MANITOBA GRAIN SUFFERS IN HEAT

Warm Weather Continues Over Prairie; Some Sections Have Rain

WINNIPEG, July 16.—Parched grain fields in many districts of Manitoba, which had suffered from drought for several weeks, received some relief late this afternoon.

A score of districts, in widely-separated parts of the prairies reported rain, mostly showers, during the afternoon, varying from a few minutes to one hour's duration. In some sections the rain, while falling but a short time, was extremely heavy and will be of immediate benefit to field crops.

Saskatchewan, and Alberta, however, were not so fortunate. The heat wave continued over these two provinces, though not so intensive as on Monday and tonight's forecast from the weather bureau predicted continuation of "fair and warm" conditions with probably scattered thunder showers. Cooler conditions were forecast for Manitoba.

Brandon, the center of one of Manitoba's greatest grain growing provincial districts, reported the highest temperature in the west today, a maximum of 93 degrees shortly after noon. Later in the day, however, there was an electrical storm and a heavy fall of rain. The rain today was scattered. Some sections received considerable rain, but a few miles apart, had none. There are districts in Manitoba in the north, which have been without rain since the middle of June.

Pair Flying From Winnipeg Land for Time at Grand Forks Airport

VANCOUVER, July 16.—Losing their way as a result of a defective compass, Mr. and Mrs. Hall S. Hart, flying from Winnipeg to Vancouver, were forced to land in a hay field near Mount Vernon, Wash., to get their bearings before arriving in Vancouver today at 6:35 p.m. The aviators experienced considerable difficulty in taking off from the hay field, making three attempts before they succeeded in rising from the ground.

The flyers also stopped at Grand Forks, B.C., today, after a hop from High River, Alta.

SASKATCHEWAN PROGS DIVIDED

Cross Currents Crop Up; Disfavor Alliance But Favor End Of Libs

REGINA, July 16.—Cross currents running through the progressive movement in Saskatchewan came to the surface in speeches made by more than a score of speakers at the annual convention of the Progressives held in Regina today.

The four Progressive members-elect were in attendance and also three Progressive members of the federal house, W. R. Fansher of Last Mountain, John Evans of Rosetown and Milton Campbell of MacKenzie.

Alliances with either of the old parties were disapproved. A majority of the speakers, however, favored turning out the present government.

Teh voice of the convention appeared to be strongly against the holding of another election. One suggestion was made that if the Liberal machine could be got rid of there might be an opportunity to have the Liberals enter a co-operative government. Several speakers expressed opposition to party governments.

The meeting was presided over by C. E. Little of Regina, president.

Rosslander Dies, Coast

MYSTERY IN DEATH FORMER ROSSLAND MAN

Thomas Duffie Brown, Passes After Being Picked Up Injured

NATURAL CAUSES STATES THE JURY

Played Hockey and Lacrosse in Rossland; Death Is Probed

VANCOUVER, B. C., July 16.—Thomas Duffie Brown, prominent local rugby player and executive of the local Restmore company, who died under mysterious circumstances here and whose death is being probed, was a former resident of Rossland, where he was married. His wife survives him.

At Kaslo he played hockey and lacrosse. Later he went to Spokane where he was auditor for the Spokane and Eastern Trust company.

Brown found unconscious on a street Saturday night, was taken to police station. He talked rationally. He had a large bruise on his head.

In the morning when the cells were opened for prisoners to come out he was found unconscious and he died shortly afterward in a hospital. His wife stated that when he left home he had a considerable sum of money and papers. Both were missing, and she believes he was beaten and robbed.

Friends will ask the police commission to probe why he was not sent to the hospital sooner instead of being left in a cell.

NATURAL DEATH

VANCOUVER, July 16.—A coroner's jury this evening brought in a verdict of death from natural causes, in the case of Thomas Duffie Brown, who died in the general hospital over the week-end after having been found on the street in a dazed condition. A post-mortem examination revealed a "weak heart, a watered condition of the lungs, and a congested brain."

Mr. Brown was a well-known rugby player and was chief accountant with a local firm. He was born in Ingersoll, Ont., in 1885. He came to Rossland, B. C., as a young man and later lived in Spokane, Wash.

WORKED IN ROSSLAND

ROSSLAND, B. C., July 16.—Thomas Duffie Brown who died at Vancouver Sunday, apparently as the result of being beaten and robbed Saturday night, had been a resident of Rossland from 1902 till 1908. As far as could be ascertained tonight he had not since visited the Golden City.

Coming here in 1902 from Ontario he was employed in the office of Hunter Bros., Ltd. His wife was also employed at Hunter Bros. and it was here that he met and was married to her. She was formerly Miss Miller and came here from Northport.

While here he was interested in all sports, playing hockey with the Mercantile league of that day. He also played lacrosse.

Mr. and Mrs. Brown left here in 1908 for Spokane where Mr. Brown's mother now resides. Later they removed to Vancouver. Mr. Brown entering the employ of the Restmore company there. When the great war broke out he enlisted and served four years overseas, returning to again enter the employ of the Restmore company.

DROUGHT HITS THE OLD LAND

England Suffers Water Shortage; Practice Conservation Methods

LONDON, July 16.—The ministry of health today issued a statement warning regard to the threatened shortage of water throughout the country. Water authorities in municipalities are urged to take early measures for the conservation of supplies as the figures reveal a more pronounced shortage than at any time since 1921. The statement adds that statistics over a long period of years indicate the rainfall for the next few years might be short of the average.

Today brought no relief from the drought. The parched fields and emptying reservoirs had no respite. In many areas the situation created by the prolonged dry spell is serious.

Weather experts speak of the prospect of severe thunderstorms locally but the general outlook is "mainly fair." In Suffolk the heat wave has been responsible for the early ripening of the crops and the barley is likely to be only half an average crop. The problem of feed for cattle and sheep is becoming acute as the pastures in many areas are drying up and there are fears of a milk famine in the country.

FIVE INSTANTLY KILLED IN CRASH

WINDSOR, N.S., July 16.—Five persons were instantly killed today when the motor car in which they were riding, was struck by the Dominion Atlantic railway's express, New York at Aikens Crossing, three miles from here. The dead:

Charles H. Wright, Wolfville, his son, Graham, aged 11; a daughter, Jean, 16; his father-in-law, N. W. Eaton of Canning; and the latter's daughter, Mrs. Frank Heuston.

A jury decided the tragedy was accidental and that no blame could be attached to the train crew.

Eskimo Lads, Unable to Stand Canadian Climate, Are Returned to Arctic; Had Become Scholars

MONTREAL, July 16.—Two little Eskimo lads, who were brought to Lakefield school last year by the Ven. Archdeacon Fleming from Baffin Land and Chesterfield inlet, left the south land today, probably forever. Both lads, Sam and Ben, very much against their own wills, departed on the Hudson's Bay company's steamer Marcopie from this port. The peculiar susceptibility of the Eskimos to the white man's diseases made any further stay of the two lads so hazardous that it was decided to send them back to their homes. Both lads have had colds, influenza, pneumonia, measles and mastoids during their year in the south and those responsible for their welfare although expressing the greatest regret at parting with the two boys, who have been marvels of cheerfulness and industry despite their many trials, have decided that the only healthy place for the Eskimo is the Arctic.

When the boys arrived in Lakefield last year, they could scarcely speak English. They had never been in swimming and had never played games. Now they can both speak excellent English, can read and write, and have picked up the games of their school with usual quickness. One is considered a fair cricketer and the other has learned to swim.

A party of missionaries will be on the same boat with the two boys. The missionaries are setting out for five year stay in the various Anglican missions in the Arctic.

King Continues to Make Progress

LONDON, July 16.—His Majesty King George tonight was again said to be progressing well after the operation he underwent yesterday for drainage of an abscess in his chest. His physicians paid their usual nightly visit to check his condition, after which it was officially stated that the king had a good day and continues to progress satisfactorily.

CHINESE MAKE THEIR REPLY TO SOVIET DEMANDS

Make Two Demands; Ask Release Prisoners; Ask Protection Nationals

NANKING, China, July 16.—The Nationalist government at midnight, just within the three days allotted by Soviet Russia, replied to the latter's demands in the Chinese Eastern Railways of Manchurian dispute.

The Chinese made two demands, although emphasizing that they were not counter demands to those of the Russian note.

The first was that the Soviet should release all Chinese imprisoned in Russia, which were estimated in an earlier official statement at 1000. The second was that the Soviet government should adequately protect Chinese Nationalists in Russia from aggression and repression.

Moscow was informed that a Chinese plenipotentiary was leaving Nanking for that capital to discuss all pending matters between the governments.

The plea was made that the action of the Chinese government in dismissing Russian officials on the railway and taking over the various concessions was justified because Soviet railroad officials had not carried out faithfully the terms of the 1924 agreement providing for joint operation.

The note concluded: "The Nationalist government will always welcome Soviet subjects and merchants in China but the recent arrest of Russians in Manchuria is only just, being necessary for the suppression of communist propaganda, and the maintenance of order in Manchuria."

Dr. Topliff Says No Paralysis at The Golden City

ROSSLAND, B. C., July 16.—Dr. E. E. Topliff, medical health officer, has denied emphatically that there are any cases of infantile paralysis in Rossland. A small boy was under observation, but the symptoms cleared up, and the doctor declared the health of the city at the present time, to be exceptionally good. Everything points to the golden city regaining the position she held a few years ago, that of having the lowest death rate on the continent.

He's 114, She's 94, and Couple Now Wed for Period 74 Years

CAMPBELL FORD, Ont. July 16.—On a picturesque farm in Sydney township Joshua Anderson, 114, and his wife, Mary, 94 are celebrating their 74th year of married life in the best of health and spirits.

Mr. Anderson has abstained from intoxicants since he was married but confessed he is fond of tobacco. He still reads without his glasses, and has had the services of a doctor only once since childhood.

39 DROWNED AS TRANSPORT GOES DOWN OFF CHILE

Ships Arrive for Rescue Too Late; Storm Raging All Day; One Saved

VALPARAISO, Chile, July 16.—Only one man of the crew of the Chilean transport Ablao survived the sinking of the vessel off this port today. Thirty-nine others were drowned.

A severe storm had raged over southern and central Chile all day and was particularly severe off the ports of Valparaiso and San Antonio.

At noon the transport radioed an appeal for help and several vessels started to its aid. The ship sank almost at once, however.

