Quintuplets Born in Northern Ontario

Above are pictures of the father and mother of the quintuplets whose recent birth amazed medical authorities. The five baby girls, born to Mrs. Ovila Dionne in a northern Ontario home near Corbeil, are still living, which is a record. Only 30 sets of quintuplets have been born in the last 300 years, according to medical history, and if they live they will have something to be proud of. The top picture shows the proud mother with her five babies, while below, Mr. Dionne tries the difficult feat of balancing the quintuplets on his knee.

Dionne Quintuplets Still Making Excellent Progress

Grand Forks Miss Wins Honors at a Toronto Graduation

TORONTO, June 4 (CP).—Graduation exercises at the Toronto Western hospital were held this afternoon with H. J. Cody, president of the University of Toronto, addressing the nurses.

Sally McCallum of Grand Forks, B.C., was awarded the second highest standing in practical work.

Marie Who Was Near Death Is Picking Up Wonderfully

CORBEIL, Ont., June 4 (CP)—From one-pound-ten-ounce Marie to Yvonne, who weights only two pounds 6¼ ounces but looks big beside her sister, the Dionne quintuplets are thriving.

The infants, born last Monday to Mr. and Mrs. Oliva Dionne in their farm home near here, were reported tonight as continuing to gain strength. When they were born it was considered very doubtful they would live more than a few hours.

Dr. A. R. Dafoe, their physician, weighed the babies today and found Marie the lightest and Yvonne the heaviest. In between were Emilie one pound 13 ounces, Cecile two pounds and Annette two pounds four ounces.

The physician said that Marie, who has seemed near death several times, was picking up well.

The babies now take two ounces of human milk between them every two hours.

Crops Drenched and Damage Done in Oregon

SAN FRANCISCO, June 4 (AP).—The heaviest rainfall recorded at this season for many years drenched northern California, Oregon, Washington and Idaho today.

The storm, sweeping in from the ocean, brought badly needed moisture to spring grain but caused damage to some fruit crops.

At Bend in central Oregon, the downpour measured 1.33 inches, the greatest ever recorded there in June. The hills were whitened by snow and great pools of water formed on the Deschutes plateau.

Minor property damage was caused in Bend by the heavy rain, which flooded the streets and stalled automobiles.

Although an inch of rain fell in the Pendleton area, wheat, already

MRS. DARLING NOT A VICTIM OF GAS

MONTREAL, June 4 (CP).—On June 1 the Canadian Press carried a news despatch from Montreal stating that Mrs. B. Darling had been accidentally overcome by gas in her apartment. This information, obtained through the usual channels and issued in good faith, was incorrect. Mrs. Darling is in the best of health and at no time suffered any such experience. The Canadian Press regrets the error and any inconveniences suffered by Mrs. Darling.

Mrs. Darling, whose maiden name was Dora Virtue, is one of Canada's best-known golfers. Last year she won the Quebec women's golf championship.

HOUSE TRIBUTES HIS MAJESTY

OTTAWA, June 4 (CP).—With a gracious tribute to His Majesty by Prime Minister R. B. Bennett, men and women in the galleries of the house of commons rose to their feet tonight as members stood in their places and led by Mr. Bennett joined in singing "God Save the King."

This was the 69th anniversary of the birth of His Majesty, stated the prime minister, as he moved for adjournment for the day somewhat early.

Slashes Coast Man With Razor

Cheek and Chin Cut in Fracas Between Jobless Man and Vancouverite

NEW WESTMINSTER, B. C., June 4 (CP)—Leo Anderson, 29, Vancouver, was in the hospital here today with slashes across the right cheek and under the chin while George Morton, 52, Kamloops, was also in the hospital and under arrest charged with unlawfully wounding Anderson. Morton was suffering from minor injuries.

Anderson told police he was approached Saturday night on the street by Morton, who asked for the price of a loaf of bread. When Anderson replied he had no money, Morton was alleged to have snatched a fountain pen from the Vancouver man's pocket and to have run away.

Caught by Anderson, Morton was alleged to have pulled a razor from a case suspended by a cord about his neck, and in the scuffle that ensued, to have wounded Anderson.

Morton was caught a few minutes later by two men who held him pending the arrival of police.

Oxford Groupers Leave for Banff

VANCOUVER, June 4—A special train of 11 cars carrying 175 members of Oxford Group international teams who have been active on the coast lately, left by Canadian Pacific railway tonight for Banff where the Groupers will open another of their current series of house parties at Banff Springs hotel.

Dynamite Blast Is Fatal for 7 People

EXPLORERS IN OIL FIELD ARE HURLED IN AIR

Bodies Mangled and Scattered Over an Area of 200 Yds.

ONLY TWO OF THE PARTY ESCAPE

Children Have Close Escape in Blast in Oklahoma Field

NORMAN, Okla., June 4 (AP)—Seven members of a seismograph oil exploration party well killed in an accident explosion of a roadside dynamite magazine eight miles southeast of here late today.

The victims were identified as Vernon H. Weddel, 26, Chandler, Okla., unmarried; Preston Barnes, Guthrie, Okla., married; Lloyd B. Flood, Norman, Okla, married; Don McDonald, San Antonio, Texas, unmarried; David McClellan, Santa Anna, Texas, married; Herman Voigt, Perry, Okla., unmarried; Joe Fanning, May, Texas, unmarried.

Weddel was a water carrier in the employ of the Sinclair Prairie Oil company. The others were employees of the Petty Geophysical Exploration company, working under contract for the Sinclair concern.

Subsurface geophysical exploration of oil territory by means of the seismograph and man-made miniature earthquakes is a relatively recent development in petroleum prospecting. Heavy blasts of explosive are detonated over the area to be surveyed, and delicate instruments record the sound wave echo vibrations from formations far under ground, giving accurate knowledge of structures at great depths.

W. C. Berry, a farmer living about a quarter mile from the scene, said he heard the explosion and saw part of the shower of debris fall.

HURLED INTO AIR

"I was standing in my yard," he said. "Suddenly I heard a terrible noise. I looked up and saw the air was cluttered with objects."

The men's bodies were mangled and scattered over an area 200 yards in diameter.

Two trucks were found at the scene of the explosion. One, used to transport the explosives, was blown to bits. The rear end of the other, a water truck, was badly damaged.

The blast inflicted severe damage on the farm home of T. A. Maloy, about 200 yards away.

Britain and U. S. Aim Bring Germany Into Parley

OUTBURST COMES FROM THE FRENCH

Question of Security Easier Settled if Germany Attends

By GEORGE HAMBLETON
Canadian Press Staff Writer

GENEVA, June 4 (CP cable)—The world disarmament conference today ran into new difficulties which a three-hour private discussion by the steering committee failed to solve. An already broad gulf between sections of the parley was widened by ascendency of the question of security.

The issue in today's talks turned ostensibly on new efforts to bring Germany back into the conference, but the real fight appeared to center around security, the question that thrust itself forward in last Friday's general commission debate.

On one side were Great Britain and

FIRE PERMITS ARE OBLIGATORY

VICTORIA, June 4 (CP)—Picnickers and campers entering British Columbia woods during the forest fire season are obliged to obtain camp fire permits before making fires in the woods, it was emphasized today in provincial circles. These permits may be obtained without charge from the forest branch, offices of the provincial police, and most sporting goods stores throughout the province.

Fire places must be cleared of all rubbish for three feet in all directions and must not be laid within 10 feet of a tree or log. Hot weather has promoted extremely dry conditions in the woods, making care with fire essential.

Sends Note to U.S.A. Saying Unable to Meet Instalment on War Debt at Middle June

Claim "Injustice" in Treaty Compared Other Nations

FULL PAYMENTS LEAD TO CHAOS

Move Will Result in U. S. Calling for Revision Talk

WASHINGTON, June 4 (AP).—Great Britain dispatched a note to the state department late today informing the United States it had been found necessary to defer making any payment on the total of $261,791,011.68 due on war debts instalment on June 15.

The British note was delivered to William Phillips, under secretary of state, by Philip Mainwaring Broadmead, first secretary of the British embassy, acting for Sir Ronald Lindsey, British ambassador.

Great Britain on June 5, 1933, made a token payment of $10,000,000, and on Dec. 15, 1933, made a token payment of $10,000,000, and on Dec. 15, 1933, remitted a token of $8,500,000. Failure to make an offer of even partial payments on this due date was attributed to the Johnson act, passed since the last payment, which specified that any nation, not making payment in full, would be considered as in default.

INJUSTICE OF AGREEMENT

Decision to defer making any payments until revision discussions had been undertaken, the note said, was based on the economic impossibility of making transfer on the scale demanded by the obligation, the impossibility of the British people continuing to make sacrifices to meet the payments and the "injustice" of the British agreement in com-

NOVA SCOTIA HAD QUINTUPLETS 50 YEARS AGO

CALGARY, June 4 (CP)—Proof that the quintuplets of Mrs. Oliva Dionne of Corbeil, Ontario, are not the first in Canada, is held by Mrs. H. C. Carvell, of Calgary. She has a faded picture of five children born to a new Glasgow, N. S., women about 50 years ago. Mrs. Carvell does not know the name of the quintuplets mother. She obtained the photograph from a member of her family years ago, Mrs. Carvell said today.

Press dispatches from New Glasgow last week told of old-timers remembering the quintuplets but none could give their name. The babies all died within 24-hours of birth.

U. S. A. TARIFF BILL PASSES

Gets Through Senate and Is Back for House Okay

WASHINGTON, June 4 (AP).—By a margin of 24 votes the United States senate late today passed the administration reciprocal tariff bill and returned it to the house of representatives where Democratic leaders hope for acceptance of senate changes to make a conference unnecessary.

The vote of 57 to 33 for the measure removed one of the last big obstacles to adjournment of congress. It ended 2½ weeks of debate and permitted immediate consideration of the house-approved silver purchase bill.

The tariff measure emerged unchanged from a barrage of opposition amendments and only five Democrats left the reservation on the final roll call. An equal number of Republicans voted the bill.

The legislation empowers the President to make tariff bargaining agreements with foreign powers without submitting them to the senate for approval.

AGED PROSPECTOR IS FOUND DEAD

VICTORIA, June 4 (CP)—The body of John Coates, 84-year-old prospector, was found today in the Muir creek district by Reginald Clarke, a resident who has been engaged in the search for him, according to provincial police.

Mr. Coates had been missing since a week yesterday when he was on the trail with two younger companions who missed him while waiting for him. It is presumed he succumbed from natural causes.

B.C. LADY AMONG THOSE HONORED

Mrs. Allan Becomes Commander of British Empire; Was in Nursing Work

CALGARY, June 4 (CP).—Honored in the King's birthday list, Mrs. J. W. Allan, who now lives at Victoria, B.C., was identified with Red Cross work in Alberta for two decades.

Mrs. Allan, who was made a commander of the British Empire, lived in Calgary for many years, and for a lengthy period was honorary acting commissioner of the Red Cross in the province. She did notable work during the war years, and also in the establishment of a hospital for crippled children.

Formerly Mrs. Mary Waagen, Mrs. Allan is a daughter of Lady Hickson and the late Sir Joseph Hickson of Montreal.

WORLD WILL GROW YOUNG AND ITS MATERIALS RENEWED BY DISCOVERY

"No. 93" Is Hardest of the Elements Known to Man; Discovered by Italian

By ANDRUE BERDING
Associated Press Foreign Staff

ROME, June 4, (AP)—Discovery of a new element, known as "No. 93," which was artificially created from uranium, was reported to the Italian Lincei academy today by Senator Mario Corbino, who saw in the accomplishment evidence the world will grow young again and its materials will be renewed.

The discovery was made, he said, by Enrico Fermi, member of the academy, through bombarding neuclui of uranium with neutrons.

"Uranium, after having absorbed neutrons, converted itself rapidly through emission of electrons into an element placed immediately higher in the series, that is, a new element, bearing the number 93," said Corbino.

"This element embraced a nuclear charge greater than that of any existing element. The new element is radioactive, and its chemical properties are analagous to those of manganese."

HARDEST ELEMENT YET

Corbino told his distinguished audience, which included King Victor Emmanuel, that "the study of the nucleus, now in its beginning, aims at the ambitious plan of giving back to the earth the youthfulness of its materials."

"One can now affirm," he declared, "this ambitious design has been converted into reality."

The new element was described as the hardest element known to man, and Corbino emphasized the importance of its discovery and the method employed.

The discoverer, Fermi, is one of the youngest members of the academy, being only 32 years old, but is known as a brilliant physicist.

He has studied in the universities at Gottingen, Germany, and Leyden, Holland, as well as in Italy, and has taught in various universities in Rome and Florence. He became a member of the academy at the age of 28.

Einstein Sees United States Driving Europe to "Ruin" Through the War Debt

PARIS, June 4 (AP).—Among Professor Albert Einstein's ideas on contemporary life, as revealed here today on publication of his book, "How I See Life," is the theory that the determination of the United States to collect the war debts is leading Europe to "ruin" by keeping alive "the revenge spirit."

The scientist warns the United States against the same spirit within its own doors.

"I believe the American people do not entirely realize their responsibility," Einstein writes. "Here is what is commonly thought in America:

"'Europe may well go to ruin if she lets herself be carried away by the quarrelsomeness and malice of her inhabitants. The good seeds of our Wilson have grown rather miserably in the sterile European soil. We are strong and sure of ourselves and won't again mix so quickly in foreign affairs.'"

"Collection of American debts without any consideration is precipitating economic and in turn the moral decadence of Europe. It (America) is thus helping Balkanize our continent.

"It is therefore an accomplice in the ruin of political morality and the cultivation of a revenge spirit encouraged by despair.

"This spirit will not stop at the doors of America and I could almost say it has not halted at America's doors. Look around you and take care."

CUSTOMS TAKINGS ARE UP FOR MAY

The biggest customs collection in several years was taken at the Nelson port and its district outports during May. The receipts for the month totalled $18,772.42 as compared with $11,137 taken during April.

Nelson contributed $10,197.37 and the outports: Trail $712.78, Waneta $72.73, Nelway $1239.65 and Paterson $77.89.

Mr. McGill came here from Vancouver several years ago and became active in community affairs.

Japanese Freighter Will Dare Strike

Has Been Held at Vancouver With U.S.A. Cargo; to Go to San Francisco

VANCOUVER, June 4 (CP)—The Japanese liner Heian Maru sailed from here today for San Francisco in the expectation she would be able to discharge 800 tons of cargo destined to the United States there. She had been held nine days in hopes of a development in the coast longshore strike that would permit landing the cargo here.

The vessel brought the cargo from Japan in mid-May but was unable to discharge it at Seattle owing to the strike. It remained aboard the ship while she loaded for the return voyage at Vancouver. The Vancouver Longshore association refused to permit discharge of the cargo here.

