest.

Saturday, Feb. 25—Clearing and temperature generally tend to moderate. Very light precipitation in spots along the southeast borders.

Sunday, Feb. 26—This ought to be a fairly clear day in all central regions, slightly colder and nearly quiet or very light south-westerly winds.

Week of Feb. 20 to 26, 1933, in central provinces begins with slightly warmer, clearer weather, yet in general this is a week of clear, cold weather, being coldest around 22nd or 23rd. May be light precipitation in southwest and along southern borders of central regions, but about last of week moderating temperatures and clearing is expected in all parts of the country. February normal precipitation is not more than a quarter of an inch per week in the central provinces and this week even less is expected.

In the northern hemisphere the mid winter cold is definitely past by the 10th of February, when the Sun reaches a declination of less than 15 degrees south of the equator. About 60 days later, near April 15, when the Sun's declination is around 10 north of the equator nearly all ice breaks up in the lakes and rivers of this country and through navigation is resumed. This year a cold spell near middle of March is expected to retard the spring thaw, above latitude 45, but it seems fairly safe to predict that the Straits of Mackinac will be open to navigation between the 12th and 20th of April.

That Body of Yours

By JAMES W. BARTON, M.D.

WHY CROWDED ROOM CAUSES TROUBLE

As students we were taught that each person in a school room needed 1000 cubic feet of air space, and that the air in the room should be changed three times an hour.

We were taught also that the carbon dioxide that was breathed out of the lungs was injurious, and that the "organic particles" breathed out were very dangerous and were responsible for the headaches and tired feeling which occurred due to remaining in an unventilated room.

A few years ago it was shown that ventilation is not a matter of so much space for each individual, but that if the air in the room is kept moving then the amount of space for each person is not important.

It was found also that it is not the carbon dioxide, nor the waste organic particles from the lungs that causes headaches and tiredness, but the increased amount of moisture in the room. The water vapor in the air from the lungs accumulates to such an extent in the room, that the body can't regulate properly the amount of heat it needs to throw off, hence the feeling of stuffiness.

In the home, as a rule, particularly in the cool weather, there is really not enough moisture in the air, because the outside cool air has less moisture in it anyway, and when it gets heated in the home it has even less.

However in schools, churches, theatres, or other places where there are a large number of people congregated, so much moisture is breathed out from the lungs, that ventilation or movement of the air is absolutely necessary if headaches, stuffiness, and tiredness are to be prevented.

If the individual is in a crowded place regularly, it can gradually affect his general health causing particularly ailments of the throat and chest—colds, influenza, pneumonia, and some of the diseases of childhood.

While the opening of windows and thus creating a current of air is helpful, this is not always possible.

It has been amply proven however that the use of an electric fan by churning the air will create the movement necessary to remove that sense of oppression caused by overcrowding.

The above hand was played in a Mitchell duplicate game at the Wissahickon Club in Philadelphia. The bidding was South two Spades, West pass, North two No Trumps, East pass, South three No Trumps. Game was made at every table except one.

At the table where the defense succeeded, East led a Diamond which dummy won with the Ace; then since at least one Spade trick must be lost sooner or later, Declarer determined to give it away at once. South led a small Spade which West won with the Ten.

Now West, counting the hand, appreciates that the Declarer can take three Diamond tricks (unless North held the King, the Queen would have been finessed); and also that doubtless he now has four Spade tricks established and undoubtedly some strength in Clubs. The only possibility of defeating the contract lies in the taking of four Heart tricks by West; a feat which can be accomplished if East is strong enough to force a high Heart from the South hand and has the Ace of Clubs with which to get in and lead a second Heart.

All this must be done before Declarer completes the development of his hand; therefore West leads the Seven of Hearts to trick 3, North plays small and East plays the Jack. This forces South to play the Queen, and the success of West's scheme now depends upon East's having the Club Ace. South puts North in with the King of Diamonds and after a successful finesse runs four Spades. Then South leads a Club and, fortunately for East and West, East holds the essential Ace. Winning the trick, East leads a Heart and enables West to take four Hearts and defeat the contract by two tricks.

As the cards happened to lie, South could have made his contract by ducking on the first round of Hearts; but if West had held the Ace of Clubs that play would have been fatal. Mrs. Sue White was the West who foiled the Declarer by this clever manipulation of the Heart suit.

CHAPTER THREE

"I'd love to have dinner with you" Judy said gravely. Funny, Judy thought, after all these months of being alone, to be in the center of a situation like this! Two handsome men, both wanting to talk to her; and she hadn't even met one handsome man before. And—Silly little fool! Judy said to herself. One of them is just being kind to you, and the other really wants to get you started right because the program means more money for him if it goes well. Silly little conceited fool! Why, can't you grow up? Get over being a small-town girl. Stop thinking you're so nice. You're not pretty, really. Not very clever. Just very lucky. So—

"Thank you, Dick," she said softly. "Thank you. Oh, a lot more than I can tell you!"