The nearest ships when the transport sent its "SOS" were the Flora, Antartico and the Imperial. The last named was the only one to reach the scene in time to pick up a survivor. Boatswains Mate Enrique Aranda was taken from the water.

The transport was en route from Lota to Iquique at the time of the catastrophe. Despite the severity of the storm no other vessels have been reported in distress.

The Ablao was launched under the name of Ernst Hemsoth at Emden, German, in 1923. It was 212 feet in length and its gross tonnage was 1124.

Liberal Conceded Win, Saskatchewan

Marion Has 246 Majority in Nine Polls, Ile a La Crosse Riding

MEADOW LAKE, Sask., July 16.—Jules Marion, Liberal candidate in the Isle a La Crosse constituency, will again represent this seat in the legislature.

Tonight with nine polls heard from out of 23, he has a majority of 246 over A. A. Bock, Conservative candidate, and in which Conservative organizers here conceded victory to the Libzeral candidate and that the remaining polls will increase this lead, with Bock's deposit in danger.

The biggest surprise of the day is the vote from Ile a La Crosse poll, which gave Marion a majority of 109. It was expected that he would receive a fair majority at this point but in view of the intensive campaign waged against him in the northern polls this majority has surprised all.

ANDERSON SILENT

SASKATOON, July 16.—Dr. J. T. M. Anderson, Conservative leader, preferred not to discuss the Ile a La Crosse election here until all returns are received.

"I wouldn't say the election is conceded," he declared.

LIB LEADER PLEASED

SASKATOON, July 16.—Commenting on the election results in Ile A La Crosse, Premier J. G. Gardiner, who was here tonight, said:

"The result is most satisfactory. We presented our record and policies and appreciate the attitude taken toward them by the people of the constituency."

HIGH WINDS SPREAD FIRE ON HILLSIDE

Two Square Miles Timber Already Consumed By the Flames

FOUR CONSTRUCTION CAMPS WIPED OUT

Fire on C. P. R. Right of Way Near Farron is Put Out

High winds on the main lake yesterday afternoon caused the forest fire which started four miles south of Procter during C. P. R. slashing operations on Sunday, to spread dangerously and to get entirely out of control. It is estimated that an area of two square miles of timber has already been burned and the flames have as yet shown no signs of abating.

Four of the construction camps in the path of the blaze were destroyed. The men were able to get out most of their supplies, however.

Upwards of 100 men, under the charge of Ranger J. M. Burge of the district forestry branch, have been rushed in to fight the fire. The majority of these are C. P. R. employees.

Forestry officials will make no statement as to how long it will be before the fire is under control.

Fire which started on the C. P. R. right of way east of Farron on Monday is reported as being under control. Forty men and the C. P. R. tank car which were rushed to the scene of the blaze had the fire well under control at an early hour yesterday afternoon. It is expected that the fire will be completely out by tonight.

Eight-Year-Old Discarded Stallion Wins Pacing Derby

KALAMAZOO, Mich., July 16.—A little roan stallion eight years old, thrown into the racing junk heap three years ago, because he was regarded as a hopeless cripple, came back to life today to capture the $25,000 American pacing derby, richest event of the Grand Circuit season. The winner was Counterpart, son of John A. Haille-Argotress, owned and driven by H. M. Parshall, of Urbana, Ohio, who drives horses for the love of it.

Parshall purchased the horse last fall for $1000, nursed him back to racing form and walked off with the race to the astonishment of 10,000 spectators, defeating a field of 22 pacing stars.

Counterpart won $12,500 for its owner with $4000 going to Black Scott, who finished second. Colonel Strong was third, landing $2250.

Stipe Charges in Saskatchewan Denied by Premier

SASKATOON, July 16.—Returning7 from Ile a La Crosse, Premier J. G. Gardiner, here tonight denied charges of Dr. R. Stipe, Progressive member for Hanley, at this afternoon's session of the provincial Progressive association in Regina.

Dr. Stipe alleged that Progressive members-elect and the Progressive central executive had held a "secret session" with Premier Gardiner in the offices of George Thorne, secretary of the provincial association. Premier Gardiner also denied the remark of W. B. Caswell, Saskatoon, who said "Jimmie Gardiner had offered two seats in the cabinet to Progressives."

Quality of Blooms Are Down As Result of Water Shortage In District

CRESTON, B. C., July 16.—The very dry season the district has experienced with the inevitable water shortage, provoked in part by the light winter snowfall, kept down the quality of the blooms on display at the flower show of Creston and District Women's institute in Trinity United church hall on Saturday. There was almost the usual quantity on display but the judges, W. G. Littlejohn and J. B. Holder, remarked on the poorer quality.

The prize winners were:

Iris—Mrs. M. Young, second.

Roses—Mrs. A. E. French, Mrs. James Cook.

Pinks—Mrs. Charles Moore, Mrs. James Cook.

Creston Women's Institute Will Supply Magazines

Send To Men on Construction, Procter; Turns Down Bonnington Resolution

CRESTON, B. C., July 16.—Transaction of routine business, with a demonstration of making novelty cookies, occupied most of the time of the July session of Creston and District Women's institute which was in charge of the president, Mrs. R. Stevens.

Information has reached the institute that magazines and like reading matter would be appreciated by the hundreds of men that are employed on the C. P. R. construction between Sirdar and Procter. Institutes at other points are doing work of this sort and Creston will help out from this end. Anyone who has magazines to contribute have been asked to leave them at the public library.

The institute decided not to indorse a resolution of the Bonnington institute requesting the education department to introduce bible readings in the schools of the province.

Money was voted to purchase some tools which will be at the disposal of those who wish to work on their plots in the cemetery. The inplements will be stored in the tool box in the new building erected last year at the cemetery.

The institute has also decided to put on a dinner on the first evening of this year's fall fair. This will be in co-operation with the fair directors. A nominal charge will be made. All the judges will be present and exhibitors will be asked to attend and take this opportunity to discuss with the judges any matters that have arisen at the exhibition about which they wish to be enlightened.

The novelty cookie demonstration was in charge of Mrs. Stevens and the tea hostesses were: Mrs. McLaren, Mrs. A. E. French, Mrs. Emil Johnson, Mrs. Compton and Mrs. Beninegr. A free-will offering of $2.60 was taken for the crippled children's fund.

Urges New Zealand Girls to Take Up Domestic Work

AUCKLAND, New Zealand, July 16.—New Zealand girls should be persuaded to take up domestic work and leave their jobs in business to men exclusively, according to Dr. E. P. Neale, noted economist, who voiced his suggested solution of the unemployment problem before the New Zealand Economic society.

"The excessive number of women entrenched in positions in the cities of New Zealand and most of the other countries of the world make it very difficult for boys leaving school to get a foothold," said Dr. Neale. "Owing to the war there has been a spectacular rise in the number of women in commercial offices, the majority of the rarely advancing beyond junior positions. The number has doubled in New Zealand from 1911 to 1921, and at the same time there are 4000 more boys, relative to the population, looking for work."

Dr. Neale sees a change coming, however, which will improve the situation.

"The world tendency toward a lower birth rate," he said, "together with the exceptionally few births during the war, means that the number of young people seeking work is becoming smaller every year, and, in addition, it is to be noted that there is now a tendency in the business world to curtail the number of posts open for women. The future is safe, but for the present it would be a splendid thing if the women would voluntarily quit their jobs."

Dr. Neale quoted figures showing that whereas 12,000 women in New Zealand were assisting in the home in 1911, only 2000 were so occupied 15 years later.

Billions Saved In U. S. A. Because Of Prohibition

NEW YORK, July 16.—In the opinion of Prohibition Administrator Maurice Campbell, prohibition has saved the American people billions of dollars formerly spent for liquor.

Addressing the National Sales Managers' club, he said that based on the average yearly expenditure of prewar days, with no allowance for increased consumption or increased prices, $35,919,000,000 would have been spent for alcoholic drink in the last 10 years but for prohibition.

In the years of 1914, 1915 and 1916, he said, the American people, out of their annual average earnings of $34,000,000,000 spent $3,591,000,0000, or about 10 per cent, for alcoholic drinks.

Were it not for prohibition, he said, the people still would be spending 10 per cent of their earnings for liquor which in 1928 would have meant an expenditure of $8,100,000,000 out of annual earnings of $81,000,000,000.

He declared the resulting savings have gone into bank accounts, building and loan societies, stock investments, automobiles, homes and life insurance.

QUESNEL, B. C., July 16.—Eight thousand live muskrats are being shipped from the Swan Lake Fur Farm, near here, during the present summer to various parts of the world.

Three thousand are now ready for shipment to Northern China and smaller consignments will go to England, Scotland and other European destinations.

It is estimated that there are 50,000 rats in the Swan Lake area at present and officials of the farm state that the rabbit has nothing on the muskrats when it comes to multiplying. Dredges are being installed and after trapping for the season has been completed a series of canals will be dug to provide bunkhouses for the rats in the Swan Lake area, so that eventually there will be ample room for tens of thousands of these animals.

NORDON CORP'N. ROYALTY WELLS

Indicate 50,000-Barrel Daily Oil Output; Four Wells Already Producing

An official review of the present condition of royalty wells of Nordon Corporation in the Santa Fe Springs field, indicates that within two months daily output will be over 50,000 barrels. As this product is selling at $1.40 per barrel at the well, Nordon's income under such production conditions would be well over $80,000 per annum. When this single drilling program has been completed the company will hold royalties upon thirteen wells.

At this time four Nordon royaty wells are producing over 20,000 barrels daily. Two are producing from the Buckbee sands and two from the O'Connell sands, which lie below the Buckbee. Still below either the Buckbee or O'Connell sands are the Upper and Lower Clark sands, which are expected to be more prolific than any yet tapped in this great field. All Nordon royalty wells will be deepened to lower horizons.

Upon the basis of present daily production of $20,000 barrels, Nordon's net income is now reported running at the rate of about $325,000 per annum. This is absolutely net, there being no expense in collection, as royalties are settled for direct by the refining and distributing companies to which the oil is delivered by pipe line.

Three more Nordon royalty wells are expected to reach production within two weeks, while three more are preparing to cement in the prolific O'Connell sands and should be on production within one month. The present producing wells are No. 7 and 9, in the Buckbee sands, and Nos. 10 and 14 in the O'Connell zone.

Santa Fee Springs is the greatest pool in California, with eight major distinct horizons of production. It is largely due to recent increased production in this area that California now leads all states with daily average production of around 860,000 barrels.

