FRANCE COMMENDS U. S. PRESIDENT

Tariff Bargaining Is Not Laid for Roosevelt's Approval Yet

WASHINGTON, April 14. (CP).—Word that Prime Minister R. B. Bennett would be present at President Roosevelt's economic talks from April 25 to 28 inclusive was recieved here today from the Canadian capitol. Mr. MacDonald sails from England tomorrow and will be here April 21 to 26 inclusive. M. Herriott will reach here April 23.

United States tariff experts worked away today on the difficult task of preparing for President Roosevelt the bill on which he will rely for power to make reciprocal tariff agreements with various nations. He desires it particularly in order to be able to work with a comparatively free hand at the world economic conference in London about June 15, which is dedicated in part to a reduction of barriers in trade.

As the tedious process of examining veniremen for a sanity hearing proceeded, the slender blonde woman convicted of the murder of Agnes Anne Leroi, one of two women friends she confessed shooting to death at Phoenix, muttered and fidgeted.

First here during the war, Staff-Sergeant Gammon resigned from the force about the time of the transfer to the coast of Inspector W. R. U.S. Senate Will Consider Waterway Treaty This Session

WASHINGTON, April 14 (AP).—Indication was given at the White House today the St. Lawrence waterways pact is on the calendar for consideration at this session of the United States senate, but that a resolution protecting New York state's interests in power will accompany it. The pact has been signed by Canada and the United States, but must be ratified by the Dominion parliament and United States congress.

The proposed resolution would give definite recognition to New York state's claim on the American share of the power and would incorporate a prohibition against the power ever reverting to private interests.

At present there is nothing in writing to support New York's claim to the power.

At a hearing before the senate foreign relations committee a tentative agreement between the New York state power authority and army engineers was reached which would place the cost of the power to New York at not more than $89,000,000.

Englishmen Wage Verbal Battle With State Witnesses

GREGORY THROWS CHALLENGE, COURT

Denies Sabotage Charge With Fact Was Sent to Do the Best

MOSCOW, April 14 (CP and AP cables)—Heated verbal battle developed between accused Englishmen and Russian state witnesses today as the trial of the six English employees of the Metropolitan-Vickers Electrical firm, facing charges of sabotage and espionage, continued.

The court in a lengthy sitting—the session in the October hall today again ran until 10 p.m.—heard an array of Russian witnesses against the defendants, and hot denials by the Englishmen of the allegations that at various times they had by bribery or otherwise induced wrecking of machinery at big Russian plants.

The highlight of the sitting was the challenge to the court by A. W. Gregory, a little red-headed Welshman who is one of the defendants.

Gregory heard with impatience a statement by M. Seibert, one of the state witnesses, to the effect that

2 MORE KILLED IN CUBAN RIOTS

Were Arrested in Round-up After 17 Bombings Thursday

HAVANA, April 14 (AP).—Gunfire killed two young Cubans today and brought to seven the number of victims in the latest resurgence of political terrorism in the last 10 days.

They were identified as Abilio and Ramiro Valdes Daussa, 24 and 23 years old respectively, the sons of J. M. Valdes Leon, general paymaster for the Cuban government. The two were arrested in a roundup after an outbreak of 17 bombings yesterday and last night, which resulted in the wounding of three persons.

After questioning at a police station, the two were turned over to plainclothes police. In the Vedado this afternoon several shots rang out. Uniformed policemen found Ramiro dead. His brother was rushed to a hospital, where he died almost immediately.

Predict Defeat of Inflation in Senate

Several Blocks Formed to Fight It

WASHINGTON, April 14 (AP)—Defeat for proposals to expand the United States currency as part of a farm relief program was predicted today by Democratic leaders as the inflation issue came squarely before the senate for a decision in connection with the board Roosevelt plan to aid agriculture.

Senators Long and Wheeler, Democrats from Louisiana and Montana respectively, raised the monetary expansion question with proposals to add silver to the currency, on which a vote may come tomorrow with all indications pointing to rejection.

Long, offering an amendment to authorize the purchase of $100,000,000 in silver, against which currency would be issued, took the first step. Wheeler promptly proposed as a substitute for Long's amendment, his Bryanesque plan to remonetize silver at 16 to one with gold.

Inflation was recommended to the senate by its agriculture committee in reporting on the Roosevelt farm program, contending currency expansion was the only hope for "substantial and permanent relief" for agriculture. Several blocs have formed to fight for inflation.

Family Undecided Over Operation

Father Consents But Mother Is Obdurate

HASTINGS, N.Y., April 14 (AP).—The family of John Vasco was torn today between a father's sense of duty and a mother's love for her little daughter.

Through it all, two-year-old Helen Vasco played with her dolls, unaware of the strife she has caused since doctors found her inflicted with a tumor on her left eye, which, they say, will cause her death unless it is removed.

Relenting at last to the pleas of physicians that the operation on her eye be performed, John Vasco, the father, said he was willing that it be done; but the mother remained obdurate. She still believed the doctors were wrong, and that her 'baby' would be all right without the aid of a surgeon's knife.

ARREST OF 4 MAY CLEAR UP MANY CRIMES

Men Arrested in Portland Thought to Be Active There and in B. C.

THREE ADMIT TACOMA THEFT

Find $600 in Travelers' Checks; Arrest Four Women With Them

PORTLAND, Ore., April 14 (AP) With the arrest of four men here today police said tonight they hoped to clear up a number of recent spectacular crimes in Oregon and Washington and possibly British Columbia. Four women were arrested with them.

The four men, arrested through the cooperation of Tacoma, Wash., authorities, were charged with being members of a gang of six who held up J. S. O'Day, Tacoma messenger, and robbed him of the $4500 payroll of the Tacoma Veterans' hospital.

Police reported that $600 in travelers' cheques, found in one of their rooms, were identified as taken from the Philomath, Ore., bank when that institute was held up January 4. The bank robbers escaped with about $1200.

WANTED AT VANCOUVER

Tonight Detective Capt. Harvey Thatcher of the Portland police bureau said he received a wire from Vancouver, B.C., authorities that the men might be wanted there, but Thatcher said the wire did not explain on what charges.

Three of those taken here admitted, police said, participation in the Tacoma robbery. They are Frank Butler, alias James Spencer; Wallace Jackson and Carl Brehan. The fourth man, Perry Reynolds, denied the charge. The arrested women gave their names as Juanita Miller, Thelma Travers, Ethel Benton and Harriot Short. Miss Miller was ordered held as a fugitive from Tacoma and Thelma Travers and Ethel Benton were ordered held for the district attorney's office here. No charge had been placed against Miss Short.

Immediately after the arrests Butler, Jackson, Brehan, Miss Miller and Miss Short were rushed to Vancouver, Wash., and lodged in the jail there, to avoid extradition claims. Reyholds, Miss Travers and Miss Benton were being held here in city jail.

Burns Sees no Aid in Russian Embargo

Cattle King Is Interviewed in East

MONTREAL, April 14 (CP)—"You people down east know everything. But I don't consider that the Russian embargo will make any difference to us."

This from Senator Patrick Burns, cattle king, who is spending a few days here. The senator was asked whether cessation of trade relations between the United Kingdom and Russia would increase export of Canadian cattle.

"Has Calgary finally got rid of her financial difficulties?" queried the interviewer, setting off on a new track.

"Well, I'm not going to say very much about Calgary or it might be kind of embarrassing when I got back. They might shoot me up just to let me know that I can't come down east and say what I like about the west. We all make mistakes and I suppose Calgary made hers."

FERNIE MINISTER GOES TO REVELSTOKE

Little Fishing Boats Patrol Waters Alongside the Majestic Portland for Bodies of Victims in the Akron Crash

ABOARD USS. PORTLAND, Off New Jersey coast, April 14 (AP)—two non-descript little fishing boats patrolled for the Akron dead today side by side with the United States navy's finest salvage craft.

They are the Grace F. of Gloucester, Mass., and the Olympia of Cape May, N.J., and behind their entry into the search lay a demonstration of comradeship of the sea, which brought a moist twink'e into the eyes of Captain Leary, director of the hunt.

The two tiny craft, worn and battered by years of service, came alongside the giant cruiser Portland soon after a two-day gale abated last night. Their grizzled skipper climbed aboard the Portland. Displaying a little embarrassment at the splendor of their surroundings, they asked for the skipper.

"We want to help find the bodies of the men who died in the Akron crash," Capt. Frank Favolaro of the Grace F. told Captain Leary.

"We have our own nets and fuel and we don't want any pay," added Captain Brex of the Olympia. "We just came because we thought we might be able to help some.

Captain Leary, betraying emotion, consented immediately, and this morning he moved the Portland, which is serving as base ship, 10 miles nearer the dragging area, so that he could communicate with the two boats by signal. Neither of them has wireless. He said they could be especially valuable because they are light and their crews can feel the slightest pull on their dragging nets.

BLACK BEAR FAMILY STILL ON DECK BUT SEEN FURTHER WEST

Nelson's family of black bears, that appeared Thursday on the face of Granite mountain, opposite the city, and was seen by hundreds of citizens with and without the aid of field glasses, was still on deck Friday morning, but instead of being on the upper fringe of the barren area over the bluff, they were further to the west, on a long slide about half way over to Pulpit rock.

Later the four animals—two apparently huge adults and two cubs—disappeared in the bush to the east of the slide, and so far as heard, kept under cover for the rest of the day.

CRITICISM OF BRITAIN BRINGS REICH PROTEST

Germany Keeps Wires Hot Protesting Talk in the British House

BERLIN, April 14 (AP) —Criticism of Germany yesterday in the British house of commons so aroused the ire of the German government that Ambassador Leopold von Hoesch was ordered today to protest to Great Britain.

The long distance wires were kept busy when the decision was being made that the ambassador must protest in the name not ony of the foreign office but of the entire government of the reich.

The ministers were described as painully surprised because Sir John Simon as Britain's minister for foreign afairs, did not object to the criticism of Germany voiced by members of the house.

"Just imagine that any member of the reichstag raised the Irish issue on the floor—don't you suppose the German foreign minister would have called him down?" A government spokesman said.

In the house of commons at London Sir Austen Chamberlain, former chancellor of the exchequer asserted Thursday that this is notime for revision of the Treaty of Versailles because of the present state of mind in Germany.

"This new spirit of German Nationalism," Sir Austen said, "is the old Prussism with an added savagery of racial pride and exclusiveness."

This dress is particularly lovely and wearable, being a one-piece model, with flaring three-quarter cape sleeves, an old-fashioned yoke and a cute fichu made of brown organdy, that droops over one shoulder and ties in a bow. It is removable for laundering.

TOKYO, YOKOHAMA AND YELLOW SEA VIEW BY FRED WARREN

Trail Man on Way to See Centers in Chinese Empire

LETTER NO. 3

The Editor:

Sir—This is March 8th here, and only March 7th in Nelson, and I have been to Japan, done nearly the whole country of the Mikado, and am now approaching China, and this morning, I found the ship on, or in, the Yellow Sea, as the water has quite a yellow tinge, which, I believe, becomes more pronounced as we approach the land.

