500,000 TEXTILE WORKERS MAY STRIKE

Tolmie and Bruhn Work Upon Plan to Consolidate Relief

SHORTAGES IN MACHRAY CASE CONTINUE GROW

Rockefeller Trust Fund of $500,000 Has Entirely Disappeared

CHURCH ENGLAND FUNDS REDUCED

Clergymen's Retirement Fund Depleted to Unknown Extent

WINNIPEG, Aug. 28.—(CP)—Four days before John A. Machray, university governor and Church of England chancellor, makes his first court appearance to answer to theft charges, auditing books of the two institutions whose funds he controlled had revealed the following facts:

1—That about $100,000 of the University of Manitoba's $1,500,000 endowment trust fund remains. The rest has either been stolen or lost in bad investments.

2—The Rockefeller institute trust fund of $500,000, donated to the university for medical education has disappeared.

3—The Isbister endowment of of $130,000 also is gone.

4—Other smaller trust funds administered by Machray as university bursar and chairman of the board of governors, have been seriously depleted.

5—Church of England funds totalling $1,500,000 have been reduced through irregularities "to an alarming extent". Machray was chancellor of the ecclesiastical province of Rupert's Land.

6—Only one church fund, one of $250,000 is intact.

7—The clergymen's retirement fund to which the clergy of Manitoba, Saskatchewan, Alberta, Northwest territories and the Yukon contributed so they could retire with a $700 annual pension, has been depleted to an unknown extent.

Machray, arrested last Thursday and charged with theft of $47,000 from the university, is to appear in provincial police court next Thursday.

LITTLE HAZARD IN B. C. WOODS

VICTORIA, Aug. 28 (CP).—Electrical storms in three of the six forestry areas of the province made things more interesting for the forest rangers, but new fire occurences were low, and relatively little hazard existed throughout British Columbia woods as the week closed, it was reported Saturday by E. C. Manning, assistant chief forester. Total fires to date have been 898 compared with 2247 outbreaks at the same time last year.

CAN LAND IN ICELAND

WASHINGTON, Aug. 28.—Denmark has granted permission to the "flying Hutchinsons" to land their plane, the City of Richmond, in Iceland and the Faroe islands, but not in Greenland, on their projected flight to Europe

The state department made this announcement after communicating the information to George Hutchinson. It was understood Denmark is unwilling to accept responsibility for the safety of Mrs. Hutchinson and their two small children on the hazardous flight.

The Hutchinsons are believed to regard a Greenland landing an essential if the trip is to be made, as otherwise the hop would be too long.

Von Papen Bitter Against Hitler Declaring Will Not Consider Coalition Moves

German Cabinet Has No Intention Relinquishing Power; Outlines Economy Program Which Will Give Work for Thousands of Unemployed

By LOUIS P. LOCHNER, Associated Press Staff Correspondent

MUNSTER, Germany, Aug. 28.—(AP)—Chancellor Franz von Papen, addressing an assembly of Westphalian farmers today, thrust aside all possibility of receiving Adolf Hitler's National Socialists into a coalition government.

His speech was a bitter attack on the "impulsive recklessness" of the Nazi chief, and in the course of an outline of the present government's economic program he indicated unmistakeably that the cabinet has no intention of relinquishing power for months to come.

Referring to heavy penalties recently imposed by special courts for political violence, the chancellor declared:

"I recognize no principle of justice which is usurped by one class or party as an instrument of combat. That is a Marxist conception which I reject even if it is advocated by the Nazis, for it is a blow in the face of every German and an offence against the Christian conception of justice.

The chancellor then plunged ahead into the government's determination

ONE MAN HEAD AND TWO AIDES IDEA OF BRUHN

Supervisors Would Look After Civic and Unorganized Cases

DETAILS TALKED OVER WITH JONES

Plan Involves Division of the Province Into Relief Areas

VICTORIA, B. C., Aug. 28.—(CP)—Consolidation of relief work in British Columbia to place the responsibility on one official is under advisement of the British Columbia cabinet.

The proposal was submitted to Premier S. F. Tolmie Saturday by Hon. R. W. Bruhn, minister of public works, who drew up the details after discussions with Hon. J. W. Jones, minister of finance.

The proposal provides for one man appointed by the British Columbia government to head relief work projects and be responsible for relief expenditures. Under him would be two supervisors, one who would assume responsibility for provincial commitments on civic relief and the other responsible in the unorganized districts.

Division of the province into relief areas is involved. Estimates on relief costs in each area would be made and provision made for each district budget.

The scheme aims at closer control of the distribution of relief funds and more effective results.

Representatives from each municipality would have a voice in the work.

They moved on to Whatcom, now Bellingham, where they lived a year.

While they were working their way up the Fraser they encountered the Hudson's Bay company steamer, Beaver. On board was Sir James Douglas. It was he who advised them to farm on the flats of Pitt Meadows.

Chinese Raiders Surprise Japanese Quarter, Mukden

Arsenal, Air Base, Wireless Station and Fortifications Fired; Japanese Call Out Troops to Combat Chinese Raiders

MUKDEN, Manchuria, Aug. 29 (Monday) (AP).—Bands of Chinese raiders early this morning attacked a number of strategic points in Mukden and forced Japanese authorities to call out all available troops and police. Fighting was going on in the streets at daylight.

The great Mukden arsenal, the air base and the wireless station were among points descended upon by the Chinese without warning. Fire broke out in the arsenal and in the air base and the city was thrown into a panic.

The chatter of machine guns and the rumble of tanks was heard throughout the city in the night as groups of raiders, numbering several hundred men each, executed well concerted sallies on vital links in the Japanese scheme of defence.

The Chinese even penetrated the strictly Japanese section of the city and threw their forces against the south gate of the walled city as well as launching attacks on the outskirts. The streets swarmed with Japanes troops, gendarmes and police fighting against an enemy which often eluded them in the darkness. After daylight Japanese authorities reported that the majority of the raiders were retreating to the south.

BRITISH CABINET TALKS SITUATION

Fear Blow to Great Industry; Strike Would Cost Nation Millions

MANCHESTER, Eng., Aug. 28.—(AP)—Today was the gloomiest sabbath the north country has known for years as thousands of striking textile workers faced the fact that they would not tread their accustomed way to the machines tomorrow.

With the entire weaving section involving upwards of 200,000 workers, engaged in a walkout, the sober fact was that the equally large spinning section also must make a decision as to whether to take a 10 per cent wage cut or quit their jobs. They will vote on the matter within the next 10 days.

Even if the spinners decide to accept the slash, observers commented, it can hardly help them long, because without the weavers the entire industry will slow down.

The total number of workers threatened with unemployment un

NO "BEST BARGAIN" MADE AT CONFERENCE SAYS BALDWIN

LONDON, Aug. 28 (CP)—"No one in the Dominion or at home can say he had the best of the bargain—the question of bargaining did not enter our minds," declared Rt. Hon. Stanley Baldwin in his broadcast speech last night on the results of the Imperial conference.

"It was a proud day for Canada as well as for us when the conference assembled in the beautiful parliament buildings at Ottawa," said Mr. Baldwin. "There never was a welcome more cordial or hospitality more thoughtful and kindly than that given by the people of Canada."

If the Imperial conference had failed, continued Mr. Baldwin, it would have meant the end of all movement for freer trade within the Empire, and reduced British influence to the vanishing point at the forthcoming world economic conference, militating gravely against the success of that conference. "The conference has more than fulfilled our hopes," he declared.

ST. MIRREN IS DEFEATED BY HEARTS CREW

Hamilton Continues Win Streak in Scottish Soccer League

GLASGOW, Aug. 28 (CP).—Warm weather and brilliant sunshine favored Saturday's games in the Scottish soccer league.

St. Mirren, hitherto undefeated, fell by the wayside on their own field, losing to Hearts, 1-0, White scoring the only goal. It was an uninteresting game. Hamilton continued its winning streak, defeating Partick Thistle 2-1. Herd, after missing a penalty shot, scored and F. Wilson added the second goal. R. Jordan, Thistles' new centre, scored the only goal for his team.

Fleming brought victory to the Rangers in their home game with Airdrieonians, scoring both his team's goals, while Marney scored Airdieonians' only tally.

Brannan, Merris and Taylor tallied three for Ayr, while Love brought Aberdeen its lone goal. Celtic went on a scoring spree when Napier beat Morton's goalie three times, while McGregrory scored twice. R. Thompson and A. Thompson each got a goal to make it an easy win over Morton, Clunas scoring the losers' only goal.

Cowdenbeath had an easy time defeating Kilmarnock, 4-1. For the winners Hamill scored twice and Murray and Robertson once each. Maxwell scored for Kilmarnock. Dundee and St. Johnstone played a scoreless draw, while East Stirling and Queens Park were unable to break a one-all deadlock. Craigie scored for East Stirling and Anderson for Queens Park.

Perrier brought Motherwell a single goal victory over Clyde in a fast, hard game. Jack and Breslin with one apiece and Dewar with two brought Third Lanark an easy 4-0 victory over Falkirk.

to administer "equal justice unaffected by political pressure."

MAY USE FORCE

"If necessary," he said, "I shall use force to bring about recognition of the equal rights applicable to all German citizens. I am firmly determined to stamp out the smouldering fires of civil war and to surpress increasing political unrest and political acts of violence."

The bottom of the depression has been reached, he declared, and the problem now si to pour new strength into industry that the revival may begin.

The cabinet, he said, does not favor any course which would attempt to make Germany economically self-sufficient, for the nation cannot turn its back upon foreign economic relationships. He promised, nevertheless, "continued moderate regulations of imports."

Then he announced his economic projects.

First, extension of public works, such as street building, agricultural relief measure, house repairing, regulation of canals, for which 135,000,000 marks have been appropriated. This program would be augmented by establishment of rural and suburban settlements.

Second, revival of private industry, with the purpose of returning the thousands of jobless to productive tasks.

"In tackling this problem," he said, "we proceed from the consideration that important signs point to the fact that the bottom of the depression has been reached, hence all efforts to reinvigorate industry will contribute toward actual revival."

More than two billion marks, he estimated, can now be risked for this program, which has been approved by the Reichsbank and should be raised in the following manner:

All taxes of a nature likely to hinder production, such as the turnover tax, and the transportation tax, due between November 11, 1932, and November 11, 1933, and estimated at about 1,500,000,000 marks are to be handed back to the economic life in the form of certifiates on which the taxpayer can borrow an equivalent amount for the Reichsbank to be used in his business.

Loans on certificates must be repaid between 1934 and 1938. In addition, 700,000,000 marks will be advanced to such industries which have increased the number of employees over their present total. By this scheme the government hopes to give work to 1,750,00 unemployed.

Besides thus supplying new credits, the government, said the chancellor, also will authorize employers to cut wages but not below the minimum necessary for existence, and on condition that the wages saved be used for hiring additional labor. All these measures will be decreed on a 12 months basis.

The chancellor indicated in his concluding remarks that his government had no intention of retiring.

