Turkey Smashes the Lausanne Treaty; Moves Troops Into the Dardanelles

Britain, France, Italy and Japan Are the Guarantors of Treaty; Russia Likes Idea of Refortification

POWERS HAD FAILED TO ANSWER TURKEY'S REQUEST FOR ACTION

ISTANBUL, Turkey, April 17 (AP).—Turkey added her name today to the list of nations violating post-war treaties, sending troops to strategic positions in the demilitarized zone around the Dardanelles strait.

(A Reuters News Agency dispatch from Ankara, capital of Turkey, stated a semi-official news agency had denied that Turkish troops had occupied the zone. Turkey recently had sent notes to the European powers, asking permission to fortify the area, forbidden by the Lausanne treaty).

Troops moved into the demilitarized zone at dawn, following a decision reached last night at a meeting of the Turkish cabinet, at which President Kenal Attaturk presided. Marshal Fevzi Pasha, chief of the army general staff, also attended the cabinet session.

The orders to enter the Dardanelles area were delivered secretly, and the army went in without any public announcement. Word of the occupation was disclosed tonight.

Under the Lausanne treaty relating to the Dardanelles, signed July 24, 1934, a zone on both sides of the straits was closed to Turkish military forces.

Great Britain, France, Italy and Japan guaranteed security of the area and freedom of navigation through the straits. Turkey granted them a restricted right of passage for their war vessels.

Turkey's request for permission to rearm the demilitarized zone had not been answered by the powers, although it had been given a generally favorable reception, contrasting, as it did, with the recent unilateral violation of treaties by Germany in sending troops into the demilitarized Rhineland.

Austria's recent order for general military conscription was considered by the little entente nations another violation of a post-war treaty, that of St. Germain, and they protested against the action.

RUSSIA APPROVES

MOSCOW, April 17 (AP)—The Soviet Union, which by virtue of its geographical position is one of the powers most interested in keeping an open gateway in the Dardanelles, gave a note to Turkey expressing approval of the Turkish desire to refortify the straits.

A communication from Maxim Litvinoff, commissar for foreign affairs, to the Turkish ambassador made public Saturday said Soviet Russia was ready to participate in negotiations for alteration of the present rules governing the straits.

Litvinoff said the Soviet Union "always considered Turkish sovereignty as a necessary condition for maintaining peace and quiet in the straits."

The same day Fong was escorted to Nelson jail, where he will remain until his trial at spring assizes.

R. J. Clegg, crown counsel, assisted by H. C. Clegg, called on several witnesses to reveal the sequence of events.

TWO MORE DEAD IN MADRID

MADRID, April 17 (AP).—Spanish authorities, seeking to halt political disturbances which have claimed five lives in the last two days, began a wholesale roundup of members of the illicit Fascist party tonight. Several hundred followers of the militant sector of Jose Antonio Primo de Rivera's Fascist party were arrested.

The government struck out in a stern attempt to prevent further disorders as two new fatalities today were added to three deaths in rioting yesterday. A general strike paralyzed business in the capital and a number of persons were injured in scattered clashes. The two killed were Fascists.

RECORD LIST IN FRENCH POLL

PARIS, April 17 (CP-Havas)—All records for French general election nominations were broken today with 4011 aspirants already in the running for the April 25 balloting and a total of 5000 expected before the lists close at 11 p.m. tomorrow.

The highest number of candidates previously recorded was in 1928, when about 3800 fought for parliamentary seats.

Despite the huge number of candidates, thus far there has been no outward evidence of a very spirited campaign. The final week is expected to more than make up for the lack of vigorous campaigning to date.

"State of Alarm" in Force in Spain

MADRID, April 17 (CP-Havas).—The government tonight proclaimed a 30-day state of alarm throughout Spain. A state of alarm is a modified form of martial law.

SENATOR FORTIN ILL

QUEBEC, April 17 (CP).—Senator Emile Fortin, Levis, who entered hospital here yesterday on the advise of his physician, is seriously ill. He passed a good night, however, and was resting easily today.

DOWNFALL OF HITLER SOON!

MONTREAL, April 17 (CP)—German prince and German Jew joined today in predicting the downfall of the Hitler regime within the next two years. The nobleman, Prince Hubertus Loewenstein, now residing alternately in Austria and England gave Hitler 18 months. The Jew, Dr. Kurt Rosenfeld, New York, former minister of justice of the German Republic who once fined Hitler 1000 marks for contempt of court, thought 12 months was the limit.

Both men, who arrived here today to keep speaking engagements, said economic difficulties in Germany would quickly bring things to a head.

SWEEZEY APPEAL CONTINUES

MONTREAL, April 17 (CP)—Initial Dominion government approval of the Beauharnois Power scheme was seemingly obtained by "dishonest means," Justice Rives Hall commented today as argument continued in appeal court on a claim of $50,000 by heirs of the late C. Winfield B. Sifton against R. O. Sweezey, Montreal engineer.

J. Weldon, K.C., appearing for the heirs, asserted there was "nothing sinister in Sifton's operations—it was perfectly legitimate to avail of his influence." Weldon argued against appeal by Sweezey and Beauharnois Power corporation who seek to upset a superior court judgment ordering Sweezey to pay the heirs $50,000, the corporation to reimburse Sweezey.

Justice Hall, reading from the parliament report on Beauharnois, declared the "general tenor" of the document condemning the transaction showed "money was spent for improper purposes and approval was obtained by dishonest means."

Justice Bond remarked that "there is such a thing as respectable lobbying." The $50,000 was claimed as fee for Sifton's services in furthering the power development plans.

Rather Get Hit by Auto Than by High Tension Wire, East

TORONTO, April 17 (CP)—It was a case of either being electrocuted by a high tension wire, which fell from a pole today, or jumping into the path of an approaching automobile. Will Avenell chose the automobile, and suffered only bruises when he was knocked down.

Million Dollars for Ontario Treasury

TORONTO, April 17 (CP)—Ontario is richer by $1,000,000 through one of the largest single collections of unpaid dues and penalties under the Succession Duty act, Premier Hepburn revealed today.

The money was delivered by armored car into the government coffers yesterday, but the premier refused to give the name of the estate concerned. It was reported the estate was closed under the former Ontario administration and that later investigation showed the correct amount was not paid.

TRAIL SEARCHER BACK AT COAST

VANCOUVER, April 17 (CP)—E. D. Cour Barron and "Tuffy" his Doberman-Pinschner trail dog, were back in town tonight after an unsuccessful search for four-year-old Julian Burtnick, missing from his Trail, B.C., home since April 4.

Actions of Cour Barron's dog in leading searchers to the brink of the Columbia river several times, led to the belief that the youngster had drowned in the river and the search has been abandoned.

Both blasting and dragging operations in the river failed to reveal any trace of the youngster.

Cour Barron offered the services of his dog after the child had been missing almost a week.

Pattullo Leaves by Plane

VANCOUVER, April 17 (CP)—Premier T. D. Pattullo left here by airplane today for Ottawa to discuss negotiations regarding British Columbia's financial relations with the Dominion government which he described as of a most important character.

Although non-committal about what may be accomplished, the premier indicated a definite settlement is expected.

With the Nelson "Polar Bears" having taken their initial dip in the icy waters of Kootenay lake at Nelson Thursday, bathing costumes become front page news and it will be pretty difficult for those Nelson mermaids who are planning their beach wear now, to beat the suit so perfectly displayed above by Rosalind Keith. It is a very new creation, a suit which has neck and back lines that may be changed to secure varied effects. The flattering bodice neckline may be unlaced and converted to a V neck, and the crocheted straps may quickly be detached in the back and made a halter neck style.

Italy Sees Situation Most Delicate Since the War Began; Fleet and Air Force Ready for Trouble in Mediterranean

(Associated Press Foreign Staff).

GENEVA, April 17 (AP).—League of Nations negotiations for peace between Italy and Ethiopia collapsed today. A special session of the council was called for Monday to deal with the critical situation.

Italy, confident her troops would be in Addis Ababa by next week, rejected an earnest French appeal for an armistice to permit peace negotiations and ease the international tension.

The Ethiopian delegation firmly refused to accept a peace program advanced by Italy, and the committee of 13, which is the council without Italy, then admitted its 45 days of efforts for peace had failed.

ITALIAN PLANES RAKE ADDIS ABABA WITH MACHINE GUN FIRE

Believed to Be Attempt to Kill Members of the Ethiopian Royal Family

By CHRISTIAN OZANNE
Copyright, 1936, by the Havas News Agency

ADDIS ABABA, April 17 (CP-Havas)—Swooping low in a lightning raid, two Italian battle planes fired machine gun bullets on Emperor Haile Selassie's palace late today in what some observers said was an attempt to kill or injure members of the Ethiopian royal family.

The shots wounded a number of persons and threw the city into panic, but failed to hit any members of the reigning house. The big craft circled over the city at a high altitude and then droned into the distance as rapidly as they had come.

The terror which gripped the capital earlier in the day when two bombers suddenly appeared and showered the city with green, white and red fireworks—the tricolor colors—had become acute tonight and a state of alarm was ordered.

The handful of natives who have remained within the capital prepared to evacuate and join the bulk of the residents, who have taken to the hills since repeated Italian flights over the city provoked strong belief a mass air attack impended.

JUDGE RITTER IS IMPEACHED

WASHINGTON, April 17 (AP).—Concluding its twelfth impeachment trial in an atmosphere of tension, the senate by 56 to 28 today convicted Federal Judge Halsted L. Ritter of Florida of misconduct and removed him from office.

The vote of guilty, futilely contested by Senator Austin (R-Vt.), came on the last of seven ballots and was exactly the two-thirds majority required by the constitution for conviction.

No appeal is possible.

A. P. Dawe, Who Won Half Million in Sweep, Sees the Sea Serpent

Studies "Caddy" With Binoculars; Others Also Witness Visit of Monster

VICTORIA, April 17 (CP)—Arthur P. Dawe opened the door of his seaside home today and saw a sea serpent.

Dawe took it all pretty calmly. He went into the house and took out his binoculars and studied the creature in the shore waters until he was certain it was "cadaborosaurus," the camel-headed monster of Cadabora bay.

Dawe is used to the unusual. Several years ago he won second prize in an Irish sweepstake, bringing in close to half a million dollars. With part of it he built the home on Cadaboro bay where "Caddy" came to bask today.

"I've sailed the seas for 12 years and I've seen all kinds of sea creatures before," Dawe related today. "It came up off the point and I had a splendid view of it with my glasses. It had something like a camel's head and three distinct 'undulations.'

"It would dive and then come up to the surface and 'blow.' When I heard the 'blow' I thought it might be a black fish and I studied it closer—but it was no black fish and it wasn't a porpoise or a sea lion. It seemed to be feeding and stayed off our place five minutes. Then it dove and disappeared."

Joe Smith, the gardener at the house next door, also said he saw the serpent. So did Mrs. Dawe.

2 WAREHOUSES GO UP IN FLAMES; OIL PLANT IS MENACED

Spectacular Midnight Blaze Rages on as City Firemen Battle to Control It; Five Houses Nearby Are Ruined

CROWDS KEPT AT BAY BY HEAT AS INFERNO FANNED BY STIFF BREEZE

All Nelson Fire Fighting Equipment Rushed to the C. P. R. Flats; Freight Sheds and Section House Damaged

A great fire on the C. P. R. Flat, breaking out a few minutes before midnight Thursday, swept out of existence the two warehouses of the Associated Growers of British Columbia on the Granite Road, repeatedly ignited the C. P. R. section-house occupied by Frank Arcure, drove Pete Defeo and family from their house just east of the Associated Growers, and after blowing for a long stretch of time in the direction of the C. P. R. freight sheds, turned west when the wind changed, and at 12:30 this morning was threatening the plant of the Union Oil company.

