Anglo-French "Tariff War" Looms

CHINA, JAPAN AND THE LEAGUE NEARER PEACE

Reestablishment of Neutral Zone Is an Obstacle

ATTEMPT PREVENT ARMED CONFLICT

"Bandits" Reported to Have Renewed Activities

PARIS, Dec. 7 (AP)— China, Japan and the League of Nations council appeared tonight to be approaching agreement on how to dispose of Japan's demand for the right to act against bandits in Manchuria.

But the question of Chinchow and the establishment of a neutral zone remained to discourage hopes of an early settlement of the conflict.

The belief prevailed that all parties would agree to omit reference to bandit measures from the resolution embodying the council's peace program. The Japanese proposed to reserve this right in a separate declaration.

DEPEND ON HSUEH-LIANG

TOKYO, Dec. 7 (AP)—The Japanese government was described officially today as depending on Chang Hsueh-Liang, deposed governor of Manchuria, to prevent armed conflict at Chinchow.

The Japanese attitude was that so long as Marshal Chang's troops threatened the Liao river west of the Peiping-Mukden railway there was imminent danger of an outbreak.

Tokyo, it was said, was depending on Chang because the Chinese government had washed its hands of a proposal to create a neutral zone in the Chinchow area.

Spokesman declared Japan was ready to accept a suggestion by the League of Nations council that the Japanese advance a separate reservation regarding the right to suppress banditry in the proposed neutral zone.

This action would be taken, it was explained in the understanding that no nullifying counter-resolution would be permitted.

ATTACK BANDITS

MUKDEN, Manchuria, Dec. 7 (AP) —Renewed activity by what the Japanese termed "bandits" was reported by army headquarters tonight.

A Japanese colliery at Nyhsintai was looted by several hundred men who made prisoners of one of the officials and his family. Soldiers and police pursued the raiders.

At Kungtaipu, 20 miles southwest of Mukden, raiders attacked a Japanese house. Three soldiers and the householder drove them off. There also were reports of bandit activity at Yaochienhutse, on the South Manchuria railway.

Lamb Is the Gift to Send From Australia for Christmas in '31

LONDON, Dec. 7. (CP cable)—The steamer Largsbay began unloading today some of the most unusual Christmas presents ever seen in London. The Royal Albert dock soon was piled with 4000 carcasses of lamb, each representing a gift from an Australian to a friend or relative in Great Britain. The mayor of Melbourne addressed one to the lord mayor of London. Australia's idea was to strike an unusual note in Christmas presents, and at the same time popularize its products.

Largsbay's cargo was probably the largest consignment of Australian food and produce ever landed in London. It included 84,000 carcasses of lamb, mutton and pork; 25,000 cases of canned fruits; 64,000 boxes of butter, and over 4,500,000 eggs.

MESSAGES 29 YEARS OLD PICKED UP

VANCOUVER, Dec. 7—A bottle message from the sea which may be either a hoax or word from a long-forgotten tragedy, was picked up Sunday on the beach at Sea Island.

It contained two messages, written in lead pencil, one reading: "Dear wife, when you get this we shall be gone, April 21, 1902. Your huband, F. Peterson."

The other read: "All is over. Our boat has sunk in the Arctic ocean. The name, Whaler John, on April 21, 1902. R. Johnson, captain."

PRINCE NICHOLAS' MARRIAGE TERMED "NON-EXISTANT"

VIENNA, Austria, Dec. 7 (AP)—The third section of the Bucharest supreme court formally declared tonight that the marriage of Prince Nicholas to Mme. Deletj was "non-existent," and therefore not recognisable, it was learned here.

The court's decision was interpreted as sidestepping the necessity of annulling the ceremony and as leaving a loophole by which King Carol can refrain from drastically punishing his brother without losing face.

TRAIL MAN HAS LEGS AMPUTATED AFTER ACCIDENT

Ellison Whittemore Believed to Have Stepped in Front of Train

TRAIL, B. C., Dec. 7—Believed to have stepped from between tracks to an adjoining track in front of a moving railway freight car being switched by the C. P. R. yard crew, Ellison Whittemore, veteran member of the carpenter staff of the Consolidated Mining & Smelting company, received injuries necessitating amputation of both legs this morning. While his condition is serious latest available reports this afternoon were to the effect that he was progressing as well as could be expected.

Mr. Whittemore was proceeding from his home on Government road to his work at the carpenter shop and had reached a point about 100 yards from his destination about 6:45 when the accident occurred. The car was being switched on the "lead" track about 100 yards north of the weigh scales.

Mr. Whittemore was travelling in the same direction as the freight car that struck him, and it is believed that the newly fallen snow deadened the sound to the extent that the car approached him unheard and unnoticed.

It was found necessary to amputate one leg above the knee and the other just below it.

The injured man had been in the employ of the Consolidated company since July 5, 1916. He had always been regarded as a meticulously careful employee.

He came to Trail from Nelson, where prior to 1916 he had been in the employ of John Burns & Son. He was well known in Nelson and was prominent in the deliberations of the trades and labor council of the time.

Mr. Whittemore is a member of the council of the District Municipality of Tadanac.

BESSBOROUGH TO OMIT FORMALITY

OTTAWA, Ont., Dec. 7.—(By the Canadian Press)—Formality which marked the New Year's reception of the Governor-General during the regime of Earl Willingdon at Rideau hall is to be discarded this year in favor of an informal public reception in the hall of fame of the parliament buildings of the senate chamber.

It will not be necessary this New Year's to wear formal dress or uniforms

Lloyd George Is Both Homesick and Seasick

LONDON, Dec. 7 (AP)—Gossip in parliamentary lobbies today said Rt. Hon. David Lloyd George, veteran British statesman who is travelling in India, had decided to cut short his trip and return home.

It was rumored he was seasick and homesick and would leave Ceylon Dec. 16, instead of staying until the end of January as he had intended.

Young Couple Win Health Championship

PAIR SCORE HIGHEST MARKS AS HEALTHIEST EVER

Gertrude Heikes, aged 15, of Nebraska, and William Saunders, aged 16, of Indiana, scored highest counts ever recorded in the United States national health contest at the 4-H club congress in Chicago. Gertrude knocked off a clear 99.9 per cent, one tenth of a point short of perfect. While William dashed in a close second with 99.1 per cent. According to the photograph, milk and apples and cabbage had something to do with all this.

Lenz and Partner Win Two of Three Rubbers of Bridge From Culbertsons

Bridge Battle of Century Gets Off to Flying Start

NEW YORK, Dec. 7 (AP)—The bridge battle of the century got off to a flying start of good-natured raillery tonight in which Mrs. Ely Culbertson was the center of attention.

She was cast at dinner for 28 which preceded the first session of the match. Her husband, sponsor of his own system of bidding for contract and challenger to Sidney S. Lenz, who with Oswald Jacoby is defending the "official" system, presided on the west a good distance away. Mr. Lenz was north by east at the right of his challenger's partner.

Short talks, broadcast over the nation, furnished information for bridge listeners and merriment for the guests.

The speaker retired behind a screen and told quite frankly what they thought of the whole thing and each other.

DINNER LATE

The dinner delayed play far beyond expectations. Mr. Culbertson was a busy man as host. He personally conducted the speakers to the radio microphone and made frequent trips to whisper in the ears of Lenz—nobody knows what.

Mrs. Culbertson went into the arena on the arm of Mr. Lenz.

"Feel confident?" somebody asked her.

"I always feel confident," she smiled.

A long, tall screen separated the players and their referees from the kibitzing field. On it hung a large sign "absolute silence."

Another warning was stuck on the top of a sporting print on the wall. These were for newspapermen who were permitted to tiptoe one at a time into the room, providing they remained behind the screen.

Lenz-Culbertson Match Settles at Least One Point

NEW YORK, Dec. 7, (AP)—One point about bridge was definitely decided on the Lenz-Culbertson affair last night. A side can obtain a bonus for taking two games out of three in a rubber, yet lose the rubber.

The matter came up after the third rubber. The Culbertsons won two games, Lenz and Jacoby won one game. The Culbertsons got bonus for the two games, but lost points because of sets. Eventually the experts agreed that Lenz and Jacoby had won the rubber technically under the rules.

"Jo, did we win that last rubber?" asked Culbertson of his wife on emerging from the card room. "I think so," she replied.

"Were we plus or minus?" he went on.

"Minus," she replied.

Then the discussion started, and the Culbertsons conceded they had lost.

Are 1715 Points Ahead When Play Adjourns for Night

Sidney S. Lenz and Oswald Jacoby won two of three rubbers played in their 150-rubber contract bridge match with Mr. and Mrs. Ely Culbertson. Lenz and Jacoby were 1715 points ahead when play was adjourned at 12:55 a.m. this morning until tonight.

Lenz and Jacoby won the first two rubbers and the Culbertsons the third. The three rubbers involved 23 hands.

Lieut. Alfred M. Gruenther, U.S.A., the chief referee, said the play was very slow, due perhaps to the hustle and bustle caused by the throng at a novel tournament.

He added that the technique was not brilliant.

Lenz commented:

"The enemy was very slow. At one stage I even forgot what trump was."

Said Culbertson:

"Except for the fact that Lenz and Jacoby held a series of dreadnaughts, it was a great pleasure to play against such valiant adversaries."

Jacoby said:

"The play was marked by a slight nervousness on the part of all."

Mrs. Culbertson did not comment.

LED BY 1715

At the end of the first rubber of eight hands, Lenz and partner were 920 ahead. They increased this to 1610 in the second rubber. Sets imposed on the Culbertsons in the third rubber raised their opponents' total to 1715 when play of the first session ended.

FIRST NIGHT INDIVIDUAL SUMMARY

Lenz—Successful contracts, 5; set, 3; overtrick hands, 3.

Jacoby.—Successful contracts, 3; set, 4; overtrick hands, 2.

Mrs. Culbertson—Successful contracts, 3; set, 3; overtrick hand, 1.

JOHN N. GARDNER IS SPEAKER OF THE U. S. HOUSE

WASHINGTON, D. C., Dec. 7.—(CP)—John N. Gardner, representative from Texas for the past 30 years, was today elected speaker of the house, the Democrats demonstrating their control of that body by giving Gardner 218 votes against 20 for the Republican candidate, representative Bertrand Snell of New York

Gardner's election in place of the late Nicholas Longworth was the feature of the opening of the first session of the 72nd congress.

The senate sat for only a few minutes while new senators were sworn in. This ceremony was witnessed by the Canadian Minister and Mrs. W. D. Herridge who sat in the diplomatic gallery.

Democratic house and a Republican senate are now faced with the necessity of increasing taxes and deciding whether President Hoover's policy of dealing with unemployment by private means should be sustained or whether direct government relief should be afforded. Congress will probably continue in session until next June.

The full congress tomorrow, President Hoover will submit his legislative recommendations and a report on the state of the country.

It was with difficulty he was restrained from doing further damage. In police court today he was remanded one week for mental examination.

Duncan Sisters Lose One Million in Three Years

Now They Are "Broke" But Are Game for Comeback

LOS ANGELES, Dec. 7.—(AP)—Rosetta and Vivian Duncan, who three year ago were worth more than $1,000,000 as a result of their success in vaudeville, musical comedy and motion pictures, said today that they are "broke" and filed a voluntary bankruptcy petition in federal court.