On Sunday last we woke up in a dense fog, and anchored some distance off Yokohama. The fog lifted slowly, and we were able to get into quarantine, and had not long to wait for the doctor, who proved to be a very small man, like most of the Japanese. I had no trouble passing him, or the immigration inspector, and after changing five dollars for 20 yen, went ashore. I had to go to the customs with my baggage, but they were very courteous, and after being satisfied that I had not any tobacco, passed me through. Talking about tobacco reminds one that the Japanese government holds a monopoly on tobacco, and has a duty of either 365 per cent or 465 per cent imposed upon it, and has put on this heavy duty to prevent any opposition springing up. A Reverend Father from Melbourne, Australia, told me that rather than pay it, he gave up his supply of the weed to the customs, and was smoking Japanese tobacco, which he did not care for.

The first morning, a party of us drove to Kamakura, a small town, noted specially for its Bhuda temples and shrines, one of the latter being called the Goddess of Mercy, and is a large girl done in gold. All of the shrines have a very coarse looking wooden box in front of them, which I thought might be for washing their feet, before going in, but later was told that they were boxes for offerings on the part of tourists.

In the afternoon, I took the electric train to Tokyo and saw a little of the largest city in Japan, its population being five and one half millions. It is a bright city, with many fine buildings, and seems to be noted for its department stores, one of which I was in.

BLUE RIBBONS IN DOMINION FINAL

Beat Raymond Basketeers 44 to 28

VICTORIA, B. C., April 14 (CP) — The Victoria Blue Ribbons, defeated the Raymond "Jacks" 44 to 28 tonight to win the western Canadian basketball championship and the right to play in the finals for the Canadian championship.

The Ribbons duplicated their tactics of the previous game and stepped into the lead within the first seven minutes of play with a score of eleven to three. This they steadily increased until hal time when the score stood 25-12.

In footwork and overhead play the local quintette showed superior style and broke down what otherwise was an almost impenitrable defence.

A bottle of beer, said to be worth $500, has been locked in a safe in Edinburgh, Scotland.

Being Sunday, its streets were crowded, as Sunday is the big retail day in Japan. Ginza street, the principal retail street, was almost impassable, but with the aid of two Japanese young men who spoke a little English, I got along nicely. The Emperor's palace is in Tokyo, and is composed of some 200 acres of land, surrounded by a moat, part of which I saw, but took for a part of a park, with some ducks swimming on it. I believe very few, if any, of the public are allowed in the grounds, and the Emperor very seldom appears to his people.

I saw a few picture shows and many going, and noted that Eddie Cantor was one of the attractions in a picture I saw in Trail some months ago. I understood my two young Japanese friends to say that they do not observe Sunday as a holy day, but have three days in the month, the 10th, the 18th and the 28th, which are observed as holidays, and I had this fact impressed on me by my clerical friend, from Australia, later on.

Later I got back to Yokohama, a pretty tired young man. I perhaps should tell you all, or nearly all, the people who have colds in Japan wear a mask over their mouth and nose, generally black as to color, something the same as we did in Trail and Nelson when the 'flue was bad here, and I think it a good idea, so as to prevent colds spreading, and making all your friends miserable. Ask our J. H. Schofield to bring the subject up at Victoria; it might prove an election cry for Tolmie, Bowser or someone.

Yours truly

Mr. and Mrs. Kearns of Nelson arrived in Greenwood on Tuesday morning by car and will be the guest of Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Stewart during their visit.

HARROP PUPILS GIVE PROGRAM

HARROP, B C., April 14 — The pupils of Harrop school needed a new baseball bat for recreation, so arranged a short program and presented it Wedesday afternoon in the school room. About twenty-five people, mothers and interested friends, attended, and a collection was taken. E. Harrop, however, very kindly donated a new bat, so the money collected will be sent to the Junior Red Cross instead. Several health posters were on display in the room.

The address of welcome was made by Cyril Fitchett, followed by a play "The Brahman, the Tiger and the six Judges." This was splendidly acted by the juniors, Edna Johnston taking the part of the tiger in the cage, his keeper, the brahman, by Susie Berry. Judges were Loli Serres, Barbara Cerres, June Rowley, Sam Podmorcff, Wilfred Howard and Alfred Maloney. A debate, "Baseball vs. Football" by grades V and VI was next given. The affirmative was taken by Annie Kosma, Walter Fitchett and Evelyn Rowley, but the decision was awarded the negative speakers who were Ada Andrews, David Fairbank and Vivian Rowley. Other items on the program follow: Recitation, "The Rainbow" by Clarence Maloney and Sam Podmorcff; drill "Washday" by junior girls; debate "Country Life vs' City Life" by grades VII and VIII, Dick Sewell, Agnes Maloney and Ethel Fairbanks presented the affirmative with Florence Howard, William Howard and Clarence Johnston defending city life, the decision was cast in favor of the affirmative debaters; reading by Winnie Howard and Diana Rowley; reading by Florence Howard; health jingle "See what I have found" by juniors; recitation, Clarence Johnston; song Edna Johnston.

Mothers of the pupils provided tea, the senior girls assisting the teacher, Miss Whitfield, in serving.

Fishermen Get Ready for Season on the Main Lake

PROCTER, B. C., April 14.—Preparation for the coming boating and fishing season have been noticeable on the water front for the past week. Numerous repair jobs are being completed. Bert Crosby and Ike Janben have been busily overhauling launches. Jim Bichan assisted by his nephew, Harold Merrifield, has just completed making two rowboats and are now concentrating on a launch. Captain A. Lean, an ardent fisherman, has been giving his launch the once over in preparation for the opening of the fishing season. W. R. Jarvis has made extensive repairs to and repainted his boat. Over the last week-end Andy Kraft and Sidney Hayden of Nelson were out in Procter looking over Mr. Kraft's launch and from Kaslo came recently "Slim" Smythe's rowboat, so it looks as if the fishing season was going to open here with a bang.

Close Play Features as Matches Proceed on Schedule

Marked by enthusiasm, both from the standpoint of players and spectators, the second annual Kootenay badminton tournament got away to a blazing start Friday morning at the junior high school and Canadian Legion floors. NARROW LANE IS ACCIDENT CAUSE

While delivering a load of manure at the rear of L. L. Boomer's place on the upper end of Baker street Thursday afternoon Horace Vyse, driver for the Dominion dairy, suffered an injured knee when pinned under the wagonbody, after falling practically under the horses' hoofs, when turning off the narrow and uneven lane. Mr. Vyse's fall was witnessed by a woman resident, whose shouts brought men, who pried the wagonbody off him, and drew him out of his dangerous position.

It was not realized at the time that he was more than bruised.

EASTERN BROOK HATCH IS POOR

100,000 Fry Beside Eggs Planted; Kokanees Ready to Go

Hatch of the eastern brook trout eggs in the Dominion fish hatchery is now completed, Superintendent H. C. Crawford stated Friday. The percentage of loss has been very heavy, as contrasted with those of other species hatched here during the year, due apparently to low vitality of the eggs collected.

From the collection of 235,000 eggs, made at Rosebud lake in October, 20,000 eyed eggs were planted in Meadow creek in the Creston area, and 16,000 eyed eggs were planted in Boundary creek near Greenwood, and from those retained in the hatchery, approximately 100,000 fry have been realized.

KOKANEES FINE SHAPE

The kokanees or little redfish hatched in the latter part of the winter from the huge egg collection made from Kokanee, Redfish and Six-Mile creek last September, are now fully developed and vigorous fry, ready to be returned to the parent waters, to become silver trout, the main food fish of the big Kamloops trout.

As soon as the temperature of the water rises a few degrees, which will probably be in a couple of weeks, the fry will be put back in the three creeks named, and also placed in Sproule creek, at Taghum, Superintendent Crawford stated.

JEAN BATTEN TO CONTINUE

Will Fix Broken Propellor and Go on to Australia

KARACHI, India, April 14 (CP cable).—A camel and a motortruck today were unscheduled facilities adopted by Jean Batten, youthful Australian girl, on her flight from England to Australia.

After her light airplane was forced down near here last night Miss Batten started for Karachi on the only transportation available—the ship of the desert. She jogged on the unwieldy animal for 27 miles before she was hailed by the driver of a motortruck, who brought her the rest of the distance to this city.

Undaunted, the Australian girl, who abandoned her music studies in London for the pursuit of flying, announced she will return to the scene of her mishap with a new propellor and continue her flight.

She explained while on her flight from Jask, her last stopping place, she ran into a sandstorm in the moonlight, and had to fly blind for some time. She finally landed in a field near the village of Baluchi, and as the machine grounded the nose tipped in the mud, burying the engine and splitting the propellor.

PLAY IS STAGED AT INVERMERE

INVERMERE, B.C., April 14—The Windermere District Amateur Dramatic society gave their second performance on Saturday, "The Hidden Guest" was a three act play staged.

The part of the heroine was admirably portrayed by Mrs. George Williamson, and that of the old family servant, round whose varied superstitions centered the amusing actions, was splendidly carried out by Miss Lucy Hornby. Marvin Tunnacliffe as the college boy, had his actions as a college youth to the life. The play was well-staged.

Stage manager was Mrs. F. E. Coy, to whose untiring energy much of the success of this organization is due.

In the cast were the following: Mr. and Mrs. Peatfield, Mrs. George Williamson, the Misses Lucy Hornby, Thelma Bartle, Willie Harrop and the Messrs. McCormick, M. Tunnacliffe, J. Shibley, J. Peitroski.

The proceeds all go toward helping the building fund of the legion hall stage.

MESSAGE OF PEACE GIVEN

Rev. T. J. S. Ferguson Is Speaker at Union Service

Rev. T. J. S. Ferguson of St. Paul's United church in a sermon given at a union service in the First Presbyterian church Thursday, gave a message of peace.

To establish peace and goodwill, righteousness and love, was and is His passion, the speaker declared. He refused to take up the sword and pointed out that 'they who take the sword shall perish by the sword.'

A recent newspaper item carried condemnation of war by General Arthur Ross M. P. Mr. Ferguson who was a college mate of Mr. Ross declared that he was formerly a great believer in war. "He now sees that war means inevitable destruction to all."

The church had not always refused the sword and by not doing so had thrown its forces on the side of destruction.

In the economic world mankind was also betraying "Our Leader." People were ever seeking to be greater than the other, seeking profits for self. "We strive to get all we can and give the least possible for it and almost universally it is deemed right to get something for nothing. Jesus taught and lived on the very opposite principle. Jesus sought to give all he could of wisdom and services to the world."

Sweep stakes and lotteries was an exemplification of the "get all you can" spirit, he said.

"Our hope for the future is the presence of the eternal Christ toiling with us to change our ways of thinking and acting that 'God's will be done on earth.'"