From San Francisco, it is understood she will proceed to Yokohama.

Ontario's Political Arena Cleared for Battle

REFUNDING OF FARM DEBTS AND THE LOAN ACT ON WAY

Bills Get First Reading and Draw Commendation of Opposition Forces

OTTAWA, June 4 (CP).—Cautious commendation from opposition ranks featured debate in the house of commons today which preceded introduction of two complementary measures designed to bring speedy and inexpensive refinancing of the debt burden of Canadian farmers. On motion of Prime Minister R. B. Bennett the house gave first reading to the two bills, one setting up machinery to facilitate the refunding of farm debts, and the other amending and enlarging the scope of the Canadian Farm Loan act.

The legislation, in brief, aims to bring two forms of financial relief to the farmers. Of most immediate importance is the amendments to the Farm Loan act which provides a method whereby the man whose property is already mortgaged to the extent that he has no credit, may secure a loan up to one-third of the mortgage from the mortgagee, who will obtain the money from the farm loan board and assign the mortgage to that body as security.

REFINANCE PLAN

On a much wider scale the debt adjustment bill sets up machinery whereby a farmer may have his ability to pay appraised on the basis of the value of his holdings and his potential ability to produce wealth, and a settlement made to refinance his debts in the light of the information thus secured.

By voluntary methods arranged through the offices of special receivers, the debt may be adjusted and, that failing, provincial boards in each cooperating province, headed by judges with bankruptcy jur-

DRUG DEALERS ASK BOARD TO GOVERN PRICE

Would Deal With the Trade Restraint Situation

OTTAWA, June 4 (CP)—Lashing out at chain and department stores, a witness before the Stevens price spreads probe today made representations for establishment of a board to deal with restraint of trade, for the fixing of a resale price by manufacturers of patent medicine and for an amendment to the combines investigation act. The amendment would make legal agreements between manufacturers, wholesalers and retailers for maintaining prices.

The proposals were made by the Canadian Pharmaceutical association thr ugh R. P. Sparks, Ottawa. The machinery set up to administer the combines investigation act was entirely inadequate.

"We would suggest," the representative of the retail druggist told the committee, "the setting up of a board along the general lines of the board of railway commissioners, composed of men whose judgment would command the respect of a business community, and that adequate machinery for investigation should be organized by such a board."

PREDATORY METHODS

Hitting out with charges of price-cutting by chain and department stores, Mr. Sparks stated the methods of the chain store were purely predatory. These chain stores would usually establish themselves as near as they could to some other drug business; and the more successful the retailer's business was the better for the chain store.

"It is not a system of distribution at all. It is a method to make money at a given point."

Abnormal profits were made by department and chain stores on private brands of drugs to make up for the loss they sustained by cutting prices on standard brands, said Mr. Sparks.

The Proprietary Articles Trade association had been formed by retailers druggists and others in 1927 to combat the evil of "price-cutting," by a judgment of Commissioner L. V. O'Connor, under the combines investigation act, the association was dissolved. The effect of the judgment had precisely the opposite effect from framers of the act intended.

"It (the judgment) has helped to build up a monopoly or semi-monopoly in the distribution of proprietary articles," continued the witness. "The P.A.T.A. was organized to fight a growing monopoly, not to create one.

Price cutting prevailed to a greater degree in the drug trade than in any other business, A. J. Wilkinson, chairman of the council of the Canadian Pharmaceutical association told the committee.

Entry of the inquiry into consideration of the drug business was preceded earlier today by an all-morning survey of the $14,000,000 refinancing of the huge western packing enterprise of Burns and company.

APPRECIATED VALUES

A charge by J. L. Ilsley (Lib.-Hants-Kings) that the Dominion Securities Corporation Ltd. had sold stocks and bonds in the new company at an appreciated valuation of assets was the highlight. With F. A. White, Dominion Securities director, under a three-hour examination, the Liberal member said assets of the reorganized company in 1928 were set out on the stock prospectus to the public at $10,845,000, whereas the actual value was $5,948,000.

Dominion Securities made slightly over $1,000,000 in discounts in floating the bonds and preferred shares of the new company.

MECHANICS IDENTICAL

It was a fallacy to assume evolution in the chain store was a result of broad economic forces, said Mr. Sparks.

"Whether a drug store be conducted by an independent merchant, or whether it be conducted as a chain store with a brilliantly painted orange front with a glaring sign designating it as a cut-rate store, the mechanics of distribution are identical in both of them," stated the witness.

Answering interrogations, Mr. Wilkinson said there had never been a "drug trust" in Canada. On the same series of questions, Mr. Sparks stated the druggists would welcome the most complete and exhaustive inquiry into the operation of the drug trade. The desperate condition of 3500 druggists was due to price-cutting and the depression had not affected the trade to any marked extent.

PICK COLOMBO TO WIN DERBY

Odds Shorten to 13-8 for Epsom Classic Tomorrow

LONDON, June 4 (CP cable)—Most owners, trainers and turf writers tonight were of the same opinion as Lord Glanely that his unbeaten colt Colombo is going to win the 155th renewal of the derby at Epsom on Wednesday.

Colombo, who has won all his seven starts as a 2-year-old and two races this season, will start the shortest-priced favorite since before the war. The odds shortened today to 13 to 8, less than 2 to 1.

"The colt is of the highest class," said Lord Ganely tonight. "Provided he does not meet with any bad luck, I do not think he will be beaten in this or any other race."

Several other contenders, however, are genuinely fancied to beat Colombo over the tough derby course of one and a half miles. The French horse Admiral Drake is one, and the French bred Easton, second to Colombo in the two thousand guineas, is another.

Sir Abe Bailey's Timberius is also fancied, as is Windsor Lad.

The entries were further reduced to 20 today by the scratching of the Ruthless Abbott. Achtenan was taken out Saturday, while Patriot King and Lo Zingaro are doubtful runners.

SUNDAY BATHERS IN ROUGH WATER

But Temperature Holds; Life Guard Acting; Booth Open

In spite of the lake being generally rough Sunday, a few bathers went in at Lakeside park, and a number of kiddies were wading. During most of the afternoon a stiff wind blew from the east, and the water was extremely rolly. This last rise brought the water up to the top step on the most easterly flight, the first time this season that the eastern steps have been submerged. No beach was showing whatever.

In spite of the cold week that preceded Sunday, the temperature of the water was 58 degrees, only 1¼ degrees down from the preceding Sunday, when probably 50 bathers went into the water under the impetus of a hot sun.

By special arrangement of the parks committee, Gilbert Goucher, the newly appointed life guard, was on duty, though his period of daily service will not start till July 1. In the interval he will be on duty on Wednesdays, Saturdays and Sundays.

A. A. Perrier has accepted the catering concession at the terms offered by the city council Monday, and the refreshment stall was open for the first time this season.

HUME PULL OUT SOFTBALL LOOP

Quit When Protest Thrown Out by Officials

The executive of the local Mens Softball league met on Monday evening to decide on the protest filed by the Hume Hotel No. 1 team against the game played with the Savoy Hotel nine last Thursday evening. The Hume club filed their protest on the grounds that the B.C. Softball association rules as adopted by the Nelson league, call for the spectators to be at least 10 feet from the base lines, and that when the ball hits or is touched by a spectator, the umpire shall call play and allow each runner to advance one base. The manager of the Hume club claimed that in the ninth inning a batted ball bounced off spectator's back on fair territory and two runners scored on the play. With the game going to the Savoy team by one-run margin the Hume club asked for a replay on these grounds.

Ed Boyes and A. McInnis, the officials who were in charge of the game, were called and both claimed that they had made an effort to keep the crowd back, but that it was an impossibility, and that in any case the conditions were just as fair for one team as the other. Delegates from the various teams claimed that while the crowd was probably the largest out this season, all the games had been played under practically the same conditions. On a vote the Hume Hotel team's protest was thrown out and the game ordered to stand as a win for the Savoy nine.

When the decision of the executive was announced George Benwell, manager of the Hume club, withdrew his team from competition in the second half of the league, stating that as the B. C. official rules were adopted and the executive did not see its way clear to live up to them he could not see his way clear to continue in the loop. The Hume Hotel players both on the No. 1 team and the No. 2 club were then declared free agents and free to sign up with any club if they so desired.

Any teams wishing to enter for the second half play must hand in their entries to Fred Gill, president of the league, by Wednesday evening, when the full schedule for the second half will be drawn up.

The following two games are scheduled for this week and will count in the second half of the league schedule:

Thursday—Fairview A. C. vs. Millionaires.

Friday—New Grand Hotel vs. Savoy Hotel.

HOCKEY BOOSTERS ACTIVE AT TRAIL

TRAIL, June 4.—Although most people's minds are far from hockey at this time of the year, the Trail Hockey Booster club is still very active and meeting at regular intervals. The different committees disclose to the general committee the progress of their work. The Booster club met at the Crown Point hotel Monday night and reports of the program and entertainment committees were read, followed by general discussion. The club proposes to hold a dance near the end of June.

Exchanges Control Sent to U. S. Senate

Not One Objection to the Bill in House; Would Ban "Wash Sales" Bucket Shops

WASHINGTON, June 4 (AP). — Legislation to bring grain and cotton exchanges of the United States under government control was passed by the house today and sent to the senate without a single objection. Its disposition in the senate was uncertain.

Designed primarily to curb speculation, the bill would set up a commission composed of the secretaries of agriculture and commerce and the attorney general with board authority to check speculative holdings and other practices. It also would ban "wash sales," bucket shops and indemnity trading.

Applying in present form to wheat, cotton, rice, corn, oats, barley, rye, flaxseed, grain sorghums and mill feeds, the legislation is so drawn that poultry, lard or other commodities could be added later.

The commission would give full leeway in setting the limits of futures that one individual might hold at one time and also restrict price fluctuations.

Salmo and Trail Play Here Sunday

Although the senior baseball team will be out of the city next Sunday, local sports fans will see plenty of action as the Fairview Athletic club's intermediate baseball team will entertain the combined Ymir-Salmo senior team, which will be followed by the second game of the West Kootenay Soccer league between the Trail and Nelson teams.

Fairview nosed out the Ymir squad on May the 24th and the Ymir team is reported to have strengthened its club in hope of taking the local boys into camp next Sunday afternoon.

Trail won the opening game of the soccer series a couple of weeks ago by a 2-1 score, and according to fans who witnessed the game, the locals had just as much of the play as the winners did. With more practice together, the locals expect to tie up the series next week.

RAINFALL IS STEADY NELSON

A fine drizzle fell practically all day at Nelson on Monday and at times was fairly heavy. With the steady rain the mercury varied but little, the maximum being 57 and the minimum 50. Rain was recorded at .27 inch.

MRS. ROGER IS DEAD IN TRAIL

TRAIL, June 4.—Elizabeth Roger, aged 35, wife of Robert Roger of Trail, passed away at the Trail-Tadanac hospital yesterday. Born at Port A'Doune, Ireland, she came to Canada four years ago, making her home here.

Besides her husband and a daughter, Anna, aged seven, she is survived by her parents, Mr. and Mrs. George Callan of Ireland, two brothers, J. A. Callan of Trail and Sam Callan of Edmonton, and five sisters, Mrs. Thomas Paterson of Trail, Mrs. H. McDonald of Glasgow, Georgina, who is staying with her parents, and Mrs. V. C. Schwall and Mrs. George Duguid, both of New York.

Funeral services will take place at the Knox United church tomorrow, conducted by Rev. Bryce H. Wallace. Interment will follow at the Mountain View cemetery.

REP TEAM TO HAVE PRACTISE

The local representative ladies softball team will hold its first practice on Tuesday evening at the Junior High grounds. In addition to the players who have already been chosen for the team it is hoped to have enough players out to allow the playing of a short practice game.

The manager and coaches intend to add at least two more players to the team in order to have plenty of reserve strength.

The following are the 12 already picked for the team:

Helen Ling, Aria Saare, Jean Patterson, Almeda Graves, Alice Dunn, Pauline Stangherlin, Jean Spiers, Dorothy Titsworth, Hazel Spiers, Elaine Beeston, Rose Stewart and Eva Smith.

Water Level Down by Three Inches

Water level of the West Arm at Nelson, which Saturday reached its peak and started to drop, declined a quarter of a foot in the 24 hours ending at noon Monday, when it stood at 18.6 feet.

With the effects of a solid week of cold, rainy weather to be felt in reduced flow from the East Kootenay, a very rapid decline this week is expected.

DICK MOORE IS GOLFING CHAMP

Is Outdriven by Stan Leonard But Plays Tee Shots Well

By EVERETT GRAEME (Canadian Press Sports Writer).

QUILCHENA GOLF CLUB, Vancouver, June 4 (CP).—Slender, fair-haired Dick Moore, former Victoria star, now of Quilchena, found enough wizardry in his irons and putter to overcome lapses from the tees and defeated Stan Leonard of Glen Oaks, 3 and 2, in the 36-hole final of the British Columbia amateur golf championship here today. It was Moore's second provincial crown in six years.

The whipping, 300-yard drives of the Glen Oaks star, failed to daunt young Moore who turned in a sensational short game to repeat his triumph of 1928 when he won the crown as a member of the Oak Bay club.

Unable to match the screaming drives that Leonard lashed out to split the fairways, Moore played his tee shots shorter, then flashed brilliant irons and followed up with superb putting to offset his opponents superior driving power. Moore collected seven birdies in the 36 holes and Leonard five.

TRAIL GOLFERS WIN AT KASLO

Nelson Ladies Absent; Miss Baxendale Is New Lady Champ

It was almost an all-Trail victory in the Kootenay ladies' open golf tournament at Kaslo over the week-end. Mrs. P. F. McIntyre lost her championship title but it was to Miss Audrey Baxendale, who beat her in the final. Miss Florence Rutledge won the first flight. The second flight is confined to Kaslo.

Competition was keen but the tournament officials were deeply disappointed in the complete absence of Nelson entries.

Annual meeting of the Kootenay Ladies' Golf association during the week-end allocated the 1935 tournament to Nelson, and named Mrs. R. L. McBride of Nelson president, with Mrs. L. S. Bradley of Nelson secretary.

Mrs. A. J. Skillicorn of Kaslo is honorary president. Mrs. J. K. Cran of Rossland represents the Rossland-Trail club on the executive as first vice-president, and Mrs. E. H. Latham of Kaslo is second vice-president.

JOHN MACDONALD BURIED, ROSSLAND

Former Mates Form Guard of Honor in the Procession

ROSSLAND, B. C., June 4—Every old timer of Rossland and many of Trail, besides a great number of friends and acquantances, turned out Sunday, to pay last respects to John "Red Jack" MacDonald who was buried in Mountainview cemetery, not far from the early day Rossland mining camp, where he spent his younger days.