DOUKHOBOR YOUTHS SAY THOSE WHO LOOK FOR DISINTEGRATION OF THE COMMUNITY WILL BE DISAPPOINTED

Say Verigin Has Reduced Debt From $1,500,000 to $400,000; Depression Felt Lightly; if He Is Deported Doukhobors Will Follow

On behalf of "The Union of Youths of Named Doukhobors of Christian Community of Universal Brotherhood, District of Brilliant, B.C.," W. A. Soukoreff and G. J. Cheveldane, signing themselves as "authorized members," ask in a letter to the editor of The Nelson Daily News, dated Brilliant, August 26, publication of the following article, addressed to the Canadian people, dealing with recent dispatches on the subject of Peter Verigin's resignation of the presidency of the Community:

For the information of the general public in Canada, in the matter of the Doukhobors:

In the last few days there appeared several articles in various papers, in the matter that Peter P. Verigin (who is now serving his 18 months sentence in prison) the spiritual leader of Doukhobors and president of the Christian Community of Universal Brotherhood, had made resignation from presidency and leadership of the Doukhobors, and authors of such articles state their imaginations—what will be done with the community, and merely say, that by the time Mr. Verigin will be released from jail the Community will be disintegrated and the land will be divided to individual persons.

We are very sorry that the authors are strongly mistaken and they are misleading the public, as we have received many questions asking for information in the matter if the Community is breaking.

We are hereby giving some information to the public, as we are the members of Community, and know very well its rules and present affairs.

The Community was organized by our leader, late Peter Verigin, about 30 years ago, by the will of every member, who were led into the Community by one heart and eternal love, by the word of Jesus Christ, "To love your nearest as you do yourself," and no one was forced into the Community, and those who have entered it, they brought all their property and it became property of all members, and not owned individually.

Since Peter P. Verigin the son of late Peter Verigin, took leadership and presidentialship of Community, he improved it very much in industry and other ways, reorganizing its system and the foundation was built much stronger under his leadership, and by his hard work and good brains, the Community has paid big indebtedness to loan companies, which were long past due, and amounted to more than one and one-half million dollars., of which now left less than $400,000, and we hereby want to tell the public that the Community will never be disintegrated.

Rumors are spreading that the Community will soon be broken up and divided, but that is the work of provocators—our enemies, (whoever they are, the Doukhobors or others), and we may say that they have succeeded to imprison our beloved leader, Peter P. Verigin, but they are greatly and misforunately mistaken in their hopes that the Community will be disintegrated.

At the present depression through all the world, we will say that it has touched our Community also, but we can proudly say, that we do not feel it so strong as others. We have strength to toil, and by our hard toil, we expect to bear it without much difficulty and hardships.

REGARDING RESIGNATION OF MR. PETER VERIGIN

It was stated in papers that he has resigned. We want to point you these facts: It is too hard to stay in jail and at the same time to manage the affairs of Community. In the term of serving his sentence, no doubt there will occur different mistakes and misunderstandings in the management of Community by other management staff, and we understand that this is the reason of his temporary resignation, but his resignation forever can never be accepted by Doukhobors members of the Community.

Eyen Peter P. Verigin has reported his resignation from presidentship of the Christian Community of Universal Brotherhood, but he has not refused to give the membership his advises to the affairs of Community, as much as his situation permits him in prison.

REGARDING THE LEADERSHIP OF THE DOUKHOBORS

There appears a question in papers—who will be the leader of the Doukhobors.

Peter Verigin is our spiritual leader and he is the only one that will be our leader and we do not care even to sacrifice ourselves for his great teaching of peaceful Christian life.

Also there are rumors in public, that Mr. Verigin will be deported from Canada.

If the deportation will follow, it clearly shows that the Canadian citizens do not want us to stay in Canada, notwithstanding that we have been working hardly over 30 years, cultivating many tracts of land from big timbers and built factories, sawmills and other industrial equipment, and this our hard toil for many years, will not stop us to leave everything and follow our leader wherever he will be deported.

But in meanwhile, we will toil very hard in order to pay all our indebtedness to our creditors, as our Christian principles is to not be indebted to anyone, and the fundamental rule of the Community is toil and peaceful life.

LIFE SAVERS SHOW QUALITY

Eight Examined at Lakeside Park by Mr. Anderson; Others Later

Eight members of the life saving class conducted by Miss Helen Ferguson, swimming instructress at Lakeside park, took their examinations Saturday, M. P. Anderson, of Kimberley, being the Royal Life-Saving society's examiner.

In the forenoon, Mr. Anderson put the candidates through the land drill, and had them do rescue work in the water as a preliminary test, and in the afternoon had them do the qualifying swim, the various types of rescue, and the resuscitation work, with questions on the theory. An interested audience of swimmers looked on at the water work.

Mr. Anderson, who has been visiting his brother-in-law, J. M. Robertson, on the north shore for the past week, returned to Kimberley Sunday.

Members of the class who were unable to be at the park Saturday will have their examinations some time this week, after the arrival from the coast of Miss Elsie Gansner, who is one of the society's examiners.

Gordon Stirzaker, who is a candidate for the society's silver medal, did his water tests and land drills Saturday, but must have his examination on theory before a physician this week.

WOULD HALT TARIFF RUSH

Senator Hull Says Imperial Conferences Means Big Loss to U.S.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 28—Assailing tariffs of the United States and declaring the Ottawa trade agreements "slashing United States trade to the tune of one to three hundred million dollars were prompted by self-preservation," Senator Cordell Hull, Democrat, Tennessee, said today the United States was dutybound to ask a halt in the "wild increase of tariffs" at the coming world economic conference.

In a statement telegraphed to Washington and made public by the Democratic national committee, Senator Hull asserted the "huge American trade loss resulting (from the Ottawa imperial conference) is but one of many colossal losses our country has suffered in its foolish and futile effort to live by itself."

SWIFT & COMPANY OMIT DIVIDEND

CHICAGO, Aug. 28—Directors of Swift and company voted yesterday to omit payment of the dividend for the quarter ending Oct. 1.

But the current quarterly dividend was dropped "in continuance of the practice to conserve working capital, and the independence maintained in the past, and in avoidance of trespassing upon the earnings of previous years held in our reserves."

PRICKLY PORKY DINES ON BOOT OF NELSON GIRL

Miss Paula Gansner Marooned on Glacier With St. Paul's Party

PARTY OF 22 GO MOUNTAINEERING

Spend Two Nights on Skyline; Six Remain for an Extra Day

When Miss Paula Gansner of Taghum woke up Sunday morning, in her blankets on Mount Kokanee, where she was with a party of St. Paul's young people, she found that a porcupine had eaten one of her hiking boots during the night. She had oxfords with her, and thus was not reduced to going barefoot, but the mishap marooned her in camp for the day, or until the homeward journey, down to Kaslo and back to Nelson, was undertaken.

As a result of a recent suggestion of Leo Gansner, president of the Young People's society of St. Paul's United church, for a mountaineering outfit, a party of 22 hikers, about equally divided between the two sexes, made practically a three-day trip to Kokanee Glacier park, leaving Nelson Thursday at noon, and the main party returning late Saturday afternoon. Rev. George Kinney of Procter, who was the first man to scale Mount Robson, acted as guide, and other seniors included Rev. T. J. S. Ferguson, St. Paul's pastor, and Rev. W. J. Byers of Regina, who is Mr. Ferguson's guest.

FINE ROAD FROM KASLO

The party went in by the Kaslo route, finding a splendid road all the way up to the Joker mill, the bridges destroyed by the 1931 fire having been replaced, and the road having been cleared of fallen trees. Younger members of the party packed fire wood from Mansfield creek, 23 miles from Kaslo, up to the summit a distance of six miles, to cook sausages for the first supper.

Two nights were spent "under the stars," the trip being favored by the finest weather.

Sixteen members of the party came out Saturday, using the same route they went in by, arriving in Nelson about 4 o'clock in the afternoon.

Rev. Mr. Ferguson made the trip the basis of his address Sunday morning at the union service of St. Paul's and Trinity churches in Trinity United church.

COLLECT PLANTS

Six of the younger members, including Mr. Gansner and his sister, remained an extra day, and made a trip to the Slocan Chief cabin. Saturday morning they were awakened by the honking of two motor cars, which wanted them to get off the roadway so they could pass. It was then that Miss Gansner discovered the tragic loss of her hiking boot. The five others spent the day on the summit, collecting Alpine plants—blue spruce, creepers, and wild columbine. They reached Nelson about 10 o'clock Sunday night.

MORE ABOUT MAY STRIKE

les the situation is relieved is close to 500,000. The only ray of hope lies in the return of Sir Horace Wilson, the government's chief industrial adviser, from Ottawa.

Ernest Hamer, chairman of the employers' representatives in the negotiations with the operatives which broke down Friday night, fears the strike will be a blow from which the industry never will recover.

MAY NEVER OPEN

"If the strike goes on," he declared, "more mills will close altogether never to reopen, and hundreds of operatives will never get work again."

It is understood the strike was discussed at the cabinet meeting Saturday in London.

Harry B. Betterton, minister of labor, has said that no good would be likely to come from intervention by the government at this stage.

It is estimated that the strike, if it is complete, will cost the nation about £1,000,000 (about $7,500,000 at par) a week in lost orders and unearned wages.

The walkout order may not be hedeed in some places—such as Leigh, Lilford and Rosemill—where the operatives are understood to have opposed the strike and to have expressed their intention of staying at work.

BABES ON BROADWAY

By Jane Dixon

INSTALMENT TWO

Sniff, sniff. Oh, but wasn't this air good after that stuffy old hall! Tony felt suddenly hungry. Well, she would have to forget it. She had exactly $3.76. Sum total of her fortune. There would be no more until she found a job. A job. With hundreds, thousands of unemployed beseiging every agency, public and private, in the city.

The phantom of a bread line she had seen in City square one blustery night last week slunk across Tony's inner vision. With an effort she drove it away. She forced herself to hum a snatch from a current "pep" song, pulled her hat to a pert angle, gave a jaunty twist to the collar of her coat, and turned into the main stem.

Womanlike, Tony Brookes, having succumbed to a flood of passionate tears showered against the travail of a way she felt was becoming too wearisome, too complicated to pursue, found her burden had become lighter.

She raised her head from the pillow where it had been buried. She thought her nose must be shiny. A good sign. Life is not completely over, or even well run, when one can take stock of a shiny nose. Lee would manage, no matter what difficulties she might meet. Lee grumbled about unpleasant or troublesome things when she was not actually facing them. When she was brought up sharp against them, she was rather gallant. She could smile while she fought through.

Darn that buzzer. It was rasping again. Three. Tony sped for the door. She mustn't let Lee ring off this time. At the top of the stairs Mrs. Higgins' voice brought Tony to a stop.

"A gintleman to see Miss Moran. He sez his name's Stewart."

Tom Stewart. Of Course. Lee had mentioned him in her note. Tony knew all about Tom. He was the young engineer Lee met at somebody's country estate the summer before when she went there with a group of models to appear in a fashion show. He had been working on the estate, helping build a lake or a bridge or something. Lee was half way in love with Tom, had confided that Tom was "balmy" about her. Tom had been away on a job. Lee should not have gone prowling when she knew Tom would be seeking her so eagerly.