MAWHINNEY IS UNION SPEAKER

Addresses Gathering at Church of Redeemer, Fairview

"Jesus in Gethsemane" was the subject of a sermon delivered by Rev. W. C. Mawhinney of Trinity United church at the Church of the Redeemer, Fairview, Thursday night in connection with the passion week union services. Mr. Mawhinney spoke in place of Rev. H. W. Guscott of the Baptist church.

"We are never fully prepared to approach the passion week services in the right spirit unless there has proceeded a deep and serious contemplation of the suffering of Christ on our behalf," the speaker declared.

"The experience in Gethsemane brings us face to face with the most solemn and sad event in the life of Jesus Christ save the crucifixion. This consideration of the Gethsemane brings out the best and highest in us and in our way we should seek to reproduce the spirit of passion and prayer in our life today.

"The work of Calvary must proclaim itself in sacrificial saints. A story needs a letter, a gospel an evangelist and a finished case demands an efficient presentation. We can never heal the needs that we do not feel. Tearless hearts can never be heralds of passion. Thus the lesson of Gethsemane should inspire us to live, prayerfully in the service of mankind."

Josiah Greenhaigh, president of the Oldham and District Boy Scouts' Association, and a member of the Scout movement from its inception, has just celebrated his 80th birthday.

"Pound" Concert Is Held at Cranbrook

CRANBROOK, B.C., April 14—The annual daffodil tea held by the Women's association of the United church on Saturday was well attended, the cookery and daffodils for sale being all disposed of and a good sum netted for the organization. Mrs. Norgrove and Mrs. Chester presided at the daffodil table. The cookery table was in charge of Mrs. G. Moore, Mrs. Taylor, Mrs. Hanna and the tables, which were well patronized, were served by Mrs. McGillivray, Mrs. Hardy, Mrs. McFarlane, Mrs. Fouracre, Mrs. Countryman, Mrs. Cook and Miss Brock. The daffodils were donated by G. B. Willis of the East Kootenay greenhouses.

Two out of town pastors occupied Cranbrook pulpits on Sunday. Rev. W. C. Mawhinney of Nelson took the morning and evening services in the United church, exchanging pulpits with Rev. R. W. Hardy, and Rev. A. J. D. Milton of the Fernie Baptist church occupied the pupilt in the local Baptist church Sunday evening.

Tuesday afternoon was the last day of play of the season for the Women's Badminton club in the parish hall. Tea was served by Mrs. Miles.

Bert Millner of the staff of the Canadian Bank of Commerce is spending his holidays visiting at his home in Vancouver.

Sergeant Duncan, head of the provincial police in Cranbrook, has received word of his transfer to Penticton. Mr. and Mrs. Duncan expect to leave for their new home some time during the week.

Mr. and Mrs. C. B. Twigg and Miss Rachel Green motored to Creston Wednesday.

The Salvation Army hall was filled on Monday evening when the local staff staged a "Pound concert" at which the fee was something in foodstuffs, tea, coffee, butter, eggs and numerous articles being included in the list of donations. Many of the best known of the city's artists were included in the talent on the program which was one of the best concerts heard here in some time. Vocal solos were rendered by Mrs. Paxton, Mrs. Forrest and Mrs. Mackenrot; piano duets by Mrs. Edmundson and Miss Ferne Simpson, the Misses Velma and Bernice Black and Eugenie and Billy McGruder. Two Scotch songs by Nan McCleary, piano solos by Fernie Simpson and readings by Miss Doris Haynes rounded out a delightful program.

SERMON GIVEN ON KINGSHIP

Rev. W. C. Mawhinney Is Last Speaker at First Baptist Church

Winding up the passion week union services, Rev. W. C. Mawhinney of Trinity church, spoke at the First Baptist church Friday night on "The Kingship of Jesus."

Three pictures were taken from the last days of Jesus and in each one His kingship was more vividly revealed by the blackness of the background, the speaker said.

"In the first picture Jesus stands at the trial alone, surrounded by enemies with false charges being hurled at Him and in the midst of it He stood out a king of spiritual values.

"The second picture in which the kingship of Jesus was exemplified was the soldiers when he bore the brunt of cruel jibes and jests. He was garbed in purple robe and wore a crown of thorns. Jeering and jestingly they hailed him 'hail king.' How little they realized how much the truth of His kingship would have meant had they followed Him as a king in spiritual matters.

"The dying Jesus is brought out in the third picture with the inscription on the cross he bore, 'Jesus the Nazarine, King of the Jews.'

"Jesus must reign in the hearts of men and women. The world such as ours with its helpless divisions and detractions needs a spiritual king and when we have crowned Him King in our lives we will realize Him to be 'King of Kings and Lord of Lords.'"

UNEMPLOYED SEE MOVIES

Rev. W. J. Silverwood Gives Team Football; Boots Needed

A showing of "Sunshine Susie" and other features was given at Capitol theatre Thursday morning for the local resident unemployed, over 200 being in attendance.

Toc H memers recently presented a football donated by their Padre, Rev. W. J. Silverwood, to the armoury men and the use of the Recreation grounds has been arranged for them in the mornings. It is expected that they will be able to field a fair team but at present they are handicapped by the lack of boots, in fact few have decent footwear of any kind. Donations of boots of the reavier kind would be appreciated. Capt. Cartmel of the Salvation Army is collecting these.

It is felt that these contacts with the local unemployed will serve to keep them until such time when they can again take their place in the proper relation to society and the work and life of the community. Numbers of these men are ex-soldiers and it is quite evident that while their present condition is very degenerating and discouraging the are very appreciative to any attention paid to them and their problems.

MUSICAL NOTES

We are all longing for Easter this year, probably more than we have ever done before. All over the world people will be refreshed and uplifted by the wealth of Easter music which will be sung everywhere. Easter has probably had greater influence in the developments of music than any other period of the year. From the time when Palestrina was commissioned to write suitable music for the church services in 1562 to the present day, hundreds of anthems, oratorios, cantatas have been written on the Easter theme. Of the larger works most commonly sung by our Canadian choirs may be mentioned "The Crucifixion" "The Seven Last Words," "Stabat Mater" "From Olivet to Calvary," Bach's "Mass in B Minor," his "St. Matthew Passion," and best known and best loved of all "The Messiah". That the Messiah was composed by Handel in the short period of 24 days is too still the marvel of musicians everywhere. For many years Handel gave a performance of this oratorio for the benefit of charity-giving it for the last time only eight days before his death.

Coming ever more and more into the favor of the public is Bach's "St. Matthew Passion." Only in the last few years has this marvellous work been heard in Canada. The difficulty of the music demands the utmost skill from singers, orchestra and conductor alike and we as Canadians are proud that we are so far advancing in our musical understanding that we can now and then hear the St. Matthew Passion presented with real skill and sublimity.

Its parallel classic—the Passion According to St. John—also composed by Bach, is being performed in Toronto this Easter for the first time. This is also the first time the St. John Passion has been attempted in Canada. The choir which includes 150 of Toronto's leading singers, is assisted by an orchestra of 43 pieces. The major solo part is being sung by Hubert Eisdell, who last week sang the St. Matthew Passion with the Bach choir of London, England, in Queen's hall.

On the whole the music of Easter is of a more advanced character than that of Christmas. The triumph of Jesus over death has inspired not only the musicians but painters and poets too, to some of their finest masterpieces. The world will especially welcome the advent of new hope in its Easter music this year.

Toronto recently gave an enthusiastic reception to the young child prodigy Bettina Vegara. Bettina has already established herself as a master of the violin and at 17 she now stands on the threshold of a brilliant career as a virtuoso. Her program at her recent concert was a tour de force for even the best of violinists, her performance is said to have been most remarkable. Bettina's progress in the world of music will be watched with keenest interest by Canadians.

We have been reading a good deal lately about the "frills" of education. In this connection, George Eastman has said, "I used to think of music as lace upon a garment—a very desirable thing if one could afford it, but in no way essential. I have come to believe that music is absolutely essential to our community life." Putting this ideal into action, Mr. Eastman has given over $12,000,000 to the University of Rochester to establish the Eastman School of Music. From this school has sprung the famous Rochester Philharmonic orchestra, and the Eastman theater. In these days when our school curricula are so crowded that few of our students of high school or university age have any time to spare for musical training, it might be well to remind ourselves that of all subjects, few give such abiding pleasure as music. When once we know it, music provides us culture and enjoyment right from infancy to old age.

The resignation of Sir Henry Coward from his post as conductor of the famous Sheffield choir, marks the close of a remarkable career, Sir Henry at 83 years of age is said to be as fresh as ever, though no longer able to stand the strenuous task of leadership of his choir. The fact that he has never used either liquor or tobacco has no doubt helped to keep him so virile and so capable in his work through so many fruitful years.

Scouting—Here There and Everywhere

GILWELL PARK

The camp fire shelter at Gilwell Park is gradually taking shape and it is expected to be ready for use during the Easter weekend.

This shelter, which will cost a little less than $4,000, is being erected as scouting's 25th birthday present to Gilwell Park. It will hold more than 500 campers and when the weather is bad, camp fires will be conducted at usual. Canadian red cedar shingles will roof the shelter, which is octagonal in shape, and the whole structure will be in a natural amphitheatre to enable a clear view to be obtained of speakers and performers at the camp fire. Lovers of Gilwell have been asked to send a subscription, however small, to the camp chief at Gilwell towards the cost.

CEYLON

A district competition camp was held at Galli recently and Stillary's school troop from Elpitiya gained second place although they have been in existance but three months. Seven members are added to this troop from the school every term and by this method it is hoped that the troop will make a healthy growth.

During August last year an "All-Ceylon" camp was held at Kandy.

GREAT BRITAIN

Boy scouts in different parts of British Isles are assisting the Zoology department at Manchester University to take a census of Starling roosts. A scheme has been arranged whereby the scouts locate the roosts and report to the University.

• • •

Scouts of Edmonton, London, have received from their brother scouts of Edmonton, Alberta, a Cree Indian headdress.

JAMBOREE JOTTINGS

Hungarian scout headquarters have published some very attractive posters advertising the Jamboree. These have ben distributed to many towns and cities in Europe and, in fact, any places from which visitors could be expected.

• • •

A flying camp will be situated a short distance from the Jamboree. There will be aerial displays by aeroplanes, sail planes and gliders. There will also be a model airplane exhibition.

A cinema to hold 3,000 people and a theatre to hold over 4,000 people will be available.

AMERICA

The city of Newton has organised a boy scout school traffic squad. They are being trained by a traffic police officer and will attend to the conducting of schoolchildren to and from school over traffic points.

SEA SCOUTING

At the annual meeting of the Boy Scout association held in London on 27th January, there was much discussion on the progress of sea scouting. The chief scout was unable to attend the conference, owing to illness, but his notes were read by Lord Hampton, the chief's commissioner. A great push forward is expected to extend Sea scouting particularly inland, on rivers and canals. A progressive policy has been mapped out and assistance is being sought from yacht clubs and regatta authorities.

