TACOMA, April 23 (AP).—The Pacific northwest's "champion jail breaker," Robert Cress, 30, of Spokane, enjoyed only a short-lived freedom today after a dramatic break for freedom in a fast prison boat from McNeil Island penitentiary.

Traced by three bloodhounds from the spot at which he abandoned the boat near Salmon Beach, just north of here, he was recaptured without resistance early in the afternoon. More than 100 men

CLIPPER SHIP FINISHES HOP

Makes a Successful Return Flight From Honolulu

ALAMEDA, Calif., April 23 (AP).—The first aerial round trip between here and Hawaii was completed today with arrival here at 2:58 p.m. P.S.T., of the experimental trans-Pacific seaplane, Pan American clipper.

The voyage from Honolulu took just one minute less than 21 hours. No effort was made to break any speed record, the trip being devoted to aerial exploration of three different routes.

HITLER HIDES HIS NEXT MOVE

BERLIN, April 23 (AP)—Adolf Hitler's next move on the chessboard of European diplomacy tonight was known only to himself.

A spokesman at the foreign office—the same spokesman who predicted Hitler's brief note last week rejecting league of nations condemnation of Germany's rearmament, said "an additional reply" was likely. But he added that no one in Berlin knew what der fuehrer was working out at his moutain home at Hauswachenfield.

ANCIENT BEEF FED RELIEFERS

But It Turns Out 1923 Mark Was Inspector's Number Not the Date

REVELSTOKE, B.C., April 23—(CP)—Less than a half a day sufficed to complete the work of the relief camp commission in this district. The commission visited two camps, 901 B and 518, and heard complaints made about lack of variety of food at the former. Nothing was complained of at the latter. It was impossible to visit other camps because of slides and a section of washed out road.

A tinge of humor pervaded the hearing at 518 when one man told the commission that the stamp on the beef showed it to have been killed in 1923. Some effort was needed to convince the informant that 1923 was merely the inspection number and had no reference to the year in which the meat was killed.

The commission leaves Wednesday morning for Salmon Arm for a stay of under \ained length.

General Mining Strike May Be Outcome Corbin Row; Delegation Meets Premier

Government Urges Board of Conciliation But Delegates Opposed; Charge Police Brutal; "Nonsense" Says Sloan

VICTORIA, April 23 (CP).—A delegation representing striking coal miners of Corbin, B.C., was urged by the British Columbia government today to make application for a board of conciliation under the Industrial Disputes act to settle the strike.

In announcing the government's attitude after the delegation had been interviewed, Premier T. D. Pattullo said any award made by such a board would be enforced and there would be no need for further police activity in the interior mining town.

The delegation protested alleged police brutality during last Wednesday's riot, asked for a commission of investigation and urged withdrawal of police. Sixteen policemen and a large number of strikers were injured in last week's disturbance at Corbin.

ASK FOR SAFE CONDUCT

The delegation comprised Thomas Uphill, M.L.A. for Fernie; Harvey Murphy, organizer for the Mine Workers' union, and James Dornan and Dan Iwasiuk, two of the strikers. They also urged postponement of the trials of men arrested after the riot and an assurance of safe conduct for any persons into the strike area.

Attorney-General Gordon Sloan termed charges of police brutality "sheer nonsense."

MUCH RED LITERATURE

"There is a great deal of Communistic propaganda circulating in British Columbia at the present time of a most insidious character, which the public at large perhaps does not fully appreciate," Premier Pattullo said. "So far as the provincial government is concerned, it is proposed to oppose these activities and to maintain law and order."

The delegates indicated they were personally against accepting the government proposal for a board of conciliation, but would give the miners the government's answer.

Mr. Uphill said he did not believe the Corbin Collieries, Ltd., the company concerned, would accept a board.

Murphy declared he proposed to call mass meetings in other mining centers to ask for a sympathetic general strike.

BOLIVIA PUTS ON OFFENSIVE

Paraguayans Forced Evacuate a Town Taken April 16

By PAUL SANDERS
(Associated Press Foreign Staff)

BUENOS AIRES, April 23 (AP).—A week of bitter fighting along the 13-mile Chaco front, in which Bolivia and Paraguay lost heavily, tonight saw Paraguay's invasion of Bolivia temporarily halted.

Hurling nine regiments numbering 8000 men into the Paraguayan zone, Gen. Enrique Penarando, Bolivian commander, threatened the enemy's communications and forced evacuation of Charagua, important Santa Cruz province town which Paraguay captured April 16.

Paraguay said Charagua had been abandoned for tactical reasons, and asserted its counter-offensive launched in the central sector about Boyuibe inflicted heavy losses on the Bolivian forces concentrated there.

ALBERTA HOUSE IS PROROGUED

EDMONTON, April 23 (CP). — Winding up one of the longest sessions in years, the Alberta legislature was prorogued at 6:15 p.m. today by Hon. Horace Harvey, administrator, in the absence of Hon. W. L. Walsh, lieutenant-governor.

Before the house meeting again, a general election must be held, probably during the latter part of June or early in July.

RECOVER LOOT

WELLINGTON, Ont., April 23 (CP)—Police today recovered $750 of the $1200 in silver stolen from the Bank of Nova Scotia here a month ago and announced they expected to make an arrest soon. The money, in nickels, dimes, quarters and United States silver, was found in the basement of an old unused bank across the street from the building that was robbed. Wellington is about 30 miles south of Belleville.

Slide Still Holds Seven Bodies

BRIDGE RIVER, B.C., April 23 (CP).—Recovery of the bodies of seven miners from the snowslide which claimed their lives at the Taseko Motherlode Gold mines, north of here, probably during British Columbia's severe January storms, will be impossible for another month, Provincial Constable R. J. Welsman reported today on his return from the scene of the tragedy.

Roland and Bill Allaire of Tyax Lake, brother trappers, were members of a search party with Constables Welsman and L. W. Radler Brown on the gruelling snowshoe trek to the mine from Bridge River after the Allaires had returned to report that the mining camp had been wiped out by a slide.

TARIFF BOARD TO SIT AT VANCOUVER

OTTAWA, April 23 (CP).—The tariff board will hold a sitting in Vancouver on May 20 and in Calgary on May 27 it was announced today. Evidence relating to the inquiry on gasoline and automobile prices will be taken at each sitting.

483 DIE IN A PERSIAN 'QUAKE

TEHERAN, Iran, April 23 (AP). —A series of earth shocks rocking Northern Iran (Persia) since April 12 continued tonight, after killing an undetermined number of persons and doing unestimated damage.

Reports from Mazanderan province said 483 persons died in that division alone. Lack of communication facilities prevented any accurate survey of the devastated regions.

Date With Death

Nona Cloyes, 19, of Roy, Washington, is slowly 'turning to stone.' She looks the picture of health and still dances and does what any other normal girl would do, but she is facing the future with fear. She hopes that physicians will find a cure for the baffling disease which is hardening her flesh, muscles and nerves with the rare and dreaded scleroderma.

STAY CORBIN COURT CASES

Max Hunger Charged With Vagrancy; Hear Evidence

Proceedings against Corbin mine strikers who were arrested or summoned for their part in the riot of last week, were stayed for a day on Tuesday.

A start was made Monday on the case of Rex versus Max Hunger, charged with vagrancy, and most of the evidence has been heard.

Seventeen are under arrest and seven others have been summoned to appear.

Sergeant E. Patterson, who returned from Corbin Tuesday morning, states that the situation is now well in hand.

YOUTHS WILL FACE CHARGES OF MURDER

COATICOOK, Que., April 23 (CP) —A verdict holding Kenneth Brown, 20 of Milton, Vt., and Lucien O. Morin, 26, of Barnston, Que., criminally responsible for the death of Willis Keith Baldwin, 78, was returned today by a jury at a coroner's inquest. Murder warrants against the two men were then issued by Dr. Leonidas Bachand, district coroner.

HIGHLIGHTS ON COAST RIOTS

VANCOUVER, April 23 (CP). — Highlights of the parade of 2000 striking relief camp workers which disturbed Vancouver's civic calm today:

Forty glass show cases in the Hudson's Bay company departmental store were broken and valuable merchandise was destroyed when police attempted to eject marchers from the store. Officials said store damage would be more than $5000.

Six city policemen, including Deputy Chief Alfred Grundy, were injured in the clash in the Hudson's Bay company store, none seriously. An undetermined number of strikers were injured. None was taken to hospital.

Twelve strikers were arrested during and after the parade. Ten of these were members of a delegation sent to interview Mayor G. G. McGeer, picked up after they left the city hall.

Two hundred and fifty city, provincial and Royal Canadian Mounted police surrounded Victory square when the strikers gathered there after the disturbance in the departmental store.

Mayor McGeer read the Riot act, the first time such action had been taken in Vancouver since a disturbance in Chinatown in 1912.

The mayor attributed the riot to Communistic activities which he said are centering on calling a general strike in Vancouver. He announced demonstrations, public meetings and parades would be banned in future.

MARITIME FEDERATION WILL STEER CLEAR OF NATIONAL POLITICS

SEATTLE, April 23 (AP)—The new Maritime federation of the Pa-[illegible], with a voice strong in its own ranks since of more than 115,000, tonight rejected a proposal that it foster a union labor party and enter actively into national politics. It was one of the fiercest battles of the convention.

12 MEN ARRESTED; POLICE DISPERSE GATHERINGS UPON VICTORY SQUARE

By CHARLES EDWARDS

VANCOUVER, April 23 (CP). — Two thousand striking relief camp workers paraded through Vancouver's business section today, disrupting traffic; clashed with police in a large departmental store with extensive damage to store fixtures; and finally dispersed after the Riot act had been read in this city for the first time since 1912.

12 ARE ARRESTED

Victory Square, scene of the marchers' last stand, was quiet tonight as the men remained in the various billets they have occupied since they left camps throughout the province two weeks ago and congregated here protest against alleged unsatisfactory and unfair camp conditions.

Consequences of the disturbance were found in the city jail, where police held 12 men arrested during and after the parade; in the Hudson's Bay company departmental store, where officials said damage in smashed showcases, fixtures and merchandise would total several thousand dollars; and among strikers and police, several of whom were injured but not seriously.

The parade started as just another of the so-called "nuisance parades" held periodically by the unemployed since they left the camps April 4. Spokesmen for the men stated they hoped to call attention to their position by means of these public demonstrations. Previous marches had been strictly orderly.

REFUSED FOOD

Since the mass walk-out, city, province and Dominion have refused to provide food and shelter for the strikers. The men have sent delegations to place their demands before the

Two Miners Killed at Reno

Edstrom, Anderson Victims

Both Men Die Shortly After Taken From the Slide in Stone of Mine; Inspector Is on His Way to Investigate

Caught in an avalanche of rocks from a stope slide in the Reno mine Tuesday afternoon, Oscar Edstrom of New Denver, and Neil Anderson of Salmo, were fatally injured and died a few minutes later. One man died in the mine dry room and the other in a tram bucket while being brought down to the mill for medical treatment.

Word of the accident was received by Coroner Dr. H. H. MacKenzie and the provincial police.

Mine Inspector H. E. Miard of Fernie was notified and will arrive in Nelson on the Wednesday morning passenger. An inquest is to be held following his visit to the mine, probably at Nelson. Details as to the nature of the accident were meagre as communication between Nelson and the mill was poor.

Germany More Than Doubles Tonnage of Shipping; Industrial Indices Up

World Gold Reserves Increase; World Commerce Value Up

GENEVA, April 23 (CP-Havas).—An increase of more than 1,000,000 tons in shipping under construction in Germany, more than doubling the amount, is a feature of the League of Nations' financial and economic review for the first quarter of 1935, compared with the same period of 1934.

In March of last year, the reich was building 827,000 tons. The number rose to 1,208,000 six months

SANITY OF WINSE IS IN DOUBT

CALGARY, April 23 (CP)—The sanity of William Winse, unemployed section man, who, with the aid of a toy pistol, seized control of a Canadian National railways passenger train as it speeded toward Calgary Sunday, will be investigated, police intimated today.

Winse, police said, has been acting abnormal since his arrest. When he appeared in court today a remand was granted to enable police to continue investigation. He will be arraigned again Friday on a charge of stealing a ride on a train.

Lower Wage Scale for Relief Workers Is Planned Under the New Program in U.S.A.

WASHINGTON, April 23 (AP).—Setting up the machinery through which will be fed all plans for creating jobs out of the $4,000,000,000 work relief fund, President Roosevelt today moved a step nearer the big spending stage of his program.

The white house, in a 400-word statement, delegated the task of passing on all plans, to Frank C. Walker, a New York who for years has been a close friend of the president.

To handle the job, Walker tomorrow will return to the post he formerly held as head of the national emergency council. A new division of the council was set up to deal with the plans. Donald R. Richberg, who has been executive director of the council since Walker left a few months ago, will devote his full time to directing NRA.

Almost coincidentally with the announcement, word came from Secretary of Interior Harold Ickes that he would begin conferences with labor leaders soon looking to a revision downward of the public works wage scale. Administration spokesmen have suggested that workers under the relief program be paid a security wage which would average about $50 a month with lower rates for unskilled labor.

As outlined by the white house statement, all suggested plans for using work relief funds will flow through the new division of the emergency council.

2340 Workmen Out of Jobs When Chevrolet Officials Slose Plant as Strike Is Hinted

TOLEDO, Ohio, April 23 (AP).—Approximately 2340 workmen indefinitely lost their jobs as officials of the Chevrolet Motor company closed its Toledo branch factory today when a strike was called by the United Automobile Workers Federal union.

Fears of "grave danger" that the strike might spread to other auto factories were expressed by William Green, president of the American Federation of Labor.

The exact number of men on strike was undetermined. However, James Royland, chairman of the union's strike committee, said 90 per cent of the workers are union members. Green in Washington added that in the recent automobile labor board election, 1800 of the 2200 men then employed in the plant favored the union as their bargaining agency.

Fred Schwake, business representative of the union, said 600 of the 1100 workers on today's first shift began the strike after company officials refused to grant the union's demand for a closed shop, and several other requests, although the firm offered compromises on several points and a 5 per cent general wage increase.

Late today, company officials demanded a vote by the workers on the company's entire list of counter-proposals. The union gave no indication whether a vote would be taken.

Rubber From Coal and Oil Latest Perfection of Scientists in the U.S.

By HOWARD W. BLAKESLEE
(Associated Press Science Editor)

NEW YORK, April 23 (AP). — Rubber from coal and oil, in limitless quantities, is ready when need arises.

Its formula, already developed in the Du Pont laboratories, was reported to the American Chemical society tonight by Dr. E. R. Bridgwater of the company's rubber chemicals division.

This coal and oil rubber will be the same artificial rubber now made from the gas acetylene—a rubber that in some ways surpasses real rubber, and that has already made automobile tires equal in all respects to actual rubber.

Dr. Bridgwater's disclosure came during a tribute to Father Julius A. Nieuland of Notre Dame, whose acetylene discoveries led to the present artificial rubber.

"With our practically unlimited domestic reserves of coal and limestone," said Dr. Bridgwater, "for the production of acetylene and of salt for hydrogen chloride, obviously it will be possible, if a national emergency should arise, to equip ourselves quickly to produce a sufficient quantity of chloroprene rubber to supply the nation's needs."

McGEER SAYS RELIEF DEMONSTRATION IS FORERUNNER OF GENERAL STRIKE

Bans All Further Parades by Strikers; Blames Communists for Trouble

VANCOUVER, April 23 (CP)—Mayor G. G. McGeer tonight clamped down on parades and demonstrations in Vancouver following today's riot when relief camp strikers caused thousands of dollars damage in a downtown department store.

In announcing that demonstrations, public meetings and parades would be banned in future, the mayor charged the riot to communistic activities which he said are centering on calling a general strike in Vancouver.

"The situation in Vancouver today is extremely regrettable," Mayor McGeer said. "Chief of Police W. Foster informs me that he has been definitely assured by representatives of the relief camp strikers that they would not attempt any more nuisance parades—that the parades through stores to embarrass merchants and the general public—and that no attempt would be made to violate bylaws by unauthorized tag days or parades.

NELSON CHOIR AT S. SLOCAN

Easter Service Is Held By Rev. W. J. Silverwood

SOUTH SLOCAN, B.C., April 23.—Easter service was held in the parish of South Slocan Sunday afternoon, the vicar, Rev. W. J. Silverwood, officiating. The church was beautifully decorated, and in spite of inclement weather, was filled with worshippers.

The music was led by the Church of The Redeemer choir which accompanied the vicar from Nelson. The Easter anthem, "The Strife Is O'er", was sung by the choir.

Taking as his text, "He is not here," the vicar said regarding the resurrection of Jesusu that all the facts are supported by the evidence. Hostile criticism, scepticism and ridicule have found no flaw in the evidence regarding the empty tomb; the facts remain; Jesus was not in the tomb on that Easter morning.

"In Peru, in Nara, the ancient city of Japan, at Delhi, in the Taj Mahal, along the valley of the Nile to Thebes, in the tombs of the Pharaohs and the Great Rameses—through Russia and Poland, among the cemeteries of Europe, lie the bodies of the dead. "Their tombs are there, But away back in Jerusalem, was crucified the Saviour of the world. His body was placed in the tomb but on the third day that body was no longer in that tomb. Jesusu had risen from the dead.

The Roman government inflicted the penalty of death on those who stole a body. The Roman government set a special watch over the tomb of Jesus lest his friends should come and steal the body. In spite of all precautions, the body of Jesus was not in the tomb that Easter morning," Mr. Silverwood said. "That is our faith and we cannot believe that for 2000 years we have been living on a lie and cruel deception."

After the afternoon service, members of the Women's auxiliary served tea to the visiting choir and other guests from Nelson. The guests from Nelson were all transported through the kindness of Mr. Thompson, Miss Thompson, Stanley Horswill and H. E. Stewart. Mrs. Silverwood and two sons, Alan and Billy accompanied the vicar from Nelson.

Crow's Nest Pass Coal Profits Up

TORONTO, April 23 (CP).—Crow's Nest Pass Coal company's annual report for the year ending December 31, 1934, shows profits of $239,845 compared with $106,367 in 1933 and the largest since 1929.

Disbursements actually paid to shareholders in 1934 or declared payable February 15, 1935, totalled $372,789 and represented a return of capital out of depreciation and depletion of reserves.