"That's all right. I wanted to do it.

Dick stood up, looking a little abashed, a little unsure. So young, after all! Judy thought, looking at him. Really just as much at sea in the midst of all this—in spite of his apparent sophistication—as she.

"But I'll try to make good on the job, Dick. And the minute I can, I'm going to wire my father and just say 'No. I'm staying here in Chicago.' Just like that!"

She laughed at her own vehemence. And Dick grinned, too. And then he took her hand. Almost as though he didn't want to let go, Judy thought in spite of herself. And then she said to herself again, "Silly little fool! Conceited!"

"Good-by," Dick said, not looking at Elton Day.

"Oh, 'by Dickie!" Elton said, grinning. "See you soon. On the Big Town Hour tonight. Got some stuff to talk to you about."

"All right," Dick said curtly. Then he handed the hovering waiter a bill, nodded, smiled at Judy again, and disappeared.

"Nice boy," Elton said now.

"Nicest I've met," Judy said warmly.

"But—see here, young woman! You've just met me, too, you know."

"I know," Judy said rising.

"Oh! That puts me right in my proper niche on the wall, doesn't it? Well, people have changed their minds about me before. Can happen again. Won't you, sit down?"

Judy wondered if she should have gone with Dick, if she should be here with Elton. She didn't know much about situations like this, or how to handle them; all very well to see in a play or read in a book about the sort of woman who is always poised, always in control of the men who are with her—but all wrong when you are as young as Judy Allison. She sat down.

"More coffee?"

"I don't think so."

"That's a very smart girl. Coffee is not good for me." A pause. "I drink three cups of black coffee every night."

"But why—if it's bad for you?"

"Oh, because it's bad for me, I suppose. Same reason I drink cocktails. Same reason I fall in love."

"Oh."

Judy felt more sure than ever that she should have gone with Dick Mason. Not one word she could really object to, not one thing that wasn't just light talk, and yet she felt more was coming.

"Now about these continuities," Elton Day said suddenly, in an entirely changed voice, an utterly business-like voice. "See here, Miss Allison—what's your idea of the character, anyhow?"

"I don't know anything about her, really. You see, I just walked in and they handed me a—"

NEW YORK LIST CLOSES HIGHER

Flurry in Equities Liable to Benefit by Prohibition Change

By JOHN L. COOLEY
Associated Press Financial Writer

NEW YORK, Feb. 17—Stocks felt a little better today and closed higher for the first time this week. A speculative flurry in equities of companies manufacturing products that might stand to benefit by prohibition change and a boost for the rails provided sufficient leverage to bring a general assortment of fractional to 2 point net gains. Volume totalled only 653,795 shares.

Stocks apparently looked with greater equanimity on selling of American dollars, even though some foreign monies reached quotations that would make profitable gold exports from the United States. Bankers attributed the sharp reversal in trend to European alarm over the attempted assassination of President-elect Roosevelt.

MONTREAL LIST FIRMS SLIGHTLY

MONTREAL, Feb. 17 (CP)—Montreal stock exchange listings reacted quietly in the more buoyant tone in New York today. Several of the leaders scored small advances while the closing tone was firm. Trading was quiet, less than 7000 shares changing hands.

Canadian Pacific closed at 11¼ for a net gain of ¼. Brazilian finished ⅛ higher at 8¼. International Nickel remained unchanged at 9⅛, while Consolidated Smelters yielded ½ to 60½.

Prices Irregular; Soft Spots in Rail Division

NEW YORK, Feb. 17 (AP)—Bonds displayed a reasonably steady tone today in the face of unusually wide declines in the U.S. government list. Prices were irregular and there were several soft spots in the rail division, but for all these features the market as a whole shows a better resistance to selling than on Thursday. Transactions amounted to $11,061,000 compared with $11,451,000 on the previous day.

PROFIT-TAKING DRAG ON WHEAT

Prices Fluctuate Erratically at Winnipeg

WINNIPEG, Feb. 17 (CP)—Wheat prices fluctuated erratically in today's session of the grain market, profit-taking selling erasing earlier strength caused by continued foreign demand for Canadian wheat. Values finished unchanged to ⅛ cent lower.

May closed at 48½, July at 49⅜ and October at 50⅝ cents.