"Sorry, Mr. Stewart," Tony called. "Lee is out. I'm expecting her any moment."

"Are you Miss Brookes?" she liked his voice. It was gentle, yet it filled the well of the stairs.

"Yes. Miss Moran is stop—that is we are stopping here together."

"I know. Would it be too much trouble—may I speak with you?"

"Be right down."

The electric bulb in the front hall was in its chronic state of burned-outness. In the dim light from the second landing Tony could discern the figure of a tall lean young man whose tallness and leanness were th. greater by contrast with the squat puffiness of Mrs. Higgins.

"I'm Mr. Stewart, Miss Brookes, Tom Stewart." The young man advanced to the bottom of the steps, extended his hand. Tony fumbled for it in the dusk.

"Oh, yes. Lee left a message for you. She's gone out to look for—to—that is—there was some business she had to attend to." Tony caught herself in time. If she had said Lee had gone out looking for work, at this hour, Mrs. Higgins would know just how desperate their case was. She might get panicky about the room, ask them to move. Why was Mrs. Higgins standing there, wheezing away like a carbony old engine in the dark? Why didn't she go about her business.

"I see." Tony knew Tom Stewart didn't see in the least. Small wonder. The way she had stumbled over the message. If Mrs. Higgins would fade away, she would explain why she had seemed so confused. The silence was becoming worse than awkward. Evidently Mrs. Higgins was rooted to the spot and expected to stay rooted.

"Lee will be back—in fact, I expected to find her when I came in. I'm sorry I can't ask you to wait here—there's no place. I was just going for a walk, to the delicatessen around the corner. If you'd care to come along, perhaps Lee will come in while we're gone." The delicatessen was an inspiration.

"Thanks."

Tony thought: He's not exactly overwhelmed with the privilege of escorting me. I suppose he's jealous of Lee. I despise jealousy. It's mean and selfish and unfair. It's unfair to believe that anyone has got to love you, or even to like you. Mr. Tom Stewart, you deserve not to be told it was Mrs. Higgins, not you, I was trying to throw off the track.

Going down the chipped stone stoop Tony realized that the young man who had taken such gingerly possession of her arm was indeed very tall. He towered. His fingers were long and slim. She could feel their pressure at her elbow. She wondered if his face was long and slim too. Probably. And his eyes were deepest, she judged, to match his voice.

She ought to punish him a bit for his suspicions, delay explaining. Oh pshaw! He probably was hurt. Her words tumbled:

"Lee is really out looking for work. We've lost our places at Simone's and—well we need to do something right away. I started to tell you back there, but Mrs. Higgins stood listening. I was afraid she might be bothered about the rent."

"You mean Lee owes—"

"Oh no. It's paid until the first of the month. But there's next month and we want to stay on, if we can. I stuttered so, telling you why Lee was out, I suppose you thought I was making it up as I went along."

Tom Stewart laughed. Heartily, from his boot tops. What a nice laugh. It made you want to laugh, too.

"The way I answered put that into your head," he assured. "I was disappointed. I've got to hop out of town again tonight, only have an hour or two, and I'd been counting on having that time with Lee. Rotten luck, your losing the meal ticket right now when they're so scarce. Look here—don't be offended—but if I can help, sort of tide you over on a loan—"

"No. Thanks a lot. I'm scared of debts. Besides, it won't be necessary. I've a little money"—if he knew how little—" and a live prospect for landing on my working feet tomorrow. The manager in an art store asked me to come back, he might make room for me."

"But Lee—I may have to go before she turns up—I'd like to know she's safe."

Safe? Primroses in places with soft lights and pink things in tall glasses and caviar on toast triangles?

HERE'S A BEAR OF A FISH STORY

TRAIL, B. C., Aug. 28—Another Trail fisherman decided to combine hunting with his favorite sport.

T. A. Temple and B. Kelly were rowing a boat in the Columbia river hoping to catch a fish. Suddenly Mr. Kelly exclaimed, "I've grounded my hook!"

It was close to shore. Mr. Kelly and Mr. Temple started in amazement. A little bear cub was running as hard as he could, taking the line with him.

Nothing could be done about it. The fishermen let the bear run until the line was unwound. They couldn't do anything else. Then with a jerk the bear was off. So was the leader and the fly when the line eventually was back on the reel.

Like all fisherman's stories the catch got away.

The Beauty Box

By Helen Follett

Women who are fanatics about bathing may still suffer from unperspiration. Their way towards repleasant odors caused by excessive lief leads to the medical examination; it has been determined that productive of excessive activity of disorders of the thyroid gland are sweat-glands. Temporary relief may be had by bathing the armpits with a strong solution of baking soda (one teaspoonful to a cupful of water), drying, frictioning in powdered boric acid. Proprietory remedies often bring about an improvement.

Now is the time of year when necks and faces don't match in color. The back of the neck is especially in need of a whitening agent after a summer of flirtations with Mister Al Fresco, lolling on sunny beaches, exposure of neck cuticle on the golf links. Cut thin slices of lemon, place them in a row on a fash cloth, bind the wash cloth about the neck, let it remain on over night. Next morning bathe with clear cold water, dry pat in cold cream.

Yellow teeth are not always the result of neglect. Smoking discolors them. When the outer delicate surface of dentine wears away the snowy whiteness disappears. A semi-yearly overhauling by the dentist will help the teeth to retain good color and will be of inestimable benefit to the gums, into which tartar burrows no matter how often the teeth are brushed.

Never meddle with a mole. The average mole is harmless but now and then there will appear a dark blemish to which the slightest irritation wil bring about conditions that demand expert medical attention. Removing moles with strong chemicals is hazardous; no woman should attempt treatment of this kind. Warts can be touched with castor oil now an then; they don't like it and have a way of departing from the cutaneous premises when it is used upon them.

Steam softens blackheads, which are plugs of sebaceous fat lodged in the pores. Dip a towel in steaming hot water, apply to the skin as hot as the flesh will bear. Dry, naoint with cold cream, wipe it away. Repeat the steaming and the creaming three times. A satisfactory method of renovating a dust-laden complexion.

A Way to Remove Red Ink!

This Simple Depression Remedy Was Discovered After Examining the Earning Statements of Fifty Companies

TWENTY-FIVE of these companies believed in newspaper advertising. They kept up or increased their expenditures for newspaper space through 1931, and their earnings last year averaged within SEVEN PER CENT of their 1930 figures.

Twenty-five of the companies—in corresponding trade groups—decreased their newspaper advertising last year or dropped it altogether. Their earning statements showed that they had averaged a 73 per cent DECLINE in profits.

No one believes that newspaper advertising will cure all the ills of the depression, but apparenty it is a practical remedy that a lot of manufacturers and merchants are finding effective.

Let's be specific. The study from which the foregoing data has been taken, issued by the Bureau of Advertising under the title "They made it pay—and HOW!" shows that:

An automobile company increased newspaper advertising by 33 per cent last year and tripled its net earnings of the year before.

A manufacturer of oil burners, using newspapers exclusively, increased his advertising outlay by more than $100,000, and realized a 37 per cent increase in sales in 1931.

Four drug concerns substantially raised their newspaper expenditures in 1931. Two recorded the best year in their histories, one doubled its net of the year preceding, and the other recorded a $60,000 rise in profits.

A transportation company spent $25,000 more in newspapers, and realized earnings that were $100,000 greater than the year preceding.

A manufacturer of soft drinks by increasing advertising generally and spending $60,000 more in newspapers, boosted profits half a million dollars.

Four tobacco companies increased their aggregate expenditures in newspapers by 30 per cent from $20,000,000 in 1930 to $26,000,000 in 1931, and raised aggregate earnings from $105,200,000 to $111,300,000.

INCREASED newspaper advertising sustained or increased earnings as a general rule, while reduced expenditures meant greatly reduced earnings, according to the survey shown.

A shoe marketing concern increased newspaper advertising $50,000; and finished the year with production schedules running 28 per cent ahead of 1930.

Four companies which shifted to newspapers, after previously using other mediums, recorded aggregate net profits of $4,477,000 in 1931, compared with $1,622,000 in 1930.

A manufacturer in the highly competitive electric refrigerator field spent $200,000 last year in newspapers, and dollar sales for the year were 460 per cent of sales for 1930.

Why are these advertisers finding newspapers the answer to depression? In their own words, because: (1) newspapers realized immediate sales, (2) newspapers spot the profitable markets, (3) newspaper advertising can be adjusted to daily business changes.

"If you have goods for sale and want to sell them quickly, use newspaper advertising," say officials of one large concern whose sales volume totaled $285,000,000 in 1931.

"To spot conditions and concentrate on profitable markets," is the reason given by a prominent manufacturer who recently shifted to newspapers.

A food merchant, spending more than $2,000,000 annually in newspaper space, asserts: "We are taking full advantage of the flexibility permited by this medium which may be used generally, or concentrated wherever the need seems to be the greatest. This method has proven profitable and will be continued even more aggressively in 1932."

These and many other endorsements and successes appear in the survey cited below. It's not what WE say, it's what THEY say and did, that proclaims newspaper advertising a way to remove red ink

They made it pay.... and HOW!

Merchants and manufacturers say newspaper advertising beats depression and prove it with sales and earnings

Social Events of Trail City

VANCOUVER, Aug. 28—A bride in French ivory peau d'ange lace and carrying a diminutive orchid-clasped muff of tiny yellow rosebuds; two attendants, one in Parma violet and the other in golden amber, their flowers closely massed in Colonial bouquet; a half dozen pretty maids in pastel-tinted frocks marking off a pale pink satin-streamered pathway for the bridal party—these were colorful and unique features that made the Hargrave-Whittaker nuptials one of the most picturesque of house weddings.

It was at 4 o'clock that the bride Constance Ann Whittaker on the arm of her father, J. H. Whittaker, preceded by two bridesmaids, Miss Marjorie Beckwith and Miss Dorothy McKay, came down the gladioli-banked stairway at the home of her brother and sister-in-law, Dr. and Mrs. Howard Whittaker, passed along the ribboned aisle made by Miss Elaine Hargrave, sister of the groom. Miss Marjorie Mansell, Miss Hazel McKenzie, Miss Jean McKinnon, Miss Margaret Paterson and Miss Ethel Paterson, to the improvised altar in a window embrasure of the living room where awaited the groom. J. Howard Hargrave, B.Sc., and his groomsman, Philip Barron, with the officiating clergyman, Rev. Dr. James Henderson.

Marietta gladioli, shading from shell pink to rose, were mounted in graduated standard baskets that flared out in wing-effect from the altar and formed an effective background for the lovely costumes of the bride and bridesmaids. Depth of tone was given and finely textured cream lace in the bridal gown by a slip of French parisatin and by the jade color notes appearing in a velvet toque, slippers and looped folds of chiffon at the deep V of the back decolletage. A brief jacket, its sleeves puffed in Victorian manner above the elbow and tight from there to wrist, was cleverly cut up in the back to reveal the afore-mentioned jade chiffon loop that was really the termination of twisted chiffon straps, Talisman rose buds topped by a single orchid, which formed not a bouquet, but a tiny floral muff, were carried by the bride.