The huge blaze illuminated that section of town, and drew enormous galleries of spectators, who, however, were prevented by the intense heat from getting anywhere near. Telephone poles and fences across the road from the Associated Growers caught fire, and the fire fighting had to be done at long range.

The Nelson fire department had all equipment out, and the C. P. R. also had a stream on, which did effective work.

Crowds of people looked down on the fire from the old smelter slag-pile and from Rosemont.

The Associated Growers plant included the precooling plant installed in 1935 with the aid of the Dominion government.

Buildings occupied by the Associated Growers and owned by the Kootenay Cooperative association, were adjoining and connected, dating from 1927 and 1928 respectively, and loss on them, including the precooling installation, is placed by Manager W. M. Vance at $23,000. The more easterly of the buildings contained the office, from which nothing was saved. There were 400 boxes of apples in storage, and 60 cases of eggs in the pre-cooler, also lost.

West of the Associated Growers is the plant of the Union Oil company, embracing oil tanks, and next to it is the plant of the Kerrigan Oil company, of the same nature.

At 12:45 a.m. the fire seemed at least well under control, after a hard and spectacular battle that for a time seemed destined to wipe out many of the structures on the C.P.R. Flat.

The plant of the Imperial Oil company, further east, was not threatened, as a large gap protected it.

The fire alarm was turned in by

RAT HUNT ON AT THE BUREAU OF STATISTICS

OTTAWA, April 17 (CP)—A vigorous rat hunt was in progress today at the Dominion bureau of statistics following discovery that rodents had devoured extra copies of last Tuesday's nation-wide crop report.

Bureau officials, housed in the remodelled stables of the old W. C. Edwards Lumber company, said they had been aware for some time that the building harbored rats but had not appreciated the seriousness of the situation before this week's sabotage.

Employees today performed their duties armed with clubs and numerous traps were set at strategic points, many of them in desk drawers which, officials said, the rats forced open from behind. Large numbers of the animals have been caught nightly. The best one-night catch was seven.

SIX DROWN IN RAGING SEA

GRINDSTONE, Magdalen Islands, April 17 (CP)—Hurled into a raging sea that capsized their motorboat, six Magdalen Island fishermen drowned today near the mouth of Grand Entry harbor.

Only one man, Henry Clarke, lived to tell the story of a terrifying eight-mile trip from Old Harry head. Threatened with disaster a dozen times on the rockbound coast, they were within sight of a haven of safety when a giant comber turned the little craft over and spilled the fishermen into the water.

TRAIN HELD UP IN DAYLIGHT

NUTLEY, N.J., April 17 (AP).—Train robbers successfully carried out a daylight job on the Newark-Paterson branch of the Erie railroad today but fled with less than a thousand dollars in cash for their daring raid.

Seven of them cowed the crew of the Waldwick-Jersey City train, frightened a station master and two clerks into silence, kept 75 passengers, chiefly women, in ignorance of their operations and took $958.35 and $50 worth of x-ray machine equipment from the baggage car strong box. They made off in a stolen automobile without firing a shot.

CABINET COUNCIL MEETS TODAY

OTTAWA, April 17 (CP)—With cabinet council scheduled to meet tomorrow morning, first meeting of the government in more than a week, it appeared likely tonight that little more than a quorum of ministers would be present. It was considered possible that Prime Minister Mackenzie King would be in a position after the meeting to announce the personnel of the National Employment commission.

Extra efforts were made before the Easter adjournment to obtain royal assent to the bill authorizing the commission and it was passed after some demur in the senate on the necessity of hasty action there. It was believed the government wished the authority so that the commission could be set up during the recess, but there has been no announcement.

The fire department was called to a small blaze at a shack on the lakefront in the vicinity of the Fairview boat houses at 1:40 Friday afternoon, and quickly brought the fire under control with the use of chemicals.

The Swede, who lives in the place, and who does not speak English, tried to put the fire out by throwing water on it which he carried in buckets from a nearby creek. It broke out under the verandah.

Institute Hears of Board Meeting

Mrs. H. H. Pitts Gives Report; Tea, Bake Sale Planned

Mrs. H. H. Pitts, in reporting on the provincial board of directors meeting of the Women's institute held recently at the coast, stated at the institute meeting Friday that the various ministers of the government were ready to cooperate in every way for the provincial institute conference to be held in September. They had given the board a wonderful reception, said Mrs. Pitts.

Mrs. G. H. Fraser, president was in charge of the Friday meeting, and there was a fairly large attendance.

Mrs. T. Tallyn reported that seven babies were examined at the clinic by Dr. Clare Bennett, and Mrs. F. E. Wheeler, in reporting on the sales exchange, announced $6.45 had been taken in.

Plans were made for the tea and bake sale for May 1 and Mrs. A. Terrill and Mrs. G. K. Ashby donated articles for prizes at a proposed whist drive. The date has yet to be set. The former gave a guest towel and the later a bureau scarf.

An interesting and instructive demonstration on the making of a wool crochet bag was given by Mrs. H. H. Pitts, who also reported on sending flowers to the sick.

The main object of the board meeting at Vancouver, said Mrs. Pitts was to arrange for the fall conference. She had left Nelson on March 24 and returned on April 3. All those asked to cooperate for the conferences had shown a readiness, and even enthusiasm to do so, and it was expected the conference would be a memorable one.

The board members, she added, were entertained royally while they were at the coast.

TILLIE THE TOILER

MORE ABOUT TRAIL CHINESE

No defence was presented. Jack Wong acted in capacity of interpreter for Fong Sing.

NOT RETICENT

Constable William Irvine told of entering the police office to find Fong sitting on a chair and of his own accord saying "Big fight in Canadian cafe."

As Irvine went down to the lock-up to release a transient, Fong followed him saying "Me want to go to lock-up." Fong went back upstairs to the office. Subsequently Chief Laurie entered the office and Irvine referred the charged to him. Fong repeated "Big fight at Canadian cafe," and added "me want to go lock-up".

On question of Mr. Clegg, Irvine assured him that Fong's conversation had been voluntarily.

Irvine stated that when he asked Fong "where did you hit Rim?" Fong replied: "I hit him on head with hammer. I think he die son of ——!"

VISITS CAFE

Irvine then told of his visit to the cafe with F. Archibald and finding of Louie Sing in the shack lying in a pool of blood. His face was badly battered but he was still breathing, Irvine said. Leaving Mr. Archibald in charge he called Chief Laurie and Dr. J. B. Thom. He returned to the shack where Dr. Thom arrived soon after.

Robert Watson, photographer told of taking five photos at the shack on instructions of Chief Laurie. Photos were produced, identified and marked as exhibits.

Recalled to the witness stand, Constable Irvine told of things as he found them in the shack. In reply to a question by Mr. Clegg, Irvine stated there was no sign of a struggle. Dr. Thom lifted the wounded man's arm, to feel his pulse as he left to call an ambulance, witness said. He returned to search for the hammer and found it behind a board of the fence. He gave it to F. Archibald, instructing him to convey it to the chief. Hammer and blood-stained bed-clothing were produced and identified by the witness. Irvine stated, in answer to a question that the deceased was dressed that morning in his underwear.

IN DYING CONDITION

Dr. J. B. Thom, told of his visit to the shack and his findings. He said the man on the bed seemed to be in a dying condition, and did not try to speak, did not even groan. He rendered first aid, he said, as the man's pulse seemed in fair condition, considering his wounds. He ordered him removed to hospital. He had given police permission to take photos before removal, as he had said it would make no material difference to the man.

Chief Laurie corroborated evidence of Constable Irvine and told of charged saying, without questioning, "Louie kill me with axe. I hit him first. Son of a ——!"

SAID USED HAMMER

"Where did you hit Louie?" Chief Laurie stated he had said, and Fong had replied: 'I hit him on head with hammer. He die, I think he die.'

Chief told of sending Constable Irvine to the cafe and after being notified by Irvine what he found, told Fong he would have to hold him for investigation and then put him in a cell.

Chief Laurie said he had known the charged for about five years and that he was a frequent visitor to the police court in connection with business affairs.

Asked if he had any reason to believe that charged and deceased were not on friendly terms, the chief said that when he had come to the police office in connection with "N.S.F." checks or garnishees, he had requested that the money not be paid the deceased.

Chief Laurie then told of his proceedings following placing Fong in a cell.

DID NOT CARE

The chief related that when he laid the information and read the charge of murder and explained to Fong what it all meant, he said that Fong had answered: "I savvey, no matter."

Clothing worn by the accused when taken in custody was produced, the chief pointing out what was believed to be spots of blood on the right sleeve of the sweater and blood on the insteps of the shoes.

When Jack Wong, interpreter asked Fong if he had anything to say, he shook his head in negative fashion and then spoke rapidly in Chinese. Asked if he understood all that was being said, he answered that he did.

Sergeant Joe McMillen, corroborated evidence already given and told of a conversation that occurred the following day, Sunday, at about noon, outside the accused's cell. He had gone down to relieve the guard. Fong had just finished a meal. The cell door was open and he came out. Of his own accord, the sergeant related he began to talk:

DECEASED BLAMED FOR LOSS

"He smart; he take my money, $150 check—bills not paid. He go Shanghai, lose $20,000. He make me lose my business."

Louie Ling, chinese witness, was asked by Mr. Clegg if he saw Fong Sing reenter the cafe kitchen and answered "no". Shown the hammer, Ling said he had not seen it for several days. Asked if Fong Sing had been working that morning Ling replied that he had stopped work at 8 o'clock in the morning. His regular shift was from 6 o'clock in the evening until 8 o'clock the following morning.

MAN IN OTHER BED

Louie Neon, who had ocupied the other bed in the shack testified he had arisen at 6 o'clock Saturday morning and gone to work at the Elite cafe. Louie Sing was still in bed when he left. When Mr. Clegg showed him the hammer and asked if he had seen it before, he replied that he had seen it several times in the kitchen of the Canadian cafe. Asked what time he had last seen Fong Sing, Neon replied that it was between 12 and 12:30 o'clock Friday evening, in the Canadian cafe kitchen. He said he had not heard charged and deceased quarrel.

Chong Sang, a dishwasher, living on the third floor of the cafe, testified he had see Fong Sing in the dining room of the cafe at 7:50 Saturday morning. He had then retired to his room upstairs.

F. Archibald further corroborated evidence given.

Dr. J. S. Daly told of receiving a telephone call at the hospital Saturday morning that police were bringing a badly injured person to the institution. He waited their arrival at the emergency entrance and Louie Sing was brought in. He was in a coma and breathing very slowly, he said. He died at 10:25 a.m. from a fractured skull and lacerations of the brain.

Italy is prepared to participate in Monday's session to state her case again.

ROME REJECTS APPEAL

France, trying to keep both Italy and Great Britain as her allies in the Rhineland crisis, sought a way out by appealing to Italy to halt hostilities, even for a short period. This plea was made to Baron Pompeo Aloisi, chief Italian delegate, by Joseph Paul-Boncour, French minister of state. Aloisi telephoned Rome and later Paul-Boncour announced the request had been refused.

A resolution concerning the war probably will be adopted by the council Monday for submission to all members of the league. Great Britain was said to hope the league resolution would show that the international organization is "standing firm" behind Ethiopia and will proceed in an effort to secure peace.

The Italian spokesman said his delegation would come to Monday's meeting without any hope of lifting sanctions.