Funeral services were held at the United church and at the grade side by Rev. C. H. Daly. Pallbearers were F. S. Peters, W. McKay, T. Hooper, A. B. Ritchie, P. Beaulieu and M. Prevorrow.

All the men who had worked under Mr. MacDonald at the smelter before illness took him away from his job marched in procession as a guard of honor.

Among those making the trip will be W. Scott, W. Irvine, H. Wassick, R. A. Howe, Mr. Thomas, E. Stangherlin, R. Bertoi, G. Renwick, B. Monteleone, R. A. England, G. Williams, A. Smith and F. Johnson.

BOYS OF TRAIL CHURCH PICNIC

TRAIL, June 4—Although weather Monday was not exactly of the true picnic type, approximately 100 members of the Holy Names boys of the St. Francis Xavier church enjoyed their annual outing at Anderson's ranch near Murphy creek.

Baseball proved to be the major sport of the day, there being three senior boys' teams, two junior and two midget teams in action. A team of the Catholic boys' club of Nelson, which has won 11 straight games in its home city, was defeated by the Trail senior boys for two games straight. The Trail squad was merely a pickup nine, most of the boys not having played together before. A team from Rossland was also defeated in the senior boys' league.

Those who were not interested in baseball went hiking and others pitched horseshoes.

BAXENDALE GOLF HEAD

Named President of Kootenay Body at Meet Here

W. R. Baxendale of Trail was elected president of the Kootenay Golf association at the annual meeting held at Nelson on the week-end. James Fraser of Kaslo was named first vice-president; Dr. T. H. Bourque of Nelson, second vice-president; R. J. Anderson, secretary-treasurer, and T. R. Wilson, honorary president.

The incoming secretary was given instructions to write the Kimberley, Cranbrook and Fernie clubs inviting them to join the association.

GYRO PLAY SCORES HIT AT ROSSLAND

Cast Gives Splendid Portrayal of "Private Secretary"

ROSSLAND, June 4—Rosslanders who attended the presentation of "The Private Secretary," a comedy in three acts, sponsored by the Rossland Gyro club, which was held in the Capitol theater here on Thursday night, unquestionably enjoyed one of the best entertainments which has been given in the Golden City for a long time.

From start to finish, there was not a dull moment, and the audience showed by their laughter and applause that the mirth-provoking situations were greatly appreciated.

Lou Crowe, in the title role, carried the part perfectly, and was ably supported by a strong cast. Mrs. George Small as the Marsland housekeeper with a mania for spiritualism gave an excellent character portrayal, as did Frank Conroy, as the choleric uncle who habitually greeted everyone with the query: "How's your liver?"

Miss Helen McDonell, as the sympathetic landlady wo had difficulty with her aspirates, Jim Cooper, as Gibson, the bibulous tailor, who cherished hopes of becoming a "gentleman," and Dan MacNaughton, as Douglas Cattermole, all gave clever interpretations, while John Melville in the role of Mr. Marsland and George Bishop as his nephew, took their parts well.

Two charming young ladies, Edith Marsland and Eva Webster were well portrayed by Miss Islay Terhune and Miss Margaret Christian respectively, and added materially to the romantic interest of the play. Harry Lefevre in the dual role of the strong-armed butler and writ-server carried the parts convincingly.

Much of the credit for the success of the production is due to E. E. Perkins, the capable director, and George Dyson who was responsible for the scenery.

Following the play, the cast was the guests of the Gyro club at a supper served in the Gyro club rooms.

New Books Added to Ymir Library

YMIR, June 4—A number of new books have been added to the Ymir Women's institute library recently. The library was open on Tuesday. Thursday the directors of the Ymir Women's institute held a meeting at the home of Mrs. C. Baron. Those present were Mrs. S. A. Curwen, the president, Mrs. H. Stevens, Mrs. C. Garon, Mrs. W. Clark and Mrs. J. M. Gille. Arrangements were made for the next regular meeting in June.

S. Ball was a Nelson visitor on Saturday.

Charles Kubisgi is a visitor at the Emerald mine this week.

Within the past million years New England had among its animals the camel, rhinoceros and mastadon.

Cranbrook Girls McGill Graduates

CRANBROOK, June 4.—Mrs. J. M. Young of Penticton, who with her two children has been the guest of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. T. Sarvis, for the past fortnight, has gone to Nelson where she will visit for a week before returning home.

Mrs. F. H. Pym is visiting in Vancouver and other coast cities.

Mrs. W. Warner, formerly Miss Wilma McNabb of Spokane, was a Cranbrook visitor en route to her home in Calgary. While in Cranbrook she visited Mrs. Sarvis, Mrs. Young and Mrs. Wilson. Mrs. Warner was born in Cranbrook and attended public and high school here. She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. R. McNabb of Calgary.

J. T. B. Christensen of the Canadian Royal Mounted force, who has recently been transferred to Fernie, left for that city this week, accompanied by Mrs. Christensen and Miss Betty Christensen. Farewell parties were given for the latter prior to their departure.

Judge Fisher of Vancouver, who presided at the recent assizes was accompanied on his visit to the district by Mrs. Fisher, who visited Fernie friends and Mrs. McNabb of McBains Lake.

Mrs. C. E. White of Kimberley has been the guest of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. A. A. MacKinnon during the week.

Mrs. Peckenpaugh has been called to Victoria by the serious illness of her mother, Mrs. N. A. Wallenger.

Several cars of Cranbrook ladies attended the sale of work conducted by the ladies of the Fort Steele United church Wednesday afternoon. A good sum was netted.

Mrs. W. D. Gilroy was tea hostess at the Cranbrook Golf club Wednesday.

Mrs. Hennessey and Miss Sheila Hennessey have returned from an extended visit in California.

Two young ladies of this district were among those to graduate at the recent exercises at McGill university. Miss Nora Miles, daughter of Dr. and Mrs. F. B. Miles received her B. Sc. degree in the household economics department at MacDonald college and Miss Eileen Montgomery was a graduate of the physical education department.

Miss E. B. Paterson is attending the week-end in Elko.

Miss Gertrude Patmore and Miss Lois Graham of Kingsgate are spending the week-end at Sinclair Hot Springs.

W. H. Wilson, who recently attended the Rotary conference at Tacoma, was speaker at this week's Rotary session, giving an account of the doings of the conference.

Mr. and Mrs. M. A. Beale returned Friday from Mirror Lake where they were guests of Dr. and Mrs. Green.

On the warm days of this week the Gyro swimming pool in Cranbrook was alive with bathers, taking on the appearance of a hot July day. The chutes and diving boards have been made ready for use and a new coat of paint and new cement walks around the pool are added improvements. The Gyros are planning for their usual sports day at the first of July, when water events will be an attractive part of the program.

MISS RENE KERR TELLS OF TRIP

Entertained at Longbeach on Return From England

LONGBEACH, June 4—Mrs. J. D. Kerr gave an "at home" at her residence in Longbeach Friday afternoon in honor of Miss Rene Kerr who has recently returned from six months visit in England.

Choice flowers adorned the large dining room and for the tea table a dainty vase of old-fashioned pink double daisies was chosen. Tea was graciously served by Mrs. Kerr and Miss Rene.

Crossing over to England in the C.P.R. "Duchess of Athol" early in December last, Miss Kerr spent Christmas and the major part of January in London, which capital she has studied, most thoroughly. Altogether she had a most delightful holiday.

Numerous visits to relatives and friends enabled her to see a great deal of the country which she found intensely interesting.

She visited Cambridge and many points in the country, Bournemouth, Shrewsbury, and Suffolk and stayed some time with relatives at Pinnes W. London.

Returning by the Duchess of Bedford, Miss Kerr stopped again in Montreal with friends. She arrived in Longbeach this week.

SLOCAN MAN IS NAMED ENGINEER

H. E. Nelson Goes to Velvet Mine at Rossland

NEW DENVER, June 4.—H. E. Nelson left by stage for the Velvet Mine at Rossland, where he has accepted the position as engineer.

A. Coombs was in the hospital recently with a strained back, but is able to be at work now.

Mrs. Francis enteretained a few of the younger set at a dinner party on Wednesday evening, the occasion being Miss Connie Sells' 19th birthday. The table was decorated with pink streamers and covers were laid for six. The main attraction was a birthday cake decorated with pink and green candles. The invited guests were: the Misses Emma and Vic Cechelero, Evelyn Thompson, Edna and Effie Shannon, and the guest of honor, Connie Sells.

Mr. Stevek of the C.P.R. was a patient in the hospital. He is able to be around again now.

Improvements are still being carried on at the Legion hall. The water pipe has been put in and connected up to the new sink.

Mr. and Mrs. Keevil and Miss Joyce Falding are visiting at the Bosun ranch, guests of Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Harris.

Dr. and Mrs. Francis were at Hunters' Siding examining the school children there.

A. L. Harris has a few men fixing leaks in the water pipe on the main street.

Murray McNeish was a visitor in town to receive medical treatment at the local hospital.

Mrs. H. Gunn and daughter, Dorothy, are spending a few days in Nelson the guests of Mr. and Mrs. W. K. Gunn.

H. McPherson underwent an operation on his hand in the hospital. He is "doing nicely" at his home.

Wheildon, Kootenay River; A. H. Noakes, H. Hudson, Balfour; O. B. Appleton, Procter; Kenneth Wallace, Boswell; F. H. Jackson, Creston.

Visitors included J. E. Britton, Summerland; G. L. Landon, Grand Forks; S. H. Hopkins, Trail; J. J. Campbell, Willow Point; and Mayor S. H. Smythe R. W. Hinton, J. A. McDonald, J. R. Hunter, C. F. McHardy, D. D. Townsend, E. C. Hunt, S. R. Bowell and P. G. Morey, Nelson.

In addition to the regular delegations from the institutes, a number of delegates, in response to the invitation of the Nelson board of trade, brought their ladies, and the Robson ladies, who for five years in succession had extended their hospitality to the central institute, were present in force. The ladies, however, did not attend the sessions, but enjoyed the entertainment features—the board of trade luncheon and theater party—and a tea given in their honor by the Nelson District Women's institute.

FRIENDSHIP IS THEME, NAKUSP

Young Women Entertained; Many Visitors

NAKUSP, June 4.—Members of the Young Women's Mission circle were enterained Friday evening at the manse.

Following a business session lead by the president Mrs. R. Brodie, an inspiring devotional period based on the theme, "Friendship" was taken by Miss Mary Kirk. Bible readings were given by Mrs. A. Brodie.

Mrs. E. Oxenham who was in charge of the social period read an amusing skit on the subject of June Weddings.

Refreshments were later served by Mrs. A. C. Pound.

W. J. D. Rogers and J. Marsland of Arrow Park motored to town Thusday.

Mr. Chapman of Vancouver was a Nakusp visitor Wednesday.

Mr. and Mrs. J. Wagstaff who have been visiting in Trail, the guests of Mr. and Mrs. W. Wagstaff, returned Friday.

Dr. A. Francis of New Denver was a visitor in Nakusp Friday.

Mr. and Mrs. C. Rolins motored to town from Fauquier Thursday.

T. Gans of Edgewood was a visitor in town Thursday.

Mr. Marcolli of Burton was a motor visitor here Thursday.

Miss Sylvia Woorley arrived on Friday from Deer Park and will spend several weeks in Nakusp.

Mrs. C. Short arrived this week from Ainsworth and is the guest of her parents Mr. and Mrs. W. Carruthers.

A. E. Miller of Revelstoke was a visitor in town this week.

Mr. and Mrs. G. E. Sparkes and sons of Nelson arrived Friday and are the guests of Mrs. E. C. Johnson.

Miss E. Miler of Burton spent Wednesday in Nakusp.

Miss Marsland of Arrow Park is a patient in the Arrow Lakes General hospital.

Mrs. C. Hardy arrived Friday from Glendevon and is the guest of Mr. and Mrs. R. Brodie. On her return Monday she will be accompanied by Mrs. Brodie and small daughter Margaret.

Aeronatural science has developed to the point where it is practically impossible for the wing of a modern plane to fail in flight.

SCHOFIELD STILL IN SECOND PLACE

Three Other White Leghorn Pens Crowding Close at Agassiz

A. W. Schofield's pen of S. C. White Leghorns, which the privious week climbed into second place in points in the British Columbia Egg-Laying contest at Agassiz, maintained its position last week, the 30th of the competition. It's total points now are: 1587.7; a week's egg-production of 60, boosted its total eggs to 1498.

The S. C. White Leghorn pen of F. C Evans, leader for weeks, laid 51 eggs to boost its egg-total to 1506 and its points to 1731.9.

Three other S. C. White Leghorn pens are up near the second placers. W. M. Fairweather's is now third with 1583.8 points; Rump and Sendall's, formerly in second place, is next with 1567.7; and Swastika Poultry Farm is fifth with 1565.9.

BRITTON, LANDON TALK AT ROBSON

Farmers' Institute Hears of Experimental Station

ROBSON, June 4—The Farmer's institute held two special meetings recently at the first. J. E. Britton of Summerland experimental station, addressed the meeting given an interesting summary of the year's work. Touching on every branch of the station activities. Mr. Britton specially mentioned the results of pruning experiments and also those in connection with the maturity of fruit, both in picking and storing Jersey cattle, Berkshire hogs and White Wyandotte poulty at the station were all of prize winning strain, and among the best in Canada.

Many questions were asked and Mr. Britton invited all members to visit the station at anytime. A hearty vote of thanks was extended the speaker.

At the night meeting G. L. Landon, district agriculturist of Grand Forks brought his moving picture outfit showing films on agriculture. These dealt with the warble fly on cattle, sheep sheering and poultry raising in British Columbia.

Films showing the inconveniences of a farm, and a "comic" for the children were most interesting and the audience showed their appreciation by a hearty vote of thanks.

Mr. Landon expressed his great pleasure in visiting Robson again it being the first place he visited when he started in at this work.

Among those from Robson visiting Nelson for the banquet given by the Nelson Board of Trade were, Mr. and Mrs. Ballard, Mr. and Mrs. Carter, Mr. Squires, Mrs. Mitchell, Mrs. Foxlee, Mrs. Miller, Mrs. Quance, Mrs. Campbell, Mr. Tutt, Mr. and Mrs. Webster, Mr. Fowler, Mr. Irwin.

Trail From Day To Day

BY A. R. J.

There have been many puns and bits of raillery about the misconception of words spoken from time to time, there being many about children mistaking the words of the teacher in school.

One of the old favorites goes something like this:

A young boy, usually called "Johnnie,") was asked by his teacher to give a sentence using the word "disarrange."