LIFE INSURANCE SALES INCREASE

TORONTO, April 23.—New ordinary business returns for Canada and Newfoundland by nineteen companies, having 90 per cent of the business in force, as reported by the Life Insurance Sales Research bureau, show total sales, for January, February and March of the current year, of $93,120,000 as compared with $89,328,000 for the same period, last year, an increase of 4.24 per cent. Detailed sales for the first quarter are as follows:

British Columbia	$ 6,223,000
Alberta	4,030,000
Saskatchewan	2,906,000
Manitoba	4,681,000
Ontario	42,102,000
Quebec	26,3:7,000
Nova Scotia	3,540,000
New Brunswick	2,245,000
P. E. I.	285,000
Newfoundland	761,000
	$93,120,000

March sales totalled $31,416,000, as follows:

British Columbia, $2,183,000; Alberta, $1,296,000; Saskatchewan, $909,000; Manitoba, $1,639,000; Ontario, $13,785,000; Quebec, $9,190,000; Nova Scotia, $1,307,000; New Brunswick, $771,000; P. E. I. $95,000; Newfoundland, $249,000.

TEACHERS FAVOR DRAFT BILL CALLING FOR "CLOSED SHOP" CLAUSE IN B.C.

VICTORIA, April 23 (CP)—The draft bill of a "Teachers' Association act, 1936," providing for a "closed shop" whereby every British Columbia teacher would, as a condition of employment be a member of the British Columbia Teachers' federation was laid before the federation convention today.

The idea, endorsed at last year's annual meeting, was supported 3014 to 105 in a referendum of teachers throughout the province.

The bill, if enacted, would provide that the association might acquire, hold and dispose of real and personal property for its corporate purposes.

The objects of the association shall be:

(a) To promote the cause of education in British Columbia;

(b) To raise the status of the teaching profession;

(c) To promote and safeguard the interest of teachers and to secure conditions which will make possible the best professional service;

(d) To influence public opinion regarding educational problems;

(e) To secure for teachers a greater influence in educational affairs;

(f) To afford advice, assistance and legal protection to members in their professional duties and relationships;

(g) To organize and administer a benevolent fund among its members;

(h) To provide for the enlargement of the scope of the foregoing objects by permitting an alliance or affiliation to be made between the said society or corporation and any other society or corporation having objects similar to those of this society or corporation.

2. The association may take any measure, not inconsistent with the provisions of this act, which it deems necessary in order to give effect to any policy adopted by it with respect to any question directly or indirectly affecting teachers.

Under the head of membership it is provided that:

1. All persons employed as teachers in schools organized under the Public Schools act shall, as a condition of their employment, be members of the association.

2. The following groups shall be eligible for membership in the association, namely:

(a) Normal school instructors in British Columbia;

(b) Members of the faculty of the University of British Columbia and its affiliated colleges;

3. Unemployed teachers and teachers in training shall be eligible for membership in the association.

Under the heading of fees, it is provided that the original scale of fees shall be incorporated in the act. These fees, however, may be changed from time to time by a two-thirds vote of the annual meeting.

It is provided in the draft bill that the department of education shall deduct annually from the grant payable to each school board (or authority) a sum equal to the total membership fees for all teachers employed by such school board, and the total amount so deducted shall be paid over to the British Columbia Teachers' association.

Each school board (or authority) shall recover the amount of the deduction made under the above section for each teacher by deducting the proper sum from the first salary payable to each teacher after receipt of the grant from which such deduction is made.

The fee for unemployed teachers and teachers in training shall be paid directly by them to the federation.

In the case of any teacher or group of teachers for whom no grant is paid by the department of education, such teacher or group of teachers shall pay their fee directly to the federation.

Paid-up membership of the British Columbia Teachers' federation for the period 1934-35 was given as 3304, an increase of 112 over 1933-34. In addition there were 189 enrolled and 372 who had not renewed their membership this year, or a total of 3045 out of 3135 teachers who voted on the matter.

The draft bill will be discussed at later meetings for the association tomorrow and Thursday. Harry Charlesworth, general secretary, stressed the importance of members guarding carefully their copies of the draft to avoid premature publication in case the bill was amended by the convention.

W.M.S. Has Thank Offering Meeting

C. G. I. T. Girls Stage Pageant for Trinity and St. Paul Society

St. Paul's and Trinity W. M. S. held their Easter thank-offering meeting on Tuesday in the Trinity church parlor, Mrs. D. Maloney presiding over the devotional period.

Miss Margaret Graham was accompanist for the hymns and solos and played as a call to worship "Nearer My God to Thee." Dr. Annie Smith led in prayer. This was followed by the hymn, "Come Thou Almighty King." The leader gave the thought for meditation, "Go Ye into all the world," with the question for each "How far have I gone?" Mrs. Bertha Simms led in prayer.

Miss Margaret Arthur and Miss Jean Glendenning were heard in pleasing solos, the former singing "Hosanna" and the latter, "Christ the Lord is Risen."

The scripture reading was taken from Psalms 24, 7-10, being read responsively by Miss Ida Graham and Mrs. J. G. Lambert.

Miss Mae McFarlane recited "The Jewels" and Miss Mary Beattie sang "God's Children Live in Many Lands."

The C.G.I.T. under the able leadership of Miss Amelia Hanna staged a pageant taken from "Scenes of World Fellowship," based on "The Clash of Colour." The girls taking part were: Carol Proudfoot as Peace; Kathleen Maber as An Immigrant; Edith Patterson as C. G. I. T.; Billie Wallace as India; Connie Hamson as C. G. I. T. Joy Ferguson as a Japanese; Mary Hongerham as C. G. I. T.; Florence Maglio as Africa; Shirley Scatchard as The Philippine Islands; Dawn Sharp as a Chinese; Betty Ferguson, Genevieve Grimmile and Edna Steed, as Canadian school girls.

Mrs. Robert Gugin gave the closing prayer.

Tea was served after the devotional service, Mrs. D. D. Townsend and Mrs Bertha simms convening the tea arrangements.

city council and the British Columbia government. No concessions have been made to them.

The unemployed raised more than $5000 in a tag day April 13, held despite the city's refusal to issue a permit for such action. Mayor G. G. McGeer later announced no action would be taken in this connection. The money so raised, together with sums privately subscribed, has been the men's only source of maintenance.

TRAFFIC TIED UP

The men marched down Water and Hastings streets today without unusual event. On Granville street, traffic was tied up temporarily and for nearly an hour street cars were held stationary by the lines of marching men, extending seven city blocks.

Men in certain divisions of the parade attempted to gain entrance to stores along the route but found many doors barred against them. Employees of David Spencer's, Ltd., large departmental store on Hastings street, rushed to lock and guard all entrances when the marchers approached. The store escaped unscathed.

700 ENTER STORE

The Hudson's Bay company, corner of Georgia and Granville streets, was not so fortunate. Some 700 marchers entered the main floor of the store before their following comrades were blocked by the company employees and police who locked the doors.

Police reinforcements were rushed to the building and the strikers were ordered to leave. They jammed the aisles and, when they showed obstinacy, women employees of the company were hurried from the floor by their department managers.

As the officers attempted to eject the demonstrators, the men gathered in one corner, from which they could not be driven. Police were reported to have met some resistance as they attempted to take the strikers out individually and batons were used.

SMASH GOODS

In the general melee which ensued, the men spread across the entire main floor, kicking in show cases, smashing parishable goods and throwing other articles to the floor. Reports stated clerks of the store showed no resistance, remaining out of the melee entirely.

Some of the policemen suffered cuts and bruises and a half dozen strikers were knocked out. The injured strikers were carried to the street by their fellows as the demonstrators straggled out by various exits.

Store officials surveyed the damage immediately afterward and said no estimate of the damage would be possible for some time but they said it would run into thousands of dollars. Practically all glass show cases on the main floor were smashed, tables were overturned and the scene was one of general havoc.

TRY TO DUMP CAR

Meanwhile, the strikers joined the main body outside and they marched four abreast down Granville street to Hastings and thence four blocks east to Victory square, site of the cenotaph, Vancouver's war memorial.

En route, a group of men broke ranks and swarmed about one of the police patrol automobiles which accompanied them to maintain order. Witnesses said an attempt was made to overturn the car in the sharp but short skirmish which followed. Police made light of the incident, declaring the men were driven back without trouble.

At the square the men divided into two battalions, one group marching up Cambie street and into the square from the south entrance as if under a prearranged plan. The other section paraded through the north entrance and, from above, it appeared the square was covered by a solid mass of men.

The strikers squatted on the turf while their leaders addressed them, reiterating their demands for food and shelter. The men were orderly, their only demonstration being loud shouts and cheers as they approved the speakers' words.

A squad of 50 provincial policemen arrived and formed in line on Hastings street at the foot of the square. They were joined by 90 city police and, within a few minutes, two truck loads of royal Canadian mounted police arrived on the scene, followed by a mounted detachment of some 25 R.C.M.P.

In all about 250 police stood guard around the park, which covers a city block.

Twelve strikers were selected to proceed to the city hall to interview the mayor. There they were told by Mr. McGeer that he had no power to give them food and shelter. He said their care was strictly a Dominion responsibility. After the delegation left the city hall 10 of their number were arrested and charged with vagrancy.

Mr. McGeer went at once to the square and, as he mounted the steps of the cenotaph, the mob surged forward. The blue-coated city police, lined beside the provincial officers, broke ranks at once and formed a cordon around the mayor, forcing the strikers back and giving his worship room to address them.

READS RIOT ACT

Mr. McGeer read the Riot act, ordering the men to disperse within 30 minutes and taking power to call out the militia if his orders were ignored. The mayor's words were accepted in a stony silence.

Harold E. Winch, Cooperative Commonwealth Federation member of the provincial legislature for Vancouver East, spoke briefly to the men, advising them to disperse and saying the Riot act did not "mean clubs but bullets." Almost at once the men began to break up. By this time the crowd of unemployed had dwindled to some 700 men.

MARCH TO QUARTERS

Mr. Winch asked Mr. McGeer for permission for the men to march from the square to their billets and this permission was granted. The demonstrators formed lines on the streets and, each division headed by two mounted policemen, they marched to their quarters.

Provincial and mounted police returned to their barracks as soon as the men had disappeared but a large force of city police was kept on duty. No further trouble was anticipated however.

The Riot act was last read in Vancouver in 1918, during a disturbance among orientals in Chinatown. The trouble ended there but the city was called upon later to pay several thousand dollars in damage claims resulting from the disturbance.

MOYIE LADY AT CRANBROOK

Mrs. A. Guindon on Visit; Aldridge Relief Camp Is Closed

MOYIE, B.C., April 23.—Mrs. A. Guindon is spending a few days in Cranbrook

Miss Mary Andrews was home from Cranbrook visiting her parents over the Easter week-end.

Misses Gloria and Alice Whitehead of Kimberley are visiting their aunt, Mrs. Jessie Whitehead over the school holidays.

Mr. and Mrs. Swantz of Calgary were week-end guests of Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Fitch. Mrs. Swantz is a sister of Mrs. Fitch.

Gordon Jewell, foreman in charge of the National Defense camp at Aldridge, left Sunday night to start in the employ of the C. M. & S. Co. at Sullivan concentrator. Mr. Jewell has been around Moyie for a number of years, acting as road foreman and in charge of relief work in Moyie. He was later in charge of the provincial camp, when it was in Moyie and latterly in charge of the local dominion national defence camp. Mr. Jewell was one of the stalwarts of the local ball team and will be greatly missed in that as in many other capacities. Mrs. Jewell will remain in Moyie for the present.

Mrs. Mary Conrad, and grandson Phillip, left Friday to visit relatives in Chapman camp.

Jack Taylor, road superintendent, was in town on business Saturday.

Mrs. H. M. Pearson and daughter, Esther, motored to Cranbrook Saturday.

Phil Conrad and Oscar Burch were down from Chapman camp to spend Easter with their families.

The national defence camp at Aldridge which was supposed to be located there for the summer is now empty save for a caretaker.

Word came Thursday to close the camp and most of the men were transferred to Yahk to work on the airport there. A number of the men left by train, making for the prairie.

George Whitehead, who was driving truck at the national defence camp has been transferred to Wasa.

Alfie Jewell was down from Kimberley over Easter, sporting a snappy looking canary yellow sports roadster. He was visiting Mr. and Mrs. Gordon Jewell, as is also Mrs. Friesen, with her son and daughter Paul and Betty Lou.

Bill Stevely of Cranbrook was a visitor at the Pearson home Saturday and Sunday.

Clive Bateman has turned in his old car and is now driving a new sedan.

W. E. Andrews was home for Sunday, returning to Kimberley with Pete Danielson.

JAM MARKETING PLAN APPROVED

The Canada jam marketing scheme which primarily affects the provinces of British Columbia, Ontario and Quebec, has been approved by Hon. Robert Weir, Dominion minister of agriculture and the governor-in-council upon the recommendation of the Dominion marketing board.

The scheme has the support of manufacturers representing at least 90 per cent of the volume of jams, jellies and marmalades produced in Canada. No opposition has been advanced by any fruit growers.

Under the scheme it is anticipated that the demoralized conditions which have prevailed in the marketing of jams, jellies and marmalades during the past several years will be corrected. These conditions which have existed have reacted to the disadvantage of jam manufacturers, fruit growers and consumers. It is expected that under the new regulations the quality of the jam, which will be offered for sale, will be improved.

The local board, composed of 14 members, namely, nine manufacturers, three growers, one consumer representative, appointed by the trades and labor congress of Canada, and a chairman who has no financial interest in the jam business is as follows:

Joseph T. Crowder, Toronto, chairman, Charles D. Hunter of Vancouver, W. J. West of Vancouver, T. B. Shimek, of Hatzic, P. G. Prior of Toronto, G. H. Gauslow of Hamilton, Armand Smith of Winona, A. Limoges, of Montreal, S. Preston of Montreal, P. Gelly of Quebec, Howard Craise, representing producers in British Columbia, L. F. Burrows, representing producers in Quebec, M. M. Robinson, representing producers in Ontario, James Simpson, mayor of Toronto, representing the consumers.

The head office of the local board will be in Toronto.

BUILD MINIATURE "QUEEN MARY"

GLASGOW, (CP).—A ship costing $25,000 which will never take the water has been "launched" at the Clydebank shipyards. It is a 21-foot long miniature—exact even to the lifeboat propeller blades — of the mighty liner Queen Mary, now under construction.

3000 TO ATTEND BISHOPRIC RITES

By THOMAS T. CHAMPION
Canadian Press Staff Writer

LONDON, April 23 (CP-Cable))—Three thousand persons are expected to attend the enthronement on Monday at Westminster cathedral of the Most Rev. Arthur Hinsley as the fifth Roman Catholic bishop of Westminster. He succeeds the late Francis Cardinal Bourne.

The service is based on that used by the archbishops of Canterbury before the reformation, and is identical with that at the enthronement of the late Cardinal Bourne in 1903.

Bishop Butt, provost of the chapter, will receive the new archbishop at the west door and a procession will go to the high altar, where the pallium is laid. The canons and cathedral chaplains will venerate the pallium by kissing it, after which a te deum will be sung.

The archbishop having vested himself in the side chapel, the actual enthronement follows, the provost leading the archbishop up the steps to the throne when he will be seated and the provost in Latin will declare him duly enthroned.

The canons and chaplains on behalf of the clergy of the diocese will then kiss the ring on the archbishop's right hand. The service concludes with transmission of the papal blessing by the archbishop, who has just returned from Rome.

• Maple Leaf Truck Blazes Trail to Sault Ste. Marie ... Bucks Snow and Floods Leaving Others Stranded on Way

ABOVE: Mr. Walsh and his 1934 model Maple Leaf Heavy Duty Truck, photographed just after arriving at Sault Ste. Marie. Said Mr. Walsh "It was the extra torque in my Maple Leaf that pulled me out of holes and through drifts that had other trucks stopped."

NO silk hats await the truck drivers who open up "spring navigation" along Canada's highways and byways. But just as exciting as any sailor's yarn are the feats some of these men can tell about.

Take the case of S. J. Walsh of the Bluebird Orchards, for example. Defying March snow, ice and floods, he started out for Sault Ste. Marie from Newcastle, Ontario—a trip of more than 600 hazardous miles.

Fifty-six barrels of apples were on the platform of his Maple Leaf heavy duty truck, yet the powerful two-tonner made the grade all the way in "apple pie" style. He didn't stop for even a minor adjustment. He didn't add any oil to the crankcase—it didn't need it. He got exceptional mileage to the gallon of gasoline.

Drop in at our showrooms today. Get the facts about Maple Leaf Heavy Duty Trucks—facts which prove that breaking records, like making profits, is all in the life of a Maple Leaf Truck owner. Low delivered prices and easy GMAC terms.

AUDITORIUM EXCAVATION UNDER WAY

A. H. Green Co. Given Contract Remove 17,000 Yards

TO BE COMPLETE FIRST OF JUNE

To Work Two Shifts Lights for Night Work

Excavation work on the auditorium site on Vernon street is now in full swing and if contract plans are run off on schedule that phase of the work will be completed by june first.

The A. H. Green Co. has been given the contract for the excavation of bank, where the building is to be erected, on a yardage basis and has put a gas shovel and a crew of men to work. Tuesday the shovel and workers had dug in a road to the second level from where the work will proceed.

Two levels are to be excavated, the top for the auditorium and the bottom for the skating rink annex, and altogether some 17,000 yards of material are to be taken out. This material will be spread over the dump at the city incinerator to help in cleaning up the water front and part will be spread at the eastern corner of the Recreation grounds.

At present one shift is doing the preliminary work but later two shifts will be employed and five trucks put on the job. Lights will be installed on the grounds and at the city dump. The first shift will start at 5 o'clock in the morning and the last shift will finish up at 11 p.m. This arrangement was made to do away with the noise at night and to cause the least possible annoyance to those living in the immediate vicinity.

The big gas shovel of the A. H. Green Co., was put to work on Monday and its operation Monday and Tuesday drew a large crowd of spectators.

It is estimated that Europe, in 1800, had 180 million people; whereas in 1930 the population was 640 million.

BOYS DIG DOWN AND CHUMS HAVE EASTER BASKETS

"What! No Easter eggs for you this year, your dad is on relief and bunnies don't call at your home? Well, we'll have to look into that." And they did.

Seven young Nelson kiddies were not looking forward to the traditional Easter baskets with much hope last Saturday night when a number of young chums on their street got busy and dug into their jeens for nickels and dimes. Late that evening the boys called around with seven Easter baskets.