The costumes of both attendants were created alike with softly draped bodices and skirt fulness coming from the shirred tops of godets. Miss McKay wore violet chiffon, a deeper nuance, almost purple pansy, being used for a bow placed to one side of the waistline, slippers, lace mittens and the pressed violets mounted at the back of a small Watteau shepherdess hat tilted over one eye. Violets were in her colonial nosegay.

The roseate glow of amber was the deeper harmonizing color of Miss Beckwith's golden chiffon ensemble and her flowers were baby dahlias.

The wedding music was played by Joseph Hintch and Miss Dorothy Tennant was the vocalist.

The bride's parents received with the principals, and Dr. and Mrs. Whittaker. The latter was wearing a beautiful French model of peach chiffon, delicate pastel beaded embroidery appearing on the bodice and outlining the deep cape. Leaf green slippers matched the dress sash. Mrs. Whittaker, the bride's mother, wore ashwood brown, the bodice yoke and wide-winged cuffs affording a contrasting color note of tile. Her brown felt hat was handed in tile shade.

Artistic arrangements of late summer blooms graced the rooms and on the bride's table, laid with a Belgian lace cloth, baby gladioli were placed from the four corners to converge at the base of the triple-tiered wedding cake that was embedded in pink and white tulle. Mrs. C. B. Mansell and Mrs. R. P. Snider presided at the urns and Mrs. A. S. Morrow cut ices.

The six girls who earlier, marked the aisle for the bridal entourage, were assisted in serving the guests by Miss Velma Tyler.

Later in the afternoon Mr. Hargrave and his bride left for a month's motor trip through the interior and to Lake Louise and Banff, where they will spend a few days with the groom's parents. Dr. and Mrs. J. C. Hargrave, of Medcine Hat. For travelling, the bride chose an imported frock of champagne wool georgette belted and buttoned in brown with touches of French drawn work. A brown felt turban was outlined on one side by vellum-shaded velvet, the shade of her shoes and accessories, while her topcoat was an English woven mahogany brown tweed.

You don't throw aways letters unread. You don't read three or four letters carefully and skim through the rest. Treat the "merchandise letters" in this newspaper the same way. Read them all. Read them carefully. One single item will often repay you for the time it has taken to read them all.

Many good housekeepers have formed the habit of reading their newspaper with a pencil and paper, ready to jot down the articles they wish to look at when they start out on their shopping tour. Try this method. It saves time, and saves money, and provides you with the pick of the day's merchandise.

Facing the Facts

If the depression has done a great deal of harm, it has also done a great deal of good. It at least has forced us to face realities, and to apply to theories which we have developed in the past, and upon which we have been operating, the stern yard-stick of facts. When money comes easily, we are often inclined to adopt without adequate consideration theories which are unsound, and whose unsoundness is immediately proved when adversity applies the test.

Great Britain has been doing a good deal of stock-taking, particularly in the last six months, and after research lasting a year is now believed that a Royal Commission is to recommend to parliament in October that a large reduction be made in the dole to British unemployed, and that the insurance fund be re-organized upon a basis which will make it self-supporting. Such a reduction, the second one within a year, would be equal to admission that the entire scheme has proved itself impractical.

The original British dole was designed to be self-supporting. Industries, the government and workers were all to be contributors. It was planned to care for cases of temporary unemployment, to deal with problems of normal times.

As times became abnormal, however, the fallacies in the scheme began showing themselves. The numbers unemployed and the length of time they were out of work increased at a rapid rate. Being a dependent became almost a business, an occupation. The extent of the burden upon the government steadily grew greater, and less and less for the workers and industries. The present debt of the fund to the government amounts to millions of pounds.

The history of the dole in Britain reveals that the scheme is neither safe nor successful, in times of acute depression; that it falls far short of meeting the problems which exist in the soundest possible way. And in ordinary times, according to the experience of most countries, no such scheme is needed, for regular relief agencies are competent to meet any real needs that exist—if dependence is not encouraged—with the minimum of drain upon public funds. When there is extraordinary stress government aid may become necessary, but even then the established agencies should be used in caring for those without jobs.

If the dole is made self-supporting in the present state of British industry it is, in effect, going to be put out of existence, a move which might well prove the wisest one Britain has made so far in the matter of unemployment insurance.

A Balanced Mental Ration

How much leisure time should be applied to physical recreation? How much to reading? How much of the time allocated to reading should be devoted to light literature, and how much to literature of a more solid and mentally stimulating character? How much to the drama in its various forms, which, as a matter of necessity, in most cases means the talkies? How much to the radio? How much to bridge, or a little game of "penny ante" or to teaching one's neighbors the mystery-

It all depends upon the individual, but undoubtedly ies of "red dog"?

a great many of us spend too much time upon forms of recreation which lack mental stimulating qualities.

J. H. Whitley, chairman of the governors of the British Broadcasting Corporation, has been saying some wise words in an address. He was discussing the relationship between radio and reading, and gives the following good advice:

> "Do not listen-in too much. Listening that is done at the expense of reading is not a benefit. We send out some 14 hours of broadcasting each week-day, but I should not advise any individual to listen for more than two hours a day. The people who are twiddling all day to find what noise they can get from the far ends of the earth have not begun to learn how to use their radio . . . Make listening and reading partners, and you will get the best out of both."

These words have just as much application in Canada as in the British Isles. We all know the "twiddling" people, whose radio squawks out its noisy blare all day long, no matter what the effect may be on other folk who come within its sphere of disturbance. Most of us at times have been tempted to wish that radio had never been invented, and yet, wisely used, it is perhaps the most educative and desirable invention of the last quarter of a century. Tastes inevitably differ, and yet when Mr. Whitley allows two hours of use a day for a radio he is surely being so liberal than within that time most tastes may be met. One of the minor but very real difficulties associated with radio is that mother wants one thing and dad another, and sons and daughters yet other features. These family "jars" about radio programs are not the fault of radio or of stations, but just another of those very human situations that occur in this life of ours.

In calling attention to the danger that radio listening may seriously affect the practice of worth-while reading, Mr. Whitley does a service. Certain it is that radio programs in the main are not yet of such character, nor are they likely to become so, that they ought to supplant good literature. Turning a dial is far too easy, and listening requires little effort. Anyone who aspires to have a mind furnished at all needs the discipline that comes from tackling a book that does not yield its fruit of good too readily.

One complaint made by Mrs. Keaton was that Buster didn't keep his engagements. And just to prove her point, he didn't even show up for his divorce!

I heard Bob Main discussing cricket. Bob played cricket in the district long before the war. He was at the opening of the first Fruitvale fair with a cricket team, and on that occasion he substituted for a tardy agricultural judge. Bob awarded the prizes and says he was only bawled out once and then by an exhibitor who expected first prize because his parsnips were the largest on display although split down the sides.

Bob would like to see cricket on the go again. He says that he and his boy do a little batting on his place at "Pop-Inn." Bob's boy has a Hobb's bat.

Staff-Sergeant Stephenson is back in the city. The staff has been on holidays. Nothing like old Vancouver Island, says the genial warden of the provincial jail. On Vancouver Island, according to "The Staff" you can't run out of gasoline. There are pumps every half mile or so. Summer resorts are crowded and they are getting $100 per month for summer rooms. Fishing is good up there and the visitor landed a small Tyee in the Comox region. "The Staff" believed he could holiday for a long time on Vancouver Island is they would let him. No, he didn't visit Piers Island. Never saw a Doukhobor from the time he left until he returned to the local jail.

And while Bob Main was discussing cricket he spoke of his job in the army as athletic instructor or something like that. He was hit on the chest by a ball and the padre called him out. l. b w. Hope that's right. I'm no cricketer. There was a dispute but the padre kept to his decision. After the game, the padre called Bob aside and probably during the tea interval, said he did not know whether Bob was really "l. b. w'd" or not, because at that precise moment he did not see what had happened. He was watching two German planes passing overhead.

A. J. Dill, who is at present recuperating in Portland, has not lost any of his keenness for sport. Sergeant Alex Stewart has had a letter from him and has received some clippings from Portland papers telling about Jack Dempsey's show there. Jack carries the same old wallop and flattened one or two fellows without much trouble at the show Mr. Dill saw.

George Dill, his son, received a clipping of two ball games in the Pacific coast series. Mr. Dill saw the first and two innings of the second and had been in the park almost four hours. It was too strenuous, so he left. The first game in which Portland beat Seattle 7-3 was one of the weirdest and at the same time one of the most entertaining.

Some of the goofiest things possible happened in the wild 14 innings. For instance, the six pitchers, three to each side, ganged up to give the terrible total of 31 bases on balls. If that isn't a world's record, baseball fans from over the earth should get up an enormous petition to make one.

The most costly walk was the thirty-first, by Pitcher Page of Seattle. With bases full and two out in the Portland 14th, he walked Osborne, thereby forcing in Higgins with the winning run.

That was Page's eighth walk in five and two-thirds innings, but even he had to take off his hat for wildness to Pitcher Hal Haid. The Seattle screw ball specialist in only six and two-thirds innings walked the grand total of 11.

Junk Walters, who started the game, but got batted off the hill, walked three in one and two-thirds innings. Nor were the Portland hurlers entirely blameless. Paul Zaniser, who started, got clicked for a double, an out, and then successive homers by Burns and Fred Muller, so wasn't in long enough to walk anyone, but Bowman, who succeeded him, walked six. Even "Big Boy" Jim Peterson, who finished the last five innings for Portland in a blaze of unhittable stuff, walk-three.

A flock of the 31 walks were for political purposes, the dope working the majority of 'em were because the out every time it was tried, but pitchers couldn't find the plate.

A few other wild happenings of the 14 innings:

The men stranded on bases totalled 37, 22 of them for Portland, 15 for the Suds.

There were 16 hits on each side and these included three home runs, one triple and 11 two-base blows.

Six stolen bases, five of them for Seattle, added further to the gaiety of the nations.

There was also five double plays, one of them a freak affair which wiped out two Seattle runners in the third inning on a safe hit.

Ellsworth poked out the hit, Burns was on third, Welch on first at the time. Jim Keesey touched, but did not hold the ball, and Munroe picked it up as Welch tried to sneak on to third.

Johnny fired to Sanky who in turn shot the ball to Higgins, who ran Welch down. Just then Ellsworth tried to come on to second. Higgins threw to Fitzpatrick, who had advanced from the plate almost to second, and Fitz threw to Pitcher Bowman who touched Ellsworth for the third out. The whole thing was a freak.