LARGE CANADIAN INERTEST

Since Nordon Corporation was organied in April and the first issue of stock offered to the public, a large control of the capitaliation has passed into Canadian hands. The company owns very important acreage in the Alberta fields, particularly in the Highwood structure, now being drilled by Imperial Oil, and arrangements have been completed for intensive activity on several of its holdings.

Additional information regarding Nordon royalty wells from Howard C. Kegley, of Los Angeles, an authority upon the industry in the southwest, says, "The operating company in which Nordon owns royalty interest, has just brought in a 75 barrel producer at Santa Fe Springs and is preparing to deepen another which started flowing at the rate of 2500 barrels a day. No. 17 was finished at 6880 feet and is now yielding upwards of 7500 barrels, while No. 16, which started to come in at the rate of 2500 barrels a day, is preparing to go down to the Clark one. It is now 6312 feet deep. No. 13 is expected to reach completion within 10 days."

CENSORS BANNING DANGEROUS FILMS

Race Question in South Africa Necessitates Strict Film Censorship

CAPE TOWN, South Africa, July 16—"Our film censors in Cape Town, who had to be shaken out of a sleepy calm recently when they allowed an unsuitable picture to be screened before children, might profitably study the report of the British Board of Film Censors for 1928," says the Cape Argur in an editorial headed "Dangerous Films." Continuing, the Argus says:

"Drastic cuts had to be made in 305 films, the details of these cuts showing clearly that certain producers still believe in appeals to passion as the best way of pleasing the public. While such ideas persist the critical faculties of the film censors must be ever on the alert.

"Even in Britain, it seems, equivocal situations between whites and other races are considered undesirable; while films in which crime is dominant are banned. Such restrictions are even more necessary in South Africa, where colored and native youth receives in the cinema a queer education in the ways of the world. The film censors in South Africa must have the native race continually in mind if harm is to be avoided. The task of wise delition makes such demands on the judgment of those who undertake it that the help of fresh brains must be called in from time to time. When talking films become more popular the difficulties will be increased. Then the moment will arrive for the appointment of a strong union board of censors who will adopt the same firm lines with dangerous firms that Mr. T. P. O'Connor, M. P., has done in Britain."

WHALE GIVES STEAMER SHAKING

VICTORIA, B. C., July 16.—When the modern, steel steamers go a-hunting the whale off the west coast of Vancouver Island, the whale usually gets off second best, but when the Consolidated Whaling company's vessel, Blue, was rammed by a 70-ton monster of Rose Harbor, Queen Charlote islands, it looked for a while as though the ship would fare worse than the whale.

With Captain Alex Anderson in command, the men aboard the whaler harpooned a big sperm whale and thought everything was according to schedule until it started to struggle. There was more fight in this whale than in the majority, for it turned in its tracks and made for the steamer. Its huge flukes struck the tail shaft and propeller as it dived under the ship with such force that the mechanism was disabled.

The men aboard the yhaler, however, stayed with the battle and succeeded in bringing both ship and whale to port. The ship had to be sent to Esquimalt dockyard for repairs.

"Anybody claiming there's no excitement in whaling these day better go and try it," said Captain Anderson. "We had plenty of thrills—in fact—a few too many—when the big fellow started cutting up under the ship. Every time he struck the ship's hull we felt the vibration and wondered what was going to happen next."

Whaling has been unusually successful off the coast this season. The catch is well above the average and it is expected that the returns for the year will be the largest in several seasons.

Prince Cannot Revisit Canada for Year or Two

Prince of Wales Exchanges Reminiscences of Alberta Ranch With Interviewer in London

NEW YORK, July 16.—There isn't a chance of my getting out to Canada for a year or two at the best," the Prine of Wales told Frazier Hunt, who interviewed him for the Cosmopolitan magazine.

Mr. Hunt reminded the Prince of their meeting on his farm in Alberta two years ago and told him he would be there in June. Mr. Hunt owns a ranch nearby. The interview was granted in St. James's palace and follows in part:

"I envy you being out there next month," said the prince. He looked across the long room and his gray, wistful eyes were seeing again the rolling foothills of Alberta. We reminisced about the cattle country of the north Rockies, and about old Gopher, his favorite cow pony, now grown stiff with rheumatism, of Will Somers, the stallion his father lent him to improve the running stock of the northwest, of a score of other things that had to do with his own E. P. ranch.

"We've oil in our valley, now, haven't we?" he asked.

"Yes, I'm rather sorry to say," I answered.

"Why sorry?" he demanded.

"Well sir, in the first place, oil does something to a community. Its flowing black gold gives people false standards. It's too easy. It's money we don't get part of the profits?" he sides, we who actually own the land don't get anything out of it."

"Do you mean to say that if they found oil on your ranch or on mine we dont' get part of the profits?" he demanded.

"Not a red cent," I answered. "The subsoil rights belong to the crown. We may get a few dollars' recompense as damage to our land or crops but we don't get a quart of oil profit."

He was flabbergasted. "Well, that's no good," he said finally.

"Maybe when we get back we'll find derricks in our front wards," I added fatuously.

The Prince shrugged his shoulders and smiled. "Still, it will help the country," he went on, "and possibly everybody will share more or less in the general increased prosperity. That'll be good."

It was a philosopher speaking—one phase of the new Prince.

Then almost unconsciously we started talking of Anglo-American relations.

"More friendly understanding is all we need to iron out any little differences of opinion," he went on. "Fewer experts and more human being to settle our difficulties. That's why travel and intimate interchange of ideas are so important."

THE FIRST DIVISION

The MacDonald Government weathered the first division in the new parliament of Great Britain, with the help of Liberal votes. The motion, offered by the Conservatives, declared disappointment that the ministry had not made plain its policy on the question of safeguarding industries against foreign competition by application of the "emergency" duties. It is scarcely likely that the authors of the condemnatory resolution expected it to carry. They knew the Liberals were as strongly pledged as the Laborites to oppose "safeguarding."

Apparently the purpose of the Conservatives was to go on record before all concerned as willing to employ duties for specific purposes, despite the repeated refusal of the electors to sanction a protective tariff policy. In view of the talk about extending inter-Empire trade, Canadians may find themselves interested in that situation a few months hence. Aside from tariff preference, it is somewhat obscure what kind of preference Britain could give to Dominion products.

CANADA'S OARSMEN DID WELL

Defeat does not dim the glory of Canadian oarsmen at Henley. The splendid efforts of Joe Wright, jr., Jack Guest, and the Argonaut eight were magnificent episodes in a great tourney. Canada is proud of her sons.

Joe Wright's failure to retain the Diamond Sculls is paralleled by the London Rowing Club's failure to carry off the Grand Challenge Cup. The London eight had twice in one day experienced a gruelling contest with the Argonaut eight, who proved all but a match for their opponents. Wright had had to meet the game struggle put up by his club-mate, Guest, and the strenuous opposition offered by Bradley, before he entered the finals.

It is not necessary to disparage Gunther's win to maintain Wright's prestige. To beat Wright at any stage of the game the Dutchman must be worthy of the laurels he won.

For Wright and Guest there is the bright prospect of another year and another effort to carry off the blue ribbon of sculling. Should the two meet in the finals, without either having been over-fatigued, it ought to be a classic long to be remembered.

What the Press Is Saying

A CUNNING DODGE

A New York publishing firm just issued a book entitled, "John D., a Portrait in Oils," as the title indicates, it is a satirical portrait of one of the world's richest men. But what makes the volume seem worthy of notice here is the fact that on the cover appears a picture of Mr. Rockefeller, after his fashion, handing a dime to a caddy, and that examination reveals that the dime is a real one.

This of course is an advertising trick. And we take leave to pronounce it a cunning and effective one. It is our guess that as many persons will buy the book to get the dime as to read the contents. That real coin will appeal to a peculiar side of human mentality. When we see real money exposed, we have an inordinate itch to possess it, regardless of the precise value. A shop window full of costly diamonds holds not half the thrill to the average citizen as a shop window full of dollar bills. Of course, we never try to take cash so exposed, but stirring deeply within us is an ancient yearning to finger it.

The insertion of a genuine ten-cent piece into the cover of a book cost the New York publisher just 10 cents more a copy than if the coin were merely pictured. But because it is a real dime, its pulling power will be ten times greater. The avaricious will want to possess it, and after them, the curious, and that pretty well includes all of us.

That Body of Yours

By JAS. W. BARTON, M. D.

INSULIN HELPS KIDNEYS DO THEIR WORK

I have tried to liken the structure of the liver to the eggs themselves and to cardboard divisions that hold the eggs in a crate. The eggs represent the liver cells and the cardboard divisions represent the framework that holds the liver cells.

Now when you have an inflammation in certain tissues of the body the regular tissue gets replaced by fibrous tissue which is just like the hard white scar tissue resulting from a burn.

Thus the liver gets inflamed the framework increases in size; which leaves less room for the liver cells themselves. The lining of cells themselves also gets inflamed.

The result is less liver cell surface and more hard fibrous tissue. This is what is called sclerosis or hardening of the liver.

However the liver is a very large organ, the largest in the body, and it keeps working away doing its best although often more than half of it is so hard that it is not much use.

Now the liver can get to the point where the jobs it has to do are too much for it and various things happen.

One of these is the swelling of the limbs and lower part of abdomen because the kidneys cannot do their own work and the work of the liver also.

An Italian physician reports a case of anaemia in which there was also this swelling of the feet and abdomen due to too much water being retained in the body.

He tried using a liver diet and the results were most surprising. Whereas before the use of liver diet the kidneys failed to get rid of more than 20 ounces of fluids, with the liver diet they got rid of four times that amount, that is 80 ounces.

After a few days of the liver diet as the swelling had been greatly reduced the liver diet was stopped, and on the fourth day the kidneys only removed about 30 ounces instead of 80. The liver diet was then resumed and the kidneys removed 80 ounces daily again.

At the end of 15 days more, the swelling in feet and abdomen had completely disappeared.

The thought then is that if you can keep the liver free from infection from bad teeth, tonsils, or other source that it will enable the kidneys to do a perfect job in getting rid of fluid waste from the body. Also, the liver should be kept in good condition by not eating too much, especially rich or fatty foods.

Thomas Abriel Is Reelected Trustee Of Nakusp School

NAKUSP, B. C., July 16.—The annual meeting of ratepayers of the Nakusp school district was held in the school room on Saturday evening when the attendance was comparatively small. The chairman took this fact as indicative of the satisfaction felt for the conduct of the business for the past year.