The boys were young boys, probably averaging about 12 or 13 years, and as in the case of most boys of that age the nickels and dimes that they parted with looked big to them, but their chums' happiness meant a lot more. This yarn is on the level and it is not the first time that the same boys have helped their less fortunate chums along. No their parents did not have a hand in it. It was done on the spur of the moment.

TWO ARE HONORED AT SLOCAN CITY

SLOCAN CITY, B.C., April 23—A surprise party was held Saturday by the Ladies' Society of the United church on two of their fellow workers in the church, Mrs. J. P. Sutherland, organist, and Mrs. R. E. McMillan, superintendent of the Sunday school.

Members gathered at the home of Mrs. McNeish and thence to Mrs. Sutherland's, where a few social hours were spent and luncheon served. At the conclusion the two much surprised guests of honor were presented with a half dozen "five o'clock" silver teaspoons and short addresses. The presentations were made by Mrs. J. Terry and Mrs. McNeish on behalf of the society.

The following members and visitors were present: Mrs. J. P. Sutherland; Mrs. R. E. McNeish, Mrs. T. McNeish, Mrs. W. Davies, Mrs. J. Terry, Mrs. E. J. Leveque, Mrs. R. G. Warner, Mrs. T. Cooper, Mrs. A. E. Palmquist, Mrs. J. D. Reid, Miss M. Lynes and Miss M. Sutherland.

INSTITUTE MEETS

A meeting of the Women's institute was held at the home of Mrs. M. Hicks Thursday with a good attendance.

Murray McNeish was a business visitor to Trail at the week-end.

Miss M. Lynes, of the Sicamous teaching staff is here for the holidays, a guest of Mr. and Mrs. T. McNeish and family.

R. L. Reynolds of the Arrow lakes steamship service was a visitor at his home here Saturday.

J. O. Clay of Victoria, owner of Valhalla ranch, is here pruning his trees and renewing old acquaintance.

Mr. and Mrs. R. Hanna are spending the Easter holidays with relatives in Nelson. Mr. Hanna is principal of the public school here.

Miss Barbara Lang is spending the Easter holidays at her home in Trail.

Mrs. K. Popoff and Mr. and Mrs. E. J. Pinchbeck were week-end visitors to Trail.

More Hope Today of Turning Base Metals Into Gold, Says D. Boese at Fernie Meeting

Speaker Tells Rotary Club of Mystery of the Atom; Describes the Breaking Up of Atoms in Radium

FERNIE, B.C., April 22. — The dream of the alchemist, of changing base metals into gold, has more hope of realization today than in the era in which it was conceived, according to Delisle Boese of Fernie.

In an address to the Rotary club Monday Mr. Boese discussed the modern conception of the structure of matter centering around the study of the atom.

In introducing his subject the speaker said: "My present interest is perhaps the oldest and the newest branch in the study of natural knowledge. That branch is alchemy. Alchemy was the forerunner of chemistry as astrology was of astronomy. The aims of the alchemists, however, were not scientific, they were merely interested in prolonging human life indefinitely and in finding a method of transmuting baser metals into gold and silver. This transmutation of metals appears more probable now than it did then due to newer ideas of the structure of the atom."

Mr. Boese justified these newer ideas by presenting evidence along the following lines: "When an electric discharge is passed between two wires, in a gas which has been highly rarefied, straight rays are found to preceed from the negatively charged wire or cathode. These rays, when passed through intense fields of magnetic and electric force, may be deflected from their straight course, and, by comparison with the deflexion caused by known forces, their velocity and their mass can be calculated. The rays are found to consists of flights of minute particles, negatively electrified, whose velocity is about 18,000 miles per second, while the mass of each is about one 800th part of the mass of the lightest chemical atom known, that is hydrogen. These particles, or "corpuscles", appear identical irrespective of source and conditions. They form a constituent part of all chemical elements and the charge they carry seems to be the true natural unit of negative charge. They approach, therefore the old conception of a common basis for matter formulated by Greek thinkers of 2500 years ago. Both cathode rays and X-rays produce luminosity when they strike screens made of phosphorescent substances such as zinc sulfide. This phenomenon suggested the idea that phosphorescent substances themselves might emit similar rays and, in 1896, led to the discovery by Henri Becquerel that compounds of the metal uranium, whether phosphorescent or not, constantly emitted rays which affected a photographic plate through opaque screen, and rendered gases, through which they passed, conductors of electricity."

THE CURIES' WORK

The speaker next outlined the work of M. and Mme. Curie who were interested in the study of these uranium rays. In working with the mineral pitchblende, they observed that there was a greater degree of radio-activity than seemed natural from the amount of uranium it contained. They directed their research activities along this new line and in 1898 succeeded in isolating from the pitchblende compounds of an intensely active new element to which they gave the name of radium.

Several types of radiation from radio-active substances were discussed. Two of these were described as consisting of electrified particles which are deflected from their straight paths, by the action of electric and magnetic forces, which shows, that while one of them is identical with the minute corpuscles of cathode rays, the other consists of a stream of particles now know to be atoms of the gas helium.

"The emission of rays," said Mr. Boese, "is always accompanied by chemical change, new substances appearing. Thus radium evolves continuously a radio-active gas called radon which deposits radio-active matter on solid surfaces. These changes are associated with the emission of energy which may be measured as heat, and which transcends by far the energy liberated by any ordinary chemical reaction. This energy is sufficient to maintain the temperature of a quantity of radium at a higher figure than that of the surroundings.

"Radio activity," he continued, "is due to the explosive disintegration of individual atoms, one in many millions breaking up each hour. In this way it is calculated that half of a given quantity of radium would disappear in 2000 years. In the course of the disappearing process it would pass successively into the emanation and various kinds of solid matter, while each act of disintegration involves the explosive emission of one atom of helium. Radium itself is probably formed through a series of slow changes from the metal uranium. Radium, in breaking up, passes through a series of conditions, becoming in turn radium "A", radium "B", radium "C", radium "D", radium "E", and radium "F", and finally ends up as common lead. Uranium thus becomes the first known ancester of the family of radio-active elements of which lead is the baby, and of which radium is the most distinguished representative".

COSMIC RAYS

Cosmic rays came under discussion at this point, as their discovery resulted from the study of the break down of the atom. These rays, first studied by Millikan, were called cosmic radiations because they seemed to come from no particular direction in space. They decrease as one goes under water and increase as one gets higher above the earth. That is why balloon ascents are being made to study these rays. They are of greater penetrating power, therefore of shorter wave length, than any other known ray and have never yet been produced in the laboratory. Study of the cosmic rays leads to the idea that they are liberated when elements are formed from the original corpuscles.

A homely and effective illustration was used by Mr. Boese, to account for the production of different types of cosmic rays. "Let us compare this procedure", he said, "with the cake building of two housewives. Give each of them a certain amount of flour, sugar, butter, eggs, baking powder and milk, and ask each to make a cake. The cakes they produce will be different, each having its own flavor. Thus it is that, starting with the same materials, nature turns out two different atoms of different substance, the taste of the cake being compared to the type of cosmic ray evolved. We know atoms are made up of the same material, the same as we know the construction of the cake, yet it is impossible to break one cake down to make it into the other. We have not yet discovered a method of uncooking a cake. In the same way we have not yet disintegrated the atoms of one substance to form it into atoms of another.

"To this extent," said Mr. Boese in conclusion, "the dream of the mediaeval alchemist at length has come true. Chemical elements are not all indestructible and eternal, though their changes seem beyond our control. We can but watch one type of matter arising from another; no philosopher's stone will produce the change. Even the resources of a modern laboratory seem powerless to hasten or delay the disintegration of a single atom."

Nelson Kinsmen Delegates Return

Report Wonderful Time at Kinsmen Convention at Chilliwack

Dr. T. H. Bourque, Gordon Roynon, Bud Greenwood and Cecil (Buck) Lambert, delegates from the Nelson Kinsmen club to the Kinsmen convention at Chilliwack over the Easter week-end, returned to Nelson Monday night, reporting a wonderful time at Chilliwack. They made the trip by car, taking the American route going and returning.

Following the business of the convention Saturday, they stated, there was a banquet for the delegates and then a dance in the evening. The meeting was brought to a close Sunday at a big outing at the Harrison Hot Springs, to which the ladies were also invited.

The Nelson quartet went to Vancouver from Chilliwack, and after a few hours' stay there, started the return trip. The trip was made in Dr. Bourque's car and the party travelled 1450 miles in all.

Passmore Miss Visits Nelson

PASSMORE, B.C., April 23.—Miss B. Perry was a visitor to Nelson, a guest of Miss Irene Lawson.

Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Saunders and Kenneth Chandler of Trail were visitors to their ranch here Saturday and Sunday. They were the first motorists on this road since the snow.

Miss B. Perry was a visitor to Appledale to attend a dance. She was a guest of Miss I. Day.

GREENWOOD MAN IS WED AT N.Y.

NEW YORK, April 23, (ICN). — Harold Wilmshurst, 28-year-old native of Greenwood, B.C., accountant, visited the Municipal building here Thursday and obtained a license to wed Mary Oman, 27, of the Hotel Empire, here.

Wilmshurst, now living in Long Island City, N.Y., is the son of Joseph and Sarah Aiken Wilmshurst. Miss Oman is the daughter of Lawrence and Mary Oman.

The couple planned to be married Monday, April 22, at the Little Church Around the Corner here.

Orchard conditions are reported to be backward in the district this spring, the cold unsettled weather preventing the normal progress. No anxiety is felt, however.

FERNIE HAS BIKE RACES

Jim Shanahan Stages Events for the Children

FERNIE, B.C., April 23. — Jim Shanahan, conductor on the G.N. between Fernie and Rexford, has started something on behalf of the boys and girls of Fernie.

Sunday afternoon he sponsored and personally directed a series of bicycle and foot races on Victoria avenue. Incidentally he provided the prizes as well.

His explanation of this was that he would ordinarily spend a certain amount of money just knocking around town Sunday and he preferred to see the children get the benefit of it.

Following were the winners of Sunday's events: Low gear bicycle race, Billy Mitchell; 14 and under, Bernard Phipps; 16 and under, Henry Verkirk; girls, Jean Paterson; slow race, Bernard Phipps; 10 and under, John Zaporazon; 13 and under, Billy Verkirk; about half mile, Ray Parsons; about one mile, Ray Parsons, Jim Fawley, Billy Mitchell, tricycle race, Ronald McBean.

Foot races: Nine and under, Billy Bryant; 10 and under, Davie Slaine; 13 and under, Bernard Phipps.

The last foot race for the smallest boys of all was designated as Shanahan's special and three prizes were awarded. These went to Henry Kopchaik, Dick Elkington and John Riley. Another series was announced for next Sunday afternoon at 4 o'clock.

SUNNY LIVING
starts at the table
How you feel and how you look depend largely on the foods you eat. The balanced menu provides the "bulk" to prevent common constipation—caused by lack of this essential fiber.
Common constipation frequently causes headaches, loss of appetite and energy. Yet, in most cases, it can be overcome pleasantly and safely by eating a delicious cereal.
Kellogg's All-Bran is a natural food for normal individuals. It furnishes "bulk" in convenient and concentrated form. All-Bran also provides vitamin B and iron.
Isn't this sunny way better than taking patent medicines? Two tablespoonfuls of All-Bran daily are usually sufficient. Chronic cases, with each meal. If relief is not obtained, see your doctor.
Serve All-Bran as a cereal, or use in cooking. Get the red-and-green package at your grocer's. Made by Kellogg in London, Ontario.

KOOTENAY FARMERS HELPED BY NEW FARM CREDIT ACT

Three Adjustments Effected by H. C. Irving as Official Receiver; a Fourth Case Is Going to the Board of Review

Approval given by Judge W. A. Nisbet in chambers Tuesday to a settlement submitted by H. C. Irving, official receiver for West Kootenay under the Farmers' Creditors Arrangement act, 1934, marks the completion of the third such settlement to be negotiated by Mr. Irving under the authority of this new Dominion legislation, while a fourth case has gone into the final stages.

Mr. Irving and Alan Graham, the latter a Cranbrook barrister, are the official receivers for the Kootenay, but by a personal arrangement between them, Mr. Irving is acting for the West Kootenay and Mr. Graham for the East Kootenay. So far as known here, no settlements have yet been submitted for approval in East Kootenay, so seemingly the settlements effected here are the first from the Kootenay territory.

SIMPLE MACHINERY

The object of the legislation is to enable farmers who are threatened with bankruptcy through the depressed state of agriculture, to make settlements with their creditors which will enable them to carry on, and simple and inexpensive machinery is set up to allow of this being done.

In many cases the official receivers have been able to get satisfactory settlements without invoking the act, by their good offices between the burdened farmer and the mortgagee, but if action under the act is required, the procedure is simple and rapid. After the farmer makes his own proposal as to terms, a meeting of creditors is called, and a majority of the creditors, having three-fourths of the liabilities, have the power to bind them all, except that the secured creditor is not bound except with his consent. The creditors either accept the farmer's proposal, or modify it.

If these negotiations do not culminate in a settlement, the farmer or any creditor, has the right within 15 days to request the services of the permanent board of review set up under the act, for the jurisdiction concerned, in this case British Columbia, the three members being a judge of the supreme court, a representative of the creditors, and a representative of the farmers. Mr. Justice Lucas of Vancouver is chairman of the British Columbia board of review. The board, after going into the case, first endeavors to formulate a proposal that will be acceptable. If this is rejected, the way is clear for the board to make a binding decision on the lines it considers fair to the rights of all parties.

OVER 2100 SETTLEMENTS

So far, up to a recent date, the official receivers and boards of review have accomplished 2147 settlements in the country at large, apart from those that the receivers were able to effect without using the machinery of the act. Of these, 502 were in Quebec, 442 in Ontario, 362 in Alberta, 294 in Saskatchewan, 119 in Manitoba, 34 in Prince Edward Island, 28 in British Columbia, 16 in Nova Scotia, and 14 in New Brunswick. The same period saw more than 6000 proposals made by farmers under the new legislation. An official receiver in Quebec is credited with having given interviews to over 2000 farmers, and one in the Okanagan, stationed at Penticton, gave interviews to 163. The settlements that were made by boards of review numbered 336, the balance of the 2147 being effected without that final resort.

In the three cases so far completed by Mr. Irving, with the formal approval of Judge Nisbet given the respective settlements, as required by the act, the settlements were negotiated without resort having to be made to the board of review.

KOOTENAY CASES

The first Kootenay farmer whose case was settled had liabilities of over $4000. The creditors made concessions which brought these down to about $3000, affecting both principal and interest, the interest rate being reduced from 8 per cent to 5. In this particular settlement, the creditors were unanimous, both those at the meeting and those sending voting letters, in agreeing to a modification of the original proposal, and the secured creditor gave his concurrence.

In the second case, the secured creditor agreed to a modification of the original proposal, and the farmer thereby obtained an extension of time for paying off the mortgage, together with a reduction of interest from 8 to 5 per cent, this reduction to date from 1933.

The secured creditor in the third case accepted the farmer's proposal, and gave him a very liberal extension of time with respect to the balance due on an agreement of sale, which was in arrears with respect to both principal and interest.

Case No. 4 is the first from the Kootenay to go to the board of review, negotiations at the earlier stages having failed to produce an agreement. In this case the farmer applicant, who on a $3200 loan still owes $2900 after paying a total of $2700 on principal and interest, asks a reduction from 12 per cent interest to 7. The unsecured creditors accepted the proposal, but the secured creditor, though offering a small reduction on the total debt, refused the essential terms.

It is the intention of the act that the board of review, in devising settlements, shall take into account the productive capacity of the farm, and the ability of the farmer to carry on as an efficient producer, relating these factors in such a way that the man will be able under normal conditions to work through efficiently.

OVER 25,000 INTERVIEWS

Over 25,000 Canadian farmers, according to information from Ottawa, have so far interview official receivers under the act, in most instances with a view to ultimately submitting proposals respecting their own circumstances.

Where a farmer in difficulties takes steps under the new legislation to secure a composition that will enable him to keep going, he will be at no expense for his own attendance, for the provinces are cooperating, and the usual land registry and other fees are waived.

Col. McMullin of B.C. Police Denies Story Officers Used Undue Severity at Corbin

VICTORIA, April 23 (CP)—Col. J. W. McMullin, commissioner of the British Columbia police, issued a statement tonight in which he denied reports that police had used undue severity in the course of the clash between police and coal mine strikers at Corbin, B. C., last Wednesday.

Police, he said, had given no provocation and were drawn into the affair when they sought to protect miners who were going to work.

He denied a report that a tractor had been turned into a crowd of men and women. A tractor had been driven in low gear very slowly along the highway when its crew was rushed by picketers. As far as the police were aware no one had been dragged by the tractor unless they voluntarily hung onto it. One woman had been crowded into the machine in the melee of strikers and had received bruises.

Irish Program Again a Success

Trinity Circle Gives Performance in Fairview

Trinity Circle No. 2 repeated an Irish concert presented at the Trinity church some time ago, in the Fairview parish hall Tuesday night. It was jointly sponsored by the Trinity Circle and the Church of The Redeemer.

Hubby Goes Away, Pat Loses Weight

By LILIAN CAMPBELL

Hey, you feminine heavyweights who are afraid of losing hubby's love because your youthful slimness has vanished! "Pat" Paterson, blonde English movie star, has a brand new reducing technique for you. No need of starvation diets or strenuous exercises.

You must be very much in love with your husbands, however, to try this recipe. It seems that Pat's husband, Charles Boyer, recently went to Paris, leaving Pat at home in Hollywood to take care of her picture work. Pat was so lonely without him, she claims, that she frequently went without her dinner during his absence.

Result: A number of pounds were sloughed off—just like that! Pat surely looks slim enough in this picture to be alluring.

But, as I said before, you must be very, very fond of hubby or the prescription will not work.

WALLACE-JONES BATTLE A DRAW

VANCOUVER, B. C., April 23 (CP)—Gordon Wallace of Vancouver tonight successfully defended his recently acquired Canadian welterweight boxing crown when the referee called his 12-round bout with Sonny Jones, also of Vancouver, a draw after the two judges had disagreed.

It was the two Vancouver fighters' second meeting. Wallace was awarded a close decision over his dusky opponent several months ago before he won the crown in a title bout with Tommy Bland of Toronto.

Fishermen Plan Marketing Scheme

SEATTLE, April 23 (AP)—British Columbia fishermen as well as the fleet at Westport, Wash., are joining the salmon trolling fleet here and at Neah bay in "tieing up" rather than accept the new ruling of buyers on the weight of salmon to be bought, Manager Wood Freeman of the Trolling Vessel Owners association announced tonight.