Proudly the boy stood up and exclaimed: "When my fadder gets up in the morning to light the fire he says: 'Damma dissa range, anyhow.'"

But over the radio there is much more cause to pick up words wrongly. The local station, the call letters of which are CJAT received a letter from one of its listeners the other day which was addressed:

Radio Station C.C.J.T., Trail, B.C.

* * *

Probably the young lady who sent it was a member of the Canadian Girls in Training.

* * *

It was very close to the call letters, the post office authorities evidently knowing for whom the letter was meant.

SHOWER COUPLE SUNSHINE BAY

SUNSHINE BAY, June 4.—A host of friends met at Sunshine Bay packing shed Friday evening in order to shower Miss Hilda Heighton and Albert Ogden who are to be married shortly. The evenings enjoyment started with dancing, the M.C. being Bill Murray.

A debate "Which is better married or unmarried" took place with Miss Hary Hepburn and Bill Murray taking the affirmative, Miss Hepburn aptly bringing out her points by a recitation, also declaring how nice it was for the married lady to use her spouse as a foot warmer on cold nights. F. C. Carne and Mrs. D. S. Taylor balanced these points by what the bachelor avoids by No Spring Cleaning to disturb his domain, and no getting out early in the morning to make wifie's breakfast.

D. S. Taylor, chairman, had the listeners vote which resulted in a draw.

A replica on a Buster Brown wagon of the groom-elect's truck was drawn in by Allan and Gordon Donaldson heavily loaded with numerous useful presents for the popular couple. An appropriate acknowledgement was given to the guests by Mr. Ogden.

Mr. and Mrs. Ross Bradley were visitors here Friday.

Miss Mary Hepburn of Winnipeg is visiting her sister, Mrs. Batchelor.

Mrs. Billy Hodge and daughter of Vancouver are visiting her parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. Sewell, for the summer.

OPPONENT QUIT REFORMER WON

TORONTO, (CP)—Celebration of the Toronto centennial also marks the 100th anniversary of the election as its mayor of William Lyon MacKenzie, Reformer leader and grandfother of the present leader of the Liberal party in the house of commons.

In announcing the selection of Mayor Mackenzie, chosen in those days as a chairman of the board of aldermen, the Toronto Courier of April 18, 1834, said Dr. Rolph had "expressly declared he would accept office if elected thereto," but "to the astonishment of everyone (almost everyone) who was not in the secret, Dr. Rolph did not, however, make his appearance. Instead, he sent a note that stated notwithstanding his promise of yesterday, he had made up his mind not to serve in the office of mayor and to withdraw from the Corporation altogether."

The newspaper failed to explain connection of the sudden decision of Dr. Rolph with the subsequent election of Mr. Mackenzie, but promised "the conduct of Dr. Rolph will elicit further animadversions in a succeeding number."

BRITAIN BOASTS AIR-MAIL SERVICES

Speeding up the mail is an important thing in this day and age. The U.S.A. has an excellent air mail service and Canadians are looking forward to the day when air-mail will be delivered from the ship on the Atlantic, across the prairies and the Rockies to the Pacific coast. But today Great Britain leads the world in air-mail distribution and has underway a program for further development.

Fast air-mail for all parts of Britain are being considered by the post office department, and several airplane operators have approached the postal authorities with offers to carry the mails.

Ultimately the system will be developed to a point where machines will drop bags of mail by parachute at important centers without having to alight.

The four railway companies which have entered the field of commercial flying are to have competition in this branch of transportation.

Four new air lines are being formed, as reported in the London press. These, with the existing air line companies, are competitive with the Imperial Airways and the rail companies, already in the field.

Some of the domestic air lines using Croyden as a London terminus felt that they were not welcome there. They left. Now they have a giant airport of their own at Abridge, Essex, the headquarters of Hillman's Airways.

When it is complete, it will be one of the most modern airports in Britain.

Fast motor-coaches will connect it to King's Cross station, where passengers will be picked up and set down. By early summer regular air lines will run between Bristol and Bournemouth, Portsmouth and Bournemouth, Birmingham, Leicester and Nottingham.

Ireland will be linked up by a regular line between Dublin, Waterford, Cork and Limerick.

These lines are in addition to the routes already running, which connect every important town in the British Isles.

Fares on the London-Paris route, operated by Hillman's Airways, are being cut.

"Fares on every route will be brought down to the lowest possible economic level," Edward Hillman said.

Bookings for all air lines for the Whitsun holiday were a record.

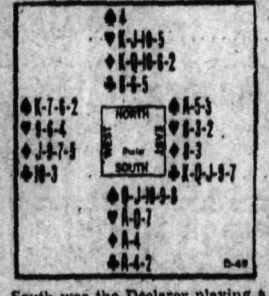
The airplanes supplied by Imperial Airways, co-operating with railway routes, are not to have the field to themselves.

AUCTION AND CONTRACT BRIDGE

By the World's Leading Authority
MILTON C. WORK

BAD BREAKS AND BAD GUESSES

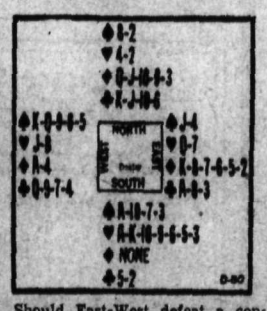
The failure of many bridge plays, which is attributed to "a bad break" or a bad guess, is really due to lack of knowledge of the mathematical odds involved. It is only in the most exceptional case that the chances are fifty-fifty, and playing with the "odds on" is bound to win in a vast majority of hands. One of the most common errors of a Declarer is to play for a 3-3 split of six adverse cards, the mathematical odds being that the six cards will be divided 4-2 or worse in 64 hands out of 100. An illustration of this occurred in the following hand:



South was the Declarer playing a contract of three No Trumps which East doubled (East had bid Clubs during the auction and doubled to insure a Club lead).

West led the Ten of Clubs which East overtook with the Jack, and when it held the trick, returned a second Club which Declarer also permitted to win, the third round of Clubs being taken by the Ace. West discarding a small Heart. The Declarer then cashed four Hearts in an effort to get a further count of the adverse hands. West discarded two small Spades and East also discarded a Spade. The Declarer had now acquired the knowledge that West had originally three Hearts and two Clubs; he had discarded two Spades and still had six cards unaccounted for. East had played three of the five Clubs he held originally and three Hearts, he had discarded one Spade and four other cards. The mathematical odds are in favor of any specific missing card being in the hand containing the six rather than the hand with the four. Furthermore, West's refusal to part with a Diamond tends to corroborate the percentage. Therefore, a small Diamond was led to trick Eight, Declarer winning with the Ace, and to trick Nine South led the Four of Diamonds and finessed the Ten in the North hand. When this won, Declarer fulfilled his contract, plus one extra trick. Had Declarer played for an even split in Diamonds, he would have been defeated.

TOMORROW'S HAND



Should East-West defeat a contract of four Hearts?

WHAT THE PRESS IS SAYING

A GREAT ENGINEERING FEAT

One of the greatest engineering feats of modern times, the Mersey Tunnel, has now been completed and thousands of people walked through it at the Easter week-end. The tunnel is to be formally opened by the King in July. It brings together Liverpool and Bootle on the Lancashire and Birkenhead and Wallasey on the Cheshire side, four boroughs with a total population of close on 1¼ millions. On April 3rd, 1928, the preliminary tunnel from Liverpool met that from Birkenhead under the middle of the river. So accurate was the survey work that the divergence for line, length and level averaged less than one inch. —Brockville Recorder and Times.

BRASS HATS DISCARDED

Because of the live wire danger at fires the brass helmet of the London fireman will soon be used only in ceremonial occasions. For seventy years the fire-fighters of the Eng metropolis have been equipp with the highly burnished helmet which bears some likeness to the helmets worn by Caesar's legionaries. The scrapping of the brass hat has caused pain to many of the firemen and to thousands of Londoners. It is contended by men in the fire brigade that these heavy metal helmets are a great protection against falling brick or masonry, and in the rigade museum a number of badly battered ones are displayed to show how life has been saved by them.—Fredericton Gleaner.

JAP COMPETITION

Japan is now threatening the British pottery trade. For example, British pottery is being pushed out of Australia by Japanese articles, which retail at one-third the price. Tea sets from Japan can be sold there for 15 cents. The labor cost alone in an equivalent British tea sets is 67 cents. —Ottawa Citizen.

Between You and Me

By J. B. C.

An Irish priest offered sixpence to the boy who could tell who was the greatest man in history.

Christopher Columbus," answered one.

"George Washington," answered another.

"St. Patrick," shouted a bright little Jewish boy.

"The sixpence is yours," said the priest. "But why did you say St. Patrick?"

"Right down in my heart I knew it was Moses," said the boy, "but business is business.

• • •

The great voyage was over. Christopher Columbus had reached America. His first act was to send a boatload of sailors ashore to spy out the land.

The daring seamen rowed to the mainland and disappeared. Shortly after, they emerged from the woods and rowed back to the ship.

"What do you make of it?" he asked.

"Well, sir," replied the sailor with a sea salute," the place looks to me like another nudist colony."

I was much impressed (it is the Columnist of the Chicago Tribune who is speaking) with the words on a sticker on the windshield of a car I saw down in Illinois last week. The sticker said:

"This car is driven only from the left hand side of the front seat. Back seat drivers will kindly keep their suggestions to themselves until they get home, when they may write out their ideas and send them by mail."

I was impressed by the sticker because I am one driver, anyhow that appreciates suggestions from the other people in the car, whether they are riding in the back seat or in the rumble seat. . . he sees an element of danger that I don't see while I'm driving, I want him—usually it's her—to tell me about it.

The sticker about back-seat drivers that I saw was on a deserted car rammed down into a deep ditch along the side of the road. The whole front of the car had been rammed in like an accordion and the entire auto looked like a mess of scrambled eggs. But on a piece of the windshield that still remained in place was the sticker reading: "This car is driven only from the front seat . . ."

Girl in the Family

By BEATRICE BURTON

CHAPTER THIRTEEN

The clock in the reception room struck once for 8:30 as she turned back into the hall . . . Half past eight. Supper would be over at the Cullens by this time, and John and Mr. Sholes would probably be out in the kitchen helping the girls with the dishes. They would be laughing and talking, having a fine invigorating time. Mary would be looking very domestic with her sleeves rolled up on her white arms, as she washed dishes, and her eyes would shine like emeralds under the unshaded kitchen lights.

A little after 11 she heard John and Mr. Sholes come up the stairs together, and a minute afterward John tapped on her door. "I saw that your light was on," he said when she opened it, "and I thought that you might like to start this tonight. Mary sent it to you."

He handed her a new novel of Hugh Walpole's. Mary often sent new books over to her when they came in to the library.

"How did Mr. Sholes and the Cullens get on?" she asked.

"Like a house afire," John laughed. "Old Mary certainly went after him in a big way. She got out her banjo and went through the whole book f blues for him, and Sara made waffles and coffee just before we left. He had a darned good time, and I was sure glad after the awful icing that the family gives him around this house."

Susan went back to bed and opened the Walpole book. But she did not read it. She lay thinking about Mary Cullen . . . No doubt Mary had a way with men. A flirtatious way of sweeping her long eyelashes up and down at them like Becky Sharp, a friendly way of asking them all about themselves and then sitting back to listen with wide-eyed interest when they answered her. But there was more to her than just a little bag of coquettish tricks. She was really entertaining with her banjo and her husky voice. She talked well and she had a good laugh. Almost any man would think her an unusually pleasant companion even if she had no beauty at all.

Besides her own attractions, she had the attractions of the Cullen house for a background, Susan went on thinking. Aunt Nell's pantry was always filled with delicious things to eat, and there was a radio, a piano and a phonograph, for music if the young people wanted to dance. Aunt Nell and Uncle Arthur usually spent the evening upstairs in the sitting room, too, so that the girls and their friends had the whole lower floor to themselves. It would have been remarkable if Mr. Sholes had not had a good time there after the wintry airs of the Center street house.

"I could be interesting to him, too, if I had half a chance," thought Susan, "Even if I can't play the banjo like a darky."

For the first time in her life something like a feeling of dislike of Mary crept into her heart—of Mary who had always been her favorite Cullen. Mary had so many admirers. Why had she had to reach out after Mr. Sholes?—Just another scalp for her belt—

All at once it flashed across Susan's mind that she was thinking of Mary Cullen as her rival. Why, it was none of her affair what Mary did or did not do to fascinate Mr. Sholes! The best thing she could do was to put them both out of her mind and go to sleep.

THAT BODY OF YOURS

By JAMES W. BARTON, M.D.

GETTING AHEAD OF HAY FEVER

A few years ago it was believed that golden rod was the cause of hay fever and hay fever sufferers made every endeavor to avoid the golden rod plant.

More recently it has become known that ragweed, so common everywhere, was really the cause of the greatest number of cases.

Now as golden rod is what is known as "insect pollinated" (the tiny pollen affected by insects) the same as ragweed, and desensitizing the individual as to ragweed usually relieves the symptoms, it has not been customary of late years to desensitize with goldenrod.

However, in the experience of Drs. Warren T. Vaughan and Ruth W. Crockett, for every 100 persons sensitive to ragweed, 30 are found sensitive to goldenrod.

In most cases the goldenrod sensitive individual is also sensitive to ragweed. Consequently, a ragweed sensitive individual, also sensitive to goldenrod, who does not receive relief from full ragweed treatment, should also receive a complete course of treatment with goldenrod.

The goldenrod or ragweed may not be in the immediate neighborhood, because recent investigations show that in as large a lake as Michigan, ragweed pollen is nearly as concentrated 30 miles from shore as it is overland.

Elm pollen may be carried 100 miles.

Government study is authority for the statement that pollen from Alaska may be carried as far as the northwestern states— completely across Canada.

Now the thought is that many individuals because they have taken the "ragweed" treatment for two or three years without receiving relief, might find it advisable to be tested for the goldenrod pollen, because, as mentioned above, for every 100 individuals with hay fever due to ragweed there are 30 sensitive to goldenrod.

Further, this is the time for all hay fever victims to be thinking about preventive treatment. Your doctor will tell you that he would like from six weeks to a couple of months in which to give you the simple injections before the pollen gets into the air.

This desensitizing treatment prevents hay fever in a large percentage of cases and is certainly worth trying.

Broadway's Thirst Slaked by Repeal?

"'Variety' knows Broadway inside out. 'B'way Niteries Praying for Good Ol' Prohi Days; Ain't No Drinkin'," proclaims a headline in this New York weekly which, in an idiom all its own, chronicles development of the stage, screen and radio worlds. The story beneath the headline starts: "Folks around Broadway ain't drinking like they used to. Likkar wholesalers aver that repeal 'did fair to make America far more temperate a nation than ever in the era of Volsteadism's 13 years."