MINES FEEL FOR A NEW BOTTOM

Most Higher-Priced Golds Lose Some

TORONTO, Feb. 17 (CP)—Losses predominated in the Standard mining market and volume got back below the half million mark today. The mild boom which swept through the market in the first 10 days of the month, has flattened out seemingly and the market is now feeling for a new bottom. Most of the high-priced gold shares lost a little ground today.

VANCOUVER LIST EASIER IN TONE

Bralorne Only One to Show Firmer Tendency

VANCOUVER, Feb. 17 (CP)—Activity was scattered with issues milling around in circles and a lack of speculative demand gave the Vancouver stock exchange an easier tone today.

Bralorne, the only issue to show a firmer tendency, gained one to 1.87. Bridge River was fairly active but failed to change its price level. Pioneer showed the widest fluctuation of the active list. Opening at 5.70, seven higher, the issue closed at 5.60, off three from the previous close. Premier at 68 and Reno at 70½ were each down a half while Noble Five eased a minor fraction to 5¼. Cariboo Gold lost 5 to 2.50.

CORN PRICES UP BRISKLY

Probability of Repeal Approval Gives Boost

By JOHN P. BOUGHAN
Associated Press Market Editor

CHICAGO, Feb. 17 (AP)—Corn prices ran briskly upward a cent a bushel today, and rural holders seized the chance to realize cash on the largest business this season.

Likelihood the house of representatives at Washington would give quick approval Monday to the prohibition repeal bill which passed the senate yesterday was largely responsible for the action of the corn market. Proposed legislation to facilitate manufacture of corn alcohol for automobile use acted also as a strengthening influence on values.

Corn closed firm, but at some setback from the day's top, ¼ to ¾ above yesterday's finish, wheat unchanged to ¼ up, oats, ¼ advanced, and provisions unchanged to a decline of 2 cents.

STOCK VOLUME SHARPLY DOWN

Losses and Gains Break About Even

TORONTO, Feb. 17 (CP)—Nothing spectacular developed in today's trading on the Toronto stock exchange, volume being sharply down in all issues except Nickel and British American Oil. Losses and gains broke about even, with the leaders on the upside, aided by the last minute rally in Wall street.

B. A. Oil weakened slightly to close unchanged at 7⅞. Imperial and International Pete were both off ⅛ and McColl Frontenac advanced a similar amount.

GOLDEN GATE CAFE

If It Wasn't For—

By AL DEMAREE

(Former Pitcher, New York Giants)

If it wasnt' for — — —

Fred Merkle, the old New York Giant first baseman, second base would just be another one of the three sacks that constitute an infield

But when one eventful afternoon in 1908 Fred forgot to touch second base on a force play and Johnny Evers tpuched it for him half an hour later and it cost the Giants the pennant, he and the base became famous.

Fred Merkle became "bonehead" Merkle overnight and the name clung to him through his entire career. Many fans thought it was his real name and when Fred was introduced to them they would exclaim, "So this is the famous 'Bone-head' Merkle I read so much about? Mighty pleased to meet you 'Bone-head'." All of which was just a pain in the neck to Fred of course.

Although Fred was one of the smartest ball players McGraw ever had, and he only made one mistake and that was a mistake that hundreds of players had been making for years, he was called "Bonehead," the rest of his life.

TWENTY-FIVE YEARS AGO TODAY

Feb. 18, 1908—Roger Bresnahan makes prediction that Giants will win pennant if they finish ahead of Chicago Cubs. Roger was right at that, if Fred Merkle had only "touched second."

Basketball Problems

By NAT HOLMAN

Star Player, Coach and Author of "Winning Basketball"

..Question—If you are scheduled to play one game a week, how many scrimmages do you hold between games?

Answer—Under such circumstances the squad would me for four practices. The first two are light workouts with not too strenuous a scrimmage involved. The third, the heaviest one of the week, is given over to a stiff scrimmage of almost a full-game proportion. The fourth is spent in drills and shooting practice.

There is much basketball that can be taught by means other than a scrimmage. Overdoing the latter method has many dangers. It reacts to make the players nervous and irritable and leaves them in sluggish playing condition.

C.N.R. GROSS REVENUES DOWN

MONTREAL, Feb. 17 (CP).—Gross revenues of the Canadian National railways for the week ended February 14 were $1,987,574, as compared with $2,657,691 for the corresponding period of 1932, a decrease of $670,-117, according to a company statement.