Hearquarters of the association here are also working on plans to establish cooperative marketing and processing, whereby the million and a quarter dollar business in fresh and mild cured salmon will be handled by the trollers themselves, he added.

McPherson to Visit Trail on April 30

TRAIL, B.C., April 23.—Hon. F. M. MacPherson, provincial minister of public works, will arrive in Trail Tuesday, April 30, owing to a change in arrangements, announced R. E. Burns, M.L.A., this morning. The minister will be in Spokane for a conference with Lacey Murrow, Washington state highway commissioner, on the route to be followed by Washington state highway No. 22 to the international border on May 1.

Mr. MacPherson will address Trail Rotary club at its noon luncheon meeting and will attend a conference in Rossland the same evening. He plans to discuss highway No. 22 with Mr. Murrow during the afternoon or evening of May 1.

Mud Is Deep Upon Nelson-Salmo Road

Deep mud over the summit characterizes the Nelson-Salmo section of the Nelson-Nelway highway, and road conditions are so bad that the public works department is advising all motorists who have to drive between these two points to go around by way of Trail and Fruitvale.

While most of the highways in this district are now dry and graded, the snow lay later on this highway than on any other in the Nelson area, and the higher portion is still wet and soft.

Creditors Slocan Company to Meet at Coast on May 1

A voluntary wind-up of the Slocan Monitor Silver Mines, Limited, has been announced and a meeting of the creditors of the company will be held in Vancouver on May 1.

LUTHERANS TO GIVE THANKS FOR THE KING

Conference Told of Quarter Century of Blessing

PROGRESS GOOD FOR THE YEAR

Essays, Discussions, Reports Fill the Sessions

British Columbia Lutheran churches of the Missouri Synod were urged, at that denomination's provincial pastoral conference which opened here Tuesday, to observe Sunday, May 5, as a day of thanksgiving for the manifold blessings which the people of Canada have enjoyed during the quarter-century reign of His Majesty, King George V. This is the day preceding the 25th anniversary of His Majesty's accession to the throne.

PRESIDENT'S MESSAGE

This message was presented by Prof. W. A. Baepler of Concordia college, Edmonton, speaking in the name of Rev. W. C. Eifert, of Leduc, Alta., president of the district. He pointed out that among the blessings thus enjoyed were proper separation of church and state, and complete religious liberty. In this connection he referred to the necessity of being reminded of one's duties toward established government, especially at this time, when many sinister forces seriously aimed at overthrowing the powers that were.

Apart from this special message from the president, Prof. Baepler, who as secretary of the mission board for the Alberta-British Columbia district was heartily welcomed by the conference, reported very encouragingly on the progress made in the work of the church throughout the district.

CHRISTIAN LIBERTY

Earlier in the day Rev. Carl Baase of Creston read an essay on "Christian Liberty". Pointing out the meaning of Christian liberty, the speaker asserted: "Christian liberty is the freedom of conscience, which all Christians ought to have as a consequence of Christ's atoning work." He further asserted that this liberty must be defended, and that it could not be relinquished or compromised without grave danger of losing the grace of God in Christ.

An animated discussion followed this discourse.

Encouraging mission reports were received from the parishes of Creston, Nelson, Vernon, Trail, and Kelowna, from their respective pastors.

TODAY'S PROGRAM

Wednesday morning the conference will discuss a paper on "History and Importance of Bible Translations," and Rev. C. Pfotenhauer of Vernon will lead a discussion on young people's work, while further reports will be received from the mission parishes. In the afternoon a discussion on "The Christian Day School" will be led by Rev. Theodore Reiter of Kamloops, and there will be a report on mission and church finances. The evening will be devoted to a confessional service and communion.

Thursday will be the third and last day of the conference, and the event will conclude with a congregational supper and entertainment at the Canadian Legion by the St. Johns Lutheran Ladies' aid.

Rev. Carl Jansow of Nelson, chairman of the British Columbia conference, presides over the sessions, while Rev. W. Eersen of Kelowna is secretary.

Nelson Cagers to Play Trail Champs

Feeling a little ambitious after taking a Trail intermediate aggregation into camp in a handy fashion, the Nelson senior cagers have issued a challenge to the Trail Colombos, league leaders, and a game is scheduled for next week. Local hoopsters are planning the odd game now that the junior high school is available in anticipation of rounding up a strong team for next season when the auditorium is open.

J. E. ANNABLE IS PRESIDENT OF OLD TIMERS' ASSOCIATION

Plan Usual Banquet and Picnic; Ask Early Pictures

J. E. Annable was chosen president of the Nelson and District Old Timers' association at the fourth annual meeting held in the city hall Tuesday night when plans were made for the coming summer. On the slate with Mr. Annable are the following officers: A. S. Shannon of Willow Point, J. A. Gilker, D. J. McGillivray, Martin S. Fry of Nakusp, Noble Binns of Trail, S. G. Blaylock of Trail, J. Dumont, J. J. Malone; J. J. O'Donnel, honorary president; Ross Fleming, vice-president; George Horstead, secretary; E. W. Widdowson, treasurer; R. G. Joy, J. R. Hunter, A. D. Emory, J. Bloomberg, W. E. Coles, M. C. Donaldson of Salmo, J. J. O'Donnell, Dr. W. O. Rose, A. S. Gilker and J. C. Riley. H. E. Dill was named auditor.

There was a fair attendance of members of the association, A. S. Shannon of Willow Point being one of the out-of-town members present.

The meeting voted in favor of holding the annual banquet and picnic the day as Wednesday, May 29. The committee in charge of this function will be Ross Fleming, A. D. Emory, George Horstead and W. E. Coles. The banquet will be free to members while nonmembers will be expected to pay.

LAKESIDE PARK PICNIC SITE

The meeting also decided to hold its annual picnic but the date and the place will be left to the executive. C. F. McHardy pointed out that Nelson's Lakeside park was better than any other spot that could be chosen along the lake for a picnic and that it should be considered when a site was being selected.

It was suggested, observed George Horstead, that the city council be asked to allot a room or wall space in the new auditorium which could be used by the old timers for a picture gallery. Such a gallery would have great interest as well as historical value. Mr. Horstead said he had written to the council regarding the request. A number of pictures were passed around at the meeting, pictures that were donated by John Cartmel. One was a very clear picture of Nelson in 1897, another showed a large group of miners, while still another was a scene on Sandon's huge thoroughfare in the year 1897. All proved interesting and aroused comment not a few memories among the old timers at the meeting.

$87 IN TREASURY

E. W. Widdowson, treasurer of last year, was elected by acclamation again. In his report he stated that there was $87.53 on hand or in the bank. He pointed out that the system used last year with regard to the membership card permitting a member to attend the banquet without charge, had provided a great deal of difficulty with regard to keep a strict check and he would suggest that a different method be evolved this year.

The meeting discussed this question and will take steps to avoid this difficulty in future.

At the opening of the meeting a minutes' silence was observed in memory of J. Fred Hume, an old timer and member of the association.

R. G. Joy gave an interesting, though brief talk, about early days as seen through the eyes of R. W. (Bob) Tuill and recorded in his diary. The diary was given to Mr. Joy by J. J. O'Donnell, who received it from D. C. Acton. Mr. Acton salvaged it from a fire when a trunkful of articles was being burned that had been taken from the Kootenay hotel.

It was suggested that Mr. Joy prepare a talk from it to give at the annual banquet.

232 Boy Scout camps were held in Ontario during the summer of 1934, with a total attendance of 5976 boys.

UNITED KINGDOM GOOD CUSTOMER

OTTAWA, April 23 (CP)—Canada's exports to British Empire countries during March amounted to $23,765,000 compared with $20,250,000 in the same month last year, the Dominion bureau of statistics reported today. Domestic exports to foreign countries during the month were valued at $29,934,000 against $28,288,000 last year, says the report.

The United Kingdom was the best customer among the Empire countries, taking goods to the value of $21,321,000, against $22,846,000 in March, 1934. Australia was second with $2,005,000 against $1,890,000.

The United States led the foreign countries taking goods to the amount of $21,916,000 compared with $20,190,000 in March last year, with Japan next with $1,709,000 against $1,348,000.

ROMANCE OF ELECTRICITY TOLD BY M. A. THOMAS, TRAIL

Rotarians Hear of the Early Genii's Discoveries

TRAIL, B.C., April 23.—"History and Development of Electricity", a phase of the subject about which little is heard today, was the subject of an address given by M. A. Thomas at the Trail Rotary luncheon-meeting in the Palm room of the Crown Point hotel Tuesday.

Mr. Thomas stated in his prefacing remarks that "there is a general tendency to magnify the importance of the present and consequently the fact that what has been accomplished of late as a result of scientific development was made possible by the works of men whose names are now almost forgotten. They, he said, had no accumulation of knowledge and equipment as has the scientist today and consequently it must have required more ingenuity and perserverence to establish scientific facts which seem almost self apparent today.

GREEK AGE

Reviewing the history of electricity, the speaker began at the time of earliest recorded history of the subject as applies to so many other sciences; the days of the Greeks. As early as 600 B.C. Thales of Miletus discovered the curious property of amber rod, which when rubbed, attractived light objects.

Gilbert, (1540-1603), court physician to Queen Elizabeth, classified many substances as to their ability to be electrified, he said. It was Gilbert who wrote the first book on electricity.

Newton, known for other discoveries, and who lived from 1642 to 1727 did considerable experimenting with electricity but Stephen Gray (1696-1736) made further discoveries that certain bodies would transmit electricity but others would not.

Dufey (1696-1739) who was a contemporary of Gray's, discovered the nature of attraction and repulsion of bodies, he said.

HOLLAND AND GERMANY

At this point history electricity shifted to Holland and Germany and three men discovered independently that electricity could be accumulated and stored but to Leyden went the honors for the condenser which was named the Leyden jar. This opened further fields of experimentation with electricity.

VELOCITY OF ELECTRICITY

Sir William Watson discovered the velocity of electricity, Mr. Thomas said, and it was accepted that the transmission was instantaneous but at that time the longest distance which the electricity was transmitted was 1200 feet.

Americans made an entrance into the field when Benjamin Franklin (1706-1790) who was noted not only of his ingenuity of his experiments but style and clarity of his writings. Franklin had the theory that electricity was not created by friction but only transferred from one body to the other. Hence excess on one and the deficiency on the other. This brought about the terms positive and negative. Franklin also demonstrated that lightning and thunder were electrical phenomena, the speaker said.

FIRST FATALITY

The first fatality in electricity experimentation occurred in Russia when Professor Richman and Sokolow were carrying on a similar experiment to Franklin when the apparatus they were using was struck by lightning and Richman was killed.

The speaker, in humorous vein, related the practical experiments made by Robert Sumner in 1750 and discoveries he made in pulling off his stockings in the evening. Sumner found that the Leyden jar could be electrified from the stockings.

CAVENDISH PROMINENT

In 1731, Henry Cavendish, after whom the famous laboratory at Cambridge is named, came into prominence, Mr. Thomas said. Cavendish experimented as to the relative conductivity of various substances but only had his own delicate touch to make comparisons.

Later Coulomb, said Mr. Thomas, invented torsional balance and discovered the law of attraction and repulsion.

In the early 19th century the speaker reviewed the discoveries of Volta, Oersted, Ampere and Farraday, which were sources of great development.

VOLTA'S CELL

Volta manufactured the first galvanic cell which opened up a new field, he said. Oersted, through Volta's experiment discovered that a current in a circuit set up a magnetic field and Ampere enlarged on Oersted's work and discovered that mutual forces exerted by two different circuits carrying an electrical current showed the field was identical in properties to that of a permanent magnet. This was outside of Faraday's discovery 10 years later, probably the most important as far as leading up to the utilization of electricity in electrodynamic machines as any discovery ever made.

Several later electrical experimenters' works were reviewed by the speaker.

In Mr. Thomas' peroration he stated: "If we realize the importance of these early experimenters, we realize the honor due them."

Biennials to sow this month are: Sweet Williams, Canterbury bells, columbines, daisies and polyanthus. Sow thinly and shade from the sun until well advanced.

Students Ordered Into Chinese Army

NANKING, China, April 23 (AP)—All male high school and college students were ordered today to undergo at least a year's period of intense military training.

Chiang Kai-Shek, generalissimo of the nationalist government's armies, issued the order as part of a program designed to construct a modern, efficient war machine.

At the expiration of a decade, the general expects that China will have become a first rate military power able to cope with any situation. He seeks 100,000 trained reservists each year.

GOLFERS EXPECT TO START SUNDAY

Believe Course Will Be Free of Snow Then; Several New Players in City

The Nelson Golf club members expect to be on the links this Sunday for the opening play of the season. The cold, unsettled spring had delayed the melting of snow in the region of the course and the play is somewhat later than usual in starting.

Already a number of the ardent golf players have been down on the C.P.R. flats where they have been practicing drives. There are several new prospects for players, Danny Black, formerly of Winnipeg being outstanding among these. Danny has an enviable golf record and is anxious to start walloping the pill again.

ROTARY DIRECTORS ELECTED AT TRAIL

B. T. Chappell, B. C. Superintendent of C. N. Railways, Is Guest

TRAIL, B.C., April 23.—Directors of Trail Rotary club for the two-year term commencing July 1 will be Dr. J. B. Thom, S. S. McDiarmid, P. F. McIntyre and Bruno LeRose, these four having been elected incumbents at the club luncheon-meeting Tuesday.

B. H. Chappel of Vancouver, general superintendent for British Columbia for the Canadian National Railways and R. T. Potter, city engineer of Nelson, were guests at the luncheon.

J. J. McIntyre and Miss McIntyre Win

J. J. McIntyre and Miss Doris McIntyre carried off first prizes at the Liberal card party held in the Women's Institute rooms Tuesday night. Consolation awards went to Mrs. Max Baskin and R. W. Clayton and the breakfast set was won by R. H. Maher. Some 30 persons spent a pleasant social evening at the hall.

James Eccles was master of ceremonies and Mrs. B. Whiteside was convener of a committee consisting of Mrs. D. D. McLean, Mrs. James Duffy, Mrs. A. W. Stubbs and Mrs. L. McKinnon.

Parents and Teachers Meet at Coast

VANCOUVER, April 23 (CP)—Three-day convention of British Columbia Parent-Teacher federation will open here tomorrow with approximately 200 delegates from all parts of the province in attendance. Mrs. T. A. Barnard of Nanaimo, president, will occupy the chair.

The convention is considered a prelude to the national conference of the Canadian Parent-Teacher organizations, which will be held here in July.

YE SEEK JESUS SERVICE TEXT

Redeemer Church Is Filled for Easter Services

The church beautifully decorated with an abundance of flowers, Easter services were held in the Church of Redeemer, Fairview, in the presence of large congregations both morning and evening Sunday. Holy Communion was celebrated at 7, 8 and 11 a.m. At the 11 a.m. service the church was filled to capacity.

Taking as his text "Ye seek Jesus," the vicar, Rev. W. J. Silverwood, directed attention to the fact of the empty tomb and also to the voice of Jesus from the tomb. Into the hearts blinded by fear, pain and loss came the kindly light of peace and assurance. So too, to all those who searched for the dawn fearlessly and faithfully came the voice of guidance. "He is not here. . . . He is risen and goeth before you."

The voice from the tomb called the disciples to action, "Go tell His disciples." These people, suffering pain and loss were looking backward, overlooking the fact that there was a future and that future began where they were, beside the tomb. They were trembling on the threshold of glorious adventure. "The Lord is risen," declared Mr. Silverwood. "Here is a challenge to love fearlessly, sacrificially and courageously because Christ, the risen Saviour, goes before.

The evening service was also of a very joyous order, the choir leading the anthem "The Strife Is O'er."

THEY WILL BE SHAKEN

Speaking on the subject of immortality, the vicar reminded his congregation that at some unknown and may be unheralded period in their lives they would receive a shock which would no doubt shake them to their very foundations, namely the death of a loved one. Then it was that the question of immortality began to take on a vital interest in their thinking. Some turned to theosophy and others to spiritualism. Others took to reading all they could about future life.

The doctrine of immortality belongs to a whole family of Christian ideas, the highest and noblest yet entertained by the human mind, and so far human experience had not invalidated the truth and worth of this family of ideas.

There was, too, the thought that immortality belonged to the universe of open doors. In the physical world people were pretty certain that nature did not lie to them but carried on her work with regularity. People believed also that the spiritual world would not deceive them.

Christians could not believe that Jesus Christ Himself would deceive them. When there were so many lies stalking the world today, when so many people deceived, it was magnificent to have the assurance of a personality which rose again, that in Him there was no deception, either in life or death.

In conclusion Mr. Silverwood pointed out that it was the uncertain things in life, which, after all, were the most exciting and adventurous. The working for peace, for a better economic order, the choice of a vocation, those contained the elements of uncertainty. They were, nevertheless, exciting, and death, if one did not mistake, would be the most adventurous of all.

Gasoline Sales in Canada Gain

OTTAWA, April 23 (CP).—Sales of gasoline in Canada during 1934 totalled 534,782,018 gallons, compared with 494,66,879 in the previous year, the Dominion bureau of statistics reported today.

Sales by western provinces follow with last year's figures in brackets: Manitoba 27,094,000 (24,806,000), Saskatchewan 26,765,000 (31,537,000), Alberta 48,194,000 (40,324,000), British Columbia 42,338,000 (38,679,000).

BADEN-POWELL SENDS OUT A CALL FOR MORE LEADERS FOR THE YOUNG FOLK

CALGARY, April 23 (CP).—In a St. George's day message to the Boy Scouts of the Empire, Lord Robert Baden-Powell, founder of the movement which today has a membership of 2,500,000 in 48 countries of the world, here tonight appealed for the youth of the land, many faced with poverty and with the prospect of not being able to find employment.

A spirit of fortitude must be developed, the chief Scout declared in his address, and Scout and Girl Guide training and comradeship would prove a useful instrument.

"A time of national emergency is upon us again, not one of war and bloodshed, but which if less spectacular is none the less momentous for the future of Canada. This is not fully recognized and we go on playing our hockey, etc., on thin ice," he added.

Canadian Scouts and Guides were playing their parts, but more leaders were required for the extension of the good work.

"As an outcome of the present depression," Lord Baden-Powell said, "there is the risk of race deterioration and of political disturbances in the future. The dangers are visible to all thinking Canadians. They are avoidable if the remedies are applied in time. And now is the time."