"Sanctions," he said, "are not working so it is immaterial to us what is done about them."

THINK SANCTIONS ARE WORKING

British circles took an entirely different view of the sanctions situation. They contended the latest figures show the league's punitive measures are having a cumulative effort on Italy's foreign trade and will yet bring disaster to Italy unless Il Duce comes to terms with the league.

The committee of 13 tomorrow will officially take note of the failure of peace negotiations and on Monday return its mandate to the council, putting the problem of peace back into the hands of that body.

Members of the committee of 13 appeared agreed that Mussolini's demand for direct peace negotiations with Ethiopia had "flagrantly" disregarded the league's responsibilities.

An Ethiopian spokesman said a second Italian peace proposal was little different from the first, based on terms of "victor and vanquished."

Discussing the French appeal to Italy for an armistice, an Italian spokesman said Italy was reluctant to declare one before the army has "cleaned up the situation" in Ethiopia. Later he indicated, an armistice would develop of itself.

ITALY STANDS PAT

ROME, April 17 (AP)—Failure of the League of Nations peace committee of 13 and convocation of a special session of the league council to consider the Italo-Ethiopian war was regarded by well-informed sources in Rome tonight as having produced one of the most delicate situations since the war began.

In some quarters the summoning of the council was viewed as a step toward additional sanctions.

Premier Mussolini saw Count Charles de Chambrun, the French ambassador, but no information was forthcoming on the subject of their conversations.

Usually well-informed circles said Italy's viewpoint would continue to be that negotiations for peace must be carried on directly between Italy and the "remnant of the Ethiopia government," with the league not participating in the talks but being kept informed.

IL DUCE "BRAVE"

A high source asserted Il Duce plans to crush the Ethiopian government and is prepared to face any international actions which may result.

Italians asserted "the forthcoming occupation of Addis Ababa" would be Italy's next answer to the league.

These sources said the Italian fleet and air force were ready for any trouble in the Mediterranean. Leaves of absence are restricted to a maximum of 24 hours. Great Britain's political and naval moves are being watched with the greatest attention.

No official word was given out concerning the progress of a motorized column said by Fascist newspapers to have left Dessye yesterday for a 175-mile drive upon Addis Ababa.

REGINA, April 17 (CP)—Two on-to-Ottawa relief camp trekkers, Sidney Stevens, 29, of Peace River, Alta., and Joe Mottl, 20, of Blairmore, Alta., were each sentenced to seven months in jail today by Mr. Justice H. Y. MacDonald in King's bench court.

'Dead' Three Minutes, Girl Is Revived

LONDON, April 17 (CP Cable).—After being "dead" for three minutes, Daisy Allen, 22, living at Oxford, was said by her doctor to be recovering tonight.

Miss Allen had been suffering from heart trouble for six weeks. She collapsed while having breakfast in bed. Dr. Justin Bailey found her heart had ceased to beat, her eyes were glazed and her face had a death pallor.

The doctor injected a substance called coramine and within 15 minutes her heart was functioning normally. Miss Allen remained unconscious 24 hours.

Machine Gun Device Not Patentable

WASHINGTON, April 17 (AP).—A claim for $400,000 by the Marlin Firearms corporation against the United States government for alleged infringement of a patent for synchronizing machine gun fire from airplanes has been dismissed by the court of claims.

In an unanimous decision the court held the device covered by the Marlin patent, which was developed for use with Browning aircraft machine guns in the world war, was "invalid for lack of invention in that it involved no more than mechanical skill."

The committees were named for the tag day on May 9 and the program for the hospital day function on May 12 was also outlined. The latter event will be a tea.

SHAFT STILL HOLDS MEN

MOOSE RIVER, N.S., April 17 (CP).—Four experienced northern Ontario miners, rushed to Moose River to assist in releasing three Toronto men entombed in a gold mine, shook their heads in disappointment tonight when they saw the task before them.

They were trained specifically for rescue work and could do nothing to help open a shaft to the 141-foot level where Dr. D. E. Robertson, Herman R. Magill and Alfred Scadding have been trapped since Sunday by a cave-in.

S. P. C. A. Juniors Told of the Malay

A second talk on experiences in the Malay was given by Mrs. Diana Corbet at the Memorial hall Friday when members of the Junior S. P. C. A. held their semi-monthly meeting.

The description of "Plandok tapping," or hunting for the mouse deer, proved most interesting. Mrs. Corbet told how one of the natives leading their party, started the ceremonies with a prayer, then began tapping a huge leaf with a stick. To their amazement flocks of birds began to appear, followed by animals, and it wasn't long before the Plandoks appeared. Two were shot and made delicious eating.

The dangerous Seladang (wild bull) was also described.

THREE ROOMS AND BATH

This cosy little house of three rooms, dinette and bath, may be built either in the modern design which was shown at the Century of Progress exhibition in Chicago, or in the older English cottage type of exterior. The same interior plan fits both exteriors.

Marion-A is the modern type. The horizontal and vertical lines of this small modern home are accentuated to their minutest detail because of the originality and iniqueness of design. An hospitable porch with bench gives the visitor welcome in both houses. The door design is simple.

The living room is well lighted and has a fireplace. It is also equipped with a disappearing bed to provide more sleeping facilities. Two doors lead to the kitchen and rear hall.

A large bedroom with corner windows gives more space for additional furniture. Ample closet space is provided for, and off the hall is a bath convenient to all rooms. A small vestibule with coat closet is entered from the porch. The kitchen is well arranged for necessary work, and there is a charming small dinette off this room.

The house contains 9300 cubic feet of space.

The living room is 11 feet by 12 feet 6 inches; the kitchen, 12 feet 6 inches by 8 feet; and the bedroom, 10 feet 3 inches by 12 feet 2 inches. The little dinette measures 7 feet by 4. Size overall, 31 feet by 29 feet.

The new spring suit jackets are double or single-breasted; in the latter case they usually are fastened by a single button. The length of the majority is about 23 inches, striking at about the center of the hip. Skirts are straight and slim as trousers, with neatly pressed kick pleats at the front or side, and about 13 inches from the ground.

WORK SLACK AT MICHEL MINES

NATAL, B.C.—The Michel mines have been working on short time for the past three weeks, with the exception of the B Seam mine, which averaged one and two shifts per week more due to the reopening of the 54 ovens and were closed for a short time when the coke order was filled. During the three weeks of slack work the No. 3 and the No. 1 mines worked a total of seven shifts while the B Seam mine worked 10 shifts. The smallest pay this year and for some time, will be witnessed by those working in the No. 1 and No. 3 mines, when five shifts will be drawn for pay, while the B Seam mine supplies the most of the slack for the coke ovens. It is expected that the mines will work better in future.

Forestry Films Shown to Scouts

Col. M. V. Allen to Tour the East Kootenay

Forestry, lumbering, logging and comedy films were shown by Col. M. V. Allen of the forestry department to about 105 Boy Scouts and Cubs at the Boy Scout hall Thursday night. The films are entirely new and the boys were delighted with them.

Colonel Allen will start for the East Kootenay in a week or 10 days to show the films at numerous points, his tour being connected with the forestry department's campaign for forest protection.

There are eight films in all, including 'Lumbering in British Columbia," "Travelling the Kicking Horse Trail," "Maintaining the Salmon Supply," "On the Skeena River," "Conquest of the Forest," "Leaves From a Ranger's Notebook," "Fighting Forest Fires," and comedy, "Felix."

The camera, although a small one, throws clear pictures, the size of the picture being 45x60 inches.

Consular Agent Move Hopeless

Must Show Need Full Consul; No New Appointments

Efforts to get the appointment of a United States consul for the Kootenay, reopening here an office closed a few years ago at Fernie, or of a consular agent who could reduce the red tape incident to exporting Kootenay products, this latter recently put forward linked with the name of E. L. Buchanan, Great Northern agent here, as a possible appointee, are not very promising at present, as they run directly against the policy of the United States department of state, C. F. McHardy admitted to the board of trade council Thursday, on the strength of information from James A. Ford, managing secretary of the Spokane chamber of commerce, who has been cooperating with the Nelson board on this matter.

Mr. Ford has been at the national capital and W. G. Oves, assistant secretary of the Spokane chamber, has relayed the information received from Mr. Ford to Mr. McHardy, in a letter in part as follows:

"Mr. Ford says that the state department is doing away entirely with the old policy of having consular agents; that whereas they used to have between 300 and 400, they now have just 24 consular agents all told. The claim the consular agent was not satisfactory and was a constant source of trouble.

"If they can't put in a full consul (that's a career man, all-time job), or a consul-general, their policy is to put in none. Owing to necessity for economy they have also reduced their number of consuls and consuls general from 770 to 690.

NO FUNDS FOR FULL TIME

"They just won't appoint a consular agent. It isn't being done any more. And they haven't any money to establish a new consul and they feel, with consuls at Calgary, Edmonton, Vancouver and Victoria, there are other places in greater need of a consul at this time."

The one hope held out by Mr. Ford, of getting action from Washington, is through showing that there is so much consular business here that a full time officer is necessary.

The water chestnut, Asiatic plant which has become troublesome in the Potomac river near Washington and some other American streams, is considered useful in China, because the nut kernels can be ground into flour.

He Took King George's Tip on the Grand National and Won 30 to 1 Bet

By THOMAS T. CHAMPION
Canadian Press Staff Writer

LONDON, April 17 (CP cable)—The story of how Sir James Sexton took the advice of King George 12 years ago, put his money on a long shot in the grand national steeplechase and saw the horse win the race, was told today with publication of the reminiscences of the 80-year-old knight.

Sir James, who went to sea at the age of 13 and in 1905 was president of the Trades Union congress, is commonly called "Jimmy" Sexton.

One of his reminiscences is of being called to the royal box on grand national day at Aintree in 1924. At the time Lord Derby was entertaining the late King and the Prince of Wales, now King Edward.

"His majesty asked me what horse I had backed and when I said 'Shaun Spadah,' he enquired 'Who gave you that tip,'" Sir James relates in the book. "I told him I got it from the Prince of Wales.

"The King laughed and said: 'Why, he is the worst tipster I know. Take my tip. Back Master Robert. I don't bet myself,' the King added, 'but the owner is staying at Knowsley (Lord Derby's Lancashire seat) and the whole party is backing it.'

"That," said Sexton, "would have been good enough for the most cautious backer in the world. Tattersall's (a betting house) said I could have 30 to 1 against Master Robert. I offered the bookie a 10 shilling note (about $2.50) and was told to take it to buy cigarettes, as they didn't handle 10 shillings.

"The Prince of Wales was coming down the steps and I was returning crestfallen. He was immensely tickled at what had happened and offered to add my stake to his own. And so, helped by King George and his heir, I converted my 10 shillings into £15 (about $75)."

Windermere W.A. Has an Easter Tea

INVERMERE, B.C.—The parish of Windermere W.A. held a sale of home cooking and fancy work in the Sunday school room of Christ church, Invermere.

Afternoon tea was served, and there was a ready sale for ice cream and candies. The table looked very attractive with their Easter decorations, and the children had plenty of chocolate eggs and bunny rabbits to amuse them.

Mrs. Coy won the lovely basket of Easter candies, and Miss Effie Turnor the cake.

The afternoon proved very successful as to the proceeds, which go to help the undertakings of the W.A. work.

MENUS RECIPES and HINTS — By Mrs. Mary Morton

MENU HINT

Lamb Chops — Baked Potatoes

You can use other fruit or berries in the dessert as well as cherries. Scalloped potatoes always are a good dish to serve with lamb chops if you prefer them to baked potatoes.

Push three whole wafers into mixture around sides of each sherbet. Chill. Serves six.

