AMY JOHNSON FORCED DOWN

Delay Seems to Have Put End to Chances of Breaking Record

ORAN, Algeria, Dec. 14 (CP cable)—Word reached here tonight that Amy Johnson, premier British aviatrix who is flying from Cape Town to London, was forced down today at Beni Ounif, Morocco, about 240 miles south of here by bad weather.

She planned to resume her flight over the Atlas mountains to this coastal point when the weather clears up, but the delay appeared to have put an end to her chances of getting back to London in faster time than it took her to reach the Cape last month from England.

Miss Johnson, wife of Capt. J. A. Mollison, British flier, the only person who has flown solo across the Atlantic from east to west, took off from Gao, French West Africa, early this morning.

She was attempting to reach Croydon airport, just outside London before 11:56 tomorrow morning to complete her flight in less than four days, six hours and 55 minutes which she took to reach the Cape from Lympne, England, when she beat her husband's previous record by more than 10 hours.

It is hoped that Prime Minister Bennett, now in London conferring with the British government on interpretation and other features of the Imperial Economic conference treaties, may bring back concessions that will prove of importance to two or three basic industries of this province.

When over-insurance is proved, companies pay up to valuation only, and no matter how long a policy has been in force surplus premiums can not be recovered, it was declared during the meeting.

A large parcel of salmon from this port will be loaded on S.S. Carriso for New Caledonia. The land of cannibals is also buying some British Columbia lumber.

S.S. Carriso arrived today at New Westminster to load there and at Vancouver with lumber, salmon and general for south seas islands and Australia.

Outstanding debentures totalling $55,182,000 held by at least 23,000 investors were listed in the bankruptcy schedule filed for the company, largest such schedule ever entered in Chicago federal court records.

CHANGE MUST FOLLOW PAYING

Britain Has No Intention of Reverting to Former Debt Arrangement

LONDON, Dec. 14 (CP cable)—Great Britain will pay its $95,550,000 war debt instalment to the United States in gold tomorrow, but Neville Chamberlain, chancellor of the exchequer, who made this announcement in the house of commons today, emphasized the United Kingdom has no intention of reverting to the debt arrangement in force before the Hoover moratorium of last year.

At the same time Mr. Chamberlain made it clear Great Britain did not want to collect more from its own debtors than it had to pay its creditors.

The chancellor was greeted with cheers when he said "they cannot expect us to be content with less." Complete remission of debts owed the United Kingdom, he declared, is dependent on complete remission by the United States.

DISCUSS TERMS

If Anglo-American negotiations resulted, for instance, in a final settlement in the way of some fixed capital sum, he added, "then our debtors must come and discuss with us on what terms and to what extent they are compelled to scale down their payments to us."

Tomorrow's payment to the United States, the chancellor said, will leave the budget with a deficit of £29,500,000 which would be met by recourse partly to treasury bills and partly to the sinking fund.

Mr. Chamberlain warned that while such a device could be used once to make a payment it could not be repeated, and any further payment would have to be met out of current revenue.

Seniors of Trail Win Hockey Game

TRAIL, B. C., Dec. 14—Two goals scored in the last three minutes of the third period, the only goals, gave Trail Smokeaters a 2-0 victory in a ragged hockey game with the Maple Leafs, commercial team, here tonight. Both teams lacked finish although the seniors, who have had more practice, displayed a better form of hockey. However, the Maple Leafs' showing gave promise of some flashy hockey in the Commercial league this year.

The game was two periods and 17 minutes old before the first counter was made when Jim Morris soloed through and put a low, ankle shot into the far corner of the net. At 19.59 Jordan retrieved the puck from a four-man attack by the Leafs and beat the one remaining defence man to put the rubber in again.

STAMP IS SOLD FOR $2750

Husband Faces 2 Charges, Murder

Follows as Sequel to Two Deaths in Fire

OWEN SOUND, Ont., Dec. 14 (CP).—Fire which cost the lives of 20-year-old Mrs. Melville Wilkie and her six-months-old daughter Norma, had a sensational sequel today with the placing of murder charges against the husband, Melville Wilkie, 23, was charged with the murder of his wife and child and remanded for a week. He was not asked to plead.

Wilkie was arrested last night, a week after a fire at the home of his mother, where the younger Wilkies had two rooms. The double murder charge however was not laid until he appeared in court today.

Police who have been probing the circumstances surrounding the fire assert that several months ago Wilkie took out insurance, with a double indemnity clause, upon the life of his wife, and policy for a smaller sum for the baby. He was questioned throughout yesterday, before he was taken into custody.

Mrs. Wilkie succumbed to injuries she received in trying to rescue her baby. Her sister-in-law, Teena Wilkie, was also burned but not fatally. Wilkie was absent at the time of the fire.

DUCK TRYING TO WINTER, WINNIPEG

WINNIPEG, Dec. 14 (CP)—Residents near the Maryland bridge are watching with deep interest the effort of a long blue-bill duck to carry on through the winter in a small patch of open water on the Assiniboine river here. Apparently "winged," it could not join its mates in the flight to the south, and spends its time swimming about and making occasional forays across the ice. The bird appeared content to remain in Winnipeg for the duration of the winter.

RYAN DEAL FOR P.G.E. IS OFF?

Time Lapses for Deposit to Be Made; No Word Received

VANCOUVER, Dec. 14.—A Victoria despatch to the Vancouver Province says:

"The Ryan deal for the purchase of the Pacific Great Eastern Railway appeared today to be definitely off. At least the government saw no immediate prospect of Colonel E. J. Ryan and his associates depositing the $500,000 which it is asking as an initial payment and as a guarantee of good faith.

It was learned that the time limit given Colonel Ryan to make the deposit had lapsed last Friday. No word has been received from the intending purchasers since.

If the money should arrive shortly it would be accepted, however, even though late.

"Meanwhile, the government prepared to continue negotiations with two other groups who have made offers for the P.G.E. but whose proposals were held up until the Ryan group was given a full opportunity to find the required money. The government is hopeful that one or other of these two syndicates will be able to close the transaction before the legislature meets early in the year.

U.S. Moves to Stop Great Rum Invasion

66 Liquor-Laden Craft Is Reported on Way

BOSTON, Dec. 14 (AP).—The United States coast guard put to sea today to intercept one of the greatest rum running invasions ever attempted in the history of prohibition.

Coast guard headquarters was aware of the presence fo 66 liquor-laden craft off the New England coast and southward to Cape May, N.J., and there was good reason to believe other contraband-carrying vessels soon would join the fleet. All the liquor laden fleet was said to be well outside the 12-mile limit and it was to keep it there that five destroyers and nine 125-foot off-shore patrol boats left this port alone today.

FRANCE AWAITS SELECTION OF NEW PREMIER

Herriot Can Only Carry on Current Business at Present

DEBT MATTERS ARE ASIDE FOR TIME

Many Think Herriot Will Be Given Call; Caillaux Mentioned

PARIS, Dec. 14 (AP).—France was a nation without a government tonight so far as negotiations concerning the United States debts were concerned.

Premier Herriot, having been overthrown on the debts issue, informed the government at Washington that he was in position to carry on only current business and that it would be up to the next government to resume the debts conversations.

The immediate consideration here was the selection of a successor to the outgoing premier. Many observers thought M. Herriot would be given the call, but the name of former Premier Joseph Caillaux also was prominently mentioned.

President Lebrun spent most of the day conferring with political leaders of all factions. They seemed to agree that the government should be continued along the same lines as that of M. Herriot except with regard to the debts policy.

WOULD NOT ACCEPT

The premier's friends said he probably would not accept the appointment if he should be asked. They quoted him as having said before this crisis that he would accept neither the premiership nor a post in the new cabinet if his government should be overthrown.

Bienvenu Martin, leader of the Democratic left, who voted against the government in the chamber, was one of those whom the president consulted.

As he left the Elysee palace he said the same general governmental policy should continue except for the debts, adding that "if Herriot wants to resume the government, I say bravo. We will be grateful to him."

ASKS BROQUEVILLE FORM NEW CABINET

Former Premier Calls Meeting After King's Request

BRUSSELS, Belgium, Dec. 14 — (AP)—Count Charles de Broqueville, who resigned as premier yesterday after his cabinet had voted to default on the $2,125,000 debt paymer due the United States tomorrow, was requested by the king today to organize a new government.

He called in the party leaders and began conferences, but there had been no report of his progress this evening.

Presumably his efforts will be directed toward the organization of a coalition similar to the outgoing ministry, which took office last October.

Yesterday's decision to refuse payment of the debt instalment after the United States had refused postponement was based upon the contention that the debt agreement of 1925 between this country and America was based upon Belgium's capacity to pay and that her capacity at present does not permit payment.

CHAMBERS BACK; MORE MEN SENT

Major E. Chambers of Esquimalt, engineer officer of military district No. 11, returned Tuesday night from Penticton and went through to Kitchener to further supervise establishment of the Dominion work camp in connection with the emergency landing field.