"A small piece of evidence? It is, and it is none too pompously phrased. Nevertheless, it is significant," says Literary Digest, in comment.

The Natural Flavor

Due to a special canning process the natural flavor was particularly well brought out in Pacific Milk and for a long time it was thought further improvement was impossible. But when Pacific was placed in vacuum cans a fresh step was taken and the natural flavor now comes out better than ever.

In spite of intermittent showers which slowed up the action to some extent the events were run off in record time. At 6:30 the contestants sat down to a banquet served by the ladies of Coal Creek under the chairman ship of Mrs. Haile. Short talks of praise and encouragement were given by W. R. Pepper of Fernie, S. Muraro of Michel, Miss E. Chubra of Newgate, R. Johnston of Coal Creek, Dr. Workman of Coal Creek and Thos. Uphill M.L.A. The cups and medals were presented by Robt. Moore, president of the C.N.P.S.A.A. and L. Rushcall, secretary.

A few weeks ago a serious question existed as the advisability of holding the inter-school meet this year. Saturday's competition was so successful that next year's meet at Fernie was taken for granted. The only point at which a departure was made from the custom of more prosperous years was in the awards. Instead of giving medals to the three leaders in each event, medals were given to the firsts in junior and senior events and ribbons to the seconds and thirds and in all other classes ribbons were used throughout. The gathering dispersed with lusty cheers for the executive committee consisting of Mr. Moore, Dr. Workman and Mr. Rushcall and for all subordinate committees and individuals who had worked for the success of the day.

Apparatus for making sound motion pictures is being developed in simplified forms, so that amateur talkies may soon be feasible.

CHURCH VAN ON CRESTON TOUR

Covers Valley Points; Many Towns People Are on Holiday Jaunts

CRESTON, June 4.—The Anglican Kootenay diocese Sunday school mission van (or Sunday school on wheels) which was stored at Nelson for the winter, was put into commission last week. This year it will be in charge of Miss Hannah and Miss Illingsworth, who spent much of last week at points in Creston valley. On Thursday night the ladies were tendered a shower by Christ Church Women's auxiliary, when the van larder was generously stocked with canned fruits and vegetables. It pulled out on Saturday for Yahk where they had services on Sunday.

Mrs. J. E. Hayden has just returned from a month's holiday visit with relatives and friends at Portland and Seattle.

J. D. MacDonald, general superintendent, and H. Drury, superintendent of sales, for West Kootenay Power & Light company, arrived from Trail on Thursday on company business.

Mrs. Irwin Davis of Rossland is here at present on a visit at the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. McRobb.

J. W. Dubley of Vancouver, provincial electrical inspector, has spent the past week in the territory tributary to Creston, making inspections of the wiring in the houses and buildings that are using power from the West Kootenay Power & Light company plant at Goat River canyon.

Mr. and Mrs. T. W. Bundy are away on a two week's vacation which they are spending with friends at Nanaimo, Vancouver and a short stay at Summerland.

Mrs. T. Wilson returned Saturday from a three weeks' holiday visit with her parents in Vancouver.

Mrs. S. Fraser and daughters, Margaret and Sadie were Bonners Ferry visitors a couple of days the latter part of the week.

ANCIENT INDIAN "BLAST FURNACE"

VALJEAN, Sask., (CP)—Displaced by high winds, the shifting soils of southern Saskatchewan left another phase of plains dwellers' early life open to students of Indian lore today. The latest find is an Indian armorer's "blast furnace" near Chaplin, a few miles south of here.

Alton Reichert, district farmer, discovered what is believed to be a manufacturing center of the Indians for making stone weapons of war, colored rocks, mostly round in shape and giving evidence of having been subjected to great heat at one time.

All about the formation were chips of flint, the same type as used in the majority of arrowheads found on the prairies. Much speculation has been aroused as to how Indians treated the flint, impervious to modern tools, in order to shape their arrowheads. The Chaplin discovery, however, would indicate the rock was heated and chipped down to the desired size and shape.

Indian grist mills, spearheads, arrowheads, hammers and hide-cleaners, all made from stone, have been found in profusion in the area this spring.

Kill Gophers With Dust of Cyanide

JAFFRAY, June 4.— Positive results in the eradecation of gophers were demonstrated on the farm of William Barr of Jaffray, through the co-operation of the Jaffray Farmers' institute and the provincial department of agriculture in arranging a field day of farmers of the district to enable J. E. Garrison to show the efficiency of Cyanogas in asphyxiation of rodents of all kinds.

The first effort in rodent control, Mr. Garrison pointed out, were directed toward use of poison bait in the form of grain prepared with strychnine but the effectiveness of this method was dependent upon the seasoned condition of the animals and the lack of natural foods. These contengencies resulted in the adoption of calcium cyanide in different forms.

The first recorded experiments with this chemical were made at the Ontario Agricultural college at Guelph, and later these were developed by the United States biological survey.

The first use of cyanide was in granular form inserted into the burrow by long handled spoon especially made for the purpose. This method is very successful but the cost has limited its use to the more highly developed agricultural areas. Its use is not economical on pasture or monginal lands.

With later development in use of cyanide dust this has been overcome.

In explaining to those present at the demonstration the effectiveness of cyanogas dust in comparison with the granular form, Mr. Garrison stated that in using the granular form it is necessary to locate each individual opening with the adoption of the dust form of cyanid, applied by blower equipment, the injection of the dust in one opening frequently results in the omitting of gas from numerous holes at the other ends of the burrows.

The economy of the dust form of the chemical is evident when it is considered that the operator is saved the expense of treating the numerous holes from which the gas has been omitted. The cyanide treatment, whether in granular or dust form, was a further advantage over the poisoned bait method in the distruction of ticks which infest gophers as their principal host. The ticks, on a gopher dying from poisoning, leave the dead body whereas the ticks on an asphyxiated gopher die on him from the effects of the gas.

In the state of Montana, Mr. Garrison informed his listeners, the United States health service has organized the destruction of gophers, from cyanide fumes, for the sake of health benefits rather than for economic results.

In this connection he pointed out that tuleremia in human beings is caused by the transfer of ticks from gophers and other animals.

The demonstration was eminently successful. The weather was unfavorable but in some instances the gopher came out of his burrow and died in the openings in an effort to breath fresh air. Other dead gohpers were dug out of the burrows by use of shovels.

The balance of the day was spent in stock judging by boys and girls and in addresses on forage crops.

Doctors will meet in Moscow in May for the fourth international congress on rheumatism.

SOCIETY

This column is conducted by Mrs. M. J. Vigneux. All news of a social nature, including receptions, private entertainments, personal items, marriages, etc., will appear in this column. Telephone Mrs. Vigneux at her home, 519 Silica street.

A charming ceremony was that solemnized by Ven. Archdeacon Fred H. Graham yesterday morning at 8:30 o'clock at St. Saviours procathedral when Jean, second daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George A. Hunter, was united in marriage to George Lee-Warner of Nelson, eldest son of Mr. and Mrs. George Lee-Warner of Victoria. Friends of the bride and groom were responsible for the elaborate decorations in the church which included tall standards filled with pink peonies, rose thorn and pyrethrium and made a pretty setting for the quiet ceremony. George A. Meeres played Mendelssohn's wedding march and he also accompanied Miss Ruth Craufurd who sang "Love's Coronation" during the signing of the register. Given in marriage by her father, the dainty bride wore a becoming sea green Point d'Esprit wedding gown with large mohair hat. Her bouquet was a shower of Talisman's copper-colored rose buds. The bride's sister, Mrs. Reginald H. Dill, acted as matron of honor. Her corn-colored Point d'Esprit frock and picture hat were fashioned on similar lines to the bride's. She carried a bouquet of yellow and mauve columbine and pyrethrium. The groom was attended by his brother, Edward Lee-Warner of Victoria. Mrs. Hunter, mother of the bride, donned an orchid crepe suite, white hat, and matching accessories. Her corsage was of pink roses. After the ceremony a buffet breakfast was served at the Hunter home on Edgewood avenue. The three-tiered wedding cake embedded in dainty white tulle interspersed with Forget-Me-Not and twin bell was topped with a silver vase of rose buds. On their return from a motor trip to Watshan lake, near Edgewood, Mr. and Mrs. Lee-Warner will take up residence in the Wasson cottage on the north shore. For travelling Mrs. Lee-Warner chose a dutch blue swagger suit and pearl grey accessories.

PRODUCE MART IS IMPROVED

Straws and Some Rasps Beginning to Come in VICTORIA, June 4—The wholesale fruit and produce row in Victoria presents a marked improvement from a business viewpoint over this time last year. Business has improved considerably. Several commodities have dropped in price due to increased volume. Strawberries are selling wholesale at from $1.10 to $1.20 per crate. Some raspberries arrived on the market but not enough to establish a price. Imported cherries sell at $5.25 per 25-pound lug. Gooseberries 6 cents per pound, rhubarb 2½ cents per pound, local asparagus (in bundles) 13 to 16 cents per pound, Kamloops asparagus (loose in boxes) 11 cents per pound, cabbage 40 cents per dozen. Carrots and beets 30 cents per dozen, green onions 25 cents per dozen, head lettuce $1.20 per crate, cauliflower $1.25 per dozen, green peas 6 cents per pound, hothouse cucumbers (Spines) from 75 cents to $1.25 per dozen, (Rockfords) 90 cents to $1.40 per dozen, local new potatoes 3½ cents per pound, mainland $2.50 per sack, spinach 3 cents per pound, tomatoes (Dessert) $2.65, No. 2s $2.85, No. 1s $3.40. Old potato prices are unchanged.

VANCOUVER

Vancouver—In regard to fruit and vegetables the wholesale row appears very active. The existing strike has affected the supply of citrus and other fruits. Fortunately most of the local vegetables are now on the market. Strawberries appear to be in oversupply on the market, wholesaling at from $1 to $1.50 per crate. Bing cherries are selling at 16 cents per pound. Old potatoes are down in price as the demand is for the new ones. Local hothouse tomatoes are up to $3.50, a rise of 25 cents. Wholesale prices for eggs are steady, pullets up one cent. Young ducks have dropped from 18 cents to 14 cents per pound on account of the increase in supply. Broilers are now gaining weight with a plentiful supply. 2 to 2½ pounds 15 cents, 3½ pounds and over 20 cents. No change in pork and veal prices. Wholesale prices for hay, grain and feed remain steady. Importations in Vancouver from May 23 to 30 inclusive: (The following figures are pounds.) California, canteloupes, 45,597; cherries 13,169, apples 1400, apricots 375, water melons 1680, celery 26,230, carrots 30,038, cabbage 3190, onions 1500.

CALGARY

Calgary—Weather cool and cloudy. Strawberry arrivals mostly showed wet with considerable mould. Jobbers are cleaning these up at greatly reduced prices. A wide difference in retail prices is noticeable. One chain store is offering good dry berries at $1.95 per crate with another chain store asking $2.15 per crate. As low as $1.50 per crate is quoted retail for wet berries received. Raspberries are selling retail at 15 cents per hallock. Southern Alberta shippers report only two or three cars of old potatoes left.

STOCKS UP IN SLOW MARKET

Smallest Day's Turnover in 10 Years on N. Y. List

By FREDERICK GARDNER
Associated Press Financial Writer

NEW YORK, June 4 (AP)— A modest rally lifted stocks today in the smallest market in a decade.

Entering the fourth week of extreme dullness, sales on the stock exchange dwindled to 357,540 shares, the scantiest business the exchange had done since June 2, 1924.

Rains in some drought areas, improvement in the labor situation and resistance the market showed as it approximated low levels touched in May, discouraged further liquidation.

In the absence of selling pressure, prices rallied easily.

Gains of fractions to 3 points were recorded for such issues as Allied Chemical, American Can, Chrysler, General Motors, Santa Fe, Bethlehem Steel, U. S. Steel and American Telephone.

Rains in Nebraska and elsewhere stimulated short-covering and some outside buying in J. I. Case, International Harvester, Montgomery Ward, Sears Roebuck and other shares dependent upon farmer-purchasing power.

Wheat finished 1¼ to 1⅞ cents a bushel lower. The July position at Chicago dropped as low as 96 cents, more than 10 cents under last week's top. Corn, oats and rye suffered loses of 1 to 2 cents a bushel.

Cotton reacted, closing 60 to 65 cents a bale lower. Hides steadied and silver futures firmed.

The rally raised the average price of 90 stocks to 75.4, up 1.2 points from the 1934 low established Saturday. Electric Autolite rallied more than a point. U. S. Smelting & Refining closed 3 points higher.

Bond Market Sluggish and Changes Narrow

NEW YORK, June 4 (AP)—The bond market moved sluggishly today and price changes generally were narrow.

Union Pacific first 4s edged up to a new year's high. Foreign obligations were mixed. Bonds of Belgium, Sao Paulo, France and Sweden improved. Dutch East Indies sagged. German government 7s dropped 1½ points and Italian kingdom 7s, off one, equalled their year's lowest figure.

Putnam, Staples to Work Old Hillside

KASLO, June 4—Frank Putnam and Frank Staples, both of Creston, with other associates have formed a syndicate and plan to spend $25,000 this summer on the old Hillside mine, Jackson Basin. A crew of men will be put to work shortly.

Mr. Putnam and Mr. Staples were in Kaslo recently on their way to look over the property.

Lumber Shipment Will Be Made via Hudson Bay Rails

PRINCE ALBERT, June 4 (CP)—Two-and-a-half million feet of lumber will be shipped over the Hudson Bay railway and through the port of Churchill in northern Manitoba to Great Britain by the Pas Lumber company of The Pas, Man., according to D. D. Rosenberry, secretary-manager of the company here.

The Romance of Mining in Canada

CANADA'S FIRST GOLD MINE WAS DISCOVERED IN QUEBEC

The early mining prospector not only lead a very colorful and adventurous life but suffered untold hardships. The prospector today has at his command modern conveniences such as the aeroplane and modern explosives to aid him in his "finds."

THOUGH gold was found in the Province of Quebec as early as 1834, it is only within the last three or four years that its output has attained important dimensions. Today, Quebec is Canada's second largest gold producer. Its output in 1932 constituted 13.1 per cent of the Dominion's total in that year.

Quebec's present high rank among Canada's gold producing provinces is largely due to the production of the Horne mine at Noranda. This mine is operated through two main shafts, one of which has been sunk to a depth of 2,527 feet, the other to 3094 feet. In addition to the Horne mine, the Siscoe, Granada, O'Brien and Beattie mines are also important contributors to Quebec's large output of gold.