Dust top with confectioners' sugar. Serves eight.

FACTS AND FANCIES

Label Boxes

"We like to label things at our house," writes a young women. "One methodical member of our family has piled up fruit crates in the attic, in the manner of section bookcases. These shelves are used for labeled packages and boxes of seldom-used articles. We rarely say, 'I can't find it' now, nor do we open box after box before finding a wanted article."

Use Brush.

A brush with fairly stiff bristles is valuable when washing badly soiled collar bands, mud-splashed hems or other stains on white clothes. Lay the cloth smoothly on the washboard, wet the brush, rub it across a bar of soap, then scrub the garment with strokes of the brush.

A pointer for parents

Something every parent should know

A child's internal system is a frail thing. It takes years before it is fully developed.

Is it sensible, then, to give her a laxative made for an adult when she needs help in elimination? Doctors think not. For an adult laxative can be too harsh and purging for a youngster's delicate organs.

The logical thing is to give a child Castoria—made especially for children—a laxative that doesn't contain a single harmful ingredient—CASTORIA. It is SAFE. It is mild, gentle—yet completely thorough. It won't cause cramps. It won't form a habit.

And it has a pleasant taste that children take without coaxing or whimpering. They love it.

And you should be thankful that they do. For the nausea a child feels when forced to take a laxative she hates can completely upset her entire nervous system.

CASTORIA is sold at every drug store. It is a good precaution never to be without a bottle. Ask for the Family-Size. It gives you more for your money.

CANADA AND THE TRANS-ATLANTIC AIR ROUTES

London cables today speak of the confidence of British aviation authorities that a North-Atlantic air mail service will be running regularly next year and that it will be followed shortly after by a passenger service. Two big flying boats are now being completed at Rochester, and they will carry out a survey of the air route between Portsmouth and New York this coming July. The proposed starting-point is Langston Harbour, Portsmouth; the first landing point at Foynes, near Limerick in Ireland; the next landing point at Bottwood, Newfoundland, a 2000 mile jump; and the final stopping places a base near Montreal—presumably St. Hubert air port—and New York.

The Greenland route, it is understood, has been practically abandoned, and it is proposed to develop a southern route, via the Azores and Bermuda, as well as the route indicated above. In connection with the southern route, an air base is now under construction at Bermuda. The distance of the northern route will be 3600 miles, and the southern route about 4770.

It is to be presumed that the Canadian government will do all that lies in its power, consistent with our economic situation, to facilitate the development of this trans-Atlantic service. Undoubtedly we are in a key position. Only recently Air-Marshall Bishop, V.C., told the Empire club in Toronto that Canada is the natural half-way house in an air route from Europe to the Orient, and that if this Dominion neglected to provide proper facilities for an adequate air service across Canada, the traffic would inevitably go by default to the United States.

The necessity for national development of our air services and for co-ordination with railway and steamship services has been emphasized more than once. There is no question about Canada having a good supply of aviators who are second to none. The exploits of our commercial pilots, in the northern regions particularly, bear eloquent testimony to this week after week. It would be a fatal error to neglect aviation, both from the national and from the international viewpoint.

THE DOCTOR SAYS

LOGAN CLENDENING, M.D.

CHANGING HABITS IS NOT EASY

We advise people to change habits very lightly. "You ought to give up golf," "You ought to take more exercise," "You ought to walk an hour a day," "You ought to get to bed by 10 o'clock." Lightly, because we assume that if these things appear to be sensible, people will be able to do them. Often they are not able to do them at all, no matter how sensible they appear to be. In fact, sudden change of habit may do more harm than good, especially among the elderly and in dietary habits. Emphasis of this is found in a recent report of a group of people who had to change their habits on account of the fact that that one limb was amputated.

Study of the after effects of amputations of 196 cases showed that the handicap of a congenitally absent or defective limb is, in man, surprisingly easy to overcome. This is well known in institutions for the crippled. When a limb is lost by amputation in youth, the handicap usually is quickly overcome, and the effect on the nervous system of the injury is not often felt in youth. Amputation which takes place in elderly people, however, when the patient no longer possesses the agility of youth, shows quite different results. The psychic conditions are different, habits have been too long established, optimism is not easy to regain, and vital energy, together with a stern will to overcome the handicap, is no longer present.

DEPENDS UPON INDIVIDUAL

In middle-aged people the reaction depends upon individual idiosyncrasy. Sometimes the patient makes as good a recovery and learns to use the limb as well as a young person. Usually, however, they become chair invalids and grumble and decry their luck, gradually withdrawing into themselves.

Mental treatment on the part of the surgeon is thus as important as his surgical skill.

The New York Academy of Medicine recently had an evening's discussion devoted to old age — its symptoms and the treatment of its diseases. In my opinion, the wisest thing which was said there was by a widely known physician, who reminded his audience of the familiar therapeutic fact that changing the habits—dietary and otherwise—of old people is a dangerous procedure. "If an old person has acquired any bad habits, better let him keep them 'A little wine for the stomach's sake,'" he quoted from the Bible (Timothy 23) "is a valuable thing to keep up if it has been indulged in for some time."

"MAYO BROTHERS' FINDINGS"

The Editor, Nelson Daily News:

Sir—As promised in my former letter, I herewith proceed to give your readers the imaginary findings of Mayo Brothers, after an analytic examination of my national organic body; known as U.S.A. so as to be able to locate the cause and prescribe the remedy, that will cure this nation of its economic and criminal ailments,

THE FINDINGS

"We, your accepted authority on original laws and physical science, submit herewith our findings, after a thorough examination of your national organic body:

"We find that your body has some splendid equipped organs, that give credit to the designers and constructors. The head of this body possesses some fine mental qualities: But it's various brain-cells (cabinet) are constructed of some decaying old material, which must be replaced with younger, stronger and more up to date energy-qualities, in harmony with the latest scientific discovery in nature's laws.

"In probing for the life-giving organ (heart) in this body of yours, we were horrified to find that your national organic body has no life giving organ of its own, such as heart and circulating fluid. This organ of heart in your body is of foreign construction and its circulating fluid (medium of exchange) is borrowed. This subjects your whole body entirely to whims of those two foreign organs, (your circulating medium of exchange) which is defying all of our Creator's laws as laid down for healthy organic life.

"Our Creator's laws for organic life is first and foremost, that the body must have its own heart, around which the body is constructed; and this heart must have control of the life giving fluid—circulation (blood) so as to be able to distribute it to all parts of the body for the renewal of old worn-out cells, and the building up of new ones (industries and social services).

"Your national organic body, has three sources from which to draw unspent energy, namely: natural resources, mechanical resources and the resources of the unspent energy in all your subjects.

"Your foreign heart and its borrowed circulating medium, used by your national body, is provided for by the negative forces, that destroy, and not the positive forces that create; hence all your unavoidable ailments.

"You are using foreign accumulated spent energy to release your own domestic unspent energy, costing you three-quarters of the intrinsic exchange value reposed in your three sources of domestic unspent energy, namely: the natural resources, the mechanical resources and all of your subjects' unspent energy resources.

If a happy, healthy national organic body (which include all of the human beings within the border of your domain) you must equip your body with your own heart functioning organ, and you must provide facility to divert the intrinsic value of all the nation's unspent energy to flow through this heart organ, where it is filtered and purified, before it is sent out for circulation amongst your subjects.

"Such a heart functioning organ, that will filter and purify the circulating medium (exchange) for the whole of your organic body, has been published in the Nelson Daily News by the inventor O. J. Wigen, and if applied as directed will deliver your national organic body of 99 per cent of all its criminal ailments, and give such economic health and prosperity to your nation as never was known before.

"All of which are hereby respectfully submitted.

Mayo Brothers,
"Consulting physician for the U.S.A. organic body."

Intelligent readers—As you have read this imaginary report from Mayo Brothers, not all of you will approve it; especially those who believe that by outlawing our present monetary system, and adopting a nation's exchange system—based upon nation's unspent energy—their individual accumulated wealth or property will be destroyed or confiscated. Nothing can be further from the truth!

A nation's medium of exchange, based on nation's unspent energy, does not intend to destroy anything! On the other hand, such an exchange system takes hold of your accumulated wealth (stored energy value) prizes it, and preserves it for you, till you or your heirs want it for your own use, when you can convert it for use on a liquid assets account, regardless of the amount (from one cent to billions) and become available for exchange in any commodities within the borders of the nation.

But you cannot use your liquid assets in exploiting your fellow men, (accumulated energy value) nor will you be permitted to have free hand in using it for your own destruction. For you must observe that when you are an atom, a cell or even an organ in nation's organic body, you will not be permitted to destroy the efficiency of the organ, in the nation's organic body, of which you are a part.

You have no more right or reason to do so, than that if your right hand should take the notion of poking out your left eye, your whole body would revolt against the right hand, taking such a liberty.

Our present monetary system teaches that when you can establish laws permitting you to exploit your fellow men, you can do so without impunity.

An energy medium of exchange is so constructed, that you can not exploit your fellow men without the exchange itself exposing you. Your exchange medium becomes your guide, that prevents you from doing wrong, without a policeman watching over you, and this applies to the highest as well as the humblest unit in nation's organic body.

In my next letter on these subjects, I will give broad explanations of the workings of an energy medium of exchange, based upon nation's unspent energy.

Criticises Camp Toilet Articles

The Editor, Nelson Daily News:

Sir—Will you kindly publish the following letter:

It is not true, Mr. D.A., 95 per cent of men in camp buy their own toilet soap, razor blades, toothpaste, as the issue is not fit to use. You can ask any man in camps. Razor blades will cut your face when shaving. Toilet soap will make your face smart and itch.

Yes, it is true the truck drivers buy their soap, toothpaste and tobacco at camp canteen, same price as we pay, and they have had their share of clothes and boots. We would like to know where the canteen fund is going, or is it the same as the army canteen funds, just someone having a good time on it.

Camp Officials Gave Every Aid

The Editor, Nelson Daily News:

Sir—In Rendell's letter of April 9, he invites the opinion of others, seemingly in regard to the officials administering relief camps.

Not being an advocate of the relief camp system, but nevertheless having been aided by it during very trying times, I will not attempt to criticize it. I have been in and out of the camp mentioned by Rendell, and during my period there found that the men received every consideration and every aid that it was possible for the officials to grant, the foreman often denying himself that some man in the laboring rank might receive the benefit. All the men were encouraged to better their education by enrolling for courses which were provided without cost. Suitable men from the ranks were given every opportunity to train for staff positions to be filled as openings occurred. We were given every comfort and care that was within the power of the officials to give, and every opportunity to improve ourselves along the lines we might choose.

Does not Rendell's letter defeat itself when he criticizes a system the opportunities of which he has not even attempted to avail himself of, but rather would throw himself on the mercies of the already overburdened taxpayers who have made the said system possible?

I don't know where Rendell gets the idea that officials of relief camps look down on Chinamen, but I do know, and rightly so, that they look down upon an outsider who will come and eat the food off his fellow unfortunates' plates who are living on a rationed allowance.

If a Canadian goes for a trip to China everyone naturally looks like a foreigner, which causes one to wonder, because of some of his remarks, just what country Rendell came from.

"IN AND OUT".

ON WAR MONUMENTS

Carve me a stone, but not as such,
As bear the skillful carver's touch,
And pains offended eyes so much,
With deepest shame,
That brews the heartless warrior's clutch
At filthy Fame.

But build a shape of truer stone,
A wash-tub widow starved and lone,
And gild the scalding tear and groan
That rends her heart,
And speak it well. "She fights alone
War's cruelest part."