James Dronsfield, superintendent of the Dominion employment service here, sent out another half-dozen single men to the camp by the early train this morning.

WOMAN FEARS BAD NEWS; DROPS DEAD

CLEVELAND, Dec. 14 (AP)—Fearing she was about to receive "bad news" from a telegraph messenger boy who rang the door-bell of her home, Mrs. Martha Zielinski, 24, dropped dead today from a heart attack. The telegram, however, was for a next door neighbor.

PHONES AND FINDS FIRE IN OWN OFFICE

TORONTO, Dec. 14 (CP).—Sirens shrieked as the hose trucks roared over the icy streets. The platoon chief's car skidded around the corners. In the Globe office, a reporter hearing the din, called the fire department switchboard.

"Where's the fire," he asked.

"Right in your own office, friend," was the reply.

And it was. It was only a little blaze, however, and the paper had just gone to press anyway."

FARMERS LOOK FOR SUPPORT

Bereft of Outside Support, Wheat at New All-Time Low

WINNIPEG, Dec. 14 (CP). — Optimistic in the face of a two-day decline in the value of his product the wheat producer of western Canada tonight looked to his elected representatives to lift him from the economic slough. Bereft of support other than that supplied by a strong "outside" interest and forced to absorb a fresh flood of distress wheat, the market recorded a new all-time low prices in each wheat future at the close.

Today's decline was the second excursion into new low ground since the memorable decline of late October. Yesterday artificial support which has led prices to a more or less even keel wavered and prices fell 1⅝ cents to 1⅝ cents before support reappeared. Today a flood of fresh offerings and general lack of support combined to press prices down ½ to ⅝ cent.

Across the prairies eyes of the farmers were focussed on Winnipeg where the prairie "parliament" made ready to discuss existing agricultural conditions.

Author of Fugitive Story Is Arrested

Said to Have Escaped Twice From Chain Gang

NEWARK, N.J., Dec. 14 (AP).—Robert E. Burns, author of "I Am a Fugitive From a Chain Gang," was arrested tonight on a charge of being a fugitive from justice.

The arrest was made at the request of authorities of La Grand, Troup county, Georgia, from where he twice escaped. He was taken to Police Chief McRell's office, fingerprinted and questioned.

Burns had been living for some time in East Orange. He will be arraigned on the fugitive charge tomorrow.

Police Sceptical of Robbery Confession

Alleged Confession Appears to Contradict

CALGARY, Dec. 14 (CP).—Calgary police today were sceptical of the bank robbery confession alleged to have been made in Edmonton by James Howard, 30. According to Edmonton police Howard admitted holding up the Elbow Park branch of the Bank of Montreal in Calgary during August, 1930, after he had been arrested on a charge of damaging property.

The alleged confession, police state claims the hold-up man obtained $1100 whereas $6670 was stolen. It also states two men robbed the bank while, according to witnesses only one gunman was seen in the establishment and that he escaped in an automobile, contradicting the confession which said he fled on a bicycle.

According to police the alleged statement says the robbery occurred August 23, 1930, when it really took place three days before. Further details are awaited by Calgary authorities before they send an escort to Edmonton to return Howard for trial here

THREAT ARISES AFTER FRANCE REFUSES, PAY

Republican Proposes to Forbid Entry of Defaulter's Securities

SHARP COMMENTS ON FRENCH STAND

Transfers Expected to Be Bookkeeping Entries for Present

WASHINGTON, Dec. 14 (AP).—A chorus of denunciation and a threat of punitive action issued from the United States congress today in response to the French parliament's decisions not to pay its war debt instalment, but the state department, in complete silence, waited tomorrow's deadline for remittances.

Senators and representatives in quick succession gave vent to their feelings with remarks about ingratitude and lack of wisdom on the part of France. This sentiment was climaxed late in the day by action.

FORBID ENTRY

Representative Harold Knutson, Minnesota Republican, put before the house of representatives a resolution which would forbid entry into the United States of securities issued by governments that have defaulted on their debt payments; prohibit their advertisement for sale, and bar the securities from the mails.

Indications were lacking as to whether this or any similar proposals would be advanced any further.

At the state department Secretary Henry L. Stimson discussed Belgium's decision not to pay the $2,125,000 due tomorrow, with that country's ambassador, Paul May. What Stimson told him was not disclosed.

BE ISOLATED

One result of the French default expected here is that pending negotiations for a commercial treaty with that country, trade will come to a standstill. France was definitely regarded both in official executive

Santa Becomes Too Cheerful, Is Jailed

Becomes Entangled With a Lamp Post

DETROIT, Dec. 14 (AP).—Santa Claus, his whiskers twisted around behind one ear, was untangled from the base of a lamp post today and loaded into a patrol wagon. Police said he was drunk.

Spectators said he was shouting something that sounded like "whoopee," as he rang his bell on a downtown street.

He greted police with a happy smile.

"I'm just a myth," he confided to them. "You can't arrest me."

But they did, and, myth or no myth, assigned him to a cell to sleep it off.

When he revives, he will find himself just plain John Kellar, 63, or so the police register says, for a charity organization already has repossessed the whiskers and red suit.

In plain words, Santa Claus is fired.

B.C. COAL EQUAL OF ANY IMPORT

Galloway Believes Thousands Will Find Coal Most Economical

VANCOUVER, Dec. 14.—"British Columbia coal is the equal in efficiency of nay imported competing fuel," stated John D. Galloway, provincial mineralogist, speaking before the Vancouver Apartment House Owners' and Managers' association.

He declared that neither he nor the British Columbia coal committee expects large consumers to let sentiment away them but asks them to investigate the qualities and uses of British Columbia coal before buying foreign products.

Hand firing is now obsolete, continued Mr. Galloway, and when the stoker equipment now being tested is available, thousands of people wil find coal by far the most economical and clean method of heating, both commercially and domestically.

TAKE ADVANTAGE

Adoption of stokers by thousands of British Columbia homes will see a new era in the coal industry. Many who have condemned coal because of the old hand-firing methods will change to take advantage of its economy, he prophesied.

More than 10,000 persons have lost their livelihood in British Columbia due to the falling off of coal consumption. It is partly explained by the excellent salesmanship and promotion methods used in exploiting other fuels, Mr. Galloway added.

St. Paul's Ladies Program Tonight

The variey entertainment, "Concert and Comedies," sponsored by Mrs. W. M. Myer's circle of St. Paul's ladies aid, running tonight and Friday night, promises well to be an interesting program.

Mrs. Ferguson and her choir boys, tiny Catherine Argyle in a crinoline dance, Mrs. Carter and eight girls in illuminated songs and Sybil McLean in tap dancing are a few of the numbers. Mrs. J. C. Hooker will sing some old Scotch favorites, and guitar duets will be given by Ivor Goodwin and W. Coleman.

Six ladies of St. Paul's will attempt to solve the problem of building the Nelson bridge in one play while an employment office in charge of Mrs. Neff, patronized rather noisily by several male members will be portrayed in another, two comical farces produced under the direction of Jack Morris.

A friend told me my blood must be bad and advised me to take Burdock Blood Bitters. I didn't know any medicine could put such a sudden stop to such misery, as one bottle put the boils to an end."

Liberal Giving Needed to Assure Required Hampers

New contributions to the Christmas Cheer fund aggregating $59.75 were reported Wednesday by Treasurer W. E. Wasson. This total includes the sum turned over by the Nelson Glee club as the proceeds of its Sunday concerts, and lists turned in by canvassers who canvassed Third street and Latimer street. With only nine days left before Christmas contributions will have to speed up if the committee is to send out the number of hampers aimed at. CORBIN ENJOYS AMUSEMENT CLUB

CORBIN, B. C., Dec. 14.—The usual bridge parties held by local lodges have been cancelled in favor of a bridge and dance to be held in B. and B. hall December 16, in aid of the Christmas tree fund, the usual contributions having proved inadequate to meet the requirements of the increased roll of children. Prizes, music and the hall have all been donated. The drawing for the beautifully dressed doll donated by Mrs. James Jackson and Mrs. Thomas Gaskell will be made during the evening.

Extremely cold weather prevented many Corbinites from attending the splendid program given by "Dutchy's Amusement club" in B. and B. hall on December 6. In spite of the fact that over half their number were unable to come up owing to illness the remaining players were greatly enjoyed. "The Ramblers" a cowboy act with guitar and harmonica by uzzie T. Matersdorffor, and M. Tymchuk opened the program followed by a splendid comic number by Bert Jones, N. Rossi gave several lively solos on his piano accordian and also played in a sketch antitled "Three Italian Kids," with J. Sproveri and J. Francesco who were very clever in their various roles. J. Gaskell gave two excellent violin solos which were followed by two witty selections given by T. Joinson. The program was followed by dancing. Mr. and Mrs. Gaskell assisted the Ramblers with the music. Missing members of the club included Joe Riley, J. Riley, D. Oliver, H. Eastwood, F. Ungaro, M. Costanzo, B. Gittens, J. Borelli, and J. Kay.