A Stormy Interlude

By GERALD S. REES

The other Sunday evening in a half hearted endeavor to ascertain if the Ymir road really led to Ymir, this wayfarer was outguessed and met a tactical defeat from the Storm King and his myrmidons. The afternoon has been stormy, but toward evening—"The sky has cleared to sunset, and the evening star." In the intriguing hour just before objects lose their color and are beginning to be tinged with dusk, when lights wink friendly through gathering shadows, and windows are cosily lamplit, the western sky is a clear gush of pale liquid light up from the departing sun beyond the distant line of tree-clad hills. Toward the zenith, in high apse, light masses of billowy "woolpacks"—mountains of the sky—rest motionless, airy and delicate; they are rose-colored with the after-grow, and the light gleaming through their inner layers give them the transparent satiny appearance of mother o' pearl. The sunset has brushed a travelling storm with its huge banks of inky clouds well to the southward, and great rounded masses of aqueous vapor, like huge galleons in full sail surge up the valley, tall twisted rain streaks in the distance indicate the vanguard of the fleet is already in action. A breeze, "cool airs from darkling thickets," sweeps down the valley, these air-streams setting hitherward at the sunset hour are a welcome refreshment after the heat of the day, they come too in the winter, then how bracing! too bracing. Br-rr, br-rr.

Around twilight time, when the orange sunset wanes, the splendid framework of hills, majestic and grand, which surround our city seem to possess some peaceful secret to guard and hold. One meditates as one walks, but without melancholy; a measure of inspiration may be gained in faring forth quietly along these green drifted roads.

BEAUTY A WELCOME GUEST

One gratefully acknowledges the constant presence of an element in life which we term beauty, and for its inspiration by a sudden perception of its incommunicable virtue in a flower or a scent, a view, a picture or a poem. Beauty is an essential quality of good, a thing of life.

One voices a little Te Deum for all the glory and beauty in the world, its dawns and sunsets, even its storms, its lovely color, the gracious shapes of men and women, and the carefree laughter of children, for the scent of a rose the breath of the west winds, and for all sweet sounds, the song of the birds, the whisper of leaves and the bubble of running water.

THE FURNITURE OF LIFE

Surely we fret and worry too much in one effort to accumulate things material, we limit our sense of freedom with the complexities of modern existence, with its competitive struggles. Our 20th century civilization seems to have its roots in the desire for desirable but not indispensable things, we are apt to forget that "He who asketh little enjoyeth much."

Modern progress, mainly evaluated in terms of development of trade, which is an inherent desire for possession, seems to be but an elaboration of things, of complexity for simplicity, with no apparent limit, at all times an inadequate compensation for life's difficulties and bewilderments.

TRAIL RIDERS OF THE SKY

A mild curiosity to note the signs of passing summer, and dilatory moments spent in observation of an unnatural phase of natural history betrays me. The Storm King, with a rapid left wheel of his main forces outflanks the wayfarer and crosses his rear. He has trailed too closely the purple robe of his majesty. That eternal vigilance is the price of safety is true even in thunderstorms. Discretion being the better part of valor, he begins a hasty but not a disorderly retreat.

The sky line is suddenly hidden and mysterious, its distant prospects concealed, the heights are veiled in lowering mists. Thunder, loosed by the lightning, rolls around the hills angrily like a blind beast awakened from sleep to lumber around the solitudes in search of some one, the intervening silence becomes more ominious with the next roar, the crack o' doom. A vagrant pale shimmer, and an ear-splitting crack, another flash, brighter this time, with increased violent vibrations like the crack of a whip-lash, a little more distant, then the storm, in elemental fury, leaps through the air, and breaks full force from a blackened sky in a swift downpour of rain upon the defenseless head of the storm-bound pilgrim. But who cares?

Take it in the mood of the sailor comrades of Odysseus:

> "That ever with a frolic welcome took
> "The thunder and the sunshone, and opposed
> "Free hearts, free foreheads.

A free forehead for me so as to preserve a fairly new hat from undue dampness! The "thunder of the guns" is expressively correct, there is a close enough resemblance of sound, thunder in the narrow defiles of mountainous regions and the "trommel feuer" of the "heavies" in action.

"BROKEN LULLABIES"

Such rumblings brought the words time and time again to "Red Patch" warriors when south of the old Salient—"The guns are going heavy up north tonight!" It's all so long ago that it becomes as an illusion. Perhaps, after all, the starshells and winking gun-flashes were only summer lightning, and the muttering guns a street car humping along on flat wheels!

The puzzling phenonema to which I refer has all the appearance of a wayside tragedy in the living book of nature. Each mauve bloom on a large thistle bush, growing sprawling and wind-brushed in a grassy circle, bears a recumbent bumble bee, face buried in cushiony tuft, motionless, apparently lifeless. A multiple case of a "bee in a bonnet" with a vengeance.

What unhappy circumstance has overcome these Bombidaes? What treachery planned for their undoing by this prickly plume-topped national emblem of Auld Scotia, with its rigid spines as protection against browsing beasts? Has the downy mattress lulled the unsuspecting insects to slumber in the warm sunshine, to be caught later by the chilled air? Have the thistles distilled some potent ambrosial nectar—illicit moonshine—akin to the liquid distillate for which the Highlands are so noted, and which they export world-wide in such terrific quantities? Have the unworldly bees, imbibe not wisely but too well, drunk themselves to death? Poor Bombidaes! The "Order of the Thistle" is here a decoration of disorder. It is all a mystery to the pilgrim. What is your opinion of the case, my dear Watson?

Nearing home, the lone pedestrian is forsaken by the storm which hastens after bigger game, campers, boating parties and motorists rolling home along the north shore highway.

The pavilion of heaven in the west is altogether clear, as an hour ago, with one star very brave in the effulgence of sunset, westward over the continent. The sky looks as if it could never weep again.

> Where thou, a wife and friend, shalt see

> There, healthy as a shepherd boy,
> And treading among flowers of joy
> Which at no season fade,
> Thou, while thy babes around thee cling,
> Shalt show us how divine a thing
> A woman may be made.
> Thy thoughts and feelings shall not die,
> Nor leave thee, when grey hairs are nigh,
> A melancholy slave;
> But an old age serene and bright,
> And lovely as a Lapland night,
> Shall lead thee to thy grave.

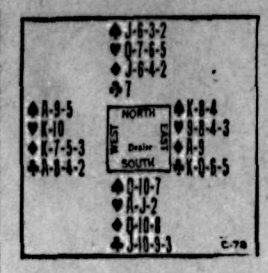
Auction and Contract Bridge

By the World's Leading Authority, MILTON C. WORK

WHEN YOU FOOL YOUR PARTNER



With the above hand the bidding would be:

South	West	North	East
P(a)	1NT(b)	P	3NT(c)
	OR
P(a)	1NT(b)	P	2C(d)
P	3NT

(a) South has no biddable suit and only two honor tricks; if rating the hand on the basis of the dependable 4-3-2-1 No Trump count it would total 11. The school that for a dealer's bid; when valuing on or tricks requires two and a half bases its No Trump bidding on honthe basis of the No Trump count, 13 is needed.

(b) The hand has a No Trump count of 14 and three honor tricks; for a second hand No Trump, after dealer's pass, a count of 12 or two and a half honor tricks is needed.

(c) East's count of 12 is just the minimum amount for a double raise of a second hand No Trump; 12 plus 12 equals 24, which is the total needed in the combined hands to bid three No Trumps.

(d) The East hand has two and a half honor tricks; one and a half is sufficient for a take-out (three Clubs) would be the correct bid.

North led the Five of Hearts from the strongest of his three four-card suits, South won with the Ace and returned the Jack, the higher of his two remaining Hearts. West's King won and he led two rounds of Clubs; which East (dummy) won. Declar-North discarded on the second round er then saw that he could show down eight tricks—three Clubs, two Spades, two Diamonds, and a Heart—and an additional Heart could be established.

Dummy led the Nine of Hearts and North had to win with the Queen' or run the risk of having Her Royal Highness die on his hands; so dummy's Eight of Hearts became the game-going trick. Could game have been saved?

THE CORRECT PLAY

When North led the Five of Hearts with the Four and Trey in dummy and the Deuce in South's hand, South knew that North had opened a four-card suit and that West would not have been apt to bid No Trump with a worthless doubleton, the fall of his Ten at trick 1 clearly indicated that he had held the Heart King-Ten or Queen-Ten. Regardless of which of these combinations West held, South's lead of the Jack to trick 2 would establish a Heart in the dummy. So South should violate the general rule and return the lower of his two remaining Hearts—the Deuce. Declarer then would be unable to establish dummy's Nine and would be set one trick.

That Body of Yours

By JAMES W. BARTON

REST AND WEIGHT

Every health writer including myself, advises the thin to eat more and the stout to eat less. The thin are also advised to take a little exercise to give them a better appetite and the stout are advised to take a great deal of exercise as their surplus fat gets used or burned, thereby reducing the weight.

I sometimes think that health writers, again including myself, do not say enough about rest and sleep, to the thin, and to the stout.

The way to think about rest or sleep is to think about it as food. If you take an extra hour of sleep or rest, you olse about an ounce or two of weight only, whereas if you are up and about fir this hour you may lose as much as four to six ounces of weight. You can thus see that if you get this much extra sleep or rest, everyday for a week siderable weight to your body, or a month, that it should add con-

What does this mean?

It mans that the thin or underweight individual by making sure of this extra hour or two of rest at night or during the day, is not going to use up all the food eaten, and some of it will be stored as extra weight.

To the overweight individual it means that as his or her body stores fat much more readily than one who is normal, that this extra hour of rest or sleep will give the system that much longer time to store fat at this increased rate.

You can thus see that perhaps more important than cutting down on the food intake, more important than taking vigorous exercise, is this cutting down on rest and sleep.

Just figure it out for yourself. By being on your feet, getting around the house, street, store, or office, one hour more each day than usual, and you are generally on your feet three or four hours a day, it would mean that you would be using your body, using up five times the energy as when at rest for one more hour a day. Thus the length of time when fat from your body was being used up would be 20 to 25 per cent more everyday.

Frankly, the thin individual cannot always gain in weight what would be expected for one more hour of rest or sleep, and taking one more hour of rest or sleep each day, but the gain would be certainly worth the giving up of one hour of play or recreation.

However, with the overweight individual, cutting off one hour of rest or sleep, and taking one more hour of light exercise such as walking, would give excellent results—loss of weight because not resting, loss of weight because of the light exercise.

Scrapped Auto Parts Used in Strange Ways

Long after their driving days are done, American automobiles continue to serve humanity in many lands. Some of the ingenious uses to which they are put, piecemeal, are described by the United States Daily quoting reports on file in the department of commerce from its foreign agents.

Engines from old motor cars are employed as power units in Chinese sampans. In Canadian forests they operate small sawmills. In France stuffing from upholstered seats is used for pillows and mattresses in peasants' homes. Rumanian gypsies convert antiquated passenger-car bodies into living quarters. Bus bodies, more commodious, are greatly in demand.

It is the worn-out tire that constitutes the greatest challenge to ingenuity. On street corners in South Serbia shoes made of old American casings are sold for the equivalent of 50 or 60 cents a pair. In Morocco antique tires become water buckets. In France they are transformed into workmen's aprons, water rings, suspenders and tobacco pouches. The Portuguese shepherd traditionally garbed in a long sleeveless coat with a cape covering the upper arms, has added to his wardrobe a protection for his forearms skillfully devised of inner tubes.

Sir Archibald Sinclair, secretary for Scotland, and Lady Sinclair, who have been on a short cruise among the Scottish islands, have gone into residence at Thurso castle, Caithness. Thurso castle is a large modern house with a tower 147 feet high, and 100,000 acres of land.