In all of these mines, speed, safety and economy in production is greatly facilitated through the use of C-I-L Explosives. There is a type for your particular operations.

In 1932, the Province of Quebec produced 401,105 fine ounces of gold.

WHEAT VALUES DROP, CHICAGO

CHICAGO, June 4 (AP)—Enough moisture to give at least temporary relief from drought and heat forced a maximum drop of 2¼ cents in wheat values today.

Reports told of heavy rains in parts of the north west and west, other sections received little. Additional showers were forecast.

Wheat closed unsettled, 1¼-1⅞ down, corn 1⅞-2¼ down, oats 2-2¼ off. Provisions varied from seven cents decline to five cents up.

ALBERTA FARMERS DECIDE RESEED

BASSANO, Alta., June 4 (CP).—Heartened by soaking rains across a 50-mile belt of drought-parched grain fields, farmers of the Jenner-Empress district, who had discussed plans to abandon their farms, will stay on the land. They had discussed plans to move to northern Alberta to lands free from drought and grasshoppers.

Hopes renewed by the heaviest rainfall in years, the Jenner-Empress farmers, with the aid of the government, plan to re-seed blown-out, insect and drought destroyed fields. The government will be asked to furnish seed grain for the new start.

CAN. DOLLAR IS HIGHER AT N.Y.

Premium Is Now 5-16; Pound Sterling Slumps

NEW YORK, June 4 (CP) — Heavy sales in sterling sent the rate for the pound down to the lowest level since February 15 in the foreign exchange markets today.

The pound closed at $5.04, showing a loss of 2⅛ cents. The final rate was half a cent above the day's low mark. Some foreign exchange dealers said the heavy sales were for Paris account in connection with sustaining efforts for the franc, but others said they did not know where the selling originated.

The Canadian dollar and the French franc made progress in face of the decline in sterling. The Dominion dollar extended its premium from ¼ to 5-16 per cent, while the French franc, closing at 5.59 cents, showed a gain of .01 of a cent.

TO REVIVE WORK ON OLD SULLIVAN

KITCHENER, June 4—The boom in mining activity has reached Kitchener. James White of Fort Steel and associates have made arrangements with a coast company to drill test holes in the Old Sullivan claim two and a half miles west of town. They have moved a drill to the property and have a crew of 12 men working.

The boys from the air port camp engaged with Wynndel Softball club Wednesday evening, and were defeated by a score of 6 to 21. A return game is promised with better opposition.

A few of the boys from the camp are picking up odd jobs. C. Gordon has withdrawn from relief and has secured employment with the C. O. Rogers Lumber company at Kingsgate. Camp strength is now down to 100 men.

The relief camp at present is all agog with softball. The Kitchener crew is opposing any of the camp crews. They took on the shovel gang, and lost 15 to 8.

Big preparations are being made to hold sports at the airport camp on Dominion day.

MISS HARRIGAN HONORED, FORKS

GRAND FORKS, June 4—Complimenting Miss M. Harrigan, whose marriage takes place shortly, Mrs. O. G. Dunn, and Mrs. E. Graham, were joint hostesses at a delightful shower on Friday evening.

BOURQUE BOWS TO MURPHY IN FINE GOLF BATTLE – LOCAL MEN CARRY OFF CLUB TROPHY

Flights Go to Bouzyan, Fraser, Davis and Dr. Bourque

A. E. Murphy and R. J. Bourque, finalists in the Kootenay Golf association's annual tournament, Monday put on one of the finest golf displays seen in tournament finals on the Nelson links in a number of years. Murphy, taking a six-hole lead in the morning, won the championship and the James Anderson cup that goes with the honor. He was forced to play his best, however, when Bourque cut his lead down in the afternoon to two in the first nine holes and extended him to the seventh before bowing. Murphy won on the seventh hole, shooting par four. In the morning, when the two golfers put up an exceptionally fine battle, Murphy shot a 37 and 35 for a par 33 round and Bourque shot a 44 and 36. In the afternoon on the first round Bourque was just one above par.

Both golfers were exceedingly accurate in their approaches and putting and were off on their drives on only a few occasions.

Rain fell in a light drizzle all day, but it did not prevent a big following of supporters turning out. Although a little damp, the fairways and greens were never in better condition than they were Monday and this may have been a factor in the fine standard of golf turned in. While qualifying and informal rounds have been made under the scores turned in by Murphy and Bourque, there has seldom been championship finals of the standard exhibited by the couple.

STAVELY MAN WINS

Glen Bouzyan of Stavely, Alta., who ran up against three previous champions during the tournament, carried off the first flight, leaving P. F. McIntyre of Trail on the seventh, five up. Bouzyan was five up on the first nine. Both men were accurate with their irons and woods. John Fraser, who put up a fine game in the preliminary rounds, took the cup for the second flight when W. J. Meagher defaulted. Dr. T. H. Bourque defeated Lawrence McPhail on the 17th hole of an 18-hole match to take the third flight. The fourth flight went to Guy W. Davis. Davis won from A. W. Servold on the 19th, one up in the only game of the day that went an extra hole. R. E. Horton won the fifth flight on Sunday.

Nelson will hold the Schwengers-Wilkinson cup for a year at least, the club's team having turned in the lowest qualifying score. George Shaw, R. J. Bourque, T. R. Wilson and B. Townshend formed the team and turned in an aggregate qualifying score of 314. Trail-Rossland representatives, W. R. Baxendale, P. F. McIntyre, R. Nesbit and E. Jandrell turned in a 337 total. Kaslo was forced to default when they were unable to make up a team. Cups and prizes were distributed at the club house Monday evening after the matches.

The following is a by round account of the championship finals:

First nine holes—Murphy took the second, third, fifth and sixth holes, and halved the rest to go into the lead four up. He turned in a 37 for the round and his opponent 44. Both golfers were placing their shots with accuracy. Murphy drove to within eight feet of the hole from No. 5 tee for a par three, and just missed sinking a 50-foot putt on the eighth green when the ball dribbled around the edge of the cup.

Second nine—Murphy ended the morning play six up, turning in a 35, just two above par. While dropping two more holes in the second nine, Bourque played great golf and had a 36 for the round. Murphy shot par on seven of the nine holes and Bourque on five. Both players put up a wonderful exhibition for championship play on the first 18 holes and adopted themselves to the wet greens effectively.

Third nine—Both golfers started out in record breaking fashion in the afternoon, Bourque going the first round in 34, one over par, to cut down his opponent's lead to two holes. He shot par on the second and eighth and made birdies on the first, fourth and seventh holes. Bourque came within an ace of entering golfdom's hall of fame with a hole in one, when the ball was short of the cup only by a few inches on No. 4. He sunk the second shot for a birdie two. Murphy, who had to place his shots dead on to keep in the lead, almost halved the hole when a 40-foot putt jumped the cup. Bourque followed a long tee shot with a long putt to make a birdie on the seventh. Up to the seventh he shot an even par. Bourque took the last shot when Murphy ran into trouble, over driving into a sand pit.

Last round—Going down the last round, both golfers put up a battle royal. Murphy took the first to go three up, halved the second and went four up on the third. Bourque took the next two and halved the sixth. Two up on the sixth and three to go, Murphy cinched the game by sinking his fourth shot for par.

Murphy has been consistently nosed out of the honors for the last three years and in Monday's battle he completely upset the jinx.

HARVEY FALLS TO PETERSON

Jack Regains Empire Heavyweight Crown in London

LONDON, June 4 (CP cable)—Jack Peterson tonight defeated Len Harvey to regain the heavyweight championship of the United Kingdom and add to it the Empire heavyweight crown. Harvey, who took the British title from Toronto's Larry Gains, failed to return to the ring for the 13th round of their 15-round bout.

The boxers did not weigh in for tonight's bout.

Almost 100,000 persons, including Prince George, crowded into White City tadium to see the British Empire champion fall by the wayside after he had taken tremendous punishment in the 12th.

Both men waded in aggressively, landing hard straight lefts and powerful rights. Peterson fought like a tiger during the early rounds but the bout slowed down after Harvey was hurt in the fifth.

PLACE ASSURED RED SOX TEAM

Defeat the Aces 2-11 to Assure at Least First Place Tie

Making her third appearance on the mound for the Red Sox this season, Helen Ling chalked up her third straight victory in downing the Aces 21-11, in Saturday's ladies' softball game. By their victory the Red Sox assured themselves of at least a tie for the first place position in the league.

While only credited with eight strikeouts, three of them in succession in the opening, the Red Sox chucker pitched a heady game all the way. She did not walk a batter and threw seven out at first base and had one putout credited to her.

At least half the runs scored by both teams were the result of errors on the part of the left side of the infield.

The Red Sox scored in every inning except the third, although three seemed to be their lucky number as the Red Sox scored three runs in each of the first, second, sixth, seventh and eighth innings. In the fourth inning they scored four runs and in the fifth two.

The Aces scored one run in the second inning, two in the fourth, one in the fifth, three in the sixth, two in the seventh and two in the ninth.

Jeannette LePage poled out a home run for the Red Sox. Dolly Sutherland, Pauline Stangherlin and Rosa Stewart of the Red Sox, and Elvera Matheson and Eva Smith of the Aces, hit two baggers.

The fielding highlight of the evening was a fast double play by the Aces in the second inning, Isabelle Dawson to Beatrice Lutkwich to Eva Smith. Arla Saare, Beatrice Lutkwich and Clair Talberg played well for the losers, with Agnes and Rosa Stewart and Pauline Stangherlin starring for the Red Sox.

Tommy Bishop and Ed Lutkwich umpired the game.

The teams were:

Red Sox—Jeannette LePage, Peggy Gibbon, Helen Ling, Pauline Stangherlin, Dolly Sutherland, Rosa Stewart, Agnes Stewart, Lena LePage and Junie King.

AUSSIES HAVE EDGE ON LANCS

Visitors Run Up 367; County 285 in the First Innings

MANCHESTER, June 4 (CP cable)—The touring Australians were dismissed for a first-innings total of 367 runs as their cricket match with Lancashire progressed today. In turn the visitors limited the County side to a first-innings score of 285 and when stumps were drawn the Aussies had 26 second-innings runs for one wicket.

Stanley McCabe with 142 led the Australian batting.

Ernest Tyldesley proved a difficult customer for the Aussie trundlers. He rolled up 107 in a masterly innings that included a five and 11 fours. He batted nearly three hours.

Fleetwood-Smith secured half the Lancashire wickets at a cost of 107 runs.

WYATT MAY BE ENGLISH BOSS

Team to Meet the Australians Is Chosen

LONDON, June 4 (CP cable)—R. E. S. Wyatt has been invited to captain the English team which meets Australia in the first of the season's five test matches opening at Nottingham Friday.

Along with Wyatt, the English selectors today announced the names of 18 players from whom the eleven to play against the Australians will finally be chosen. The 14 players are:

Wyatt, captain; the Nawab of Pataudi, Worcester; C. F. Walters, Worcester; Kenneth Farnes, Essex; Herbert Sutcliffe, Yorkshire; Walter Hammod, Gloucester; Patsy Hendren, Middlesex; Maurice Leyland, Yorkshire; Leslie Ames, Kent; Morris Nichols, Essex; Hedley Verity, Yorkshire; Thomas Mitchell, Derby; William Bowes, Yorkshire, and George Geary, Leicester.

England had a long lead at the close of today's play in the test trials, the score board showing: The Rest 218, England 414 for four wickets. The Nawab of Pataudi and Leslie Ames livened up the game, reaching 133 and 108, neither of them out. For their fifth-wicket partnership they had put on 231 runs in 230 minutes.

The English selection committee and 17,000 spectators turned out Saturday at Lord's to see the start of the match in which the rest was dismissed for a first-innings total of 218 runs and England scored 73 for no wickets.

Harold Larwood, Nottinghamshire speed bowler, was unable to take the field as he has not fully recovered from a foot injury suffered last year.

C. F. Walters and Maurice Turnbull led the batting for the Rest with 57 and 46 runs, respectively. Thomas Mitchell, Derby spin artist, was the most effective of England's bowlers. He took four wickets for 12 runs each.

Edward Clark replaced Larwood on the English team.

When stumps were drawn R. E. S. Wyatt and Herbert Sutcliffe, the opening pair, had 36 and 24 runs to their credit.

NEW GRAND CUBS TRIM FAIRVIEW

Fourth Junior Ball Game for Hotel Team

Austin Brennan, on the mound for the New Grand Hotel Cubs junior baseball team, did not allow a hit during a seven-inning game with the Fairview Athletic club on Saturday morning. The only run obtained by the Fairview team came with two down in the sixth inning as the result of a walk, a hit bateman and a wild pitch. Taking advantage of costly errors on the part of the Fairview fielders and hitting at opportune moments, the New Grand club won their fourth straight game of the season 6-1.

Brennan struck out four batters, walked three and hit two, but received sensational support from his fielders. Sam Pasacreta had five putouts in left field and the infield composed of Brubaker, Kirby, S. Ball and Whitfield, also played fast ball all the way.

The only run scored in the first three innings came when Brennan was sent in from third on an attempted squeeze play. The play did not come out as called but no one backed the Fairview catcher when he got Brennan in a hot box. In the latter part of the game the Fairview team's fielding went astray and the New Grand Cubs added five more runs. Emerson Brubaker hit a home run over the left field fence, Bill Kirby poled out a three-bagger and Brennan and Whitfield hit two baggers. Carl Gallicano and Jack Bishop shared the mound duties for the Fairview team. Gallicano, who struck out three batters and walked three, had to retire in the fifth inning when he wrenched his back. Bishop finished the game and struck out four batters while walking one.

Bud Cooper at backstop was the mainstay of the Fairview team. Davin Read and Bishop also played bangup ball.

Al Isaacson and Walter Gillett umpired the game.

The teams were:

New Grand Cubs— Peter Kuntz, Austin Brennan, Jack Whitfield, Bill Kirby, Sid Ball, Emerson Brubaker, Sam Pasacreta, Ray Rowe, Santo Pelpuppo, and Ted Burns.

Fairview A.C.—Bud Cooper, Jack Bishop, Carl Gallicano, Ed Rothery, Howard Hunt, Davin Read, Chuck French, Al Langill, Stan Morris, George Bishop and Wallace.

"Big League" BASEBALL

MAJOR LEAGUE TIPS!! WHEN THE COUNT IS THREE AND TWO - SHAKE OFF THE CATCHER'S SIGN - IT CONFUSES BATTERS!!

By AL DEMAREE

Many little tricks of psychology are used by major league pitchers and catchers to "outsmart" the batters. One o fthese is for the pitcher to always "shake off" the catcher's sign when the count is three balls and two strikes. The pitcher and catcher both know that whatever type of ball that is signed for will be thrown in spite of the apparent "shake-off", but the batter doesn't. This tends to puzzle him and distract his concentration.