RINK TO OPPOSE INTERMEDIATES?

May Take Over Representative Team

A severe jolt was thrown into a seemingly smooth running intermediate hockey organization, when in session Wednesday night, the executive received confirmation to a rumor that the Nelson Rink, limited, was planning to name its own representative intermediate team.

Ty Culley, who with others will manage the proposed team, proved the bombshell. He pointed out that it was a financial attitude only and that the Rink company wanted to see a strong team chosen. Secretary A. Wallach told Mr. Culley that the Nelson Amateur intermediate hockey executive was quite able to pick as strong a team as the rink representatives and could not fathom the new turn. Mr. Culley agreed that the association would probably pick to a man the same team as the Rink company representatives would.

The nigger in the woodpile was the source that the revenue would take. With the expense of running an intermediate hockey team this year at a low point it is anticipated that there should be a fair profit. Mr. Culley stated that in the case of the Rink company operating the team the players and the company would get the proceeds, otherwise they would go to the association.

A. Wallach, secretary, stated that George Ferguson had attended the association's organization meeting and must know the intention of the body to name a representative team. He could not understand the attitude of Mr. Ferguson. Mr. Ferguson had promised to do all he could to aid the new organization.

A. Scanlan could not see where the Rink company would be better off financially.

After considerable discussion on players' remuneration and other subjects it was decided that nothing would be done until Mr. Ferguson and George Horstead were interviewed.

The intermediate team proposed by the Rink company is practically the remnants of last year's seniors who were to be divided evenly among the teams of the league.

One of the resolutions arrived at was that if any senior players sign up to play on an intermediate team in the City league he will not be allowed to play with another organization.

PICK TEAMS

At the close of the meeting the names of the four intermediate teams were put in a hat and drawn to decide which teams should meet in the exhibition games this weekend. The Hume was drawn to play the Maple Leafs and the Wolves to meet the Fairview team.

Team representatives at the meeting included G. Benwell and W. Freno, Hume; A. Walton, Fairview; J. H. Wallace, Wolves. Others were President J. Rothery, vice-president; A. Scanlan, secretary-treasurer; A. Wallach, Ty Culley and Jack Annable.

and congressional quarters as isolated by the parliamentary action.

At the treasury everything was in readiness for acceptance of the payments which are to be made, including the biggest amount due, Great Britain's $95,550,000. Italy has paid, Czechoslovakia and Latvia already have announced they will pay.

Actually the transfers are expected to be bookkeeping entries for the present as there has been no sign of gold shipments moving to the treasury vaults.

The sharp congressional comment on France's stand included the remark of Senator Kenneth McKellar, Democrat from Tennessee, that "I think it is the most ungrateful act in the career of any nation of the world."

Chairman S. D. McReynolds, Tennesee Democrat, of the house foreign affairs committee said: "France has less excuse not to pay than any other nation."

Senator Hiram Bingham, Republican, remarked: "They forget that had we been unwilling to lend them the money they needed when they needed it and on reasonable terms, the result would have been fatal to France."

A Democratic senate leader who refused to have his name used: "The result will be so embarrassing to France that she will regret having pursued that course."

During the Christmas holidays when the young people are home from school and college there will be parties given in many homes. Nor need such parties be expensive. This is one way to give a jolly party without much outlay of money:

Invitations: Either telephone the invitations, or write them on the back of five-cent Christmas cards, reading: Miss Olive Ames requests the pleasure of your company at her home at eight o'clock on the evening of December—at a Christmas Tree Party. Please come dressed as some Christmas tree decoration—at least with a little tinsel added to your usual clothing."

The hostess should meet her guests at the door dressed in a modified Santa Claus costume. After directing them to the room where they may leave their outer wraps and hat, she gathers the guests together around a lighted Christmas tree in the living room and starts the following contest:

Santa's Empty Sack: Give every player an empty paper bag. Start all at one end of the room (I assume the Christmas tree will be in a corner) and tell them to walk, not run, to the opposite end of the room where they must blow up their paper bags and bust them (by hitting them,) and after that they must walk, not run, back to the starting place, where they must "feed the reindeers" by spooning oatmeal out of a large pan into paper drinking cups— each player being previously shown where to find the drinking cups (near the oatmeal box on the floor near the starting point). He or she who does this first without spilling any of the oatmeal, wins a funny prize of some sort. This game is such fun that it may be repeated, by handing out fresh empty paper bags.

Cards, dancing or more games may fill up the rest of the evening till the refreshments are served at eleven o'clock— consisting of sandwiches, apple tarts, wedges of American cheese and hot coffee.

"Murder of the Night Club Lady"

The New Thatcher Colt Detective Mystery

By Anthony Abbot

To the kitchen he went, and from there through room after room. We did not follow him, but we could hear him, poking about in closets, lifting windows and trying doors.

Finally he came back to us, having completed the circuit and reexamined all the rooms. As he entered the drawing-room, I saw him thrust some large object into the left pocket of his trousers. It made a noticable bulge.

But of this object which he had concealed, Thatcher Colt made no mention at the moment. Instead he held out his right hand, on which lay a long, golden strand of hair—from the head of a woman.

"Does that mean anything to you?" he asked, his voice brittle, unnaturally calm. I saw that he had not looked in vain; he had made discoveries and he considered them important.

"It is a hair, the color of Christine's hair," declared Dougherty. "Where did you find it?"

"On the floor—in Lola's room."

"But how could you find a thing like this—a thin strand of hair—"

"Because I knew where to look," answered Colt grimly. "It was near a window."

"A terrace window?"

"No Dougherty—or that opens on a straight drop of twenty-three stories to the street."

Dougherty ran a thick hand through his mop of red curls. His blue eyes, bedeviled, rolled unhappily.

"How, Thatcher——" He protested.

But Colt, having turned the strand of hair over to me, was already at the guest room door talking to Flynn. I found an envelope, put the hair in it, marked the envelope and put it in my pocket.

"Leave a good man in charge when you go back to headquarters" the chief was telling Flynn. "I shall at my home. If the Rochester call comes, switch it there. And keep me posted.

In silence, Dougherty and I followed Colt down the corridor toward the foyer. But midway in the passage, the commissioner paused and faced about.

"I had forgotten something," he murmured. "Something important."

Returning to the living-room, he crossed to what had been the boudoir of Lola Carewe and knocked. Dorothy Lox opened the door.

"On the dresser," directed the commissioner without entering there is a framed picture of a young man May I have the picture?"

"No," protested a cross old voice from within. "That's Lola's picture and I'm going to see to it; it goes into her coffin."

"There's plenty of time for that" answered Colt. "Let's have the picture."

There was no further protest. With the framed portrait in his hands, Colt went to a small table in the living-room. There, with his gloved hands, he pried at the back of the frame and finally it fell apart in his hands, frame, glass backing and photograph.

It was the picture itself that he wanted. Holding it up to the light he studied the photographer's trademark at the lower part of the cardboard mount.

"Marcel Grandon, 60, Avenue D'Iena," he repeated aloud. "I can remember that."

Deliberately he reassembled the pieces into order and then put the framed picture into my hands.

"You take charge of that Tony", he instructed. "I'll tell you what to do with it later."

At the door, to let us out, stood the green-robed, homely Chung. His shapeless smile was the last thing I saw, as we left the pent-house and descended the stairs.

On the first landing, Colt stopped us.

"Tony," e said, "I am sending you down to headquarters with several things of the utmost importance to this case. Listen carefully, for if my instructions are carried out, I believe we can break this case in twenty four hours!"

"What are the things?" blurted Dougherty, rubbing his hands with curiousty.

From the breast pocket of his evening coat Colt drew forth a bulky object, wrapped in a handkerchief.

"Take this down to headquarters," the commissioner directed, while Dougherty eyed the irregular bundle with pudgy suspicion. "Have its contents analyzed at once. You may show it to Mr. Dougherty—— handle it carefully."

I drew back the silken folds of the handkerchief. There in my hand lay the hypodermic syringe and needle which Doctor Baldwin had used, just before Lola Carewe breathed her last!

It was the syringe, then, that Colt had lifted from the medicine case. Had Baldwin noticed? Surley he had not forgotten such an important accessory! Or had he done just that, swept along in the excitement?

The possibility that Doctor Baldwin had had a hand in the death of Lola or Christine seemed remote to the point of absurdity. What opportunity had there been?

Rule by the Skilled

Technocracy, which has been variously defined, but which is possibly best described as "rule by the skilled", is being much discussed. There are those who see in it almost a new religion, which is to lead the world out of its problems.

Technocracy had its origin in the mind of the late Thorstein Veblen. Some of the critics of technocracy are inclined to accept the view of the late Mr. Veblen, but to point the finger of scorn at those who followed him in developing extravagantly his theories.

The Winnipeg Tribune becomes bitingly sarcastic:

"In the mordant scepticism of his later days, he gathered about him a group of razor-keen engineers, and encouraged them to transpose some of his unpopular ideas into unintelligible language, a process at which he was himself adept, as a glance at "The Instinct of Workmanship" or any other of his many books will prove," says the Tribune.