An appeal to the young sportsmen of the Dominion, and others willing to assume leadership in the movement, to mark His Majesty, King George's jubilee year by joining in the national work of the Scouts was made by the world leader. They could aid in putting into young Canada the three "Hs" of good citizenship—happiness, health and helpfulness.

Following his address, Lord Baden-Powell, accompanied by Lady Powell, attended a conference of Guiders and Scouters. They will leave Calgary for Edmonton tomorrow morning.

Lobster is usually considered a party dish, but why not make it a favorite with the family, and serve it occasionally en casserole?

Today's Recipes

Lobster en Casserole—One-half pound mushrooms, three tablespoons butter, two tablespoons flour, one-half teaspoon salt, one and one-half cups milk, two hard cooked eggs, one can lobster meat, bread crumbs. Wash mushrooms and slice. Saute in two tablespoons butter. In another pan melt one tablespoon butter, blend in flour and add milk slowly, stirring constantly until thickened and smooth. Add mushrooms diced hard cooked eggs and lobster, broken into small pieces. Turn into small ramiekins or one casserole, sprinkle bread crumbs over top, dot over with butter and bake in a hot oven, 500 degrees Fahrenheit, ten to fifteen minutes, until heated through.

FACTS AND FANCIES

Bean Stringer

A handy new kitchen gadget now being shown is the bean stringer and slicer, which also cuts off the ends. This is both demonstrated and sold in practically all kitchen utilities departments of the larger department stores.

Vanilla Milk Shake

Three cups cold water, four cups evaporated milk, two tablespoons sugar, two teaspoons vanilla. Yield: Seven cups. The vanilla flavor is a universal favorite. Try this. It will be a success—belongs in your very own recipe collection. As a means of getting milk into the diet it is par excellence. Served with cookies, the milk shake is delightful.

Honey Vinegar

To make honey vinegar: Mix together in large jar one quart strained honey and eight quarts of warm water. Allow the mixture to stand in a warm place until fermentation ceases. The remaining vinegar is white and of excellent quality. Seal and use as needed.

Brandied Peaches

One peck peaches, half their weight in sugar, one quart brandy. Remove skins from peaches and put alternate layers of peaches and sugar in stone jar; then add brandy. Cover closely, having a heavy piece of cloth under cover of jar. Glass jars may be used instead of stone jars.

Wife Preservers

To stiffen your white organdie collar and cuffs, do not starch, but rinse in a strong solution of salt water. Iron while damp and the organdie will be sufficiently stiff without the glossy effect of starch.

OVERHEARD IN PARLIAMENT

EXTRACTS FROM HANSARD

Saskatchewan Liberal kids Mr. Woodsworth:

"I believe the communists are getting the better of them (the C.C.F.); they are too easy going and I warn them to be careful. I would hate to see my hon. friend, the hon. member for Winnipeg North Centre, in the ranks of the communist party. I do not think he belongs there, as he looks more like one of those priests who used to adorn the ancient temples with the oil flowing down his beard rather than a meandering marauder with a scalping knife and a tomahawk concealed in his person.

—John Angus MacMillan.

"Tamanas" Reid, of New Westminster, amends a course expression:

"I say these things can and should be done—and would be done if someone had guts enough to go out and do them.

Some Hon. MEMBERS: Order.

MR. DEPUTY SPEAKER: I believe that language is hardly parliamentary.

MR. REID: Well, there is the expression "intestinal fortitude," which might be more parliamentary. I shall use that word instead.

McPhee, of Yorkton, indulges in colorful language:

"What a contrast, Mr. Speaker, politically speaking, between the knock-kneed, rickety, bandy-legged government of today—

MR. SPENCE (Toronto). Talking about yourself?

MR. McPHEE: —and the blatant, bellicose, braggadocio of the speeches over the radio during the first week of January last. I believe there was a real flutter in the dovecots of the Tory party after listening to those bedtime stories.

MR. COTNAM, Renfrew: There was a bigger one in the Grit party.

Author of "Parlor, Bedroom and Bath" employs theatrical term against opposition:

MR. BELL (Hamilton): I am not trying to be controversial—

Some hon. MEMBERS: Louder.

MR. BELL: Shut up, you fools.

MR. SPEAKER: I must ask the hon. member to withdraw the remark he has made to the opposition members. He has used a word which is not parliamentary and I must ask him to withdraw it.

Some hon. MEMBERS: Withdraw.

MR. BELL: Of course I have to withdraw it, no matter what they look like.

"Doc" Motherwell on rehabilitation of the drought area:

"This work of rehabilitation on the wind swept prairie is no week-end holiday, no mid-summer pastime. It is the biggest thing of its kind undertaken in my time in the Dominion of Canada."

Plain talk from the Minister of Justice:

"The session of 1926 opened under a government which had been practically slaughtered at the polls, and but for a crooked count and also some ballot box manipulations in the northwestern part of Canada the government would have come to parliament in an actual minority. The Prime Minister had been defeated by the constituents in his own riding. Nine of his ministers had gone down to defeat and the great province of Ontario was not represented in the House of Commons by a single minister."

—Hon. Hugh Guthrie.

The Other Dionnes

By Mary Carolyn Davies

By a drab Canadian farmhouse door
Five children stop their play
To gaze with wise and wistful eyes
At the place across the way.

Where their little sisters sleep and smile and weep
With their presents in a pile!
Each little quin was born to win
The world, and a king, with its smile.

But what of these other children,
Big eyed, serious, shy—
Born to be only the little lonely
Ones that we all pass by?

The five forgotten children,
As sweet as they can be,
Ernest., Therese, Dan, Rose, Pauline,
What will their future be?

CALUMNY

A whisper woke the air,
A soft, light tone, and low,
Yet barbed with shame and woe.
Ah! might it only perish there,
Nor farther go!

But no! a quick and eager ear
Caught up the little, meaning sound;
Another voice has breathed it clear;
And so it wandered round
From ear to lip, from lip to ear,
Until it reached a gentle heart
That throbbed from all the world apart
And that—it broke!

It was the only heart it found—
The only heart 'twas meant to find,
When first its accents woke,
It reached that gentle heart at last,
And that—it broke!

OUR VICTIM IS

WALDO W. FERGUSON

I don't think Waldo has appendicitis although he is protecting his side with his hand. This is a natural pose for Waldo who is a real Nelson boy. In the past he has been an athlete of no mean ability and excelled on the lacrosse field and in hockey. Of late his chief sport is politics. He is the son of the late Ed Ferguson and enjoys a wide acquaintance not only in Nelson but throughout the Kootenay district.

SPEEDY CONSTRUCTION

A. H. Green was sitting on a sidewalk railing looking over the site for Nelson's auditorium. In fact he was talking with his shovel operator Barry Hoskins. Along came Gus Matthew. The conversation went something like this:

Gus—Well I guess I'll come by here some morning and the auditorium will be up.

A. H. Green—No doubt, but be sure you get up early in the morning.

Gus—That reminds me of the story of the American being shown around London by an Englishman.

"What building is that?" asked the American, pointing to a pretentious structure.

"That is one of our largest buildings. It took two years to build", said the Englishman.

"What, two years to build?" asked the American," why in the United States we would build that building in a year easily. By the way, what building is that?" pointing to a larger structure.

"That is such-and-such a building," replied the Englishman, "it took five years to build."

"Heck, said the Yank, "why at home we would build that one in two years. By the way what is that monster structure over there?" he said pointing to a skyscraper.

"Well I don't just know", replied the Englishman, "it wasn't there when I passed yesterday morning".

IMAGINARY INTERVIEWS
(Babe Ruth)

Q.—Well, Babe, how does it seem to be off the Yankee team?

A.—I think you'd get a better idea by asking the Yankees.

Q.—How did you feel going to bat for the first time in Boston?

A.—I was so nervous I thought the pitcher would have a breakdown.

* * *

Q.—When you trotted out there onto a baseball field 200 miles from Broadway what was your thoughts?

A.—I remember thinking about a book I once read.

Q.—What was the book?

A.—"The Count of Monte Cristo."

Q.—What made you think of that, Babe?

A.—Well, there was a guy in that story, too, who was stitched up in an old bag and thrown overboard, but he cut his way out and did better than ever.

Q.—It was written by Alexander Dumas, wasn't it?

A.—I don't know who wrote it, but I know a man who never read it.

Q.—Who was that?

A.—Jake Ruppert.

Q.—On the level, Babe, how are you physically?

A.—If I'm twice as decrepit as the Yankees thought me I will still be three or four times better than the Braves had hoped.

* * *

Q.—There have been stories that you were through.

A.—Well, that's what they said about a man named Franklin D. Roosevelt ten years ago.

Q.—Didn't you state last year that it was your last season as a player?

A.—Yes, but we all make mistakes. Didn't Hoover say prosperity was just around the corner?

Q.—How many home runs do you expect to hit?

A.—Fifty for the Braves and 100 for the Yankees.

Q.—How can you play with the Braves and make 100 home runs for the Yanks?

A.—Every home run I hit for the Braves will seem like two to my old club.

Q.—How does it seem, Mr. Ruth, to be in a different league?

A.—Oh, the photographers look strange, but so far the fences and the pitchers look about the same.—N. Y. Sun.

WHAT THE PRESS IS SAYING

VITAL ISSUE IS SQUARELY BEFORE TREE FRUIT GROWERS

Now comes the time when the tree fruit growers of the Okanagan Valley and the Main Line must decide whether they shall retain their 44-year-old organization, the British Columbia Fruit Growers' Association or whether they shall discard it. President A. K. Loyd puts the issue squarely before the growers in the question, "Do you wish to support one organization only, known as the British Columbia Fruit Growers' Association, with its constitution amended to meet the altered conditions under the Natural Products Marketing Act?". The president also points out that the amended constitution of the B.C.F.G.A. has purposely been made more elastic than the old. Local conditions can be allowed for more easily than before and in this respect conditions, obtaining in the Kootenays will be given particular attention.

President Loyd hopes that the growers will vote for the retention of the B.C.F.G.A. W. E. Haskins, as a grower, urges his fellow growers to follow this course.

"Country Life" suggests that so many things have yet to be done, outside the functions of the Tree Fruit Board, if the growers' position is to be established firmly and permanently, that the B.C.F.G.A. and all the strength that can be summoned to its aid, will be needed for years to come. A bare start has been made in straightening out the economic affairs of the tree fruit growers and those of all other primary producers. A strong, closely-knit, association, which can function promptly, smoothly and competently will be the most valuable force at the growers' command.

But the issue is entirely up to the growers.—Country Life in B. C.

SUPERFLUOUS WORDS

"Out-Jonahed," "out-Shellied," "out-pokered," "boloney", hoo-mallmall." These are among the terms employed by Mr. G. G. McGeer, M.P.P., in his contribution to the Budget Debate in the Provincial legislature. It is true they are torn from their context, but the context does not matter very much where language of this kind is employed. There are some persons, and even newspapermen, who describe Mr. McGeer's periods "as unerring in their sense of timing and drama," as "replete with every refinement and artifice of oratory," as "crammed with glittering phrases and explosive epithets wholly gargantuan." This, of course, is the language of hyperbole, just as is Mr. McGeer's language.

There is a general consensus of opinion that oratory depends largely on the grace of language, on the diapason of its sequence, on the histrionic art of the speaker and the background of special knowledge that he brings to bear on his utterances. Mr. McGeer adds no emphasis to what he has to say by coining words or by using the argot of those who have had only an infirm education. He strains too much in the attempt to apply outlandish phrases to a theme which is the same no matter what is the garb in which it may be dressed. Whatever may be the business ability of the Mayor of Vancouver his besetting sin lies in the unquenchable penchant to talk, and talk, and talk. In the time that is thus employed there is much of actual value that might be accomplished. Those who have learned how to do things well cease to talk about them.—Victoria Colonist.

WORSE THAN WAR

Perhaps you aren't conversant with our current highway records. Perhaps you don't know that the traffic death toll for 1934 will run around 36,000 when the figures are all in. Ten years ago 21,628 died in traffic accidents. Since then, with only one interruption, the number of dead has steadily increased until at the end of 10 years, you find nearly 300,000 persons have been killed because of automobiles and their operation. I hesitate even to estimate the number of millions who have been injured, but you will get some idea when you know that the number hurt in 1934 stands at 1,000,000. Put the 10-year total at around 10,000,000 and you won't be far wrong. War was never like this. In 10 years we have killed with our automobiles about six times as many Americans as the battle casualties of the American Expeditionary Force. In fact, you can add together the American death toll of every year in which this nation has been engaged, including the Civil War, and the automobile in 10 years is still the greatest man-made killer we have ever known.—Russell Holt Peters in the Forum, New York.

PERFECT FOG HORN

It is said that the siren of the new giant Cunarder will be the loudest voice on the seas. In time of need, as in an Atlantic fog, it will carry ten miles over the waters. This mighty voice will boom forth from three "throats," and instead of being upright as other liners' sirens are, its mouths will stand out, like eight-foot guns, in different directions from the funnels. A light pressure on a switch will start the siren song. "Its note may be reproduced in miniature on the piano by striking the note A right down among the unsingable notes—two octaves below middle A." But whilst it will carry so far, its mellow depth is such that it will not disturb passengers. Of all the notes on the piano this was found to be the ideal for nerve-comfort.—New Outlook.

SPRING—COLORFUL IN ROCK GARDEN

By DEAN HALLIDAY
Central Press Garden Expert

The spring of the year is the most colorful in the rock garden, for most of the alpine plants bloom early in the season. The new dwarf perennials, therefore, are of great assistance in holding the interest in the rock garden during the summer and into the fall months. Then in the fall many bulbs help carry along the bloom.

Many of the annuals also assist in the work of keeping the rock garden blooming continuously, but here we need to be careful, for it is not advisable to use too many annuals. They may become too large and sprawl over the alpines, smothering them out. Another objection is that there is a vacant space to be filled again next year. Of course, when making a new rock garden more annuals may be accepted, for the expense involved of purchasing all rock plants is a consideration, and something which may be added from year to year. But the ultimate effect desired is one of plants spreading gracefully over and among the rocks and being permanent, for every time we dig in the rock garden we loosen soil, and then the next drenching rain seems to wash the loose soil down on the plants growing at the lower levels.

To have winter interest in the rock garden include a few of the dwarf evergreens. The dwarf yews and evergreen jupipers are ideal.

HOW INSTRUMENTS SEE INTO THE HUMAN BODY

By LOGAN CLENDENING, M.D.

In reviewing the many methods of diagnosis used by the modern physician, as we have done the past week, we have been able to do barely more than mention a great many of the most useful ones. But it must be evident that the most useful of all methods are those which depend upon the sense of sight.

There have not been many blind doctors in the world who have been active. I can recall only one—the late Dr. Babcock of Chicago, who had so trained his sense of hearing to compensate for his blindness that he was able to make uncanny diagnoses in the department in which hearing is important—that of the heart and lungs. For most of us sight is the most active and accurate sense, and it is here that the skin specialists have the great advantage over everyone else, because they can see exactly, the diseased condition.

Some of the most remarkable developments in diagnosis have been the methods which have extended the sense of sight so that portions of the body ordinarily hidden have been brought to view. In a sense, the X-ray is nothing more than an uncanny magical extension of the sense of sight, dealing with opacities and comparative densities, rather than with color.

One of the earliest of these extensions of sight for purposes of diagnosis was made in 1851 when Helmholtz invented the ophthalmoscope, by which he was able to look into the black of the living eye. It is simply the reflection of a ray of light into the back of the eye with a simultaeous observation of the observation of the objects thus illuminated. But it is a wonderful help in every field of medicine, to every form of specialty, because nowhere else can we see the minute and middle-sized blood vessels so plainly shown. Helmholtz has recorded his emotions when he knew he was the first to view the inside of the living human eye, and it must have been an exciting moment, as indeed it was a very fruitful discovery.

Not long afterward, a singing master, Manuel Garcia, conceived the idea of looking into the vocal chords by reflected light on a dental mirror in the back of the throat.

These two discoveries practically founded the specialties of the eye and the throat. It is astonishing that they were not thought of before. We remember that so comparatively short a time ago as the period of the death of George Washington, that great man died of a throat complaint, and yet none of his attending physicians had the initiative to attempt to look inside his open mouth to see if they could see the trouble.

Similar to the ophthalmoscope and the laryngoscope is the atoscope, with which we can look into the ear drum and deduce conditions of the middle ear.

A whole series of instruments have been invented for looking into cavities of the body ordinarily hidden. These work on the principle of the periscope, with an electric light on the end and a seres of reflecting mirrors through a narrow tube. With them we can view the lining of the bronchi, of the stomach, of the lower bowel, and of the bladder.

Along the same lines as the extension of sight, we have methods of diagnosis which depend upon transilumination — the illumination of body cavities in a dark room. This gives valuable information in diseases of the nose, and it has lately been extended to the abdomen. The light being placed in the bladder and in a dark room, the entire contents of the abdomen are vividly outlined.

CONSIDER THE LILIES

by R. C. PALMER
Superintendent, Dom. Experimental Farm, Summerland, B.C.

Lilies deserve to be grown more extensively in B.C. gardens. There are many hardy species of very easy culture. The Regal, Coral, Willmolt, David, Martagon, Hanson and Henry lilies can readily be raised from seed. The umbel or upright flowered types propagate freely by division and by production of bulblets below ground. Other species such as the Tiger and Sargent lillies can be increased by planting the bulbils which develop in the axils of the leaves. With the Madonna and Nankeen lilies, propagation is usually accomplished by "scaling" the old bulbs, the scales being planted in sand, like cuttings.

Raising lilies from seed is a very simple procedure. At the Summerland experimental station excellent results have been secured by sowing the seed in the open ground early in April. The seed bed should be well prepared. A sandy loam soil with which is incorporated a good dressing of peat mull or thoroughly decayed organic matter, provides ideal conditions for germinating lily seed. Partial shade is an advantage. The seed may well be planted about an inch deep in drills about a foot apart. It is a good plan to cover the seed with fine peat mul instead of soil. This prevents caking of the soil over the tender seedlings. Some lily seeds germinate very slowly. Accordingly, it is important to water the seed bed faithfully throughout the summer. The young seedlings may well be left in the seed bed for two years before planting in their permanent positions in the garden.

Good drainage is the primary requirement of all lilies. When planting the bulbs in clay soil, it is advisable to surround them with at least an inch of sharp sand. In moving lilies, it is important to avoid damaging the fleshy roots at the base of the bulb. Provided these roots are not injured, lilies can be moved successfully in early spring, in summer after blooming, or in autumn. The shorter the time they are out of the ground, the better they will behave after moving. As a general rule lilies give good results when planted at a depth of three times the diameter of the bulb. The Madonna and Nankeen lilies, however, require shallow planting. They grow best when the bulbs are set just below ground level.