Cranbrook Team Beats Wardner 5-2

WARDNER, B. C., Feb. 17 — Scoring four goals in a third period rally the Cranbrook Zeniths defeated Wardner 5-2 in a hard fought hockey game in Cranbrook, Tuesday evening. Wardner handicapped by playing their first game under lights this season, fought hard all the way and the game was much closer than the score shows. R. Thompson and Moore scored for Wardner in the first and second periods. South scored in the second and Lewis, Hall, Brooks and Logan in the third for Cranbrook. McNab, defence man, played a fine game for Wardner. The lineup—

Wardner—goal, M. Sinclair; defence, Iverson and McNab, forwards, Moore, Beattie, R. Thompson, Nelson, T. Roland, W. Sinclair and G. Thompson.

Cranbrook — Goal, Muirhead, defence, Lewis and Provenzano; forwards, Hall, South, Downey, Logan, Brooks and Williams.

HOOKS and SLIDES

By WILLIAM BRAUCHER

BHOOKS AND SLIDES .....

The best middleweight in the world is not Marcel Thil. The best middleweight in the world is not Gorilla Jones, though the Gorilla is just about as cute as any of the lads in that division now. The best middleweight in the world is a colored boy named Sammy Slaughter, under the management of Bud Taylor, the old Terre Haute bantam. Sammy knocks them out with a flick of the wrist.

ON FOOTBALL TEAMS

The best football team in the United States is not Pittsburgh, which this misled writer believed before January 2. But Pittsburgh will have the best outfield in the National league next year with Lindstrom and the two Waners. So that's something.

ON THE BOX OFFICE

In an effort to overcome anticipated apathy toward the Washington ball club without Walter Johnson, Clark Griffith has made some smart moves with an eye to the box office. One of them was the naming of Joe Cronin as manager, an interesting experiment that either will make a great manager or ruin a fine ball player. Another was the return of Goose Goslin, adding a gob of color to the team. The addition of Writehill and Stewart to the pitching forces makes the Senators the most improved club in either league, and improvement is what makes the turnstiles spin.

ON NOTRE DAME TEAMS

When Reggie Root appointed Bucky O'Connor backfield coach at Yale, and retained Adam Walsh as line coach, he added one more Notre Dame team to the eastern list. The other addition for next season will be at Fordham where Jimmy Crowley, one of the Four Horsemen, will build lines, backfields and characters. Mr. Crowley will not use the Warner system.

ON GRID INJURIES

Injuries to football players throughout the season cost them 12,632 days of classroom activity, according to demon statisticians. Maybe it's something for the technocrats to take up.

Sun Life Assurance Maintains Record

Applications at Rate of Million a Day Last Year

MONTREAL, Feb. 17—It is amazing to learn that the Sun Life of Canada, whose report appears elsewhere, dealt with applications for new insurance last year at the rate of $1,000,000 a day. It is plain that, if the capacity to buy life insurance has been reduced, the desire to possess it has correspondingly increased.

The Sun Life of Canada now has a million policyholders and nearly three billion of insurance in force. Its investments help to maintain industrial activity. But, in addition, its payments to thousands of individual policyholders and those dependent on them, is a vital factor in helping to solve the urgent economic problems that just now press so insistently for solution.

BEER BREWERS URGE NEW DEAL

Propose Heavy Cut in Prices to Compete With the Home-Brewer

VANCOUVER, Feb. 17 (CP).—A Victoria despatch to the Vancouver Province says:

Brewers of British Columbia, their business gravely affected by a mounting tide of home brew, offered the government an entirely new beer deal today.

At meetings with the liquor board and the attorney-general's department, they proposed a heavy cut in beer prices, which would offer real competition to the increasingly active home-brewer. Instead of beer for $2 per dozen, they proposed that it be sold for $1.50 net.

This would represent a cut in the government's selling price of $2.50 a barrel. Of this the brewers would absorb $1, leaving the government to absorb $1.50, but, in addition the brewers agree to deliver beer to homes for nothing, which would be a heavy expense, and to collect the empty bottles from householders.

Under this plan beer would be sold for $1.75 a dozen and delivered to the household, or in answer to a telephone call. Then, when a dozen bottles were returned the householder would receive a rebate of 25 cents.

It was learned that this plan appeals strongly to the government, which is alarmed at the sudden and heavy drop in bottled beer sales. It fits well in with the government's program of home sale of beer to be paid for as delivered.

Meanwhile beer parlor operators are arranging to come here to demand that if brewers are allowed to undertake home beer delivery, they be allowed to sell bottled beer for consumption on other premises.

Sun Life Assurance Company of Canada

INCORPORATED 1865 HEAD OFFICE - MONTREAL

THE inherent strength of life assurance has been tested and proved during the past three years of general business recession, and the invaluable service it renders the public in times of emergency fully demonstrated.

During 1932 the Company paid to policyholders and beneficiaries more than $360,000 for every working day.