"The engineers have succeeded in reducing all human activity to terms of kilogram calories. This unit of physical value is more stable than dollars and cents, and has the advantage of obscurity. The Technocrats have translated everything in the United States, from steel rails to debutantes, into this unit; have worked out a complete calorie economics. The result is fearful and wonderful to behold; it is like nothing so much as a portrait of a red-headed woman painted entirely in tones of green paint. The boys have run wild without the salutary check of old Diogenes Veblen's caustic tongue.

"They have, like a great many other superficial thinkers, been carried away by the wondrous beauty of the machine. A man is only one-tenth as strong as a horse, therefore a horse can knit ten times as many socks in a day as a man can. Today's workman has 900 horsepower at his command, therefore he can make nine million times as many flint arrowheads or bone needles as a Neanderthal man could. And so ad infinitum.

"It is all very plausible and pretty until the Technocrats tell us that a farm hand of today can produce 3,000 times as much food as the farm hand of 1840. We may deduce from this that hens in 1840 laid only one egg every ten years and that Edgar Wallace wrote more books per week than the elder Dumas," the Winnipeg paper continues.

"The world has listened to solemn tripe from experts so long that it is no longer worth while even for an unemployed shoeshiner to straighten up and say "boloney!" We know that a modern celluloid factory can turn out pearls faster than 67 acres of oysters, but neither the old nor the new pearls, nor three-fifths of the shiny new things produced by "machine technology" have any real significance in the economic life of humanity. They are the froth on the economic soup. They owe the froth to the fact that men are only big boys, and dearly love their toys.

"The work of making things nobody needs, and the joy of running, driving, watching and listening to these shiny gadgets after they emerge from the factory, is a pastime It is in the same category as the stone carvings of the Mayas and Egyptians, the bone-chiseling of the Eskimos and the patient pot-painting of the Navajo Indians. Nobody knows where the amusement ends and the utility begins. But to discover the "laws" of the froth and pretend to extend them over all mankind's work, health and happiness is like trying to brush your teeth with one of Dr. Einstein's surds."

Reducing Waste Expenses

One of the important matters which the Dominion-Provincial conference to be held in Ottawa next month will discuss will be that of establishing machinery for Income Tax collections for both provinces and the dominion. It has been estimated that if such machinery were in operation, all the Income Taxes in Canada could be collected at a cost of less than five cents on the dollar. It would be a good thing if during the forth-coming sessions of the Provincial Legislatures members would ask their governments what percentage of Income Tax revenue is now being expended by the various provinces in making collections.

There is no constitutional precedent for joint collections of income Tax, but that is no reason why we should continue to fritter away money upon duplicated service in collecting taxes, any more than we should fritter away money through continuing the duplication of work by many other provincial and federal departments.

Everything possible must be done to eliminate waste in governmental expenditures.

Boo and Toodles are going to get married soon.

When I heard this I decided that I ought to come forward with a word of advice.

As an old and wily campaigner on the Battlefield of Marriage, I felt it my duty to give them the benefit of of my hard-won experience.

Not a long tedious lecture.

Just a few words.

Short, sensible, to the point.

That was the idea.

It took me a long me to think of anything suitable.

Finally, with much effort, and the aid of other matrimonial veterans, I concocted the injunction.

"In marriage, three things spell success:

Tact, Tenderness, and Tolerance—and the greatest of these is Tolerance."

That, thought I, was pretty good stuff.

I rehearsed it several times so that I could get it off as if it were spontaneous.

Next day I met Toodles and Boo.

I waited patiently for a chance to spring them my gem of wisdom.

At last it came.

I cleared my throat and let them have it.

"In marriage," I observed, "Three things spell success: Tact, Tenderness and Tolerance—and the greatest of these is Tolerance."

I expected them to pause a moment and then exclaim: "How clever! How true! We MUST remember that!"

But they didn't. I found them looking into each other's eyes and I could read their thoughts as clearly as if they had been printed in red headlines.

"What a silly old man," their eyes signalled, "Fancy him thinking we need any rules to make OUR marriage a success!"

What Do You Think?

UNCLE SAM AND THE WAR DEBTS

To the editor of The Nelson Daily News:

Sir—At the present moment the world appears astounded at what has been called the "tragic insanity" of the United States in insisting on payment of war debts. Uncle Sam is again dubbed "Uncle Shylock," and is being roundly abused for selfishness and greed.

What Uncle Sam really suffers from is a loss of personal dignity and pride. He has long ago concluded that he is by no means the shrewdest man in the world but that in the very regrettable train of events known as the great world war he simply played the role of the world's greatest sucker. He has had his hour of secret humiliation and self-reproach and has kicked himself so soundly that his footwear is in ruins and his anatomy lacerated. His action just now is that of the silly young spendthrift whose first effort on the morning after the day before is to regain a little of his own self-respect. Justly or unjustly Uncle Sam feels that Europe has played him for a sucker throughout all his unfortunate connection with a most unfortunate war. In the first place he was denounced as a coward because, for a time, he refused to meddle in the great European family quarrel. When he did meddle allies and foes alike seemed to blame him for everything he did—for practically everything that went wrong. Uncle Sam may be a trifle slow-witted but he was shrewd enough to see that Europeans in general took him for a big soft, chicken-hearted sucker who could be induced to embark on any knight-errant scheme and who could, by persistent propaganda, be made to believe anything. Acting on this belief Europeans have undertaken to make Uncle Sam believe that it would be to his interest and that of the world in general to shoulder the cost of the great war on the taxpayers of the United States. Everything that has gone wrong since the great war has been attributed to Uncle Sam's insistence on payment of war debts until Uncle Sam has almost justified the European estimate of his character by beginning to believe it himself.

But every thinking person must realize that payment or non-payment of war debts which amount to but a quarter billion annually can make little difference to the United States of America whose annual income in normal times is about 20 times this sum or to European nations whose annual expenditure on armaments is fully 20 times the sum which they claim they are unable to pay the United States. The total volume of the world's commerce imports and exports of all nations, must run into hundreds of billions and how can this be affected materially by the payment or non-payment of just of a paltry quarter of a billion?

Uncle Sam does not fear the loss of this amount. Considering his annual income and expenditure it is as mere a bagatelle to him as it really is to Europe. He does not care for the fact that cancellation will only deepen European contempt for him as the world's champion sucker. He is just sore from the merciless kicking he has given himself and he wishes to salve his own wounded pride by convincing himself that, perhaps, after all he is only 50 per cent a sucker as compared with his neighbors. HARRIS ANSWERS INDIVIDUALIST held service here on Sunday.

To the editor of The Nelson Daily News:

Sir: I was certainly pleased to see the able and courteous criticism of my letters on Bees which you printed in your issue of Saturday, Dec. 10.

Of course Individualist and I disagree on many things and he feels that I am a shallow thinker. On this point I am strongly inclined to agree with him, but the trouble is to find people who think at all. It is some comfort at least to a "shallow thinker" to find that no less a writer than William Shakespeare has fallen into the same grevious mistakes and holds up the methods and policies of the bees as an example to us poor human beings.

Thus in his play, King Henry V, act I, scene 2, lines commencing 186, he puts these words into the mouth of the Archbishop of Canterbury:

"for so work the honey bees
"Creatures that by a rule in nature teach
"The art of order to a peopled kingdom."

Shakespeare then gives a description of the working of the bees' commonwealth. It is amusing to find that he mistook the queen bee for the king: however, scientific observation of the ways of bees was not even thought of in those times He noted with most evident approval the way that the bees got rid of their loud buzzing drones and the wonderful division of labor, practised in a bee hive is described with his consumate art.

Perhaps even Individualist could learn most useful lessons from the humbler works of The Almighty. Thus in Proverbs, Chapter 6, verse 6. "the wisest man the world 'ere knew" advises us to go to the ants and consider their ways and be wise." Certainly to "a shallow thinker" the ants appear to be the rankest sort of communists. They work away for the benefit of the community and have no conception of working for their own private advantage. A course in one of our business colleges, on the arts of banking, life insurance, investment, etc., might greatly benefit these humble little workers—but possibly after seeing the mess that mankind is in, they might prefer their own blundering attempts at happiness and ideas of bee and ant prosperity.

"Individualist" evidently lays great stress on the virtues of thrift and frugality; very many other eminent men have done likewise. But The Carpenter of Nazareth expressly warns us "not to lay up treasure for ourselves". Apparently he would greatly prefer the bees' ideas of working for the common good and He it was who taught The Fatherhood of God and the Brotherhood of Man. A great human family, a great hive of mutual helpfulness was evidently His ideal.

But apart from the religious argument altogether. Here are three simple questions that I will ask "Individualist" to answer:

Is it sensible? Is it scientific? Is it possible? for mankind to save.

To a real thinker these little problems should be easy. The general public will look forward eagerly to "Individualist's" reply.