Most lilies thrive in a sunny location, but they appreciate a ground cover of some low-growing plant such as petunia or antiraninum to keep the soil cool. The Henry species is best grown in partial shade as the handsome yellow flowers fade badly when exposed to bright sun.

Lilies are not heavy feeders. Nevertheless a good dressing of blood and bone meal once a year can be expected to improve the quality of the blooms. A generous application of well rotted leaf mould serves to protect the bulbs from extreme heat in summer and cold in winter.

The Regal lily is largely responsible for the rapidly increasing interest in lily culture. The species is a native of the hill country of Tibet. It was introduced to America by the late E. H. Wilson, curator of the Arnold Arboretum, some 30 years ago. Ease of culture, adaptability to a wide range of soil conditions, and magnificence of floral display account for the great popularity of this highly desirable lily.

A close relative of Regal, the Sargent lily, blooms about three weeks later. The blooms are similar in form to Regal but less attractive in color. Crossing of these two lilies has produced what are known as the Princeps Hybrids. These seedlings vary considerably in time of flowering, color of bloom and habit of growth. Many of them are more vigorous than their parents. They are a very valuable addition to the list of hardy lilies of easy culture as they extend the season of the Regal type and are as readily raised from seed.

The Coral lily is another species which should be grown in every British Columbia garden. It is a small growing, early blooming sort, suitable for use in rockeries. The dainty spikes carry from three to eight blossoms with reflexed petals of a glowing scarlet color. The Coral lily is an old favorite. There are now extra large single and double flowered forms. The umbel or upright flowered lilies are orange or yellow in color. They show to best advantage when grown in fairly large groups.

Canadian grown seed and bulbs of the lilies mentioned in this article are now available at reasonable prices. The amateur gardener who is sufficiently interested to provide lilies with their simple cultural requirements, will find them a most satisfying flower to grow.

IS IT A NEW DEAL?

The number of persons with reportable incomes of less than $25,000, and the total of such incomes, dropped lower in 1933 than in 1932. The number of persons with net incomes of more than $25,000, and the total of such incomes, rose in 1933 above 1932. Official figures of the Bureau of Internal Revenue restate the old line: "The rich are getting richer and the poor are getting poorer." REMARKABLE SUCCESS BIDDING FORLORN HANDS

During the last dozen years I wonder how many times I have seen the famous sculptor, Elie Nadelman, inject into the auction a bid on an apparently hopeless hand, only to discover that he has done the one best thing for his side. Such luck is akin to genius. Note what he accomplished with East's miserable cards.

Bidding went South, 1 heart; West, 2 clubs; North, 2 diamonds; East, 2 spades, ready if doubled to assist partner's clubs. West, 3 spades; East, 4 clubs, to show how weak spades were; West, 4 spades, calculating from the bidding that his partner held the K of clubs, and could lead through South's high spades, the side strength for his opposing heart call; South doubled, ending the bidding.

North: ♠ 8 5 ♥ J 8 7 ♦ A 10 9 8 6 3 ♣ J 10

West: ♠ A Q 10 ♥ Q 10 4 ♦ K Q ♣ A 8 6 5 4

East: ♠ 9 7 6 4 2 ♥ 3 2 ♦ J 5 2 ♣ K 7 2

South: ♠ K J 3 ♥ A K 9 6 5 ♦ 7 4 ♣ Q 9 3

The opening lead was the K of hearts. North played the 7 and East false-carded his 3. False-carding small cards never is noticed by poor players, but it frequently deceives good players. South thought that East held the J-8-3, and that North had started an echo from the 7-2. So South led off his ace of hearts to allow partner to ruff the third round of the suit, only to see North play the 8 and East drop the 2. About the only hope of defeating the contract now appeared to be that North held the ace of diamonds and K of clubs, or that West would have to ruff a diamond, to prevent the declarer from losing a second diamond trick. South led the 3 of clubs. North played the 10 and East went in on his K.

East led his lowest spade and won on a double finesse of dummy's 10. On a lead of dummy's Q of hearts the declarer discarded his lowest club. Dummy's ace of clubs was led. East ruffed the next lead of clubs. North discarded a diamond. It would have done him no good to ruff. The 6 of spades was led. South's J was captured with dummy's Q, then the ace picked up the last opposing trump. The three leads of clubs had established 2 long cards of that suit in dummy. These good clubs were led. East discarded his 2 lowest diamonds. When the K of diamonds was led at the twelfth trick of course North's ace won the trick, but 2 heart tricks and a single diamond trick were not sufficient to defeat the contract. North had nothing to lead back except a losing diamond, upon which dummy's good Q and declarer's last trump went. Perfect defence should have given the defenders a club trick, as well as the other three tricks won.

Disdain Returned

He that loves a rosy cheek,
Or a coral lip admires,
Or from starlike eyes doth seek
Fuel to maintain his fires;
As old Time makes these decay,
So his flames must waste away.

But a smooth and steadfast mind,
Gentle thoughts, and calm desires,
Hearts with equal love combined,
Kindle never-dying fires:
Where these are not, I despise
Lively cheeks or lips or eyes.

PLAN ZONES IN B.C. TO GOVERN SKIERS SPORT

Western Canada Body Passes Away at a Coast Meeting

NAME BOARD TO GOVERN SPORT

Events Are Planned at Wells, Banff and at Vancouver

VANCOUVER, April 23 (CP).—The Western Canada Amateur Ski association passed out of existence tonight to give place to a six-man advistory board headed by Nels Nelsen, western vice-president of the Canadian Amateur Ski association.

The action was taken at the annual meeting of the W. C. A. S. A. here tonight in a move to consolidate control of the sport in the Dominion. Previously the western body worked with the Canadian organization but was denied official recognition through the Dominion association's rules which permit affiliation of individual clubs only.

With Nelsen on the new board are Kay Hague and Ralph Morris of Vancouver; E. Engen of Penticton, B.C., John Southam of Calgary, and P. Sandnes of Banff, Alta.

Some 17 ski clubs in western Canada will be affected by the change. Most of them already have paid up affiliation with the C. A. S. A. and the others have applied for admission.

Under the new setup western Canada will be divided into zones according to the class of skiing favored in the various districts and the nature of the country. Tentative zones named include Vancouver, Nelson-Trail district including Kimberley, northern British Columbia and north and south Alberta.

Subject to approval by the C. A. S. A. the following venues for 1936 events were named:

Wells, B.C. — Western Canada jumping and cross country championships.

Banff, Alta. — Western Canada slalom and downhill racing championships.

Vancouver — British Columbia combined jumping and racing championships under the Vancouver Ski club.

Of the 17 clubs affected 14 are in British Columbia and three, Banff, Calgary and Camrose, in Alberta.

Delegates representing Nelson, Trail, Ominecs Ski club at Burns Lake, B.C., Wells, Revelstoke, Calgary and Banff attended.

The only parrots native to the United States were the Carolina paroquet and the Louisiana paroquet, both now extinct.

"Big League" BASEBALL

By AL DEMAREE
Former Pitcher New York Giants

When bunting a ball hold your bat fairly loose, especially with the right hand, if you are a right-hand hitter and with the left hand, if a southpaw hitter. Try to keep away from high pitched balls, when you wish to bunt as you will have a tendency to lift them in the air for pop flies.

A "delayed steal" is a base which is stolen while the ball is in play between the pitcher and the catcher. When a "delayed steal" is undertaken, it is when the ball is in the hands of the catcher, who may be slow in handling it or caught off his guard in returning it to the pitcher, taking so much time to get the ball back to the pitcher that the runner, alert and ready for the situation, darts for the next base when the ball leaves the catcher's hands.

The old scout says: Frank Navin became president of the Detroit club in 1908.

The old scout asks: Who is said to be the first-baseman to play away from the bag? Answer tomorrow.

Al Demaree has prepared an illustrated leaflet called "Big League Signs" which he will gladly send to any reader requesting it. Address Al Demaree in care of this paper and be sure to enclose a self-addressed envelope.

50,000 SEE RUTH DEFEATED

NEW YORK, April 23 (AP).—Despite the signal failure of Babe Ruth to find fresh inspiration in the old home town or contribute anything striking to the gala proceedings, the Boston Braves today carried the Giants through 11 hard-fought innings before yielding a 6-5 decision before the biggest crowd that has ever witnessed a National league opening in New York.

Fifty thousand fans, including 47,009 cash customers, nearly filled the Polo grounds for the occasion. Obviously they were attracted more by the metropolitan debut of Ruth in National league uniform than by the homecoming of the Giants. They roared lustily for the Babe, hoping to see him celebrate his return to his favorite hitting grounds with old time vigor, but the big fellow failed dismally to produce and was out of the game, all but forgotten, by the time Mel Ott lashed a single to right to score George Davis with the winning run and break up a tense overtime struggle in the gathering gloom.

BOSTON TRIMS YANKS

BOSTON, April 23 (AP)—The league-leading Boston Red Sox won their sixth game out of seven starts today as they turned the official opening of the American league season here into a triumphant homecoming by defeating the New York Yankees 7-4.

A crowd of 20,500, including Governor James M. Curley of Massachusetts, saw the Sox pounce on four Yankee hurlers for 10 timely hits while Fred Ostermueller and Henry Johnson kept the New York bats well in check with nine safe blows, one of which was a home run by Frank Crosetti.

RALLY GIVES INDIANS WIN

CLEVELAND, April 23 (AP)—A two-run rally in the ninth inning enabled the Cleveland Indians to defeat the St. Louis Browns 7-6 today in the season opener here.

Approximately 23,000 fans saw the game.

The Indians piled up five runs in the first inning, three of them knocked in by Hale's home run over the right field fence.

REMEMBER WHEN?

Four years ago the papers were publishing daily bulletins on the condition of Babe Ruth, world's highest paid ball player, then with New York Yankees. In a Boston hospital with a leg injury suffered during a game in that city, the next time the great Babe appeared on a ball field it was in a wheel chair. He was out of the game for weeks.

FENCERS CUT HAIR

NEW YORK, (CP). — Trinity school's fencing team was so good it sheared the hair from the heads of the St. John's university freshmen team. The St. John's boys had vowed they would let their foes cut their hair if they lost a match this season and, after winning, the Trinity fencers were handed scissors and told to go to work.

GET LOW-DOWN ON KOOTENAY TROUT BY SCALE-RING COUNT

Reports Received From Biological Station by Inspector Robinson Show Great Variation in Growth; Lights Up Feed Conditions

Results received by Fisheries Inspector C. H. Robinson, of age determinations of Kootenay-Boundary Kamloops trout by the Dominion biological station at Nanaimo by means of scale readings, confirm in a most striking manner the old contention that the size of a trout is little indication as to its age. There is a remarkable variation n the sizes of fish of comparable age, as determined by the growth-rings found on their scales, and an equally wide variation in cases where the eggs are known from the dates of the plantings.

MOUNTAIN TROUT CAN GROW

It is interesting to note, for instance, that the mountain trout, which reaches maturity at eight inches in Cottonwood lake and in Six-Mile lakes, from which the Nelson hatchery draws its egg supply for that fish, can become a glorious fighting rainbow or Kamloops in more favorable waters before reaching spawning age. Fry from these lakes were planted in Lillian lake near Invermere, previously barren of fish, and two caught by Inspector Robinson, 2 1-3 years old, as known from both planting and the scale readings, were respectively 21 and 18½ inches in length, and weighed five and three pounds. One a month younger was 23 inches long and weighed four pounds. The heavier of the two fish first mentioned, made a better first year record, the station reported, while Mr. Robinson states they had all the dash and vigor of the big fish in Kootenay lake and Kootenay river.

As contrasted with these fast-growing beauties in a new lake, five rainbows or Kamloops taken from Lake Windermere were fairly slow coaches. A two-year fish was 10 inches long, and weighed 12 ounces; a three-year was 14 inches and weighed two pounds; No. 3 made 17 inches and 3½ pounds in four years; and a 19-inch fish weighing 2½ pounds was elderly, no age being set down. A 21-inch fish went four pounds, but had a five-year scale reading.

KETTLE LAKES BACKWARD

While the Boundary has some wonderful growth records, a number of lakes in the Kettle watershed from which Mr. Robinson supplied fish were notably backward in promoting trout growth. Conkle lake provided a couple of male Kamloops 7 and 7½ inches long respectively at two years, while an 8¾-inch male was three years old, and a 10¼-inch one was three years and had probably been a father a year earlier. From Bull lake came a female that was five years old and was only 9½ inches long, while an 8¾ one and an 8 were four years, and a 10½ was three. A male from the same lake was 8½ inches at two years. Collier lake produced a 14½-inch male that was three years old and had apparently spawned the previous year. From Arlington lakes a 10¼-inch female was three years old, and an 8¾-inch male was two years. These 12 fish were all mature, and the females were almost on the point of spawning.

SLOCAN RECORD VARIED

There was a varied record from the Slocan. In the case of Slocan lake, the smallest fish sent in was 14 inches long and weighed a pound, which it had accumulated in 2¼ years. Three of the fish were determined to be 3½ years, two of them being 18 inches long and weighing 2¾ pounds. One that weighed 12.5 pounds and measured 34½ inches was found to be 6 1-3 years old. Some years ago Wilson lake, which before the war was barren, was producing large-size Kamloops fighters from a post-war planting, but as usual with formerly barren lakes, the fish are now making poorer growth as a consequence of diminished food supply. Of the large number received from this water, three that were 17½ inches took 4 1-3 years to gain their 1½ pounds, a 16½-inch fish weighed 1½ pounds in 3 1-3 years, and a 13-inch fish made a pound in 2 1-3 years. A 19-inch fish made 2½ pounds in 3 1-3 years.

At equivalent ages, fish from Cahill lake, near Evans creek, at the lower end of Slocan lake, were comparative monsters. At 4 1-3 years, one Cahill lake fish was 20 inches long and weighed 10½ pounds, while in five years and five months another amassed 14 pounds weight and a measurement of 31½ inches. A four-year fish from Grave lake near Natal weighed three pounds and measured 16 inches. In Premier lake, about 50 miles north of Cranbrook, 4 1-3 years sufficed to turn one baby fish into a 19¾ pound monster 35½ inches long.

ARROW LAKES SLOW

Growth is slow in the Arrow lakes region, according to the scale readings from fish of the Lower Arrow lake and from Whatshan lake. In the case of the Lower Arrow lake, four fish caught in the vicinity of Edgewood all weighed less than a pound, though aged from 3½ to 4½ years. Those 3½ years old measured 10 and 12 inches, and weighed 8 and 12 ounces respectively, while the 4½ year specimens were 12 and 13 inches long, and weighed 12 and 14 ounces respectively. The Whatshan fish were not weighed, but their rate of growth was about the same as of those just described. One fish attained 9 inches in 2 1-3 years, another 11¾ inches in 3 1-3 years, and two other reached 12½ and 13 inches respectively in 4 1-3 years.

Three Crow lakes tested for rates of growth all showed fast accumulation of size and weight in their Kamloops trout. A fish from Smith lake, near Cranbrook, though only a year and five months old, was 16 inches long and weighed two pounds, and measured 18 inches. In Premier lake, about 50 miles north of Cranbrook, 4 1-3 years sufficed to turn one baby fish into a 19¾ pound monster 35½ inches long.

46-POUND GIANT

What can happen in a lake well stocked with food and newly planted is illustrated by the case of Jewel or Long lake near Greenwood, which was first planted with Kamloops trout fry in 1928. Two years ago a fish was taken there, which weighed 46 pounds at the sportsmen's show in Spokane, and presumably had lost two or three pounds at least by shrinkage. Its greatest possible age was eight years.

Manistee lake near Fernie, planted in 1925, furnished a 13-pound fish after 2 1-3 years. Horseshoe lake, near Fort Steele, had similar conditions, and planted fish grew approximately 15 pounds in three years. Since that period, with diminished feed, the fish of Horseshoe lake have a slower rate of growth.

GUIDE TO POLICY

These scale readings have very definite and important objects to serve, Mr. Robinson states. The first aim is to ascertain the rates of growth in different waters, and particularly the age at which maturity is attained. This may be affected by the natural food supply being meager or abundant; by the numbers of fish in the water, which may be overstocked; and by water conditions, such as temperature, a low temperature retarding both plant and animal growth.

Eventually these studies will be a guide to the treatment to be given the various waters—those, for instance, where a food deficiency must be corrected.

In the case of the Kettle watershed, a member of the Nanaimo biological station staff, writing to Mr. Robinson under the direction of Dr. W. A. Clemens, the director, observed:

KETTLE SPAWNING

"The most feasible method of conservation would seem to be to close the creeks until about the first of July. The poor growth rate would seem to indicate that the creeks are slightly overstocked and could stand increased fishing. However, I do not think it a good policy to throw the creeks open with the result that large numbers of spawning fish would be lost."

On Mr. Robinson's recommendation, the creeks mentioned are being kept closed until June 1, which will give more time for spawning.

CRAWLEY WOOD WINS STAKES

Flam Second and Corona-Corona Third in Field of Twenty-one

EPSOM DOWNS, England, April 23 (CP cable)—J. E. Cottrell's five-year-old Crawley Wood won the great metropolitan stakes, long-distance spring handicap, over the 2¼-mile course here this afternoon, with J. W. Lloyd's Flam second and A. F. Davis' Corona-Corona third in the field of 21.

The winner, carrying 112 pounds and starting at odds of 100 to 8, finished four lengths in front of Flam, which started at 21 to 1 and carried 104 pounds. Corona-Corona, starting at 7 to 1 and weighed with 102 pounds, was beaten out of the place by half a length.

The race, coupled with tomorrow's shorter city and suburban as a great spring double, has been run since 1848.

Lane had the mount on Crawley Wood, a brown gelding by Herodote out of Hartshead.

NOT THEORIES!

BY ALEX J. MORRISON

Paul Runyan may become one of golf's greatest champions. In fact he will be numbered among the golfing immortals if—. And the IF is big enough to keep this sometimes brilliant shotmaker out of this select class.

He must make a change in his swing! Runyan's swing, in the eyes of the average golfer, seems good enough. It has enabled him to shoot in the sixties on several occasions during the winter tourneys.

But, fundamentally, it isn't sound. It lacks the smoothness and rhythm possessed by Jones, Sarazen, Mac Smith and others whose records for consistency over the years is argument enough in favor of the CORRECT swing.