Now paint in truth, her life forlorn,
Bereft the mother's joy, to mourn
Her lover's child.
War's deepest sorrow to her borne
In tempest wild.

Now paint her wistful children's eye,
Who scan in tears, the pathway by,
Expectant, that they may decry
Their dad's return,
And in her heart, that cannot die,
The fires that burn.

I fear the lords and ladies grand
Would see small glory as they stand,
And view such stones about this land,
That speak too true,
And bring smug Pride to understand
What war will do.

But build ye now, a brazen beast,
A man of truth and worth the least,
Who slides on golden skids well greased,
To shrines of Fame,
And where Hell's vilest serpents feast,
Carve there his name.

THE LAND OF STORY BOOKS

At evening when the lamp is lit,
Around the fire my parents sit;
They sit at home and talk and sing,
And do not play at anything.

Now, with my little gun, I crawl
All in the dark along the wall,
And follow round the forest track
Away behind the sofa back.

There, in the night, where none can spy,
All in my hunter's camp I lie,
And play at books that I have read
Till it is time to go to bed.

These are the hills, these are the woods,
These are my starry solitudes;
And there the river by whose brink
The roaring lions come to drink.

I see the others far away
As if in firelit camp they lay,
And I, like to an Indian scout,
Around their party prowled about.

So, when my nurse comes in for me,
Home I return across the sea,
And go to bed with backward looks
At my dear land of Story-books.

—Robert Louis Stevenson.

ABSENCE

Absence, hear thou my protestation
Against thy strength,
Distance and length:
Do what thou canst for alteration,
Absence doth joint and Time doth settle.

Who loves a mistress of such quality,
His mind hath found
Affection's ground
Beyond time, place, and all mortality,
To hearts that cannot vary
Absence is prest, Time doth tarry.

My senses want their outward motion
Which now within
Reason doth win,
Redoubled by her secret notion:
Like rich men that take their pleasure
In hiding more than handling treasure.

By Absence this good means I gain,
That I can catch her
Where none can watch her,
In some close corner of my brain:
There I embrace and kiss her,
And so enjoy her and none miss her.

—John Donne.

CONTRACT BRIDGE

By E. V. SHEPARD
"Teacher of Teachers"

MASTERING BRIDGE (58)

Just what an opening bid of three should mean is still a controversial matter. In 1915 it meant an established minor suit of at least six cards, with a side A. That did not last long. In 1926 the opening three-bid meant: "Partner, I hold so powerful a trump suit that I do not care for trump length or strength from you. Probably I can go game, with slam prospects, provided you hold one or more As. Please bid in rotation each suit you hold headed by an A, commencing with the lowest ranking suit. Lacking an A, please bid 3 No Trumps, to keep bidding open. If you bid 3 No Trumps, I may show a second suit, to ask your choice between them, but otherwise I shall bid game or small slam in my original suit. Do not shift my call."

The great trouble with the above method was the rarity of hands worth such opening calls. I made use of the conventional call only for a few months, as I found partners using it on far too weak holdings.

In 1932 Philip Hal Sims made use of such an opening bid of three-odd, to show game in its maker's hands. Now a solid trump suit (or at least one needing no support from partner), and certain game in bidder's hand, with slam prospects if partner can show one or more Aces missing from declarer's hand, is very rare.

On an average, a five-card solid suit, with sufficient side strength to insure game, will appear once in 76,923 deals. Provided you have just seen such a hand, the probable time of its next appearance is 53,319 deals.

A hand worth only nine tricks, instead of being worth 10 tricks, will appear more than 15 times as often as one with spread game when five trumps are held. If six trumps are held the nine tricks total will appear 10 times as often as the 10 tricks. The chances in 100 times of such a hand are as follows: down one trick, 18; make four-odd, 41; make five-odd, 31; make small slam, 9; make grand slam, 1. With so many more chances to hold a hand worth one trick short of game, for years I have used the call when a full trick short of game, and it has given me most excellent results.

With only eight tricks in the hand the chances for game are reduced to only 54 in 100, with a bare three chances in 100 for a small slam and no chances in 100 for a grand slam. Unless at least two quick side tricks are held, in addition to any quick tricks held in a suit of more than five cards, an eight-trick hand is much better adapted to an opening game bid, than to be untilized for an opening bid of three.

Except possibly in spades, an opening bid of three-odd has so little pre-emptive value in shutting out adverse calls, I consider it worthless. Unless willing to bid at least four, do not bid more than one on such a holding. Any hand not offering good slam hopes, if two tricks short of game in cards held, had better be bid game than three-odd. That three-odd should be reserved for hands worth within a trick of game.

REGULARITY IMPORTANT FOR INFANT

The new-born baby normally sleeps all the time while not being fed or bathed. Gently tucked into his crib, he goes immediately to sleep. If he does not do so for the next several weeks or months he has been spoiled, or has physical discomfort from improper diet or maladjusted clothing.

After a few months this child may remain awake, especially by day, put into his crib, or awaken slightly earlier after a day nap. He may lie there happy, looking at anything within his narrow range of vision, especially his moving hands, or amuse himself at inventing sounds. The mother is tempted then to go to him, to talk to him, and to enjoy his responses to her. As a rule, however, it were better for him to have he find such enjoyment only while he is up, being changed, bathed or relaxing before a meal.

Just before the bath is a good time for the infant to have several minutes of play and freedom, squirming, kicking, stretching on a blanket on a large table, entirely nude. Also, that is a good time for other members of the family to enjoy him.

He is better off not to be held, except when necessary to his care. Yet dad needs to have some pleasure with the baby to keep alive his interest in the child, and may find the best time to hold him for a short period before the baby's evening meal—never after feeding. There is temptation to rock or teeter the baby then, interfering with digestion and so exciting him as to make him sleepless.

REGULARITY MOST IMPORTANT

Nothing so important as strict regularity in feeding and bathing of the baby, since they help in regularity of sleep habits.

Let the infant sleep in a well ventilated room, with air circulating, but draughts prevented by cloth screens, temperature not over 60 degrees; and don't cover the child too warmly. The bed clothing should however be warm enough, but without much weight, placed loosely over the child, pinned on each side with large safety pins, but pinned low so as to be safe. A hard mattress should be chosen and a rubber sheet over it. No bolster, and only a low, thin pillow.

Choose a crib with bars too close for the baby later to put his head through. After the age of two or three the child should have a low cot he can climb into and out of alone. If possible, he should have his own sleeping room; certainly his own bed.

No good reason why the family should tip-toe about or avoid the usual noises. To regular noises the baby soon becomes accustomed.

Always I am glad to hear from my readers about any child problem, family problem, or other human problems, indeed, sent me in care of the Nelson Daily News. Please enclose a self-addressed envelope, and I shall answer personally as soon as I am able to do so.

The Stamp Album takes one to the far corners of the earth and on a mythical stamp journey around the world, one stop is that colorful land on the Mediterranean sea—Tunisia. Originally it was a part of the ancient Cathaginian dominion and then of the Roman province of Africa. In the seventh century it was captured by the Arabs and in 1575 came under Turkish rule. The French invaded it in 1881 and ever since the government has been administered by a native bey who rules under French protection. A visitor at Tunis is impressed by many public markets where one may buy most anything that is a product of the arts and crafts. A 1926 stamp of Tunisia shows an Arab woman carrying water.

Illustrated is a stamp of Tunis, another spot on the American continent recently in the news.

For porch, trellis or arbor. Has a small purple flower and blooms from June to November.

The beauty of the vine is that no bugs, grubs or insects will stay on it. Another good feature of the vine is, it does not spread from the root, does all its spreading from the top.

When the ground freezes hard in November the leaves and the bloom go off. In the Spring it leaves out again and blooms in June.

STAMP CORNER

By JAMES MONTAGNES

Above are shown some of the new pictorials from the West Indies Island of St. Lucia. These are probably the last postal issue to appear with the head of King George, having been issued since the death of the monarch.—Stamps courtesy John H. Lowe, Toronto.

Ten million dollars worth of stamps are going to be on display from May 9 till the 17th in the Grand Central palace in New York. Three thousand glass frames, each containing 20 albums will house the most valuable collection of stamps ever assembled under one roof when an international stamp exhibition is held for the third time in New York. In 1913 and 1926 international exhibitions were held in the second most important stamp center of the world, New York city.

Stamp collectors, dealers and postal officials from all parts of the world have announced their intention to be present. One Canadian, Senator J. A. Calder of Regina, will be among the judges, and another, Douglas S. Cole, Canadian government trade commissioner at New York, is on the committee of honor. Accommodations are being arranged for 200,000 visitors from outside New York. Dealers have bid up to $500 for the 114 booths at the exhibition. The United States government's philatelic agency will have 12 wickets open for the sale of unused stamps, and the British post-office will show in a color film the entire story of the making of the jubilee stamps from artist drawing to the sale in a post-office.

Saturday, May 9, is opening day. Monday is foreign visitors' day, while Tuesday goes as exhibitors' day when all exhibitors, the world's leading stamp collectors, will get together. Wednesday is set aside for the dealers, as dealers' day. Thursday is devoted to the air as airmail day, when famous airmail pilots will be entertained, and it is expected to Hugo Eckener speak after bringing the new Von Hindenburg airship on its maiden voyage to New York. Friday is philatelic organization day, when the clubs throughout the world will tell collectors how clubs are run everywhere. Saturday the boys and girls, the great army of collectors, are honored with national youth day, and every schoolboy and schoolgirl anywhere near New York will be on hand.

This third international philatelic exhibition (Tipex for short) is the biggest stamp exhibition ever held. The rarest stamps as well as the best collections will be on view. Gold, silver and bronze cups will be awarded the best displays. Because stamp collecting is now enjoying the biggest boom in its history, Tipex is expected to draw the biggest crowds in stamp annals, and certainly has obtained the best collections for display.

New issues — Great Britain has come out with three more values of the photogravure set of King George, the 5d brown, 10d Prussian blue and 1s bristre. These will probably complete the set, now that new Edwardian stamps are in the making. Holland and its colonies, Curacao and Suriname, are coming out with entire new sets. Suriname stamps will have a ship on lower values, and Queen Wilhelmine in profile with mourning veil on higher values. France has issued a 75c sepia stamp in memory of Andre Marie Ampere, physics professor, after whom the electrical measurement, ampere has been named. Ecuador honors Darwin's theory of evolution with a six-value issue featuring the Galapagos Islands where Darwin evolved his theory of man's evolution from monkeys. Austria made a mistake. Her announced ski issue brought orders for 400,000 sets. Only 70,000 were printed. Dealers obtained one set for every five ordered, and had to pay an unexpected premium above face value in addition.

OUR COMMONWEALTH OF NATIONS

"I have just made a tour of our great empire, and no one who has not done this can realize the surprising extent and power of the great commonwealth of nations to which you and I belong."—Lord Baden-Powell, opening a South African Scout jamboree at East London in January.

NINE KILLED BY CROAT MOB; SIX DIE IN CASTLE

Serb Reprisals Feared as Croat Passions Mount Higher

IS OUTGROWTH OF APRIL 10 DEATHS

Man, Wife, 17-Year Old Daughter Slain, House Burned

BELGRADE, Yugoslavia, April 17 (AP)—Croats feared Serb reprisals tonight after the slaying of nine persons by Croat peasants at Kerestinets, near Zagreb.

Some observers believed the violence might hasten a settlement of the long standing Croat problem. There were apprehensions that Dr. Vladko Machek, Croat peasant leader, would be unable to curb Croat passions.

The latest slayings were the outgrowth of the assassinations of a deputy and other killings April 10.