Thomas Abriel, chairman of the board, presided, and he was supported by Trustees R. Islip and Mrs. G. Keys, as treasurer and secretary respectively. After explaining the work of the board and the reading of the financial accounts, nominations for auditor and trustee in place of L. J. Edwards and Thomas Abriel, whose terms automatically expired were proceeded with. The former was unanimously reelected, and on ballot, Mr. Abriel was also reelected trustee.

The balance sheet showed receipts from government derived from school taxation $3500; from Glenbank school board, account senior pupils from that district attending Nakusp school, $320; high school pupils' fees, $76.50; and with incidentals making a total of $5642.36. The disbursements for the year amounted to $4873.39, including teachers' salaries, fuel, supplies, and so on.

It was unanimously decided that the board accept the offer of L. J. Edwards for the purchase by the board of lots 1, 2, 6 and 7, block 11, for $300 in three annual payments at six per cent interest. This will give the board the whole of this block for school and playground purposes, intact, a policy decided upon at a previous annual meeting in 1925. After certain recommendations by the chairman of works and improvement to be effected during the next year, the meeting approved of the sum of $4500 to be raised by taxation. The meeting then adjourned.

ILLNESS FORCES RETURN OF ESKIMOS

Eskimo Boys Sent Down to Secure Education Unable to Stand Climate

TORONTO, Ont., July 16.—When the Hudson Bay company's ice-breaker, "Nascopie," sailed from Montreal, on July 16, for the great Arctic wastes, her "passenger list" included the names of "Ben" and "Sam," two Eskimo boys who are returning home, for their own good, against their will. The return of the two lads will write another failure in the book of attempts to transfer the Eskimo from his native land to the abode of the white man.

Two years ago an Eskimo chieftan far up in the silent Arctic, asked the head of the missionaries to send his son to the unknown lands to the south, to learn the ways of the white man.

"My people havn't a chance unless they are able to meet the white man on his own ground," he said.

And so, last fall, nine-year-old Ben, son of Chief John Eli, head of the Southampton Island Eskimos, accompanied by his friend of the same age, Sam Pudlutt, of Lake Harbor, Baffin island, were handed over to the headmaster of the Lakefield preparatory school, near Peterboro, Ont. They had been brought down from the north by Rev. F. H. Gibbs, a returning missionary.

"It is of the utmost importance that these boys should not be spoiled and that they should be considered in every way upon the basis of white men," were the instructions of Ven. A. L. Fleming, archdeacon of the Arctic.

UNIQUE EXPERIMENT

It was a unique experiment. Ben and Sam knew no English, but they were good natured, good sports, and intelligent. In a short while they were unanimously acclaimed as general favorites by their new white playmates.

Shortly before Christmas Ben and Sam were forced to relinquish their studies to face an ordeal of sickness, from which they barely escaped with their lives. Hardy, and foreign to sickness in their own land, the two little visitors were soon attacked by contagious diseases, common among the white man. After influenza they "took" pneumonia, measles, tonsillitis, and underwent operations for mastoids and adenoids.

Ben and Sam at least will go back to their isolated homes better able to brave the elements of the Arctic than when they came away, according to Dr. N. D. Buchanan, of Peterboro, who attended them. "I think they will be better for having got all these things out of their systems," the doctor said.

Prior to sailing for their lonely homes, Ben and Sam were placed on a farm near Pickering, Ont., where they both showed remarkable improvement after their long winter illnesses. The boys were accompanied on their journey by missionaries returning to their northern outposts.

"This experiment has been thoroughly satisfactory from one point of view," declared Archdeacon Fleming, who bore the responsibility and expense of the trip. It has shown that the Eskimo is in no way inferior to the white man. They are an intelligent race, and I wish white men could learn the Eskimo language as quickly as Ben and Sam 'picked up' English." He said he wanted to have them stay with missionaries at Lake Harbor, Baffin Land, and attend school there. There was no school near Ben's home on Southampton island, and it was about 400 miles from Baffin Land.

In only one case has an Eskimo been known to survive away from his native haunts, the Archdeacon said. "When Peary brought down nine Eskimos, including a nine-year-old boy, "Minnie," they all died but the boy. He lived in New York for nine years and then returned to Greenland."

Both boys were greatly impressed with the treatment received at the hands of the white men, and were very sad at the thought of returning to the great Arctic wastes. When asked why he did not want to return home, Ben replied: "Too code—ver' code."

WHEAT GAINS NEW TOP PRICE BUT TAKES DROP

CHICAGO July 16—Enormous profit-taking sales pulled wheat values down time and again today and in the end smothered the buying side for at least the moment. Extraordinary power to rally was shown by the market, however, and at one stage new top price records for the season were attained. The 1929 probable yield of the prairie provinces was unofficially put as low today as 271,000,000 bushels against 510,000,000 bushels last year.

Chicago closing quotations on wheat were unsettled at 1 to 1⅜ cents under yesterday's finish. Corn closed ⅜c to ½c down, oats ⅝c to 1½c off and provisions varying from 2 to 5c decline to a rise of 10 cents.

DISTANCE OF THE SUN

A new method of determining the distance of the sun suggested at the Dominion observatory, Ottawa, depends on three accurately known measurements: the velocity of light, the wavelengths of spectrum line, and the shape of the earth's orbit. Daily observations of the spectrum of the sun's center with a constant comparison spectrum have been made for years and preliminary measurements indicate promising results.

PRESERVING HISTORIC SITES

The movement for the preservation of national historic sites in Canada dates back to the year 1919. Representions were made then to the Dominion government urging the necessity of a national organization for the preservation of historic sites and as a result an honorary hitoric sites and monuments board was created. This board is composed of a number of eminent Canadian historians who have given their services without compensation.

BULLS BOOST PRICE TREND AT NEW YORK

U. S. Steel Issues Hit 205¼; Auburn Auto Up 36 Points; Some Oils Firm

NEW YORK, July 16.—The bull party succeeded in sending prices climbing again on the stock market today, despite continuance of a 12 per cent rate for call money and considerable profit-taking in the rails. The market appeared to have recovered considerably from the unexpected midmonth money pinch and the day's operations piled up total sales of 4,500,900 shares.

Unfounded United States Steel rumors of extras or stock dividends sent the issue up more than six points to a record price at $205¼.

Auburn Auto was hurled up 36 points to $405, the highest yet, but closed at $391. Allis Chalmers rose more than 13 points to a peak price of $281½. Air Reduction, American Bank Note, Bristol Meyers, California Packing and Commercial Solvents were other issues rising sharply to record highs.

Some of the oils were strong, Beacon and General Asphalt reached new tops. Railway equipments, such as American Locomotive and General Railway Signal sold at record prices.

A number of the rails continue to climb, Norfolk and Western reaching another peak with an extreme gain of about 8 points. Southern Pacific, Southern Railway and Kansas City Southern were among others reaching new highs. Pennsylvania touched $99 but closed fractionally lower.

In the utilities, Western Union, Standard Gas, Consolidated Gas, Public Service of New Jersey, North American, Louisville Gas and Detroit Edison were bid up 4 to 12 points.

American Telephone fell back about 4 points and closed more than two lower.

American Foreign Power, Burroughs Adding Machine, Otis Elevator, Youngstown Steel and Tube and Radio lost 2 to 6 points. Motors were quiet.

HECTIC TRADING AS WHEAT GOES AND TAKES DROP

Wheat Pours Into Pit For Selling While Price Up On Winnipeg List

WINNIPEG, July 16.—In one of the most hectic trading sessions in many a month, wheat prices on the local market today rose and broke like a giant geyser and after the uproar had died away only fractional changes from Monday's close were revealed.

From a high of $1.74 scored near the opening, July wheat sank to a low of $1.63½. At the high points wheat poured into the pit of selling as the traders tried to realize their profits garnered during the past few days' advances. Wheat went overboard by the millions of bushels and down went the price. The fact that the values did not break worse than they did was evidence of the amazing power of absorption in the market.

Fair support was forthcoming from the commission houses but their buying was unable to stem the wave of selling.

The reason given for the extreme slump from the high points was that the recent sensational advance—about 11 cents for July yesterday—had pretty well discounted the poor crop outlook for the present.

The fact that extremely high temperatures prevailed over the prairies and that the drought continued failed to force prices higher.

MIETTE HOT SPRINGS

The waters of Miette hot springs in Jasper national park, Alberta, resemble those of the Sulphur springs at Banff but are several degrees hotter. These springs are situated about 12 miles from the railway and are reached by a good trail.

Mining Chatter From the East

Official news on Barry Hollinger from manager James Houston, under date of June 28th letter, which says on the 1500 foot level the work is now in good ore for over 60 feet and the width the last 25 feet shows a width of ten feet with ore in north well.

Since the statement, it is believed Barry's ore has lengthened to possibly 80 feet at present. The 1000-foot level is reported looking exceptionally well, with free gold in the face.

Consolidated Smelters, a byword in mining activity on the coast, may shortly be seen actively linked up with certain Sudbury properties, according to rumor flying the air. It may even have particular significance in face of the remarks from Hon. Charles Mickle, minister of mines, that big things would be heard from Sudbury in days to come.

Smelters is entered in the arrangement with International Nickel to build the new copper refinery. Already the camp talks about three or four properties, close to Sudbury Basin's vermilion lake holdings, likely to be linked with Smelters in their zinc concentrating plans.

Owing to the Lindsley enterprises working close to Smelters in future plans, one hears gossip of big things ahead.

Kirkland Lake gold is continuing to meet development measuring to expectations. The main ore-shoot downward extension has been proven for over 700 feet, with grade talked about from $15 to $20. Work to the west of the shaft is going ahead with success, and meanwhile the whole dyke pitching off the Teck Hughes property is now on Kirkland lake territory around the 3200 foot level. What will be found east of that dyke may create headlines.

Sudbury Downing, with main holdings in Sudbury, has added properties in Macneson and Carr townships, north of New Liskeard, with an official testing of assays running high in copper-gold. The new properties are owned outright.

For some time Downing has been mentioned as engaged in a deal with a well-known mining group for their acreage lying east Sudbury Basin.

Baldwin Kirkland continues to have some sources accumulating stock, and a record of the exchange transactions for a fortnight would probably show it to have accounted for the heaviest turnover of any of the penny issues. The shares are still of the big Standard board.