MORE ABOUT BARTER PLAN

Weir replied, "I would be glad if you would have any matter of credibility referred to me by cable." He later amplified this by explaining in a letter that he referred to the credibility of the records of the cattle, not the credibility of Mr. Serkau, who was a stranger to him.

The department of agriculture provided a code for Mr. Serkau to use when in New York and in Europe in communicating with Mr. Weir. Some cables and telegrams were sent in code. As decoded they are in the return. The information from the department is that frequently codes are provided to persons who wish to wire for information to the department and desire secrecy. Mr. Serkau was unable to obtain code privileges in Russia.

PRESS DEAL THROUGH

The returns also include telegrams and letters received from various organizations and private persons throughout Canada, for the most part urging the minister to press the deal through.

The letter and memorandum which Mr. Serkau presented when he returned from Moscow setting out the proposals for the barter and which was read into the records of the commons by the prime minister some time ago, included in the return as well as Mr. Weir's reply that he would be glad to submit any definite proposal from the Soviet to his colleagues.

START DEBATE

The correspondence will doubtless start an important debate in the house of commons when the live stock estimates of the department of agriculture are up.

The correspondence begins abruptly with a telegram from New York where Mr. Serkau was already discussing the proposal with the amtorg late in October. It indicates that there had been discussions previously between Mr. Weir and Mr. Serkau and Mr. Weir will probably make a statement as to that and the other conversations he had on the matter which paved the way for the written communications.

KIMBERLEY WINS FIRST GAME INTERMEDIATE PLAYOFFS 4-3

Trail Team Puts Up Hard Battle; Winning Tally in Dying Moments

KIMBERLEY, B.C., Feb. 17.—Kimberley took the first of a two-game series for the Kootenay intermediate hockey championship here tonight when they defeated Trail 4-3 in a closely fought game. The deciding counter came just before the bell ended the game. Up until then the result was in doubt and thrills galore in the final two stanzas had the fans in an uproar throughout. The result put Kimberley one up in the series, total goals deciding the winner.

Kimberley got away from the face-off in the first period, but Livingstone was called offside. DePasquale was given two minutes for tripping. Hornquist, Trail net minder, saved McGowan's shot from the blue line. Offsides were frequent, the bell ringing continuously. Trail staged a three-man attack which availed them nothing. Martin and Hazzard soloed in quick succession, Byers saving from both in fine style.

Hanson tried and immediately afterward Fred Lauriente soloed, only to miss by inches. Livingstone and Cavanaugh combined in a nice attempt and Hornquist was lucky to save a shot from close in. Trail scored the first goal at 17:00 when Byers, after saving from Rothery, dropped the puck in front of the goal and Martin netted it. Mellor and Livingstone went up in two solo attempts. Play was inclined to be scrappy and slow. Livingstone went off for two minutes for tripping. Hornquist sprawled full length to save from Mellor and Byers turned away a hot one from Hazzard from a melee.

PLAY SPEEDS UP

Play speeded up as the second period opened and after two minutes Hanson shot from the blue line to score. Five minutes later Livingstone took Cavanaugh's pass after a mixup and beat Hornquist. Kimberley continued a hot attack but Hornquist was playing fine goal. Fred and Hank Lauriente and Hanson each went through and Byers did well to save, especially from Hanson in front of the goal. Livingstone missed by inches following some nice combination with Cavanaugh and Mellor. Martin put Trail up at 15:00 when he scored on a neat pass from Young. DePasquale went off again for two minutes. Mellor shot from close in but Hornquist made a marvellous save. Affleck, Kimberley second string man, took a minute for boarding. Byers saved twice from Hazzard and Martin. Kimberley then attacked and Hornquist threw out from McGovern with no one there to take the rebound. Dicken scored Kimberley's second goal just as the bell rang.

The third period opened fast and furious. Hank Lauriente took a pass from his brother Fred in front of the goal and Byers made a miraculous save. Dicken and McKenzie staged an attack and Bell sent in a hot one, but Hornquist was right on, saving twice when sprawled out on the ice.

Skid Marsters was penalized one minute and Mellor took two. At 16:00 Mellor tied the score after soloing and beating the defence. Rothery soloed through twice, but the defence prevailed. Both forward lines were tearing through and the goalies were busy handling shots that came so fast they could hardly be counted. Hornquist saved one he never saw and with a minute to go Livingstone scored on a pass from Mellor to give Kimberley the game. Sud Smith handled the game.

GREETING CARDS

Lest you forget acquaintances,
Who'd like a word of cheer,
A sick friend or the birthday time
Of someone mighty dear,
We have the cards that serve your needs
Each day the whole year thru,
So come again, we hope you'll be
Our friend and patron too!