Nelson Seniors Take Ione Baseball Nine Into Camp by 12-2

Nelson Plays Sensational Game; Kraft Pitches Wonderful Game and Is Well Supported; Visitors Make Many "Boners"

Playing the snappiest ball exhibited by any ball club here this season, Nelson Seniors literally whitewashed the visiting Ione baseballers 12-2 at Nelson ball park Sunday before one of the largest crowds of ball fans gathering at a local game this year. Nelson's victory this Sunday much resembled that of the Ione club two weeks ago, with Nelson playing almost errorless ball and the visitors muffling play after play. "Slim" Kraft, veteran Nelson hurler, pitched a good game and was strongly supported by the rest of the team.

Sensational outfielding and clever infield play on the part of the locals was the feature of Sunday's game, although Thompson and Hanson for the visitors pitched fair ball, they received little support from the rest of the team.

Bey's homer in the fifth, the first of the game, boosted Nelson's score well beyond danger, when he chased Horswill in ahead of him to make the score 5-1 in Nelson's favor. In the sixth, Hotswill ousted the pill over the fence to bring in Roynon and Schumaker.

Heady field work by Bey, Horswill and Gillett which yielded a pair of double plays for Nelson, thrilled the crowd.

WALLACE INJURES THUMB

Wallace dislocated his thumb while sliding home in the fourth and went right back to the field.

Roynon along with other pasture players gave the fans a treat which has not been witnessed for many seasons here. Schumaker, in the center field, thrilled the ball followers with his sensational fielding although his usual heavy slugging was not evident in Sunday's game.

HORSWILL WORKS IN

Hugh Horswill, heavy hitting pasture player, who is subbing for Harrison at second, combined nicely with Bey and Gillett. He handled eight chances and never lost one.

Ellersick, Ione catcher, got a circuit drive in the ninth which sailed over the center field fence.

Nelson's battery, Kraft and Richardson, turned in a remarkable game, baffling the Ione batters repeatedly. Kraft struck out nine batters and allowed Ione only six hits. He walked three.

Thompson, lanky Ione chucker, was yanked in the seventh and Hanson took his place on the mound. Thompson struck out five while Hanson retired three swinging. Nelson hammered the two pitchers for 14 hits.

Although Richardson was exempt from the home run list Sunday, he had tough luck with a couple of hits which sailed to the fence just outside the base line.

HAVE DEFEATED ALL

With Sunday's win, Nelson has defeated every amateur team with whom they have come in contact.

OARSMEN FROM VANCOUVER STAR, CALIF.

Win Four of Seven Long-beach Events; De Mille Wins Singles

LONG BEACH, Calif., Aug. 28.—Displaying a brand of powerful stroking and perfect timing that made them invincible, oarsmen from Vancouver Rowing club Saturday swept to victory in four of the seven events of the Pacific coast rowing championships.

Stroked by Bill Merritt, the Vancouver four-oared crew defeated the San Diego Rowing club boat by two lengths to take the Province trophy which the southerners captured last year at Lake Harrison. Their time was 7:12:2.

Noel de Mille and Ned Pratt, Canada's doubles crew who placed third at the Los Angeles Olympic games, pulled away to an early lead in their battle with the San Diego pair and were never headed. They increased their margin of victory to two lengths at the finish in the time of 7:9:6.

De Mille romped off with the senior singles title, winning from C. H. Lentz, San Diego, by a length and a half in 7:52:2.

Further laurels were added to the Canadian contingent when youthful Bill Merritt, stroke of the four oars, covered the 1000 metre course in 3:48 to win the junior sculls title.

MEL DRANGA IS TENNIS VICTOR

GANGES, Aug. 28.—(CP)—Flashing across the courts wielding a deadly racquet, Mel Dranga, one of Seattle's ranking tennis players, captured the Gulf Island men's singles championship here Saturday by defeating Ross "Bud" Hocking, Victoria, in the final three straight sets, 6-3, 6-1, 6-3.

HOOKS and SLIDES

by WILLIAM BRAUCHER

The game is inconsistent. The Tigers are farther away from first place in the American league—in point of games—than are the Reds in the National league. Yet Bucky Harris is considered a very hotsy-totsy manager, while there is talk in Redland of removing Dan Howley as chief.

THE SIMMONS SITUATION

They are booing Al Simmons in Philadelphia whenever he comes to bat. It seems to be the idea of Philadelphia fans that since Foxx has become so successful, Simmons is sulking in his tent. But Umpire Will McGowan tells me that never did a man try harder to regain his greatness than Al Simmons has tried this year.

IT'S A WARNING

Simmons' situation seems to be a warning to the young ball player who might be inclined to let his head swell after the performance of some remarkable deeds. The downfall of Simmons this year is about the swiftest plunge a star of his brilliance ever has taken, and the most unexpected.

JOE MUST KNOW BETTER

Along the baseball grapevine comes the word that a certain American league manager whose team is leading the league by a substantial margin seems to be inclined to let the success of his athletes turn his head. That surely wou'dn't be Marse Joe McCarthy, would it? At least, not the McCarthy I used to know.

YANKEES ARE A CINCH

The Yankees were in front with a lead of 10½ games on Aug. 17. Suppose the team played .500 ball from that day to the end of the season. Cleveland or Philadelphia then would have to win 30 out of 40 games to gain a tie. It appears to be impossible.

THE FIGHTING CUBS

Should the Cubs go on to win the National league pennant, it ought to be an even money bet for the club to win the world series. The Cubs got hot after Hornsby was displaced by Grimm. And there is no telling where a warm team will go.

PIRATES SOFT TOUCH

Not by any stretch of the imagination can a world series victory for the Pirates be conceived, supposing the Pittsburgh club were to be pitted against either the Yankees or the Athletics. Every decrepit left-hander in the National league has beaten the Pirates, whose batting punch is against right-handers. Gomez, Pennock and Wells would set the Bucs on their ears. Grove and Walberg wouldn't even have to warm up to beat the Gibson boys.

GET OUT THE BOOKS, BOYS

If the Yankees win the American league pennant, Babe Ruth will enter the world series with a chance to establish baseball records that may never again be equalled. Ten world series! Most hits, most times at bat, most bases on balls, etc. The boys in the press box would break out into a rash.

A BRAND NEW ONE

If the Cubs win, and meet the Yankees, that will be a record, too. There never has been that kind of a series. Only once has the world series been played between Chicago and New York teams—in 1917, when the White Sox beat the Giants, four games to two.

TE GOMEZ SUPERSTITIONS

Senor Gomez, who this year attained the honor of being the first pitcher in the majors to win 20 games, has little habits that rank him with Lefty O'Doul in the class of superstitious ball players. Gomez always drops a ball thrown to him by an umpire. On his way to and from bench and slab he never steps on the foul line.

RAY RUDDY IS SWIM CHAMPION

TORONTO, Aug. 28.—Smiling Ray Ruddy, monarch of amateur swimmers, today wears another Canadian crown perched on his brow. In a smashing finish, the New Yorker last night captured the Canadian two-mile championship for the second year in succession, but not until he had been forced to the utmost by a dark horse from St. Catherines, Ont., a newcomer named James McGarigle. Less than five feet separated the two as they finished.

CHARLEY CHANGES "GRIMM" TO GRIN

By AL DEMAREE

Charley Grimm, the newly appointed boss of the Chicago Cubs besides being the most versatile operator around the initial sack, since the days of Hal Chase, is a man gifted with many talents in varied fields.

He is one of the best all-round comedians in baseball today. He is an accomplished magician, an expert on the banjo an a cabinet maker of no mean ability. As if these were not enough, he is quite adept at pastels, oils and water colors and turns out some really creditable landscapes.

Charley used to clown a lot with the Pittsburgh club years ago, as he is a natural born comedian, but in recent years he has cut out most of his wisecracking.

I remember one he pulled on the late Barney Dreyfus, owner of the Pirates.

"What is your favorite car?" asked Barney, who was interested in automobiles.

"The dining car," answered Charley. "They've got plates in that car I never pull away from."

MORELAND WINS WESTERN CROWN

Beats Ira Couch 5 and 4; Makes Walker Cup Team

ROCKFORD, Ill., Aug. 28—Gus Moreland strode off the Rockford Country club fairways last night with the western amateur crown perched on his brow and an invitation to compete in the United States Walker cup team in his pocket.

It was the biggest day of the 21-year-old Dallas, Texas, boy's golfing life.

The western crown came his way with comparative ease as he turned the challenge of husky Ira Couch, Chicago's weekend golfer, by the one-sided margin of 5 and 4.

GOLFERS BUSY, QUALIFY PLAY

Local golfers kept the course busy Sunday as they played their qualifying rounds to enter the tournament this coming week-end. Both ladies and men will be playing, the former for the Gosnell cup and the latter for the Leith trophy. Golfers from outside points, wishing to enter the tournament are allowed to qualify on their own courses. Due to this it impossible to say exactly how many will tee off at the opening. A large entry is expected, however.

Qualifying rounds must be played by Thursday night.

Dizzy Dean Hurls Third Win in Five Days; Cubs Win 10th Straight

DIZZ DEAN WINS AGAIN; ST. LOUIS WINS TWO

ST. LOUIS, Aug. 28.—The eccentric Dizzy Dean, who recently asked to be used in more games and was granted his request, pitched the St. Louis Cardinals to victory for the third time in five days in the second game of today's doubleheader with Brooklyn, 6 to 4, after Paul Derringer won the first for the Redbirds, 4 to 1.

The double defeat sent the Dodgers into third place in the National league race, behind the idle Pittsburgh Pirates, while the world champions passed up the Boston Braves, also idle, and went into a virtual tie with Philadelphia in fourth position.

When Lindbergh Flew on Eve of His Second Child's Birth

A few hours before he became the father of a second child, Col. Charles A. Lindbergh appeared as shown here (at right) at the Newark, N. J., airport. Seen with him is a newspaper reporter. It was the famed aviator's first visit to a flying field since the discovery of the murdered body of his first-born son, and he took aloft a new type high-speed monoplane on a test flight. Next morning, the awaited successor to the slain Charles Augustus, Jr., was born to Mrs. Lindbergh at Englewood, N. J.

HEAT JOINS IN THE PARADE F COMMODITY PRICES THE TOP RICES BEST SEEN FOR WEEKS

arly Morning Buying Wafts Price Up Two Cents at Chicago; Week's Gain in Wheat Totals From 3 1-2 Cents to 3 7-8 Cents;

CHICAGO, Aug. 28.—Wheat has joined the parade of mmodity prices.

Influenced rather by good feeling than by definite good ews, voluminous buying into the wheat pit at the start of e short session Saturday and gains of as much as 2½c bushel were recorded.

The top price, only fractionally better than the final uotations of the day, were the best seen on the big board more than two weeks. September reached 54 and closed 53 3-8 to 1-2; December touched 58 and finished at 57 3-8 1-2; May was 62 5-8 at its best and finished 3-4 cent be w. The net gains from Fri- y's close were 1 5-8 to 2 1-8 nts.