Baldwin opened up an important six foot wide vein on the 500 foot level a couple of months ago and gossip ran high. The mine manager now states that some 150 tons have been bagged and will be tested at one of the north's big mining plants.

A new discovery of cinnabar in the Savona district, near Ashcroft, B. C., has been reported to the B. C. Chamber of Mines. This makes four known deposits of the mercury ore in the coast province and the only deposits known in the British Empire.

Twenty-two samples of this new find of cinnabar, taken by an authority, gave an average assay of 1.68 per cent of mercury, made the ore worth $12 a ton.

Six thousand feet of diamond drilling has been done on the George Copper, on of the Consolidated Smelter's operations, at 1100 foot depth from outcropping where mineralized zone was opened, George Copper is one that will benefit by the purchase of the Canadian Northeastern railway charter and trackage by smelters.

The new B. C. government mines report speaks encouragingly of Coast under Smelter's control, which has Copper, the big leading property also but 200,000 shares issued. Coast Copper has been said semi-officially as having a quantity of ore quite the equal to Noranda, though the grade is a good proportion lower. Ore reserves have never been estimated.

Coast Copper's annual report mentioned that work on the 1200 and 1000-foot levels failed to indicate the downward extension of a north ore shoot, but that diamond drilling and drifting indicated commercial ore shoots to the south. The government review as prepared by their own engineers, doesn't entirely agree with this. The property is opened to 1400-foot depth and has about four miles of underground workings.

Lake Geneva shares have been getting attention on the unlisted barket, with a growing rumor that a pool is cleaning up the floating supply which is only a couple of hundred thousand. Towagamas holds this as a subsidiary, and may prove a very important one.

It is understood that demands for nickel have increased to such extent that even with the large gains as compared with last year, International shipments. This represents nearly 2,000,000 pound yearly, a good leeway. Nickel has been running behind in its to meet the company's projected production increase on a large scale next year.

International Nickel's frood ore will greatly affect earning power, and be represented by an increase in nickel output, as well as the advantage of the Frood, giving nearly three times as much copper per pound of nickel produced as has been the case with the Creighton Mine ores. Other precious metals in the Frood ore are also to be considered.

The most interesting feature in the great demand for nickel is that only a couple of months ago at the special meeting in Toronto, a shareholder was assured that while there was immediate demand for copper ores from the Frood, the nickel output would be regulated as demand arose.

THE OILS

Turner Valley advises that one of the most interesting sections of land will be that on which Home Oil owns the east half, and already has two producing wells and two others drilling, with a fifth also to shortly start. The section is a busy 640 acres.

Hargal, Wellington and Freehold are others which also will be drilling in this section. Calmont has started one well there and will launch two others. Associated and Baltac are drilling and A. P. Consolidated will soon be spudding in.

Royalite No. 19 well is reported officially as out of trouble. This well was delayed through lost tools since May 24th. It is down about 60 feet in the limestone, and drilling may resume at once.

Foothills No. 2 is now at a total depth of 4530 feet, with 173 feet in lime. The gas flow is gradually increasing and expectation is that success is near.

Southwest Petroleum cement in casing at 4366 feet, is now diamond drilling out though the cement to bottom of hole and a new hole is to start at once.

ACTIVE TRADING; SMELTERS DROP

Steels, Metals, Specialties Firm Bank Issues Active and Firm

TORONTO, July 16.—The Toronto stock market closed today after fairly active trading in a broad market featured by a wider trading range than has prevailed in some time, several issues dropping with comparative violence but without any evidence of a definite trend developing.

Steels, metal manufacturers and some of the specialties showed both strength and volume and tone was lent to the millings and manufacturing issues by the one point gain to 40 of George Weston limited and Canadian Bakeries' rise of one point to close at a new high at 46. Standard Steel and Steel of Canada gained half and quarter respectively, Eastern Steel Products rose one to a new high at 101, Massey-Harris brightened up by one point to $57¼.

The exceptions to the strength included Ford Motors, which dropped 3¼ after its sensational 8½ points rise of Monday, largely owing to denial of bullish rumors. Hamilton Bridge lost and Smelters fell away 5 points. Twin City toppled 5¼ points to a new low at 38.

Banks were active and firm.

Boutonnieres made of ermine bowknots with ermine tails for a finish are seen at the races and tie scarfs of ermine are also being used in lieu of the fox scarf.

Canada Wins Kolapore's Cup by Margin of 33 Points

CANADIAN SHOTS WIN ONE OF THE PRIZED TROPHIES

Easily Walk Away From Other Contestants in Bisley Shoot

OTHER COUNTRY IN SECOND PLACE

Canada's Thirteenth Win in Event; Gets Special Dominion Prize

BISLEY CAMP, Eng., July 16.—Canada decisively won the Kolapore's immortal challenge cup this afternoon. After a week's striving for individual honors, eight Canadian marksmen were selected from the Canadian Bisley team and they fairly walked away from the other four contestants for the Kolapore cup, one of the two most prized trophies of the National Rifle Associations' meeting.

Canada won by a margin of 33 points over the mother country, holders of the cup, and India, Guernsey and Jersey were third, fourth and fifth. Shooting with wonderful consistency as a team the Canadians took the lead at the first distance, 200 yards, extended it at the second and again at the last distance.

It is a curious fact that in her 12 previous victories in this historic team match Canada has never led at the first firing point, but had always overhauled her opponents at the remaining distances. Today she led throughout.

The Canadian team included only one of the marksmen, who had won on Canada's team that finished second to the mother country by nine points last year. These were: Lieutenant-Colonel Desmond Burke, Ottawa, former Kolapore prize winner; Sergeant J. H. Rusk, of Victoria, and C. S. M. Emmerson, of Toronto. The leading Canadian marksman was C. S. M. Lucas of Toronto, but as a team they combined beautifully. The four other Canadians were:

Sergeant H. Rusk, Ottawa; Private G. Collins, Esquimalt, B. C.; Sergeant J. W. Sharpe, of Montreal and Captain J. T. Steele of Guelph.

SCORES

The story of the Canadian victory is best concisely told in the detailed scores. By teams the match resulted as follows, scores being shown for the 300 yards, 500 yards, 600 yards; and then with the total in that order:

Canada—360, 369, 354; 1083.

Other Country—342, 361, 347; 1050.

India—336, 354, 348; 1038.

Guernsey—333, 350, 341; 1014.

Jersey—325, 249, 328; 1002.

Individual Canadian scores:

C. S. M. Lucas, Toronto—46, 48, 44; 137.

Sgt. J. H. Regan, Victoria—46, 46, 44; 137.

Sgt. H. Rusk, Ottawa—47, 45, 44; 136.

Pte. M. G. Collins, Esquimalt—46, 44; 135.

C. S. M. Emslie, Toronto—46, 44, 45; 135.

Sgt. J. W. Sharpe, Montreal—44, 46; 135.

Captain J. T. Steel, Guelph—42, 47, 45; 134.

Lieut. Desmond Burke, Ottawa—43, 45; 133.

Canada incidentally secured the special Dominions or colonies prize of 25 associated with the Kolapore cup.

Trafalgar League Game Ends in Riot

Deadlock in second place in the Trafalgar league standing between the Live Wires and Senators remained unbroken last night when their scheduled game ended in a riot in the fifth inning with the score tied at 14-14 when Umpire Boyd C. Affleck called the game on account of darkness.

The score tied, the Live Wires at bat, none out, two men on bases, that was the way the game stood when Mr. Affleck deemed it too dark to continue. Another reason Mr. Affleck gave for calling the game was that the cover of the last ball was gone. Three balls had been lost during the game.

Live Wires protested but Mr. Affleck ordered the game replayed. Paul Hunden, playing manager of the Live Wires stated that they would not replay the game.

WALLACH TO COACH NELSON ATHLETES VANCOUVER MEET

Track Enthusiasts of Nelson To Take Care of Expenses of Trainer During Trip

In order that the Nelson high school athletes who will represent the city at the Vancouver Exhibition meet on August 8 and 9 may have some responsible man with them, citizens of the town who are keenly interested in the boys are subscribing to a fund that will provide expenses for such a person.

When the boys don their spikes against the best that the high schools of the province can produce A. Wallach will be there to see that each athlete is in proper condition for his

There is probably no one in the city more worthy of this honor, according to those subscribing to the fund, than is Mr. Wallach, for, in addition to having been a runner himself he has been the mainstay of track in Nelson through past years.

The five athletes on the Nelson team have been training steadily for the past weeks and great improvement has been noted during that period. Intensive training will be the order from now on until the first of August by which time the boys should be at top form and all that will be required will be light workouts to keep muscle tone.

MEN LOOK GOOD

Hanna and Haddon both look good in the sprints and though Hanna is a veteran century man his young team mate is right on his heels for the whole distance. Haddon is spending a good deal of time getting his start away fast. Both men will also run the 220 yards.

In addition to the sprints Haddon will try one field event, the shot put, at which he is rapidly becoming an adept.

Hewitt, stocky quarter miler, is grinding out the most killing of runs in fine time and his team mates admit that he trains the hardest of any man on the squad.

Sandy Martin has been spending a good deal of time clearing the high jump bar at good heights and working up a distance-eating stride for his position on the mile relay team.

Last but far from least comes "Scotty" Wallach, star distance man of the Kootenays, who won the five mile run on July 1 and incidentally annexed the mile run which distance is his big event. Wallach, who is coached by his father, is stepping off the mile in time that should take the event at the coast.

A mile relay team consisting of Hanna, Haddon, Martin and Hewitt should be able to match strides with anything that the high schools of the province can produce.

Thursday night time trials will be held on the track at the Recreation grounds.

LIVE WIRES WIN

Live Wires, second place holders in the Trafalgar league, defeated a visiting Bonnington team by a 9-6 score Sunday. A return game will probably be played next Sunday at Bonnington. Metsgar and Bell for Bonnington and Harrison and Hunden for Live Wires were the batteries.

Title Often Lost By Gallery Shots

By AL DEMAREE

Luck plays an important part in every game and golf is no exception In the 1928 National Open at Olympia Fields in Chicago, Bobby Jones hooked one of his tee shots and it might have gone out of bounds if it had not hit an obliging spectator's head and caromed back into the fairway. Willie Hunter, the same day beaned a gallery fan with a brassie shot on the final hole and helped add to the disintegration of Roland Hancock, his partner, who blew up and lost the title by one stroke.