AUSTRALIANS' 20th SCOUT ANNIVERSARY

SCOUT HONOUR FOR BELGIAN LEADER

The Silver Wolf for outstanding service, including the organization of scout troops among Belgian refugee boys in England during the World War, has been awarded to General Commissioner van Hoof of Belgium.

SCOUT TRAINING SAVED HIS OWN LIFE

Boy Scout training is credited with saving the life of George Kane, a young Toronto man, when his jugular vein was cut in a hockey accident. Kane kept his head, held the cut together with his fingers, and assisted a companion, also a former scout, in completing an effective first aid job.

ROOSEVELT HELPED RAISE MILLION FOR BOY SCOUTS

U. S. President Roosevelt, who is also Honorary President of the Boy Scouts of America, was twelve years president of the Boy Scouts Foundation of Greater New York. In that capacity he helped raise a million dollar Greater New York Scout Camp fund.

BOY SCOUTS NOW ON POSTAGE STAMPS

Roumania has issued a handsome series of boy scout postage stamps to mark the 21st year of scouting in that country. The series comprise a camp scene, an investiture, the scout good turn, a scoutmaster, and the King in scout uniform.

BOY SCOUT CIRCUS FOR WORLD'S FAIR

A big Boy Scout Circus, the ring "turns" and pageants contributed by scout units from all over the United States, will be a feature of Boy Scout day, Aug. 25, at the Chicago World's Fair.

JAIL POPULATION YEAR'S MAXIMUM

Population of the provincial jail here was the largest for a year wednesday, when the men prisoners numbered 35. A couple of weeks ago an influx of prisoners serving time for stealing rides on trains rushed the number up to 32, the highest for a year or so until this week. Thursday the number was down to 29, through discharges. During the winter the men prisoners were usually in the lower teens, once or twice down to 12 or 13.

All these figures relate to provincial prisoners, and do not take in the 12 Doukhobors—six women and their infants—which are Dominion prisoners.

An age-old tradition was broken recently in Sarajevo when for the first time in the four centuries of its existence women were permitted to enter the famous Begova Zamija to take part in the fourth centenary celebration in honor of the mosque's builder.

"IT IS SLIMMING ME!"

18 lbs. Gone—Backache Gone Too!

PLEASANT SURPRISE FROM KRUSCHEN

She wouldn't believe it—but the scales insisted! You see she did not take Kruschen Salts with the idea of ridding herself of that superfluous fat. She had backache—and that was what she was treating. So she killed two birds with one stone.

This is what she wrote about it:—"Allow me to send you a few words to tell you that Kruschen Salts has done wonders for me. My backache has gone, and what is more, Kruschen is slimming me down in a way that I would never believe, if it wasn't for the fact that the scales show 18 pounds less in six months. This is entirely due to Kruschen Salts, and I shall never be without them."—J. F.

The condition which caused this woman to put on weight was also the cause of her backache. The whole trouble was due to the internal organs failing to expel from the body, regularly and completely, the waste products of digestion.

The combination of natural salts in Kruschen assists the internal organs to perform their functions properly—to throw off each day the wastage and poisons that encumber the system. Then, little by little, that ugly fat goes—slowly, yes—but surely. The backache and headaches disappear. You feel wonderfully healthy, youthful and energetic—more so than ever before in your life.

Kruschen Salts is obtainable at all Drug Stores at 45c. and 75c. per bottle.

Modern Comforts

It is a fondly treasured belief of many people of the present day that they enjoy many more comforts and amenities in life than their ancestors. To an extent this is true. There are now all sorts of luxuries and many labor-saving devices in the homes. The impression these create is that home life is much more comfortable than it used to be. That is a fact, in some particulars, but not in all. Wherein there has been retrogression in comfort is explained by Sir Mark Webster Jenkinson in an address he delivered to the Sheffield Rotary Club. Summarized he tells what modern houses are:

They are small. The rooms are low. The fireplace is the well pattern so that a big, cheery, roaring fire is impossible. There are no cellars to keep the food and wine at a low temperature. Sir Mark claims that the "goodness" and "nature" in the wine are destroyed in an electrically-consuming freezer in a miniature pantry. The furniture is in keeping with the modern house. "Instead," says Sir Mark, "of the spacious tallboys and mahogany chests of fifty years ago there are 'American wardrobes' with pigeon-holes for one's clothes; instead of four-poster feather beds there are wire-mattressed bedsteads so narrow that the blankets fall off on a cold night; instead of thick pile carpets there are highly polished parquet floors on which one slips and slides about; gramophones and wireless sets have taken the place of the grand piano, because no modern drawing-room will hold one!"

Sir Mark laments the passing of the large gilt framed oil paintings of ancestors. The walls of modern houses, he says, are either plain or relieved by a few sombre etchings. Instead of libraries, books are obtained through circulating mediums. Even the palms and proverbial aspidistras have been replaced by a small vase of cut flowers. In effect, the modern architect has addressed the power of "slimming" to the modern house. That is the process which goes on with the furniture, with the fireplaces, even with the dishes served. Probably the explanation of it all is that the world is passing through a utilitarian stage from which there will be an inevitable reaction, and the comforts of today will be the discomforts of tomorrow. There may be something prophetic in the comment made by The Yorkshire Post on Sir Mark Jenkinson's views. We quote:

"There is something to be said for a draughty palace against a warm hutch, something to be said for the comradeship of large families, something to be said for very square meals—sirloins and ginger puddings—for grand pianos, for four-posters, for thick carpets, and for plenty of head-room and elbow-room. And there is much to be said for the spirit which went with them, the feeling of security and comfortable future. Our age is one of flats and small houses, of most of the comfortable discomforts described by Sir Mark Jenkinson, and we live in a most Georgian discomfort of mind. But when the last thunder has rumbled, the last shower finished, and we come into a cool, clear world again we will build homes for ourselves of a comfort and convenience of which Sir Mark's Victorians never dreamt."

Burglars broke into a department store the other day, but stole nothing but a dummy from a window. Probably just trying to make up a fourth at bridge.

Back in 1929 across the border it was "two cars in every garage." This month they'll probably be referring to the two cases in every pantry.

That Body of Yours

By JAMES W. BARTON, M.D.

DEATH RATE FROM OTHER AILMENTS DECREASING—CANCER DEATH RATE INCREASING

If those individuals who have been cured of cancer by radium, X-ray, or operation, would tell others about their cure many deaths from cancer would be avoided. It would seem that for some reason anyone afflicted is rather ashamed of it as if it were a moral blemish.

Lord Moynihan, the great English surgeon, in speaking of the operation for cancer says that the public ought to know that in operating the surgeon has gone as far as it is physically possible for him to go. His operations could not be more extensive; it was hardly possible for them to be safer or have more successful end results.

The reason why equal success does not attend every case is that nearly everything depends on "early" treatment.

Cancer is not a constitutional disease at first; it starts in the ordinary tissue of the part, and if that part can be reached a cure can be obtained. Certain cases are beyond the reach of the surgeon but even cancer that cannot be removed from the brain can now be reached by radium treament.

Lord Moynihan says further, "cancer rarely attacks a healthy organ. Such things as chronic irritation, inflamation, lumps and sores on the tongue and lip are not cancerous to begin with but they lead to cancer.

Cancer is not heredity, infectious or contagious. Its worst feature is that at first it is almost always painless. He wishes it were painful so that people would be driven to the physician.

Cancer that can be reached is curable on one day but not on the next. Hence the overwhelming importance of early diagnosis and early treatment."

It is worth knowing that the average death rate from all causes has gone down 32 per cent in the last 20 years, while the cancer death rate has increased 20 per cent. One death in every seven persons over 35 years of age is due to cancer, and yet cancer in its early stages is completely curable.

Notwithstanding the above figures, notwithstanding the fact that early treatment will save life, many people put off seeing the doctor because the sore lump gives no pain.

It is unfortunate indeed that in the early stages there is no pain; or the doctor would be sought in time.

To heck with these chain letters. Got another today. It came from Grand Forks. It is a little different from the usual chain letter. But here is what it says:

This was started by an American Colonial and must be copied within 24 hours if possible. This will bring prosperity within 24 hours of mailing Mrs. Andrews received $100 after nine days Mrs. Wedford received $4000. Mrs. Holmes broke the chain and lost her possession. The theory is this started a a definite and positive radio activity in the power of these repeated words.

Note—Copy all the writing omitting the first name and adding your own name last. This chain letter was sent to me.

Glancing through the fashion ads. (you've simply NO idea how hard I try to keep up with things, I noticed a woman's suit which was described as of self-patterned tweed, with (I gathered) a velveteen blouse and trimmings and the price, mark you, was only $225—two hundred and twenty-five smackers for one suit. The gent who asks that much in times like these has real optimism, or something.

Most politicians seem to think they are saving the country by always opposing anything the opposite side ever wants to do.

While playing pro pool yesterday I remembered this story. It should suit Grank Wheeler, Gene Poulin and a lot of the other billiard exponents.

Melbourne Inman, the famous billiards player, is fond of telling the story of how he one day found himself stranded in company with a brother professional at a small railway junction in the Midlands.

As they had some hours to wait for their train they wended their way to the solitary inn, and in order to while away the time they decided to have a gave of billiards.

They were taken by the landlord into a room marked "billiards," containing a crazy-looking little table, dull grey color.

"But how do you tell the red from the white?" asked Inman.

"That's easy," said the landlord, "you soon get to know 'em by their shape."

What the Press Is Saying

GERMANY

In connection with 1932's approximation of the number of inhabitants, a count was also taken on Oct. 10, as is known, of the vacant business places within the corporate limits of Berlin. The total number of these unoccupied and unused shops and salesrooms was found to be exactly 23,028. Just how this figure compares with similar premises that are at present superfluous in cities elsewhere of the same size and importance, we do not know, but such a comparison would be interesting. Unfortunately, moreover, we have no valid method of checking up even on our own situation, for no census of the same sort has been taken since 1925. At that time, a more or less accurate computation was compiled in the twenty Berlin districts showing that some 72,000 properties were vacant. This estimate included, however, dwelling houses, flats and other quarters not included in the present enumeration, in some cases counting single rooms as residences.—Berliner Tageblatt.

The War Debts

BY J. T. BEALBY

There are two other circumstances that have a bearing upon the sacrifices that were forced upon Great Britain and France, though neither admits of exact appraisement in terms of money. Although the U.S. declared war on 6th April 1917, it was not until 6th June 1918, fourteen months later, that her armies took any part in the actual fighting. During that period the Allied countries gave the lives of hundreds of thousands of their citizens fighting the battles of the U. S. Between 21st March and 30th June 1918, the German casualties in action amounted to nearly 800,000 men, and those of their opponents the French-Belgian-British fell not far short of that number. Between 6th June and 11th November, when the war ended, the American losses numbered under 324,000 in all. The other circumstance is this. For nearly 20 years before the war broke out, Germany was preparing for the conflict by elaborate military training and by the building of a powerful battle-fleet. At the same time her rulers, the Kaiser, loudest of all, and various writers of influence (Bernhardi, Treitschke, Houston Chamberlain, Nietzsche, Ein Deutscher) were openly declaring, that the Germans as a race were superior to all other races, it was their duty to impose German culture upon Europe, if need be at the sword's point, they were predestined to be the over-lords of Europe and play the role of leading nation in the world (the so-called Welt-politik). Their menacing and aggressive attitude compelled France to maintain a larger army than she otherwise would have done and forced Great Britain to spend millions more on her fleet than she wanted to or could afford. And Germany refused to moderate her militaristic aggressiveness, as may be read in ample detail in H. H. Asquith's Genesis of the War (1923) and Count von Bulow's Imperial Germany (1914), the former Prime Minister of Britain, the latter German Chancellor.