A group of peasants returning from mass for one of these victims learned seven alleged chetniks (provocators) were in the castle of Anton Meihaulovich, former governor of the province.

They demanded the former governor give the men up. After hours of negotiations the peasant group, swelled to several hundreds, broke into the castle and found the men. Six of them were killed and their bodies thrown from windows. The seventh was hurt seriously.

On its way home the mob passed the home of a former chetnik. Mob leaders asserted he fired into the crowd. Thereupon he, his wife and their 17-year-old daughter were killed and the house was burned.

Several peasants who were wounded by gunfire were taken to a hospital here.

Edmonton-Leduc Road Flooded

EDMONTON, (CP)—Passengers travelling by bus toward Edmonton were stranded at Leduc, 25 miles south of here, as a result of flooding of 500 yards of the Calgary highway between Leduc and Edmonton. That section of the road is under four and five feet of water.

Trains on the rail line adjacent to the road have not been stopped but are under slow orders.

Townsend Factions Finally Agree

LOS ANGELES (AP).—Leaders of warring factions of the Townsend old age pension movement who have been attacking each other daily have announced an armistice.

"We have reached an amicable adjustment of all differences," said Frank Arbuckle, western regional director, and George Highley, "bolting" president of Los Angeles club No. 93.

"No Moss-Back"

As is customary when a celebrated writer reaches his seventieth milestone, George Ade is given the joy of retrospect and of giving his formula for life. The well-known humorist is shown in front of his Miami Beach home. He said he had accomplished the three things he wanted most to do—become a newspaper man; travel, and write a play that would run on Broadway for more than a year. The man who has made the world laugh for almost half a century credits his small-town background for his never-failing joy in life. Of the future he said: I'm not going to let myself become a moss-back."

NELSON SCHOOL BOARD BRIEFS

The purchase of brass plates to be placed on iron scroll gates constructed by the practical arts class at the junior high school, was approved by the Nelson school board in session Friday night. The plates will designate the builders of the gates.

PASS SALARIES, ACCOUNTS

Salaries amounting to $6527.70 and $825.05 and accounts amounting to $1600 were submitted by the finance committee and approved by the board.

HUME IMPROVEMENT

Trustee R. B. Morris reported that with the removal of a cloak room, a class room had been enlarged to provide an attractive assembly hall at the Hume school. Material from the cloakroom was used to build a small stage.

BRITISH INSURANCE

Following a report from a firm handling the board's insurance, to the effect that only $105,000 of the $335,000 on school property was placed with American companies, the board members asked that the firm gradually retire all American insurance in favor of British and Canadian policies.

NOT RESPONSIBLE

The board was advised by its solicitors that the board was not responsible for an accident at Hume school several weeks past when Murwen Crosbie sustained a broken leg. The boy's leg was stepped on by another lad while they were wrestling.

GROUND ALLOTMENT

After considerable discussion as to what action should be taken in regards the allotment of the junior high school grounds to softball teams, A. T. Horswill was named to interview the civic centre commission to see how the commission wished the board to act. The discussion followed a letter from Gilbert Rowling, secretary of the men's softball association, and manager of the girls' softball clubs asking for playing space. The board was in favor of allowing the use of the grounds if the commission so wished.

TO TRY SOAP

The board was in favor of purchasing a small quantity of a certain brand of liquid soap for trial use. They believe it may prove more economical than that which is used at present.

CALL FOR TENDERS

The O.K. was given a request to submit tenders for school supplies.

Depression Over Says Expert

COLUMBUS, O. (AP). — Dr. Charles C. Morris, who thundered "No," for the last five years whenever other economists saw prospects of immediate economic recovery, asserted that "the depression is definitely over."

Director of the American Bureau of Business Research, an organization claiming to have predicted the 1929 crash a year before it occurred, Dr. Morris said in an interview he expected the United States volume of trade this year to exceed that of 1935 by at least 5 per cent.

BIKE RACE NEAR AN ENDING

MONTREAL, April 18 (Saturday) (CP)—It was still "anybody's race" early today as Montreal's 14th six-day bicycle grind swung into the home stretch with all 12 combinations that started the ride last Sunday night still in a position to swing out in front.

Two laps separates the French-Canadian duo of Henri LePage and Jules Audy from their nearest rivals at midnight when the leaders had put 2172 miles and two laps behind them. Four teams were fighting it out for second place two laps to the rear with the powerful German pair of Gustav Kilian and Heinz Vopel holding the runner-up position with 2750 sprint points.

Charlie Winter, Newark, and Torchy Peden, Victoria, with 1750 points, held third position. Two other teams were tied with them in mileage. The race ends at midnight today.

TURKISH ACTION UPSETS EUROPE

LEAGUE DISAPPOINTED

GENEVA (AP).—Turkey's remilitarization of the demilitarized Dardanelles zone is viewed in League of Nations circles as particularly unfortunate, coming at the moment when the Turks were being praised for refraining from unilateral denunciation of treaties.

It had been expected the Turkish request for revision of the Lausanne treaty regarding the Dardanelles would be considered early next month, and favorable action towards Turkey had been generally predicted.

BULGARIA MAY FOLLOW

ATHENS (CP-Havas)—Fears that Bulgaria will follow the example of other war-time central powers and demand release from the post-war treaty of Neuilly were expressed here.

With Turkey back in the Dardanelles zone, Bulgaria's sole direct outlet to the Mediterranean is endangered, it was pointed out here. Observers here believed that Bulgaria, as a result, will demand return of territory in Salonika which was ceded to Greece by the treaty of Neuilly.

BRITAIN SURPRISED

LONDON (AP)—Press dispatches reporting Turkish troops had reoccupied the Dardanelles caused surprise in British government quarters, which were without official confirmation.

Officials were surprised because Turkey recently took up the question legally through notes to powers signatory to the Lausanne treaty. The British reply was favorable.

MORE ABOUT FIRE

Ronald Sommers who was passing in his automobile, some time after Joe Pasacreta mistook the fire for a bonfire in the alley at the rear. According to Pasacreta when he first saw the fire it was at the rear of the western corner and later when he saw it it had spread along the back of the two Associated warehouses to the rear of the offices, apparently eased that way by a light breeze which was blowing at the time and during the fire.

The motor operating the pre-cooling plant is situated in the western corner of the building where the fire appeared to have originated.

The terrific heat generated by the raging inferno ignited five houses surrounding the main fire and they were all damaged, one of them almost beyond possible repair, and household effects were scattered over a wide area.

The C.P.R. section house of William Melneczuk was badly gutted in the back portion across the alley from the Associated sheds as it repeatedly caught fire. The C.P.R. line was alternately directed on the premises and that of the adjoining section house of Frank Arcure, separated by a short garden. Time and time again the firemen were forced to switch from one building to another as the shingles and back portion caught.

To one side the stucco home of Peter Defoe, which is a few feet east of the Associated sheds was badly damaged as the roof repeatedly caught alight.

Across the highway and facing the main fire a pitiful scene was enacted. While firemen were putting up a strenuous effort to stay the flames' progress to the oil houses, young boys poured buckets of water and threw mud over a small shack premises of Mrs. William Bialkowsky.

Several times the roof caught. Mrs. Bialkowsky, in bare feet and lightly clad, was in a state of exhaustion before the onlookers came to her rescue and removed the final piece of her meagre furniture.

WORKS ALONG BACK

Aparently starting in the western building, the fire progressed along the back to the eastern building, or the building comprising the packing shed and the offices and there burst forth. After the packing shed and offices were about demolished the larger building housing the pre-cooling plant burst into a raging inferno.

Several times an employee of the Union Oil company was forced from the roof of the oil company's warehouse adjoining the big Associated, shed and had to leave his perch for good when the large wall collapsed.

For a time it appeared as if the firemen would be unable to prevent the fire from demolishing the Union oil warehouse, where oil and grease was stored. Twenty or 30 feet to the west of this structure was the company's gasoline storage tank, and adjoining the Union Oil company's premises was the Kerrigan warehouse and tanks.

Garden hoses were used to effect by several surrounding householders as the fruit warehouse belched flames and sparks over a wide area, and the heat started shingles smoking on a number of nearby houses.

HOT ASSIGNMENT

It was a hot assignment for the members of the Nelson fire department and when the second line of hose was thrown down the highway, and the fighters had to force their way along the road to the front of the building, they had to turn the hose in the air to catch the downpour and keep themselves cool under a self-made rain.

Power wires and telephone poles were also damaged and falling wires created a hazard. Nelson city electrical department linesmen had to climb poles and throw switches in front of the building and cut several lengths of wire.

COTTERELL SEES BLAZE

C. A. Cotterell, assistant general manager of western lines, C. P. R., and Frank Lee, British Columbia district engineer for the Canadian Pacific, who arrived by special car from the west, witnessed the blaze.

TRAIL CRICKETERS ELECT E. RANDALL

TRAIL, B.C., April 17.—At annual meeting of the Trail-Tadanac Cricket club officers were elected as follows: E. G. Randall, president; Jack Kitchin, vice-president; T. Martin, captain; W. Taylor, vice-captain; Ernie Louther, secretary. T. Easom, R. Stiles, Gilbert Page and George Eakon were named as a committee.

Flashes From the Wires

MAHAN SEEN?

WARREN, Pa., (AP). — Police Chief George Haehn said a man answering the description of William Mahan, sought for the kidnapping of George Weyerhaeuser in Tacoma, purchased hair dye of the type known to be used by Mahan in a Warren drug store.

Haehn said a drug clerk told him the customer resembled a photograph of Mahan on circulars distributed by the department of justice.

ACTION DEFERRED

PETERSBOROUGH, Ont., (CP). —Action was deferred by the Ontario Registered Nurses association at its final session here on a resolution endorsing a Canadian college for nurses designed to permit Dominion-wide scope in nursing. The proposed college would be devoted to preparation for examinations recognized by all nine provinces and thus obviate taking examinations in all provinces should a nurse desire to move from one to another.

Stone Caesar

As mighty as the Caesar, as immobile as the Sphinx is this powerful head of Dictator Mussolini of Italy, shown after it had been carved from the living rock outside Adowa, Ethiopia. The majestic head is fifteen feet high, and was erected to mark the spot where Italy revenged its defeat of 1896, as one of its first triumphs in the conquering of Haili Sellasie's kingdom.

PRISONER HOLDS M.P. PRISONER

ATHENS, (CP-Havas)—A member of the Greek parliament was being held at revolver point in a prison cell Saturday morning by a long-term prisoner who threatened to kill the politician unless granted an immediate pardon.

Premier John Metaxas and the minister of justice were conferring with aides of King George to formulate some method of freeing the politician, M. Eutaxias, unharmed.

Eutaxias was lured into the cell by the prisoner, named Marinos, while he was inspecting Athens prison Friday morning. He was held at gun point all day and throughout the night, and this morning was believed near collapse.

Marinos is serving a life term for murder. Guards were unable to explain how he had obtained the gun.

The prisoner was refusing all food and drink, fearing he might be administered drugs.

School Grounds Under Repair

Board Asks Protection of New Shrubs by Principals

Beautification of the Nelson school grounds was again the topic for discussion at a meeting of the school board Friday night when members were advised of the program now under way. Shrubbery has been planted around all schools, including ivy for the walls, and plans to protect them with guards were authorized.

School principals will be asked to see that the plants are not to be disturbed and to educate the children to take a pride in the grounds.

Central school grounds were again discussed. The board has been advised that the entire grounds can be macadamized for a nominal sum. One member thought that a curbing around the south side of the street to divert the spring runoff from Stanley and Mill streets would solve the question. Terracing of the north side of the grounds and planting the terraces with roses was another suggestion.