There was nothing inherent in the op news of the moment to ex- ain the swelling of confidence in e wheat trade. Some grain experts, deed, have been bearish in opinion. t the signs seemed to indicate the blic had heard alluring rumors st wheat must follow the upward nd of other commodities and se- rities, and recurrent rumors that me good news would come shortly m the federal farm board. The rly morning buying which wafted lues up 2 cents in the very first st of trading was the heaviest in eks and was regarded as the ad- nt of public participation.

Profit-taking plattened the market t, but each dip brought a reces- n of the volume of sales and the nderlying sentiment was strong roughout.

Corn, oats, rye and provisions all joyed small gains under the leader- ip of wheat.

Wheat, for the week, showed a in of 3⅛ to 3⅞ cents a bushel.

NEW MINING FINDS MADE

Silver in Rich Veins Uncovered on Ontario Property

TORONTO, Aug. 28— Important mining news during the week comes from widely separated points, Great Bear lake field reporting the discovery of gold and additional silver in rich veins while from the Swayze sector in Ontario a new and promising gold discovery is announced.

The latter find was made in the Halcrow township, adjoining Denyes township in the west. Dr. Rickaby, of the Ontario department of mines, is said to be impressed by the disclosures, visible gold in a strong vein being traceable 800 feet in length.

Reports from Camsell river in the Great Bear region tell of silver that will run from 3000 to 5000 ounces across two feet. Another discovery tells of 500 ounce ore across a width of one and a half feet. Prospectors report finding and staking Cobalt veins for a distance of seven miles along the river. This area is decidedly distinct from that part of Great Bear lake which has contributed most of the news to date.

From northern Manitoba comes the report that R. H. Jowsey has made a promising gold discovery at God's lake, the find being described as a considerable width of banded quartz veins in porphyry, with free gold and tellurides.

EGG MARKET IN INTERIOR FIRM

Local Production Is Better Than Average; Peewees Coming in

Weekend egg and poultry review, wired to Ottawa from Nelson by S. R. Bowell, Dominion egg inspector for the Kootenay, is as follows:

"The egg market in interior British Columbia continues firm, with symptoms of further strength developing in regard to local fresh stocks. These are holding well up to normal in volume, but the seasonal drop in the larger grades is beginning to be felt. Peewees or pullet seconds are beginning to appear, but in small quantities as yet. Pullet extras seem to be increasing in volume, but this is due rather to decreasing size of hen eggs than pullet production. Outside supplies are coming in in slightly increased volume, but quality is rather poor, due to held and heat-struck eggs. The demand for this stock is poor, nobody wanting it unless there are no local supplies available. Storage eggs are beginning to appear at points where Alberta supplies are being used, the trade regarding them as better than the fresh stock coming at present.

"Local production is reported better than average this season, due doubtless to closer culling.

"Present Nelson prices are: Wholesale to producer, extras 20, firsts 19, pullet extras 17; retailer to producer, extras 24 to 25, firsts 22 to 23, pullet extras 20. Retail prices are, specials 35, extras 30, firsts 2 for 55, pullet extras 25. Storage firsts are selling in the Crows Nest at the same price as Alberta fresh firsts.

"Poultry, properly finished and dressed, is in keen demand, but very little of this class is offering."

CANADIAN DOLLAR ACTIVE AND UP

NEW YORK, Aug. 28—Demand for the Canadian dollar was a feature of trading today on local foreign exchanges. It opened steady at 88½ cents in United States funds and quickly advanced to 88¾, the closing quotation and a gain of ¼ cent over Friday's final figure.

The pound sterling moved irregularly and, after commencing the day down ⅜ cent at $3.46½, closed firm at $3.46¾.

NEW YORK, Aug. 28—A fresh supply of bullish enthusiasm swept over the security markets again Saturday and stocks, led by the utilities, topped off a week of nearly uninterrupted price advances by working moderately higher.

A number of securities reached new peak prices for the year. Traders showed an inclination to take profits in the closing minutes of the abbreviated market, but their selling orders were not heavy enough to erase an earlier advance. Stocks closed with average prices, as measured in the Associated Press-Standard statistics index, gaining 1.4 points to the highest level yet reached on the recovery and only a few points below the year's highest level reached last March.

Sales totalled 2,201,980 shares.

The commodity markets furnished the springs from which the stock market drew its fresh supplies of encouragement.

NORANDA, NICKEL ISSUES MOVE UP

Hudson Bay Hits New High of $3.50, Golds Mixed

TORONTO, Aug. 28—(CP)—Firm prices and active trading in the medium and lower priced issues featured business on the Standard stock and mining exchange during the short Saturday session.

Sales totalled 318,000 shares and during the two hours of trading nine issues climbed to new high records for the year.

Noranda and International Nickel moved into a smaller circle and while the former lost 25 cents to $21.55 the latter gained 15 cents to close at $11.65. Hudson Bay moved up 20 cents to a new high at $3.50; Coast Copper recovered 10 cents to $2.50. Each registered new highs under buying pressure.

The gold section was mixed in price trend and most of the higher priced stocks showed comparatively little activity.

MICHELSON WINS BOSTON MARATHON

SALEM, N. J., Aug. 28—Albert "Whitey" Michelson of New York, member of the United States Olympic team, today won the Boston Olympic club's marathon race from a brilliant field on the Rockingham park mile track. The veteran crossed the line leading John Semple of Lynn, Mass., by three-quarters of a mile.

LAKE DOWN TO 4.5 FEET ABOVE ZERO

From Friday noon to Sunday noon, the lake level at Nelson declined a fifth of a foot. Friday's reading by the Dominion government guage at the shipyards was 4.70 feet above low water, Saturday's was 4.60, and Sunday's, 4.5. The lake was rough at noon Sunday, and the 4.5 is an approximately figure.

At the annual meeting of Ballymena chamber of commerce the outgoing president, George C. G. Young, M. P., nominated as his successor in the chair, William Cameron, who was unanimously elected.

SMELTERS SELL OVER HIGH MARK

Montreal Has Irregular Course; Nickel, C.P.R., Power Active

MONTREAL, Aug. 28 (CP)—The Montreal stock exchange followed an irregular course in Saturday's short session. Leaders tended to weaken, while the list as a whole showed a majority of upward changes. Volume was moderate, price changes were mostly fractional.

International Nickel, Montreal Power and Canadian Pacific furnished the bulk of activity. Nickel moved up ⅛ in early trading but settled back to close at 11½, where it was unchanged. Power dropped nearly a point, closing at 36, off ⅞. Canadian Pacific opened unchanged at 20, but gradually fell off to sell at 19¼ down ¾.

Consolidated Smelters touched a new high during the day at 75½, but was unchanged at 75 at noon.

Upward changes included Abitibi at 2⅛, Brazilian Traction at 11⅜, and National Breweries at 17⅜, up ⅛ each. Power corporation, up ⅝ at 13⅞, Steel of Canada, at 22, and Viau Biscuit at 8, up a point each. National Steel Car, up ½ at 10½ and Canada Steamships preferred up ½ up 86.

Total sales were 11,087 shares and $16,800 bonds.

The pound sterling closed at $3.8966 and the United States dollar at 12⅜ per cent premium.

WHEAT CLOSES STRONG AND UP IN CHICAGO PIT

Gain Is Over Two Points; Oats, Corn Also Strong Issues

CHICAGO, Aug. 28—Wheat prices were swept sharply upward by a broad general buying wave engendered by stock market strength and sensational advances in cotton. An initial advance of 2½ cents a bushel was registered in the December delivery before profit taking, selling against offers and closing of "spread" operations between Chicago and Winnipeg could check the market. Recessions were only minor, heavy buying appearing on each fractional downturn. Oats and corn were strong with wheat. Provisions were also firm in sympathy with grains.

Wheat closed strong, not far from the day's top levels and 1⅝ to 2⅛ cents above yesterday's finish, corn ¾ to ⅞ up, oats ⅝ to ⅞ advanced, and provisions 5 to 13 cents stronger

The Chicago December delivery sold at a premium over the same month at Winnipeg. On Aug. 18, December wheat was selling at 5⅛ cents more in Winnipeg than it was in Chicago. Bullish sentiment was enhanced by the theory of buyers that wheat and other grains would have to show some response eventually to the improvement in outside conditions and which have made wheat look cheap by comparison.

LABOR DAY SPORTS LINED UP, NELSON

Trail Juniors, Girls' Softballers, Trail Lacrosse Teams to Play

Definite word was received from Trail yesterday afternoon that the junior baseball team, girls softball team, and the senior representative lacrosse team will be over to take part in Nelson's big sports meet on Labor day, September 5. The local junior baseball team has also challenged the Trail boys to meet them in a relay race, and it is expected that the latter will accept. Many Trail fans declared that the last junior game was one of the best seen in Trail all this season, as it was featured by snappy plays on the part of both infields.

It will be Nelson's first opportunity to see a lacrosse game in years, and the first occasion that the box lacrosse style has ever been played in Nelson.

With all the old stars back in town after their holidays the Nelson girls expect to show the Trail girls how the game should be played, and get revenge for last week's defeat. Tr il has in Annie Mucha one of the best fielders ever seen in softball, it being practically impossible to put anything past her.

The Silverton baseball team will make its first appearance in Nelson this season on September 11 when they will meet the Nelson junior "Reps". Jack Kelly, who has starred in all district sports for years will be on the mound for the Silverton boys, and many Nelson fans will remember his remarkable showing when he was sent in as relief chucker for the Slocan Valley all-stars against the Nelson seniors last fall.

NO MOLESTING OF THE REDFISH

"No one shall fish for, catch or kill Little Redfish (Kokanee) in any creek or stream up which these fish ascend to spawn."

This is the reading of section 16, sub-section 20, of the special fishery regulations for British Columbia, promulgated by the Dominion government, drafted for the protection of the silver trout or redfish, whose spawning run is now starting in various creeks in the Kootenay.

The prohibition of taking of derfish has been in force since 1923, in which year it was enacted, for the purpose of making possible the natural re-stocking of Kootenay waters, for purposes of a food supply for the big Kamloops trout. In addition to natural increase, for some years redfish eggs have been hatched at the Nelson hatchery and the fry returned to these waters.

Usually the redfish run lasts about five weeks, the vividly colored spawners beginning to appear in the creek mouths about the last week in August. They are closely related to if not a form of the sockeye salmon, their spawning dress, they are known and die after spawning. Until in as the silver trout and live in the lakes.

FINALS REACHED IN BOTH "B" CLASS SINGLES OF KOOTENAY TOURNAMENT PLAY ON SUNDAY

Miss K. Nisbet and Miss P. Gelinas to Play for Ladies' Cup and L. Fielding and A. M. Major Battle for Men's Trophy on Labor Day

GOOD TENNIS SEEN DURING ENTIRE DAY; PLAY BRILLIANT IN PLACES

Notable Upsets in First Rounds Add Zest; Consolation Tournament Reaches Semi-Finals; Winners Given Little Rest

Wading through three and four matches respectively, entrants in the ladies' and men's "B" class singles in the 18th Kootenay tennis tournament got as far as the finals in each case Sunday, and the deciding play will be allowed to hold over until Labor day. Miss K. Nisbet and Miss P. Gelinas will cross racquets for the cup Miss M. Sandercock of Nelson gives up, and L. Fielding and A. M. Major, of Procter, will vie for the cup now held by Mr. Weldon, of Trail. In the consolation tournament the semi-finals were reached.