TODAY'S QUESTION

What two major league magnates are accomolished musicians? Answer tomorrow.

Answer to yesterday's question: The Boston Red Sox have five left-handed pitchers—Grove, Walberg, Wieland, Ostermueller and Penock.

Al Demaree has prepared an illustrated leaflet called "Baseball Signs" which he will gladly send to any reader requesting it. Adress Al Demaree in care of this paper and be sure to enclose a self-addressed stamped envelope.

ESSEX DEFEATS SURREY CREW

Hampshire Win From Middlesex, County Cricket

LONDON, June 4 (CP cable)—Essex defeated Surrey by an innings and 192 runs, and Hampshire triumphed over Middlesex by eight wickets, in county cricket matches that concluded today.

Scores were:

Surrey 115 and 263 (Read seven for 35, Gregory 67 and Holmes 112); Essex 570 for eight, declared (Ashton 118, O'Connor 248, Eastman 85) at Brentwood.

Middlesex 147 and 164 (Hart 56, Cadogan seven for 52, Hulme 63, Enthoven 58, Herman six for 38); Hampshire 240 and 62 for two (Mead 76 not out, J. Smith eight for 102) at Southampton.

Closing scores in other matches that end tomorrow were as follows:

Derby 263 and 73 for four (Larwood four for 53); Nottinghamshire 202 (Harris 50, Armstrong five for 72, Townsend four for 59) at Nottingham.

Northamptonshire 388 (Times 213, Perks five for 73); Worcestershire 337 for eight (Gibbs 129, Martin 105) at Stourbridge.

Yorkshire 234 and 202 for no wickets (Barber 73 and 141 not out, Davidson 69, Watt five for 47); Kent 382 (Todd 83, Woolley 106) at Leeds.

Glamorgan 218 and 131 for four (L is 56, Geary four for 35); Leicestershire 327 (Berry 52, Armstrong 63, Clay four for 69) at Hinckley.

Warwickshire 219 and 38 for no wickets (Santall 60, Collins 61); Sussex 474 for seven declared (C k 179, Wensley 103 not out) at Birmingham.

ROSENBLOOM TO DEFEND TITLE

NEW YORK, June 4 (AP)—Enzo Fiermonte, handsome Italian boxer who married Mrs. William K. Dick, the former Mrs. John Jacob Astor, last November, has been matched to fight Maxey Rosenbloom for the world's light heavyweight championship in a 15-round bout this September, Matchmaker Jimmy Johnston of Madison Square Garden said today after telephone negotiations.

ADA MACKENZIE LEADS GOLFERS

KITCHENER, Ont., June 4 (CP)—Miss Ada MacKenzie, Toronto's premier woman golfer, today carried off the medal round of the Ontario ladies' golf championship and appeared on the way to her sixth provincial crown. Miss MacKenzie covered the Westmount Golf and Country club course in 84 to head the 59 competitors. The par for the course is 77.

Three were tied for second place with 89s. They were Miss C. Mitchell of Kingston, Miss M. McIntosh of Waterloo and Mrs. A. B. Rutherford of Owen Sound.

Thousands Cheer the New Welter King in Home Town

CHICAGO, June 4 (AP).—Mama Rasofsky always said her boy Barney would be a great man some day.

Today her dream came true, as Barney Ross came to receive one of the most tumultuous welcomes in Chicago's history. He came home not just a world's boxing champion, but as a triple title holder, to be greeted by Gov. Henry M. Horner, Mayor Howard J. Kelly and the multitudes.

Down through a lane of good Irish policemen Mama Rosofsky's son rode in triumph. More than 3000 persons gathered at the Union station, overflowed into the lobby and out in the plaza, to greet the 24-year-old Jewish lad who a week ago tonight conquered Jimmy McLarnin in New York, becoming the first boxer to hold both the lightweight and the welterweight championships of the world simultaneously. He also boasts the synthetic junior welterweight title, recognized here.

At the city hall Ross scored a knockout as a speech maker.

"I'm beginning to appreciate the spirit of Irish good will," he said. "I won the welterweight championship a week ago this night in New York from an Irishman with the good name of McLarnin. I was met at the station by a hundred policemen with Ireland written all over their faces. Now, I am receiving cheering words from the mayor blessed with the name of Kelly. I am almost ashamed I licked an Irishman. They are great people and sportsmen. None better."

CANADA TO ENTER EMPIRE BIKE RACE

Trials at Toronto July 14; B. C. Men Apply for Entry

TORONTO, June 4 (CP)—Canada will be represented by a team of bicycle riders at the British Empire games this summer to compete in the all-British cycling championships at Manchester, England, R. E. Coupland of Toronto, chairman of the Canadian Wheelman's association racing board, said today.

Ontario provincial trials for team selections will be staged at Mohawk park, Brantford, June 30, and the Dominion final trials at the same park, probably July 14. The team will sail from Montreal one week later. Candidates in Vancouver, Saskatoon, Winnipeg, Ottawa, Chatham and Montreal have applied for permission to ride in the Canadian trials.

The Dominion bicycle track championships are scheduled for July 7 at the Canadian national exhibition track, Toronto. The British Empire riders will thus have three weeks of competition before they sail.

They'll only be Young once, Dad

And they're longing for C.C.M. Bicycles

THE precious years of boyhood and girlhood are all too brief. Why not take your boy and girl to a C.C.M. dealer's today and give each a C.C.M. Bicycle? You'll be as happy as they are when you see them riding gayly down the street.

A C.C.M. is so handy for riding to school and going errands. And it's such fun to ride such an easy-running bicycle. So healthful, too—develops strength and puts roses into the cheeks.

This year C.C.M. gives the boys and girls smarter, brighter, snappier bicycles than ever, and at the same time gives Dad wonderful value for his money.

The bright parts on 1934 C.C.M.'s are not merely Chromium plated, but the Chromium is applied over C.C.M. famous 20-year Nickel, so that this super-brightness is sure to last.

They have new Endrick rims, also Chromium plated; rustless steel spokes; new, racy Dunlop tires; comfortable suspension saddles; frames of seamless steel tubing of aeroplane lightness; improved C.C.M. free-coasting, quick-stopping brake; C.C.M. Triplex-Hanger, C.C.M. hard-wearing enamel and other features that, taken altogether, make C.C.M.'s supreme among bicycles.

MAN ON RELIEF DRAWS THE AGA KHAN'S HORSE

Only 46 of the Irish Sweep Tickets in the Dominion

$150,000 MAY BE WON BY 9 PEOPLE

No Canadian Lucky Enough to Draw the Favorite

DUBLIN, June 4 (CP Cable).—Lady luck cost only a fleeting glance at Canada today when the draw in the Irish hospitals' derby sweep was made, but it may be enough to bring fortunes to a lucky few, including a worker in one of the west's relief road camps.

Out of 1278 tickets on horses drawn in the $14,000,000 sweepstakes on Wednesday's classic, only 46 went to Canada, and out of these 46, only nine were on horses that may actually start. The others have been scatched, so the most their ticket-holders may get is $2070.

The remaining nine may win anything up to $150,000, amount of the first prize in each of the 18 prize units into which the big sweep is divided.

No Canadian was lucky enough to draw Colombo, the hottest favorite for the derby in many years.

Two Canadians however, secured tickets on the Aga Khans Umidwar, joint second favorite with Easton. These are Barney McGregor, whose address is Road Camp 122 at Bellevue, Alta., and "Fine Feathers," of the Sunshine Pigeon Lofts in Montreal.

Great Britain, took 749 tickets. United States drew 825, Ireland 80, Canada 46, South Africa 42, India 23, France 22 and the rest of the world 32.

Couver refused to become excited when he was informed of his good fortune in holding a ticket on Alishah, a 26 to 1 shot in the betting. He is branch manager for an engineering firm.

Ernest P. McDowell of Victoria has not learned that he drew a ticket on Valerius, an outsider. Mr. McDowell was out of town today on business.

Other British Columbians who drew horses included:: L. C. Trites, 3636 Oak St., Vancouver, on Haytime. "Tarzan," (691 Cambie St., Vancouver) on Mountain Melody, "Windy" Michel, Kootenay, B. "It couldn't have come at a better time, what ever it is," Mrs. Bradley told a reported of The Nelson Daily News Monday.

"One of my sons gave me the ticket and said, 'Take it, and if it wins anything, it's yours,'" she added.

isdiction and representing creditors and debtors, will be appointed to design settlement proposals which, if accepted by the courts, will be binding upon all parties.

INTEREST RATE

Provision is also made to prevent the collection of interest at a rate greater than 7 per cent on farm mortgages. It is further provided that security creditors shall value their security and if it is less than the face value, the creditor may not assert a claim to recover a sum representing the difference between the value he has placed on the security and the face value.

Involving, as it does, an effectual assignment on the part of the debtor farmer and compulsory acceptance by the creditor of a settlement by so much on the dollar, Rt. Hon. W. L. Mackenzie King, leader of the opposition, foresaw tangible obstacles of jurisdiction. He feared the farmer might be buoyed up with false expectations by virtue of proposals which factors outside control of parliament would prevent from achievement.

NOT CRITICISM

The opposition leader emphasized however, that his remarks were not to be taken as criticism of the measures. "Any legislation," said Mr. King, "coming within the competence of parliament seeking to preserve the rights of all parties and which aims, by reasonable methods at a compromise to meet a situation which in some particulars has become intolerable, will, I believe, commend itself to parliament generally."

Mr. Bennett stressed the fact that creditors were as interested as any other class in keeping the farmers on the land and in a prosperous state. The chief creditors were the large lending companies and representatives of these companies had conferred with the government over the proposed legislation.

The prime minister, in moving the resolution preceding introduction of the bills, recognized the possibility of obstacles to some of the wider provisions arising from questions of jurisdiction, and mentioned the fact that several of the provinces, the prairie provinces in particular, had already passed supplementary legislation.

KEEP THEM ON LAND

The chief object was to keep the farmers—producers of wealth—on the land, the prime minister said, protect them from foreclosure proceedings which would drive them from their farms or reduce them to tenants.

G. G. Coote (U.F.A.-Macleod) expressed appreciation of the move by the government to bring debt relief to farmers and urged that efforts be continued to get a lower interest rate. Paul Mercier (Lib.-St. Henri) urged that the government go further and bring a similar relief measure to the urban property owner.

The debate preceding carrying of the resolution was brief and the house then went into committee of the whole where discussion was general.

AUXILIARY PATROLS HELPED SAVE DAY RELATES DAWSON

Rotary Club Told of Silent Service That Swept Seas, Took Part at Zeebrugge and Sunk Many Subs

A new light was gained by the Rotary club Monday on the essential part played in the war by the British navy's auxiliary patrols, when R. W. Dawson, who served in the motor-launch branch, gave a vivid description of the arduous work—behind the scenes so far as public knowledge of it went—done by the auxiliary craft of many kinds that were found to be needed. A strong protest at the common attitude that no memories of the war should ever be recalled, was voiced by Mr. Dawson.

FORGETTING THE WAR

"I feel very hesitant to give this address because there seems to be these days a tendency to say, 'Oh, another war talk.' 'The war's over. Let's forget it.' I personally regret such an attitude of mind," said Mr. Dawson, "because for those who were fortunate enough to have an active part in the war it was a wonderful experience." Stating it had always seemed to him a wonderful provision of Nature that when one went back over his war experiences, it was not the misery and hardship that he remembered, but the comradeship, he expressed the opinion that if the men of the services had been able to bring back with them the sense of comradeship they had had in the war, and to apply it to civilian pursuits, there would not have been the trial and tragedies that the past few years had witnessed. He said his central idea in these reminiscences would be to show comradeship and service in the perspective they really held.

MEN OF SEA INSTINCT

Entitling his talk, "The Auxiliary Patrols, or the Silent Service," Mr. Dawson gave largely a picture of the portions of their work which he himself witnessed. The personnel, he said, consisted almost entirely of officers and men of the Royal Naval Reserve, engaged prior to its organization in the merchant marine, and of the Royal Naval Volunteer Reserve, made up of amateur yachtsmen and fishermen and those from civilian walks of life who by instinct rather than training had a love for the sea, often inherited in a nation of sea-farers. In the case of the Volunteer Reserve, to which the speaker belonged, it meant an intensive cramming course in seamanship, which covered navigation, the sextant, gunnery signalling, and a vast amount of other work, compressed into one month at Greenwich Naval college, and a month's practical work at Southampton. This was necessary to meet the unforseen situation, for, as Keble Chatterton in his book on "The Auxiliary Patrols," said: "Among the surprises of the Great War perhaps none was greater than the necessity for and the dependence on an improvised navy."

MOTLEY COLLECTION

Describing the Auxiliary Patrol as a motley gathering of ships ranging from private yachts, whalers, trawlers, drifters, motor-launches, and motor-boats, Mr. Dawson stated at the Armistice there were 39,100 ranks and ratings in the trawlers reserve alone. These little ships were scattered from Africa to the Arctic circle, and their duties were legion—from fishing under guard of armed vessels to provide extra food supplies for the base to which they were attached, to mine-sweeping the channels to allow a free flow to commerce to the British ports, from chasing and if possible bombing the wily submarine to laying down smoke-screens for the British monitors off the Belgian coast, or it might have been a policeman's beat, or running errands for the large ships.

CREDIT FROM ENEMY

That the service performed had its definite part in helping to win the war was clear, Mr. Dawson said, quoting the official admission of Admiral Koch, deputy chief of staff under the late Admiral von Holtzendorf, "that the success of the British anti-submarine measures was due to listening-ships and to fast surface ships which compelled the U-boats to remain so long submerged, and to the convoy system." This would include of course destroyers and P-boats, but it also embraced the hundreds of small craft that, while perhaps rarely sighting the enemy, yet kept him under water and thus limited his activities. There were many cases on record where large steel-built submarines, often armed with a 4.1-inch gun and a 22-pounder, had run away from a wooden-built-hull motor-launch, never armed with anything larger than a 13-pounder, and in a number of cases only a 3-pounder. Mr. Dawson said he often thought the submarine commanders were very lacking in initiative, for if they had so chosen they could have blown a whole flotilla of the motor-launches out of the water, keeping out of range and suffering no damage themselves, a course that would have had an immense moral effect on the officers and men opposed to them.