"Gold mines with no gold, worthless stock, the fickleness of Wall street and signatures on too many dotted lines are responsible," Vivian related in tears.

Three years ago we had more than $1,000,000 and the money was rolling in. We were a big success and everyone with something to sell was plying us with propositions back stage. We signed up for almost anything they had to offer. We listened to everyone. Now we're penniless.

"But we're starting all over again and we-re going to do a comeback. We'll pay all our debts if they'll just give us a chance—watch and see."

MERCURY HITS LOWEST LEVEL OVER PRAIRIE

Prince Albert Coldest City in Whole Dominion

TEMPERATURE IS 28 DEGREES BELOW

Saskatchewan Records Lowest Temperatures of All

WINNIPEG, Dec. 7 (CP)—Winter buckled down in straight attack on the prairie today. Whipping temperatures lower with a succession of frigid waves that needed no variations to provide westerners with the coldest weather of the season.

North Saskatchewan's defences tumbled easiest before the assault, Prince Albert standing as the coldest city in Canada with a minimum mark of 28 below zero, but that province's south and Manitoba succumbed readily enough. Extreme lows of 18 below were recorded at Battleford and Saskatoon, in Saskatchewan, and Winnipeg while Brandon, Man., went one better with a 19-below report.

It was nine below at Moose Jaw, seven at Regina, four at Edmonton, Alta., and even zero at Calgary. Kenora, Ont., took its place with the rest of the west with a 14-below minimum. A little snow fell in Saskatchewan and Alberta but no stormy weather was called out by the winter king in his season's most deadly attack.

JOBLESS PARADE IN WASHINGTON MOST ORDERLY

Equal Number of Police With Rifles Probably Has Quelling Effect

WASHINGTON, D. C., (By Ken Clark, Canadian Press staff writer)—Fourteen hundred unemployed from various parts of the United States paraded quietly through Washington today under the watchful eyes of an equal number of police. Committees of the marchers, headed by Herbert Benjamin, were refused admission to the capitol, where congress was assembling, and to the White House.

William Green, president of the American Federation of Labor, received a committee of five. Green denounced the leaders as Communists, saying they wished marchers to be hungry and discontented and that they planned to start a revolution in this country.

Disorders feared by the authorities did not develop. Washington's entire police force was on duty, backed by the secret service. Soldiers and marines remained in barracks, ready for emergencies.

"MOST DANGEROUS MAN IN IRELAND" IS STANDING TRIAL

Arrest Comes After Arms Are Found in Hills; Brothers Also Tried

DUBLIN, Irish Free State, Dec. 7. (AP)—George Gilmore, described by authorities as "the most dangerous man in Ireland," went on trial before the military tribunal today with his brother Charles on charges growing out of the discovery of an arms cache in the mountains near here.

The brothers were manacled and heavily guarded by soldiers and detectives. George recently engineered the escape of a number of Republican prisoners from Mountjoy prison and both the brothers nearly gained their freedom by holding up the warden with a dummy pistol.

The defandants, who are regarded as the brains behind the Republican movement in the northern part of the Free State, smiled sardonically at the precautions, and cross-examined the state's witnesses with coolness and skill. The trial will continue tomorrow.

Hopkins was married recently in Vancouver, B. C.

Hawks Has Close Shave Trying for New Record

Landing Wire Breaks as Famous Flier Flashes Along

ROOSEVELT FIELD, New York, Dec 7. —(AP)—Cutting through air at times will in excess of 300 miles an hour, Captain Frank Hawks today "limped" into the airport here with a new unofficial speed record for a Cleveland to New York flight.

Saved from a fate such as befell Bayles at Detroit last Saturday he said by the 10,000-foot altitude at which he was travelling, Hawks landed at end of 1 hour and 45 minutes journey with a landing wire of his right wing broken. He left Cleveland at 2 p.m., and arrived at Roosevelt Field at 3:45 p.m.

The flight more than 30 minutes longer than the Cleveland to Newark journey in which Major James A. Doolittle last September 4 established a record of one hour, 45 minutes and 58 seconds, was made on the wings of a storm which at times pushed his plane at a velocity of 50 to 70 miles an hour.

His average speed for the 455-miles Hawks said, was 257 miles an hour.

His escape from a death similar to that of Bayles, Hawks said, came 50 miles before the end of the trip.

He was speeding over the New Jersey-Pennsylvania border at an altitude of 10,000 feet when the landing wire, which runs along the wing from the tip of the fuselage, broke.

His ship tilted jerkily as is about to go into a roll. Cutting his motor for a second Hawks righted his craft and in his own words "limped in although the wing was rather heavy."

"I wouldn't be a bit surprised," he added. "If that's what happened to Lowell Bayles.

"Bayles was less than 160 feet off the ground and travelling presumably almost 300 miles an hour and an accident at that altitude such as I had would send the ship into a crash in a fraction of a second."

French Sure 'Anti-Dumping' Action Aimed at Them

RETAILERS BEGIN THEIR CAMPAIGN

"Buy French" Is Slogan to Combat British Trade

PARIS, Dec. 7 (AP)—Economic struggle between France and Great Britain loomed as a possibility tonight. An authoritative financial daily, openly used the word "tariff war."

Since it became evident that Franco-British negotiations over tariffs had struck a snag, there have been increasing expressions of French resentment against what is termed discrimination.

The only action thus far has been the automatic application of a 15 per cent super duty, but retailers have begun a "buy French" campaign.

LONDON, Dec. 7.— (AP)— The house of commons tonight debated 100 per cent import duties on early vegetables and fruits while reports of agitation over duties already adopted came from France, Germany, Belgium, Holland, Scandinavia, Spain and Portugal. These duties, largely 50 per cent on various manufactured articles, were adopted under the new "anti-dumpin" measure.

The French protest has been the loudest, but the official view is that France has nothing to complain about. When French currency virtually collapsed several years ago, Great Britain took no protective measures to prevent France from getting full benefit from the depreciated franc in the export market.

Following the fall of the pound from the gold standard, however, France clamped a 15-per cent surtax on British imports and this has dealth British coal industry in particular a staggering blow.

From the point of view of fair play British government officials say the weight of the argument is all on their side even after the imposition of recent British duties, and they declared themselves unable to understand French talk of "reprisals."

OREGON COAST IS SWEPT BY GALES

Wind Reaches Velocity of 60 Miles; Much Damage Near Seattle

SEATTLE, Dec. 7 (AP)—Uprooting trees and tearing down electrical power and telephone lines a 37 to 60-mile an hour gale swept the coastal region of Washington today.

Dan Lee, 55, an oil company watchman, was severely injured as the result of the gale which tore down a heavy door, pinning him beneath it for several hours.

The heaviest wind was reported at North Head, near Seattle, where the velocity was said to have reached 60 miles an hour. At Tatoosh island a 42-mile gale swept off the Pacific ocean from the northwest while in Seattle, the downtown weather station registered the wind at 37 and at Boeing field station at 41 miles an hour. Trees and wires were reported blown down in several towns along Puget sound and the Columbia river, with rain in several sections early in the day.

East of the mountains Wenatchee reported an inch of snow during last night while Yakima and Spokane had half an inch each and Walla Walla a trace.

With the wind lowering the weather bureau here predicted colder for tonight, but withdrew a previous forecast of snow flurries, substituting occasional light rains and fresh westerly winds.

BANK OF MONTREAL OFFICIALS WARN AGAINST DEBTS

MONTREAL, Dec. 7. (CP)—Warning that the piling up of more federal, provincial and municipal debts could only aggravate the business situation in Canada, which had reached an extremely low ebb, was given today in addresses by Sir Charles Gordon, president, and Jackson Dodds, joint general manager, at the annual meeting of the Bank of Montreal.

Conditions in Canada were generally sound, and the dollar would return to par, although not immediately, it was stated in the addresses.

10 INCHES SNOW FALLS; WEATHER QUITE MODERATE

Streets Are in Worse Condition Than for Some Time; Lying Water

Adding 10 inches of snow to the water and slush that was covering the streets, and with the temperature rising above the frost point during Monday, the streets are in worse shape than they have been in a long time. Though much of the snow has melted, enough remained to keep the water from draining away.

The street gang was working on some of the downtown street crossings in an attempt to make the walking a little better.

Maximum temperature for the day was 34, minimum was 29.

APPLEYARD AND COUNCIL CLASH AS TO STREETS

City Fathers Resent Aspersions Cast on Baker After Rains

BUT BREACH IS AMICABLY HEALED

Dangers From Coasting Admitted; Higher Hill Street Suggested

Condition of the city's streets, first in connection with sleigh riding by children and the impossibility of having cars under control in coming down the hills, and second, as respects the deep slush on Baker street as a result of yesterday afternoon's rain, formed the theme of representation made to the city council Monday night by C. W. Appleyard.

As to the danger rising from sleigh riding, most of the council agreed with Mr. Appleyard, though seeing no solution apart from either having a large police force specially to enforce a ban against coasting on the streets or constructing special slides.

On this point, Mr. Appleyard suggested that opening some street up the hill, around Robson, to coasting, in place of Silica, would help the situation, as the majority of cars operated below that level.

OH, SLUSH!

When it came to his criticisms as to slush, however, and his assertion that Baker street was a disgrace, and that he had never known another city to get in this condition, Mr. Appleyard's remarks raised something of a storm.

Mayor J. P. Morgan declared that when frost and snow and rain succeeded each other rapidly, conditions were alike anywhere in Canada. The new snowfall caused no difficulty on Baker, the mayor said, until in the afternoon when the rain came, and immediately the culverts were opened to let the water run off.

To Mr. Appleyard's assertion that at that moment there was a pool of water at the Mann-Rutherford corner, the mayor answered that all was clear at 8 o'clock, and to his further assertion that he could not go from his office across the street to the Standard Furniture company's store, the mayor responded that he was not supposed to go that way, but by the street crossings.

The mayor said it would be quite possible to remove all the snow that fell, but that it would be wasting the city's money to take that course.

While the verbal battle was keen while it lasted, peace was declared in due course and it was pointed out that the heavy snowfall on November was remov ! from Baker street, and that the slush was due to the fresh snow and rain of the immediate 24 hours, the policy of the city authorities to remove the snow from the business section any time there threatened to be an accumulation.

Cranbrook Takes Real Appearance Christmastime

CRANBROOK, B. C., Dec. 7.—The Cranbrook stores have taken on a festive appearance in keeping with the season, all of them having decorations in the traditional red and green, many of them adding the aroma of evergreens to their holiday appearance. The new goods on display are tempting and the prices are in keeping with the times, being much lower than in many years for novelty and presentation articles. Evergreens will be set in the flagpole holes in front of many of the business houses and people are beginning to look for the colored lights on the main street holiday lustre on the snow. The matter of the extra expense of the colored lighting was considered at a special meeting of the city fathers recently, when it was decided to see whether arrangements could be made with the merchants' association, the special benefits of the lighting going chiefly to the stores on the street affected by the lighting.

To Seek Two Year Term for Mayor in City of Trail

TRAIL, B. C., Dec. 7.—It was decided at a meeting of the city council here tonight to submit a bylaw to the ratepayers at the next civic election for the authorization of a two-year term for position of mayor, to be effected in 1933 should the measure pass.

This decision was made after Mayor B. LeRose had made a review of work done during the last year, during which he thanked the aldermen for their cooperation during a difficult period. He expected 1932 would be even more difficult.