J. C. HARRIS.

THE POETS AND THE BUSY BEES

To the Editor of The Nelson Daily News—

Sir: It would seem that the bozo who first suggested that Mr. Harris was running into a hornet's nest, is afflicted with the gift of prophecy. When an epidemic of poetry breaks out in our midst concerning the bee, I can not help recalling the fact that about 400 years ago, a poet wrote "His helmet shall make a hive for bees" which has since been corrupted into having "bees in his bonnet."

While I have profound respect for the bee and do not wish to further harrass Mr. Harris, might I point out that all poets have not the same slant on the bee. Moore could not have thought of it as the sober example of industry or he would not have written:

"It was noon and on flowers
that languished around
In silence, reposed the voluptuous bees."

Tennyson could not have thought of them as the ideal family, else he would not have written:

"The moan of doves in immemorial elms
And murmuring of innumerable bees."

Burns mentioned their Scottish thrift and bellicosity in the line:

"As bees flee hame wi' lades of treasure."

And in the couplet:

"As bees bizz out wi' angry fyke
When plundering herds assail their byke."

Then there is the popular song, the chorus of which if I quote correctly, ends thus:

"And the bees got busy
And they stung Aunt Lizzie
On her golden wedding day."

As to the prose effusions this discussion has elicited, may I state that in my opinion the letter from Individualist in Trail is a literary gem, for it is logical, instructive, and his views are clearly and gracefully expressed in a scholarly and gentlemanly manner.

B. GIDDY.

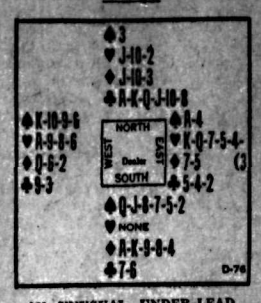
Auction and Contract Bridge

By the World's Leading Authority.
MILTON C. WORK



AN UNUSUAL UNDER-LEAD

This hand was played at duplicate Contract with East and West vulnerable. The scoring was by match-points and "150 honors" were well worth considering. At most tables the bidding was. South one Spade, and West pass; after which North made a game-demand jump-shift by calling three Clubs. East passed and South showed his two-suiter by bidding three Diamonds. North held neutral support for Diamonds, but called four Clubs as game seemed more probable in Clubs than in Diamonds—and then there were the Club honors. South raised to five Clubs on the strength of his Heart chicane.

With North and Declarer playing a contract of five Clubs, East led the King of Hearts which dummy ruffed. In the hope of eventually ruffing a second Heart in dummy, South at every table but one led the Seven of Spades at trick 2 West won with the Nine and immediately removed dummy's remaining trump. Declarer then completed the drawing of the adverse trumps, led the Jack of Diamonds and overtook with the King in order to postpone the finesse until the second round. When the Queen of Spades was led from dummy, West refused to cover the Declarer ruffed. The Diamond finesse, the sole remaining hope for game, then lost to West's Queen. East and West captured one Spade, one Diamond and two Heart tricks, setting the contract two tricks.

THE CORRECT PLAY

One Declarer realized that it was probable that she could make five Clubs by the unusual method of giving up the Diamond finesse and underleading dummy's Ace-King of Diamonds immediately after ruffing East's original Heart lead. Of course the Queen of Diamonds won and a trump was led immediately as dummy was still able to ruff another Heart. But after that it was easy money for the Declarer who drew the trumps and discarded two Hearts on dummy's Diamonds. The one Declarer who made this simple but unusual play and won a decisive "top" on the hand was Mrs. Whitney Payne of Philadelphia.

A NEW BRIDGE BOOK

Milton C. Work, America's leading authority on Contract Bridge has prepared a new booklet entitled: "New Contract Code Summary" This booklet gives in full detail the NEW SCORING METHODS. The reasons for these changes are stated and a valuable fund of information packed between the covers of this little booklet, which comes to you in convenient size so you may have it always on your card table ready for instant reference when you play. It is yours upon request, accompanied by a three cent stamp and a stamped, self-addressed envelope. Address Mr Work, in care of this newspaper.

That Body of Yours

By JAMES W. BARTON

VARIATIONS IN BODY ACTIVITIES DURING THE DAY

You may own a clinical thermometer, and find early some morning that your temperature is down around 96½ degrees or 97 degrees F. As the normal temperature is about 98½ degrees F. you may be wondering if there is anything wrong with you.

On the other hand you may take your temperature at 4 o'clock in the afternoon and find that it is 99 degrees F. which is about one-half degree above the normal.

Now, as a matter of fact the difference between the early morning temperature and that of the afternoon is usually about two degrees in the average well individual.

Similarly with the pulse rate. You may be lying in bed some morning after a good night's rest, and by putting the tips of the index and middle fingers against the big bone of the wrist on the thumb side, you find the pulse beating at the rate of 68 or less to the minute which is below the usual 72. Some time later in the day you find even when doing no work or taking no exercise that your pulse rate is 80 beats to the minute.

Research physicians are finding that what is called the metabolism rate of the body may also vary considerably, even when taken before breakfast on different mornings. The metabolism rate is the rate at which the body processes work when the individual is resting quietly with no food being digested.

Dr. D. Rozenblum, Russia, states that he and one of his assistants recorded the body energy for 24 hour periods and found that the variations during one year ranged from 10 to 15 per cent of that taken the first day.

What makes the rate slower or faster than normal?

It may be due to some condition in the individual himself such as a slight infection, or it may be due simply to his thoughts and emotions.

This means then that when this test is made that if high or low, any treatment, surgical or otherwise, should not be given until a number of tests have been made.

Blood pressure is another measurement which should be taken a number of times and at different hours of the day before a definite statement is made.

Therefore in measuring the heart rate, pulse rate, metabolism rate, and blood pressure, the variations even in normal individuals must always be remembered.

How a Public Health Unit Benefits a Rural School

By MISS KATHLEEN GORDON
Health Nurse of Nelson

For a number of years there has been a growing realization among educationists that health and education go hand in hand, and are very closely related, until now it is given first place among the seven cardinal objectives of a public school education.

The province and school boards spent large sums each year on educational facilities. This expenditure is an economic loss if spent on children who are not physically, mentally and morally normal.

School children in the ordinary school district are medically examined each year and notices are sent to parents when defects are found; but no follow-up work is done. This is a good beginning, but it does not measure up to the aims of modern health teachings which are:

AIMS OF HEALTH WORK

1. To correct as far as humanly possible all defects in school children.

2. To teach sound health habits.

3. To build up habits of wholesome thinking.

If follow-up work is not done, many notices are disregarded, either because parents do not realize the seriousness of the defect, or because they are financially unable to provide the necessary treatment. Ultimately, through continued neglect, the condition becomes so serious that it impairs the health of the child and entails expensive treatment. Public health experience has proven that it is uneconomic in many cases to provide for medical examination without the force of social machinery to follow the matter through to satisfactory finish.

Then, too, a yearly medical examination could not instil in the child habits of health. Just a few words from a doctor once a year does not make a lasting impression. It requires hours of careful study on the part of a health teacher to present to children the laws of healthful living, in a form which is readily assimilated. It is done, in many ways, stories, plays, posters, etc. The school takes the child from his home during the most plastic years of his life, and an opportunity is afforded school boards to play a useful part in the rearing of healthy children.

Another phase of school health work, carried on by a health unit, is the inspection of pupils during the prevalence of infectious diseases. When this service is not available schools are closed, resulting in the loss of time by all pupils and a loss of money to school boards. Infectious diseases are prevented by active immunization, and much knowledge of toxoid and vaccine is disseminated by a health service.

AFFECTS COMMUNITY

Health teaching in the schools has a very far-reaching effect in a community. Ideas of healthful living are imbued in the child; ideas of proper diet and cleanliness are carried into the home. It is impossible today to reach all the parents with our gospel of health except through well-trained children.

Pre-natal and pre-school work is done by the health unit in an organized district. This program is carried on through clinics and through home visiting. It arouses in the mothers an active interest in health matters, and because of this interest many children are ready to commence school at the age of six with fewer defects to be corrected and with a much better foundation of health habits.

Social service work is intermingled with every other phase of health teaching. A public health nurse is trained to regard the family as a unit, and not to consider the individual alone. It is an accepted theory that any social work which does not increase the independence of an individual is lost. Mothers are taught to budget—to buy food containing the materials which build bone and muscle and not the foods which satisfy hunger alone.

Every phase of health work done by a health unit would, in some way, benefit the school population of a district, and this brief resume deals with only a few of the advantages accruing by the adoption of a health unit.

I make my living, and it isn't just because I am Schumann-Heink. I sing my best. And the people who hear me like it. You get closer to the people on the vaudeville stage. They are warmer. And you can't imagine how much that means to a sentimental old lady like myself.—Mme. Ernestine Schumann-Heink, opera singer, on vaudeville tour.

Milk In a Christmas Box

From a little town up the coast came word to Vancouver that a young chap who left here some months ago to work up there had earned $5.00 in all that time.