Al Watrous always claimed he would have won the last Los Angeles Open if a woman spectator hadn't dragged his approach shot off the edge of the green with hercoat and dropped it in a heel print in a yawning sand trap.

Electrical Device for Testing Moisture in Grain Is Shown

TORONTO, July 16.—Demonstration of an electrical device for testing the quantity of moisture in the grain interested the Saskatchewan royal commission investigating the handling and marketing of grain at its first public meeting in Toronto today. The device was explained by Professor E. F. Burton, of the University of Toronto. Experiments in connection with it had been carried on for two years, at present the work was being financed by a grant from the national research council.

Today the commission heard evidence offered by George F. Briggs, assistant general manager of the Toronto Elevator limited(concerning the operation of his company's elevators at Toronto and Sarina and also heard representations and evidence offered by a number of representative Ontario millers.

COUNTERPART WINS

KALAMAZOO, Mich., July 16.—Counterpart, a roan stallion, owned and driven by H. M. Parshall, of Urbana, won the $25,000 American pacing derby in two heats here today over a field of 22 starters. Times were 2:02¼; 2:03¼.

Young Jockey Pilots Six Horses to Wins in Day

EDMONTON, July 16.—Dwight Hurlburt, youthful Edmonton jockey, had one of the greatest days of his career here today when he piloted home six winners on the card of seven races.

It was the second day of racing at the Edmonton exhibition and once more favorites for the most part held the whip hand. Suzette, when beaten in the first race by Harrigan's Heir, the only upset of the day and the price paid on the winner was only $6.40 for two.

ENGLAND TAKES LEAD IN TEST MATCH AT LEEDS

Touring South Africans Beaten By Five Wickets in Third Contest

LEEDS, Eng., July 16.—England went ahead in the cricket test match here with South Africa today when she beat the tourists by five wickets in the third game. The standing in the series now is: England won 1 and drawn 2. Two more matches of the series remain to be played.

South Africa went down to defeat today only after a gallant eleventh-hour effort. Owen Smith, a youngster from the western provinces, made history by scoring 129 which is a new high water mark for individual South African scores in test matches, while his great stand with Bell for the last wicket in the tourists' second innings which produced 103 runs is a new record for this stage of the Anglo-South African international matches. England only required 184 runs to win when they started their second innings but they had to depend on Woolley, once superannuated from international cricket, Bowley, a new-comer in tests, and Tate, a bowler, to get them, Woolley carried his bat for 95. The great international figures in English cricket, Sutcliffe, Hammond, Hendern and Leyland failed badly. Final scores were:

England 328 and 186 for five wickets, aggregate 514; South Africa 236 and 275, aggregate 511.

England's attack in South Africa's second innings was materially weakened by the absence of Larwood, one of their fast bowlers, who hurt himself while batting Monday.

The scores:

England, second innings—Sutcliffe c. Owen Smith b. Morkel 4. Bowley c. Mitchell b. Vincent 46. Hammond c and b. Morkel 0. Wooley not out 95. Hendern c. Owen Smith b. Vincent 5. Leyland c and b. Vincent 0. Tate, not out 24. Extras 12.

Total (five wickets) 186.

White, Duckworth and Freeman did not bat.

Larwood was absent, being hurt.

TUNNEL SOCCER TEAM WINS THE BURKE TROPHY

Defeat Concentrator 6 to 1 in One-Sided Game at Chapman Camp

KIMBERLEY, B.C., July 16.—The Burke cup was won by the Tunnel football team in a game played at Chapman Camp last Sunday afternoon against the Concentrator. There was a large crowd present in anticipation of seeing a close game, but the Concentrates were away below form and the Tunnel boys had an easy afternoon and won in a walk by a score of 6 to 1.

The Bennett shield holders had all the play in the first half and led by four clear goals, scored by Smith, De Luce and Littler (2). The second half the Tunnel still continued to have things its own way, and simply toyed with the opposition and ran its total up to six, De Luce and Betridge being the opportunists. For a long time it looked as if the Concentrator team was going to be blanked but near the end of the game Dickenson broke away on the left wing and sent in a splendid shot. Hotchkiss got his hands to it, but Watt, who was in close proximity, took the rebound and tapped the ball into the net.

The teams were:

Tunnel—Hotchkiss, goal; Bell and Corrigan, backs; Smith, Milligan and McFarlane, halves; De Luce, Bettridge Anderson, Littler and McVeigh, forwards.

Concentrator—Armstrong, goal; Gould and Holdsworth, backs; Vickers, Faulds and McDonald, halves; Stewart, Benson, Watt, Youland and Dickenson, forwards.

MAKES GIFT TO HIS COLLEGE

TORONTO, July 16.—Cyrus S. Eaton, formerly of Toronto, now of Cleveland and head of some of the largest steel and gas concerns in the United States, has donated $250,000 to his college, McMaster university to aid its establishment in Hamilton. The donation was announced some time ago but the identity of its donor only become known today.

It is understood that Mr. Eaton has made other gifts to the university in the past as well as contributing nearly $250,000 to Acadia university, Nova Scotia. Besides this he has ordered a remodelling of his old home town, Pugwash, N. S., and is maintaining a model school there.

Mr. Eaton after holding jobs in local firms, and graduating from McMasters, went to Cleveland where he entered the ministry. A financier in his congregation invited him to participate in the formation of a gas company. Five years ago he found himself worth four million dollars.

This afternoon at 5 p. m. the juvenile football league will get under way when the Scouts battle with Fairview and again at 6 p. m. when the Callies meet the Falcons.

Those in charge of the football game are requesting that baseball players will leave the field to the juveniles footballers for such time as it takes to play both games.

The Indians batted Grove from the box in the fifth and later tied the score at the expense of Quin, but the latter got credit for his second victory of the series. CHAPTER VII. (Continued)

Coventry was forgotten now, and all the agonies and changes of the past week. She was nineteen, and the man was only a few years older, and it was mid-summer night. The moonlight throbbed and throbbed like a living, beating thing, upon the garden and upon the scented, dewy, sleeping world.

After a while the man put his hand up, and she slipped her fingers, smooth and warm and young, into it, and they sat so, murmuring, murmuring murmuring.

Presently, her hand still gripped in his, Pamela sliped down to the seat beside him, and he put his arm about her, and she rested her head on his shoulder. Chester bent his head and kissed her, slowly and deliberately, and although Pamela's breast rose quickly and she expelled her breath on a long sigh, she made no protest.

"We are companions in misfortune, Pam," Chester whispered.

"And misery," she whispered back, with a little laugh, "loves company!"

"And I love you," the man added, very low.

His lips were upon hers again; she could not answer. Her head back, her eyes closed, her beautiful body supple and soft and sweet in his arms, for a blissful half minute she gave herself up to love and youth and moonlight, and the sorrows of yesterday and to-morrow were forgotten in the perfect moment of to-night.

"You do love me?" he murmured.

"I do love you," she breathed.

"And nothing else matters, does it, Pam?"

"Nothing else in the world!"

From upstairs her mothers sleepy voice called her, and Pamela and Chester shook themselves free of the dripping silver-white moonlight and the black lace shadows, and confusedly laughing, the girl lifted her flushed and fragrant face for a last kiss, and Chester, her hands gathered tightly in his and pressed against his heart, stooped over her for a moment, ran down the steps, and lifted his straw hat with a last good-night.

Then he was gone, and Pamela went upstairs, through the close hot house that retained all the warmth and odours of the long day, and into her black dark bedroom, whose only light was supplied by the streaks of silver moonshine that crossed the high windows.

She went to one of those windows and knelt at its open sill and rested her elbows there. The moon was overhead now, and straining down through the branches and heavy leaves of the trees. Its eerie light picked out form all the shadowed details of the side garden below a bench fallen against the latticed wall that had separated the flowers from the vegetables, when there had been flowers and vegetables and a gardener, many years ago. Wall and bench and flowers were all sunk in a general neglected jumble now; the lace, across the path. The deeper shrubbery, where old palms were caught in the savage long streamers of roses gone crazy, and where twisted muscular-looking oaks were hung with a hundred luxuriant creepers, had the aspect of an actual jungle.

Pamela made no coherent prayer; she was hardly conscious of coherent thought. Once a whisper broke from her.

"Oh, my God, I would be so happy be so good!"

"I've never seen Daddy so sad or so stern," Maisie told Sue Rose Carterwood some days later. "He never said an ugly word. He said I was to be as nice to Pamela as I could, if we met, but he said I wasn't to go to her house or have her at ours. I cried—well, simply floods! My father told Mumsie—but she didn't tell me until after—that he would cut off my allowance like a shot and send me away if there was any nonsense. You know." Maisie continued, in the full blood of mournful and romantic confidence, "my father's my guardian until I'm 21. I get my grandmother's money then. He said he didn't wish any harm to Pam——"

"I know!" Sue Rose said, sighing. She had always been jealous of the intimacy between Maisie and Pamela, always eager to break into their charmed circle. And now she couldn't help enjoying the chance to have Maisie all to herself and this new and thrilling bond to hold them together. "Mother said," she went on, "that Pam had done the one thing that couldn't be forgiven. Isn't it terible It seems like a nightmare that it's Pam!"

"And everybody seems to know it," Maisie said. "My mother told me because the minute I heard that Pam had resigned from the Cinderellas I wanted to rush right over there—so she had to. And I guess Jessy Stokes told quite a few. We're going up to the lake next week, until this blows over, and the Billingses are, too. Sue Rose," she added suddenly, in a changed, somewhat self-conscious tone, "do you suppose they'll get married now?"

"Pam and Chester" Sue Rose asked alertly. "Yes, I suppose they will," she answered unhesitatingly. "Because, look, what else can they do"

"It doesn't seem quite fair," Maisie said lightly, dreamily.

"You mean that she should get him, after all? No, but she will!" Sue Rose said darkly.

"Do you think he's attractive, Sue?" Maisie asked hesitatingly.

Sue Rose answered slowly, deliberately, her eyes far away.

"I think that without exception he's the most fascinating man I ever saw in my life," she said.

"Yes, I do, too," Maisie said, in a low tone.

"Look here's the way I feel about him, Maisie," the other girl said suddenly and honestly. "I feel that if I could have—you know, could get him," Sue Rose went on, floundering, "have him fall in love with me, and—and marry him, why, I'd never want anything elese in the world. I'd never want to travel or marry a title, you know, or anything like that! I don't say everyone would feel that way, but that's the way I feel."