REPUDIATIONS

It has been said, that of all the civilized countries in the world, there are only nine that have not either wholly or in part in some way or other repudiated their public indebtedness. Great Britain is one of those nine. The U. S. is not so fortunate. No less than a round dozen of the states that go to make up the great republic during a period of some twenty years borrowed an aggregate of $300,079,000 from European countries, principally from Great Britain, and have never made the least gesture towards repayment. These and many instances of unworthy dodging of public obligations by American states and municipalities are set forth in detail by an American writer in the North American Review for 1884. Or one can turn to a book recently published by the English journalist Francis Gribble, where he will find additional instances of repudiation by U. S. public bodies. The Nelson Daily News called attention to this book in the editorial column a few months ago. The North American Review points out, that the debts of the twelve states were incurred almost entirely, not for war purposes, but for constructive works in the years following the Civil War (1861-64), for building railways, levees or embankments beside the Mississippi. He accuses the Congress and Government of his day of "aiding and abetting the repudiating states in every possible way", and insists that the U. S. Government ought in equity to have assumed responsibility for the debts of the delinquent states. As matters stand Germany has been released from a substantial part of her indemnities, France has had greater part of the ravages of war repaired, the U. S. made enormous gains in wealth through furnishing war-supplies, the European Allies have bound themselves as tributories to the U. S. for two generations yet to come. And history relates that they emerged victors from the war!

Within a few hours after mailing the above I came across certain passages from a speech delivered by Senator Borah of Idaho in the senate in which he said, that, owing to so many countries having gone off the gold standard while the U. S. remained on that standard, "We are not only losing our foreign markets, but we are losing our domestic markets" and he called upon congress to "devise a plan for increasing the prices of commodities. A dollar which takes three times as much wheat to buy it, three and four times as much cotton, two or three times as many hogs in 1933 as it did in 1929 is not an honest dollar: it is a dishonest dollar. What I desire is not a cheap dollar or a dishonest dollar, but a dollar which does equity between the debtor and the creditor." Apply these remarks to the war debts of 1918-19 and the senator's reasoning becomes doubly emphasized. Now Senator Borah has declared himself as opposed to cancellation of the war debts. He, therefore says in effect, that at present price levels the dollar is a dishonest dollar as between American debtor and American creditor; but between European debtors and American creditor it is an honest and an equitable dollar!

WEEKLY WEATHER BULLETIN

For Western and Central Canada, embracing British Columbia, Alberta, Saskatchewan, Manitoba, and Ontario

Monday, April 17, 1933—Moderating and generally warmer weather comes in from the northwest, and about the southwest sections of middle provinces some precipitation. Central and east clearer and warmer.

Tuesday, April 18—Precipitation and rising temperatures about Manitoba, great lakes and east. West and northwest of central provinces clearing but not much colder.

Wednesday, April 19— Clearing weather quite general in all parts except just southeast of great lakes of Manitoba. In the west slightly warmer but to northeast in central provinces now slightly colder.

Thursday, April 20—About this time the weather in most sections is expected to become clearer and change to colder, ending the short spell of mild weather of first of the week.

Saturday, April 22—Clear, cold weather expected in most parts of the country, but probably moderating with light precipitation, near the great lakes and to the southeast.

Sunday, April 23—Clear and cold, except about southwest of central provinces, where there are probably some clouds and light precipitation.

Week of April 17 to 23, 1933, in the central provinces begins with unusually warm and clear weather for the middle of April. Not much precipitation except along southern borders and in southeastern section. About the 20th or 21st becomes definitely colder, and in this country at this part of the season a cold spell means freezing nights, much too severe for any kind of garden or field crops.

What is called the Lethbridge district, or southwest sections of the central provinces, has a climate normally several degrees warmer than the plains country to the north and east about the Quill lakes and the Porcupine forests. On this account the cold periods in late April and middle May generally do not carry temperatures anywhere nearly so low in the southwest as in the northeast. A killing frost is expected near the 25th of May in the northeast, but to the southwest temperatures should not go quite to the freezing point during that period.

The Gold Brick

The following letter, appearing recently in the London Times, seems to agree with the thesis advanced by Heywood Brown, of the New York World-Telegram, that the sanctity of the gold standard is largely a state of mind rather than a state of matter:—

Sir,—A few nights ago I had a dream which seems to bear very strikingly on the present situation both here and in the United States. It was the year 1952, and while the Big Five were having their annual dinner, the Keeper of the Vaults at the Bank of England burst into the room. "Forgive this intrusion," he said, "but I have news that will shake you to your foundations." He turned to the largest of the five and demanded, "How much gold have you got deposited with the Bank of England?" "About £42,000,000," was the calm reply; and each in turn announced his total, proud and confident in the knowledge that his depositors and shareholders had something solid to rest upon. "I'm sorry to inform you, gentlemen, that you are all wrong. There is no gold in the vaults of the Bank of England. In the year 1932, while the bank was being rebuilt, the workmen struck a pocket of gas, which in some mysterious way had the effect of dissolving the gold. Some of this gas found its way into the vaults, and one morning, to my horror, I found that all the gold had been dissolved, leaving behind nothing except a slightly musty smell." Bursting into tears, he added: "For 20 years I have held my tongue, but tonight I felt that I could keep silent no longer. All that I can do is to pray for your forgiveness."

The Big Five gathered more closely round the table. They spoke in low tones and only a few phrases could be heard: "Effect on Money Market," "Crisis on Stock Exchange," "Panic Withdrawals."

The conference was over, and the biggest of the Big Five spoke: "We have just finished 20 of the most prosperous years that England has ever known. There is no reason why the next 20 should not be equally prosperous." Then, turning to the Keeper of the Vaults, he added: "You have done your duty, and we absolve you from all blame. Go back to your post and hold your tongue for ever." The man withdrew, and I awoke.

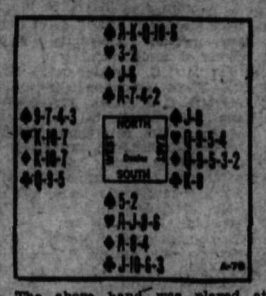
PALESTINE

At the meeting of the income tax committee held at Tel Aviv last night, Dr. Ruppin strongly criticized the proposal to introduce the levy, showing that the main burden of taxation was borne by the urban population (mainly the Jews) and not the peasantry, and proving his statement with figures. To introduce a new tax, and not to reform the existing system of taxation, was wrong he said.—Palestine Bulletin, Jerusalem.

Auction and Contract Bridge

By the World's Leading Authority MILTON C. WORK



The above hand was played at the fifth annual Tri-State Tournament held at Uniontown, Pa., last January and was bid in somewhat different ways at the different tables. Every South and West passed originally, North bid one Spade, and East passed. After that every South bid No Trump—some one, and some two—but the eventual contract at every table was either three or four Spades, North insisting upon Spades because of his Spade length and honor count.

At most of the tables the Declarer succeeded in taking only nine tricks. In every case East's opening lead was a Diamond which all Souths won with the Ace; then the Declarers exhausted the adverse Spades in four rounds and after that the way in which they tried to take the needed two Club tricks were many and varied. Some at once led the Ace of Clubs from the North hand; others put South in with the Ace of Hearts and led one round of Clubs from the South hand, and one led the Jack of Clubs and finessed; but none was able to make game.

Mr. W. J. Roberts was the one Declarer who played the hand successfully as follows: when East opened with a Diamond this Declarer, sizing up the hand, could see that if all his Spades were good, he had one losing Heart, one losing Diamond, and at least one (probably two) losing Clubs.

When South won with the Ace of Diamonds and the trumps had been exhausted North led a small Club. East, with King-8, took the trick with the King, led two rounds of Diamonds, forcing the last trump from North with the second Diamond lead. South was then put in with the Heart Ace to lead from his Jack-Ten of Clubs. West's Club Queen was thus caught and Declarer consequently put the ball across the goal line by taking five Spades, three Clubs, one Heart, and one Diamond.

STATION L-O-V-E

By CRAIG CARROLL

INSTALMENT TWENTY-SIX

Somehow, Judy wished Elsie hadn't said that. It's all right to abase yourself, to load blame and reproach on your own shoulders; it's not so pleasant when you have only one friend left to hear that friend agreeing with you in your abasement. Then she caught herself and she hated herself for the thought. She reserved whatever Elsie or Dick or Billy Townsend thought or said. Not because she'd meant to do any harm, but because her very simplicity, her lack of cleverness and directness and courage, had caused trouble.

"Elsie, isn't there any way to reach Dick?"

"Not that I know of. Except—"

"Except what?" Judy demanded anxiously.

"Well, I told Billy the absolute truth. He didn't believe me, at first, but I made him believe me before I got through. I'm no woman to be talked down, Judy. I made him listen even if he didn't want to. And he promised me he'd try to tell Dick just what you and I said.

"Only I don't know if Dick will listen. Men! Dick's in love with you. First time he's ever been in love in his life. He's just a kid about you. And when a kid thinks he's been lied to the first time he's ever been in love, well, it takes him a long time to get over it. Sometimes he never does get over it. I've heard of more than one man spending his whole life being alone just because somebody lied to him once, or hurt his feelings, or made him feel he'd been cheated. It happens like that, you know."

It happens like that. When you would sooner die than hurt somebody, you hurt that person terribly without even knowing what you are doing.

"Maybe," said Elsie to Judy, "you can get Elton Day to clear Dick of faking your audition. He won't right now, that's sure. But maybe later. He's not the kind to get noble and give anybody a break Not when he tells you he's in love with you himself."

"I know that." Judy shook her head.

"Then you'd better just go along. And when Billy says what he can to Dick he's going to write and tell me the answer. Anyhow, he'll write as soon as he can to let us know where he and Dick are. And maybe then—"

"I can't do it. Elsie. I can't."

"You cant huh? What is there to do?"

"I don't know—"

"Then you'll do it the way I'm telling you. Because if you go down to the studio now and raise a fuss, you'll make it sound worse than ever. If you even act as if you know what's happened."

"But everybody else knows. They won't want me around the station, you're working for an advertiser. So is Day. That's why you couldn't do him harm even if you tried. Because the station couldn't fire him, anyhow. But Dick wasn't on contract, he just had a job. You see?"