A "Christmas Box" was packed, and one of its chief items was a case of Pacific Milk. It seems the young wife learned her cooking with this good milk.

Mr. Williamson, manager for the local telephone company, reported on Thursday morning that he had seen a robin on the lawn that morning and had also obtained a beautiful specimen of butterfly. And that isn't all, Mrs. H. L. Butchart only recently cut some lovely roses that were blooming in her garden.

Whistling isn't a sign of stupidity. The stupid couldn't think up that many ways to murder a tune.

Provincial Health Topic, Castlegar

CASTLEGAR, B. C., Dec. 14.—A clear sheet of ice, 120 feet by 60 feet is now at the disposal of the skaters of this settlement. It is being run and kept in order by the Tennis club. No snow and lots of frost have helped in the making.

The C. C. club have adopted the plan of giving sample goods for prizes at their whist drives, the idea being well received.

Rev. C. E. Motte of Trail gave a lantern lecture on Ben Hur recently in the C. C. club hall. He kindly donated all the proceeds to the club as a mark of appreciation for the use of the hall as a church.

Mayor Morgan of Nelson, accompanied by Miss K. Gordon, R. N., Dr. Gansner and Fred L. Irwin, paid Castlegar a visit on Monday evening when they addressed a large gathering of Robson and Castlegar residents on the subject of a provincial health center.

Their addresses were well received and many questions were asked and answered, regarding costs and management. The speakers also promised to send more information if requested. T. L. Bloomer was in the chair. He introduced Mayor Morgan, who in turn introduced his fellow visitors. The matter was favorably referred to the school trustees asking them to call a special meeting of their respective taxpayers for the purpose of making a formal application to join the movement if thought proper by them.

ROBERTSON ASKS EXTENSION, LEAVE

OTTAWA, Dec. 14 (CP)—Senator G. D. Robertson, former minister of labor, has asked the Order of Railroad Telegraphers, of which he is Canadian vice-president, to extend his leave of absence until the next general convention, scheduled for Montreal in May, 1933. Although his health is improving gradually since a breakdown about a year ago, he does not feel able to carry on his labor duties.

SLOCAN PUPILS TO HAVE CONCERT

SLOCAN CITY, B. C., Dec. 14. — The two teachers, Principal D. Hanna and Miss Watson of the junior grade classes and Mr. Edmonds, the high school teacher, are busily engaged preparing the children of the different grades for the closing concert which will take place on Thursday night.

SASKATCHEWAN TO FOLLOW ALBERTA

To Attempt Similar Legislation on Tax Arrears

REGINA, Sask., Dec. 14 (CP)—Consolidation of arrears in taxes in Saskatchewan, to be brought about by legislation to be introduced at the next session of the legislature, will largely follow the Alberta act, Hon. Howard McConnell, minister of municipal affairs, said today.

The measure, however, will be wider in scope, he said, and will be framed to extend payments over a period of six years instead of five, if present plans are carried out. It will be left optional with the municipalities to wipe out penalties. Securing the extended time in which the payment of arrears may be met in annual instalments will be contingent on the payment of current taxes in each of the years conversed in the consolidation period.

NEW YORK LIST STAGES RALLY

Close From Fractions to Three Points Higher in Many Cases

By JOHN L. COOLEY
Associated Press Financial Writer

NEW YORK, Dec. 14.—Far from being upset by the anti-payment vote of the French deputies stocks rallied today and closed from fractions to about 3 points higher in most instances.

Conversely, considerable pressure appeared against the franc and French government bonds, while English currency and securities also fell back. Sterling with tomorrow's debt instalment in gold assured through an earmarking arrangement, was firm and U.S. government bonds strengthened.

Final prices were around the highs and the closing tone was strong. Sales totalled 1,014,284 shares.

Commentators generally made much of the fact that Great Britain had decided to pay, even though she believed a reconstruction of the problem was necessary.

CHICAGO WHEAT SCORES ADVANCE

Unstirred by French Refusal to Pay Debts

By JOHN F. BOUGHAN
Associated Press Market Editor

CHICAGO, Dec. 14.—Unstirred by refusal of France to pay on her war debts, grain markets today turned placidly to other price-making factors, and scored an advance.

At no time did Chicago wheat values today show a decline of more than a fraction of a cent a bushel. Late strength of the New York stock market was credited with helping wheat upward in the late dealings.

With most operators here awaiting the Washington government final report tomorrow in 1932 domestic crops, and with trade lacking volume wheat closed firm at the day's top level, unchanged to ⅝ up, oats unchanged to ¼ off, and provisions unchanged to a rise of 18 cents.

Vancouver Wheat Shipment Heavy

25,000 Tons Shipped in 24 Hours

VANCOUVER, Dec. 14 (CP). — Fifteen thousand tons of wheat were sold on the local grain exchange during the last 24 hours for United Kingdom-continent, and 10,000 tons for China.

Revival of the oriental market today may indicate that those close buyers believe wheat has reached its lowest point.

Rates to United Kingdom-continent were firm at 23, and this rate is extending into February, brokers working now on offers for that month movement.

U.S. SECURITIES ZOOM UPWARD

Other Sections of Bond Market Shys Nervously

NEW YORK, Dec. 14 (AP).—While United States government securities zoomed upward today in one of their best sessions in several months, other sections of the bond market, shying nervously at war-loan defaults, were unable to make any progress.

The sales total advanced to $10,548,000, par value, of which more than $3,000,000 was accounted for by federal transactions.

Six of the treasury issues advanced fractionally to new highs for 1932 while the 3¼s were up 3-32 to 10-32 of a point each. More than $40 of the 3s changed hands.

CANADIAN DOLLAR RISE CONTINUES

Pound Sterling Ends Day With Advance

NEW YORK, Dec. 14 (CP).—The Canadian dollar closed 5-16 cent stronger at 86½ cents (premium of 15⅝ per cent on U.S. funds) on foreign exchanges today, and the pound sterling ended the day ¾ cent higher at $3.28½ for cables.

The pound, which opened at $3.28¾, registered irregular narrow fluctuations throughout the session. The dollar started the day at 86¾ cents.

Industrials Show Technical Strength

Selling in B. A. Oil Dries Up Considerably

TORONTO, Dec. 14 (CP)—The industrial markets gave an exhibition of technical strength in today's operations, when they gradually overcame the effect of the menacing French situation over war debts. After selling off in the early part of the day Toronto stock exchange listings came back in the afternoon to show gains breaking even with losses at the close.

Selling of British American Oil dried up considerably today, only 1200 shares changing hands against more than 5000 yesterday and the price recovered ⅛ to close at 7⅞. Imperial and McColl-Frontenac closed unchanged at 8½ and 8 respectively.

WHEAT DROPS TO NEW LOW LEVELS

Stop-Loss Selling and Pressure, Causes

WINNIPEG, Dec. 14 (CP).—Further stop-loss selling and a little local pressure combined with weakness in outside markets carried wheat prices to new low levels here today and resulted in a decline of ½ to ⅝.

December closed at 42¼, May at 45 and July at 46⅛.

Only about 500,000 bushels of Canadian wheat were bought for export, most of it out of Vancouver, and as prices tended downward farmers began to unload their stocks in the country, selling volume was not heavy, but in the absence of speculative support, there was nothing to half the steady decline. Interest of a prominent outside agency provided the only buying during the session.

B. C. GETS INDIAN CORN FROM AFRICA

VICTORIA, Dec. 14 (CP).—British Columbia feed merchants who formerly imported huge quantities of Indian corn from the United States and the Argentine, last week received a shipment of over 6000 tons of the poultry feed from Durban, South Africa. This is the first shipment from Empire points since the Imperial conference treaties.

Wright-Hargreaves Gains in Accumulation

Interest Lags on Gold Stock Issues

TORONTO, Dec. 14 (CP)—While interest lagged in the dividend-paying gold stocks today on the Standard mining market, accumulation of Wright-Hargreaves continued on a substantial scale and the stock closed with a gain of five points at 3.43. The other leaders were off a few cents each at the close. Volume was down moderately.

The uncertain outlook for the copper stocks, due to the low price for metal, has weakened these issues in recent sessions. Noranda fell off to $19 today but recovered to 19.15 where it closed 25 off. Closing off 5 at 9.05, Nickel did a little better while Hudson Bay lost 25 to 3.25, Ventures 1½ to 66 and Falconbridge 4 to 1.51.

MONTREAL TRADE IS AT LOW EBB

Spread Over Moderately Broad List

MONTREAL, Dec. 14 (CP).—The Montreal stock market responds to rallies in Wall street but trading was at such a low ebb today the market hardly moved when the ticker told of the last-hour upswing in New York.

Traders preferred to wait until tomorrow clears the air in regard to war debt payments and turnover totalled less than 5000 shares, spread over a moderately broad list.

Canadian Pacific, active leader with sales in only 656 shares, finished ⅝ lower at 14¾. Brazilian showed ⅛ loss at 9. International at 9, was unchanged.