He brought up the matter of a two-year term for mayor, stating that it took a new mayor six months under the present system to become acquainted with his duties. The last six months of the term were let slide by the best way they could. In a two-year term the mayor would have a much better opportunity to work out a definite program.

After some discussion it was decided to submit a bylaw on the subject.

Aldermen Anderson and Dockstead-er stated that they would be candidates for reelection.

Mayor LeRose stated that he was willing to offer himself for re-election should no other candidates appear.

LEARMONTH IN PROTEST AGAINST HIGH BUS TAXES

Says Greyhound Already Pays a Large Volume; to Give City Figures

Protesting against the high licence fees talked of for the bylaw now being drafted for the regulation of passenger busses and freight trucks using the city's streets, John Learmonth, manager of the Canadian Greyhound Coaches system here, told the city council Monday night that his company would endeavor to meet any reasonable fees imposed, but that the maximum talked of would simply make it impossible for it to carry on and give the district the service it was giving in the present difficult conditions.

Mayor J. P. Morgan told Mr. Learmonth that there was nothing certain as yet regarding the scale of fees that would be incorporated in the bylaw, as Alderman H. B. Lindsay was still obtaining figures from other centers, and that he would be given every opportunity to make representations before the final decisions were reached.

WELL TAXED ALREADY

Mr. Learmonth said the city's special bus licence fee would be in addition to a large burden of various kinds already paid. He said each vehicle paid $4 quarterly per ton capacity for freight, whether it carried any or not, this amounting to $32 a year on a two-ton vehicle. Then it paid $4 annually for every passenger seat. The company paid the city $10 for a traders licence twice a year, and paid the province for licences for all its vehicles. It used 80 gallons of gasoline a day, on which the gasoline tax was $4.

It was agreed that Mr. Learmonth should furnish the city with a complete statement of the taxes paid by the company in respect to its West Kootenay services, and also the weights of all its vehicles, as it was possible the principle of charging by weight might be used in the bylaw.

CANADIAN WHEAT POLICY CENSURED

LONDON, Dec. 7. (CP cable)—Sharp criticism of the Canadian wheat policy of two years ago, when supplies were withheld "to a large extent in the hopes of securing better prices," is contained in a letter addressed to Prime Minister Ramsay MacDonald by John Westcott, president of the National Association of British and Irish Millers, limited. It was dated December 4, but was made public today.

The letter also brands the National government's proposed dominion and home-grown what quota scheme "almost impracticable and certainly most inefficient and uneconomic."

Railway Decision Being Considered

OTTAWA, Dec. 7. (CP)—The right of the railway companies to make a 10 per cent cut in employees' wages retroactive to November 15 is now before the department of justice. Departmental officials could give no indication this evening as to when a ruling on the point may be expected.

It is understood that the position of the railway companies is that they have complied with the provisions of the Industrial act and that they are within their rights in setting the date when the cut shall go into effect. As the question in dispute apparently requires an interpretation of the act, the department of justice has been asked to consider the matter and give a ruling.

RAILWAY RUNNING TRADES REFUSED COMPENSATION

OTTAWA, Dec. 7 (CP)—The board of railway commissioners for Canada has refused to the application to the Brotherhood of Railroad Trainmen, the Brotherhood of Locomotive Engineers, the Order of Railway Conductors, and others, for compensation in connection with the alleged abandonment as a terminal by the Canadian National railways, of Big Valley, Alberta. The application was heard by the board in Edmonton on Oct. 10.

The employees asked for relief under section 179 of the Railway act which provides that no station or divisional point may be abandoned without leave of the board and that in any such change the employees must be compensated as the board may deem advisable for any losses entailed through the necessity of changing residence.

FINANCES STAND IN WAY OF JUNIOR RUGBY FINAL

MOOSE JAW, Sask., Dec. 7.—The proposed trip of Moose Jaw Maroons to Woodstock, Ont., to decide the Dominion junior rugby championship is somewhat uncertain tonight. Finances prove to be the bone of contention, and at a late hour the clubs had failed to come to an agreement. A wire from Woodstock is expected early tomorrow morning. The Maroons hope to leave for the east tomorrow night.

Woodstock has suggested the Maroons allow expenses of the game as a first call on the gate and the western champions then take the remainder of the money. The Maroons do not favor this, and want expenses up to $1000 as a first call against the gross gate, with expenses to come out after that.

Shut Down Cars December 16 for Test on Radio

On the motion of Aldermen E. W. Dawson and H. B. Lindsay, a request of the Amateur Radio society, for a 10-minute shutdown of the street car system at 8 o'clock on the evening of December 16, was granted Monday night by the city council.

This is a move in the campaign against radio interference, the society having devided the city into 10 zones, each under a captain, and made arrangements for exhaustive observations during the 10-minute period, by a great number of radio users.

The object of this particular test will be to ascertain what proportion of the interference is due to operation of the street cars.

Work that will entail a cost of approximately $3000, and which is under contract to A. H. Green company, was started on the New Grand hotel Monday, in preparing space for the beer parlor. The pool room and cigar store will be done away with, and changed to suit the needs of the beer parlor, said P. L. Kapak, and all materials and work will be locally supplied.

When the change is completed, there will be a room 46x23 feet, and which will conveniently accommodate about 15 tables, observed Mr. Kapak. The interior will also receive considerable attention, in order to make it as inviting as possible.

Work is expected to be finished well before the new year.

Nelson Backs Trail in Protest at Loss of Liquor Profits

With practically no discussion, the city council Monday night endorsed a very lengthy resolution passed by the Trail city council, protesting at the proposed withdrawal by the province of the grants to municipalities from the liquor profits and from the race track revenues.

Aldermen J. B. Gray and W. R. Campion sponsored the motion for endorsement, and it carried unanimously.

Only Two Fires in Trail During the Last Month

TRAIL, B. C., Dec. 7.—The monthly report of the Trail fire chief, received at the city council meeting here tonight, stated that in November there had been 157 inspections and 17 orders served under the Fire Marshals act. There had been two fire alarms and no appeals.

Statistics for the month: Value of buildings affected by fire, $3000; insurance on buildings, $3000; damage to buildings, $1650; value of contents, $14,100; damage to contents, $8000; insurance, $6520.

One of the fires during the month had been caused by carelessness with gas and the other by an unprotected stove pipe passing through a wooden partition.

LOST 20 LBS. FAT

Without Altering Diet

To reduce weight without any attention to diet is rather more than anyone should expect. That the Kruschen method should have succeeded in this case, is a great tribute to its effectiveness.

"When I started taking Kruschen for reducing weight, I weighed 170 lbs. That was seven months ago. I decided I was too heavy, and now, thanks to the half teaspoonful of Kruschen every morning, I tip the scale at 150 lbs. I have been that weight for nearly four months. I may say I feel much better. I did not diet myself in any way whatever."—E. C.

Kruschen Salts do not reduce you overnight—like so many products claim to do. But taken regularly over a period of time—with a modified diet and gentle exercise, half a teaspoonful in a glass of hot water every morning before breakfast will take away unhealthy flesh and restore your figure to its normal weight. Yet at the same time—build up health with a great increase in vigor and energy for you

PER FOOT COST CONCRETE WALKS THE LOWEST YET

City Lays Nearly Two Miles of Concrete Walks 1931 at 20.81 Cents Foot

OVER HALF OF CITY WALKS NOW CONCRETE

36 Projects Executed During Season Says Engineer in Report

Owing chiefly to the generally light preparatory grading, Nelson's 1931 concrete sidewalks have been laid at a cost of only 20.81 cents per square foot, against 23.25 cents in 1930., 23.59 in 1929, 24.36 in 1928. a chart laid before the city council by City Engineer Boyd C. Affleck Monday night showed. The 1931 figures are by far the lowest yet achieved by Nelson.

LARGE PART EXTENSION

In his report Mr. Affleck said:

"I beg to present herewith a chart showing the concrete sidewalk construction carried out in Nelson during 1931. Construction of 4-foot walks was 2119 feet; of 6-foot walks, 7808 feet; of 10-foot walks, 202 feet—a total of 10,129 feet or 1.9184 miles. Of this total 2173 feet, or .4115 miles, was extension, where no sidewalk had been before, and 7956 feet, or 1.5069 miles, was replacement of old plank walks.

"The average cost of the work was 20.81 cents per square foot, which cost includes all grading, a charge of $1 per cubic yard for gravel, $6 per day for the concrete mixer, $10 per day for truck, and 10 per cent of labor costs for supervision. The average cost in 1930 was 23.25 cents, and in 1929, 23.59 cents. The principal cause of the much lower average cost this year is that all but one of the sidewalks constructed required comparatively light grading.

"Concrete sidewalks now constitute more than half of Nelson's sidewalk mileage, being 12.449 miles, or 53.24 per cent of a total of 23.383 miles.

"This year's construction was done under the authority of 36 bylaws, one of which dated from 1930. Work on two other bylaws was left incompleted owing to the lateness of the season."

CARTMELL TELLS ROTARY CLUB OF WELFARE NEEDS

City Can Only Furnish Necessaries; Large Field for Relief

MAKING SURVEY FOR CHRISTMAS

Work of Providing Clothing; Asks Citizens to Tell of Needy

Capt. A. Cartmell, commanding Nelson corps of the Salvation Army, and chairman of the recently organized Community Welfare association, which represents now the organized relief effort of Nelson, was the speaker at Monday's session of the Rotary club, when he gave a brief summary of the position here.

The idea behind the new organization, he said, was that the community's cheer effort should not be concentrated on the Christmas season and then allowed to lapse, but should be maintained throughout the winter, as the need for assistance was a continuing one.

In going on his rounds, Capt. Cartmell said, he found the city and the government were taking care of a good many cases of extreme need, but obviously they could not do all that was needed, and the object of the Welfare organization was to step in and do the additional work necessary.

TYPICAL CASES

Various instances were given by the speaker of cases of destitution—where a family consisting of parents and a couple of infants received $10 a month from the city for groceries, where a family of mother and seven or eight children had to live on $24 a month that the father, working out of the city, was able to send home—and other typical cases. The city could not possibly make the grants that would be needed for more than necessaries of life, and it was here that the community was stepping in to supplement, by providing a fund for such relief, and by providing clothing that could be spared.

With Christmas approaching, a very careful survey was being made, to ascertain those families that ought to be visited at this season. But unless information was volunteered by those who had knowledge of the facts, many in a needy condition would be overlooked, for often those most needing help would not say a word themselves, particularly if this was the first time they had been in this position.

"Do you know anyone in your block who is in need?" Capt. Cartmell asked that all citizens should ask themselves that question. Resulting investigations would be made quietly and kindly, so as not to hurt the sensitive. Confidence was maintained regarding relief extended.

CLOTHING WORK

Describing the people of Nelson as "great-hearted" and "broad-minded," the speaker dealt with the splendid response to the organization's appeal for clothing, which was being handled at a room at the Club hotel, where, to enable the work to be handled better, a paid attendant had been arranged for the last three weeks, for two hours each morning and two each afternoon. Bags of clothing according to individual need were made up for needy families.

Capt. Cartmell also referred to the assistance given by the doctors, the dentists, and the hospital when called upon.

Recalling the motto, "God first, others next, self last," the speaker said much of the world's present condition was due to the way men had twisted this motto out of its proper order.