FLOODS SPREAD

WINNIPEG, April 17 (CP). — Flood waters of the Assiniboine river backed up from ice barriers at Portage la Prairie tonight to inundate additional acres of low-lying farm lands 50 miles west of here. Fears were felt for two families marooned in the path of the wide overflow.

Less apprehension was felt at Brandon and Sifton where high water levels that threatened damage of serious proportions yesterday were subsiding. Peak of the surplus run-off from mountain creeks also was reported passed at Edmonton but north of the Alberta capital culverts and a railway right-of-way were washed out.

CLAIM MOTIONS ARE FILED

BOISE (AP).—Six litigants—one of them the largest silver producing mine in the world—have filed motions in federal court to be dismissed from further participation in a suit to quit title several mining claims in north Idaho.

The most conspicuous of the six was the Sunshine Mining company, one of the richest producers of the Coeur d'Alenes.

The action involved a legal controversy started by the Sunshine Extension Mines company last December 3. The company seeks to determine the rights to mining claims in the Yreka district of Shoshone county.

S. Stewart Heads Trail Ratepayers

Larger Street Lamps to Be Used

TRAIL, B.C., April 16.—Officers of the Trail Rate Payers association were reelected at the annual meeting in the city hall Friday night as follows: Sam Stewart, president; C. H. Jeffares, vice-president; F. Sindel, secretary-treasurer; O. P. Westhaver, William Thompson, Guy Sanborn, J. A. Wadsworth, R. Woods, and G. Pisapio, executive members and L. Maddison, auditor.

Reporting on the association's activities for the past year Mr. Stewart thought they had done well although a great deal of action had not been accomplished. He discussed the garbage tax and dog nuisance on which the 1936 council had acted favorably, and also the revision of water rates which he believed was still under consideration.

He referred to the "get-together" called by Mayor Bruno Lerose at the beginning of the year, and believed it to be the first time the rate payers had been recognized to the extent that they were one of the bodies represented there. He noted improvement in the bus parking situation on Bay avenue, which matter had been acted on by the council on the recommendation of the association.

The meeting at East Trail school, held recently, to discuss the proposed inclusion of the outlying district, and also the visit to Annable another district under consideration for inclusion in the city limits, were reviewed.

He expressed appreciation of the association to the city council in cancelling a trade licence to a company of from 40 to 50 Doukhobors who had been peddling produce in the city. He felt the 1936 council had given the ratepayers every consideration within their power.

INCREASE LAMP POWER

Mayor Bruno Lerose told the meeting of the arrangements completed with the C. M. & S. company to have water from the plant turned into the city's mains at a price of one cent a ton. He also told of a consideration of the West Kootenay Power & Light company in allowing the city to replace the 400 watt lamps of the light standards for lamps of 600 watt power at no increased rate. The city was also given permission to replace the smaller 100 watt street lamps for 150 watt lamps at no extra cost, and promised to install 50 new lights this year free of charge. The mayor stated that change would be made gradual as replacements were necessary.

Speaking on extension of the city limits, his worship felt that the city had to look to the future and considered the present the proper time to commence expansion. He considered the boundary extension a benefit to the city as a whole.

Asked by O. P. Westhaver if a bylaw would be necessary for sewer and water installations the mayor replied that he had promised not to introduce money bylaws unless for something that at the present was unforeseen.

The association endorsed the action of the city council regarding proposed East Trail inclusion and pledged themselves to support the bylaw when submitted to the polls.

When asked if the sanitary regulations would be enforced immediately the inclusion was passed, the mayor stated enforcement would be made gradually. Asked by J. A. Wadsworth if inclusion of Annable was under consideration his worship stated that the matter was being discussed daily but there was nothing he could advance for the present.

A vote of confidence in the council regarding the Annable question was passed. Secretary Sindell presented some discussion on numbering of the city's houses, contending it was a disgrace for any city of 10,000 population not to have them.

MILLION ASKED FOR LOUIS BOUT

San Diego Wants the Fight and Jacobs the Million

By EDDIE BRIETZ
Associated Press Sports Writer

NEW YORK (AP)—When Mike Jacobs left his West Forty-ninth street office he was not whistling "California here I come, with the Joe Louis-Max Schmeling fight in my pocket."

A bid for the heavyweight bout, on behalf of the San Diego international exposition, caused some eyebrow lifting along "cauliflower row," reminiscent of Tex Rickard's boom days. Despite a fanciful flock of details, including ringside seats at $250 each, nothing developed to alter the plans of Jacobs to hold the fight in the Yankee stadium, probably June 17.

Mike Marco, theatrical man representing the exposition, asked Jacobs to name his price.

"For one million dollars net, on the line, I'll consider letting you have it," Mike replied. "And I'll go west and promote it."

While the westerners rushed out for a breathing spell, Mike went back to studying blue prints of stadium seating arrangements.

Two hours later Marco called to say Wayne Daillard, general manager of the exposition, had approved the deal by telephone and was seeking the endorsement of Frank Belcher, president.

The exposition people wanted two weeks to raise the million. Mike insisted all the money must be in the bank before the papers were signed. Furthermore, he wanted it turned over to him with the signing of the contract.

The westerners balked at this. They wanted to put up $500,000 within a week later. Furthermore they don't want to release a dime until the show has been staged.

"I'm not interested in that sort of proposition," responded Jacobs. "I'm not trying to sell the fight. When they have a million dollars in the bank they can come around and see me."

REPORTER JAILED

MILWAUKEE, (AP)—Five persons were arrested as police broke up a demonstration of striking newspaper guild members and sympathizers in front of the Wisconsin news building. Police estimated the crowd to number 300 persons.

One of those arrested was Gunnar Mickelsen, 35, vice-president of the Milwaukee chapter of the American Newspaper guild and a reporter for the Milwaukee journal. The others were sympathizers.

Captain John Polcyn said he ordered Michelsen arrested when he said he considered Michelsen's remarks over a loud speaker system as likely to incite a riot.

ACES WIN HOOP TITLE AT NATAL

NATAL, B.C.—The third and final game between the Spades and the School Aces for the Natal-Michel intermediate basketball championship was played recently before a fair crowd, resulting in a well-earned 23-19 win for Aces, who won their first intermediate title. This was the third successive year that the Spades walked through the intermediate league, but they lost out in the finals. The Michel Scouts were the victors over the Spades last year. Up to the third and final game both teams had won one game each.

In the senior playdowns the Eagles disposed of the Dynamiters, two straight, to enter the finals against the league leading Tigers. The first game was forfeited to the Eagles due to the shortage of players. It is expected that a sudden death game will be played in the near future to decide a senior winner. The cups will be presented in the near future at a banquet or dance.

China's great wall was begun by Chin Shish about 220 B.C., and is constructed of brick and stone. Ten years were required to build it.

BREAKING NEW GROUND

MELBOURNE (CP)—For the first time in its travels M.C.C. will play at Canberra, the Australian federal capital, during the forthcoming tour in quest of the ashes. This game will be against a New South Wales eleven. Melbourne will have two test games, Sydney, Brisbane and Adelaide one each.

MELBOURNE, (CP)— F. J. Paull, member of the Hampshire County Cricket club, on a visit here, said there was a definite lack of promising material in English cricket. "I cannot think of one outstanding young player who may prove worthy of selection for the English side to meet Australia in the next Test series," he said.

WHITE SOX TRIM TIGERS BY 5-3

DETROIT, April 17 (AP)—The Chicago White Sox cast gloom over an opening day crowd of 32,000 chilled fans today by defeating the Tigers 5 to 3, behind the seven-hit pitching of Johnny Whitehead.

The Sox, who beat the Tigers in the opening game last spring and started them on a skid to the bottom of the standings, chased Elden Auker to the showers during a three-run rally in the seventh inning today.

That attack erased a lead the Tigers had collected due, in part, to a first inning triple by Hank Greenberg with a man on base. Manager Cochrane was out of the game with a sore thumb, injured by a foul tip Wednesday.

The game was played in 40-degree weather, and a high wind that carried occasional snowflakes.

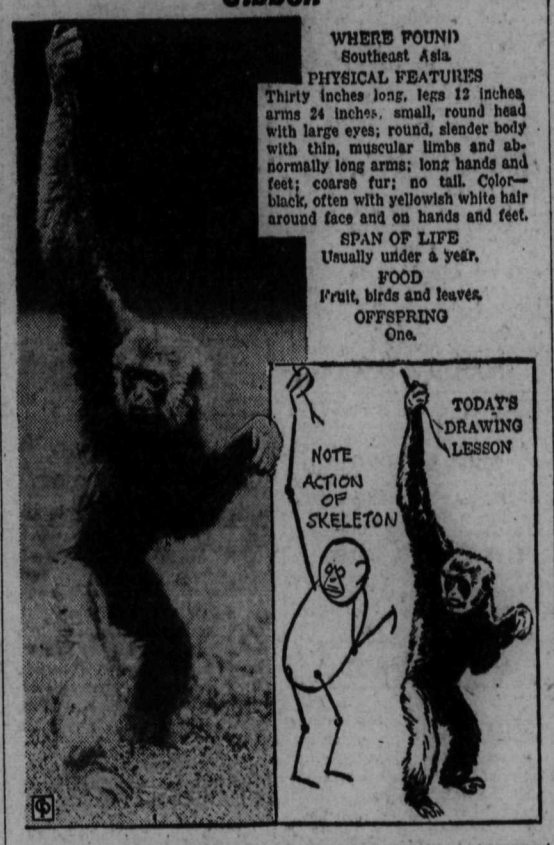
NATURE PRESENTS

Gibbon



Smallest of the man-like apes, the gibbon is the greatest gymnast in the world. A remarkable climber, he almost flies through the air from bough to bough, often leaping 30 feet, and is so quick that he can catch a bird on the wing. When he walks, he holds his arms above his head to balance himself. Unlike other monkeys, the gibbon grasps a rope with the two hands reversed and is therefore read to spring quickly in either direction. Affectionate and gentle creatures, they have powerful voices and a troop crying in concert can be heard a mile away with their deafening din.

About 20 for the Kentucky Derby

LOUISVILLE, Ky., April 17 — (CP)—About 20 thoroughbred owners will walk into the stewards' office at Churchill Downs two weeks from today and lay $400 apiece on the line for the right to start horses in the Kentucky derby May 2. They will be the elect of 102 who paid $25 each up to February 10 to make their horses eligible.

Scant hopes, courtesy to the track and the like impelled many of the nominators but those who hand over the $400 will mean strictly business. What inspired them is the gold cup and the $40,000 added.

THE CAMDEN RUBY MURDER

by ADAM BLISS

COPYRIGHT—REPRINTED BY CENTRAL PRESS ASSOCIATION

READ THIS FIRST

Dow Van Every, a collector of rare jewels, invites an acquaintance, Gary Maughan, and the latter's old friend, Margalo Younger, an actress, to his home to view the priceless Camden ruby. At Van Every's both Margalo, sitting before the fire, and Maughan are impressed with the size and brilliance of the rare stone. Van Every objects in vain when Margalo hangs the ruby from her neck, explaining it is called a "murder stone," and then proceeds to relate its gruesome history.

(Now Go on With the Story)

CHAPTER 4

"I have said that James, first owner of the Camden ruby, was a sick man when he returned from Jerusalem. He had gone to that far country, a young man, a man in his prime, and when he came back to his castle, after a few years, his hair was tinged with gray, and his eyes were those of an old man.