"Couldn't I go to Mr. Jenks? To the man who's paying for the Beauty Builders show?"

"What could you say? Anything you tell him somebody'll deny. That's what Billy says, anyhow. Because a crooked audition isn't supposed to happen. Hardly ever does. First one Billy ever knew about. And no station is going to admit that a thing like that could happen. That's how Billy says it, anyhow. So what can you do?"

The answer was, "Nothing."

Not even a letter to Dick. Not even a chance to explain. Nothing.

* * *

So, knowing this answer, Judy went about the place that day, that evening, saying nothing, not eating, watching the door, listening for a call that did not come—as she knew it would not come. And slept miserably, dreaming about faces she could not remember when she waked. In the morning dressing slowly, miserably. Hearing Elsie's crisp knock on the door.

"Come in," she said listlessly.

Elsie's face appeared around the side of the door.

"Ready?"

"I guess so."

"You guess so. Don't you know?"

'I guess so."

"Oh. Well, let's be on our way." They emerged into a crisp, bright blue morning, the kind of morning Chicago has copyrighted, when the blue haze rises slowly along the thin buildings in the loop, when the whole city seems new-washed by the sun. A morning Dick would have loved, would have talked about in his boy's deep voice. But Dick would not see it this morning. She would not hear Dick's voice today, or tonight. Or ever? Or ever?

* * *

"Let's get some ham and eggs," Elsie suggested, stopping at the corner.

"I'm not hungry."

"Neither am I. What's that got to do with it, anyhow? Come on."

She followed Elsie, without much caring where she went.

"George, how's the toast?" Elsie demanded.

"Good."

"Your a fibber. Bring us some. And how are the eggs?"

"Just today from the country."

GOLD IS FOUND IN B.C. SLATE

Engineer Gives Hints on Mining for Metal

The following letter regarding gold found in slate in B. C., appeared in a recent issue of the Vancouver News:

Editor, The Vancouver News:

Sir: A good deal of interest has been aroused lately in respect of the mining of the veins in the hills in the Barkerville District.

For the benefit of the uninitiated, it should be understood, that it is not placer-mining in the accepted sense of the term, but lode-mining, at least, it is on the lode-mining principle that the ground will be attacked (tunnelling, drifting, etc.), underground work principally, although in instances "open-cutting" may be used.

The objective is to attack the sources that were responsible for the placer deposits that made Barkerville famous.

These sources are the veins and stringers in the hilly slate formations, which by distintegrations and denudation furnished the placer deposits.

It is a recognized fact, that remunerative placer deposits of any size are not shed from large veins or "lodes", but from the innumerable small veins and stringers that occur in slaty formations.

This applies not merely to British Columbia but to every part of the world.

Of course, occasionally a wide vein may be met with among the smaller ones, but if so, the chances are it will be of no great extent either in length or depth. The following explains.

Slate formations (or "slate") are fine muds or clays consolidated into a rather friable 'rock".

When such formations were shattered by upheavels, etc., magma (the quartz and minerals) was introduced into the cracks, either in gaseous or fluidic form. This magma forms the veins.

As can be understood, since the "rock" was friable innumerable narrow or small cracks were formed; being narrow they have little or no continuity. The shattering of the formations was something after the nature of cracks in the walls of houses after earthquakes.

These small cracks, with their fillings of magma, are scattered throughout the slate formations over large sections of country.

In some places, there are bunches or "nests" of them; these give rich "pockets"; in other places, the veins may be few and quite long distances apart.

Obviously, with no regular and definite arrangement of veins, the testing of the ground must necessarily be an extensive operation. It is not a matter for the individual miner.

When it comes to actual mining, operations have to be conducted on large scale.

It is not merely following a well defined vein, much barren stuff has to be handled, which brings down the average gold content of the material to be treated.

For example, in the Alaska-Treadwell mines, where somewhat similar conditions to Barkerville obtain, the average value of the rock treated is around $2.50 per ton.

To secure such an average, there must be numerous rich stringers throughout the formation.

From the foregoing, the possibilities of finding in the Barkerville district remunerative mines, workable by the usual "lode-mining" methods, or even by "open-cut", can be judged.

Some may be found; there is always the possibility, but even if not, there is still a large unexplored field in the district.

There are many valleys with deep-seated placer deposits as yet unattacked.

From 2½ miles of such deposits on Williams Creek over 18 million dollars of gold was recovered—what of all the other valleys?

In these lies real wealth, and when tapped it will be spectacular.

POUND BUOYANT AT NEW YORK

Dollar Firm and Closes Unchanged

NEW YORK, April 14 (CP)—Buoyant strength was maintained by the pound sterling on the New York foreign exchange market today as it closed 1½c higher at a cable rate of $3.45¾. The Canadian dollar remained firm, ending the day unchanged at 83½c, a premium of 19¾ per cent in United States funds as against the Dominion's currency.

The pound which advanced strongly yesterday, shot up to $3.46 at the open today, and reacted slightly thereafter. Its range was from $3.44¼ to $3.46¼.

Canada Gold Estimate For 1933 $68,750,000

Early in 1931, also in 1932, the Financial Post made preliminary estimates of Canada's gold production, itemizing and estimating the output of each province and mine and arriving at a total in each instance that proved to be within one-half of one per cent of the subsequent official figures. The estimating of the 1933 production becomes somewhat more involved owing to the new mills starting up and the uncertainty of the initial production, but the following tabulation is offered for what is believed to be a reliable guide of what may be expected during the current year:

Liberals Fail to Get Details of the Wheat Intervention

Stewart Denies Hedging a Benefit

OTTAWA, April 14. (CP)—Canada's intervention in the wheat market was under fire in the house of commons Thursday western Liberals making an unsuccessful attempt to learn the quantity of futures bought through John I. McFarland, head of the central selling agency of the western pool.

It was admitted by Hon. H. H. Stevens, minister of trade and commerce, the Dominion had purchased wheat futures and also had guaranteed the banks against loss on their loans to the pools in connection with the 1929 and 1930 crops. This had a stabilizing effect on the market, he argued, and without it, prices would have sagged to disastrous levels.

DENIES A BENEFIT

Hon. Charles Stewart, former minister of the interior, denied hedging operations of the Dominion had benefited producers. And he went a step further and charged McFarland had dumped large quantities of wheat on the market last October and November, breaking the price levels five cents.

Canada's wheat was moving to world markets in increasing quantities and the clouds were beginning to lift from the world grain situation, said Mr. Stevens. In this view he was joined by Hon. James Malcolm, his predecessor in office who suggested trade agreements with Germany and France—Canadian wheat for their manufactured goods—as the likeliest channel to increase sales. Russia, Mr. Malcolm said never again would be a great grain exporting nation.

SELL WITHOUT FLOODING

There was no less anticipated from the guarantees to the banks, said Mr. Stevens. This made it possible for the pools to sell their stocks without flooding the market and crashing price levels. At the same time he denied that McFarland was placed in the selling agency at the insistence of the Dominion.

Dr. Thomas Donnelly, (Lib., Willow Bunch) led the fight for details of the government's hedging operations. He asked how much wheat McFarland took over from the pool; how much he still had on hand; how many futures he had bought; how many he had sold and at what prices.

These questions, said Mr. Stevens, were impossible to answer and he reiterated his former statement the Dominion's intervention in the market prevented a collapse.

Cheese Shipments Start Next Week

Millions of Pounds of Cheese Go to United Kingdom

MONTREAL, April 14 (CP). — Montreal's cheese export season commences next week. Annual movement of millions of pounds of Canadian cheese to the United Kingdom, representing millions of pounds per year, will be inaugurated next Friday and Saturday, when first vessels depart with the cheese shipments.

Last season Montreal cheese exports to the United Kingdom totalled 934,515 boxes of 85 pounds each, representing 79,442,275 pounds. It was the largest volume since 1928. Dealers are looking for an increase this year over last. Stocks in storage here are plentiful. On March 31 they totalled 46,107 boxes.

OLD DOBBIN COMES BACK

A paragraph of special interest to Canadian farmers apearing in the annual report of the Horse division of the Live Stock Branch is quoted as follows:

"In certain sections there is a demand for lighter clear-legged horses, big enough to do some work on the farm and also suitable for a certain amount of road work. The demand for hunters and saddlers compared with some previous years is by no means keen, nevertheless the outstanding animal still finds a market at a good price. The interest in the hunter and saddle horse, however is apparently as keen as ever judging by the fact that hunt and riding clubs are increasing rather than decreasing even under present conditions. This goes to show that as conditions improve the demand for this type of horse will steadily increase. As it takes at least five years to develop a hunter and as there is a scarcity of them in the country today, the horseman that continues to breed will be the fortunate one four or five years hence. The same holds true in the breeding of draught horses. The demand for horses for draught work is growing and will undoubtedly continue for some time owing to economic conditions. It is further safe to assume that to many it has been demonstrated that the horse is helping to keep down the overhead under economic pressure and he will also help to lessen operating costs in better times."

AGRICULTURAL ANTS

Farming is actually done by agricultural ants on a small scale. They cultivate patches of wild rice, keeping out weeds until the crop ripens. They then climb the stalks and carry the grain away to their underground granaries.

Exquisite Fabrics, Well Tailored, Mark Youngsters' Easter Outfits

Easter clothes for little Nelsonites are simple, but chic. (Left) Triple tiered caps for puff sleeves give individuality to a charming Liberty printed dress, in blue, pink and green against white coloring. (Inset) Brother and Sister Easter outfits are identical, except that they button different ways. They are of fern-moss green, bittersweet or pottery blue Shetland tweed. The hats have stitched brims and Sister's has a wee feather in it. (Right) For Miss 8-16, a broad-shouldered modish spring coat is of blue tweed, has cap sleeves, a collar that buttons up and a belt of self material. The blue straw hat has gay red cherries along one side.

CANADIAN CATTLE EXPORT TO BRITAIN FAR UP FOR YEAR

OTTAWA, April 14 (CP)—Export shipments of Canadian cattle to the British market this year to date number 9511 head, says a report of the department of trade and commerce tonight. Of this 5938 were from Ontario, 3405 from the prairie provinces and 168 from Quebec. In the corresponding period last year only 211 head of cattle were shipped.

LONDON STREETS SAFER

London's streets are becoming safer. At any rate casualties are declining. Last year the number of persons killed in the streets of London was 1,263, and the number injured was 52,456. During the last half of the year there were 46 fewer killed than in the last six months of 1931, and the number injured decreased by 714.

The private motorcar accounts for the majority of fatal accidents. Less than one per cent of accidents in London occur when the round traffic system is in operation, and junctions where traffic signals are used are nearly as safe.

A gold nugget worth $113 was found by placer miners along the Powell creek, near Medford, Ore., recently. It was the largest find of the season.