"Yes, I feel that way about him, too, Sue Rose," Maisie said very simply.

The confidence made them feel suddenly close, and they looked with a sort of shamefaced pride at each other and laughed, as if even to admit an unrequited devotion to Chester Hilliard was a distinction.

"The Carter house is going to be sold, you know that," Maisie said, after a while.

"I know it. And Elaine Mulligan said that Pamela asked her for a job," Sue Rose added.

The other girl looked genuinely shocked.

"What—in a hat store!"

"Oh, wel, I guess she just thought she'd fluff around and sell hats to her friends."

"Well, Mrs. Beaver said that she telephoned her—Pam did, I mean—and asked about the kindergarten work, and Mrs. Beaver said that she was really glad to be able to say conscientiously that they took only trained teachers. I guess the Raleighs are pretty hard up!" said Maisie.

"Oh, well, if she marries Chester she'll be all right!" Sue Rose said jealously. And this piercing thought hardened Maisie's heart, too, and she told herself that, no matter how poor she was, Pamela Raleigh always had a fashion of coming out on top.

FINGER PRINTS TEST OLD MASTERS' WORK

Instrument Invented That Reveals Identy of Paintings In Dispute

ROME, July 16.—The disputes which frequently arise about the authenticity of old masters are likely to be eliminated if the new method of identification invented by Dr. Perez, the Argentine Ambassador to the Quirinal, proves successful.

Dr. Perez, who is a collector of 14th and 15th century Italian paintings, recently identified a Bastiani picture that had disappeared from the Church of San Salvador in Venice some two centuries ago. It was up for sale in an antiquary's shop in Vienna, and has now been bought by the city of Venice and restored to its original place. By means of a "pinascope" Dr. Perez examined the finger-prints on the picture, found that they corresponded with those on other of Bastiani's works, and was able to identify the old master beyond dispute. It is, of course, known that oil paint is often spread over the cloth by pressure from the artist's thumb or palm. Titian frequently used this method, and his finger-prints are sometimes recognisable with the naked eye. Dr. Perez's instrument resembles a microscope and is specially adapted for the discovery of finger-prints on colored surfaces. He has also constructed a powerful radiating light which when brought to bear on the surface under the pinascope reveals the smallest mark or defect in the painting.

The object of this "scientific pinacology," as it is called here, is to make a trustworthy collection of the finger-prints of great painters for reference in cases where authenticity is questionable. By this means it should be possible to produce a useful guide to collectors and reduce the number of fraudulent imitations which are sold from time to time in the various picture markets of the world.

Instruments invented by Dr. Perez have also been useful in detecting signs of decay in old paintings, which, if remedied in time, can be prevented from spreading and causing the almost total disfiguration found in some of the finest of the old masters. According to his method, it is possible to detect small pimples in the cloth which are familiar to the naked eye a long while after they have burst and cover the surface with hundreds of small cracks. By detecting such defects in time a special varnish can be applied for the preservation of the picture in its original state. It will be interesting to see how far these methods will meet with success and be useful for the identification and preservation of oil-paintings.

Evening gowns of late designing show a very odd hip treatment for narrow diagonal bands are wrapped around the hip in the manner of a bandage, which method of swathing the figure is particularly slenderizing and there seem to be no end to the many conceptions possible to retaining the moulded silhouette.

B. C. Industrial Payroll for the Year 1928 Is Record

Labor Report Shows New Record in Number Employees and in Wages

RETURNS FROM 4846 INDUSTRY HEADS RECEIVED

Is An Increase of 267 Over Previous Year; Efficient Management

INCREASE IN PAYROLL IN B. C., $5,575,023

Female Employment More Increase In Apprentices Is Noted

VICTORIA, B. C., July 16.—The industrial payroll of the province has eclipsed all previous records, according to the annual report of the department of labor, presented to the Hon. W. A. McKenzie, minister of labor, by J. D. McNiven, his deputy minister. It contains some interesting figures relating to industrial activities for 1928. The following is taken from the statistical section of the report:

With each succeeding year the department of labor is able through this section of its annual report to supply information which is of great value to the industrial life of the province, showing as it does a varied number of aspects bearing upon labor conditions for the period under review. The year 1928 created a record both in the number of employees and the total amount paid in wages.

RECORD NUMBER

Returns were received this year from 4846 industrial employers, which is a record number and an increase of 267 over the previous year.

EFFICIENT MANAGEMENT

The payment to officers, superintendents, and managers amounted to $12,719,120.65, or 9.29 per cent of the total; clerks, stenographers, and salesmen, $12,736,839.18, or 9.31 per cent. The amount paid to wage-earners also increased to 81.40 per cent, from $105,626,689.55 in 1927 to $111,328,524.35. Comparing the years 1927 and 1928, it is noted that the salaries of officers, superintendents, and managers have decreased and that the amount paid to clerks, stenographers and salesmen has been greatly increased, also the sum paid to wage-earners has increased correspondingly. We might take this to mean that industry is beginning to feel the effect of more efficient management, and that through an increase in its sales and office force the effort to reach out for new markets is being reflected by an increased payroll for the wage-earners.

The total payroll for 1927 was $177,522,758.14, thus showing an increase for 1928 of $5,575,023.58. Of the 25 tables covering the industrial activities of the province, 20 show an increased payroll and five show a decrease.

THREE INDUSTRIAL DIVISIONS

During the last five years our returns have been divided into three separate districts—namely, Greater Vancouver, rest of mainland, and Vancouver island. Greater Vancouver for our purpose includes Vancouver City as now constituted (which includes South Vancouver and Point Grey), Burnaby, North Vancouver, and West Vancouver. This area accounted for 35.82 per cent of the total payroll, or a total of $65,585,625.41. The rest of the mainland, which includes the Queen Charlotte island and other northern islands, had a percentage of 44.09, or $80,746,121.74. The third main division, Vancouver island and the Gulf island, has again improved its percentage to 20.09, or $36,766,034.57.

EMPLOYMENT OF FEMALES INCREASE

The proportion of female employees again increased to 8.75 per cent from 6.88 per cent in 1927. The rise during 1928 is largely absorbed by the groups representing the manufacture of food products, laundries, cleaning and dyeing, printing and publishing, and the utility group. The group having the largest decrease is that of the manufacture of leather and fur goods. The variation in the female employment in the other groups is not sufficient to arrest attention.

NATIONALITY OF EMPLOYEES

By making a study of this particular table of the report we come to the conclusion that the wage-earners of the province have a decided international color—every country in the world taking part in the activities of our industrial life.

The employees returned as natives of Canada and Newfoundland took an upward turn over last year, as did also the natives of continental Europe in spite of the increase in the last-named group. British-born—that is, natives of the British Empire—compose 69.29 per cent of the total number employed. The percentage of Canadians and those from Newfoundland show a decided rise, with 38.07 per cent of the total, as compared with 36.01 in 1927. This is the highest percentage recorded of Canadians. Natives of Great Britain show a slight decrease this year, the percentage being 30.85, as compared with 31.87 in 1927. Adding together all employees who claim the English language as their mother-tongue, we have 72.65 per cent, as against 72.51 last year.

FLUCTUATION

A table in the report shows the fluctuations of employment during the year. January again stands out as the month of least employment with 79,492 as against 70,389 for 1927. August for the second consecutive year was the month of greatest employment with 94,136 as compared with 92,316 for the previous year. There were 79,798 employed in December 1928 compared with 72,908 the previous year.

CHANGES IN WAGE RATES

No pronounced changes appeared in the wage-rates during the year, the principal increases being recorded by breweries, coast-shipping, jewelry manufacturers, laundries, cleaning and dyeing, metal trades, miscellaneous trades and industries, printing and publishing, smelting, and the utility group. Of the 25 groups, 16 show an increase in the weekly wage, and nine of the groups a small decrease in the average weekly rate.

The average industrial wage for all adult employees for 1928 reached the highest point since the peak year of 1920, when it stood at $31.51 per week; for the year 1928 it was $28.96 for a full week's work.

INCREASE OF APPRENTICES

Last year attention was drawn to the increase in the number of apprentices during the last few years, and it is pleasing to again register a gain for 1928, the number being 1628. This is almost double the number given for 1924, which was 898, advancing to 1115 in 1025, 1281 in 1926, and 1554 in 1927. These figures woud seem to indicate that the youth of our province is determined to learn, in all its phases, the industry he has selected as his life's work, and suggests that in the near future the apprentices of the last few years may be expected to assume greater responsibilities in their native province.

LARGE PAYROLL

Following the usual procedure of the department to place on record the number of firms whose annual payroll is over 100,000, beginning in 1921 there were 118 of these large operations. In 1928, however, the number of firms thus classified reached the record total of 254, or 35 more than the figure for the previous year. In arriving at the total we do not include any public authorities, Dominion, provincial, or municipal, nor does it include transcontinental railways, wholesale or retail merchants, or deep-sea shipping. Thirteen of these firms had a payroll of over $1,000,000, of which number four were between $2,000,000 and $3,000,000 and two over $4,000,000. Of the number stated, lumbering as usual has established a commanding lead with a total of 108 of the large firms, 10 more than last year. Food products is again second with 24, an increase of 6 over 1927. Then follows the coast shipping and contracting with 15 each; metal-mining, 14; public utilities, 10; coal-mining 9; metal trades, 7; printing and publishing, pulp and paper, and ship building, with 6 each; manufacture of lime, stone and cement, and manufacture of wood (N.E.S.), 5 each; miscellaneous trades and industries, and laundries, cleaning and dyeing, 4 each; garages 3; house furnishings, oil-refining, and smelting, 2 each; and one each in creameries, explosives, garment making, jewelry manufacturing, ing, plumbing and heating, and sheet metal works.

Suffered for Two Years

"After the birth of my second child, I was always feeling tired, nervous and weak and had headaches, backaches and terrible pains every month. I suffered two years before I tried Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. I got four bottles at first and it did me a world of good. I would not be without it in the house now, and have another six bottles in. EMPLOYEES OF ASIATIC CLASS ON THE DECLINE

Per Cent Decline Is 9.33 Compared to 10.20 In 1927

The percentage of Asiatics shows a further reduction this year, the percentage being 9.33, as compared with 10.20 per cent in 1927.