President Howard Bush, in thanking Capt. Cartmell for his talk, pointed out that probably the number of families in distress would be much larger than last year, in view which the Rotarians should make an extra effort to meet the additional need.

CHAPTER THIRTEEN

"Sorry to disappoint you, but you're on the wrong track!"

"Out with it, Laurel! Out with the murky secret?"

"There is none."

"Rats!"

"What about the handsome chap last night? You haven't given me a full account of that . . ."

"Are you my father-confessor, Im? Just because I suddenly went cold all over at your blessed party, I s'pose you think—when he found me—he put a thousand-volt battery on me, to galvanize me back to life? Well, you're all wet. The truth is, he bound up my wound, like a Good Samaritan, gave me black coffe in a roadhouse, so as to pull what was left of my woooolly wits together, read me the Riot act, and took me home."

"Was that all?" In her eagerness to hear something of a spicy nature, Imogen coiled round towards Laurel with a fluid motion that was almost like that of a voa-constrictor.

"Yep. Sorry to let you down. What did you think?"

Imogen was silent. Laurel noticed that Imogen's eyes were green. Green like a cat's.

Or was that merely the effect of the woodland surroundings!

Or the intense curiosity of Imogen, which had narrowed the pupils of her eyes till they were pinpoints?

Suddenly Laurel felt it might be dangerous to confide in Imogen—that Imogen wasn't quite the friend she seemed.

She ruled last night's behavior "out," of course. Last night poor Imogen hadn't been in control of herself.

Did her supposed friend really care for Roger Sartoris? Whatever their relationship might be, could one grace it by the name of love?

Imogen laughed love—in the sentimental meaning of the term—to scorn. She would substitute in its place what she called a 'grand pash.'

"Grand pashes" didn't last long, apparently. . . .

But what ruled Imogen's scheme of life—in regard to men—was a superfluity of the almighty dollar! Money!

If Imogen married—and that young lady fully intended to—it would be for cold cash.

"Afterwards one can amuse oneself," Imogen had avowed, with a sophisticated shrug of her shoulders.

"You mean that if you were crazy about a man, unless he were rich, you wouldn't marry him?" Laurel had probed.

Imogen's eyes had narrowed calculatingly. She said, cryptically; MY way about being crazy over a man probably wouldn't be YOURS."

"But aren't we all daughters of Eve? You know how it is when love hits us in the solar plexis?"

Imogen had laughed at that "You funny kid! Don't forget I'd a French grandmother. I don't connect love with marriage."

Laurel had been intrigued. "Go on. Tell me the rest of your theories. In a French novel someone lent me, after she was marired, the heroine found a—a—"

"Lover?" supplemented Imogen.

"Well, yes."

"Why not? The way men act, all over the world these days, who could blame her?"

"But it isn't playing the game—"

"It's playing it exactly as men play it, Laurel."

"But there must be lots of decent men in the world?"

"What d'you mean by decent?"

"Who wouldn't deceive anyone . . ."

"Whoops! They'd be insipid."

"Well, I like the faithful kind—not the horrid old Bluebeards—"

"Oh, you're only an infant!"

But in Laurel's impressionable mind this conversation had lingered.

Laurel had a dash of Latin blood in her, mixed with Scotch and pioneer American.

Imogen informed her, teasingly, that that was a "helluva conbination." . . .

"Goodness! A girl like you—"

The inference was that the earth and everything therein contained was at Laurel's slim young feet, would she but snatch it!

Also, because of the mixed blood from her ancestors, that she was the possessor of a devilish fascination.

If she would but yield to it, that is. BE HERSELF! That was one of Imogen's pet phrases.

"You're as full of inhibitions as an egg's full of . . . whatever an egg's full of," quoth the oracle, impressively.

"And out of a big creel of oysters, you're the one lone pearl!" Laurel had shown unexpected spirit at the conclusion of her friend's diatribe.

"D'you know, Laurel, you really ought to be psycho-analyzed."

"Me? Whoops! I'd love it."

"Right. I'll take you to a wiz. But his fee is $15."

Laurel had shrugged her shoulders turning the palms of her hands upwards.

ANSWERS TO INQUIRIES

Church Worker: "I think it might help other church organizations if I told how our sewing guild raised considerable money: We cut tiny waist aprons out of flowered dimity, pinking the edges all round; on each we sewed two pockets. These aprons we enclosed in a letter to every woman member of the church, with the following verse: "This neat little apron is sent to you, and this what we want you to do: The little pocket you plainly see, so special purpose is meant to be: Measure your waistline, inch by inch, and see that the measure doesn't pinch! For each little inch you measure round, In the pocket put a penny sound. The game is fair, you will admit. You 'waist' your money, we 'pocket' it. Then send or carry, which best may seem ,To the Parish House at three o'clock, If your waist is small, consider you're lucky, and if it's large, just show us you're plucky."

Answer: "Thank you, reader friend, for this helpful idea, which I feel sure may be of use to other church workers.

Answer: "Turpentine will remove many kinds of spots from unfinished wood floors. In obstinate cases apply a strong solution of lye with a swab of rags tied to a stick; this usually removes the stain but darkens the wood, but to restore the color, apply a solution made by dissolving one teaspoon of oxalic acid crystals (poison) in a scant cupful of hot water; let stand till the wood is sufficiently bleached, then wash off with water containing a little ammonia (the ammonia, being an alkali, neutralizes the action of the acid).

A Reader: "Have you, or any reader, directions for making a Crocheted Roll-Your-Own hat?"

Answer: I have not, but perhaps someone who reads your request will have such directions and will send them to me, for publication?

The Beauty Box

by Helen Follett

Beauty clients who won't learn how to train and manage a permanent wave are the despair of operators who produce beautiful hard-boiled undulations. The loveliest wave will go limp under neglect. Dip the comb in steaming hot water, run it through the hair, pull the hair straight and sleek, then push upward toward the parting. Shoutings and joyousness will be in order, because a perfect wave pattern will appear. Even naturally curly hair has to be petted and coddled if it is to glorify itself.

Fatigue during exercise is a definite signal that rest is in order. For a tired woman to go through calesthenic stunts is to put added strain on the body that is crying out for relaxation. In the mater of muscular activity, animals have more sense than humans. When they're tired, they flop, go to sleep. During sleep tissue cells are renewed, built up and energy is recreated. The wise woman sees to it that she has exercise and rest in proper proportions.

Surprising how becoming a faint film of green-blue eye shadow is to the fair-skinned, fair-haired woman. They impart coolness and freshness to the complexion, depth and sparkle to the blueness of the eyes. Mauve shadows with wild rose rouge add the proper decorative touch to the white-haired darling whose skin is delicate and creamy.

The wrong sitting posture puts humps on shoulders. Put that fact in your pipe and smoke it, you typists who huddle over machines all day long. Sit well back in the chair. Use a small cushion at the small of the back; it will give support and encourage you to hold your head and chest up. A curved spinal column with shoulders thrown forward has a bad effect upon the central nervous system.

Narrow shoes will produce ingrowing nails. No sense bothering to have the twinging horrors treated, if the same shoes are to press the cuticle, ridging it into a thick substance to press against the nail. Proper shoes solve the problem of foot ills.

Mrs. Lockhart Is Institute Head for Silverton

SILVERTON, B. C., Dec. 7.—The Silverton Women's Institute met in the large room kindly loaned by Mrs. T. Wilson, 16 member were present, each bringing a cup and saucer donated by them to the institute. Election of officers resulted as follows: Mrs. G. Lockhart, president; Mrs. E. Matthew, vice-president, Mrs. E. Fairhurst, secretary-treasurer; Mrs. W. Marshal and Mrs. A. Walton as directors. Refreshments were afterwards served by the hostesses of the evening, Miss D. White and Mrs. A. Walton and a social hour enjoyed.

KASLO HOSPITAL AID CLOSES ITS SUCCESSFUL YEAR

Mrs. Latham Named President; Aid Does Lot of Excellent Work

KASLO, B. C., Dec. 7.—At the annual meeting of the Kaslo Ladies' Hospital aid, Mrs. J. H. Stubbs presided. In the president's report, Mrs. Anderson stated that the wonderful success attained was something to be proud of and was only reached through the co-operation and harmony existing in the society nad was sure, if this spirit was maintained, that the splendid group of women working together in this fine cause, could accomplish any thing they set out to do. She thought the "Sunshine fund" had made the society seem more like a human organization than a mere machine. Mrs. Anderson gave due praise to the fine work done by various committees, especially those working on the laundry, refrigeration and sterilizer propositions, and those working for the success of the orchestra dance, the annual ball, hospital day, Mrs. Russell's lecture, the summer fete and the recently held whist drive and dance. She also spoke of the gratifying results of the "free will" offering held recently. She appreciated the conscientiousness of the members of the executive committee and congratulated all the members on the year's success.

IMPROVEMENTS MADE

Mrs. D. J. Barclay, secretary, reported on the year's work. Supplies had been kept up to standard in the hospital, as have the needs in the kitchen. The sitting room and dining room in the nurses' home were re-decorated and a new wicker chair purchased for the home; the ladies had paid for the redecorating of the large public ward and purchased new linoleum for the upstairs bathroom. A steam sterilizer has been purchased and was being installed; Christmas cheer was arranged for the staff and patients, the hospital being beautifully decorated for the festive season. In January the Kaslo orchestra gave a dance, the proceeds of $151 being turned over to the ladies; the annual ball netted the sum of $142.05; a lecture given by Mrs. Russell of Boswell, on the evening of Hospital day realized $21.50 clear; the annual summer fete added $66.25 to the funds; a whist drive and dance netted $56. The annual free will offering totaled $111.25 in cash and a large number of useful supplies were also donated.

During the year the meetings were held in private homes, the hostesses serving tea. The income from this source amounted to $30.85; of this $13.35 was used, leaving a balance of $17.50 still in the fund for future "Sunshine."

Mrs. F. S. Chandler, reporting for the buyers and house committee, gave a full list of purchases made during the year and also gave a complete list of linen and other supplies now on hand; the inventories had been taken regularly during the year. Mrs. T. Smith, secretary for the "Sunshine" fund, gave a clear report of her activities.

The year's total receipts (not including the "Sunshine fund") were $896.95, expenditures were $500 with one outstanding account of approximately $280. The cash balance in hand for the beginning of the new year is $725.89 of which $398.89 is in the current account, $314.59 in the savings department and $17.50 in the "Sunshine" fund. There were 150 members in 1931, with an average attendance at meetings of 26.

Votes of thanks were passed to the members of the hospital staff for their co-operation, to Mr. Dunn for auditing the books and to the retiring officers.

"I tried several remedies but they did not do much good. I read an advertisement for Cuticura Soap and Ointment and sent for a free sample. I could sleep better after using it so purchased more and in about a month I was completely healed." (Signed) Stanley Petitpas, Poirierville, Nova Scotia.

SACRIFICE BY MAN FUNDAMENTAL ACT RELIGION, SERMON

Happiness Found in Knowledge Says Father McKenzie

"All mankind is seeking one thing—happiness." "How is it attained and what is it?" asks Father McKenzie at his Sunday morning service at the Church of Mary Immaculate. Happiness he said, consists of an entire realization of man's position, standing and worth before God.

People must have a knowledge of God's friendship in this life and an assurance of being with him in the next. Man was happiest when keeping God's law, because then he was showing his love for God. The Ten Commandments were given to Moses for the salvation of the world for all time. They were the fundamental principles of a Christian life. Man was expected to obey them.