THE "M. L.'s"

When it became evident to the admiralty early in the war that small craft were going to play a large part, particularly in the anti-submarine campaign, Mr. Dawson said, an order of 550 motor-launches, or "M. L.'s", of wood plank construction, 80-feet long V-botton type, and about 12 feet beam, was placed in the United States, and they were turned out like sausages at an almost incredible speed, shipped over on freighters, and put into service immediately. Each one carried a crew of nine—two officers, two motor-boatmen or engineers, and five hands. A steel bulkhead divided the magazine from the cook's galley, with its gasoline stove. Aft were the officers quarters, and fore the men's quarters, everything, including the galley, being on a minute scale. The gas tanks were down the sides of the ship, the engines burning 40 gallons an hour for a speed of 18 to 20 knots, and the ship carried 2000 gallons of fuel. A 13-pounder was mounted forward, and four depth charges, each weighting 280 pounds, were carried on the stern. When first commissioned each of these craft also carried two hand depth charges, weighing about 56 pounds apiece, which could be hurled at a sub, and also lance-bombs on the end of a broomstick to drop on it, but owing to the careless manner in which these two latter classes of goods were handled, the authorities withdrew them. Below decks were two 240 h.p. internal combustion engines, which worked well if fed good gasoline, but not so well when the admiralty issued paraffin or coal oil to mix with it when supplies were short.

ABSENCE PREFERRED

"So you see we had all the ingredients of a first-class bomb, and it rather hurt my feeling," Mr. Dawson related, "when, on more than one occasion, when lying in port, the cook had an argument in the galley and the stove caught fire, and callous individuals cut us loose and pushed us out to sea, just in case we were not successful in overcoming the fire before the 2000 gallons of gas, the T.N.T. and magazine caught fire. However, those were the days of the survival of the fittest, and one could hardly blame them."

One of Mr. Dawson's first thrills was when he was sent from Stornaway on the island of Lewis, in the Hebrides, his first base, in charge of a patrol that had mutinied and put back to port on account of the weather. His instructions to "see that the crew had a stomach tonic" were being carried out, when the galley broke loose in the worst of the storm, the craft sprang a leak, and the forepeak filled with water. The destination, however, was reached, which was more than he at times expected.

FINDING OF MINES

On another occasion, from the same base, his motor-launch was sent out to sink some German mines reported floating on the surface. The latest German idea in mine-laying was to lay them in couples, connected by a cable, so that if a ship missed one, it might pick up the cable and draw them alongside. Locating the pair, the craft took up its position to windward and commenced rifle fire in order to explode and sink them, but the bobbing steel spheres at a respectable distance were not easy to hit, or at any rate, their horns, which were the vulnerable points, and a complication occurred when the engines, owing to the poor fuel mixture, broke down, and the craft started to drift down upon the mines. In the end poles were used to fend off the mine from the launch's sides, great delicacy of handling being required to see that the poles did not hit the danger points, the horns. Mr. Dawson displayed a horn, showing how a very light blow could bend the lead shaft, and so crack the test-tube it contained, and free its content of acid to contact a zinc plate, thus setting up an electric current that would set off the detonator and explode the mine. Each mine, he said, had four or five of these horns, and on the occasion he described they certainly looked ugly, until the engines started hitting again, and enabled the work to be finished at the proper distance.

Presently Mr. Dawson found himself order to Scapa Flow, still further north, in the Orkneys, the base of the Grand Fleet. As the islands were neared, a patrol seeing strangers, sent up signal flags that read, "All ye who enter here abandon hope." The author of this welcome was Lieut. Crozier Bourke of Longbeach. Some dozens of islands, large and small, comprise the Orkney group. Mr. Dawson stated, and the tortuous channels contained some of the worst water in the British Isles, large ships with full steam ahead sometimes being at a standstill as they bucked a 10 to 12 knot tide in the Pentland Firth. Scapa Flow was chosen as a mooring place for the Grand Fleet where it could lie within close striking distance of the German coast, and at the same time be protected against submarine attack.

To give this protection, many dozens of ships were commendeered, ordered to Scapa Flow, and then sunk to block the channels between the islands, Scapa Flow being practically an inland sea. Mr. Dawson showed a large map he had drawn of the Orkneys, with these various barriers marked. A western entrance was used for smaller warships, and was protected by a single steel net. The southern entrance, however, by which the Grand Fleet entered or left, was protected by two steel nets about half a mile apart, down to the bottom, four trawlers being stationed in the center, two at each net, to operate the gates by drum, when a craft giving the proper signal wished to enter or leave. Moored in this enclosed sea, 15 miles by eight to 10, the Grand Fleet from time to time would dash out to sea, with a screen of about 35 destroyers, whenever there was a report that the enemy was out.

The gate area was divided on the map into a number of squares, at the bottom of each of which a mine was fixed, with a hydrophone or listening apparatus attached, each connected by cable with a listening station on the land. If a submarine got through the first gate the sound of its propellors would be caught by the hydrophone of its particular square, and a button pressed would mean the mine under it would be exploded. This happened just once during the war, two weeks before the Armistice, when Lieut. Emsmann, of the Flanders flotilla, made a supreme effort to get through, and was blown up between the nets.

Among the incidents Mr. Dawson witnessed in Scapa Flow, was the blowing up of the Vanguard, 19,000-ton battleship, at midnight on July 9, 1917, with a loss of 900 men. It was believed a time- bomb was placed in its magazine by some worker of German descent, when it last took on ammunition.

Mr. Dawson's last phase of service was on the north Cornish coast, from the southern point of the Bristol channel to Land's End, chiefly in connection with convoy work.

He declared no account of the Auxiliary Patrols would be complete without a tribute to the mine-sweepers, who had few of the excitements of war but all of its deadly perils. In this connection he quoted the stirring verses of Kipling, glorifying the deeds of a flotilla of sweepers that operated off the Foreland.

The speaker gave many other incidents and facts, including what is known of the loss of the Hampshire, with Lord Kitchener, off the Brough of Birsay, on June 5, 1916, by a newly placed German mine, there being only 12 survivors of a crew of 600, the weather being so violent that the escort of two destroyers had to turn back.

The attack on Zeebrugge, in which the motor-launches played such a vital part, was so famaliar, he said, he need not go into it.

He stated that the Germans lost 199 submarines, 178 being sunk by the enemy, seven being interned in neutral ports, and 14 being disabled, and sunk by the Germans themselves. Of the 178 that were sunk by the enemy, about 40 were credited to mines, 16 were torpedoed by British submarines and one by a French submarine, about a dozen were sunk by the British mystery ships, and six were bombed by planes. Others fell victims to nets, destroyers, cruisers, patrol boats, chasers, armed fishing vessels, trawlers, and armed merchantmen. The fate of a dozen or so was never fully explained, most being probably attributable to mines.

In April, 1917, Mr. Dawson said, sinkings by German submarines reached 1,000,000 tons for the month, and Britain was within a month to six weeks of famine. Could Germany have kept 50 submarines constantly at work on the great shipping routes in the winter and spring of 1917, nothing could have prevented her from winning the war. The convoy system was then developed, to circumvent tht raiders of the deep.

The Auxiliary Patrols played no small part in their final defeat.

P. G. Morey, chairman of the music committee, which was responsible for the day's program, warmly thanked Mr. Dawson for his splendid address.

HENDERSON BROACHES SUBJECT

Question of Germany's return to the conference was brought up by Arthur Henderson, president of the parley, who urged declarations Friday by the six powers that were neutral in the great war and by Turkey showed the importance of securing Germany's participation in the deliberations.

He said notes at the beginning of the year from France, Italy, the United Kingdom and Germany revealed a serious attempt to reconcile differences. The steering committee, he added, should recommend to the commission some method to secure Germany's participation in efforts to build up a convention. He proposed the conference adjourn in order to seek return of Germany, a suggestion that was supported by Anthony Eden, British representative.

From Louis Barthou, French foreign minister, however, the proposal brought an outburst which recalled his clash last Wednesday with Sir John Simon, British foreign secretary.

WILL NOT "TROT" TO GERMANY

"If you mean the Steering committee should trot over to Berlin for a session," he said, "I for one will not go. It would be useless unless one had something in one's valise. Eden has been touring Europe without results. We have valuable problems before us; let's get on with our work."

Norman H. Davis, United States ambassador-at-large, agreed that Germany should be brought back into the fold if possible and said he thought the question of security might be settled more easily if the reich was represented.

Security, he emphasized, must be considered in a just manner, but many nations, like the United States, thought the best method to achieve security was by disarmament. They were not interested, he said, in methods to active security unless they were connected with disarmament.

Mr. Eden said real progress would be achieved if the four notes Mr. Henderson mentioned could be reconciled. He said it would be unnecessary to establish new committees which would be useless.

He added that he believed the proposals of Foreign Commissar Maxim Litvinoff of Russia were outside the proper scope of the conference.

(The Russian plan would make the conference a permanent organization for protection of world peace which would strive for agreement on arms limitation and reduction; work out agreements to guarantee security, and consult among powers in case of treaty violations.)

M. Litvinoff said everybody wanted Germany back in the conference but that meanwhile work of the parley should continue.

Mr. Henderson ended the discussion by emphasizing that when he told the conference Friday the situation was very serious he was not exaggerating.

Thunderstorms appeared in the region, indicating the storm was not over.

CHERRIES HIT

Starting late Sunday, rain fell within a radius of 75 miles of Walla Walla, Wash., greatly benefitting wheat crops, but causing damage to the cherry trees.

A soaking rain fell throughout eastern Washington and northern Idaho. Throughout the Palouse country, where growers said spring wheat crops were being badly burned, the rain was hailed joyfully. But in Lewiston and other sections, cherry growers said the rain would cause the fruit to crack.

At San Francisco the normal rainfall is only .18 inches, the weather bureau said, but the precipitation already had measured one-quarter inch today and it was still raining. The weather bureau said the rain in California mostly was in the north and central sections, with some in the high Sierras. The forecast was for more rainfall.

Dr. C. B. Cooley of Norman, who assisted officials in investigating the explosion, said Crawford was the only person in a position to see the blast, and he did not witness it, because his back was turned at the moment.

Petty was about a half mile from the scene. Distraught by the accident, he turned aside questioners with "What is there I can say?"

U.S.A. FRAMES HUGE PROGRAM HELP FARMERS

$1,780,000 Approved by Representatives as Supply Bill

PLAN SIX MILLION ADDITIONAL AID

Month of Drought Is Most Serious; the Prices Rise

CHICAGO, June 4 (AP)—While drought stricken areas of the middle-western United States farm belt, given respite from abnormal heat today, drank in beneficial but inadequate week-end rains, Washington officialdom, led by President Roosevelt, framed a multi-million dollar relief program for the blighted regions.

The president summoned congressional representatives of 15 states to meet him tomorrow to discuss relief plans.

A report made to the relief administration said famine conditions would prevail in one section unless early rain or federal aid were forthcoming.

The house of representatives approved a supply bill providing $1,780,000 and a potential relief expenditure of up to $6,000,000,000. The measure, it was asserted, gave ample authority for providing funds for drought relief.

RELIEVE PESSIMISM

Rains coursed through parched fields in Minnesota, North Dakota, South Dakota and Mantana, and in scattered sections of Iowa, Illinois, Nebraska and Kansas. Thirsty roots of all but dead wheat in the Dakotas received water, relieving pessimism of farmers in those states.

A month of severe drought has created substantial price gains in farm commodities, statistics on Chicago markets showed. The following table gives the price range from April 30 to June 4.

	April 30	June 4
July wheat	79½	06½-¾
July corn	47⅛	53⅞-54
July oats	28½	41¼-⅜
July rye	55¼	60⅞
Hogs, (top)	3.60	3.65
Cattle (top)	9.00	3.90

Farm economists asserted price gains would prove substantial offset to the unofficial estimated drought damage of more than $200,000,000.

parison with terms given other nations.

Great rBitain, the note said, is convinced that resumption of full payments might provoke financial and economic chaos and had, accordingly, suspended its claims on its debtors. The United States, to speed world recovery, the note asserted, should do its part by recognizing the realities of the situation and revising present agreements on a payable basis.

WASHINGTON NOT SURPRISED

Official Washington, while disappointed, was not surprised. The arguments put forth were, to a large degree, reiteration of the British note of December, 1932. Officials were represented as believing that other debtor nations would follow Britain's lead. The British note thus would force a showdown on the entire debts question with President Roosevelt expected to break the deadlock by inviting the London government to enter into discussions for a settlement they consider possible to fulfill.

"His Majesty's government," the British note said, "are faced with a choice between only two alternatives, viz., to pay in full the sum of $262,000,000 as set forth in the communication from the United States treasury, dated May 25, or to suspend all interim payments pending a final revision of the settlement, which has been delayed by events beyond the control of the two governments.

REGRET CIRCUMSTANCES

"Deeply as they regret the circumstances which have forced them to take such a decision, His Majesty's government feel they could not assume the responsibility of adopting a course which would revive the whole system of inter-governmental war debts payments.

"As already pointed out, the resumption of full payment to the United States would necessitate a corresponding demand by His Majesty's government from their own war debtors. It would be a recreation of the conditions which existed prior to the world crisis and were in a large measure responsible for it.

"Such procedure would throw a bombshell into the European arena which would have financial and economic repercussions over all five continents and would postpone indefinitely the chances of world recovery."

FINLAND TO PAY

A few minutes before the British note was made public L. Astrom, the Finnish minister, informed the state department that the Finnish government would make full payments of its war debt instalment amounting to $166,538 in New York on June 15.

The British note said that while payment would be deferred until "it becomes possible to discuss an ultimate settlement of inter-governmental war debts with a reasonable prospect of agreement," the British government has no intention of repudiating its obligations and is prepared to enter into a discussion of the war debts question whenever President Roosevelt feels such a conference would produce results of value.

OTHER NATIONS SILENT

Debt payments totalling nearly $500,000,000 from 10 other nations are also due on June 15, and the state department has received no information concerning the attitude any of the other governments will take.

The note pointed out that Great Britain had made large loans to many other nations and that in paying the United States nearly half of the original loan, it already had paid all it had received from other nations as well as considerable sums from its own resources.

SUSPENDS ALL DEMANDS

Great Britain, because of the world crisis, the note added, has suspended all demands on its debtors until a general revision of inter-governmental debts can be effected in the interest of world recovery. The note said the improvement that has taken place in the British budgetary situation was due to unprecedented sacrifices by the British people.

"For 15 years," the note said, "they (the British people) have been paying taxation on a scale for which it would be hard to find a parrallel elsewhere. This taxation amounting to close to one-quarter of the national income has aggravated the depression over a long period and constituted a formidable problem to the national finances ever since the war ended."

SACRIFICES HELP PEOPLE

These sacrifices in taxation, the note added, have enabled the government to restore unemployment allowances and salaries and it would have been "a gross act of social injustice to have denied this relief to the people in order to pay war debts to the United States while suspending war debt payments due to the United Kingdom."