The actual number of Chinese employed during 1928 was 5918, a reduction of 467 from the previous year. The number of Hindus employed was 779, a reduction of 60. The number of Japanese, however, increased from 3859 in 1927 to 4053 in 1928. The number of all Asiatics employed during 1928 was 10,750, a reduction of 33 from the figures of 1927.

LUMBER SHOWS WAGE INCREASE AS DOES MINING

Lumber Payrolls Advance $1,750,000 In Year; Mining $1,000.000

LEAD ALL OTHER GAINS IN PROVINCE

Reduction In Payroll In Pulp and Paper Business; Breweries Lower

Comparing the wage payments of 1928 with 1927, by groups, there are a few striking increases, the largest being that of the lumbering industries, where the payroll increased $1,750,000, followed the metal mining with an advance of $1,000,000. The fulfilled general expectations of both these groups. Food products has continued its rise, increasing by $500,000, as did also the utility group and the manufacture of waad (N.E.S.).

Coast shippers made an advance of $880,000, due doubtless to the greatly increased tourist travel sponsored by the larger shipping companies.

Miscellaneous metal trades again increased this year by $600,000. The contracting and builders' materials group have advances of $250,000 and $340,000 respectively. The oil refining group, which includes crude oil and fish oil, shows an increase of $370.000; miscellaneous trades and industries, $200,000; laundries cleaning and dyeing, advanced $110,000; garment making, house furnishing, leather and fur goods by $100,000 in each group. Gains were also recorded in cigar and tobacco manufacturing, explosives and printing and publishing, and smelting.

HAVE REDUCTION

The five groups suffering a reduction of the annual payroll are headed by pulp and paper manufacturing with a loss of $420,000. This is the second year with a heavy reduction in the payroll of this industry, although reports at the time of writing would seem to indicate a probable bottom having been reached.

Ship building and repairing again shows a loss of $190,000. The payroll of breweries decreased $119,000. Coal mining suffered a drop of $70,000, due no doubt to one of the mines in the island area having closed down for part of the year. The drop of $9000 in paint manufacturing is difficult to account for considering the increase in several groups which should benefit the paint-manufacturing industry.

Somers Reelected To School Board, Kimberley Meeting

Boards Estimate of $16,500 Not Exceeded During the Past Year

KIMBERLEY, B. C., July 16.—The annual meeting of the rate-payers of Kimberley school district was held in the school building on Saturday evening with a slim attendance. Thomas Somers was elected chairman of the meeting and A. A. Watkins, secretary.

The auditor's report showed that the board had been able to keep within the estimated expenditures of $16,500, made at the last annual meeting. During the year an iron fence had enclosed the school grounds which had cost $1000. The board was complimented on the success of its experiment in covering the playgrounds with a coating of cinders.

Thomas Somers, the retiring trustee, when renominated urged that he had served for several terms and asked to be relieved but as no other nomination was made, Mr. Somers consented to reelection.

In answer to a question, Treasurer Burdette stated that of the $30,000 bond issue made in 1924, $17,000 had been paid and that the outstanding balance of $13,000 would be retired at the rate of $2000 per year.

During the coming year another room will be opened in the school at Chapman camp. The board again placed the estimates at $16,500, which was approved by the meeting.

Provided Camping Space at Creston View Tourist Camp

CRESTON, B. C., July 16.—Now that the erection of cabins is completed at Creston View tourist camp work has again been resumed at clearing out additional sites for campers.

Of these latter 50 will be provided. Messrs. Poulson and Johnson, who operate the camp, state that in dry weather the call for tent space is almost to the exclusion of any demands for cabins, hence the need for the extensive clearing operations that are under way.

Business at the camp has not been quite up to expectations. Auto tourists are not taking to the highways in the same large numbers as last season, and the American tourist is unusually scarce, being less than 10 per cent of the registrations.

Rich NOURISHMENT that suits the "Candy" Tooth

HERE IS WELCOME NEWS for mothers who fear their children are too fond of sweets. Let them have Quaker Puffed Wheat. It satisfies the candy craving, but has all the wholesomeness of whole wheat.

Millions of food cells in each grain are exploded when the wheat is puffed. The rich food stores of the grain are released for easy and complete assimilation. The wheat bran is all there, but so concealed you would not notice it.

The flavour is that of toasted nut-meats. It satisfies when appetites need tempting because they lag. Give it to the children freely at any time during the day.

At breakfast or any other meal, Quaker Puffed Wheat is a delicious cereal dish. Serve with fruits or just milk or cream.

Puffed Rice is Good, Too

Quaker Puffed Rice is puffed like Puffed Wheat. The food cells are exploded and broken down. Puffed Rice is another delicious dainty, with the texture and taste of toasted nut meats and full of the ready energy of fine white rice. For variety, keep both kinds in the house.

RADIO MEN ARE TESTING RADIO RECEPTION HERE

Tell Causes of Interference; Nelson Reception Is Good

B. Irvine and J. C. Stephen of the federal department of marine and fisheries are in Nelson and the surrounding district testing for inductive interference with radio reception in the disrict. They have a car especially equipped with an eight tube radio set which by means of a loop antennae on top of the car locates any centers of disturbance which cause interference with reception. When such disturbances have been located, they are brought to the attention of those owning the agent of the trouble. In most cases, Mr. Irvine states, they are remedied immediately.

Interference is caused, he says, by a variety of things, chief of which are "leaky" electrical power lines. Others are electric fans, violet ray machines, regenerative radio sets and transformers. Leaky transformers, which are usually blamed for poor reception by radio fans, are according to Mr. Irvine, the least usual cause of trouble of any.

Induction from a cheap violet ray machine can, however, kill all possibility of reception for a radius of three blocks around the point where it is operated, Mr. Irvine declares. Regenerative sets, while troublesome, are practically a non-existent article now.

Interference may be localized to within a few feet of the actual source of troulle, Mr. Irvine states. In one instance the radio car traced the center of disturbance five blocks and landing up in a Chinese laundry, found a cheap electric fan being operated.

While one of the two men drives the car, the other operates the set. "We can tell by the sound of the static when we are getting hot or cold, and very often just what is causing the trouble by the sound it generates in the set," Mr. Irvine declares.

Mr. Irvine and his companion will be leaving this district within the next two days. They have found little to do in Nelson, as reception is of the best here, they say.

STRAWBERRIES TO END SEASON THIS WEEK AT CRESTON

CRESTON, B. C., July 16.—The 1929 strawberry shipping season will come to an end at the middle of the week, and will probably account for an outgo of 32,000 crates.

On the whole the yield is better than was expected with the very hot weather with drying winds which was ushered in at the first of July and has prevailed without a break. At Wynndel 16 straight carloads of strawberries were shipped from the Gale pre cooler, as well as large quantities that went by local car lines—one day's shipping in this latter class at Wynndel alone totalling 700 crates—while at the Reed & Mather and Smith crossing stops, as well as Creston, Erickson and Canyon the entire crop has moved by local car line.

For the first time on record auto trucks were used for the transport of Creston strawberries to the Alberta market. Each Saturday throughout the season Nelson's Fruit, limited, relieved the usual over-supply that originates due to no express shipping on Saturday, by taking out truck loads averaging 170 crates, which were taken through to Macleod, Cardston and Waterton Lake and not only arrived in good condition but were many hours ahead of train schedule, the run to Cardston being made in 20 hours.

Since early in July carloads of strawberries from Wynndel have dominated the Winnipeg market and have made a most favorable impression at the Manitoba capital. Now that the berries are under the three-quarter inch standard size Wynndel is harvesting the crop for jam and processing, handling this feature in the freezing plant that was installed last season.

Raspberries are on the move, and a splendid crop is in prospect if a good soaker of a rain would make its appearance right away, otherwise the outgo of "rasps" will be below normal.

All the seasonable varieties of cherries are on the move, and with 1200 young trees coming into bearing this season, the shipping of this fruit will break all previous records.

TENDERS CALLED FOR ADDITION TO SUB-STATION

Will Improve Power Distribution in City; Give Local Control

Tenders have been called by the city for a $10,000 addition to the city sub-station on Victoria street. As arrangements stand at present, the addition will be a one-story concrete structure placed between the sub-station and the city warehouse which is on the corner of Victoria and Josephine street. It will be as preliminary plans show, about 31 feet by 50 feet. The front will be of stone.

This addition will contain equipment which will greatly improve the city lighting and power service. Instead of having control of the power only at the Bonnington end of the lines, duplicate controls will be placed in the new addition. All power coming into the city may be cut off with the switching apparatus to be installed.

Besides this advantage, the distribution system for the city will be much improved. With the new apparatus, only the section of Nelson in which trouble is located need be deprived of its electricity, as there will be a switch-board which will give control of several separate divisions of Nelson.

New addition will also do away with danger of fire and shock, which has up to date been declared a great hazard to the employees in the sub-station.

DAYBREAK FIRE IS UNDER CONTROL

No Report As Yet As To Damage Done; Totally Extinguished Today

Late yesterday afternoon there had been on report concerning the extent of the damage done by the fire started by the burning of the buildings on the Dabreak mining property Monday afternoon.

A crew of 40 fire fighters worked all Monday night and until late yesterday when the fire was finally brought under control. It is expected that the fire will be totally extinguished by this morning.

Kaslo Man Narrowly Escapes Injury When Car Goes Over Bank

KASLO, B. C., July 16.—Fred Harbour narrowly escaped serious injuries Sunday when his car overturned near the Rasmussen home at Shutty Bench. Mr. Harbour had taken a wrong turning and found himself on an abandoned road it being blocked by falling earth. In endeavoring to back the car to the main road he struck a soft spot which gave way. The car going over threw Mr. Harbour out. His fall was but a few feet but the car went down about 50 feet and struck a large tree before stopping.

Mr. Harbour escaped with a few bruises and a bad shaking up but the car is said to be a complete wreck.

SLOCAN LAKE STILL HOLDS BODY OF BOY

Dragging Continues for Gordon Mosher Drowned at Slocan City

Dragging with four sets of grappling irons continued all day yesterday in the search for the body of eight-year-old Gordon Mosher, drowned Sunday morning in Slocan lake at Slocan City when he jumped from a raft as it began to drift from the shore. Little hope is held out for the recovery of the body but dragging will probably continue for a week or more yet.

The shallower portion of the lake around the mouth of Springer creek where the boy was drowned was combed by a diver Sunday evening and all of Monday morning without success. Dragging has been continued over the deeper parts but only with difficulty owing to the amount of debris on the bottom lake which is continually being brought to the surface by the grappling irons.