Man must serve God in the way He prescribed, stated Father McKenzie. The homage of the soul is not sufficient. There must be an exterior action for the expression of thoughts toward God. Man must express his relation to God as that of creature to Creator, therefore there must be sacrifice on the part of man to show his servitude and love.

TEXT BOOKS ARE PUZZLE

CRANBROOK, B. C., Dec. 7.—At the Cranbrook school board Thursday evening a letter from Mrs. Birkenham of Kootenay Orchards expressing appreciation of the residents in the Kootenay Orchards' school district of the boards purchase of an organ.

A circular was received from the department of education asking for reports from the school principals as to what action had been taken in the schools re Australia week, which followed the landing in British Columbia of a cargo of Australian goods. Copies of letters from Miss Woodland of the public school and Miss Jackson of the high school telling how the matter was handled in the schools, was forwarded to the department.

The matter of the request for a return of fourth year high school fees by one of the pupils under special circumstances was held over for decision pending investigation.

EXPLAIN ABOUT TEACHER

Some correspondence from the department re granting of a British Columbia certificate to Miss Maltman, most recent of the oppointees to the high school staff has arisen. An enquiry had come from the department asking why a British Columbia teacher had not been chosen for the vacancy. The explanation was sent that while Miss Maltman had received her degree and year of education at Toronto university, she was a native daughter of the province and had received her education up to the end of high school, in Fernie. Moreover it had not been known until after the opening of school that another teacher would be required and it had been necessary to act quickly. As she had been available, and had had the qualifications and had been making good in the position since her appointment, the board strongly recommended the granting of a British Columbia license.

A circular from the textbook branch of the department advised that in future surplus text books ordered might not be returned and that it would be necessary for the teachers to figure more closely the number of books that would be needed. As it was impossible for the teachers to know how many students would be in attendance each year or how many of these will have purchased second-hand books from former students of their year, the only resource will be to order fewer books than will be required and reorder when the number is known, causing delay and inconvenience with the starting of classes.

Accounts including teachers and janitors' salaries to the amount of $4837.61 were presented and ordered paid.

KASLO, B. C., Dec. 7.—The members of the Women's auxiliary of St. Mark's Anglican church held their annual Christmas bazaar on Saturday. It was a successful affair.

All committees were under the direct convenership of the president, Mrs. R. A. Chester. In charge of the apron stall, Miss Mildred Twiss sold practically all her goodly supply of house dresses, smocks, and aprons of all sizes, styles and quality. Mrs. Ronald Hewat in charge of the fancy work department did a splendid work disposing of the dainty and useful needlework. Mrs. G. C. Read and Mrs. James Goodenough were kept busy for the short time the well-laden table of home-cooked daintes lasted, every article being speedily disposed of, the city bachelors, especially taking advantage of their opportunity to get various real home made delectable foods. Mrs. C. G. Bowker soon disposed of the contents of the candy table. Mrs. William Whitaker dispensed of the ice cream which appealed to all especially the kiddies. The Girls' auxiliary also had an attractively arranged table of various articles and did a thriving business, disposing of most of their wares. Mrs. J. H. Stubbs assisted by Mrs. Thomas Smith and Mrs. George Palmer were in charge of the tea arrangements. Mrs. Matthews kept the kiddies, who surrounded the Christmas tree, well in hand and disposed of all her wares. Mrs. John Keen had in her capable hands the raffling of the handsome bedspread and daintily dressed doll. The main attraction, and incidently one which netted a splendid sum, was the curio shop managed by Mrs. C. C. Raven who was assisted by Mrs. Chrystal. Here were exhibited curious from every corner of the world—a baby dress by hand in 1850, a 75 year old doll, odd pieces of carved ivory, gold and silver jewelry, and dozens of other extremely interesting articles were on display and proved a source of surprise and delight to the many who viewed them. The entire affair added nearly $200 to the funds of the society.

The Silver Problem

Silver producing districts of Canada will watch with live interest the efforts which are being made by the United States chamber of commerce to bring about an improvement in silver marketing conditions.

When the council if the international chamber of commerce meets in Paris on March 1, the American delegates will urge a sales agreement be made between the American producers and the Indian government, that the larger powers restore subsidiary coinage to its pre-war silver basis and that researches be made with the object of extending present uses of silver and ascertaining new uses.

Whether an agreement can be made with the Indian government depends upon the policy of India. If India does not want silver, the chambers of commerce will find it difficult to make a deal. During and since the war, most nations have discarded much of their gold and silver in favor of paper, the paper being backed by gold reserves to a percentage of its face value. Great Britain is using "Bradburys" or small denomination notes, which has had the effect of replacing not only gold coins, but much silver coinage. France is using paper notes in denominations as low as five francs (less than 20 cents) and the old 50 centime and two-franc pieces which used to contain silver are now made of an alloy of copper. A similar situation exists all over the world. Nations have learned that it is cheaper to make currency tokens out of paper than out of silver.

In the proposal to carry out research work to increase the consumption of silver, particularly in a commercial way and for domestic uses, the American chamber of commerce is on sound ground. Sterling silver, for example, is a much more attractive article to the average housewife than plate and she only buys plate if she feels that she cannot afford solid silver.

A cooperative advertising campaign, conducted by silver producers and manufacturers of silver goods, along the lines of that which has been carried out by the copper and brass producers, would undoubtedly result in a larger consumption of silver and the products of silver.

The German Trade Anomaly

One of the anomalies in the international situation is that Germany, which is still fighting to retain its gold standard, and having tremendous difficulties in doing so, and in fact, is only nominally on a gold basis, through virtue of a moratorium on external debts, is nation.

During July, August, September and October, Germany had a favorable trade balance of respectively $55,000,000, $76,000,000, $87,000,000 and $91,000,000. For the 10 months ending in October, surplus of exports was $479,000,000 as compared with $150,000,000 in the corresponding period of last year, and an unfavorable trade balance of $154,000,000 in the corresponding period of 1929.

Much of this remarkable performance in world trade is due to a shrinkage in imports, which are down 36 per cent, while exports are down only 19 per cent. To those who wonder why there is such a heavy favorable trade balance, running at the rate of more than half a billion dollars a year, when Germany is unable to pay its external debts, the reasons given are chiefly that German external credits have been extended almost to the breaking point, with a consequence that the country is unable to make purchases outside its own borders to the extent that its industry really requires.

This favorable trade balance is therefore due to pressure of outside circumstances, rather than to a genuine development of trade. Germany is not buying goods from the rest of the world not because it does not wish to do so, nor because its industries do not need them, but because it simply cannot afford to pay the bill.

Such a situation is obviously temporary. It can not last. Either Germany will get into such a financial condition as result of the Hoover plan and other steps which are being taken, as to resume the purchase of foreign raw and other materials, or its industry as a whole will suffer a steadily growing decrease in volume, with ultimate disaster.

If, on the other hand, Germany re-establishes the credit with the rest of the world, its industries, now starving for foreign materials, will rush into the market and buy in such huge quantities that in all probability a second series of financial difficulties will have to be overcome.

It is with this in mind that the world's financial experts who are dealing with the German situation are endeavoring to work out a plan which will operate not merely to give temporary relief, but to establish a situation which can be kept sound for the next 10 or 20 years, during which the country recovers completely from the effects of the World War.

Dispatches from Paris, the capital upon which most of these financial conferences of experts have centered, indicate that very satisfactory progress is being made in the desired direction.

Once the German situation has been cleaned up it will have a very marked effect upon international financial conditions generally.

Germany celebrated the thirteenth birthday of her republic the other day. The Royalists did not make their customary demonstration as in other years. Sentiment has gone hard for the present regime. However, Hitlerism did fly the Fascist emblems and the Communists their Red rags.

Cuba has thrown a scientist into the dungeon of Principe Castle. From Copernicus down, scientists have had to get used to this.

A Texas somnabulist jumped into his car, drove 19 miles before he hit a truck. That is a record. Few of them get that far.

"Between You and Me"

By "J.B.C."

Swish, swish, swish. So was the rhythm as Nelsonites walked down the main drags Monday. Flop, flop, flop. It almost reminded one of the day before Christmas two years ago, only the slush was not so deep, and the lights didn't go out. The thaw has come. Nelson citizens, at least some of them, declare that the January thaw has descended upon us at this early date in December. So we plowed our way through. At one corner we met a lady acquaintance. Parading down the street with her we were suddenly brought to earth with—"Oh, you splashed my good silk stockings." So taking a tip, we, meaning the writer of this column, persisted in not walking down the street with any ladies. It might prove costly. And how could a fellow explain such occurrences to his wife. Yep, silk sox, even for ladies, cost from $2 and up. (Please consult the advertisements.)

* * *

George Fleming, well known as a local merchant and also as the proprietor of a block of auto campers, went down the street yesterday afternoon with a shoulderful of brooms. Reaching his rendezvous he deposited them on the floor. Probably he said, "Thank God J. B. C. didn't see me." But he did. Now it is troubling me, as I do not know whether Mr. Fleming was packing those brooms for his curling rink or just to distribute among his many cabins. But there is nothing like having the cabin frequentries sweeping out the stores.

* * *

And then I heard Dr. J. H. Bennett say he didn't have much use for newspaper reporters anyway. And Dr. Gussin seemed to follow him up. Well that's too bad. Seems as if war has been declared. Get your scissors, boys.

* * *

Howard Bush, genial cigar storeman, insisted that I put in these lines that yours truly had filled his cigarette lighter up on his free gasoline. On second thought he said I had better let it go. He believed he had too many free customers already. Okay, Howard.

* * *

* * *

Every official of the Nelson hockey team Monday declared that the ice was in first class shape despite the heavy fall of rain in the city. Well that was optimism and good advertising. However, despite the weather, the radio seems better during the day. Yes, this is "J. B. C." broadcasting.

* * *

And the swish, swish, swish of rubber boots, old or new, half soled or all sold, nearly or wholly bad, the weather reminds one of two years ago Christmas. They tell me that "tights" or "tites," pick out the spelling yourselves, tracked through the slush and the darkness two years ago without a care in the world. But why not? There was a lot of exchange around then, and Britain wasn't off the gold standard.

* * *

With the advent of winter in its worst form, haven't we lots of slush, has come the period of the serving of hot rums. For prohibitionists I will explain that hot rums mean less drinking among the boys. The fellows who dish them out put as little rum as is possible into a glass. They add heaps of water and a little sugar. Then all one has to do is to hold his breath and his nose and get it down. Hot rums are here. Strike up the band. There's no foam on the tip either, despite all the talk about beer parlors.

* * *

Now that the hockey match is over the old "I told you so" guys will have their fun. But, folks, listen, the ice wasn't so good. Give us a good sheet and we'll get twice as many, or more goals.

* * *

And so after wandering around the town and hearing nothing but groans from the curling followers, more groans from the hockey followers, alibis here and there, kicks from the skiiers and hallaballoos from the lake skaters, we have come to the conclusion that the less said about the citizens in these columns at this particular period of weather depression, the better.

* * *

Even the police say business is rotten—Well au revoir.

* * *

But just between you and me—Why kick or go wild? There are lots more games coming up.