It was the first appearance here of the western Canadians and they made a great impression. Their combination play completely overshadowed the efforts of the Paris team.

GREAT INTEREST IN JOCKEYS' RACE

Racing Fans Arguing Over Scramble for Honors

NEW YORK, Dec. 14 (CP)—Along Broadway, where metropolitan racing fans are in retirement for the winter, the argument is not over horses but whether Johnny Gilbert will beat out another 'teen aged jockey Hank Mills, for 1932 riding honors on the United States turf.

As the race now stands Gilbert leads with 190 winners as compared to 189 for Mills. The bookmakers are laying 4 to 5 that Gilbert will still be in front when the last race is run December 31. Backers of the always-grinning Mills can get even money.

The two youngsters—Mills is 16, Gilbert one year older—are now booting them home at Jefferson park, New Orleans.

If either of the young knights of the saddle cloth succeed in passing the 200 mark in winning mounts, it will be the first time since L. Hardy booted 207 winners past the judge's stand in 1927. Ivan Parke rode 205 in 1924.

Leeds Wins First Night Rugby Game

LONDON, Dec. 14 (CP cable)—Leeds defeated Wigan, 18-9, tonight in the first Rugby league game ever played under floodlights.

Approximately 15,000 spectators who watched the game at White City stadium greeted the innovation with enthusiasm and players of both teams said the light was perfect. Even from the most remote corners of the stadium every play was clearly visible and the players were readily identified by numbers on their backs.

BASEBALL TRADING SEASON IS ON

by Al Demaree

The recent swop of Babe Herman from the Cincinnati Reds to the Chicago Cubs for several players and a bundle of cash officially opened the trading season which will rage from now until next spring. Most of the baseball magnates are "David Harums" at heart and usually present a picture of one manager who would give anybody the sleeves out of his vest, trying to pull a trade with another manager, who wouldn't give a duck a drink if he owned the Atlantic Ocean.

The great Rogers Hornsby is probably one of the most traded stars in the game. Starting out in St. Louis he was in turn traded to the Giants, then Boston and finally the Cards where started.

Pennants and World Series seem to follow some players no matter where they are traded. Burleigh Grimes is one of those lucky individuals.

Most trades are gambles. One manager thinks he is trading off a lemon and finds a year later he let loose of a star. Another manager makes a trade for a player he thinks is a potential star and after he gets him he proves to be a bust.

Every manager's psychology in a trade is that he is trading a third string catcher for Babe Ruth.

PONOKA, Alta., Dec. 14 (CP)—Fire today destroyed dressing rooms and equipment of the Hockey club at the open air rink here.

TRAVELING MEN

The Purdue backfield lugged the leather well over a mile on running plays from scrimmage alone in its first seven games, averaging 4.84 yards per attempt.. Roy Horstman toted it 105 times for a gain of 458 yards. Gus Dorais, Detroit coach, has two sons, seven and nine, who play on the Monica Street Invincibles, no less.

THEY DO COME BACK

That saying, 'they never come back," doesn't apply to football Zuppke is well on the way back this year, and watch his team next year. Another is Auburn, otherwise Alabama Poly, brought back to its old place in the football firmament by Chet Wynne and Roger Kiley, a couple of boys from Notre Dame, between 1912 and 1920 Auburn won four Southern Conference championships, tied for another, and never was worse than fourth.

This is Dick Hanley's 13th year in the coaching racket, and hasn't been such a rosy year for the Northwest mentor, he says, however, swiping a campaign cry, "it could have been very much worse" it would have been if Pardonner had kicked one of those dropkicks for Purdue in the 7-7 Purdue-Purple setto.

Pacific coast experts have been going in a big way for Baby Casanova, called Casanovita (little Cas to you, Oscar) by the Mexican scribblers. The coach at Michigan this year is Harry Kipke, and nobody else, his style is not Yost's style, at all. Kipke was an All-American back, and before long you will hear of him developing other All-America backs, by that we mean running backs, because Kipke is building up a good running game, the old punt formation of Yost's has gone by the boards, and Yost looks on with a smile.

LINEMEN WIN

By the way, it seems more former linemen have been successful coaches this year than backs, Howard Jones was an end in his days at Yale, though his brother Tad swept to fame before him as a back, Howard now is reaping the fruit years of painstaking toil. Hunk Anderson was a lineman, too, and Jock Sutherland, coach of a splendid eleven at Pitt this year, was one of the greatest linemen Pitt ever had.

Noble Kizer, whose Purdue team this year is just about as good as there is, was one of the Seven Four Horsemen of Notre Dame, Clipper Smith, whose Santa Clara team upset the big boys on the Pacific coast this year, was a lineman at Notre Dame. Frits Crisler, who gave Princeton a good waking up, played end. Dr. Fat Spears, whose Badgers have been the sensation of the Big Ten this year, was an All-America guard at Dartmouth, and Major Bob Neyland, Tennessee's teacher, was a star end at West Point.

LABOR TO FIGHT BY-ELECTIONS

Three Are Due in House of Commons Shortly

By THOMAS T. CHAMPION
Canadian Press Staff Writer

LONDON, Dec. 14 (CP cable)—The Labor party intends fighting all three by-elections to the house of commons due shortly.

East Fife, the constituency so long represented by the late Earl Finlay, is vacant due to the recent death of Duncan Mills, Liberal National. It is possible William Adamson, former under-secretary in the Labor government, might contest this seat.

The death of Sir James Reynold, Conservative, one of the leaders of the British cotton industry, has left the exchange division of Liverpool without a representative in the house.

The third vacancy will probably be in Kilmarnock, through the elevation of C. M. Aitchison to a judgeship. Mr. Aitchison was a National Labor candidate. It is possible Rev. James Barr, formerly a Labor commoner for Motherwell will seek the seat.

Crown Land Holders Exempt From Interest

2000 Landholders Exempt for Four Years

REGINA, Sask., Dec. 14 (CP)—More than 2000 land holders will be favorably affected by a decision of the Saskatchewan government, announced today by Premier J. T. M. Anderson, to exempt from interest payments for four years all who have purchased crown lands since Saskatchewan's natural resources were taken over by the province.

About one-third of them have met regular interest payments and in their case such payments will be applied to principal amount due. The rate of interest has been 6 per cent.

RELIEF IS CUT ON HOUSE OWNERS

CALGARY, Dec. 14 (CP).—The Dominion and Alberta governments have ruled that Calgary residents owning their own homes and obtaining unemployment relief will not receive a monetary grant in lieu of house rent. For some time the house owners have claimed they were being discriminated against as "renters" were receiving a stated sum monthly for rent payments.

HARROP SUIT IS SETTLED

Judgment for Plaintiffs: Used Car Taken in Part Payment

After occupying Tuesday afternoon and Wednesday forenoon, the suit of E. S. Planta and C. E. Tedlock against Herbert Harrop for payment of a promissory note for $375 came to a sudden end in county court Wednesday afternoon by settlement.

E. P. Dawson, counsel for the plaintiffs, told Judge W. A. Nisbet at the opening of court that he had just been approached by W. W. Ferguson, counsel for the defendant, on the matter of a settlement, and his honor granted an adjournment for a conference between the parties.

Under the terms of the settlement the second used car that figured in the case is turned over to the plaintiffs, and they receive a receipt for the amount of the indebtedness to Kootenay Motors to date, amounting to $120, the defendant paying their costs of $45. The used car is the one that the plaintiffs claimed they tried to sell at the coast for the defendant to provide him with funds to meet the note, and that the defendant claimed he had given them in satisfaction of the note.

JUDGE COMMENTS

Judge Nisbet, in entering judgment for the plaintiffs on the terms agreed on, made the comment that whenever parties enter into a serious agreement of any kind, they should reduce its terms to writing.

The morning session was devoted to the evidence of McLean, shop foreman for Kootenay Motors, and Frank McClemment, one of the men who staged the used car auction in September, who were witnesses for the defendant, and to the rebuttal evidence of Mr. Planta on direct examination only. When the noon adjournment was taken, Mr. Planta's cross-examination was next in line, with Mr. Tedlock to follow him on the stand.

When the Ottawa conference's committee on economic cooperation failed to reach full agreement it was decided a committee should be constituted to meet in London this winter.

MOOSE JAW JUNIOR COACH IS THROUGH

MOOSE JAW, Sask., Dec. 14 (CP)—Allan Wilson, the 23-year-old master mind of junior rugby, who has led the Moose Jaw Maroons into Dominion championship battles during the past two seasons, is through. He is going to resign as coach of the Maroons, and there is a possibility of Albert Tomlinson, president of the local club, tendering his resignation.

In the Canadian final, the Maroons were defeated by the University of Toronto, 8-6, last Saturday, and in 1931 lost to Woodstock, 14-13.

TOILERS ARE SURE OF PLAYOFF PLACE

Tonight, the Toilers gained this right when they staved off a last minute rally to defeat the Robertson Memorial squad 36-34 to capture first half honors of the senior league, making a play-off berth a certainty.