ARSENAL TAKES STRANGLEHOLD IN SOCCER RACE

Beat Sheffield-Wednesday 4-2 to Get Lead of 5 Points

BROMWICH ALBION TAKES 1-0 BEATING

Leicester City and Middlesborough on Spot for Relegation

LONDON, April 14 (CP cable)—The Arsenal took a stranglehold on the championship of the first division of the English Soccer league when they defeated Sheffield Wednesday by 4-2 at the Highbury grounds this afternoon.

The victory put Arsenal, league leaders, a full five points in front of Sheffield, second-placers, and there are only three more full league schedules to play, in addition to the partial holiday schedules on Monday and Tuesday.

Arsenal have won the league championship only once in the last years, but Sheffield Wednesday have held it four times in that period. Last season Everton were leaders.

Most teams in the English league were engaged in holiday fixtures today, although there was no first-class soccer in Scotland, where Celtic and Motherwell battle in the cup final tomorrow.

SUBSTANTIAL LEAD

As Arsenal drew into a substantial lead in the first division the other facings near the top were not affected by today's games. Both Aston Villa and Newcastle United, tied for third place eight points behind the leader, were idle today, and West Bromwich Albion, fifth place holders, took a 1-0 beating from Manchester City who are just safely above the line where relegations are going to take their toll.

Net effect of the struggle among the lowly teams to escape relegation into the second division in today's battles was to put Leicester City and Middlesbrough on the spot. Leicester City lost to Chelsea 4-1, and Middlesbrough were beaten 2-0 at Wolverhampton. Blackpool escaped from under by beating Blackburn Rovers 3-0, which leaves Blackpool a point above Leicester and Middlesbrough.

WITHIN A POINT

Tottenham Hotspurs came within a point of Stoke City, second division leaders, by playing a scoreless tie with Plymouth Argyle while Stoke were being beaten 1-0 at Charlton Athletic's grounds. Southampton sprung a surprise in the second division, their eleven, which is way down the table, trouncing the sixth-place Notts County by six goals to two in one of the highest scoring games of the day.

Brentford edged into a three-point lead in the southern section of the third division when they triumphed 2-1 at Bristol City, while the second place holders, Norwich City, were losing 4-0 at Crystal Palace. Exeter City took the opportunity to draw into a tie for second place by adding a point with a 2-2 tie at Clapton Orient's park.

HULL CITY TOPPLED

Chester toppled Hull City from leadership of the northern section third division by beating Rocadale 2-0. Hull are a point below Chester thanks to their 2-0 defeat by Tranmere Rovers. Wrexham, third place holders, played a 1-1 tie at Doncaster Rovers' grounds and stayed within three points of the leaders.

Games in all parts of the country were favored by perfect weather conditions and large holiday crowds turned out.

EDMONTON GRADS BEAT PROVINCE GIRLS 94 TO 58

Betty Passerini Scores 21 for B. C.; Gladys Fry Counts 25 Markers

EDMONTON, April 14 (CP)—Featuring big Gladys Fry the famous centre and sharp-shooting star, the Edmonton Commercial Grads defeated Vancouver Province girls here today 94-58 in the first of a two-game series for the western Canadian senior women's basketball championship.

It was the first big test for the Grads this year. Minus most of their players of last year, Coach J. Percy Page was forced to bring in four new girls, but everyone of them performed admirably, fitted into the Grad machine without any noticeable trouble and while the defence was notably weak at times, the Grads always had enough to more than hold their own.

Betty Passerini was the outstanding player for the British Columbia champions. Time and again she broke through the Grads' lines and scored. In all, she finished the day's work with a total of 21 points to her credit, a phenomenal showing against the Grads. But fleet Betty was not the only star of the visiting team. Kay Annan was not far behind with 16 points and worked like a trojan to bring victory over the seldom beaten Grads. Mary Code, Eleanor Downie, Nancy Smethurst and Jean Thompson counted the other points for the visitors.

FRY COUNTS 25

Gladys Fry was the big point getter for the Grads, counting 25, made chiefly as the result of brilliant sallies through the coast team's defence. One of the newcomers, Helen Stone, was in the limelight with 22 points, with two veterans, Margaret MacBurney and "Babe" Belanger getting almost as many.

The two girls to make their debut with the world champions were Evelyn Coulson and Jessie Innis, while Helen Stone and her sister Edith won permanent places in the crew. They had previously played in the senior ranks as substitutes called from the farmteam, Commercial Gradettes.

MAULERS WIN RUGBY OPENER

Heavy Tackling; Maulers Get Two Touchdowns, Three Dead-liners

Opening spring rugby in Nelson, the Maulers' intermediate gridiron team beat the Rowing club 13-0 at the Recreation grounds. The first part of the afternoon was warm but toward the finish of the game it was rather raw and as a consequence the crowd of fans dwindled.

It was an even game all the way. Three dead line kicks, a fluke touch down that was scored after the ball had bounced off a player back across the line from where it was kicked, and a power drive one foot from the line, contributed the winners' points.

Heavy checking featured the game and few openings were left. Fumbling slowed up the game somewhat and in a couple of instances prevented scoring. The Maulers spotted the Rowing club considerable weight but made up the deficiency with more organized play.

After the kickoff by Woods of the scullers, the Maulers bit by bit forced their way toward their opponents' line. Jerry Whitfield, a promising newcomer, and Alan McLean carried the ball for considerable ground.

Johnny McLeod booted the ball over the dead line for the first score. Bill Vance, the mainstay of the Rowing club, spread the Maulers in all directions in a 20-yard run. McLeod kicked the second point in the second quarter. With the ball in their territory the Rowing club team called for kick formation. Vance booted the ball. It struck a player and bounced back across his own line where Pat Duffy pounced upon it for a touch down. The Maulers failed to convert on a forward pass play.

Johnny and Norman McLeod and Whitfield came in for nice runs in the second quarter.

Martin snagged a forward pass from McLeod for 35 yards a few minutes after the second half opened. Closing in a kick failed to cross the bar but it rolled over the dead line and the Maulers' total was boosted to eight points. Meek, Humble and Vance all went through for yards but were brought down before coming dangerous.

The Rowing club held the Maulers on their 10-yard line and again on their three yard line as power drives made. One foot from the line Bill Kirby was pushed across for the final touch down. It went unconverted. Fred Fawcett proved a big asset to the Rowing club dropping the Maulers' ball carriers persistently. W. Freno refereed.

Mobraaten Makes Best Ski Jump

Leaps 224 Feet, Coast; Lymburne Goes 215

VANCOUVER, April 14 (CP)—Some fine ski jumping by international celebrities was witnessed at the Pacific northwest tournament held on Grouse mountain near here today. No records were broken but the participants gave hundreds of spectators a thrilling exhibition. Tom Mobraaten, Vancouver, outjumped all other competitors with a leap of 224.2 feet; John Elvrum of Cascade club, Portland, covered 222.9 feet, and Olie Frerdahl of Seattle was a close third with 222.8 feet. M. Kaldahl of Hollyburn, B.C., covered 220.1 feet. Bob Lymburne of Revelstoke, failed to leap more than 215.4 feet.

Other jumps included were H. Hans Gunnarson, Revelstoke, 205.9; H. Hvam, Cascade, Portland 204.2.

"Big League" BASEBALL

By AL DEMAREE

In my diagram above I show how the big league pitcher visualizes the batter and the pitching area of the plate.

In the middle of the plate and extending a trifle above and below the batter's waist is a visionary area, known as the "groove."

This is the spot all good pitchers can hit when they must. Under ordinary conditions he puts the first ball pitched in there, and when the count is two balls and one strike and two balls and two strikes. This keeps him ahead or even with the batter.

The other spots are "weakness" spots. If a batter is an inside hitter, pitch outside.

If he likes them high, pitch low. If he fancies them outside, pitch in across his hands.

Al Demaree has prepared an illustrated leaflet on "The Art of Batting" which he will gladly send to any reader requesting it. Address Al Demaree in care of this paper and be sure to enclose a self-addressed stamped envelope.

Max Schmeling Reaches New York

Reports Germany Quiet; Confident of Fight

NEW YORK, April 14 (AP)—Max Schmeling, former heavyweight boxing champion, arrived here today on the Bremen to start training for his match with Max Baer in the Yankee stadium June 8.

As always, the yound Teuton who lost his title to Jack Sharkey last summer, appeared in perfect condition and ready to fight on a few days' notice. He said he weighed 190 pounds, approximately his best ring weight, and had been training steadily in Germany and aboard ship.

"Germany never has been quieter or more peaceful than today," he said, in answer to questions regarding conditions under the Hitler government. "I saw no cruel treatment of Jews."

His manager, Joe Jacobs, is an orthodox Jew.

Schmeling, accompanied by his trainer, Max Machon, leaves Sunday for an eight-day exhibition tour. He will start a five-week training siege at Lake Swannanoa, N.J., May 1.

Schmeling would make no definite prediction of the outcome of his match with Baer.

"I'm looking forward to the fight with great confidence," he said. "I plan to stay here this summer in the hopes of getting another match with Sharkey in the fall."

HOOKS and SLIDES by WILLIAM BRAUCHER

MAKING IT SNAPPY

Lefty O'Doul's success as a hitter is due largely to the fact he never tries to outguess a pitcher . . . but tries to hit what comes . . . guys who try to figure what the pitcher is going to throw are called "guess hitters" somewhat contemptuously. Golfer Mac Smith is a bug on shoes . . . pays as much as $40 a pair . . . One of the year's best three-year-olds, Okapi, will not run in either the derby or the preakness.

• • •

PING PONG PERIL

Maybe the ping pong rules ought to be changed to curb the casualties . . . Fred Perry, British table-tennis champion, recently was laid up three weeks with a strained forearm . . . A dime was the limit for the card games at the training camp of the Pirates . . . Freddie Lindstrom, like Lefty Grove, smokes only cigars.

• • •

OUT OF THE SOCK

Hoarding has been discovered in Detroit, where the banks recently were hard hit . . . In the till at a wrestling show a $1 bill issued in 1855 was found . . . another bill, $2 denomination, carried the date line 1856. . . Flyer Jimmy Doolittle was a star athlete at the University of California . . . When Bill Terry first came to the Giants he was a pitcher . . . and was farmed to Toledo where he won five games in one week.

• • •

IT'S UP TO COCHRANE

One of the A's weaknesses is catching . . . If Cochrane goes out with an injury it will be just too bad . . . Madjeski being a bright prospect, but without enough experience. . . . Tom Yawkey, new owner of the Red Sox, inherited $4,000,000 from his mother and $3,408,650 from his foster father. . . . Young Yawkey was born Thomas Austin in Detroit in 1903 . . . and taken into the household of William Hoover Yawkey, his mother's brother, when he was 7 . . . and adopted in 1917.

• • •

IT'S OLD STUFF

Bowling, in one form or another, has been a sport since the Dark Ages . . . it was started with rounded rocks for balls . . . in 1409 it was taken indoors when the nobility found it too cold to bowl on the greens . . . the Dutch brought it to America in 1623.