"He brooded over the death of Gwladys, his beloved. And a year later he died, not a violent death, but a peaceful one. His brother, John, a younger brother, no more than a boy when the call of the Crusades had gone out, became Lord of Camden.

"Now, John had heard tales of the great ruby. He had not himself seen it, because James had quickly taken it after Gwladys was found dead. But there were knights who had seen it glowing in Gwlady's hand, and had murmured about it. So John knew about it. He searched the castle for it day and night, thinking that his brother had hidden it some place. It was not in any of the strong boxes. For years he searched for it, while other men were starting out on a fresh Crusade to the east.

"He saw his young son, a mere baby, take a banner and leave on the Children's Crusade, without a murmur. John was married, and two sons had been born to him, one, who was never named, the boy who bravely set out with other children to show Jerusalem the light; another, Rolf, who figures later in this story. Rolf was the younger, not yet born, when James died.

"Years passed, and still the ruby was not found. At last an old man, John desecrated the graves of his brother James and Gwladys in his search. He found the ruby at last, in Gwladys' grave.

"John had a sweetheart—we don't know her name. It has been lost in the ages somewhere. But gleefully he brought the stone to her. It was more beautiful than ever, a blood-red gem. John's hair was white, his shoulders stooped and bent; she was young, handsome. She had heard tales of the ruby since she was a child in the castle of Camden. At last it was hers. It was she who had suggested as a last possibility that the graves of James and Gwladys might hold the jewel.

"She put it around her neck, saw the crimson shadow it cast on her white skin. She was content. John would have to search no longer.

"In the morning when her maids came in to awaken her, they found her quite dead, the ruby clutched in her fingers, much the way Gwladys had held it.

"Once more the castle was in mourning. John was prostrated. He began to believe the wicked stories of the murder stone. Gwladys had died. Now this woman whom he loved. He locked the stone up in his strong chest, and set a guard by it night and day. No one must handle to jewel.

"Soon John himself died and Rolf was master of the castle of Camden. Rolf, when he went through the strong chest, found a great deal of gold, an abundance of jewels. At the bottom wrapped in a bit of parchment inscribed with Latin was the ruby. Rolf could only write his name, so he summoned a scholar who could translate the letters which meant nothing to him. The scribe told him what they meant. John had not written them himself. One of the scholars in his castle had penned the note at John's dictation.

"I do not have the note, but this is the substance: John had willed the ruby to his son, Rolf, on condition that the stone was to remain in the coffer, and that no one, no one, mind you, was to wear it.

"Rolf was rather frightened. He had heard of Gwlady's death. He had been a man in the castle when his father's sweetheart died. He was married himself. He thought of selling the stone. Indeed, he brought it out several times when strangers were in the castle, men of much gold, and offered it to them for a price. None of them would buy. The ruby was too dangerous. So after a while Rolf let it lie.

"His wife, the wife of his middle age, for Rolf was getting on in years when John died, was warned not to go near the coffer. She heeded the warning, and had admonished her four daughters, for Rolf was not blessed with a son, to do the same.

"But Ellen, the youngest and fairest, a mere girl, had peeped through the great door into the hall once while Rolf was showing the stone to a rich stranger and urging him to buy it. She saw its red beauty, and longed for it. To wear it only once!

"She waited her chance and in the night crept up to the coffer where the gem was hidden. One of the knights, prowling about the castle, saw her steal in her dark clothes through the hall, and follow her. He did not recognize her as Ellen, so when he came on her tampering with the lock of the big chest, he drew out his dagger and killed her. Ellen, too, died for the ruby.

"Misfortunes followed the Lord of Camden. Four girls and no heir. Ellen killed. Rolf went on a long journey to another land to try to sell the stone. He was gone for a few years. When he came back, he did not have the ruby, and we imagine he was jubilant. Where he had sold it we did not know. I wish we did. Anyway, the stone was gone. He must have sold it, because Rolf was a cold bargainer; he would not give the stone away.

"His return to the castle was a sad one. Nothing remained of his lands, his home, but ruins. Marauders had come in his absence and taken away his women, burned his fields and castle."

Van Every paused, and sipped once more from his glass. I glanced nervously at Margalo. How was she taking this? She was wearing the fatal Camden ruby. Her hands were quite still in her lap, and she was staring into the fireplace, her eyes expresionless, her features rather pale. I was furious with myself because I hadn't been firmer about her wearing the ruby. Of course the tale was bound to frighten her. Yet she wasn't superstitious, I knew that. Tomorrow she would laugh about the story, and go back to Van Every to see the jewel again.

The room was very silent. A clock was ticking softly some place. I hadn't noticed it before, so interested had I been in the story Van Every was telling. The traffic from the street did not reach up into the library. It was late, I thought, and there would be few cars on the streets.

The clock seemed very near me. I was rather astonished when I realized it was my own watch ticking in my pocket.

Margalo hadn't touched her cognac. The glass was still filled to the brim on the small table before her. Mine, empty, was beside hers.

On the couch at the side were the ashes of a cigaret she had been smoking, resting round and perfect, in a tray on the cushions. She had taken a few puffs and then put it down long before. It was quite burned out now. She must have been intensely interested in what Van Every was saying. But then, Margalo had a sense of the dramatic I have never seen in anyone before. What Van Every had said was probably alive, to her, real.

"I don't know whether I ought to go on," Van Every broke the stillness apologetically. I'm afraid you are bored."

Again I glanced at Margalo. She said nothing.

"Miss Younger, do you wish to hear more?" He addressed her quickly.

"Go on, Van Every," I insisted. "You can't stop there."

So he took up the thread of his romance. "Where was I? Oh, yes, Rolf had come back to his castle. We will leave him there. For he does not figure in the story again.

"For years nothing was heard of the great ruby. Oh, now and then someone spoke of it, I suppose, and wondered where it was. Wondered whether the tales about it were true, enlarged on those tales, probably. It was easy to embellish them. Some thought the ruby was a myth. That there was no Camden ruby. That it was like the magic sword of King Arthur, like the Grail. Just a legend.

"But still there were the children of the children of those who had seen the stone, seen the hole pierced in it, seen the golden chain, seen the gorgeous beauty of it."

Montreal Loses

MONTREAL, April 17 (CP) — Price fluctuations of as much as 15 points were posted in an irregularly lower session of Montreal stock exchange today. Dwindling demand, accompanied by some light profit-taking, brought lower prices for metals, liquors and textiles. Papers and constructions were mixed while utilities firmed.

The power group stood out as the only firm section with International Power preferred up a point. Canadian Hydro-Electric preferred, however, lost a point.

Smelters showed a loss of 5 points at 275. Nickel finished unchanged at 49.

Papers were dull in draggy trading and fractionally lower prices ruled for St. Lawrence corporation preferred, Dryden and Bathurst. Howard Smith firmed a small fraction.

BUSINESS IMPROVES

WINNIPEG, April 17 (CP)—General business betterment again was reported today by the Canadian Men's Trust association in its weekly review of the Dominion trade.

Indicative of the current upswing from the depression, the association said the outlook in the building trades was better than for some time. In the luxury class, jewellery sales are improving.

GOLDS LOWER

TORONTO, April 17 (CP)—Another slip back for the golds and a narrow advance for miscellaneous issues marked the trade on the Toronto mining section today. Volume was off about 100,000 shares from that of the previous session.

Paymaster created quite a stir with a rise of seven cents and a turnover of 136,000 shares. Moderate selling resulted in losses of 3 to 5 cents for Central Patricia and Macassa. Pickle Crow, eased down 10 cents, and Pamour registered the same decline.

A 7-cent dividend for San Antonio, announced today, failed to arouse interest in that isuse and it traded only 1000 shares, gaining 5 cents. McIntyre advanced ⅜ and Hollinger and Pioneer dropped ⅛ each.

CAR LOADINGS DOWN

OTTAWA, April 17 (CP) — Car loadings for the week ended April 11 amounted to 40,235, a decrease of 3321 compared with 43,556 the corresponding week in 1935, the Dominion bureau of statistics reported today.

WHOLESALE PRICES IN CANADA IN 1935

Wholesale price levels continued to make gradual gains during 1935. This advance has been due largely to the irregular rise in prices for primary products which influenced the general index more than minor declines among manufactured goods. The continued improvement in primary product price levels relative to those for manufactured goods has restored to a considerable extent price group relationships existing prior to the prolonged decline beginning in 1929. Farm products are still at a relative disadvantage, but the amount is smaller than it has been since the first half of 1930.

WINNIPEG SOARS

WINNIPEG, April 17 (CP) — Wheat prices shot upward on the Winnipeg grain exchange today as reports told of rapidly deteriorating grain crops in the United States southwestern winter wheat belt.

Also on the constructive side was a 1d advance at Liverpool, and Australia's small wheat exports this week, 1,935,000 bushels.

Trading in cash grains did not reflect the activity in the futures pit. Spreads closed only fractionally higher. Coarse grains prices, moved up sharply to higher levels in sympathy with wheat.

CHICAGO GAINS

CHICAGO, April 17 (AP)—Critical domestic crop prospects, together with reports of strained political conditions in Europe, hoisted wheat futures values today to nearly 10 cents over recent low levels.

Topmost prices since last February, about 3 cents up overnight, were reached for Chicago wheat futures, with broad speculative demand in evidence.

Despite exceptionally heavy selling to realize profits on advances, wheat closed firm, 1⅞ to 2⅝ cents higher, May 99⅞ to 1.00, July 91¾ to 91⅞, corn ⅝ to 1⅛ up, May 62 to 62⅛; oats ½ to ⅝ advanced, and provisions 2 cents to 15 cents down.

Industrials Heavy

TORONTO, April 17 (CP)—The closing tone was heavy on the Toronto industrial share market today. Walkers Common was offered down to 26¼ and the close at 26½ was 1½ off for the day.

A loss of .76 was registered by the exchange index.

Nickel sagged a half point and Consolidated Smelters dropped 3 points to 275. Ford A held to the up side and C P R weakened the minimum fraction.

Oils sold down fractionally, farm implements also registered fractional declines.

London Close

LONDON, April 17 (AP)—Closing: Brazilian Traction $12¼, CPR $12⅞, Nickel $49⅛, Brit Celanese 12s ½d, Courtaulds 49s 6d, Dunlop Rubber 39s, Rand Mines £8⅞, Crown Mines £14⅜, East Geduld £9⅝.

COST OF LIVING IN CANADA IN 1935

The Canadian cost of living index number continued to move gradually upward during 1935, advancing irregularly from 78.9 in December, 1934, to 80.8 in December, 1935. When it is recalled that the extreme low point of the recent decline was 76.6 for June of 1933, the moderate proportions of subsequent increases may be better appreciated. The rise in living costs in the past three years relative to improvement in primary product prices has been smaller than in many other countries. As might be expected, higher prices have been most noticeable among foods.

BONDS MIXED

NEW YORK, April 17 (AP)—An attitude of caution prevailed in the bond market today, resulting in most of the active issues varying only fractionally either way from levels of the preceding day.

New York Central 6s were a point lower at 113¼ and fractional declines were shown by Baltimore & Ohio 4½s and Utility Power & Light 5s.

BULLS APPEAR AT NEW YORK

NEW YORK, April 17 (AP)—Despite renewed demand for the oils and scattered specialties, bullish fires smoldered in today's stock market.

Backwardness of the rails, steels and motors tended to dissipate cheer engendered by numerous favorable first quarter earnings statements and other news from domestic economic fronts that was far from depressing.

The Associated Press average of 60 issues retreated .5 of a point to 63.4. Transfers totalled 1,292,430 shares, a lower aggregate than in yesterday's dull session when 1,314,210 shares were traded.