Playing to complete the tournament in one day as planned, little rest was given to the winners, but despite that, the brand of tennis exhibited was good at all times, even bordering on the brilliant in places. Several upsets in the first round draws added considerable zest to the day's excitement.

In reaching the finals in the men's event L. Fielding left in his wake such players as S. Haydon, R. Stratton, and Bill Bunyan. Only in his draw against Bunyan, however, was he extended to three sets. Major of Procter won in straight games beating F. Phillips and F. Morris of the Nelson club.

HAS HARD MATCH

K. Nisbet found her stiffest opposition when she encountered Mrs. J. D. Foggo in the first round. It was uphold fighting for both players, first one leading and then the other. Long rallies were numerous and nearly every game went to deuce. Miss Nisbet was placing well and won 10-8, 11-9, after two hours of play.

Miss P. Gelinas was taken to three sets in the first round by Miss E. Green of Cranbrook, long sets by Miss Isobel Oughtred, and a long first set by Mrs. R. Maurer.

Speed of play was hindered somewhat by long sets, 11 needing the third one.

CONCOLATION GOOD

Keen competition held throughout the consolation rounds, and the play lacked nothing in excellence the cup round had. C. Baker, hard-driving youth of Fairview won his way to the semi-finals by beating E. Delpuppo and S. Haydon, and Price entering the same bracket by beating E. Stromstead and M. Malahoff. R. Sampson and F. Phillips getting byes, beating A. Foster and T. Baker respectively.

Mrs. Foggo reached the final round in the ladies' consolation and will play the winner of the Mrs. MacTier-Mrs. Kearns match.

750,000 SOCCER FANS WATCH THE OPENING GAMES IN ENGLISH RACE; EVERTON, CHAMPS, LOSE TO ALBION

Leeds and Wolverhampton, Recently Promoted, Drop Games; Blackburn and Chelsea Draw; Arsenal Wins; Stockport Star Pulls Hat Trick

LONDON, Aug. 28 (CP cable). — Nearly 750,000 spectators crowded the stands to see the opening of the English soccer season Saturday as games throughout the country were played under brilliant skies and warm cricket-like weather.

The usual topsy turvy results associated with the opening of a new campaign saw Everton, last year's champions, go down to defeat before West Bromwich Albion, 3-1, after leading one up at the interval. Dunn scored Evetron's only goal after six minuates of play.

Everton's classical display was impressive at the start but Albion's stamina wore them down. Sandford and Carter scored one each on brilliant solo efforts, while W. Richardson brought the final for his team.

LOSE FIRST GAMES

Leeds United and Wolverhampton, promoted from the second division, where they played last year, were both outclassed in their first games. Wolverhampton scored in the third minute of play against Liverpool through Phillips, but the former South African, Hodgson, broke through and quickly tied the score. By half time Wright and Crawford had added two to make the score 3-1 in favor of Liverpool. Gunson and Crawford completed the route after half time, scoring one each to put Liverpool ahead by 5-1. Leeds was unable to cope with the game of Derby County and went down to defeat 2-0.

Arsenal, although handicapped by the last minute withdrawal of Jones, their captain, through illness, rose to the occasion with a fine victory over Birmingham. The season's first serious casualty occurred when Cringan of Birmingham was taken out in the 26th minute with a fractured collar bone after colliding with Hulme. Birmingham's remaining put on a gallant display, holding the game scoreless up to half time. Hampstead brought victory to Arsenal scoring in the 61st minute.

BLACKBURN-CHELSEA DRAW

A crowd of 30,000 packed the stands at Stamford Bridge where Blackburn Rovers and Chelsea played to a two-all deadlock.

Cunliffe scored for Rovers before half time and Burton increased the lead by one 10 minutes before the finish. Chelsea staged a garrison finish to tie the score just at time when Gallacher drove in a goal to add to Miller's previous tally.

Middlesborough and Aston Villa fought a scoreless game till half time but Brown broke through with a beautiful lone effort to score eight minutes after the interval. Walker headed a corner kick into Middlesborough's goal to make it 2-0 for the Villa.

Newcastle United played typically clever football but Bolton Wanderers came back with a fast, hard game to gain a two-all draw. Butler and Wright carried Bolton into a 2-0 lead before half time, but the Wanderers lost their sting in the second half when Richardson followed up Allen's goal to tie the score with a long chance shot.

West Ham United, relying almost entirely on last year's players, was unlucky in losing to Swansea Town, 1-0. Martin, taking advantage of an error by West Ham's defence, scored the only goal of the game.

Charlton Athletic, seeking promotion to the first division, surprised Tottenham Hotspurs when Yardley scored in the eighth minute, but Hunt, Spurs' center forward, tied it up two minutes later. A clever goal by Evans in the 30th minute and a fine header by Hunt just before the interval brought the score to 3-1 in favor of Spurs. Evans scored again a minute after resumption of play.

Griffiths of Stockport pulled the first hat trick of the season, scoring twice before half time and again after the interval. Stevenson and Downes gave Stockport a 5-1 victory over Darlington, Alderson scored Darlington's only goal.

GLEDHILL WITH VINES, VICTOR

Allison and Van Ryn Defeated; British Pair Win Mixed Doubles

BROOKLINE, Mass., Aug. 28.—A California tennis tornado, generated by the racquets of Ellsworth Vines and Keith Gledhill wrecked the championship hopes of Wilmer Allison and Johnny van Ryn, in 59 minutes flat in the 51st national doubles final yesterday at Longwood.

Allison and Van Ryn labored under a terrific handicap as they set out to defend their titles against the west coast youngsters. Just a week ago, while they were still enthusing over their notable Davis cup triumph, they engaged the Californians for the Newport Casino titles and were soundly trounced for four sets.

They were slaughtered yesterday in straight sets, 6-4, 6-3, 6-2. Their rout was humiliating.

The magic in Vines' racquet, however, was short-lived for he and Helen Jacobs of Berkeley, Calif., the new women's single champion, were decisively beaten by Sarah Palfrey, Brookline, and Frederick W. Perry of England, in the mixed doubles final 7-5, 6-3.

J. D. E. and Arnold Jones of Providence, who have an unbreakable grip on the national father-son championships, won for the fifth consecutive year, and the seventh time in 10 years, against E. W. Burns and E. W. Burns Jr. of New York, 6-3, 3-6, 6-4.

The same teams that clashed in the 1931 veterans' final were in action again but the results were reversed, S. Jarvis Adams and Henry W. Bassford, New York, regaining the championships from Dr. William Rosenbaum and Fred C. Baggs, New York, 3-6, 11-9, 6-2.

Football Flashes

LONDON, Aug. 28 (C P cable)—Rock-like football grounds caused numerous injuries to players in league soccer games throughout England yesterday.

Cringan, the Birmingham left back and Davidson of Coventry City suffered broken collar bones when they took hard falls. Hall, the Burley outside left, broke his shin bone. In many other games players were forced to leave the field and did not return.

Griffiths of Stockport was the top scorer of the day with his three goals at the expense of Darlington in a 5-1 game.

The following players scored twice: Crawford of Liverpool, Burgess of Sheffield Wednesday, Brook of Manchester City, Forsyth of Millwall, Harper of Preston North End, Hunt and Evans of Tottenham Hotspurs, Pike of Southend, White of Bournemouth, Jackson of Bristol Rovers, Simpson of Crystal Palace, Holliday of Brentford, Palethorpe of Reading, Bourton of Coventry City, Wright of Acrington, Dobson of Southport and Proctor of Hartlepool.

"CHRIST JESUS" LESSON-SERMON, NELSON CHURCH

The subject of the Lesson-Serman in First Church of Christ, Science, Nelson, on Sunday was "Christ Jesus."

One of the Bible texts was, "And in the same hour he cured many of their infirmities and plagues, and of evil spirits; and unto many that were blind he gave sight" (Luke 7:21).

The Lesson-Serman also included the following passage from "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy: "Our Master ttaught no mere theory, doctrine, or belief. It was the divine Principle of all real being which he taught and practised" (page 26).

JOE WALLACH, NELSON MILER IS WINNER OF HEAT AT THE JUNIOR OLYMPICS, MCARTHUR SECOND

Mowat Gowans of Grand Forks Nosed Out of Second Place in Mile Event; 230 Athletes Vie for Honors at the Coast Meet

VANCOUVER, Aug. 28 (CP).—Two hundred and thirty-three youthful athletes from all parts of British Columbia, aspirants to carry Canada's colors in future Olympic contests, met in the first round competition at the two-day British Columbia Junior Olympiad, Saturday.

With interest high in the sprint events, two youths showing future championship possibilities, remained in the running for double crowns. They are Joe Addison, Victoria, and Stan Barrett, Vancouver. The Victoria boy qualified for the finals in both the 220 and 440 yard events, while Barrett entered the 100 and 220 yard final rounds.

Three spirited finishes were seen in the mile heats, in which two sturdy runners from Nelson qualified for the final.

Gordon Beggs of West Summerland won the first heat in 4.82 2-5, the best time of the afternoon, but he was hard pressed by Ernest Stotzenberg of Nanaimo and A. MacCaulay of West Vancouver, who finished second and third. Sherwood Robson of South Vancouver high school was fourth, all four qualifiers were closely bunched.

Joe D. Wallach of Nelson ran a splendid race in the second heat, winning by 20 feet. He proved perhaps the best stylist among the milers and finished easily with a fair sprint. Earl Pook of East Kelowna and Mowat Gowans of Grand Forks put on a battle for second, the former winning.

Don McKenzie of Mage high, nosed out Russel McArthur, Nelson in the third heat. The two battled for leadership throughout and in the home stretch McKenzie staved off McArthur's drive.

Vancouver sprinters caught only two places in the semi-finals of the 100 yard dash, Howard McPhee of Lord Byng high school winning the second heat handily. Allan Poole of Kelowna uncorked a burst of speed to win the first. He is a strong, rangy lad and will be a threat in the finals.

Barrett was second to Poole. He finished with something in reserve and should be among the winners on Monday.

Both winners were timed at 10 3-5 seconds, one-fifth of a second slower than the inter-high school record.

The "iron man" of Saturday's trials was rangy Art Chapman of Victoria Y. M. C. A., who leaped into the finals in three events, the 110 yard hurdles, the high jump and the shot put. The curly-headed youth won his heat in the hurdles in the time of 16 4-5 seconds, and tossed the shot 39 feet.

AUSTRALIANS BEAT CALIFORNIA ELEVEN

LOS ANGELES, Aug. 28—The touring Australian cricket eleven had another workout Saturday under sunny California skies. The visitors defeated a picked southern California team 181 to 122.

Miss G. Wigg and Mrs. W. F. Calbick playing as a ladies double team beat Mrs. J. Ball and Mrs. A. Wigg in a lawn bowling fixture Saturday night. The score was 24-8. The winners lost the first end and then countered on all but three others.