The Manchurian Railway Miracle

In the far east an "eternal triangle" case is threatening to wreck a million homes. The "mother" and "father" are respectively China and Japan. Russia plays the watchful role of the other woman, while the child of the union, wealthy and coveted heir, is the southern Manchuria railway. Fiction, which in the past few weeks has perilously approached war, arose over the custody of the "child."

The Southern Manchuria railway was originally constructed as a military weapon for the late ex-czar, Russia at that time held large concessions from China in Manchuria, and the railway, only 690 miles long was a strange spearhead levelled toward Japan.

Japan met the challenge and the Russia-Japanese war resulted. That was 25 years ago. As a result of her victory, Japan took over Russia's concessions in Manchuria, including the Southern Manchurian railway. China, the landlord, received her new tenant with a grudging welcome.

Now watch the new tenant. Instead of using her rights for military advancement or conquest, Japan, with characteristic good sense, set about making the Southern Manchuria railway the most efficient carrier and the highest form of social service that lawless Manchuria had ever enjoyed. She succeeded. When first she took over the S. M. R., half the capital stock was offered to China; so little did the Chinese think of the railway's prospects that not a single share was taken by them. Japan thereupon found the capital among her own people (indeed, the shares were oversubscribed some 1066 times) and today the railway is wholly owned by Japanese.

In a quarter of a century, Japan's control has made the railway a narrow oasis of civilization in a vast arid plain of lawlessness and banditry. The railway zone, over which Japan exercises control, is a mere strip of land some 33 feet wide on either side of the railroad. In addition, the railway owns about 100 square miles of Manchurian land, and some 14,000 buildings. The S. M. R. has established 25 cities along its busy length, including Mukden, Niuchang, Changchun and Antung. Many of these were formerly primitive Chinese settlements. Today, the railway has equipped them with wide streets, parks, bridges, lighting systems, sewerage plants, waterworks, vast buildings and hotels.

The S. M. R. does much more than carry persons and goods—though it is recognized as the finest equipped and best-managed railroad in China. Its 12 departments in the huge headquarters at Dairn cover every phase of Manchurian development. The railway's geological institute, for instance, discovered iron at Anshan and coal at Fuhin, a seam whose content is estimated at a thousand million tons. So far some 50,000,000 tons have been mined. And in the upper strata of the Fushin mine about 5500 million tons of oil shale have been found, promising huge quantities of crude oil.

Local industries are discovered, or revived, by the railway's central laboratory, set on their feet, and then handed over to local firms capable of expanding them. An instance is Manchurian pottery. Hitherto all earthenware and porcelain had been imported. The railway found that excellent raw material was obtainable in Manchuria, and a factory was started. It has become a flourishing industry.

The work of developing the arable land bounding the railway, though supervised by the company, is almost entirely carried out by Chinese. Many of these have been settled and financed by the company, and it is estimated that in the last 10 years over 3,000,000 Chinese settlers have migrated to Manchuria, mainly to help produce the staple agricultural product—the Soya bean.

The railway recognizes that Manchuria will advance only by an improvement in social services. It has therefore built and maintained 160 schools, run entirely under its own management. These include 27 kindergartens, 35 primary schools, nine secondary establishments for boys and girls, 34 commercial schools, 13 domestic science schools, two colleges, one university, besides sundry training centers jointly controlled with other organizations. The railway caters for the educational needs of some 30,000 pupils and scholars within its zone. Any primary schoolchildren living where there is no school are provided with free travelling facilities to the nearest center. No preference is given to Japanese. Except in the infant schools, where the language difficulty obviates mixed schools, young Japanese and Chinese sit side by side.

The railway has also installed two large libraries at Dairen and Mukden, and 21 smaller ones along the line—some 350,000 books, in all.

Owing to climatic conditions, and rudimentary hygiene, large parts of Manchuria are effected by epidemic diseases, which the railway systematically guards against. A sanitation research laboratory keeps constant watch in area with a bad health record. Under their supervision, factories and mines are inspected regularly; drinking water and foodstuffs are periodically analysed; and all schools under Japanese control are regularly visited by the railway's dentists and doctors. Besides, the S. M. R. maintains 17 fully-equipped hospitals along its length, and over 2,000,000 patients are cared for annually.

Today, Manchuria is one of the richest countries in the world, but without the Japanese-controlled S. M. R. it would be like a herring without a backbone. Small wonder that Japan clings to the house in which it has made so many costly improvements.—Tit-Bits, London.

Truckers Willing to Pay Share of Highway Costs

By DONALD R. McQUARRIE
Secretary, Automotive Transport Association of Ontario, in The Financial Post

It is with a great deal of interest that I have followed your series of articles on the truck and railway situation. First of all, I would like to thank you for the very fair way in which you have handled what I fancy would be a very difficult subject.

However, I would like to take exception to some statements, which appeared in article No. 3, dealing with the recent cut in express rates. A table is submitted showing the earnings of the Canadian express companies for the years 1919 to 1930. While this at first might indicate that the express business has been ruined by truck competition, a closer study would show that this is not the case. From their peak year of 1921 to 1925 their revenue dropped each year until the 1925 revenue was almost $7,000,000 less than in 1921. Yet in 1925 the motor transport industry was in its infancy, and certainly had not seriously affected express revenue. From 1925 to 1931 this revenue industry grew very rapidly. When business slowed up in 1930, the revenue naturally dropped but transport companies experienced the same drop, and the express companies for that particular loss.

SAYS TRUCK QUICKER

In the same article Mr. McDonnell is quoted as saying "shippers generally prefer express service to truck service because express means . . . established place of business." I cannot agree with his statement that shippers generally prefer express service. I would like to point out that in most cases truck service is quicker than express.

His suggestion of the difficulty of locating individual truckers does not apply very much now. The individual trucker is fast disappearing or is operating through a transport terminal, which is able to give the public a very efficient service. The larger transport company maintains branches in all the important towns and cities along his route, and is able to and does give a more satisfactory service than express companies.

WILLING TO PAY SHARE

The question of part of the operating cost of trucks being absorbed by general taxes refers no doubt to the old war cry, that trucks pay nothing for the use of the highways. I believe that I gave you some figures which show what the trucks do pay. Whether it is the proper proportion, I do not know and I have never seen any figures which were supposed to show what their proper proportion should be. Truckers are quite willing to pay their share whatever that might be. However, while on the subject it might be pointed out that such improvements as the Welland canal, also come out of general taxes, are used almost entirely by another form of transportation which is a more serious competitor to the railroads. Yet we do not hear so much about steamships not paying their share of the cost. Why?

The question of rates is a very difficult one, and I am quite prepared to admit that motor transport charges are very unsettled. I fail to see, however, how the express companies (operating at a loss in 1930 at a very high rate) can regain enough business at a greaty reduced rate to compensate them for the cost of handling the extra business. It may result in injury to the motor transport business, but they are certainly not creating any good will for themselves by cutting rates down to one third on certain hauls from Toronto, but leaving the old rate on intermediate points.

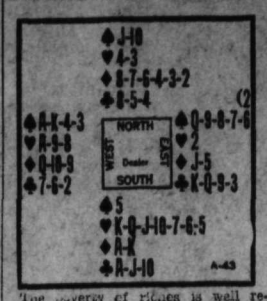
The success of the railways is essential to the continued growth of the country and I believe that truck transportation is equally essential. Regulation of the motor truck to a greater extent may be required, but care should be taken that this regulation is not so stringent that it amounts to strangulation.

I feel that the solution of the problem must be some co-ordination of the two services, so that the shorter hauls for the l.c.l. shipments may be handled by truck, the railways confining their activities to the long hauls and carload shipments.

Auction and Contract Bridge

By the World's Leading Authority, MILTON C. WORK

WHEN TOO MUCH STRENGTH IS WEAKNESS



The poverty of riches is well revealed by today's distribution. At Contract, South with 9½ tricks could have bid three Hearts if playing that an original suit-bid of three demands that the bidding be kept open until a game-bid is reached; North then would have bid three No Trumps (the weakness response), and South four Hearts. If South had started with the Game-Demand Two-Club bid, North would have bid two Diamonds and South four Hearts on the second round.

At Auction South could pre-empt with a bid of four Hearts to avoid the remote chance that his adversaries might carry the bidding beyond his reach in the Spade suit, or he could bid one Heart at the start and advance his bid if forced to do so.

West led the King of Spades. When East dropped the Nine, West continued with the Ace which was ruffed by South. South led the Ten of trumps which West ducked in the faint hope that East might be able to overtake; he wished, furthermore, to postpone the play of his Ace until dummy's trumps were exhausted and South could be forced again with a third round of Spades. West won the second round of trumps with the Heart Ace, East signalling with the Nine of Clubs. In response to the signal, West led a Club and East's Queen was won by South's Ace. Declarer easily took the remaining tricks except one Club and lost, in all, a Heart, a Spade and a Club. This fulfilled his four-Heart contract; do you see how his adversaries could have saved game?

THE CORRECT PLAY

When West won trick 4 with the Ace of Hearts, East could mark South with the Ace of Clubs since West, with the Ace-King of Spades and two other Aces, would have doubled the four-Heart contract. If South has three Clubs, and if Clubs are not led by West, East can be sure of two Club tricks. (East knows that dummy cannot possibly secure the lead). East, for this reason, should treat his Club suit as a liability rather than an asset. To trick 4 he should discard a small Club, Diamond or Spade. West then would lead a third round of Spades instead of a Club, and West would win two Club tricks, setting the contract. (If South led all his Hearts and Diamonds in an effort to saddle East with a Club lead at trick 11, East, counting trumps carefully, would set the contract by keeping only his King-Queen of Clubs and a Spade).

That Body of Yours

By JAMES W. BARTON

SPINAL CURVATURE DUE TO PAINFUL HIP

You may meet a friend or acquaintance whom you have not seen for some time and you are surprised to see that his body is now twisted or bent to one side.

He tells you that the lower part of his back and one hip have been giving him considerable pain for some time, and that this has actually given him a curvative of the spine.

And this is really true, because it is his efforts to draw his body away from the painful spot or side that is causing the curvature or deformity.

The pain is usually in the joint between the last bone of the spine and the big winglike hip bone of the hip. This pain may be caused by straining or spraining this joint, just as the ankle or wrist joint may be strained or sprained. All the ligaments about the joint, and the muscles attached to the two bones, are stretched, and the nerves being torn or under pressure, pain naturally follows.

Sometimes an inflammation is set up in this joint from infected teeth or tonsils and this causes the pain in lower back and hip.

Usually the spine can be brought in a straight line by relieving the joint condition. If due to an injury strapping the joint as with any sprain will give relief.

If due to infection this must be removed.

The use of heat to the muscles in the vicinity helps to relieve the tension by opening up the blood vessels and soothing the nerves.

Often a brace must be worn for months, sometimes years, to keep the joint 'tight' until the ligaments and muscles have grown strong again.

In speaking of the spinal curvature due to injury or inflammation of this joint, Dr. S. Kleinburg, New York, says that the being under an anaesthetic and then when the spine is in a straight line once more, it must be held by an extensive plaster cast which holds the trunk and the leg on the affected side from moving for some weeks.

This means that if these curvatures which give the body such a bent or crooked appearance are handled promptly and properly practically all of them can be cured.