BASEBALL'S BIG SIX FOR 1935

(By the Associated Press)

The first publication of baseball's big six for the 1935 season finds John Moore, Phillies speedy outfielder, leading the pack with a healthy batting average of .500. In 30 times at bat, Moore has cracked out 15 hits, including three home runs, to lead Floyd Vaughan, Pittsburgh shortstop, by 20 points. Sam West of St. Louis Browns tops the American league trio with nine hits in 21 trips to the plate for an average of .429.

GYPSY GIRL

THE STORY OF AN IMPASSIONED ROMANCE

"Peggy" No. 4

CHAPTER 37

Yes, Stewart was in a mess. Consuelo and Louise had "gotten together" last night and had "found out" of his attentiveness to both.

"So that was it!" chimed Doug. "Right on the chin! Well, my boy, your sins will out. Lordie, I'm glad I'm not in your shoes! Louise and Consuelo—" He started to laugh.

"There's nothing funny about this!" Stewart broke in. "Louise was hysterical last night. She informed me that it was either she or the gypsy—"

"Well, that's not a hard choice."

"Can't you ever be serious?"

"What do you want me to do, cry? You didn't expect you could go on indefinitely with the two of them, did you, my Don Juan?"

"Cut it out! You know as well as I do that I refused to bring the gypsy to New York and you also know, if you have any brains at all, that Louise can't be gotten rid of without a fight."

"Do you want to get rid of her?"

Blackmire munched a bite of toast before he answered.

"I'm not sure."

"Bluebeard! It must be grand to have the women so crazy about you that you can't pry 'em loose." It was not sarcasm.

The other paid little attention to him.

"I want to find out where I stand with Consuelo."

"Afraid of her?"

"You haven't heard her talk as I have about what she'd do if she caught 'her man' with another woman. I hate fights and tantrums. The hysteria from Louise last night is all that I can bear for a while. And gypsies are dynamite!"

"You ought to know. But all fooling aside, Consuelo hated Lou from the first moment she laid eyes on her and the two of them are never going to get along together in the same show. Louise is a flop compared with the gypsy. Why don't you give Lou a tidy little sum, use your own judgment there or ask my advice—and suggest that she go abroad—" He felt like saying, "and you go with her," but did not—"and put Consuelo on as star of the show. That's what she wants."

"You don't ask much, do you? That's what every woman wants of me. She's just the same."

"Oh, nuts to you! You profess to be crazy about the kid and you don't do one thing for her. She isn't like the rest, not by a long shot. Good Lord, if I was in your position her name would be out front in electric lights tonight and Lou's would be in—"

Stewart lighted a cigaret, dragged several puffs and knocked the ashes against the coffee cup.

"Well, I might have known you'd lose your head about her. Am I able to trust you, or shall I take you off the job?"

"You wouldn't be able to trust me one minute if she'd have me. Women have the doggonest taste when they pick on your ugly mug. You're the closest resemblance to an ice box I ever saw and about the same temperature. Here you've got two of the beautifulest dames in New York fighting tooth and nail over you. Did it ever occur to you, my dear Don Juan, what a devil you are with women?"

"And did it ever occur to you, my dear Douglas, that sometimes I wonder if they are crazy about me or about my bank roll or just plain crazy. Being lousy with gold, as you say, has its disadvantages, but what I say is, that you can't trust a woman as far as you see her. There isn't a chorus girl in New York that wouldn't jump at the chance to let me love her, and I'm not boasting either, but holding the position I do in the theatrical world is like honey to a bee. Do you think the gypsy girl would have gotten on that train if she hadn't known who I was—thanks to you and Bill for telling her. Do you think down in Atlanta that time Louise would have sprained her ankle when you and I were the only men for miles about? Do you think that Dora would have gotten in the wrong drawing room unless—or Marie—oh, bosh! Damn the women, they're all alike! Louise in tantrums last night and undoubtedly Consuelo in a white rage. I'm sick of it, blame sick of it! My money gets me into enough trouble but it's little getting me out of it!" He jammed the cigaret stub into the coffee dregs and got up.

"Run along, Doug, and see if the gypsy's in a good humor. On your way buy her some little thing, a wrist watch or something, and if you can get her in a smiling mood give me a ring and I'll come over. If she's full of growls and wild gypsy epithets, tell her to go to hell for me—politely, of course.

"Now that the three-hour lecture on money and women, the two combustibles when mixed, is over, Professor Blackmire, I'll hie me out and buy the lovely black-haired damsel a wrist watch set in diamonds and inscribed with your love—blah! I don't think you're capable of love, but it's all right with me, maybe I'll stand a chance with the gypsy girl—fat chance! See you in church, old bean, and don't hold your breath till I telephone." He retreated.

He stopped at Tiffany's and selected a tiny Swiss watch. On the back he had inscribed: "I love you. S.B.," and he made a face at the inscription before he closed the box.

Forty minutes later he called Stewart from the hotel lobby.

"Okay, Don Juan, get on your trusty steed and spring over here quickly before I go upstairs and change her mind."

Backstage Consuelo began her fight and asked the aid of no one—as yet. Above all else the fact stood paramount that the night L'Ville did not come to the theater the Gypsy Consuelo would go on in her place. Beyond that she did not plan, except she knew that once she had attained that goal the rest would be easy.

She began a series of petty annoyances against L'Ville. Little things they were, that would have made L'Ville foolish to complain of them. How could she say that the gypsy stood in her way every time she turned around? Purely accidental. Both in the same show. Close quarters backstage. Who could be blamed when the peacocks in the second number got sick and one fell in the fountain to the high amusement of the audience and the breaking up of Louise? You couldn't very well blame the gypsy for that, nor for the misplacing of costumes. What did it matter if her dancing partners were infatuated with the gypsy—all the men backstage were for that matter. It would be foolish to go around saying that the gypsy's eyes were "positively hypnotic" and gave one the "creeps" just to have them staring at you all the time. When Goldberg warned her that she was drinking too much during show time she couldn't tell him it was because she was afraid of the gypsy and only took a tiny weeny little shot to get herself together for the numbers.

In fact, there was no opening for her to report the gypsy, and backstage thought that a white flag of truce had been flung between them. They did not know that it was tinged with red and at any moment apt to change its color permanently. For how can a flag of truce be secure when a gypsy girl is ambitious and filled with bitter hatred, or when a star is jealous and afraid of a one-act specialty dancer?

No one suspected how deeply the hatred was between them except perhaps Doug. Even Stewart was blind, for never in look or tone had Consuelo chided him about his double relationship, nor had she spoken about Louise; and Louise, after her first hysterical outbreak, was silent. If she had only been surer of herself she might have gotten the upper hand with him, but she was afraid.

The gypsy knew she could not make Stewart jealous with Doug, so now she began to accept invitations for after the show, and she had her choice of many. This gay new life she entered was intoxicating. Her lips became redder than they had been before, her eyes sparkled more brightly, her body was more alluring when she walked and her laugh was more throaty and infectious. She had turned into a dancing flame and the moths were coming.

When Stewart voiced objections to her parties after the show she would laugh at him and kiss his lips and say: "You have a date, you said, my darling. Now surely you can't expect me to sit and wait for you. This Mr. Sandy is giving a big dinner party and I am the guest of honor, and besides, Mr. Sandy owns 30 banks and most of that which you call Wall Street—" and she would go laughing.

Stewart shrugged his shoulders and spent the evenings with Louise or at his club, and tried to tell himself that the gypsy was not worth bothering over. But nevertheless, he was annoyed that she did not cater to his wishes and he was more annoyed that the names who entertained the gypsy were the best known in town. If she was going out to cheap parties with unknown persons, his vanity might have been saved. No other girl for whom he had done a great deal and upon whom he had lavished expensive gifts had carelessly snapped her fingers at him.

SILVER PRICE HITS THE HIGHEST IN 10 YEARS

BAR SILVER ON WORLD MARKET IS 69.87 CTS.

Jump of Two and One-Quarter Cents Is Recorded

IS NEAR THE U. S. PEGGED PRICE

Futures Gain on the Montreal Silver Exchange

NEW YORK, April 23 (AP)—Bar silver in the world market sold for 69.875 cents an ounce today, an increase of 2.25 cents which brought the quotation within 1.235 cents of the pegged United States treasury figure of 71.11 cents for newly mined domestic metal.

The latest development, anticipated in Wall street, aroused interest in the next treasury move expected to boost the domestic price again out of reach of the world price.

Until recently the treasury said 64.64 cents an ounce for silver mined in the United States, but when the world price eased within a fraction of the treasury price, the treasury offered 71.11 cents to American producers.

The world price started an immediate rise which was checked last week after reaching 68.5 cents. The jump today was one of the largest in recent months, exceeded only by the 2.75-cent increase April 12, the day after the latest treasury price was announced.

FUTURES ADVANCE

MONTREAL, April 23 (CP) — Early activity on the Canadian commodity exchange died down shortly after the opening today but volume was still heavy as prices of silver futures advanced 265 to 300 points. A total of 84 contracts changed hands 12 in May, 35 in July, 34 in September, one in November and 12 in December.

September closed slightly below the day's high of 77.50 when it traded at 77.45 at the final bell after touching a low of 71.20. May moved within a range of 70.40 and 70.49, closing at 70.8? bid, and July brought 71.40 bid at the close after selling from 71 to 71.45. November traded at 72.75 and closed at 72.10, nominal, while December finished the day at 73.50 bid compared with the day's high of 73.49 and the low of 73.

SEES DOLLAR SILVER

WASHINGTON, April 23 (AP)—Senator Adams (D., Colo.) commenting today on the climb in the London silver price to 70.75 cents an ounce, said:

"I don't see any escape from dollar silver. The demand is in excess of the floating supply."

Questioned by reporters about the possibility of another increase in the federal price for domestic silver, Secretary Morgenthau replied, "do not bet any money on what we do."

JUMPS IN LONDON

LONDON, April 23 (AP)—The price of silver today jumped 1 7-16 pence an ounce on the local market to 32¾ pence, the highest price obtained since November, 1925. Both China and speculators were buying

BONDS HIGHER

NEW YORK, April 23 (AP)—The bond market ran into some profit-taking today but leaders met prompt support and ended higher.

Columbia Gas 5s advanced 1⅛ to 87¾ and Montana Power refunding 5s a point at 81¾.

TORONTO SILVERS FLARE UPWARD

TORONTO, April 23 (CP).—Trading interest in the silver group of the Toronto mining list flared up today on posting of a new 10-year high price for metal and, although profit-taking in the last afternoon curbed the advance, the whole group closed with the bulk of the gains intact.

Gold stocks were weak in spots and base metals firm to strong.

The London price for silver was up about 3 cents. Eldorado responded with a gain of 10 cents to 1.89. Castle gained a cent to 93. Bear 2½ to 41. Nipissing 15 to 2.65 and the penny group, White Eagle, Peterson-Cobalt, and Cobalt Contact, had gains of small fractions at the close.

Declaration of a flat bonus for Dome shareholders advanced the stock 1.50 at 42.25. Pioneer and Wright Hargreaves added 5 cents each while Hollinger lost 30 cents, Lake Shore 20, and Bralorne 5.

C. N. R. GROSS REVENUES UP

MONTREAL, April 23 (CP). — Gross revenues of the Canadian National Railways system for the week ending April 21, were $3,116,971 as compared with $2,985,006 for the corresponding period of 1934, an increase of $131,965.

U. S. DOLLAR FIRM

MONTREAL, April 23 (CP). — Foreign currencies changed only fractionally on Montreal foreign exchanges today. The pound lost ¼ of a cent at $4.87. The U.S. dollar held at 7-16 of 1 per cent premium and the franc at 6.62 cents.

Dollar Unchanged

NEW YORK, April 23 (CP)—Leading currencies were mildly irregular in the foreign exchange markets today.

The pound sterling was off ¼ at a closing rate of $4.84⅝. The Canadian dollar held unchanged at 13-32 per cent discount while the French franc, closing at 6.59¼ cents, showed a gain of .00¼ of a cent.

WHEAT PRICES OFF AT 'PEG

Reports of Rains in U. S. Cause a Slump

WINNIPEG, April 23 (CP) — Grains drooped on the Winnipeg grain exchange today simultaneously with reports of much-needed rains in parts of the dry United States southwest.

Wheat prices closed 1¼ cents lower, May at 88⅝ and July 89¼, with corresponding declines in coarse grains futures. Weakness in outside markets was a bearish factor.

Chicago wheat futures broke sharply, closing with net losses of 3¼ cents. Liverpool reacted from early gains and closed off ¼d. and Buenos Aires was down fractionally.

Coarse grains declined in sympathy with wheat, losses ranging from ¾ to more than two cents. Rye was sold liberally, that commodity losing 2¼ cents. Cash grains were slow.

Trading in the October future for oats, barley, flax and rye will open tomorrow, following an announcement of the exchange council.

INDUSTRIALS GAIN

TORONTO, April 23 (CP) — Traders returned from the Easter holidays more bullish than otherwise regarding the near future of stocks and prices were given an upward tilt on a moderate volume of transactions on the Toronto industrial share section. Buoyancy was chiefly apparent in the interlisted group which reflected the progress of the rally on the New York board. Thirty-eight issues closed higher and 21 lower on a trade of nearly 19,000 shares.

While the higher silver price gave Consolidated Smelters a lift of 3 points on heavy turnover it failed to support Nickel which in fact lost a small fraction. Brazilian was a late feature of the interlisted group, rising ¾ on substantial trading while C.P.R. advanced ¾ on smaller volume.

BUTTER AND EGG PRICES UP

MONTREAL, April 23 (CP) — Butter and egg prices firmed slightly on the Montreal dairy and produce market today.

Butter, No. 1 graded 34½.

Eggs, A large 19½, A medium 17, B 17, C 16.

Cheese 12½.

Potatoes 38 cents per 80-pound bag.

ROYALITE HAS PROFIT

TORONTO, April 23 (CP).—Considerable expansion in holdings is reported by President J. H. McLeod in the annual statement of Royalite Oil Co., Ltd., for the year ending December 31, 1934. Royalite now owns 88 wells, most of them in Turner valley in southern Alberta.

The profit and loss statement shows that after making allowance for depletion, depreciation and income taxes, net profit of $810,980 was earned, equivalent to $1.18 per share on the 684,947 shares of stock outstanding at the end of the year.

Wheat Marketings Down Slightly

OTTAWA, April 23 (CP)—Wheat marketings in the prairie provinces during the week ended April 12 amounted to 1,786,108 bushels compared with 1,788,487 bushels the previous week, the Dominion bureau of statistics reported today. In the corresponding week last year receipts were 1,733,824 bushels.

By provinces receipts from the week ended April 13 follow with last year's figures in brackets: Manitoba 175,384 bushels (73,750); Saskatchewan 797,988 bushels (905,075); Alberta 882,736 bushels (757,019).

CHICAGO HAS 3-CENT SLUMP

Prices Carried Back to the Level of 10 Days Ago

CHICAGO, April 23 (AP) — A break of three cents tumbled wheat prices below a dollar-a-bushel level today and caused a sharp recession in the prices of other grain futures.

The market was influenced mostly by reports of showers in important grain producing areas and forecasts of additional precipitation overnight.

Wheat closed 2⅝ to 3¼ cents lower, May 99 to 99⅛, and corn dropped 1⅛ to 2⅛ cents. Oats lost 1⅛ to 1¾, rye 1⅝ to 2, and barley was unchanged to 1 cent off. The market was carried back to the approximate level of 10 days ago.

CONGRESS IS COAST LEADER

VANCOUVER, April 23 (CP). — Congress Gold featured active trading on the Vancouver stock exchange today and gained 8 at 52. The silver issues were strong in early trading but eased a little before the close.

Silversmith sold up to 9 but closed with a net gain of only ⅛ at 8⅛. Whitewater gained a cent at 11, Beaver and Noble Five each gained ⅛ and Porter Idaho firmed ¼ at 10⅝. Pend Oreille lost ¼ at 64, B.C. Nickel was down ⅛ at 40⅛ and Big Missouri gained 3 at 46.

MONTREAL DULL

MONTREAL, April 23 (CP).—The cautious attitude which has marked trading on the Montreal stock exchange for the past several weeks was continued today as the market reopened for activity for the first full-day session since Thursday. Changes were equally distributed between gains and losses.

One or two specialties served to brighten an otherwise dull list. Consolidated Smelters jumped 3⅛ points to 143⅛, while Canadian Hydro Electric preferred gained 2⅛ at 45⅛. Bell Telephone was up 3¼ points at 127⅛.

Bruck Silk rose a half at 17 and Building Products ⅛ at 28⅛.

CALGARY POWER INCOME UP

MONTREAL, April 23 (CP)—An increase in net income for 1934 over the previous year of $1.23 per share was reported today by Calgary Power company, Ltd. Net income after charges and preferred dividends in 1934 was $808,487 compared with $268,318 in 1933.

BAR GOLD DOWN A CENT

MONTREAL, April 23 (CP)—Bar gold in London down a cent at 134.92 an ounce in Canadian funds; 143s 6d in British funds. The fixed $35 Washington price amounted to $35.14 in Canadian.

DOME PAYS A $2 BONUS

Is in Addition to a Dividend of 50 Cents

TORONTO, April 23 (CP)—Dome Mines, Ltd., has declared the regular quarterly dividend of 50 cents together with a bonus of $2, both payable July 20 to shareholders of record June 29. Two dividends of 50 cents each have already been paid this year, one in January and the other this month and the new declaration will bring the 1935 payments up to $3.50 with five months of the year still to go.

The stock advanced on active trading in the market today on the support of the heavy bonus vote.

The company earned $4.07 per share in 1934 as compared with $3.21 in 1933. Estimated earnings in the first quarter of 1935, before depreciation, depletion and other adjustments, were $1.07 a share as compared with $1.27 in the year previous.

SILVER STOCKS JUMP AT N.Y.

Dome Higher; Other Canadian Stocks Have Gains

By FRANK MACMILLEN

NEW YORK, April 23 (AP)—The silver-mining shares and some rails and specialties seized the leadership in another active stock market session today.

Silver stocks aided by the advance of 2¼ cents an ounce in the price of the bar metal, not far from the new official United States treasury buying price of 71.11 cents an ounce, found plenty of takers at gains of fractions to 3 points or more.

Aggregate turnover was 1,226,080 shares.