• • •

DID YOU KNOW THAT

Babe Ruth will receive more money for playing ball this year than any team in the Pacific Coast league . . . Operative Tom Laird of San Francisco says salaries in the P.C.L. will not average $400 per month and none of the clubs will carry more than 18 players the monthly payroll would be $7200 . . . that makes $43,200 for the season . . . or $8800 less than the Bambino gets for his summer's afternoons . . . and the P.C.L., a class AA league, is supposed to rate next to the majors in importance.

Frederick Makes Things Look Tough for Hack Wilson

PHILADELPHIA, April 14 (AP)—Walter Beck made an auspicious National league debut and Johnny Frederick made things look very tough for Hack Wilson's hopes of playing right field for Brooklyn today as the Dodgers turned back the Phillies for the second time, 7 to 1.

The Dodgers, meanwhile, pounded their former teammate, Austin (Cy) Moore, and his successors Hansen and Grabowski for 18 hits. Frederick set the pace by pasting a homer and three singles in his first four trips to the plate.

RANKINE WINS TORONTO RACE

TORONTO, April 14 (CP)—Retaining foremost position by subduing every challenge offered, Robert Rankine, lithe little pacer from Preston, Ont., today won the annual Bloor street road race over a field of more than half a hundred. His time for the 15-mile course over the pavement in uptown Toronto was one hour, 11 minutes, 4 2-5 seconds. Billy Reynolds, Galt, Ont., three times winner of the race, crossed the line second followed by Hans Oldag, of Buffalo Athletic club.

IF IT WASN'T FOR—

By AL DEMAREE

Bill Hasmer, the old-time infielder is an almost legendary character. The old boy must have been the greatest judge of ground balls in the history of the game.

To this day whenever a ground ball bounces perfectly to an infielder so that he can handle it with the greatest ease, it is called a "big Bill" or a "Bill Hasmer."

Johnny Ward or "Piggy" Ward is another legendary baseball character. Ward must have always been late for the old-time bus leaving the hotel for the ball park. Even to this day if a player arrives late at the ball park or to a meeting he is called a "Johnny Ward."

Grove Shuts Them Out Until the Ninth; New York Beats Boston

WASHINGTON, April 14 (AP)—Shutting out Washington Senators for eight innings, Bob Grove today led Philadelphia Athletics to a 5 to 1 victory and their first win of the season.

The lanky portsider scattered the six hits he allowed, and aided by the slugging of Foxx and Higgins, kept Washington from making it three in a row.

Not until the last inning did the Grittmen tally, when Goose Goslin after doubling, scored on Schulte's single.

Stewart, starting his first game for Washington, allowed seven hits in eight innings. Higgins opened the fifth for Philadelphia with a homer over right field fence.

In the eighth, Cochrane slammed out a triple, and after Foxx was purposely passed, Bluege took Johnson's roller but threw wild to Myer on an attempted double play. Cochrane scored.

MORE ABOUT BENNETT VISIT

of a world wide movement for recovery of prosperity.

"The French government feels these preliminary conversations a practical method to insure an efficient preparation of the world conference and a step towards its success," the memorandum said.

As in the invitation and reply exchanged between the British and American governments in regard to the coming of Prime Minister MacDonald, any mention of the war debts was conspicuously absent.

The detailed program for Mr. MacDonald's entertainment, made public today at the state department, showed he will be brought to Washington by special train on his arrival April 21 and will return to England at midnight April 26. Premier Herriott's visit will overlap his by two days.

Mr. MacDonald will be accompanied by his daughter, Miss Isabel MacDonald, as on his previous visit in 1928. Others who will accompany him are Sir Robert Vansittart of the foreign ministry and Sir Frederick Leith-Ross, chief economic advisor of the British government.

In another long consultation with their economic aides at their sides, Secretary Cordell Hull of the state department and Sir Ronald Lindsay, British ambassador, today went over much of the ground that will be covered in the MacDonald-Roosevelt conversations, basing their conversation on the program of the world economic conference.

BARGAINING BILL

At the white house it was said the tariff bargaining bill has not yet been laid before the president for his approval. State department officials declined to deny a report the bill is intended to give the president power to make bi-lateral agreements for a reduction of 40 or 50 per cent in tariff rates and also to negotiate a multi-lateral treaty at the world-conference whereby all tariff duties would be decreased horizontally.

The same report said authority might be sought to change existing tariff rates by executive proclamation subject to reversal only by action of both houses of congress within 60 days.

BENNETT NOT TAKING TARRRIF EXPERTS

OTTAWA, April 14 (CP).—Plans for the visit of Premier R. B. Bennett to Washington were under consideration here this afternoon and, it was learned, call for his arrival in the United States capital on April 25. He will probably remain until April 28.

Canada's prime minister will take part in the economic parleys with the United States president. While trade agreements will likely be discussed during Mr. Bennett's stay, it is intimated other questions will also be given considerable attention.

The best information available here indicates Mr. Bennett has not planned on taking any tarrif experts with him on his visit to Washington. This would suggest the discussions with the United States president would be on general lines, as a preliminary to getting down to actual tarrif items.

The currency question is frequently suggested as likely to be given attention. The 20 per cent premium on U.S. dollars as compared with Canadian funds is an important handicap to United States firms seeking to do business in Canada.

MORE ABOUT MOSCOW TRIAL

Gregory and the other defendants unduly delayed installation of oil switches at the great new power station at Dnieprostov.

"I WANT TO FACE THIS MAN"

Gregory leaped to his feet, his face scarlet with anger. He raised his arm and faced presiding Judge V. Ulrich. "I want to face this man," he cried. "He has made statements against my reputation and you accept them without any proof. Is that justice?"

The judge replied: "The court has listened to the witness and now it is your privilege to make a statement. Afterward it is the court's business to determine who shall be believed."

Gregory then strode to the stand. He shook his fist in the face of the pale Seibert and declared:

LARGEST MADE

"I went to Dnieprostov to erect the largest switches ever made by our company, and the largest ever installed in Russia. I left Moscow with special orders for my office to give them my personal attention because none of our switches ever has broken down, and we wanted to be sure of these.

"Although it meant much work for me, I supervised every part of the work for the sake of my reputation and that of my firm." The switches, he added, each weighed 45 tons. There were three of them and the installation took 48 days.

"I leave it to the technical experts here (he pointed to several experts seated near the judge) as to whether I did that work in proper time or whether a shorter time would have been enough for the quality of work."

SPREAD PROPAGANDA

Gregory also replied to a charge made by Siebert that he had spread anti-Soviet propaganda at Dnieprostov.

"I don't speak Russian," the little Welshman said, "and the only interpreter there spoke English so badly it took enough of my time to make them understand what I wanted without discussing Russian politics, in which I am not interested anyway."

PARALYZE STATION

Another Russian witness, L. A. Sukoruchkin, manager of the main Moscow station and one of the 11 Russians who have pleaded guilty to similar charges to those facing the Englishmen, charged that L. C. Thornton, Metro-Vickers engineer, organized a plot which in case of war would have paralyzed the large Moscow electric station serving the Kremlin, important factories and powerful wireless stations. On several occasions charges the Englishmen attempted to secure agreement to paralyze plants in event of war have been made during the trial.

For his work Thornton, said the Russian, had paid him 25,000 paper and 350 gold rubles. The old gold-ruble was worth 51 cents.

DENIES IT

Thornton promptly denied the charges.

One of the Russian witnesses who testified he had received bribes from the Englishmen was A. T. Lobanov, chief of the electrical department of the Ivanovo power station. He brought the name of Charles Nordwell, another of the British defendants, into the testimony for the first time in connection with an alleged bribe of 5000 rubles. So far W. H. MacDonald, Thornton, Gregory and Monkhouse have been implicated.

Lobanov admitted he had entertained anti-Soviet ideas and had complained to Nordwell about low standards of living in the Soviet.

"If you want to improve your conditions," he quoted Nordwell as telling him, "you must act now. You must cause important damage so that Russia will have to spend more gold. Above all you must be sure that this power plant is paralyzed in case of war."

BLANKET DENIAL

Nordwell, a blond giant who speaks Russian with a pronounced accent, entered a blanket denial, his voice at times over-riding the interjections of the court. "I never gave him money, and I never said a word to him about damage or about war," Nordwell testified.

Nordwell warmly told the court, "all this evidence is absolutely untrue. I didn't bribe and I didn't plot against the Soviet."

BIALKOWSKI BABY TAKEN

Vetos Mitchell six-months old son of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Bialkowswi of 619 Railway street, died Thursday. Funeral services will be held Monday.

The perfume pendent is one of the newest kinks in jewelry. It is a hollow locket with a puff inside on which perfume is poured. The locket is made of marcasite, and the scent is diffused through the tiny openings in the marcasite.

CHIMNEY FIRE EXTINGUISHED

A chimney fire at a residence on Victoria street adjoining the Nelson library brought the fire department out Friday morning. Chemicals were used and little damage other than a small hole in the roof resulted.

Only GENERAL ELECTRIC
HI-SPEED Hotpoint RANGES
CAN GIVE ALL OF THESE ADVANTAGES OF ELECTRIC COOKERY

1 MODERN—All Steel Construction—harmonizing colors.
2 FAST—No other cooking device gives quicker results. *Hotpoint Hi-Speed Calrod units are faster by actual test than any other electrical range element.
3 ECONOMICAL—Controlled temperature eliminates waste of current and insures uniform results. The oven is completely insulated resulting in very little heat loss, and the *Economy Cooker saves a considerable amount of money each month through its low cost of operation.
4 CLEAN—Electric Cookery is as clean as electric light; no odor, soot, smoke, grime, matches, or ashes. Pots and pans do not blacken. Oven parts are removable and the rounded corners make cleaning easier.
5 SIMPLE—Controlled heat assures uniform results and eliminates testing. Searing and basting are unnecessary, the *Hotpoint Oven does it for you. Complete meals can be easily prepared in the *Hotpoint Oven.
6 CERTAIN—With *Super Automatic Temperature Control you do not need "luck" in electric cooking—results are certain, the current automatically turns on—maintains the correct heat—and turns off again at the hour you predetermined, and the electric current supply is uniform and completely dependable.
7 COOL—With electric cookery you can do your baking as comfortably in summer as in winter. Your kitchen is always cool as the *Calrod surface units direct all heat into utensils, and the oven is completely insulated. The construction of the *Hotpoint Oven and *Economy Cooker prevents the escape of large quantities of steam.
8 HEALTHFUL—Vitamins and valuable mineral salts do not cook out to be poured down the drain. Electric Heat emits no odors or fumes, does not use up the oxygen in kitchen air which is so essential to good health.
9 SAFE—*Calrod heating units are not "alive" electrically. Electric cookery is safer for children—matches are unnecessary, there is no danger if switches are turned on. There are no exposed connections or possibility of an explosion.
10 TIME RELEASING—*Super Automatic Control permits you to cook complete oven meals without attention. Your time spent in stirring, basting, adjusting, etc. is released for more pleasant pastimes.