NELSON BEATS TRAIL 2-1 IN A CLOSE MATCH; KEIVER, DUCKWORTH AND HANSON SCORE OPENING GOALS

Trail Packs Forward Line in Last Period in Effort to Beat Notman

Taking a two-goal lead in the first period and maintaining it to the end of the game, the Nelson Maple Leafs broke into the win column in the first game of the West Kootenay Hockey league last night, when they defeated Trail, British Columbia champions, 2-1. The game was fought on slow ice, owing to a slump in the weather, but was witnessed by about 1500 fans. Especially in the last few minutes of the game did "Scotty" Notman excell himself by kicking Trail pucks all over the defending area.

The league opener was anybody's game from the start. Nelson opened strong with a pressure that kept Reddick and Murdock, Trail defence stalwarts, on their toes. Keiver, Duckworth and Culley were ever thorns in their sides. Hardly had the game got going before Dupuis, Trail goalie, formerly of Port Arthur, went to his knees to save from Keiver. Nelson played a five-man defence throughout the game, and Trail played its defence men well up. Hanson in the first two minutes put the Nelson fans on their feet when he went in on Notman, but Scotty was on. Gillett went through, but Dupuis went to the ice in a sprawl to save. Nelson switched its forward line and the second line came near scoring when Annable went through. Dupuis was on. After the game had gone about 13 minutes, Doug Keiver wormed his way through the Trail defence, tricked Murdock and Dupuis in succession, and planted the first score home for Nelson in 13:45 minutes. Dupuis was beaten all the way.

Heartened by the score, Nelson pressed hard, and Dupuis was extended to save from Culley. Less than a minute later Nelson forwards went down together, Keiver was shifted to a corner but he laid a perfect pass to Duckworth in front of the net and "Duckie" drove the rubber home, putting Nelson two up. This was in 17:50 minutes. Reddick thrilled the fans with his rush, and his shot caused Notman to lose his balance, but the net was not bulged.

Trail opened the second period with a burst of speed. Jordan replaced Murdock on Trail's defence. Reddick bored through for a long shot which was easy for Notman. Samec, who was playing a whirlwind game, went through the Nelson forwards but was sandwiched by the defence. Keiver went through all alone but he was over the net. Annable, who was skating well, went through, but Dupuis went to his knees to save. Trail was playing its whole team at the Nelson blue line but the forwards repeatedly broke up the play. Hanson was skating his usual good form and after tricking the whole Nelson team his shot was stopped by Notman. The second period was hectic hockey, but neither team scored.

In the third period Trail opened up a strong offensive which kept Nelson on its toes all the way. Johnstone was playing a stalwart game on defence and he used his body effectively to stop Mickey Brennan and Brown.

BRENNAN GOES THROUGH

Brennan went through but was outguessed by Notman. Clarence Reddick, usually planted well back on the defensive, was called up by Manager Carrol Kendall, and he gave a lot of trouble to the local defence. Nelson was playing a six-man defensive game. Hanson picked up a pass at center, outguessed his check and shot from well in front of the blue line. The puck found the net, making the score 2-1.

Enthused by their tally, the Trail forwards and defence swarmed around the Nelson defence. Notman was kicking pucks here and there. Trail men were in repeatedly, but their passing from behind the net was wild. Hanson and Wheatley went in together and Hanson shot on Wheatley's pass. The rubber was dead on. Although many fans claimed the goal had been bulged, no score was called. It was a pretty play.

TRAIL PRESSES

Johnstone and Samec were mixed up and went to the cooler, and Doug Keiver followed them for tripping.

In the last two minutes Trail pressed its whole team into action in order to make an evening score, but Notman was on.

"Curley" Wheatley played his usual steady and heady game and received able support from Hanson and Brown. Culley, while not spectacular, was always on the puck engineering plays for his teammates. Keiver and Duckworth proved dangerous at all times.

In the final period a pile-up occurred on the Nelson end and Walter Gillett was carried off the ice. Examination by Dr. D. W. McKay revealed that he had received a nasty gash in the neck from a skate. He was removed to the hospital for treatment.

From start to finish the fans were treated to fast hockey, and it was clean throughout. Frank O'Genski proved a stalwart in the Nelson second forward line. Chapman, Gillett and Annable also showed promise of trouble for local opponents in the future.

The next league game is scheduled for Kimberley on Saturday night next.

John O'Genski handled the game in excellent style, and was ably supported by Joe Vannatter.

The teams:

VANCOUVER, B. C., Dec. 7.—(CP)—War on the Amateur Athletic Union of Canada, and severance of the British Columbia branch of the union from the governing body loomed here tonight as a result of the action of the delegates at the annual meeting of the Canadian body in Winnipeg in rescinding a promise that the Olympic trials would be staged in Vancouver. Decision of the Winnipeg meeting to place final selection in the hands of the Olympic committee, in the opinion of leading amateur sportsmen here, has practically eliminated Vancouver as the venue for the trials, in favor of Hamilton. Keen disappointment is expressed among followers of amateur sport here.

Don set the present world's record of 110.223 miles an hour in Italy this year with the Miss England Second. The Miss England Second will not be scrapped but will be held in reserve.

MIAMI, Fla., Dec. 7—Gar Wood streaked his Miss America IX through the water at an unofficial speed of 100 miles an hour today but bent a propellor shaft while doing it. He is preparing for an assault on the 110-miles-an-hour world's speed boat record now held by Kaye Don of Great Britain.

Big League BOWLING

By AL DEMAREE

At the right angles to the alley, where the alley begins, is a black line, called the "foul" line. At league matches and exhibitions a umpire is stationed there to see that the bowler does not touch or go over this line.

If he does, a "foul" is called, which means that no count is given on the ball rolled and the pins are respotted.

Going over the foul line is a fault easily acquired and very difficult to get rid of. Only advice I can offer the habitual "fouler", is to time his step about a foot or more in front of the "foul" line and then gradually work his way up to within inches of it as his confidence increases.

For the beginner it will be easier for he has no bad mental habits and can time his stride and delivery at the foul line without decreasing his effectiveness.

Al Demaree has prepared an illustrated leaflet on 'Improving Bowling Delivery" which he will gladly send to any reader requesting it. Address Al Demaree in care of this paper and be sure to enclose a self-addressed, stamped envelope.

"HOOLEY" SMITH LEADS SCORERS IN N. H. L. LOOP

Has 10 Points; Is One Point Up on Bill Cook of the Rangers

MONTREAL, Dec. 7. (CP)—Heavy scoring feats of the Montreal Maroons, who lead the National Hockey league in aggregate goals, and in the number of tallies notched in a single game, are further reflected in the weekly scoring records, issued tonight.

The records show that "Hooley" Smith, right wing of the Maroons' heavyweight "S" line, is leading the entire league in point-taking with three goals and seven assists for a total of 10 points, which gives him a margin of one over another famous right-winger, Bill Cook of New York Rangers. Much of Smith's average was compiled when Maroons created the season's record total of eight goals against Toronto Leafs, on which occasion he got three assists.

MAROONS WELL UP

Maroons figure prominently in the week's averages, for two members of the club are tied in the lead for penalties, Stewart and Trottier each having 28 minutes. Two majors are included in Stewart's total, which means that automatic suspension will follow if he incurs another. Earl Siebert, rugged New York Ranger defence player, is close behind the Maroon pair with 27 minutes.

Canadian section scorers are excelling those of the American division by a scant margin. Three of the Canadian division forwards are tied for second position, Forenz and Joliat of Canadiens and Charlie Conacher of Toronto Leafs, each with nine points. This is the same number credited to Bill Cook of the Rangers, who retains the lead in the American section, but in the latter division. The contenders are well behind the leader, Clapper of Boston having eight points, Boucher of the Rangers and George Owen of Boston seven each.

FORT WILLIAM IS LINING UP STRONG SEXTET

New Goalkeeper and Additional Strength to Forward Line

FORT WILLIAM, Ont., Dec. 7—Many lake head hockey critics figure that Fort William's senior hockey team of last year missed a chance of a lifetime. Before they drew a skate on they were favorites to reach the top, but as is so often the case with aggregations of potent strength the inevitable happened, and they were out before they really got started.

But it may be that this is their year to turn the trick. They are all together again, with but a single exception, and that Herb Langer, the Kenora boy, who rose to brilliant heights as a goalie last season, who has just changed shoes for Gordon Hacquoil, equally brilliant Port Arthur custodian of the past three seasons. The Forts are to have an addition to their ranks that should prove very helpful.

They lost out on Billy Thompson, the smart little Kenora junior of last year, but they secured Ossie Hacquoil and an elongated centre man named Hermanson in his stead. Thompson was to have been with the club up until but a month ago when he suddenly had a change of heart and went over to the opposition. In Thompson the Forts had hopes of a goal-getter for centre ice, although the ex-Fort William junior played wing with Kenora last season The signing of Hermanson and Ossie Hacquoil, however, more than offsets their disappointments in Thompson, as both are centre men, and both are of different types.

Hacquoil is but a midget, while Hermanson is of that irritating height that catches the cobwebs at all too regular intervals. Both are dexterious stick-handlers. In fact, Hermanson is a past master, and reminds one of Andy Blair when he played with Manitoba 'Vasity. On the other hand Hacquoil's very persistency, plus his ability as an opportunists makes of him a dangerous man within the vicinity of the net.

Fort William has reason to be interested in the prospectives from which Dr. Jack Langtry has to choose his team. Besides Gordon Hacquoil in goal, he has Barry Robilliard, Ross Knowles, Bert Anderson and Bert Milligan for defense.

Houston, Bobby McCranor, Carl Ostrum, Jazzy Manahan, Ossie Hacquoil, Hermanson, Donald McLeod and Johnny Stavert are the forwards. Of this troupe of goal-hunters, Stavert is another new man, having starred with the West Fort William Maroons at right wing last year.

With such players as Manahan, McLeod and Houston to build his front lines around, Coach Langtry's greatest difficulty will be to work them all in, for there is not one of them who on their last year's performances is not deserving of a place on the lineup.

REPUBLIC BEATS GRAND FORKS HOOP TEAMS

GRAND FORKS, B. C., Dec. 7.—Republic High school boys' and girls' basketball teams defeated the local teams here on Friday night. "On the Spot" in Sport

(By "O.J.W.S.")

While Trail fans showed the proper spirit last night in coming to Nelson by special train to see their Smokeaters in action they've got nothing on the rooters from the University of Georgia who are travelling across the continent in box cars to see their team in action against the Southern California Trojans. Four box cars well padded with straw to facilitate the business of sleeping will provide accommodation for 100 loyal supporters of the Bulldogs making the trip which will take just a week. Now that's what we call team support—in the ninth degree. Lack of cash is the reason for the box car idea.

What the Winged Wheelers did to the Regina Roughriders is now ancient history—it was a story of 22-0 with the forward pass as the predominant theme. From the first whistle until the last there were passes flying in all direction with three of them spelling touchdowns for the Montreal team. If there are still any die-hards who believe that the forward pass is not a winning offensive factor in Canadian rugby let them cast their eye over the list of 13 consecutive victories chalked up by the Wheelers this year. How come such success? In three words—the forward pass. The reason the Montrealers landed on the top of the heap of Canadian exponents of the forward pass was because they had Warren Stevens who was trained how to chuck the pigskin down at Syracuse University, where he starred. He had years of forward passing experience before the pass was allowed in the Canadian game. That he knows how to handle the ball is amply shown by his unerring 45-yard heave that led to the Wheeler's last touchdown.