Among the silvers Cerro de Pasco at 36, American Smelting at 40⅝ and Silver King at 12½ were each at new highs for a year or more, while U.S. Smelting was up nearly 3 points at 112½, and Park Utah was fractionally better at 4.

Dome Mines was up more than a point at one time and finished a major fraction ahead at 41⅝.

Other Canadian stocks gained fractionally. South Porto Rico Sugar was another to top its peak for the year with a gain of more than a point at 25⅝. American Sugar bettered that advance to finish at 62½, and good gains were scored by Great Western, Central Aguirre and others.

FROM A STAFF OF SEVEN TO SIX THOUSAND STRONG

From less than a corporal's guard to the equivalent of six regiments—this graphically illustrates the growth of the Bank of Montreal's staff in 117 years.

On the 23rd of August, 1817, the first four employees of the Bank of Montreal were appointed. They were the cashier, an accountant, a paying teller and a second teller. Shortly afterward a discount clerk, a second bookkeeper and a porter were added.

These seven continued the original staff when the modest establishment on St. Paul Street in Montreal opened its doors on Monday, November 3rd—an establishment which was destined to play a conspicuous and beneficial part in the development of Canada's resources.

Throughout the many decades that have followed, the Bank of Montreal has made increasing effort to provide a banking service always adequate to meet the requirements of Canada's development.

The original staff of seven has grown to 6,500, loyally serving the public through 500 branches extending from sea to sea—and overseas.

IS HE KIDNAPPED?

TORONTO, April 23 (CP).—Mrs. Henry Harvey Robson tonight told the police of North Toronto station that she feared her war-hero husband, a holder of the Victoria cross, had been kidnapped.

Robson, a street car conductor, has been missing from home for three days. He had more than $100 in salary and his "run" money when he disappeared Saturday morning at nine o'clock.

Robson was a private in the second battalion, Royal Scots. He was awarded the Victoria cross by the king for most conspicuous bravery near Kemmel, Dec. 14, 1914, during an attack, when he left his trench under heavy fire and rescued a wounded non-commissioned officer. He was wounded attempting to bring another wounded man into the trench.

Mrs. Robson had no definite reasons for believing her husband had been kidnaped beyond an intuitive fear that was what had happened to him.

RIBBONS WIN HOOP VICTORY

Score 47-22 Against Assumption in the Title Series

VICTORIA, April 23 (CP).—Victoria's fast-stepping Blue Ribbons banked out a 47-22 victory over Assumption college of Windsor, Ont., here tonight as they opened their three-out-of-five game series for the men's Canadian senior basketball championship.

FIRST QUARTER

The teams took the floor for a few practice shots to the cheers of a packed arena.

Windsor took the ball from the tip-off and Rogin worked in but missed. Art Chapman, Ribbons rangy centre, opened the scoring with a basket on a fast break and Red Martin followed with another field goal for Victoria on a rebound.

Toots Meretsky counted the first points for Windsor on a long centre shot and Rogin added another point on a free throw. Art Chapman sank a short side shot and banged in another when he picked off brother Chuck's rebound on a free throw.

The Windsor defence tightened up and Ribbons, forced to shoot from near mid-floor, missed five times in a row. Aitchison broke away near the assumption basket and bobbed through the whole Victoria team but his shot from under the basket rimmed the hoop and bounced back. Just before the quarter ended the Windsor forward missed a long shot from the side.

SECOND QUARTER

Doug Peden, lanky Ribbon guard, opened the second quarter with a basket from the corner. Both teams were whipping the ball around and breaking fast.

Assumption worked down to the Victoria defence but Chuck Chapman broke up the attack.

Two free throws were awarded Art Chapman when he was fouled by Rogin. The Victoria center missed the first but made the second good to give the Ribbons a 11-3 lead. Peden added another point on a free throw in the next minute and Porky Andrews followed with a field goal.

Sherman sniped a basket from the corner and then tossed in a long one to cut down Ribbons' lead. Aitchison and Meretsky combined with Aitchison, taking the pass to add two more points to the Windsor total.

Chuck Chapman banged in a basket for Ribbons from mid-floor. Windsor missed three shots on a return rush, the ball just rimming the hoop each time.

Chuck scored again on a pass from Red Martin and Martin dropped in the last basket of the quarter on Art Chapman's rebound, 27 seconds from the whistle to give Victoria a 20-9 lead at half time.

THIRD QUARTER

Just after the tip-off opening the third quarter Aitchison and Sherman sped down the floor and Aitchison netted on the pass. Art Chapman banged in a rebound for Victoria.

Sherman slipped through the Victoria defence but his shot was wild when he was fouled by Andrews. The Windsor guard made one of the two free throws good. The visitors were trailing the Ribbons who had a 22-12 lead.

Meretsky picked off a Victoria pass under his own basket and raced down the floor alone to toss in a beautiful shot. Two more Windsor shots rimmed the hoop. Peden counted a free throw for Ribbons and Byrne duplicated for Windsor. Ribbons took time out and when play resumed Windsor rimmed the hoop three times again. Martin slipped through for a basket to give Ribbons a 25-15 lead as the third quarter ended.

FOURTH QUARTER

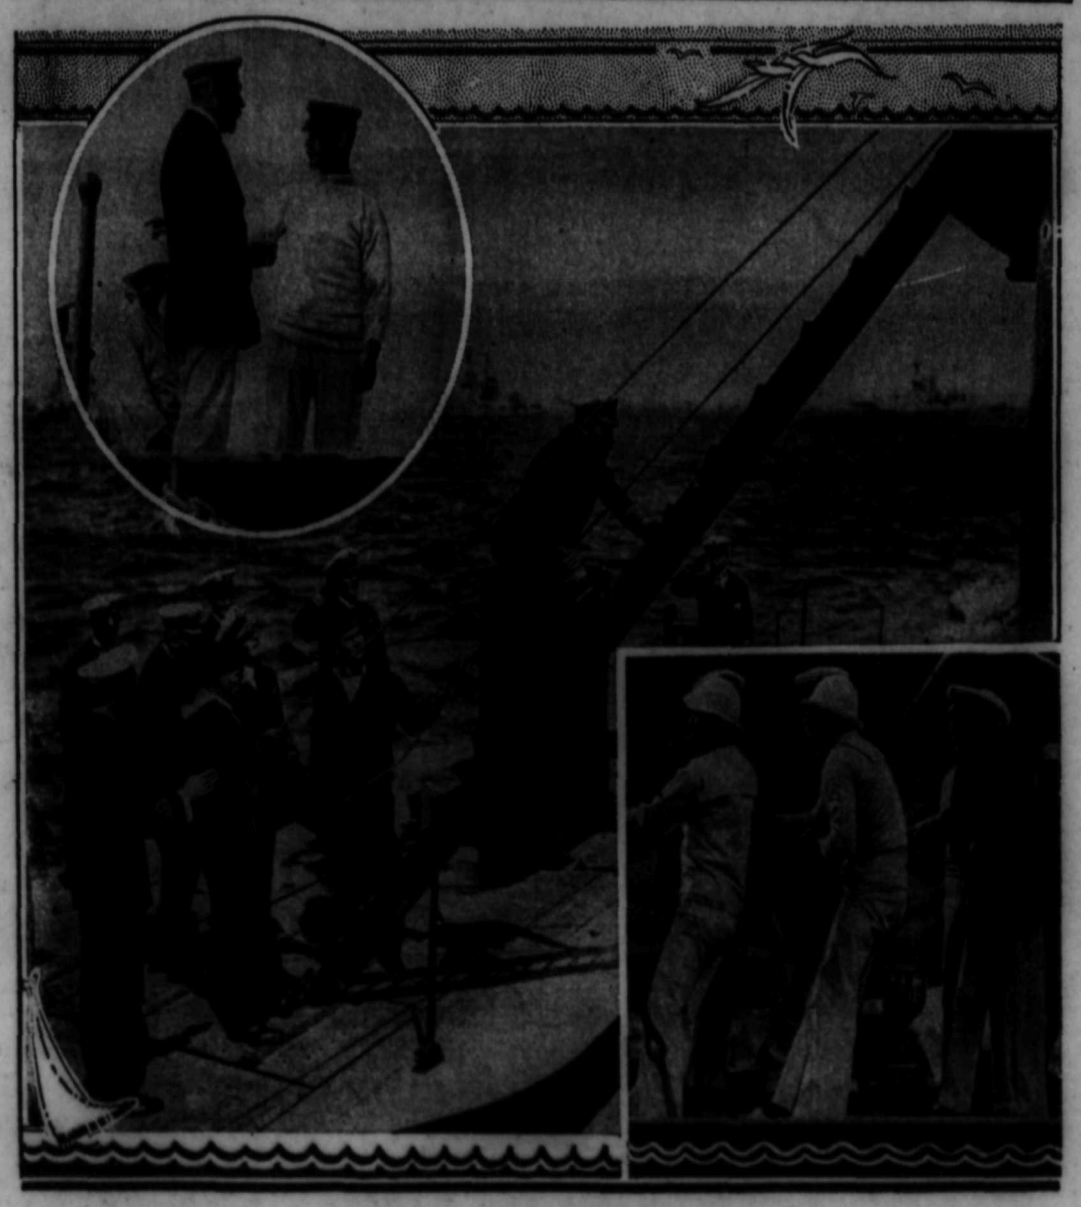
Meretsky bowled Peden over under the Windsor basket and the Victoria guard was awarded two free throws. He counted on the second and Art Chapman added two more points when he banged in the rebound. Art bagged another basket a minute later as Rogin went in for Meretsky and Harrison took DesJarlais place on the Windsor lineup. Rogin counted a free throw.

Art Chapman broke through and counted two baskets in a row, the last on a pass from Andrews.

Harrison dumped in a field goal for Windsor and Sherman added another from a side shot but with seven minutes to go the Ribbons speeded up. Martin counted on Art Chapman's rebound and Andrews followed with a free throw. Martin clicked again on a pass from Chuck Chapman and the pair reversed the order in the next minute to give Ribbons a 41-20 lead with three minutes to go.

Peden tossed in a rebound and Art Chapman added another pair of points on a long one-handed shot from near mid-floor. Aitchison dumped in a side shot just before Peden counted again on a corner shot for the last score of the game and a 47-22 victory for the Blue Ribbons.

Our King and Queen



KING GEORGE V. IS AN ENTHUSIASTIC YACHTSMAN.

Second only to shooting is King George's love for yachting.

Shortly after he ascended to the throne he had the royal yacht Britannia remodeled for racing. Since that time, except for the war years, he has raced in her nearly every year until recently. This year, in celebration of the Silver Jubilee, the Britannia will play another major role when the King reviews the grand fleet.

When the King sails, he does so as a true sailor. And he is a sailor of no mean ability, for all his early life was spent at sea and he knows ships as well as he knows guns or stamps. When the race gets close and exciting, the King becomes no more than an ordinary seaman, taking part in the work of hauling in sheets side by side with his crew.

That is characteristic of King George; he never tries to force his position—in fact he would rather be accounted as an ordinary individual bent on enjoying life.

The royal yacht Britannia is a big one and meets the King's desire for a boat on which he could accommodate many friends. An old ship, it nevertheless has won a majority of the races in which she has taken part — particularly at the famous Cowes regatta course.

The layout today shows three informal pictures of the King as a yachtsman and a sailor. In the CENTER he is shown ascending the ladder to one of the British navy dreadnaughts for inspection. In the CIRCLE, with his helmsman aboard the Britannia. BELOW, hauling in the main sheet with his crew.

Tomorrow: The King and the Duke of Connaught.

CAPE COD FEELS AN EARTHQUAKE

PROVINCETOWN, Mass., April 23 (AP).—A terrific earth shock rocked this tip of Cape Cod tonight, shaking houses, and rattling dishes.

The shock was felt shortly before 8:30 p.m., and caused an immediate deluge of calls to the local telephone exchange.

R. J. Davey, on watch in the Race Point lookout station of the coast guard, two miles from the center of town, said his 35-foot tower "shook like a leaf."

He said brother coast guardsmen in the Wood End station and the keeper at Long Point light, widely separated points on the narrow neck of the cape, had also reported feeling the shock.

VANCOUVER VICTIMIZED

"Today, either by design or otherwise, the men paraded and entered the Hudson's Bay Co., store. When the company asked police to remove the men, some left peaceably and others remained and were the cause of the disturbance that occurred.

"It is now perfectly clear that Vancouver is being victimized by an organized attempt to capitalize, for revolutionary purposes, the conditions of depression which now exist. From information supplied to me, there is a definite organization of communistic activities which are centreing on calling a general strike in Vancouver.

NO PUBLIC SUPPORT

"Fortunately, this communistic movement has no substantial public support and is not endorsed by organized labor. If a general strike were called it would react disastrously on conditions in Vancouver and would result in increasing and extending the hardship of depression throughout our community.

"There may be some justification for complaints on the part of the men suffering from same conditions. Fortunately the Dominion government has agreed to hear these complaints and there is no reason why the men should not return to camps pending the outcome of the inquiry.

"There is no reason to believe our police can not handle any situation that might arise, but those responsible for the disturbances are not going to be allowed to continue."

LORD TWEEDMOUTH DEAD IN ENGLAND

LONDON, April 23 (AP)—Lord Tweedmouth, 62, former lord-in-waiting to the King, and the son of the second Baron Tweedmouth, who was a lieutenant of Gladstone, died today of pneumonia.

Lord Tweedmouth had a brilliant military record which began with the household cavalry in South Africa in 1899 and ended when he retired as a lieutenant-colonel in 1922. He held the distinguished service order.

He once won a bet at Coronada Beach, Cal., that he could walk on his hands up and down a flight of 30 stairs. The wager was a polo pony which he added to his noted string.

later, and to 1,948,000 tons in March of this year.

Great Britain's construction in the same period increased from 4,810,000 to 5,580,000 and increases were also shown by France, Denmark, Norway, Sweden and the Netherlands. But while Germany's increase of world tonnage in construction was well over 100 per cent the combined increase of world tonnage in construction was only 18 per cent.

Industrial production indices showed increases for Canada, Chile, Denmark, Italy and Norway.

PLASKETT WINS DRAPER MEDAL

WASHINGTON, April 23 (CP)—John Stanley Plaskett, former director of the Dominion astrophysical observatory at Victoria, B. C., tonight was awarded the Henry Draper medal of the National Academy of Sciences of the United States.

The medal was awarded to Dr. Plaskett "in recognition of his able and consistent labors in stellar radial velocities, and related studies energetically pursued for nearly 30 years."

Dr. Frank Dawson Adams of McGill university, Montreal, a foreign associate member of the academy, received the medal for Dr. Plaskett.

Three Lads Are Believed Drowned

SEATTLE, April 23 (AP).—Fears for the lives of two Seattle boys and a Portland high school lad deepened tonight as darkness halted a beach patrol for them or their bodies after coast guard found their broken outboard motorboat ashore in Useless Bay.

The boys were last seen Saturday night when they set out in a high wind for Indianola Beach, on the western mainland and 17 miles from where their skiff was found today.

The missing lads are: Hugh Andrews, 18, Portland; Al Erickson, 17, Seattle; Peter Perry, 19, Andrew's Seattle host.

France's indices are unchanged and the Netherlands are slightly lower.

Another encouraging sign is indicated in the value of world commerce during 1934, which is higher than the estimates published in the monthly bulletins.

Estimates for February of this year indicated that the gold value of world commerce will be subject to a normal seasonal decrease and will reach the lowest figure ever shown in these reports, about 31 per cent less than in 1929.

World gold reserves, not including the Soviet Union, show an increase of approximately $195,000,000 for the United States during the first quarter of this year. Increases were also shown by Canada, France, the Union of South Africa, Japan and the United Kingdom while Switzerland's gold reserves decreased $38,000,000. Belgium $34,000,000, the Netherlands $11,000,000 and Yugoslavia $9,000,000. The reserves of other countries remained unchanged.

were combing the area for him. He was armed only with a knife and made no attempt to use it.

Cress, who was serving time at the federal penitentiary for the theft of army automatic pistols in a raid on the Spokane national guard armory, was working at the prison boat yard this morning.

At 8:45 a.m., he overpowered the mate-engineer working on a launch there and threw him overboard. Cress then raced away in the launch. Within 10 minutes the alarm was sounded.

Imprisoned three times in Canada in recent years, he escaped twice, evading capture for some time on each occasion.

NOTORIOUS CAREER

VANCOUVER, April 23 (CP).—Robert Cress, who escaped from McNeil Island penitentiary in Washington state today, made two escapes, both of brief duration, near Nelson, B.C., two years ago.

Cress and another man held up a rum-runner and his son in 1934 and stole their load of whiskey. Cress was extradited to the United States and served a term of imprisonment.

Three years later, he appeared in Vancouver and participated in the theft of 53 cases of whiskey and $500 in cash from a liquor vendor's store. He and a companion fled south but were captured just across the international border. Cress was given another jail term.

IN "PEN" BEFORE

Cress has served two terms in the penitentiary at New Westminster, B.C., one of them five years.

In December, 1932, he was being taken by train from Nelson, B.C., to Oakalla prison farm, Vancouver, to serve a term of one year for escaping from the Nelson jail when he jumped through the train window and disappeared into the woods near Carmi, B.C. He was soon recaptured.

In February, 1934, Cress successfully argued his own appeal from conviction for a $500 liquor store robbery at Blairmore, Alta., for which he was sentenced to 18 months.

MORE ABOUT SILVER GOES UP

cial said it was a logical deduction from past actions that the price would be boosted shortly, but all Secretary Henry Morgenthau would say was, "don't bet any money on what we do."

With the treasury buying all silver offered from the mines at 71 cents an ounce, the figure established barely a fortnight ago, the price of the metal rose in London to a point, which, translated into dollars at the current rate of exchange, was 70.75 cents.

Gold discussion was reopened when the government asked a month's stay in a suit brought in the court of claims by Robert A. Taft, son of the former president and chief justice. He contended that if the government refused to pay him gold on a $50 liberty bond, it must continue to pay interest until the date of maturity and could not call the bond for redemption in advance.

Such claims cases were the loophole left by the high court's gold decision. While the justice department said today that the delay move was only to allow more time to prepare the case, some observers thought congress might be asked to block permanently all suits of this type.

On the other side of the monetary picture, meanwhile, senators from silver-producing states were jubilant over the rising price for that metal. Alva Adams of Colorado predicted dollar silver soon, because "the demand is in excess of the floating supply." Burton Wheeler of Montana, for the same reason thought the rise would not stop short of $1.29, the figure which the statute books say is coinage value of the metal.