Charges Sharpe Is Equally Responsible

Thorson Declares They Were Equal Partners

WINNIPEG, Dec. 14 (CP).—Equal partners in both legal and investment sides of their business, John A. Machray and F. J. Sharpe therefore were equally responsible for preservation of investment monies entrusted to them, J. T. Thorson, K.C., today charged before a board of enquiry investigating $1,000,000 shortages in University of Manitoba endowments.

Under examination for the third day, Sharpe admitted to Thorson, counsel for the commission, that in 10 years after 1907 he had received almost $116,000 from the investment firm of Machray and Sharpe. This was exclusive, he said, of any earnings from the legal section of the investment firm; a personal overdraft of $18,440 in the trust account and an overdraft of $31,636 in the legal account, aside from this his share of distribution of "alleged earnings" by the legal side from the investment business amounted to $35,000.

Counsel pressed Sharpe as to where he thought the sums comprised in the overdrafts were coming from but witnesses maintained he thought they were profits or earnings on personal properties.

COAST EXPORT AT NEW HIGH

October Sea Export Highest of Any Month in the Year

VANCOUVER, Dec. 14 (CP).—Vancouver's export sea trade in October was the largest of any month in the year, according to the monthly analysis of British Columbia cargo movement compiled by the Vancouver merchants' exchange.

A total of 404,577tons of freight was shipped from the port on 103 deep-sea vessels. Inward cargo amounted to 97,579 tons.

Total exports by sea from all British Columbia ports in the month amounted to 488,309 tons, one of the best performances of the year, but exceeded last January when shipments amounted to 495,548 tons. Inward freight handled at all British Columbia ports reached 99,648 tons.

IMPORTS DOWN

In contrast with the strength in the export trade, imports in October were below the monthly average for the year, although greater than the showing of the summer months. They revealed a fall from September when ships landed 116,140 tons in British Columbia.

One of the main features of the October export business was offshore lumber shipments totalling 57,682,863 feet, the largest monthly total since February.

The chief recovery was registered in sales to the orient which took 26,962,974 feet compared with 18,836,249 in September and smaller amounts in earlier months, including only 7,980,291 in June.

Shipments to other lumber markets were: United Kingdom and continent, 11,559,893 feet; Atlantic coast 9,989,75; Australasia 7,993,191; others 1,177,060.

Lumber Delegates Withhold Report

Two of Four Are Still on Return Journey

VANCOUVER, Dec. 14.—H. J. Mackin and J. G. Robson, two members of the delegation of four British Columbia lumbermen to Great Britain, have returned but will make no public statement for the present. In fact they have as yet made no report to the British Columbia Lumber Manufacturers' association or to the Associated Timber Exporters, which sponsored the trip.

The reason is that the two other delegates, F. R. Pendleton and C. Grinnell remained in England a week longer and are understood to have carried on further negotiations of which no official report has been received. These arrived in New York on Tuesday and are expected in Vancouver early next week when a joint report will be made at a general meeting of lumber interests.

CALGARY TAKES WIN ON REGINA

Goes Into Lead in "Game of Year to Date"

REGINA, Dec. 14 (CP).—A first class hockey riot—with 2000 wildly yelling fans cheering the boys on—that was the scene in Regina stadium tonight as Calgary's fast-travelling Tigers swept into the lead of the new Western Canada Professional Hockey league with a 2-1 victory over Kenny MacKenzie's Regina Capitals.

Not only was it the "game of the year" to date from standpoint of sure-fire roughhouse, but it saw Regina's Frenchman, Gene Pusie, chalk up his second crowd-thrilling goal—a beautiful end-to-end rush in the last period that crashed the Tigers' defence, left McCusker little chance to clear and saved Regina from a whitewash.

A close-in combination play, Harris to Blythe, 15 seconds before the first period closed, started the Tigers on their win, and their second counter followed within five minutes of the start of the middle session, Mackie going in to pick up a rebound and shooting it over the sprawling body of Herb Rheaume

BRONKS DEFEAT MINERS 4 TO 3

CALGARY, Dec. 14 (CP).—Calgary Bronks took the lead in southern Alberta Senior Amateur Hockey league here tonight by defeating Drumheller Miners 4-3 in a closely fought battle.

Bronks, however, have played one more game than the Miners and the next clash between Miners and Calgary Maroons may again tie the leadership.

Organize Juvenile Hockey at Trail

Will Be Under the Wing of the Junior Club

TRAIL, B. C., Dec. 14—Juvenile Hockey league was organized under the wings of the Trail Junior Hockey club at a meeting in the junior room at the rink last night. All players entering the league must be 18 years of age or under January 1.

Five teams were lined up for a junior league but the high school team is said to have withdrawn and the Rover team is likely to withdraw also. The age limit puts these teams in a weak position and they would provide no competition for the other teams.

If the league develops there will in all probability be two games a week, and if the Commercial league gets the ice for two nights a week, the juveniles will play four games in that time. One game will be played before the Commercial game and one after.

Friday night will bring the Colombos and Rink Rats into conflict in the first game of the league.

Beckman and Lands Slip Into Bike Lead

Duelberg Knocked Out; Returns to Race Later

PHILADELPHIA, Dec. 14 (AP).—The most serious spill during Philadelphia's six-day bicycle race tonight ended a wild jamming session which found Tony Beckman of Secaucus, N.J., and his veteran partner, Dave Lands of Irvington, N.J., in sole possession of first place as the grind's 70th hour rolled around.

Just before the evening's sprint series ended, Franz Duelberg, diminutive Belgian, and George Dempsey of Australia, crashed to the boards in the stretch. Duelberg was knocked unconscious, and had to be carried to his bunk. Later he was revived and returned to the race.

Beckman and Lands rode in first place after stealing four laps to break a three-way tie that existed before the jamming started.

Revamped Windsor Team Is Winner

Peaches Lyons Scores the Winning Goal

WINDSOR, Dec. 14 (CP)—Presenting a revamped lineup here tonight, Windsor Bulldogs celebrated their first performance under the managerial wing of Playing-Manager Jack Arbour with a 4-2 victory over Cleveland Indians. Two well executed goals in the third period stopped the make shift visiting aggregation, which was badly crippled by injuries and lack of forward material.

Ronald "Peaches" Lyons, recruit center, got away to an auspicious debut with the Bulldogs by poking home what proved to be the winning goal in the third period. The former Trail Smokeater star was on the business end of a nifty three way passing bout with Roger Cormier and Earl Roche to tip the tell-tale tally out of the reach of Emmett Venne.

Egg Markets

OTTAWA, Dec. 14—The final report of cold storage holdings in Canada on Dec. 1, issued by the Dominion bureau of statistics, shows stocks of eggs in storage on that date of 4,123,132 dozen as compared to 5,658,380 dozen on the corresponding date in 1931. Stocks of poultry in storage on Dec. 1 were 3,549,189 pounds as compared to 8,929,255 pounds a year ago.

Toronto—Brokers are asking for shipments of graded fresh eggs extras 34 to 35, firsts 29 to 30, pullet extras 25 to 26, seconds 20 delivered. Dealers are quoting producers and country shippers for ungraded eggs extras 30 to 32, firsts 28, pullet extras 22 to 24, seconds 18 delivered.

Montreal—Fresh egg market here is barely steady at yesterday's quotations with storage eggs unchanged. Turkey prices are unchanged to a quarter cent lower.

EXPECT RATE APPEAL TO GO, PRIVY COUNCIL

REGINA, Dec. 14—For the second time within a few years the Saskatchewan rate case appeal is expected to go before the privy council of Canada. It is understood that the petition for reopening the appeal was lodged some time ago by legal representatives of Alberta and British Columbia and that Saskatchewan representatives recently agreed to the three way hearing. Alberta and British Columbia are primarily interested in the mountain tariff and domestic rates on grain and flour to Vancouver and other British Columbia points.

"Pasteurized Milk Is the Only Safe Milk"

Theobald Smith, M. D., now Director, Rockefeller Institute for the Study of Animal Diseases, Princeton, N. J., quoted in Milk and Its Relation to the Public Health, Hygienic Laboratory Bulletin No. 41, page 628:
"It seems to me that the real difficulty of the present condition is the transmission of specific disease germs which are not easily controlled by any amount of cleanliness, and these specific disease germs, one and all of them, may be destroyed by perfect pasteurization."
W. T. Sedgewick, quoted in Milk and Its Relation to Public Health, Hygienic Laboratory Bulletin, No. 41, page 628:
"When all is said and done, I agree with Professor Smith that we have got to pasteurize milk. Pasteurized milk is the only safe milk and always will remain the only safe milk for the use of mankind. Little by little the idea is spreading that raw milk is a dangerous milk."
Dr. Theobald Smith goes to the heart of the milk problem when he points out that pasteurization, in addition to ordinary cleanliness, is required to make milk truly safe. Dr. Smith is a foremost authority on animal diseases. Professor Sedgewick, a noted sanitarian at the Massachusetts Institute of Technology, agrees with him.