When a French newspaper recently ranked the first 10 tennis players in the world there were two Britishers in the top five. Fred Perry, the giant Briton was singled out as No. 3 while his slighter teammate "Bunny" Austin was ranked No. 4. Which begins to look as though the fellow who prophesied that the British would be the next Davis cup winners, may not be so far off the truth after all.

When this column was written the Trail rooters were just arriving through slush and rain to watch the game up the hill. It was something of a hilarious arrival—we might add.

FORMER KOOTENAY STARS SHINE IN PRAIRIE TILTS

Wainman Gets Winning Goal; "Dee Pee' MacDonald Shines in Nets

Two former Kootenay stars shone in the opening games in the South Alberta hockey league. "Duke" Wainman, former slow moving Nelson defence star who was good for a goal at any unexpected moment was the hero of the Drumheller-Calgary Bronks game. In an overtime period he outguessed the Calgary boys to score the lone tally giving Drumheller a win.

"Dee Pee" McDonald, net minder of the Bronks was another hero in the fray. "Dee Pee" is the son of P. R. McDonald of Trail and has been playing goal in Calgary since graduating from the intermediate ranks in the Kootenay. He is rated as one of the best amateur goalies in the west.

Reno Recovers, $24,162 in Gold During Month November; Ottawa Official Pleased

Total recovery at the Reno gold mine for the month of November was $24,162, states C. O. Thompson, mine manager. Premium on this recovery, as payable in New York funds, brings the total value of the production to $28,965.

In November tonnage increased to 45.64 tons of ore per day. This increase came after certain operating Changes had been made at the mine. At the present time extensive experiments are being made in metallurgical processes with view to improving the high recovery record of last month.

W. B. Timm, chief of the ore dressing and metallurgical division, department of mines, Ottawa, who has visited the Reno mine recently, tested of the ore there and made recommendations concerning operation of the mill. Mr. Timm was much impressed with the plant and the progress been made in the development of the mine.

When shown monthly per foot costs, and footage per month figures, the Ottawa official was agreeably surprised.

In honor of the 11 men who were instrumental in striking the new vein in No. 5 level, a dinner was held at the mine while Mr. Timm was making his visit. Mr. Timm, on behalf of the Reno officials presented Vic Anderson, who cut the vein, with a new suit of clothes and gave the other 10 men on the crew suitable gifts. Special praise was given to O. S. Olsen and H. Hawkinson, who were in charge of the work and were instrumental in doing the development at such remarkably low footage costs.

Mr. Timm, in speaking to the men, stressed the importance of gold production in Canada. He gave credit to accomplishments in gold mining in British Columbia, mentioning the work at the Pioneer and Union mines but especially the development and production at the Reno.

Mr. Timm will leave for Ottawa tonight.

NEW YORK LIST TRADES SLOWLY

Traders Contented to Sit Back and Adopt Policy of Watchful Waiting

NEW YORK, Dec. 7 (AP)—A week crowded with events that will have a bearing on ultimate answers to economic and financial problems, both domestic and foreign, began today with stocks satisfied to follow a policy of watchful waiting.

The range for the day, however, was small and the turnover totalled only 1,458,565 shares.

A few stocks displayed some heaviness. One was Standard of New Jersey, whose net loss of more than a point appeared to indicate tax selling. Another was New York Central, off 1½ net, the sag there representing uncertainty over this week's dividend action.

U. S. STEEL

U. S. Steel was newer very vigorous, for the industry is currently beset by irregularity. The present production ratio is under that of a week ago, approximating the depression low. American Telephone ran up nearly 2 points in response to a favorable earnings estimate, but closed with a fractional loss. National Biscuit, General Electric, Chrysler, Case and Radio firmed.

Sterling exchange was weak, making a new low, but the reichsmark steadied and the French franc held firm.

Another erratic bond market which at times indicated it was trying to climb out of the low price slough today knocked several utilities and rails down to new bottom records for the year. As in some other sessions, however, the cold figures did not tell the whole story. United States government issues were well bought at advances, German loans improved throughout the domestic obligations showed a firm tone in many instances.

WILL TEST FLOCKS IN BOUNDARY FOR PULLORUM DISEASE

GRAND FORKS, B. C., Dec. 7.—Arrangements have been made to test a few flocks of breeding hens in Grand Forks for pullorum disease to eliminate the reactors. Two tests will be used, the simplified antigen test and the tube laboratory test. The antigen has been supplied by the bureau of animal industry, United States department of agriculture, while the laboratory tests will be made by Professor Biely of the bacteriology department, University of B. C. G. L. Landon, district agriculturist at Grand Forks, will make the antigen tests and take the blood samples for the laboratory tests. The intention is to check the antigen test with the standardized laboratory test.

SAMPLE APPLE SHIPMENTS GO TO THE ORIENT

Frozen Berries Also Leave; Jap Oranges Arrive in B.C.

VICTORIA, B. C., Dec. 7.—A shipment of 80 boxes of apples left on the Empress of Japan consigned to the Canadian trade commissioner, Shanghai. These are to be distributed as free samples to the native Chinese fruit dealers. A shipment of frozen strawberries also went forward on the same steamer to the same source for distribution.

Vancouver—A new shipment of Japanese oranges (over 100,000 bundles) has arrived. Probably not more than one-third is for British Columbia consumption, the balance going east. We understand that they are riper than the first lot which came in about 10 days ago. About the only new arrival in the vegetable line is California spinach. Apple prices are firming. Delicious, fancy, are quoted at $2.40 per box wholesale, and C. grade at $2.15; Yellow Newtons and Spitzenberg, fancy, $2.25 per box; McIntosh Reds, $2 per box. Jonathon, bulk, 3½ cents per pound. Celery is selling at $1.25 per dozen. Cucumbers, hothouse, at $1.25. Headlettuce, $6 per crate. Okanagan onions, $2.50 per sack and Yakima Spanish onions, 50s, $3 per sack. Egg prices are a little easier. Other products in this line remain steady. Hogs, country dressed prime light to shippers, 7 cents per pound. Veal, country dressed tops to shipped 11 cents per pound.

VERNON—Car shipments including Associated Growers reported to the bureau of markets information to November 30, are 2296 straight cars and 1434 mixed cars making a total of 3730. Distribution: 376 cars in British Columbia, 1044 in Alberta, 1022 in Saskatchewan, 1044 in Manitoba, 307 in eastern Canada and 391 exported. Of the total 858 cars were shipped in bulk. Prairie markets are slow with apple prices firm, evidently caused by the reaction in stopping the bulk movement. Jobbers are preparing for the holiday trade and good supplies are on hand in all cities of all commodities.

SEATTLE—The first delivery of Japanese oranges was received yesterday on the steamer, President Taft. Shipments sold readily at $1.65 per bundle. A car of eastern cranberries was received by water shipment today. Two other cars are due tomorrow, with market firm and demand good, half barrels are selling at $5.50 to $6. Western cranberry supplies are moderate, market firm, third barrel box, $3 to $3.25. Lettuce supplies are increasing with market easier. California best lettuce $3.25; Pasco deal closed due to unfavorable weather. Potato market quiet, supplied liberal and demand moderate. Track sales today, No.1, $1.10; No. 2, 75 cents to 80 cents to the wholesale trade. Onion prices are higher. Oregon onions $3.50, and Yakima's $2.50 to $2.75 with further advances expected.

TORONTO MINES ARE LISTLESS

Firmer Price Tone in Evidence But Changes Are of Minor Proportion

TORONTO, Dec. 7—(CP)—Listlessness in trading and price action featured business on the Standard Stock and Mining exchange today. While the board developed a firmer price tone, the changes were of minor proportion. During the session 72 issues were traded of which 2[illegible] closed unchanged, 26 made small gains and 18 declined. Sales totalled 247,293 shares.

Smelters closed off above its previous price at $75; International Nickel gained 25 cents to $10.25; Hudson Bay rose 10 cents, to $3, while Noranda fell 10 cents, to close at $17.20.

Majority of the leaders n the gold group experienced a dull session with light trading and unchanged prices, while some of the penny issues, under inside buying, made favorable gains; McIntyre closed up 40 cents to $19 and Hollinger rose 5 points to $5.95. Macassa under accumulation jumped 5½ cents, to $44¾. Other issues in the section were quiet.

Oils developed a reactionary stand under small liquidation. British American at $10.25 and International Petroleum at $11.75 each fell 25 cents, and Imperial declined 20 cents, to close at $11.

Chicago traders furnished offerings in the course of back-spreading operations in the May future, but otherwise selling was on a light scale, with not hedging pressure noted.

ADVERTISING TO INCREASE IN '32

Advertising Federation Conducts Surveys; Find Confidence Returned

NEW YORK, Dec. 7. (CP)—The board of directors of the Advertising Federation of North America announced today a survey it has conducted indicates the 1932 advertising dollar will bring better results than at any time during the past two years.

Gilbert T. Hodges, president, said the survey shows a growing confidence in 1932 merchandising possibilities.

He cited as important factors "depletion of personal goods by individuals and the scanty stocks on the shelves of dealers and in distributors' warehouses."

His report adds greatly improved credit conditions and the beginning of commodity price recovery are reflected in an improved general morale.

A check-up of 102 large companies showed that those firms which "increased their advertising in 1930 over 1928 made a 58 per cent better profit comparison than those which decreased it."

President Hodges said a recent analysis of 70 large cities found appreciable business recovery has been under way for some months in the cities where newspaper advertising has been heaviest.

CHICAGO WHEAT GOES DOWNHILL

Uncertainties of British and Canadian Exchange Drives Market Down

CHICAGO, Dec. 7. (By John P. Boughan, Associated Press market editor)—Faced by uncertainties of British and Canadian exchange rates, and by an almost complete standstill on North American wheat export business, grain prices went downhill today. Notwithstanding that the United States wheat visible supply showed 4,145,000 bushels decrease for the week, and that the amount of wheat afloat for importing countries had also been sharply curtailed, price rallies failed to hold. To a notable degree, grains paralleled the course of Wall street securities.

CRESTON, B. C., Dec. 7.—A search of the official weather records kept by Dr. Henderson for the past 20 years discloses the fact that November, 1931, is the coldest month of the name, ever known in these parts. Last month had a total snowfall of about six inches, as compared with 28 inches in November, 1915, which year provided one of the heaviest snowfalls ever encountered, and also one of the longest drawn-out winters.

C., Dec. 7.—Due largely to the initiative of Creston and district Women's institute, the local lodges, church societies, board of trade, village council, etc., have been persuaded to join in the organization of a central association to look after the relief work in the village and district this winter, and at a well-attended meeting at the town-hall, six were named as central executive, as follows: Chairman, Charles Murrell; secretary-treasurer, Rev. T. Scott; executive, Reeve F. H. Jackson, M. J. Boyd, Mrs. C. F. Hayes and Mrs. R. M. WALKER DROPS $5000 TO FORMER WIFE

NEW YORK, Dec. 7. (AP) — Mrs. Margaret Walker today won a $5000 jury award from her former husband, Mickey Walker, the middleweight boxing champion, who, she testified, lived lavishly from 1925 to 1928 on an income averaging more than $150,000 a year.

Walker, taking the stand in his own defence, asserted at the time of the divorce he made final settlement with his wife. His counsel told the jury the settlement consisted of $200,000 in property and an income of $110,000 in bonds.

A motion by Walker's attorney that the verdict be set aside was set for argument next Monday.
